GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

BANKS CHANGE HOURS OF BUSINESS

Owing to depletion of staff in the various banks through the operation of the Military Service Act, and the large number of inexperienced officers at present employed in place of those absent on military duty, it has been found difficult to carry on the work in a satisfactory manner under the existing banking hours. With a view to improving this condition of affairs by giving the members of the staff more time to perform their routine duties after the office is closed for business, all the banks have agreed that commencing on June 1st next, and until further notice, the hours of business to be observed shall be from 9.30 a.m. to 2.30 p.m. on ordinary week days and from 9.30 a.m. to 12 noon on Saturdays.

ARBITRATION THE CORNER STONE OF INDUSTRIAL PEACE

There are divisions of opinion in labor about the propriety of arbitration and the right use of the strike.

Labor is, in itself, a democracy—there are in it all shades of opinion running all the way from the red radicalism of the Bolshevik type to the solid, sober school of organized labor.

The desire of the extremists of the left is to have the maximum of labor troubles and unrest. They have dreams—such as Trotzky and Lenine dreamed in exile—of a collapse of the present economic basis of society and the coming of a red republic of Russia.

To men of this type the more strikes the better; the greater the industrial unrest the sooner they imagine will dawn the day of the revolution for which they yearn.

There is a good deal of this kind of sentiment in Winnipeg—much of it imported from continental Europe. The newspapers reported the other day, for instance, the formation in this city of a new Socialist party whose platform declaimed against workingmen making any contracts whatever with their employers; they should be free, it was declared, at any time to take any action suggested by their interests.

The great bulk of the members of organized labor take a much more reasonable view. They regard themselves as members of the community; and they are concerned in the maintenance of law, order and the conventions. They desire industrial peace.

There is among these a very general belief in the wisdom and practicability of adjusting labor difficulties by arbitration. It is because they act upon this belief that Canada has been relatively free in recent years from labor troubles on a large scale.

There is, however, a disinclination among them to consent to the abolition of the strike as a weapon. While they do not desire its use, they want to keep it in their armory in order that, in great emergencies, they can resort to it. Ultimately, perhaps, some substitute in which they will have greater confidence may be found; but at present labor is disinclined to agree completely to forego the strike.

What the community has a right, however, to ask from the leaders of organized labor in the interests of industrial harmony is that they should themselves uphold the policy that arbitration should be recognized as always preferable to the resort to the strike.

Mr. Puttee said at the Labor temple last week that with organized labor the strike was the last resort; to appeal to it at the outset of trouble was in keeping with I.W.W. theories. That is a clear distinction which should be kept in mind at this time.

The relation of employer and employee in public-owned utilities differs fundamentally from that which holds in the case of private enterprises; and we believe that with respect to the utilities the total abolition of any possibllity of strikes is practicable. It is, perhaps, travelling too fast to expect labor to agree unreservedly to this view yet; but it is not too much for the people of this community who are directly and vitally interested in the operation of the utilities which they themselves own, to ask labor to put itself definitely on record that at least with respect to these utilities there must always be a resort to conciliation before there is an appeal to force.—Winnipeg Free Press.

Efficiency in the Civil Service

Under the old system efficiency in the civil service had somehow to be reconciled with the desire to reward partizans. Under the new system efficiency must be reconciled with the desire to reward soldiers who have deserved well of the country. The advice and co-operation of returned soldiers will be necessary to make the new system work well. But nothing is to be said for the old system. — Daily Star, Toronto.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE IS A SKIN WHITENER

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.

The Ford Saves the Hay and Oats the Horses Eat

IT has been estimated that five acres of land are required to maintain one horse for a year, and that the same five acres would produce nearly enough food for two people. If 50,000 Canadian farmers each replaced one horse with a Ford, 250,000 acres would be added to the Nation's source of food supply and enough extra food made available to feed 100,000 people.

Just think what a great service this means to the country at the present time and the benefit to the farmers from the sale of the food produced on this acreage.

A Ford car also saves the farmer a week or more of valuable time each year, which can be used for further productive work. The Ford travels three times as fast as a horse and rig—costs less to run and keep, and is far easier to take care of. With labor so scarce and high priced, time means money, so do not delay in getting your Ford.

Basic Facts About Belting

AND PARTICULARLY

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Transmission Belting

A Worthy Product

Years of careful study of the high-power belt problem have enabled Dunlop Laboratory experts to create "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting, the original Red Face Rubber Belting of Canada—a product worthy of the Dunlop Factories and of the quarter-century record of success back of them.

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Virtues Are Real

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to-day widely used in a multitude of ways in the many varied industries in this country. It owes its success, not to any illogical deductions or fantastic analyses, but to the simplest causes—causes so simple that they are now, always have been, and always will be, in our opinion, the bedrock of success in belt-making—Power, Speed, Service—in actual use as well as in the test-room.

Permanent Elasticity Means "Life" in Belting

In producing this new, this original, this master, red belt, our object has been to have the friction coat of rubber between the plies such as will retain its life indefinitely, and to have a quality of rubber with long "fingers," and not a quality of rubber the elasticity of which has been sacrificed to obtain the so-called high-pulling test.

That "Friction Pull"

When you are informed that such-and-such a belt has a "friction-pull" of abnormal poundage, do not imagine that you are getting a quality friction. What you have to secure in a belt is a friction full of elasticity. There must be between the plies of duck only a certain class of rubber to give uniform strength and pliability.

Resilient Quality Must Not Be Sacrificed To Excess of Friction Strength

To obtain high figures, such as referred to above, in belt frictions you have to take away from the elasticity of the friction; hence, there is a happy medium, and this medium we have obtained through our laboratory experts. It ensures for you a belt, the friction of which will hold the plies together and will be sufficiently elastic in its properties to allow for the give and take necessary in rounding the pulleys.

Duck Finest Obtainable, Made to Highest Specifications

A highly important feature of "Gibraltar RedSpecial" is the duck which enters into its construction. Only the finest quality of specially-selected duck, having the proper tensile strength in the right direction, is used. And this, in combination with a superior rubber friction between the plies, ensures absolute uniformity of service.

Universal Recognition of "Gibraltar RedSpecial"

To cite the names of users of this famous, red frictioned-surface belt would necessitate the use of much space. We have on file recommendations from almost every type of industry requiring "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting in widths varying from 1½" to 48." These testimonials are available for your perusal at any time.

Fills The Bill

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to be found in practically every industry in Canada, and if it is Power, Speed and Service that you want, then it is "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Belting that you require for your work.

The Original "Red"

"Gibraltar RedSpecial," as noted previously, is the Original Red Rubber Belt—and like most things that are original, its success is of the kind that endures.

HINDU QUARTERS AN ARSENAL

Heavily armed but not given an opportunity to use the weapon he had concealed on his person, Gurdit Singh, ex-convict and all round bad man in the local East Indian colony here and in Vancouver, was arrested by detectives following an investigation into his conduct which had been under way for some time. Information that the Hindu was in possession of high explosives, and that he was seeking to secure information as to the best method of making bombs, reached the detective department some days ago.

Four years ago he was arrested here when found in possession of a home-made bomb, which, it was then conjectured, was to be used in the then Hindu troubles at Vancouver, which ended in a double murder in the Hindu Temple there. He was then convicted and sent to the penitentiary for a four year term. Only recently he was released.

Since his return to Victoria Gurdit Singh has been living with other East Indians on a species of house boat near Leigh's mill, on the upper arm of the harbor. He was caught there by Detectives Murray and Heather at 9 o'clock last night. The officers were waiting for him when he came home and before he knew of their presence he was surrounded. He was promptly searched and beneath his vest, hanging from a shoulder strap, was a heavy automatic revolver, fully loaded, and of German make. The cartridges were of the dum-dum style, the steel jackets having the pointed ends filed off.

Later in the evening the detectives went back to the house boat and made a thorough search, their information being that somewhere about the place had been secreted a quantity of explosives. In the false bottom of a trunk was discovered a perfect arsenal in the shape of half a dozen revolvers, five of them of the most modern automatic type, and all of heavy calibre. Each weapon had been carefully oiled and then wrapped in cotton batting to protect it from rust. A quantity of ammunition of various sizes to fit the revolvers was also stored away in the trunk, enough to supply each weapon with a large number of rounds.

How Gurdit Singh became possessed of the revolvers since he got out of jail is a mystery. All were quite new, and contained accessories which indicated they had not been stolen but rather had been purchased.

Four years ago when Gurdit Singh was arrested and convicted he had a companion, Deli Singh, who was involved with him and was sentenced to two years. The pair then were regarded even by their fellow East Indians here and in Vancouver as desperate men of the revolutionary type, and were closely associated with the gang in Vancouver, the internal strife among which led to the murder there at the Hindu temple. It has since been learned that one of the chief participants in that murder subsequently drifted to San Francisco and was one of the gang of East Indians who were involved in the proceedings under which Frans Bopp, former German consul at that port, and other Germans were charged with breach of the neutrality laws in that they conspired to foment a revolution in India. In fact it has been reported that that Hindu was the one shot by the sheriff in the courtroom at San Francisco in the final stages of the trial when he was in the act of shooting and killing one of his fellow Hindu defendants because of the belief that the latter had given information to the state authorities.—Victoria Colonist.

PLOTTING IN IRELAND

The discovery of a German plot in Ireland will distract attention for the moment from the opposition to the proposed application of conscription. The discovery must have been of a serious character since it has caused the issuance of a proclamation which calls upon all loyal Irishmen to defeat the conspiracy. If it is true that any Irishmen have encouraged German propaganda and German activities in their midst a very serious situation has arisen for it means there are still wild spirits who contemplate revolution and would stoop to seek German aid to accomplish their ends.

Germany has been very active in Ireland before and since the ill-fated expedition of Sir Roger Casement. There is too good reason to believe she is still maintaining communication with the Sin Fein leaders by means of her submarines. Some of these leaders are members of the British House of Commons so their crime appears doubly treasonable. Upon the better element of the Irish people the discovery of this plot will have a chastening influence, for, while the opposition to conscription is widespread and the doubts about the efficacy of the proposed Home Rule are serious, there may well be a reaction caused by attempted German interference. Those who are connected with the German plot can expect little consideration. There are limits to the forbearance which can be exercised towards traitors when a nation is fighting for its life.

Perhaps in the long run the development of a German conspiracy in Ireland will do more to assuage angry passions there than all the blandishments of politicians. It is not the first conspiracy in that country since the war began but at the time of the last the battle crisis was not so serious as at present. If it is true that any considerable number of Irishmen have appealed to Germany for aid in revolutionary designs their course will be the folly of madness. They can expect no sympathy whatever from the free nations who are fighting against the worst menace that ever cast its shadow over civilization. —Victoria Colonist.

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

Tells how to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.

Wheat seeding is practically completed in Northern Alberta and the greater part of the oats and barley and other cereal crops are sown. Recent heavy snowfalls, alternated with rain, have provided abundant moisture but the cool weather has retarded germination to some extent. On the average about 40 per cent more acreage is in crop than last year and the prospects for a record harvest were never better.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

The Canadian Food Board is all right, and it is up to every storekeeper and citizen in the country to help them, instead of grouching and worrying. Worry is lost energy. It is like a rocking chair, keeps going and never gets anywhere. It is like a mill owner starting all the machinery of his mill and then going away and leaving it running to injury and destruction. It is a miserable habit. It makes you and others near you unhappy. It destroys your usefulness, injures your health and kills your joy. All the Food Board wants you to do is to be men and women. Do your bit. Start new, as the monkey said when he ate the baby's bonnet. Grow something and save all you can for the boys over yonder.

Lou Foisy, who runs at auto repair shop at Elko, made a success of Billy Morrson's big Oakland touring car that for the last six months had baffled and buffaloed every expert auto machinist between Calgary and Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hirtz and Miss E. May Roo visited the Brewers out at Pine Beach, south fork of Elk River, last Sunday; also the copper properties near the orchard.

If R. F. Green had the support he should have down at Ottawa there wouudn't be so many aliens loafing in every town along the Crow's Nest Pass refusing to work and demanding outrageous wages. Did Doc. Bonnell say anything?

Fred Hall, of Edmonton, was visiting the Pass towns this week with A. Booth, of Fernie.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Graham and Miss Peggy returned from Granum, Alta., where Mr. Graham owns a large tract of wheat land.

At the mining exchange the other night in Elko, Jim Thistlebeak was telling the crowd about his dog Trigger, a pointer he once had. A marvellous dog, keenest scent in the world. Nothing in the shape of game could possibly escape his nose, he said. Why, time after time I've seen that dog stop suddenly on the point of the moment when any of the members of the next door neighbor family showed themselves outside the door, and he'd stand there pointing until they disappeared, upon my honor, and then trun round and give me the most reproachful look because I hadn't seized a gun and shot them. And I couldn't make out what the dickens was the meaning of this curious procedure until one day I was told by a friend that the name of the people who had moved into next door was called Woodcock.

Mrs. T. Purcel Hardman and family and Miss Annie Murray moved to Fernie, where in future they will reside, Mrs. Hardman accepting the chief's position for the Kootenay Telephone Co. for the Fernie district. A lot of young people in Elko will miss Annie and Annie will miss the chocolates.

Love, Mabel, is one of the few things that are never displayed on the bargain counter. If you had the weight of Castle Mountain, Elko, in gold eagles you couldn't buy love enough to make a humming bird sigh. You can buy passion, you can buy slavery, you can buy flattery, but the thrilling thing about love is that money cannot buy it, nor poverty destroy it. There is a deal of bargain counter love around in the old world, tinsel, veneer, remnants, rummage sales and an expedient love bargain for wealth is just about as safe as a celluloid cookoo in that southern city made in Germany commonly called hell.

Next week Elko is expecting a big delegation of travellers from Manitoba and the prairie provinces. The B. C. travellers are all busy building ships and catching fish.

Bert Reid, S.O.S. traveller for the P. Burns Co., left for Saskatoon, where he will have charge of that territory. Bert has the meat business down to the last squeal.

But to get back to the mustard, says Jim Thistlebeak. The great trouble just now is that the big men are gobbling up everything in sight. One down east millionaire said last week that he believes in taking the world as he finds it, but the trouble is that he wants to take it all at once. Another said he only takes what is right. He speaks the truth. He only takes what is right and the people take what is left.

SOME FISH

In July, 1915, Premier Lake and Munroe Lake were stocked with Landlocked Salmon by the government from the Gerard Fish Hatchery, thru the efforts of Mayor Clapp, Mr. Christie, then manager of the Bank of Commerce of Cranbrook, and George Hogarth, proprietor of the Cranbrook hotel. There have been a few taken from Monroe Lake ranging from one to three pounds, but there has been none taken from Premier Lake until May 15, 1918, when a party of four consisting of A. R. Webster, J. S. Roy, F. A. Dunn and Walter Lamb took four beauties weighing 13½, 11½ 9½, and 9½ respectively.

We were informed by Mr. McLeod, then Fish Inspector (now deceased) that at the age of four years these fish would attain a weight of from 12 to 30 pounds. This could hardly be credited, in fact it did not seem possible, however, the catch that the above named party made proves that our informant was not far out of the way.

It is useless to say that all the disciples of Isaac Walton are very much enthused and planning all kinds of trips.—Cranbrook Herald.

MADGE KENNEDY STAR IN "OUR LITTLE WIFE"

Madge Kennedy is the star of the new Goldwyn Picture, "Our Little Wife," from the play by Avery Hopwood, which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre, Friday and Saturday. She has the role of Dodo, a bride of a few minutes who grieves over the disappointment of several other men who wanted to marry her.

To alleviate their suffering she decides to take three of them along with her on her honeymoon, a decision that stuns her husband, Herb, whose objections avail nothing. So off they go to Lakewood, the bridal couple and Dodo's three admirers—Dr. Elliott, Bobo Brown and Tommy Beldon.

Angered by his failure to have Dodo all to himself, Herb sends himself a telegram calling him back to the city. He takes two of Dodo's wooers with him, but the third, Dr. Elliott, stays over; and fortunately so, for Dodo learns the telegram was spurious and goes into hysterics. Herb returns to take Dodo back and finds her with Dr. Elliott. A scene ensues, but Dodo appeases her husband with the promise never to look at any other man. That promise she keeps long enough for Dr. Elliott to wed Fannie Weston and for Bobo to become engaged to Angie Martin.

Dodo, however, rebels at her husband's neglect on their first wedding anniversary. She telephones to Dr. Elliott, and his bride is made jealous by the message. Meanwhile, Bobo's fiancee has called on Dodo, wailing that she, too, has been neglected and revealing that she is going to Tommy Beldon's fancy dress party with another man. To prevent Angie from being compromised, Dodo phones Bobo to come and take her to the party. Then the real fun begins.

HON. DR. KING MEETS COUNCIL

Last week the city council held its regular meeting at which His Worship the Mayor presided, and Aldermen Jackson, Dudley, Brooks, Dicken and Rutledge were in attendance.

After the formal opening ceremonies were dispensed with, under the heading of correspondence the first matter for consideration was an account from Messrs. Lawe & Fisher for $50.80 in regard to services, etc., in connection with Lot 6, Block 62. After some discussion the account was approved and the following motion by Aldermen Jackson and Brooks was passed: "That tenders be called for Lot 6, Block 62, Fernie Annex; said tenders to be sent to city clerk not later than June 13.

The Attorney General wrote the council relative to the recent recommendation for the increase in salary of the police magistrate, wherein he intimated that said salary appeared unusually high and while he recognized the payment thereof was made from the city funds, nevertheless the responsibility for imposing the charge rested with the government and he desired to know why the increase had been recommended before approving or disapproving same. The mayor immediately advised the council that as he had been the one to cast the deciding vote in favor of the increase, he considered it devolved upon him to explain that it had been granted in view of the increased cost of living, which was the basis upon which the increase was asked.

Arising out of this communication an endless animated discussion arose. Ald. Jackson suggested that in fairness to the ratepayers there should be made available for public observation a statement showing the gross earnings made by the magistrate as well as the amount the city treasury received from his department. It also developed that the accounts for the police court were kept entirely by the magistrate himself and at the end of each month a remittance to the city treasurer was made by cheque covering the receipts as accounted for by the magistrate for that month. The city clerk had no check of the monies received and all he was required to do was accept the cheque and issue a receipt for same. However, the auditors always checked the police court books and everything was always found in order. Considerable discussion over this method was indulged in, particularly owing to the fact that the city treasurer, who was responsible for all monies received and disbursed, had no method of ascertaining for himself whether these monthly remittances were in proper order.

The debate then branched on to the question of hours worked by the magistrate, but no feasible suggestions were forthcoming as it was claimed by those questioning that feature that they had no possible means of knowing, because there had never been any regulations set down, while on the other hand those defending the magistrate contended, without contradiction, that he was always on hand when required. When it appeared that every phase had been discussed to the point of exhaustion, His Worship suggested that the city clerk be instructed to reply to the attorney general to the effect that the increase had been granted on account of the increase in the cost of living. Ald. Jackson and Ald. Brooks did not altogether favor this suggestion, inasmuch as they considered in view of the recommendation for the increase only being passed by the mayor casting the deciding vote, that the grounds for the objection or the formal protests then lodged should also be embodied in the reply. His Worship became somewhat ruffled and heatedly replied that such suggestion was in very bad grace coming from members of the council having had such long experience in the manner in which decisions by the council were followed, and the suggestion was not a worthy one as they well knew when a motion was once passed by a majority of the council that settled it and those opposing same should accept the will of the majority. It was apparent the suggestion by the mayor to reply stating that the increase had been granted on account of the increased cost of living was favored by the majority of those present and the matter in this manner was at least temporarily concluded.

In re Hesketh children it was moved by Jackson and Brooks that the city clerk be authorized to take the necessary steps to have the children placed in some home.—Carried.

Regarding the request for a grant to the Red Triangle Fund, which was laid over from a pervious meeting, it was decided that inasmuch as these funds were being satisfactorily handled by the Amalgamated Patriotic Fund that the council could see no reason why they should deviate from this principle now established here and therefore were not disposed to make any grant to the fund in question.

A communication, enclosing petition from the Corporation of the City of Toronto, suggesting that the the next federal election a referendum be taken as to whether the Senate of Canada should not be abolished did not receive even passing comment before its dispatch to the file basket.

An invitation for representatives of this city to attend the convention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities at Victoria early in July was received. There was nothing doing in this connection but the city clerk directed attention to the convention to be held by the B.C. Union of Municipalities at Penticton in August, expressing a desire that the council should see fit to appoint him a delegate. Ald. Jackson wanted to know why he couldn't go, to which the city clerk replied it would be congenial indeed, for them both to go. This will be considered at a later meeting.

Dr. King, minister of public works, at this juncture paid a visit to the council in session, and the matter of river bank protection and the Fairy Creek bridge were taken up with him. In introducing the subject the city engineer was requested by the mayor to present the subject for the attention of the minister, and Mr. McCallum pointed out that the arrangement had been that if the city expended a certain amount the government agreed to do likewise. However, the government estimates had been reduced and as a result only a portion of what they first intimated would be done by them had been done, and that which had been left undone was liable to cause considerable damage to government and city property in the event of a repetition of the 1916 floods. Mr. McCallum also pointed out that the practice in the past followed by both the city and the government was to leave this class of work until the spring season, and this had proved time after time to be bad practice. The city therefore had decided to undertake in future to do the urgent or vitally important work in the fall.

Dr. King agreed with this latter statement as to the work being left over until the spring and agreed that the fall was the proper time to proceed with it. The Doctor stated relative to the local difficulty that his information was that the work had been taken care of so far as the appropriation permitted. When asked with regard to the reconstruction of the Fairy Creek bridge, the minister said this could not possibly be undertaken at present as with the limited finances available and the exorbitant prices of material required in bridge construction, it was not at all an opportune time to contemplate anything of this nature. However, the Doctor was made to understand that the bridge was needed. Mr. Fisher pointed out that there were a number of settlers served by it and it was a much better road than the present one. The Doctor said he was thoroughly familiar with the condition and it would be rectified in time, but while it was a fact on account of the absence of the bridge there was more or less inconvenience it was not an absolute necessity and in any event even with the reconstruction of the bridge the present highway and that opened when the bridge was replaced, would both have to be maintained, as both highways were serving settlers.

Dealing with the work which had not been completed Dr. King suggested that as two of his engineers were with him on this tour, he would instruct them to look over this, preferably accompanied by the council, and have them investigate and report upon that which was considered so vitally necessary in order to prevent further serious damage to government and city property in the event of abnormally high water. This was agreed to unanimously and arrangements made to carry out the suggestion.

Ald. Brooks then advised Dr. King that it was the wish of the council and the citizens to have in this city something in the way of permanent sidewalks, preferably cement, and suggested that the government should encourage this desire by putting in concrete walk at the court house block. The doctor was non-commital, however, and said that as a government they would not make such improvements but it might be arranged that they would pay for such work out of the local appropriation.

Ald. Dicken enlightened the minister with regard to a certain portion

HON. BOWSER VISITS FERNIE

Hon. W. J. Bowser, leader of the Opposition, arrived in the city on Tuesday evening and later in the evening attended a gathering of some thirty or forty in the offices of Herchmer & Martin. Mr. Bowser went rather extensively into the record of the government during the last two sessions in a rather critical manner. Dealing with the pre-election pledges of the present government and also with the alleged charges of dishonesty and graft which at that time had been spread broadcast throughout the province from the platform and through the present government press. Mr. Bowser said that instead of investigating the charges of graft and corruption against himself and his government, the first weeks of the 1917 sesion were taken up with the investigation respecting M. A. Macdonald, then attorney general, the result of which everyone was painfully familiar with.

Ultimately the charges against himself on account of his insistent demands simmered down to three scandals, and these were taken under consideration by the public accounts committee of the house, whose duty it is to make these investigations. Scandal No. 1 was in connection with the purchase of a power boat used to patrol the gulf to prevent logs from being smuggled into the United States. The charge made by a member of the government on the floor of the house was that same had been purchased at an exhorbitant figure and that a portion of the purchase price had reverted to the campaign fund of the Conservative party. Evidence before the public accounts committee by experts showed that the engines and machinery were in perfect order, and inspection of the hull was to the same effect. The price paid was found to be fair in proportion to the price of boats as they went at that time. The result was that the public accounts committee brought in a unanimous report that there was absolutely no evidence to show that any of the purchase price had been subscribed to the Conservative campaign fund.

Scandal No. 2 was in connection with certain lands purchased by a Spokane land investor near Revelstoke. A portion of the purchase price had been paid thereon and the purchaser had these lands surveyed at his own expense. In the course of time in view of the purchaser being unable or unwilling to conclude the purchase, arrangements were in the making to pay back to him what he had paid on account and have these surveyed lands revert to the government. While these negotiations were in progress the Government Agent at Revelstoke without proper authority issued a cheque for $5000 in favor of the engineering firm that had made the survey, as the amount of the purchase money to be refunded to the purchaser. Some of the new government officials proposed to go after the government agent and force him to refund this money, but without their knowledge, apparently Mr. Patullo, minister of lands, approved of the transaction, and later this was brought to the attention of the committee. Mr. Bowser, when before the committee, claimed he showed them where their own government had approved the matter and therefore there was nothing further for the committee to do. However, he at the same time took advantage to inform the committee and public in general that the Spokane land speculator was none other than a brother-in-law of the Hon. Mr. Patullo.

This concluded scandal No. 2 and scandal No. 3 was in connection with certain defalcations of a certain official of the timber branch of the department of lands in the Kootenays. When the matter was exposed he had admitted receiving monies which had not been turned in. The matter was gone into by the old government and certain securities were tendered and accepted for the amount of the deficit. When the new government went into power, this file, as was the case with all others, in every department, had been left intact, and was unearthed and a great howl was made over it and finally it came before the public accounts committee as scandal No. 3, and the committee was insistent upon bringing the implicated party before them to testify in connection with the disclosures. The deputy attorney general thereupon appeared before the commttee and according to Mr. Bowser, if any body of men were rebuked unmercifully it was the government members of that committee, by the deputy attorney general. He even heaped blood upon their shoulders because in event of their causing this poor old man to appear in the severe winter weather, who was an invalid in ill health and only able to get round on crutches, his death was sure to follow if forced to make the journey. It was nohting short of murder according to the deputy attorney general's plea. The sob-stuff was played so strong that the chairman of the committee suggested that the matter be allowed to stand in abeyance until the next session. Mr. Bowser said he consented to this, but as far as the old gentleman in question was concerned, at that time his information was that he was just as lively and active as he had been for many years and still so; but the real reason for the obstruction was that word had been passed around that immediately the old gentleman was ordered before the committee there would be other lumbermen in the Kootenays, staunch supporters of the government, who would undoubtedly be on the same train, ordered to come by the opposition members of the committee, and this was rather distasteful, as they might be made to make some statements which were better left unsaid. In consequence the matter was adjourned until the 1918 session and the amazing part of the whole matter, said Mr. Bowser, was that the public accounts committee during the 1918 session was never called together at all; thus scandal No. 1 terminated without any stigma of corruption or graft having been cast upon the defeated government.

In dealing with the financial situation Mr. Bowser pointed out that even with the re-establishment of the poll tax, the surtax and the increased mineral tax there was a deficit of $1,900,000 the first year, when a surplus had been promised without borrowing a cent. Instead what had actually happened was the government had borrowed approximately $5,000,000 the first year and this past session had authorized the borrowing of eleven millions more. The result of the surtax to the farmers had virtually frozen them out of existence and curtailed production at a time when it was absolately imperative that food commodities should be increased in quantity. With regard to the mining tax, after the first session it was found that said tax could not be imposed and this year the act had been amended and it was made retroactive for 1917; the result was that every mine in the Rossland camp was closed down because they could not operate with the super tax imposed upon them.

Mr. Bowser had many interesting stories to tell in connection with the activities of the government and particularly the public works department concerning the purchase of automobiles. In connection with this latter mentioned department the appropriation for roads, etc., was greater than the previous year, but Mr. Bowser claimed the people were not getting this additional money on the roads; it was being spent in increased salaries of the officials and purchasing automobiles.

The new cabinet when assuming office although they advocated a rigid retrenchment program and loudly protested against the joy-riding of the former government, were not at all satisfied with the furnishings of the offices of the ministers, etc., and as a result over nine thousand dollars of the public money was expended in new office furnishings. Mr. Patullo, minister of lands, in this connection, according to Mr. Bowser, appeared to be the most fastidious, he having hot water installed in his office; also an elaborate couch, spread and rug. What he required these furnishings for was a mystery to Mr. Bowser, as he claimed during his regime ministers had never had time during office hours to recline on couches and take afternoon naps.

Many other little matters were divulged by Mr. Bowser but space is too limited to permit recording them all. But apart from these criticisms Mr. Bowser stated that the real purpose of his tour of the province was to become acquainted with the needs of the various communities and in that manner be able to intelligently discuss or place them before the government at the next session. He claimed that in as critical time as it was at present the policy of the Opposition would be to assist the government rather than fight every measure they might bring forward. He contended that his fifteen years of experience as a member of the provincial house, nine years of which he had been a member of the cabinet, was of great value to the government and the people and he would use his ability and experience for their benefit.

Despite the reports circulated during the past election campaign that the province had been drained dry of all its vast resources, Mr. Bowser read a prospectus issued by the government to investors in Eastern Canada when a recent million dollar loan had been floated. The glowing terms by which these resources were described in the said prospectus as well as the enormous quantities of mineral, timber and coal still left in the hands of the government certainly flatly denied the former exaggerated statements to the effect that same had all been squandered, and while the financial condition in this province at this time was one whch required earnest consideration there was still ample resources to fall back on and British Columbia will still hold more than its own compared with any of the provinces of the Dominion.

One man is given four months in jail for vagrancy; another man on the same charge is fined $5.00. It seems as though the scales of justice need adjusting.

Capt. C. Mackinnon's non-arrival for the evening of May 24 was a disappointment to many in Fernie and the disappointment was aggravated by no one apparently knowing why he did not come. On Monday night Capt. Mackinnon was casually seen at the station on his way eastward. He was surprised and grieved to learn that the cancellation of his engagement at Fernie had not been announced. Taking ill at the coast he wired the Board of Military Service, Toronto, who had arranged his initenary, telling them that certain engagements — Fernie being one—could not be fulfilled. He naturally expected the Military Service Board, who was responsible for arranging his programme, to notify the centres thus affected, but apparently they expected him to do the notifying, since he was practically on the ground. The consequence was no notification whatever came. Capt. Mackinnon very generously offered to assume the burden of all blame attached to his not appearing.

RESULTS OF MUSICAL EXAMINATIONS

Dr. H. C. Perrin, Dean of the Faculty of Music of McGill Conservatorium of Music, was in town on the 23rd and held the Practical Examinations of the pupils of Fernie.

Out of 14 candidates 13 were successful and of these pupils six, who were pupils of Miss West, were given "distinction." Dr. Perrin expressed great satisfaction with the work being done and stated that in few places that could in any way be compared with Fernie would he find as many who would receive the honor mentioned above.

Harold V. Anderson, who took the semi-final examination for the degree of "Licentiate of Music," was particularly mentioned by Dr. Perrin as a young man of bright prospects, and was granted distinction by the examiner.

Those who won the coveted "distinction" were as follows: H. V. Anderson, Miss Norma Douglas, Miss Nettie Ingram, Miss Elsie Potter, Miss Merle Wallace and Miss Dorothy Garner, who received the highest mark in the examination.

Those who "passed" were Miss Juliette Andre, Miss Ada Harper, Miss Mary Kossoff, Miss Mary Liphardt, Miss Dorothy McLean, Fred Elley and Jack Wood.

of the river bank which was extremely dangerous and if the river became rampant there was grave danger of communication by the traffic road to the east being entirely cut off. In view of this Ald. Dicken suggested that the government might possibly construct the abutments for the Fairy Creek bridge at once, and then if in case of dire necessity it would not be such a gigantic undertaking to complete the bridge and thereby re-establish communication with the outside.

The mayor asked the doctor if the Noxious Weed Act was being enforced and was advised that in portions of the province it was and others it was not, but there was no reason why it should not be enforced if it was so desired.

Mr. Fisher mentioned the question of land settlement as applied to this particular district and pointed out to the minister that the impression in this locality was that the government had not given very much encouragement for the promotion of this enterprise here. It was also pointed out that there was lots of land available but that it was being held at too high a price so that people were unable to get on it to cultivate it. The doctor stated the government were moving along the lines to get these lands available and was of the opinion that eventually they would revert to the Crown. The wild land tax had already been increased considerably.

It was further shown to the minister that here we had a community established with a ready market for whatever could be produced, and in that way it was believed it would be more advantageous to encourage land settlement in a locality of this kind than in those places far removed from the markets. Ald. Dicken intimated to the doctor that we were too far removed from Victoria, where Fernie was understood to be a mining community and consequently there was no agriculture here, but if given fair consideration such would not be found to be the case. Dr. King said that Mr. Fisher kept the house fully and ably advised with regard to this district, but he considered this was not the time to carry out a large development scheme.

After agreeing to make a satisfactory adjustment with reference to certain material salvaged from the old Fairy Creek bridge and used by the government for the Michel bridge, in so far as the city's interest was concerned, the doctor retired from the meeting and shortly thereafter the meeting of the council adjourned.

G.W.V.A.

The local returned men visited Morrisey at the invitation of Major G. Anderson, late 54th Batt., on Friday last, May 24. Sports had been arranged and the Vets won the football match and tug-of-war, and other prizes were secured by individuals. The boys had a great time and declare the Major a prince. We hope to arrange a game in Fernie in the near future, Vets vs. 107th for the benefit of the Red Cross.

It is the intention of the G.W.V.A. to run a series of open air dances this summer, proceeds to the Club and G. W. V. A. funds and other patriotic causes. Mr. Trites has kindly consented to the use of his floor and pavilion. We hope to hold the first dance in the very near future.

All returned men and those among the public interested in returned men's problems are asked to watch the notice board for a notice which will call a meeting. Lieut. Jones, M.C., is on his way here from the coast to explain the Vocational Training Branch and the connection between the government and returned men by the introduction of the new department at Ottawa, the Soldiers Rehabilitation Department.

Lieut. Jones is a very interestng speaker and as the queston of the soldier and his return to civil life is one of the most prominent question before the public today we hope that a large number will be on hand, especially those having relations overseas.

The public of the district are warned re purchasing or giving subscriptions for any articles or ventures by returned soldiers. In other parts this sort of thing is being overdone by supposed returned soldiers using the G.W.V.A. wrongly in this regard. We wish to point out that anything of a legitimate nature being handled by returned soldiers in this district, the men handling same will be furnished with credentials by the Fernie and District Branch G.W.V.A.

COMMUNICATION

May 30, 1918.

Editor Free Press:

Sir—I should esteem it a favor if you will insert the following in your well known paper:

Certain people in this burg are using my name pretty freely in connection with the Court of Appeals for Exemption. They are saying that it is through evidence that I gave when I appeared for certain men, that they did not get exemption when Class A or otherwise the young men from 19 to 23 were called up. I appeared for 36 miners and every one got exemption to follow out their employment as coal miners. I also was instrumental in getting one sent back from Vancouver, who is still in Fernie. Not until all exemptions where cancelled, and the new order in council went into effect, did any of these 36 have to leave.

I may state that so far as I am concerned the evidence that I gave would not get a man out of bed, let alone send him to the front. Notwithstanding that I have already lost two brothers at the front, leaving a poor old mother and father with the last son gone, I do not want to see anyone else's parents left the same. If I do hear any more of a like talk in Fernie from these poor irresponsibles, I shall obtain the verbatim report from the Appeal Court and ask permission to produce same in the columns of this paper. And when I do it will make some very interesting reading at least for some.

Get down and study your own position; let that grey matter of yours move; if it won't move itself get some one to hit you with a club. Study your biological make up, your morphology, co-ordinations and correlations, cause and effect. When you have studied these you will know why you or they were unable to obtain exemption. I am only one small unit not so much as one grain of sand in the make up of the present society.

In anticipation I thank you,

H. Martin.

RAMBLINGS FROM THE GALLERY MAN

The last trip I made on the Coal Creek express as stated in your last paper, seems to have created quite a little merriment even if the occasion was marred slightly by the various poetical effusions that the "chicken" bunch sluffed off. I don't mind the verse so much if the subject is good, or there is some little local occurance that makes it trite and saucy like.

But my! you ought to hear the boys when they get down to earth, as the saying goes. Apart from the various 'stunts' and experiences in dyeing Plymouth rock cockerels up to color, and the best methods for changing two year olds into cockerels, how to make chickens lay dollar a dozen eggs, the talk suddenly switched to the merits and demerits of 'Licene.'

Buff Orpington Bill opined that the stuff wasn't up to much. Li'l Arthur said he had tried it on the dog, but the dog's tenants got so excited that they dug trenches, with the result that he went and committed suicide on the G. N. bridge. So you see that wasn't a fair test. "Why didn't you try it on that bull calf they're talking about in West Fernie," says Jenkins. At this point I became very much interested, and I wondered whether this was the same calf that I had heard such a good story about. Old Beefy is responsible for the yarn, and I dare say he'll wonder at my nerve in grossly violating his confidence. There's a giddy young schoolma'am sitting over in the corner laughing boisterously at the story as I relate it. She is a fair good judge of things in general, and besides she is piquantly witty. Of course she was feeling pretty good. A ten per cent bonus doesn't come every day Tom. "Now" says she, "I can get an extra box of crackers every week. Don't you think that Bill Jackson person is simply horrid, Tom?" I opined that he was some horrid alright. "Well," says she, "If you give a hand to whale the stuffing out of him next week, I'll show you what I can do in the Bobbie Burns line." Spring that stuff again said Jane and here you have it.

Where nature fashioned lots of stumps
And 'Ice Age' left its trail of rocks
T'would give a man the jumps
We'd used a ton of dynamite
When he began to funk
Says he, "By gosh, I'll go to town
And get rip roaring drunk."

He hunted up his little nag
And started off for town
The night grew dark, old Boreas blew,
And finally owd Jack got down
Close by the river side he stopped
Tied up his horse by Tommy's fence.
He didn't want his horse copped.

O'er the bridge and up the hill,
Owd Jack his footsteps bent,
And pretty soon forgot his stumps
In richly luscious two per cent.
So, as the night wore on, owd Jack
Thought to return to his domain
But as I said, the night was dark,
The return home was worse again.

Now you'll agree, a mixture strong
Of wits well mixed with liquor
Makes men see things a hundred ways,
And he blames his carburetor
He knew he had to make a turn
Just when the bridge he crossed,
Turn one he passed, also the fence,
Why Jack was fairly lost.

He stumbled on, and stumbled on,
And getting worse and worse
And finally came to the place
He thought he left his horse.
Fumbling up, with outstretched hands,
(Now this will make you laugh)
He never paused to give a thought
His horse had changed into a calf.

But as I said, the night was dark
And much too late to roam,
And horse or calf it mattered not
For Jack was going home.
And then, bestrode his fiery steed
And grabbed for lines he thought that led.
"By cripes," says Jack, "I'm turning back
This ruddy horse has lost his head.

"When I left home tonight," quoth he
"A glorious time to spend,
I'll bet my life a thousand times
His head was at the other end."
You will concede I think with me
Jack's wits were rich and mellow,
He rubbed his eyes in wild surprise
His steed began to bellow.

The calf, he bellowed loud and long
And Jack was now plumb off his ties
And then, behold a violent shock
The tail hit Jack between the eyes.
Worse than that, another shock,
The calf he forward made a bound,
There was no neck on which to cling,
So Jack was left upon the ground.

The noise and racket that was made
Woke up West Fernie's mayor,
He thought the kids were playing tricks
When he spied Jack in pose of prayer.
But Jack he simply spued and raved
I'll bet he's been to Hawthorne's hall
And got his soul sublimely saved.

"I've watched them blokes before," said Tom,
"They act so blooming queer,
It's fifty-fifty when they're saved
And when they're full of beer.
Come on owd lad, get up," said Tom,
"Don't act as if you're full
You only missed your little horse
And collared Potter's bull."

This world is full of funny things,
And things get somewhat mixed.
You're always up to wonder
Just how the game is fixed.
There's lots of us just like owd Jack
And quite a few that's worse,
And few but what has found the bull
When looking for the horse.

BIGGS APOLOGIZES AND STAY IS ENTERED

Calgary, May 28.—Thomas Biggs, president of District 18, U. M. W. of A., having apologized, and the complainant in the case, Wm. Williams, a coal miner, having been reinstated as a member of the union, a stay of proceedings was this morning entered by Mr. Justice Simmons in the case of Biggs, who was charged with criminally libelling Williams.

A LIFETIME OF SUFFERING

Prevented by "Fruit-a-tives" The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

53 Maisonneuve St., Hull, Que.

"In my opinion, no other medicine is so good as 'Fruit-a-tives' for Indigestion and Constipation.

For years, I suffered with these dreaded diseases, trying all kinds of treatments until I was told I was incurable.

One day a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. To my surprise, I found this medicine gave immediate relief, and in a short time I was all right again".

DONAT LALONDE

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited. Ottawa.

When the case was called this morning H. Ostlund, of Lethbridge, counsel for Biggs asked that a stay of proceedings be entered stating to his lordship that it was not the wish of the complainant that the case should go to trial for the reasons mentioned. James Short, K.C., for the crown, offering no objections, his lordship ordered that a stay be entered.

Williams was formerly a member of Wayne local of the United Mine Workers of America and in addition to the criminal libel proceedings was also suing for an order of the court for reinstatement as a union member.

The Bank of Commerce this week shipped their old fixtures down to one of the new Alberta towns, where they are opening a branch. Wonder if they will patronize the local newspaper.

Hartley Wilson, C.N.P. Coal Co. engineer, has resigned his position and will move to Toronto very shortly. In the departure of Mr. Wilson, Fernie loses a useful citizen and one highly respected in the community. For the past few years he has been an active member of the school board and his place will be difficult to fill. Mrs. Wilson and the children are already in Toronto, where they have been visiting for some time.

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

WHY HE CHANGED HIS MIND

So accustomed had Michael Sullivan a well know Pittsburg newspaper man become to the ways of a certain barber shop uptown that he invariably started unbuttoning his collar as the front door clicked behind him. His next step was to give the back button a jerk, hang the collar and tie on the rack, carefully draped about his hat, and then, and only then, would turn his gaze toward the chair, where his favorite Tony was wont to operate. In true form he went through his routine one day recently and then—behold a stranger in Tony's place. The stranger grinned at Sullivan. "You look for Tony? He is in the crazy asylum. He go mad last night while shaving his best friend. It run in the family." With this he bowed Mr. Sullivan into the chair. Then he added: "I am Tony's brother." Mr. Sullivan resumed his tie and collar in the street.

EFFECT OF HIGH WAGES

High wages are always satisfactory to the recipient. The relations between labor and capital would sometimes be more amicable if the wage earner gave more consideration to the employer's side of the matter.

For instance, there is now-a-days a good deal of complaint that men who find themselves with a substantial number of dollars in pocket, are prone to lay off until they have spent it. Do they ever stop to reflect that this conduct on their part hinders contracts from being carried out and causes loss by keeping equipment idle?

In fact, the employer's reluctance to advance wages is often based to some extent on this very reason. Disagreeable experience has taught him that some working men are apt to be like the animal ridden by Balaam. When they wax fat, they kick.

Men are valuable, partly in proportion to their skill and partly in proportion to whether they can be depended upon to stick to their jobs. If they persist in having no regard for anything but their own convenience, how can they fairly feel aggrieved if the boss acts on the same principle?

The present era of high wages and plenty of employment is not going to last for ever. When the hard times come again the man who will weather them best is the man who has put something in the savings bank.—Vancouver Sun.

MAKE THE FOREST FIREPROOF

Several forest fires have already occurred in various parts of Canada this year. In practically every case the cause was traced to human hands—a tossed away cigarette, a neglected camp fire, or similar act that at the moment appeared trifling. Settlers, anxious to burn their slash in the hottest weather without obeying government regulations are prolific cause of forest fire every year.

The rangers of this province are asking the co-operation of every man, woman and child this year so as to keep the forest losses down to a minimum as a matter of decent patriotism. Special efforts are being made to provide fire fighting equipment but the main task is to prevent fires from starting. This is a comparatively simple matter if every camper puts out his campfire, every smoker extinguishes his cigarette and match before tossing away, every settler guards his clearing fire. When a bush fire is seen, instant word should be sent to the nearest fire ranger, railroad agent or municipal officer.

GERMAN-AMERICAN RETRACTS

The Germania Herold, published in German in Milwaukee, furnishes a notable instance of a deceived newspaper setting itself right with its readers by acknowledging its error. In an editorial it retracts every charge made by it in three years that Britain is responsible for the world war, and it lays the blame at the door of Germany. The Herold was enlightened, its editor says, by the revelations of Prince Lichnowsky in his memorandum on his British mission from 1912 to 1914.—Winnipeg Tribune.

IF YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

A Ford Car Takes the Place of All These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitchforks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car—complete in itself. It is vastly superior to the narrow, cramped buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting

Abnormal Friction Pull vs. Elasticity of Friction

Note the Short Grain Rubber Friction

This Belt Section illustrates a Heavy "Poundage-Pull" Friction. To secure this result the Friction Grain is short and stiff. Elasticity and Flexibility have been sacrificed to secure such a result.

BETWEEN every ply of specially-selected, heavy Cotton Duck in Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is a layer of pure Rubber which, through a Dunlop calendering process, so permeates the fabric that it binds the several plies into one integral piece.

Some belt manufacturers offer to sell their product on the basis of "Heavy-Poundage in a Friction-Pull" Test. To obtain the latter result it is not necessary to secure such an expensive Rubber Friction as is used in "Gibraltar Red Special." This fact alone ought to be a pretty good gauge of the value of the "friction-pull" test.

In buying "Gibraltar RedSpecial" you get the advantage of years of careful laboratory work on our part with this result: The friction is of that "just-right" elastic quality which allows for the give and take necessary in rounding the pulleys; hence the reason "Gibraltar RedSpecial" is known for maximum Power, Speed and Service.

Note the Long Grain Rubber Friction

Dunlop "GIBRALTAR REDSPECIAL" has a Friction of Special Dunlop Rubber that retains its life indefinitely. "Note the long grain Rubber Friction," as illustrated. Elasticity has not been sacrificed for Abnormal Friction Pull.

UNLIMITED capacity for service is an intrinsic quality with Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting. The success of nearly a quarter of a century in the manufacture of Rubber Products is built into Gibraltar The original Made-in-Canada Red Rubber, Frictioned Surface Belting, "Gibraltar RedSpecial" has stood the infallible test of time in turning the wheels of industry in a multitude of Canadian plants from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Dunlop Unreserved Guarantee If you have a difficult drive anywhere in your factory drop a line to our Head Office, or to our nearest branch, and we will send a man experienced in belt engineering to consider your requirements. If it is an instance where the "Gibraltar" Belting may be suitably employed we will recommend its use; and we will stand behind our recommendation with the fullest guarantee ever issued by a firm producing rubber products.

THE BRITISH THROUGH THE ARAB EYES

Britain is the greatest Asiatic power. The fact is commonly overlooked. But it is known in Asia.

British troops went to Bagdad and are going to Mosul. British prestige must be maintained in the East if British rule in India is to be maintained.

What do the natives think of the British in Bagdad? An Arab newspaper gives the answer. With naive astonishment it records some of the doings of the British.

Bagdad is now lit with electricity. This is British work. But the Arabs are quite convinced that it is the work of Jinns.

Each house in Bagdad has been valued and registered. No excessive rents can be charged. The Mussulman religious endowments have been recorded. Every cent of money expended must be accounted for.

The railway has been extended from the Persian Gulf. The Arabs feared the railway so the British induced thousands of them to lay the rails at good wages. There was no trouble amongst the onlooking tribesmen thereafter.

The first through train to Busra was filled with Arab sheikhs. They went doubtfully; they returned, says the Arab chronicler, "full of praise" and calling on Allah "that every good might come to the great British government."

"A DOG'S LIFE" COMING TO THE ORPHEUM

In selecting a title for his first comedy to be released by the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Charlie Chaplin is said to have utilized a chance remark made by Harry Lauder during the Scotch celebrity's visit to the new Chaplin studios in Hollywood, California.

After showing his visitor around the premises, Charlie turned to Harry and said:

"Well, Harry, and what do you think of my new quarters?"

Lauder gazed about the brilliant glass stage, rubbing his chin thoughtfully, while he considered the suites of palatial dressing rooms, fitted with every modern convenience that necessity and good taste could suggest, the luxuriously furnished offices, and the perfectly appointed little restaurant, where meals are provided for the star and his company. Then he turned to Chaplin with a pitying shake of his head.

When the question of selecting a name for his forthcoming rib-tickler came up a day or two later, Chaplin remembered Lauder's laconic comment, and decided it would make an appropriate title for the first of his $1,000,000 comedies.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

There is an Idlers Act in Bagdad even as in Canada. Everyone must work. All the high taxes have been remitted; all the high rents for farming lands have been abolished. The British governor has taken such lands and rented them at a reasonable figure. Finally there are new schools full of pupils.

Thus British rule after Ottoman misrule. The desert already has begun to blossom. The Arab newspaper reporter from whom these facts are taken invokes Allah in blessing.

DECLINE IN PRODUCTION OF COAL IS PREDICTED

Foresight is always more effective than hindsight, but in handling the coal situation a combination of both is better than either alone. The growing scarcity of fuel during the past few years culminated in a near catastrophe during the past winter. It has surely been demonstrated beyond peradventure that it is very dangerous to try "to muddle through" any longer. The experience of the past has not been lost if that lesson has been thoroughly learned. Indications are not lacking by any means that the shortage of coal next winter will be more acute than ever. The output of the Nova Scotia coal mines has declined from 7,213,485 tons in 1913 to 5,657,000 tons in 1917, or 22.75 per cent. Owing to the steadily growing scarcity of mine labor and to recent serious mine accidents it is evident that there must be a further marked reduction in 1918. At the same time there has been a large increase in the consumption of coal in the maritime provinces during those years. In fact, it appears as if the Nova Scotia mines will not be able to do better than supply their own requirements and those of the maritime provinces. If this is done, little or no coal will be available for Montreal and it is assumed that no Nova Scotia coal will be available for Ontario. Foresight indicates that in the woodpile lies one of the means of preventing panic and disaster next winter.

Use more honey, maple sugar, molasses, syrups to conserve cane sugar.

DANGER TO SYSTEM UNLESS ACTION IS TAKEN

Ignorance alone can excuse neglect of the health when all indications point to Kidney trouble. Everyone should know that from the hour the Kidneys fail to remove the poisons from the blood stream, these poisons are accumulating ready to cause sickness, pain and suffering.

How are you to know that the system is in danger from poisoning? One or more of the following symptoms should leave no doubt in your mind. If you are the victim of backache, pains in the back or sides, or Lumbago, be sure nature is calling for better Kidney action. Take Gin Pills.

At the first twinges of Rheumatism, swollen ankles and joints, or any other manifestation of uric acid poisoning, take Gin Pills. Dozens of Testimonials prove Gin Pills to be the sovereign remedy.

Take the warning given by constant headaches, restless nights, dizziness when you stoop, frequent chills, bladder, urinary trouble, or constipation, and turn to the remedy which is so sure that it is sold on the money-back guarantee—Gin Pills.

Gin Pills are sold by all dealers—50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50. A free sample will be sent if you address your request to the National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto; or if you live in the United States, address Na-Dru-Co Inc., 202 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y. 161

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-West Territories and in a portion of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 per acre. Not more than 2,560 will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

UNIVERSAL WEEKLY

ONE REEL COMEDY

CLIP THIS AND PIN ON WIFE'S DRESSER

Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns or calluses so they lift off with fingers.

Ouch ! ? ! ? ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone tell him to order a small bottle for you.

MARCH and APRIL DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Prominent government officials visited Elko last week and the old historic burg might get the provincial offices moved there from Cranbrook and Fernie on account of it being the railroad centre of South East Kootenay, its great water power and rare climate, the pleasure resort of the Crow's Nest Pass. Hon. Dr. King, Minister of Public Works and Mr. Myers his private secretary; Alex. I. Fisher, M.P.P., J. G. Cummings, government engineer, and L. McDonald, road superintendent, spent a considerable time here and visited the writer, who the Doctor has known over 20 years, and are old college chums, and the whole district can count on a good square deal from the genial Minister and the member elect.

Well, all I have to say about it, says Jim Thistlebeak, is that the man who gets into the habit of never making mistakes is entirely too perfect for this old world, and the man who does not advertise may know his own business, but we'll bet nobody else does.

Joe Jackson, who is reported in all the papers for the last two weeks clouting 'em on a heavy ticket back in New York state, is not the Joe Jackson that punches the tickets on the C.P.R. Crow's Nest Pass line.

Many people visited Elko on Victoria Day via C.P.R. and G.N.R. A number came down on the G.N. and took auto and visited Eureka and the Roosville Falls. Tom McGladrey, the transportation agent of Fernie, B.C., brought down a musical comedy troup of 16 people from Fernie;and there were also dozens of automobiles from outside points well filled with good people and good cheer.

Miss E. B. Paterson, of Kootenay Orchards, Cranbrook, with Mrs. A. M. Ellwood, of Flagstone, and Miss Della, are spending several days at Roosville the guests of Mrs. Fred Roo.

If you'd believe the popular songs says Jim Thistlebeak, that the papers are advertising these days, you'd think that never a youth joined the army or navy and marched away to the jungles or some submarine base who didn't leave a fine plump sweetheart rapidly withering away.

Mrs. Joseph Austin and family, of Fernie, with Miss Stover, of Cranbrook, were Elko visitors last Saturday, the guests of Miss E. May Roo.

Herb Letcher of the Square Deal Ranch, Roosville, landed a 14 lb. char at the Elk River grade last Sunday.

Francis Downs, of the Downs and Reniecke Lumber Co., Roosville Valley, was in Elko this week looking for men to start up their mill again as they shut down to put the teams hauling to Flagstone, and they are shipping some of the finest lumber ever shipped from this neck of the woods.

Count Rizzuto, of Fernie, and a party of Italian nobles were in Elko on Sunday. About 17 Fernie autos visited Elko on Sunday and the Chinese ice cream melted like a Kootenay river fog, camouflaged, as it were.

If you see a complexion that's peaches and cream, remember things always aren't just what they seem; just take a good look and come out of your dream, it's camouflage (Fuller Prunes).

Miss E. B. Patterson returned from her visit to the Roosville Valley accompanied by Miss Myra A. Roo, of Roosville, who will visit with her for some weeks at the Kootenay Orchards, near Cranbrook.

J. Thompson, of Cranbrook, who owns the Columbia hotel and Tea Rooms, Elko, was in Elko this week inhaling the pure air of heaven and heard the latest story about Daniel in the Lion's Den.

The B. C. government is putting the Elk river grade on the Roosville road in spendid condition. Supt. L. McDonald says the roads serving the actual settler will be his first consideration.

TRYING TO PROCURE CLOSE-IN LANDS

In view of the rapid exhaustion during recent years of available Crown Lands in close proximity to the railways, a shortage which has been accentuated by the reservation in the interests of soldier settlement, the desire on the part of prospective settlers to procure land within reasonable distance of a line of transportation has suggested to the department of the Interior the listing of the names and addresses of the owners of those quarter sections of unoccupied and non-producing lands which are lying dormant so far as agriculture production is concerned, the presumption being that in a number of cases the owners would be interested from either a financial or patriotic point of view in offers on the part of prospective settlers to purchase or lease their holdings.

The vital necessity for increasing the acreage under crop makes it essential that assistance be rendered by all agencies that might be instrumental in assisting the "back to the land" movement. Now that the truth of the somewhat crude expression attributed to Napoleon that "an army travels upon its stomach" is being emphasized more and more as the "Great War" progresses, no better argument could possibly be advanced as to the imperative need for increasing our production which of course entails an immediate increase in the acreage under crop.

The lists are available for distribution covering the various land districts throughout the provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, those for Alberta to follow at an early date. Applicants should state the district in which they are interested when making application to the Natural Resources Intelligence Branch of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

POLICE COMS. HOLD MEETING

On Monday evening the police commissioners held a special meeting in the council chamber at which all the commissioners were in attendance. The purpose of this meeting was to receive the resignations of Constables Killam and Pollard, who have decided to go "back to the land." After the resignations had been accepted four applications for the vacancies were considered. They were from Fred Clarkston, Cowper Stephenson, S. J. McNally and Peter Dawson. All these applicants are returned veterans. When asked by one of the commissioners if he had anything to suggest, Chief Welsby recommended that one of the applications be considered at once and that the other appointment be allowed to remain over until the next regular meeting, which will be held on Monday, June 10, when further applications might be received and in any event that all applicants should be present when they could be personally examined by the commissioners. This resulted in Fred Clarkston being appointed at a salary of $90 per month on probation for three months. Com. Dudley then casually referred to the non-exhibition of dog tags but was advised that the police had not completed their collections, meanwhile the "Commishes" will have additional time to solve the problem of making it imperative that all dogs wear tags, failing which owners will be prosecuted.

Chief Welsby took occasion to announce during the meeting that the revenue of his department from the first of the year had exceeded the disbursements by over $1200, despite the fact that the expenses paid the salaries of four men on the force. During the month of May $800 was rereived from police court fines and approximately $100 from pound fees.

AMERICANS ARE CALLED UPON TO REGISTER

The American Consul at Fernie desires to impress upon all Americans in this locality and elsewhere the necessity of registering on June 22, in compliance with the regulations of the Canada Registration Board for man and woman power registration on that day.

Neither registration as an American citizen, American military registration, American Certificate of military exemption or birth certificate is sufficent. All residents of Canada temporary or otherwise and of whatever nationality, who are over 16 years of age must register on that date. This registration is more in the nature of an industrial measure and should not be confused with Military Registration; the two are entirely separate and distinct. The Consul desires again to impress upon all Americans in this consular district who have not already done so, the advisability of registering as American citizens at the consulate at once. Registration application forms may be obtained at any American consulate but in making request for forms it should be stated whether native born or naturalized citizens.

The maintenance and education of the fatherless child is a matter of deep national concern. Healthy and compent youngsters are wanted to take the places of the hundreds of thousands who have heard their country's call and of the many who have fallen. Now, if ever, it is essential for the future welfare of the race that the lamp of our civilization should be kept burning brightly. Let us see to it that we send these our poorer adopted children and future citizens into the world of competition and conflicting ideals at least as well equipped, intellectually and physically as their rivals.—London Daily Express.

AN AVIATOR'S EXPERIENCES

The following are extracts taken from letters from Harold Minton:

For the last 12 days we have not been able to do any flying owing to it being so stormy. I was up this afternoon for 20 minutes. There was a little break in the weather and took advantage of it but it was really too bumpy to do much good and then it started to rain and I was forced to land. Am pretty sure I saw Bishop Wilson in reading room going through the school of aeronautics the same time as myself. He then had the observer's wing up and I came to the conclusion that he was there going through the preliminary course to get his pilot's certificate. Pilots mostly consist of officers; some however, are flight sergeant pilots, who failed to pass out as commissioned officers when going through the cadet school, which are very few in number. Squadrons vary in size according to the types of machines and class of work which they are cut out to do. A squadron usually consists of about 20 machines and the same number of pilots if they are two seaters. They have 20 observers. Then there are a great number of mechanics and riggers to keep the machines in running order.

Personally I am going in for the fighting squadron, which are all single seaters, small but very fast machines. I have to do my cross country flight and photography, then I go on the single seater known as the "Sopwith Pup," make two successful fights, and then graduate as a pilot. After that we do about five hours on "Sopwith Camels," which is a very fast bus and very good for stunts, which is the main thing for a fighting purpose, looping, spins, "split turns," etc. The latter is a very steep turn and most dangerous of all. You are on your wing tip and if you are not careful the machine will side slip inwards, which will prove fatal if you should happen to be close to the ground. It is not advisable to do any stunts close to the ground for there is always a tendency for your machine stalling, which renders your control useless and your bus nose dives to the ground and unless you are up 500 to 1000 feet it does not give you time to gain control.

I experienced a stall about two weeks ago. I fell from 30 feet from the ground and the bus was in an awful looking mess. It was a perfectly good crash and taught me a damn good lesson, letting me off with a black eye. My instructor asked me if I knew what I did. I said I was holding it off trying to get over some rough ground without switching on my engine and I suppose she must have stalled. He mentioned that that is how most fellows meet their doom by losing flying speed.

Last Monday week I was up about 4000 feet having some great fun all by myself. I was trying the Immleman turn, which is a half loop and a nose dive. I was doing them very nicely when I suddenly got into a roll, the bus stalled instead of nose diving and I hung in the air, the machine on its back, myself hanging in the straps. I immediately let go of the controls, waiting results, when she started the nose dive; then I was quite all right. I was hanging on to the struts in the cock pit for all I was worth. It's a great game. Only wish I had joined the air service a couple of years ago.

Later—Made my flip in the "Pup" very successfully so I am now a qualified pilot. I took off about 7 o'clock this morning, stayed up for about 40 minutes and made a beautiful landing. Had breakfast and then did about an hour and a half on the "avro." This evening I have to take the "Pup" up again. Then I shall be granted a few days leave. The "pup" is certainly a great bus, fast and will climb like mad. I flew up to Hull and turned round so that will give you some idea of its speed, to do that in 40 minutes.

Later—I have just returned from five days graduation leave. I have made three flips with the service machines; the third one I landed a little too hard and broke the under carriage but the damage was not great. I will not be able to do any flying for the next couple of days as one of my fingers is on the blink. I hit it with my walking stick the other day and it started to swell. The M.O. said it looks like blood poison and he cannot open it until the swelling goes down.. I ordered my new R.A.F. uniform at Gamages while in London. None of the officers seem to be in favor of it. They don't like the idea of having to go with out the "same brown belt," but on the whole it is very comfortable open tunic and slacks.

ECLIPSE OF SUN WILL TAKE PLACE ON SATURDAY

Of all the cities in Canada, Vancouver and Victoria will have the best view of the eclipse of the sun that is to take place on Saturday, June 8. The nearest point to that city at which the eclipse will be observed as a total one will be Chehalis, Washington, but to observers in that city 96-100's of the face of the sun will be in shadow.

Victoria is slightly better situated, but is some distance from the path of totality as the path of the shadow, 167 miles wide, extending from somewhere near Cape Flattery across the United States to the Bahamas islands, is called. Denver, Colorado, for instance, will be dark for a minute and a half being directly in the centre of this path and Jackson, Mississippi, will be dark for just over a minute. In the trip across the continent the shadow of the moon hurries right along, its speed ranging from about 18 miles per minute at the equator to over 60 miles a minute in the northern latitudes.

People who are not within the path of total shadow, however, will not see half the glories that will be visible to those to whom the face of the sun will be entirely covered by the moon. When the slightest bit of the sun is visible the sight loses most of the majesty that made it a terror to the ancients. The beauty of the total eclipse is due to the fact that during such a phenemenon great red flames appear to be springing from the layer of gases surrounding the obscured sun, and outside of this again is the "corona" or halo of silvery light, these being at ordinary times made invisible by the dominating glare of the sun. These sights cannot be seen during a partial eclipse except by means of special instruments.

The traditional instrument used for observing the partial eclipse is a piece of smoked glass, somewhat darkly smoked with burning camphor. Doctors warn that it is dangerous to attempt to watch the eclipse without protection of this sort, for there is danger of blindness in the beholder as long as there is any of the sun visible.

A dance will be held in Victoria Hall on Monday, July 1st, to commence at 10 o'clock in the evening, under the auspices of the above order, for the benefit of the Red Triangle, Y.M.C.A. This well known branch of mutual aid has been the means of helping thousands of our sons and brothers and husbands out on the battle fronts. Thousands more will have to be helped. It is up to each and every one of us who stay behind to help in our individual way to brighten the lives of those who have gone, and show them at least we do not forget the great sacrifices they are making. For the purpose of making this dance a success the wives, mothers, sweethearts and everybody else's sweetheart are requested to meet in the lodge room of the above order, on Monday evening, June 10, at 7.30 p.m.

It is not very long ago that the faint-hearted were telling us that if this or that necessary step towards victory were taken the workers would object. We, for our part, have always maintained that there was no sacrifice which the country would refuse to make so long as the necessity for it was clearly explained. The explanation of our present needs has been furnished by the German advance in a way which nobody could fail to understand, and the response has been prompt and wholehearted. Men who seemed bent on making trouble, because they did not understand, have now only one thought, the saving of their country from the peril which threatens her. The moral is obvious. Too much has been taken for granted in the past, and the workers have been left too much at the mercy of mischief-makers who are at heart enemies of their country. The result has been that men who are slow of understanding have been led to strike over trivial matters.—London Times.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS MEET

Fernie District Automobile Association held its annual gathering and meeting at Waldo on Wednesday, when exceptionally fine weather added to the pleasure of the motorists attending the meeting. Between 25 and 30 cars journeyed from this end of the district, including Fernie, Hosmer and Michel. Cranbrook, while not in the local association, sent a representation, as did Fort Steele. The south country was very well represented also.

The election of officers resulted in the following being chosen to handle the affairs of the Association during this year: President, C. D. McNab; 1st vice, S. Herchmer, Fernie; 2nd vice, A. K. Leitch, Jaffray; secretary, F. C. Lawe; treasurer, E. K. Stewart. The executive committee consists of Alex. Birnie, Elko; Dr. G. R. Foster, Newgate; Frank Labelle, Hosmer; A. Doyle, Fort Steele; A. G. Wilmot, Jaffray; F. W. Adolph, Baynes Lake; Hales Ross, Waldo; G. F. Pownall, Bull River; A. Macneil, Dr. Asselstine and A. Watson, Fernie.

Under the auspices of the Association a dance was held in Waldo during the evening and a very substantial sum was realized for the Amalgamated Patriotic Fund.

The most important matter taken up by the meeting was with regard to the changing of the present rule of the road and a vigorous resolution petitioning the Provincial government to change the rule of the road throughout the province was forwarded.

The new golf links afforded some amusement to the pleasure seekers and particularly a match game between Alan Graham and A. Macneil. The former appeared to be in better form and had little difficulty in winning the game.

THINGS WE'D LIKE TO KNOW

Why all the rice was showered in front of the Fire Chief's door.

If a citizen painted his house would the City Clerk raise his assessment accordingly.

Why a man who is addicted to the use of liquor can secure an automobile license.

If the highways of B.C. were made especially for the accommodation of Count Rizzuto's tank.

If special provision was made in the Idlers Act exempting the prisoners in the Morrissey internment camp.

If Bob Kerr has secured a life job on the construction of the Michel bridge.

When the Liberal party were handing out plums why Bill Robson and Sandy were overlooked?

How the City Clerk knew that the police court revenue was going to be increased.

If the chickens will feel lonesome now that Constable Killam has resigned.

Why somebody don't take a subscription for tombstones for a few of our merchants who don't advertise.

Why we didn't study law. Sandy is suing District No. 6 for nearly 3000 bones for advice rendered.

If Dr. Bonnell, M.P., will be able to handle the crowd of Dominion government creditors that will wait upon him when he arrives home.

Why the city fathers don't turn the roller loose on Victoria avenue. Very soon our good road will be ruined by neglect.

Why Harry Martin is always feeling peeved about something. But we suppose a Miners Union Secretary gradually develops that feeling.

If there is anything in the report that the local Deputy Sheriff may have to take charge of the hanging at Nelson on the 29th of July.

What relationship Biggs' visit to the coast had with the proposed appointment of an assistant coal administrator.

With the preachers' wives out of town if it wouldn't be a good time to invite them around to a little game of draw.

Why the motorists blame Supt. McDonald for bad roads when the Provincial Government does not allow him enough money to keep up a footpath.

Why the public should continue to patronize a bank or any other institution that does not advertise or that spends every dollar of its money outside of the town.

If Augmentation Bill Cameron has lost his pep since he tried to break the speed record between Cranbrook and Fort Steele. The smash cost him $900.

In electing officials for the coming year will Gladstone Local show its usual intelligence. It is said the ignorance of the policy committee was responsible for 68 awards by the administrator, costing the district $3000.

If the funds collected by the Y.M.C.A. in the recent drive will all be spent for the good of the soldiers or was part of it intended to boost regular building funds in some of the cities and other work outside of the soldiers.

Why some people become so indignant when a question is asked. These paragraphs are merely questions to which we would be glad to have answers. In reply to the question, "If there is not one or two returned soldiers, etc.," Harry Joinson says that every returned man is working and that the question is a piece of impertinence. Harry should know and we take his word for it.

Why we are still alive. My, oh my, we had a close call and we are a mere nervous wreck since. You see it was all about that little item which appeared in this column last week asking if it was true that J. P. had started a detective agency. Now, why a man should wax exceedingly angry, froth at the mouth and swallow his false teeth over a little thing like that we don't know. Why, we remember the day when we would have waxed very proud if anyone had suggested that we were a detective. Nick Carter and Old Sleuth were our great heroes. True, our parents always said we would come to a bad end, but we have never yet robbed an express company, beat any man out of his wages or even owned a slot machine, but we are young yet and you never can tell what will happen. However, Jack demands a retraction and says that the report that he was running a detective agency is a damned lie.

IN BLUFF KING HAL'S TIME

We have as much land under cultivation this year as in the seventies, the Board of Agriculture tells us. So we revert to the conditions of Plantagenet England. In the 13th and 14th centuries we cultivated as much land, especially in wheat, as in the 20th. The yield was only about eight bushels to the acre; there were from 1½ to 2 million mouths to feed, and each man needed his quarter of corn a year; so the area differed little in aggregate from that of the present. But then everybody took a hand and at harvest time the Bar and the Universities grasped sickles and the Long Vacation remains to attest the practice.—Daily Chronicle.

"ALIMONY" TO BE SEEN HERE

Manager Johnston of the Orpheum theatre has secured the local exhibition rights to "Alimony," which deals with one of the most momentuous problems now confronting American society. It has an all star cast of players, headed by Lois Wilson, Josephine Whittell and George Fisher in the leading roles.

"Alimony" is from the pen of Hayden Talbot, the well known young playwright who has to his credit a number of American and European successes of the speaking stage. It is a smashing big drama, dealing as the title indicates, with the subject of divorce and containing an eloquent plea for the elimination of those acts of legislature that permit unscrupulous lawyers to win "easy money" divorce decrees, through the medium of the referee system. Woven around a compelling human document, it proves to be a startling expose and points the finger of accusation at several easily recognized attorneys who today are reaping harvests from the dishonest methods which the law of certain states uphold.

On his subject matter, Talbot says: "In 'Alimony' I think I have written an argument that ought to make people think and think hard. I have striven to put into an entertaining screen play the many surprising and shameful facts concerning the evils of certain divorce laws, with which I came into contact during my career as a newspaper man. I promised myself several years ago that I would put on paper what I had learned from my observations and 'Alimony' is the result of my efforts. If it should succeed in its purpose to lift the curtain of ignorance and reveal to the public gaze the astounding way in which countless divorces, absolutely unwarranted, are granted—because of the laws which govern them—I shall feel that my task has not been in vain."

Found New HEALTH

OF greater value than gold and silver is health restored. Up in the mining district of Larder Lake, Ont., Mr. Sid Castlemen discovered something—that the high words of praise given to Gin Pills are true. Here is his story, in part.

"I had heard of your

and decided to give them a trial at once, as I had been suffering for some time with my kidneys and urine. I sent my claim out to get them (about 60 miles) and I am pleased to inform you that in less than 6 hours I felt relief. In two days the pain had left me altogether. . . . To-day I feel as well as ever I did and my kidneys are acting quite naturally." (Full testimonial sent on request together with FREE SAMPLE of Gin Pills.)

"RECORD, RECORD, WHO'S GOT A RECORD?"

The hospital ward was big and bare, just a huge figure in officer's khaki on his daily inspection or perhaps a nurse bending over some helpless form, broke the uniform sameness of the rows and rows of white cots. In the centre of the room within earshot of all, a talking machine had been placed. To these wounded soldiers this was a gift from the skies, for music will soothe the sick, cheer the lonely and brighten the lives of all its hearers. On this particular morning "Silver Threads Among the Gold" had been played twice, "Annie Laurie" had been encored three times, while "Casey Jones," being the favorite, was played on the moving dial ofer five times. Can you blame the soldiers for not receiving much inspiration and cheer when just three records had been allotted their ward owing to such a limited supply?

This is just one instance of the many that occur in our military hospitals and rest homes, throughout the country, where thousands of returned soldiers are being cared for and who have some sound reproducing machine or player piano, but a very poor and meagre assortment of records or player rolls. Can you not start today looking through your cabinets and sort out the records that no longer interest you and have become useless.

Think what it will mean to these various soldier homes and hospitals to receive the selection of records that you have sent them, in care of your local branch of the Red Cross. So let's make this record campaign for our country's heroes.

Where Angels Fear To Tread

The war in Europe is one of unheard of complexity and scope. It is not the result of impromptu. It is the culmination of generations of intense study and preparation from which we have been absent. We shall be culpably superficial if we think we can jauntily step into such an affair and improvise the highest efficiency. That has never yet happened in war throughout history and never will happen while the human mind is capable of training, information, and preparation.—Chicago Tribune.

Can we expect the French, British and Italian soldiers to fight with destitution in their homes ?

SICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

ris! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

DUNLOP TIRES

Two Questions

With so many low-priced so-called anti-skids obtainable, would that great host of motorists pay more for Dunlop "Traction" Tread if they could get its merits elsewhere?

Also, would that other large list of car owners buy "SPECIAL" if tires which somewhat resemble it in appearance resembled it in efficiency?

"SPECIAL" DUNLOP "TRACTION"

Basic Facts About Belting

AND PARTICULARLY

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Transmission Belting

A Worthy Product

Years of careful study of the high-power belt problem have enabled Dunlop Laboratory experts to create "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting, the original Red Face Rubber Belting of Canada—a product worthy of the Dunlop Factories and of the quarter-century record of success back of them.

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Virtues Are Real

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to-day widely used in a multitude of ways in the many varied industries in this country. It owes its success, not to any illogical deductions or fantastic analyses, but to the simplest causes—causes so simple that they are now, always have been, and always will be, in our opinion, the bedrock of success in belt-making—Power, Speed, Service—in actual use as well as in the test-room.

Permanent Elasticity Means "Life" in Belting

In producing this new, this original, this master, red belt, our object has been to have the friction coat of rubber between the plies such as will retain its life indefinitely, and to have a quality of rubber with long "fingers," and not a quality of rubber the elasticity of which has been sacrificed to obtain the so-called high-pulling test.

That "Friction Pull"

When you are informed that such-and-such a belt has a "friction-pull" of abnormal poundage, do not imagine that you are getting a quality friction. What you have to secure in a belt is a friction full of elasticity. There must be between the plies of duck only a certain class of rubber to give uniform strength and pliability.

Resilient Quality Must Not Be Sacrificed To Excess of Friction Strength

To obtain high figures, such as referred to above, in belt frictions you have to take away from the elasticity of the friction; hence, there is a happy medium, and this medium we have obtained through our laboratory experts. It ensures for you a belt, the friction of which will hold the plies together and will be sufficiently elastic in its properties to allow for the give and take necessary in rounding the pulleys.

Duck Finest Obtainable, Made to Highest Specifications

A highly important feature of "Gibraltar RedSpecial" is the duck which enters into its construction. Only the finest quality of specially-selected duck, having the proper tensile strength in the right direction, is used. And this, in combination with a superior rubber friction between the plies, ensures absolute uniformity of service.

Fills The Bill

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to be found in practically every industry in Canada, and if it is Power, Speed and Service that you want, then it is "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Belting that you require for your work.

Universal Recognition of "Gibraltar RedSpecial"

To cite the names of users of this famous, red frictioned-surface belt would necessitate the use of much space. We have on file recommendations from almost every type of industry requiring "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting in widths varying from 1½" to 48." These testimonials are available for your perusal at any time.

The Original "Red"

"Gibraltar RedSpecial," as noted previously, is the Original Red Rubber Belt—and like most things that are original, its success is of the kind that endures.

COMMUNICATION

Mr. Editor—The action of the authorities in connection with the Anti-Loafers Law seems to a great many people to be somewhat far fetched. I should think any arrests of incorrigible loafers would be the object which the law is trying to attain, and a hard and fast interpretation of the law will surely bring about a good many complexities, so many in fact that the average person will hesitate to state just what his own position really amounts to.

To view the matter strictly from a community point of view, I will say that everyone in a community is interested more or less in the welfare of the same, and some recent action of the wiseacres in charge here simply amounts to putting up a signboard warning people "not to enter here."

Now in this district there has always been a great many people engaged in diverse occupations in connection with the production of lumber, and this part of our population is somewhat peripatetic, that is, they have to walk from one place to another to look for a job, and take it from me, when you see a pilgrim with his blankets on his back, he is scarcely posing as a tourist simply taking in the scenery. No, very far from it. He is looking for a job and if he is unfortunate enough to state that he is jobless, are we going to stick him in the coop?

If so, why not be fair and at least put up notices, let us say, at Hosmer and at Morrissey, warning unaccredited people that the "lid is on" in Fernie. Should our friend the lumberjack come to town to buy a pair of socks and get a bath, I take it we are slightly getting over the knot when we hale him before the cadi and sock him twenty-five bones because he wants to change his socks or look cock-eyed at our alluring two per cent.

I think it would be apparent to the most rigid corpse that poses as a business man in Fernie that our lumberjack or miner friend (when he has twenty-five bones) will in future give the town a wide berth.

There is another side. Let us take "Clause D" in the law, and where will you find two legal gents that will agree on the term "temporarrily employed?" If we have no deaths in the community, why an undertaker? If peace and good will abound with us all, oh, you briefless lawyers! Did I hear someone say "only temporarily employed?"

Some ingenious actor in Gladstone local recently took it upon himself to wire the Department of Mines about a blow-out in One East mine, and that those blow-outs always occurred on the afternoon shift, thinking, no doubt, that the Department would be influenced to issue a dictum re single shift, and I suppose if the company could be forced to work their mines just as the above mentioned actor wished, we would possibly have two or three hundred candidates for the cadi.

It is needless to mention that there are hundreds of instances where 'temporary employment' could be stretched and twisted so that the possibilities of chewing gum could scarcely be termed an analogy. Apart from the cerebral peregrinations of our wiring friend who would throw his fellows into the maw of the Philistines, let us look at the discriminatorry end. Should an employer decide on a course of action with regard to any employee who might (by malice) be termed obstreporous, I suppose it would be a case of "Well you will do it or the coop for yours."

And now, Mr. Editor, with your permission, I will call your attention to "Clause e. Clause d. is supposed to corral the horny-handed part of the population but Clause e. has sufficient holes to run Coal Creek screened coal through it, that is "Physically unable to comply with the provisions of the law as herein enacted."

A little bunch was taking stock of the I.C.S. display in Harper's window. You know the I.C.S. is engaged in the laudable undertaking of making bosses of us all. Of course when we all know enough to be bosses I'm wondering who's going to be the "mule." At any rate there is a poster showing the road "up" and the road "down." A young man is on the threshhold of this vale of tears. The I.C.S. way leads up to $10,000 per. The other way leads down to the poor house. A caustic old guy was standing near quietly grinning. I confess I'm somewhat lacking in perspicacity as well as humor, being a Scotsman, so I said: "Why the laugh, old timer?" "Why," he remarked, "the picture ought to show the hands. Just watch the expression of the man when he gets that bunch of money. Hard steely eyed son of a gun. But I'll bet his hands are pretty soft. Clause 'e' man." "Now," said the old timer, "watch the expression of the poor house gent. Soft as mush. But," he laughingly cried "I'll bet his hands are hard. He's a clause D man. Every law that ever was made works two ways."

Now, Mr. Editor, be that as it may, but I'll go back to my opening paragraph and I'm sure you'll agree with me that any law enacted up to the point of absurdity can do no possible good either to the individual or the community. Yours, Miner.

"The World Now Ended.....Millions Now Living Will Never Die." Hear the lecture by W. J. Crawford in Victoria Hall, Wednesday evening, June 12, at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of Bible Students Association.

THE NUTT LOOSE AGAIN

A stranger or rather a very old timer arrived in town the other night and finding an old acquaintance on the platform began at once to swap reminiscences of the early days. Arriving at the end of the platform, I heard the stranger remark, Say, that must have been one heluva fire you people had around here. I thought surely he was referring to the "big fire." But devil the fear, for he was pointing to the Romanesque old ruin which obtrudes itself upon the gaze of every passer-by going east or west. And by the way if ever two or three people gather together and exchange piffle or anything else, be it in Calgary, Moosejaw, Oshkosh or Kalamazoo, and if by any streak of fortune, good or bad, by the grace of God and the C.P.R. they have passed through Fernie, the first picture that comes before the kaliedoscopic eye of the mind is that cross between a section of the French front, the Necropolis and Ponoka that faces our port of entrance.

* * *

Say, but that's some stunt to work off without a previous perusal of Ol' Daniel Webster. I remember Billy Bowser going through some pantomimic imitation of our own A. I.'s ability to juggle figures. Now, if A. I. can juggle Webster with the same contortionist-like agility that he handles the P. G. E., why then he would be fit and proper person to effectively describe that scabby blot at our very portals. Should he by any chance or any reason make use of any verbal gymnastics whereby the hotel di Rizzoluto will go the way of all things, cross the bourne whence nothing returns, in short vamoose di vamoose; yes, sir, if that can be accomplished I believe there are enough true and loyal citizens to protect him from even the wop vote.

Yes, of course there is a wop vote to think about and a politician, an alderman or even a candidate for the miners' secretaryship ought to handle that matter with considerable trepidation. Fifty votes here and fifty votes there and the whole shooting match is up to flue so to speak.

There's an old josher in our town and honest to goodness, so far as politics goes he is really the last word. To synchronize, analyze or detailize he's simply it. Give him an obtuse problem in men or things and he answers right off the bat. Putting the question of the wop vote to him, he says: That's all right. Why don't you know the "Loggia di bolshiviki di Italiano" just a little while ago drank to the day when they would run the whole show. —Did you get that, George?

* * *

As a pertinent paragraph the last fellow was somewhat of a digression and I want to keep your attention riveted on the relic of Rome facing the station and simply ask the question, How much longer is that dilapidated black eye to remain as it is, silently advertising the progress of the province of British Columbia? There has been some digging up of musty by-laws now. Really Bro. Jackson, here's your chance. Can you not frame something up that will solve the problem. Other towns compel owners of eyesores to remove the junk. Why not Fernie? Or say, why not use the front and sides as a gigantic signboard. A legend something like this would at least have the distinction of carrying absurdity to the limit:"Trade at Doodad's and help win the war," or hit any mutt that don't advertize with something you know he carries in trade.

The police commissioners at their last meeting were patting themselves on the back at the enormous amount of money which found its way into the city coffers. Twelve hundred bucks. Well, well. The Free Press surely ought to congratulate us on our magnificent showing. Which remnids me. How different to the gentleman they spiel about. I would commend for their perusal "The Passing of the Third Floor Back." It certainly is worthy of the attention of anyone who has the reform bug. I think half a glance would convince them that they would really merit congratulations if there had been no fines at all. But by the way, George? Twelve hundred bucks. Now, how much legal expense is there attached? Why not tell them about the Ross and Critty appeals and how much they cost the city? I'll not mention the other little odds and ends, for as John Hart says, you will find them tabulated in the "miscellaneous column," which reminds me to ask the question: Why does the city send a man a bill for $168.00 because his wife dies in the insane asylum at New Westminster?

When I read about the proceedings of the "C.C." at their last meeting, my funny bone grew two inches. This is a propos the land settlement business. At the time of the provincial campaign the Liberal executive thought it would be a great stroke to have a meeting of the Slavs whereby the entire Slav vote would be securely cinched. There must have been 25 kegs around and everyone was joyful. Have you ever been to a Slav talkfest? If not, I can never succeed in giving you a correct impression. There was beer, the pungent sausage and the elastic "kaldouna." Frank Newnham had the floor and between pinches of snuff Frank was regaling the Powdoskis with a picture of the new regime to be How every Slav was going to get ten acres and a cow, etc.

By and by the star actor arrived and then the P.G.E. and Moses Coatsworth ad infinitum. I don't think Tommy Uphill will ever forgive Frank for that scoop. But it is the aftermath I want to tell you about. About a year after a skookum Austrian approached Frank with a Mista! Mista! What time I get land? Mista Fish he say I plenty land by and by. I tink it all b————. Oh, shucks, says Frank, don't you know you get job on government road and you see plenty land. "One acre, one hundred dollar!" And A. I. says the government has increased the wild land tax. Toot! Toot!

WONDERFUL STUFF! LIFT OUT YOUR CORNS

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers—no pain.

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This drug freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. If your druggist don't have freezone have him order it for you.

BEDRIDDEN WITH RHEUMATISM

Felt That He Would Never Walk Again "FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Relief.

MR. LORENZO LEDUC

3 Ottawa St., Hull, P.Q.

"Fruit-a-tives" is certainly a wonder. For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism; being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine but without getting better; and thought I would never be able to walk again.

"One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumatism left me.

I have every confidence in 'Fruit-a-tives' and strongly recommend them to every sufferer from Rheumatism".

MURDER AT SEA

The unwritten law of the deep from time immemorial has been that the captain of a ship must defend with his life the passengers entrusted to his safe-keeping, and be himself the last to leave the ship.

By the laws of civilized nations the lives of those travelling on unprotected ships have been considered sacred.

It has been left to modern German Culture to introduce Murder at Sea. We remember the Lusitania, Falabar, the Belgium Prince, but at this moment we particularly think of Capt. Fryatt, in command of a passenger ship, whose only offence was that he sought to save the ship from the hungry maw of the Prussian Wolf in endeavoring to save his ship from being submarined. He was sent through the farce of a mock trial, condemned to death and was shot. Had he been a naval officer, seaman or soldier, he would have been made a prisoner; because he was a merchant seaman his life (according to the law of German civilization) must be forfeited. He is only one of many; thousands have been torpedoed again and again, and after reaching port they sign on and are out again on the Long Lone Trail.

For the merchant seaman there is no Patriotic Allowance, Separation or Pension for his dear dependents; this is one of the objects the Navy League is seeking to provide for.

THE "WHY" FOR SUPPERS AND PARTIES

"Why should suppers at parties and lodges be cut out?"

Because these are social gatherings where eating is secondary to entertainment. Hunger does not enter. The unwanted food could be saved. "Live not to eat, but eat to live." The same rule ought to apply at Five O'Clock teas and card parties.

Lodge meetings have a business feature. Theatre parties are not all luxuries but the "extra" in the eating is needless. If a meal has to be taken it should be simple and plain. Restaurants and cafes are not allowed to serve more than one ounce of wheaten products to customers between 9.00 p.m. and 5.30 a.m. Semi-private parties at home or in lodge have exactly the same moral obligation to help save food as people in these places.

The spirit of comradeship is the essence of a lodge. The spirit of the "sport" is a joy to any party. First loyalty of comrades is to those at the front and the best "sport" today plays with the Allies in the big teamwork of the Canadian people through food control.

A little thought would save a lot of wheat. The devotion of a lodge will secure it. The pleasure of a party will be added to if all know "they share and share alike."

TOO OLD AT FORTY

And, whatever the truth is about the past, the future, so far as you and I will live to see it, cannot be dominated by the young. When the war ends "too old at forty" will sound like bitter irony. So many of the young men, so many of the best of them, will have done their work and gone to their rest. From all the great nations of Europe the finest energies will have wasted away. Sir Auckland Geddes declared the other day that he could not take all the young men from any essential industry, because without the youth in the workers an industry has lost its spring. The nation will have lost something of its spring when we turn to make good the destruction of these grim years. — London Daily Telegraph.

FRED ROO AND PRAYER

To the Editor:

Some three weeks ago, in the Elko Notes in the Fernie Free Press there was a paragraph referring to prayer in connection with the war. The inference to be drawn from the paragraph was that, as an avaling force, prayer was useless. I would like to call the attention of the readers of the Free Press to the following clipping taken from the Toronto Globe of March 25, which, it seems to me, fully answers the questions put forth by the writer of the Elko Notes:

"Fresh attention has been lately given in several ways to an incident which has been well known to many from the early days of the war in September, 1914. When the Germans were sweeping through France and the capture of Paris seemed an absolute certainty, Lord Roberts was sitting with Lord Kitchener, and a telegram was handed in announcing the retreat of the Germans from Paris. Lord Roberts, who had daily family worship in his home, exclaimed: "Only God Almighty could have done this," to which Lord Kitchener added: "Somebody must have been praying." Sir Oliver Lodge, a very different man, wrote: "September 3rd, 1914, was a critical day. The Germans overran France and were close to Paris. What turned them back? I do not know. It is a war against principalities and powers and spiritual wickedness in high places. I myself believe in assistance from on High."

There is no doubt that very many were praying at that time, and, in particular, it is recorded that on the night before the retreat gatherings for prayer were being held in the Metropolitan Tabernacle in South London where Spurgeon used to preach, the burden of the petition being that God would stop the Germans from reaching Paris. One member of the congregation prayed all that night, with scarcely any sleep. The next day it was seen that a French Army Corps had been formed. The British advanced, and forty-five of our cavalry squadrons drove before them seventy-two German squadrons. The Germans had to fall back 35 miles in two days. Their armies were in full retreat; German strategy had failed and Paris was saved."

THE CALGARY FAIR

One hundred and ten thousand visitors took a holiday last year at the Calgary Exhibition and the number will most likely be considerably increased this year. The event will be held at Calgary, June 28 to July 6. After such a hard year's work in the interests of production there never was a time when a holiday was more deserved or more essential to Western Canadian residents.

The Calgary Industrial Exhibition provides the best nind of recreation because it combines the most enjoyable entertainment with the inspiration and instruction of seeing the nation's best live stock and industrial products, added to the many pleasant surprises of meeting friends thought to be hundreds of miles away.

So pack all your troubles and come along. After you have seen the grand exhibits and had a good time, you will go back ready for work. You will never find where you left these troubles. There are reduced passenger rates from Alberta points and the Exhibition conducts at the C.P.R. station in Calgary a free bureau for securing accommodation in case you do not stay at a hotel.

Girls' and Boys' Day, Saturday, June 29, will be a grand exhibition in itself. They will compete for $3500 in prizes, and it will be the young people's greatest day. The girls' and boys' live stock parade and presentation of prizes in the evening will be worth going miles to see. Come and encourage them.

Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be the judging days for the grandest display of live stock ever seen in Western Canada.

When you have seen the exhibits you will be entertained by the best artists in the world. There will also be horse races the first four days and auto races by the fastest drivers on July 4 and 5. Then a stroll down Funshine Alley to see the best shows ever on the Calgary Exhibition grounds, and the last of your worries will have vanished.

Arrangements have been made for parking and checking automobiles on the Exhibition grounds.

LACK OF TEAM PLAY

It is only by an effort of the will that the violent opposition to the daylight saving measure adopted by the Dominion parliament can now be recalled. Daylight saving is now in operation; the whole machinery of the country has been adjusted to it; nobody is suffering from its application, and it is accomplishing the purposes for which the government placed it on the statute books. There may be an isolated individual here and there who is still recalcitrant. Of this type are the trustees in a school district in Ontario, who have compelled the school to keep open from 10 o'clock in the morning until 5 in the afternoon, because they are determined that they will not permit "that scoundrel Borden" to interfere with "the Lord's time."

The episode of the enactment of daylight saving in the face of a wild outburst of opposition and criticism has its lesson for the people of Canada. After nearly four years of war we are still an undisciplined and ultra-individualistic people. The judgment of every other nation at war was that daylight saving was desirable and necessary. In view of the fact that the United States had made this change Canada could only have maintained the old time at the cost of a great deal of inconvenience involving loss. Yet tens of thousands of Canadians fought the proposition because it ran counter to their prejudices or what they imagined was their individual convenience.

The incident illustrates one of the great difficulties which limit the success of the government in making Canada's contribution to the war a maximum effort. The average individual is loud in his professions of willingness to make any conceivable sacrifice to win the war, but he is very reluctant loyally to accept any regulation deemed necessary by the government which does not coincide with his own idea of what is convenient and desirable. We can never hope for that team play, which is essential to national effort on the fullest scale, until this spirit of criticism and resistance is put secondary to a desire to co-operate.—Manitoba Free Press.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

There is little use in Colonel Roosvelt, whose real name is Roo, but he just added the velt so he could use more ink, mourning over what might have been. We all lament the fact that the United States was not in this war several years earlier, because if they had the war might have been ended by now, and as the writer just returned from Montana, you can bet your bottom dollar that your Uncle Sam is awake at last and will deliver the goods.

The reason the Kaiser, the silly old ass,
Is steadily losing is simply, alsas,
He never got out of the primary class
In camouflage—Fuller Prunes.

John Stenhouse, of the Merchants Bank, Lethbridge, and several friends, were the guests of Mrs. A. Boss, Amherst Cottage, Riverside Park, this week end.

George Dingsdale, deputy collector of the Port of Roosville, was a Fernie visitor this week. Albert Mutz, the B.C. man that made Milwaukee jealous, was in Elko this week shaking hands with old friends. James Black and Jack Colvin, two of the most popular travellers on the road, both expert salesmen, known as the Siamese twins, You meet them with pleasure and part with them with satisfaction and they are as thick as turtle doves in a Kentucky hemp field and men you don't meet every day. McQuarrie, the well known biscuit traveller from Winnipeg, passed through Elko this week shaking hands with Jim Thistlebeak. Mack has a smile that is worth framing. Smile while you can, young man, for some day you may marry your employer's daughter and become a millionaire, then you can't smile. Jim Thistlebeak says that he never saw McQuarrie without a smile but once, and that was at an ice cream social in Elko one time, and Mack was advertising his popular biscuits that would taste good to an angel. The room was full of the grace and beauty of the old historic burg and Mack had a big tray of the swellest samples on the market, both hards full, when one of his suspenders broke; then Mack couldn't smile. Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, late of Medicine Hat, passed through Elko this week. Mr. Jenkins is handling the pickled whale business for the P. Burns Co. Would you mind passing me the salt, please. Just as busy after business as a pup with a feather duster.

A. E. Ingham, the first rancher in the Elko district, was to Calgary this week with his two sons, Frank and Carl, bringing back a new Gray-Dort automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Graham and daughter, of Calgary, motored to Roosville Falls this week via Elko, returning via Flagstone and beautiful Baynes on the Lake.

Some of the boys who left this neck of the woods to join the colors at Vancuver writing hme say they have never tasted anything like mother used to make for her little blue eyed boys, and say it makes them sing that pathetic ballad entitled "My country 'tis of thee, hungery, hungry in-ter-nally, of thee I sing.

For several weeks Mrs. Longworth, who has been in charge of Elko's rural temple of learning, and the scholars, have been busy making articles for sale at the bazaar which was held in the post office block, June 3rd, the King's birthday, for the benefit of the Belgium Children's Relief Fund. The receipts were $75.00.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, of Nobleford, Alta., with the Misses Hattie and Isabella Bowen, of Macleod, were down for the week end and the King's birthday, the guests of Mrs. A. Boss, Amherst Cottage, Riverside Park, Elko.

Tom Gorrie, manager of the Clydebank Stock Ranch, Roosville Valley, was in Elko this week.

H. L. NICHOLSON HAS PASSED AWAY

Herman L. Nicholson, 56 years of age and one of the pioneer residents of Rossland, died at the Sisters' hospital in that city last Saturday morning.

Mr. Nicholson was born in Prince Edward Island and moved west to Chapleau, Ont., during the early years of his life. After several years spent in Ontario he moved with his family to what was then the village of Rossland.

For several years he was employed in the Great Northern railway service and in 1911 became attached to the customs department in his home city. Later he acted as relieving customs officer during which time he was temporarily stationed at Kamloops, Trail, Vernon, Fernie and other places in the district. During the last few months, however, he had been with the department in Rossland.

Besides Mrs. Nicholson, five daughters, Mrs. D. H. Jones, Miss Florence, Miss Ethel, Miss Muriel and Jean, survive him in Rossland and a son, H. Canada's Registration

Its Purpose and Application

CANADA faces the gravest crisis in her history. Four years of war have taken from the Dominion a heavy toll in talent and labor, yet despite the shortage of man power, our Allies still depend on Canada to maintain her own fighting forces at full strength and to increase her exports of food and war materials, so vital to them, and to the successful prosecution of the war.

Every ounce by which Canada can increase her food production and every ounce Canada can save in her food consumption is needed for export to the Allies.

Should the war continue for another year, food cards and a rationing system may have to be instituted. It is the duty of Canada to be prepared for whatever situation circumstances may force upon her.

It is quite probable that before the war is won our Government may have to place restrictions upon the occupations in which men and women may engage. In such an event the Government wishes to be in a position to render all possible assistance in keeping our population usefully and profitably employed.

Registration Day, June 22nd

These conditions point to the necessity of Canada knowing the exact capabilities of her men and women at home.

All persons residing in Canada, male or female, British or alien of 16 years and over, will be required to register on June 22nd and truthfully answer the questions set forth upon the registration card.

It is not the Government's intention to conscript labour in any form, but to assist in directing it wisely, so that every available unit of human energy may be utilized to the best advantage.

The information procured through registration will be used—as an aid to the Military Authorities in procuring the men necessary to maintain "Canada's First Line of Defence"—to mobilize all units of available labor in the Dominion and direct them from less essential to more essential occupations—to establish and intelligently administer a system of food rationing should that become necessary.

Librarian Leg. Assembly

CITY COUNCIL HOLDS SESSION

The council convened in regular session last evening with His Worship, and Aldermen Jackson, Dudley, Beck and Rutledge only in their respective places. Three special matters of moment to the particular parties waiting upon the council were the first to come up. They were: Eder Harper, complainant with regard to costs charged by the police magistrate in a civil police court case; Dr. Orner relative to oiling Victoria avenue; and Mr. Ely, alleging discrimination in connection with the adminstraton of the Pound Bylaw.

Mr. Harper was the frst to be given a hearing and his grievance was with regard to a case arising out of his acting as agent in connection with the rental of a certain property when the tenants after having entered into the arrangement and having paid the first month's rent in advance, within a few days thereafter refused to continue and demanded refund of the rent. The matter hung fire for some time but ultimately came up in the police court for judicial adjustment, when Mr. Harper was obliged to refund the amount paid as rent, plus costs to the extent of $8.00, and this item particularly was what aroused his ire against the magistrate. His appeal to the council was that nothing short of immediate dismissal of the magistrate would be satisfactory to him. His allegations were many, among which he considered the costs taxed against him were beyond all reason and he inferred he did not have, in his belief, an equally fair and just opportunity of presenting his case as was extended to the parties on the other side. He appeared to so strongly resent the treatment he had received that he did not omit to even direct personalities towards the object of his attack. Mr. Harper also intimated that he was appealing from the decision of the magistrate and in view of this the council contended if successful when he appeared before the higher court, he would at least have the satisfaction of winning the case and being reimbursed to the extent of the costs already paid, otherwise the council could not interfere. Subsequently, however, a motion was put through by Aldermen Jackson and Beck, with a unanimous vote, that the costs paid in to the police court should be recorded and a statement thereof presented to the council when it could be scrutinized at leisure.

Dr. Orner then directed the attention of the council to the condition of Victoria avenue in the business section of the city which to say the least was most annoying and disagreeable to the citizens and merchants, if not an unsanitary condition with regard to the stores handling articles of food, when no satisfactory attempt was being made to prevent the dust from spreading and causing uncalled for discomfort. He recommended that an experiment should be undertaken in the form of oiling the main thoroughfare, which undoubtedly would help in the solution of the difficulty. This matter was later settled by deciding to repair the top dressing to the street as promptly as possible after which would be the proper time to apply the oil.

Mr. Ely, through Ald. Jackson as spokesman, presented a matter for consideration, namely that he had been obliged to keep a calf owned by himself within his private property, while others were being permitted to allow their stock to be tethered on city thoroughfares. The mayor ordered that this be referred to the chief of police to investigate the alleged discrimination and rectify any unjust condition which may exist. During this discussion Ald. Jackson and Ald. Dudley had their opening tilt of the evening and from then on they locked horns with one another on nearly every matter coming up for discussion.

The residents of Block 80 and north in Fernie Annex and Extension petitioned the council to construct an additional sidewalk on the north side of Thompson street from the Great Northern railway tracks to Lindsay Ave. This was referred to the works and property committee to bring in a report.

Mrs. Bebb tendered her resignation as custodian of the Hesketh children to take effect at once. A telegram which had been directed to the police magistrate from the Supt. of the Provincial Home, asking that the children be held here pending receipt of letter following, was read, and in view of Mrs. Bebb's resignation it was decided to endeavor to place the children temporarily in the care of a responsible party whom the chairman of the health and relief committee had in view. The personal effects belonging to the estate of Charles F. Hesketh will be turned over to Edward Hesketh, brother, pending the return of Charles F. Hesketh.

Ald. Jackson went into the question of inspection of dairy cattle and particularly with reference to cases where the inspector had found cattle in such condition that they had to be killed. Ald. Jackson very emphatically insisted that the civic health authorities should see that the provincial inspector performed his duties to the extent of having carcasses destroyed after being killed and not to permit the diseased meat being placed on the local market as he believed had been the case in the past.

A communication was received from the city clerk, of London, Ont., enclosing a motion to the effect that the local council should forward to the Dominion government a resolution that an insurance plan for beneficiaries of soldiers overseas similar to that adopted by the government of the United States, be followed in Canada. This motion was unanimously endorsed.

A long circular from the Canada Food Board and also from the Fuel commissioner containing regulations with respect to fuel consumption, were received and filed.

The Elk Lumber Co. approached the council through the medium of a letter, pointing out that certain work in the form of river bank protection on the city side of the river had the tendency to direct the current towards the company side of the river and consequently enhanced the danger to their property. They asked that the city in view of this assist in strengthening the bank on the West Fernie side of the rver by hauling rock and weighting down the present wooden embankment put in by the company. City Engineer McCallum stated he had been in conversation with Mr. Forbes, local manager for the company and gathered the impression that the company were desirous of fixing the responsibility either with the government or with the city and that they were appealing to both in the alleged conditions. The city clerk was hope of sticking either one or the other for some relief. The city engineer's explanation satisfied the council that the work done by the city had if anything been beneficial to the company and that they could not be responsible for the alleged conditions. The city clerk was instructed to acknowledge receipt of the communication.

The council unanimously consented to the council chamber being used for the purpose of registration and when convenient civic employees could assist in every possible way in carrying out the registration work.

Mrs. Wyatt, now in charge of the Fernie Hotel, on account of having paid taxes on certain lots to which she now finds she has no legal claim, requested that the council refund the amount paid by her thereon when these properties were subject to tax sale last year. The request could not be entertained and the matter will have to be settled by the present registered owner of the lots and Mrs. Wyatt.

The monthly report of the city engineer showed that 70 feet of cribbing in the vicinity of the Lancaster property in the Annex had been completed and weighted down and the wing dams repaired.

Ald. Dudley took a crack at those responsible for permitting tin cans and other refuse to accumulate in the vicinity of Lindsay avenue and in somebody's alley somewhere in the north end. Then Ald. Bill led the torch light procession in connection with the dumping ground back of the skating rink, contending he had exposed six dead dogs in a high state of decomposition and that many others were in the vicinity; also unlimited amounts of objectionable matter when nothing but ashes were to have been dumped there. He spared no one who might be responsible for this condition and said he now had come to the conclusion that the $75 per month paid for sanitary inspection was being paid for nothing. He congratulated the mayor for a portion of the activities he had taken and condemned him for not going further. However no two present could agree on the number of dogs and everybody seemed to be trying to have his say when the other fellow was talking. The city engineer waxed enthusiastic in his defense as to the cause of the dead animals being taken to that dump by stating there was "six feet of snow nine months ago" and he couldn't get out to dumping grounds beyond the city limits.

ALL READY FOR REGISTRATION

H. G. Lockwood, registrar for East Kootenay under the Canada Registration Board regulations, visited the city last Friday and Saturday, and made preliminary arrangements for carrying on this work, which is proclaimed for June 22, or one week from next Saturday. While this date is set as registration day, several deputy registrars are already appointed and it is very desirable that everyone who can possibly do so, should take advantage of the faicilities for registering before June 22, in order to avoid congestion on registration day.

The Deputy Registrars who have already volunteered and are now ready to receive registrants are: Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, Regent of the I.O.D.E., who, with assistants, is located in the Napanee hotel building and anyone calling there between now and June 22 will be able to register. His Worship Mayor Thomson has very generously tendered his services and will register parties every day during regular business hours, Sunday and evenings included, who will call at his office, No. 114 Pellatt Ave., which will be very convenient for registrants. Chief of Police Welsby is also prepared to receive registrants daily at the police station. Ronald Hewat, Govt. Agent, and staff, and A. McNeill, chief provincial constable, at the court house, also have the necessary forms. J. F. Rudnicki has made arrangements to handle registrants, particularly those of Russian, Austrain and Slav tongues, to be at the council chamber during the whole day on June 15, Saturday, and four hours daily during next week, the hours for which will be announced on the notice board. L. Carosella and Jos. Aiello will be able to advise those of Italian birth where they may be registered prior to June 22. F. G. Perry, at 146 Victoria Ave., will also register parties daily during regular business hours prior to registration day. Other deputy registrars now appointed are R. Dudley, Rev. A. L. Carr, J. G. Billings, Rev. Shaw and A. J. Moffatt.

The places of registration on June 22 will be as follows: The City Hall, (council chamber; the headquarters of the I.O.D.E. (Napanee Hotel building) and the Central School, where E. G. Daniels, principal, and the entire teaching staff volunteered in a body; the West Fernie and Annex schools will also be registration places. For the convenience of the Elk Lumber Co. employees and families, James C. Forbes will receive registrants any time up to and including registration day.

Proclamations setting forth in a general way the particulars with regard to the registration have been posted in the city and with but few exceptions noted thereon, everyone 16 years of age and over must register. Anyone having failed to register on June 22 is liable to to a penalty of a fine not exceeding $100 or one month imprisonment and $10 for each and every day after June 22 during which they remain unregistered. Further penalties are disfranchisement; cannot be employed or paid; cannot purchase transportation other than on a street car; cannot receive board or lodging at any hotel, public house, inn, tavern, restaurant or boarding house. Any employer of labor who permits an unregistered person to remain in his employ and pays for such services is liable to a penalty corresponding in character and amount to that which the unregistered person or employee may have incurred. This likewise applies to any transportation company or employee who sells a ticket to an unregistered person; to any hotelkeeper, boarding house keeper, etc., supplying board or lodgings to an unregistered person.

Registrants must always carry in their possession at all times the certificate of registration issued to them in order to avoid serious consequences, and it is strongly advised that every registrant keep a record of his or her serial number, where it may be had so that further inconvenience may not be experienced in the event of loss of the original certificte, or unnecessary delay occasioned in obtaining a duplicate which will be issued free of charge by the Canada Registration Board at Ottawa.

Owing to the large foreign speaking population in this city those in charge of the registration are endeavoring to arrange for interpreters for the convenience of the foreign speaking registrants, but as it is obligatory upon the part of the registrants to register they are requested to assist in providing interpreters wherever possible. Those competent to act as interpreters during the intervening period before registration day and also for full time on registration day, if they will kindly report to F. G. Perry they will be assigned for duty and their services very highly appreciated. Great assistance also can be rendered by those who understand the absolute necessity of everyone 16 and over, regardless of nationality, conveying to the foreign speaking citizens these facts, thereby avoiding serious inconvenience and the possibility of penalties being inflcted for non-compliance with the registration regulations.

The Elk River, which has been on the rampage for the past week, seems to be gradually receding. It did not come within 18 inches of the high water mark of two years ago and a very limited amount of damage has been done. The government have had a number of men at work looking after the bridges.

A booze jobber passing through the town of Coleman the other day threw overboard his cargo on seeing a police officer in sight. The bottles made a sufficient noise to attract the attention of not only the police but a number of people in that locality, so that the car and its occupants were grabbed together with the sack of "undesirables," and are held by the police.

The bodies of Joseph Bravin, Wm. Brown, H. Leonard and Augustine Leonard, the last four victims of the big disaster in No. 3 mine at Coal Creek, were recovered today and will be brought down tonight. We understand that the inquest will be re-opened by Coroner A. C. Murray early in July, according to instructions received from the Attorney General's Department.

Lieut. Johnson, Vocational Training Officer for the B.C. branch of the Invalided Soldiers Commission, will address a meeting to be held in the Council Chamber at 8 p.m. Saturday, June 15. Lieut. All returned soldiers and dependents of men serving or who have served are invited to attend this meeting, as the above matters are of vital interest to the returned soldiers and dependents.

The Vets would like to know why if it was necessary to obtain the services of returned men to resurrect what was practically a defunct local Patriotic Fund, and which they did successfully, that the courtesy was not shown to them by asking one of their number to take the position of Secretary.

We would also like to know where the pool table is. A certain gentleman strolled into the Club some time past, measured a room for the table and led us to believe that a table was as good as there. But, alas! why this camouflage?

We would also like to know when the B. C. government intend to make a start in legislating to cope with the returned soldier problem. Alberta is leading B.C. an old country block in this regard.

We would also be interested to learn whether the government do not intend to send "over there" those single men who are still evading military service and holding down jobs as police and civil servants. We would like to see these individuals lined up before the boys of 19 are called.

THINGS WE'D LIKE TO KNOW

Why Sam Marasco and some of the other Bible students are conscientious objectors.

If the "Man in the Gallery" will be a candidate for the vacant aldermanic position.

Who would have been lynched if the pier supporting the water supply bridge had been washed out.

Why it is still necessary to keep up the old snake room institution under the 2 per cent regime.

If Chief McDougall considered it an insult if he was asked to get the sprinkling cart out on Sunday.

If it costs eight bones to collect $7 in the small debts court what would it cost to collect some real money?

If it would not be a good idea to bar amateur car drivers from the Morrissey-Elko road until they have had at least a month's experience.

If Hon. Dr. King will throw a fit when he finds that his $700 worth of river protection work was washed out the first day of the high water.

Who is responsible for the city streets not being sprinkled on Sunday. Last Lord's Day the wind blew a hurricane and the dust clouds were simply unbearable, but no one made a move. If all the civic employees in that department refuse to work on Sunday why not let a contract. This kind of thing has been tolerated for a number of years and it is time that the matter was taken care of.

Who is responsible for the burial of dead dogs, pigs, etc., down along the river bank. If they cannot be used for sausage they might at least be buried where the river will not wash them out every time it rises a little. The stench from dead animals and old tin cans down behind the rink is something terrible.

If the British Columbia government is beginning to pay a living wage to its employees. Bob Kerr is said to have drawn down 245 simoleons for services rendered last month, but then Bob always was able to land a fairly good stipend for services rendered. Remember that seven or eight dollar a day touch which Bob pulled off on the construction of the Fernie post office building for a number of years.

If an honest man is the noblest work of God what phrase or term would apply to a shyster lawyer who is always eager to stoop to the lowest and meanest trickery to win a case, and who flirts with truth so carelessly when under oath that it could almost be called perjury.

If Ald. Jackson broke a leg in a hole in the Fernie sidewalks if he would sue the city for damages. By the way, we heard a suggestion the other day in connection with the sidewalks which might start something. One of the parties interested would like to know if the city would consider a proposition to supply the rock and gravel if the property owners paid for the work and cement. This may not be fair to those who have already put down their own concrete walks, but a move of some kind has certainly got to be made at once in regard to these walks and this suggestion may start something.

RUSSIAN DEMORALIZATION

Utter demoralization marks the path of the Russian revolution. The latest and most terrible indictment against the Bolshevik government—or absence that indutiably radical Socialist, Maxim Gorky, in his organ, the Petrograd Novaya Zhizn. He writes:

"All observers of the village today are unanimously of the opinion that of government—is from the pen of the process of disintegration and demoralization is proceeding there with irresistible force. Having plundered the estates of the landowners, having shared out among themselves or simply destroyed the dead and living stocks on those estates, having even taken to pieces the buildings, the peasants are now preparing for war against one another for the division of the spoil. To this is added the calamity of famine. In some districts the population has long ago consumed all the available stocks of corn, including seed corn; while in others the peasants having a good harvest are hiding corn and even burying it in order not to share it with their straving neighbors. All this must lead, and in some places has already led to war of all against all and to the most senseless chaos and universal destruction and murder."

Human beings, we are told, are now bought and sold and the price has dropped from $75 to $15. The Novaya Zhizn proceeds:

"Information is constantly arriving of the division of military property among the demoralized soldiers and various outrages committed by them. Monstrous rumors are circulated about the army which is returning from Asia Minor. It appears that it has brought into the Crimea a large number of female slaves, and that at Theodosia a regular slave market is being held, the supply being so large that prices soon fell from 100 to 150 rubles to 25 or 30 rubles per slave.

"Can any contrast be more striking any sarcasm more biting, than this? According to official assurances we are entering the Kingdom of Communism, where complete equality is to reign among men, where bourgeois property is entirely abolished, and where the power of chattels is entirely broken. In reality we are transforming human beings into chattels; we are restoring pre-bourgeois property in human beings, and the soldiers of the revolutionary army are publicly trading in slaves, as the planters did in the time of Mrs. Beecher Stowe."

In a bitter passage, terrible in its irony, Maxim Gorky concludes:

"Yes, the process of self-discipline among the masses is proceeding with gigantic strides. The revolutionary army garrison at Sebastapol has already undertaken the last final struggle with the bourgeois. Without much ado they decided simply to massacre all the bourgeoisie who lived within their reach. They decided and did it. At first they massacred the inhabitants of the two most bourgeois streets in Sebastopol; then the same operation in spite of the resistance of the local Soviet, was extended to Simferopol, and then the turn came of Eupatoria.

"Apparently similar radical methods of class war will soon be applied also to Greater Russia, for we have already Mr. Bleichmann (the leader of the anarchists(energetically carrying on an agitation within the walls of the Petrograd Soviet in this sense. In Petrograd itself, at the factories, the discipline has reached such a state of perfection that more and more the subordinate organs of the Soviet, and even the trade unions, have to issue threats of deductions from wages, and even of complete dismissal, for the never ending holding of meetings."

BRITAIN'S ECONOMIC STRENGTH

The wonderful economic strength and endurance of Britain is strikingly illustrated by the fact that after nearly four years of this costly war she is, as Mr. Bonar Law pointed out in connection with the new budget, self-supporting. "It is only necessary for us to lean on the United States to the amount the other Allies lean on us," he said. "In other words, we are self-supporting." This amazing financial strength of Britain is to the Allies the difference between victory and defeat. So well is she able to carry the burden of the war that now, with the United States assisting towards the financial maintenance of the other allies, the British government is for the present assuming payment from her own resources of half the debt owed her by her allies and the debts of the dominions and India, in all more than five thousand, six hundred million dollars. Von Bethmann-Hollweg had good reason to rage at the end of July, 1914, when he found that Germany must fight Britain.—Ottawa Journal Press.

BELAND, THE PATRIOT

If Dr. Beland, when he arrives in Canada, will accept a place in the Union government cabinet as the representative of Quebec province, a happy finale will have been reached to a situation that has been causing the government considerable worry. Quebec should be represented in the cabinet and there is no man more worthy to represent the French-Canadian than Dr. Beland, the member for Beauce.—Calgary Herald.

BILLY OSWALD, THE SCOTCH COMEDIAN, COMING

The clever Scottish comedian, Billy Oswald, who coined the familiar household expression "Is Tha A Fac," will be seen here in a brand new musical farce that has just finished a big run in New York and Chicago, and has been secured by the United Producing Co., Ltd., for Canada, for which they have the exclusive righss. The title of this screaming musical farce is "You're Next," and it is the funniest show to visit this city in years. Billy Oswald takes the part of Sandy McSwank, a Scottish barber, which he does to perfection and is without doubt the best in this part you have ever seen him on his previous visits here. He keeps the audience in one continual uproar and is supported by a strong cast of Western Canada favorites such as Kathryn Sheldon, Beatrice Carmen, Claire Coupez, Rene La Vernon, Marie Thayer, Stan Brown, Chas. Bates, Robert Knight, Al. Shaw, Chas Hicklin and others, making the strongest aggregation that has ever been on the road.

This company comes under the banner of the United Producing Company and will play here one night only at the Grand Theatre, on Tuesday, June 18th.

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati authority tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone cost very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.

SWAIZEMA CURES ECZEMA

Extract from Article (dated No. 20, 1915) on the Adulteration of Food and Drugs by United States Food Specialist.

Swaizema is a blood purifier and tonic builder of extraordinary merit. There came to my notice while in Kitchener, a case in which a most miraculous cure was effected through this wonderful remedy. A gentleman whose injured leg, caused by a simple "bark of the shin" as he termed it, had developed into a running ulcerated sore, for two years eminent specialists had treated, at enormous expense, the injured limb without success. He was induced to try Swaizema, which resulted in an absolute cure, and this with the purchase of two bottles only. The case in question coming as it did under my own personal observation, warrants me in telling readers of this page of one of the most remarkable "short cuts" to health I have ever seen.

Signature of Registrant

Procedure of Registration

On June 22nd every person residing in Canada, male or female, British or alien, of sixteen years or over, must attend one of the registration booths located in his or her district, and there observe the procedure explained below.

Where to Register

Every person required to register has the privilege of registering at any of the public places provided for that purpose. The location of all such places will be specified in proclamations posted conspicuously.

How to Register

The procedure of registration is simple. The questions upon the registration card can be answered very easily, but they must be answered truthfully and fully.

The card shown in the illustration is a facsimile of the registration card for males. An advertisement showing the card for females appears in another paper.

Study the questions carefully so that you will be able to answer them promptly when registering. If you have any special qualification, or feel that your services would be more beneficial to the country in some other line of work, say so.

While all are compelled to register on Registration Day, it is not contemplated by the Government to force the sick, feeble and aged to turn out. If such persons will notify the Registrar prior to June 22nd of their inability to attend at a place of registration, an effort will be made to register them at home, provided the request is reasonable and justified.

Remember the Day—June 22nd—Remember the Hours—7 a.m. to 10 p.m. Register early and get your Certificate for your own protection.

TAKING OVER THE C.N.R.

With the acquisition of sixty millions of Canadian Northern stock for $10,000,000, the Canadian people become absolute owners of a great transcontinental railway tapping the richest portions of the Canadian west and linking them up with the main centres of population in the East. This government ownership venture opens up immense possibilities for the country's expansion in industry and in trade. Administered without sacrifices to political party interests, the C. N. R. should prove highly remunerative property. The Toronto News estimates that it is probable that five years hence, if the road had remained in private hands, it would have cost the country $50,000,000 to acquire it, and ten years hence $100,000,000, since the Canadian Northern, with its favorable grades, proves that it will become increasingly valuable as Canada grows

The News notes that the government program does not stop with acquiring the Canadian Northern, but includes the taking over of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific railways and the consolidation of the private lines thus acquired with the National Transcontinental and the Intercolonial railways. The people will thus have a great public operated transportation system embracing two main lines from Atlantic to the Pacific together with branch roads serving all the provinces.

The Toronto daily also observes: "This triumph of public ownership under the Borden administration may be contrasted with what has taken place in the United States. President Wilson and his government had to face a somewhat similar situation. A number of the American railways had to have large financial assistance from the public treasury as they had proved wholly unequal to the war-time traffic situation. Some of the roads were even faced with bankruptcy. Congress has gone to their aid with upwards of $1,000,000,000, and the present agreement is that the railways will be handed back to their owners at the end of the war or a year or two thereafter. It is possible, however, that the Washington government will be forced by the pressure of circumstances to follow the example given by the Canadian cabinet

USING THE GERMAN FLEET

Curiosity persists as to what use, if any, will be made of the German high fleet before the finish of the war. The Teutonic admiral who protested that to attack the British cross-channel communications would be suicide is apparently quite willing to remain comfortably in the Kiel canal until peace is declared.

But the prestige of the German naval service would never recover from such ignominy. After such a fiasco, no German would ever again have the hardihood to wear a naval uniform. Much better to go down fighting than live to be derided.

Moreover, the army chiefs will surely insist upon using the fleet for something or other. At a critical time it might raid the channel or might try to create a diversion by throwing a few thousand men into England. There are circumstances easily conceivable under which either of these manoeuvres could be very valuable to the enemy.

Needless to say, the British fleet could behold no more pleasing sight than the whole naval power of the enemy in battle array. The fight would be the most spectacular incident in human history. Nobody—not even in Germany—has any doubt regarding the outcome.—Vancouver Sun.

OPPORTUNITIES TO EXPLORE

If anybody has had the idea that there is no chance left for geographical discovery, even the North and South Poles having been attained, let him note the statement in a current item that there are still 250,000 square miles of unexplored territory in the province of Quebec.—Providence Journal.

BRIQUETTING PLANT AGAIN DISCUSSED

Ottawa, June 10.—Establishment of a lignite briquetting plant financed and operated by the Dominion, Manitoba and Saskatchewan governments, is recommended by the lignite committee of the advisory council for scientific and industrial research. The committee's report, which will be issued soon, favors establishment of the plant in South Saskatchewan "at a locality where the lignites are of poor grade, with the idea that if it were successful at this point, it undoubtedly would be successful elsewhere in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

A GRIM FUTURE

To those who are looking forward to a time when the world will be securely wrapped in unbroken peace there is nothing of encouragement in the declaration of the Boston minister who says, "War will not be banished from the earth until wisdom becomes universal." In that event war and the world will end simultaneously.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting

Abnormal Friction Pull vs. Elasticity of Friction

Note the Short Grain Rubber Friction

This Belt Section illustrates a Heavy "Poundage-Pull" Friction. To secure this result the Friction Grain is short and stiff. Elasticity and Flexibility have been sacrificed to secure such a result.

BETWEEN every ply of specially-selected, heavy Cotton Duck in Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is a layer of pure Rubber which, through a Dunlop calendering process, so permeates the fabric that it binds the several plies into one integral piece.

Some belt manufacturers offer to sell their product on the basis of "Heavy-Poundage in a Friction-Pull" Test. To obtain the latter result it is not necessary to secure such an expensive Rubber Friction as is used in "Gibraltar Red Special." This fact alone ought to be a pretty good gauge of the value of the "friction-pull" test.

In buying "Gibraltar RedSpecial" you get the advantage of years of careful laboratory work on our part with this result: The friction is of that "just-right" elastic quality which allows for the give and take necessary in rounding the pulleys; hence the reason "Gibraltar RedSpecial" is known for maximum Power, Speed and Service.

Note the Long Grain Rubber Friction

Dunlop "GIBRALTAR REDSPECIAL" has a Friction of Special Dunlop Rubber that retains its life indefinitely. "Note the long grain Rubber Friction," as illustrated. Elasticity has not been sacrificed for Abnormal Friction Pull.

UNLIMITED capacity for service is an intrinsic quality with Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting. The success of nearly a quarter of a century in the manufacture of Rubber Products is built into Gibraltar. The original Made-in-Canada Red Rubber, Frictioned Surface Belting, "Gibraltar RedSpecial" has stood the infallible test of time in turning the wheels of industry in a multitude of Canadian plants from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Dunlop Unreserved Guarantee

If you have a difficult drive anywhere in your factory drop a line to our Head Office, or to our nearest branch, and we will send a man experienced in belt engineering to consider your requirements. If it is an instance where the "Gibraltar" Belting may be suitably employed we will recommend its use; and we will stand behind our recommendation with the fullest guarantee ever issued by a firm producing rubber products.

LETHBRIDGE WILL CELEBRATE JULY 1ST

Lethbridge will celebrate Dominion Day by holding monster sports, under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. and the Trades and Labor Council. Besides the sports there will be a big contest in Mine Rescue work and First Aid work. Eight teams will compete in the Mine Rescue work, nine teams in the First Aid Senior, and five teams in the First Aid Junior.

One of the mine rescue cars will be brought to Lethbridge for July 1st. Accommodation will be provided for the visitors. It is probable that a special train will be secured for the convenience of the people coming from the Crow's Nest Pass district. If not, it is very probable that five sleepers will be picked up by the Sunday night train, June 30, at Fernie, Michel, Coleman, Blairmore, Bellevue, respectively. These sleepers if put on, will be spotted at Lethbridge until 8 a.m. on July 1st.

The Coal Creek team was the winner of the Mine Rescue Contest held on July 1st, 1916, at Coleman, the Galt No. 6 Mine Team being second. The Coleman team was the winner in First Aid Contest, held on July 1st, 1916, at Coleman, the McGillivray team being second.

Good prizes will be given in all the events.

LETTERS OF SYMPATHY

France May 11, 1918.

Mrs. J. Quince, West Fernie, B.C.

Dear Madam—I am very sorry to tell you that your son, Spr. Quince, of this company, has died of wounds. On May 3 he and a small party were repairing a piece of blown out track when a shell burst near them, one piece striking him on the head. He was at once taken to a dressing station which was quite near and received every attention but has since died in an hospital.

Your son had been with us nearly a year and was a good man in every way, steady, honest and brave. All here join me in sympathy.

Yours truly,
A. P. Linton, Major.

France, May 11, 1918.

Mrs. J. Quince:

Dear Madam—It is with very deep regret indeed that I have to tell you that your son has died of wounds received on May 3. He was hit while in the execution of his duty for at the time he was on a party with me and was engaged in mending a shell break in the light railway track. The party was not far from a field ambulance, to which he was immediately taken, so he received prompt attention and every effort possible to save his life must have been made. His loss to the platoon is a distinct one for he was one of the most popular, both among his comrades and the officers. He was always a willing worker and a good lad in every way. Rest assured that he did his bit well and truly.

In deepest sympathy,
W. E. Griffin, Lieut.
9th Batt C.R.T., B.E.F.

J. L. Donaldson leaves tonight for Medicine Hat to visit his parents before he joins the telegraphers corps at Vancouver.

Jimmy McLeod, of the Fernie Cash Meat Market, has sold out his interest to Harry Gould, cashier for P. Burns & Co., for many years in Fernie. Mr. McLeod was called in the draft and left on Wednesday morning for the coast.

For Sale—Edison phonograph and a number of records. Cost $220. Cash offer of $90 takes the outfit. Apply I. F. Pickett.

Housekeepers who are anxious about their preserves for next winter may take comfort. The Food Board announces that there will be sufficient sugar in the country for the preserving and canning season and that the maximum fruit and vegetable crops that can be produced in this country will be taken care of, so far as the sugar supply is concerned. To make sure of this, however, strict conservation will be necessary in the meantime.

RICH WOMEN TRADE HUSBANDS

"Alimony," the screen feature to be presented at the Orpheum on Friday and Saturday, mirrors a certain much envied class with a fidelity which some of our leading dramatists might well study.

The role of Mrs. Bernice Bristol Flint, idle wife, divorcee and adventuress, ranks as the equal of any similar character study in recent fiction. She makes one feel at times that such women should be preserved for posterity in boiling oil.

As played by Miss Josephine Whittel, she's about as affectionate as a centipede, has a heart that would make a submarine captain turn green with envy, and a capacity for intrigue which backs the best efforts of some of our banished diplomatic visitors clear off the map. She decides her husband is out of date, and, looking about, picks out a handsome 1917 model clubman, with a racing body, blue lamps and one of those nifty looking tops to take his place. She calmly arranges with a divorce broker to get rid of hubby, and when he protests, retorts that she married him for his money—that she is going to get all she wants of it—"and that is what I am going into court for—not to plead for a favor but to demand, as my right—alimony!" She gets away with it too! — for like most men hubby had rather pay than stand the glare of publicity. Of course, such a lady isn't allowed to go rampaging right up to the last scene of the film without getting her needings—and, of course, her wickedness is only a foil for the goodness and sweetness of the heroine.

If you care to see a person you'd "like to choke" just go see Mrs. Flint in "Alimony." No — she doesn't get the handsome young clubman she sets her cap for.

It is only fair to say that in private life Miss Whittel, the actress, isn't a bit like the awful woman she portrays in this piece.

Evangelist George Young, of Victoria, will give a Free Lecture in Victoria Hall on Sunday evening at 8 p.m. Subject: "The British in Jerusalem—Is Christ's Kingdom Near?"

Sam Marasco was gathered in by the military authorities on Tuesday for being unable to show an Italian passport. He was handed over to the military escort to take to the coast.

Johnny McDougall left on Sunday night for Edmonton, where he met Fred Thrasher and the two young men proceeded to the coast, where they will join the artillery. Fred Tharsher at one time was a well known hockey player here.

There is a dangerous old concrete foundation which the children play around the other side of the K. of P. hall. It is crumbling and falling to pieces and some day some child is going to be hurt there if the city authorities do not step in and take the matter in hand.

The Salvation Army has been asked to locate one James Guorlay, who in 1907 was living in Fernie, having come from Spokane. He is described as being broad shouldered and stout build; height 5 ft. 8 in., grey eyes, brown hair and fair complexion. Anyone knowing his present whereabout will please notify Adjt. Meikle, S. A. officer in this city, or Major Sims, 203 Confederation Life Bldg., Winnipeg.

A peculiar case came up before Magistrate Whimster the other day in which Eder Harper was the defendant. It appears that he is agent for a cottage on Howland avenue and leased it to a tenant, rent supposed to be paid in advance. The tenant paid $7 down and moved into the house where he resided for three days, when he moved out again, coming to Harper and demanding his money back as he stated the house was not fit to live in. Mr. Harper objected to this and the case came before the local small debts court. The magistrate demanded the return of the $7 and charged $8 costs.

A special meeting of the property owners of West Fernie, Fernie Annex and Annex Extension will be held in the West Fernie school room on Sunday, June 16, at 4 p.m., when business of great importance will be discussed.

G. G. Henderson returned on Saturday from a trip to his old home in Sarnia, Ont. During his stay in the east he visited the aviation camp at Dayton, Ohio, where his son "Pete" is an instructor. He also visited Niagara, Ont., where his youngest boy, Stewart, is training in a Highland regiment. Mr. Henderson left on Monday evening for Prince George, where he is office manager for A. McDougall.

With registration day only one week distant it is pointed out that all persons anticipating leaving British Columba on trips south of the international border, or trips to any part of the province where the task of registration on June 22 might prove an impossible or difficult task, should take care to call at registration headquarters and register previous to leaving. Considerable inconvenience might be avoided in this matter, owing to the regulation which states that after June 22 all persons desiring to purchase transportation on either railway or steamboat must produce a certificate of registration. Quite a large number of registrations have already been made of persons who are leaving the country and do not expect to return until after registration day.

WHEN THE SUN WAS BLOTTED OUT

Chehalis, Wash., June 11. — Suns were apparently about to rise in each of the four corners of the earth, while the real sun, high in the heavens, hid its face behind the moon, during a total solar eclipse here at 3.55 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Glorious roseate shades tinted the horizon while the arch of the sky was dark and glowering. The entire phenomenon of the eclipse left the crowds who had gathered to witness it silent with wonder and awe, or loud in their praise, according to their disposition.

A total eclipse, never before seen in this section of the country during the lifetime of its inhabitants, and not to be seen again for 300 years, was plainly visible here, in spite of a haze that early in the afternoon threatened completely to hide the sun.

Cattle in Chehalis Valley started wending their way homeward, chickens went to roost and the train just entering Chehalis at the time of totality, sent its vivid searchlight shooting over the valley, though it was mid-afternoon.

The sight was uncanny and visitors mentioned it. Crowds gathered early in the afternoon on Flag Staff hill, a prominence just behind the city, to view the eclipse. Everyone was armed with smoked glasses and many carried telescopes and field glasses to better see the eclipse. The whole Chehalis Valley lay at their feet like a great panoramic curtain.

Promptly at 2.37 o'clock the observers began focusing on the disc of fire, and a very few minutes after that word ran round the crowd that a "bite" had been taken out of the sun by the moon. The moon advanced quite rapidly over the face of the sun but it was not until about 3.15 o'clock that any noticeable difference in the daylight was observed.

At that time green fields in the valley below took on unnatural hues. Twilight minus its opalescent dusk, covered the valley. On account of smoke and haze no definitely marked shadow crossed the country from the west. As the moon crept over the sun all that was noticeable was a steadily increasing darkness. When only a crescent, about as large as a new moon, hung in the sky many in the crowd made pin hole cameras.

A hole was punched in a piece of paper with a pin or a match. A second piece of paper was placed beneath it, and the reflection cast through the hole from the sun showed, not the roundness of the hole but the crescent shape of the sun. At 3.55 o'clock the sun slid completely from view behind the moon, and a cry of excitement went up from the hundreds of observers.

The entire western half of the sky was in darkness except close to the western horizon where the sun shone through the clouds. The effect of a sunrise spread quickly and even as observers watched it circle the entire horizon. The sun itself shone as a black disc in the centre of a glory of light.

The corona, a pearly gray light around the sun was particularly brilliant at both poles and the two sides of the sun, extending out like pearl satin ribbons on the four sides as long again as the diameter of the sun.

Two prominences; probably part of the chromosphere, were plainly seen with the naked eye and small telescopes. One was located at the upper pole of the sun and the other at the right hand side about ninety degrees from it. Both were a brilliant rose color, fading into other rainbow shades.

Without sufficient apparatus to definitely measure it and determine its spectrum, scientists were unable to agree as to whether it was part of the chromo spectre or part of the refracted light from the sun.

The period of totality lasted about two minutes. After the first excited exclamations as the sun was lost to sight, the crowd remained almost silent. A bird startled by the sudden darkness and lost probably, frantically circled the hill.

Lights flared up from automobiles on the Pacific highway below and in the mills which did not stop running. Except for these lights all of nature seemed holding her breath, waiting for the sun to return. The sunrise glow of the horizon widened particularly in the west and as people looked at the black disc hanging in the sky, it seemed to catch fire on the lower right hand side and to burst suddenly into flames.

When the period of totality was over the corona and cromosphere immediately disappeared from sight and the earth became bathed in sunlight, which contrasted to the darkness of a moment before seemed much more brilliant than it had been before the eclipse.

On account of the haze in the sky, it was impossible to see the stars which were in the sky near to the sun. The planets Jupiter and Mercury, Aldebaran, Sirius and the Pleiades should have been plainly visible.

CHARGE IS ALLEGED AGAINST HAWTHORNTHWAITE

(Victoria Colonist)

After hearing reports from a special committee which had been investigating allegations that Mr. Jas. H. Hawthornthwaite, M. P. P. for Newcastle, had been doing business for Count Hans Bodo von Alvensleben since the outbreak of war under a power of attorney, a largely attended meeting of returned soldiers summoned by the Great War Veterans, last night decided to carry the matter as far as possible through the courts.

If through that course they are unsuccessful in getting a settlement satisfactory to them, they will endeavor to secure acceptable action in other ways which were not specified.

The information which was laid before the meeting will be sent to all the service organizations, and they will be asked to give their moral and financial support to the course which was adopted. They will be requested to appoint two members on a committee to take control of the proceedings and the general public will be asked to aid with financial support.

Comrade Webb took the chair and said that the meeting had been called to consider what they believed to be a serious case of trading with the enemy. The Great War Veterans' Association had heard of the case and had appointed Comrades G. Heinekey and B. Gadsden to investigate. The report was of too general interest to be submitted to the G. W. V. A. alone, hence the calling together of an open meeting of returned soldiers and those interested in their welfare.

Comrade Gadsden then reported as follows:

"On July 28, 1914, six days before the declaration of war, Count Bodo von Alvensleben made a power of attorney to Mr. James H. Hawthornthwaite, of Victoria. This power of attorney was not registered until February 3, 1915. It is general and is revocable.

"On October 15, 1915, a bill of sale was registered in the Supreme Court Registry here, signed Hans Bodo von Alvensleben by James H. Hawthornthwaite, his attorney-in-fact. This bill of sale conveyed all Alvensleben's furniture, about 500 items, to 'Estelle Anita Ford for a consideration of $1050.'

"On learning of these facts on February 14, 1917, Mr. James Gadsden, of this city, wired the Minister of Justice at Ottawa. On February 15, he saw Col. Ridgway-Wilson at Work Point, and later made an official statement to two officers who were sent to his house by Col. Ridgway-Wilson. He later showed a representative of Col. Ridgway-Wilson where the furniture in question was stored, but no further action was taken by Col. Wilson or his officers.

"Mr. Gadsden's telegram to Ottawa resulted in a Mr. Reid, of Vancouver, being sent to this city to take an official statement, and as a result of that statement Mr. E. C. Newcombe, Deputy Minister of Justice at Ottawa, wrote him two letters which said in part as follows:

"The first letter dated April 18, 1917, said:

"I have concluded that if it can be established that Bodo von Alvensleben was resident or carrying on business in the enemy country at the time when the bill of sale in question was given an offence was probably committed thereby. . . . I think you should therefore submit the facts for consideration by the Attorney General of your province."

In the second letter, dated June 20, 1917, he wrote:

"As the administration of justice is assigned exclusively to the provinces, you must therefore look to the Attorney General of your province to assume responsibility as to whether the facts in his opinion warrant the institution of proceedings.

"I may say that it has been decided by the Court of Appeal in England, upon facts which seem quite similar, that it was not trading with the enemy to sell a house of an alien enemy under an "irrevocable" power of attorney given at a date when the alien was not an enemy. If the power of attorney to Hawthornthwaite be irrevocable, I am disposed to think that it may be a question of considerable doubt as to whether any sales effected by the attorney which you have described constitute trading with the enemy, but this is also a matter for determination by your Attorney General in connection with his consideration of the facts."

FRED ROO GETS NOTICE

The following was clipped from the Winnipeg and Western Grocer of June 1st:

If there were a few more people in the world like Fred Roo, of Elko, B.C., the world would be a much brighter place. We have never had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Roo, but we are eagerly anticipating the same. It is a sure and certain thing that the "Boys"—we mean the western travellers—have a warm corner in Fred's heart.

Jim Thistlebeak says that there is to be a big delegation at Elko of travellers from Manitoba and the prairie provinces, and that the B.C. travellers are busy building ships and catching fish.

Bert Reid, S.O.S. traveller for the P. Burns Co., left for Saskatoon, where he will have charge of that territory. "Bert," says Jim Thistlebeak, "has the meat business down to the last squeal."

THE NEXT BRITISH ELECTION

Le Temps, of Paris, considers the next parliamentary election in Great Britain and Ireland the most democratic that that country will ever have experienced. It will be based on the register of voters now being prepared.

The remarkable features of this register consist of its acceptance of 6,000,000 women as qualified voters for legislative nominees and its inclusion of lads of 19. But these youths are not all British or Irish men of that age. They are only those who are actual members of the fighting forces at the front.

Another noteworthy thing about the coming election is that, according to Arthur Henderson of the labor party, at least 400 nominees for election to the people's branch of parliament will stand as outright laborites. The militarist in England denounces the labor element as unpatriotic and the liberal journals retort that the militarists conspire to make the election an affair of the privileged. The Teutonic social-democrats find their hand strengthened against the Prussian and imperial governments by the democracy of England's next election. The Russian anarchists have been stunned by this new evidence of the genuineness of British democracy.

ISLAND COAL OUTPUT

The output of coal by the Vancouver Island collieries for the five months of the year ended May 31 aggregated 717,266 long tons, some 7,000 tons less than was produced in the corresponding period last year, but in view of the fact that this year there have been fewer mines operating, the showing made is a distinctly favorable one. Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Limited, heads the list of producers, the figures being as follows: Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) 330,036; Comox mines 232,255, and the Extension mines 97,781; Canidian Western Fuel Company, 328,299; Pacific Coast Coal Mines, Limited, 42,764; Nanoose Collieries, 16,167.

The output for the month of May was 143,379 tons, compared with 148,098 in April, a decrease accounted for by holidays. The figures were: Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) 69,944; Canadian Western Fuel Co., 63,807; Pacific Coast Coal Mines, 7,660; Nanoose Collieries 1,968.

CLASS "B" MAY VOLUNTEER

For the information of men coming under Class 'B' under the Military Service regulations, it is stated that any man in this category who is a tradesman of first class experience and ability, such as required in the railway construction corps, may be accepted as a volunteer.

There are no doubt a great many category "B" men who have not yet been called on to report, and would rather not wait until they are called, preferring to enlist in this branch of the service as volunteers. Those desiring to do so may write to the office of the Canadian Engineers and Railway construction corps, 310 Seymour street, Vancouver, forwarding such papers as they may have supporting their qualifications for this branch of the service. Also give age, particulars of experience and qualifications.

If you like these notes show them to your friends. If you don't, keep your thoughts to yourself, for something must be the matter with you. But remmber it always pays to advertise in the local paper if you know how; if you don't, see the editor.

No, Mabel, because a man smells strong, it is no sign that he has a strong personality.

Jim Thistlebeak says that living and loving is becoming so expensive that it will soon be placed on the non-essential list of luxuries by the Canada Food Board.

Tourists are arriving in the old historic burg from north, east, south and west and the vacant houses are getting picked out like soiled goods at a bargain sale. Now is the time to get in while the water is warm.

Tie makers are making big money in Elko right now and there is a big demand for them.

Several alien enemies were shot and some hung last week in the United States for making seditious remarks against the British and their Allies. No action was taken against the shooters or the executioners, which proves that the game laws are not enforced in the United States, which is just what it should be in cases of this kind.

M. Gorman (the human ferret) and A. Dryden (the Hawkshaw of Waldo) made a big haul of bohunks bringing whiskey from the State of Montana into Canada last week. They are a hard team to get past. Better stay with the mape nut sundaes and sheepherders delight and cut out these Scotch highballs while visiting the district these lynx-eyed devils reside in. They can see in the dark.

The Elk Canyon Chapter of the I.O.D.E., Elko, sent ten parcels to the boys overseas the last month.

Mrs. Longworth wishes to thank all those who aided in making the bazaar held last week for the Belgian Children's Relief Fund such a social and financial success. $77 was the correct amount taken in.

A diploma from a theological college is no proof of honesty. The man who prays needs to be watched as well as the man who swears.

While we don't claim to be getting the mammoth fish they tell about in Cranbrook being caught at Premier Lake, three char were caught last week by local men, weighing 10, 12 and 16 pounds each. Two men who were looking over some tie timber on the South Fork of the Elk brought in 30 lbs. of rainbow trout. Young Chris. Foisy, machinist, at the auto garage, got a dozen beauties weighing 15 lbs. just above the town, and the amount of local catches are making it possible for the residents of the old historic burg to camouflage the ancient beef that is shipped into B.C. by the Alberta Meat Trust; that we were acquainted with the Old Fort Benton Trail in the 80s by the brands on the teabone steaks and the rope marks on the pot roasts. A country worth fighting for is a country worth saving for. Come to Elko and fish and save your meat bills.

If you don't want to drill when the weather is hot, why just throw a fit in a suitable spot, a limp in the right foot will help suite a lot—It's camouflage.—Fuller Prunes.

Mrs. Dave Mitchell passed through Elko last week on her way to Vancouver to visit her husband, who is with the big game hunters battalion at Hastings Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McTavish, with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Klingensmith, of Bull River, motored to Elko on Sunday and visited with the Mayor and Mrs. C. A. Klingensmith, Mining Exchange Block. Both gentlemen were greatly impressed with the activity in the old historic burg, the number of visitors and the big catches of fish they saw coming into town from the surrounding streams. It is quite possible that Mr. McTavish might move here and build a large tourist hotel as the C.P.R. seems dead to the world to the advantages Elko offers for a good tourist hotel. It's not the energy of its officials that make the dividends but the monopoly they have over everything.

"BIG JIM" HAS GONE WEST

(Vancouver World)

After battling valiantly for his life for several weeks against heavy odds, Lt.-Col. James Alexander Macdonell, D.S.O., known everywhere as "Big Jim," died Sunday at Hot Springs, Arkansas, bringing to a close one of the most striking careers of any Canadian citizen and soldier. Col. Macdonell was undergoing treatment at the southern health resort when a change for the worse occurred and a message was sent his wife here. Mrs. Macdonell left a week ago and arrived at Hot Springs on Wednesday night, sending back word that the colonel was very low and only conscious at intervals. She still hoped for the best but in spite of every effort the end came yesterday.

"Big Jim" Macdonell took a keen interest in military affairs and long before war was declared was actively engaged in soldiering. He was the first honorary colonel of the 72nd Seaforth Highlanders. In 1915 he was serving as quartermaster with the 11th C.M.R. and a little later went overseas with the First Pioneers, as second in command. He served in France with this crack corps for nearly a year and was made a lieutenant-colonel and decorated with the Distinguished Service Order. In January, 1917, he went to England, where he remained for six months, returning then to Canada. His health was badly undermined and several months ago he went to Hot Springs for treatment. Little change was noted for several weeks, but he gradually began to sink, until the end came Sunday.

The deceased soldier was known far and wide. All over British Columbia he had a host of friends. He was a contractor, engineer, rancher and miner, turning his hand to development work whenever the opportunity presented itself. He was one of the engineers at on the famous spiral tunnel at Field.

Lieut.-Colonel Macdonell was born in the little town of St. Mary's, Ontario, on May 8, 1861, and was the son of R. J. and Janet Macdonell. He was educated at St. Thomas, Ontario, and while still a boy took up the work of engineering, being engaged with the C.P.R. in construction work along the north shore of Lake Superior.

He came to British Columbia in 1888 and entered farming, turning later to mining and eventually back to his first profession, engineering. All over the western provinces he was engaged in railroad building.

"Big Jim" Macdonell was a splendid type of citizen, a heroic soldier and a true friend. His overseas record rounded out a busy and useful life. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and two sons, the latter aged five and twelve years.

"THE MAN IN THE GALLERY"

The dear old Elk came in for its annual sporting period or running amuck and although it did not reach its high water mark of 1916 yet it came perilously near.

There was some five or six houses in the Annex doing boat, plank or wading service. The little government observation station close by Bill Minton's was the subject of considerable betting. She goes! She goes! 40-60. She goes! 50-50. Just then Paul Cameron's 1000 buck mattress seemed to be coming head on like a German submarine in a troubled sea, and there was even a branch sticking up like a folding periscope. Now if Paul had only been on board with his crew of Paderewskis the picture would have been complete. But, alas, there is always something to spoil the picture.

Speaking of the Elk reminds me of Dutch Gus. You know him. He lives down in the Annex. Gus says Ya by yiminey! Ven she get high dereis always a flood und I get me vashed out. Now it is strange, but those squareheads have an idea once in a while. By the way, I would recommend to the notice of our minister of public works, also our M.L.A., with their attendant batch of "sissy engineers," who yearly assume that air of profound McGillian like knowledge and do nothing or at least when it is all sized up it amounts to nothing. Now Gus says when she get high she mak de flood. Now take note, and you will find that is the time to take observations of rivers, and, by the way, it is the best time to take observations of men. If you watch rivers you will find it is at flood that it takes a new course; and with men, when they run amuck, some get wealthy, some go to the legislature, and some go to the pen, and as my old friend "Jacky Grey" used to say, some go to Westminster. You pays your money and you takes your choice.

Now I'll stake my reputation as a humorist that if Neil McCallum had a couple of boxes of "giant," two men and a team of mules, hell and high water—I mean the river at high water — he could have changed the whole course of the river, switched it away from Stockwell's and Lancaster's and sent her away rippling like a June song into her old haunts by the hillside. Do you get me, George? I say, between a certified shod engineer who calls "grass" "grahas," and Neil McCallum, Why Neil for mine. Now I don't want you to think that Neil put up the " 2 per" for this. Perish the thought. I only want to impress you with the fact that we are loaded up with experts. In fact the traffic has about all she can stand. Why, I was in B. C. long before Messrs. Alibi and Alias started up in business in the temple of Ananias, doing a wholesale business in hypocrisy and subterfuge, and old Lazzy faire, chief floor walker. You know Lazzy? Well, Billy Ross tagged that name on to him, and believe me, as my friend Mrs. Ru—— remarks, "Old Lazzy" has a devil of a lot of friends in Fernie. Of course the family is known by the name of "Getby" in this neck of the woods. Say, did you ever hear of Red River Annie? Well, old Red used to make and unmake politicians. I remember this old "Warwick" turning out a finance minister after her morning's-morning, and Gee! he was on the water front by night. These were the merry days when the Coal Mines Regulation Act first saw the light. The first board! Yes, the first board was in a somewhat jubilant condition. In fact I might guardedly say they were drunk with exuberance when they reviewed the work of art called the "Act." The first inspector went hunting C.H4 with a Clanny in his hand and a Monongehela teapot on his head. A witty guy like my friend Buff Orpington Bill rather nicely tipped the whole outfit off with a neat couplet which ran:

Of all the noxious gases
That nature ever stored,
She never made a gas like that
Which filled the members of the board.

Now Johnny Kobus might say: What is the "Man in the Gallery" talking about? You see Johnny has started to read the Free Press. Well, that was a digression, John. Some ginks that think they know how to talk and talk easily from 2 to 12 hours, make a digression, and really all they said would be in the digression. I heard Dave Rees talk for 12 days and there wasn't even a digression, and Umph! they do say our "Tommy" has been drinking at the same fountain of knowledge. Now, I was talking about the river. Well, the people of West Fernie had Fisher fairly strapped to the funnel last Sunday, and he had to admit as far as the government was concerned there was nothing doing.

Some guy proposed that they pay no more taxes, and may be he was wiser than he seemed to be, for on the square now, if I owned an automobile and ran into your fence or knocked the side of your house in, I suppose I would be sued for damages simply because I owned a machine. Now the government owns the river (and there was a devil of a fuss about that) so why shouldn't they or it be responsible for any damage incurred by the same. By the way, could he not make a statement of how much revenue is derived from the so-called water rights owned by the province.

THINGS WE'D LIKE TO KNOW

Why some people seem to think their dog is always the exception to the rule "No Dogs Allowed."

If the city intend to put the new school by-law before the people this year or next.

Who the gentleman is who writes us anonymously, taking a crack at Ald. Beck because he does not start out on a moral crusade with the possibility of locating a blind pig in some of the barber shops or down at the Maccaroni factory. We always thought that was part of the policeman's duty.

Why Andy Dunn always wants to celebrate when he comes to Fernie.

Why some people persist in taking dogs to the theatre.

How long the city sidewalks will last and if the council have any line of action in view to replace them.

Why Archie Farquharson never smiles.

Why the preacher always seems to pick out for himself a wife who should have married a sport.

How Returning Officer Lockwood has thus far escaped assassination.

If it isn't a toss-up between the Editor, Fred Roo, the Man in the Gallery and Sam Nemore.

If Max Baskin will be a candidate for the mayoralty of Olsen against Jimmy McCool.

Why when a citizen has succeeded in making a fine boulevard some vandal is always keen to drive a heavy wagon over it.

Why someone always wants you to go after the other fellow.

Why the correspondent from Corbin, who thinks that a German is the last person on earth that should be appointed official registrar at that point, does not sign his name to his communication.

If there isn't some Irish in Fred Roo. He always seems to be "agin the government."

With the excessive freight rates in force if the railways couldn't pay ther clerks decent wages.

When the golf course will be completed.

If some of the old married stiffs in Fernie will start harems if the war lasts long.

Why the two new planks in the sidewalk in front of the Dragon building look like an oasis in the desert.

How many Fernie boys will compete in the athletic sports at Lethbridge on July 1. Something should be done in Fernie to encourage the sporting spirit.

If it is true that the West Fernie school is in an unsanitary conditions, and if so what is the matter with the school board.

EXEMPTION COURT SITS

His Honor Judge Thompson presided at Military Appeal Tribunal No. 12 here on Thursday and Friday, when seven cases were disposed of. This session was somewhat more important than the ordinary because among the applicants for exemption were three who had been exempted until June 30th under the term of the general judgment of January 24 affecting coal mine employees. These applicants were Herbert Lanfear, Fred Worsley and Samuel Hampton, Jr. The two former from their own evidence and statements of time furnished by the Company, were shown to have worked every possible minute and had conscientiously carried out the terms and conditions of the general judgment under which they had been granted temporary exemption. In the case of Samuel Hampton, the applicant did not appear in person on account of being absent attending a grand lodge meeting, and thereby he had failed to observe the condition upon which his exemption was granted. The finding of His Honor specifically outlines that before extension of exemption will be allowed in any of these cases, the applicants must show that they have strictly adhered to the conditions set forth in the general judgment. The finding re Hampton is: "This is an application for renewal of exemption granted under the terms of my judgment of the 24th day of January, 1918. In two respects the applicant has not carried out my findings. I laid down the rule that no exempted man shall occupy an official position or carry on work which will necessitate his absence from the work at his usual occupation in the mines.

"I find that the applicant is a delegate to the Odd Fellows Grand Lodge convention held at Penticton. I also directed that no man should cease work for more than 24 hours in any one month. Without notifying me or speaking to the military authorities, the applicant chose at attend the meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Odd Fellows at Penticton. Extension is refused to the applicant, who will report for military service when called upon."

The exemptions of Lanfear and Worsley were extended to December.

Judgment in the other cases was given as follows: A. McNeill until September 1; John Miscisco until July 1; Thomas D. Graves disallowed (previously enlisted voluntarily); Victor Blecick, exemption allowed under section 67a of the War Times Elections Act, on account of having been an Austrian subject, naturalized as a British subject subsequent to the 31st day of March, 1902.

On Tuesday Judge Thompson will hold a sitting at Nelson, where 35 cases are to be heard. Returning here Friday, when between 30 and 40 more cases of variation and extension of exemptions are to be decided.

I.O.D.E.

Work will be resumed on Tuesday afternoon in the I.O.D.E. work rooms as usual.

The following letter has been received from Harry Wallace, son of James Wallace, of West Fernie:

May 14, 1918.

Dear Father—No doubt you will be pleased to hear I have got exchanged to Holland, and back to civilization. I would have written sooner but you will have an idea what we felt like after two years in the Squareheads' country. We could hardly realize it for a few days.

Now I am not going to give you an account of the time we spent there and the brutality that I have seen some of my comrades going through as it would take all the paper they have here to relate it to you, and it will be more interesting to you when I get back to Fernie, and I hope that will not be long.

Now this is certainly a fine country here to live in, very healthy, but what I have to tell you now will surprise you, but none the less quite true. We used to receive from the Red Cross while we were prisoners in Germany lots of tobacco and six good food parcels a month, but since we came here things look very bad as regards food. Now for breakfast we receive a small loaf, 5 inches long, 3 wide, 2 in height and a small piece of butter. For dinner a little piece of fish, dry vegetables and a couple of potatoes, and from then we get a cup of coffee for supper and nothing to eat. The dinner has to last you to next morning. Now it is impossible for us to live at this rate and then we have to go on fatigues in the morning and we are not able to paddle with hunger. It is almost impossible to get money here and there is three of us here that eat together. They belong to my section and we have had a few extra meals which we have to buy ourselves and you have no idea the cost of things here. You cannot get a meal for less than 75c and then it is very poor. Now if it had not been for some of my officers that are here with us I do not see how we could manage at all. They have certainly been good to us. They are talking of the government doing something towards this and the sooner the better, or if we have to go on borrowing money this way to keep ourselves alive we will all be broke when we arrive in Canada.

You can let anyone hear this news at Fernie and then they will know how the boys are fed. Give this news to the I.O.D.E. and also thank them for the good favors they have shown to me and my Canadian comrades, and I certainly would like to be receiving one of their good packets here.

Well, dad, keep up a good spirit, and I hope you are in the best of health, as it leaves me in good health only a little hungry. Hoping to see you soon. Regards to all enquiring friends. Your loving Son,

Harry.

WILL PUBLISH NEW BOOK

J. F. Spalding, of Fernie, and C. S. Morris, of Vancouver, are the partners in a new firm starting up with offices in Fernie and Vancouver under the name of "Spalding's Automobile Road and Tourist Guide Book Co." This is the outcome of the success that has met Mr. Spalding's recent publication, "The Official Automobile Road Guide for British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan," the excellence of which is being manifested by the demand for same. Since the publication of this work he has received many complimentary letters from Auto Clubs and enquiries as to touring by motor from points at the Coast from individuals living in Eastern Points which have shown how little is really known about the possibilities for Motor travel in this Province, this added to the almost general ignorance of B. C. roads that he met with throughout the whole of his tour through Alberta and Saskatchewan, has convinved him that whilst his present book covers the Province very fully, there is still a great deal that could well be added to it, so the new partnership has been formed for the purpose of logging out the whole of the Pacific Highway, which will include Vancouver to Portland, Ore.; Vancouver to Seattle, Tacoma and Spokane; also the whole of Vancouver Island. The roads from the States will be connected at the Ports of Entry with the British Columbia roads. These particulars will be added to the B.C. partculars already compiled and gven in the present Guide and a separate book published containing B.C. and the Pacific Highway. This will also be illustrated with views of the best scenic interest, descriptions of all places of interest to tourists and information about hunting and fishing in the different localities. If this undertaking meets with the success it deserves, the new firm will branch out and evntually make the name of Spalding as well known in the Motoring World as it is in the Sporting World.

Knowing Fred Spalding as well as we do, we know that it will not be his fault if they fall down, and the best wishes of the Free Press for their success goes with them.

Mr. Spalding will shortly be leaving for Vancouver, from which point he will start his compilation tour, which will roughly speaking total about 5000 miles. On his other trip of 23,000 miles he used a McLaughlin-Buick car throughout, which gave such unqualified satisfaction and never once went back on him, that he has decided he cannot do better than use one on this trip, and when he gets to Vancouver will select a small six.

HELD A MASS MEETING

The menacing danger of the Elk river in flood once more was the cause of a meeting at the West Fernie school house last Sunday. Property owners from the Annex were also represented.

Harry Martin was acting chairman with Frank Brindley as secretary.

Mr. Martin opened the proceedings with a rehash of the old, old story of a river running wild and the total inadequacy of the city and the provincial authorities to deal with the same.

After quite a few had voiced their sentiments and talked up to the sketch shown by the chairman, A. I. Fisher took the floor and gave his views of the government's attitude in the matter. In speaking of the money spent at the different places of peril on the stream he explained the differences of opinions given by the experts who from time to time had reported on the situation and with the exception of Engineer Kilpatrick all of them disagreed with the opinions of the people who lived beside the stream and watched its many vagaries year in and year out, high water and low water.

Mr. Fisher at one time waxed a trifle sarcastic with regard to the college bred engineers who waved their certificates of competency before the eyes of the people and told them "They were it," while the property or real estate as Bill Minton put it, was rapidly being moved out of the sovereign province of British Columbia and deposited somewhere around Astoria, U.S.A.

Mr. Fisher reviewed the matter of finance together with the position of East Kootenay as far as they were related to the political and economic side of British Columbia affairs and told how impossible it was for East Kootenay to get anything like representation or consideration from the Coast politicians, while the revenue flowing to the treasury of B.C. was the largest from any constituency in the province, the appropriations for improvements were the smallest, in fact never exceeding 25 per cent of the revenue.

He further stated he had tried diplomacy, argument and even tried bull-dozing in trying to remedy these conditions but all were futile.

Mr. Minton then presented a motion, which was seconded by Mr. Thompson: That the government of British Columbia assume the responsibility for the protection of property in Fernie Annex and West Fernie, from flood waters of the Elk river.

After the meeting Mr. Fisher and a number of the audience went over the various points in West Fernie where government negligence was the most apparent. The work of the river was especially noticeable on the strip from Townsend's to the G.N. track.

The unsanitary condition of the school buildings also received attention, the same being such that the description of "shocking" would be absolutely inadequate. A small stream attracted considerable attention, said steam percolating through various duck puddles, privies, etc., the whole offering a fertile ground for an epidemic of typhoid.

Mr. Fisher assured the crowd that the best efforts of himself and government would be used to assuage the many evils he was witness to.

Monday evening a meeting of the Fernie Annex and West Fernie Flood committee was held in the Miners Hall, when T. Uphill and W. Robson were added to the committee.

HOW TO PREVENT MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Perhaps there is no part of Canada where greater care should be taken in auto driving than in the Kootenays, an auto owner points out. The narrow roads and numerous short turns are encouraging to accidents. These suggestions are taken from a handbook issued jointly by a number of concerns writing automobile insurance, are based on experience gained in handling thousands of automobile accident and damage claims.

Don't drive fast with a tire that is soft or nearly worn out.

Don't permit your spotlight to blind the drivers of approaching cars.

See that your brakes are properly set and turn your front wheels toward the curb if you leave your car on the incline.

Watch for the pedestrian who tries to cross the street ahead of you after you have received the traffic officer's signal to go ahead.

When being towed or towing another car, don't hurry; take corners slowly and look out for pedestrians, who may try to cut between the cars,

Stop as far as possible from the travelled portion when necessary to make repairs or tire changes on the road.

If working on the right or road side of the car exercise extreme care.

If forced to stop at night never permit anything or anybody to stand so as to hide the tail light from the view of approaching drivers.

If you are driving don't try to talk to persons in the tonneau.

Don't run the motor in a closed garage. The carbon monoxide in exhaust gases is odorless and colorless, yet a small percent age of it in the air is fatal.

Don't park your car leaving the headlights undimmed. Be sure to see that all lights are burning at night.

Don't allow children to drive.

Women should not be permitted to drive alone until they have become experienced operators.

Instal a good non-glare device in lights and keep your lights adjusted.

Don't park your car in the middle of the street or in the way of other drivers.

IMMODESTY OF DRESS DISCUSSED BY WOMEN

In view of criticisms recently passed upon the immodesty of the present style of women's dress and the evil effect it is said to exert on the morals of young people, the Provincial W.C.T.U. in convention yesterday adopted a resolution urging its members "to refrain from wearing dresses too short and necks of waists too low." One member strongly protested against the action of men laying the blame for nearly all of the social crimes committed upon the dress of women, stating that if they were above such evil thoughts and truly desired to be the protectors of womanhood there would be no need for such criticisms.

Miss Wark, the local Social Service worker, approved of the resolution, saying: "If the wearers of some of the frocks which reveal so much of their forms could hear the remarks of masculine onlookers as they pass on the streets they would blush with shame." Others in the meeting expressed similar opinions and opinion was general that "women could do no better than by following the example of their grandmothers and observe the happy medium."

Realizing fully the important part that food conservation plays in the winning of the war, the members pledged themselves to comply with the requests of the Food Controller and do their utmost to conserve food, especially those products required for the men of the Allied armies. Another resolution required the members of the W.C.T.U. to refrain from using wool in the knitting of sweaters and other articles for home use owing to the increasing scarcity of wool required for the needs of the army.

The convention also resolved to cooperate with the People's Prohibition Association of the Province in securing prohibition of the manufacture of tonic wines and proprietary medicines. Another motion expressed the determination of the Union to urge upon the government the immediate necessity of segregation, treatment and training for the feeble-minded, thus disposing of one of the greatest menaces of the community. The meeting also decided to inquire of the Dominion Union as to whether Miss Foreman, the Dominion Foreign Worker, would be available for work in British Columbia this year.

The Union expressed strong disapproval and much disappointment in the action of the Dominion senate in refusing to accede to the repeated requests of the womanhood of the country for greater moral protection for the young womanhood of Canada by rejecting the bill passed by the Commons which would permit raising the age of consent for girls from 16 to 18 years. The secretary was instructed to send a copy of the resolution and a forcible letter of protest to each Senator.

The convention also passed a resolution asking the government to enact a law whereby all cases of venereal disease will be made reportable, and further that the W.C.T.U. urge upon the government the necessity of compulsory examination of members of either sex contemplating marriage. Another motion asked the government to look into the matter of the Sunday laws, with a view to stricter compliance with them and a proper enforcement of the Lord's Day Act.

SWAIZEMA CURES ECZEMA

The following letter is a testimonial to the power of Swaizena. This case was the son of a wealthy family who had spared no expense:

My son was afflicted with eczema on face and body for three and a half years, during which time I had him constantly under treatment, having had him to specialists in the United States and Canada, also to noted mineral springs, none of which effected a cure. Was advised to try Swaizena, one bottle of which cured him. I can heartily recommend this medicine to sufferers of the disease.

"WORK OR FIGHT"

Baltimore, Md., June 18.—Unless some 15,000 workers in shipyards, munition plants and other industries engaged on government work consent to work a full week instead of three or four days, as they have been doing at high wages, they will be sent to Camp Meade in batches to be put through daily drills at $30 a month and board. Federal officers are classifying the workers, and they have found many who are only working in a half-hearted way to escape the draft.

President Wilson has approved a nation-wide compulsory work movement to supplement Provost-Marshal Gen. Crowder's "Work or Fight" regulations.

In a letter to Gov. Harrington of Maryland, the President endorses adoption by other States of the Maryland compulsiry work law, under which the "work or fight" principle is made applicable to all men between the ages of 18 and 50.

General Crowder also has approved the movement and believes that it will not only give greater effect to his new regulations but will further aid the country in its task of winning the war by reaching men below and above the draft ages. Without some such law as proposed, either state or national, it was pointed out, men of draft age who cannot pass the physical requirements for active or limited military service cannot be made to engage in necessary occupations.

ASK GOVERNMENT FOR STATEMENT OF POLICY

(Victoria Colonist)

After waiting for over a year for some definite action to be taken by the government, a deputation representing claimants for compensation for damage done to their property during the coal mine riots of 1913 was yesterday promised a definite statement as to what the government purposes to do in respect to the claims. This answer will be forthcoming in ten days.

The report of Mr. Justice Gregory, who was appointed in 1916 as Commissioner to investigate all claims for damage to property done during the riots in 1913, has been in the hands of the government since early last year. The investigation was instituted by the late Conservative administration, and sittings were held by the Commissioner at Nanaimo, Ladysmith and Victoria. Claims to the aggregate amount of over $350,000 were submitted and the Commissioner's report to the government found that claims to the amount of $57,000 were well founded.

Last year a number of claimants whose cases were reported by Mr. Justice Gregory as of merit applied to the government for payment, but nothing was forthcoming. Now they are again seeking to have the government act upon the basis approved by the Commissioner.

THE HUN GRIP ON RUSSIA

The Allies cannot safely delay dealing with the case of Russia. They are understood to hold Japan in check from occupying Siberia in deference to the objection of President Wilson, who hopes that the fighting spirit of that country will revive to the point where it will invite the aid of the Allies. That hope ignores the fact that Russia is now disarmed and in the power of the enemy. When that is the case fighting spirit can accomplish nothing in modern war. The case of Belgium proves that; its fighting spirit lives, but it cannot lift a hand to fight. The longer the Allies postpone armed help to Russia the stronger will become Germany's hold and the greater force derived from that country by Germany will they have to overcome. The superiority of manpower which Foch hopes to attain may never be reached, or may be most exasperatingly slow of attainment.—The Oregonian, Portland.

GERMAN FORM OF ATTACK

Once the wire is cut and the masses of concentrated infantry are launched upon their way, the German leader depends upon sheer weight of numbers for his success. On the chosen front his strength appears to be about four to one in the first assault. Close behind are fresh divisions, which pass through the troops engaged in the initial attack and keep the enemy on the move. The idea is that of the relay race. There is nothing new in this part of the enemy's methods for the British and French armies frequently push fresh troops through tired formations to continue an advance to a final objective. The novel thing is that these German divisions are sufficiently mobile to continue their team play for a week or more, carrying forward with them the food and war material required for their operations. It is certain that the enemy carries far less impedimenta than either British or French troops under similar circumstances.—Toronto Globe.

Basic Facts About Belting

AND PARTICULARLY

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Transmission Belting

A Worthy Product

Years of careful study of the high-power belt problem have enabled Dunlop Laboratory experts to create "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting, the original Red Face Rubber Belting of Canada—a product worthy of the Dunlop Factories and of the quarter-century record of success back of them.

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Virtues Are Real

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to-day widely used in a multitude of ways in the many varied industries in this country. It owes its success, not to any illogical deductions or fantastic analyses, but to the simplest causes—causes so simple that they are now, always have been, and always will be, in our opinion, the bedrock of success in belt-making—Power, Speed, Service—in actual use as well as in the test-room.

Permanent Elasticity Means "Life" in Belting

In producing this new, this original, this master, red belt, our object has been to have the friction coat of rubber between the plies such as will retain its life indefinitely, and to have a quality of rubber with long "fingers," and not a quality of rubber the elasticity of which has been sacrificed to obtain the so-called high-pulling test.

That "Friction Pull"

When you are informed that such-and-such a belt has a "friction-pull" of abnormal poundage, do not imagine that you are getting a quality friction. What you have to secure in a belt is a friction full of elasticity. There must be between the plies of duck only a certain class of rubber to give uniform strength and pliability.

Resilient Quality Must Not Be Sacrificed To Excess of Friction Strength

To obtain high figures, such as referred to above, in belt frictions you have to take away from the elasticity of the friction; hence, there is a happy medium, and this medium we have obtained through our laboratory experts. It ensures for you a belt, the friction of which will hold the plies together and will be sufficiently elastic in its properties to allow for the give and take necessary in rounding the pulleys.

Duck Finest Obtainable, Made to Highest Specifications

A highly important feature of "Gibraltar RedSpecial" is the duck which enters into its construction. Only the finest quality of specially-selected duck, having the proper tensile strength in the right direction, is used. And this, in combination with a superior rubber friction between the plies, ensures absolute uniformity of service.

Fills The Bill

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to be found in practically every industry in Canada, and if it is Power, Speed and Service that you want, then it is "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Belting that you require for your work.

Universal Recognition of "Gibraltar RedSpecial"

To cite the names of users of this famous, red frictioned-surface belt would necessitate the use of much space. We have on file recommendations from almost every type of industry requiring "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting in widths varying from 1½" to 48." These testimonials are available for your perusal at any time.

The Original "Red"

"Gibraltar RedSpecial," as noted previously, is the Original Red Rubber Belt—and like most things that are original, its success is of the kind that endures.

SCANDAL-MONGERING

In probably every social state, from the crudest to the most complex, there is a type of human being which finds continual employment in and derives positive enjoyment from, scandal-mongering. The appetite would seem to arise from an exaggerated and depraved curiosity. In some cases it assumes the proportions of a disease, the patient seizing upon every occurrence and statement not so completely simple and transparent as to preclude misconception of its motive or purpose and twisting them into any sensational or shameful shape which may fit in with the plausible interpretation suggested by the particular form of aberration.

Modest and retiring citizens whose ambitions and activities do not bring them into the public eye suffer frequently from the baleful influences of the numerous, though less dangerous, specimens of the scandal-mongering genus. Those whose occupations are of a semi-public character or are apt to expose them to censurious criticism make peculiarly easy targets for the scandal-monger. The more so if occasional lapses from conventional standards of conduct can be truthfully charged against a minority of those similarly employed. Doctors, actors and actresses, entertainers of most kinds, even lawyers and clergymen, have provided many innocent victims for the artful and ubiquitous scandal-monger.

But perhaps of all the people who are systematically exposed to scandal-hunting of one kind or another—political, social or personal — the successful politicians suffer the most. Many men who would gladly devote some portion of their time and talents to the public service are deterred from doing so by what is described as their "sensitiveness." They feel reluctance to face situations in which every possible circumstance of their private, business or professional, and public activities will be subject to scrutiny, not of the charitable, well-disposed and sane-thinking average citizen, but of the pertinacious, penetrating and ultra-curious scandal-hunters.

Lacking access to the avenues by which the public are informed of the "significant and peculiar" things which the scandal-monger can usually detect, this parasitic nuisance will spread them as far as may be by word of mouth; but, if, unfortunately for the victim, the lower order of publication can be utilized, his character is assailed and the minds of his friends and supporters are poisoned by those subtle suggestions and those clever collocations of accidental happenings which are the chief weapons of the more dangerous representatives of the scandal-mongering type.

A magnificent specimen of the scandal-monger's art was presented to the public view in the recent Billing case in London. By the publication of vicious statements about Miss Maud Allan, afterwards withdrawn in court, the defendants in that notorious trial were enabled to put in evidence a hotch-potch of filth and imagination which was valued at its true worth by sensible people in Britain. Press and platform have been unanimous in their repudiation of the highly-sensational but utterly unscrupulous and unfounded imputations upon the characters of most of the public men and women of England, which was permitted to be read into the evidence pertaining to the statement originally complained of. Strong aspersions upon the judicial aspect of the case have not been wanting. Altogether, the atmosphere which has been created by the neurotic vaporings of Billing and his associates has been that of the strongest condemnation, not of the victims of the scandal-hunters, but of the scandal-hunters themselves.

The unhappy consequences of all such disgarceful outbursts of the scandal-mongering disease is that credulous persons hide a certain morbid disappointment that, after all, these things cannot be harmonized with the recognized characters of the persons attacked, under the ungenerous generalization that "there is no smoke without fire."

If even a tiny fraction of the charges freely bandied in the Billing case had been true the British people could not have survived the trials and tests of the last four years. In these they have been sustained and guided by the very people whose honor was attacked, in cimcumstances which precluded defence, by the indirect and disgraceful methods of the scandal-monger.—Winnipeg Free Press.

CALGARY EXHIBITION

There is a great treat in store for those intending to visit the Calgary Industrial Exhibition, June 28 to July 6th. Never before have the indications for a successful Exhibition been better. The Fair will truly be the show window of the best the nation can produce. No one interested in live stock can possibly view the wonderful display of almost perfect specimens, without getting real enjoyment and inspiration. The special features for the recreation of visitors are the cleverest of the present day.

On Saturday, June 29, Girls' and Boys' Day, the girls' and boys' classes will be judged, as well as the Shorthorns and Swine classes. On Monday, July 1, Dominion Day, pure bred stallions will be judged as well as Herefords, Holsteins and Sheep. On Tuesday, July 2, United Farmers' Day, pure bred mares, Aberdeen Angus and Ayrshires will be judged, and there will also be a parade of prize winning horses in the evening in front of the grand stand. Wednesday, July 3rd, Soldiers' Day, the heavy draft and agricultural classes, Jerseys and Red Polls will be judged. Cattle parade will also be held in the evening in front of the grand stand. There will be horse races on the evenings of June 29 to July 3rd inclusive, and automobile races with the world's greatest drivers, using special racing cars, on the afternoons of July 4th, American Day, and July 5, Auto Day.

A free accommodation bureau will be conducted by the Exhibition Company at the C.P.R. depot so that visitors should have no difficulty in getting accommodation.

Special arrangements have been made to park automobiles on the Exhibition grounds. An admission fee of 25c per day will be charged for cars, and they will be checked free of charge. An extra fee of 25c will be charged if the cars are left checked on the Exhibition grounds over night.

MAY CALL SPECIAL SESSION

A special session of the British Columbia legislature may be summoned in consequence of the situation which has arisen through the action of the federal government in disallowing the B. C. Settlers' Rights Act, amending act 1917, which let in some 197 claimants who had failed to present their claims on or before the expiration of the time limit set in 1904 act, as under which claims for lands aggregating some 33,000 acres were received, and two crown grants awarded to claimants. The question involved is the right of the province to enact such legislation and its constitutional right to deal with such matters without the interference of the federal government.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

MR. ALEXANDER MUNRO

R.R. No. 1, Lorne, Ont.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors, and tried nearly everything I saw advertised to cure Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit.

Finally, I decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives". Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not so severe, and the swelling started to go down.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place".

MASONIC SERVICE

The members of Elk River Lodge, No. 35, A.F. & A.M., will attend Divine service in Knox Presbyterian church on Sunday evening. Visiting brethren cordially invited.

The local registrars acting under the regulations of the Canada Registration Board, have been at work every day this week with very good success, and the manner in which the public are taking advantage of the privilege to register before Registration Day, June 22, indicates that on that date there will not be the congestion which would certainly arise if all this work had to be completed in the one day. A canvass of the numbers handled by the registrars and assistants shows that up to Tuesday approximately 2500 had registered here or about 500 per day since the work commenced.

Many of Fernie's old timers learned with deep regret of the death of "Big Jim" Macdonell, who at one time made Fernie his headquarters, and who was a great favorite with all who knew him. He was one of the contractors who built the Morrissey, Fernie & Michel Railway.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

It will be good news to automobile dealers to know that the new war tax will not have to be paid at once. Word comes from Ottawa that each dealer may obtain a warehouse license by paying a nominal sum. Dealers so licensed need not pay the special war tax on their goods at this time, but only as sales are actually made. The same applies to dealers in tea, jewelry, etc.

No word was heard from the Minister of Mines or Attorney General's department relative to the investigation of the Coal Creek explosion until yesterday, when in response to repeated telegraphic appeals from the coroner, the local mines inspector and the officials of the Miners Union as to what steps the government was about to take, a brief telegram from the Attorney General, stating that Geo. Wilkinson, chief inspector of mines for the province would leave Victoria for Fernie, was received. Mr. Wilkinson will probably arrive here on Friday and go into the matter with all interested parties and at the very earliest it will be next week before the inquest can be resumed. It appears now, however, that possibly the inquest may not be re-opened, and the miners officials do not think an inquiry of this nature would be broad enough and in accordance with this decision they have made very strong representations to have the explosion investigated by the medium of a judicial inquiry.

MOUNTAIN GETS THE VICTORIA CROSS

Announcement of the award of three Victoria Crosses, including one to Sergt. Albert Mountain, is made in the Official Gazette. Mountain's company was compelled to fall back before the advancing enemy mass. Volunteers for a counter attack were being called when Mountain and ten men stepped forward. He advanced on the flank with a Lewis machine gun and enfiladed an enemy patrol, of which about 100 were killed.

Mountain organized the party for defence and covered the retirement of the company. With one non-commissioned officer and four men he successfully held at bay 600 Germans for half an hour.

DECISION BEARS ON PROHIBITION ACT

Vancouver, June 12.—The important ruling was given today by Judge Cayley in the speedy trials court that Section 10 of the Provincial Prohibition Act, providing six months' imprisonment for selling liquor, had been superceded by the Dominion order-in-council, and that the conviction of J. B. Edwards, who was sentenced under the Prohibition Act, must be quashed.

His Honor based the decision on the authority of Rex vs. Thornbur, an Ontario case, and suggested that as it was a matter of great importance to this province, it should be taken to the court of appeal.

ONE OF THE BEST SHOWS OF THE SEASON WILL BE SEEN IN "THE OTHER MAN'S WIFE"

The eternal triangle, the man, the wife and the other man, or the wife, the husband and the other woman, this is the basis for all stories and naturally is as old as time. To treat this age old basic principle in a new or clever manner "is a consummation devoutly to be wished" and in "The Other Man's Wife," the Lambert Producing Company's (not Inc.) play a new treatment of this old theme is to be found.

The play is from the pen of Victor E. Lambert, and abounds in a succession of clever situations. The comedy scenes are numerous and the press has been most flattering in what they have had to say about the play.

"The Other Man's Wife" will be seen at the Grand Theatre Saturday, June 29. Not Pictures.

REGISTRATION FOR MAXIMUM WAR EFFORT

Registration Day, Saturday, June 22, has been decided upon as a necessary preliminary to the exercise of Canada's maximum power in the great conflict in which the world is engaged. It is a necessary preliminary for the reason that a country cannot exert its full strength in any enterprise unless it determines beforehand the measure of that strength. Registration will enable the War Administration of Canada to see that, as far as is humanly possible, every ounce of energy available is made to bear upon the issue in Europe, and that the minimum is lost in useless effort. With that accomplished Canada will have reached the peak of her war endeavor and, supported by the unwavering determination of her people, will carry on until the foe is finally vanquished.

The Cause requires of every country, as it requires of every individual, the utmost in service. Canada cannot be sure she is serving to the utmost until she clearly understands what her maximum capabilities are. The registration of every person resident in the Dominion, male and female, of 16 years and over, will provide the information from which can be deduced the extent of Canada's possible war effort.

THE STRONG GRASP OF FRIENDSHIP

Truly this is the noblest and proudest hour for Britain. Her sons, born and educated to worship peace, have rushed of their own free will to defend their ideal patrimony, and to face the concentrated effort of a most powerful army, composed of men born and educated in the worship of war, who have rushed into the fight in order to satisfy their thirst for dominion and robbery. Never has the supreme duty between democracy and militarism been granted such dramatic and striking expression. We watch the duel with confidence, but also with passionate feeling, since the forces of the whole of Great Britain and her allies are now deciding the fate of the liberty of the whole world. —Il Messagero, Rome.

CONFIDENCE OF THE ALLIES

One of the most striking things about the present struggle, which involves the fate of Paris, is the remarkable manner in which the Allied moral has been maintained.

After the Portuguese gave way during the early fighting on the Cambrai front and the British army was obliged to retreat many miles, there was some depression in Paris, London and Rome. It was realized that Germany had made gains of great moral value whatever they might be worth militarily.

Mr. Lloyd George's announcement that all losses had been made good within a few days, however, restored public confidence and the results of the later fighting around Ypres and the stoppage of the Germans at the Marne intensified the feeling.

Today the British and French press is quite satisfied with the turn things have taken. They make no attempt to minimize the reverses they have sustained. But they realize thoroughly that the Germans have gained nothing decisive and apparently are not going to do so.

The basis of the Allies' confidence is their man-power. General Foch must have 800,000 men to call upon either at the moment, or at any rate available before the summer is over. Now 800,000 men allows of the formation of several striking forces and of adequate reserves.

If when the German reserves have been reduced so that the German general staff can no longer conduct a major offensive, General Foch has 800,000 men or even fewer — fresh, well-trained and eager for the fight, he can and must break the German line.

As a modern war is fought this conclusion is mathematically certain. — Vancouver World.

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

Tells how to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.

"LOCAL MUSICAL TALENT"

A newspaper is seldom popular with the average local musical talent. The pianists expect the paper to say of them they are Paderewski; the vocalists must equal Melba and Galli Curci, and the violinists must have an art on par with that of Kreisler. A newspaper is unwilling to stand up before the world with such statements. What is the result? Local talent says: "With such a paper it is impossible to create an artistic atmosphere in this town."—Atchison Globe.

Every Farmer Needs a Ford

THE Motor Car is a greater convenience to the average farmer than the telephone, the rural mail or even the grain binder.

The binder which is considered as a very useful implement is rarely used more than a few days during the entire year. The rest of the time it stands idle, taking up space, while the automobile is available for use throughout all seasons, and both day and night.

It is ever ready to run down the lane to the back field or the pasture with a parcel or a message, or take you and your family to town for shopping purposes—or on an errand to the neighbors.

The motor car is called upon whenever anything is wanted in a hurry. It is the most useful implement or convenience for the farm. It helps you conserve your energies and time for productive work and enables you and your family to accomplish more with less energy. You surely feel the need of a Ford. Why not order one today?

Y.M.C.A. REPLIES TO CRITICISM

The following statement was issued by G. H. Wood, chairman of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A., following a conference of Y.M.C.A. leaders on Friday, May 31:

"In view of recent criticisms and questions from various sources, the National Executive Committee of the Y.M.C.A. wish to present to the public the following general statement of fact in regard to its services to the soldiers:

"The Y.M.C.A. is in the canteen business solely as a medium of service to the soldier, and devotes every dollar of net profit made to that service. There is not, nor ever has been, a dollar made in its military canteen which has been used in any other way than in its service to the soldiers. The total cost of maintaining its service greatly exceeds the amount of net profits from its canteens, and the balance is met from the subscription funds raised in Canada.

During the year 1917 the total cost of maintaining the Y.M.C.A. service to the Canadian soldiers in England and France, including very large items for free drinks, cinemas and concerts, athletic supplies, writing materials, libraries, etc., was two and a half times as much as the net profits from its canteens. In other words, for every dollar of net profit made in its canteens, the Y.M.C.A. has had to secure by subscription another dollar and a half to meet the requirements of its entire service overseas.

"The prices charged in the canteens are governed by the military authorities, and the Y.M.C.A. is not allowed to undersell the Expeditionary Force canteens in France.

"In France the books of the Y.M.C.A. are checked monthly, in so far as all canteen operations are concerned, by the army field cashiers. These, as well as the accounts in England, are audited regularly by a chartered accountant, and these audited statements, now issued every six months, are sent to all the officers commanding and are posted in the Y. M. C. A. huts for the information of the soldiers. In addition to this, a combined English and French audited statement is issued every six months.

"A complete audited statement, including overseas operations for 1917, which will be published in Canada, has been delayed by the recent military operations, which have prevented the auditor getting the necessary permission to cross to France.

A military board of three officers, appointed by Lieut. Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, conducted an examination of the whole work of the Y.M.C.A. in the Canadian Corps in France, during the month of March and reported that its financial operations were satisfactory and that its business was being efficiently conducted.

"It is scarcely necessary for the Y.M.C.O. to affirm that it has never sold in its canteens articles sent as gifts to the soldiers. It is impossible for such a thing to happen as a Y.M.C.A. transaction. In its service of exchanging money, the Y.M.C.A. does not reap any benefit, but gives the soldiers exactly what it receives from the bank.

"In connection with Y. M. C. A. libraries in France, a small deposit is asked when a book is taken out, and refunded when it is returned. This is done to ensure the return of the books for further circulation. No charge is made for the loan of a book.

"The thousands of letters which have been coming into the homes of Canada from the boys overseas, who have enjoyed the benefits of the Y.M.C.A., are among the best testimonies to its work, and the Y.M.C.A. welcomes the suggestion that they be referred to for their opinions and experiences."

YANKEES ARE ENFORCING THE IDLERS' ACT

To be known as a "bum" has never been a reputable reputation. Today it is worse than that, and the definition of the word has broadened considerably since the war broke out.

If you play golf or tennis or spend long hours motoring for pleasure when you are physically able to do things of use to the country you are a bum.

If you are under 60 years of age and are engaged in a business with a partner where you inhabit an office during working hours, and do nothing else, one or the other of you is a bum, if you are both capable, honest and have confidence in each other.

If you are in the shipping game, having graduated from command of a ship, and your business can be conducted by someone else less fit for national service than you are and you do not relinquish the fleshpots of easy living and do your share toward maximum effort, you are a bum.

The worst slackers and bums of these war times are not found among the ranks of labor. Many a man is camouflaging his conscience because he has enough money in the bank and need not work unless he wants to. Many a man is not doing national service because he prefers not to disturb the even tenor of a highly polished social and business life.

Over in the United States they are getting after the velvet-clad and silver spoon bum with as much vigor as they get after the sweaty, horny-handed workingman who has decided he would take a few months' rest because his spring and winter payroll was big and he felt he need not work for a time. They are combing the golf links and the clubs, the business offices and the slums. Wherever they find fit men whose work can be done by less fit men or women and who are by training equipped to do work of national service, they take them.

In Canada there is an "Idlers' Act." It was recently passed by the federal government and was aimed at the men who can but will not do their bit, high, low, large or small. But the act is not so specific as to actually cover all who might come under it. It defines an idler as being a man between the ages of 16 and 60 who is not engaged in "useful employment." A number of cases have been tried in this city, but they have been all from the middle and lower classes of labor. There have been few fines, most of those accused being allowed to escape punishment if they take up "useful employment."

There are public spirited men in this city who would be able to assist this work of getting everyone busy if given the opportunity, said a man who is now engaged in giving his full time to war work while his partner runs their business.

"The Idlers' Act could be made a really beneficial act if the government would give authority for using civil assistance. By this I mean, have a volunteer force of citizens who would act as deputies wherever they saw the opportunity to place capable men at right national work. A very capable force of men of sane judgment could easily be raised to work in co-operation with the authorities. It is being done in the United States. There are in the business section a large number of men who are in a position to actually know whether men are engaged in necessary or useful employment. They are much better equipped for this information than the police force is.

The American authorities are finding that the rich bums are still inclined to wiggle out of doing real service. Men who have for many years done little but live on the incomes accumulated by other people's work, men who have spent their time in motoring, golfing, polo, afternoon teas, and such entertainments, and who saw they were liable under the anti-loafing act, have temporarily dodged the issue by renting offices and posing as real estate or insurance or other kinds of brokers. But the authorities across the line are hoping yet to be able to corral this class. Some of the class, their dormant realization having been kicked to life by the anti-loafing act, have voluntarily taken up real work, from farming to motor mechanics. Others it is expected will be forced to do so.

It is hoped that the same results will be realized in Canada and that the Idlers' Act will be so administered (and if necessary amended), so that every class of idler in Canada will come under it and be placed in "useful occupation."

THE INCREASE IN AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS

The increase in staple products exported from Canada last year over the average annual shipments of the three years previous to the war are very striking. Here is the table as given out by Chairman H. B. Thomson, of the Canada Food Board:

Pork—122,000,000 lbs. increase.

Beef—74,000,000 lbs. increase.

Butter—12,000,000 lbs. increase.

Cheese—30,000,000 lbs. increase.

Eggs—15,000,000 doz. increase.

Wheat and Flour—85,000,0000 lbs. increase.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Mrs. Fred Wildman, of Morrissey, drove to Elko this week and visited with Mrs. A. J. Mott.

George Schupe, fire warden, moved to Elko this week from Waldo.

Fred Roo was down to Roosville and Flagstone last week and took a run across the line to get a few pointers on the conservation of food in the U.S. and now he thinks Union government is the biggest joke that ever happened in the Dominion of Canada. The Calgary papers are calling the turn and it is the same all over the Dominion. The true patriot these days is the man with the hoe, killing weeds in the garden and paying his increased taxes promptly.

Contractor M. Edmunds and family with Miss E. May Roo, motored to Roosville on Sunday.

Capt. Ima Nutt, one of the Canadian misfits deported from England, passed through Elko on his may to the coast last week.

The Indians on Tobacco Plains are giving a frontier day celebration on July 1st and for five days following, at the Indian village near Flagstone.

Miss Bessie Pye, of the Fernie teaching staff, was in Elko on Sunday, the guest of Mrs. Alex. Birnie, Aberdeen Cottage.

Alex. I. Fisher, M. P. P., passed through Elko on Saturday, going through the town like an old maid running from a dog fight, whistling "where are my friends of yesterday."

General Sprat Sardine of the Vancouver Scrubmarines, passed through Elko on the cushions this week going east, but not far.

Here's an American toast to the Kaiser:

Now here's to the Kaiser, the Limburger cheese,
May the swell in his head go down to his knees,
May he break his neck over the Hindenburg line,
And go to hell croaking The Watch on the Rhine.

Jack Wallace, the editor of the Fernie Free Press, is creating quite an excitement in the Coal City with his queries, "Things We'd Like To Know."

Sam Wilkinson admits that he has prospered since he settled in Elko. Coming here a single man, now he is married with six children, twins arriving last week, two boys.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lockwood, of Golden, motored down to Newgate, calling at Kootenay points and also through the Roosville valley.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Downs and family returned from Claresholm, Alberta, to Downsville, Roosville Valley, where Mr. Downs is operating a sawmill.

Canada Food Bulletin — "This means you"—

If U fast U beat U boats;
If U feast, U boats beat U.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Letcher and two daughters, of the Square Deal Ranch, Roosville, motored to Elko on Sunday.

No, Mabel, the Union government will never be re-elected to power again. Yes, you are right, Mabel, it was Bobbie Burns that said, This Mixtie Moxtie queer Hotch Potch Coalition.

FIFTH AVENUE MODISTE SHOWS MODELS IN MABEL NORMAND PLAY

Mabel Normand's newest Goldwyn picture, directed by George Loane Tucker, which revolves around a fashionable modiste's shop, is going to have the atmosphere of the real thing. To make the atmosphere genuine, Goldwyn engaged Hickson, the famous Fifth Avenue creator of delightful things feminine, to supply costumes and mannequins to wear them.

"Dodging a Million," which is to be shown at the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, gives Miss Normand the opportunity to wear some of the fetchiest apparel she ever has been arrayed in for a motion picture. Not the least fetching is a nightgown its creator has chosen to dub "The Vampire," imagined and brought into being especially for MabelNormand.

Hickson is responsible for this delicately unusual bit of finery. Miss Grace Flynn, of the Goldwyn studio, who knows enough about costumes to be a modiste herself, describes it thus:

The body of the garment, cut on lines severely plain, is of black satin. It has a V-neck and no sleeves and is slashed at each side to the knee. The slashed spaces are filled with accordeon pleated chiffon.

Six of Hixon's most famous models appear in the picture wearing gowns, frocks, cloaks and lingerie calculated to fill the feminine (and perhaps even the masculine) eye with delight.

One of the most striking of these strikingly modern creations is a blue wool velour afternoon frock, trimmed with dark blue velvet and showing the ultra-new bustle effect. It is embroidered in gold thread and further embellished with wide bands of blue fox fur.

Other novelties are a black jet and sapphire blue evening gown; another of white velvet brocaded in silver; a black and gold brocade lined gold velvet evening wrap trimmed in seal; a maroon velvet evening wrap banded with kolinsky; a purple velvet skating outfit trimmed with bands of ermine and including a jaunty ermine hat; satin and crepe de chine and lace lingerie and pyjamas of pink satn that are better imagined than described.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

VOLUME LX, No. 26 FERNIE, B.C., FRIDAY, JUNE 28, 1918 WHOLE NUMBER 1066

WILL HOLD BYE-ELECTION

The city fathers held the regular bi-monthly official gathering in the council chamber last evening, all the present aldermen being in attendance.

The matter of there bossibly being appeals from the decisions of the court of revision was considered and it was decided in the event of there being several of these that the city clerk be authorized to engage counsel if necessary. The city assessor and Ald. Beck also will attend court when the appeals are heard in advisory capacities.

The Attorney General communicated with the council stating that he had been pleased to recommend the increase in salary to the police magistrate as already suggested by the police commissioners. The provincial secretary also wrote stating that the Lt. Governor in Council had fixed the salary of the police magistrate at $115.00 per month from Feb. 1.

A letter from the Commission on Conservation announcing a conference to be held in Victoria and suggesting that the council have representatives present, was filed.

Miss M. Shorthouse sent a letter to the city fathers requesting that compensation to the extent of time lost and medical attendance be granted her by the city, resulting from injury sustained from treading on a nail protruding from a sidewalk on Pellatt Ave. The Mayor stated that he had been advised regarding this matter and upon request had called upon the young lady, when he advised her that it was very doubtful whether the city was liable. Ald. Jackson as chairman of the health and relief committee, took mild exception to the fact that he had not been consulted or advised by the Mayor as he considered such matters were within his province. A compromise settled the matter satisfactorily as far as Ald. Bill was concerned but the council decided they were not liable and the city clerk was instructed to reply accordingly.

The report of the committee relative to the petition from the residents of Block 80 and north in the Annex and Annex Extension, was received. The residents of this section requested that a sidewalk be laid on the north side of Thompson street from the Great Northern tracks to Lindsay avenue, and when it developed that in order to do this work by local improvements it would be necessary to pass a by-law and issue debentures, and considering that there already was a sidewalk on one side of the street it was considered that the council could not grant the request at present. Ald. Beck suggested that the residents of that locality could without all this extra trouble subscribe among themselves for the amount required and in this manner obtain the convenience they now desired. By doing so it would cost if anything less than by having the city pass a by-law.

With regard to the matter of the Hesketh children, Ald. Jackson reviewed the matter of obtaining another custodian of the children since Mrs. Bebb had resigned, and the original arrangement made by him was on the basis of $80 per month for the care of the four tots. This had at first appeared quite satisfactory to the party engaged but within twenty-four hours after closing the arrangement he was again confronted with an obstacle in the form of a very irate lady who repudiated the initial agreement on the ground that her understanding was that the $80 per month was in addition to the $75 per month paid to the former keeper of the children. A temporary adjustment wes effected by Ald. Jackson consenting to pay $100 per month, which he claimed was practically nothing short of a hold-up. This sentiment was reiterated by all the council, Ald. Dicken stating that it appeared the present custodians were desirous of obtaining their own subsistence out of the transaction, as they were already receiving free rent, light and water from the city as occupants of the Isolation Hospital. Ald. Jackson was authorized to endeavor to obtain a custodian for the children at a more reasonable remuneration.

A plan, submitted by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. with regard to certain boundaries of the city for approval before registration, received the necessary sanction.

In view of the vacancies created in the council and school board by the resignations of Ald. Brooks and School Trustees Wm. Ramsay and Hartley P. Wilson, it was decided to hold a bye-election. This was arranged for Thursday, July 18, nominations to be in the hands of the returning officer A. J. Moffatt within the prescribed time before polling day. When the formal motion for the appointment of returning officer came up, embodied therein was the fee of $20 for said services. Ald. Jackson immediately advanced an objection to payment of this fee contending that it should be eliminated in view of the present financial condition. After a brief discussion the city clerk said he had framed the motion in accord with those formerly passed but that he was not insisting on payment of the fee. Ald. Beck therupon suggested in view of Mr. Moffatt's attitude that same be deleted from the motion.

As Ald. Brooks during his term had acted in the capacity of Park Commissioner and contingent upon his resignation that office was now vacant His Worship appointed Ald. Rutledge to act for the remainder of the term.

City Engneer McCallum brought to the notice of the council that it would be advisable to erect a shed for the purpose of storing the hay procured from the park and also that it would be more economical for the city to purchase a mower to harvest the crop as from experience it was found that renting a machine to do this work was rather expensive. After some discussion it was decided that as the hay crop was usually consumed before the winter same could be stacked in the park and hauled as required, and acting upon the suggestion with regard to the mower a motion was passed authorizing the city clerk to purchase one for the city.

It was also decided that the council in a body would visit the park on Dominion Day at 2 p.m. and consider the matter of further improvements required.

Bylaws Nos. 184, 185 and 186, being respectively the Hight School Site Debenture Bylaw, 1918, for $9,000; the High School Building Debenture Bylaw, 1918, for $23,000; and the High School Equipment Debenture Bylaw, 1918, for $3000, were each read a first, second and third time. One of the features of these bylaws is that annually in addition to the interest accrued a portion of the principle will be repaid. The denominations of the debentures are all different, that of the site bylaw being $100, the building $1000 and the equipment bylaw $500 each. They have been fixed at these figures so that in the event of the bylaws passing, it would be more convenient to dispose of them locally in these denominations than if based on larger denominations. Through a recent provincial amendment all lands and improvements within the municipality which term includes all property within the area prescribed as the Fernie School District, will be assessed. Balloting will take place on July 18 at the city hall.

G.W.V.A.

The first open air dance was held at Trites' pavilion on Wednesday last and a good time was spent by a fairly large attendance. Allen's orchestra supplied the music and it was O.K. The refreshment booth was in charge of the Ladies Auxiliary and everything in this line was according to Hoyle. These dances will be continued all through the summer months on every alternate Wednesday at 9.30 p.m. Gents 50c; ladies 25c. It is the intention to hold each dance in favor of one of the allies and the next will be for the Americans.

The Vets wish to thank all those who contributed towards the fund to supply football equipment. The first game at Morrissey is postponed owing to the camp being quarantined.

The set of Bairnsfathers in colors which have been presented by H. J. Gregson, of Dorr, are now on view to the public in one of the Trites-Wood Co. windows. They are a very fine selection and the Vets feel very grateful to Mr. Gregson for this very thoughtful contribution to their club.

Tommy McDougall is in the hospital as the result of a bicycle accident.

A. Mutz, of Vulcan, and Johnny Laing, of Spokane, both interested in the Fernie-Fort Steele Brewing Co., are in the city today.

Dr. Corsan returned the other day from Victoria, where he attended the Masonic Grand Lodge.

The Northern Hotel has insalled a Pathephone in the dining room.

THE COURT OF REVISION

On Monday evening the civic court of revision, comprised of His Worship the Mayor, and Aldermen Dudley, Beck, Rutledge and Dicken, heard appeals from the assessment compiled by the City Assessor. In all claims for reduction were made on 39 properties, which, after hearing the appeals, the decisions rendered by the court resulted in a gross reduction in the assessment on land of $690.00, and on improvements a reduction of $3,450.00. In one case the assessment on improvements was increased by $300.00, making the net reduction in this classification $3,150.00.

J. L. Gates, properietor of the King Edward hotel, appeared in person and requested a reduction of $1000 on the lots and $5000 on the building, basing the appeal on the fact that one of the principal revenue producing portions of the biulding was now rendered useless. The court, however, could not see where they could give Mr. Gates any relief and confirmed the assessment. Mr. Gates thereupon served notice of appeal from this decision and the matter will come up for final settlement in the county court. Others present to support their appeals were Wm. Eschwig, Mrs. S. F. Wallace, J. W. Farrow, D. V. Mott, E. A. Kummer, Wm. Minton and Archibald McLean.

The following was the disposition of the appeals from assessment as decided by the court of revision:

J. W. Farrow, Lot 3, Block 107.—Reduction of $100 on improvements.

KILLED ON THE TRACK

Joe Carollo, employed as section hand on the Great Northern railway, and residing at Elko, met instant death last Saturday afternoon when a gasoline speeder on which he and six other section men were returning from this city, after receiving their pay checks, collided with an upbound local freight. The accident occurred about one mile this side of Swinton at a point where a sharp curve intervenes and this prevented those on the speeder as well as the trainmen from noticing the approach of each other.

Coroner Thomson held the inquest at the court house on Tuesday evening, when some twelve witnesses testified. The jury which sat on the case consisted of N. E. Suddaby, foreman, Wm. Mills, Dominic Citra, Jos. Scarpino, Eder Harper and M. W. Scott.

Raffaele Lotito, section foreman in charge of the car, was the first called and he stated the purpose for which the trip to Fernie was made. They left here in mid-afternoon and travelled at a normal rate of speed. He claimed the freight train was ten or twelve rail lengths away when they saw it first, and that they had plenty of time to stop and attempt to remove the car. Witness and another section foreman in the party managed to get it partly off the track. The other men all jumped clear, Carollo alone getting off on the side opposite the other men. Witness knew the train was on the road and expected to meet it any place, he said.

Other witnesses gave practically the same evidence as to the occurrence except that there appeared to be considerable difference in the estimates of the distance between the train and the car when it was first sighted, ranging all the way from four to fifteen rail lengths. None of the witnesses in the party, however, seemed to be able to give anything definite as to what Carollo did or how he came to be caught.

Engineer Arndy of the freight train gave the clearest details of any of the witnesses and it was not until he informed the other section men that they knew of Carollo having passed under the engine. He sighted the car rounding the left hand curve when it was approximately 100 feet away and immediately applied the emergency air brakes and shut off the power, bringing the train to a stop within a very short distance. One man alone, he claimed, whom he believed was the deceased, was in the centre of the track endeavoring to shove the car clear. He had but a glimpse of this before the front of the engine obstructed his view.

The evidence given by the two section foremen did not admit that Carollo attempted to assist in removing the car, these men claiming they derailed it but had not time to put it entirely off the track.

We find that Jos. Carollo met his death on June 22, 1918, by being run over by a freight engine on the Great Northern Railway between Fernie and Swinton. We consider that carelessness was shown by the foreman in charge of the gasoline car in trying to make the curve without determining whether any engine was approaching, they expecting to meet a train about that time.

LOCAL PEOPLE INTERESTED

The following article from the Mining & Engineering Record refers to the Bush Mine, located in the Portland Canal district of Northern B.C., in which several Fernie men are interested:

The Bush Mine is the first proven mine of the camp, and seems destined to take its place among the world's great mines, if the phenomenal results so far achieved continue. The first real attempt to make a mine of this property came in the winter of 1914. H. R. Plate representing New York interests, through W. H. Aldridge, formerly general manager of the Trail Smelter, took it under bond and started work about Christmas, 1914. As part of the development work a tunnel was started on what is known as the high-grade vein. It was driven on the ore for a distance of 80 feet. At this point the ore body gradually left the tunnel on the right. The tunnel was continued straight ahead for 160 feet further; a total of 250 feet, and 12 feet of cross-cutting done.

In the summer of 1916 R. K. Neill, of Spokane, examined and sampled the property, and the following winter took a five-year bond on it for $100,000, commencing work in the spring. His first work was to find out what happened to the ore body at the point where it left the tunnel. Very little work disclosed the vein paralleling the tunnel, and at no point in the whole 250 feet was it more than 8 feet away, while the face of the tunnel where the New York people quit was found to be actually in the vein. As the vein at this point was almost barren—values $1.50—and closely resembled the wall rock in which he had been travelling for 100 feet, no doubt Mr. Plate failed to realize he was in the vein. Had he driven two feet to the right he would have been in $5.00 ore, while, had he gone ahead a further five feet, he would have found ore coming in on the right hand side of the tunnel running over $200 a ton.

This is an outstanding example of a "nearly succeeded" great mine being missed by a very small margin, and it is just such hazards and great rewards that give mining the fascination no other industry possesses. After driving crosscuts into the ore body for 50 feet at two points further back in the tunnel, without the hanging wall being reached, a crosscut was started from the face, and a start made to drive ahead a further 500 feet to get under the last of a series of open cuts which exposes the ore body on the surface, and shows it to have a width from 70 to 140 feet. The crosscut was in good ore from the start. At a point about fifteen feet in, a rich streak showed up 5 to 12 inches wide and stayed. For several shifts the whole face of the crosscut went over $300, while the streak alone gave values ranging from $250 to $500.

This crosscut is now in 100 feet, with no wall yet in sight and the average values for this are $150. After driving ahead about four feet from whre Fr. Plate had quit, high-grade began to show up and at eight feet the whole surface was ore, a thorough sample running $153. For the next 90 feet the samples, which were taken every day, varied from $40 to $150. At this point a dyke was encountered, with a width of 30 feet cutting across the vein. The tunnel was continued straight ahead through the dyke and better ore broken into on the other side. At the time of the writer's visit the tunnel was 50 feet beyond the dyke. The foreman, Pat Daly, although reticent regarding the exact values, stated for several feet everything broken could be sacked without being sorted, and also mentioned the interesting fact that until the dyke had been reached the values had been fairly well divided between gold and silver, but since the silver had greatly decreased the increase in gold had more than offset the loss of silver.

The average value for this whole ore body to date is $30 a ton in gold and silver. It is the present intention of the management to drive a tunnel lower down the hill this summer, to get an additional depth on the vein of 250 feet. Sacked or ready for sacking, there are about 400 tons of ore which will average about $150 a ton. The dump is for the most part ore, of a low grade, valued around $100,000. Every pound of the ore has been taken out in straight development work, and it alone will more than pay for the property and reimburse the present owners for every dollar so far expended.

The astonishing values quoted above from such a large ore body, while such as to tax one's credulity, are quite trustworthy, having been obtained from Mr. Neill and Mr. Daly. The writer himself is well acquainted with the property, its ore bodies, values, and history. Such magnificent results after just one year's operation have been rarely if ever achieved before, even in mining; certainly in no other business. Besides the vein on which the development is being carried out, there are at least three others on which surface work has been done; every one of which has the appearance of a potential mine. The property is situated on a rather steep hillside which ensures the most economical mining; there is an abundance of good timber for all purposes; also ample water for milling and power are right at hand. Plans are to be worked out this summer for the installation of compressor, tramway, and mill. The fortunate owners of this ideal property are: R. K. Neill, of Spokane; W. R. Wilson, manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., and A. B. Trites and R. W. Wood, merchants of Fernie and other Pass towns.

THE KAISER MET THE DEVIL

The Kaiser met the devil in an agitated way, and the devil stopped his prodding to hear what Bill would say. Bill approached him quite contritely, for he wanted something done; he would make his last endeavor to enlist him with the Hun.

So he said: "My dear good Satan, I'm in trouble, I'm afraid; if we do not work together, sure as hell my grave is made. I have worked and I've wondered and the Huns stand in dismay, when they hear the preparations over in the U.S.A.

"I had thought that Gott was with me, but of late He's hard as bone, so I've come for your assistance, and we'll oust Him from His throne. Now dear Satan, won't you help me? We're a team that would work well, and when the awful war s over we'll own heaven, earth and hell.

"I surely am disgusted with the Gott up in the skies; instead of helping me He's helping the allies. Just say the word and I'll abide; you come along, but I'll decide; and tomorrow night just at eleven, I'll call out a string of Zeppelins and we'll make a raid on heaven."

All this while old Satan wondered, scratched his head and then he pondered. When he found his equilibrium after Bill had gotten through, he addressed Bill Hohenzollern in these words severe but true:

"You're a dirty, low-brow ingrate; you're the worst I ever knew; you are dipy, talking flighty, and to win your greatest blunder you would wreck your God Almighty.

"Now for years you've had a notion that you had a regular call and some day you'd rule a heaven, but, oh, Bill, you'll get a fall. And this fall is not far distant; it's coming sure as hell, for the allies have your measure and they'll fix you good and well.

"You have stooped to the lowest level; you have broken every rule; all the world is now against you; you are a great big jackass fool. I don't like to talk of methods; I'm the devil, that is true, but you've wrecked and butchered millions and I've no use for you.

"Look at Belgium, poor bleeding Belgium; look at France and England, too; all because you have a notion that the world you could subdue. For punishing I have a reputation, but I've watched you all the while, and for downright true meanness you have got the devil skinned a mile. All the fire and all the brimstone; all the groans and shrieks of hell, you have equalled and surpassed them, and you know it mighty well.

"Now Kaiser Wilhelm, listen, you'll not finish what you started; the Hohenzollern family and the throne will soon be parted. You heard from President Wilson, he told you what he'd do, but you thought he was only bluffing, now you know he's coming through.

"Over there they're training soldiers, and oh, my God, how they can fight. They'll get your dirty carcass because they're fighting for the right. When the bugle call is sounded you will have no time to pray, for they're coming on in millions and they hail from U.S.A."

The devil sat by the lake of fire, on a pile of sulphur kegs; his head bowed down upon his breast, his tail between his legs. A look of shame was on his face, the sparks dripped from his eyes; for he'd sent his resignation to the throne up in the skies.

"I'm down and out," the devil said—he said it with a sob. "There's another that outclasses me. I want to quit my job. Hell isn't in it with the man who lives upon the Rhine. I'm a has-been and a piker, and therefore I resign. One ammunition maker with his bloody shot and shell knows more about damnation than all the imps of hell. Give my job to Kaiser Wilhelm, the author of this war. He understands it better than I ever did by far. I hate to leave the old home, the spot I love so well, but it makes my head ache to think I'm outclassed in the art of running hell."

A "TRUSTED" GERMAN SPY

No more alarming case of German espionage has been brought to light than that of Paul Henig, the "trusted" master mechanic of a company making torpedoes for the United States navy. Since another Henig, who passed as his son, is now interned at Ellis Island, it is not easy to understand the blind confidence which continued him in a position where he could do so much damage. Lieut. Shea, U.S.N., was the first to suspect him. This capable officer began an examination of the torpedoes on his own account and found that they were designed to circle back and sink the very ships firing them. There is no need to expiate on the formidable nature of such a plot. Nor is it surprising that there should be considerable apprehension lest other unknown dangers of the kind threaten our military and naval forces. That Henig should pay the death penalty as a spy goes without saying; the example cannot be too severe. But there should also be an immediate searching investigation of other "trusted" Germans who are employed in war work. The consequences of untrustworthiness are too perilous to be ignored.—Philidaephia Ledger.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

SWAIZEMA CURES ECZEMA

Electrical treatment and other so-called remedies failed to cure this case. Then she tried Swaizema. Read the letter:

Being troubled with eczema on my forehead for over eight years, I tried several special remedies which did me no good, also tried electrical treatment. I stopped the electrical treatment and began with Swaizema. On using it I saw very great improvement the first week, the redness almost entirely disappeared. I continued taking Swaizema, when I had taken the fourth bottle was entirely cured. I am well pleased and will recommend it to others suffering from eczema.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Military Service Act, 1917.

Men 19 and 20 Years of Age.
Harvest Leave.
Leave of Absence on Ground of Extreme Hardship.
Procedure to obtain Leave of Absence.

Men Nineteen and Twenty Years of Age.

It has come to the attention of the Government that there is a widespread impression that young men of nineteen years, and those who became twenty since October 13, 1917, as well as those who may become nineteen from time to time and who have been or will be called upon to register under the Military Service Act, are to be immediately called to the colours.

This impression is quite incorrect. No date has yet been fixed for calling upon such men to so report for duty, nor has the question been brought before the Cabinet for decision. In view of the need of labour on the farm, it is most unlikely that consideration will be given to the matter until after the harvest is over, although of course the Government's action must be determined primarily by the military situation.

There is no further obligation incumbent upon young men of the ages above mentioned who have registered or who do so hereafter, until they receive notice from the Registrars.

Harvest Leave.

Some enquiries have been received as to the possibility of granting harvest leave to such troops as may be in the country at that time. No definite assurance can be given on this point as advantage must be taken of ships as they become available. On the other hand, harvest leave will be given if at all possible.

Leave of Absence on Grounds of Extreme Hardship.

It is desired that the Regulations respecting leave of absence in cases of hardship should be widely known and fully understood. Such leave will be granted in two cases:— (a) where extreme hardship arises by reason of the fact that the man concerned is either the only son capable of earning a livelihood, of a father killed or disabled on service or presently in service overseas, or in training for such service, or under treatment after returning from overseas; or the only remaining of two or more brothers capable of earning a livelihood (the other brother or brothers having been killed or disabled on service, or being presently in service overseas, or in training for overseas or under treatment after his or their return from overseas); brothers married before 4th August, 1914, living in separate establishments and having a child or children not to be counted, in determining the fact that the man is the "only" remaining son or brother; (b) where extreme hardship arises by reason of exceptional circumstances such as the fact that the man concerned is the sole support of a widowed mother, an invalid father or other helpless dependents.

It is to be noted that in all these cases the governing factor is not hardship, loss or suffering to the individual concerned, but to others, that is, members of his family or those depending upon him.

Procedure to obtain leave of absence.

A simple system for dealing with these cases has been adopted. Forms of application have been supplied to every Depot Battalion and an officer of each battalion has been detailed whose duty it is to give them immediate attention. The man concerned should on reporting to his unit state that he desires to apply for leave of absence on one or more of the grounds mentioned and his application form will then be filled out and forwarded to Militia Headquarters, Ottawa. In the meantime, if the case appears meritorious, the man will be given provisional leave of absence for thirty days so that he may return home and continue his civil occupation while his case is being finally disposed of.

"The Sign Invisible"

A Mighty Drama of the Northland, Featuring Mitchell Lewis, the Giant of "The Barrier," In a Fighting, Loving, Daring Role

"Sometime you give me kiss, you no have to pay"
Scene from "THE SIGN INVISIBLE"

The romance of a man of the city, a scientist who stood up in the face of mighty nature and defied her force. Swift as the light came nature's answer, crushing as an avalanche, irresistible as the earthquake—and the man was twisted and tortured and burned until his seared soul cried for mercy and was born again. And in his purification nature used her own instruments. Good and bad men and women she used; she chose a land of mighty waters and towering mountains for her crucible. It is a wondrous thing to see, and may not be described in words.

Shall a Man Live Two Lives While a Woman Must Stand or Fall by One

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

A Stuffed Prophet

New York Herald: According to a news dispatch from Berne, the Kaiser's advisers are trying to keep him from the front, being alarmed over his hallucinations. That it is an aggravated case is shown by the fact that Wilhelm now goes about muttering of his "Divine mission to save the world and humanity." Always a paranoiac, disappointment apparently has brought him to a condition of drivel. Even those who worship him as the All Highest are beginning to realize that as a prophet he is nothing more than common clay with a stuffing of pretzels and pumpernickel

Leave It To John

London Free Press: Prices obtaining on March 1 for a working class family in the United Kingdom (food, clothing, light, heat, etc.) show an increase on pre-war figures of 90 per cent. In Canada at the same date the increase was 36 per cent. John Bull still carries the burden.

Effect of Bloodshed

Toronto Globe: A New York paper estimates that enough German blood was spilt during the recent attempt to break the Allied lines to float the American transport Leviathan. It is now in order for someone to estimate the number of degrees by which the morale of the German army has declined as a result of this loss of blood.

German at Prince George

Prince George Citizen: The Citizen rejoices greatly to see trainloads of settlers with their effects arriving in this district to take up the work of bringing under cultivation our fertile acres. But what are we to think when we find that, though residents of Canada for several decades, the common language of these settlers is the German tongue; that their peculiar religious belief forbids them taking any part in civic life; and that they refuse to take a court oath. Most disappointing of all in the Mennonite is his refusal to support the state in case of war. They are ready to accept all the privileges of Canadian residence but want none of its responsibilities. Outside of that they are all right.

Speaking candidly, one hears altogether too much of the German language in this district. This might reasonably be overlooked on the part of many residents were they unable to converse in the English language. Passing a group of men gabbling in German gutterals makes the average Canadian feel like starting something right here at home. We will welcome the day when the German language and German publications are forbidden in Canada.

THE SITUATION IN SIBERIA

The advent of large contingents of Czecho-Slovaks in the far east has brought a new factor into the situation. These are the men who were taken prisoners by the Russians early in the war and subsequently fought gallantly on the Russian side. After the Brest--Litovsk peace it was arranged that two divisions of them should leave Russia, the maximilists desiring to be rid of elements which favored a counter-revolution and the allies being glad of their services in Europe. The two divisions are now scattered along the Siberian railway from Tcheliabinsk eastward en route to Vladivostock. They have come into conflict with the bolshevists on the question of disarmament and appear to have occupied a section of the railroad from Irkutsk westward. About 14,000 have arrived at Vladivostock to the dissatisfaction of the bolshevsists, who are anxious for their immediate shipment.

Meanwhile, despite Kharbin reports to the contrary, Colonel Semenoff does not prosper and has been compelled to retire to Baurktia. The prisoner of war element opposing him is increasing and there is nothing to prevent the expansion of the prisoner force under arms. On the other hand, the anti-bolshevist manifestations in eastern Siberia are increasing. Admiral Kltchak has assumed command of a small force of Cossacks and others at Pogranivitchnaya station on the eastern Manchuria border near Vladivostock. The opposing bolshevist force is believed to include German prisoners. The bolshevists threaten to blow up the immense stock of munitions at Vladivostock if they are attacked by Klitchak.

Public feeling everywhere in Siberia is hot against the bolshevists. The people are eager to be rid of them. Unhappily all centres of population are dominated by the bolshevists, who alone have supplies of arms and ammunition. Action against them is difficult to engineer, particularly as there are so many sub-divisions of Russians themselves. The universal cry is for assistance of an allied force around which all the moderates can rally, forgetting party feeling and petty jealousies in the large cause.

ACROSS THE ATLANTIC BY AIR

The British Air Council has decided that an attempt to fly across the Atlantic Ocean shall be made shortly. The purpose is to decide if airplanes can reach France under their own power. The co-operation of the United States government will be sought. A British machine is expected to leave Newfoundland, cross to the Azores, thence to Portugal and so to France, in forty hours of flying.

If the feat can be accomplished the future of mankind's speediest vehicle will be assured.

The war must be won in the air. More and more is this fact coming to the front. Mr. Wells, the novelist, foretold three years ago that the way to break up stationary warfare on the western front was to organize an overwhelming air force and bomb the Germans out of their positions.

It is not generally known that in the German first great offensive of the present year General Petain stopped the gap in the Allied line near Ham by directing every available Allied machine to that point and ordering the airmen to keep back the enemy with machine gun and bomb while the French troops were marching up. This task was brilliantly performed. The line was held.

At the most critical moment in the whole war, aircraft prevented the enemy from using his advantage.

In a second crisis at Kemmel Hill the Germans were held back several hours by the work of the airmen. In these two affairs aeroplanes were used, not as auxiliaries of other arms, but as an independent arm—as something of a totally new nature.

When we add to these accomplishments the smashing of the Austrian attempt to cross the Piave and the continual offensive directed against Zeebrugge and Ostend, it will be seen that the nation with the biggest air fleet must dominate the battlefield.

Given the necessary machines, the Germans' retreat from France could be cut off. Railways could be destroyed, bridges blown up, food depots and munition dumps wrecked. In a word, it is quite possible to overthrow the German armies by an immense air offensive.

HUNDRED YEARS OLD READY FOR FARMING

Victoria, June 24.—Wm. Cook, 100 years old, in signing his registration card signified his willngness to go on the land to help the government in this time of crisis. When he came to the coast from Quebec in 1848 he was put in charge of the Hudson's Bay company's farms here, and accordingly in registering acknowledged his farming experience. He is hale and hearty and says he will go to work if the government summons him.

"THE OTHER MAN'S WIFE," AT THE GRAND, SATURDAY, JUNE 29

The story is amazingly intense and brings forth into the limelight the lives of two girls that loved one another as Damon loved Pythias. A very unusual coincidence, perhaps, but not so with Nellie Gilbert and Vera Hampton. They were quite the opposite in their apperance, but welded together like a band of iron in their natures. Nellie was weak and pretty, Vera strong and handsome. They were both typists. They lobared side by side for eight dollars per week; they both could sing and their voices brought them one hundred. That's what they received in the hellholes they call cabarets and where Nellie in her sweet innocence excited the admiration of many. Richard Ramsgate, the renegade brother of a respectable and prominent lawyer met her and with protestations of love and a mock marriage performed by his chauffeur, he accomplished her ruin. Her cheeks soon began too fade; he left her to die while he went in quest of other prey. But Vera, Damon like, came and nursed her back to health. But every cloud has a silver lining. Nellie recovering from the shock of her disgrace started out to begin anew, to live a better life. She went back to her old vocation, her type machine after all was her best friend. She sought employment in the office of George Ramsgate, the brother of the very man that had caused her downfall. Unconscious of this, she found a road that led as she supposed to her happiness. Mr. Romsgate, who had lived the life of a bachelor and who seldom gave a thought to woman, discovered in his typist the one wman in the world for him. And at the opening of this great play we find Nellie installed in a beautiful home on the Hudson and Vera as her companion, little dreaming of the dark cloud that is soon to envelope and crush her hopes. At the rise of the curtain we tell you the rest of this beautiful story intermingled with tears and laughter and exciting situations, introducing beautiful gowning and a stupendous mounting, under the able management of the Lambert Producing Co. (Not Inc.).

Dorothy La Vern, last seen here in the role of "Peg" in "Peg o' My Heart." will demonstrate her sterling qualities as an actress of the highest order.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

WRIGLEY'S

ANOTHER SPASM

(The Man in the Gallery)

Popularity! What a tricky evanescent fleeting jade! One day she wraps her shimmering, jewel-speckled ethereal flowing robe around you, the skies are cloudless, the hills are fresh and green, everybody meets you with that I'd like to stand in sort of smile; your neighbor makes it his business to meet you (just casually, of course) with a fine morning try-out in the little old car. Yes, even your wife has a fresh renewal of the old time faith in your courage and ability. What! What! and she nudges you in the ribs, shyly of course, with a whisper that we know how to play the game. Yes, Dame Popularity sure is a fleeting hussy, for as Shaskespeare observes, next day, two commas in G minor, there comes a frost, a bally ruddy bleeding frost.

Did I say there comes a frost. Sure and the dame gets about as chilly as Archie's smile. No more the cheery greetings. The audience gets clammy and sticky looking, and worse than that, they get cynically sarcastic, and really the sons of guns look like they question your profundity. Oh, you fleeting popularity!

Now I am not writing this dope for the horny handed intellectuals who do business on Victoria avenue, nor yet for the Amalgamated Order of Firebosses. Oh, no, this is strictly speaking for the low brows of West Fernie and the Annex. Do you remember two years ago, how the valiant champion of democracy assailed a putrid government, how infamously they misused the public funds, how unfairly Fernie was treated, how she contributed $260,000 to the provincial funds and etc. Poor Tommy Uphill was simply paralyzed by that flood of eloquence, but Tommy was on the defensive with the "ins" I should say, while his opponent was with the "outs." The outs had taken the initiative, and as the fireside strategists remark: Initiative wins.

Tommy came at me with a "Gee whiz! Did you notice the difference between now and two years ago?" Where was that big executive? Where was Dan Alton? Where was Bill Jackson? Yes, and he might have hollered like Napoleon, Where was the bally old guard? And do you really know, all I could do was to quote old Shakespeare when he makes Cromwell say, "Then there comes a chilling frost." Ah, yes, there are compensations. At least you don't have to explain who gets away with that $260,000, Tommy.

The trouble with Fernie is we are hopelessly out of the world, at least as far as the politicians are concerned and no wonder, for the people of this district have been mighty small potatoes, even smaller than the politicians who aspire to represent them. Get-by issues are fabricated for election purposes. The press gets busy but the people are asleep. I remember McBride's and Bowser's trip up in this neck of the woods, and how we were all electrified by the Canadian Northern Ry. program. Then comes along "Hypnotic Malcolm" and old "Samon Belly" (heaven rest his soul) and it was the P.G.E. The horrid rascality of the P.G.E. and we are electrified and hypnotized again. Then we wake up. Where the 'ell is the P.G.E? someone asks. Doggoned if I know or care, my friend Buff Orpington would say, and take it from me, Buff knows just about as much as the average guy in this community. Was there a soul asked about that $260,000. Not much.

Where was the foremost citizen? That somnolent august bunch they call the Board of Trade. Where were they? Where were the property owners of the Annex. Asleep, and some fine morning you find the little old Elk at the back door, yes, and at the front door, and you have a fine job packing the old woman and the kids around on your back looking for an island, and you wake up. Yes, you wake up, blood in your eye, looking for some one to vent your wrath upon, and then you remember that not a single soul asked old 'Salmon Belly' or Bill Bowser about the many improvements needed in this distridt, or how we stood with that $260,000 that we contributed.

No, and not even the Liberal executive made any inquiries along those lines, and all you got to know is a line from a satellite that the government does not hold itself responsible for anything and they give you a sort of a four bit appropriation for improvements and repairs and doggone me, I'll bet you'll find the most of the appropriation eaten up by the gasoline account.

Did I say Liberal executive! Ha! Ha! Did you ever hear of Aristophanes? Well, old Aristo had a big job on hand trying to confound the wise guys of his day and he had to resort to the expedient of going to hell for a poet to do it, which makes me drag old Aristo into this page of Fernie's comic history because he would sure have to search over night to find anyone to thoroughly describe aforesaid executive. There were about 45 candidates for the road superintendent's job and the "Bunker Bean" of the "ex" issued the dictum that "democratic ideals" was on the job. Then the "ex" broke up into about a dozen bunches. Some wanted this fellow, another wanted someone elese, and so on, and the joke was: Not a single word in the open. You might have taken it for an undertakers' convention. But once out on the street, oh, my, then democracy lost its head and the giant "executive" began to run around in rings, finally losing itself, and I doubt if a sufficient number could be gathered to send a delegate to the annual gophers' convention at Waldo.

THINGS WE'D LIKE TO KNOW

With the tax rate jumping by leaps and bounds and the sidewalk and other city property going to the devil as fast as possible, if it is not about time that the city council took the bull by the horns and instituted a campaign of economy.

Why the council never seems to consider the possibility of combining the fire and police departments. Other cities have done this at a saving of thousands and thousands of dollars a year. Why not Fernie?

Why a Justice of the Peace could not handle all the court business that comes up in Fernie and save the city thirteen or fourteen hundred dollars a year.

Why the aldermen continue to draw their pay if they don't get busy along the above lines.

Why Curly sometimes thinks he is working in the morgue when he is attending a council meeting.

Why the authorities never seem to pay any attention to the remarks made by visitors to the city re the sidewalks.

Why meat should cost five cents a pound more in Fernie than in Calgary.

If Mayor Thomson and his colleagues are using the same amount of business judgment and conscientious scruples in handling the affairs of the city that they would if the business were their own.

If Mayor Thomson were given a salary of five thousand dollars a year and told to run the city in a business like manner and make good or be fired, how long would the present state of our sidewalks last; how long would it be before the police and fire departments were amalgamated; how long would he continue to pay a magistrate to spend all his time in the office when the work could be accomplished every morning in fifteen minutes by a J.P. for the costs of the court.

If Constable Dooley had any particular grudge against some of our young would-be cowboys when he brought that outlaw horse to town.

Why Potter's bull has not removed Philip's lawn mower from Bill Jackson's yet.

Why a lot of the fighting dogs in Fernie are not muzzled.

THRIFT STAMPS TO BE ISSUED

Announcement that the Ottawa government will issue savings stamps to the public is welcomed.

The new stamps will probably be issued in denominations to match each coin of the realm. This will prove a convenience.

The Canadian people can save much more than they have been doing. Though in their subscriptions to the government loans they have contributed about three-quarters of a billion dollars there is a reserve of small savings yet untouched.

Great Britain raised many millions of pounds from the savings of her poorer classes. Canada, given the opportunity, can follow this example. Not only the well-to-do can help with their money. Every dollar is wanted.

A NEST OF TRAITORS

The United States government has not yet finished its case against the 110 members of the I.W.W., who are under arrest in Chicago, charged with conspiracy. It may be July 1 before the cases are all disposed of, but if the authorities are able to prove one-half the offences charged against these men it will mean the finish of the I.W.W., not only in the United States, but in other countries where the order has gained a foothold.

In connection with this organization, the surprising thing is that it should have been able to continue for so long without any real interference by the authorities. Seemingly, no one bothered about the matter, because the men connected with the movement were of a class from which it was not expected that danger to the state would come. It is now disclosed, however, that in the hands of cunning and intelligent leaders the semi-hoboes of the I.W.W. were likely to become a particularly dangerout outfit.

In the old red flag days in Chicago and other eastern cities there was nothing planned by anarchist bands half so fiendishly destructive as the I.W.W. programme of sabotage outlined in the evidence at the trial now in progress at Chicago. The anarchists went after individuals; the I.W.W. crowd included not only humans but animals in their programme of destruction. Burning buildings and crops, and the poisoning of livestosk by the thousands, was but a part of the plot against society.

It will be well if this means the finish of the organization. It has never served any good purpose in the land, and in its train there can be found nothing but trouble and disaster of one sort or another. In some portions of the Canadian west the I.W.W. has shown more or less activity but it has not thrived as well here as in the republic, for the reason that men of the type attracted to it are not numerous in this country. Incidentally, and in view of the disclosures now being made at the Chicago trial, one is remineded of the burning of several country elevators in southern Alberta within the past year. It is not impossible that these mystery fires were due to I.W.W. activity.—Calgary Herald.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

POLISHING UP THE "PADRE"

In the earlier days of the war many temporary army chaplains were sent overseas without military training whatsoever. They did their best, but in their ignorance and helplessness they often made irritating if not actually serious blunders, and were apt to be decidedly in the way.

Today the padre, before he goes to the front, must pass through an eight weeks' course of training at some military centre. A pretty stiff course, too, six to eight hours' work a day being the rule.

Some of the subjects in the padre's military curriculum may strike the layman as incongruous or unnecessary.

Why, for example, should he have to pass in military law? Because he may be called upon to act as "accused's friend" at a court martial, and the padre should, therefore, be acquainted with his duties and rights as such and also with the broad principles of military justice.

Again, why should the padre be instructed in the different kinds of bombs and fuses? As a non-combatant it is not for him to hurl destruction at the enemy. Granted, but the padre may save many lives by knowing how to deal with a "live" but as yet unexploded bomb or how to handle one which may or may not be called a "dud."

Among the more ordinary subjects of the course the student is taught how to salute. This is important because, on first joining, the fledgling captain is apt to salute by scratching either the back of his ear or the tip of his nose. This annoys brigadiers and others in authority and is not conducive to the preservation of good order and military discipline.

The padre undergoes physical training, and he is also taught to ride. Both these exercises do him good, but it is feared that the latter has resulted in the premature and apoplectic demise of more than one riding-school instructor constrained by the reverend character of their charges not to utter the thoughts that arose in them.

The class is taught how to adjust and use gas masks, and are put through the gas chamber. They are instructed in first aid and drilled as stretcher-bearers. Administrative duties within their particular range are explained to them.

They are also practised in open-air speaking, and as one genial cleric put it, "We learn how to bear one another's sermons," for each padre has to preach to the rest of his colleagues who, for the nonce, are assumed to be a soldier congregation.

WAR-TIME CLOTHES

All women engaged in official war work have the problem of what to wear solved for them by their government, as a rule. There are other women who are just as truly engaged in war work but its performance does not remove them from the generality of women. The question of what to wear is, however, a most important one. The great consideration is to secure suitable material, eliminate as much as possible in the way of laundry work that comes under the head of "luxuries" and never for one instant look dowdy or—what some women abhor almost as much — just "serviceable."

Feminity has set its brains to work and there is a general agreement that the one-piece frock is most satisfactory. If one must have blouses the recommendotion is for dark ones with dainty guimpes which can be renewed easily and frequently, suffer comparatively little from their visit to the laundry and always look dainty and fresh. Both time and money are saved by using guimpes. Linen or lawn of good quality is the preferred material. Underwear has likewise been chosen with the same idea in view. Frills are practically banished. All of these points recommend themselves because they emphasize most attractively the two things dear to the womanly woman — dainty belongings for every day and immaculate freshness.

A London tailor is offering a wartime one-piece dress which has many attractive features. The design is patented and all royalties go to the British Red Cross. The frock is "slipover" and by means of a clever combination of collar, stole and belt the fullness is adjusted about the waist and one frock may be made to appear different each time it is worn provided the "harness" as it is called, is made up in various colors or materials.

The same model can be made up for morning, afternoon and evening wear. Canadian women might design and patent a dress, the proceeds to go to the Red Cross.

MUST GUARD ARMY SUPPLIES

During the next four or five months food conservation on this continent and among their own people must be almost the sole hope of the Allied nations in Europe and of friendly neutrals. No effort that can be made by the people of North America can add any considerable amount of food to the available supplies before next fall. Stocks are dangerously depleted, particularly in the case of cereals and meats. The problem is to "stretch" these supplies over the interval until this year's crops are harvested. While preparing for increased production, we must also do our utmost to help our Allies over the next few months, when starvation will be threatening them dangerously.

Official information, much of it confidential, received during the past few days, emphasizes the scarcity of supplies of cereals and meats and the necessity of avoiding at all costs encroachment upon the supplies for the armies. In Great Britain, in France, in Italy, the people are alive to the situation. They know something of what the next few months will mean. Their spirit was expressed by Lord Charles Beresford the other day when he said: "We are tightening our belts and we are going to win."

A recent cable from London stated that the present meat ration in Great Britain is not more than one-half of the amount to which the people have been accustomed. Accompanied as this is by the restrictions on the consumption of bread it cannot but entail physical loss and privation. Canadian too must tighten their belts and help the Allies to win. Use should be made on this continent of every available substitute for wheat, beef and pork. Upon our food service depends the very lives of thousands of women and children in the Allied countries.

"MADAM WHO"

Bessie Barriscale will be the star at the Orpheum theatre for two days commencing Wednesday next, in Monte M. Kattejohn's screen version of Harold MacGrath's sensational mystery story "Madam Who," which created a nation-wide furore among readers of fiction last Fall when it was first published in a popular magazine.

The scenes are laid in the South during the period of the Civil War, but the elements of conflict do not enter into the story which centres around the thrilling adventures of a young Southern girl who, while working in the secret service of the South is captured by a band of eleven masked men, whom she knows to be agents of the enemy, and is forced into marriage with one of them. Throughout the story the identity of the unknown husband remains enshrouded in mystery and is not solved until after a rapid series of soul-stirring incidents, the final climax comes which unites her with the man of her choice.

Critics have been unanimous in proclaiming "Madam Who," which is Miss Barricale's first Paralta Play, as the supreme achievement of her career. It presents this popular young star in a role far different form any in which she has appeared heretofore, a role which while brimful of dramatic incidents of the most thrilling nature, offers her opportunities for displaying a rare hstrionic ability far beyond those of her previous screen achievements.

A BIG CROP IS HOPED FOR

All hopes centre on the 1918 crop of North America. Of all crops the wheat crop is the most vital. The Canadian wheat crop estimates for 1918, issued by the Census and Statistical branch, put the increased wheat area at 1,324,950 acres and 425,600 acres increase in oats. Unofficial estimates from those in close touch with conditions in the west place the increased wheat acreage at over 2,000,000 acres in the Prairie provinces alone. Given rain there will be an immense grain crop in the West, in fact increased grain crops throughout the Dominion. The only anxiety then will be as to harvest. Where are the men to come from? Some will come from the United States, no doubt, because their harvest operations are over earlier than ours, but it is said that 50,000 men will be needed in the West alone. People of towns will have to organize their affairs so as to get out on the farms when the time comes. Otherwise the harvest will be only partially saved and every grain of foodstuffs will be wanted. The acreage in Canada is the highest ever recorded.

BRITISH WOMEN IN WAR WORK

According to official announcement there are, at the present time, 4,538,000 women and girls employed in classified trades that are under the jurisdiction of the British Board of Trade. These figures are exclusive of women employed in small trades and on the land. Domestic servants are also excluded. All hospital helpers, Red Cross and other nurses are not counted. Taking all classes of British war workers the total is considerably over 5,000,000.

Less than 200,000 women were employed in Great Britain before the war began and these were mostly in textile mills. The report for 1917 gives 198,000 in government offices exclusive of civil service and local government. The latter two employed 146,000. Munition workers numbered over 800,000; workers in chemical and engineering plants, 200,000; land workers, 100,000 (with additional 30,000 called for this summer) and thousands as mechanics, motor drivers, ambulance drivers, street car and omnibus operators, cab drivers, every sort of railway work, letter carriers, bank clerks and office workers of every kind. Recruiting goes on steadily in all these lines and the response has been to the tune of 15,000 a week.

The spirit of these women is wonderful. Difficult work and dangerous work is not shunned but taken up cheerfully. Extra hours are taken as a matter of course. "We're not tired!" is their motto and when holidays are mentioned the reply is: "What will our men at the front do if we go holiday making?" Girls who never tied their own shoes nor stuck to anything continuously for thirty minuates, work contentedly through a long day for weeks and months side by side with their former maids or women from the fields.

Skilled workmen have been glad to teach these brave and plucky women the secrets of trade efficiency. Excavating for factories, actually laying the bricks and doing the carpentering is being done every day in order to release men for the front.

"Farmerettes" is a name which carries a pleasant suggestion of picturesque employments but too often it stands for such unlovely tasks as cleaning pigsties or such nerve-racking work as tending horses when one is actually afraid of the creatures. "Make the most of yourself and be worthy of the trust that has been placed in you," was the British government's advice to applicants for service in the Women's Land Army. Not one of the more than 5,000,000 women engaged in war work has failed to heed the message.

WONDERFUL STUFF!
LIFT OUT YOUR CORNS

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers—no pain.

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This drug freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. If your druggist don't have freezone have him order it for you.

Every Farmer Needs a Ford

THE Motor Car is a greater convenience to the average farmer than the telephone, the rural mail or even the grain binder.

The binder which is considered as a very useful implement is rarely used more than a few days during the entire year. The rest of the time it stands idle, taking up space, while the automobile is available for use throughout all seasons, and both day and night.

It is ever ready to run down the lane to the back field or the pasture with a parcel or a message, or take you and your family to town for shopping purposes—or on an errand to the neighbors.

The motor car is called upon whenever anything is wanted in a hurry. It is the most useful implement or convenience for the farm. It helps you conserve your energies and time for productive work and enables you and your family to accomplish more with less energy. You surely feel the need of a Ford. Why not order one today?

A MAN ABOVE PRICE

Dr. Grenfell's wonderful work of love and sacrifice on the bleak and barren coast of Labrador is one of the bright chapters of real life outfictioning fiction, where a real man is giving up his life for others. Physician, philanthropist, missionary, and frend, Dr. Grenfell is an angel of mercy among the humble fishermen and simple Eskimo to whom he has brought healing and hope. A man prominent in Canadian public life said recently: "There is only one inconvenient thing about Dr. Grenfell — after you have talked with him it is impossible to do a mean action for at least a week." The Labrador medicalical missionary work is one of the finest examples of unselfish devotion to Christian ideals to be found outside the covers of a book. All honor to Dr. Grenfell and may he never lack for finances to provide hospitals and medicine for the simple fisher folk from Devon and the shires of England who make their homes on this forbidden coast and depend altogether upon the run of fish for a livelihood.

NEW TYPE OF VESSEL

The first electrically propelled merchant ship ever built in England and the largest electric vessel in the world is now undergoing its finishing touches at a British shipyard, and will soon start on its first voyage. The vessel is designed on a system in which a combination of steam and electricity is employed. The importance of this type of vessel under present conditions is its decreased coal consumption and larger cargo space.

GREAT FAMINE MAY HAPPEN IN RUSSIA

Bolsheviki doctrines have brought Russia down from one of the greatest food producing countries on the globe to a condition of starvation. Druk with liberty, which they did not understand, filled with idealistic notions about the equality of man, and lacking individual initiative, production in Russa has practically ceased, according to the evidences reaching the outside world. Transportation and distribution is so disorganized that even were the peasants of the land producing their usual amount of foodstuffs, the people in the manufacturing population would still be without the necessary food supplies to sustain them in safety and comfort. Unless the people of Russia steady down and organize themselves or allow other authorities to organize them, there is the possibility of one of the most stupendous disasters to a nation and a great people that ever occurred in history. Without authority for whom they have fear and respect the Russian peasant seems to be without motive or initiative. We read of peasants in their anger against the property holding class of the late aristocratic regime, destroying not only the personal effects of the nobility and the owning class, but the very crops which they had themselves under the former social organization produced for the nation at large. In their reaction against property owning they have destroyed the goose that laid the golden eggs. We read of peasants in certain villages havin ggone to such extremes as to seize the cattle of the local land owner, now deposed, flay them alive and then turn them loose. Without the old motive of compulsion to cultivate the land for the land owner, now that the land has reverted to the peasants and they themselves are the owners, they have neglected to work and to produce the necessaries of life. To such a pass is the nation drifting that recent dispatches have reported that the so-colled government of present-day Russia is sending plenopetentiaries to China, the formerly despised and so-called decadent neighbor to the east, to make arrangements for provisions to tide them over next winter. It is difficult to imagine China one of the most densely populated areas in the world, living largely on rice and very meagre fare, having sufficient surplus to feed 150,000,000 people in starving Russia.

Bolshevism is sometimes quoted in this country as an ideal, worthy of imitation. The pass to which Russia has drifted is a warning that Bolshevism and insanity are not very far apart. The nation that will weather the storm of this war the best is the nation that organizes most efficiently and disciplines itself most strictly. Production must be carried on to a limit of our power. Destructive criticism and petty fault-finding are weaknesses and dangers. Unity of purpose and constituted leadership is essential. It is a case of a strong pull, a long pull and a pull all together. Men must be found for the army, for munition making and for food production. Non-essential industries must provide men for essential industries. Women in this country must take the places of men to the limit of their power when called upon. Farmers must recognize the necessities of war and the public in general must unite to save the harvest of 1918.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

If in Elko you are dwelling, just remember there's stores selling the things that you are needing every day. It's on you they are depending, so there is no use in sending for them to stores in the cities far away. It's really a pity if you deal outside your city, when you're getting all the getting that is good. So take this humble warning and start out in the morning to help along your city as you should.

Some of the visitors to Elko last week were Mr. and Mrs. Reineckie of Claresholm. Mr. Reineckie is interested in the Downs Lumber Co., Roosville valley. Mrs. Wilson of Revelstoke C.P.R. dining hall, who is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wildman. Mr. and Mrs. Gallop and son, of Claresholm, late of Galloway, visiting friends. A rubber traveller from Lethbridge who had been reading some Elko fish stories, arrived with a regular camp outfit and a pair of ice tongs, grab hooks and a fine saw for cutting fish bait. A drug traveller from Toronto with all kinds of puffs and powders, patent medicines and cures for woodtick, watermelons and mosquito bites, but a salesman to the last drawing plaster and a gentleman. A shoe traveller from Cow-Hide avenue, Vancouver, with fleece lined slippers and manufactured leather souvenirs for the feet in all sizes with a large assortment of strings for same, whistling the old tune the cow died on. Several well filled automobiles from Kalispell visiting the Elk Canyon and Falls. Messrs. Sherlock, Booth and Jenkins of the Alberta meat trust, with two-eyed beefsteak, boneless sausage, overland trout, commonly called pork, bone novelties, squeaks for canned music and other garden truck. Bert Sang of beautiful Baynes. The head barber for a Calgary automobile firm, shaves curbstones, telephone poles and baby carriages, as a hair tonic he must be a wonder, as he must raised twenty heads a day by flying past them so close that their owners' coat buttons scratch the paint off the sides of the car. Mr. Adamson, chief electrician of the Kootenay Telephone Co., said that he would be going so fast some day that he would be meeting himself combing back. Jim Thistlebeak said that he should call his car the Amsterdam. After he passed Jim at close quarters he called it entirely by the last syllable.

Mary had a little car, it ran by gasoline, and everywhere that Mary went that auto could be seen. One day the auto struck a tree; it behaved in manner shocking, and Mary went up in the air and showed her striped Fell Hat.

Mr. Ginther of Medicine Hat, is spending a few days fishing at Roock Creek.

A. I. Fisher, M.P.P., with Supt. of Roads McDonald, were looking over the danger spots on the Fernie-Elko automobile game trail.

Milt Kastner, Eng. Foulkner and Harvey Brown, with their wives and sweethearts were picknicking at the Falls while the dew drops were falling.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Hirtz, manager Roo's store, Elko, spent several days in Cranbrook last week, the guests of Mrs. Jack Ingham.

Miss E. May Roo, official stenographer for Jim Thistlebeak, is the guest of Miss E. B. Paterson of the Kootenay Orchards, Cranbrook, this week.

Who was responsible for the nice warm growing rain we had in Elko last Sunday. Not the Union government nor Jack Wallace of the Fernie Free Press, but the well regulated almanacs. There will be rain somewhere and snow somewhere else. If it hadn't rained it would have been dry, but it was just what Elko wanted and Elko got it. The rain fell but the price of bacon still goes up, as Jim Thistlebeak says honesty makes the best poverty. Always eat beef with your mustard. The way to get rich is simply to resist being a fool, for the fool spends more than he earns, like the girl in Cranbrook who had two cows, milked one and turned the other out to pasture.

Bands of Indians are passing through Elko on their way to the Toobacco Plains, where they will hold a six days celebration commencing on July 1. It will be the largest gathering of Indians ever held on Tobacco Plans. Each day there will be a dress parade that will be worth going miles to see and Indian sports of all kinds.

Jim Thistlebeak says you can holler about a white B.C. but the burning question while watching the alien enemies grab every dollar in the country is how to live on nothing until something turns up.

It pays to advertise. Customers are the stuff on which business thrives. Get the customers. If you are not getting them you're not advertising right. See the editor of this paper at once. He'll show you how. It's a long way to Berlin but we'll get there just the same. Study the art of smiling, be it ever so homely there is no face like your own.

A BOOMERANG

The recent political crisis in Great Britain revealed the fact that a syndicated campaign against Lloyd George was being carred on in the provincial press on a purely commercial basis. Articles attacking the Premier, were prepared at a central office, and were inserted — and paid for at advertising rates—in newspapers that were prepared to take the money. The enterprise was in charge of Sir Hedley Lebas, the advertising specialist who planned and carried out the great publicity campaign which seconded Kitchener's efforts to raise a vast volunteer army. Lebas had intimate relations with the former Asquith government; and his activities strengthen the suspicion that political ambition had something to do with the recent parliamentary developments. The revelation of this illicit press campaign has reacted against those responsible for it. British public opinion—ever strong for fair play—regarded it as a stab in the back and resented it. "It is safe to say," says a cable correspondent, "that it will be impossible for anybody for a long time to come to place any such article, at any price he may be prepared to pay, in any English newspaper, however humble."

BROUGHT HOME THE BACON

Two weeks ago, Mr. Mackie, Managing Director of the Hillcrest Company, in a moment of enthusiasm, issued a challenge to Fernie to compete in the forthcoming golf tournament at Hillcrest. Mr. W. R. Wilson promptly said, "You're on" and took Fernie's cracks to Hillcrest to put a stop to general and promiscuous defies for the future. A. Watson of the Home Bank did it. In a game that bids fair to put Fernie definately on the golfing map, he brought home the mustard in the shape of a dozen golf balls, which Mr. Mackie presented after the match in a characteristic speech.

We hope this is the first of a series of golf matches between the pass towns and Fernie. There is an opportunity for the development of the game, and the spirit of healthy rivalry is the best way to do it. As soon as our golf course is completed, and we hope that will be soon, we extend to Hillcrest a cordial invitation to come and square things up.

FERNIE BOY IN GERMANY

Mr. Thomas Uphill is in receipt of the following letter from F. Mitchard who has been a prisoner in Germany for a long time:-

"You will see by the address that I am interned in Holland, and thank God I have at last got away from the land of dog sausage and mangolls. We arrived here on the 19th of March, but did not get our permanent address, until a few days ago, since then I have been a pretty busy man, writing letters and cards. We had a good reception on arriving here, and were received by the Queen of Holland and King George's representative and some other notables. I was among the first party of Canadians that arrived and we received special mention etc. in the speeches that were given. I can tell you I had, during my captivity, some damned bad times, and lots of experiences impossible to mention in aletter. I had a Court-martial charged with rushing a German, and a corporal of the 7th Canadians for striking him. I got the witnesses against me, contradicting each other's statements, with a little cross-examination, but the other chap got 18 months cells, and I was liberated, or so to speak more correct, got put back in the bird cage, they call a prison camp. He is not exchanged owing to this, and I must call myself lucky, not getting a year or two. We were tried on Dec. 11th 1917. The last time I saw Bert Sawyers he was in dark cells in Giessen, early in 1916. I have been trying since arriving here to get Bert exchanged as sick, and I am living in great hopes that it may come off in a month or two. The place I stopped in my first few days here, was a big hotel on the sea front. There is a beautiful sea front and sands and prom and a nice pier there. Since then we were shifted down to prvate houses where we are now billeted. The sands are at Scheveningen, about 20 minutes walk from here, and a fine old city. The Hague is also about 20 minutes walk from here. Both towns are connected with tram lines, which run past the end of our street. The only thing wrong is that everything is so dear and the authorities won't let us have very much money. Food is also rationed here, one half bread a day per head and its impossible to buy bread or tea or cake. But still liberty is everything after being penned up like sheep for three years. I am afraid many of the lads I took to dinner with me Xmas Day 1914, we shall not see again; A. Lockyear, Wallace and Bonny. This is certainly some war, but there are a few more of those square heads I should love to kill, some that I've had a few knocks from, when I was powerless to defend myself. Bob Stewart is here, a great pal of Kie Bryant's, and we would like his address that we may write to him, so please send me a long letter with all the news and send his address as quickly as possible. Tell the wife to make up that cake and send it along now, as this sea air is bringing back my appetite lovely. The doctor told me my heart was very bad; the effects of the gas, as I had a pretty good load of it when I was captured. He said I had not to do any work or route marches, so I'll have to spend the time on the sands teaching some little Holland girl English. Must close now with best wishes to yourself and wife.

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati authority tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone cost very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Military Service Act, 1917.

Men 19 and 20 Years of Age.
Harvest Leave.
Leave of Absence on Ground of Extreme Hardship.
Procedure to obtain Leave cf Absence.

Men Nineteen and Twenty Years of Age.

It has come to the attention of the Government that there is a widespread impression that young men of nineteen years, and those who became twenty since October 13, 1917, as well as those who may become nineteen from time to time and who have been or will be called upon to register under the Military Service Act, are to be immediately called to the colours.

This impression is quite incorrect. No date has yet been fixed for calling upon such men to so report for duty, nor has the question been brought before the Cabinet for decision. In view of the need of labour on the farm, it is most unlikely that consideration will be given to the matter until after the harvest is over, although of course the Government's action must be determined primarily by the military situation.

There is no further obligation incumbent upon young men of the ages above mentioned who have registered or who do so hereafter, until they receive notice from the Registrars.

Harvest Leave.

Some enquiries have been received as to the possibility of granting harvest leave to such troops as may be in the country at that time. No definite assurance can be given on this point as advantage must be taken of ships as they become available. On the other hand, harvest leave will be given if at all possible.

Leave of Absence on Grounds of Extreme Hardship.

It is desired that the Regulations respecting leave of absence in cases of hardship should be widely known and fully understood. Such leave will be granted in two cases:— (a) where extreme hardship arises by reason of the fact that the man concerned is either the only son capable of earning a livelihood, of a father killed or disabled on service or presently in service overseas, or in training for such service, or under treatment after returning from overseas; or the only remaining of two or more brothers capable of earning a livelihood (the other brother or brothers having been killed or disabled on service, or being presently in service overseas, or in training for overseas or under treatment after his or their return from overseas); brothers married before 4th August, 1914, living in separate establishments and having a child or children not to be counted, in determining the fact that the man is the "only" remaining son or brother; (b) where extreme hardship arises by reason of exceptional circumstances such as the fact that the man concerned is the sole support of a widowed mother, an invalid father or other helpless dependents.

It is to be noted that in all these cases the governing factor is not hardship, loss or suffering to the individual concerned, but to others, that is, members of his family or those depending upon him.

Procedure to obtain leave of absence.

A simple system for dealing with these cases has been adopted. Forms of application have been supplied to every Depot Battalion and an officer of each battalion has been detailed whose duty it is to give them immediate attention. The man concerned should on reporting to his unit state that he desires to apply for leave of absence on one or more of the grounds mentioned and his application form will then be filled out and forwarded to Militia Headquarters, Ottawa. In the meantime, if the case appears meritorious, the man will be given provisional leave of absence for thirty days so that he may return home and continue his civil occupation while his case is being finally disposed of.

WRIGLEY'S

HOME BANK CLOSES MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

M. J. Haney, President, Makes Strong Plea for a United Canada. General Manager Mason Draws Attention to Marked Progress Made by Bank During the Past Two Years.

Steady progress and expansion is reported by the Home Bank of Canada in its statement for the fiscal year, ending May 31st.

Under conservative and energetic direction the Home Bank has been forging ahead and improving its financial position.

Right along the management has carried out a number of thrift campaigns and these have resulted in a very considerable increase in the number of savings accounts at the various branches.

With its larger resources the Bank, in turn, has been able to handle a larger amount of general business thruout the country.

One of the outstanding features of the report is the gain of almost $3,000,000 in total deposits. During the Victory Loan Campaign the Bank lent every assistance to customers and depositors, with the result that there were withdrawals by depositors for investment in Victory Bonds of close to $2,000,000. If this campaign had not developed the increase in deposits for the twelve months period would have been close to $5,000,000.

The marked gains made by the Home Bank during the few years must be regarded as the best indication of the further strides it is likely to make with its organization strengthened in different parts of the country.

The total assets have increased almost $3,000,000 and now stand at $23,675,773 compared with $20,745,829 a year ago. Of this amount liquid assets amount to $11,073,182. Holdings of Dominion Notes amount to $3,129,010, Canadian municipal and British, foreign and colonial public securities amount to $2,727,332 as compared with $1,211,450 last year.

The success of the thrift campaigns carried out by the Bank has steadily resulted in gains in savings deposits, these now standing at $11,539,486 up from $10,243,553, while deposits not bearing interest now stand at $4,143,264 up from $2,396,865.

The annual meeting of the Bank was held at the Head Office, and brought together a large number of shareholders.

Mr. M. J. Haney, the President, in a short address to shareholders, drew attention to the more important problems that Canada had to solve. He made a strong plea for a united Canada, and showed that this should result from absolute co-ordination between the farmer, the financier and the manufacturer.

General Manager Mason, referring to the affairs of the Bank, stated that the actual cash position was the strongest the Bank had ever occupied. A most satisfactory development was the steady increase in deposits, and the increase in them during the past three years had amounted to as much as 64 per cent.

Mr. Haney, discussing Canada's problems, said in part:

"A great responsibility rests upon our industrial organization for the development of our natural resources of forest and mine. Activities in this direction must do more than meet present necessities. Not only must the demands for home consumption be filled, but plans should now be laid for the period of reconstruction that will follow, in every country, the close of this destructive war. It is now that our manufacturers should be preparing for business after the war—to increase our trade with other countries, and stabilize our trade balance by manufacturing the highest products from our abundant natural resources. The success of our three Transcontinental Railways in Canada depends on the rapid development of our national resources by the most practical and vigorous methods.

"Our slogan should be first a UNITED CANADA—the fullest development of all our natural resources with absolute co-ordination between the financier, the farmer, the fisherman, the miner, the lumberman, the manufacturer, and the transportation system, to provide the necessary Capital, Labor, Energy and Management for War requirements, to the extent of our ability, and place this country in a position to meet its obligations during and after the war."

PROGRESS MADE DURING PAST FEW YEARS

General Manager Mason, referring to the progress made by the Bank said:-

"The Thirteenth Annual Report of the Bank shows it to be in a strong liquid position. Our actual cash position is the strongest we have ever occupied, and our liquid assets represent 52.10 per cent of our total liabilities to the public. Notwithstandng the heavy withdrawals for investment in Government and attractive securities, a very substantial increase is shown in the deposits. Our deposits by the public, exclusive of deposits and balances due to the Dominion Government, amount to $15,680,000 an increase of over six million dollars, or 64.12 per cent in the past three years. The net earnings for the year were larger than last year, being about 10.18 per cent of the Paid-Up Capital and Rest.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The Board of Directors and Officials were elected as follows: Brig.-Gen., The Hon. James Mason, Hon.-President, Toronto; M.J. Haney, C.E. President, Toronto; R. P. Gough, Vice-President, Toronto; H. T. Daly, Toronto; John Kennedy, Swan River, Man.; A. Claude Macdonnell, M.P. Toronto; C. A. Barnard, K.C., Montreal; J. Ambrose O'Brien, Ottawa; S. Casey Wood Toronto; General Manager, J. ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Do it now. Everybody's doing it. Front and back yard gardening. Do your bit. Self-denials and sufferings for the boys over yonder bring large returns and do much to keep up the proper neighborly spirit.

English papers claim that Germany's population has decreased 5,000,000 since the war began and Jim Thistlebeak says that it will be 10,000,000 when your Uncle Samuel gets through with the hounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Venables, Mrs. Ratcliffe and Mss Reed of Fernie, came down to Elko last week via the G.N., and were the guests of the imitable and ever refreshing Mr. Edward Mills of the Botanical Gardens, Fernie, to a motor trip to Cranbrook and return.

The United States Government reports indicate a billion bushel wheat crop alone, besides other cereals. Please pass the roast duck and green peas. Eat drink and be merry, for tomorrow the good things may be scarce.

Ed Neldreth of the South Fork Orchards, had the first strawberries on the Elko market this year and sold like hot cakes.

Jim Thistlebeak says that short skirts are now all the style and that its a man's own fault if he marries a girl with bow legs.

Mr. and Mrs. Finley Robson and son of Cranbrook, motored to Elko last week visiting the falls and the Elk canyon.

Mrs. George Schupe and two daughters arrived from Vancouver to join her husband, and have taken up their residence at McCrae cottage, Court street.

About 25 (Tenas Skoo-kum tum-tum) Italian braves passed through Elko for the coast Sunday morning to join the colors, in charge of Provost Sergeant Piccolo Tomato.

Mr. John Stenhouse of the Merchant's bank, Lethbridge, Alberta, and a party of capitalists motored to Elko Saturday for the week-end. When in Elko with the Merchant's bank, Mr. Stenhouse was one of the greatest boosters on the Elko board of trade, and as square a bit of furniture as ever was turned out of a box factory.

If you're touched by a friend that is flat,
And who'll pay the day after or swallow his hat,
Its camouflage. (Fuller Prunes)

Mayor and Mrs. C. A. Clingensmith motored to Cranbrook last week. Charlie visited the Government buildings, and returned a much (financially) weaker but wiser man, and stated at a meeting in the mining exchange that the present Government will succumb to heart failure in the very near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Downs and family of Downsville, Roosville Valley motored to Fernie last week. Mr. Downs closed down his mill for a few weeks on account of the shortage of labor, and to enable him to put on all the force he could to hauling and shipping lumber.

Roy Fredericks of Koch's Siding, who several years ago was mill foreman at the North Star, Elko, was visiting yith Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Carter this week.

Jim Thistlebeak says if you are looking for something for nothing, the streams surrounding the old historic burg have running water, help yourself.

W. LeRoy Cotterill, a young mining man of Elko left last week to join the colors, and was the guest at the south fork orchards, (the brewers), to a very smart social and dance, and the recipient of many useful presents from the invited guests. Roy left on the south bound flier to report at Libby, Montana.

Jim Thistlebeak is on the Tobacco Plains Indian reserve this week writing up the big Indian celebration. Milt Kastner is down writing up insurance on some of the Hudson Bay blankets.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone-calf accompanied by Miss Amelia-Son-of-a-gun, passed through Elko from the Piegan Reserve for the big doings on the Tobacco Plains. Both ladies are as popular as a pink fashion sheet, while Stone-calf claims blue blood but was a little short of the long green at this season of the year.

There were a few travellers in this week after the holidays. One fellow who was making his first call. Motor broke down, missed the main trail and took a game trail first time in the mountains, got assistance from a rancher and came into town sitting on the ridge pole of a wild cayuse, Tod Sloan fashion that is, he had his knees stuck up so high he could rest his hands on them and allow his hands to hang down. He was handling specialties for a Winnipeg house, such as stem winding mouse traps, patent clothes wringers, mop sticks, self-acting clothes lines, front and back combs for beehives, carpet tacks, grindstones, barbwire and matchless, automatic fire kindlers, looking as if he had lost the best friend on earth, asked if these mountain peaks were liable to break off and tumble down into town.

A college professor from one of the eastern colleges came for two months vacation and left for the Roosville Valley, where he will spend his time chasing humming birds, butterflies, chicken hawks and rainbows. On the advise of Jim Thistlebeak he bought a pair of snowshoes so he could cross the alfalfa meadows without getting his feet wet.

Dozens of well filled automobiles going down to the Indian pow-wow. About 150 people came down from Fernie and Coal Creek on the C.P.R. regular train and picniced at the canyon and falls, and had a glorious time.

Messrs. Colin Sinclair and Willie Gorrie, two of Roosville Valley's popular young ranchers are taking a motor pleasure trip to Calgary to the fair.

JUNE CAPRICE AT ORPHEUM FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

The cast promises to be one of the strongest parts of this picture. Harry Hilliard will play opposite Miss Caprice. Kittens Reichert, who has won a host of lovers by her work in many Fox films, notably as Pearl in "The Scarlet Letter," appears as Miss Caprice's little seven-year-old friend. Margaret Fielding plays June's rival and Dan Mason, that master character man of several Fox plays appears in a role which is a rare mixture of comedy and villany. Marcia Harris plays the foster-mother.

The story of "Every Girl's Dream" is laid in Holland. June Caprice as Gretchen, a foster child, loves Carl a woddcutter. Hulda is jealous and tries to steal him from Gretchen.

Mynheer de Haas, the town capitalist, a withered old man yants to marry Gretchen, but she puts him off despite the urging of her foster mother on whose house Mynheer holds a mortgage.

One day Carl is kidnapped. The next day royal messengers appear in town and order all the foster damsels to search their belongings for a certain locket. The owner is a lost princess.

Hulda seeks in vain, but fnds the jewel in Gretchen's trunk and steals it. She is placed on a throne to met her prince. An old man comes from the coach. Thinking he's the prince Hulda flees and confesses she stole the gem from Gretchen.

Gretchen is then enthroned and the old man announces the prince. He is Carl. While the people celebrate Gretchen's fortune a courier arrives with the news of the king's death, making Carl king.

"Every Girl's Dream" was directed by Harry Millarde, a new member of the Fox organization.

Every Farmer Needs a Ford

THE Motor Car is a greater convenience to the average farmer than the telephone, the rural mail or even the grain binder.

The binder which is considered as a very useful implement is rarely used more than a few days during the entire year. The rest of the time it stands idle, taking up space, while the automobile is available for use throughout all seasons, and both day and night.

It is ever ready to run down the lane to the back field or the pasture with a parcel or a message, or take you and your family to town for shopping purposes—or on an errand to the neighbors.

The motor car is called upon whenever anything is wanted in a hurry. It is the most useful implement or convenience for the farm. ORPHEUM

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

SOUR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach sweetener in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

DUNLOP TIRES

Two Questions

With so many low-priced so-called anti-skids obtainable, would that great host of motorists pay more for Dunlop "Traction" Tread if they could get its merits elsewhere?

Also, would that other large list of car owners buy "SPECIAL" if tires which somewhat resemble it in appearance resembled it in efficiency?

WOMAN GETS AFTER ALD. BILL

The council foregathered in toto last evening upon occasion of the first regular meeting for the month. At the opening of the meeting Mrs. Hilton, former custodian of the Hesketh children, appeared and asked permission to submit her side of the matter in view of the publicity given the transaction between herself and Ald. Jackson, relative to the custody of these children. Mrs. Hilton reviewed the reported statements made at the previous meeting, denying very emphatically many of the assertions byAld . Jackson. The terminology "hold-up" as applied with regard to the remuneration alleged to have been demanded by Mrs. Hilton, she contended was particularly objectionable and a malicious misrepresentation of the actual facts. What she had to say about Ald. Bill's statements regarding the matter certainly had the effect of causing the healthy coat of Oliver government tan which that gentleman now wears to approach a scarlet hue. Some of the particular thrusts were with regard to remarks Ald. Jackson is alleged to have made to this injured party as to the subtle methods of having the medical health officer "canned," which term, by the way, at the time it was uttered was unintelligible but later assumed to mean "corned." Also in connection with the negotiations Ald. Bill was credited with having made the statement when reference had been made to the mayor "that the mayor had to do what he was told." It was also intimated that Ald. Bill's "canning" process would have extended to some of those present at the meeting if he had that power. Dealing with the statements at the former meeting when the understanding was gained that it was not only the sum of $80 for boarding the children that was expected but in addition the amount equivalent to that paid the former custodian, Mrs. Hilton most emphatically denied that she had ever voiced such a suggestion, stating that the two amounts had never been mentioned. The monologue continued along generalities, and it sure was a monologue because none of the councillors seemed possessed of the ability or desire to intervene up to this juncture. Finally, however, Ald. Bill recovered his respiration sufficiently to discuss the negotiations leading up to and including the temporary arrangement for the guardianship of the children at $100 per month, an increase of $20 over the original arrangement, until he could have same brought before the council and sanctioned or otherwise by them. To this Mrs. Hilton replied in effect that Ald. Bill had made no such statement regarding approval by the council and that he had decidedly stated there was no necessity for "him" to refer it, that "he" was looking after the children. After a lengthy dialogue between Mrs. Hilton and Ald. Bill amounting to "you said this" and "I didn't," and I said this" and "you didn't," aimless as far as reconciliation was concerned, His Worship intervened by asking Mrs. Hilton to kindly specify what she was desirous of procuring from the council, and it was stated she considered that she felt she was at least entitled to an apology from Ald. Jackson for having misrepresented her and injuring her reputation by the inference as regards "hold-up." The mayor said that was a matter which laid entirely with Ald. Jackson and not one which the council could or would be able even to suggest. He, however, gave Mrs. Hilton to understand that from the statements made formerly that he at least, and he believed all the aldermen, had received the impression that the demand for keeping the children had been $80 plus the $75 paid Mrs. Bebb. The denial as to this was reiterated as never having been entertained and was ridiculous, and further in support of the request for an apology the complainant strongy objected to being injured in this manner by "a man who was well known to be a good liar," and again asked for an expression as to whether it was now believed that Ald. Jackson's statements were false or made under a misapprehension. The matter was concluded for the time being by Mrs. Hilton retiring with the request that she only expected to receive equally fair treatment as to her story of the transaction as had been the case when Ald. Jackson had made his report.

A deputation consisting of Wm. Lancaster, F. Brindley, Andrew Lees and R. Winnett then waited upon the council and submitted for its endorsation the resolution passed at a meeting of residents of the outside subdivisons last Sunday, whch emboded therein "as a protest against the treatment in connection with river bank protection by the present provincial administration" that the present member, A. I. Fisher, resign his seat in the legislature. Some considerable discussion ensued in this connection, in which practically all the councillors and the members of the deputation participated. In answer to the question as to what position Mr. Fisher himsef took in this connection it was admitted that up to the present this was unknown, but that it had been on the strength of Mr. Fisher's address before the West Fernie meeting that his resignation as a protest against the attitude taken by members of he government to his repeated requests for assistance was based. It was pointed out by various members of the council that they had taken this matter up time and time again with the government and had had practically all the higher officials from the Minister of Public Works down, right here on the ground and the conditions presented to them exactly as they were. The existing element of danger was pointed out and it was shown this very year where the damage was likely to occur when the high water season came. The repairs and work done by the city had resulted in failures and so long as the government continued to let matters remain as they are, any money expended by the city was absolute waste unless the protection work which morally the government were obliged to undertake was done.

To none of the council, however, was it apparent that by Mr. Fisher tendering his resignation would the menace be alleviated, although they were unanimous that anything but fair treatment had been meted out to the residents of the community by the government in this respect, and all were anxious to endorse anything that might strengthen the position of the residents here and possiby result in bringing pressure to bear upon those who had it within their power to accomplish what is not only desired but a vitally urgent necessity. As to this Ald. Jackson would go as far as to endorse a recommendation for the resignation of the whole government if he thought by that means some relief could be attained. The matter was left in abeyance temporarily and later the folowing motion, moved by Ad. Dicken and seconded by Ald. Jackson, was carried:

That in reference to the request made from West Fernie and Annex in resolution regarding river protection, in asking our sitting member to resign as a protest against the action of the government, that as a council we have done all in our power to induce the government to protect the river bank and bridges, therefore we cannot endorse above resolution but would be wiling to support a petition seeking government action during this fall to do the necessary work to protect property and land against danger from the flooding of the river.

A request, supported by a delegation, was received from the city works department employees for an eight hours day, a reduction of one hour on the present working schedule. Subsequently this matter was gone into at length and finally decided by the folowing motion by Beck-Dudley: That the rate of $3.50 for day labor be increased to $3.75 per day, but that a nine-hour day still be retained, same to become effective immediately.

With regard to the matter of thistles and the exceptionally fine crop this year, it was moved and seconded that the city clerk communicate with the provincial authorities to have the Noxious Weeds Act enforced in this locality by the government.

The Secretary of the Women's Auxlliary to the War Veterans Association communicated to the council that if advised as to requirements of clothing for the Hesketh children some assistance would be forthcoming. The city clerk was instructed to reply that the council were thankful to receive the offer and accept same.

With regard to the city sending a delegate to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention to be held in Penticton in September, it was practically sure that the city would be represented but the matter of appointing the delegate was tabled until a later date.

The city engineer's report was to the effect that the catch basin drain had been cleaned out for 180 feet; also certain old watercourses. Three blocks of city streets have been repaired and rolled; one block ploughed and the brush removed. The rock crusher is again set up for business at the old stand. The new disinfect-

KILLED BY FALLING ROOF

About 6.30 last Monday morning James Will, employed in No. 1 South mine, Coal Creek, while engaged with two other men in cleaning up a cave-in in the main entry, and in the presence of Fireboss J. Strachan, was instantly killed when another fall of coal and rock of much greater volume descended upon him. This latter cave came from within eight feet oof where the original cave occurred. Coroner Thomson as soon as notified of the accident and the body was recovered, issued a precept for the empanelling of a jury. The following were thereupon regularly chosen: J. W. Robertson, foreman; A. W. Greenwood, J. P. Graves, C. W. B. Barrett, William Barton and Edmund Marsham.

This occurred on Monday and early Tuesday morning, H. Martin, Secretary of Gladstone Local Union, after having become acquainted with the names of those appointed on the coroner's jury, forwarded the following wire to the Minister of Mines, Victoria: "Man killed One Mine South; jury appointed, not one of which understand first thing about mine. Strongly object to personnel. Will not stand for it. Please stop inquest at once; peculiar circumstances." This caused some commotion among the authorities at the coast as evidenced by telegraphic communication received from the Deputy Attorney General instructing the provincial police to investigate and advise. The cause for misapprehension originated in the two portions of the telegram to the Minister of Mines reading "Will not stand for it" and "peculiar circumstances." The investigation, however, elicited that the construction on the phraseology was not to be made that an industrial dispute might arise and that there was no objection to any of the jurors individually. According this was reported to Victoria with the recommendation that no change be made.

Coroner Thomson convened the inquest in the evening and proceeded in the regular manner as he had had no intimation officially as to suspending the proceedings. Thos. Biggs, President of District 18, and Wm. Hunter, President of Gladstone local union,, however, immediately lodged verbal objections to the personnel of the jury considering there had been discrimination in the appointments as there were alleged to be none on the jury who had any practical or technical knowledge of mining. After hearing the arguments in support of this objection from the above gentlemen, the Coroner over-ruled the objection, stating that he could see nothing to prejudice the miners' case by allowing the original jury to sit. The inquest continued and a number of witnesses testified as to the actual occurrences immediately prior and at the time of the accdent. After all the evdence had been heard the following verdict was returned:

The said James Will met his death on the morning of July 8th, 1918, at about the hour of 6.30 in No. 1 South Mine, Coal Creek, B.C., caused by a cave-in of coal and rock; and from the evidence all precaution had been taken; death being accidental.

A KHAKI WEDDING

A very pretty and interesting wedding took place on Saturday, June 8 at Chatsworth Road Baptist Church, West Norwood, the services being conducted by the Rev. W. Stott.

The contracting parties were Pte. William W. Crowcroft (and Canadians), only surviving son of the late Mr. Walter Crowcroft, of Rotherham, Yorkshire, and Mrs. George Wilson, of Fernie, B. C., Canada and Miss Gwendoline Mabel Rickards, of 24 Idmiston road, West Norwood.

The bride who was given away by her father, was charmingly attired in a gown of white silk crepe and georgette, embroidered in silver, the veil being lent by her aunt. She carried a shower boquet of white roses and carnations and wore a gold bracelet, the gift of the bridegrom. She was attended by one bridesmaid, Miss Gladys Rickards (her only sister), who wore a dress of pale mauve crepe Alerandria with a black lace hat, and carried a boquet of pale mauve and pink sweet peas, and wore a gold bangle, the gift of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom, who was wounded at Lens, is now in a convalescent camp at Seaford. Lance-Corporal C. C. Cassell (also of Canada) acted as best man.

There were many relatives and friends present, including the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Mr. Tom Chippendale, of the 1st Canadian Pioneers.

Later in the day the happy pair left for Hove, where a short honeymoon will be spent. The bride's travelling dress was of fawn gabardine, handsomely embroidered in pink and gold, with hat to match.

The presents were handsome and numerous.—The Norwood Press.

THINGS WE'D LIKE TO KNOW

It isn't funny the different attitudes some people take on similar questions. A short time ago a large number of the men at Michel mines were prepared to go almost to any length to punish a man whom it was alleged was stealing their coal in the mines. The company this week had a man arrested on a somewhat similar charge and the Union of that town moved heaven and earth to have him discharged.

Why some local fishermen believe they have to go to Olson, Morrissey or the South Fork to get a catch of fish. One man got fourteen beauties down at the bridge yesterday, another man brought home 37 nice ones from Cokato on Wednesday.

If Quebec is being combed for military slackers to the same extent as this town.

If Fernie does not stack away up in the percentage of men supplied for the front. Nearly 1500 men have gone from this district out of a population oof 6000. If the rest of Canada had done the same we would have an army of 2,000,000 men.

If it is the provincial law that a man is supposed to get his money at the time he quits a job, why the men engaged in fighting fires have to hang around and wait until the government s good and ready to settle.

Why the Kootenay Telephone Lines continue to charge the people of Fernie a much higher rate than they do in Cranbrook.

If the local telephone system is not somewhat antiquated for the prices charged by the company.

If the prohibition people have begun to realize that it is a hard proposition to get anyone to lay information against a person for selling booze when they know the penalty is six months in jail without the option of a fine.

If A. I. Fisher has any notion of resigning in response to the request of the West Fernie and Annex bunch.

If the religious tendency of the people of Fernie is not on the retrograde. Two of our preachers have quit in disgust in the past month.

If the Union miners realize that they violate their agreement when they pass a resolution recommending that a certain shift lay off for a week.

If it is the hard work at the court house that is making Tom Cole thin.

Why Jimmy McCool doesn't invent some process for the annihilation of mosquitoes. It would help the post business.

Why it is so hard to get good men to accept positions on the school board and council.

If the money spent in renting ward schools would not pay the interest on the money borrowed by the city for the erection of a new school building.

If a body of men who are employed in an industry essential to the success of the war lay off work repeatedly without the slightest justification, are they not the friends of the common enemy, Germany and her allies.

If the city council will ever grasp the idea that money spent in repairing wooden sidewalks is just so much thrown away.

If Frank Gilbert has taken out his card in the Chinese union yet.

COMMUNICATION

Editor Free Press:

Dear Sir—In view of the fact that there would appear to be some lack of knowledge of the present school situation and the by-laws to be voted upon on the 18th inst., I would suggest a public meeting should be called by the school board at which a full explanation could be given of how much the ratepayers would have to contribute, how much the government is giving, the size and nature of the proposed school building, etc.

Yours respectfully,

Ratepayer.

EXPERT RICE'S GOVT. REPORT

The annual report of the Minister of Mines, just issued, contains the following report of G. S. Rice, E. M. Chief Mining Engineer, U. S. Bureau of Mines, who inspected the mines at Coal Creek in regard to bumps.

Hon. William Sloan,
Minister of Mines, Province of British Columbia,
Victoria, B. C.

Dear Sir,—I have the honour to submit the accompanying report of my investigations into the causes and possibilities of avoidance in future of the disastrous "bumps" which occured in the year 1908 and recently in November, 1916, in the Coal Creek mines of the Crow's Nest Pass field; and incidental to that inquiry, what precautions might be taken in regard to outbursts of gas.

In response to a request for my services made by your department to the Director of the United States Bureau of Mines, I was detailed to undertake the investigation, and accordingly arrived at Fernie, B. C., on December 2nd, 1916. There I was met by W. F. Robertson. Provincial Mineralologist; Thomas Graham, Chief Inspector of Mines for the Province; T. H. Williams Inspector of the Coal Creek District; and George O'Brien. Inspector of the Michel District. These gentlemen, during the two weeks of my investigation, accompanied by the officials of the different mines, and at times by W. R. Wilson, general manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, escorted me in and about the mines at Coal Creek and Michel, explaining the mining conditions and methods, the nature and circumstances surrounding the occurrence of the "bumps" and outbursts of methane or fire-damp.

I am also indebted to Mr. W. R. Wilson, general manager, and the various officials of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, the only company now operating in the main Crow's Nest field, for the courtesies extended during my investigation. Every facility was offerred in visiting the mines, in obtaining information, and the services of the efficient engineering department of the company were freely given for the preparation of maps, sections, and other data.

Before leaving Fernie I drew up a preliminary report, copies of which I handed to Messrs. Robertson and Graham, so that there might be no delay in presenting my views to them as to the dangers threatening and precautions already taken at the initiative of the mining company, as well as by order of the Chief Inspector of Mines. This report recommended that permission be given to the company to reopen and use certain entries in No. 1 East mine passing through the area most seriously affected by the "bumps" and in which work had been temporarily prohibited by Mr. Graham.

The general conclusions given in the preliminary report, which in the main features are adhered to in this final report, were arrived at after many conferences locally with those best qualified to give explanations of the phenomena encountered in the past and suggestions concerning the geologic and other natural conditions found in mining, together with the best means of meeting the difficulties.

Suggestions of special importance were received from Messrs. Robertson and Graham, and General Manager W. R. Wilson, the latter showing breadth of vision in the consideration of future work and methods of overcoming difficulties, and rendering my task far easier, by presenting a plan of future workings of the Coal Creek mines on the south side of the valley that met practically every suggestion that I had to make in the matter of safety in working.

During the investigation many samples of gas and coal, as well as of coal dust, the latter for determining the explosibility hazard, were taken and sent to the Bureau of Mines Laboratory at Pittsburgh for analysis and special testing. These laboratoy investigations, some of which involved special methods of handling, have now been completed and show some most interesting results, and should my recommendation for a permanent commission for continuing the investigations into the geophysical and mining conditions of the Crow's Nest field be carried out, would be very suggestive of certain lines of further investigation.

I trust that this report may be of value in helping to point out what may be done to make mining safer in the Crow's Nest coal field, which is of such great importance through its extensive fuel resources to the Province of British Columbia and the adjoining regions.

Very respectfully yours,
George S. Rice.

Summary of principal findings contained therein

The Crow's Nest field regarded by Canadian geologists as the most important coal field in Britsih Columbia.

This field presents unusual natural difficulties, because the coal beds are at the base of an elevated plateau; it is impossible to reach the coal except through the outcrop; the coal is also under a heavy load requiring great care in mining to prevent squeezes and "bumps"

The coal beds are very gaseous; that is, they have large methane (fire damp) flows at Coal Creek and Michel and at Morrissey outbursts of gas occur unequalled except in certain mines in Belgium.

"Bumps" are not related to gas-outbursts, but they may occur, as in the State of Washington and in Great Britain, where the overlaying rocks are rigid and there is great weight of cover, and when mining has either extracted too much coal in advance mining or it has not been taken out completely, starting from the outcrop, which would break the overlying rock in successive slices and thus prevent "bumps."

"Bumps" are believed to be caused by the subsidence of the roof in certain areas under rigid rocks, leaving a great unsupported span of rock stratum. When one of these has given way it means the hammer-like blows of thousands of tons of rock striking on the immediate roof or flexible stratum overlying the mine, and sending rock-tremors through the strata.

Improper mining in No. 2 mine was the cause of "bumps" in that mine in 1907-08, and in turn the subsidence over this area affecting the strata higher up caused the recent "bumps" in No. 1 mine.

"Bumps may occur in future over the same area, but it is probable, with decreasing force, as the rock stratum broken down in each case has less distance to fall, has less load, and is more distant in height above the mine.

If the measures proposed are carried out—viz., of taking out less than 15 per cent of coal on the advance and taking down the rash roof coal in the working-places in No. 1 mine—thereis comparatively small danger to life for the men employed underground.

To give warning of impending outbursts of gas in certain dangerous zones with the advance of the working-places, long drill holes should be kept drilled in advance.

To provide for the large regular flows of methane, well kept up airways of large area and powerful fans should be employed, with ample margin of capacity.

A permanent commission should be formed to further investigate and review the evidence collected by members of the commission, the Inspectors of Mines, and others, having among its membership a geologist, a mining engineer, a chemist, and an experienced mine operator.

ASKS MEMBER TO RESIGN

At a meetng held in West Fernie school room on Sunday, July 7, 1918, by the property owners of West Fernie and Annex and Annex Extensioon to discuss flood conditions, after an animated dscussion which hinged largely on A. I. Fisher's statement that he was unable to secure government aid, the following resolution was carried without a dissenting voice:

Elk River menace to the residents and property owners of Fernie Annex and West Fernie, Sunday, 7th, 1918.

Whereas, owing to the continual menace of the Elk River our property rights are jeapordized and any attempt made by the government to alleviate our condition has proved to be ineffectual and abortive and

Whereas, our representative in the legislature has declared his inability to secure consideration for our welfare notwthstanding the large amount of revenue derived from the natural resources of our district,

Therefore, be it resolved, that we protest against the treatment accorded us by the government; also that we protest against the conditions which are a result of a party caucus and that we in meeting here assembled ask our member, A. I. Fisher, to resign his seat in the legislature as a protest against the government.

On her return home I decided to try a specific advertised locally as "Swaizema" compounded by you. Improvement was noticeable in a short time and the disease disappeared following a few weeks' treatment. It has not returned for over two years."

BIG PARALTA PLAY COMING TO ORPHEUM WED. & THURS, 17 & 18

All lovers of real art and true drama in motion pictures will receive with delight the announcement that Henry B. Wathall, the celebrated screen actor, will appear at the Orpheum Theatre for two days, commencing Wednesday, July 17, in his first Paralta Play, "His Robe of Honor." The story is from the pen of Ethel and James Dorrance and concerns the intrigues of politics and the wiles of political bosses. Mr. Walthall appears in the role of a young attorney who has been appointed judge of the supreme court of the state of New York through the influence of a graft-permeated political machine which anticipates using him for a tool to serve their ends.

The story is a graphic expose of the methods used in many of the larger cities where the bench is controlled by politics and gives Mr. Walthall remarkabe opportunities in the role of the trickster lawyer who becomes an upright judge under those innate forces of his character which are trained and nurtured by a young woman of high social position.

The production has been made under the direction of Rex Ingram, and is one of the most pretentious in which Mr. Walthall has ever appeared. To get the production authentic in every detail it was necessary to build an exact reproduction of one of the mammoth court rooms which are used by the Supreme Court of the State of New York. A great number of the scenes are laid in the most exclusive drawing rooms of fashionable Fifth Avenue, the costuming of the actors in which proves to be a veritable fashion show. In contrast, the story carries the onlookers into the very depths of the underworld, the doors unlocked, the lights turned on, showing in vivid colors the dens of vice which are to be found in the great metropolis, and which are operating under the protection of an organized political machine.

DISPOSE OF OLD HENS AND BREEDING STOCK EARLY

As soon as the breeding season is over, get rid of all male birds used in the breeding pens. When the egg yield drops in the early summer, or when the egg yield does not pay for the feed, sell off all hens over two years old and even the year olds cull pretty well. Poultry at this time of the year will bring a better price than later and feed and space will be saved for the best of the year olds and the growing chicks. Old hens as a rule, especially of the heavier varieties do not pay for their feed in late summer eggs.

Sell the young cockerels whenever they are ready throughout the summer. Don't keep everything till the fall. Whenever the price is good. sell the cockerels as broilers or as small roasters.

In an experiment carried on at the Experimental Farm in the spring of 1917 with Leghorn chickens, the sale of the cockerels paid all expenses for themselves and pullets up until he first of September. When the pullets went into winter quarters on November 1st, they had cost over and above what had been paid by the sale of the cockerels just 3.9 cents each. This experiment showed not only that it paid to sell the cockerels early, but it also demonstrated that pullets could be raised much cheaper than they could be bought in the fall.

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

Tells how to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Military Service Act, 1917.

Men 19 and 20 Years of Age.
Harvest Leave.
Leave of Absence on Ground of Extreme Hardship.
Procedure to obtain Leave of Absence.

Men Nineteen and Twenty Years of Age.

It has come to the attention of the Government that there is a widespread impression that young men of nineteen years, and those who became twenty since October 13, 1917, as well as those who may become nineteen from time to time and who have been or will be called upon to register under the Military Service Act, are to be immediately called to the colours.

This impression is quite incorrect. No date has yet been fixed for calling upon such men to so report for duty, nor has the question been brought before the Cabinet for decision. In view of the need of labour on the farm, it is most unlikely that consideration will be given to the matter until after the harvest is over, although of course the Government's action must be determined primarily by the military situation.

There is no further obligation incumbent upon young men of the ages above mentioned who have registered or who do so hereafter, until they receive notice from the Registrars.

Harvest Leave.

Some enquiries have been received as to the possibility of granting harvest leave to such troops as may be in the country at that time. No definite assurance can be given on this point as advantage must be taken of ships as they become available. On the other hand, harvest leave will be given if at all possible.

Leave of Absence on Grounds of Extreme Hardship.

It is desired that the Regulations respecting leave of absence in cases of hardship should be widely known and fully understood. Such leave will be granted in two cases:— (a) where extreme hardship arises by reason of the fact that the man concerned is either the only son capable of earning a livelihood, of a father killed or disabled on service or presently in service overseas, or in training for such service, or under treatment after returning from overseas; or the only remaining of two or more brothers capable of earning a livelihood (the other brother or brothers having been killed or disabled on service, or being presently in service overseas, or in training for overseas or under treatment after his or their return from overseas); brothers married before 4th August, 1914, living in separate establishments and having a child or children not to be counted, in determining the fact that the man is the "only" remaining son or brother; (b) where extreme hardship arises by reason of exceptional circumstances such as the fact that the man concerned is the sole support of a widowed mother, an invalid father or other helpless dependents.

It is to be noted that in all these cases the governing factor is not hardship, loss or suffering to the individual concerned, but to others, that is, members of his family or those depending upon him.

Procedure to obtain leave of absence.

A simple system for dealing with these cases has been adopted. Forms of application have been supplied to every Depot Battalion and an officer of each battalion has been detailed whose duty it is to give them immediate attention. The man concerned should on reporting to his unit state that he desires to apply for leave of absence on one or more of the grounds mentioned and his application form will then be filled out and forwarded to Militia Headquarters, Ottawa. In the meantime, if the case appears meritorious, the man will be given provisional leave of absence for thirty days so that he may return home and continue his civil occupation while his case is being finally disposed of.

ISSUED BY DEPARTMENT OF MILITIA AND DEFENCE, DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

WOMAN GETS AFTER ALDERMAN BILL

ant building at the rear of the city hall has been completed and after being tested has proved quite satisfactory. A portion of the sidewalks have been repaired and the usual water line repairs accomplished since the previous report was submitted. Regarding further street improvements, it was decided that two blocks on Victoria avenue, from Jaffray St. to Thompson St., be macadamized 25 ft. in width and the dirt from these two blocks be distributed on Thompson St. and Victoria avenue north in lieu of gravel which was the original intention. With regard to the avenue in front of Ald. Jackson's boulevard and arising out of dissatisfaction that the same had not been successful as completed last year without having been rolled by the steam roller, Ald. Bill's offer to pay for this service if it does not rectify the present difficuty or in the alternative not to pay anything if it does, was accepted.

Ald. Jackson then made his report with regard to having found a permanent residence for the Hesketh children for such time as they remain charges upon the city. The basis for this service, which is the boarding of the children, is $80 per month.

Ald. Dudley raised the question with regard to measles being quite prevalent in the city and the placarding of homes where cases are. He was under the impression that when placards were so exhibited it constituted said places being placed under quarantine. This view, however, was not taken by any of the other members.

A brief discussion took place with reference to the apparent realization of the threat made by the management of the Canadian Dairy, Maurice Roux, some time ago, that if the younger brother was obliged to cease being an active member of the firm through being eligible under the Military Service Act, he would be obliged to discontinue his dairy business. He has now ceased to peddle milk in small quantities to householders, practically without any notice whatever to the former customers, but is still delivering to hotels, restaurants and large consumers, said deliveries being made by automobile. As to this mode of conveying milk the question was raised as to the permissibility of so doing on account of the possibility of the milk being contaminated. The question was also raised with regard to the disposition of tickets held by some of the customers since the discontinuation of the service and it was pointed out that the management of the dairy would be obliged to redeem these. The council, however, decided that as yet there was nothing that could be done in the matter, but in connection with a complaint that had been lodged with some of the members that milk imported from Alberta was not being subjected to the same inspection as the local dairies, Ald. Jackson gave ample assurance that the sanitary inspection in that province, if anything, was more rigid than in our own.

Ald. Beck raised the question as to whether the council were required to take any cognizance of the complaint lodged by Mrs. Hilton. This brought forth from Ald. Jackson practically a reiteration of his statements made at the former meeting and he challenged any member of the council to deny that when the arrangement made by him with Mrs. Hilton at $100 per month was stated that they did not give voice to the sentiment that it was an outrageous amount.

A motion was regularly passed requesting the Union of B.C. Municipalities to have brought before the legislature an amendment to the Act which will permit the publication of money bylaws in shorter form. This has arisen out of the three bylaws now before the ratepayers, which are identical in every particular practically, with the exception of the amounts. If the amendment suggested is passed it would permit two at least being published in shorter form and be a considerable reduction in the expense.

Ald. Jackson introduced but later withdrew same until the next meeting, a motion, so that authentic information in connection with the matter he has under survey may be obtained.

City Electrician Quail brought several matters to the attention of the council, on which he desired some authority; among which was the matter of verandah lights. An arrangement will be effected to remedy this evil by penalizing those who permit wasting of power by allowing these lights to burn continuously day and night. The probable regulation will be that if permitted to burn after 8.00 a.m. the consumer will be obliged to pay $1.00 for each and every month such light is allowed to remain burning. The present flat rate for these lights is 25c for all those installed before the regulation prohibiting them on that system was made.

Adjournment was taken at 11.40 p.m.

Frank Hoffman writes that he has been drafted into the American Army.

RE SCHOOL TRUSTEE ELECTION

At a meeting of property owners, held in the West Fernie school on Sunday, July 7th, the question of appointing a school trustee from West Fernie came up for discussion. Everyone present was of the opinion that it was time for West Fernie to be represented on the school board. Mr. W. Lancaster addressed the meeting and his views were that someone should certainly represent West Fernie, and if one was nominated, he would certainly give his support.

Mr. Hancock then addressed the meeting, dealing with the income and expenditure, and also if anyone decided to accept the nomination, the necessity of the residents of West Fernie to make it their special business to register their vote on the day of the election.

Mr. Winnett, Mr. W. Brown, Mr. Brindley and Mr. Hesketh also took an active interest in the meeting.

Nominations were then called for. Several names were called, but all declined, in favor of Mr. A. Hancock. A motion was afterwards put to the meeting, pledging support to Mr. Hancock, which was carried unanimously.

FIREBOSSES' ASSOCIATION OF FERNIE

The members of the above association were given an address by Mr. Wilkinson, Chief Inspector of Mines, on his recent visit to Fernie, that was very highly appreciated. He treated on mine gasses in general, the Burrel Indicator for testing for gas, and various other subjects appertaining to mining. He gave facts and figures showing the great percentage of gas found and given off from the coal seams of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co's. mines, and pointed out that the firebosses held a most important position in reference to safety in mines. He congratulated the members on the interest taken by them to become acquainted more with the complexities appertaining to mining, particularly with reference to safety in mines. He promised to address them at some future time, and said it gave him great pleasure to meet the members of the association.

Mr. Stratton, Inspector of mines, also addressed the members and gave some interesting information. Mr. B. Caulfield, Colliery Manager for the C. N. P. Coal Co., has kindly consented to address the next meeting of the association on some mining subject, and who will try to make his address interesting as well as instructive. It is the present intention of the association to solicit men well posted in mining to address the association from time to time for the instruction of its members.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

The big Indian pow-wow on Tobacco Plains last week was not the success anticipated by the Noble Red Men who engineered the six days, go as you please fandango. No prairie Indians were allowed to attend and only the Kootenays, Flatheads from around Kalispell, and a few Shuswaps from the Windermere Valley were in attendance and instead of a thousand braves there were only about 200. They were all camped near Edwards Lake, west of the Indian Village, north of the Cow-pasture-pool-links, commonly called golf. On July 1st, Dominion Day, with Canadian, American and British flags flying, the festivities started, introducing the various dances, such as War dances, Feast dances and Potlatch dances, roping and riding outlaw horses, wrestling on horseback, pony races and full dress parades, dazzling wth gorgeousness, stupefying and miraculous in its revelation of beauty. Several Indian tribal weddings took place and the happy brides' resplendant costumes and surpassing beauty would make Lillian Russell look like a swede cook. The full dress parade, led by Chief Three Weasels, Chief Lone Bear, Chief Sky Eagle and Chief Bear Shield, followed by minor chiefs and young braves, their squaws and papooses, magnficent, radient, resplendent with the glittering beads of all the colors in the rainbow and some colors never seen in the rainbow, silks satins and painted buckskin, would make the famous Bradley-Martin ball in New York look like a cotton shower at a Bohunk wedding in Fernie's old town. To describe these costumes would beggar the English language and the human imagination falls faint and feeble before the herculean task. Hanna Eagle Feather and Princess Fly-up-the-creek had charge of the ten bridesmaids, real live flower bearing fairies,captured from the different reserves, and the wedding dance started the visiting drummers writing home about it. The dance is the dominant feature of Indian life. He is born, baptized, married and dies amid the jumble of shuffing feet, gyrating bodies and the beating of tom-toms. It expresses joy and it is the symbol of grief and bereavement. It is the resort and accompaniment of momentuous exploits and the concomitant of routine duties. Charlie-owns-the-dog is acknowledged by Milt Kastner, the popular insurance man, and others to be the best Indian dancer on the Tobacco Plains, while Standing Cloud and Shooting Star divide honors as the champion tom-tom soloists in the Kootenay Valley. They were without doubt a happy bunch, and Jim Thistlebeak says that happiness dispels gloom as the Sun dispels darkness, and their stock of supplies would have made the Canada Food Board green with envy. They had everything from weinerwurst to sauerkraut, although there was'nt a Hun amongst the lot. The spread would make an old Roman feast look like a Fernie spagetti-vermicelli-spread, and Jim Thistlebeak sang in Chinook, that pathetic ballad, entitled, "Meet me by the coke ovens where the pickled onjons bloom." Dozens of automobiles visited the encampment on the opening day and also on the glorious 4th of July. On Saturday the Indians started to break up camp and leave for their own reserves, after a week of jubilee fun. So don't worry, the "Pie Trust will get bitten and the young men are getting around the "Corset Trust," and the "Hat Trust" is not much felt. But whatever you do, don't pity the poor Indian, but look in your own front and back yard and think which needs the most pity.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Graham and daughter Peggy, with Mrs. Ray G. Hirtz, and Miss E. May Roo, motored to Roosville and spent the 4th of July, the guests of Mrs. Fred Roo.

Some people, says Jim Thistlebeak, is always trying to discourage you by telling you that all millionaires are unhappy, but they'll have to show him.

On acount of the hot weather the pickled whale travellers for the Alberta and Saskatchewan meat trusts must have bust their bubbles, as they failed too make the grade last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Letcher of the square deal ranch, Roosville Valley, motored to Fernie last week.

Mrs. Alford, of Westmount, Calgary is visiting the Roosville Falls and Roosville this week.

The citizens of Elko wish to extend their deepest sympathies to Mr. and Mrs. Hales H. Ross, Mrs. D. W. Hart, Mrs. Joule and their families, of Waldo and Baynes, in their sad bereavement.

Mr. O. C. Thompson, of Calgary, took a party of mining men from Spokane and Seattle to look over the copper properties on Phillips Creek, east of the Roosville Post Office last week.

Miss Ester Hirtz, one of Elko's popular young ladies, moved to Cranbrook where she will take up a profession. We wish her every kind of success.

Dr. Garner of the Fernie general hospital, told Jim Thistlebeak that dyspepsia was a great help to the Canada Food Board. We have no record of Jim's reply.

Tom Uphill, of Fernie, was down to Roosville last week end but by reports reaching this office his advance agent was evidently not on the job. Mr. Uphill, who is as popular as a pink fashion sheet, and always prefers Keen's mustard on his sandwiches, was to give a lecture in the Roosville school house on the philosophy of minding your own dam business. It pays to advertise if you know how, but it's not everybody that knows how.

Charlie Walker of the Nelson News was workng the Pass towns this last week. Mr. Waker owned the Dream-and theatre in Fernie before the fire, and still dreams of the happy days he had in the coal city.

No, Mabel, the funny name of that new disease which people get from dancing the fox trot is not dipsomania. See Doc. Bonnell. He's just back from Ottawa and can tell how the milk got into the cocaanut.

The Elko Garage turned out 18 repaired automobies Saturday and Sunday. Four of these were cripples and had to be hauled into Elko from one to ten miles to the auto hospital, where they receive the same attention a young married lady gives to her husband.

If there's anybody more unpopular than the fellow who invented, it is the cuss who invented war.

JUDGMENT IN MICHEL CASE

In Judge Thompson's criminal court this week the trial of Hnatz Melnik, a contract miner, which occupied three days, was of peculiar interest affecting the coal mining industry in this province as well as more or less general interest to the industry in all parts of Canada. While the offence with which accused was tried and upon which he was subsequently convicted of an attempt to commit and fined $100 was a very serious one, the defnence set up endeavored to show that the practice followed ordinarily in all mines, was such that it was recognized as an admissable one even though technically it was irregular.

Melnik was indicted on two counts of obtaining and attempting to obtain money under false pretences, while working in one of the mines at Michel early in June. He was a few months ago employed as a contract miner and as such when mining and loading coal, together with such other duties as would enable him to obtain the coal be paid the regular contract rates, viz., so much per ton for the coal, etc. Record of the coal loaded and sent out by him, as in all similar cases is made by the contract miner first attaching his tally check to the inside of the cars loaded by him, and subsequently when same reach the tipple the coal is weighed and the tally check, on which the miner's number appears, is collected and he is credited with that amount of coal.

The working agreement between the company and the employees specifically vests the management of the mine and the direction of the working forces in the company and this system permits the company at any time ordering a contract miner to do what is properly known as company work for which there is a specific remuneration for the 8-hour shift. This system is frequently applied when necessity demands and not particularly favored by the miners as contract work is usually more remunerative than company work. On June 1st Melnik and his partner were ordered by the mine overman to turn out during the week following on night shift and work company work; this shift having always been recognized at that colliery as a repair shift and one on which contract work was never permitted, according to the evidence of the Crown witnesses.

The witnesses for the defence testified in effect that it was a frequent custom for the sub-officials to allow contract miners while working on company time (i.e. per shift) credit for coal loaded by them on the contract basis in addition to the regular schedule for the company shift. The motive which prompted these officials to grant this it was alleged was to "speed up" the work, and an inducement to have such necessary work accomplished expeditiously and thus not interfere with the production from the mine. On June 8th, Melnick was working with his partner on company work; during the shift he loaded 8 cars, to six of which he attached his contract tally checks, the remaining two with marks by which they could later be identified as loaded by him as he had no more tally checks at the time with him. Therefore in the pursuance of the ordinary course he would have received credit for this coal at contract price and $4.62 for the company shift. The matter, however, came to the attention of the officials and criminal proceedings were instituted.

Numerous witnesses were called by the Crown, among whom were officials and sub-officials of the company who emphatically denied the existence of such system. On the other hand equally as many witnesses for the defence positively stated under oath that the practice was general. Harry Martin, local secretary for the miners' union, in giving evidence on behalf of the defence testified that he while acting as checkweighman had received as many as thirty contract checks direct from sub-officials of the mine to be credited while company work was being performed by contract miners. He repudiated the practice, illustrating that it was certainly not with the approval of the union officials that when a miner erected a post or performed some other service usually done by company men, for said miner to be credited with a car of coal instead of his pay statement showing the identical service for which the remuneration was paid. The management of the company, he also believed, were adverse to such fictitious methods.

Judgment—

This is a case which would not be remarkable or unusual if it were not for the side issue. I am not at all concerned as to the relationship between the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. and its employees. The only thing I have to consider is the charge brought by the Crown against the accused for one specific offence. But in view of the fact that a great deal of evidence has been given about an alleged custom, I think it is worthy of passing comment.

I am not quite satisfied that the custom does exist. The witnesses for the defence have given evidence that it has existed since the inception of the company and that it has existed in Coal Creek, Michel and other mines. Now it is a very easy matter to say "I know of a dozen instances of such and such a thing happening," but when I am nailed down to tell of a specific instance it is sometimes difficult to find one. In this case there was one specific instance mentioned by Mangles, and he was undoubtedly telling the truth so far as he knew, but it was a truth that should have been investigated a little further, because while undoubtedly these men did try to get something that was not coming to them, they did not succeed. I do not think it was the duty of the Crown or of the Company to notify Mangles and the other checkweighman that they had discovered this offence, but when the defence were preparing for their defence, when bringing this fact out, they should have investigated a little further to see if the men succeeded in getting away with their criminal act.

Now if this custom did exist, it is a criminal one. I do not care if a few overmen or firebosses connived with the workmen, it was a criminal one undoubtedly. I do not like Mr. Phillip's bolsheviki idea that it is all right to steal from your employer but not from your fellow worker. I do not think any right thinking man will agree. But as I say if it was a custom it was a criminal one, and one a man should be punished for. If I believed that this man did this act because it had been a custom; if the case went no further than that, I would say that he was guilty, but I would not punish him because it had been the idea among the miners that it was an act that was being winked at. There were times when murder, rape and theft were common habits of the day. That is no excuse today for murder, rape or theft. We all know instances of bands of criminals who have committed crime after crime but it would be no excuse when they were brought into court to say, "We committed crimes last year, therefore we should be allowed to commit them this year." I do not want to deal any more with the side issue or the custom, all I can say is it is a criminal custom and any man found committing it should be punished after the publicity in this case. I think there will be no further excuses for either the overmen or firebosses or for the men themselves.

Dealing with this specific case it is merely a question of veracity; the old story, on one hand Melnik, the accused, and Lofay, and to a certain extent Hovan, if they are telling the truth, then Newman and Estabrook are not and vice versa.

Melnik is an interested man, is the accused man, and in my opinion neither he nor Lofay were telling the truth nor was Hovan. I can see no reason at all why Newman should not be believed except that to a certain extent he is an interested man; he is a sub-official. But in order to disbelieve Newman I must disbelieve Estabrook and Estabrook is absolutely a disinterested witness. He says he hard the conversation and no such statement as Lofay and Melnik say was made. One noticeable fact, the accused spoke all through his examination and cross-examination, of the first trouble and the second trouble. The first trouble was the one he and Newman had on Monday or Tuesday with the one car; then he spoke of the second trouble. Now I believe it is significant if there had been perfect accord between Newman and himself that he would not allude to it as a trouble.

Leaving out the question of custom and leaving out the side issue altogether, I believe the witnesses for the Crown, Newman and Estabrook, and I disbelieve the story that has been told by the accused, by Lofay and Hovan. I find accused guilty of attempt. Under the circumstances, however, there undoubtedly having been an idea prevalent in the minds of a lot of ignorant men, that they could do this thing and get away with it, I do not think I should inflict any serious punishment. The limit I could inflict is eighteen months; I do not intend to do that.

By Mr. Macneil—On behalf of the accused, and Your Honor having the discretion, if the Crown would consent to a fine?

By the Court—I have absolute discretion in my own hands, but I usually get the consent of the Crown to a fine. Have you any objection, Mr. Nisbet? I have discretion for any offence carrying a punishment of under two years.

By Mr. Nisbet—I am agreeable, probably; in the fact of the conviction the ends of justice have possibly been met and I think possibly, as far as I can say, I don't know I am entitled to give any consent.

By the Court—Oh! yes you are because the limit of punishment is 18 months.

I will fine the accused $100 or six months imprisonment, without costs.

CHURCH UNION

Negotiations for the union of the local Presbyterian and Methodist churches are progressing favorably.

A vote was taken in both churches, the ballot paper asking "Are you in favor of church union?" The vote was almost unanimous, only four votes being recorded against. A joint meeting of the two union committees of the churches was held in the Presbyterian church, D. V. Mott presiding. It was decided that a vote of the two churches be taken to decide with what denomination the "United Church" will affiliate in accordance with plan 2 accepted by the Presbyterian and Methodist churches of Canada. To this end a vote will be taken and all communicants of both churches will vote on or before the 21st day of July, by which date the ballots must be in.

JUDGE LOWERS ASSESSMENT

His Honor Judge Thompson has handed down his awards in connection with appeals of John L. Gates and H. R. Huntington, from the assessment by the city assessor of $19,000 on the King Edward Hotel building and $24,300 on the Napanee Hotel building, which assessments were confirmed by the City of Fernie Court of Revision. His Honor reduced the assessment on the improvements by $5000 and $6200 respectively, but the appeals for reduction in the assessment of the lots were disallowed. The principal feature upon which the appellants made claim for reduction was the fact that the Prohibition Act materially reduced the value of the property by taking away the chief revenue producing portion of the hotel business. On this basis it will mean that for the next assessment there will have to be a general revision in the taxation of all hotel property in the city in order to maintain a method of equalization. A special meeting of the city council will be held next Monday when it will be definitely decided whether the city will carry the matter to the Court of Appeal with a view to having Judge Thompson's decision reversed.

THE WEATHER

Yesterday (Thursday) was the hottest day on record in the history of the town, the thermometer rising to 93. The nearest approach to this was 90 degrees in 1915. Following is the record for the past week, the reading being taken from 8 a.m. to 8 a.m. next morning:

	Maximum	Minimum
12th	79.0	46.0
13th	71.0	40.0
14th	78.5	53.5
16th	77.0	54.0
16th	73.5	54.0
17th	88.0	58.5
18th	87.0	51.5
19th	93.0	59.0

Few places in civilized Canada show the wide difference between the maximum and minimum.

RETURNED MEN ENTERTAINED

The returned men of Fernie and Coal Creek were the guests of honor at a dinner given by W .R. Wilson at the Fernie Hotel on Tuesday evening. There were about thirty-five invited guests present, all of whom thoroughly enjoyed the good things provided and the after dinner speeches which followed. Dr. Bonnell, M.P., occupied the chair and acted as toastmaster in his usual able manner. Among those who spoke were A. I. Fisher, M.P.P., who proposed the "Army and Navy" toast in a stirring patriotic address, which was responded to by W. J. Claridge and Fred Clarkston on behalf of the returned men; Thos. Uphill gave those present a heart to heart talk on the returned soldier problem; W. R. Wilson, who told the boys why he was proud to do what he could to make the men coming home from the devastation of the battle fields of France feel that the people at home had not forgotten them and he loved to do what he could to take their thoughts away from the terrible scenes through which they had passed; D. V. Mott and J. R. Wallace, who responded to the toast to the press and finally the chairman brought the gathering to a close with a stirring talk on what the British Empire had really accomplished thus far in the world war.

MAN KILLED AT MICHEL

The inquest regarding the death of Frank Broniskoski in Old No. 3 Mine at Michel last Saturday was held by Coroner Murray this week. The history of the accident as related by the witnesses is remarkable in the one particular that while there were six other men present in addition to the deceased, all within reasonably short distances, not one of these six men could tell the first thing about the accident in so far as how the victim came to be caught. The working party was engaged in moving a two-ton drum from the top of what is known as No. 3 slope to a new location in the new main rock tunnel. About an hour and a half after starting the accident occurred, while up to this time nothing unusual had occurred. The hoist had been moved 550 feet from its former location. The method of propelling the piece of machinery was a three horse spike team. The drum was skidded along the track. Owing to the cumbersome nature of this load it was necessary to make frequent stops. At a point 82 feet before the place where the accident did occur the last stop was made and the drum shifted over from one rail to the other in order that it would clear the side or rib timbers. From this point they proceeded, Fireboss Drew and Driver Broniskoski (deceased) in front and the other five men following at the rear. The horses stopped without any command and Fireboss Drew called back to the driver inquiring as to why the stop had been made. He got no answer and repeated his question and failing to get an answer walked back some 20 feet to the drum and there saw the driver pinned in between the drum and the timbers in an erect position. The men following had no intimation of the accident except that a small cloud of dust came just as the horses stopped pulling.

The medical examination of the deceased gave the cause of death as dislocation of the neck; in addition to this there were also fractures of both lower jaws and at the base of the skull. Death was instantaneous. A theory advanced in connection with the cause of the accident was that while walking along the side of the last horse hauling the drum, deceased had had his cap caught upon a nail which was protruding from one of the nearby timbers, and in turning around to recover same, had misjudged the distance from the approaching drum and had been caught by it and jambed against the timbers, and the forward movement of the drum and the apparent grip upon the head had caused a twisting movement with the result that the neck was dislocated.

If men like Walsh are going to escape the extreme penalty under the law if it wouldn't be a good thing to abolish capital punishment altogether.

If Mr. Hancock, the new West Fernie trustee, will be able to satisfy that West Fernie bunch. They seem to be about as hot a bunch of kickers as could be got together.

If A. I. Fisher is really worried over that public meeting in West Fernie. When Alex has been in politics a few more years he will let the other fellow worry.

How the Minister of Justice came to commute the sentence of Walsh to life imprisonment. To the ordinary man up a tree it looked about as straight a case of cold blooded murder as was ever pulled off.

What kind of a bluff Roux Bros. thought they were going to pull off on the city when without notice they discontinued the delivery of milk for a week. It is about time these people cut out their Quebec tactics and come to the realizatior that the Military Service Act can be no respecter of persons.

Why local Russellites, who are holding cottage meetings regularly, don't get a copy of the evidence which sent six of their chosen leaders to jail for twenty years for treason. The roof has got to fall on a lot of people before they find they are being used for a bunch of suckers. The prosecution of their leaders was not persecution as they contend but cold justice. There is no religious persecution in the United States today.

RED CROSS APPEAL TO THE PUBLIC

Ladies' Symphony Orchestra at Chautauqua

Ten Splendid Musical Artists in Two Programs on the Fourth Day

The Ladies' Symphony Orchestra of Chicago has achieved unusual success in their field of musical endeavor. The enthusiasm of their audiences everywhere, together with the press and personal comments, testify to the delight with which these charming and talented young women have been received.

This splendid musical organization consists of five stringed instruments, clarinet, flute, horn, piano and traps. In addition a specially built reed organ of unique construction is carried by the company. When combined with the other instruments the reed and wind effects of a very large orchestra are secured.

The two programs on the fourth day are built to please lovers of every kind of music. There are orchestral numbers, violin and 'cello solos, instrumental duets, quartets, readings and vocal solos. Beulah Truitt, manager of the company, is an artist in readings and character sketches who could easily give a full afternoon or evening program. Ethel Lee Buxton, soloist, has contributed largely to the success achieved by the Ladies' Symphony Orchestra. She has a soprano voice of unusual range and flexibility.

BRITAIN'S WAR EFFORT

One of the famous or infamous products of Hun propaganda on this continent has always been the hint, whisper, criticism, or innuendo that Great Britain was not doing her share in this war as compared with the other allies. It was used in France and Russia. It was part of the story circulated to discourage the Italians. In the States it had quite a vogue, even down to the declaration of war.

There has recently been authorized certain figures for publication which more clearly than any bald statements demonstrate just what effort Britain has made since August 1914. All of the figures are up to the end of 1917.

First and foremost comes the work of the British navy. To refer to the way in which the enemy's surface war craft and merchantmen have been driven from the seas does not seem to impress the landsmen as much as it should but let the figures tell the tale.

In the North Sea alone 140,000 square nautical miles, an area larger than Germany, are patrolled without ceasing in all weatahers. In one single month the British warships proper travelled a million sea miles in home waters, and during the same period the mileage of patrol, minesweepers and other auxiliary craft was 250 times the circuit of the globe.

The blockade has been a most effective weapon, a giant squeeze, ever getting tighter. In 1915 there were 256 out of 1400 ships which eluded the patrol squadrons. In 1916 only 60 out of 3000 escaped being examined. In one month last year not a single vessel trading with neutrals crossed the North Atlantic and Arctic oceans without being held up.

In August 1914, the navy had a total force of 145,000 officers and men. The total tonnage of the fleet was four million tons and there were a round dozen mine sweepers and patrol boats. After nearly four years of war the officers and men number 450,000; the tonnage of British war ships is six million tons or 50 per cent more, and the mine-sweepers and patrol boats, not included in this have increased from 12 to 3300.

In addition to the great work of the navy, the almost super-human task, performed in a way which makes German efficiency look like child's play, has been the transporting and convoying of men, munitions, equipment and food for the forces of British armies and their allies all over the world. Down to the end of last year the navy had successfully transported 13,000,000 men, of whom only 2700 were lost by enemy action, two million horses and mules, half a million vehicles, 25,000,000 tons of explosives and supplies, 51,000,000 tons of oil and fuel, and 130,000,000 tons of food and other materials, all in British ships.

We hear a great deal of German submarines. British submarines have successfully attacked 40 enemy warships and 270 other vessels.

The oceans of the world have for the greater part of the last four years been British controlled highways, where the British flag and those of its allies reign supreme and this in spite of the fact that on those millions of miles of water a few highway pirates having regard neither to the laws of God or man, have by means of undersea craft tried unsuccessfully to drive our united flags from the seas as the enemy flag has been so thoroughly driven.

Turning to the army, that "contemptible little army" which the "War Lord" was going to blow away in his indignation, it consisted in August 1914, oof 250,000 regulars, 200,000 reserves and 250,000 Territorials, a total of 700,000. The first expeditionary force which helped to bar the way to Paris that month was only 160,000 strong. On August 8th Lord Kitchener asked for 100,000 volunteers. He got them in a fortnight. Less than five weeks after war broke out 175,000 were enrolled—30,000 in one day. This takes no account of Canada's recruits or those from other overseas dominions and possessions. Less than a year after August 4, a new army of 2,000,000 men had been enlisted. On May 25, 1916, King George in his Message to the Empire announced that 5,041,000 volunteers had been enrolled in the army and navy. On January 4, of this year, the Minister of National Service announced that the Empire had contributed 7,500,000 men since war broke out.

Of these 4,530,000 or 60.4 per cent were recruited in England, Scotland contributed 620,000 or 8.3 per cent, Wales 280,000 or 3.7 per cent, Ireland 2.3 per cent or 170,000, mostly from the north. India and the Dependencies contributed a round million or 13.3 per cent. The Dominion of Canada and the other colonies beteween them 900,000 or 12 per cent. If the men of British Birth in the armies of Canada and the dominions generally were added to their brothers raised in the homeland the British percentage would be increased. Who will say that Britain is not doing her full share in face of these figures.

On the French front although the first expeditionary force was almost annihilated, one division alone losing 10,000 out of 12,000 men and 350 out of 400 officers, the line held by the British army had been steadily increased so that now over three million are required to hold it. Other British armies are operating all over the world.

Exaggerated ideas of the number of prisoners taken have been obtained by repetitions in the cables. and wild guesses of correspondents. The official figures show that down to the end of November last the British had taken 176,000 prisoners and 900 cannon. In addition 1,244,000 square miles of enemy territory had been won and 20,000 square miles of Egypt recovered, all of which was unconnected with the French and Flanders front, and embraces only exploits of the British army in other parts of the wrold.

When the war opened the Naval air force consisted of 80 trained men and 64 aeroplanes, while the army only had 100 men and 66 aeroplanes. It is not allowable to give figures today beyond the fact that last year the navy alone had 42,000 aviators and the army tens of thousands, and aeroplanes in like proportion. Today both services are combined. Here it is only fair to say that a large proportion of the aviators and some of the very best are young Canadians. In the first nine months of last year the British air force brought down 876 enemy machines, which means the death or capture, in most cases, of the aviators and the destruction of the machines. In addition 759 were driven down out of control.

Finally, the figures on munitions are enlightening. The enemy had Great Britain at Great disadvantage. In the month of may 1915, Germany was manufacturing 250,000 shells daily, mostly high explosive. The British were turning out only 25000 high explosive and 13,000 shrapnel. In the following month of June the Ministry of Munitions, with Lloyd George at the head, was formed. The exast figure may not be given, but can be indicated. For instance take the weight of ammunition produced in June 1915 and call it 100. On this basis when war broke out the British were producing 12. By December, 1914, 16. By June 1915, after nearly two years of war 100. December of that year the amount was double, 200 representing the figures. June 1916 we have to use an index figure of 920. Decmeber 1916, this had risen to 1540, and by June of last year 2800. Still speeding up it is believed the figure today is over 3000. That is to say Great Britain thought she was doing pretty well in August 1914, but her whole output was represented by a figure we will call 12. Two years later she had reached what seemed an enormous output of 100 but it was still absolutely inadequate. Today she is producing thirty times the weight of munitions she had by great efforts reached in June 1915.

These comparisons could be continued at length until they became wearisome, but enough has been given to show that not only is there no foundation for the Hun lie that Great Britain is not doing her bit in comparison with the other allies but that she is so nobly playing her part is one reason why the hatred of the Hun today is directed more against her than any other nation.

MAE MARSH IS STAR OF "BELOVED TRAITOR"

"The Beloved Traitor," the new Goldwyn picture starring Mae Mash, which will be seen at the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, is a delightful screen version of Frank L. Packard's novel of the same name.

Mary Garland, a Maine fishermaid, has a sweetheart, Judd Minot, a fisherman whose talent as a sculptor is unsuspected by the townspeople. He is haunted by a vision, wherein he sees a statue of a woman with a face strikingly like Mary's and the people around it acclaim him as a creator. The figure stands with arms outstretched as if welcoming the returning fishermen. He discovers Mary in that attitude when he goes to the rescue of her uncle, Simeon, caught in a storm far out beyond the rocks while returning from the lighthouse. Judd saves both. Shortly afterward, the uncle, with whom Mary lived, dies. Before his passing he has exacted Judd's promise to watch over Mary, along with Father Anthony, the village priest.

Mary is delighted with Judd's model of his ideal figure, but Judd seeks bigger things. They come when Henry Bliss, a wealthy patron of art from the big city, and his daughter visit the village on a motor tour. Seeing Judd's model, Bliss recognizes the work of an embryo genius and proposes that Judd accompany him to the city for an art education. He agrees after the added arguments of Myrna Bliss, who sees in the good-looking fellow another man to fascinate.

Judd meets with success as a sculptor and after three years' absence Mary still grieves for him. Judd loves Myrna, but there is another man, Paul Drayton, a political leader. Judd finishes his statue, which he calls The Beacon, but dissipation meanwhile lays its heavy hand on him. Mr. Bliss reproaches his protege, showing him a scurrilous clipping from a society paper, which he later sends to Father Anthony. Later Mary sees it and resolves to save the man she loves. She goes to the city.

She gains entrance to the studio, where Judd is celebrating, and at once is recognized as the original of Judd's prize model. Myrna upbraids Judd, and then follows a fight between Drayton and Judd, but Mary saves the precious model after Drayton crashes against it. Judd's eyes are opened. He turns from the coarse Myrna to the girl of his youth, Mary.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

SWAIZEMA CURES ECZEMA

This letter tells where doctor completely failed but Swaizema cured.

Was troubled with a very irritable rash which broke out on several parts of my body. I consulted and took treatment from a doctor, but on the trouble becoming worse I tried a bottle of Swaizema, and I am glad to tell you that this annoying, itching rash has completely left me. The effects of this remedy in my case were wonderful.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENT

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions, with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained on these claims in less than 5 years, with improvements of $10 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years.

Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes, areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

TOWNSITE PROPERTY ALLOTMENT ACT.

Provision is made for the grant to persons holding uncompleted Agreements to Purchase from the Crown of such proportion of the land, if divisible, as the payments already made will cover in proportion to the sale price of the whole parcel. Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchaser from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjustment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

RECORD OF THIS PROVINCE

British Columbia may have a record that might be improved as far as political conditions go, as almost any resident of this province who is not too hidebound knows. But in one respect this province does not need to take a back seat for any other in this magnificent Dominion. It has done and is continuing to do its full share in furnishing men to fight the battles of the empire and to make the world worth living in.

When the war broke on a comparatively unsuspecting world the sons of British Columbia voluntarily flocked to the colors in proportions that, figured on population, was not exceeded by any other province of Canada. The enlistments also kept up in goodly proportion to the time of the passing of the Military Service Act.

When the draft came into force, it was found that British Columbia still held up its record and today stands at the very top of the list in the provinces for furnishing manpower for the sanguinary struggle. It is a record of which no resident of this province need feel ashamed but to the contrary. Our families have paid for it and many a bright young man of the mountains lies in a lonely grave in France or Flanders. British Columbia has always done its duty and will continue to do it. The record is untarnished, and if Quebec had done as well, it would not have taken so many of our best and brightest sons as food for the guns. But our duty was performed in any event. Trail News.

When labor and capital, taking advantage of war conditions, charge too much for their work and goods, they become traitors to their God, their flag and their country.—Ledge.

The greatest disaster that can befall a town is the loss of its newspaper. Many people forget this until it is too late. In these modern western days a town without a newspaper is like a man who has lost his voice. Men of public spirit know that these words are true, and that editors cannot live upon ozone, printers pi. and free publicity dope.—Ledge.

Miso Furzsk, an Austrian, was fined $50 the other day for travelling without a permit.

MOTHER GOOSE COMES TO CHAUTAUQUA

Festival on the Fifth Night for the "Kiddies."

The fifth night of Chautauqua will be a big one for "kiddies" and grown-ups alike. A fifth pageant director will present, with the aid of the children. the Mother Goose Festival this night.

MOTHER GOOSE.

It is a rhythmic, fanciful play, featuring the rhymes and characters of Nurseryland.

The Junior work is being given more prominence than ever this year at Chautauqua. All the Junior Supervisors, one of whom will be in town all week, are experienced play-ground workers and have had special training for this summer's work at the Columbia College of Expression in Chicago.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

COMMUNICATION

Elko, July 15, 1918.

Francis Brindley, Secretary of the Property Owners Meeting, Fernie Annex, Fernie, B.C.

(Re Resignation of A. I. Fisher, M.P.P.)

Dear Sir—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter under date the Glorious 12th of July, and beg to say that I took your letter to Mayor Klenginsmith as he is the whole Liberal show in the Old Historic Burg of Elko at this writing, and the remarks he made after reading your letter and copy of Resolution, would have to be written on asbestos or something absolutely fireproof. The language he used fairly made our back hump up so that it would make a camel's back look like a clothes line.

It's all very well to swear at your Mr. Alex. I Fisher, but since you Fernie people were so anxious to vote for him you ought jolly well to "cuss" yourself.

As we are on the opposition side we fail to see where we can be of any assistance to you, but would like to suggest that you invite Premier Oliver and the Minister of Public Works down to the Annex and drown both of them, for the simple reason they are about the worst bunch of amateurs that ever was elected to the legislative assembly.

We feel sorry for Mr. Fisher being elected with such a bunch of locoed sheepherders, and we sincerely sympathize with the residents of the Fernie Annex for the rotten deal them Old Fried Eggs at Victoria is dealing you after the big revenue they are getting from the Fernie Electoral District.

Your very truly,
Fred Roo.

NAVY LEAGUE CONVENTION

The first Provincial Convention of the Navy League of Canada was held in Victoria on June 25th. During the past few months branches of this society have been formed in different districts throughout the province and delegates from these newly organized branches met in the Provincial Library of the parliament buildings to discuss the different problems with which they are confronted at the present time. Mrs. Garner, who went as a delegate from the Fernie district branch, gave a report of this convention on Tuesday evening last in the council chamber. The Victoria branch is doing a splendid work among the blue coat boys as they come into their city from the ships. Two institutions have been equipped and made into attractive homes for the sailor lads, and here they find comfortable beds, reading rooms and concert halls, where they may entertain themselves or are given concerts by different societies throughout the city. The speaker pointed out that throughout the convention great importance was given to the subject of educational work among the children in the province. A detailed plan was presented, which suggested pictures of navy subjects, a circulating library of books bearing on these subjects, lantern slides and essays, etc. A resolution was passed that this matter be taken up with the department of education in the hope that a greater knowledge of our magnificent navy will stimulate an active interest in our sailor boys.

For Sale—South half of Lot 2, Block 70, with concrete block house, double walls. Contains five rooms, also small one suitable for bath, open fireplace, built in cupboards. Full fireproof basement. $800. Easy terms. Apply W. Minton, Annex.

Bylaws Nos. 184, 185 and 186, which are better known as the High School Bylaws, were voted upon yesterday and the result was an overwhelming defeat of same. Ninety-four ratepayers voted, of which 60 of these voted against the proposal and 34 in favor. Even had the vote been reversed, namely 60 in favor and 34 against the bylaws would still have been defeated as it is necessary in order to pass same that those in favor are two to one against.

OVER THE RHINE

Germany's Rhenish provinces have been freed from invasion for a long time. A few sectors are now occupied by the allies in Alsace-Lorraine but Germany herself has learned no lesson from the hardships of territorial subjugation. Her sacrifice of men and material since March seems to mark desperate realization of the necessity of removing the theatre of conflict as far as possible from the north bank of the Rhine.

It would hardly have been possible to effect the great military penetration achieved into the far interior of Russia, had it not been welcomed by some millions of Russian Prussians. The recoil of the Austrian army may for a similar reason carry the Italian advance farther than Italia Irredenta. If it does Austria's war footing may break up into hostile racial groups as it has before.

An army of invasion would be in hostile country the moment it crossed the Rhine, but its reception might not be wholly unfriendly either secretly or openly. Racial affinity has offered the lines of least resistance in western Russia. It must not be lightly assumed social and industrial intercourse have only worked southward. How far northward the roots of Gallic family and economic influence have extended is yet to be the subject of military demonstration.

Gallic stocks usually predominate in mixed strains. Berlin has no stomach for invasion in the west. Her diplomats grow irritable even before she is touched at the extremities. The road to Berlin may smooth out some of its own difficulties.—Wall Street Journal.

The other day an inspector of the Ontario License Board saw two fine looking pedestals made of a plaster of paris composition at the station in Timmins, Ont. The pedestals were got up quite fancy, and made a good appearance. However, the eye of the inspector noticed something trickling out of one of the pedestals; this aroused his suspicions and he examined further. His surprise can be imagined when he opened the pedestal and found in the inside a five gallon tin of high wines. A similar quantity of wine was found in the other pedestal. The liquor was confiscated, the inspector was unable to locate the man to whom it was consigned and he failed to appear to claim his property. Now the License Board is tracing the shipment back to Montreal to find who were the consignees.

Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns or calluses so they lift off with fingers.

Ouch ! ? ! ? ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Conquered Dyspepsia and Restored His Health.

MR. ROBERT NEWTON.

Little Bras d'Or, C.B.

"I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches, and did not sleep well at night. I lost so much weight —going from 185 pounds to 146 pounds—that I became alarmed and saw several doctors who, however, did me no good. Finally, a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'.

In a week, there was improvement. The constipation was corrected; and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous". ROBERT NEWTON.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

A blind man played a billiard match recently against a man with sight, and scored 62 points in one hour and forty minutes. The blind player was Sergt. Shawl, late of the Princess Patricia regiment, who lost his eyesight in the second battle of Ypres. The strangest thing was that, although he advanced his hand to locate the exact place of the balls, he only two or three times actually touched a ball. He said that he could sense the ball, just as anyone in a dark room could tell by the "feel" on his face when he is close to a wall. He described it as feeling a coldness. His highest break was nine.

Last week was peace week in the labor troubles at the coast. This week seems likely to be strike week. The time has come for a big man to settle all these difficulties. Unfortunately that kind of a man is not in control in the Dominion department of labor.

We regret to report this wek the death of Alfred James Joule, of Baynes Lake, which took place on Tuesday. Deceased was well known and highly respected throughout the district. Much of the stock is held in Spokane and vicinity.

The hot, sultry weather of the past few days culminated early this morning in the most tremendous electrical storm that has ever passed over this town. For about half an hour the heavens were continually lit up with blinding flashes of lightning and the artillery of the clouds gave one the impression that the war must have reached Fernie. Lightning struck eight or nine times on Mount Fernie, starting bush fires, which the heavy rain which followed soon extinguished.

Mr. Lawson, of Halifax, N.S., a man of considerable newspaper experience, has been in the city for the past week looking over the Ledger plant for the District Union. It has not yet been definitely decided whether the paper will be started here or in Calgary, but the chances are in favor of Fernie as a location in Calgary is difficult to secure at present. However, the board are supposed to decide the matter tomorrow. Mr. Lawson claims to have a newspaper experience covering some thirty-five different papers and has also a broad knowledge of the labor question, having been in close touch with the situation in Nova Scotia during the trouble a few years ago when the United Mine Workers were practically put out of business in that province. If given a free hand and allowed to use the judgment which his wide experience has given him he will no doubt be a power for good in District 18. Hitherto the policy of the Ledger has nearly always been controlled by the selfish intrigue of those in office, who think it is necessary to stir up a strike about election time in order that they may hold their jobs, or by the red-eyed bolsheviki element who are of the opinion that anarchy is the only remedy for the existing order of things.

MUST ENLIST IN PRODUCTIVE EMPLOYMENT

The loafers and merely nominal workers of the North American continent have fallen upon evil days. Both in Canada and the U. S. the law has now set its face severely against them. On July 1st the United States Federal Order, as drawn up by Provost Marshall Enoch Crowder, went in effect. All men of draft age, that is between the ages of 18 and 50, have now to be engaged in some productive employment or get into the army. This Federal Order is being re-enforced by anti-loafing laws, enacted by the state legislatures.

The Provost Marshall has defined productive and non-productive occupations and there is no escape for those who cannot be classed among the productive workers if they are of draft age. Non-productive occupations in the United States are defined as follows:

First, persons engaged in the serving of food and drink or either in public places, including hotels and social clubs.

Second, passenger elevator operators, attendants, doormen, and footmen, carriage openers and other attendants in clubs, hotels, stores, opera houses, office buildings and bathhouses.

Third, persons, including ushers other attendants engaged and occupied in connection with games, sports and amusements, except actual performers in legitimate concerts, operas and theatrical performers.

Fourth, persons employed in domestic service.

Fifth, sales clerks and other clerks employed in stores and other mercantile establishments.

If a man of draft age registered in due course and waiting his selection for the draft be not employed in productive occupation, or if he be idle partially or completely he must hold himself on immediate call for the army. The regulation is applicable to idle registrants, to gamblers of all descriptions and employees of race tracks and bucket shops, to fortune-tellers, clairvoyants, palmists and people of such vocations. If the Board of Appeal so judge, idlers may have their deferred classification withdrawn and their names will be reported to the Adjutant General of the State for militarry service. The only excuses for idleness and non-productive employment on the part of a man of military age are set down as sickness, reasonable vacation, lack of reasonable opportunity for employment, temporary absenses from regular employment not to exceed one week unless such are habitual and frequent or domestic circumstances involving hardship to dependents if a change of employment were ordered, or where such change would necessitate night work on the part of women under unsuitable conditions.

INTERNING THE ENEMY ALIENS—AT LAST

The only surprising thing about the decision of the home government to intern alien enemies is the delay in reaching it. Canada has rivalled the mother country in the same mistaken policy of tolerance. There is no more reason for such a decision today than there was two or three years ago excepting, apparently, that some of these ingrates, emboldened by long immunity, have fallen into the practice of writing saucy and boastful letters to the prime minister.

If Lloyd George lived in Vancouver he would find equally glaring instances of abuse of British liberty by these people. He would find them defiant, and even trulucent toward those who suggest that the German or Austrian in this country should be placed under surveillance and restraint. He would find them "braking" on troop trains, and when interviewed by the authorities, darkly hinting that if they are left unmolested there will be no trouble. He would find them stoking on our steamers. He would hear their foreign pratter in our mines, and along our railways. He would find them carrying on highly profitable business in a community whose sons their relatives and countrymen are slaying. And he would find our premier, like himself, hesitating to make them pay a modest forfeit for the right to sympathize with their compatriots, our enemies, and at the same time thrive on profits derived from our people.

But soon, we believe, he will hear that the Canadian people, like the British, have at last recognized that chivalry and generosity are dangerous virtues to exercise on a race which is dead to both. That "Day" is due.

"NOTHING"

When a mob sacked the Tuileries, it found in an iron chest a diary kept by the King of France from 1766 to 1792. Louis' journal entry for July 14, 1789, is the one word Rien — "Nothing."

And yet that was one of the great days in proving France's thirst for liberty. On that day men eager to destroy the outward evidences of tyranny in France marched upon the Bastile, shot down its pensioners and Swiss mercenaries, and wrecked the whole unholy monument to outgrown medievalism. Only seven prisoners were found there, so that the taking of the Bastile was not in itself important, but it was read by observers keener than Louis the King as a symbol of popular regeneration. Since 1789 the Fourteenth of July has been freedom's birthday — and not in France alone.—Collier's.

SOLDIER APPRECIATES "Y"

"Unsolicited Testimonials" are too often obvious fakes, but the following extracts from a letter received by a Toronto lady bear the hall-mark of the writer's honest impressions:

5th June, 1918.

Dear Miss .....

Did you observe in the papers some little time ago a report of a Convention of G. W. Veterans' Association in which a resolution was unanimously (?) passed condemning the work and organization of the "Y" among the boys out here? To me it appears to be a grossly unfair charge against the Associations, entirely, at least from my experience, without foundation.

Such a charge, coming as it does from such a powerful and undoubtedly influential body, is bound to do serious harm to the "Y" and indirectly to other institutions of like nature and thus to all of us out here. I cannot say how glad I am that this libel, it is nothing more or less, was uttered after the close of the recent highly successful campaign of the "Y" in Canada for increased financial support. If it had been a couple of months earlier the loss would have been incalculable and we should have been the sufferers.

I am looking at it purely from the self-interest or selfish point of view because I fully realize how much we owe to the "Y." It is a perfect God-send to us fellows. This is not merely my own opinion on the matter. The resolution was much discussed among my own comrades and the general consensus of opinion was the same. To us it had all the apperance of a well-designed scheme by some malcontents to hinder and hurt the work of the "Y."

The "Y" pushes its canteens and shelters closer up to the front here than any other institution I know of, and the Canadian "Y" is no exception. It pushes as far up as the military authorities will permit and is to be found in all sorts of unexpected places, in dugouts, in old cellars in ruined villages within a thousand yards of the enemy, and even in the support trenches. There "the cup that cheers" is dispensed with unstinted hand free to all comers at all hours of the day or night. And until recently, biscuits were as liberally offered, not to mention the indispensible "smokes." Many a night, when coming out of the trenches, I have stopped at their shelters for a short rest and a warm drink of tea before pushing on over the other four to eight kilometres which usually lie between us and our billets. Completely worn out, and almost dead beat after a long tour "in" during which we possibly only had one hot drink a day, that cup of tea and package of biscuits finished up with a "whiff" which we have probably all been short of several days ago, comes as a God-send, refreshing us as nothing else can. We feel as new men. It is then that we bless the "Y."

Out of the line it is the same. Almost the first thing one thinks of when back in billets is the location of the nearest "Y." In the great majority of French villages where we are usually quartered there is absolutely nothing in the shape of recreation or amusement except the "Estaminets" and these are at best questionable. The "Y" comes to the rescue once more. They build a hut, or obtain the use of one from the military authorities, or put up tents, and immediately arrange for visits of the amateur concert parties and cinema shows which are always free to everyone. Many a pleasant hour have I spent at such entertainments. That they are appreciated by us all goes without saying.

There are other important points that I might mention. The Canadian "Y" by its organization through its canteens is enabled to supply us with innumerable Canadian home products such as canned fruit, biscuits, chewing and smoking tobacco and such like. which it is quite impossible for us to obtain otherwise. For that alone we are thankful to the "Y."

As to their spiritual activities, I need scarcely mention them. They are not forgotten. Neither are they forced upon us and like everything else they are appreciated. As proof of that one has only to attend any Sunday evening service held by the "Y." They are always well attended by the men, and the spontaneousness of the singing and the general interest taken is easily discerned.

All this cannot be accomplished without expense, but I venture to think that we at least are getting ample return for it, and the boys here would be very sorry indeed to lose any of the benefits and facilities which the "Y" through you people at home, is enabled to afford us. And to come to the financial side of the institution, the cost of administration, I have but just recently seen a certified auditors statement for the past year's turnover and to me the operation expenses appeared exceedingly low.

Personally I cannot speak too highly of the "Y" work among us and practically all the men whom I have met in France have been of like opinion.

Warwick Quartet Opens Chautauqua

Splendid Voices That Register Close Harmony to be Heard on the First Day

Four young men who cannot only sing well, but who know the art of stage presentation and "put over" their programs with snap and vim, make up the Warwick Quartet, the musical attraction on the opening day of Chautauqua. Coached by that master craftsman, Elias Day, these talented young singers present a program of male quartet music thoroughly good. They enter upon their work with enthusiasm and good humor, and audiences soon find themselves in accord with the mood of the singers. The program of quartet numbers is interspersed with individual solos, musical readings, instrumental solos, pianologues, etc., and never fails to please.

CAPT. WOOD BRIGGS AT CHAUTAUQUA

of the platform for several years. At the close of the 1917 season he offered his services to his country and was given a commission in the Texas National Guard. Until his regiment is ordered abroad Capt. Briggs has been given government permission to return to the platform. He is in direct touch with the Bureau of Information in Washington and will present in his lecture, "Playing the Game," many of the vital issues which the country faces at home and abroad.

THE SPIRIT OF ITALY

The magnificent spirit with which the Italian army leaped forward to meet the Austrian onset on the Piave and in the Alps was gratifying in more ways than one; for the sake of Italy herself; for the sake of the effect which Austrian defeat must have exercised on the military situation in France; and for the prospect it offers for the recovery of the British army from the heavy blow which fell upon it last March. The Kaiser's easy habit of referring to the British army as permanently out of the game has had its effect on the timid. On this side of the water it was recently stated on the supposed authority of an eminent French general, that it would take Haig's army a year at least to get on its feet again. Which suggests a comparison with Italy.

The disaster of last October on the Isonzo need not be rehearsed in detail. At Caporetto the Italian army went to pieces, physically and morally. The means employed by the Teutons to undermine Italian steadfastness do not matter. The battle began with panic, continued for some days as a rout, and ended only with the rush of Allied reinforcements to the Piave and the Alps. The enemy plunged forward 60 miles into Italy and harvested a quarter of a million prisoners. It was a shock under which any nation would have reeled. It carried a peculiar menace for Italy which from the beginning has sheltered a very powerful Teutophile faction in high places. Could Italy "come back" after such a trial; could the pro-German element be prevented from infecting the whole nation with defeatism? Even in the anxious days of the German offensive in France, Allied consideration turned to the Piave and the imminent Austrian offensive with profoundest anxiety. The Austrian attack came within six months, and Italy had found herself completely.

The losses ofo the British army in Picardy were less than half, in prisoners, the losses of the Italian army on the Isonzo. Losses in guns and material were proportionately smaller. Without derogation to Italy, British resources and British spirit have a greater recuperative quality. If the Italian army found its regeneration in six months, the British army—well, it will be almost four months since the great stroke of March 21 when these lines appear in print; and when these lines appear in print the answer may have been given.—Collier's.

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Jim Thistlebeak says, as chairman of the Elko Retail Merchants ..Food Control, it's up to us to spread the mustard where it is not wasted. Always eat beef with your mustard. If you can't get beef get mutton. Waste in the kitchen means want in the trenches. Save or serve, work or fight. The boys on the farm are not playing hookey.

Lots of Lethbridge people are visiting Elko this summer. Mr. and Mrs. Mathews and family are camped in Canyon Park. Mrs. Stickley and family, the two Miss Shirleys, have rented Cameron cottage, Gospel Hill. Miss Van Hecke of the Consumers Hardware, while sitting on the banks of the Elk on Friday afternoon knitting socks for somebody, her yarn rolled into the river and in pulling it out pulled out an eight pound trout, and she said the fellow that gets them socks will come out all right just the same as the yarn. Mrs. Strachan and two daughters have rooms at the Poplars, and Mrs. Westby and two daughters and several other families are camped at Riverside Park.

Jim Thistlebeak says that the poor old couples who are no longer able to produce food for themselves or others are worthy of the greatest respect, but this should not be carried to the extent of being unfair with the young and vigorous skookum man still able to raise hell and hoe potatoes, serve or save. As the Hun looks with hungry eyes at the Allies cutting down supplies, he'd like to cut his own down, but he hasn't got the stuff to cut.

Our Food Control remark this week is just plain boiled beef and cabbage, wholesome and filling but in no wise fancy. Here's to all the skin off your nose if you don't save or serve.

The City of Winnipeg, the capital of Manitoba, the postage stamp province, refuses to allow the Chatauqua to play there. Jim Thistlebeak says this will stop the yodelers from from oo-lee-ai-ee-ooing and give them a chance to go home and join the Tyrolees or the Tyroloos.

Jim Thistlebeak says the golden rule was all right in the golden age but the golden text for today is "Johnny get your gun." Serve or save.

Yes, Mabel, a newspaper could print a lot of things which it does not but they would not look well in type, so if you serve or save, Mabel, it will be all right.

All the smoke around the Waldo notel last week was not caused by the people smoking Miners Special or Tobacco Plains cigars. Some of it was from the bush fires. Both are well known cigars and can be smoked with perfect safety, except perhaps in a black powder factory.

A. E. Ferguson, master plumber of Fernie, and party, motored down to Roosville Falls last Sunday.

Jim Thistlebeak says that women like to say that they married for love but a big majority of them married for a meal ticket, but if they'll save so the boys can have a good meal ticket over yonder we'll forgive them.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blakey of the Liberty Bell Copper property, Roosville valley, motored to Fernie last Saturday to record some claims which are proving very attractive to outsiders.

Several Kalispell families camped at Elko Sunday, who are motoring to Calgary and expect to return through the Windermere valley.

Miss Mary Dragon, of Fernie, was down to Elko last week end the guest of Mrs. M. Gorman, Government House, Court Avenue.

The C.P.R. Painters and Decorators are brightening things up in Elko this week. Depot Master Bill Swope believes in having things as bright as the bottom of a new tin bucket, to coincide with his infectious smile.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Archer, ranchers, Canal Flats, Windermere Valley, were Elko visitors this week.

Fred Roo is down in Montana and Tobacco Plains this week with a party of mining men from Butte City and New York. Good advertising always gets the live ones and enables you to both serve and save.

Contractor Billy Woods got an order this week from Alberta for 100 cars of mine timber, and he's got the goods.

COUNCIL HOLDS TWO SESSIONS

The council held a special session on Monday evening primarily to discuss the matter of assessment on the King Edward and Napanee hotel properties, on which His Honor Judge Thompson recently allowed $5,000.00 and $6,200.00 reduction respectively, on the improvements assessment, when the registered owners carried appeals to him from the decision of the city court of revision, which confirmed the figures of the city assessor.

J. C. Orner appeared before the council and under special privilege addressed them at some length, advancing a proposition to increase the revenue of the electric light department by the sale of electric stoves, etc., on the instalment plan. As outlined Mr. Orner claimed to be able to put in a large stock of these electric appliances on which he suggested that the city guarantee the sum of $1.65 on each article; by so doing the regular retail price of these articles would be reduced by that amount thereby reducing the cost to the consumer to a normal figure within the reach of everybody, but in order to make the sale still more attractive he proposed that this price be paid on the instalment plan of 50c per month. However, in this connection he would require the city to guarantee such payments and make all collections on the monthly basis. Mr. Orner further implied that in the event of the city co-operating with his proposal he would possibly require some tangible assurance of the city's support in the enterprise which would enable him to procure from the supply firm a sufficient stock required to meet the estimated demand.

Mr. Orner elaborated extensively on the project, giving instances where these appliances had been sold in other places at cost or even below cost, which was an incentive for consumers to use additional power and thereby increasing the revenue from that department. An example of this was the B.C. Electric Co. in Vancouver.

Ald. Jackson as chairman of the water and light committee in considering Mr. Orner's proposition, stated that while he was anxious at all times to increase the revenue from the plant there were several things to be considered before falling in line with same. There were other merchants in the city who handled these articles the same as Mr. Orner, and he could see no just reason why the city should favor him so gratuitously, thereby discriminating against the others. Moreover, he felt if the city was to guarantee credit and become a collecting agency in the mercantile field they might far better open up a branch themselves and do the business direct with the consumers. They would have to do everything with the exception of storing the stock and making the actual sales anyway if the proposition was accepted. Ald. Dicken took much the same view, as did practically all the others. It was brought out in the discussion that these appliances would be used principally during the summer season when the consumption would amount to little over the minimum; and also if used extensively during the fall and winter seasons when the plant was under heavy load it might transpire that the capacity of the present plant would not be sufficient to meet the demand, because at present time during these last mentioned periods the normal load required was practically the maximum for the plant. The question was concluded by a motion being unanimously carried that the proposal could not be favorably entertained.

Dealing with the assessment appeals, Sherwood Herchmer reviewed conclusively the evidence that had been given when the appeals were heard and also stated he was of the opinion that the decision of Judge Thompson was wrong. A general discussion followed, during which the question of appealing from this decision was thoroughly considered and finally upon the suggestion of Mr. Herchmer it was decided to submit a copy of the evidence, together with the judgments to some eminent counsel at the coast, when it could be ascertained whether his contention that an appeal to the higher court might reverse the award of Judge Thompson or whether no relief could be expected by taking such appeal.

After hearing read an invitation from the city council of Nelson for representatives from this city to attend the Convention of the Western Canada Irrigation Association, upon which no action was taken, and passing a motion to refund the sum of $285.00 to Mrs. Wyatt paid in error on account of taxes, adjournment was taken.

The council with the exception of Ald. Rutledge attended the regular meeting last evening and after disposition of the routine formula an application from Jos. Littler , in Block 74, for electric light extension, was considered. This matter relative to the extension of the power line beyond the city limits, it was pointed out, came up last year, when it was thoroughly investigated and found to be of such financial proportions that the outlay so far exceded the revenue that the proposition could not be proceded with at that time. As there was no apparent change up to the present the application therefore was disallowed.

Jules Andre applied for a permit to instal a 250 gallon gasoline tank at the garage in the old K.P. building, which will be occupied by his firm after August 1st. The permit will be granted conditional upon the connection for filling purposes being placed off the sidewalk allowance.

With regard to the city's water rights on Lizard Creek, regarding which J. S. T .Alexander, member of the provincial water commission, had been consulted upon the occasion of his recent visit, in order to put this matter in proper standing it was regularly carried that an application be made to the Water Commissioner for permit to survey, which if granted will re-establish the city's rights thereon.

The B. C. Federationist appealed for a grant of $100 in lieu of advertising space allotted this vicinity in their special Labor Day issue. Ald. Jackson expressed the opinion if the city could contribute $175 to "Spalding's Guide" he supposed they could sink a hundred in this. Ald. Beck and Ald. Dudley took the view that these outside hundred dollar contributions should be curtailed wherever possible. Ald. Hunter considered it would not be $100 wasted. His Worship as a subscriber to the paper said it certainly was a live labor paper but as the information in the letter was vague and did not clearly set out what was to be received for the donation it was deemed advisable to make further inquiry. Ald. Dudley said that they might better give it to the local paper about to be established, namely, the District Ledger. Ald. Jackson coincided with this view with alacrity. Further information from the Federationist will be required before any decision is reached.

The Association of Dominion Fire Chiefs, by letter, announced that the annual convention of that body would be held in Toronto in August; the Pacific Coast Association will hold its annual gathering in Oakland, Cal., in September. Each association suggested delegates be sent from the city. The communications were filed with nothing more than passing jocular comment.

The Comptroller General submitted an account amounting to $70 as the proportion of the city's liability for the keep of one Matthew Morris in the Provincial Home. The city have a long standing contra account against the government, amounting to $246.50 for expenses in connection with certain parties sent to the home and it was decided to make a formal demand for settlement thereof, meanwhile the government's account against the city to remain unpaid.

The medical health officer reported the general health in the city good. Measles had been more or less prevalent and there had beeen a few cases of chicken pox, but both of the same had now subsided. The medical health officer explained that in the cases of these diseases there was no quarantine in the strict sense of the word; dwellings were placarded as a warning against people unnecessarily exposing themselves, but he suggested where cases of these diseases existed people would materially assist in preventing spreading of same by not unnecessarily coming in contact with the general public or those who have never been afflicted with same. Regarding the inspection of the premises of vendors of milk, wherein in some cases cause for objection to the stabling conditions had been found and orders to remedy same issued, a recent subsequent inspection had ascertained that in only one case had the vendor failed to comply, in which case notification was given to discontinue the sale of milk within the city. It was further pointed out in this connection that the chief trouble was lack of adequate ventilation in the stables and while some were fairly satisfactory during the warm weather seasons, during the winter the limited air space in stables brought about a condition which was extremely unfavorable. The Chinese laundries passed inspection but the medical health officer intimated that in the near future he would require provision made so that the laundries and sleeping quarters of those employed therein will have to be kept separate. The condition of the slough along the Great Northern railway was again considered very unsatisfactory.

The following accounts were approved: W. Hawthorne $10, Fernie Free Press $31, M. A. Berigan $141.24, Fernie Cartage Co. $6, Catholic Children's Aid Society $6.43, F. G. Perry $1.20, Duthie Co. $23.35, Wm. Robson $11, C.N.P. Coal Co. $549.98, Imperial Oil Co. $22.99, Fernie Optical Parrlors $2.50, Duthie Co. $1.40, Lawe & Fisher $35.45, Lawe & Fisher $33.65

With regard to the appointment of a delegate to the annual meeting of the Union of B. C. Municipalities, the city clerk was appointed to attend at Penticton in September as representative of this city on motion of Ald. Beck and Ald. Dudley. Ald. Dicken and Ald. Jackson submitted as an amendment that the Mayor be the delegate, but His Worship flatly refused to consider the appointment and the amendment was not put to a vote.

Ald. Jackson revived the matter which had been laid over from a former meeting, of Ex-City Electrician Finn during his term of office having taken electric light for his personal use without turning in any meter readings and thereby not having paid for same. The city clerk reported that from his investigation he could not find where any authority had been given whereby the city electrician was entitled to free electricity. Ald. Jackson commented upon the matter at considerable length, pointing out that he had always fought against anyone getting free "juice," even the Returned Soldiers' Club and other patriotic enterprises had been rejected and he felt that there was no alderman past or present who for a minute was aware Mr. Finn was enjoying this privilege while employed by the city at the elaborate salary he then received. As to the question how it was that as chairman of the fire, water and light committee he had not become acquainted with the fact that Mr. Finn was obtaining free juice, Ald. Jackson said he certainly was not supposed to know the name of every subscriber and that only the names of those in arrears came particularly to his notice. His Worship, who had acted on this committee last year, verified this and stated he was not aware that such condition prevailed. While some of the aldermen were dubious about the procedure, the following motion put by Ald. Jackson and seconded by Ald. Hunter finally received majority sanction: "That the city clerk take the necessary steps to collect Mr. Finn's light account and that counsel be employed to collect same if necessary."

The city clerk suggested that the estimates of the year be finally passed, whereupon Ald. Jackson intimated that in view of the apparent scare owing to the phenomenal rise in the price of feed, it might be advisable to increase the estimate an additional $200. However when the question of the hay crop from the city park was mentioned and it was estimated that it would amount to approximately 20 tons this year as compared with 12 tons last year, it was decided to defer passing the estimates until next regular meeting, by which time the exact quantity of hay from the park would be known and if as large as believed it might not be necessary to increase the estimate for feed.

Ald. Hunter raised the question of license fee to be charged the Chautauqua. Upon reference to the Amusement Bylaw it was found that the regular fee for such class of entertainment was $20 per diem. The following motion accordingly was carried unanimously: "That license fees be collected from the Chautauqua to the tune of $20 from the opening of the show to the closing day, Sunday excepted."

Ald. Hunter then introduced a large number of questions he had tabulated which were relating to the advertisement of the assets of the Fernie Lumber Co., from which he endeavored to ascertain information as to the interests of the city so far as they were directly or indirectly connected there with. The first was with reference to the water rights on Fairy Creek. He was informed that the city's rights consisted of using water from that source for domestic purposes only, to which extent the city was fully protected. As to the power rights the city had no title; the rights for domestic purposes had been purchased from A. McDougall and as the advertisement inserted by the Liquidators of the Fernie Lumber Co. did not specify anything relative to the water rights apparently that was something to which the company had no claim. Ald. Jackson pointed out for the benefit of Ald. Hunter that in the past this source of supply for power purposes had been thoroughly investigated and data submitted to various engineers all of whom had advised that there was not sufficient head during certain seasons to generate the power required. He volunteered also to get further and up-to-date information in the near future on this same subject.

Upon obtaining the value of the amount of coal consumed at the local power plant from Jan. 1 to June 30, based at $3,779.80, Ald. Hunter inquired if the city had ever considered the question of obtaining power more economically. His Worship replied that undoubtedly it would be very nice if this could be accomplished but the financial condition at this time would not permit contemplating any such undertaking. Ald. Hunter then desired to know the intention of the council with regard to lands of the Fernie Lumber Co. if placed on the market; also what had been the purchase price of these lands when acquired by the Fernie Lumber Co. and the amount of taxes they were paying thereon. His Worship intimated to Ald. Hunter that these questions were entirely beyond the scope of the city administration, as the lands in question were not within the municipality and that he could undoubtedly gain his information by making application properly to the government authorities, under whose jurisdiction same were handled. Ald. Hunter insisted that the matter of the city acquiring land for settlement or cultivation purposes was something of interest to the citizens and a somewhat heated debate was indulged in concerning the feasibility or otherwise of such scheme. Ald. Hunter then started things in earnest by asking "What does the city council intend doing with the river bank protection?"

His worship reiterated the former endeavors, emphasizing that unless the government carried out their portion of this work, it was useless for the city to undertake anything as the result would be exactly the same as it always has been namely each succeeding flood tide destroys the protection work of the preceeding year and does more damage. Representatives of West Fernie, Messrs. Brindley and Lees, and of the Annex, William Minton, enlivened matters considerably on being permitted to make addresses. Mr. Brindley wanted to know the meaning of the motion requesting the circulation of a petition. Ald. Dicken mover thereof, immediately responded that it meant exactly what it stated. Ald. Jackson, as seconder, said his idea was that they would be asking the voice of the population of Fernie instead of placing the onus on seven men on the council. Mr. Brindley remarked that two years ago, a widely signed petition had been forwarded to the Government and it was ignored, and he therefor, was of the opinion if this course was again adopted the result would be the same. Mr. A. Lees very earnestly voices similar sentiments. These interested parties were extremely eager, they claimed, for the city council to suggest something more effective than their resolution requesting the resignation of Mr. A. I. Fisher, M. P. P. This resolution had been approved as it was believed that past experience had amply demonstrated the fact that persuasive measures and appeals to the government were of no avail, hence this was more of a departure along the lines of coercive measures, which at least were worth the effort of trying.

The entire question was re-hashed and re-hashed in detail, the affected parties from the Annex and West Fernie prophesying as to the calamity which would undoubtedly befall them, while the council reviewed its efforts to get something material done by the government. Mr. Wm. Minton expounded in a lengthy oration, more or less in a manner of condemnation, upon governments and councils, past and present when they made no effort to prevent a calamity that was plainly forseen. He contended the provincial government, the city and the Great Northern Railway were vitally concerned as well as the private owners and surely therefor it was no trivial matter. Mr. Minton also stated he felt the condition could be rectified "if the 'dispositing' of silt and debris were prevented on the opposite bank and the water channel confined with some 'imperious' material that would eliminate the 'erosion' from this side, although it might not prevent the overflow.".

In the absence of any suggestion from the council other than the petition, Messrs. Minton and Brindley suggest that a census be taken of the population affected and the 'amount of wealth' that is menaced, tabulated and submitted throughout the riding

Why the city don't turn the prison labor loose on the park. A prison farm would be a fine institution. It looks rather bad to se five or six able bodied men weeding a little flower garden.

Word has been received that Dr. Harold Anderson, formerly of Fernie, has been appointed a Lieut.-Colonel. Dr. Anderson was one of our first young men to go overseas and by hard work is steadily climbing to the top. A few months ago he was honored by the French government with the Military Cross. His many Fernie friends unite in congratulating him on his new appointment.

COMMUNICATION

Coal Creek, July 25, 1918.

To the Editor Fernie Free Press:

Sir—In your note re the starting of the District Ledger in your last issue, the following appears:

"Hitherto the policy of the Ledger has nearly always been controlled by the selfish intrigue of those in office, who think it necessary to stir up a strike about election time in order that they may hold their jobs."

This is a very bold assertion, Mr. Editor. Would you mind giving us the evidence in support thereof.

Yours truly,
John E. Smith.

(Ed.—Mr. Smith is evidently of so simple a mind that he must have the private correspondence and dictaphone records of everything in connection with the above statement before he will believe. Still even a mind of such innocence must have thought it strange that this camp is kept in a constant state of turmoil by a number of disinterested (?) agitators and would-be reformers. Is the management of the local company so unfair to its employees that they must be constantly violating existing agreements and running around with a chip on their shoulders. Even a blind man would occasionally see personal motives for this state of affairs. If Mr. Smith will make a study of those trade unions who really have made a name for themselves and are recognized throughout the land, he will find that they always live up to their agreements. They pride themselves on fulfilling an agreement to the letter. If an individual local takes upon its shoulders a local strike, without the sanction of the international, every member of such local is heavily fined and if it persists union men are sent in to replace the strikers. When the United Mine Workers place their Union on that high level there will be no question of where they stand with the public.)

Fernie Free Press:

Dear Mr. Editor—I was a strong advocate for Prohibition, but seeing results of same in Fernie, am surely disgusted with it. The High School By-Law was turned down by some of these strong prohibitionists, these same people having their basements lined with liquors. But, Mr. Editor, when it comes to paying a little more taxes, making these merchants dig up a little more, they are the first to howl their heads off. Being on wages and having a large family I cannot send mine to the universities. But this town is on the bum and we are supposed to have a moral reform mayor and council, and you can get the booze if you pay the price. And three pastors have quit in digust. And the children can go without the High School and the younger ones can be huddled together in the cattle market. Yours very truly,

A Ratepayer.

AN AMERICAN FORECAST

Some time Germany is going to make a plausible peace proposal. This will of course be a camouflaged war move. She may offer to yield Belgium and even to pay some indemnity; indeed, she will yield anything except the Pan-Germanic empire, which she now holds, extending from the North Sea to Bagdad. Her policy will be elastic in the west and adamant in the east. When this hour comes every pacifist, every England-hater, every secret or open pro-German, every half-baked Socialist, every weak-kneed sister in trousers or petticoats, will clamor for the acceptance of the German proposal, or at least, for a council of the nations of which Germany can get the powers about the table and juggle the cards. At the same time the twelve or fourteen great dailies owned and controlled by William Randolph Hearst will let out a strident blast for stopping bloodshed—in other words, a peace "made in Germany."—By President Scherer, of Throop College.

A PROPHECY

Mr. Philip Gibbs, the London Daily Telegraph war correspondent, and the most successful writer of them all, hazards a prophecy in one of his latest dispatches which is of exceptional interest coming from such a source. "The fate of the world," he says "will be decided before the leaves turn brown on this year's trees and perhaps before the harvest is gathered in. I believe it will be decided in our favor, but the enemy is still immensely strong. One's mind is staggered by the number of men he crowded on to this western front, but he is using them up apace, and we know he is not replacing them at anything like the rate of losses." These words were penned after the dramatic counter blow between Soissons and Chateau Thierry, which Mr. Gibbs considers means that the balance of numbers on the western front has begun to tip in the Allies' favor. The blow indicates General Foch is able to use his reserves with greater freedom and surety of striking power. Mr. Gibbs points out the motto of the French generalissimo is "attack." General Foch's patience has been put to a severe strain by the necessity for defensive measures through having to husband his forces.

BRIDGING THE SUEZ CANAL

An announcement has appeared in the newspapers so insignificant that it has almost passed unheeded. The size of the item was altogether out of proportion to its importance. The single paragraph was to the effect that the swinging bridge over the Suez Canal from El Kantara, about thirty-five miles south of Port Said, had been completed. Yet that bridge affords direct railway communication between Cairo and the cities of Palestine; it conquers the desert which separated Egypt from Palestine and which has for centuries barred the march of nations; it joins Asia to Africa; and it assures the world that the Holy Land will henceforth be under Christian guardianship. Xerxes bridging the Hellespont is nothing to bridging the Suez canal! Surely the bells of all Christendom ought to have been rung when that insignificant announcement crept into the corners of the papers. — Christian Science Monitor.

Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchaser from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjustment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

"THE HONOR SYSTEM" Is a Melting Pot of Souls - It Is Comparable Only to a Mighty Organ Recital" - William Fox

BY WILLIAM FOX

In finally deciding to inaugurate an annual motion picture event patterned much along the lines of the famous Drury Lane productions in London I was put to it to find a theme so appealing, so universal that—though the productions are to deal exclusively with American themes—it would make an entire world responsive. I am sure I have succeeded.

I am certain that with "The Honor System" I have made an auspicious beginning of a yearly series of big spectacular pictures of great dramatic wealth and on subjects close to the hearts of the American people. There will be no limit to cost ..where ..the largest, most unusual and artistic results are in view. They shall be the big cinema moments of the year for every class—these plays for every man, these plays for the people.

The greatest of dramas should have the greatest of themes. The first of these for the screen is a stupendous realization..... It is the "MELTING POT OF SOULS." Its appeal knows no location, no period of time. It is for all time, all places, because it deals with THE GREATEST THING IN THE WORLD.

What is the GREATEST THING IN THE WORLD of men today?

No; MONEY IS THE LEAST when you are dealing with the souls of men.

What, then, is the greatest?

LOVE, of course!

Now ask yourself these questions and you will have touched upon all of the possibilities of emotion within you and the cardinal points of the biggest of dramas:

Do you love "the swetest girl in the world?"

Do you love YOUR COUNTRY even more than her?

Do you love HONOR more than either of these two?

DO YOU LOVE YOUR BROTHER MAN SO THAT YOU WOULD YIELD YOUR LIFE FOR HIM?

Love, indeed, is the majestic master of all things—absolute Love, which holds the nations in the ties of family; that makes man and man a brother each to the other and swings the starry universe in the spell of its infinite harmony. It is the love that cannot fully be expressed in the honey-sweet sensuousness or lute or mandolin, but the divine feeling notated by the heaven-wide surge and swell of a great cathedral organ.....

It may be well to recall here that an eminent mind has said that a great organ, more than any other musical instrument, appealingly can express the entire comedy and tragedy of human life, from the precious swadlings of the cradle to the anguished cerements of the grave.

Clement Scott has beautifully expressed the same idea in verse:

——"In your eyes,
Seeing the vision of my Paradise;
Hearing God's music, while the organ rolls
It mighty measures to our very souls."

We are, therefore, inviting you to the world's greatest organ recital.

But you SEE theme, revealed to you like the unrolling of a magic tapestry, in the web and woof of which are the good woman, "The Little Lady of the Flowers," and the sinister one, the passion-poppy of evil—and the MAN. There alone is a gripping story, but these humans in the TRAGIC TRIANGLE are simply factors in the building up of a bigger and more profoundly appealing theme than the ETERNAL CALL of SEX.

Of poetry there is enough to lighten the picture, like dappled spring sunshine and the song of birds, but it is the marvelous realism and the RED BLOOD OF TRUTH and the sweep of great emotions like the thunderous surfing of the seas, which ..hold you tranced in the spell of R. A. WALSH'S master drama, "THE HONOR SYYSTEM," acclaimed as the greatest human story ever told.

How many picture stories are there that still are vitally alive in your memory; that ever bring back to you all the emotional appeal of the first showing—all of the romantic charm and the sense of reality?

In other words, how many screened dramas are living, vital events with you, so real in their conviction that you accept them as fascinating fact?

Not one! Yet there might have been such a one, that you unfortunately missed. In such event the misfortune is not irreparable. There is one, as you may now anticipate, that will stay forever in your recollection, for it is more than a picture play.

It is REALITY—THE REALITY OF HUMAN EMOTIONS, the reality of scene and action, the reality of the virtues that go to make the average intelligent American a type with all the possibilities shown by one MAN in "THE HONOR SYSTEM."

And he IS a MAN—no mere melodramatic puppet, but a flesh and blood, young American citizen clean of habit, fearless of heart and in a great emergency willing to lay down his life for his brother man. Than this we know there is NO GREATER LOVE.

No larger or more impressive motive ever actuated the work of the crowned masters of fiction and drama. And here it is shown in a fashion that shapes a tremendous climax.

It is the ending of "THE HONOR SYSTEM" that gives it the stamp of a superlative dramatic production; that makes it a profundly impressive classic which rises its peak high above any play that ever has been put on the screen.

It is the note that made it so—the big treatment in the big theme; that made it The Play of the People—THE GREATEST HUMAN STORY EVER TOLD!

CANADA'S CONTRIBUTION TO THE WAR IN MEN

Sir Robert Borden, at a dinner in London to the visiting ministers given-en by the Empire Parliamentary Association gave this summary of Canada's contribution in man-power to the war:

"When I was here a year ago we had enlisted in Canada for this war something more than 400,000 men. Today we have enlisted considerably more than 500,000 men. During the past twelve or fourteen months more than 100,000 men have joined the colors in Canada. Our forces in France —I may not tell you their number, but I may at least tell you this—that we have 35,000 more men in France today than we had when I left these shores last year. Today there are more than 385,000 men of the Canadian Expeditionary force who have crossed the ocean, and they are still coming. (Cheers). In addition to that we have sent into the air service during the past three and a half years of war 14,000 men, and to the naval services and the reserves of various nations we have contributed from the manhood of Canada at least 35,000 men. I am able to tell you tonight that the man-power of Canada has furnished to the military and naval forces of the Empire and the Allies not less than 425,000 men."

The statement as to the relative strength of the Canadian forces in France a year ago and now will bring satisfaction to Canadians. A year ago the war strength of the Canadians in the field was steadily shrinking because voluntary enlistment in infantry battalions did not keep pace with the wastage. In November the normal rate of wastage was tremendously increased by the heavy losses at Passchendaele; the successful assault upon the ridge cost Canada 25,000 men. Despite all this the Canadian strength at the front is 35,000 in excess of what it was twelve months ago.

This achievement, so consoling to our national pride, so encouraging to our much-tried soldiers in the field, so satisfactory to our allies who look to us to do our best, is the result of that union of patriotic Canadians which put the Military Service Act upon the statute books and placed behind it a government and a parliament able and willing to enforce it. If our old party division had continued, with the inevitable consequences that we should have had to rely upon voluntary enlistment for our infantry recruits, there would be today a very different state of affairs upon the Canadian front. In this respect at least the great political experiment of last year has been justified.

FROM ALEXANDER HAMILTON TO W. G. McADOO

Let us imagine that some immortal giant had begun at the birth of Christ to pile up gold dollars, putting down one dollar every second. Ask yourself without stopping to calculate how many dollars he would have accumulated on the 1st of January, 1919. You will be surprised when you come to make the calculation to see how far out of the way your first guess is. According to the calculations of the secretary of the treasury, we shall have to raise in our next fiscal year one-third the amount of money that would have been accumulated by this giant if he had laid aside a gold dollar every second since the beginning of the Christian era.

Barton Hepburn, the well known banker and financier of New York city, has put these figures in another graphic form. He points out that the total income received by the United States government from its organization down to the Wilson administration—in other words, from Alexander Hamilton to William G. McAdoo, was $26,300,000,000. This included the financing of the war of 1812, the Mexican war and the civil war. Now we propose in one year to raise at least $24,000,000,000. That is to say, the people of the United States will have to supply their government in one year with practically as much money as they did during the preceding century and a quarter.—New York Outlook.

SAVE THE GRASS FOR CHICKENS

Free Press, Fernie, B.C.

....Dear Editor—One of the problems confronting the poultryman today is to procure some kind of succulent food for wnter for his stock.

Not everyone can procure mangles or good clover and alfalfa, but almost anyone living in a city like Fernie can have something equally as good if the lawn clippings, which are usually thrown into the garbage wagon, were properly cured and saved for winter use.

I have never been in a town or city where the lawns have so much white clover as the lawns of Fernie have.

Some weeks ago I was standing at an office window in Fernie overlooking a beautiful lawn, when I was struck by the amount of white clover blossom on it that morning and the thought flashed over my mind, "What a shame it was to see such waste of good material." For I presume the clippings from it would be thrown away. If we would stop and do a little sum in mental arithmetic and figure the amount of clippings thrown away in many towns and cities in Canada, we would stand aghast at the waste, when these could all be put to such good use as increasing production of eggs at a time when this commodity is "out o' sight."

If some enterprising person would collect these clippings and cure them properly (out of the sun) they would find a ready market for them in the winter when green feed is so scarce, and Biddy will ever bless you for your thoughtfulness of her. Let us save the clippings and possibly by this example other cities may follow suit.

Yours truly,

A. C. Murray.

RE PATRIOTIC FUND

The following circular letter has been issued to the Secretaries of all the Branches of the Canadian Patriotic Fund in British Columbia, by his Honor the Lt. Governor:

Victoria, July 10, 1918.

Dear Sir:—

Re Financial Policy for 1919.

At a meeting of the National Executive Committee of the Canadian Patriotic Fund held at Ottawa on the 16th of May, 1918, it was unanimously decided that, after the 31st of March, 1919, no further campaigns would be inaugurated for voluntary subscriptions, but that any additional revenue thereafter required should be sought from the Federal government. This cannot be procured until the next session of the Dominion parliament. It is expected that the contributions in hand, and those which are to come in under promise until the date above mentioned, will be sufficient for the requirements of the Fund, and the National Executive held with confidence the opinion that there will be no abatement during the ensuing nine months, of payment from voluntary sources. The various Committees are requested to ask contributors to continue, until the 31st of March next, all promises which have been made, to expire at the end of this calendar year. An important factor in this decision lies in the fact that the War Loan and other Government requirements largely monopolize the majority of the sources from which revenue has in the past been derived.

British Columbia has done extremely well in raising funds to assist this great undertaking, and I trust that the request from the National Executive, as outlined above, will be met with a wholehearted spirit, and that every effort will be made by Committees, individually and collectively, to continue at the maximum the contributions from all points in this province, so that we may have at our credit, when the voluntary system has been abolished, a showing of which we may all feel justly proud.

On behalf of the Fund generally, and the Executive of the Provincial Branch, I beg to assure you of our warmest appreciation of the efforts put forth in the past by all who have been engaged, in any way, with the administration of this Fund in the Province of British Columbia.

THE INTERNMENT CAMP

Some weeks ago the News reproduced an article from the Winnipeg Telegram giving some figures relating to the expense incurred in connection with alien internment camps. It is only fair to state that in a recent interview Major-General Sir William Otter informed the News that this statement was misleading. He drew attention to the fact that the figures given to the Senate embraced payments for supplies that may be termed "luxuries," but which are not paid for by the people of Canada. Internment prisoners, he said, were recipients of money from various sources which is deposited with the government and checked out as required. Hence it followed that vouchers signed for such articles as asparagus tips, tinned lobster, etc., while passing through the Auditor-General's accounts were not paid for by public funds, but were provided from private sources. General Otter further stated that the food of prisoners in the Vernon camp cost the government only 22 cents per day, any "extras" over this amount being provided by the prisoners themselves. He also wished to make it known that neither he nor the Canadian government is responsible for the regulations governing these camps, which are conducted in accordance with instructions issued by the Imperial government and based upon rules laid down at the Hague Tribunal. As the News has occasionally made reference to these matters from another point of view it is only right that we should publish General Otter's statement which throws new light upon the situation. — Vernon News.

USURPERS

Because the Bolsheviki mouth resounding plititudes about freedom, democracy, humanity, the brotherhood of man, etc., there are those in the entente nations who continue to regard them as the true leaders of the Russian revolution.

They are, instead, usurpers. The true leaders of the Russian revolution are dead, or in hiding or in exile. The Bolsheviki governing junta does not contain a single man who was instrumental in bringing about the uprising which put an end to Czarism. When the revolution was an accomplished fact Lenine hastened to Petrograd from Switzerland and Trotsky from New York. They and their following destroyed the true revolutionaries by simple and effective means. The government of Kerensky knew that peace could only come through the defeat of Germany in the field. Lenine and Trotsky held before the war weary Russians the promise of a satisfactory peace by negotiation. They played Germany's game, unwittingly or not; just as everybody does who in this country or elsewhere dangles before the people the hope of a satisfactory peace without victory first.

The delegates from the works and factories of Petrograd at a recent gathering addressed an appeal to the workmen of Russia in which they said:

"'The factories are closed; there is no bread; only powder and shot awaiting the famishing crowds,' it says. 'The liberty of speech and the liberty of the press are stifled; workmen's organizations are persecuted; there are no more courts of law."

The cry of distress has proceeded from the very workmen who by uniting with the rebellious soldiers, brought about the revolution of March, 1917. They find that, as the result of that uprising, they have merely exchanged one despotism for another, with an accompanying loss of whatever there was of social security under the old regime.

The Bolsheviki seized power by force. One of their first acts was to dissolve by force the Constituent Assembly which was the first Parliament of free Russia. That act gave the clue to Bolsheviki policy and intentions. They have maintained power by all the expedients of despotism; by the hangman's rope, by the machine gun squad, by the suppression of newspapers, by the denial of political rights to their opponents.

Lenine and Trotsky are either German agents or they are the tools of German agents who keep in the background. The power that keeps them where they are, against the wishes of an ever-growing majority of the Russian people is doubtless despite more or less effective disguises, German power.

NOT A QUITTER

From the Greenwood Ledge)

Charles F. Caldwell, of Kaslo, is one of the most optimistic, energetic and enterprising men connected with mining and morals in the great and glorious west. He was born under the folds of "Old Glory" and during the mud period of his earthly career spent many days amid the wild scenes of the Coeur d'Alenes in Idaho. He was never a quitter, and usually stayed with everything unto the finish. At Mullan one time, he sat into a poker game in Jack Lucy's saloon, and in 36 hours was broke. He sent to a friend up at the mines for $50 and lost it. He sent time and again until his friend quit his job and came down hill to borrow money in order to keep Charley in the game. About this time Jack Lucy took Caldwell to one side, and said, "Charley, you're the best poker player west of the Missouri river, but you can't beat this game. These fellows are colddecking you." Sitting in the game again, Charley laid his six-shooter on the table, exclaiming, "I will shoot the first guy that colddecks me!" In about two hours he had all the money, and the enemy were so badly routed that Jack Lucy had to spray them with whiskey to brace up their shattered morale. In those bold bad days Charley was a hard poker player, a desperado, and a dealer in Montana sheep-dip, Arizona chlorides and ancient Bourbon. But, eventually, the Lord waved a wand of good over this strong, impetuous man, and he began to follow the trail that Jesus blazed in the early days. Throwing away the fleshpots, and breaking all his clay images Charley imbibed the divine essence that uplifts the soul, and brings peace that passeth all understanding.

Becoming an evangelist in the church of his choice he has gone over the top after the devil for many years. He has stood pat against Old Nick every time, and made him fall further back into the darkened trenches of hell, vice, misery and suffering. While chastening the Evil One, Charley has at the same time been diligent in business, and has done all in his power to advance the interests of his community in the material things that provide work, comfort and prosperity to his fellow man. As a champion for the mining industry he has done noble work, and always aims to have nothing but a square deal alike for mines, smelters and railroads. Some do not like Charley, thinking he is too much of a spotlight hero, but he does things just the same, and somebody always throws stones at the man who, falling out of line, jumps on an eminence and points the way to better conditions. At the same time the world loves a brave man who has the courage of his convictions, even if he has some faults left. If he had none left Charley would just evaporate and be folded into the heavenly formation without the formality of cremation, or a slow funeral.

ANOTHER ROAD TO BERLIN

All roads once led to Rome, and more than one road may lead to Berlin. Italy's success on the Piave has put Austria on the defensive for the rest of this year, probably, and it has possibly inspired the Allied offensive in Albania. For now that one man commands the Allied armies, the war game is likely to be played as a whole and on every front. Germany's game has been to eliminate one enemy country after another. She has put out of the fight Russia, Serbia and Rumania, and has thus been enabled to concentrate her strength in France. But there are indications that we have determined to force her to fight for what she had assumed to be her own, and for what we had almost ceased to fight. We are going to help Russia to her feet and to her senses, and that will mean that Germany must turn her attention to that quarter again and divide her force.

Even more quickly would she be affected by successful operations in the Balkans. There is a shorter, though possibly a more bloody, road to victory through Serbia and Rumania. If the Allied forces there should become so strong as to threaten the Bulgarians and Turks with defeat, Germany must go to the rescue, but disaster in the Balkans means disaster for Germany and Austria. We imagine that this change of Allied policy is viewed with no little disquietude in Berlin. It is playing the game just in the way Berlin does not want it played.—Baltimore Sun.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

TEMPERING THE BRITISH LENIENCY

On one score, however, the participation of the Dominions in the peace settlement may be of very great service. Britain has a reputation for leniency towards a defeated enemy. She is quick to forget wrong and injury. If this trait of character remains with her statesmen, it may be well that representatives of the overseas sections of the Empire will sit alongside the men from Westminster when it comes time to make peace with Germany. When the war has gone definitely against her, Germany will make a big play for generous treatment. She will look to save the remnants of her hide to the British "softness" at which she so often has sneered. Canadians and Australians and New Zealanders and South Africans who crossed thousands of miles of ocean to thrash Germany and help save the liberty to civilization may serve a useful purpose by tempering traditional British leniency.—Ottawa Journal Press.

(A young lieutenant, killed in action, had written to his parents, "But we shall live forever.")

What chaunt is this that thou dose sing,
Beside the shadow of the Wing
And marked for Victory and for Sting—
"But we shall live for ever!"

What rose of wonder hast thou prest
With a gold pin to thy young breast
That in such pride thou goest drest?
"But we shall live for ever!"

Thou saw'st the Earth and all her spires,
Dreams and dominions and desires,
Fade from thee; and thy heart still quires,
"But we shall live for ever!"

And while unto the dark thou'rt flung
By irremediable wrong,
Yet boasteth thy submissive tongue,
"But we shall live for ever!"

. . . . . .

O child, O stripling, O dead boy,
That on the threshold of thy joy
Beheld the goodness past the toy,
So shalt thou live for ever!

Of such as thou men shall record:
"They brake the terror of the sword
And build the garden of the Lord,
And 'stablished it for ever!"

A SUBJECT OF SUSPICION

The extremely effective campaign which is being carried on, chiefly by the New Rork Tribune, against the Hearst newspapers for their pro-Germanism has been helped along by two recent occurrences. German propaganda carried on over the French and American lines in France with the aid of balloons has included lately literature in which Hearst's attitude is cited as evidence that the people of the United States are not united in their support of the war. Naturally much is being made of this recognition by the Germans of Hearst as their friend. Even more effective is the record of parallels between the editorial declarations of the Hearst papers and the New York Mail during the past three years which has been established by quotations. So consistently did these papers support one another in making difficulties for the U.S. government and giving Germany sympathy and encouragement that a fairly plausible case in support of a theory of common control could be made out. The explanation of the Mail's attitude has now been revealed. When this paper changed hands three years ago its actual purchaser was the Imperial Government of Germany; and until the authorities intervened two weeks ago it was being edited under instructions originating in Berlin. Another source of suspicion is the intimate relations that existed between Bolo Pasha and Hearst while the French traitor awaited in New York the transfer of the German money that was to enable him to buy one of the leading newspapers of Paris in the interests of German propaganda.

Of course Hearst is now filling the heavens with protestations of his loyalty to the U.S. government and devotion to the cause of the allies. These protestations have not yet had the result of inducing the Canadian authorities to rescind their prohibition of the bringing of Hearst newspapers into Canada. They are still suspicions. With, we should say, very good cause.—Winnipeg Free Press.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF THE

National Council Y. M. C. A. of Canada

CANADA — ENGLAND — FRANCE

The National Council of the Y.M.C.A. herewith presents a complete statement of its finances for the year 1917, covering its entire service Overseas and in Canada.

The Executive Committee of the Council arranged last November to have a complete statement for the year 1917 ready for publication before the recent Red Triangle Fund Campaign, but owing to conditions arising out of Military operatons in France this has been unavoidably delayed. It is presented now at the earliest date that existing conditions have permitted.

The portion of the following statement which concerns England and France has already been submitted to the Overseas Military authorities. Audited statements of the funds handled have been submitted to the Militia Department at Ottawa and for the past two years regular accounting has been made as well to the authorities in England and France. In addition to the regular audit in France, the canteen business is checked every month by the Military Field cashiers, to determine the amount which is paid to Military units as indcated in the Expenditures. Printed copies of the audited statements are posted up in the huts for the information of the soldiers.

The General Operation Account shows on the one hand the entire receipts of the National Council; first, from the gross sales of its Military canteens in Canada, England and France, and second, from subscriptions received during the year. On the other hand, there is shown the entire expenditures for the year, including, first, the cost of the goods sold in the canteens and, second, the expenditures connected with the entire service which is carried on under the direction of the National Council.

The Balance represents the excess of receipts over expenditures. Of this sum of $118,351.43 was the balance at the National Headquarters at Toronto, and the remainder was Overseas. This balance at the end of the calendar year represents the amount available to carry on operations until the time of the campaign in 1918. While the financial statement is drawn up on the basis of the calendar year the receipts from the campaign of one year have to serve until the campaign of the next year. The above balance at the National Headquarters was by April 30th, just before the new campaign, not only used up but changed to a deficit of $237,930.13. This deficit was, however, offset by the balance overseas, which has to be maintained there as a working balance to carry on operations.

The item $240,524.86 is a special amount which had to be expended for the purchase of canteen and other supplies in Canada for shipment to France. Beginning with June, 1917, on account of the scarcity of supplies in Great Britain, much of the purchasing formerly done there had to be transferred to Canada. The long period of time required for the shipment of these supplies to France involves the continuous employment of a large sum. The amount expended for this purpose, as at December 31st, has had to be treated as an expenditure and placed in a Reserve Account against the merchandise in hand. It is, however, a possible asset and will, when realized upon, be devoted to other forms of service to the soldiers, when it is no longer required to maintain the canteen service in France.

It was possible to provide for this expenditure only because the amount asked by the National Council in 1917 was oversubscribed by more than the amount required just at the time the Canadian Purchasing had to be undertaken. But for this it would have been necessary eiher to borrow this large amount or greatly curtail the service in France.

It is to be remembered that the goods at the front in France, where the greater part of the stock is carried, are subject to enormous risks. The English Y.M.C.A. in the German offensive of March and April suffered losses in huts and canteen supplies of nearly One Million Dollars. In the more recent offensive the American Y.M.C.A. has suffered losses nearly as large, and the National Executive have deemed it a matter of prudence to be prepared to meet a similar loss if it should fall on the Canadian Y.M.C.A.

The National Council has from the first declared the policy of devoting to the service of the soldiers whatever balance remains in the Military Fund at the close of the war. This policy has been made known to and accepted by the Overseas Military authorities. The need for the Y.M.C.A. service will continue all through the period of demobilization and the plan of the National Council is to use whatever balance then exists to keep up the efficiency of the service to the soldiers during that important period.

The National Council of the Y.M.C.A., under which the Military Work is conducted, is a representative body of the various Y.M.C.A.'s throughout Canada, but it has no authority over or financial responsibility for any local branch. The funds which it handles have no connection with those of any local branch of the regular Y.M.C.A. It wishes to make clear, therefore, that the funds which are acquired in or subscribed for the Y.M.C.A. Military Work have not been and will not be used in connection with the regular work of any of these branches, but will, according to the policy already announced, be kept in the Military Work and devoted exclusively to the service of soldiers.

The service represented in the expenditures of the accompanying statement covered at the opening of the present year, 96 centres of operation in France and 76 in England, including all regular camps and units, base camps, convalescent camps, hospitals, railway troops, cavalry, London and Paris and forestry units from the north of Scotland to the South of France.

There were on the Overseas staff 133 Secretaries carrying honorary commissions, 50 of whom were at the expense of the Y.M.C.A. for pay and allowances and the remainder at the expense of the Government. There are also a considerable number of other ranks, non-commissioned officers and men, detailed to the Y.M.C.A. staff by the Military authorities. A number of these, who are given non-commissioned rank because of special responsibility, are at the expense of the Y.M.C.A. for the extra pay over that of ther regular rank. Civilian help is also employed where required and where circumstances permit.

In Canada the soldiers are served in 38 centres, including camps, barracks, Red Triangle Clubs, hospitals, naval stations and on troop trains. This has required approximately 100 Secretaries, who work on a civilian basis and are entirely at Y.M.C.A. expense. There is also required a considerable staff of employed helpers, exclusive of the committees of ladies who render their service free.

The scope and variety of the entire service, in so far as expeditures can reveal them, are indicated in the following statement.

Signed on behalf of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A.

G. H. WOOD, Chairman.

F. L. RATCLIFF, Chairman of Finance Committee.

CHAS. W. BISHOP, General Secretary.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE

We have audited the books, vouchers and accounts of the National Council Headquarters at Toronto, and of the Central Territorial Division for the year ended 31st December, 1917, and have been furnished with the audited statements of the Maritime and Western Divisions of the National Council for the same period. We have also been furnished with the Annual Statement for England for 1917, duly audited, and the Annual Statement for France for 1917 with the Auditor's Certified Statement for the six months to June 30th. Owing, we understand, to Military restriction on civilian travel between England and France, it was impossible for the auditor to go to France and complete the audit to 31st December, 1917. We have agreed the Canadian and Overseas statements with the above General Statement, which combines them, and, according to the books and statements furnished, the above statement, in our opinion, correctly sets forth the operations of the National Council at home and overseas.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

NEGOTIATION—SURRENDER

Three or four months ago the Germans, intoxicated with their Russian loot and inflamed with the sure expectation of sweeping victories in the West, were vociferously announcing their intention of imposing victory by the sword upon their foes; but as the prospects of smashing through have lost their brilliancy they have resumed, upon a wider and even more hypocritical basis than before, their peace offensive. There has been in quick succession the speech by von Kuehlmann which back-fired and destroyed him; von Hertling's address to the Reichstag; and now we have Count Burian's note. The peace offensive is fairly opened; and clouds of poison gas are blowing over the world.

Two recent declarations by Entente statemen contain in brief compass everything that is needed to destroy the effectiveness of any appeal for a "peace by negotiation" that may be made from Berlin and Vienna. One is this passage from President Wilson's Fourth of July speech in which he dealt with the suggestions that have at times come from the Teutonic capitals that a negotiated peace might be possible:

"I have tested these intimations and found them insincere. I now recognize them for what they are — an opportunity to have a free hand, particularly in the east, to carry out the purposes of conquest and exploitation. Every propsal with regard to accommodation in the west involved a reservation with regard to the east. So far as I am concerned, I intend to stand by Russia as well as France."

The second statement has been made within a week by Lloyd George. In his speech to the Canadian editors he said:

"There must be no hugger-mugger peace. It must be a real peace. We are not waging war for the sake of killing or being killed, but for the sake of establishing a just and durable peace for the world. You cannot make peace unless it is both just and likely to endure.

"Germany has waged three wars, and each time she has added through those wars to her strength, to her power, to her guidance, to her influence; and each successive war she has waged has inevitably encouraged her on to the next. If she had had one check she would not have had this war. If this war succeeds in adding one square yard to her territory, of adding a single iota to her strength, it will simply raise their idea of militarism, for which the world is being sacrificed at the present time.

"The god of brute force must this time for ever be broken and burnt in its own furnace."

There can be no real peace until Prussian militarism has been definitely beaten; so completely beaten that the most war-mad Prussian in existence will know in his heart of hearts that the War Lord and his grey-clad legions have been overmatched. Until this is accomplished negotiations by the Entente nations with the Central Empires will be nothing but negotiations for surrender. —Winnipeg Free Press.

ITALIAN MORALE HIGH

A writer in the N.Y. Evening Post gives a heartening account of the present conditions in Italy. In the course of his article he says:

"Newspapers which deal with the subject of discipline in the army are unanimous as to the complete disappearance of the conditions which brought about and in part resulted from the defeat of last autumn. A great many deserters returned voluntarily and most of those now missing are supposed to be in territory occupied by the enemy. At first these, in pursuance of an Austrian proclamation, were left in peace; but since then, the Secolo reports, they have mostly been carried off as prisoners of war and put to labor on the railroads. The Italian government, however, is taking no more risks. By a decree of May 8, the penalty for desertion is made much severer and the new law is retrospective for all old deserters who do not report for duty within fifteen days.

At the same time measures are being taken to improve the lot of soldiers and of their families. The last act of the Chamber before prorogation was to extend the franchise to all men under arms, irrespective of age. (This debate brought forth a confession from the premier that he was converted from his opposition to votes for women.) In a circular addressed to all authorities engaged in succoring families of soldiers, Signor Bissolati recommends a more liberal standard of treatment, and where there is a genuine family union, children of soldiers born out of wedlock are to benefit. Part of the property of deserters, confiscable under a decree issued last December, is to go to the widows and orphans of soldiers.

"These measures, it is generally agreed, have had a very good effect in the army. The men, writes a correspondent of the Corriere della Sera, have been well worked upon by their officers and by the press campaign which has shown that the nation will not tolerate any more failings in the provision for soldiers' families—a defect which, aided often by enemy propaganda in the same direction, was undoubtedly a potent cause of the collapse of Caporetto..... A new army is in the field, an army as well equipped materially and morally better prepared than the old and whatever difficulties are presented by fresh enemy attacks, they will not this time be aggravated by avoidable troubles due to lack of political preparation or by fear among the soldiers for the fates of the civians in the homes which they are defending."

DISCOVERED KAFFIR BOYS COULD SING

J. H. Balmer Found Music in Heart of Africa.

Twenty-five years ago J. H. Balmer went into Africa as a member of the colonial engineers from London. He had studied in the Royal Academy of Music and he conceived the idea of teaching some of the native boys to sing. His success was so great that he brought them to London. The Queen requested their appearance before her. He later brought these singing Kaffirs to America and they were an instantaneous success on the big program at Chautauqua Lake, New York. With younger boys, who have replaced the older ones, the company is today the most unique and remarkable on the Chautauqua platform. They will give one concert here only on the closing night.

GERMANY'S EBBING TIDE

Everybody has been perceptibly feeling better during the past few days. The gloom induced by constantly reading war news which varied from bad to worse has been in great measure swept away by recent events.

Whatever may be the ultimate extent of the French and American gains, it is plain that the German drive has resulted in complete failure. As the dispatch from Berlin puts it, their task on the south bank of the Marne has been fulfilled and they have gone elsewhere. The fact that their departure was hastened by the prodding of Allied bayonets is an unimportant detail which Ludendorff forgets to mention.

Germany could have won the campaign of this summer in either one of two ways. She might have achieved a victory in the field as would have taken the heart out of the Allies, or she might have worn down their numbers to the point where the line could no longer be held.

In neither of these can she now succeed. Her high water mark has plainly been reached and the wave has begun to recede. Hence onwards her strength must grow less, while that of the Allies increases. In a few weeks she will be found taking up the defensive line which she will try to persuade the world is impregnable. Then she will throw out offers of substantial concessions for peace. At that stage she will begin to realize that "world peace or downfall" means just what it says.

THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA

"If we had a Wilson at the head of our government what would we not have accomplished?" asks the Port Arthur News-Chronicle. The question is very foolish and un-Canadian. The people of this country admire the high talents and exalted patriotism of President Wilson, and they are proud of the American war effort; but surely this admiration and pride do not compel them to sneer at what they themselves have sacrificed and achieved. Far away pastures look gren. While Mr. Roosvelt flays Washington for feebleness and incompetence, and Mr. Root "bows to this warrior nation," the editor of the Port Arthur Chronicle turns in disgust from the pigmies of Ottawa to a super-man in the republic to the south. It is human nature to find fault at home, and to find virtues in the home of somebody else. Anglo-Saxons in particular, as Mr. Balfour once pointed out, seem to "take a gloomy joy in self-depreciation." Yet there is no sensible reason why we should turn in scorn from our own war effort to the achievements of the United States. A nation of seven million people who sends to war nearly half a million soldiers, suffers nearly 150,000 casualties and votes nearly a billion dollars for war purposes, all within four years, has no need to bow its head in shame. When the United States has six million men in arms, has suffered more than a million casualties, and voted about ten billion dollars for war—which will only be proportionate to what Canada has done—it will be time enough for Canadians to mingle with their admiration for what American have achieved sneers for the efforts of their own country.—The Journal-Press, Ottawa.

Punch, Pep and Patriotism

Herbsman's Lecture "Carry On" Will be Big Feature of Chautauqua Week

J. C. Herbsman, lecturer at Chautauqua on the fifth night, has one of the most stirring patriotic messages on the platform. His subject, "Carry On," the British soldiers' phrase to denote his unconquerable spirit, deals with the duty of the individual and of the community to the country in this crisis.

Herbsman combines the fire and energy of a dozen men. He turns loose a machine gun fire on his audiences and every shot goes home. The earnestness of the man, the powerful control of his subject, the remarkable force of his expression, all combine to make his lecture on the fifth night one of the events of the week that no thinking citizen can afford to miss.

Nayphe Returns to Chautauqua

Brilliant Young Athenian Brings New Lecture in Answer to Many Requests

Julius Caesar Nayphe is returning to Chautauqua this year in a new lecture. It is almost an ironclad rule on the Ellison-White Chautauqua never to repeat an attraction the following year. But Nayphe's unbounded success last season was followed by request after request from practically all towns to return him. So the brilliant young Athenian comes back to Chautauqua audiences with a new lecture.

His story of the Orient is of particular interest at this time, since the events of the war have directed attention anew to that portion of the world of which he lectures. He brings with him to Chautauqua a new and truly remarkable collection of Oriental tapestries.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Why are you reading these notes? You are reading them because you are afraid you might miss something and Jim Thistlebeak says you will get more education reading them than you will playing pool or poker.

Mrs. C. A. Kleingensmith entertained several lady friends to an ice cream social the other evening at the Mining Exchange.

Nothing, says Jim Thistlebeak, succeeds like work. If your religion is better than your business there is something wrong with your business. If you don't advertise and are short of the long green, borrow a few dollars and then advertise it for sale.

Mrs. Walsh Cottingham, of Moose Jaw, Sask., is visiting her brother, Ellis Sweet, the big Roosville rancher.

Jim Thistlebeak says that sometimes it is very difficult to convince the world that you have brains unless you have lots of money.

Fred Roo, Jr., sends the following lines from a British troop ship lying off New York. They were feted by the citizens of New York and had a royal time. He suggests singing it to the tune of Tipperary:

When the Kaiser started in to cut the world in two,
He bit off seven times as much as any one could chew,
So here we are upon our way to join the Tommies in France,
To pin the double cross upon the bosom of his pants.
Chorus—
It's a long way to get the Kaiser,
It's a long way, we know,
But you know we're a whole lot wiser
Than we were some time ago.
Good bye, Kaiser Wilhelm,
You're about all in.
Don't drop dead before we meet you,
Right in Berlin.
When the war is over and we reckon the expense,
We'll try to Hock der Kaiser for as much as fifty cents.
It's more than he is worth, but we'll spend it in Berlin,
To fumigate the palaces where the royal bunch have been.
Chorus: It's a long, etc.

Lieut. Hugh McInnes from overseas as refreshing as an ocean breeze, was an Elko visitor this week, meeting old friends and lots of them.

Jim Thistlebeak says: Let those who commenced the war pay every cent it costs. That's not an argument, but just common sense.

Mrs. J. P. Stocks, manager of the Clear Springs Farm, Roosville, was visiting friends in Flagstone this week.

Jim Thistlebeak says the big American push last week is beginning to make the Dirty Huns Whine on the Banks of the Rhine.

COUNCIL HOLDS TWO SESSIONS

which would show that the kick was not one affecting a few isolated individuals only. The mayor considered this was a political matter and so far as he was concerned it was not the intention of the council to become involved or parties to political machinations. Ald. Dicken suggested holding a public meting and getting a more representative voicing of the sentiment. After some further argument His Worship said the matter would have to be considered closed as there was no suggestion put forward to do anything which had not already been done by the council. Mr. Brindley said that the affected parties would show the council they did have something to do with it. He then asked if the council would again meet Dr. King, Minister of Public Works, whom he was informed would be here Monday evening and was advised that the council would only be too glad to do so. Ald. Jackson then informed those present, the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, would arrive in Fernie, Friday evening and he understood, the river bank question was one of the important matters he would take up. It then became apparent that the West Fernie and Annex representatives had not been tendered an invitation to meet the honourable gentleman. His Worship however thought this could be easily accomplished. It later developed that upon production of one of these formal invitations that the affair is to be held in "Sandy" Macneil's office about 8 p. m. Armed with this information the delegation proceeded homeward but from their attitude it goes without saying that there will be a strong cordon of these disgruntled residents thrown around the vicinity of "Sandy's" office tomorrow evening.

Ald. Jackson then inquired from the city clerk if he had obtained the information requested by him as to the ultimate disposition of the police court costs, and was advised that the police magistrate had a receipt book similar to that used by the city clerk in which a receipt was issued for every fine paid; in most cases these receipts read "fine and costs." The money was deposited by the magistrate in the Home Bank of Canada to the credit of himself but upon which account he could only issue cheques in favor of the city treasurer. The custom is that on the last day of each month a cheque is made out for the full amount of the receipts during that month and then deposited by the city treasurer in the general account of the city.

The matter of street improvements on Victoria avenue between Jaffray and Thompson streets was reconsidered and it was now decided to complete the block between Jaffray and McEvoy strets the same as the other paved portion of Victoria avenue and grade the next block. This rescinds the former decision of completing the two blocks in question only a width of 25 fet, but means that but one of these blocks will be completed this year instead of the two under the former arrangement.

City Engineer McCallum announced it had been suggested to him by certain property owners that if the city would supply and haul the gravel without charge that the said owners would construct cement sidewalks at their own expense. He had no information as to how many would do this but brought it before the council to get some idea as to how they would consider such a proposal. Everyone fell in line with the idea and no doubt the council would agree upon the condition that such cement sidewalks were constructed to proper grade and of uniform construction.

Certain necessary repairs are being made to the Fairy Creek cable bridge which will require some little time and it was therefore decided to publicly announce that until further notice water may be shut off daily between the hours 1.30 p.m. and 5.30 p.m.

Bylaw No. 187 being the New Pound Bylaw was given three readings and will come up for final sanction next meeting. The principal changes in the new bylaw are first that it will now be legal to "drive, lead or take, or cause to be driven, led or taken" whereas formerly animals strictly speaking had to be "driven." The new bylaw prohibits "tethering" in public streets or private property unless by consent of the owner. When herded animals must be under the control of the herder.

Adjournment at 11.20 p.m.

TWO YOUTHS CAUSE MINE EXPLOSION

An accident of somewhat mysterious origin occurred in one of the old workings of the Frank mine on Tuesday evening in which Frank Horejsi and Frank Chizek, two Bohemian boys, of about 19 years, came near losing their lives. This particular pocket of the mine had not been operated for some time past, and may have been charged with gas. What business the boys had in the mine cannot be learned, but it appears that they were either taking in the sights or looking for coal, when an explosion was caused from a defective lamp, but some miners are of opinion that a spark may have ben caused by some other means. Parties happening to be in close proximity to the mine were aroused by the concussion and looking up witnessed a dense cloud of black smoke issuing from the mine mouth and also two objects dashing towards woods near by. Investigation disclosed the two boys, almost stripped of their clothing, the flesh hanging in shreds and bleeding freely. Helping hands moved them to the town below, where first aid was administered until the doctors arrived a few minutes later. The boys were removed to Blairmore hospital.

Since the accident, a party in charge of Mine Inspector Stevenson, have examined the mine and the entrance has been closed. Clouds of smoke issuing from the mine mouth at intervals since the accident would indicate that fire existed in the mine, but the inspectors report a wall of gas immediately inside of where the boys had located.

At the time of the explosion, the boys were about 60 feet from the mouth of the pit, and they cannot say whether they were blown part way or all the way to the surface.—Blairmore Enterprise.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT

John Wood, C.P.R. baggageman, is in the hospital seriously injured and his daughter and daughter-in-law are confined to the house as the result of a runaway accident which took place near the West Fernie bridge yesterday. Mr. Wood was driving across the small bridge when somebody opened the flood gates and the noise alarmed the horse, which ran away. All went well until they reached the corner of the rink, when the animal took a sudden turn, throwing the party out of the rig. Mr. Wood was badly cut about the head, his daughter, Dorothy, sustained a severe sprain in one of her wrists and the daughter-in-law was unconscious from shock. A. Klauer and Miss B. Winnett arrived on the scene with their cars a few minutes after the accident and conveyed them to the hospital, where their injuries were attended to.

TIRE SMUGGLERS AT KINGSGATE, B.C.

Eastport, Idaho, July 29. — A smuggling plot is being uncovered by the Canadian customs authorities at Kingsgate, B.C., and Cranbrook, B.C. A car repairer, who is a joint employee of the Canadian Pacific railway, and the Spokane International railway at this port, a short time ago obtained a dealers' contract with the Goodrich Tire and Rubber company, and from the incoming shipments has been doing a flourishing business in automobile tires.

It has been found that almost all of the employees of the Canadian Pacific railway at Cranbrook, the first division point from here on the C. P. railway, who own cars, had United States made tires and they were unable to show where they paid the duty on them.

It appears that the freight train leaving here for Cranbrook usually starts at night, and before leaving they have to come down across the boundary line to turn their engines. The car man, who is the agent for the tire company, lives close to where they turn the engine and it is alleged they would stop at his place and load the tires on the engines. The customs officers did not suspect anything being smuggled on the engines and the scheme worked for several months.

It is expected that several arrests will follow. One of the Canadian Pacific railway fireman who has been working at Kingsgate is now under arrest and will be taken to Cranbrook for investigation.

The penalty for smuggling is severe. The gang is to be prosecuted by the United States customs on account of not filing an export declaration with each exportation of tires to Canada, which is punishable at $50 for each offense.

The Odd Fellows held a special gathering on Wednesday evening last the occasion being the unveiling of the Honor Roll of those members who have died in the service, and those who have done and are doing their bit at the front.. Ten auto loads of visiting brethren were present from Coleman, Blairmore and Bellevue.

The annual union Sunday School picnic will be held in the Park on Wednesday next, August 7th. The children will meet at their respective churches at 1.45 p.m. The procession will start from the Baptist church at 2 p.m. and proceed by way of the different churches and each Sunday school will face into line as it passes. Conveyances for the smaller children will meet the procession at Prior St. A rig will call at the various churches at 12 o'clock for baskets of provisions, etc., to go out to the grounds, and people are asked to leave their baskets or parcels at the churches by that time. A good program of sports has been drawn up and it is hoped that there will be a godly turn out of children and adults so that everyone may have an enjoyable time.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS

The results of the High School Entrance Examinations held on June 24, 25 and 26, have been issued by the Education Department.

The new regulation allowing principals of schools in cities of the first and second class to recommend for promotion those pupils whom they consider capable of taking up High School work, came into operation this year. If it is desirable, those pupils who have not been recommended by the principal may write the examination along with the pupils from third class cities and country districts.

In the Fernie school, 29 pupils were recommended for promotion by Principal Daniels and their names have already appeared in our columns. Five other pupils who were in attendance in his class had the opportunity to write the examinations and were given every possible assistance by the Principal although he did not wish to take the responsibility of promoting them to the High School.

Three of these were successful: Violet B. C. Gould 635, Ellen C. Mills 621, M. Helen Murphy 555.

The country schools made a much more creditable showing than usual, indicating that there is new blood in the teaching staffs.

Baynes Lake—No. of candidates 3, passed 3. Marguerite Griffith 641, Grace C. Hart 628, Evelyn M. Clemens 606.

Coal Creek—No. of candidates 1, passed 1. John Hughes 716.

'GINGER' GOODWIN SHOT BY POLICE

A. Goodwin, a prominent socialist in British Columbia and well known in Fernie as "Ginger" Goodwin, was shot and killed the other day by a Dominion Constable near Cumberland, B.C. Goodwin, it appears, was being hunted as a draft evader and deserter. From the evidence produced at the coroner's inquest it would appear that Goodwin was about to take a shot at Constable Campbell but the latter was too quick for him.

The evidence submitted at the inquest brought out an extraordinary story of the case of Goodwin and his six companions. Originally there appears to have been six young men who took to the hills rather than serve their king and country. They went into what is probably the hilliest country on Vancouver Island. It was so rough that the coroner was unable to get out to the scene of the tragedy. The body was sewn in canvas and attached to a pole, and after incredible difficulties was brought to Cumberland.

For months the six young men had been in hiding. Away at the head of Comox lake, a dozen miles from Cumberland, they had their shack, which, with its cache of grub, was recently found by the officers. The six led a precarious existence at the best of times. Early in the chase every boat which went up the lake was searched for provisions which Goodwin's friends might be sending to him and the police made every effort to confine the men to a particular section where they had to literally dodge among the rocky canyons and steep slopes of the hill country.

Hunted day and night, suffering from the mosquitoes and half-poisoned by the bites of deer flies, one of Goodwin's companions became demented recently and wandered back to the town, where his friends are now caring for him. Another of the party of six is believed to have been captured during the last couple of days, so that of the six who originally got out to dodge the khaki only three remain at large. Goodwin himself had pneumonia early in the summer.

Constable Spencer Davitt told the coroner's jury that, in company with Corporal George Rowe and Constable Campbell he was at the head of Comox lake late on Saturday. The three officers separated in their search and the witness heard a shot. He broke through the bush in the direction from which the shot had come and saw Campbell standing with his rifle in his hand. Goodwin lay on the ground about 13 feet away. He was dead and still clutched a rifle. Davitt took the rifle away from the dead man. Campbell said: "I'm sorry but I had to do it to save myself."

LETTER FROM CORP. MITCHARD

Scheveningen, Holland.

To Secretary I.O.D.E., Mount Fernie Chapter:

Please convey to the ladies of Mt. Fernie Chapter my sincerest thanks for all they have done for me during my captivity. You will see by my address that I am now in a neutral country and it is impossible to describe my feelings at once more finding myself practically a free man again, after being penned up for three years behind barbed wire. The only other Fernie boys whom I know to be prisoners are Pte. G. Sawyers, 24181, 13th Canadians, Co. 6, Giessen, and Pte. R. Creighton, 13th Canadians, both of whom are still in Germany. Sergt. R. Stewart is here and I met Corpl. Snowdon at Menheim in 1916. He was on his way to Switzerland. I was on my way back to Germany, after having been rejected by German doctors (?) at Constance. We are nicely situated here, close to the sea, and enjoying to the full the fresh sea air and freedom. The Canadians are having a great sports meeting here on Dominion Day and I hear that all the Dutch royalty are going to patronize us with their presence. I hope some agreement will be arrived at for our boys, who have been in Germany over 18 months, to be exchanged, as practically all have had pretty bad times in Germany, being forced at the point of the bayonet to work in mines, coal and salt, and various other employments such as munition factories, from where after the war some gruesome stories will be related. Sawyers, who used to play goal for Fernie, was imprisoned for over three months in dark cells, because he refused to take off his British uniform (namely the kilt) and go out to work for them, and the commandant of that camp would allow no one to leave the camp in a kilt. Finally it was taken from him by force and a pair of old trousers thrown in his cell, which of course he had to put on. He was then sent off to work the next day and from information I have learned since I've been here, has never been allowed to return to camp. I am thankful to say I was not wounded but pretty badly gassed, from which I think I have fully recovered. I should like to be able to come back to Canada for a short while at least, but I suppose we are doomed to remain inactive until the war is finished. We had a good reception on arrival here and a special tribute was paid to the Canadians by the King's representative, as we were the first batch of Canadians to arrive. The weather here has been fine although pretty windy which gives us a little excitement, as several floating mines have been blown up to the beach lately. I must excuse myself for not writing much from Germany, but correspondence was so limited, two letters a month and four cards, that it was impossible to write to everyone that I wanted to.

Now I think I had best draw to a close by wishing you all the best of good health, and success to the Chapter, once again thanking you on behalf of myself and my comrades still in Germany. I remain ever sincerely yours, 24165 Corp. F. Mitchard.

MR. ORNER'S PROPOSITION

Dear Mr. Editor—Don't you think our esteemed friend, Mr. Jackson, is a bit hasty in coming to conclusions sometimes? I did not ask the council to back me financially not to act as collector. My proposition was this: I would purchase a certain amount of No. 1 electrical goods in Vancouver costing $5.50 each, less 30 per cent there, to be sold here at actual cost price, that is, $3.95, the city to pay me the selling price and collect at 50c per month (for thmselves). Of course that would be a loss to the city at first but the greater sale of electricity would soon make up for that and save them an actual loss each month of $200, which is the case at present.

Now why does the light committee permit that loss to continue? If they have a better plan why not start something and change these conditions.

As to the city getting their own goods and selling them, would that please those same electrical merchants any better, that Mr. Jackson wants to protect so much. Thanking you,

I am, Respectfully,

J. C. Orner.

FINED FOR HAVING LIQUOR

The little store of Frank Scarpino in the Fernie Annex was raided by the city police the other day. Frank's mother lives over the store and a small quantity of liquor was found in a bottle, which she said she was using for medicinal purposes. However, as the Act says where the residence has any inside connection with the store it is illegal to keep liquor, Frank was arrested and brought before Magistrate Whimster, who fined him $75. There was absolutely no evidence to show that liquor had been sold on the premises and as both the accused and his mother are total abstainers, it looked as though it might be a case where justice—if there be any justice in fining a man under such circumstances — might be tempered with mercy. However, the magistrate saw fit to fine the young man $25 more than the minimum.

THE MAN IN THHE GALLERY

As I rode in to Fernie town
I met a doughty knight,
For every forward step he took
He made four to the right.
"Why do you walk crabwise?" quoth I
"Oh, tell me, knight so bold."
"I always did, my father did,
His father too, I'm told.

As I rode in to Fernie town
I saw a scaffold high,
Where stood with hemp encircled neck
A goose, prepared to die.
"We swing a fowl," the hangman cried
"Whenever crimes are few,
The reason, sir, I do not know,
Save that we always do."

As I rode in to Fernie town
I saw an ancient dame
Blowing her bellows in a pool
As though to fan a flame.
"Oh, madam, prithee tell," cried I
"The kernel of your laws!"
In cryptic fashion mumbled she,
"Because it always was!"

Running fast through Fernie town
Is a river that's errat-ick,
Cutting slices here and there,
Sometimes thin and sometimes thick.
Sometimes a bridge comes sailing by,
Sometimes a house de joie,
And people gather on the shore
To watch the passing by.

And as you listen to the crowd
You get the "how and why"
Of town lots sailing down the stream
And why the owners sigh.
The mayor of the town stood by.
I asked of him the cause.
He only shook his curly locks
And said it always was.

When I got to Fernie town
I saw a council wise.
These men were picked because the bone
Was thickest 'bove their eyes.
I said, now how can these men think
And reason out the laws.
The town clerk said, they never think,
And besides it always was.

Now this reel has come to the end,
We now put on reel two.
Fresh actors come upon the scene
And the pot begins to brew.
They just raised Cain with' 'always was,"
Raised Cain with "that will do,"
They clutched "Old Get By" by the tail
And swung him one or two.

Scene one shows us some river rats,
That dwelt down by the shore,
They ran up town to bark and shout
And just raise 'ell galore.
The tin-god of the town looked on,
It was his dearest wish
That river rats were in the Elk
A-making grub for fish.

Those pirates from the river side
Would like to steal his crown,
And while the halo's tarnished some
And erstwhile retainers flown,
And so he went and hid his crown.
Now reader, pray take note,
They couldn't find the hidden crown
And so they stole his goat.

Now tin gods have their feelings,
Tho their exterior looks like brass,
But when you cut the cuticule
They're simply like the mass.
And when you steal a fellow's goat
Or simply say you found it,
He's sure to go and make a squeal,
His wrath will be unbounded.

Sir Paddy Tooley from the coast
Came up to take a hand,
Says he, now boys return that goat
And I'll give you all some land.
And Paddy Tooley is sure some sport,
But keep this on the quiet,
You'll get some land, yes, lots of land,
That is, if you will buy it.

Now boys, said Pat, it's surely time
That all of you should know
That all that stuff was bunky bunk
We peddled two years ago.
You know that it's unreasonable
To raise Hades without a cause,
And besides, you see, we've joined the ranks
Of the lodge called "Always Was."

So just go home and by and by
Our engineers will note
The how, the when, the why, the which
Of how you got that goat.
The river dwellers smole a smile
Which made the tin-god weep,
Said they, Oh, no, we got that goat
And what we get we'll keep.

MINISTER LANDS VISITS CITY

The Hon. Patullo, Minister of Lands, was a Fernie visitor on the 26th inst. He attended a meeting of the faithful at A. Macneil's office and also met a delegation of West Fernie and Annex citizens re the river protection proposition.

The Hon. gentleman spoke at length on what had been accomplished by the government and the policy which they proposed to follow in the future.

A. I. Fisher followed, telling of his strenuous efforts to accomplish something in the way of river protection and the difficulties he had to overcome.

On Saturday morning Mr. Patullo visited the dangerous parts of the river and promised to do all in his power to have the government take care of the situation.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., Aug. 1, 1918.

Mr. Kennedy, Secretary G. W. V. A., Fernie, B.C.:

Dear Sir—As residents of West Fernie and Fernie Annex we wish to draw the attention of your society to a condition which we think you will give your earnest attention. George Townsend enlisted in the 54th Regiment of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces and has been on duty since January 16th, 1916. He has a wife and six children, the eldest of whom is 14 and the youngest 2 years. This family resides in West Fernie on a lot which is in a very precarious condition owing to the encroachments of the Elk river. This matter was taken up with the Minister of Public Works two years ago by the citizens of Fernie, and the appended communication was received from Hon. Dr. King:

F. Newnham, 1906 3rd Ave., West, Calgary:

Dear Sir—I am in receipt of you letter re protection work necessary to prevent Mrs. Townsend's home being endangered by the Elk river.

Would say that the Department has carried on a very considerable amount of protection work in and about Fernie this year, and it was hoped this work would relieve those endangered by freshets as in the past. I understand the work has been very thoroughly done. However, I will make inquiries as there may be some special circumstance regarding Mrs. Townsend's property and same will be looked into.

Yours very truly,

J. H. King, Minister.

Now after carefully going over the whole matter we as citizens of Fernie think your association can throw its influence into our movement. Moreover, we think it little short of an outrage when a man is to be called to the defense of his country, called to sacrifice his life and leave all that is near and dear to him, and find that owing to the lethargy of a government his very home that he has work-for years to call his own, should be washed away.

Trusting this communication will merit your consideration, I remain,

Very truly yours,

Frank Brindley.

PRESS COMMENT

The Assassin's Dagger

The German people, or the German democracy, as some people take a strange pleasure in describing them, cannot have it both ways. Either they sell themselves to a military autocracy as the price of the greatness of the Fatherland and the prevalence of Kultur or they join forces with civilization. But of the alternative they are incapable, and there is no third course. They have chosen the sword —or, rather, since the sword is the weapon of honor, the poison bowl of the assassin—and must abide the issue.—London Morning Post.

From an American Port

The cautious blue pencil of the censor is perhaps reflected in the report of a celebration by the American colony at Shanghai of the 70th anniversary of the founding of the Pacific Mail, when one speaker appropriately recalled, according to the official narrative in Commerce Reports, that it was exactly 134 years ago that the first American ship, the Empress of China, sailed from a "port of the United States" for Canton. Would mention of the name of the port that this Yankee ship sailed from, more than a century ago, be giving valuable information to the enemy? Let us trust that no confidence is violated in stating that ,according to the historical account of the famous voyage, the Empress of China sailed from N—w Y—k.—Providence Journal.

Danger Signals in Austria.

The root fact of the internal position in Austria is that nothing short of peace will bring the hope of internal consolidation. The Slav grows more restive as the months go by, and their politicians, who seem to control their masses want no early peace, because they still cling to the hope of breaking Austria up. They reject all compromises and offers of conciliation and reconstruction in a true Sinn Fein spirit, because, like our own Irish extremists, they desire a settlement imposed by the Peace Conference.. They will not compromise while that hope lingers. Racial riots are common occurrences in Austria; much more symptomatic is the news that the chief of the South Slav Catholic Bishops is promoting some kind of a plebiscite among all the South Slavs of the Monarchy in favor of union with Serbia. If a plebiscte can be carried out, the police is much weaker and much more tolerant than we had supposed. If the Catholic church is promoting it then even the Great Clerical Party must have abandoned its traditional loyalty to the Hapsburgs.—The Nation, London.

Conscientious Objectors

The "conscientious objector" has a high-sounding title, but in fact he is a sneak. He objects to taking part in defending himself and all that is of interest to him. Instead he wants to stand aside and let the other fellow take the risks while he himself gets all the benefits. If cowardice comes in that adds to the merited contempt, but the "conscientious objector" ranks with the man who wouldn't help bail out a wandering lifeboat, because he had objections to manual labor. He is entirely ready to be saved and to enjoy the results of the other fellow's bailing or fighting. He's ready to survive the crisis whatever it may be. No conscientious objection to getting the benefits of what others work for. It is just his picayune self that he is looking after. The more of them the government gets after the better, and the more each gets the better for him and for society.—The Hartford Courant.

Why Talk of Peace?

Peace negotiations is surrender. Brest-Litovsk taught that lesson to all the world. Until then Germany was able to talk of getting around a conference table, as if that would mean the end of the war. In other wars it would have meant that. Brest-Litovsk has taught us that it would be only the beginning. "We have accepted their modus vivendi; why do they strangle us? is the piteous wail of Bolshevist Russia to the remorseless enemy who, ever since the peace treaty was signed, has gone on remorselessly destroying the nation foolish enough to enter into a conference with it. Brest-Litovsk was a lightning flash which showed the nations the abyss of treachery yawning at their feet if they made a single step along the road to peace negotiations with such a foe. It taught them that peace negotiations, in the German mind, were only a military manoeuvre that the final peace conference itself, if held, with an unbeaten Germany, would be the beginning, not the end, of the triumphant march of the German armies. So the Kaiser sows his artful seed in vain. The tares he sowed at Brest-Litovsk spring up and choke it.—New York Times.

A GREAT CHANGE IN THE EMPIRE

When Britain is at war the Empire is at war, the great Dominion of Canada equally with the least of the Crown colonies; but the dominions have grown in stature and sturdiness, and, though there was no need to call the daughter nations to the Empire's side, the message "we are with you was flashed before the fatal hour struck, and the proof given of their abiding loyalty, instant, persistent, heedless of cost or sacrifice, has been generously, unstintingly acknowledged by Great Britain. Night from day does not differ more than does the calculating attitude "if you want our aid call us to your counsels," from the spontaneous outpouring of men and treasure to the preservation of liberty and the security of the Empire. The dominions asked no price, they bargained not of terms, they are giving their all, and the constitutional development that otherwise would be left to the fate of chance has become a reality. To quote the words of the ritish premier: "The contributions you have made have given you the undeniable right to a voice in fashioning the policy which may commit you, and for that reason the Imperial War Cabinet is a realty. Representatives of the dominions sit with representatives of Great Britain to confirm, consult, and decide under absolute equal conditions regarding information and power. All that is making a great change in the history of the British Empire."—Montreal Gazette.

THE GREAT OFFENSIVE YET TO COME

Casually and perhaps without intending it, General Marsh, Chief of Staff of the United States army, has let out the all-important fact that the Allies' great offensive will take place "later in the year."

This disclosure explains a great many things. It explains what was remarked on in The World yesterday, i.e., why the British armies, numbering 2,000,000 men in northern France, are kept comparatively idle at this juncture.

It explains that the present blow by General Foch is not a development of his strategic plan for the overthrow of Germany, but by comparison a local operation designed to stop the advance south of the Marne towards Paris.

It explains that the British and French "Strategic Reserve" is still intact and now supplemented by at least half a million American bayonets.

It explains why the German General Staff, shrewdly guessing that General Foch was accumulating an "army of manieuvre," just as von Hindenburg did at the end of last year, have sacrificed so much to pierce the Anglo-French front before Amiens and at Ypres, as well as attempting an abortive second drive on the armies defending Paris.

Just as General Joffre retreated from Belgium when General Lanrezac failed him at Charleroi, yet in that forced retreat lured the Germans to their destruction, so General Foch has held the Allied front together from the North Sea to Switzerland by means of his ordinary reserves, giving ground as he had to, but never in panic throwing into the struggle the new armies he was reserving for "the day" when he should have the numerical superiority that would enable him to achieve the end and aim of all strategy and tactics, namely, the imposition of his will upon his foes.—Vancouver World.

Uncle Mose's Congratulations

A young planter in Mississippi had an old servant called Uncle Mose, who had cared for him as a child and whose devotion had never waned. The young man became engaged to a girl of the neighborhood who had a reputation for unusual beauty and also for a very violent temper. Noticing that Uncle Mose never mentioned his approaching marriage, the planter said:

"Mose, you know I am going to marry Miss Currier?"

"Yassuh, I knows it."

"I haven't heard you say anything about it," persisted the planter.

"No, suh," said Mose. "'Taint fo' me to say nothin' 'bout it. I's got nothin' to say."

"But you must have some opinion about so important a step on my part."

"Well, suh," said the old negro with some hesitation, "yo' knows one thing —the most p'izonest snakes has got the most prettiest skins."

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENT

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions, with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained on these claims in less than 5 years, with improvements of $10 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years.

Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes, areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

TOWNSITE PROPERTY ALLOTMENT ACT.

Provision is made for the grant to persons holding uncompleted Agreements to Purchase from the Crown of such proportion of the land, if divisible, as the payments already made will cover in proportion to the sale price of the whole parcel. Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchaser from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjustment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

THE BRITISH MAIL

Manitoba Free Press: A heavy British mail has been held up for days at the post office; even in this one city thousands wait anxiously for their "letter from home." For no matter whether born there or not the little isles across the sea are yet the homeland of the race. Far flung, indeed, are the paths of the British Mail. Let us try and picture some of them.

In a lonely post a fur-trader watches with straining eyes across the frozen lake for a sight of a distant speck which should at length resolve itself into the train of husky dogs bringing the semi-annual packet—the mail that contains the latest news, now nearly six months old, but welcome, oh, how welcome, of the doings of the old folks beyond the seas. Day after day he has looked in vain, for the weather has been bad and the packet is late by a full week. But this short winter afternoon shows to the keen glance of the vigilant watchers, a something moving slowly and dimly through the heavy frost fog, which he knows can be nothing but the long expected train.

Far into the night, by the light of a wick fed by seal-oil, the factor reads and re-reads his letters. Perhaps with a happy smile; and perhaps, the pages are wet with the salt tears of a strong man crushed to the very earth.

Again the scene shifts: a planter lolls in his bamboo chair looking from his hillside bungalow, upon one of the fairest scenes the tropics can show. The hot season is at its height. By day the sun shines from a copper sky, and the very earth seems to pant and gape, and worse are the nights, with their sickly damp breath. But this is English mail day, so life, after all, is not without its compensation. The crop has been rotten, the price on the London market was never so low—but there will certainly be a letter from the girl who is to come out next cool season to share the bungalow, and reign as queen of a district where she will be the only white woman, so — hang the heat!

Up the zig-zag path toils the trusty post-collie, and in the little tin box which he carries with so straight a back, is the one letter that will transform, for a time at least, this blazing hell into a charmed land. The English mail has arrived.

All the wide world over men, aye, and women too, date things from "mail day." In the scattered garrisons where the Empire's drumbeat proclaims the presence of law, order and justice to all men, Tommy Atkins and his officers live with one eye on the signal staff which will give them the first news of the sighting of the mail steamer. Cruisers on detached stations, in a commission that has seemed endless, await with feverish impatience the ship that shall bring them the order which will cause the long homeward bound pendant to be broken out, and the band to play "Home Sweet Home," as the cable comes rattling through the hawse pipes.

The Up-Country sheep run, the Rhodesian gold mine, the trader's store in the fever-laden jungle of Nigeria, each feel a thrill, and awakes to a new life when the English Mail comes in.

But, perhaps, now it is in just such cities as Winnipeg the British Mail means more than anything else to thousands. Lying in the post office, part of a vast collection, are letters written by hands that never more will hold a pen. They lie in shallow graves, over which though not yet, the poppies shall blow, and which will be the shrine of many a pilgrimage, from overseas, in the long years to come. Other envelopes started on their mission, from cool, silent hospitals, where science and devotion struggle to hold back the life in the shattered shells of what were forms of young, splendid manhood. How welcome these would be to many a modest Winnipeg home; but, for the present, they must remain unsorted, because someone, or some men, has or have blundered. Under certain circumstances a blunder is worse than a crime, and it may be that it will be generally acknowlegded that this is one of those cases.

Where floats the flag there goes the mail: and what says Kipling on this subject:

"What is the Flag of England?
Ye have but my reefs to dare;
Ye have but my sands to traverse;

COMMUNICATION

Coal Creek, July 31, 1918.

To the Editor of the Free Press:

Dear Sir—I know it is an accepted rule, when you have no case, to abuse your opponent. This is exactly what occurred in last week's Free Press. You thought to obscure the issue by indulging in a few commonplace personalities and writing a lot of rot about something which was entirely beside the question.

The statement you made amounted to this: That the District Officers created strikes at election time in order to hold their jobs.You have not proved and what is more cannot prove that assertion.

You say something about my wanting all the private correspondence and dictaphone records before I will believe. Well, I have known you long enough, Mr. Editor, by repute (which is close enough) to warrant me refusing to accept any statement you may make, unsupported by evidence. I also want to say that there is no private correspondence nor, are there any two-legged dictaphone records, whereby you can make good your statement.

What has happened in District 18 during the last two or three years has happened more or less the world over and is the logical outcome of economic conditions. I am certainly of the opinion that the trouble ought to have been adjusted without a stoppage. I will not agree, however, that the men are always in the fault. It is an old saying that there are two sides to every question but insofar as the Free Press is concerned, there is but one side every time and that is certainly not the workers' side.

In over thirty years' experience as a trade unionist I have never heard of a union that made a creditable name for itself, that is, judged from the so-called public point of view. If there is one, I should not want to be a member of it; it would be worthless.

I claim, sir, that you have made a statement which is absolutely false.

The question as to whether you or I is the "simple minded" one can be safely left to your readers.

Yours truly,
John E. Smith.

(Ed.—Attached to the above letter was a note stating that a copy had been sent to Gladstone Local. We immediately saw the point. It is a little advertising Mr. Smith is looking for. Mr. Smith accuses us of clouding the issue. He seems to wander from the subject himself considerably when he talks about the labor unrest of the past two years. We thought we were discussing the former policy of the District Ledger which has been out of commission for nearly three years. However, we do not believe that Mr. Smith is quite so dense as he would have the public believe, neither are we so dense that we do not understand his wild burst of union lip loyalty at this time. He is taking a leaf out of Mr. Potter's book. It is not very long since Mr. Smith was howled out of the Presidency of Gladstone Union. Some of the members even wanted to go further. He now thinks he can be restored to the confidence of his fellow members by attacking the Fernie Free Press. Mr. Potter got away with that stuff for quite a while, but they finally got wise. We fancy they will soon see through Mr. Smith.)

LETTER TO MR. PATULLO

Fernie, B.C., July 31.

Mr. Patullo—I had the honor to appear before you as part of a delegation from Gladstone Local Union, 735 members all told, affecting 3500 people, to make certain representations to you with regard to land conditions in this district. There is no doubt but what we appear in the eyes of the province as purely a mining community, which basically we are. Our importance as a mining community to the province is very well stated when I make the assertion that we contribute, as a district, something like $275,000 to the provincial revenues per annum.

Heretofore and at present we have been forced to import almost everything into our community in the shape of foodstuffs. Now, I wish to impress upon your honor, that miners as a rule are distinctly home loving persons. A casual glance around our district will convince the observer that we make use of every facility at our disposal to use whatever ground we can reasonably secure, therefore, I am fairly reasonable in making the assertion that the opportunity ought to be given to us as individuals to broaden our opportunities with regard to land, and thus add to our welfare as a community and add to the wealth of the province. There are, however, conditions in this district which in our opinion are unfortunate but which we believe are not unsurmountable in regard to the land. Briefly stated, the land in our immediate vicinity is held by four separate bodies, viz., the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., the Seiple Lumber Co., the Elk Lumber Co. and the Fernie Lumber Co., to the amount of approximately 40,000 acres.

I would respectfully draw your attention to the fact that I am not referring to the land which may be held under license or as coal land, but to land that is locally known as cut over lands and which if our district is to be developed as it should be would all be under cultivation. I might add conditions of climate are favorable to make our valley just as self-sustaining as any district in the entire province.

However, these corporations are holding these lands out of use and at such a price that it is impossible for anyone to become the holder of any reasonable amount of acreage, at least to the extent that his holdings would support him and family.

I will quote an instance, and if I make any mis-statement I may be pardoned for not having data which would take me back to the time when our district was first opened by the advent of the B.C. Southern railway. In quoting the instance I will be specific as to most of the facts, though there are some things which no doubt the records of your office will bear me out, and I will refer to the Fernie Lumber Co. This company first acquired possession of certain timber lands from which as a lumber concern they operated for a given term of years. Now, while a proportion of those lands were mountain lands and had no value except from the timber they produced, yet in this acreage there was a large amount of valley and bench lands which could be further used for agricultural purposes. However, the public were debarred from any right to acquire those lands by a provision that gave the licensee the first right of purchase from the government. Now, the town of Fernie, being closely adjacent to those lands, gave them a special value, and while the licensee paid only a nominal amount, say $1.00 or possibly $2.50 per acre, yet they have actually marketed some of those lands at the extortionate amount of $100 per arre. Now this person has actually held out of use some 1500 acres of just as fine land as there is in the province, solely for the purpose of trading at an enhanced value which has accrued by reason of our development as a mining community. Community interests are ignored, provincial interests are smiled at and the province is yearly confronted by a fire danger. In fact, the great fire which desolated the entire district and obliterated the entire town of Fernie, was due to the timber waste left by a company operating as the Cedar Valley Lumber Co. This company also held its lands at an extortionate amount, as does the C.N.P. Coal Co.

Now, your honor, we, as members of the community, take it that it is time for the provincial government to take some steps with regard to remedying this condition of affairs.

A. I. Fisher was elected largely on the strength of his platform assertion in regard to those lands. However, nothing has been done and while we think the formation of the Land Settlement Board is a step in the right direction, yet we think it cannot remedy the condition of affairs here. We are prepared first to submit the question to you and the government. Failing any remedy we are forced to make it an issue at the next provincial election.

Yours truly,
On behalf of the Executive Committee,
Hy. Martin, Secretary.

RE "ADOPTED" PRISONERS OF WAR

Letter from the Canadian Red Cross Society to persons and organizations who have "adopted" Canadian Prisoners of War:

Toronto, July, 1918.

Dear Mrs. Trites — The Canadian Red Cross Society is greatly indebted to you (or your organization) for your generous assistance in its work of caring for the Canadian Prisoners of War through your monthly payments on behalf of certain prisoners.

The Society has welcomed this suport and has been glad to be the means of keeping our prisoners in touch with their friends and relations.

But the number of Canadian prisoners has now increased so greatly that it is found impossible to continue the present system of adoption, and it has become necessary to cancel all present adoptions in order to inaugurate a smipler and more workable system.

Early in the war, the Canadian Red Cross began to send our prisoners in enemy countries an occasional parcel of comforts, for which $2.50 a month was sufficient, and many persons and societies were able to subscribe that sum. Now the prisoners depend on the Red Cross for their very existence and the cost of supporting each prisoner of war is reckoned at $200 per annum. This amount is liable to be increased at any time as the price of food rises; and there are now upwards of 2500 Canadian prisoners.

The Canadian Red Cross has undertaken the full responsibility of feeding and clothing these men, and its Budget for 1918 has estimated that it will require $600,000 in order to care for our Canadian prisoners. From funds provided by the public, the Society will continue to send to each Canadian prisoners in enemy countries the maximum amount of food and clothing permitted, and the Provincial Branches of the Red Cross through their Local Branches and auxiliary organizations, have undertaken to raise the necessary funds.

The present system of "adoption" which was easy to work when there were only a few prisoners and all their parcels cost only $25 a year, has become impracticable now that there are so many prisoners and their upkeep is often too costly to be borne by one individual or society. In the attempt to keep up the "personal touch" with prisoners sometimes as many as five persons or organizations are "adopting" or contributing to the upkeep of one individual prisoner. Anyone who multiplies by 2500 the amount of letter writing and bookkeeping for each man necessitated under such a system will realize that it is too complicated to be continued (or even expended if the number of prisoners should be increased). Already, by relieving the London Office of this clerical work, we have enabled them to undertake the actual packing of the parcels by their own voluntary staff.

The Society recognizes fully the right of the next-of-kin to "adopt" his own friend or relative even if he can only afford part of his upkeep. If you are the legal next-of-kin of any Canadian prisoner, please indicate his name and number and state whether or not you desire to "adopt" him, wholly or in part, as outlined above. The Society does not solicit contributions for this purpose from the friends of prisoners. It gratefully receives their subscriptions if offered, and assures them that if such support is a burden it will be gladly borne by the Society.

In order to preserve local links with the prisoners, the Society is arranging to allot to the Provincial branches of the Red Cross Society the support of prisoners who reside, or whose next-of-kin reside, within that province. The Head Office will send to the headquarters of the Provincial Branches all cards of acknowledgment received from the prisoners so allotted. It will then be in order for the Provincial Branch to forward the cards to individual adopters or to advertise it in any way it may seem fit the names of those prisoners who are acknowledging their parcels.

We trust that having considered the conditions outlined in this letter you will continue to subscribe towards the upkeep of our Canadian prisoners of war, realizing that this change in adoptions is due to the necessity of conserving labor and material at this time. It will be in order for you to continue to write to the person whom you have adopted.

The prisoners' parcels of food will continue to be sent six times a month from the London Office as before to Canadian prisoners in enemy countries, together with the maximum allowance of bread and clothes, smokes and chocolate, as permitted by the regulations of the Central Committee for Prisoners of war.

The support of the Prisoners of War Department will be a first charge on the general funds of the Canadian Red Cross Society, so that there will be no chance of a prisoner lacking anything which it is possible for the Society to provide. The Society trusts therefore, that you will continue to contribute to its work through your Provincial or Local Red Cross Branch and will be glad to receive your assurance of such support.

Yours truly,
Helen W. Mowat,
Secretary Prisoners of War Record Bureau.

DANGER LURKS IN EVERY ONE OF US

We Are As Full of Deadly Poisons As A Germ Laboratory.

AUTO-INTOXICATION OR SELF-POISONING

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Absolutely Prevents This Dangerous Condition.

The chief cause of poor health is our neglect of the bowels. Waste matter, instead of passing from the lower intestine regularly every day, is allowed to remain there, generating poisons which are absorbed by the blood.

In other words, a person who is habitually constipated, is poisoning himself. We know now that Auto-intoxication, due to non-action of the bowels, is directly responsible for serious Kidney and Bladder Troubles; that it upsets the Stomach, causes Indigestion, Loss of Appetite and Sleeplessness; that chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Pain In The Back, are relieved as soon as the bowels become regular; and that Pimples, Rashes, Eczema and other Skin Affections disappear when "Fruit-a-tives" are taken to correct Constipation.

"Fruit-a-tives" will protect you against Auto-intoxication because this wonderful fruit medicine acts directly on all the eliminating organs.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

CURRENT COMMENT

The British Imperial armies in France are described as straining on the leash. They want to have a finger in the pie which General Foch has opened before the Crown Prince and von Ludendorf, who are probably much more surprised at its contents than was the King when the Four and Twenty Blackbirds began to sing. The legend of German invincibility and efficiency has no dominion over the minds of the Tommies. They have met the Boche on equal terms and taken his measure tooo frequently to doubt their ability to emulate the triumphs of their French and American allies in the Marne area. But they need not tumble over themselves. Foch, who promises to rank as the one military genius which the war has discovered, knows what he is about. And he possesses that crowning quality in a military commander—the ability to await patiently for the right moment. When it came on the Marne he struck the harder for having waited. In due season the British wish will be gratified—and they will be unable to strike too rapidly or too hard for the Generalissimo.

THERE SHOULD BE A RECKONING AFTER THE WAR

The tale of German cruelty daily develops new horrors that make the blood run cold at its deliberate diabolicalness. The Zeppelin air raid vies with the submarine piracy in lawlessness, but on the whole the submarine wins the prize for reasoned ruthlessness. Witness the case of a Belgian and a British trawler reported in Monday's Spokesman-Review.

When these trawlers were sunk by submarines the crews of the destroyed craft were taken on the pirate boat. But they were not put inside, where they would have been relatively safe, but set outside on the deck. When the submarine later submerged, as they had to do, they did so without warning and left their victims at the mercy of the waters. Only two members of the crews of the sunken trawlers were saved and it is to be presumed that the crews of scores of other ships that have been sunk without a trace were made victims of the frightfulness of the commanders of other submarines.

This procedure of the Germans at sea is not naval warfare. It is murder most foul, outright piracy, premeditated assassination by wholesale. It is the destruction of international law and a crime against humanity. Its perpetrators and sponsors stand on the same moral or immoral level as the savage pirates of Malaysia and the Chinese seas.

When the war has been lost by Germany and the day of reckoning has arrived Tirpitz and his subordinates and every official responsible for these submarine atrocities ought to be brought to the bar of international justice, receive a fair trial on the evidence adduced and then be subjected to drastic penalties. These men are not engaged in legitimate warfare. They are criminals who set themselves above the law, trample it under foot and yield allegiance to no principle but the right of might. They and their government and people must be taught such a lesson that the world shall never again be shocked and shamed by the butchery of innocent noncombatants at sea.

Indications that some such course will be adopted by the British are afforded by the statement that they refuse to include captured German commanders of submarines among the prisoners whom the Brtish government exchanges with the German govenrment. It is to be hoped that the refusal means that Germany is to be brought to book for its naval outrages and that proper punishment is to be inflicted upon its pirates. — Spokesman-Review.

THE STRENGTH OF THE ALLIED ARMIES

The strength of the French field army remains a matter of conjecture but it was stated several weeks ago that it was still considerably larger than the British. It may be assumed that it consists of not less than two and a quarter million combatants. Italy has a quarter of a million men in France, so that the allied armies as a whole number not less than five and a half millions. How many divisions are maintained out of this vast mass of fghting men it is impossible even to conjecture. Sir Douglas Haig, some time ago, said that, generally speaking, of three men under arms in the war area only one was an infantry soldier. Applying this principle to the Allied armies, there are about 1,800,000 men who use rifle, bomb and bayonet in the Allied ranks in France, or at 9000 men to a division, about 200 divisions.—Toronto Globe.

CONSCRIPTION A SUCCESS

A total of 57,000 men added to the Canadian Expeditionary Force since the beginning of May absolutely vindicates compulsory service. The number of men secured during June was not nearly as large as the figures for May, but it was large enough to show that reinforcements adequate to the army's needs are being secured; and that, after all, is all that matters. — Ottawa Journal-Press.

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glisens with beauty and is radiant with ife; has an incomparable softness and s fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF THE

National Council Y. M. C. A. of Canada

CANADA — ENGLAND — FRANCE

The National Council of the Y.M.C.A. herewith presents a complete statement of its finances for the year 1917, covering its entire service Overseas and in Canada.

The Executive Committee of the Council arranged last November to have a complete statement for the year 1917 ready for publication before the recent Red Triangle Fund Campaign, but owing to conditions arising out of Military operatons in France this has been unavoidably delayed. It is presented now at the earliest date that existing conditions have permitted.

The portion of the following statement which concerns England and France has already been submitted to the Overseas Military authorities. Audited statements of the funds handled have been submitted to the Militia Department at Ottawa and for the past two years regular accounting has been made as well to the authorities in England and France. In addition to the regular audit in France, the canteen business is checked every month by the Military Field cashiers, to determine the amount which is paid to Military units as indcated in the Expenditures. Printed copies of the audited statements are posted up in the huts for the information of the soldiers.

The General Operation Account shows on the one hand the entire receipts of the National Council; first, from the gross sales of its Military canteens in Canada, England and France, and second, from subscriptions received during the year. On the other hand, there is shown the entire expenditures for the year, including, first, the cost of the goods sold in the canteens and, second, the expenditures connected with the entire service which is carried on under the direction of the National Council.

The Balance represents the excess of receipts over expenditures. Of this sum of $118,351.43 was the balance at the National Headquarters at Toronto, and the remainder was Overseas. This balance at the end of the calendar year represents the amount available to carry on operations until the time of the campaign in 1918. While the financial statement is drawn up on the basis of the calendar year the receipts from the campaign of one year have to serve until the campaign of the next year. The above balance at the National Headquarters was by April 30th, just before the new campaign, not only used up but changed to a deficit of $237,930.13. This deficit was, however, offset by the balance overseas, which has to be maintained there as a working balance to carry on operations.

The item $240,524.86 is a special amount which had to be expended for the purchase of canteen and other supplies in Canada for shipment to France. Beginning with June, 1917, on account of the scarcity of supplies in Great Britain, much of the purchasing formerly done there had to be transferred to Canada. The long period of time required for the shipment of these supplies to France involves the continuous employment of a large sum. The amount expended for this purpose, as at December 31st, has had to be treated as an expenditure and placed in a Reserve Account against the merchandise in hand. It is, however, a possible asset and will, when realized upon, be devoted to other forms of service to the soldiers, when it is no longer required to maintain the canteen service in France.

It was possible to provide for this expenditure only because the amount asked by the National Council in 1917 was oversubscribed by more than the amount required just at the time the Canadian Purchasing had to be undertaken. But for this it would have been necessary eiher to borrow this large amount or greatly curtail the service in France.

It is to be remembered that the goods at the front in France, where the greater part of the stock is carried, are subject to enormous risks. The English Y.M.C.A. in the German offensive of March and April suffered losses in huts and canteen supplies of nearly One Million Dollars. In the more recent offensive the American Y.M.C.A. has suffered losses nearly as large, and the National Executive have deemed it a matter of prudence to be prepared to meet a similar loss if it should fall on the Canadian Y.M.C.A.

The National Council has from the first declared the policy of devoting to the service of the soldiers whatever balance remains in the Military Fund at the close of the war. This policy has been made known to and accepted by the Overseas Military authorities. The need for the Y.M.C.A. service will continue all through the period of demobilization and the plan of the National Council is to use whatever balance then exists to keep up the efficiency of the service to the soldiers during that important period.

The National Council of the Y.M.C.A., under which the Military Work is conducted, is a representative body of the various Y.M.C.A.'s throughout Canada, but it has no authority over or financial responsibility for any local branch. The funds which it handles have no connection with those of any local branch of the regular Y.M.C.A. It wishes to make clear, therefore, that the funds which are acquired in or subscribed for the Y.M.C.A. Military Work have not been and will not be used in connection with the regular work of any of these branches, but will, according to the policy already announced, be kept in the Military Work and devoted exclusively to the service of soldiers.

The service represented in the expenditures of the accompanying statement covered at the opening of the present year, 96 centres of operation in France and 76 in England, including all regular camps and units, base camps, convalescent camps, hospitals, railway troops, cavalry, London and Paris and forestry units from the north of Scotland to the South of France.

There were on the Overseas staff 133 Secretaries carrying honorary commissions, 50 of whom were at the expense of the Y.M.C.A. for pay and allowances and the remainder at the expense of the Government. There are also a considerable number of other ranks, non-commissioned officers and men, detailed to the Y.M.C.A. staff by the Military authorities. A number of these, who are given non-commissioned rank because of special responsibility, are at the expense of the Y.M.C.A. for the extra pay over that of ther regular rank. Civilian help is also employed where required and where circumstances permit.

In Canada the soldiers are served in 38 centres, including camps, barracks, Red Triangle Clubs, hospitals, naval stations and on troop trains. This has required approximately 100 Secretaries, who work on a civilian basis and are entirely at Y.M.C.A. expense. There is also required a considerable staff of employed helpers, exclusive of the committees of ladies who render their service free.

The scope and variety of the entire service, in so far as expeditures can reveal them, are indicated in the following statement.

Signed on behalf of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A.

G. H. WOOD, Chairman.

F. L. RATCLIFF, Chairman of Finance Committee.

CHAS. W. BISHOP, General Secretary.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE

We have audited the books, vouchers and accounts of the National Council Headquarters at Toronto, and of the Central Territorial Division for the year ended 31st December, 1917, and have been furnished with the audited statements of the Maritime and Western Divisions of the National Council for the same period. We have also been furnished with the Annual Statement for England for 1917, duly audited, and the Annual Statement for France for 1917 with the Auditor's Certified Statement for the six months to June 30th. Owing, we understand, to Military restriction on civilian travel between England and France, it was impossible for the auditor to go to France and complete the audit to 31st December, 1917. We have agreed the Canadian and Overseas statements with the above General Statement, which combines them, and, according to the books and statements furnished, the above statement, in our opinion, correctly sets forth the operations of the National Council at home and overseas.

Kaffir Boys Close Chautauqua

Unusual Attraction Has Attracted Widest Attention in England and the United States

To Chautauqua direct from the darkest of the interior jungles of Africa, resplendent in the glamorous trappings of native regalia, come Balmer's Wonderful Singing Kaffir Boys. These ebony-hued youngsters, with their sparkling eyes, shiny teeth and beaming faces, are marvelous singers, famous the world over for the remarkable richness and clarity of their voices. Besides singing, the Kaffir Boy choir give native dances and ceremonies. They sing songs in native and English tongue. The most unique of all Chautauqua offerings, the Kaffirs at Chautauqua, New York, divided honors with ex-President Roosevelt in drawing the greatest audiences of the season. Their appearance on the closing night of Chautauqua will be the biggest event of the week.

Hampton Court Singers at Chautauqua

Thoroughly delightful, alike to those who wish good music rendered in faultless manner and those whose tastes demand the quality of entertainment in a musical program, the platform offering of the Hampton Court Singers has won the organization a host of friends among Chautauqua patrons. This company occupies a distinct field, presenting as it does a varied program in which old English motion songs are featured. A musical sketch in costume adds to the delight occasioned by songs of the fine old period of the chivalric days in which the songs were written. The clever blending of the program takes the hearer back to the time of romance, and the musicianship of the members of the company is such that they give a thoroughly satisfying performance, viewed solely from a musical standpoint.

B. C. RETURNED SOLDIER COMMISSION

In October, 1915, a conference was held at Ottawa between representatives of the Military Hospital Commission of Canada and the various Provincial governments regarding the problem of taking care of and providing employment for the returned men of the C.E.F. At this conference it was agreed that each Provincial government should assume the responsibility of endeavoring to find employment for discharged soldiers and that Central Provincial Committees should be appointed to carry on the work in each Province. In accordance with this agreement the British Columbia Returned Soldier Commission was organized in the fall of 1915.

Finance

The Provincial government has voted a sum of money each year to cover the expenses of the Commission. In Vancouver and Victoria, where it is necessary to have permanent employment offices and staff, the sum of $150 is allotted by the Commission in each case, towards the upkeep of same. With the exception of New Westminster and Nanaimo, to which offices grants are made, the local committees and secretaries give their services voluntary.

Objects

At one of the early meetings of the Commission the Chairman outlined to the members the duties of the Commission and stated its objects with regard to making provision for the welfare of the returned members of the C.E.F. to be:

(a) The finding of employment for soldiers who have been discharged and are able to work:

(b) The provision of any special or technical training or treatment necessary to assist disabled soldiers, who may be unable to take up their former employment, to assume their place in civil life in some occupation in keeping with their incapacitation:

(c) The devising of a practical method of placing returned soldiers on the land:

(d) The finding of employment for the large number of soldiers who within a short space of time will retrun to Canada upon the conclusion of the war.

(a) Employment

Working under the direction of the Commission throughout the Province, 62 local employment committees have been organized, while in a number of the small districts secretaries have been appointed to carry on the work of the Commission. The records on file at the office of the Commission at Victoria show that up to June 30, 1918, over 5000 positions had been provided for returned men and only 54 men appeared on our lists as awaiting employment, while only 49 appeared for two consecutive weeks. On the same date a great many positions were reported to us by our different committees as being open, but men with the necessary qualifications to fill them were not available.

(b) Re-education and Vocational Training

In December, 1915, a special committee was appointed to deal with the education and technical and agricultural training of the returned men, and basing their procedure on the report of this committee the Commission has been instrumental in having established the present system of vocational training and re-education, also the supply farm in connection with the Convalescent Home at Esquimalt.

(c) Land Settlement

The question of placing the returned soldier on the land has received a great deal of attention from the Commission, and in conjunction with the Returned Soldier Commissions of the other Provinces of the Dominion strong recommendations were made to the Government at Ottawa, with the result that the "Soldier Settlement Act, 1917," was brought into force, while the Provincial government has enacted the "Soldiers' Land Act" and amended certain other existing Acts, making them more favorable for returned men.

(d) Demobilization

The question of the rehabilitation of returned soldiers on demobilization at the conclusion of the war is one of the most important matters being dealt with by the Commission. Several propositions tending to the solution of this gigantic problem have been put forward, and the Commission is in communication with the other Provincial Commissions, interchangng views with the hope that eventually, by the co-operation of all the Provincial Commissions, a scheme or series of schemes may be evolved that will prove of material assistance to the Governments in dealing with this all important question.

General

The Commission is advised by wire from the port of disembrakation of the departure for their destination of all men coming back to British Columbia, with the names of the parties they wish to have notified of their pending arrival. This information is immediately communicated by mail or telegram to the secretary of the town or district to which there are any men coming and the secretary informs the parties interested.

Local Secretary

The services of the local secretary, Jos. Austin, are at the disposal of all returned men, either for the purpose of assisting them obtain employment adjusting any grievances they may have in connection with pay, etc., or in any advisory way.

THE BOSTONIANS COMING

The many Bostonian fans here are keenly anticipating the return of this popular organization to the Grand Theatre for two nights, starting on Tuesday, Aug. 6, when they will present their latest musical success "The Girl From Over There," though one of their main features is the youthfulness of the performers. The Bostonians are known throughout the west as the only attraction which has grown up with the country. This being the only company which has made the western tour in the days before the big stars ever ventured west of Winnipeg, who have been able to maintain their drawing power in the face of the strong opposition now offered touring companies. While this season's roster contains a number of names which are unfamiliar, several of the old favorites are still with the company. Amang them Doris Canfield is perhaps the best known for her exceptional ability as a comedienne, and beautiful contralto voice. Another favorite is charming Kathleen Taylor whose sweet singing completely won local music lovers on the last visit here. Dainty Lola Fox will also be remembered for her grace and ability as a dancer. Among the new members are Halcyon Clarke, a former Bostonian and lately returned from the east where she scored a decided hit in vaudeville. Joyce Butler, a charming graduate of the Bostonian training school in Los Angeles. Peg O'Connor, a sprightly youngster who is making many friends for herself, and George Norman, a young English lad with a most pleasing voice and mannerisms. "The Girl From Over There" is a typical summer show and is brimful of refreshing comedy and tuneful song hits. Wednesday night the up to the minute revue "Day-Dreams."

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati authority tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone cost very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.

AT THE ORPHEUM— FRIDAY and SATURDTY

"THE FLOOR BELOW" HAS TOM MOORE AS LEADING MAN

Mabel Normand in "The Floor Below," her second Goldwyn production, is presented in a character unlike any hitherto essayed by her. Nor is the production itself similar to any with which she has been identified in the past. It is a tale of newspaper life combining laughter and thrills, and her role is that of a "copy girl," a sort of journalistic ne'er-do-well, whose sudden, brilliant "beat" covers her paper and herself with glory.

This unusual story is directed by Clarence G. Badger, brought from the West Coast for this undertaking. With its usual care, Goldwyn has assembled a distinguished company of players to support Miss Normand. Again Tom Moore, most popular of leading men, is given the chance to distinguished himself as he did in "The Cinderella Man" and "Dodging a Million." He is Hunter Mason, a rich young religious enthusiast who conducts a Bowery mission. His own secretary is a crook and much of the excitement comes when Patricia O'Rourke (Mabel Normand) masquerading as a criminal, discovers and unmasks the secretary.

Charlotte Granville, distinguished portrayer of society types, is given the important part of Hunter Mason's mother. Miss Granville is identified with the successes of Sir Herbert Tree, Sir John Hare, Sir Charles Wyndham and Sir George Alexander. Helen Dahl is another player recruited from the highest class of stage productions. "The Chorus Lady" and "Maggie Pepper," with Rose Stahl, enlisted Miss Dahl's services for several seasons and she is remembered for her capital work in the farce "A Pair of Sixes."

Louise R. Grisel's old butler, Primrose, in "The Cinderella Man," won for him the distinction of playing with Miss Normand in her new play, in which he portrays an old newspaper employee. Willard Dashiell, Lincoln Plumer and Wallace McCutcheon are other well known players in the case of "The Floor Below," which comes to the Orpheum on Wednesday and Thursday next.

MAKING FORESTS FIREPROOF

People are becoming aware of the tremendous loss to Canada through forest fires. Fire is not the necessary accompaniment of civilization and can be stopped. The cost of equipment and patrol necessary to stop fires amounts to only a small fire insurance premium on the value of the forest. How fires are caused, the influence of the weather, and what amount of damage they do are told in Bulletin No. 64, "Forest Fires in Canada 1914-16," just issued by the Director of Forestry, Ottawa. This is first attempt on systematic lines to give the statistics of fires for the whole of Canada and to classify their cause. By this means the most prolific sources of fires are shown so that means may be applied for their prevention. Those interested in this subject will receive a copy of this bulletin free upon application to the Director of Forestry, Ottawa.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

A bunch of drummers visited Elko last week taking orders for everything from a pack mule to a tea strainer, some live wires and some with faces that would make your own face ache to look at them. The Alberta meat trust with that same old line of dried beef, overland trout and dissipated codfish. A Port Arthur man with a full line of coal heavers' dungerees and bathing suits, said his father was a German but he had been civilized at the last dock walloppers' strike in Fort William. A Calgary man with a dispensary case carrying samples of almost pure gasoline and soap grease, a slippery cuss, believe me, but he slid out of town on seeing the human ferret. A Winnipeg specialty traveller, like icing on a cake, nice to look at but not very substantial. Looked as if he had visited several stampedes and lived on tamarack bark and barb wire, selling individual cherry dumplings, tallow faced cream, nose rings, stuffed mushrooms and roasted peanuts. After dinner speaker Ed. Clay, with how to cut the high cost of living (buy from me). If you give Ed a good order he will tell you how to start a fire in the stove and then tell you a story that will take the enamel off the stove. A delegation of C.P.R. telegraphers inspecting the company's khaki colored bungalows. A Lethbridge brewery man with fortified prune juice and other kinds of soft drinks. Bob Wilson, managing editor of the Winnipeg and Western Grocer is expected on the next two boats. Senator Gray of the Imperial Tobacco Co., tall as a sapling, strong as a tree, can outtalk, out-work, and out-wit any tobacco traveller on the road. Jim Bates of Vancouver with tanned novelties, shoes made from tanned horse and moose hides with the hair still on, a sure cure for corns and wet feet. (To be continued in our next).

Mrs. Albertson and two daughters, of Wycliffe, B.C., are visiting Elko this week, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Hirtz, Dreghorn Villa, Riverside Park.

The Hon. Minister of Lands, Mr. Patullo, Comptroller of Water Rights Mr. Young, of Victoria; Alex. I. Fisher, M.P.P., Fernie; Alex. Macneil the Fernie lawyer; C. McNab, of Waldo, were Elko visitors this week calling on the writer en route.

The Saturday Evening Post says a Chink may not be white but he is a long sight better American than any Kaiser Hound. So say we all.

Elko is said, not only by Jim Thistlebeak, but by world wide travellers, to be the most beautiful mountain townsite in the whole Dominion. It is where Fred Roo lives.

Last week's war news must have shattered the crazy Kaiser's dream. Go to it, you Allies. Germany is beaten, the tide has turned, the last lap, shells and men, men and shells. A stout heart, a united front and a resolute will at home. Then the ghastly thing will soon be over and the world will be ridded once and forever of the accursed Hun. The German flag is a filthy rag, stained with every imaginable and unimaginabe crime, and is a fitting cover for carrion. Bury it, you Allied heroes, with the beastly Huns.

Yes, Mabel, it is true we sometimes serve up "hot stuff" in these notes, but they are not meant for weak stomachs. We like to see justice done and our soul is mirrored in these notes.

Fred Roo, Jr., who sailed from New York on the United States destroyer Brooklyn, arrived at a French port on the 4th of July, after a very pleasant trip across. He sends the following lines, to be sung to the tune of "John Brown's Body."

Old Kaiser Bill, we've come across the blue,
We've a date with friends of ours, who have a date with you.
We've got the wallop that will put the business through,
So we are marching on.

Chorus—
Glory, Glory, Hallelujah!
Bill, old dog, we're going to do yer,
Ten kinds of hell are coming to yer,
As we go marching on.

Old Kaiser Bill, do you ever stop to think,
Exactly what awaits you and your son the missing link,
When we have a little party up in Potsdam on the Blink,
As we go marching on.

The partnership of you "und Gott" is dead forever more,
The devil is your partner and he holds the open door,
Where the trade mark "Made in Germany is stamped upon the floor,
As time goes marching on.

Three little girls spent last Friday night in the thick bush on the Lizard range. They had gone berry picking early Friday morning and the heavy rain storm which came on in the afternoon compelled them to seek refuge in a hollow tree. Night came on very early and the children were unable to find the trail. They returned to the refuge in the tree where they crouched in terror during the entire night. Search parties headed by the provincial police searched the woods far and wide for the lost ones all night, but without success. In the morning an organized force composed of the police and all the city barbers, started out on a systematic hunt and it was not long before the little ones were located wending their way down the mountain side toward home, none the worse for their adventure.

Alfred Baker, public school janitor, has resigned.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sangella died this morning. The funeral will take place tomorrow.

Major G. G. Moffatt, of the famous 54th Battalion, arrived home on a two months' leave on Sunday. He spent the day in the city and left with Mrs. Moffatt for the coast on Monday evening. The Major, notwithstanding an attack of sciatica, which has kept him from active service for about three months, is looking remarkably well and hopes to be able to return to France by the time his leave expires.

RESTRICTIONS ON PORK ARE NOW REMOVED

Ottawa, July 31.—The Canada Food Board has removed, temporarily, the restriction on the consumption of pork. Such action has been made possible by the pork production and conservation efforts in Canada and the United States and the food board's order, passed yesterday, provides that pork, including bacon and any part of the carcass may be served at any time in public eating houses, operating under Food Board license.

PLATINUM FIND MADE

Golden, July 31.—A platinum and placer gold strike has taken place near Athalmere on Toby Creek, a tributary of the Columbia river. A rich deposit of platinum and placer gold has been discovered. The strike is apparently quite extensive, the area over which it is known to extend along the creek is between four and five miles.

A rush has already started and men from Golden, Cranbrook and near by towns are rushing to Athalmere to look over the situation and stake claims along the creek. There are two outfits already working on Toby creek testing out gravel and locating bed rock. One is from Vancouver, The other is made up of men from Athalmere, who made the original discovery of the new platinum and placer gold deposits.

A meeting of the Fernie Poultry and Pet Stock Association will be held in Ingram's hall next Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

Mr. Balfour is a statesman as well as a philosopher and plays golf and tennis with no less skill than a professional. LETTER FROM NED DUTHIE

Some little time ago Jim Taylor got a number of people to write notes to Ned Duthie, collected them and forwarded them to France. The following is Ned's reply to the writers:

France, July 15.

Dear Fernieites—Your flock of best wishes, good luck and safe return to hand a few days ago, with a short epistle from our esteemed friend Jim Taylor. It was very thoughtful indeed of Jim to have gone to so much trouble and bother to collect so many cheery lines from folks throughout the city. Some were from old familiar friends whom I shall never forget, others from friends I have never met nor seen. However, I wish to extend my hearty thanks to you all and may I have the pleasure of meeting and shaking you by the hand "Apres la Guerre."

I would gladly write you individually but present circumstances make it utterly useless, as for instance, scarcity of news, note paper and last but not least, the letter writing inspiration; on the whole it makes the old familiar war veterans picture "Bill and a Better 'Ole." I honestly hope that we are all back before another year has passed. War has its good points as well as its bad ones. For instance, I will be enjoying a two weeks' long looked for holiday, up among the heather and in "smoky London." It's not such a bad war after all.

Fernie has been well represented out here. She has done her bit toward ending the war and the "K" and I'm sure that everyone will rejoice at our home coming. However, meantime we must plug ahead and wear that never beaten smile of real free born Canucks.

Au Revoir for now. Again thanking you all for your wishes and luck. "The same to you," and may it continue for the duration. With my kindest regards.

Yours very sincerely,

W. E. Duthie.

THINGS WE'D LIKE TO KNOW

Why Andy Dunn goes barehead.

If Jock Smith really has political ambitions.

Why Ald. Bill is advertising for a housekeeper.

If the B.C. government expects its employees to steal in order to make a living.

How it is that the government is always the last institution to raise wages.

If Harry Martin and Frank Brindley will be candidates for aldermen at the next election.

If Nelson isn't just a little bit afraid that the Doukhobor parade will not come off.

If A. I. will ever go gunning for Billy Robson. Some of those old kickers are hard nuts to crack.

If the report is correct that the Labor Day committee have made arrangements with the Doukhobors for a parade in Fernie on Sept. 2.

If Fernie's climate hasn't got just a little bit the edge on them all. London, with a temperature of 106 and Washington 114 would certainly be hell for us.

Why the coroner didn't hold an inquest on the drowning accident and give that bunch of West Fernie kickers another chance to get in their fine work on A. I.

If there is more money in being janitor of the public school than holding the chief job at the rescue station, if it isn't about time the government boosted the salary.

If Bob Kerr has a life job on the inspection of government buildings. The school building at Corbin was finished last July and the one at Bull River in September, but the inspector is still on the job and the contractor has not been able to get his coin yet.

Why Tom Prentice and Guy Johnston are the most successful fishermen in the district?

If a man only gets fined $3 for getting drunk in Victoria, if it wouldn't be cheaper to visit the capital when one is about to celebrate.

THE ESTIMATES ARE PASSED

The regular meeting of the city fathers took place last evening with all members present with the exception of Ald. Dudley.

The minutes of the meeting of July 25 were read and approved.

A communication from the B. C. Federationist, requesting a donation of $100 for a half page write up was read and on motion of Ald. Beck and Ald. Jackson was fyled.

A communication from Jas. Finn re the demand for payment of electric light during the time he was in the employ of the city, stated that the City Clerk had explained to him that he would have free light the same as his predecessor, R. B. C. Hammond.. The matter was discussed pro and con Aldermen Rutledge, Beck and Dicken contending that Mr. Finn should have had the same privileges as his predecessor, and Aldermen Jackson and Hunter standing out for the collection of the entire amount due the city. It was finally decided to drop the matter.

The question of charging the present electrician was also brought up. Aldermen Jackson and Hunter again contended that the city council was not there for the purpose of donating the city power to its employees. They finally brought the other aldermen around to their way of thinking and it was decided that Mr. Quail must settle.

Messrs. T. Uphill, H. Martin and Thos. Uphill appeared as a delegation from the Patriotic Committee, who have the Labor Day celebration in hand, asking that the members of the council with the mayor as chairman act as grounds committee on that day and that the city have the track repaired and some other changes made.

Mayor Thomson informed the delegation that they would be pleased to act and that they would endeavor to protect the committee against outside attractions coming in on Labor Day.

Percy Bean asked permission from the city to install a gasoline tank at his new garage. It was granted.

Jules Andre, writing on behalf of the Fernie Motor Car Co., asked to be allowed to use the sidewalk for their cars during the time that Victoria avenue was being repaired in front of their building. The privilege was granted, Mr. Andre guaranteeing to make good any damage that might be caused.

A communication from the Hon. Minister of Lands was read stating that the Public Works Engineer would be in Fernie on the 8th and take up the matter of river bank protection.

The Water Commissioner wrote advising re water rights on Lizard and Fairy creeks. The city clerk was requested to take the matter up further and report to the city later on.

Ald. Rutledge reported that there was a raft belonging to the city down near the residence of Wm. Lancaster which was a grave source of danger to children playing in that locality. It was only the other day that a little child had fallen off the raft and if Harry Harrison had not been close by the little one would have been drowned. Ald. Dicken said the raft would be removed at once.

On motion of Aldermen Rutledge and Beck the city clerk was asked to secure permission from the government to extend the city water service outside of the corporation limits.

A. I. Fisher, M.L.A., and Public Works Engineer Foreman arrived at this juncture and the former asked that the council make an appointment with them to visit the river on the morrow and go thoroughly into the matter of river protection. He stated that from figures available that the province had spent some $300,000 on river protection during the past eight years and of this amount $30,000 had been spent in this district. However, he was still of the opinion that the government should go further and thoroughly protect the homes of those in the Annex and West Fernie. The hour of 2 o'clock Friday was fixed to visit the river.

City Electrician Quail produced some plans of several alterations and improvements which he wanted the council to deal with.

The matter was referred to the water and light committee.

Moved by Ald. Beck, seconded by Ald. Rutledge, That the estimates for the year 1918 be confirmed as follows:

AMERICANS ATTENTION!

The local U. S. Consular office has furnished us with the following draft of the new treaty re the draft of American citizens in Canada. Other papers are requested to copy same.

Ratifications of the military service conventions between the United States and Great Britain and Canada were exchanged July 30th, in London, this making the two conventions which were signed on June 3rd last, effective as from July 30. Under these conventions all male citizens of the United States in Canada, between the ages of 21 and 30, both inclusive, who are liable to compulsory service under the laws and regulations in force in Canada on July 30th, may during a period of 60 days from July 30th, the date of the exchange of ratifications, enlist or enroll voluntarily in the American forces or may leave Canada for the purpose of military service in American forces. If such male citizens of the United States are not liable to compulsory military service in Canada on July 30, then they may enlist or enroll for service in the American forces or leave Canada for the purpose of military service in American forces within 30 days from the date when liability to compulsory service in Canda shall accrue. Registration under the United States Draft Act of May 18, 1917, is equivalent to enrollment within the meaning of the convention. Citizens of the United States in Canada who have already registered or who may register hereafter, within the periods specified, need not, after registration, return to the United States unless called by their local Boards and are not subject to the Canadian military service laws. If within these periods of 60 and 30 days, American citizens in Canada do not enlist or enroll, register or leave Canada for military service in the forces of their country, they will, unless exempted by the American Consul General under Article 3 of the Convention, be liable to compulsory military service in Canada and entitled to exemption and discharge therefrom under the laws and regulations from time to time in force in that country in the same manner as if they were Canadians. Under Article 3 of the Convention, the American Consul General at Ottawa is authorized to grant exemptions from military service in Canada within the respective periods of 60 and 30 days aforesaid as the case may be under certain rules and limitations which will be made known by the Consul General upon request.

"Bill" Bennett, formerly editor of the District Ledger, but who has been with the Canadian Oil Co. at Calgary for the past two years, was in town on Tuesday. Mr. Bennett was on his way to Detroit, where he will spend a month's holidays. Mrs. Bennett and daughter are holidaying at the coast.

NAVY LEAGUE HOLD MEETING

A meeting of the Fernie District Branch of the Navy League of Canada was held on Wednesday last at the city hall. The matter of Sailors' Day, Sept. 7, was the chief item of business, and preliminary arrangements for the organization of the Fernie Elactoral District were gone in to. Mrs. Fisher was appointed convenor of the ladies committee for Fernie and Coal Creek; Mrs. Littler for Michel and Natal; Mrs. Frank Adolph will be asked to undertake the work of Baynes and Waldo; and Miss Roo for Elko. Sailors' Day, Sept. 7, is being recognized by all the patriotic organizations from coast to coast and an appeal to the whole Dominion will be made, the main purpose being to raise funds to provide for dependents of merchant seamen, the men who have been victims of the Hun piracy. The way in which the British merchant mariners "Carry On" in spite of the U boats, is the admiration of the whole Empire, especially when we know that these men are not regularly enrolled soldiers or sailors, and that the government pay no pensions for disability or loss of life.

The Navy League of Canada is a newly organized branch of the Empire Navy League. Fernie has a senior membership of 35 and junior membership of 177, and persons desirous of joining the Fernie Branch can obtain application forms from the secretary or any members. The British Columbia division will spend $3000 this next school term for educational purposes in the schools.

APPRECIATES WORK OF WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS

The Fernie Branch of the Navy League of Canada has requested the publication of the following:

Victoria, July 27, 1918.

W. J. Claridge, Hon. Sec. Fernie Branch Navy League of Canada.

Dear Sir—I beg to enclose herewith copy of a letter that was sent to the Dominion President over the signature of Lady Fremantle and Mrs. Fuller recently, which is self-explanatory.

I should be glad if you will at the earliest opportunity have the contents of this letter conveyed to the lady members of your branches.

Yours very truly,

H. J. Davis,

Hon. Sec. B.C. Division Navy League.

June, 1918.

Dear Madam—At a meeting of the Ladies Organization Committee of the Navy League, which was held at these offices this morning and which was presided over by the Honorable Lady Fremantle, and at which were present women representatives of all phases of public life in this country, it was unanimously decided to communicate an expression of the warm appreciation of the women of the Navy League to all Women's Oversea Organizations for the magnificent public spirit which they have shown since the beginning of the present war, in all that relates to the welfare of both our Sea services.

The Organization Committee of the Navy League is under a special sense of obligation to the women of Sister Nations for the splendid enthusiasm which they have continuously manifested in the promotion of every movement which has tended to make the lot of the dependents of the fighting sailor and the torpedoed merchant man more congenial and more full of hope.

It will give the Organization Committee of the Navy League peculiar pleasure to be in close touch with the various activities of every Women's Organization overseas which aims at the development of patriotic effort in the interests of the Empire and the fullest co-operation will be extended by this office to any practical proposal which may be received from Women's Oversea Organizations.

It will give the Organization Committee special gratification to hear from you and to give immediate attention to any suggestions that you may be so good as to make.

Yours sincerely,

B. R. Fremantle, Chair.

W. Frances Fuller, Vice Chair.

EAST KOOTENAY I.O.D.E.

Report for June—

The dance given at Ross Hall, at Waldo, on June 5th in honor of the Automobile Association, raised the amount of $55.50. Sale of ice cream and soft drinks served by the I.O.D.E. members amounted to $20.65.

The collection at the intercession service held in St. Michael's church, Waldo, was $8.70.

July report—

$35.00 is sent every month to the Prisoners of War Bread Fund.

$46.00 was voted in July to be sent to purchase four cases of jam for the giant jam gift.

Red Cross Notes—

59 pair hand knit socks.

11 pair machine knit socks.

14 suits pyjamas.

10 stretcher caps.

There are two little members of the Dr. Saunders Chapter (Junior Branch) who ought to be mentioned, Grace Taylor, aged 10, who knits 5 pair of socks each month for our soldiers, and her little sister Izor, aged 9, who knits 4 pair. If all the members of the I.O.D.E. could manage the same this would keep the wool makers busy and the Tommies' smiles would grow broader than ever.

DARING RESCUE

Harry Harrison was the hero of a daring rescue from the Elk River on Friday last. A little lad was playing on a raft near the Lancaster property when he slipped and fell in. Luckily Harry was only a short distance away and immediately plunged into the river, which is deep and strong at that point. He succeeded in getting hold of the little one but had a fierce battle with the current before he could reach the shore again.

BRITISH TAKE 14,000 HUNS

London, Aug. 9.—Fourteen thousand prisoners and guns too numerous to mention have been taken in the British drive on the front south of the Somme, it was officially announced today. Cavalry is still pursuing the enemy. The Allied progress is continuing. The French have taken Fresnoy-En-Chausses, while the British have reached a point east of Le Quesnel and Caix. The Germans are evacuating their positions on the Lys front in Flanders. On this front the British now hold Locon, Le Cornet Malo Quentin, Le Petit Pacaut and Lesart. Above the Lys region on the front north of Kemmel the British carried out a local operation last night in which their line was advanced somewhat on a front of more than a thousand yards.

The general feeling in London is that the importance of the successful new battle in France cannot be overestimated. It is regarded as the turning point of the year's campaign and perhaps even the turning point of the whole war.

Paris, Aug. 9.—The success of the Allies on Thursday in forcing the Germans to retire on the defensive on a new and important sector is joyfully welcomed by the press. They attribute the success in great part to the fact that the Allied command is centered in one man.

A LUCKY SWEDE

Haaken Wheringzauson, a local Swede, whom everybody knows by sight or reputation, has fallen heir to a fortune of 600,000 kroner—about $250,000 of our money. Haaken first came to light in Fernie when he got twelve months for forging a check while he was on a drunken spree. He served his time and for the last year or two has been around the lumber camps of this district.

About ten days ago he approached Magistrate Whimster and told him a wild story of wealth which he could get if only he had the money to go up to Calgary and visit the Union Bank there. The magistrate took him at his word and supplied the necessary coin. He evidently got the fortune for word arrived yesterday that the Swede had purchased a big tract of land at Vulcan.

Kamloops Standard Sentinel: A. I. Fisher, M.L.A. for Fernie district, has been asked to resign his position at a public meeting because the present provincial government refuses to do anything in the way of protecting life and property from the ravages of high water in the Elk river. This idea seems to be ridiculous. Mr. Fisher has done everything in his power to get an appropriation for this purpose, but there are a large number in the present legislature at Victoria who labor under the delusion that since the prohibition law was enacted, water can do no harm.

STARVATION PAY

Mr. Crothers, minister of labor, in an interview at the coast, dilated upon the folly of the postal workers in calling a strike. It was without defence, and quite unjustifiable, he said. Were they not getting as much as other civil servants? Why, then, should they not be satisfied?

Mr. Crothers is the same gentleman who a few weeks ago advised, exorted and almost commanded large employers of labor to make use of the machinery furnished by the government—the board of conciliation and such like—to make peace in any labor difficulty.

His speech in Victoria, if correctly reported, was a foolish, unfair and unjust statement of a case, which is practically before the court.

His argument that the postal workers were well paid because they received as much as some other employees is not convincing when we know that the other employees are receiving starvation wages.

The letter carriers of this city, with the war bonus which some of them expect to receive some time, and with the western allowance, now receive from $850 to $1219 per year.

That is not a very large wage. The war bonus is limited to certain employees, according to the government statement, which makes the wage of the unmarried man range from about $800 to $1119.

The Albertan yesterday morning published the McAdoo award for railway employees, which shows that the minimum scale on eight hours a day is only a few dollars less than the maximum scale of the letter carriers, including the western allowance and the war bonus. With overtime which must be paid to railway men after eight hours work in one day, the minimum scale at the shops is much larger for the year than the maximum scale of the letter carriers. The maximum scale of the shopmen according to the McAdoo award, which has been offered the shopmen, without counting on overtime, is nearly $500 more than the maximum wage of the letter carriers.

The Dominion government indirectly is forcing railway companies to pay these wages to employees. There is no criticism of that. But what of a cabinet minister who says that the government's own employees are well enough paid, when with war bonus and other special concessions, they average, man for man, about $500 less than the railway men?

Mr. Crothers is right when he says that the letter carriers are getting as much as other civil servants. That is a strong argument in favor of the increase in wages of other civil servants. The pay of the officials employed by the province is as disgracefully low as the officials employed by the Dominion. Both governments are paying starvation wages. They are exploiting their employees.—Albertan.

SHORT SYNOPSIS OF FOX'S ALLADIN

Orpheum, Wednesday and Thursday

The story of "Alladin and the Wonderful Lamp" as told in the Fox Kiddies Feature Film is briefly as follows:

The scene of "Alladin and the Wonderful Lamp" is laid in Bagdad and at the opening the two principal characters are introduced, one being Aladdin, the son of a tailor, and the other the Princess, who is the daughter of the Sultan. Aladdin is known chiefly because he is "pure in heart." The Princess is receiving attentions from a magician, which attentions are very distasteful to her and she does not hesitate to show it.

In her rides about Bagdad she has interested the son of the tailor and he is greatly attracted to her. When she is being pressed by the suit of the Magician she decides upon the very womanly method of escaping the betrothal which the undesirable suitor seeks.

The Princess goes out riding one day on a camel and when passing by the shop in which Aladdin is working her slipper falls off and on to the street. The boy picks it up and gives it to her. This is the beginning of the acquaintance.

The Magician, however, sees this act and knowing that the boy is "pure of heart" decides to use him to get hold of the wonderful lamp which he knows is hidden in a great cave that is controlled by a genie. He wins the confidence of the boy and finally persuades him to go to the cave and procure the lamp. Aladdin has to enter the cave alone and after picking up the lamp he rubs it and a genie appears to him and tells him of its great value—that whosoever rubs it can receive any wish. The Magician succeeds, however, in getting the lamp from Aladdin before Aladdin can make the one wish of his heart—that is, the betrothal of the Princess.

Then follows a series of events where the lamp passes from one to the other each taking advantage of it when it is in his possession to further his suit for the hand of the beautiful girl.

Finally, after the Magician sees that he cannot win the girl even with the immense gifts that he is able to present her through the possession of the lamp, he decides to abduct her and take her to his desert home. He does this and when she will not consent to a betrothal he places her in a den of lions and tells her he will lift the door between them and she will be devoured unless she consents.

In the meantime, Aladdin has learned of the Princess being taken away and follows her. He almost perishes in the desert but finally the horsemen of the Sultan arrive and rescue him and he points out the Magician's palace. They arrive just in time for Aladdin to rescue the Princess and the magician is finally thrown into the lions' den and meets his fate.

The betrothal of Alladin and the Princess is then announced.

WOEFUL WEAKNESS IN LABOR DEPAATMENT

That there is something woefully weak about the Dominion government's whole labor program and policy is evidenced by the events of the past few weeks. Since spring Canada has witnessed a series of strikes from one coast to the other which has not only cost the country millions in the way of production, thus weakening our effort in the war, but has drawn attention away from the one great purpose of winning the war, centering it instead in our petty squabbles in our own country thousands of miles from the seat of war. Contrasting Canada with the United States or Britain in this regard shows us in a pitiful light, which calls for some drastic changes at Ottawa.

It is our own opinion that the whole blame lies at the door of Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor. He is not the man for the job, never was and never will be. Why not shelve him and put in his place instead a man with experience, with a humanitarian outlook and with the backbone to back up his policies? Mr. Crothers may be a very fine man, but his repeated failures as head of the labor department tag him as a very fine man very much out of place. There must be a stop to the labor unrest in Canada. It may require drastic economic measures to stabilize matters, but if we must have them why hesitate about it? The spectacle of thousands of men at the coast throwing down their tools on Friday because a draft resister was shot with a rifle in his hands, would never have occurred had there been a strong hand at the helm at Ottawa.

Premier Borden should hurry home from the Old Country if for no other reason than to provide a policy to put a stop to the wave of industrial unrest sweeping over Canada and to put a man at the head of the labor department who has the tact and the strength to put the policy into effect. —Lethbridge Herald.

PROCLAMATION

GEORGE the FIFTH, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, KING, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these presents shall come or whom the same may in any wise concern,—GREETING:

A Proclamation of conditional amnesty respecting men belonging to Class 1 under the Military Service Act, 1917, who have disobeyed our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, or their orders to report for duty, or are deserters or absent without leave from the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

E. L. NEWCOMBE, Deputy Minister of Justice, Canada.

WHEREAS considerable numbers of men belonging to Class I under our Military Service Act, 1917, called out on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Force for the defence of Canada under Our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, although they have thus become by law soldiers enlisted in the Military Service of Canada,

Have failed to report for duty as lawfully required of them under the said Military Service Act and the regulations thereunder, including the Order in Council duly passed on April 20 last,

Or have deserted,

Or absented themselves without leave from our Canadian Expeditionary Force,

And it is represented that the very serious and unfortunate situation in which these men find themselves is due in many cases to the fact that, notwithstanding the information and warning contained in Our Proclamation aforesaid, they have misunderstood their duty or obligation, or have been misled by the advice of ill-disposed, disloyal or seditious persons.

AND WHEREAS we desire, if possible, to avoid the infliction of the heavy penalties which the law imposes for the offences of which these soldiers have thus been guilty, and to afford them an opportunity within a limited time to report and make their services available in Our Canadian Expeditionary Force as is by law their bounden duty, and as is necessary for the defence of Our Dominion of Canada.

NOW KNOW YE that we in the exercise of Our powers, and of Our good will and pleasure in that behalf, do hereby proclaim and declare and cause to be published and made known THAT THE PENALTIES OF THE LAW WILL NOT BE IMPOSED OR EXACTED as against the men who belong to Class 1 under Our Military Service Act, 1917, and who have disobeyed Our Proclamation aforesaid; or who have received notice from any of Our registrars or deputy registrars to report for duty on a day now past and have failed so to report; or who, having reported and obtained leave of absence, have failed to report at the expiry of their leave, or have become deserters from Our Expeditionary Force, PROVIDED THEY REPORT FOR DUTY ON OR BEFORE THE TWENTY FOURTH DAY OF AUGUST 1918.

AND WE DO HEREBY STRICTLY WARN AND SOLEMNLY IMPRESS UPON ALL SUCH MEN, and as well those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist them in their disobedience, that, if they persist in their failure to report, absence or desertion until the expiry of the last mentioned day, they will be pursued and punished with all the rigour and severity of the law, SUBJECT TO THE JUDGMENT OF OUR COURTS MARTIAL WHICH WILL BE CONVENED TO TRY SUCH CASES or other competent tribunals: and also that those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist such men will be held strictly accountable as offenders and subject to the pains, penalties and forfeitures in that behalf by law provided for their said offence.

Provided however that nothing contained in this Our Proclamation is intended to release the men aforesaid from their obligation to report for duty as soon as possible or to grant them immunity from arrest or detention in the meantime for the purpose of compelling them to perform their military duty; Our intention being merely to forego or remit the penalties heretofore incurred for failure to report, absence without leave or desertion incurred by those men of the description aforesaid who shall be in the proper discharge of their military duties on or before the said twenty-fourth day of August, 1918.

Of all of which Our loving subjects and all others whom these presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. Witness: Our Right Trusty and Right Entirely Beloved Cousin and Counsellor, Victor Christian William, Duke of Devonshire, Marquess of Hartington, Earl of Devonshire, Earl of Burlington, Baron Cavendish of Hardwicke, Baron Cavendish of Keighley, Knight of Our Most Noble Order of the Garter, One of Our Most Honourable Privy Council; Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George; Knight Grand Cross of Our Royal Victorian Order; Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Our Dominion of Canada.

At Our Government House, in Our City of OTTAWA, this FIRST day of AUGUST, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, and in the ninth year of Our Reign

If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchaser from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjurtment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

PREPARING FOR PEACE

A London correspondent of the Associated Press, describing the measures which are being taken in Great Britain to solve the problem of demobilization, writes as follows:

Although the end of the war may be far distant, plans for demobilizing of the British army, when the proper time arrives, are well under way. The military authorities, acting in conjunction with the Ministry of Labor, are perfecting the scheme by which the soldiers will be returned to civil life with the utmost celerity, and at a camp not far from London there has already been a rehearsal of the methods to be adopted for dispersing the men.

"Big as was the job to get men into the army," said an officer engaged in the work, "it will be a bigger job to get them out of it. But the country may be sure that everything will be done to enable the soldiers to reach their homes and get employment with the minimum of friction."

The scheme is farreaching. The authorities have had to consider not only the situation at home but also how the plan will fit in with the convenience of France, Italy and the overseas dominions, and with transport facilities from Salonica, Mesopotamia, Palestine and from other parts of the world. How long it will take to demobilize the millions of troops is a question to which even those occupied in the task are not prepared to give a definite reply.

Eighteen dispersal depots are to be established in England, Scotland and Wales. Every step has been worked out in detail. Before the men in France are ordered home they will be assembled in the order of the districts from which they came, so that all may be sent in a body direct to the locality from which they joined the army. Each man will take with him his entire kit, including his arms and personal equipment, steel helmet and box respirator. Previously he will have been deprived of his ammunition.

On reaching the dispersal station the men will hand over their equipment. Everything must be given up except the uniform which the soldier is wearing, and his great coat, although the coat must be returned after a month's furlough to which each man will be entitled. He will be permitted to retain his uniform.

The soldier will pass through several huts before he is sent on furlough. In one he will be given a protection certificate, containing all particulars regarding his regiment, length of service and destination. In another he will be given an advance on the pay still due him, and post-office money orders in three equal instalments for the remainder.

On application the soldier will be presented with an "out-of-work" insurance policy valid for a year. This will entitle him to receive fixed sum for a definite period from the post-office, if unemployed.

Finally, the men will be grouped in different huts, according to the locality to which they are to be sent. Railroad tickets will have already been made out. Then will come entrainment and the start for home.

HEALTH POINTERS

In every military hospital in the United States, where pneumonia, bronchitis, meningitis, measles and mumps are treated each bed is curtained off and each patient and each attendant wears a face mask.

And now another part of the campaign is being waged. The official bulletin for June 5 says: "Respiratory diseases having caused practically all the sick rate and death rate in the nation's new armies, the medical corps has begun a nation wide campaign of prevention against pneumonia, measles, diphtheria, mumps, meningitis, infantile paralysis, influenza and tuberculosis. All of the diseases mentioned are spread or communicated in the same way—through the transfer of nasal and mouth secretions. The sickness rate in camps through the country could be cut to the minimum if the soldiers and the general public as well stopped promiscuous sneezing, coughing and spitting."

The plan means that colds are to be regarded as a matter of moment. When a person gets a cold he should herd by himself if he can. If it is necessary to cough or sneeze a handkerchief is to be held before the mouth and nose and the face is to be turned away from the nearby people.

The surgeon general calls upon the people to adopt a new slogan. It is, "Don't Cough, Don't Sneeze, Don't Spit." This slogan should be as widely adopted as "swat the fly." If heeded it will do even more good than did that hoary old slogan. The advice goes even farther, however. When a man talks even quietly he sends out a fine atomized vapor from his lips. If the speaker talks loudly and excitedly, the speech becomes even more explosive, then the fine droplets laden with microbes are sent much farther into the air. How about the man who runs for a crowded street car and gasping and sputtering pushes inside and jams his mouth to within eight inches of his neighbor's nose?

The advice is that when one talks to a man that he stand four feet from him. He can then shower him with words without showering him with a vapor of saliva and bugs. We have become very careful about infecting our water supplies. No man would use polluted water knowingly. No right thinking man would knowingly pollute drinking water. Surgeon General Gorgas would have us develop the same kind of conscience about polluting air.

"Injustices" to Ireland

The wrongs of Ireland long ago became almost humorous, except to the people determined to make the wish father to the thought. Church disestablishment, lands acts, land purchase, cottage building, light, taxes, fixity of tenure, freedom of sale, fair rents—these are some of the injustices to Ireland which have made the phrase "another injustice to Ireland." an antithesis for a benefit on the other side of the channel. In late years 125,000 families have been able to purchase their farms with money advanced from the exchequer of the British tyrant, which has also built some 25,000 cottages for them. In England, it is obvious, there is certainly no fixed objection to Home rule, as such. — Christian Science Monitor.

UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The annual Uunion Sunday School picnic was held on Wednesday of this week in the Park. The weather was all that could be desired and there was a large gathering of children and adults. At 2 o'clock those who so kindly gave the use of rigs and motors, gathered up the children from the various churches and took them to the Park. Several tents had been erected and the children, each of whom had been provided with a ticket entitling them to an ice cream cone, were not long in finding their way to the ice cream tent. A long program of sports had been arranged and the youngsters were soon busy doing their best to secure some of the prizes. There were races on three legs, shoe and stocking races, thread and needle races, and it was surprising how quickly girls can thread a needle when there is a prize in sight. We wonder if they are as quick when there is mending to do at home. The boys' leap frog and wheelbarrow races caused much amusement. Some of the most interesting and closely contested items were the tug of wars, first between two teams of boys and then between two teams of girls. The boys were specially well matched and there was much tugging and straining before either side gave way. We cannot give the names of all the prize winners but here are a few of them:

The 3-4 bicycle race was won by Jimmy Davidson with Harry Hewat second.

In the half mile race there were only two of the bigger boys entered, one of whom fell by the wayside and the other, Spencer Kennedy, who is a good all round athlete, stopped before crossing the line and let the race go to the small boys, Archie White, first, Alex. Thompson, second and Clifford Yolland third.

Frank Moses and John Gibson were first and second respectively in the broad jump. The high jump was won by Spencer Kennedy, who cleared 4 ft. 8 in., with Frank Moses second.

Among the girls Dorothy Corrie and Dorothy Cheston carried off several prizes. Dorothy must be a good athletic name.

We must not forget to mention what is the most important item at a picnic, the tea. There was an abundance of good things provided by the parents and others (though there was nothing to arouse the ire of the Food Controller), which children and adults did full justice to.

Shortly after tea our good friends, the rigs and motors, whose owners we are very grateful to, appeared to take the tired but happy young people home.

The committee wish to express their thanks generally to all who helped to make the picnic the success it was, and particularly to those who provided refreshments and donated money, to the lady helpers and to the men who assisted so materially with the sports.

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

The season's greatest musical comedy success, "My Soldier Girl," a novel play with military atmosphere coming to the Grand theatre, Sept. 25, presents more than a score of big novelties of which the grand illumination of New York City on the rise of the curtain is a revelation in electrical effects. "Flirtation Walk," an illuminated run-board extending from the stage out over the orchestra seats and running more than half way to the back wall of the theatre, is probably the most popular. During the first two acts the big "pony" ballet present four tuneful and entertaining numbers out on the "Walk" and each receive their share of encores. Gorgeous costumes are one of the features of the run-board numbers worn by bewitching beauties who are good to look upon.

The big feature in the second act is an aerial flight—Dixie Harrison, Captain of the aviation corps, sails away in a modern airplane that measures 24 feet tip to tip and comes as a big surprise right at the finale of the act after the clever ballet have performed a novel drill in aviation costume.

The last act offers a bewildering effect, the curtain rises on a perfectly dark stage, as the lights bring out the scene a war torn battlefield "Somewhere in France" is the picture. The action is swift, cannons booming in the distance, bugles, drums, soldiers, and then silence. Word comes forth to cease firing, that peace has been declared—the scene dissolves to the Goddess of Liberty and the Stars and Stripes are seen flying. The curtain descends on Liberty Forever and no more impressive tableaux could one imagine as a fitting finale for this tuneful musical spectacle.

PROCEEDINGS UNDER INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES

Vancouver, Aug. 6.—The government of Canada intends in future to institute proceedings under the Industrial Disputes act in cases where the act is violated, according to Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor for Canada, who is in the city for a couple of days. The minister also inferred that the government was considering taking action toward men who have been exempted from military service because of their employment in essential occupations. Therefore, where men are treated fairly and reasonably and yet insist on agitation and trouble making, causing interruptions and even cessations of work, the government may possibly take the action of withdrawing the exemptions.

GENERAL STORY OF CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

The attractions presented during the coming Chautauqua week fill all the requirements of a well balanced war-time program. They offer both entertainment to relieve the tension of the mind and information on war problems at home and abroad.

Dr. Salem G. Bland, eminent divine and lecturer of Winnipeg, Special Dominion Delegate to the International Conference of Lecturers in Washington in April, will be one of the chief lecturers. Dr. Bland's subject on the second afternoon will be "Canada at the Crossroads," one of the most constructive war time appeals upon the platform.

Another lecture of compelling interest is that given by J. C. Herbsman on the fifth night, "Carry On." Mr. Herbsman is one of the most forceful and eloquent lecturers on the platform.

On the fourth afternoon Dr. Y. Minakuchi, Japanese scholar and orator, will deliver his great lecture "War and the Anglo-Japanese Alliance." As the world is on tiptoe awaiting developments in the far East this authoritative lecture is particularly timely.

One of the most notable lecture engagements of the year is that of Sergt. Gibbons, of the Third Canadian Infantry, who will be at Chautauqua on the second night. This young Canadian tells one of the most thrilling tales of the war in his story of seven months spent in German prison camps.

Other lecturers to appear during the week will be Julius Caesar Nayphe, returning on popular demand in a new lecture on the Orient; Leila M. Blomfield, native of New Zealand, in a splendid lecture on this "land of model government" across the Pacific, and Capt. Wood Briggs of the Texas National Guard in a stirring patriotic message "Playing the Game."

The musical program this year seems superior to that of any Chautauqua program in the past. The big musical feature of the week will be the coming of the Chicago Ladies Orchestra on the fourth day in two concerts. This will be supplemented by the appearance of Ethel Lee Buxton, American soprano, as soloist.

To the Warwick Quartet has been given the honor of opening the week's program with two concerts on the first day. On the second day Vincenzo Cullotta, prominent Italian violinist, will delight all music lovers with two rare concerts. Two other companies that will bring splendid and inspiring music to Chautauqua are the Hampton Court Singers, in two concerts on the third day, and the Glenn Wells Entertainers, in two programs of music and entertainment on the fifth day.

The closing night of the Chautauqua brings one of the biggest musical attractions of the week in the coming of the Kaffir Boys Choir. Five smiling little natives of South Africa, under the leadership of J. H. Balmer, F.R.G.S., and Miss Elsie Clarke of Rhodesia, constitute this unusual organization. For many years the Kaffirs have been one of the most successful attractions on the Chautauqua platform. They will appear only on the closing night and will surely pack the tent to its outer edges.

An added attraction for children and adults alike is the Mother Goose Festival, staged by the "kiddies" on the fifth night. This fantasy will be presented under the direction of the Story Lady, who will spend the entire week in town with the children.

FEDERATIONIST WILL HAVE NEW EDITOR

Vancouver, Aug. 6.—The Vancouver World today says that Col. E. J. Chambers, chief press censor for Canada, has held conferences with the board of directors of the British Columbia Federationist, the federal organ of the provincial labor federation and of the Vancouver Trades and Labor council, as the result of which Col. Chambers was given "absolute assurance that a change in editorship would be made and that the paper would cooperate in the war aims of the nation." It is added that an announcement to this effect will be made in the next issue of the Federationist. The action of the directors, says the World, "is typical of that of many of the members of the organization, who realize that their cause is being injured by the exereme attitude of many of their temporary leaders."

The World says that for some time the Federationist "has been Socialistic in tone and unsympathetic with the war aims of the allies." It is stated that the chief press censor threatened to close down the publication, but consented to confer with the directors again.

WILL TOWNSEND DROWNED IN ELK

Little Willie Townsend, the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Townsend, of West Fernie, was the victim of a fatal drowning accident in the Elk river on Friday last.

The little lad had been playing near the river with some other children but did not return home to dinner and upon search being made no trace of the little one could be found. The children with whom he had been playing told a variety of stories of which nothing could be made. Search parties hunted far and wide all Friday night and Saturday but it was not until Sunday morning that the body was found near a log jam not far from the place where the children had been playing.

The parents, of whom the father is at the front, have the heartfelt sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

The funeral which took place on Tuesday from the Roman Catholic church, was very largely attended, the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. attending in a body.

TO CELEBRATE LABOR DAY

At a well attended meeting of the Patriotic Committee held in the council chamber on Aug. 1, it was decided to hold a monster celebration at Fernie on Labor Day and the following committees were appointed to take charge of affairs:

Advertising Committee: J. S. Irvine, J. Lawson and J. R. Wallace.

Entertainment Committee: R. M. Young, A. Prentice and Alan Graham.

Decoration Committee: Chief McDougall, Ald. Jackson and Ald. Hunter.

Each committee was granted power to add to its numbers.

Hon. President: W. R. Wilson.
Hon. Sec., R. W. Wood.
1st Hon. Vice President, Dr. Bonnell, M.P.
2nd Hon. Vice President, A. I. Fisher, M.P.P.

It was decided to ask the city to protect the committee against any outside attractions that might desire to visit Fernie on that day.

The carnival games for the day were placed in the hands of Robert Johnson and Barney Caufield, representing the citizens of Coal Creek.

It was also decided to arrange with the I.O.D.E. to furnish light refreshments both at the grounds and in their meeting rooms at the Napanee.

The admission to the grounds was fixed at 25c for adults, children under 14 free. The grand stand charge will be 25c.

In addition there will be two big baby competitions, the first being babies from 1 to 12 months, and the second from twelve months to two years of age.

OUGHT SCHOOL BOARDS TO BE ABOLISHED ?

Ought Boards of School Trustees to be abolished? Some people in this province seem to think so, for they intend, it appears, to make such a proposal to the legislature.

No doubt school trustees are easy marks for criticism. They are not infrequently unacquainted with educational problems, questions and methods. But that is a defect that can be cured if the voters will only select trustees unequipped with this ignorance.

The school-governing machinery in British Columbia has merits. It gives —or would give were it allowed to work properly—the people a direct share in the control of the education of their children. Were the school boards abolished and their functions transferred to, say, a committee of a city council or municipality, this control would largely disappear. Elections would turn on any question of civic policy rather than education. The average voter would have it so.

It may be argued that school boards at present spend money which the city and municipal councils raise for them but cannot control. In point of fact a school board is itself responsible for its expenditures and by changing its personnel its policy can be changed.

The trouble has been hitherto that the school boards have not taken the public into their confidence on school matters and the public has not bothered to call them to account.—Vancouver World.

Quentin Roosevelt

In the proud sorrow that has come to Mr. Roosevelt's home, millions of American homes where the blow has fallen or is yet to fall have a keen sympathetic share. Young, gallant, with all bright, unspoiled hopes and gifts before him, Quentin Roosevelt has found, worthily and manfully, the best of deaths. To him, to all who have died or are to die for freedom, the honor and the love of all free people will be given forever. His father, who has offered all his sons to his country, stands higher for that patriotic sacrifice than even the achievements of his great career could place him. The American people mourn with him. They salute reverently the grief and glory of this brave death.

Of Quentin Roosevelt, of all who have been or are to be his co-mates in heroic life and death, we shall think, when a few years have softened sorrow, as the Greeks did of that band of Spartans that fell before the barbarians of their time:

Of all who at Thermoplae were slain,
Glorious the doom and beautiful the lot,
Their tomb an altar. Men from tears refrain,
Honor and praise, but mourn them not.

FANATIC RULE IN RUSSIA

Gregary M. Ignatieff, member of the Russian supply committee in this country, having just returned from Moscow, declared yesterday that he was in a position to testify that the Soviet government was still pursuing the utterly destructive program which kept the Russian masses at the mercy of the Bolshevik fanatics and Red Guards on the one hand, and German junkerdom on the other. Between these two hostile forces, Mr. Ignatieff said, the people would remain prostrate unless immediate economic and military help is dispatched to Russia by the Allies.

"Before going to Russia on this last trip," Mr. Ignatieff said, "I was disposed to believe that the Bolshevik had really established themselves in power with the consent of the people and that they really did represent the aspirations of the Russian masses. After being there several months and after seeing the Soviet government in action, however, I concluded that there was no actual government functioning in Russia and that the Soviet authorities maintained their power not by popular consent, but through the support of highly paid Red Guards on the one hand, and the German government on the other.

"While I do not believe that Trotzky and Lenine are paid agents of the German government, I am convinced that indirectly they are selling Russia out. In other words, they are maintaining themselves in power by doing the bidding of the German government. They do not have to be paid, because they are fanatics, more or less. But though they are fanatics, they are practical enough to realize that the moment they refuse to comply with any demands Germany may make upon Russia, that moment will see the end of their regime. Hence they dare do nothing but obey and make the Russian masses the victim of German exploitation."

CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENT OF THE

National Council Y. M. C. A. of Canada

CANADA — ENGLAND — FRANCE

The National Council of the Y.M.C.A. herewith presents a complete statement of its finances for the year 1917, covering its entire service Overseas and in Canada.

The Executive Committee of the Council arranged last November to have a complete statement for the year 1917 ready for publication before the recent Red Triangle Fund Campaign, but owing to conditions arising out of Military operatons in France this has been unavoidably delayed. It is presented now at the earliest date that existing conditions have permitted.

The portion of the following statement which concerns England and France has already been submitted to the Overseas Military authorities. Audited statements of the funds handled have been submitted to the Militia Department at Ottawa and for the past two years regular accounting has been made as well to the authorities in England and France. In addition to the regular audit in France, the canteen business is checked every month by the Military Field cashiers, to determine the amount which is paid to Military units as indcated in the Expenditures. Printed copies of the audited statements are posted up in the huts for the information of the soldiers.

The General Operation Account shows on the one hand the entire receipts of the National Council; first, from the gross sales of its Military canteens in Canada, England and France, and second, from subscriptions received during the year. On the other hand, there is shown the entire expenditures for the year, including, first, the cost of the goods sold in the canteens and, second, the expenditures connected with the entire service which is carried on under the direction of the National Council.

The Balance represents the excess of receipts over expenditures. Of this sum of $118,351.43 was the balance at the National Headquarters at Toronto, and the remainder was Overseas. This balance at the end of the calendar year represents the amount available to carry on operations until the time of the campaign in 1918. While the financial statement is drawn up on the basis of the calendar year the receipts from the campaign of one year have to serve until the campaign of the next year. The above balance at the National Headquarters was by April 30th, just before the new campaign, not only used up but changed to a deficit of $237,930.13. This deficit was, however, offset by the balance overseas, which has to be maintained there as a working balance to carry on operations.

The item $240,524.86 is a special amount which had to be expended for the purchase of canteen and other supplies in Canada for shipment to France. Beginning with June, 1917, on account of the scarcity of supplies in Great Britain, much of the purchasing formerly done there had to be transferred to Canada. The long period of time required for the shipment of these supplies to France involves the continuous employment of a large sum. The amount expended for this purpose, as at December 31st, has had to be treated as an expenditure and placed in a Reserve Account against the merchandise in hand. It is, however, a possible asset and will, when realized upon, be devoted to other forms of service to the soldiers, when it is no longer required to maintain the canteen service in France.

It was possible to provide for this expenditure only because the amount asked by the National Council in 1917 was oversubscribed by more than the amount required just at the time the Canadian Purchasing had to be undertaken. But for this it would have been necessary eiher to borrow this large amount or greatly curtail the service in France.

It is to be remembered that the goods at the front in France, where the greater part of the stock is carried, are subject to enormous risks. The English Y.M.C.A. in the German offensive of March and April suffered losses in huts and canteen supplies of nearly One Million Dollars. In the more recent offensive the American Y.M.C.A. has suffered losses nearly as large, and the National Executive have deemed it a matter of prudence to be prepared to meet a similar loss if it should fall on the Canadian Y.M.C.A.

The National Council has from the first declared the policy of devoting to the service of the soldiers whatever balance remains in the Military Fund at the close of the war. This policy has been made known to and accepted by the Overseas Military authorities. The need for the Y.M.C.A. service will continue all through the period of demobilization and the plan of the National Council is to use whatever balance then exists to keep up the efficiency of the service to the soldiers during that important period.

The National Council of the Y.M.C.A., under which the Military Work is conducted, is a representative body of the various Y.M.C.A.'s throughout Canada, but it has no authority over or financial responsibility for any local branch. The funds which it handles have no connection with those of any local branch of the regular Y.M.C.A. It wishes to make clear, therefore, that the funds which are acquired in or subscribed for the Y.M.C.A. Military Work have not been and will not be used in connection with the regular work of any of these branches, but will, according to the policy already announced, be kept in the Military Work and devoted exclusively to the service of soldiers.

The service represented in the expenditures of the accompanying statement covered at the opening of the present year, 96 centres of operation in France and 76 in England, including all regular camps and units, base camps, convalescent camps, hospitals, railway troops, cavalry, London and Paris and forestry units from the north of Scotland to the South of France.

There were on the Overseas staff 133 Secretaries carrying honorary commissions, 50 of whom were at the expense of the Y.M.C.A. for pay and allowances and the remainder at the expense of the Government. There are also a considerable number of other ranks, non-commissioned officers and men, detailed to the Y.M.C.A. staff by the Military authorities. A number of these, who are given non-commissioned rank because of special responsibility, are at the expense of the Y.M.C.A. for the extra pay over that of ther regular rank. Civilian help is also employed where required and where circumstances permit.

In Canada the soldiers are served in 38 centres, including camps, barracks, Red Triangle Clubs, hospitals, naval stations and on troop trains. This has required approximately 100 Secretaries, who work on a civilian basis and are entirely at Y.M.C.A. expense. There is also required a considerable staff of employed helpers, exclusive of the committees of ladies who render their service free.

The scope and variety of the entire service, in so far as expeditures can reveal them, are indicated in the following statement.

Signed on behalf of the National Council of the Y.M.C.A.

G. H. WOOD, Chairman.

F. L. RATCLIFF, Chairman of Finance Committee.

CHAS. W. BISHOP, General Secretary.

AUDITOR'S CERTIFICATE

We have audited the books, vouchers and accounts of the National Council Headquarters at Toronto, and of the Central Territorial Division for the year ended 31st December, 1917, and have been furnished with the audited statements of the Maritime and Western Divisions of the National Council for the same period. We have also been furnished with the Annual Statement for England for 1917, duly audited, and the Annual Statement for France for 1917 with the Auditor's Certified Statement for the six months to June 30th. Owing, we understand, to Military restriction on civilian travel between England and France, it was impossible for the auditor to go to France and complete the audit to 31st December, 1917. We have agreed the Canadian and Overseas statements with the above General Statement, which combines them, and, according to the books and statements furnished, the above statement, in our opinion, correctly sets forth the operations of the National Council at home and overseas.

THE PUBLIC AT LAST TAKES ITS OWN PART

The Vancouver World of August 1st says:

The events of yesterday in Vancouver were neither an incident nor an accident—they were a result.

For four years we have permitted from platforms called by the name of labor, and in a press presuming to speak for labor, open hostility to our war aims, sneers at every activity of patriotism, criticism of Red Cross and patriotic society work, and open sedition. Circulation to this mischievious propaganda has been assured in many instances by compelling the unionist to subscribe to these papers. The loyal man who dared protest has been an object of ridicule and contempt.

It required the Goodwin affair to completely unmask the real purpose of these leaders who have cleverly climbed into the seats of authority in the union. And by a characteristic short cut, the men of Ypres and Vimy and a score of lesser fights, have released labor from that thraldom. One of them phrased it tersely last night. "We were robbed of our victory once by the Bolsheviki of Russia; we will not lose it a second time by the Bolsheviki at home."

Repudiation has already begun. The firemen refuse to remain in an organization controlled by men who insult their patriotism. Thousands of individual unionists who reluctantly obeyed orders yesterday will see to it that such orders in future come from men who share their views, or they will not take them at all. They owe this much to the public and the soldiers who give them credit for being dragooned against their will. A repetition of the offense would forfeit for them that consideration.

If in the process of yesterday there were one or two acts of minor disorder, the victims should be the last to complain. They invoked lawlessness, they got a hint of how far that decision might react on themselves. Adopting unfair weapons themselves they forgot they were secure only so long as a tolerant public cared to be bound by conventional restraint.

The Mayor acted and spoke throughout the day with admirable tact, firmness and dispatch. The city members who were in town—Messrs. Crowe and Cooper—and Mr. Clements fearlessly ranged themselves behind the chief executive; the women's organizations, the daily press and, certainly not the least, the wives and mothers of the soldiers, with Messrs. Shallcross, Bushby, Blair and numerous private citizens, contributed to the swift solution of an intolerable situation.

But more than all, the broken soldiers, with the marks left on their maimed bodies by the foreign enemies of their country, demonstrated that even in a more peaceful capacity they can still show how fields are won.

PRO-GERMANISM AT WORK

Labor leaders of the type who have done much harm in the past to the cause of organized Labor in British Columbia have aroused the hostility of returned soldiers in Vancouver to an extent that will not readily be pacified. The calling of a general strike as a mark of sympathy to a draft evader, who had been shot and killed while apparently resisting arrest, was seemingly an effort to arrange a demonstration to show that draft evasion was something to be condoned. An attempt was made to make a hero of a man who refused point blank to serve in the war, although liable to such service under the laws of the country where he lived. It was an extremely regrettable circumstance that he should have lost his life, but that in no way excuses the action of Vancouver Labor leaders in tying up the business of the community. The law will deal with the killing of Goodwin. Those responsible for the Mainland trouble appeared to think it was their business to interfere, to the extent of paralyzing the business life of a community. We do not wonder in the least at the attitude of the returned soldiers in insisting that those who are to blame cease their activities in British Columbia.

Bolshevism and I.W.W.-ism have been blamed for the call for a sympathetic strike in Vancouver, but it would probably be found, if the matter could be sifted to its depths, that out and out pro-Germanism was the cause. The vast majority of the workers were unwilling to strike, but the notice came so suddenly, and the true circumstances were so little appreciated, that some thousands responded to the call and ceased work. We have had some experience in the past which would almost seem to indicate that there are delegates of enemy proclivities among the leaders of the Labor movement. It is true those who hold the tenets of Bolshevism very often prove the best friends of the Germans, for so-called Bolsheikism is only a cloak to hide the wiles of the enemy. As to the creed known as I.W.W.-ism, it has been in evidence on the Pacific Coast for a considerable period and its adherents make no secret of their desire to aid Germany in the war. The returned soldiers of Vancouver deeply resented the action whereby a general strike was proclaimed, and they immediately knew where to lay their hands on the cause. The Labor leaders alone are to blame, not Labor, but certain well known agitators, whose activities have been earmarked long since. We are extremely glad to be able to say that the heads of Labor in Victoria took an entirely different view of the matter. There was never any possibility of a general strike being called here in the circumstances.

Gradually our people are becoming better acquainted with the ramifications of German propaganda. After what happened in Vancouver there will be an even clearer realization, and the prompt action of eht returned soldiers in seizing upon the significance of what certain Labor leaders were attempting will be appreciated throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion. But the question that will naturally arise is—has the Government no duty in the premises? We are of opinion that it has and a very serious one. No Government engaged in war should permit for one instant a strike on such a pretext. We do not know of anything of a like nature more caluculated to give comfort to the enemy. Our government prohibits hostile critisism of war measures, or any written word to weaken our efforts in the struggle, and yet it permits actual deeds wherein our laws are set at defiance without taking any action. Mr. Crothers, the Minister of Labor, will be in Vancouver in the course of the next few days. The burden rests upon him to unravel the present skein of trouble. By what he does the strength of the government will be measured in this particular and his own ability as head of the Labor Department guaged. The times are strenuous ones and pro-German activities must be deat with in a strenuous way. That is the opinion, not only of the returned soldiers, but of every patriot in the land.—Victoria Colonist.

A TALE OF TWO IDEALS

Sir Walter Raleigh, the well known Oxford scholar, recently published a book with the attractive title, "The Soul of England," and in it he included a little story which is used by Mr. H. A. L. Fisher, British Minister of Education, to show that we are fighting to defend a great civilization: "A month before the war broke out there was a German student in Oxford who attended a picture palace. It was crowded with young Englishmen, members of the university. Suddenly the Kaiser appeared on the film, and a young Englishman who was sitting behind the German made an insulting observation, whereupon the young German turned round and boxed the Englishman's ears. Upon that the whole theatre burst out into applause. The young Englishmen felt that this young German had been unfairly treated, that his kaiser had been abused in his presence in rather an ungentlemanly manner. A German came to a friend of mine—his old tutor—afterwards and said: 'You are a wonderful people.' He told the story and said, 'Such chivalry as that would have been quite incomprehensible in my country.' Well, that is really our civilization. That little story gives you the whole of our civilization. That chivalry is quite apparent in the private soldier and in the officer. It is apparent through the whole of English society, and I feel that so long as that spirit remains among us we can hold our heads high among the nations of the earth."

In striking contrast to this is a dramatic incident told by a sergeant of some recent fighting which brings out strongly the difference between the Briton and the German: "I was lying wounded in a shallow trench when I saw a German approach an English lad who was lying on a parapet, badly hit on the leg. He was unable to move, but the German deliberately bayonetted him through the body as he lay—a dastardly act. At that moment I noticed our young sergeant major, who was standing some yards away from the two. I shall never forget his expression; he was convulsed with horror and loathing. He did not attempt to shoot or stab the enemy, but in a burst of ungovernable rage disdainfully dropped his rifle and leapt at the Hun — sprung at him like a bulldog. Before the foeman had time to realize what had happened the young Englishman had him by the throat and literally choked the life out of him and then flung the body away. In my mind's eye even now I can see the dead German lying beside his poor victim, and in all my twenty months at the front never did I witness an incident so terrible, so dramatic and yet so splendid."

WHEN HE RETURNS

What is going to happen when the men come home? This question is propounded by an English observer who has reached the conclusion that the war will make or break many homes because the men will be so changed that they will never be content with old conditions. His reference is particularly to married men who have gone to the war from England, and his observations follow:

"These married men from the mines and factories had been content with dirty homes and slovenly wives because they had never known anything different. But in the army they must dress neat and keep clean. Bathing is compulsory and many never had bathing conveniences at home. And when they were sent to the hospital they were put in clean beds and attended by nurses with neat, clean clothes and pleasant ways and faces. These things will make an impression on such men and they will not be content when they go back home to a sloppy looking wife who keeps a dirty home."

While the reference is to English women and homes primarily, it will apply with more or less force to conditions elsewhere—even in Canada—and the wife or sweetheart who hopes to become a wife of a soldier may well take note of it and govern herself accordingly. There is a discipline and regularity about army life that by the time they return will have become part of the very nature of these men, and they will expect to see it observed in the management of their homes. If they do not get it there will be dissatisfaction, and something is liable to happen that will test the genuineness of the bonds that hold such couples together.

But there is a reverse side to the argument. While the army has its discipline and regularity it also has its leave of absence times, for the men when there is relaxation from dicipline and when the man, if he has insufficient moral stamina, is likely to fall by the wayside and by yielding to temptations become less a man than he was when he left Canada. The freedom from martial responsibility which participation in the war has brought to such men will tend to cause them to regard those responsibilities less seriously than they should and their lives and conduct will make them less desirable as companions for the women they left behind when they crossed the sea.

What is going to happen when these men come home? Will they "buck up" and play the game straight again with their women or will the baleful influence of liberty which they turned into license remain with them, turning once happy homes into hells on earth for wives, children and themselves? So far as Canada is concerned this reverse phase of the problem is quite as important as the other.—Calgary Herald.

THE DAY

(By Julia Wilbur Tompkins)

It will come some day — do you realize it? On some one glorious day the enemy will cry "Kamrad!" in good earnest and there will be Peace.

Picture that day. The crowds in the streets are going about their business, the Red Cross rooms are humming with work, the thousand war activities are grirnding at full speed, every mother and father is facing the morning with a heart braced for loss, every loyal citizen is at his post of service; and suddenly—the news!

The crowded avenues turn white; all up and down their length they have blossomed white with the open newspapers that have magically sprung into everyone's outstretched hands. Everybody in the long, stopped stream of humanity holds a newspaper or reads his neighbor's; everybody knows everybody, shares with everybody; strange hands clasp, strange eyes, meeting, overflow; and there is just one first thought, not triumph, nor democracy, but—"Those boys — those good boys — they can come home!" And the second thought will be, "We've done it! We've put it through!"

That day is not a vision; it is coming as surely as tomorrow. Then will you have it tomorrow? Or will you put it off for four more bleeding years? It is in your hands. Every effort, every dollar, you give to service, shortens the waiting. If all gave all they could, the day could not hold back another hour. When you buy the thing you most want you are not conscious of sacrifice in paying the sum demanded. Fix your eyes on the day—the day when the avenues will suddenly blossom white with the news of peace—and you will want that with so burning an urgency that you will come running with its price.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Gullotta Trio at Chautauqua

Three Gifted Musical Artists Coming on Second Day

The Gullotta Trio has often been called "the most successful musical trio on the Chautauqua platform." Few companies leave behind them such enthusiastic audiences. This is because each member is a true musical artist and has a sincere desire to please. Vincenzo Gullotta, who heads the company, is an Italian violinist, educated abroad and well-known throughout American musical circles because of his many concert appearances here. He is a complete master of the violin—his playing distinguished for its tonal, color and sweetness. He is ably supported by Martha Cook, a soprano soloist with voice of exceptional charm, and Mrs. Gullotta, gifted piano soloist and accompanist.

Royal Entertainers at Chautauqua

Glenn Wells Company Present Splendid Musical and Dramatic Sketches

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wells have established such an enviable reputation as entertainers that the announcement of their coming on the fifth day of Chautauqua has occasioned much interest. Their program consists of songs and stories, impersonations, humorous and dramatic sketches, pianologues, etc., in wide variety, and their long experience enables them to present their work in peculiarly attractive manner. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wells are splendid singers and players, capable of presenting an exclusive musical program, and before their marriage some six years ago had extended experience with such organizations as The Schuberts, The Victorian Serenaders, Pilgrim Girls and Avon Sketch Club.

Nayphe Returns to Chautauqua

Brilliant Young Athenian Brings New Lecture in Answer to Many Requests

Julius Caesar Nayphe is returning to Chautauqua this year in a new lecture. It is almost an ironclad rule on the Ellison-White Chautauqua never to repeat an attraction the following year. But Nayphe's unbounded success last season was followed by request after request from practically all towns to return him. So the brilliant young Athenian comes back to Chautauqua audiences with a new lecture.

His story of the Orient is of particular interest at this time, since the events of the war have directed attention anew to that portion of the world of which he lectures. He brings with him to Chautauqua a new and truly remarkable collection of Oriental tapestries.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Coal Baron Jim Miller, the first underground boss at Coal Creek mines, and three well known miners from Bankhead, passed through Elko this week, going to Vancouver to work in the shipyards. Jim was wearing his hair as long as an angora goat.

The head of the family drank his coffee uncomplainingly although its strength brought tears to his eyes. "Why, dad," yelled his son, "however could you swallow that lye?" "My son," replied the bald headed old codger, "it's not the first lie that I had to swallow, by any means."

John Stenhouse, of the Merchants Bank, Lethbridge, an old Elkoite, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Boss, Truro Cottage, Riverside Park, for this month. John is one of the best fly fishers in these hills. He buys all his fishing tackle from Fred Roo.

We are pleased to note by the Amerincan papers that they have a bumper crop and we are extremely sorry that the crops in southern Alberta are such a failure, and just the year we needed good crops. If God is punishing us as a nation, when is he going to begin on the brute Hun. Sky pilots please answer.

Jack Graham, the well known cattleman from Macleod and old time horse wrangler, and Fred Roo, of Elko, the summer resort of South East Kootenay, motored to Flagstone and Roosville last week with Miss E. May Roo and Mrs. A. M. Ellwood and daughter Adella, of Flagstone.

Francis Downs closed down his mill in the Roosville valley with the exception of a few teams that are hauling to Flagstone, where he is shipping No. 1 shop to points in Quebec and Nova Scotia. He and his family will leave this week for Claresholm to attend to the harvesting of his big wheat crop at that point. George Letcher took four team of horses through overland last week.

It was Miss Annie Murray (one of the most popular young ladies that ever answered a telephone call) who was second in command of the Elko central telephone office, that told a Calgary traveller that a kiss over the phone was like a straw hat. (It surely wasn't felt, Annie).

British air raids have become so effective that the German border cities are in a constant state of panic. More power to you, allied airmen. We sincerely wish you could drop double pneumonia on the Mad Emperor, the provoker of the war, and all the Prussian brutes.

Jim Thistlebeak says that the man who is always boasting of his departed ancestors, is always a dead one himself.

You are wrong, Mabel. It is no good you telling us things you cannot confirm. The hen that hatches the egg is not always the mother of the chick unless it is one of her own laying. She is merely a noisy animated incubator.

About fifty people arrived in Elko last week by motor and train and are camped around the old historic burg, some of them taking rooms and some housekeeping. Five families with five autos are camped at Livingstone Flat, called after Billy Livingstone, the Calgary magnate.

Mr. and Mrs. Desmond and family, chief dispatcher at the C.P.R. Waldo terminus, passed through Elko this week returning from a very pleasant visit to the Hawaiian Islands.

If Andrew Carnegie would switch his system from libraries to tourist hotels, Jim Thistlebeak would write to him about Elko, where the tourists leave the Great Northern and C.P.R. trains for the fascinating sights of the imperishable, romantic and lofty mountain peaks, beautiful drives, trout in every stream, birds on every tree, deer in the hills thicker than hair on a Vancouver Island collie, and scenery drives artists mad with joy. It is where Fred Roo lives.

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

Tells how to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.

The Fernie Free Press says that within a month two preachers quit that town in disgust. Was it on account of too many sinners or not enough of roast chicken.

Fernie and district, out of a population of about 6000 has sent 1500 men to the war. This is probably the greatest percentage for any place in Canada. It does not surprise any person who ever lived a few months in Fernie.

Every spring for several years a ram from a flock of mountain sheep has ran with the domestic sheep on a ranch near Princeton. He has become quite tame, but when the snow begins to fall he hikes for the hills and dwells all winter with his own species.

There are many female German spies in Southern California. Many of these women are in San Diego. They dress in fine clothes and are always anxious to become acquainted with the officers of the army and navy. In order to round up that class, and some social parasites, the police now question every woman living in hotels and apartment houses as to what she is doing in San Diego. The majority of women need have no fear, but the drag-net will get some females who are not on the level in more ways than one.

ROYAL FLYING CORPS WANT SKILLED MECHANICS

From Officer in charge, No. 3 Recruiting District, Royal Air Force, Vancouver, B.C.

Dear Sir—Owing to the recent extensive additions and alterations at the training camps of the Royal Air Force in Canada, and consequent increase in personnel, a number of skilled mechanics are required for service with this unit immediately. These men have an opportunity to break into a new industry which will be of great service to them after the war. My headquarters have instructed me to enlist men for the following trades, and I would very much appreciate it if you could make the facts known through the columns of your paper.

Men are enlisted for the duration of the war and commence at $1.10 per day, which is increased according to proficiency and conduct. Men in Class 1 of the Military Service Act are eligible, providing they are in Medical Category "B." Applications must be made to me either personally or by letter and full particulars will be gladly sent upon request.

A limited number of men are required who are bandsmen. These are attested for their civilian trade, and will be given the opportunity of serving with the recently inaugurated Band of the Royal Air Force.

Full Canadian Separation allowance of $25 per month is paid to dependents.

I am also in a position to accept men for the Cadet (Pilot) Wing and the Cadet (Observers) Wing. Applications from men between the age of 18 and 30, of good education and character will receive immediate attention.

Amongst the men required for the Mechanical Section are the following trades: Cooks, Batmen, Drivers (Mechanical Transport), Carpenters, Acetylene Welders, Blacksmiths, Boat Builders, Camera Repairers, Coppersmiths, Draughtsmen, Electricians, Fitters (Aero Engine), Fitters (General), Fabric Workers (Sailmakers), Hospital Orderlies, Instrument Repairers, Millwrights, Motor Body Builders, Motor Boat Coxwains, Motor Cyclists, Miscellaneous Labor, Photographers, Riggers (Aeroplane), Tailors, Tinsmiths, Turners, Upholsterers, Vulcanizers, Wireless Mechanics, Wireless Operators. A limited number of Shorthand Typsits are needed.

THE MAN IN THE GALLERY

Calling in at the extra session of the city council on Monday night to hear the discussion re Chautauqua license, I got a few more wrinkles on how a town should be run. Tommy Uphill had the floor and he surely deserves the plaudits of the Chautauqua bunch. Tommy's arguments together with the answers thrown around by the various members of the council, were astonishing and amusing, though I venture to say there are a good many in this town who would consider me pretty flip in daring to discuss anything pertaining to that august institution, the Chautauqua.

However, with my friend Harry Martin's permission, I will break in. Gladstone Local a few years ago built a structure to cater to the amusement loving public. This building, all jokes aside, is, to say the least, quite an accession to a town of Fernie's size. Now, when this structure was contemplated, the estimated cost was in part determined by the city, that is, they had resolved that biuldings in a certain zone should be fireproof as near as possible. So the reader can plainly see the city determined that if a place of amusement should be constructed, it had to be built to meet certain requirements, which as far as the miners were concerned meant hard earned dollars, let us say for illustrative purposes about forty thousand of them, although I can imagine the many cheerless grins on reading this statement. But we will say $40,000 anyhow. So this amount of money, plus interest say at six per cent, plus license, is the amount the miners have to pay to have a place of amusement. Now, anyone can see what the miners are up against. They simply have to catch everything that comes along the pike in order to pay the taxes or the city will sell them out. Now here is a business concern that comes along like the Chautauqua outfit, and a man may be pardoned if he insinuates that the business end will be just as efficient as the entertainment part. In fact a casual observer who judges by results would say they are heavy on the business end. Don't mention it, but it may be a charming young advance person with a—ah—ah captivating manner who comes a camel-flagging the giddy old geezers who control the destinies of the town. Or, it may be some spry young fellow with a real estate training in the subtle art of cajolery, but, whoever it is, getting by is the main thing.

It is not within my province to discuss the Chautauqua form of entertainment. Far, far from it. I only want to show your readers that when a by-law can be construed so that a concern can take 1350 bucks at a license of $15—when the same outfit can erect a flimsy structure of canvas and wood in the same fire zone that the city compels other folk to invest $30,000 or $40,000 in a building of the same seating capacity — then there is something rotten in the state of Denmark. A short time ago the the owners of the King Edward and Napanee hotels appealed against their assessments. The arguments in the court hinged on what constituted "value." His Honor Judge Thompson gave the city a slight jolt when he said: In arriving at the actual valuation of the building and taking into consideration the depreciation in value by reason of prohibition and the consequent loss of business, I accept Mr. Gates' figures. The only difference between the Grand and the King Edward is that the province slaughtered the King Edward and the city by its absurd by-law kills the Grand. Of course the coal wallopers are not supposed to know anything, and between you and I and the gate post the supposition may be said to be correct, that is, if we are to judge by the signs.

The River Rats Last Word

The long looked for visit of that acme of knowledge and perfection, Mr. Forman of the Public Works Department, took place last Friday.

When the circus-like procession left the King Edward hostelry they looked like a bunch of Sells-Floto artists or shall I say Chautauqua pilgrims in search of entertainment, for if the the trip had any results they certainly could be confined to what might be termed entertainment. Mr. Forman certainly would compare favorably with Soapy Smith of Yukon fame for his ingenuity in holding the trump cards up his capacious sleeve.

To begin, and I may say the party visited the most dangerous part of the stream, i.e., the big bend at McDougall's. Here the first disembarkation took place and a merry crowd pointed out the Elk river's attacking salient, which by the way threatens the whole of the Fernie Annex and the Extension. Here I might say the public works wizard distinctly threw cold water on any comprehensive plan that would endanger the Fernie Lumber Co.'s access to the river. Probably the fact that Lawe & Fisher are attorneys for the Imperial Bank had something to do with that decision. In any case of danger, however, Mr. Forman avers that it is up to the G. N. railway to get busy. Of course he didn't suggest that in the meantime the river rats move to the hill back of the coke ovens; only inference of course.

The party then did the tight rope act over the Fairy Creek bridge and you can bet your life it was only good luck and tight hanging on that prevented our coroner from avoiding another inquest. Of course he might have gone overboard himself. That might be termed a natural death. Perish the thought. Why, the town would have lost a mayor, the Liberal party a good and obedient secretary, the government a good coroner and the town a good looking undertaker. It really gives me the shudders to think of what might have been.

The party then went down to what had once been the island and the consensus of opinion was that it should be an island again and the suggestions made by the crowd even paralyzed Mr. Forman. When they had to resolve themselves down to costs, however, it would have paralyzed a Rockefeller. Anywhere from $200,000 up. Mr. Forman himself thought a channel should be made in the old river bed but probably he naively remarked the river would not stand for it.

These columns have stood for a lot of my "guff." Now after hearing that bunch, and I include Mr. Forman, I am going to tell you something. The town of Seattle at one time was a collection of bluffs and hills thrown around in such a shape that it used to cause the remark, "When the Lord made the earth he had some left over and he dumped it around promiscuous. Then some one came along and spied old Chief Seattle the Siwash King. Well, the old Chief looked so tough and the camp looked so rough that they named the camp after the chief, but, believe me, for years it was a nightmare for an engineer. However, one day a practical gink came along and made a proposal. Says he, we have all the water we need. What's the matter with washing the hills away with our surplus water? Did they do it? You bet they did, and the Seattle of the 80's is by no means the Seattle of today.

Now, George! What ho! Why not try your water on the island? You have 110 lbs. pressure. Surely that would move the erstwhile island over to Bill Minton's stormy shore, and the cost? Whew! I certainly think you would show those political engineers a one or two.

To resume. The whole outfit adjourned to the city hall thrilled with expectancy. However, when Mr. Forman got busy with his figures, I think he showed the council and the river rats that they were hopelessly in debt to the government and that he had been merely "camel-flagging" the whole afternoon. Of course he wouldn't listen to any story of our large revenue producing ability. Naturally that is to be devoted to a further exploitation of concerns like the P.G.E. I append a copy of a letter from the Minister of Public Works which finishes this page of Fernie's history:

Victoria, August 5, 1918.

Francis Brindley,
Fernie, B.C.

Dear Sir—I am in receipt of your letter of July 11, also a copy of resolution passed by the property owners of West Fernie, Fernie Annex and Annex Extension regarding the matter of river bank protection.

Would state that the matter has and is receiving consideration seriously by the government. Your request that Mr. Fisher should resign I think unwarranted, as Mr. Fisher has made representations from time to time, which representations have received the consideration of the government, and a very considerable amount of work has been done in that vicinity; in fact during the years 1910 to 1918 the sum of $32,875.00 has been expended in river bank protection in the Fernie Riding, which is practically one-tenth of the whole expenditure for the province in that time for such work.

I am of opinion that much of this expenditure has been wasted through ill-considered plans and the Depart-

CHINKS TAKE AWAY BONES

Two Orientals from Vancouver, representing a great Chinese benefit society, were in town on Wednesday exhuming the remains of two Chinamen from the local cemetery, who had been dead for 12 and 16 years respectively. The work was done under the supervision of Coroner Geo. Thomson. The Chinks who did the work were rather interesting characters, one having been employed in this capacity for over thirty years. They make the trip over all Canada gathering the bones of the different members of their race for transportation back to the land of Confucism. None of the remains are taken from the ground until seven years have elapsed when everything has disappeared but the bones. These, some 186 in each body, are carefully packed in a tin box and shipped to Vancouver, where they are kept until they have about fifteen hundred packages, when they are sent back to China. Each package is then shipped to the relatives of the deceased, where they are packed in a large jar in a sitting position and the jar buried in a sacred mountain. A complete record of every Chinaman landing in this country is kept and when he finally crosses the great divide he can rest in peace for he knows that his remains will ultimately be carried back to the land of his fathers and his spirit thus find eternal rest according to their religious belief.

BRITISH LABOR AND THE WAR

It is perhaps inevitable that many people on this side of the Atlantic should have the impression that pacifism and defeatism receives the support of a large body of opinion among the industrial classes of Great Britain. We hear little of the splendid work which the members of these classes have done and are doing both at the front and in the labors necessary to the maintenance of armies in the field, and much of the occasional disputes over wages or conditions of work in which they are involved. And because the part of labor is so essential to the successful prosecution of the war labor difficulties create a condition of nervousness in which the loyalty of the men concerned is often too hastily and unjustly impunged. It is well to remember, therefore, that in a country whose efforts are wholly devoted to war, the consequent disturbance of the normal course of industrial life must of necessity create at times conditions in which grievances of an intolerable sort may develop. In Great Britain as elsewhere there are those who have shown a disposition to encourage an abuse of the power residing in the labor organizations, but it is well that it should be recognized that the attitude of the great majority in the ranks of labor has been that of the munition workers of Woolwich, who, telling the recalcitrant workers of Coventry to "strike and go to Hell," announced their determination to remain steadily at work which was necessary to maintain the efficiency of that army to which the industrial classes have contributed as freely as any other section of the population.

This view, it is interesting to note, is supported by John Spargo, who severed his connection with the Socialist party in the United States shortly after the outbreak of war, in order that he might maintain an attitude of consistent loyalty to his native country, England. Recently Mr. Spargo spent three weeks investigating conditions in England and in Paris has been in conference with all the groups of Socialists recently met in conference. In an interview with the Paris correspondent of the New York Times he said:

"I have not found either in England or France, that which I expected to find when I left America. When I arrived in England a month ago I was apprehensive of finding a growing sentiment of pacifism and defeatism. I found nothing of the sort. In England not one Labor union has even considered the addition of an anti-war resolution. No candidate coming up in the general Parliamentary election in England who is lukewarm in support of the war can have Labor backing."

Mr. Spargo declared that such anti-war sentiment as is to be found is confined to the Independent Labor Party of Philip Snowden and Tamsay Macdonald and to the British Socialist Party. And he adds that these two parties together produce a total membership of less than 50,000, as against more than 3,000,000 members of the British Labor Party "absolutely determined to win the war."

Mr. Spargo may err a little on the side of optimism through failure to take account of the potential pacifists who, while lacking nothing in loyalty, do not properly appreciate the fact that the objects of the war cannot be attained save by decisive victory. These, however, are not found in the ranks of Labor alone and the view which represents British Labor as essentially devoted to victory is not to be questioned. —Manitoba Free Press.

NUMBERS—AND EXODUS

In the week preceding the German offensive of middle July, between Chateau-Thierry and the Argonne, the number of American soldiers in France was 1,100,000, according to the chief of staff at Washington. Our troops have been pouring into France at the rate of a quarter a million and more a month. This means that on the fourth anniversary of the beginning of the battle of the Marne (September 5) the American army abroad will be 1,600,000 strong. At about the same time that our strength was 1,100,000 it was authoritatively stated that the British army numbered 2,000,000 men. By early September it will undoubtedly be 2,250,000 strong. The French now hold three times the British front at the least. Give the French two millions. Add a quarter of a million for Belgians, Italians, Portuguese, Polish and Czech-Slavok legionaries, and we have, four years after Joffre turned the Kaiser back from Paris, an Allied strength of 6,000,000 men pledged and determined to keep the Kaiser's acquaintance with Paris entirely one of book knowledge.

Against this army, three times as strong as the one that Joffre worked with, the Kaiser will have hardly more than twice the army with which he set out on his two weeks' excursion to Paris four years ago. That is the central fact around which the Allied strategy of the last five months will have centered.

It is not in the hope of taking Paris that the German blows have been delivered since March 21. It is not in the hope of reducing the Allied line to a brittle condition where one final blow would settle matters that the Ludendorff campaign has been conducted. German hopes are not based on Allied defeat, but on Allied weariness. The peace the Junkers hope for is to come when France acts, not out of fear of disaster, but out of the decision that perhaps it is not worth while after all to undergo the strain of another two years of war to redress the situation on what used to be the eastern front. Reason alone says that for the Allies to recognize the status qui in Russia means that Germany has won. But a nation which has suffered during four years as France has suffered may be conceived—by the Junker mind—as leaving the possibilities of twenty-five years hence to take care of themselves if today peace is to be had with French territory intact, Belgium restored, Serbia provided for. That is the significance of Hertling's screwing himself up to utter the word which German statesmen have been unable to pronounce: Belgium. "We have no intentions to keep Belgium; we hold it only as a pawn." In other words: "Say you will be reasonable with regard to Russia, and there is peace."

What the Allied answer will be is plain to anyone but Berlin. On the fourth anniversary of the Battle of the Marne we may see the Allies settling down in earnest to restore the Russian front.—Collier's.

SUE LABOR BODIES

Winnipeg, Aug. 14.—On application of the management of the Manitoba Bridge and Iron Works, Limited, an injunction was issued on Saturday by Judge McDonald against four local labor bodies, the machinists, blacksmiths, moulders and the metal trades council, and also against the agents of these bodies and a number of individual members, placing the amount of damage at $100,000. The claim and action generally is based on the alleged activities of these bodies and their agents and members in picketing and the using of other means to dissuade men from entering the company's service during the existence of the metal workers' strike.

FOOD CONTROLLERS MEET

Food Controllers of Great Britain, United States, France and Italy held a conference in London and passed a resolution urging continued conservation and the utmost effort of production of foodstuffs. The success of the United States and Canada in supplying the Allied food requirements has been very encouraging, but the need is still insistent.

PROCLAMATION

GEORGE the FIFTH, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, KING, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these presents shall come or whom the same may in any wise concern,—GREETING :

A Proclamation of conditional amnesty respecting men belonging to Class 1 under the Military Service Act, 1917, who have disobeyed our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, or their orders to report for duty, or are deserters or absent without leave from the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

E. L. NEWCOMBE, Deputy Minister of Justice, Canada. } WHEREAS considerable numbers of men belonging to Class I under our Military Service Act, 1917, called out on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Force for the defence of Canada under Our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, although they have thus become by law soldiers enlisted in the Military Service of Canada,

Have failed to report for duty as lawfully required of them under the said Military Service Act and the regulations thereunder, including the Order in Council duly passed on April 20 last,

Or have deserted.

Or absented themselves without leave from our Canadian Expeditionary Force,

And it is represented that the very serious and unfortunate situation in which these men find themselves is due in many cases to the fact that, notwithstanding the information and warning contained in Our Proclamation aforesaid, they have misunderstood their duty or obligation, or have been misled by the advice of ill-disposed, disloyal or seditious persons.

AND WHEREAS we desire, if possible, to avoid the infliction of the heavy penalties which the law imposes for the offences of which these soldiers have thus been guilty, and to afford them an opportunity witnin a limited time to report and make their services available in Our Canadian Expeditionary Force as is by law their bounden duty, and as is necessary for the defence of Our Dominion of Canada.

NOW KNOW YE that we in the exercise of Our powers, and of Our good will and pleasure in that behalf, do hereby proclaim and declare and cause to be published and made known THAT THE PENALTIES OF THE LAW WILL NOT BE IMPOSED OR EXACTED as against the men who belong to Class 1 under Our Military Service Act, 1917, and who have disobeyed Our Proclamation aforesaid ; or who have received notice from any of Our registrars or deputy registrars to report for duty on a day now past and have failed so to report ; or who, having reported and obtained leave of absence, have failed to report at the expiry of their leave, or have become deserters from Our Expeditionary Force, PROVIDED THEY REPORT FOR DUTY ON OR BEFORE THE TWENTY FOURTH DAY OF AUGUST 1918.

AND WE DO HEREBY STRICTLY WARN AND SOLEMNLY IMPRESS UPON ALL SUCH MEN, and as well those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist them in their disobedience, that, if they persist in their failure to report, absence or desertion until the expiry of the last mentioned day, they will be pursued and punished with all the rigour and severity of the law, SUBJECT TO THE JUDGMENT OF OUR COURTS MARTIAL WHICH WILL BE CONVENED TO TRY SUCH CASES or other competent tribunals: and also that those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist such men will be held strictly accountable as offenders and subject to the pains, penalties and forfeitures in that behalf by law provided for their said offence.

Provided however that nothing contained in this Our Proclamation is intended to release the men aforesaid from their obligation to report for duty as soon as possible or to grant them immunity from arrest or detention in the meantime for the purpose of compelling them to perform their military duty; Our intention being merely to forego or remit the penalties heretofore incurred for failure to report, absence without leave or desertion incurred by those men of the description aforesaid who shall be in the proper discharge of their military duties on or before the said twenty-fourth day of August, 1918.

Of all of which Our loving subjects and all others whom these presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. Witness: Our Right Trusty and Right Entirely Beloved Cousin and Counsellor, Victor Christian William, Duke of Devonshire, Marquess of Hartington, Earl of Devonshire, Earl of Burlington, Baron Cavendish of Hardwicke, Baron Cavendish of Keighley, Knight of Our Most Noble Order of the Garter; One of Our Most Honourable Privy Council; Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George; Knight Grand Cross of Our Royal Victorian Order; Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Our Dominion of Canada.

At Our Government House, in Our City of OTTAWA, this FIRST day of AUGUST, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, and in the ninth year of Our Reign

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENT

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions, with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained on these claims in less than 5 years, with improvements of $10 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years.

Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes, areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

TOWNSITE PROPERTY ALLOTMENT ACT.

Provision is made for the grant to persons holding uncompleted Agreements to Purchase from the Crown of such proportion of the land, if divisible, as the payments already made will cover in proportion to the sale price of the whole parcel. Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchaser from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjustment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

GENIUS BURNS, BUT ONLY ONE PER CENT TRUE

The Inventions Department of the Ministry of Munitions in London receives almost every day a number of ideas and suggestions from persons interested in the speedy conclusion of the war. Some are useful, it is stated, but almost nine-tenths are wholly impracticable. All, however, are carefully considered, says The Ministry of Munitions Journal, a recent number of which published an interesting article on the subject.

In the course of it are enumerated the following extraordinary suggestions for dealing with hostile aircraft which had been received.

The clouds are to be frozen artificially and guns mounted on them; heavy guns are to be suspended from captive balloons; the moon is to be covered with a big black balloon; aeroplanes are to be armed with scissors or scythes, like Bodicea's chariot, or to trail bombs behind them on a long cord; heat rays are to be projected for the purpose of setting zeppelins on fire; electric waves to pralyze the magnetos. One of the most popular suggestions of all is to attach a searchlight to an anti-aircraft gun, get the light on the object and shoot along the beam; but, unfortunately the path of a shell is quite different from that of a ray of light. Most elaborate "decoy" schemes are sometimes worked out for the confusion of the enemy, comprising in at least one case sham factories with chimneys and hooters complete. To prevent the polished lines of a railway showing at night, the last carriage of the last train according to another correspondent, was to camouflage them by dripping blacking as it went along.

Other proposals were:

A balloon carrying magnets hung on strings to attract the rifles out of men's hands.

A shell to contain fleas, or other vermin inoculated with disease.

The squirting of cement over soldiers so as to petrify them.

The sending of snakes into enemy trenches by pneumatic propulsion.

The throwing of live-wire cables carrying a high voltage among advancing bodies of infantry by means of rockets.

Germany should be attacked in one case by making a "tube" all the way and in another by employing trained cormorants to fly to Essen and pick out the mortar from Krupp's chimneys.

One correspondent sent quite a number of original methods of repelling attacks, including large caliper-shaped devices which could be closed on anyone intruding between the legs; a series of nets spread in front of our lines which would be drawn so as to enmesh the Germans and a machine of the nature of a lawn-mower as large as a tank to make mincemeat of them.

The purpose of the article in the Journal is to warn off inventors of this sort, and frequently they are genially argued with.

One gentleman had a powder, the composition of which he declined to disclose, which on being mixed with water turned it into motor spirits. At least, so he said. Another proposed base was the greese skimmed off soup. Various constituents which have been proposed on account of their cheapness would no doubt be more or less efficient, but the enthusiastic promotors overlook the fact that if they once came into use to any extent the advantages would disappear, as the price would at once soar upward.

In this process of argument some interesting scientific information is given, as for instance:

Suggestions are also frequently received in connection with colored searchlights. But color cannot be imparted to a beam, as by passing it through a color screen, without reducing its intrinsic brilliancy. Color is, in fact, obtained by a process of subtraction from the total light. At great distances all the brilliancy possible is required for effectiveness, so that colored beams are of no value for general purposes. Flame arc lamps for searchlights give colored light, generally slightly yellow, but this source of light is too large for the efficient optical projection of a parallel beam, or one nearly approaching parallelism, is essential in order to reach the great distances involved. The most remarkable proposition of all in connection with searchlights is perhaps that of a "black beam," whatever that may mean, for obscuring the moon!

Another favorite subject with inventors is the "relay shell" — a shell acting as a small gun discharged in mid-air and expelling a smaller inner shell, the object being to obtain an increased range which has been supposed by some to be the principle of the long-range gun with which the Germans have bombarded Paris. As to that the article says:

The objections to this idea are twofold. First, it appears from elementary dynamical considerations that the energy of the relay propellant charge would be shared between the outer and inner shells in the inverse ratio of their masses, so that unless the inner shell were unduly small, a very large proportion of the propellant charge would be wasted. Secondly, a shell in flight does not point directly along its trajectory, but makes an uncertain angle with it, especially near the highest point, where the inner shell would be discharged, so that accuracy of aim would be impossible. Generally speaking, it may be said that any scheme which seriously reduces the bursting charge of the shell must offer some very remarkable advantages before it can be considered promising.

Many of the inventors are absolutely impervious to argument or explanation and are always dissatisfied with the treatment they receive. In this respect they contrast unfavorably with a foreigner who submitted an engine which would not work and who wound up the correspondence with thanks and the admission that he was "completely cured" of his idea.

SOCIALISTIC LEADERS KILLING TRUE UNIONISM

For the sake of the honest and loyal unionists of the country, it is to be hoped that never again will the scenes be enacted that were shown in Vancouver last week. It was an insult to the flag of the country, an insult to unionists as a whole and a direct insult to the soldier boys returned from the fields of battle. It is time for the people of Vancouver to disapprove in a most emphatic manner of certain few leaders in that city who have been exerting such extreme control over the members of different unions. When this is done it will be better for the municipality, for the province and for every union in the province. The Socialists and the I. W. W.'s have no place with loyal men in this country and no right to insult the memory of thousands of union men who have paid the supreme sacrifice that their country might live. Exile or penitentiary, or even worse, is what should be meted out to men who have no use for loyalty or patriotism. Cut the movement at the root and the deadly tree will cease to grow.—Kamloops Sentinel.

UNIQUE EVENT AT FORT McPHERSON

A presentation that broke all records, geographical or historical, was made a few weeks ago at Fort McPherson, Peel river, according to information that has just reached Edmonton with the return of the Arctic mail carriers from the summer trip to the Arctics. At McPherson, on July 10, Ilavinek, the native interpreter who accompanied the Eskimo murderers to Edmonton last year and served as an intermediary between them and the courts of justice, was presented with a gold watch and chain, the gift of the government of Canada. The ceremony, which was impressive despite its simplicity, was made by the light of the all-night sun at 2 a.m., and Inspector Phillips of the Herschel Island detachment made the presentation.

The watch, a handsome solid gold timepiece, bore the R. N. W. M. P. monogram on the outer case and was inscribed inside with the following:

"Presented by the Canadian Government to Ilvinek for services rendered Fort Norman patrol for murders of Fathers Rouvier and Leroux, 1915-1917."

Inspector Phillips told Ilvinek that "Mr. Government," on behalf of the "Big King, Big Chief," was very glad to recognize his services in this way, and the dusky recipient of the nation's thanks was manifestly proud of the nice looking ticking machine. Along with other remarks went some necessary information as to how to use it. The guests at the presentation were Sergt. Clay, Constables Doak and Cook, and A. L. Sawle and Geo. A. Slater, of the Northern Trading Co.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

Has it ever occurred to the majority that those priceless things—ideals of liberty and justice and right living—can be neither bought nor sold? They are not heirlooms and no parent can hand them down ticketed and tied like government bonds or enclosed, like jewels, in a strong box. They may be "recommended" and even insisted upon but are adopted voluntarily or not at all.

These facts offer food for serious thought on the part of those who are responsible for Canada's future. Whatever ideals it is desirable for the citizens of tomorrow to possess must be instilled into the consciousness of the children of today. The process is the tedious one of "line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little, there a little"—a process at times inspiring but more often than not discouraging. It is a process little realized in the main because its workings are unseen. Not until the generation stands ready for citizenship can it be seen that damage has been done. Only then is one aware of the existence of the harmful influence. Human careers are too precious to be submitted to this exploitation and the most serious duty confronting patriots today is the provision of influences that will produce high standards of living for generations to come.

Had this truth been recognized from any other than a largely theoretical standpoint by the men and women of the preceding and the present generation it would not have been possible for the various theories promulgated by Frederick the Great (wrongly so called) to be working themselves out today in Prussian atrocities. There can not be too vigorous pushing of baby welfare movements or the establishment and maintainence of supervised playgrounds, by Ssout movements, national health boards, carefully considered housing schemes, city planning and every other movement that centres in the cleanest, finest living. An examination into the things in which all were most keenly concerned a decade ago will not result in a list of these things as national interests. Every one of them must be absorbing interests if Prussianism is to be stamped out forever.

IN OUR TOWN

By Walt Mason

In our small town there is no bar; no booze is sold in flask or jar; no signs announcing ice-cold beer upon our long main street appear. When we'd assuage our dusty thirst, we quote the motto "Safety First," and to the nearest hydrant trail, and drink three quarts of Adam's ale. Ten thousand people, good and bad, are dwelling in our lovely grad, and when the week of toil is done, and they set forth to have some fun, not one of all that cheerful throng goes seeking liquor, red and strong; there is no liquor here to seek, and so the seeker'd be a freak O.f course, it makes a strong man groan, to have some money, all his own, and find he cannot blow it in for cool, refreshing square-face gin; and oftentimes in his despair, he buys his children shoes to wear, or gives his wife a large green bill, which should be in the brewer's till. Or, driven frantic by the law which bars the bugjuice from his maw —a law devised by some fool crank— he puts his money in the bank, or buys himself a house and lot, while he's with indignation hot. The news our papers print is stale; there are no doings at the jail; our people lead eventless lives; our husbands seldom beat their wives; not once a year are prison bunks engaged by plain or fancy dunks. It is a stupid life we lead, and much I fear we'll go to seed; we ought to have a boozing ken, and put our jail in use again!—Collier's Weekly."

GERMAN MISCALCULATIONS

Dr. Arthur Davis, the Kaiser's American dentist, quotes his august client as having said to him: "We underestimate no one, we know exactly what we are doing." If the Emperor William believed what he is reported to have said the delusion of the despot as to the permanence of his pet institutions in a changing world is deeper-seated than history leads one to believe.

The record of the four years of war is strewn with German miscalculations. They miscalculated the strength of the Serbian national spirit and the courage and military strength of the Belgians. They miscalculated the attitude of Britain in case of "bold" action in the attack on France through Belgium. They regarded the British race as decandent and too much engrossed in material affairs to sacrifice itself in order merely to back up its signature to a scrap of paper. They miscalculated the energy and determination of Britain, France, and, later of the United States. They thought mistakenly that the Zeppelins would frighten the British people into panic-stricken submission; they expected the submarine frightfulness to drive all but the most essential traffic from the seas; they thought that the minds of men and women would be so impressed by the invincible might of the German mailed fist that resistance to it would be abandoned. Finally, they thought that poison gas, hospital bombing, and drowning Red Cross nurses and wounded soldiers would do what other frightfulness had failed to do.

Quite recently the German "statesmen" have miscalculated the effects of their actions in Russia and Finland. Two German governors of the eastern territories have been assasinated; the outbreak of another revolution directed against the Teuton occupiers of Russia and the Ukraine is a matter only of time and leadership. They miscalculated the amount of immediate sustenance which could be derived by armed robbery from the Russian empire; and they have miscalculated their ability to exploit that country for their future benefit.

The German rulers are not strong on psychological deduction. They would appear generally to produce a reaction almost exactly opposite to that which they expected to produce. The result is the situation in France and Flanders today—a situation which no Teuton with any real knowledge of the facts can view without the gravest misgivings. — Winnipeg Free Press.

CLIP THIS AND PIN ON WIFE'S DRESSER

Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns or calluses so they lift off with fingers.

Ouch ! ? ! ? ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you.

POLITICS IN GREAT BRITAIN

There seems to be a concensus of opinion, among those most competent to judge, that a general election in Great Britain cannot be much longer deferred.

The present parliament was chosen for a term of seven years. It passed a law limiting its existence to five years. By next December it will have lasted eight years.

In the interval the franchise has been greatly enlarged by the admission of women. Counting these and the men who have come of age since 1910, it is probable that about three-fourths of the electorate of Great Britain are awaiting a chance to cast their first vote.

In the meantime also, the Labor party has attained a growth and importance much greater than formerly. This party has a domestic program which is bound to arouse keen controversy, and it foresees that the next parliament will last into the days of peace, when domestic questions will again come to the fore.

Fortunately, all factions are agreed on the only point that matters just now—the necessity of winning the war. For this reason a parliament will presumably be chosen that will keep Lloyd George in power until peace is in sight. How long his administration will last after that is entirely problematical.

Geneva, Aug. 15.—The health of King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, who is at Nauheim, suddenly has become worse. According to a dispatch received here from Munich his condition is now considered critical.

DOCTORS CLAIM WHISKY IS GOOD

Doctors Balfe and James Anderson appeared before the magistrate at Hamilton, Ont., charged with unlawfully issuing prescriptions, and at the request of the Crown were remanded for one week. According to Dr. Blafe, who is alleged to have issued 1300 prescriptions in one month, 70 of which were signed on the one day, whisky in quart doses is good for the following complaints: Kidney trouble, stomach trouble, indigestion, colds,, rheumatism, nerves, neuralgia, summer grippe, debility and toothache.

Dr. Anderson, who is alleged to have issued 39 quart prescriptions in one day, stated that men doing hard work in steel plants and munition factories and mills had to have whisky.

C. W. Bell, counsel for Dr. Balfe, scorned the Ontario Temperance Act and claimed that it was a fool law designed for babes.

COMPETITION

One of the popular words in the big talk of today is Competition. Nine-tenths of all the meanness and dishonesty in the wrold results from competition. No man tells the truth about his competitor, or is fair with him. The hanging of witches in Massachusetts was due to a quarrel between competitors. The Reverend Samuel Parris brought on the witchcraft agitation at Salem to punish the Reverend George Burroughs, who was a competitor for the pulpit in Parris' church. Between the 10th of June and the 22nd of September 20 victims of Parris were hanged, including Burroughs. Fifty-five others had been tortured, a hundred and fifty lay in prison, and two hundred others were accused or suspected. But not a single partisan of Parris was arrested; the craze for hanging people accused of witchcraft ended with the extermination of the supporters of Burroughs No one with an active, mean competitor can be a gentleman. The more gently you act towards a competitor the more he abuses you, believing you to be a coward. I suppose the Rev. George Burroughs tried to be a gentleman in his controversy with Rev. Samuel Parris. When Parris charged Burroughs with having murdered two wives, and with being possessed of a devil, Burroughs thought, "the fairness of the people would assert itself," and that they would vindicate him of these untruthful and foolish charges. Burroughs thought if he gave Parris enough rope he would hang himself; but Burroughs was the man who was actually hanged. When the present mania for abusing the corporations began, the captains of industry said: "It will soon die out." But it didn't die out; on the contrary, it is growing worse, for the reason that the captains of industry do not fight back. When you are attacked fight. Don't imagine that your competitor will see his error and apologize. A surprising feature of the present dangerous situation in this country is the timidity of those who are in the right, and the boldness of those who are in the wrong.

Interpreter of Plays

Anne Therese Davault, noted dramatic interpreter, will be one of the feature attractions of Chautauqua week. She will present "The Music Master" visualizing the pathos, tenderness and quaint charm of the lovable play.

Gullotta Trio at Chautauqua

Three Gifted Musical Artists Coming on Second Day

The Gullotta Trio has often been called "the most successful musical trio on the Chautauqua platform." Few companies leave behind them such enthusiastic audiences. This is because each member is a true musical artist and has a sincere desire to please. Vincenzo Gullotta, who heads the company, is an Italian violinist, educated abroad and well-known throughout American musical circles because of his many concert appearances here. He is a complete master of the violin—his playing distinguished for its tonal, color and sweetness. He is ably supported by Martha Cook, a soprano soloist with voice of exceptional charm, and Mrs. Gullotta, gifted piano soloist and accompanist.

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR MODERN WIVES

"How to Hold a Husband" is condensed into ten commandments for modern women by a certain popular Fernie citizen, who hopes that the women will benefit of his experience in this decalogue:

1—Thou shalt have no other man except thy husband; neither shalt thou eye another.

2—Thou shalt not neglect thy home for a bargain sale or club of suffragette propaganda.

3—Thou shalt not be a peach on the sereet, a pippin in society and a lemon in the house.

4—Thou shalt not wear $50 bonnets and imported lingerie when thy husband wears 5c socks and hand me down trousers.

5—Thou shalt not play bridge whist for gain, neither shalt thou sip the sparkling glass.

6—Thou shalt use the same blandishments on thy husband as thou didst use on thy sweetheart and he shall always be thy lover.

7—Thou shalt not nag thy husband nor thy son nor thy daughter nor thy servant.

8—Thou shalt suffer little children to come, for thy greatest name is mother.

9—Thou shalt not neglect to pray for thy children; neither shalt thou neglect to spank them.

10—Thou shalt not rear thy children by proxy but thou thyself shalt be their mother.

The school will be open three nights each week and those who desire to take a course should apply at once, as only a limited number of pupils can be accommodated.

W. G. Barclay, of Vancouver, who has been in the city during the past week on business connected with the A. Macdonald Co. and the Crow's Nest Trading Co., says that Vancouver is more prosperous today than ever. The shipbuilding industry has brought a payroll to that city which puts money in the pockets of everybody.

He left this morning for Victoria, where he will visit with his brother Con. Tom is looking fine. He says that Con. is Canadian representative of a big shipbuilding concern in Seattle.

The doctor is on his way to Vancouver, from which city he will go overseas with a branch of the Army Medical. Dr. Wilson, who is looking fine, stepped off at the C.P.R. depot to greet a number of his old friends here.

Alex. Beck, of Coleman, was the guest of his brother, Tom Beck, several days this week. Alex is road superintendent for the Lundbreck district in Alberta and says that while at present the roads are not the best in the land, that the Alberta government have a program of road building outlined for the next two years that will make them much superior to the B.C. roads.

It would be a thousand pities to produce vegetables or fruit in response to the war appeal and then have more on hand than could be used so that quantities would perish. All surplus vegetables over immediate requirements should be canned, dried, and stored away for the winter, for winter will follow a season of plenty and all the world will be short of food.

Thos. Uphill, a former mayor of Fernie, and the Conservative candidate in the last provincial election for the Fernie seat, was a business visitor in town on Friday. Although he got licked there is plenty of fight in him yet and when the next election comes round, which may be soon, he is confident that he can carry the good old Conservative flag to victory. He gave us a pleasant visit and something tangible to remind us of his call.—Cranbrook Herald.

The committee having the Labor Day sports in hand have been very busy and are carrying out an extensive advertising campaign, so we may look forward to a big influx of visitors on that day.

The Chautauqua is in full blast, having opened yesterday with two crowded houses. The local committee did good work and notwithstanding the hard times almost succeeded in disposing of 550 adult tickets, which was their guarantee.

The case of Count Rizzuto and Joe Scarpino, which occupied the attention of Magistrate Whimster for several days last week, was sent up for trial on Saturday. The Count elected trial and Judge Thompson will hear the case early in September.

A. B. Trites arrived home on Saturday from an extended visit to the mining property in Northern B.C. in which he and several other local people are interested. Mr. Trites says that they have a staff of about six men at work on development and the prospects look very good. The property covers nine claims.

At a special meeting of the city council held on Monday evening the question of taxing the visiting Chautauqua $20 per day was reconsidered and a tax of $15 covering the entire week was arranged. The council took this action at the request of a large committee of those interested in bringing this attraction to the city.

Jas. McCool, while returning from a motor trip to Lethbridge the other day, witnessed a car accident which made his hair stand on end. It was near Crow's Nest where the accident took place, a Chevrolet car with the top up turning over five times. It has been generally understood that the top up on a car renders it a deadly trap, but on this occasion, Jimmy says, it saved the lives of the passengers, as not one was seriously injured, although they were badly shaken up.

Magistrate Hewat has been listening to an interesting case all week wherein Archie Farquharson is seeking damages from an Italian goat rancher near Morrissey, whose goats he alleges entered his premises and destroyed vegetables and grain to the value of several hundred dollars. Frank Lawe is acting for the plaintiff and S. Herchmer for the defendant. The case has been a contentious one, the lawyers at times almost going to the mat in defense of their respective clients. Judgment was reserved.

Talking about motor car accidents and dangerous places on the road, the most dangerous place on the main road through this country seems at first sight to be the safest. There is a long straight stretch of two miles extending this side of Morrissey Junction. Here, after all the thousand turns along the way, seems at last a safe place for the motorist to open out for a little speed, but the road is very narrow and has a certain amount of shifting gravel on it and as a result dozens of cars turn turtle on this seemingly safe stretch. Fortunately so far no one has been injured in these accidents but a number of cars have been badly damaged.

CANADA FOOD BOARD HAS ACCOMPLISHED MUCH

The first half of the Canada Food Board activities came to an end on August 11. It is fitting and timely to note something of what has been accomplished in that period. The Board has inaugurated many measures looking to the conservation of food and economical distribution. It has also co-operated with the Agricultural Departments, Federal and Provincial, in encouraging greater production.

The effect of these measures may be noted by the increased exports to Great Britain and her Allies. In the case of beef, these exports have increased over the average exports for 1910-1914 by 75,000,000 pounds per annum or 6795 per cent; in the case of pork, including bacon and lard, the net exports have increased by 125,000,000 pounds per annum or 571 per cent. It is estimated that Canada has exported at least 25 to 30 per cent more wheat during the last twelve months than could have been exported had it not been for conservation and organization of this country's food resources.

Among the measures which have been effective in accomplishing these results are the following:

Flour has been standardized and the milling extraction of wheat has been increased twice. Canada is now using 76 per cent of the wheat berry in its standard flour.

Bakery products have been standardized, and the amount of certain ingredients has been limited to prevent extravagant use, while the manufacture of other products involving an excessive use of sugar and fats has been prohibited.

A great saving of wheat has been effected by the licensing and regulating of the trade in package cereals, manufacturers being required to substitute a considerable portion of other cereals than wheat in their preparations.

Public eating places have been regulated, and the saving of meat, wheat and dairy products for export to Great Britain and the Allies has been very large.

The use of grain for distillation of potable liquors has been prohibited, and the use of malt has also been limited.

The feeding of grain to live stock in stock yards has been regulated and the feeding to poultry of wheat fit for milling purposes has been prohibited.

Waste of food has been made an offense subject to heavy penalties, and municipalities have been given wide powers in checking such waste.

Arrangements have been made for an abundant supply of fish, at reasonable prices, as a substitute for meat and other foods.

Close control over importation of foodstuffs is maintained by the Canada Food Board.

GERMANY'S NEXT GREAT WAR

Emphasis can never be too strongly placed upon the fact that the Allied peoples are fighting the German people. Those who think and assert that the German people hate the German "junkers" are thinking and asserting sheer nonsense.

The German people drilled, educated, bribed, controlled, directed by a special privileged class for 40 years have adopted the teachings and opinions of that class without question. The German is the most docile of animals and the German's leaders exploit that quality for their own purposes.

Therefore, as Mr. Balfour so clearly and emphatically points out, the overthrow of the "junkers" in Germany will not exorcise the devil that has hurled the German people down the abyss into the sea of war, destruction and barbarism.

The "junkers" may be abolished. But afterwards the German people when they are beaten must be restored to sanity—a long and difficult process only to be likely to succeed if the German is made thoroughly to understand that until he reforms he is an object of loathing to all civilized peoples.

Germany must be punished not only on the battlefield but in the world's markets after the war. Already Germany has evolved as thoroughgoing a plan of campaign for dominating the markets of the world in years to come as she evolved for dominating the nations of the world in years past.

Her commercial spies, her banditti of commerce, her "Kultur," her industrial organization have during the years of war all been re-made for this very purpose. Unless, therefore, the Allies boycott German trade after the war they will some day awaken to find that Germany has gained through her manufacturers and bankers what she could not gain through her generals and admirals. — Vancouver World.

POINTS TO OBSERVE IN BUYING FILLETS OF FISH

Bad fish may be a very dangerous food and has the faculty of producing a complete knockout, of sometimes several days' duration. In these days, when the cost of living is high, housewives are looking for meat that will be inexpensive, and naturally think of fish, because of the comparative cheapness of this article. But what may appear cheap and good may prove to be very expensive if sickness be the result.

Because of the absence of bone and skin, fillets are easy to prepare for the table. It is not very difficult to tell if a whole fish is fresh but when cut into fillets it becomes much harder. Fillets are frequently cut from fish that have been dead from ten to fourteen days, that is, from fish left over when all shipping orders have been filled. These fillets are then soaked in annato for a long time to take away the bad smell, which gives that yellow color which is supposed to be due to "smoke."

To tell the difference between a fresh and stale fillet of fish is very simple. Fillets from fresh fish may sometimes appear "sweaty," that is, moist on the surface. They are ,however, always firm to the touch, are not easy to break, and will leave the fingers clean. Those taken from stale fish, on the contrary, are always soft, easy to break and when handled will leave the fingers sticky. Take a small piece between the finger and thumb and if it leaves a sticky feeling, that fish is not good. Then, if there is the least sign of a green-colored streak, it is a sure sign that the fish was either stale when cut into fillets or had since been kept too long. This variety of fish will keep for only a few days when put up under the best conditions, and, if exposed to air in a warm place, will quickly develop small white maggots.--Toronto Health Bulletin.

COURAGE BELOW DECK

Would the Zeebrugge victory have been what it was had her stokehold not been filled with heroes? An old ship with oil boilers, but needing, above all things, speed, especially on the home run, she was at the mercy of her stokers and engineers. A bump told them that the Vindictive had gained the Mole. Not much else was known about the fortunes of the day until home was reached. It is said that when the Engineer Commander entered the boiler room (after the party) and asked the Artificer Engineer what he had to say about his men the reply was what every one of them must have rejoiced to hear: "I am not going to say anything for or against them; but if I was going to H—l tomorrow night I would have the same men with me."

Admiral Sir David Beatty knows where to find heroes and he says that high up on the roll of British heroes must be placed the names of the engineers and their staffs on board ships of war. Equally heroic are the men below deck on merchant ships. With almost no chance of escape and with absolute certainty of being hit when the dastardly U-boat gets in its work these men, nevertheless, engage to transport troops, and wounded, food-stuffs, merchandise, munitions—everything needed to carry on this war. Do we give them sufficient credit? Have we, up to this time given them even a thought? Not until the war is over shall we know how many of these heroes have been sacrificed that their cause and ours might triumph.

It is peculiarly fitting that these men, of whom most of us have never even thought, should be remembered by the King. He has given his approval to a badge which speaks volumes. It is in the form of a torpedo to be worn on the left sleeve and is to be given "to officers and seamen who have been on the articles of any British merchant or fishing vessel sunk or damaged during the present war by torpedo or mine and who have afterwards completed a further voyage on the articles of a British vessel."

Each subsequent experience will be shown by a bar. It is high time that the rest of us take a thought for the heroes below deck combatants and non-combatants alike.

A BRITISH COLUMBIA HEROINE

Day after day dispatches from the fighting front tell the graphic and inspiring story of the courage of our men. War is essentially a man's job, and the glories of its achievements are largely ascribed to him. But the courageous task of war-winning in the tragic struggle now waging is not monopolized by the brave boys who do the fighting. Their mothers and sisters share. The courage of waiting and working at home, of sending cheery greetings from sore and anxious hearts, of upholding and strengthening soldier sons and brothers, is courage that commands as great respect as that which finds its duty in the more spectacular and thrilling scenes of the fighting field.

In a recent editorial the Toronto Globe comments upon the striking instances of the heroic conduct of Canadian women at the front, and draws attention to an impressive story contained in its dispatches that day. The particular reference is of peculiar interest to British Columbians as it refers to a woman from this province who has won high distinction.

Upon the personal recommendation of General Foch—a man who knows heroism when he sees it — Premier Clemenceau has decorated Miss Frazer, a British ambulance driver, with the Cross of the Legion of Honor and the War Cross for "conspicuous heroism." The official citation, as noted by the Globe, reads:

"Charged with the transport of wounded men on Thursday night under heavy bombardment, she received two serious wounds from a torpedo which destroyed her ambulance. She had the superb courage to reach the hospital, 200 feet away, on foot, to inform the doctor of the plight of the wounded men. She then fell unconscious. When transported to the hospital for an operation, she insisted that her wounds should not be treated before the doctors attended the injured men for whom she was responsible."

When the history of this war is written, woman will share gloriously in the annals of its heroism. When the passengers on a torpedoed transport on the Mediterranean were called to the boats it is recorded that brave nurses stood resolutely to one side demanding a revision of the rule of the sea by their instant verdict: "Fighting men first." When bombs, hurled by ruthless Hun savagery, were dropped on the field hospitals in France gallant girls refused to leave their wounded patients even in the face of terrible death. When barbarous torpedoes despatched doom to hospital ships the nurse met the end with the same calm fortitude and superb courage as her soldier brother. The war has given to the illustrious records of mankind the names of the Cavells and the Frazers and of hundreds of their equally noble and brave sisters. The Honor Roll has many heroines.—Vernon News.

MALVY'S PUNISHMENT

Five years banishment appears to be a very moderate punishment for a member of a war government convicted of having communication with the enemy. This is the sentence which has been passed upon Louis J. Malvy, who was Minister of Interior in the three successive war governments in France. The office of Minister of Interior is one of enormous power and responsibility in France, involving as it does the supervision and control of the police and secret service of the country, as well as the conduct of elections. Is it little wonder that the Germans have persisted in their belief that the moral breakdown of France was impending when a creature like this, with whom they were in communication, continued to hold so responsible an office. Malvy, of course, was simply the tool of ex-Premier Caillaux, whose trial before a committee of the Senate will constitute the next French sensation. The defeatist propaganda in France appears to have been pretty thoroughly stamped out, which is not the least of the services which the present premier of France, Clemenceau, has rendered to the cause of civilization.—Manitoba Free Press.

A DUCAL CONSCRIPT

Dundee Advertiser: How really democratic an institution conscription is has been proved to demonstration by the news that the Duke of Argyll—the great Maccallum Mhor himself — has reported at Stirling for medical examination, has been passed grade 1, and has drawn from the national funds a sum representing three days' military pay to atone for inroad on the ducal leisure which was involved in a journey from Inverary. His grace is just 46, and a bachelor, and therefore he will be unable, before the tribunal, to make any appeal on personal grounds, so that we may reckon confidently on hearing that he is in khaki one of these fine days. But, however that may be, the mere fact that he has undergone the ordeal of medical examination will be a great comfort to all his contemporaries. They will be able to boast, after they have themselves undergone the same experience, that they have been "treated like a duke."

MORNING SUNBEAMS

Things within reach come quickly to those who wait on themselves.

Don't forget to laugh when your boss tells a joke with whiskers on it.

Some men take chances on boarding house hash in preference to matrimony.

There is no half way point with a woman. She is either very generous or very stingy.

To most men's minds the ideal wife is that of an acquaintance who is said to spoil her husband.

A woman's distrust of her husband is never really serious until she begins to refer to some other woman as "That brazen thing."

A farmer friend of mine says that he objects to the proposal to put conscientious objectors to work on farms. He has had enough experience with conscientious objectors when it comes to work.

It is the wise man that makes his experience pay him dividends.

TYPOS' WAR RECORD IS SPLENDID ONE

Bulletins issued from time to time by the International Typographical Union show the splendid war record of that organization. The latest reports that, with reports incomplete, there were at May 31 a total of 4308 members in war service with the Canadian and United States forces, and 77 members had been killed or had died in service since the beginning of the war. There had been paid to relatives of soldiers whose lives had been given to their country the sum of $23,150; $90,000 had been invested in Liberty Loan bonds by subordinate unions and individual members.

The bulletin also reports the following: $167,626 for improvements and maintenance of the Union Printers' Home; and $312,426 in mortuary benefits.

The final item is significant: "$1237 covers last year's total expenditures for strikes authorized by the I. T. U. There should be no strikes or lockouts during the war."

JOYOUS ENTERTAINERS AT CHAUTAUQUA ON TUESDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Wells, artistic entertainers who come to Chautauqua on Tuesday next, bring to the presentation of musical and dramatic sketches a peculiar fitness of ability, training and experience. Both of these splendid artists have been appearing before Chautauqua audiences for over ten years and have won a prominent place among the entertainers of the platform.

The keynote of their programs is wholesome and joyous entertainment. Both are splendid singers and players capable of presenting an exclusive musical program which would meet the requirements of the most exacting critic. In addition to musical talent they possess real histrionic power and the dramatic sketches which they present are among the most artistic productions on the platform.

Their two programs embrace baritone and soprano solos, duets, story-telling and readings, dramatic sketches, pianologs, humorous and musical sketches.

ROD AND GUN FOR AUGUST

"The Skunk and Dolphus" by Jane Dilworth, a story of the visit of that particularly obnoxious little animal with the white stripe down its back to the cabin of a French Canadian; "A Wet Breakfast on a Dry Stump" by Marlow A. Shaw, showing the psychological effect of continuous rain on the mind of an ordinary cheerful camper-out; "When Grandpa Jumped Over the Traces," the story of a trek to the northern gold fields; "Five Shots at a Chuck" by F. V. Williams; are among the list of contents in the August issue of Rod and Gun. Such departments as Rod and Gun Mechanics, Fishing Notes and Guns and Ammunition are well maintained, while a specially illustrated account of the tournament of the Canadian Indians at Niagara on the Lake on July 1st and 2nd is contained in the same issue. Prominent trap-shooters in Indian costume are shown in connection with this account. Rod and Gun is published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

Nayphe Returns to Chautauqua

Brilliant Young Athenian Brings New Lecture in Answer to Many Requests

Julius Caesar Nayphe is returning to Chautauqua this year in a new lecture. It is almost an ironclad rule on the Ellison-White Chautauqua never to repeat an attraction the following year. But Nayphe's unbounded success last season was followed by request after request from practically all towns to return him. So the brilliant young Athenian comes back to Chautauqua audiences with a new lecture.

His story of the Orient is of particular interest at this time, since the events of the war have directed attention anew to that portion of the world of which he lectures. He brings with him to Chautauqua a new and truly remarkable collection of Oriental tapestries.

SURGERY HAS MADE RAPID STRIDES DURING THE WAR

Surgery's greatest achievement since the war began has come through the elimination of disinfectant processes in treating septic wounds, and the substitution therefor of the knife, according to Col. Herbert A. Bruce, consulting surgeon of the British armies in France. When the war began disinfectants were used in treating wounds, practically all of which were contaminated. The treatment required six or eight months, sometimes longer. There was always the danger of sepsis, necessitating the amputation of a limb. Nowadays, instead of using disinfectants, the contaminated tissue, muscle, even bone, is cut away. Under this treatment the wound heals as a rule in two weeks. This means an enormous saving in time, in lives, man power, bandages, nursing and surgical attendance. From 85 per cent to 90 per cent of the wounded recover and are returned to the firing line.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

MAGRATH REFUSES TO BE RESPONSIBLE

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—That he positively and absolutely refuses to be responsible if the people of Western Canada freeze this winter, because of lack of concerted action on the part of the public to get in supplies of soft coal immediately, was the statement made here by C. A. Magrath, Dominion fuel controller. He desired to impress on Western consumers the urgent need of getting soft coal now. The seriousness of the situation did not seem to be appreciated, he declared, as evidenced by the fact that the domestic coal was not being purchased in sufficient quantities and he could not emphasize too strongly the danger of actual suffering in the cold months if action was not taken at once.

THE KAISERITE

Kaiserite: Class Reptilia; Family, Scaliwagii; Species, Pestiferous — this abominable creature is perhaps more abundant in the United States than here, but we have sufficient. His specialty is a careless disregard of the truth, and his object, generally, a sinister one. He has no fixed habitat — you meet him in the hotel lobby, on the cars, at the street corner, but always when you haven't a gun, more's the pity.

Our cousins are taking steps to counteract his malevolent influence. As an instance: All the loyal American has to do on spotting one of these creatures is to report the matter to the Committee on Public Information, 8 Jackson Place, Washington, D.C. Should the report prove justifiable the further activities of the particular reptile under investigation will be put a stop to.

The Kaiserite is extremely plausible. He always has inside facts at his command. His inside knowledge is marvellous—but it has been ascertained that in every case such treasonable utterances originated with a German spy—this is the American experience. Some of those that have been nailed follow: Red Cross supplies have been sold by dishonest officials; German prisoners of war are being fed better than our own troops; this is a rich man's war, they began it, hence they should carry it on; the farmer is a heartless profiteer; lots of Allied men of war have been sunk by the Germans, but we have not been told about it, etc., etc.

Got German Map and Code

A map of the waters around the British Isles divided into squares and each square numbered, in order to indicate by wireless to German U-boats the location of allied or neutral ships to be attacked, has been discovered by the allies, together with a code by which wireless stations indicated to U-boats the nationality and type of ships in any given square. The code was so designed that every message seemed to refer to some innocent commercial transaction. Thus a wireless reading, "First quality packing case, Series 4, No. 432," translated meant, "British armored cruiser, four smokestacks, in square No. 432."

ONE NEWSPAPER HUNS CANNOT KILL

Amsterdam, Aug. 14.—Three prominent Belgians have been sentenced to long terms of improsonment by the German military authorities for their alleged connection with the phantom newspaper Libre Belgique, according to Les Nouvelles, a Belgian newspaper published at The Hague. Father Delahaye, a Belgian priest, "suspected" editorial writer, was sentenced to 15 years' penal servitude; Dr. Van Caillie, also "suspected" editorial writer, 12 years, and Lawyer Van Der Khoven, "suspected" manager, 15 years. All were deported to Germany. The trial lasted three months.

From the account printed in Les Nouvelles it appeared that nothing actually could be proved against the accused, and the heavy sentences were inflicted on "suspicion."

Libre Belgique has been a thorn in the flesh of the German invaders of Belgium, and despite all efforts of German spies it has never been discovered where this loyalist weekly was printed. It is published regularly, nevertheless, and distributed throughout the occupied territory, even the German governor general finding a copy in his letter-box with unfailing regularity. It is commonly believed the newspaper is printed on an automobile.

THE "CANADA OF THE EAST"

In Siberia, when they enter that, to them, terra incognita, the Canadian soldiers who are going to Vladivostock will find a land much like their own.

Siberia is the "Canada of the East." Its climate, its prairies, its mountains, its rivers bear a remarkable resemblance to those of this Dominion. The maple grows luxuriantly on the hills around Vladivostock. The acacia and the birch flourish as they do in Vancouver.

Siberia, like Canada, is a country of enormous natural resources. It produces grain, cattle, minerals, butter and lumber of excellent quality. There is risk that owing to the political chaos that has overtaken the rest of Russia all these resources may be secured by the Huns.

Siberia and Canada have the same population. Siberia has been colonized by many races from different parts of Russia—not as most people think, by political exiles. There are six voluntary settlements of Siberiaks for every one composed of exiles. The Siberiaks have a sense of national unity though they do not wish to live outside a federalized Russia. They are a hardy, democratically inclined people, independent and free. One of their own writers describes Siberia as the "land of the unhumiliated."

In Siberia at the present time there are about 80,000 Czecho-Slovaks. Most of these are at Irkutsk—a few detachments at Vladivostock or along the railway to the north of it. To their aid British, French, Japenese, Chinese and Annamese troops have already been sent. Canadian troops will be dispatched shortly. Vladivostock will be the base of operations and doubtless the Allies will penetrate far into the heart of Siberia before their purpose is achieved.

HELPING TO RELIEVE THE COAL SITUATION

Prior to the war, coal production usually exceeded consumption. Consequently, considerable reserves were built up at strategic shipping points to meet local, current demands. But the more or less acute fuel situation of the past two winters has witnessed the consumption of these reserves. No one speaks of building them up again until the war is over when transportation, industrial and labor conditions will have returned to normal. All that the fuel authorities expect of the mines is to produce a year's supply in twelve months. It, therefore, follows that all orders for even 70 per cent of each consumer's annual supply cannot be filled at once, so early in the season. Early orders will naturally receive precedence however, as well as tending to prevent congestion in transportation.

During the spring the output of the mines in the United States was not reassuring. This has been steadily improving and there is reasonable ground for hoping that the supply for household purposes at any rate, may be sufficient for the demand. Of course in war time things may happen over which even governments have no complete control, which may cause at least a partial falling off in production or difficulties in getting coal distributed.

Prices too, may be reasonably expected to be higher than in former years, as in the case of practically all other indispensible commodities.

For these reasons, therefore, if for no other, consumers should obtain substitutes, such as soft coal, wood, peat, etc., to as great an extent as possible. At the same time, efforts should be made to cut down actual requirements of fuel to a minimum. It is quite needless in many instances for whole houses to be heated throughout the winter. By comparatively inexpensive changes in plumbing during the summer, rooms that are little used or unused during the winter months, could have their heating appliances arranged so as to be turned on or off at will. Or, if this be not feasible, radiators in sun rooms and unused attics could be carefully wrapped so as to conserve heat, while preventing freezing of the radiators. By such reasonable precautions the desire to criticize the heads of the Fuel Boards next winter may largely vanish.—A. D. in Conservation.

MUSICAL CLIMAX OF CHAUTAUQUA FOURTH DAY

The musical climax of our Chautauqua will be reached on the fourth day with the appearance of the Ladies Symphony Orchestra with the well known New York soprano, Miss Ethel Lee Buxton, as soloists. It is said that the most striking feature of this orchestra is the refinement and delicacy of the entire ensemble of ten pieces. The girls play with the idea of bringing each separate beauty of the best music into prominence, with no affectation or attempt to thrust individual personality upon their listeners. Then they play with such intimacy and warmth of expression that audiences become enthused with the same fervor which animates the musicianship of the artists.

The programs given by the Ladies Symphony Orchestra are delightful in character, pleasing alike to all, and the charm of their ensemble work, together with their exquisite shadings and cathedral organ effects, never fail to incite audiences to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. Their programs are well balanced between classical, operatic, patriotic and popular song hits.

PRICES OF SUBSTITUTES

The Canada Food Board has named reasonable prices for wheat flour substitutes. These prices will vary from time to time, according to the price of grain. On the basis of present wholesale prices, corn flour bought in small quantities should sell at from 6 3-4c per pound in Eastern Canada to 8c in the extreme West; rye flour at from 7 1-2c in Eastern Canada to 8 1-2c in the extreme West; barley flour at from 6 3-4c in the East to 6c in the West. The Canada Food Board has warned retailers that exhorbitant prices must not be charged for wheat substitutes.

A PATRIOTIC HEN

The discovery of a nest of sixteen eggs snugly packed deep in an earth nest proved to a North Vancouver poultryman recently that even his best layer had caught the spirit of the times by producing foodstuff while mothering a batch of eleven healthy little chicks. The hen, which is an unusually good layer, had good luck with her batch of fifteen Rhode Island Red eggs when she hatched eleven little chicks. Figuring from the date of hatching little more than a week could have intervened before she resumed laying. The eggs had been completely covered with dirt each time they were layed and everyone was found to be quite fresh.

MAGNIFICENT CUP OFFERED FOR BEST WHEAT

The Department of Colonization and Development of the Canadian Pacific Railway announces that it will award a silver cup valued at $500 for the best bushel of hard spring wheat exhibited at the International Soil-Products Exposition at Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 16-26, 1918. All farmers in Western Canada who have good hard spring wheat should be interested in this announcement and it is hoped that among them will be found the successful competitor.

Wheat has become a vital factor in the conduct of war and the Railway Company hopes in this way to encourage production of the best varieties. At the same time it is hoped this competition will focus attention upon the immense food-producing possibilities of Western Canada. Canadian farmers have been winners of many competitions of the International Soil-Products Exposition and the winning of this cup by one of their number would be an appropriate climax to a series of triumphs.

It is expected that boards of trade, agricultural societies, farmers' organizations and other public bodies throughout Western Canada will interest themselves in seeing that the very best bushel of wheat in each of their respective districts is entered in this competition. Individual farmers will also no doubt be eager for the distinction of winning this cup.

Particulars as to the exhibit may be had by addressing Robert J. C. Stead, Publicity Agent, Department Colonization and Development, C. P. R., Calgary.

CASE OF ALBERT GOODWIN

Trail News: Albert Goodwin a year ago was known to every resident of Trail and made no secret of his opposition to the Military Service Act. However, he was examined and placed in Category D—which means subject to further examination. Later he was reclassed in Category A, asked for exemption, was refused and appealed before Judge Brown, who again refused it and Mr. Justice Duff did the same. Goodwin was certified for service and failed to appear. Months later he was located in the wilds of Vancouver Island, and last week was shot and killed by the military police with a rifle in his hands while attempting to evade service—paying the penalty for armed resistance.

Deceased had stated more than once that he would not serve, and he did not, but was shot by the police in self-defence while resisting arrest. He was an Englishman, a socialist of pronounced type and has two brothers with the colors in France. There was no just reason why an exception should be made in his case, according to the laws laid down, by which we all must be governed.

Goodwin deserves no sympathy nor do those who think as he does. Canada is at war and has called its young men to the colors. He was one of them, and his presistent evasion of his duty brought the natural consequence. Thousands have gone willingly and gladly and many have paid the price. Albert Goodwin paid it, not in the line of duty, but because he would not conform to what we are all subject to and threatened an officer. He was a bright man and could have made a name for himself.

"I'M HAVING WONDERFUL TIME"

"For goodness sake keep the Y.M. C.A. going," and "I believe the Peace Bell will be ringing before this year is out," are the messages sent to his home in Valleyfield, Que., in a letter by Lance Corp. Thos. Moir, of the 24th Victorian Rifles. The letter is written from the First General Hospital, Stourbridge, near Birmingham, and the writer gives the highest possible praise to the hospital staff.

"Fancy a bunch of nice nurses and sisters to wait on you, lying in bed and having your meals brought to you. Why, it's worth while getting wounded for this is the best part of the war—hospital."

"For goodness sake keep the Y. M. C. A. going," implores Lance Corp. Moir, who in his comfortable quarters in hospital does not forget the discomforts of the boys still in the trenches.

"Just think of coming out of the front line after a hard rtip, wet, tired and hungry; never having a hot drink for days, to say nothing of a hot meal, and right up near the line you find the 'Y' with steaming hot tea and a smoke awaiting. I don't know what we would do without them. I think if people really knew what the Y's are doing they would give more."

The writer concludes with the prophecy that the war will end this year. Austria's back is broken, he declares, and Germany cannot spare troops from the Western front to help her ally.

"Dinner time" is the excuse for an abrupt ending to an interesting letter, and the last sentence is the cheerful prediction that "the Peace Bell will be ringing before the year is out."

LUKE McLUKE SAYS

The average reformer is such a long-faced kill-joy that he seems to go through life on the theory that he laughs best who laughs least.

There was a time when a well-built girl didn't dare go out without a corset. We said there WAS a time.

When a married couple can't agree on anything else, it doesn't take them long to agree to separate.

Isn't it funny how a man can raise so much hair in his ears when he can't raise any on the top of his head?

When a man falls, he climbs back up. But when a woman falls she hits the bottom.

When a man marries for the first time he is afraid he won't be good enough for his bride. But when he marries the second time he is afraid his bride won't be good enough for him.

You do not have to concentrate your power of observation to notice that a man's conversation is never so empty as when he is full.

About the only time men toe the mark is when they think they have a kick coming.

It is the duty of every girl to cultivate patience. She is going to need a whole lot of it when she gets married.

It doesn't matter what a woman sends her husband to buy for her, she is certain to tell him that she could have gotten it two cents cheaper if she had gone herself.

A wife will tell you that it is overwork that makes her feel tired. But her husband can tell you that it is overtalk.

It may seem paradoxical. But it is a fact that a man will stand up for himself even if he has to lie to do it.

Salvation Army Wiped Out

The Salvation Army in Germany and Austria has been wiped out of existence by order of the Kaiser, not only because the organization was founded in England and was developed from that country, but because Salvationists from all over the earth are in the trenches fighting under the various flags of the allies.

PRESS COMMENT

Extremes which can never meet—Kaiser Wilhelm II. and Paris.

* * *

The correspondent at the front of the Paris Journal says a great time is in store for the armies of the British Empire. An even more glorious picnic awaits the gallant Amexes. Flesh and blood will after all triumph over the blood and iron machine of Bismarck and the Junkers. Military machines, like others designed for more benovolent uses, are worse burdens than the notorious White Elephant is to the impoverished Siamese noble, when they suffer dislocatioon and cease to function. Bismarck's famous phrase will soon be embodied in a mountain of scrap iron liberally besprinkled with the blood of his "Pomeranian Grenadiers."

Hampton Court Singers at Chautauqua

Thoroughly delightful, alike to those who wish good music rendered in faultless manner and those whose tastes demand the quality of entertainment in a musical program, the platform offering of the Hampton Court Singers has won the organization a host of friends among Chautauqua patrons. This company occupies a distinct field, presenting as it does a varied program in which old English motion songs are featured. A musical sketch in costume adds to the delight occasioned by songs of the fine old period of the chivalric days in which the songs were written. The clever blending of the program takes the hearer back to the time of romance, and the musicianship of the members of the company is such that they give a thoroughly satisfying performance, viewed solely from a musical standpoint.

Royal Entertainers at Chautauqua

Glenn Wells Company Present Splendid Musical and Dramatic Sketches

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wells have established such an enviable reputation as entertainers that the announcement of their coming on the fifth day of Chautauqua has occasioned much interest. Their program consists of songs and stories, impersonations, humorous and dramatic sketches, pianologues, etc., in wide variety, and their long experience enables them to present their work in peculiarly attractive manner. Both Mr. and Mrs. Wells are splendid singers and players, capable of presenting an exclusive musical program, and before their marriage some six years ago had extended experience with such organizations as The Schuberts, The Victorian Serenaders, Pilgrim Girls and Avon Sketch Club.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Rickety, Rackety, Rus,
It's wicked to swear or to cuss,
But damn it to hell
We're feeling so well,
That really and truly we must.

Last week's war news would make any person feel good except Kaiser Bill, the Mad Emperor, the Big Swank Pot, the Royal Sausage Eater, and his nation of Cut-Throats. It was reported in Elko this week that a company of the gallant 54th from Crow's Nest Pass, had captured "The Missing Link," known in Germany as the Crown Prince. If the news is true brief life will be his portion and his tombstone will read as follows:

Here lies a Royal Nut,
He got his final Slam,
You Germans may be sorry—but
We Allies don't care a—bit.
—Jim Thistlebeak.

C. F. Jackson and A. L. Freebairn, two of Pincher Creek's popular merchants, visited Elko this week and left for the Windermere valley.

Jim Thistlebeak says that you can't always judge a woman's character by her sealskin.

Bill Gorrie, boss range rider for the Clydebank Stock Ranch, Roosville Valley, was in Elko this week with a smile the width of a pack saddle.

Fred Roo,Jr., writing to his mother from overseas, says in one part of his letter:

Your troubles, mother, pack and grin,
And tell the folks we're out to win,
And when we are upon the spree
Oh how sad them Huns will be.

Fishing was never better in the streams surrounding the Old Historic burg of Elko than at present and we have had to get in another car load of fishing tackle to supply the demand; also a consignment of tickle-em-salts for amateurs which is selling fast. Jim Thistlebeak says that when the fish refuse to take the flies, you just sprinkle a little of the salt on the water and when the fish come up to sneeze just lasso them or use the dip net.

Jim Thistlebeak says that it sure pays to advertise. Even the bread he cast upon the waters a few days ago returned before it had really time to get soaked through.

Mrs. Ray Hirtz, Dreghorn Villa, Riverside Park, is visiting friends in Cranbrook, Wycliffe and the Windermere Valley this week.

John E. Brooks, of the United States Customs Dept., Gateway, Montana, was in Elko this week visiting Fred Roo.

If the weather remains as it is there will be no change. We are getting now what we should have had two months ago and this wet weather is making it bad for the farmers who are putting up feed. Jim Thistlebeak says water is great stuff for bathing in.

He was in one of the hospitals along the Crow's Nest Pass and was just getting over a long siege of typhoid fever and was only allowed to eat a mere teaspoonful of tapioco and he more than pleaded with the nurse for more food but she refused. So he pleaded with her and said he would like to read a little and would she like to read little, would she mind bringing him a postage stamp.

The C.P.R. can boost Banff, Field, Glacier, Emerald Lake Chalet and Chateau Lake Louise all they want, but they are not the only picturesque spots in B.C. We have some awful big chunks of scenery around Elko, if you ask Fred Roo.

Don't be a pessimist; it shows you have mental indigestion. If some of the great daily papers had to pay for half the war dope they publish we don't wonder there are no millionaire editors.

The list of visiting travellers, salesmen, train jumpers and road hogs will appear next week. Decorate your centre table with a copy.

RECKLESS CRITICISM

A member of the Alberta parliament flays the Union government for handing us over "bound hand and foot to protection," and having "the impudence to assent to Hindoo immigration to Canada," and calmly concludes with the finding that Sir Robert Borden is selling out the country in exchange for a peerage.

It is unfortunate that enthusiasts with such a fine command of figurative language do not get the fects before they make their eloquent criticism. The Union government has not handed us over bound hand and foot to protection. It has done nothing with the tariff but remove the duties upon farm tractors which is not regarded as a high tariff move.

The Union government has not had the impudence to assent to Hindoo immigration. On the contrary, through the influence of the members of the Canadian government attending the Imperial conference, the Imperial rule was laid down firmly and definitely that every Dominion had complete control over its own immigration. India has surrendered every claim to admission for the Hindoo into the other Dominions of the Empire. That is hardly agreeing to the Hindoo immigration.

The Union government is open to certain criticism but it has earned the right of being criticized upon facts rather than upon the perverted fancies of critics who are lying in wait on the trail with their weapons all ready.—Albertan.

Couldn't Fool Pat.

Patrick, lately over, was working in the yards of a railroad. One day he happened to be in the yard office when the force was out. The telephone bell rang noisily for some time before Pat came to the conclusion that it ought to be answered. He approached the instrument cautiously and slowly put the transmitter to his mouth as he had seen the boss often do. "Hello there," he said.

"Hello," answered someone at a distant place. "Is that eight—six—four—eight?"

"Aw, g'wan," Patrick replied. "Phatd'ye think Oi am—a box car?"

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Kaffir Boys Close Chautauqua

Unusual Attraction Has Attracted Widest Attention in England and the United States

To Chautauqua direct from the darkest of the interior jungles of Africa, resplendent in the glamorous trappings of native regalia, come Balmer's Wonderful Singing Kaffir Boys. These ebony-hued youngsters, with their sparkling eyes, shiny teeth and beaming faces, are marvelous singers, famous the world over for the remarkable richness and clarity of their voices. Besides singing, the Kaffir Boy choir give native dances and ceremonies. They sing songs in native and English tongue. The most unique of all Chautauqua offerings, the Kaffirs at Chautauqua, New York, divided honors with ex-President Roosevelt in drawing the greatest audiences of the season. Their appearance on the closing night of Chautauqua will be the biggest event of the week.

MINERS TO GET AN INCREASE

The coal miners in District 18 will receive another increase of 25 cents per day, which will date from August 1, as the result of the report of the commission which was appointed last year to investigate the cost of living. This will be the third increase the miners have received since the appointment of the commission, owing to the increased cost of living.

The commission, which is composed of W. F. McNeill, representing the coal operators; Frank Wheatley, representing the miners of District 18, and F. E. Harrison, representing the department of labor, bases its recommendation for the increase on the sworn statements of the cost of certain necessaries and staple commodities, as well as the increase in rentals, fuel, and light.

The commission held sittings at Calgary, Lethbridge, Blairmore, Edmonton, and Drumheller in Alberta, as well as in Fernie, B.C. Prices of commodities were also taken at Nordegg, Mountain Park, Canmore, Bankhead, Coleman, Hillcrest, Pocahontas and Brule.

The last previous increase was given April 1 and the comparison of costs of various commodities on that date and on August 1 are given below, the amounts being based on the cost of supporting a family of five.

Commodity	April 1	Aug. 1

OBITUARY

Fernie was shocked yesterday morning when a wire was received stating that W. G. Barclay had died on Wednesday. Mr. Barclay, who was heavily interested in the Crow's Nest Trading Co. and the A. Macdonald Co., left Fernie on Friday morning apparently in the best of health. Shortly after lunch he was taken ill and when the train arrived at Vancouver he was rushed to the general hospital, where he was operated on for appendicitis. He appeared to be recovering rapidly from the operation, but on Tuesday blood poisoning set in and he died Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Barclay was a prominent citizen of Fernie for nearly ten years, and arrived in this country about 24 years ago, when he took a position with A. Macdonald, of Winnipeg, and has been constantly identified with the gentleman's interests ever since. He came to Fernie in 1905 and purchased the Crow's Nest Trading Co. business from Rennie & Bricker for the firm. During his residence here he took a deep interest in the welfare of the city, being twice elected to the board of aldermen. Four years ago he moved with his family to Vancouver. Deceased leaves a wife (nee Miss Jean Strachan, formerly of Fernie,) and two children to mourn his death.

Mr. Barclay is reported to have been quite wealthy, carrying in life insurance alone about $75,000.

THEY ALL SAT ON ALD. BILL

The regular council meeting opened shortly after eight o'clock last evening at the conclusion of a meeting of the Labor Day sports committee. His Worship and six aldermen were all present. After the adoption of the minutes of the former meeting this month, Harry Martin as chief spokesman of a delegation, addressed the council, vigorously protesting against the action of the council in permitting the Chautauqua to hold their performances here at the ridiculously low license fee charged. Mr. Martin contended it was very discouraging to the local theatres and particularly so to the Grand theatre, which had been constructed entirely by the miners on whom the city itself was dependent for its very existence and prosperity. He said for a very long standing period there had been a grave misunderstanding between the business people and citizens in general and the miners; there was apparently a wide division between them and this condition he, as representing the mine workers, was one who was extremely desirous of removing. The miners wanted to get along harmoniously with the business people and citizens and by their united effort he felt sure this city could be made a much more attractive place to live in and more satisfactory to all concerned. By the action of the council and the local Chautauqua committee the miners felt it was a direct slap at them; if these people would give the miners the voluntary assistance they had for this "travelling road show outfit" he would guarantee that the miners would bring in entertainments to the Grand theatre which were just as educational and just as good forms of amusement as the Chautauqua. He went at considerable length into the history of the struggle the miners had in operating the Grand theatre, which even yet was being operated at a considerable loss.

His Worship in reply to Mr. Martin pointed out to him that the council in its decision to rescind the former motion charging the Chautauqua at the rate of $20 per day, had been guided solely by the bylaw, which upon closer scrutiny had revealed the fact that it was not possible for the council to charge that rate for the class of amusement. He said Mr. Martin and other members of the deputation must agree that the council could only be guided by the bylaws enacted. Regarding the selling of tickets for the Grand theatre and doing the same work as he had done in assisting the Chautauqua committee, the Mayor said he personally was willing and would gladly do the same for the Grand theatre.

Mr. Martin then resumed and urgently requested that the bylaw be so amended as to protect the local enterprises. He said that was the primary reason why the committee desired to air their grievance before the council, because unless the bylaw was amended they could not prohibit any other shows coming in the same manner. It was up to the council, if they sincerely desired to co-operate with the miners, to so amend the bylaw as to demonstrate their desire to assist. Ald. Jackson also informed the delegation that much to his disgust it had been the bylaw that had defeated the purpose of those desirous of enforcing a stiff license upon the Chautauqua, and then went into a denunciation of those on the council last year who had utterly disregarded even the bylaw by allowing them to come in without payment of any license. This year, however, they had regarded the bylaw, to which statement Mr. Martin remarked that even this year the regulations had been broken by allowing a tent to be erected within the city fire limits. W. Dickenson also made a lengthy address in support of the Grand Theatre.

Sherwood Herchmer, who had been present during the foregoing discussion, thereupon addressed the meeting as a member of the Chautauqua committee and one of the guarantors and agreed with both Mr. Martin and Mr. Dickenson that the miners and the citizens of the town on many occasions had not pulled together for the benefit of the town. He was willing to do everything possible to bring it about whereby they could work in accord for the mutual benefit of all. He was willing as chairman of the Chautauqua committee to use his influence in every possible way to have the Chautauqua utilize the Grand theatre. He would have been insistent upon this this year had it been possible for the Grand theatre to accomodate the number of admissions which the committee's guarantee with the Chautauqua required, but it could not. The demand was accommodation for eight hundred at each performance, which the theatre could not possibly accommodate. Those present were informed that there was already booked for the Grand theatre three shows which are being operated under the Ellison-White management which also operates the Chautauqua circuit in this district, and the members of the delegation desired to know if they would be given somewhat similar support for these that had been tendered the recent entertainment. Mr. Herchmer volunteered to give every assistance he could and stated if the Grand theatre management would like to meet the Chautauqua committee any time he would be pleased to make the necessary arrangements and by that means they could formulate a method of co-operation which would be beneficial to the theatre.

Mr. Clark, Mr. Brindley and others continued the discussion which branched off in different directions. Mr. Brindley desired to know if the city supplied the light and was informed by the city electrician that the account for the light was already rendered and in the hands of the committee; the amount was $7.00. Ald. Jackson then jumped in with both feet as to whether a deposit had been put up and the city electrician told him the account had been guaranteed. This did not satisfy Ald. Jackson. He wanted to know why the deposit as required had not actually been put up. The city electrician told him it had been put up but not until he had connected the lights; before this, however, he had received a guarantee which was satisfactory to him (the electrician) and if not met he would have paid the amount himself. Ald. Bill nevertheless was sore and continued in a rather abusive manner, which caused His Worship to intervene and inform Ald. Jackson the deposit had been made, and for Ald. Bill's benefit asked the city clerk the amount of light arrears which was owing by Alf. Dragon, whom Ald. Jackson had so staunchly defended when application for electric power had been made by Dragon. He was informed the amount due was $70. This marked the initial hub-bub and for a short time it was so lively it was incoherent. Ald. Jackson repudiated re-

REV. HINDLEY TALKS ON WAR

Rev. W. J. Hindley, ex-Mayor of Spokane and well known in Fernie, after spending four months in Canada on a Chautauqua tour, gave an address in the above city before the Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday of this week on "Canada in the War." He said:

Canada has exceeded her original promise of 500,000 men. Today she has given 540,000 men to the cause and now is busy raising a force of 30,000 men for the flying corps. Within 30 days Canada's total contribution in men will be over 600,000. Already 50,000 Canadians have been killed at the front; 130,000 have been wounded; 3000 are prisoners of war and 500 are reported missing. Of the wounded 80,000 have been returned to Canada, incapacitated for further service.

These fellows, many with arms and legs gone, some blinded, are in hospitals and reconstruction schools and it is not uncommon to see groups of eight or ten on the streets all on cruthches or otherwise maimed. Their presence on the streets keeps ever before the Canadian people the tragic meaning of war. They are determined that no returned soldier shall ever be supported by public charity or at the whim of private benevolence.

You here must prepare to face this problem of the returned soldier. He wants a chance to be independent, to look the world in the face and be self-supporting. He should never be in an institution if he can support himself. He must be taught new trades to make him a contributor instead of a parasite. Pensions are not enough. The old system of giving him free land will not do. Canada is working out a new land policy involving national credits, and the soldier who gets land must live on it and not gamble it away in the first saloon.

Many of these men enlisted because they were out of work. How far is that condition to be duplicated when they return? Many of their jobs are filled with girls and there will always be some employers so black-hearted that they will exploit these girls at the expense of the men.

In times of war we must prepare

WEEK OF GOOD ENTERTAINMENT

The Chautauqua closed a week of pleasant and profitable entertainment for the people of this city on Wednesday evening. While the consensus of opinion seems to be that the general program was not quite up to that of last year, nevertheless everybody seemed well pleased and the management had little trouble in securing over fifty signatures for next year's guarantee, notwithstanding the fact that it had been raised $150 over this year.

The feature of the week's program was the lecture by Edward F. Trefz, a member of the United States Food Commission, who spoke on Friday evening.

Mr. Trefz explained why the United States had not entered into the war at the time of its inception. He said that all the treaties of the United States had been of a commercial nature. She had no political treaties. Not being a party to the Hague treaty she had not considered she was concerned in the European struggle. It had been necessary for Britain to enter the war upon violation by Germany of Belgian neutrality. Later the atrocities of the Germans and the submarine warfare, which was an attempt to cripple the commerce of the world, had given the war a different light and had caused the United States to enter into the struggle for the freedom of the world.

He gave figures regarding foreign population in the United States. There were 4,500,000 Germans in the republic. The United States had been slow in getting started especially as she had had no ships. Before the war as the interior resources of the country had been developed the people lost interest in maritime activities. The naval laws and taxes had discouraged commerce on the seas as far as ships flying the United States flag were concerned. In keeping an army at the front it meant 100 pounds of material every day for each man. If it had not been for the cooperation and generosity of Britain in transporting men and lending ships, the United States could not have accomplished anything like what she had today. Fortunately the Germans had left 107 ships in American harbors at the outbreak of the war. These were now all being used for transporting men and supplies.

In speaking of the war plan of the United States Mr. Trefz said that the United States had floated the largest war loan known to history. Without having a man at the front she had passed conscription and there had not been a complaint from one of the 117,000,000 of her population. This was brought about by the fact that the United States believed in democracy. Any country worth living in was worth fighting for and that was how he could now say that there were 1,500,000 American soldiers overseas today and others going at the rate of 75,000 every week. The United States government had anticipated the cost both in money and sorrow. They realized that there had not been a tear shed in Canada which would not be duplicated in the United States. The United States would not receive one dollar's worth of compensation nor an acre of land from the war. She was in it only to make the world a decent place in which to live.

He said that Germany as a propagandist nation was the greatest in the world. Germany had spent $500,000 in a month in spreading propaganda; more than the allies would spend in a year. Her propaganda was spread by political, religious and social means.

In speaking of what had been accomplished in this war by the United States, Mr. Trefz said that the airplane scare which had been made public was just a little camouflage for Germany. In France today there were 10,000 aviators with more than sufficient equipment and mechanics to keep them going.

He gave a graphic description of how the airplane plan had been set back by German propaganda. It was found that the only oil which would stand the heat and give the proper service was castor oil. Because the United States tried to spend its money with the allies and to the allies' advantage she had procured 90,000 tons of castor beans from India. These were planted in North and South Carolina and when the government was looking forward to a large supply of castor oil they were informed that the farmers were plowing up their crops. Propaganda had been spread from an interment camp to the effect that a crop of castor beans

Why Harry Wilkes did not study for the ministry.

If Fernie hasn't more jay walkers to the square inch than any town in Canada.

If the privilege extended to the Fernie Motor Car Co. to use the sidewalk in front of their premises during the repairing of the road in that locality, extended to the public to make the sidewalk on that block a general car drive.

If the business men took as much interest in the Board of Trade and the City Council as they do in Chautauqua if Fernie wouldn't be a real live town.

If the city engineer thinks he can suppress Ald. Jackson by mere brute force.

If there is one man in a hundred who actually knows what a legal fence is. Archie Farquharson can tell them.

Why some people are all the time kicking. Some miners object to the government's budget for a family of five. Fair Wage Officer Harrison says the actual average in District 18 is three. Why not settle the matter by taking a census?

If a little gravel on Pellatt avenue would not be a lot better than some of that mud which the city is trying to roll into a solid lump.

Why a man will go to sleep on duty. Eternal vigilance is said to be the price of liberty, but in this case it also had a good deal to do with the case of John Barleycorn One night recently a certain man who has a large cache of booze in Fernie discovered that someone had got away with two cases of the liquor. He therefor decided that he would watch the following night and capture the theives. Soon after dark he took up his guard duty but the night was cold and chill and from time to time he would fortify himself for the occasion until at length he fell asleep. When he awoke he discovered to his chagrin that twelve more cases had disappeared while he slept.

John Ross, charged with participation in the recent Toronto riots told the magistrate that women had been the cause of his downfall and explained that the stones found in his pocket were given to him by women. The excuse had at least the merit of antiquity.

THE LATEST WAR NEWS

France, Aug. 22.—Mangin's army has advanced with great repidity. Up to noon it had advanced ten kilometres from yesterday's line in certain places. The Germans have been harrassed in their retirement. Confusion reigns among their units.

Paris, Aug. 22.—Numerous villages running northwest of Soissons have been taken by the French, whose drive along the whole front continues, according to the war office announcement tonight. The most important of the places captured is Pommiers.

Paris, Aug. 22.—French troops have captured over 15,000 prisoners in two days. They captured in Albert over 1400 prisoners and a few guns.

France, Aug. 22.—On the ground between the two points where the British armies are hammering them and where they are threatened with being left in a pocket the Germans seem to have started retreating.

London, Aug. 22.—The town of Albert, 18 miles north east of Amiens on the Ancre river has been captured by the British, who also have obtained all their objectives in the fighting today between Braysur, Somme and Albert. Over a six mile front the British advanced two miles.

Paris, Aug. 22.—French troops have occupied Staubin, Selena, Bagneux, Epagny, Bieuxy, Vauxrezis and Pommiers. The material abandoned by the enemy between the Aisne and the Oise is considerable. More than two hundred cannon have been counted since Aug. 20.

London, Aug. 22.—Desperate resistance has been offered to the advance of the British in the sector immediately south of Arras where the important railroad town of Baumpe seems to be the immediate objective. Achiet le Grande changed hands many times but the vantage belonged to the British at last accounts.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Absence of any report of activity today on the part of the raider Triumph, the converted steam trawler armed by sixteen members of a German U boat crew, has strengthened the belief held in naval circles that the vessel is no longer on the North Atlantic fishing grounds.

BOLSHEVISM IN ALBERTA MINES

The Calgary Herald is publishing reports of Bolshevist plots which contemplate interference in the mining industry of Drumheller and the Albertan, though careful to point out that there has been no confirmation of the reports of the Herald's correspondent, declares that if there is any place in Canada where Bolshevism might be expected to find a foothold, that place is Drumheller. Here is the picture of conditions at Drumheller as painted by the Albertan:

"Almost every condition conducive to unrest is to be found there. The conditions of labor are such that the population is largely transient; the town is new and the housing is in describably bad; the community is poorly organized and there is an absence of any feeling of civic pride; the laws are loosely enforced and the liquor laws are not enforced at all; it is known as the freest centre of illicit liquor traffic in Western Canada; it is the mecca of bootleggers, thugs and drug fiends from all parts of the country, and there is little or no attempt either to restrain crime or to construct good social organization. A large part of the mining population is foreign, and the condition of the public mind at present is such that there is neither sympathy for nor understanding of these people. Almost every public policy in the last twelve months has tended to alienate, exasperate and rouse the foreign population. They have been disfranchised, suspected, and in some instances exploited; almost everything which could be done to alienate them has been done.

"The mining population of Drumheller is about 30 per cent British and 70 per cent foreign. Over 35 per cent is Italian, between 15 and 20 per cent is Austrian, and the remainder includes Russian, Greek, Serb, Swede, negro, etc. Dangerous enemy elements are not likely to have the upper hand in such a population, but the soil is such that seeds of trouble, once planted might thrive prodigously."

The firm hand of authority is required, says the Albertan not only for the suppression of inflamatory enemy propaganda, but for the enforcement of ordinary law and order. It observes that the mine operators realize some of the immediate dangers, as evidenced by plans they are now making for the improvement of housing conditions and the provision of educational facilities. The Albertan, however, holds that the provincial Government also should act and calls upon it, not only for the better enforcement of law but also for the establishment in the district of a well-equipped hospital and the adoption of a suitable programme having regard to the health of the workers.

A reading of recent British Columbia newspapers indicates that everyone concerned in the recent trouble which followed the declaration of a twenty-four hour strike ordered as a protest against the shooting of Albert Goodwin, a draft evader and labor leader, has agreed that the incident should be forgoten. The action of those who ordered the strike was indefensible. Goodwin was a man subject to call under the Military Service Act who sought to evade service. The circumstances of his death at the hands of an officer of the law are being investigated by the courts. The Victoria times very properly argues that the labor organizations had no right thus to pre-judge the case or, if they did pre-judge it, to inflict punishment upon the general public by paralyzing and stopping industries. "And," to quote further from this paper, "if their action was not one of pre- judgement, then the authorities were confronted with an organized effort to prevent the enforcement of the Military Service Act in the case of everybody marked out for favored treatment by those responsible for the strike." Strangely incongruous, in the view of the Vancouver Province, was this call upon the organized workers, who have sent many of their best to fight in the cause of right in France and Flanders, to pay such signal honor to one who was killed with a rifle in his hand offering resistance to the law of this country.

The participation of the returned soldiers in the demonstrations which followed the strike is to be distinguished from the riots in which returned men were recently concerned at Toronto, when their actions, for which no defence could be made, were sternly rebuked by the Great War Veterans' Association. The circumstances in Vancouver were peculiarly provocative and the impulse which brought the returned men into conflict with the striking workers was a natural one and their demand for the exile of the leaders responsible readily understood.

An interesting feature of the dispute, which caused a profound stir throughout the Province, was the action taken by the Quakers who through their society, The Friends' Association of British Columbia, addressed conciliatory appeals both to the War Veterans and the Labor organizations, expressing the hope "that all concerned will come together in a spirit of mutual good-will and a determination to settle their differences in a friendly manner and in the in-Friendly criticism of the Trades and Labor Council was offered to whom constitutional methods of protest, other than those of the strike, were suggested and, while appreciation of the patriotic motives of the returned soldiers was expressed, it was suggested that "they took upon themselves a duty which was not theirs when they pronounced sentence of exile, without trial, on certain labor leaders."

Almost immediately upon the declaration of the strike, it became clear that this action was not generally approved in Labor circles. The strike was not general, many of those who responded to the call returned to work within a few hours and others might have followed their example if the action of the returned men, though excusable and well-intentioned, had not stirred up the spirit of resistance to coercive action. However, the incident is now apparently closed and, as the Vancouver World suggests: "A little tact, sympathy and understanding should prevent a recurrence" of this regrettable outbreak. The World is doubtless also right when it says that "Organized labor must be allowed to reorganize its domestic affairs in its own fashion" and that it may be relied upon to do this in a way acceptable to public sentiment.

SUGAR CONSERVATION IMPERATIVE

The Canada Food Board has asked private householders of Canada still further to restrict their consumption of sugar for personal use to one and one-half pounds per month per person and to use a greater proportion of brown sugar. The board also warns against hoarding, as unfair, unnecessary and contrary to the law.

The Cuban crop of sugar has fallen short by 300,000 tons of the previous estimates. The American sugar beet crop has also proved disappointing as has the Louisiana cane crop. The recent German drive was a further cause of sugar shortage as a large beet acreage was overrun and many sugar factories destroyed. Thousands of tons of sugar have been sunk by submarines, including a 13,000 ton cargo recently lost off the Atlantic coast. Conservation of sugar is imperative. There is sugar in Canada for everybody in moderation but none for extravagant use, for wasteful use or for illegal hoarding.

THE MAIN OBJECTIVE

"Cheap food Today, if it means less food or no food Tomorrow is a fool's benefaction. The stabilization of food prices is, in the long run, infinitely more important than any theatrical price reduction." Sir William Goode, Liaison Officer for the British Ministry of Food with the U. S. Food Administration and the Canada Food Board.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENT

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions, with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained on these claims in less than 5 years, with improvements of $10 per acre, including 5 acres cleared, and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years.

Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes, areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

TOWNSITE PROPERTY ALLOTMENT ACT.

Provision is made for the grant to persons holding uncompleted Agreements to Purchase from the Crown of such proportion of the land, if divisible, as the payments already made will cover in proportion to the sale price of the whole parcel. Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchaser from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjurtment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

PROCLAMATION

GEORGE the FIFTH, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, KING, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these presents shall come or whom the same may in any wise concern,—GREETING :

A Proclamation of conditional amnesty respecting men belonging to Class 1 under the Military Service Act, 1917, who have disobeyed our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, or their orders to report for duty, or are deserters or absent without leave from the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

E. L. NEWCOMBE,
Deputy Minister of Justice, Canada.

WHEREAS considerable numbers of men belonging to Class I under our Military Service Act, 1917, called out on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Force for the defence of Canada under Our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, although they have thus become by law soldiers enlisted in the Military Service of Canada,

Have failed to report for duty as lawfully required of them under the said Military Service Act and the regulations thereunder, including the Order in Council duly passed on April 20 last,

Or have deserted.

Or absented themselves without leave from our Canadian Expeditionary Force,

And it is represented that the very serious and unfortunate situation in which these men find themselves is due in many cases to the fact that, notwithstanding the information and warning contained in Our Proclamation aforesaid, they have misunderstood their duty or obligation, or have been misled by the advice of ill-disposed, disloyal or seditious persons.

AND WHEREAS we desire, if possible, to avoid the infliction of the heavy penalties which the law imposes for the offences of which these soldiers have thus been guilty, and to afford them an opportunity within a limited time to report and make their services available in Our Canadian Expeditionary Force as is by law their bounden duty, and as is necessary for the defence of Our Dominion of Canada.

NOW KNOW YE that we in the exercise of Our powers, and of Our good will and pleasure in that behalf, do hereby proclaim and declare and cause to be published and made known THAT THE PENALTIES OF THE LAW WILL NOT BE IMPOSED OR EXACTED as against the men who belong to Class 1 under Our Military Service Act, 1917, and who have disobeyed Our Proclamation aforesaid ; or who have received notice from any of Our registrars or deputy registrars to report for duty on a day now past and have failed so to report ; or who, having reported and obtained leave of absence, have failed to report at the expiry of their leave, or have become deserters from Our Expeditionary Force, PROVIDED THEY REPORT FOR DUTY ON OR BEFORE THE TWENTY FOURTH DAY OF AUGUST 1918.

AND WE DO HEREBY STRICTLY WARN AND SOLEMNLY IMPRESS UPON ALL SUCH MEN, and as well those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist them in their disobedience, that, if they persist in their failure to report, absence or desertion until the expiry of the last mentioned day, they will be pursued and punished with all the rigour and severity of the law, SUBJECT TO THE JUDGMENT OF OUR COURTS MARTIAL WHICH WILL BE CONVENED TO TRY SUCH CASES or other competent tribunals: and also that those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist such men will be held strictly accountable as offenders and subject to the pains, penalties and forfeitures in that behalf by law provided for their said offence.

Provided however that nothing contained in this Our Proclamation is intended to release the men aforesaid from their obligation to report for duty as soon as possible or to grant them immunity from arrest or detention in the meantime for the purpose of compelling them to perform their military duty; Our intention being merely to forego or remit the penalties heretofore incurred for failure to report, absence without leave or desertion incurred by those men of the description aforesaid who shall be in the proper discharge of their military duties on or before the said twenty-fourth day of August, 1918.

Of all of which Our loving subjects and all others whom these presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. Witness: Our Right Trusty and Right Entirely Beloved Cousin and Counsellor, Victor Christian William, Duke of Devonshire, Marquess of Hartington, Earl of Devonshire, Earl of Burlington, Baron Cavendish of Hardwicke, Baron Cavendish of Keighley, Knight of Our Most Noble Order of the Garter; One of Our Most Honourable Privy Council; Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George; Knight Grand Cross of Our Royal Victorian Order; Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Our Dominion of Canada.

At Our Government House, in Our City of OTTAWA, this FIRST day of AUGUST, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, and in the ninth year of Our Reign

By Command,

Thomas Mulvey

would exhaust the soil and make stilile land. The plowing up of the crop had cost the government $91,000,000. However, the farmers had been informed that they had been fooled by German propaganda and the crops were replanted.

That sugar from the United States was being used for the manufacture of beer in Great Britain was nothing but German propaganda. There was not an ounce of sugar used in Britain for the manufacture of beer. It was made from other ingredients. The Germans had sent a photograph of a certificate for the delivery of a shipload of sugar from Liverpool to English breweries. In faking the certificate the Germans had overlooked the serial number and it was traced to the files, where it was found that the correct date of the certificate was 1912 and not 1917. Also the man who had signed the certificate had been dead for three years.

Other German propaganda spread was to the effect that Britain had got the United States into the war as she had induced Belgium, France and the other allies. This had been the most serious propaganda the authorities had to face. American textbooks taught the children that Britain was the hereditary foe of the United States. This had been disproved during the war with Spain when it was found that Britain, by the action of her fleet in Manila Bay, had proved that she was the real friend of the United States.

Mr. Trefz in a detailed explanation emphasized that Britain had done her utmost and had done remarkable things in the prosecution of the war. She had given her supreme effort. He told of the farm workers in England. How the girls from all walks of life had gone to the fields and he had seen them during his official visit there, with plows and taking care of the sheep and hogs. In 18 months the output of Britain had been increased by 3,500,000 tons through the efforts of these devoted women. Old farmers, who were the best authority, had told him that one of the girls was equal to any two men comparing their work during the war with that done by the men previous to the war. This was accounted for by the fact that before the war the men were working for wages and working during certain hours.

The girls were working for a shilling a day and only because they knew the men at the front could not fight without food. They put all their majesty and faith into the work. They worked with tireless sacrifice.

In England outside of the engineers and firemen there was hardly a man employed on a railway. The guards, conductors, baggage handlers, elevator operators, messengers and nearly all the employees of every department were women.

At Woolwich there were 35,000 of England's beautiful women working faithfully at munitions. Of this number 22,000 had cut off their hair and gone into the explosives department where their complexions had been ruined and their skin turned to a chrome yellow and their beauty spoiled for life. But their faces were bright and they did their duty with a smile because they knew they were working for the boys who were facing death for them.

The W.A.A.C.'s in France were on their knees scrubbing and scraping up every particle of grease that it might be sent to England to make glycerine, while in Canada and the United States the women and others were wasting thousands of tons of it daily.

Mr. Trefz explained that when he and his party went to Europe to study conditions they were put under oath as representatives of United States government, to tell only what they saw. The facts he gave were not heard from Lord Rhonda or Lloyd George or any other person. For days he and his party went from house to house in London and elsewhere, dining in the slums and in the manors, just for the purpose of finding out how the people were economizing and to learn what they had to eat. They had not entered a single home where there was sufficient food. Thousands of school children went to school in the morning without any breakfast. England had been within 24 hours of starvation. He said he could not make that fact public but for the fact that the situation had been relieved. If the climax had been reached the war might have a different outlook today. He stated that the submarine menace had been greatly reduced and that food conditions in England were now greatly improved.

Mr. Trefz said that more poorly dressed women could be seen in England than in any other country. The women realized that there was not sufficient wool. They wore no high heels and the sooner the people of Canada and the United States ceased to wear Louis IV heels and demand many colored shoes the sooner the cost of leather would be lowered. In the United States they were putting a tax on every pair of shoes costing more than $5. Dealers were forced to keep too many different styles.

He spoke of what the British army was doing and emphasized the fact that Britain had men on the seas, on the western front, in Italy, in Mesopotamia, in Egypt and many other places and to add to this was the fact that she was holding the longest line ever known in history. This line never had been broken and never would, he said.

"If the United States with her natural resources does one-half as much as Britain has done in the war it can't last three months," Mr. Trefz said. He spoke of what France had suffered. Of the immense acreage which was so torn up that it would take 30 years of fallowing to renew the fertility. France had had 1,600,000 men killed.

Mr. Trefz told how he had seen British prisoners treated in German prison camps. During peace times he had been in Germany and had admired the clean living of the people. The education and the morality had been the best. The women were motherly and he was eloquent in his praise for them as he saw them before the war. Since the war had started the children were taught to hate their enemies. Atrocity was bred in them at school. The privileges of the female sex had been removed and they had become a menace to civilization. The armies had been encouraged to commit atrocities on noncombatants. Thousands of French children had been killed by traps. While in France he saw children who had lost an arm by using an explosive pencil left by the Germans on the thresholds of destroyed homes during a retreat.

Mr. Frefz appealed to his hearers to keep to the standard set by the boys who had gone to the front. Their reputation was immortal and unless God fashioned another man and made him a demi-god the deeds of the Canadians could never be paralleled in the history of the world. When the Canadian army had arrived in France it had given new spirit to the retreating French and British armies. The Canadians had proved that they could be depended upon when it came to courage, dash and example. He told of the fighting of the first contingent when they had been forced to face, for days, the death cloud of gas. Of their poor equipment and inferior numbers and how they had driven back the Germans in spite of the fact that they were outnumbered 10 to 1. How they had been forced to pile their packs behind them to make the Germans believe they had reinforcements. It was inconceivable how the men had stood against the perfectly equipped German army. He spoke of the charge of the Canadians at Courcelette. He spoke of Vimy and Lens and the work of the Canadians on the pimple in front of Souchez. He vouched the opinion that Von Hindenburg would sooner have Vimy ridge than Paris. He had never offered an offensive there. He had never ordered a barrage to be put over. It was because the men who took Vimy still held it and the Germans were afraid to come over against them. The Canadians had saved civilization no matter what Britain or the United States ever did.

He said that the highest tribute ever paid to a body of soldiers was given when Gen. Haig had told the Canadians that he had never asked them to take a position which they had not taken and he had always found he could rely on them to the utmost. For this reason if for no other, the men who returned should be granted anything they desired from the people of Canada. They should not be asked to take off the uniform and work on the land while their nerves were still unstrung from the excitement of the battle. Men who would wake up at night and jump at the least noise were not in a position to work even for short hours. Men although they looked fairly well were suffering from the effects of gas or shell shock and they should not be expected to go right back into civil life and work hard. It was the duty of Canadians to see that their returned men received the best in the land. The boys who had faced death on the battlefields of France and Flanders would return to make the best citizens a nation could have in spite of what they had been before they went to the war. He said he was deeply interested in what Canada would do for her returned soldiers as there was no doubt but what the United States' policy to her returned men would largely depend on what Canada did.

Mr. Trefz moved his audience to tears with his description of the suffering of men in hospitals. The Red Cross nurses were pictured as walking down between an aisle of white beds. He had seen them in cow stables dressing wounds where gangrene had set in. In the rush it had not been possible to even remove the dead horse. When doctors failed to save the life of a badly wounded boy by the best that was known to science and when it was known that the soldier would die, it was the task of the white robed nurse to give the news. In nearly every case the boys would just smile. They would not hurt the feelings of the nurses. He spoke of the devotion of the nurses and how they would sit for hours with wounded boys. He told of how sobs had been heard in one ward at night. The boy could stand his wounds but he was homesick. He wanted his mother or the company of a woman. The nurse had sat by his bedside all night and watched over him while he slept. Next day the matron discovered that she had punctured herself over and over again with a knitting needle to keep herself awake.

He closed his address with an appeal to the men and women present to conserve food that it may be sent to the boys over there and the civilians in Europe who needed it. They had gone without sugar just on account of the selfishness of the people of Canada and the United States.

ENEMY ALIENS MUST REGISTER

Ottawa, Aug. 16—All enemy aliens over the age of 16 years are now required to register under the alien regulations. Previously the regulations required only aliens of enemy nationalities of military age and having no permanent place of residence in Canada, to register.

Existing alien regulations also require all registered aliens, including certain aliens of enemy nationality who are, nevertheless, well known to be entirely aliens in fact, to report monthly to the chief officer of police. By order-in-council it is now deemed expedient that certain of these friendly aliens, namely, Czechs, or members of the Bohemian nations, who are by race Greeks, Armenians, Assyrians or of other community well known as opposed to Turkish regime, be exempted from this obligation at the discretion of the chief commissioner of police. The new regulations provide also that all ticket agents and conductors of railway or steamship companies, or other officers, shall refuse to sell tickets or give transportation of any alien of enemy nationality who does not produce certificate of parole with notice of permission to travel from one point to another. The officer of police may refuse permission to any enemy alien to depart from any place unless satisfied that he has complied with the law requiring every male person to be regularly engaged in some useful occupation. — Nelson Daily News.

STUFFED CALF'S HEART

If the price of roast beef and veal is high try stuffed calf's heart with vegetables. Wash the heart, remove the veins, arteries and any clotted blood, and stuff with dressing, consisting of one-half cup of flaked hominy, one-quarter cup bread crumbs, two level teaspoons of melted fat, one-eighth teaspoon of salt, cayenne pepper and a few drops of onion juice mixed with one-quarter cup of hot water or stock. Skewer, or sew, dredge with flour and fry slightly in fat, adding to the fat one stalk of celery, four slices of carrots, two slices of turnips, one bit of bay leaf, two cloves one-half teaspoon of pepper corn. Turn occasionally until well browned. Put a bit of fat on the top, add one and one-half cups of hot stock or water and cook in the oven slowly for two hours. Serve with carrots and turnips.

NOTES

About one thousand South Vancouver citizens held a meeting and the majority refused to pay their taxes unless a tax sale was held, and also many of them signed a petition to the government asking that Commissioner Gillespie be recalled.

Boston Monitor: Democracy as a national movement has always had a poor time in the Fatherland. Today the number of Germans who respect anything else but the gospel of force is negligible. Both the leaders of the church and the leaders of socialism, with their former fine phrases anent the brotherhood of man, did not fail to toe the line in 1914 with the militarist and Pan-Germanic leaders of the nation, the moment the opportunity came for German conquest and domination.

Recently two newspapers in British Columbia have felt the heavy hand of Col. Chambers, chief press censor of Canada. One was the Week, published at Victoria, which was closed forthwith for utterances inimical to the prosecution of the war, the printer and editor both being heavily fined. The other was the radical socialist weekly publication at Vancouver, the B. C. Federationist, which promulgated doctrines tending to give comfort to the enemy. In the latter case publication was permitted on a change of editors and an understanding to be good. Evidently a few journalists forget that Canada is at war — but they realize it now.

Years ago most of the railway construction work was done by the Irish. Later the Italians took the lead for a time, but not for long, for the Swedes forged to the front and there remained. Statistics compiled by the Workmen's Compensation Board show that the Swedes are the highest paid laborers in this Province. Their average wage is $4.02 per day, while that of the English, Italian and Austrian is $3.70. Orientals average $2.65 per day. Some of the Swedes and Italians on the Copper Mountain railway construction are making as high as $9 a day. When it comes to piling up wages a good strong Swede on the end of a shovel has many of the members of the skilled and learned professions skinned to a standstill. — Princeton Star.

A CASE OF "NOBODY HOME"

At a trial in Baltimore a youthful physician was summoned as a witness, and naturally in the cross-examination a lawyer seized the occasion to be sarcastic.

"Are you," demanded the lawyer, "entirely familiar with the symptoms of concussion of the brain."

The young physician replied, "Yes, sir; I am."

Then the smart lawyer put a hypothetical case before the doctor in this way.

"If my learned friend, Mr. Reid, and myself should bang our heads together, would we get concussion of the brain?"

SOME LOW PRICED MEATS

Certain parts of the butchered carcasses which provide us with meat are comparatively low in price. These parts have not been generally popular in this country although they are in great demand in Europe and also in the United States. Beef hearts, livers, tripe, ox-tails, sheep's heads, calves' heads, pig's feet and many other parts of the carcasses might well be used more freely in Canada than they are, thus relieving the pressure of the demand upon roasts, steaks and other higher priced cuts. Any good recipe book will tell you how to cook these cheaper meats and make them delicious, tempting dishes.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make this beauty lotion cheaply for your face, neck, arms and hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

sponsibility for Dragon, contending even though he had endeavored to obtain such a concession he had not been successful and therefore the city clerk should have made Dragon pay the deposit. Furthermore he said he wasn't going to stand for responsibilities he was not required to staid, and then he slammed the works and property committee, Aldermen Dicken and Hunter, why their men had pitched the Chautauqua tent and erected the seats. Ald. Dicken replied he did not know any more about the workmen than Ald. Jackson did about the individuals in his department; that he had a foreman on the job who laid out those details and he did not propose to unnecessarily interfere. Ald. Jackson then asked the city engineer if he did supply the labor as stated. The city engineer said he could answer the question and the mayor interjected that if not he could clearly explain. Mr. McCallum stated that the Chautauqua that morning had been stuck for men and at the request of the mayor these men had gone and done the work. "Lies, lies," shrieked Ald. Bill so thunderously that the foundations of the Fairy Creek bridge must have trembled. "There were returned soldiers there and they could not get a job," and he looked directly at the city engineer. The city engineer covered the intervening fifteen foot space in two hops and with his upper extremeties perilously near Ald. Bill's olfactory organ and threatened to remove his peculiarly termed cranium if he meant he was a liar. Here the Mayor called an abrupt halt and ordered Ald. Jackson to immediately cease with the "rough stuff," and Bill did—just like a clam. Order restored His Worship told the delegation again that the council could not possibly act in any other manner than that followed in view of the bylaw and that it rested alone with the council whether same would be amended. Mr. Martin thanked the council on behalf of Gladstone Local for its patience in hearing their appeal and the committee retired.

The regular business was then taken up.

A letter was received from the Water Rights Branch relative to Lizard Creek for power purposes, but as a government engineer had recently visited the city and inspected both Lizard and Fairy Creeks, it was deemed advisable to await the receipt of his report before dealing with the communication.

An invitation for a delegate for the city to attend a convention at the coast relative to the matter of fire protection was filed.

An account for an inmate of one of the Children's Homes increasing the rate from $1.50 to $2.00 per week was received. The account was approved at the amended figure.

The city clerk reported nothing new with regard to placing the Hesketh children in a home.

The Coal Co. advised the council that owing to the recent increase of 25c per day to the miners the price of coal would be advanced as from August 1, but the amount of this increase had not been ascertained as yet.

Ald. Beck directed the attention of the council to the quality of coal that was being supplied to local customers at the present time and in fact for the past year at least. He pointed out from his personal experience the quality was very inferior to what had been obtainable a few years ago. He had also consulted with numerous citizens and they were all dissatisfied with the quality of the fuel. Ald. Rutledge said that this was quite possible as No. 3 mine, from which the best quality of domestic coal was obtained, had been closed for the past year. After some little discussion it was decided that a committee of the council consisting of the Mayor and Ald. Beck interview W. R. Wilson with a view to obtaining a better quality of coal for the local consumers. When this interview takes place the committee will also endeavor to have the company supply the power house on a more liberal basis. At present it is claimed it is a hand to mouth proposition and by supplying enough coal to fill the bins at the power house it would be a saving for the city and render the service more efficient.

Herchmer & Martin informed the council that $200 security for costs in re assessment would have to be put up by the city. The council were also advised that these appeals would not be heard until some time in November.

The medical health officer reported as to vendors of milk within the city, giving the names as requested.

The matter of the expiration of the Telephone Co.'s charter, which will be in November, was briefly considered. The terms of the agreement between the city and the telephone company were given to the council. This matter will also be gone into at length at an early meeting and a decision reached as to whether the contract will be renewed or whether the city will take over and operate it as a municipal owned utility.

The city engineer reported orally regarding street improvements and general work. The Fairy Creek bridge has been repaired and the original construction considerably altered, which it is believed will be more satisfactory. Referring to the Chautauqua incident the city engineer stated that the men had gone to do this work exactly as stated formerly by him, and that it was not only the Chautauqua that sometimes obtained labor from the city but it was continually happening. In this case, as in others, the time these men had been engaged on the outside work had been kept and an account for same sent to the Chautauqua committee, who will pay same. The Mayor verified this and stated he had first inquired whether it would interfere with the city's work and was advised it certainly would not. In fact the foreman had advised that the four men go instead of only two as originally requested. His Worship also took occasion to point out to the council that Ald. Jackson had been made fully aware of the matter on the morning in question by himself and that he knew the men were not being paid by the city to work for individuals or outsiders. The city engineer continued and stated he felt sorry that he had somewhat forgotten himself, but even though he was a city employee he was not obliged to be continually heckled and the object of veiled slurs when there was no justification. This was not the first occasion by any means that he had been made the object of these unjust attacks and while sorry for the incident this evening he objected to that sort of treatment.

Ald. Jackson commenced another bombastic review but was promptly sat upon by Ald. Beck, who seemed to voice the sentiment of the majority when he told Ald. Bill he did not consider it was the duty of the council arguments to no purpose and he for to sit there and listen to his indefinite one was not going to stand for it.

On recommendation from the finance committee the salary of Miss Grundy was increased $5 per month from August 1.

The accounts were then passed and after deciding to protect to the fullest extent the local garages with regard to operating passenger service between the city and the park on Labor Day, the meeting adjourned shortly after 11 o'clock.

REV. HINDLEY SPEAKS ON WAR

for peace. The equipment for vocational training in your high schools here is the finest anywhere to be had. The government automobile training school on Indiana avenue can be used to train wounded returned soldiers for peace work.

Mr. Hindley declared the Spokane clearing house association should launch a movement to have the government at Washington take steps to remove exchange charges against Canadian currency in this country, which, he said, more than anything else hampered friendly relations between the two countries. He also advocated a trade relations trip from Spokane to the Canadian country between Winnipeg and Vancouver to stimulate more cordial relations. He prophesied that the next election in Canada would be on the issue of reciprocity that would eventually eliminate the 49th parallel, commercially at least, and tear down the customs house and free customs officials for productive work.

"There is no question in Canada as to the outcome of the war," continued Mr. Hindley. "As soon as the trained German troops are broken up the allies will go through the rest of the German army as a knife through melted butter. That is the statement of returned Canadian officers. The colonial armies welcome the Americans because their arrival stands for different terms of settlement than France and Great Britain might have agreed to. Peace terms must include the rehabilitation of the shattered nations, the vindication of the stricken cities, and the war must be taken into Germany to make the German people realize what war is. The German leaders must be held answerable."

Mr. Hindley said the recent allied drives resulted in the capture of 100,000 Germans, 1000 guns and 5,000,000 shells. He said it had nerved the allies with new zeal and determination and enlistments in Great Britain were greater now than ever before. He declared Cantigny and Chateau-Thierry, the scenes of American fighting valor, were as dear to the Canadians as Passchendale and Vimy ridge, where the Canadians covered themselves with glory.

450 COAL MINERS STRIKE ON ACCOUNT OF WASH HOUSE

Edmonton, Aug. 21.—Between 400 and 500 miners went on strike at Brule coal mines, controlled by the Canadian Northern, Wednesday evening. The cause of the strike, according to the men, was the poor food being supplied them and the alleged filthy and unsanitary condition of the wash house. The men, it is said, have agreed to resume work as soon as these conditions are remedied.

THE MILITARY Y.M.C.A. AND ITS DETRACTORS

There can be few people who do not now realize that the attack made some time ago on the Canadian military Y.M.C.A. did grave injustice to an organization which, by the kindliness and efficiency of its ministrations to the comfort of Canadians serving overseas, has earned the lasting gratitude of every good Canadian citizen. Among the men in the trenches, who are admittedly the most competent judges, there is no conflict of testimony, as will have been made clear to readers of the Free Press by letters received from these men and published in this paper. So far from giving support to the detractors they have manifestly a spirit of resentment toward such criticism which conveys the finest possible compliment to the work of the Y.M.C.A. and a stern rebuke to those who, whether from deliberate malice or a too great readiness to accept testimony which is inspired by malice, have sought to bring the organization into discredit. Mr. J. F. B. Livesay, the correspondent of the Canadian Press, who has been with the Canadians during the last few weeks and has conversed with the men who had a splendid part in the recent advance, wires that: "They are full of praise for the Y. M. C. A." He quotes one Canadian sergeant as saying: "Tell the people of Canada that they kept some of us on our feet with their hot drinks when we had no sleep or rations for days." Premier Norris also, it is to be noted, declared that during his recent visit to France, he heard nothing from the troops but praise of the work of that institution. In view of the statements made to the effect that the men who go into action receive little benefit from its ministrations, it is to be observed that President Norris says that "The huts are often well up to the front line trenches and before an attack a free ration of food with hot coffee is served out." To this testimony may be added that of the soldier whose letter was produced in the Free Press a few days ago, and who told of the use by the Y.M.C.A. of dugout positions too far advanced within the zone of fire to allow of the erection of huts, and of generous service rendered to the soldiers in these circumstances while bursting shells threatened the lives of the faithful ministrants.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

AN APPRECIATION

The late Senator James Mason eminently combined the two not incompatible vocations of a banker and a soldier, but could he have directed his own destinies, the camp, rather than the counting-house, would have been the scene of his life-long, useful activities. The genius of an apt arithmetician found ready scope in the profession of a banker. But outside the office his pleasures were soldierly: hunting, shooting and horseback riding. And whenever the appeal came for active service he was ever ready to forsake the office chair for the saddle.

When the Great War broke out Brigadier-General James Mason offered his services in any capacity in which they might have been acceptable, and to fit himself for a rigorous medical examination, as well as to harden himself and submit conclusive proof of his physical capacity to "rough it," he undertook a hunting trip in Northern Ontario, undergoing all the hardships of an out-of-door life, and living on the plain fare of a backwoodsman. He was pronounced acceptable by the medical authorities —in prime physical condition for his age. Upon this recommendation he proceeded to exert every influence he could bring to bear to secure a commission and be permitted to enter active hostilities at the front. He received some measure of consolation when he was allowed later to visit France in the Fall of 1916, and became, also, the guest of the commander of the North Sea Fleet.

There was no pretense about the military enthusiasms of the late Senator. In 1859, when a mere lad of 16, he essayed the boyish adventure of running away from home, the lure being the opportunity to serve with the French forces in the campaign against Austria. The solitary volunteer from Toronto reached France and presented himself for service, but was rejected on account of his alien birth, his youth, and inability to speak or understand the French language. The French military authorities treated him very considerately, however, and saw him safely returned to England. In 1866, when a junior clerk with the Toronto Savings Bank, he repeated this exploit. Failing to be called in the draft for service at Ridgeway, as a private in the Queen's Own, he followed his regiment alone, completely outfitted for active service. In 1885, when he had attained a position of great responsibility with the Home Savings and Loan Company, he set aside all considerations of business and volunteered for immediate service in the Northwest Rebellion. The President of the Home Savings and Loan Company, the late Senator Sir Frank Smith, vainly tried to hold him at his post, even going so far as to have the Ottawa authorities remind Captain Jas. Mason that he would be readily excused from the first call if affairs in Toronto should detain him.

He possessed unflinching pluck and stamina. His stoicism when painfully and seriously wounded at Batoche was an inspiration to all about him. He bore illness, pain and bereavement with fortitude. In his last illness he contemplated his approaching end without regret or the least trace of mental confusion. To the last he demanded to be informed of the progress of the Allied campaign and expressed his great satisfaction with the military situation.

He was naturally adapted for the profession of a banker through his genius as a mathematician. He could make the most involved calculations mentally with unfailing accuracy, and quickly reduce any proposed transaction to an exact balance of debit and credit. This faculty manifested itself in a variety of ways. He could judge distances or the heights of structures or estimate the speed of a moving figure or vehicle with approximate accuracy. A date seemed to print itself indelibly on his memory. He delighted in solving intricate problems in mathematics for his friends, and enjoyed working out algebraical problems as some men play solitaire.

Throughout his life James Mason never compromised his soldier's sense of honor. There was never any vacillation in his business dealings. His decisions were always prompt to his duty as he saw it, and no man ever came away from a business negotiation with the late Senator in any an doubt as to what was his mind upon the matter at issue. He could not dissemble.

His outstanding characteristic was a commendable self-esteem that ordered his daily life with exacting probity. Always careful of his personal appearance, he held his health and mental vigor in strictest respect also. He kept himself thoroughly fit and efficient. His hand was so steady, and his sight so keen, that he could write the Lord's Prayer within the circumference of a ten-cent piece, the handwriting being so fine that a person would ordinarily require a magnifying glass to read it.

His was a life of prolonged hard work. Coming to the old Toronto Savings Bank in 1865, then in his 22nd year, he began in a junior position, but was early assigned to responsibilities that required the closest attention and study in one without previous experience. Prior to the re-organization in 1872 he was practically manager, and it was to that position he was officially appointed by the late Senator Sir Frank Smith, when the Home Savings and Loan Company was re-organized out of the Toronto Savings Bank. From 1872 to 1885, James Mason attended closely to business, scarcely indulging himself in a single holiday, but in the latter year he ignored the demands of business and went into the Northwest campaign. From 1885 to 1914 his absence from business was generally in connection with his military associations. Upon his elevation to the Senate he withdrew from business activities to devote himself to his duties in the Upper Chamber, and to voluntter work for the Red Cross.—Home Banker.

ALIEN ENEMY PROBLEM

The British measures for dealing with the alien enemies, while sweeping compared with those which prevailed up to a few weeks ago, do not seem to satisfy public opinion in the Old Land. Proof of this was forthcoming at a monster meeting held in Trafalgar Square, London, recently, which attracted a greater attendance than any similar gathering since the war began, and which adopted the following resolution with loud and prolonged acclamation.

That this mass meeting regards the proposals made by the Home Secretary as futile and useless to deal with the alien enemy, and refuses to accept any such compromise on the part of the authorities.

It demands the immediate internment of all aliens of enemy blood, whether naturalized or unnaturalized, the removal of all such aliens from every government and public office, and calls upon the Government to take whatever steps are necessary to put this resolution into effect.

This resolution shows how the mass of the people in Britain view the alien enemy danger in their midst. In this country our government has never taken the question seriously. Four years ago it gave what might be described as a pledge that if aliens remained peaceable citizens their property and rights would be respected. Whether this only applied to nationals of neutral countries we do not know. In any case when a demand similar to that of the Trafalgar Square meeting was made to our government by returned soldiers, organizations it was refused, and it will be recalled it was pointed out that if a general policy of internment was followed production would be seriously curtailed in Western Canada. It is humiliating to think that we should owe any part of the production necessary to war effort to enemy aliens in our midst, and yet that is one of the curses of the immigration policy which has prevailed in the past. We have invited citizens of every European clime to make their homes in our midst and in a number of ways we have been forced to repent our hospitable intentions. The warning should guide our future immigration policy into better channels and all coming efforts should be confined to selective immigration. We have had our troubles through the enemy alien question and unfortunately they are not over. Perhaps, what is being done in Britain today, through measures which are a step forward, but not sufficiently so to meet public approval, will lead to reflex action in Canada. The pro-German problem here can largely be traced to alien enemies in our midst, and it is one with which the government should grapple.

OLD ROMAN LEGEND

Now that Italy has occupied the Aegean Islands, her press recalls tales of the old Venetian supremacy in those regions, and of the Italian Grand-master of the Knights af St. John who defended Rhodes in her last hopeless struggles against the Turks. On the 29th of May the 459th anniversary of the taking of Constantinople by the Turks, one newspaper unearthed the strange old legend of the mosque of St. Sophia. The tale goes that while the Mohammedan leader rode into the great church where the last Roman emperor had just fallen unknown among his soldiers in their last desperate resistance, an old priest, undeterred by the tumult around and by the fast approaching death, went on quietly saying a mass, and, raising his eyes to a sacred picture above the altar, offered up his life to the Virgin. As the foe swarmed toward him the wall behind the altar opened and, as priest and altar vanished through it, closed again. Above the din of war sounded clear to all, a voice saying: "This wall shall open and priest and altar and Virgin appear, and mass be finished when St. Mark gives a Pope to Rome." The writer points out that Pius X, the present Pope, went direct from St. Mark's to the papal throne, but he does not explain why eight years of his reign have passed without the prophecy being fulfilled.

Italy, poor though she is, will not sell her art treasures. Moralizing over this, a recent traveller through the country writes as follows:

"I have been guilty of the heresy of thinking as I walked through miles of galleries, what a boon to the scant museums of the New World, would be a few canvasses of the more prolific painters, such as Andrea del Sarto, Fra Angelico, or Perugino—no one would dare to suggest parting with a single Botticelli or Leonardo da Vinci. And there are in Florence, rooms full of gorgeous tapestries from the old there is no room to hang them, while in Rome there are countless replicas of marble wounded Amazons, vestals and emperors that would never be missed, while the money they brought might take good water and roads to Abruzzi or Piedmont villages, or even do something to relieve the salt and sugar taxes that weigh so heavily on the poor. Italy's treasures of historic art bring her a large annual tribute from other nations, but sometimes their weight almost seems burdensome to her. "E pur si muove," muttered Galileo in the bitter moment of recantation, and the words may well be used for his country today.

EDITH CAVELL'S SPIRIT GUIDED SPY IN FOX FILM

At Orpheum Wednesday and Thursday, August 28th and 29th.

Although Germany's spy system, as shown in the William Fox Special, "The Spy," is so far-reaching as to cover the entire world, there is no nation on earth which executes such summary sentence on the spies of other countries.

In the case of Edith Cavell, which roused the ire and indignation of every civilized country, the sentence was passed for espionage, in a case which admitted of extreme doubt.

Edith Cavell was an English woman who lived in Belgium. Incited by the horrors which she daily saw practised by the German invaders on the defenseless women and children of the stricken nation, Miss Cavell aided a number of them to escape to England.

For this offense, she was taken prisoner, court-martialed, and executed.

Edith Cavell's name will go down in history as one of the brave women who did their bit to withstand the terror of the Prussian monster.

I. W. W. CONVICTED AS A DISLOYAL ORGANIZATION

On their own admissions and the record the convicted I. W. W. leaders can have slight expectation that the trial. judge will grant their plea for a new trial. Their chief attorney volunteered the admission that Judge Landis' instructions to the jury were "clear, concise and fair," and Haywood, the chief conspirator, admitted that he had thought that the judge's instructions "pointed to acquittal."

A jury of 12 men took only one hour for deliberation after a trial that had run for four months and a half, and unanimously found the 100 defendants guilty of four offenses against the law—violation of the United States espionage act and violation of the criminal code prohibiting interfering with the civil rights of citizens, of the draft law and the conspiracy statute.

In the selection of the jurors the defendants had the benefit of every safeguard which the laws and the practice of the courts have provided after centuries of experience with the jury system. Keen and experienced attorneys for the defense were on constant guard in the selection of the jurors and throughout a trial that is memorable for its length and importance in the history of American jurisprudence. Their organization has long been known to be remarkably adept in the art of finding ways to violate the spirit of the law while avoiding the appearance of sufficient violation to convince all the 12 members of a jury, and the fact that it had the financial and legal resources to prolong the Chicago trial for nearly five defensive artifice was employed to months is conclusive proof that every get the defendants out of the leashes of the law.

These disloyal men stand convicted, and with them their organization. A just verdict has been rendered.

WONDERFUL STUFF! LIFT OUT YOUR CORNS

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers— no pain.

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This drug freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. If your druggist don't have freezone have him order it for you.

NEVADA GOLD MINERS MEET

The American gold conference concluded a three days' session at Reno, Nevada, on Aug. 15. After declaring that the many mines have been forced to cease operations because of increased cost of operation in the last six months, many others are now running at a loss and are about to be closed down or abandoned, and that a large portion of the gold mining industry is now threatened with extinction, the conference adopted a resolution requesting:

"Relief by the United States to the gold producers of this country to correspond with the increased cost of production, the extent of such relief to be fixed from time to time to meet changing conditions.

"That nothing contained in these resolutions, as passed, is to be construed as meaning an intention to alter the amount of gold in the dollar or to place a premium on gold."

A UNIVERSITY AT JERUSALEM

It is at once characteristic of the dispersed Jewish people—always devoted to learning—and significant of their confidence in the future of a new Jewish nation in Palestine, that they are already proceeding with plans for the esablishment of a University in Jerusalem. They have the promise of Great Britain, in which all the nations of the civilized world have acquiesced, that every opportunity will be given them to realize the dream of a restored national home which their most ardent spirits have entertained through centuries of exile. And if, when that assurance was given, there were some who doubted whether they would be found ready to make the effort and sacrifice necessary to the building of a more splendid Zion, that doubt is now denied by the support which the project is receiving from men little accustomed to spend time and money on the realization of impossible dreams. Scarcely had General Allenby's army occupied Jerusalem before an anonymous philanthropist announced from London that he would give a free site for a University, and now the Zionist organization in New York tells of the donation by Mr. Jacob Schiff of $25,000 towards the endowment of the new institution, on land which—to quote the New York Evening Post—"still bears the invader's footprint."

Through mediaeval times and down to our own day it has been regarded by the Jews as a disgrace for any man to be illiterate and when the effort was made to settle Palestine the provision of efficient educational institutions received first attention. Two high schools of good standing were opened, one at Jaffa and the other in Jerusalem; a music school was established at Jaffa and an arts and crafts school near Jerusalem. In addition, there was the agricultural experiment station which, founded under American auspices, has made a reputation for scientific achievement throughout the world. Now these institutions, as they are enabled to resume the work interrupted by the war, in which the people whom they served experienced untold hardship, will be co-ordinated and crowned by a University to which Jewish youths may be expected to go from all parts of the world for the professional training which hitherto they have sought at European centres.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Said Henry Ward Beecher to a hen
You are a wonderful creature,
And the hen just for that
Laid an egg in his hat,
And thus did the Hen Reward
Beecher.

The Senator, I.T. Co.

The Cologne Volts Zeitung, says Von Hindenburg, is not dead yet, but there is one satisfaction, says Jim Thistlebeak, a good many other Huns are and there will be more to follow and he'll be one of them.

Miss Agnes Allen of Nelson, the well known school teacher, who is going to Alberta to teach, stopped off at Elko and motored to Roosville where she will visit with the Roos of Roosville where she used to teach, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Gorman, of Elko, with Doc and Mrs. Campbell of Formost, Alberta, is motoring through the Windermere Valley.

The Citizens of Elko elected another board of School trustees the other week on account of the old board leaving the district. The new board is composed of three of the business men of the town, and the business of the school will be carried out on business lines. The teacher will have the assistance of the new board in every respect, and it will be up to the teacher to deliver the goods and show results. When most of us old bald headed fellows were boys, the schol directors employed a teacher for the school and expected the teacher to run it. The teacher was the high court, the judge and jury. If he or she as the case might be, wanted to peel the cuticle from the refractory kid, the old birch rod was taken down and the peeling commenced. There was no higher court, no talking back or meeting of the directors to wait on the teacher, and when the teacher was employed, she was instructed to run the school and show results or quit, Although a mild and very meek boy at school, I remember some of them teachers and can call them by name today.

So far as mere money goes, Mabel, it may be cheaper for people to have a President than a King, but there are are other important considerations, Mabel, which make a constitutional monarchy like the British, the very best system of rule extant and the most truly democratic.

There are over 20 bank employees from Lethbridge, Alberta, rusticating motoring, inhaling the pure air of Heaven, and pursuing the elusive and gamey trout at Elko, at this writing, not mentioning the others from Calgary, Medicine Hat, Moose Jaw and Regina.

Jim Thistlebeak says, some liars are so interesting that he feels sorry at times because he can't believe them.

There is no law in B. C. that compels you to read these notes, but see what you miss if you don't.

Harry Martin, Secretary of District 18, U. M. W. A., and a delegation of the most sociable miners from Coal Creek we have seen for a long time, were in Elko last week, billing the town and surrounding country with large posters announcing that Fernie would celebrate Labor Day, Sept. 2nd, with the most gigantic, dazzling, bewildering festival ever held in the Crow's Nest Pass. The most alluring aggregation of free attractions ever offered since Kaiser Bill, the mad emperor, lifed the lid off Hell; not one idle minute, excursions on all railroads also steamships sailing on Elk River. Celebrate Labor Day in Fernie, further particulars next week.

Please don't forget that "To the pure in mind, all things are pure". Yes. says Jim Thistlebeak, and also to the lunatic everybody else is crazy.

Conserve all you can and help the Canada Food Board. A Calgary traveller stated in Elko last week that since the Dutch had captured Holland they were grinding tulip bulbs into flour. Jim Thistlebeak says that it must be floral flour, and if it is a success and the Huns hear of it, they might be trying it on saurkraut.

Ray G. Hirtz, Manager Roo's store, Elko, was a Cranbrook visitor, meeting his wife, and both returning to Elko on the evening train.

Harry Gould and family of Fernie, who have been camped on Lodge Pole Creek for the last week, returned to Fernie on Sunday night's train with a well filled basket of rainbow trout Harry is an expert with the rod, and Roo's fishing tackle, and used to supply Paul Kruger with fish in South Africa before the Boer war.

THE REPATRIATION PROBLEM

Many articles have been written and speeches made throughout not only Canada but other countries upon the subject of the repatriation of the armies after the war. Realizing that any theories that may be advanced at this stage would not be based upon essential facts, the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, within whose scope the civilian preparations for absorption of Canada's soldiers after the war will come, has taken steps to ascertain certain details about the problem in order that effective methods of meeting it may be devised.

The National Service Council during its tenure of office took a census of the soldiers with a view to ascertaining their occupations and their future ambitions, especially in reference to any desire they might have to undertake farm production work. This information is on cards, one card being devoted to each soldier. There are 200,000 of these cards and they are in the possession of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment, which is analyzing them with a view to preparing statistical information.

Certain fundamental facts can be obtained from these cards. The Department's statistician will ascertain:

(a) How many men wish to go on the land.

(b) In what province they wish to settle.

(c) How many men can go back to positions which are being held open for them.

(d) How many men have trades or professions.

(e) How many men there are in each trade or profession.

(f) How many wish to go to provinces other than the one from which they enlisted.

(g) How many wish to go to each province.

(h) How many men under the various trade headings wish to go to each province.

(i) How many men have family ties which would appear to prevent them from changing their domicile, if it were found that too many men of one occupation wished to settle in any one locality.

(j) How many men were young and single and, therefore, able to settle in another province if there were better openings for them there.

These are only some of the facts which the cards will yield. Although the most modern statistical analysis machines are being employed at this work many months will be required to analyse and segregate the various classes of information obtained. The benefits, therefore, to those who will have to plan a practical scheme of repatriation will be enormous, for, although there are only 200,000 cards and Canada's enlistment has been well over the half million, it is estimated that the percentage proportions in reference to the 200,000 will apply fairly closely to the entire army.

SPOKANE GOLD CONFERRENCE

Spokane, Wash. Aug. 22 — In responce to the call of the secretary of the United States Treasury for more gold, mining men of northwestern states and the Province of British Columbia will meet at Spokane Gold Conference, Sept. 5th and 6th, to devise ways and means for stimulation of the industry at once. The conference will be international in character so that recommendations may be sent simultaneously to the United States and Canadian governments and thus insure wider effect. Already several leading men of British Columbia have signified their intention of being present and it is expected that both the dominion and provincial governments will be officially represented. The meeting will take place during the Interstate Fair, when it is certain that mining men from many districts in the northwest will be in the city.

While definite arrangements have not yet been concluded by Northwest Mining Association, which is sponsor for the conference, it is expected that Ex-Senator George Turner will act as chairman and that every educational institution in the northwest will be represented. The main questions to be decided are where gold can be produced in the northwest; why it is not being produced there at this time and how the governments could aid production immediately. It is hoped that the opinions from delegates representing important districts in Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Montana and British Columbia, will result in the formation of constructive suggestions to aid the governments of North America in putting into immediate effect some plan or plans for stimulation of production.

It is not proposed at this time to discuss the gold question in its larger aspects, although some phases of the matter cannot well be entirely eliminated from the deliberations of the conference. The Allied governments require gold and it is the patriotic duty of every mining man to respond to that call and do what he can to aid the cause under existing conditions. Suggestions already made, urge construction of automobile roads to promising gold districts; payment of a war bonus by the governments; remission of the excess profits and special war taxes; rebates of 25 per cent upon the government railroad freight rates, which were horizontally raised by that proportion in June last. All these suggestions, with many others dictated by special conditions in different localities, will be discussed at the conference and it is confidently expected that the result will be beneficial to the gold mining industry of the northwest.

THE INDUSTRIAL PROBLEM

(By John Kyle, A.R.C.A., Provincial Organizer of Technical Education.)

"Our aim for the future should be to increase the production of the factory as well as the fishery, farm, forest and mine in order to create an exportable surplus and thus assure to Canada at least a reasonable proportion of the prosperity it has enjoyed in recent years." Brochure, published by the directors of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

The brochure from which the above quotation is taken explains clearly, the present industrial situation in Canada, and tells how war orders have been delaying factories during the past few years; how manufacturing plants have been extended; skill in workmanship improved and production enormously increased. But a time will come, says the writer, when war orders will cease when there may be little use for the plant extensions and numerous workmen may be idle. Moreover the situation will be aggravated by the return of the soldiers from the war. Large sums have been borrowed, both from Britain and the United States, the principal and interest on which, the Canadian people must endeavor to pay in goods. It is true, Canada is liberally endowed with natural resources, but in the production of manufactured goods she will be subjected to the active competition of other manufacturing countries. Canada's aim for the future should be to increase production of the factory as well as of the fishery, farm, forest and mines in order to create an exportable surplus, and thus assure at least a reasonable proportion of the prosperity it has enjoyed in recent years.

This timely brochure goes straight to the root of the matter and states to the Canadian people what is already perfectly realized in Britain, France and the United States of America, that greater and better production than has ever been accomplished heretofore must be the aim of one and all.

Sir Herbert Hambling, one of Britain's financiers, is quoted as saying "All our problems of finance, cost of living, exchange, trade, position and maintenance of a higher standard for the workers—all are to be solved in one way and one way only; by a greater output of goods and a sparing consumption of unnecessary articles. Only by obtaining a great production and shipping as much of it as possible to foreign buyers can we restore our economic position and liquidate our war debts to foreign creditors."

From America comes evidence that she understands that she is in a similar position and with a view to increasing production, the Federal Government has voted seven million, five hundred thousand dollars for technical education. Britain and France have also increased their educational expenditure nearly sixty per cent since the war began. Industrial training and production are partners; the amount produced and the cost of training will be found to have a direct ratio to each other. An example may be seen by comparing Germany with Russia; Germany with limited natural resources, but having excellent schools and a great output; Russia rich in natural resources but having poor schools and a small output. All over the world, and in the different states of America this ratio can be traced.

The Dominion Government of Canada, however, is slow in coming to the assistance of Technical Education and the propaganda is left entirely to the individual provinces. The warning note sounded by the Bank of Commerce, should be brought to the attention of all educational authorities in British Columbia, and every advantage be taken of the assistance offered by the Provincial Government in establishing and furthering that training which makes directly for industrial efficiency and greater production. Let every school board begin such work by establishing manual training and domestic science centres. Such centers make the solving of the night school problem possible. Money is well spent on such training and it will be found that the investment will bring ample returns.

TRY POTATO BREAD

Every household where home-made bread is baked can save wheat flour by an increased use of potatoes in the bread and still have a most appetizing loaf. Save the left-over potatoes from noon dinner, including the water in which they were boiled, unless it happens that you have boiled them with the jackets on. In this case it is better to use fresh water. Mash the potatoes thoroughly while they are still warm and freshly cooked add a small quantity of lukewarm water in which the yeast has been dissolved with the required amount of salt and set aside until next morning, then mix into a stiff dough in the ordinary way. Set aside again to prove, and when light, kneed down at once; then let the dough rise until light and mould into loaves. Put into pans. Let the loaves rise again until light. Bake in a moderate oven.

You can use potatoes up to 50 per cent of the total amount of dough required but when a large proportion of potatoes is used the dough must be very much stiffer accordingly.

There will be a mass meeting of the miners on Sunday to discuss a proposition in connection with the question of the single shift.

There will be a meeting of the Fernie Poultry and Pet Stock Association in Ingram's Hall on Saturday evening, Aug. 24, at 8 p.m. Some rush business which requires attention will be considered.

The new increase of 25c a day in the miners wage scale will raise the price of local coal about 18c a ton. The present price for local delivery is $5.85 and it has not yet been decided whether the price will be fixed at even $6.00 or not.

Clifford Robertson, son of J. W. Robertson, received his call for the air corps on Monday and left on Tuesday for Vancouver. He passed his melical examination at Vancouver a couple of months ago and has been waiting for his call.

The casualty list this week reported Capt. F. M. Whitlaw as killed in action. Capt. Whitlaw was well known in Fernie at the time of the organization of the 225th. When he went overseas he transferred to the C.M.R. His home was at the coast.

George Schupe, fire warden south of Elko, is in town today. George who recently returned from overseas, says that the last man he saw before he left France was our old Government Agent, Geo. Stalker, who was working his head off in a training camp.

The B. C. public works department has issued instructions to make surveys and secure estimates for the protection of the property along the Elk river. When this is accomplished the government will know whether it will be cheaper to improve the river or buy out the property owners in the danger zone.

Saturday, Sept. 7th is Sailors Day. This day has been set by the Navy League of Canada for raising funds to help carry on the work of the League. The local branch have their territory well organized and it is hoped that the public will give generously to the support of the widows and orphans of sailors for whom no aid is provided by the government.

There was a good live meeting of the Labor Day celebration committee last night in the council chamber. All the committee handed in their reports and everything is progressing favorably for a big program on Sept. 2nd. Some changes and improvements were made in the racing schedule. Any of those who have not yet subscribed to the prize fund should do so at once.

A meeting of the Union Sunday School Picnic Committee will be held in Christ Church basement on Tuesday evening next, Aug. 27, at 8 p.m., for the purpose of settling accounts, etc. The committee would be glad if all outstanding accounts could be handed in to A. E. Marcer or some member of the committee before that date. Children who still hold prize cards that they have not reaalized on are asked to do so before next Tuesday. The cards will be accepted as cash at any of the stores in town.

NO FOOD TO WASTE

The fact that the restrictions on the use of bacon and other pork products have been removed for the time being does not mean that food economies are no longer necessary. The facts are that there is not an ounce of food too much in the world and that every man, woman and child is under the sternest necessity of saving whatever he or she can of these foods most needed oversea. Any temporary relaxation of the restrictions, such as in the case of pork, must be construed as notice to the public that extravagance in any food is again endurable.

ONE BORN A MINUTE

A really great expert, even though he be but a crook, extorts a certain amount of admiration. For instance, there is George Graham Rice, ex-convict, and present, or rather near-present, stock broker. He has been arrested for fraud because some miserable piker who had entrusted him with $721, squealed on being flim-flammed.

"Rice" stands for Herzog, that is his true surname. His office expenses aggregated $200,000 a month and his income since his release from jail four years ago, has, so the federal authorities say, been $2,000,000. His chief stock in trade, in addition, of course to his nerve and ability, was a "suckers' list" of 53,000 names.

BOBBY DICKEN IS KILLED

On Tuesday afternoon a runaway accident occurred which resulted fatally to Robert H. Dicken, the eight year old and youngest son of Alderman and Mrs. Wm. Dicken. The young lad accompanied by his older brother, Willie, 14 years of age, went to his father's stables on Victoria avenue to hitch up the team preparatory to delivering a load of oil, Mr. Dicken being the local agent for the Imperial Oil Co. Willie proceeded to hitch up the team, while Robert, who was suffering from a dislocated shoulder, the result of another recent accident, climbed on the dray. Another little lad, who resides in the neighborhood of the stables and who had formerly associated more or less with the Dicken boys, also clambered up on the rig and before the team had been completely hitched up this boy caught hold of the reins and pulled them taut. With this the team suddenly started and the little fellow who had tightened the reins became frightened, dropped them and jumped off. The team without anyone to guide them and in the excitement also became frightened and bolted. Straigh down Victoria avenue they ran, scattering the load of oil barrels as they ran, which further maddened the team. Approaching the centre of the city near the King Edward hotel, Robert, who had remained on the dray, apparently decided it was time for him to get clear. He jumped from the rear but hampered as he was with one arm in a sling he failed to land safely, and his head struck the hard macadam street with frightful impact, causing a severe fracture to the skull and rendering him unconscious. Witnesses to the accident, among whom was his father, immediately rushed him to the hospital where he received constant medical attention up to the time of his death, less than two hours later. He never rallied from the unconscious condition.

Deep sympathy goes out to the bereaved parents from the entire community. The funeral will be held this Friday afternoon from Thomson's Undertaking Parlors thence to the United Church, where Rev. Lee, of Cranbrook, will officiate at the obsequies.

FUNERAL OF W. G. BARCLAY

With a large attendance of business friends and other acquaintances, the funeral of the late Mr. William George Barclay, manager for the wholesale grocery firm of A. Macdonald & Co., was held Monday afternoon.

The late Mr. Barclay had been a resident of Vancouver for about six years, coming from Fernie, where he was manager of the branch of A. Macdonald & Co. in that city, conducted under the name of The Crow's Nest Troding Co. He was in his forty-third year, of very unassuming nature but with the ability to make and hold strong friendships. Ashort time ago he was attacked with appendicitis, which developed into pneumonia, resulting in death.

Funeral services were conducted at the chapel of Nunn, Thomson & Clegg, Rev. M. H. Wilson, a neighbor of Mr. Barclay, officiating. The hymn, "The Sands of Time Are Sinking," was sung and two duets, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," and "I will Lay My Sins on Jesus," were rendered by Mrs. F. Wrigley, and Mrs. F T. Chambers respectively, Mr. Frank Wrigley presiding at the organ.

The pallbearers were composed of associates in the A. Macdonald Company, and were Mr. P. Chapman, manoger of the Winnipeg office, headquarters of the firm; Mr. John Crawford, branches; Mr. H. H. Cooper, superintendent of Alberto branches; Mr. T. Prentice, manager of the Fernie branch, and Mr. H. J. Witten, assistant manager in Vancouver.

There were many beautiful floral tributes consisting of elaborate designs from the head office of A. Macdonold & Co. at Winnipeg, branch firms throughout the west, and from many personal friends in Vancouver. The Retail Grocers' Association and other organizations with which the late Mr. Barclay was connected, sent flowers.

A widow and two young daughters survive.—Vancouver Province.

Mrs. Wm. Eschwig, Whitefish, Mont. is the guest of her mother-in-law, Mrs. W. Eschwig, Sr.

The United Church has extended an unanimous call to Rev. D. T. McClintock, of Nelson. Mr. McClintock occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church here for several months about two years ago. The unanimous call expresses the high opinion of the people of this city in regard to his former services.

MAULED BY PET BEAR

Harry Haigh, the popular young miner of the Annex, while returning from work at the mines one night last week had an encounter with a pet bruin which if not indeliby impressed upon his memory for the rest of his mortal existence, he will always carry scars upon his body which will keep him constantly reminded of the fray. The bear in question was a good sized one of the brown variety and owned by Frank Santoni. It was about two years old and had been kept in an enclosure presumably securely chained as well. In some manner on the night of the incident bruin broke his tether and managed to escape from his confinement. Harry was proceeding up the alleyway homeward when suddenly he came in contact with Mr. Bruin, who resented his presence and at once attacked him, viciously using his huge claws and attempting to devour him as well. Mr. Haigh, partially stunned by the sudden attack, did as best he could to protect himself and escape from the infuriated brute but was fast being overcome and weakened from the loss of blood occasioned by wounds inflicted, when his small dog, which accompanied him, entered the fray and aggravated the brute sufficiently to distract its attention from Mr. Haigh. The bear then attacked the dog and in short order dispatched it but this brief respite was sufficient to enable Mr. Haigh to escape. To the willing sacrifice of the brave little dog Mr. Haigh attributes his miraculous escape as he feels he would have been shortly done to death himself.

Medical aid was promptly rendered to Mr. Haigh and it required no less than nineteen stitches to repair the wounds inflicted on his body and arms. This occurrence sounded the death knell for Mr. Bruin and as soon as the owner learned of the incident he promptly appointed himself the executioner. It was no firing squad for him, but the business end of a weighty axe successfully wielded by the sturdy hands of Mr. Santoni and he soon followed the brave little dog to the animal great beyond.

THE MAN IN THE GALLERY

A show! A show! Did you ever pay four bits to while away the tedium of an August evening when any old thing would relieve the eternal monotony of things? Sure you have and many a time you came away with boredom, merely, so to speak, accentuated. But all the same, there are shows and shows, and if the city council could only have had their last meeting tastefully advertised by a good advance man and a price of admission within our reach, I'm sure there would have been a full house and a consequent reduction in the mill rate And it was all because the same old "river rats" (they're a hot bunch) strengthened up by Gladstone local, made another friendly call on the city wizards. The Chautauqua was the subject. Harry Martin to the bat. About the 5th ball "Gurly" (as Bill Minton terms him) let Harry take first base. I hardly think it was fair, though, because Harry ought to have made a home run with that splendid batting. But Umpire Curly deliberately sheltered himself behind a worn out ruling. Billy Dickinson came next but the wily Curly only rested his curly cranium in the hollow of his right hand and (It's no use, gentlemen, you'll simply have to play according to rules). This brought Frank Brindley up with a wary eye, and you sure have to watch for Frank. You see, Frank, like Freddy Welsh, the pugilist, began to sidestep and simply threw the bat at the umpire, which Curly neatly dodged as he cried, "I paid the deposit." Here Harry Martin in stage whisper remarked: Another slice out of that five hundred.

Things got somewhat mixed up here, for Ald. Bill chimed in "Who paid for the time the city men spent on the job?" which called for an explanation. The explanation not looking good to Bill, he at once threw his glove in the ring and Neil McCallum promptly went "over the top." There was a tense moment here and for a minute you could have heard a pin drop. Watching the players in a casual way it sure looked like the river men would have started a rough house if Neil had struck the first blow. This made, what I, like a crude roughneck, call a show.

Speaking though impartially, I hardly think the Mayor was fair. I should think it was time for His Worship—did you get that— to merely decide things which came up in argument, and not do the talking and the settling both. All the exchange seemed to be between the Mayor and Bill. One of the coal wallopers sitting next me observed: "Say, what do you think those other guys draw down the coin for? Do they get the same pay as Ald. Bill? Surely not!" Yes, quoth I, they are only supers in this game, but you see the dead ones look wise, and however you take it they would never pass up that five bucks.

All the argument aside, there is no doubt but what the bylaw should be changed. That fire zone question was nicely sluffed off. Of course that is another bylaw, but then you see how easy they can be busted up if you stand in with the Chautauqua. I venture to say the annual circus at the Grand will provide another hot time on that subject.

To conclude, here's a good one. When the delegation got outside one of them ejaculated: "Did you hear him say he was one of the guarantors for Chautauqua next year?" Sure, said Bro. Martin. "Well, by gum, what's the matter with guaranteeing another undertaker a job?" Here they all laughed as they went off to devise something new for the council's pleasure.

THE LATEST WAR NEWS

Quebec, Aug. 29—The reports concerning the health of Lieut. Governor Leblanc have been greatly exaggerated according to Major Victor Hellitor. He says that under the circumstances the Governor's condition is as well as can be expected and given no cause for alarm.

London, Aug. 29—The Germans continue in retreat everywhere between Arras ond the Soissons sector under violent attacks by the Allied troops. There seems to be no slackening in the offensive that is steadily reclaiming numerous French towns and villages and territory that long have been in the hands of the enemy. Already outflanking the old Hindenburg line on the north, Field Marshall Haig's forces gradually are cutting their way eastward both north and south of the Somme and putting down strong counter offensive actions. Although on several sectors they have had to cede ground temporarily, the British have captured the important town of Bapaune, where for days there has been bitter fighting, the Germans exerting their utmost strength to keep Haig from gaining control of the railway and the high road leading to Cambrai to the south. The British also reported to have penetrated to the outskirts of Maurehas, another point of strategic value along both sides of the Somme running eastward. Ground has been gained south of Peronne, where the river bends sharply southward. The stream has been crossed at several points and this important railroad junction outflanked.

London, Aug. 29—Field Marshall Haig reports that along the whole front from Baupaume southward, the Germans have been forced to retreat with great loss in prisoners and material. The British have reached the west bank of the Somme, opposite Brie and Peronne. The occupation by the British of Baupaume was officially announced.

Paris, Aug. 29—The French after capturing Noyon in heavy fighting today, continued their advance and now have a foothold on the southern slopes of Mont St. Simon. More than a mile to the east, according to the war office announcement tonight they also have taken Landrimont and Morlincourt, and have crossed the Ailette River at several points.

With the French army in France, Aug. 29—The third French army continuing its operations around Noyon, advanced along the road leading to Guiscard today and occupied Happlincourt and the field of Manoeures opposite.

GERMANS IN B. C.

The recent internment of one Col. Wilhelm Otto Peters is made by the Vancouver Province the occasion of an interesting review of ante-war activities in this province of a group of wealthy and distinguished Germans who are commonly credited with having entertained a dream of establisheing there a base from which the entire Pacific coast might be brought under German control. This last member of the group was found, a year or two after the outbreak of war, working with a party of electricians at Mill Creek, B.C., and later retired to a farm in one of the more remote corners of the Queen Charlotte Islands. The suspicions of his neighbors were excited, however, and finally he was arrested. In the court at Prince Rupert, when asked his nationality, Peters stated that he was a German, was proud of the fact and ready to die for the Fatherland. The name of von Alvensleben is of course familiar as that of a German who directed financial operations on a vast scale in the province, and many of those who were associated with him are now known to be holding military commands of some importance in the German or Austrian armies. One of the men with whom Col. Peters will renew acquaintance in the internment camp at Vernon is Count von Mackensen, a nephew of the famous general of that name; he is supposed to have persuaded his uncle to invest $1,000,000 in British Columbia. The Province devotes almost two columns of space to sketches of these and other German visitors and speculation on their probable motive of their interest in the coast province which should provide a luscious morsel for those readers who are accustomed to credit all Germans with a measure of foresight, cunning and devotion to their country's interests which is without parallel in any other race. Here is a sketch of one of the visitors in which the unamiable Hun is revealed as upon a motion picture sreen:

"Baron Gadenorff was a typical Prussian. He carried his cane through the corridors of the Hotel Vancouver as if it were a sword. He talked to the bell-hops and telephone girls as though they were dogs. He had a devilish way with him, had the young baron. He would click his heels together, swear, and generally carry on in a hot-headed fashion."

JOLTING THE HYPHEN

The First National Bank of Pasadena, California, believes in no half-measures, even in respect to its customers' war sentiments. The letter which we reproduce, was published by the bank in the form of an advertisement, with this explanation: "The attached letter was today mailed to one of our clients. We publish it as an indication of our attitude. In any further extensions of credit this bank will make the purchase or non-purchase of Liberty bonds a consideration; and while we cannot speak for our associates, we do not believe that unpatriotic individuals are going to do 'business as usual' at any Pasadena bank."

The letter follows:

Mr. ——— ———, Pasadena, Cal.

Dear Sir—We hold at the present time about $60,000 worth of first mortgages belonging to you. We have held as high as $90,000 of these. We know that you own stock here, and real estate in Idaho, that make you a well-off man. You are what a bank regards as a good customer; and we are indebted to you for past business.

You have not subscribed to either First, Second or Third Liberty Loans. You are not a member of the Red Cross; and so far as we know, are not supporting your country in any way.

You are not only a detriment but a menace to this community. This bank cannot afford to thrive on such business as yours. We have too many calls from patriotic citizens these days to be willing to extend credit to you in order that you may reinvest at from 7 per cent up. You will therefore please take up your small note of $300 immediately; also call at the bank and receipt for your securities, and take your business to some bank that has money to lend to German sympathizers. Yours truly,

A. Macdonnell, Cashier.

THE ALTERNATIVE TO VICTORY

For us also Downfall is the only alternative to victory. This has seldom been stated with the plainness it demands. Even the few thinkers and writers among the Allies who have had the courage—and it has required no little courage—to open the eyes of the public to what defeat would involve have generally stopped short at exhibiting only one side of the picture. They have told us what it is that would be defeated—to wit, democracy, and all that democracy involves. But the need is far greater that we should fully realize what it is that would be victorious. Cruelty would have won; cruelty would have become a dominant power, a principle in the government of mankind; not the cruelty which is a mere bestial instinct, powerless before the higher intelligence of man—though it would not have lost its bestial character — but cruelty reinforced by human reason and the resources of science, cruelty in full command of the very means that were intended to break its power. Never mind for the moment what would be defeated. Think what would be victorious; read the new world situation of the wolf and not alone in the negative terms of the shepherd's defeat. Who can doubt this would be a "downfall" such as mankind has never seen?

Help Russia.

We must "stand by Russia" but are we to stand by Russia only as a bystander? Are we to stand by and look on? There are two ways of standing by a country. One was Layfayette's way of standing by the United States; the other is recorded in the tenth chapter of the Gospel of St. Luke. It is the way of the Levite, who, seeing a man who had fallen among thieves and by them had been robbed, stripped, wounded and left for dead, "came and looked on him," and let it go at that. No doubt the Levite "looked on him" sympathetically. — New York Times.

THE BRITISH NAVY'S WORK

It is an open secret that when the American Naval Mission went over to England and saw what the British navy was accomplishing, they were impressed by the tremendous vastness of the task. So impressed that they became immediately desirous that the truth should be known in America no less than in England, for, as Mr. Lloyd George said, "for four years there has been no break in the navy's work. No darkness has rested it, no weather and no winter has stopped it. Never has the navy come into winter quarters. The fight has gone on without ceasing." And it is to the success of this fighting that the Allies owe their triumph today. Had the British command of the sea failed, the hour of Germany's triumph would have come. No one knows that better than the German High Command and so the world believes that before the High Command admits itself beaten it will send the German Grand Fleet out into the North Sea, in one last despairing effort to clear the way. If that day ever comes it will find the Stars and Stripes floating beside the Union Jack. But that will not affect the fact, that, as Mr. Lloyd George said, any destruction of resources, which would have seriously impaired the Allied strength during the last four years would have been ruinous to the cause of the Allies. And that, therefore, for the triumph that is coming the British fleet will always be held mainly responsible.—Christian Science Monitor.

PROCLAMATION

GEORGE the FIFTH, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, KING, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these presents shall come or whom the same may in any wise concern,—GREETING:

A Proclamation of conditional amnesty respecting men belonging to Class 1 under the Military Service Act, 1917, who have disobeyed our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, or their orders to report for duty, or are deserters or absent without leave from the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

E. L. NEWCOMBE, Deputy Minister of Justice, Canada. } WHEREAS considerable numbers of men belonging to Class I under our Military Service Act, 1917, called out on active service in our Canadian Expeditionary Force for the defence of Canada under Our Proclamation of 13th October, 1917, although they have thus become by law soldiers enlisted in the Military Service of Canada,

Have failed to report for duty as lawfully required of them under the said Military Service Act and the regulations thereunder, including the Order in Council duly passed on April 20 last,

Or have deserted,

Or absented themselves without leave from our Canadian Expeditionary Force,

And it is represented that the very serious and unfortunate situation in which these men find themselves is due in many cases to the fact that, notwithstanding the information and warning contained in Our Proclamation aforesaid, they have misunderstood their duty or obligation, or have been misled by the advice of ill-disposed, disloyal or seditious persons.

AND WHEREAS we desire, if possible, to avoid the infliction of the heavy penalties which the law imposes for the offences of which these soldiers have thus been guilty, and to afford them an opportunity within a limited time to report and make their services available in Our Canadian Expeditionary Force as is by law their bounden duty, and as is necessary for the defence of Our Dominion of Canada.

NOW KNOW YE that we in the exercise of Our powers, and of Our good will and pleasure in that behalf, do hereby proclaim and declare and cause to be published and made known THAT THE PENALTIES OF THE LAW WILL NOT BE IMPOSED OR EXACTED as against the men who belong to Class 1 under Our Military Service Act, 1917, and who have disobeyed Our Proclamation aforesaid; or who have received notice from any of Our registrars or deputy registrars to report for duty on a day now past and have failed so to report; or who, having reported and obtained leave of absence, have failed to report at the expiry of their leave, or have become deserters from Our Expeditionary Force, PROVIDED THEY REPORT FOR DUTY ON OR BEFORE THE TWENTY FOURTH DAY OF AUGUST 1918.

AND WE DO HEREBY STRICTLY WARN AND SOLEMNLY IMPRESS UPON ALL SUCH MEN, and as well those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist them in their disobedience, that, if they persist in their failure to report, absence or desertion until the expiry of the last mentioned day, they will be pursued and punished with all the rigour and severity of the law, SUBJECT TO THE JUDGMENT OF OUR COURTS MARTIAL WHICH WILL BE CONVENED TO TRY SUCH CASES or other competent tribunals: and also that those who employ, harbour, conceal or assist such men will be held strictly accountable as offenders and subject to the pains, penalties and forfeitures in that behalf by law provided for their said offence.

Provided however that nothing contained in this Our Proclamation is intended to release the men aforesaid from their obligation to report for duty as soon as possible or to grant them immunity from arrest or detention in the meantime for the purpose of compelling them to perform their military duty; Our intention being merely to forego or remit the penalties heretofore incurred for failure to report, absence without leave or desertion incurred by those men of the description aforesaid who shall be in the proper discharge of their military duties on or before the said twenty-fourth day of August, 1918.

Of all of which Our loving subjects and all others whom these presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent, and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. Witness: Our Right Trusty and Right Entirely Beloved Cousin and Counsellor, Victor Christian William, Duke of Devonshire, Marquess of Hartington, Earl of Devonshire, Earl of Burlington, Baron Cavendish of Hardwicke, Baron Cavendish of Keighley, Knight of Our Most Noble Order of the Garter: One of Our Most Honourable Privy Council; Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George; Knight Grand Cross of Our Royal Victorian Order; Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Our Dominion of Canada.

At Our Government House, in Our City of OTTAWA, this FIRST day of AUGUST, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, and in the ninth year of Our Reign.

By Command,

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions, with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained on these claims in less than 5 years, with improvements of $10 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years.

Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes, areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

TOWNSITE PROPERTY ALLOTMENT ACT.

Provision is made for the grant to persons holding uncompleted Agreements to Purchase from the Crown of such proportion of the land, if divisible, as the payments already made will cover in proportion to the sale price of the whole parcel. Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchaser from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjustment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

PRESS COMMENT

Since the first of January of this year 14,500 claims have been presented to the Workmen's Compensation Board and of these 110 have been for deaths. Last year industrial accidents up to Dec. 31 numbered 217. More claims are being presented to the board to a much larger extent than in the first year, when the act was not so well understood by workmen and employers as it is today.

Box shooks from British Columbia are now being shipped to Mesopatamia and are used to a considerable extent by the transport columns of the British army operating in the Garden of Eden. The shooks are made up into cases and are sent up to the front by river steamer and then by camels. The motor ship Admiral Sims is in Vancouver now loading 240,000 boxes, which she will discharge at an Oriental port.

R. C. Treherne, Dominion entomological field officer, who returned a few days ago from an official visit to Oregon, has warned British Columbia fruit growers and farmers to be prepared for an invasion of the lesser migratory locust. An outbreak had occurred in some districts in Oregon, and Mr. Treherne says there is a likelihood of the destructive insects spreading to that province.

To what extent the war has boosted automobile prices in England is indicated in a late issue of "The Motor," published in London and which as its title implies is devoted to the motor world. New cars over there are a thing of the past and in their stead are used cars that are sold at wartime figures. Included in the limited list of used cars advertisements are 5 Hupmobiles and the earliest model is 1914 and the largest model N. 1917. The 1914 model is offered for sale by the owner at the modest sum of £235 or about $1150 at the present rate of exchange. The 1917 model, a touring car, is quoted at £390, or about $1900.

Judge Thompson, of East Kootenay, who became a Conservative the year the Dominion became Liberal and Laurier was premier, stuck to his guns through the entire Laurier regime, taking considerable interest in politics in the meanwhile. Some years ago, he moved to East Kootenay and became a political shining light when Pete Wilson resigned his judgeship on account of low salary. Naturally Mr. Thompson fell into the judge's shoes. There were many who predicted at the time he was not adapted for the position. Time has slipped by, many changes have taken place, and Judge Thompson has delivered decisions in coal and other mining districts and these decisions show that he has given them time and study along the line of equity, justice, morality and philosophy. In fact, some of the best decisions rendered during the past few years on various phases of litigation have been those of Judge Thompson. He has been fearless, controlled by the facts as well as the conditions and has made no attempt during his judicial career to play to the gallery in any judgment he has rendered.—Kamloops Sentinel.

It is no longer a question of restoring pre-war condition. Status quo ante bellum is as dead as the language in which it is written. It is now a matter of seeing with clear eyes the immense possibilities of well-being for the human race, which can come only when the war is won, and the formation of a lasting alliance made up of a resolute combination of democratic institutions with the conduct of public affairs in the spirit of the golden rule. —Buffalo News.

The Russian who was robed, cheated, imprisoned, held to practical serfdom by a czar would not find robbery cheating and imprisonment more tolerable under a kaiser. The harder that foreign yoke was pressed down upon him the fiercer he would resist it, and his resistance would take the form it took when he first learned it was easier to cast a bomb in Russia than a ballot, easier to work in twos and threes from behind a wall than in battalions or regiments on a pitched field.—Kansas City Star.

Food in the United States is one thing and food in Great Britain is quite another. Until the shortage of shipping is completely removed, we must exercise great caution at home and in no circumstances must we allow our program of food production to be reduced. The submarine campaign may be held in check, but it is certainly not defeated as yet; and at any moment the Germans may put forth fresh and more desperate efforts to cripple our merchant service. And there is another mortgage on our shipping. Every ton that we can spare must be used to bring over troops from the United States. The more food we can grow here the more we tighten our belts now, the earlier will come the victory.—London Daily Mail.

The things that Herr Ballin and Co. are bent upon securing are concessions from the Allies that will enable predatory German trade to rehabilitate itself at their expense. It is only the kiss of Judas that Hamburg would now implant upon Allied cheeks. It is favourable terms for the import of Allied raw materials, the restoration of the German Colonies, and of advantageous trading facilities in our ports and markets, that Hamburg hankers for. Ruin stares German trade in the face if the Allies withhold these concessions. That is why Hamburg is in "alliance" mood.—London Daily Mail.

The citizens of Berlin have been officially warned that they must prepare to do without boots. The summer has passed its zenith. The chill autumn days will soon be with us. Winter itself is not far off, andBerlin in winter is a bleak and chilly city. To wander along Unter den Linden bootless on a real North German cold day will be more than an uncomfortable experience. The open confession that the Fatherland has no leather and no leather substitutes is proof sufficient of the effective result of the blockade, and, too, of the fact that, unless Germany can secure overseas supplies, she will be industrially helpless after the war. There never was a time when England was so well shod as she is today. Here is a dramatic demonstration of the meaning of sea power.—London Daily Mail.

The latest figures issued by the Provincial Department of Highways show that the farmer has jumped into the forefront as the largest user of the automobile, the figures showing that out of the 78,861 cars owned in the province the farmers come first with 23,409, while merchants and manufacturers come second with 14,-825. Perhaps the most striking feature at this is the fact that it has only been since the outbreak of the war that the farmer has become a consistent user of the motor car, further figures issued from the same department showing that in 1913 there were ouly 966 motors owned by farmers of Ontario. On the total ownership for the province it is also shown that the rural owners far outnumber the city, the comparative figures being 47,337 and 31,098. The change in the situation has been so marked that Mr. W. A. McLean, Deputy Minister of Highways, has made a statement on the question after being asked as to whether it was an indication that the farmer was spending his money recklessly. "The automobile is now regarded in many communities as an absolute necessity," he states, "and except in isolated cases the farmer is not purchasing the car as a luxury but as a necessity. There are now hundreds of farmers who regard the motor as a part of the regular farm equipment and who feels that they could not accomplish their work without this as a means to save time and labor.—Arnprior Chronicle.

Employees who are tempted to strike should take thought of the boys in the trenches. They should ask themselves what the American soldier who is clearing out a machine-gun nest in a forest in France or striving up a steep slope in the face of the enemy's murderous fire, or keeping lonely watch on an exposed patrol would think if he heard that they were planning to leave their work for the sake of easier hours or higher pay. There are no clocks in the trenches; no schedule of hours is observed where the troops in khaki are pressing the soldiers of the bloody salient between the Marne and the Aisne. —Providence Journal.

The casualty list which a few weeks ago occupied a mere corner in the daily newspapers of the United States now fills days after day a page Our cousins are going through our experiences; and we send them our affection, regards and sympathies. They are finding out anew whither the paths of glory lead.

One of the German high command directing the forces which retreated before an American attack recently was a Major General Hell. Despite his name he appears to have found the atmosphere created by the Americans hot to the point of intolerable discomfort.

A well-informed Uuited States newspaper says that von Bernstorff, while German minister to the United States, was quite frank, in private conversation, in giving it as his opinion that Germany, in any case, was in no danger from the war. It was his view that if Germany failed to win the war in the field she could make a "good" peace owing to the strength of pacifist opinion in the allied countries. It was thus a case of getting something out of the war, in any case. This is doubtless still the belief of Berlin; and there is, unfortunately, some basis for this confidence. As the military prospects of the Allies brighten we shall have to be more and more, on our guard against the elements who will be ready to give away the pass after it has been won.

"WRENS" PUZZLED BY SALUTING PROBLEM

The ever recurring saluting problem has been brought to the British Navy in rather perplexing form by the growing activity of the Woman's Royal Naval Service. Senior officers in the service desired to be saluted by those of lower rank., male or female; the majority of the girl "privates" want to salute some one, but who, when and how have not been definitely fixed even in official orders.

In fact, most of the confusion is attributed to recent official orders. It reads that "Officers and women of the W.R.N.S. (commonly called Wrens) will not salute their superior officers (male or female.) When addressed by their superior officers they are, however, to stand at attention and suitable respect is always to be paid such superior officers on all occasions.

"A very great deal depends on that word 'suitable,' said a Wren private when she first read the order. Before the war she had been accustomed to every luxury, but she takes her work very seriously and considers her command a unit rather than several individuals. The question naturally arises as to what might be considered 'suitable' respect toward an officer who might have been unanimously voted catty by the girls," she continued. "There is too much opportunity for display of individualism."

But the paragraph affecting the men is causing more confusion. It reads:

"Officers and men of other Royal Naval Services will salute officers of the W.R.N.S. who, by their badges of rank are their seniors, when they meet or pass them, in a similar manner to officers of the Royal Navy. Officers of the W.R.N.S. will acknowledge such salutes by bowing."

Sailors have been heard to ask why they should salute a Wren officer when the Wren privates are not required to do the same. Then a long-standing order in the British Navy requires a sailor to salute anyone "having the general appearance of an officer," promulgated that an officer might command respect even though he happened to be in civilian dress.

A commentator on the situation remarks that taking into consideration the old and the new order and granting generous allowances for honest mistakes a Wren and a sailor must salute each other in about any manner that the occasion might appeal to them to require.

"The Waacs," as the members of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps are called, are said to salute their officers in camps and offices and in France the practice is carried out among them in public as well. The girls do not use thefull arm sweep as in the army, but merely raise the hand to the hat. They never salute officers of the army or navy, it appears, nor do the women officers receive salutes service men.

Despite their military uniform and bearing, officers of the women's organizations are expected, if presented to the king or queen, to curtsey in the old-fashioned way of their grand mothers.

INCREASED PRODUCTION

In response to the call for increased production the people of the cities, towns and villages of Canada have vastly increased the garden acreage in this country. Last year it was estimated by the Agricultural Gazette that the value of the war garden's produce amounted to somewhere between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000. This year Mr. Frederick Abraham, Hon. Chairman of the War Garden and Vacant Lot Section of the Canada Food Board, after a survey of Canada's war garden reports from coast to coast estimates that this year's production will be two or three times greater than last. On this basis the war gardens of Canada this year have produced anywhere from $40,000,000 to $90,000,000 worth of fruit and vegetables. Taking a conservative view of these figures, the war garden production in Canada for 1918 should be worth about $50,000,000.

It would be a positive shame, if, after all the work, time and money and material spent upon these gardens, a large proportion of the crops were allowed to go to waste for lack of distribution to consumers. It is impossible for the family of the war gardener to consume, in many cases, more than a fraction of the vegetables and fruits his garden has produced. The Canada Food Board has urged war gardeners to can perishable fruits and vegetables in the greatest possible quantity, but many lots have grown more than one family can use, even taking into account the interval between now and next harvest, either fresh, canned, dried or stored. Amateur gardeners, in numerous cases expressed themselves as unwilling to sell their surplus vegetables and fruits not caring to take the position of growing garden truck for money. If such gardeners would forswear their delicacy in this matter, recognizing that these are war times, and the shortage of foods is well nigh world wide, it would avoid a serious danger of waste. Where they can dispose of their surplus, either by sale or by gifts to their less well-situated neighbours, they should take pleasure in doing so. The community is being closely knit by the necessities of war. Food production, food storing, food conservation and food distribution are all patriotic services of utmost importance to the whole community.

THE WAR COST

The cost of the war to all nations up to date, including the loss by destruction in Europe is $140,000,000,000. This equals the entire value of all the real and personal property of the United States. The total amount borrowed by the countries of the Entente Allies is 50 billions, while Germany has borrowed 25 billions, and the Teutonic Allies as a whole about 35 billions.

About 25 billion has been raised by direct taxation in the Entente nations and about one-fifth this amount in Germany. The latter country did not increase taxes at all the first year of the war, holding out the hope of indemnities to her people which decision accounts in large part for the esprit du corps of the German nation the first two years of the war. Now the taxes in Germany are beginning to bear down heavily on all industries.

The loss of property in Northern France in the last four years is not as great as might be imagined. The land cannot be utterly destroyed and neither can the coal and iron mines. But it is safe to say that about one-tenth of all the wealth of France has been destroyed by the war, or at least $6,-500,000,000.

The states and cities of Germany have raised and spent over seven billions on their own account since the war broke out, and the total debt of Germany, including the empire, the states and the cities, is about twice that of Great Britain, while the wealth of the two nations on the day war was declared was almost exactly the same, viz; about 90 billion dollars.

France has, of course, suffered most heavily, for in addition to a total bonded and floating debt of fully 20 billion, she has a total wealth of not more than 50 billion to pay with, but her credit, owing to the resourcefulness of her people, is still good, whereas that of Austria is gone.

Out of it all, so far, only two nations are admittedly bankrupt, viz; Turkey and Siberia. The latter will be rejuvenated with American and British money after the war and as for Turkey, her fate is on the knees of the gods. The coming year will be by far the most expensive ever recorded in history, and by this time nert year bankruptcy may be the part of every one of the European nations with the exception of GreatBritain.

As long as Britain holds her African and Asiatic colonies, she cannot go broke, for the simple reason that she cannot create machinery big enough to spend the resources of these countries. Great Britain and America today control the gold; silver, most of the wheat, all the corn, most of the cotton, all the diamonds practically all the live stock, excepting hogs, most of the wool, most of the lumber, the coal, iron, copper, zinc and petroleum of the world. These two nations control the seas and the harbors and also the shipping. No debt that could possibly be created could bankrupt these nations for they could levy upon the world for payment and thus keep the dollars moving about from one part of the world to the other.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Fernie, B.C., Aug. 28.

Mrs. Moffatt, I.O.D.E., City:

Dear Madam—A sub committee was appointed by the Executive Committee of Gladstone Local Union to find out the best method of dealing with the children on Labor Day, Sept. 2. We have a cheque, value $200, to spend on the children. The committee decided that to put up prizes, which meant competition, would be unfair, because some would participate in the fund and some would not, so divided the amount into 1500 tickets, value 15c each. We should be pleased if you will accept the tickets as cash and any time during the week return them to this office and receive cash for same. Yours truly,

Hy. Martin, Secreaary.

P.S.—We are not placing any restrictions on the children as to where they shall exchange these tickets. All we aim at is to give the kiddies one little ray of sunshine.—H. M.

The following donations have been received for Labor Day:

Mrs. Graham, 41 Meat Market, one ham.

Cash Meat Market, one ham.

Mrs. Marshall, large fruit cake for raffle.

Any person wishing to donate tea, coffee, sugar or butter, kindly leave at work rooms Saturday morning.

Those donating cakes please have at rooms Monday morning.

If the government had used a little money and a little energy in encouraging the sugar beet industry in Alberta, Canada would not now be 43,000 tons short of their supply for Europe. Greater production woud do away with a lot of conservation. The sugar business at Raymond was allowed to die a natural death owing to lack of interest by the farmers. They could make more money growing wheat.

RULES GOVERNING THE FIRST AID CONTEST

1. A team shall be composed of four men and a captain. Any employee of a coal company may be a member of a contesting team, provided he is not a trained physician or trained nurse and holds recognized certificate from Ambulance Society.

2. The captain shall select the patient and designate the member or members of the team to perform the event.

3. The captain shall control his team in the field work by giving audible commands.

4. The captain may select himself as one of the members who will perform the event.

5. The captain or other members shall not prompt the person performing the event unless he be one of the performers. This rule will not apply in full-team events.

6. At the conclusion of any event the captain shall raise his right hand and announce his team number. The team shall remain at the post until relieved by the judge.

7. Teams shall bring their own first aid materials, including bandages, splints, blankets, etc., and shall not be allowed to leave the patient in order to obtain material.

8. The triangular bandage shall be the standard used in the contest, but roller bandages may be used, and equal credit will be given for their proper use.

9. All splints must be prepared on the field for each event requiring their use. Specially designed splints may be used, but they must be assembled during the time of each event requiring their use.

10. No practicing shall be allowed on the field before the beginning of the contest.

11. The teams will be numbered consecutively, beginning at No. 1, and they shall occupy their consecutive positions on the field.

12. The judges will perform their work progressively, judging such number of teams in each event as the judges may determine and announce before the beginning of the contest.

13. In events involving resuscitation, the rescue of the patient, and stretcher drill the judge may require the teams to perform separately.

14. Each judge will mark the team number, event and discounts for each team judged, sign his name, and deliver to the recorder his record.

15. The recorders will add the discounts and mark the points made by each team in each contest. The total points will be divided by the number of tests and the quotient will be the average for each team for the whole contest.

16. Time will not be an element unless the team or men performing exceed the allotted time or fail to give treatment promptly. All events shall commence and be finished at the sounding of a gong, or other audible signal. Judges shall allot time for each event.

17. The prizes will be listed by the committee on awards.

WANT THE CHICKENS

Watch out, you chicken owners, you are going to get a visit from a committee who fancy some chicken broth on Sept. 2nd. Any chicken that is running wild this week end will be missing from its relations. Of course we do not mean chickens with silk stockings. We mean chickens that lay eggs (Well, they should if they don't). Now anyone who has chickens that will not lay eggs, they are no use to anybody, so this committee requests that you turn them over for use in the park on Labor Day to be shot for, for the purpose of raising funds for the Y.M.C.A.

All automobile owners in Fernie are expected to appear in the parade on Labor Day with their cars nice and clean. Now this is where the chickens come in with silk stockings. All cars will be expected to be filled with pretty girls, so you had better get busy and get your cargo. There are lots of nice girls in Fernie but not too many. Alex. Macneil, solicitor, will be Automobile Marshall.

GONE NORTH TO SEE RICH MINE

En route to Northern British Columbia to inspect the Bush mine on Salmon river, a few miles up the river from Portland City, on the Alaska side of the line, Messrs. R. W. Wood of Fernie and R. K. Neil of Spokane, are at the Hotel Vancouver awaiting a boat. They are two of the four owners of a mine which is one of the sensations of the mineral world developed during the past few months. Mr. Wood said this morning that he and his associates expected to ship 2000 tons of ore, averaging $200 to the ton during the coming winter. Just how soon shipments will commence depends on the progress made on the wagon road which is under construction. The ore will be sent to the smelter at Tacoma probably by barge.

The Bush property was bonded by Messrs Wood and Neil and their associates a few months ago, after work on it by a New York concern had ceased. The property was opened up by Mr. O. B. Bush, the one-armed skater of international fame. After his company had done some 1500 feet of work, and had spent more than $50,000, the property was closed down, the lead having been lost.

After Mr. R. K. Neil had inspected the property he concluded the old company's work had not been to the best advantage, so he bonded the property. With an expenditure of less than eighty dollars crosscutting from the old tunnel, the new owners ran into silver ore of extraordinary richness, and with a series of crosscuts opened up a mine which experts have declared to be one of the big sensations of the industry. The ore is silicified rock carrying iron pyrites with argentite, ruby silver, and in places, native silver. The ore zone varies in width from 50 to 140 feet. The most important work being done is in the upper tunnel, which is prospecting under the high-grade ore.—Vancouver Province.

The death of Mrs. Geo. Ellis, of Natal, took place in Fernie on Wednesday, Aug. 28, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Bentham. Deceased, who was 72 years of age, has two sons at the front. The funeral will take place from the home of Harry Bentham, West Fernie, on Sunday.

"NO NEED TO CRAVE PEACE"

The Lansdownes and the "defeatists" of Britain—happily but a small and insignificant company—should read history. Queen Elizabeth answered their arguments 317 years ago.

Long after the defeat of the Armada, while England and Spain were still engaged in an exhausting war, the King of Denmark offered to initiate peace negotiations between the enemies.

Queen Elizabeth, then old and growing frail, answered the wold-be mediator in these words:

"I would have the King of Denmark and all Princes, Christian and Heathen, to know that England hath no need to crave peace; nor myself endured one hour's fear since I attained the Crown thereof, being guarded with so valiant and faithful subjects."

MR. ALEXANDER MUNRO

R.R. No. 1, Lorne, Ont.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors, and tried nearly everything I saw advertised to cure Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit.

Finally, I decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not so severe, and the swelling started to go down.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place".

THE ARMIES OF THE AIR

That the fighting airships being built in the United States will soon fly across the Atlantic in squadrons, is very nearly a certainty, according to the London "Observer" which believes that reprisals from the air on a deliberately regular and extensive scale will open the eyes of the German people. When the Allied squadrons, unhasting and unresting, to use a German phrase, extend their military operations to the very heart and centre of Germany, the whole nation will "begin to bring forth fruits meet for repentance and amendment." And should the first crossing of the once estranging but now uniting Atlantic be accomplished by an American flying from this side, it will be America's poetic revenge for being discovered by European navigators centuries ago. Says the "Observer:"

"The British development of the Air Service has been an achievement which ought to fill all of us with wonder and pride and faith. In the very newest and most scientific thing, where we were amongst the least to start with and were expected to be the slowest, we have done under difficulties a work of human adaption and mechanical invention such as has not been surpassed in merit by the efforts of any enemy or any Ally in connection with any aspect of the war."

Together the British and American flying squadrons are to shorten and to complete the task of the Allied armies:

"The two great ideas now about to come into the sphere of practice are the direct flying of the Atlantic by fighting machines and the bombing of Berlin, as London and Paris have been bombed, but more so. Neither of these things may be done tomorrow. Both will be done with certainty. When they are, and only then, the new hopes for the future of mankind will be assured. The Atlantic will be flown not only by single spies, but by squadrons as surely as Bleriot flew the channel.

"Let no one think that the present project is a matter of spectacle and adventure," adds the Observer. "It is one of the most serious and urgent needs of finally decisive war. Aeroplanes, light as they are, take up undue ship space when there is none to spare. If the coming swarms of American fighting and bombing machines could fly straight over the ocean on their own wings, the direct and indirect gain would be enormous. For this war and the peace afterwards it would open a new epoch in the history of mankind. We must have the demonstration feat. If it is done once or twice, the flock will follow. It is more likely to be done first from the American side, because of the prevailing direction of the winds, but in any case our men and machines are such that they can promise return visits.

"For the war, however, the vital affair is that the American swarms should come over on their own wings. When this legendary marvel becomes a business-like routine, the further consequence would follow. The people who sank the 'Lusitania' never imagined that before the end of this war the very heart of Germany would be brought within striking distance of an aroused United States. Prophesy never conceived a stranger vindication of moral justice.

"To end altogether the impunity of German territory and to scourge it until that people drop the murderous grip they still keep on the throats of all their neighbors and cease the infamies they still pursue by land and sea and air, the co-operation of Britain and America in fullest force will be required.

"Much has already been done—far more than the public mind imagines. Under Lord Weir, our Independent Air Force has laid open a great part of the Rhineland, and by the necessarily gradual but sure extension of operations will be able to rake from end to end that main region of military traffic and munition-making. There is no reason why Frankfort should be spared, or Hamburg or Munich, where the cruel and boastful sense of impunity led to a war spirit as bad as in any city of Germany. But Berlin and Potsdam are the focus of all the influences which sustain the German war-system.

"When the Allied squadrons, in force and regularly, can reach the very centre, the German people themselves will begin at last to bring forth the fruits meet not only for repentence but amendment, and the last hour of the reckoning with Kaiserism and militarism will be at hand. There must be no hurry. We want weight and continuity, not spasmodic exploits. We do not expect either of the decisive things to happen tomorrow. We hope and believe that they will both happen before the end of this year."

VICTORY NEXT YEAR

Much of the good effects of the victories in France will be undone if they give rise to undue optimism. There are people in all the Allied countries who are giving way to the hope that this year will see the defeat of Germany. This is not the expectation of those who are best in a position to judge the strength of the resistance yet to be broken. There appears to be general agreement that the war can be won in 1919 if the Allies put the necessary amount of energy into their operations. A correspondent of the N. Y. Times in the field with the American forces cables that paper:

"I repeat that it is the belief of the American army that six months after next Spring's effort starts the Germans may be defeated.

"While the German is still a formidable foe, those in our army who have the best information say he has shot his bolt. The allied task in March was to hold the Germans until cold weather hampered active military operations. That task has been so well done that the enemy is not only held, but on the defensive everywhere on the western front. Having completed this year's task at least two or perhaps three, months before the fighting season is over, the allied command is now carrying out a plan to weaken the enemy as much as practicable, so that he will be able to oppose that much less resistance to the allied victory drive of 1919.

"I find that the idea that the war will continue at least another year has spread among the French people, and the condition has been completely accepted. This does not mean at all that they will not hold fast if it takes longer."

A prediction that in the late autumn of 1919 the German military resistance will collapse is one that can be made with a considerable measure of confidence. But this expectation is conditional; it implies the relentless prosecution of the war by all the nations engaged in it. If there should be any considerable development of the "we have done enough" spirit in any of the Allied countries the favorable situations now developing would disappear, with inevitably a prolongation of the war.

SPRUCE IS MUCH IN DEMAND FOR PLANES

"Spruce will win the war." That's the Canadian's new war slogan.

Allied airplane factories must have spruce. Each airplane needs 244 feet of spruce, 58 feet of pine, 31 feet of ash and 2 feet of hickory.

If the Huns controlled the spruce supply of the world they could control aerial warfare.

England and France imported from Norway spruce for airplanes, and all of those lumber-laden ships sunk by U-boats were filled with airplane spruce. Germany gets her spruce from Sweden.

When the United States started her big airplane building programme the demand for American and Canadian spruce leaped upward. England now is turning to Canada for more spruce and depending less upon North Sea boats for Norwegian spruce.

While the United States has immense spruce forests in Washington and Oregon, most of the airplane spruce must come from Canada where spruce is the cheif timber product, coming from unbroken forests stretching into the Arctic circle.

The Canadian government is cutting spruce with a lavish hand. It is prepared to sacrifice every spruce tree if necessary, and owners of timber land who refuse to cut and sell their spruce trees see these trees chopped down by government agents and hauled off.

For airplane building the spruce must be at least 100 years old. Some times a whole acre of dense spruce forest will yield but one tree of airplane quality. Trees with straight trunks, 80 feet to the first branches, are selected. Some are from 8 to 12 feet in diameter, and the trunks must be split in the forest before being shipped.

For ordinary building these huge trunks are sawed, but as the grain must be preserved for airplane building, the trunks are rived, wedges being driven into them as our forefathers split logs for houses.

Some of the trees now being felled for American airplanes were hardly saplings when the United States fought her first war.

The sound of the woodsman's axe is heard in British Columbia and all western Canada. No one now dares tell him to spare that tree.

Sitka spruce, growing from northern California to Alaska, is in greatest demand. Every acre of Canadian spruce lands will be hunted over to find the best timber for airplanes.

DRAWING THE LINE

There are some things honest men will not stand; and the German at sea is one of them. Not for a generation, and very likely more than one, will the German put to sea without some peril to himself. When he struck at the brotherhood of the sea he struck at a power as wide as the sea, as strong, as pitiless. Seamen have long memories and minds untainted by money for money does not come their way. They cannot be bribed to trade with the German. Were it no more than a matter of self-defence the seamen would still be constrained to teach the German his lesson. There are people who argue that a prospect of receiving a part of their dues after the war encourages the poor, misguided Germans to go on fighting. But whether they go on or not they cannot undo the past. They will reap as they have sown. —London Morning Post.

STORES CLOSE AT 4 P. M.

Portage la Prairie, Manitoba, understands the importance of saving the wheat crop. Last year stores closed at 4 p.m. during August and men left for the harvest fields by 5 o'clock. Allowing half an hour for the trip, 3 hours of daylight still remained. From 250 to 300 men went out from Portage every evening, farmers paying at the rate of 30c. an hour. Applications for help were made to the Municipal Employment Office. Between 700 and 1,000 acres of grain were stooked in 1917 by the "Citizen Stooking Gangs" of Portage a Prairie. The scheme is being greatly extended this year.

The Bootjack Back

The almost obsolete bootjack, that device which was found in almost every home half a century ago, is on its way back. The war has given it a new lease of life, and the statement is made that hotels everywhere have been buying jacks. In some divisions of the service boots are generally, if not universally worn. Anyhow, there are a sufficient number of men in khaki who are sporting boots to cause a revival of the bootjack for getting their footwear off tired feet.

The Soul of France

We have lately read and heard much about the "Soul of France," and nothing could be more inspiring and sustaining than a study of the unconquerable spirit of that land of heroes and heroines; but it is well to remember that France has, besides her soul, a tenement for it that should not be overlooked.

The Guerillas of Labor

Labor must give a thought to its reputation for fairness and good sense and a serviceable loyalty to the country in days like these, for it can never go far without the backing of public opinion in the normal times which will eventually return. The guerillas of labor are alone responsible for unwarranted strikes, and it is a pity that their acts may tend to discredit organized labor as a whole.—Springfield Republican.

THE DAY OF RECKONING

The burning fields and forests of France may be consoling to subjects of the kaiser today, but when the last gun is fired the bill for damages will not be so consoling. Nothing that Germany can ever do will adequately pay for the suffering she has inflicted on this world, but for the material damage done she must pay. The man who would lift his voice in favor of anything less must be bereft of all sense of justice and decency.—New York Globe.

SOME EXCUSE FOR SCARCITY

Complaints have been made with reference to the scarcity and high price of wines, particularly of the light wines in France. Those who expect to obtain these beverages with ease will be surprised to learn that the French army is consuming a quantity equal to about 730,000,000 bottles a year, or 2,000,000 bottles a day, and the French government requisitions sufficient to maintain the supplies to the troops at this figure. —London Daily Telegraph.

SUGAR CERTIFICATES NECESSARY

Proprietors of public eating places throughout Canada have been notified that they must obtain a sugar certificate from the Canada Food Board by September 1st. A sworn statement must be filed with applications for certificates, stating amount of sugar used between January 31st, 1917, and December 31st, 1917. After September 1st, it will be both illegal and impossible for public eating houses to obtain sugar without a certificate.

Wasted Exhortations

The exhortations of the Food Controller to can fruit aplenty is not likely to meet with a vigorous response with raspberries retailing at from 25 cents to 28 cents per box.—Brantford Expositor.

ENGLAND'S REBELLIOUS LABOR

In England, as elsewhere, labor is overwhelmingly loyal and patriotic. If this were not so, England would have failed in the war long ago. If it were not so France could not have saved the world for democracy. If it were not so in this country we should not now be in the thick of the work at Armageddon. England's rebellious labor minority is more articulate, political and troublesome than the corresponding element in this country. That is owing partly to circumstances, partly to the fact that volunteering in the beginning diluted the spirit and largely, besides, to the fact that in Great Britain there was no Samuel Gompers.—New York Tribune.

SUGAR CONSERVATION URGENT

Next to saving the harvest the most urgent food service at the present moment is to save sugar and the Food Board appeals to every loyal Canadian to do everything to encourage similar conservation by others. This is absolutely necessary in order that our available supply of sugar be stretched until the new crops become available and that it be equitably distributed.

YES! LIFT A CORN OFF WITHOUT PAIN!

Cincinnati authority tells how to dry up a corn or callus so it lifts off with fingers.

You corn-pestered men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of freezone applied directly on a tender, aching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

A small bottle of freezone cost very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.

If your druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Plain clothes detective Dryden, (the Hawkshew of Waldo) was in Elko in charge of Police Headquarters.

Mr. and Mrs. Reinecke with Mr. and Mrs. Williams of Claresholm, Alberta, passed through Elko this week on their way to Roosville, and will return through the Windermere Valley and Golden.

A great many tourists arrive in the old historic burg renting rooms and camping, and the nice weather brought lots of salesmen, travellers and train jumpers and peddlers to the best town in the Crow's Nest Pass this week, offering for sale, soups, hair tonics, clothes hangers, wart and blemish removers, patent medicine for pain killing, disease conquering, deathdefying, remedies, good for all kinds of aches and pains, bruises, sprains, sore back, caused by watching other people doing the work, tender feet, falling of hair, also for Insomnia, Malaria, Rheumatism, and gout, caused by high living. Allen Booth, that prince of overland trout salesman, with Alberta meat trust, making his first visit since the Calgary fair, and looking as if his pig had won the diploma and first prize, with special prices on grilled saurkraut a-la-Edmonton.

A piano tuner from Moose Jaw with a big stock of sheet music as a side line, viz; "The pumpkin vine rag," "Murphy shall not sing tonight," "And then by gosh we'll all go to Germany," "Poor old Kaiser Bill," "Locked in the stable with the sheep," "The Bull River slide," and "The Morrissey getaway."

Joe Brehler, well known along the Crow with green peas and sliced pine apple in cans. His wife and family had just arrived from Toronto and his smile was worth framing.

Berrington of Victoria, with black, green and 5 o'clock tea, breakfast coffee, Cayenne pepper, cocoa and other kinds of egg producing extracts. His first appearance in Elko, but a first class salesman, and agreat acquisition to the firm he represents.

The head straw pusher for a Winnipeg mattress factory, wearing a heavy overcoat and worrying about the coming winter and the high price of coal, while in Elko the heat would blister the shell of a snapping turtle.

Hipperson, the Nelson hardware man, with special prices on emerald tinted patent periscopic electric ranges, the newest thing out since the Chautauqua, scattered seeds of good advise through the pass. He said you had nothing to do but turn the button and look on, and from that lofty and elevated position you can look down with mingled scorn and contempt on all housemaids, scullerymaids, dairymaids and buckwheat batter beaters, who always want to be high admiral of the house, having charge of all the vessels in the kitchen. He was also carrying a wind break for the front and back doors, and meat saws, buck saws and saw mills.

Fred Roo Jr. writing to his mother from overseas, encloses a song that the boys sing on the march. Tune is "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are marching."

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching,
Cheer up England we will come
Though the German submarine
Keeps your meals a trifle lean
We will soon put Kaiser William on the bum.

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching
Cheer up Frenchmen, we will come
Now our hats are off to you
For the stuff that you've been thru,
And we'll all put Kaiser Wiliiam on the bum.

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching
Cheer up Belgium, we will come,
And we'll chuck the German swine
Into Hell across the Rhine,
As we'll all put Kaiser William on the bum.

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching,
Cheer up Italy, we will come,
If you'll only stick it out
We'll be there without a doubt,
And we'll help to put the Kaiser on the bum.

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching
Cheer up Russia, we will come,
When the Kaiser's on the shelf
You can quarrel with yourself,
But we'll first put Kaiser William on the bum.

As a result of an over-dose of prohibition "rot-gut," a fracas occured in the east end of the town on Saturday night last, the principals being of French origin. Guns were displayed by the French on the arrival of the town police and several shots were fired, apparently directed at that officer, who succeded in dodging the poorly directed bullets. The officer's gun was drawn, but could not be brought into action, and while endeavoring to defend himself the latter received a cut over the head from some weapon in the hands of the tribe. The parties were arrested and lodged in the coop and on Monday appeared before Justice Disney at Coleman to answer a criminal charge. One of the men was remanded for trial at the next criminal assizes and was allowed out on $3,000 bail.—Blairmore Enterprize.

A fatal accident occured at the International Coal Co.'s mine at Coleman on Friday morning last, when the miners were in the act of putting up a set of timber. Joseph Klus, aged thirty-two years, was instantly killed when the high side rib of coal fell on him. Klus was a Polander and leaves a wife and two children in Austria. Funeral took place on Sunday afternoon and was attended by the U. M. W. of A.

FEEDING 500,000 SOLDIERS

"Prior to the war" said Mr. H. B. Thomson, Chairman of the Canada Food Board, addressing the Fisheries Association at Halifax, "Canada had barely enough beef to satisfy home needs, but today because of increased conservation and other factors, this country is able to export enough to feed an army of 500,000 soldiers at the front."

The World's Bad Man

In a frontier town it sometimes happens that there is no organized government, no semblance of law and order, until the "bad man" forces the rest to co-operate in self-defence. The kaiser is the "bad man" who has compelled co-operation and organization in this world community of ours. We can thank him, if for nothing else, for the enemies he has made.—Boston Globe.

"THE KAISER, THE BEAST OF BERLIN"

"The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," has been booked for an early showing in Fernie. This is the photoplay sensation which blocked traffic on Broadway while hundreds fought to get in to the theatre to see it. It is the same great feature which made New York audiences stand up and cheer madly during its presentation. The following are a few press comments on "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin":

"A remarkable and wonderful production. Worked the audience into tremendous pitch of enthusiasm." — New York Telegraph.

"Polite playgoers became an organized mob."—New York American.

"Pictorial revelation."—New York Herald.

"Stirs the blood." — Chicago Examiner.

"You will marvel at its photographic brilliance."—Chicago News.

"Not a picture of battlefields, but a tremendous drama, that strips naked the soul of history's maddest murder king."—Boston Record.

"A vivid picture of the personal life of the German ruler." — New York Evening World.

"Everyone agreed with the title, "The Beast of Berlin." — New York Sun.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

AUGUST AND SEPTEMBER DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

FOUR YEARS IN FRANCE

Miss Florence White this week received the following interesting letter from her brother, Capt. A. Cyril White, of the Princess Pats Regiment. Capt. White has been four years in the war and has been promoted from corporal to captain, besides being twice decorated for bravery.

Somewhere in France,
July 10, 1918.

This war is not over yet and will not be for some time to come. At least it will be eighteen months or two years before I could quit the army, unless something exceptional shows up. The war may have shown nothing of its harsh side to you over there, but we see its full fury here. Or rather, we see its effect. Whole stretches of country well wooded, villages, fields, crops, towns, factories, magnificent churches, cathedrals and chateaux, miles and miles in extent, absolutely devastated. And when I say devastated—well, you look and see no trees, houses, churches or fields, only a barren wilderness with line upon line of trenches stretching into the distance for as far as the eye can see. No sign of civilization or humanity and yet in that desolation, out of sight, are men of a dozen nationalities stirring to kill one another. The glory of war! Good God! What a term. Every weapon that the human brain can conceive is collected and concentrated solely for the main purpose of killing and destroying life and property without regard to civilization or humanity. The Hun is a thing of horror, to be wiped off the face of the earth, and to see the sights as we see them is to know it. I have seen nearly three and a half years of it and I have got over my first horror, and now I am callous, but this war is the most terrible thing that ever happened on this earth. In these days when mechanical inventions are so wonderful the life at the front becomes a thing so deadly that life counts as nothing. Shells of all calibres from 3 inches to 16 inches in diameter and lengths from one foot to nearly six feet; gas from shells, from projectors, by clouds; bombs from hand, rifles, aeroplanes; trench cannon hurling enormous masses of concentrated explosive, which tears the very bowels of the earth asunder; all this rain of iron shell pouring over the lines for the purpose of obliterating man. The present day attack is a holocaust of hell! And this is the glory of war! We who take part in it do it because we like it? Prefer to leave home to do it? Well, I guess we do not— and yet, if any man was offered a free discharge, would he accept it? He might, but I doubt it very much. Very few men would accept a decision such as is preached by pacifists, etc. This war is going to end one way and that is our way, but it may mean years and thousands and thousands of dead.

We are in the line again. Things are going along quite satisfactorily and everyone is quite cheerful and chirrupy. War is not so bad, after all!

MUNITION WORKERS WILL NOT STRIKE

American workers, to the number of 3,300, at the Western Cartridge Company at East Alton, Ill., have registered their determination never to stop working until victory crowns the American armies in France. This is the kind of patriotic co-operation which will bring victory nearer. If workers throughout the Allied world were to register the same decision, how much shorter the duration of the war would be. The moral effect would be inestimable, for it would show a coterie of nations invincibly determined to make their ideals prevail on earth. The whole efforts of the Allied peoples have never yet been put into this war and never will be as long as there is unrest among any sections of their peoples. The example of the East Alton employees is an exhibition of practical patriotism, in fact the only absolute and tangible kind, for it means that effort, under no circumstances, can be diminished.—Victoria Colonist.

IN FLANDERS' FIELD

Written by Col. John McCrae, of Guelph, Ontario, Canada, Serving in France, 1917.

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky
The larks still lovely singing fly,
Scarce heard amidst the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago,
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from falling hands we throw
The Torch—be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep though poppies grow
In Flanders' fields.

AMERICA'S ANSWER

Writen by R. W. Lillard, and appearing in The New York Evening Post.

Rest ye in peace, ye Flanders dead.
The fight that ye so bravely led We've taken up. And we will keep
True faith with you who lie asleep
With each a cross to mark his bed,
And poppies blowing overhead,
Where once his own lifeblood ran red.
So let your rest be sweet and deep
In Flanders' field.

Fear not that ye have died for nought,
The Torch ye threw to us is caught,
Ten million hands will hold it high,
And Freedom's light shall never die.
We've learned the lesson that ye taught
In Flanders' field.

12 KILLED IN MINE EXPLOSION

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 29—Twelve men were killed and four injured in the explosion of the Pacific Coast Coal Company's mine at Barnett yesterday afternoon, it was definitely learned this morning. There were 180 men in the mine at the time of the explosion.

Two more bible students were arraigned before Magistrate Jay yesterday and one was sent down for three months after refusing to pay the $200 fine imposed. They were both charged with having in their possession literature containing objectionable matter. The other man was remanded until today so that the authorities might look through the printed mater which he had in his possession.—Victoria Colonist.

The British have captured—this time in less than a week in place of in six months—Mametz wood, Contalmaison, Courcelette, Martinpuich, Warlencourt, Thiepval—what rollcall of memories there is in these fateful names! This is the last time of taking. Hereafter territory taken in France from the Hun will never again know his swinish tread. This is a prediction which we freely make, even though it may be true, as a general rule, that "prophesy is the most gratuitous form of human error."—Victoria Colonist.

A captured secret order reveals the fact that General Ludendorff has taken steps to stamp out the glowing spark of revolution. He talks of soldiers taking arms with them when on leave and of the increasing number of cases of insubordination, calling upon commanding officers to adopt the sternest measures. As the vision of impending defeat becomes more clear to the German soldier he may reveal himself as less docile than he seems and Willy may know some of the troubles which Nicky suffered and from which the former has been accustomed to think himself exempt.

LABOR DAY A BIG SUCCESS

Notwithstanding the gloomy condition of the weather on Sunday last, Monday proved an ideal day for the big sports. Large crowds of visitors arrived from all over the district and it is generally conceded to have been the best celebration pulled off in Fernie for many years.

From a financial point of view the returns were much greater than the committee expected and will net the Patriotic Fund close to $1200 after paying expenses.

The only events to mar the success of the day were a couple of accidents, in which a man named Casiraraen had his leg broken by falling from the aero railway, and a little child was slightly injured by being tramped on by a horse.

The committee in charge worked hard to have everything come off successfully and they deserve a great deal of credit. Especially was this the case with the Coal Creek boys, who had charge of the numerous games. They came down night after night and worked till all hours getting the grounds in shape.

MINERS ON STRIKE AGAIN

At a mass meeting of the miners of Gladstone Local held on Thursday it was decided to cease work at Coal Creek until the mines had been put on single shift. They also decided if they could not secure this to ask District 18 to come out in sympathy. As the mines are practically under the control of the government and as the government is looking for increased production rather than a diminished one, the chances are that they will go fully into the question of the dangers arising form a double shift, which is at present a very debatable one.

The mines at Michel, at the request of the Gladstone Local, are also idle.

Manager W. R. Wilson is out of town at present but Mr. Elias Rogers, President of the Company, who is on his way back from the coast, where he has large interests, in an interview today made the following statement:

The men are out on strike in violation of:

(A) The Lemieux Act.

(B) Their agreement.

(C) Against the advice of their District Officers. We have on file a letter signed by President Biggs and Secretary Browne, giving until October 1st to adjust this matter.

(D) Their promise to Commissioner Armstrong to do everything in their power to maintain the production of coal during the war.

The Company have nine mines in operation. The present strike cannot be said to be a result of the bump which occurred in No. 1 East Mine on the morning shift of September 4th (and from which no serious consequences resulted) as notice for a mass meeting of Gladstone Local Union was issued previous to that date, and specified that it was to propose further action regarding the S ingle Shift.

The Company refused to grant the Single Shift, with two men in a room for the following reasons:

(1) To produce the same amount of coal which is neccessary if the mines are to continue working, it would be necessary to maintain practically twice as many working places, which would expose a greater working area of coal face, and consequently greatly increase the amount of gas exuding from the coal and passing through the air current.

(2) Bumps or outbursts of gas are just as apt to occur on the morning shift as on the afternoon or night shifts.

(3) The miners argue that the afternoon and night shifts are more dangerous than the morning shift, yet their Inspection or Gas Committees invariably make their inspections on the morning shift, and also the local Mining Inspectors with one or two exceptions have made their examinations on the morning shift. This does not indicate that in the minds of either the Inspectors or Committee any greater danger, or any greater necessity for inspection, exists on the afternoon shifts than on the morning shifts whereon their customary inspections are made.

(4) If an explosion should occur on the morning shift with the mines working single shift, twice as many men would be in danger.

The men were recently offered the Single Shift provided they would work three men in a room, but two men in the narrow entries and other main development places. This would meet the demands of the men, and at the same time maintain production at approximately the present level. The men refused to accept this offer. It is evident, therefore, that it is not a matter of safety, so much as increased earnings, and other benefits which the men would derive from Single Shift.

The following precautions to guard against explosions have been taken by the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., Ltd.:

(1) Edison Electric Safety Lamps, which are as near fool proof as a safety lamp can be made, have been installed in all mines, replacing the Wolf type of Flame Safety Lamp, which is acknowledged to be the best flame safety lamp obtainable anywhere.

(2.) Shotfiring practically abolished.

(3) Rock Dust Barriers constructed

Personally, I am naturally in sympathy with labor as I have myself worked at hard labor as many as 18 hours per day for weeks together. I am anxious that every possible precaution should be taken to protect the men at work. I have been connected with the coal mining business for over forty years, and know something of mining conditions from coast to coast, and have also had connection and been acquainted with a good many mining men and I am free to say that I do not know of a better mine manager or a man who is more capable of conducting mining operations, and who is also anxious to protect the lives of men in every possible way, than our General Manager, Mr. W. R. Wilson. I am quite sure that all who know him will agree with that statement.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Esther Rebekah Lodge will hold a whist drive and dance in the K.P. hall on Thursday, Sept. 12, from 8 to 12 p.m.

Constable Arden's case has been up before Magistrate Whimster for the past two days. Major Gook is prosecuting.

Harold Anderson leaves next Tuesday for Montreal, where he will finish his musical education. Harold possesses great talent and will no doubt some day make a name for himself in the musical world.

A severe bump in the coal measures above No. 1 East Mine on Wednesdty shook the town of Coal Creek like an earthquake. The miners came out in a rush. Later investigation proved that practically no damage had been done and no one injured.

R. T. L. Galbraith, Indian Agent for Kootenay, was in the city this morning. Discussing the strike, he asked: "What is the matter with this town? Just when everything should be going at its best there always seems to be something to start trouble." We might have blamed that old squaw at Tobacco Plains who is said to have cursed this burg, but we hate to camouflage.

Jas. Falconer, who returned on Saturday from a month's trip to the coast, says that he called on nearly all the Fernie colony in Vancouver. He spent some time with Robt. McMordie, formerly a Fernie school teacher, Jas. Rennie, formerly city clerk here, Rev. Houghton, who at one time was rector of the Church of England here; Harvey Watson, Jos. Bricker, A. K. Farquharson, E. L. Wriglesworth, W. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. W. Burland, J. F. Macdonald, Dorothy Proctor, Fred Vance, H. Liphardt, J. McMaster, C. S. Skinner, Walter Brown, Walter Jeffries and a number of others, who alll wished to be remembered to their old Fernie friends. Jas. Rennie and the Rev. Houghton both have sons at the front. When they left Fernie their boys were mere babies.

SAILORS' DAY TOMORROW

Tomorrow, Saturday, Sept. 7th, is "Sailors' Day," and is being observed from coast to coast. Wherever one may be, in city, town or hamlet, the Navy League Taggers will be on hand to look you up for a small donation. No matter how small, it will help the worthy cause. Remember our soldiers who are fighting for the world's liberty, and then also remember that it is due to the men of the Navy and Merchant Marine that Tommy is able to "carry on" month after month. "Jack," as he is generally called, whether he be in the trim blue of the navy or the dungaree of the Merchant service, cheerfully suffers the hardships in order that you may be safe and in order that Tommy may have his rations and reinforcements that are from time to time going forward. Think of our food regulations ordering us to save food so that the civilian population of Britain and her Allies shall not starve and how ineffectual this would all be were it not for the gallant men who "go down to sea in ships." The silent, watching, wonderful work of the British sea services is the admiration today of the civilized world, and so little has been done for "Jack." But now he is to be looked after through the efforts of the Navy League of Canada. One of the foremost matters to be attended to by the League is the education of the children to the importance of sea power, and the functioning of a merchant service to the nation. The commencement of this will be brought about through the B.C. Educational Department this coming term in the schools.

The following is a little testimony from one of the boys in the trenches to "Jack":

To you—to you,
Gentlemen all, so brave,
Who sail the restless wave,
O'er waters deep and blue,
We from the trenches and the bloody mire,
Ere (it may be tomorrow) we expire,
Send greetings true.

Ye guess not, as ye go,
Groping in darkness slow,
Or free before the wind,
Where the grim shade may wait
That holds the key of Fate,
What doom ye find:
But your unconquerable mind,
Dauntless scorning threat of mine and shell,
Sweeping past death and hell,
Follows what path duty's clear star may show.

The low door is not far from any feet
Here where the world's ways meet,
Where all roads merge towards eternity,
Yet, though we die tonight,
The thought of you makes bright
The shadow that awaits us silently.
For, though the years be tired, the passing long,
Since first our island breed grew strong,
And sailed through all the portways of the earth,
Beating up every strait,
Through every ocean gate
And o'er the seas that widened to the stars,
Chasing the flying sun through death and birth,
The old flag on our spars,
Still warms the blood with the brave pulse it had,
Throbs with the ancient laughter,
Battle-glad—
Be whoso 'fore or after,
This let them know,
On our sea-tracks we go,
Whate'er they say;
Our fathers' deathless might
Won us that right,
The freedom of the seas till Judgment Day.

We hear your witness to the eternal truth—
We hail the proofs of your undying youth,
Who go in ships before all winds that be,
Who, even when death assails you on the waves,
Go fearless through the deep. Still from your graves
Ye hold the sea.
When, out of hell, broke the black brood of Night,
Plunging the world in fear, ye knew no dread.
To hungry hearts that prayed for morning's light
Ye brought their daily bread,
Kept the doors open, looking o'er the brine,
Held firm for Freedom hope's long battle line,
Dragged the rich trawl of glittering treasure home
Over the deadly foam;
Said to the nations, "Follow where oceans flow,
By tide and wave."
And with your lives ye pledged the word ye gave.

All hail—all hail,
Ye gentlemen of honour, who do sail,
Life-bringers to us all, in trench and town.
While men shall not forget,
While troth is living yet,
The glory of your name can ne'er go down.

NOTES ON LABOR DAY

What happened to Al's tank on Labor Day?

Tom McGladrey is reported to have made over a hundred bones on Labor Day with his carryall.

Johnny Long Time Star vindicated his name by carrying off quite a bunch of the prize money.

Talk about women gamblers. Why you couldn't chase them away from those Coal Creek games with a gat.

J. S. Irvine makes an ideal tin horn. His roulette game always was run to suit the crowd. He had a nice little ten cent edge for the ladies, four bits for the proletariat and a dollar a throw for the pluts.

Of all the "knock 'em down and drag 'em out" games that the Coal Creek boys pulled off, the duck game surely got the money. A man didn't have any more chance than he would if "Old Smoothy" had been taking the rakeoff. Receipts of game $63; amount paid to players 0.

We wonder if Doc. Workmman was the father of that aerial railway. It must have been either him or Curly Thomson. Somebody had a personal interest in it. Every other time the car would stall leaving the passenger hanging in the air with a drop of 20 feet beneath him. If he had a good grip he would occasionally wriggle along, if not the ground was soft. One man was reported to have been killed, but it turned out to be only a compound fracture of the leg.

A quiet wedding took place at the Church of England at 8.30 on Wednesday morning, when Mr. Allan J. Smith, of Surf Inlet, formerly of Coal Creek, was united in marriage to Miss Maude Pearson, daughter of Mrs. R. Pearson, of Fernie. The bride was assisted by Miss E. Benning and the groom by Mr. Archie Prentice. After the ceremony the young people partook of a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride and then took the train for the coast, where they will spend their honeymoon. The young couple, who will make their future home at Surf Inlet, have the best wishes of a host of Fernie friends.

THE TEARS OF MRS. HOHENZOLLERN

The German empress, in company with Prince Joachim, one of the kaiser's six sons who have as yet escaped injury in the war, visited recently some new hospitals in the Rhine towns, says the New York Evening Sun. These were crowded with wounded soldiers, mostly Prussians, from the zone of the German offensive along the Marne, which collapsed. At Strassburg the kaiserin saw so many wounded that she broke down and wept.

The kaiserin's tears have good reason to flow. Her royal husband applied the torch to Europe. Upon her family rests the responsibility for the present plight of all the German people. Her tears fall as symbols of the great flood of tears which German women are fated to shed for a hundred years because "Germany's military necessity" knew no law.

The kaiserin wept for the wounded. She may well weep for them and for the great armies of German dead whose lives have paid the price of Prussian ambition. So great a lady as the kaiserin might even spare a tear for the unhappy women and children of Belgium, whose sex and helplessness could not defend them against her husband's soldiers, who were stronger than these unarmed noncombatants. Are there no tears for all the dead in France, the unnumbered thousands tortured and slain in Poland, in Siberia, in Armenia, at the bidding of the kaiser? The kaiserin's tears may flow in a stream as great as the Rhine, but the guilt cannot be washed away. Moreover, no German of any degree has learned as yet to shed tears of repentance; they weep in self-pity. Of the broken and contrite heart they have no conception.

The awful retribution which is to fall upon Germany for the next cycle of years is already foreshadowed. Germany's men are slaughtered or crippled; her women are bereft. Upon them rests the curse of grinding toil performed under the unpitying scorn of a whole world for a people who delivered up their souls and minds at the bidding of rulers who saved them the trouble of thinking for themselves, reading justice, doing right.

The air of the world will be filled with the sobs and howlings of Germans for many years to come. A people degenerated so close to madness can have no conception of proper behaviour. Their life will be regulated for them by the rest of the world, because they have shown their unfitness for any free hand of their own.

HEAVY CASUALTIES

In his annual report given to the meeting of the B.C. and Yukon Division of the Canadian Press Association, Inc., at Vancouver, last Friday, President Sutherland made one statement among others that is fraught with significance—and shows plainly the difficulties that newspapers in this province have had to contend with since the kaiser let loose his dogs of war over four years ago. The statement was that 41 newspapers have occupied a secluded spot in the journalistic graveyard in this province since the war started.

The average man is apt to think that the publisher of a newspaper has one sublime path of roses; that, generally, he has an easy row to hoe and that he is in the habit of making loads of cash at any and all times. As a matter of fact exactly the opposite is the case, as those in the business are only too painfully aware. Possibly no calling has been hit harder by the war—and yet there is no real complaint.

Speaking of the entire craft, every one of them in this province has stood loyally behind the government, provincial and federal, in all efforts at prosecuting the war. They have given in almost unstinted quantity of their space—the thing they have to sell to make a living—to help in the great cause for humanity and right, and they are still doing it, for the most part without money and without price. Dailies and weeklies have steadily gone by the board in the stress. Not a few members of the profession have donned khaki and some have made glory for themselves. Their record is one of which no member of the profession has reason to feel ashamed, for they have simply done their duty.—Trail News.

DEALERS MUST NOT SELL UNSOUND EGGS

For ignoring the regulation which calls for a reckoning for bad eggs purchased from producers or country dealers, over and above an allowance of one per cent, the William Davies Company and the Matthews-Blackwell Co., both of Montreal, have been forbidden to buy, sell or otherwise deal in eggs for 30 days. According to the regulations in force since June 1 last, every dealer placing eggs in cold storage is required to furnish to the operator of the warehouse a statement in writing certifying that such eggs have been candled and that bad or unsound eggs have been removed. No licensee of the Canada Food Board is permitted to pay or demand payment for bad eggs in excess of an allowed margin of one per cent on the total amount of the transaction. The object of the Canada Food Board was to make the handling of such eggs unprofitable for the dealer, who is now obliged to charge them back against those from whom they are originally purchased. In the case of the two companies under suspension, it was found that no attempt had been made to charge back for unsound eggs in this way, although the candling records showed percentages running as high as fourteen. A firm in Charlottetown has been disciplined in the same way for a similar offence.

In these times of high prices for eggs and every other food commodity, the consumer is doubly entitled to fresh eggs bought in good faith in the regular way. Producers should be careful of the stock they sell and dealers should be watchful of the stock they buy.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS

Why shouldn't the women vote? I see a lot of them reading the sport page every morning, looking for the best tips are Saratoga.

A man thinks he is some engineer because he can shave himself, but a woman can sharpen a lead pencil with a pair of scissors.

A 1918 bride is certain that she will not look next year as the 1917 crop looks today.

Judging by the way they dress, a whole lot of the women seem to think the men are from Missouri.

Love may not be the most lasting thing in the world, but the woman who marries without love deserves a divorce without alimony.

Many a man who never got past the fourth grade in a school has to support a son who is a college graduate. War or no war, this country would have all the revenue it needed if every man could be taxed according to his personal valuation.

If there is a big fire around the corner and a woman sees a crowd running in her direction she feels for the back of her skirt to see if she is attracting all the attention because she sat down in something.

It makes a bald-headed man mad to think that he has to shave every day where he doesn't need any hair.

What doth it profit a man to make a dollar outside of his regular income when it makes his wife feel that she can afford to spend two?

Love isn't what keeps a married couple together for 20 or 30 years. It is merely common sense.

When they are engaged the mother of the young man knows that no girl is good enough for her son and the mother of the girl knows that no man is good enough for her daughter. And after they have been married a while both members of the sketch begin to realize that their mothers were correct.

Once in a while every married man gets a yen to go out and make a jackass of himself. And a wise wife will let him go ahead. He will soon come back with a headache and an empty nosebag and will be willing to do anything in the world to get back into his stall.

Any rummy can be up early in the morning. But getting up early in the morning is a different matter.

GERMAN MASONS AND THE WAR

During the last month there was held in Berlin a meeting of the grand masters and chief dignitaries of the grand lodges of Free Masons of Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria, Finland, Germany and Turkey. The object of this gathering, to which special attention was devoted by the Kaiser in person was, it is known, in spite of all attempts at secrecy, the launching of a peace drive amongst the Masonic lodges of all the allied powers. Such tactics might be regarded as legitimate diplomacy if these very lodges had not turned their back upon all their obligations as Free Masons, in the early stages of the war. On the authority of the sovereign grand commander of the Grand Council, Southern Jurisdiction, of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry, the Mother Supreme Council of the World, this paper was able to show that when an attempt was made simply to interest the German Free Masons in a kindly way, in the unhappy lot of allied prisoners of war, the German grand master utterly repudiated the proposal, and wrote back, "No, they are enemies, and Masonry in Germany means nothing in war." Yet it is the German Masonic lodges, which were guilty of this repudiation of as much as an ordinarily kindly hand-shake with Masonic prisoners of war, which are now busying themselves in promoting a pro-German peace party in the Masonic lodges of the victorious allies.—Christian Science Monitor.

A NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT

During the past few months much of the energy of the British navy has been concentrated upon the protection of the transports with American troops for France. It has been a wonderful achievement in face of an ever-watchful and dangerous fleet of submarines to transfer a million men to Europe, 600,000 of them in British vessels. The British navy may therefore claim a share in turning the tide in France. Vigilant, silent, invisible (except to the enemy) it has contributed much to the victory of General Foch. In this connection we must take exception to the statement of General Smuts yesterday that the time was not far distant when the American army in France would be as large as the French and English put together. Such a statement is silly.—Daily Mail, London.

Value in Fish Waste

In Liverpool, England, a plant has been installed for the utilization of fish waste, and the fats obtained therefrom find a ready sale at about $400 per ton. A meal made from the residue and used for feeding live stock and poultry retails at over $100 a ton.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENT

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions, with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained on these claims in less than 5 years, with improvements of $10 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years.

Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes, areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

TOWNSITE PROPERTY ALLOTMENT ACT.

Provision is made for the grant to persons holding uncompleted Agreements to Purchase from the Crown of such proportion of the land, if divisible, as the payments already made will cover in proportion to the sale price of the whole parcel. Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchaser from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjustment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

BOLSHEVISM IN BRITAIN

London.—The outstanding item in recent news here is the painful episode of the labor strike. Whatever its cause, or whoever may be responsible, its occurrence at this moment of crisis was wholly indefensible. It is not necessary to discuss the details of the affair—perhaps no one either inside or outside of the limits of the strike, is in a position to do that—but thisis not the time for discussing the details of a quarrel. The ominous fact is that at the supreme crisis of the war, when its issues are in course of actual decision, a section of British workers were in revolt against their own government, and the men "confident that they hold the whip hand," were supporting the arms of the enemy in the field by their action at home. It is always so, says the pessimist: when things appear critical at the front, there is, sure to be some person at home, either in Parliament or out, "pacifists," or others, who try to force a decision in favor of the Germans. And then instantly the irritated imagination suggests all kinds of enemy interference and machination, and pay. Really there has been so much to support this view that it is a most plausible if a most unhealthy and helpful one.

The press news this latest morning of all is that "smiths and strikers in three shops at Newcastle-on-Tyne" passed a resolution yesterday to remain at work until instructions were received from their Executive "and further expressing the view that German influence was the cause of the present unrest." It may be so certainly. German influence is so ubiquitous, unscrupulous and subtle, that we do not wonder it is suspected everywhere. General opinion classes these agitators and troublemakers into "defeatist" and ,'pacifists"—that is political pacifists. Even the Star, which is supposed to favor the latter especially in their opposition to Lloyd George, says of the former, "A 'defeatist' is not always a man who wants his country to be defeated, he is more often a man who expects his country to be defeated," that is to say, he is not a traitor but a coward. His gospel is: "Since we can never win, we ought to make terms." "I think adds the writer, "I would rather be an ordinary traitor." It is a nice point, but hardly worth discussion. Anyway, he is doing the German work and whether under the influence of "anonymous sums of money," whose ghostly intrusion into even the most unexpected spheres is amazing, or not, does not affect the conclusion. Perhaps the actual truth may be approached by adopting another dichotomy—that of the fortune seeker and the egotist—and these two are really one except that the one section of the class is composed of insatiable profit makers, and the other of intractable egotists; otherwise, in spirit and aim, and largely in results, they are the same.

As it seems to the outside, the "man in the street," the strikers entered a conflict with the government to get their own way and secure their own interests regardlless of everyone but themselves. This is abundantly clear no matter what else may be involved. We judge from the indisputable evidence before the public. And first of all is this, that one strike was an unofficial one and one made in obstinate opposition to the men's own leaders and to the endeavors of the government, which even if it may not always act wisely, according to the opinion of individuals, is yet the responsible authority, and is conducting under very different circumstances, the affairs of the nation.

Apparently the government did everything in its power to conciliate the men and was supported by the labor authorities, with, probably, certain interesting exceptions. Mr. Churchill in parliament, referring to the strike, which had then taken place, said that before issuing orders the ministry had for weeks and even months taken fully and thoroughly the advice of the responsible leaders of the trades unions. What had occurred now was due to the action initiated, not by those responsible but by other forces unorganized, or leaders, nor by the local leaders unofficiall organized which were below them. This statement in parliament is corroborated by the facts. There had, said the minister, been absolutely no lack of touch or discussion. The advice of the local associations representing the trades concerned, to the men, to remain at work, had been thrown over by purely unorganized forces outside. According to the facts a relatively small number of munition firms — about a hundred, out of an aggregate of 32,000—received notice from the Ministry of Munitions that they must not take on new men for certain classes of work without the minister's license. His expert advisers considered that these firms had already an excessive number of skilled men, and were attracting others to the detriment of munitions production. The trade union leaders approved the action of the Ministry, but the shop stewards opposed it. At the beginning of the week a "poster" issued by the Ministry of Munitions, urging munition workers to continue at their work, since a stoppage would do much injury to the cause of the allies, and appealing to their patriotism, was placarded in Coventry, Manchester and Birmingham. The serious penalties of the Defence of the Realm Act that would be incurred by those who incited others to strike were also pointed out.

Concerning this the Minister of Labor, G. H. Roberts, in a speech outside parliament, said that if it had been a matter between employer and employed, instead of between the government and the workers, the strike might have been pursued without those engaged in it laying themselves open to the operation of the Military Service Act. As it was a strike against the state, he was sure that public opinion would agree that the strikers ought not to be exempted from the operation of the Act. If they persisted in withholding their labor at a time of extreme emergency, it was only right that they should be called up to fight. In this lies the gravamen of the whole affair. We may not be specially concerned in the issue of a party fight, and we certainly have no exception to take against legitimate and wise agitation. But the nation in the crisis of a life and death struggle, and the assumption of the dictatorial or 'non posseemus' attitude by any party or any number of irresponsible individuals is indefensible; it is madness and results from a fatal egotism or selfishness, which must defeat itself. There is no denying the fact that those who fight against their country fight against themselves, for only as open and avowed rebels can they separate between their own interests and those of the country to which they belong. In any case they must reach ultimate defeat and disaster. If the enemy is ultimately defeated they will share in that defeat to the extent of their complicity, and if the enemy be successful, unless they have an understanding with the enemy, they will reap no advantage and even then, as recent events in Russia show clearly enough, they will have scant consideration. Russia and Rumania, to say nothing of the other cases involved, show what treatment would be in store for them, whereas the treachery involved surpasses description. It is hard to write tamely about such matters; the very thought is appalling.

But let us be quite clear; the point at issue in the present instance was not the balance of the pros and cons of a dispute but the far more serious question of who shall govern: the duly accredited Ministers of State or a number of irresponsible individuals, whatever their personal grievance or status be. It is exceedingly regrettable that this issue should have been raised and especially at this time. From any point of view the action of the strike was over hasty and undisciplined and in the present situation could not be defended. Look at it how one will, the conclusion cannot be avoided, not only that both treachery and treason were involved, but that it was the shrewdest blow to their country's interests and even its very existence that could possibly be conceived. There is a time for everything and whatever the justification pleaded there was a better way and a more propitious time. Democratic government is doomed if the will of the small sections is to be imposed at random; and democracy itself a misnomer in the situation.

It is not surprising therefore that the government should have taken strong action to suppress the strike. It could not do otherwise and maintain its position. But it is a thousand pities that any attempt at all should have been made to hinder its action or to tie its hands at the moment it is engaged in the biggest task that ever fell to human authority.

SEPTEMBER COMING

September, genial, mild and calm, is coming like a soothing balm. Perhaps, regardless of the cost, she'll bring along an early frost, and that will swat more kinds of flies than man can swat howe'er he tries. But if she doesn't bring that boon she'll soothe our spirits pretty soon; she'll heal, with breezes cool and sweet, our chigger wounds and prickly heat. September comes, so don't despond, but save the coin to buy a bond; the fourth big war loan will appear before October's dawn is here, and in the crisp September air we surely ought to do our share. For then we're full of pep and snap, and fit for frolic or for scrap, and we can hustle up the mon, and look upon the stunt as fun. The summer is a long ordeal; like false alarms all people feel; they're wited and they're all run down; ah, then it's hard to chase through town to rustle scads for any cause, however good it is or was. But in September, when the breeze puts ginger in our spines and knees, and makes us feel like yearling colts, exertion brings no jars and jolts. And we can dig up many bones, and welcome Uncle Sam his loans, and start the autumn feeling right, our consciences all shining bright.

GERMAN OFFICER ATTACKS GIRL

A happy Belgian maiden, seeing her prospective husband clubbed to death with the butt end of a musket, under orders from General von Kluck; her father shot down and herself torn from the arms of her aged gandmother by a German officer, Capt. von Hancke, who fortunately was unable to accomplish his evil purpose, these experiences of Ruth Clifford provide but a slight idea of the atrocities of the German barbarians in their advance through Belgium, that are faithfully and authentically shown, with many heretofore unknown insights into the private life of the German emperor, as played by Rupert Julian, in his sensational screen expose of the German brutes, "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," to be seen at the Orpheum, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 11 and 12.

FABULOUS WAGES ATTRIBUTED TO MINERS ARE NOT MYTHICAL

Are the fabulous wages which miners earn a myth?

They are and they are not.

When a man who cannot speak the language of the country, or write his own name, can earn $6000 a year swinging a pick and loading coal, consumers will think they have found an explanation of the high prices they are asked to pay for fuel

The point has been reached where a man can make that money. It has been done. Yet the man who did it was not adding any more to the cost of coal than others working in the same mine who didn't earn one-fifth as much. They were all paid on the same basis per ton. He simply was an expert and an Atlas. The more money he earned the more he was doing to increase the supply of coal available, without increasing the per ton cost to mine operators or consumers.

Pay sheets of the company for which he worked were placed at the disposal of the Winnipeg Free Press. Items taken at random showed that in the first two weeks of May he earned $242.75 and in the last two weeks of the same month, $230 — a pittance of over $470 a month. In a little over two years he earned enough in this mine to pay over $4000 for a farm, in addition to purchasing stock and equipment for it. This case was an exception, but wages generally appear to admit of a very good livelihood.

There are two general classifications of mine labor. The first is the day labor employed above ground and in other occupations than actually cutting out and loading the coal underground. The coal is taken out by the second classification, which is called contract labor. Contract labor is paid on the coal tonnage cut out and loaded on the mine cars in the shafts or rooms. The average price for this work is probably $1 per ton, the figure shifting slightly backward or forward according to local conditions under which coal is taken out in various mines.

Thus it may be taken as indicative of the situation to state that, generally speaking a miner taking out an average of seven tons of coal a day earns an average of approximately $7 per day. As has been pointed out, men earn more. In the instance quoted earlier in this article, the miner averaged close to $20 per day. A glance through the pay rolls of the North American Collieries, Ltd., a company operating in practically all Alberta fields, disclosed that the average wage of steady workers was close to $10 per day, many running from $14 to $17. The average created by the regular miners is considerably reduced when a figure for the Alberta industry is struck, chiefly as a result of the number of men who work half shifts and of the employment of those who are not experienced miners. Mine Administrator Armstrong has lately completed the compilation of averages for contract workers over the whole district and these show the daily average as $7.05.

Up to the end of July no figures were available to show the average daily earnings of day labor in the mines of the province. It was broadly stated that the recent advances in the United States have brought day mine wages there above the Alberta average and this is quite probably true. Prior to that advance it was claimed by Alberta operators that the wages paid in that field were the highest for the kind of work in the world.

NEW SUGAR TREATMENT MAY PROVE REMEDY FOR DREAD TUBERCULOSIS

Rome, Italy, Aug. 31,—(Special)—Italian scientific press credits Prof. Domencio Lo Monaco with a discovery that will revolutionize the treatment of tuberculosis. Prof. Monaco is director of the Brochemical section of the Lincer Academy of Rome.

His method is based on the use of sugar in decreasing the bronchial secretions The significance of this is that the bronchial secretions is an indispensable vehicle for the existence and development of tubercle bacilli, or what are commonly known as consumption germs. The sugar used by the professor is in the form of a sort of saccharose and is injected under the skin. A comprehensive interview with him recently appeared in La Tribuna of Rome. Part of it translated quotes the professor as saying:

"For eleven years I have made an exhaustive study of sugars. Many have been the preceding experiments on the action of sugars, but as to their influence on secretions little or nothing was known, particularly when introduced in large quantities in a milk solution, in order to obtain a diuretic effect. But after my own and my pupils' experiments in the clinical application of this new therapeutic method we succeeded in obtaining definite results. We observed very carefully, first in certain animals, then in men, both healthy and pathological, the secretions of the liver and kidneys. Our experimentation was simultaneously aimed at establishing the mechanics of action of the sugars and to demonstrate this by artificial circulation in the separate organs which in serum jars expanded with small doses and contracted with strong doses. The reaction which they present is rapid and energetic.

"The action of the sugars in the serum jars remains absolutely demonstrated.

"Other experiments were made to ascertain the action of sugars on patients; thus their effect was studied on heart, liver, lung, and kidney tissues and upon internal hemorrhages.

"I have always employed, with magnificent results, the solution of saccharose through injections whether in isolated wounds, superficial hemorrhages, or in cavities left by surgical operations.

"The most powerful emostatic action of sugars is just as pronounced on superficial, as it is on internal, hemorrhages and with a cleansing effect on isolated wounds. Besides a pronounced action was also manifested on glandular tissues, which became active with small doses.

"From these results I became convinced that sugars ought to have a most signal effect upon pulmonary tuberculosis.

"The solution of sugar injected under the skin of patients suffering from pulmonary secretions rapidly brought about a diminution in the quantity of the bronchial secretions thrown off until it was so reduced that there was none.

"The proof that the drying up of the bronchial secretions is due to the action of the sugar is demonstrated by the fact that when the injections are suspended the quantity of the secretion increases; when they are resumed it diminishes.

"On my advice the results of these observations were at once applied at one of the base hospitals by Dr. Lucherini on soldiers suffering from specific bronchial pulmonary trouble in advanced stages and they showed the best of results.

"After I had established the energetic action of sugars on bronchial secretions, I undertook other experiments to see if the treatment, continued for long periods and begun at various stages of the disease, would result in modifying the anatomic and clinical conditions of the lungs.

"From the observation of cases placed under treatment, whether the founts of the secretions were reduced or the quantity of the secretions diminished, when examined clinically, the lungs did not present pronounced bronchial dilations; at the same time, as long as these leisons existed at all, the secretions diminished but did not cease.

"The cases we have treated have not yet been sufficient to establish a complete clinical regimen for this therapeutic method, but from now on it will be more and more utilized until an exact regimen has been established. The gradual diminution of the bronchial secretion and its final disappearance in arresting the progress of the disease and on the vitality and fecundity of tubercle bacilli. The remedy also tends to arrest the degeneration of the pulmonary tissues and of all other complications which are the cause of the formation of cavities and other phenomena of 'incurability.'

"At the same time other parts of the lungs are relieved from the added work imposed upon them by the presence of a large quantity of secretion, and are gradually able to return to their normal, tranquil function.

"The general adoption of the use of sugar injections in tuberculous patients has also a great prophylactic advantage. It has been noted that one of the principal causes of the spread of tuberculosis is due to the respiration of the person afflicted and by his ejection of sputum; both breath and sputum contain the bacilli, which live and develop long after the secretion has dried. As the use of sugar injections diminishes the quantity of secretion which is ejected in both breath and sputum, it follows that the field for the activity of the bacilli is reduced and, with it, the danger of infection. Moreover, the action of sugar on the secretion has been found to sterilize both breath and sputum and to reduce to a minimum the period of infection—in other words, to shorten the life of the bacilli."

ONLY ONE WAY TO PEACE

The Labor Leaders of Great Britain set a fine example to those in Canada who essay to speak for the organized workers. There is no doubt about where the former stand in the great question of carrying on the war to a conclusive victory. "Labor must fight for the spirit of democracy, or must surrender," declared Mr. J. R. Clynes, the Food Minister, who is acknowledged one of the most advanced labor leaders in England. Labor could never admit, he added, the Kaiser's claim of ruling by divine right, and he reminded those pacifists, of which the Labor ranks has its full share as other classes, that the German terms can never be acceptable as long as they are backed up by merely pacifist methods, for such methods will not help to bring peace. As he told the National Federation of General Workers, if the war was terminated by negotiation on the lines of what the pacifists proposed, it would simply mean a more terrible fight for future generations. "I am certainly not in favor of any steps being taken to go on stating our terms," he said, "to go on modifying them, paring them down, until they have reached a stage which the German worker is prepared to accept. I do not pretend to say that we can absolutely destroy the spirit of Prussianism, which is driving the German army to their doom. I believe it is the German people thmselves who will have to destroy their terrible spirit of militarism. At the same time our gallant armies and allies must fight on and do their utmost to destroy that which is a barrier in the way of democracy."

Mr. Ben Tillet, speaking at the same gathering, said that he was convinced there was no commercialists or organized workingmen in Germany who at present wanted peace, as they all believed that the Kaiser, the military classes and the sword would solve their problems for them.

Thus there is no question about it being necessary to fight it out. The victorious advance of the allied armies from Rheims to Ypres is the one thing that will bring the German people to their senses. The Germans living along the Rhine are already beginning to fear an allied advance. Once that fear gains ground there may become articulate the view of those Germans — as we can see it now, a very small band — who do not believe in the invincibility of the German general staff or of the German armies, and then there may be peace proposals that bear the right stamp. But, until then, as Lord Robert Cecil, speaking for the British Ministry, has declared, the allies have made up their minds that the only way to obtain peace is on the field of battle, and they are determined to carry on the war to victory.

RUSSELLITES MUST PAY IMPOSED FINES

Victoria Colonist: After Alexander McCarter, dentist, had been sentenced to three months' imprisonment for failure to pay the $200 fine imposed for having banned Bible Students literature in his possession, City Prosecutor Harrison asked that a distress warrant be sisued to pay the fine, and thus do away with the expense of keeping McCarter at Okalla. Magistrate Jay decided that he would issue the warrant, and do so in future cases as well. Accused then claimed that he did not have sufficient property to pay the fine, as he lived in a rented house and spent his money as fast as he made it. The Sheriff will look into the matter.

McCarter asked for a remand so that he might put his affairs in order, as he was a dentist, and there was certain business to be settled. The Magistrate, however, could see no need for such a remand and ruled that the trial proceed.

Detective Heather testified to finding Bible Student publications in accused's house. McCarter stated to the Court that the Bible had meant nothing to him before he had read the works of Pastor Russell, and he did not think the Bible any good without his works. For forty years he had searched for truth and knowledge, and in the banned matter he had found both.

In two former cases application was made for distress warrants, but they had been refused by the court.

VAST WEALTH IN FIND

Manitoba, striving young province of 550,000 population, is rich enough to defray the whole colossal cost of the war. The untold riches of Byzantium are not a drop in the bucket that will be necessary to hold the stupendous wealth Manitobans are about to gouge from a narrow strip of territory six miles north of the Greater Winnipeg Water District railway near Falcon. Millions of tons of sheetlite, prominent in the tungsten group — the mineral without which the allies would have succumbed long ago to the onslaughts of the German horde — and millions of tons of malybdenite, together with a huge dyke of potash, equally necessary in the prosecution of the war, have been discovered at Winnipeg's back door.

White Corn Syrup For Canning

For home preserving the pure white corn syrup gives the best results. The yellow or golden syrup, with which many people are familiar as used on the breakfast table, may be employed in preserving, but it has a distinctive flavor which makes it less suitable than white corn syrup. The fruit jar should be filled with the prepared raw fruit, then covered with syrup and finished off in the usual way

USE THE ELECTRIC WELDING PROCESS

The first steel vessel built without rivets, so far as is known, has just been launched on the south coast of England. The production of this vessel, it is considered, may mark an epoch in shipbuilding, the plates being fused together by electric welding in one process. General adoption of the process, with an estimated saving of from 20 to 25 per cent in both time and material.

The United States shipping board, it is understood, has been in close touch with the experiment, with the result that arrangements are said to be in hand for the building of a number of 10,000 ton standard ships after this plan, in the production of which the riveters will become welders.

LIFT YOUR CORNS OFF WITH FINGERS

Tells how to loosen a tender corn or callus so it lifts out without pain.

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told by a Cincinnati authority to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn or callus the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off with the fingers.

Freezone dries the moment it is applied, and simply shrivels the corn or callus without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any of the drug stores, but will positively rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or hardened callus. If your druggist hasn't any freezone he can get it at any wholesale drug house for you.

Basic Facts About Belting

AND PARTICULARLY

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Transmission Belting

A Worthy Product

Years of careful study of the high-power belt problem have enabled Dunlop Laboratory experts to create "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting, the original Red Face Rubber Belting of Canada—a product worthy of the Dunlop Factories and of the quarter-century record of success back of them.

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Virtues Are Real

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to-day widely used in a multitude of ways in the many varied industries in this country. It owes its success, not to any illogical deductions or fantastic analyses, but to the simplest causes—causes so simple that they are now, always have been, and always will be, in our opinion, the bedrock of success in belt-making—Power, Speed, Service—in actual use as well as in the test-room.

Permanent Elasticity Means "Life" in Belting

In producing this new, this original, this master, red belt, our object has been to have the friction coat of rubber between the plies such as will retain its life indefinitely, and to have a quality of rubber with long "fingers," and not a quality of rubber the elasticity of which has been sacrificed to obtain the so-called high-pulling test.

That "Friction Pull"

When you are informed that such-and-such a belt has a "friction-pull" of abnormal poundage, do not imagine that you are getting a quality friction. What you have to secure in a belt is a friction full of elasticity. There must be between the plies of duck only a certain class of rubber to give uniform strength and pliability.

Resilient Quality Must Not Be Sacrificed To Excess of Friction Strength

To obtain high figures, such as referred to above, in belt frictions you have to take away from the elasticity of the friction; hence, there is a happy medium, and this medium we have obtained through our laboratory experts. It ensures for you a belt, the friction of which will hold the plies together and will be sufficiently elastic in its properties to allow for the give and take necessary in rounding the pulleys.

Duck Finest Obtainable, Made to Highest Specifications

A highly important feature of "Gibraltar RedSpecial" is the duck which enters into its construction. Only the finest quality of specially-selected duck, having the proper tensile strength in the right direction, is used. And this, in combination with a superior rubber friction between the plies, ensures absolute uniformity of service.

Universal Recognition of "Gibraltar RedSpecial"

To cite the names of users of this famous, red frictioned-surface belt would necessitate the use of much space. We have on file recommendations from almost every type of industry requiring "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting in widths varying from 1½" to 48." These testimonials are available for your perusal at any time.

Fills The Bill

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to be found in practically every industry in Canada, and if it is Power, Speed and Service that you want, then it is "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Belting that you require for your work.

The Original "Red"

"Gibraltar RedSpecial," as noted previously, is the Original Red Rubber Belt—and like most things that are original, its success is of the kind that endures.

STRAIGHT TALK TO THE HUNS

Good propaganda as a rule demands a deal of trouble. Some, the other day, took shape of its own accord. There are in the American army a large number of men with German names and of German ancestry, but a generation or so of the States has purged them of Boche ideas.

They make good soldiers. The habit of obedience is still in their blood but mixed with it is a new view of human responsbility and a power of critical expression towards those in authority entirely un-Teutonic.

A company largely composed of these men marching towards the front met a column of German prisoners. The Germans were slouching along, when their heads were lifted in amazement as they suddenly found themselves assailed trenchantly and abusively in their mother tongue by the new-comers.

The torrent swept them with contempt for their obedience to such a misconceived hound as the kaiser, for their taking sides with Prussian devils against all decent people the world over, and for the making themselves the scum of the earth by their methods of fighting, so that their relatives in a free country had to come 4000 miles to wipe them off the face of it.

REGULATIONS ARE BEING ENFORCED

Within the last few weeks many fines and closing up orders have been inflicted as penalties for violation of the Canada Food Board's regulations in various parts of Canada. Some of the convictions have been obtained by the Canada Food Board's own inspectors, and many more by municipal police authorities. It is the duty of local officials to see that these important regulations are enforced, as they have the full authority of law.

THE DEFEAT OF SENATOR VARDAMAN

The Senator who said that "the United States stabbed Germany in the back while France and England held her down"; that "American youths are to be fed to the Moloch of war so the European people who prefer a King should be forced, at American dictation, to take a Republican or Democratic President as their ruler"; that "the cause of this war was the interference on the part of Germany with commerce between New York and London"; that the war was "purely a matter of pecuniary profit"—this man will not be in the Senate after March 3, 1919. Representative Harrison, a sound, loyal American, will succeed this Senator who voted against the Armed Ship bill, the declaration of war, conscription; who opposed practically every war measure, though he promised to support the war after it was declared. His sneers and snarls will not be heard no more in Washington.

SAYS BRITAIN IS MODEST ABOUT LOSS

"One of the British traits of character, in which you take a natural pride, may be a weakness in times like these. That is modesty in your public statements. When Britain does a job well, she considers that she need not tell the world about it. That is all right to a certain extent, but there is a limit. The United States is giving the freest publicity to its war efforts, and it can be done without boasting."

Mr. Arthur Hunter, chief actuary of the New York Life Insurance Company, made this statement last night before an audience of 300 persons in the Empress hotel ballroom. He was referring to the tremendous sacrifices in mortality which Britain has made in the war and the fact that little was heard of just what this staggering burden amounted to in the aggregate.

In his address Mr. Hunter gave facts and figurues as to the influence of tuberculosis, alcoholism, cancer, social disease and other physical conditons of the world's death rate, incidentally describing the relationship between these subjects and life insurance.

Speaking of England's sacrifices, he said that the records of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, the dominant insurance company doing business with the industrial classes of Great Britain, showed this: That the death rate among men of 20 years was in 1915 five times what it was in 1913—a normal year; in 1916, nine times the average, and last year twelve times the average. In other words, where five men died in the year before the war, sixty died last year. These figures showed the extent of war's inroads on the young manhood of Great Britain. In 1914, he said, the rate of mortality among men of 30 years was two and a half times what it was in 1913, and in 1917 five times the total in 1913. He also presented figures to show that among the men over fighting age the death rate was reduced, so that the wage-earners of Britan were not suffering from bad nutrition or poor food.

"Nothing shows the wonderful bravery of the British nation to such an extent as these few figures," Mr. Hunter asserted.

Mr. Hunter stated that the fact of a person having tuberculosis in the family did not in itself indicate personal danger. It all depended on the weight and age of the individual and his physical susceptibility to the disease. "The lesson is clear," he stated, "that if the tendency is towards tuberculosis the people must be well fed and well nourished. If a community is to keep its tubercular death rate low it must see that the young are properly nourished. That is the first essential to a healthy community.

"The man or woman who is over age, particularly if he or she is of mature age, is a distinctly poor risk. You can say a person is big-boned and has a big frame and was active in his youth, but the fact remains that there is heavy mortality among the heavy. When a person is young, being 35 per cent over average weight does not count for much. But in the case of a man of 55 who is 35 per cent over-weight that is a vastly different thing." He said that the tendency with people who had suffered with pleurisy was to contract tubercular trouble more easily than others. They must therefore exercise special care in their nourishment.

"Investigators for our company and others have found that there is a high mortality among men suffering from what we term social diseases," even though they may have received medical treatment for two years," Mr. Hunter continued. "It has been found that the death rate among men so afflicted is eighty per cent higher than normal. Not only do they die earlier but their active life is shortened by softening of the brain and locomotor ataxia. These conclusions are confirmed by Scandinavian and German investigators.

"Now that prohibition is so generally in force, we may consider that there are no drinkers nowadays. However a few figures may help you to decide that alcohol should be banished for all time. We took two groups of men. The first drank an average of one glass of whiskey per day; the second took two glasses, and the mortality in the first group was fifty per cent lower than the second. We found that the average total abstainer was 100 per cent lower. We cannot ascribe this showing to alcohol altogether. Many of the total abstainers were doubtless non-smokers and men who spend a good deal of time outdoors, all-round cranks; men who think for themselves. And on the other hand, many of the heavy drinkers are also heavy eaters, who lack of control and are intemperate in many things.

No one need have any fear that cancer is inherited, Mr. Hunter stated. Investigations showed that there was no more probability of cancer developing in a family where the father and mother were both cancerous than where neither parent was afflicted.

HEBREW UNIVERSITY AT JERUSALEM

It is recorded that when Jerusalem fell, Titus asked Rabbi Jochanan Ben Zakkai, the greatest Jewish sage of the time, where he desired to go. The Rabbi answered: "Give me Jabneh and her wise men." Jabneh was then the seat of the Jewish Academy, and the Jewish Academy saved Judaism and the Jewish spirit. They proved mightier than all the power of Rome. The function of the Hebrew University at Jerusalem is to be along the great line of Jewish tradition. It will rally and concentrate the finest thought and feeling of universal Jewry. The many brilliant and profound Jewish intelligences which are now either crippled by hostile environment or lamed by that inner division which the Jewish soul in exile will find emancipation in the Hebrew University. The Hebrew University at Jerusalem, unlike the Academy at Jabneh, will be the symbol of the ending of the exile, not of the beginning. That fine efflorescence of the Jewish spirit in its old home will restore to the Jewish people and to a Jewish Palestine their place in the world's civilization. For such reasons the laying of the foundation stone of the Hebrew University at Jerusalem should salute the eyes of men even in these terrible days.—Manchester Guardian.

BRITISH LEADERSHIP IN STATECRAFT

The reforms with which Great Britain is preparing for that new world experience roughly described as "reconstruction" constitute models for every nation to follow. The British political genius has lost none of its force as a result of the war. Already, the civilized world is looking to Great Britain for indications of the next era. In the language of the street, London is "setting the pace." Westminster continues to signify the ultimate in human progress. The British, from long practice, are so skilled in self-criticism and self-depreciation that their argument against themselves often carries outside observers with them. Yet nothing could be so healthy as this criticism. It puts every national action to the acid test. Only the fittest survive. The leadership of Great Britain is due to the sanity of the British democracy. The wide world offers no equal of their collective wisdom. Their decisions as to the future in public education, in public health, in agriculture, in labor, in trade and in industry generally will fashion mankind's existence in future as in the past.—Montreal Daily Star.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

It was at the Mining Exchange at Elko the other evening that the old fried eggs had assembled and were discussing Kaiser Bill and the new draft, and Jim Thistlebeak said: Cheer up. You have two chances, one of being drafted and one of not; and if you are drafted you have two chances, one of going to France and one of not going; and if you go to France you have two chances, one of being shot and one of not; and if you are shot you have two chances, one of dying and one of not dying; and if you die—well, you still have two chances.

Miss Pansy Blossom, the leading lady of the Compressed Leaves Co., Coal Creek, was down to Elko last week picking red raspberries and gathering wild flowers.

Jim Thistlebeak says: A pessimist is so thick headed and disagreeable you can't coax him to eat anything that will agree with him, and an optimist, says Jim, is a fellow who can eat suet dumpling so nice that you really think he is a cattle king and owns a big ranch.

He came in from Calgary and was selling knife grinders and bee-keepers hardware and said it was the duty of every retail merchant in the country to help the Canadian Food Board. He borrowed our fishing tackle and a match, bought 5c worth of soda crackers, and went down to the river to fish. A toy traveller from Winnipeg said that no house was furnished without children and wheelbarrows in it. He sold several wheelbarrows. A Spokane traveller with boneless oranges and codfish jelly, sour lemons and green apples. Imperial oil man from Nelson selling gasoline, soft soap and other kinds of soothing syrup with heather flavor; allso W. F. Bidsett with a fine display of glass.

Miss L. Armstrong and Miss Nettie Terrace, of Cranbrook, are the guests of Mayor and Mrs. C. A. Klingensmith this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bernard gave a motor party last Sunday from Fernie to Elk River Falls, Elko, (where Fred Roo exists), Beautiful Baynes, Jaffray and return.

Miss Jenny Nichols, of Creston, and Miss Agnes Moisio, of Port Moody, passed through Elko for Roosville and Flagstone, on Monday, where they will have charge of the rural temples of learning.

Jim Thistlebeak says: Just because a woman is married and has to do her own housekeeping is no reason why she should go around the house all day looking like something the dog had dragged in.

We are advised by the wholesale houses that on account of the high cost of raw material they had to advance the price on soap. It's a jolly good thing, says Jim Thistlebeak, that the wholesale houses and the big trusts don't control the rain water. This will mean to use all the water you want but go easy on the soap.

Tom Uphill, three times mayor of Fernie and the popular man in Fernie today, said at a banquet the other night that if Fred Roo lived in Fernie they would know all about it at the White House in Washington, D.C., inside of a week, and Billy Oswald, the comedian says "it's a fac."

We were up to Fernie on Labor Day and were requested by several of the city fathers to say nothing in our notes about the big doings but to leave same to the local justices of the peace and the bank managers. So all we have to say after these instructions is that it was a beautiful day, there was a big happy crowd, the bigness due without a doubt to the monster excursion from Elko, Flagstone and the Roosville Valley. It was a big financial success, due to Jack Lowe, who can sell more tickets in less time than any circus ticket seller we ever saw, the I.O.D.E. and the boys from Coal Creek. Fernie will please excuse our modesty.

WHAT BECOMES OF SURPLUS REVENUE OF MINE WORKERS?

What does a miner do with his money after the cost of living has been met?

The contract miner — the man who takes the coal out of the ground — averages from $170 to $270 per month. The exceptions make more or less, but the majority come within the margin given.

A large percentage of them are foreigners, many without families, who never spent $170 per month on living in their lives. The greater number live in shacks or bunkhouses. They don't take their meals at modern European plan hotels. They couldn't if they would.

So it is evident that the business of existing does not account for their entire income.

The records of the banks in the mining districts prove that it doesn't, but these same records give rise to an interesting question. They show that when a miner comes into a field he usually opens a bank account and in an incredibly short time the account has mounted to from six to eight hundred dollars. Then it is withdrawn. Where it is transferred to is not established. The feeling is strong that much of the money is sent out of the country. Since the war came into being and high wages appeared little money has gone through customary channels to European countries. But still it is taken from the banks.

What becomes of it is a mystery.

"Dick" Penny, manger of the "Cunning" show, called on us Monday and in the course of conversation said that he had visited Fernie on about six different occasions since he had been in the show business and that every time there had been either a strike on or talk of a strike but that on this occasion everything seemed lovely. The day after this conversation the men came out on strike. They evidently did not wish to disappoint Penny.

MINER'S WIFE TALKS STRIKE

Is it not time that the miners began to think for themselves and not consent to be nothing but a set of tools for the Board Members, Grievance Committees, etc?

In six short months the agreement will be up and then more strife. Now is the time for the miners and their wives to put by a few dollars for a rainy day, as the time will surely come when coal will no longer be as urgently needed as it is at the present moment. Then we can look forward to a period of slack time.

Now instead of making hay while the sun shines, what happens? Having received all their demands, re wage increase, there is nothing to do but work. After a few month's fairly steady work on the part of the Grievance Committee, they begin to get tired of digging coal and a trip to Calgary or some other such place and a nice day's wage at the expense of the miners looks good to them. Now we cannot blame these men seizing the first opportunity of bringing a greivance along and trying to get something easy, so it is one shift now boys, safety first. If there is any man, expert, or non-expert, who can give us positive assurance that by having the one shift only, there will be an end to bumps, explosions, accidents, etc., then the men are justified in standing out until their demands are met, but so long as there are mines to work and men to work in them, so long is there danger, and whether the boys work one shift or three shifts, when their time comes not all the safety appliances or precautions possible will save them.

I am a digger's wife and three little kiddies, and I know what it is to share the suspense and anxiety which occurs when the train which brings the men safely back from work, happens to be a few minutes late.

If the union to which my husband has been paying dues for the last six years and from which we have received nothing, does not consider the new demand worthy of consideration, why does the union tolerate men who intended posing as Righters of Men's Wrongs, are taking the bread out of the children's mouths?

I am only a woman. I am worth a vote, so I must be worth a hearing, and I venture to say it is not brotherly love for their fellow workmen, (also there is too little brotherly love and too much self love existing) which causes agitators to foment strikes. We only need to lok back on the 1917 strike. From the time that elapsed from pay to pay, nearly 4 months, we did not receive a single cent from the union, and it was a case of, if you haven't got a little capital to draw upon, you must go like some beggar to the store and beg of them to give you credit, all of which, along with current expenses, must be paid back when work starts. Now the wage of a digger ranges from $125 to $250 per month. Did our gain exceed our loss?

I have only one thing more to add and that is when the pockets are empty, and the cupboard is bare, (children eat as much on strike as at any other time,) the men will forget about safety first and will return to an occupation, which even with one shft will still have its elements of danger. It would be very nice if our husbands could be gentlemen, but it can't be done without money, and money can't be got without work. Individual cases excepted, but not as a general rule, and the sooner the men refuse to be coaxed into everything and anything a bunch of malcontents like to hand them, the better for the miner's wives and their families.

From a Miner's Wife.

Corpl. Ned Duthie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Duthie, is reported wounded. Ned's many Fernie friends wish him a speedy recovery.

THAT TAG DAY MIX-UP

Last Saturday the Fernie District Branch of the Navy League of Canada in accordance with the Dominion wide campaign held the Tag Day for sailors. Under the direction of the officers of the Navy League the organization was perfected and everything went along smoothly at the commencement. Saturday last was also pay day for the mine workers and naturally as there is aways a large gathering at the pay office near the M. F. & M. shops, some of the taggers took up a position adjacent thereto. For reasons, later explained, objection was taken to the presence of the taggers in that vicinity and Messrs. W. Hunter, F. Brindley and Ralph Stevens, the two former gentlemen members of the executive of Gladstone Local Union, interceded with Mrs. A. I. Fisher, who was in charge of the Tag Day(and requested the withdrawal of the girls who were tagging. Not having anyone to refer the matter to at the time for advice and faced with an argument on the part of the three men that continuance of the tagging might bring about an undesired general result, Mrs. Fisher acceded to the withdrawal of the girls from the vicinity of the pay office, which was fully complying with the request. Very shortly thereafter, however, when Mrs. Fisher had confided with the others interested in the event of the day, information was soon forthcoming that dangerous consequences were awaiting anyone who interfered with the progress of the Tag Day. This was considered, resulting in the decision that an attempt at least to obstruct the taggers had been made and based upon this and backed up by present federal regulations concerning such matters, the matter was laid before the provincial police to make an investigation. At that time the names of those who had raised the objection were unknown. That the police effectively responded subsequent events unquestionably verify, and that those who were instrumental in starting things fully realized their position, as well as those on the outside indirectly in the same category, is also emphasized. It was apparently realized that there was grave danger of the tables being turned, and if not a wild scramble to seek secure cover there was great haste made to get under the wings of some protective body and this haven of refuge was the meeting of the Amalgamated Patriotic Society on Monday evening.. At this meeting a deputation appeared and presented that a very grave injustice had been done certain members of Gladstone Local Executive through the foregoing incident. Messrs. H. Martin and F. Brindley were the principal spokesmen and further explained that the reason for taking the initiative on Sailors' Day was that it was believed that carrying on the Tag Day was contrary to the arrangement with the Patriotic Fund Society, whereby in lieu of subscriptions to that fund by the mine employees the society undertook that no Tag Days would be held nor would there be any soliciting for sale of tickets for patriotic purposes. This was what prompted the self-appointed committee to ask for the removal of the taggers and it was claimed they had explained to those conducting the Tag that by insisting on its continuance where they might collect $100 they might lose $500. Messrs. Brindley, Hunter and Stevens were deeply grieved at the alleged injustice done them through the requested intervention of the police, and the only adjustment which would would be satisfactory to them was an abject public apology from Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, who had verbally communicated the incident to the police. Mr. Brindley colored the presentation of the incident by the imagined harm done himself through rumors being circulated that he had been arrested, which was absolutely not the case nor had there been at any time any formal complaint of this nature. He contended that since the occurrence certain wives of soldiers resident here had made him feel very keenly his position, arising out of misjudged statements of fact, and that he was now looked upon with disdain. He desired the removal of this imagined stigma and only by an open apology could it be done.

T. Uphill, secretary of the Patriotic Fund, and others after hearing the deputation, stated that on the representations of these gentlemen they believed a grave injustice had been done Messrs. Hunter, Brindley and Stevens through Mrs. Moffatt's activities. Mr. Uphill moved (seconded) that the Amal. Patriotic Society endorses the action taken by Brindley et al. A lengthy animated discussion arose from this motion, the mover energetically supporting same. Messrs. S. Herchmer and J. F. Rudnicki, however, expressed themselves that before taking such a step that both sides should receive an equal opportunity of presenting their cases. Despite the opposition to this mode of procedure from those supporting the motion, Mr. Herchmer stood his ground and when Mayor Thomson, as local chairman of the Navy League, undertook to arrange a joint meeting for the following evening when the matter could be thoroughly aired, the motion endorsing the action of Brindley et al was not put. Mr. Herchmer went so far as a member of the Patriotic Society committee to assume the responsibility for the complication inasmuch as the Navy League Tag Day had been widely advertised and the Patriotic Society had not taken any steps to co-operate with the local Navy League officials. Secy. Uphill, however, announced something of this nature had been done at Natal and Michel to the mutual satisfaction of both parties.

Mr. Brindley in the course of his remarks stated that as officials of the Gladstone Local Union numerous complaints had been made to them by different members about being tagged and illustrated by referring to an incident while he was proceeding up town on the day in question. He met a foreigner, evidently of Austrian extraction, who approached him saying: "Fifty cents for that damn flag! (indicating flag). What for? Some time soldier, some time sailor, maybe next time for fly-man." The dashes indicate at first understood by some present as the word "damn," but at the meeting the following evening when faced with the position that had such a sedition statement been made in his presence without any attempt to reprimand the party making it, Mr. Brindley denied that was the word used and supplied the term "dat" therefor.

On Tuseday evening under the auspices of the Navy League a joint meeting was held. Mayor Thomson occupied the chair, Secy. Claridge, and several members of the Navy League, Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, Messrs. Brindley, Hunter and Stevens, S. Herchmer, E. K. Stewart, Thos. Uphill and Harry Martin and several members of Gladstone Local executive, were in attendance.

Mr. Brindley and his supporters having stated their grievance and forthwith demanding an apology from Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, Mrs. Moffatt was asked to reply, and very clearly put before the meeting her authority in the matter, having in hand written instructions from the president of the National Chapter I.O.D.E. and President of the Navy League, in which the National Executive of the Daughters of the Empire urge them to make the campaign a great success—the Navy League and the I.O.D.E. being so closely alied for a common cause, viz., the Navy. Therefore when the convener for the great Tag Day appointed by the local executive of the Navy League approached her as Regent of Mt. Fernie Chapter and asked for the I.O.D.E. rooms for their headquarters from which to conduct their day's campaign and her assistance there, the request was gladly granted, and following up this request and going down to the rooms on Saturday last she wash shocked and surprised to learn that three men had come into the rooms and not only tried but succeeded in coercing the convenor into withdrawing the taggers from the M. F. & M., where they had been placed as per custom to reach the miners coming from the pay office. The plea of these three men (Brindley et al) was that there was an understanding between the miners and the Patriotic Society that there should be no tag days. Mrs. Moffatt proceeded to point out that even did such an agreement exist (and she had previously been instructed by the Local President of the Amalgamated Patriotic Society that under the recent reorganization it did not, and that she was at liberty to go before the public and raise funds for the Red Cross and other obligations of the I.O.D.E.) that this case did not come under the jurisdiction of the local Patriotic Society, but was a Dominion wide campaign organized by the Navy League which had no affiliation with the local society. Mrs. Moffatt also knowing that any interference with the success of so important a day was a most serious matter which could be dealt with under clause "d2" of an Order-in-Council, immediately went to the Inspector and Chiefs of Police for instructions as to how to act in the matter. In this connection Mrs. Moffatt very clearly pointed out that

CITY FATHERS BOOST WAGES

From eight o'clock until after midnight last night the city fathers waded through affairs of state, and this in the absence of Ald. Jackson. If he had been present and taking his usual active part in the discussions it is hard to say at what hour adjournment would have been taken.

After disposition of the minutes, Mrs. Mitchell appeared and made verbal application to the council to be permitted to adopt the oldest of the Hesketh children. She outlined that the child would have a good home and would receive a good education. Ald. Rutledge in reply told Mrs. Mitchell that when this matter had been before them on a previous occasion that the reason her request had been refused was that the council felt it would not be fair to the family to allow the children to separate, and he was still of the same opinion. Others expressed thmselves similarly and Mrs. Mitchell was advised the council by the Kootenay Telephone Lines to extend its lines in different sections of the city. They asked that they might construct these extensions with 25 ft. poles. The matter was referred to the works and property committee, as well as bylaws requiring certain standards. They will report back to the council. Lawe & Fisher advised the council that no increase in telephone rates could be made by the company for 25 years succeeding the date on which the charter was granted, namely, 1908. After November of this year, however, the city have the option of purchasing the utility by giving six months notice to that effect.

The Inspector of Municipalities advised with regard to the 1918 assessment that all appeals must be taken and decided before any rate of taxation can be imposed. The assessment appeals to be heard before the Court of Appeal will not be decided before the middle of November and consequently the mill rate cannot be struck until that decision is handed down. Meantime, although no tax notices can be sent out, anyone desirous of making payment can remit to the city treasurer and any such amounts so remitted will be applied on account of taxes accruing for the specific properties in question.

D. McLennan submitted a bill for tools lost or stolen while engaged at work for the city. The council repudiated all responsibility for loss of such private property and forthwith turned down the account.

The correspondence in re water rights on Lizard and Fairy Creeks between the city and Water Rights Commission was left in abeyance for consideration at a later time. An inquiry will be made from Wmm. Ramsay, former city engineer, as to data collected by him relative to the practicability of a power project from these sources.

The resignation of H. E. Kennedy, driver in the fire department, was received and accepted. One application for the position was received from Major Gray, but the council decided to extend the period for receiving these applications for another fortnight. The city clerk was also instructed to write the chiefs of the Calgary, Cranbrook and Nelson departments requesting a recommendation for a driver.

Requests for increases in salary were received from Neil McCallum, J. Delucca, DD. Harrison and Miss Carmichael. The three first named specified no amount, the latter stating $10. This was discussed at some length, from which it was ascertained that Messrs. McCallum and Delucca had received no advance since August of last year. The final outcome was that Mr. McCallum received an increase of $15 per month, Mr. Delucca $10, and Miss Carmichael and D. Harrison each $5.

Ald. Dicken introduced the question of having Mr. Delucca assume responsibility in connection with the waterworks department and report direct to the council and as a result the following motion was approved: That Mr. Delucca have charge of the waterworks thereby giving Mr. McCallum more time for other work in progress in the city, and that he submit reports regularly to the council on said work. It was however clearly understood that Mr. McCallum is still to be chief supervisor and have full charge of all city work.

The General Electric Co. desired to have the city contract with them for $1000 worth of electric lamps. The advantage to the city in this would be a further discount of 10 per cent from the market prices. The council, however, did not feel that the quantity consumed would warrant entering into such an agreement.

The city engineer's report was adopted and filed.

The city clerk read the suggested change in the provincial statutes governing municipalities which will be considered at the convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities at Penticton next week, and at which the city clerk will represent the city. These cover a wide range of matters affecting proposed legislation to govern civ ic financial and administrative policies, but are only in the speculative stage until action is taken upon them by the convention. A synopsis of these will be embodied in the report of the city clerk to the council upon his return.

Accounts were passed without objection.

A report was received from the chief of police as to the enforcement of the bylaw requiring those operating vehicles for hire on labor day to pay licenses.

Casual reference to the river bank protection was made. Ald. Dicken said the government was carrying on their investigation and that a report of the proposed work to be undertaken should be forthcoming shortly. No new complaints from the West Fernie committee were lodged at this meeting.

Following this and for over two hours the council in committee of the whole considered seriatim, the clauses of the proposed new street and sidewalk bylaws. At the conclusion the bylaw will be redrafted and presented to the council at a later meeting for final sanction.

THINGS WE'D LIKE TO KNOW

If Harry Martin received a wire from the Coal Commissioner requesting the men to return to work, and if so why he didn't give it the same publicity that he gave that wire from Brule.

Why when the men voted by ballot on the single shift the figures of the ballot were never given to the men.

If a secret ballot was taken on the present strike situation what the result would be.

If the report is correct that a certain foreign baker is selling more booze than bread.

If it is worth paying $35 for the privilege of hitting a man on the jaw.

If our local alien enemies are guilty of quarter the trouble they are accused of stirring up.

SOCIALIST AND ARISTOCRAT

Under the above caption the Winnipeg Free Press calls attention to an article in an English paper of recent date which presents the unusual spectacle of a former representative of the Socialists in the House of Commons in a role of champion, waging battle on behalf of members of the British peerage against some of their detractors in the industrial and middle classes. The story does not record a conversion to new political beliefs under the influence of war experience, but rather an interesting modification of views generally accepted in certain quarters respecting the personal qualities of those who enjoy the special privileges conferred by high social rank.

Mr. Victor Grayson, the Socialist in question enters the lists against those who would suggest that the representatives of the upper stratum of society have shown themselves at all inferior to others in ther willingness to accept the risks and obligations of war service, though he is pleased to note that the number of detractors has greatly diminished by the intercourse of the classes in the comradeship of the battlefield. A recent conversation with one such, however, prompted hm to make an investigation with the following results:

"Up to date there are 251 Peers (members of the House of Lords) who have served or who are serving with His Majesty's forces. Of these, 14 have been killed in action, one has died, 18 have been wounded and one is a prisoner. In addition, eight Scottish and 28 Irish Peers have been or are with His Majesty's forces, of whom two Irish peers have been killed, three Scottish and six Irish Peers have been wounded and one Irish Peer has died. Taking into consideration the number of Peers who must be over military age I think it will be readily conceded that the House of Lords has 'played the game' in the world's crisis.

"But this is not all. The sons of Peers who served or are serving with His Majesty's forces number 824. Of this very creditable total 162 have been killed in action, 126 have been wounded, .14 are prisoners, and eight have died. Out of this 824 sons of Peers 329 were heirs to the title, and of these 75 were killed and five died. These figures scarcely indicate any tendency on the part of the upper class to cling to the comforts and luxuries of their existence or to shirk the risks and privations of war."

Mr. Grayson shares the opinion of many that one of the issues of the war may be the passing away of the ancient aristocracy of Great Britain and he has not forsaken the view that many of its representatives have been "prejudiced, short-sighted, narrow-minded and perhaps cruel at certain periods of our history." He adds, however, in generous tribute, that the historian of the war will be able to say in his epitaph:

"Thank God! We know that he batted well
In the last game of all."

DANGER OF FOOD SHORTAGE IS NOT PASSED

Never perhaps since the opening of the war have the Allies had more sound reason for optimism than at the beginning of this last quarter of the year 1918. The enemy is defeated in a succession of battles on the Western front. His successes of the spring have been neutralized and his campaign upset. A million and a half men have been added to the Allies' miltary resources from the United States. The submarine menace has greatly declined. The number of ships for carrying supplies has been greatly augmented. The efforts of this continent to keep the soldiers fed and stave off threatened starvation in Allied Europe until the new harvest became available has been gloriously successful. And further, the harvest of Great Britain, of France, and of Italy have, in some measure, overcome the disadvantages reported earlier in the year by reason of weather conditions and are being safely garnered by the help of women, boys, civilians from the cities, prisoners of war, and soldiers released from active duty at the front for short periods. Greater than all these factors of success in "food fighting" will be the magnificent harvest being reaped by farmers of the United States. This year's harvest promises to be the greatest on record.

It cannot be too emphatically urged however, that the necessity for conservation of food and increased production of food will continue in this country while the war lasts and for some time afterwards. The encouraging news as to release of the strain which was viewed so seriously earlier in the yyear should not lead us to relax the food regulations as circumstances warrant from time to time. The results which have been obtained on this continent by the use of substitute foods for those required overseas are the basis of the optimistic outlook of the Allied food situation in Europe today. The situation of the immediate future is based on the continuation of those efforts. The food reserves of the world at war have been exhausted. The 1918 crop in Allied countries must be conserved for the future and our efforts to produce foodstuffs in greater abundance must not be relaxed.

There is grave danger always when a crisis is passed, of falling back into the condition from which we have escaped, through the relaxation of our vigilance and our energy. The Food Controllers of the Allies have warned us of this danger. We should be warned of person who, well meaning, but nevertheless in the interest of the enemy, urge that all such efforts to conserve and produce are now superfluous and that the danger is passed. The danger is not passed. But we have found a way of overcoming it and we must follow that safe path until the war is over.

COAL MINING IN WASHINGTON

The annual report of James Bagley, State Mine Inspector, shows that coal mining made marked revival in that State in 1917, due to industrial activity and high price of fuel oil. The producton was the highest in the history of the State, amounting to 4,002,759 tons, an increase of 983,159 tons over 1916, equivalent to 24 per cent. All coal producing countries showed increases except Whatcom. The increase in King and Kittitas counties amounted to 849,335 tons. The value per ton increased from $2.37 to $2.84 at the mine, representing a value of $11,356,357.

The output of coke at the mines was 96,427 tons, an increase of 2705 tons over previous year. Coke was also made at the by-product ovens of the Seattle Lighting Co. of Seattle, which produced 26,345 tons coke. The average value at the ovens was $7.46 per ton, placing the total value of the coke production at $915,348 for the year.

The Wilkeson Coal and Coke Co. at Wilkeson increased its plant by sixty ovens of the beehive type, and the Carban Hill Company has installed a plant of 60 ovens at Crocker on the Northern Pacific Railway, near Carbonado.

The number of the empoyees in the coal mines was 5345, an increase of 600 over previous year. Mines operated an average of 271 days.

The Pacific Coast Coal Co., and Puget Sound Traction, Light and Power Co. have for two years been experimenting with powdered coal, the Pacific Coast Coal Co. using coal in ths form at the Black Diamond and Coal Creek Mines.

The Northwest Improvement Co. is opening a new mine, No. 8, at Roslyn and the Hiawatha Mine, half a mile above Durham on the Northern Pacific Railway. The Roslyn Fuel Co. has opened No. 3 Mine on the seam underlying the Roslyn. The Cokedale Co. is reopening the old Cokedale Mine in Skagit Co. The Pacific Coast Coal Co. has taken over the Issoquah Mine, formerly operated by the Alvo von Alvensleben interests, and the same company has reopened the Cannon Mine at Franklin. The Richmond Coal Co. is reopening a new mine near Bucoda, Thurston Co. The Washington Coal Co.., of which Frank Waterhouse is President, is opening a mine at New Castle, King Co., east of Lake Washington. The Central Coal Co., of which C. J. Smith is President, is opening a mine at Ravensdale; Andrew Reynolds is opening a mine at May Creek, near Coalfield. A new coal field has been discovered on the Mansfield Branch of the Great Northern, near Wenatchee.

Mr. Bagley states Washington can produce 5,000,000 tons of coal this year if required.

The following were the prices at the mines fixed by the U.S. Fuel Control Board:

Counties of King and Pierce—Run of Mine $3.70, Prepared sizes $4.95; Slack or Screenings $3.45.

County of Kittitas—Run of Mine $3.55; Prepared Sizes $3.80; Slack or Screenings $3.30.

Other Counties—Run of Mine $3.70, Prepared Sizes $3.95; Slack or Screenings $3.45.

There were 30 fatal accidents, the most serious being the killing of six men by a rush of water, clay and gravel in the pillar workings of the Wilkeson Mine. There were 916 nonfatal accidents. Falls of coal accounted for 27 per cent, mine cars 17 per cent, haulage 20 per cent.

The percentage of lives lost per 1000 was 5.61 for 1917 as compared with 4.42 for previous year.—Mining Record.

OUR LENIENCY TO THE GERMANS

Whereas in some of the states of the American union the restrictions placed upon the use of the German language have been severe, some states having even made it illegal to use German in speaking over the telephone in any public place, Canada has been lenient to the point of laxity. In Saskatchewan, with a large population speaking German, there are sermons in that language every Sunday; public meetings at which German is the only language used, and newspapers printed without the use of a word of English. No responsible person is Saskatchewan considers is essential to try to stamp out all foreign languages, even German, in a day. We must recognize that these foreign settlers came into the country by invitation and have, at least most of them, been admitted to British citizenship.—Saskatoon Daily Star

A Sound Unmilitary Opinion

Plain unmilitary Americans with never a square inch of khaki in their wardrobes and not a smidge of Napoleon's wisdom at their tongue's end are out to cheer and celebrate a battle that speaks for itself.

Whether there are pincers to snap or salients to be squeezed we do not give a hoot. The most exposed flank in the world leaves us cold as cold. The Allies are licking the tar out of the Boches, the Allies are going forward as fast as tanks can take them, and the Germans are going back, back, back. For us, the Allies, hip, hip, hooray!

The objective? We know and we'll tell—which is more than most experts will take a chance on doing.

The objective is Berlin!

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that gliscens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

THE ROMANCE OF THE CZECHO-SLOVAKS

Many oppressed races of Europe raise their voices today reciting their grievances and demanding the right to live their own life. The Czecho-Slovaks are but one of a dozen nations similarly situated, ground down under the heel of the German war machines, appealing to the allies not to forget them when the day of final reckoning comes. But none of the races inhabiting that peculiar zone of small nations, stretching from the Baltic to the Mediterranean Sea, between the great nations on the west and the immense territory or Russia, has so well succeeded in arresting the attention of the world and winning its sympathy as the ten-million nation of the Czecho-Slovaks. The very word "Czech-Slovaks" was known before the war to a few scholars only. Many had heard of Bohemians, and in the United States especially, where so many of the Bohemian emigrants had made their home, they were rather extensively and on the whole favorably known; but few people realized that this race called itself Czechs and that the Slovaks were a branch of the same race. Today everyone, the man in the street, as well as the journalist and stateman, admire the Czecho-Slovaks, and the governments of the League of Nations opposed to the Central Powers have committed themselves definitely to the policy of resurrecting the ancient state of Bohemia. Every one who has Czech blood in his veins is full of pride, when he sees the great statesmen of the Entente and the leaders of public opinion refer to his people as "those gallant Czecho-Slovaks" or "the brave Czechs," or when he reads that on Bastille day in Paris the groups lining the streets cheered especially the American and the Czecho-Slovak troops.

What are the reasons that brought the Czecho-Slovaks into such an honorable place among the oppressed nations of Central and Eastern Europe? For one thing it is their excellent organization and discipline. These qualities appear equally in the great movement that has been carried on among emigrants of their race in all parts of the world and in the attitude adopted by the people in the home lands. Take the matter of their organizations in the United States. They have achieved here a complete unity and wonderful efficiency, while at the same time allowing full automony to certain sections that would have made harmony difficult in a strictly centralized organization. People of Czecho-Slocak descent in the United States, whether naturalized or not, have grouped thmselves for the purpose of supporting the movement for Bohemia's independence in two large bodies, each representing one branch of the old stock. There is the Bohemian National Alliance, which grew up almost simultaneously in the first day of the war out of the instinctive feeling of the Czech immigrant that the great war constituted an unique opportunity, which might never come again, to free the land of their fathers from the domination of the Germans. Today that organization numbers some 350 branches, and while its original purpose still remains its raison d'etre, it has also helped to line up the great body of Bohemian immigrants for loyal participation in the war on the side of their adopted country. The Slovak League, which was brought into being before the war, has done the same thing for the Slovak immigrants in the United States. And since among the Bohemians there had been for years a sharp difference between the Catholics and the non-Catholics, the Bohemian National Alliance, in the formation of which the Catholics had a very small part, allowed their Catholic brethren full internal autonomy when they came later and asked to have a share in the work.

For more than three years these two principal organization have reached every man and woman of their race in the United States and Canada. Long before America entered into the war, they fought the German propaganda carried on with some measure of success, by recruiting all their men in Canada, England, France, Italy, Roumania, Montenegro, Serbia and Russia, reaching to points of two millions men, and furthermore long before America's entry into the war the Czechs were smuggled from the United States (their fares paid) to Canada (from law-point of view as immigrants). Their hearts were set on one object, viz., getting at the Huns from all possible directions. Since America has taken its rightful share in the great struggle these bodies have seen to it that their people enlisted in the American army, bought Liberty bonds and in general helped the war activities of the government by producing more and spending less. But all along the great emotional force at the back of this unusual organization was the burning desire in the heart of all these people that the Czecho-Slovak nation, which at one time played an honorable part in the history of Europe, should have its share in defeating the German war machine and take once more its place in the great family of nations.

It was this enthusiasm which gathered in hundreds of thousands of dollars for the support of the Czecho-Slovak independence campaign, which fired so many young men, technically subjects of Austria, to join the American army in the spring of 1917, and which now induces elderly men to leave their families to go to France that they might fight in the ranks of the Czecho-Slovak army against their ancient enemy. For internal organization purposes there are thus two distinct bodies, one of them with an autonomous subdivision; but as against the public opinion of America and the world the two organizations constitute merely a branch of the supreme organ of the Czecho-Slovak revolutionary movement, namely the Czecho-Slovak National Council.

Here we come to the second reason which accounts for the Czecho-Slovak success, and without which their thoroughly efficient organization would have been impossible. It is their splendid leadership which has brought to the fore the right man, in the United States, Canada and in the other settlements of the Czecho-Slovaks, and which best of all is exemplified in the Czecho-Slovak national council of Paris. Itis said that great times always call forth great men and the saying is certainly true in this great period of the Bohemian revolution, which began in 1914, is Masaryk. He was marked for the position by his age, his public career, his learning and wisdom, his high idealism, and at the same time his constant contact with realities, and the complete confidence with which all his countrymen had always looked upon him. He escaped from Austria a few months after the outbreak of war and after establishing contact with scattered emigrants of his race he planned the great campaign of convincing the enemies of Germany that in Bohemia they had an ally deserving of their trust and help. Today it is hardly necessary to say any more of Masaryk for he is as well known to the world as are the great statesmen of the allied countries. But it is well to emphasize the fact that his leadership made the problem of organization and discipline in the revolutionary movement a simple affair. He stood out so high among his co-workers that there never could have arisen the slightest feeling of jealousy or rivalry . He is more than the leader; he is the universally acknowledged dictator.

THE FRENCH FARMERS SAVED THE DAY

The saving farmer is a national asset. Canadian progress today in all lines attests magnificently to the splendid qualities of thrift that have marked the farmers in all the provinces. The total returns from field crops and animal produce have been only possible because of the disposition to make use in an economical way of all the wonderful gifts of Providence in this good land of ours.

The same was abundantly true after 1870 in France when the frugal, thrifty farmers of that fair land made it possible for the Republic to pay off that hated German war indemnity of two billion francs levied against them. The same spirit of national thrift built up France for the extreme test today—a test that is being tried by fire.

Thanks be, French heroism is proving true. The line is holding. The blood of the farmers is flowing equally as well through the veins of France's daughters of the soil and so the national strength bends but does not break.

Canada is reaping her harvests of increased returns and money is being made as never before. Our farmers are earning the gratitude of all in their splendid efforts at production. That they will carry into their savings an equal foresight in conserving their surpluses against the future days of darkness and lower prices will be equally praiseworthy. He is well advised who saves his extra dollar until he sees which way the winds of tomorrow will blow. Adversity blows a chill blast where there is no dollar in the savings.

THEIRS THE BLACK CRIME

London Daily Mail: Each recurrent anniversary of the opening of the war throws into clearer relief Germany and Austria's guilt. It is now known (what was only suspected in July 1914) that the Kaiser and the late Archduke Francis Ferdinand planned at Miramar and Konopischt the treacherous attack on Serbia, which was subsequently carried out with such violence and perfidy. Prince Lichnowsky has told us that Berlin insisted "Serbia must be massacred." Dr. Muhlon has revealed the whole Potsdam plot. The free nations can never be safe so long as the men who engineered this war are in power and held in honor by the Huns.

THE SACRIFICE OF AN AUSTRALIAN MOTHER

London Times: Bishop Taylor Smith, Chaplain General to the Forces, preaching at Westminster Abbey, told a story of self-sacrifice. A wounded Australian soldier in a military hospital, who was asked about his home and family in Australia said: "There were six of us lads. We all enlisted and left mother alone. It was her wish. She said she hoped no boy of hers would hold back when the mother country called. And now five of us are asleep, buried on the battlefields of France, and I am the only one left." There were a few moments of silence, and then he added: "But I have not told you the worst. When I got this wound someone cabled to my mother that I had been killed, and that telegram killed her."

"PENALTIES FOR CRAMMING"

It is possible so to economize in our methods of instructon as to have boys and girls ready to enter upon the university course at 17 years of age, and this not by reckless cramming, but by good selective work in teaching. There should be penalties for cramming. At present there is jammed into the minds of children much that is of no earthly use to them for any purposes whatever. Let that be left out. Teach them to observe, to read and reason. Wonders can be done by the sympathetic and capable teacher who engages the attention of the pupils. If a boy is so taught that at 13 or 14 he can read understandingly and use his reasoning powers for the solving of such problems as may present thmselves to a reader, he can easily inform himself upon subjects that lie in the course of his later school studies and in his career as a citizen. Pupils are required to carry too much educational ballast.—Mail and Empire, Toronto.

"OUR" NAVY AND A "FOREIGN NATION"

We heard lately of a characteristic conversation between an employer and a workman in Ireland. The workman had just returned from chapel, where his priest had advised the congregation if they were conscripted to shoot their officers. The workman, with that mixture of courtesy and violence which is the peculiar product of the Irish Celtic nature, was holding forth to his employer on the infamy of an "alien" government conscripting a free, proud, and ancien race into a foreign army. "That's all very well," said the employer, "but we must have men in the army or we shall be beaten by the Germans. How would you like the Germans to come here and loot your house, seize your land and make you work on it for a starvation wage?" "But what would our Fleet be doing then?" asked the workman. Here was a man who talked himself into a white heat of passion about the "foreign" army and the "foreign" government calmly assuming that if the Germans really tried to seize Ireland, Ireland would be protected by "our" Fleet! — From the Spectator, London.

The defence of the Soviet tyrrany put forth by its apologists is that it is not desirable that the "conscious" workmen, who are in a minority, should give power to workmen who are not "conscious" until tney have been enlightened. This, of course, is nothing but the good old Tory doctrine of the "right" of the "fittest" to rule. They who have power having the right to determine what constitutes fitness. Truly extremes meet.

Upon the eve of the great March offensive Hindenburg wrote to the kaiser: "Your imperial majesty may rest assured of a speedy and complete victory over all your enemies." That was the universal expectation of all Germany. The contrast between the cool arrogance of Hindenburg's promise and the ingenious apologetics of the present daily official announcement from German headquarters is the measure of the disappointment of the German people.

The indictment of modern Germany by Dr. Muehlon, the ex-director of Krupps, who has taken refuge in Switzerland, is so terrific in its directness and vehemence, that when duly seconded by the guns of the Allies, it may awaken some of the Germans at least to a sense of their own infamy. The doctor has no illusions as to the moral condition of his countrymen. "From the Junkers to the Socialists," he writes, "all are sunk in materialism, and are calculatng that the battles in France will bring them peace, with world domination, and fabulous indemnities."

GERMAN JUDGMENT ON PARIS

"If Paris were to be blotted out would anything be lost?" This queswas, in fact, asked in the Zeitung, of Westphalia. Owned by the Krupps, this newspaper naturally took the view of the builders of the supercannon; and the editor's answer was as follows: "No, if Paris were to disappear, nothing would be lost, since Paris is in no way a city where there are monuments worthy of being preserved forever. Its charm is explained only by its harmonious effect and by its lobical construction."

This may sound like a heavy-footed German pleasantry but in reality it is seriously meant, and betrays the incurable vice of the German in matters of art as well as of morals. Everything is to be reduced to logi. If a statue or an arch or a building does not correspond within less than an inch to Teutonic preconceptions, then its is valueless and may as well be destroyed by gunfire. According to this view of Paris it is only Haussmann and his logical boulevards who save the city from artistic contempt. There is no arguing with this kind of Dummheit.

But these matter of fact Krupp artists might be asked to put the case to a single hard test. Let them convoke an impartial tribunal of neutrals who have taste and who know Europe, and ask their verdict. It would be that they would as readily as Heine, see ten Berlins destroyed before one Paris. Happily, even the Krupps must know by now that the destruction of Paris is merely, as the Greek Grammar says, an hypothesis contrary to fact.

IMPROVING ON THE GERMAN METHODS

Mustard gas that is so much talked of is not a gas but a fluid. One authority estimates that the Huns used 7000 tons of this gas in an offensive lasting less than three days. Some time ago it was stated by officials that the American brand of mustard gas would be one-fourth more toxic than the kind used by Germany. This may or may not be true but one German order issued in July to the Huns facing the Americans northwest of Chateau-Thierry states that one attack by the Yankees produced 500 casualties. The order continues: "Symptoms of sickness make us suppose that the enemy is using a new gas that resembles our Yellow Cross. This gas appears to have more harmful effects than any gas contained in shells up to the present time. Gas poisoning still occurred among those who took off their masks after wearing them for 12 hours. We evidently have to deal with a new gas.—Saturday Evening Post.

THE KING AS A DEMOCRAT

American soldiers, coming into direct contact with the King, have in letters home expressed their amazement at the directness and democratic simplicity of His Majesty. They expected to see the King in his robes of state, with the crown on his head, the sceptre in his hand, together with bowing chamberlains, White Wand, and all the "divinity that doth hedge in a king." What they did see was a simple, kindly, cordial gentleman, free in his approach, sympathetic to a degree, wholly disassociated from the pomps of power, and anxious to meet the American allies on the common ground of unity of spirit and purpose.—The Montreal Gazette.

CLIP THIS AND PIN ON WIFE'S DRESSER

Cincinnati man tells how to shrivel up corns or calluses so they lift off with fingers.

Ouch ! ? ! ? ! ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn or hardened callus stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callus dries up and lifts right off without pain.

He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels. If your druggist doesn't have freezone, tell him to order a small bottle for you.

THAT TAG DAY MIX-UP

she did not lay information against these men but asked for information and instructions as to her procedure in the present case and for the future. The instructions so received were to have the convenor of the Tag Day instruct the taggers to take the names of all who in any way interfered with the success of the day, or who should show disrespect to the Navy by treating the flag with contempt or disrespect. As to the conduct of the three men, all of whose names at the time Mrs. Moffatt did not know, the police said they would take under advisement and investigate. In proceeding further with the explanation and referring to the plea of ignorance suggested by the Secretary of the Miners Union, it was a decidedly lame excuse, because it was well known that this was a Dominion wide campaign and not local. Most certainly this could not be regarded as a legitimate excuse since the day had been advertised in every paper in the Dominion for three weeks and in the local press, and also by large posters sent in from the provincial headquarters, placed conspicuously all over the town. And furthermore, Mrs. Moffatt pointed out that apart from open criticism at meetings she had been approached by other three men in her own home, who had tried by argumentative coercion to persuade her to apologize for the procedure she had taken and failing that had asked her if she considered it necessary and her duty to make a report of the matter to the headquarters of the two organizations she represented, whereupon Mrs. Moffatt begged to state there and then that she would make no apology for her procedure and that she considered it her duty to report the matter to the Presidents of the I.O.D.E. and the Navy League, since the matter covered by the order-in-council is considered so serious as to warrant a $5000 fine or five years imprisonment or both.

Mr. Herchmer entered into the discussion as representing the Patriotic Fund Society, and stated that he had felt anapology was due to Mr. Brindley and Mr. Hunter, but in accepting Mrs. Moffatt's statement that she had not laid formal information against these men, it now appeared to him that the police had exceeded their jurisdiction and taken a step too far. Possibly an injustice had been done these men in any event, because assuming their statements to be true and he could see no reason to do otherwise, the worst that could be said was that they at least thought they were acting in the best interests of the Patriotic Fund and had no intention of interfering with the Navy League. Mr. Herchmer then strongly urged amicable adjustment of any and all differences, that everyone should work in accord and let the spirit be "unity in all these things," and that the Navy League and other patriotic associations needing funds for carrying on their obligations only need to apply to the A.P.F. for same. He was prepared to admit a mistake had been made and even if any person or persons were to blame for interfering and the Navy League had lost money through the withdrawal of the taggers at the instigation of the three men, that it could be settled by the deficit being made up by the Patriotic Society, and he for one would lend his support to that end. Mrs. Fisher reviewed the occurrence of Saturday last and following there was some crossfiring. Mr. Brindley in dealing with the complaints made by the miners stated these were not made to the general public but to the miners officials. He also gave as cause for misunderstanding that owing to the cosmopolitan characteristics of the community these men were ignorant of why these things were being done. Mr. Dickenson delivered a brief address reiterating Mr. Brindley's statements and in customary pessimistic vein prophesied trouble if such practices were continued. Mr. Claridge asked Mr. Uphill if anyone on behalf of the Patriotic Society had approached the convenor at Michel who had charge of Tag Day with a view to having it called off. Mr. Uphill admitted, explaining in detail that an arrangement had been made under his guarantee that $75 would be contributed from the Patriotic Fund if the Tag was not held. Mr. Claridge thereby claimed it was conclusively shown that at least some officials of the Patriotic Society had interested themselves in the matter, and if there had been the impression that the Navy League was transgressing on the preserves of the Patriotic Society, why had not these parties approached the Navy League officials here with a view to having a similar arrangement if they anticipated any trouble or complications.

The discussion waxed a trifle warm and Mr. Brindley appeared to disclaim any responsibility for stopping the Tag. Mrs. Moffatt endeavored to get a direct answer as to who had stopped them. He replied it was brought about through the numerous complaints by different individuals. Asked who these parties were, he evaded a direct answer and said, "Austrians, Germans and Italians." This answer deeply moved J. F. Rudnicki. He said, "On whose ground are we standing? I am a free born Pole and a good Britisher, and you bring forward complaints about cosmopolitan population. Certain Austrians, Poles, Russians and Italians complain about paying 50c a month out of six or seven dollars a day; he refuses to pay out of his surplus five cents, ten cents, fifty cents, for those who have sons and brothers at the front and who have been there 35 or 40 months fighting, deprived of the comforts of life, for $1.10 a day. These men complain if stopped on the street and tagged for 50c, and I call upon you, gentlemen, if you stood as British, it is time to put this down right where it belongs. The foreigner who complained paying "for damn flag" and as a Britisher he stood and took it—shame, I say. Gentlemen I am not adequately familiar with the English language to express my deep feelings after I heard that statement. I don't care what you do, when I think of the wrong; not only among foreigners, but even my own father would not dare do that to me. As a Britisher I have sworn allegiance; my son is right there now and no foreigner, no matter what birth, would stop me and say he had to pay fifty cents for "damn flag."

Relating to this statement opinion was divided as to the term applied and Mr. Brindley claimed the expression was "dat flag." Mr. Herchmer at this juncture rose and said that from the statements made he now felt that there was no necessity for an apology. Mr. Brindley said he was quite satisfied with the explanation given by Mrs. Moffatt and a rather tense situation was remedied by the chairman announcing that the Navy League would proceed with its meeting, when all others retired.

The matter was considered at considerable length and after the following motion was unanimously passed the meeting concluded: "In consideration of the misunderstanding in connection with the Navy League Tag Day, the Fernie District Branch of the Navy League of Canada would ask that a donation of $100 be made from the Amalgamated Patriotic Fund Society."

(Ed.—A meeting of the Navy League was held several weeks before Tag Day with the Mayor in the chair, endorsing the Tag Day and appointing a convenor for the same, after which tags, boxes, caps, etc., were sent in from the provincial headquarters to be used for that purpose on the day advertised.)

LETTER OF SYYMPATHY

Mrs. Thos. Wood is in receipt of the following letter re the death of her husabnd, who was recently killed at the front:

France, August 13, 1918.

Dear Madam—I deepy regret to have to inform you of your husband's death, L. Corp. T. Woods.

"Tommy," as he was called by all, was killed while staying by his Lewis gun and operating it against the enemy, thus supporting the remainder of the platoon, in which he was loved by his gun crew and also the remainder of the boys.

"Tommy" could be depended on to fulfill faithfully any job he undertook and I had recommended him for promotion about a week before going into action, but unfortunately it was too late.

My platoon officer, platoon sergeant and Tommy were all killed on the same day, and it left me the only N. C. O. in the platoon.

The boys of No. 4 platoon who are left wish to convey to you their sympathy in your loss. Yours sincerely,

Cecil F. Watson, Sergt.

GROCER'S MAGAZINE PAYS TRIBUTE TO FRED ROO

The Western Grocer says: Fred Roo's reputation is green in the Okanagan. Asked if he knew Fred, a northern British Columbia traveler replied indignantly: "Know Fred Roo? Well, I should say. Fred's the best known identity this side of the Rockies." And this reminds us of the poet Young's famous lines: "Others are found of fame, but fame of you."

B.C. lands and works department is adopting a hydroplane for locomotion around the coast, Vancouver to Victoria to be the trial test. This leads the Ladysmith Chronicle to remark that members of the opposition are in favor of the entire cabinet embarking on the trial test of the new water-air bird. If anything should happen on the trip the results would be awful.

LETTER FROM CORP. CLARKE

The last of many letters received by Mrs. Moffatt from Corp. Chas. Clarke who has made the supreme sacrifice, deeply mourned and regretted by all who knew him.

July 16, 1918.

Dear Mrs. Moffatt:

I now write these few lines to let you know that I am still in good health and spirits and I hope this will find you all at Fernie the same. I am glad to say that three bundles of socks have just come in from the I.O.D.E. for the Fernie boys in our battalion, 2nd C.M.R., and the C.O. sent one bunde to our company, so I distributed them among them and they have asked me to write and thank you and all the other workers for sending them to us. It is indeed very good of you people to think so much of us out here and you must please excuse us for not writing oftener, but we cannot write any time out here as no doubt you know, but it is better now than never. I think all the Fernie boys here are going on well at present and I close with their very best respects to you and all the I.O. D.E. Yours very sincerely,

Chas. Clark,
Corpl. 2nd C.M.R.

SUPORTING HOME INDUSTRIES

Burnaby Record: The cry of merchants in all our small towns, cities and municipalities to support home industries and home markets while they send for their own supply of printing and statonery outside of their own districts, does not appeal as a rule to the local nimrod, and very often rouses his ire against their hypocrisy.

The local paper as a rule, can give better publicity service than the outside paper, though of larger circulation.

Local councils sometimes forget that it is not circulation that counts, but concentration. No paper can give a town or city or municipality as much concentrated service as the local paper.

After a struggle of three years, the Burnaby Record has convinced its council that it can render the council better service in publishing its tax sale list than any of the Vancouver dailies, and we trust the tax sale in Burnaby on September the 17th inst. will be a howling success.

FREE SPEECH

In imposing sentence on the I. W. W. convicts Judge Landis said:

When the country is at peace it is a legal right of free speech to oppose going to war and to oppose even preparation for war. But when once war is declared that right ceases.

That is the law, never more clearly and compactly stated than in those two sentences. Those who have been talking about free speech as if it gave the right to speak and write and work against their country when it is in a fight for its life may learn from Judge Landis' words just how far they are wrong and what will be of more interest to them, just how far they are in danger. — New York Times.

NOT AN EMPIRE IN THE OLD SENSE

We must keep in mind that this is not an Empire in any of the old senses of the word, and can never be. The spirit of Empire, Caesarism, Kaiserism—we have fought that as long as we have been British. We are fighting it today, and we shall go on fighting it until it is smashed. We are and must continue to be a commonwealth of good fellowship, a free masonry of free peoples working together in freedom for the things that make and keep us free.—Daily Star, Montreal.

AGAIN WE HEAR THE "DONE ENOUGHERS"

Mr. Rowell's declaration at Newcastle that the Union government will continue to send over reinforcements to the army to maintain its full fighting strength, has drawn an angry protest from representatives of the two Quebec constituencies. The incident indicates that the issue is today what it was last December. The government is pledged to secure reinforcements for the army overseas. The opposition is committed to the noble task of resisting this policy. It is a fortunate thing for Canada, and still more for the Canadian army overseas, that the opposition of Mr. Lucien Cannon and those who think with him, is limited to writing angry letters. If they had the power the Canadian army would be left to shift for itself.—Manitoba Free Press.

MUSK OX FOR THE NORTH

Dawson, Y.T., Sept. 8.—Steffanson, the Arctic explorer, who is in Dawson en route home after five years in the north, will recommend to the Canadian government plans for the reclamation of the Arctic wilderness. He has a plan for domesticating the musk ox and raising it in large numbers on the tundras and barrens. He says the musk ox is far more valuable than reindeer, having meat like beef, producing more wool than sheep and giving much milk.

Several labor organizations of the United States have shown a fine spirit in co-operating with the national needs, and have set an example to their fellow workers in Canada which puts the latter in some instances to shame. The Metal Trades Council of Portland and the Shipwrights and Joiners Union of Seattle have been the recipients of congratulatory messages from President Wilson on their practical patriotism in foregoing their Saturday half holiday to speed up the shipbuilding. Imbued with the spirit of national service, these labor organizations are a force for progress in their respective spheres of labor, and with men of that type engaged in the industries we need not wonder at the industrial development and progress of these cities of the Pacific Coast.—Minng Record.

Theloan of $3,000,000 from the Dominion government to the Province of British Columbia suggests a new and economical method of public financing as applied to provincial and local governing bodies. Controlling as it does the currency of Canada, there is no reason why the Dominion government should not finance in a similar way all public financial requirements, taking the necessary precaution of obtaining sufficient security either by way of guarantees or local taxation bylaws by which the ratepayers commit themselves to special taxation to provide the interest and protect the principal of such loans. Some such method is required to provide for the opening up of the country by roads and bridges. Present methods of floating public loans through foreign brokerage houses are costly and cumbersome. — Mining Record.

THE INTERVENTION OF CANADA IN ASIA

Only time will show whether the policy adopted by the Allied governments toward Russia is the wise one. As was pointed out in this column some time ago, there were three alternatives from which to choose, intervention with a great army and the virtual conquest of the whole of Siberia up to and if possible beyond the Urals, intervention with the aid of a small expeditionary force which might serve as a nucleus around which would rally all the anti-German elements of the land, and penetration by means of an economic commission unsupported by bayonets. The middle course is the one selected and it must be given a fair trial before we can judge of its efficacy. Its strength lies in the honest purpose that lies behind it where Russia is concerned, its weakness in the possibility that Russia can be hoodwinked into interpreting it as an infringement upon her sovereignty. — The Daily Star, Montreal.

WHAT IS SIBERIA TO US?

Siberia is vital to us because in war anything that matters to the enemy matters to us, and Siberia matters to Germany. Any coast, island or territory, no matter how obscure, which an enemy may use to our serious injury, must be fought for without flinching. And most certainly there is perial of Germany using Siberia to our injury. The plain truth is—it has become an axiom of war—that the line of defence of a country is wherever the enemy may be fought. We may have to defend the women of Ontario and Quebec on the frontiers of China and fight for our Ottawa children's bread and butter on the Equator or inside the Arctic cirile. So, let there be no mistake about what we are fighting for in Siberia. We are fighting there for three things, 1. To help to destroy German military power wherever it exists; 2. To enable a large section of the Russian people to shake off the chains which traitors inspired by Germans have placed upon their limbs; 3. To protect from German aggression Canada's plain interests in the Far East. —Ottawa Press-Journal.

MINERS' WAGES SHOULD BE REGULATED BY GOVERNMENT

The report of the council of the board of trade presented to the meeting at Edmonton dealt at some length with the western coal situation. In connection with this a letter has been received from Winnipeg pointing out that "if Winnipeg is to be a market for western coal, the price must be reduced very considerably," and the board has been urged to take up the question of cost with the operators in the district.

The chairman of the coal operators' section of the board reported on this matter as follows:

"The present abnormal price of coal is largely due to wages. Abnormal rates and allowances are being paid to miners in the province of Alberta, and apparently there is no end to it. There is nothng I can suggest which will bring a material lowering of the mine price of the different grades of coal in Alberta, unless the government takes some action in regard to rates being paid to miners.

The Dominion fuel controller has recently had an investigation of certain mines in this district, and we believe that the result of the audit will prove that the mines have not been making anything but a fair profit. In fact, a number of the mines are actually running at a loss.

Government regulation of wages is the first step towards regulating the price of coal."

It was felt by the council that both in the interest of the consumer and to promote the largest measure of expansion in an industry in which Edmonton is vitally interested, the matter should not be left there, but should be carefully investigated by a special committee.—Edmonton Journal.

DEBS CHARGED WITH SEDITION

Cleveland, O., Sept. 9. — Eugene Debs, four times candidate for president of the United States on the Socialist ticket, will go on trial in court this morning charged with the violation of the Espionage Act.

Debs was secretly indicted by the federal grand jury on June 29 on an indictiment of 10 counts and was arrested here June 30 as he was about to address a meeting of Cleveland Socialists. The charge against him is based on a speech Debs delivered at the state convention of the Ohio Socialist party at Canton, June 16.

In the Canton speech, Debs is alleged to have declared the purpose of the allies in the war to be the same as that of the Central powers. He urged his hearers to know that "they are fit for something better than cannon fodder." He declared himself as guilty as Mrs. Rose Stokes, who was recently found guilty of violation of the Espionage law.

If found guilty, Debs faces a sentence of 20 years' imprisonment and a $20,000 fine on each count.

SERVICE BRITAIN RENDERED

That the facts will seep through in time through the natural avenues of intercourse between England and America seems to be the attitude of the British. This belief is probably justified despite the activity of various anti-war Americans in keeping the lie alive. But it does seem to us that it is the duty of some American leader, preferably the President himself, to put a quicker end to Anglo-American misunderstanding by a fair and full statement of the facts of England's service. The President could make this statement cover, not what Britain has done for the whole allied cause, but what she has done for us. The transport and convoy of our troops abroad is a case in point. Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosvelt said in London that 60 per cent of the ships guarding and transporting our armies across were British ships. The proportion at the start of the great troop movement was far higher. It went up to 80 and 85 per cent. Think what this means. It means that the people of England voluntarily gave up their food in order to transport the American army.—Chicago Post.

THE BEREAVED

The black shadows of the war are again falling thick on Canadian homes. Some of the sorrows are so poignant that sympathy stands almost appalled. Such a case is that of parents in London who were notified this week, in official telegrams only a few hours apart, that their two sons had been killed in the same action. The casualty lists are again of melancholy length. Scores of families are plunged daily into mourning, and thousands of others live in ceaseless dread lest the ring at the door may herald evil tidings.

Compassion may do little to heal the wounds of grief when they are fresh, but there will be lasting sources of consolation for those who have lost near and dear ones in this war to make the world habitable for decent people. They will have proud memories which nothing can take from them and which time will only intensify when history pays its homage to the dead. They will have the biding sense of a country's gratitude; but it is for the nation to see that its thankfulness is not experssed ed in sentiment alone, and that parents or wives or children shall not have life made harder for them because sons or husbands or fathers have laid down their lives to stay the tide of barbarism. It will also be a great part of their comfort when the victory is won that the men who lie in Flanders' fields did not die in vain. The loss of the war or an inconclusive end to it would be a blow that would be felt with special bitterness by those who have been bereaved. Of all classes they are the most concerned to see that it is won. They have a moral right to ask that no effort be spared to carry to triumph the cause for which their kinsmen have made the last and greatest sacrifice.—Toronto Globe.

CUBAN CROP WAS SHORT

The crop of raw sugar in Cuba turned out to be 300,000 tons short of the estimates upon which the original allotments of sugar to the Allied nations, including Canada and the United States, were calculated. Fifty thousand tons were sunk by submarines off the American coast. The Louisiana cane crop and the American beet sugar crop were alike disappointing. The sugar beet secton of Northern France was overrun by the Germans, and the sugar beet section of Northern Italy was overrun by the Austrians in their spring offensives. Consequently the world is short of sugar.

GOLDEN AGE OF ROME

Christian Science Monitor: Ostia, the harbor of ancient Rome, is once more, by decision of the Italian government, to become a port, and Rome therefore once more a maritime city. To the harbor of Ostia, when Rome was mistress of the world, came the corn from Sicily and Sardinia which, after Tiber silt and national indolence had let Ostia perish, was stored at Portus, the rival harbor, which also afterwards fell into disrepute. It was the seizure of Rome's granary which enabled Alaric to impose his will on the Eternal City. Ostia began its existence in 640 B.C., and she seems about to add another chapter to her history.

Pounding The Truth In

New York Sun: That the Germans have been driven, fairly beaten, by better generalship from below the Marne to above the Vesle is the fact, and the German masses will some day grasp it despite the military leaders' efforts to convince them that to sustain a sound thrashing is actually to achieve a great victory.

Increased Fish Consumption

The consumption of Atlantic fish in Ontario for the first six months of 1918 was 500 per cent over that of last year. In the western provinces the consumption of Pacific fish has also been vastly increased since the war, but Canadian fish consumption is still far short of the one pound per week standard recommended by the Canada Food Board in order to conserve meat supplies.

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.

Basic Facts About Belting

AND PARTICULARLY

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Transmission Belting

A Worthy Product

Years of careful study of the high-power belt problem have enabled Dunlop Laboratory experts to create "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting, the original Red Face Rubber Belting of Canada—a product worthy of the Dunlop Factories and of the quarter-century record of success back of them.

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Virtues Are Real

Dunlop "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to-day widely used in a multitude of ways in the many varied industries in this country. It owes its success, not to any illogical deductions or fantastic analyses, but to the simplest causes—causes so simple that they are now, always have been, and always will be, in our opinion, the bedrock of success in belt-making—Power, Speed, Service—in actual use as well as in the test-room.

Permanent Elasticity Means "Life" in Belting

In producing this new, this original, this master, red belt, our object has been to have the friction coat of rubber between the plies such as will retain its life indefinitely, and to have a quality of rubber with long "fingers," and not a quality of rubber the elasticity of which has been sacrificed to obtain the so-called high-pulling test.

That "Friction Pull"

When you are informed that such-and-such a belt has a "friction-pull" of abnormal poundage, do not imagine that you are getting a quality friction. What you have to secure in a belt is a friction full of elasticity. There must be between the plies of duck only a certain class of rubber to give uniform strength and pliability.

Resilient Quality Must Not Be Sacrificed To Excess of Friction Strength

To obtain high figures, such as referred to above, in belt frictions you have to take away from the elasticity of the friction; hence, there is a happy medium, and this medium we have obtained through our laboratory experts. It ensures for you a belt, the friction of which will hold the plies together and will be sufficiently elastic in its properties to allow for the give and take necessary in rounding the pulleys.

Duck Finest Obtainable, Made to Highest Specifications

A highly important feature of "Gibraltar RedSpecial" is the duck which enters into its construction. Only the finest quality of specially-selected duck, having the proper tensile strength in the right direction, is used. And this, in combination with a superior rubber friction between the plies, ensures absolute uniformity of service.

Fills The Bill

"Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting is to be found in practically every industry in Canada, and if it is Power, Speed and Service that you want, then it is "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Frictioned-Surface Belting that you require for your work.

Universal Recognition of "Gibraltar RedSpecial"

To cite the names of users of this famous, red frictioned-surface belt would necessitate the use of much space. We have on file recommendations from almost every type of industry requiring "Gibraltar RedSpecial" Belting in widths varying from 1½" to 48." These testimonials are available for your perusal at any time.

The Original "Red"

"Gibraltar RedSpecial," as noted previously, is the Original Red Rubber Belt—and like most things that are original, its success is of the kind that endures.

SALVING OF SUNKEN CARGOES BIG SCHEME

The Germans are already speculating on the amount of cargo likely to be salved from sunken vessels round the coasts of Great Britain, France and Belgium when the war is over. In this the Huns have been anticipated by the British and Allied governments.

Experts employed by the British government have alredy been at work and plans have been prepared for a gigantic scheme of salvage in the hope of saving at least a portion of the immense stocks of cargo which have been temporarily "lost" through enemy action. Exactly how this is to be accomplished is known only to the British government officials entrusted with this great scheme. Hundreds of the vessels sunk by submarine, mine or other cause lie in comparatively shallow water, or, at all events, at depths where salvage operations can be carried out with every prospect of success.

Many thousands of tons of foodstuffs in hermetically sealed vessels are likely to be reclaimed with comparativeliy little difficuty. Tinned meats, preserved fruits and concentrated foodstuffs in vast quantities will assuredly be salved. It has been proved in the case of sacks of flour that the action of salt water penetrates only to a certain extent, and forms a kind of "skin," thus preserving the greater part of the contents of each sack.

When the Bruce Antarctic Expedition returned to this country it was found that the foodstuffs in hermetically sealed vessels were perfectly fresh, so that cargoes sunk in the autumn of 1914 need not be regarded as irretrievably lost. The British authorities have not been so remiss in anticipating the salvage of sunken cargoes as the public may imagine.

Many commodities of an edible nature have been encased in tallow or white lead to withstand the action of the water. Most of the tea which has been arriving in this country for some time has been doubly secured against the action of salt water by means of double lead casings. And many other instances might be given of the farseeing measures adopted by the British authorities.

Immense quantities of cotton have been lost within the "barred zone." Experiments conducted off the coast of Havana some years ago proved that a bale of cotton sunk to the bottom of the sea for a perod of two years was comparatively little damaged by the action of the salt water when raised to the surface. Only to something like three or four inches round the outer edge of the bale was the cotton affected by the sea. Once this was stripped off the remainder was found to be perfectly sound. The possibilities of successful salvage in this connection are obvious.

Many of the stately ships sunk in shallow water will also be raised and even if they are so damaged as to preclude their being repaired the materal will at least be added to the nation's stocks.

OUT-HERODING HEROD

London Daily Chronicle: The Crown Prince of Germany for the moment out-Huns his sire. The Kaiser, in the message to his people, which most of us have read, felicitates them, in chastened mood, upon having escaped the horror of the war in their own land. The Crown Prince, explaining his gigantic failure on the Marne, bids his father's subjects rejoice in victory, for "another region of France has been devastated." Attila, the Kaiser's idol, put his method of warfare into a phrase, "Grass never grows where my horse has once trodden."

How green are the distant hills! Canadians take a moment off occasionally from pursuing their own government with a club to admire the efficiency of the Washington administration and to wish that we had a Woodrow Wilson at Ottawa. In the United States, on the other hand, Washington is being constantly admonished to look to Canada and profit by her example. Compliments to the Canadian government are very common in the United States. Thus a Boston daily in reviewng the achievements of Canada within the last year says: "Altogether the record is a great one, and the allied cause is under a debt to Canada, not only for her achievement but for her example."—Exchange.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Jim Thistlebeak says: Dont't be a "Knocker."

Don't criticize your neighbor's faults,
No matter what they do;
Don't ridicule the masses or
Malign the chosen few;
Don't think yourself a censor for
The silly human flock,
And just remember as you go,
That any fool can knock.

Don't laugh at those who make mistakes,
And stumble on the way,
For you are apt to follow them
And almost any day.
Don't think the others shifting sands
While you are solid rock,
And don't forget, for heaven's sake,
That any fool can knock.

Don't be a puller down of fame
On other men conferred.
Don't give a parting kick to one
Who fell because he erred.
Don't think that you are perfect and
The only size in stock;
And now once more just bear in mind
That any fool can knock.

Baron von Germhun, one time private secretary to Kaiser Bill (the German sausage Emperor) passed through Elko on his way to the United States, where a warm reception awaits him, from Morrissey Internment camp.

Show this paper to your friends. They might have a few loose dollars about their person and subscribe for it. You know that it pays to advertise.

Dr. and Mrs. Garner, Mrs. Cummings and Miss Langley, Supt. of the Fernie hospital, were Elko visitors this week.

Jolly the fellow who's down today,
Give him a smile for his sorrow.
The world sometimes has a funny way
And you may be down tomorrow.

Fred Roo is down in the Roosville Valley and Tobacco Plains this week and seems to have a special commission for boosting the Cranbrook fair.

The Flagstone branch of the Tobacco Plains and Roosville Valley Sunshine Society gave a social dance in honor of Miss Jenny Nichols, of Roosville, and Miss A. Moisio, of Flagstone, teachers, on Saturday night, at Sunshine Hall, Flagstone, which was well attended and a social success.

The tiehack is a happy man
And in the woods is free,
No foreman looking down his neck,
No need of boss has he.

On account of the big demand for ties several tie camps will be started in the Roosville valley this winter.

Mrs. A. Boss and daughter, of Riverside Park, left on Sunday for Nelson, where they will in future reside. Miss L. Boss is attending high school in Nelson and left Elko some time ago.

On account of the big demand for lumber coming in the Downs and Reinecke mill, Roosville valley, expects to start up again.

B. Rasmussen and E. A. Wakefield, who have been in charge of the local American Consular office for the past year, have received notice of transfer, the former will go to Moncton, N. B., and the latter to Prince Rupert. Martin Brant, of Salina Cruze, Mexico, has been appointed to the Fernie office.

PASSPORTS REFUSED

While the wives of Canadian soldiers and civilians in this country are being urged officially to sail for Canada—and they are leaving by the boatload—it is strange that women engaged to be married to someone now in the Dominion, and who can produce proof that they are to be married immediately upon landing, are refused passports.

The Canadian authorities have made the strongest representations to the Colonial Office upon the matter. Several cases of genuine hardship have been brought forward.

There are instances where a man wounded in the war has been returned to Canada unfit for further military duty but has since found useful employment in Canada.

Before sailing he became engaged to some girl in England, and the girl is ready to go out to him. But she is refused permission by the Imperial authorities.

BANK'S BID FOR LUMBER PROPERTY IS ACCEPTED

In a judgment handed down on Saturday, Mr. Justice Morrison has granted the appication of the liquidator of the Fernie Lumber Company to approve of the sale of the property to the Imperial Bank of Canada on their tender of $245,000. The bid was conditional on their securities being a first charge on the property. The assets of the lumber company were placed by the liquidator as not greater than the amount of the securities held by the bank.

At the hearing, counsel for Mr. McDougall, the former president of the company, strongly opposed the sale on the ground that the property was worth double the amount of the bid and he was being squeezed out, but the reply made to this contention was that the assets had been advertised for sale in a large number of papers at great expense and the bank's bid was the only one forthcoming.

S. S. Taylor, K. C., appeared for the Liquidator; E. P. Davis, K. C., appeared for Mr. McDougall.

MEAL TICKET OFFICERS AND SHELL-PROOF JOBS

To the Editor:

Sir—The Greenwood Ledge has, unwittngly, no doubt, cast a slur on the loyalty and devotedness of those who have sacrificed practically all they can sacrifice in the geat world struggle. Commenting on the fact that a regiment of returned soldiers will take charge of the internment camp at Morrissey the Ledge remarks:

"It is time for the meal ticket officers and privates to hand over their shell proof jobs to the men who carried the flag through mud, blood and hell in France."

As one who served in the internment camp at Morrissey and whose father still serves there and as one who has two brothers at the front, one wounded, I cannot allow the slur on "meal ticket officers and privates in their shell proof jobs" to go without protest. I would like to inform the Ledge that among the officers and privates who served in the internment camp at Morrissey there were none who had not given up more lucrative and comfortable positions at wages ranging from $4 to $10 per day in order that they serve their country for the modest pay of $1.10 per day, or a little more liberal allowance for an officer. There were no officers or privates at the internment camp in Morrissey who would not have preferred service at the front. They were not at the internment camp from choice but in obedience to the command of their country. Finally the "job" at Morrissey was not without the element of danger with 15,000,000 Germans across the border in a country that had not yet declared war against Germany—500,000 of whom had seen service in the German army. Now will the Ledge pause to consider the "shell proof" nature of a "job" of this kind when even in the internment camp the number of trained German soldiers was numerically stronger than the guards of whom it is pleased to term "meal ticket officers and privates."

MAE MARSH AT ORPHEUM NEXT WED. AND THURS.

For Irvine S. Cobb's drama of the secret service, "The Face in the Dark," in which Goldwin presents Mae Marsh at the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, an uncommonly interesting cast has been assembled.

A leading man new to Goldwin Picture plays opposite Miss Marsh. He is Niles Welch, often called the handsomest hero on the screen, as well as one of the youngest. He has played with practically every star before the public today, his last production before supporting Miss Marsh being Metro's "Her Boy," in which he was co-starred with Effie Shannon.

Alec B. Francis essays the role of Miss Marsh's father, a retired secret service man who chooses to sacrifice his daughter's love rather than reveal the truth about himself. Mr. Francis is widely known on the stage and screen and is remembered with especial pleasure by all who saw Goldwyn's "The Cinderella Man," as the kind-hearted friend who brought the lonely little rich girl and the poet together. He has never played a more congenial part than that allotted to him in "The Face in the Dark."

WONDERFUL STUFF! LIFT OUT YOUR CORNS

Apply a few drops then lift corns or calluses off with fingers—no pain.

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without a particle of pain or soreness.

This drug is called freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati man.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This drug freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Just think! No pain at all; no soreness or smarting when applying it or afterwards. If your druggist don't have freezone have him order it for you.

PROPOSITION THAT MEN WILL VOTE ON TONIGHT

The following is a copy of the proposal made by the Honorable W. Sloan, Minister of Mines, re the single shift at Coal Creek and Michel mines:

In the interest of the industry and for the purpose of arriving at a quick decision so as to enable the much needed output of coal to be maintained, I make the following propositions to the miners now idle and also to the Company involved.

1. The immediate appointment under authority contained in Section 73 of the Coal Mines Regulation Act, of a commission composed of three members, one chosen by the miners, one by the Operators and the third to be appointed by Lieutenant Governor in Council, on the recommendation of the Minister of Mines. This commission will immediately proceed to take eidence on the question involved in so far as they affect any or all mines in Coal Creek and Michel, and shall be prepared to report within thirty days of their appointment, to the Lieutenant Governor in Council whether in their opinion the single shift system would be advisable in any or all the mines in said area. The recommendations of this commission, if any, to be binding on both operators and men until the conclusion of the war.

2. If the above proposal is satisfactory, I will be prepared as Minister of Mines to introduce at the next session of the legislature an amendment to the Coal Mines Regulation Act, calling for one shift in every 24 hours, for the production of coal throughout the Province of British Columbia, except in case or cases of national emergency. This amendment to become effective within one year after the conclusion of the war.

Dated at Vancouver, 18th September, 1918.

In connection with the above propositions, the following letter from W. R. Wilson, General Manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., to Hon. Wm. Sloan, Minister of Mines, will be self-explanatory:

Dear Sir—I have through the kindness of Mr. Jones received your communication and recommendations regarding single shift at our Coal Creek and Michel collieries.

We are convinced that the officials of District 18, U.M.W.A. or some of the responsible members thereof, have done the country, the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. and their employees a serious injustice by their abrupt and unjustifiable method of handling this question by using undue force which is not warranted; but, on the contrary, provisions for the settlement of disputes are made in the agreement given to the U. M. W. of A. and Operators of District 18, by the Dominion government, for their guidance.

In discharge of your duties as Minister of Mines, it is incumbent on you to make such recommendations as may appear necessary from time to time, for the safety of the employees in and about the mines.

We therefore desire to state that your recommendations submitted to us this morning, will be acceptable, and the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company will agree to be bound by the decisions of this commission.

Yours sincerely,
W. R. WILSON.

CUT NINE MILLION FEET

The sawmill of the Elk Lumber Co. here ceased operations for this season yesterday afternoon. The cut for the mill this year has amounted to nine miliion feet of which but one million have been moved. The bulk of the business this year has been with Eastern Canada and the Middle Western States. The management of the Elk Lumber Co. express satisfaction with the result of the season's operations and also with the results attained from entrance into the eastern markets. This trade is now getting fairly well acquainted with the western mountain grades of lumber and this quality of material is standing up well for the requirements of the eastern consumers, and repeat orders are beginning to be placed more regularly. The movement of lumber this year to the prairie provinces and particularly to Alberta has been far below normal.

In connection with the local lumbering industry tests are how being carried out with mountain spruce for aeroplane construction and should it be found that same is suitable for the purpose, owing to the almost unlimited quantity of first class spruce available, the demand for the products of the mountain mills in this section will be greatly expanded.

LETTER FROM TOMMY SLATER

Dear Sir—I take great pleasure in writing you these few lines as Fernie is my home town, having left there on June 10, 1915 with the 54th Batt. I was the first private to join the 54th in Fernie and sometimes I think how lucky I have been. I left Vernon with the first draft of the 54th in D. Co. and was transferred to the 2nd C. M. R., a regiment that Fernie was well represented in, but most of those valiant heroes are gone from our midst, but they have not died in vain. I remember the first appearance of the 54th in France. I met most of my old friends of Fernie. The last I saw of Capt. Moffatt he was hale and hearty and an officer Fernie should be proud of. Please give the boys of Fernie my best regards and wishes and if it be my luck I hope to see them again in the future. Remember me to Mrs. D. Gash as I met her son the other day. He was quite a stranger. Davy has grown to be some man and a soldier also. Remember me to M. Berigan, my old drill sergeant. I will now close, hoping this finds you in health and good spirits.

Yours truly,
Driver Thos. Slater,
9th Canadian Engineers.

—o—

There is no such thing any more as volunteering for the United States army and navy. Every man who joins the colors must go by way of the selective draft route. The abolition of recruiting was ordered two weeks ago by General March, chief of staff. The volunteeer system, although operating on a very small scale, was getting men into the army who should remain in industry, thus upsettting labor conditions. Canadians who still have an idea that the volunteer system has advantages to offer might ponder over the action taken south of the border.

DECIDED TO CALL IT OFF

A shocking tragedy occurred on Wednesday evening at the residence of John Lock, on Victoria Avenue, when William Allen, the highly talented violinist of the Orpheum theatre, came to a sudden death by a shot fired from a revolver. As far as can be ascertained with any reasonable degree of certainty, pending the official inquiry, which will be held tonight, Mrs. Lock was the only eye-witness to the act and it is assumed that while laboring under some as yet unexplained condition of irresponsibility in her presence he put a 38 calibre revolver to his head and shot himself.

The first intimation of the occurrence that was received by the police was a telephone call at 8.05 p.m. from a neighbor that someone had been shot. However, owing to some slight confusion in the name of the resident where their presence was required, a short delay resulted before Chief Welsby and Constable Clarkston reached the scene. On arriving they found Allen in the front room of the residence lying on the floor on his left side and a large pool of blood about his head. A short distance away from his extended right arm was the revolver. Blood was splashed more or less about the walls and ceiling. At the margin of the right temple was a circular wound, while on the left side about one inch above the ear was another wound, indicating that a bullet from the revolver had entered, making the wound on the right side and passing completely through the head came out at the point of the wound on the left side. By marks on the ceiling and walls it was not a very difficult matter to trace the course of the shot and the spent leaden missle was found on the floor a short distance from the body.

There was no apparent disarrangement of the furniture in the room and this indicated there had not been any death or violent struggle of any kind, and everything so far divulged points plainly to suicide. The only other marks on the body other than those made by the bullet is that the lower left eyelid is swollen and considerably discolored. In the room there was no likely article to have caused this and it is assumed that in falling he struck the arm of a nearby rocking chair. Letters were found on the body and one particularly from his wife under date of Aug. 26, indicates that she has been residing at Penzance, Sask., in the employ of a rancher, with her two children. From the tone of this letter it is quite apparent there was some estrangement between deceased and his wife. On his person was found a large sum of money and a bank book with a substantial credit. In addition, among his effects at his residence there has been found another bank book indicating that he has $700 to his credit. As far as can be ascertained he carried no life insurance other than a $5000 accident policy. It is now certain, however, that Allen's financial standing was very good and this could not have been a motive to influence him to commit the rash act.

Yesterday the coroner's jury was empanelled, consisting of T. Beck, foreman; John Wood, George Cody Sr., Wilson Quail, James Wood and J. C. Orner. They viewed the body and keenly scrutinized the wound and also the interior of the Lock residence for visible clews. Concerning the matter numerous astounding rumors have been in circulation but pending the inquest these cannot be accepted and only such statements as are made under oath can be given any credence.

Chief Welsby received a telegram yesterday from Mrs. Allen that she was en route here and should arrive on Saturday. In the meantime funeral arrangements cannot be made but ample notice will be given in due time.

The tragedy has shocked the citizens considerably on account of the parties implicated being so widely known and respected. Mr. Allen while of retiring disposition had a wide circle of friends and was popular chiefly on account of his musical accomplishments. The sad incident is exceedingly regrettable particularly in view of the undue notoriety it will bring upon the two familes drectly connected therewith. Mrs. Lock, who immediately following the frightful experience became somewhat distracted, has recovered and even late in the evening of the occurrence volunteered to make her statement to the authorities. This she was not permitted to do but advised to keep herself in readiness to make same before the jury at the inquest. Developments since have brought out the fact that the fatal shot was heard by others in that neighborhood and it is also known that there were many who have knowledge of certain facts bearing upon the matter, and this evening when the inquest convenes in the council chamber there will probably be some fifteen or more witnesses to be called.

THINGS WE'D LIKE TO KNOW

Why it is necessary for Harry Martin, Secretary of Gladstone Local, to suppress the publication of the proposition which the men are asked to vote on this evening. Is he afraid that if they were given a little time to think it over they might accept it? Why are these propositions always held from the men until the Bolsheviki orators get a chance to put their own interpretation on them? Let the men think for themselves.

Why Fernie could not adopt the system of appointing a manager to run the town. This idea is working out well in Kamloops, where they have employed the city clerk as manager.

If the city water cart is also on strike.

Why the city allows such a one-horse aggregation as that Wild West Show to inflict thmeslves upon a long suffering public.

Why the District Ledger constitutes itself the champion of the Ukaranian Bolsheviki propagandists. These people were branded as disloyal by local citizens who speak their own language—men who are highly respected in the community and whose word is as good as their bond.

ACTION TAKEN IS ENDORSED

The postponed monthly meeting of the Navy League was held in the council chamber on Monday evening, at which a fair representation of members was present. Mayor Thomson, president, occupied the chair.

The report of the convenor for Tag Day, Mrs. A. I. Fisher, was received and will be found in another column.

A contribution of $25 was made to the Provincial Sailors' Xmas Percel Fund.

Secretary Claridge reported that the membership had been increased fully 100 per cent since the last meeting, and almost the entire credit for this was due to Miss Banks. The membership as reported stands, 71 adults and 230 junior members, and particularly with regard to this latter branch of the League had Miss Banks' efforts been highly successful. On his recommendation Miss Banks was unanimously appointed as Junior Supervisor.

Reference was made to the Sailor day incident and a motion was unanimously passed endorsing Mrs. Moffatt's procedure on that occasion.

Chief McDougall suggested that the League should endeavor to replenish the treasury by holding a dance, and after some discussion it was decided that such an entertainment be held on Trafalgar Day, Oct. 21st, and that a meeting be called at a later date to arrange the details in that connection.

The Charter was received from Provincial Headquarters and on regular motion it was decided to have same framed and hung up in the city hall.

BOOZE RUNNERS ARE CAUGHT

On Saturday evening Provincial Constable Hughes of Natal made a catch of some forty gallons of intoxicating liquor near Sparwood in a vehicle driven by J. Baggatini of this city, and Tom Bosso of Coal Creek was accompanying him. They were taken into custody and later Bosso was convicted as the owner and having it in his possession other than in a private dwelling, and fined $75. The liquor was confiscated. The case against Baggatini was remanded as the defence is that he was merely engaged to make the trip not knowing the nature of the load he was conveying.

The Provincial police also made a catch in the neighborhood of Waldo this week when they seized a shipment consisting of two ten gallon kegs and three cases of whisky and one case of brandy that was smuggled in from Montana. A man by the name of Donaldson is connected with the case and Max Belasky, who recently bought the Royal Hotel business here, is implicated. This case will be heard at Waldo.
