Blairmore gave the boys a royal time, and the only complaints heard were from some of the boys who said they were so tired at the dance and the girls were so nice that they could not rest.

Donaldson behind the bat played a wonderful game, only one man in both games attempting a steal and he was nipped. He also did good work batting. Archie Dunlap at short in the 1st game and at 3rd in the final took a lot of chances and handled them without an error. Pep Colton on 1st lived up to his reputation and scooped them all in.

George Sofko in the box gave an exhibition of getting out of a dangerous place in the steadiest manner possible, and the last few innings were better than any of the others. Eighteen innings in an afternoon for a boy against a bunch of batters such as he faced and handled the way he did, is a feat the big fellows would be proud of.

Dunlop and Dragon went down the night before and registered from Spokane. This caused quite a stir among the fans and they called up the Fernie manager to inquire about it.

Dr. Asselstine took a load of the boys down and was as pleased as any of them when they landed the bacon.

Jim Graves and Bert McEwan took a car of players and were very busy themselves on the side lines.

W. R. Wilson gave the Michel and Fernie teams a supper after the games, he having been an interested spectator of all the games.

Quite a few cars went down from Fernie. They were all fans and they helped materially in winning both of the games.

Line up for first game—

Line up 2nd game—

Donaldson c, Sofko p, R. Colton 1b, J. Dragon 2b, B. Wilson ss, A. Dunlap 3b, Callahan rf, C. Colton cf, C. Spence, lf.

Umpire Winslow umpired a very good game, and all games were run off in the very best style; no disputes, and the best of good fellowship ruling throughout the tournament.

SECOND TARZAN CINEMA SURPASSES PREVIOUS ONE

Beginning with one of the most novel ideas in the whole realm of fiction, the producers of "The Romance of Tarzan," which comes to the Orpheum theatre next Monday and Tuesday, have lavished money, brains and energy upon the theme of Edgar Rice Borrough's masterly book with unusually happy results.

The new cinema drama presents the concluding chapters of "Tarzan of the Apes" in a manner that surpasses the original production, according to the judgment of metropolitan critics who have reported prerelease showings of the massive seven-reel picture play.

A NARROW ESCAPE

Archie Farquharson had a narrow escape from drowning the other day. He was driving a team across a light bridge near his post camp when one of the chains holding the bridge gave way and he was thrown into the rushing water with his team and load. After being carried down the stream about a hundred yards he finally succeeded in making the shore. With the assistance of some men from the camp he succeeded in getting one horse out but the other was drowned. The lost horse was valued at $250.

ALBERTA COAL FOR MANITOBA

At the industrial congress sessions last week the commissioner for Northern Manitoba made the statement that the time would soon come, he hoped, when nothing but Alberta coal would be used in Manitoba.

That is exactly what the people of Alberta have been hoping and working for. They succeeded to some extent in replacing American coal on the Manitoba market during the war, but unfortunately a combination of circumstances has arisen as a result of which we are likely to lose the whole of what we have gained. For one thing, the coal famine which affected the United States during the war has been pretty well overcome, and Pennsylvania mines are now anxious to get their product back to the Manitoba market once more. And unfortunately the miners of Alberta were misled by the O.B.U. fever which looked to the establishment of sovietism in Canada and went on strike this spring just at the very time when the mines of Alberta should have been drumming up business in Manitoba and shipping summer storage coal to that province. Now we find ourselves in exactly the same position with regard to the Manitoba market as we occupied before the war, and we have the fight to make all over again if we are to gain for our mining industry the place which rightfully belongs to it in the markets of western Canada.

However, the fight must not be given up. Western Canada coal for Western Canadians must continue to be our slogan and we must bend our energies to overcome the troubles in the way.

Among those difficulties, as pointed out by C. A. Magrath when he was fuel controller, is the fact that coal mining in Alberta is too much a seasonal occupation. On account of the fact that the market is limited the mines are usually more or less idle during the summer months. But the miners must live during these months, and the mines must be kept in physical condition. Mr. Magrath believes that the cost of coal production is at least $1 per ton higher as a result of this condition. He also points out that it is not possible to secure the best class of miners when only seasonal occupation can be relied upon.

To overcome the fact that most mines in the province work only six to eight months in the year, and by so doing to overcome the increased price of coal due to the idleness of such a large investment for a period of four to six months every year, Mr. Magrath suggests that one remedy which might help would be the introduction of the Pennsylvania system whereby the price of coal is cut 50 cents a ton on April 1st, ten cents per ton being added each month until by Sept. 1 the former price has been regained. This would encourage the early buying of coal for the following winter. It might also be possible to work out a scheme for reduced freight rates on coal during the summer months when the railways are slack, thus relieving them of heavy coal traffic in the fall when the grain movement is on and making another argument in favor of early buying. By thus spreading the market out over the year the mines would be able to reduce the price of coal in all probability, the miners would be given steadier employment, and the development of Alberta's coal resources would soon grow to such an extent that competition from American coal would not be such a disrputing influence.

E. T. Fitzsimmons, trade commissioner for Alberta mines, who is working to develop the industry by opening up new markets, also has a number of suggestions which should receive the careful consideration of all who are interested in the advancement of the industry. He recommends:

1. As a vital matter and aid to the mining industry, and during the reconstruction period, it is suggested that all the different representatives of organized labor in the province of Alberta, particularly the United Mine Workers of America, co-operate with the Alberta provincial government, the coal operators in the province and the general public throughout the province, and strongly represent to the federal government at Ottawa, which is now operating two transcontinental lines of railway through the western provinces, that on all government operated lines, and also other railroads, it would be a practical and logical elimination of unemployment now existing among all classes, the creation of a steady employment, and with a view to the development of our natural resources and be a great help in sustaining the financial status of Canadian credits both at home and in foreign countries, if the Ottawa government would use Alberta coal on all western lines of rairoads operated by them and other railroads likewise, in preference to imported American coas.

"2. Nothing but the best grades of Alberta coal be shipped into Manitoba market, and more direct coal marketing of coal from Alberta mines.

"3. I would suggest that coal shipped from Alberta mines be clearly stated, whether it is lump, stove, nut, pea, mine run or slack and if a mixture of these grades, state so clearly, and over and through what size screens the coal passes. This would enable al consumers at any point to know exacty what they are getting and paying for. It would also stop wholesale dealers and jobbers in Manitoba from buying coal which passes over a one-inch screen, as for example, and called 'lump' which they buy at a price and sell to consumers and represent it as three inch lump coal from Alberta mines. A large number of Alberta operators in several districts are in favor of standardizing the screens by districts.

"4. A general effort should be made to get a considerable reduction in freight rates on coal, especially in the case of long hauls, from all Alberta mines, as the rates now in effect are in my opinion away too high and working a hardship on the whole coal industry in the province. The rates on slack coal, particularly as a matter of conservation alone, should not be the same as the higher grade coals, but should be given special rates to all points."

MEANING OF BOLSHEVISM

The salient features which constitute the program of Bolshevism as it exists today in Russia are summarized as follows by the Overman Committee of the United States Senate, which has just issued its report on German Propaganda and Bolshevism:

The repudiation of democracy and the establishment of a dictatorship.

The confiscation of all land and the improvements thereon.

The confiscation of all forests and natural resources.

The confiscation of all live stock and all agricultural implements.

The confiscation of all banks and banking institutions and the establishment of a state monopoly of the banking business.

The confiscation of all factories, mills, mines and industrial institutions and the delivery of the control and operation thereof to the employees therein.

The confiscation of all churches and all church property, real and personal.

The confiscation of all newspapers and periodicals and all mechanical facilities and machinery used in the publication thereof.

The seizure and confiscation of all public meeting places and assembly halls.

The confiscation of all transportation and communication systems.

The confiscation of the entire estate of all decedents.

The monopolizing by the state of all advertisements of every nature, whether newspapers, periodicals, handbills or programmes.

The repudiation of all debts against the government and all obligations due the no-Bolshevist element of the population.

The establishment of universal compulsory labor.

The abolition of Sunday schools and all other schools and institutions that teach religion.

The absolute separation of the churches and the schools.

The establishment, through marriage and divorce laws of a method for the legalization of prostitution, when the same is engaged in by consent of the parties.

The refusal to recognize the existence of God in its governmental and judicial proceedings.

The conferring of the rights of citizenship on aliens without regard to length of residence or intelligence.

The arming of so-called "toilers" and the disarming of all persons that had succeeded in acquiring property.

The discrimination in favor of residents of cities and against residents of the rural districts through giving residents of cities five times as much voting power as is accorded to residents of rural districts in such elections as are permitted.

The disfranchisement of all merchants, traders, and commercial agents.

The disfranchisement of all priests, clergymen or employees of churches and religious bodies.

The denial of the existence of any inalienable rights in the individual citizen.

The establishment of a judicial system exercising autocratic power, convicting persons and imposing penalties in their absence, and without opportunity to be heard, and even adopting the death penalty for numerous crimes and misdemeanor.

The inauguration of a reign of fear, terrorism and violence.

GALAXY OF BRONCHO BUSTERS FOR THE CALGARY STAMPEDE

Manager Guy Weadick, of the Calgary Stampede, has received advice from Bozeman, Montana, where the big Stampede has been in progress during the last week, that about 75 contestants, who took part in the various events there, will leave that town for Calgary, together with a large number of wild horses they have been riding.

Contracts have been received from all the following, while many more are expected during the course of the present week:

John Rasmussen, cowboy, wild horse rider and steer roper, from Brac, Alberta.

W. R. Young, with his string of horses for the cowboy relay races, Jumping Pond, Alberta.

George Francis, steer bulldogger, from Texas.

H. Crammar, holder of the world's record for throwing and tying a steer in 21 seconds flat, from Kan City, Oklahoma.

Harry Walters, champion trick rider, from Nexia, Texas, who performs the dangerous feats of leaving the saddle and going under the horse's neck and belly, while going at full speed.

Miss Tillie Baldwin, world's champion slick bucking horse rider.

Miss Ladue champion lady fancy roper.

John Banks, from Eureka, Utah, noted broncho buster.

J. A. Parsons, from Polson, Montana, with a large number of horses, all of which are entered in the races for men and women's races.

Ed. McCarty, with all his horses, from Cheyenne, Wyoming.

C. B. Irving, also from Cheyenne, with his string of wild ones.

D. Morse, from Medicine Hat, with his well known bunch.

C. Gardner, from Cochrane, also has signified his intention of being present with his large string of outlaws.

With the above formidable list already to hand and more to follow, and a large number of the boys from these surrounding parts who will be present to match their skill against their better known rivals, visitors to the Stampede will see some of the real and undiluted western life.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE IS A SKIN WHITENER

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

THE DUTHIE CO.

A GOOD BEGINNING

The initial action of the new Board of Commerce in re-establishing the system of investigation into cost of living prices for which Mr. W. F. O'Connor was responsible in 1916, will tend to create public confidence in the work upon which that body is embarking. Judge Robson, who is chairman, is a man of high integrity, considerable ability and keen investigating powers. He will be ably seconded by Mr. W. F. O'Connor, who showed at the time he was engaged by the government to probe prices that he had an admirable conception of the economic question under existing conditions. The new board is by its constitution a tribunal before which the consumers can seek redress. Since it is unlikely that many individual complaints will be registered, inasmuch as it is difficult for individuals to prove discrimination or to show how prices should be less than they are, it seems desirable for consumers' leagues to be inaugurated in communities, for these would be proper organizations to take up with the Board of Commerce and specific complaints.

The Board on its part will, under the O'Connor system, investigate the cost of production and distribution. It will enquire into the operations of middlemen, into cold storage hoardings and into the thousand and one ramifications connected with the operations of those who control the necessaries of life. The stern measures now being taken in the United States will not only afford an index into what should be done in the case of the large packing companies, but it will also, in other ways, facilitate the work of the Canadian Board of Commerce owing to the close relation in the cost of living on both sides of the international boundary. As well as all the Board can do in the ways outlined much will remain for the consuming public to accomplish by means of directing attention to local disabilities and discrimination in one territory as compared with another. There should be some organization brought into existence to assemble all particulars for presentation to the Board of Commerce and consumers' leagues would be suitable for this purpose. The idea is worthy of consideration. Judging by the calibre of the men on the Board of Commerce it will be found that where there is good ground for investigation they will be ready to act. We believe, too, they will give short shrift where excessive prices are shown to prevail.—Colonist

Any former members, now resident in Victoria or District(who have served during the War in any of the units named above, will on application in writing to the office of the A.D.M.S., Victoria, B.C., be supplied with all particulars available relating to the payment of the Gratuity.

NURSE NEVER SAW ITS EQUAL

Miss Murray, After Twelve Years' Professional Services, Praises Tanlac

" Ihave been a trained nurse for twelve years, and have had a great deal to do with medicines, but when it comes to building a person up from a weak, run-down condition, I have never seen anyahing to equal Tanlac," said Miss A. M. Murray, who lives at 202 Warwick Block, Winnipeg, while talking to a Tanlac representative the other day.

Miss Murray successfully practiced her profession in New York for eight years before coming to Canada four years ago. She has been equally successful here, and her services are greatly in demand by the most wealthy and influential people in the city.

"I nursed thirty-five cases on influenza last winter," continued Miss Murray, "and I had to work night and day almost, and that was too much for me, and pulled me down something awful. Finally I had an attack of the 'flu' myself, and after puling through that, I was in an extremely run-down condition. I was just utterly exhausted all the time, I was very nervous, and for the first time in my life, I was unable to sleep well, and would very often lie in bed and read for hours, trying to get sieeppy. Why, I was just so nervous and rundown that I was actualy irritable, and the most trivial thing would upset me entirely, and there many days when a cup of tea was all I could take at a meal time.

"One of my friends induced me to take Tanlac, and it certainly is wonderful the way it has built me up. Why, I have actualy gained fifteen pounds already, and I have only taken two bottles so far. All that nervousness has left me, and I sleep like a child every night, and that tired exhausted feeling has left me altogether. In fact, I feel just fine all the time, and I unhesitatingly recommend Tanlac to everybody. I never lose an opportunity to advise people who are weak and run-down, like I was, to take Tanlac, for I believe it is the best medicine they can get to build them up. I am sure that anybody who gives Tanlac a fair trial will feel just as I do about it—that it is a real medicine and can be relied upon to do just what they say it will do."

"NICOTINE NEXT"

It is well at the present juncture that Canadians should keep an eye on the anti-tobacco campaign which has been launched in the United States, following the technical success of the agitation for the total prohibition of liquor. Its sponsors are the National Women's Temperance Union and several other associations and leagues who have adopted as their slogan "Nicotine Next." They have fixed 1924 as the ultimate year in which the growing, curing and smoking of tobacco is to become illegal throughout the United States. For the present the Canadian restrictionists seem to be "soft-pedaling" on this issue, inasmuch as it might prejudice their campaign for the permanent enactment of prohibition. So far as this country is concerned the "Nicotine Next" movement is reserved for the future; and some prohibition advocates have gone so far as to declare that the charge that an onslaught on tobacco is contemplated as a further chapter in the continued story of restriction, is a fabrication devised by the liquor interests. But it is no fabrication; it is sober fact. The National W.C.T.U. of the United States are so earnest in their "Nicotine Next" campaign that they are endeavoring to destroy family peace, by urging youngsters to use moral pressure on their fathers. The tired business man who enjoys his after dinner cigar is to be worried by his offspring to drop the beastly habit.

Among the publications in connection with the movement is "The Medical Contest Reciter" classified as "Book No. 7, National Women's Christian Union," and one of the many "gems" which it contains is entitled "Not Fit to be Kissed." It is in part as follows::—

"What ails papa, mother?" said a sweet little girl,
Her bright laugh revealing her teeth white as pearl;
"I love him and kiss him and sit on his knee,
But the kisses don't smell good when he kisses me.
"But, mamma"—her eyes opened wide as she spoke—
"Do you like those kisses of 'bacco and smoke?
They might do for boys, but for ladies and girls
I don't think them nice," and she tossed her bright curls.

The child goes on to express filial affection for her erring parent who seems to be a good fellow, whose only crime is that of smoking, but we are told that:

As she gave out her verdict so earnest and just."

The mother instead of telling the child not to be a nasty little prig, heartily approves of the slap at hubby, and assures her that "mouths that are stained are unfit to be kissed."

In Philadelphia the W.C.T.U. actually succeeded in having the book containing these verses introduced into the public schools. A prominent physician of that city took the matter up and found that "The Medical Contest Reciter" also contained sectarian appeals tending to rouse the prejudice against certain denominations. As a result of the protest he organized the book has been banished from the Philadelphia schools, — as well it might be, for anything better calculated to start family rows could hardly be imagined. Altogether the "Nicotine Next" movements throws a very interesting sidelight on the mentality of those who aspire to rule us in all things.—Saturday Night.

WAYNE MINER HAS FEW WORDS TO SAY

Editor the Herald:—

It was amusing to read Ed. Browne's statement in the Morning Albertan of Aug. 12, that the miners at Canmore are solid for the O.B.U. It was only recently that he stated the same thing of the miners in Drumheller, and today we are working and if Browne comes either to Wayne or Drumheller with his lies he will find that we are still solid, but not for the O.B.U. What are we on strike for? Is it for wages, or is it for shorter hours? I can see no reason for a strike, only for the sole purpose of tying up the country and causing suffering to families. One of the agitators in Wayne is paid by the I.W.W. as organizer, and has been for years. He thinks that no one knows about it. I could give his name but don't wish to make it too hard for him. Many thanks to the returned boys for giving freedom to the people of Wayne once more. Mr. Browne speaks of no protection. Who does he want protection for? Is it for the O.B.U.? I consider that the people require protection against the insults of the O.B.U. Also the O.B.U. leaders claim that they will use no violence; this is because they have not got the power to do so. Browne asks all miners to keep away from the Moody mine as there is a strike on there. There never was a strike, as they were never called out by the U. M. W. of A. Again, he claims that those who ran Christophers and a few more out of Wayne will be looked after in due season. What does he mean? He had better be careful what he says about the boys who have come back from France as they want to live in peace and freedom, and don't want to have anything to do with a mob organization such as the O.B.U. Mr. Browne would like to send his O.B.U. men to work in these mines as organizers, but we will see to that. I am sorry for the fellows that have lost their soft jobs through their shortsightedness. Perhaps the O.B.U. will pay them as organizers. Anyhow, there will not be so many trips to Spokane for some of the women when the money has to come from the pick and shovel, and less booze for some of the men when they attend the policy committee meetings in Calgary.

Yours for fredom from the tyranny of that mob organization.

Pat Minniss,
Miner, Wayne.

WHY THE O.B.U. FAILED IN ITS OBJECT

The O.B.U. is a dead letter in the Alberta mining camps. That was where it had its main stronghold. The O.B.U. is dead because it was an organization created for destruction by force. Its main object was to emphasize class distinction and bring about a regime of anarchy by force and destructive methods. Not only did it contemplate an autocracy of brute force as seen in Russia, but it was willing to pull down the organizations workers had created in the past 100 years in order to gain its end. It had no other thought than that of self. The other fellow—the public—didn't count.

The Winnipeg strike was engineered by the O.B.U. element when it had obtained control of labor in that city. The Winnipeg strike failed because its object was destruction and defiance of the law. The O.B.U. failed in the Alberta coal strike for the same reason. Labor blundered when it took the O.B.U. for its vehicle of progress. It failed because the day of brute force is past.

Organized labor as established today is making progress because it believes in the sanctity of contracts. That is why it has public sympathy, without which no progress can be made. The One Big Union failed in its object because it believed it could make itself so strong that there would be only the O.B.U. side to any contract.

Sane labor leaders will read aright the lesson of the O. B. U. downfall. Talk of revolution doesn't get anywhere in this day and age. — Lethbridge Herald.

ATTACKING SEED-BEDS OF YELLOW FEVER

The International Health Board (Rockefeller Foundation) continues to wage relentless war against yellow fever in the parts of the world that are regarded as the seed-beds of this disease. It is hoped that by this radical plan yellow fever may eventually be altogether eliminated from the world. An epidemic was reported in Gautemala in June, 1918. The Board despatched Dr. J. H. White to the scene, and an energetic campaign was organized, resulting in freeing Gautemala from the disease in a few months. Late in the year a corps of 125 men was put to work destroying Stegomyia mosquitoes in the city of Guayaquil, Ecuador, for the purpose of ridding that city of yellow fever. Since last November the yellow fever work of the International Health Board has been directed by General Borgas, late surgeon-general of the Army.

Cool Comfort

It's Sunday morning—blazing hot, and pretty near a whole day before you for rest and recreation.

First, then—a shave. Whether you are going for a spin in the car, taking the family to church or visiting a neighbour, you cannot go with a day's growth of beard on your chin.

The thought of shaving won't be irksome if you own a Gillette Safety Razor—rather, you think of five minutes' cool comfort with the highest type of shaving edge ever developed. No man in the world can command a keener blade than the one you slip into your Gillette.

And if Gillette shaving gives you an added joy to your Sunday, why not take five minutes every morning for a clean shave as the start for a better day's work.

For $5.00—the price of the Gillette Safety Razor—you have your choice of the Standard Gillette sets, the Pocket Edition sets (just as perfect, but more compact), and the Bulldog Gillette with the stocky grip. Ask to see them TODAY at the jewellers', druggists' or hardware dealers.

LETHBRIDGE BREAKS

When Wm. Houston and John Grecula, international organizers of the United Mine Workers of America, demanded a vote of the miners present at the adjourned meeting of the miners of No. 3 and No. 6, Galt mines, at the miners' library on Saturday night, the backbone of the One Big Union was broken for all time in District No. 18 for the men almost unanimously decided by their vote to break away from the O.B.U. which has held them in its grip for the past three months, and go back to the international union. The vote was taken in the presence of President Christophers, Secretary Ed. Browne and the whole policy committee of the O.B.U. who had placed the position of the O.B.U. Mining Department, District No. 1, before them. The meeting was the last dying gasp of the One Big Union in mining circles.

The international organizers made a trip to Taber to commence reorganization work there and it is expected that similar results will be obtained. The North American and the Chinook camps will be reorganized this week and by the end of the week every mine in Lethbridge will be shipping coal.

With the O.B.U. grip on District No. 18 broken in the big camps at Lethbridge, Fernie and Drumheller, it is only a matter now of cleaning up the scattered camps at other places throughout the district and the strike of the summer of 1919 will be at an end. The men are going back to work where they left off. According to the manifesto issued by the three members of the international commission sent from Indiapapolis to fight the One Big Union and reorganize the district, the strike in District No. 18 was illegal. The membership is therefore required to resume work on the basis of the agreement in effect when the strike was called. This includes Order No. 124 which was made the basis of the strike by the O.B.U. officials who were then controlling the district.

It is understood that when the reorganization of the district has proceeded to such a point that the international commission considers it advisable to do so, a call will be sent out for a convention. At this convention of delegates from each camp, arrangements will be made for the holding of an election for district officers and the turning over to the membership the direction of affairs.

The position of the former district officials who threw the U.M.W. of A. into the discard and broke their pladges of office by taking up with an unrecognized organization, will be a matter to be dealt with by the international union's court of discipline. It is likely that their cases will be dealt with before the proposed election.

The international organizers will handle the affairs in the various camps until the membership has again got its bearings and an election for local union officers can be held.

The breaking of the O.B.U. in the Lethbridge field has been gone about quietly and Mr. Houston believes the citizens of Lethbridge are to be congratulated that the results obtained have been secured without a recurrence of the Drumheller trouble. Such clashes as occurred there are not a good thing either for organized labor nor for the public and he feels proud that Lethbridge has been content to watch events take their course to a successful issue without interference.

When the international organizers reached Lethbridge they were met with great hostility by the O.B.U. officials in control. Meetings were held last week at which they spoke to the membership. They showed the manner in which the membership had been deluded into withdrawing from a recognized labor organization which had been built up with great sacrifice. They were fought at every turn by the O.B.U. element. In spite of this No. 6 camp was organized and a charter sent for. However, at the request of the O.B.U. officials, the charter was not brought into the camp until further negotiations had resulted. These negotiations brought the policy committee of the O. B. U. to the city on Saturday. They saw in Lethbridge their last opportunity to hold the membership, but in spite of their efforts the men saw that the better course would be to retain affiliation with the U.M.W. of A. with the result that the miners here will be signed up today and will go back to work in a day or two.

DOROTHY PHILLIPS ENACTS ROLE FROM EXPERIENCE

She's a little girl, whose weight artistically, is measured in sterling ounces of troy. That is the impression of girlish youthfulness until you look into her eyes.

Then from the dark grey eyes you would discern shining forth the comprehensive outlook of the mother-heart, a smile as wholesome as friendship, a sympathy as soothing as a lullaby played upon muted violins.

This is the picture admirers of Dorothy Phillips bear with them in their minds' eyes. This is the conception that the extraordinary art of the star has made to vary so that instead of the grey eyes of understanding, on occasion one sees the sparkling orbs of the schoolgirl, the flashing irises of the world-wise woman or the gleamingly inviting heart-signals of the ingenue.

But perhaps among the millions of Dorothy Phillips' devotees few know that the cinema player is the mother of a four year old girl and one of the most domestic of wives. It is from her own experience, therefore, that Miss Phillips' enactment of the role of Nanette in "The Heart of Humanity" her newest picture and her greatest is drawn. In "The Heart of Humanity," which Allen Holubar has produced as a multiple-reel document of humanity based on heart incident in the great overseas conflict.

As Nanette, Miss Phillips is the mother-heart emblematic. She is the inspirational force, the representation of the woman spirit of the world that has won the war for civilization and has saved thousands on thousands of lives that for lack of the succor of the Red Cross, might have passed away on the battlefield. "The Heart of Humanity" will be shown at the Orpheum theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next.

Destruction of French Railways

The French Minister of Public Works, in a recent report to the senate, stated that the Germans destroyed a total of about 3,500 miles of single track railroad; 1,800 miles of narow guage and local track; 1,500 bridges, culverts, etc., of 12 feet span or over, and 12 tunnels. Most of this destruction was done on the Chemin de Fer du Nord, which serves districts such as the Somme, Picardy and Flanders where the fiercest fighting took place.

THE HEART OF HUMANITY

The Picture That Will Live Forever

Allan Holubar's Super-Production, Featuring

DOROTHY PHILLIPS

An appealing story of mother-love and war, depicted in the sacrifices of a Canadian mother whho gloried in the deaths of four of her five sons in the cause of humanity, and in the unselfish loyalty of her daughter-in-law, Nanette, who left her own baby at home to follow her husband to the battlefields of France to work, as a Red Cross nurse, to alleviate the pain of wounded soldiers and restore orphaned and homeless children to normal physical condition—a throbbing portrayal of woman's work to conserve the lives which Prussian autocracy would destroy.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

J. A. Broley came in from Calgary yesterday morning.

Chas. McNabb, of Waldo, returned on Saturday from Ottawa.

Mrs. T. Beck leaves this evening for Calgary for a week's visit.

Five roomed house and lot for sale. Apply H. Whalley, West Fernie. 2t

Born—In Fernie, on Sunday, Aug. 17, to Mr. and Mrs. George Cody, Jr., a son.

Wilfrid Biggs, of the Home Bank staff, left on Sunday evening for Cabri, Sask.

Misses Peggy and Aggie McLaughlin, of Spokane, are visiting friends in the city.

Mrs. John Jarvis, of Lethbridge, was in the city several days this week visiting old friends.

Mrs. R. C. Harris and children, of Calgary, are visiting Mrs. Harris' brother, F. A. Parker.

Wanted—A girl for light housework for a family of two. Apply Mrs. Macneil, Fernie Hotel.

Miss Lillian Cameron will leave on Wednesday morning for Victoria, where she will attend Normal School.

A. C. Liphardt and Miss Mary Liphardt left on Wednesday for Spokane, where they will visit for ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Campbell wish to thank their many friends for the sympathy shown in the time of their trouble.

J. L. Jamieson, superintendent of the C.P.R. division, arrived in the city yesterday on business. — Kamloops Sentinel.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Macneil returned on Monday from Ottawa, where Mr. Macneil attended the National Liberal Convention.

Miss Gladys Hilling, of Lethbridge, who has been visiting Miss Edith Biggs for a couple of weeks, returned home on Sunday.

The Optimus press belonging to the Ledger plant was this week sold by Miller & Richards to an Edmonton firm. It was shipped yesterday.

J. D. McBride, of Cranzrook, has retired from business and may enter politics. He has had an aching heart for the senatorship for many years.

The hon. member for South East KKootenay is some speed artist with a car. He set his machine on fire twice on Sunday last on his way in from Wadlo..

Lost — Purse containing sum of money, on Saturday night between the Chautauqua tent and Victoria Hall. Finder will be rewarded by leaving at the Free Press Office.

Arthur Owen, of the Imperial Bank, left on Tuesday for the Windermere Valley, where he will spend a couple of weeks holidays. Mrs. Owen has been visiting there with her parents for several weeks.

Ald. Wm. Robichaud returned on Sunday from a month's visit with old friends and relatives in the Province of Quebec. Ald. Robichaud, who is 83 years of age, says that he gained six pounds on his trip.

The Loyal Order of Moose are holding an initiatory ceremony on Monday evening. All members are requested to attend. Lodge now meets in Ingram's hall on Monday evenings at 8 p.m. Visiting brothers welcomed.

The Chautauqua finished its engagement here on Tuesday evening. The general impression seems to be that their program was not up to the high standard of previous years. The speakers as a rule were quite ordinary and the musical program was in most cases about on a par with what you would hear in a third rate vaudeville house. The attendance at the performances was very good and those who guaranteed the $1500 will only have to contribute a small amount each. The managers had considerable trouble in securing the requisite guarantee for next year's Chautauqua.

Dr. Garner returned from the east today, where he has been holidaying.

The Ladies Guild of Christ Church will give a dance in Victoria Hall on Labor Day, Sept. 1.

L. Torchie, of Bull River, was fined $5 the other day for having deer meat in his possession.

Mrs. R. M. Young and family, who have been holidaying at Wasa, returned home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rasmussen and family returned home last Sunday from a five weeks' motor trip to the prairie.

Fred Perry, who has been in Calgary for the past ten days reporting the Industrial Congress, is home again.

Lieut. Tom Corsan, who has been visiting his parents here for a couple of weeks, returned to the coast on Wednesday.

A meeting of the reconstruction Committee will be held in the Soldiers' committee rooms on Tuesday evening at 8 p.m.

A. B. Macdonald, of Cranbrook, was in the city yesterday attending a meeting of the directors of the Fernie-Fort Steele Brewing Co.

Thursday, August 28th, from four o'clock to nine p.m., social on the lawn next to the United Church. Tea and coffee also will be served.

For Sale—One medium sized heater, in good condition. Will burn either coal or wood. Apply, Fred Kennedy, at Trites-Wood Store.

For Sale—14 good milk cows, one bull, and heifer calf one week old. Apply to J. Anderson, Cokato, or P.O. Box 611, Fernie. A22-2

The school board have a number of men at work repariring the public school building and putting it in shape for the re-opening of the fall term.

Jimmy Osborne, of Fernie, and Miss Mary Irene McKee, of Elko,, were united in marriage at Cranbrook the other day. Their many Fernie friends wish them every happiness.

The Fernie Midgets cleaned up the Waldo lads at Waldo on Wednesday afternoon. The score was 14 to 6. E. K. Stewart and Wm. Johnston took the boys down. This is the second victory for the Fernie lads.

Joe McDougall, of the local staff of the Home Bank, has been transferred to the Calgary branch of that institution. Joe leaves on Saturday evening for Calgary. He will be much missed by the young people of this city.

A bad bush fire is raging over on the limits on Sand Creek. The Macdonald Lumber Co., have lost their camp and the fire is playing havoc with their timber. W. H. Whimster, of Fernie, is heavily interested in Sand Creek timber.

Fire Ranger McParland, who has had a large force of miners out fighting bush fires, had to put the curb on them this week when the coal mines reopened. The men were very anxious to get back, but they were told to stay on the job.

Mothers! Please remember the Cradle Roll meeting in the United Church basement on Wednesday next, Aug. 27th. A good time is in store for both mothers and children, and a large attendance will insure many more good times.

Romeo, the gambler who could not get the money fast enough without using marked cards, was fined $150 by Magistrate Whimster on Monday. He is also being held on a charge of having tried to bribe Chief Boardman to keep silent in regard to his operations.

Harry McLean yesterday commenced the removal of his drug business to the Bank of Hamilton building. In the new store it is the intention of Mr. McLean to run a strictly cash business. This will be the first attempt of that kind in the drug business in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Burland,, of Rapid City, Man., were in the city several days this week the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Quail. The Burlands have just returned from spending a few weeks in Vancouver with their son William, formerly of Fernie.

Pte. Joseph Corrigan, another one of Fernie's first contingent, arrived home on Tuesday, after five years of service in the Canadian army. Joe was twice wounded during the long war, but stayed with the game and was there until the finish. He is a brother-in-law of City Engineer McCallum. He lost a brother, Big Jim Corrigan, in a battle about two years ago.

B.C. DIVISION NAVY LEAGUE

Leaving Victoria, April 22, 1919, H. F. Helmsing, Lieut. R.N.V.R., who saw service in the English Channel during the last war, now Secretary of the Executive Committee, Navy League of Canada, made a tour through British Columbia south of the main line of the C.P.R., lecturing on the ever glorious event "The Blocking of Zeebrugge Harbor" by the British Navy on the night of April 22 and 23, 1918.

The following places were visited: Golden, Nelson, Revelstoke, Vernon, Fernie, Proctor, Nakusp, Kelowna, Cranbrook, Balfour, Kamloops, Trail, Invermere, Kaslo and Salmon Arm.

The lecture was delivered no less than 26 times and being accompanied by a very good set of lantern slides illustrating the story, was very much appreciated and gave great impetus to Navy League activities generally.

The lecturer gave a graphic description of the gallant attack on the Mole at Zebrugge and those who followed the story as it was described by the aid of maps, plans and pictures of the Mole, harbar and defences and all the difficulties that had to be overcome by the British forces, had a very much clearer idea of what actually happened that night than had hitherto been entertained.

The bombardment of Zebrugge by monitors and aircraft to distract the attention of the Hun from the major operations of blocking the canal by the sinking of three obsolete cruisers in the entrance, the destruction of the viaduct by the blowing up of an obsolete submarine below it, was fully described and the way in which the wounded and dead were recovered from the Mole before the British retreated, showing how the duty was so heroically carried out and how that only 12 out of 270 casualties were unaccounted for when the ships cleared Zebrugge. Pictures of the fortifications were shown, also pictures of the ships and launches taking part in the attack. The making of and use of smoke screens was fully described and also how before leaving the Mole some British bluejackets planted the Union Jack at the head of the Mole.

At Salmon Arm, Nakusp, Trail and Kelowna new branches were formed. These places particularly took up interest in the aims and objects of the Navy League very keenly and enthusiastically and already at Trail the formation of a boys Naval Brigade is being considered. At Nelson, Balfour and Trail, Lieut. Commander Rowland Bourke, V.C., D.S.O., R.N.V.R., one of the men who distinguishhed himself at Ostend on the occasion of blocking that harbor, was present and moved a vote of thanks to the lecturer.

In addition to the lecture, at most places a short musical programme was arranged in which local talent took part, Mr. Helmsing contributing to the programme also. A great deal of thanks is due to those ladies and gentlemen who assisted this way in makng the trip the success it turned out to be. At Vernon the Hon. W. J. Bowser and K.C. Macdonald, M.P.P., also addressed the meeting on Navy League aims as well as Mr. Helmsing. Seven public meetings were also adddressed during the tour describing the aims and objects and also attainments of the League, and where possible the public and high schools were visited and the children addressed in their class rooms.

Matinees were held in most places especially for the children and prizes are being given by the Navy League for the best essay written by a Junior member of the League on the "Blocking of Zeebrugges Harbor."

Some 4000 children were addressed during the tour and over 400 full and junior members were enlisted in the ranks of the League.

Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper was to have joined Mr. Helmsing for the purpose of visiting the Okanagan cities but unfortunately he was prevented by business obligations and needless to say the people of these cities were very much disappointd.

Mr. Helmsing is expecting to visit Duncan and Nanaimo with the lecture in the near future and also expects to give it to the children in Victoria after the summer holidays are over. It is very interesting to note that one of the questions this year in the entrance examinations was to mention four of the most important events during the past four years, and describe one of them. A very large percentage of the children quoted and described the "Blocking of Zeebrugge," which tends to show the educational value that lectures of this nature have by impressing on the minds of the children the details and importance of historic events of this kind. Mr. Helmsing takes a great interest in this work and having served in the Naval forces has the British Navy and its glorious traditions at heart and is always willing to address the children or adults at any time on subjects of this nature.

BAYER

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all.

There is only one Aspirin, that marked with the "Bayer Cross"—all other tablets are only acid imitations.

Look for the "Bayer Cross"! Then it is real Aspirin, for which there is no substitute.

Aspirin is not German but is made in Canada by Canadians, and is owned by a Canadian Company, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages, can be had at any drug store.

THE THOUSAND FOOT SHIP

(Scientific American)

So at last we are to have a thousand-foot ship, or rather two of them. The Shipping Board, through its energetic chairman, is responsible for the announcement that two ocean liners, exceeding in length, size, speed and accommodations any vessel that is now afloat, are to be at once laid down by the United States government and pushed to completion.

The dimensions are certainly impressive; a length of 1000 feet, a beam of 102 feet, a draft of 35 feet and a gross tonnage of 55,000 tons, will place these vessels well ahead of the "Leviathan," which is today, with its length of 950 feet and beam of 100 feet, the largest ship afloat.

If we except that phenomenal vessel, "The Great Eastern," the growth in size of trans-atlantic liners, during the past 80 years has been remarkably even, with few fluctuations. The "Britannia" of 1840 was 215 feet in length. Fifteen years later in the "Persia," a side-wheeler, ships had reached a length of 385 feet. Three years later, in 1858, came the "Great Eastern," 692 feet long, which in its time was one of the seven wonders of the world; but in 1862 the length had gone back to less than 400 feet. In the middle seventies the "Bothnia" 435 feet long, was a notable ship. Ten years later, in 1884, the "Umbria," 525 feet in length, achieved the high speed for those days of 19.6 knots. "The Paris," 560 feet in length, won the "blue ribbon" of the Atlantic by crossing at 20.7 knots. Then the "Kaiser Wilhelm the Grosser" lifted the speed to 23 knots and the length to 649 feet.

The first ship to exceed the "Great Eastern" in length was the "Oceanic," 705 feet long, which made her maiden voyage in 1889. Seven years later those famous turbine ships the "Lusitania" and the "Mauretania," 790 feet in length, began to make phenomenal speeds, the climax of which was reached when the "Mauretania" crossed to the eastward at an average hourly speed of 26.01 knots.

The era of extremely long ships began in 1911, when the "Olympic," 883 feet in length, was placed in service. Three years later the "Imperator," the first ship to exceed 900 feet, steamed into this port, and she was followed in 1914 by the "Vaterland," now the "Leviathan," with her length on deck of 950 feet.

The most remarkable characteristic of the two Shipping Board vessels will be their speed of 30 knots. This will be the greatest increase in speed ever made in a single advance. It is rendered possible by the recent improvements in turbine engines, and it is expected that 110,000 horse power will be sufficient.

The most striking feature in the two great ships is, of course, their high speed. At no time in the 80 years of steamship travel across the Atlantic has there been such a jump in the speed as is promised for the new Shipping Board vessels. The greatest previous advance occurred between the "Deutschland" of 1900 and the "Lusitania" of 1906. The former made a crossing to the eastward at 23½ knots and the "Lusitania" raised this mark to 25½ knots, an advance of two knots. But the 1000-foot ships are to have a sea speed of 30 knots, an advance twice as great as any in the history of ocean travel.

Mr. Hurley expects to get 30 knots out of these 55,000 ton ships with turbines of 110,000 horsepower. Only once has so great a power been installed on a ship, and that was on the battle-cruisers "Repulse" and "Renown" built during the war. These vessels made 32 knots; but they were small compared to the proposed 1000-foot vessels, being only 794 feet long by 90 foot beam, 25½ feet draft and 26,500 tons displacement. The "Renown" made 32 knots with 112,000 horsepower; but the new Shipping Board vessels will be of over twice her displacement, and although they will have the advantage of greater length, and, possibly, of finer model, it is probable that the towing tank tests will call for considerably more than 110,000 horse power, if these ships are to maintain a sea speed of 30 knots.

BRITISH LAND RECLAMATION SCHEME

The British Board of Agriculture has inaugurated a scheme for the reclamation of land on the Lincolnshire shore of the Wash. A bank is being constructed from Wainfleet, a little below Skegnees, near Boston (Lincolnshire), commencing at the Wainfleet end, and by this means it is hoped to recover about 12,000 acres. The work is in charge of a resident engineer in Wainfleet and will employ a large number of men, who will be selected from demobilized soldiers and sailors, and thus obviate the taking away of labor from agriculture. It is said that in the middle of the last century a reclamation scheme was started, and it was then estimated that sufficiently large area would be redeemed from the Wash to form a new English county. The enterprise was abandoned, but experts have always maintained its practicability, which is now in the course of being tested.

H. K. PARSONS REMANDED

At the police court on Saturday morning Harry K. Parsons, charged with having issued seven fraudulent cheques in the city, was again remanded, it being understood by the magistrate that a sum of money was arriving on Monday to make complete restitution. This would be considered, he said, in extenuation. The police have been notified by an outlying district that cheques made out in Parsons' name have also been circulated there so that there is a probability that he will have to answer other charges when he comes up on Tuesday.—Calgary Herald.

REASSURANCE

Reading the papers, talking with men and women, acquiring information from Europe, we are reluctantly impressed, but not totally discouraged, by man's lack of faith in the future. The words may be violently radical or profoundly conservative. Underneath is the tone of uneasiness. And even those who have no interest in the great movements of politics or industry cry faintly for reassurance. The world is frightened. Lenine is no more confident than Lloyd George. The proletariat is as gravely concerned as the plutocrat.

Why? Not entirely because the war and the peace have disallusioned men and robbed them of the comforting belief in the great powers behind the scenes. Absence of plan, the attempt to be Napoleonic without foresight, the game in which civilization is the stake, have sadly shaken the faith of men, and no great faith has been established to take its place. At the same time the enthusiastic disorganization of society has afforded magnificent opportunities. When radical and reactionary both proclaim that the time has passed for compromise they generally mean that the chance for extreme gains is too seductive. "All or nothing" is the cry on both sides. It may mean all for them and nothing for the world.

The time has not passed for clear, tireless, honest thought. If "the revolution" is inevitable, the way to meet it is first to recognize that it is coming. If it can be avoided, the way to avoid it will be easier if we know why it threatens. It will not be turned by its path by suppressions and detraction. It will be destroyed because something more sensible and more humanly desirable will take its place. And if its headway is already too great—which is doubtful — then the problem of statesmanship today is to determine its course, so that as much as possible can be saved from destruction.

These things apply to Europe far more than to America, no doubt. But our stake is in Europe. If she falls, we will stand most undesirably alone. And, regarding Europe, the signs are unpleasant, not because an outbreak is imminent, but because no indication of plan and purpose is discernible. Lenine and Lloyd George seem equally helpless. The small affairs are so urgent that the great affair is forgotten. It may turn out a futile thing to save a privileged class—be they coal owners in England or coal miners in Russia—and lose the high privileges of civilized human beings.

Hostility to the future is not an American trait. We are, rather, indifferent to it, "taking it as it comes." But the world has come to a narrow place on its journey. It is hard beset. Yet it will not be overcome. It needs information, knowledge, foresight. We have still to be convinced that these commodities are utterly lacking among us.—Collier's.

COAL CREEK NOTES

An invasion of the camp took place on Monday afternoon, when word was received that the mines were ordered to be opened up. That the men were ready to resume was evidenced by the race for the offices to be signed on.

The members of the Club held a convivial gathering on Monday evening. Owing to the non-arrival of the "ivories" the forepart was rather tame. Nothing daunted the boys made the best of a bad job, and with the vocal efforts of Hopkins and his party the affair took on an old time aspect.

An interesting gathering took place in the Coal Co. office a few days ago, when the officials and friends of R. Brown met to present him with a gold watch, suitably engraved, as a token of respect and esteem on his retirement to take up responsible duties at Stockett Mines, Montana. Supt. Caufield occupied the chair and in a few well chosen words presented the token and the best wishes of the assembly. The recipient was visibly affected and thanked the donors. Mrs. Brown and family expect to leave in a few days.

Our local constable has moved into his new quarters.

With the re-opening of the mines up here quite a large number of "travellers" are returning back to camp.

Ed. Coghlan went down to look over the horses for the Company, on Monday.

We are asked to request all local Moose to make an effort to be present at the meeting in Ingram's hall on Monday next. Initiation of new members and other important matters. 8 p.m. sharp.

Billy McFagan was a welcome visitor amongst us during the week. Make new friends and keep the old ones is Billy's motto.

Events and winners at the sports at Coal Creek last week. The names are given in order of place secured:

100 yards open—J. Haile, W. Haile, J. Graham.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

The members of the Eastern Star Lodge of Eureka, Montana, together with their families and friends picniced at Roosville last Tuesday. Fifteen automobiles were used for the occasion and a regular camp dinner was provided. The big feature of the sumptuous meal was a seven storied layer cake bearing the Star Emblem and the flowers of the Order. It was a regular castle of succulent delight facaded with a rich and buttery dressing. The pie crusts all broke short and crisp, the jelly all jellied. The whipped cream was snowy and stiff, and the scenery around the falls will long be remembered by the many invited from the middle west states who were lucky enough to be there, no doubt the very first time they had ever been in Canada. The only thing to mar the memorable occosion was the bad roads on the Canadian side of the international boundary line, and Jim Thistlebeak says they are sure rotten.

Providing of course the Winnipeg compositor didn't strike an "R" for an "N," the Fort Rouge florist, who has a blue rose, really has a remarkable curiosity.

Jim Thistlebeak says, to tell a man suffering with a cold in his head that colds always attack the weakest spot, is adding insult to injury.

Miss Merrill O'Hagan, of Lethbridge, who is visiting in Elko this week end, will visit the Falls and Canyon Park and go south to Tobacco Plains.

A United States college professor states in a Chicago paper that it would not have been an apple which was used by the Devil in the Garden of Eden as a means of tempation for Adam and Eve. He says apples would not grow there in that climate and therefore the fruit must have been something like a pear. Commenting on this alleged discovery, Jim Thistlebeak says, there is probably no real theological question involved in this discussion, but we would like to know how the college professor has ascertained that apples would not grow in Eden. They do mighty well around Elko and the Roosville valley and from the description of Eden we have always believed that it was a good deal like Elko; except the scenery was not quite as beautiful, an dthe fishing not near so good.

Jim Thistlebeak says that if the Oliver government don't hear Fred Roo hollering about the roads in the Roosville valley and Flagstone district, it is because they have gone deaf. If there is a commercial value in good roads for the farmers in Honest (heavy on the Honest) John Oliver's home farm district, there is the same value for good roads in every farming district in B.C., and a business government would not have to raise the taxes 75 per cent either to build them. As Honest John says, he will raise them if they want good roads.

Two returned soldiers from Seaford Camp, England, Contractor A. McMillan and Carl McKee of the 1st Canadian Reserves, to show they were in Class A, both in the army and out, bet $50 they could saw, split and pile a rick of wood, 8x4—14, in 35 minutes. The bet was taken up by a young man and the contest took place in the Elk hotel wood yard, and was witnessed by several hundred people. Jim Thistlebeak was stake holder, referee and time keeper, and the soldiers won with ten minutes to spare. Time 25 minutes and neither of them quit smiling during the race.

This week seems to be Lethbridge week. About 75 of Lethbridge's upper crust arrived in the Old Historic Burg this week and are camped and rooming. Their names will appear in next week's Elko Notes. This week was the biggest week this year for foreign cars. There were cars from every state of the Union except Rhode Island. The three prairie provinces were well represented. There were several well filled cars from the Peg.

ONE BIG UNION LOSES FIRST ROUND OF LEGAL FIGHT

Vancouver, Aug. 19.—International unionism scored a slight victory over the One Big Union in supreme court chambers today, when J. A. Elder, counsel for the new One Big Union Teamsters' local, failed to obtain the use of the international union's office furniture, minute book, etc., pending trial of an action in which the ownership of these chattels and a bank account is to be determined.

MAY UNITE R. N. W. M. P. AND DOMINION POLICE

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—Hon. N. W. Rowell, who, as president of the privy council, , is the departmental head of the R.N.W.M.P., to day confirmed a report that an amalgamation between that body and the Dominion police force is under advisement. The idea, as stated, is to have one Dominion wide force, under one head and thus promote both efficiency and economy. Mr. Rowell said that while the matter has been discussed, no final decision has been arrived at; that there was no question of the R.N.W.M.P. losing its identity if a union is effected. The traditions which attach to the western force and the wholesome deterrent the name itself suggests to the foreign element out there is regarded as an asset.

COMMUNICATION

Flagstone, Aug. 16, 1919.

Editor Fernie Free Press: :

Would you allow me space in your valuable paper to give a mere farmer's views on the government's road policy. When this government was out for votes the promises of our present member to the farmers was that if elected they would do all in their power to help the farmers along. Well, as everyone knows, the first thing a farmer needs from the government is a road to move his stuff over. What has the present government done to the roads in this district? Practically nothing. We are paying taxes and royalties on our timber and when we ask them to come to look at a particularly dangerous piece of road, they will not even come down to look it over. Last year the bridge crew were down at Phillipps bridge to make a turning place for cars as it burned too much gas to climb the hill on the other side. If this money had been spent fixing the road so people could haul a load over it, it would have suited the taxpayers in this valley a lot better. This government is spending a lot of money spoiling good roads, if the word of autoists is worth anything, and roads which are rotten and worn out are neglected. The chief trouble with this valley is that there are too many speculators in it. They are holding down the land. What do they want with roads? If our Member, District Engineer and the President of the Automobile Association had to get in and make farms out of their holdings here, and had to drive their own horses to do it, they would soon be hollering for a road. What is wanted is a system that would allow of a percentage of the taxes collected along a road to be applied to the roads in that district, the man having to pay the taxes being given the choice of working out his share or paying cash. The least that can be done is for the road engineer to get around the country and find out from the leading farmers in each district what roads and improvements are most needed, instead of jumping whichever way the Automobile Association suggests.

Thanking you in anticipation,

I remain, Yours truly,

W. W. Parnell,

Fruitlands Farm, Flagstone, B.C.

THE WRIST WATCH AND THE "FOORCE"

Still the world moves. Still does the great march of progress go on. The announcement is made that the mounted policemen of New York city have been presented with wrist watches. How great a departure this is can only be understood by those who remember the bitterness of the prejudice against wirst watches a few years ago in the United States. The average citizen of that home of the brave and land of the free regarded a wrist watch as the badge of effeminacy. A man might as well have worn a jewelled fillet about his hair as be seen with a watch strapped on his wrist. In fact, two or three policemen were discharged in ignominy from the Chicago police force because they insisted on sporting their chronometers in the handiest possible place which is on the back of one's hand. Why it should have been considered necessary for a policeman to wear his watch in some mysterious recess of his inner garments, where it could be consulted only after a process of partial disrobing, is something that no one has ever explained. But the wrist watch was strictly taboo. It was relegated to the ladies—or to such effeminate characters as hunters or polo-players. But now the wrist watch has come into its own. The "finest" of New York are to sport it upon their manly wrists, and the ordinary American man who cares to can display one without risk of being run in as a female impersonator. This is one more of the minor benefits of the war, no doubt.—Saturday Night.

MOUNTAIN METEROLOGICAL STATIONS IN EUROPE

Mountain Meterological stations in Europe as they were before the war are described in a recent number of Naturwissenschaften by Prof. F. Klengel. Of the 21,500 stations in operation in the various European countries, 660 were more than 1000 meters above sea-level, about 150 more than 1500 m., 44 more than 2000 m., eight more than 2500 m., and one, the Sonnblick observatory, above 3000 m. The observatory of the Sonnblick is the highest meterological station in Europe that is in operation the year round, but there are still higher stations that remain open a few months each year; e.g., the Vallot observatory on Mount Blanc, 4358 m., and the Regina Margherita observatory on Monte Rosa, 5600 m. These lofty establishments are in accessible in winter, but are used for various scientific investigations in summer. The above enumeration of lofty stations does not include a large number of seasonal snow-gages, or so-called "totalizers," which have been installed on an extensive scale in the Alps by the Swiss meterological service. These gages are visited once a year, when the gage is emptied and its contents measured.

VETERANS HAVE AGAIN RUN OUT O.B.U.'S

Drumheller, Aug. 19. — Trouble broke out afresh between the O.B.U. element and the veterans here last night, when it was reported that Sullivan and Roberts, two of the O.B.U. leaders, run out of town last week, had come back to town again.

Both Sullivan and Roberts had slipped into town unnoticed and were in the miners' hall at Drumheller, holding a quiet little meeting of miners, when the veterans of Rosedale mine got wind of it. They came up to the town, some 50 strong, and entered the meeting. There was no violence of any kind. They simply took Sullivan and Roberts in charge and carried them in autos down to Rosedale, where they held a mock trial, and ordered the men to be taken out of the camp. Sullivan and Roberts were taken out on the trails again and turned loose.

A few days ago a gentleman in Toronto presented a bank pass book to the office of the Home Bank of Canada there, which was issued by them 39 years ago, and had never been entered up. But the account was there with interest added regularly every six months, and after about half an hour's work to have the entries made he was pleased to discover that his account was several times the original deposit. This is probably a record in pass book history.

BIBLE SCHOLAR TO LECTURE HERE NEXT SUNDAY

Evangelist George Young, of Victoria, B.C., will deliver an illustrated Bible lecture in the Grand theatre on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, upon "The Desire of All Nations at Hand," dealing particularly with the prophetic features of the Bible which foretell the present distress of nations and the final glorious outcome.

Mr. Young is not a stranger to the public of Fernie, having lectured here several times in the past few years. He is a man of marked capabilities and is well worth hearing. He has lectured in Canada in all the principal cities and towns from the Pacific to the Atlantic and also in the States. Several years ago he gave up his secular employment to engage in heralding the gospel (the good news of the coming Kingdom wherein dwelleth righteousness, the Kingdom we are taught to pray for in the Lord's Prayer, "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven"). Mr. Young draws no rash conclusions nor has any fanciful delusions, but straight practical truths from the Bible are the basis of his lecture which is fully illustrated with Bible Pictures and Scripture texts, marking something new and definite in the manner of realistic and positive Bible presentation which may be termed a living witness from the Word of God. The lecture is under the auspices of the International Bible Students. It is absolutely free to all. No collection will be taken.

REDUCE PERIL FROM MILK

The activity of the Contagious Diseases Division of the Department of Agriculture in efforts to prevent the spread of tuberculosis through the use of milk from tuberculous cows is shown by the account of the working of the new tuberculosis regulations, in the report of the Veterinary Director General on the health of animals for 1918, recently, issued by the deparement.

The report on tuberculosis is, in par, as follows:

After a year's experience in the working of the new tuberculosis regulations, it was decided to amend them in one or two respects with the object of extending their scope and making more liberal compensation for reactors. The regulations were, therefore, amended to permit them to apply to any city or town applying for federal aid. Formerly such aid was limited to cities and towns of a population of 5000 or more. Compensation was raised to two-thirds the appraised value of the animal from one-third formerly, so that the owner of a reactor destroyed under these regulations may now receive a maximum of $53.33 for a grade cow, or $166.$$ for a pure-bred registered one.

These changes have been very satisfactory to the dairymen, and have resulted in a wider extension of the work of control. Ottawa and North Battleford applied for federal aid and during the year the first test was appiled to the herds supplying both these places. No unpleasant friction between owners and the department was observed, and a number of reactors were got rid of which had been regularly supplying milk to the citizens.

The importance of this work to the health of a community can hardly be over- estimated, especially to the wefare of the child population. It was found by our tests that some herds were supplying milk to be consumed in the raw unpasteurized state, when almost every cow in the herd was diseased. This milk must have been highly dangerous for the children drinking it, yet the parents were probably quite satisfied if its appearance and taste were all right.

Exepriments have proved that young pigs fed on tuberculosis milk become tuberculous to the extent of 80 per cent if they receive only two or three feeds of it. When fed continuously on it for a month, 100 per cent became infected.

There is no reason to believe that children are not equally susceptible to the effect of consuming tubercoulous milk. The results are not so evident as in the case of pigs, but far more disastrous to the human race. Much human tuberculous comes from drinking tuberculous milk, and every effort should be made to prevent it by putting the tubelcoulous cow out of business.

Urban municipalities might well give some consideration to this important health matter and protect the lives of the little ones by permitting only wholesome milk, free from tuberculosis, to be sold. The tuberculosis regulations show how easily and at how little cost to a town this may be done.

Since this work was begun there have been over seven hundred diseased cows removed from the dairies supplying four cities and towns. The evil potentialities of seven hundred diseased cows in spreading tuberculosis cannot be estimated. We can only be thankful that their opportunity is gone, and hope that the evil they have done will not live after them.

Statistics on this work are difficult to compile. Dairymen seldom retain a cow more than a year or two. Sometimes it is the practice to sell a cow as soon as her period of lactation is finished, and to replace her with another which is just commencing or, in the parlance of the dairy, a 'springer.' This continual changing of cows makes the work of testing almost a continuous performance.

Cows to replace those sold out of the dairy, or condemned as reactors to the test, must be tested by our inspectors before being added to a clean herd, and it is therefore found impracticable to test these herds, as we do breeding herds, by regular semi-annual tests. For the same reason, the figures of testing can never be completed, and we can only report the number tested to this date and the number of reactors found.

JUGGLING WITH FIGURES

The press is finding quite a little sensational news material in the proceedings of the Cost of Living Committee.

Somebody made 100 per cent last year!

Somebody else made 400 per cent on his original capital investment-

As the whole story is read, however, the absurdity of these scare heads is revealed.

No doubt some cases of profiteering are being uncovered. But at the same time many injustices are likely to be done to business houses which are operating in a fair, legitimate manner.

One type of business house to come in for much undue criticism is that which has grown from small beginnings.

A firm is shown to have started with a small capital investment. It has made money. That money is kept in the business. Thus the capital is increased out of the company's earnings until it is ten times as great as the original investment. The present earnings of the company are, we will say, 10 per cent on its capital now; say our newspaper friends, the firm is making 100 per cent on the capital invested.

By this process of reasoning, what rate of profit was the late Mr. Woolworth making on the huge chain of stores which resulted from an original investment of $50?

A business man, commenting on this peculiar attitude of the press, remarked that in his case, mathematical knowledge had not arrived at any formula for computing his rate of profit. His business started in 1881, $30,000 in debt. It is today capitalized at $900,000, all of which is paid up. But no outside capital has ever been invested in the business.

We must not let the bogey of profiteering frighten us to the point where we frown on sound business expansion.—The Teller.

WYCLIFFE WINS BALL GAME FROM LETHBRIDGE

Lethbridge ball tossers entertained the Wycliffe crew at the ball garden on Monday night in a 6-session engagement and had to bow to the boys from the lumber camp to the tune of 3 to 1. It was a nice game, but the visitors showed that they knew the game before they ever began to saw up B.C. monsters. Massie was on the hill for the visitors and did nice work while Noble pitched strong ball for Lethbridge. Each team put a run across in the first. Wycliffe followed with one in the second and one in the fourth. The locals had a good chance to even things up in the sixth when Evans and Knudson singled, but the next three men struck out. The teams lined up:

Lethbridge—Stone, Evans, Knudson, Wiggins, O'Connor, Shaver, Gillies, Green, Noble.

Score by innings:

CITY COUNCIL LAST EVENING

The council met in regular session last evening, upon which occasion Aldermen Graham and Rutledge were absentees. The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted as read and the first item under correspondence to be considered was a communication from the superintendent of the Great Northern railway enclosing a petition directed to that company from certain residents of the Annex requesting the installation of a public crossing over the tracks on the east side of Thompson street. The G.N. require the city council to make formal application for said crossing, assuming that the city will bear the entire expense in connection with the installation. The matter was referred to the Works and Property committee for report to the next meeting.

A sample copy of Wrigley's Directory of British Columbia with bill for $10 was submitted. The covering letter in addition to pointing out the usefulness of such a volume, upon acceptance intimated that if the council would furnish a concise write-up setting forth the important features and advantages of the city and district for tourists and new comers, together with descriptive cuts, same would be included in the 1920 issue of the directory. The account was approved and the city clerk instructed to furnish the information desired to the publishers.

With reference to the local allotment for the government housing scheme an inquiry directed to the Attorney General to ascertain whether or not this appropriation could not be used for the purpose of purchasing houses already constructed, a reply was received to the effect that the money could only be used for constructing new dwellings. The G. W.V.A. will be advised of the policy of the government in this regard and they also will be asked to furnish the council with information as to the number of returned men within the city who are desirous of taking advantage of the housing scheme.

District Engineer Cummings appeared before the council in connection with the Cody river bank protection contract and submitted the following verbal statement: Original contract $4750 plus extra cables $42 and 56 yards fill $33.60; total $4825-.60. Deductions on account of forced suspension of operations, mattress $444, 53 yards concrete $477, poles alleged to belong to the government taken by contractor, $57; total deductions $978, plus cash advanced on account of contract, $3051.74. This leaves a balance due the contractor of $795.86, from which an account for sub-contract for cement work, amounting to $634, must be deducted. Mr. Cummings and Mr. Cody retired from the council chamber for a considerable length of time in order to thoroughly consider this report, but upon reappearing Mr. Cody refused to discuss the matter until the engineer present a properly signed report, when, he contended, he would be in a position to take up each respective item and approve or refuse to accept and the reasons for such objections. After some further discussion it was decided to have the engineer's written report available for Friday at 2 p.m., when a special meeting of the council would take place and the matter fully threshed out. Mr. Cody consented to present his estimate also on this occasion.

Jos. Delucca, foreman of the waterworks department, tendered his resignation to take effect Sept. 1. This was formally accepted and in putting the motion His Worship expressed regret at the city losing such a faithful and efficient public servant as Mr. Delucca had been during his ten years 'employment with the city. An application for the position was received from R. Kirkpatrick, but it was the consensus of opinion among the aldermen that Neil McCallum should take hold of the superintendency of this branch, and he was accordingly consulted. Mr. McCallum pointed out that he was only human and at the present time had almost more jobs than he could remember and the result was that he covered them all to the extent that he was physically able, and this he contended he was doing for remuneration that was barely equal to that received by an efficient laborer. Upon the suggestion being urged that he undertake to superintend the waterworks branch in conjunction with his numerous other duties, and the intimation being voiced by His Worship and others that at the next council meeting they would endeavor to adjust his salary, to a more satisfactory level, Mr. McCallum tentatively agreed to assume the additional responsibility.

"Dad" Harrison made application for more wages on the basis of being the lowest paid public servant, etc., and his salary was increased to $80 per month from Sept. 1. Miss Carmichael was given a $5 increase and Miss Sloan's salary advanced to the minimum stipulated by the regulations now in force under supervision of the Provincial Minimum Wage Board. Charles Carlson was appointed permanent driver of the fire team at a salary of $100 per month.

The medical health officer submitted his report for the month of July, wherein the general health of the city was reported as good; only three cases of scarlet fever of a mild type occurred. The sanitary officers made an inspection of the dairies, the milk tests resulting as follows: Jules Anderson 3.4; Roux Bros. 3.3; M. Valley 3.3; M. Butcher 3.0; J. Pearson 3.4; G. Bella 3.0; W. Stockwell 3.4; H. Follett 3.5. Permits were issued to 13 persons to sell milk. Stockwell's dairy was inspected and approved. One establishment upon inspection was found in an unsatisfactory condition and when the party had ignored the order of the officers to remedy same, had been fined for non-compliance with the regulations, but subsequently rectified conditions to meet the requirements. The medical health officer called the attention to the condition of the city dump, concerning which his previous report had complained. He also recommended that the keeping of hogs within the city limits should be prohibited. The report was adopted and the dump will be cleaned up as soon as practicable. With regard to the keeping of hogs the council decided not to make any alteration in the present method until next spring, other than that periodical inspections will be made of such premises and if found to be unsanitary or a nuisance the owners must either remove the animals or put things in proper shape.

A lengthy discussion ensued with regard to the recent water pressure tests by the Underwriters' inspectors for fire protection, and it was decided to insert a notice in the press (appearing elsewhere in this issue) ordering that all water fixtures in a leaky condition must be repaired forthwith and also that lawn sprinkling will only be permitted daily between the hours of 5.30 and 7.30 p.m. Failure to comply with these regulatons brings any party liable under By-law 162, in addition to cutting off water supply, to a penalty not exceeding $250.

Ald. Gates got inquisitive in regard to the electric light department and desired information why it was that in many places street lights had been off for weeks and even months; also on whose authority a new employee had been engaged to read meters. The electric light committee will investigate.

FIRE DEPT. HOLD TEST

Tuesday evening the Fernie Fire Department was required to perform a series of tests for inspection by visiting representatives of the Fire Underwriters Association. Taken as a whole these tests proved to be very satisfactory. The brigade responded to an alarm turned in from the business section in very fast time and with equal efficiency had six streams working simultaneously from as many hydrants. The only depreciating feature, however, was that the water pressure, with six streams playing at the one time, recorded rather low. This is attributable to the fact that there have been bush fires lately in the vicinity of where the city water supply is obtained and the stream leading to and the reservoir itself required cleaning out in order that same may be kept continually filled to capacity.

PURCHASED THE NAPANEE

On Tuesday evening a general meeting of the Fernie District Committee for National Reconstruction was held in the assembly room of the G.W.V.A. Club for the purpose of hearing the report of a special subcommittee formerly appointed to investigate with regard to the maintenance of the Napanee building in the event of purchase as a temporary home for returned men, and also to make inquiries with regard to any other buildings in the city that might be suitable for this purpose.

The report of the committee received, there was a lengthy discussion with regard to financing the upkeep of the building, and the matter was very thoroughly gone into. Various suggestions were offered with regard to placing the entire building on a revenue producing basis, and while the representatives of the G. W. V. A. were apparently unanimous in their desire to secure same, they were rather prone to assume financial responsibility for the whole, contending that for the present the ground floor was about the limit of the obligation they could assume.

The purchase price for which the building could be acquired was stated to be $15,000 on deferred payments spread over a term of three years, with interest at 5 per cent on unpaid balances. The gross estimated cost of maintenance would aggregate an annual amount of over $3200, including, heating $850, taxes $600, water and light $300, insurance $300, incidentals $150, and $90 per month for a janitor. In scrutinizing these estimated expenditures, however, it was suggested that the fuel bill might be considerably reduced by cutting off the heat from the upper floors. For the second item, taxes, other cities had seen fit to remit these to returned soldiers' clubs and it was believed that the local council would not be outstepped. The item for janitor was also considered unnecessary and it was finally decided in view of no more satisfactory alternative being offered that the trustees of the memorial committee be instructed to meet the executive of the G.W.V.A. regarding purchase of the building as temporary quarters and that the trustees be authorized to conclude agreement for purchase if they deemed it advisable, and also to make the initial payment agreed upon.

Following these instructions, a meeting of the trustees was called together on Wednesday to consider an agreement for purchase drawn up by the solicitors for the present holders of the property. Upon this occasion the following were present: A. B. Trites, A. Klauer, G. G. Moffatt, Chas. D. McNab, F. W. Adolph, Hales Ross and T. H. Cox. The terms of the agreement were considered satisfactory to these gentlemen and they accordingly executed same on behalf of the Memorial Fund committee, the purchase price being $15,000. To meet the initial payment it is estimated that the Peace Day celebration will produce approximately $1500; to this amount must be added a cash subscription from A. B. Trites. The gate money for the Labor Day baseball games will also be donated to the fund, credit for which must be given to the residents of Waldo and district. Other communities have volunteered to arrange entertainments, etc., in order to raise funds, and in addition the subscription list will be opened for all and sundry in the near future. In this manner the initial step in acquiring a temporary home for returned men for this district has been accomplished. This, however, is but the remote preliminary achievement, as based upon the former decision of the general committee of the Fernie District Committee for National Reconstruction, first funds must be obtained to liquidate this liability, then funds must be acquired for the erecting of an appropriate shaft or monument to the fallen, and finally the exchequer must continue to be swelled to sufficient proportions until a permanent building for the perpetuation of the memory of those who so valiantly fought through the bitter conflict and returned to our midst, is completed. Not until all these are accomplished will the obligation which the residents of this district owe be met, and while the co-operation so far has been gratifying, there must be no relaxation in effort to carry on and complete the ultimate object, because no matter what sacrifice we who have benefitted shall make, it is hardly in the slightest degree comparable with that made by the boys who cheerfully gave their all that we might be saved. You can in a measure repay the debt you owe by substantially subscribing to the "Memorial Fund," so fail not lest there be a revival of that distasteful term "slacker."

G. W. V. A. CONCERT PARTY AT WASA

The G.W.V.A. Concert Party journeyed to Wasa on Friday making their debut that night to an immense audience. Needless to say the boys made an excellent showing, receiving continuous rounds of applause from the Wasaites. Lanky Jack was the star of the evening—some stepper is Jack. The party spent the big part of next day at that beautiful little lake just outside Wasa. Swimming and boating was thoroughly enjoyed. Many thanks are extended to the car owners who drove the party there and back. Let us hope the party will go ahead and keep up the good work.

LABOR DAY IN FERNIE

Labor Day here is to be celebrated by a feast of baseball. The long talked of high stake contest between teams representing Waldo and Wycliffe will be played. Ever since the latter went down to defeat at the hands of the former on Dominion Day, there has been talk and more talk about a return game for love, money or marbles, and it has now materialized that certified cheques for $1000 each by the backers of both teams were deposited in Cranbrook on Tuesday, the official stakeholder being the "Human Shadow," George Hogarth. The stipulations are that the game shall be played in Fernie and that M. A. Kastner shall officiate as umpire in chief.

As soon as it became definitely known that Fernie was the place chosen for this contest the local sports committee, who are fast becoming professionals in arranging celebrations through actual practice, immediately got busy and have obtained subscriptions from local business men to approximately $500.00. Of this amount $300 is being hung up as a purse for the Waldo-Wycliffe game; the remaining $200 to be divided into first money $125, second money $75, for a baseball tournament in which have entered teams from Wardner and Fernie, with Michel, Kimberley, Blairmore and others as possible contenders. In any event it is now practically assured that three or four teams will compete and possibly more, so that with the big game as the real attraction, baseball fans visiting Fernie on Labor Day will have baseball to their hearts' content.

All the attractions will be held in the City Park, commencing about 11 a.m. Admission to the grounds has been fixed at 50c for men; 25c for ladies and children. Automobiles, private cars 50c each; jitneys or cars for hire, entrance fee $5 unless the owners contribute a like amount to subscription list. It is also proposed in view of the fact that the entire day may be taken up by continuous games, that light refreshments will be available at booths on the grounds. These are being looked after by F. Warwick, so there is no doubt there will be sufficient quantity and ample variety for everyone.

At a meeting held on Tuesday evening the following committees were appointed to make all necessary arrangements: Refreshment committee, F. Warwick; Grounds committee, M. A. Kastner; Law and Order committee, Mayor Uphill; Gate committee, Ronald Hewat.

OBITUARY

The death of Mrs. Bert W. Stiles, of Lewisville, occurred in the City hospital on Tuesday, Aug. 5, following an operation about two weeks ago. Deceased, who was 24 years of age, was the daughter of Mrs. Archibald Nicholson, of Fernie, B.C., and formerly of Springhill, N.S. She was a member of the Lewisville Baptist church and was held in very high esteem. Besides her husband and one child, deceased is survived by six sisters and two brothers in the West. Many friends will regret to learn of her demise and will deeply sympathize with the bereaved family. — Amherst (N.S.) News.

RAILWAY MEN'S LUCK

The superstitions of railway men are so numerous that even the saior who is generalyy credited with being the most superstitious man in the world, takes second place.

In Russia, when a woman is the first to enter a train, bad luck is sure to come unless the next two persons to enter the same compartment are men.

Friday, the 13th day of the month, black cats, cross-eyes, mirror-breaking, lightning, coach numbers and their variations, and the weather are a few of the fantastic superstitions of railway workers.

Many drivers will not commence a journey without a flower in the buttonhole, usually a white one, or a white ribbon (says London Tit Bits. Others wear a peculiar button, the insignia of their fraternal orders, and even a piece of red string, often almost invisible.

A left-handed driver or fireman is looked at askance by some railway men and as a lucky companion by others. In some cases transfer to other runs has been asked because such an individual is given a berth, while others request to be given a place by a left-handed or ambidextrous person.

As for travellers, burning coffee after breakfast is better than an accident policy, while winding one's watch on the train means a safe journey. Putting a wisp of straw in one's trunk or bag protects it from injury and insures safety.

If dust blows in one's eyes while in the train it means good health for a year; if it blows while going to the train it is a sign of accident.

A general superstition among railway men is that when one leaves his home to go to work he must not return and go indoors for something he has forgotten. Should he have to do so, the bad luck to follow will be nullified if he sits for even a second in a chair and lifts his feet from the floor.

PEAT FUEL HAS LOW ASH CONTENT

The following is a summary of the properties of peat fuel when properly manufactured, as given in an address before the Commission of Conservation, ninth annual meeting, by Eugene Haanel, Ph. D., Director, Mines Branch, Department of Mines.

"Peat is a clean fuel to handle; has, as a rule, a very low ash content, and produces no soot or other deposit when burned in an ordinary cook stove ot open fireplace. The ash, moreover, is in a very finely divided condition, free from combustible matter and can be easily removed from the stove or fireplace. Clinkers are not formed. On account of the ready manner in which peat fuel ignites, often a little paper or a few shavings are sufficient to start a fire. A peat fire does not, therefore, require to be kept continually burning throughout the day, if not needed, since a new fire can be easily started.

"Peat fuel, on the other hand, is more bulky than coal and is of lower heating value per pound. The relation between anthracite coal and peat fuel as regards heating value per pound is 12,500: 7,000, or 1.8, that is one pound of the average anthracite coal is equivalent in heating value to 1.8 pounds peat fuel, containing 25 per cent moisture. It is therefore necessary to store 1.8 times the weight of the coal required, in peat fuel. The volume occupied by peat fuel is much larger than that of coal. One cubic foot of anthracite weighs approximately 56 pounds, while one cubic foot of machine peat weighs about 27 lbs. The volume of peat required to equal coal of the above heating value will therefore be about 3.6 to 4 times that of the coal."

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

ENGLAND'S FUR TRADE

During the early days of the Great World War fur prices declined to a low ebb, but on account of curtailed supplies caused by most men engaged in trapping having enlisted, the trend of prices was soon upward, which trend has been steadily maintained until today the highest prices in the history of the world are being paid.

Owing largely to the submarine activities a great many exporters from the American continent preferred to dispose of most of their trade in America, resulting in a few large American houses working up a large business in selling raw furs and now that war is over London proposes to again become the distributing centre of the world for furs, and on that account it will be perhaps interesting to give the following brief sketch from the London Daily Mail of the fur trade of England up to the present.

Great Britain's connection with the fur trade dates back many centuries, and in the development of the industry the Hudson's Bay Company has played a very prominent part. It was in 1610 that Henry Hudson discovered what was afterwards known as Hudson's Bay, the inland sea on the North-east coast of North America. It was the last discovery of the famous English navigator, for his crew mutinied, sent him adrift in a small boat, and he was never seen again. In 1664, Charles II., granted the States of New York, New Jersey and Delaware to his brother, the Duke of York, and the fur trade of New Amsterdam, which belonged to the Dutch, then fell into English hands.

At that time Canada was French territory, and in 1663 the charter granted by La Compaigne des Cents Associes by Louis XIII was ceded to the crown and a new association was formed known as La Compagnie des Indes Occidentale which received its charter from Louis XIV. Two employees of the old company, Radisson and Groseillers, dissatisfied with their prospects under the new regime, proposed to extend their independent trade to Hudson's Bay, and sought financial assistance from Boston, where they learned of the discoveries of the English navigator Hudson and also those of Frobisher, Davis and Fox. Groseillers was persuaded to visit England and offer his services to the King but went to France first. Failing in his quest, he turned in 1667 to Prince Rupert, and the following year the Nonsuch of 40 tons, visited Hudson's Bay. In 1669 a larger ship, the Eagle, was commissioned, and in 1670 King Charles granted to his cousin Prince Rupert a charter under the title of the Governor and Company of Adventurers of England trading into Hudson's Bay.

Under the charter authority was given to engage in the fur trade with the North American Indians. The addition of Canada to the British Dominions opened the way for adventurers from the Great Lakes, whose success led to the formation in 1783 of the North West Fur Company, of Montreal, between whose agents and those of the Hudson's Bay Company there were many struggles, often of a sanguinary character. In 1821 the two rivals joined forces, and in 1838 the Hudson's Bay Company obtained a practical monopoly of the region in which they carried on operations. The monopoly was, however, abolished in 1850. Finally their territory and other rights were bought out by Canada for £300,000 and every twentieth section of land in the fertile belt allotted to them. The company, as all connected with the trade know, continued and still continue their fur trading, and many of their stores have developed into great modern emporiums.

Such in brief outline, is the story of how centuries ago the fur trade fell into English hands. The first public sale of furs in London was held in 1671. The venue was Garraway's Coffee House in the city, and among those who attended were Prince Rupert, the Duke of York, and the poet Dryden. Since those far-off days fur sales have been held annually in the United Kingdom, though, as mentioned above, the functions were suspended in London at the outbreak of the war on the understanding that the trade should be supplied with such goods as were required for immediate consumption. Throughout the whole period of the war, in spite of the German submarines, furs were brought to London from many remote parts of the world. And in this connection it is interesting to be able now to disclose the fact that two of the Hudson Bay Company's ships fought German U-boats. One was intercepted while carrying furs valued at £600,000. It gallantly faced the enemy vessel and, having defeated it, succeeded in safely landing its valuable cargo.

In London the raw fur auction sales are held in January, April and October, and are attended by buyers from all parts of the world. At the recently held auctions—the first since the outbreak of the war—there were present buyers from France, Belgium, Italy, Russia, Greece, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Canada, Australia and the United States, and remarkably high prices were realized. The furs sold are consigned from the countries of origin to London brokers, some of whom have been connected with the trade for over a century. In due course the goods are offered for sale by auction, or, if desired, are sold by the brokers by private treaty. London, thanks to its geographical position and to its being the principal financial centre of the world, is generally regarded as the most favorable venue for the transaction of business of this character, though at one time Leipsic was an important centre of the raw fur distributing trade. It will ,however, be many years before Leipsic will be able to regain its hold on the trade, and in the meantime larger and larger supplies will, it is expected, find their way to the London auctions.

In pre-war times huge quantities of furs were purchased for consignment for distribution through London at the great annual Russia fair held at Niji-Novgorod. It is from Russia and Siberia that the fur trade has relied for a great portion of its yearly suppiles — silver fox, sables, blue and white fox, sealskin, ermine, skunk, raccoon, beaver, red fox, marten, wolf, marmot, moufflon, bear, badger, white hare, astrachan, and squirrel. From Russia 20,000 sable skins used to be received annually and from Siberia over twenty-million of squirrel skins.

AN ORGANIZED REVOLT

We stand at present amid outburst of social forces of which we know little. How far the original German propaganda among the negroes may have been utilized subsequently by the I.W.W. we do not yet know. It is apparent, however, that there is more in it than mere casual flamings out of race hatred in cities the least likely to harbor such feelings. In other words, the situation presupposes intelligent direction and management. It need not be said that the worst enemies of the negro race are those who may have incited them to stir up a dormant feeling which cannot result in anything but injury to them. What did the Germans or Bolsheviki care about the final situation of their dupes? — New York Times.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

THE SQUEEZE

Boston has been suffering from a mild type of Bolshevism. The motormen held up the public for an eight-hour day and 72c an hour. They broke their contract and refused to wait for arbitration. So the public walked. Politicians feared the strikers. The strikers feared nobody. What they counted upon was the willingness of people to compromise rather than fight it out. Some day one of these strikes will have to be fought out unless the aristocracy of organized labor is to get the whole pie. Seventy-eight cents an hour and eight hours work looks rather luxurious to school teachers, parsons, bookkeepers and clerks. If the favored unions go on, what is going to become of the proletariat?—we mean by that term the clergy, teachers and other unprotected laborers. There is always the I.W.W. open to us, which is organized on a broader missionary basis, with no exclusive class privilege. One thing is getting pretty clear—the labor unions can't squeeze the orange much harder. There "won't be no juice."—The Churchman.

CHICAGO'S HIDEOUS STORY

If anyhting were needed to add to the hideous story of Chicago—the outbreak of animal savagery, the collapse of civilized order, the long days it has taken the city administration to admit its incapacity to grapple with its duty—it would be the reports of starvation threatening large sections of the negro population because of fear of venturing into the open in quest of food. One colored man was struck down while on the run from his home to a grocery store. What the necessity must have been which sent this man out to face death we can easily conceive. To the list of casualties in the street fighting we shall probably have to add the deaths of babies who have been left without nourishment. Of the six thousand troops who are now striving to re-establish peace, the authorities might well employ part as relief columns from the provision stores to the beleagured homes in the black belt. It is not a spectacle that any community can regard without the deepest shame. The attorney for the plaintiff in a famous libel suit in Michigan could well turn upon his opponent and ask whether conditions in Chicago might not possibly come under the definition of anarchy. — New York Evening Post.

WHERE EDUCATION IS NEEDED

Idealists have jumped at the conclusion that because there is no further immediate fear of military tyranny we have reached the dawn of an anarchical millenium; and many of the present troubles are little more than a process of disillusionment. Having been freed from the iron discipline which the menace of the world war imposed upon us from years before the war began, we now have to discipline ourselves that we may combine prosperity with the freedom that has been so long sought. The bulk of our present troubles have arisen from sheer ignorance and inexperience on the part, not only of the industrial classes but also of the employers. Fortunately, most of our news reveals a process of rapid education. —Bulawayo Chronicle.

RUBBER SEED FOR OIL AND CATTLE FOOD

There has been considerable discussion during the past year or two concerning the utilization of Para rubber seed for oil, and it is stated that already exhaustive experiments have been made along this line. It is cited that in one instance oil from rubber seed was sold at about $250 a ton at a time when the price for linseed oil stood at $300. Experts are of the opinion that this oil could probably be successfully used in the manufacture of paints and varnishes, linoleums, soft soap, rubber substitutes, etc. In addition to the use of rubber seed for the purpose above mentioned, it is stated that experiments conducted in th Straits Settlements have clearly shown that a feeding cake for cattle and other stock, favorably comparing with linseed oil and other oil cake, can be produced from the residue of the Para rubber seed, after the oil is extracted, thus affording an opportunity for the development to very considerable proportions of a profitable industry in connection with the ordinary oil extraction.

THE NEW PRIVILEGE

Getting rich is no longer of much use. It puts one in a suspect and proscribed class. Minding one's own business is even less advisable. It makes one uninteresting to the powers that be, and in case of trouble secures a regular and harsh application of the laws. Nobody loves or fears either a fat or a quiet man. Being what used to be thought a patriotic American is even less expedient. Responsibilities still adhere to the role but no privileges of any kind. It shows a spirit too backward looking and unenterprising. To enter the new privileged classes one thing seems needful — a profound and vociferous contempt for American interests and institutions as they are, and withal a stalwart revolutionary spirit and an unwearied blatancy. Privilege has passed from those who are merely rich in dollars to such as are rich in the spirit of revolt.—The Review.

NO SHORT CUT

Demagogy may inspire people to frantic measures in their zeal to achieve at a bound the desirable places of life, but common sense teaches that desirable things are to be earned by slow and patient effort. Kun sought to stand on his head and support an inverted nation on the soles of his feet. He managed as long as he was reinforced by the filled treasury. But the treasury was not filled by him but the plodding millions who produced it in the normal way. Kun was not squandering millions produced under his theory of government but under the form he sought to destroy.—Chicago Tribune.

NOVEL METHOD OF GETTING RID OF THE BEARS

Stewart, B.C., Aug. 23.—Bears at Five Mile camp on the Salmon river road were frequent visitors until last Monday. After fishing the creek they would scavenge their desert at the camp garbage can. A half dozen paid daily visits to the camp and the smaller fell waste from the hand of the cook. A 500-pound red bear arrived a few days ago and proceeded to take possession of the camp. He reared and snapped as he went about with a side of bacon in one hand and a fresh loaf of bread in the other, and refused to vacate the trail. Nine sticks of 60 per cent in the garbage can, with a battery connection, caused his demise.

COMMISSIONER SOWTON IS PROMOTED

Sowton, of the Salvation Army who has been in charge of Western Canada territory with headquarters at Winnipeg, has been selected by General Bramwell Booth, to take charge of Salvation Army work in Sweden, according to an announcement made here today by Col. John McMillan, chief secretary for the Toronto district. Capt. Robt. Little, who for the past two years has been in the financial department here, has been appointed financial secretary for the army in South America. He has left for Buenos Ayres."

MERE MAN'S REFUGE

With all due respect and admiration for the ladies, it is, nevertheless, perfectly true that on reason for the popularity of the saloon was that women were kept out. Men are gregarious animals and they couldn't get along without mothers and sisters and sweethearts and wives and daughters—but they don't want 'em around all the time. That is the truth whether the women like it or not. Witness the great men's clubs. —Minneapolis News.

Cool Comfort

It's Sunday morning—blazing hot, and pretty near a whole day before you for rest and recreation.

First, then—a shave. Whether you are going for a spin in the car, taking the family to church or visiting a neighbour, you cannot go with a day's growth of beard on your chin.

The thought of shaving won't be irksome if you own a Gillette Safety Razor—rather, you think of five minutes' cool comfort with the highest type of shaving edge ever developed. No man in the world can command a keener blade than the one you slip into your Gillette.

And if Gillette shaving gives you an added joy to your Sunday, why not take five minutes every morning for a clean shave as the start for a better day's work.

For $5.00—the price of the Gillette Safety Razor—you have your choice of the Standard Gillette sets, the Pocket Edition sets (just as perfect, but more compact), and the Bulldog Gillette with the stocky grip. Ask to see them TODAY at the jewellers', druggists' or hardware dealers.

SUN SPOT DUE DECEMBER NEXT

In the following article taken from the St. Paul Daily News, Prof. Albert F. Porta, noted sun spot forecaster and discoverer of Porta's weather laws, predicts the most terrible cataclysm next December ever experienced since history began.

Owing to a strange grouping of six mighty planets, such as has not been seen in a score of centuries, the United States next December will be swept by the most terrific weather catacylsm experienced since human history began.

It will be caused by the hugest sunspot on record — A sunspot that will be visible to the naked eye.

Since man first began to make records of events no sunspot has been large enough to be seen without the aid of instruments. This one will be.

The sunspot that will appear December 17, 1919, will be a vast wound in the side of the sun.

It will be a gigantic explosion of flaming gases, leaping hundreds of thousands of miles out into space. It will have a crater large enough to engulf the earth, much as Vesuvius might engulf a football.

Such a sunspot will be rich enough in electro-magnetic energy to fling the atmosphere of our planet into a disturbance without precedent or parallel.

There will be hurricanes, lightning, colossal rains.

It will be weeks before the earth will regain its normal weather conditions.

There will also be gigantic lava eruptions, great earthquakes, to say nothing of floods and fearful cold.

I make this startling prophecy with no desire to be merely sensational or alarming. It is merely because my study of the planets has revealed certain results with matehmatical certainty, that I now say to you:

"Be warned in advance. Tremendous things are going to happen form December 17 to December 20, 1919, and afterwards."

Here are the simple, yet astounding facts that enable me to make this prophecy: :

The planets in their orbits swing in great elipses about the sun. They are linked to the sun, and to each other, by chains of electro-magnetic energy whose compelling forces counteract each other and hold each planet in its regular path.

Whenever two panets wheel into such positions that they pull together on the sun—either in "conjunction" on the same side of the sun, or in "opposition" with the sun between them—their united pull causes the sun's gases to "explode"—to leap out into space in the whirling volcano we call a sunspot.

These sunspots in turn cause storms in the atmosphere of our earth — doubtless on other planets as well.

Two planets, united are enough to cause a small sunspot and a small storm. Three cause a larger one—four make a very great storm indeed.

But—on December 17, 1919, no less than seven planets will pull jointly on the sun. These will include all the mightiest planets, those with the most powerful pull.

Six of them—Mercury, Mars, Venus, Jupiter, Saturn and Neptune — will be in conjunction; grouped together in the greatest "League of Planets" ever known in the annals of astronomy.

They will be massed in the narrow limit of but 26 degrees, on the same side of the sun.

Directly opposite, coming into opposition with this gigantic league, will be the huge planet Uranus. The magnetic currents between Uranus and the six planets will pierece the Sun like a mighty spear.

Our earth is outside the league at an angle of nearly 90 degrees—in perfect position to receive almost the full force of the monster electrical disturbance as it leaps into activity on what, to us, will be the eastern horizon of the sun's disk.

This means we shall get the full strength of the storm when the sunspot is at its worst, before the exploding gases have had time to die down.

Such a close grouping of planets has never been recorded before. The whole solar system will be strangely out of balance.

What will be the outcome? My knowledge does not permit me to state, beyond the fact that the storms, eruptions and earthquakes will be tremendous in their strength and scope.

Remember the date—December 17 to 20 and after.

JUDGMENT IS GIVEN

BROWN VS. G. N. RAILWAY

Remarks by Justice Macdonald when giving judgment:

Plaintiff, as executor of the late William Franklin Brown, deceased, seeks to recover from the defendant railway company damages for the destruction by fire, in July, 1917, of standing timber, fencing, pasture and buildings on Sub-lot 29 of Lot 4589, Group 1, Kootenay District, B.C. The amount claimed exceeded $5000 and various grounds of negligence were alleged by the plaintiff. Defendants denied negligence, but prior to the trial, when the plaintiff was taking certain steps in the action, defendants' solicitor objected to such a course being purusued, involving expense and stated, that when the defence was carefully read, it would seem "That there never has been any issue other than as to the amount of damages, and as far as the defendants are concerned, I do not intend to go into any other issue."

I am satisfied plaintiff's solicitors relied upon this construction of the pleadings and that from the trend of the trial, up to a certain stage, I feel assured that the question of damages was, in the opinion of both sides, the sole point to be determined at the trial.

No argument was presented by the defendants that the plaintiff, as an executor, was not entitled to recover damages in respect of the destruction to the real estate of his testator, but defendant's counsel sought to draw a distinction between the right of recovery of damages for standing timber, as compared with the pasturage on the land. As I pointed out, at the trial, as no objection was raised to the plaintiff, as an executor, being entitled to recovery for loss in connection with the standing timber. I could not see that any distinction would arise.

I am quite satisifed there was a quantity of marketable standing timber upon the property at the time of the fire. The witnesses giving evidence as to the destruction of this timber are very wide apart in their estimate as to the loss. This is not an unlikely result as the estimate may be influenced by the viewpoint of the party considering damage. Then again a cruiser going over the destroyed area, immediately after the fire, might form a very different opinion as to the number of trees destroyed from that entertained by a party a year or more afterwards. This may account for the difference between the estimate made by Mr. John Hart in the Fall of 1917 and that of Mr. Malcolm Horie, just before the trial. I believe both these men to be very competent and reliable cruisers. The former said that there was room for difference between the two cruisers on account of his having made his inspection at a time when the foliage was all off the trees and thus it was very difficult to tell what trees were killed and he had to use his best judgment in the matter. Under these circumstances, he did not deem it improbable that another cruiser, estimating a year and a half after, should differ from his materially in the result. Then the mode of cruising, known as the "strip" system, adopted by these two cruisers, was attacked as being inapplicable to the area in question. I think, in view of the previous logging, there may be some strength in this contention, but also believe that these two men would not unfairly utilize this mode of ascertaining the damage. I am asked then to accept the cruise of Mr. Wyman, employed by the defendants. He has had extensive experience, principally in Montana, in connection with cruising of timber. He visited the land shortly after the fire in 1917 and his estimate of the loss was based upon an accurate count of the trees destroyed. The time he spent upon the property, however, in order to arrive at a reasonably accurate result, seems to be inadequate. As opposed to his evidence, I turn to that of Mr. A. J. Farquharson, who has had considerable experience in cruising standing timber, as well as the areas destroyed by fire. He was accompanied in his work by Mr. W. W. J. Morrison and they divided the district into four blocks and except, as to a portion thereof, which, through lack of time they could not cover, and had to estimate on a proportionate basis, they counted all the trees destroyed by the fire, or rather obtained evidence, as to the extent of what had previously been standing timber and had suffered destruction. The time thus occupied by these two parties was far in excess of that consumed by Mr. Wyman under a similar system of estimating the loss. These different cruisers presented a mass of figures which it would be useless for me to discuss in detail. Suffice for me to mention that while Mr. Horie estimated the loss at 1,401,000, Mr. Hart, according to his prior cruising, only fixed the amount at 1,082,000. Then Mr. Farquharson has a lower estmate of 804,000. This includes fir, pine and larch. I do not think I should, under all the circumstances, adopt the higher estimates as to the loss, but with slight reductions accept those of Mr. Farquharson. I think a fair amount to allow would be $750 for the pine timber destroyed and $1000 for the fir and larch. To this should be added the loss of further timber suitable for mine props. There was only a slight difference amongst the witnesses in their estimate as to this loss. Assisted by Mr. Matthews' evidence, and, based to some extent upon Mr. Wyman's statements, I would allow $230 for such lumber, thus making a total of $1980 for damages in connection with the timber. Add to this the destruction of the log house, partially constructed, at $150. Then, while the pasturage, partly destroyed, is now in as good condition as before the fire, and there is no definite evidence as to the loss suffered in the meantime, I think that an allowance should be made of $100, thus making the total damages allowed $2230. There will be judgment for the plaintiff for $2230 and costs.

W. A. Macdonald, J.

ELKO NOTES

(Gy Fred Roo)

Lethbridge patrons to Elko last week broke all records. Camped along the violet strewn banks of the Elk river, renting furnished rooms and living in the hotels visitors from Lethbridge topped the list. We have the goods and big crowds will turn this way just as soon as our attractions are universally advertised. The headliners this week were Mr. and Mrs. George Kemn, and son Harold. George is the premier salesman in Southern Alberta, and report says that he sold more salad dressing, shredded prunes and boneless rice than any five salesmen on the road. His smile is as contagious as a sneeze and he is so popular they are singing songs about him in every grocery store in southern Alberta. E. Patterson, lumber merchant; they say he started with a toothpick. J. Benton, head shipper for one of the big wholesale houses, supplying household urgents and other kinds of stock foods, a regular whirlwind at the business. Mr. and Mrs. Jones and family, the man with the gutta-percha smile. Mr. and Mrs. Thaell, with their super six, with Mr. and Mrs. Williamson, and Mrs. Smith of Great Falls, Montana, who divided their camping between Rock Creek and Canyon Park. Both men being expert disciples of Isaac Walton enabled their charming wives to give several trout dinners to their many Lethbridge friends, which were greatly enjoyed Miss Hendrie and Miss Porter, two of the best boosters we have met from Lethbridge and whose wit sparkled like dry champagne, and figures as lithe as mermaids and their pink calico gowns setting on them like Grecian robes. Hopkins, a likable fellow, selling overland trout for one of the packing plants. Miss Maggie Casey from the northland, going through to Roosville. She was attired in a whipped cream delicatessen delirium with mauve colored rubbers, which she must have bought from Cassidy, another of Lethbridge's rubbermen. There were dozens of other Lethbridge Coal Dump artistocracy we failed to meet, but there is some very nice people comes from Lethbridge and they are still coming and the more the merrier, as the whale said to the herring.

Miss E. May Roo, chief stenographer to Jim Thistlebeak, is visiting her mother and brothers at their Roosville ranch this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Nolan and daughter of Roosville valley, left for Halcyon Hot Springs for a short visit.

Several American cars coming north to the Calgary Stampede got stalled just north of the Port of Roosville last week and turned back and will go by way of Sweet Grass and Lethbridge. A big delegation of cowpunchers and horse wranglers from the Land of the Free and the home of the Smiths, passed through Elko last week for the big stampede.

Enthusisats are wrangling over who won the war. The gasbag Yankees say they won, although they were scarcely in long enough to get hurt. Some say Foch won it. Some say Lloyd George won it. But without wishing to start anything unpleasant, Jim Thistlebeak wonders if the Imperial Tommy and the British Navy had anything to do with it. (We wonder.)

Dick Bevin, of Creston, looking like seven million dollars and feeling just about the same, passed through Elko Sunday night for the Calgary Stampede. Jim Thistlebeak was to meet him at the train with a two-handled pumpkin but stalled on the bad roads and missed the train—all on account of Oliver.

Several gentlemen from Fernie and Coal Creek called on Fred Roo last week and said that they were glad that Fernie was getting rid of the Trotsky Bolshevik and that sweet peace reigned once more. They said the Bolsheviki wanted to dream all day and not have to work at night. If that's a fac, as Billy Oswald would say, it's a blessing that the mail clerks on the trains, as they are working night and day, are not Bolsheviks, O.B.U.'s or I.W.W.'s (which are all in the same category) but gentlemen and scholars.

Jim Thistlebeak says that if you are happy you are wealthy. Wealth cannot buy happiness.

Ed. Kummer, contractor, of Fernie, was down in Roosville Valley this week installing the boilers for the Joyce Bros. new mill. Asking him what he thought of the roads down in that section of the country, his reply was: Wow-Zipp-Bang. There is no roads.

BEDRIDDEN WITH RHEUMATISM

Felt That He Would Never Walk Again "FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Relief.

MR. LORENZO LEDUC

3 Ottawa St., Hull, P.Q.

"Fruit-a-tives" is certainly a wonder. For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism; being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine but without getting better; and thought I would never be able to walk again.

"One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

I have every confidence in 'Fruit-a-tives' and strongly recommend them to every sufferer from Rheumatism".

LORENZO LEDUC.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

CANADA'S VOTE IN THE LEAGUE

Canada's right to vote in the League of Nations is inferentially questioned in a letter of ex-President Taft to the Chairman of the Republican National Committee, and tho the pont he argues affects other natons within the British empire, Canadian observers are the first aroused. Mr. Taft suggests the adoption of a provision which would prohibit membership on the Council of the League says the Winnipeg Manitoba Free Press, to dominions or self-governing colonies of the mother country if represented, or to the mother country if any other of the nations of the Empire are admitted to the supreme body of the League. His precaution is "plainly to prevent the Britsh Empire, constituting in itself a league of British nations, from having more than one representative upon the Council of Nine, which is the governing body of the League of Nations," and this daily proceeds:

"The Canadian people, it may be said, are a little astonished at these periodical revelations of American concern lest Canada, as a British Dominion, should have a status as a national unit in the League of Nations. It was the representatives of the United States, President Wilson and Mr. Lansing, who objected to the British overseas dominions having any direct representation in the Peace Conference, tho later they had the wit to withdraw from so ungracious a position. The winning of the right of direct representation in the Peace Conference carried with it automatically the right of membership in the League of Nations."

Canadians are surprised, remarks the Toronto Globe, that Mr. Taft, who has been "so friendly to Canada and so intimate with her political institutions and history," should counsel his fellow Republicans in the Senate to deny her the right of separate representation in the Council of the League of Nations. Also there is irony in the circumstances that the letter containing the advice was writen from Mr. Taft's summer home in Quebec Province, according to this journal, which notes that Mr. Taft does not approve the "wrecking tactics" of enemies of the President, but adjures the Republicans to ratify the Peace Treaty with "interpretations." The Globe quotes Mr. Taft:

"The second interpretation has to do with the presence in the League, as members, of self-governing dominions or colonies of a home government, also a member. Certainly in a small body like that of the Council it would be unfair to have a home government represented and also one of its dominions or colonies, and I can not think that it was the intention of the framers of the Covenant that this might happen.

"Yet I am bound to say that such a result is not excluded by the present language of the Covenant in Article X. and Article IV. Nor does the language of Article IV necessarily exclude from the tribunal to recommend a settlement of a dispute of a home government where one of its dominions or colonies is a party, nor does it necessarily exclude a dominion or colony from such tribunal where the home government may be a party; yet I have no doubt that both of these exclusions were intended by the framers of the Covenant."

Prompt protest against Mr. Taft's view, the Globe goes on to say, was voiced by the Canadian Minister of Justice, Hon. Mr. Doherty, who contends that the right of Canada to representation on the Council of the League was demanded by her representatives and was "unequivocally recognized by all concerned. Mr. Doherty is quoted as follows:

"A reservation in effect negativing that right would involve a change in the contract—after acceptance and signature by all parties—in regard to a matter, which, from the Dominion's point of view, is of its essence. As such it is clearly inadmissible, and not distinguishable from a refusal to ratify."

The London (Ont.) Free Press mentions a proposal that in order to offset the preponderance of British voting power in the Council of the League, the United States should have an equal number of votes, and it avers:

"There ought to be no difficulty in the matter. Obviously, America is entitled to as large a voice in the League as is the British Empire. We want no advantage in the voting strength. Responsibility and voting power go hand in hand. If Washington accepts equal responsibility with Britain, then Washington must have an equal voice in determining the policy and practices of the League. There must be the utmost recognition of national rights in the conduct of the League or is can not continue to exist. Great Britain will not be jealous of any increase in the number of United States votes."

ZIEGFELD BEAUTIES IN "THE BELLE OF NEW YORK"

"The Belle of New York," in which Select Pictures presents Marion Davies, affords everyone a wonderful opportunity to see the world-renowned beauties of the Ziegfeld Midnight Frolic. All—whether they have lived in Oskosh or Paris—have heard of the beautiful Ziegfeld girls; they have heard but have not seen. Select Pictures now gives them the opportunity of seeing these stunning, charming, beautiful, graceful girls.

"The Belle of New York," which will be seen at the Orpheum theatre on Monday and Tuesday, contains several cabaret scenes in which all the beauties of the Ziegfeld Midnight Frolic participate. Beautiful Marion Davies, with the most beautiful group of girls in the world as a background in a world famous production, makes "The Belle of New York" one of the most charming and wonderful pictures that has ever been produced on the screen.

The two beautiful baskets of flowers in the P. Burns window were grown in Mrs. F. C. Lawe's garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis White returned on Thursday from a three weeks' visit in Spokane.

W. H. Whimster received a wire from Portage la Prairie on Wednesday, stating that his brother Peter had died very suddenly.

Wm. Haldane, of Nelson, formerly of the firm of Egg & Haldane, of this city, spent several days in town this week.

A big break in the water main near the Fernie hospital caused the city water to be shut off for five hours on Monday.

Mrs. Jack Green left the other day on an extended visit to friends and relatives in England. She expects to be gone about a year.

For Sale—14 good milk cows, one bull, and heifer calf one week old. Apply to J. Anderson, Cokato, or P.O. Box 611, Fernie. A22-2

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ingham, of Elko, have returned from Rochester, Minn., where Mrs. Ingham underwent an operation by Mayo Bros.

Customs Officer Gates is holidaying in Vancouver. He will return next week with Mrs. Gates, who has been visiting there for a couple of weeks.

Jim Joyce is negotiating for the purchase of the McInnes timber limits near Crow's Nest. They have suffered slightly from forest fires during the past season.

Fernie seems to be a pretty good town yet. Two weeks ago G. Kossoff advertised his house, business and car for sale. In ten days he had disposed of the whole outfit at good prices.

Mrs. Keith Whimster, of Medicine Hat, is the guest of Mrs. W. H. Whimster. Mr. and Mrs. Keith Whimster are moving to Winnipeg, where he has been appointed to an important position.

A picnic party of about twenty visited the Ingham ranch on Sunday and packed away all the green corn that they could carry. They made a big fire down at the river and had some corn bake.

Insurance Adjuster Thomas, of Calgary, was in the city on Tuesday adjusting the claim of Perry Bros. for a loss by fire last week. They could not come to an amicable settlement and the matter will be settled in the courts.

Jos. Podbielancik has purchased the grocery business of G. Kossoff, in the G. F. Johnson Block. He has already taken it over and solicits your patronage. Mr. Podbielancik, who for the past year has conducted a business in the North End of the city, is a well known citizen of Fernie for the past eighteen years, and will doubtless do well in his new venture.

From all reports it looks as if there was a movement on foot to form a big lumber merger, taking in the Elk Lumber Co., the Fernie Lumber Co. and the Seipple Lumber Co. President Campbell of the later company has been in town several days on business in connection with the matter. No official announcement has yet been made. During the summer the first two companies have suffered heavily from bush fires, but the combination easily have enough timber to keep one big mill like the Elk running for twenty years. The merger would be a great thing for the town of Fernie as it would ensure almost a steady mill payroll for a large number of men.

NAVY LEAGUE PRIZES TO BE AWARDED

The following letter is self-explanatory:

Victoria, Z.C., Aug. 21, 1919.

J. F. Rudnicki,
Sec. Fernie Branch, Navy League of Canada, Fernie, B.C.

Dear Mr. Rudinski—It gives me great pleasure in advising you that the judges in the recent competition for the best essay on the "Blocking of Zeebrugge Harbor" have awarded the first prize to Jack Wood, age 13, and 2nd prize to Roswell Garner, age 10.

I would respectfully draw your attention to the fact that special mention was made by the judges for the very high standard of Roswell Garner's essay for a boy of 10 years of age. Yours very truly,

H. F. Helmsing,
Secretary, Executive Committee, B.C. Division, Navy League of Canada.

A meeting of the Navy League will be held in the council chamber on Wednesday, Sept. 3rd, at 8 p.m. to award the prizes.

O. B. U. MUST BE DESTROYED

One excellent quality pervades the ranks of our budding Sovients, and that is their extreme frankness on the platform. That they take it all back when it comes to facing a magistrate, as has been the case in Winnipeg, is quite another story. In the interval, however, fellows like Hoop, of Winnipeg, and women like Helen Armstrong, and other Hyde Park tub thumpers, still at large, are telling all and sundry that the Winnipeg revolution was only a starter, and that as soon as the Reds goth their breath they are going to begin all over again.

"They haven't beaten us; we are just resting," said Helen Armstrong, President of the Women's Labor League of Winnipeg, in a recent speech in Toronto. Then this fair Helen of Troy proceeded to let the cat out of the bag by remarking that the Winnipeg revolution went smash because just at the crucial moment the Mounted Police came along and grabbed off the leaders, and shipped them to the Stony Mountain Penitentiary; all of which is just another proof that our faith in the North West Mounted Police is well founded.

W. H. Hoop, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. Armstrong's running mate, who addressed the Toronto meeting was delightfully frank. His message to the workers was to keep on demanding more money "for the time will come when the bosses can no longer come across and then you can step in and run things for yourselves."

Now we know where we stand as far as Hoop and his compatriots are concerned. Those who have something are going to lose it to those who have nothing. Industry is to go into the hands of those who are inefficient, unqualified and unskilled. According to the Hoops, a man whose brains and energy have made possible a business that may employ thousands of hands is to receive no consideration. Such a man is merely a useless cog in the wheel. The fact that this business combined with other enterprises have made work, and work has made homes, and homes have made a happy and contented nation is of no consequence. The Hoops, the Armstrongs and the rest of the Bolshevists, some of whom have spent their time in jail and others in insane asylums, would grab it all and, of course, having no more ability than so many wooden Indians would waste it all, just as their compatriots have done in Russia.

Decent, law abiding labor is now facing a critical situation. Union members of the old school have come to the point where they must either purge thmselves of the Red element within their ranks or be received with distrust if not hostility by all the remaining factors of the community. The Bolshevists, as exemplified by Hoop are out for anything whereby they may grab something rightfully belonging to some one else, and their one best bet at present is the One Big Union, which would be made a means to this end. It is just a question whether some seven million of people are going to lie down and allow the One Big Union to dominate their affairs or whether we will fight the scorpion standing up.

The One Big Union does not stand for law, order and decency, no matter how innocent the name may sound. Under cover of the O.B.U. is Bolshevism, simple and unadorned, just as this man Hoops has been frank enough to say. For this sort of thing there is one sovereign remedy —no Bolshevist should have a job. A Bolshevist who raises his ugly head in such a country as Canada must be one of four things, lazy, wasteful, stupid or dissolute, in other words, not a desirable employee at any stage, so that by the discharge from employment of such an individual one not only betters his own position, but at the same time strikes a blow for law and order. — Toronto Saturday Night.

OTHER TABLETS NOT ASPIRIN AT ALL

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, you are not getting Aspirin—only an acid imitation.

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are now made in Canada by a Canadian Company. No German interest whatever, all rights being purchased from the United States Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. The "Bayer Cross" is your only way of knowing that you are getting genuine Aspirin, proved safe by millions for Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger sized "Bayer" packages can be had at drug stores.

Crull Eats What He Wants And Sleeps Like a Log Since Taking Tanlac

"My opinion of Tanlac is that it can't be beat," said F. H. Crull, a well known traveling salesman, living at 312 West 31st Street, Indianapolis, Ind., while discusing the medicine recently. Mr. Crull has lived in Indianapolis for the past twenty years. He has represented the Taggart Baking Company on the road for twelve years and is one of the most popular "Knights of the Grip" traveling Indiana.

"I can testify to both the immediate and lasting results that come from its use," continued Mr. Crull. "A little over a year ago I got rid of a bad case of stomach trouble, from which I had been suffering for two years, by taking Tanlac, and do you know I haven't suffered a particle from indigestion to this good day. I had been having a world of trouble with my stomach and awful pains in my right side and was finally operated on for appendicitis. After the operation I still suffered with indigestion. I had no appetite and what I did eat would sour, causing gas, bloating and intense pain. It looked like I would never get my strength back and I was as nervous as a cat. Many a night while out on the road I could not close my eyes for sleep. This condition kept up until I went down to one hundred and thirty pounds in weight and was almost a complete nervous wreck.

"About this time I read a statement about Tanlac that described my case so well that I decided to try a bottle of the medicine. Well, the first bottle helped me so much that I got another and it wasn't but a few weeks until I was free from all signs of stomach trouble and found that I had actually gained twenty pounds in weight, besides going up from one hundred and thirty to one hundred and fifty pounds. I could go out and do a hard day's work and sleep like a log at night, and it made no difference whether I was at a hotel on a Pullman or home I could sleep soundly just the same. The medicine gave me wonderful strength and energy and such a big appetite that I could hardly get enough to eat. Well, to make it short, Tanlac fixed me up in fine shape and I haven't had the least bit of trouble with my stomach since I finished my first bottle more than a year ago. I just got another bottle of Tanlac the other day and my wife and I are both taking it. But Tanlac is going to set us right, for I already see a great improvement, especially in our appetites. I am only too glad to recommend Tanlac for it is one medicine that can be depended upon for results."

SHOULD BE DOMINION WIDE

Citizens of Winnipeg of all classes and creeds, occupations and professions have formed what is known as a Citizens' League, the object of the organization being to cultivate respect for Canadian law. Such an organizatinn, if made Dominion-wide, would probobly do great good in Canada. The movement should not stop at Winnipeg.

The constitution sets forth that the objects of the league shall be:

"The inclucation of the best Canadian ideals, the cultivation of respect for Canadian laws, the proper maintenance of constitutional government and the combatting of all forms of propaganda tending to subvert our established Canadian institutions.

"To create deeper interest in public affairs, particularly in those civic departments essential to the protection of life and property and to create among the citizens a greater interest in the selection of civic representatives and officials.

"To study economic principles as they relate to general employment and industrial questions; to disseminate reliable information on this subject and to cultivate a better understanding and closer relationship between employer and employees.

"To advocate and assist the formation of a national organization all through Canada under the name of Canadian Citizens League to further the purposes and objects as herein set forth as they affect Canada at large.

"To permanently carry on the work of the citizens' committee of one thousand."

THE SURGEON GENERAL'S LIBRARY AND MUSEUM

The library of the Surgeon-General's Office, U.S. Army, is, with one or two exceptions, the finest medical library in the world and it offers rare opportunities for study to physicians who live in or visit the capital, especially by the virtue of the unlocking of its treasures through the monumental Index-Catalog and the Index Medicus. It is housed with the Army Medical Museum, also an admirable accessory to research in medicine and kindred subjects. The building containing these institutions, though overcrowded, is conveniently located in the heart of Washington. Most users of the library and museum will learn with consternation that provision has been made in the current Army Appropriation Bill for buying a tract of land in the outlying suburbs of Washington, adjacent to the Walter Reed Hospital, and that both establishments, as well as the Army Medical School, are eventually to be moved thither. A few years ago the War Department moved its splendid military library from the central location of the State, War and Navy building to the remote Army War College, where it is quite inaccessible except by automobile. Now the Surgeon-General's Library is to be banished to an even more distant "jumpingoff' place.

SOLVING LABOR PROBLEMS

The workingman has no master in this country. He never had. He is the majority. Great is his power. But it is beyond his power to have contradictory things. He pays his own wages out of his own product. Let him diminish his product and he lowers his wages. Not by sympathy for or against labor are its problems to be solved, but by the cold intelligence of the laboring masses.—New York Tribune.

Your Safeguard in Buying Shoes

WHEN you buy shoes, you take somebody's word for value. It is CONFIDENCE which leads you, in the end, to lay down your hard-earned dollars for shoes. And you are right in buying where you feel the most confidence.

This confidence on the part of the buying public is the biggest asset which any dealer, or any manufacturer can have. The reputable, established dealer has YOUR interests in mind when he buys his stock; the manufacturer bears them in mind when he makes it.

Your safeguard in buying shoes is to see that your confidence is well placed. Go to a dealer whose judgment you can trust. And see that the manufacturer's trade mark is on the shoes you select. Thus you may buy with DOUBLE confidence.

Our booklet "How to Buy Shoes," will be sent, with our compliments, to any address in Canada upon request to our head office at Montreal.

TO DESTROY TRADE UNIONS

Beyond any question of doubt there is a sinister plot on foot in Ontario whereby it is hoped to destroy international unionism. The idea is to deliver labor into the hands of the One Big Union. The chief plotter appears to be one, James Simpson, of Toronto, an erstwhile printer, who while acting as municipal reporter for the Toronto Star, entered civic politics. Here he developed "Red" tendencies, which eventually led to his being "passed up" by the electors. For a period Simpson was one of the chief representatives of international unionism, and as such filled many important posts. Returning from Europe some two years ago, where he had served as a representative of the International Trades and Labor Congress, Simpson declared himself to be a Bolshevist. One whose party cry was: "Let us get the war over so that we may start a social war."

Through the plotttings of this man Simpson and others, Toronto legitimate labor leaders, who had for years worked upon the safe and sane lines of international unionism, were ejected from office and were supplanted by a Red division. The next move of the subtle Simpson was to prefer charges against two prominent labor men of the old school, representing as they did the Internationals. These charges were to the effect that they had become involved financially with the Employers' Association, a body which recently fought the Metal Workers' strike to a standstill. Judging from the evidence at hand volunteered by men of unquestioned honor and integrity, the charges are utterly without foundation, but none the less the harm has been done, just as the smooth Simpson no doubt figured. It is a case of start a lie and the truth never seems to be able to catch up with it. The evil effects of the Simpson plot are now apparent in union labor circles, and if the internationals are not alive to the situation, they will find themselves overthrown in Canada, supplanted by the One Big Union, while Simpson and the rest of the arch plotters will have reached their goal.—Toronto Saturday Night.

NEW MEDICAL CENTRE

Young American doctors instead of going to Berlin and Vienna for their post-graduate course, are likely to come to London, where an exclusively American hospital is about to be built.

The plans are almost complete and a meeting will be held to consider them at the house of the Royal Society of Medicine, 1 Wimpole Street. Lord Reading will preside and the American ambassador has promised to be present.

The scheme, of which Dr. Philip Franklin, the aural surgeon, has been the prime mover, is the result of the close contact of United States and British medical men during the war. Already there are about 200 American doctors in this country taking the post-graduate course of the Fellowship of Medicine.

"London is an ideal centre," said an American medical man, "and the hospital will become the head quarters for United States medical students who come to Europe.

"With its lecture rooms, research laboratories, library and reading rooms, the hospital will be the centre from which the post-graduate will be able to make use of the exceptional clinical material offered by London and the Provinces."—London Daily Mail.

SACRIFICE IN GERMANY

Herr Erzberger, in his speech to the National Assembly at Weimar, faces squarely the truly terrible financial situation of Germany. He rejects every suggestion of repudiating the war loans, since that would mean bankruptcy, and bankruptcy would be followed by the destruction of credit abroad without which Germany cannot carry on. The income of the Empire has to be increased by 900 per cent; that of the individual States by 100 per cent. Herr Erzberger insists that the reguar Budget system must be at once reestablished, and he proposes to raise the necessary revenues by big levies, which include the taking of all the war profits. "It is the duty of propertied people," he says, "not only to bow to state compulsion, but to achieve the inward conviction of the necessity of giving up all riches, all that is superfluous." This is hard doctrine for the man of great possessions, but if it is actually followed it will again make Germany a formidable force in the commercial and industrial world.—Westminster Gazette.

NOT TO BE TOLERATED

The railroad workers have a right to living wages; they have no right to say that the country shall or shall not have government ownership of railroads, and to threaten a nationwide paralysis of transportation, industry and business if their views are not accepted. And the American people, after overthrowing the tyranny of the Hohenzollerns, will not submit to class tyranny at home, whether the tyrants be domineering capitalists or domineering minorities of any other description.—Baltimore Sun.

DR. VIGNEUX DROWNED

Nelson News: After gallantly rescuing little Miss Elsie Turner, aged nine, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Turner, at the Connaught park bathing beach yesterday afternoon, Dr. W. J. Vigneux, the local physician, met death by drowning.

It appears that little Miss Turner, who was a fair swimmer, had suddenly lost confidence when she was at a point out of her depth, and Dr. Vigneux rushed to her rescue. He seized her and held her in his grasp until assistance reached him, when he handed her over to another. While the eyes of the crowd which had gathered were centered on the rescued girl, Dr. Vigneux, who was unable to swim, had got beyond his own depth and, since, when he handed over the little girl he appeared to be safe, his cries for help were for the time being unheeded. Suddenly it was noticed he had disappeared from sight and efforts which were made to find him in the water failed.

Mrs. W. J. Williams, who was in the vicinity, immediately ran for a boat and little Miss Mason ran to the C.P.R. shipyards nearby for assistance. The men at the shipyards immediately procured grappling hooks which are kept there and with the assistance of a couple of boats commenced dragging operations. They soon located Dr. Vigneux's body.

Dr. A. V. Jones, who was at the scene of the accident, immediately commenced efforts to restore life by means of artificial respiration and was soon joined in her efforts by Dr. A. H. Wallace, Chief of Police T. H. Long of the city police force, Constable Harvey McLaren of the provincial force, Dr. L. E. Borden, Dr. D. B. Lazier and others, who worked in relays in an heroic effort to restore breathing. The body was in the water for a period of from 30 to 35 minutes, it is stated, and efforts at resuscitation were continued for fully an hour and 15 minutes without result.

Dr. Vigneux had left his office in the afternoon to spend a portion of the day with Mrs. Vigneux and a party of friends who had planned an afternoon of bathing at Connaught Park beach. Included in the party were Mrs. Vigneux, Mrs. J. Sturgeon, Miss Nicholson, matron of the hospital at Ymir, Master J. Vigneux and Master Raymond Wood of Winlaw.

Investigations made by the police in the vicinity of the scene of the drowning show that Dr. Vigneux met his death in approximately six feet of water and at about a distance of 90 feet from shore.

The late Dr. Vigneux, who was 41 years of age, was born near Windsor, Essex county, Ontario, and his youth was spent in the east. He entered the drug business there and before coming west about 19 years ago, graduated from the Ontario College of Pharmacy. Upon coming west he located for a time in Cranbrook, afterwards coming to Nelson, and here he was connected with the Poole Drug company for some considerable time. He had made Nelson his home for in the neighborhood of 16 years. He was a nephew of the Hon. Dr. Reaume, for many years minister of public works in Ontario.

Upon severing his connection with the Poole Drug company Dr. Vigneux took up the study of medicine, entering McGill university, Montreal. He received his M.D. degree from that university in 1911 and the same year married Miss Annie Sturgeon of Nelson, daughter of the late J. Sturgeon and Mrs. Sturgeon. He entered practice in Nelson with Dr. L. E. Borden, with whom he practiced until 1914, when, shortly after the outbreak of war, he volunteered for overseas service as a medical officer in the Imperial forces, with which he attained the rank of captain. He served with the Royal Army Medical corps in England and France, and was in the field with that unit during many of the earlier severe engagements.

Dr. Vigneux was overseas a period of eighteen months, after which he returned to British Columbia, remaining in the Canadian Army Medical corps for some time, where it was found his overseas experience was of great value. He was instructor in first aid in the military camp at Vernon during one summer, and afterwards served in a similar capacity at the Willows camp, Victoria, later proceeding for duty at the internment camp at Fernie.

Last year Dr. Vigneux returned east, remaining there for some time while he took a post graduate course in Montreal and in Bellevue hospital, New York. On returning to the city he took up his practice with Drs. Rose and Hartin, with whom he was identified at the time of his death.

He was past grand chief of the local lodge of the Knights of Columbus, and besides Mrs. Vigneux, is survived by one son, Joseph, aged seven years.

WILL GRANBY SMELTER OPEN?

(Grand Forks Gazette)

That is a question which has become somewhat of a live topic locally since the announcment that labor troubles at Fernie have been settled and that the production of coke will soon resume.

Granby closed down in June because of the lack of coke occasioned by labor trouble in the Crow's Nest Pass. At the time of the closure the price of copper was so low that profits were not particularly encouraging and Granby's ore supply at Phoenix—on a basis of existing metal prices at least—was considered limited at best, too limited it was thought to warrant resumption at prices obtaining, so a decision was reachd to close down permanently.

It developed, however, that some of the highest-grade ore in the Phoenix mine has never been shipped, quite a considerable tonnage in fact, and it is no secret that the ore smelted during the last month of operations produced more copper than any similar quantity of ore that has come from Phoenix. Since the closedown Granby officials at Phoenix and Grand Forks have been working on several schemes for the handling of at least some 500,000 tons of good grade ore from the Phoenix property. Shipment to Trail smelter, even shipment to Anyox and the installing of a concentrator at the mine are all plans which are said to have been considered. The milling of the ore at Phoenix and shipping the concentrates to Anyox is a plan which may be yet adopted; it is at least being given serious consideration, though lack of water may be a handicap.

In any event there are about 50,000 tons of ore that Granby would like to ship before quitting the property. Since their closedown conditions have greatly altered. Copper has jumped from 16c to 24c with every indication that it will go considerably higher in the next few months and there is no doubt that there is quite a large tonnage in the Phoenix mine that can be smelted with a substantial margin at present prices. It is true that forces both at the smelter and mines have become widely separated but there is no doubt that a sufficient number to keep two furnaces operating can be easily recruited on short notice.

There have been repeated statements about the mines and smelter dismantling but this dismantling bug has done little damage. While certain dismantling has been done both at the mines and smelter nothing has been done that would interfere with operations on a limited scale being started almost on a day's notice. In fact everything necessary has been left at the mine to "carry on" as before when conditions righted themselves.

So that with an assurance of a coke supply within the next few weeks the resumption of operations at Granby smelter and mines is not an improbability, though no information to substantiate such a statment is available from local officials.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of Private Peter Green, 13th Canadian Field Ambulance, killed in action, September 2nd, 1918.

Short and sudden was the call
Of one so dearly loved by all;
His happy smile and welcome face.
No one can ever take his place.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Word was received in camp that Billy Branch, an old timer of this burg, had been drowned whilst following his occupation as a fisherman. Billy was well known as one of our local nimrods and volunteered in the second contingent to leave Fernie.

Our old friend, Jimmy Brennan, could not resist the call of the mountains and has returned back to camp from Vancouver.

Mrs. Young has left camp on a visit to relatives in the States.

Mrs. Tom Michell, who has been spending a few weeks' holidays here, has returned to her home in Nanaimo.

Sgt. W. Wheeler returned to camp on Wednesday from overseas accampanied by his wife and son.

The board of management of the Club have arranged a series of tournaments for the members, commencing on Friday. Our champions are all to the fore.

A grand concert and dance will be held in the Club hall on Monday evening. The Fernie Veterans Concert Party are supplying the concert. Admission, members and their families, free; non-members 50c. All ladies free. Curtain rises at 7.30 p.m. sharp. Dancing immediately after the concert.

The successful candidates in the recent First Aid examinations will be able to get their certificates on Monday.

Notice To Returned Soldiers

Dr. Garner, of Fernie, has been appointed by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment as Medical Representative, whose duties are to attend all Returned Men who require Medical attention. This attention being given free to men who may be taken ill any time within one year of discharge, whether the cause be from War service or not, and to men who are suffering a recurrence of disability caused by War service at any time. LIMITING PRODUCTION

What is certain is that unless we can maintain and increase our production of coal, our own industries and our export trade must decay. If that decay comes it will be of no value to the miner to secure a larger and still larger money wage, for with every advance prices will rise against him. The worth of money is what it will buy, and unless the worker produces his wages will buy nothing. The way to an improvement of social conditions lies through an increase of production. Artificial limitation is deliberate suicide.—London Daily Telegraph.

INTERNATIONAL AND McGILLIVRAY WORKING

Coleman, Sept. 2.—On Friday night for the first time in over three months Coleman's electric lights blazed forth in all their glory, brining an end to the strike which has lasted since May 24, and spelling the end of the O.B.U. in this vicinity. During the afternoon International Board Member Leavitt completed the organization of the Unions of both the International and McGillivray coal miners, and the men are once more members of the U.M.W. of A. It is expected that both mines will begin shipping coal early in the week and will in the near future return to their normal output.

CAMERA CRAZE REVIVED

London—The camera craze among amateur photographers has been revived since the armistice, and records show that more than 90,000,000 cameras, mostly of the cheaper variey, have been sold since November 11, last. Chemists are working night and day in an effort to develop films and print pictures with which they are being swamped. During the war there were rigid restrictions on the use of the camera.

WALDO VS. WYCLIFFE

Waldo took Wycliffe's measure here on Monday in the now much famed $1000 a side baseball game to the tune of 7 to 2. The game itself was one of the best exhibitions for baseball fans that has been pulled off in this city in years and although the score appears somewhat unequal with the exception of the fateful fifth innings all the others were airtight baseball. The game had created such widespread interest that visitors from the south country and the west flocked in here in scores and when the game was called fully one thousand fans were on the side lines.

Sad Slim Smith hurled for the Wycliffe boys, while Gibson was Nick Williams' choice for the Waldo team, and while Gibson got much the better in the breaks of the game, he received better support from his team mates than did Smith. In the second innings Waldo put over the first run but Wycliffe promptly tied this in their half. No runs were scored in the third and fourth but in the fifth, with two men down, Smith walked Powers, Gibson scratched a hit, then Hamilton made a two bagger, scoring Gibson and Powers. A couple of costly errors gave Waldo two more runs and from then on the game was never in doubt. Wycliffe desperately endeavored to rally in the eighth and scored one run. They also had the bases full but Burr in going from second to third interfered with Shortstop Hamilton and was called out. With this all Wycliffe's hopes vanished. Waldo came back with another run in the eighth and added another in the ninth.

There was considerable betting on the match and while the Waldo supporters were handsomely rewarded in the commencement of the game, there apparently was a large amount of Wycliffe money that was not taken.

By Innings

First Innings—Waldo — Smith's first offering to Powers was a ball; then followed two more balls. Strike one; strike two; Powers out, Rockstrom to Walters. Hood up; Smith gave a ball then slipped over a strike. Altman fouled for strike two. Ball two. Hood fanned.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

First Innings — Wycliffe—Carden up. Gibson shot over a high one for a ball; Carden swung heavily at the second for strike one. Strike two. Carden fanned. Dutch Altman up; Gibson grooved the first, strike one. Foul, strike two. Altman fouled out to Hood. Pace, out Berg to Nelson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Second Innings — Waldo—Juney up; Juney was safe at first on error by Dutch Altman. Williams, ball one. Smith failed to catch Juney napping at first; he tried agin and failed. Foul, strike one. Ball two on Williams; ball three; Smith tried to catch Juney again at second. Williams singled between third and short. Juney went to second. Nelson sacrificed, bunt, Juney and Williams advancing a base each. Berg up; strike one; Berg safe at first on error by Walters. Juney scored and Williams went to third on the play. Wiggins up; ball one; ball two. Wiggins out on fly to J. Altman. Gibson up; strike one; Berg stole second. Ball one; Gibson out, Rockstrom to Walters.—One run, one hit, one error.

Second Innings — Wycliffe—Walters up; ball one. Walters hit to left field for two bases. J. Altman. Strike one; ball one; strike two. Altman singled over shortstop, Walters going to third. Burr; ball one; ball two. Berg singed and was safe at first on very cose play; Altman made second but Walters was held at third. Rockstrom singled and Walters scored, tieing the tally. J. Altman out at plate, Burr advancing to second. Hatch up; ball one. Hatch singled. Hamilton, shortstop for Waldo, complained of Burr interfering with him in his attempt to field Hatch's hit and base umpire declarel Burr out. Smith up. Strike one; ball one. Smith out Berg to Nelson.—One run, five hits, no errors.

G. N. AGENTS VISIT FERNIE

The Great Northern Agents of the Kalispell Division came in on Sunday for their annual meeting, and the following gentlemen registered at the Fernie hotel: W. H. Cummings, Belton; W. B. Hogle, Whitefish; F. A. Grace, Glacier Park; C. S. Bennett, Somers; F. T. Holmes, Kalispel; A. L. McCombes, Somers; E. Boyes, Libby; J. R. Rice, Eureka; A. McPhee, Browning; H. Mastill, Great Falls; P. Bernard, Kalispel; W. E. Stevens, Troy; H. E. Bassford, Salem; H. G. Decker, Whitefish; H. H. Maher, Whitefish; K. L. Stewart, Kalispel; A. Thompson, Eureka; A. L. Vining, Whitefish; A. Strom, Whitefish; J. A. Minchler, Whitefish; J. M. Montgomery, Kalispel; C. N. Short, Kalispel; B. Saling, Kalispel.

In the afternoon they held their annual meeting at the Fernie Club, after which they visited the mines at Coal Creek.

AN APPEAL FOR FUNDS

The last issue of this paper contained a report of the meeting of the Fernie Committee for National Reconstruction held on the 26th of August, when it was decided to purchase the Napanee hotel as a temporary home for Returned Men, the price to be $15,000. The proceeds of the Peace Day Celebration amounting to approximately $1500 and the Labor Day Baseball Tournament from which $350 was realized, and for which we are indebted to Waldo for their efforts in arranging to have the game here, will be applied on account of the first payment of $3000. To help towards making up this deficiency A. B .Trites has subscribed a cash donation of $500. This is the first subscription which has been received on account of this worthy object and it is sincerely hoped that other citizens in the town will fall in line and forward their subscriptions to A. Klauer, who is treasurer of the Fund.

It is absolutely essential that the balance of this $3000 be raised at once and it is confidently hoped that it will come in without personal solicitations being made, it not being considered advisable to make a general canvas at the present time. Subscriptions can be extended over a period of six months or a year on a basis of monthly payments.

The next payment of $2000 will be due at the 31st of December next, and if all the different societies in the town and citizens in general will take hold and assist in every way possible there should be no difficulty experienced in raising this amount.

It is believed that in view of the purpose for which the money is to be used, that everybody will not only consider it a privilege and a duty, but also a pleasure to endeavor to bring about the desired result and co-operate with the Reconstruction Committee in every way possible.

FERNIE GOT THIRD PLACE

The Fernie Mine Rescue Team which went to Nanaimo to compete in the big contests there, secured third place. This is a splendid showing for the local boys as teams from all over the western country on both sides of the line competed.

The following shows the percentages of some of the teams which attained the highest marks:

Pacific Coast Coal Mines Co. (American)	95
Roslyn Team (American)	93 1-5
Fernie, B.C.	92 4-5
Nanaimo (Parkinson's)	90
Nanaimo (Brown's)	85 2-5
Nanaimo (Laird's)	85
Cumberland	79
Ladysmith	71 3-5
Cassidy	71 1-5

NEW ELEMENTS IN COMING CONVENTION

In connection with the forthcoming province-wide convention of the Conservative party, to be held at Vancouver on Sept. 29 and 30, it is particularly urged that every district send its full quota of delegates, each riding being entitled to ten. In view of the women now having the franchise, and in view of the prominence of the returned men in the virile citizenship of this province, it is expected that the convention will contain these two elements in great strength.

"The past five years have brought forward many new ideas. What would have been considered radicalism five years ago is now conservatism. There will be no strings to this convention. We must advance. There will be ample room for every shade of opinion, and all will be welcomed. In every part of the province new men will be found not formerly associated with the Conservative party, but ready to unite upon a forward policy on new and progressive lines in keeping with the conditions that now exist. Let us enlist their co-operation in the work before us, and give them a share in the honors and in the responsibilities to be undertaken.

"The electors are disgusted with the present British Columbia Liberal government, and ready to supercede them. Let us show that the Conservative party is broad, able and fit for the task."

I.O.D.E.

Several weeks ago the I.O.D.E. appealed for cash donations to give the patients at the Frank Sanatorium motor drives. It takes $2 to give each man a drive. At present there are sixty cases at the Sanatorium. Acknowledged to date $79.25. — Mrs. Corrie 50c, Mrs. Beck $1, Mrs. Dicken 50c, Miss McKinnon $2, Mrs. Batzold $1, Mrs. Pickering $2, Mrs. Wilkes $1.

Any further contribution will be gratefully received, and please send such to Mrs. S. Graham, Treasurer I.O.D.E.

Mrs. Irvine's report re flowers for Frank Sanatorium: Two boxes of flowers have been sent to Frank since our last report and we wish to thank the following ladies, who have kindly donated flowers for these boxes: Mrs. Klauer, Mrs. Moffatt, Mrs. Prentice, Mrs. Dudley, Mrs. Corbett, Mrs. Suddaby, Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Irvine, Mrs. Spence, Mrs. Crossman.

LAST POST FOR CAPT. WHIMSTER

"The Last Post" was sounded this afternoon over the grave of Capt. Peter Whimster, after the remains of a man who was well known to all Portagers, and who was a veteran of the Rebellion of'85 and the South African campaign had been lowered into the ground. Surrounding the grave were the members of the Masonic Lodge, Veterans who had served through the campaigns with him and the members of the family, while Premier Norris, and several of those who had been associated with the deceased at the government buildings in Winnipeg were also present.

The funeral service was held in Knox church, and presided over by Rev. P. E. Scott, the church being well filled. At the head and foot of the casket, which was covered with flowers, and on which was placed the sword and cap of the deceased, stood one of the guard of honor. The service was simple, yet impressive, there being no eulogy.

From the church the cortege moved to the cemetery, where the Masons held their service, conducted by the chaplain, Rev. D. T. Parker.

The pall bearers were J. Whimster, M. Whimster, E. Marlatt, K. Whimster, J. Bannerman and D. Stewart, while the Guard of Honor, composed of veterans of the Rebellion and the South African Campaign, consisted of I. W. Thomson, R. Tidsbury, B. D. Alliston, C. J. Sharp, W. Woodean, J. Threadkill, D. E. McDonald, C. E. Ward, R. C. Brown, J. Rose, T. Rushbrook, and I. R. Snider.

The wreath bearers were Senator Watson, C. D. McPherson, M.P.P., W. E. Garland, V. G. O'Brien, and J. A. Woods. Included among the floral tributes was a large wreath bearing the inscription "With Deepest Sympathy from the Government of the Province of Manitoba." Other floral tributes were Mr. and Mrs. H. Ormond, Comrades of the Northwest and South African campaigns, the staff of the office over which the deceased presided, Assiniboine Lodge, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Gilroy, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Marlatt, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. May, Mr. and Mrs. P. Purcell and the Civil Servants Association.

Among those from away were, Premier Norris, J. W. Fleming, clerk of the Legislative Assembly, W. J. May, E. P. Graland, Major Archie Brown, H. Ormond and others.—The Daily Graphic, Portage La Prairie.

Sam Graham was a Stampede visitor last week.

PRESS COMMENT

Would Fit Crime

Sentences to cold storage profiteers might correspond with the terms of imprisonment to which they consign the peoples' food.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

The Tasks of Peace

War is both an acid and a drug. It eats away unrealities and affectations. When prolonged, it leaves hardly a bubble of political rhetoric unpricked, scarcely a principle and very few institutions unquestioned. But war is also a drug and produces the reaction of a drug, from discipline to anarchy, from hard labor to sloth from the plain virtues of industry and application to a fondness for mental and physical adventure. We are suffering from these effects in combination. Mere slackness, as the reaction from excessive toil and nervous strain, would cure itself in time; and the application of the realistic tests of war to the institutions and phrases of our politics would have a bracing and tonic effect. But when the limpness of over-strain is accompanied by dimunition of respect for existing political institutions and principles, and by the tearing up of political landmarks on every side, there is real danger to the fabric of society. These are among the psychological causes of our labor unrest. The spirit of adventure produced by them is running wild amongst things of the mind. Yet the first step towards reconstruction is to learn that the virtues of war and of peace are the same, that the labor of peace is as great as the labor of war, and that there is no conceivable way in which a nation can maintain what it has achieved in war, except by each of its members doing the hardest and the best work of which he is capable. Peace does not abrogate but emphasizes the gospel of work.—London Times.

Kinked Natures

Another indication of the extraordinary kink which has developed in certain people's natures is afforded by the riots at Luton, where an irresponsible crowd, urged on by a few dissatisfied ex-soldiers, "celebrated" peace by burning the Town Hall and causing damage to the extent of £250,000. There is no blinking the fact that the cure for this new epidemic must be a drastic one. Such aimless malice is intolerable, and must, if necessary, be put down by constitutional application of the "might is right" doctrine.—Glasgow Weekly Herald.

The Price of Bolshevism

A nation that tolerates Bolshevism is certain to have civil war. Where its principles are applied there will be resistance, and the more intelligent the country the more certain is the resistance.—New York Tribune.

Their Best Club

Almost every day there comes some new word from Japan that she means to keep her word and relinquish all claims in Shantung. The Senate anti-Leaguers had better bestir themselves and prevent Japan from taking any such action. Shantung is the last club they have found with which to belabor the Peace Treaty, and if deprived of that, where will they lay hands on another? There is no other such tongue-twister and teeth-grinder now available as "Shantung". —St. Louis Courier-Journal.

The Inner Ear

Fortunately, there is an inner ear. Were it not so the world would not know the name Beethoven. The music he composed by means of the mind's ear has never been excelled, if equalled. Shakespeare's miracles of poetic thought sounded their harmonies in his mind before they were committed to words. Imagine how his time might have been squandered by voluble but empty fellow-actors. The time of Shakespeare in literature was most precious. That of Edison in invention is a matter of moment to his generation and to posterity. Edison is surely a philosopher when he welcomes deafness more than half way for the sake of concentration to serve mankind in the years that remain to him.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Learning From France

Now France is confronted with the problem of reforestration. And she is going about the work in the characteristic systematic French manner. When is was a question of a war to be won the French gave their lives and fortunes without question and without repining. Now that the war has been won they are displaying the same spirit in the work of rethere was a forest before the war there is to be a new forest,. The French may be mercurial and effervescent, but when it comes to a matter of the mother-land'swelfare there is no more practical people on the surface of the earth. From French frugality and from French foresight America may well learn a lesson. Not only to repair the damages of war, but also to compensate for the inroads of American industry. America should have an eye to the future. Where forests have disappeared new forests should be planted and reared under the eye of the Government. Conservation is coming to be an accepted gospel, but at present restoration may be even more important than conservation.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Plight of the Brain Worker

As a nation we give no heed to the economic condition of the brain worker. In the current number of The Monthly Labor Review the United States commissioner of labor statistics, Royal Meeker, reports as the result of an exhaustive scientific inquiry that the laborer with three children, in order that all may be "fully nourished" and "properly clothed," must be paid over $1,800 a year. This is perhaps $200 a year more than many a professor in our leading universities spends; yet, if any bureau at Washington considers their plight the fact has not been promulgated. Our official investigators limit their inquiries to asingle class and they blandly publish results that give that class official, and professedly scientific, sanction for its demands. The case of the university teacher seems in a fair way to betterment through the efforts of loyal graduates. But the case of doctors, ministers, and professional and business men generally is utterly neglected.—New York Times.

Economic Lunacy

Our one great advantage in the contest in the world's marketplaces consists in the coal which lies under our feet. We built up a pre-war prosperity on our coal seams, developed by private individuals who knew their business. And so, just when tranquility, steady output, and reasonable cheapness are above all things necessary in order that we may reestablish our foreign trade, a revolution in this country is engineered. If all this is not evidence of economic lunacy, what term should be applied to it? But it may be hoped with some reason that the old-time sturdy common-sense of the workers of this country, exhibited conspicuously in many a former crisis, will at last apply the only remedy to a condition of things which menaces our every interest. For if our foreign trade suffers and our exports of coal and merchandise continue to decrease, our home trade will be injured. Once that process begins, nothing can save us from a rapid descent such as rivals of former days have from various causes experienced. — London Daily Telegraph.

Inward Dissent

Many a man is accused of conceit who is genuinely indignant at the absolute injustice of the charge. It is true that he cannot ever get rid of his reserve, that he cannot ever rejoice with the throng, but that is—so he says to himself—not because of his conceit, but because of his mental candor. He is not altogether in the wrong about himself, but there is a form of mental sincerity which tends to narrow the sympathies. It is a defect noticeable in some of the best people in the world. They have every virtue, but they lack all power of compromise, therefore of combination. Upon all great occasions, days of rejoicing, of national expression, they are conscious of a sense of aloofness. The feeling is allied to shyness. It is, indeed, that greater shyness which comes, like social embarrassment, of a form of self-consciousness. The occasion which their fellows celebrate is not exactly what in their eyes it should have been. They do not refuse to admit that they may be wrong. They are willing to acknowledge their own insignificance, to allow for the disabilities consequent upon an obscure position. On the other hand, they mantain that, such as their convictions are, they will stand by them for what they are worth, and, as they are not in exact accord with the supposed convictions of the crowd, they canot lend countenance to error by cheering together with the multitude. For them all days of outward union are days emphasizing an inward dissent. They cannot "fall in" with their fellows, and they marvel at the power to sink differences which they see around them. To them it savors of instability. What they forget, or cannot realize, is that they and their confessedly insignificant views do not matter. There in no sin, no deceit even, in concealing such a trifle as their heresy on the day of a triumph of faith.—The Spectator.

Greek For Aviators

Every day brings fresh evidence to show how very much alive the dead languages are. This is especially true of Greek, which almost invariably provides the terminology of the newest science. Now we have the dictionary issued by the Royal Aeronautical Society, and it is packed and teeming with terms, which in more than one sense will be Greek to most aviators. Some of these are quite grotesque, such as "adiabetic," which might mean, but doesn't, "a man who is free from diabetes"; some such as "anabatic" and "katabatic" are superfluous, as good English equivalents are available; and altogether they suggest that compulsory Greek will have to be included in the curriculum for young aeronauts.—London Daily Chronicle.

Grand Optimism

There will be laughing at the aged couple who were married in New London recently; James Godbee, 81, and Kathleen Curtiss, 76, both residents of the Masonic home at Wallingford, were united in matrimony, after a courtship that lasted eight years. But there is both the romance of the sunset years of life and a grand optimism in their wedding that win the admiration of the thoughtful. Old age is gloomy, indeed, if it sees before it nothing but the bitter ending of life at the grave. An optimism that believes that life is worth living to the full to the end and sees in that which is yet to come only good is a rare optimism that is not to be laughed at. As Browning puts it:

"Grow old along with me,
The best is yet to be,
The last of life for which the first was made.' '

—Waterbury Republican.

The Bulwark of Empire

The first Sea Lord of the Admiralty gave the assurance yesterday that the Navy could be relied on to the very end. That is a comforting thought in these anxious times, for the Fleet is the bulwark of all our liberties. Drawing its crews from the nation, it stands in some measure apart from the nation. It represents a high standard of patriotic service. Those who are most familiar with the hardships patiently suffered by the men, as well as the officers, during the war, can form the best opinion of the loyalty of the fleet. The cost of living soared up, and munition workers and others presented demands for increased wages; but the Navy went about its task without resentment, content to wait until Peace had been won. It trusted the country.—London Daily Telegraph.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is made from Cream of Tartar derived from grapes, a delicious, healthful fruit, and that is why it produces wholesome food, superior in texture and keeping quality.

GROWTH OF FOREST TREES

Investigations carried out by the forestry officers of the Commission of Conservation show how extremely slow is the growth of our forests. It has been ascertained that a balsam with a diameter of 4 inches has taken on an average 55 years to grow. It would be 70 years old when 8 inches in diameter and 80 years when 10 inches. These measurements were taken breast high.

And the balsam shows rapid growth by comparison with the more valuable spruce, which has but a diameter of 6 inches on attaining its century mark. The 12-inch log of the lumberman is rarely taken from a tree aged less than a couple of centuries. The foregoing measurements apply, however, strictly but to Quebec; in other provinces the growth may be either slower or quicker according to conditions.

Such statistics should cause us to think furiously ere cutting down a tree. The Canadian, like his emblem the beaver, is a tree-felling creature. Instead of invoking a blessing on the man who made two trees grow where there had been but one, he reserves his admiration for the axe that brings the greatest number of tops to the ground during a short winter's day. This was all very well, when men were scarce and trees prodigiously abundant, but men having increased wondrously as mature trees become less numerous, it is high time that we learn to acquire something of the respect in which the European, especially the Frenchman and the German, regards a tree—otherwise our descendants may have to import their timber from those who, while having an inferior stand to start with, yet manage it so well that generation after generation there is a sufficiency for local use, and even a little for export.—Manitoba Free Press.

CIVIL SERVICE RECORD

More than 4800 civil servants volunteered for military service during the war, according to statistics published in the Civilian, giving the civil service war record. It is admitted that the list of names is several hundred short of the actual total. These were exclusively volunteers and the thousand employees of the government railways who went to the front are not included. Nineteen women of the civil service went overseas as nurses. One civil servant became a major-general, several brigadier-generals and many commanded infantry battalions or artillery brigades.

NAMES OF HEROES NOT AVAILABLE

Following up a suggestion made by Frank Giolma, M.P.P., Premier Oliver wrote to the Minister of Militia asking that a list of the men who enlisted in British Columbia for overseas service and those who made the supreme sacrifice be supplied, so that commemorative tablets might be placed in some suitable public place in the province. In his reply, the minister says the task is impossible at present, as such records have not been dealt with by provinces, but by the Dominion as a whole. To assemble the details required, it would be necessary, he states, to conduct an examination of all the records of the C.E.F.

B. C. MINERAL PRODUCTION

The annual report of the Canadian department of mines shows that the gross value of the mineral production of British Columbia was $41,782,474, an increase from that of the year 1917 of $4,772,082, or 12.9 per cent. The gross value of the metallic minerals recovered in 1918 was $27,910,278, which represents an increase from that year of $625,804, a percentage increase of 2.3 per cent. Only once in the history of the province's mineral statistics has this output been exceeded, and that was in 1916, when the year's mineral output amounted to $42,290,462, only 1.2 per cent greater than in 1918; and it must be remembered that 1916 was a phenomenal year, with metal prices temporarily inflated, due to war conditions.

New York—The secret of how Man o' War, the sensational colt from the Glen Riddle Farm, was brought back to form when he was losing weight daily has just been revealed by his trainer.

The colt was watched night and day for a week as it was feared that he might have contracted the "stump sucking" habit. But the fear was not sustained. Then the trainer noted that Man 'o War bolted his oats at every meal. At the suggestion of an old-timer the trainer fed the speedy colt with a bit in its mouth thereby forcing Man o' War to eat more slowly and Fletcherize every mouthful. The colt began to pick up weight in two days and has again rounded into wonderful form.

MARY MILES MINTER

At the Orpheum, Friday and Saturday in "The Intrusion of Isabel"

"The Intrusion of Isabel," the latest Mary Miles Minter feature to be released by the American Film Company, Inc., is booked for a showing at the Orpheum theatre on Friday and Saturday.

It is the love-story of a Southern girl, Isabel Trevor, who goes to New York with her brother, Bert. He secures a position as valet to Jack Craig, a young broker, but yields one night to the temptation of appropriating a roll of bills. Haunted by fear, he flees from the city.

Isabel has been told that Bert is the broker's partner, not his valet; so when her funds give out, she just naturally solves the problem of roof and eats by taking up her abode—uninvited—in "Bert's half" of Craig's house. She tells Craig to charge her expenses and Mammy's against Bert's dividends. The complications that follow this intrusion furnish 5 reels of diverting comedy and delightful romance.

Supporting Miss Minter in the cast are Alan Forrest, as the handsomest young broker; J. Parks Jones, the brother; Margaret Shelby, the "other woman" in Craig's life; Carl Stockdale, her unscrupulous husband; George Periolat, an astute district attorney; Mary Land, his wife; and Lucretia Harris, a really-truly "culled" lady who furnishes excellent comedy as Isabel's "mammy." Lloyd Ingraham is the director.

This is one of the most charming pictures in which Miss Minter has appeared for a long time. It is bound to please her immense circle of admirers and add thousands of new names to the list of "Minter fans."

SERIOUS SHORTAGE OF ANTHRACITE COAL

A survey of the coal situation by the Commission of Conservation proves that a coal shortage next winter, and possibly next autumn, is almost a certainty.

Up to June 7th of the present year the total production of anthracite was only 33,349,500 net tons, as compared with 42,858,000 tons in the corresponding period of 1918, a decrease of 9,500,000 tons or 22 per cent. It is a fair assumption that the production during 1919 will be less than 80,000,000 tons, whereas the production in 1918 was 99,514,334 tons. If this prediction be verified there will be a shortage of 20,000,000 tons, or 20 per cent. While the production is falling off, retail dealers in the United States continue to be deluged with orders from customers, who are insistent upon prompt deliveries.

The shortage is due to a number of causes, not the least of which is the migration of tens of thousands of Jugo-Slavs, Czecho-Slavs, Hungarians, Poles and other Europeans who are returning to Europe.

In addition, if there is such a serious shortage, we may confidently expect much higher prices for anthracite. Therefore, the Commission of Conservation advises consumers to purchase their winter supply of hard coal at the earliest possible date.

During July, the Commission circularized the towns and villages of Ontario and Quebec, inquiring as to the supplies of anthracite and prospects for the coming winter. The returns generally show very limited quantities on hand, while the prospects for a winter coal supply are decidedly pessimistic.

THE DOUKHOBOR TRAGEDY IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

The contempt with which Doukhobors in this valley hold the educational laws of British Columbia would be a joke if it were not for the tragedy being enacted with the knowledge of those in authority at Victoria.

In Manitoba the Mennonites gave their children education, but even that was not enough; they must now attend regular schools and conform to the educational laws in every particular. In British Columbia thousands of Doukhobor children are kept like so many brutes, without any privilege of schools but no action comes from the government.

It is a tragedy that in this enlightened age and supposed enlightened country that thousands of children should be deprived of the privilege of education, that their God-given brain be refused the slightest opportunity for development, that such children should be held in comparative slavery and their labor exploited—all apparently because of the financial resourcefulness of one Peter Verigin. It is tragedy that Premier Oliver and Minister of Education McLean cannot divorce themselves from being personally responsible for its continuance. They have at their command machinery that would very quickly and effectively cut the bands with which these children are tied to ignorance and slavery.

While their refusal to observe the school laws of the province is only one phase of the undesirability of the Doukhobors as citizens, effective measures taken in school matters would have a far-reaching effect in acquainting the Doukhobor that it is the government and not Peter Verigin which is in authority in the Grand Forks district.—Grand Forks Gazette.

MYSTERY OF COAL BEDS

London—Whence did we get our greatest national treasure? No one can say with certainty, says Tit-Bits. The origin of the coal deposits still baffles science. Some men after years of investigation, say that bitumen flowed out of the earth into lake bottoms and estuaries, and there, in the course of ages, was gradually changed into coal.

Others believe it to be of animal origin, like the great guano and nitrate beds. But a majority of scientists believe that coal resulted from a great accumulation of vegetable matter. At one end of the various kinds of coal fuels we have peat and lignites, and in these the vegetable remains are clearly visible. But at the other end is anthracite, in which no trace of vegetable structure can be seen.

In all the main types of coal there is some evidenve of vegetable origin, excepting anthracite. But one great problem that cannot be solved is, how did this vast accumulation of vegetable matter take place? It seems incredible that sufficient could be gathered together to form the thick seams of coal so common in England and Wales. The question remains a mystery of nature.

Visit of a British Prince

The coming of the Prince of Wales to this continent will remind men of years and memories of the visit of his grandfather, King Edward VII. Yet between the two occasions contrast are as notable as resemblances. Crown Prince Edward, "Baron Renfrew," came as a shy boy of 18 in 1860, on the eve of the Civil War, in course of which the ruling classes of England pushed so far its favor to the Confederacy, never shared by the plain people, that our diplomats had to mention the possibility of war in certain contingencies. The gravest dispute, arising over British-built commerce-destroyers for the South, was not settled until the Alabama award of 1873. Seven years older than his grandfather at the time of his visit, an officer who has seen service in the greatest of wars, the young Crown Prince of today comes as a veteran to a nation which went to the aid of Europe against a common foe and in common sacrifices for a common cause has given Great Britain new pledges of friendship. The Royal visitor of 1860 so impressed the public of the United States that, in spite of the untoward controversies that followed, his brief stay was for years commonly and familiarly referred to by millions who had never seen him. It can hardly be said that the welcome of a comrade in arms, an envoy in friendship of a nation closely associated in world aims as in language and history, will be less warm even if it is less spectacular.—New York World.

A Complex Question

The cost of production of all the commodities can never be shown by the cost of the largest concerns. Under the stimulus of the high prices multitudes of firms engaged in production which could not hope to live by selling at normal prices, and of these some have lost money and are clamoring to be reimbursed for those losses claimed to have been incurred by patriotic yielding to Government urging. Real costs can be discovered only by investigating every producer. As to the cost of foodstuffs, that is impossible. It depends on the soil, the season and the labor cost, which varies with each farm. The farmers having the best soil and the most favorable season have doubtless made money at a great rate. Some farms which never before came anywhere near paying interest on investment have shown real profits. The whole matter is so complicated as to be beyond the power of the human mind. One particularly elusive factor is the steady increase of credit inflation. Raw materials are accumulated at one stage and the product sold at an advanced stage of inflation. If let alone costs and prices would adjust themselves to a normal basis, as they always have. The factors of organization on a great scale to raise wages and official attacks on rich men as such are new, and there are no data for predicting the result. It may be riots, which help none and injure all.—San Francisco Chronicle.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by adding the juice of two fresh lemons to a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no least pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Everyone knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is an ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Powers; strike one; Powers singled to left, Berg scoring. Hatch muffed it and Gibson and Powers each moved up a base. Hamilton sent a hot one to Pace who caught him at first. — One run, three hits, two errors.

Eighth Innings — Wycliffe—Dutch Altman up; ball one; strike one; strike two. Foul tip off Dutch's bat passed Williams and struck Kastner, temporarily winding him. Ball two. Altman out, Juney to Nelson. Pace up; ball one; Pace shot a real hard one to Hamilton who fielded it beautifully but threw wild to first and Pace made second. Walters, strike one. Walters got first on error by Juney. J. Altman up; strike one. Altman out, fly to Hamilton. Burr up; he hit the first one to Berg, who fielded it but threw wild to first and Pace scored. Walters also crossed the plate on the wild throw but was ordered back to third as ground rules only permitted one base on passed ball. Burr made second on the play. Rockstrom; strike one; foul, strike two; ball one. Rockstrom out, Berg to Nelson.—One run, no hits, three errors.

Ninth Innings — Waldo—Hood up; he shot a hot one through Rockstrom and made second on the error. Juney; ball one; Juney out to Smith unassisted but Hood advanced to third. Williams up; strike one; strike two. Kastner got another foul tip, this on the shin. Williams out on foul to Rockstrom. Nelson up; ball one. Smith made a bad throw which Hatch smothered and prevented Hood coming in from third. Nelson singled and Hood scored. Berg up; he hit the first pitch for a clean single and Nelson went to second. Wiggins; ball one; Wiggins out on fly to Burr.— One run, two hits, one error.

Ninth Innings — Wycliffe—Hatch up; strike one; ball one; ball two; strike two. Hatch out Williams to Nelson. Derr batted for Smith. Derr fouled out to Nelson. Carden lined the first pitched ball down the first base line and Nelson made a wonderful stop and beat Carden to the bag for the third out.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Miss Marjorie Carmichael left this morning for the coast.

The price of coal for local delivery has advanced 10c per ton.

Snow fell last night in the mountains to a considerable depth. This is the first of the season.

The postponed meeting of the Fer-Branch of the Navy League will be held in the council chamber on Wednesday, Sept. 10, at 8 p.m.

The Rev. Wm. Dewar, of Spokane, will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday evening at 7.30 p.m. Mr. Dewar is a fluent speaker. Come and hear him.

The sugar supply in Fernie has become very limited during the past week and merchants are requesting their customers to purchase in small quantities.

D. O. Bricker, the Hosmer dairy rancher, has purchased the Canadian Dairy from Roux Bros. He will instal milking machines and a complete bottle system.

The tourist trade through Fernie is keeping the local commercial hotels busy these days. There are from twenty to forty cars passing through Fernie every day.

Jas. Falconer, who has been holidaying at the coast for a month, returned home on Saturday. Jim says that the Pit Meadows oil proposition never looked finer.

Bob Nolan, of the Rainbow Lumber Co., who has been over taking the waters at Halcyon Hot Springs, arrived in town last evening. Bob seems to have recovered.

Chief McDougall says that some sneak thief has been robbing his potato garden regularly. He intimates that it will not be healthy for said thief if he can get a line on him.

We wonder if our local provincial member is doing anything to get free freight rates for hay for the small ranchers in this district. With hay $44 a ton they need all the help they can get.

Jimmy Johnston and Bob Duthie, the two new heavyweight golfers, played a match game for big steak the other day. Bob made it in 65 and Jimmy in 81. These scores were both on the level.

Geo. Hoggarth and A. B. Macdonald were two of the main boosters for the Cranbrook and Wycliffe ball teams at the games on Monday. It is said they both had to borrow money to get home on.

The Ladies of the Catholic church are holding a Whist Drive and Dance Tuesday, Sept. 9th, at the Parish hall. A special prize will be given and refreshments served. Ladies 25 cents. Gentlemen 50 cents.

Fernie Mine Rescue Team, which went to Nanaimo the other day to take part in the big competition there got third money. The first and second prizes were carried off by American teams. The boys are expected home tomorrow.

Did you ever notice that almost every other customer who goes into a store picks up and handles the fruit on display. If they would only remember that someone has to eat that fruit they might be a little more careful about handling it.

Trail football team, the champions of West Kootenay, will visit Fernie on Sunday, Sept. 14, and play the local team. The local club are giving a dance on Tuesday, Sept. 9, to help defray expenses. Buy a ticket and help the sport along.

His Honor Judge Thompson has returned to Cranbrook after spending a month in Toronto. The first court of the fall term will open here on Tuesday, when there are some criminal cases, liquor appeals and a long list of civil cases to be heard.

B. B. Mills returned this week from an extended trip through the east, he having been the delegate from this district to the provincial liberal convention. He reported having a very pleasant time, but says that after having lived in the west the east holds no attraction for him as a place of residence. Mrs. Mills and the children will reamin east for some time.—Trail News.

Dr. John Nay had the reputation of being a crack fisherman before coming to Trail, but during the three years he has lived here he has never cast a line into the water until last Wednesday, when some friends persuaded him to try his luck. He proved that he had not entirely lost his skill by bringing home five fine fish, the largest one weighing 2 1-4 lbs. dressed. Some class to that, Doctor. Shake!—Trail News.

Trail News: Since Trail has started out to acquire a park, it develops that Toronto is spending $50,000 for an athletic stadium; Victoria is building civic golf links, while nearly all the municipalities have their municpal tennis courts and different kinds of playgrounds. Coming closer to home Kamloops has just finished a fine swimming pool and the press of that thriving city speak in glowing terms of the pleasure and comfort derived from its use. Sydney has just completed a public swimming pool. Nearly every city in Great Britain has its public swimming pool." — Fernie should get on the band wagon.

Messrs. Ramsey and Livado, representing the International United Mine Workers, have been in the city some days endeavoring to get Gladstone Local Union matters straightened out and the U. M. W. of A. reestablished here on a sound basis. The official auditors for the International are also here going over the books of the District Ledger preparatory to assuming full control of all matters pertaining to District 18. These gentlemen report that while their work is only in the initial stage they are quite well satisfied with the progress attained and that in due course of time union matters throughout District 18 will be restored upon a satisfactory basis for the men and the organization.

HILLCREST MAN HAS BEEN DEPORTED

Vancouver, Sept. 4.—Canada, controlled by a Soviet of foreigners, principally Russians, was the dream of Paul Semanoff, of Hillcrest, Alta., who was ordered deported yesterday by the immigration board. Semanoff is a clever and well-read man, who came to Canada in 1913, and went to Hillcrest to work in the mines. He is believed to be the leader of the Russian Workers' Union for Hillcrest, Blairmore and Coleman and was said by the R.N.W.M.P. operatives to have been very active in agitating among the foreigners in these camps.

According to the evidence of the prosecution, Semanoff knew in January that a big strike would take place in Canada. He told a meeting of the steps that would lead to the realizations of the aims of himself and his followers. The strike would come, the miners would go out. Coal production having stopped, this would result in the closing down of all industries from coast to coast. The government would be overthrown and Soviet government would take its place. "After the strike," Semanoff is reported as having declared, "we can easily overthrow the Canadian government and form a Soviet, the same as the Russians have done." Then, the agent continued, the men at the meeting rose and sang their doxology, "Stand Up, Workers and Fight the Capitalists and Oppressors."

WILL NOT SUPPORT STRIKE

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, made the following statement today:

"The executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada has already interceded in an effort to secure the fixing of bail for the strikers incarcerated in Winnipeg. The minister of justice, speaking for the cabinet, has replied that the government declines to interfere with the decision of the judge who heard the evidence, asserting that he is the only one who can grant bail.

"This congress is opposed to strikes for political purposes, and also to the European syndicalist or O.B.U. idea of a general national strike or as it is explained in press dispatches — a stoppage of work — which, under these circumstances, is the same thing.

"The congress, being a legislative body, has no power to authorize a strike, has never recommended one, and will not do so in this case."

PROHIBITION MEASURE WILL BE INTRODUCED

Ottawa, Sept. 4.—The attitude of the government in regard to prohibition, it is authoritatively stated, has not yet been definitely determined, although it is regarded as probable that a measure will be brought down.

The rejection of the government's bill by the senate last session has left the war time order-in-council in force, but the order-in-council will expire on the proclamation of peace.

CLOCK OF GROWING PLANTS THAT TELLS THE TIME

Paris—A clock composed entirely of growing plants and flowers has been made by a botanist. The dial of the clock is simply a large circular flower bed with twelve divisions, one for each hour of daylight. In each division a certain plant is growing, and so precisely has the selection of suitable plants been made that it is possible to tell the time of day by the opening of any one flower. The plants are arranged in the following order: Rose, heliotrope, water lily, hyacinth, convolvalus, geranium, migonette, carnation, cactus, lilac, pansy and violet.

DEARER WOMEN CLOTHES

London—"Women's clothing is already dear," said John Lawrie, managing director of Whiteley's, "and dearer coal will make it dearer. Many manufacturers may have to close down as the public will have less money to spend. The country is too much intent on holidays and enjoyment and too little on work, and cannot be happy or prosperous until it settles down to hard work again."

REAL GOLF BUGS

New York—Golf bugs, resembling the beetle in appearance, are being used on a number of links in the East. The bugs are turned loose by the groundkeepers on the edge of the putting greens. They burrow underneath the sod without making the greens rough and kill the worms, which are the bane of the existence of golfers.

FOOL 'EM BALL

New York—Hi Jasper, the Indian twirler, has a new one. Hi says that before pitching he purchases a goodly supply of slippery elm. Just before he goes into the box he "loads up" and gives the ball a liberal application. He has dubbed the result the "fool 'em ball."

30 Days For Two Apples

Bristol, England — James Redman, a dock laborer, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment at hard labor for pilfering two apples on the dock where he was working.

WAR MEMORIAL REFUSED

London—The township of Stibbington, near Peterborough, has declined an offer of a handsome memorial monument, offered by Sir Bachs Cunard, because its erection near the homes of bereaved relatives would continually remind them of their loss.

RIVER NAVIGATION SCHEME PROPOSED

Medicine Hat, Sept. 4.—What is probably the first big river navigation scheme for western Canada since the early days when boats plied the Saskatchewan is being planned here by a local syndicate headed by J. B. Swan, a local coal operator.

Mr. Swan is opening a large coal mine just west of Medicine Hat on the Saskatchewan river and proposes to take his coal down the river by boats to many Saskatchewan points. He will go as far as Saskatoon in his river navigation scheme and probably further along the great waterway.

Over in Britain a fight over the navy promises to develop in the near future. Advocates of the little navy argue that with Germany out of the game there can be no excuse for continuation of an extensive campaign of warship construction. The other side hasn't much argument with which to combat this suggestion, but is standing on the deep-rooted conviction of the race that the big navy is absolutely necessary for the island kingdom if it would hold its premier position among the nations of the world and assure its own economic existence for the future. It promises to be a merry war of words.—Calgary Herald.

The Canadian Federation of Labor proposes a campaign for a 44-hour week for all workers. It is a question if such a campaign would be wise. In some occupations a 44-hour week would not give the workers a fair chance at maximum efficiency; in others probably a less number of hours would be necessary to bring that result. It all depends on the occupation and a hard and fast rule applying to all would not work well. Better to have a reasonable maximum set beyond which it would be illegal for anyone to go.—Calgary Herald.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Some of the best people in the Roosville Valley and the Flagstone district are trying to sell out on account of the bad roads in that section. Hundreds of tourists from the prairie provinces and the United States are prevented from visiting that picturesque valley flowing with milk, honey and big red apples for the same reason—bad roads. It's cutting both ways and we can't afford it. Jim Thistlebeak says: No people are wholly civilized where a distinction is drawn between stealing a public office and stealing a purse. No truly honest man will be satisfied with an office to which his title is not as valid as that to the homestead which shelters his family, and to him, knowingly holding an office obtained by fraud or false pretences, every resident in this whole section will remember the treatment they have received from the present government.

The land is full of trouble; we have labor strikes galore,
Our coal and bread and beef and fish and autos are all to cost us more.
Our trade is going to the dogs, I wonder how 'twill end.
We're booked for sure destruction, if John Oilver does not mend.

Miss Jennie Nichols, of Creston, passed through Elko on her way to Roosville and will take charge of the school at that point. Miss Walker, of Nelson, also went south to take charge of the McGuire school in the Roosville valley. Miss Anderson, who has charge of Elko's rural temple of learning, returned from Seattle, where she was visiting her sister.

Calgary papers say that Banff hotels are filled to the last shake down. It must be getting as popular as Elko. Visitors are sure coming to Elko like coons to a cakewalk and hanging on like a sick nigger to a Methodist church. This advertising is great stuff if you know how to mix the salad dressing and spread the mustard. The editor of this great family paper is right there with the advertising matter that takes the biscuits.

Mrs. Fred Roo, of Roosville, is visiting in Elko this week and expects to return by the South Fork of the Elk and the Wigwam pack trails to avoid the bad roads, unless she can hire a flying machine.

A Vancouver paper states in a recent issue that a company of Chinese have formed with the intention of "floating" an airship.

Jim Thistlebeak is calling a big meeting to be held some time this month in the Roosville school house to discuss the following question: "Would it be cheaper for the Oliver government or the hogs in the valley to have cholera?" Refreshments will be served and a dance will be held after the meeting.

W. Shaw, district manager for P. Burns, the Calgary Scotchman, was in Elko this week looking over their slaughter house at Rock Creek. There are 20,000 sheep grazing in the tall peavine near by, and Billy, as he is known among his friends and who bubbles over at all times with the milk of human kindness, might the next time he comes to the Old Historic Burg, serve some prime mutton with caper sauce. He said that he never in all his life saw sheep looking so well. The sheep belong to R. C. Harvey of Lethbridge, Alberta.

THERE IS ONLY ONE GENUINE ASPIRIN

BAYER

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all.

Your druggist gladly will give you the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" because genuine Aspirin now is made by Canadians and owned by a Canadian Company.

There is not a cent's worth of German interest in Aspirin, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. But now you can get genuine Aspirin, plainly stamped with the safety "Bayer Cross."—Aspirin proved safe by millions for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Neuritis, and Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages.

ENFORCED SHAMPOOS

London—Some local barbers have adopted a form of profiteering which achieves success by a surprise manoeuvre. A customer wants a shave and a shave only. As soon as he is seated the barber starts a monologue that increases in intensity. The shave is finished amid a torrent of words and while the customer is groping for a reply the shaving towel is whisked from his neck, a larger one wrapped over his shoulders and he feels a soapy fluid trickling through his hair. Expostulation is useless. It is withered by slighting comments on the dryness of the customer's hair. To stop the criticism the customer submits and pays for the shampoo and the barber also expects a tip.

PROMISED DYING MOTHER

London — "I promised her dying mother that I would marry this young woman," was the novel plea of George Thomson, arraigned on the charge of bigamy for marrying Miss Susannah Atkinson, of Leeds, although he has a wife living in Scotland.

"I met her while I was at Leeds Military Hospital," declared the former soldier. "One evening she took me to the bedside of her dying mother, who made me promise to marry the girl. I promised because I was afraid Susannah would kill herself. It was better to wed her than to see her commit suicide."

Thomson was committed for trial.

ANOTHER WINNING SYSTEM

New York — The system players, most of whom wind up in the padded cells next to the perpetual motion hounds, have discovered a new one for the racing game. They claim that tabulation of past performances shows that horses starting from post position No. 4 win oftener than any others. Their plan is to play horses with No. 4 on the blanket and keep doubling until a winner scores.

FULTON MAKES HIT

London—Fred Fulton, the American "plasterer," who was considered a likely successor to Jess Willard until Jack Dempsey knocked Fulton out, was received with cheers when introduced to the sporting public at Haslingden recently. In commenting on the American, the Evening Standard writer says:

"Fulton is a wonderfully well built fellow and very keen looking. He has challenges out for any of our big men, and I am bound to say that from their point of view Fulton looks very impressive indeed."

Actors on Strike

The striking actors, as a class, are probably the highest paid workers who ever abandoned their craft to strike. The average employer would willingly trade his income for the weekly pay envelope of many of them. Moreover, the actor has always led the public to regard him as an artist and not as a laborer. Perhaps the theatregoers have had their own ideas in some cases, but if the actor is to be regarded as an artist and the stage as a profession, the actor's trouble is the first big and effective strike by members of a profession, unless it be held that when an artist becomes a member of a labor organization he ceases to be an artist. No actor, however bad, will ever consent to be considered as anything but an artist. Whenever the pubilc begins to confuse him and his work with the stage hand and his labors, however noble the latter may publicly be regarded, the actors' union will begin to disintegrate. — Indianapolis News.

Wages and Production

Wages are not money. Wages are the commodities into which a day's work will exchange. If, to live, the American people need 110,000,000 loaves of bread and 110,000,000 pounds of provisions a day, and the production, through whatever cause, fell to 55,000,000 loaves of bread and 55,000,000 pounds of other food, you might raise average money wages to $50 a day; but that wouldn't add a single grain to the loaves of bread needed or a single ounce to the provisions. The American people, on whatever money wage, would have to be hungry. To increase its reward—which means to reduce its cost of living—mankind must increase its production. Under the laws of nature there is no escape by a people from that economic compulsion. When labor increases its production it has the right to insist upon getting that increased production as its reward if labor alone achieved the increase. It ought to exercise that right. In the possession of its faculties it will exercise it. But it will demand till doomsday what is not produced, what does not exist, and never get it.—New York Sun.

What Labor Leaders Learned

One good, however, emerges from the present trouble. The leaders have tested public opinion. They have seen it arrayed solidly against them and the forces they command. What is more, the imminent restriction of railway and other public services, the closing down of factories, the difficulties of food supply, have taught valuable lessons. Even the miners have had a glimpse of the truth that in any attempt to ruin others they themselves must come to ruin. We all have these considerations with us, It is quite certain that "direct action" will now be recognized for what it is—attempted revolution. The country won't stand it.—London Daily Express.

Food For Thought

One of the labor leaders at the stockyards declared Saturday that a great victory had been won for union labor. The state, the county and the city thought it necessary, for the sake of order, to guard returning negroes and protect property with militia, deputy sheriffs and police. The organized workers objected and struck. The state withdrew the militia; the county withdrew its deputy sheriffs; the city withdrew policemen. Organized government having surrendered to organized labor, the strike was called off. Doubtless is was a great victory, but it is a kind of victory that may well set the rest of the community thinking.—Chicago Evening Post.

LOFTUS TO RETIRE

New Rork — There is a report in racing circles that Johnny Loftus, premier jockey of the American turf, is to retire at the end of this season in the East. Loftus is said to be having a great deal of trouble keeping down to weight, and as he has stowed away a comfortable stake he has decided to quit the game rather than continue the torture necessary to keep his flesh down.

BRITISH GREATNESS

Lieut. General Smuts, receiving the honorary degree of doctor of laws of Manchester university, referred to the greatness of the British Empire, which, within itself, is a league of nations.

"At the peace treaty in Paris Premier Clemenceau referred to our fourteen representatives as 'Lloyd George's savages,' but they represented realities with no nonsense about them, and the British Empire, with its great political preponderence was going to play an important part in the world's future," said General Smuts.—Canadian Press Service.

A WAR PRECEDENT

Great occasions make great precedents as the remarkable scene which occurred in the House of Commons very aptly proves. There is one other recorded instance in which the House of Commons, with the Speaker in the chair, has joined in singing the National Anthem as it did in celebration of Mr. Lloyd George's return after signing the Peace. That was on the declaration of war in August, 1914. There has never before been such a war, as Mr. Lloyd George himself remarked, and therefore never such cause for signalizing the beginning and ending of it. — Lodon Morning Post.

VANCOUVER UNIONS WITHDRAW FROM O.B.U.

Vancouver, Aug. 21.—"Practically all except one or two organizations that are definitely O.B.U. have withdrawn from the old Central Labor body in this city," said Andrew Farmiloe, organizer for the American Federation of Labor, speaking at a meeting of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council (International) in the labor temple.

The longshoremen of the city had withdrawn but they had not yet been asked to join the new organization. The street railway men were also expected to act on this question through a referendum. The hotel and restaurant employees had joined the new council after taking a vote. Some of the steam engineers, about one hundred, were carrying on under their old international charter.

Credentials for membership were received and accepted from the teamsters, milk drivers and dairy employees, boiler makers, machinists, musicians, hotel and restaurant, barbers, bookbinders, butchers, steam and operating engineers, progressive home workers, boot and shoe workers, and theatrical stage employees.

The nominations of officers was proceeded with and the election of these will take place at the next meeting on Sept. 4. There were three named for president: J. Poole, teamsters; John Sully, machinists, and O. Hansen, moving picture operators. J. H. McVety was nominated, but declined. He said that he had been president about ten times, of the old organization, and while willing to assist in every way possible he did not desire to stand for this office.

The other nominations were: Vice-President, C. W. Herrett, barbers; J. Pitman, stage employees; general secretary, R. A. Webb, barbers; and W. Mackenzie, cooks and waiters; treasurer, J. H. McVety; sergeant at arms, John Sully, and trustees (four to be elected), Birt Showeler, teamsters; J. Olson, boilermakers; Andrew Russell, steam and operating engineers; George Mowat, bookbinders, and E. J. Potter, steam and operating engineers.

J. H. McVety was nominated to attend the convention of he Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at Hamilton, Ont., on Sept. 22.

Concerning Your Fall Shoes

IF you would secure service and satisfaction from your shoes this Fall, it is more than ever important that you should go to a reputable dealer in whom you have confidence, and see that the maker's trade-mark is on the shoes you buy. This for the reason that leather is now scarcer than at any time during the war, prices are higher, and some grades of leather are to-day almost unobtainable at any price.

¶ Millions of pairs of shoes, millions of feet of leather, have been bought for the Nations of Europe whose stocks of footwear were entirely wiped out by the war. This has more than offset the reduction in demand for army shoes. And coming upon a supply of material which was already scarce, it has resulted in a situation which, for the time being, is serious.

¶ Therefore, unless you have first-hand technical knowledge of shoes and leather, you must rely more closely than ever this Fall upon the reputation of the maker and of the retailer.

¶ The retailer who has a reputation to sustain will not endanger it for the sake of a little extra profit. And no established manufacturer will stamp his trade mark upon goods which do not represent good value at a fair price.

¶ The chances are that you do not feel any great interest in the leather market, or in the conditions which govern the manufacture and distribution of shoes. But you ARE interested—vitally interested—in securing for yourself and your family reliable footwear at fair prices. And the value which you receive for your hard-earned dollars is inexorably determined by those same conditions which govern what we call the shoe trade. You cannot control them, any more than we can. But you CAN control your method of buying, so as to get the greatest possible value for every dollar you spend.

¶ So we think it only just and proper to tell you, at the commencement of each season, what the conditions really are, so that you may base your buying judgment upon them.

To Buy Wisely This Fall:

FIRST: Go to a reliable dealer whose reputation you know and whose judgment you can trust: and SECOND: Make sure that the trade-mark of a manufacturer whose standing is known is stamped upon the shoes you buy.

Our booklet, "How to Buy Shoes," is gladly sent without charge to any address in Canada. Please address inquiries to our head office at Montreal.

GOES 25 MILES FOR MORE TANLAC

Farmer Says It Restored Wife's Health After He Had Spent Hundreds in Vain

"Well, sir, it is twenty-five miles from here to where I live, and I came all that distance just to get some Tanlac," said W. M. Nance, a well known and prosperous farmer who lives at Irricana, Alberta, Canada, while in the Liggett-Findlay Drug store in Calgary, the other day.

"You just ought to see the way this Tanlac has brought my wife out," continued Mr. Nance, "and here of late I have been feeling mighty bad myself, so I thought about the best thing I could do was to get started on Tanlac as quickly as possible. Now my wife's trouble was of five years' standing, and during that time I spent hundreds of dollars trying to get something that would help her, but it was just that much money thrown away. She had a bad case of stomach trouble, and everything she ate would cause gas to form so bad that she could hardly get a good breath. Then she was so nervous and restless that she couldn't sleep at night. She also suffered from headaches, and sometimes she would get so dizzy that she couldn't stand on her feet. She just kept getting worse all the time until she was past going altogether.

"Well, I noticed that Tanlac was highly recommended for that kind of trouble, so I bought a bottle of it and she commenced taking it. In all my life I never saw anything to equal the way my wife improved after she commenced taking Tanlac. Why, she has gained at least fiftteen pounds in weight, and is as well and hearty as she ever was in her life. She has a fine appetite, and eats just anything she wants and she never suffers a particle afterwards. She does all her housework now, and it doesn't seem to tire her a particle. Now that is what Tanlac did for my wife, and when I commenced to go down hill a short time ago, Tanlac was the first thing I thought about, and after seeing what it did for my wife, I am sure that it will soon put me on my feet. Yes, sir, Tanlac is a real medicine and you may count on me to say a good word for it every chance I have."

WAR SAVINGS PLAN AND PENNY BANK

The War Savings Campaign conducted throughout the schools has not, as some people imagine, had a detrimental effect upon the operations of the School Penny Bank. The deposits made by the children in the schools to the Penny Bank are on the increase, especially among the school children of Ottawa as shown by the reports of March and April.

In the National movement to inculcate habits of thrift among the young people of Canada, there is room for the War Savings Stamp Campaign as well as for the Thrift Organizations of the Penny Bank. The one ably supplements the other and both work for the betterment of the individual and the community.

Reports are being received daily at the Headquarters of the National War Savings Committee indicating how splendidly the War Savings Campaign is being taken up in the schools all over the country. The record of the savings of the pupils in some schools is most remarkable. One school in Cumberland County, N. S., where the average attendance is only seventeen, the total invested in War Savings and Thrift Stamps by the pupils up to the end of May was $450.

Evidently the young people ,with their keen appreciation of what is good, have realized the value of investing their money in this new security of the Canadian government and are showing the way to their elders.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL

The consuming public will not be enamored of the new guaranteed wheat prices when their first effect has been to send the cost of flour up 40 cents per barrel. The people of Canada, by order of a Wheat Board appointed by the government, are being called upon to pay such prices as will insure the farmers against loss in competition with the farmers on the American side, and, over and above this, to compensate them because the crop this year will be a partial failure. The action of the Wheat Board shows a callous disregard for the effect which increased grain prices will have on the cost of practically every other necessity of life. With one hand the government has appointed this authority, which promptly affords such elaborate protection for the grain growers as insures high prices all round, and with the other it establishes another board which is to constitute a court of appeal for the people against high prices. Such contradictory policies show a lack of statesmanship which is deplorable. If the effect of government control is to be solely in the interests of the industry controlled, and not on behalf of the consumer, then the less we have of it the better. — Colonist.

NOT SAFE

"And I've got such a good idea," she gushed. "I'm so afraid people will discover we are newly married that I've made Jack promise that when—when we go away tomorrow he'll treat me in public just as if he had no thought for anyone except himself."

"Don't!" she said, in tones of sad wisdom. 'I tried that plan—and my husband never got over it!"

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The reopening of the mines has resulted in the return of more oldtimers during the past week.

In order to get the night classes started at the school, a meeting was held in the school room and a number of candidates gave in their names to Principal Prescott.

Several of our local baseball fans took in the Waldo-Wycliffe game at Fernie on Labor Day.

Keen excitement prevailed in the quoit and snap tournament held up here on Labor Day. Winners: Quoits, 1st J. Ferguson, 2nd R. Johnstone. Snaps, 1st S. Heaney, 2nd R. Johnstone.

The Crow's Nest Colliery band desires to thank the Board of Management and members of the club for their handsome donation.

The Club hall was filled to its utmost capacity on Monday night when the Veterans Concert Party occupied the stage. Owing to unforeseen circumstances the program had to be altered. The antics of the corner men was the joy of old and young, Lanky Jack being all that could be desired in his substitution as corner man. Each artist acquitted himself creditably, encores being frequent. Our local Scotch comedian, W. Young, contributed to the program. During the interval Supt. Caufield presented certificates to the successful candidates at the recent ambulance class examination. After the concert the floor was prepared and the patrons of the light fantastic indulged to the strains of the violin performed by Mrs. McGregor and H. Page. Dancing was indulged in until 1.30 a.m.

A REAL SHOW COMING

Take the Children to See the Neatest and Cleanest of Shows

To those who have reached mature years the coming of the tented shows mean simply that they will have several hours of keen enjoyment from the ordinary run of pleasures, but to the youngsters, show day is the day of all days, a red letter day, an occasion long to be remembered. You recall with vivid memory do you not, the very first circus you ever saw? How you stared round eyed at those fierce looking animals. And you remember too, don't you, how you failed to understand why those elephants had tails in front and back, and how your father laughed when you asked him about it? Then there was the music of the bands, the wonderful feats of the gaily dressed performers, the funny antics of the clowns, all making an indescribable impression on your childish mind and transplanting you to a real wonderland. Now many another child will experience those enjoyable impressions on Monday, Sept. 15, at Fernie, when the Hugo Brothers Railroad Shows and Trained Animal exhibition will give two performances, one in the afternoon and one at night, rain or shine, under acres of waterproof tents, and we hope that every youngster in the vicinity has the pleasure of seeing this wonderful attraction, or rather collection of atractions. There are many educational features with a trained animal exhibition that every child should see. A noticeable feature of this show is its absolute freedom from anything objectionable that mars so many performances. It's clean, wholesome fun for all, so everybody come, bring the children, and have a good time.

BOARD WILL FIX THE PRICE OF SUGAR

Montreal, Sept. 3.—The board of commerce will probably fix a maximum price for sugar for both the wholesaler and retailer within the next day or two in order to mitigate the effects of the alarmist statements that were sent out from the wholesale grocers' convention recently, that sugar would go to 18 or more cents a pound in the near future, it was learned here today.

The probability is that the maximum price for the wholesalers will be 11½c a pound and that the retailers will be allowed to charge one cent per pound more than the wholesale price plus the freight charges as fixed by the standardized freight rate book issued every six months. The price which the wholesaler will pay will be the same as he pays the refineries, as he is allowed a five per cent discount on his order, and the general rule will be that the retailer is allowed double the amount of the discount ,allowed the wholesaler, to count as his profit and to pay for the cost of storing and parcelling the sugar out.

The board of commerce had another meeting here this morning in case any of the public desired to bring before them complaints of overcharging or unfair distribution, but as none were forthcoming the injuiry turned into an informal conference between the members of the board and J. M. McConnell, head of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery, relative to the prices being paid for raw sugar and the cost of production, and the possibility of fixing a maximum price.

FOOD PRICES MAY FALL

A wholesale tumble in food prices in Canada as a direct result of the action of the United States government against profiteers is recognized by dealers in almost every large centre in the Dominion as an immediate possibility. All or more or less nervously watching the curious angles of the food situation. The markets are "jumpy" and buying on a rising market, which is usually considered good business, may turn out to be either riches or ruin. Certain lines can be bought more easily this week than last, but the tremendous amount of European buying in Canada is keeping prices up. The government of the United States is causing an enforced dumping of foodstuffs heretofore held for speculation, with the result that prices of all leading commodities are falling. This enforced dumping is bound to be felt in the markets of Canada notwithstanding the fact that speculation in foodstuffs in this country has never reached anywhere near the magnitude it did in the United States.

Democracy Reaches Hogs

CURRIE OPPOSES GRATUITY

Hamilton, Sept. 10.— General Sir Arthur Currie, the Canadian commander, who was received with open arms by this city today, stated that while he sympathized with the veterans in their efforts to secure a more liberal allowance, he thought the $2,000 gratuity asked would prove too great a burden for the country to bear.

The veterans' plea to have a commission appointed to arbitrate their claims was reasonable, he said, and should receive consideration. He was in favor of generous pensions, and said the present pension regulations have to be readjusted.

Meeting of Peace Day Celebration committee will be held in the G. W. V. A. assembly room at 7:30 on Sept. 12th, (tonight), to wind up all affairs and receive the report of the Finance Committee.

Roux Bros., who recently sold out the Canadian Dairy to D. O. Bricker, are leaving this week for the east. They wish to thank their patrons for their custom during the past years, and bespeak for Mr. Bricker a continuance of the same.

ATTENTION!

Having purchased and taken over the Grocery and Produce business of G. Kossoff, I wish to solicit your continued patronage, and will at all times guarantee to give you the greatest satisfaction in every line we carry.

Hoping that you will give us a fair trial,

Yours truly,

JOS. PODBIELANCIK.

CITY COUNCIL HOLD MEETING

The city fathers met in regular session Thursday evening, all present except His Worship, Mayor Uphill, in whose absence Ald. Beck was appointed to act. The minutes of the previous meeting were formally adopted as read.

Under the heading correspondence, the first communication was one received from the Department of Lands in reply to further inquiry respecting the Better Housing Act loans advising that under the Act provision is made in addition to advancing loans for new houses for veterans, also for loans for the purpose of enlarging homes already built but in such cases the $300 bonus allowed is not applicable. The department also advised that loans could not be made to those residing outside a municipality. A copy of the foregoing letter was ordered forwarded to the local branch of the G. W. V. A.

The general secretary of the National Conference on moral education in the schools wrote requesting that the council be represented on the occasion of the Dominion conference to be held in Winipeg shortly. This was referred to the School Board.

The Annex petition re crossing over the G. N. was stood over until next meeting as the Works and Property committee had been unable to make a report on this.

With regard to street improvements the city engineer announced this work was about completed. The estimated cost of the present method was stated to range from $57 to $110 per block. On suggestion of Ald. Gates and with consent of all members of the council the city engineer was instructed to do the block on Hanson Street from Victoria Ave. to Pellatt Ave.

The waterworks leaks in the city were reported repaired.

The city clerk directed the attention of the council to the fact that the 1920 estimates under the new Municipal Act had to be brought down by the present council by the end of November in order that they may be published by the first of the year.

D. M. Mitchell, E. K. Stewart and G. A. Bonnallie requested the council to make some very necessary repairs to the sidewalk in front of the G. W. V. A. building. Acting mayor Beck advised that the council had decided some time ago not to make any further repairs to sidewalks and suggested installation of a permanent walk for which the city would supply 10 yards of gravel for each 30 feet. For the property in question this is not at present feasible, but as soon as it can be done this walk will be made permanent. The city engineer will look over the condition and possibly make it so that it will not be quite so dangerous. From a discussion that followed it was apparent that all the council were in favor of attempting to make provision as soon as could be for a program for permanent sidewalks on at least a limited scale.

On a motion by Aldermen Gates and Graham the Water and Light committee were requested to make arrangements for the light and power to be operated 24 hours per day. It was pointed out, however, that the plant must be closed down one hour in each 24 for adjustments. The committee will endeavor to make arrangements satisfactory to all. Alderman Gates suggested that the street lights should be operated as soon as it was dark.

Alderman Rutledge, in view of difficulties encountered in the Kefoury basement fire suggested that self contained breathing apparatus or something similarly suitable should be secured in order that fire fighters could work to advantage. Chief McDougall was also present and spoke in favor of purchasing two regulation fire helmets which would permit the wearer entering places where smoke, gases and fumes were and carry on work or inspection. The estimated cost of this equipment was $75 each. Allowance for purchase of such equipment will be made next year.

Alderman Gates inquired as to what progress had been made re the inspection of residential and business premises for defective water fixtures. He was advised nothing had yet been done, but inspectors would be on the job very shortly.

The council authorized that the old Rizzuto stable be rented to E. Large at a rental of $5.00 per month from August 1st.

Adjournment was taken at 9:30.

IMPROVED SITUATION

More normal conditions in District 18, U.M.W. of A. comprising Eastern British Columbia and the Province of Alberta, are the case according to reports received by the Minister of Labor. Thirty-one of the leading coal mines of the district are again being worked. This represents sixty per cent of the total output. While some opposition still is being experienced by the officials of the United Mine Workers from advocates of the One Big Union idea, the resistance of the latter appears to be declining.

Coal Commissioner Armstrong, in a recent statement, said that the O.B.U. as far as District 18 is concerned, is non-existent. He asserts that the miners who forsook the International Union are seeking reinstatement and that their applications are being granted in the majority of cases. He said that the men are going back on exactly the same terms as they were working before, but that when they were in a position to sign a contract, it was likely that a new agreement would be entered into between them and the mine owners. During the strike between 8,000 and 9,000 men were idle, and the wives and families of the miners suffered to a considerable extent. The mines, however, were not materially affected, and while it might be a few weeks before full shifts could be taken back, they all would be working in the near future.

Commissioner Armstrong predicted that there would be no shortage of coal in this district this winter, because although the mines were idle for several months, the capacty production is greater than the demand during the Autumn months, and by working to capacity the reserve stocks for winter can be restored.—Colonist.

FERNIE TO HAVE BAND

The meeting re the organization of a band in the city was held in the council chamber on Sunday last. There was a very poor attendance outside of playing members of the Crow's Nest Pass and Italian bands. The meeting was scheduled for 7:30 p.m., but was delayed one hour in the hopes of having a larger attendance of the public. The meeting was duly opened at 8:30 p.m. with Mr. P. Rawson in the chair. Discussions arose re amalgamation of both bands. It was finally resolved that both bands amalgamate with a view to providing good music in the city. All members present enrolled their names in the new formation. The minutes of the meeting are as follows:—Appoinment of secretary pro tem. Moved and seconded that D. A. Markland be appointed secretary pro tem. Messrs. J. Nicoletti, Wm. Dickenson and Wm. Marshall were appointed on a committee. J. Fawley was appointed as band master pro tem. with J. Scarpino as deputy band master. The Roma Hotel was chosen as the headquarters for the band. A practice will be held on Sunday next at 7 p.m. It was then moved and seconded that notices be posted informing the public that the bands are amalgamated and also the time of the first practice and an appeal be made to the public for their hearty co-operation. Moved and seconded that a letter of thanks be forwarded to the G.W.V.A. for use of premises for practices in the past.

The following instruments are lined up to date: 4 clarinets, 5 cornets, 1 baritone, 2 euphoniums, 4 trombones, 3 bass, 1 bass drum and 2 snare drums.

PROHIBITS POLICE FROM JOINING UNIONS

Ottawa.—The Minister of Justice in the House this afternoon presented a bill to prohibit members of the Dominion police and of the Northwest Mounted Police from belonging to trade unions.

The bill continues in force under an Order-in-Council to the same effect under the War Measures Act. The bill was read a first time.

A meeting of the Rod and Gun club will be held in the council chamber tonight at 8 o'clock.

Judging from reports of arrangements being made, it is quite evident that there will be a large convention at Vancouver on Sept.29 and 30. The Conservatives of the Kootenays expect to have a special train run through to Vancouver, and all of the delegates will be able to take advantage of the special rate to the New Westminster Fair that week.

APPEALS IN LIQUOR CASES

His Honor, Judge Thompson held criminal sessions of the County Court this week, when there were five cases on the calendar. The first was Rex vs. John Nelson of Bull River, charged with the theft of a time statement and "C. G." from the paymaster's office of the C.P.R. mill at Bull River. Accused was formerly employed as woodsman in one of the camps near that place and on August 20 visited the pay office to draw his time. Some time after his visit to the office the clerk in charge missed the documents in question and instituted a search, and while the missing documents were not found an information was laid against Nelson. At the trial a second count was added, viz., attempting to obtain money under false pretences, but from the evidence adduced by the Crown, His Honor held that there was absolutely no proof of accused being guilty, although there might be strong suspicion of his being implicated. He accordingly discharged Nelson without putting him on his defence.

Oscar Jostad, a stage driver of Bull River, appealed from a conviction under the Prohibition Act, he having been fined $50 for "having intoxicating liquor in a place other than a private dwelling," to wit, in his automobile when transporting a load of passengers. The appeal was allowed as the evidence did not establish that Jostad even had possession of the liquor as it was found in the rear seat of the car where two intoxicated passengers had been riding.

Three cases of considerable local interest coming on at this sittings are appeals from convictions under the Prohibition Act, namely, the Northern Hotel & Cafe Co., Ltd., William Mills and Simon Dragon. In the trial before the Police Magistrate the company was fined $1000 and Mills and Dragon each sentenced to six months imprisonment in Nelson jail, and all these informations arose out of convictions of the employees or bartenders of the respective parties when the wholesale prosecutions were instituted by the provincial authorities late last May for flagrant infractions of the Prohibition Act. The appeal of the Northern was heard Thursday and the Crown submitted identically the same evidence as at the initial trial. The defence, however, called one new witness in addition to the manager of the hotel, namely Nick Danusick, the bartender already sentenced to six months for having made the actual sale. He testified that the management of the hotel had absolutely no knowledge of the said liquor being on the premises or that he was making such sales, which he contended were for his own personal gain and carried on exclusively by himself.

S. Herchmer appeared for the appellant company, while A. B. Macdonald, K.C., of Cranbrook, represented the Crown. Both counsel submitted very extensive arguments and His Honor reserved judgment. The appeals of Mills and Dragon will come on today. With regard to the other eight hotelmen sentenced to six months imprisonment on July 1 last, but who are at present out on $2000 bail pending the hearing of "stated cases" before the Supreme Court, these will probably come on at Vancouver the end of this month or the beginning of October, when the convictions will either be sustained or the defendants discharged on points of law.

FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP

Trail football team will come to Fernie this week to play Fernie United on September 14th at the north end park. The Trail team are the champions of West Kootenay, and are a good bunch of sports to come here to give the Fernie boys a game. They will lose a week's work and a part of their travelling expenses. Fernie united guaranteed them $150 of their expenses, which they expect to make up in gate receipts, so turn out and boost the boys along; also see one of the best games this year.

The following is a list of the Trail team: Jack Rutledge, brother of Tom Rutledge, Vancouver Thistles, James Young, Glasgow, Scotland, Cecil Minton, London, England, formerly of Fernie, Hayes, London, England, J. Balfour, Fife, Scotland, Matt Marshall, Maypole Ayrshire Scotland, E. Cook, Burnley, England, E. Fowler, Newcastle, England, James Leckie, Stevenston, Ayrshire, Scotland, Tom Lennon, Hurlford, Ayrshire, Scotland.

All of the above players have played for old country teams, and a whirlwind game should be pulled off. The manager of the team is Owen Lennon, of Scotland, and the captain is Cecil Minton.

Archie Corrie, president of the board of trade was instrumental in getting the team here, and we hope, when next season starts, that some good interprovincial games will be played. Fernie has some of the best football material in the Province and we should hold up our end with any team.

FERNIE VS. CRANBROOK

Following is the result of the golf match in Cranbrook on the 7th inst. between the nine players from Fernie and a similar number from Cranbrook:

Watson 2, Staples 0.
Graham 1, Kydd 0.
Wood 0, McDonald 2.
Kastner 1, Hogarth 0.

Fernie total 15; Cranbrook total 2. Fernie wins by 13 points.

I.O.D.E.

Several weeks ago the I.O.D.E. appealed for cash donations to give the patients at the Frank Sanatorium motor drives. It takes $2 to give each man a drive. At present there are sixty cases at the Sanatorium. The following contributions have been received:

Acknowledged to date $87.25.

Further contributions: Mrs. J. R. Wallace $1, Mrs. A. L. Walker $1, Miss Ina Kirkpatrick $5, Miss Edith Kirkpatrick $2, Miss H Brown $1, Miss Richardson $2, A Friend $2, Miss West $2.

Total $103.25.

As we wish to close this account next week we will be grateful if any who wish to contribute will send their contribution to Mrs. S. Graham, Treasurer.

SOLDIERS' BONUS

In connection with the action of Premier Borden in refusing to grant a Royal Commission to enquire into the possibilities of the payment of further gratuities to returned men to assist them in re-establishing themselves in civil life, the Fernie Branch of the G.W.V.A. sent a strongly worded telegram to Dr. Bonnell, M.P., and to Sir Robert Borden. The following wire has been received from Dr. Bonnell:

"Please assure G.W.V.A. that myself and every soldier member of the house are a unit in supporting the committee of the Dominion G.W.V.A. in their demand for Royal Commission to investigate possibilities for further gratuities.

"S. Bonnell."

East Kootenay Chapter, I.O.D.E. will hold a whist drive and dance at Ross' Hall, Waldo, on Friday, Sept. 19th, at 8 p.m., after which the drawing will take place for the $150 quilt presented by Mrs. Ingham, of Sheep Mountain, Elko, for Red Cross purposes. Entrance 50 cents.

The Pacific Hotel at Hosmer owned by Frank Labelle, was destroyed by fire on Saturday morning last. There was no fire fighting apparatus and the building, which was frame, was completely burned in a few minutes. We understand the loss was partially covered by insurance.

The dance given by the football club on Tuesday evening was not as largely attended as the cause merited. Be sure and take in the game on the 14th. The boys are spending a lot of money in bringing in the Trail aggregation and they deserve patronage.

RULE BY TERRORISM

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(Reuter's).—Colonel John Ward arrived in London from Russia by the War Office for a consultation. In an interview, he stated that the horrors of Bolsheviki rule had been far from exaggerated. It was, he said, indeed doubtful as to whether the story of half the atrocities in Russia had yet been told.

The secret of the prolonged regime of the Bolshevik was simply terrorism. Everyone in Russia acted under fear of denunciation and of a horrible death. Besides, there was no food, clothing or other necessities of life for those refusing to profess Bolshevist views. Again, the Bolshevik controlled the rich manufacturing districts, and all attacks on them had to be made from the sparsely-populated areas, hence it was important that General Denekine should be supplied with munitions, as had been Koltchak.

The Bolshevik forces, stated Commander Ward, have practically unlimited supplies of munitions, as only a small portion of the munitions supplied Russia by the Allies before the revolution fell into the hands of the Germans. Colonel Ward said he believed that the Bolsheviki had sufficient munitions for ten years.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 4—More than 1000 persons were executed by the Bolsheviki before they evacuated the city of Yekaterinoslav, in Southern Russia, according to a dispatch received here from that city, giving an account of the massacres by a physician who was present at the opening of the pits into which the bodies of these victims had been thrown after their execution. This physician, Dr. Robin, declared the victims' heads had been crushed with hammers and their bodies badly mutilated. Many of them, he said, were found with broken legs, specimens of which were found in the vicinity. The physician told of the case of one officer who missed being struck by the firing squad's bullets and escaped the Bolsheviki, who came along bayonetting the wounded, by simulating death.

The Bolshevik organization in the city had been headed by a workman named Valiavka and various Chinese, the report added, and the principal posts of the soviet administration under them were in the hands of young men and women. Wholesale pillaging is declared to have occured in the town before its evacuation.

The evacuation of Yekaterinoslav by the Bolsheviki apparently occured more than two months ago. A Russian wireless dispatch from Moscow on July 1, which reported the capture by the Cossacks of Kharkov announced also that the Bolsheviki had lost Yekaterinoslav, 115 miles southwest of Kharkov.

PERIL OF DIRECT ACTION

The nationalization of the coal mines in Great Britain is hardly likely to be accomplished simply because the miners demand such action. The rest of the community, who would have to pay the price and accept the consequences, must be considered as well. There are three powerful reasons advanced why nationalization should not be attempted, and if the subject is ever put to a referendum they will weigh heavily in the minds of the electors. Firstly, the nation cannot spare the enormous amount of money required; secondly, it would be suicidal to buy a large business working at a heavy loss; and, thirdly, nationalization, where it is brought about, is customarily dictated by the interests of the nation as a whole, and not just for the benefit of the persons in the industry. We can readily imagine, for instance, if all those employed in newspapers, suddenly demanded the press should be nationalized that their demand would carry little weight with a government, unless at the same time public opinion was overwhelmingly in favor of the proposal. There is little or no public opinion, outside themselves and a proportion of the other members of the so-called triple alliance, which favors the nationalization of coal mines in Great Britain.

The shorter hours and the greatly increased wages enjoyed by the coal miners of Great Britain have brought about a 25 per cent. reduction in the output of coal. Recent strikes have served to accentuate the decrease in the output, yet industrial Britain cannot thrive without being assured of an adequate coal supply. Nationalization weuld make coal dearer than ever, and if experience is any guide, it would lead to a further decrease in production, and, because of the temper of the leaders of the miners, it is conceivable that the State would become a target of Direct Action on every occasion when there was a dispute about wages, hours, or working conditions. The miners at present, because of their attitude, must bear the brunt of the blame because Britain is handicapped in a time of vital competition. They are retarding the wheels of reconstruction by excessive demands, of which the climax is that the whole nation should be taxed so that the industry may be nationalized. All their legitimate requests have been met. They have been treated handsomely in view of the economic condition of the industry. The price of coal has been advanced six shillings a ton to meet their wage demands and to endeavor to make good the losses being sustained in production and distribution, yet they remain unsatisfied. At this long range it seems as if their selfishness is preventing them from considering their country's interests. A Labor Leader, as well equipped as Mr. Arthur Henderson is, realizes the danger of the policy that is being pursued. He says: "To endeavor to force upon the country and upon the Government by illegitimate means the policy of a section of the entire community—it may only be a minority of the community—involves the abrogation of Parliamentary government, and might easily destroy eventually all our constitutional liberties. Labor, by taking such a course, might be the authors of a doubtful precedent today, and its victims tomorrow."

TREATMENT FOR TUBERCULAR SOLDIERS

Wars of the past have left sad memorials in the broken bodies and weakened constitutions of soldiers and the great world war from which Canada recently emerged proved no different from other historical struggles. There are living evidences of the amazing ingenuity of man in devising machines of destruction. Yet on the other hand, man having proven ingenuity in one direction, to destroy has evidenced equal skill in repairing the wreckage of war.

One of the features of Canadian organization in France and Belgium was the thorough manner in which salvage operations were carried out, no object escaping the attention of these "pickers-up of unconsidered trifles." Now the same principle that initiated battlefield salvage is being applied in Canada to those whose service is marked by honoroble scare.

The disabled soldier is being enabled to overcome his disabilities and is being retrained so that he may become economically independent, an after-care of the war, first undertaken by Canada. One phase of this work, which is under the direction of the Department of Soldiers, Civil Re-Establishment, is the care of ex-members of the Canadian Army who have developed tuberculosis as a result of the great adventure.

Previous to the war there existed in Canada a considerable percentage of people suffering from this dread disease, and they had been dealt with in a rather spasmodic manner, largely through private philanthropy.

But the Canadian soldiers affected by the disease are not being left to the haphazard care of individual effort. Their treatment is conducted with the greatest possible degree of efficiency by the Medical Branch of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment. For this purpose a chain of sanatoria, twenty-eight in number, has been established throughout the Dominion, and these represent the most determined effort yet made in Canada to combat the insidious disease.

These establishments are maintained under the best possible conditions, and each one is provided with the results of proven discoveries under the direction of skilled physicians and sympathetic traned nurses.

The department has established new sanatoria and has also made arrangements for the use of existing sanatoria in conjunction with Provincial authorities and private organizations. Later, when the tide of soldier patients has turned, these will be available for general use.

Each sanatorium is under the charge of a medical superintendent, and each staff includes a trained dietitian, who supervises the catering of the establishment. To overcome the great evil of enforced hours of idleness during treatment, bedside occupations have been introduced in all sanatoria. Ward aides give lessons to the patients in suitable handicraft, and by this means greatly alleviate the condition of the men.

Pay and allowances are provided for each patient, and these continue after discharge to cover the quiet period which should follow before any work is undertaken.

There are at present undergoing treatment 1,807 patients, 1,660 being in-patients of sanatoria, and 147 are out-patients, reporting at regular intervals to the medical superintendent of the sanitorium for examination and advice. It is only in exceptonal cases that men are permitted to become out-patients of sanatoria, as they require careful nursing and supervision to enable them to reach the stage when they may again take up the normal routine of the healthy individual.

VETERANS PLACED AT WORK

Thirteen thousand men have been placed in work by the government labor bureaus in British Columbia between the organization of the department in mid-February and July 31.

This is the showing of the free government employment offices according to figures of Captain Faulkner, inspector of bureaus. In that time applications for work were received from approximately 22,000 men. The present situation is that in the province there are 1339 men registerel as applying for positions, while there are 1885 vacant positions. The clash of the two sets of figures is due to the fact that the applicants and the jobs do not fit.

In Vancouver there are more men registered as looking for work, 963 last Saturday, than there are vacant positions, which numbered 648 at the end of last week.

Hundreds of men are being placed at work every week and the figures show that British Columbia is rapidly absorbing the returning war veterans. For the week ending August 2nd, 2445 soldiers applied for work and work was found for 1729. Civilians to the number of 2636 applied and 1981 found jobs. For the week ending Aug. 9th, 734 soldiers applied and 613 were placed on pay rolls. Jobs were found for 587 civilians out of 659 applications. Soldiers to the number of 630 asked for work last week and 582 were shown to the right job, while 965 civilians asked for work and 722 got it.

Vancouver, of course, is the biggest centre in the province. Last week 393 soldiers registered and 383 found work, against 365 civilians out of 545 applications.

There are 12 employment centres in the province, many with women's departments and the figures are received in Vancouver for tabulation.

TY COBB DRIVING FOR BATTING HONORS

Chicago, Sept. 6.—As the clubs of the American League swing into the final month of the pennant race, Ty Cobb is driving for the batting championship, which, with the excepton of two seasons, has been in his possession for twelve years.

Official averages including games of Wednesday, released today, show the celebrated Georgian hitting .371—21 points ahead of Oscar Veagh, his teammate and closest batting rival. In 104 games Cobb has whaled out155 safe blows for a total of 210 in bases.

"Babe" Ruth is within one home run of tying the world's four-bagger record of 25. In addition, Ruth tops the league in total base hitting. He has stretched 118 hits, bagged in 111 games, for a total of 240 bases.

George Sisler, the St. Louis star, shows the way to the base-stealers with 27. Harry Hooper, of Boston, is runner-up with 25.

Ed Rousch, the Cincinnati star, suffered a setback in his attack for the National League batting honors, dropping to third place with an average of .323. Cravath, of Philadelphia clung to the leadership with .340, while Thorpe, of Boston, swung back into second place with .324. Rousch, however, leads the league in total base-hitting. Competing in 116 games the Reds' outfielder has slammed out 143 hits for a total of 192 bases. Cutshaw, of Pittsburg, continues to show the way to the base-stealers with 31.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

LENINE'S PROPAGANDA

M. Lenine and his followers realize that Bolshevism must be a propagandist creed if it is to survive. Hence the superhuman efforts they are putting forth to force Bolshevism upon other nations. Their agents, who are in every clime, tell only of the gospel of Soviet rule; they tell nothing of the effects which it has produced on the Russian nation. That country is laboring under the cruellest and most inefficient tyranny which has ever afflicted mankind. It is inefficient because it has discarded from its doctrine the motives which alone spur humanity on to honest and hard work. The consequence is industrial stagnation, an internal food blockade against all who do not agree with the doctrines of M. Lenine, and a system of espionage and terrorism compared with which that under the Czar's regime was mere child's play. The rulers of Russia are striving their utmost to innoculate other peoples with the malady which their regime has caused in the Slav domain. They know that the co-ordinated opposition of civilization to their methods must finally bring about their downfall, and instead of waiting for this they wish all others to sink in the same slough of despair through the wreck of the delicate fabric of human society.

In Vancouver the Immigration Board has just ordered the deportation of a Russian who sought to instill in Western Canada the propaganda of M. Lenine. He wished to see Canada controlled by foreigners imbued with the soviet idea. In Britain the same propaganda is being carred on unceasingly. Norway and Sweden are centres of Bolshevist activity. A Russian woman, of remarkable beauty, is the head courier for carryng propaganda between different Bolshevist centres in Berne, Stockholm, Berlin and Russia. She is in direct touch with Lenine and Trotzky, according to information in the possession of Scotland Yard. Recently a boy of Norweigan nationality arrived in England and immediately came under suspicion. On being questioned, he admitted he was a Bolshevist agent with $30,000 to finance revolutionary propaganda in England. Money and literature are carried by emissaries and not trusted to the mails. Glasgow appears to be the centre of this propaganda in Britain, and the persons there engaged in the work are known to Scotland Yard. In fact, small quantities of arms from Russia are alleged to have been landed in Scotland and the Bolshevist programme has been submitted at meetings of workers throughout the industrial communities.

The campaign in Germany is a particularly active one, while it permeates political and industrial life throughout all Central Europe. On the American continent it is apparent, and, no doubt, as time goes on, efforts in this part of the world will be redoubled by the Bolshevist emissaries, who are all plenipotentiaries of a bureau of propaganda at Moscow, and who, if success seems to lie in their path, are furnished with large sums of money to be used for the purposes of bribery and general propaganda work. It is well the public should know of this campaign which is in progress and of the efforts of the deluded rulers of Rusia to drag down every nation into the same maelstrom of tyranny. Britain has finally woken up to the dangers of the new Kaiserism which is seeking to impose itself on mankind, and has realized that the Bolshevist propaganda is more deadly than the militarism of the Prussian system, and that its agents are more active and more underhand than the spies of the Wilhelmstrasse before and during the Great War. The story of the cold-blooded murder of 1,000 persons by the Bolsheviki before they evacuated Yekaterinoslav exceeds in cruelty any thing the Germans ever did in the maddest moments of their lust for world power. That massacre is an illustration of the Bolshevist doctrine in practice. It is a sufficient commentary on the care which should be exercised by every nation to prevent the spread of Lenine's propaganda in its midst.

DECLINE OF STERLING HURTS AMERICA MOST

In a cleverly written and highly interesting article by E. Mackay Edgar, head of the London banking firm of Sperling & Co., the author endeavors to point out that Britain is far from bankrupt. He criticises Mr. Vanderlip's scheme for an international loan on behalf of Europe, and is very optimistic regarding Great Britain's commercial prospects n the face of Amercan competition.

In the last issue of Bradstreet's a review is given of this article which states in part:: "Mr. Edgar thinks that many people in America have been misled regarding Great Britain's financial position by the decline in the pound sterling as measured in Amercan dollars and by the spectacle of debt which the British Government owes the American Government. The decline in the value of sterling, he contends, hurts America more than it hurts England, because it forces England to curtail purchases of American goods, hampers America in disposing of immense stocks of commodities which she accumulated at high prices, and therefore tends to bring about a state of congestion which can be relieved only by selling at a loss, by diminishing production, or, by lowering wages, and in the present temper of American labor and with the bitter outcry against the high cost of living, none of these alternatives is pleasant.

"He welcomes the co-operation of British and American firms, interests and groups that are working along the same lines, and believes such co-operation will be mutually advantageous, but he does not fear American competition; on the contrary, there are reasons, he says, for thinking that Great Britain is in many ways in a sounder position than America; that she holds the winning cards, and if she plays them aright will soon regain what she has lost and a little more in the bargain. There is no lack of credit facilities in Great Britain; anyone can get all the money he wants for a sound enterprise. London is still the centre and clearing house of international trade and finance. Britain's capacity for production has been immensely increased by the war, and directly that workmen settle down to work we shall go bounding ahead."

New British Degree

The seriousness with which the future of British commerce is being studied is indicated by the plans announced by the University of London for establishing degrees in commerce. According to a bulletin of the American chamber of Commerce in London, which has been received here, it is purposed to institute a three-year course of study leading to the degree of bachelor of commerce. The addition of a minimum of two years' practical experience in the particular trade or industry taken up would qualify the candidate for the degree of master of commerce.

The plan contemplates three examinations: Matriculation or some equivalent examination in order to prove the candidate's general education, intermediate and final. The first year's course will comprise the compulsory subjects of organization and industry, banking, trade and transportation, elementary economic developments of the British empire and the chief foreign countries, elementary commercial law and statistical methods. The second and third years will be devoted to specialization.

The foundation and maintenance of this new course of studies are expected to entail an annual cost of about $100,000, necessitating the provision of capital of about $2,000,000—New York Times.

We Didn't Raise Our Boy to Be a Soldier

We didn't raise our boy to be a soldier;
We loved him as all parents love their son.
His footsteps never marched to martial music,
He was never taught the workings of a gun.

We told him of the dying love of Jesus,
Explaining to him God's great salvation plan;
We taught him love of Country, Right and Freedom;
And we tried to raise our boy to be a man.

When war's red lust swept over ruined Belgium,
He came to us and said: "I've got to go."
If God is on the side of right and freedom,
It's up to me to fight that fiendish foe.

And when they told us he was "killed in action,"
Hot tears of pride and sorrow freely ran,
For we didn't raise our boy to be a soldier,
But, thank God, we raised our boy to be a man.

—Fred Young, late 78th Batt.

Invisible Signaling

An invention that must stand high among the remarkable accessories of the war was contributed by R.W. Wood of Johns Hopkins university when he provided the United States army with means of invisible signaling. A signal that can not be seen by anybody but the person signaled evidently has advantages over one that anybody can see and try to read. Profesor Wood achieved invisibility by using rays of light either above or below the visible spectrum, and these rays could be seen only by the help of a receiving instrument that made them visible. Using an apparatus fitted with field glasses through which it could, so to speak, be aimed at the receiving station, messages were written telegraphically with the infra-red and with the ultra-violet rays that the eye never normally sees, and be read plainly enough by the person equipped with apparatus to make them visible.—Christian Science Monitor.

LEMON EXTRACT SALE IS LEGAL

Vancouver, Sept. 5.—Magistrate Shaw this morning dismissed the charge against the W. H. Malkin Co. of selling liquor, in the form of lemon extract, brought by R. H. Young, secretary of the Campaigners of the Great War.

The case was taken up under the Prohibition Act.

In dismissing the case the court ruled taht the prohibition act in this Province did not prohibit the sale of perfumes and extracts any more than it prohibited the sale of wood alcohol for commercial purposes just because some person had drunk wood alcohol.

If a person wished to drink an extract or perfume containing alcohol as a beverage, it was up to the legislature to step in and control this, said the magistrate.

His Worship, on the authority of decisions given by the Manitoba appeal court, and on the presumption that in permitting the use of alcohol in the manufacture of extracts and perfumery the legislature intended to allow the sale of the articles manufactured, said he could do nothing else than dismiss the charge. The contention of the prosecution that extracts were being used as beverages was a matter for the legislature to consider, declared Magistrate Shaw. Extracts were commonly used for flavoring purposes.

WE ARE NOT IMPORTING SOVIET POLITICS

At last the different wings, factions and fractions of the socialist aggregation that came together for a brief hour in Chicago only to split up in bitter vituperation and fisticuffs have found one principle in common. They are all for approval of the soviet government of Lenine and Trotzky. Even the delegates in the most "conservative" assembly jumped to their feet and cheered for several minutes when a resolution was read approving Russian sovietism.

They will have to take it out in jumping and cheering, for the American people have not the slightest inclination to take their governmental fashions from Russia. Americans are no more enamored of the autocracy and tyranny of Lenine and Trotzky than they formerly were of the autocracy and tyranny of the czars.

The United States is setting the world fashions in government, not importing them. The ignorant Russian peasants and the ignorant Russian workmen in Russian cities are as incapable of teaching political science to the disciples of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Roosevelt as they are of teaching our American farmers how to till the soil, or our intelligent factory organizations how to turn out manufactured commodities.—Spokesman Review.

The camouflage high school misses of most Canadian cities can still trip gaily off to school, but not so their Calgary sisters. The Calgary school board has banned the use of powder puffs and rouge, and the girls must now attend school with clean faces. The superintendent of schools in Calgary is firm in his stand to wipe out the practice.

No Pie Worth $1.05

Profiteering has reached its height when a pie is cut into seven pieces and sold at fifteen cents a piece totalling $1.05 for the whole pie, as is reported in a Boston restaurant. The fact that it is "blueberry" pie and blueberries are high because of lack of pickers isn't a logical excuse. The plain, unvarnished truth is that the restaurateur who does this is profiteering, pure and simple. No pie ever built was worth $1.05.—Salem News.

GENUINE ASPIRIN HAS "BAYER CROSS"

Tablets without "Bayer Cross" are not Aspirin at all

BAYER

Get genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in a "Bayer" package, plainly marked with the safety "Bayer Cross."

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are now made in Canada by a Canadian Company. No German interest whatever, all rights being purchased from the United States Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. The "Bayer Cross" is your only way of knowing that you are getting genuine Aspirin, proved safe by millions for Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger sized "Bayer" packages can be had at drug stores.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson arrived in the city on Tuesday, on a visit to the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson. Fred, who left Fernie about seven years ago, has been representing the Swift Co. of Chicago, in the Argentine, South America, and has glowing reports of that country.

A tourist party from San Francisco passed through Fernie yesterday after travelling 18,000 miles. They started out from Frisco in the spring and travelled through the Southern and Eastern States, and are returning by Canada. They complained of the poor roads in Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The Fernie Board of Trade will next week issue 10,000 illustrated pamphlets describing the advantages of Fernie and the Crow's Nest Pass from a tourist standpoint. This is a creditable move and if the campaign of publicity is persisted in will reap a rich harvest for the district in years to come.

Ten men are developing an iron claim near Kitchener. This is where "Chippy" Hill made his first big stake in British Columbia by the sale of a bunch of iron claims on Kitchener mountain to the C. P. R., that enabled him to go east as a capitalist and he has been making money ever since, and expects to re-open his coal mine at Hillcrest, Alta.

The local provincial police police were mixed up in a raid on several booze joints at Yahk on Sunday last. Liquor was found on the premises of Ben Rulby, hotelkeeper, and Herman Peterson, who runs a pool room and soft drink store. They were brought up before Magistrate Cassidy of Bull River on Monday and each fined $100 and costs. This is the first court that has ever been held in the town of Yahk.

Ed. Heaphy, manager of the Elk Lumber Co., and J. G. Billings, representing Fernie Lumber Co. interests, returned yesterday from Winnipeg, where negotiations are taking place for the promotion of the big lumber merger, which, if it goes through, will take in the Elk Lumber Co., the Fernie Lumber Co. and the Seipple Timber Co. interests. They are not talking for publication but it is expected that an announcement will shortly be made.

CRANBROOK

(From the Courier)

Capt. J. M.Cumming, adjutant, 11th Canadian Machine Gun Brigade, Victoria, is in the city at present for the purpose of establishing a company of this new machine gun unit. The brigade has been organized in order to perpetuate in the Canadian active militia the magnificent fighting record of the Canadian Machine Gun Corps. It is proposed to have one company consisting of eleven officers and 140 other ranks with 24 Vickers machine guns formed in the Cranbrook-Fernie district. Lieut. Percy Adams, who served in the same unit overseas with Captain Cumming, may take charge of the local company, while it is hoped that many returned machine gunners will again become interested in what is probably the most interesting branch of the militia.

Geo. F. Stevenson, for many years manager of the Cranbrook Jobbers, but for the past three years in charge of the Nelson Jobbers, returned to Cranbrook Sunday and has resumed his old position with the local firm.

An interesting case was up before the police court Thursday morning, when two well-known brewery men aired their views. Harry Hesse, of the Cranbrook Brewery, had a man named Mulleur arrested for assault, which took place at the establishment of Mr. Hesse. When the police arrived Mulleur was securely made fast with a heavy rope and bound hand and foot. In the police court, Mulleur was bound over to keep the peace, going $550 in his own security and another party for $250.

PRESS COMMENT

Mr. Wilson Not Too Modest

The question, "Who won the war?" was lately discussed by a number of writers in various countries, each one disposed to regard the part of his own country as the most important one. In the United States not a few good citizens persuaded themselves that the war was won by the American army. It was an amusing notion, which most of us were inclined to smile at, and not ascribe to sensible Americans. That the Americans came into the war at a time when their aid was of great value, and that they thus shared the glory of victory with the nations which had fought for three years before any American soldier appeared in Europe, everybody is ready to admit. Only foolish boasters have hitherto claimed more than this. Now, however, we find America's part in the great conflict set forth by President Wilson in terms which we might well have left to Fourth of July orators in the districts. In his speech to Congress recently, on the cost of living, Mr. Wilson, pleading for assistance to the people of Europe who are short of food, said:

"It is in this supreme crisis—this crisis of all mankind—that America must prove her mettle. In the presence of a world confused, distracted, she must show herself self-possessed, self-contained, capable of sober and effective action. She saved Europe by her action in arms; she must now save it by her action in peace. In saving Europe she will save herself, as she did upon the battlefields of the war. The calmness and capacity with which she deals with and masters the problems of peace will be the final test and proof of her place among the peoples of the world."

"She saved Europe by her action in arms," is not the kind of statement one would have expected from the head of a great nation which entered the war after other nations had fought and sacrificed for years. It might not be too much to say that the British navy saved the seaports of the United States from bombardment. But we would not expect either King George or the First Lord of the Admiralty to say so."—The Journal of Commerce.

POSTAL NOTES ISSUE STOPPED

Acting under instructions from Ottawa, the issue of postal notes from the Fernie office has been stopped and will continue to be until the rate of exchange against Canada existing in the United States comes back to normal position. Notices of this stoppage was received by Postmaster Johnson on Saturday last, and immediately put into effect.

This action has been taken owing to some people having abused the postal note privilege in order to evade paying exchange. Up to now the notes have been bought up and cashed in the United States which has given the purchaser about five per cent on the deal.

Money orders to the United States, however, are being put through the post office. The rate today is 4.20 per cent, but it fluctuates almost daily with the change in the bank exchange rate.

On money orders for small amounts the rate is higher. For an amount under $5 the exchange charge is 18 cents, under $10 it is 40 cents, under $15, 60 cents, and under $20 it is 80 cents. In addition to this there is the 2 cent war tax on every order. Thus, a money order for $25 which could be purchased at the Fernie post office but ashort time ago at a total cost of $25.15, now costs the sender something like $16.17, all caused by the slump in sterling on the American market.

ASSIST IN WAR ON PROFITEERING

At the expense of the Provincial Government, and upon the call of Attorney-General Farris, the mayors and reeves of 27 British Columbia Municipalities met in an "anti-high cost of living" conference at the court house this morning. As a direct result, resolutions containing the demands of this Province for "action" to combat increasing commodity prices, excessive profits and hoarding will be laid before the Ottawa Government within a few days. The Attorney-General will himself present the British Columbia demands, first making effort to have representatives of other Provinces concur and collaborate.

Mr. Farris leaves for Ottawa in connection with the Dominion Labor Congress on Tuesday, and his pledge to the assembled Mayors and Reeves today included his intention to give the so-called high cost of living problem sincere and extensive attention while in proximity of the Federal Government. The assistance of B.C. federal members at Ottawa will be solicited by telegraph in his behalf, and a genuine campaign inaugurated to fight the profiteer and hoarder.

It was the unanimous sense of the gathering that the new act establishing the Board of Commerce, with Dominion-wide powers, could well be subject to amendment if local benefit were to be derived. It was argued that operating from Ottawa, the board's range would be too long to be fully effective on the Western Coast. A resolution, therefore, by Mayor Gale, seconded by Reeve Fletcher of Point Grey, was carried, suggesting that the establishment of a B. C. Provincial board, with full judiciary and administrative powers, be effected. A second section of the same resolution also asked that the Board of Commerce make some move to establish a legal business profit "spread" as an initial basis upon which profits could be figured where commodities of life were concerned.

Another resolution approved the action of the Attorney-General in calling the meeting. It also expressed the opinion of the gathering that it was up to the federal authorities to exercise the initiative by administering the act and supplying the proper officers for its administration. It further asked that as far as possible powers be allocated to provincial and municipal authorities that they might assist in the administration, as they were determined to have action, and to assist in every way possible. A last clause of the same resolution pledged the meeting to tender the assistance of all municipalities represented.—Colonist.

SENATE AND TREATY

At this stage of procedure with the Treaty any talk of alteration or amendment of the text is madness. Declaration by the Senate that would actually change the meaning of any provisions and call for specific assent and accepted by other parties to the greement must not be mde. Germany has signed and ratified the Treaty at Versailles. If we ratify a different treaty she is at once absolved from all obligations so far as the United States is concerned. We remain at war with her and can have peace only by going, as Senator Hitchcock has said, hat in hand to beg her to accept our amendments. It would be an intolerable humiliation, that we would be forced to go as supplicants to Weimar, to humble ourselves before the enemy we have conquered, to persuade, argue, entreat what we have already exercised the battle-won right to dictate. The Germans would be fools if they did not take advantage of our blunder and false position to insist upon substantial alterations of the terms imposed upon them. But this is secondary. The all-sufficient, compelling reason is that the American people do not want to see the President or his envoy sitting in the ante-room of the German Minister of Foreign Affairs awaiting an opportunity to present his humle prayer for Germany's acceptance of the Senate's revised copy of the Treaty of Peace.—New York Times.

THE GRATUITY DEMAND

The demand from Great War Veterans for a general $2,000 gratuity is arousing great interest throughout the Dominion. Whatever the merits of the demand, the agitation is bringing out the fact that Canada's national expenditure has, owing to the war, already passed the safety mark and unless there is greater production, this country will face a serious financial situation in the immediate years.

Before the war, as Sir John Willison, the veteran journalist, pointed out in a recent Toronto address, Canada's national expenditure was $170,000,000. Today Canada requires an annual revenue of at least $400,000,000. It is estimated that the expenditure this year will be $820,000,000, and there is only $250,000,000 of revenue. When the war began Canada's debt was $336,000,000; today it is $2,000,000,000. With these figures to face by the people of Canada the gratuity proposal surely requires serious consideration, both by its advocates and by the people at large. The question of more liberal provision for returned men through the coming winter period cannot be settled by mob methods. If the increased obligation is one that Canada should assume, the people are ready to assume it, fully conscious of the great debt owing to her hero soldiers. But all features of the situation need to be canvassed and the problem faced squarely.—Columbian.

AMEND RED CROSS CONSTITUTION

Winnipeg.—Close co-operation between the Canadian Red Cross Society and St. John's Ambulance association and brigade was advocated by His Excellency, the Duke of Devonshire, in taking part today in a discussion at the central council of the Canadian Red Cross society.

Col. Marshall of Toronto is presiding at the sesions of the conference which opened yesterday. The constitution of the Canadian Red Cross was amended to come into the league of Red Cross societies under the league of nations. They include in their object the improvement of health, prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world.

In response to urgent requests the Canadian Red Cross is now sending four carloads of supplies to the British mission at Vladivistok. Reports on reparation work were presented and they show that the Canadian Red Cross has expended $65,000 to provide for nurses so far. Ten thousand dollars was voted for the Edith Cavell memorial rest home for nurses in England.

An Appeal to Methodism

There is a distinct historic significance in the appeal of teachers of artistic dancing to the Methodist Episcopal church of America for a revision of its discipline to end the ban on Terpsichore.

With the ban on card playing, even without stakes, the ban on the use of tobacco, the ban on theatre-going, this vote on dancing has been often ignored by communicants, and in the cities of America, at least, disciplining any person for dancing is almost unheard of. Yet since Wesley's time Methodism has frowned on the art taught by the dancing masters. The opposition was only in part based on the association of liquor or beer where young people were dancing. In a measure it sprang out of the same feeling as the Roman Catholic distinction between square dances to be encouraged and round dances to be discouraged. But in this it seems to have been more or less illogical, for between the waltz and holding hands in a corner any intelligent mother would prefer the dance for her daughter if she wanted to keep her fancy free.—Brooklyn Eagle.

MR. ALEXANDER MUNRO

R.R. No. 1, Lorne, Ont.

"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors, and tried nearly everything I saw advertised to cure Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit.

Finally, I decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not so severe, and the swelling started to go down.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place".

AGITATORS DEPORTED

Vancouver, B.C.,—Sept. 9— Dmitrio Starikoff, leader of the Russian Worker's Union, agitator, revolutionary, I.W.W., and alleged Nihilist, who spent five years in the underground prisons of Siberia, as a punishment for his political activities when in Russia, was yesterday ordered deported to Russia. This decision was arrived at by the immigration commission, after a trial lasting since August 13, during which a very strong effort was made by the defence to escape conviction.

Theodor Golven, alias "The Doctor" was also ordered deported.

Special Agent Roth, of the R.N.W. M.P., a witness for the prosecution, testified that he had served five years in the Russian army. He said he met Starikoff at a pool room, and the accused was always active in agitating among the Russians. Starikoff told Ruth he "hoped to see the Soviet government in Canada as in Russia."

Accused would meet incoming trains and approach Russians coming in and canvass for membership to the Russian Worker's Union. After the police raided the meeting place of the organization the meeting were held in secret. Roth followed Starikoff one time to a house where a meeting was to be held. When all had entered the house was closed and the lights out. Roth remained on the outside. He afterward heard the Russians talking of the fine meeting they had.

THE DEPRECIATED CURRENCY OF BRITAIN

The United States finds that it also has cause to worry over the unprecedented foreign exchange situation. With the pound sterling hovering around $4, the French franc showing a depreciation of 37 per cent, and the Italian lira selling at 45 per cent under par, the United States merchants find that their goods are not half so popular in European countries as they previously were. The consequence of all this is that the export trade of the United States is on the down grade, and no doubt will so continue until European credit again comes into its own. With the pound sterling, worth at par, $4.87½, selling in New York around $4.12½, the low record up to this writing, though experts state that it will likely drop to $4 before the movement is halted, the average Englishman is not likely to buy anything in America that is not absolutely necessary.

While the fall in sterling exchange has been unprecedented, the circumstances is but natural after the events of the past five years. British investments in foreign countries have been largely liquidated or borrowed against, while the demand for foodstuffs and other necessities in the British Isles has by no means been satisfied, in spite of the large imports. On the other hand, British export trade has been partially paralyzed through the inability of the Englishman to get down to work and make something that can be sold in the foreign markets. A hint of the present condition of affairs in that country is to be had in the announcement that Canadian coal is now being carried from Sydney, Nova Scotia, to Norway, and that quite an extensive trade is anticipated. Imagine coal from Canada to Norway in competition with British coal, which so far as geography is concerned, is almost under Norway's nose. This is an indication as to the position in which the coal trade of the British Isles now finds itself, unable even to supply its near neighbors, as has been the custom for generations.

Unfortunately for British finances, that country must of necessity import many things, such, for instance, as wheat, raw cotton and the like, so it is certain that under the depreciated pound sterling, not to speak of abnormally high ocean rates, there can be no cheap living in that country for some time to come at least, or until the discount rates become normal once more.—Saturday Night.

CHANGE IN MACLEOD COUNCIL

Macleod:—During the past week several changes have taken place in the town council. Influence was brought to bear on the Attorney General's department by which the mayor who is also clerk of the supreme court tendered to the council meeting his resignation, stating that he was sorry to do so, as he would like to carry out the line of work which he had planned, and which would be for the benefit of the town of Macleod. At the same meeting councillor Robert Cunningham, asked to be relieved from further duty this year, as he was leaving for Scotland and would be absent for six months. Three members received notice that they had forfeited their seats as councillors, on account of having certain contracts with the town. Since the engineer was relieved of his duties some weeks ago, some one has been trying to get rid of the mayor and councillors, with the result as stated. Almost every council has in the past contained business men who sold goods that the town required, and the matter was not noticed, and it will be hard to have a council without the business man on it. Nomination day will be on September 11th, 1919, for a mayor and one councillor, and voting one week later.

ORPHEUM THEATRE WILL SHOW "VIRTUOUS WIVES"

The Orpheum theatre has contracted to show Miss Anita Stewart's initial First National production "Virtuous Wives," adapted from the two million edition book of the same title by Owen Johnson.

"Virtuous Wives" is described as a truthful story of married life in New York society. According to the author in the introduction to his story a virtuous wife is becoming an extinct spece of feminity under present-day conditions. The reasons for this, as described in his novel, have been included in the screen adaptation. Miss Stewart makes her return to the American screen after an absence of several months in the role of Amy Forrester, the "only member of a social set to whom pleasure is young." As the wife of Andrew Forrester, and obsessed only with the idea of constant amusement, she appears in the role of the young society matron who finally is brought to the realization that unbridled pleasure is but the ash of happiness.

SUPPORT YOUR WEEKLY

The British Columbia Farmer, official organ of the United Farmers of British Columbia, addresses its readers thus:

"Support your local newspaper. British Columbia is blessed with some of the best weeklies in Canada, and, generally speaking, local support seems to be forthcoming; but in some districts petty differences crop in to mar the good work that the newspaper can do.

"A good weekly newspaper is an asset to any district. It is the bureau of information for your district—and a mighty effective bureau it is, too. Support your local paper; with its weekly budget of local happenings every week it creates a fine community spirit, and community spirit helps a district to strive for everything that is best."

A WESTERN VIEW

Moose Jaw News: The election of the Hon. Mackenzie King, by the gathering of partizan Liberals, as their leader, shows that the old policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is to be continued, with all the old evil practices of party government still remaining. What this will mean we all know. It is for this reason that the selection of the new leader will alienate all progressive Liberals and will certainly not draw into its fold the men who, while holding Liberal principles still, are ready to maintain the strength of Unionism. No support of the returned men, to whom he refused to send help in their time of need, is to be expected. The farmers of the west will look askance at the man who is known to have secured his election by the votes of men of the east, so that in reality he will be hemmed in by antagonism from all sides. Consequently he is far from being the man to whom the Liberal party can look with hope that he may once again put that party in power. It is true that he has taken a strong stand on the Labor question, but there is little to be found in "Industry and Humanity" that is not incorporated in the policy of the present government on the Labor question. As John Morley once said, "We shall see what we shall see," but from the records of the past of the Hon. Mackenzie King he is hardly likely to prove to be the Moses for whom the old Liberals were looking.

CHINESE ARE RETURNING

Victoria, Sept. 9.— The Chinese coolies who are returning home to China across Canada from France will be kept at William Head while they are awaiting their transports.

The local military authorities yesterday received instructions to prepare quarters for the thousands of natives on the ground at the quarantine station, where they were encamped when bound for France several years ago to work behind the battle lines in France. Tents will be erected and preparations made for about 5,000. Over 8,000 Chinese are expected through here during this month, and the military authorities have orders to have the encampment ready for occupation by September 23.

RESOLUTIONS BEFORE THE MINERS

Cleveland, Sept. 10.—Resolutions favoring the formation of a national labor party, nationalization of coal mines at the earliest possible moment an alliance for co-operation of political and economical effort with the railway brotherhoods, freight handlers and other transportation workers' unions, has been accepted in principle by the committee on resolutions of the United Mine Workers of America and will be brought before the convention here at an early date.

The proposed alliance with the railroad and transportation workers is modelled on the lines of the "British Triple Alliance" of miners, railwaymen and transport workers, which has proven such a powerful factor in the industrial and political life of Great Britain. All the proposals have been expressed in resolutions received from all parts of the country. After a preliminary survey of the hundreds of resolutions before it the committee have decided to recommend favorably to the convention declarations against universal military service or any form of militarism in the United States, and against lynching and mob violence.

Advocacy of 100 per cent Americanization of the United Mine Workers by requiring application for first citizenship papers to be a condition of membership and endorsement of the league of nations. Proposals to withdraw from the American Federation of Labor and to enter upon the formation of the One Big Union embracing all branches of labor, as advocated by local unions, will be adversely represented.

Other local resolutions which will be reported unfavorably were those to remove international headquarters from Indianapolis to Cleveland and on the principle of "one man job" to declare owners of more than 40 acres of land or proprietors of an equivalent business ineligible for membership in the miners' organization.

Practically every wage resolution presented demanded a six-hour day, on the ground that under present conditions miners cannot count upon steady employment owing to over production, and many of them demand that operators in the various fields be required to allocate the tonnage produced among all the mines in the district so that all miners share equal opportunity for employment. A committee representing every district organization was appointed today to attend the funeral of Jno. Mitchell, former president of the association, and the convention will adjourn on the day of interment.

PROFITEERS

Price-raising, in itself, is not profiteering. Killing a man, in itself, is not murder. The motive behind the act is what counts. The clerk whose increased living expenses compel him to ask for a raise in salary is not a profiteer. But the man who hoards food in the hope that he will be able later on to sell his stock at a higher price, which may result from his own act in withholding it from sale at the present time, is a profiteer and will be treated accordingly. You can define profiteering fairly accurately as an effort to take undue advantage of present conditions by attempting to create prices not justified by the familiar economic law of supply and demand.

Rent profiteers have been much in the public mind. There is no Federal statute to punish this offence, although steps have been taken in many cities to keep prices at a fair level. Rents have, beyond doubt, soared up to enormous heights in many places. But it is only within the past two years that landlords, as a class, have had their innings. In preceding years, especially in closely settled districts, the supply of houses has generally exceeded the demand. Landlords were therefore obliged to pursue tenants with all sorts of inducements. Owners of property for rent had, as a rule, considerable difficulty in making it pay a fair return on the investment. But the present difficulty—ever since the war brought activity to a full stop—is to keep the landlord from becoming too much exhilarated by the fact that he has at last got a tenant exactly where he wants him. Rent profiteering should be carefully dealt with. Otherwise the money now invested in dwellings and other buildings for rent may be diverted into other investments more satisfactory perhaps to the landlord, but far less convenient for anyone who wants to rent a home, apartment or office.

The other most conspicuous class of profiteers comprises those who hold back foodstuffs from the market in the belief that rising prices will rise still farther. It is an old idea, hateful to men of every race and era. It is now prohibited by Federal statute, and the punishment is severe. The convicted profiteer can be fined and locked up; but even before he is convicted his goods can be seized; "if adjudged to be hoarded they shall be disposed of by sale in such manner as to provide the most equitable distribution thereof." The profiteer thus loses his liberty and the amount of his fine; also the profits he expected to make by hoarding, plus the expense of litigation.

This statute, however, was passed in the stress of our early war legislation ,and has loopholes through which various offenders have been able to escape. Attorney General Palmer, lacking more drastic legislation, has asked for the widest public discussion on the subject. Laws and prosecutions will do much, but public opinion will accomplish still more. The profiteer, of no matter what class, who knows that his actions are universally understood and abhorred, will not venture very far. He cannot stand publicity.—Collier's.

WANT CARS RELEASED

Winnipeg,—The Canadian Railway war board has communicated with the fuel administrators of the three western provinces requesting that coal dealers throughout the west be urged to release cars placed for unloading without delay in order that the railways, by thus getting a fuller use of their equipment, may in some measure be enabled to overcome the handicap resulting from the necessity of handling the bulk of the winter's coal supply from the western mines at the same time and in the same direction with a heavy grain traffic.

McVETY IN THE O. B. U.

An unexpected presentation was made recently at the Labor Temple, Vancouver, when J. R. McVety, an avowed enemy of the One Big Union and leader of the fight in this city against that form of organization, received through the mail a complimentary membership in the O.B.U.

"While this gift is no doubt sent in the spirit of sarcasm, it is nevertheless welcome," stated Mr. McVety, "for in years to come it will prove an interesting souvenir of the hair-brained attempt to disorganize organized labor, while at the present time it is a memento of the passing into oblivion of an unworkable organization."

DOMINION'S SUPPLY OF COAL IS SHORT

While coal operators and others have announced that there need be no fear of a shortage in the coal supply this Winter in this section of the Dominion and, further, the prevailing feeling regarding the coal supply has become easier since the settlement of the recent strike in District 18, the survey of the situation throughout the Dominion made by the Canadian Commission of Conservation, sets forth that the supply will be inadequate. The Commission's report on the coal situation states that up to June 7 of this year total production of anthracite was only 33,349,500 net tons, as compared with 42,858,000 tons in the corresponding period of 1918, a decrease of 9,500,000 tons or twenty-two per cent. It is assumed that the 1919 production will be less than 80,000,000 tons, whereas the production last year was 99,514,334 tons. Thus a shortage of 20,000,000 tons or twenty per cent is anticipated.

In discussing the cause of the shortage it is said that it is due to a number of causes, not the least of which is the migration of tens of thousands of Czecho-Slavs, Slavs, Hungarians Poles and other Europeans, who, the war being over, are returning to their home countres.

Much higher prices are prophesied for anthracite and consumers are advised to lay in their Wnter supplies withut delay.

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

COULDN'T TAKE OFF HER RINGS

Hands Were Swollen From Rheumatism—Tanlac Relieves Trouble

"I had almost lost the use of my limbs from rheumatism and my hands were so swollen I couldn't take off my rings, but since I took Tanlac I have nearly forgotten I ever had rheumatism at all," said Mrs. Mary O'Neill, who resides at 18 Starr Street, Halifax, Canada.

"I could talk all day and not even get started telling how I suffered with rheumatism for the past four years," she continued. "I would want to eat and would try to, but it didn't do me any good, for gas would form in my stomach and press up against my heart and put me in misery for hours at a time. Many a time I have had to stop work about the house on account of dizziness and shortness of breath. I would just have to lie down and get quiet until my breathing would get easier. Then heartburn and a blinding headache would set in and when I would get up and start across the room, I would have to catch myself to keep from falling on the floor. I was weak and felt too worn out and tired all the time to be anything like my natural self, and all the medicine I took didn't make me feel any better. Then rheumatism set in and the pains would seem to start in my shoulders and joints and go through my whole body. My joints would swell so that I could hardly move for the stiffness and pain. At night I would lay awake in misery and often wouldn't get any rest at all. Most of the pain would be in my left side, and I couldn't have slept on my left side nor wouldn't have tried for a thousand dollars.

"I took the advice of a young man who is boarding at my house and tried Tanlac, and I am mighty glad I did. Tanlac is a wonderful medicine, for it has not only relieved my stomach trouble entirely, but the rheumatism is also a thing of the past. I can get around the house and go just anywhere I want to, like I had never had rheumatism at all. My appetite has come back like old times and I can eat and enjoy just the biggest kind of a meal and never have a minute's trouble. The heartburn disappeared when I got relief from the indigestion and I can sleep all night long and wake in the morning feeling fine. My fingers have gone down to their natural size and neither myself nor anybody else could tell I ever had rheumatism. I'll certainly tell anybody that I see what Tanlac has done for me, and I will be glad to recommend it in every way possible for I am thankful for the relief it has brought me."

LABOR VS. GRATUITIES

Canada is confronted today with a most perplexing and anomalous situation in regard to labor. There is a pronounced and almost distressing shortage of it, while at the same time there is a marked amount of unemployment. Until conditions change Canada is going to have to more or less mark time.

Labor is the basic necessity in both agriculture and industry—the power that makes the wheels go round. The solution of the whole difficulty lies with those who are unemployed, and to a great extent their refusal to work is easily explained and quite understandable. In the first instance take the case of those who filled the gaps left open by men who enlisted for war service. High wages were paid to these "fillers-in." The positions they occupied during the war, however, are slowly but surely being cut off, and they are thrown out of employment. When it comes to taking up fresh tasks, they are demanding wages equivalent to what they had before. Such wages, now, are becoming increasingly difficult to get, and in consequence this class of labor is standing pat, as it were, waiting for other and more favorable openings, and living meanwhile on the surplus of what, to them, were profitable times.

The second instance concerns demobilized soldiers. It is quite easy to understand that when a man first enlisted and was asked to state his former civilian occupation, he was somewhat hesitant in saying that he was a laborer, for example. And so, in consequence, he stated on the forms that he was required to fill in that he was a moulder, or a bricklayer, or a carpenter. Once in the companionship of his fellow soldiers the "miserable $1.10 a day" was a tidbit of gossip, and he commenced the brag before his fellows of the money he earned before the war. As time went on the semblance of truth and his own estimation of himself grew accordingly. All this is simply in accordance with human nature.

Now that he is demobilized, what happens? If before the war he carried bricks in a hod, he has now become a bricklayer and wants a bricklayer's job and wages. If he was formerly a carpenter, he has now become a carpenter-contractor. If he was atype-setter in a newspaper office we find that he now styles himself a journalist. The gratuity which he is drawing from the government keeps him from immediate want so that he has no worry, always providing, of course, that he has no one dependent upon him. Most of the married men, you will notice, are back at work.

And who can blame our bricklayer-carpenter-contractor-journalist - ex-soldier? He has had a pretty hard time of it during the war, and now the words of the old song are realized and he has his civvy clothes on. As long as the gratuity lasts he is going to wait for the job he thinks he is qualified to fill. When the gratuity is all spent he will strike his present colors from the masthead, don his suit of overalls, and go back to his old job, outwardly somewhat cynical, perhaps, but inwardly his old cheerful self.

There is hardly a soul in Canada who begrudges the soldier his gratuity or who would object to still further grants. But if we can get away from the individual element and remember the needs of the nation as a whole, it seems quite apparent that the sooner these gratuities are all spent, the better it will be for Canada.

In the meantime, and until this happens, it is useless for Canada to try and encourage immigration from abroad. We are not in a position to house, clothe, feed and find employment for foreign labor of any sort until our house is more in order.—By O. C. Pease, Lieut C.E.F.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

The Calgary Herald said in last Monday's paper that a fire started in Lou Foisy's garage and several buildings were burnt down in Elko; the Post Office, Fred Roo's and several other buildings What the Herald should have said is that the fire started in the old Melbourne Hotel, owned by H. L. Stephens, of Calgary, and is one of them unknown mysteries, and it made a clean sweep of the whole of block one. Mrs. H. Sanders, Elko's first merchant lost two valuable buildings but saved the furniture. Fred Roo was a very heavy but cheerful loser, dropping over ten thousand dollars but picked up a few staples and was selling goods in the sample room of the Columbia Hotel at noon the day of the fire. The fire started between five and six o'clock Monday morning, and while it lasted it was hotter than, well you know just as well as I do. Jim Thistlebeak says the only way you can put Fred Roo out of business is to kill him. The contract is let for a new building, and new goods arriving daily, which he guarantees absolutely fresh except the salt.

There was a big delegation of travellers in Elko since the fire which we shall mention in next week's notes.

COAL CREEK NOTES

One was reminded of old times seeing so many pay envelopes up here on Monday.

The members of the G. W. V. A. Ladies Auxiliary are holding a social, whist drive and dance in the Vets' club rooms on Tuesday evening next, commencing at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Worthington and Mr. and Mrs. John Caufield desire to thank the residents for their many kind equiries anent the accident of last Sunday.

Joe Delucca, who has taken over the duties as sanitary engineer for the Coal Co., was up here during the week looking over the company's property.

As a result of the meeting held in the council chamber last Sunday we learn of the amalgamation of the Crow's Nest Colliery band with the Italian band. Anyone desirous of taking up instruments apply to D. F. Markland, Box 720, Fernie.

Word was received in camp on Sunday of a serious accident befalling an auto party from here. We are pleased to report there were no bones broken, bruises and shock being the extent of injuries received.

Indignation is rife among the returned men of this camp over the action of Sir Robert Borden re the Soldiers' bonus scheme.

Mrs. Joseph Gillies was visiting her sister, Mrs. Johnstone, on Thursday.

We are requested to ask the local members of the Fernie G.W.V.A. to attend the general meeting on Thursday, Sept. 18 New committees will be appointed and matters of importance will be discussed. Commence 7 p.m.

Notification of the formation of a ladies Chapter of the Fernie Loyal Order of Moose has been received by members' wives up here. As the Moose are noted for their good socials held during the winter months, the addition of the female element augurs well for the future. The institution takes place on Monday next at Ingram's hall at 7.30 p.m. We wish them success

Cribbage—1J. Ferguson, 2 S. Heaney 3 J. S. Weir.

Dominoes — 1 J. Ferguson, 2 H. Billsborough, 3 M. Branch.

Billiards unfinished.

Pool—1 S. Heaney, 2 J. Haile.

Reverse the Process!

A humorous Frenchman has suggested that instead of compelling weary war veterans to march through many miles of streets for the delight of patriotic sightseers, the soldiers should be accommodated on the stands and the sightseers should parade along the streets. The trouble would probably be that the procession would be so long that the stands would be deserted hours before it came to an end.—London Daily Express.

Why They Oppose the League

It is for that reason that those who think most deeply oppose the covenant of the league as it stands. They desire such a league as will create and foster kindly sentiment, which a legue with coercive power, even in the background, will never do. All coercion suggests resistance. Before any league can safely be entrusted with regulative powers there must be created something in the nature of loyalty to it.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Editor Fernie Free Press: :

Dear Sir—Will you kindly acknowledge through your valuable columns the thanks and appreciation of the patients of this institution for the splendid donation of novels collected by Mrs. H. R. Huntington and subscribed by the following:

Mrs. Hartley Wilson, Mrs. Arthur M. Owen, Mrs. Francis White, Mrs. Douglas Corsan, Mrs. James McLean, Mrs. Tom Oakley, Mrs. A. Klauer, Mrs. A. Macneil, Mrs. H. R. Huntington, Mrs. Elley, Mrs. Tom Prentice, Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mrs. Alice Boardman, Mrs. W. R. Wilson.

Thanking you for all past favors.

I am, Yours truly,
C. H. Kerr,
Hospital Commandant.

A baseball game is to be staged in the City Park on Sunday between the Fernie All Stars and the F.A.A.C. This is the last game of the season and is for the championship of the city league, so it promises to be good. The boys have played good ball all this year, so this game will not be lacking in excitement.

ATTENTION!

Having purchased and taken over the Grocery and Produce business of G. Kossoff, I wish to solicit your continued patronage, and will at all times guarantee to give you the greatest satisfaction in every line we carry.

Hoping that you will give us a fair trial,

Yours truly,

JOS. PODBIELANCIK.

FATALITY AT COAL CREEK

Mario Oliva, employed as timberman in No. 1 East Mine, Coal Creek, sustained injuries resulting from a cave-in while engaged in the performance of his regular duties on Monday morning that caused instant death. This is the first fatal accident in the local mines this year. The remains were conveyed to the morgue and Coroner Thomson ordered an inquest, which took place on Wednesday evening, when the jury brought in the following verdict: "We find that the deceased came to his death about 10.30 a.m. on Monday, Sept. 15, 1919, in No. 1 East Mine at Coal Creek, by being crushed by a fall of coal from the face of the working place in which he was employed. We also find that the cause of death was purely accidental, and that no blame can be attached to anyone."

Deceased was an Italian, 34 years of age, and is survived by his wife and one young child, who reside in Fernie Annex. He also has one brother and several cousins living here but his native home is at Cimbro, Italy, and the remains will be shipped to that place, where his parents reside.. The body will be shipped from here via the G. N. railway on Sept. 23, and will leave New York on board the S.S. "America" direct for Genoa, Italy. Thence it will be carried by rail 200 miles to Cimbro, where interment will take place. The preparation of the body and funeral arrangements here are being conducted by G. B. Thomson, undertaker, of this city.

BOARD OF TRADE HOLD MEETING

The general monthly meeting of the Fernie Board of Trade was held in the council chamber on Thursday evening, when some fifty members attended. The membership of the Board at present has reached 206 with promises from the membership committee that this number will be increased considerably.

The Publicity Committee have already got to work on the publicity campaign for this fall, and have had 10,000 leaflets printed for distribution throughout outside points from which tourists may be expected. The merchants of the city have very kindly consented to enclosing these leaflets in the correspondence sent out in the ordinary course of business. The committee, however, had slightly exceeded their appropriation for this campaign and it appeared from the discussion that it was the desire of the majority of the members present at the meeting that an extravagant publicity program at this time would not be conducive of the results to be accomplished. A lively little debate ensued when G. G. Henderson took exception to the letter heads which the Publicity Committee had had printed on account of their bearing the inscription: "Address all communications to Manager of Information Bureau, J. F. Spalding." It was generally admitted that this should not have been done and that the letterheads should have had no individual's name upon same. Mr. Herchmer as chairman of the committee, assumed responsibility for the committee, and stated that in future the committee would adhere to the instructions of the Board by submitting all matters of publicity nature to the Executive for approval.

G. B. Thomson, under the caption of New Business, brought up the question of a band and a general discussion followed. Mr. Herchmer suggested that the band should be an organization controlled exclusively by the city council and that it should be financed by the city so that everyone in the city should bear their proportion of the burden instead of the merchants on the main street being required to shoulder this by subscribing individually. On a motion by Thomas Biggs, seconded by A. J. Moffatt, it was carried that in the opinion of the Board a band would be an asset to the city. After some further discussion, on a motion introduced by the Secretary, by consent there was added to the foregoing motion—"And this Board of Trade pledge its cooperation and moral support for the establishment of a city band." An application for the appointment of Bandmaster was received from Herbert Gathercote, ex-B.M. 187th Batt., C.E.F., now residing at Castor, Alta., and this was referred to the secretary of the band.

G. G. Henderson, chairman of Industrial and Good Roads Committee, submitted a report as requested to do at the previous regular meeting, with regard to the betterment of the sidewalks in the city. He reported that work had been commenced on a cement walk in front of the Henderson Block and that the Northern Hotel and other property on that side of Victoria avenue would have a permanent sidewalk in the near future. On the other side of the street Messrs Johnson & Falconer, the Waldorf Hotel, Thos. Beck Block and P. Burns will construct cement walks. Continuing on Victoria avenue, A. C. Liphardt, Muirhead & Co., G. F. Johnson and the Alex. Beck Block have also agreed to construct cement sidewalks.

In dealing with other walks, Mr. Henderson's report states: "We recommend that the city council be requested to remove the dilapidated walk on the north side of the city hall, leaving the outside stringer in place, then filling the space with about four inches of ashes or coke cinders, covering the cinders or ashes with about an inch or less of clay loam, such as can be obtained on the federal government lot on Victoria avenue, and then a light coating of coarse sand or fine gravel. It is believed that this would make a very serviceable walk and the work done would not be wasted when the time arrived for putting down cement walks, as this would make an ideal base for concrete. If this piece of walk is treated in this manner at an early date, and proves satisfactory, a large amount of other work could be finished in the same manner this fall."

Robt. E. Stewart has recently been appointed by Col. Belson, O.C. B.C. Cadets, to act as sergeant instructor of Fernie Company of the School Cadet Corps. There are at present some sixty odd boys enrolled here and for those desiring to join they may submit their names to Sergt. Stewart at the Central School grounds at 6.30 p.m. on Wednesdays and Fridays of each week. Only boys between the ages of 12 and 18 years are eligible. It is the intention to establish a large corps of cadets here and within a short time those in charge expect to have uniforms and complete equipment for the corps. So far they are equipped only with rifles, hats and belts.

FERNIE WON FOOTBALL GAME

In an exhibition football match played here last Sunday between the Fernie eleven and the well known Trail team from West Kootenay, the local boys won out by a score of two goals to one for the visitors. The game was only a fair demonstration, each team showing bursts of speed spasmodically. It was, however, an exceptionally clean game throughout. The Fernie boys, as the final score indicates, played a slightly better game, although in the first half with the wind in their favor the play was almost entirely in their opponents end of the field, and they missed several opportunities of scoring. In the last period, despite the disadvantage of the wind ,they continued to keep the play well away from thir goal, with the result that only one tally was made by Trail, and this on a corner kick.

Summary of the scoring: First Period—Fernie, Thornton, 13 minutes. Fernie, Worthington, 30 minutes. Second Period—Trail, Leckie, 16 minutes.

J. Caufield of Coal Creek was referee. Linesmen: Paddy Lennon, of Trail; and J. Sweeney, of Fernie.

The line-up was as follows:

Trail.	Fernie
Goal
Rutledge	Sawyer
Backs
Minton	Booth
Young	Oakley
Half Backs
Marshall	Brindley
Balfour	Riley
Marshall	Smith
Forwards
Cooks	Wheeler
Sales	Mills
Leckie	Worthington
Lennon	Thornton
Crowe	Robson

A very large crowd witnessed the game and there were many visitors from Natal and Michel who journeyed here to see the match. On Saturday evening the Trail team were guests at a smoking concert given by the Fernie and Coal Creek clubs, and everything was made as pleasant as possible for the visiting team.

NORTHERN WINS APPEAL

His Honor Judge Thompson on Wednesday morning handed down a very lengthy and exceedingly important judgment in the appeal of the Northern Cafe Co., Ltd. vs. W. H. Whimster et al. This is one of the appeals from a conviction before the Police Magistrate under the Prohibition Act on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor when the appellant company was found guilty and fined $1000. In view of the large number of convictions, twelve in all, against hotelkeepers in this city through the activities of the provincial authorities over the municipal, during July and August, all of which are being carried to higher courts, and as this is the first of these cases to be heard on appeal it has consequently aroused not only keen local interest but more or less general interest throughout the province, as it undoubtedly will form a precedent for charges of a similar nature under the B.C. Prohibition Act.

The actual facts as set out in the judgment are as follows: "On the 27th of May, 1919, two constables, Pearman and Chadwick, entered what is known as the bar-room of the Northern Hotel in the City of Fernie. Constable Pearman addressed Nick Danusick an employee of the company, who throughout the trial is known as the bartender, and asked him if he had any whiskey or liquor. Danusick said that "He had only the same kind of stuff that he had let them have on Sunday night, and they asked him if he could put them up a "mickey" of that or a small bottle, which he did." Pearman paid him 75c, took the bottle and went away. This is the liquor respecting which the prosecution is brought. There was no allegation whatsoever that the appellant company, or any official of the company, participated in the actual sale of the liquor, and the charge was that the company through its employee, Danusick, sold the intoxicating liquor in question.

The Crown's contention was that the manager did have actual knowledge and consented and therefore is subject to conviction by virtue of sections 10, 39 and 41 of the Act. And also sections 35 and 38 were included in considering the case at bar. For the defence, C. W. Barrett, the manager of the company, denied absolutely any knowledge of the sale of the liquor. He denied any knowledge of liquor being on the premises, and also denied any knowledge of any previous or subsequent sale of liquor on the premises. He also swore that he specifically instructed the employees of the company not to sell liquor. Danusick, the bartender, swore that he had sold the liquor to the constables and received the money which he put into his own pocket. He said that he had purchased ten gallons of liquor which he had hidden underneath the ground in the cellar of the Northern Hotel, and that he was accustomed to sell to his friends or persons whom he thought would be safe, and that the money derived from the sale of liquor had been put into his own pocket and never paid over to the company. Danusick has already been convicted of the sale in question and sentenced to six months imprisonment.

His Honor after dealing exhaustively with the various legal aspects of the case adopted the words of Mr. Justice Perdue Chief Justice of the Manitoba Court of Appeals as the rational method of construing the law. The words of the learned judge are: "The Manitoba Temperance Act is a measure which has been highly beneficial in repressing the evils at which it was aimed. The authorities should be supported in the legitimate enforcement of the Act. But in my view it would not be in the interests of the Act to allow the present conviction to stand. If this conviction is to form a precedent, and if persons against whom there is no evidence of guilt may be convicted and penalized under the Act, the innate sense of justice in the community will eventually be aroused, with consequences that may prove inimical, or even fatal, to the Act."

In conclusion His Honor summarized his findings by saying: "I hold: (1) That there has been no evidence directly implicating the appellant company in the unlawful sale of liquor. (2) That section 35 of the B.C. Prohibition Act does not apply on a charge of "selling" but to a charge of "keeping for sale." (3) That if it does apply no proof was given that the place did contain paraphernalia of a bar. (4) That if it does apply, and if the onus is cast upon the accused to satisfy the Court that the Northern Hotel was not the place in which liquor is kept or had for the purpose of being unlawfully sold, the manager has satisfied that onus. (5) That section 38 presupposes knowledge and consent on the part of the occupant, whereby authority and direction may be presumed. (6) That no such knowledge or consent has been shown. I will, therefore, allow the appeal, dismiss the case and quash conviction.

A. B. Macdonald, K.C., of Cranbrook, who conducted the case for the Crown, immediately upon the above judgment being delivered gave verbal notice that it was the intention of the Department of the Attorney General to carry the case to the Court of Appeal for this province.

Two other appeals from similar convictions, namely those of William Mills, proprietor of the Kings hotel, and Simon Dragon, proprietor of the Central hotel are to be heard at this sittings, in both of which certain other legal points will require consideration.

PURCHASED TIMBER LIMITS

The announcement has just been made of the purchase by the Rock Creek Lumber Co., Ltd., of Flagstone, B.C., of the timber holdings located at Crow's Nest of the prominent Calgary lumberman, Malcolm McInnes. The consideration for these limits is stated to be about $200,000, and they comprise twelve sections of valuable saw timber and large quantities of mining props and poles. The estimated cruise of the timber runs well up into the millions of feet exclusive of the smaller timber, which can be manufactured into props, etc. The purchasers, namely, the Rock Creek Lumber Co., intend to operate very extensively and are already engaged in reconstructing the sawmill, which has been idle for some time, so that when completed it will have a capacity of about 50,000 feet B. M. per day. They are also constructing a large flume which will be supplied with water from Alexander Creek, formerly known as the North Fork of Michel Creek, and by this means the logs will be conveyed from the limits to the mill during practically any season of the year, and thus insure a permanent supply of saw timber for the mill. Camps as well are being built in the limits and roads laid out. When operations are in full swing the company will employ at least one hundred men. With the present body of timber available, and providing there are no serious setbacks in the way of forest fires, etc., the Rock Creek Lumber Co. will have about ten years operations on a capacity basis from these holdings, and this added factor to the lumbering industry in this district will be very beneficial to the district.

In last week's issue we announced that the Tourist Association had opened an information bureau in J. F. Spalding's office. In this we were in error; this bureau has been established by the Board of Trade and is only temporary until the Board can obtain suitable permanent quarters for the establishment of a proper headquarters that will be convenient for tourists and transients in general.

KIMBERLEY ON STRIKE

On Friday morning last the metal mines in the Kimberley camp suspended operations, when some 250 mine employees working at the Sullivan, Tunnel and North Star mines went out on strike. The cause of the strike is due to the refusal of the companies to concede the demand of the men for an indiscriminate advance of $1.00 per day all around. The rates of wages in force have been $4.00 per day for muckers and $4.50 for skilled miners. The strike order was issued by Goodwin Local, which was organized some time ago on the One Big Union principles, and the companies positively refuse to recognize any organization of this nature. The name of the local union in question, "Goodwin," is in commemoration of "Ginger Goodwin," the draft evader who was shot on Vancouver Island in 1917 while resisting arrest for failure to respond to his call for military service. He was very well known throughout the Kootenays for his activities in connection with organized labor and his strong Socialistic tendencies.

Indications for a prompt settlement of the strike are very remote as the men appear determined to hold out for the increase, while on the other hand the companies, namely the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. of Canada and the North Star Mining Co., will not even enter into negotiations for settlement so long as the men adhere to the One Big Union organization. So far the cessation is confined exclusively to the Kimberley mines but there is also unrest reported among the metal miners in the Windermere district, where the Paradise Mine is the largest producer.

PEACE DAY CELEBRATION STATEMENT

Last week the Peace Celebration Committee held its final meeting, at which the financial statement was submitted by the Secretary. This statement shows that a net profit of $1504.27 was made on that occasion which has been turned over to the Reconstruction Committee Memorial Fund and will be used as part of the first payment on the recent purchase of the Napanee building.

At the winding up meeting E. K. Stewart, president of the Peace Day Committee, expressed himself as highly gratified at the earnest cooperation and assistance given by all the workers in making preparations for the celebration, in which regard special mention was made respecting the work performed by the Ladies Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. and the I.O.D.E., and last but by no means least the work done by the boys from Coal Creek, whose efforts greatly increased the source of revenue.

MARSHAL FOCH HONORS LORD ROBERTS

It is not generally known that Marshal Foch during his recent stay in this country made a special journey out of London to visit the Countess Roberts — daughter of his old friend and fellow soldier, of honored memory. In the course of his visit the Marshal asked of his hostess permission to walk round the garden with the officer of his staff who accompanied him. He explained that he had a particular purpose for his request. "I want," he said, "to walk where before the war I walked with Field Marshal Lord Roberts, and I want to tell this officer of mine just what Lord Roberts told me in those days of what he believed Germany intended and what has since taken place."—London Morning Post.

ONTARIO TO VOTE ON PROHIBITION ON OCT. 20

The referendum on the prohibition question in Ontario will be taken on Monday, Oct. 20, according to the announcement of William Hearst, premier of that province. He did not state when the provincial general elections would take place, but it seems to be generally believed that the members of the government desire to have the double event on the one day. However, there are conflicting interests, one of which is that the majority of temperance workers wish to keep the referendum vote separate from politics. Farmers are said to prefer to have the referendum and election on the same day.

Premier Hearst has handed out the following statement on the matter: "There has been some unexpected delay in the preparation of the voters' lists, but the work has progressed enough to enable the government to fix the date for the vote on the referendum, and this will take place on Monday, Oct. 20. There has been no consideration yet of the date for the provincial elections."

PLAIN SPEAKING

Let us have peace. Let us begin the works of peace. Let us set our house in order. Let us stand on a firm basis of international amity as we turn to the needful business of readjustment. Let us have a free hand to deal with our profiteers; let us have a clear brain to grapple with the problems of labor and economics. And let us at the same time give the rest of the world a chance to get on its feet. Let us clear the way for the great recovery instead of blocking the path of those in darkness who are struggling toward the light. Let us have our interpretations; volumes of them, if necessary; but let us cease to stand as a nation of gabblers playing at oratory while all the world cries for our help and our leadership. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE EARLIEST STRIKERS

It is nothing new for the coal miners to be in the forefront of industrial troubles. The earliest recorded use of the term "strike" occurred in connection with a colliery dispute. This was in September, 1765, when the London Chronicle reported a great suspension of labor in the Northumberland mines due to the colliers having "struck out" for higher wages.

FIRE SALE

Kefoury Bros. $32,000 Stock of Dry Goods, and Men's Furnishings and Clothing, which was gutted by fire last Wednesday week, is to be sold out by public sale, beginning on Saturday, Sept. 20th. The insurance companies have adjusted the claims and Evely, the sales wizard from Calgary, who has the fastest system known to the trade for moving stocks, is here in Fernie and is busy with a large staff of clerks marking down the stock for public sale, and as the entire stock is involved, damaged slightly by water and smoke, the fire sale prices will doubtless attract buyers from all over the Pass, both east and west. As there are no regular prices and everything is reduced, a lively time is expected. As will be seen in this week's advt. the sale opens Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, and in the language of Evely "Have your money ready."

"THE SOVIET" BANNED BY SECRETARY OF STATE

Ottawa, Sept. 13.—A book entitled "The Proletarian Revolution in Russia" by N. Lenine and Leon Trotzky, published by the Communist press of New York city, has been declared by the secretary of state to contain objectionable matter, and anyone issuing or having it in their possession is liable to a fine or imprisonment.

"The Soviet," published at Edmonton, Alta., is also banned.

Other publications condemned by the censor are "Gusly," a collection of national and revolutionary songs printed in Russian at New York and "Development of Industrial Democracy," a pamphlet printed in Finnish by the Soviet Publishing Company at Duluth.

Nelson News: Lieut. C. W. Hansen of the 44th battalion is paying the city a visit en route for his former home in Fernie. Lieut. Hansen enlisted in Fernie with the 54th Kootenay battalion and acted as company quarter master sergeant of B company of the Kootenay battalion until early in 1917, when he was transfersed to the 44th. He was granted his commission while with the 44th and afterwards served as assistant adjutant of that unit under Lieut. Col. R. D. Davies. Mr. Hansen has been wounded twice during his experience overseas.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

A. B. Macdonald, of Cranbrook, was in town on Wednesday.

Clifford Robertson left on Wednesday evening for Stratford, Ont.

Wm. Jackson, of Blairmore, was in the city yesterday. He has a plumbing contract at Natal.

Don't fail to hear Miss Theresa Siegel on Thursday evening next in the United Church.

John Puckey has moved into the residence on Baker avenue recently occupied by Wm. Johnston.

Cradle Roll meeting will be held in the basement of the United church on Wednesday, Sept. 24, at 3 p.m.

Furnished Rooms to Let. Also small house, furnished or unfurnished. Apply 12 Howland Ave. 19-5

Mrs. Geo. Cody and Miss Clara Cody, who have been visiting friends on the prairie, returned to Fernie this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Holmes and family, of Regina, are the guests of the former's sister, Mrs. F. E. Alexander.

Govt. Agent Hewat returned on Wedwnesday from a hunting trip up in the Columbia Valley. He reports game very plentiful.

Harry Haig has leased the Queen's Hotel from Ross Bros. We understand he has disposed of his interest in the Central hotel to Simon Dragon.

Wilfred Biggs, who left recently for Cabri to take a position in the Home Bank at that place, arrived home on Sunday. He says that prairie burg certainly got his goat.

The Fernie Hotel cigar store has installed a series of spikes on the ledge in front of its windows in order to get rid of a bunch of bums who dailiy congregate on these seats.

G. G. Henderson is this week building a good substantial concrete walk in front of his block. We understand that nearly all the business places who have not done so, will follow suit.

Bob Kerr is making extensive repairs on a bridge over the Columbia river near the lake. The government expect to put in a new bridge about a mile from Columbia Lake next year.

O. L. Boynton, manager of the Summit Lake Lumber Co., was in the city several days this week. Mr. Boynton was manager of the Elk Lumber Co. at Fernie about ten years ago.

Fernie Golf Club has over fifty paid up members, with a good chance of the number reaching a hundred next season. Cranbrook Club has been in existence for several years and only has about twenty-five members.

There will be a meeting of the Conservative Association in Herchmer & Graham's office at 8 o'clock this evening for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the provincial convention in Vancouver on Sept. 29 and 30.

A quiet wedding took place at 174 E. Denny Way, Seattle, on Monday evening, when Mr. Vincent Rudnicki, of Fernie, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Rudnicki was united in marriage to Miss E. Olive Verge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Verge.

A quiet wedding took place in Fernie on Tuesday evening, when Mr. Russell Ferguson was united in marriage to Mrs. H. Marshall, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Batzold. The contracting parties are well known in the city and they have the best wishes of a host of friends. They will reside in Coleman.

The Cranbrook Herald, after a harrowing existence of over 20 years, has ceased publication. Whether it has been retired to the johrnalistic graveyard for good or is again being reorganized, we do not know. The Herald has always been a good live booster for the town of Cranbrook and it will be a severe blow to that city if it is allowed to cease publication. Too much dissension among the owners and too much business opposition seems to be the cause of its demise.

The secretary of the Peace Day Celebration Committee has just issued the financial statement for that occasion, which shows a net profit of $1,479.27. This amount goes to the credit of the Memorial Fund of the Fernie Reconstruction Committee and will be used in connection with the establishment of a suitable memorial in this city for the boys who served from this district in the Great War Temporary quarters for the returned boys have been provided by the purchase of the Napanee building here, the purchase price being $15,000. The Reconstruction Committee, however, are earnestly continuing their work with a view to raising a large fund for the memorial, which will be in the form of a suitable monument for those who made the supreme sacrifice, and also a permanent building for those who have returned.

Jas. Corbett left on Monday for Rochester, Minn.

Hugo Bros. circus, which was billed to play here on Monday last failed to put in an appearance.

Rev. J. Sinclair, of Cranbrook, will preach in Olivet Baptist church on Sunday evening, Sept. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Winters leave this evening on a trip to Winnipeg and other Manitoba points.

For Sale—Household articles. Apply 335 Victoria Ave., evenings on and after Monday next, from 7 to 9.

Wanted—$500 on first mortgage on 160 acre farm. Send answers to Box A B, Free Press, Fernie. 19-3

Wm. Johnston and John Bean returned yesterday from a hunting trip to Gold Creek. They each brought home a deer.

Don't forget the Rebekah dance in Victoria Hall on Tuesday, Sept. 23. The Rebekahs have a reputation for always giving the best.

Bert Whimster, of Edmonton, is in the city visiting his parents. He expects to go to Creston, where he has purchased a fruit ranch.

Inspector Fernie of the provincial staff left on Monday for Kamloops. He will bring back Mrs. Fernie with him and she will take up her residence here.

A whist drive and dance will be held at the Parish Hall on Thursday, Sept. 25, under the auspices of the Catholic Church. Cards on the tables at 8.30 sharp. Refreshments at 10.30, followed by dancing for two hours music by Fernie's four piece orchestra. Ladies 25c, gentlemen 50c.

About eight auto loads of young people from Fernie took in the dance at Ross' Hall, Waldo, on Tuesday night. Everyone reported a good time and remarked about the splendid supper which was served and also the music, which was furnished by the Fernie orchestra.

Esther Rebekah Lodge No. 20, I.O. O.F., will celebrate the 68th anniversary of the order by attending divine service in the United Church on Sunday evening, Sept. 21. All members, brother Odd Fellows and visiting brothers and sisters are kindly requested to meet at Ingram's hall at 7 p.m., Sunday, for the occasion.

Brigadier McLean, of Vancouver, will visit Fernie on Wednesday, Sept. 24, and will conduct the Jubliee Anniversary of the Salvation Army and will also give an address on the World Wide Salvation Army, and bring a message from General Booth. This meeting will be held in the S. A. hall at 7.30 p.m. The public are invited.

For Sale—One mile south of Fernie, five acres of land, three acres cleared and seeded, small house and outbuildings, and fenced. This is a snap at $750 for quick sale. Also one mare and colt, good driver single or double; saddle and packer; colt five months old; mare 8 years old, $50 the two; and one buckskn mare colt one year and five months, $35; or will trade for pigs or other stock.—John Minton, Box 103, Fernie, B.C.

The Supreme Court Fall Assizes for East Kootenay will open in Fernie on October 21st, and in Cranbrook on October 28, according to an announcement received from the Attorney General's department. So far as Fernie is concerned there is at present but one criminal case on the calendar, viz., Rex vs. Denusick, charged with bribery and corruption of a public official. There are, however, several civil actions to be heard, while at Cranbrook only civil cases are tried.

Word has been received that Lieut. Harold Minton of the R.A.F. sailed for home about the 15th and expects to arrive in Fernie next week. Harold was one of the first to leave Fernie in August, 1914, for overseas and was in France on Feb. 3, 1915, and has been continually in the theatre of war for five years and was with the army of occupation in Germany since the armistice until recently. He received his commission in 1917. He is officially credited with bringing down five Hun machines and two unofficially.

For some weeks past the local police have been investigating a number of cases of petty stealing in homes and stores around town without a great deal of success. Among those whose homes had been burglarized were Jos. Podbielancik, D. Citra, Dr. Garner and John Biggs, and finally on Sunday last A. Macneil's residence was relieved of about $500 worth of jewelry. On Monday Chief Boardman got hold of some clues and traced the stealing to two ten year old boys. Most of the stolen articles were recovered. The boys will come up for trial shortly and will likely be sent to the Industrial School.

BUSINESS MEN ARE ALMOST STRANGERS

London.— "The promotion of trade relations between this country and Canada," said Mr. Chas. F. Higham, M.P., to ap ress representative, "is regarded by all sensible city men, not merely as a matter of mutual interest, but also as an honorable obligation. Can we ever forget the Dominion's noble sacrifices in the war, or her courage and determination in some of the fiercest of its battles?

"I see by recent records that of the 418,000 men in the Canadian Expeditionary forces, some 57,000 lost their lives and nearly 156,000 were wounded. They fought with a gallantry surpassed by no troops in the world. On the first day of the Second Battle of Amiens they made an advance of no less than 14,000 yards—the deepest advance, as I am told, on any one day during the war. Their progress altogether in this battle was about fifteen miles.

"We shall never forget their part in the final victorious drive. It was they who broke the Queant-Drocourt section of the Hindenburg line; it was they who encountered the bitterest struggle of the war, that which culminated in the capture of Cambrai; it was they who occupied Mons a few hours before the armistice came into effect. 'Canadian,' in short, in the majority of British minds, is today synonimous with 'gallant.' No less than 53 Victoria Crosses fell to the men from Mapleland, besides about 15,000 other decorations.

Mr. Higham, practical business man as he is, does not think sound commercial relations can long subsist on sentiment alone, however lofty it may be. The keen edge of self-interest—which, in this case, is the commercial equivalent of the law of self-preservation—will ruthlessly cut through the tenderest of ties. A nation must live before it can begin to feel.

"It has been my contention for many years," said Mr. Higham, "that our business men and the business men of Canada must get to know one another better. I fear we are still to a large extent, strangers. We Britishers, for instance, are amazingly ignorant of Canada territorially. I heard a man here the other day speak as if the journey from Montreal to Winnipeg might be made during a single night in a pulman car. Like most of us, he had no conception of the vast distances that lie between the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards of a land as big as Europe.

"And if British business men are ignorant of Canada territorially, of the wealth and variety of her natural resources, of the individuality and emulative spirit of her nine great provinces, each with its own government and legislation, how much more are they ignorant of Canada's trade conditions, of local surpluses and requirements, and of the psychology and habits of her sturdy people?

"This Canadian Trade Mission to London, which we all welcome, is the mark of her own enterprise and sagacity. Where, I ask, is the British Trade Mission to Canada. I have not heard of one. Business men come here in battalions from Canada and the United States; why don't our manufacturers and traders in large number go there?

"Of course, I know there are reasons. A journey to the homeland is naturally more alluring than a journey from it The blood flows to the heart more freely than it is driven therefrom. But I can assure my business friends that an investigation of Canada's trade possibilities is more than worth the while. Certainly, first-hand inquiry will be more fruitful of serviceable information than any letter or visit to the board of trade or other high-and-dry source of alleged information in this country.

"But sentiment does, after all, count for a good deal, even in trade," Mr. Higham hastened to all. "Not directly, perhaps, but in the creation of atmosphere and in giving vent to thought.

"Now what is the first thing that strikes the Britisher on visiting Canada? Her size, her beauty, the vigor of her people? No. Her peaceful penetration by America- From her manner of speech, to her method of cutting hair; from her office equipment to her delights and amusements she is more American than British. Your westerner and many a Canadian of the eastern provinces also, shaves the back of his neck, eats roasted peanuts, chews gum and spits into gigantic cuspidors like your veritable Yank.

"The explanation is not wholly, or even chiefly because America and she are such near neighbors but because America has penetrated Canada with her propaganda. All the picture houses and nickel shows are run on the American system and show American films. The very theatres are the happy playing grounds of American companies. For years I have hammered away at this fact, that if you have an object or a mode of living thrust upon you long enough, you will begin to like it and in the end begin to love it and to imitate it. There is more than one way of losing a part of your empire. You may lose it over a tax on tea or through failing to keep in touch. We ought, as a nation, to have a deliberate policy of propaganda throughout the empire, to penetrate every scrap of land painted red upon the map with British ideas and British ideals; to insist in a hundred interesting ways that we are one family working and moving to a common end. We have just given Canada preference. We ought to let her people know why we have done it—because we love and honor her for the noble demonstration she has given that she is vital to our empire."

WHOM A STRIKE HITS MOST

There is no better ilustration of the boomerang nature of a strike than that to which Toronto Saturday Night calls attention in its columns. It refers to what took place in Toronto on Sept. 3. On that day, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, 50 electrical workers employed on the power plant of the Toronto Railway Company struck without notice and tied up the system on a day when there were at least fifty thousand visitors in the city, and at an hour when, as it states, it would inconvenience every wage-earner in the city.

Let us follow the history of the strike, as related by Saturday Night. It was called because the manager ofthe Toronto Railway company had not accepted the award of a Conciliation Board appointed to investigate certain grievances of the electrical workers the terms of which had only received the assent of the Minister of Labor at Ottawa on the previous night, and the text of which was but delivered at the offices of the Toronto Railway company one hour before the strike took place. The explanation given by Jas. T. Gunn, the business agent of the electrical workers, was, that having failed to obtain an interview with Manager Fleming after two or three phone calls during the absence of the latter from his office, he assumed that that official was trying to evade him and therefore called the strike. Four hours later, after the public had been put to enormous inconvenience, Mr. Gunn on learning that the company had accepted the award, and apparently had never contemplated any other course, called off the strike.

The result of the strike is thus summed up by the Toronto journal The sufferers were first of all the scores of thousands of tired workingmen, clerks, business women, factory girls and shop girls, who in many instances had to walk miles on a hot evening. Secondly the many thousands of Exhibition visitors from out of town, many of whom missed their outgoing trains; and were otherwise inconvenienced. Thirdly, the motormen and conductors of the Toronto Railway Co., who lost four hours' wages in a cause they knew nothing about. As for the so-called "capitalistic classes" they were not hit to any extent, because they had motor cars available.

The experience of the short strike in Toronto is the experience of all strikes. They fail to hit those whom they are intended to hit. The longer they are prolonged the more injury they inflict on the innocent, and more often than not, on the strikers themselves. The class against whom the strike is engineered, are as a rule those who comparatively get off scot-free. This is a feature of strikes which should not be lost sight of.

NOSKE'S ARMY

It is pleasant to read that the Krupp plant at Essen has junked its cannon forging machinery and is now busily engaged in turning out farm tractors. But what, we wonder, is Herr Noske raising and training his much heard of 'home guard' for, reported to be recruiting in every part of Germany and to number hundreds of thousands of men? Are they to be taught to operate tractors?—Kansas City Star.

HOW YOU CAN TELL GENUINE ASPIRIN

BAYER

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all.

There is only one Aspirin, that marked with the "Bayer Cross"—all other tablets are only acid imitations.

Look for the "Bayer Cross"! Then it is real Aspirin, for which there is no substitute.

Aspirin is not German but is made in Canada by Canadians, and is owned by a Canadian Company, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages, can be had at any drug store.

COULD HARDLY GET HER BREATH

Mrs. Albertson's Only Regret Is She Didn't Commence on Tanlac Sooner

"So many people who suffered the same way I did, claimed to get relief by taking Tanlac that I finally decided to see what it would do for me, and the results are, I am enjoying as good health in every way now as I ever did in my life," said Mrs. J. H. Albertson, who lives at 650 Kingsway, Vancouver the other day.

"I suffered for a long time before I made up my mind to give Tanlac a trial," continued Mrs. Albertson, "and now since taking this wonderful medicine, the only regret I have is that I didn't commence on it sooner than I did. My stomach was in bad condition, and for two or three hours after eating I would be perfectly miserable on account of my food souring and causing gas to form. Sometimes this gas would get up into my chest and cause my heart to palpitate, and I would hardly be able to get a good breath. Then, at times I would have bad cramping spells. I was so nervous that the least thing would upset me, and I never slept very well. I also suffered from headaches, and frequently had severe pains in the small of my back. I finally got so weak and run-down I was hardly able to get about.

"That was the condition I was in when I commenced taking Tanlac, but a few bottles of this wonderful medicine have made a big change in me in every way. In fact, I feel like a different person entirely and am enjoying as good health as I ever did in my life. I have a fine appetite, and everything I eat agrees with me perfectly, and I am never bothered with indigestion or sour stomach. I am hardly ever bothered with nervousness now, and I sleep like a baby every night. I am so well and strong that I can do all my housework without the least trouble. Tanlac certainly has proven a great blessing to me, and as long as I live I will praise it for the good it has done me."

SAYS LEMON JUICE WILL REMOVE FRECKLES

Girls! Make this cheap beauty lotion to clear and whiten your skin.

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Jim Thistlebeak says it's all right to say what you think but some people should be ashamed to think what they say.

Mr. and Mrs. John Harvey motored from Elko to Roosville this week and visited the Sunkist Orchard and the Roosville Falls. Mr. Harvey is interested with his father, R. C. Harvey, of Lethbridge, who originated the "Romnellet" sheep, which is said to be the best for both range and farm, and produces the best crossbred wool in America, and who has about 20000 of the very best grazing west of Elko. He said the Roosville valley was the best he had seen in B.C. and was greatly impressed with the fruit and surprised at the gross corelessness of the orchards. Mrs. Despatcher Jones of the C.P.R. was their guest and spoke very highly of the the big red apples in the valley. Mr. Harvey will make another trip down the valley with Jim Thistlebeak, who intends to run a band of "Romnellets" in the near future.

Jim Thistlebeak says that in the big Elko fire, Fred Roo had a narrow escape of being burned up. Fire is an ugly thing but being burned up is uglier. Had the thing happened Fred would now be in heaven among strangers. He wouldn't know anyone there, and says he had no idea he had so many friends around Elko, and prefers to stay right here with them, rather than taking chances with the strangers.

Mr. and Mrs. McArthur with Miss Proud and Mr. Anderson, of Calgary, are visiting Elko this week, stopping at the Columbia hotel. Mr. Anderson is the son of Mr. Anderson, who was gold commissioner and Hyas Tyee at Wild Horse Creek, Fort Steele, B. C., and who later opened up the Silver King at Nelson. The image of his dad, a pleasant fellow to meet and a good sport. Jim Thistlebeak says he believes Mr. Anderson could go into a laudnry and get fish out of a washtub. The ladies would sooner hunt big game than fish.

Since the big fire travellers have been coming in on every train and a great many via auto, and the more we see of them the more we like our dog. A fish traveller from Calgary who said that he could take the ribs out of a red herring without cutting the skin. A Vancouver traveller who was very anxious to have the jitney driver point out Fred Roo before he went into the store as he said the other travellers had put him wise, selling soothing syrup, stove polish and other kind of floor oil. Alfred H. W. Crossley, mechanical engineer, Nelson, was down in Elko trying to buy up several sawmills but as the demand for lumber for rebuilding rival stores was so great there was none to be had, so he bought several stem winding mouse traps and broke two of his fingers testing the fly wheels. He received the freedom of the city from Mayor Klingnsmith at the Mining Exchange and might move his family down here for the winter, and Jim Thistlebeak said, welcome to our little city, Alf, any old time you like to come. Mr. Bissett also of Nelson, when he is home, which is very seldom, with crockery, parlor lamps, dolls and dark lanterns. Kelly selling musical fruit in tins, and giving 5 per cent off for five case lots. He was travelling with the great and only Sheirlock, the well known overland trout salesman, whose long suit is grease in tins, rib roasts, and smoked shark. They were slipping along very smooth and Kelly seemed to be enjoying the pickled whale stories Jim was handing to him like the Chesterfield he is. Several rubber travellers from Lethbridge—must be a great place for rubbers. The well known Jimmy Black from Oorkney-Corkney, Islands, with fancy table cloths with art centres in the middle and the edges on the outside, said you could use them for a bed spread, cosy corner or auto robe. He carried a line of bathing suits and lingeree that has been responsible for half the sins in B.C. Jack Colvin, the prince of shoe travellers, going north to the Grand Prairie country. What Jack don't know about shoes is not worth bothering about and the more you know him the better you like him. Borrowman, of Lethbridge, the well known artist, whose picture coloring gives the colors in the rainbow a complexion like an underdone piecrust. While staying at the Columbia hotel he painted a trout on a side dish and one of the guests tried to cut it with a knife. Wellington, no relation to the old Duke of that name, but an artist with flower garden wall paper and a ten inch fitch. Herb Reid of Saskatoon, who used to sell sharks liver and other kinds of garden truck through this section, went through the town so fast he left a hole in the air behind him. There were others and how they hold their jobs would give a man flumonia trying to find out.

W. G. McWynn, Supt. of Police, and Inspector Fernie, were in Elko this week and Gorman (the human ferret) and wife left for California for some salt water fishing.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

WARDNER NOTES

The dance which was held in the Club Hall here on Friday last, given under the new management for the benefit of the local baseball team, proved to be very successful in sociability as well as attendance. The neighboring towns of Jaffray, Bull River, Baynes, Waldo and even Cranbrook, were well represented. The hall was decorated in bright festoons and the national emblem, and the colors for each individual were white and blue, the colors of the team. At 12 when the lights winked, above the music could be heard several "Stung again," but it was only a reminder that the gentleman responsible for the brilliant lighting was doing his bit and developing a ravenous appetite. Supper was served shortly after midnight and judging by the general remarks, there was nothing lacking. This was due to the willingness and splendid response of the people of Wardner when the food was solicited. Those present enjoyed the tasty food and admitted without reserve that after all Wardner has some intelligent cooks.

After the tables were cleared away dancing was again in evidence, and a little later a beautiful sofa pillow was raffled, which was won by G. Sinclair with No. 14. After the pillow was presented dancing was resumed till nearly three o'clock, when Home Sweet Home was announced and it was met with a number of Ohs and Ahs, which showed that everyone had enjoyed themselves immensely and did not realize the time. The Edmonson four piece orchestra supplied the music.

The net proceeds from the dance, $51.50, were turned over to the baseball management.

The next dance will be for the benefit of the returned soldiers in the Frank Sanatorium and will be held on Friday, Oct. 17.

Miss Mabel Embree, accompanied by her sister in law, Mrs. Clarence Embree, left on the westbound for Creston, where the latter will join her husband.

Mrs. Thomas Moore and infant son, Thomas Patrick, returned on Saturday from the St. Eugene Hospital, at Cranbrook.

Mrs. J. O. Clemens and children, of Baynes Lake, who came up for the dance on Friday, spent the week end with Mrs. Chas. E Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Brown accompanied them to Baynes on Sunday via auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Renick are the happy parents of a baby girl, born at Reed Hill, Alta.

Napoleon Cuchiarian was a Cranbrook visitor on Sunday.

The stork left a baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Holmes on Friday night.

Mrs. Earl Rossman and son Clayton returned on Sunday from an extended visit in Spokane and other western points.

Mrs. Draper, of Cokato, is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Clark McKenzie.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Mrs. R. Brown and family left camp this week to make their home at Stockett, Montana.

A large number of the football fraternity took in the Fernie vs. Trail match on Sunday last. Jack Worthington, of this camp, played for Fernie.

Disappointment showed in the faces of the kiddies when word of the non-arrival of the circus was received up here on Monday.

George Cleghorn arrived back in camp and has started work at the mines.

George Davidson, motorman in No. 3 mine, was removed to town resultant on being slightly crushed while following his occupation on Wednesday.

Several of the gentler sex took in the institution of the Ladies Chapter of the Loyal Order of Moose. Report augurs well for the future. Next meeting and official installation of officers will be held on Monday, Sept. 29, in Ingram's hall at 7.30. As the charter will only be open for sixty days at the initiation fee of $2, it is imperative that all mothers, wives, etc,. of Moose, get in at the reduced rate.

John McConnell has returned back to camp after a few months visit at the coast.

ANARCHIST IS TO BE DEPORTED

Vancouver, Sept. 14.—Sava Karoba has been ordered deported by the Immigration Commission. Karobt, whose real name is Kadowba and who sometimes used the name of Sava Charney, was arrested by the R.N.W.M.P. when the round-up of the Russian agitators was made during the summer.

According to the evidence there exists throughout Canada, actively affiliated with similar organizations in the United States and throughout the world, a strong Russian secret society that has the aim of Red revolution, the upsetting of governments and the establishment of Bolsheviki rule.

Sava Karobt, the evidence showed, was organizer in Canada for the Russian Social Anarchist party. This is said to be the parent body of the Russian Workers' Union. Their motto, as shown by banners in a photograph taken at Toronto, translates as follows:

"With our might we will gain our right."

"All for one; one for all."

"Long life to the world revolutionary republic group of Social Revolutionists."

"When arrested Karoba had a mass of literature and letters. All of the letters were written since the beginning of the year. One correspondent form Toronto told him that the union was still active though illegal.

"Good news is coming from India and Egypt," said this writer, "and we are burning with desire to do more work here."

He went on to explain that he was succeeding in smuggling prohibited revolutionary literature from the United States and was scattering it where it would do the most good throughout Canada.

A letter written last June to the accused said there was an upheaval in Toronto but the Toronto "upheavers" were "weak in custom." The comrades in Toronto were getting the prohibited paper "Bread and Will." "This," said the writer, "is our food and from whence all the sap of our movement is coming."

One communication from Dedonkin, secretary at Toronto of the Russian Workers' Union, was written in March.

Dedonkin said that good information had been given him about Bolsheviki successes and conditions in Russia by a troupe of performing Russians, an a vaudeville circuit. They had told him that it took them only eleven weeks to get out of Russia, and the people in the cities there did not starve when the supply trains were able to get into the cities with food He added that the activities of the police had started a big exodus of "comrades" to Detroit, Mich.; in fact he was going there himself. The association had five locals in Detroit.

Special Agent Durasoff, of the R. N. W. M. P., testified that he had first seen the accused in April of this year. They were introduced, and Karobt told him he was an agitator and organizer for the Socialist Revolutionary Party. Later he told Durasoff that the Russian Workers' Union was the same as the Russian anarchists, but was easier carried on under the name of Russian Workers' Union. In a conversation with Starikoff, Durasoff heard Karoba say that the foreigners in Canada were ready for revolution; that the British government was the bloodiest in the world—worse than Germany under the Kaiser.

BRITISH TRADES UNIONISTS

The British Trades Union Congress appears to be pretty well unanimous on the subject of the nationalization of the coal mines, while it is about equally divided on the advisability, or otherwise, of Direct Action. The block vote system, whereby certain delegates representing different trades are able to register unanimous votes on behalf of their memberships is not always satisfactory. It is never absolutely accurate, so that when we read of millions of votes being recorded in favor of such and such a resolution it simply means the delegates appointed by unions which have such a membership, have voted in a certain way. No doubt the vast bulk of Labor favors nationalization of the coal mines in Great Britain. On the other hand it is very certain there is overwhelming opposition to Direct Action, yet the block vote system shows the sentiment regarding the latter to be divided fairly equally. The upshot appears to be that the Trades Union Congress is to embark on a campaign of education to show the British people why the nationalization of the coal mines is desirable. This means it is to be an issue at the next general election, and nationalization will come if its advocates are returned to power. If this program is carried out there is no one who can cavil, under a system of responsible government.

Mr. Lloyd George, in refusing consent to the immediate nationalization of the mines, is acting in what he considers the best interests of the nation. It is those interests he has to consult, not the desire of any particular clique or faction. The Coalition Party in the House of Commons would not favor nationalization at this stage nor is it likely to unless much more cogent reasons are advanced than any yet put forward. Mr. Lloyd George's government was elected to power last December and must be held to represent the purpose and sentiment of the people, despite the results in recent bye-elections. It is the tremendous majority he has which has been one factor in leading to a reaction in public sentiment, as demonstrated at these bye-elections, but there is absolutely no indication that if he went to the country again he would not be returned to power. It is true he has no mandate for or against nationalism, but he has other matters in which the people as a whole are much more vitally concerned.

The efforts of Mr. Robert Smillie and his fellow Labor leaders have been in the direction of coercing the government, a condition that cannot be tolerated in a democratic country. On the other hand such industrial authorities as Messrs. J. R. Clynes, Ben Tillett and Arthur Henderson are strenuously opposed to unconstitutional methods and in the long run their views will prevail amongst the level headed workingmen of Britain; indeed they have prevailed already. Unfortunately in this quarter of the world we hear most of the sound and fury of the present-day industrial movement, whereas the weightier opinions, which control its course, are not sensational enough to find their way to the cables. We admit candidly that Labor as a whole believes that in the nationalization of industries lies the panacea for most of its ills. In this attitude we believe it is misinformed, but that is something that only time and experience will prove. Certainly whatever experience there has been up to date with a few notable exceptions, have not proved that nationalization has any particular boons to offer to the people as a whole.—Colonist.

JOHN MITCHELL WAS TRUSTWORTHY COUNSELOR

The premature death of John Mitchell, for he was only fifty on February 4, 1919, deprives American labor of a trustworthy counselor. He was of a different type from many of the present leaders of labor, had no tolerance for soviet methods, and sought sincerely and intelligently to set the relations between capital and labor on a sound and equitable basis.

His industrial creed was that "labor and capital will be sorely wounded before they work out their proper relation. I am not a socialist and do not believe in socialism. It would not be best for the state to own and operate coal mines. I believe in progress by evolution rather than by revolution. A better day is in store for the workman, but it has to come through no radical change in the organization of society. One thing at a time is the way a better state will be ushered in. The principle that governs our organization (the united mine workers) is labor bargaining with capital for a fair share of what labor helps produce."

Such a thinker was no demagogue, haranguer or typical agitator. Thirsting for knowledge he read everything that came in his reach and studied law and economics at night after a day of hard work. He opposed sympathetic strikes and violence. His influence had part in inspiring President Roosevelt in 1904 to compel arbitration of the coal strike, an arbitration which was the turning point in American recognition for the rights of labor. He put the welfare of his fellows and his country always ahead of his own advantage. His career inspires confidence in the future of American democracy.

GREAT MEN AND LITTLE MEN

Is it a great thing to be a senator —to have your name in print and put on men's tongues? That is a brief and trivial glory. It is a greater thing to dignify an obscure position by the excellence and integrity of one's service. To do that is to wear invisibly the jeweled emblem of high office which flashed and glittered on the breast of him who came robed in the coarse garb of a monk, but with spiritual authority in his eye. The world is far better served by a great man in a small job than by a small man in a great job. — Boston Globe.

MOUSTACHE FIGHTS

The Paris waiters are not the first people to demand the right to wear moustaches. English barristers had a long fight to win the same privilege, and for generations English bishops forbade the clergy to wear what the late Frank Richardson used to call face-fungus on their upper lips. Not so many years ago the directors of the Bank of England issued a notice forbidding their clerks to wear moustaches "during business hours."—London Daily Express.

Webster On "Morale"

MORALE (Mo-ral) n. (F. See Moral, a) the moral condition, or the condition in other respects, so far as it is affected by, or dependent upon, moral considerations, such as zeal, spirit, hope and confidence; mental state, as of a body of men, an army, and like.

THAT is Dr. Webster's definition. Many of us know the word only in its war-time application.

Webster dwells firstly upon the usage of the word "morale" as applied to the common-place happenings of every-day life. His allusion to its reference to an army comes later. And Webster is correct—meticulously so.

It was their private-life morale that made such splendid soldiers of our boys when the time came for them to don the khaki. It was that, and that alone, that made them take the first step, and it was that which carried them through to victory. If their every-day morale had been neglected, the Army could have done little with them and success would not have crowned their efforts.

It is the many little incidents of your daily routine that make up your morale—the morning shave, your clean linen, polished shoes, brushed clothes. Webster speaks of zeal, spirit, hope and confidence. It is by attention to the small details of your personal appearance that these may be attained.

The Gillette Safety Razor enters as much into the morale of every-day life as it did into that of the trenches. It helped our soldiers to maintain their confidence and bearing. It will do the same for you. The Gillette Safety Razor makes the daily shave come easy—there is no pulling or scraping—no honing, or stropping—just five minutes of perfect shaving comfort. And, afterwards, a chin that tells of morale and self-respect.

Sold at most stores catering to men's needs.

McClary's Kootenay

TOP, bottom and all four sides of the Kootenay oven are evenly heated. That is why it is so famous as a dependable baker. There is a thermometer, too, to tell whether the heat is right or not.

No range is quite so easily managed. Duplex grates clear the ashes at a single turn. Burnished cooking-top never needs blacklead. Nickeled steel oven walls are kept clean with a damp cloth. Well-fitted joints and dampers hold the fire—and the oven heat—for hours.

In the appeals of Wm. Mills and Simon Dragon, His Honor rendered judgment this morning allowing these appeals, quashing the convictions and dismissing the accused. These cases were very similar to that of the Northern Hotel and His Honor followed his reasoning in that case. The Crown, however, will carry these to the Court of Appeal for the province, when the true interpretation or construction to be placed upon the sections of the Prohibition Act covering such cases will be decided definitely.

DISCOVERY OF WIRE SILVER ON SPIDER

Stewart, Sept. 10. — A beautiful sample of ore from the Spider group, containing wire silver and well covered with the white metal, was brought in for the Portland Canal Prospectors' Association exhibit on Thursday. This ore was struck during the week and it is reported that Pat Daly, who is in charge of the Spider group, estimates that $10,000 worth of ore was blown down in three shots. The deal on the Spider group was made this spring by R. W. Martin of the Mineral Hill, who took the Spider under option for $30,000 and then turned it over to R. W. Wood, president of the Premier Mining company, which owns the famous Premier mine. Mr. Martin retains an interest in the ground.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE AT ORPHEUM MONDAY

When Constance Talmadge comes ot the Orpheum Theatre on Monday in "Who Cares?" in which she is presented by Lewis J. Selznick, patrons of the screen will have the opportunity of seeing the best Constance Talmadge picture that has yet appeared.

She is seen in the role of Joan, young, happy and carefree, living alone with her grandparents, who have both forgotten the word "youth." In a house nearby lives Martin Grey, who has come down to his country house to grieve over the death of a dearly loved father.

Joan and Martin meet and for many wonderful days they laugh and play together. Then one day Joan is discovered, and she is ordered never to see Martin again. This is the last straw. She runs away to Martin and asks him to take her to the home of her friend, Alice Palgrave, in the city. When they reach the city Alice is not there, and Martin does not know what else to do but to marry Joan. She readily consents, thinking that the best way out of all her troubles.

She has adopted "Who Cares?" for her motto and not knowing the responsibilities of married life she decides to have one wonderful time. She forgets all about the man who has made it possible for her to have such a wonderful time and becomes fast friends with Gilbert Palgrave, Alice's husband. Palgrave is a scoundrel of the worst sort.

One night at an inn Palgrave threatens Joan with a revolver. She tells him Martin is the only man she loves and she is not afraid to die. Martin saves her and they both decide to settle down and be happy.

CITY COUNCIL HOLD MEETING

The regular session of the city council took place last evening with all the members present.

A communication from the C.N.P. Coal Co., fixing the price of slack coal, dating from Sept.1, at $5.08, was read.

The report of the medical health officer was read, and on motion adopted, as follows:

The Mayor and Council,
City of Fernie.

Gentlemen:—The general health of the city for the month of August was very good. One case of a very mild type of scarlet fever was reported. Six births and six deaths were registered for the month.

Notices covering the section of the City Health By-Law regarding spitting on sidewalks and in public places have been posted in conspicuous places. This practice is exceedingly common on our streets and for the good of the citizens this By-Law should be strictly enforced, more especially so as this is one of the most prolific means of propagating the scourge of influenza.

I would recommend that that part of the city jail used as a kitchen, be partitioned from the corridor and a hood placed over the cooking stove with a ventilating pipe through the wall. This could be done at a very small expense and would help materially in giving purer air not only in the jail but also in the city offices on the main floor.

Various stables, lanes and houses were visited and action taken in regard to conditions present when deemed necessary.

The exit of the storm sewer was inspected and I would ask that the matter in this connection which was previously brought to your notice, be given your consideration.

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
Douglas Corsan, M.H.O.

Dr. Corsan was present and addressed the council on the possibility of a recurrence of the influenza epidemic of last year. He said that medical health authorities throughout the country were preparing for eventualities and it was up to the city of Fernie not to be caught napping. He thought it might be advisable to call for a list of volunteer nurses, who would be prepared to help if the epidemic broke out in Fernie again and suggested that the city clerk open a register for that purpose.

Moved by Ald. Beck, seconded by Ald. Rutledge, that an advt. be inserted in the local press asking for volunteer nurses.—Carried.

The Mayor instructed the Property and Works committee to take up the matters recommended in the Health Officer's report and make suggestions in regard to them.

Moved by Ald. Gates, seconded by Ald. Graham, that the city will not be responsible for any goods purchased for the city without an order signed by the city clerk.—Carried.

Accounts from the Elk Lumber Co. for $130 and Miss Megraw for $4.80, were passed.

The city clerk was instructed to write the G. N. railway requesting them to put a sidewalk along their property on the north side of Thompson street.

The city clerk suggested that it might be advisable for the park committee in laying out the grounds for next year to have it arranged so that different games would not overlap.

Fire Chief McDougall asked for a two weeks' holiday, to commence on Saturday. His request was granted.

The Mayor read a request from the Underwriters Association asking that the 9th of October be set aside for instruction re fire prevention.

The city clerk was instructed to provide a list of the properties to be sold for taxes and have same posted up around town.

Meeting adjourned.

RECITAL AT KNOX CHURCH

The humorous and dramatic recital given by Miss Theresa Siegel, of Calgary, assisted by local talent, at the United church, was a great success.

The numbers given by Mrs. Asselstine, the Misses Hogan, Liphardt and Harper were not only well received, but so balanced the program that Miss Siegel could the better render her numbers.

Miss Siegel is an artist of interpretation and showed that she was at home with life in all its moods. To choose between her numbers would be difficult. They were not only varied, expressing all phases of life's experience, but in each the audience felt the artist was at her best. Perhaps "Danny," the boy who whipped even though he got a black eye, appealed to fathers of real boys and boys of real fathers.

Romance had its full sway in "An Abandoned Elopement," "The Young Man Waited" and "Husbands For Sale." The deeper currents of life in "Sermons in Woodboxes" and the playful ripple of the superficial in "At the Photographers," revealed the contrast in life that her range of powers contained.

As this program was but a selected one from an extensive repertoire, it should not be long before Miss Siegel is heard in Fernie again.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT CROSSING

A very sad fatal accident occurred here yesterday morning when the five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Skripek, Lindsay Ave., Fernie Annex, was instantly killed at or near the Thompson street level crossing on the Great Northern railway. A mixed work train and "coal drag" was pulling out of the station shortly before noon and while passing the street crossing the train parted or "broke in two" and the rear portion was stalled, blocking the thoroughfare. While awaiting the train to be connected and the crossing cleared a number of pedestrians and some vehicles gathered, among the former being the young child accompanied by his father. In some manner the little fellow, unnoticed, left his father and must have gone a couple of car lengths towards the rear of the train and then attempted to crawl through under the cars. The train then suddenly moved ahead and the first intimation that anything was wrong was the piercing shriek of the trapped child, but before anyone could reach him to render aid or the train stopped the forward pair of trucks of the second last car on the train passed over him. Coroner Thomson was at once summonsed and removed the body to the morgue. An inquest was ordered to be held and this will convene in the council chamber on Monday evening, when the following jury, Charles Hesketh, foreman, W. Scott, Thos. Furnaux, G. G. Sawyer, James Lowe and T. H. Paton, will hear the evidence and thoroughly inquire into the matter.

CAMPING TRIP IN THE MOUNTAINS

Fort Steele, Sept. 24.—Geo. Eastman, Rochester, N.Y., and party consisting of Geo. B. Dryden, of Chicago, Francis S. Macomber and Albert D. Kaiser, Rochester, boarded their private car at Wasa today. They were en route to Glacier and thence back to Rochester. Their arrival at Wasa was a termination of a month's camping trip in the mountains north of Fort Steele and Crow points. The trip started at Michel following up the Elk river and into the head of Bull river, following the summits to Wasa. The party encountered a great deal of fallen timber due to so little travel through their route in the past few years, one day riding horseback eleven hours to make four miles. Also it rained quite a lot, but being prepared this did not hinder them a great deal. Besides the above party they had 25 pack horses and guides.

An effort is being made here to re-establish a brass band and as there have been two band organizations for the past two years the result has been far from satisfactory. Lately an amalgamation has been consummated and 27 members have enrolled for the new band, which will be known as the "Fernie City Band." The financing in the past has been the great difficulty and a petition is now being circulated among the ratepayers requesting their sanction that the city handle this entirely and at the same time be the trustees of all the property of the band. It is estimated that between $2000 and $2500 will be required annually to maintain a proper band, including the services of a professional bandmaster.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will be asked to turn the first sod in the erecting of the premises of the B. C. Cordage Factory when he visits the provincial exhibition at New Westminster. This company is unique in its way, inasmuch as it is the only concern of the kind in the British Empire, composed exclusively of returned soldiers. A returned soldier himself, it is expected that the Prince will be pleased to launch into the industrial field this business operated and controlled by veterans of the war.

VICTORY LOAN ORGANIZE

The forthcoming Victory Loan organization in so far as this district is concerned, began last evening, when at a public meeting the respective officers were duly elected. E. K. Stewart, general manager for the Trites-Wood Co., was re-elected chairman of the 1919 Victory Loan.. Thos. Prentice, manager of the Crow's Nest Trading Co., was appointed vice-chairman. The office of secretary will be filled by R. M. Young, secretary of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., and A. Klauer, of the same company, will act as treasurer. The chairmen of the respective permanent committees are as follows: M. A. Kastner, publicity and advertising; Sherwood Herchmer, canvassing; F. C. Lawe, checking and revising; while the tabluating committee will be supervised by Mr. Young. Appointments will be made in the near future for Elko, Jaffray, Baynes, Waldo, Dorr, Roosville, Newgate, Coal Creek, Natal, Michel, Corbin and Galloway, all of which points are within the Fernie district.

One feature of the public meeting was in connection with the distribution of canvassers' commission. It was definitely decided that no individual would receive any commission for subscriptions obtained within the City of Fernie. The motion as unanimously passed was in effect that all commissions are to be contributed to the Reconstruction Committee Building Fund, which will accordingly go to the fund already founded for the purpose of securing a permanent home for the returned soldiers of this district.

ILLICIT STILL IS SEIZED

Last week Harvey Brown, Collector of Inland Revenue, for reasons best known to himself, decided to make certain investigations within the city with regard to the illicit manufacture of intoxicating liquor. His first choice was in Fernie Annex and particularly the residence occupied by Nasef Kefoury on Chipman Avenue. Accompanied by Chief of Provincial Police McNeill and City Constable F. Clarkston on Friday afternoon a descent was made upon the dwelling. Upon entering they found Kefoury busily engaged operating a coffee mill grinding up wheat. They made known the object of their visit but were advised that they had made a grave mistake. However, not satisfied with the verbal denial, a rigid search was instituted. On a shelf near the kitchen range was found a large enameled kettle with an approximate capacity of ten gallons. For this was a peculiarly constructed cover—peculiar inasmuch as a metal tube about two feet in length extended horizontally therefrom. Alongside on the shelf was a coal or gasoline tin and midway through same passed a metal tube extending six or eight inches beyond each outer edge. With these articles it only required a moment to connect them up and an improvised "still" was had.

The search of the dwelling was then continued to other portions, despite the protests of some of the household. Kefoury, however, appeared unperturbed and calmly continued his "grist-mill" operation, and in answer to a query as to what such material was for, replied that he was preparing an article of food. The result of the continued search revealed numerous unlabelled tightly corked reputed quart bottles filled with two varieties of liquids. These were located in boxes, in trunks, behind boxes and behind trunks, among soiled clothing, and in places too numerous to mention. The final tally was 87, some of which contained colorless liquid, others were of a delicate brown hue. A regulation test of same indicated that that of the darker shade contained a large percentage of alcohol or 38 under proof, while the colorless liquid was of higher horsepower, namely 25 U.P.

All the foregoing were confiscated and conveyed to the city jail. A charge was laid under Section 87 of the Inland Revenue Act and accused came before Magistrate Whimster on Tuesday, when a plea of guilty was entered and accused assessed a fine of $350.00.

WHY THE DRUGSTORES?

Citizens of Revelstoke held a mass meeting a few days ago because of the manner in which booze was being dished out there. Allegations were made that intoxicating liquor could be found throughout the city, among the places mentioned being the police station, but a search of this place did not reveal any liquor, a deputation making a search of the station.

Resolutions setting forth that the law was being ignored in Revelstoke and demanding its enforcement by the authorities, were passed.

Word comes from Interior tows through the press that both male and female spotters are at work for the prohibitionists, but when it becomes necessary for the drys to employ such people to ferret out violations it is the best evidence that could be set up that the act as framed is a failure and that the government, not druggists or physicians, many of whom detest having anything to do with the question, should take complete control of the dispensing of the stuff and put a stop to the hold-up tactics now in force.

Let the government through well-paid representatives in charge of dispensaries, assume control of the sale of the stuff and in time all the unrest because of the manner in which the law is being treated, will be righted.

Such methods as are now employed leads one to see in the present law class legislation. No man or men has any right to be accorded such privileges as the druggists are now enjoying and who are simply coining money at the present time.—Rossland Miner.

Christ Church

The services next Sunday will be:
Holy Communion at 8 a.m.
Matins at 11 a.m.
Evensong at 7.30 p.m.

The Ven. Archdeacon Heathcote, of Vancouver, who is a most interesting and forceful speaker, will preach on the Anglican Forward Movement at the evening service.

The annual Harvest Thanksgiving services will be held on Sunday, Oct. 5th.

Wm. Dicken last week threshed a field of barley for Felix Costanzo at Cokato, which turned out 52 bushels to the acre. A field of oats threshed 102 bushels to the acre. This yield should be an eyeopener to prospective land settlers.

LOOKS LIKE SUICIDE

Coroner Thomson this week opened an inquiry in connection with the Austrian section hand, Mike Chenatske, late of Jaffray, who died in the hospital here last Sunday. The cause of death was from a wound in the throat believed to have been self-inflicted. Deceased had been employed at Jaffray for over a month prior to the tragedy, and had proved himself an efficient workman and of apparent good habits. He did not, however, associate with the other members of the section crew at all, but this was believed to be principally due to his limited knowledge of the English language. On the 18th inst., while working as usual, he laid down his shovel and walked away from the right-of-way into the bush. Nothing unusual transpired prior to his departure and it was not for some time later or at quitting time and he had not returned that any effort to find him was made. One of his co-workers then went into the bush to look for him and after some difficulty found him lying face downward on the ground. The section foreman was immediately summonsed and turning him over found a large pool of blood and a knife. He was believed to be dead and a hurried trip was made to Jaffray to inform the police. Upon arrival of Constable Dryden at the scene it was found that Chenatske had moved ten or fifteen feet from where originally found, and on closer investigation it was found there was still life. Dr. Garner was called from here and later the unfortunate man was brought to the city hospital, where he survived until Sunday.

Later reports to the effect that Chenatske was known to have quite recently had a large sum of money in his possession and also that he always carried it upon his person, caused the authorities to continue their investigation. The Coroner consequently took charge and visited Jaffray this week but so far all the evidence points to a case of suicide. There are, however, two or three other sources from which information is required before the matter is definitely concluded.

PROBLEMS OF INDUSTRY

Perhaps there never was a time in all our history like the present, when so many erroneous opinions prevail regarding economic conditions. In some cases, we will admit, the demand for higher wages is justified; in others it is not. In practically every instance it depends on the industry affected. What hardly seems justified in the light of the economic situation is the idea that by reducing the hours of labor, while maintaining the same wage, such conditions will be created as will mean perennial work for all. The demand for the reduction of the working hours, in the case of the One Big Union advocates, has reached a six-hour day, irrespective of the industry affected, but those same advocates have been unable to show that if this was brought about production could be maintained at its present level. Even the merest tyro knows that if you put into a business less than you take out, that business will die of starvation. That is an unavoidable law. It applies equally to the money of the employer and the work of the employee.

One writer dealing with the problems of industry has put the matter to which we are alluding in a succinct way. He compares a commercial undertaking employing a number of men with a man drawing upon his banking account. The latter cannot write a cheque for more than his balance, for in that case the cheque is dishonored. A workman who seeks to take advantage of industry, to the extent of taking more out of it than he puts into it in work, is simply ruining the enterprise, and the logical result is that he will ruin himself. Unfortunately, many employees are prone to forget this, because they are deluded by high-sounding theories about the means of production belonging to the producer. There are never told that there is a vanishing point and that such a point is usually very near the margin of the wages they are paid. There is an attempt now-a-days to show that the resources of industry are inexhaustible, and that they can be made to pay almost any wages demanded. Nothing is further from the truth. They are limited and when the limit is passed disaster comes.

It rests with the employees themselves to make the yield of industry small or large. Production will be smaller in proportion to the reduction in the hours of labor. The greater production there is the more assured wages will be and the higher the possibility of employment all round. It is idle to deny that Labor, taken as a whole, is at present imbued with a hurious spirit. Due, in part, to the work of agitators and in part to other conditions, many of which needs remedy, there is more active hostility to capital than ever before. It is not so much to capital that the antagonism exists as to those who are fortunate enough to possess it. The result of this feeling has led to decreased population, because where suspicion and distrust prevail men will not work so hard as under conditions where they are happy. There is very often absolutely no reason for this suspicion and distrust, and as a consequence such feelings are militating against the best interests of the country. One trouble is that no one has been able to define to what standard of happiness the workingman seeks to attain, nor, in the arguments which prevail on the subject, is sufficient attention paid to the basic laws of economy, the chief of which is that you cannot take out of an industry more than you put into it.

In Great Britain, to give the people bread at a reasonable cost, the people have had to be taxed so that the government may subsidize the purchase of wheat. The people are paying the high price just the same, only they are deluded into the belief they are not, because they do not connect their taxes with the cost of the bread. In the coal industry the falling off in production, through strikes and the higher wages and shorter hours prevailing, means that the people as a whole, including the miners themselves, have to pay the penalty. It means that the coal industry is not self-supporting, and, if it were not that it is absolutely essential to the life of the people, it would suffer. The idea that prevails in some quarters that by forcing something out of employers the employees are improving their condition can only be logical up to a certain point. Beyond that point it means either less employment, with a consequent decrease in production, or else it means that the industry affected must go by the board. If all industries are to be taxed to keep one industry in existence, then the principle might as well be applied all round, when operation in such a vicious circle would mean a crescendo of high prices with incalculably serious results. If economic laws are to be followed, and they must be, or else chaos will ensue, the question seems to be to arrive at conclusions regarding what each industry can afford to pay. In the last analysis that means what stage of production can be reached and at what price the products can be sold. It is in the latter aspect of the subject that the consumer must be protected. When the producers reach the point where they realize that they themselves constitute a very large proportion of the consuming public we will be at the beginning of providing a solution for industrial unrest.—Colonist.

MR. BOWSER HONORED BY HIS ALMA MATER

W. J. Bowser, K.C., has been signally honored by his Alma Mater, Dalhousie University, Halifax, by bestowal of the degree of Doctor of Laws.

The centenary celebration and convocation of the founding of the famous Nova Scotia seat of learning, one at which many of the past and present public men of the Dominion attended and received their education, was held last week at Halifax, and in honor of the events special ceremonies were held, A number of prominent Canadians were honored by having conferred upon them the Degree of Doctor of Laws, and among them in addition to Mr. Bowser, were Sir Robert Borden, Prime Minister of Canada, Mr. G. S. Campbell, chairman of the Board of Governors of the University of Halifax; Professor Seth, Professor of Philosophy at the University of Edingurgh; Mr. A. H. Cahan, a prominent financier of Montreal, and a man who has occupied a prominent position in the public life of that city; Dr. Allison, ex-president of the Mount Allison University, New Brunswick; Dr. John Stewart, a leading surgeon of Halifax; Mr. Henry S. Pritchard; Archbishop McNeill, Catholic Bishop of Toronto, formerly of Vancouver, and Professor J. Gould Schurman, president of Cornell University.

Mr. Bowser had been invited to attend the convocation ceremonies, but found it impossible to do so. The degree was conferred upon him in absentia.

The many friends of Mr. Bowser will be delighted to hear of the honor which has been conferred upon him. He has always kept in close touch with his Alma Mater, at which he took a two year course in Arts and graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1890. In the same class was Mr. Richard, afterwards Sir Richard, McBride, and it was there the two formed that life-long friendship which associated them in the political life of this province. Mr. Bowser was called to the Bar of New Brunswick in 1891, and immediately afterwards he left for British Columbia being called to the Bar of this province in the same year, since which time he has occupied a foremost position in the legal as well as in the public life of British Columbia.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

LAW AND ORDER

(Toronto Saturday Night)

Nova Scotia miners, through the United Mine Workers, proposed a general strike if the imprisoned Winnipeg Bolshevists were not released on bail. In other words, they would use the strike as a political axe. As Arthur Henderson, formerly labor member of the War Cabinet, recently said: "Are we prepared to allow the minority to dictate by unconstitutional methods?" The Winnipeg strike leaders were in jail for a good and sufficient reason. After the recent hearing before a magistrate, and their cases set down for trial, a number of them were allowed out on bail during good behaviour. What was the result? These people, in place of obeying the orders of the court, proceeded to take trains, travel East and there endeavor to stir up further strife, fortunately without success.

If the mandates of the courts of this country are to be thrown aside and trmapled upon by every Tom, Dick and Harry, there will soon be no law. Anarchy will reign in its stead. Rightly enough the Federal government, when appealed to by some labor representatives, declined to interfere with the findings of the Winnipeg court, the answer being that the Manitoba courts were in a better position to judge of the necessities of the case than was the Federal Department of Justice.

There is but one thing to do when such threats as now come from Nova Scotia mine workers materialize. Meet them fairly and squarely Let them strike and keep on striking. There are less than three hundred thousand union men in this country, and a large proportion of these are decent, law-abiding citizens who want a square deal, but no more. They have no desire to overturn our courts, and making a laughing stock of our laws. If some of the radicals, such as these miners of Nova Scotia, desire to strike in protest of a proper carry-out of our laws, let them. Call their bluff. These people might just as well understand first as last that they are in a minority, and thank God minorities up to the present are not running the country, as is the case in Russia.

It is time that the plaint of the Bourgeoisie was heard in this land. A great many people besides mine laborers for instance, have rights. The Bourgeoisie, representing fully 75 per cent of the people of this country, are in favor of law and order, and are out to support the established order of things, including our courts. Now, if the Nova Scotia or any other Canadian miners wish to strike in protest against the maintenance of our laws and courts, that is their business. They may cease producing coal, while we perforce will cease using it, looking to other markets to supply our needs. It is just a question as to what portion of society gets tired first, and it is good betting that it will not be the consumer. We can do without their coal a good deal longer than they can do without our money. The Bourgeoisie, lying between the capitalist on the one hand and the proletariat on the other, far outnumbers the two, and such being the case, this great and as yet unorganized body has but to get busy and exert itself to show who, after all, is the most powerful factor. In these days we hear altogether too much of the organized tenth and too little of the unorganized nine-tenths. The time may not be far off when the Bourgeoisie will find it necessary to organize in their own interests, and when they do, let the now organized tenth look to its kniting.

BILLY OSWALD AT GRAND IN "I LOVE A LASSIE"

Local music lovers have a treat in store on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 3 and 4, when Billy Oswald returns to the Grand theatre in his new musical play, "I Love A Lassie." While the book is replete with laughable situations and clever witticisms which give the inimitable "Billy" unlimited scope in his funmaking, no effort has been spared to make the musical end of the performance a feature.

The musical score of "I Love a Lassie" is mainly the work of two well known English composers, Bennett Mills and James Whitehouse. The latter is acting as Mr. Oswald's musical director and has seen to it that each number is rendered in the manner intended by Mr. Mills and himself. Every member of the cast is a vocalist of ability especially chosen for this production by Mr. Whitehouse personally.

The twenty or more musical items listed on the program include solos, duets, trios, quartettes, sextettes and ensemble numbers which range in style from ultra modern "Jazz" to ambitious operatic selections. Some of the striking hits are, "The Heart of a Rose," "Silvia," "The Harem," "When You're in Love," "The Girl At the Wheel," "Oh You, La La," "Yama Yama Blues," "The Fac Is," "A Paradise For Two," "The Vamp," "When Love Steals in Your Heart," "Military Beaux," "Woodland Home," and "I Love A Lassie," the title song.

WHAT THE COBALT STRIKE COST THE MEN

The strike of the Cobalt Miners' Union collapsed on August 7th, after having lasted forty-six days. The thing was doomed to fail at its beginning. The men have returned to work without the Union having gained its chief demand for recognition, the number of working hours remain the same, and the combined wage and bonus amounts to the same as before the strike was called. Like all other affairs of the kind, it collapsed under the sheer weight of its unjust cause, and it probably marks the grave of the Western Federation of Miners in this country.

As the workers of Cobalt return to their toil for which they receive higher pay than that obtainable for similar work in any other part of the country, they are likely to turn about and take stock of that which lies in the immediate past. They see a loss of time amounting in the aggregate to close to one hundred thousand work-days; they see a loss in payroll of close to half a million dollars; and, perhaps worst of all, they no longer see a reserve fund which they had formerly built up at some sacrifice. Their financial reserve in many instances has gone. The savings accounts in the banks show this. Winter is coming on, with fuel to buy and with store bills overdue.

Paid agitators cost the workmen of Cobalt close to half a million dollars. For this the workers gained nothing. The agitators did not suffer, their salary going on during the progress of the strike. The pity is that a very large percentage of the members of the Cobalt Miners' Union cannot read the English language and cannot see these facts recorded. They are fed up with phrases coined for their consumption by the agitators and are blinded to the folly of the way into which they are being led. It is among the illiterate that the erstwhile alleged leader,Jimmy McGuire, found his chief support, and which element will in future constitute the last shreds of the remnant of Western Federationism in this country. The educated worker has re-awakened, and will probably no longer lend his support to that organization.

Some credit is due to James Lord, representative of the Mining Department of the American Federation of Labor. But for the visit of Mr. Lord it is probable that the radicals would have held sway for some time longer. However, perhaps no one recognized the futility of the effort and the unjust cause of the Cobalt Miners' Union better than did Mr. Lord. He at once appeared to see that recognition can never be won by the Western Federation of Labor. He could not help but see that wages and conditions were all that could be expected. It was his visit coming just at a time when the Cobalt Citizens' Committee took up the question with the men that caused the vicious attempts of the radicals to collapse. In the light of these events, McGuire representing the W.F.M. stands condemned as a failure, and the executive of the Cobalt Miners' Union wins a just reward for its utter incompetency.—Saturday Night.

Playing With Fire

The Treaty of Versailles may be in some respects bad, and if the Senate continues to fumble helplessly while the prestige and authority of the peace conference wane, the remaining treaties may be worse. But they all have a saving grace; they all explicitly recognize principles hitherto ignored in treaty-making. Out of the wreckage one hopeful thing emerges in the unfinished scaffolding of a League of Nations. Perfect it is not, but it is beginning, and the fate of that beginning rests in great part, perhaps mainly, with the United States. The time has come for the United States to be something more than the palladium of liberty which Senator Lodge so finely praises; to be the world's best hope it must be the world's present help.—Springfield Republican.

Sack for the Laureate

It would certainly cost the Exchequer more to give our Poet Laureate the tierce of sack his early predecessors received instead of the annual payment of £27 given him in lieu thereof, since 1813. When the office was founded, sack (a corruption of "sec") meant any dry wine—the Laureate could choose a sweet one. The favorite dry wine of today is not sherry (as in Ben Johnson's time), but champagne, so were the old custom revived, Dr. Robert Bridges might claim a tierce, or thirty-five gallons, of some cuvee reservee, extra sec, and thus run up a bill for £175, at a modest estimate. If Mr. Bottomley had his way, the Poet Laureate would probably get another kind of sack.—London Daily Express.

ADVANCE IN COAL PRICES

The Calgary Herald says an advance of 25 cents a ton, generally speaking, on all the higher grades of lump coal is noted this season in prices advertised by dealers, the price to consumers being $8.75 a ton. The advance, the dealers say, is due to increased prices at the mines, which they claim are charging them 25 cents a ton more.

F. E. Harrison, federal fair wage officer, and assistant to Mr. Armstrong, director of coal operation in District 18, said this morning that the mines handling the lignite coal had been authorized by the government to increase the price 14 cents a ton.

The local dealers also say that while there is coal enough in the city to supply present needs, it is coming in very slowly and most of them are just getting enough to fill present orders. There does not seem to be any fear of a shortage, however, as mines in the Camrose and Tofield districts are anxious to get their lower priced coals on the Calgary market, if possible, and there is a plentiful supply of that coal which, however, does not measure up to the quality of the Drumheller and Lethbridge coals.

A. C. Thomas, of the Thomas Fuel and Cartage Company, was one dealer who said that the supply of coal in the city was pretty low. He said there had been an interruption of traffic on the Drumheller line due to a washout, but that this was expected to be remedied shortly.

"Coal prices have advanced 25 cents a ton," said Mr. Thomas, "because the mines are charging us 25 cents a ton more. The government allows us a net profit of 50 cents a ton on the handling of coal in the city and there is not much money in the business. There are a lot of dealers starting in the business this year again, 'snowbirds,' but they will soon get their eyes full and quit.

"Take Drumheller coal, for instance That coal costs us $5.25 at the mine, and the freight is $1.90 a ton, which brings it to $7.15 in Calgary. It costs us another 20 cents a ton for unloading, and about $1.00 a ton for hauling, or a total of $8.35, so that the retail price of $8.75 only allows us 40 cents a ton profit. There certainly is not much money in handling it here in Calgary."

The Lethbridge lump coal, which many people in Calgary favor, is selling this year at $9 a ton, and the dealers handling it also claim that there is a very small profit for them, inasmuch as the increase allowed recently by the government brings this coal to $5.49 a ton at the mine.

Apparently, the most immediate solution of the coal problem in Calgary would be the introduction of cheaper grades of coal from the northern fields, but the majority of people in ordering coal want the best, and there is little or no demand for the Camrose coal—at least, none of the dealers advertise it on their lists.

COAL CREEK NOTES

That the fame of our local Jess Willard has spread since his disposal of Pete Dawson in the roped arena is evidenced by the letter which we are authorized to publish below. Kid Barker has replied and is anticipating a fine bank balance, after his trip to New York. We expect a few exhibitions up here before he proceeds on his tour. He is undergoing rigorous training in the hands of Professors Ferguson and Reid.

338 A. Munroe St.,
Brooklyn, N.Y., Aug. 30, 1919.

G. Barker, Coal Creek, B.C.

Dear Sir—While looking through the sporting section of a Vancouver paper the other day, I noticed an account of your recent fight with one Pete Dawson of the C.E.F. The article in question gave quite a promising account of your performance and I wish to congratulate you on your success in disposing of your opponent, who, I understand, was quite a figure in military sporting circles. Being a sport promoter myself I looked up your record and was favorably impressed and also received a line on you from a personal friend in the west, who has seen you perform. My proposition is that you come east to New York and meet any of the many important lightweights now performing. I have already the assurance of several managers that they will be willing to give you matches. Furthermore, while talking to Billy Gibson, who is manager for Champion Leonard, I mentioned your success in the fight for the lightweight championship of B.C., and he intimated that if you came east and showed any form at all, he thought you and Benny Leonard would prove a drawing card in Manhattan. There is lots of money in the game out here and so sure am I of your ability to make good that I am in a position to guarantee your expenses out here and back. If you care to consider this matter seriously I would appreciate a letter in the near future addressed to me at above address. Your achievements are well known out here and your presence has become a matter of popular demand, so you can readily see the advantages of making the trip.

Hoping for an early reply,
Yours truly,
John E. Gregory.

IN MEMORIUM

Inserted in memory of Pte. Thomas G. Martin, who paid the supreme sacrifice Sept. 17, 1916. Inserted by his father, mother, brothers and sisters.

The face we olved is now laid low,
His fond, true heart is still,
The hands we clasped when we parted last
Now lie in death's cold chill.
He sleeps beside his comrades in a hallowed grave unknown.
But his name is written in letters of love in
The hearts of those he has left at home.
Memory's pride is more than gold;
A good lad's worth cannot be told.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of our dear nephew and cousin, Pte. William Archer, killed in France, Sept. 27th, 1918.

Sleep on, dear Willie, in a soldier's gave,
Your life for your country you nobly gave.
We were not near to say good-bye,
But safe in God's keeping now you lie.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Born—At Eureka, Mont., to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stephens, a son.

Cranbrook Fair is next Wednesday and Thursday. Remember the dates.

Wm. Dicken is importing a large quantity of slabs for the local market.

Miss Marjorie Carmichael returned yesterday from a month's holiday at the coast.

Privates Greenough and Arthur Collins arrived in the city from overseas this morning.

Wanted—A housekeeper or a home for two girls, aged eight and six years.—F. R. Haigh, 19 Dalton Ave.

General manager Wilson, of the C. N. P. Coal Co., returned on Wednesday from Ottawa, where he attended the Industrial Congress.

Mark Owen, of the U.S. Navy, arrived in the city on Thuusday evening. He is spending a few days leave with relatives and friends.

The local Conservative delegates will leave in the morning to attend the Provincial Canvention at Vancouver, which opens on Oct. 1.

Jack Lewis was in the city yesterday. Jack has just returned from guiding a party of New Yorkers over the mountains along the upper Elk.

A quiet wedding took place in Vancouver the other day when Mrs. W. G. Barclay, late of Fernie, was united in marriage to Frank Stark, formerly of Nelson.

A whist drive will be given in Christ Church basement on Wednesday evening next, Oct. 1. Commence at 8.30. Refreshments will be served. Admission 25c.

The Ladies Benevolent Society would be glad to receive clothing for children. Any person wishing to donate anything kindly send to Mrs. Stewart or Mrs. Wallace.

Jim Corbett, of the Crow's Nest Trading Co's. staff, who left last week for Rochester, Minn., to undergo an operation, is returning shortly, the operation proving unnecessary.

J. P. Lowe, Dominion Express Agent here, is spending a fortnight's vacation at Calgary. Lieut. Hensen, formerly a member of the staff of the local express office here, is acting as relieving agent.

Don't forget about the Cranbrook Fair, on Oct. 1st and 2nd, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. They are putting up a fine exhibition this year. Be neighborly and drop over for a day or two.

"It's just like a man," he tells his wife to enjoy herself,—he hasn't any time for pleasure—and then when some other obliging male dares smile with her—Oh my! Oh! Oh! See "Virtuous Wives" here next week.

A. Cummings, who has been up in the Banff country on a mining survey, returned to the city on Saturday. During his stay in Banff he attended the reception given the Prince of Wales in that city. He got several fine photos of the proceedings.

There is one man who understands women—Owen Johnson, author of "Virtuous Wives." Did you read the story in Cosmopolitan Magazine? Anyway, see the photoplay here. Anita Stewart is the star. She wears eight Paris gowns. Orpheum, next Wednesday and Thursday.

David Gash has sold his dray and transfer business to Ed. Patterson and Jack Wilson. He expects to move to the coast where he will take up land and go farming. Mr. Gash has resided here for many years and has made good. His departure will be sincerely regretted.

Sergt. David Gash, Jr., accompanied by his wife, arrived home from overseas on Saturday last. He enlisted with the 54th and was through 12 big engagements. Buried alive, wounded twice and finally gassed, David has had a world of experience. He left Fernie a mere lad; he now stands 6 feet and a half high and weighs 250 pounds.

Constable Clarkston accompanied two juveniles to Vancouver Thursday morning, where they will be admitted to the Provincial Reform School. These lads very recently burglarized six or seven stores and private dwellings, taking therefrom practically anything and everything that appealed to their fancy. The authorities soon traced the thefts and the boys finally admitted their wrong doings. They appeared before Magistrate Whimster on Tuesday and were sentenced to two and a half years in the Reform School. The ages of the boys are eleven and thirteen.

A. McDougall arrived in the city from Croydon, B.C., on Thursday morning.

Alex. Watson, of the government office staff, has been appointed Clerk of the Peace.

Ed. Davidson and Gordon Johnson will break up about 400 acres of land near Morrissey and start a hay ranch.

The Executive of the Board of Trade held a meeting last night to hear the report of the Publicity Committee with regard to the 1920 campaign for this city and immediate district.

E. L. Brown, C.P.R. operator, leaves this evening for a two months vacation at the home of his parents near Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Brown will take in the World's Series baseball at Cincinnati enroute.

C. H. Robinson, of Nelson Fishery Overseer of this district, was in the city on Thursday consulting with members of the Rod and Gun Club. He left for Newgate on Friday morning, but will return here and will meet the Rod and Gun Club in the council chamber on Monday evening at 8 p.m.

Col. Lowery has not yet started on his regular winter's journey to California. It is rumored that the colonel will return next spring with a handsome widow from Pasadena, San Diego, or Los Angeles. The colonel has arrived at the age of discretion and is considered a social lion in the sunny south.—Kamloops Sentinel.

Sgt. Donald McLeod, who arrived home this morning, accompanied by his English bride, was one of the lucky boys who served through the entire war without a scratch. Donald, who is a son of the late Malcolm McLeod, who was killed in the 1902 explosion, enlisted in November, 1914, from Calgary, with the famous 31st. He won his stripes and Military Medal for bravery on the battle front. He will visit with his mather, Mrs. T. Simms, here for a few weeks.

The Cave Man's ball, as portrayed in "Virtuous Wives," shows the length to which the idle rich will go to give their jaded senses a new thrill. Several hundred actors and actresses take part in this big primeval revel, which is one of the features of "Virtuous Wives," to be seen here next week. Anita Stewart is the star, and Owen Johnson the author, of the story, which was published in Cosmopolitan Magazine. Some picture. At the Orpheum next Wednesday and Thursday.

The North Star mine at Kimberly in East Kootenay will soon be shipping a carload of ore a day. A few years ago the North Star was abandoned by mining experts, but Sir Daniel Mann, then plain Dan Mann, had faith in the depths and is now profiting by that faith. It was the same with the Sullivan mine just across the gulch. There was a time that it could have been bought for a song. Today it is one of the best silver-lead mines in the province and is producing at a profitable rate.—Kamloops Sentinel.

E. S. H. Winn, Chairman of the B. C. Compensation Board, spent yesterday in the city on official business in connection with the operation of the Workmen's Compensation Act and conferred with representatives of the workmen, the employers and the medical profession. Mr. Winn was en route to Toronto, where he will attend the International Convention of the Chairmen of Workmen's Compensation Boards, at which the heads of these boards will be present from all over the North American continent.

The local corps of the Salvation Army will celebrate their annual Harvest Festival Thanksgiving on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Sept. 27, 28 and 29. No doubt the friends and sympathizers will join them in this effort. The good work which this organization has carried through and the success which has attended their dealings with the outcast and unfortunate commands the appreciation of all who sympathize with the spiritual and moral needs of the people. A great Harvest Sale will take place at the S. A. hall on Monday night, Sept. 29. Don't forget the dates.

Owing to the inability of the transportation companies to furnish cars, some 15,000 sheep, which have been pasturing at Elko for the past two or three months, are being herded back to the points from whence they originally came in Southern Alberta. A flock of 3000 belonging to D. Madge passed through the city a few days ago, and at present a flock of 12,000 belonging to Mr. Harvie, of Chin, Alta., are enroute between here and Morrissey. These latter are divided into four flocks of 3000 and each flock is being handled by three men with sheep dogs. They are travelling very slowly in order that the animals may have the opportunity to browse along the highway, where, through the mountains, abundant feed of this description is available.

"COME AND WORSHIP"

The Unwelcome Guests

It is absolutely within the competence of the Allies to order Germany to leave Russia alone; and if that power be not quickly exercised it will be too late. We in this country have no hesitation in saying that we have a peculiar interest in the restoration of Russia, for the friendship of Russia is of great value to us, both politically and commercially. As we have constantly insisted, it is first of all necesary to abolish Bolshevism in Russia; second, to prevent external interference with Russia while she settles her form of government. If Germany is permitted to pursue her schemes, Germany, and not Russia, will settle the future of Russia, in the German interest, and a greater menace to the peace of the world does not exist.—London Morning Post.

Know Him Better Now

Hon. W. J. Bowser recently made a trip to Vancouver Island and at every point was given a most cordial reception. There was a time when the people left the bulldog in the front yard and put a double lock on the doors if they heard that "that man Bowser" was coming into the neighborhood. It is different now. The people have had an opportunity to get acquainted with Mr. Bowser, and Mr. Bowser has had an equal opportunity to meet the people since retiring from the office of premier. As a result, Mr. Bowser's status in the province is different than when he was in office and too much taken upwith the affairs of his position to have time to get acquainted with the people.—Kamloops Standard-Sentinel.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Christopher Columbus had initiative plus—and no amount of adversity or opposition can defeat a person thus equipped. In other words, you can't keep a good man down, and mistakes, if rightly used, are guidestakes to increased efficiency, based on experience, but keep on advertising. Its great stuff if you know how to do it.

Miss Millie Mocassin String is enjoying a hunting trip up the Lodge Pole Creek, and expects to return to her bungalow on Driftwood Terrace sometime this week.

Fred Roo, general merchant Elko, who was burned out in the big Elko fire on Sept. 8th, opened up with a big stock of new goods September 20th, doing a bigger business than ever. This world owes every man a living and you can get a good one if you get out and hustle for it.

Bill Carrol, the well-known Canthook conductor, was in Elko this week and Kootenay River points. Jim Denney, known in every logging camp in the Kootenays, sang some classics of the old Ottawa River, also the romantic adventures of Casey Jones on the Salt Lake line and several others that crimped around the edges, and a very pathetic love song of Eliza Jane.

A great many travelers visited the old historic burg this last week, but on account of the rush of business and moving into new quarters, we have to just mention that they were as popular as the directors of a fresh air and drinking water trust. Jack Tabor, Jim Shierlock, Roy Sharp, A. Stewart, Bert Greenwood, Manager T. Prentice, Bert Sang, Jack Eonnan, Bill Glasgow from Belfast, Edworthy of Lethbridge, Cassidy, Feeney, and Spinal McGinnes, of Calgary, with grilled saurkraut and souvenir cheese with a map of Ireland on it modeled in low relief.

Jim Thistlebeak is trying to find out who the traveler was that took his samples and put them in the bed at the Columbia Hotel the other night.

O. B. U. OPPOSED TO ORGANIZED LABOR

Hamilton, Sept. 23.—Scathing denunciation of the One Big Union, the methods adopted by those who seek to foster the movement, and practically everything connected with it was made this afternoon by J. W. Hayes and Matthew Wall, members of the executive committee of the American Federation of Labor, in speeches before the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress.

They alleged that the O. B. U. was strongly opposed to organized labor and was an attempt to revive a scheme that had been attempted 30 years ago in the United States, but which at that time had been found wanting.

The speakers, members of the local union label trades department of the American Federation of Labor, which is holding sessions in Hamilton, created something of a sensation when they commenced to denounce the movement, which has quite a number of supporters among the delegates at the convention. The sentiments they pressed at first provoked a number of these, and interruptions were frequent, but more often than not the shouts of disapproval were drowned by the applause of the more moderate members of the congress.

Attempts were made to question the speakers, but President Moore ruled with an iron hand, in forming the delegates that they would have every opportunity of discussing the matter when it came before the congress in another way.

The question of the O.B.U. came before the convention in another form earlier in the day, when a resolution was submitted by George Armstrong, Winnipeg, advocating the soviet form of government and demanding the immediate withdrawal of troops from Russia and urging the government to refuse aid, financial or otherwise, to "bourgeoisie" governments. Delegate Armstrong, who was one of those arrested by the government on a charge of sedition arising from the Winnipeg strike, attempted to speak to his motion, but it was sent to the committee on resolutions for consideration.

Other matters of less contentious character which came before the congress were shorter working days, the federal housing scheme and the organization of police unions, with the right to affiliate with the trades union movement.

"VIRTUOUS WIVES" AT THE ORPHEUM

What is a virtuous wife?

Amy Forrester, around whom Owen Johnson centers the celebrated story of "Virtuous Wives," which, in motion picture form, will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre, next Wednesday and Thursday, with Miss Anita Stewart as the star, declares that virtue is essentially a state of mind. Webster's dictionary agrees with this definition, but Andrew Forrester, her husband, explodes society's upper crust in proving his own theory.

The theme of the story and screen production, in which Miss Stewart returns to the ranks of stardom after an absence of several months, is of the modern problems of married life, the division of responsibilities, time, and activities between husband and wife, the allegiance a wife nominally owes to her husband, and the extent of the trust he can place in her.

With the Forresters, Amy and Andrew, leaders in their social set, the atmosphere of the production is confined to scenes and locations long familiar to and patronized by New York's ultra-rich. The settings are necessarily lavish and extravagantly furnished, to make accurate the replicas of the actual homes of the society personages they are intended to represent.

PRESS COMMENT

British Naval Victories

There is no parallel to the succession of victories which British seamen have won during this great war. At the battle of Falkland Islands, the White Ensign gained the first victory of annihilation recorded in British naval annals; in Heligoland Bight and the running fight from the Dogger Bank to Borkum Riff, successes were achieved with which Nelson would have been proud to have had his name associated; at the Battle of Jutland the enemy was overwhelmed by the guns of the British battle fleet, and, escaping in the mist and gathering darkness with many vessels bloody shambles, never again had the temerity to risk a fleet action. Great results were achieved by British seamen at slight cost, and when the armistice was signed the grand fleet was stronger in material than when hostilities opened, while its prestige had been established on a pinnacle to which the eyes of the men of the world were turned in admiration. Whatever may be the inclination of other powers, we can announce, without equivocation, that during the ensuing five years we intend to lay down no new ships of war. With the same courage that we faced Germany's war preparations, we may well face the peace preparations, setting an example not only to Europe, but to the world at large. If the League of Nations requires material support in naval armaments during the period of this naval holiday, we shall be in a position to make the largest contribution of any of the powers, while at the same time exhibiting by the standard of our commissionings and the absence of new construction, our sincere desire to check a recurrence of competitive shipbuilding. That decision not only involves no pledge as to the future, but would carry with it the warning that if the naval holiday is ignored by other powers, then this country, with its vast resources for the creation of naval armaments, will, if it must, take up again the heavy burden it has borne for so long.—London Fortnightly Review.

The Caucasus Withdrawal

A recent cable dispatch fixes attention upon the withdrawal of the British troops from the Caucasus. Italy has declined to accept the mandate for the Armenian provinces which was given her by the peace conference. She is sending no troops to replace ours, which have been doing efficient police work. The certainty is that if the British troops are withdrawn, and no others take up their mission, there will be massacres by the Turks of the remnants of the Armenian race. Any such outcome would be a blot upon the records of all the powers. We may reasonably say that Great Britain cannot be expected to accept the responsibility of keeping the peace in all the disturbed countries. Her hands are already more than full. At the same time, we should not and cannot create a situation to which defenceless Armenia is left to the mercy of the Turks and Kurds. We have the right to claim that this is the business of all the Allies, and that it is for them at once to make arrangements that will safeguard the remnant of the Armenians.—Westminster Gazette.

Cheaper Mails

More than two centuries ago there was a penny post to America. Captains about to sail hung up bags in the coffee-rooms in London and Bristol, and carried across the Atlantic single letters for a penny each. The scheme broke down because of delay in the final delivery, but a penny an ounce works out at nearly £200 a ton, which leaves an ample margin after paying ocean freight. Even aerial transport is not prohibitive in cost. Mr. Holt Thomas recently showed that letters could be taken by aeroplane from London to Paris at the rate of 700 words for one penny. The voyage of the R-34 foreshadows transoceanic postal transport at a cheaper rate. Even now we are far from having exhausted known possibilities of weight-saving for the swifter methods of transport.—London Times.

Viscount Grey

Viscount Grey has, of course, "the highest possible qualifications as a statesman for the special mission to America which he is taking up, but he has also—what is equally important—the special personal qualifications which should make him acceptable to the American Government and people. Probably no single man contributed more to the course of events which made the entrance of the United States into the war a natural and inevitable transition from her neutrality. From the very first he saw that to keep in close touch with America was of the utmost importance to the Allies, and, therefore, that it was the highest wisdom not to push questions arising out of the blockade to the point of arousing serious hostility among the American people. In the difficult period of American neutrality no Allied statesman better understood President Wilson's difficulties or divined his intentions, and through an intimacy, which became warm friendship, with Colonel House and Mr. Page, he established a contact with American opinion which was of the highest value to the Allies.—Westminster Gazette.

Let Them Wait a While

From an entirely abstract point of view and as a matter of purely academic logic, the German and Austrian protest against Allied interference with the union of Austria and the new German republic is well taken. The principle of self-determination might seem applicable to this case. And it may be argued that to deny it as to them is not merely inconsistent, but will prove futile as well as dangerous. Even if Austria does not outwardly and openly become a part of Germany, there is no means of preventing a working understanding betweeen them and Allied opposition may only bring them closer together in spirit and strengthen their mutual antagonism to the powers which have prohibited their merger. The force of both the logical and practical objections must be admitted. But what Austria and Germany both overlook is that they occupy an entirely different position from that of any other nation. They are both offenders of the first grade. They are both being punished for participation in one of the greatest crimes in history. And they are both distinctly on probation till they have brought forth fruits meet for repentance and have shown they can be trusted.—Baltimore Sun.

The Automobile Field

Statistics gathered at the office of the Secretary of State at Albany show in round figures that there are 465,000 autos now in use on the 82,000 miles of public roads in the State of New York, and from reliable sources the statement is made that 6,300,000 autos are in use in the United States, representing a value of $5,000,000,000, of which not more than 30 per cent is covered by insurance of any kind, and but a limited percentage against loss on account of accidents causing injuries to other persons or property, for which the auto owner is legally liable. Out of this limited coverage of 30 per cent the majority of claims companies are called upon to pay are those for property damage, from which fact it may be correctly inferred that the greatest hazard to be protected against is that of personal property damage.

Notwithstanding this, notwithstanding the coverage of all kinds is not over 30 per cent and 70 per cent of the billions of values in autos owned by the people of the United States is not protected by insurance in any form, it seems incredible that auto owners should be so negligent in regard to protection against a continuous overhanging hazard, or, with the small minority who do secure insurance, it is, in the majority of instances, only against the lesser hazards of theft, fire or collision.

The main thought with auto owners who do give thought to the insurance feature is that of protection of self against financial loss in the event of fire, theft or collision and sight is loss of the greatest responsibility. The ownership and operation of an auto compels assumption of public liability and property damage, and the consequence attendant upon injury to any other man's person as well as property.

In New York State alone, on each mile of public roads at least five autos are being operated, of which at least three are uninsured, and in the other States the proportion is approximately as great. What a broad and remunerative field is opening, and yet it seems as if agents were neglecting it.

The Unchangeable Teuton

Germany is always ready to change sides, to repudiate a pledge, and to betray a friend; but amid all her infidelities she is constant to the purpose of her unalterable ambition. If Germany cannot actually rule Russia, and possess the vast potential riches of the Slav dominions, Germany intends to rule the rulers of Russia, and as no solvent more effectually destroys the national fibre than the vitriol of anarchy, so Germany inspired, encouraged and bribed the Bolshevist leaders in Russia.—London Morning Post.

Learning to Play

Many a man goes away for a vacation thoroughly worn-out and needing, as we say, a complete change. Too often he tries to take violent exercise on the very morrow of his holiday, and therefore breaks down, to his great disappointment, just when he hoped to be more than usually well. The fault lies with himself and his want of common-sense. Let him take a rest for the first few days and gradually accustom himself to the new conditions, then, as his muscles get braced and his nerves become better, he can learn to take more exercise and train himself to severer exertions. To ask a jaded and flaccid body to endure considerable strain is a folly which is bound to exact its toll in many forms of neurathenia. Doctors could be worse employed than in teaching their patients how to take a holiday.—London Daily Telegraph.

McClary's Kootenay

SURELY it is every woman's right to have a range like the Kootenay! —a range that she can depend on—a range that is a real joy to work with—a range easy to keep clean—a range that "keeps the oven hot" with a small fire.

The cooking-top is burnished brighter than steel; it never needs blacklead. The oven wall of nickeled steel is easily cleaned. The duplex grates clean down the fire with a single swing of the lever. See this famous range.

OTHER TABLETS NOT ASPIRIN AT ALL

BAYER

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, you are not getting Aspirin—only an acid imitation.

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are now made in Canada by a Canadian Company. No German interest whatever, all rights being purchased from the United States Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. The "Bayer Cross" is your only way of knowing that you are getting genuine Aspirin, proved safe by millions for Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger sized "Bayer" packages can be had at drug stores.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

ON BUYING NEW CLUBS

(By Arthur Mills)

A successful manufacturer of mustard was once said to have remarked that he made his money not so much by the amount of mustard people used as by the amount that they left upon their plates. I think that most club makers would tell a similar story about the sale of golf clubs. For of all the possessions that a man acquires surplus to his normal needs, those golf clubs purchased here and there, played with a time or two and then discarded, are not among the least. It is not that golf professionals and club makers ever ask people to buy clubs. They do not. That is the uncanny part about it. The clubs seem to offer themselves for sale as they stand in their racks. The predestined victim, who has been playing very indifferently with his brassie during the morning, comes in to pay his caddie, picks up a brassie while he is waiting for the change, likes the feel of it, and says, "By jove, I like the feel of that club, Henry." Henry, the pro., takes it, feels it himself, and agrees that the club is a good one.

"I ought to be able to hit a good ball with that, you know," says the player, looking unspeakable thoughts at his old, disgraced brassie peeping from his bag. "Yes, sir. Yes—good club, that." "Well, I will have it," says the player, and the deed is done.

We most of us in our own homes have some corner where there is stacked an accumulation of "Dreadnought" drivers, "fishing rod" drivers, brassies, spoons, cleeks and sammie cleeks, irons and mid-irons, mashies, niblicks, and of a certainty three different kinds of putter. To pick them up one by one and try to remember when we bought them, why we bought them, and where we bought them would provide a useful exercise in memory training, and—if our handicaps be not now plus 4—a sad illustration of the abortiveness of human effort.

Many causes lead a man to go on buying new golf clubs. The most common cause is the friend who assures him a club he is using does not suit him. People ought to be very careful before they offer to others a criticism of this kind. Nothing more quickly devastates a man's power of playing with a particular club than to sow in his mind the idea that it does not suit him. He must make up his mind to believe either in his club of his friend's opinion. Once a player admits that a club he is using has bad points he had better burn it.

It is a very great mistake to keep on buying golf clubs in order to endeavor to improve one's game. Let a player choose his clubs with all the care he can, but, onece he has finally made the purchase, let him believe in his choice and play with them in the face of discouragement. At the moment, owing to the difficulty of getting good shaftes, there are a number of very indifferent clubs upon the market. Some are like poleaxes; others have a whippiness which will make the maintenance of straight direction as much a matter of luck as of judgment. However, there are plenty of good clubs still to be bought. Certainly this year many players are buying new clubs. On starting to play again after an interval of five years some players find that their shafts are "brittle," or maybe slightly warped; others have lost their clubs; others, again, have lost the sense of dependence they felt for old favorites, and are ready to start on new ventures.

Speaking of old favorites reminds the writer of the very excellent advice given by James Braid in his book "Advanced Golf." Braid urges the player never to lose the opportunity of matching as nearly as he can any club of which he has grown particularly fond. For one day that favorite club may break, and then follows a period of unhappiness while the player looks for another club to suit him. Some authorities advocate the possession of two kinds of putter, for when the player is off with one he may find himself able to put steadily with another. Whether it is for this reason that so many men buy so many putters I do not know, but I should think that more putters are sold in a year than any other kind of club. I do not myself believe it matters much what sort of putter a player uses. A ball that is truly hit will go into the hole just as well if it be struck with wood, steel, copper or aluminum. I remember a morning at Sandwich on the day of the semi-finals in the amateur championship. A friend walked up to one of the semi-finalists who was standing by the professionals' shop and picking up his putter said: "By Jove, I do wish I had got a putter like that." "Do you?" said the other man. "Well, you can have it. I have time to get another before we start." He walked into the professional's shop, and picking up a putter haphazard, of quite a different make and shape to the one he had just given away, bought it, played with it, and won the amateur championship.

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

BUSINESS MAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC

W. W. Paynter, of North Rustico, Praises Ttanlac For Helping Him and His Wife

It is doubtful if there is a better known or more highly respected man in the vicinity of Charlottetown than W. W. Paynter, a general merchant and proprietor of the hotel at North Rustico, Prince Edward Island.

While on a business trip to Charlottetown, recently, Mr. Paynter called at Reddin Brothers drug store to make a purchase of Tanlac and stated that both himself and wife are using the medicine with wonderful results. When asked if he was willing for his experience with Tanlac to be published, Mr. Paynter said:

"Yes, indeed, for it was by reading the statements of others that we heard of it and were induced to give it a trial. I had suffered from a bad stomach, poor appetite and a general run-down condition for years. I could not digest anything properly and as a result I lost weight and strength continually. I was extremely nervous, slept but little and had that tired, no account feeling all the time. This condition had existed so long that it was beginning to wear down my whole system. What I would eat nearly always caused me nauseau, cramps in the pit of my stomach or some other form of indigestion. I also suffered from dizziness, felt listless and hadn't the energy to attend to business properly. I was not sick exactly; that is not sick enough to take to my bed, but was about one half efficient and getting worse all the time.

"My wife was affected practically the same way I was and had gotten in this run down condition on account of the care and the worry of running the hotel. So after reading the high endorsements in the Charlottetown papers we decided to try Tanlac, and while we have only taken two bottles each there is all the difference in the world in our condition already. My wife says she is feeling like a new person and as for me ,why, I have my old time vigor and energy back and am just feeling fine. Everything I eat agrees with me perfectly now, for I have no more pain or distress of any kind after meals, and my sleep is sound and restful every night. We are going to continue Tanlac for a while longer and I don't hesitate to recommend it for I have never run across a medicine that I consider in its class."

WHEN AN AMERICAN DOLLAR WAS WORTH 40 CENTS

A Correspondent inquires why Canadian silver money is subject to a discount in the United States. "Is there not as much silver in a Canadian 25-cent piece as there is in an American quarter?" he asks. "And hasn't our five-cent piece got as much silver in it as an American nickel?" says the Home Bank Monthly.

The answer, of course, is "Yes." Our five-cent piece and our copper coins are intrinsically better value than similar American pieces, but the circulating coin of both countries is very much below the actual value in coined metal. Before the war an ounce of silver cost the United States Government sixty cents, and this was minted into a dollar and thirty-eight cents' worth of silver. A pound of copper then cost eighteen cents and was minted into one hundred and forty-six one-cent pieces. The same proportions of profit would also accrue to the Canadian Government in minting silver coins. The intrinsic value is not there in either case. It is the imprint of the national Government that gives the coin its circulating value.

Since 1914 the price of all metals, both precious and base, has greatly advanced. Silver that was 60 cents the ounce is now worth one dollar, and a dollar in coined silver represents approximately 70 cents' worth of the pure metal. But the discount on Canadian silver money has nothing to do with the calculation of intrinsic value of the weight of metal. It is the application of the rate of international exchange in a small retail way.

Business interests in the border cities of the United States allege that some unscrupulous persons were taking advantage of their acceptance of Canadian silver at par and dumping large quantities of it upon them, thus obtaining American paper currency at par and making a profit on the existing rate of exchange. The discount had, therefore, to be exacted upon Canadian silver as well as paper money.

The discount upon Canadian money in the United States will have to reach a very much higher percentage than any rate so far exacted before it will touch the price that American money was handled for in Canada in 1864. In the summer of that year a United States dollar was worth 39 cents in Toronto. There had been much expert manipulation of the gold supply by Wall Street operators in that year. They covered the market on gold and caught the Government short on its own obligations, with the result that the national promise to pay on demand was impractical of fulfilment out of any adequate visible supply of the standard medium of value. This predicament was temporary, but while it lasted Canadians made the best of it. For an illustration of the conditions that then prevailed, we quote from reminiscences of C. C. Taylor, author of "Toronto Called Back,"1892-1847.

"The American Civil War," writes Mr. Taylor, "caused the country to be overrun with commissariat agents, purchasing stores for the army. American gold poured in in steady streams, and produce of all kinds could not be supplied to meet the demands. Farmers and merchants reaped a golden harvest, and many a fortune was accumulated by trader and speculator. Toronto had its share in the general prosperity, and the condition of the city was one hitherto unexampled. Goods bought in American currency and paid for in gold at a high premium, corresponding with the depreciation in American currency, gave the local importers of American goods room to realize immense profits.

"As an illustration of the difference in the values in currency at one time (doubtless the summer of 1864), the writer and a friend, when starting for New York, took $40 each to a broker on King Street, for which we each received $100 in American currency. As the price of everything had remained unchanged in the United States, we travelled at less than half the charges paid by Americans. The fare to New York, which from Suspension Bridge was $10, was to us only $4, while the charge of $4 at the St. Nicholas Hotel, New York, was to us just $1.60 a day.

"American travellers to Canada soon found out the real value of their currency. One gentleman, on purchasing an article on King Street, the price of which was 25 cents, and receiving 15 cents change out of his American dollar bill, was so chagrined that he vowed he would never again put his foot on Canadian soil."

Canadian visitors to American cities who feel chagrined when told their perfectly good Canadian money is worth only 90 cents on the dollar, may find some consolation in the recollection that once upon a time a perfectly good American dollar was worth only 40 cents in Canadian currency.—Saturday Night.

PLAIN SPEAKING

None save fools believe that the ending of the war and the establishment of a League of Nations was to mean the finish of militarism and armaments. None save fools and knaves — especially scheming and plausible knaves — professed to believe it. A country without an army —a fairly large army if it is a big or populous place—would be at the mercy of any surreptitiously organized and armed sect, secret society, push, procession, league or brigands or other unexpected and unscrupulous assemblage. And the cop d'etat, effected in a night by the seizure of the appartatus of government, might reduce the community to slavery for twenty or one hundred years, or for ever. It requires a very small organized force to hold down a very big, unorganized nation. The coup d'etat is generally done with the aid of an army, because where there is an army the thing can't well be done without that more or less tidy and orderly force, which in a democratic country like Australia has been trained by the public law and under the public eye to observe certain rules of decency and humanity. Because it is hard to win over the army, the upsetting of a People's government by a clique of usurpers is a very rare event. But in a country with no army any surprise packet in the way of a moderately well-led rascaldom and thievery and debauchery could capsize the old order and establish a new disorder in a day and a night. Militarism in a democratic community is the bulwark of liberty and the best protection against chaos, murder, rape and the destruction of everything that makes life worth having.—Sydney Bulletin.

—pure at the source

No matter what precautions are taken throughout the manufacture of Borden's St. Charles Brand Milk, we can not be sure of its final purity unless we know the milk is pure at the source. That is why we are so particular in selecting the dairy districts which furnish it. Rich, clean pasture lands, pure water supply, dairymen advanced in modern methods—these are the first requirements.

St. Charles Brand is the purest of sweet milk, with nothing added. Part of the natural moisture is removed—that is all—then it is hermetically sealed in sterilized cans—ready for instant use wherever ordinary milk is used. Order a supply today—by name.

Action has been commenced by the Alberta Government against the Canadian National Railway Company and the Canadian Northern Railway Company as co-defendants to recover the amount of taxes under the act to supplement the revenues of the crown in the Province of Alberta for the years 1913 to 1918, both inclusive, amounting to, with interest, approximately $150,000. When this act was passed exemption was made of lines of railways whose bonds were guaranteed by the government of the province for a period of fifteen years. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has been paying taxes on its lines since the act was passed but the C. N. R. Company claimed that it was not required to pay taxes upon the main line from Lloydminster to Edmonton.

Former Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, brother of former Emperor Nicholas, who was appointed regent of Russia when the Romanoff dynasty was overthrown but later was exiled by the Bolsheviki, has succeeded in escaping from the Bolsheviki, together with his secretary and a sailor, according to an announcement made by M. Sossionkia, Michael's aide. Michael is said to have made his escape in a motor boat cruising along the River Haini to Irktusk, from which place he subsequently went abroad and since has remained incognito.

The Strike That Failed

The police strikers knew well enough what they were doing. They knew that their action was revolutionary; and the small but noisy revolutionary section among the officials and delegates of the trade union world knew so too. They encouraged it for that reason, and would fain drag their organizations into supporting it even now. In attemptnig this course we are convinced that they misrepresent nine out of ten British trade unionists. The average working man has a great deal more sense than many of those whom he allows to take his name in vain. He does not in the least want a "bloody revolution". He knows by a true instinct, even if the example of Russia were not there to show him, that he and his family and his mates would be the chief sufferers. But he would do well to open his eyes rather wider to the game which playing.— London Daily Chronicle.

BIIL OSWALD COMING BACK

This announcement will bring a thrill of anticipation to every theatregoer from the small boy who neglects his supper to be first in line for a gallery seat to the staid business man in Centre G, 1 and 2. There may be a difference of opinion as to the ability of some stars, but no one has yet been discovered who does not agree that the rotund Scot is in a class by himself when it comes to providing clean wholesome comedy.

Mr. Oswald's vehicle this season is the original comdy with music "I Love A Lass," which was written specially for him, and is said to be a decided novelty. The supporting cast is composed of carefully selected artists, among whom are Beatrice Carmen, Patricia Salmon, Sherrold Paige, Phyllis Hughes, James Mount, Myrtle Cree, Ernie Impitt, Alice Whitnell, Dick Barr and Arthur Doyle.

This production is under the personal direction of Mrs. E. Lang, formerly of the Famous Bostonians, which is ample assurance that the performance will be a snappy one and provide a rollicking evening's entertainment

Mr. Oswald will appear in "I Love a Lassie" at the Grand theatre on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 3 and 4.

SHOE SPRAINS

A certain huge enterprise is made up of more than a hundred thousand men and women workers. During two average years their records show that more than half the accidents suffered by women were due to stumbling, slipping, falling from heights, and the like. In other words, to bad footwork, bad standing, bad walking. Less than one-fifth of the accidents to men were so caused. Does that mean anything to you, Miss or Mrs. Reader? It certainly should mean something to those who make, sell, and buy shoes and other personal equipment that women wear at their jobs. Watch your step.—Collier's

TWO TORCHES

More production is certainly one of our chief needs, but not our only one. In the darkest hour before the Revolutionary War Franklin wrote home: "We must now light the torches of industry and economy." A glance at his famous "Autobiography" shows that he burned the second torch as steadily as the first. When he was in England: "Our supper was only half an anchovy each, on a very little strip of bread and butter, and half a pint of ale between us." When he was in Philadelphia: "To lessen the rent we took in Thomas Godfrey, a glazier, and his family, who were to pay a considerable part of it to us, and we to board with them." A little later: "I drest plainly; I was seen at no places of idle diversion. I never went out afishing or shooting; and, to show that I was not above my business, I sometimes brought home the paper I purchased at the stores through the streets on a wheelbarrow." Yet there is one thing that stands out all over Benjamin Franklin's letters and actions. He was frugal and industrious, but he got a lot of fun out of life.—Collier's.

DEATH IS DUE TO ACCIDENT

The formal inquest investigating the accident last week, which resulted inthe instant death of five and a half year old John Skrzypek, near the Thompson Street level crossing, was held on Monday evening. In all, there were eight or ten witnesses called to testify concerning same. The father of the child was the first, and he related how on proceeding homeward about noon, while accompanied by the boy, had arrived at the crossing in question which was blocked by a G. N. freight train. At this time there were some vehicles and pedestrians also awaitning the clearance of the thorughfare. He contended he waited on the main track, or the second track away from that on which the train was standing and at first he was holding the boy by the hand. He released the boy to roll a cigarette and this completed, he noticed the child had disappeared. He ran towards the train, which just then started moving, and passing around a loaded car on the second track, discovered the child under the moving train; he attempted to reach him to pull him clear but before he could do so the accident occurred. Mr. Ranking, G. N. Bridge Foreman, and Daniel Alton, were also eye witnesses to parts of the occurrence, but apparently no one actually saw the child go under the train. All the members of the train crew were called and they were examined closely with regard to their movements immediately prior, from which it was shown that while moving out of the Fernie yard the train broke in two, fourteen cars from the engine. The conductor and rear end brakeman went forward to see what was wrong, leaving no one at the rear of the train, nor had any of them returned before pulling out the second time, so consequently, they had no first hand knowledge of the accident. None of the crew appeared to be at all familiar with regard to the regulations in Canada respecting the length of time a train was allowed to block a public thoroughfare, although some believed they were allowed fifteen minutes. With regard to this there was much conflicting testimony as to the length of time the train was stalled on account of the breaking in two or parting of the train, ranging from five minutes to twenty-five minutes.

The jury after lengthy deliberations returned the following verdict. "We find that the deceased met his death at or about eleven forty-five on the morning of September 25th, 1919, at the Great Northern Railway yards by being run over by a coal train and that his death was accidental.

"We, the jury, recommend that a sub-way or overhead footbridge be constructed at this crossing to prevent similar accidents in the future and we ask that the Railway Commission be notified of this recommendation with a view to this being done as soon as possible." (Signed) C. F. Hesketh, foreman, T. L. Furneaux, G. G. Sawyer, James Lowe, T. A. Paton, W. W. Scott.

W. J. BOWSER IS CHOSEN LEADER

Vancouver, Sept. 29—Amid cheering which shook the huge Hotel Vancouver building, W. J. Bowser, K.C., M.P.P., was tonight elected leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia.

Three times today Mr. Bowser was the centre of tremendous ovations. When he arose this afternoon to address the convention on the issues of the day in this province the delegates cheered for several minutes. Then as he started to speak applause broke out again and the five hundred delegates who crowded the big convention hall rose to their feet, waved their hats, cheered and acclaimed the opposition leader.

When he was formally nominated leader tonight even the long sustained applause of the afternoon was exceeded. It was nearly ten minutes before the convention settled down to hear speeches of approval of the nomination from delegates from all sections of the province.

The motion that nominations close was the signal for another terriffic outburst of applause and when Mr. Bowser stepped to the front of the platform to thank the convention for the honor it had bestowed upon him the cheering broke out anew and continued with every delegate on his feet.

I. G. Nelson, of Nelson, nominated Lorne A. Campbell, of Rossland, for leader, and was seconded by Mr. Lyt ton of Alberni, but in a graceful speech Mr. Campbell spoke as a former member of Mr. Bowser's cabinet of the outstanding qualities of Mr. Bowser, and declared that when he was returned to power, as he would be at the next election, he would prove to be one of the greatest statesmen in the Dominion and he pledged his wholehearted support to Mr. Bowser.

The nomination of Mr. Bowser as leader was made by G. Graham, of Victoria, seconded by L. G. McPhillips of Vancouver, and supported by half a score of delegates from various parts of the province.

WILL HOLD BOND CONTEST

The Memorial Committee of the Fernie District Committee for National Reconstruction met on Tuesday evening with a view to outlining an active program whereby the sum of $3,000.00 is to be raised between now and December 31st. This amount is required for the second payment on the G.W.V.A. Building recently purchased by the committee. It was considered that the desired results could not be attained at the present time by circulating a subscription list by which individuals would be required to subscribe a certain amount, therefore it was considered that other means must be adopted. Accepted suggestions included dances, concerts, soliciting subscriptions from various organizations in the district and benefit contests. All of these were duly considered and a rough program covering same has been drafted.

The first attempt following up this decision is the holding of a Victory Bond Benefit Contest. This is now actually under way and the details of the contest are that 1,000 tickets at $1.00 each have been distributed among the contest committee for sale to anyone. Six prizes are offered, namely, six Fifty Dollars Victory Bonds, 1919 series, and these prizes will be awarded to the holder or holders of the tickets bearing the number corresponding to that which is drawn upon the occasion of the Grand Drawing when the contest has closed by reason of the 1000 tickets having been purchased. Any individual can purchase as many tickets as desired and there will be no restrictions with regard to the winners obtaining a limited number of prizes. Every winning number draws a prize regardless of whether the fortunate holder gets in the prize column once, twice, or thrice, and so on. The Grand Drawing will be held publicly and it is the intention of the contest committe to arrange this so that the public will have the supervision of the final details and conduct it so that every ticket holder will have identically equal chances. Full particulars with regard to the Grand Drawing will be announced immediately the contest has closed.

The entire net proceeds derived from the contest will be applied to the Memorial Building Fund and the committee earnestly appeal to all to support this memorable cause by promptly making applications for tickets in the event of not being solicited by any of the canvassers. By so doing you will be helping the cause and at the same time having the opportunity of making a very profitable investment for yourself. The contest committee is composed of Mr. E. Heaphy, chairman; Fred G. Perry, secretary; B. Caufield, Robert Johnstone, Coal Creek, Thomas Williams, Michel, F. C. Lawe, Ronald Hewat, G. A. Bonnallie, T. Prentice, W. J. Claridge, C. F. Hesketh, D. M. Mitchell, E. K. Stewart, H. E. Martin, Tickets may be obtained from any members of the Contest Committee, or from the Secretary

GOOD ROADS MEETING

A delegation of the Fernie Board of Trade visited Cranbrook on Wednesday upon an invitation received from Secretary Wilson of that city, to be present at a get-together gathering with reference to the matter of good roads throughout our mountainous district, and also to adopt some definite plan with regard to the Tourist traffic passing through our district, particularly during the summer season. At the meeting which was held in the Cranbrook City Hall, fully fifty were present, including representatives from Golden, Windermere, Creston, Fernie and Cranbrook. W. A. Nisbet, barrister, of Cranbrook, acted as chairman of the meeting and in opening same explained the object as above outlined. He then called upon Mr. R. Randolph Bruce, of Windermere district, to address the meeting. Mr. Bruce emphasized the immediate necessity of some decision being reached with regard to the entire district of south-eastern British Columbia in establishing a first class chain of trunk roads and also an advertising campaign in order that information would be available for prospective tourists. He made particular reference to an enterprise at present in operation with respect to the Yellowstone and Glacier National Parks on the American side. The National Transportation Company, an American company, at the head of which is a Mr. Childs, has over one million dollars invested in automobile stages. These stages operate at present between Yellowstone and Glacier Parks, carrying about one dozen people each and are run on schedule time. Mr. Childs has quite recently intimated to Mr. Bruce that it is the intention of his company to extend this service to the Canadian National Park at Banff, and all that is preventing this is the completion of the roads, or more particularly the Banff-Windermere road, and of course certain intervening links in the present roads being improved and put in first class condition. Two routes or services will then be established, one called the 1600 mile circle route or the Yellowstone-Spokane-Banff beeline; the other the 600 mile inner circle route being entirely a Canadian tour, Banff-Calgary-Macleod-Fernie-Cranbrook-Windermere and back to Banff With regard to the the 1,600 mile circle route, it would be Yellowstone Park to Spokane, thence to Cranbrook, up the Kootenay-Columbia Valley and via the Banff-Windermere road to Banff. From there to Calgary, which portion the Alberta Government are at present expending a large sum of money in improving. South from Calgary, via Cardston, etc., to Macleod. Up the Pass presumably to Pincher, thence south to Waterton Lakes, from whence it would continue southward until the Glacier National Park was reached. Here it would connect with the present established Yellowstone-Glacier route.

The Hon. Dr. King, minister of public works, was present and he furnished information with regard to the present Government policy in connection with roads, but intimated at the next session of the legislature, a new policy in this regard would be adopted, which was considered an improvement on past practice. In answer to an inquiry as to whether the so-called northern route or the southern route for the National Highway had been definitely chosen by the government, Dr. King stated nothing definite had been decided but that the government had survey parties at present at work, with regard to the northern route where the missing link through Fraser Canyon has to be constructed if that route is chosen; and another party working from Christina Lake to Rossland, which gap must be connected in the event of the southern route or through the Crow's Nest Pass is adopted. The final decision will be based upon the reports received on the two proposed routes.

The meeting finally appointed a committee of three each from the respective four districts, viz, Creston, Cranbrook, Fernie and Windermere to go into the mater fully and handle the advertising campaign and other important details.

The Fernie committee appointed were Mr. E. K. Stewart, S. Herchmer, and J. F. Spalding. The Cranbrook committee is composed of Messrs. Hungerford-Pollen, Fink and Wilson. However, owing to Windermere and Creston delegates not wishing to name their respective representatives without further consultation with the residents of those localities, these will be appointed later and a joint meeting will convene in Cranbrook on October 15th. In the meantime the only work undertaken was the appointment of Mr. R. Randolph Bruce as representative of all districts to wait upon the secretary of the Calgary Good Roads Association and endeavor to have details of the roads in and about this section included on the large map which that association will publish in the near future. An effort will also be made to have the Spokane Chamber of Commerce include this information on maps published by that body. Officials of both the Calgary and Spokane organizations above mentioned, and also from the National Transportation Company will be invited to the joint meeting at Cranbrook on October 15th.

The soldiers have given—you must lend.

Watch those dollars—Victory needs them.

Several Fernie citizens journeyed to the Cranbrook Fair, which was held on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, among them being Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. A. Macneil, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Owen, L. E. McDonald, A. A. McNeill, S. Herchmer, A. Corrie, F. G. Perry, J. F. Spalding, E. Large, D. Citra and others. The visitors all report that the exhibits shown at the Fair were splendid, those from Creston being particularly attractive. The Fair Committee and the Cranbrook citizens in general, however, were very much displeased through the aviator, whom they had made a contract with to make exhibition flights and also passenger flights cancelling his engagement at the eleventh hour. This was the featured attraction and many other attractions which could have been staged were entirely dropped, with the result that it was exceedingly disappointing to those conducting the Fair that their program of events was so limited. However, the visitors from this section at least report that they enjoyed themselves very much and urge that even greater support, by sending larger numbers from here upon the occasion of this annual event, should be given by the citizens of Fernie.

FINANCE MINISTER HAS UNIQUE RECORD

Ottawa, Sept. 27.— All political gossip in Ottawa at the present time regarding Cabinet changes either commences or ends with commendation of Sir Robert Borden's selection of his new Finance Minister. An indefatigable worker of unimpeachable integrity, Sir Henry Drayton, while still a comparatively young man, has to his credit an enviable record. He entered the service of the public as assistant city solicitor and crown attorney for Toronto. The former position he relinquished in 1900 and the latter in 1909. The same year he declined the appointment as corporation counsel for Toronto but was prevailed upon to accept in 1910. In 1911 he was appointed as Toronto's representative on the commission of hydro-electric affairs, resigning to accept on July 1st, 1912, the position of chairman of the railway commission. As chairman of that important body he acquired an intimate knowledge of the transportation problems of the Dominion, which will be of inestimable value to his colleagues when transportation questions engage the attention of council. His knowledge in this regard was further extended by acting on the railway inquiry commission, whose findings are usually spoken of as the which deals with transportation necessities, the mistakes of the past in this connection and the best means of rectifying same. The investigation required months of ceaseless toil and study and the report is the most lucid and reliable work on this important subject. In these days when public service is so often jeeringly referred to and when pessimists claim that each man labors only for what he can gain thereby, it is worthy of note that Sir Henry Drayton returned to the Government the $15,000 offered him for his services, preferring that his efforts be looked upon merely as his contribution to the public good.

Another example of the services which the Minister of Finance has rendered gratis to his country is his evidence before the Imperial Royal Commission investigating shipping combines. At the present time, when an extension of Canada's ocean shipping facilities is so necessary to carry on Canada's agricultural and manufactured products to their ultimate markets overseas, his knowledge on this subject will be of immense value to the Government and to the Dominion.

Throughout the war, but more particularly during the Winter of 1917-18, the transport of war supplies, whether of food or munitions, was directed practically single-handed by him in the same manner as the McAdoo board dealt with the situation in the States. Shippings were diverted from one road to the other and routines changed from railway to railway as the exigencies of the cases required. When the American ports were closed during the Winter of 1917-18, the Canadian roads absorbed as much as possible of the United States overflow, and although the Winter was unusually severe and railroading correspondingly more difficult, the freight hauled to St. John, Halifax and Portland showed an increase of 60 per cent over best previous record. This, in addition to his regular duties, meant for Sir Henry practically night and day work. He isued hourly and off-hand by long-distance telephone orders which in ordinary times handled by an ordinary man would have required hours of careful study.

When the laws of the country are found inadequate in any respect to meet the needs of the country, then Sir Henry's motto is: "Change the laws." All railways are jealous of their right to handle for the greatest possible distance business originating on their lines. In 1915 a bumper wheat crop on the Goose Lake Branch of the C.N.R. promised exceedingly good business for that railway, but as they had insufficient rolling stock to handle the business properly, and as, consequently, the farmers stood to lose through lengthy delay, Sir Henry Drayton had a short bill rushed through Parliament giving to the Board of Railway Commissioners power to order railway companies to hand over grain to competing lines when unable to handle it expeditiously themselves. The moment the act was assented to the necessary order was isued and the wheat moved out over the G.T.P.

To those whose admiration extends only to men of action, Sir Henry will especially appeal. He had hardly been settled in his chair in the railway commission when without a hearing he isued his first ruling. At that time express rates based on the usual 100 pounds per thousand miles on standard merchandise were:

$3 in Canada east of Sudbury.

$5 west of Sudbury to the Mountains.

$6 in the Mountains and British Columbia.

The ruling provided for a flat 20 per cent reduction in these rates. Since that time the general guiding policy in rulings regarding both freight and express rates has been to grant the lowest rate where most needed and where it will accomplish the most general good. The result of this policy is that on certain classes of goods rates are now lower in the West than in the East, while in other classes of goods the reverse holds true. Cordwood for fuel, so necessary on the prairies, and wheat, which is the main revenue producer for the farmer in the Middle West, enjoy better rates west of the Great Lakes than they do in Eastern Canada, while on the other hand rates necessary for industrial expansion are lower in the East than in the West. The levelling process in rates has been radical and gave almost universal satisfaction. The effect on some commodities has been most far-reaching. Before 1914 United States coal sold as far west as Saskatoon, while now Saskatoon's requirements are supplied almost entirely from Drumheller and the coal from Drumheller now sells as far east as Winnipeg. In the readjustment of freight and express tariffs commodity rates on staples were interfered with to the least possible extent. The levelling process has resuted in an equalization of rates in the East and West to the extent that now Western rates are only 17 per cent higher than Eastern rates, which, when taking into account the diversity of traffic and the resultant net earnings, is a very narrow margin.

Perhaps the greatest and least recognized service he performed was in averting a coal famine during the war. The carrying capacity of the American roads was taxed to the limit in transporting their soldiers, munitions and food supplies to Atlantic ports, with the result that rolling stock was not available to bring from the South the coal required in Canada. By virtue of his position as chairman of the Railway Commission, or possibly more by virtue of his pleasing personality and close acquaintance with the president and general managers of the United States railways, he was able to make arrangements for the rushing of coal from the mouth of the mine to the furnace of the consumer, averting what might have been a very serious situation.

To Sir Henry every situation is merely a condition to overcome, and to one of his tireless and fearless energy no difficulty is insurmountable. The financing of Canada at the present time is a big problem, and it is in the hands of a big man.—Colonist.

British Columbia's gift, the mammoth flag-mast, is now in Kew Gardens, and is the tallest flag-pole in Europe. At last it is to be placed in position. The huge pole reached England four years ago after an adventurous voyage. Its size has delayed its speedy erection—for it is no easy task to lift a spar of this length, 220 feet—and all sorts of schemes have been discussed for mounting it without injury.

The British Empire put 8,654,467 men into the war, according to figures made public by the war cabinet. Of these England recruited 4,006,158. Other white enlistments in the United Kingdom and the colonies brought the total white enlistments in the Empire up to 7,130,280. Enlistments of races other than white, including over a million and a quarter from India, were 1,524,187.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels— Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

IS A DIGNIFIED OBJECT LESSON

Recently there died in London, England, Frederick Thomas Grainger, a humble painter and decorator, and a veteran of the Crimean war. His death occurred while he was an inmate of a Hackney infirmary, and it became necessary to hold an inquest. According to the testimony of the widow, Mr. Grainger was one of the "gallant 600," having served with the 11th Hussars in the immortal charge of Balaclava, being wounded in the engagement. Interesting as these details are, what makes the case especially noteworthy is the fact as vouched for by the widow, that her husband "had never troubled about claiming any pension—she mentioned the fact in case anything could be done for her." The coroner, however, was afraid that it was too late to do anything now.

What a wonderful character this fine old warrior must have been! What rare qualities of independence, of pride, of modesty, contentment and reserve went to his moral make-up. In this age of discontent and clamorous self-seeking, how dignified is the object-lesson afforded by this scarred old veteran, who "never troubled about claiming a pension." He asked no other reward than that which came from the consciousness of having faithfully and honorably performed his duty. He had been privileged to participate in a deathless scene of British history, and the satisfaction he derived therefrom raised him above all petty considerations of monetary gain. Thus he lived and died a hero in the truest sense.

Ex-trooper Grainger belonged to a past age, and having paid our tribute to his personal qualities, let us hasten to remark that it is a good job for the world that it has passed. Governments did not look after their fighting sons then as they should. The proverbial veteran reduced to selling matches or boot-laces on the streets was no myth; it is a disgrace and a shame that it should have been so. Things are managed better now, and cases such as this of the Balaclava hero would be impossible almost anywhere in the civilized world today, and least of all in the British Empire. But, if the facts are capable of verification, it cannot yet be too late to do something for the unfortunate widow of this remarkable old British warrior. She is surely entitled to something more substantial than mere sympathy from her country.—Hamilton Spectator.

SOUR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach sweetener in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

IS NOW ABLE TO GO DOWN TOWN

Mrs. Hoffman Makes The Trip For The First Time This Year

"I had to live on milk for five months before I found Tanlac and now I can eat meat, potatoes or anything else I want and am building up every day," said Mrs. Mary Hoffman, who resides at 736 Clough Avenue, Superior, Wis.

"Nearly a year ago I began to have trouble with my stomach," she continued. "After every meal, gas would form and start terrible pains in my stomach. I just suffered agonies and would bite my lips to keep from crying out with pain at times. I just couldn't digest anything but milk and a little beef tea once in a while. Then my nerves began to give way and even the rustle of a paper on the floor would make me tremble like a leaf. I couldn't do any of my housework and at night I was so nervous and in such pain that I couldn't sleep and finally got so weak and run down that I could hardly walk. Then I read about Tanlac and persuaded my husband to get it for me.

"I honestly believe that if I hadn't taken Tanlac when I did, I wouldn't have been here now to tell the story. I began to build up right away after I had taken one bottle. My stomach was relieved, the gas stopped forming and I began to eat and enjoy it. Now I can eat three good meals every day and never have a bit of trouble. I came uptown the other day for the first time this year and enjoyed the walk. I can get around and do all my housework, am getting stronger every day and think it is just wonderful that I found a medicine that would do all this for me. Everybody ought to know about Tanlac and what it will do for a person who suffers ilke I did, and I am glad to tell how it helped me."

ROMANTIC LIFE-STORY OF SIR ERIC GEDDES

When I first met Sir Eric Geddes, says Mr. Isaac F. Marcossen in "The Business of War," he sat at an obscure desk in a small office in the Armament Building. It was in 1915, and the Ministry of Munitions was in the making. Although he was the highest-paid railway official in England, he was almost unknown outside of his own field. When I last talked with him he was First Lord of the Admiralty, the post vacated by Churchill and Carson in succession, and all Britain was hailing him as a glorified life preserver.

Geddes was born in India of Scotch parents, who returned to the mother country when he was very young. Being Scotch, he is thrifty with everything except his own energy. He virtually ran away from home when he was seventeen. His father, convinced that he would come back, gave him a check for seventy-five dollars, to be used for return passage. When he got to New York—he went in the steerage of an Allan Liner—he mailed back the check, saying in one of his characteristically brief letters, "I think it will do me good to go on my own."

Unlike most of the heroes of human-interest romances, he had more than the traditional fifty cents in his pocket. To be exact, his fortune was ten dollars. His first job was as typewriter salesman in New York. Then he drifted to Pittsburg, worked at the Homestead Steel Works for a dollar and a half a day, and finally became a section hand on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad in West Virginia.

The engineer in charge of the gang was Mr. L. F. Loree, who later became president of the road. For a time the section worked near a small station called Nicolette. The converted freight car used as a lodging house by the laborers stood on a siding near by. In his spare moments Geddes began studying train dispatching and telegraphy. His teacher was the station agent, a kindly Irish woman, whose sweetheart was the section foreman. In exchange for instruction he "passed" the trains for her—officially signalled them by__while the agent was out with her young man. When she finally married him, Geddes got her position as station agent. Thus the future First Lord of the British Admiralty and a possible Prime Minister of Great Britain flashed signals and even switched cars for Baltimore and Ohio trains at an obscure point in West Virginia.

Geddes was big, brawny and restless. He wanted to see America; and so he went to Alabama, worked as a lumberjack and learned the lumber business at first-hand. When he was twenty-one he sailed off to Australia, rode the range as a sheep herder, and turned up a year later in India, where he took root for a time. His knowledge of railroading gained in America enabled him to become foreman of a gang of coolies building a light railway through the jungle. The moment he touched light railway construction he reached the work that was to qualify him in later years as a master war wager. In five years he was traffic manager of Rohilkland & Kuman Railway. After that, life for Geddes was continuous promotion. He seemed to find the magic key, and all doors opened to him.—Montreal Witness.

A RAILWAY STRIKE

A quite erroneous idea prevails that the nationalization of industries will put an end to strikes. If any refutation of this were needed it is found in the cessation of work on the railways in Great Britain. Those railways are still under the control of the Government, and all negotiations connected with efforts to stave off the present strike have been conducted between the Railwaymen's leaders and members of the Government. There are scores of examples which could be quoted to show that strikes have been prevalent in industries either owned or controlled by the state. Whatever nationalization may do, there are at least two things it does not do, and these are to prevent strikes and to promote efficiency.

The meagre character of the dispatches make it difficult to learn what is the dividing line between the standpoint of the Government and the Railwaymen in Great Britain. Under the new scheme for standardizing wages, the employees claim they face a reduction in some instances. It is obvious, from following the trend of Government control of railways in Britain, that the systems are not now paying concerns. They are costing the people as a whole many millions a year to run, whereas, under private ownership in pre-war days their profits must have amounted to $300,000,000 a year, a sum which was divided among hundreds of thousands of shareholders.

The Government will, in the course of a short time, hand back the railways to the private corporations, and it is quite possible the present strike may hasten the transfer. What are the merits of the rival positions taken over the standardization of wages question is difficult to gather, but one thing is clear, and that is that the Government appears very determined to fight the issue to a finish. A railway strike which ties up transportation throughout the country will inflict heavy hardships on the population as a whole, for the place of the railways can only be taken in part by a motor delivery system. London especially will experience the most effects, because it draws all its foodstuffs from provincial points. To meet the crisis motor cars will be requisitioned and a rationing system re-established; hoarding will be prevented and the whole machinery of the state will be used to prevent the people from suffering unduly. The most prominent of the railwaymen's leaders, including Mr. J. H. Thomas, are counselling against any overt act which is likely to inflame public opinion.,For the moment one of the most serious aspects of the situation is the possible action of the miners and transport workers—the other members of the triple alliance. If they should decide to strike in sympathy with the railwaymen Britain will face a problem of great difficulty, for, since the Government controls the railways, such a move would amount to Direct Action to compel the state to do something which it was decided should not be done.

The strike will mean a tremendous falling off in production at a time when Britain needs all her energies to maintain her place in the commercial world. It will give her competitors an opportunity of getting ahead and already they have profited again and again by the labor troubles in the Old Country. There may be justice in the railwaymen's demands, but the present Government has always striven hard to meet the demands of labor. If it is a question of the reduction of existing wages, and if, at the same time, there is no relief in sight in the cost of living, then there is room for more conciliatory methods. At present a wave of retrenchment is sweeping over Britain, and the people are in no mood to submit to any new calls on the public purse. Taken as a whole there is a downward tendency in the cost of living, although it is not yet significant enough to hold out any vital promise for the future. One thing about the present situation that requires explanation is the attitude of the men towards Sir Eric Geddes, the new Minister of Transportation. It is significant that their decision to strike should have been taken so soon after he assumed office.—Colonist.

RURAL AND INDUSTRIAL Y.M.C.A. IN CANADA

Rural and Industrial Y.M.C.A's. are being introduced into Western Canada quite rapidly this year, and a large number of places are finding out from experience that the Y.M.C.A. is not a city institution only. A Rural or Country Association has been in operation on Vancouver Island all summer while another has been oganized in the Okanagan Valley of B. C., and in the Olds-Didsbury District of Alberta. Each of these Country Associations takes in four, five or six towns with the surrounding country and carries on a programme of activities which does not require the erection of any special buildings. A number of other communities in both Provinces are negotiating with C. D. Thornton of Vancouver, the Y.M.C.A. Secretary in charge of this work for Alberta and British Columbia.

The Y.M.C.A. is going to the mining and lumbering camps also. A Secretary has been working since June with the men at the large Bloedel, Stewart and Welch camps at Myrtle Point, B.C., while another has been engaged looking after the men of five camps close to each other in the East Kootenay District. One company has since decided to have a Y.M.C.A. secretary for its own men while three other companies whose camps lie close together will have another among them. Several other companies have practically decided to have the work carried out in their camps.

The plans of work for these two branches of the Y.M.C.A. are very different, and in turn are different from the regular City Association work, all of which show how the Y. M.C.A. has the leadership programme which can be adapted to any circumstances.

Practically every Canadian soldier killed on the Western Front during the great war will have decent burial in a proper cemetery with the grave marked plainly and suitably, says E. J. Glenesk of Vancouver, who spent several months as Y.M.C.A. Secretary with the Canadian War Graves Detachment until that Unit was disbanded and the work turned over to the British Authorities for completion. Mr. Glenesk says the work is being done most thoroughly, not the slightest sign that would indicate the presence of a body underneath being missed by the successive waves of men who search every foot of the ground. The Y.M.C.A. had three secretaries with the Detachment, each equipped with a moving picture machine, a tent for reading and recreation room, and a canteen.

SKELETON FOUND BY FIRE RANGERS

Nanaimo,—Fire Rangers Mottishaw and Waddington, during the progress of their work in fighting a fire in the vicinity of Little Mountain, discovered the skeleton of a human being, and close by the rusty, stockless remains of a rifle, while a few yards distant from the gun the fire rangers found the skeleton of a deer. Upon a close inspection of the skeleton the rangers found what was once a watch, now badly corroded, and an American silver dollar coined in 1882, the coin being in a good state of preservation.

The provincial police were notified of the discovery, and Chief Stephenson and Constable Mustrat had the remains conveyed to the city, and are now making an investigation in an effort at identification.

It is believed that the skeleton is that of a resident of Wellington, who some twenty-five years ago went into the woods on a hunting trip and was never afterwards heard of. The skeleton was lying in a little hollow by a big log. Close to the rifle were a number of empty cartridges, which it would appear had been fired by the hunter or discharged in the bush fires which have swept that district on several occasions.

AFTER 20 YEARS

Remarkable Experience of Mrs. Ripley

Mrs. Millanor P. Ripley, of Williamsdale, East, has good news for all who suffer from aches and derangements caused by Kidney Trouble. Read her letter:—

"Before taking Gin Pills I had suffered dreadfully with my back and headaches, and had suffered for 20 years. I tried almost everything but got no relief until I got Gin Pills. I have taken 6 boxes and now I have not a sign of a pain or an ache. I am now 48 and feel as well as ever I did in my life."

In Gin Pills, all the valuable diuretic Juniper element in the Gin has been utilized, and the alcohol eliminated. Combined with other highly efficient diuretics and antiseptics, Gin Pills present the most scientific and effective remedy for Kidney and Bladder trouble that can be secured. They give sure, quick and safe relief. If you have backache, headache, highly-coloured urine, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, dizziness, lassitude, floating specks before the eyes, unaccountable uneasiness of mind and general debility, lose no time. Treat yourself with Gin Pills before it is too late. At all druggists and dealers, 50c. Money refunded if not relieved. Free sample on request.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

STILL HAVE O.B.U. BUG

At a mass meeting of the metal miners held at Kimberley, B.C., seventy miles west of here, on Monday it has been announced that they have taken the positive stand that they will not repudiate the "One Big Union" and in view of this the strike affecting the Sullivan, Tunnel and North Star mines at that camp in so far as an early settlement now appears to be farther removed than when inaugurated some ten days ago. An effort has been made by Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, to get the parties together and Mr. F. E. Harrison, Asst. Director of Coal Mine Operations and Fair Wage Officerl of Calgary has just spent several days at Cranbrook endeavoring to open negotiations and hasten settlement. Upon request the employees presented their claim as being for a flat increase of $1.00 per diem all around and in justification of their demand they contend conditions under which they have been working warrant same, and further in this regard they expressed the desire to negotiate with the officials of the company. On the other hand the operating company, The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., of Canada, take the stand that the strike is purely due to O.B.U. influences, but if the employees would submit a signed repudiation of any connection with this organization, then the company would readily consent to be a party to negotiate a settlement or submit the matter to arbitration through a Board of Concilliation.

In response to this, the miners' committee contended that the cessation was not one called under the direction of the "One Big Union" but simply as a body of employees, no having affilliation with any established miners' organization. The committee at the same time were unable to give written assurance to this effect but agreed to call a special mass meeting of the miners in order to definitely decide this point at issue, with the result above mentioned that said employees will not repudiate the O.B.U. and consequently for the present all negotiations have been abruptly terminated.

It is further reported from an authentic source that the federal Department of Labour suggested to the employees that they seek relief through application for a Board of Conciliation under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act and meanwhile resume work. Failure to follow such course prescribed by law leaves those responsible for the strike or in any way attributing to its inauguration, liable to heavy penalties, both by way of fine and imprisonment. Before the appointment however, of such board of arbitration it is understood that following the usual practice, such Board would be appointed only upon receipt of an application submitted by the officials of a recognized responsible labor organization or a body of independent employees, who must give positive assurance that they are in no way connected with any banned organizations and are an entirely independent body.

The negotiations just terminated have been carried on by Mr. F. E. Harrison, representing the Department of Labour, S. G. Blaylock, Trail, General Manager, and E. A. Montgomery, Kimberley, resident manager for the company, and Secretary Atkinson, Kimberley, and W. B. Phillips, Fernie, B.C., representing the employees.

Mr. Blaylock, general manager of the company, passed through this city on Tuesday enroute to Alberta, and it is quite evident that the company are quite prepared for a lengthy shut-down of the Kimberley mines so long as the miners there persist in their present attitude of adhering to the O.B.U. Immediately they renounce this organization, however, the company will be ready and willing to negotiate, either direct with the employees or through a Board of Conciliation.

BLIND BOY BECOMES PROFESSOR OF HISTORY

The following item which is taken from the Calgary Herald, refers to a son of Malcolm McInnes, formerly of Crow's Nest, and well known in Fernie.

Word has recently been received from England of the appointment to a chair in Bristol University, England, of Mr. Chas. M. McInnes, B. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McInnes of this city. The story of his life reads like a novel. At the age of three years, he was taken down with scarlet fever which left him partially blind, and he gradually grew worse until at the age of seven or eight he was totally blind. He was taken to Montreal where he studied music, and became quite proficient, securing several diplomas in that department of study. From there he went to the Institute for the Blind in Halifax, and after a number of years he matriculated from that institution with honors, overcoming his heavy handicap by pluck, ability and determination.

Not yet content with his attainments, he entered Dalhousie University, and there in competition with the brightest minds of the east, he graduated with honors four years later. He was always a great favorite with professors and fellow-students, and was chosen in his graduating year to give the class history at the closing exercises at the university, which he did with unusual skill and ability. One of the Dalhousie papers, in commenting upon these exercises, made special reference to this item on the programme, saying in part: "The class history was noteworthy for one fact alone in that it should have been delivered by Mr. McInnes, a graduate of the school for the blind, and one of the cleverest students to pass through the university for many years, his marked ability counteracting his heavy handicap. The whole address was unique and original, being in the old English style, a parody on some ancient tale of the Crusaders. The peroration was eloquent and scholarly, feeling reference being made to the members of the class who had made the supreme sacrifice in the great war."

But his appetite for knowledge was not yet satisfied, and on the urgent advice of his professors who were all extremely fond of him, and who recognized in him "a lad o' pairts," he decided to take up post-graduate work in some recognized university in the old land. He went to Oxford, and specialized on history, and took his degree a year ago with honors. Since that time, he has been engaged in research work at Baloil College, Oxford, and has been lecturing in various parts of England. At the university he was a prime favorite, both with professors, fellow-students and in social circles, everywhere making friends of men of distinguished scholarship and standing, and has won the respect and esteem of all with whom he came into contact.

A short time ago, he applied for a lectureship in the University of Bristol, and was chosen for the position from among thirty-eight other applicants, many of whom were Oxford men. He will begin lectures there on October 1, his life dream beginning to be realized. Besides giving his university lectures he is to give courses of lectures on kindred subjects under the auspices of the Workmen's Education Committee.

Professor McInnes is still a young man, and gives bright promise of a brilliant career. His marked success is an honor not only to himself and his parents who have stood nobly behind him through all these trying years, but to the city and country of his birth, and it shows what ability and application can do even in the face of the most serious handicap. His well-deserved success should be an inspiration to all young people, not to be easily discouraged, but to set before themselves a worthy ideal and not give up until it is attained.

Prof. McInnes, during two of his summer vacations, served as reporter on the staff of a Calgary paper, and was remarkably proficient. He took notes by means of pin holes, and later using his sensitive finger tips to interpret these, he translated them through the medium of a typewriter which he operated skillfully. He moved about Calgary streets without any trouble and utilized the street cars as smoothly as the average citizens.

WAR SAVINGS AND THRIFT STAMPS

A most successful War Savings Booth was erected and run in the Manufacturers' Building at the Vancouver Exhibition. Occupying a prominent position between the Magnet Separator and the Fraser Valley Lunch Counter, this booth was never idle the whole of the time from September 8th to 13th inclusive.

Nearly 10,000 people had the Thrift and War Savings method explained to them, and quite a large number were started on the Thrift Route with the ultimate end in view of the $50.00 Government Bond.

Over 193 children started a $4.00 Thrift Card each, and the number of $50 Government Bonds sold aggregated a total of $3,000.00. In one instance alone, a lady, after having this filled War Savings Certificate Bond explianed to her made the statement that she wished she had taken the trouble to look into this method of investing her money before and finally admitted having in the neighborhood of $1,500 lying idle. The General Post Office two days later reported a $1,500 sale of War Savings Bonds, which speaks for itself.

These War Savings Booths are being run at every exhibition throughout British Columbia and special attention is being paid to the Westminster Fair where it is anticipated that the total sale of War Savings Bonds will equal if not exceed that of Vancouver.

DR. WALKEM PASSES AWAY

Dr. Walkem, who a number of years ago practiced at Fernie and Coal Creek and was well known in this district, died at his home in Vancouver on Saturday last. The Vancouver Province contains the following reference to the deceased.

Doctor W. Wymond Walkem, one of British Columbia's pioneers, passed away at his residence, 1732 Twelfth avenue east, yesterday afternoon. His death will be deeply regretted not only among the thinning ranks of the pioneers, but also by the rising generation who had come to regard him as a link between the stirring days of early British Columbia and the modern times of commercial success. Dr. Walkem was 69 years of age last June, and leaves to mourn his loss a wife, three daughters and a son. The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The daughters are Mrs. Leighton Reid of Penticton, Mrs. John Clucas of Vancouver and Miss Edith Walkem who lived at home. Wymond Walkem, of Ladysmith, is the only surviving son, the other boy, Sapper William R. Walkem, having been killed in France.

Dr. Walkem was born in Montreal on June 25, 1850. He was educated at the high school and McGill University, and finally took up the study of medicine and surgery graduating in 1873. He is a veteran of the Fenian raids of 1866 and 1870 and was present at the fight with the Fenians at Eccles Hill on May 25, 1870.

Going to England shortly after graduation, he met Captain Butler, afterwards Major-General Sir William Butler, who was a frequent visitor at his father's house in Montreal, and who had just returned from his historic trip across the continent. Butler told him of a scheme he had in view of undertaking an expedition to the Dark Continent in search of Stanley, and offering Dr. Walkem a place in the projected party. But as Stanley returned to civilization that enterprise was never carried out. Dr. Walkem then joined a party on a yacht then anchored in Plymouth harbor for the purpose of joining, with a number of others, the Carlists who were at that time very active in Spain. All were arrested, but through the intervention of Captain Butler, Dr. Walkem was released.

Coming to British Columbia forty-five years ago, for several months he acted as private secretary to his brother, Hon. George A. Walkem, Q.C. at that time premier of the province. Later he was offered and accepted the editorial management of the Daily Standard by Hon. Amor DeCosmos, its then owner. Shortly after his acceptance of that post Dr. Walkem was appointed health officer of the city of Victoria by vote of the municipal council. Some months later he resigned both positions and accepted the offer or the two sawmill companies on Burrard Inlet to be resident medical officer at their plants. On Burrard Inlet he met Jack Fannin, who was subsequently curator of the museum. In his spare moments Dr. Walkem made one of the finest and most complete collections of ornithological specimens ever got together in this province. This he sold to Lord Lilford, celebrated at that time as having the finest and most complete collection of bird specimens from all parts of the world.

Leaving Burrard Inlet in 1881 Dr. Walkem and his family made a trip to the east and returned to British Columbia by way of New York and the Isthmus of Panama. He settled in Nanaimo, where, shortly after his arrival, he was appointed medical officer to the East Wellington Colliery.

As a coroner Dr. Walkem held one if not two of the most important enquiries on record as to the origin of certain explosions in the collieries of Vancouver Island. The first one was in regard to an explosion of coal dust and gas in No. 1 shaft Nanaimo Collieries. In this disaster 150 white men lost their lives. This enquiry extended over a period of five months. The other enquiry was as to the cause of an explosion in No. 5 mine, Wellington Collieries, and occurred in January, 1888.

Dr. Walkem at one time represented Nanaimo in the Provincial Legislature. He had published a volume of pioneer stories of British Columbia and was a frequent contributor to The Province.

Coal Commissioner Armstrong was in Calgary Monday morning, and in the course of an interview with the Calgary Herald expressed himself satisfied with the manner in which all mines in District 18 were working at present. He stated that 5115 tons were shipped from the Drumheller Valley on Saturday, and that the general situation in Alberta was rapidly approaching normal.

According to information received here from Spokane, Roman Denusik, erstwhile taxi-driver and pool-room proprietor of this city, was recently the victim of a robbery in the Inland Empire city when he was relieved of the equivalent of $1,000; same being in the form of two $500 Canadian Victory Bonds. Denusick recently got into trouble here through operating a "shady" card game and while this charge was pending, a further and more serious charge was preferred against him, namely attempting bribery and corruption of the Chief of Police. On the former charge he was found guilty and fined $150, while the latter being a major offence his trial must be heard in the supreme court assizes before a judge and jury. This is called for October 21st and meanwhile Denusick is out on $1,000 personal bail and two sureties of $500 each.

The local detachment of the R.N. W.M.P., in addition to the regulation mounts have recently acquired a new acquisition of motive power in the form of a motor cycle, by which the various outside detachments attached to the local divisional headquarters can be reached much more rapidly than heretofore.

The city tax sale, which was held on Tuesday last, was a rank failure so far as the disposal of property was concerned, only two vacant lots being purchased, but it was a howling success in bringing in people to pay their taxes. The city clerk says he deposited $74,165 in the bank last month, about half of which came from back taxes.

A. I. Fisher, M.P.P., will leave next week for Ottawa, where he will attend the Court of Appeal. He is representing Geo. Millett, of Elko, in the case of Millett vs. Sawyer, a case involving a commission in the sale of some real estate. The amount involved is not large, but there are some fine legal points involved and the case has been in the B. C. Courts for nearly three years. During his stay in the east, Mr. Fisher will visit his old home.

Rumor has it that Gladstone Local is making an investigation into the alleged disappearance of some $1,900 of compensation money which was supposed to have been paid to the widow of a miner residing in Wales. The amount originally was $3000, but when the widow got it it had dwindled to $900. It is also reported that a searching investigation will be made into the disposal of a number of compensation amounts which have been handled during the past few years.

"THE LOVE NET" IS A DELIGHTFUL STORY

A beautiful, delightful story is "The Love Net," in which Madge Evans is the star, and in which Jack Drumier is featured in the cast. It is the story of a little girl, Patty Barnes, and her grandfather, Captain Amos Barnes, who live in a cottage on the Maine coast. Patty and her grandfather are greatly attached to each other, and when Mrs. Gaythorne, a rich neighbor who has no children of her own, persuades Captain Barnes to let her adopt Patty, the latter and her grandfather miss each other a great deal. The grandfather goes to a poor house, and Mrs. Gaythorne persuades him that it will be much the best thing for Patty if she does not know that her grandfather is in the poor house.

John Harding, a boyhood friend of Barnes, who has made a fortune, comes back to the place where he spent his boyhood to see if he can find real friendship and true welcome there from his nephew. He tells his nephew that he has lost all his money, and when the nephew throws Harding out the latter goes to the poor house, where he finds the welcome he has been hunting. Then Harding fixes things so that Patty and her grandfather can be united again.

Madge Evans, of course, appears in the role of Patty Barnes in this new World Picture. Jack Drumier is seen in the role of Amos Barnes. There are a number of other film favorites in the cast. "The Love Net" will be shown at the Orpheum on next Monday and Tuesday.

Fernie, B.C., Sept. 25th 1919.

Repatriation of Australians who are ex-C.E.F. Soldiers

Arrangements are being made by the Australian Government for the repatriation to Australia of Australian ex-members of the C.E.F. who are desirous of returning to their native country.

Mr. G. H. Deane, Asst. Director "J" Unit, S. C. R., has been authorized to receive evidence under oath from such Australian ex-members of the C. E. F. as may apply for the benefits of this scheme. It is probable that in the near future this authority will be extended to other officers of the S. C. R. in this Unit; in the meantime, in order to be supplied with the necessary information as to the number of men affected by this scheme, you will direct enquiries to complete the attached questionaire in triplicate, retaining one copy, and forwarding two to this office.

Applications must be filed within six months of discharge.

Further details will be provided you when received from the Australian Government; in the meantime you may give publicity to this circular.

THE WORLD'S DARK DAY

Not within living memory, seldom in history, has the world been under such gloomy clouds as those which today lower over the shaken fabric of human society. For a time after the French Revolution there was much depression, and again in the late forties the bottom seemed to have fallen out of all authority. But no such breadths and depths were shaken as the present insurgency reveals. Seventy years ago the educated youth of all countries, including our own, were enamored of the republicans idea under whose ascendancy all would come right. Everywhere there were efforts to instal it, and the potentates were leagued to put it down. But the people were hardly stirred. Since then the enormous development of the factory system and of vast public works has herded men so closely that what one thinks all think, and the common thought, of course, carries class antipathies and class assertion to their ultimate. While the so-called educated class (may that distinction pass away) was sporting on the pleasant surface of thought, it was unconscious of the undercurrents that were soaking through the whole subsoil, ignoring national and even language boundaries, and actively fermenting there. The war is not over between nation and nation who are still disputing boundaries and compensation; and there are men, strange to say, set upon preventing settlement. Labor is everywhere threatening to starve the nations by non-production, little knowing, or little recking, of the calamity such reduction betokens; and threatening to seize dictatorial power, little realizing the abrogation of liberty.

Are you saving? Victory Loan is coming.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Why They Oppose the League

It is for that reason that those who think most deeply oppose the covenant of the league as it stands. They desire such a league as will create and foster kindly sentiment, which a league with coercife power, even in the background, will never do. All coercion suggests resistance. Before any league can safely be entrusted with regulative powers there must be created something in the nature of loyalty to it.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Why? of Another Victory Loan

WHEN, on the morning of November 11th, 1918, the guns were hushed and glad tidings flashed across the world, there followed with the Nation's Prayer of Thanksgiving, one yearning query, which found echo in the faster beating hearts of wives, mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts. That query was, "How soon will our boy be home?" And, from France and Flanders, from Italy and Egypt, from Palestine and from far-off Siberia, there came an answering echo, "How soon, how soon, may we go home?"

CANADA caught the spirit of these longings, and at once resolved to satisfy them. It was an appalling task. Shipping was tragically scarce. The composition of the Army of Occupation had not then been settled. And other parts of the Empire as well as Canada were looking for the speedy return of their men.

THE problem was this. The half-million men that Canada had overseas had taken more than four years to transport to the field of battle. To bring them home in a few months was a gigantic undertaking—one to tax all Canada's ingenuity and resources. Canada solved the problem, but it meant crowding into a few short months, an expense for demobilization which it was impossible to foresee.

THEN, too, besides the sentimental aspect of the necessity for bringing the men home quickly the economic side could not be overlooked. That was, to transform efficiently and speedily the nation's army of fighters into a national army of workers.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

Need Divides Itself in Two Parts The answer to the question "Why does Canada need another Victory Loan?" divides itself into two parts. (a) To finish paying the expenses of demobilization, and the obligations we still owe to our soldiers. (b) To provide national working capital.

Obligations to Soldiers The obligations to soldiers include:
That already incurred cost of bringing home troops from overseas.
The payment of all soldiers still undemobilized. This includes more than 20,000 sick and wounded who are still in hospital, and who of course remain on the Army payroll till discharged.
The upkeep of hospitals, and their medical and nursing staffs, until the need for them is ended.
These three items alone will use up at least $200,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1919.

Gratuities There is also the gratuity which has been authorized, and has been and is being paid to assist soldiers to tide over the period between discharge and their re-adjustment to civil life. For this purpose alone, $61,000,000 must be provided out of the Victory Loan 1919, in addition to the $59,000,000 already paid out of the proceeds of the Victory Loan 1918.

Land Settlement Furthermore, soldiers who desire to become farmers may, under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, be loaned money by Canada with which to purchase land, stock and implements. The money so advanced will be paid back; meantime each loan is secured by a first mortgage. Up to August 15th, 29,495 soldiers had applied for land under the terms of this Act; and 22,281 applications had been investigated, and the qualifications of the applicant approved. For this purpose Canada this year requires $24,000,000.

Vocational Training For this work which, with the Vocational Training and Soldiers' Service Departments, embraces the major activities of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, an appropriation of $57,000,000 is necessary.

These national expenditures are war expenses. They will be accepted readily by every citizen who gives thought to the task which Canada faced following the Armistice, and to the success with which she has met it.

National Working Capital Canada needs national working capital, so that she may be able to sell on credit to Great Britain and our Allies the products of our farms, forests, fisheries, mines and factories.

You may ask "Why sell to them if they can't pay cash?" The answer is, "Their orders are absolutely essential to the continuance of our agricultural and industrial prosperity."

The magnitude of these orders and the amount of employment thus created, will depend upon the success of the Victory Loan 1919.

The "Why" of Credit Loans Farmers and manufacturers (and that includes the workers on these orders) must be paid cash for their products. Therefore, Canada must borrow money from her citizens to give credit, temporarily, to Great Britain and our Allies. Actually, no money will pass out of Canada. If Canada does not give credit, other countries will; and they will get the trade, and have the employment that should be ours, to distribute amongst their workers. And remember, we absolutely need these orders to maintain employment. If we don't finance them business will feel the depression, employment will not be as plentiful, and conditions everywhere will be adversely affected.

For Transportation Money must also be available to carry on the nation's shipbuilding programme, and other transportation development work.
For loans to Provincial Housing Commissions who are building moderate priced houses.

These, then, are some of the things for which Canada needs national working capital. She is in the position of a great trading company, and her citizens who buy Victory Bonds are the shareholders.

Those who give thought to our outstanding obligations to soldiers, and to our need for national working capital, cannot fail to be impressed with the absolute necessity for the

THE SECOND JOB

Have you a shadow job, or trade, or profession? We mean the work you always wanted to do but never got a chance to begin. Louis XVI always fancied himself as a locksmith. Many a more successful man than Louis has regretted his success because it prevented him from pursuing the job of his dreams.

The Federal Board for Vocational Education is trying to give disabled soldiers the jobs they always wanted. A day laborer, totally unskilled, used to think about working in a flower garden when his day's work was done. He is being taught horticulture. A soda clerk always wanted to do things with his hands. He lost a leg, and they are teaching him watchmaking. The old job is impossible in every case. The new one uses forces which the old neglected.

It is a good thing to like the work you are doing if you are a grown man and want to get on. But it also a good thing to have a secondary trade tucked away somewhere. You never know when it will be a life saver. The men restored to life by their new training will not regret their dreams. —Collier's executive bring the total in attendance to more than five hundred It is the largest and most representative political convention in the history of British Columbia.

BOWSER IS CHOSEN LEADER

Referring to the fact that no convention had been held since 1914, President Edmonds in his address of welcome this morning stated that with the coming of war the British Columbia Conservatives had put aside politics and devoted their full energies to the task of winning the world's liberties.

"Now that peace has come," continued Mr. Edmonds. "It is fit and proper that we should resume our place and see that the country is well governed. Judging from reports received from all over the province, Conservatives are ready and willing to respond to the call which justifies me in saying that the next step will be taken when the porvincial elections are held."

Amid enthusiasm the president extended greetings to the returned soldiers present as delegates, and to the many women also in attendance. This was the first great political convention in the province he said, in which the women had been granted equal rights with the men.

The following were appointed to the resolutions committee: William Manson, Prince Rupert; W. A. Elleston, Rossland; J. W. M. Tinling, Silverton; J. W. Jones, M.L.A., Kelowna; F. F. Payne, Nelson; Col. Matthews, C.M.G. D.S.O., Merritt; Major Boyd, Cariboo; Major Mallandaine, Creston; Lady Phillips-Wooley, Victoria; H. H. Browne, Alberni; Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, Victoria and Capt. C. Carmichael of Richmond.

In a speech this afternoon which was declared by delegates to be the best of his career Mr. Bowser dealt at length with provincial issues, using none of the arts of oratory but in plain businesslike fashion Mr. Bowser outlined the present situation and suggested steps which should be taken to give British Columbia better government and place British Columbia in the forefront of the western provinces of the Dominion where it belonged.

He recalled that the late Conservative government had been defeated at an abnormal period of depression and as a result of a campaign of vilification and slanderous attacks which had been absolutely disproved by the investigations which the Liberals had held during their three years in office. They had held inquiry after inquiry spending $18,000 on a special audit which had resulted only in a few suggestions as to minor changes in the system of bookkeeping, not a dollar was shown to have gone astray.

Mr. Bowser advocated a vigorous policy of shipbuilding of development of iron ore deposits and spoke strongly on the need for encouraging the prospector by assisting him in finding new bodies of the minerals in which the province abounds. Roads and trails must be built to aid in mining development, money being spent always with a view to increasing production.

Mr. Bowser favored government irrigation works in the province in order to insure ranchers of an adequate supply of water. In cases where bench land needed irrigation he believed that pumping by electricity would prove the solution of the problem. Agriculture must be built up, he declared, so that the province might produce within its borders the millions of dollars worth of of food stuffs now imported. In this connection he advocated also the carrying out of reclamation schemes and the giving of government assistance in land clearing by supplying powder and machinery.

Cheap money must be supplied the farmers by means of the farm loan bill which the present government had cast out and replaced with its expensive and non-productive land settlement board.

By increasing farm production the cost of living would be cut down and in this connection he declared for a policy of government establishment of and the encouragement of public markets.

British Columbia he said needed an aggressive policy of immigration to increase emigration from Great Britain.

It would be the duty of the new government to do everything practicable for the rehabilitation of the returned soldier in civil life and it was up to the Conservative party to see that something more than mere tip service was rendered to the veterans in this province.

He criticized the Oliver government for its inaction in connection with the Dominion housing scheme. The province had three-quarters of a million in the bank of Dominion money, for this it received three per cent, but paid the Dominion five per cent and had not built a single house except in one isolated case.

To lighten the financial burden on cities Mr. Bowser proposed that the province should hand over a share of the amusement and automobile taxes. He asserted more aid should be given hospitals.

By developing the natural resources of the province the revenues required for meeting expenditures would be provided, while he proposed also to tax large incomes.

The educational system of the province should be remodeled to promote practical education and he came out strongly for strict enforcement of the laws of the province as far as the Doukhobors and other foreigners are concerned. They should be forced he said to observe the law just as strictly as British subjects.

He touched on child welfare and the need for mothers pensions.

Regarding roads Mr. Bowser said that the Oliver government policy was to spend money on expensive Liberal officials instead of road-building with the result that existing roads had been allowed to get into a disgraceful condition and practically no new construction was being carried out.

Criticizing the Oliver government's heavy expenditures on officials he showed that whereas Saskatchewan and Ontario's civil salary lists were less than five per cent of the revenue and Alberta's was less than seven per cent, British Columbia was now over 25 per cent. He pledged himself to reform of the civil service.

Tonight resolutions dealing with the visit of the Prince of Wales and expressing the British Columbia Conservative party's unshakeable loyalty to the throne were passed.

A resolution which aroused much enthusiasm was one of endorsation of admiration for and confidence in Sir Robert Borden.

Another resolution passed by standing silent vote was of sympathy for the relatives of the late Sir Richard McBride.

Vancouver, Sept. 30.—The Conservative party of British Columbia, represented by the 506 delegates in attendance at the big convention in the Hotel Vancouver today adopted its platform.

Resolutions endorsed by the convention bore largely on the necessity for a strong Conservative policy for the development of the industries of the province.

Aid to farmers and the mining industry, and more equitable taxation were among the matters dealt with. Control of smelter rates was urged.

While other resolutions pledged the party to strict enforcement of the school and other laws which are now being violated by the Doukhobors.

Scenes of enthusiasm continued to mark the convention and delegates are returning to their homes convinced that the next election will see a change of government in British Columbia.

Declaring unqualifiedly in favor of the strict enforcement of the laws of the province, a resolution passed by the convention was aimed particularly at the Doukhobors and any other aliens who have been refusing or neglecting to obey the education and other laws.

Another resolution passed by the convention declared for a policy of drainage and reclamation of low lying lands, both public and privately owned. This resolution was designed to cover such projects as the Creston resolution the Conservative party binds itself to establish cooling plants or refrigerating plants at suitable points in the province, the object being to enable farm produce to be kept economically at these centres for distribution in a retail way to the consumer. This resolution arose out of Mr. Bowser's proposals to assist in the establishment of public markets and the more economical distribution of foodstuffs to the consumer, in order to cut down the high cost of living. In this resolution, which dealt with the development of agriculture, the convention also declared that the bona fide farmers shall be encouraged to greater production by as low taxes as possible.

That greater aid should be given to the hospitals of the province, is the subject of another resolution.

The convention declared itself in favor of the enaction of a measure providing for full and equal rights for women in all matters touching inheritance, homesteads, divorce, separation and the custody and care of children, asserting in this connection that the present inequitable laws should be repealed.

A strong resolution was passed on the question of road construction, the convention coming out in favor of an aggressive policy of permanent road building and a sound policy of road maintenance in order that the people of the province may be supplied with the road transportation facilities which are necessary to their prosperity and the development of British Columbia.

The convention dealt with mining in several resolutions. One calls for the development of iron ore bodies, while the convention went very strongly on record in favor of the encouragement of prospecting and the development of mineral properties. Mining should be assisted, the convention declared, by the construction of roads and trails, in order that prospects and mines may be opened up. Another resolution pledged the Conservative party to supply powder at cost to prospectors.

A resolution, introduced by Slocan delegates, deals with the regulation of smelter rates and memorializes the Dominion government either to extend the powers of the board of railway commissioners to enable it to investigate and control smelter rates, or to establish a separate board of smelter commissioners with power to investigate and control rates. In the preamble to this resolution it is declared that there is strong feeling in the mining districts of the province that the scale of smelter rates, as at present constituted is unfair and inequitable and that this has resulted in a large tonnage of silver lead and zinc ores being sent to the United States for treatment.

Another resolution calls for the establishment of normal schools in the interior .

The convention went on record as opposing the proposal of Dominion Liberal leaders that Orientals be given the franchise.

Provision by the government of cheap powder and machinery for land clearing is proposed in another resolution.

The convention went on record as favoring the change in the rule of the road, to turn to the right instead of the left.

The princple of mothers pensions and the preservation of child life was heartily approved.

Revision of the whole scheme of education in order to make it of more practical value to the child was demanded in a resolution which refers to the value of modern education.

The party pledged itself to assist the municipalities by giving them a share of such taxes as the amusement taxes and automobile licenses.

The Liberal policy governing the province by expensive boards and committees was roundly scored in a resolution which demands retrenchment and reform in the civil service while another resolution provides that only British subjects shall be employed in the civil service.

Government ownership and control of water for irrigation purposes, construction of storage reservoirs and main canals as a public utility; assistance in distribution of irrigation waters; by guarantee of bonds of water municipalities and consideration of further necessary irrigation facilities by means of assistance to hydro-electric projects, are the terms in which the convention set forth the irrigation policy of the Conservative party.

An investigation into the cost of coal was demanded by the convention.

The convention went on record as being in favor of sending, if necessary to a foreign country, students to receive education in technical work in new industries which would be suitable for development in British Columbia.

The convention demanded that an aggressive policy be carried out by the Agent General in London to encourage the settlement in British Columbia of practicable British farmers.

Another resolution dealt with the question of the rehabilitation of returned soldiers in civil life and demanded the carrying out of a practical policy for their benefit.

THERE IS ONLY ONE GENUINE ASPIRIN

BAYER

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all.

Your druggist gladly will give you the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" because genuine Aspirin now is made by Canadians and owned by a Canadian Company.

There is not a cent's worth of German interest in Aspirin, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. But now you can get genuine Aspirin, plainly stamped with the safety "Bayer Cross."—Aspirin proved safe by millions for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Neuritis, and Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

The optimist sees the doughnut, the pessimist sees the hole. The pessimist asks "Is there any milk in the jug?". The optimist asks "Will you please pass the Cream?" A pessimist is a man who winds up an eight day clock every night. An optimist is a man who gives away his clock so as not to lose any good time winding it. If you are burnt out and lose everything you have, don't worry. Its only lost energy. Just sit down and eat your cottage pudding so agreeably that people will think you are living in a brown stone front on Riverside Avenue. Remember Jonah, he was down in the mouth, but came out all right. Mirth clears the mirrors of the mind. A person who does not laugh is not healthy. A merry heart doeth good, like a medicine. Forget your loss and cultivate joy, cheer up; if you haven't a smile, get one. Mirth makes worry easy. When Jim Thistlebeak found a big fat grub eating his two handled prize pumpkin vines, he did not curse and swear at it but took it down to the big basin in the Elk canyon and caught a 10 pound trout with it that made several of his friends a good meal. That is initiative. Smile while you can, for some day you may become a millionaire; then you won't be able to smile.

Fred Roo, Jr., returns from overseas going from Victoria in March 1918, via the Panama Canal to the West Indies, stopping at Kingston, then to New York over to France, back to Liverpool, across country to Seaford Camp, returning via Halifax to Vancouver, B.C., over the C.P.R. main line, back to Elko September 26, (the best town in the Crow's Nest Pass), and then down to Roosville, the home of the big red apple. Genial Gentleman Joe Jackson, one of the conductors that make it a pleasure for travellers and one of his dad's old college chums broke the news of the big Elko fire where his father lost so heavy but still smiling to him. Corp. Arthur Collins, late policeman of Waldo, returned the same day. They were both from the same camp but dressed different. Collins arrived from Fernie when the wind was blowing a gale and bitter cold, dressed up like a pen wiper with his bare knees sticking outside, and Frank Allen of the Elk Hotel, played the Collins are coming on a hot water bag with fishing canes stuck in it.. No serious accident occurred during the reception these two gentlemen received in the old historic burg.

Travellers still flocking to the old historic burg; the last week we had Glennie the tobacco man with a side line of cigars you couldn't light with a blow pipe; Roy Sharpe of Nelson, with everything from a two foot rule to a pearl necklace, and other kinds of monkey wrenches; Alex. Stewart, of Lethbridge, his first appearance in these hills, said that where love is only a dream, the marriage is only an alarm clock, and that he had a special price on Big Bens and blacksmiths' anvils, but carried no samples. A drug traveller from Saskatoon, carrying a valise, a suit case, a haggard countenance and a general atmosphere of wearied worry. He met Jim Thistlebeak and left with a smile that Saskatoon would be proud to have a picture of. George Mitchell, of Windsor, Ont., the Isabella-Maria-Giant-Rhubarb editor for Ferry's seed house. He was very optimistic about Elko's beautiful scenery, and expressed himself in such glowing terms that he reminded you of mother's doughnuts, while the fellow that was travelling with him would make a setting hen shed tears. George B. Morris, of the Consumers Hardware, Lethbridge, chaperoning a party of millionaires. George is one of Lethbridge's big men and an old Elko resident, and it was like the prodigal's return when George arrived in the old historic burg; everything opened up like a rosebud in the sun. Sergt. Major Nevison, of Calgary, just returned from overseas, with shoe laces pack saddles and cow hide novelties. Traveling with "Locke" from the same village, selling drinking cups, bob-sleighs, aluminum kettles and alarm clocks, Roberts, who would remind you of a Y.M.C.A. secretary out of a job, selling 5 case lots with a per cent off when he could, kicking up the Gold dust like a fairy in a sand storm. Continued in next week's notes; get a copy and send one to your traveling friends; it will tickle them more than a horse hair undershirt.

Fred Roo, the only man that rebuilt on the burnt area since the big Elko fire and who is doing a bigger business than ever, motored to Roosville Sunday with Mr. John Harvey, the millionaire sheepman from Milk River, Alta., looking over some cutover lands and pastures with the intention of running several thousand sheep, some small bands of Angora goats and a string of three humped camels for the use of the herders, which will elevate them above the envious cowpuncher on the wall-eyed cayuse. The sheep will be the Romnellet that Mr. R. C. Harvey, Sr. has made famous throughout Canada.

Dr. and Mrs. F. A. Perrigo, of Danville, Ill., U.S.A., is visiting Elko this week, the guest of Fred Roo, J,P. The doctor owns a section of land in the Flagstone district but won't be able to visit it on account of the rotten roads the Oliver government refuse to fix. The Roosville-Flagstone Mail Contractor is appealing to the Post Master General at Ottawa, suggesting that he ask John Oliver and his bunch to resign and go herding sheep.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The steady influx of work seekers still continues in this camp.

Jack Greenough arrived back in camp from overseas last Friday, accompanied by his wife. Jack went away with the 225th Batt. and was later transferred to the 2nd C.M.R.

Another overseas soldier in the person of Duke Horne arrived back in camp on Sunday evening, after an absence of over four years.

Mrs. McCormick Sr. and Mrs. McCormick Jr. were visitors up here during the past week.

Mr. R. Johnstone accompanied his daughter Nora to Calgary on Monday evening to interview a specialist.

Charlie Perrie is again taking the air outside, after being confined to bed, as the result of an accident sustained while following his employment in the mines.

The appeal of the Loyal Order of Moose has met with a general response from this camp. Several of our residents being initiated into the secret rites during the past week. Some say the goat does kick and others say that's not all. But Frank declares upon his soul that someone must take the fall.

The lessons in the noble art of self defence given by our local Jess Willard were cancelled owing to the appearance of one of the professionals from Fernie coming up here for lessons. Wise boy, George. Don't give all your points away.

Several slight attacks of Influenza are reported in camp.

The candidates for confirmation in the R. C. faith journeyed to Fernie on Sunday morning, where services were conducted in the R. C. church.

We are requested to ask all members of the Fernie Co-Operative society to endeavor to attend the shareholders meeting on Sunday evening next at 7.30 p.m. Business—balance sheet adoption, Election of Officers, payment of dividends and other matters of importance.

A fairly representative gathering attended at the Club Hall on Sunday afternoon to hear Mr. Woodsworth, one of the men recently implicated in the Winnipeg strike.

The fanmen at No. 9 mine resumed work on Wednesday. The first time since the strike was called, May 24.

We learn from reliable sources that the firebosses of this camp, resultant of their meeting held last Sunday, and further audience with general manager Wilson, have started again on their old-time schedule of wages.

Mrs. Joseph Mitchell was visiting in camp on Thursday.

Mrs. Joe Gillis was a visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. R. Johnstone.

Joe Delucca and his staff are making preparations for the winter. New arangements of the water system for Riverside Avenue and Morrissey Cottages being installed.

The stone throwing craze among the juvenile element of this camp has resulted in a batch of broken windows on the company's property.

George Monks, of French Camp, has sold out, preparatory to moving to fields and pastures new.

WYCLIFFE RANCHER TAKES OWN LIFE

C. E. Foote, a rancher living on the Wycliffe road, near Ranklyn, committed suicide at the hour of midnight on Friday, by literally blowing the top off his head, with a single-barrelled shotgun. Deceased was in Cranbrook until Friday afternoon. It is thought business and domestic troubles had been the cause of his rash act. Of late he was noticed to be acting strangely and it is believed in a fit of temporary insanity performed the horrible deed.

Deceased was about 54 years of age and came to Cranbrook from the United States in May, 1914. He was well known in Cranbrook, having been a frequent visitor in the city. During the winter months he was engaged in the wood business and supplied a large number of Cranbrook people with fuel. J.F. Barrett, who was living with the deceased at the time of the tragedy, reported the affair to Provincial Constable Kerr, who, in company with Coroner MacKinnon, visited the scene of the tragedy. The doctor found that an inquest was not necessary after the testimony of Mr. Barrett, who reported that both he and Mr. Foote retired about midnight and shortly afterward Barrett heard a shot. He lighted the lamp and entered the room of deceased, where he was confronted with a hideous sight. From information received it would appear that deceased took off his boots and stockings and placing the barrel of the gun against his forehead, pulled the trigger with his toe, which hurled him into eternity in the twinkling of an eye.

The funeral of the unfortunate man was held Monday afternoon from the undertaking parlors of F. M. Mac Pherson, Norbury Ave., to the Cranbrook cemetery.—Cranbrook Courier.

KIMBERLEY TO HAVE LARGE CONCENTRATION PLANT

The Consolidated Mining and Smelting company, whose operating headquarters are at Trail, B.C., is considering plans for the installation of two large concentrating plants, one at Rossland and the other at Kimberley, B. C., according to reports from those places.

The Kimberley installation is said to contemplate a plant having a capacity of 10,000 tons daily at the outset and possibly the erection of another unit of the same size, which would make the total capacity 20,000 tons. If the latter capacity is provided the concentrator would become the largest on the continent. The nearest approach is said to be a plant in Utah which has a capacity of 15,000 tons, although the several plants of the Anaconda Copper Mining company in Montana have a total capacity of about 15,000 tons.

The chief source of ore at Kimberley is the Sullivan mine from which 2000 to 4000 tons of lead and zinc ore are shipped weekly, a quantity greater than the production at Rossland. In the last 11 days of August 6537 tons of zinc and 630 tons of lead ore were shipped from the Sullivan. In addition to this ore, which is of a smelting grade, the mine contains an enormous quantity of ore having lower contents in zinc and lead. Its removal at a profit was a problem until a year ago when it was announced that a solution had been reached.

The operation of these mills would make necessary the employment of increased forces. Although the installations are said to be still under consideration they are regarded as a certainty by many persons and in consequence the demand for real estate at Kimberley has improved. The Spokane owner of a few lots in Kimberley, which he has held many years, recently received four offers for them within two days, two by mail and two in person.

The Bank of Montreal, realizing the importance of the undertaking, have taken a site and are erecting a bank building at Kimberley. Mr. C. S. Shannon, the manager, is already on the ground.—Cranbrook Courier.

Prepare to pay for Victory.

"WHEN A WOMAN SINS" AT THE ORPHEUM WED & THURS.

A tremendous smash at the walls of hypocricy which surround the lives of many of us is given by Theda Bara, the famous screen star, in her latest super-production, "When a Woman Sins," which will be shown as the headline attraction at The Orpheum Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

Playing the role of Poppea, a notorious wanton, Miss Bara delineates with great power and yet with touching appeal the human, lovable side of a woman whose life threads the devious paths of pleasure. The woman, though many men lay their wealth at her feet, continues to love a young divinity student. His Puritanical training, however, will not allow him to countenance her, until at last, in despair, she is about to end her life. Then he sends his forgiveness in a bunch of lilies.

DELEGATIONS AT MEETING

The City fathers convened in regular session last evening with a perfect attendance recorded. The minutes of the previous meeting having been regularly adopted, His Worship, requested if anyone were present that desired to lay any matter before the council to make themselves heard. The first was ex-mayor G. B. Thomson, spokesman of a committee comprised of Messrs. Markland and Dickinson, representing the band. Mr. Thomson presented a petition that had been circulated among the ratepayers recommending to the council that a grant of $125 a month be made for the purpose of engaging a professional bandmaster. Mr. Thomson, while presenting one largely signed petition, stated that two such had been circulated, but with regard to the second one, he had not been able to obtain same for presentation to the meeting. This, however, would be available later. The decision reached at a public meeting held some time ago, whereat it was decided a band should receive generous support as it was considered to be an asset to any municipality, was reported. His Worship, who had been present upon that occasion, however, corrected the impresion under which all had labored, namely that the city council of 1919 was required to prepare the estimates for the succeeding or 1920 council. It was on this account that the petition has been brought into being, it being considered that if properly endorsed, and the 1919 council including such grant in the estimates for next year, the new council would undoubtedly sanction the expenditure. The fact that the present council is not required to prepare the estimates now places a somewhat different complexion upon the matter, but they nevertheless suggested that same should be widely circulated in order that all ratepayers might have the opportunity to sign it or reject it, and when completed its presentation to the incoming council would largely govern their attitude.

The second delegation was Mr. J. McNicholas, representing the Teamsters' Union, requesting that inasmuch as the city were not paying the union scale to the city teamster other than the fire team driver, nor had they any agreement with that union, this should be rectified and the scale of wages, $4.00 per day be authorized, together with a properly signed agreement drawn up. The former scale paid by the city was reported to be $95.00 per month. After a short discussion it was regularly resolved to comply with Mr. McNicholas's request and this accordingly will be put into effect.

Mr. D. M. Mitchell, spokesman of a delegation from the Returned Soldiers directed the attention of the council that according to provincial legislation, the returned soldier was entitled to a discount or rebate from taxation of 10 per cent of the amount due as between March 1914 to 1920. This applies solely to property outside municipalities, but the City of Nanaimo recently presented a resolution to the Union of B.C. Municipalities asking that the Government pass legislation authorizing municipalities to make a similar grant to all veteran propertyholders within same. Just what was done with this resolution at the recent B.C. Municipalities convention, information was not available, but the delegation requested the local council to use its influence to have the suggested amendment to the Municipal Act pased. They were assured that the Fernie City Council would use its influence in this direction.

Correspondence was then taken up; the first was a letter from Cranbrook City Clerk, in reply to request for information with regard to the City Fire Department responding to calls outside the city limits. It advised that it was the practice in Cranbrook to respond to all such calls and that no charge was made by the city for same. The Rossland Automobile Club forwarded a resolution with respect to the Trans-Provincial Highway. A similar resolution had already been sanctioned by the council. D. F. Markland, secretary of the band wrote requesting the council to appoint two of its members to represent it on the band committee. His Worship and Ald. Hunter will officiate. The secretary of the Board of Trade submitted a resolution passed by that body with regard to the general condition of the sidewalks throughout the city, together with a suggested experiment whereby the Board of Trade believed temporary walks could be provided at small financial outlay pending the time when concrete walks could be constructed. The council agreed to give the proposed method a trial as requested, on that piece of walk on the north side of the City Hall, and if same proves satisfactory it will be aguide for more extensive operations along this line. An application was received from A. F. Haddad for a building permit to construct a building on the vacant corner opposite the King Edward hotel. He desired a concession with regard to the north wall of the building as same was desired to be constructed in a temporary nature pending completion of the entire structure covering the two lots within a reasonable time. It was regularly adopted that Mr. Haddad be allowed 12 months to complete the entire building, the plans for which were subject to the approval of the local building inspector.

His Worship took the opportunity to announce that he had been advised by the bank that on even date the City's overdraft had been the lowest it had ever reached during the past ten years. The City Treasurer also announced that collections for September had exceeded $74,000, and that the current month was very satisfactory in this regard.

Ald. Gates was instrumental in putting the water and light committee and the city electrician on their defence with regard to expenditures for extra employment for this department. The city electrician particularly was required to relate in detail his duties in connection with the meter readings and accounting in connection with same. After over one hour's review of this topic, it was recommended that the water and light committee thoroughly investigate this matter and make a report at a later occasion.

It was decided to advertise for tenders for the purchase of the property contained in Lot 9, Block 36, which the city now owns. Said tenders to be received on or before October 23rd, 1919. After passing a couple of bylaws authorizing the sale of certain properties the council adjourned, the hour being shortly before eleven bells.

WHAT TOURISTS HAVE TO SAY

Since the Visitors' Register has been in use in the Information Bureau the following persons have registered. The comments they have made in the column "Remarks" should convince even the most skeptical of our citizens that our roads and scenery are a very valuable asset to us, and that the work now being done by the Board of Trade Publicity Committee is bound to bring results.

P. E. Dye, from Spokane to Medicine Hat, "Roads very fine and the scenery great."

E. H. Hann, from Monarch to Nanaimo, B.C., "Roads very good, and the scenery best I've seen."

H. Gilmore, from San Diego to Calgary and back, "This part of the trip we have enjoyed the most; the scenery is superb, and the roads a delight to drive over. Hope to come again."

F. W. Showler, from Vancouver to Winnipeg and back, "Roads splendid and the scenery is magnificent."

A. Dudley Sampson, Saskatoon to Vancouver, "Roads wonderful and the scenery is second to none."

Hon. A. G. Mackay, Edmonton to Vancouver and back, "Roads generally very good and scenery the best."

Mrs. L. McDonald, Edmonton to Vancouver and back, "Roads generally very good and scenery the best."

J. R. Wylie, Elgin, Nebraska, to Calgary and back, "Roads are fine, and the scenery is grand."

E. Donner, Elgin, Nebraska, to Calgary and back, "The best scenery I have ever seen and the roads a pleasure to drive over."

L. W. Babcock, Edmonton to Los Angeles, "Roads good and scenery fine."

H. C. McDonald, Whitla, Alta., to Ashcroft, B.C., "Finest scenery and best of roads."

E. J. Stevens, Whitla, Alta., to Ashcroft, B.C., "Think the scenery fine. I wish our roads in Alberta were as good."

Fernie St. John's Ambulance Assoc.

The annual meeting of the above association will be held in the basement of the Baptist Church on Sunday next at 7 p.m. It is important that all members should be present.

His Honour, Justice Murphy, will conduct the Assize Court at Fernie this month.

BUSH FIRE DOES DAMAGE

On Wednesday afternoon and evening a bush fire, which is reported to have started from the right-of-way of the Great Northern Railway about seven miles west of this city did damage to the estimated extent of $5,000 to A. J. Farquharson, cedar dealer, operating a camp in that locality. The fire started late in the afternoon camp, and travelled eastward. About 9 p.m. a terrific gale sprang up and the fire was rapidly driven through these holdings destroying between 12,000 and 15,000 manufactured cedar fence posts, a large quantity of mining props and poles, together with bush equipment, chutes, roads, and landings. The limits were also badly fire swept but the amount of timber destroyed cannot be estimated until a cruise is made. However, it is stated that it is very doubtful if operations in this section can be resumed. Mr. Farquharson managed to save his camps which are located on the opposite side of the railway from the fire. It is very exceptional at this season of the year for fires to be considered dangerous, but the past season has been the most disastrous in the history of this district. Millions upon millions of feet of merchantable standing timber have been swept over by fires and huge quantities of same fire-killed, which unless logged and manufactured within a short time will be a total loss. The precipitation this season has been practically nil and consequently the condition in the woods is exceedingly favorable to fires rapidly spreading, once they have started.

FERNIE FOOTBALL TEAM TO PLAY TRAIL

The executive of the Fernie Football League desire to express their appreciation of the generous way in which the citizens of Fernie contributed towards defraying the expenses of the boys who are travelling to Trail over the week-end to uphold the honor of Fernie in the football world. They will play the Trail football club for the championship of the Interior of British Columbia on Monday the 13th inst. They also desire to thank Thos. Fitzgerald for his generous assistance. Tommy has the goods. The following players have been picked to represent Fernie:—T. Ogg, G. Booth, J. Riley, H. Wheeler, W. Haile, W. Riley, T. Oakley, G. Parnell, B. Smith, R. Thornton, and G. Davidson; reserve F. Brindle. Referee, J. Caufield, Coal Creek, B. C.

Dear Editor:-

The committee of the above Fund find it necessary to make it known to the public that there are certain children who, having attained the age of sixteen, will automatically fall off the Fund, as they are now considered able to support themselves and thereby conserving the Fund for those who are as yet unable to support themselves.

The committee beg to state that it is in the best interest of the Fund that the public should know why these statements are made.

Yours truly,
Thos. Whitehouse, Sec.

TRYING TO PREVENT ACCIDENTS AT CROSSINGS

Accidents resulting in death through automobiles being struck by railway trains have been the cause of enquiry of more coroner's juries the past six months than any other cause.

Almost every one of these accidents can be traced to either carelessness or abstraction on the part of the automobile driver. They do not seem to take into consideration the speed of the train or the fact that it cannot leave the rails to avoid hitting the road vehicle.

Enginerrs on railway trains have asserted that their nerves have been put on the ragged edge by automobile drivers who will insist on attempting to cross the highway ahead of the train. Engineers can see the automobile approaching for several miles on the prairie and they know instinctively that if both keep on going, somebody will be killed. The engineer cannot stop and the automobile driver does not seem to sense the danger. Even if he sees that he cannot pass ahead of the train, he will rush at full speed to a point just as close to the moving train as possible relying on his brakes to hold.

The public should be aroused to the danger everywhere existing through the attempted bravado of the man who is driving the automobile.

Card of Thanks

Military Sanatorium, Frank, Alta.
October 4th, 1919.

The Editor,
Fernie Free Press

Dear Sir:-

At a meeting of patients of this Institution held on Saturday last, the 27th ultimo I was requested through the medium of your columns to thank all the residents of Fernie who were kind enough to contribute towards the collection of reading matter recently sent to the patients of this Sanatorium from your town.

I understand these books were not collected through any organized society and as we have not been given the names of the individual donors, our only course is to thank every one through the columns of your newspaper.

The books were especially welcome to the bed patients who have been for any length of time confined to bed and who had exhausted the interesting books in our present library.

For the Invalid Soldiers Welfare League.

Yours faithfully,
C. G. Potter, Sec'y.

LIBERALS HOLD MEETING

A public meeting was held on Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Fernie Riding Liberal Association upon the occasion of the visit of the Hon. Dr. King, minister of public works, and the Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines for this province. Mr. Alexander Macneil, barrister of this city, acted as chairman and introduced the speakers. Dr. King delivered a very impressing address with regard to the extent of public works carried on within the province, and dwelt particularly with regard to the proposed method to be adopted by the government with regard to government roads. New legislation in this regard will be brought down at the next session by which it is anticipated that a more effective policy will be followed in future to the general satisfaction of every district within the province. Hon. Mr. Sloan went into the question of mining very thoroughly, giving interesting details as to the development of this industry. Particular mention was made with respect to the coal mining industry and the precautionary measures with a view to greater safety for the workman. Mr. Sloan naively suggested in his remarks that since taking the portfolio of the minister of mines he has used, he believed, a much greater portion of his time investigating underground conditions under which miners have to work than had been the practice with the mines inspectors under the former administration. Mr. A. I. Fisher, M.L.A., for Fernie Riding, also contributed by giving a short address.

The first fall of snow of noticeable quantity for this season fell on Thursday, Oct. 9th, when the ground was also dropped within 24 hours from beautiful late summer variety to that of late autumn or early winter.

Fifty per cent of British Columbia's lumber and mining business for the year has been lost owing to labor troubles said to be due to O. B. U. activity. Taking it by and large the O. B. U. movement has been very much in the nature of an insidious plague to the country.—Calgary Herald.

MORE AID FOR SOLDIERS

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—The case for the Great War Veterans was presented to the special house committee on soldiers civil re-establishment by the members of the Great War Veterans association advisory committee this evening.

The further requirements of re-establishment, as disclosed by the present enquiry, were summarized by Mr. MacNeil, as follows:

a. A generous standard of maintenance for the dependents of deceased soldiers and the totally disabled commensurate at all times with the cost of living, and coupled with suitable educational opportunities for the children of such soldiers.

b. Adequate provision for all those disabled on service which would ensure restoration to a maximum of usefulness with permanent placement in the commercial, agricultural, or industrial life of the community, under administration of sufficient elasticity to provide for individual requirements.

c. Special restorative care of those of weakened mentality and general physical debilitation due to war service with the removal of all cause for financial worry.

d. Life insurance facilities for disabled men debarred from the benefits of ordinary life insurance, enabling them to safeguard the future of their dependents.

e. Suitable educational advantages for all those whose training was materially interrupted and retarded by enlistment, or who, prior to enlistment, had not the opportunity to prepare for any definite vocation.

f. Equal treatment for all Canadians irrespective of military rank and whether service was performed in the imperial forces or, in the case of dependents, whether repatriation was accomplished prior to November 11, 1918.

g. Reasonable assistance for all those who require aid in re-establishment by reason of protracted absence or loss of efficiency on active service in a manner calculated to develop the resources of Canada, cause increased production and foster contented citizenship.

The detailed plan of re-establishment was submitted by the members of the G.W.V.A. committee. Briefly summarized, the plan proposes development of resources, from both the human and material standpoint, as a means of re-establishing the soldiers as producing units. The advantages are to apply only to those who are able to establish their need for assistance in order to regain their pre-war status.

The extent to which aid is to be granted is to be determined by the date of enlistment and scene of service. The highest amount available of the varied forms of reestablishment prescribed is $2500, and the plan provides for all beneficiaries equitably. The total gross expenditure is estimated at $200,000,000. The principle is to make reestablishment available to all ex-members of the force and dependent next-of-kin by means of financial grants from the state, regardless of any kind of reestablishment benefits which may have been received. It also provides for soldiers of the allied and imperial forces for their dependents who were residents of Canada prior to August 4, 1914.

Provision is made for the anticipated stress of the coming winter by a cash grant not exceeding $500 on November 1, this year, to be used by the person concerned to meet current and legitimate obligations. The balance of the grant is to remain under government control.

Enlisted 1914, for service in Canada $500; service in England,1914, $1000; service in France,1914, $1000; total, $2500. For a man enlisted in 1915 and reaching France the same year the total would be $2000.

This is graded down until a man enlisted in 1918, and reaching France the same year would be entitled to receive $100 for service in Canada, and $200 each for service in England and France, a total of $500. A non-combatant, in all cases, shall be awarded 25 per cent less than the accepted standard for combatants.

The grant shall not apply to any persons (except widows, children or dependents, next-of-kin who intend leaving Canada. An applicant must prove that his motives in obtaining a grant are in the interest of reestablishment and the board must be satisfied that the safest course possible will be followed.

No member of the permanent forces who did not transfer to the overseas forces shall be eligible, and no member of the naval forces, except those who can be classified as a combatant. In the case of a civil servant receiving both civil and military pay while on active service the amount of wages paid by the government during such service shall be deducted from the applicant's grant, with due allowances paid to separation and patriotic fund allowances which were not paid in these cases.

Any qualified applicant who, with his wife or dependent next of kin, received more than $600 war service gratuity shall have that excess deducted from his grant.

Female members of the forces shall rank as males, V.A.D.'s and similar non-attested voluntary workers shall also be eligible but at the discretion of the board, who must determine that actual need exists.

THRIFT IN THE SCHOOLS

Increasingly insistent is the demand that the schools of this Dominion teach citizenship—that they equip the child to do the full duty of a good citizen. It is not forgotten that the schools have for generations done excellent work; but the experience of the last four years has brought the realization that a change in method and in subject-matter—a shifting of emphasis—is urgently required. A young man may be an expert in arithmetic, in spelling, in writing, grammar, geography, and every other subject on the curriculum and may, none the less, display qualities of brutality, injustice, wastefulness and treason—may indeed, be a bolshevik. An altered type of training, a new view of relative values, must come. A knowledge of the fundamentals on which rests the structure of democracy must be a part of all instruction worthy of the name. Education may make or mar a nation—it has done so in Europe and elsewhere.

What are the fundamentals? Honesty is one. Industry is another, and there are many more. Frugality is an important one, and one that is being overlooked in this country. Canada was built on thrift, among other things—the pioneers were specialists in thrift.

Thrift is not hoarding; it is not miserliness; it consorts not with the pessimist. Thrift is intelligent care of money and resources, conservation for the future, wise and thoughtful spending. The thrifty man is an optimist, for he has stored up power.

And thrift must be taught in the schools. This will not add to the teachers' burdens, for every subject of study can be so taught that it helps to inculcate the practice of thrift. A Thrift Club in the classroom works wonders in the discipline of the school it gives the pupils something worth while to talk about. United for a common aim, they learn esprit-de-corps. They come to know the value of money and the principles of business; they are imbibing the necessary preparation for citizenship. For the attractive investment of small savings, War Savings Stamps afford an excellent medium. This plan has been highly successful in the schools of Great Britain, of the United States, and of Canada.

Thrift taught in the schools encourages industry because children wish to earn so that they may save. And, more than ever in its history, this old world needs to work. Production must be increased. Produce, save, invest, must become the universal slogan.

OBJECT TO COURSE OF FEDERATIONIST

Vancouver,B.C., Oct. 2—The question of the ownership of the B.C. Federationist, the local labor weekly paper, came up for discussion at the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council (International) this evening. Some of the delegates wanted to know where the organ stood, complaining that the front page was given over to the One Big Union articles and the International organizations were not being given a square deal. It was suggested by one of the delegates that the International unions start a paper of their own, but no action was taken.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

—Always Uniform

At every Borden Condensary, the milk is passed only after a careful physical test, supplemented later by a test for butterfat and minimum bacteria. No milk is accepted which does not come up to the Borden standards, since the quality of the milk accepted regulates the quality of the finished product. This is why Borden's St. Charles Brand is uniformly pure.

Hermetically sealed in sterilized cans, Borden's St. Charles Milk keeps indefinitely as long as the cans remain unopened. Stored on your pantry shelf, this milk solves the problem of shortage, and makes you independent of any other milk supply. Handy, convenient and economical—just add an equal amount of water and you have milk as fresh as when drawn from the cow. Use it for all purposes that require milk. Order to-day—by name—from your grocer.

THE PART OF PRODUCTION

The origin of the propaganda for shorter and less exacting hours for work lies in the remote past. The advocates of democracy foresaw clearly that unless a majority of a nation could be emancipated from body-breaking and mind-wrecking toil, that nation would never be capable of self-government.

Organized labor was quick to appropriate this idea, and has used it with telling effect in its effort to shorten the hours of labor, for the avowed purpose of increasing at the same time the number of jobs.

During the long period when there was a world surplus of goods and a world surplus of labor this policy was not unjustifiable. But clearly what might have been justified under such conditions is indefensible under the existing ones.

For labor to use its strengthened position to force working hours below the point of health requirements is merely to promote vicious idleness, and to promote such idleness at this time, when civilization needs more of the products of industry than ever before, is to commit a moral crime against civilization and to invite economic disaster.

In their campaign for shorter working hours labor unions in the past have had the support of medical science and the aid of all right-thinking men and women. The reduction of hours to a just standard has been of immeasurable advantage to all organized society.

But in their effort at this time to reduce the working day beyond the health limit fixed by experience and medical science they are arraying labor as a class against all other elements of the body politic.

No one who is looking for the remedy for the high cost of living can escape the conclusion that many factors enter into the problem. But no less can he escape the obvious fact that the one fundamental, permanent factor in any effective remedy is that of greatly increased production.

Decreasing production is one of the chief causes that give to a legal dollar only a 50-cent purchasing power. Scarcity of goods makes profiteers of manufacturers, midlemen and retailers almost against their will.

Even president Wilson, whose policy of unpreparedness and whose ill-considered dealings with organized labor created the vicious cycle of constantly ascending high prices, has now come to the conclusion that the only permanent solution of the high cost of living lies in increased production.

TO PREVENT UNEMPLOYMENT

Next year will be well advanced before Canada's main expenditures for war, can be completed. Every dollar that can be raised for the Victory loan 1919 will be required.

Although hostilities ceased in 1918 the war expenses went on.

This is just as much a war year as last year was, as far as the money is concerned. Pressing liabilities incurred by the war and involving vast sums of money have to be cared for. The simplest and most profitable manner in which this can be done is for the people to provide the money themselves.

The Victory loan 1919 is entitled to just as much consideration as was given to its predecessors. It is up to every loyal Canadian to do his utmost to make the new loan an overwhelming success. The continuance of the prosperity of the nation is wholly dependent upon it.

It was naturally to be expected that trade depression in the Dominion would have followed the armistice but this was averted by the application of a large proportion of the last Victory loan as credits to Great Britain and our Allies for grain, dairy produce, fish, lumber and ships. These credits were absolutely necessary, and strictly good business. They must be continued. They are national re-investments. The debts will be paid eventually and in the meantime industrial and agricultural workers will be kept in busy and lucrative employment.

Their Brother's Keeper

Jazzbo, the man from Mars, was making a flying trip to the various capitols of the world to observe the wisdom with which the nations ruled themselves.

His first stop was Washington, where congress was in the act of passing a resolution beseeching England to please wear rubber heels if she persisted in treading on the long suffering necks of the Irish.

"How perfectly charming and humane!" thought Jazzbo. "To think of a country so perfect that it can devote its time to the moral betterment of other countries!"

And he hopped to London, where he found parliament preparing a message begging Mexico to speak harshly to her bandits and, if necessary, to even take their guns away.

"How exceedingly bizarre!" thought Jazzbo.

And he skipped to Paris just in time to find the chamber of deputies drafting an appeal to the United States to please remember, if they insisted on lynching negroes, that this is the age of anaesthetics.

"Well, I'm another!" thought Jazzbo, although he hardly ever used slang. And three French fire engines, lookin, for a fire, ran over him before he recovered from his daze.

IS A REVOLUTION COMING?

It is safe to say there never was a time in the history of the world when the workingman was as prosperous as he is today. While the cost of living is high, wages are proportionately high and no man need solicit work in vain. The streets of our great cities are crowded from early morning till late at night with crowds of well dressed people, apparently happy and care free. The shop girl, the stenographer, the wife and the daughter of the workingman, wear furs in July, and the mechanic rides to his work in an automobile, while extravagance on all sides is rampant. Yet on every hand we hear of strikes and walkouts, mines, mills and factories with every wheel standing idle and a perfectly good contract with the men in the safe with many months to run. Demands for shorter hours, more money, recognition of the union, division of the profits, an opportunity for a higher scale of living, claims that the percentage of depreciation in a man each year should be refunded to him in a monetary way. Every conceivable demand that can possibly present dissatisfaction and unrest is being made.

The great mass of labor is moiling and stewing and twisting and turning and no one apparently knows when the pent up forces will be unleashed.

What has caused the unrest? The worker is well treated and well paid. He has all the work—and more—than he wants. In the past industrial unrest has been caused by lack of work. Today there is no such thing.

Why has the toiler become so suddenly tired of his lot and determined to quit it—not by the good old method of working himself out of it—but by the simple expedient of walking out of it?

While the solution of this problem may be difficult, the cause is not hard to find. Unrestricted soap box oratory is the cause. For years at dozens of corners in each of our great centres of population apostles of unrest have night after night preached their insidious doctrines. These leaches and parasites who never worked and never intended to work had nothing to hope for under a system where reward can only be gained by merit, and consequently in and out of season preached its abolishment. The war may have hastened the present crisis but it did not cause it. Neither has the high cost of living anything to do with it, although it furnishes an excuse.

Labor is in the saddle today and each fresh victory increases its appetite for further conquests. An increase of ten per cent stimulates a demand for twenty-five per cent, and then a division of the profits. They want everything except the business itself, and this they refuse, for the simple reason they have no stomach for the long hours, hard work and brain fag necessary to make any business a success.

The time has come for reason to take the place of force or no man can forsee the end. Capital is agreed that the price paid for service must provide a decent living and something over, but the return must be of a nature that will enable the production of goods at a reasonable price. The greater the efficiency the more reasonable the price and, as a consequence, the workman is the direct beneficiary of his own diligence and skill. On the other hand voluntary idleness, strikes, shorter hours, inefficiency and sabotage increase the cost of production and cause prices to soar. The result is that the agitator who sows the seed of unrest in the workingman has his dupe for his first victim.

The idea of partnership with the men is chimerical. The only way for any man to get a partnership is to earn it, and then the business will have the benefit of his demonstrated executive capacity in keeping down the cost of production, which means lower prices.

A six-hour day, with every man a partner in the business and, consequently, a voice in the (mis)direction of its affairs, would cause prices to soar in a way that would make the present level look like the very acme of reasonableness.

When will the workingman come to his senses? Before or after his cause has been set back one hundred years? There is the only element of doubt in the situation. All the agitators that can be imported from Russia cannot change the ratio between wages and the cost of production. The good sense of the American workingman will discover this ere long. Will it be before or after he has ruined industry and bankrupted the country, and buried himself in the ruins?

There is too much good common sense in this America of ours for foreign professional agitation to permanently disorganize its industrial system, but there is every indication that at present they have by skilfully playing on class prejudice and by packing meetings with those who have neither a desire or intention of improving his lot, placed the American workman in a position fraught with the greatest danger to himself.—The Alaska and Northwest Mining Journal.

A DOLLAR FOR A DOLLAR

Under the above caption, Canadian Finance, an important financial weekly of Winnipeg, discusses, in a very illuminating manner, the present situation in Canada as regards the country's obligations. The Winnipeg paper rightly says that the many millions of dollars which were raised to cover war expenditures, and the interest thereon, must eventually be paid in gold or its equivalent. Not only have we to repay these war loans but we also have to meet a liability which at the present time is beyond computation. Our returned soldiers and the dependents of those who did not return have a first call upon the resources of this country to the extent of their legitimate requirements. The actual outlay that will be occasioned by these requirements during the next twenty-five years cannot be estimated with any reasonable degree of accuracy.

The people of Canada are faced with these huge financial burdens, but it is doubtful whether the serious nature of the situation is fully realized. There are many "Micawbers" in our midst who are content to wait for something to turn up to dispose of these financial burdens. As a matter of fact, those who recognize the instability of the present disposition of the public to consume and spend rather than to produce and save, are immediately classed as pessimists by their fellow countrymen. Many of our American cousins also resent any attempt to bring them back to normal—a fact which was very plainly demonstrated when Frank A. Vanderlip, former president of the National City Bank of New York, was dubbed a pessimist, because he expressed the conviction that financial conditions were such that the utmost caution should be exercised. The truth is seldom welcome when it imposes responsibilities upon the listener. Canadians have been told the truth in regard to the need for greater production, but unfortunately we have many who are akin to the man from Missouri, and they will not realize the dangers of the future until those dangers are too near to be completely averted.

It needs just ordinary common sense, says this journal, to understand that every dollar of our war loans, every dollar which is required to provide for disabled soldiers and widows and children of our dead soldiers and the tremendous interest charges on our war debt have to be met in real money. We cannot continue to float bonds in order to repay maturing obligations, if we wish to regain our pre-war financial status. There is no doubt that we have the means whereby the present and future financial requirements imposed upon us by war may be successfully met. The main question is not so much a matter of material resources—for we have natural resources awaiting development more than sufficient to pay off our national debt and to meet future obligations—the real task is to persuade and convince the average Canadian that there is urgent need for national and individual economy. To speak of economy is to arouse many widely separated ideas of just what economy is. Unwise retrenchment is poor economy. Money expended wisely so that maximum results may be obtained from instruments of production is better economy than the policy which pursues a course of miserly curtailment of necessary expenditures. But the real need is for greater surplus production. To say that we need greater production is insufficient because there is a marked tendency toward greater consumption also. Of what avail is it if the increased production we strive for is offset or perhaps exceeded by greater consumption in our own country. We need greater surplus production, so that we can secure Canadian markets for Canadian products and still have products for sale in foreign lands. We need real money with which to pay our debts and the only way to get real money is to exchange our products for it.

The present apathy in Canada is fraught with grave danger. We have got to get down to rock bottom. The sooner we do this, the easier will be the task which confronts us. Indiscriminate spending by all classes with money to spend has been a characteristic of the Canadian people. Governments and public authorities have ignored economy and considered political considerations in days gone by and the habit is still in evidence, resulting in the outrageous squandering of public funds—our money. "Produce and Save" is a splendid motto—provided it is applied to the handling of both public and private funds.

In conclusion the Winnipeg paper says:

"It may be presumed by some after reading the foregoing comments, that Canadian Finance has assumed the role of a pessimist, but such a presumption would not be accurate. We prefer to face the facts, instead of evading them, for facts have a most disagreeable quality they persist in remaining before us and insist upon being dealt with sooner or later. We do not prophesy 'blue ruin' for Canada, neither do we believe that Canada will fail to meet her responsibilities. Recent history is sufficient to show that Canada does not falter when the crucial test confronts her. But we do feel that the Canadian people are evading the facts—they have not yet realized that it is necessary to produce and save. If every Canadian could be made to understand the simple truth that 'for every dollar we have borrowed a new dollar must be created,' we would be a little nearer the solution of our financial troubles."

The great German ship Imperator and others which were allocated by the Supreme Allied War Council for transport purposes are to go back to that body for disposition in the near future. According to press dispatches from Washington, officials there are inclined to the belief that the ships will be distributed among the Allied powers, as it is likely that both France and Great Britain will contend that the United States has built up a great merchant marine and they are still suffering from the destruction of their merchantmen by German submarines.

Different in Canada

Profiteering in the Mother Country is becoming a very unprofitable business. Every English paper contains reports of prosecutions by the score, and the magistrates are imposing heavy fines with threats of worse. In Canada the first profiteer to be prosecuted will probably become so famous that he will be given a high-salaried job with the moving picture producers.—Moncton Transcript.

MR. ROBERT NEWTON.

Little Bras d'Or, C. B.

"I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches, and did not sleep well at night. I lost so much weight—going from 185 pounds to 146 pounds—that I became alarmed and saw several doctors who, however, did me no good. Finally, a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'.

In a week, there was improvement. The constipation was corrected; and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous". ROBERT NEWTON.

In an interview, while speaking generally with regard to the Crow's Nest Pass Motor Route, Mr. McKay stated he found the roads in excellent condition and the scenery very fine. He also intimated that he would very much have liked to stop over in this vicinity but time would not permit of this on his present tour.

Although the hunting season for elk and other similar large game opened ealy last week, so far no reports have reached here that any great number of these animals have been bagged. In view of the great number of big game licenses issued from the government office here during September, over 700 in all, it is well known that there is a small army of sportsmen taking advantage of the open season this year for elk. In the two days preceeding the opening of the season on October 1st, eighty odd parties started from Michel alone. It is from this point that access is obtained to the famous upper Elk River game preserves. The provincial Game Department, however, are taking active steps to prevent any unwonted slaughter, and Inspector of Provincial Police, W. Fernie, of this city, is at present camping in the upper Elk district, while working under his direction is a corps of deputy game wardens.

CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOL FOR COAL MINERS

Ronald Hewat, Esq.,
Fernie, B.C.

Dear Sir:-

Several months ago the Education Department of this Province decided to open up a Correspondence School for Coal Miners who wish to prepare for certificates of competency under the Coal Mines Act of British Columbia.

By the above method they have also decided to assist any children who have not the advantage of being able to attend school, and are living in outlying districts. Text books and tuition are free.

Will you please inform the families in your district, who are not at present receiving any education, that they have the privilege of receiving instruction in school subjects by Correspondence.

Yours truly,
James Hargreaves,
Instructor.

THE MENACE OF THE 'ALMOST' GOLF COURSE

If Chick Evans' name were signed to this story it would be published in all the daily papers of this country boasting a sport page, and would be read by thousands and believed as gospel, but written, as it is by an unknown follower of the game, no one would print it, because no one would read it if it were printed. But Chick Evans would never write a story similar to this because he has never labored under the same conditions and is probobly not aware that they exist. Therefore, since Chick will not write the story, here it is under an unknown name.

The golf courses in the great majority of small and medium sized towns are so constructed as to preclude any possibility of ever developing any real golfers through practice upon them. In the majority of cases the fault lies not in the way the courses are kept up, although that is, of course, an item, but in the way courses are laid out. The length of the holes is not given the consideration it should receive considering its importance as a factor in making a good golf course.

It is true that the rules governing the game of golf say that the course may be any length, but a glance at the cards of several of the better courses of the country will show that, for the most part, the length of the holes is pretty well standardized.

The average eighteen-holes golf course in this country considered good enough for use in state and interstate tournaments will contain holes whose length will be approximately this:

No. of holes	Yards	Par	Bogey
3	100-150	3	3
2	250-325	4	4
8	350-425	4	5
5	451-600	5	6

The average nine-holes golf course in a small town has holes which vary in length a good deal as follows:

No. of holes	Yards	Par	Bogey
2	100-150	3	3
5	150-250	3-4	4
2	300-400	4	5

An analysis of these figures shows that while the so-callel "tournament courses" have on the average only twenty-seven per cent of their holes under three hundred yards, fully eighty per cent of the holes on the smaller courses are under that figure. Also, that while seventy per cent of the holes on the best courses are over three hundred and fity yards, only fifteen yer cent of the holes on the smaller courses are of this length or over. This fact alone is responsible for most of the matches lost by players accustomed to the shorter courses, who attempt to compete in state or interstate tournaments for the first time. My own case is an excellent example of this.

I went to my first state tournament when I was still in high school. I had played what I was told was golf for the greater part of five years and was considered more or less of a prodigy by the members of the club in my town. Even I was more or less inclined to consider that I showed more or less class at the game. As a matter of fact, I wasn't at all bad—at home. I really could play golf along with the best in the state at that time—at home. But to continue the story.

I went to the state tournament. The holes looked thousands of miles long. I "pressed" on all my shots continually trying in vain to get in one shot to greens which all the more experienced players felt pleased to reach in two. Because I pressed, I looked up. Result, topped shots, balls hooked into the rough, sliced out of bounds or some other equally agonizing product of loss of mental equilibrium. Needless to say, the world failed unanimously to hail me as a conquering hero. There wasn't a single rose strewed in my path for me to tread upon when I returned to my native city, and all because the well meaning citizens who had laid out our golf course didn't know their business.

Now I know that no power under Heaven could have given me the skill necessary to have won that tournament, but I also know that had I been able to do all of my golf playing prior to that time on a first-class instead of a fifth-class course, I would have made a far better showing.

The trouble with our golf course, which is the same as the trouble with thousands of others, is that its designers decided that they wanted a nine-holes course at all costs. They didn't have room for a nine-holes course, but they put one in anyway. Consequently the game played upon the layout is not golf, but, mathematically speaking, is to golf as pin-pong is to tennis.

In the four years preceeding my first state tournament I had become quite proficient at the game of "golfette", "golfine," "golfolo" or whatever the game might be called, but I was as far from being an expert at golf as a country store war critic is from being a general.

The land owned by the golf club mentioned so frequently in this story would have provided the club with six excellent golf holes—holes of correct length, and one or two holes long enough to accustom the players to the type of golf which has to be played when negotiating a standard course.

For instance—a short hole should not be less than ninety yards nor more than one hundred and fifty yards. If it is more than one hundred and fifty yards long, it must be not less than two hundred and seventy five yards, nor more than four hundred yards. If more than four hundred yards long, it should be not less than four hundred and seventy-five nor more than five hundred and fifty yards. Holes of any greater length than this are rare and are really more curiósities than anything else. They do not contain any new features.

Holes between one hundred and fifty and two hundred and seventy-five yards in length are the principle bane of small courses. They are, in reality, outlaws, and should be put out of existence as soon as discovered. It is play on holes of this type that spoils many a good golfer in the making, because they do not require anything approximating perfection of play in order to obtain what passes for good results.

The number of holes on small courses is not nearly so important as the kind of holes. The larger the number, the more variety obtained, of course, but it is of vastly greater importance to have one good hole than two mediocre ones.

This rule might well be put on page one of the "Golf Course Designer's Handbook"—if there is such a thing.

The main thing to remember in laying out a golf course is to make the holes of such length that it will be impossible to dub a shot and make up the loss by following the error with an especially well played one.

A hole around two hundred and fifty yards in length is a good example of incorrect golf course designing. It is too long to be reached in one shot, but if the player's drive rolls along the ground for only fifty yards, he is in excellent position to reach the green with a well-played second, and two putts will give him a four, or par for the hole. His opponent playing excellent golf throughout, stands almost no chance of getting less than four and so the hole is halved when it should have been won by the second man.

A hole of this length could be improved either by shortening it to two hundred yards, or thereabouts, or lengthening it to around three hundred to three hundred and fifty, thus making it possible to be reached in a drive from the tee or impossible of being reached by less than two first-class shots.

Boiled down it all comes to this:

If you are going to build a golf course, build a golf course; but if you are not, buy only an acre of land, lay out a lot of holes on it—thirty-six if you feel so inclined— and play a game similar to golf upon it; but don't call the game golf.—By Clarke D. Tilden in "Golfers' Magazine".

Prohibited Pastimes

Henry VIII., as we have recently been reminded in the courts, induced Parliament to pass an Act prohibiting tennis. Perhaps Henry was prejudiced against the game owing to the money he had lost over it, for in his youth he fancied himself as a player, and used to back himself for large sums. "This propensity," says one of the King's biographers, "being perceived by certain crafty persons about him, they brought in Frenchmen and Lombards to make wagers with him, and so he lost much money; but when he perceived their craft, he eschewed the company and let them go." Only a few years back King George of Tonga prohibited his subjects from playing cricket more than one day a week. This was because the Tongans had taken up cricket so enthusiastically that famine was threatened owing to neglect of work on the plantations.— London Daily Express.

The Expenditure of $610,000,000

How the last Victory Loan was spent

BEFORE buying Victory Bonds again you may want to know how Canada used the money you loaned her last year

Canada borrowed the money to carry on the war and to provide credits for Great Britain and our Allies.

CONSIDERABLY more than one-half of the Victory Loan 1918 was spent on our soldiers. This included $312,900,000 for paying them, feeding them, bringing them home, separation allowances to their dependents, maintenance of medical services and vocational training schools.

For Demobilization

$59,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1918 was paid on account of authorized Soldiers' gratuities.

$9,000,000 was spent at Halifax for relief and reconstruction after the disaster.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

Other disbursements were not, strictly speaking, expenditures, but National Re-investments.

For Trade Extension

To Great Britain for example:

$173,500,000 was loaned for the purchase of our wheat and cereals.
$9,000,000 for our fish.
$30,000,000 for other Foodstuffs.
$2,900,000 for Canadian built ships.
$5,500,000 to pay other British obligations in Canada.

Making in all $220,900,000 advanced to Great Britain.

To our Allies, we loaned $8,200,000 for the purchase of Canadian foodstuffs, raw material and manufactured products.

The Re-investments will be paid back to Canada in due time, with interest.

These credits were absolutely necessary to secure the orders for Canada because cash purchases were impossible.

They have had the effect of tremendously helping agricultural and industrial workers to tide over the depression that would have followed the Armistice, had we not made these credit loans.

As far as money is concerned, 1919 has been, and is still—just as much a war year as 1918. Our main expenditures for war cannot be completed until well on into 1920. Thus another Victory Loan is necessary—Get ready to buy.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

BLOODY DESPOTISM

I have seen a man who is not a man but an image of decrepitude, writes the Helsignfors correspondent of the London Times. He was a Russian of one of the smartest regiments, who fought with the British army in France, where he commanded a howitzer brigade at Bethune. Now he would not be recognized by his best friends. He is aged by twenty years, a bent and shuffling creature, starved, his flesh worn from his bones, his hands transparent, his skull showing through his skin, and only the eyes remain clear and determined.

Three days ago he left Petrograd, where he has lived throughout the Bolshevist terror, being engaged in a special mission. Finally he was denounced and escaped through a window, actually while the Reds were entering his flat to arrest him. I thought before this that it would be impossible for anything to produce on me such a vivid impression after my own escape but here the tragedy of Petrograd is depicted and concentrated in one single witness. This is his message, brought from the city of death.

The eleventh hour has struck. Petrograd must be taken immediately. The organizations at Petrograd and Moscow which my informant represents regard General Mannerheim as Europe's sentinel against Bolshevism, and believe that only he can take Petrograd. If General Mannerheim leads the Finnish army in the relief of the capital now he will be greeted with flowers; if he delays a month, with curses, because flesh and blood cannot hold out longer. In the event of no attack being made on Petrograd desperate disorders will break out, and they will probably fail on account of lack of arms; the last remnant of the educated people of Russia will perish in a sea of blood and Russia will cease to exist.

In Petrograd the population is not above half a million and the women now outnumber the men by three to one owing to scarcity. There are from sixty-five to eighty-five executions daily, including many Sisters of Mercy suspected of proBritish sympathies. My informant knows of one case, a girl eleven years old, who was shot as a spy because she asked where she could find a certain soldier. Besides the executions of Russians, several foreigners have also been shot.

Commissary Troyanovsky publicly stated that the question of the Russian officers is already settled, since they were partly neutralized (i. e., killed), partly isolated (i. e., thrown into prison. There only remain a few serving with the Bolshevists. The Commissary of Munitions, Platonoff, himself boasted that he had passed all night pistolling the "White Guard canaille."

The despotism of the Bolshevist oligarchy becomes daily more cynical. Thus, while last week bread in Petrograd touched 130 roubles a pound, Red Army men now receive a milk ration though milk absolutely does not exist for the civil population. Trotsky on going to the front takes with him trainloads of sweets and bread to supplement the persuasions of his oratory. While Trotsky, guarded by picked praetorians, is everywhere busy, posing as a student of Peter the Great's tactics. Lenine is completely secluded and visible only to higher officials, adored by bevies of female admirers as the bloody Communist Lama.

Legal, technical and medical provision for the workmen is completely neglected, the machinery is not inspected and accidents are not reported, there being one doctor for perhaps eight factories, with the result that the total number of skilled workmen in Petrograd is reduced to 12,000. Special Bolshevist gendarmes overawe the factories. Soviet elections are not only reduced to a farce, but to an open unreality. Candidates are authoritatively proposed and declared elected without a shadow of pretence of co-operation by the electors. Especially horrible conditions obtain for men in the heavy motor car service, who are forced to work like slaves, arrested and sometimes shot on account of breakdowns and delays.

The condition of the rural population is equally critical. Owing to the complete lack of doctors and medicines, epidemics, principally typhus, rage unchecked. In some villages the population is completely exterminated, only the dogs remaining alive. At the end of last winter all the stations on the Vonorezsh, Kursk, Orel Tula and Moscow railway lines were encumbered with corpses of persons who had died in the trains, the bodies being heaved out at the first halt and left lying. Only when they began to decompose on the frost breaking was any trouble taken to remove them.

My informant asserts that three German trade commissions were immediately expected when he left Petrograd, nominally to arrange the barter of goods, but in reality with the object of negotiating a so-called Northern Aliance between Germany and Russia, later taking in Sweden and Finland. Unless Petrograd is taken before the endurance of the educated classes is wholly worn out the alliance will undoubtedly become a fact, and the remnant of the intelligentsia, who now accuse the Allies of responsibility for their misery, will welcome German assistance and domination.

In his opinion it is improbable that General Denikine will take Moscow and Petrograd without help from the North, while the Koltchak front is weakened by 2500 million of roubles sent by the Bolshevists for propaganda and the murder of officers. He affirms that the sole possibility of saving Russia from complete ruin is by the capture of Petrograd by the Finns, when a concerted rising would take place in the chief centres and destroy Bolshevist power at a single blow.

My informant described in detail the desperate condition of the working men of Petrograd. The only logical deduction from the treatment offered to them is that the Bolshevists are determined to exterminate the Russian working class as they have practically exterminated the educated people, first by provoking revolts in the large factories, their agents being known to receive up to 700,000 roubles for agitation; secondly, by forming numerous so-called police, revolutionary, and requisitional detachments which they send into the country, where they are killed by the hostile population; thirdly, by sending into the army all who do not work for defence; fourthly, by forcing them to work regularly overtime by refusing the means of subsistence in case of refusal, thus enormously increasing the death rate owing to exhaustion and lung disease contracted in the badly-lit, unventilated buildings, which, moreover, are not heated in Winter. Their nominal wages are 400 to 5000 roubles monthly and the nominal working day eight hours but in reality ten or twelve owing to compulsory overtime in spite of all protest. The men are so tired and starved, however, that the work done is inconsiderable.

Every detail of the Bolshevist forces' dispositions on the Finnish front is known, and the situation would offer far smaller military difficulties than is commonly supposed. The situation only requires a decision on the part of the Allies. For these reasons the Bolshevists have offered 500,000 roubles for General Mannerheim's head, and are sending out agitators to France and England furnished with millions.

"You have left Russa to perish," say the inhabitants of Petrograd, "now Bolshevism will overrun your lands and you will perish, too. Only then will the Germans reorganize Russia and become the strongest power in the world. The most serious phase of the war is now beginning; unless you rescue Petrograd you are already beaten. The twelfth hour is approaching."

10 CENT "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

COULDN'T WORK FOR 8 MONTHS

Spent Four Hundred Dollars Seeking Health—Tanlac Restores Him

"I consider my first bottle of Tanlac has been worth all of one hundred dollars to me," declared Dan McLean of 335 Esplanade street, Sydney, Nova Scotia, while in Turnbull's Drug store for more medicine recently. Mr. McLean has been following the carpenter's trade for the past forty years. He has lived in Sydney for twenty years and is well known.

"On the 15th of last September," he continued, "I was taken down with the 'flu' and was never able to get anything to put me on my feet until I found Tanlac. I was left so weak that I could not hit a lick of work for more than eight months and this meant a loss of from $120 to $180 a month to me, for that is what I was making before getting down. I also paid out $400 for treatment and medicine trying to get my health back, so you can see what that spell of 'flu' cost me. I could not walk from town to my room without stopping several times on the way to rest and after the trip I would puff like a steam engine.

"Seeing by the papers that Tanlac was helping so many others who were in a run down condition, and thinking it might help me to get on my feet, I bought a bottle. Well, it may sound exaggerated, but it's the truth, after taking my fourth dose of Tanlac I could tell it was what I needed and was going to do the work, and I have been gaining ground ever since. Why, I never ate more than fifty cents worth of food a week before I got Tanlac, but now I want to eat all the time and no matter what kind of food is set before me, I enjoy it. I have just finished my first bottle of Tanlac and I am feeling well enough already to go back to work. Tanlac beats anything I have ever seen or heard about; it is no more like other medicines I have used than day is like night. Before taking it my nerves were so shattered that I could never get a good night's sleep, but now I sleep like a log. I also had the worst kind of headaches, but they have been broken up entirely. Tanlac is simply making a new man of me and I honestly believe it's the best medicine in the world, and any one who gives it a trial will be convinced."

THE RAINBOW IN THE CLOUD

There is not a people, whose race instincts have been long suppresssed, that has not been electrified by the high tension of this war into expectancy and in most cases into assertion. While we write, the Sinn Fein movement is being erected into a rebellion by the only method known to government, that of suppression of crime—a hopeless method, as Strafford and Cromwell have proved. Government is non-ulussed and though criminations are cheap and abundant, and many are ready to say if England had only acted earlier the situation might have been saved, there is no one that has now any confident measure to propose. From Ireland we might turn to Russia, from which the Allies are withdrawing after failure, and whose destiny from the present outlook seems to be to pass under the power of the Germans, to be used by them as a scourge for the nations of the world, and to hold a new threat of barbarism over civilization But who does not remember the old proverb that it is darkest before dawn? How often since the days of Noah have the clouds rolled away with a rainbow stretched over the departing gloom, to be followed by the blue sky and sunshine. The old divine promise that springtime and harvest shall not cease was a spiritual statement of a firm law of nature, none the less for that a divine covenant. The same law is in the moral history of man. When the storm has wrought its lesson the clouds will roll away and men will have learned each others claims and rights and have been taught to respect them. The New York "Outlook" quotes a Negro aspiration rising de profoundis—

"Dis war's gwine to he'p evahbody
Dis war's gwine to he'p evahbody
Dis war's gwine to he'p evahbody
All ovah dis worl."

The Smile Worth While

During the war our men learned in hard places the value of the deliberate and painstaking smile and cheery word. It meant just the little bit of extra strength and spirits that mattered in the midst of death and discomfort, when a man shouted "Cheerio!" to his comrades. And how many men have been lifted out of despair by singing on the march "Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag and Smile! Smile! Smile!" it would be hard to say. These cheery sayings and this cheery attitude are just as much wanted today. We want them to help us to face the difficulties and trials that still beset the nation. We shall have failed to profit by one of the most valuable lessons of the war if we do not remember the value of "suggesting" cheerfulness to ourselves and to our fellow-countrymen—London Daily Chronicle.

Spontaneous Combustion

Millions of dollars go up in smoke daily, due to spontaneous combustion, or more properly speaking, spontaneous ignition. No doubt, in addition to these, many other fires reported as of "unknown" origin, were in fact caused by spontaneous ignition. Spontaneous combustion is the ignition of a substance or body by internal development of heat yithout the action of any external flame. It often takes place in waste, rags, cloths, cotton, sawdust and other substances partially saturated with oil. Vegetables and animal oils especially absorb oxygen very rapidly and thus sufficient heat is produced to set the oily substance on fire. These fires occur at night as well as in day time. They often develop in cellars, attics, storage closets, warehouses, shops and other out-of-the-way places, not under constant observation, and spread rapidly, fed by the highly combustible materials. Often such fires are not found until they have had a good start, and so are hard to control and cause much damage. New schools, churches, factories, residences and other buildings undergoing repairs or renovation are often a prey to the flames because some painter or other worker has left some oily rags or mop around.

The prevention of these fires is quite simple and inexpensive. Care and good housekeeping will make them almost impossible. Oily waste and rags and oily or paint cloths in use during the day should be kept in a standard self closing, metal waste can. At the close of the day these should be burned up or otherwise destroyed. Oily metl filings, borings and cuttings, oily leather scraps, excelsior used for rubbing painted or varnished furniture or floors, cloths or mops used for the same purpose, and oily or wet sawdust should never be permitted on wooden floors or benches, but should be cleaned up, removed and destroyed. Oily overalls, jumpers or aprons should be hung on a brick wall or stored in metal closets. Inky cloths used to wipe rollers in print shops and lithograph establishments should be burned after use. Some sweeping compounds contain oil and the only safe storage is in a metal barrel or box. Floor oils and "dust preventives" contain the necessary materials for spontaneous ignition and cloths used in applying them should be destroyed. Many fires in barns are caused by improperly cured and heated hay or grain. Aside from proper curing and drying, perfect ventilation should be provided to carry away the heat. Cleanliness and care will prevent most of these "mysterious" and disastrous fires.

STRUGGLE NOT FINISHED YET

It's funny how quickly we slip back into the old grooves of life, even though jarred out of them by years of war and wrenched by sad partings.

Isn't it true that in most Canadian homes life goes on today pretty much as it did five blank years ago, the stalwart sons come to the breakfast table with the same noisy greetings, though there is, perhaps, a shade deeper ring to their voices? Returned from war, the head of a family sits in his old accustomed place at story time, perhaps bringing a new kind of prince and knight for the youngsters.

With the men home life goes on pretty much as before. The harsh old realities of war are slipping into the misty background. We can never forget the price in flesh and blood; we could easily forget the price in treasure.

When we hear of plans for the Victory Loan, 1919, we are brought back with a jerk to the hard fact that the cost of Canada's Victory has not been fully paid, and that the future lays burdens upon us also.

INTRODUCES TWO BILLS

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—Hon. C. J. Doherty, by unanimous consent, introduced in the house this afternoon the two prohibition bills. The first bill amends the provision of the Canadian Temperance Act so as to make it possible that upon a plebiscite vote of the electors of an entire province—which plebiscite would be taken upon a petition based on a resolution of the legislative assembly—that if the majority of the electors declare they desire importation of liquor into that province or manufacture of liquor in that province, or both, to be absolutely prohibited, then under the provisions of the bill manufacture or importation or both will be prohibited by proclamation.

In effect, the bill extends the principle of the Canadian Temperance Act so as to enable the majority of the electors of the province to place importation under absolute prohibition.

Mr. Doherty's second bill amends the act in aid of provincial legislation so as to make its provisions extend not only to importation of liquor, but to manufacture within the province of liquor to be used.

A further provision of the bill reintroduces a clause which was contained in the original bill as it was passed by the house of commons, but which the senate rejected. The clause is accompanied by modifications which it is hoped will make it acceptable. It provides that the violator of the provisions of the act may be tried for the offence either in the province into which the liquor was sent or in the province in which the offence was actually committed. There is the provision that the clause will be operative only on the fiat of the prohibition provisions.

DENOUNCES RECENT STRIKE

London, Oct. 8.—Premier Lloyd George surprised his countrymen, as he frequently does, by denouncing the railroad men's strike as "Prussianism" and "another effort to hold up the community and strangle it into submission," at the lord mayor's mansion house luncheon in honor of Field Marshal Allenby yesterday.

The occasion was an unusual one for such a topic, but the premier has a habit of doing unusual things at unusual times. Near him sat Emil Faisal, son of the King of the Hedjaz, in white robes, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, with an array of other military and civilian notables as such as only London can muster on ceremonial occasions. They expected nothing more sensational than compliments to the conqueror of Palestine.

"The nation means to be master in her own house," Mr. Lloyd George declared. "A just master, a generous master, but always master in her own house."

This was naturally accepted as a proclamation of the premier's view that the government won a victory over the strikers. J. H. Thomas, secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen and leader of the recent strike, speaking at Albert Hall on Sunday night dwelt on the settlement as a compromise and yesterday issued a statement appealing for reconciliation and a burial of hard feelings.

Labor papers appear to differ with Mr. Thomas as to some aspects of the strike settlement. When Mr. Lloyd George makes an important speech, newspapers try to read between the lines to discover his political purposes. The general interpretation of this speech is that the premier has broken with labor unions and wants to draw to his support the middle classes, who apparently tended to drop away from him as a result of the recent campaign upon the alleged government extravagance.

George H. Roberts, British food controller, speaking last night, laid the blame for a break in the negotiations on the railwaymen, accusing them of adopting "methods of secret diplomacy," and declaring the settlement of wage matters must be taken out of the hands of political officials.

Mr. Roberts' last point meets with the general sentiment of the country as shown by the newspapers. A project is on foot for organizing an executive committee of all sections of labor to carry on negotiations with employers. An emergency trades union confress may be held to make arrangements to give labor representatives power to approach the government if negotiations with employers fail.

The dislocation of railroad traffic because of the strike has not yet been remedied. At several stations today there was displayed a placard which announced the companies' hope to resume normal traffic tomorrow. Thousands of workers, who expected to return home as usual on suburban trains last night, were disappointed, and lines containing hundreds of persons waited until late at night at tram terminals for rides.

HOW LONG CAN THEY DO IT?

There is in Canada current opinion that it costs the Government $1.03 to get $1 of gross revenue from the railroads which have been emancipated from the capitalistic class. A deficit of $50,000,000 in 1919 is the forecast. This straightway gives rise to conjecture as to what the true relation of cost and revenue would be if some courageous Administration reached down to the bottom of our own Government operation of the roads.

Thanks in part to the peculiarities of the Canadian situation the private Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific have contributed nobly to the Government's experiment in railroad operation. This and other causes have steadily lifted the percentage of cost to gross revenue. Today it is 89 per cent for the Grand Trunk and 81 per cent for the Canadian Pacific. The percentage thus actually discloses the shocking scandal of surplus, rather than the uplifting inspirations of deficit.

Monthly statements, duly audited and certified, show Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk can still operate on their own motive power. The exact status of the Government roads is not so clearly revealed. Why it is not, is a matter of conjecture, friendly, invidious or neutral, as may be. Some irreconciliables want to know how they are to reach a conclusive audit of Canadian Northern, making a true capital investment basis for figures. Others say there is an operating deficit of more than three per cent.

What if it be so that the more wheels turn round and the faster they go, the more money they lose. If it costs 3 cents net loss to take in a dollar, isn't the taxpayer there to pay it? And doesn't the paltry 3 cents go at once back into circulation? "As long as he has a dollar left to burn, why shouldn't the taxpayer writhe and turn?"

A staunch supporter of a western co-operative grain concern with a long and honorable record of losses used to refer to its "turnover" as its "turn-under." Happily free of the embarrassment of literary cult, he has given the Government's railroad auditors a book heading, accurate and novel. They should be satisfied and so should the taxpayers. For, as a facetious inquirer for Government figures says: "If a taxpayer is not to pay these taxes what is he for?" But how long can they do it?—Wall Street Journal.

ONE MORE EFFORT

Far beyond the expectation of the Empire and the world, Canada fought and strove and paid gallantly for five years. Indeed it may be doubted if any native Canadian witnessed the notable effort of the Dominion without amazement. The true spirit of the people was not understood until the guns began to speak in Belgium.

It rose, month by month, to greater, and still greater heights. The double climax came in the autumn of 1918 when the Canadian Corps marched from Cambrai to Mons, and when the nation subscribed $610,000,000 for Victory Bonds.

In the war Canada found herself. The name "Canadian" is respected the world over; not only in the nations allied with the British Empire in the defense of liberty, but in Germany itself.

The fighting is over. The great task of dearticulating the organization built up by four years of ardent effort is almost complete. The work of maintaining the Army until it is fully repatriated, and of fulfilling completely the national obligations to the soldiers has added much to Canadian war expenditure.

For that reason there is instant need of a new Victory Loan. The patriotic people whose ardor and energy brought Canada into the sunlight are asked to keep the Dominion there by buying Bonds. The honor of the nation is involved in the success of the Loan. The people who supported the soldiers constantly while they were in Flanders will not fail in one particular to continue that support until the men are re-established in profitable civilian occupations.

Considering the achievements of this proud people, there is reason for the belief that the success of this latest Victory Loan will be instant and overwhelming. But all citizens must have a part in it. It is not a task to be half-done by the whole people, or wholly done by half the people. Let every citizen subscribe!

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

CORPORATION OF THE CITY OF FERNIE

TAXES

CRANBROOK WINS GAME

On Monday the Fernie ball team went to Cranbrook and put up another good exhibition with the champion Wycliffe team.

Although the Fernie team was picked up at the last minute, they made Wycliff travel all the time. The final score was 3—1. Sofko, Fernie's star pitcher, certainly pitched a great game against Alt, who, pitching for the Hustlers at Calgary, beat Nick Williams' all-stars.

A close decision against Fernie, with an error and a hit were enough for Wycliffe to win.

ASSIZES OPEN NEXT WEEK

The Supreme Court Fall Assizes open here on Tuesday next,His Lordship, Mr. Justice Murphy, presiding.

On this occasion the calendar is practically free from serious criminal offences. there being but one case to be heard. This is the case of Rex vs. Roman Denusick, charge: atempting to bribe and corrupt a public official. In accordance with the Criminal Code this case must be heard before a judge with a jury. On the civil list there is but one case set down for trial: The Elk Valley Brewing Company vs. Zorratti, in which the plaintiff company seeks to recover certain monies alleged to be due from the defendant. This trial was traversed from the Spring Assizes in view of an application to amend the statement of claim being launched at the opening of the trial.

The most interesting items on the list, however, are the eight appeals from convictions under the Prohibition Act against eight hotelmen of this city for selling intoxicating liquor in May last. These appeals are being taken by way of Stated Cases wherein the defense seeks to set aside the finding of the trial judge and quash convictions purely on points of law. At the present time while the applicants have been sentenced to six months with hard labor to the Provincial Gaol. they are out on bail in the sum of $2,500 each, pending the decision with regard to the Stated Cases. The cases above mentioned are: Harry Haigh, Sam Lockwood, W. Wyatt, Joseph Goupill, Nick Danusick John Serak, W. A. Ross and Casimir Lassalle versus W. H. Whimster, police magistrate and Walter Owen, Inspector of Provincial Police. In Chambers there will be notice of motion in Taylor vs. Munroe, and chamber summons Elk Valley Brewing Co. & The Pollock Wine Co. vs. Thomas Caven & Enia Small.

BOARD OF TRADE HOLD MEETING

The Board of Trade held its regular monthly meeting last evening and the large attendance upon this occasion is ample indication that the reorganized body has aroused keen interest among the business men and citizens, and the future effectiveness of the organization for the general welfare of the city seems reasonably assured. The publicity campaign for 1920 is proceeding very satisfactorily; the purpose being to widely advertise the scenic beauty of the Crow's Nest Pass for tourists and motorists. This work is now well under way and the publicity committee have reported that representatives of the Cranbrook and Windermere district Boards of Trade have definitely decided to join with Fernie and co-operate unanimously for the benefit of the entire district. A booklet will be gotten out for distribution, setting forth the salient features of the respective localities.

A very interesting report was received from Dr. E. L. Garner, chairman of the health and recreation committee, recommending certain local improvements for these purposes. This matter will be gone into more thoroughly and definite action taken.

(The complete report of this meeting will appear in next week's issue as it was crowded out this week.-Ed.)

THE GAME AT TRAIL

The management of Trail Football Club, during the present season, have been a most energetic and enthusiastic body, using every effort to boost the game, not only in their own city, but in every part of the interior of B. C., and a glorious finale to a successful season was the visit of the crack soccer team from Fernie.

The entire city was at fever heat, and through the kindness of the Trail City Council, flags and bunting were displayed in honor of the visitors.

Upon arriving in Trail the visitors were taken to headquarters of the G. W. V. A., where they were entertained to supper by the Trail Football Club

On Monday evening, ofter the game a banquet was given by the Trail Football team in honor of the visitors, which was followed by songs and dancing.

Among those who attended the banquet were: G. H. Schofield, M.L.A., presiding; Jas. Buchanan, Hon. President of the West Kootenay Association; T. A. Robley, President of the Trail Football Club; F. E. Dockerill, Mayor of the city of Trail; T. W. Bingey, Comptroller of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co.; J.L. Maclachlan, Accountant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co.; Geo. Murray, Assistant Superintendent of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co.

A welcome to the visitors and the health of Fernie Football Club was proposed by the chairman, and was suitably responded to by B. Smith, Secretary of the Fernie Football Club.

The impressing feature of the banquet was the great talent displayed by the visitors, and a lasting memory will dwell in the hearts of all who had the good fortune to hear these artists, who are unquestionably the best amateur talent ever heard in Trail.

On Tuesday, some of the visitors left on the morning train for Nelson to take in the sights of the Rose City, while those who waited over till the evening train, were taken by automobile to Rossland, and were afterwards shown through the big smelter, which proved of great interest to the boys who provided the coke to keep the big plant running.

The teams met in Trail on Monday, Thanksgiving Day, before 1,500 people, which is a record attendance for Trail, for a football match.

The visitors made a sensational start by scoring two goals in seven minutes, Thornton being the marksman on both occasions.

This handicap did not daunt the Trail boys, and despite the fact that the visitors had the advantage of a strong breze, after the first fifteen minutes they were seldom dangerous, thanks to the sterling defense of the Trail boys, especially Leckie, who was unquestionably the hero of the day .

After half an hour's play, Kennedy headed through the first goal for Trail, which sent the crowd into fits of cheering, which never ceased till the final whistle blew.

The game during the remainder of this half was pretty even, with the visitors having probably a little the best of matters, but no further scoring took place.

The second half started very tame, but after the teams got settled, the game became very fast, with Trail showing to advantage.

After a severe pressure on the visitors' end, in which the goalkeeper was obliged to run out, Sales took advantage of the vacant goal, and scored the equalizing goal for Trail, amid great excitement.

From then until the end of the game, Trail were masters of the situation, and only for the miraculous saving of Ogg in the visitors' goal, would have won by a good margin.

The teams were lined up as follows: Fernie—Ogg, Booth, Oakley, Wheeler, Haile, W. Riley, Parnell, Brindle, Smith, Thornton and Davidson.

Trail—Routledge, Balfour, Leckie, Marshall, McIlroy, Young, Minton, Cook, Kennedy, Lennon and Sales.

A party wearing the uniform of a sergeant in the United States army arrived here some days ago and shortly after his arrival got into slight difficulties with the authorities. He gave his name as W. D. Edwards. He was released with a warning, but this he did not heed and got into further difficulties and upon being arrested had two charges preferred against him. The military discharge found upon his person was in the name of Bertram DeLore, but comparison of the signature thereon with that of the prisoner did not correspond. Faced with this fact, the accused admitted that the military discharge did not belong to him but to his brother, and that his own name was Robert DeLore. The American consul then communicated with the Department at Washington,D.C., upon the request of the local chief of police and advice was promptly received in the form of a telegram from a county sheriff in the State of Nevada that the said Robert DeLore was wanted there for a felony. Accused in the meantime had communicated with his parents and his father arrived last evening. The fine imposed for the offences committed here was paid and upon subsequent advice from the Nevada authorities, DeLore was allowed his freedom.

MAY BUILD UP THE ELK

E. S. Homewoody, a financial magnate of London, England, and Chas. D. Geddes, a leading coal engineer, of Edinburgh, Scotland, accompanied by Capt. Franklin Crandall, of Calgary, are at present on a journey to to the Upper Elk for the purpose of examining coal property purchased by an old country syndicate, known as the Grain Belt Construction & Development Co.

It is reported that this company contemplate the opening of a colliery at a point known as Wilson Mountain next year, and the building of a short line of railway to transport the coal to a point at or near Michel, the railway being ultimately extended to Fernie.

The gentlemen from Britain, it is understood, are greatly impressed with the coal resources and the great natural beauty of the country and will no doubt carry back with them wonderful stories regarding this part of Canada.

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES

An interesting ceremony took place Wednesday, October 15th at the Central School, when the Mt. Fernie Chapter, I.O.D.E. and Fernie Branch of the Navy League made their presentation of War Memorial pictures, certificates, and books.

Dr. Bonnell, M.P., acted as chairman, and explained in a most interesting address just what the word "Daughters of the Empire" stood for.

The doctor explained how the Order had come into existence at the close of the South African war, with the idea that the graves of our Canadian heroes might be cared for and traced the splendid development of the Order up to the present time.

Mrs. R. W. Wood, as Educational Secretary, spoke of the interesting Mrs. George Smith of St. Catherines, the National Educational Secretary, had given out last week, just previous to her starting on her trip across the continent in the interest of this tremendous scheme for a unique and most effectve War Memorial. The idea which has grown into so tremendous a project, started five years ago, with an effort to encourage the study of British history (which includes Canada, Australia, India and all parts of the Empire). To this end libraries of British history beautifully illustrated, and particularly suited to the children of the foreign-born, have been distributed to the number of 550. Fernie school was presented with one of these libraries some months ago. The War Memorial scheme has been planned, not only to honor the memory of the men and women who had fallen, but to perpetuate the idea for which they fought. The second part of its object is a Canadianization program to be carried out through the public schools of Canada. This memorial enterprise starts with a university education or its equivalent for the children of the diseased or disabled soldier, sailor and airman. Each province will also be entitled to one of the I.O.D.E. provincial travelling scholarships in the history department, which will enable the winner of the post graduate work in Great Britain for one year, till at the end of that year the nine scholars will compete for an I.O.D.E. Fellowship, providing another year abroad for the winner. A lecture foundation is also provided for, on the lines of Oxford and Cambridge, to study current Imperial history.

Mrs. Fisher then spoke of the great pleasure it gave her, as Regent, of the Mt. Fernie Chapter, I.O.D.E. to present to the school the first three available copies of the Great War Memorial paintings, viz, "The Death of Wolfe," "Joseph Brant" famous Indian Chief, and "The Crossing of the First Transport in 1914." The I.O.D.E. has been granted by the government the sole and special privilege of obtaining copies of these paintings for distribution in our schools, as a part of our undertaking in connection with our War Memorial scheme. We hope to add to this gift from year to year from the government's collection of some 40 or 50 paintings, our object being to afford the children an opportunity to study the items of special interest in the history of Canada's part in building up a worthy British Dominion, that our children may inherit and imbibe the spirit of chivalry and loyalty of their forefathers. The Regent referred to the intention of the Mt. Fernie Chapter to again offer a prize to the pupils in each of the three highest grades, who make the highest mark in history. This prize carries with it a copy of a famous painting, (to be hung in the class room in which it was competed for), and a valuable book, the property of the pupil.

Mr. Hewat, as chairman of the Navy League, presented the two books and certificates given by the Provincial Executive for the best essays written on Mr. Helmsing's lecture on the blocking of the Zeebrugge harbor. The first prize was won by Jack Wood, aged 13 years, and second prize was won by Rosswell Garner, aged 10 years. Special mention being made of Rosswell's essay on account of his age. The standard was very high. Rosswell was the youngest competitor in the province.

It is interesting to note that Fernie captured both the prizes against Cranbrook; the average age of students competing in the province being between 15 and 16 years. Mr. Hewat quoted part of Mr. Helmsing's letter in which he said: "The matter of deciding on the winners of the various prizes has been a very difficult task, owing to the excellent standard of the essays sent in and a great deal of thanks is due to the Hon. J. D. McLean, minister of education for the province, Mr. H. P. Hope, B.A., principal of the Oak Bay High School, Mr. Harry Charlesworth, president of the Teachers' Federation and Mrs. C. D. Meroutsos, the Hon. Educational Secretary of the Navy League for the province, for their kindness in reading through these essays and grading them all from the following points: age, points brought out, style, language, logical sequence, originality and expression, punctuation, spelling, sketch of maps and general neatness."

Mr. Daniels, principal of the school, made a happy speech in which he thanked the I. O. D. E. and Navy League for the splendid gift and spoke of the splendid pictorial record it gave the children of British and Canadian history. The speeches were interspersed by patriotic airs, sung by the children, and a very interesting ceremony closed by the singing of "God Save The King."

NAVY LEAGUE TAG DAY

Ships and men to man them are the big need of the Empire today. Canada is called upon to do her share in meeting the necessity. Shipyards are busy and new boats are being turned out as quickly as possible to fill the great gaps made in the merchant marine service through the dastardly work of the Hun submarines during the bitter years of the war.

Ships and more ships mean much to Canada, for this nation must have a great export trade for its surplus products if prosperity is to become permanent. Qualified sailors in great number will be required to man these ships. Canada must provide as many of these men as possible, and must have them ready as the ships are ready. To this end the Navy League of Canada is doing wonderful work through the medium of its naval brigades. For the continuance and extension of this valuable mission and for the establishment and maintenance of sailors' homes in Canadian ports the league is now calling upon the citizens of the Dominion to subscribe half a million dollars.

To raise our portion of this money, a house to house canvass will be made on Thursday, October 23rd, and taggers will be on the streets with their boxes. Everyone is asked to give as liberally as possible to the cause of the Navy. Fernie must do its share.

Miss Theresa M. Siegel and Miss Pugh, of Calgary, spent Saturday with Mrs. Batzold. Miss Siegel was returning from a most successful series of recitals through the Kootenays. Miss Pugh, who is one of the Ladies' Hockey team of Calgary, was interviewing while here, some of our Fernie lady stars of the ice.

The hunting season for elk closed yesterday and while an accurate account of the number of these animals bagged in this vicinity cannot yet be ascertained, it is estimated that at least twenty fine specimens were got in the Upper Elk River game preserves. In addition to these there were a number obtained from other favorite spots in the neighborhood. Some mountain sheep and goat as well have been brought in, but the majority of the hunters have not returned.

ELKO NOTES

Jim Thistlebeak says, the reason they took the Royal Train with the Prince of Wales, through the old historic burg in the dark was because had he seen Elko, they would never have got him back home; that's the reason they camouflaged it. Sir Joseph Jackson did all he could to show the Prince the most beautiful spot in southern B.C., but failed, so all we can say is, "God bless the Prince of Wales, He's all right."

Dick Roo, of Roosville, who was visiting Nelson last week, says he will always remember it on account of Fred Starkey, Alfred F. H. Crossley and the price of two handled pumpkins.

Have a smile for every one you meet and every one will have a smile for you.

Jim Thistlebeak says the popular idea these times is to be paid a handsome salary for doing nothing.

In India, when the husband dies, they burn his wife on the funeral pyre, which proves that a man needs a woman in the next world. But when the wife dies they do not burn her husband, which is conclusive evidenre that a woman can get along

Jim Thistlebeak says that a boil in the kettle is worth two on the neck.

A Free Press representative was down to Elko last week getting some information about sheep. Fred Roo gave him several valuable recipes for cooking mutton, and introduced him to Mr. Harvey, who owns about forty thousand of Canada's best bred sheep, and who told the scribe that a sheep pen was no good to write with.

Miss E. May Roo, chief stenog to Jim Thistlebeak, is visiting with Miss E. B. Paterson, at the Kootenay Orchards, Cranbrook, stopping off on her return from the United States, where she has been visiting since the big Elko fire.

Some of the travellers that visited Elko last week we are pleased to mention. T. R. Wilson, of Nelson, who said that he had samples with him that would make it hot enough to serve as a horrible example of a certain future state if he applied a match; Dawson, one of the gallant 54th, selling more goods than ever, and gives a cook book free with every car load order. Generosity, thy name is Dawson. Al Field, no relation to the minstrel and soft shoe dancer, but smooth as a dance hall floor, with a line of cigars you could smoke inside. Lecapellain, of Calgary, with brass door knobs and fence spikes; a Vancouver man with diplomas from some business college for salemanship, who's line of talk would take a cross-eyed compositor suffering with the St. Vitus dance to put his speech into type, a regular clam bake orator, and made a noise at the hotel eating his soup like a cow walking through a swamp. We are just in receipt of a wire that Jack Colvin, the prince of shoe travellers, is heading for Elko, spreading the gospel of sunshine on the way. Jack is like an Irish comedian, sure got a way wid him. A drygoods traveller from Calgary, with special clothing for golfers, known in Elko as cow pasture pool, and embroidered sand bags, wearing a watch chain you could tie a dog with or snake logs up a jack ladder, and just as funny as a funeral; please pass the salt. A Lethbridge traveller came in with last week's snow flurry, humped up like a badger and just about as sociable, with toasting forks, flat irons, corn starch and prunes. Sam Evans, the popular railroader, with his charming wife, one of Creston's prize peaches, and Sammy said that her cooking was as good as her looks, and her apple dumplings always light as feathers. Bert Greenwood, of Fernie; the rest of the collar button drummers will be mentioned next week.

Dr. F. A. Perrigo and wife, with Mr. and Mrs. Lyons, of Danville. Ill., U.S.A., who have been visiting here the last week, left for Vancouver. While in Elko, Mrs. Lyons caught the prize trout of the party, and the generally graceful manner in which she handled the gamey trout would make Fred Tyson sizzle with envy.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Thanksgiving Day passed off very quietly up here. The prohibitive prices prevailing for turkey, etc., debarring many from their usual feast. The younger element of the camp arranged a dance in the Club Hall and the light fantastic was indulged in till the "wee sma' hours."

The company have demolished the old traffic bridge across the creek and constructed a more substantial structure.

Thanksgiving Day being a scheduled holiday, the mines were idle up here.

Superintendent Caufield has purchased a new McLaughlan car from Calgary. The residents had the opportunity of seeing it on Monday.

Frank Nee received injuries while following his employment in the mine. We are glad to report that he is able to get around a little now.

Our local nimrods arrived back in camp after an unsuccessful hunting trip over the mountains. The vision of cooked venison not materializing this time. Better luck next time.

Harry Miard is spending a few days in camp.

Two of our local "leather chasers" journeyed to Trail on Sunday morning to participate in the big football game staged in the smelter city. Jack Caufield of this camp was the "knight of the whistle."

Don't forget the big dance in Victoria Hall on Friday, October 24, in aid of the Veterans' Concert Party funds. Selections during the interval. Dancing from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. Refreshments provided, $1.50 a couple extra lady 50 cents.

The humble "dinner pail" is put to many uses, but it was up to one of our lovesick swains to utilize the said receptacle as a means of conveying his amorous missive to the lady of his choice. Nuff sed.

George Warring, one of our real oldtimers arrived back in camp last week-end.

It appears that the Prince of Wales will make very few speeches while in America. We cannot help thinking, however, that our versatile Prince would soon learn the language. A gossip writer points out that the Prince of Wales has also been invited to visit Australia, but he decided to see America thirst.—London Punch.

Mr. H. B. Jackson, manager of the Hotel Vancouver, is the proud possessor of a parting gift from His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, which will be a valued souvenir of the royal visit. After the Prince had said good-bye to Mr. Jackson on his departure from the hotel, Lord Claude Hamilton, equerry to His Royal Highness, handed to the manager a scarf pin, consisting of the Prince's monogram, a plain cut letter "E" made in gold and surmounted by the three feathers of the Prince's crest made in platinum.

Daylight saving time will come to an end in the United States at 2 a.m. on the last Sunday of October, the clocks being turned back one hour at that time. As summer time was adopted by the Canadian railways and many Canadian cities and towns to conform with the United States time, it is presumed that the majority of the Canadian municipalities will also go back to sun time on the last Sunday in October.

His Death Expected

New Brunswick Man Saved

Mr. Isidore Thomas, of Tilley's Road, Gloucester County, N.B., while expecting death, availed himself of help that was offered at random. Here is part of a letter he wrote to us:—

"I beg you to publish my letter, so that people may know what Gin Pills did for me. My case was very serious. I was so sick everybody expected my death any day. Finally, on advice from friends, I tried Gin Pills, and in a short time was well again, and soon had gained 20 pounds."

Kidney and bladder troubles, very often, work in secret ways. A bad condition may exist, with only a backache to indicate it. That is why the slightest pains in back or sides should be investigated. These pains, along with sciatic neuralgia, rheumatism, dizziness, constipation, lassitude, lumbago, highly-colored urine, headache, floating specks before the eyes, gravel, indicate kidney trouble. A course of Gin Pills, taken at once, will give relief, and prevent the progress of the disease, enabling the organs to right themselves and restore good health. Gin Pills are the sure, safe, quick remedy. Get a box from your druggist or dealer—50c. Money refunded if no relief found. Send for free sample.

GRIP, INFLUENZA

Hamlin's Wizard Oil a Reliable, Antiseptic Preventive

During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and snuff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall or defense against "Flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza.

At a recent meeting of the B.C. Salmon Canners' Association, prices were fixed for the Fraser River salmon of this season. The new prices came into effect on September 22. Sockeyes will be paid for at the rate of 85c per fish; red springs and cohoes 9½c a pound, and pink salmon 25c a fish. The salmon run on the Fraser has been very light so far and it is estimated that only 20,000 cases of sockeye have been packed by the canneries of the Fraser. In addition about 15,000 cases of pinks have been handled by the salmon packers.

That the 107 aeroplanes offered by the Imperial Government to Canada as an appreciation of the service of Canadians in the Air Force had not been refused, as reported some time ago, was the statement of Colonel A. M. Biggar, head of the Canadian Air Board, in an interview with officers of the Air Service Association and the Aerial League at Vancouver last week. Colonel Biggar declared that these planes were being packed for transportation to Canada. These planes will be disposed of by the Air Board.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

WILD PIGEONS

The Band-tailed pigeon (Columbia fasciata), which ranges from California to Southern British Columbia, is given special protection under the Migratory Birds Treaty recently ratified between Canada and the United States.

A permanent close season under the Treaty was provided for this bird because, in the first place, it was decreasing in numbers over much of its range. Consequently it was decided, in order to prevent any danger of repeating the irretrievable mistakes of the past by which valuable birds have been exterminated, that this bird required special protection for a period of years.

Therefore, by the Treaty, ratified in 1916, a permanent closed season for Band-tailed pigeons was created throughout the United States and Canada. This means that for the next ten years Canada has agreed to protect these birds throughout the year. A federal law, which is administered by the Dominion Parks Branch of the Department of the Interior, has been passed to put the Treaty in force, and the Game Laws of the Province of British Columbia have been amended in conformance with the treaty.

Already, reports seem to indicate that the strict enforcement of this law in both countries has resulted in a slight increase in these birds, and it is hoped that in ten years' time the species will be out of danger.

One of the conditions under which birds protected by the Act may be shot is when they are causing serious damage to crops. If crops are being damaged, an arrangement has been made for the Secretary of the Game Conservation Board, at Victoria, to receive applications. These applications are to be made on the forms provided by the Secretary and must be sworn before a Justice of the Peace. Under no circumstances may these birds be shot for the purpose of sport or food. Permits to take them will be granted, where the evidence submitted indicates that serious damage to crops is occurring.

Man can easily exterminate a species of bird. The Passenger Pigeon, (Ectopistes migratorius), which ranged from the Mackenzie River and North-West Territories of Canada to the Gulf of Mexico having a continent for its dwelling place and existing in untold millions, is gone. The great Ornithologist, Wilson, in 1808, estiamted that a single flock he observed in Kentucky contained 2,230,272,000 individuals. Man exterminated the Passenger Pigeon by netting and shooting them. It does not seem credible, but it is without doubt and without hope a fact, that the last wild Passenger Pigeon was shot about 1900 and the last one died in captivity in Cincinnati, Ohio, in September, 1914.

Other influences may have assisted man in removing these hordes of birds which darkened the sky, but man was the important factor in their destruction.

Flocks of Passenger Pigeons of this would have proved a serious menace to agriculture, but one cannot help but regret upon thinking that it might still be with us and provide sport and food for thousands today, as it did in the past, if it had had even slight protection. Even if its numbers had to be kept in check, how much better off the sportsman of today would be if this wonderful bird were still here.

Although it existed over such a huge territory, and in flocks whose number stagger the mind, it was apparently a slow breeder. Each pair of birds raised but the one young bird at a time.

The Band-tailed Pigeon, like its extinct relative, is an extremely slow breeder. Only one young bird is raised at a time by each pair of adults. Its range is much more restricted than that of the Passenger Pigeon; it has never been as abundant as the Passenger Pigeon, and in the Southern portion of its range it has become very scarce of late years.

Whereas the Passenger Pigeon has gone, never to return, the Band-tailed Pigeon still exists, and if given careful protection, it is hoped that it will continue to thrive. The warning in this instance has been noticed in time.

The Treaty may impose some hardships. The sportsman may have to forego some pleasures that have been his, but is it not well worth while, to preserve something of our wealth in game-birds for the future. Without the International treaty, which protects our Canadian birds when they are in the United States during the winter, any measure of protection undertaken by Canada alone would be of little use. The bird would cease to exist in Canada if exterminated in the United States part of its range by excessive shooting.

Heavy penalties are provided for offenders against the federal law, by which the Band-tailed Pigeon is protected, and any person may bring action under it. If the person bringing the action is not a salaried game officer appointed under the federal act, he is entitled to one-half the penalty imposed.

HOW YOU CAN TELL GENUINE ASPIRIN

Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Aspirin—No others!

BAYER

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all.

There is only one Aspirin, that marked with the "Bayer Cross"—all other tablets are only acid imitations.

Look for the "Bayer Cross"! Then it is real Aspirin, for which there is no substitute.

Aspirin is not German but is made in Canada by Canadians, and is owned by a Canadian Company, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government.

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" have been proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages, can be had at any drug store.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

WHY THE COAL SITUATION IS SERIOUS

The Canadian Railway War Board has issued the following bulletin re the coal situation:

The popular idea that a "coal scare" was being worked up in the United States and in this country, in order to justify profiteering by the coal mines, made it necessary for this Board to hesitate before taking steps to urge Canadian shippers to lay in their coal stocks earlier than usual. Careful inquiry, however, along lines already taken by the American Congress, confirmed the view that the prospective shortage was real, and that Canadian consumers of coal should govern themselves accordingly.

Canada's main sources of coal supply are, roughly, four in number. The Pacific Coast is supplied from Nanaimo, Washington, and, to some extent, Alberta; the Prairie Provinces receive their logical supply from the Alberta and British Columbia mines; sections of Eastern Canada are taken care of by the Nova Scotia fields; but the chief supply, and almost the entire amount of anthracite coal, comes from the various mining regions of the United States. As it is in Eastern Canada that the destiny of population and industrial development is highest, a coal shortage in the United States has very serious aspects for a great proportion of Canadians, and for a heavy percentage of their industries.

The coal supply situation on the Pacific Coast and in the Maritime Provinces may be dismissed as being reasonably satisfactory. On the prairies a serious shortage exists. The fuel year in the Alberta coal-fields commences on April first. Last year, which was by no means a record year for coal-producing efficiency in the West, there had been shipped between April first and the second week in September 1,313,421 tons of "commercial" coal—as distinguished from coal for railway service. In the same period of the present year only 529,522 tons of "commercial" coal had been shipped. The volume of railway coal shipped was equally low by comparison.

This shortage on the Prairies was, and is, extremely serious. In prewar years a certain amount of anthracite found its way to the Canadian West, via Ontario, from the American fields. This movement was cut off by war conditions last year, and this year will be very far short of the amount necessary to make up the shortage in Western coal production. The moral for the Wester coal consumer is, therefore, to lay in whatever supplies he can obtain just as quickly as he can.

Eastern Canada, almost wholly dependent upon American coal, and particularly anthracite, is intimately involved with the present coal mining situation in the American fields. Strikes cut down the actual working time in important mines. Recently came the exodus of the foreigners, chiefly employed in these mines, overseas. Visits to their lands, impossible during war time, became so popular as to leave many mines without enough men to do more than guard the property. That situation has slightly improved, but all the mines are running on low production. At the time of writing, it appears possible that strikes of miners, and laborers on coal-docks, may be called in sympathy with the striking steel workers. This would make the Canadian coal supply situation still more uncertain.

One factor is to some extent in the hands of Canadians. Coal-cars are scarce. There are at this date (Oct. 1st) 12,890 American coal-cars in Canada. Reports to this office show cars held in Canada very much longer than the necessary time for unloading. This sort of thing is grossly unfair to other coal consumers in Canada. Every Canadian importer should endeavor to release coal-cars with the minimum of delay.

PRESS COMMENT

The Challenge to the Churches

Thoughtful men and women everywhere are putting, in the main, two questions. They are these: What, actually, has the Church learnt from the terrific ordeal of the war? And, what is it able to do in the way of response to the extraordinary spirit of yearning and inquiry, of service and of heroism, everywhere revealed in the young who have been tried in the fire?—London Daily News.

Our Cousins and Empire Ties

Although doubtless there are very many good Australians who view with disfavor any closer organic union with the Motherland than alredy exists, the great bulk of informed opinion views some sort of representation in Imperial councils as essential to the preservation of Empire unity and Empire safety. We cannot be in and of the Empire and out of it at the same time. Sooner or later the choice of which it is to be will have to be made. A neutral position without complete independence is out of the question. And if we are to be in and of the Empire and maintain our national dignity and self-respect we must participate in its councils. The world is not yet so absolutely safe for democracy that we can afford, especially cherishing the political ideas that we do in respect of racial purity, to run alone. Expediency, therefore, if nothing else, would seem to indicate the wisdom of our assuming a larger share of responsibility in shaping the policy of the Empire than we have done in the past. For cognate reasons it is necessary to continue what we had hoped and believed had become the settled policy of the Commonwealth in the matter of compulsory military training for home defense.—Western Mail (Australia).

Jugo-Slav Not a Race

With all the advice that has been given upon the future policy of the Jugo-Slavs, little has been said to identify them among the peoples of Europe. The name "Jugo-Slav" still suggests too often a troublesome myth or a particular tribe. And in a strictness there there is no such thing as a Jugo-Slav. There are Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, and a member of any of these races, all of whom speak the same language, with variations, and are now of the same nationality, would be just as pleased to be called a Jugo-Slav as a Scotsman or an Irishman would be if a man of the Continent described him conveniently as English. The parallel between the peoples of Greater Serbia—among whom the Serbs are the major group—and those of Great Britain may be carried farther. There is a religious question among Jugo-Slavs, which has on occasion been stressed by the intriguing imperialistic politicians on the borders who have been anxious to prevent national unity, the Serbs being of the Greek or Orthodox Church and the Croats and Slovenes of the Roman Church. There are no more than 12,000,000 of them altogether, but the territory of the new nation is larger than that of Great Britain.—Manchester Guardian.

Behind the Symbols

Symbols, it is true, have their value. It would be the profoundest mistake to write off as mere transient sentiment the outbursts of enthusiasm that have greeted the Prince of Wales throughout Canada. The very fact that the union of the Empire expresses itself through one symbol impels all who care for the unity to rate the symbol proportionately high. And it is due here to recognize the good feeling, freedom and candor with which the Prince of Wales is discharging his embassy. He has appreciated the limitations as well as the responsibilities and privileges of his office, and in a field where deviation to the right or left would be easy he has kept with sure and unfaltering instinct to the middle course. But at its best the symbol of royalty is, after all, only incidental to the relationships of the Empire. If monarchy should disappear in this country the last link between the constituent nations of the Empire would not have gone. There is a spirit that underlies symbols, and that spirit would remain.—London Daily News.

KIMBERLEY STRIKE

The strike of metalliferous miners employed in the Sullivan and North Star mines is still continuing. The men demanded an increase of $1 per diem in their wages, and the management of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., the company chiefly concerned, has refused to negotiate the issue until the men repudiate the One Big Union. The committee representing the strikes has said that the men are out as a body of employees having no affiliations with any established miners' organizations. This, however, they were unable to put in writing, and judging by the attitude of Mr. S. G. Blaylock, the company's manager, the latter is preparing for a long drawn out fight.

That the O.B.U. is behind the walkout appears to be confirmed by a report published in The Federationist, the labor paper published in Vancouver, of a convention of District No. 1, metalliferous miners of the O.B.U., held at Nelson on September 21 and 22. It states that the chairman, T. B. Roberts, claimed that despite the fight for jurisdiction put up by the International Union of Mill, Mine and Smelter Workers, the O.B.U. had made splendid progress, all the local unions, with the exception of that of the City of Sandon, being in the fold.—Colonist.

To End All Strikes

Obviously a way must be found to end striking. As long as strikes are relied upon, as they must be in the absence of other and better means of achieving the end in view, the vast majority will be taxed mercilessly by the disturbance of production and distribution which a small minority will bring about. Industrial warfare is less bloody, but in proportion to its scope, is costlier than war between nations. If arbitration is the future means of avoiding international wars, without sacrifice of national rights, why not courts of arbitration for avoidance of industrial warfare?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Chinese Newspapers

The average daily circulation of the 400 newspapers in continuous publication in China, I hear, is only about 3,000 copies apiece, but in actual practice is very much larger. This is due to the Chinese habit of never destroying a newspaper but of selling it again and again after it has been read. One copy, indeed, does service to many readers, and only ceases to be read when it falls to pieces.

OPENING DAY OF VICTORY LOAN

Wake up! Wake up! Monday is the day that the Victory Loan opens.

Monday is the day that Canada shows the rest of the world that she is still on the job.

Monday is the day when we clean up the last spot left by thewar.

Monday is the day when we have another chance to invest in bonds paying 5½ per cent and backed by a wonderful guarantee.

Monday is the day that Canada gathers into her treasury the necessary cash to fulfil her obligations to her soldiers and to the dependents of her glorious dead.

Monday is the day when Canada assures herself that prosperity will continue in the country.

They are all watching us.

For the second time this season, the fifth hole on the local golf course was made in one stroke. The first time, A. Watson, of the Home Bank, was the lucky man; this time the trick was turned by Andy Black. A one-stroke hole is only made once in a life time, and usually a golfer has to live a hundred years before he pulls it off.

The members of Esther Rebekah Lodge, No. 20, are requested to attend a special meeting on Thursday, Oct. 23rd. The official visit of Sister Mrs. Lottie Tait, of Vancouver, B.C., President of Rebekah Assembly of the I.O. O.F., of B. C. will take place. An invitation is extended to all brother Odd Fellows and their wives to be present at 9.30 p.m.

The F. A. A. C. are giving a dance in Victoria Hall on Friday, October 31st. A splendid program of dances has been arranged and the boys promise everyone a good time. The boys have worked hard to make this dance one of the best that has been held this year, although everyone knows that a dance given by the F. A. A. C. is bound to be a success.

A meeting of the local Victory Loan committee will be held on Monday evening at 7.30 sharp. The committee have secured the building formerly occupied by McLean's Drug store for committee rooms and the meeting will be held there on Monday. This meeting is to get all the committees started on their work. All who are interested in the coming Victory Loan are requested to attend the meeting.

THE SELF-MADE MAN

The captains and the kings depart. We are rapidly seeing the last of one generation of great financiers and leaders of industry who started in poverty and ended in command of great wealth. One by one they have passed from the scene. Are their successors going to be like them? There are more millionaires than ever before, and many have climbed up from comparatively humble surroundings. But the self-made man, in one sense of the word, is becoming extinct. Educational opportunities are more open than before, so that the poor boy who avails himself of them on the road to fortune is not precisely self-made. The brilliant man of tomorrow will be produced by different machinery than of old; the leader in business is likely to rise by virtue of his organization and as a representative his type, rather than to break away as an isolated adventurer playing a lone hand. As citizens we rejoice in the coming of the new kind of leader. As readers we may regret the passing of the old.

Men of the old type differed greatly in character and influence, but to them belonged a vivid picturesqueness, a raciness that makes us loath to leave them. The lives of their successors will be often more respectable and more useful, but not nearly so readable. Like all adventurers, whether pilgrims or pirates, they made admirable copy.—Colliers'.

CHANCE FOR INDUSTRY

Labor blames Capital, Capital blames Labor, Lord Fisher blames the Admiralty, Lord Rothermere blames Mr. Bonar Law, we all blame one another, and when we are tired of that we blame the Government. And in the meantime we are drifting, where to? Some think to revolution, some to bankruptcy. But why should we drift to either? We have won the greatest world war; we have in doing so sacrificed a million of our best manhood and poured out money till we are all heavily in debt. If that was worth while, then surely it is worth while now to continue our efforts to make sure that we do not lose what we fought for. A solution of our present difficulties was given in the excellent and outspoken article in The Times (reproduced in The Colonist) of September 6, by Dr. Eaton, a great American—"Work." "There is no substitute for sweat." We are handicapped by an enormous war debt; we must pay it off, and we can only do so by work resulting in increased production.

The Germans have in some trades decided to work 11 hours a day to endeavor to help their country with their war debt. Italian railwaymen have offered to work an extra hour daily, without pay, in order to help their fellow-countrymen by relieving the congestion in the ports. Some people may smile at any allusion to the "majesty of labor," but surely this offer of the Italian railwaymen is a real example of the "majesty of labor." Why should not our labor do likewise? Suppose the miners said: "We won't allow our fellow-countrymen to go short of coal this winter, or our boats to leave this country in ballast to fetch food at double the cost of freight; we are satisfied that we are entitled to our present rate of wages and our new working hours, but if we can help, we are quite willing to work an extra hour a day for no pay whatever, merely to help our country with our product over this difficult time, and we will undertake to go on doing so for six months and then reconsider the matter." The soldiers returned to the mines would join such a movement at once. The railwaymen would say: "We can't see coal thus produced hung up because the railways can't move it from the mines to the towns or ports, we will also work an extra hour a day, not for pay, but to help our country." The dockers would follow for the same reasons, then the shipbuilders, to help replace more quickly our lost merchant fleets.

And while this great national effort was being made by Labor, what would politicians be doing, What would be the result of this effort of Labor? Would it not be to put extra profits into the pockets of the capitalists? We might adopt your suggestion if the mines were nationalized and owned by the State, but why should we make such efforts for the benefit of the mineowners?

I can hear these questions being asked, but surely these questions, though natural, are just exactly the questions which would entirely do away with the spirit which I have suggested is absolutely essential if we are to reconstruct our State on a sound foundation. It is not so much the hours of free work as the realization by the manual workers of the position of the country, and, as a result of that realization, the patriotic offer by them to help their country, that I am out for. I am satisfied that if such a voluntary offer came from the manual workers, the rest of the country would respond, and all classes would compete with one another in offering to help the financial position of our country.

If, however, this spirit (for it is the spirit which alone can save us) is too much to expect, then if Labor made the offer temporarily, they could stipulate that the Government should undertake that the result of the extra hours of free work should not be allowed to go into the pockets of the capitalists, and that some reorganization, at any rate, should immediately take place to ensure their future.

I know that some of the miners believe that nationalization is the only cure for the trouble in their industry at present, but that great question cannot be settled immediately, while our national trouble is immediate and pressing. If such an example as I have suggested was set by Labor at this moment it would be the bounden duty of politicians to work with increasing energy to find the solution of the future. Oh! what a different feeling there would be throughout our country. Every one would "buck up"; the workers would feel the true pride of the "majesty of labor." Could not Labor show this great example and the spirit of the "majesty of labor" without making bargains or any stipulations, merely saying that they were out to help their country and that they would watch with keen interest whether their efforts were exploited by capitalists or whether the rest of the nation followed their example and endeavored also to help to reduce the cost of living and to pay off the debts of the State?

I would venture to offer another suggestion in the hope that it may receive consideration. How can we secure permanently a system of working in our industries which shall embody what is best in the interests of employers and workers and prevent the constant recurrence of trade disputes with all the loss, direct and indirect, which they involve?

The following should be our main principles in approaching the subject:

(1) We have fought for freedom and every individual must be left free to dispose of his capital or his labor as he may wish, subject only to the welfare of the State.

(2) Agreements arrived at between employers and individuals or employers and trade unions must be enforceable at law.

(3) The State should not have to interfere if the laws of the State dealt with the relationship of employers and workers fully and clearly.

It appears to me that the scheme of Whitley Councils or their parallel should enable agreements about wages, working hours and conditions of work generally to be arrived at in every trade. These agreements must and will be reached in the interest of all concerned. Then agreements must be enforced.

We as a State have found it necessary during the war and even now to set up special tribunals for all sorts of purposes. Our present system of local Law Courts is a sytem which has come down to us from an age when the chief reason for the existence of such Courts was to protect agricultural interest and "property" and the "individual citizen" against the marauder. These Courts have served us well in the past, and are serving us well today. But in this industrial age we want another set of local Courts specially set up to deal with industrial matters. The magistrate should be unpaid, like our present Justices of the Peace, but should be selected in each area for their special knowledge of the business or trade of that area. A bench of magistrates should consist of equal numbers of employers and representatives for the workers, and they would elect the chairman to try each case brought before the Court, or to consider and settle any matter referred to the Court. An appeal from these special local Courts would be allowed to the ordinary night Courts at present existing. When a Whitley Council had arrived at an agreement it would be submitted to the local Court, who would consider it. If satisfied that it was a real agreement between the employers and workers concerned, the Court would ratify the agreement, and a stamp would be attached.

Then if either side broke the agreement they could be prosecuted before the Court, who would have power to enforce the agreement by fines or in other ways. It must be clearly laid down that if an employer broke the agreement his punishment could be in proportion to his capital, as otherwise a rich firm might ignore the Court, as some do now; for instance in the case of prosecutions for smoke nuisance, where more or less paltry fines are inflicted. In the same way, if a powerful trade union broke the agreement, their funds would be dealt with in proportion to their total value. And after an appeal the higher Court would be able to inflict very heavy penalties.

I fully realize that to enable a trade union's funds to be dealt with by these Courts as suggested above, the Trade Disputs Act would have to be repealed or modified, and a trade union would have to publish its accounts after audit. Surely it does not pass the wit of man to reserve the position of the trade unions under the Trade Disputes Act and to leave the right to strike (or lock-out) as it is, while at the same time insisting by law that when an agreement is arrived at as a result of a strike, or far preferably as the result of the deliberations of a Whitley Council, such agreement cannot be broken without severe penalties being impósed on the breakers. We cannot go on any longer "tinkering" with these great questions. Now is the time to tackle the problem. As a result of recent history the workers are enjoying a larger share of the profits of industry than ever before; in fact in some cases it is doubtful whether they are not getting so large a share that there will be nothing left for capital. This cannot continue, as the simple economic laws will compel such industries to close down.

With a scheme of Local Courts, or tribunals, the stupid policy of cutting piece rates could be dealt with. Before the war in many cases employers prevented a worker from earning more on piece-work than his time rates, plus one-third. It could be arranged that a rate once fixed could only be altered by application to the Courts.

I believe I am one of the very few members of the Unionist wing of the Coalition who started work in a factory at 6 every morning, at the age of just under 16. I have worked a 54-hour week plus overtime in factory and mine, and I claim I knew my fellow-workers intimately then, and believe I understand them now. If some great leader amongst them would lead them in the way I have suggested, I am convinced they would follow just as gladly as they volunteered for service in the country's dire necessity in 1914.—By Major C. George C. Hamilton in the London Times.

The estimated total production of wheat in the three Prairie Provinces is 162,326,400 bushels, as compared with 164,436,100 bushels in 1918. In Manitoba the total yield of wheat for 1919 is 36,999,100 bushels, as compared with 48,191,100 bushels in 1918; in Saskatchewan 88,221,100 as against 92,493,000; and in Alberta, 37,106,300 as against 23,752,00. Oat yield is 234,047,000 bushels, as compared with 222,649,500 in 1918; barley, 45,988,000 as against 47,607,400; rye, 5,722,00 as against 6,181,700; and flax seed 7,099,000, as against 5,776,000.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

TRIP TO SPRINGS WAS A FAILURE

Crossed Continent Seeking Health But Came Home Discouraged

"I really crossed the continent—went from Calgary to Hot Springs, Arkansas, and back—trying to get relief from my trouble but nothing helped me until I took Tanlac," said Mrs. Jessie E. Morgan, wife of a wealthy farmer living fifteen miles north of Calgary, Alberta.

"Rheumatism has kept me crippled up for the past three years," she continued. "Not a day or night passed that I haven't had terrible pains running all through my lower limbs, and at times my feet would swell until I could hardly get a shoe on. I took all sorts of medicines that were recommended for rheumatism, but they tore my stomach up so that I got to the place where I could hardly eat anything without suffering misery for hours afterwards. When my appetite left me and I began to suffer so badly from indigestion, I began to lose weight and got weaker every day. At night I would be so nervous and restless that I couldn't sleep and I couldn't find any relief. I went to Hot Springs, Arkansas, and took the baths there, but came home in as bad shape as ever. Then I heard Tanlac recommended so highly, and as I had taken nearly everything else I thought I might as well try it too.

"I really took Tanlac hoping that it would straighten out my stomach, but didn't think that it would help the rheumatism too, but it was one of the happiest surprises I ever had when I found that after my stomach began to get better, the rheumatism was relieved. I kept on taking Tanlac and after a five weeks' treatment, I am not bothered any more by either the indigestion nor the rheumatism. My appetite is wonderful and I can just eat anything I want and digest it. I can tell by the way my clothes fit me that I have gained several pounds in weight and I just feel myself getting stronger every day. My nerves are as steady as a rock; I sleep eight or nine hours every night and I only regret that I didn't know of Tanlac sooner, as it would have saved me a whole world of suffering and misery."

McClary's Kootenay

TOP, bottom and all four sides of the Kootenay oven are evenly heated. That is why it is so famous as a dependable baker. There is a thermometer, too, to tell whether the heat is right or not.

No range is quite so easily managed. Duplex grates clear the ashes at a single turn. Burnished cooking-top never needs blacklead. Nickeled steel oven walls are kept clean with a damp cloth. Well-fitted joints and dampers hold the fire—and the oven heat—for hours.

Let us show you the Kootenay.

The Navy League of Canada
Its Vital Work for Canada

THE Navy League of Canada fosters the splendid spirit that made the British the greatest of maritime nations. It organizes loyal Canadians so that practical work may be accomplished for the development of Canada's direct interests at sea.

The human side of Canada's Mercantile Marine is the League's especial interest—training Canadian boys to become the sturdy type of British manhood that won its laurels again and again in the great war—relieving distress among victims of the submarine warfare—and giving the sailor ashore an alternative place for rest and recreation to the places of doubtful entertainment that abound in port.

Why the $500,000 is needed

On Nelson Day, October 21st, starts a 3-day campaign throughout the Dominion to raise $500,000 necessary to finance the coming year's work of the Navy League of Canada. Help the work by giving liberally. As a nation whose expanding trade will depend on exports, we must educate our boys to the highest type of seamanship so that they will be equipped to man our ships to carry our exports to foreign markets.

You will do your part in this work by contributing liberally to the support of the Boy's Navy Brigades, the organizations by which the Navy League trains boys for our merchant marine.

Every dollar subscribed will be used to further the work of the Navy League in Canada—the work in which you are personally interested as a patriotic citizen. Help by giving.

FEW BOND BUYERS AFFECTED BY TAX

There is a general impression abroad that the total amount of money invested by any one subscriber in the Victory Loan 1919 will be subject to taxation. This impression is erroneous. It will be the interest from the investment that will be taxed, not the principal invested.

As a matter of fact, very few investors in the new loan will be brought within the scope of the Income War Act by reason of investments in Victory Bonds. With small estates and investors the law does not become effective under $2,000 in the case of married persons or persons with dependents, and $1,000 in the case of married persons without dependents. Municipalities and fraternal societies will not be subject to taxation in their investments in the loan at all. The interest from the bonds will not be more taxable than ordinary income, subject to the general law of the land.

Pay for Victory Bonds.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try It! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

MONEY NEEDED FOR SAILORS

A large portion of the proceeds from the Nelson Day Campaign to raise a half million dollars will be devoted by the Navy League of Canada to the purpose of the Naval Brigades. These brigades have been established in the principal cities of the Dominion for the training of Canadian boys for service on the sea.

Canada's future is bound up in its export trade and depends much upon the Merchant Marine. It is vitally necessary that the Dominion should provide qualified sailors. The Navy League of Canada is giving the younger generation of Canadians the opportunity for free training in seamanship, and business men are agreed that the value of this work cannot be over-estimated.

The success of the Boy's Naval Brigades hangs on the generosity of public support. It is important to every Canadian that this movement should not be handicapped by lack of funds. Public spirited citizens are called upon for a generous response to the Navy League appeal through the Nelson Day Campaign. The big drive will cover three days, commencing October 21st.

In addition to the demands of the Naval Brigades, the Navy League has to finance its Sailors' homes and Institutes in Canadian ports. All the money raised through the Nelson Day Campaign will be spent in Canada.

OWING OURSELVES

It is estimated by Sir George Paish, the eminent economist, that interest-bearing foreign securities held by Great Britain make a total of £5.000-000,000. The British securities held abroad do not exceed £1,500,000,000. There is a favorable balance, after allowing for all doubtful and Russian debts, of about £3,000,000,000. At an average rate of only 4 per cent. this means an annual income to Great Britain from this source alone of £120,000,000. No one can calculate the full effect of such a circulating asset to the people and government of Great Britain.

Up to this year the Government of Canada had sold Victory Bonds amounting to more than $1,200,000,-000, to the Canadian people. The Loan now being floated will add materially to the total. If $1,700,000,000 be considered as the final outstanding war securities, at 5½ per cent., the total payment to Canadian Bondholders will reach $93,000,000 a year.

Consider the business advantage which must come from such a circulating and recurring asset. The business created by such a free movement of money will make up many times for the excess taxation required to meet the interest payment. To that extent, at least, a "thundering big" public debt has advantages, when it is owing to the citizens of the country. If our War Loan securities were held abroad, the interest would be a severe drain on the country. That is the economic reason for popular Government loans.

MARION DAVIES IN "THE BURDEN OF PROOF"

One of the most thrilling stories of love and intrigue ever shown in this city is Marion Davies' latest Select Picture. "The Burden of Proof," in which she is directed by Julius Steger which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday. In this picture Miss Davies plays the part of Elaine Brooks, a young society matron who becomes the wife of Robert Ames, nephew of a member of the United States cabinet.

Elaine's mother, Mrs. Brooks, is a leader of Newport society, but as their financial standing is threatened she accepts the offer of a Mrs. Durand to supply social news for a Washington society journal owned by Charles Kemp. Later it develops that Kemp and Mrs. Durand are both German secret agents who are conspiring to obtain valuable papers in the possession of Ames. Immediately after Elaine's wedding, Mrs. Durand goes to Elaine and has her write a letter to Kemp apologizing for not having invited him to the wedding. This Elaine is glad to do, and at the same time Mrs. Durand takes advantage of her innocence by dictating a phrase which makes Elaine appear guilty when the papers have been stolen from Ames' desk.

George Blair, a member of the Department of Justice, has been called in. He suspects that Mrs. Durand has used Elaine's letter to Kemp as a medium for sending the papers, so he orders Kemp to return the envelope unopened. This Kemp does and the papers are restored, but Ames is led to believe his wife is guilty of aiding the enemy. Scorning to assert her innocence Elaine refuses to answer Ames' questions, and when the differerence between them threatens to become greater, Blair traces the source of the letter to Mrs. Durand and forces her to make a confession. Once matters have been adjusted the young couple leave on the honeymoon which was halted by Mrs. Durand's nefarious plotting.

A pay envelope crammed with $75,-000,000 is not a hard thing to take, even if it is for a year's work. This is the amount of wages earned by Canadian investors in the Victory and other War Loans, rather, it is the amount earned by their money.

Close to half of this amount is to be distributed to the fortunate investors either on November 1st or December 1st, just in time to be re-invested in bonds of Victory Loan 1919.

People get ahead financially, not by spending interest returns on everyday things but by setting the returns back to earn more interest. Money, placed that way, rolls up like a snowball.

Everyone Who Bought Canada's Victory Bonds Made Money . . . . . .

EVERY one of the million and a half subscribers to Canada's Victory Bonds knows that he can sell them today for more than he paid for them.

Every one who bought Canada's Victory Bonds has received 5½ per cent. interest per annum—paid twice a year.

Over half a million Canadians who bought Canada's Victory Bonds on the instalment plan saved money that they would not otherwise have saved.

The guarantee back of Canada's Victory Bonds is the same as the guarantee back of a One Dollar or a Two Dollar bill. There is this difference, however, that you get interest on the Victory Bonds and you don't on the One or Two Dollar bill.

Canada's Victory Bonds will always be accepted as security for a loan.

Banks are ready to loan money on Canada's Victory Bonds.

Canada's Victory Bonds may be turned into cash at any time.

There is no other way in which you can invest your money with such absolute security—paying such a good rate of interest.

Canada will soon give her citizens an opportunity to buy Victory Bonds 1919. It will probably be the last chance to buy Canada's Victory Bonds on such favorable terms.

Prepare to buy as many Victory Bonds this time as you now wish you had been able to buy the last time

Look to the Future

Begin with the Boys

THE glorious victories of Drake and Nelson were destined to be the foundation of our Empire and the guarantee of the freedom of the seas, which makes possible the vast international trade of Britain and her Dominions.

And yet when Drake and Nelson chose the sea as their life-work, who was there to know what would be the overwhelming consequences of their decision?

Aims of the NAVY LEAGUE OF CANADA

To emphasize Canada's opportunities and responsibilities on the sea.

To raise funds for the relief of our merchant seamen, injured in the war, and for dependents of those who were killed.

To maintain sailors' homes in our ports.

To train boys and young men for our merchant ships by the organization of Boys' Naval Brigades.

Patron: H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES

Dominion President: COMMODORE AEMILIUS JARVIS

Today, if you have any question in your mind as to whether you should support the work of the Boys' Naval Brigades, study the matter with an eye to the future. Get clearly in mind the tremendous importance of Canadian products reaching foreign markets, which can only be assured by the building of a great Canadian Mercantile Fleet, manned with Canadian Seamen!

We may build ships by the thousand, but if we cannot man them ourselves our position is still economically unsound. If we do not train Canadian lads to man our merchant fleet, we shall be left behind in the race for export markets—we shall have missed the greatest opportunity for trade expansion in all history!

What will YOU do to help some Canadian boy who is anxious to learn seamanship, and so be of the greatest service to his country?

Let your contribution to the fund be a worthy answer. Help them by giving!

"Thank God I have done my duty!"

BRANCHES AT FERNIE, MICHEL, NATAL AND COAL CREEK

AUGUST and SEPTEMBER DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

CONVENTION NEXT WEEK

The days of October 20-21-22 should be "red letter" days for the senior boys and girls of Fernie as well as East Kootenay. Delegates are being called from all the protestant churches of the district to study and discuss this most important phase of life.

To lead and discuss the work the Religious Education Council of B.C are sending such men as Rev. A. H. Sovereign, M.A. Anglican Church; Rev. E. R. McLean, M.A., B.D., Presbyterian Church; Rev. W. E. Galloway, B.A., B.D., Methodist Church; Mr. T. N. Hutchinson B.W., Y.M.C.A.; and Miss Isobel Harvey, M.A., Y.W.C.A. Such leaders as these having made a special study of this work, and set apart by their organizations for it. should afford an opportunity none should miss.

This convention should especially appeal to the workers and young people but it should not be limited to such. This old world is literally full of people who feel that they were put completely out of joint with some phases of life, and it happened in those years when age was spelled with a "teen." To such, a better attempt with the boys and girls of today should appeal. Then to parents, not only those of older children, but as every child goes over the bridge of "teens" before they take a victory hold on life., the time that is all important should be evry parent's interest.

This convention will be conducted on the most practical lines; the boys and girls themselves being the leaders as a demonstration of what can be done.

Mr. Hutchinson will arrive on Monday night to open the convention. On Tuesday a varied program with a banquet included, when the balance of the workers will have arrived. Wednesday, Miss Isobel Harvey will deal with the girls' work in Fernie.

Programs can be had at any of the churches and whether delegates or not, you are invited at any of the meetings. Sessions will be held in the United Church.

RIPPLING RHYMES

(By Walt Mason)

Be patient yet a while, and winter will return; the blasts will come in arctic style, the blasts for which you yearn. A little more of ardent heat, that heat which is a crime, and we may all exult in sleet, and have the hangdest time. What though all night we toss and roll, and slumber does not come? 'Twill soon be time to shovel coal, and make the furnace hum; then life will be one round of bliss without a carking care; remember it, on days like this, and cease to sigh and swear. Be patient, for it's always wise to bravely stand the gaff; so boil the germs and swat the flies, and at hot weather laugh. The geese will soon be flying past, to dodge the polar storms, and, following, the eager blast will cool our fevered forms. And all our cares will disappear when winter brings its snows, and we have frostbite in the ear, and chillblains in the toes. How merily we'll pay for coal that costs twelve bucks a ton, the precious knowledge in our soul, that summer days are done!

FINAL APPEAL TO BRITISH COLUMBIANS

On Monday next, Oct. 27, the sixth War Loan will be launched. General Currie states that the Canadian Army never failed to capture its objective. British Columbia's objective is $25,000,000. Are we civilians to fall down where the soldiers at the front would have succeeded. British Columbia's answer must be "NO" This is a war loan—1919 is a War Year. For four and a half years our Canadian boys stood the test at the front and their job is done. Let us demonstrate to them now that we can do our part as they did theirs.

CITY COUNCIL HOLD MEETING

The council met last night with all present.

The minutes of the last meeting were adopted in due form.

His Worship announced that the meeting was open for any delegations present, and James Clarke responded in the interest of the Fernie Poultry Association, as this city has again been chosen for the Annual Poultry Show this year. The show will be held Dec. 3 and 4. Mr. Clarke urged that in view of the increasing importance and size of this event that the grant from the council should be increased. The speaker pointed out that the show always attracted a number of visitors but this year it is the intention to go farther afield, and a larger number of competitors and visitors are expected. After Ald. Gates inquired if an increase in the city grant would reduce the price of eggs and received the reply that provided he could assure the Association that the present price of feed would be reduced undoubtedly "hen fruit" would be less expensive, His Worship advised that the matter would receive attention later.

Dr. Garner, accompanied by Mr. Baldrey, as representing the Health and Recreation Commitee of the Board of Trade, appeared for material aid and co-operation relative to constructing a toboggan slide on West Fernie hill. The Dr. urged greater attention should be paid to the children's welfare and this was an initial step. The question met with unanimous support from the council and the motion adopted, as moved by Gates and Beck, was that a committee from the council work in conjunction with the Board of Trade committee with a view to erecting two or three toboggan slides within respective localities in the city and that they be permitted to expend $100 for this purpose. The committee appointed by the Mayor is Aldermen Beck, Gates and Robichaud. Dr. Garner expressed appreciation of the ready response and then it was arranged that a start would be made at once on the proposition, so tomorrow an inspection of all possible sites will be made.

Under correspondence the first was letters relative to the fire department responding to alarms outside the city limits, but as they contained matter other than the information desired they were filed.

The Western Canada Wholesale made application for the "Coca Cola" Company for permit to instal electric signs, all costs of which it was agreed would be borne by the applicant. After some little haranguing, Beck and Gates moved that the rate on signs be raised to 10c per K.W. hour from Nov. 1st. Rutledge suggested that it be referred to the water and light committee. Hunter supported this and Gates and Beck did not press their motion, stating they presented it on account of admissions that the rate for signs was below cost. His Worship thought no harm could come by granting the application on a basis of 10c. The motion on being put resulted in four being in favor and two against. Hunter and Rutledge requested they be recorded as opposed to the motion.

In formation was required re assessment of extra municipal school district, wherein the civic roll must correspond with the government roll, according to an amendment to the Act. The city clerk in the near future in order to make the necessary comparison and alter the city roll to agree in these assessments, will visit Cranbrook.

The medical health officer submitted his report covering month to date. The general condition as to health was good. One case of mumps was recorded and one case of influenza. This was immediately isolated and the condition in respect to this disease this year is very satisfactory. The health officer again vigorously complained with regard to pigs being kept within the city. In one half block there are 28 animals and this in residential section. Three births and two deaths were reported.

On motion of Gates and Graham the report was received and filed and the health officer notified that the council will have hogs removed from the city limits.

His Worship, Ald. Bevk and Ald. Hunter were regularly appointed to constitute the "swine committee" and this situation will be given prompt consideration.

Mayor Uphill excused himself from the meeting and Ald. Beck acted. Ald. Rutledge also decided to retire.

The city engineer's report was then read as follows:

Sirs—I beg to submit a report of the work done during the last quarter. There have been 168 visits made re turning on and off water, 42 visits re plugged pipes and 156 leaks on the main pipes repaired. There have been twelve hydrants repaired and three valves. The reservoir has been cleaned out but we have been unable to get any water there yet. The mains have all been tested once and every leak found repaired. This has resulted in an increase of pressure of 28 lbs. No regular inspection of house fixtures has been done yet, as any great gain of pressure from that would cause a loss on the mains until they are in as good a condition as possible. A large amount of work still remains to be done on the hydrants and is being attended to. The waterworks extension on Block 3 has been completed and results in greater pressure and better service to the proprty owners there. There have been six blockages in the main sewer attended to, and eight visits re plugged sewer connections. The septic tank was inspected and one blockage there attended to. We have ploughed, graded and rolled 17 blocks of streets and laid down 600 feet of cinder sidewalk; 13 crossings have been pulled up and filled in, besides those on the graded streets. The city park has been almost all plouged and manured and put ready for seeding next spring. The wooden sidewalks are in very poor condition; very few repairs have been done during the last quarter. The work on the cement sidewalks will be discontinued this week for the season. Several property owners have applied for gravel for the spring of next year. The average number of loads of gravel hauled has been 21 for every 60 ft.

It was decided to table this until next meeting.

Acting Mayor Beck reported with regard to cement sidewalks.

Owing to the difficulty of comfortably heating the council chamber when the wind is in the north, it was decided to get prices on storm sash for same.

By this time Ald. Gates decided to call it off and excused himself.

The matter of experimental sidewalks will be proceeded with this fall if fine weather permits, otherwise it will have to stand over until spring.

ASSIZE COURT HOLDS SESSION

The Fall Assizes opened here on Tuesday morning, Mr. Justice Murphy presiding. The Grand Jury returned a true bill in the one ciminal case of Rex vs. Roman Danusick, charged on two counts with bribing and attempting to corrupt a public official. Upon the accused being called to stand his trial, however, he did not respond and His Lordship forthwith granted an order estreating the bail which was personal recognizance of $1000 and two sureties of $500 each. The fact that Danusick intended to "jump his bail" was not a great surprise as a communication was received a few days ago from him by a local friend inquiring whether in the event of his not returning would the charge still stand against him, and upon being advised that it would, he telegraphed the day before the date of trial that he was not returning. He was then in Spokane, Wash., at which place a few weeks ago he reported to the authorities that two $500 Victory Bonds had been stolen from his room in a hotel there.

The afternoon session of the court was netirely occupied hearing argument relative to the appeal by way of Stated Case of Nick Denusick, bartender of the Northern hotel here. This is one of the eight cases of similar nature in connection with convictions under the Prohibition Act and is a test case. S. Herchmer and A. Macneil, barristers of this city, represented the appellants, while A. B. Macdonald, K.C., of Cranbrook, appeared for the respondents and the Crown. In the Stated Case three grounds, solely points of law, are set out, by reason of which the convictions should be quashed, viz., first, the constitutionality of the Prohibition Act; second, the legality of all legislation enacted by the legisature in the session of 1916 on account of assent being given same by the Lt. Governor in Council, it is alleged, after the life of said parliament had expired by the effluxion of time. And thirdly, the question of the jurisdiction of the Provincial Police (who acted entirely throughout these proceedings) to act within the municipality without first having been specifically clothed with such authority through special order in council. His Lordship reserved judgment, stating he was not prepared to render such an important decision without first having given the matter very thorough consideration. Upon the finding in this case will depend whether or not the sentences of six months with hard labor, meted out to all eight appellants will stand, as this will be the final proceedings in all these cases.

VICTORY DRIVE STARTS MONDAY

The campaign for the sale of $300,000,000 of 5 and 15 year bonds, Canada's final Victory Loan, opens on Monday, the 27th inst.

The handling of the new loan presents a bigger undertaking than probably anything tackled so far. During the war, the patriotic spirit of the people bought and over-bought every issue that came out. The war is over, and it is not clearly realized that to hold and consolidate the country's position made possible by these victorious issues of 1917 and 1918, Canada's war-time ability to "Carry On" must be equally upheld in peace. Silver bullets again have their pace, and so vitally important are the purposes for which they are required, that success in securing them means the difference between national and industrial progress and national and industrial stagnation. As stated by the Minister of Finance they are:

"To pay indebtedness incurred, to meet expenditures to be made in connection with demobilization (including the authorized war service gratuity to our soldiers, land settlement loans, and other purposes connected with their re-establishmen into civil life) for capital outlay for shipbuilding and other national undertakings forming part of Canada's industrial re-construction programme, and for the establishment of any necessary credits for the purchase of grain, foodstuffs, timber and other products, and WILL BE SPENT WHOLLY IN CANADA."

It is the duty of everyone to subscribe to such a programme as liberally as they can. Apart from a duty the investment is a giltedged one, yielding 5 1-2 per cent, and a liquid asset for security or sale if desired. Above most reasons, however, is the fact that our factories, mines and farms will be kept busy.

The allotment for the Fernie District is $200,000. The local committee have established headquarters in the store formerly occupied by H. F. McLean, druggist, and preparations are well under way for making this loan, as all previous loans, a pronounced success in this District.

PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY

The following letter, from the Alberta Pacific Grain Co., handed to us by Mr. Podbielancik with a request for publication, is self-explanatory:

Calgary, Oct. 21, 1919.

John Podbielancik, Esq.,
Fernie, B.C.

Dear Sir—Attached you will find letter received from the City of Fernie requesting tenders on hay, oats and bran. Is there any reason why you cannot handle this business, or why, as a taxpayer at Fernie, it should not be turned over to you or other parties in Fernie who are dealing in this commodity? We are sending the letter to you, as we understand you are the only dealer in Fernie handling hay.

SKIPS ARE NOW CHOSEN

The Fernie Curling Club recently held its annual meeting, when preparatory organization for the forthcoming season was perfected. The officers elected this year are: A. Corrie, president; Harvey Brown, 1st vice-president; R. M. Young, 2nd vice-president; Rev. Batzold, chaplain; Donald M. Mitchell, secretary-treasurer. In addition an executive committee composed of Messrs. S. Herchmer, F. C. Lawe, M. A. Kastner, Thos. Beck and Jas. Johnston were also elected.

This year the membership so far enrolled is the largest in the history of the club, the total now being 127 with the prospects of several more before the season opens; 34 new members have joined.

The club has affiliated with the Manitoba Curling Association and it is already announced that rinks from here will participate in the annual bonspiel in the Manitoba city.

For this year, as during the past two or three seasons, there will be two draws every night.

The appointment of skips was left to a committee of ten elected from the general meeting and for the 32 skips required this committee has announced the following as being chosen to act in this capacity: W. Baldrey, T. Beck, Harvey Brown, A. Corrie, E. G. Daniels, H. E. Douglas, F. Greenwood, G. G. Henderson, S. Herchmer, J. S. Irvine, Guy Johnston, G. F. Johnson, H. J. Johnson, James Johnston, M. A. Kastner, E. Kirkpatrick, Wm. Lancaster, F. C. Lawe, A. C. Liphardt, J. McLaren, L. E. McDonald, T. Prentice, E. K. Stewart, J. R. Wallace, Geo. Winters, R. M. Young, James Marshall, Alan Graham, Gordon Johnson, A. Klauer, D. G. Harvie, D. M. Mitchell.

REES CRITICIZES NOMINATIONS

That the method of the election of officers at the recent Trades Congress at Hamilton was more or less "rigged" was the charge of Dave Rees, late vice-president of the congress, to a representative of the Calgary Herald upon his return to Calgary. Four names from Vancouver were submitted in connection with the election of vice-president, said Mr. Rees, but they received very scant consideration from the convention. This was undoubtedly owing to a very well prepared "slate" having been pre-arranged. Printed cards were handed to a number of the delegates with the suggestion that the names of the candidates appearing thereon should be elected. The method adopted had the desired result, said Mr. Rees, as all these men were returned, the Quebec delegates in a body voting for the suggested officials.

"This is a most unfortunate state of affairs," he remarked, "and it is to be sincerely hoped that we shall not see a continuance of the practice at any future congress."

Speaking of the congress generally Mr. Rees stated that the convention in point of numbers was the best ever held, there being approximately 950 delegates present.

One of the questions discussed which brought some of the foremost delegates to the floor of the convention was that of the O. B. U. This came up under the heading of officers' reports. The committee in dealing with same, concurred with the action of the executive of the congress in their endeavor to keep the international unions to the forefront and to stamp out any secessionist movement.

"The chairman of the committee," said Mr. Rees, "J. W. Wilkinson, of Vancouver—who by the way, was a delegate to the Western Conference at Calagry — denounced the O. B. U. leaders in most bitter terms, stating it was born in deceit; in other words that in order to launch the movement camouflaged tactics were used, inasmuch as the Western Conference as had been many times explained, was certainly not called for any such purpose." Mr. Rees added that after several speakers had addressed the conference on the subject, the O.B.U. defenders were remarkably silent. That special section of the committee's report was unanimously agreed to by the delegates.

"When asked to explain the matter of the reconstruction programme of the executive, to which reference was made in a press dispatch, Mr. Rees states that whilst making due allowance for any bias he may have, through being personally involved in the question, the matter arose through a delegate asking what had been done by the executive with regard to the drafting of a reconstruction programme, which was in turn to be submitted to the membership.

"President Moore," said Mr. Rees, "seemingly did not want to answer the question, at least as fully as was expected. Then I took the floor and explained that if the president did not care to make a reply that I would. I pointed out that at our executive meeting which was held in the latter part of November and early December last, I had prepared a draft of a reconstruction programme in order that the executive might have something to discuss. It was clearly noticed, however, that we could not agree, Mr. Moore amongst other things stated that the thing was "too poetical." At the executive meeting it was unanimously agreed for the president to prepare a draft himself for submission to the executive. This, however, was not acceptable when it had been prepared and the president was requested to draft anothr programme to be eventually submitted to the vice-presidents for their consideration and endorsement if satisfactory. However, this was not done," said Mr. Rees, "owing to Mr. Moore being tied up with other work.

"When the explanation was made to the congress, Mr. Moore stated that it was not a question of my draft being "too poetical" but rather that the document was of a 'too revolutionary' character. At this point Vice-president Baxter and myself attempted to point out that the draft prepared by myself was not a matter for consideration, but had been set aside by the unanimous consent of the executive. However, over my protest on the floor of the convention, Mr. Moore read one clause of the programme, and, having done so, I asked the consent of the convention to read the whole of the document. However, I failed to get this consent," said Mr. Rees, "with the result that the convention only heard one paragraph singled out and read by the president. Somewhat strange to state," added Mr. Rees, "the party who asked the question regarding the reconstruction programme, was apparently not further concerned, and the matter dropped at that."

FLAME BECOMES THE MOTH

Gladys Deslys, the fascinating French dancer, once the star of the Broadway success, "Stop! Look! Listen!" returns to America in a wonderful cinematic presentation of Marcel L'Herbier's "Infatuation." It is the story, not of a woman of the fashionable world, but of a humble flower worker, who rose from poverty and temptation to be the adored dancer of the gay French capital. And—an unusual twist—the woman who was the flame, becomes herself the fluttering, helpless moth.

This picture, elaborate and costly in its setting and dressing was made by the Eclipse Film Company of France and directed by Louis Mercanton, formerly stage director for Madame Bernhardt in Paris, and for Sir Henry Beerbohm Tree, at His Majesty's theatre, London; and it was he who directed Madame Bernhardt in the screen classic "Mothers of France" and "Queen Elizabeth," the latter, one of the first big pictures to be specially shown on Broadway, where it was given in a successful season, under the management of Daniel Frohman.

"Infatuation" is a six-reel Pathe Special Feature and will be shown at the Orpheum theatre on Oct. 31 and Nov. 1. In it Gaby has a strong emotional role, which she interprets with surprising strength and power. Also, does she wear some new and wonderful hats and costumes over which the designers and modistes worked for three months before the big picture was put into production.

NORMA TALMADGE AT THE ORPHEUM

Monday and Tuesday in "The Heart of Wetona"

"The Heart of Wetona" gives this beautiful and talented star one of the best opportunities of her successful career. In it, Miss Talmadge appears as the daughter of an Indian chieftain by a white mother, and the drama of love and sacrifice that is unfolded makes one of the strongest productions screened for some time. There is apparently no role that is too difficult—either in acting demands or the intricate art of make-up—for Miss Talmadge to undertake and to undertake with success.

She makes of the Indian girl, whose simple idea of love brings a tragedy into her life, an appealing and human character, one that will long be remembered.

In her support appears Thomas Meighan, Gladden James and an all-star cast.

"IN OLD KENTUCKY"

No play before the public stands the wear and tear of time as well as does "In Old Kentucky," appearing at the Grand theatre on Tuesday, next. In the hearts of the play-going public it never grows old. Charles T. Dazey wrote the play more than 30 years ago. From its first presentation it has never been withdrawn from the American stage for a single theatrical season and during all these years it has been controlled by the same management and has always been cast and presented with care and attention. Now in the 28th year of its career, it remains as fresh, as new and as enjoyable as ever. Plays may com and plays may go but "In Old KeKntucky" is a fixture in the land.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, you are not getting Aspirin—only an acid imitation.

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" are now made in Canada by a Canadian Company. No German interest whatever, all rights being purchased from the United States Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. The "Bayer Cross" is your only way of knowing that you are getting genuine Aspirin, proved safe by millions for Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger sized "Bayer" packages can be had at drug stores.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

ISLAND COLLIERIES ARE MAINTAINING OUTPUT

Vancouver Island collieries are working steadily, there being no signs at the moment of anything but the best of feeling between the employed and the employer. Generally speaking the miners are working on the understanding that with further increase in the cost of living their wages will advance. This applies to most, with the exception of the Canadian Western Fuel Company, and the relationship between the latter and its men, as a result of the recent adjustment of the wage question, is of the best.

The product, for the most part, is being used to care for the domestic demand, which now is heavy because of the approach of the winter. From North Vancouver and other districts comes the report that difficulty is being experienced in obtaining sufficient coal to take care of current orders. For this reason there is a belief that a shortage may be experienced before spring. This, however, is speculation.

Responsible opinion appears to be that the collieries can be depended upon to take care of the local situation, and, in any event, there is no serious shortage as yet.

The coal mines of the Crow's Nest field, Eatern British Columbia, are gradually being brought back to normal in point of production, although it need scarcely be said that it takes time to recover lost ground after a strike, such as that through which the district has passed. The output now is about eighty per cent of what it was, and an improvement is being shown each month. The coke ovens at Fernie are idle, and it is thought likely that they will remain so for some time. Those of Michel, B.C., are operating on a limited scale, the demand for the product being comparatively light at present.

Recent litigation over the title to coal rights within the foreshore lands of the East Coast of Vancouver Island, which now is declared to lie within the Province, and the report that steps may be expected toward the opening up of the coal deposits of Squamish and vicinity on an extensive scale, have made the reports of Dr. Charles H. Clapp and Dr. B. D. Dowling, the two principal geologists who investigated this area, of special interest.

Dr. Clapp on his report on the industry in Memoir 51 of the Geological survey series says: "The future of the coal industry is very promising, although thinner and deeper coals will have to be mined in the near future. As already stated, two new shaft mines have reached the Douglas seam in area of 181 square miles."

In his estimate of coal resources Dr. Clapp places the production at 24,500,000 tons up to 1912, and it was recently estimated that the figures now stand at about 30,000,000 tons. Dr. Dowling places the probable resources of the Nanaimo field at 1,340,000,000.—Colonist.

WINNIPEG'S EXAMPLE IS HONORED

It is gratifying to note that the London Times, in counselling the British people as to how to deal with the national calamity produced by the railway strike, told them to take example from the brave and unflinching spirit of the citizens of Winnipeg, who, by their facing of the situation created by the general strike of last spring, did an inestimable service to Canada at large, and seemingly to the rest of the world. Apparently the British people combatted the warfare against their economic life in the same spirit as did the Citizens' Committee of Winnipeg—meeting it by sacrifice and voluntary service. The latter could not prevent the misled workers from doing incalculable injury to themselves, but they did succeed in holding their city as a rampart of civilized government; and it is clear that in this greater crisis, the people of the motherland proved equally courageous and equally victorious.

The population of Canada, according to the most recent official estimate, is 8,835,000, and its area is 3,729,665 square miles, about a third of that of the whole British Empire

FERNIE CONVENTION

On Wednesday evening the three days program of the East Kootenay Convention for Boys and Girls' work was completed.

This convention was held under the "Religious Education Council of B.C." and perhaps marks the greatest step in advancement of this type of work in the district. As a demonstration on re-construction it could hardly be surpassed. Re-construction not only must deal with the improvement of the Canada we live in and the conditions of life under which we live, but the character and quality of life that we live. The aim of the C.S.E.T. and C.G.I.T. is developed, trained and equipped manhood and womanhood for Canada.

The team of leaders included Rev. E. R. McLean, M.A., B.D., Presbyterian; Rev. W. E. Galloway, B. A., BB.D., Methodist church; T. H. Hutchinson, B.N., Y.M.C.A., Miss Isabel Harvey, M.A., Y.W.C.A. These specialists certainly showed that they were adept at convention work.

To have seen the boys and girls on the opening night organize their groups and later take charge of the convention, would have been an eye opener to some of the men and women of the past day.

Mr. Hutchinson spoke on "The Challenge of the Times," and showed himself a real boys' leader.

The centre of interest the second day was the banquet, when about two hundred young people and workers assembled. The ladies who prepared the banquet deserve great credit for their work.

After a short recess given to songs, jokes, class yells, etc., Dr. Garner, who as chairman gave a good demonstration on how to handle a toast list, called on the assembly to toast "The King." Miss Harvey proposed the toast to the C.G.I.T. girls and Miss Norma Douglas in her reply put into speech the ideals and fine sense of responsiblity that the girls of today feel for the womanhood of tomorrow. George Quail's reply to Rev. Mr. McLean's toast to the C.S.E.T. showed vigor and insight.

Mr. Parker welcomed the out of town delegates to the convention. Rev. Mr. Galloway on behalf of the leaders, with yarn and story, Rev. Mr. Sinclair of Cranbrook with apt literary allusions, and Miss Paul, of Michel, with words of deep spiritual force, responded.

It was evident that the banquet was not the only important part of the Tuesday program for the keen intesest in Mr Hutchinson's address and the demonstration in group games for both boys and girls revealed that the young people are out to lern in every field of life. And after the banquet, when the groups were separated and the "four fold" program of life was dealt with, the young people evidenced their interest in the best. In fact, it was a rare study in psychology, in each group, to see in the program discussion that young people really understood their needs for the development of life. One could say that it semed as if they were saying "Not only the four-fold life but a 100 per cent life is the need."

The Wednesday program was more practical but more difficult for it took up the problems of organization and carrying out programs. At the evening session, which was held in the Baptist church, Miss Harvey gave a demonstration of the C.G.I.T. initiation.

The convention brought to the forefront the need of co-operation and able leadership. One could easily predict that with efficient leadership for the boys and girls of today the near future would see Canada in the forefront of the nations in all the walks of life.

The convention leaders have gone to Calgary and Northern Alberta for a further series of conventions.

MILLETT VS. SAWYER

The case of H. L. Sawyer vs. Geo. Millett, which has been before the courts for the past two and a half years has just last week been finally decided, according to information received from Ottawa, that the Supreme Court of Canada had dismissed the appeal carried there by the defendant Millett. With this the case had been before the courts on five respective occasions, and while the original claim amounted to only $300 the costs now accumulated are estimated to be at least five times the amount of the claim. The case was considered to be a very important one, and the facts are that H. L. Sawyer, a hotelkeeper, brought suit against George Millett, of Elko, for a commission of $300 on the sale of a mortgage against the Kingsgate Hotel. The action was first tried before Judge Thompson and a jury in May, 1917. On the jury's answers, His Honor directed judgment for Sawyer for $300 and costs. The defendant, Millett, carried the case to the Court of Appeal at Victoria and a new trial was ordered. This trial was heard before Judge Thompson again and another jury, in December, 1918, the jury again returning a verdict for Sawyer. Millett again took it to the Court of Appeal but his appeal was this time dismissed by that Court. As a final step the defendant, Millett, carried the case to the Supreme Court of Canada at Ottawa, the matter being argued this month, when the final disposition was made.

Messrs. Macdonald & Nisbet, barristers of Cranbrook, appeared for the plaintiff, Sawyer, throughout, while Messrs. Lawe & Fisher, of this city, were for the defendant. Mr. Fisher has just returned from Ottawa, where he personally conducted the case in the Supreme Court.

LOOKS LIKE A STRIKE

Washington, Oct. 21.—Failure of operators and miners to settle their differences after a four-hour conference today with Secretary of Labor Wilson may force the government to step in and prevent the strike of 500,000 bituminous coal miners called for Nov. 1.

Although another effort will be made tomorrow to bring peace to the industry, the strike tonight loomed big and close at hand and leaders of the two sides said there was little hope.

While the full scale committees representing miners and operators were fighting their battles today behind a closed door, a strike storm raged in the senate and federal agencies looked up the law, firmly convinced it would have to be invoked to save the country from untold distress and suffering, with mines shut down and less than a month's stock on hand to keep fires burning.

Filing out of the meeting place, the miners and operators, nearly 100 of them ,went their separate ways to discuss the crisis, the former led by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and the latter by Thos. T. Brewster, head of the Coal Operators association.

Informed of the attack on the unions in the senate by Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey and reports from many quarters that the government might intervene, strike leaders said there was a bare chance of some encouraging development tomorrow but that the strike order would stand.

Secretary Wilson left the meeting without giving the least intimation as to what was in his mind as to hope of settlement.

The two committees, in separate groups, filed into the assembly hall of the Red Cross building and sat down shortly before noon while Secretary Wilson went to the front and announced that they had been asked to meet and adjust their grievances. Pleading for immediate settlement the secretary showed how it would affect the public; how it would close industrial plants and stop freight and passenger traffic because of the limited coal stocks held by the railroads.

Pointing out that the matter was one of vital concern to the people, Secretary Wilson explained that as executive officer of the government intrusted with the function of mediation in such disputes, he felt that every possible effort should be made to induce the miners and operators to see the importance of early adjustment. The secretary said he gave full weight to the statement of the operators regarding contracts and to the importance of rescinding the strike order and to withdrawal of demands for a 30-hour week, just as he gave weight to the statement of the miners that there must be "a disposition to really negotiate" before it would be worth while for them to go into conference.

President Lewis then spoke for the miners. The old wage agreement, he declared, had expired and the operators he charged had refused to consider a new one.

The side of the operators was presented by Mr. Penna of Terra Haute, Ind., who charged that the miners had violated their agreement, that the operators had adhered to the principles and practices of collective bargaining and that the unions were at fault. Then, without consulting the leaders, Secretary Wilson suggested an adjournment until tomorrow.

There was no objection, neither side desiring to appear in the attitude of blocking peaceful efforts by a voluntary mediator, but miners and operators alike were surprised. The general feeling seemed to be that the thing would be fought out and settled today. The secretary, it was said, indicated a desire to present the views of the government after each side had been given a full hearing.

Officials recalled that once during the administration of President Roosevelt when a coal strike appeared certain miners and operators were warned that if the mines were shut down they would be immediately opened and operated by the government with troops on guard if necessary to see that the public got an adequate supply of coal.

Re-establishment of the fuel administration, which ceased to function last spring, was also discussed by officials.

Settlement of the controversy between the bituminous miners and operators without a strike "is within range of practicability," Rrepresentative Sanders, republican, of Indiana, declared in a speech in the house today. His district is in the centre of the Indiana coal field.

LUMBERING AT WALDO

The last number of the Western Lumberman has the following article regarding the Baker Lumber Co. and the Ross-Saskatoon Lumber Co., of Waldo:

The eastern Canadian and the United States are the two markets for which the Baker Lumber Co. at Waldo are cutting. Their average daily output is 90,000 feet. The planing mill can handle ten thousand feet more every day than that figure, so that it will be seen the Baker Company is doing big things in that part of the province. Like the Adams River Lumber Co., the Baker Co. found it necessary to construct a flume, which is now three miles long, and which will be lengthened as the occasion demands. During the past summer there was some trouble getting men, but conditions in that respect are not so bad now. "Charlie" McNab is the genial manager, and he leaves no stone unturned to see that his concern is in the running with the other mills.

That the demand from the United States for British Columbia lumber will continue for the next two years was the opinion expressed by H. H. Ross, head of the Ross-Saskatoon Lumber Co. at Waldo, when the representative of the Western Lumberman was talking with him on trade conditions. This mill is now doing a big business with the States and is sending at least 75 per cent of its output to as far as Texas and even to New York State. The big building program that is in full swing down south is taxing the ability of most of the mountain mills to produce lumber, and the Ross-Saskatoon is no exception to this remark. Mr. Ross believed that it would not be long before the prairie provinces in Canada would get into their stride so far as building was concerned. It was, said Mr. Ross, up to the lumber manufacturers of British Columbia to get ready for that time and to take the necessary steps that would help them to protect their home market, and he looked to the men who were prominently identified with the industry to see to it that something is done whereby that desirable end will be attained.

It would be a disastrous thing if the prairie market were lost, or even part of it lost to the B.C. manufacturers, in the same way it was lost from 1910 to 1912, when the United States was the principal source of supply of lumber to the consumers in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. But he did not think that this could happen again if only the manufacturers on the coast and in the mountains took measures to protect it. Just now, of course, there was a heavy demand from the States for B.C. lumber, and there was not that same demand from the prairies. But the demand from the middle west in Canada was bound to come, and it was, he repeated, up to the B.C. manufacturers to make provision against that time.

The Ross-Saskatoon mills are cutting principally larch fir and some pine. The output is about 75,000 feet daily, with 160 men on the payroll. During the winter this number is reduced to between 100 and 125. The method of taking the logs to the mill is by rail, and there is a twelve mile haul. Within a short time it is the intention to install a Yates matcher and profiling machine, with automatic feed table, which will help to make the plant one of the most modern in the province.

The trip by the Western Lumberman through the mountains and the interior left one or two important impressions. One was that they are having their trouble with labor in those localities. The other is ,that those mills that are operating have markets for every foot of lumber they cut. While there is a fair amount being shipped to the prairies, it is recognized that had it not been for the American demand there would have been fewer men on the different payrolls. This demand, as Mr. Ross points out, is likely to last for the next two years, and in that event there will be work for every mill.

With regard to some of the mills that are not operating just now and have not been turning a wheel for some weeks, it is but right to say that these are making arrangements to start up again next spring fresher than ever. New machinery will be installed in many of them and there are rumors that at least one mill intends to construct new mills, subsidiary to their big one, in favorable locations. The outlook from the viewpoint of the mountain millmen is bright for the future business, and this is borne out by the statement already made that new equipment has been ordered and will shortly be installed for mills that are not at present doing any business for various reasons.

On the whole the condition of affairs in the mountains and in the interior is such that the operators have every reason to feel satisfied with the result of their efforts during the past year. There have, it is true, been drawbacks and handicaps, but generally speaking, the time has been a good one, though it is but right to add that, contrary to the general belief, none of the mills are making the fortunes that are reported to be piled up in the banks.

OVER A BILLION SAVED BY PEOPLE

A total of $1,196,632,931 in savings bank deposits is a gratifying report that many of the countries which have emerged from was would be glad to report today. This is the position of Canada as revealed in the bank statement for August.

The amount is $181,921,066 better than the same month last year, notwithstanding the fact that a good part of it was transferred to last year's $600,000,000 Victory Loan, and is $21,540,778 better than July of this year.

This is a promising outlook for the Victory Loan campaign which is at present being carried on. If the depositors in Canada's savings banks were to say the word, they could subscribe the $300,000,000 asked nearly four times over. The success of the present effort should be overwhelming.

Alex. McCool, of the Great Northern Hotel, Natal, has had a new foundation put under the building and is completely overhauling and re-decorating the whole structure. The work will be completed in a few days, when the Great Northern will be prepared to give first class accommodation to the public. This will supply a long felt want in Natal.

Chas. Spence, manager of the local Co-Operative store, has resigned his position and will leave in the course of a couple of weeks for Penticton, where he has been offered a position as manager of a new Co-Operative organization in that town. Since his residence here Mr. Spence has been a live citizen of this town and his departure will be deeply regretted by all.

Armistice Day Ball—A Grand Ball will be held in Victoria Hall on the above date, in aid of the G.W.V.A. Memorial Fund. Keep the date open for the above, as this will be the event of the season. A host of outsiders are eager for information about this ball, and a big crowd is expected. Be on the lookout for tickets, as a limited number will be sold, and they will be snapped up in a short time.

Two masked men held up a poker game at Waldo the other night and got away with a thousand dollars. The men playing were all Russians and the game was in full swing when two men with levelled guns told them to throw up their hands. They gathered up all the cash in sight and instructed the men not to leave the shack for an hour or they would be shot. The men took their advice and did not even report to the police until the next day.

The deal has practically been completed between O'Neill & Irvine, lumber contractors of Spokane, and the Imperial Bank, whereby the former has taken over the limits and mill of the Fernie Lumber Co. It is the intention of the new concern to open camps at once and be prepared to start the mill by April 1st. This property, with the exception of some post business, has been idle since before the war, and the resumption of operations will be a great boon to Fernie.

While full particulars of the merger of the Elk Lumber Co. and Seipple Timber Co. are not yet obtainable, the deal is an accomplished fact. The operating company will be known as the Elk Valley Lumber Co., Ltd. The new company is already advertising extensively for men for the winter camps, which will be established on the Cedar Valley limits. Several hundred men will be empoyed, which will greatly contribute to the future prosperity of the city of Fernie.

Cranbrook Courier: A number of enquiries have been made at the office of the Courier this week in reference to the second passenger train to be placed on the Crow. C.P.R. officials promised a deputation from the Board of Trade and the Cranbrook District Auto Association that another train would be in operation on the Crow immediately following the settlement of the Fernie labor trouble. Insofar as the Courier's knowledge goes, nothing further has been done in the matter.

MINING DEAL RUMORED

Persistent rumors concerning a large mining deal have been prevalent here for the past week. The property in question is that of the Premier Gold Mines, Limited, which is owned and controlled by W. R. Wilson, General Manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., R. W. Wood and A. B. Trites, of the firm Trites-Wood Co., Ltd., all of Fernie, and Mr. Neal, mining engineer, of Spokane Wash. It is generally known that Messrs. Trites and Wood are at present in New York city negotiating for a sale and the first report reaching here was that 51 per cent interest had been disposed of to American capitalists for the sum of two million dollars. Yesterday it was reported that a one-quarter interest had been purchased by American smelting interests at a figure of one million dollars. These reports have emanated from Vancouver and Spokane respectively, and while confirmation or denial of these reports is not obtainable locally, those in a position to have a slight knowledge of what has been transpiring are of the opinion that it is highly probable a large deal is pending although it is not believed the actual transfer has been consummated.

The Premier Mine is located in the Alaskan Panhandle north of Stewart, B.C., and since the local parties became interested in same, highly glowing reports have been made from time to time with regard to the phenomenally large bodies of very high grade gold-copper ore located in the course of development work. Tests made with sample shipments have shown exceedingly good returns, and the only drawback has been the location of the mine being remote from transportation facilities. Messrs. Trites and Wood are understood to be leaving New York within a day or two on their return to this city, and upon their arrival here the result of the present negotiations will undoubtedly be announced.

HAWAIIAN VOLCANO ACTIVE

Hilo, Hawaii. — A stream of lava from 800 feet to one mile wide and 30 miles long is pouring from the 13,000 foot crater of the volcano Mauna Lao, across the island from this city, into the sea.

The lava overtopped the crater and reached the sea nearly 12 hours ahead of the time it had been expected to do so. The eruption of Mauna Lao began four days ago and subsided in violence after a brief duration, only to break forth with new force again. Two ranch homes and other valuable property have been destroyed by the molten rock.

Resolutions asking that second offences for bootlegging be punished by jail sentences; that equal parental rights be established in the province; that widows be given greater power under the dower act; that living wages be incorporated in the factories act; that hotels and lodging houses be licensed to bring them under police regulation, and that marriage licenses be issued from the court houses only by responsible parties and that the lists be published every day, were passed by the provincial executive of the National Council of Women which met at Calgary last week.

THE CANADIAN EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

The Employment Service of the Department of Labor reports that returns from the Dominion and Provincial offices of the Employment Service of Canada for the week ending Oct. 4, show a decrease in placements as compared with the returns of the previous week. During the week the 90 offices reported that they had referred 8959 persons to regular positions, and that 7769 of these had received employment. This represents a decrease of1054, as compared with the preceding week, when 8823 persons were given employment. In addition 1216 casual jobs were supplied, while 1246 were supplied for the week ended Sept. 27.

During the week 9681 applications were registered, of whom 604 were women and 9077 were men. The number of vacancies notified by employers totalled 11,683, of which 878 were for women and 10,805 were for men. Of the placements in regular employment 344 were women and 7425 were men. The number of soldiers reported as placed was 2997 or 38.5 per cent of the total placements.

Of the placements in regular employment, 33 were reported by Prince Edward Island, an increase of 22; 155 by Nova Scotia, an increase of 19; 295 by New Brunswick, an increase of 31; 687 by Quebec, a decrease of 23; 2110 by Ontario, a decrease of 359; 1810 by Manitoba, a decrease of 766; 980 by Saskatchewan, a decrease of 131; 786 by Alberta, an increase of 52; and 913 by British Columbia, an increase of 101.

THE MODERN AMBASSADOR

"The great ambassador, like the great proconsul," remarks the Christian Science Monitor, "departed with the coming of the electric cable." Our Boston neighbor is persuaded therefore that Lord Grey, the new British ambassador, although his great gifts and eminent fitness are acknowledged, will play no great part.

Like many generalizations, the foregoing one has more the appearance of truth than an actuality. For 70 years this country had British ambassadors with no cable. And it has had them 70 years with a cable. And the most influential British representative Washington has ever received served during the cable period —James Bryce. More than any other man he induced Americans to see that a new Britain has come into being since Bunker Hill, Lundy's Lane and the days of the Alabama, and this vitally contributed to the advancement of one of the major foreign policies of his country—namely, hearty friendship between the two English speaking nations.—New York Tribune.

HUGE STOCKS HELD IN COLD STORAGE

Winnipeg—There is sufficient butter in cold storage in the warhouses of the Manitoba Cold Storage Company and the William Davies Company to take care of Manitoba's home consumption for nearly five months, reports filed by the managers of the two plants at a recent session of the Board of Commerce food probe revealed.

Gordon W. Shantz, general manager of the Manitoba Cold Storage Company, stated that there are in storage at present 1,367,000 pounds of butter. John MacPherson, manager of William Davies' plant, has 367,878 pounds of butter in storage, making a total of 1,704,878 pounds of butter stored in these two warehouses at present. Both managers declared that this was nothing out of the ordinary and certainly not an abnormal condition.

The Manitoba Cold Storage plant has a matter of 1,100,000 dozen eggs in storage.

Particulars of the butter stored with the William Davies Company showed that Arthur Lobb, M.L.A. for Rockwood, has 13,500 pounds.

Over half a million pounds of frozen beef is storaged by the same firm for Gordon, Ironside and Fares, also 30,000 barrels of pickled pork. One of the men assisting with the work of the commission made the comment at the close of the session that he believed there would be discovered 3,000,000 pounds of beef in cold storage in Manitoba before the board was through its probe.

BOYCOTT HITS JAPAN

According to the Japanese newspaper, Nichi Nichi, the Chinese boycott on anything made in Japan is having its effect on Japanese trade. The paper estimates that Chinese imports from Japan have dropped 70 per cent to 80 per cent since the boycott began early this year. Exports out of Japan were: April, 26,840,000 yen; May, 25,670,000 yen; June, 19,-860,000 yen.

The statement is made in China that if the United States and Canada put more ships on the Pacific they can get the trade that China formerly gave to Japan.

HE FEELS FINE IN THE MORNINGS NOW

Cameron Eats Better, Sleeps Better and Works Better After Taking Tanlac

"Yes, sir, I can recommend Tanlac for it set me right several months ago and I have been in the pink of health ever since." D. Cameron who made this statement while discussing his experience with a Tanlac representative, recently, living at 621 Cambia St., Vancouver, and is a fireman at the Northern Con-struction Company's Shipyards. Mr. Cameron has made Vancouver his home for the past thirty years and is known to hundreds of people throughout the city.

"It has been more than a year now," explained Mr. Cameron, "that I lost my appetite and my stomach began troubling me. For eight months, that is from the time my trouble first started until I got relief by taking Tanlac, I suffered more than I can find words to tell. My stomach was so upset that at times I could not even bear the sight of food. Many a time I have had to get up and leave the table without eating anything on account of being nauseated. What little I did manage to eat at any time would sour and bloat me up so with gas that I would have to unbutton my vest and let my belt out in order to get a good breath. And sometimes this gas would cause my heart to palpitate so hard and fast that I could almost hear it and I would get so dizzy that I would have to grab hold of something to keep from falling and hurting myself. I also had pains under my heart that almost cut off my breath and was so nervous that the least noise would startle me. I could never get a good night's sleep and would get up in the mornings so tired and worn out that I felt absolutely unfit for work.

"But my lucky day came around at last, when some of the boys at the shipyards got to telling me how Tanlac had helped them and persuaded me to try it. So I did, and the results have been nothing less than remarkable. After using three bottles —and that was some time ago — I was feeling as strong and well as I ever did and I am still feeling that way. I picked up eight pounds while taking it and am still holding on to that increase. My appetite is so big that meal time comes too slow for me and I don't believe anyone in Vancouver has a better stomach than I have. I am never troubled any more with gas, palpitation of the heart or shortness of breath and I never have a pain or a dizzy spell. And sleep, why I never wake a single time during the night and I always get up in the mornings feeling fine and I don't have that tired, no account feeling any more. Tanlac has certainly done me a world of good and I am ready at any time to recommend it."

ULTRA-RADICALS AT BOTTOM OF STRIKE

Washington, Oct. 20.—While the members of the senate labor committee, investigating the steel strike, Jacob Margolis, of Pittsburg, I.W.W. sat fairly dazed and dumfounded, attorney, and admitted advocate of social revolution, today told them a story of ultra-radical activities which he said underlay and were associated with the nation-wide strike of steel workers. More remarkable to his hearers was the attorney's delineation of a partially successful attempt covering the past two years to fuse at Pittsburg for a vaguely hinted revolutionary purpose the combined forces of the I.W.W., bolshevik and Russian Industrial Workers, whose imagination, he said, had been caught by the successes of Lenine and Trotzky in Russia. All were working, he told the committee, to create a new society within the shell of the old. Throughout Margolis' story ran the name of William Z. Foster, secretary of the steel strike committee, to whom Chairman Kenyon of the labor committee forced a frequent recurrence by a cross-examination in which dictagraph records of telephone conversations, photographed copies of Margolis' correspondents and similar matters, played a large part.

Margolis characterizes himself as "an anarchist syndicalist," in which capacity he had worked with and for the I.W.W. organizations and a "Tolstoi an aranarchist."

Secretary Foster came into the conversation not so much as a radical agitator himself but as a seeker for help in conductisg the industrial fight in the steel industry. Margolis told of a "union of Russian workers" existing in and around Pittsburg, revolutionary in its objects and said he secured endorsement of that organization for the steel strike.

The Russians had a tri-state meeting at Youngstown in August he explained.

Margolis said the I.W.W. and the Russian bolshevik endorsed and assisted in the strike.

"I Hope Every City and District Will Win My Flag"

When Edward, Prince of Wales—eager, bright eyed, smiling and sincere—arrived in Canada in August, and when he voiced his great admiration of the wonderful achievements of Canadians, on the fields of battle and at home, once again we were thrilled with joyous pride.

He asked concerning Canada's reconstruction programme, and when he was told of the Victory Loan 1919, he graciously consented to the use of his Coat of Arms on a flag, which is to be the prize of honour for districts achieving their quota in the loan.

In dedicating "The Prince's Flag" at Ottawa on Labor Day, His Royal Highness said in part:—

"It is a great joy to me to be associated with the loan, which is the bridge between war and peace, and which is finishing off the job."

"I hope every city and district will win my flag."

Striking, and beautiful in design, this flag will form not only an unique memento of Victory Year, but a lasting and outstanding souvenir of the visit of His Royal Highness—a visit which will remain as one of the most memorable events in Canada's history.

The flag is made in two sizes, 4 feet 6 inches by 9 feet for small cities, towns and villages, and 7 feet by 13 feet 6 inches for cities of over 10,000 population.

Canada has been divided into canvassing districts by the Victory Loan Organization. Each city forms one district. Other districts have been determined according to population.

Each of these canvassing districts has been allotted a certain amount in Victory Bonds to sell. To win the Prince's Flag, therefore, a district has to sell its allotment. That is the one and simple condition.

Anticipating that many districts will buy far beyond their allotment, the organization decided that for each twenty-five per cent. excess of the quota one Prince of Wales' Crest be awarded. Thus the workers in a district doubling its quota will be the proud winners of four small crests for their Honour Flag. These crests will be sewn to the flag. The Prince's Crest—the three ostrich plumes—is shown at the top of the coat of arms.

To every organization with fifty or more employees, where seventy-five per cent. of the enrollment invests a total of ten per cent. of the annual payroll in Victory Bonds, a supplementary Prince of Wales Flag in smaller form—48 inches by 34 inches—will be awarded.

The allotment for each district has been carefully considered, and is based on a conservative estimate of the purchasing power of the district.

Your district can sell its allotment and thus win the Prince's Flag, provided each person does his or her share.

You will gladly do your part and encourage your neighbour to do his.

Remember YOUR purchase may be the one that decides whether or not your district is to be the proud possessor of the Prince's Flag.

The Prince's Motto is "I Serve"
Will You also Serve?

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Jim Thistlebeak says: If you are down on your luck try laughter for a week; you'll come up smiling. Get busy laughing, not grinning, smirking or sickly smiling, but jolly damhursting laughter. If your life is dull brighten it with laughter. If you can't laugh where you are come down to Elko and we'll make you laugh. The camps of Alexander and Caesar rang with hearty laughter just the same as the people do in Elko when they see its brilliant future. The tourist travel still keeps good and the hotels turning people away every night. The C.P.R. is dead to the advantages Elko offers (too much mud on their brains) for a big hotel, but someone will jump in and build one P.D.Q. and the C.P.R. big officials will console themselves with saying well they have to come over the C. P.R. anyway. They remind you of a 98-cent pup wearing a $25 collar.

Mayor Tom Uphill of Fernie passed through Elko this week after visiting the big pow-wow at the coast. Tom dearly loves a good cigar and shaved his moustache off so he could smoke them shorter, but his optimism would remind you of your mother's deep apple pies and his smile as full of brotherly love as a camp meeting.

Cheer up, you are all right baldheaded outside if you are not baldheaded inside. Remember that the Good Book tells us that Samson did his biggest killing after he lost his hair. Your bald head is like paradise, there's no parting there. So cheer up. Just look before you leap, but buy your groceries from Fred Roo, where everything is absolutely fresh except the salt.

Some of the travellers visiting the Old Historic Burg this week were as exciting as a smooth running prayer meeting and as popular as the directors of a fresh air and drinking water trust. One fellow sat in a poker game the night before and didn't have enough money left to buy ammunition for an air gun, and went out on the blind baggage. Ed. Clay, the big candy kid, looking as sour as green apple ice cream, on account of the shortage of sugar, had to take 150 kinds of candy off his list and reduced his commission a quarter of 1 per cent, so its no wonder his hair stopped curling. Booth, the butter man, with apple butter, peach butter, Ole Maggy Ann Butter, Goat Butter, and good Cow Butter. Sheirlock, who represents that well known Calgary Scotchman, with tenderloins, stuffed ox heart, Egyptian quail, reindeer steak and elephant's foot. There is no cobwebs on James, who believes with Jim Thistlebeak that it pays to advertise and always leaves a town with the silver lining showing. Russ McEwan and wife from Nelson, selling milk in tins. Fly by night Jones of Lethbridge, the well known rubber man, now you see him then you don't, going like an Alberta blizzard. Wm. Henery Woods, Elko's prize package salesman, sells 17 cars of mine props, railway ties and fence posts at one sitting to Alberta points. Levy, the cigar man. A Calgary harness traveler said they employed 16 men and two boys making stock saddles for mountain goats and three humped camels all the time. A drug traveler from Vancouver, who didn't know no more about the goods he was selling than a smoked sardine does; a bright specimen to be on the road dispensing wisdom and carbolic acid, and looked about as intelligent as a lump of soft coal. They sure do have them at the coast, without mentioning the Oliver government, whose reckless extravagance and increased taxation make the cold chills run up the hump of a camel. Advance cards have been received from some of the best known salesmen on the road to arrive in the Old Historic Burg this coming week and will be chronicled in next week's Elko Notes.

Tom Duncan, mine host of the Columbia hotel, is making it one of the most popular hotels in the Pass. Hundreds of tourists have stopped at this hospitable hotel, who would have passed through had anyone else been in charge. The meals served here make the C.P.R. dining cars look like a 5c lunch counter. The mutton a la Romnellet, and the lamb fricassee a la Rambouillet would make R. C. Harvey raise the price of his sheep if he got a taste of these popular dishes served. Mr. and Mrs. Duncans' idea of advertising is always leave them smiling when they say good-bye. You may talk about climate and your seaside resort, banana belts, orange groves and all that sort, but let me just post you. I've been on the ground and Elko's the finest that you ever found. Stop at the Columbia hotel and see the Elk Canyon and Falls and you'll praise God from whom all blessings flow when it rains.

GOMPERS DEFINES CAPITAL

"We hear much of the struggle between capital and labor," said Mr. Gompers, addressing the industrial conference. "What is capital?" he asked, glancing about the conference room. "It is this table, that chandelier, coal, wool, sugar and so forth."

Any one who possesses property is therefore a capitalist under Mr. Gompers' definition. The workingman who has savings in the bank, or Liberty bonds, or a home and furniture, or tools of trade, is a capitalist. When I. W. W. propagandists talk about destroying "capitalism," they have in mind the abolition of property rights. That organization, composed chiefly of single men or men who throw off all obligations to dependents, is moved by a distinctive class consciousness—a consciousness that since its members have next to nothing, the result largely of their own disinclination to save and be provident—all the rest of society is in the capitalistic class.

That accounts for the I. W. W.'s inherent dislike of trades unions. Since a very large majority of the members of these unions have a manly regard for their obligations to their families, and out of that regard have acquired homes and other property, or are laying plans for the building of homes, they are looked upon with envy and dislike by the improvident wanderers who constitute the vast bulk of I.W.W. membership.

Under our government and its institutions, any man now working for wages can look forward with a reasonable prospect of achievement to a day when, as a reward for his skill, thrift and enterprise. he may become an employer himself. Millions have gratified that ambition in this country. The lines are constantly shifting—employes of today becoming employers tomorrow, and not infrequently the employer of today moving back into the employee class tomorrow.

The American wage-earner possesses a valuable right in his constant opportunity to choose his employment, to amass property, and to look forward to a day when he may become an employer. The I. W. W. and the bolshevists would sweep all that away. They would plunge into a mad "revolution" which would make everybody poor, as practically everybody is poor in bolshevik Russia today, if we except the small minority that is joined with the ruling class and is sharing the doubtful favors of Lenine and Trotzky.—Spokesman.

THE GRATUITY SCHEME

While the gratuity scheme of the G.W.V.A. may not be adopted by the committee of parliament on reestablishment, something is certain to result from the conference now closed at Ottawa — something that would not have happened had the Veterans not been active. It looks as if the government is willing to go as far as possible to aid the returned men to get back into civilian life with a minimum of discomfort to themselves and their dependents, but with due regard for the financial standing of the country. The Veterans themselves cannot honestly claim more than this. — Calgary Herald.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

THERE ARE COUNTLESS ENTERTAINING FEATURES

Of the hundreds of thousands who have seen this picturesque and charming American play, "In Old Kentucky," is there one who can forget the wild rollicking fun of the roguish pickaninnies, their spirit, their abandon and their exquisite naturalness and unconscious by-play; is there one whose heart does not beat faster at the thought of that wild race; of Madge, the brave and pretty girl-heroine who saves her lover by riding the beautiful black Kentucky thoroughbred, "Queen Bess" to victory amid all the turmoil, danger and excitement of a real race? Can anyone forget the daring swing of the heroine across the mighty mountain chasm; the throwing of the bomb with fuse ignited into the abyss, where it explodes with tremendous force; the heroic rescue of "Queen Bess" from the burning stable and the countless other startling effects? And then there is the Colonel, the dear old mint-julep, horse race loving Colonel, whose geniality pervades the play, but who would sooner suf- thoroughbred horse race, or a wellfer in the hereafter than miss a made mint-julep; Aunt Lethe, a wholesome type of the good women this famous state produces with such prodigality; Uncle Neb ,the old darkey servant of the ante-bellum days, whose loyalty to his master means the shedding of this life's blood if necessary. Frank, the manly straight forward hero with the faults of reckless youth and the virtues of a race of sturdy pioneers who hewed their path through the wilderness a century before; Joe, the "moonshiner," a simple fellow, brave, true, loyal, a type to be found only in the mountains of Kentucky and Tennessee where it is not regarded as a crime to distill whiskey without the formality of conferring with the revenue officials; Madge, the sweet girl heroine whose innocence, ingenuiousness, simplicity, rare beauty and charm of manner, together with a brave, loyal heart, makes her one of the most charming features in contemporaneous drama. And then there are those mischievous pickaninnies—but that's another story. Booked to appear at the Grand theatre, Tuesday, Oct. 28. Seats on sale at N. E. Sudday's.

THE NEW ZEALAND GRATUITY

There is not much encouragement for the returned men now agitating for the payment of a $2,000 cash bonus to all Canadian soldiers who served in France — irrespective of the length or the nature of such service—in the decision of New Zealand to pay a gratuity of 36c per day to all New Zealanders who served overseas. The amount payable is to be calculated on the number of days that elapsed between the embarkation of the New Zealand soldier for service abroad and the signing of the armistice.

The New Zealanders jumped into the war with the alacrity displayed by the men of the other overseas Dominions. Some of them took part in the operations against the German South Sea islands almost immediately after the outbreak of hostilities. Thereafter men were sent out steadily till the very end. New Zealand actually dispatched to the various war zones over a hundred thousand men, or one in ten of her entire population. The total of the gratuity to be paid will therefore be a very large sum, but New Zealanders will not get so much on the average as Canada has already paid or is paying to her returned men. Between the despatch overseas of the first New Zealand fighting men and Armistice Day not more than 1560 days elapsed. The bonus to a New Zealand private who served for four years and one hundred days would be $561, while every Canadian bachelor private who served over three years gets $420, and every married man $600. Relatively few of New Zealand's men will get even the amount that comes to the unmarried Canadian of three years' overseas service. For similar periods three years in each case — the unmarried Canadian gets $420, and the New Zealander, whether married or unmarried, $394.

When the committee at Ottawa gets down to a consideration of the facts as to gratuities it will be shown conclusively that the Canadian people have nothing with which to reproach themselves in the matter of gratuities to the fit. There is a good deal of dissatisfaction as to the allowances to the dependendts of the dead and to the disabled and the unfit among returned men. The government will have the whole country behind it in dealing most generously with these cases. The men who paid the full price of liberty won the right to have the loved ones left behind adopted as the wards of the nation, not in any grudging, niggardly spirit, but with all the love and gratitude that the sacrifice of husband and father and son should evoke.—Toronto Globe.

A USEFUL METAL

Tin is used in such vast quantities and for so many purposes that we are apt to forget that but a small proportion of what we use so lavishly is found in its natural state on the American continent. What we should do if the produce of the mines in other parts of the world were prevented from coming here it is hard to conceive.

Our empty tin cans are thrown away with as little concern as if an inexhaustible supply of the raw material were at our very doors. Yet this is not so.

The greater part of the world's supply of tin comes from Cornwall, in England, where the mines reach far under the sea, Banka, in the East Indies and Malacca in Southern Asia, all many thousands of miles away from Canada.

Before iron and steel came into use tin was mixed with copper to make bronze utensils, tools and weapons of war and the chase. In the twentieth century with all our great iron forges and steel manufactories more tin is used than ever. There is no substitute for it, and dear or cheap, the people of a modern city would find it as hard to live without tin as did men of the Bronze Age. Try to find out how many articles made of tin are in your house.

GREAT BUSINESS ADVANCE SHOWN

Judging from the statement of bank clearing for the month of September Canada is doing an unprecedented amount of business. The clearings advanced 40 per cent over September of last year which itself was a large month.

All sections of the country shared in the advance of business, some of the cities doing double the trade of September, 1918. Many quite remarkable increases, outside of the especially large advances of Winnipeg and Windsor, were noted. Toronto gained 37 per cent, Brantford 47 per cent, Kitchener 57 per cent, London 35 per cent, Ottawa 51 per cent, Edmonton 60 per cent, Prince Albert 94 per cent.

The present remarkable period of prosperity in Canada will be maintained if the Victory Loan, 1919, is made an overwhelming success. Business men realize this and in the interests of themselves and the country are being urged to press the importance of the coming loan upon every one with whom they come in contact.

ANCESTRY OF PRESIDENTS

A cablegram from the mayor and corporation of Carlisle, the English city where President Wilson's father was born, is a fresh reminder that nearly all our presidents were of British ancestry. From Washington to Wilson 27 presidents have served the republic—15 of English ancestry, six Scotch-Irish, three Scotch, and one, Thomas Jefferson, Welsh. The two exceptions were Roosvelt and Van Buren, of Dutch ancestry.

Washington, the two Adamses, Madison, the two Harrisons, Tyler, Taylor, Fillmore, Pierce, Lincoln, Johnson, Garfield, Cleveland and Taft were of English origin.

Jackson Polk, Buchanan, Arthur, McKinley and Wilson were of Scotch-Irish extraction, that is, descendants of Scotch people planted in the north of Ireland, largely by Cromwell.

Monroe, Grant and Hayes were of Scotch extraction. So it may be said that England and Scotland have given us all but three of the presidents, and none has come from the Germanic countries, the Latin races, or Scandinavia.—Spokesman.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of William Todhunter, died Oct. 29th, 1918.

We do not forget him; we loved him too dearly
For his memory to fade from our lives like a dream;
Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely,
For grief often dwells where it seldom is seen.

VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN

The Victory Loan Campaign has now got off to a start and the local canvassers are energetically at work and their reports so far are very satisfactory The amounts subscribed so far commencing October 28 with $11,800; October 29, $20,450, make the total actually reported in Fernie only $32,250. In addition to this there are still between $5000 and $10,000 in applications in the hands of canvassers to be reported for Oct. 30, while many promises have been made for applications to be made later on during the campaign.

The allotment for the entire Fernie District, which includes the following centres, Elko, Jaffray, Galloway, Waldo, Baynes, Flagstone, Newgate, Dorr, Roosville, Hosmer, Natal, Michel, Corbin and Crow's Nest, is $200,000, and the committee have no fear that this amount will be well oversubscribed.

In this connection the committee desire it to be remembered by all that the commissions obtained from subscriptions will not go to any individual canvasser or canvassers. The commissions as agreed at a public meeting held some time ago are all to be donated to the Reconstruction Committee Memorial Building Fund for the returned boys. So bear this in mind—it makes no difference to whom you make your application, the Memorial Building Fund will derive the entire benefit.

COMMUNICATION

Oct. 29, 1919.

Free Press:

Dear Sir—Kindly give me space in your next issue of the Free Press for a copy of a letter I have received from the Regal Films, Ltd., which I think will satisfactorily explain the mix-up in the pictures shown at the recent benefit for Jos. Dodd.

F. Brindley,
Gladstone Local Union, Fernie.

Dear Mr. Brindley—I am in receipt of your letter of Oct. 24 and it is with sincere regret that you should have received a program for the benefit show that was mixed up in such a way that you were unable to get any satisfactory picture from same, and I humbly apologize that such an error should have occurred. It is very rare indeed that such a mixup as this occurs, but it seems these reels through some unforseen error were returned to Calgary in th same can from a previous exhibitor, and on account of its late arrival in Calgary it was necessary that we have same revised in a hurry and our film inspector did not ascertain as to whether they were all belonging to the subject or not. However, I trust you have returned this shipment so as to have same arrive in Calgary not later than Saturday evening, so that we may separate the different reels and eliminate any further error. Incidentally, I might mention that the picture "Boston Blackie's Little Pal" is today supposed to be playing another town and we will no doubt hear from this exhibitor regarding same.

If it is possible that you can put on another such benefit show, I am sure you will have my most hearty co-operation and I would see to it personally that you will have no further cause to compain as to matters of this nature. We are, Very truly yours,

Regal Films, Ltd.

CRANBROOK JOBBERS CHANGES HANDS

It has been generally known that for some time negotiations were under way for the merger of the Cranbrook Jobbers with the Western Grocers, Ltd., the largest operators in their line in Canada, with headquarters at Winnipeg. Representatives from Winnipeg of the Western Grocers have been in Cranbrook and Nelson during the past few weeks investigating business conditions and making a study of the business methods of both the Cranbrook and Nelson Jobbers. George F. Stevenson, of this city, has received word that the deal has been consummated. The transaction, one of the largest ever recorded in this section, involves approximately $200,000. The Western Grocers, Limited, have a chain of warehouses from Port Arthur to Vancouver, Cranbrook (which includes the Nelson branch) making the twelfth.

The organization of the Cranbrook Jobbers was handed over intact. The business of the concern will be operated under the charter of the Cranbrook Jobbers during the next year. Geo. F. Stevenson has been appointed president and managing-director of the local concern, with supervision over the Nelson house.

Several changes are under consideration. Warehouse facilities will be extended, an additional story being planned. Just whether the proposed improvements will be carried out this fall or not is not definitely decided upon. Fifteen thousand dollars is an approximate figure of the proposed work to be undertaken.

The personnel of the staff will remain as at present.

In conversation with George F. Stevenson, the managing-director of the company, the Courier representative gleaned a few interesting facts which will prove of interest to readers of this paper.

The Cranbrook Jobbers was organized in April, 1911, under the management of Mr. Stevenson. In July, of that year, the concern commenced business. In 1916 the Nelson Jobbers was opened, Mr. Stevenson taking charge and remaining at that place until a short time ago. The Cranbrook Jobbers was purely a local company, being backed by a number of Cranbrook business men.—Courier.

J. R. McEWING PASSES AWAY

Word was received today of the death of our well known townsman, John R McEwing, who has been on an extended visit with friends in Brockville, Ont. The sad event, which took place very suddenly last evening, was not entirely unexpected, as the deceased had suffered a severe stroke of paralysis about four years ago, from which he never fully recovered.

Mr. McEwing, who was one of Fernie's most highly respected citizens, was an old timer here, having arrived about 1900 from Carman, Man., where he conducted a bake shop. For a time after he first came he worked for Alex. Beck, but later purchased the business and built up a fine trade. He was a prominent member of the local Masonic order and a charter member of the local Odd Fellow lodge.

He leaves one brother, Robt. McEwing, of Fernie, to mourn his death. His brother leaves this evening for Brockville, where the funeral will take place.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

According to the story related by Louie Hong, a Chinese gardener operating a ranch about a mile north of this city, and corroborated by two other Chinamen, this ranch last Saturday at dusk was the scene of a doldup, which operation is estimated to have netted the two white male participants about $200. The details are that about 8.00 p.m. two Chinese, Lou Chuck and Lou Tom were picking over vegetables in the roothouse, when suddenly two white men appeared before them and demanded that they forthwith "stick up their hands." The descriptions of the highwaymen practically all agree, they being short men, dressed in long coats, wearing caps and the face below the eyes covered with black scarfs, which acted as complete masks. Each of them were armed with revolvers. When the two Chinks had complied with the order to put them up, a search made by one of the robbers is claimed to have derived $40.00 odd from one while the other had no money or valuables on his person. The robbers then commanded these victims to march to the stable, where Louie Hong, the proprietor of the ranch, was just in the act of stabling his horse after returning from the city. The same process was applied to Louie and the sum of about $160.00 in bills and silver taken from him. All the Chinamen were then herded into their shack with orders to remain there and threatened if they attempted to notify the police they would be immediately put to death. As to emphasize this threat, when departing the robbers fired one shot through the window of the shack.

Louie Hong, however, despite this threat, did not long delay his journey to the city and reporting to the provincial police. The authorities immediately took up the case, and in consequence of certain information, Chief Constable A. McNeill paid a visit to the room of a local hotel porter, interviewed the said porter and made a search of his effects. No incriminating evidence was found but from statements made by the porter in the small hours of Sunday morning a search warrant was taken out to search a private residence in the city. Here the room of a well known young man was the only part investigated. In his trousers was found $160.65, while from a locked dresser was extracted a 38-calibre Colt revolver, in each chamber of which was a cartridge, one of said cartridges having been exploded. Two boxes of cartridges of similar calibre to the revolver were also found. The arrest was made at this time and the young man placed in custody at the city gaol; he alone being charged with the robbery.

On Wednesday the preliminary hearing was opnned and lasted two days. Evidence was given by three Chinamen, the two provincial constables and the hotel porter. Stipendiary Magistrate Hewat at the conclusion committed the accused for trial. A. Macneil conducted the private prosecution; A. I. Fisher appeared for the accused.

EVERYBODY BOOST

The work along publicity lines which the Board of Trade is carrying on now will undoubtedly bring more prosperous times to Fernie. The average business man appreciates this fact, but many of our private citizens seem to think that the hotels and garages are the only ones who will benefit by increased tourist travel through here. This is an entirely wrong idea. Whilst they are the first to get a crack at the tourists, who stay off here, by no means are they the only ones. Practically every line of business gets its share because there are very few tourists who start away from home with everything they need on their trip. The carrying capability of their cars does not permit it. This is noticeably so when ladies are in the party. A fairly close tab has been kept on the tourists who have passed through here this summer and it has been noticed that a great many of them have visited most of the stores. This increased business is what should interest the private citizen who is a property owner because property values are governed solely by the progress of the community.

We who have lived here for a number of years have taken our beautiful scenery as a matter of course, but we are now realizing that it is a very valuable asset to us. Tourists all express wonder and delight and say it is one of the most beautiful spots they have seen, and also expressed surprise that this fact is not better known. It is for this reason that the Board of Trade has adopted their publicity campaign, and it is up to everybody in town to help them boost. Here is where the private citizen comes in. Most of us have relatives and friends living in other parts of Canada and the States and by sending them some pictures of our scenery there is little doubt that the desire to come and see it will be roused in the minds of many of those who receive them; even if they themselves are unable to come, pictures are usually shown around and in that way many prospective visitors will be reached.

Mr. Spalding has spent the greater part of this summer in taking an entirely new lot of views of the best scenic points in this district and has a wonderful collection now. We were up to his studio to look at them today and were surprised at the beauty of them. He has most of them ready for sale now and will have them all ready by next week, when he is going to make a big showing of them. We would advise everybody to see them. Also, when up at his studio, to take a look at the tourist register and read down the remarks column what tourists from all over the country have written about our scenery and roads. This will convince even the most skeptical of the splendid opportunity Fernie has of becoming a very popular tourist resort if we all make a concerted effort.

SPEAKERS BOOST LOAN

A public meeting was held on Thursday evening in the G. W. V. A. Assembly Hall, under the auspices of the local Victory Loan Committee, upon which occasion Hon. W. R. Ross and C. J, Sampson, both from Vancouver, were the speakers of the evening. There was a goodly number of citizens, who turned out for the dual purpose of hearing what was to be said about the Victory Loan and also to shake hands with Hon. Mr. Ross. The speeches were very interesting and undoubtedly will have the desired effect in stimulating local enthusiasm, which is always necessary to get the subscribers down to the business in hand, namely, of making sure that the Victory Loan of 1919, in so far as Fernie is concerned, will be a complete success.

Mr. Ross has not lost any of his ability as a convincing speaker, in fact if such were possible, is more able than when he resided in our midst. At the concusion of the public meeting he also addressed those present at the Orpheum theatre.

Mr. Sampson, organizer from Provincial Headquarters, congratulated the local committee on the good work performed here, emphasizing the fact that the organization perfected here was equal to any within the province and far superior to many. The committee and local canvassers were also complimented for donating the commissions for such a noble purpose, namely, the Memorial Building Fund.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Corrie, Thursday evening, Oct. 30, when their sister, Miss Sadie Clapp, daughter of Geo. Clapp, formerly of Fernie, was united in marriage to Mr. Cecil B. Anderson, returned veteran, formerly of Dundee, Scotland. The bride was given away by Archie Corrie, Miss Dorothy Corrie being bridesmaid. The bridegroom was supported by Jas. McNicholas, the marriage ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Batzold. After the ceremony the bridal party and a few intimate friends of the bride and bridegroom, sat down to a wedding supper. The happy couple have taken up housekeeping on Howland avenue. We wish them a happy and prosperous life.

PREPARING FOR BIG CUT

During the past week the timber holdings, logging equipment and saw mill of the Fernie Lumber Co. were taken over by the firm of O'Neill & Irvine, of Spokane, Wash., who intend to carry on an extensive operation, commencing as soon as possible. The holdings comprise several thousand acres of timber limits, with approximately 200 million feet of merchantable timber, in addition to which there are large quantities of poles, mining props and fence posts. The plant of the Fernie Lumber Co. owing to that company going into liquidation, had not operated for the past six years, but the new concern, according to present plans, intend to go into the project on a large scale. The sawmill, at present located about a mile north of the city, will be moved about three miles farther out to a site on Hartley Creek, at which point it will be more practicable to deliver the logs from the bush. In order to transport the logs a flume about four or five miles in length will be constructed at a cost of about $30,000. Camps are being erected in the limits and roads are being cut at the present time, and provided the weather remains favorable great progress towards being permanently established this winter will be made.

The amount involved in this deal is not being publicly announced but it is a well known fact that same required some hundreds of thousands of dollars to complete the transfer, in addition to the necessary outlays for removing and renovating the mill, construction of the flume, camps, and roads, etc. The mill when completed will have a capacity of at least 75000 feet per day and will be operated steadily. The company will employ a large crew of men this winter in any event, and if successful in getting the preliminary work accomplished a cut of at least fifteen million will be taken off. In these holdings, operating at maximum capacity, it will require a ten year operation to cut off all the timber available.

The firm of O'Neil & Irvine is a very responsible concern, having successfully operated in the State of Washington in large enterprises and are also connected with the firm of O'Neill, Irvine & Mann, operating a smaller plant near Salmo, B.C.

This revival in the local lumbering industry is very welcome to this city and with similar activities in other industries in the immediate district will materialy benefit Fernie.

COAL STRIKE SITUATION

Washington, Oct. 30.—Federal government agencies moved swiftly today to meet the situation which will result from the strike of bituminous coal miners Saturday. Developments included:

Orders to railroads to confiscate all coal in transit if necessary to build up a reserve for operation of the roads.

Reestablishment of the priorities list of fuel administration, so that the railroads, public service utilities and essential industries will have first call on whatever coal is mined and on that in storage.

Preparation of an executive order establishing maximum prices for coal, and completion of plans by the department of justice to punish those guilty of profiteering and hoarding.

Announcement by Secretary of the Interior Lane that the government would not hesitate to curtail consumption of coal in industries fifty per cent so that essential industries might be kept in operation.

General discussion of the situation by President Wilson's cabinet, which met in special session at the call of Secretary of State Lane.

Working out of plans by which miners who wish to continue work will be afforded every protection, including that of federal troops, should that become necessary.

At the conclusion of the special cabinet meeting, Attorney General Palmer announced that the fuel administrator would take control of the handling of coal, and would use his authority under the Lever Act to take whatever steps might be necessary to meet the situation.

Indianapolis, Oct. 30.—Backed by sentiment displayed in yesterday's conference of officials of the union, the executive board of the United Mine Workers of America met here today to finish preparations for the coming strike of bituminous coal miners. No development could avert a strike, it was stated, but some change in the attitude of the operators might result in the shortening of the tie-up according to union men.

More than 350,000 bituminous miners will be affected by the strike order, and an immediate and complete tieup of the soft coal industry is predicted by the union leaders.

MINING DEAL COMPLETED

A. B. Trites returned on Wednesday from New York, where he and his partner, R. W. Wood, have put through a big deal in connection with the property of the Premier Gold Mining Co., formerly known as the Bush Mines, of Stewart, B.C..

Interviewed by a Free Press representative, Mr. Trites stated that a substantial interest in the company had been purchased by the American Mining & Smelting Co., Guggenheim Bros., Miner C. Keith, president of the United Fruit Co., and Isaac Untermyer, all big New York capitalists.

The company has been re-organized with R. W. Wood, president; M. C. Keith, vice-president; H. A. Guess, managing director; and W. R. Wilson, H. B. Price, I. Untermyer and R K. Neill, of Spokane, directors.

It is the intention of the company to immediately commence the development and operation of the mines on a large scale. The entire development will be in the hands of the American Mining & Smelting Co., with H. A. Guess in charge.

STORM SASH & DOORS—It looks like an early cold winter. We can save you fuel bills by fitting your windows and doors with storm protection. —Kennedy & Mangan.

J. A. Broley is in from the south country today. He says that the heavy frost of last week did great damage to the potato and apple crops in the Rooseville Valley. He lost over 1000 boxes of appes and nearly all his potato crop.

Owing to the possibility of a general coal strike the demand for local coal has been very heavy. However, as the strike order does not extend to District 18, there seems to be no reason for apprehension on the part of those who are not heavily stocked.

The local municipal pot is beginning to warm up. It is said that there will be at least three candidates in the field for the mayoralty chair, and the names of Mayor Uphill, G. G. Henderson and ex-Mayor Geo. B. Thomson are frequently mentioned in connection with that position, but none of the gentlemen have yet publicly announced themselves as candidates.

Owen Lennox, secretary of the Trail Football Club, accompanied by his wife and baby, are visiting here, and there is a probability that he may make his home here. Mr. Lennox is trying to have all the clubs in East Kootenay affiliate with the British Columbia Football Association, as other clubs in the province have done. It is to be hoped he will locate here and help organize football on a large scale, for there is no question that Fernie footballers are fit to appear in any company.

STORM SASH—Order them now before the cold weather. We can fix your windows and doors to keep out cold. Call or telephone 23.—Kennedy & Mangan.

Are you saving? Victory Loan is coming.

INDIA USES MUCH SILVER

A writer in the Boston News Bureau says:

As the Orient was willing to accept silver in place of gold or commodities furnished by the Allies during the war, it was to the interest of the United States and Allies that foreign trade balances should, as far as possible, be settled in silver rather than in gold. It was better, also, than by stabilizing exchange or raising credits. The latter expedients only defer the final settlement in gold. The settlement of the Oriental balances in silver during the war represented a definite settlement, calling for no further adjustment.

Normally, India had an adverse trade balance of about $90,000,000 before the war, but by the end of 1917 the balance is said to have grown to nearly $400,000,000 in her favor. London could not satisfy this Indian demand and so Lord Reading was sent over here in 1917 to induce the United States government to come to the aid of Great Britain with our store of silver dollars, the only supply in the world left availabe.

According to officia figures, India has absorbed, since April, 1913, 1,200,000000 silver rupees about 404,166,000 ounces or roughly $400,000,000.

How seriously the situation is viewed in Britain is gathered from the following remarks delivered recently by Sir James Meston, the financial member of the Indian Government, in his budget speech:

"Few would suspect the forbidding portals of the finance department of harboring a romance, and yet the whole story of how Sir Wm. Meyer and his trusty henchmen held the gate against incontrovertibility and its attendant woes, and of how our old friend Sir James Brunyate fought our battle simultaneously in Washington—the whole story is as good as any romance to those who, like myself, were anxiously awaiting the situation from London. It seemed from week to week an utter impossibility that the Government of India could possibly escape from the suspension of specie payments, and yet the feat was accomplished, and India owes no inconsiderable debt of gratitude to those whose skill and tenacity averted the misfortune.

"The crisis, however, has a lesson and that lesson is that we are on permanently unsafe ground until India is educated up to abandoning its habit of hoarding money in unsettled times. India's reputation as the sink of the precious metals is an unhappy one, and we all trust that in time she will outlive it. Meanwhile, government cannot possibly go on meeting the insane demand for silver rupees, which disappear from circulation as soon as they are minted, without serious effects on the world price of silver, already far too high for comfort. There is absolutely no justification for the continuing panic which has drawn 1,200,000,000 silver rupees from our mints during the last four years, and unless it is checked and the hoarded coins restored to circulation we may be forced to reconsider the whole basis of our currency and exchange policy."

When the Federal Reserve Board removed the ban on silver exports, the action was accepted everywhere as heralding the beginning of a new era in silver. "Silver has come into its own," people said. "India needs silver, China needs silver, the world needs silver. Europe must have silver to fortify its paper inflated currency. There cannot be other than a soaring market for silver."

Such were the optimistic beliefs expressed generally, excepting in bullion circles. There, experts know, what most people overlook, that silver is a commodity, the market for which, like few others, is subject to government necessities. In the absence of any definite knowledge as to future government demands, dealers refuse to share in extravagant predictions as to how high silver is apt to go with an export ban lifted.

Sventy-five per cent of the annual silver production has been going to India—the sink, as it is called; for there it stays and disappears from view. As one silver authority put it, "It is the market for the other 25 per cent production that is expected to govern the price of the whole 100 per cent. If you will tell me what the Indian Government is going to do about silver now, I could give you some idea of where the price of silver is going."

India has always been the enigma of silver. But it is more so than ever today. It is impossible to get bullion dealers to prognosticate. They deal in only a small portion of a market—the great part being at the uncertain disposition of the Indian government; for you cannot ship silver into India without the authority of the Indian government.

"When people tell you," said this silver authority, "that silver is bound to go sky high under present conditions, it is fair to ask them whether regarding that 25 per cent of open supply or that 75 per cent of Indias' usual quota. And you will not find anyone who is able to tell you definitely what India is going to do about silver.

"India's absorption of silver is as much a matter of fancy as of trade. It is much easier to gauge the price of a commodity like wheat, because there we have something that represents a definite human demand.

"As the Indian demand for silver has been most intense for the past two or three years, I think my guess as good as anybody's when I say that if there is to be any change at all in the Indian silver demand it will be less."

HOW A CAT SEES AT NIGHT

All the members of the cat tribe have what we call whiskers, and they are not there for ornament. Each bristle is equipped with highly sensitive nerves, and as the fierce animal makes its dash these nerves serve to guide it. It feels its way, as it were, with them. Its eyes it keeps on the object of the chase, and the nerves in the hairs warn it of obstructions. The whiskers are simply specialized organs of touch which many animals possess. . . .

Cats and other animals do not really see in utter darkness. They would not see if you shut them up in a dungeon from which every ray of light were excluded. Their eyes are not intended to enable them to see in perfect darkness. These splendid organs of theirs are fashioned to enable them to collect such light as is obtainable at night, to concentrate it and see by it.

The pupil of the eye is widely expanded in the dark to catch every abailable ray of light, and this reflector at the back causes each ray to be thrown back a second time through the retina, so increasing the animal's seeing power, and giving that strange effect which causes us to liken their eyes to balls of fire.—

GET READY TO SMILE! "MAKE YOURSELF AT HOME" WILL SOON BE HERE

Girls and gayety will share honors equally in the big laugh production "Make Yourself At Home," which will be the next attraction at the Grand Theatre on Thursday, Nov. 6.

"Make Yourself At Home" is a comedy with music. The book is by Harry Segall and the lyrics and music by Earl Carroll, who wrote the music for "Pretty Mrs. Smith," "So Long Letty," "Canary Cottage," and "The Love Mill." Besides the above mentioned productions, Mr. Carroll is the composer of that world-renowned hit "Isle D'Amour," which was whistled and hummed from one end of the globe to the other.

The book of "Make Yourself At Home" has the advantage of a decided and entertaining plot and it has proven a big laugh show at every performance.

Special attention was paid to the selection of the chorus and the outcome was most astonishing.

The company numbers 25 people and in the cast of principals are Milton Schuster, Mickey Hanley, Vera Stanley, Grace Wasson, Trixie Saul and several high class specialties. The company is said to carry the greatest variety of costly wardrobe used by any company on tour. The company just recently played Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Moose Jaw and Medicine Hat. Engaged now for an early New York run starting in February.

Fish to the value of $815,586 were caught in the waters of District No. 3 during the month of September. The district embraces an area extending from Howe Sound north to Cape Caution, including the waters surrounding Vancouver Island. The bulk comprised salmon, $799,920 worth of this fish being caught. The actual weight of salmon was 99,990 cwt. Pilchards rank next with a weight of 7534 cwt. This at the rate of $1.50 a cwt. would net the fishermen a sum of $11,301. The other varieties of fish were caught in smaller quantities. They are: cod, $2430; herring, $508; halibut, $480; soles, $65; flounders, $240; skate, $20; bass $10; rock cod, $357; perch, $175; and clams, $80.

COMPLETELY CRIPPLED

Terrible Experience of Mr. J. Harrop

It is seldom that anyone who has been continually exposed to every weather condition does not contract some form of Kidney or Rheumatic trouble. In many cases, cold, settling in the kidneys, so weakens those important organs that they are unable to filter the waste and poison out of the blood. The latter is carried throughout the body, causing uric acid to accumulate in the joints, with consequent rheumatism, stiff joints, swollen ankles, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, constipation, torturing pains in back and side and head. These ills can all be made right. Gin Pills give quick, certain and sure relief. Read what Mr. J. Harrop writes to us:—

"I have been crippled up so completely that I could not stand. Work was out of the question. A few doses of Gin Pills put me right. I cannot praise Gin Pills too much, and every home should have a box."

Gin Pills can help you. If you suffer from backache, or have that dreadful feeling of lassitude, with floating specks before the eyes, highly-colored urine, stone in the bladder and general debility, get Gin Pills at once. At all druggists or dealers, 50c. Money refunded if you are not relieved. A sample large enough to demonstrate its value, free on request.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

BRITISH SALVAGING SHIPS

The British are energetically at work undoing to a certain extent the work of the U-boat. Already it is reported that ships to the value of $250,000,000 have been raised by the Admiralty's salvage department. In the case of colliers and some other vessels, the cargoes also are regained. Of course, costs of salvagaing are heavy but the profits are sufficient to warrant the effort.

No unusual methods are employed by the salvaging departments. Steamers with the most modern pumps and powerful lifting lighters are used now as heretofore. Until new methods are evolved there will be many ships in deep water which will stay there, but the majority of the sinkings were in comparatively shallow water. It even has been said that the Lusitania might be raised or, at least, the bullion in her cargo recovered. In this connection it is interesting to note that $9,500,000 worth of bullion recently was taken from the wreck of the Laurentic.

Occasionally the divers and their surface helpers bring up a German submarine and perhaps a number of secrts of those craft have been revealed to the Admiralty. While the submarine fleet was surrendered after the armistice, it is well known that the Germans had removed many devices which were peculiar and valuable accessories to these craft.

SOUR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach sweetener in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

WESTERN FARMLANDS BOOM ONLY STARTING

Farm lands in the good agricultural districts of the West will be much in demand in the next two years, according to Arthur Jackson, Winnipeg, farm land agent, who says that the movement of American farmers to Western Canada has only just begun. That the American who are already flocking into the country intend to settle down is evidenced by the fact that they are bringing stock and implements with them.

The reason for the influx of Americans is the boom in Middle West farm lands. Farmers in Iowa and similar states can sell their land now for as high as $415 an acre, and coming to Canada purchase the best of our western lands for from $20 to $85 an acre, depending on location.

So great is Mr. Jackson's faith in the marketable value of farm lands in Western Canada that he expects to take a trip in about six weeks through North and South Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Ohio and Illinois, where he will place large blocks of it on the realty markets. Later he will visit the eastern provinces of Canada for the same purpose.

HANDLING THE I. W. W. IN BELLINGHAM

After suffering for some time the nuisance of an I.W.W. headquarters and the interminable agitation and jangling that such an institution imposes upan any community, aroused public sentiment at Bellingham closed the Wobbly headquarters and the citizens are finding the air much improved and the volume of noise largely reduced.

Commenting upon the fact, the Bellingham Herald says:

"It is to be hoped that the reds understand now that Bellingham is too clean a city to tolerate their presence. When they came here they barricaded themselves behind an array of circus postrs. A few weeks later, growing bolder, they flaunted their I.W.W. sign at their headquarters. The climax of impudence and insult came Sunday night when eight of their number hawked their inflammatory wares on the public streets. The crowds which attended the lecture Sunday night at Liberty hall—a lecture overflowing with the spirit of patriotism—were met as they left the building by the reds and pressed to buy Wobbly literature. To such a pass had affairs come—that the bolshevists felt themselves so completely intrenched that they could openly combat the propaganda on behalf of real Americanims."

What brought the I. W. W. to grief was its contact with real Americanism. The society does very nicely when it confines its work to the ignorant, to aliens, and to the newer citizens of foreign birth who have not yet absorbed American ideas. In the case of these, the I.W.W. has stirred up a tremendous amount of dissatisfaction and trouble. Posing as a society to improve the workman's circumstances, its aim is to keep the workman continually dissatisfied and stirred up. No wage scale, no advance of compensation ever satisfied a Wobbly leader. In fact, giving the workman what he wants is against the Wobbly leader's interests. He is for revolution, for an overturning of our structure of government and a grand, free-for-all, catch-as-catch-can festival of loot. He takes the ignorant and un-Americanized workman to the top of the mountain, poisons his mind, shows him the world and tells him to help himself.

The I.W.W. and its very active emissaries are avowed enemies of the United States and a stench in the nostrils of true Americans. There should be no room for this society anywhere on American soil.—Post-Intelligencer.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE OF CANADA

The Employment Service of the Department of Labor reports that returns from the Dominion and Provincial offices of the Employment Service of Canada for the week ending Oct. 11, show a decrease in placements as compared with the returns of the preceding week. During the week the 91 offices reported that they had referred 8222 persons to employment. This represents a decrease of 837, as compared with the previous week, when 7786 persons were given employment.

During the week 9097 applicants were registered, of whom 610 were women and 8487 men. The number of vacancies notified by employers totalled 9174, of which 705 were for women and 8469 were for men. The number of soldiers reported as placed was 2670 or 38.4 per cent of the total placements.

COAL STRIKE IS A CRIME

"I am an American, free born, with all the pride of my heritage. I love my country, with its institutions and traditions. With Abraham Lincoln I thank God we have a country where men may strike." With such mock heroics President Lewis of the mine workers' organization dodges the issue and the facts.

Fourth of July declamation can not hide from the public the facts of the heartless, unjustifiable threat by the miners' officials to order the workers out of the mines at the beginning of winter and let millions of children, women, aged people and infirm freeze, rather than yield to President Wilson's appeal to submit the controversy to arbitration.

The mine owners, as Secretary of Labor Wilson informs the country, yielded promptly and unqualifiedly to the president's commands. President Lewis and his lieutenants rejected it. They do not want their extravagant demands to go to the judgment of arbitration.

Their declaration of war is against the American people more than the owners of the mines. It is the public, as President Wilson says, that will suffer most. The mine owners could grant all the demands and pass along the payment in full to the consumers of coal. They could advance wages the demanded 60 per cent, cut the workday to six hours from portal to portal, trim the working week to five days, and put up the price of coal to a point that would meet the increased costs. But they have refused, and, refusing, are fighting the public's battle more than their own.

The issue can not be glossed over with false and preposterous appeals to the memory of Lincoln. The people and the government are contending with a defiant organization that has adopted the highwayman's tactics and the holdup man's scruples. It will not arbitrate, it will not listen to the president, it will be autocratic and cold to the people's alarm and fears.

Fortunately the American people are not helpless in the face of these threats. The president and his cabinet say that ways and means will be found to operate the mines and give the country coal. Governors of states are pledging their loyal support. The strikers will find, if they go on in their folly and strike, that it never has paid and never will pay for a group of men to set themselves up as superior to and more powerful than public opinion and government.—Spokesman.

Last Saturday Joseph Dodd, a resident of this city since the very early days, passed away after a lingering illness of several years. Deceased until bad health required him to cease working, was employed in the Coal Creek mines and always took a very active interest in the miners' organization, although he never aspired to represent the miners as a union officer. He came to this country from England. He was a veteran of the British Navy, and had seen service in the British army as well during the Zulu campaign and the South African war. He was highly respected in this city and had a host of close friends whose sympathy is extended to his wife and son, by whom he is survived. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon from the family resi-

The G.W.V.A. Concert Party dance on Friday evening last was not as largely attended as was expected. These talented singers had contributed largely to the success of every entertainment that has been held lately and they were entitled to a good attendance at the dance.

A citizens committee comprising the moral reform element in the city, has been formed for the purpose of seeing that next year's council place themselves on record for a clean town. The committee are busy rustling names for the voters list, which closes today, and they propose to have a ticket in the field who will pledge themselves to put the lid on tight.

A. Pritchard, of Vancouver, President of the O.B.U., addressed a meeting in the Grand Theatre on Wednesday evening. One might think that the miners would get wise after a while to these leaches who go around the country endeavoring to stir up trouble, strife and fanacicism. The miners of this town lost from three to five hundred dollars each through following the leadership of these men during the past summer.

Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.L.A. for Vancouver, will address two meetings in Fernie either next week or the week following (date to be announced later)—a public meeting in the evening and a mass meeting of women in the afternoon. While this distinguished and brilliant speaker is sure of a large audience wherever she goes, it is hoped that not a citizen of Fernie will miss the opportunity of hearing her while here. It is expected that every woman in Fernie will feel it a duty as well as pleasure to hear Mrs. Smith in the afternoon. These meetings are not of a poitical nature, but are in the interest of public welfare.

GRATUITY TURNED DOWN DOWN BY COMITTEE

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—The parliamentary committee on soldier civil re-establishment rejects the proposal for a general distribution of grants or gratuities on the ground that the country is financially unable to pay, in its findings which are likely to be submitted to parliament. The general scheme for re-establishemnt submitted by the G.W.V.A. and also the $2000 gratuity scheme are thus rejected.

The G.W.V.A. proposal was to concern men who were able to establish their need before a national board. The parliamentary committee concedes the necessity of further re-establishment and in certain particulars recommends improvements and extension of the work now carried on by its various departments of the government together with some new lines of work to be undertaken involving an estimated expenditure of $35,000,000.

Gratuities to Canadians who enlisted in the Royal Air Force and other imperial units, $9,000,000.

Rebate of transportation expenses paid by dependents who returned to Canada prior to November 11, 1918—$1,000,00.

Provision for extra items of expeiditure such as clothing allowance to S. C. R. patients, pay and allowance to trainees taken on strength of the S. C. R. and subsequently not approved; care of sub-normal cases; necessitious cases, pensions, under arrangement with patriotic fund; loans to disabled men for tools, equipment, training and education; cashing of cheques at par for Canadians who joined imperial units; unemployed relief during winter, estimated about $25,000,000.

The findings as they are likely to be submitted to parliament may be summarized as follows:

1. Free clothing to patients of S.C.R.
2. Equalization of gratuities for Imperials.
3. Equalization of pay and allowances for those undergoing medical treatment with S.C.R.
4. Vocational courses lengthened when necessary.
5. Delay in authorizing vocational course to be reduced.
6. Pay and allowance for those recommended for vocational training, and subsequently not approved.
7. Immediate investigation of problem cases, with immediate financial assistance when necessary.
8. Suggestion that trainees receive allowance upon completion of course until employment found rejected.
9. Training with industries recommended to graduate scale allowances.
10. Employment female ward occupational aides to be confined to dependents of soldiers.
11. Extension of follow-up system.
12. Suggested increase of pension referred to committee on pensions next session with recommendation that relief when necessary be tendered through patriotic fund.
13. S .S. B. to give special attention to the granting of loans upon small holdings.
14. Investigation of irrigation small holding scheme of Noulan Caucchon, C.E.
15. Issue of special badge to ex-members Canadian naval forces.
16. Exchange at par for former members of naval forces.
17. Abolition of private employment offices.
18. Refund of transportation expenses to dependnts who returned prior to Nov. 11, 1918.
19. Special consideration for employment of those vocationally trained in a permanent capacity in the civil service.
20. Special latitude for S.C.R. for selection of staff.
21. No provision for overseas mechanics.
22. Loan not exceeding $500 to disabled men vocationally trained.
23. Loan not exceeding $500 to disabled men not otherwise eligible for vocational training.
24. Investigation into life insurance for disabled men.
25. Investigation into possibilities unemployment insurance.
26. Housing proposals rejected.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Several well known salesmen visited the Old Historic Burg last week. The presence of some men is as good as a tonic. Their smiling countenance is a benediction, their grip an inspiration and their cheery tone a veritable tower of strength. Jim Thistlebeak says a merry heart hath a continual feast. The travelers headliner this week was that well known Charlie Farrell of the Damer Lumsden, reporting business exceptionally good, in fact far exceeding his most sanguine expectations, showing samples of Minister Myles, the Beresford, Miss Canada and others, the names themselves would remind you of the heroes and heroines in Laura Jean Libby's novels, and Charlie, the Broth of a Bhoy, is making them a household word throughout the Dominion and Tobacco Plains. He is so popular in Elko they call him MacFarrell and he takes to the name like a sick nigger to a Methodist church. He claims to have travelled over the entire civilized world and the greater part of Canada and says that Elko is rightly named the Queen City of the Crow's Nest Pass, and the Columbia hotel is like Home Sweet Home to him. Jim Thistlebeak says that if you think the genial and ever refreshing Charlie don't know how to advertise you have another think coming that will give your whole family a bad headache. Come again Charlie when you can stay longer and we'll give you a royal welcome with no country rock in it Your tales are so amusing they would make a petrified mummy laugh at the telling of them. Jimmy Duncan, who worked this district during the construction of the Crow with Big Herb Fullerton for the Imperial Tobacco Co., now with the Rock City Tobacco Co., a salesman and a gentleman, and amid the incense of his fragrant tobaccos and Quebec Havanas, his language seems to flow from him like the Elk river from its eternal source. Fred Ritchie, another old timer, as full of his old time pep as a yearling cowpuncher, a hustler of the A. I. Brand and as gentle as a sheepherder's faithful dog. He was travelling with Jim Shierlock, the well known overland salesman, going east. Earsine, the flour man. Bob Laslett, his first trip here and on the road. We have him under observation and will give him everything that's coming to him after his next performance. McNeill from Vancouver (no relation to the charming Miss Florence McNeill of Corset Fame and whose eyes are bluer than the language of a mule skinner) with canary seed, and a side line of miners boots, stock food and fly chaser for spring delivery, said that his stock food would make cows lay eggs and hens give milk. Cassidy of Lethbridge, his lofty brow corrugated like a tin washboard, going through the Old Historic Burg as if Gorman was after him, accompanied by Brady. The oilman, Dunlap Richardson and Penn of syrup and corn starch fame, all seemed anxious to get back to Lethbridge to attend the wedding of the charming and popular Miss McAdoo to Jim Thompson of the Active Service Battery Station. Cassidy was carrying a set of furs with him and had charge of the gaoline broncho, while his hair stood up like the quills on a porcupine, cutting the curves on two wheels. Reggie C. Everett, from over the Don, Toronto, with all kinds of stationery and pencils lined with lead. Walter Stark of Winnipeg, dealing in home and fruit tracts. King and Corley of Calgary with flour and bacon, and still they come. Corp. J. T. Jones and Constable F. Brady of the R.N.W.M.P. going south Constable Brady making a return trip.

Gib Todhunter, son of Mrs. John Todhunter of Cumberland House, Riverside Drive, shot three fine black tail deer on Saturday, Oct. 25. Gorman, the human ferret and well known gunman, got three sheep the same day.

Several contractors have had to shut down on account of the bad roads in the Flagstone and Roosville Valley districts. Thousands of dollars have been wasted in foolish road construction north of Fort Steele and will be brought out at the next session of parliament. All appeals from the settlers in these districts are ignored. The good book tells us that God made the world in seven days but he didn't have an Oliver government to deal with.

Keep Fernie Humming

Canada is running a great National Store.

Great Britain and other lands come here to buy our surplus agricultural and industrial products. These are the orders that are keeping Canadians busy and prosperous. That is where the money comes from that is paying our farmers for their surplus products and providing full pay envelopes for our workers.

But Great Britain and our allies are temporarily short of "cash." So Canada must extend them "credit"—just as any storekeeper extends credit to any customer whose financial standing is good.

The success of the Victory Loans 1917 and 1918 made possible the giving of these credits.

A continuation of these credits and the maintenance of our valuable overseas markets — depend upon the success of the Victory Loan 1919.

You will therefore plainly see how closely bound up with the Victory Loan 1919 is the prosperity of everyone in Canada, without exception.

Do not think your individual cooperation "does not matter."

It does matter.

Unless Canadians to the last man support the Victory Loan, it will not be the success that our continuous prosperity demands.

Let Fernie do its share to keep things humming.

That Scrapheap

Lord Fisher was a great seaman, and is still, despite his age, a vigorous personality. Nevertheless, behind his trumpet call to "sack the lot and scrap half the fleet" we seem to hear echoes of a similar whirlwind campaign in 1905, when 155 British men-of-war were put on the scrapheap, and most of them had to be rescued therefrom almost immediately because there were not enough ships to do the work of the navy. At that time Lord Fisher was First Sea Lord. He concentrated the fleet in the North Sea to meet the coming storm, but he concentrated so much expenditure on big ships that the fleet was perilously short of destroyers and cruisers when the storm broke. We are no advocates of a big building programme now. War-time construction has given us a fleet ample in numbers and in quality for all immediate purposes. That fleet, however, has a multitude of duties to carry out, among them showing the flag in the distant. seas.—London Daily Express.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

"Moral" and "Morale"

The Prince of Wales's apt use of the common war phrase about "national moral" may be allowed, I suppose, to place the English form of the word definitely in its place. It was one of the little curiosities of the war that the struggle between "morale" and "moral" was well maintained over a long period. At the beginning of the war it is certain that very few writers ventured to use the English form of a word always common in military history. No doubt, the reason is that we already work the word rather hard. There is its meaning on the purely ethical side—such a thing is moral or immoral; there is also the use of it to point a story; and there was, therefore, a certain sense of unfamiliarity in its use as the equivalent of the French word, however correct that use might be. Now there is little doubt that it has made good its position, and it gives one of the few cases in which the English language has established itself after a long period of subjection to the use of a foreign phrase.—Westminster Gazette.

Speculation is rife in Victoria with regard to the successor to Sir Frank Barnard, whose tenure of office at government house expires at the end of the year. It is understood that Col. Prior has the refusal of the post, but is disinclined to accept the position. He was the first cabinet minister appointed from British Columbia, and later was premier of the province for a time. His long career of public service in both the federal and provincial spheres make him a natural selection for the position. If Col. Prior declines, the post may go to A. C. Flumerfelt of Victoria or to W. C. Nichol, of Vancouver.

BAYER

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, refuse them—they are not Aspirin at all.

Your druggist gladly will give you the genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" because genuine Aspirin now is made by Canadians and owned by a Canadian Company.

There is not a cent's worth of German interest in Aspirin, all rights being purchased from the U. S. Government.

During the war, acid imitations were sold as Aspirin in pill boxes and various other containers. But now you can get genuine Aspirin, plainly stamped with the safety "Bayer Cross."—Aspirin proved safe by millions for Headache, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Colds, Neuritis, and Pain generally.

PAINTING YOUR OWN PORCH

In the Voice of the People column last week were printed letters from two men who pretend to deny to citizens of Chicago the right to apply paint to their own property. We wonder how far such a doctrine is going to reach. And we wonder how many citizens subscribe to it.

The discussion was aroused thus: A woman wrote to the Tribune that her father, having painted his own porch, was waited upon by officials of the union and told that he must pay a fine of $50 to the organization. Upon his refusal to pay this criminal demand he was slugged.

The letter was published in the Voice of the People, and it called forth the two letters appearing the next day. These letters are self-explanatory. But they invite some pertinent questions. Who is it that preaches bolshevistic autocracy in an American labor union? Is the red doctine of Lenine and Trotsky to obtain in Chicago? When did American citizens give away their inalienable right to defend themselves and their homes and to order their personal affairs to suit themselves?

"This is a union town," writes Ivan Babotiwicz in a truly sterling Americanlike way, concluding his letter with the capitalized word "Liberty." Does this patriot entertain the notion that a union town means a town ruled by sovies? He is mistaken.

May a Chicagoan paint his own porch? May he cook his own food? Or must he, on order from the cooks' union, pay a union cook to do it? Must a Chicago woman leave off baking bread because the bakers' union reserves the right? Is a citizen liable to be slugged if he brushes his own hat in violation of the hat brushers' union? Polishes his own boots?

Isn't it about time level-headed citizens got together for the reestablishment of some ordinary rights?—Chicago Tribune.

THE STRAITS OF GIBRALTAR

The suggestion made by Mr. Henry Morgenthau that the United States should have joint control with Great Britain over the Straits of Gibraltar will hardly meet with very widespread favor in British lands. It appears to be put forward with salutory intentions from the American standpoint, but there is a good deal of British history behind the Empire's possession of Gibraltar and should the time come when Britain gives up any share in that great fortress, the likelihood is it will go to Spain. Mr. Morganthau's proposal is undoubtedly based on the preservation of America's commercial interests in the Mediterranean, and is legitimate to that extent, but it is not so clear that the share in control of the Straits would in any way forward the League of Nations idea.

The United States is being asked to assume a mandate for Armenia, but has made no answer to the proposal, which has not yet been considered by the Senate. In the meantime it is Britain, and to some extent France, who is protecting the Armenians. When their freedom comes, it is Britain who will have set them free. Britain does not want the responsibility of their future, except as a member of the League of Nations, but the question will arise as to why she should jeapordize any of her other world-wide interests by abandoning her claim to the control of the entrance to the Mediterranean. The world is in far too unsettled a state for decisions such as that which Mr. Morganthau proposes. The possession of Gibraltar is one of the pledges of naval power, and upon that power, as the late war showed, the safety of the Empire, and incidentally the safety of civilization, depends.—Colonist.

HOLLAND'S DANGER

If the land of Holland continues to sink, there is danger that the subsidence will become so great that, in spite of the progress of engineering science, it will be impossible to continue the ceaseless struggle with the waters. That is the view which Prof. Molengraaf, of the Polytechnic College of Delft, expressed some years ago before the Geological Mining Society.

A large part of the Netherlands, particularly the western and northwestern provinces, lies below the level of the sea, which is kept from overflowing hundreds of square miles of land by the natural barrier of the long line of sand dunes that fringe the coast, reinforced at two or three points by artificial means. The level of the rivers and many of the canals in such regions is likewise higher than the surrounding country, and the nation has to maintain dikes and embankments at great pains and corresponding expense.

"If," declares Prof. Molengraaf, the total expenditure should exceed the total income, then the common sense of the Dutch people would lead them to withdraw to higher regions."

Opinions differ on the question of whether the ground is still sinking, and what influences are responsible for such a phenomenon. Some experts believe that the phenomena observed are a consequence of certain movements of the sea level.

Mr. J. C. Ramaer is convinced from the results of water-gauge observations that the land of Holland has subsided noticeably, and so has that of the bordering countries and the greater part of the British Isles. He concludes from the entire list of such observations that there has been an average subsidence at the coast line of about eleven inches in each century. Farther inland the subsidence diminishes to perhaps five and one-half inches.

THE DOUKHOBOR.

Strange Citizens of the Far West May Move Again.

If the published reports from Western Canada concerning contemplated changes in the ownership of Doukhobod lands in favor of Canadian soldier settlers are true, one more migration, total or partial, of these Russian peasant communities may yet be witnessed. And so the question is instinctively raised, Whither would they go?

One has associated the Doukhobors so long and definitely with Western Canada that the part of their career which has been the most formative in their history is apt to be overlooked. Their manner of life in the sparsely populated prairie sections of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, or amid the partially cleared but potentially fertile valleys of British Columbia, is the direct outcome of those peculiar conditions which they were compelled to endure in their native Russia. An agricultural folk, with the instinct for settlement highly developed, their migratory movements began when Tzar Alexander I banished the Doukhobortsy, as the community is more correctly termed, to the banks of the River Molochnava, in the neighborhood of the Crimea. Their original home was Kharkow, a city several hundred miles to the southwest of Moscow. The movement spread so rapidly from his common centre that governmental hostility was aroused against them, and their enforced settlement on the Molochnaya was the result.

Just 100 years ago, the Russian Government resumed its hostile measures, which culminated in the final deportation of the community to Transcaucasia; Pobiedonostsev's policy of bringing all religious elements of the empire into conformity with Greek Catholicism being responsible for the severities which attracted the world's attention to the Doukhobors in the nineties. Their refusal to obey the law afforded a pretext for this persecution. In the inhospitable and barren region to which they had been banished, and which was to be their final home in Europe, they nevertheless, by dint of sober living and dogged perseverance in the face of perpetual hardship, managed to prosper. In 1895 they were burning their weapons and refusing to submit to the tyrannies of the Cossack soldiers. Eventually, through the good offices of Count Tolstov and of the Society of Friends in England, some 8,000 were despatched as emigrants to Canada, and there again they not only toiled and thrived, but succeeded, where others indubitably would have failed, in converting to productive uses hundreds of acres of apparently waste land. They amassed comparative wealth as a community, and despised it as individuals. They paid their way. They bought land in province after province, and now they are almost in sight of the waters of the Pacific.

The Doukhobors are a people exiled from their original home, but one cannot live in their vicinity without receiving the impression that they have long lost the sense of country, as the average person understands it. One asks himself: "Are these Russians?" and finds oneself answering: "Scarcely." And if they are not Russians in their allegiance, they seem to be just as improbable Canadians. Standing in their presence, talking with them, watching the men and women at work from morning till night in their fields or barns, or partaking of the rude, rough hospitality of their community houses, this peculiar neutrality does not strike one as difficult to understand. The community is exactly what it is, unprogressive if not stagnant, partly through its odd religious convictions, partly through the stress of political persecution which made its early Motherland impossible to it. The Doukhobors are strangely out of sympathy with the average man's ambitions, or wholly unconscious of them. The one thing certain is that they are peasants. They evidently love work for work's sake, and not for what it may bring to them in this world's goods. They apparently see very little horizon above the furrow which they are ever throwing up. They crave no fortune, no ultimate migration to the city, with its stimulating pleasures, its intellectual entertainment, the thousand and one delights that come in the course of a life spent in the crowded highways of men.

Doukhoborland is truly a topsy-turvy world. Sitting by the great stoves of the Doukhobors, one is strangely conscious that where the Doukhobor is, there is his home. Put him elsewhere, and, like the spider which has found his web rudely disturbed or rent, and mends the torn meshes again and again, he will, out of the compulsion of that simple, primal instinct of his, toil and spin as if nothing had happened, and as if toil were the one thing that counted in the sum total of his universe.

A Glorious Record.

The magnificent record of Canada's national game was made the subject of Brig.-Gen. Gunn in a recent speech. He said that the editor of one of Canada's leading papers had informed him that lacrosse had a larger proportionate representation at the front than any other game played in the Dominion. It was due to the manner in which lacrosse players had responded to the call to enlist that the game had languished since 1914. It had the distinction of being the only game in Canada to be practically killed out by the war.

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE OF THE DOMIONION OF CANADA offers for Public Subscription the Victory Loan 1919

$300,000,000. 5½% Gold Bonds

Bearing interest from November 1st, 1919, and offered in two maturities, the choice of which is optional with the subscriber as follows:

5 year Bonds due November 1st, 1924 15 year Bonds due November 1st, 1934

Principal payable without charge at the Office of the Minister of Finance and Receiver General at Ottawa, or at the Office of the Assistant Receiver General at Halifax, St. John, Charlottetown, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Victoria.

Bonds may be registered as to principal or as to principal and interest, as hereinafter provided, at any of the above-mentioned offices.

Interest payable, without charge, half-yearly, May 1st and November 1st, at any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank.

Principal and Interest payable in Gold. Denominations: $50, $100, $500, and $1,000

Issue Price: 100 and Accrued Interest, Income Return 5½% per Annum

The proceeds of the Loan will be used to pay indebtedness incurred, and to meet expenditures to be made in connection with demobilization (including the authorized war service gratuity to our soldiers, land settlement loans, and other purposes connected with their re-establishment into civil life), for capital outlay upon shipbuilding, and other national undertakings forming part of Canada's industrial reconstruction programme, and for the establishment of any necessary credits for the purchase of grain, foodstuffs, timber and other products, and will be spent wholly in Canada.

Payment to be made as follows:

10% on application; 20% December 9th, 1919; 20% January 9th, 1920; 20% February 10th, 1920; 31.21% March 9th, 1920.

The last payment of 31.21% covers 30% balance of principal and 1.21% representing accrued interest at 5½% from November 1st to due dates of the respective instalments.

A full half-year's interest will be paid on May 1st, 1920, making the cost of the bonds 100 and interest.

Subscriptions may be paid in full at the time of application at 100 without interest, or on any instalment due date thereafter, together with accrued interest at the rate of 5½% per annum.

This Loan is authorized under Act of the Parliament of Canada, and both principal and interest are a charge upon the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

The amount of this issue is $300,000,000, exclusive of the amount (if any) paid for by the surrender of bonds of previous issues. The Minister of Finance, however, reserves the right to allot the whole or any part of the amount subscribed in excess of $300,000,000.

Payments

All cheques, drafts, etc., covering instalments are to be made payable to the Credit of the Minister of Finance. Failure to pay any instalment when due will render previous payments liable to forfeiture, and the allotment to cancellation. Subscriptions other than those paid in full on application must be accompanied by a deposit of 10% of the amount subscribed. Official Canvassers will forward subscriptions or any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank will accept subscriptions and issue receipts.

Subscriptions may be paid in full at time of application at 100 without interest, or on any instalment due date thereafter, together with accrued interest to time of making payment in full. Under this provision, payment of subscriptions may be made as follows:

If paid in full on or before November 15th, 1919, par without interest or 100%.
If remaining instalments paid on Dec. 9th, 1919, balance of 90% and interest ($90.52 per $100).
If remaining instalments paid on Jan. 9th, 1920, balance of 70% and interest ($70.84 per $100).
If remaining instalments paid on Feb. 10th, 1920, balance of 50% and interest ($51.08 per $100).
If remaining instalment paid on Mar. 9th, 1920, balance of 30% and interest ($31.21 per $100).
Payment of instalments or payment in full after November 15th, 1919, can be made only on an instalment due date.

Denomination and Registration

Bearer bonds, with coupons, will be issued in denomination of $50, $100, $500, and $1,000, and may be registered as to principal. The first coupon attached to these bonds will be due on May 1st, 1920.

Fully registered bonds, the interest on which is paid direct to the owner by Government cheque, will be issued in denominations of $500, $1,000, $5,000, $10,000, $25,000, $50,000, $100,000, or any multiple of $100,000.

Payment of Interest

A full half-year's interest at the rate of 5½% per annum will be paid May 1st, 1920.

Form of Bond and Delivery

Subscribers must indicate on their applications the form of bond and the denominations required, and the securities so indicated will be delivered by the bank upon payment of subscriptions in full.

Bearer bonds of this issue will be available for delivery at the time of application to subscribers desirous of making payment in full. Bonds registered as to principal only, or fully registered as to principal and interest, will be delivered to subscribers making payment in full, as soon as the required registration can be made.

Payment of all instalments must be made at the bank originally named by the subscriber.

Non-negotiable receipts will be furnished to all subscribers who desire to pay by instalments. These receipts will be exchangeable at subscriber's bank for bonds on any instalment date when subscription is paid in full. All receipts must be exchanged before 1st June, 1920.

Form of Bonds Interchangeable

Subject to the payment of 25 cents for each new bond issued, holders of fully registered bonds without coupons will have the right to convert into bonds with coupons, and holders of bonds with coupons will have the right to convert into fully registered bonds without coupons, at any time, on application to the Minister of Finance or any Assistant Receiver General.

Forms of application may be obtained from any Official Canvasser, from any Victory Loan Committee, or member thereof, or from any branch in Canada of any Chartered Bank.

Subscription Lists will close on or before November 15th, 1919

AN OPPORTUNITY

The commander of a sunken and doomed submarine kept a diary of his last hours. Long afterward the boat was salvaged and the record found. In one sense it is tragic enough, but in another it is full of hope, for it contains facts that help to show how similar disasters may be avoided. Every thorough story of a catastrophe has a similar effect. Our literature is beginning to take a turn in this direction. Old-fashioned accounts of our successful men described only their successes; now we read of both the ups and the downs. Readers feel that they are getting the reefs in the ocean charted, and learning where they can safely steer. We learn as much from a shipwreck as from a prosperous voyage. Some day a really energetic editor will compel hundreds of unsuccessful business men to supply accurate and thorough accounts of their lives; and from this material, as well as the old-fashioned kind, he will be able to publish more useful articles on business success than the majority of those we read.—Colliers'.

THE PRIEST, HE PRAY TOO MUCH, BY GOSH

A garrulous little Frenchman from down the line was telling the crowd in a Calgary hotel lobby about having been hailed out completely during August. "My wheat, by gosh, she's knee high that day before the hail storm come, she's good for 40 bushels anyway, maybe some more. My Marguerite she say I sure buy a better car than a Ford this fall. She's sick of the Ford, by gosh. I'm say, 'All right cherie, what car you like?' She say, 'O anything but a Ford, when you get such a good crop Narcisse.'

"Well, by gosh in 15 minutes she's hailed out. Not one head of wheat left. Nothing but bare ground. Well, anyway, I save my binder twine, by gosh.

"All my neighbors but three hailed out. That's funny too, by gosh. Last spring when she's dry, we pay the priest plenty good money to pray for rain. These three men not hailed out, they no pay one cent. They say: 'No, by gosh, let the weather man run the weather; I'm not pay.'

"Well, the priest he pray and he pray. Then she rain not much and he pray some more, and by gosh he pray too much; she not only rain by gosh, she hail. And those fellers who not pay, he's not got hailed out. That's funny too by gosh. Next spring when she's dry and the priest ask for collection to pray for rain, I'm say, 'All right mon pere, pray just a little rain, but not too much for hail."—Blairmore Enterprise.

CHURCH AND STATE

The problem of providing for the settlement of an enormous indebtedness incurred by Great Britain on account of the war has inspired some surprising suggestions. The latest and most radical, perhaps, is that of a withdrawal of the state from its traditional support of the established church and realization upon the vast property held by that organization.

"What is wanted," declares a leading exponent of this scheme, "is that the whole property of the church, without exception, should be used for freeing the country from debt. Every single thing belonging to the church should be offered for sale and the best evidence offered that every penny that could be obtained was obtained."

As a starter in the process, it is recommended that Westminster abbey be put up at auction for the highest bidder. A very large sum, it is confidently declared, could be obtained for this building and its connected properties. Undoubtedly. It is eight and a half centuries since the abbey was consecrated under the reign of Edward the Confessor, and if England wants to seell, there will be a rush of commercial dealers in antiques at the auction.—Boston Post.

SCREENING THE RAINBOW

The colored scenes in the Pathe Special Feature, "Infatuation," starring Gaby Deslys, mark the highest point in the achievement of chromatic screen display, in which the House of Pathe was the pioneer more than twenty years ago. The scene depicted is a performance on the stage of the Casino de Paris at the time of the presentation of the spectacular novelty of the human flag, now produced at the New York Hippodrome.

A company of girls mount a huge frame, and the arrangement of their costumes furnishes the colors, first, for the French tricolor, and then for Old Glory. The rest of the brilliant performance is shown with its glittering ballets, evolutions and groupings.

For faithful color production, there were no inconsiderable problems to be met; but the lighting experts and specialists from L'Artiliers du Colcries, the Pathe establishment at Vincennes, figured them out to perfection, with the co-operation of Director Louis Mercanton. The experts at Vincennes were also placed in possession of the color plates of all the costumes, so that the reproduction might be as faithful as human art and skill could make it. The measure of success achieved herein may be judged by this comment of Gaston Picot, critic and reviewer:

"A soul-sweeping chorus of color, with subtle elements of tone and shading and magnificent flashes of light and beauty that charm the eye and set the heart a-siging — the chromatic cinema, not of 'Infatuation,' but of irresistible fascination. The machine has come to art and achieved a bewildering marvel."

"Infatuation" will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 30 and Nov. 1.

MITCHELL LEWIS AT THE ORPHEUM

Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 3 and 4, in "Code of the Yukon"

Mitchell Lewis, who will be remembered for his excellent work in "The Barrier" and several other strong mountain pictures, will appear in his first Select Picture, "Code of the Yukon," at the Orpheum theatre on Monday and Tuesday. The picture is the story of Jean Dubois, a French Canadian prospector, who has discovered a gold mine. Jean is quietly storing away what dust he is able to wash each day in the hope that he will soon have enough to leave the Northwoods on a long journey. He is anxious to start on his hunt for the man who wronged his sister. This is his main object in life.

Suddenly his calm is broken. A horde of gold seekers come to his part of the land. A village soon springs up. "Faro" Telford, a renegade gambler, whom Jean had befriended, is the cause. He has informed his friends that Jean has discovered a gold mine. A gang of mining crooks try to steal the mine. They persuade his wife to leave him. She runs away with one of the members of the gang. Jean is heartbroken but decides to leave the village and devote all his energy to discovering the man who wronged his sister.

Just as he is about to leave the village a girl who is in the employ of Cregan, the leader of the gang of crooks, and who is in love with Jean, informs him that she knows the man who harmed his sister. She tells him that it is Cregan, the same man who has ruined her life. Eventually Cregan and Jean meet. Just as Jean is about to crush his life out a Higher Power intervenes and Cregan is punished in God's way.

Jean's wife returns to him and convinces him that she has not really done anything wrong. He forgives her and sunshine again enters his life.

Staterooms.

There was an old fellow named Shreve who ran steamboats before Jackson fought the redcoats at New Orleans. In Shreve's time the cabins were curtained off just like these new-fangled sleeping-car berths. The old man built wooden rooms, and he named them after the different states, Kentucky, and Illinois and Pennsylvania. So that when a fellow came aboard he'd say: "What state am I in, Cap?" And from this remark the name stateroom has spread all over the world.

Explaining History of Dress.

If one could only know the origin of all the many words we use in our daily talk, one would know much of the history of dress. Many of our most recently adopted clothes words come from France, but five hundred years ago dress terms more usually came from Italy, then the mecca of fashion. Hence, velvet came from "velluto," the Italian word to indicate shaggy. And "camesole," which has recently been revived from an earlier English usage, came from the Italian diminutive of chemise.

First Millionaire.

Stephen Girard of Philadelphia, who lived from 1750 to 1831, was one of the first, if not the first, millionaire in this country. He began as a sailor, became a merchant, shipowner and banker, and at his death left $6,000,000 to found the Girard college, as well as other large benefactions. John Jacob Astor, who established the Astor fortunes by fur trading and land speculation, lived from 1762 to 1848, during which time he amassed about $30,000,000.

St. Agnes' Eve.

The feast of St. Agnes was formerly held as in a special degree a holiday for women. It was thought possible for a girl on the eve of St. Agnes to obtain by divination a knowledge of her future husband. She might take a row of pins and pluck them out, one after another, stick them in her sleeve, singing the while a paternoster, and in this way insure that her dreams would that night present the gentleman in question.

Obstinate Chests-of-Drawers.

E. V. Lucas tells of an innkeeper who in his will set apart the interest on £300 for an annual supper to the newsboys of his town; and of another man who left the interest on £1,000 to pay for "a treat" to certain school children, "to be in the nature of a surprise." Mr. Lucas himself would like to leave the interest on £1,000 "to that maker of chests-of-drawers whose drawers presented least resistance to the user"!

CANADA'S FUTURE DEPENDS ON LOAN

Steady Employment and Prosperity Hangs on Victory Loan.

Canada's future prosperity depends to a great extent upon the success of the Victory Loan. No country can exist upon trade within its own boundaries. Canada counts on the trade with Great Britain and other allied countries to keep the flood of good times in the country.

The surplus products of the farm and the factory find their way across the seas. The revenue of the farmer and the manufacturer is dependent on this trade relationship being sustained. The employment of many hands depends on the orders that come to the firm. The pay envelope only comes with steady employment.

Great Britain and overseas countries are still desirous of continuing trade relations, but, overwhelmed with war expenses, they must be given credits for the time being. The farmer and the manufacturer must be paid for their products and manufactured articles in cash. Therefore, Canada must finance the proposition to keep the tide of commerce coming this way. But in order to have the money on hand to do this great thing, Canada must borrow from her people.

The Victory Loan offers bonds to subscribers paying 5½ per cent. interest. The guarantee behind the bonds makes them an absolutely safe investment. Victory Bonds are accepted as collateral at any bank, and can easily be turned into money at a profit. It is then to the interests of every Canadian to subscribe for all the Victory Bonds he can, for it is profitable, it is patriotic, and it is necessary for the continued prosperity of the country.

CANADA NEEDS MONEY

War Expenditures Still to Be Met From Proceeds of Victory Loan.

The war is over and won; but Canada's main expenditures for war will not be complete until well on into 1920. The $610,000,000 raised last year has all been spent, $400,000,000 having been largely devoted to soldiers—to maintaining them, bringing them home, providing the necessary medical services, training them. Most of the balance of the loan was lent to Great Britain to enable her to buy our surplus products. And money is still necessary — for soldiers, for providing markets, for our surplus products, for the needs of reconstruction. And that is why another Victory Loan is necessary. Canada still needs money, and needs it badly.

Victory Loan 1919 Is Bridge Between War and Peace.

Agricultural and Industrial Prosperity of Canada Depends on Success of the Loan.

Why is it necessary to have another Victory Loan? Have you heard this query? Or have you asked it?

The Victory Loan of this year stands out as the bridge between war and peace. The war is over. Our boys won that. The reconstruction period is dawning and we at home must win that.

Much of the money that Canada is asking for will be needed to clean up the war debt. The expenses of demobilization were heavy, and there is still much of it unpaid. Now that our men are back, let it not be said that we repudiated the debt for bringing them back.

The sick and wounded soldiers still in hospitals are expecting that Canada will care for them and their dependents until they have been returned to health and strength. The hospital services must be maintained at full strength as long as there are returned men needing attention.

Many men through disability are unable to return to their pre-war occupations. The Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment is doing a fine work in training returned soldiers in trades and professions that they can earn a living at, and is following up the training and seeing that they obtain remunerative employment. The maintaining of this branch of reconstructive service calls for much funds, and the Victory Loan will be used to pay for it as well as the other purposes.

Under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, enough money is lent to returned soldiers to enable them to buy and stock a farm. This money will be repaid at a low rate of interest. The soldier is thus given a chance to re-instate himself in civil life, and production is given a boost. Of the total amount of the forthcoming loan, $24,000,000 has been apportioned to finance these soldier-farmers.

Pensions to the disabled and dependents of our glorious dead, as well as the authorized gratuities will be other items on the expense sheet. These are some of the obligations owing to the returned soldier who is now in health.

The maintaining of Canada's prosperity is an important reason why the Victory Loan should be a smashing success. The money is needed to finance the credits to overseas countries so that they may continue their trade relations with us. If Canada cannot give these credits other countries will, and then Canada will lose all that great overseas trade that has been the mainstay of our agricultural and industrial life for so long.

As an investment Victory Bonds are eminent. Paying 5½ per cent., selling above par on the open market, and guaranteed by the Dominion—what further reason can you have for hesitating? The Victory Loan 1919 ought to be oversubscribed, and all right-thinking citizens will do their utmost to see that such a result is obtained.

GERMAN DESERTERS

One hundred thousand soliders and officers of the German armies in the field preferred the relative peace and quiet of neutral countries to the glorious dream of a triumphant entrance into Paris. There are 45,000 deserters in Switzerland, arcording to a report of the German legation at Berne to the German foreign office. Fully as many have gone to Holland and the Scandinavian countries and the odd 10,000 have managed to find their way into overseas countries. The German government has lately proclaimed a general amnesty for all deserters and extended to them an invitation to re-enter the Fatherland, providing however, there are no charges of treason against them.

South Africa's Future

Our greatest and most permanent source of wealth—the land— if not actually neglected, has been merely scratched. For a country of the size and importance of the Union, we have but barely tapped the fringe of its possibilities. The war has shown us what an inexhaustible source of wealth we have in our land. The varieties of soil and climate within South Africa are such that we can grow almost anything that can be grown in any other part of the earth's crust, and our commodities are of a quality that can compare comfortably with those produced elsewhere, and in many instances—wool and mealies, for example—excel them. No one can say that we make the fullest and best use of the soil of South Africa. But there has been a great awakening within the last few years, and if we take but one indication, the increasing price of land, it will be seen that the leavening is rapidly beginning to spread.—The Friend (Bloemfontein.)

MARRIED MEN THE BEST BET

Figures of the bureau of internal revenue show that married men pay the bulk of the income tax. It isn't surprising. In the first place there are more of them and in the second place their incomes are greater than those of unmarried men. They have to be.

When a man gets married he becomes a supporter of government. He supports his wife. Then there are other forms of government. There are the city, the state and the nation. All have to be supported, and they naturally turn to the married man because he is pretty sure to be home. He isn't so mobile as other men. He is an institution, rooted in the soil and can be counted on . He has every incentive to work hard and increase his income. He takes fewer chances on investments, in business or in betting on a world series than unmarried men. As a result he is the government's best bet when it wants to collect some kind of tax.

The day wehen the income tax becomes payable is married men's day. Everybody has a day an dthis is his. He adds his income up on one side of the ledger and his dependents on the other. He subtracts the second sum from the first and pays his tax on the remainder. The government knows there is bound to be a remainder, for married men cannot afford the luxury of a deficit. Only governments can have that.

We very much doubt if government could exist, in anything like a high state of efficiency at least, without married men. Without them government probably would have to live within its income.—Kansas City Star.

COULDN'T LEAVE HOUSE FOR YEAR

Hamilton Tells of His Wife's Remarkable Improvement Since Taking Tanlac

"Last Sunday my wife was able to be out of the house for the first time in almost a year, and she wouldn't have been out then if Tanlac had not put her on her feet," is the remarkable testimony of William Hamilton, who resides at 149 Preston St., Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada.

"Mrs. Hamilton had Spanish Influenza over a year ago," he continued, "and had never been able to overcome the effects of it. Her appetite was gone completely and she fell off in weight and strength until she was as frail and thin as anybody could be and still get around. Her nerves were all torn up and the least noise would make her jump and quiver like a leaf. Many a night she has lain awake until daylight in nervous misery. She complained of dull throbbing headaches and it has made me actually suffer at times to see her so weak and run down and in so much pain. Somebody else had to attend to all the housework as she could just barely creep about the house and hadn't been able to go out-of-doors for nearly twelve months. She was confined to the bed most of the time, and even when she would get up in her room for a while, she really ought to have been in bed.

"It was sure a surprise to me to see her build up the way she has since she started taking Tanlac. Her appetite is just fine now, why, she told me the other day that if she kept on, she would eat us out of house and home. Every day she seems stronger and more like her old self and she never complains of being tired and weak and run down any more. Last Sunday she went out for a long walk with me, for the first time she's been out of the house in nearly a year. She seems like a different person and is beginning to feel that her troubles are all over. Tanlac is the only thing that ever done her any good, and we both are happy as we can be over the way she has recovered her health since she has been taking it and we are glad to recommend it all the time."

The former German Crown Prince is endeavoring to purchase the castle of Echteld, in the province of Gelderland. This is situated near Tiel and about 20 miles fromAmerongen and Doorn. The matter was discussed at the time of Frederick William's visit to Amerongen. Because of the delay in repairs and rearrangements at Doorn, it is believed that the removal of the former Emperor will be postponed until early in 1920. Although the restrictions of the Dutch government in the free movement of the exiles are still nominally effective, the former Kaiser is now permitted to motor through Doorn and Amerongen.

By an award of a board of conciliation of which Justice Metcalfe was chairman, the employees of the Canadian Northern Express Co. will receive overtime from September, 1918, until the eight hour day was put into effect. The men claimed that when the schedule went into force it was retroactive until September 1, 1918, and asked for overtime for the four concluding months of 1918. By a mutual agreement a committee representing the men and the company will travel over the system and adjust the claims in each locality after an inspection of the books.

THE STATE COAL MINES

In the London Times W. H. Triggs, a member of the legislative council of New Zealand, gives a warning against nationalization of coal mines. In view of the demands of the British Miners' federation for nationalization, and threats of a general strike to compel it, Mr. Triggs' recital of New Zealand's experience is very interesting. He says:

"So far from removing discontent among the miners, it is a fact that state coal mines are the breeding places of most serious disaffection. Not only have labor disputes, which spread to the private mines, been hatched there in the first instance, but Runanga, the government mining township, is notorious as a hotbed of sedition and bolshevism. The explanation is very simple. The miners in New Zealand, as well as in other parts of the world, are being steadily attacked and corrupted by emissaries of those who, for purposes of their own are seeking to destroy the present state of society. These agitators who, in the majority of cases, come from overseas, are got rid of as quietly as possible if they are discovered carrying on their plots in private mines. Gradually the state mines in New Zealand have become a kind of Cave of Abdullman to which the agitators and the disaffected miners have drifted. These are not interfered with there, unless their conduct becomes altogether outrageous and intolerable, the government, (and consequently government officials) being always afraid of 'causing trouble' and losing votes among the labor party."

If the British government assumed ownership of the coal mines in England and Wales and became the employer of more than 2,000,000 miners, could it set a different standard? The Herald, the British labor newspaper, declares what every one knows, that nationalization of the coal mines is to be the first step in the nationalization of all industry — with labor unionism in control. New Zealanders had to pay $15 a ton for coal last year, getting a few pounds at a time because of bolshevist tendencies among the miners. — Toronto Globe.

The fight against alcohol will be a leading plank of the national patform in the forthcoming French elections. Ministers are demanding the absolute suppression of alcohol, and the walls of Paris and the larger cities are already placarded with these demands. Pamphlets and posters have been mailed by the hundred thousand to hotels and individuals in the provinces. "If France does not suppress alcohol, alcohol will suppress France" the posters proclaim in huge characters, and add "three million individuals live upon the traffic of alcohol; thirty-five million suffer and die from it."

Pure Milk!

—handled with exacting care

The Borden policy is to ensure the unquestioned purity of its products. Scrupulous cleanliness and care in the dairy are not enough. The freshly drawn milk must be taken immediately to a clean, sanitary milk house well removed from the milking stable. It is here emptied into sterilized cans—kept cool until the day's supply is hauled to the condensary.

Borden's St. Charles Brand is the same pure, carefully guarded milk, from which a part of the natural moisture is removed. This makes it available under all conditions. for it keeps fresh and pure in the sterilized cans until opened. Add an equal part of water for fluid milk uses. Handy—economical—for every milk purpose. At your grocer's.

An Exchange of Money That Pays

A dollar bill is Canada's promise to pay.

So are Victory Bonds.

But Victory Bonds pay interest.

Consider the scurity behind Victory Bonds—
Canada and all that is contained therein.

Consider the good rate of interest—
Victory Bonds pay 5½ per cent — nearly twice as much as Savings Banks.

Consider the saleability of Victory Bonds—
Their use as collateral for a loan.

Consider the purpose for which Canada requires the money:—
Cleaning up our obligations to the army and maintaining the prosperity of the country.

Are not these reasons the best in the world for exchanging one kind of money for another?

Should not every Canadian put all his weight behind this Loan?

Should not he exchange all the money he has for Victory Bonds?—and all the money he can save for the next ten months to come?

COAL CREEK NEWS ITEMS

The committee in charge of the Victory Loan campaign for this camp are very busy this week. They intend to place this camp on the map.

The members of the Club held another of their periodical smokers on Saturday evening last. In spite of the absence of the local "Paaderwski" the boys enjoyed themselves. Geo. Bradshaw conducted the gathering in his own inmitable way. An energetic band of stewards kept the refreshments moving. Songs were rendered by various members, which received encores.

Several of the Lady "Moose", attended the first social of the Chapter in Fernie on Monday night. All reported a good time.

Charlie Alstead, fanman at No. 9 mine, is suffering with a scalded foot resultant of a slip whilst opening a valve on Tuesday.

Tommy Brown, one of the boys employed on the tiple, had the misfortune to be trapped between two mine cars, a lacerated finger being the result.

George Gould, employed in B North mine, met with an accident to his foot while following his employment on Thursday.

Our local Jess Willard returned to camp on Thursday night from a visit to Fernie, bearing marks on his face. On enquiries we found that "Jess" had been the victim of a Hallowe'en trap.

John Doyle left for fields and pastures new on Sunday last.

Miss Marsh, of Fernie, whilst going to the train on Monday after visiting friends up here, slipped and sustained a sprained ankle. She was conveyed home in the ambulance.

Provincial Constable Atherton returned back to camp on Sunday from New Westminster, to which place he had been escorting a demented person.

Wm. Morgan is away on a busines trip to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Taylor have taken up their residence amongst us.

The pupils of our local "pugilist" are making a good showing. We are anticipating challenges being issued in the near future. Barker's methods and style are such that could be copied with advantage by some of the "big stars."

A special meeting of the Ladies Mooseheart Legion is called for Monday afternoon to ballot on several prospective members. All interested will govern themselves accordingly. Meeting at 2 p.m.

Speculation is rife as to whether this camp will be affected by the strike order which calls for a cessation of work today, midnight.

LUMBER DEAL COMPLETED

During the past fortnight another very important business transaction has been consummated, whereby the Elk Valley Lumber Co. was organized as an operating company. The purpose of this company is to operate the timber limits of the Seippel Timber Company, better known as the Cedar Valley timber, and the sawmill plant of the Elk Lumber Co. in this city. The directors of the new company consist of J. S. Hough, president, of Winnipeg, Man., who is also president of the Elk Lumber Co; J. A. Kerper, vice-president, Dubuque, Ia., secretary of the P. J. Seippel Lumber Co., of that city; secretary-treasurer, Major J. D. Sinclair of Winnipeg, secretary of the Elk Lumber Co.; H. D. Campbell, of Stillwater, Minn., is general manager; he is also president of the Seippel Timber Co., and E. Heaphy, general manager of the Elk Lumber Co., will be assistant general manager of the newly organized Elk Valey Lumber Co.

This company intends to carry on a large operation this season and already has a crew of about sixty men. The crew will be increased as fast as possible until the camps are filled to capacity. New camps have been constructed in the limits about four miles from town and will accomodate about 130 men. Necessary roads have been laid out through the area to be logged. Logging will be commenced immediately and a supply sufficient for a mill cut of fifteen million feet will be taken out. The logs will be brought from the limits to the mill by a standard guage railroad about four and a half miles in length, which is under construction at the present time, and every effort is being made to bring this to completion before the snow gets too deep, so as to get as early a start as possible in the spring. In addition to operating the camps at Cedar Valley the new company will operate the camp of the Elk Lumber Co. in West Fernie above the mill from which it is expected to obtain a million and a half this winter. Contracts have also been let for the purchase of an additional million and a half or two million feet. In this manner by obtaining logs from outside, should the construction of the logging railroad be delayed this fall, it will not prevent an early start of the mill in the spring, there being this reserve supply of logs to draw from.

The new company has been incorporated under the Manitoba Joint Stock Companies Act, with head office at Winnipeg. The Seippel limits upon which the major part of the operations will take place, contains sufficient merchantable saw timber to insure at least a ten years' operation.

The foregoing announcement is of exceptional interest locally, particularly in view of the added permanency of the lumbering industry here, and also on account of the fact that when operations have acquired the producing basis, it will mean an additional payroll distribution in this city of at least $20,000 per month.

BOOSTING THE DISTRICT

On Wednesday, Nov. 5, the editorial committee of the booklet descriptive of the whole of South Eastern British Columbia, consisting of J. F. Spalding, of Fernie, W. H. Wilson and Mr. Nisbett, of Cranbrook, and Mr. Cleland and Mr. Bruce of Invermere, representing the Windermere and Golden districts, met at Cranbrook to edit the material prepared by each district and make final arrangements for publication.

After the Fernie representative had submitted his write-up of this district together with his pictures, the other representatives decided not to submit theirs as they thought that his was so much more to the point than what they had prepared, and as he knew the country so well, they finally requested him to write up their districts for them, which he is going to do. Also as Cranbrook had not been able to secure pictures of sufficient scenic interest, they asked him to select their proportion of illustrations from his collection.

Dr. Bonnell, as representative of the district in the Federal house, was invited to be present and give some information about the government's intentions regarding the Banff-Windermere road, as it was felt that it was no use for us to go ahead until we knew something really definite about it. The Doctor went into the matter very fully and assured the meeting that he would do his utmost to get the government to call for tenders and let the contracts for the remaining 35 miles of this road this fall, so that the contractors could sled their supplies in and prepare their camps during the winter and get an early start on the grading in the spring. If this is done, there is every possibility of this road being finally completed next fall. Dr. Bonnell has been untiring in his efforts to bring about the materialization of this road and together with Mr. Randolph Bruce of Invermere—who first broached the project—should receive the credit for it, as it will bring tourists in their thousands through here when it is opened.

The delegates were entertained at a banquet given by the Cranbrook Board of Trade, at which about 90 sat down. It was a very enjoyable affair, many very good speeches were made, and it is very evident that Cranbrook is heart and soul in the endeavour to get together with the rest of us and boost for this part of British Columbia. Through their President, Mr. Sproule, it was intimated that if Fernie would have a Board of Trade banquet and invite the Cranbrook Board of Trade, they would see that a big party would come here from there. The same thing was intimated to the representatives from Windermere and Invermere and was immediately taken up by them and an invitation given. Fernie Board of Trade have talked banquet several times lately. Let us have one without delay and all do our best to further this "get together movement."

Last Sunday evening at the west Y switch, just as the eastbound passenger was approaching the city, an accident occurred which at first was thought to have been fatal. The injured party was a Russian by the name of John Kanda, and in some manner as yet unexplained he was hit by the train. He was not noticed by the engineer until immediately prior to being struck. The train was stopped and a superficial examination made of the man by members of the train crew and some passengers, all of whom were of the opinion that death had been instantaneous. The train proceeded into the city and the accident was reported to the city police. Coroner Thomson was accordingly called and within half or three quarters of an hour arrived at the scene, when it was discovered that Kanda was still living but unconscious. He was forthwith hurried to the hospital, where, after admission a thorough examination did not divulge any fatal injuries, but a slight crushing in the left side and other bruises. He temporarily regained consciousness after being admitted to the hospital and only complained of a headache.

Kanda worked in the mines here for some time but had only returned to this city after an absence in Cranbrook, last Saturday. His only relative in this country is a brother, Steve, who resides at Hillcrest.

Mrs. George Smith, of St. Catharines, Ont., National Educational Secretary Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, will arrive in Fernie, Nov. 15th, leaving for the east the following evening. Mrs. Smith is on a tour in connection with the National Memorial for the Order, and as she is speaking to only ten Chapters in B. C., the Mt. Fernie Chapter is indeed fortunate to be included in her itinery. The date and hour of meeting will be announced next week. It is expected every member of the I.O.D.E. and others will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the National Educational Secretary. The Memorial is entirely educational and $500,000 will be expended in this most lasting work.

FERNIE GOES OVER THE TOP

THE VICTORY LOAN COMMITTEE REACHED ITS QUOTA OF $200,000 AT 5 P.M. THIS FRIDAY.

The Fernie District Victory Loan campaign this week went forward in grand style. Commencing Monday with slightly over $50,000, persistent efforts on the part of the corps of canvassers did not have good results until Wednesday night, when the figures jumped from $74,000 to $108,000. This encouraged the canvassers and on Thursday there was keen competition to roll up subscriptions and by night the net total new business for the day was about $67,000, making the aggregate over $175,000 or $25,000 in excess of the amount required to win the Prince of Wales' Honor Flag. For today subscriptions have began to be received from outside points. Corbin has reported about $3300, Elko $1300, Coal Creek $3000, Waldo 8600, Hosmer $1000. Jaffray, Baynes, Roosville, Michel and Crow's Nest have not actually reported but communication with these points indicate that fair amounts may be expected shortly.

For the whole district $200,000 is the quota and the headquarters committee are confident this amount will be acquired by Saturday. Already it has been decided to endeavor to make the total amount by the close of the campaign on Saturday, Nov. 15, at least a quarter of a million. If this mark is reached, and there is positively no reason why it should not be, it will be $150,000 less than this district subscribed last year, at which time the canvass was virtually made within less than a week's time on account of the epidemic prevalent.

Chairman E. K. Stewart has already wired Provincial Headquarters for the flag and this will be floating over the local Victory Loan office as soon as it arrives.

Sherwood Herchmer received word this week from Lethbridge that the curling club of that city would arrange for nine sheets of ice for the District Bonspiel this winter.

Arrangements for the big Armistice Ball are practically completed by the Reconstruction Committee and the tickets are now on sale and may be obtained from C. T. Spence, secretary of the dance committee. This committee has gone to a great deal of trouble in connection with the Armistice Ball in view of the proceeds being devoted exclusively to the Memorial Building Fund. A good time is assured to everyone and in addition to a special program for dancing the music will be unexcelled and special attention is being paid to the refreshments.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The Shivaree band was out in full force on Friday night last to give a royal welcome to Mrs. J. Graham, who arrived from England.

Great was the rejoicing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Birkett on the arrival of their two daughters from England on Friday last.

A few of the boys held a connivial gathering at the Club hall on Monday.

As a result of the efforts of the ShivareeB and and the beneficence of the serenaded, an enjoyable dance was held in the Club hall. The patrons of the light fantastic indulged to the terpschicorean strains supplied by Mrs. D. McGregor, with extras by T. Morrison and Miss Hughes. The director of ceremonies was ably filled by Dougal McGregor. The vocal selections were supplied by the Victrola owned by G. Barker. The wee small hours brought to a close another good time for which this burg is noted.

The Misses Young were the guests of the "Duke" at the dance held here on Monday last.

Tommy Morrison arrived back in camp during last week end.

We hear of several of our old timers being enroute from England.

The pugilistic classes held under Kid Barker have been changed from Friday owing to pupils attending the night school.

The Ladies Chapter, Loyal Order of Moose meet Monday evening next in Ingram's hall. As there are several candidates for initiation a good attendance is desired.

All roads lead to the Club hall on Friday evening next, Nov. 14, when the teachers and scholars of the school are putting on a grand concert under the direction of Principal Prescott. The program will consist of drills, songs, dances, sketches and instrumental music, the concert to commence at 7.30 p.m. For prices of admission and further particulars watch the bulletin board. The proceeds are to be devoted for the benefit of the children.

The youths of this camp are contemplating forming a concert party, to run a series of concerts and dances during the winter months. Something of this nature is needed up here and we hope they will receive all due encouragement.

Tobogganing and sleigh riding is the main sport around here since the arrival of the snow.

Vic Ruppin, employed in No. 3 mine, was removed to Fernie hospital on Sunday night suffering from a badly bruised leg, the result of a car jumping the track.

The "gasoline car" was requisitioned to convey Fred Healey to Fernie early on Monday morning, he having injured his eye while following his employment in the boiler room.

Patsy Provenzo was conveyed to Fernie hospital on Thursday noon, suffering with a bruised leg while at work in No. 9 mine.

F. B. C. EXAMINATION

The final examinations of the Fernie Business College were given to a number of students on Nov. 1, and the following being successful received diplomas:

Annie Lyas, Elsie Barton, Evelyn Dickenson, Tilly Frey, Andrew Kasmar, Elsie Frey, Ernest Frey, Edna Winnett, Nina Waters, Laura Fawcett.

IN MEMORIAM

Mercer—In Loving Memory of my dear son, Harold Mercer, E.R.A., who was lost at sea in the wreck of H.M.S. Galiano, Oct. 30, 1918,

Sleep, O Harold, softly sleep,
While thy loved ones for thee weep.
And may the Heavenly winds blow softly
O'er that sweet and hallowed spot
Where my dear son lies sleeping;
Who will never be forgot.

A Mother's Prayer—
Thy will be done.

Too dearly loved by his Mother and Sister Annie to ever be forgotten.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

A Victory Loan Message

THIS is the sixth War Loan floated in Canada since the War broke out.

It is the only War Loan floated in Peace times.

Surely it is the duty of British Columbia to show her gratitude for Peace, and to the Soldiers for what they have accomplished.

This is a Peace Loan and a War Loan combined, and, therefore, it should more readily be oversubscribed than any of the former Loans.

Our Soldiers have made their sacrifice. It is now for us at home to make ours.

British Columbia has never failed to answer a patriotic call.

She will not fail now!

COAL STRIKE SITUATION

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Officials of the U.M.W. of A. some time today will file application for dissolution of restraining order to prevent officials of the union from issuing instructions to striking members, it was learned today.

The officials were in conference this morning with their attorneys, and, it is understood, have completed the writing of the motion.

The motion to dissolve the order restraining the officials of the U.M.W. of A. from encouraging or directing the strike of the 425,000 members of the union, was filed in the United States District Court here this afternoon by attorney for the miners. The restraining order was issued last Friday and the hearing on a temporary injunction, petitioned by the government, will be next Saturday.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Railroads of the northwest have a supply of 2,282,286 tons of coal—adequate for 37 days—L. S. Carroll, chairman of the purchasing committee for railroads of that region, announced today. Mr. Carroll added that no coal commandered in the northwest region would be used by the railroads but would go to commercial users.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 6.—Railroads today attempted to relieve congestion on the main and branch lines entering Pittsburg by expediting the distribution of hundreds of cars of coal to those industries indicated by the government. Not only filled cars are responsible for the congestion, but empty cars are being shunted on to mine sidings as rapidly as possible in some parts of the Pittsburg districts.

Conflicting reports continue to come from both the headquarters of the miners' union and the operators. The coal operators declare that union miners are returning and that two union mines on the Panhandle railroad worked 80 per cent of capacity yesterday. These mines were said to be shipping out at the rate of 40 to 60 cars a day.

Officials of District No. 5, U.M.W. of A., however, said such was not the case in regard to union men retruning to work. They declared that not a single union miner had gone back and reiterated that non-union men were joining the strikers' ranks.

A REAL SUCCESS

"Make Yourself At Home" at the Grand Was a Genuine Treat

To be a success a musical comedy must have talented principals, tuneful music, a libretto with some claim to originality, even though the claim is not sustained, pretty girls and evidences that attention has been paid to such matters as costumes and scenery. "Make Yourself At Home," which was presented on Thursday night at the Grand has all these desirable qualities in full measure. Its popularity was long established in the States and while Schuster and Davis Company comes to us a little late they have surely made a very pronounced hit and shows us they have the power to provide choice entertainment. The large company, well balanced, gave a performance that sparkled at all times and was good all the way through. Milton Schuster and Mickey Hanley provided many laughs. There was plenty of dancing and singing and the quartette all but stopped the performance.

The company is just what was claimed by Col. Davis, a great big city show and is far ahead of the shows we usually get in vocal ability and the lilting airs went far toward making the enjoyable performance a success.

The company will return for a night's engagement next Monday, Nov. 10, and will present an entirely new comedy, "My Pretty Baby," and the management promise an entire way we advise all our readers who wish a good hearty laugh to secure seats well in advance for next Monday. MADAME ARTHUR BEAUCHER

805 Cartier St., Montreal.

"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a short time, the Constipation was banished, I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

How to Finance Victory Bonds

F. W. ROUNSEFELL,
Treasurer Provincial Committee

FARMERS:

In the case of farmers, and others who do not receive returns until the end of season, bank managers are empowered to make loans against the 1919 Victory Bond issue for the period of one year, without requiring periodical reductions to be made in the interim.

BUSINESS MEN:

All business men may finance their Victory Loan purchases through their local bank, up to at least 90 per cent. of their purchases, without impairing their ordinary credits with the bank.

EMPLOYEES:

All bond purchases of employees may be financed by the employer through his local bank, up to 90 per cent. of the amount of the purchase. Weekly or monthly payments on account of purchase may be arranged through the employer.

INDIVIDUALS:

Anyone may purchase 1919 Victory Bonds on ten monthly instalments, by paying 10 per cent., and filling out an instalment card. These cards are handed to the bank specified by the purchaser, and the payments during the ten-month period paid in to the bank.

POWER OF LOCAL BANK EXTENDED:

By arrangement between the Finance Minister and the Canadian Bankers' Association, it is announced that where branch managers have a loaning limit for their branches, such limits are to be disregarded insofar as they may be affected by advances to finance 1919 Victory Loan subscriptions.

Citizens Unite

BUY VICTORY BONDS—

and enable your country to pay her debts of honor to her army. The eyes of Canada's living and fallen soldiers are on you today. Show you are worthy of the sacrifice they made. Over the top with the Victory Loan!

BUY VICTORY BONDS—

and enable your country to finance the sale overseas of her surplus products from farm, forests, fisheries and factories, mills and mines. A glorious opportunity is open to Canada — the opportunity to sell all she can produce, if she is willing to grant temporary credit. She can grant the credit only if you buy Victory Bonds. Every extra Victory Bond you buy means more money to finance more orders.

BUY VICTORY BONDS—

because they are guaranteed by Canada's promise to repay at the time, and to the full amount, stated in the bonds. The income yield of 5½ per cent is most attractive considering the absolute security. There will always be a ready market for Victory Bonds.

All together Fernie. BUY NOW!

ONE—to discharge Canada's obligations to her army.

TWO—to insure Canada's continued prosperity.

THREE—because Victory Bonds are the finest investment for your money.

Do it again Fernie

The reaction from war to peace has been sudden and strong. Our courage may be a bit spent, our enthusiasm for service a trifle on the wane.

It needs a little effort and some determination to rekindle the old fire, but it must bekindled if the Victory Loan is to be a success.

Canada calls upon you, therefore, for a renewal of your faith and a renewal of your effort.

And that can best be expressed if you do your utmost to inspire people to

It really shouldn't be necessary at this stage to educate, argue or persuade the people of Fernie into buying Victory Bonds.

For reasons of patriotism, of thanksgiving and of good business, the people of Fernie are going over the top to achieve their allotted quota and to secure the much-prized Prince of Wales Honour Flag.

If you haven't any ready money, arrange with your employer or with any bank to buy on the instalment plan. You will be able to meet the instalments alright, and a few months hence you will be glad you arranged to do so.

Don't "Leave it to George"

Canada never was lacking in war enterprise — war strategy — war efficiency. She always carried out successfully her plans of war.

Now—we must apply the same determination and energy to the plans of peace for we now have new problems to solve.

We are faced with the great work of readjusting our country from a War to a Peace footing

Our immediate duty is to provide the national working capital without which it will be impossible to carry out the Plans of Peace.

Demobilization, bonuses to soldiers, civil re-establishment, credit loans to Britain for the purchase of Canadian surplus products, ensuring continued employment to our workers. All these call for national capital, and the Victory Bonds, 1919, will provide that capital.

Therefore, the success of the Victory Loan is not something that concerns "the other fellow" only.

You have a part to play.

Your individual prosperity is at stake.

YOU must support the Victory Loan just as enthusiastically as your fellow citizen.

Canada must have the money to carry out the Plans of Peace. If things are to be kept "humming," you must

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Are you saving? Victory Loan is coming.

A REAL SUCCESS

"Make Yourself At Home" at the Grand Was a Genuine Treat

To be a success a musical comedy must have talented principals, tuneful music, a libretto with some claim to originality, even though the claim is not sustained, pretty girls and evidences that attention has been paid to such matters as costumes and scenery. "Make Yourself At Home," which was presented on Thursday night at the Grand has all these desirable qualities in full measure. Its popularity was long established in the States and while Schuster and Davis Company comes to us a little late they have surely made a very pronounced hit and shows us they have the power to provide choice entertainment. The large company, well balanced, gave a performance that sparkled at all times and was good all the way through. Milton Schuster and Mickey Hanley provided many laughs. There was plenty of dancing and singing and the quartette all but stopped the performance.

The company is just what was claimed by Col. Davis, a great big city show and is far ahead of the shows we usually get in vocal ability and the lilting airs went far toward making the enjoyable performance a success.

"My Pretty Baby"

The company will return for a night's engagement next Monday, Nov. 10, and will present an entirely new comedy, "My Pretty Baby," and the management promise an entire change of costumes, scenery and effects. They claim the bill is even more funny than the one just presented if such can be possible. Anyway we advise all our readers who wish a good hearty laugh to secure seats well in advance for next Monday. They will be at a premium.

"I Simply Feel Like a New Man," He Says After Taking Tanlac

"I have often seen the time I would gladly have given everything I possess for the relief a few bottles of this Tanlac has given me," said Robt. McAloney, a well known contractor, living at 33 York Street, Halifax, in a statement while at Kinley's recently.

"Four bottles of Tanlac has not only relieved me entirely of a case of stomach trouble that had made life miserable for me for more than five years," he continued, "but I have actually gained twenty-five pounds in weight, besides. I am not exaggerating a bit when I say I am feeling better now than I have in twenty years. Why, I was telling one of my friends the other day that I am feeling like a sixteen year old boy again. The way I have been built up and strengthened has really astonished me.

"I had been suffering, as I said, from stomach trouble and a run down condition for more than five years and until Tanlac came along was never able to find anything to help me. My stomach seemed to be upset all the time. Nothing tasted right or agreed with me and I simply had to force down what little I did eat. My stomach would get as sour as vinegar after meals and I would bloat up with gas and feel miserable for hours. There were sharp, cramping pains all through my stomach and the gas would press on my heart so at times I could hardly breathe.

"After going to bed at night this gas would bother me so I couldn't rest. Many a night I have gotten out of bed and walked the floor never getting a wink of sleep. I had to lay off from work for weeks at a time just suffering agony with my stomach, and had lost all of thirty pounds in weight. I would wake up in the mornings feeling so tired and no account that it was an effort for me to get out of bed. I was habitually constipated and had a dull, nagging headache nearly all the time. I had suffered so much and so long that I had about reached the point where I didn't care whether I lived or not.

"But I feel altogether different since Tanlac has straightened me out and built me up so wonderfully. Before I had finished my first bottle there was a decided improvement in my condition. I am eating three good square meals a day and my stomach never gives me the least trouble. I don't believe I have ever enjoyed my meals more and I can eat just anything set before me. I have been relieved of constipation and headache and that tired, worn out feeling has left me, too. I can sleep like a log every night and get up in the mornings ready for a hearty breakfast and a good day's work. I tell you I simply feel like a new man and I am glad to give this statement to be used in letting others know what it is that restored my health."

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Jim Thistlebeak says a good B.S. (which means Brandy and Soda) peddlar is far better than a man who can't peddle it.

A. G. Christie of the H. J. Heinz Co. was in town this week and asked Jim Thistlebeak if he knew Heinz. Sure, says Jim, knew him when he only had one pickle. Charlie McDonald of Cranbrook, the man that makes the opposition houses jealous. J. R. Young, of Vancouver, strong on economy and shredded prunes. Jack Berrington talking about Aunt Jemima's pancakes. Jack was looking as if he had a load on his mind as big as a load of hay, and a complexion like an underdone piecrust, but after all a good feed of Romnellet mutton at the Columbia hotel, he brightened up like the bottom of a new tin bucket. Jim Bates from Vancouver, representing Sir Arthur Ames, with split kip novelties. Bill Halpenny from Calgary. Maxey, also from the well known cow town Geo. Lane made famous.

Dick Roo, who has charge of his father's store at Roosville, is taking charge of the Elko store and will carry a line of goods that will get the business.

Jim Thistlebeak says: It is better to have a swelled head than a shrivelled brain. What do you think yourself?

The Winnipeg and Western Grocer, the very best trade journal printed west of the Great Lakes, says in their October issue of the 15th that the Okanagan Valley lands grow the most magnificent apples on this continent. If the writer had ever tasted the apples grown in the Roosville valley he would never hafe wrote the above. Jim Thistlebeak says there are 250 ways of cooking apples but the Roosville vailey apples are so delicious you can eat them raw.

Mr. Walker, of Nelson, representing several American papers, also Elko's Brandy and Soda Smiles. He's got a smile for everyone he meets and Jim Thistlebeak offered a reward of $10 to anyone that could get a picture when he was not smiling.

The residents of the Roosville valley turned out en masse to welcome the returned soldiers, with a big supper and dance at the Roosville House, which was gaily decorated with flags of the Allies, and a large motto over the orchestra, "It's worth the knowing to come back knowing that you're welcome back again." Fred Roo, Jr., was the guest of the evening and the reception he got would have gratified the last of the Caesars. It was one continual round of pleasure. The latest dance introduced into the valley was the Romnellet Ripple and the Sheepherders' Jazz. There were visitors from Eureka, Montana, Gateway, Flagstone and Waldo. It was one of those social events long to be remembered and the dawn was breaking over the valley before all the guests had departed.

A Victory Loan Message

NO soldier who fought in France and Flanders with the Canadian Corps was doing his full duty unless he was at all times prepared to go the limit; to pay with his life, if there was need of it, for the victory of the principles he was fighting for. No one who stayed at home does his today unless he is prepared to give up his last dollar if it is required to discharge Canada's debt to the men who, by fighting for her, were disabled for life; to the widows and orphans of her glorious dead; and to the returned men who need work provided that they may re-establish themselves and their homes. Canada's honor to her own sons is at stake with the success or failure of the Victory Loan.

Canada must not fail!

VICTOR W. ODLUM,
Brig.-General.
Vice-Chairman Provincial Committee.

Canada Fights to Win

When Canada fought—Canada fought to win.
We are now in the midst of another campaign.
The Victory Loan is a campaign to raise money to pay the obligations that the war has left with us, and to keep Canada prosperous.
The Victory Loan 1919 calls for vigorous individual and concerted action.
It is a national platform on which all citizens concerned in their country's prosperity and welfare can, without reservation, take a strong, emphatic stand.
The Victory Loan 1919 is the "clean up" chapter in Canada's War History—it is needed to round out the most glorious of our achievements.
It is needed to "carry on" the National Business — to successfully bridge the period from War to Peace—and to speed our country along the highway of international commerce in successful competition with other great nations.
Your personal co-operation is imperative.
Your support is vital.
It is unthinkable that Canadians — united for years when things looked dark—would not, in the same spirit of patriotism, unite in this last great war effort.
Let us show the world again that what Canada undertakes Canada accomplishes.

An Exchange of Money That Pays

A dollar bill is Canada's promise to pay.

So are Victory Bonds.

But Victory Bonds pay interest.

Consider the scurity behind Victory Bonds—
Canada and all that is contained therein.

Consider the good rate of interest—
Victory Bonds pay 5½ per cent — nearly twice as much as Savings Banks.

Consider the saleability of Victory Bonds—
Their use as collateral for a loan.

Consider the purpose for which Canada requires the money:—
Cleaning up our obligations to the army and maintaining the prosperity of the country.

Are not these reasons the best in the world for exchanging one kind of money for another?

Should not every Canadian put all his weight behind this Loan?

Should not he exchange all the money he has for Victory Bonds?—and all the money he can save for the next ten months to come?

Fernie

Must Not Fail

Fernie is allotted $200,000 of the Victory Loan 1919.

That was the amount we are expected to lend to Canada to "carry on" and "clean up."

We are behind in our allotment.

This should not be.

The importance of reaching our objective is one that every citizen of Fernie should regard as a personal matter. If each will say to himself---"I will do My part---large or small---to put Fernie's allotment over the top"---together we can surely do it.

Every citizen has a responsibility.

The time is short.

Prompt action is necessary.

As a matter of local pride-- as a matter of national service-- as a matter concerning our own prosperity--let us unite and act, so that when the Victory Loan 1919 closes, Fernie will once more have done her part well.

UNCLE MILT WINS AT GOLF

Dere Mable—I am going strong wih Uncle Milt now all right. I just made him win a big golf match. He called me in his office Friday an sez he wanted me to carry his sticks in a turnymint nex day. All the cadys out at the club had some kind of a nervus disease. They didn't seem to be able to stop him.

So we went out to the Club Saturday afternoon. On the way out Uncle Milt explained how a whole bunch was goin to play an the best 16 took on some other club in a couple of weeks. Hed been trying to horn in on the 16 for 7 years. He thought the chances was extra good this year on account of so much sickness. I ast him how they ever figgered who won in a golf game. He sez the 16 felloes that had the lowest scores won. Those was the ones that hit the ball the fewest number of times. I told him I could win the old turnymint hands down if that was all. Id scarcely hit it at all last Saturday. Uncle Milt was too nervous to see a joke tho.

He got into his little boys suit an put on a hat like the canves wash basin the Captin used to use. Then we went out to the first platform. There was a lot of felloes standin round watchin the players start off. Id thought Uncle Milt was pretty good, but this bunch made him look like he was playing croky. When they hit the ball a fello needed a pair of feel glasses to see where it went.

Pretty soon it came Uncle Milt's turn. I don't know who the crowd was bettin on but it sure wasnt him. They just stood there like a flock of clams while he made his mud pie under the ball. It seemed sort of a shame not to have anybody rootin for him. So when he got ready to shoot I yelled, "Sock it to em, Uncle Milt. You got the stuff. Right in the eye." I wasn't so sure about it. I didnt have no money on the game, tho, and I thought it might cheer him up a little.

I heard somebody say "Keep quiet. Whats the matter with you?" That made me sore. I lay down the sticks an sez "if that fello will come out here Ill give him what the matter with me." Spirited. That's me all over, Mabel. There might have been a mix up only Uncle Milt botted in an sez "For heven sake, shut up." Whoever it was that had made the noise saw he was in Duch an kep quiet. I let it drop to. I thought it might make Uncle Milt nervus to have a argumine while he was getting his first swat.

Uncle Milt took a nawful swing. The ball went a good way but it was all up an down. It had a curve on it that would have brought him a contract with any big leeg. After it had gone up in the air a ways the ball turned off sharp to the left like it had just remembered something. It finally lit in some long grass a little way from the platform. Somebody sez "Too bad. He pulled it." It looked more to me like he pushed it.

He had an awful time gettin out of the long grass. His idea seemed to be to mow it all down around the ball with his stick before he knocked the ball out. Hed lop off a feed of hay. Then hed stop and swear as pretty as any mule skinner you ever laid your eyes on.

He got out at last an started down the field. The rest of them was pretty near out of sight. Uncle Milt acted like a boat tryin to sail into the wind. First hed tack over to a place where thed been excavatin an roll it. Hed get out of there an tack all the way back to another hole on the other side. I ast him if this was like pocket pool where you made a point every time you put your ball in a hole. I couldnt make out just what he said but somehow I dont think it was.

After a while we came to one of those round places with a flag in the middle. There was a lot of fellos trying to roll their ball in a little hole where the flag belonged Uncle Milt thought that was where he might catch up a little. He had an idea he could roll his in, first shot. He sez if any of those fellos muffed it hed be right on their heels.

I took the hint an waited till one of them was all ready to hit the ball. Then I walked right between him an the hole. He got sore as the duce an sez dont you know enuff to stand still when a fellos putterin? I didn't say nothing. That was part of my game. I just waited till he was ready to shoot agen an then yelled "Yaw, yaw, yaw," just as loud as I could. He jumped about a mile an missed the hole clean. Then he ast "Who is this cady?" Uncle Milt explained I wasnt a regular caddy. I was his nephew. The fello sez hed better teach me something about the game an good manners if he wanted to keep me in the family any longer. I could see Uncle Milt was sore. I dont blame him. I guess a fello can yell a little if he wants too. If they could see what a pitchers got to put up with they wounlnt be so fusy.

I found after tho that Uncle Milt was mad at me an not the fello that was putterin. That disgusted me. I decided he could play his own game from then on. I wouldn't rase a finger to help him if he fell in the hole himself instead of the ball.

One of the men in the turnymint yelled over to Uncle Milt after a while an sez, "How many shots have you had? Ive had three." Uncle Milt yells back, "I lie to." That game is too much for me. Nobody knows what nobody else is doin. As far as I can figger the cup goes to the biggest liar.

The only thing that improved with age in Uncle Milt was his language. Its lucky he had a good oven place to talk in. We played about 2 miles further when a fello came along an told him if he could keep from breakin his leg for the next ½ mile he'd be one of the 1st 16. He sez old man Munn had had to quit with a touch of the sun. Old man Fotheringill an Dilwhopper had drove all their balls in the river an gone home mad. There was only 16 left in the turnmint. There didn't seem to be no quesshun what Uncle Milt's number was in the 16.

Everything was goin nice till we came to a big river full of water. It looked like the end of the game to me. Uncle Milt put the ball on the platform tho an fixed it for bisnis. There was nothin but a little footbridge across the river. The worlds champeen bowler couldnt have rolled a ball over it let lone Milt's tryin to roll one over with a stick.

Uncle Milt sez he had to knock it clean over the river to get to the next hole. I told him I didn't want to discurage him but I couldnt see why he'd be able to hit it further than he ever had before just because there was a river there. Then he started battin balls in the water like a kid skippin stones. As fast as they fell in theyd float out of sight around the bend.

At last Uncle Mlt sat down on the edge of the platform all discouraged. He sez he guessed he'd lost the turnymnt. There was a rule that after a fello had tried 10 times to get across he was out of the game. He had just one ball left. He sez he had as much chance of knockin that under the river as over it.

Things sure looked bad. Right there too was where I started makin my success in bisnis. Iast him if it made any differenre how many shots it took to get to the first flag. He sez the skies the limit. All he had to do was to use the same ball. What good did that do him tho when he couldn't get across the river. I sez not to worry. Just to wait.

Then I walked down to where I saw a rowboat. I brought it back an sat in it right under the platform Undle Milt was working from. I told him to hit an run for the boat. Id take care of the rest.

Uncle Milt batted the ball into the river an then like to have upset the boat gettin in it. We caught the ball all right. Then he stood up an began knockin it across the river a couple of feet at a time. He sounded like a fello tryin to put himself to sleep. All you could hear was "51". Swat. "52." Swat. "53." Swat.

If anybody thinks its easy to keep a rowboat right side up while a fello with Uncle Milt's bild is playin golf out of it he wants to try it. But we got across. Ithought he was goin to get stuck on the bank. It was pretty strait. Uncle Milt lifted it up in 10 or 12 tries tho.

Then all we had to do was put it in the little flag hole. Everybody was shakin hands with Uncle Milt for gettin in the first 16. They sez hed made a record for the 18th hole besides by doin it in 192 shots. Nobody ever taken that many before for the whole linx.

It just shows what a fello can do, Mable, by keepin his head around him. Uncle Milt told me Monday he liked the way I was takin hold of the bisnis. He thought hed have to raise me before long. Itold him not to be backward about it if he really felt it in him. If you want to get ahed in the world you got to please somebody. It dont make much difference how you do it. I guess it wont be long before he takes me in as a pardner. Yours till then. BILL.

Success of Victory Loan 1919 Will Insure Steady Markets for Farmers.

It takes some six bushels of wheat to feed the average person in Canada annually. Roughly, therefore, the eight million people here consume about 50,000,000 bushels each year. But even in a poor year the crop is some five times that amount, and the surplus must be sold if the farmers are to get a return for their time and labor. But the sale of the crop must be financed. Great Britain, which provides our greatest market, has not the ready cash; and so Canada must find means of raising the money. Hence the Victory Loan 1919. In view of the fact that the prosperity of the Dominion is dependent to a considerable extent upon the sale of her surplus grain the necessity of the money being forthcoming is patent.

Your dollar may be the last straw that sweeps the Victory Loan over the top. Would you take the chance of making it a failure?

Give Way to Soothing Hamlin's Wizard Oil

Hamlin's Wizard Oil is a safe and effective treatment for headache and neuralgia. Rubbed in where the pain is, it acts as a tonic to the tortured nerves and almost invariably brings quick relief.

Its healing, antiseptic qualities can always be relied upon to prevent infection, or other serious results, from sprains, bruises, cuts, burns, bites and stings. Just as good, too, for sore feet, stiff neck, frost bites, cold sores and canker sores.

musical director. He must have the co-operation of every citizen in addition to those who actively serve in the band. The important part to be undertaken by the citizens is financial support and unless they readily do this the matter will not be a success. Already many citizens, who are ratepayers, have signified their willingness to have the city undertake financial obligations in this connection. That is a start but there are numbers who receive equal pleasure from the band who must also voluntarily do their part. Now that we have the opportunity readily available we should not hesitate in deciding upon the proper course.

PROFESSOR ZECCARA

WILL FERNIE SUPPORT BAND?

Professor Zeccara, who for several years was bandmaster here and who brought that organization to the highest degree of perfection ever attained in the history of the Fernie City Band, returned this week after an absence of five years, and who, if necessary arrangements can be made, will again be permanently established in his former position here. Professor Zeccaro since leaving here has spent nearly all his time in California following his profession, but while he has been very successful he much prefers to reside in the mountains, rather than in the south. The city of Trail endeavored to secure his services but after spending a fortnight there the Professor decided he would come to Fernie with a view to again locating here.

During the short time since his arrival he has sized up the situation and is confident that Fernie already has splendid material with which to make a band par excellence. This cannot be accomplished, however, entirely by a

F. R. WOOD TALKS ON LOAN

Toronto, Nov. 5.—F. R. Wood, Chairman of the Dominion Executive of the Victory Loan, made the following comments on the success of the campaign to date:

"The campaign is now practically half finished. The success to date has been due in large measure to the fact that investors who have so far purchased bonds have bought more than they did in previous loans. The fact that experienced investors, large and small ,have subscribed early and have taken more bonds than ever before, indicates that they recognize the attractiveness of the Victory Loan as an investment, as well as appreciating the patriotic necessity of cleaning up our war obligations and maintaining Canada's prosperty.

"The total subscriptions reported so far aggregate $208,000,000. It must be remembered, however, that this amount includes a very large proportion of the big subscriptions available and in order to make a success of the loan it will be necessary as in previous years, that the medium and smaller subscribers shall come forward in great numbers. In the rate of interest carried by the bonds, namely, 5½%, is the same as on the loans issued in the dark days of the war, all of which loans are selling at substantial premiums. As a matter of fact, this new loan is particularly attractive from the standpoint of the small investor and one of the gratifying features of the campaign has been the readiness with which the employees of industries have taken the loan, where they had the experience of buying previous loans.

"This is Canada's Final Financial War effort and it is not only good business but good patriotism for every Canadian to become the owner of a Victory Bond. Every man and woman in Canada should buy Bonds to the limit of their ability and prospective savings of the next ten months."

A NEW USE FOR THE AEROPLANE

The Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has discovered a new use for the aeroplane. The Entomological Branch is investigating the mosquito in the Lower Fraser Valley in British Columbia. By using the aeroplane the country can be surveyed in order to map out the swampy areas and other breeding places that are readily located in photographs taken from over head, according to a statement by Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion Entomologist, that appears in the October Agricultural Gazette. The aeroplane was used in making a comprehensive survey of the complicated water system of the Fraser River and the adjacent bodies of permanent and temporary water in that district. A flight reported by Dr. Hewitt has demonstrated the possibility of using this machine also for making surveys of timber that is being killed or has already been destroyed by various insects. Its use, it is believed, will help very greatly in the entomological work with various insects being carried on by the Federal Department of Agriculture.

Can You Forget?

As long as you live you'll remember November 11th, 1918---Armistice Day.

That was the day the enemy surrendered.

That was the day of Victory for our army.

Day after day—year after year—through rain, cold, heat, mud, death—they had fought bravely, stubbornly, cleverly, faithfully—the spearhead of fate pointing inexorably at the black heart of the enemy.

Remember the Somme? Ypres? Vimy? Passchendaele? Cambria? MONS?

Can't you catch this brave spirit?

Can't you see how small is our task compared with theirs?

Shall we fail to lend our money to the country for which they gave their lives?

The Victory Loan, 1919, must be a victory, too. It is needed to pay our obligations to the army and to keep the fair name of Canada writ high among the nations.

This is a War Loan.

Canada needs to borrow your money.

If the Victory Loan succeeds, it will be another Mons for Canada.

Let us show the world again that what Canada undertakes Canada ACCOMPLISHES.

CITY COUNCIL BUY BONDS

There was a perfect attendance upon the occasion of the regular meeting of the city council last evening.

After the minutes of the last meeting were adopted the first matter was a communication relative to Mr. Watkinson not having received his tax notice and not obliged to pay the 15 per cent penalty. He was advised his notice had been sent as all others.

A special matter was then considered in connection with investing a further portion of the sinking fund in the present Victory Loan. An offer from the Royal Financial Corporation was presented which will net the sinking fund account about $3500 clear profit. This is by selling all present holdings of Victory Bonds at market price and investing proceeds in the present issue. The following motion by Gates and Graham, was passed: That the City Treasurer be hereby authorized to purchase $80,000 1919-1934, 5½% Victory Loan and that the bonds at present held ($70,000) be converted for this purpose under the offer of the Royal Financial Corporation, and that the City Treasurer draw on the Sinking Fund for the balance.

A motion with reference to the council going definitely on record to accept Victory Bonds in payment of taxes, was suggested. This question was the subject of quite a little discussion, wherein the favorable and unfavorable possibilities to the city were presented. It was decided to defer the matter until next meeting in order that the finance committee could into the matter thoroughly.

Sealed tenders for installing storm sash in the council chamber were opened. Three were received, Kennedy & Mangan, Currie Bros. and one unknown tenderer. As the unsigned tender could not be identified the contract was duly awarded to Currie Bros.

Open tenders for a supply of feed for the city teams were received from Western Canada Wholesale, Trites-Wood Co., and John Podbielancik. On the comparative basis John Podbielancik was successful in receiving an order for one car No. 1 Timothy hay, five tons oats and one ton bran.

Ald. Rutledge reported on behalf of the water and light committee, recommending purchase of 24 new meters to meet present immediate requirements and also the purchase of necessary parts for changing 8 arc lamps so that incandescent globes may be used. It was reported that the city of Calgary had already experimented in this connection and had found the converted light more satisfactory than the older type of arc lamps. Authority for these purchases was granted.

Ald. Beck inquired as to the toboggan sildes and Ald. Robichaud replied they were installed but there was not enough snow yet so that the kiddies were still using the hill.

With reference to an offer for the purchase from the city of a grader procured some years ago for use as a snowplow but which had not proved satisfactory and consequently was of no use, the matter was left over for further consideration.

A guarantee to save 25 per cent in fuel at the city hall was given ov the Burn-All Fuel Saving System. The cost of installation was given at $100. The guarantee is that unless the stated saving is made by using the system and it does not otherwise give satisfaction, no payment need be made and it will be removed.

The city engineer and city electrician were authorized to thaw underground pipes for the public at $4.00 first hour and $1.50 afterwards.

Ald. Gates, Graham and the Mayor will act as a court of revision for the 1920 voters list. The court will sit in the council chamber on Wednesday, Dec. 10, at 8 p.m.

LOCAL FOOTBALLERS TAKE NOTICE

Owen Lennon, late of the West Kootenay Football Association, now resding in Fernie, has received a communication from the Secretary of the B.C. Association stating that the West Kootenay Association has been granted affiliation with the B.C. Association and will now be eligible to compete for the provincial championship, and also for the Connaught Cup, emblematic of the championship of Canada. It is most desirous that the teams in the Crow's Nest League should participate in the championship games, but if they desire to do so, an application from the Secretary of the league with a fee of $1.00 for each team under the jurisdiction of this league must be in the hands of the Secretary of the B.C. Association before their meeting, which takes place in the Hotel Vancouver on the 22nd of November at 7.30 p.m. Any information regarding this proposition can be secured from Owen Lennon, Fernie. So hurry up, boys, and fall in with the crowd.

SPEAKS HERE ON NOV. 27

Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.L.A. of Vancouver, will address a public meeting in Fernie on Thursday evening, Nov. 27, at 8.15 p.m. She will also address a meeting of women on the afternoon previous, Wednesday, Nov. 26, at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Smith, widow of the late Hon. Ralph Smith, is well known all over Canada as being a brilliant and forceful speaker. She is also the first lady member of parliament in B.C., and one of the first in Canada. She entered parliament as an Independent and women's candidate, and devotes a great deal of her time to betering social and economic conditions for women.

Not a citizen of Fernie should miss hearing this distinguished speaker while here.

The place of these meeting will be announced later.

FERNIE LOAN TAKES JUMP

During the final week of the Victory Loan campaign great progress has been made, to such an extent that it has now passed the original expectations of the committee, who one week ago estimated the grand aggregate for the 1919 Victory Loan for Fernie District at the most at $300,000, while on Thursday night the total had already reached $336,500 with additional applications in hands of city canvassers and outside units easily estimated at enough to bring the total well over $350,000.

Fernie City	$296,650
Coal Creek	$8950
Hosmer	$1000
Michel and Natal	$5000
Crow's Nest	$650
Corbin	$4950
Elko	$1800
Galloway	$4900
Jaffray	$2600
Waldo	$8600
Newgate	$1400

Total—$336,500.

According to the above no reports have been included from Baynes and Roosville, but these units are known to have a fairly substantial number in hand. Other outside places have advised that further larger returns will be forthcoming before Saturday. The City of Fernie with $296,650 is already well over the amount subscribed here in 1918, when the total was $280,000 odd. With the present satisfactory showing the committee already feel confident that the district as a whole will exceed the amount, $407,000 subscribed last year. In fact there still remains two or three large subscriptions in prospect which if they materialize will boost the grand total far beyond that amount.

When the District had acquired its quota of $200,000 last week, W. R. Wilson, General Manager of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., advised the committee that if they had procured the quarter million mark by the close of the campaign he would tender them a dinner. This objective was reached Wednesday and now the incentive this is urging the canvassers is to exceed last years' total and thereby at least be one hundred per cent over-subscribed. Last night two more crests were wired for, which makes four of these emblems to adorn the Prince of Wales Honor Flag.

COAL STRIKE CALLED OFF

Indianapolis, Nov. 11.—An order calling off the nation wide bituminous coal strike was issued today following the decision of the general committee of the United Mine Workers of America early this morning to obey the mandate of the United States Judge Anderson, issued here last Saturady. The general committee composed of international officers, district presidents and members of the executive board and scale committee, reached its decision at 4.10 o'clock this morning and adjourned five minutes later to reconvene at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Indianapolis, Nov. 11.—The way for the final adjustment of the controversy between the bituminous coal operators and the United Mine Workers of America which resulted in a strike of 425,000 union miners, and action by the government in the federal court, appeared in sight tonight.

While the representatives of the miners, who earlier in the day had agreed to comply with the mandate of United States District Judge Anderson and late today mailed an order rescinding the strike order, were discussing the future policy of the organization telegrams were received from W. B. Wilson, secretary of the department of labor, and Thomas Brewster, chairman of the operators' scale committee, by John L. Lewis acting president of the miners, inviting the miners representatives into a conference.

Mr. Lewis, on behalf of the mine workers, accepted the invitation of Secretary Wilson to meet the operators of the bituminous coal fields in Washington at 11 o'clock next Friday, and replied to Mr. Brewster, who requested a meeting of the central competitive scale with the operators of the district, in Washington, Monday, Nov. 11, "to negotiate a contract to be enforced upon termination of the contract now in effect," that the miners had already accepted the invitation of Mr. Wilson.

Although the strike has been called off, the court action in the strike case has not been completed by any means. The miners' attorneys are preparing their writ with a view to appealing the case to the United States circuit court of appeals and expect to file petition for this step within the next two or three days.

The attorneys stated they expected to carry the case to the highest tribunal of the country if the government is upheld in the lower courts in its contention.

From the standpoint of the government, the miners themselves are not absolved from further obedience to the court's injunction through withdrawal of the strike order, and unless the case is dismissed injunction writs served on more than 60 of the United Mine Workers' officials are returnable before December 2. There was much speculation tonight as to how the notice of withdrawal of the strike would be received by the miners in the fields. In some quarters it was believed the men would return almost immediately. However, there were indications in some districts that some objections to obeying the order to resume work existed. Delegates to the conference who were questioned would make no predictions.

Washington, Nov. 11. — Having forced the miners to call off the coal strike the government set out today to help them negotiate a new wage agreement.

On the heels of the announcement that Federal Judge Anderson, at Indianapolis, had approved the order promulgated by the United Mine Workers of America, rescinding the strike notice, Secretary Wilson invited representatives of the miners and the operators from all fields involved in the walkout to meet here Friday "for the purpose of negotiating a settlement." When Mr. Wilson went home tonight he had not received any official reply, but was formally advised that they would comply with his request. The secretary was assured by operators and miners that they would endeavor faithfully to frame up a scale that would send 400,000 strikers back to work willingly and at once. The secretary of labor, again stepping to the front as mediator, will take up his work exactly as it was laid aside two weeks ago, except that no strike threat will hang over the conference. Instead ofthere being present in the conference representatives of miners and operators only from the central competitive fields, embracing the states of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, the conference will include miners from all fields involved in the strike, stretching over more than twenty states. Mr. Wilson's action in broadening the scope of the wage negotiations was a surprise to the operators but the larger plan of representation was adopted because of the desire of the men from other fields to have a voice in the deliberations.

SECRETARY I.O.D.E. TO SPEAK

Mrs. George Smith, of St. Catharines, Ont., National Education Secretary of the I.O.D.E., will arrive in Fernie on Saturday, and will address the Daughters of the Empire and all interested in War Memorial work, in the reading room of the G. W. V. A., at 8.30 p.m. Saturday. Mrs. Smith will also address the children in the same rooms on Sunday afternoon at 3.30 at the close of Sunday School. It is to be hoped every parent will avail themselves of this opportunity of having their children hear Mrs. Smith's most excellent address on this momentuous scheme.

Leaders of opinion and thought in all countries and in all climes have come to realize as never before in the history of man, the intrinsic value of moulding the character and mind of the child in order that he may carry forward in the most efficient manner possible the ideals and standards of civilization set up by his forefathers.

In view of this fact, then, the War Memorial Scheme, devised and perfected by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire of Canada, is one of the most momentuous and significant of movements, in its every detail, ever conceived by progressive thinkers, whether ancient or wodern, It is a most extensive and varied scheme of patriotic educational propaganda and it is designed to cover every known phase of education. The result to Canada nationally will be a rich harvest in sound patriotic citizenship.

Mrs. Smith, National Educational Secretary of the I.O.D.E., will talk along the above lines.

HOTEL CASES ON APPEAL

The question as to whether the Provincial Police have jurisdiction to enforce the Prohibition act in all parts of the Provnce, including municipalities such as the City of Fernie, was the first point argued before the Court of Appeal, comprised of Chief Justice Macdonald, Mr. Justice Martin, Gallagher, McPhillips and Eberts at Vancouver on Friday the 7th and Monday the 10th of Nov.

The appeal was taken by the Crown from the findings of His Honor Judge Thompson, dismissing the charges against the Northern Hotel, William

JURY ACQUITS SHERIFF SCOTT

We are informed that the following article refers to "Jep" Scott, at one time a well known Fernie barber:

Wallace, Idaho, Nov. 5. — J. H. Scott, sheriff of Soshone county, was acquitted by a jury in the district court today of the charge of making a false return to an order for destruction of confiscated liquors issued by Probate Judge Weniger last August, and in which the probate judge appeared as the complaining witness. The motion of the defendant for an instructed verdict, made yesterday and denied by Judge Woods, was renewed at the opening of court today, and after further argument the motion was granted.

The jury was returned into court and instructed to bring in a verdict of acquittal, and although not bound by this instruction they did bring in the verdict of not guilty 12 minutes after retiring. The case, which has attracted capacity audiences during the three days the trial has been in progress, was brought to an abrupt end.

The principal point raised by the defense in the motion for an instructed verdict was that Scott as sheriff could not be held criminally liable for acts of his deputy and that there was no evidence that Scott had made or delivered a return on the order for destruction or that John Dolan, who signed the return, was a deputy sheriff and authorized to sign the name of Scott to the return.

The acquittal of Sheriff Scott adds another chapter to the court house feud which has furnished political gossip for partisans of each side for the last four months and was the outcome of a raid by Sheriff Scott and his deputies on the Samuels hotel last spring when a large quantity of liquor was confiscated that had been stored in a vault in the basement of the hotel. The real owners of the liquor were never apprehended.

THE MYCTIC ROSE

A Story of Primtive Marriage From a Sanscrit Text

In the beginning when Twashtry (i.e. God) came to the creation of women he found that he had exhausted his materials in the makng of man and that no sold elements were left.

In this dilemma after profound meditation he did as follows: He took the rotundity of the moon and the curves of the creepers, and the clinging of tendrils, and the trembling of grass, and the slenderness of the reed, and the bloom of the flowers, and the tapering of the elephant's trunk, and the glances of the deer, and the clustering of rows of bees, and the joyous gaiety of sunbeams, and the weeping of the clouds, and the fickleness of the clouds, and the timidity of the hare, and the vanity of the peacock, and the softness of the parrot's bosom, and the hardness of admant, and the sweetness of honey, and the cruelty of the tiger, and the warm glow of fire, and the coldness of snow and the chattering and cooing of doves, and the hypocrisy of the crane, and the fidelity of the chaprawaka, and compounding them all together, he made woman and gave her to man. But after one week man came to him and said: "Lord, the creature that you gave me makes my life miserable. She chatters incessantly and teases me beyond endurance, never leaving me alone, and she requires incessant attention and takes up all my time, and cries about ntohing, and is always idle, and so I have come to give her back again as I cannot live with her." So Twashtry said: "Very well," and took her back again. Then after another week came to him and said: "Lord, I find that my life is very lonely since I gave you back that creature. I remember how she used to dance and sing to me and look at me out of the corner of her eye, and play with me, and cling to me, and her laughter was music, and she was beautiful to look at, and soft to touch, so give her back to me again. So Twashtry said: "Very well," and gave her back again. Then after three days man came back to him again and said: "Lord, I know not how it is but after all I have come to the conclusion she is more of a trouble than a pleasure to me, so please take her back again." Bht Twashtry said: "Out on you! Be off. I will have no more of you. You must manage how you can." The man said: "I cannot live with her," and Twashtry replied: "Neither can you live without her," and he turned his back on man and went on with his work. The man said: "What is to be done? for I cannot live either with her or without her."

NOT ALL ON THE SURFACE

To the American idealist internation policy seems to be a very simple matter. He makes no allowance for the network of traditions, conventions, and conflicting obligations in which for centuries European statesmanship has been involved. Every exposure of pre-war diplomacy that comes through Bolshevik sources — some of it very slippery stuff—he accepts at once and displays to the discredit of statesmen in Europe, who would often have a very different story to tell if their lips were unsealed and they could state the full facts in their context. And then he proclaims that this old European world is so irretrievably bad that there is nothing to do but cast it off and return to honest American isolation. He cannot cast it off. For good or evil he is inextricably bound up with it, and he will find more and more that his salvation, like ours, depends on an honest effort to clear it up. Let us assure our American friends that we are quite as well aware as they are of what is amiss in Europe and beg them to lend us a hand in putting it straight.—Westminster Gazette.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

AUTUMN

THERE is a nip in the air these mornings that must be rather sharp to the man who scrapes his chin when shaving himself.

If he used a Gillette Safety Razor, he would positively enjoy shaving every morning, he would look his best at all times, and there would be no cutting or chafing of the skin!

Furthermore, in the time he now takes to get his old razor edge as near right as he can, he could finish shaving with the Gillette.

Stropping and Honing would be a thing of the past for him. That alone is worth $5,—the price of a

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

"DADDY LONG LEGS"

The daily life of scores of orphans unfortunate enough to be living in an institution, the founder of which obtained his ideas of discipline at a penitentiay where he made his money through convict labor, is shown in detail in "Daddy Long Legs," screen version of the famous story by Jean Webster, in which Mary Pickford will be seen at the Orpheum next Wednesday and Thursday.

This super-feature is the first to be made by Mary Pickford's own company, after Miss Pickford obtained the screen rights from Klaw and Erlanger to whom she gave her personal check for $40,000. Miss Pickford has the part of Judy Abbott, the little asylum girl who got her chance to go to college through the generosity of a man who later fell in love with her.

The picture was directed by Marshall Neilan, "The Mark Twain of the Screen," who because one of the foremost directors of the day through his ability to put appealing humor into screen action. Miss Pickford is supported in "Daddy Long Legs" by Mr. Neilan, who has the part of a young college man in love with Judy; by Mahlon Hamilton, who has the part of Jarvis Pendleton, Judy's benefactor; by Milla Davenport, as the tyrannical head matron of the asylum; by Fay Lemport, as Angelica Wyckoff, an ill-mannered little girl reared in luxury; and by one of the most charming groups of child actors ever seen on the screen, as well as half a dozen other adult actors.

The first half of the picture is laid in the John Grier Orphan Asylum. Mr. Neilan has filled it with a surprsing number of humorous and pathetic incidents. The millions of admirers of Miss Pickford will agree when they have seen this picture that the favorite star never had a better or more appealing role than that of the orphan, Judy Abbott, who, as an infant, is picked out of an ash can by a policeman. Given a name from a telephone book by a hard-hearted matron; whipped, starved and cruelly treated until she reaches the age of twelve, when she begins to spread among the stripe-dressed little motherless babes a sunshine which later is the means of helping them all to better things.

As a madcap child whose resistless personality overcomes even the most sordid surroundings; as a girl tasting eagerly the good things for which she so longed in her childhood captivity; and at last as a lover, coquettish and capricious, Miss Pickford's characterization is a masterpiece.

SOLDIERS' GRAVES

The Imperial Graves' Commission will shortly visit Canada with a view to visiting cemeteries where deceased soldiers have been interred to see that all graves of deceased soldiers are marked and maintained.

In order to have complete records of all soldiers' graves of all ranks, information is required as to Regimental Number, Rank, Name in Full, Unit, Date of Death, cause of Death, name and location of cemetery, plot and lot number of grave, and address of next of kin of those deceased officers and other ranks who are interred in British Columbia other than those who died whilst in the C.E.F., those on the strength of the Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment and Active Militia in the District, as information in the latter cases are already on file.

This information is required in respect of:

(b) Members of Imperial Forces.

(c) Members of armies of any of the Allied Forces.

The general publii is asked to cooperate in this matter and any information in connection with the above will be appreciated if forwarded to the District Record Officer, M. D. 11, Drill Hall, Victoria, B.C.

DAHLIAS FOR FOOD

Dahlias, now figuring so pleasantly in all the early autumn flower shows, have a sadly unromantic history. They were introduced into western Europe about the time of the French Revolution by Dr. Dahl, a Swedish botanist, for the prosaic reason that the roots were considered suitable for supplementing the potato. They did not "catch on" in this country, and the dahlia-dish soon disappeared from British dinner tables. But our gardeners at once perceived the great latent possibilities of the flower and in due time developed the double dahlia, the cactus and other floral delights. The roots of the dahlia, which proved too acrid for our insular palates, are still occasionally eaten in some parts of France, where they were doubtless found to be highly desired "war food."—Westminster Gazette.

Atlantic Flight

Wonderful Example of the Value of OXO

Interesting letter from Captain Sir J. Alcock, K.B.E., D.S.C.

"You will be interested to learn that OXO was a great "help to us during our Trans-Atlantic Flight; it sustained "us wonderfully during our 16 hours' journey.

"We had found out what a good thing it is when flying "in France, and so decided to carry it with us on this "occasion, and we can assure you that hot OXO is most "acceptable under such cold and arduous conditions. "OXO was the only article of its kind which we carried."

J. ALCOCK, Capt., D.S.C.

OXO steadies the nerves—keeps the brain alert—gives extra warmth to resist cold and exposure—extra strength to fortify against fatigue, and yields an abundance of energy out of all proportion to the amount taken.

Prices same as before the war, 10c., 25c., $1.15, $2.25.

HOW YOU CAN TELL GENUINE ASPIRIN

Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Aspirin—No others!

BAYER

There is only one Aspirin, that marked with the "Bayer Cross"—all other tablets are only acid imitations.

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" have been prescribed by physicians for nineteen years and proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages, can be had at any drug store. Made in Canada.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company, Ltd., will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

Torture of the Inquisition

A Modern Example of Suffering

People suffer—suffer torments—with help at hand. Gin Pills can overcome pain in the most marvelous way—all the suffering which follows in the wake of weak or diseased kidneys, such as rheumatism, sciatic neuralgia, stone in the bladder, excruciating backache, stiff and swollen joints and ankles, yields quickly to the soothing, healing, strengthening power of Gin Pills, which contain Juniper and seven other valuable diuretics and antiseptics.

Mr. Arnold McAskell, of Hants, N.S., writes as follows:

"For a long time I suffered from a pain in my back and could not move without agony. I grew worse until confined to bed. A friend advised me to use Gin Pills. Before I had used one box I began to feel better. By the time I had finished two, I was completely cured. I cannot say too much in favor of these pills and I recommend them strongly to anyone suffering from kidney trouble."

At the first suggestion of pain in the back get Gin Pills from your druggist or dealer. Each box is guaranteed to relieve—or money back. 50c a box. Free sample, sufficient to show its value, sent on request.

SOUR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach sweetener in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

LADY CURLERS ORGANIZE

The annual meeting of the Ladies Curling Club was held at the home of Mrs. F. C. Lawe on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 8. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Lawe.
1st Vice—Mrs. Herchmer.
2nd Vice—Mrs. Irvine.
Sec.-Treas.—Mrs. Harvie.

The meeting was a most enthusiastic one, and plans were formulated for renovating the ladies room in the curling rink. It is hoped that this will be done before the curling season is well advanced.

It was decided to curl on Tuesday and Thursday of each week at 2.45 p.m. Any person wishing to join the club will kindly hand their names to Mrs. Harvie.

After the close of the business meeting Mrs. Spence, who is leaving Fernie, one of the oldest members of the Ladies Curling Club, was presented with a silver cup. The presentation was made by Mrs. Herchmer in a very witty and appropriate speech, after which tea was served.

HOCKEY

At a meeting held in the F.A.A.C. hall last week the City Hockey League was organized and the following officials were elected:

Hon. President—Rev. Batzold.
Hon. Vice-President — Dr. Asselstine.
President—E. Kirkpatrick.
Secretary—R. Colton.
Treasurer—O. Anderson.

It was decided to have two games a week, Monday and Friday, at 7 o'clock sharp. The league is composed of four teams, the, Nationals, Shamrocks, Monarchs and Millionaires.

The opening game will take place on Monday, Nov. 17, between the Nationals and Millionaires. No admission fee will be charged but a collection will be taken up during the game to enable the League to get some good outside teams in during the winter.

On Wednesday the Shamrocks and Monarchs will play and on Friday the two winners. The teams line up as follows: :

Nationals (Red and Black)—R. Colton, C. Colton, McKee, Nadden, E. McDougall, Glover, Dicken, H. Johnson, J. Davidson, T. McDougall and Wheeler.

Shamrocks (Red and Green) — A. Anderson, Costa, O. Anderson, T. Wilson, K. Colton, J. Thompson, Scott, Gates, Payton, T. Davidson.

Monarchs (Khaki and Red) — R. Kirkpatrick, White, M. Commons, Hunnable, Todhunter, C. Commons, Dragon, B. Wilson, Dickenson, Lee.

Any player whose name is not on any of the above teams please notify the secretary.

HOTEL CASES ON APPEAL

Mills and Simon Dragon, who were sentenced by Magistrate Whimster under the Prohibition Act.

A further preliminary objection was taken on behalf of the Northern Hotel, which is an incorporated company, that under the words of section 28 regarding "Corporations" no conviction can be made because of the technical terms of this particular section. On both preliminary objections the court reserved judgment.

On the merits of the case the findings of His Honor Judge Thompson did not seem to meet with the approval of the Court of Appeal, but they reserved judgment on the question as to whether two people could be convicted of the same offence, particularly if the servant of the proprietors was first convicted.

These cases aroused a great deal of intesest as do all cases under the Prohibition Act.

A. Macneil, barrister, of this city, assisted by D. E. McTaggart, of Vancouver, acted for the hotelmen, and W. D. Carter, K.C., acted for the Attorney General.

SAYS PROHIBITION CAUSED U.S. STRIKE

London, Nov. 4.—That the coal strike in America was caused by prohibition is the belief expressed editorally by several of the leading Conservative newspapers of England:

The Daily Mail attributes the men's grievances to enforced abstinence from liquor.

The Morning Post sees beneath the surface of the coal strike a social revolution being promulgated by secret anarchist organizations.

"Men who had no social grievances could not turn to thought of revolution," it says. "What social grievances have these American miners? There is one which is obvious to all. Prohibition has been carried through the State and Federal legislature by such a system of organized lobbying and political blackmail as is unequalled in the history of democracy.

"Coal mining is a dry business, and the miner deprived of his beer is an angry man. Moreover, the American suspects with very good reason that prohibition is a capitalistic movement. Some of the biggest employers are known to be among the strongest supporters of the movement.

"We don't know whether the secret organization which forced prohibition in America has any social or political aim beyond prohibition, but it might be worth while to investigate whether the organzations which have been working for revolution and those for prohibition have supporters in common.

"Prohibition preceded the revolution in Russia and prohibition in the United States preceded the biggest attempt at revolution yet made in that country."

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

John L. Jamieson, who for a number of years was an engineer on the mines branch and who is now Supt. of the Vancouver Division of the C. P. R., spent Friday and Saturday in the city visiting old friends. Mr. Jamieson is not the only Fernie man to rise in railroad circles. Bert Warren, who at one time was C. P. R. agent here and later a bookkeeper for A. B. Trites, is now Asst. Gen. Manager for the Canadian Northern. Then there was also Duncan McRae, who for a number of years was mixed up in a small way in the lumber business around Fernie. He is also one of the high up officials in the Canadian Northern.

THE WORKINGMAN'S CLUB

The public-house is essentially the affair of the public, not of "the Trade." In so much as "the Trade" has an industrial interest, as the producer of exciseable liquors, it has a right to be heard in matters affecting the public-house, and temperance reformers, in so far as they are genuinely interested in sobriety and are not mere fanatical and interested advocates of total abstinence, have a right to be heard, and to claim that the public-house must do nothing to encourage drunkenness. The public interest lies in the desire that for the mass of the people there should be available in their hours of leisure comfortable houses for rest, refreshment and recreation. Since for the great majority of the people some light drink would seem to be a necessary condition of refreshment, the public-house cannot be satisfactory if it is a teetotal house. Nor can it be satisfactory if it remains, as under present conditions it usually is, not a place of rest and recreation, but only a drinking place, from which are practically excluded wives and children. The public-house should be for them as well as for men. — London Morning Post.

WATER SPOUT ON RAMPAGE

A monster waterspout, preceded by wind and rain, took an erratic course through the Anchorage. Once it was thought that it would hit the Charbdis but she was stopped; then again it appeared to have a dead sure thing on the Belding, but the wind shifted to the northeast and it came inshore; at this time rain in drops of enormous size was falling and a bed of floating fish began to beat up the fry and anchovies, and as the sun's rays were reflected by their scaly bodies, many quickly changing brilliant scenes were observed and noted by the more intelligent observers. The spout came in quite near the shore, and it presented the appearance of sucking up the salt water and giving down other water. As it got nearer the shore the spout lifted from the water and dispersed. A heavy dark cloud was above the spent spout into which it appeared to be finally absorbed. It was a sight worth seeing and many persons left the town and went over to the north shore and witnessed the closing phases of the phenomenon.—Bermuda Colonist.

THE MODERN NEWSPAPER

The Commerce Court has included the newspaper among the necessities of life. It has been recognized as one of the greatest world powers — the fourth—and economists of today have assigned to it the first place because of the larger and larger influence which it exerts on public opinion—a matter of great importance and great influence in a democratic state. One of the most important functions of the newspaper of today is to bring producer and consumer together and to get the merchant and the purchasers in closer relation one with the other. This is accomplished by means of the advertising columns, which serve a double purpose in that they assure the merchant of a number of customers and at the same time indicate to the consumer how he can profit by the offering made to him. The announcer of bargains is the profiteer's most powerful enemy. From this fact the newspaper is transformed into a powerful arsenal from which everyone can arm himself in the fight against erploitation. The service which the newspaper renders in this way to the public is inestimable.—Montreal La Presse.

A REAL HERO

Our idea of a 1919 peace-time hero is Rudolph Brenck of New Britain, Conn., who doubled his family of eight children by marrying Mrs. Annie Newfield, mother of another eight children. Thus starting their new matrimonial venture with 16 children in the family. In these days of high living costs the undertaking of feeding clothing and educating eight children is a man's sized job. Doubling the task is an achievement worthy of the superman. Also, while we are distributing medals to Mr. Brenek let us hand a few to the new Mr. Brenek, who will sew, mend, darn, and do a thousand and one things for 16 instead of eight. Surely peace has her heroes—and heroines!—Seattle Star.

THAT DELECTABLE BROWN SUGAR

How about the light brown sugar of boyhood days? Thrifty housewives may have bought it because it was cheaper than the ultimately refined white sugar, but it was not always consumed, we will say because we know, for that reason. It was spread in spoonfuls over buckwheat cakes, full griddle size, with plenty of butter to enrich the luscious tower. And when boys came home after a half-day in the lake, the pond, the old swimming hole, after an all-day nutting excursion, best of all then was a thick slice of fresh—hot on red letter days—home baked bread well spread with butter and then thickly topped with a feast of brown sugar to be repeated until the partaker felt his buttons. Who wanted lamb chops with creamed potatoes, pork tenderloin with apple sauce, after that perfect repast?—New York Sun.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF BRITISH COLUMBIA, AND

In the Matter of the Execution Act,
And in the Matter of a certain Judgment, obtained by the Plaintiff, in an action, in the above Court,

Between Allan Douglas Ford, Plaintiff,
And
James E. McCool, Defendant

Under and by virtue of an Order, confirming Registrar's Report and for sale of Lands, by the Hon. Chief Justice of the above Court, and in the above action dated the 14th day of October, 1919, I will offer for sale, at my office, in the Court House, in the City of Nelson, B.C., on Friday, the 28th day of November, 1919, at the hour of three o'clock in the afternoon, one undivided half interest in part (2.23) 100 acres of Lot 4589, Group 1 (one), Kootenay District, subject to the restrictive covenants contained in a conveyance, dated 27th December, 1910, from The Crow's Nest Pass Electric Light and Power Company, Limited, to Andrew Good, and also subject to the exceptions and reservations, contained in the conveyance of said lands, from The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, Limited, of which the defendant is the registered owner in fee of the said lands jointly with one James Miller.

The following charges appear registered against the said lands, described above:

(A) Mechanics Lien for $74.34 in favor of John Turner, filed 17th July, 1914.

(B) Judgment for $356.35 against James McCool, the Defendant, in favor of the Plaintiff, registered 11th August, 1919.

Pursuant to the provisions of "The Execution Act" and Amending Acts, to realize the moneys required and necessary to satisfy the Judgments mentioned in the said report.

James H. Doyle,
Sheriff of South Kootenay.

Dated at my office at the Court House, in the City of Nelson, B. C., this 28th day of October, 1919.

YOUR HOUSE

IS worth more today than it was a year ago. It would cost you a lot more to rebuild it—if the fire demon got it. So why not increase your insurance? Some are adding a third, others more. It is the wise thing—the safe thing—to do. It takes only a little accident to turn the biggest house into a pile of ashes.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Mrs. C. E. Lyons, who last week sold her residence to Walter Harwood, expects to shortly move to Spokane. Some old mining property in the Lardeau in which her late husband was interested, has lately proved very valuable and she will go to Spokane to look after her interests.

Some miscreant in an effort to destroy the new baby grand piano at the Grand theatre, deliberately smashed an iron water pipe, flooding the whole place. This is the second time someone has tried this stunt and it is about time the police got busy and put an end to his kind of mischief.

Chas. Spence left this morning for Penticton, where he will take over the management of the new co-operative store in that town. Previous to his departure he was presented on behalf of the different baseball clubs in the city with a beautiful wrist watch. Charlie is a good old sport and all the boys wish him the best of luck in his new venture.

On Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 15 and 16, very special services will be conducted in the Salvation Army Hall by Staff Capt. Habkirk, of Vancouver. His visit is in connection with the young people's work and he will therefore be pleased to meet all the young people. On Saturday he will give a very interesting program of sixty songs in sixty minutes. The present officers have heard this and can recommend it to all as grand. This will be the welcome Sunday to Lieut. A. Cashe.

Dr. Garner will give the second of his series of talks to women on Social Ethics in the council chamber on Tuesday evening, Nov. 18, at 8 p.m. As these talks are proving highly interesting and instructive, it is hoped that even a larger crowd than before will take the opportunity of hearing them. Afterwards there will be a short meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association. This organization is for the purpose of study and improvement of child welfare. All parents, teachers and women interested in this important work are welcome to become members. Fee 25c yearly.

Fred Mitchard arrived home from overseas on Friday last after three years in a German prison and many narrow escapes from death. He is looking fine and his many old friends are out with the glad hand to welcome him back. Fred tells of a very close call he had in connection with a court martial. The prisoners were being lined up to send to their cells when the command for attention was called and his comrade, a man named Thomas, who was smoking and quite deaf from shell shock, did not hear the order. A big German slapped the pipe out of his mouth and Thomas immediately knocked him down. A German guard rushed Thomas with a fixed bayonet when Mitchard sprang in and grabbed the gun, saving his comrade's life. He and Thomas were brought before a court martial. Thomas was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment but owing to conflicting evidence he was acquitted.

GOMPERS GIVES BAD COUNSEL

Thousands of thoughtful, patriotic labor union men will be disappointed and disheartened by the ill-advised stand taken by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor against the government and the public in the coal strike. The executive council's statement is a disloyal utterance that attempts to put organized labor back of a wrong cause and in direct conflict with the law, the government and the very safety and life of the people.

Of necessity an argument in defence of a wrong act must be a weak and a false argument. Mr. Gompers' argument in this case carries its own refutation. It is false at various points, self-contradictory at others, and here and there falls into reprehensible abuse of the federal government and the courts.

It is palpably untrue that the officers of the miners' union "did everything in their power to avert this great industrial struggle." The record shows that they flatly rejected President Wilson's appeal, addressed alike to the mine owners and the miners' union, to reopen negotiations and settle by arbitration any points in controversy that could not be settled by negotiation. On the other hand, the mine owners unqualifiedly accepted the president's proposal.

The excuse put forward by Mr. Gompers' council for this refusal by the officials of the miners' union refutes itself. It asserts that—

"There were almost 2200 delegates seated in the convention, representing 500,000 organized miners. They positively and explicitly instructed their officers. * * * There was no alternative except for the officers, who are elected by the membership, to carry out the direct instructions of the membership or resign from their positions as officers."

But in the very next paragraph the statement flatly contradicts the foregoing paragraph when it says "the officers of the mine workers, with their scale committee, entered into conference with the operators (the mine owners) at Buffalo. They stated they had full power to give and take."

If they had full power to give and take at Buffalo—that is, to effect a settlement by yielding points in controversy, they had just as full power to give and take at Washington, when the president asked them to submit their demands to negotiation and arbitration. The convention's instructions were the same in both instances.

Railing against the court's injunction the statement argues that injunction processes should be confined to the "purpose of protecting property and property rights only, thereby exercising the equity power of the courts to prevent immediate and irreparable injury."

Mr. Gompers and his executive council would therefore put property rights above public safety. They would have the American people believe that the courts are powerless to prevent irreparable injury to the lives, health and safety of the nation—the inevitable consequence of the strikers' heartless attempt to deprive the people of fuel and let millions of children, infirm and aged people and women shiver and freeze and suffer through the long, dark nights of winter, rather than let the miners' union obey the law, yield to the appeal of the president, and submit their differences to fair-minded arbitration.

It has long been apparent that Mr. Gompers has been putting his mind in the way of thinking that the American Federation of Labor is above the law and himself greater than the government. He now has the audacity and impudence to plant himself squarely and openly on that issue, for he does exactly that in this statement's tirade against the courts and the government.—Spokesman.

START A FIFTY DOLLAR GOVERNMENT BOND AT 5c.

It is now possible for the little ones either at home or in their school to save for a $50 Bond at the rate of 5c a time.

The National War Savings Committee have now in stock, for distribution, a 5c saving card in duplicate; the Blue card being retained by the child and the White one by the mother or teacher. When the children have 5c ready to save, they hand same to their mother or teacher and receive an X in ink on their card and the mother or teacher also places a corresponding X on their White card as a check. On every fifth nickle turned in the card is marked "T. S." and the child receives a Thrift Stamp for attachment to his or her Thrift Card. There are enough spaces on these five cent cards to enable a Thrift Stamp card to be completely filled. When the Thrift Stamp Card is complete, this should be exchanged at any Bank or Post Office for a War Savings Stamp, which should be attached to the fist place on a War Savings Certificate, and the child should then start another 5c Card and go through the same process until finally he or she has the whole of the ten spaces on the Certificate filled and this makes a $50.00 bond. Every War Savings Stamp earns interest at the rate of 4½ per cent compounded half yearly or 5 per cent over the period of five years.

Get them to start and save their nickles now to buy insurance or put themselves through college later.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

MAP-MAKING IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY

The fascinating legend "unexplored" has vanished from great tracts of the interior of Africa, where railways now wind their way in its stead. Africa from a geographical standpoint had almost lost, indeed, in recent years its title of "the dark continent" which might now be more fitly applied to South America. This still holds tracts in its recesses where cartography is largely conjectural or unverified. The world has other dark spots in some of its larger islands, such as Borneo and New Guinea; and, apart from all difficulties of commissariat and climate, it is not yet possible to pick one's way through the interior of Australia with the precision of a walk in Surrey. Add to these problems those of the bed of the seas and of the Arctic and Antarctic tracts where land and sea are confused by a mask of ice, and it is clear that map-makers may still congratulate themselves on the promise of a long and active career.—The London Times.

"PASSING THE BUCK"

There is a rule of the military service which this small war we are emerging from might well hand on to affaiss political, municipal or state: "Don't pass the buck." The officer who was told to lead his men to the capture of a definite objective or to accomplish a certain result in organization or supply, made his effort, won or lost. Thereafter he stood upon the results and by them was judged. It is a hard rule, but a rule that braces spines and warms feet that are prone to be chilly if there is good somewhere in the man. And by it, also, the unfit disclose themselves quickly and are eliminated. Under that rule, men who qualify under the titles they wear do their utmost by their oath and the law which governs them and those under them. They do not twist and squirm and lament their sad condition. They deliver the goods or get out. — New Orleans Times-Picayune.

THE ALCOHOL QUEST

Now that a man dare not drink it, alcohol is coming down in price and is about the only thing in the world that is doing so. This is because the nondrinkable kind can be made from so many things. A fine grade can be made from the sawdust that incumbers the lumber mills and there are dozen's of nature's lavish products that yield it in large percentages. Our old friend Henry Ford thinks he can produce alcohol at less than a nickel a gallon and a gallon of it will run one of his tin road rabbits for 18 miles. He thinks he can market it cheaper than the stuff that gushes out of the ground. Really, nobody should worry about any prospective failure in the gasoline crop. When it comes to a showdown some genius will be barreling up the Pacific ocean and getting a fine grade of combustion out of the same. —Los Angeles Times.

In Battle Won by Bravery—In Peace to be Won by Bonds

SHE BELIEVES IT SAVED HER LIFE

Mrs. O'Brien Didn't Have A Single Well Day in Five Years—Tanlac Restores Her to Health

"Iactually believe this Tanlac has saved my life," is the remarkable statement of Mrs. Grace O'Brien, who resides at 18 June Street, Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada.

"I hadn't seen a well day in five years until I took Tanlac," she continued. "The agonies I suffered from stomach trouble made me almost wish I was dead many a time. In all those lony years of suffering, I haven't known what it was to enjoy a meal, and have gone for days at a time without touching real food, because I was fraid of the pain that I knew it would bring me. Even a piece of dry toast would upset me so that I would be in misery for hours, and when I tried liquid food it would sour on my stomach. When I would try to eat, my food would feel like a rock in my stomach and would sour and form gas that rose up in my throat and almost cut off my breathing. Pains all through the pit of my stomach sometimes kept me awake at night walking the floor and I finally got to the place where I was so weak and nervous and run down that I couldn't even dress myself. When I would try to dress in the morning, I have fainted away many a time, as I would be so weak that I couldn't stand on my feet. If it hadn't been for my two daughters I don't know what I would have done, as they had to take care of me and the house too.

"The first bottle of Tanlac didn't seem to make much improvement in my condition, for I had suffered so long that my troubles were hard to reach. I began to feel like eating after the second bottle and as soon as I could eat and digest my food I felt myself getting stronger. I kept on until I have now taken four bottles and it is remarkable how I have improved. The pains through my stomach have disappeared entirely and the gas has quit forming. I have a good healthy appetite and can eat meat, onions, in fact anything I want—and it builds me up and I enjoy every meal. My strength has come back until I can get around and do almost as much housework as my daughters can. I have gained ten pounds and am picking up all the time, and when night comes I sleep without a pain and wake up in the morning feeling like a defferent person. I really believe Tanlac has saved my life and I am glad to tell everybody about this wonderful medicine."

"SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE"

If you were a pretty and neglected young wife what would you do if a middle-aged and designing widow took advantage of your husband's interest in his work to try to win him from you? This is the problem that forms the basis for a delightful comedy in "Sauce For the Goose," the new Select Picture in which Lewis J. Selznick presents Constance Talmadge which will be shown at the Orpheum theatre on Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 17 and 18.

Constance Talmadge is a comedienne who knows the value of a sure light touch in spontaneous fun-making, and she more than fulfils the hopes and expectations of her many admirers by her delightful interpretation of Kitty Constable in this play.

The story is from the successful play by Geraldine Bonner and Hutcheson Boyd, adapted by Julia Crawford Ivers. Briefly it relates how John Constable, a young writer, is working hard on his book, "Woman's Struggles." Mrs. Alloway, a widow, takes an interest in his work and Kitty, the young wife, remarks that the widow is truggling—o land John. When Mrs. Alloway goes too far in her designs, Kitty concocts a clever retaliatory plan of her own, covers the widow with confusion and wins heer husband back in a hurry. The theme of the neglected wife an dthe "other woman" is old, but the handling of it in this picture is new.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

Make Your Dreams Come True

Fond parents dream of a bright future for their children.

They dream of the literary and musical education they are going to give their daughter, and of the high position she will take in her sphere of womanhood.

They dream of the education they are going to give their son and vision him some day as a clergyman, a famous lawyer an eminent physician, a prominent financier, or a captain of industry.

But to make these dreams come true—or even partly true—requires foresight, planning and money.

To provide the money what plan so wise as to buy Victory Bonds for each child?

Thousands of parents bought Victory Bonds for their children in 1917 and 1918

Surely you will be among the thousands of loving parents who will buy Victory Bonds for their children—this year?

Victory Bonds may be bought on instalments at such easy terms that every parent who so wishes may buy

RAID THE ANARCHISTS

Those people who were disposed to treat lightly the designs of Russian anarchists and bolshevists and their American consorts and sympathizers to destroy the American government and American institutions must be sobered by the amazing revelations growing out of the recent nationwide raid on anarchistic headquarters in many cities. In these riads federal officers seized printed propaganda affirming a purpose to—

"Destroy mercilessly all remains of governmental authority and class domination, liberating the prisoners, demolish prisons and police officers, destroy all legal papers pertaining to private ownership of property, all field fences and boundaries. In a word, we must take care that everything is wiped from the earth that is a remined of the private ownership of property. * * * In the work of destruction we must be merciless, for the slightest weakness upon our part may afterwards cost the working classes a whole sea of needless blood.'

As a first means to that diabolical end discontent is to be fanned in the minds and hearts of the wage-earners. "We must convert small strikes into general ones, and convert the latter into armed revolt of the laboring masses against capital and state."

Every strike is therefore a witting or an unwitting contribution to the destructive designs of these anarchist and revolutionary plotters, who avow their purpose to use labor as a tool for the overthrow of every vestige of our existing governments and institutions.

As the sunshine of heaven is the best cleansing power when turned into the dark and foul breeding places of loathsome insectile and bacterial destructiveness, so the sunshine of publicity is the best demolishing weapon against the foul offscourings of Europe that have stolen into the republic to plot against its existence. They should be raided again and again and again; their insane literature destroyed, their gibbering speakers imprisoned or deported. Too long have we been deluded by the false theory that an ignoring policy of nonresistance will cause this movement to subside, and that the best way of dealing with anarchy and anarchists is to shut our eyes and close our ears to their wild plottings. — Spokesman.

A TAXLESS STATE

While her sister state to the south is worrying over an increase in taxes — state, city, county and school — Wyoming is blithely looking forward to the day when she shall consider herself a taxless state. Today Wyoming is receiving in oil royalties at the rate of $2 per minute or something over a million dollars a year and this is but a beginning. Every week royalties to the state are increasing. By the end of the year Wyoming's treasury will be taking in at the rate of a million and a quarter per annum and by this time next year the amount will be around three million dollars per annum. In three years the state should be free entirely of all taxes for state purposes and have plenty on hand to build miles and miles of highways, to enlarge the state university and make it a distinguishing feature of the commonwealth of Wyoming, and do other big things for education and improvement, spiritually and physically, of the fortunate state.

Wyoming deserves her good fortune. Public spirit requires the conservation of the state's natural resources. Wyoming did not sell her patrimony in the early days for a mess of pottage. She held rather carefully to her public lands. The discovery of oil made them valuable beyond measure. The reward is coming fast. In a few years state officers will be devising ways and means of how to invest her surplus revenues from oil and coal. All the better for the state. It is no longer a "cow country" to be exploited in moving pictures. The state will develop fast in the coming decade as a result of its inherent wealth and the public spirit of its citizenship. A state that can afford to give the very best educational facilities at a minimum cost to the residents is not going to be neglected.

All hail Wyoming to taxless fame.

And a word of warning to those responsible for Colorado's imposts: Look out or there will be an exodus across the northern line! — Rocky Mountain News.

NOVEMBER and DECEMBER DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Jim Thistlebeak says that if the heated car system is the same on the rest of the C.P.R. system as it is on the Crow's Nest line, is sure is rotten. The writer ordered onions, apples and other perishables from Fernie on Oct. 30 and received them Nov. 8. Some service. The man in Winnipeg who operates this service should be flagging trains or checking cars in Winnipeg. His influential friends sure jumped him out of his class when they gave him that job. It will be a blessing for everybody in the Crow's Nest Pass when the Great Northern builds through to Calgary. Every section of the C.P.R. where they have no competition, they give their patrons everything the hens lay but the eggs.

J. Campbell Lewis and family have moved to Cranbrook. Jack is one of the best known men in the Crow and was from every point of view the best game warden in the government's employ. He was a good citizen and a good man for the town; bought as close to home as he could and always paid cash. Mrs. Lewis was highly respected, and their two daughters are born entertainers and will be greatly missed in the Old Historic Burg. We wish them every success in their new home. Elko's loss will be Cranbrook's gain.

Some of the well known travellers visiting the Queen City of the Pass this week: Headliner, Jack Colvin, one of the wearever kind, the longer you know him the better you like him, and his goods wear like real leather, came in from the west looking as fresh as new mown hay and a Christmas tree smile. Colin Dingwall, another Irishman from Aberdeen, with heavy woolens and Scotch caps for day wear. Roy Sharps, Nelson, with pump handles and wash boards, said that Bill Richardson had a curling rink that could beat any rink in Elko, Waldo or Baynes. The ever cheerful James C. Sheirlock. They can't beat him, and genous to a fault. He would give the shirt off his back to a friend in want and lay down his life for you after. He was wearing a suit that would get any girl within a two mile radius, selling pigs' fry. Romnellet kidneys and lingerie. Five Rose Moir, just back from his European tour, looking as if he had had a time like an admiral's dream. Mr. Young of Winnipeg with calendars for immediate delivery and several others.

The C.P.R. west bound train has never been on time since they changed time on the Crow Line.

According to newspaper reports on the crops damaged by frosts throughout the whole Dominion, Jim Thistlebeak says that Murphys on the half shell will be some price before spring.

Contractor William Woods is putting on two more crews of men on his limits west of the town. Men are coming in from Alberta like farmers to an agricultural show. The Elk Hotel under the able management of Allen & Duncan is well filled all the time.

Big game is plentiful around Elko this fall and the heavy fall of snow is making it dead easy for the hunters to get their limit.

Miss Betsy Fly Up Creek, Miss Sadie Shooting Star and Miss Mabelle Two Stockings were in town this week with buckskin novelties from the Tobacco Plains reserve.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Saturday last was pay day up here. A large number of Creekites took in the sights of Fernie.

Mrs. George Larmont arrived back in camp after a long sojourn at the Coast.

The kiddies have been busy rehearsing for their big concert to be held tonight in the Club Hall. A dance will be held after the concert. Curtain rises at 8 p.m. Admission 50c. As the proceeds are to be devoted solely to the school children's welfare a big crowd is anticipated.

We are asked to announce that in order to meet the requirements of the Coal Creek members of the G.W.V.A. Ladies Auxiliary, commencing Tuesday, Nov. 18, the meetings will be held in future on Tuesday evenings.

Armistice Day was celebrated up here in royal fashion. Free liquid refreshment was provided for the Club members at certain periods. The afternoon was occupied by a whist drive at which valuable prizes were awarded the successful contestants, and in the evening a grand dance was held in the Club hall, the music being furnished by Mrs. McGregor. The wee small hours brought to a close another good time.

Owing to the inadequate accommodation in the gasoline car the M. F. & M. put on another engine and coaches commencing Monday.

The Club hall has been engaged for Tuesday evening, Nov. 18, on which date the Ladies Chapter Loyal Order of Moose are holding a social evening. Refreshments will be provided and several vocal items will be rendered. As the Lady Moose are noted for their good socials we would advise the residents to paste the date in their hats. Doors open at 7; commence at 7.30.

Will all local members of Fernie G.W.V.A. see that they are in good standing by the third Thursday in December as this is the qualification for office and voting power at the election to be held on that date. Nominations will take place the first Thursday in December.

Mrs. R. Billsborough, Mrs, D. F. Markland and Mrs. J. Gillies were visitors up here on Armistice day.

Our congratulations to Bill Bailey on the anniversary of his natal day.

The boxing classes are discontinued for a short time owing to unforseen circumstances.

Frank Nee arrived back from Calgary where he had been attending a medical board.

Miss Nellie Brown and Mrs. Peter Anderson are convalescing after treatment in Fernie hospital.

TO LECTURE NEXT WEEK

Following is the programme for Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.L.A., Vancouver, while in Fernie next week.

She will give an address to the parent Peachers' Association on Tuesday evening, Nov. 25th, at 8:30. Anyone interested in the welfare of children is welcome to attend.

On Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 26, at 4 p.m. Mrs. Smith will speak to a mass meeting of women.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 27th, at 8:15 Mrs. Smith will address a public meeting of citizens. At the Thursday evening meeting there will be a silver collection taken to defray Mrs. Smith's expenses.

These meetings are not of a political nature, but are in the interests of public wellfare, and every citizen of Fernie should make a point of hearing this distinguished speaker as often as possible.

A seat on the New York stock exchange was sold last week for $100,000, the largest amount ever paid for membership. The previous record was $96,000.

FERNIE COMES ACROSS STRONG

The Fernie District Victory Loan campaign closed at the end of last week in a blaze of glory in so far as the grand total of the amount subscribed is concerned. The net grand aggregate as compiled stands at $529,250, or well over two and a half times the original quota alloted of $200,000 for this year. The final figures were far beyond the estimates of even the most optimistic members of the committee, and Mr. E. K. Stewart, district chairman, desires through these columns to express his heartfelt appreciation to the canvassers and committeemen, who so nobly gave their undivided attention during the campaign, and also to the many subscribers who equally are deserving of unbounded credit for their ready response to pile up the total.

Victory Loan Unit	Subscribed 1918	Quota 1919	Subscribed 1919
City of Fernie	$280,750	$140,000	$402,150
Waldo	21,150	9,500	56,050
Michel	42,250	20,000	16,300
Coal Creek	16,150	7,000	14,050
Corbin	13,200	6,000	7,400
Baynes	17,150	8,500	11,500
Galloway		700	5,600
Elko	2,200	1,000	4,700
Newgate		1,000	3,550
Jaffray	8,500	3,300	2,800
Hosmer		1,000	2,000
Roosville	2,050	1,000	1,650
Crow's Nest		1,000	1,500
	406,650	$200,000	$529,250

All the local banks worked hard to help the Victory Loan campaign. Particularly was this the case in regard to the Home Bank, which purchased $70,000 worth of previous loan bonds from the city, giving the Corporation a straight profit of $1,500 in order that they might buy the $85,000 worth of bonds which the committee desired them to take.

MINISTERS ARE COMING

The regular monthly meeting of the Fernie Board of Trade was held in the council chamber last evening when there was quite a representative attendance of local businessmen. The publicity campaign for 1920 is reported as going ahead quite satisfactorily and it is confidently expected that same will begin to show results ere next season closes. In addition to this, other matters pertaining to the welfare of the city are being taken in hand by the board, and these as well, in time will prove quite beneficial.

The Finance Committee in compliance with the assessment classification approved some time ago reported that they were now engaged in collecting these funds. Up to the present, undertakings to pay assessments aggregating about $300 have been received, on which, over $150 has been paid in to the treasury. This work is necessarily slow but all members have by now been circularized and fully understand the program which will undoubtedly obviate the necessity of elaborate explanations to each member approached. The committee desire co-operation in this connection and any member of the board who could spare time to go around with a view to getting same cleared up as early as possible, would kindly submit their name to the secretary of the board, they will be gladly accepted.

On Wednesday evening next, Hon. Dr. King, minister of public works, and Hon. J. DeB. Farris, attorney-general of the province, will visit Fernie, upon which occasion there will be a special meeting of the board, complete announcement regarding which, will be made within a day or two. It is, however, especially requested that every member of the board turn out upon this occasion, when it may be their privilege to hear the honourable gentlemen, concerning matters of particular interest to this city and immediate vicinity.

TO BOOST COMPETITION

The Fernie District Committee for National Reconstruction met on Wednesday evening and business in connection with the Memorial Building Fund was considered. The Victory Bond contest, which was started some weeks ago, has not proceeded as rapidly as desired on account of so many other matters coming in hand at the same time. It is, however, the ambition now to dispose of this as early as possible and the sale of tickets will now be undertaken with a vigor. The reported sales are about 500, leaving 500 tickets still to be disposed of. The prizes to be awarded, namely six fifty-dollar bonds, are being exhibited this week in a store window; also the $10 gold piece which is the special prize for the holder of the first prize ticket drawn, provided the holder thereof is present at the drawing with his ticket. Tickets for the contest are on sale in practically all stores, so if you have not purchased one, do so at once and assist the Memorial Fund and as well, place yourself in the position of winning a fifty-dollar bond.

Next week the list of contributions to the Memorial Fund will be published and each week thereafter subscriptions will be acknowledged with the total previously received also shown. The committee also intend to publish, for the benefit of all concerned, reports from outside points showing activities with regard to realizing a permanent memorial in this district.

POPULAR PRIEST TO TRANSFER

The parishioners of the Church of the Sacred Heart will learn with deep regret that Father Kennedy, O.M.I., who has been in charge of the parish for the past fourteen months has received notice that he is to be transferred to Fernie at an early date.

Father Kennedy has done splendid work in this parish since he took it over and both young and old agree on the value of the service he has rendered to them during his all too short connection with the church in Kamloops. The hearty good wishes of all will follow him to his new parish. He will leave here Monday —Kamloops Telegram.

EAST KOOTENY CHAPTER I.O.D.E

The Chapter donated $50 to the French Red Cross fund, and made a monthly subscription to the Canadian Institute for the blind.

A whist drive was held in September and $50 was secured. A crocheted quilt donated by Mrs. Ingham, of Ingham's Ranch, Waldo, was raffled and $158 was netted, the winning ticket falling to Mr. J. W. Ross. The members tagged for the Navy League and collected $99.10. The Chapter also subscribed to the Mary Gooderham emergency fund.

At the September meeting, Mrs. H. Ross was made a life member of the Chapter and presented with a Life Membership pin and Certificate.

The Chapter experienced a sad loss in August through the death of their First Vice-Regent, Mrs. J. W. Ross. Mrs. Ross was treasurer of the Chapter for two years, Educational and Echoes Secretary for a short time, and Regent for the year 1918. She was First Vice-Regent at the time of her death.

A pretty wedding took place at the United Church on Wednesday, when Miss Elsie Robson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Robson, was united in marriage to Mr. Richard Banks; both of Fernie. The affair was celebrated in the evening by a big dance in the G.W.V.A. Hall.

20 PER CENT OFFERED

Washington, Nov. 20.—An increase in wages of 15 cents a ton and 20 per cent over the existing day scale, to become effective immediately the bituminous coal miers return to work, was offerd by the operators at the meeting today of the wage scale committees in the central competitive fields.

In announcing the offer, Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the operators' wage scale committee, said the operators had proposed the existing working conditions be continued and that contracts be operative until March 31, 1922.

John L. Lewis acting president of the United Mine Workers of America, declared the increase was totally inadequate, adding that the miners had not assumed the offer had been made seriously. The operators, he said, had proposed increases in the price of miners' supplies which would absorb practically all the wage advances.

Nothing was said about reduced hours, although the miners had demanded a 30-hour week. An increase of 15 cents a ton, it was explained, would be an advance of 20 per cent over present wages for machine mining as compared with the present price increases demanded by the workers.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Fuel Administrator Garfield still withheld today any action toward a nation-wide restriction of coal consumption, while sub-committees of mine workers and operators continued negotiations for a wage scale in the central competitive fields, and a basis of settlement for the mine strike. Where the pinch of coal famine has been felt it has been the duty of regional directors of the railroad administration to take care of them.

Joint committees were represented today to be making progress toward a settlement.

Ottawa, Nov. 20.—Little hope is held out to consumers of coal by fuel Administrator Magrath in his messages from Washington. So far, it is said, he has been unable to secure from the United States railroad administration the release of any supplies of coal for Canadian consumption but he is continuing his efforts at Washington. In the meantime the strictest economy is urged upon Canadians. It is expected that Mr. Magrth will have a conference with Hon. N. W. Rowell and Hon. G. D. Robertson during the next day or so, when the whole matter of Canadian coal supply will be discussed and future action outlined. Both of these ministers are now in Washington attending the world's labor conference, and at the same time seeking to secure relief for Canada in the matter of coal supplies.

GREAT WORK IS STARTED

National War Memorial and Patriotic Propaganda.

Mrs. George Smith, of St. Catherines, Ont., the National Educational secretary of the I.O.D.E. on Saturday night last, in a most interesting address placed before her audience the fully detailed scheme of the I.O.D.E. War Memorial. Briefly told it offers something for every child in Canada.

1. Pictures with lantern slides of every province in Canada and of every part of the Empire to be used and interchanged in all public schools of Canada with lectures on the cause by members of the I.O.D.E.

2. 1,000 sets of 20 pictures selected from the Canadian Government's collection of war pictures. These to be placed in one school in every county in Canada.

3. British historical pictures for all schools. (some of these are already hanging in the assembly hall of the Fernie Public School, presented by the local chapter).

4. Libraries for the Public Schools (one of these libraries has also been presented to the Fernie Public School by the Mt. Fernie Chapter.)

5. The I.O.D.E. will give a universitiy course or its equivalent to children whose fathers have made the supreme sacrifice or those of permanently disabled soldiers, sailors or aviators.

6. Lecture foundations and traveling scholarships and traveling fellowships. The first to send from each province in Canada one student in history to a British University for a year's course in Imperial History. This to be perpetuated as long as Canada stands. The successful competitor on the examination on this course will be awarded travelling scholarship.

The National Chapter I.O.D.E., by unanimous vote at the nineteenth annual meeting, May 1919, endorsed this splendid, lasting,, living memorial to our beloved and honoured men and women who sacrificed all. It has since been accepted by public men and women of Canada and given every encouragement by superintendents of education and was most enthusiastically received at the recent National Educational Conference held in Winnipeg, October 20th and 22nd, where notable educationalists demonstrated again and again that the "Fate of Empire depends upon the education of the youth" and "the greatest benefit possible to our nation was the teaching of our children."

For this work the Order has pledged itself to raise $500,000 for a national endowment fund and a campaign will be opened throughout the Dominion by all the Chapters and Members of the I.O.D.E., starting on Nov. 24th. Towards this amount, British Columbia has promised $50,000.

The members of the I.O.D.E. are begged to put all else aside and make the furthering of this great scheme their most urgent and immediate work.

The Mt. Fernie Chapter, I.O.D.E. will give their annual rose ball on December 2, the proceeds from which will make the foundation for their share of this great memorial, which will perpetuate our British tradition and lasting heritage to Canadians.

WILL FORCE AGREEMENT

Washington, Nov. 18.—The government stepped to the front today to force miners and operators to negotiate a new wage agreement and resume work in the bituminous fields before the country is in the grip of a coal famine. Clothed with all of his war time powers as fuel administrator, and acting by direct authority of the president's cabinet, Dr. Harry A. Garfield called a joint meeting of the scale committees, at which he was expected to give final notice that the time had come to resume mining operations on a normal scale. While the joint conference was set for this afternoon, Dr. Garfield found that a full attendance could not be obtained, so it went over until tomorrow.

Victoria, Nov. 18.—Unless the embargo imposed by the federal authorities on the export of British Columbia coal is judiciously operated, and utilized more in the nature of an agency to gather information, Hon. William Sloan, minister of mines, sees the possibility of injury resulting to the export business of the Vancouver Island collieries. Mr. Sloan stated that when the question was mentioned to him a week ago he approached the operators of the island and was assured by them that strike conditions affecting the industry in the United States would in no way endanger local support. In these circumstances he saw no reason for the necessity to impose anything more than a normal vigilance for the means to satisfy local needs.

Mr. Sloan points out that during the year 1918 sales of British Columbia coal for consumption in Canada amounted to 1,010,938 tons while 752,821 tons were sold for export to the United States and for export to other countries, 78,417.

SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS

Victoria. Nov. 17.—The following were the candidates successful in the British Columbia Civil Service examinations for stenographers held Nov. 1, the figures attached to the names showing the order of merit:

Nelson—Edith St. Denis, 5; Rose M. C. Lindblat, 28.

Revelstoke— Kathleen M. Sutherland, 19.

Fernie—Annie Lyas, 18; Elsie Barton, 34; Evelyn Dickenson, 38; Andrew Kasmer, 42.

On Wednesday evening, Rev. Father Michel, O.M.I., was the guest of honor at a social gathering of his friends in the Church Hall. He is leaving this week for New Westminster, to which charge he has been appointed, and his many friends wished to show their appreciation of his services by giving him an enjoyable send-off. A pleasant evening was spent and Father Michel was presented with a substantial purse of gold.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Salesmen, travellers, peddlers and train jumpers visiting the old historic burg last week, which means Elko is the best town in the Crow's Nest Pass and we've been running molasses in February quicker than some of them. The live salesman is always ready. His answer is the delivery of the goods. Good salesmanship goes by the chronometer of energy: it is there to the minute. It is action to the second. Prompt, positive, persistent salesmanship is self-discipline raised to the fourth dimension. The great trouble these days is that very few can deliver the goods. We have given three salesmen orders for a certain article and three wholesale houses failed to deliver the goods, yet their travellers took the order. Wholesale houses should cancel goods sold out and not allow their salesmen to book orders they can't fill. It is poor business. The salesmen visiting here last week are really not worth mentioning for a bigger bunch of freaks it would be hard to find outside of a dime museum.

F. C. Lawe, the well-known barrister and big game hunter, of Fernie, is up the south fork of the Elk after venison and there is all kinds of it there.

School Inspector Calvert, of Nelson, spent a day in Elko last week and put the x-ray on the public school, and his official report handed to the secretary of the board of trustees is the best in the history of the town. Teaching is the limitless training of the limitless mind. The training of a child's mind is next to the omnipotence that created it. The teacher who teaches for the money in it, would make a better junk dealer. The best teacher is the one who develops the greatest brain area in the child; the best teacher is the one that teaches positives, rooting out negatives. The real teacher never proves a right by showing a wrong.. The teacher without a positive backbone should quit teaching and start working in a rubber factory. We have had teachers in Elko that should have been hoeing spuds or weeding onions. Education is not knowing things; it is knowing life, knowing human throbbing beings. It is not things, but men women that make the world. Miss M. M. Anderson who has charge of Elko's rural temple of learning is getting results never before obtained in Elko, and so popular with the children that it is hard for the parents to get their children to come home for their meals—can you beat it?

Mrs. G. H. Scott, Miss Florence and Master Frederick, of Roosville, passed through Elko on their way to Nelson where in future they will reside.

Jim Thistlebeak says that humor will clear your nature like the water in Silver Lake, Elko, that is so clear you can look into it and see the people in Australia chasing kangaroos. Mirth will take an ugly disposition and make it lovely until it seems like a garden of flowers fenced in with angels.

Mrs. Tom Duncan and family spent the week-end at Cranbrook.

Miss Stella Big Moon from the Flathead Reservation, Montana, passed through Elko for the Fort Steele Mission this week. Her hair is as as the raven's wing and hangs down her back a-la-Margarite. The color of her eyes was like one big black cat, but her smile was the width of a saddle blanket and her weasel skin was well filled with United States currency, which is taken at par in Elko, B.C.

PECK MACSWAIN HEARD FROM

(Cranbrook Courier)

J. Peck MacSwain is still in the land of the living. For years "Peck" was numbered among the missing in the field of journalism. It will be pleasing news to Cranbrook people to learn that the bard of the Kootenays still survives. He has written several volumes on life and conditions in the Kootenays, his best novel being "From Somewhere to Nowhere." Another work of this well known writer was "The Shining Steel Ahead," a railroad story, wherein several local celebrites were used as the foundation work. MacSwain was for a long time editor of the Golden Star, which, under his management was the brightest twinkler in newspaperdom. He also edited the Moyie Leader and held a "post" on the staff of the Cranbrook Herald, while that paper was under the management of Thompson and Sullivan. The following story taken from the Kaslo Kootenaian, will prove interesting reading for Courier readers who knew "Old Peck" as he was familiarly known among old timers in this city:

Many Kasloites will remember J. Peck MacSwain. No, he's not dead. He's in Princeton. Princeton people don't die; they forget to wind the alarm clock and don't waken. Peck sends an account for £1,000,000 9s. 3½d. against The Kootnaian. This debt was contracted many years ago and before the Bostock era of newspaper prosperity, and could hardly be realized on forced sale of the plant.

The publisher of the Universal of Mexico City informs us that nearly all advertising sent into Mexico from this country is for patent medicines. Now we understand what s the matter with Mexico.—Toledo News-Bee.

After all, a statesman has a hard lot. It is easy enough to pick the right side, but so very difficult to pick the side that will hold the most votes.—Toledo News-Bee.

If you are to discuss present problems intelligently you should know what capitalism really is. "Capitalism," says The New Republic, "is not a system: it is not a community of interest and action: it is merely a regime like the hypothetical matriarchate, unified only in the logic of its philosophical critics."—Chicago Tribune.

ATLANTIC FLIGHT!

Wonderful example of the value of OXO.

Captain Sir J. ALCOCK writes:—

"You will be interested to learn that "OXO was a great help to us during our "Trans-Atlantic Flight; it sustained us "wondertully during our 16 hours "journey.
"We had found out what a good thing "it is when flying in France, and so "decided to carry it with us on this "occasion, and we can assure you that "hot OXO is most acceptable under such "cold and arduous conditions. OXO "was the only article of its kind which "we carried."

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

The New South Africa

The separatists affirm that in any conceivable conflict of interest, South Africa must refuse to compromise. It is an impossible position to take up either in private or public, in local or in national and imperial affairs, and if such a policy were to be accepted in South Africa or in any other Dominion it would mean the beginning of the end of the British Commonwealth. The Nationalists claim that they would welcome such a result. On the other side there are the majority —we believe the great majority—of the South African people who hold that the expansion and prosperity of the Union, as a self-governing and virtually independent State, will best be secured within the British League of Nations, and that the continued existence of this league will be the only real and permanent guarantee of our political liberties. — Johannesburg Star.

The Problem of the Growing Boy

Two boys have recently been in the hospital after taking poison. One of them has died. Their reasons, judged by the standards of maturity, were trifling. But they loomed large to the feverish imagination of adolescence.

What a problem every boy and girl is to himself or herself during that dangerous age. To their elders they may seem only children and their difficulties too insignificant to notice. To themselves their diffcultes are of tremendous consequence. Happy the fathers and mothers who can make themselves the confidants and comrades of their children in the years when they are passing from childhood to young manhood and womanhood.—Kansas City Star.

Field, Stream and Road

How strange the old-time pictures of sport would look today—baseball teams boasting at least half-a-dozen sets of whiskers—full-bearded cricketers—champions of the scull with their chins concealed.

Today the athlete knows the importance of the well-shaven chin. He is conscious that he is most keen when he is well-groomed—just as is the business man and the soldier.

For men who love outdoor life and sports, men of virile minds and active bodies, we have designed a Gillette Safety Razor with an extra stocky handle—the "Bulldog" Gillette, shown to the left.

Not that the Gillette needs a sturdy grasp. A light touch, with the angle stroke, removes the most stubborn beard with surprising comfort.

But there is a certain appeal in the thicker handle of the "Bulldog". Ask to see this special set and appreciate the point for yourself.

The case, you will notice, is almost as compact as the famous Pocket Edition Gillettes, and the price is the same, $5.00.

Sold by all dealers catering to men's needs.

SPIRITUALISM

(By Jerome K. Jerome)

I have read with much interest Sir A. Conan Doyle's book "The New Revelation," in which, as he explains, he states fully the case for spiritualism. I should have been grateful to Sir Arthur if he had converted me. Unfortunately, I can find nothing in the book to disturb my unbelief. I gives me further examples of physical phenomena, or "signs," as they are termed. All of them can be and have been, performed by conjurers making no claim to spiritual assistance. Sir Arthur admits that before he became converted he would occasionally return from a seance "puzzled and disgusted." What he had witnessed struck him as either fraud or folly so supreme as to render the whole subject unworthy of attention.

After his conversion he appears to have had no experiences calculated to weaken his faith, while the "explainations" that had before this time appeared so unsatisfactory to him he is now able to regard as "a rough approximation to the truth."

One of the first things that appears to have shaken Sir Arthur in his reliance upon his own reason was that a "fact" he could not himself believe had been attested by three eye-witnesses, "all men of honor and repute." I do not doubt for a moment that these three gentlemen did actually see a certain Mr. Home, a medium, "float out of one window and into another at the height of seventy feet above the ground." But I have to bear in mind that less than two hundred years ago men of "honor and repute," men of intellect and education, kindly Christian gentlemen, were attesting in open court that they had seen old women riding through the air on broomsticks! There can be no doubt that they honestly believed what they swore to. Belief in witchcraft was in the air they breathed.

As for the further testimonies by which Sir Arthur is convinced that the truth of spiritualism has been "proved up to the hilt," I take one or two examples as typical. A lady medium, in the presence of Sir Arthur, on hearing that the Lusitania had been sunk suddenly wrote these "It is terrible, terrible, and will have a great effect on the war." On another occasion, in April, 1917, Sir Arthur himself dreamt the word "Pi'ave.' Six months later, as we all knew, a great battle took place upon the line of the Piave. In 1899 Mrs. Piper, described as a celebrated psychic, seems to have prophesied, while speaking in a trance, that some time in the future there would be a "terrible war in different parts of the world." I wonder how these "unanswerable proofs" would have struck Sir Arthur before the date of his conversion.

This one "success" is accepted as proving the truth of the "spiritualistic scheme." The ninety-nine failures are conveniently disregarded.

Some years ago an acquaintance of mine was converted to spiritualism as a result of the following incident: An old friend of his lay seriously ill at his chambers in Jermyn street. He was a lonely old gentleman, and his chief recreation of an evening had been, for years, the Alhambra Theatre. To be always sure of a seat his custom had been to book a stall for the whole season. One evening his friend dropped in to the Alhambra. During the ballet he noticed an old gentleman making his way slowly to an empty stall. Reaching the seat, the man turned round and their eyes met. To his amazement it was his old friend who—so he had been told—was dying. At the end of the performance he looked for him but could not find him, and, assuming that he had gone out by another door, and having a train to catch, he left without seeing him. The next morning he had a telegram saying that his friend had died the previous evening. Ten years later he learned the explanation. The night nurse, who had come on about 8 o'clock, had made the old gentleman comfortable and had seen him fall asleep. At 9 o'clock her lover, a soldier, knocked lightly at the door. He was leaving the next morning for India. The old gentleman was still sleeping and the girl thought there could be no harm in slipping out for just an hour. It was nearly 11 when she got back. The old gentleman was lying dressed in his evening clothes across the bed, dead. She put all things as they should have been and then rang up the doctor. Her account was that he had passed peacefully away in his sleep at about a quarter to 11.

With gladness would I accept a new religion "founded upon human reason on this side and upon spirit inspiration upon the other." But what are we offered? On this side the darkened room, the ubiquitous tambourine, the hired medium (sometimes "detected in trickery" and sometimes not), now tied into a chair, and now locked up in an iron cage; the futile messages, proved frequently to be "concoctions," vague prophecies of the kind we can read in any Old Moore's Almanac. These things do not appeal to my reason. We have descriptions given to us of the spiritual world that are supposed to clinch the matter. It is a description of the sort of place that everybody wants to go to. All of our more respectable earthly desires will be gratified. Life's little luxuries we shall continue to enjoy without trouble or expense. We are to be reunited to our loved ones, and everybody is to be good looking and aged about thirty. We are to be very, very happy. Am I asked to accept this sort of thing as proof of "spirit inspiration?"

Where is this 'new religion?" What does spiritualism preach? Or is it content with the world as it is? I take the last five years. Has spiritualism done anything—is it doing anything—to help man to be less brutal, less hypocritical, less greedy? For five years savagery and cruelty have been preached to us from the pulpit and from press. Our children are being taught it at their mother's knee. Vengeance and hatred are the new virtues. What has spiritualism done—to help mankind to recover its senses, its manhood; to rescue its soul from being withered by lust and passion? Cannot our dead, dwelling around us, looking down upon a word perishing for want of love, tell us of something else than their own wonderful happiness—their pipes and their pet dogs, their music and their kisses? Have they no Christ to help in these days of His sore need? Can they do nothing for the living? I am waiting for their "new religion."—Common Sense

BAYER

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, you are not getting Aspirin—only an acid imitation.

The "Bayer Cross" is your only way of knowing that you are getting genuine Aspirin, prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years and proved safe by millions for Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain generally. Made in Canada.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger sized "Bayer" packages can be had at drug stores.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company, Ltd., will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

10 CENT "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Cure Sick Headache, Constipation, Billiousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath—Candy Cathartic.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get relief with Cascarets. They immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet and head clear for months. They work while you sleep.

THE GIRL'S ROMANCE

"Too much idleness," says Mrs. Rippin, national director of the girl scouts, "is the reason why girls are more romantic than boys." But are they? Mrs. Rippin's definition of idleness apparently is "reading fiction and going to the moving pictures," and she would keep girls out of doors more, even imbue them with "the gang spirit." But Mrs. Rippin forgets that "the gang spirit" is the very essence of a boy's romance. He reads of Kidd or Blackbeard and wants to be a pirate. Frederick's nursery maid was but the accomplice of inevitable destiny when, bidden to "take and bind this promising lad apprentice to a pilot," she gave his energies greater scope by turning him over to the pirates of Penzance. —New York Tribune.

Lightening Their Pockets

The substitution of aluminum 50-pfennig coins in place of silver by the German Government is probably due to the fact that, owing to the big rise in the price of silver, coins of that metal are now worth practically their face value. But aluminum coins will materially lessen the burden of carrying small change in one's pocket. The lightest of all metals, the specific gravity of aluminum is less than one-fourth that of silver. Shortly before the war it was proposed to use aluminum for "paper" money, and so reduce the risk of loss by fraud and fire, as well as preventing the spread of disease. But though sheets of the metal only 0.0004 in. thick were successfully manufactured, it was not found practical to print on them, and the proposal was abandoned.—London Daily Chronicle.

REUNION OF 54TH BATT.

"From Ypres to Valenciennes" was the chord struck last night at the first annual reunion of the 54th Kootenay battalion. Former members of the Kootenay regiment to the number of close to 100 from all parts of Kootenay and the Boundary gathered in the Knights of Pythias hall and commemorated the "first time over the top as a unit." It was a grand reunion and from the moment Bugler Robert Lundy sounded the "fall in" until the "dismiss" was sounded some time early this morning there was a good time and a "general all round swapping of stories," such as is enjoyed by any regiment only on occasions.

Sharp at 8:30 o'clock the men of the 54th sat down to a bounteous repast which was served by the Mothers club of St. Saviour's church. At the conclusion of this portion of the program the gathering enjoyed a toast list and musical program of the highest order.

Speeches were made and response given to the speeches which ensured in the years to come big things from the gatherings of the Kootenay battalion.

D. F. Peters of Appledale, president of the 54th battalion association, was in the chair, and on his right was Major Gilbert Anderson, officer commanding "A" company of the original 54th.

In the opening address of the evening Mr. Peters dwelt on the necessity of keeping together. It was the aim of the association, he said, to keep forever alive the traditions which had been made by the Kootenay battalion during the period it was in France and Belgium. This could in no better way be done than by such gatherings such as was held last night. He urged the former members of the 54th to "stick together" and make a force throughout the community which would have to be reckoned with at all times.

Major Anderson, in responding to the toast to "The Colors," spoke eloquently on the duties of the returned soldiers as citizens of the Dominion. He referred to the recruiting of Canada's citizen army and to the fact that that army had left the shores of Canada without the traditions which had been enjoyed by the members of the imperial army. The 54th had been a unit in that "now famous" citizen army and during the four years of war had created a tradition of which any district might be proud. The colors of the regiment were sufficient proof of that. He hoped and felt sure that those traditions would never be forgotten.

Dr. L. E. Borden spoke of the early history of the 54th battalion. He felt sure that a better body of men never left the shores of Canada and in this respect he stated he spoke from first hand knowledge, as he had examined and passed upon the majority of Nelson members of the original 54th battalion.—Nelson News.

GEO. L. PEDLAR COMES TO LIFE

Dear Jack:—How goes the battle? Have you discarded the canes and rubber boot and red flannel, what-not? I never hear from Fernie now and often wonder if the gopher crop has been growing rank during my absence. We haven't many here. For sport we scare the wild geese and ducks and chickens, and chase an occasional wolf. The guy across the way has a wagon box full of Dan dogs and their combined efforts sometimes land a coyote. When the fishing season opens here she opens wide. I can lie in bed and hear them jumping over the dam and a pitch fork is the only tackle required to land 'em. The hogs and chickens like a little fish occasionally. A dog of no very definite ancestry will also partake, if urged. Personally, I like them about once.

Mr. Fairclough remains in England and seems to flourish like a green bay mare. His kids are now quite a size and good company, I guess.

Had a very successful year this year and got back nearly 50 per cent of what I spent. As it was only about 10 per cent last year I think I am progressing. Sent my first car of wheat rolling to the sea and cursed Union Government in right good rural style.

This farmer's life is the life for me. I like to get close to what I am made of.

There is only one day in the year to worry about—Oct. 1st, and when a man gets over that he can breathe for a twelve month. Especially in winter he is safe for the roads are so punk his creditors can't get at him.

I goes in strong for poultry this year, raising two ducks, three geese and some chicks and turkeys. In one way I like a goose. She never goes over your head to do anything. It's different with a turkey. A turkey will get the drop on you if he can.

My horses consist of two moth-eaten cayuses that have a fashion of getting paralyzed when I want them to go. I generally start them by the turpentine method. If I am in a hurry, I walk.

A black cat attends to the surplus rat and mouse population when she is not busy stealing from the cupboard. She is also strong on sparrows. That's about all of my family to date. They all sleep in the barn, which is more than can be said of many a family.

I do my work with heroism and profanity. The heroism comes high but the other stuff is still reasonable. I haven't learned to plow a straight furrow yet, but I can put some very graceful curves in one.

The present is one of the most enjoyable parts of farming. I rise when I can't sleep any longer, and put in the day catching up on the summer's news. It may get monotonous after a time but I think I can stand it. I beat the rooster to it all summer.

You will have observed what we Rubes did to the old political parties in Ontario and in some other spots. The day is coming when it will be a crime to shave or shine your shoes.

The strike habit seems to have become pretty general throughout the world. I think the weather man has laid down his tools and taken a holiday too.

I hope you are feeling better than ever and that business is good.

Yours for a South wind. G.L.P.

JUNIOR GYMNASIUM CLASSES

The junior gymnasium will start again next week under the C.S.E.T. in the basement of the High School. Children from the ages of 9 to 15 may attend. Fees 25 cents per month. Lessons and instruction will be given in calisthenics, Indian club swinging, boxing, as well as the usual floor work and exercises on horse and bars. All those wishing to join the classes will please be at the gym at 7:30 Monday night for the boys and 7:30 Thursday night for the girls.

Jos. Longdon, trainer
H. D. Wilson, C.S.E.T. Sec.

Dr. Simmons, who recently left Fernie for Vancouver, has purchased a six acre ranch between Vancouver and New Westminster, and expects to start a bean farm. He will still keep his dental office open in the city.

Jimmy Greer, of Newgate, who returned from overseas a few weeks ago, spent several days in the city this week. Jimmy was reported killed in action early in the war, but he is a pretty lively looking corpse.

W. Appleyard, of Minneapolis, is in the city looking into the possibilites of the development of hydro-electre power. He has a proposition which will come up for consideration at the next meeting of the city council.

T. Letcher and family take this opportunity of thanking their many friends for kindness shown during their recent bereavement and wish to particularly thank the following: Mr. and Mrs. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Telfer, Mr. and Mrs. McLaren, Mr. and Mrs. Dicks (Lethbridge), The members of Esther Rebekah Lodge and the Roo family.

That threatened strike of Baptist ministers may be called off since John D. Rockefeller has just handed them $3,000,000.—Nashville Tennessean.

HAD RHEUMATISM FOR FIVE YEARS

No Return of the Trouble Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. JOHN E. GUILDERSON

P. O. Box 123, Parrsboro, N. S.

"I suffered with Rheumatism for five years, having it so badly at times I was unable to get up without assistance.

I tried different medicines I saw advertised and was treated by doctors in Amherst, also in my home town, but the Rheumatism came back.

In 1916, I saw in an advertisement that 'Fruit-a-tives' would stop Rheumatism, and took one box and got relief; then I took them right along for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since.

Anyone who would care to write me as regards 'Fruit-a-tives' I would be glad to tell them what 'Fruit-a-tives' did for me."

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Mrs. Clem Stubbs arrived in Fernie this week from England.

Mrs. Alan Graham is ill in the hospital at Cranbrook.

Mrs. E. K. Stewart entertained at bridge on Wednesday afternoon.

J. S. Irvine was in Spokane this week trying to spear a game of golf.

John Todhunter, formerly of Fernie, spent several days in the city this week.

The Cranbrook Curling Club have leased the Cranbrook skating rink from the city for the winter.

Mrs. Taylor, of Nelson, is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dudley.

R. M. Young spent several days in Calgary this week.

Mrs. H. P. Gregson, of Dorr, is in the city today.

Over $200,000 worth of local Victory Loan business was put through the Home Bank in Fernie.

The Chinese hold-up case is up before Judge Thompson today. It will likely take several days to finish.

Miss Delphine Dennison, of Fernie, is visiting in the city wth her grandmother, Mrs. T. L. Drummond.—Cranbrook Courier.

Mrs. Clark, of Vancouver, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs (Dr.) Bonnell, for some time, returned to her home yesterday.

Miss V. Cross, of the Trites-Wood staff, has resigned her position. She will leave for her home in Calgary at the end of the month.

A well-known cattle rancher of Waldo was fined $35 and costs this week for selling meat which was unfit for human consumption. The Ross-Saskatoon Lumber Co. purchased the meat and also laid the complaint.

The mumps seem to be still epidemic throughout the city. Several teachers have been ill and some of the rooms have hardly enough pupils left to make it worth while keeping open.

The Rebekahs will give a whist drive and dance in Ingram's Hall on Thursday evening, Nov. 27th. Cards at 8 o'clock sharp; dancing at 9:30. Cards for those who do not dance. Gents 50 cents, ladies 25 cents.

The Fernie City Band Committee are appealing to the public for much needed funds to help repair necessary instruments and also buy music needed by the band. When the committee call upon you, help them out whichever way you can. It is the committee's intention of running a prize contest for Christmas. A Grand concert will be held at which the prize drawing will take place. Do your best to help Fernie have the best band in Canada. Professor Zaccaro is working hard to give you good concerts next summer.

The Brockville Recorder and Times has the following item concerning the funeral of the late John McEwing: "The funeral of Mr. John R. McEwing of Fernie, B.C., who passed away suddenly last Thursday at the residence of his brother-in-law, George E. Wilson, 48 Murray street, was held yesterday afternoon from Mr. Wilson's residence to Read's cemetery. Service was conducted at two o'clock by Rev. W. A. Hamilton and a short Masonic service was also conducted at the residence and grave by members of Sussex and Salem Lodges, A.F. & A.M. A number of beautiful floral tributes of respect and sympathy were placed on the casket by sorrowing friends The pallbearers were Messrs. T. O. Dowell, E. A. Geiger, Thomas Guest, W. Rhodes, Douglas Smith, and R. A. Stevenson.

By order-in-council just passed by the provincial cabinet, the provisions of the act passed at the 1918 session of the legislature, "The Sheriff's Act Amendment Act," will come into effect throughout the province at once. By the change the old system whereby sheriffs were remunerated from fees collected by them in the execution of their work, has been done away with and such officers will now be placed upon salary. All fees must be paid into the provincial exchequer, the salaries to be paid to be fixed by the lieutenant-governor-in-council Under the act passed in 1918 every sheriff was called upon to submit on or before May 1, 1918, a statement showing all moneys received by him for each calendar year during the period of six years ending December 31, 1917. This was required to permit of an estimate of what each sheriff was taking in and the importance of the duties caried out. Upon this return the salary to be paid was based. These returns were all in over a year ago but the provisions of the act are only now being carried out.

Billy McKay, of Waldo, was in the city on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites are visiting friends in Spokane.

Hartley Wilson is able to be around again after his serious illness.

C. M. Edwards, of BaynesLake, was in the city on business several days this week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites entertained about a hundred young people at a dance on Tuesday evening.

J. Carmichael and Jimmy Mitchell, who have been in Spokane for a couple of weeks, returned home yesterday.

Geo. Negard, a lumberjack from Bull River, was fined $50 and costs for being drunk and disorderly.

Mrs. O'Callaghan, of Fernie, is confined to St. Eugene hospital suffering from asthma.—Cranbrook Courier.

Mrs. C. Lockhart, of Sandon, who has been here for some time visiting her sister, Mrs. R. M. Young, returned home this week.

Provincial Chief McNeill has been granted two month's leave of absence, which he will spend at the coast. Chief G. Speller, of Princeton, will have charge here during his absence.

Little Jack Billings, who has been seriously ill, is recovering. Mrs. Billings, who has been visiting at the coast was called home owing to his illness.

The following students of the Fernie Business College were successful in the British Columbia civil service examinations for stenographers held Nov. 1st in the Government Office: Annie Lyas, Elsie Barton, Evelyn Dickenson, and Andrew Kasmar.

A horse belonging to Louis Hong, a Chinese market gardener, was struck and killed by a C. P. R. engine on Sunday morning. The horse which had been left standing, started for home alone and no one was in the rig when the accident took place.

Old timers in this district learned with deep regret of the death of Mrs. Thomas Letcher, of Flagstone, on Saturday last, who for many years was a well-known resident of this city. The sad event, which took place at the home of her son, Blair, at Whitefish, Montana, was the result of heart failure. The funeral which took place from Thomson's Undertaking Parlors at Fernie was one of the largest ever seen in the city. Mr. Letcher and the family have the sympathy of the entire district in their bereavement.

Dominion Customs Inspector, Graham was in town on Tuesday. During his stay in the city it was his painful duty to spill about ten thousand dollars' worth of booze on the lawn back of the Customs office. The whole town was well perfumed with the fumes of the liquor and several well known characters are known to have spent the night in a vain effort to lop up a little of the liquor which remained in pools all over the lawn Inspector Graham said that it was impossible for him to dispose of the stuff in the government dispensaries as it was too much of the squirrel variety.

EMOTIONS OF AIR PASSENGERS

The "joy-rider," going up for a few dizzy minutes and descending with his brain in a whirl, is not a good subject from whom to obtain an impression of what the sensations of flying really are. But now we have regular travellers upon the aerial way.

Each day, from as long ago as August 25, there has been a 12.30 "air express' from London to Paris; and each day, while thousands of feet above Boulogne, these pioneers of the "airway" have gazed out from their cabin windows and seen the 12.30 p.m. "air express" from Paris to London flash into view and at more than 100 miles an hour, whirl again into the immensity of space.

And the "airway" travellers, describing more or less accurately, the sensations they have experienced, provide one at last with data from which to answer the question: "What are the real sensations of aerial travel? What do these people actually feel who are 'blazing the trail' of commercial flying and paving the way for those travellers of the future who will step, quite as a matter of course, into the aerial mail from London to New York?"

Though naturally there are exceptions, they merely prove the rule; and one may certainly say now that, when the passenger has taken his seat and the cabin has been closed, the first sensation is one of some little mental disturbance—of just a tinge of apprehension. There is a sort of a "Now I am in for it" feeling; "no going back now."

Then comes the immense and unfamiliar roar of the engine; the movement across the ground; the rise into the air. And then there is a very curious sensation which is quite general. The passenger has a feeling that he is in some peculiar way responsible for the balance of the machine. He feels he must not move in case the whole thing might possibly upset. He hardly dares to draw his breath.

But this sensation is only momentary. Reason soon suggests that the machine is flying upon a perfectly even keel.

Then comes a great wave of interest and surprise. The earth is seen from an entirely new viewpoint. It gives an extraordinary sense of fascination to sit and look down upon the fringes of London as they pass away below, giving place to the beginnings of the open country. As one passenger scribbled on a pad and handed over to a fellow traveller, the the roar of the 350-h.p. motor making conversation difficult: "Today I am really seeing England."

Next there is a feeling of exhilaration. Some passengers feel an irresistible desire to break into song; to chant some lilting melody which will keep time with the drone of the mighty engine and the rush of the machine through the air. Incidentally, one may mention that it proves no inconvenience to the other travellers if the temptation is yielded to. There is too much noise for them to hear.

And then, as the first hour passes by, and the aircraft sweeps its irresistible way above vast map-like expanses of land and sea, there steals over the aerial voyager a sense of immense security; a sense, as more than one traveller has put it, that absolutely nothing untoward could possibly happen; a feeling that there at last is the possitively ideal way of travelling—high above the earth with its obstructions and possible dangers; up thousands of feet in the limitless blue.

More than one experienced traveller has said, indeed, that he has had less feeling of any possible risk when in a 100-miles-an-hour aeroplane than when in a 50-mile-an-hour train. The immense speed in the air gives no sensation at all of danger.

And then finally, just as the journey ends, there is sometimes a feeling of drowsiness; of a complete relaxation of mind and muscle. One woman, in fact, on arrival at Le Bourget from London, was found to be very soundly asleep indeed.

The soporific effect of flying is often spoken of by pilots. It is the same sort of feeling—only more so—which one encounters in a long-distance run in a motor car.—By F. Harper in the London Daily Mail.

CREATED A HULLABALOO DOWN IN KALAMAZOO

At Kalamazoo, Michigan, the woman-crusaders visited a liquor-saloon and by hard praying tried to induce the proprietor to close the place. The proprietor invited the ladies to seats and asked them to pray, and he himself offered up the following prayer: "Almighty Creator in Heaven, Thou who has made the Heaven and Earth and created man in Thine own image as ruler of the earth whilst animals are living on grass and water Thou didst teach Thy Servant Noah to make wine and Thou didst not punish him for making use of it. At the wedding of Cana Thine own Son Jesus Christ transformed water into wine when the juice of the grapes was exhausted. That the reformer, Martin Luther, said: "He who does not love wine, women and song, remains a fool all his life long" and a divine command of the Book Thou has given us is that men shall no longer drink water but shall use wine for stomach's sake and their other infirmities; and all great men of this earth have been drinkers of wine Thou has given Thy children upon the earth.

"O Lord, we pray Thee have pity on the women here who are not grateful for Thy gifts, who want to make Thy children like the beasts of the field and compel them to drink water like an ox while they dress extravagantly and lead their husbands, by their extravagances, not tending to our well being, to bankruptcy, depriving them of the pleasure of this world yes, driving them to suicide.

"O Lord, Thou canst also perceive ignorant ladies; look upon them; they wear not even the color of the face Thou has given them, but they are sinning against Thee, and, not content with Nature, paint their faces.

"O Lord, take notice of the spiral that their figure is not as Thou hast made it, but they wear humps upon their backs like camels. Thou seest, O Lord, that their head consists of false hair, and when they open their mouths, Thou seest their false teeth.

"O Lord, make notice of the spiral spring and cotton-batting they wear in their bosoms, for no other purpose but to make themselves voluptuous and to excite in men a worse passion than the use of a little wine, and for the same reason they have a No. 6 foot pinched in a No. 3 shoe and a No. 40 waist squeezed into a No. 17 corset.

"O Lord, these women want men who patiently accept all this without using the Power Thou hast given them that all women shall be subject to men. They will not bear the burdens of married life and obey Thy commands and multiply and replenish the earth, but they are too lazy to raise children; and O Lord, Thou knowest the crimes they commit.

"O Lord, have mercy upon them and take them back into Thine bosom, take folly out of their hearts, give them common sense that they may see their own foolishness and grant that they may be good and worthy citizens of this world.

"O Lord, we thank Thee for all the blessings Thou hast bestowed upon us, and ask Thee to deliver us from all evil, especially hypocritical, lying women, and Thine shall be the praise forever, Amen."

DEVEREUX COMPANY COMING IN "SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL"

It is rare that we have such an opportunity of seeing one of the good old English comedies, especially when performed by actors of experience and careful training, that the coming of the Devereux Company to Fernie on December 2nd marks a red letter day in the dramatic history of our city.

During the last four years the reputation of this company has been coming to the managers of Western Canada, but their time was so well filled in the States that they could not arrange a tour until this season, but by the present reports from Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Regina, where they have been greeted by large and enthusiastic audiences, Mr. Devereux is likely to make an annual tour of Western Canada. He has always been such a believer in the old English comedies, and has had his belief well substantiated by being asked to appear at Harvard, Columbia, Vassar and Chicago Universities and practically all the Universities in the United States, that his enthusiastic reception in Canada has made him more than ever convinced that there are no plays as good as the old English classics.

There have been so many good reports in regard to "The School for Scandal" given by the Devereux company that we have asked them to give the delightful old English comedy of manners in our city.

The opening night in Winnipeg, November 3rd, was made an all English affair and it might be well to quote here the opening paragraph of the criticism which appeared the next morning in the Free Press:—"The introduction to Winnipeg of the Devereux Players last night at the Walker theatre in "The School for Scandal" was as hearty and as genuine, not to speak of the merit of the presentation, as anything in the history of the city. The English United Societies had a fine opportunity to show the value of the union brought about so thoroughly a few months ago and turned out en masse to hear the purest of English spoken and acted by a people. The play was well staged and the unique and tasteful drapings in place of scenery added to the effectiveness of the presentation."

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

IF YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, cleanse little bowels with "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

SOVIETS IN RUSSIA

A traveller who has returned to Great Britain after a sojourn of many years in Harbin, Russia, gives a very interesting composition of the Bolshevist soviet there. What these governments are may well be apprised by the antecedents of those in power in the particular Russian town named.

The Soviet was made up as follows:

(1) The President of the Executive Committe of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates, Moukhine, counterfeiter.

(2) His assistant, Shatkoski, ex-hard-labor convict.

(3) The Commissioner of Prisons, Emielianoff, did a term of hard labor.

(4) His assistant, Hahileff, was tried for robbery.

(5) The President of the Commission for Alimentation, Siujkin, was tried for embezzlement of funds.

(6) The Commissioner of Education, Korevin, did a term of hard labour for a criminal offence.

(7) The Commissioner of Treasury, did a term of hard labor for robbery during the Agrarian disorder in the Baltic provinces in 1906.

(8) The Commissioner of Militia, Mitin, did a term of hard labor for a criminal offence.

(9) His assistant, Fillipoff, ditto.

(10) The Commissioner of Finance Kuznetzoff, did a term of hard labor.

(11) The Commissioner of Roads Department, Polkin, did a term of hard labor for robbery.

(12) The Commissioner of Public Health, Vshivkin, illiterate peasant.

Soviet governments as we see them in Russia are not the ideals which certain of the ultra-radicals claim them to be. The composition of the Harbin soviet may well be taken as an index of these governments in the land of the Bolsheviki, and it disabuses anything of the virtues which the extremists endeavor to read into them. With the example narrated, the true inwardness of the proletariat governments as established in Russia is denoted, and it would be well that what they are be clearly known and grasped.

GUARD THE DOORS

There will be little disposition to regard Representative Albert Johnson as an alarmist in his earnest warning as to our immigration perils once the bars are let down by the proclamation of peace.

Mr. Johnson represents the Third district of the state of Washington in congress. He is in a position to know a great deal about undesirable immigrants. The state of Washington's ports have been the gateways through which some of the worst and most dangerous foreigners have gained access to the country. Seattle was the favored port of entry and exit of the Russian bolshevist propagandists. The effect of their presence and teachings was sufficiently demonstrated in the recent organized attempt to seize the administrative machinery of the city and transform it by revolutionary violence into a purely soviet government, the opening attack to this end being the familiar general strike in industries and in public service plants.

It did not work, as we all have grateful cause to remember, for the reason that Seattle happened to have a mayor who was not a cowardly politician cringing before labor union arrogance.

Representative Johnson has had these object lessons in the perils of unrestricted immigration very closely brought home to him by the experiences and serious perils of his own state. He has had opportunities, furthermore, to study this problem at close range, and he has availed himself of those opportunities. He has learned that from Japan, from China, from the Russian ports of the Pacific there is even now a dammed-up tide of the worst types of red anarchist humanity only waiting the relaxation of present wartime exclusion laws to pour in upon our Pacific coast states and from there spread themselves and those unspeakable doctrines of riot, arson and murder which have made a shambles of their own Russia. Once lift the immigration restrictions imposed by the war, and the way will be open to them to pour their anarchist hordes in upon us by the thousands.

And what is true of the Asiatic ports of the Pacific in this respect is true of the European ports of the Atlantic. Bolshevists are assembled and, as Mr. Johnson put it, "begging passports," in London, Paris, The Hague, Madrid, Rome, Constantinople, Stockholm, Christiania, Copenhagen, Berne, Belgrade, Prague and Archangel. Mr. Johnson continued:

"I am in possession of reports from each of these places and I say frankly that unless we check the incoming of these violent revolutionists, who themselves think the United States is the only fertile place left in the world, not only for their individual prosperity, but for the spread of their damnable doctrines, the country will become a hell cauldron instead of the peaceful melting pot it has been."

We do not believe there is the least exaggeration in all this. We believe that Mr. Johnson's demand that the wartime immigration restrictions be continued and aplied vigorously for many years after the proclamation of peace is a demand which should be heeded without an instant's hesitation. It is a matter that has already engaged the serious attention of the department of state. It should engage the attention of congress and of every loyal American.—Harvey's Weekly.

Miss Zinita Graf, who plays the leading role in the "School for Scandal" which will be presented by the Devereux Company at the Grand Theatre, Tuesday, December 2nd.

Canada's Agricultural Position

The Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Canada's new Minister of Agriculture, has summed up the outstanding facts of Canada's agricultural position in an article appearing in the November number of The Agricultural Gazette. He presents statistics showing the growth of Canada's financial burden during the past five years and points out means by which our national debt will be reduced. He says in part: "I am confident that this Dominion, through the development of her natural resources, will in time wipe out her debt. Forests, fisheries, and mines all contribute their part of the revenue but by far the greatest returns will be derived from agriculture which industry we must continue to establish in permanancy and increase in magnitude. One of the greatest responsibilities that falls on either the federal or provincial departments of agriculture is the conservation of the great wealth that lies in the virgin soil. Innumerable considerations are involved in this one problem, but the whole affair can be accomplished if we engage in mixed farming with live stock as a basis. This is the fundamental principle underlying success in agriculture."

WHERE SEA-GULLS NEST

The change which dug a huge fortress a hundred feet deep in the cliffs, covered them with gun emplacements and girded them with a labyrinth of walls fifty feet thick was a more than doubtful blessing, and Heliogoland must have found her transformation into the most notorious and sinister speck of land in the world a severe strain on her zeal for the Fatherland. When the war actually came her fishermen were exiles; for they were one and all shipped off to the mainland, and the island was given over to the gulls and the gunner. It is now thrown open again, and a beginning has been made with the dismantling of its mighty forts. The inhabitants will cheerfully see the last of the guns, and apparently they would like, too, to be quit of German taxation; but they hope, quite reasonably, that the island's final disappearance may be at least delayed by leaving the great seawalls the Germans built. This might well be done, for Heligoland so long as it lasts will be a loadstar for the curious, and there would be a certain rough justice in the fact of its people profiting in the future by the world's interest in its sinister past that has cost them so dear. —Manchester Guardian.

WAR HERO NOW GAINS 24 POUNDS

After Strain Of Service Was Almost A Nervous Wreck—Praises Tanlac

Here is another instance of the remarkable reconstructive powers of Tanlac. William J. McCullum of 111 Borad St., St. John, New Brunswick, who spent three and a half years at the front in France and Belgium, wounded five times, gassed and shell shocked and finally invalided home, states that Tanlac has put him in shape to where he is not only beginning to feel himself again, but that he has also gained twenty-four pounds in weight, besides.

Mr. McCullum is a veteran of two wars. He holds a medal for service in the great European war and also a four bar medal for gallantry in the Boer War.

"I can hardly realize just what Tanlac has been worth to me," said Mr. McCullum, in an interview, recently, "in restoring my health and putting me on my feet. When I got home from the war I was simply a nervous wreck and neither time or medicines seemed to do me any good. I was so nervous and shaky I could hardly hold a cup of tea to my mouth and if my wife happened to drop a fork or knife at the table, I would nearly jump out of my chair. In this excited condition, my food could not digest, but would sour and form gas on my stomach adding more misery to my already desperate condition. I would toss and roll most of the night, getting only about two hours restless sleep, and would sometimes have to get out of bed and walk the floor. My condition was distressing in the extreme and seemed to be getting worse all the time.

"Finally someone suggested that I try Tanlac and I got a bottle, having little idea it would do me any good, but it has not only helped me, it has made me feel like a new man. I now have an appetite like a bear and eat just anything set before me without the least effects from it. I have been built up and strengthened until my nervousness is practically gone. I can sleep all night long like a log my wife has a job waking me up in the mornings. I am now able to do a full day's work and Tanlac gets all the credit for me being on my feet. My nerves have steadied down until I can stand all sorts of noise and sudden jars. When I first began taking Tanlac I couldn't hold my hand steady enough to take a drink of water, but now I can shave myself. I am praising Tanlac to all the boys, especially those suffering like I was. take a 'tip' from me—get Tanlac, for I fully believe I would still be a nervous wreck if I hadn't taken it myself."

The First Map

The human brain has no more brilliant achievement to boast than the device of the man who made the first map—we may doubt his individual existence—introduced into the world the first and the saving condition of unity. By adopting a convention, which discovery and knowledge have now elaborated to vast but unnoticed proportions, he placed a portion of the earth's face in the power of the mind. He reduced within a crude and simple syuthesis a fraction of Nature's diversities. He translated vision and memory, and we must add, imagination, into a diagram.—Sunday Observer.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a small bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

BRANCHES AT FERNIE, MICHEL, NATAL AND COAL CREEK

NOVEMBER and DECEMBER DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

COAL CREEK NOTES

That a child is the "repository of infinite possibilities" was fully evidenced on Friday evening last, by the splendid array of talent that occupied the "boards" at the Club Hall, when the school children gave their concert, under the able directions of principal Prescott and his two worthy assistants, Miss Harrison and Miss Monte. Bernard Caufield occupied the chair and maintained his reputation as a recontaur; his many anecdotal comparisons producing loud laughter. The curtain rose at 8 sharp, displaying to the audience a fine galaxy of the rising generation so bedecked in finery which spoke volumes for the care lavished upon the children by the parents. The programme opened by the youngster singing "O Canada" and the manner or rendition bespoke husky lungs. This was followed by an instrumental duet by John Corbett and Ross Workman, the technique and execution being all that could be desired. A monologue rendered by Beatrice Coughlan was delivered with the skill and polish which speaks the coming elocutionist and received encore. A beautiful fan drill by a party of girls was performed creditably; also a picanniny sketch. The ways and wiles of the bashful maiden and the amorous swain were well produced by John Corlett and Alex Thornton, and the action of one of the supernumeraries at a critical period caused roars of laughter, thus showing the course of true love never did run smooth. This event was followed by a dwarf dance, which mystified the audience. One was reminded of "parade ground" days by the military drills performed by a number of boys under the "lientenancy" of Tom Puckey and W. Walls, with "colonel" Monte commanding. The concert concluded with a laughable farce entitled "Early Birds" (composed by principal Prescott.) The characters being ably portrayed by T. Prescott, Miss Harrison and Miss Monte. Great credit reflects upon the principal and teachers of the school for the manner in which the children have been trained and we hope in the near future to have them produce such another concert. A dance under the direction of the Night School boys and girls was held after the floor space was cleared. Mrs. McGregor and H. Page supplied the music. The duties of floor manager were creditably performed by Messrs. Coughlan and McGregor.

Alf Atkinson returned from England during the week.

Billy Atherton has been placed on the staff of the club and will be seen in the near future dispensing "near" beer.

Mrs. James Corrigan was visiting in camp this week.

J. Greenough attended a medical board at Calgary this week.

Visions of future "motor trips" arise with the disappearance of the snow.

The promoters of the concert held last week desire to thank the members of the board of management for the assistance and facilities given.

Don't forget the Moose social in the Club Hall on Tuesday evening, commencing at 7:30 sharp. Come and have a good time.

P. C. Collins, the new provincial constable for this camp was looking over his domain before taking over his duties.

Peter Dawson arrived home after treatment in Fernie hospital.

THE ROAD THROUGH THE DARK

How a young and beautiful girl, the daughter of a conventional French family, is forced to become the mistress of a German Prince is the theme of the thrilling story, "The Road Through the Dark," in which Clara Kimball Young stars, and which Select Pictures offers to the Orpheum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

Gabrielle Jardee, a French girl, is in love with an American, John Morgan, who her conventional parents disapprove of In order to break up the match they send her with her sister, Marie-Louise, and her brother, Georges, to the home of her aunt in a small town.

The war comes and the village is invaded by the Germans. Gabrielle's aunt, sister and brother are killed. Protection is offered to her and the rest of the village if she will give herself to the German Kommandant, Prince Karl of Streilitz, who has seen Gabrielle and become infatuated with her beauty. To save the people of the town, Gabrielle kills her soul and becomes the French mistress of the German Prince.

Karl, who is really not a brute, learns to love Gabrielle and she is grateful to him for his kindness. She pretends to love him for a purpose of her own. Prince Karl is wounded and is transferred to the Intelligence Department in Berlin. After much persuasion Gabrielle succeeds in getting Karl to take her with him. Gabrielle's beauty and brilliance charms diplomatic circles and Prince Karl's "little friend" is respected as his wife. Gabrielle confiscates some valuable papers. Karl discovers it and in the ensuing quarrel, Gabrielle kills him. She escapes to France and at a Council of Allied Intelligence in Paris she furnishes valuable information. Here she also meets John, who for the first time learns that she has been the mistress of a German prince. But love governs and Gabrielle is at last made happy.

LUMBER PRICES TAKE JUMP

Vancouver, Nov. 26.—The market committee of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association met yesterday and made a decided upward jump in the lumber prices for rail and domestic trade.

Timbers were raised $2.00 per 1000, bringing the base price to about $28. Dimensions and boards went up $3.00 giving a base price of approximately $32.50, with $34.00 for eight and ten inch shiplap. The most marked advance, however, was in clears, which jumped a straight $5.00, making No. 1 flooring now $70.00, v-joint $55, and drop siding $56.00.

This is the third raise to be made in the price of lumber since Nov. 1st, and others are expected as the sprng trade takes on new proportions.

The opening of the new camp of the Elk Valley Lumber Co. at Cedar Valley is completed and the company have more men at present than they can handle. Work in the bush is in full blast.

Robt. Kerr and Fred Wildman, who have been up in the Columbia Lake district, building bridges for the Provincial Government, have completed their work for the season and are back in the city.

CITY WILL TAKE BONDS

The city fathers met last evening, all members being present.

The Medical Health Officer was present and made a verbal report on the health of the city. He suggested that in view of the fact that the smallpox epidemic seemed to be moving west it might be well to secure another isolation hospital as the present one was not sufficient.

Moved by Ald. Beck, seconded by Ald. Graham that the letter sent by Mayor Uphill to the Finance Minister on Nov. 24, re amusement tax, moving picture license and auto license is hereby approved.—Carried.

The letter requested the provincial government that the revenues from moving picture licenses, a portion of the amusement tax and at least half of the automobile licenses be devoted to the city revenue.

Moved by Ald. Gates, seconded by Ald. Graham, that the Elk Lumber Co. be notified that if they make the necessary extensions light will be supplied them at the regular rate.

Moved by Ald. Gates, seconded by Ald. Graham, that the Health and Relief Committee be authorized to rent a suitable residence to be used for isolation hospital, also to secure necessary equipment for operating same and secure suitable help if found nedessary.

Moved by Ald. Hunter, seconded by Ald. Robichaud, that the City Treasurer be hereby authorized to accept Victory Bonds in payment of taxes at market price, the seller to pay all charges on transfer and plus accrued interest in all cases.

Y. M. C. A. AT BAYNES

Mr. Francis A. Williams arrived at Baynes Lake this week to become secretary of the industrial Y.M.C.A. which has been instituted among the camps of the Adolph Lumber Co. at Baynes Lake, the Baker Lumber Co. and the Ross-Saskatoon Lumber Co. at Waldo. These three companies, as a result of the demonstration of Y.M.C.A. work put on by Captain Rae among five lumber camps of the East Kootenay, have decided to have a permanent Y.M.C.A. secretary among them. Mr. Willams will devote his time to the camps of the three companies. He will carry on the usual Y.M.C.A. programme, including moving pictures and other entertainments, games and athletic sports, educational and religious classes, including English classes for foreign-speaking people.

Mr. Williams has been engaged in Y.M.C.A. war work since the beginning of 1915, being for two years general military secretary at Toronto and for the balance of the time being on the overseas Y.M.C.A. staff. Before the war he was western organizing secretary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

This is the second Y.M.C.A. to be organized as a result of the demonstration put on by Captain Rae during last summer. The other was installed at the Otis-Staples Lumber Co's. camps at Wycliffe, where Captain Rae is the secretary.

REV. KENNEDY IS HONORED

(The Kamloops Telegram)

At the Catholic Rectory on Monday afternoon a committee representing the parishioners of Sacred Heart Church made a presentation to the Rev. Father Kennedy, O.M.I., who has been parish priest in Kamloops for the last fourteen months, and who left on Monday evening's train for Fernie to assume similar duties in that field. A letter accompanying the presentation expressed the deep regret of the parishioners, who had fondly hoped Father Kennedy would be retained in this parish, at least until the new church was built.

Almost from the moment Father Kennedy arrived in Kamloops he became very popular with both Catholic and non-Catholic citizens, and his untiring efforts, day and night, during the influenze epidemic of a year ago earned for him the respect of all. When Sacred Heart Church burned down last March, Father Kennedy was confronted with the difficult problem of securing a place for the Sunday services. Finally the Unionist Rooms were taken and from this poor substitute it was hoped he would take his overflowing congregation at an early date to their new church.

A large number of his parishioners were at the station Monday evening to bid Father Kennedy God-speed.

OPERATORS ACCEPT FUEL ADMINISTRATOR PROPOSAL

Washington, Nov. 27.—Mine operators of the United States definitely voted today to accept Fuel Administrator Garfield's proposal for settlement of the coal strike. An overwhelming majority of operators were satisfied with the offer of a 14 per cent increase in wages to the men without any consequent increase in the price of coal.

HOCKEY

The local hockey season opened last night with an exhibition game between the Nationals and the Millionaires, resulting in a win for the Nationals 4—0. The game was on the whole very good considering it was the first time on skates for many of the players, and at times it was fast and furious. The game was not nearly as one-sided as the score would indicate but the Millionaires had all the breaks against them and also had too much Glover for the Nationals. He was easily the best player on the ice, although Jeff Commons, of the Millionaires played a fine game but had hard luck. Dicken also played his usual steady game for the Nationals, and Giddings and Dunlap worked hard for the Millionaires.

Tonight at 7 o'clock sharp the Monarchs and Shamrocks will play another exhibition game. It is worth your while to patronize these games, you get an hour's enjoyment which costs you nothing and your presence encourages the boys greatly.

The City League series will begin on Monday evening at 7 o'clock sharp, between the winner of tonight's game and the Nationals.

COMMUNICATION

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for opinions expressed by our correspondents.—Ed.)

The Editor, Fernie Free Press,

Dear Sir:—We respectfully request that you grant us space in your columns in order that we may place before the citizens of Fernie the following brief statement of facts relative to our short term of operating the dray and transfer businesses formerly the respective concerns of D. Gash and J. Wilson, but now combined under the present management as the Fernie Cartage Company.

The present owners in establishing the business have been under great expense by way of capital investment and that they might not be unduly handicapped in the pursuance of carrying on through unjust competition, when purchasing the business and equipment from Mr. David Gash, they were given the following assurance that no such opposition would be forthcoming from him. "Dated at Fernie, September 29th, 1919. This is to certify that Mr. D. Gash agrees not to start up or do any transfer business in Fernie for three years. (Signed) D. Gash.

During the present week a transfer business has been opened by D. Gash, presumably D. Gash, Jr., but with which Mr. D. Gash, Sr., is actively employed. It is not the intention of the proprietors of the Fernie Cartage Company to in any way complain against legitimate competition in the line of business in which it is engaged; in fact we invite same. However, we feel that the public generally should be made aware of any unprincipled tactics adopted to our detriment, and in order to refute an undertaking accepted by us as being given in all sincerity. Particularly, while possibly in the strict technical sense, it can be evaded, nevertheless in the true sense it is now being observed very similarly to the now world famous "scrap of paper."

We desire further, Mr. Editor, to express our appreciation for the support given us by the citizens during our short term of operation and sincerely trust that they may continue to do so. We wish to assure all, that it will be our aim in the future to give first class service and complete satisfaction, a sit has been in the past.

Thanking you for the space, Mr. Editor, we are, Yours trly,

The Fernie Cartage Co.
J. Wilson, E. Paterson, Props.

A. W. Turner, of Vancouver, arrived this week to take over the management of the Co-Operative store. He was formerly with the Hudson Bay Co.

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Fernie enjoyed a rare treat this week in the visit of Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.L.A., Independent and Women's representative for Vancouver. Mrs. Smith has always been a prominent leader in women's organizations and is responsible for much progressive work being done in the interest of women.

Among other signal honors conferred upon Mrs. Smith, she had the distinction of being present, with her late husband, the Hon. Ralph Smith, at two coronation ceremonies in Britain—that of the late King Edward VII and the present King George V, and of being each time presented to their majesties at Buckingham Palace. Those who know Mrs. Smith feel that she is one of those persons whom Kipling describes so beautifully:

"She can walk with crowds and keep her virtue, and talk with kings, nor lose the common touch."

On Tuesday evening in the Grand, Mrs. Smith spoke to a number of citizens and especially to the Parent-Teachers Association, outlining its workings in the Coast cities and the great amount of benefit accruing to the child thereby. It is an organization composed of parents, teachers, and any others interested. Its scope includes everything pertaining to child-welfare. Fee 25c annually.

In discussing child welfare Mrs. Smith laid stress on the importance of motherhood to the state. From the time woman enters on the duties of motherhood she is working no longer for herself but for the state. And should not the state pay for value received? She made an eloquent plea for such mothers as she had seen, obliged to rise early to get three or four little children ready and take them to the creche, while she worked 7, 8 or 10 hours a day, later dragging them home through the rain to work the rest of her evening for them. The scheme of mothers' pensions was some amelioration but a much more comprehensive plan of government aid to mothers, who are supporting their children, must be a part of the progressive future.

After Mrs. Smith's talk a large number eypressed themselves in sympathy with the child-welfare movement in Fernie by enrolling their names as members of the Parent-Teachers Association, bringing the membership up to 66.

During the evening musical numbers were rendered by Miss Ingram, Miss Bell and Miss Hogan.

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Smith spoke at a meeting of about 70 women in the Grand, describing in detail the local Council of Women. The National Council of Women is a federation of the Local Councils, and the organization was started by Lady Aberdeen in 1893. Since then it has become an International Council and spread over most of the continents of the world. Before the war our enemy alien countries were represented but during the war they were excluded. They have never since been reinstated and probably never will be for a very long time. Next year's meeting will be held in Norway.

The Local Council is a federation of the women's clubs of any town or district. Any women's organization may become a member of the Local Council of Women upon payment of $1 a year, which entitles every individual member of that organization to attend all meetings and to all rights and privileges. But each organization has just five votes in the Council in addition to that of their president. Officers such as president, corresponding secretary, recording secretary, treasurer, etc., are chosen from the individuals comprising the council. The president of each affiliated organization is also a member of the executive. The Council of Women have committees on Immigration, Citizenship, Vocation, Schools and Supervised Playgrounds, Suppression of White Slave Traffic, Peace and Arbitration, Public Health, Education, Professional Nursing and others. The Local Council can organize any committee they wish. Literature is distributed on the work by the National Council.

The mass meeting voted overwhelmingly in favor of forming a Local Council in Fernie. By a standing vote the United Church Ladies Aid and the Parent-Teachers Association voted to federate into a local Council of Women of Fernie, which was thereby formed. The following officers were elected pro tem: President, Mrs. A. I. Fisher; Cor. Sec., Mrs. H. J. Johnson, Rec. Sec., Miss Hogan; Treas., Mrs. J. S. Irvine. Instructions were given to approach all other women's organizations with a view to having them affiliate. The first meeting is to be at the call of the President pro tem.

Thursday morning Mrs. Smith visited each room of the school and in addition gave to an assembly of the children in both the high and public schools a talk which kept their faces bright with interest all the time.

On Thursday evening Dr. Bonnell as chairman, in a few well chosen words, introduced Mrs. Smith, whose address on Citizenship was nothing short of an inspiration. The opening of citizenship to women was brought about both by the suffragist — the wishbone of the cause—and the suffragette—the backbone of it. This was equivalent to letting them in on the job of redeeming the world. One of the first steps towards this end was in securing equal guardianship of children, which was accomplished in B.C. in the last session. The unequal guardianship was not an old squaw law as popularly supposed but was taken directly from old English law. Now by women this law has been wiped out forever.

The Minimum Wage Bill for Women in B.C. was mothered by the only woman representative. Other much needed legislation which women are pushing with all their influence are the Deserted Wives Maintenance Act, better venereal diseases laws and others. Mrs. Smith described the Mental Hygienic Board, financed by philanthropic millionaires of Montreal, with members of the Board for each province. Mental surveys made by this Board in boys and girls industrial schools revealed that 60 per cent of the inmates are mentally deficient. So that of the $75,000 government grant for building new industrial schools, half had to be taken for homes for the mentally deficient.

Mrs. Smith bespoke the co-operation of the citizens to give children such surroundings as would make them good citizens, which is the only way to build up a pure, sober, honest, strong nationhood.

She urged people to model their character after the pattern of our great, calm, unshakable, inaccessible mountains, also to carry about with them such a buoyant optimism that even the sidewalks would come up to meet them—but not the way they do in Fernie.

Mr. Fisher in a witty little speech moved a votes of thanks to Mrs. Smith, which was seconded by Dr. Garner, Chairman of the Committee under whose auspices Mrs. Smith came to Fernie.

The musical selections rendered by Prof. Zaccara, Mr. Bass and Miss Bell were greatly appreciated.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

The Department of Soldiers Civil Re-establishment desire to give notice to all returned men of this district as follows: Any man who considers that he should be granted the privileges of vocational training, if dishcharged prior to Nov. 31, must make application to the District Representative, W. J. Claridge, Fernie, B.C., prior to Feb. 1, 1920. Any man dishcharged after Nov. 31st will be given three months from date of discharge in which to make application.

A number of men are taking training throughout the district with private employers, and these employers are to be commended for placing their services, shops and instructors at the disposal of the returned disabled men, and by this means giving these men an opportunity to fit themselves for some useful vocation in life, their service and in many cases disability having prevented them from following their pre-war occupation.

We still have a number of men requiring re-training and respectfully urge all employers to give consideration to the S.C.R. by allowing the department to place a student with them for training. The department provides suitable pay and allowances to dependents during the course of training. If you have a vacancy please notify the District Representative S.C.R.

I.O.D.E. WAR MEMORIAL

The I.O.D.E. have promised to take the place of every father who has made the supreme sacrifice, or permanently disabled sailor, soldier or aviator, and provide his children with an education. The I.O.D.E. War Memorial will establish a lasting memorial and it will last as long as Canada lasts. Surely it is a fitting memorial and the I.O.D.E. is privileged and honored in undertaking it.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Jim Thistlebeak says that temper is the yeast of personality. No man or woman ever rises in the world without it. A razor, knife, axe, writer or actor, politician or minister without it isn't worth a darn in any market. Never lose your temper; lose all things, but never lose your temper.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roo were Fernie visitors last week. Business seemed very good and the business men we met seemed more optimistic. The very fact of two big new lumber mills moving into the district will brighten things up considerable and help eliminate that one man town feeling, and give the business men more confidence to hang on and make a bigger and better Fernie than ever before. What Fernie needs is some new blood and a few new side walks, and her resources developed as they should be. Look ahead. Miracles sparkle at your doors. Stop moping and squealing. Pump some iron into your blood. Never look behind; look ahead. Edward Bellany made $100,000 on "Looking Backward" but Lot's wife tried it and only made her salt. Move ahead Fernie; you've got a good start; wake up to your possibilities.

Jim Thistlebeak says a Bolshevist knows no more about the principles of political economy than a tomcat knows about a marriage license, or a bull frog knows about an eagle. He is one of those fellows who can do everything better than anyone else except finance his own meal ticket; in other words, make his own living.

A well known Vancouver politician (traveling incognito) addressed a large meeting at the Columbia Hotel, Elko, last week. He discussed the affairs of the Province in a vigorous manner and painted a beautiful heaven for this province after the next election. He dished out social lines of sweet praise to the ladies present, and said that he had no strings on the Royal Commission but that they were a farce of the worst kind and that he had yet to chronicle the first Royal Commission or any other commission that had done any good for anybody outside those sitting on it, and that they should be sent to that southern city reported to have a temperature of 565 degrees fahrenteit. He also visited Fernie and Waldo.

Monte-Carlo, which last week saw a noted gambler win over $100,000 from the tables, leave the famous temple of the Goddess of Chance, and set sail on the blue waters of the Mediterranean for Canada and Elko for a big game hunt. Jim Thistlebeak says that he must have been reading some of Fred Roo's grizzley bear stories, (must have is right), which proves that it pays to advertise if you know how.

The High Cost of Living is still soaring. Butter and eggs are climbing up to the dollar mark. It just seems the price of everything is too high except that which a man himself sells. Your feet, for instance, ought to be proud of themselves the way shoes cost. Some people are ruined by the high cost of living, and others by the high cost of living up to the way their neighbors are living. The high cost of living will last as long as this reckless expenditure lasts. Cut out the joy and the jazz and get back to the mustard.

J. B. Turner, of Fernie, was in Elko this week visiting friends. Mr. Turner, who is a great poultry fancier and breeder of high class birds, says that every egg is a fresh egg at some time in its life.

The Flagstone Sunshine Society gave one of their popular dances last Saturday night, which was well attended. The Burlinghams, who are splendid musicians, have returned to Flagstone to live and the residents are sure of some lively dances through the winter. A big contingent from the Roosville Valley attended the dance.

Two families moved to Elko from Raymond, Alberta, with eleven children and are residing in North Star Park, Swope Avenue.

Jim Thistlebeak says one of the bad features of the present time to his mind is that everybody is trying to cure every public evil now, to get everything there is in sight, to do nothing if they can prevent it, and to give to their children 50 or 60 years of life with luxury and with nothing to do.

You can now get an excellent fivecent cigar for a quarter.—Wall Street Journal.

Reduced to its simplest form, bolshevism is merely a lazy man's envy of the prosperity of a hustler.—Kansas City Post.

People Taking Matters Into Their Own Hands.

Public safety does not alone concern the operation of railways, street cars and motors. It lies deeper. It lies in the health of the people.

One of the greatest enemies to health is kidney trouble. If the kidneys don't filter from the blood the uric acid and other poisons, the general health declines, and all manner of ills appear—rheumatic, sciatic, and neuralgic pains, lumbago, stone in the bladder, headaches, constipation, lassitude. There is certain relief for these ailments. Gin Pills help where other remedies fail. They build up the debilitated system, bring the kidneys and bladder back to normal action, and, by removing the cause, make impossible the evil results. Gin Pills do not contain any alcohol, but all the valuable diuretic properties of the Gin together with other diuretics and antiseptics which have a signal effect on the bladder and kidneys.

All druggists and dealers sell Gin Pills under a guarantee to return your money if they do not bring relief. If you have backache, constant headaches or pain in the sides, begin treatment at once with Gin Pills. 50c a box. Free sample on request.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

"VOIX DE VILLE" said Jean Chardavoine, a French musician; and thus came into being three hundred and fifty years ago what to-day we call "Vaudeville".

Vaudeville is the melting pot of the dramatic and musical arts. In it nothing is out of place; it includes drama, comedy, tragedy, farce and burlesque; and every form of music from grand opera to jazz is heard upon its stage.

Every city has its favorite vaudeville house. But you—who live at a distance from the great cities—can have vaudeville right in your home, with

NATIONAL OWNERSHIP

(By Thomas Geggie)

London,—One explanation why the best known among British Trade Union leaders undertook with such conspicuous success the task of bringing about an early and amicable settlement of the recent railway dispute is that the National Union of Railwaymen, in their lightning strike, had intruded upon the pitch, carefully rolled and prepared for the Mines Nationalization game. The goods porter and the signalman having been induced to return, somewhat reluctantly to the pavilion, the Miners Federation is now about to take the field, and during the next three months, as Mr. Hodges, the Federation Secretary, has informed us, the nation is to be shown that the miners have a "strategic policy."

There are, at present, many rumors in circulation regarding the lines that policy will follow. Opinion, generally, leans towards the probability of a raging, tearing propaganda in which Mr. Smillie and his lieutenants will set out to persuade the electors that State ownership of the mines is a good business proposition from the national point of view, that cheaper coal will result, that the miner will pursue his avocation under conditions of greater safety and, above all, that there can be no prospect of a return to industrial prosperity until the Government have found a solution to this troublesome problem by adopting the recommendations of the Sankey Coal Commission.

In a word there are solid hopes that the Miners' Federation intends to give a fair trial to constitutional methods. There is a feeling, however, that if, on the conclusion of this educational campaign, the Prime Minister fails to give the electorate an opportunity of deciding for or against Nationalization, the strike weapon will be brought into use and there will ensue an industrial conflict having nothing distinguishable from civil war.

It is difficult to avoid speculating on whether or not the country outside trade union circles can be converted to the obviously sincere beliefs held by Mr. Smillie. Among the miners nationalization has become a religion and although one hesitates to affirm that this "fixed, unalterable idea" has an equal grip on the imagination of the working classes generally, there can be little doubt that a referendum would show trade unionists who, with their womenfolk, now represent quite forty per cent of the electors, practically solid for Smillie's plan. There remains to consider the attitude of the non-unionist sixty per cent and it is on these that the nationalizing propagandists will have to concentrate their heaviest argumetative artillery if the Sankey recommendations are to take legislative form as the expression of the popular will.

To begin with quite a lot of altruistic brown paper must be burnt around the proposals if that unmistakable odor of syndicalism is to be overcome. The propagandists will find it difficult to disguise what their ultimate intentions really are. There is a certain conflict between Mr. Smillie's hot denial of the charge that the miners want the mines for themselves alone and the hope expressed in the next breath that syndicalism will have a future and that the "time may come when the industries of the country will advance that step further." At the present stage, however, the Federation President claims no more for the miner than a "decisive voice" in the management of the industry. This word "decisive" implies a majority of miners, either technical or manual, on each governing body, and it is on this question of workers' control that the firmest opponents of nationalization base their prediction of doom to the industry as a self-supporting concern.

It is clear, moreover, that the recommendations of Justice Sankey were founded on the assumption that nationalization of the mines would have the effect of preventing resort to the strike weapon in disputes between employers and employed, and, if this were really so, half the objection to nationalization would fall to the ground. But Mr. Smillie has also made it plain that although the miners are anxious to adopt the State as their employer, they have no intention of relinquishing the strike weapon, the strongest in their armory, the implement by means of which terms are forced on the employer, whoever he may be. This reservation adds weight to the contention that no Government can hope to hold the scales evenly between the demands of State-paid employees on the one hand and the interests of the general community on the other.

If the mines are to be nationalized nothing is more certain than that the nationalization of railways, shipping and other utility services must follow, and the sincere defender of democratic principles can scarcely discern justice in an arrangement whereby one class may use against the Government the vote plus the strike weapon, while the power of another class is limited to the cross on the ballot paper alone. It is the more surprising that such a claim as this should come from the same quarter that, in the past, created a storm around the question of plural voting.

Mr. Smillie, however, insists on the right to strike, and this will enormously increase his difficulties when he sets out to persuade the electors that his scheme holds out beneficial promise to the nation. The experience gained during the railway dispute has added volume to the belief that the moment is opportune for the Government to get rid of the industrial commitments forced on them during the war. Should the question of nationalization of the mines become the subject of a referendum or the main issue at a general election, Mr. Smillie may quite likely discover that the nine days' game recently played by Thomas of the railwaymen has "queered the pitch" for the miners so far as those electors are concerned who have no industrial organizations controlling their political thought.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

(Except, of course, your sovereign Trotsky),
So all can freeze to what they please
And help themselves to all you've gotsky.

Then every man will get a farm
And have a nice big house and lotsky
There'll be no bums when that time comes,
Nor work, nor bosses, nor whatnotsky.

My Soviets will do it all,
And send the Bourgeois where it's hotsky;
For Anarchy, great Anarchy,
Is yet to take the earth for Trotsky.

"THE PROBATION WIFE" AT ORPHEUM MONDAY.

In "The Probation Wife," Norma Talmadge's latest Select Picture, which can be seen Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 1 and 2, at the Orpheum, Norma Talmadge again demonstrates that remarkable versatility in her roles for which she is rapidly becoming distinguished.

At the opening of the picture we see her as an inmate of a notorious cafe, She is young, vibrating with life, and with an inner refinement which makes this life repulsive to her—and Norma Talmadge is the girl who can make you feel all these things.

The cafe is raided and Miss Talmadge, as Jo, is sent to the reformatory with the rest of the girls for three years. Here we have this talented Select star in another role. In gingham dress and tousled hair, she scrubs floors and drudges most of the twenty-four hours every day during the year. She is young and wants to live. She rebels against the lot fate has chosen for her and after two years in the reformatory she manages to escape.

She meets Harrison Wade and offers herself to him in return for whatever he deems fit to give her. He marries her and she becomes his probation wife. Here we have another Norma Talmadge. In the luxurious and refined home of Harrison Wade she develops into a different woman. From an inmate of a cafe, to a slavey, to a lady—Norma Talmadge is all of these in "The Probation Wife," and she is as perfect in one part as in the other. Her acting is excellent. One can feel what in words she cannot tell us. She is a vital, living force upon the screen. Never has she done better work. Thomas Meighan, as her leading man, gives her splendid support.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE COAL STRIKE

It is fair to assume that the president's cabinet, with all the facts before it, has come to a decision that is just and even liberal to the coal miners. The mine owners, having declared their willingness to accept the government's decision, should abide by that promise, and the coal miners should show a like spirit of regard for their government and consideration for the welfare and safety of the nation.

If they should reject the government's decision public sentiment, already aroused because of their threatening attitude, will set against them like flint, and the history of labor strikes has shown that labor, no matter how well organized, can not win when the government and the public conscience condemn a strike as unreasonable.

The American people will endure much and suffer for principle. Rather than yield in a craven spirit to threats and terrorism they will cheerfully go on short fuel rations and fight it out, if the miners are bent on a fight to a finish, in a spirit of resolution and even of exaltation.

If the striking miners take sound counsel they will promptly accept the government's decision. Already they have pushed the American people to the danger line. They are engaging stubbornly in a strike branded by the president as immoral and unlawful, and are defiant toward the courts and the highest governmental authorities.

Threats, intimidation and defiance of public opinion may go for a while in this country, but they never win in the long run. Always ways are found to convince the practitioners of those tactics that no minority, no matter how arrogant or well organized, is greater and more powerful than the people and their government.—Spokesman.

AFTER THE STRIKE

(London Times)

No one who can contribute a single ray of light in the search for a solution for our present economic and social difficulties need apologize for taking part in the public discussion of them. Month after month goes by —it is now nearly 11 months since the actual fighting ceased—and we are still wrangling and squabbling over grievances which we ought to be ashamed of mentioning. We are like children who have just escaped an air raid, crying because we haven't a lump of sugar in our tea. For, whatever provocation there may be in certain countries on the continent, our grievances are absolutely trifling by comparison.

What, after all, are our real grievances? Prices are high, and we cannot buy with our money, notwithstanding increases in wages and salaries, all that we could buy in 1914. That is what nine-tenths of the grumbling is about and for what we are willing to plunge the country into strife and almost into civil war! The only people with a legitimate grievance are the soldiers, who have made the sacrifice involved in fighting for their country and who now find difficulty in earning a decent living. With them we can all honestly sympathize. They have a claim upon their country. And the children of those who have fallen have a claim. But, apart from these, what man can say that he has just cause of complaint, because he cannot be "placed in the same position that he enjoyed before the war?" The grievance only needs stating for it to be seen to be ridiculous. For how can we be all placed in that position? The thing is impossible. We as a nation—and other nations are in like case, or in worse case—have lost thousands of millions of our savings and property. We have lost over a million of our best workers. Instead of adding to our capital in the shape of machinery, roads, railways, docks, ships, warehouses and so forth, we have had to let all these go out of repair. Wealth, real wealth, consists of commodities and services, not in money. That wealth for which we are all clamoring is not in existence. It has got to be created. It can only be created by labor and capital. We can have it when we have made it, and not before. Let us get rid of all this nonsense about placing everybody in the position he enjoyed in 1914, and taking cousel together as to the means by which we can recover our lost prosperity.

The real situation in which we now stand is not understood by one man in a hundred. It is too simple. Tell a dipsomaniac that he can only get well if he stops drinking, and he will find all sorts of excuses for not accepting the advice. Tell a lazy fellow that he won't cure his troubles until he starts working, and he will be sure to find somebody else to blame. What we want, and what we need, at the present time is simply more goods, more food, more clothing, more houses, better means of transport, more furniture and household utensils (especially the labor-saving sort), better books and better education, and a few things of that kind. The supply is limited, for these things are supplied by labor and intelligence and capital; and labor and intelligence and capital are limited.

Economics is a science. Its laws do not rest upon the dicta of some authority. They are verifiable. Its methods are in principle the same as those of any other science. Its chief method is that of finding the most rational explanation of the facts ascertained. Let us look at this question of prices, and wages or salaries, and commodities. At the present moment there is a certain quantity or number of eggs in the market; within the next three months there will be also a certain number brought into the market. Suppose, by some imperial decree all our wages were doubled; should we then be able to buy any more eggs? Not one.

But, says someone, if my wages were doubled and prices were kept at the present level, I should have so much left over to buy other things with. What other things? You can buy what exists, but even if you buy you cannot have what does not exist. The world's stock of those commodities of which we all stand in need, food, clothing, fuel, houses, domestic utensils, etc., only exist in limited quantity. There are no stocks of them which can be brought into the market by the simple expedient of offering more money for them. What are these things we could buy if we had more money? Those other things are also limited in number or amount, and if we all had more money they would simply change hands.

Now, it is just because the root of our trouble lies in the actual shortness or dearth of concrete commodities, that the remedies proposed by bankers and others in the Times and elsewhere would not be effective, even if they were practicable. The inflation of the currency, insofar as it is a fact, is not the cause, or at all events it is only a minor cause, of high prices; and it is certainly not the cause of scarcity. Just as doubling wages would not relieve our distresses, because it would not increase the goods we want to buy, so halving our wages, even if the prices fell in proportion—which they would not, could not possibly result in any rapid increase in the quantity of commodities.

The diversion of capital and labor into those channels which produce the things we most need and the fuller use of labor and capital in those same channels are the only means by which we can "bring prices down" in the real sense. And the way to direct labor and capital into those channels is to stop spending upon luxuries to decrease as much as possible consistent with the maintenance of health even our expenditure upon what we call necessaries; and to save (i.e., invest in useful enterprises) all that we possibly can. There is no other way.

A REVOLUTION NIPPED IN THE BUD

The attempted revolution in the United States, which the Government of that country is now engaged in stamping out, has not in Canada received the public attention it deserved. It is hard to realize, one must admit, that such propaganda could be seriously considered, even by a small proportion of residents of either of the United States or Canada, but the evidence that such is the case is altogether too plain. It would seem that for months past the United States secret service has been on the job, and that at a given moment seizures of men, women and documents took place. The police raids extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific and there was hardly a good-sized community that did not give up its quota of Reds. Up to this writing some eight hundred arrests had been made and among the articles seized were materials for making bombs, a complete counterfeiting plant, a large supply of counterfeit bank notes, red flags, rifles, revolvers and truck loads of inflamatory literature. Practically all those arrested were Russians whom it is self evident were to attempt in the United States what their confreres had already accomplished in Russia.

According to Attorney-General Palmer the Union of Russian Workers, as the United States organization calls itself, was organized in New York back in 1907 by a small group of men, led by William Szatow, at present Petrograd's Chief of Police. The purpose of the organization was to amalgamate all of the Russian groups into one organization. With the aid of varying propaganda the Union of Russian Workmen has grown into a body with a membership of seven thousand, all actively employed in distributing revolutionary doctrines, while its branches number over one hundred, spread about in the principle cities of the United States. The organization worked chiefly among the Russian immigrants in the various localities where these people settled, lectures as well as literature being employed to gather them into the revolutionary fold.

Naturally the Russian revolution gave great impetus to the American movement, and the members of the "union" were unquestionably about to start something when Uncle Sam's heavy hand made its appearance. There were to be no half-way methods in the plan of campaign,according to the U. S. Department of Justice, for they included the seizing of all factories, railroads and stores of food. All prisons were to be opened and destroyed. All boundary marks were to be obliterated; court houses pulled down and all legal papers destroyed. All debts were to be cancelled and private ownership of property was to be at an end. Military authorities and police chiefs were to be executed, and so was everybody else who got in the way. Churches were either to be closed or utilized by the rebel armies. In a word, every vestige of existing Government was to be obliterated, and if you did not like it you could, as an alternative, go and get yourself shot.

Uncle Sam has issued an order to the efect that all aliens engaged in these plots are to be deported instanter, and it would appear that we had best watch our own boundary lines with a keen eye as many of these people have claimed Canadian citizenship.—Saturday Night.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—Take Cascarets tonight.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

R. M. Young was in Calgary this week on business.

Don't forget the I.O.D.E. dance next Tuesday evening.

The Fernie Hotel put on a special Thanksgiving Dinner on Thursday.

Born, in Fernie, on Saturday, Nov. 22nd, to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McLean, a son.

Neil McCallum is putting down some ash sidewalks on the back streets.

The management of the skating rink expect to hold a carnival early in December.

Mrs. J. J. Harrington gave a card party to a number of friends on Wednesday evening.

W. R. Wilson attended a meeting of the Operators' Association in Calgary this week.

The city auditors from Lethbridge have been in town all week working on the city books.

The regular meeting of the Navy League will be held in the G.W.V.A. rooms on Tuesday evening next.

The Ladies' Hockey Club netted $120 at their dance on Tuesday evening. A very enjoyable time was spent.

Mrs. Warburton, of Corbin, collected $90 on the sailors' tag day. This has not previously been acknowledged.

Eder Harper this week moved his cigar and tobacco store to his own building next to the King Edward Hotel.

John Gorle, of Victoria, formerly of the Fernie Free Press staff, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Broley at Flagstone.

C. M. Edwards, of Baynes Lake, and Jos. Greer, of Newgate, are out cruising timber for the Elk Valley Lumber Co.

Fred Perry is in Winnipeg this week attending the Assize Court, where he is a witness in the trial of the Winnipeg strikers.

The United Church Ladies' Aid business meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. Wilkes, on Monday afternoon next at 3.30.

The Chinese hold-up case was concluded on Thursday morning, young Harper being acquitted of the charge of holding up Louis Hong.

The fine weather of Saturday and Sunday last brought out a large number of golfers to the links. The course was in splendid shape.

Learn to skate on good ice. Special hour for beginners. No one to bother you. Apply at Orner's for terms. N28-2

Mrs. J. L. Gates is entertaining this evening in honor of Miss F. McDougall and Miss V. Cross, who are leaving Fernie in the course of a day or two.

Mrs. R. B. Lamb entertained Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.P.P., at luncheon on Wednesday. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Lamb have been personal friends for 25 years.

Mr. Howard, manager of the Imperial Bank, Cranbrook, is being transferred to a branch in the east. Mr. Howard is a well known curler and made many trips to Fernie bonspiels.

The Clifford Devereux show on Tuesday evening next will start at 7:45 prompt, in order to give those who wish to attend the dance an opportunity to do so. Doors open at the Grand at 7.15.

The Hon. Dr. King, minister of lands, and Hon. J. W. deB. Farris, attorney-general, who were booked for a visit to Fernie this week, passed us up cold. Local party supporters were very much disappointed as they had intended to give them a good time.

The American Consul has received a communication from Germany making inquiry as to the whereabouts of the family of Ernest Ketzer. The Ketzers gave Fernie as their address in 1914. The Consul would appreciate any information as to their whereabouts and well being.

Mrs. A. T. Fisher held a reception Thursday afternoon in honor of her guest, Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.P.P., of Vancouver. The tea table was beautifully centered with pink and white carnations and fernery, and was presided over by Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Macneil. Mrs. Suddaby and Mrs. Irvine looked after the guests and were assisted by the Misses Hogan, Bonnell, McDougall, Liphardt and Duthie. A large number of guests were present and a most enjoyable hour was spent. In the evening Mrs. Fisher entertained the young people at a dance.

Fred Smith, of Calgary, formerly of Fernie, is spending a few days in the city.

Miss Edith Kennedy, who underwent an operation in Fernie hospital on Tuesday, is progressing favorably.

Mrs. Adamson, of Cranbrook, who has been in the Fernie hospital undergoing two operations, returned to Cranbrook on Saturday.

The curling rink will be in shape for play this evening. The Ingram Cup games will commence early next week and the big annual match between the President and the Vice-President will be pulled off on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The Victory Bond drawing in aid of the Reconstruction work has been going well during the past week. There are only about 200 tickets left. All those desiring tickets would assist by buying at once as the committee wish to close the matter up and pull off the drawing.

Mt. Fernie Lodge, I.O.O.F., will entertain the Rebekah Lodge at an At Home in Ingram's hall next Wednesday evening, Dec. 3. at 8.30 o'clock. All Rebekahs and their husbands and visiting sisters are invited. All Odd Fellows and their wives and visiting brothers are expected to be present.

The miners of Pennsylvania and Illinois state that they only have work about 200 days in a year. In Fernie almost the only time the men lose is when they are out on strike.

The proceeds of the I.O.D.E. dance to be held next Tuesday night will be devoted to the I.O.D.E. War Memorial.

The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary, G.W.V.A., will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 2nd, at 7.30 instead of 8, in order not to conflict with the I.O.D.E. ball. A full attendance is requested as there is some special business on hand. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Billsborough and Mrs. Markland.

P. F. Lawson's latest newspaper venture at Calgary, "The Searchlight" came out for the first time last week. Typographically, it is after the style of the "Ledger", and like the policy of that paper, continues its propaganda work for the O.B.U. How long it will last will largely depend upon the support it receives from the different mining camps in District 18.

The Annual Exhibition of the Fernie Poultry and Pet Stock Association will be held on Dec. 3rd and 4th in the building on Victoria avenue lately vacated by H. F. McLean. J .H. Westbrook, of Lethbridge, a poultry judge of nation wide reputation, will be here and have charge of the show. Reports indicate that the exhibition will be one of the largest and finest ever held in the city.

On Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Cummings entertained in honor of Mrs. Ralph Smith, of Vancouver. Several much appreciated musical selections were rendered during the evening by Mr. and Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Suddaby, Mrs. Asselstine and Miss Tait. In the dining room the tea table was decorated with large yellow chrysanthemums on a beautiful centrepiece of white. Mrs. H. J. Johnson and Mrs. Lawe poured tea and coffee. Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Liphardt, Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Asselstine assisted in looking after the guests.

Mrs. C. E. Lyons, 10 Howland Ave., or phone 135 will sell her household effects at reasonable prices.

Don't forget the I.O.D.E. dance on December 2nd, to be held in Victoria Hall.

2,000 Divorce Cases

The Law Courts reopen today with a list of 2,000 divorce cases down for hearing.

The enormous increase in the number of divorce cases will cause some people to raise their hands in horror, others to elevate their eyebrows others again to smile. Divorce has long been a joke—a very poor one—in certain frivolous circles, and on the stage.

The public at large, even those members of it who follow closely in court the details of a divorce case, has little conception of the subtle and complex issues involved, which range from sheer tragedy to the meanest of little miseries of which the human heart is capable.

The atmosphere of the Divorce Court is a sheerly artificial one. The play is staged, and all the persons involved in it are merely players. However high-minded the judge and the cousel, many years of these public performances have left them cynical and blase.

The main actors concerned, are also, whether they will it or not, playing to the gallery. There is as little humaninty about the court as there is in a bad cinema film.

It is in the solicitor's office in the first stages of an action for divorce that humanity is seen raw and bleeding. There, in a little commonplace room, broken-hearted women voice their agonies to a commonplace man, who listens stolidly to stories he has heard again and again, but which never lose force in the telling.

These men who have suffered their first great shame compel themselves to repeat sordid incident after incident, which they will have to repeat again in court, when that shame will become known to the whole world, which is, in effect, only the little world of their friends and acquaintances.

In the solicitor's room attempts at reconciliation are made. They are very rarely effective. When a couple have gone the length of such severance they are unlikely to join their broken lives again.

Agonies, abasements, cruelties, meannesses, hypocrisies, despairs, are all unveiled to the solicitor. He knows what divorce is. He is the man-of-the world priest of soiled humanity.—London Express.

The Golf Drive

Golfers are a speculative people. If theirs is not the recreation of the true contemplative man, it presents its problem for the mathematician and the statistician. In the golf world there are burning questions about the weight and size of the ball and the effect of these upon the length of the drive. That explains the matches between the professionals in which the length of every drive is carefully measured. So far the results are somewhat inconclusive. They will remain so until one man can be tested with a variety of weigths under precisely the same conditions. So far the recorded drives scarcely bear out the conclusion that the new balls have changed the character of the game. Drives which average about 220 yards can scarcely be said to make the present golf courses obsolete. Most of them were laid out with the likelihood of such lengths being achieved in the normal course of play.—Westminster Gazette

Within and Without the League

Germany out of the League, and free of its restrictions in such matters as minimum wages, 8-hour days, open diplomacy and the like, would have a tremendous advantage in international competition. Moreover, she might become the nucleus of another hostile League, composed of China, Russia, Bulgaria and other malcontent nations. In the words of Profesor Gilbert Murray, "If you do not want another war, then whether you like Germans or hate Germans, whether you trust Germany or mistrust Germany, have her inside the League, bind her with fair covenants, watch her, talk with her, treat her fairly, leave her no ground for violent resentment, and be prepared to crush her instantly if she breaks her pledges, just as any other pledge-breaker will be crushed. That is the way to safety. It is also the way which gives the best chance of eventually living down the passion of war, and establishing some decent system of honesty and good-will between nations."—The Yorkshire Post.

STATION AGENT FORCED TO QUIT

"All The Boys At This End Of The Line Talking About My Recovery," He Says.

"When the boys come by and see me back on the job looking like my old self they always holler at me to know what has brought about the wonderful change, and I always shout back, Tanlac," said A. E. Rawley, the popular telegraph operator at Welsford Station on the Canadian Pacific Railroad and living at Welsford Beach New Brunswick, in relating his remarkable experience with the medicine recently.

"My recovery has not only surprised me," continued Mr. Rawley, "but all the boys on this end of the line are talking about it. Pulling through what I have suffered, back into health and strength seems more like work of a miracle than of medicine, for I had despaired of living much longer.

"My health suddenly gave way four years ago following a severe attack of grippe, which settled in my stomach. My food would sour, causing gas and such a pressure through my chest that I could scarcely breathe. Sharp pains would suddenly strike me in the chest, keeping me in agony for hours, and at night I would have to get up and walk the floor to keep from smothering. One day, about a year after my trouble started, I began vomiting and kept it up almost incessantly for four days, and I thought sure my life would end there. I had to be carried to a hospital for treatment after which I felt in fair condition for a few weeks, and then another atack came on me with great pains in my stomach and intestines which would last for hours.

"At first these spells came about once a month, then twice a month and then every week and got me down to where I just couldn't work at all. In fact, I lost fifty pounds in weight and had to give up my position as station agent and do nothing but try to find relief. Then I went to another hospital for treatment, then another, making three in all, and tried every medicine I knew of or that was suggested to me, but kept getting worse. I had no idea I could live much longer and, of course, had little hope of ever getting any better.

"My case was like that of the drowning man, reaching out for a straw—desperate— and although I had no faith in Tanlac to help me, when I saw it advertised, I grabbed at it as my last resort. I had tried three hospitals and everything in the way of medicine so I couldn't have much faith in Tanlac, but, it's a fact, before my first bottle was gone I noticed a difference in my feelings. It was not long then until the gas stopped froming on my stomach; I had a good apetite and could eat most anything without it hurting me. Now, to put it all in as few words as possible, I have taken eight bottles of Tanlac and am not only feeling fine, but I have gotten back twenty pounds of my lost weight. I am now working regularly every day and am still picking up both in weight and strength right along. I attribute my recovery to nothing but Tanlai. To me it is the most wonderful medicine in the world and I will praise it as long as I live."

CURIOUS HISTORY OF "THE SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL"

As "The School For Scandal" is to be given at the Grand Theatre on Tuesday, December 2nd by the Devereux Company, an outline of its curious history will be acceptable by those who contemplate seeing it when shown here.

"The School for Scandal" was produced at Drury Lane Theatre on May 8, 1777. On the night before its first production, the play-wright-manager, Richard Brinsley Sheridan, was informed that the necessary license had been refused, on the ground that "Moses, the Jew" was believed to be a satire on Hopkins, Wilkes' opponent in the contest for the office of City Chamberlain. Sheridan, however, got over the difficulty after an interview with Lord Hertford, the Lord Chamberlain. The play was at once a brilliant success. It ran for twenty nights until the end of the season and was acted sixty times the following season. Afterwards, for some years, it was acted regularly three nights a week, and it has retained its popularity for over a century. Sheridan never published an authorized edition of the play, and when urged to revise it for the press, said that he had been nineteen years endeavoring to satisfy himself with the style of the piece, and had not succeeded. The play was, however, printed at Dublin from a copy which Sheridan sent to his sister for disposal to her own advantage, but the early editions contain many variations. It is claimed by many authorities that there is in existence two acts of the play with corrections by Sheridan, presumably with a view to publication.

TIME LIMIT IS SET FOR APPLICATION FOR VOCATIONAL COURSES

According to a recent Order-in-council, issued from Ottawa, a time limit has been set for applications for Vocational re-training. The Order states "Limiting time for application for re-traning courses three months from November 1st, 1919, or discharge whichever is later." The officials of the Department S.C.R. wish this fact to become known to all returned men, who may be eligible for a course.

Registration forms have been provided and all who suffer from a disability which prevents them following their former occupation should obtain and fill in a form; these may be obtained at any S.C.R. Representative's office, either personally or through the mail. On completion, the form should be mailed to the Department S. C. R., Vancouver.

Any ex-member of the Forces who is now at work, but who has a disability should register and thus protect his interests. The fact that a man registers does not mean that he is compelled to take a course at once. He may continue at his present position and can at a later date apply for a course, but he must be registered within the time mentioned.

The Order-in-council also covers the case of those men who enlisted prior to attaining their 18th birthday, and they also must register within the period before stated.

The Department wish to emphasize the fact that registration does not mean that a course must be started immediately; if at a later date an ex.member finds that his disability prevents him from carrying on and he is eligible for Vocational training, he may make application for the course, however, he must have registered with the Vocational Branch, Dept. S.C.R., before January 31st, 1920, or three months after discharge.

Those who enlisted under eighteen are also governed by this ruling.

ORGANIZE NEW POLITICAL PARTY

It appears that a new political party is in the throes of organization in British Columbia and is now anxiously casting about for a leader and a policy. Its activities have been apparent for some months past, but it is by no means clear whither it is heading. Its presence in the field has however, given a definite assurance that when another Provincial election is held we may anticipate a multiplicity of candidates in the field. It would be by no means surprising if it turned out that there were sixteen candidates for the four Victoria seats and competition of a similar nature in Vancouver. The aims of the new party, which is as yet without a name, may be all that is desirable. It is impossible to speak of them until they are made public. The personnel of those responsible for the inception of the idea is known, but the plans are being perfected in secret. The meetings are being held in Vancouver, and clearly, one of the objects in view is that, should the party be successful at the polls, Mainland interests will dominate the political situation of the future.

From what can be ascertained neither of the old political parties in this Province is in the least perturbed by the new machine which is being created from Vancouver. In this attitude we think they are wrong, for in the Province there are plastic elements which will lend themselves to be fashioned by a new designer, and apathy towards any new political movement is not a healthy sign. In British Columbia, except when there is some vital issue at stake, it is largely a case of the ins and outs, but it seems that in the future a powerful attempt is to be made to put a government in power that is neither Conservative or Liberal. The new party is to be governed by a conglomerate of ideas originating with those who in the past had apparently irreconcilable political conceptions and coming from those whose basic principles do not and cannot dovetail, except through a lengthy process of education. We may be utterly wrong in this conception of the incohesive qualities of those who are aligning themselves under the banner of the judged by either their deeds or their utterances. What countries want at the present time more than anything else is stable government. If we cannot have this there is insecurity everywhere. Of the making of political parties there is no end, and experiments in this direction are legitimate. It is certain, however, that the more political parties there are the greater is the confusion in the public mind. The people ask for leadership more than anything else, not for the jangling discord of a thousand and one political ideas, which, after all, are merely individual conceptions of what should be to make everything right in a world of error.—Colonist.

CANADIANIZE THE FOREIGN-BORN CHILD

The campaign inaugurated by the I. O. D. E. having for its objective the cultivation of Canadian ideals in the minds of the children of alien birth and thought who have become residents of the Dominion, is one worthy of the strongest support of every chapter in the order. It is a work which can only be made really effective through the children of the immigrants. The older stock is too conservative in thought and feeling to readily cast off the customs and prejudices of their foreign nationality and there is little or no chance of their becoming Canadians in any but an official way. With the younger generation and with those of the future the position is different. They are not hedged about by customs and manners antagonistic to Canadian ideals. Though they may be brought to some extent under the influence of the heritage of their alien extraction they have opportunities of comparison with other customs and other manners and the plastic mind of childhood is quick to absorb new ideas and higher ideals especially if attractively presented. With the elimination of the habits and customs which are perhaps abhorrent to Canadians the chief obstacle to intermarriage is done away with, and with intermarriage the task of Canadianizing becomes at once an easier one.

The I. O. D. E. scheme of inculcating the spirit of patriotism is splendid as far as it goes but it could be extended to the encouragement of higher social ideals consonant with those held by their companions of British parentage. Political idealism and patriotic fervour will follow the growth of a social conscience which brings the foreign-born child into more congenial contact with his British born companions at school or elsewhere.

A DISTINGUISHED TRIBUTE TO THE DEVEREUX COMPANY

Perhaps no stronger estimate could be made of the merit of the Cliford Devereux Company, which appears at the Grand Theatre for one night, December 2nd. than the fact that they have been invited to give performances at Columbia University, Harvard University, University of Virginia, Darthmouth College, University of West Virginia, University of Vermont, University of Texas and every leading State College in the country.

The fine quality of the organization is amply manifested in the following tribute in Harper's Weekly from the pen of Mr. Norman Hapgood, its editor and distinguished critic, after witnessing the Devereux performances of "Twelfth Night" at Columbia University, New York City.

"Life in the United States lacks no desirable element more than it lacks art, and yet, even in the arts we occasionally find almost by accident, something of very high quality. The Devereux Company will serve as an illustration. They are giving Shakespeare and old English comedies with a refinement and competence that is extremely rare in our country."

Public or Private

A very serious problem is raised by the diminished funds which now exercise the minds of all the great hospitals. They suffer the common troubles of increased costs and decreased value of money. What is more, the burdens of taxation seem likely to have an increasingly adverse effect upon their finances. What is to be done? Are we to accept the logical view that, in so far as any number of its citizens are entitled to the benefits of free medical treatment, and in so far as research work is a national necessity, provision should be made by the State? There is much to be said for a change which, placing hospitals as a charge upon the State, would maintain their necessary services without what is often regarded as the "taint of charity." There is even more, however to be said against drying up wells of genuine benevolence and altruism which sweeten life in maintaining barriers against suffering. A State subsidy may be the remedy—so long as its provision does not bring to an end the private sources of revenue. One thing is clear—the hospitals must be kept going.—London Daily Express.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on a aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful

Pure Milk!

—handled with exacting care

The Borden policy is to ensure the unquestioned purity of its products. Scrupulous cleanliness and care in the dairy are not enough. The freshly drawn milk must be taken immediately to a clean, sanitary milk house well removed from the milking stable. It is here emptied into sterilized cans—kept cool until the day's supply is hauled to the condensary.

Borden's St. Charles Brand is the same pure, carefully guarded milk, from which a part of the natural moisture is removed. This makes it available under all conditions. for it keeps fresh and pure in the sterilized cans until opened. Add an equal part of water for fluid milk uses. Handy—economical—for every milk purpose. At your grocer's.

JAMES CRONIN PASSED AWAY

(Cranbrook Courier)

During the past week rumors have been in the air of the death of James Cronin, one of the active mining men in this section in the early days. Mr. Cronin was the first man to develop the St. Eugene mine at Moyie. The following story, written by the gifted writer, P. A. O'Farrell, will bear reprinting in connection with Mr. Cronin:

In all my wanderings throughout the far northwest I have seen no spot that I would rather call my home than Moyie. I have seen cities like Spokane and Portland, Seattle, Winnipeg, and Vancouver, for whom the fates have decreed renown and greatness such as once belonged to Athens and Genoa and Venice, but these do not appear to me as places where I should like to abide forever and close my allotted span of life. The city too often is a melancholy solitude, masks and faces crowd the thoroughfares and there one finds an utter absence of the feeling which sees in each human destiny a sail bound for a distant and mysterious port, to which at least we owe a heartfelt bon voyage.

On the shores of the moonlit lake and in the shadow of the mighty pine clad hills there is a community of human fellowship which is the very antithesis of that "sauve gui peut" spirit which pervades the city and this latter day world.

It was that that sent Chateaubriand a wanderer over the face of the earth, an infidel in intellect and in heart until once again in the midst of the solitudes of forests and mountains new dreams came to him and he electrified the world therewith. Well did Byron write, "My altars are the mountains and the ocean," for they are teachers and companions for those that will listen to them and love them.

Cities breed selfishness and cynicism, but not always, for the saint of the Kootenay, though born in Corsica, was educated in Rome. I refer, of course, to Father Coccola, whose student days were passed in the shadow of St. John Latern and Colosseum.

The youth reared in the heart of Rome becomes imperceptibly a dreamer. He sees that "Empires and Worlds go down, Time waves to dissolution," and on the Roman stages history becomes luminous. It was here that the Corsican youth, of whom I write, began to dream strange dreams and to realize the emptiness and hollowness and mockery of all the greatness and glory that once radiated from the imperial city. And then the thought came to him to go forth from the Eternal City and seek in distant lands and climes some savage race to whom he should bring the knowledge of the Crucified and the light and, perhaps, the joy of civilization; and thus a generation ago we find the young Corsican, a priest, sailing across the broad Atlantic with heart and mind bent on bearing the gospel to the savage red man that dwelt in darkness and ignorance in the wildest mountain regions of the American northwest. One summer eve long, long ago, this Corsican priest, Father Coccola, lit his camp fire in the heart of the wilderness of East Kootenay. White folks were rare in the Kootenays forty years ago. The Hudson's Bay Co. had some forts along the lakes and rivers where its hunters and trappers traded with the Indians, but even so, the Kootenays were less of a white man's land than was Central Africa or Afghanistan. A few adventurous spirits had indeed pierced the fastnesses of the Kootenay. William Fernie, an English sailor, had explored the passes leading into the dreary plains of Alberta, and he had found coal measures that might, he thought, in ages to come, be valuable to the white men, but for all that, it was the red man's land when first Father Coccola lit his camp fire on the bank of Kootenay.

The advent of the pale face has ever been, on this continent at least, the signal of the red man's decay. Whole tribes and races of the aborginies in North and South America have absorbed the teachings of the gospel and aspired to the modes and trappings of civilization; but the very touch of the white man has been fatal to the independence, vitality and existence of the red man. That fact is fully realized by the dying races that once ruled this western world and yet they listened to Father Coccola and absorbed his teaching and sang the hymns that he composed to the weird music of their savage tribes. Under his influence the Kootenay Indians became Christian to a man. He taught them to plant and prune, to sow and to reap, and to discard the wigwam for the frame building and the log cabin. He reproduced in the Kootenay the wonders that the Jesuits wrought on the banks of the Parana centuries ago.

They received the teachings of Father Coccola something after the manner of the Chaldean shepherds, who bear the glad tidings of great joy that heralded the Messiah's coming. But the sceptics among them noted that Father Coccola did not raise the dead nor did his teachings save the living from death. Indeed it seemed to the tribe that the new religion speeded the extinction of the race and an indian brave, named Peter, either assumed, or was assigned, the duty of slaying Father Coccola. Somehow the missionary heard of it and as Peter rushed at him, brandishing his deadly weapon, the priest calmly awaited him and with outstretched hands exclaimed "Come on Peter, I am ready to die for you, as I have lived for you." The coolness and bravery of the missionary saved his life and from that hour every Indian in the Kootenays knew him to be a man of God and none more so than the Indian brave that essayed to slay him.

How that Indian had loved Father Coccola ever since! It was he that hunted for weeks and weeks through canyon and creek and precipice, and over mountains for some hidden mine to sell to the white folks for gold enough to build a church for Father Coccola. He found the mine on the crest of the mountain overlooking the wondrous beauty of Moyie lake and he hastened back to Father Coccola with samples of his discovery. Chance led James Cronin to the St. Eugene mission at the same time and Father Coccola offered Cronin half the mine if he would locate and acquire title and develop it. This Cronin did and subsequently sold the priest's half interest for $12,500. Father Coccola built Indian Peter's house and gave him $500 and with the balance he built the church at the St. Eugene mission.

The Indians do not see as much of Father Coccola as in the long ago, in those glorious summers when he came over the mountains and taught them all the beautiful things of the Christ and His world. Away up in the valleys, towns have sprung up and some thousands of Italians and French and Austrians have found homes and employment there. William Fernie's coal properties have already developed into the world famous Crow's Nest Coal mines and Father Coccola has had to leave his beloved Indians to minister to the Italians and French and Austrians delving in the mines. If the truth be told they need his ministrations far more than the red men of the Kootenay. His Indians lead lives of Arcadian simplicity and innocence, but the white folks of the coal camps have brought hither the vices and the passions of the old world's effete civilization.

Not all, of course, for here at Moyie, where at eve upon the lovely lake is heard the plaintive hymns of the Kootenay Indians, I see another sight and listen to other accents that recall Ireland's wonderful story and the fidelity of its race for well nigh two thousand years to the very ideals that Father Coccola but yesterday planted among these Indians of the west. Over yonder perched above the lake, amid flowers and lawns is the home of James Cronin. Thirty years ago he too, was a dreamer, young and happy, with a heart as bounding as the skiff he saw dancing upon the waves of the magnificent bay of Bantry that laved the shores of his Irish home.

But Ireland, a land of enchanting lovliness, of prolific richness of soil, of monumental wealth in story and tradition and folklore, had no niche and gave no opportunity for fame or fortune to James Cronin. He knew that he was fated to eat the bitter bread of exile and he wept many a salt tear as he bade farewell to the roof tree under which he was born, and as he gazed in mute good-bye on the cliffs and islands that make part of the rock bound coast of Bantry. To America he came with the bone and the muscle and brawn and brain, and, what is best of all, the ideals of Celtic Ireland. Those ideals are the glory and the hope and the salvation of the exiled Irish. When they are lost then chaos and night might come again. It was those ideals that made Thomas Francis Heagher the incomparable orator and deathless soldier of his age. It was those same ideals that have enabled millions of heart-broken Irish exiles to become prime factors in the upbuilding of the new world.

I am not going to tell here how James Cronin has grown and prospered until he has become the most renowned captain of the mining industry in Canada. The St. Eugene mine that Indian Peter and Father Coccola induced him to develop is the great silver-lead mine of Canada and one of the richest in the world. It is adding from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 a year to the world's wealth. It pays from $30,000 to $40,000 a month in wages and a like sum to transportation companies and in May last it earned $80,000 of net profits. James Cronin is the father of the mine. He developed it from the grass roots, and recently when Rossland was overwhelmed with years of bad management, James Cronin undertook to reorganize and reconstruct its whole mining industry and he has transformed it as only a wizard could do it.

F. A. Heinze is undoubtedly the greatest mining operator known to fame on the American continent. His instinct or genius in discerning underground wealth is the most wonderful thing I have ever known or read or heard of. Long after Marcus Daly and W. A. Clark and the Boston & Montana people had had their pick and choice of the Butte camp, Heinze followed them and picked up mine after mine of fabulous wealth that they had ignored or discarded as worthless. Such wonderful success as Heinze's cannot be mere chance alone. He had the strange second sight of the miner for ore hidden underground. That is exactly the gift that has made James Cronin the wonderful captain of the mining industry that he is and his absence of side, of pretentions, or swagger and his deep sympathy with, and unfailing kindness for the men who work for him or with him, make him the best liked and best loved mining manager I have known.

Moyie was far in the wilderness when Father Coccola reached the Kootenay 30 years ago. The face of the white man had hardly ever been reflected in its waters. On its shores now is the city of Moyie, and over there is the St. Eugene concentrating mill, planned and built from the first to the last by James Cronin himself. It handles 500 tons of galena ore daily and saves 90 per cent of the values in the ore. Moreover, along the shores of the lake there rolls a transcontinental railroad that will take you in a palace car to Boston. That is the Crow's Nest Pass line of the Canadian Pacific, which is now building into Spokane, and which within a year will be the shortest and best route across the continent to Spokane, Portland and Seattle, and Vancouver. The country that Father Coccola discovered a generation ago was peopled only by a few white adventurers and the savage, whose sole delight was the chase, is gone forever. Steamers and railroads, mills and factories have robbed it of half its beauty. But it is better thus for they are the prelude to the upbuilnding here of a new world of happy homes.

To me, at least, the transformation is not unpleasant. Only last night I sat upon the verandah of the Cronin villa and beheld the moon come up in all its fullness from behind the forest clothed mountains above the lake. I had watched the last remnant of the dying day and not a cloud obscured the sky and the lake that a little while ago was purple and gold in the rays of the setting sun is now bathed in the soft light of the cold, fruitless precipices and the woods are still deeper in the moon's reflected light and all is calm, for the winds are still and not a ripple disturbs the surface of the lake nor doth the tiniest wave break in foam upon the shore. It is the hushed stillness of the summer eve and now there comes out through the open window the strains of the softest music. One of the daughters of this Irish exile is waking the choes with the self-same harmonies that roused the Gael to deathless heroism ere the Julian race dropped the Roman sceptre or before the Goth ceased to be asavage. The children of this Irish exile were all born in the land through which the Columbia and the Kootenay flow, but to them, as to their sire their richest treasures are the music, the folk-lore, the traditions and the faith of ancient Ireland. How full of pathos and how soothing is that music as it is wafted across the lovely lake! But now from yonder shores where the Indian hunters have camped for the night comes other music, wild, weird, and plaintive. The Indian is singing in his own barbaric tongue and in his own wild way the psalms and hymns that awed Cloves and Alaric and nerved Christiandom for the sovereignity of the world.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Saturday last was pay day up here.

Clem Stubbs is safety inspector under the C.N.P. Coal Co., at Coal Creek.

The beautiful springlike weather of last week end tempted some of our local Isaac Waltons to indulge in their favorite pursuit.

Our local poet, Jimmy Barr, arrived back in camp. He has a big repertoire of home compositions. The Angel band will again be heard down the ravine.

The social held in the Club Hall on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Ladies Chapter L.O.O.M. added another laurel to the reputation of the Moose Ladies. The energetic work of Mrs. Fowler and Mrs. Simpson as committee in charge, received royal support and the thanks of the Chapter are tendered herein; also to the Moose orchestra from Fernie and to General Manager Wilson for transportation facilities granted. 7.30 sharp heralded in the strains of a waltz. Dancing was interspersed by vocal items rendered by Miss Billsborough and Messrs. Sampson and Bass. Fred Bass as an elocutionist received loud applause and his manipulation of the ivories was a revelation to the residents. As the Fernieites had to leave on the midnight train the local dance element secured the services of a pianist and kept going a little longer. Supper was served during the evening, which was supplied by the ladies. We hope to have the Moose ladies up here again very shortly. The committee in charge desire to thank their fellow members for their eats, the band for services, Mrs. Anderson for her assistance with tea and coffee, Mrs. Reid for use of crockery, etc., the board of management for facilities granted and W. R. Wilson for train arrangements, and all who took part in any way.

Miss Rose Fowler arrived in camp from Cumberland, England and is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Bernard Caufield.

The doctor question took several of our residents to Fernie on Sunday last to attend the meeting in the Miners hall.

Harry Miard spent a few days with his wife and family.

PRESS COMMENT

People the Real Employers

Forgetting the old slogan: "Equal rights for all; special privileges for none," the Senate a few days ago defeated by a close vote an amendment to an appropriation bill preventing exemption of labor unions from prosecution under the anti-trust laws. Senator Edge called attention to the bearing of the "special privilege" thus granted on the present industrial crisis, and said:

"And right here it may be well to emphasize the fact, of which both labor and capital seem ignorant or intolerant, that labor is not the employee of capital but of the people at large, of the whole United States, and that the people are the employer of capital also. The people pay capital for the use of its money and its services; they pay labor for its manual work and its time. When labor imposes unwarranted wages on capital through threats of coercion, it does not wring such wages from capital, but from the ultimate consumer—the people. To such an extreme did capital once go that state and national legislation was enacted to restrain it from oppression. Especially in these times it seems to me that the other employee of the people also should be held within reasonable bounds."

When capital exacts excessive prices, it is accused of extortion, or profiteering, and steps are taken to prevent it from "gouging" the people. When labor exacts excessive wages capital, if it can, adds them to the price of the goods and the people pay them. If through foreign competition capital cannot do this, it shuts down the works and labor is out of a job.

Millions of people in Europe are out of a job, but they are settling back to work after a year's milling around as an aftermath of the war. Subject to such measure of protection as the tariff gives, American labor will have to compete with this foreign labor, for there is a limit to the prices which the mass of the people will pay in order that some men may get a 60 per cent advance for working six hours a day five days a week.

Workmen need to get rid of the idea that, when they strike, they strike only at the employers' bank account. They actually strike at everybody's pocketbook, including each other's and their own. The consumer pays in the end, and there are many times more consumers than organized workmen, though the number includes the latter. The consumer is awakening to the truth, and is beginning to strike.—Portland Oregonian.

A reader asks if the Prince of Wales stated Canada had the prettiest girls in the world. We have no official record that he said it, but no doubt he thinks it, and if he doesn't he had better consult the royal oculist. —London Advertiser.

The many breezy anecdotes of Lord Beresford best describe the sort of man he was. One of his neat phrases was, "I can sleep on a clothesline." Of all his sayings, none is so famous as his telegram to King Edward refusing an invitation. "Sorry, can't come. Lie follows by post."—London Daily Express.

LAND REGISTRY ACT
(Section 24)

IN THE MATTER of part (11.18 acres) of Lot 123, Group 1, Kootenay District.

Proof having been filed in my office of the loss of Certificate of Title No. 16183A, to the above mentioned lands in the name of Peter Cynzik, and bearing date the 11th May, 1912, I HEREBY GIVE NOTICE of my intention at the expiration of one calendar month from the first publication hereof to issue to the said Peter Cynzik a fresh Certificate of Title in lieu of such lost Certificate. Any person having any information with reference to such lost Certificate of Title is requested to communicate with the undersigned.

Dated at the Land Registry Office, Nelson, B.C., this 26th day of November, 1919.

SOUR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach sweetener in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

COMMUNICATION

Editor, Fernie Free Press

Dear Sir:—Would yau kindly allow space in your valuable paper in reply to Wilson & Patterson's letter of the 28th|11|19. I wish to impress upon the ctizens of Fernie that I had nothing to do whatever with my father's former business. The transfer business which has opened up is not owned by Mr. D. Gash, Sr. but by D. Gash, Jr. My father is rendering his aid to me and showing me the business. I wish to ask Mr. Wilson and Mr. Paterson what they have done for the famous "scrap of paper". I can truly say what I have done. I volunteered for service as soon as the war broke out. I was rejected, owing to medical defects. I tried again in 1915 and was accepted.

I enlisted for overseas service with the famous 54th battalion. I served over three years at the front and was wounded and gassed twice.

I am entitled to run a transfer business as well as Paterson and Wilson who have never been through the hardships of the war. I am crippled and troubled with gas poisoning, so I will now leave it to the citizens of Fernie to say who is the most worthy of support.

Signed this 2nd day of December, 1919.

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN BY UNITED CHURCH

The National Campaign of the Inter-Church Forward Movement was undertaken by vote of the United church congregation on Sunday last, and at the organization meeting on Monday evening a strong committee was appointed to deal with the preliminary stages of organization and advertising.

During the first stage of the campaign special speakers will be secured to present different phases of the program. Among those expected are Rev. Dr. Sipprell of Vancouver and Mr. Geo. Bell of Victoria.

The spiritual campaign will include a series of special services to be held during the early part of January. The aim of these meeting shall be to present the principles of life, which are imperative, if true reconstruction is to be accomplished. For these meetings the committee unanimously decided that the Pastor should be the leader aided by "minute-men" from the church.

The meeting discussed the financial aims of the campaign and felt that there would be no difficulty about Fernie reaching the objective. This phase of the campaign will come on in harmony with the nation wide drive and will take place during the second week in February. It will be in the nature of a great nation-wide thank offering for the blessings of peace.

I. O. D. E. DANCE

On Tuesday evening last the I.O.D.E. held their Rose Ball in Victoria Hall. The rooms were beautifully decorated with roses, chrysanthemums and evergreens and great credit is due to Mrs. Suddaby, who had charge of the flowers and decorations, and also to Mrs. S. Graham, who made the roses. These together with the many pretty gowns made quite a brilliant scene. A large number of dancers were present and a most enjoyable time was spent. All were unanimous in their decision that this was the ball of the season.

WINNERS AT POULTRY SHOW

The Fourth Annual Poultry Show of District No. 9, which was held here during the present week, was one of the largest and best ever held in Fernie. All the popular breeds were distinctly outstanding in quality and far surpassed the most sanguine expectations of the most optimistic fanciers of the local association. The executive are to be heartily con gratulated upon the success of the show, which was undoubtedly due to their untiring efforts in this direction, and it is needless to say that results obtained represented a lot of hard conscientious work. The quality of the show deserved a larger patronage from the citizens than was the case. It would take up too much space to make special mention of all the exhibitors that deserved it and the editor is far from being sufficiently conversant with the finer points of a poultry show to do this show justice, and he feels that the fanciers will appreciate that only an expert could do this.

Black Orpingtons—The Black Orpingtons was one of the largest classes in the show and contained a few birds that could have been in the money in good class company and failed here. The first cock was an outstanding specimen and the same may be said of the first hen and the first pen was one of the very best.

White Orpingtons — The White Orpington class also brought out some exceptionally good birds, the first cock, first hen and pen all being of outstanding quality.

Buff Orpingtons—This was another strong cless and contained females that it would be hard to beat anywhere.

White Wyandottes — This was an extraordinary strong class and also brought out some exceptionally good birds.

Rose Comb Reds—This class was not as large in numbers as the previous classes but contained birds equal in quality.

Black Minorcas—This was anotner strong class, the females being extra good.

White Leghorns—This was the best and strongest class that has ever been shown in Fernie and the winners were well placed.

Buff Rocks—This was not a very large class but the birds were of very good quality.

Barred Rocks—This class brought out some very good birds, all the winners repeating their wins at the last Calgary show.

Light Brahmas—This was an exceptionally good class, the first cock winning the distinction of being classed as the best bird in the show and was undoubtedly an outstanding specimen.

Bantams—This brougt out a number of varieties of good quality, the local fanciers taking the bulk of the prizes.

The exhibit of Pet Stock such as rabbits, pheasants and small fowl was very select.

J. W. Westbrook, of Lethbridge, who judged the show, expressed his surprise at the general all around quality of the birds shown from this district and expressed the opinion that the exhibitors were to be congratulated upon the quality and condition of the birds shown. Quite a few birds changed hands at very good prices, which should be an incentive to breeders to endeavor to produce birds of first class quality. Mr. Jones, a former Fernie fancier, but who is now making his home at Medicine Hat, was an exhibitor at the show and in conversation with the editor expressed himself as being more than pleased with the show and that he considered himself more than repaid for coming up here by securing the first Rose Comb cockerel from one of the local breeders, and it was also a source of a good deal satisfaction to him to note the results which had been obtained in Black Orpingtons from his old strain, practically all the winning birds in this class coming from that source. In this connection a number of very favorable comments were made upon the quality and condition of the birds shown in this class by Mr. Trites, the opinion being expressed that he had done exceptionally well, considering that this was his first year in the poultry business, and as he purchased a number of the prize winning birds shown in Black Orpingtons, for which it is needless to say he paid a good price, he is now in a position to produce the very best and with another year's experience he should give the fanciers in this class very keen competition.

The following is a list of the prize winners:

Light Brahmas—All awards to J. Cunliffe.

White Orpingtons—2nd cock, 1st pullet; S. Knight, 1st cock, 2nd and 3rd hen, 1st and 2nd cockerel; R. Jones, 1st hen, 2nd and 3rd pullet, 1st pen; T. Cunliffe, 3rd cock.

Buff Orpingtons—Arch Munn, 1st cock, 2nd hen, 1st cockerel, 2nd pullet, 1st pen; A. M. Beattie, 2nd cock, 1st hen; F. E. Alexander, 2nd cockerel, 1st and 2nd pullet, 2nd pen; F. Poyser, 3rd and 4th hen, 3rd cockerel and 3rd pen.

Black Orpingtons—F. Poyser, 1st cock, 1st and 2nd hen, 2nd pen; H. Blinstone, 2nd cock, 3rd hen, 1st, 2nd and 3rd cockerel, 1st pen; A. B. Trites, 4th hen, 3rd and 4th pullet.

Buff Rock—F. Platt, all awards.

Barred Rocks—E. Bennett, 1st and 2nd hen, 1st cockerel, 1st and 2nd pullet, 1st pen; F. Streets, 3rd hen, 2nd and 3rd cockerel, 3rd pullet and 2nd pen.

Rose Comb R.I.R.—A. Aitken, 1st cock, 1st hen, 3rd pullet, 2nd pen; E. Cartlidge, 2nd and 3rd cock, 1st, 2nd and 3rd cockerel, 1st, 2nd and 3rd pullet, 1st pen.

S.C.R.I.R.—A. Aitken, 1st hen, 1st cockerel, 2nd pullet; A. Peters, 2nd hen, 1st pullet, 1st pen; J. Hart, 2nd cockerel.

S.C. Minorca—L. R. Steel, 1st cockerel, 1st, 2nd and 3rrd pullet; F. Gillett, 3rd pen; A. Wallach, 1st hen, 2nd cockerel.

White Wyandottes—C. Gillett, 3rd cock, 2nd hen, 1st and 2nd pullet, 1st pen; R. Walton, 2nd cock; A. F. Atkinson, 1st hen, 3rd cockerel; Wm. Harvey, 1st cock; 2nd pen.

Brown Leghorns—Wm. Harvey all awards.

White Leghorns—P. Finch, 3rd hen, 1st cockerel, 1st pullet; A. F. Atkinson, 2nd and 4th pullet; C. E. Kline, 2nd cock, 1st hen, 2nd pen; Mrs. F. J. Harbinson, 1st cock, 2nd hen, 2nd and 3rd cockerel, 1st pen.

Anconas—James Clark, 1st, 2nd and 3rd pullet, 1st and 2nd pen; P. Elmes, 3rd pen; A. Wallach, 1st cock, 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th hen; N. Kennedy, 1st pullet.

The Challenge Cup was won again by J. Cunliffe with his Light Brahmas and the best cock bird in the show. The judge commented on this cock as the greatest Light Brahma he had ever seen.

The Novice Cup was won by a beautiful cockerel, pullet and young hen, the property of C. Gillett.

The Waldo Cup was won by Mrs. F. J. Harbinson, of Nelson, by a nice display of White Leghorns.

Best Pen in Old Birds in show was won by J. Cunliffe with Light Brahmas.

Best Young Pen in show, H. Blinstone, Black Orpingtons.

Best Cockerel in show, P. Finch.

Best Cockerel and Pullet in show, L. R. Steel.

Best display in Wyandottes — C. Gillett.

Best display in Light Brahmas, J. Cunliffe.

Best display in Anconas, J. Clarks.

HOCKEY

On Friday evening last the Shamrocks beat the Monarchs 5-1 in a fast and much more even game than the score shows. Time after time the Monarchs would get through and lose the puck with only the goal keeper to beat. This was the last exhibition game.

On Monday night the Shamrocks and Nationals opened the City League, the Nationals winning 5-4. When time was called the score stood 4-4. Through the kindness of Dr. Orner the game was played out and on a long shot by C. Colton from centre the game was ended. The game was fast and kept the crowd on their toes all the way.

Tonight the Monarchs and Millionaires play at 7 o'clock sharp.

The schedule for the first half of the City Hockey League is as follows:

Dec. 1—Nationals v. Shamrocks.
Dec. 5—Millionaires v. Monarchs.
Dec. 8—Monarchs v. Nationals.
Dec. 12—Shamrocks v. Millionaires
Dec. 19—Nationals v. Millionaires
Dec. 26—Monarchs v. Shamrocks.
Dec. 29—Millionaires v. Monarchs
Jan. 2—Shamrocks v. Nationals.
Jan. 5—Millionaires v. Shamrocks.
Jan. 9—Monarchs v. Nationals.
Dec. 12—Shamrocks v. Monarchs.
Jan. 16—Millionaires v. Nationals.

On Xmas night the hockey boys will hold a dance in Victoria Hall to raise money to get some good hockey teams in here during the winter.

REV. FATHER PASSES AWAY

After a brief illness from double pneumonia, Rev. Father William Francis McCollough died at St. Joseph's hospital, Port Arthur, on Sunday evening, Nov. 23. Rev. Father McCollough was in Fernie the year after the big fire and under his direction a temporary church was built, now known as the Catholic hall.

Some three or four weeks ago Father McCollough spent two or three days as a patient in the bospital, being afflicted with a severe cold. The forthcoming St. Agnes' bazaar, which opened last Tuesday, was engrossing his attention even then, and, eager to look after the many details, and to insure its success by his persence and personal touch in guiding the affair to its fulfillment, he left the hospital too soon and plunged himself into parish work again. The bazaar opened on Tuesday. Father McCullough was able to be present when it opened but at midnight that night he was stricken down and had to be removed to the hospital. His rugged constitution and vigorous mentality put up a strong fight against the inroads of the disease, but he was unable to withstand it. Fluctuating between improvement and weakness, hopes were held out for his recovery until Sunday, though Bishop Scollard arrived from North Bay on Thursday in order to be near the bedside of one of his most faithful priests. He had a bad night on Saturday night, but improved again Sunday. Towards six in the evening, however, he collapsed, and Bishop Scollard administered extreme unction. After a short rally he sank into unconsciousness and passed away last night.

Father McCullough was comforted during the last days of his life by knowing that the St. Agnes' bazaar closed on Thursday night in a sucessful finish. His intense interest in the affairs of this bazaar undoubtedly led to his leaving the hopsital earlier than he should, and contracting the fatal cold.

WOMEN'S MISSIONAY SOCIETY

A meeting was held in the basement of the United Church on Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of organizing a branch of the Women's Missionary Society. There was a good attendance and the following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Rev. Batzold.
President—Mrs. Harvie.
Vive Presidents—Mrs. McVannell and Mrs. Batzold.
Secretary—Mrs. Golightly.
Treasurer—Mrs. Gordon.
Pianist—Mrs. Liphardt.

The meetings will be held in the church basement every second Tuesday in the month at 3 p.m. prompt.

RACING AGAINST AN AVALANCHE

To cross the Rockies in the dead of winter on a hunting and trapping trip is not a mild proposition but one fraught with constant danger, necessitating alertness of mind and body.

W. H. Rideout, a trapper since '84, speakes of his experience in crossing the Rockies on a trapping trip in the November Hunter - Trapper - Trader. He had been meeting with success and had 14 coyotes, 28 bobcats, 3 mink, 1 cougar and 2 otter.

"On the 2nd of March," he writes, "I climbed the king of the Rockies four miles to the crest, where I cached my skins. I have had ten winters' experience on skis, so you may guess I know how to use them, but this slope was more than I counted on. I was at an altitude of 7,600 feet with snow twelve feet on the level. It was a mile to the lake, with a drop of 1900 feet. All marten trappers of the Rockies know that snow is extremely dangerous during February and March, when it begins to slip and slide. I got down a little way on the slide and then looked at that reef of snow.

"I would have given my pack to have been back on tha tridge, but to go back was just as likely to start the snow sliding as to continue on my way. I slid fifty feet when the snow began to move with a crushing, rumbling sound like thunder miles away.

"In a fraction of a second I was headed straight down the mountain, gathering speed like an express train that was six days behind time. I knew that if the snow behind me caught up with me I was lost; if I lost my balance I was done for; if there was a jog at the end of that lake I was gone. The whole earth seemed to be moving behind me; all the devils of Hades were right at my heels. I shot out across the edge of the lake, which was fairly smooth, across into the pines which were buried in snow up to their tops.

"One ski caught in the top of one and threw me about forty feet, broke the toe off the ski and tore it loose from my foot and buried me in the snow. I thought I was gone. After a while I tried to move; my feet were free; I wallowed around and stood up. The avalanche pursuing me down the slope had stopped in the middle of the lake. I was safe. But I haven't attempted the king of the Rockies since. I always find time to go round.

REBEKAH LODGE OFFICERS

Doctors and Day Laborers

The fact that brain work commands less remueration than formerly is, of course, deplorable. Brain workers are necessarily fewer than manual workers, and thus have less influence, seeing that in this democratic age every politician reasons in terms of votes. He cannot weigh heads, so he counts them; moreover, the heaviest head only possesses one vote. Hundreds of physicians draw less in fees each than the wages of the sewerage laborer. Wharf laborers excite the envy of barristers. School teachers, in private and State service, receive something under half the wages of coal-miners. These are grave facts, and detrimental to the immediate and future interests of the community. The public service and the professions should attract the best men; but the prizes are few, and the very high wages to be earned in other spheres form a strong counter- attraction—The Australasian.

The Film as an Educator

That the film is valuable in education can be judged by the "speeding up" of the training of air pilots during the war when this method was tried. Many children gain a great many of their ideas from seeing pictures in kinema theatres at present, and there is no doubt that they would enjoy—a term rarely applicable to school lessons—such a form of instruction.—London Daily Mail.

SOLUTION OF LABOR TROUBLE

After a long succession of labor troubles, some of them affecting special trades and others assuming the magnitude of general strikes lasting 24 hours or as many days, the Peruvian government is applying a constitutional amendment providing for compulsory arbitration. This amendment was adopted by a vote of the people and sanctioned by the national assembly. A new decree thereunder, now effective, provides that "all workmen without exception who have claims to make against their employers shall appoint their arbiters without preventing the continuance of work" and notify the designated authorities of this action. Immediately these authorities "shall demand from the employers the appointment of their arbiters within 24 hours" after being formally notified. The decree then directs that "all infringers of the above provisions shall be arrested and placed at the orders of a competent judge to answer for whatsoever responsibilities they may have incurred."

The basis of settlement of many of the Peruvian strikes, and virtually of all affecting public utility concerns, has been a substantial increase in wages, but only after increased traffic rates had been permitted by the government. As this course applied only to organized trades, the effect upon the economic life of the community was aggravated. In the first place, the recipients of larger incomes have been able to compete more successfully in the cost-of-living struggle, and in the second place those trades lacking government permission to advance prices of their product or service are under additional handicap. The tendency has been to stimulate organization of professional workers. If every kind of labor, mental as well as manual, were unionized, then the community or country affected would soon complete the economic circle and everybody would be back to the starting point without having accomplished any change for the better. Compulsory arbitration sounds like a contradiction, but the Peruvian experiment therein indicates that the party of the third part in labor disputes is forced by the law of self-preservation to find some measure of relief.—Pittsburg Gazette-Times.

The statement quoted in the new report on the army and religion as to the soldier's fatalism and its alleged connection with Omar Khayyam is quite fairly met by the officer who says that 90 per cent of the men who called themselves fatalists had never heard of the Persian.—London Daily News.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

THE ENEMY WITHIN

Revolutonists are trying to destroy labor unions as the first obstacle in their path. With their system of joint wage conferences between employers and workmen, at which collective bargains are made and time contracts are signed, and with their practice of disciplining members who violate these contracts, the unions, notwithstanding their strikes, work toward industrial peace under the present form of government. Hence they are regarded as enemies by the I.W.W., which at first openly attacked them from without. The important development of this year is that the revolutionists now attack the unions from within, by enlisting as members and using their position to cause adoption of their destructive policy. If successful, this policy would destroy the unions by destroying the entire system of bettering the conditions of labor by agreement with employers, and would leave the ground clear to build a soviet or any other system that the revolutionists may choose.—Portland Oregonian.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Jim Thistlebeak says don't worry. When you worry your mind is a buzz-wheel of thought. It is like a squirrel in his cage-wheel; goes to beat the band, but gets nowhere. Don't worry. If you've got a grouch and want to cure it, shut your mouth and open your liver, and keep on advertising.

Contractor Billy Woods leaves this week for England to join his wife and family, who are visiting his parents in Devonshire, noted for its apples and Moonrakers. Mr. Woods has four camps running and they are well supplied with orders to keep them running until he returns. He expects to be gone about two months. The citizens of Elko are giving him a smoker on Wednesday night in the Assembly rooms.

Jack Hammond, who left Elko with the 225th returned Saturday minus his right leg. Jack is one of the boys that helped wind up the watch on the Rhine, lighthearted as ever, and one of the best natured boys in south-east Kootenay, and his many friends are giving him a big social, supper and dance in the opera house on Wednesday.

Jim Thistlebeak says, to shake hands with some people is about as thrilling as grasping an iron pump handle on a frosty morning. It might would say, "it's a fac'."

Dozens of men are coming into Elko and going to the camps south of the town, quite a number going down to Baynes, Waldo, Dorr and Flagstone, and down into the Roosville Valley. The Broley mill just north of the Roosville Post Office expects to start up again in a few days. There is all kinds of work and no need to be idle these times. The hotels are crowded and business men say that business was never better. It reminds you of that old limerick:

Rickety, Rackety, Russ,
It's wicked to swear and cuss.
But damn it to hell, we're feeling so well
That really and truly we must.

Tom Letcher, Square Deal Ranch, W. Howard McGuire, Mountain View Ranch; Bill Gorrie, Clydebank Ranch; Charlie Ferguson, Wharfdale Ranch, Roosville Valley, were all doing business in Elko this week. Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Nolan of the Sunkist Orchards, Roosville Valley, are moving to Fernie to live, and the residents of the Valley gave them a farewell dance in the Cook House at Rainbow Creek.

Jim Thistlebeak says when a man gives a lady he would like to hitch on to, his photo and tells her that he never did a wrong thing in his life, she hangs his picture up with the rest of her chromos.

An up-to-date merchant in Elko has the last word on collections posted up in his store as follows: "Man is made of dust; dust settles; are you a man?"

The Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, and the Hon. J. W. deB. Farris, Attorney-General, for the sunset province, had to postpone their visit to Elko on account of the storm.

Some people can see things when they look at them; but with the present high prices and the high cost of living you can't eat soap and wash with it.

You can make bitter enemies with some people by giving them credit; give some people an inch and they'll take a mile.

SEASICKNESS MAY BE SOON OVERCOME

The day is coming when ships on the ocean, even the biggest liners, will cease their rolling, and the passengers be at rest. No more will a few railroad carloads of lemons be carried aboard to cure the mal de mer, and no more will the busy steward ply his sickroom care. The gyroscope is coming into its own as a stabilizer of ships, and the success of some experimental installations gives assurance that the modern passenger vessels will soon be equipped with this ingenious apparatus. Before the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers in New York, E. A. Sperry outlined the results of gyroscopic stabilization, and if his facts are correct, marne people will not be long in deriving the benefits he prophesies for it.

He declared that after fifteen years of experiment along this line, plans are now being adopted for extensive utilization of gyroscope control. The gyroscope is an instrument that acts on the principle that a quickly revolving disc, resting lightly on a central pivot, will maintain a steady axis with great stiffness. Mr. Sperry says that in all previous attempts to prevent rolling, the equipment has operated passively, depending on a certain amount of roll for the stabilizing movements, and the amount by which the roll has been reduced has never been satisfactory, nor have the means themselves been practicable. The stabilizing effect did not begin to make itself felt until the roll was quite pronounced, and then it was too late. What is wanted is not reduction of roll, but prevention, and the active gyroscope seems to have the goods. "For years engineers have observed the strange peregrinations of the gyroscope, but have failed to perceive the dormant powers of this simple apparatus, only awaiting the application of artificial 'precession' to render it abundantly serviceable for stabilizing even the largest ship." The larger the ship the easier it is to stabilize her. The gyro outclasses all other mechanisms in that, while its weight and cost very as the cube of its lineal dimensions, its stabilizing power varies no less than the fifth power.

The Thorneycrofts invented a great pendulum,, and others have be thought themselves of a tank, for stabilizing purposes. But whereas in these cases a pound is only a pound in force applied, the gyroscope has vast powers far beyond its weight. Every pound is multiplied by the velocity of the particle, so that a comparatively few pounds are capable of doing the work of tons. With the active gyro, this power is exerted independently, and can be applied to prevent rolling, instead of merely countering it. Some naval architects have feared that the forces and stresses involved by heavy washing of waves against an apparently unyielding vessel would do great damage to her. The nature and magnitude of the stresses are said to be well known now, and have been under observation in actual installations. Knowledge of the subject being accurate, it can be said that the vessel which rides the waves on an even keel, masts vertical, is subjected to only a fifth or sixth of the strains caused by unresisted rolling. The gyroscope can be started or stopped, and the action of the vessel studied under the same set of conditions.

In action, it reduces strains and stresses to almost nothing, even in storms of the greatest magnitude. With it operating, the creaks and groans that issue from the sides of a heavily rolling ship disappear, and the passengers have a new sense of security and freedom from terror of storms. A stabilized ship invariably rises with the sea, rising and falling gracefully. Some naval authorities expected the seas would pound the ship as they would a dock, but the reverse is true. There is no splashing and pounding.

Moreover, from the point of view of economy there is much to be said for the new device. It not only lengthens the lives of ships, but it saves power. In a heavy sea a steamer yaws back and forth ,the helm constantly in use to steady her, and there is a large loss of propulsive power because of the use of the helm. It is estimated that there is a saving of one-twelfth in actual power delivered at the propeller. A stabilized ship needs little steering, because it virtually stays in its dead track, and can almost be termed self-steering. A wallowing ship travels far off its course, whereas the stabilized ship saves feet and yards at almost every other bound of the sea. For a 15,000-ton vessel at eighteen knots, the loss from rolling might easily amount to 1,000 horse-power, and when coal is so scarce and high, this is an item every shipowner has to scan carefully.

SENATOR PETER McLAREN LEFT FORTUNE OF MILLION

Toronto, Nov. 26.—Senator Peter McLaren, of Perth, Ont., who died a few months ago, left an estate valued at $1,092,182. The will, written Sept. 2, 1896, gives his wife, Sophie Lees, the Perth residence, furnishings and 25 acres, to be inherited by her son James upon her death. His son William, when 27, was given a farm of 600 acres. The income from $100,000 was made payable to the widow, and on her death was to pass to the daughters until the youngest reached the age of 40, when the fund was to be divided between them. Fifty thousand dollars was given each of the three daughters, and they were also to receive 15 per cent of the residue real estate when sold.

The residue was equally shared by the two sons when they became 25 years of age. From the remainder of the trust fund advances might be made to the sons "for maintenance and education suitable to their position and standing in society," or for approved business dealings.

Three codicils are attached to the will. The first, dated Aug. 8, 1903, substituted James for William in the disposition of the farm. The second, May 20, 1910, gave to his wife the residence, grounds and all furnishings for her sole use absolutely, revoking previous instructions for disposal after her death; and changed the disposal of the proceeds of the real estate so that sons and daughters share alike in the income, the fund to be divided when the youngest and surviving child is 40, as provided in the will.

A third codicil, June 27, 1916, provided that "any advances I may have made to the daughters Margaret Hall and Mary Isabel Benedict, or their husbands, and any advances to my sons, are to be deducted from their apportionment under the will. Any device to the daughter, Kathleen, shall be held in trust to her during her lifetime, and on her death, her interest is to be shared by the surviving sisters and brothers."

Socks and Soldiers

How may one tell the demobbed soldier? Not by the bronzed features. The bronze wears off all too soon in London. Not by an alert military carriage, for, alas! the soldier soon loses that to some degree. But by his socks! Notice your demobbed soldier in the tube. As of old, he lifts his trousers to avoid bagging at the knees. In so doing he displays in hudreds of cases the sock of army grey. Ready as he was to discard the other trappings of war he still clings to his army socks. Possibly the present price of those articles may be responsible in no small measure. —London Daily Express.

The World is not Built That Way

The coal miner who thinks he ought to get a good income for working thirty hours a week and the nation of Central Europe that believes it is the victim of injustice because it sn't recognized as a great power, are suffering from the same trouble. Both of them are looking for a short cut where there is none. Both are impatient at the slowness with which progress comes. The world might have been a place where things came much easier than they do and where all nations reached a high stage of civilization at the same time. But it isn't. The development of the race is a slow job and the road of progress is wet with sweat. —Kansas City Star.

Must Be Willing To Pay

There are more children of school age and there will necessarly be a greater increase in the enrollment and attendance of children. This is an age of education—the war has helped to make it so—when everyone realizes that education is necessary for any advancement. The high schools and colleges report a largely increased attendance and we must expect the same in the public and grammar schools. There will be more children to educate, and it will cost more to educate them per capita. It will be well to remember this, for the people must make up their minds to make sacrifices in this cause.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Actions Speak Louder Than Words

There has been much talk of deporting dangerous aliens. So far as the public knows, few have been deported. Agents of the Department of Justice have just rounded up another batch of radicals who came to this country as volunteers to teach Americans how rotten our form of government is. In various strong jails they now await judicial action that shall pave the way for their deportation. It would be a splendid demonstration of efficient Americanism were every one of these noxious aliens loaded at once on vessels Europe-bound and hastened on their last trans-Atlantic voyage. There is too much ceremony about starting alien revolutionists for home.—Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

The Spirit of Insubordination

Our problem is much deeper than that of agreement upon a working system between capital and labor. It is the problem of bringing our people as a whole into a truly democratic state of mind, to a realization that civilization is founded upon order and submission to law, and that its highest form is an order which results from the will of the people themselves, to which they loyally adhere. This is the world's problem, no less ours as a democracy of long standing than that of newer so-called democracies. We must not only return to that general state of mind which respects law and authority, properly constituted, which we had before the war, but we must advance to a still higher manifestation of it if we are to have genuine democracy and either industrial or social peace.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Pity the Poor Middle Class

Thus a very large class of people in this country—a class which has been of inestimable value in the past as a nursery o fpublic men and a moderating influence in our politics— is now composed of shabby, threadbare men and ill-dressed, half-starved women, living in conditions in which there is no prospect of improvement. The only hope is that before this class is crushed—as it was crushed in the declining days of the Roman Empire—the tendency to reduce production may be stopped. The recent rise in wages cannot be accompanied by a fall in prices unless the output of goods is greatly increased. If the worker could be touched with compassion for the New Poor he might yet save them and benefit himself by augmenting the output. — London Daily Mail.

The Alien Menace

The reputation of Britain throughout the world depends immensely on a wise and careful handling of the aliens' question. The country has never been in any danger of being overrun by aliens. The number of aliens resident in it at any given moment has been smaller than in almost any country in the world, and the competition of aliens, though concentrated on a few trades, is in the aggregate of very little account. It has, therefore, little or no excuse for the alarms and agitations which periodically sweep over other countries that are liable to disturbing waves of immigration. On the other hand, the belief that the British Empire was free and liberal in its policy that it was hospitable to foreigners, and that it sought no vexatious monopolies for its own citizens has been one of its chief safeguards against the envy and hostility that its vast possessions would otherwise provoke, and one of the chief foundations of its prosperity. For the great entrepot trade which has made London the principle market of the world and its financial centre must inevitably be ruined if we are going to embark on a policy of exclusion of foreigners. It depends on the free coming and going both of goods and men, and on liberty to set up agencies and business-houses in this country and to maintain the staffs and personnel necessary to carry them on. Narrow-minded, fanatical restrictions are most damaging to this vital interest, and never more damaging than at this moment, when, for the first time for many generations, we have to fight for our commercial and financial supremacy againts formidable rivals.—Westminster Gazette.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Mrs. R. W. Wood is holidaying at the coast.

Mrs. A. McNeil spent several days in Calgary this week.

For real home cooking try Joe Goupill's cafe at the Waldorf Hotel.

Born—In Fernie, on Saturday, to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Evans, a son.

Robert W. Minton left Fernie for an eight month vocational course last Tuesday.

Mrs. J. McDonald (nee Miss B. Letcher) of Oakland, Alta., is the guest of Mrs. T. Beck.

Xmas gifts of all kinds and conditions to be had at the Ladies Guild Bazaar, Wednesday, Dec. 17th.

A marriage license was issued this week to Mr. Louis Brandis and Miss Bessie Podrasky, both of Natal.

The I.O.D.E. dance on Tuesday evening was the fashionable event of the season and was quite largely attended.

J. A. Broley, of Newgate, has bought out the interest of P. J. Nolan in the Rainbow Lumber Co. at Newgate.

A Court of Revision on the City Voters' List will be held in the city hall on Wednesday evening, Dec. 10, at 8 p.m.

Joseph Goupill has taken over the cafe at the Waldorf Hotel and would be pleased to have your patronage. All home cooking.

The annual meeting of the Ladies Benevolent Society will be held at the home of Mrs. A. B. Trites on Friday, Dec. 12, at 3.30 p.m.

Robt. Jones, of Medicine Hat, formerly of West Fernie, visited the Fernie Poultry Show this week. He entered about 45 birds.

Billy McKay, of Waldo, has started an automobile garage near his hotel. Billy is a live wire and will doubtless do well in the new venture.

It is said that many astonishing things are to happen on Dec. 17th. Come to the Ladies Guild Bazaar on that date and see for yourself.

The annual bazaar of the Ladies Guild of Christ church will be held in the basement of the church on Wednesday, Dec. 17th, from 3.30 to 6.

A. B. Trites purchased the prize winning Black Orpington birds at the poultry show from Robt. Jones, of Medicine Hat, for a big price.

The Ladies Guild are having their bazaar on Wednesday, instead of Saturday, as is usual, in order to give the people who are in the stores an opportunity to come.

Capt. D. J. Ewart Gee, of Victoria, who lately returned from overseas and who has located in Fernie, has had a wide experience at the front and is thoroughly equipped to do your dental work.

Clifford Robertson, who is employed with the McLaggan Furniture Co. at Stratford, Ont., passed through Fernie on Thursday on his way to California on business in connection with the firm.

On Saturday evening last James White, of West Fernie, had the misfortune to lose 16 fine fowl that he had entered for the Fernie poultry show. He put a coal stove in the pen and the fumes from the stove asphixated the fowl.

Owing to the steadily increasing cost of all supplies connected with the moving picture theatre we are forced to make a slight advance in children's admissions, starting Saturday, Dec. 6th: Matinee 10c. Nights 15c.—Orpheum and Isis Theatres.

If you wish to spend a pleasant and profitable hour come to the Woman's Missionary meeting in the United church basement on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A hearty welcome awaits you and bring your friends. Speaker, Mrs. Harvie. Subject, "His Dominion in Canada."

W. D. Euler, member of parliament for Waterloo North, who was forced by the G.W.V.A. to kiss the Union Jack during a demonstration developing as a result of an effort to change the name of Kitchener back to Berlin, is a brother of the Misses Euler, who resided in Fernie for a number of years.

Dr. Barber, who for the past eighteen years has practiced dentistry in the city of Fernie, has sold his practice to Capt. J. Ewart Gee, of Victoria, who will locate here. Mr. and Mrs. Barber expect to leave next week for California, where they will spend the winter. During his residence here the doctor has accumulated a comfortable fortune, which is largely in Government Bonds, and he does not contemplate practicing his profession in the future. Mr. and Mrs. Barber have not yet decided where they will locate permanently, but most likely it will be in Sunny California.

S. Herchmer spent a couple of days in Macleod this week.

W. R. Wilson returned yesterday from a business trip to Calgary.

Inspector W. J. Fernie is visiting the different stations throughout his district.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites returned the other day from a ten days visit to Spokane.

School children in Miss Fisher's room and in Miss Nicholson's room can return to school on Monday first.

Seven of the Fernie Public School teachers are on the sick list. A number of high school pupils are substituting.

The big curling match, President vs. Vice-President, was pulled off early in the week the teams chosen by the Vice easily defeating those of the President.

Sherwood Herchmer has his Winnipeg rink picked already. It will consist of R. M. Young, Harvey Brown and Alex. Watson. They are open for challenge games.

George C. Egg returned to Nelson last night from Grand Forks, where he has been living for the last three months. He expects to remain in Nelson for a time.—Nelson News.

We noticed a carload of hay being unloaded at the Central Hotel the other day and this week they got a carload of maccaroni. The price of board will surely take a tumble at that hostlery now.

The O.B.U. held a convention in Calgary this week. P. Lawson was a delegate from Fernie. Lawson's name as an O.B.U. agitator has come up prominently at the trial of the Winnipeg strike leaders.

Officers of various local G.W.V.A. associations are resigning as a protest against the determination of the rank and file to continue agitation for the $2,000 gratuity. It may be that this will be the rock upon which the veterans' organization will yet be split.—Calgary Herald.

In Lethbridge a lawyer is a candidate for the commissionership of works on the Labor ticket. The idea of a lawyer running on the Labor ticket is in itself a joke, but when he offers himself as one qualified to be commissioner of works for a city it is a scream.—Calgary Herald.

The thermometer registered the coldest this year Wednesday morning, dropping to 13 below. Last year, the first time the thermometer recorded the zero mark was on the 24th of December. This year it recorded that mark once in October, and on nine days in November, and is starting in strong this month.

Dr. J. Ewart Gee, of Victoria, arrived in the city last evening to take over the practice of Dr. John Barber. Dr. Gee, who is a graduate of the Northwestern University of Chicago, and a man high up in his profession, is installing a complete new modern equipment and will be prepared to do every class of dental work.

The management of the skating rink is preparing a fine program for the masquerade carnival at the rink on Dec. 10. The prizes offered are of exceptional value and will doubtless draw a big crowd. Everybody should get busy and help to make this a real live event. Fernie has not had a good carnival for many years.

Dick Beard of Michel has been elected president of the O.B.U. to take the place of Phil Christophers. One of these days the O.B.U. will be legally suppressed and a lot of the secret propaganda work which is being carried on throughout this district will be exposed. The government is keeping in close touch with the movement.

A special meeting of the G.W.V.A. will be held next Tuesday evening, Dec. 9th, at 8 o'clock, to make arrangements for the G.W.V.A. Xmas Tree and Party. Would all members kindly attend bringing with them a pair of scissors and a large darning needle to assist in making Xmas Tree decorations, etc. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Wm. Davidson.

The explosion of a gasoline torch at the Fernie Motor Car Garage the other day, broke every pane of glass in the building. The torch had been left on a chair near the stove and the heat generated enough gas in the can to explode. Fortunately there were only two men in the room and both were quite a distance from the stove. Neither were hurt, although both were knocked down.

Lt. Harold E. Minton, Royal Air Force, was expected home some time ago but has been delayed in the hospital at Salisbury with his knee, which he had dislocated in a crash while in France. Harold says it was strange for him to land in Salisbury Plains again the same date he landed there five years ago with the first contingent. He expects this to be his last camp and still hopes to arrive in Fernie before Christmas.

The New Woman and the Old

All the young women who worked for their living were not domestic servants or governesses sixty years ago. Not at all. They engraved watches, they were telegraph clerks, they were dispensers, they did heraldic work, they painted dials. Yes, and they brought up large families in an atmosphere of simple virtue that we can never emulate, and they wrote great books and painted great pictures. Of course, you have bettered their example. The war has struck off petticoats and fetters. You do everything, and do it very well, and we are your admiring slaves. But sixty years ago your grandmothers did very well, didn't they? The had petticoats—and crinolines. They were not admitted as equal partners with men. They had to do their jobs with all the weight of prejudice against them. But they did them; and don't you forget it.—London Daily Express.

A coal miner's daughter is studying Virgil. "Hic labor, hic opus set," she read; and translated, "Anyone who labors is a hick."—New York Tribune.

The visit of the King of the Belgians to Canada appears a bit brief in relation to the visit of the Canadian army to Belgium.—Manitoba Free Press.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Cure Sick Headache, Constipation, Billousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath—Candy Cathartic.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get relief with Cascarets. They immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet and head clear for months. They work while you sleep.

POPULAR OMENS AND FALLACIES

Anxiety is well known to be the mother of superstition. and in these days of coal shortage we are all more than usually interested in the question of whether the coming winter is going to be a severe one or not. Therefore we look to the country-folk, who are notoriously weather-wise, for a hint as to how far we may, with safety, have a decent fire to breakfast by, and how far such rash profusion may point to the tragedy of La Cigale.. And the countryman of the old-fashioned breed has no doubts.. Si augurium requires, circumspice, he says, waving a prophetic hand towards the berried hedgerows.

It is an article of faith with many that a plentiful crop of berries foretells a severe winter. The picture Providence as a beneficient Food Controller, who, like Joseph in Egypt, accumulates reserves of provisions for the birds against a coming famine and so foretell the future by a sort of rhabdomancy. Should this faith be justified, the outlook for coalless mortals is dismal indeed. There has seldom been such a harvest of hedgerows. The holly trees are loaded with berries, orange-colored now, but rapidly reddening for Christmas. Hips and haws, acorns and hazel nuts are all plentiful and the churchyard yew tree is gemmed to the tips of its twigs with the coral-pink, mucilaginous fruits that thrushes and missel-thrushes love so well. As to elderberries, their abundance makes the price and scarcity of port wine quite inexplicable. So the countryman points to all this wealth of fruitage, and shakes his head and looks to the wood pile. With tradition to back him, he is impervious to argument, and prophesies frost and snow from the berries with the same assurance as he always connects changes of weather with changes of the moon, regardless of modern meteorologists, who declare that the moon has no more influence on the weather than the man in it. As a matter of fact, the harvest of berries belongs to the province of Epimetheus rather than that of Prometheus. It is a result of past weather, and has no reference to the future.

There is, however, another form of augury that, besides being of immemorial antiquity, has made claims upon the attention of present-day weather prophets. The movements of birds are so peculiar in themselves and so generally noticeable that every field naturalist is tempted to pose as something of an augur. Matthew Arnold asserted of birds:

Proof, they give, too, primal powers,
Of a presence more than ours,
Teach us, while they come and go,
When to sail and when to sow, and belief in this superhuman prescience is very widely held. In certain respects it is justified, for nothng is more inexplicable than the way in which news of a plentiful food supply in some particular locality travels through the bird world. Thus a plague of voles is commonly followed by an immense local interest in the number of owls, especially of the shorteared owls, who are foreigners and only occasionally nest in this country. In the same way a plentiful crop of beechmast draws, like a magnet, great flocks of bramblings, those elegant finches who seldom breed below lattitude 60 N., and are so curiously irregular in their visitations. How knowledge of this sort is acquired by birds it is impossible to say, but undoubtedly they have some means of discovering any particularly rich feeding ground. Arguing from analogy, it would seem not impossible to foretell the severity or otherwise of the coming winter from the arrival of those birds who come to us from the colder climates of the north. Indeed, it would seem likely that, moving as they do just in front of the severe weather, we might reasonably gather some warnings of the future from the dates of their arrival.

If that be the case, the omens look dark for an early winter. Even in the west of England red-wings were reported at the end of September, and bramblings and flocks of red-polls made their appearance at the very beginning of October. These dates are earlier than usual, but the augur will be well advised if he gives his oracles with something of the Delphic ambiguity. There are many factors to be taken into account. Hard weather in the north may have started the birds off on their journey and yet be slow in following them, or a favorable breeding season may have shortened the period of nesting and allowed the other great instinct of migration to come earlier into play. There are even some grounds for thinking that our summer migrants show a tendency to abbreviate their stay in this country, and the same tendency may be working farther north. One particular colony of house-martins, that has been carefully watched for years, has been leaving regularly a little ealier every season. In 1914 the date was October 6. This year all the nests were deserted on September 16, just a day or two earlier than last autumn. Caution is therefore, recommended to ornithological disciples of Old Moore and Zadkiel.

Indeed, in all cases, the trade of weather prophet would be a precarious one did not an occasional success cancel a host of forgotten failures, for the real truth is that about a week ahead is the very limit within which anyone can foretell the weather. Thoes however, whose faith in the wisdom of the ancients is still undimmed, will be well advised to conserve their fuel with the utmost particularity, for all the traditional signs of an early and severe winter are with us. In any case, they will be no losers, for their coal reserve is sure to be useful before the first swallow announces that the hounds of spring are on winters traces..—A correspondent in The London Times.

GRIP, INFLUENZA

Hamlin's Wizard Oil a Reliable, Antiseptic Preventive

During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and snuff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall of defense against "Flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza.

Get it from druggists for 30c. If not satisfied, return the bottle and get your money back.

MINERAL OIL IS SCARCE

Estimates have been made of the period at which the world's stock of coal will be exhausted. What is certain is that neither coal nor mineral oil can be replaced, and that eventually the human race will have to look for other sources of heat and power—such as alcohol obtained from vegetable matter, water-power, wind-power, and possibly the rays of the sun used in some way that future scientists may invent. Science tells us that all power comes directly or indirectly from the sun. In burning coal and mineral oil we are using up our reserves, and when these are exhausted we must live from hand to mouth, depending upon the sun to do our work from day to day.

A glimpse of the new world is obtained as we see factories and street cars run by electricity derived from Niagara Falls, and light and heat produced in the same way. The griminess associated with coal and steam disappears. There is a tendency also to decentralization of industry, as electric power can be transmitted long distances from its source, and a wire takes the place of long trains hauling coal and moved by the burning of coal.

The automobile and the airship are driven by one of the bye-products of mineral oil, and oil is coming into use as a fuel for ships. The enormous growth of the automobile industry is rapidly using up the propelling power. As it becomes scarcer resort must be had to alcohol or some other product of vegetable growth. This will mean that a greater proportion of workers will be employed in forestry and farming. Here again the tendency will be toward decentralization, as vegetable fibres can be be produced over a large area.

Population may tend to shift toward regions possessing water powers, and also toward tropical countries rich in vegetation and not requiring artificial heat for human comfort.

Possibly, too, the human race may find that it must do without some things now regarded as necessary, such as extraordinary speed in ships, trains and automobiles. Speed having played its part in opening up the world for settlement there may be a slackening, and the human race may do its work in a less feverish and more liesurely way. The horse may resume its old importance, and the wind may drive our ships to a greater extent than it does today. As mineral fuel and metals become scarcer there will be less disposition to squander them in the game of war. This will mean also a saving of human life, an increasing reluctance to sacrifice youth to Moloch. There will be many compensations in the return to a more leisurely civilization.—Toronto Star.

DEAN SPEAKS ON IMMORTALITY

Speaking on "The Christian Doctrine of the Future Life" the Dean of St. Paul's, London, at meeting recently, said that until our own day the world beyond, however conceived, had always been called, and believed to be, the true home of the Christian. It was only in modern times, and most strongly in the half-century before the war, that the belief in eternal life had lost its roots in the soul. He had noticed again and again how a congregation lost interest in a sermon if one began to talk about heaven and hell.

This was not the result of science, nor could it be the result of the decay of belief in spirits and ghosts, for this belief had in fact revived, as a dismal substitute for Christian faith. It was the result of the modern belief in a law of progress.

But the belief in perpetual progress as a law of nature was a superstition. It had no basis in history, or science, or religion. Civilization had made hardly any appreciable change in human nature. This superstition had affected our philosophy, our science, our politics, and most of all our religion, which it had almost completely secularized.

The war had knocked the bottom out of this superstition, and the peace was likely to kill it outright. They would soon be much nearer to the conditions under which Christianity won its early victores. And therewith would come a new yearning for the Beyond, and a new faith and hope in the eternal and unseen. They would soon be driven to realize that the gifts of civilization, if they ponted to nothng beyond themselves, were mere apples of Sodom. It would no longer be a stumbling block for Christianity, but its great attraction, that it was unquestionably an other-world religion.

But they must admit frankly that they could not go back to the very crude eschatology of the past. They could no longer believe in a localized heaven and hell; and he could not pretend that the belief in a resuscitation of their bodies stood where it did. And did not the pictures of splendid rewards and ferocious punishments belong to a bygone conception of retributive justice? They must accustom themselves to think of their immortality in a more spiritual manner; and they must not shrink from admitting that they knew very little indeed.

He did not think that the truth, if they could know it, would please them as they were. He believed that immortality was an austere doctrine, not a mere consolation. It was certain that many of their hopes about the future life were not religious at all. If he hoped for survival because he enjoyed his life and wished to go on enjoying it, that had nothing to do with religion. If he wished for another life because he was miserable, and hoped to have better luck in the next world, that had nothing to do with religion. If he wished for another life because he had made certain investments in good works for which he hoped in the words of the hymn to be "repaid a thousandfold", that had no more to do with religion than if he risked his money on one of the similarly worded circulars which they used to find on their breakfast tables.

They should try to understand that immortality was something far more than, and something different from, mere survival through unending time. They could not translate eternity into any pictures drawn from mundane experience; still less could they prove or disprove it by any of the methods used in common life or in natural science.

He need not warn them against the pitiable revival of necromancy in which many desolate and bleeding hearts had sought a spurious satisfaction. If this kind of after-life were true, it would indeed be a melancholy postponement or negation of all that they hoped and believed about their blessed dead. They knew that they had not lost them, because love was stronger than death. "God is love"; that was their warrant for knowing that the sting of death had been drawn, and that those who lived unto God lived also with those whom they had loved on earth. Beyond this they knew nothing, and there were good reasons why they could not know.

Belief in immortality, firmly held, must needs transform everything for them in this world. Secularized Christianity, the religion of the platform, had neither savour nor salt. It was other-worldliness that could alone transform the world.

IF YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

The Evidence is Complete

Evidence has just been produced in the German Reichstag which Europe must be careful to preserve by building it solidly into history. The German of tomorrow will frame up a version of his own about the ending of the war.

The evidence shows that it was Hindenburg and Ludendorff, in the field at the head of the armies, who admitted defeat, demanded peace on any terms, and without an hour's loss of time. They wired that if a new Government could not be formed that night to make unconditional peace before dawn, the existing Government should do it—or complete disaster in the field next day might make it too late. That night Prince Max of Baden formed his Government.

The Germans show a desire to make it appear that it was a revolution at home, not exhaustion and defeat in the field, that caused their overthrow. But in the field they were defeated utterly, and it was the armistice alone which saved them. It was the approach of defeat and disaster that produced the revolution at home. The evidence of it—the exclusively German evidence—is precise and complete.

In honor of his distinction, friends of Hon. W. E. Raney might present him with an umbrella.— Ottawa Journal.

Pure Milk!

—handled with exacting care

The Borden policy is to ensure the unquestioned purity of its products. Scrupulous cleanliness and care in the dairy are not enough. The freshly drawn milk must be taken immediately to a clean, sanitary milk house well removed from the milking stable. It is here emptied into sterilized cans—kept cool until the day's supply is hauled to the condensary.

Borden's St. Charles Brand is the same pure, carefully guarded milk, from which a part of the natural moisture is removed. This makes it available under all conditions. for it keeps fresh and pure in the sterilized cans until opened. Add an equal part of water for fluid milk uses. Handy—economical—for every milk purpose. At your grocer's.

THE STRIKE IS CANCELED

On Tuesday, November 11, the president and secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers issued to the miners a notice advising them that the strike order was "withdrawn and canceled." To this the president of the union, Mr. John L. Lewis, added; "We will comply with the mandate of the court. We do it under protest. We are Americans. We cannot fight our government."

That was the fruit of Judge Anderson's righteous judgment. There is no reason to suppose that without it the strike would have been revoked or Mr. Lewis would have spoken those loyal and manly words. The first thought is, therefore, of the exceeding great value of outspoken courage in dealing with public affairs. A less emphatic utterance from the bench would have had no such effect. If anybody was inclined to think that Judge Anderson was needlessly severe, he now sees his mistake. What seems harshness was really kindness, for it not only compelled the cancelling of the strike, but it also opened the eyes of the strike leaders to the magnitude of the wrong which they were committing.

Yet while we cannot ignore the fact that Mr. Lewis was moved under compulsion to utter those words, we are glad to give him the fullest possible credit for them, and to commend them to the careful consideration of other labor leaders, particularly to those who, like W. Z. Foster in the steel strike, think that they can fight our government and who either directly or by implication repudiate the idea of being Americans. Between the two there is a world of difference. And there is a difference not only in theory, but also in practice, to this effect: That those who take Mr. Foster's attitude put themselves out of court and bar the door against settlement of the questions at issue, while those who take Mr. Lewis' open door facilitate the way to a just settlement. If all contestants in economic strife would declare themselves and really be first of all not capitalists or wage-earners, not unionists, nor internationalists, nor any such thing, but Americans, settlements would be far more prompt and easy and satisfactory than they usually are.

Four admirable examples have now been set: By the president, by the attorney-general, by Judge Anderson and by Mr. Lewis. It remains for them faithfully to be followed out in the making of a settlement of the controversy. It is not improbable that the men have some grievances which should be abated. Obviously they are entitled to a fair hearing and a just consideration. The nation wide condemnation of their strike was in no sense a pre-judgment of their case, or a denial of their possible need of relief. It was directed against the illegal and immoral means which they employed to gain their end. There will be, there is, equally general and emphatic approval of the employment of lawful and moral means to the same end. Indeed, there is an increasingly widespread and emphatic demand that there shall be such action taken as shall make America safe for industry, and shall free the public from the frequent menace and incessant fear of strikes, which place it between the upper and nether millstones of brute force.—Harvey's Weekly.

THE JOY OF WORKING

Extreme agitators preach theories which, followed to their logical conclusion, signify that all work is a gross hardship to be laid at the door of the "capitalist," the capitalist often being a man sprung from their own order. They would laugh in derision at Gray's simple words that "in every rank, great and small, 'tis industry supports us all." And as to Carlyle's doctrine that plenty of work is necessary to mental and spiritual, as well as physical health, that is a dogma to be denounced. Emerson once interpreted current thought when he laid it down that "it is the privilege of every human work which is well done to invest the doer with a certain haughtiness" — pride in achievement, in the rewards of industry and in the standard of home comfort and security attained. All those theories are now scouted by the apostle of the new age, as he regards himself. They belong, in his view, to a relatively dark age, when men believed in the salutary influence of labor, and sometimes even agreed with the old proverb of the monks that "work is prayer" — sweetening rest and inducing refreshing sleep.—London Daily Telegraph.

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

THE WHITE ROSE PRINCE

September, a hundred and seventy-four years ago, saw the coming of the White Rose Prince, one of the most picturesque, fascinating and beloved figures that ever flitted across the pages of history. In Scotland to this day, people talk of Prince Charlie as if they themselves had seen him riding down the High Street to Holyrood, who strewed the ground with carpet of white roses and waved their white cockade bonnets in an ecvstacy of devotion. It all reads like a fairy tale—those brief weeks of happiness and gaiety under James VIII., who cared no more than his White Rose Court that Edinburgh Castle was held against him, and that under its sheltering guns good Mr. Macvicar of the West Kirk prayed—"for the young man who comes seeking an earthly crown, may Heaven speedily send a Heavenly one." A Fairy Tale Court and a Fairy Tale Prince Charming, and then out went the candles and the singing, and the laughter died, and there was only Black Culloden to remember and—"the brave, the noble that have died in vain for me."—London Morning Post.

THE PRICE OF EGGS

Eggs are now selling at $1.20 a dozen in the city, but they are not being bought to the same extent as when the price was lower. How great a justification there is for the present price we do not know. There are always people with children in their families who will buy fresh eggs, no matter what the cost and to some extent it is this class which is responsible for perpetuating and increasng the price of the commodity. These people refuse to believe that eggs are fresh unless they are the highest priced. What is the extent of the profit being made, and who is deriving the lion's share of it in the egg industry on Vancouver Island, would probably be difficult matters to ascertain. It is certain, however, that the producers are not becoming wealthy. There are no outstanding instances of poultrymen profiteering. On the contrary, those who engage in the industry in this quarter of the world have to work long hours for slender returns. Since this is the case the bulk of the profits now being made must go to others. There is no irrefutable reason we know of why eggs should be retailed at $1.20 a dozen at the present time. It would be found that if everyone refused to buy them the price would drop within a few weeks.

Eggs, small and large, are sold at the same rate per dozen, whereas it would be a better plan if they were sold by weight. The standardized weight of a dozen eggs would be about 24 ounces, but now buyers of a dozen sometimes only get 16 ounces, or little more. There is no wish in the minds of sonsumers to ask for any concession which will jeapordize the industry, but there is a desire for fair treatment in cases where home industries are being encouraged. Poultrymen, no doubt, are in a position to tell us what should be a fair retail price for eggs at the present time by giving the information regarding what they are getting for the product. They should also be heard from on the question of selling eggs by weight instead of by the dozen. Statistics at this time would be of value to show the falling off there has been in the demand for eggs since the price reached $1.00 a dozen and upwards. There is no doubt that many have ceased to use eggs, either fresh or of the cold storage variety. How far this abstinence will have an ultimate effect on the industry is difficult to say, but it is an undoubted fact that the prevalent high price is having an influence in creating a growing belief that eggs need no longer be regarded as a necessary of life.—Colonist.

VALUES IT MORE THAN A FORTUNE

Power Gains Eighteen Pounds — Rheumatism Disappears After Taking Tanlac

"I consider what Tanlac has done for me to be worth more than a fortune," said George Power, of Halifax, N.S., while talking to the Tanlac representative a few days ago. Mr. Power lives at 20 1-2 Rottenberg St., Halifax, has lived in Nova Scotia all his life and is a well known employee of the Nova Scotia Tram and Power Co.

"I've actually gained eighteen pounds since taking Tanlac and I feel better in every way than I have in twenty-eight long years, and what's more I have spent hundreds and hundreds of dollars on medicines and never got a particle of good until I found Tanlac," continued Mr. ower.

"I had rheumatism in both my legs from the knees down, and in damp weather I just had to stay at home from work. My ankles bothered me too, and I don't believe anybody in the world ever suffered from rheumatism as bad as I did for it was just a sharp shooting pain that would go through my knees, down my legs and into my ankles like somebody was sticking a knife through me, and I would be in such agony that I would turn as white as a sheet. When these attacks came on me I wouldn't be able to sleep a wink but would roll and tumble all night long, and my joints would swell and my knees would be as stiff as a board and I couldn't walk a step for two or three days at a time and would be laid up at home flat on my back with my knees so stiff I couldn't bend them at all.

"I noticed where Tanlac was being highly recommended by people right here in Halifax, so I decided to try it. And I wouldn't take anything in the world for the good it has done me. If anybody don't believe that I am a well man, and that the rheumatism has left me entirely and that I never feel even a trace of it, just tell them to see me. My appetite has picked up and I have gained in weight, and feel better in every way and can sleep fine at night. Tanlac is the greatest thing I have ever seen, and I want you to publish this statement for I want everybody to know what this medicine will do."

TAX BACHELORS IS PROPOSED

"I will be frank and tell you that, in my opinion the preson who evolves a principle that will lead to an end of the struggle between capital and labor will achieve something which, next to the birth of the Saviour, will be the greatest gift to the world since the dawn of civilization," declared A. C. Flumerfelt, addressing the Rotary Club at Victoria the other day.

"We have not undertaken here to settle the matter," said Mr. Flumerfelt. "This is a problem which no one man nor organization should attempt to solve by individual effort. It will require everybody's thought and everybody's action to settle it; but we can start people thinking and that is our present purpose."

Mr. Flumerfelt declared himself in favor of fixing wages to meet the fluctuating cost of living, and also advocated co-operation between employer and employee to the extent of profit sharing along practical lines. For one thing he proposed a tax on unmarried men as a means of levelling incomes.

"I would like to see a tax put on every bachelor," said Mr. Flumerfelt. "We ought to put a premium on the married state. The country has got to have manhood; without it, labor and capital amount to nothing. All honor to the man with six children, even if he must suffer in the effort to keep his family sustained. He can at least feel that he is doing more for his community and for his country than the bachelor."

But Mr. Flumerfelt made it clear that industry could not be reorganized to benefit the married man. He said that it would be a physical and practical impossibility to attempt such a solution. No industry could afford to pay wages on the basis of the numerical strength of the employee's family.

Mr. Flumerfelt said it was important that the whole world should recognize the dominating fact that labor and capital could not get along without one another. It would be impossible to name either element as being the more important. It is like the question of whether the hen or the egg came first.

The origin and progress of labor and capital were briefly traced.

"Our civilization is an intricate, delicate and progressive structure," he said. "It is easily shaken. A strike in Chicago, a war in Europe, a crop failure in the West—these things do not simply affect their immediate territory, but have an influence that extends to the borders of civilization itself. Industry is just one big family. Nature is dual in all its operations. We have night and day, heat and cold, moisture and drought. The two factors that makes a complete whole in civilization—the two inseparable factors that make for progress are capital and labor. They must be married and united by that gift we call brains. To attain that unity we must educate. That is our opportunity for the general betterment of the race.

"Labor wants real benefits," he continued. "It doesn't matter how many dollars it earns, but it does matter how much can be obtained with those dollars in the way of the essentials of life. Labor doesn't want charity. It simply wants the ordinary necessities of life, and it has a right to demand them.

"We are standing now between two worlds. The war closed one great period in world history. We are now at the threshold of a new world. Never did civilization look forward to the future with such intense anticipation. Heaven alone knows what wll be the result if we don't reach a proper solution of our problems now. Remember that every man has a right to the opportunities and liberties of life. Then we will have the ultimate for human life—contentment."

W. H. Saunders, president of the Ayrton-Saunders Wholesale Drug Co. of Liverpool, employing 900 people, told the Rotary Club that the inauguration of a workers' association and of a welfare movement among the employees had prevented strikes in his plant for forty years. Attempts by outside forces to unionize the employees had failed because of the satisfaction with working conditions felt by all those on the payroll.

SITUATION EASIER IN MARITIME COAL MINES

Ottawa, Dec. 1.—The situation in the coal mines of the maritime provinces is improving. In all cases where trouble has been threatened the employers and employees have agreed to arbitrate and the necessary conciliation boards are now being named.

Go easy on the coal. A fool and his fuel are soon parted.—Ottawa Citizen.

PUBLICITY AND BOLSHEVISM

What better insurance against Bolshevik or other destructive propaganda than to give it full publicity? Seize a pamphlet written in Russian for the consumption of a few thousand aliens, translate it into good English, put it into all the English newspapers of the land and it immediately has a circulation of millions. For the most part these millions are steady going people with a stake in the community. Many of them own homes and businesses, big and small. Usually they have good jobs. Upwards of 50 per cent of our population is rural. In other words, these millions own something worth while — they have lands and buildings and kine. Are they prepared to take stock in an "ism" of one sort or another that is going to take away from them their worldly goods? How far are these people—the great majority of Canadians—going to follow Karl Marx, Engels, Joseph Deitzgen and the rest of them when in the last analysis it means the giving up of practically all they possess? Not far. The case of individuals who plead this sort of thing in Canada is going to be thrown out of the first court it reaches, which is the court of public opinion.

Now, the average run of men are not going to sit down and read the constitution of the Bolshevik Government of Russia as set forth by Lenine and the others, in order to find out what a poor thing it is when put into practice but will pay great attention to the fact that a certain coterie of Russian and other revolutionists propose, if they can, to level the jails, release the murderers, blow up such institutons as courts, record offices and the like, raid the banks and take away from the individual all his rights as to property Set these facts before the reader by means of a direct translation of the Bolshevik literature which is in actual circulation among the revolutionists on this Continent and you hit that reader below the belt. He begins to take notice. He sees things as they are. He may or may not take out an insurance policy against riot, but in any event he has assumed an attitude of mind which will stand him in even better stead; he has joined the great majority of people on the side of law and order.

Unquestionably, publicity is our greatest safeguard. Here in Canada we have quite a number of mealy-mouthed parlor Bolshevists who, when confronted with their utterances in the public prints, invariably spring forward to deny. To deny is their long suit, next to making absurd statements on the public platform. The Jimmy Simpsons yell for the red flag, but when the public yells in turn "Recant, you son of a gun," the Simpsons promptly recant. Publicity does the job.

By all means allow these people to talk. The more they talk the better. But be sure that the public prints give full accounts of the "doings." By such means the situation will not be aggravated, but, on the contrary, will be neutralized. If given full publicity, the agitator will easily make three enemies among the population to one friend, and that is quite sufficient for the needs at hand.—Saturday Night.

STRIKE LOSS IN ONE YEAR

Hamilton Times: Assuming the same relation between wages and value of output as shown in the Census of Production for 1917, strikes in Canada have caused a total loss in wages and output of workers and factories directly affected of close to $100,000,000, says the Canadian Reconstruction Association. This figure takes no account of the loss to factories indirectly affected through interruption in orders and curtailment of producton nor of the commercial and community loss through dislocation of business.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

COAL CREEK NOTES

The members of the Italian Society laid off work on Saturday last to accompany the remains of a brother Italian en route for Italy.

Arthur Arrowsmith arrived home from Fernie hospital, where he had been undergoing treatment for a poisoned foot.

The board of management of the Club are running a series of tournaments to commence on Dec. 12. Prizes will be given for billiards, pool, seven up, whist, checkers, etc.

A large number of Creekites attended "The School For Scandal" at the Grand theatre on Tuesday evening.

Harold Puckey was conveyed to the Fernie hospital on Wednesday evening suffering with appendicitis. Immediate operation was found necessary. We are glad to report success.

The bird of the elongated legs was seen hovering around Coyote St. on Wednesday morning, eventually depositing his bundle at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McNay. Mother and son doing well and pa wearing the smile that won't come off.

The kiddies are having the time of their lives skating and hockey playing on the creek.

The Ladies Chapter Loyal Order of Moose will meet at Ingram's hall on Monday evening next at 7.30 p.m. All sisters requested to attend.

COAL ARRANGEMENTS FOR EASTERN CANADA

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—Arrangements have been perfected by the fuel section of the Canadian Trade Commission for handling the emergency supply of coal released to Canada by the United States administration, and it is expected that the coal will begin crossing at border points within the next two days.

Officials of the fuel control office this morning emphasized the fact that no industries will secure coal at present until public utilities, such as hospitals have been taken care of. Then industries which are actually manufacturing foods will have the preference. The board offices have been literally swamped with applications for coal from different industries which wanted to place themselves in the "essential" class, but it was pointed out that these applications must go to the provincial administrators.

Those firms which seek to go over the heads of the provincial administrators by applying directly to Mr. Magrath will be among the disappointed, it was stated, for the provincial officials must pass on their claims for preference before the Dominion fuel controller will take any acton.

THE HEALTH COMMISSION

The Provincial Health Insurance Commission, comprised of E. S. H. Winn, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, chairman; Mrs. C. Spoffard, Victoria; D. McCallum, Victoria; and Dr. T. C. Green, New Westminster, arrived in the city on Wednesday evening direct from Penticton, where the last session was held. Although late in arriving evidence was taken dealing with the proposed question of state health insurance, mothers' pensions, maternity benefits and public health nursing, and based upon the nature of opinions advanced at these hearings, the commission will submit its report to the government with such recommendations for the enactment of legislation as will adequately meet with these important matters.

Representatives from various fraternal societies, Ladies Benevolent Society, G.W.V.A. Ladies Auxiliary, the miners organization, the Parent-Teachers Association, the medical profession, His Worship Mayor Uphill and many others [illegible] representatives of the fraternal [illegible]ders favored the principle of inaugurating a feasible state health control scheme and the present systems in vogue by the respective fraternal societies were thoroughly explained to the commission. A particularly urgent appeal was made for the immediate establishment within the province of an institution for the treatment of tuberculosis patients to relieve the present totally inadequate accommodation in this province. Chairman Winn assured those presenting this appeal that the commission would immediately convey same to the government with the necessary recommendation to give same immediate consideration.

With regard to public health nursing, it was the consensus of opinion by those appearing as witnesses that if this was properly supervised in communities by such as the Victorian Order of Nursing Sisters, it would alleviate undoubted present unsatisfactory conditions existing in almost every locality. During the session some of the witnesses took occasion to criticize the operation of the Workmen's Compensation Act, the inadequate amount paid to depend-

CRANBROOK FIRE LOSS

Fire at an early hour Wednesday morning completely destroyed the big slaughter house of the P. Burns Co., two miles from Cranbrook on the Wattsburg road. The company has suffered a severe loss, for in addition to the building being a mass of ruins, 34 carcasses of beef and 14 head of hogs were consumed by the fiery elements. The origin of the fire which is clothed in mystery, will never be known. Workmen were employed in the building the previous day and left the building in perfectly safe condition.

The fire was discovered by people living in the neighborhood the entire building being alight and beyond control. Everything of value was consumed by the fierceness of the conflagration. In speaking with Mr. Haman, local manager for the company, he stated that absolutely no light could be thrown upon the situation so far as the fire's origin was concerned. The building was closed at about 6.30 and everything appeared to be safe. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $15,000.—Courier.

NOTED SPEAKERS ARE COMING TO FERNIE

Rev. J. H. Wright, of Vancouver, will be the speaker at the United Church on Sunday evening. He is the first of the delegates expected to discuss the Forward Movement at the United Church.

Capt. Wright is not only an able speaker but a soldier with an enviable war record. Early in the war he with his son entered the ranks to do service with a coast unit. After considerable experience as a soldier and fighter he was chosen as a chaplain.

Rev. Dr. W. J. Sipprell, Vancouver, and George Bell, M.L.A., of Victoria, will also be in Fernie on Dec. 17. They will be the speakers at the campaign meeting of the Forward Movement for that date at 8.30 p.m. Both these noted speakers are well known throughout the province and bespeak a large audience.

The Forward Movement in this day is everyone's great opportunity to help make a better day for this "Our Native Land."

CITY FATHERS IN SESSION

The ante semi-final meeting of the present city council was held last evening with His Worship Mayor Uphill presiding, and Aldermen Graham, Gates, Robichaud, Hunter and Beck in attendance.

The minutes of the former regular meeting were adopted.

Upon presentement of a communication from the Secretary of the Federal Board of Commerce requesting a recommendation from the council for a local correspondent to represent the Board, upon regular motion by Aldermen Gates and Graham the nominee for the appointment was Fred G. Perry. The purpose of having local correspondents throughout the Dominion is that the Board of Commerce administer "The Combines and Fair Prices Act." The objects are the restraint of unlawful combines and the prevention of the demand for excessive profits for necessaries. The purpose is that persons having bona fide complaints of the exaction of excessive profits, or hoarding or of the existence of improper combines, should be able to notify some person on the spot who will then transfer the matter to this Board for consideration and action, if deemed necessary. There is absolutely no remuneration awarded the local correspondents.

Dr. Corsan advised the council that he required to be absent from the city for ten days and suggested his nominee, Dr. Bonnell, act as medical health officer during the interim. This was approved.

The formal motions in connection with the forthcoming civic elections as follows were regularly adopted: First, nominations for mayor, six aldermen, two school trustees and one police commissioner will be received at the City Hall on Monday, Jan. 12, 1920, between the hours of 1.00 p.m. and 3.00 p.m. local time. Second, Arthur J. Moffatt was appointed returning officer. Third: In the event of an election polling will take place in thecouncil chamber, city hall, on Thursday, Jan. 15, 1920, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. local time.

The accounts of the police commission and finance committee were approved for payment.

In view of the date for the next regular meeting falling on Christmas day the next regular meeting will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 23.

The Health and Relief Committee as a precaution in the event of a smallpox epidemic breaking out here have leased a building for two months or longer if same is required for use as an emergency isolation hospital. His Worship announced he had approached the Government Agent with a view in event of any epidemic breaking out here to have the provincial government bear a share of any extra cost. A letter was received from the Provincial Secretary in reply to this request stating that the government could assume absolutely no responsibility for expenditures of this nature as they were only permitted to allow the regular rate for cases brought into the city from outside. His Worship considered this a flat turn down and so expressed himself.

The city engineer reported that during the recent cold spell his department had been besieged with requests to thaw water pipes, due to the general misunderstanding regarding the motion passed by the council some weeks ago, whereby authority was given the waterworks department to thaw pipes which might become frozen underground at a fixed charge. This had been understood by many to apply to any frozen pipes, which is not the case.

The suggestion was made that something should be done with regard to the unsatisfactory method of retail coal deliveries. It was stated by some that orders had been placed many weeks ago and same were yet unfilled; also in some cases poeple who had entirely run out of fuel were obliged to hire a delivery rig load and unload the coal, all of which was additional cost, as no allowance whatever was given for making their own deliveries. His Worship will endeavor to see what can be done with regard to hastening the deliveries as in many cases the lack of fuel is causing very serious inconvenience.

The fuel conservation attachment at present being given a trial in the heating plant at the city hall is apparently giving satisfaction, although sufficient time since its instalment has not elapsed for same to have been thoroughly tested and the saving in fuel as per the guarantee proved.

THE WEATHER

The weather for the past week has been the lowest on record for December, the thermometer reaching the lowest mark last night when it dropped to 32 below zero. The reports from the prairie have been around 50 below all week but wires today indicate a break in the cold spell.

Following are the thermometer readings since the 8th:

RED ELEMENT HOLD MEETING

Monday was an idle day at the mines, it being an agreement holiday, and the radicals of the union took the opportunity to once more promulagtee the idea of the One Big Union. Dick Beard, of Michel, who was recently elected president of the organization, was in town and seems to have persuaded the local to again return to the O.B.U. fold. What the men hope to gain by throwing in their lot with a bunch of I.W.W. reds it seems hard to understand, for there is one thing certain, that neither the operators or the government or the public generally will for one moment tolerate the O.B.U. organization. If the United Miners withdraw from District 18 and the reds spring a strike, which seems to be their one object in life, it will last about four months, when every semblance of a miners union will be crushed and the men will be compelled to accept almost any terms offered.

BIG STRIKE IS SETTLED

Indianapolis, Dec. 10.—The strike of 400,000 bituminous coal miners of the country was settled here today when the main committee of the United Mine Workers of America agreed to accept the plan offered by President Wilson.

The plan provides that all the miners shall return to work at once at an increase of 14 per cent in wages; that a commission of three persons be appointed to investigate and determine within 60 days, if possible, a basis for a new wage agreement. The conference was made up of international and district officials and members of the executive board and scale committee of the organization.

Washington, Dec. 10. — Representatives of the United Mine Workers of America voted today down a proposal to reject the strike settlement offer made by President Wilson, according to information reaching Washington from Indianapolis, where the union officials are in session.

A second motion that the president's proposal be submitted to a referendum vote of the members of the union, which would involve a delay of weeks, also was said to have been voted down.

The action today ends a tieup of the soft coal industry of more than five weeks duration and which was more far reaching in its effects than any other in the history of the country. As a result of the strike the country was fast approaching a shut down of industry and widespread suffering among its 100,000,000 inhabitants.

The decision came after many hours of debate in which the radicals element made incendiary speeches against operators and others interested in settlement of the strike and for a time threatened to defeat efforts to settle the strike. The conservative element, led by Acting President Lewis and Secretary-Treasurer Wm. Green, gained control of the situation and succeeded in putting down practically all opposition by the time the question came to a vote.

One concession was made to the radicals. The convention agreed to the calling of a general convention of the miners at a future date, at which time the action of the general committee and the reasons for it will be fully explained. The opponents of acceptance of the president's plan made their fight principally on the theory that only a general convention of the mine

HOW THE RAISED THE GREAT FLAGSTAFF

A piece of British Columbia is now set up above London. The huge Douglas pine given by the Government of British Columbia to Kew Gardens has been safely raised at last, and stands erect and firm, eighteen and a half tons of splendid timber still in tree form, rising higher than the Monument, and more than half as high again as Nelson's Column in Trafalgar Square. It is the biggest flagstaff in England.

The last chapter in the story of this famous flagstaff tree, on its way from its lonely home overlooking the Pacific to its final glory of overlooking London, was an exciting as any in the tale.

No less than $7500 was allowed as the cost of rearing it. As a beginning a tower of scaffolding 100 feet high had to be built up, strong enough to hold the machinery for hauling the monster slowly into an upright position.

Twice while the tree was rising there was a thrilling likelihood of a great accident that might have broken down the workmen's lofty staging, and even snapped the great tree in its fall.

Just before the base of the tree slipped into its socket one of the blocks that helped control it began to slip, and for a time there was a fierce struggle for safety between the engineers and the unfaithful block, and again, at the very last, as the last heave was about to be made, a shout from one of the workmen gave warning that a stay was slackening. But both these things were put right, and then, majestically and safely, the great flagstaff came to rest, plumb and true, and began its survey of the great city.

Operations Avoided

The Possibility of Fatal Results Prevented

In kidney troubles, the surgeon's knife should be the last resort. Kidney trouble can be relieved in a wonderful way by treating in time with the most efficient of all preparations for toning up and rebuilding weak and diseased kidneys—Gin Pills.

Gin Pills are free from all trace of alcohol. They contain Juniper and seven other diuretics and antiseptics. Much time and profound study was given to perfecting the formula on which Gin Pills are prepared and they furnish quick and positive relief, immediately attacking the congested tissue, destroying the poison, soothing, healing and building up the emaciated and weakened organ so that it can take up its work of purifying the blood with efficiency.

Once the kidneys are made normal, the pains, rheumatism, swollen joints, and general debility disappear, the stone or gravel in the bladder are eliminated, and good health and buoyant spirits return. All druggists and dealers sell Gin Pills at 50c per box, with a guarantee to return your money if you do not receive relief. Free sample on request. Address:—

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

MRS. M. PECK HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS

Nine Years' Trouble Ends And She Is Well and Happy Now

"I have gained twenty-five pounds since I commenced taking Tanlac, and the troubles that have been making life miserable for me for nine years have been completely overcome," said Mrs. Minnie Peck, who lives at 9874-82nd Ave., Edmonton, the other day.

"When I commenced taking Tanlac," continued Mrs. Peck, "I was so weak and run down that I was hardly able to get about. Everything I ate disagreed with me, and I would suffer for two or three hours after every meal on account of gas forming and bloating me up. I would have severe cramping pains in the pit of my stomach. I was very nervous, so much that the slamming of a door would upset me terribly, and a good night's sleep was out of the question for me. I would actually get out of bed every morning feeling more tired and worn out than I did the night before. This condition just kept getting worse all the time until I got to where I was compelled to stay in bed most of the time.

"Then I decided to give Tanlac a trial, and it's the honest truth, I commenced to feel better before I had finished my first bottle of this wonderful medicine, and my condition just kept getting better until I am now as well as I ever was in my life. I never have a sign of stomach trouble now, and I have a fine appetite and eat just anything I want. I have gotten back all my strength and can easily do all my housework. My nerves are in perfect condition and I sleep like a child every night. It is simply wonderful the way I have gained in weight, and in fact, I just feel fine all the time. Yes, sir, Tanlac is a wonderful medicine and as long as I live I will never lose an opportunity to say a good word for it."

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Once on the edge of a pleasant pool,
Under the bank where 'twas dark and cool,
Where bushes over the water hung
And rushes nodded and grasses swung,
Just where the creek flowed outer the bog,
There lived a grumpy and mean old frog,
Who'd sot all day in the mud and soak,
And just do nothing but croak and croak,
Till a blackbird hollered, "I say, you know,
What is the matter down there below?
Are you in trouble or pain or what?"
The frog says, "Mine is an orful lot;
Nothin' but mud and dirt and slime
For me to look at just all the time.
It's a dirty world," so the old fool spoke.
Croakity, croakity, croakity, croak.

"But you're looking down," the blackbird said.
"Look at the blossoms overhead.
Look at the lovely summer skies,
Look at the bees and buterflies,
Look up, old fellow. Why bless your soul,
You're looking down in a muskrat hole."
But still with a gurgling sob and choke,
The blamed old critter would only croak.
And a wise old turtle who boarded near,
Sez to the blackbird, "Friend, see here,
Don't shed no tears over him, for he
Is low-down jest 'cause he likes to be:
He's one of them kind of chumps that's glad
Ter be so miserable-like and sad.
I'll tell you something tha tain't no joke,
Don't waste yer sorrer on folks that croak."

Provincial Constable Dryden the Hawkshaw) of Waldo, was in Elko this week checking up some Flathead Indians from Dayton Creek, Montana. You have to pass in the night and take the back trail if you want to get by Alfred, the eagle-eye.

E. S. Dickey, of the Conrad National Bank, Kalispell, Montana, was in Elko this last week, leasing their timber limits to Alex. McMillan, contractor, who started logging operations some days ago, and will start shipping to the Adolph Lumber Co. at Baynes Lake this week. Mr. Dickey left Monday for Kalispell via the Great Northern Pick Em Flowers By the Way Limited.

Jim Thistlebeak says that soap should soon take a drop as the Indians have quit washing for the rest of the winter.

Now just take a long breath and prepare for the big Chritmas Tree for the school children at Elko on the 19th, which is going to be the biggest affair ever held in the Old Historic Burg. Variety will be the strongest feature of this Christmas Tree entertainment. There will be singing, dancing and enough comedy to keep the audience in good humor. Everybody welcome, Friday, Dec. 19 in the opera house. You will miss it if you miss it. Nothing short of sickness or the sheriff should stop you coming to Elko on the 19th.

Happy Jack Hammand received a great reception at the supper and dance tendered him in Elko last week in the opera house, which was comfortably filled. A big crowd cam up from Waldo and Baynes Lake. The Roosville String Band, assisted by Mrs. Richard Hirtz on the piano, suppiled the music. Fred Roo was chairman of the evening, while Dick Roo acted as floor manager. The decorations were more than appreciated by the returned soldiers and the guest of the evening. In a snappy little speech the chairman told how Jack lost his leg in the big drive. He was later presented by the committee, Messrs. Birnie and Gorman, with a purse of silver and the good wishes of all present. A vote of thanks was tendered the committee and the ladies for the excellent manner in which the whole affair had been carried out.

Jim Thistlebeak says he hates to mention it, but there are some people so mean that if they had the measles they wouldn't give you one of the spots.

INVENTORY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA WATER POWERS

According to the comprehensive report just issued by the Commission of Conservation on the Water Powers of British Columbia, it is estimated that 3,000,000, twenty-four hour hore-power may be developed from the waters of the province. This estimate is admittedly not conclusive and may be misleading, especially if compared with other totals where "no real basis for comparison has been established." The mountain systems, glaciers, snow fields and widely variant precipitation make the power question in British Columbia an unique one and render difficult comparisons with other provinces. There are already about 250,000 horse power developed, also estimated on a 24-hour basis. For various reasons a number of the possibilities on such rivers as the Fraser, Thompson, Skeena and Naas cannot be economically developed under present conditions. Moreover, it was not possible to make adequate estimates of the power potentialities of the more northerly portions of the province. As the country becomes more developed considerable additional power may be found available.

As every engineer knows, it is necessary to obtain records of stream flow, precipitation and natural storage conditions, before attempting to estimate the amount of potential power. Power possibilities at present must be based on the minimum flow of streams. In many instances artificial storage may be used economically and perform a double function of reducing floods and increasing the amount of available power.

The report deals at length with historical aspects of water legislation in British Columbia. A useful feature is the chronological key to water legislation in British Columbia from 1858 to 1917. The chapter devoted to power development discusses the subject from an historical standpoint which adds materially to its value and interest.

Alarge amount of stream flow data has been assembled and carefully analyzed. Meterological data has been compiled with a similar care, a feature that adds much to the value of the report from a technical standpoint.

A convenient set of hydraulic conversion tables as well as a list of benchmarks on the Vancouver Island and Pacific Mainland coasts are given in the appendices. As a work for reference purposes the report is greatly enhanced by the inclusion of a full bibliography and an index.

While relating particularly to British Columbia, this publication presents a thorough examination of the economic, legal and other problems common to the efficient development of water resources throughout the Dominion.

BACK ACHE

Limber Up With Penetrating Hamlin's Wizard Oil

A harmless and effective preparation to relieve the pains of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lame Back and Lumbago is Hamlin's Wizard Oil. It penetrates quickly, drives out soreness, and limbers up stiff aching joints and muscles.

You have no idea how useful it will be found in cases of every day ailment or mishap when there is need of an immediate healing antiseptic application as in cases of sprains, bruises, cuts, burns, bites and stings.

Get it from druggists for 30 cents. If not satisfied return the bottle and get your money back.

Home, Sweet Home

A wanderer stood in the darkened street, looking through the window at a happy family within. The scene pictured the longing in his soul for the home he did not have.

The man slipped away unseen, and one day wrote a song—the song of his soul. And this song became immortal; the most beautiful and pathetic heart-song that the world has ever known.

The man was John Howard Payne, and the song is "Home, Sweet Home."

workers had power to call off the strike.

Two statements were given out following adjournment of the conference by Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer.

Mr. Palmer's first statement follows:

"The coal strike is settled as the government wanted it settled. When Messrs. Lewis and Green came to see me Saturday I restated what the government's position had been from the beginning and insisted upon their acquiescence. They finally agreed to it. They have persuaded the officers of their organization that the situation calls for compliance with the court's order and the government's wishes and I am certain that all the miners in the country will cheerfully agree in the decision of their leaders. I desire publicly to commend the wise and patriotic action of Mr. Lewis, Mr. Green and their associates.

"I am, of course, gratified at the outcome, which is one the entire country will approve. Mining will be fully resumed at once, the danger of distress and suffering during the winter is passed, the authority of the government has been recognized and upheld, the supremacy of the law has been established and a precedent of incalculable value has been set for the peaceful, orderly and lawful adjustment of industrial disputes."

A supplemental statement issued this evening by Mr. Palmer follows:

"The miners at their meeting this afternoon accepted the president's proposal exactly as written, and I understood the operators committee have announced their acceptance of it. It provides for the immediate general resumption of operations in all districts upon the basis which obtained in October 31, 1919, except as to wages, which are to be 14 per cent higher than at that date. This means that the men shall be taken back to work in all mines in the positions and upon the terms of their contracts of employment then existing and it is confidently expected that the mine owners will accede to the government's earnest request that the status quo of October 31 be promptly re-established in order that peaceful relations between employer and employee in all parts of the mining fields may be immediately resumed. I am asking the governors of all coal mining states to cooperate in the effort to bring this about."

THE HEALTH COMMISSION

ent widows and families being one objection, while Wm. Robson, representing the miners, was very emphatic that if the proposed legislation placed the Compensation Board in charge of the administration, his organization would be strongly opposed to any system. Chairman Winn agreed with Mr. Robson that the Compensation Board should not be required to assume these additional duties. This same witness caused some amusement when stating his qualiification to appear. When asked whom he represented he stated, "Gladstone Local Miners Union." The chairman further inquired with whom it was affiliated and upon receiving a halting reply, "United Miners," pressed the matter by the following question: "Is Gladstone Local Union not affiliated with the One Big Union?" Witness replied, "He guessed it was now but when the resolution authorizing him to appear was passed it was with the International." Further crossfire with a view to enlightenment on this matter was terminated by an interruption from A. I. Fisher, M.L.A., for this riding, who informed the chairman that probably the nature of such examination was somewhat embarrassing for some of those present and in any event hardly within the scope of the commission's authority. The miners, however, according to the evidence, concurred in the theory of health insurance and the subsidiary departments outlined. They do not approve of the English Act administration or "panel system" and insist upon the right to choose their own medical attendant.

Mayor Uphill testified that in his opinion, speaking particularly of local conditions and communities similarly situated under the present system where the workers contract for their medical aid and actually are the employers, that it was a more satisfactory method as better service can thus be attained on account of same being controlled directly within the respective confined communities, while under state control the units would be almost too large for prompt and adequate attention. The question was asked in the event of state insurance being invoked how would patronage be avoided, to which Chairman Winn responded that whatever recommendation was made it certainly would give every person the right to choose their own medical attendant. Frank Brindley of the miners thereupon interjected he presumed this question would be one of the chief planks in the next political campaign, to which the chairman spiritedly replied he had no politics now and that irrespective of political inclinations the purpose of the commission was to get the views of the public at large and recommend enactment of such legislation for state health insurance as would enhance the general public welfare.

The Commission proceeded from here to Cranbrook, and will hold sessions daily in the principal centres throughout the province, which will occupy until about Jan. 20, and then their report will be submitted to the next session of the legislature, which it is believed will convene early in February.

THOSE PROPHECIES

Weather prophets and astronomical seers are busy these days spreading the wildest alarms with their talk of the terrible things that are coming, and if we are in any way a nervous people we shall all be stampeded into a state of hysteria. Fortunately however, taking us as a whole, we are a staid and sober people and refuse to be thrown into a state of nerves, prophesy the weather students and the readers of the movements of the planets ever so. We are not credulous and in this there is safety, else we should be the means of our own undoing without waiting for the "cataclysms" that are going to overwhelm us.

The Clerk of the Weather is an individual too full of vagaries and too mysterious to let mere mortals know beforehand what he has in store for them. We might get a certain amount of information by studying the signs, but to speak with any degree of certainty as to what is coming is to essay too much. As to what is going to happen in the course of a few days when certain planets line up, we have heard of such things in various fashions before. But in the sequel, we can afford to take what Professor Porta says with a grain of salt. We have been warned before this to look out for Haley's comet, which would be making a beeline to the earth with an awful shock to follow, but Haley's comet has come and gone and no particular disastrous consequences have followed; the old earth is still spinning round the sun, and we who are on it are still moving along with it.

The portends of which we are warned are interesting, there is no need to be unduly alarmed over them. These kinds of prophecies come in cycles and the world has yet to be shown that they amounted to anything.—Exchange.

THE FINAL APPEAL

Do your Christmas shopping early, do it early, mother dear, buy those gift cigars for father ere the cabbage leaves are sere; get the fancy ties for brother, all hand painted, nice and sweet, while the holly's in the window and the Jimcracks fill the street. Buy the cook an inlaid poker, lift the milkman from the dumps, get h'm, mother dear, some ribbon—pale pink ribbon for his pumps. Let us then be up and doing, bright and early, mother dear; we must buy cut glass and china for our brother's Christmas cheer; we must do our shopping early, buy the toys and pizened paint, so that dearest little W'llie may curl up and be a saint. Hook me up, my dearest mother,; put my state wide hat on straight; we must hasten, we must hurry, or we'll be—alas—too late; ere the celluloid cuff boxes and the plush-bound tomes of lore, and the four-cent Christmas greetings all are gone for evermore. So let's hustle, dearest mother, let us swiftly hit the pike; to our Christmas shopping early let us make a gentle hike.—Walt Mason.

Stanley Norton, of Newgate, spent several days in the city this week.

Dr. Corsan left yesterday for a ten day trip to Victoria.

Buy your Xmas presents at the Ladies Guild Bazaar on Wednesday, Dec. 17.

Mrs. M. A. Kastner gave a tea on Thursday afternoon in honor of Mrs. John Barber.

Judge Thompson heard several applications in chambers at Fernie yesterday.

W. R. Wilson and R. M. Young, of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., are in Calgary on business today.

Owing to the extremely cold weather the carnival at the skating rink has been postponed.

Indications point to the fact that the epidemic of mumps is gradually abating, although there are a large number of pupils out of school yet.

Xmas presents big, little and otherwise, novelties of all descriptions to be had at the Ladies Guild Bazaar on Wednesday, Dec. 17.

Any person having articles for the Ladies Guild sale kindly leave at the Rectory or at Mrs. F. C. Lawe's not later than Monday.

The cold weather has evidently put a crimp in the dance craze as there has not been one pulled off for more than a week.

Miss Watts, matron of the Fernie Hospital, has resigned her position and left town, leaving behind a host of friends.

The regular meeting of the I.O D.E. will be held in the Reading Rooms of the G.W.V.A. on Saturday, Dec. 13, at 3 p.m.

Died—In the Fernie Hospital, on Monday, Dec. 8th, Nellie Brown, aged 15 years, beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, Coal Creek.

John Adair, formerly manager of the Home Bank here, and who has resided in Sudbury for the past few years, has been transferred to Toronto. He is with the Sterling Bank now.

The G.W.V.A., assisted by the W.A. G.W.V.A., will give a Christmas Tree and Party for the children and members of both associations on Dec. 30. 6 to 10 o'clock. All members with their children cordially invited.

Doctor Barber thinks he has a kick coming because we stated he was leaving Fernie with a comfortable fortune. We don't know what he considers a comfortable fortune but most people would be glad to have half his stake.

The Ingram Cup competition at the Curling rink is proceeding rapidly and will be finished in a few days. The fight seems to be between Jas. Johnston, Tom Beck, Archie Corrie, Tom Prentice, Guy Johnston and E. K. Stewart.

Fred Perry returned on Wednesday from Winnipeg, where he was a witness in connection with the trial of the strike leaders. He expects to have to return in January. Fred took the minutes of the O.B.U. convention in Calgary, which is alleged to have been one of the chief factors in the Winnipeg trouble.

The Ladies Aid of the United Church gave a social evening on Tuesday last in honor of Mrs. Jas. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. C. Spence, two of their members who are leaving Fernie shortly. Each of the ladies was presented with a beautiful piece of jewelry as a token of the respect in which they are held by their fellow members.

Gladstone Local Union at a recent meeting passed the following resolution re the Workmen's Compensation Act: Now, whereas we, as a labor organization, are not satisfied with the present method of administration of compensation and think that the act is not administered in the spirit in which it was framed, view with suspicion any attempt of the compensation board to formulate any scheme which may result in autocratic control of so-called beneficial legislation, and resolve that a committee be appointed by this meeting to carefully watch our interests at the meeting of the commission.

All is quiet on the surface in connection with municipal matters. While no definite announcement has been made it is understood generally that G. G. Henderson will offer himself as a candidate for chief magistrate in opposition to Mayor Uphill. There was some talk of ex-Mayor George Thomson again taking the arena but it has died out. Mr. Henderson is man of keen business ability and being an old newspaper man has quite an extensive knowledge of the political game and if he decides to run Mr. Uphill will not have the walk-over which his general popularity has given him in the past.

J. G. Billings, of Fernie, was in Nelson on Wednesday.

Wm. Potter was elected checkweighman by the miners of Fernie the other day.

Inspector W. L. Fernie returned on Wednesday from a visit to West Kootenay points.

A marriage license was issued this week to John D. Jenkins and Miss Marie Nasek, of Michel.

Jas. Marshall, who has been ill in the Fernie Hospital for several days, is able to be around again.

J. R. Pollock spent a few days in the city this week. He was on his way from Spokane to Calgary.

Tim Boyce, local telephone inspector, has resigned. Otto Gray, of Cranbrook, has been appointed to his position.

Dr. and Mrs. Barber left today for Portland, Ore., where they will spend a few days before going on to California.

Billy Robson's smiling face is once more in our midst. We understand he has been on a secret mission throughout District 18 for some weeks.

The Annual Bazaar of the Ladies Guild of Christ Church will be held in the basement of the church on Wednesday, Dec. 17, from 3.30 to 6.

The annual general meeting and election of officers of the G.W.V.A. will take place on Thursday, Dec. 18. Any member who is not more than six months in arrears can vote at this election. See Sec. 22, Art. 3.

The prizes in the Ingram Cup curling competition are now on display in the window of the Club Cigar Store. The Cup and four boxes of Pathfinder cigars are donated by W. A. Ingram and go together. Outside of this there are five sets of prizes, one set for the winning rink in each of the five sections.

On Thursday, the 18th, there will be a very special meeting in the Salvation Army hall at 8 p.m., conducted by Brigadier McLean of Vancouver. This service will take in several different items, one being the enrollment of some Junior soldiers, also some transfers to the Senior corps from the Junior corps. Don't forget to come in good time.

The regular meeting of the W.A. G.W.V.A. will be held on Tuesday evening, 16th, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance requested to make final arrangements for the Xmas Tree for the members and children of the G. W.V.A. and the W.A.G.W.V.A., which will be held from 6 o'clock, Tuesday, Dce. 30th. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Hamer and Mrs. Cowper Stephenson.

The civic voters list for 1920 has been printed. There are over nine hundred names on it, an increase of more than two hundred over last year, which shows that rather a keen interest has developed in connection with the coming municipal fight. A strong citizens' committee is working quietly for a ticket which will come out for a closed town. They say the lid must be sealed down tight.

The first meeting of the Women's Missionary Society in connection with the United church was held in the basement of the church on Tuesday afternoon. There was a good attendance. Mrs. Harvie was in charge of the meeting and gave a very descriptive paper on the vastness, richness and opportunities of Canada, with a special appeal for workers in the great harvest field of Canada to help the strangers and win souls for Jesus. At the close seven members were enrolled.

FORMER FERNIE GIRL SINGS IN TORONTO

The Toronto Globe of Saturday last contains the following reference to Miss Penelope Davies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Davies, formerly of Fernie, B.C.:

Everyone in the very large audience at the Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon was entirely charmed with Miss Penelope Davies, who came up from New York to sing for the Women's Musical Club. Those who are highly educated musically were charmed not alone by her personality and the range of her mellow voice, but by her breath control and expression, while those who are not highly educated musically, but love sweet sound, were captured by her personality and the throbbing sweetness in her tones. Miss Davies wore a simple, flowing frock of pale pink crepe de chene and a quaint old comb in her softly- piled hair, the bouquet of orchids which she carried when she first appeared, finding companions as the program progressed and flowers, roses and florr of the house. The singer was fortunate in her accompanist, Mr. Bryson Trehrne, whao was interned at Ruhleben with Dr. Ernest MacMillan, and the meeting between the two musicians yesterday was a cordial one. It was a great pleasure for the members of the club also, to see the artist to whom they had sent a piano during the days of his imprisonment. The club had as guest of honor, Mrs. E. C. Drury, wife of the Premier of Ontario, who stole half an hour from a busy day, not only with her own private affairs, but with little entertainments given in her honor, to listen to music, of which she is very fond.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, of Coal Creek, wish to extend their thanks to the doctors and nurses at the Fernie Hospital; also to the numerous friends who were so kind to their daughter, Nellie, during the illness which terminated in her death on Monday, Dec. 8th.

SETTLEMENT NEAR IN MINE DISPUTE

Sydney, N.S., Dec. 9.—"We had a splendid meeting, the utmost harmony prevailed and as far as I can see there will be an amicable adjustment of the wage difference between the United Mine Workers of America and the Dominion Coal Co.," said a United Mine Worker official at the close of this afternoon's conference, at which the standardization of wages for the miners of Nova Scotia was discussed. This morning the conciliating board, composed of Dr. Clarence McKinnon of Pinehill college as chairman, W. E. Thompson of Halifax representing the company, and J. C. Waters representing the miners, held its first session.
