GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

HOW YOU CAN TELL GENUINE ASPIRIN

BAYER

There is only one Aspirin, that marked with the "Bayer Cross"—all other tablets are only acid imitations.

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" have been prescribed by physicians for nineteen years and proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages, can be had at any drug store. Made in Canada.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company, Ltd., will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

SEEK EXPERIENCES OF SETTLERS IN CANADA

In order that the department of immigration and colonization may have at its command authentic accounts of the experiences of successful settlers in various parts of Canada it has decided to offer cash prizes for letters or articles not exceeding two thousand words written by settlers in each of the nine Canadian provinces. The articles will be judged by a committee to be appointed by Hon. J. A. Calder, minister of immigration and colonization, and should be mailed not later than Ferbuary 14th, 1920, to the director of publicity for the department. Three cash prizes will be given, one of $75, one of $50 and one of $25, in each of the nine provinces.

It is explained that the competition is not a literary contest, the official announcement stating that:—"Literary style, correct spelling, etc., will not be considered essential. Tell your story in your own words." It is believed that the procuring of a number of graphic and truthful stories of how success has been won from the soil in all parts of the Dominion will do much to contribute to a future movement to Canada of the right class of settlers.

Full details of the competition are given on a poster hanging up in every postoffice throughout Canada.

MANY THRILLING FEATS

With the coming Pathe release of "Wolves of Kultur," the fifteen episode serial, Saturday, Dec. 20th, at the Isis theatre, Charles Hutchinson will be seen at his best in the role of the hero of this intensely dramatic story.

He is considered the most extraordinary reel-actor-stunt-man on the screen, and will demonstrate some thrills that will make the pulse quicken and the heart leap in any person with real red blood in his veins.

A perilous leap from a high cliff, that seemingly spells death in the attempt. A terrific rough and tumble fight in which la Savatte, the French defence, is used; a horse riding feat that smacks of the skill and agility of the horseman of the western plains; a wrestling match that menas life or death for the hero, and and under-water fight that has never been equalled on the screen, are only a few of the perilous hazards that Mr. Hutchinson lends to the realism of the story.

His stunts are not the only thing that win his audience for he is a most likeable hero and acts the part with a trueness to technical detail that stamps him as one of the best actors in the film world.

GREAT WOMAN'S PLAY

"The Unknown Love" is a woman's play—one of the most powerfully appealing that has ever been given to the screen, and it is glorified by beautiful sentiment. Reviewers have said that Leonce Perret in this big production which is released as a Pathe Special, far surpasses his notable achievement in "Lafayette, We Come;" for, here he has created, directed and produced a picture play so human, so instinct with the beautiful things of the soul that its appeal is universal. Add to this the personalities of beautiful Dolores Cassinelli and the strong, forceful E. K. Lincoln and the result is an ideal combination of excellence.

Every women—and every man, too—should see this play, which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday. Women, whose hearts have been touched by war, whose compassion or love has been stirred by the great tragedy, will behold this splendid story and give this affirmation.

It is a woman's story from beginning to end, of her sympathies, of her dreams and of her love awakened by a written word. The heroine is of all countries—the Eternal Woman, who can love a beautiful scentiment even more than she loves a man, and may love a man even beyond the hope of Heaven.

"ELMO THE MIGHTY"

Elmo Lincoln, the wonderful star of "Tarzan of the Apes," will be seen in his first serial, "Elmo the Mighty" at the Orpheum Theatre, beginning Friday and Saturday, today and tomorrow.

The serial, which is to be released by Universal, deals with the efforts of a forset ranger, Capt. Elmo Armstrong, to rout a band of timber thieves, who are persecuting Lucille Gray (Grace Cunard), the daughter of the Western manager of a great timber syndicate.

The news that "Tarzan" is to return to the screen in a serial, which will give him unparalleled opportunities for displaying the physical prowess that made "Tarzan of the Apes" a picture memorable in photoplay annals, will be hailed with delight by the picture-loving public.

"Tarzan" and its successor, "The Romances of Tarzan," were among the most popular films ever exhibited and through them Elmo Lincoln became famous. His good work in "Intolerance" was recalled, and his reputation later was enhanced by his masterly portrayal of "The Blacksmith of Louvain" in "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin."

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the callouses, without soreness or irritation. Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it

HOCKEY

The City Hockey League is now well under way. Up to date three games of a 12 game schedule have been played. The boys are giving a good account of themselves as they are fast getting into condition and keeping the comparatively small few hockey enthusiasts, who have braved the anything but pleasant weather of late, for watching hockey, on their toes all the time. The line-up for the Fernie team will be picked from the four league teams and the league is organized so as to get the best kind of practice possible. On Christmas night the League is holding a dance for the purpose of getting teams in from outside points.

On Friday last the Monarchs went down to defeat at the hands of the Millionaires to the tune of 5-0. The game was fast and clean and play was not as one-sided as the score would indicat e,the breaks being against the Monarchs, who would time after time make rushes only to lose the puck in front of the goal or give the net guardian a weak shot to stop.

On Monday night before a small crowd who muffled up well to keep warm, the Monarchs done a comeback and handed the Nationals, who having won their exhibition game in the League, a hard fought set back by the close score of 3-2. The game was speedy all the time and gave the spectator all he would wish for at a hockey match. Play was somewhat rougher than the previous games, each team being bent on winning, and consequently to stop the other at any cost. The score was tied twice the Monarchs scoring the last goal during the last two minutes of play.

Next week we will publish the League standing and a revised schedule to meet the requirements of the holiday season. Tonight the Shamrocks will meet the Millionaires in their first clash and with the ifs and buts as to who will win and results of same, it would seem as if the championship hung in the balance.

On Monday the Millionaires will meet the Nationals. Don't forget the days and come out and boost and give the boys encouragement. Games are played before skating from 7 to 8 p.m.

The following is a clipping from the Nelson News, and in all probability Fernie fans will have the pleasure of seeing the coast boys in action if inducement can be extended:

J. R. Dudley, a student of British Columbia university, now on his way to Fernie to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents, is spending a day or two en route visiting his sister, Mrs. B. E. Taylor of this city.

An amateur hockey league of four teams has been organized in Vancouver, Mr. Dudley states, and there are prospects of a fine season. He himself is on the line-up of the Nationals.

The team that wins the league proposes to come up country on a tour to challenge the mettle of the interior hockeyists. The tour will take place in January and all challenges will be accepted.

Mr. Dudley believes that Kootenay has better hockey material than the coast, all things considered and will be able to furnish a series of classy contests.

EAST KOOTENAY MINE SAFETY ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the above Association will be held at the government Mine Rescue Station on Sunday, Dec. 14, at 2.30 p.m. All persons interested in First Aid Mine Rescue, fellow workmen and their own are cordially invited to attend.

Business: Election of local officers and confirmation of Rules that will be submitted to the meeting.

The following is the advisory board of the East Kootenay Mine Safety Association:

President—B. Caufield, Coal Creek.
Vice President — E. Rutledge, of Fernie.
Vice President— Thos, Williams, of Michel.
Vice-President — Mr. Warburton, of Corbin.
Secy-Treas.—A. Hancock, Fernie.
Executive Committee—Mr. Johnson, Coal Creek; Mr. Blair, Corbin; Mr. Baybutt, Michel.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Monday last was pay day up here.

The death took place of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. McNay, of Coyote St., on Friday last. The sympathy of the residents go out to the parents.

Word was received in camp on Monday night of the passing away in the Fernie hospital of Miss Nellie Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs John Brown. The funeral took place on Thursday. The Coal Co. provided a special train for the conveyance of the mourners. The sympathy of the residents goes out to the parents in their sad bereavement.

Mrs. Allen, of Jaffray, and Mrs. A. Fawcett, of West Fernie, were visiting in camp during last week end.

Balloting for checkweighman took place up here on Tuesday, the candidates elected being W. Potter and Sam Heaney.

We would ask the local Veterans not to forget the 18th, which day is election of officers for 1920.

Whar brither Siots forgaither at Calgary on the 18th tae hear wee Sir Harry Lauder. By the way we have not yet heard of Bill Young and his friend George being in the van of the pilgrimage from this part this time.

George Barker, of pugilistic fame, has gone to Kamloops on a business trip in connection with his property. Rumor has it that soon the shivaree band will be requisitioned.

Owing to the illness of teachers on the Fernie school staff, Mrs. McGregor, of this camp has been requisitioned to take the place of Miss Fisher.

The kiddies are now counting the days before Christmas. Preparations are under way for the usual Christmas tree at the Club.

The committee in charge of Christmas festivities up here are arranging a social and dance on Christmas eve. Further particulars next week.

The Christmas tournaments at the Club commenced today. Keen competition is rife among the members.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown and Mrs. McNay desire to thank the residents for their many expressions of sympathy; also for train facilities.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor. A very pleasant evening was spent. Bobby is sure some vocalist.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

AND AGAIN THE TIME COMES 'ROUND TO SAY "SHOP EARLY"

One reason is that as the days go by the sore will get more and more crowded and it will be harder and harder to get just what you want when you want it.

But The Big Reason Is That Selections Are Limited. We never had so many different things to offer you before for Holiday needs—but it has been a difficult market and in many things the supply is more limited than we could wish. So the big reason to shop NOW is that you can get all you want of just what you want if you get it while we have it and have plenty to choose from.

We Have Some Shop Early Specials for Every Day's Selling.

FERNIE BIRDS AT LETHBRIDGE

At the Lethbridge Poultry Show, held on Dec. 9 to 12, the Fernie poultrymen carried off all the premier honors offered for their different breeds, winning all the first prizes. That it was possible to win with such a large number of birds at the show, goes to show that there are as good birds in Fernie as anywhere in Western Canada. The following is a list of the winnings:

Light Brahmas—1st cock, 1st hen, 1st pen, and special best hen, John Cunliffe.

Buff Rocks—1st cock, 1st and 2nd hen, 1st pullet, 2nd special for best Buff Rock male, and 1st special for Buff Rock female, Fred Platt.

Rose Comb Reds—Two third prizes, E. Cartlidge.

White Wyandottes—1st and 3rd pullet, 2nd cockerel, 1st pen, C. Gillett.

Great credit is due to the Lethbridge show committee for the way the birds returned, as they were in first class condition, and the Fernie poultry fanciers wish to thank them for the care they gave their birds.

Cranbrook Courier—Mr. Francis Jentsch, the Fernie tonsorial artist, was in Cranbrook Tuesday on business connected with the barber's union. "Slim", as he is familiarly called, has travelled around the globe no less than seven times. He is seventy six years of age and can handle a razor with any man in the business. He is a member of the Fernie Rod and Gun Club and an ardent follower of the disciple of Isaac Walton. Mr. Jentsch is the only hunter in the Fernie district who starts out into the bush without an excess food supply. As a matter of fact "Slim" could go on a hunger strike for a week without suffering any ill effects. He has the characteristics of Tarzan of the Apes, and can subsist on herbs and roots.

NEW YEAR'S EVE DANCE

A dance will be held in Victoria Hall on Wednesday evening, Dec. 31, commencing at the hour of 9 o'clock.

Proceeds from this dance will be devoted to the payment now falling due in connection with the purchase of the Napanee Hotel for a Returned Soldiers Club.

The drawing for the Victory Bonds contest will be made during the supper hour and if the person holding the first number drawn is present in the hall with the ticket such person will receive in addition to the Bond a ten dollar gold piece.

Refreshments. Commons Orchestra. Tickets $2.00 per couple. Extra lady 50c.

Lieut. Fergie of the Canadian Army Dental Corps has opened a dental clinic at Room 6, Napanee Buiding. This will be the last visit of the C.A.D.C. to Fernie and ex-members of the C.E.F. and Imperial Army requiring dental treatment are notified to make arrangements with Lieut. Fergie immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Digby are leaving for Vancouver on Sunday to spend the Christmas holidays with their daughter, Mrs. A. Matheson. Mrs. H. F. Armstrong accompanies them to join her husband at the reunion of the family.

The announcement is made today that the stores will be closed from Christmas eve until Saturday morning, Dec. 27, thus giving all those employed in these places of business the benefit of two successive holidays, Christmas day and the day following.

Local friends and acquaintances of A. G. Burns, better known to Fernieites as "Adam" Burns, will be very glad to know that since his migration from here to Winnipeg he has opened and operated a combined butcher shop and grocery business in the Manitoba metropolis with undoubted success. Mr. Burns resided here for nine years and managed the Palace Meat Market, while latterly he was in charge of the shop at the main store of P. Burns & Co. here. The business he has opened for himself is very centrally located in Winnipeg and he at present has a staff of four. engaged.

CUP SERIES COMPLETED

The first competition of the Fernie Curling Club for this season was concluded last evening, when the rink skipped by Guy Johnston won the final game in the Ingram Cup Competition. The competition was opened by playing the games in five series, the winners of which were: "A' A. Corrie; "B" James Johnston; "C" A. C. Liphardt; "D" Guy Johnston; "E" Thomas Prentice. The winners in addition to the cup will receive each a box of 50 cigars; second prize, four case pipes; third prize, gold cuff links; fourth prize, four pipes; fifth prize, four Eversharp silver pencils.

The next competition will be a new one for the Club, and will be known as the Past Presidents Trophy, same being donated by the past presidents of the club. The competition will be started shortly and concluded before the local bonspiel, which will be held next month.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor:

In your last issue you have mentioned my name as a possible candidate for mayoralty honors in the city of Fernie. You also state that the Purity League will endorse a candidate for mayor in that contest, and many people have inferred that if I enter the contest I will be the candidate of a faction. I wish to deny this statement emphatically. My only reason for allowing my name to go before the electors is on the plea of public economy. For twenty years I have been a heavy taxpayer in this city and have watched our tax rate, grow by leaps and bounds, until it is an absolute burden, with very little return for our expenditure, and this in face of the fact that we have two publicly owned utilities which pay handsome returns, and should greatly reduce the load on the taxpayer. I honestly believe that a large part of our tax money is being wasted, and that if a few business men would take hold of the reins of city government this matter could be easily remedied. So far as law and order is concerned, I am a firm believer in the spirit of the law being carried out, but I am, by no stretch of imagination, a fanatic on the subject. In past years it has been the rule to arrest every man who made his appearance on the street in a slightly intoxicated condition and soak him the limit in order to provide funds for the city. This policy has obtained so long that it has driven the lumberjack trade to every other town in the district. I do not believe in this manner of raising revenue. It is a vicious principle to adopt. So far as hard liquor is concerned, I believe that it would be in the interests of all that it be rigorously suppressed, but do not believe that anyone can have very serious objection to the mild beer on sale in the local hotels.

I have merely touched on these points in order to place myself and my views on these questions honestly before the electors.

Thanking you,
G. G. Henderson.

The stores will be open on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday all day, including evenings, and will be closed on Thursday and Friday.

Many useful articles, including aprons and articles suitable for Christmas presents, to be sold at greatliy reduced prices. To be seen at the Rectory.

In local sporting circles the return of Joe Balyti, Fernie's crack pool player, from the coast, has created considerable interest. Joe is steadily improving his game and will one of these days branch out into the professional class. He made an 87 break the other day.

The United Church Primary Department teachers are entertaining their scholars to a supper and Xmas Tree, on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 20, from 2.30 to 6.30. They also expect Santa Claus to pay them a visit. Parents of the children are cordially invited to call any time during the afternoon and see the fun. Please send for the little ones at 6.

The terrible 17th has passed into history and we are still alive. In many places the inhabitants were terror stricken with fear, but in Fernie we have had so many little things pulled off which in comparison would make the end of the world look like a picnic, that hardly anyone paid any attention to the dread predictions of Prof. Porta. The only exception we noticed was Joe Delucca, who cut off his whiskers and took a bath in anticipation of a call at the pearly gates.

Coal shipments from the Drumhellar district are rapidly again becoming normal. Owing to broken rails, caused by the excessive cold weather, the quantities during the latter days of last week was considerably reduced. These have now been repaired, however, and the output on Saturday was 4,400 tons. Since Saturday night 61 cars, representing about 2,100 tons have left the valley, in addition to another 14 cars early Monday morning. The Canadian National Railways state they have an ample supply of cars available.—Calgary Herald.

AMERICAN CONSULAR SERVICE, FERNIE, B.C.

The American Consul at Fernie advises that beginning Jan. 1, 1920, the fees on consular invoices will be increased to meet the upward trend of New York exchange. This is rendered necessary by the fact that the Consul must account for all fees collected by draft on New York. The fees will be increased Jan. 1st to the following sums in Canadian currency:

Fee on ordinary invoice, $2.75.

Fee on invoice of Returned American Goods, $1.10.

To avoid delay in certification, all invoices mailed so as to reach the Consulate after December 31 should be accompanied by the foregoing fees; and where remittance is made by personal cheque 15c should be added to the amount to cover local bank exchange.

DO CITIZENS DESIRE BAND?

Editor Free Press.

Dear Sir:—I trust that you will grant me space in your next issue of the Free Press, in order to give my expression of opinion in line with the above question. I would also suggest that you invite a "public controversy" through the columns of the Free Press on the above question, as the object is both worthy and opportune at this time.

As a lover of good music, and for many years in touch with some of the best bands in England, where every town or small village has its band or bands, therefore, I should be given a little credit for having the knowledge of knowing the "real value of a good band" in any town or city, no matter whether such be in England or Canada, and Fernie is no exception to the rule, but rather, is ripe for a good band, and the material, the musicians, is right here. All that is needed is two desirable acquisitions —the home town spirit and finance.

DO CITIZENS DESIRE BAND?

Now, sir, in my observations relative to the above question, I have no hesitation in saying that the people of Fernie do desire a good band—what is more, they are going to have one—a band that will be a real pleasure to listen to, which will be amply demonstrated at the Grand Theatre on Dec. 23rd. Hear the boys and pass judgment.

My chief reasons along the line of the above question are as follows: first, that the chief bone of contention as previously borne, has now been removed by the amalgamation of both bands formed into one. Second, that it is generally conceded that a band in any town or city is regarded as a good asset and the best of advertising mediums. Third, that music-harmony, the science of music, should be regarded as one of the very best of educational factors. Fourth, that the incoming city council should take the lead by making a substantial grant, such as will insure a fairly decent monthly salary as a guaranteed provision for a professional bandmaster.

Touching on the latter, the fourth point, I maintain that such a course, in consideration of the object, is the best as a public recognition; moreover, I feel firmly convinced that the ratepayers will confirm the above point. When the band renders a musical program on the streets—believe me, the public shall have it good and plenty this next summer—such rendering is not given for the benefit of the few, it is given for the benefit of all—the community, hence the band should be publicly upheld. I know only too well that we, the bands, are criticised on the latter point, namely, that the band or bands, have not given value for money received, and I know also, where to place my finger on the "sore spot" complained of, and I promise that I will endeavor to remove that "sore spot". I may point out also, that Professor Zaccaro has now hold of the reins as bandmaster, and if the public of Fernie use "good judgment" they will keep him so—and as such you may depend that he himself will see to it, that you get value for money received by the simple fact that he, the professor, has his reputation at stake—he must make good. He must get results. Above all, he must be obeyed, that is why, I repeat, that if the people of Fernie use good judgment they will keep professor Zaccaro right at the position he now holds—bandmaster of the Fernie City Band—and thus you will get value for money received.

What are the chief essential factors necessary to build up and to establish a good band? They are as follows: First, financial aid; second, a professional bandmaster; third, the co-operation of the bandsmen by attention and regulated practice; fourth, a full set of instruments, all one make, and a good live president, secretary and executive committee—get the above points and you get results.

Lloyd George has said—sometime during the war—that the silver bullet, (finance), would win the war; in like manner, the silver bullet, finance, will win a good band for Fernie. I appeal to the citizens of Fernie to let us profit by previous mistakes—and I know there have been many—and pull together, with the slogan, "a good band for Fernie."

In conclusion, I take the opportunity, on behalf of the executive committee and bandsmen in general, to extend our hearty appreciation and thanks to all who have most generously donated with their patronage and support in response to our recent appeal, of which, a public acknowledgement has been made in a previous issue of the Free Press. Don't forget the slogan, "a good band for Fernie."

Yours very sincerely,
William Dickenson,
Acting President of the Band.

SOME COLD CURE

A London hospital physician includes the following item in a long list of instructions for avoiding colds and influenza: "Eat a good breakfast —never go out on an empty stomach." We usually go out on our feet.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

Not a Mactavish

A circus was traveling through Scotland, and when it got just outside of Dumfries a baboon died. Not wanting to bother with the body it was thrown over a bridge into a field. Three Scotch farmers went that way, saw the baboon, and wondered who it was.

"He's no a Cameron," said one; "he's too broon!"

He's no a Macdonald," said the second, "he's too reed!"

"An' he's no a Mactavish," said the third; "he's too dashed guid luikin'! Away to yonder hoose an' see if there's an English visitor meesin"!

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

May the blessings of Heaven pour upon every reader of this great family paper until they are soaked to the skin on Christmas Day, the day after, and for ever more. The old, old wish: A Happy Christmas and a Bright New Year.

The Wondrous Season

Christmas—the same old story;
Sweet with its sweet old way;
The gifts and the songs and glory,
The spirit of youth and play.
Christmas—the fabled Santa;
The tree with its magic light;
The stars with the drums and trumpets;
The toys and the tinsel bright.

Christmas—no change forever.
The letters to good old Kris;
The arms of the little children
And the lips that are sweet to kiss.
Christmas—the changeless beauty;
Older, and still so young,
With its glory of childhood spirit
And its tales of the fairy tongue.

Christmas— the streets to show it;
The shops with their brilliant sight;
The windows of charm to glow it,
The festive and magic light.
Christmas— and still appealing
With its utter glory to men;
As over their grey hearts stealing
Their boyhood comes again.

Christmas— the same old blessing,
The holy and lovely spell
Of tenderest trust and confessing,
And the glory of all things well.
Christmas—the wondrous season,
As fresh in its joys today
As it was in the vanished visions
Of the childhoods far away.

Jim Thistlebeak.

Last week was the coldest ever known in the old historic burg of Elko. It got so cold and lonesome that when the C.P.R. late trains arrived in town, the deer came in from the bush to hear the news.

A big band of Indians from Tobacco Plains, Windermere Valley and Dayton Creek, Montana, are camped on Driftwood Avenue, Elk Canyon Park. The bucks are killing deer and the squaws tanning the hides and making buckskin souvenirs for the Christmas trade. Sally-Two-Kettles, the famous "Lucile" of the reserve, is creating some new fashions in beaded mocassins.

May you be thrown in the way of pleasant surprises this Christmas.

It has often been stated that the English—that is the real English, not the mongrel—are the quickest people on earth to adopt the customs of any country in which they find themselves. Here's the report of a wedding. The bride was Miss Casey and the bridegroom was Mr. Oldrych, one of the Customs Collectors at one of the ports of entry along the border. Two native Indian girls acted as bridesmaids. They were attired in a string of beads. At the wedding feast, which followed, Four Sky Thunder was present and lent his skinning knife to the bride to cut the cake with.

Miss Jennie Nichols, teacher at Roosville, is leaving for Creston for the Christmas holidays. Miss M. M. Anderson, Elko's popular teacher will go to Edmonton and Miss Walker of the McGuire school, Roosville Valley, will go to Nelson.

Mr. Harry Cor was in Elko this week booking orders for Michel's 2%. He also visited Kootnay River points and he told the writer that any bottle of this celebrated brew not bearing the Mayor of Michel's photo on it may be set down as counterfeit. Harry says that the brew master knows the business from soda to "Bock", and was never known to take two bites at a cherry.

The Mutual Admiration Society of Flagstone gave one of their Saturday evening swirls last Saturday, but on account of the cold weather, only a few of the Mutuals turned up, so the chicken scratches and the aeroplane propeller, the new dances that were to be introduced, were held over for the big Christmas dance.

The Indians on the Tobacco Plains Reserve will give their usual New Year's dance, which will last five days. They are expecting visitors from the Piegan, Blood and the Stoney Reserves, Alberta, and the Flathead Reservation, Montana, U.S. Miss Hattie-Maria-Maybelle-Two Stockings will introduce a new jazz at this popular dance. Refreshments will be served day and night at this dance at popular prices; also hot and cold drinks. Miss Ophelia-No-Eat-Dog will have charge of the refreshments and will serve dishes that would give those C.P.R. dining car chefs the pip to try to imitate, such as cowhide cookies, fritters, white-man's dog stuffed, rawhide roast with huckleberry jelly, weasel wafers, and water from the Crystal Spring and deer horn tooth-picks will be served free.

Wishing you all lots of fun, feasting and frolic this Christmas.

Fred Roo, Jr., got a fine blacktail deer last week on the bench behind the school house at Roosville, below the falls, and will help use up some of his mother's black currant jelly.

May you land many a good thing this Christmas, and cheer up, because cheer is health, melancholy is disease. Cheer sings at its work; cheer opens the windows of the mind to light and vision; cheer makes you win Heaven when everybody has given you the other place. Cheer up!

May nothing pop off with your happiness this Christmas, and always remember that good advertising is like making love to a widow. You can't overdo it.

Jim Thistlebeak says the best thing about kings this Christmas is to hold four in your hand when the "kitty" is full.

CAPT. ADAMS WAS TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Improvement So Remarkable After Taking Tanlac He Hardly Knows Himself.

"For one whole year before I took Tanlac there was hardly a day that I didn't have a severe headache and hardly a night that I got over an hour or two of sleep," said S. S. Adams, when he called at the Owl Drug Store in Vancouver, B.C. Mr. Adams served as Captain in the English Army, and at the time he made this statement he was registered at the St. Frances Hotel, 600 Cordova, West, Vancouver. Mr. Adams further stated that he would leave for the Orient in a few days to accept a managing position with an English firm in Japan.

"For the past year," continued Mr. Adams, "I had gastritis in its very worst form, and gas would press against my heart and make it palpitate so bad that I would get dizzy and sometimes while I was eating I would get so dizzy that I would have to get up and leave the table without finishing. My appetite was almost completely gone and even the smell of food would sometimes turn my stomach, and I had to be extremely careful about what I ate so as not to suffer from gas. My nerves were shattered and the least little noise out of the ordinary would upset me completely.

"I tried medicine after medicine but nothing would do me any good, and I was about to give up trying to find anything else when my attention was called to the a testimonial in the paper about Tanlac. I decided to try it, and I want to say right here that it took me by surprise and that it is simply remarkable how I have been restored to health. I have a splendid appetite and no matter what or how much I eat I never suffer from stomach trouble in any form. My nerves are quiet and steady, and I can sleep all night long. I am not troubled with headaches or dizzy spells any longer, and I feel so different in every way that I hardly know myself. I am leaving for the Orient in a few days and before I go I feel that it is my duty to make this statement and let the people know that Tanlac is a great thing and that it will do every bit of what they say it will."

So far, the miner's pick has proved mightier than Wilson's pen.—Hamilton Spectator.

OTHER TABLETS NOT ASPIRIN AT ALL

BAYER

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, you are not getting Aspirin—only an acid imitation.

The "Bayer Cross" is your only way of knowing that you are getting genuine Aspirin, prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years and proved safe by millions for Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain generally. Made in Canada.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger sized "Bayer" packages can be had at drug stores.

While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company, Ltd., will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

Christmas is for everybody; so is The New Edison.

Christmas brings happiness to young and old; so does The New Edison.

Christmas comes but once a year, however, while The New Edison is ready every day—every hour—to charm you, entertain you, uplift you and satisfy your craving for good music.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

RE-CREATES the entire world of music. It brings to your home all that the most famous singers, instrumentalists and musical organizations could bring, except only their physical presence.

If you have never heard The New Edison, you have never heard RE-CREATED music. An Edison RE-CREATION means something entirely different from talking machines and ordinary phonographic records.

For your pleasure; for the pleasure and education of your children; for the enjoyment of your friends; let the New Edison be your Christmas gift this year.

Come in and examine the beautiful models—hear the art of your favorite singers and instrumentalists RE-CREATED—or, better yet, let us send The New Edison to your home to test at your leisure. No obligation, of course. 265

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

The first meeting of the Local Council of Women will be held during the last week of January, date and place to be announced later, at which the first business will be the election of officers.

The Local Council is a Federation of Women's Clubs in which each Society affiliating pays an annual fee of $1 or $2. This entitles every member of that society to attend all meetings of the Council, take part in all discussion, receive all literature and in addition said society is entitled to four votes as well as that of its president, on all business. These votes are cast by four delegates appointed from the membership, who vote in accordance with the views of the Society and not as individuals. Persons may become members of the Council individually by paying the annual fee of $1, which entitles them to all privileges except voting. The officers are: President, Vice-Presidents, Corresponding Secretary, Recording Secretary and Treasurer. These officers together with the presidents of affiliated societies, convenors of standing committees and local members of National Standing Committees comprise the executive committee. The Local Council is in turn affiliated with the well known Provincial and National Council of Women. It will be seen that by this federating the work of the various clubs is not only centralized and overlapping prevented, but a great deal of new work can be accomplished not within the scope of any of the smaller societies.

The first meeting of the Local Council will take place the last week of January, or more than a month from the appearance of this notice, in order to give all societies time to bring the matter up at their regular meetings. It is best for all societies who are going to affiliate to do so before the first meeting of the Council, so as to allow for the largest possible scope in the selection of officers.

Any women's organizations in outlying districts such as Coal Creek or Michel, are eligible to join the Local Council.

If any women's clubs have not received a personal intimation re affiliating with the Local Council they will please accept this general notice.

TORTURED BY TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

10 CENT "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Cure Sick Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath—Candy Cathartic.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get relief with Cascarets. They immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet and head clear for months. They work while you sleep

TO THE ELECTORS, CITY OF FERNIE :

Ladies and Gentlemen—I have decided to become a candidate for the position of Mayor at the approaching Municipal Elections. My purpose in so doing at this time is for the object of demonstrating to the taxpayers of Fernie that the city's affairs can be efficiently conducted for considerably less money than has been spent for that purpose year by year for the past five or six years.

I am not the nominee of any party or faction, and am in a position to offer my services to the city untrammelled by obligations to any particular faction in the community, and if elected will endeavor to conduct the affairs of the city in such a manner as will redound in the greatest good to the greatest number.

The burden of taxation has been rapidly increasing year by year, with but little to show for it. Water and light rates have increased and efficiency has decreased.

If you desire to see an earnest effort made to alter these conditions your vote will be appreciated.

I consider the position of Mayor of any city an honorary one and the duties of that office should be performed for honor's sake and not for money. If elected, no additional burden will be added to the taxpayer as a salary for Mayor.

I have the honor to be,
Ladies and Gentlemen,
Yours very truly,
G. G. HENDERSON.

A bazaar was held in the Methodist church at Michel on Dec. 10 under the auspices of the Ladies Aid. The sale opened at 3 o'clock and closed at 7, leaving quite a few things not sold. The ladies then decided to hold another sale on Dec. 17 to dispose of what was left and it was held in the Natal Mission Hall. The sales amounted to $290.25, leaving a profit of $240. The ladies wish to thank all who donated and helped in the good work.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Jas. Marshall, who has been ill, is back on the job again.

The Reconstruction Committee are pulling off a dance on Dec. 31.

Judge Thompson, of Cranbrook, was in the city on Wednesday.

Born—in Fernie, December 16th, to Mr. and Mrs. J. McLaren, a daughter.

The G.W.V.A. Concert Party has been engaged for a concert at Cranbrook.

The high school pupils are holding a dance in the Catholic church hall tonight.

Rev. Yolland, of Christ church, has resigned. He was a live wire and his services will be missed.

Wm. Barton has been fortunate in securing a fine shipment of Victrolas for the Christmas trade.

M. A. Kastner's bonspiel rink defeated Tom Beck's club rink in a challenge match on Wednesday evening.

The Queen's Hotel will hold a turkey raffle on Saturday night. They have secured a hundred birds for the occasion.

The boiler in the Church of England heating plant burst during the cold weather. The damage amounted to about $250.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown, of Coal Creek, wish to thank all friends for expressions of sympathy, letters and flowers sent during their recent sad bereavement.

Franklin Bonnell, who has been attending school in Vancouver, is visiting his parents. His mother will accompany him back to the coast, where she will spend a few months.

Next Tuesday evening, Dec. 23, the City Band will give a concert in the Grand theatre. A fine program is being arranged. Don't fail to patronize this affair as the band needs the money.

The engagement of Capt. Andrew Black and Miss Alice Duthie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duthie, has been announced. The marriage is expected to take place in the course of a few days.

Bleasdell can't boast of the largest store, but he has the largest and best stock in Fernie. He has the up-to-date stuff.

Geo. Thrasher, of Bull River, is visiting in the city. He has just recovered from a severe attack of rheumatic fever.

The executive committee of the Golf Club has outlined a course for next year which will be 2800 yards long, an increase of 800 yards over last year. Work on the extension will begin the moment the snow is gone.

The Fernie Christmas windows this year would be a credit to any city. Both the Trites-Wood and Crow's Nest have gone to exceptional pains to produce a beautiful combination of effects which are certainly artistic.

Mrs. Walter B. Harwood and children returned on Monday last from a month's visit with friends in Ontario and Quebec. They have moved into the residence Mr. Harwood recently purchased from Mrs. C. E. Lyons.

The Salvation Army is making a strong appeal for assistance in raising money to put them back in the financial position they were before the war. They spent over two million dollars on war work. Fernie should do its share.

The latest edition of the Searchlight, the red organ published by Lawson in Calgary, contains a fierce attack upon local Mounted Police. It is quite evident that the Mounties have been camping too close for comfort on the editor's trail.

The sad news of the death of Mrs. E. Henry, of Vancouver, on Dec. 10, of pneumonia, was a shock to her relatives here. She leaves a son, Frank Nedon, and mother, Mrs. Lake, besides three young children, three sisters and two brothers, to mourn her loss.

Manager Barrett, of the Northern Hotel, has an orange tree with three beautiful oranges on it, one of these just turning ripe. Some three years ago, A. Mutz brought up some small trees from the south and Mrs. Barrett has cultivated them until she has finally got results. Oranges ripening in Fernie with the temperature around 30 below zero sounds funny.

STATEMENT EXPECTED SOON

Sam Ballantyne, the special representative of the United Mine Workers of America in the course of an interview with a representative of The Calgary Herald, Monday, stated that he expected to have some definite statement to make regarding negotiations as to the advance in miners' wages within the course of the next few days.

"We are putting forth every effort to bring about a satisfactory arrangement," he remarked, "and one that will be fair to the miners."

Mr. Ballantyne states that theUnited Mine Workers have no apology to make for their past actions. As an organization it stands responsible for all improvements in wages and conditions that the miners enjoyed today.

CARLSON-EVANS NUPTIALS

At Fernie on Tuesday last a wedding of exceptional interest to Cranbrook and Kimberly people was solemnized when Miss Frances Lillian Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Carlson, of Fernie, became the bride of Albert William Evans, of Kimberly. The marriage ceremony was performed in the presence of a number of intimate friends of the bride and groom by the Rev. C. E. Batzold, pastor of the Fernie United Church. Both bride and groom are popular in the city, the bride having resided here for a number of years, while the groom is the popular timekeeper at the Consolidated Mining & Smelting company's works at Kimberley. A long list of wedding presents both useful and ornamental, were received by the couple. Fernie girl friends of the bride, in which city she was universally popular, presented her with a number of useful household articles.—Cranbrook Courier.

FRED BOWNESS DIES SUDDENLY

Mr. A. C. Bowness received telegraphic advice Sunday morning conveying the sad news that his brother Fred had died suddenly at Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bowness left on the west bound train for Vancouver Sunday, to attend the funeral. Fred Bowness was well and favorably known in Cranbrook, having been a resident of this city in the early days. He was a member of the firm of Bowness & Huchcroft, contract carpenters, and his first building in that line was the erection of the present home of the Courier editor. The late Mr. Bowness was heavily interested in mining properties in both this district and West Kootenay. Some six years ago he married the widow of the late F. J. Deane, proprietor of the Cranbrook Herald. He has been in poor health lately, but his demise will be a shock to his many friends here.—Cranbrook Courier.

Unaided, New York Girl Uses Her Brains and Beauty to Win Battle With Plotters.

How a crew of bold intriguers dare everything to obtain for their bait a beautiful girl upon whose name her father has cast a cloud, is told in "Mary Regan", the screen version of LeRoy Scott's famous novel, in which Anita Stewart will be seen at the Orpheum Theatre, next Wednesday and Thursday.

Mary Regan, the daughter of a notorious criminal, feels that for her to marry would be an injustice to any man. Among those who know of her father is Loveman, a blackmailing attorney, who commands a gang of high society intriguers.

Mary's mother was a society woman, and left her money, so that the daughter's rearing has been that of a gentlewoman. This makes her so much better a prospect for the plotters. The obstacle to their plan arises from the fact that Mary has determined that she shall go the straight path to prove to the world that her blood was not tainted by the course of her father.

The picture presents the fight between Mary and Loveman, she striving to "go straight," and he to tempt or force her to do his bidding. Loveman seems about to triumph when Mary falls in love with the son of a rich man whose money the crooked attorney is scheming to steal.

But back of Mary is Clifford, a young detective, who watches over her, even when Mary turns aside his love to accept the infatuation of Jack Morton, the rich man's son, whom she consents to wed to save him from a course of sin.

The climax of the picture is reached when young Morton is captured by the blackmailers and kept in a private room o f a big New York cabaret, where, under the influence of drink, he readily turns over his money to the plotters. Clifford, the detective, having obtained evidence of the plan to rob young Morton, stages a raid on the cabaret which results not only in the arrest of the whole group of blackmailers, but in the complete wrecking of the place.

In the role of Mary Regan, torn between love of a true man, her desire to aid a weakling who is going on to destruction, and her determination to escape the net being laid for her by a master crook, and "go straight," Anita Stewart has one of the strongest and most convincing roles in which she has been seen.

Hamlin's Wizard Oil a Safe First Aid Treatment

How often lockjaw and blood poisoning result from the neglect of a slight scratch or little cut! Hamlin's Wizard Oil is a safe and effective first aid treatment. It is a powerful antiseptic and should be applied immediately to wounds of this kind to prevent danger of infection.

It is soothing and healing and quickly drives out pain and inflammation in cases of sprains, bruises, cuts, burns, bites and stings. Just as reliable, too, for stiff neck, sore feet, cold sores, canker sores, earache and toothache.

LIFT CORNS OR CALLUSES OFF

Doesn't hurt! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers

Don't suffer! A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store. Apply a few drops on the corns, calluses and "hard skin" on bottom of feet, then lift them off.

When Freezone removes corns from the toes or calluses from the bottom of feet, the skin beneath is left pink and healthy and never sore, tender or irritated.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Ladies Benevolent Society took place on Friday, Dec. 12, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Mrs. Klauer.

1st Vice-President—Mrs. G. F. Johnson.

2nd Vice-President — Mrs. Lipbardt.

Secretary—Mrs. J. R. Wallace.

Treasurer—Mrs. E. K. Stewart.

Investigating Committee — Mrs. Kastner and Mrs. J. A. Asselstine.

Dish Committee—Mrs. Cummings and Mrs. McIntyre.

Outgoing Executive are as follows: President, Mrs. E. K. Stewart; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. Klauer; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Irvine; Secretary, Mrs. J. A. Asselstine; Treasurer, Mrs. R. W. Wood; Investigating Committee, Mrs. Klauer and Mrs. Macneil; Dish Committee, Mrs. H. Johnson and Mrs. Suddaby.

Secretary's Report — During the year the Society held nine regular meetings with an average attendance of seven members out of a membership of twenty-four. One executive meeting was also held in December last, called by the President. The result of this meeting was the sending of Xmas cheer in the form of a hamper to a family. Flowers were also sent to a very deserving member who was very ill, in appreciation of her splendid work in the past. During the year eleven families have been under the care of the Society. Food, clothing and medicine have been provided, as well as rent being paid in some cases. In looking after these cases the Society has been greatly helped by donations of clothing by different persons in and out of town, as well as receiving a substantial check from the city. We also gave our annual ball in April, which was a great success financially. The Society feel very grateful to the press and a organizations and individuals who have helped to make the year's work such a success.

TO DEAL WITH FUEL SITUATION

That whatever steps are necessary in dealing with the coal mining situation of Alberta will be taken promptly was the assurance of Senator Robertson, minister of labor, who arrived in Calgary Tuesday morning to make a full inquiry into the cause of the unrest and possible strike amongst the miners.

Further than this the minister, when interviewed by a representative of the Calgary Herald, stated he had nothing at the moment to add, as he had not had an opportunity of going into details. He was not aware to what extent the O.B.U. agitators had been caryring out their propaganda in trying to bring about a disruption with the United Mine Workers of America. He reiterated that if matters were anything like as serious as was stated in some quarters that steps would at once be taken to meet the situation.

The senator was met at the C.P.R. depot by Fuel Commissioner Armstrong and his assistant, F. E. Harrison. The minister lost no time in going into the preliminary stages of his inquiry. Within five minutes of registering at the Palliser hotel he was in close consultation with the latter officials.

Sam Ballantyne, the special representative of the United Mine Workers informed the Calgary Herald that he and his colleagues would thoroughly co-operate with the minister with a view to bringing about a satisfactory settlement.

Speaking on labor maters generally, the senator stated that conditions throughout the Dominion were satisfactory. With regard to the recent dispute amongst Nova Scotia miners, three boards of conciliation were at present in session and there was every expectation of an amicable conclusion being reached between the operators and men.

The senator intends to remain in Calgary for at least a couple of days, or until such time as he has thoroughly grasped the coal mining situation in Alberta.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

CAMPAIGN SPEAKERS

"To salvage a wrecked life is equally valuable to God, the state and the individual," was the way Rev. (Capt.) J. H. Wright summed up the heart message of the Forward Movement at the United Church.

Mr. George Bell on his initial visit to Fernie on Wednesday evening, showed himself a powerful speaker, a man who supports the church because it is the first force in nation building, and an enthusiast on the Forward Movement because it is the means for meeting the needs of this age.

Rev. Dr. Sipprell is a most fluent orator. For more than an hour he kept the audience mentally on the run to keep up with his flow of ideas. He moreover impressed them with the great need of the church realizing the spiritual aims of the movement.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., Dec. 15, 1919

Editor Fernie Free Press.

Sir:—I notice in the issue of the Free Press of Friday last, in the report of the meeting of the Health Commission, Mr. Wm. Robson is reported as representing the Gladstone local.

I wish to state that Mr. Robson was never appointed to represent the above local and therefore was not entitled to express any opinion or make any statement on their behalf.

Yours truly,

William Potter, President.

One trouble with our industrial situation is that too many people are proposing cures and too few taking the medicine.—Stratford Herald.

PRODUCTION FALLING OFF

Production in Canada is falling off. It has been falling off for some time. There is no way of arriving at accurate statistics which would cover the situation all over the country. But it is a fact that the aggregate output of all the factories of Canada is considerably below normal. What are the reasons? They are difficult to define accurately, but it is certain that one fallacy at least is being disproved. That fallacy is the belief that factories as a general rule can produce as much in a forty-four hour week as they can in a fifty-four or sixty-hour week.

As a result of the eight-hour day law, passed in France early last spring, the national factory output of France has fallen in almost direct proportion to the percentage of reduction in working hours. During the past year there has been a considerable reduction in the gross working hours of Canadian factories, and now we know that there has been a corresponding reduction in output.

More serious still, the production per hour even of the actual existing working hours, is below normal. As a result we are losing orders every day because we cannot deliver the goods.

There is also another very important point to be considered in regard to output. It is difficult to keep the quality of materials up to the old standard. Workers do not seem to be showing the same interest in trying to put their best efforts into their work as they showed some years ago. The result is that if production is falling and the quality of the output tends to deteriorate, and if these two conditions continue and increase, a serious economic situation will be created.

We are told also that agricultural production has fallen off. We have not the best facilities for investigating the truth of these rumors, and prefer to leave their verification either to the Government or to the associations which represent agriculturists. Government statistics usually appear a year or so after their collection. Consequently, they are not much use when conditions of the moment require to be analysed.

Since the Armistice, Canada has had the greatest trade opportunity in her history. It is doubtful if such another opportunity will occur. The situation has been unique. Highly industrialized Europe before the war produced practically all the manufactured goods it needed and exported in great quantities. Europe also supplies the greater part of its own agricultural needs. The war has changed all this. Europe wants all kinds of manufactured goods in great quantities. Europe also wants vast quantities of agricultural products. We can sell nearly everything we can send to Europe. What an opportunity! If we can supply this demand we shall lay the foundation for Canada's financial greatness. Money will come into the country in vast amounts and will be circulated here through all classes of the community. Is there any problem in Canada at the present time greater than the necessity of producing everything which the country can produce in the greatest possible quantities and of the very best quality for sale abroad?

The only housing scheme to which the new Ontario Administration is opposed, it seems, is the housing of the Lieutenant-Governor. — Ottawa Citizen.

Every little season has a Mexican uproar all its own—with poor old Uncle Sam on the anxious seat.—Stratford Herald.

WISE MEN AT THE LABOR CONFERENCE

One of the Italian delegates at the International Labor Conference at Washington suggested that all raw material in the world should be pooled and placed under the jurisdiction of some international body, who would distribute it to the various countries according to their needs. As Italy is notoriously short of raw materials, there was considerable wisdom in his proposal from his country's point of view, but the nations which are plentifully supplied with raw material did not receive it with enthusiasm.

An English delegate claimed that the institution of private property was the primary cause of unemployment, and that, therefore, all private property should be abolished. This proposal was rejected by the other labor delegates, who, apparently, had some private property of their own.

Women Leaders

The many wise, unselfish and energetic women who have combined in a great enterprise to make life more merry and useful in British villages have just severed their connection with the Board of Agriculture. The Women's Institutes, which sprang up everywhere during the war, are henceforth to stand on a peace footing, but will for some years receive a treasury grant. This is to grow "small by degrees and beautifully less." But the movement is to grow bigger and beautifully more. The idea came from Canada, a fertile home of ideas, and is already international. Every British village ought to possess its Women's Institute; and in every village where none exists some patriot woman should at once take the burden of leadership and get into touch with the central organization. A more fruitful form of village reconstruction is not today in being.—London Daily Mail.

DOMINION LABOR MINISTER REFUSES TO RECOGNIZE O.B.U. IN MINERS-OPERATORS PACT

In the course of an interview Saturday morning, Senator Gideon Robertson informed the Calagry Herald that, after several days' negotiation in Calgary between the Western Coal Operators' Association and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, assisted by W. H. Armstrong, director of coal operations, an agreement had been reached and signed. This had been confirmed by the director of coal operations, who was issuing an order to all the mines in the territory.

The minister stated that upon receipt of notice from the director of coal operations of the probability of difficulty in the near future in the Alberta coal industry, and consequent hardship and suffering that would be entailed on the public of the three western provinces who were absolutely and entirely dependent upon Alberta coal for their supplies, he had deemed it both important and necessary to take steps to meet the situation and to cope with it before any interruption occurred. Everything possible to accomplish that had now been done, he said.

" Ihave no statement to make regarding the O.B.U.," he continued, other than contained in a letter to Henry Beard in reply to a communication that he addressed to me, a copy of which I am addressing to the press.

"I feel that from the information contained in my reply the public will approve and endorse the course taken by the coal operators, the United Mine Workers of America, and approved by the director of coal operations for the purpose of preventing, so far as was within their power, a deliberate attempt without cause, on the part of the O.B.U., to bring about a tie-up in the coal industry unless they were recognized. That, of course, is out of the question," said the senator.

The main points in the minister's letter to Henry Beard are that it is obviously impossible to recognize two organizations as having jurisdiction to negotiate wage agreements for the same workmen; that the United Mine Workers of America have a well-established reputation of respecting and fulfilling agreements made; that the organization Mr. Beard represents (the O.B.U.) has by its acts and the utterances of its leaders indicated no tendency to respect or fulfil any contractural obligation and that the O.B.U. as an organization was wholly unreliable and untrustworthy. In his etter the senator adds:

"Any action indulged in by your organization at a time when miners have no justifiable grievance and which would bring upon the community inconceivable hardship, those responsible for such action must expect to assume responsibility therefor."

THE FULL LETTER

The full text of Senator Robertson's letter to Mr. Beard is as follows:

Calgary, Alta., Dec. 19., 1919.

"Mr. Henry Beard, St. Regis Hotel, City.

"Dear Sir:—Your communication of Dec. 18 was received this morning. Your expressed high regard for the public welfare merits commendation. Am taking the liberty of replying at some length to the questions asked in your letter, and giving definite reasons as to why it is necessary to arrive at the conclusions named. This communication will be handed to the press for publication, if in their opinion it is of sufficient public interest.

The director of coal operations has issued an order effective as of December 1, 1919, confirming an agreement reached between the Western Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of America, which increases the wages of all men employed in and about the mines in district 18, by 14 per cent over the rates, plus bonus, which prevailed prior to the above named date. Several other amendments to the existing tentative agreement between the Western Coal Operators' Association and

MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL

The city council met on Tuesday evening on account of the holiday falling on the date of the regular meeting. There was a full attendance upon this occasion and very little business to be transacted.

The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted as read.

A communication was received from the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. stating that the director of coal operations was arranging to issue an order increasing the wages of all employees of the company 14 per cent and in lieu of this authority was granted to the company to make a corresponding advance in the price of coal to consumers. This increase is fixed at 34c net per ton and will make the price of the slack coal used by the city power house $5.42 per ton F.O.B., the power house spur. The communication further stated that the increase in the selling price would be retroactive from Dec. 15, while the wage increases are retroactive from December 1st, the employees receiving same on the respective January pays, 8th and 23rd. The communication was filed, the council having no other alternative but to accept.

Power-house Engineer, D. Smith, submitted a written report to the council, embodying certain suggestions and recommendations. A comparative statement with respect to fuel consumption in 1915 and 1919 showed a very satisfactory reduction in the quantity of coal used. The engineer's report with regard to the plant that the steam engine was in good shape but that one of the generators might go out at any time due to the field winding being distorted. He took occasion to suggest that he believed the present an opportune time to consider installation of a new unit at the power house. This it is estimated would cost approximately $11,000 completed and would pay for itself in 4 1-2 years. Such equipment would be of modern design and although at a much reduced cost compared with the present plant it would in fact double the capacity. Dealing with the power house, alterations are recommnded with regard to the coal storing facilities. Mr. Smith in concluding intimated that if the incoming council would co-operate with those operating the light and power department in the same manner as the retiring council had done, enconomy would be achieved. The matter of the new unit, as was the entire report, was left over for consideration by the next council. It was pointed out, however, that in view of the likelihood of the development of hydro-electric power either from Bull River or Elko in the near future, no steps should be taken for the purchase of equipment until more information was available.

Ald. Beck announced to the council that the Fernie Curling Club was holding a benefit bonspiel on Jan. 1 and 2, for the Reconstruction Committee Memorial Building Fund, and as same would require practically two days to complete, it had been suggested to him that with the consent of the council, the Mayor should proclaim Jan. 2 a civic holiday. This decision was accordingly reached and His Worship will have the necessary proclamation issued.

Alds. Gates and Graham moved that arrangements be made to secure the Grand theatre for one evening between nomination day, Jan. 12, and election day, Jan. 15, or on Jan. 14 if same can be secured. This is for the purpose of giving the electors the opportunity to hear the candidates for next year's civic administration from the public platform and ascertain as far as possible what policy said candidates intend to invoke with regard to civic affairs.

The introduction of this subject brought from Mayor Uphill the declaration that he had never worked with a better council nor had the element of harmony been at any time since he had been on the council greater than had existed with the 1919 council. He said he had appreciated this condition to such an extent that if any of the aldermen were desirous of occupying the mayor's chair for 1920 he would guarantee Tom Uphill would not only not seek nomination but would give his support to the election of such alderman candidate.

Ald. Beck brought up the matter of a petition circulated for the purpose of ascertaining from among the ratepayers their position with regard to the city guaranteeing to finance the city band to the extent of the bandmaster's salary. He said one petition had been presented to the council showing the names of those ratepayers who were agreeable to having the city bear this expenditure but that he was under the impression that another petition was to have been circulated showing those for and against the proposal. This latter petition had not yet been presented, but in any event he said, "I wish to go on record here before the council that I am against the city paying the band, absolutely against." His Worship said he did not believe it was necessary at this time for any member of the council to make any declaration whatsoever in this regard but Ald. Beck reiterated that was his position. Ald. Gates dealing with this feature stated that if on the council next year, after sizing up the situation, he would be in favor of giving the band a substantial grant. He did not mean to go so far as to say that the city should pay the bandmaster's salary but he thought they should be given a reasonable grant.

G. W. V. A. OFFICERS

The annual general meeting of the Fernie Branch of the G.W.V.A. was held in their club rooms on Thursday evening, Dec. 18. The important business of the evening was the election of officers and executive committee for the 1920 term. The result of the election follows:

President — H. Bryant, acclamation.

1st Vice — Frank Nee, acclamation.

2nd Vice—Geo. Parnell.

Executive Committee — J. Hamer, D. Fraser, J. McNicholas, W. J. Claridge, J. Milburn, W. Riley.

The retiring President, G. G. Moffatt, addressed the meeting on the remarkable growth of the Fernie local since the time of his becoming President, when the membership was some twenty odd in numbers, now grown to its present strength of 300 odd with a good strong Women's Auxiliary. He also spoke on the matter of the Club premises, stating that through the efforts of the executive and members they had been able to move from the old Fernie Soldiers Club to the more commodious premises known as the Napanee building, for which the G. W. V. A. had to thank the Fernie Reconstruction Committee. The President stated that as a member of the latter organization he could say that the building at present known as the Fernie G.W.V.A. block would soon be vested entirely in the hands of the local Veterans as their home. The upper portion of the building at present was on a good paying basis and it was the hope of the Reconstruction Committee, with the assistance of the local and district citizens, at an early date, to have turned over to the Fernie G.W.V.A. the entire building and its administration. The president's remarks were received with much applause and a most hearty vote of thanks for his careful administration was moved and unanimously carried.

The forthcoming year of the G.W.V.A. is viewed with great hopes and prospects by the members, and in wishing our friends our most hearty good wishes for the New Year, we trust that you will again give us your confidence.

I.O.D.E. WILL SHOW PICTURES

I.O.D.E. Will Show Famous Travelling Gallery of Historical Pictures

An interesting exhibition of British Historical pictures will take place in the G.W.V.A. rooms on Tuesday, Jan. 6th. This famous collection of pictures, of which there are over fifty in number is something everyone should make a point of seeing. The exhibition will open at 3 p.m. Tea will be served and an admission of 25c charged. The exhibition will again be open in the evening, when a splendid musical program will be given. Let every man and woman interested in art attend this exhibition.

THE CALGARY SETTLEMENT

The agreement recently arrived at in Calgary between the Government, the United Mine Workers and the Operators, and referred to in the letter which appears in this issue from Senator Robertson to Henry Beard, President of the O.B.U., will, we believe, receive the general support of the men throughout District 18. The 14 per cent increase granted follows similar action in the United States, and it is expected that a permanent agreement will be negotiated within the next few months. The government has very plainly indicated its position with regard to the O.B.U., and the satisfactory conclusion of the Calgary negotiations is no doubt due in considerable measure to the efforts and assistance of the Government through the Department of Labor and the Director of Coal Operations. That the increase granted has been secured by the organization which has negotiated the miners' contracts for the past fifteen years will not be overlooked by the individual miner when comparing notes between what that organization has done for him and what the O.B.U. has said it would do. It is always easier to talk than work, but like most self-seeking and irresponsible agitators, the effect is only temporary, and the attendance of only fifty or sixty men at the meeting here a few days ago shows that the men are able to form their own conclusions on the Calgary conference. Of course the O.B.U. faction are emphasizing the fact that the United Mine Workers of America are an American organization. For years a great many of those who were recently O.B.U. officials were members and officers of the United Mine Workers and saw nothing to object to in the fact that its headquarters were in the United States. Remembering the strikes in this District, and particularly that in 1911, it is safe to say that the United Mine Workers have paid out more money in this District than they ever got out of it, and if they now take some precaution to see that the funds collected for them reach them, no one at all informed as to the progress of events here during the past year or so will question their wisdom. Calgary reports would indicate the intention to use the monies collected in Canada for the benefit of the members of the organization in the District.

The Band Concert

On Tuesday evening the Fernie City Band made its first public appearance since reorganization under Professor C. Zaccaro, when a concert was held at the Grand Theatre. Although the band has only been reorganized and directed by Prof. Zaccaro for a few short weeks, the demonstration given upon this occasion clearly indicates that locally we have musicians capable of producing a band of which the city may well well be proud. Unfortunately upon this occasion in view of the concert being held just prior to the holidays, the attendance was not nearly as large as desired but those who did attend are unanimous in their praise for the progress attained, and under the able directorship of Prof. Zaccaro, considering the material which he has at hand, there is no gainsaying the success of the band is assured. Below appears a copy of the program rendered and in addition to the instrumental numbers thereon, the vocal artists also deserve great credit for their efforts. Miss Mary Coppe's rendition of the 4th Sonata by Mozart was exceptionally good. With regard to the instrumental numbers by the band they were all very well rendered, but if any choice or comparison may be made the Love Waltz-Martha, composed by Prof. Zaccaro, was a feature. The band will very soon be ready to appear in public and it is hoped that more of the citizens will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear good music which has not been their privilege for some time.

THE MAN ON THE STREET SAYS

That G. G. Henderson's sane appeal to the electors of Fernie will go a long way to securing his election.

That there seems to be several screws loose in the city electric light department.

That the chief speakers against the acceptance of the agreement at the meeting held in Fernie on Wednesday last between the Executive Commission representing the U.M.W. of A., the operators and the government, were Wm. Potter, Frank Brindley, Wm. Sherman and two unknown good looking Italians, and that it looks as though some of the Bills and Franks began to fear that if the U.M.W. of A. start business again in Fernie under the new plan, there will not be so many easy jobs left for those who are more keen to hear the sound of their own voices than they like to listen to the coal rattle and fall from the points of their picks.

That Browne and Christophers some months ago were reported to have stated that "if the worst comes to the worst, we will go back to the pick again," but thus far no one has noticed any big demand for hardware in their behalf. They are still reaching for the kale from the boys who are willing to swing the pick. Clever chaps, those fellows, who can always make the other fellows be the goats while they do the spouting.

That the returned men are very much ashamed of their comrade who beat up an inoffensive Chinaman on the street the other day.

That Fernie is badly in need of a full council of business men and that it is the duty of a number of responsible men to offer thmselves for election.

That Prof. Porta must have taken to the woods after the 17th, as he has not been heard of since.

That the conviction of Russell, the O.B.U. revolutionary agitator, in Winnipeg, will be a serious blow to the propaganda work of that organization.

That the 14 per cent increase in miners' wages for the month of December will be a very acceptable Christmas box.

That a little bit of the mild weather of the past week is greatly appreciated after that 30 below stuff.

That a lot of the curlers are going around looking as though they had lost their best friend,

That Mayor Uphill is not saying very much but is doing a lot of quiet canvassing.

That Neil McCallum should hang out a few lanterns around the dangerous spots when the street lights are out of commission.

That the public seems to be going dance crazy.

That it is about time for a lot of O.B.U.'s in this neck of the woods to get wise and forget their pipe dream.

That Senator Robertson seems to have grasped the labor situation in District 18 with a strong hand.

That if the miners of District 18 would pay more attention to Senator Robertson, a labor man of national reputation, and less attention to the Potter-Brindley combination, they would be a lot better off.

LOAN MONEY FOR POULTRY

The Directors of the National Agricultural Society of France have been granted a substantial credit by the French Government for the purpose of acquiring breeding poultry for the restocking of the liberated regions in France. This need was brought to the attention of the Federal Minister of Agriculture by Monsieur M. Chevalier of the Credit Foncier Franco-Canadien, the Minister referring Monsieur Chevalier to the National Poultry Council.

The Council is now in communication with the Agricultural Society of France and pending receipt of information as to the quantity of the different breeds required the Provincial Representatives of the Council are making a survey of their respective provinces in order to ascertain what stock may be available for export. The varieties favoured by the French are the Barred Plymouth Rock the White Wyandotte, Black Minorca and Rhode Island Red, and also Bronze Turkeys. An appeal is being made by the President of the Council to the Provincial Departments of Agriculture, Agricultural Colleges and the Canadian Press, to do all possible to assist in the acquiring of the necessary information to carry on negotiations with the Agricultural Society of France, and to take advantage of the opportunity presented to place Canada in a favourable international light as a producer and exporter of breeding poultry. The provincial officers of the National Poultry Council are as follows:- P.E.I., Dr. P. C. Gauthier, Vice-Pres, National Poultry Council, St. Louis; N.S., Mr. H. H. Hull, Poultry and P. S. Ass'n, Glace Bay; N.B., Mr. A. C. McCulloch, Poultry Division, Department of Agriculture, Fredericton; Que., Dr. S. Lafortune, Pointe Gatineau; Ont., Dr. Robert Barnes, Health of Animals Branch, Ottawa; Man., Mr. N. W. Kerr, Vice-Pres. National Poultry Council, Brandon; Sask., Mr. H. M. Arnaud, Sask. Provincial Poultry Association, Regina; Alta., Mr. C. M. Baker, Alta. Provincial Poultry Association, Calgary; B.C., Mr. H. E. Waby, B.C. Provincial Poultry Assoc., Enderby.

It is interesting to note that in a report issued by the Commissioner-General for Canada in France importations of eggs into that country in 1912 amounted to 303,243 (Quintaux Metriques), the exports for the same year being 51,243. In 1918 the imports fell to 71,162 and the exports 4,600. From these figures it will be seen that prior to the war France was a heavy importer of eggs, and no doubt efforts will be made to bring the poultry population of France above the pre-war level in order that she may be self-sustaining. Canada should be in a position to supply all the breeding poultry required, but it will be necessary for all interested to give all assistance possible to the National Poultry Council in the locating and the selection of bred-to-lay stock.—Robert Barnes, President; Ernest Rhodes, Secretary, Live Stock Branch, Ottawa Ont.

American Tribute to British Railways

Mr. Owen Wister, the American author, thinks that the British long-distance train beats the American long-distance train in "speeds, as always, and comfort at length," arguing that our railways have borrowed every American device for comfort, and improved upon it. He is eulogistic of our sleeping berthing and vitriolic (as most Americans are) concerning American berthing, saying that its "16-section Pullman is an offence. Bulging curtains, bumping bodies, struggling trousers, multifarious underwear. What an uncivilized vulgar mess." Our dining-car system also, with its relay meals, he commends to American passengers, "who have to choke corridors with unorganized queues." But he reserves his best bouquet for smokeless British travel. The smoke and cinders of American long-distance trains "cover us, blacken us, get in our hair, smutch our books. From London to Liverpool not a whiff of smoke, not a cinder came through the window of that North-Western train. Seldom anything but a clean white vapor from English smoke-stacks." Bouquets also for the British railway workers. European engine-drivers "take more pains about it than ours," and 'the English stoker has more skill than the American."—London Daily Mail.

"CASCARETS" WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

the United Mine Workers of America have also been approved and confirmed by the director of coal operations, details of which will undoubtedly be made known to the miners at an early date.

It is obviously impossible to recognize two organizations as having jurisdiction to negotiate wage agreements for the same workmen. In view of the fact that there is in existence, and has been for years, an agreement between the mine operators and the United Mine Workers, which agreement is endorsed by the coal director on behalf of the federal government, you will, I am sure, recognize that it is impossible for me to suggest that some other organization should be recognized as representing the miners in District 18.

The United Mine Workers of America have a well established reputation of respect and fulfilling agreements made. It has been, and is now, endeavoring to fulfill the existing contract, and prevent the inevitable suffering consequent upon a coal famine, should an interruption of the production of coal in this area occur.

The organization for which you ask recognition has by its acts and the utterances of its leaders so far indicated no tendency to respect or fulfill any contractural obligation. It has, however, shown a disposition to cause workmen, members of existing trades unions to repudiate their agreements with their employers, as well as their obligations to their respective organizations. These facts would appear ample to justify the reply given to your question, asking that the O.B.U. be given recognition by the Coal Operators' Association, and the director of coal operations, for the purpose of entering into an agreement as to wages and working conditions.

Inasmuch as you have but recently become the head of the so-called One Big Union in District No. 18, it is perhaps fitting that I should briefly set forth the unhappy experiences already had with your organization, and the evidences of its insincerity and instability.

When the war ended the coal operators in District No. 18 were desirous that the government control over the coal mines in the district should be discontinued. Early in this year at a convention of miners representing District 18, a resolution was passed and forwarded to the Department of Labor, Ottawa, urging the continuance of the supervision by the coal director. The director was requested by the department to arrange a conference between the members of the association and the representatives of the miners, with a view to having them reach a mutually satisfactory agreement for a definite period, and if this could be accomplished, further government supervision and control would seem unnecessary. If, however, an agreement could not be reached that fact would in itself be evidence of the necessity of continued supervision by the coal director until such time as a more stable condition was established.

In March of this year representatives of the Coal Operators' Association, Mr. P. M. Christophers and Mr. Livett, representing the miners, together with the director of coal operations and his colleagues, met at Ottawa, and they reached an understanding whereby existing rates and conditions should remain in force until such time as a new agreement had been made between the coal operators and the United Mine Workers in the United States, which was expected would occur about August, 1919, or until the United Mine Workers of America had decided upon some other definite policy. Both parties agreed that this understanding should be confirmed by the director of coal operations, which was done by issuing order 116. Very shortly after the issuing of this order, demands were made by Mr. Christophers for a general reduction in hours of work, which subsequently resulted in the coal operators conceding the demands, notwithstanding the existing agreement to the contrary. On April 16, order 124 was issued, which put into effect an eight-hour basic day throughout District 18, with nine hours' pay for eight hours' work. Within two weeks following the issuing of this order, further demands were made by Mr. Christophers upon the director of coal operations, urging that certain men who had, prior to the time order 124 was issued, been working ten hours per day, and who by the order were reduced to an eight hours' day with nine hours' pay, should be given ten hours' wages for eight hours' work. This demand affected probably thirty men out of approximately 8000 men in the district. The coal operators declined further concessions, and expressed lack of faith in the fulfillment by Mr. Christophers of any agreement he might make on behalf of the men. The coal director offered to investigate these individual cases if the results of the investigation and the findings would be accepted. This proposal was declined and an application made to the department of labor for an independent inquiry outside the jurisdiction of the coal director. Inquiry was made of Mr. Christophers as to whether or not the findings of such a tribunal would be accepted. To this inquiry a negative reply was received.

The department was in receipt of information from outside sources which indicated that it was Mr. Christophers' intention that if ten hours' pay for eight hours' work was conceded to these certain men, that he, in a short time, would make a similar demand for the whole 8000 men in the district. It was perfectly evident that it was wholly useless to attempt to make any agreement with Mr. Christophers because he had on two occasions definitely stated that he would not be bound thereby.

Arising out of this small difficulty a general strike was called throughout District No. 18, but I am satisfied that it was not because of the grievance of these few men that it occurred, but because of the desire of O.B.U. adherents to give sympathy and support to the general strike movement in Winnipeg, which the officials of the O.B.U. were endeavoring to spread all over Western Canada. This opinion seems justified by the information contained in a telegram sent from Edmonton on May 20, addressed to Mr. Edward Browne of Calgary, and signed by Alex. Susnar. The telegram reads as follows:

> "Secretaries of Miners' Unions here did not receive general strike call yet. What is the matter? If Armstrong reconsiders order 124 then call miners out in sympathy with Winnipeg strikers, but do not put fires out. Executives of all unions in Edmonton unanimous for general strike to take effect Monday.

You will agree, I am sure, from this telegram that it was intended that the strike of the miners in District No. 18 should be called even if the coal director had conceded their demands respecting the 10 hours' pay for the few men involved in the local dispute.

The general strike of miners was, as you are aware, called on the 23rd May and was not ended until officials of the United Mine Workers of America came on the ground and removed Mr. Christophers and other officers of the union who had betrayed the organization in whose employ they had formerly been.

The United Mine Workers' officials gave ample evidence of their desire to fulfill the existing contract and to co-operate with the mine operators in re-opening the mines. A number of avowed One Big Union supporters perjured themselves by renewing their allegiance to the United Mine Workers of America and forthwith proceeded to get in positions of trust in the local unions and have ever since endeavored to bring about the repudiation of the United Mine Workers and their existing contracts with the mine operators.

All of the above facts must, I think, clearly indicate to you, if you have not previous knowledge of them, that the One Big Union is an organization wholly unreliable and untrustworthy, and one which no good citizen could endorse.

For the month of October, 1919, the average daily earnings of some 3000 contract miners in this field was $7.89. From December 1, 1919, the 14 per cent increase will apply which, on the basis of their October performance, will make future average earnings amount to $8.99 per day. The earnings of all other workmen in the mines have also been increased 14 per cent.

This adjustment places the miners in this district on a general equality with those of the United States and on Vancouver Island, and will, I think, be regarded by the public as a substantial and adequate wage. There is at the present time a limited supply of coal in the prairie provinces, and any interruption of production will probably result in hardship and suffering in many communities spread over these vast prairies at this season of the year. The threat of the One Big Union, as contained in resolutions received by the coal director some days ago, and referred to in your letter of yesterday, is to me exactly contrary to your professed regard for public welfare. The Coal Operators' Association, the United Mine Workers' organization, and the director of coal operations propose, after having ensured a full measure of justice to the miners in this district, that every step necessary to maintain production and protect the public against the inconveniences and hardships consequent upon any interruption shall be taken. Any action indulged in by your organization at a time when the miners have no justifiable grievance and which would bring upon the whole community inconceivable hardship, those responsible for such action must expect to assume responsibility therefor.

I am sure that a large majority of miners in District No. 18 will not countenance any such drastic action as has been indicated when there exists no grievance which could possibly justify interruption in the production of coal.

Yours sincerely,
G. D. ROBERTSON, Minister of Labor.

(The Morning Albertan, December 20th, 1919.

O.B.U., WHICH CLAIMS CONTROL, IS WILLING TO MEET OPERATORS

President Beard Writes Letter to Minister of Labor Robertson in Calgary.

Declaring that it is futile for the U.M.W. of A. representatives to attempt to claim any representation in District 18, and that the Conference now in progress will fail to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion, and that it may lead to conditions not wished for by any of the parties concerned, Henry Beard, President of District No. 1, Mining Department of the O.B.U., has written a letter to Senator Gideon Robertson, at present in Calgary, setting forth a statement of affairs existing in he district at the present time. Mr. Beard asks the Senator to use his influence to bring about a conference between "true Representatives of the workers and the operators of this district." Following is the text of the letter to Senator Robertson:

THE LETTER

"Having read in the Edmonton Bulletin of a conference being held in Calgary on the 17th instant, which was attended by yourself, Commissioner Armstrong, a number of Representatives of the Western Coal Operators' Association, in addition to what was stated to be representatives of the U.M.W. of A., as Chairman of the coal mining district No. 1, mining department O.B.U., and having the membership and the interested public at heart, I feel it my duty to place before you and the public at large the true position of this mining district, formerly known as District 18, U.M.W. of A.

"In giving a true statement of affairs existing at this time in our district, I am prompted to do so because I feel sure that the representatives of the U.M.W. of A. have misrepresented to you and the public the attitude and desire of the mine workers of this district. I shall attempt to prove to you my contention by advancing facts proving that the representatives of the U.M.W. of A. do not represent more than five per cent of the workers of the district, and even this small proportion may be eliminated in a very short time.

In order to demonstrate my assertion, I beg to submit the following list of local units now affiliated with the O.B.U. with their respective approximate membership:

Coleman	350	Blairmore	386	Canmore	250
Coalhurst	500	Taber	250	Carbondale	340
Edmonton	150	Michel	450	Hillcrest	286
Fernie	800	Bellevue	450	Nordegg	460

And the whole of the Drumheller field with the exception of the Moody and Jewel mines. The remaining locals of the district are clamoring for our organizers to come in and assuring us of their intention to become members of the O.B.U. The above figures, together with the locals of which we are absolutely assured will give us a membership of approximately 8000 members.

I trust this will be sufficient to cause you to realize that it is futile for the U.M.W. of A. representatives to attempt to claim any representation in this district, and further would call to your attention the fact that those presumably representatives of the U.M.W. of A. in conference with you have never been before any part of our membership nor have they been instructed to negotiate any agreement on the part of the mine workers.

In view of the above situation I am sure you will reaize that such a conference as is now in progress will fail to arrive at a satisfactory conclusion and may lead to conditions not wished for either by yourself, the general public, or the miners themselves.

The Executive board of our organization was empowered by our membership at the convention in Calgary, December 1, 2 and 3 to take up the matter of a new wage agreement with the director of coal operations and the Western Coal Operators' Association, and we believe such an agreement can be amicably negotiated.

With the facts in this letter before you I feel certain that we can count upon your support to arrange for a conference not later than the end of this month and thus within the period mentioned in our resolution of instruction.

Knowing that it is your desire to bring about that harmony which is necessary for the public welfare we trust that your every influence will be used to bring about a conference between true representatives of the workers and the operators of this district."

Yours very sincerely,
HENRY BEARD, Chairman.

SUPERB CAST IN "THE BETTER WIFE"

The cast for Clara Kimball Young's forthcoming Select Picture, "The Better Wife," which comes to the Orpheum theatre on Monday and Tuesday, is one of the most remarkable that has been assembled in all of Miss Young's productions. The leading man in "The Better Wife" will be Nigel Barrie, who is celebrating his dicsharge from the Royal Flying Corps by playing the role of Sir Richard Beverly. Kathlyn Williams, another well known motion picture actress, is cast for an important part in this production, while Lilian Walker, a star of both stage and screen, is seen as Helen Kingdon, an English girl. Irving Cummings has an important part and one which fits his type to perfection. He is seen as the Comte de Cheveral, a gay French count who cuts a wide swath among the ladies. Little Ben Alexander, who has come to be known as the sweetest child actor on the screen, is also included, while the remainder of the company includes Barbara Tenatn and Edward Kimball.

In "The Better Wife," Mis Young plays Charmain Page, an American girl who marries Sir Richard Beverly, a British Baronet. It is a marriage on the Baronet's part to secure the American girl's wealth, but she soon proves to be "The Better Wife."

UNDESIRABLE ALIENS NOT WANTED

As a consequence of the lessons partially learned during the war Canada and the United States have tightened up their laws against anti-Canadian or anti-American, as the case may be, aliens.

For the citizen of a foreign country who comes to Canada with the honest intention to become a good Canadian and British subject the friendiliest welcome is waiting. He will find that, while the streets are not paved with gold and that he has to work to win a living, he will be assisted rather than handicapped in his efforts to make a success of what he undertakes.

But the alien who comes here to make trouble, to foment strife, to scheme schemes to destroy this country's form of government by force in order to try out some mad politico-social idea fomented from the festering sore of some central European slum should get short shrift. He should be booted out of the country and sent home. Or better still, the precautions taken should be stringent enough to keep him out.

While the war has taught us some thing of the danger of the undesirable immigrant it has not taught us enough. The laws to keep the country free from any but the best classes of immigrants should be further strengthened.—Nelson News

AN INDIVIDUAL CITY

Toledo is one of the most individual cities in Europe. It is set on a high and bare rock, above a river broken by sounding weirs, in the midst of a sombre and rocky land. Wit hits high, windowless walls, which keep their own secrets, its ascents and descents through narrow passageways between miles of twisting gray stone, it seems to be encrusted upon the rock, like a fantastic natural product; and it is at the same time a museum of all the arts which have left their mark upon Europe.

Walk long enough, down descending paths, until you hear the sound of rushing water, and you come out on a crumbling edge of land, going down precipitously, with its cargo of refuse, into the Tagus, or upon one of the sharply turning roads which lead downwards in a series of inclined planes. On the other side of the ravine another hill rises, her abrupt gray rocks, there shaded to an infinitely faint green, which covers the gray rock like a transparent garment. Every turn, which leads you to the edge of the precipice, has its own surprise for you; there seems to be more churches than houses, and every church has its own originality, or ti may be, its own series of originalities. If it had none of its churches, if it were a mere huddle of white windowless Arab houses, like Elche, which it somewhat resembles, Toledo would still be, from its mere poise there on its desert rock, one of the most picturesque places in Spain. As it is, every stone which goes to make its strange, penetrating originality of aspect, has its history and possesses its own various beauty.

The Ballot Box Way

Society has a right to protect itself in every way against those who would overturn it by force. We believe in the rule of the majority. Trose who wish to change our Government have the full right to do it whenever they can obtain the honest vote of a majority of American citizens. But it is not only our right but our duty to see that no one does it in any other way. It it the duty of our Government to prevent the publication by spoken or written word of all counsel to resist our laws, to overthrow our institutions by force, or to attack in any way our American principle of democratic rule. Those who want to use other means than the voice of the majority have no right to be in this country.—San Francisco Chronicle.

NEURALGIC PAINS

Give Way to Soothing Hamlin's Wizard Oil

Hamlin's Wizard Oil is a safe and effective treatment for headache and neuralgia. Rubbed in where the pain is, it acts as a tonic to the tortured nerves and almost invariably brings quick relief.

Its healing, antiseptic qualities can always be relied upon to prevent infection, or other serious results, from sprains, bruises, cuts, burns, bites and stings. Just as good, too, for sore feet, stiff neck, frost bites, cold sores and canker sores.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

RUSSELL IS FOUND GUILTY

Wnnipeg, Dec. 24.—R. B. Russell, one of the eight strike leaders, was convicted today on a charge of seditious conspiracy and committing a common nuisance. He will be brought up for sentence on Saturday at 10.30 a.m. A unanimous verdict was returned by the jury on all seven counts in the indictment. Justice tempered with the gospel of peace on earth, good will towards men, came as a sensational conclusion to the trial today, when found guilty on seven counts, Russell was allowed his freedom until Saturday morning so that he could spend Christmas with his friends and not behind iron bars.

Russell did not flinch as the verdict was announced and at no time during the gruelling half hour when his fate was hanging in the balance did he by the slightest tremor of a muscle betray nervousness. The incoming of the jury, the unanimous verdict against him and the decision to let him free until after Christmas failed to arouse him from his state of indifference.

The courtroom was crowded to the door and as if acting on a common impulse the spectators stood up as the jury filed in. They remained standing and the proceedings of the court finished amid a dense silence. All left the courtroom in an orderly manner and separated in the hall into excited groups to re-fight the battle of the jury.

His lordship, in his charge, quoted definitions of seditious conspiracy, and stated the accused should receive the benefit if the jury found that Russell's intentions were bona fide, that he had no malicious motives, no guilty mind.

If they found the accused and others banded together for an illegal purpose, then any act by one of the party with reference to the common object was evidence against any of the others engaged.

Dealing with letters written by Russell or received by him his lordship said there was evidence that Russell assisted in getting control of the labor temple. It was hard to forget Russell's letters, with their nice, short, crisp, well-expressed sentences, such as, for instance, "knock hell out of the Labor party," he said.

Russell was connected with the Socialist party, which was responsible for the distribution of Socialist literature. Referring to this propaganda, the judge said:

Dealing with William Ives, another of the accused strike leaders, his lordship said he was the editor of the Western Labor News, and possibly the jury might find that sufficient to show that the propaganda was seditious.

"Speaking to you as a judge," he said, "if I were on a jury there is much in that matter that I would find no difficulty in concluding was seditious.

Armstrong, one of the accused, the judge stated, was, according to evidence, a soap box orator and a Red, who, with Russell and others, gained control of the Trades and Labor Council. Queen was also responsible for propaganda distribution at a theatre meeting, and had aided and abetted the strike. W. A. Pritchard had been called one of the most active speakers and workers in the Socialist cause, and had issued propaganda for the One Big Union. He stated that Johns was another of the Reds who had gained control of the Trades and Labor Council and was one of the delegates to the Calgary convention. "As for Robinson," went on the judge, "like rancid butter in the mouth which leaves a bad taste is the evidence of Robinson, secretary of the strike committee." Robinson had tried to disclaim responsibility for everything and swore that he did his duty as an alderman by the city at large. Somehow it did not sound very well from him. Robinson did his duty to the strike committee. R. E. Bray, said the judge, was not serving two masters. He led the returned soldiers who were strike sympathizers.

Winnipeg, Dec. 23.—In answer to a query from Mr. Justice Metcalfe at the luncheon adjournment at the trial of R. B. Russell, one of the eight strike leaders charged with seditious conspiracy and committing common nuisance, Mr. Andrews, K. C., senior counsel for the crown stated that he would finish his address to the jury this afternoon. The judge then said that he would be enabled to conclude his charge to the jury at the evening session tonight, leaving all day tomorrow for the jury to come to a decision.

The leading feature of Mr. Andrews' address was his reference to the communist manifesto published and circulated throughout the province by the Socialists of Canada, of which Russell is a member, when he declared it contained statements advocating killing of all national sentiment and abolishing the family, taking woman from the pede[illegible] on [illegible] he had been placed.

Mr. Cassidy at this [illegible] rose and heatedly denied that the document contained anything of the kind, and Mr. Andrews read from the pamphlets statements forecasting abolishment of family ties and casting slurs on what was termed the present bourgeoisie family system, which the manifesto predicted would terminate with the banishment of capital. "This is the kind of stuff they are circulating to establish class consciousness," he said. "It is a lie; nowhere is the home more sacred than among the honest working man."

The crown counsel stated that Russell and his friends did not advocate this system of government, except that as a means that they might become the dictators, the Lenines and Trotzkys of Canada.

Opening his address to the jury this forenoon, A. J. Andrews, K.C., leading crown counsel, stated that he was disappointed that Mr. Robert Cassidy, K.C., senior defence counsel, had not seen fit to analyze the evidence. It would be for the jury to decide, he declared whether this failure was not because of the impossibility of finding anything in the evidence pointing to the innocence of the accused.

Mr. Cassidy had contented himself with making a general denial and dismissing the evidence with a wave of his hand said Mr. Andrews. There is, he stated, no question as to the legality of the indictment. The accused had tried to have it quashed on the ground that it was improper, but his lordship ruled that it was legal, Mr. Andrews asserted. Words were seditious when they tended to provoke a breach of the peace.

Mr. Andrews went on to analyze the indictment clause by clause. He said that if the jury read the indictment from end to end they would not find one word stating that the accused had tried to overthrow the government. It is stated that they attempted to bring about unrest and discontent with the ultimate object that one day the government would be overthrown and a government modelled o nthe Soviet system of Russia set up ,he said.

Under the law, said Mr. Andrews, the accused did all of the things charged in the indictment if he aided and abetted the doing. It had been proved, he said, that human life had been endangered by the Winnipeg general strike.

He referred to the meeting in the Walker theatre and told the jury that they might find that these meetings were seditious, not altogether because of the resolutions passed, but because these resolutions were made the means of getting off inflammatory speeches.

Pointing to the mass of literature before him, Mr. Andrews asked the jury if they ever dreamed that such propaganda was being carried on in Canada. He referred to the association of Mr. Russell with other Socialists in the Dominion, naming particularly Joe Knight of Edmonton; Berg, Edmonton; MacQuire, Edmonton; Stevenson and Kavanaugh Vancouver; Cassidy of North Bay, and the other seven accused. There was a common understanding between them all, he contended.

Mr. Andrews then read from the Socialist manifesto articles to the effect that a peaceful revolution could not take place. No mention was made of the ballot throughout the document, which he termed the Socialists' Bible.

TO THE STOCKBREEDERS OF SOUTH EAST KOOTENAY

For lack of a quoroum at the annual meeting of the abve association on Dec. 20, we were unable to transact any business.

I am therefore by this notice calling a postponed meeting for the same purpose for Saturday, Jan. 3, at 2 p.m. in Cranbrook City Hall.

TO THE ELECTORS, CITY OF FERNIE :

Ladies and Gentlemen—I have decided to become a candidate for the position of Mayor at the approaching Municipal Elections. My purpose in so doing at this time is for the object of demonstrating to the taxpayers of Fernie that the city's affairs can be efficiently conducted for considerably less money than has been spent for that purpose year by year for the past five or six years.

I am not the nominee of any party or faction, and am in a position to offer my services to the city untrammelled by obligations to any particular faction in the community, and if elected will endeavor to conduct the affairs of the city in such a manner as will redound in the greatest good to the greatest number.

The burden of taxation has been rapidly increasing year by year, with but little to show for it. Water and light rates have increased and efficiency has decreased.

If you desire to see an earnest effort made to alter these conditions your vote will be appreciated.

I consider the position of Mayor of any city an honorary one and the duties of that office should be performed for honor's sake and not for money. If elected, no additional burden will be added to the taxpayer as a salary for Mayor.

I have the honor to be,
Ladies and Gentlemen,
Yours very truly,
G. G. HENDERSON.

TO THE ELECTORS :

Having decided to allow my name to again be placed in nomination for the position of Alderman, I desire to solicit your vote and influence on my behalf. Having been Alderman in the City of Fernie for several years and having always tried to do my civic duty to the best of my ability, I appeal to you upon my record.

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season,

WM. ROBICHAUD.

The hello girls in the telephone office wish to thank their many friends who so kindly remembered them on Christmas day.

Miss Geraldine Bryant, of Hawaii, and Miss Aline Stewart-Williams, of Victoria, are the guests of Mrs. Corsan during the Christmas season.

Dr. Corsan, on behalf of the sick and wounded soldiers under treatment in this district, desires to thank the Knight of Columbus for the Christmas gifts which have been sent to them.

The annual Sunday School Xmas Tree and Entertainment of Olivet Baptist church will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 30th, when a cantata will be given by the scholars, entitled "Santa Claus and His Friends."

The Moose members and friends are holding a social evening in Ingram's Hall on Monday, Dec. 29th. Doors at 7 p.m. Unveiling of the Roll of Honor will take place.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rewers wish to thank all those who so kindly helped them during their recent sad bereavement and also thank those who so kindly sent floral tributes.

Don't let the kiddies forget that the Trites-Wood Co. will be there as usual with their big treat on New Year's day. The fun will commence at 11 o'clock. Everybody welcome.

Members of the Fernie Golf Club were out in force on Christmas Day and the links were in fine shape, notwithstanding the recent heavy rains. Fernie has surely moved into the banana belt.

The premises of F. R. Haigh, a prominent Fernie Russelite, were raided by the Mounted Police this week and, we understand, a considerable quantity of questionable literature was seized. It is expected that several charges will be laid.

A party of returned men who were out celebrating on Xmas eve collided with a party of Russians in a local hotel. For about ten minutes clubs, billiard balls, cuspidores, etc., were trumps, after which they gathered up the fragments, four to the hospital and five to the cooler.

On Monday next, Dec. 29, in the S. A. Hall, the Christmas Tree entertainment will be given, when the young people will give a very special program of recitations, dialogues and drills. A special item will be the recitation "Rock of Ages." We want you to be sure and come early, eight o'clock sharp.

Murray McLeod, the last of the four McLeod boys to return from overseas, arrived home on Tuesday. Murray, who is the youngest of the family, enlisted in the Princess Pats in 1915, but later transferred to a machine gun battalion. He is one of the last of the Fernie boys to arrive from overseas.

Died—On Monday, Dec. 22nd, 1919, Charlotte Marion, beloved daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Rewers, aged three years. The funeral was held on Wednesday, Dec. 24, from Christ Church, where Rev. Yolland conducted the services. Mr. and Mrs. Rewers have the heartfelt sympathy of everyone in their sad bereavement.

The following members of the Ladies Hockey Club have been selected as a team to leave for Calgary next week to play a team from that city: Misses Mary Dragon, Dorothy Henderson, Flo Hamill, Dahlia Schagel, Bertha Whalley, Edith Biggs, Nancy Wood and Mrs. Donaldson. A return match at Fernie is booked for Jan. 7th.

Rev. Yolland informs us that the report published in our last issue that he had resigned is not correct. We are glad that the report that the parson had an attack of cold feet is not right. He is a live wire and a good citizen. There are lots of ups and downs in the ministry just like every other calling. A man should stick even if the boiler does blow up once in a while.

Owing to some of the power house staff being off on a celebration the city street lights were out of commission, with the result that there were several small accidents. One man feel into the excavation of the Haddad building and nearly broke his neck. This is not the first occasion of late when the street lights have been out and it is time somebody got busy. In order to navigate a lot of the sidewalks in the town considerable light is needed.

A quiet wedding was celebrated on Christmas day in the Church of England, when Mr. John Turner, of Regina, was united in marriage to Miss Mable Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Nelson, of this city. Only the immediate friends of the contracting parties were present. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Yolland. After the service a sumptuous wedding dinner was partaken of at the home of the bride's parents and the happy couple left on the evening train for the east.

MINERS GET 14 P.C. INCREASE

After several days' negotiations in Calgary between the coal mine operators of Alberta and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, Senator Gideon Robertson, minister of labor, announced Saturday morning that a settlement has been reached in connection with an increase of wages to the miners.

This covers an increase of 14 per cent, and is embodied in an order issued by Director of Coal Operations W. H. Armstrong, the full text of which reads as follows:

"By virtue of the authority vested in me by order of the committee of the Privy Council, passed under the provisions of the War Measures Act of Canada, 1914, I hereby approve and confirm the following agreement entered into between the Western Coal Operators Associations and the which reads as follows: :

"December 18th, 1919.

" 'Subject to the approval of the director of coal operations, by order, following temporary agreement entered into between the Western Coal Operators' Association of Canada and the United Mine Workers of America, through their representatives—

" '(1) It is hereby agreed that, commencing December 1, all members of the United Mine Workers of America, or those who hereafter become members of that organization and who are employed in or around the mines by members of the Western Coal Operators' Association, shall be paid an increase of fourteen per cent., same to apply on prices and bonuses now paid to all classes of labor in such mines. The increase to temporarily remain in effect pending the investigation and negotiations which are now being conducted relative to mining conditions and wages in the competitive field of the United States.

" '(2) It is agreed that when negotiations are concluded in the competitive fields of the United States, that representatives of the Western Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of America shall be selected by each organization to meet in Calgary to formulate and negotiate an agreement to govern for a period of time which may be agreed upon by the representatives of the two associations and sanctioned by the director of coal operations.

The result of the investigation and negotiations in the United States to be taken into consideration in reaching a basis of agreement.

(3) "It is further agreed that this contract i smade and entered into for the sole use of the members of the United Mine Workers of America and the members of the Western Coal Operators' Association of Canada. All men who work in and around the mines, who are eligible to become members of the United Mine Workers of America, must join that organization, and agree to sign check-off for all dues, assessments, and fines; and the management of the mines agree to forward deductions made to the acting secretary of the district or such other persons as that official may designate."

Note—The foregoing clause to become effective whenever the officials of the United Mine Workers of America appear on the ground in each locality and co-operate with the operators in arranging details.

(4) "It is agreed that no man will be employed or be permitted to remain in the employ of the company unless he agrees to comply with the foregoing conditions."

(5) "Retroactive pay due miners under this agreement for the first pay period in December is to be paid in two equal instalments on the two pay days in January."

(6) "Nothing in this agreement shall prevent either side from taking up any matter for re-adjustment that may seem to them unjust when the conference referred to in clause No. 2 convenes."

Signed on behalf of the Western Coal Operators' Association:

N. C. Pitcher, Vice-President
W. F. McNeill, Sec.-Treas.

Signed on behalf of United Mine Workers of America, District No. 18:

Sam Ballantyne,
Wm. Dalrymple,
R. Livett.

Note—"The representatives of the United Mine Workers of America urge that a clause be inserted providing for the acceptance of the United States settlement as a basis of negotiation in a new agreement. An agreement on this point being found impossible this question is referred to the coal director for a decision when the new agreement comes up for consideration."

"Clause No. 3 is not to be considered as setting a precedent when negotiating a new agreement."

"This order and the agreement which it confirms is to remain in force until rescinded, revised, or until the new agreement referred to in Clause No. 2 is negotiated, and during that period is to be respected in all mines under the jurisdiction of the director of coal operations."

W. H. Armstrong,
Director of Coal Operations.

BLACK—DUTHIE

A very quiet Christmas Day wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duthie, Howland Avenue, when their only daughter, Alice, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Major Andrew Black, M.C., chief clerk in the Government Agent's office here. The popularity of the young couple has caused the event to be of unusual interest locally and while same was rather unexpected, the reticience the groom has maintained re the promotion and honors won by him on active service will be received with pleasant surprise. Andy Black, born in Aberdeen, Scotland, occupied his present position for some time prior to his enlistment as private in the 54th Batt. He went overseas and later transferred and at the time of winning the Military Cross was Captain in the 11th Canadian L.T.M. Battery, from which he was subsequently promoted and gazetted with the commission of Major. The bride bears the distinction of being the first white girl of Fernie, having arrived here with her parents when the Crow's Nest Pass branch was under construction at the age of three years.

The ceremony was performed at 6.00 p.m. yesterday evening at which only members of the family and very near friends attended. The bride wore a very becoming gown of black silk with overdress of Georgette crepe. The travelling costume was of blue serge and large hat, with plucked beaver coat, and furs to match. Mrs. William Burland, of Vancouver, maid of honor, was attired in a rich black silk gown. Rev. Batzold officiated.

The happy couple were the recipients of many gifts, among them being: Cabinet of Community silver and carving set, Mr. and Mrs. Duthie, parents of the bride; cut glass cream and sugar, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Quail; Pyres casserole, Mr. and Mrs. C. Leitch; cut glass berry bowl, Miss Fairy McDougall; etched glass water set, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Burland; silver bread tray, Mr. and Mrs. Major Moffatt; silver and china deposit teapot and hot water jug, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Quail; silver candlesticks, Miss A. Black; sterling picture frame, Mrs. Black; hand painted cake and bread and buttter plates, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hewat; linen luncheon cloth, Mr. and Mrs. S. Graham; pair serviette holders with crest, Mrs. Chalmers, Aberdeen, Scotland; cut glass water set, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Thomson; cut gass vases, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Suddaby; dresser set, Mrs. F. Coffey; siver candesticks, George Duthie, Aberdeen, Scotland; case sterling silver coffee spoons, Miss Janet Back .

A Question of Humanity

Today, a year after the overthrow of Turkey, Armenia has hardly less to fear from the Turk than she ever had. The power of Mustapha Kemal is growing greater every day. Who is there to rescue the Armenians from extermination? There is no question of prestige or material advantage attaching to an Armenian mandate. It is a question of sheer humanity. That is the appeal America has to answer one way or the other. Her reluctance to enter on the great responsibilities involved can be understood. But the greatness of the service she can render is a compelling challenge to her chivalry. If it proves powerful enough to bear down her reluctance she will make not Armenia alone but all who honor humanity and altruism her debtors.—London Daily News.

The right of the majority to rule is conditioned by the duty of the majority to rule justly.—Woodstock Sentinel Review.

SPIRITUALISM AND MADNESS

"People who follow spiritualism are on the highroad to madness," states Dr. Haydn Brown, an eminent neurologist of London, England.

"Many of my patients received their first mental shock at spiritualistic seances. They are risky things for the human mind, and would-be believers attend at their peril."

Dr. Brown made these assertions before a meeting of professional illusionists and others who are united in an effort to expose fake spiritual manifestations with which England is at present flooded.

"The disorder," said Dr. Brown, "is progressive. It starts with illusion, emotional interest in the proceedings, followed by a mild form of neurosis caused by the anxiety of the subject to believe. Then come delusions and finally hallucinations. One spiritualist enthusiast ended up by hearing voices coming from every manhole in the street, until he was terrified to leave his house."

Dr. Haydn Brown's accusation has brought about a storm in the very extensive spiritualist circles in Britain.

Toronto physicians and alienists are not inclined to make as sweeping a statement as Dr. Brown's. Dr. Harvey Clare, medical director of the Department of Hospitals, Prisons and Public Charities of the Ontario Government, and one of the most eminent and experienced students in Canada of diseases of the mind says:

"I have never encountered a case of insanity the original cause of which was an interest in spiritualism. But I have seen a great many cases of insanity, one phase of which concerned spiritualism. As I have never investigated spiritualism and have little information on the subject, I do not wish to appear in any way to condemn it, for I know several very sincere and rational men, who are investigating it with no danger."

"But mental diseases are diseases in the same sense as are pneumonia or tuberculosis. One of the commonest manifestations of the disease is the hallucination—the hearing of voices and so on.

"It is therefore natural that the person so affected should search for explanation of this very disturbing phenomenon. And spiritualism is very often the subjelt to which he turns for that explanation.

"Of course, other religions appeal to the person affected by mental disorders. The religious fanatic is very frequently a person of unsound mind, and the fanatic is not always a spiritualists.

"I will say, however, that spiritualism or any other force that aggravates the disorder of a person slightly affected by mental disease is very likely to help him over the borderline.

"One Toronto lady, deeply shocked by the death of her son in the war, was subject to hallucinations and turned to spiritualism for confirmation of the idea that the voice she heard was that of her son. This lady finally lost her reason and was placed in an institution. She recovered, and now fails to understand anything of the period she passed through.

"Many of the friends and relatives of people we have placed in hospitals for the insane have assured me that it was spiritualism that caused the collapse. The majority of these cases, however, have convinced me that the subjects were mentally affected before becoming interested in spiritualism, and assumed that interest only in the instinctive desire to account for the disorders of their minds."

Dr. G. Stevenson, of the staff of the Provincial Hospital for the insane, 999 Queen west, has not encoutered any cases that would bear out Dr. Haydn Brown's statement.

"When a mind becomes diseased," said he, "it is the basic instincts that are first affected. One of the primitive instincts of man is to worship, and very often, in mental disease, a religious manifestation of some abnormal sort is the first sign of insanity. But I doubt if a sound mind could be disturbed by investigations into spiritualism or any other similar subject."

Another physician connected with an institution said that undoubtedly dabbling in spiritualism would further unbalance a slightly insane person, and that therefore such interests should be kept away from persons not mentally and physically sound. If the present vogue of spiritualism were to result in the aggravation of many cases of insanity, the authorities would have to prohibit promiscuous investigation and reserve it solely for accredited scientific bodies such as the universities.

In Dr. Haydn Brown's campaign he says that one doctor, who secretly attended a spiritualistic demonstration, formed the opinion that the majority of people present were on the border line of insanity.

Dilating on the difference between illusion, delusion and hallucination, Dr. Brown said:

"If you see a cat sitting on the hearth rug and can trick yourself into thinking that it is a dog—that is an illusion.

"If you are looking at a cat and believe you are looking at a dog, that is a delusion.

"If you think you are looking at a cat when there is no cat there at all—then that is hallucination."

The Age of the Young Man

We are strong for young blood in public life. Probably many of the unpleasant features of the war's aftermath would have been prevented if younger men had played a larger part in the conduct of the war and in the making of the peace. Certainly in that event there would have been less cynicism and more healthy optimism at Paris than there was. The proper formula is a healthy mixture of youth and age in government, as of radicalism and conservatism. Youth has played too little a part in affairs of state in the country recently.—Baltimore Sun.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

PSYCHOLOGY OF BOLSHEVIKI

Some of the reasons given for supporting Bolshevism would be funny if they were not tragic. For instance, at the trial of the alleged Winnipeg revolutionists there was evidence to the effect that the Rev. William Ivens was a Bolshevist because "Bolshevism regarded the sacredness of human life." Now, speaking of Bolshevism in respect to the "sacredness of human life," seems like the last grim joke that the Reverend William could perpetrate, but to give the devil his dues, we will give him credit for an honest intention. What I wish to ask is, where do these people obtain all their misinformation? What is the psychology of the Bolsheviki? And more particularly of the "parlor" variety such as Mr. Ivens, who is presumed, being a reverend, to possess some culture, reasoning ability and common sense.

It seems a hopeless task, like fanning the air, to point out to men of the Ivens mentality that life in Russia has been anything but sacred since the Bolshevist regime began. For instance, he would probably utterly disbelieve the testimony of the Hon. David Francis, former U. S. Ambassador to Russia, to the effect that the Trotsky-Lenine Government had either permitted or sanctioned the nationalization of women in some of the Russian provinces; that they were killing "everybody who is wearing a white collar, or who is educated and who is not a Bolshevist."

Or turn to our own continent for evidence, such as was produced through recent seizures of literature in the United States outlining the plans of the Russian Reds in that country, in which all high army and police officials were to be killed, and courts and jails razed, all public records destroyed, and all private property seized.

Take up the British Parliamentary papers relating to Russia during the present regime. This is filled with the details of one Russian Bolshevik horror after another, executions without trial, wholesale murder of the educated classes. But why enlarge.

No doubt that the answer by men of the Ivens stamp would be the same to all these statements. They are not believed. It is all a deep, dark plot on the part of the British, American and other Governments to discredit a great social movement.

Why do men and women of education and apparent mental acuteness take stock in this evil philosophy? One might dismiss the question with the reply that perhaps they indulged in hashish or some other drug of which wild dreams are made. On the contrary, however, authorities such as John Spargo, a social reformer of international note, who has made a life study of the various movements, and who was himself inclined to follow Socialism up to the point where it began to outrage his intelligence, has another theory. He sets these people down as victims of one of several derangements, such as nervous troubles, emotional excesses, unhappy and unfruitful marriages and religious mania. As he says, no one category can possibly cover all these misguided muddlers. There are various distinct and separate approaches to the same evil result. Mr. Spargo's entire argument leads to just one point, which is that these people are more or less deranged, subnormal or abnormal, as the case may be. They are led away by slogans, catchwords and formulae, which to the ordinary mortal has little or no ground work of common sense reasoning. But such people do not reason, they dream.

They perchance have worked among the poor and ignorant; they have grown discouraged over the failure of their own efforts toward the reformation of mankind. They forget that Rome was not built in a day; they fail to recollect that as time goes on the status of mankind does improve, and has continued to improve for a thousand years. They would in their desperation throw these betterments to the four winds, in the hope of reaching a Utopia, via the Bolshevist route, all in one fell swoop.—Saturday Night.

SOME THINGS A DOCTOR CAN'T DO

Discussing Mr. Rockefeller's gift of $30,000,000 for medical education and research, Dr. William H. Porter, for many years Professor in pathology and general medicine at the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital, remarked the other day that no specific medical cure for consumption, pneumonia and cancer ever could be discovered. He said that the foremost men of medical science who had been delving for years to the roots of these blights no longer looked for such a specific remedy in the realms of therapeutics and pharmacy.

Dr. Porter does not share the optimism of Dr. Mayo, who recently asserted that since the Civil War fifteen years had been added to the average life of man by innovations in medical and surgical advance. He holds that the chief source of decreased mortality, or increased longevity, is due to the increased knowledge concerning the hygiene and diet of infants.

"But why despair?" the interviewer added. "Isn't there a remote possibility that some day a germ culture may be found which will spare the life of the patient?" Had not the medical profession given up all hope in the case of tetanus, and did not research bring at last the antitoxin which effects a profound amelioration of these diseases?"

"It required long years of medical research to find the germ of consumption and longer to discover the germ of pneumonia," Dr. Porter replied, "and many long years have been spent in the arduous search for some specific for these germs. In the case of diphtheria, antitoxin does not mitigate the severity of the disease. But, even here, the patient must undergo the strain of a well-nigh lethal dose. It is well to add in this connection that antitoxin is chiefly effective in the prevention and removal of the membranous exudation, which is the principle cause of death from uncomplicated diphtheria.

"It is just the opposite in the case of a new serum now used against the typhoid germ. After a patient has become infected with the typhoid germ it is of little avail to inoculate that patient with the anti-typhoid serum.

"There is no cure for cancer in the realms of our present knowledge of medicine, because cancer, so far as we know, does not originate in a micro-organism. Cancer is not one of the 'self-inflicted' diseases, because it has its origin in an embryonic cell, or in a group of embryonic cells, caught in some tissue which, subsequently, because of irritation, or through some twist or defect in the nutrition of the area, becomes a fertile soil for the development of the growth of the cancer cell. Hence, we can see that research work in the investigation of cancer ought to be confined to those chemical processes involved in defective metabolism, and in the development of a nutritive pabulum which tends to excite super-activity in these embryonic cells. If research work could develop some method by which these embryonic cells could be discovered, and if a safe way could be devised for their complete removal, then the cure for cancer might be established.

"In the matter of research there is greater need today than ever for ample funds to extend the great work of experiment and investigation. But I believe it should be acknowledged at the outset that no research can ever possibly discover a specific remedy which will cure such diseases as tuberculosis, pneumonia and cancer."

Shirking the Responsibility

To the Europeans the war was a real and tangible thing, and they insist that the peace shall be real in the sense of providing substantial safeguards against the recurrence of war. If our Senate devitalizes the Treaty or measurably limits our participation in the guarantees of peace, the Treaty as drawn will cease to be the serviceable instrument demanded by the Allies for their protection. Such action on our part will inevitably drive these nations to seek all manner of supplementary guarantees to take the place of those supposed to be given by our acceptance of joint responsibility for the maintenance of peace. —Brooklyn Daily Eagle.

ST. JOHN MAN HAS GAINED 28 POUNDS

H. F. Rollings Is Surprised By Rapid Improvement—Troubles End

"The best proof that I can give that Tanlac is the right thing for me is the way it is building me up," said H. F. Rollings, of 62 Flower Hill, St. Johns, Newfoundland, recently. Mr. Rollings has been employed as carpenter by Reeds Newfoundland Railway Company for ten years.

"At the time I began taking Tanlac," he continued, "I only weighed one hundred and twenty-two pounds, but now I weigh one hundred and fifty pounds—have actually gained twenty-eight pounds—and am picking up, both i nweight and strength.

"I had been in the worst kind of a fix for some time and could get nothing to do me much good, if any. My appetite went back on me and my stomach was in such a bad fix that I could not eat meats or any of the more substantial foods at all. I had severe headaches and was so run down and weak that I couldn't do justice to my work. I would get so weak, faint and dizzy that I was actually afraid to mount the scaffolds. I was very nervous and nearly all my strength just seemed to be gone. One day while crossing the railroad track I felt one of those dizzy spells coming on me. I managed to call for help, but I fainted dead away, an dthe next thing I knew I was home. I could never get a good night's sleep and that tired, worn out feeling was with me all the time.

"My improvement since I began using Tanlac has certainly surprised me. My appetite returned after the first few doses, and by the time my first bottle was gone I could eat and digest anything. Then I commenced to pick up lost weight and strength and get rid of that tired, worn out feeling. The headaches, dizziness and nervousness all left me and I sleep so soundly that I have to be woke up in the mornings. My appetite is so big that I can hardly get enough to eat and I never have the least trouble with my stomach any more, and when it comes to work I can keep up my end with the best of them. I am convinced that Tanlac will help anyone who tries it and I am glad to make this statement for what it may be worth to others."

TRANSMUTATION OF METALS

A paris newspaper states that Sir Ernest Rutherford has solved the riddle of the transmutation of metals. This was the dream of the achemists of the Middle Ages who sought the philosopher's stone, which, it was thought, would turn the baser metals into gold and also cure a variety of the ills to which flesh is heir. Modern scientists regarded it as merely a dream until the late Sir William Ramsay lent the weight of his great authority to at least a part of the speculation. Having discovered helium first in the metal cleveite, he found it later in the emanations from radium. Helium, one clearly marked element, was produced apparently by the disruption of radium, another clearly-marked element, and this, said Ramsay, was the first observed case of the transmutation of metals.

The emanation from radium is one of the most powerful chemical agents which exist in nature, and Ramsay conceived the idea of applying this immense and concentrated energy to the production of chemical changes. By its use he astually did obtain the elements sodium and lithium from copper, and in a letter dated July 25, 1907, he said: "The next shot will be to try some heavier metal, say gold, and see if krypton will not be found from the emanations. Gold, too, should give alkali metals." But other work and ill-health, which led to death, prevented him from pursuing farther this fascinating subject.

In the same year, 1907, Sir Ernest Rutherford, who had been Professor of Physics at McGill University, Montreal, for nine years, was appointed Langworth Professor and Director of the Physical Laboratories at the University of Birmingham. During the next twelve years he worked chiefly on radium and radio-activity, and on the constitution of atoms and elements. It was found that the alpha particle from radium, when it passes through a thin volume of matter, is deflected from a straight-line course to a much greater degree than was expected from previous ideas of atomic structure. To explain the results Sir Ernest suggested a type of atom which is now called a nucleus atom, in which the main mass of the atom is concentrated in a very small volume of nucleus and carries a positive charge of electricity. This theory, which involved an entirely new conception of matter, has since been generally accepted by scientists. In the absence of details of the discovery it may be assumed that he has not found the philosopher's stone, but that he has found additional cases of the transmutation of the baser metals.

When Sir Ernest was appointed Professor of Experimental Physics at Cambridge last summer a bulletin issued by the great Cavendish Laboratory pointed out that laymen may derive some idea of the practical importance of these researches into the composition of matter by the simple statement that they may solve such problems as that of fuel and heat. It may be that before a generation has passed the diminution of the oil supply of the world will be of no great consequence; that auto motors will be superceded, and that engineering as we know it will be superannuated. These are great expectations, indeed, but the high authority of the Cavendish Laboratory, and the results already attained by experimenters like Sir Ernest Rutherford, warrant the University of Toronto in attaching the greatest importance to the development of research in its different faculties.

and the sole that makes them

JUST imagine the strain upon the sole of a boot when you figure that the average man makes 8,000 steps a day. Then you'll realize it is not style that is any indication of how long a boot will wear, but the material it is built of.

Of the two soles illustrated here under the magnifying glass, the LECKIE DRESS BOOT is built of the high-priced, close-grained, "waterproof" leather sole shown on the left. While to all outward appearances the other sole is just as good, it is open grained and therefore rejected by us.

Thus, the LECKIE DRESS BOOT, built throughout on the same principle, gives "more miles per dollar" and offers the greatest combination of endurance together with comfort and style. Why not choose a boot by its reputation for wear? Ask to see

FREAKISH LOT OF RADICALS

If a lingering question lay in any mind of the government's thouroughgoing justification for the deportation of Berkman, Goldman and several hundred others of their ilk surely their conduct as the transport bore out to sea will dispel the doubt.

The outcasts were a "rum" lot. A childish incorrigibility was exhibited in their actions and utterances, mixed up wth some cheap mock heroics. Now and then they cursed in chorus, or broke into a silly chant, "Long live the revolution in America." Berkman flew into a ranting rage, cursing and threatening the officers of the law. Emma Goldman held herself under better control, but could not resist the desire to babble some farewell nonsense to the effect that the American government had signed its death warrant and "this is the beginning of the end of the United States government."

An inordinate childish vanity lies back of practically all the red and radical propaganda in this country. A morbid longing to be in the limelight and a weakness for vocal intoxication is the psychology of it; that, coupled with the opportunity that Goldman, Berkman and many others have found to gather in coin and live in indulging luxury.

These incorrigible ingrates would have been cast out long ago but for a mistaken belief that there was no danger from their crazy doctrines in this enlightened land. "Give them free speech and they will discredit themselves," was often heard, a formula that might have been well enough i fintelligence, literacy and patriotism wre as diffused and common as in the great congested cities of the east and the west as in cities like Spokane and communities like the Inland Empire, Iowa, or Kansas. The Berkmans and the Goldmans worked on the ignorance, prejudices and passions of a vast foreign-born population. They knew where to seek fertile ground for their destructive doctrines.

The country is well rid of this shipload of alien freaks. Their parting revilings and curses proved that they should have been deported long ago. —Spokesman-Review.

CIVIC ELECTION FOR MAYOR, ALDERMEN, SCHOOL TRUSTEES AND POLICE COMMISSIONERS

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given to the electors of the Municipality of Fernie, and Fernie School District, that I require the presence of the said Electors at the Council Chambers, City Hall, Pellatt Avenue, Fernie, British Columbia, on the Twelfth day of January, 1920, at twelve o'clock noon Coast Time (One o'clock P.M. Local Time) for the purpose of electing persons to represent them in the Municipal Council as Mayor and Aldermen and in the School Board as School Trustees, and on the Board of Police Commissioners as Police Commissioners.

The candidates shall be nominated in writing; the writing shall be subscribed by two voters of the Municipality as proposer and seconder, and shall be delivered to the Returning Officer at any time between the date of the notice and two P.M. Coast Time (Three P.M. Local Time) of the day of nomination; the said writing may be in the form numbered 5 in the Schedule of this Act (Municipal Elections Act,) and shall state the names, residence and occupation or description of each person proposed, in such manner as sufficiently to identify such candidate; and in the event of a poll being necessary such poll will be opened on the Fifteenth day of January, A.D. 1920, at the Council Chamber, City Hall, Pellatt Avenue, Fernie, British Columbia, of which every person is hereby required to take notice and govern himself and herself accordingly.

Qualification for Mayor

Any person who is a British subject of the full age of twenty-one years not disqualified under any law, and has for the six months next preceding the day of nomination been the registered owner, in the Land Registry Office, of land or real property in the City, of the Assessed Value, on the last Municipal Assessment Roll of one thousand dollars or more, over and above any registered judgment or charge, and who is otherwise duly qualified as a Municipal Voter.

Qualification for Alderman

Any person who is a British subject of the full age of twenty-one years not disqualified under any law, and has for the six months next preceding the day of nomination been the registered owner, in the Land Registry Office, of land or real property in the City, of the Assessed Value, on the last Municipal Assessment Roll of five hundred dollars or more, over and above any registered judgment or charge, and who is otherwise duly qualified as a Municipal Voter.

Qualification for School Trustee

Any person who is a British subject of the full age of twenty-one years actually residing within the District and having been for the six months next preceding the date of nomination the registered owner, in the Land Registry Office of land or real property in the Fernie School District of the Assessed Value, on the last Municipal Assessment Roll, of five hundred dollars or more, over and above any registered judgment or charge, and being otherwise qualified to vote at an election of School Trustees in the said Fernie School District.

Qualification for Police Commissioner

Any person who is a British subject of the full age of twenty-one years and who is duly qualified as a Municipal Voter.

Given under my hand at Fernie, British Columbia, this twenty-fourth day of December, A.D. 1919.

Arthur J. Moffatt,
Returning Officer.

TO THE CITIZENS OF FERNIE :

In view of the number of citizens urging me to seek office as Police Commissioner, I have consented to the candidature. If chosen, I assure the electors that the duties of Police Commissioner will be carried out in an intelligent and fearless manner, in so far as lies within my power. It will be my policy to endeavor to remove the sources of existing evils, rather than penalize the victims who may come within reach of the law.

I have no objection to the use of pure beer and light wines, but I am a strong advocate of the abolition of the use of liquor, and inordinate uses of drink. In pursuance of the above policy I believe I shall conserve the interests of all intelligent citizens, and respectfully solicit your support.

Yours faithfully,

W. LANCASTER.

HOCKEY GIRLS GO TO CALGARY

(Calgary Herald)

The Fernie ladies hockey team will play the Calagry Regents on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Victoria Park arena. This will be one of the most interesting games of the year, for the local fans are always glad to watch the fair sex wield the hickories and on Saturday the exhibition will be one of the best in years.

The Fernie Club has been training for some time and they have perfected some excellent combination play. The Regents have been practicing under the careful guidance of Lorne Hannay and they will have a strong line-up to face the B. C. Septette.

The Regents will select a team from the following: Mrs. Clarin, Mrs. Brownlee, Mrs. Moore, Miss Ure, Miss Pue, Miss Robertson (captain), Miss Corderoy, Miss Till, Miss Hunt, Miss Tees and Miss Maulm.

COPIES OF FAMOUS PAINTINGS WILL BE SHOWN

Mt. Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. will have on exhibition in the G.W.V.A. rooms, Jan. 6th, the famous collection of British Historical Pictures.

Never before has it been the opportunity of the citizens of Fernie to have shown here such an important collection of pictures by world famous artists. Tea will be served in the afternoon. In the evening a few good musical numbers will be given. A charge of 25c in the afternoon and a silver collection in the evening, will be made, as some expense has been incurred in getting the collection sent here. Don't forget the date, Tuesday, Jan. 6th, afternoon and evening. The exhibition is well worth seeing at least twice.

RULES OF THE FLEISHMAN CUP COMPETITION

1. Entries should be made in pairs of rinks with Secretary on or before January 5th, 1920.

2. As soon as possible after January 5th, 1920, the Secretary and two members of the Executive Committee by drawing from the hat, will set the order in which the pairs shall play, which order shall be strictly observed.

3. Any entries received after January 5th, 1920, will take their places on the draw in the order in which they are received.

4. Any rink will retain its "partner" rink during the competition.

5. The players of each rink will play throughout the competition without substitutes, IF POSSIBLE, but on no account will substitutes be taken from other competing rinks.

6. If any pair is unable to go to Cranbrook when drawn, the next in line shall go.

7. The pair lifting the cup shall always defend it against Cranbrook until it is lost by them to Cranbrook.

8. When the cup is in Fernie the pair holding it shall play the next pair in line on the next Monday or Tuesday as the case may be.

9. All sheets shall be kept open on Mondays and Thursdays until the 11th of January, 1920 at 9 p.m. for Fleishman Cup and District Bonspiel practices, and after that date for Fleishman Cup and scratch games.

Jack Wilson upset his car over quite a high bank on Wednesday. He went over about five times and landed on a stump. The top was badly damaged but he brought it home on its own power.

MR. WILSON ENTERTAINS

On Tuesday evening some fifty odd persons were the guests at a dinner given by W. R. Wilson at the Fernie Hotel. The dinner was tendered by Mr. Wilson as an expression of appreciation of the Fernie District 1919 Victory Loan Committee and was a success in the highest degree. R. M. Young acted as toastmaster and his humorous method of proposing toasts and introducing the speakers of the evening caused no end of merriment.

E. K. Stewart, district chairman of the Victory Loan Committee, gave some very impressing facts with regard to Canada's response when called upon to assume financial obligations during the war. Prior to this, said the speaker, Canada had never undertaken to float a loan inside her own borders for a greater amount than $5,000,000, but during the five years 1914-1919 the magnificent sum of over two billion dollars had been raised by Canada within her own boundaries. The amount of the respective popular loans were enumerated by the speaker, which indicated the gradual upward trend from a fifty million dollar loan to the last Victory Loan, which netted about seven hundred million dollars—a very gratifying expression of the confidence the inhabitants of Canada had in their own country. Mr. Stewart, after pointing out the benefits of having the interest charges payable on these loans distributed among the people at home in comparison to the same being paid to another country, expressed his sincere appreciation for the assistance he had received from the members of the committee, which, coupled with the co-operation on the part of the subscribers, particularly the host and some others, who alone were responsible, he declared, for the unexpected and exceedingly gratifying result obtained.

Dr. Bonnell responded to the toast to the Army and Navy and while acknowledging his utter inability to properly cover the subject, the Doctor nevertheless delivered a very comprehensive description of the vastness of the British Navy and its wonderful accomplishments during the war. With regard to the Army, its equal effectiveness and gallant activities were lucidly related. The Doctor in chronicling events of the war, and particularly with respect to the development of the armament on some of the British Dreadnaughts, by way of illustration made some very astounding statements, all of which were accepted with credulous amazement by the hearers.

The toast to the United States was replied to by Consul Brand, who, assuming the jocular vein, very briefly and forcibly told those present it was with justifiable pride the nation he was privileged to represent, cherished the honor of having fought in the recent war shoulder to shoulder with the Allies. The fraternal feeling between Canada and the United States by this means had become more firmly cemented than ever before and he was confident this happy condition would continue to exist with added fervor. The United States, said the speaker, had always in the past and would always continue to do her part in the proper way.

Upon proposing the toast to the Legislative Assembly of British Columbia the toastmaster said in introducing the subject he did so with a certain amount of reserve, with which he coupled the name of A. I. Fisher, M.L.A. Mr. Fisher in opening pleaded insufficient notice to prepare a speech (on such a complicated subject) and took the liberty to cover other topics in addition, the limits of which he said were confined to anything "from Dan to Beersheba." The speaker dealt somewhat on Victory Loan and particularly relating thereform the question of "inflated currency," to which latter eminent authortities attributed the existing phenomenal conditions prevailing throughout the world. Dealing with the legislative assembly, Mr. Fisher briefly referred to what it had been in the dim past and its gradual evolution towards perfection which it had already attained.

Mayor Uphill was the choice to reply to the toast to the civic administration, but His Worship very promptly informed the assemblage no matter how much it might be desired by those present to hear him discuss the merits, or otherwise, of same, he was going to say very little about it. He reviewed the city's efforts with reference to Victory Loan and the amounts subscribed by the corporation, and then went into a discussion pertaining to the cost of living, the world wide industrial unrest, etc., and urged that a greater spirit of harmony and "get-together" motto be more in evidence in the future than in the past. By promoting this in communities and small centres it would gradually spread to include larger spheres to the betterment of all mankind. Mayor Uphill in opening his remarks said all preceding speakers stated at the beginning that they were not going to make long speeches but had then gone into extended discussions. He was not going to be like this; he had but little to say and as a man of his word he would make it brief. At the conclusion of the address the toastmaster reminded the Mayor that those present were glad to know he was a man of his word, the fact being His Worship had spoken some minutes in excess of the time taken by the previous speaker, Mr. Fisher.

Mr. Bonnallie responded in a few well chosen remarks to the toast to the Reconstruction Committee. He dwelt more particularly on the local work with respect to the Memorial Building Fund, what had already been done and the outlined program for the future.

Sherwood Herchmer, chairman of the school board, was the speaker in reply to the toast to the "School Children." He immediately took both Mr. Fisher, M.L.A., and Mayor Uphill to task for, as he termed it, "shirking their duty in not giving an account of their stewardship when called upon to do so." He, as chairman of the school board, was not going to shirk his responsibility and forthwith related the work of the board in so far as it had been able to provide certain benefits for the children. He claimed while the board had recently been able to furnish certain recreation appliances at the school, the adult population of this city, and he personally assumed his share of the responsibility, had been neglectful of the welfare of the child in these things in the past. The adults had been ready and keen to make any sacrifice necessary for their own amusement but for the children there had been practically nothing until very recently. The nucleus of a fund for something permanent, where children would be able to go and take part in healthy amusement had been formed last summer. But there was not enough to provide anything suitably substantial as yet and he urged everyone to begin now and carry on a campaign to acquire sufficient funds to carry through a project of this kind.

The dinner was concluded by Mr. Wilson, the host, expressing his pleasure in having those present. He referred to the remarks made by the various speakers and pointed out that it was up to each individual insofar as the creation of the harmonious spirit in any community, or industry or organization was concerned. Honesty was the absolutely essential characteristic and faith in one another. Success was bound to follow any person, no matter in what sphere of life and no matter what were the limits of his intelligence, if his efforts were firmly based upon honesty of purpose.

HOOT MON! BURNS' NIGHT

The G. W. V. A. and Ladies' Auxiliary will hold their first annual dance on Monday, January 26, 1920, in Victoria Hall.

Fred Bass' full dance orchestra will be in attendance. Refreshments provided by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Russell Dudley will be M. C. A good time is assured to all. Tickets $1.50, Extra Lady 50c.

BEARD WAS CHASED OUT

Calgary, Dec. 30.—Henry Beard, president of the One Big Union miners of Alberta, returned to the city tonight with the statement that he had been driven out of Livett, a mining camp north of here, at the point of a gun, and that a shot was fired in the mixup which occurred. He was forced to spend the night in the bush, finally making his way to a nearby town and taking the train for Calgary. This is the first time such an incident has occurred since the O. B. U. leaders were chased out of Drumheller last summer.

Mrs. Asselstine gave a bridge and tea this afternoon.

The boys at the White Spruce Lbr. Co. camp gave a dance on Xmas eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lynch. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Cox, of Spokane. An enjoyable time was spent.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

In the Police Magistrate's court this week, F. R. Haigh, elder of the local branch of the International Bible Students Association, appeared on a charge of having in his possession certain literature prohibited by warrant issued by the Secretary of State for Canada by virtue of powers vested in him by the Consolidated Orders respecting censorship. In all ten charges were preferred against Haigh and the confiscated literature included the following. Photo Drama of Creation, Hymns of the Millenial Dawn, Berean Studies on the Divine Plan, Berean Studies on the New Creation, Berean Questions on Tabernacle Shadows of the Better Sacrifice, Daily Heavenly Manna and Birthday Record Studies in the Scriptures, The New Creation, The Divine Plan of the Ages, Tabernacle Shadows of the Better Sacrifices and other circulars, leaflets and printed matter by or for the purposes of the International Bible Students Association, the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society and the Associated Bible Students. Accused pleaded guilty to all charges but was allowed to go on suspended sentence by the court in view of the fact that he is a widower and the sole support of three small children. Accused further undertook to pledgs on his honor that so long as the present ban remains on these or similar publications that he would not keep any in his possession or use same. Detective Sgt. A. P. Pass, R.N.W.M.P., conducted the prosecution, while accused acted in his own defence.

FRED ROO DRAWS COMMENT

Fred Roo is a character, but he is the sort of character that goes a long way to brighten up the drab side of this old world of ours. Fred Roo has contributed many items to the "Winnipeg and Western Grocer," all of which were calculated to provoke a smile. We often wonder where on earth, heaven or the other place our good friend Fred finds his multifarious and artistic similes. At the first announcement that we were preparing our usual Annual Travellers' Number, Fred stood to attention. True to his reputation, he has contributed an article that will arouse many a smile among the many travellers whom in the course of their yearly peregrinations pass through Crow's Nest. We have the idea that Fred must have developed a halo these days and this impression is accentuated as we draw to the end of his contribution.—Editor, "Winnipeg and Western Grocer."

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., Jan. 1, 1920.

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—I noticed in last week's issue of your paper that Ald. T. Beck comes forward with the statement that he is opposed to giving the Fernie City Band any financial aid. In answer to this I would like through your paper to be permitted to make some observations with respect to Ald. Beck as a public servant, which to me, unless they are answered, makes Ald. Beck's attitude in regard to the Band question a personal one and not as representative of the ratepayers.

I do not believe anyone should be denied the right of their own opinion and those who don't desire the citizens to support the band undoubtedly have reasons which they think sufficient, while personally I am of the opinion and think they are absolutely wrong and selfish. I think Ald. Beck in introducing the matter at this time after a petition had been circulated and signed by large numbers of ratepayers, is quite uncalled for and particularly what I would like to know is, is it prompted by him as a servant of the ratepayers? I notice his name is not included in the 1920 voters' list and the list was closed some time ago, so if Ald. Beck is not qualified to be on the new list how has he been allowed to sit on the council during the past few months, for which I presume he has drawn his alderman's salary for his services? If the band is such an expense to the city, and it is for this reason he refused to support it, should not drawing pay for something to which you are not entitled also be something to be prevented, If money has been taken in this way by Ald. Beck, he could show himself sincere by returning it now.

When the band petition and subscription list, not two petitions as Ald. Beck says—one for and one against—was sent around, Ald. Beck refused to sign either but told me as one of the canvassers to come around later for a personal subscription. Later when approached for same he absolutely refused to give anything and I feel this was not alone on the ground of saving expense but for some little personal spite.

I thank you for giving me the opportunity, Mr. Editor, to put this letter before the citizens in order that they may not get the idea that the band question is going to be the great expense which Ald. Beck seems to want to make them believe. It will undoubtedly cost something but nothing that will noticeably increase the taxes, and in return they will have a source of amusement well worth what they are asked to pay for it. Yours very truly,

D. Nicoletti.

MEMORIAL FUND BONSPIEL

The local bonspiel in aid of the Reconstruction Memorial Fund opened at the Curling rink yesterday with the following rinks entered:

Beck, Harrington, Quail, Herchmer, J. Gates, Guy Johnston, Brown, Bonnallie, W. Gates, Prentice, Graves, Jas. Johnston, Watson, H. J. Johnson, Parker, T. Yolland, McLaren, McDonald, Corrie, Gordon Johnson, Stewart, Jas. Wilson, Boardman, Lawe, Robertson, Daniels, Henderson, Liphardt, Irvine, Kastner, D. Black, Douglas, Corbett, McLeod, Harvie, Mitchell, G. B. Thomson, Baldrey, R. Sherwood, Kirkpatrick, Young, Kennedy, Meiklejohn, Greenwood, Winters, Longdon, Garner, Dahl, A. Black.

The spiel is still going merrily on but will be concluded tonight.

NEW YEAR'S BALL SUCCESS

New Year's eve was celebrated here royally in diversified form but the majority of pleasure seekers attended the ball given under the auspices of the Fernie District Committee for National Reconstruction for the purpose of securing funds for the Memorial Building Fund, in which connection a $15,000 temporary home has already been secured and placed at the disposal of the returned boys here. Over 250 couples attended the function and it was a huge success in every particular. During the evening those present were by way of variation given the opportunity of experiencing the novel thrills induced through flirting with Dame Chance, when the drawing for the Victory Bond contest, which has been carried on for the same cause, was held. Six $50 Victory Bonds were given as prizes, the winners of which were three residents of Coal Creek, one gentleman of Natal, and two Fernie residents. The amount raised for the fund from these two enterprises aggregated about $800.

The following were the winners:

No. 637 — Check No. 2557, Coal Creek.
No. 262—John Smith, Coal Creek.
No. 601—Geo. Mead, Natal.
No. 313—T. Wilson, Coal Creek.
No. 280—J. Qualitierre, Fernie.
No. 420—D. Citra, Fernie.

The medical marvel of the war, in England, is Lieutenant W. Mallandain of the Fusiliers. None of the doctors can understand why he is alive, and you may share their amazement when you learn that not only was he shot through the head, but through both lungs and through the heart as well. And with that series of disasters behind him he holds himself as erect and moves as smartly as the keenest Guardsman.—Saturday Night.

Accident Prevention

If we are to get results that will be self-sustaining and permanent, they must not come about from bare instructions from superiors, but we must educate the individual to do these things—not as something in addition to his regular routine work, not as something separate and apart from himself or the gang, but as a part of his every thought, his every movement. He must realize that the safe way to work is the right way to work, continues the N. S. C. Bulletin, and a routine that carries with it, through hurry or bad practice, any chance of accident from any cause whatever is the wrong way to work.

Our three best doctors are said to be Dr. Quiet and Dr. Diet and Dr. Merryman—and the greatest of these is Merryman.—Ex.

PLAYING WITH INCOME TAXES

The Government of Canada is faced with the necessity of raising more revenue in order to meet the obligations which it has already assumed and to provide the requisite working capital for the future. The customs tariff, which has hitherto been the chief source of supply, has become a burden upon those least able to pay, and must be reduced. The only alternative is a heavy increase in income taxes. The Government has made a pretense of imposing an income tax, but it is only playing with the question, as the results in other countries show.

In Great Britain the income tax has long been, and still is ,the main reliance of the Exchequer. The revenue derived from the income tax in the United States is more than eight times as much as that from the customs tariff. During the elections in Australia last month Hon. W. A. Watt, Treasurer of the Commonwealth, made the following significant statement on the incidence of income taxes there:

"I have obtained from the Taxation Commissioner illustrations of what two wealthy men at present pay in direct taxation. The first draws an income of £19,000. He pays to the Commonwealth £9,250, and to the State £1,248, or in all £10,498 a year. The second draws £64,000.

"A Voice—Take it away from him.

"Mr. Watt—We take most of it. He pays in income and land tax £44,000 a year."

The illustrations furnished by Mr. Watt show that in the Australian Commonwealth direct taxation collects in one case more than one-half and in another case about two-thirds of large incomes. The Commonwealth, with a population of less than 5,000,000, raises from land and income tax the sum of £12,825,000, or, in round numbers, about $60,000,000 yearly, which amounts to $12 per head of population.

In comparison with Australia and other countries, the income tax in Canada is a farce. The returns for taxes on incomes earned in 1917 received up to April 30, 1919, amounted to only $6,445,349. Making all allowances for belated returns, it is certain that the total income taxes collected for 1917 will be less than $10,000,000. This income tax of $10,000,000 from a population of 8,000,000 amounts to $1.25 per head, as compared with $12 per head in Australia. Worse than the low average is the injustice of the method by which it is collected. The man of small income or salary is generally taxed to the uttermost farthing, but it is well known in every town and city that there are wealthy men who pay the tax on only a portion of their income or evade it altogether. The returns for 1917 received up to April 30, 1919, showed that only 31,310 had paid their taxes in all Canada, but at a moderate estimate there are more than that number in Montreal and Toronto alone who should be subject to it. The Government must not only increase the amount of the income tax, but also see that it is levied fairly and adequately upon all who should contribute.—Globe.

REINDEER RACES ARE EVENT OF ARCTIC

All told, it is estimated that there are now about 140,000 reindeer in Alaska, yet hardly 20 years ago there was none at all. Dr. Sheldon Jackson, a missionary, suggested the introduction of reindeer; the idea was taken up by several newspapers, and a subscription collected that purchased and transported to Alaska a small herd of Siberian animals. Then the United States Government also assisted, with the result that reindeer are now the wealth of the Eskimo.

At this season of the year the Alaskan Eskimos hold their reindeer fairs, and throughout Arctic Alaska the delegates appoisted from the different stations established since the raising of reindeer became the great Eskimo isdustry prepase their animals for the races. To the Eskimo, who in most cases must drive his team several days to reach the fair ground, these races are the great event of the Arctic year; and the fair is also interesting for its exhibits of Eskimo handiwork of various kinds, its bartering of reindeer, and its business sessions. Delegates are chosen for the next annual fair, and a board of head herdsmen elected to supervise the industry.

Use of Slate Waste

In connection with the production of roofing slate at Bethesda, Wales, an enterprise is being developed for the manufacture and production of fine inert powders from 20 mesh up to 200 mesh for use in the manufacture of asphalt, bricks, cement, glass, linoleum, tiles, mantels, paints, insulators, and other articles where weather-resisting and good-wearing qualities are desired. This powder is produced from slate waste to be found around all North Wales slate quarries in large quantities.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

TO THE ELECTORS, CITY OF FERNIE :

Ladies and Gentlemen—I have decided to become a candidate for the position of Mayor at the approaching Municipal Elections. My purpose in so doing at this time is for the object of demonstrating to the taxpayers of Fernie that the city's affairs can be efficiently conducted for considerably less money than has been spent for that purpose year by year for the past five or six years.

I am not the nominee of any party or faction, and am in a position to offer my services to the city untrammelled by obligations to any particular faction in the community, and if elected will endeavor to conduct the affairs of the city in such a manner as will redound in the greatest good to the greatest number.

The burden of taxation has been rapidly increasing year by year, with but little to show for it. Water and light rates have increased and efficiency has decreased.

If you desire to see an earnest effort made to alter these conditions your vote will be appreciated.

I consider the position of Mayor of any city an honorary one and the duties of that office should be performed for honor's sake and not for money. If elected, no additional burden will be added to the taxpayer as a salary for Mayor.

I have the honor to be,
Ladies and Gentlemen,
Yours very truly,
G. G. HENDERSON.

TO THE ELECTORS :

Having decided to allow my name to again be placed in nomination for the position of Alderman, I desire to solicit your vote and influence on my behalf. Having been Alderman in the City of Fernie for several years and having always tried to do my civic duty to the best of my ability, I appeal to you upon my record.

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season,

WM. ROBICHAUD.

TO THE CITIZENS OF FERNIE :

In view of the number of citizens urging me to seek office as Police Commissioner, I have consented to the candidature. If chosen, I assure the electors that the duties of Police Commissioner will be carried out in an intelligent and fearless manner, in so far as lies within my power. It will be my policy to endeavor to remove the sources of existing evils, rather than penalize the victims who may come within reach of the law.

I have no objection to the use of pure beer and light wines, but I am a strong advocate of the abolition of the use of liquor, and inordinate uses of drink. In pursuance of the above policy I believe I shall conserve the interests of all intelligent citizens, and respectfully solicit your support.

Yours faithfully,
W. LANCASTER.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

THE COST OF AN HOUR AND A HALF

A proposal is made to work less. In a nation where there are twenty million workers and the average wage is fifty cents an hour, the cutting down of an hour and a half would cost the workers fifteen millions a day and between four and five billions a year. But the shutting down of industry for these ninety minutes would cost us all infinitely more in lost production. It is all right to choose intelligently to have more leisure, but until efficiency is made to speed up output the diminished hours forecast two sure results—less material products to eat and wear and enjoy, and higher prices. If we all decide on working less, well and good; but let us decide with our eyes open. There are others who are deciding just now to work, not less, but more. Germany, for instance. If her eyes are on a material prosperity, and her policy is to outcompete the rest of us, let us not be surprised that hours of toil are the way to her success. Mankind cannot eat the cake and have it.—Collier's.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Wishing every reader of this great family paper a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Wipe the old rains of repining and grieving from your windows and the sun of happiness will shine in.
Though too far away for a pat on the back
And a right good grip of the hand,
We're sending you on the same old wish
And we know you will understand.

A great many people through the Crow's Nest Pass just now are wondering what the miners are going to do; and a great many more throughout the province are wondering what the Oliver Government are going to do, and Jim Thistlebeak is anxious to know what you are going to do.

A commercial traveller said in Elko last week that everybody in Yahk were Swedes but Ben Riley, and he was an Italian.

It was a saleslady traveling through Elko last summer who said, "A rusty nail placed under the finest compass will sway it from the truth. A false ideal of dress will do the same to the finest endowments of womanhood. Wear one of my quality corsets and your dress will add charm to your personality, and any of your dresses worn over one of my Gossards will increase your nobleness." And her front name was Florence. It sure pays to adverise if you know how. But you've got to know how.

Christmas passed off in Elko very quietly. Mayor and Mrs. Klingensmith entertained several friends to a turkey dinner in their rooms over the Mining Exchange. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders entertained a party of young people. Mr. and Mrs. M. Gorman entertained some of the Great War Veterans. The Columbia Hotel gave an excellent Christmas dinner to their boarders and about 20 invited guests; also a vaudeville show in the evening, Oscar Sanders giving an imitation of a Russian ballet. The Elk Hotel gave one of their recherche dinners. The camps operating in the immediate vicinity of the old historic burg gave their men a splendid Christmas dinner and so well did the boys enjoy the good things provided that they made their own fun and sang classics of the old Ottawa River, and stayed right in camp. It was passing into oblivion when a party of Bull River and Wardner capitalists motored into town and the cash registers started to ring like rain on a tin roof. After several hours of rip-snorting fun and frolic the visitors left town singing, "We shall meet and we shall miss him."

Its the joyful person who gets well and stays well. A day of rollicking joy, fun and frolic is better than four doctors. Jolly your ills a few days and they will run away. Quit being the emissary of Devil Fear. Start 1920 right, and forget all your troubles, but don't forget to advertise.

Fred Roo is down in the Roosville country and Flagstone this week, visiting his family, and is offering some good farming land for sale, well watered and an ideal country for mixed farming and fruit growing. He is also offering some good inside property in the old historic burg of Elko for sale.

MY IMPRESSIONS OF THE TRAVELLING SALESMEN

(By Fred Roo)

This don't include train jumpers or peddlers, but salesmen. And taking them all round like the bung hole in a barrel, they are a fine bunch of men and a pleasure to meet. They come into your store like a ray of sunshine on a dull day, and we have some of the best salesmen travelling through the Crow's Nest Pass that there are in the whole Dominion of Canada.

Their jovial personality and pleasing manners would enable them to sell phonographs to a deaf and Institute, and a moving picture to a blind college if they were so disposed, and they draw business to the house they represent like a water melon patch draws coons.

The good salesman has confidence in everything he does, even if he is eating sausages in a quick lunch, next door to the dog catcher. Humor electrifies, it wins everywhere, it wins against superior forces, superior numbers and even superior knowledge. Humor is an art of expression, and every good salesman possesses it. The real salesman is always happy. He sees the doughnut; asks for the cream well knowing that there is nothing but skim milk in the jug, and eats his cottage pudding so agreeably that you think he is enjoying a brown stone front on Riverside Drive.

We are going to mention a few of the live wires that come through the Pass towns. There's Joe McMullen, (author of, "Where there's hope, there's always soap"), the well-known soapologist, who never deals from the bottom; says that his soap is good for the hands, face hair, dandruff and all skin troubles; for man or beast, horse, dog or cat. Capt. J. C. Carruthers, one of the oldest on the road, and one of the most popular. Everybody buys from Cap no matter who he travels for. He never lets his liver get out of order so he never grouches and is always happy and gay. Jack Colvin, the prince of shoe travelers, says there is nothing like leather, and always looks on the brgiht side of everything, as he believes with Jim Thistlebeak that laughter, like Mercy, is twice blessed. It blesses him that gives and him that takes, and always looks upon it as a great privilege to be able to let the sunshine of happiness into the dark places. Jack Barrington, the tea and coffee man, calls his coffee the old maid's delight and his tea the Pink-en and gets away with it. Ed. Clay, with biscuits as light as feathers, but much more filling, and can tell you a story that will make the crystallised rose leaves curl round the edges, and then another that would melt the heart of one of Fernie's coke ovens. Jim Sherlock, who helped blaze the trail through these mountains and the Crow's Nest Pass, with overland trout, pickled whale, shark's liver and other kinds of salt water souvenirs. Arnold Booth, with stuffed ox heart, liver and bacon, reindeer steak and elephant's foot; swift as they make them, and wears a smile that would charm a turkey off a barn roof. Jack Tabor, who's sweet chocolate kisses and hard boiled candy made Medicine Hat famous. Jim Thistlebeak says if you can buy some of Jack's salted peanuts and start to eat them anh can quit before you get thsough, trere is nothing wrong with your will-power. Alex Stewart, with enamelled rolling pins, happy days wash boards, can openers and blacksmith anvils. Alex can go right out and sell a battleship to a farmer, so far as the toughness of the job is concerned, and would throw in a few brass door knobs for luck. George Kemm, who's got more testimonials for good salesmanship than shirts, and uses his tongue machinery to the best advantage for all concerned, and he can play "The Riders of the Plains" on his cornet that you actually think you can hear the horses tramping outside, and its even money to a dried prune that George will soon be a member of the firm. Colin Dingwall, with special clothing for golfers, a game known arounh Elko as cow pasture pool. J. W. Ireland, the dry-goods man, selling table napkins with purple edges, like those used in Pompeii. A broth of a bhoy, and a man you don't meet every day, and there are dozens of others that we could mention, and will, at some future date, when the editor of the greatest trade journal in the west makes another call.

While writing the above, seven travelers came into my store, arriving on the late train, and the train service on the Crow's Nest Pass just now is painful. Trains crowded to standing room only, rustling for all they are worth to make connections, and some of the hotels they have to stop at so cold and comfortless that the very air freezes to the bedroom walls. Still, you never hear them complain. They are the happiest people in the world, and all good mixers. They aerate their senses with oxygen of fun. To be a social lion in salesmanship you've got to loosen up and frolic a little with the lambs. Humor will clean your nature like the water in Silver Lake, Elko, that is so clear you can look into it and see them chasing Kangeroos in Australia. And may Heaven's blessings pour upon every traveler this Christmas until he is soaked to the skin.

With kindest personal regards to them all.

U. S. TREASURY'S POSITION

In announcing the resumption of the issue of certificates of indebtedness, Secretary Glass, of the treasury, declared that the position of the treasury had developed more favorably than there had seemed any reason to hope for at the beginning of September. On the basis of treasury daily statements in the month of October the net current deficit (excess of disbursements over receipts, exclusive of transactions in the principle of the public debt) was $319,239,450.35, the lowest figure for any month since April, 1917, excluding the months in which income and profits taxes were payable, and for the first half of the month of November the net current deficit was $118,630,787.30, indicating the likelihood of a further important reduction for that month.

On the basis of treasury daily statements, the total gross debt, which June 30, 1919, amounted to $25,481,506,160.05, and August 31, 1919, had reached the peak at $26,596,701,648.01 had been reduced by September 30, by more than $400,000,000, and, notwithstanding the increase resulting from the Victory Loan installment payments in October and November, when the final payment was made, stood on Nov. 15 at $26,210,905,795, a net reduction of about $385,000,000 from the high mark at the end of August, and a net increase since June 30 of only $726,399,634.95, although in that period only one quarterly income and profits tax installment had been received.

The total amount of loan certificates outstanding and unmatured, which, on June 30, was $2,478,317,500 and on August 31, $2,012,387,500, was reduced in September to $1,634,671,500, at which figure it stands, while the total amount of tax certificates outstanding and unmatured, which on June 30 was $789,561,000 and on August 31 was $1,925,837,500, was reduced in September to $1,827,586,500, at which figure it stands. Of the latter, certificates to the amount of $746,869,500 matured December 15, 1919, and were amply provided for by the income and profits tax installment Trust Company.

Salt Produced in Holland

Several reports have been made regarding the formation of a company to bore for salt in the Provinces of Gelderland and Overyssel, Holland. Some weeks ago it was announced that the boring had struck salt. Now it is stated that the first salt has been delivered, consisting of three carloads. The preliminary expert investigation indicated the possibility of a billion tons or more of salt underlying the soil of those provinces. If the quality is satisfactory (of which nothing has yet been said) and production is fast enough, Holland will be independent in regard to salt. Its consumption of salt is about 170,000 tons a year, all of which has hitherto been imported.

RUSSELL GETS TWO YEARS

Winnipeg, Dec. 27.—R. B. Russell, strike leader, was this morning sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on each of the six seditious conspiracy counts and one year on the count of committing a common nuisance, the sentences to run concurrently, making two years in all.

Mr. Justice Metcalfe asked Russell if he had anything to say before sentence was passed upon him and Russell spoke as follows:

"Your lordship, I have very little to say. Throughout my trial I have listened almost religiously to the proceedings of this court and I feel that the court has not grasped the real cause of my activities in the trades union movement. I have been unduly honored in being named a leader in a movement where there are no leaders, but only mouthpieces. I carried out my instructions from the rank and file in the movement as a paid servant to the best of my ability and I feel that if the court had permitted me to demonstrate my real intents during the strike I could have convinced everyone that it was free from anything criminal. I am a married man and a father. I do not understand the law and still less the procedure of the court. I feel that if the court had grasped the true conception of the trades union movements in which there are no leaders, but only individuals acting for the rank and file, it would have realized that I only fulfilled those duties. I do not think I can say any more. I leave it to the court as to what becomes of me this time."

Amid a hushed silence Russell sat down and Mr. Justice Metcalfe, in passing sentence said:

"Russell, it has been your conviction that you thought you were justified in promulgating these mischievous ideas to the public. Fortunately, your ideals were not acceptable to the public or the jury, although they were attested to be enforced on the public and on the jury.

"This court has no unfriendly feelings toward you. The jury thought your ideas were wrong. I congratulate them on their opinion. You attempted to enforce those ideas in the manner we heard of. I think you are mistaken and also think your associates with whom you acted ought not to have done what they did in the way they did it. I do not think that you are any worse than the rest. The law is there and it must be respected while it is there. I will have to give you the punishment the crime merits and it is very fortunate for you that I did not think the recent amendment applies to your case. You would have been faced with 20 years' punishment. I still don't think that the amendment applies and I am going to give you punishment under the old law, which I consider proper.

"I sentence you on all counts, but so that you need not be unduly worried the sentences will run concurrently."

The judge went on to point out to Russell that the length of time he remains in prison largely rested with himself. As soon as he showed that he had reformed there would be no longer any need to keep him in the penitentiary. There was only one way of showing this reformation and that is by good conduct. The speeches made just prior to the assizes for which one man was indicted by the grand jury did not, said the judge, indicate the reformation that he had referred to, (this reference by Mr. Justice Metcalfe, was to a speech made by Rev. J. S. Woodsworth, for which he was indicted on a charge of speaking seditious words). Mr. Justice Metcalfe then sentenced Russell to two years each on the first six counts and one year on the seventh count.

THE COMMUNITY PROTECTS ITSELF

During their six weeks' experience last summer with a sympathetic general strike, citizens with any capacity for observation and deduction came to understand very clearly that a strike of this character was an assault upon the life of the community; and, as such, a menace and evil that must be countered. A general strike to the extent to which it verifies the hopes of its promoters, involves a whole series of related acts detrimental to the community as a whole and to the individuals comprising it. It involves of necessity the cessation of services essential to human life; and the abandonment by public servants of vital duties which they are bound to continue, not only by contracts, but by the general provisions of our laws for the safeguarding of human life. All this, it seemed to most people last May and June, was plainly illegal. Any mitigation of these evils can only be secured by improvising new forms of government exercising an arbitrary activity and replacing the established institutions rooted in our laws and traditions. We had an experience of this, too, in Winnipeg; and the citizens promptly recognized and disowned it as nothing less than the first step in revolution.

The trial which came to its close in this city on Wednesday, has made some things clear. One of the counts in the indictment preferred by the crown against R. B. Russell, held the general sympathetic strike to be illegal; for these, among other reasons—because it would necessarily include employees who were under contracts of service, and who by going out on strike would break such contracts; employees who, by going out on strike would endanger human life and cause bodily injury; and also employees who by going on strike, would break the provisions of the Industrial Disputes act. The finding of the court has confirmed the charge in the indictment. The existing laws of the realm have thus been found to be inclusive enough to deal with an organized attack of this character upon the community. The law, as thus defined and enforced, is that it is a seditious offence to arrange for or induce a general sympathetic strike, which involves of necessity no end of illegal acts, ranging all the way from breach of contract to deliberate deprivation of the people of the necessities of life. Because the evidence showed that Mr. Russell had been instrumental in bringing about a strike of this character, he was found guilty by the jury upon this count of the indictment.

Two other counts in the indictment upon which Mr. Russell was also found guilty, put the brand of illegality upon the One Big Union. Since the right of men to organize is not in question, it follows that the O.B.U. comes under condemnation because of the purposos by which it is inspired, and the means by which it plans to attain its ends. The means as set forth in the indictment include a series of general strikes, which were intended "to be a step in a revolution against the constituted form of government in Canada"; among the objects which it was planned to obtain were those of "obtaining control of all industries in Canada and of obtaining the property, both real and personal, rightfully belonging to other persons and corporations" and of "encouraging and inciting the subjects of His Majesty the King to introduce in Canada, by other than lawful means, what is known as a Soviet form of government, similar to that now in force in portions of Russia." For these and other reasons the One Big Union, which is not, however, mentioned by name, was described as "an unlawful combination."

There will be those who will see, or will claim to see, in the result of the trial of Mr. Russell an attempt to set bounds to the progressive movement in industrialism, now so much in evidence in all countries. We shall hear loud cries about reaction, tyranny and so forth. We shall be told that the effect will be to restrict organization of workmen and to prohibit strikes. It is not desirable that these false representations should be given any start over the truth; the true effect and purpose of the court decision should be everywhere propounded and expounded for the information of the public. The right of men to organize for all lawful purposos, recognized by our laws and newly confirmed by the labor provisions of the peace treaty, is not restricted in the slightest degree by the court finding. The right to bring about any changes in our form of government, even the adoption of the Soviet system, by constitutional means—that is by securing the consent, constitutionally expressed, of a majority of the people—is equally unimpaired. The court finding is simply a reaffirmation of the power and intention of the state to protect its own life against the unlawful application of force.

Our Anglo-Saxon communities are built upon the theory that we have, or can, if necessary create, constitutional machinery to deal with all domestic difficulties. The rapid advance of industrialism has given the state new problems to solve; but we have only to note the developments of the past year to satisfy ourselves that the people are awake to the necessity of finding solutions that will serve for this generation; the ultimate solution if there is ever to be one, lies far in the future. The state is under bonds to supply the means by which the legitimate grievances of any section of the community can be considered and rectified; and to this end it will offer no objection to industrial unionism, if this be the wish of labor, provided it desires by these means to facilitate the peaceful and constitutional settlement of these difficulties.

The complete making over of our industrial structure and our system of government, replacing it by the communist state—desired by some, for motives of the purest, and by others for motives not so pure—is a political object to be obtained, if at all, by political means. If the Communists can induce the people to give up their belief in private property and replace their present parliamentary system, which has served them so well, by Soviet rule, which is rapidly transforming Russia into a servile state, they are within their rights; let them go ahead. But the prospect pleases them not. They prefer a shorter way; the subjection of the majority by the application of force, applied industrially, which in its secondary effects is as fatal as machine-guns, bombs or other lethal weapons. These means are unlawful; they constitute war against the community; and the community intends to protect itself by the powers at its command. This is the teaching of the trial just concluded.—Manitoba Free Press.

MAY EXCEED THE KLONDIKE

Seattle, Dec. 27.—Mines being developed in the Portland canal district, near Hyder, Alaska, may equal, if not exceed, in value and importance the great gold producing properties of the Klondike of 20 years ago, J. L. McPherson, manager of the Alaska bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, declared in his annual report made public today.

Ore estimated worth approximately $30,000,000 has been exposed by development work in the Premier mine, the largest mine in the district, in which big discoveries were made in 1919, the report said.

The Premier mine is in British Columbia, about one mile from the Portland canal, which separates the southern tip of the Alaska "panhandle" from Canada. Mr. McPherson asserted that many properties are being opened on both sides of the international boundary.

Hyder, an American town, scarcely a year old, probably will become an important mining centre as a result of the discoveries, the report added. The natural outlet for the entire section is through Hyder. Docks are being built at Hyder for ocean going vessels and a railroad is planned to connect the town with the mines.

Dispatches received here from Ketchikan, Alaska, this week, said great bodies of ore had been found in the Portland canal country and that there probably would be a rush to Hyder in the spring. The dispatches added that the rush probably would make few millionaires as Hyder is not a "poor man's" camp and the ores are found only after long, hard quartz work and not on the surface as in the Klondike.

The Premier is owned by R. K. Neill of Spokane, W. R. Wilson and Trites and Wood of Fernie, B.C., and a Guggenheim corporation. A half interest in it is claimed in a suit against Neill brought by M. W. Bacon of Los Angeles, Cal.

Charles F. Caldwell of Kaslo, B.C., and associates acquired property in the same district several months ago. The man engaged longest in the development of the mines is Pat Daly, formerly of Nelson, B.C. He was in charge of the Premier nine years, he said, while at the Davenport last summer.—Spokesman-Review.

COMMITTEE WILL MEET IN CALGARY AFTER JAN 1.

With the meeting of the British Columbia and the Alberta committees in Calgary shortly after the New Year, the final plans for the 1920 Industrial Congress will be discussed and completed. The big gathering, which will include manufacturers and financiers from all over Canada and the United States, will visit the large centres of Alberta and British Columbia, will meet early in June The exact dates are to be decided at the meeting which is being called in the near future. Among the British Columbia men who will attend the committee meeting are P. H. Shalleross, ex-president of the Vancouver Board of Trade; J. A. Cunningham, Hon. President of the B. C. Manufacturers' Association, and Edwin Tomlin, Vice-Chairman of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, British Columbia Branch.

The 1920 Congress promises to surpass the success of this year by a large margin. Already a large attendance is assured from outside, and the keenest interest in the meetings is displayed by the business men of the cities where the meetings will take place. Although the plans at the present time are in a tentative stage, it has practically been decided that the itinerary of the Congress will include Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster. The sessions will occupy a period of two weeks.

M. A. Brown, mayor of Medicine Hat, and president of the Congress, has received the most encouraging letters from various sources all over the continent. The movement is receiving the strong support of the government, banks, railways and municipalities.

To the Drury Government we say that it is an outrage that people cannot walk through the bush after the hunting season without getting their feet cut on broken bottles.—Ottawa Journal.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Sherwood Herchmer was in Cranbrook on Monday on business.

Local Masons celebrated St. John's day on Saturday evening last.

Wilfrid Biggs, of Lethbridge, spent Thursday with his parents here.

Sperry Phillips, of Vancouver, spent New Years with Rev. Batzold.

J. R. Pollock, of Spokane, has been in the city on business for several days.

Ed. Heaphy, of the Elk Valley Lbr. Co. spent the holidays with his family in Winnipeg.

Our summer weather disappeared on Tuesday when the thermometer dropped down to zero mark again.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Wood wil spend the winter in California. They exepect to leave in the course of a few days.

Mrs. (Dr.) Bonnell and son Franklin leave tomorrow for Vancouver, where they will spend a few months.

Don't miss seeing the copies of famous paintings shown by the I. O. D. E., Tuesday, Jan. 6, at 3.30 p.m. in the G.W.V.A. rooms.

The public schools will reopen on Monday. Nearly all the teachers who have been ill have recovered and it is hoped school will start with a full staff.

New Year's Day passed off very quietly. The supply of illicit booze seems to be about exhausted as intoxicated men are becoming few and far between.

J. F. Macdonald, manager of the Home Bank in Vancouver, has resigned his position. He is going into the real estate and insurance business in that city.

The ladies' hockey team will meet the Calgary team in that city tomorrow night. The return game will be played in Fernie on January 7th, at 4 p.m. Admission 50c., children 25c.

Now that the government restrictions on the importation of liquor have been removed, local wholesalers who were put out of business by the order in council have applied for a renewal of the licenses for their bonded warehouses. We understand they will have to secure the consent of the provincial government before they are granted.

All the stores are closed today, the Mayor having proclaimed a civic holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Black arrived home on Tuesday from their honeymoon trip.

Dr. and Mrs. Corsan entertained a number of young people to a dance and bridge on Monday evening.

Geo. Cody has the contract for the removal of the buildings of the Fernie Lumber Co. to the new site of the White Spruce Lumber Co.

A certain young lady school teacher lost a purse containing over one hundred dollars in the Orpheum last evening. That seems a lot of money for a teacher to have at one time.

Following were the winning numbers at the Band Drawing held on Dec. 23: Nos. 518, 1043, 801, 1490, 409, 772, 320, 665 and 268. Anyone having any of the above numbers can receive prizes by applying to B. Smith.

The election campaign is proceeding very quietly. Very few aspirants for aldermanic honors have declared themselves. A movement is on foot to try and switch the District Bonspiel so that it will not be held the same week as the election.

The program of the United church Sunday School was a fine success. Both the drills and singing of the girls and boys, as well as the series of tableaus presented, made a pleasant and instructive program. The visit of Santa Claus after the program was enjoyed by all.

The tenants of the Napanee Hotel gave a house-warming on Monday night last. A large number were invited and the floors were filled to capacity by the crowd of merry-makers. Cards and dancing were indulged in until a late hour. Evereyone present reports having the time of their lives.

A big fire took place in Hosmer on Monday night, an entire block of buildings being destroyed. The only occupied building was the store of Mike Boassalay, which was burned with all its contents. The fire also extended across the street to the old Royal hotel, which was also destroyed. Boasslay's stock was covered by insurance. The cause of the fire, which started in an empty frame building, is unknown. Mr. Boasslay was absent in Michel when the fire occurred and he lost his books as the safe door had been left open.

Alderman Hunter, of the Electric Light and Power Committee, says that the report published in our last issue that the service was not up to the usual standard, owing to some of the staff being off on a celebration is far from correct. He states that the recent flood caused all kinds of trouble at the power house and many of the staff worked night and day to keep things going. We are sorry that we published the story, but as our information came from one of the aldermen, we believed it to be correct.

The newly painted windows at the new Club rooms are attracting a great deal of attention from the cultured artists of the city and adjoining districts. The Bills and Franks, after prolonged discussions with their associates and friends, who possess artistic proclivities have resolved that the window shades of beauty need further blending. They have therefore, to satisfy their new aspirations for beauty and delicately new-found ideas of blended tints in shades and colors, and in their newly discovered sympathy for quenching the thirst of the members of the new club quarters, decided to post all future notises in a neatly lovered glass casement on the front of the new Club rooms entrance. This arrangement will save Frank the long hard walk to the public notice board near the Post Office, to hang up notices, and save his friends from being exposed to the offensive view of unscruphlohs persons.

British Imitation Hat Velour

American visitors to England—especially women—have remarked upon the high prices of British millinery. Hats in the United Kingdom are very much higher priced than in the United States. This season the velour hat is again very popular, but, as velours are rather expensive, they are beyond the reach of women with little money to spend on dress. To meet this condition an English hat manufacturer is placing on the market an imitation velour made of stiffened cotton flanelette. The material for the manufacture of this particular style of hat is being turned out by a large textile firm in Manchester in great quantities.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

THE RULES OF THE GENTLE RED

Now and again the veil is lifted in respect to the atrocities which have been practiced in Russia during the Trotsky-Lenine regime. I have a letter before me, written by one of Canada's sons to his father. For reasons which scarcely need explanation, the identity of the writer will have to remain unknown, as will also the causes which found him in the Black Sea and at Odessa, that great Russian port, within a comparatively recent date. First of all he tells of the epidemic of cholera from which the people of Odessa were suffering. "There are about 1,500 cases at the present time," he writes, "but it seems to be on the decline, and when people have a bit more food and things settle down a bit, it should be cleared up altogether." He then described how the Bolsheviki, previous to their being driven out of Odessa by the volunteer army, crippled all the shipping in the harbor, hundreds of vessels, by destroying the engines, and then to make sure of the job, obliterated all the repairing and shipbuilding plants.

The writer then proceeds: "I went into the late Soviet headquarters yesterday. In that place alone they tortured and killed seven hundred people a week. Not content with their own depravity the Bolshies have paid bands of professional Chinese torturers, who from all accounts over-earned their pay. The wildest things ever heard of have easily been surpassed by these gentry. I went around the place and saw some of the dungeons and some of the professional instruments. My main job, however, was to keep myself from being ill. The floors were half an inch thick with blood, and the state of the walls against which the lucky ones were shot can only be imagined."

The letter then goes on to describe some of the Bolshevik torturers, including a negro, two Chinese and three Russian girls, who had been captured by the volunteers, and had been promised a speedy end for the atrocities committed. When told what their fate was to be, one young girl, described by the writer as the "youngest and gentlest" boasted that she had gouged out the eyes of six hundred people and was well content to lose her own head in exchange. So much for the gentle Bolshevists, as judged by a Canadian at first hand.

Writing of the general situation our informant says: "The ordinary Russian is such a spineless individual it is easy to realize how the Bolshevists were able to run riot in a great city such as Odessa. Imagine a rabble of four thousand roughnecks badly equipped, being allowed to capture a seaport town of a million population. A strong man with a force of a thousand could have prevented the whole thing occurring. Some of our allies left Odessa in the lurch when they had ample troops, to say nothing of ships, right here in the harbor. While the Bolshies were advancing on the town and without firing a shot they evacuated the place on the eve of the entry of the Bolsheviki rabble."

Describing conditions in Odessa during the occupation of the Bolshevists the writer states that all lighting was off, trains at a standstill and factories idle. The peasants from outside refused to bring in supplies for the reason that the Reds seized everything and no payment was made. Black bread, mostly straw, sold at 150 roubles a loaf, which at the then prevailing exchange rate, meant nearly a pound sterling. At that, bread as well as everything else eatable, was so scarce that this stuff was rationed, and all Odessa had to join the Reds or starve. The writer described one English family residing in Odessa which lived on melons and vegetable marrow for three months without a break in the menu.

In the matter of clothing the population was no better off, the better class of people in the city being covered practically with rags. This condition largely came about through the pillaging of the houses by the Reds, who practically stripped the houses naked of clothing as well as furniture.

Such was the great city of Odessa, the queen of the Black Sea, formerly one of the world's great ports, under the rule of a class which some of our people would introduce into Canada and the Unites States. —Saturday Night.

COME TO CHURCH PENNY IN HAND

A strong complaint about the large number of pennies found in the offeratory at the harvest festival is made by the Rev. A. Dallman, vicar of St. Luke's, Preston, Eng. Writing in the parish magazine, he says:

"When we find that at the Sunday evening services, with some 800 or more people present, no less than 300 pennies figure in the offeratory we consider that the officials have good ground for complaint and dissatisfaction. We little thought of the many poor amongst us. Yet everybody is well dressed and apparently well cultured, and yet they come to God with a penny in their hand.

"Possibly they counted their money and invested it in war bonds or retained it for the pictures. One explanation suggests that they were wandering worshippers. This explanation, though satisfactory to our people, is not satisfactory to me.

"Sunday after Sunday we have too many well-dressed folk claiming free seats, free books, warmth, light, music, preaching—very generous in fault-finding, but only valuing their religious privileges at a penny.

"To hear them, full of emotion, sing, 'Were the Whole Realm of Nature Mine' is enough to make Ananias blush. But emotion is not true religion."

Too many persons in this country are enjoying the right of free speech. —Brooklyn Eagle.

"WHISKEY" DREW $1,500 A BARREL

New York, Dec. 29.—Three men—an undertaker, a druggist and liquor dealer—faced charges before a United States commissioner here this morning in connection with the spreading of wood alcohol as whiskey through five states in the last ten days. death and blindness following in its wake.

Romanelli, a Brooklyn undertaker according to the police, is the "king pin" in the wood alcohol traffic Panarelli, who, accordiny to the federal agents, made a clean breast of his part in handling the beverage, said when arrested:

"I am glad you got me. I will tell all I know, but for God's sake, don't send me to Connecticut. I don't want to be lynched. My name has been published in all the papers and it would mean certain death."

When interviewed by newspapermen at police headquarters, Panarelli said he believed that 20 barrels of the "whiskey" had been shipped to Hartford, each barrel containing between 40 and 50 gallons. The price paid was from $1,000 to $1,500 a barrel.

Mr. Porter declared that the manufacture and sale of whiskey from nonbeverage and poisonous alcohol since prohibition became effective, has constituted the greatest get-rich-quick scheme that the internal revenue department has ever had to deal with. The selling of fake oil and mining stocks and paste diamonds was mild in comparison with the money made from illegal manufacture of liquor, he said.

TOKYO, WORLD'S FOURTH CITY

(By Caroline Macdonald)

London and New York are racing for first place in population and Paris and Tokyo are practically neck and neck for third place, with Paris, however, leading by a few thousands, leaving Tokyo the fourth city in the world with a population of 2,349,830, packed within an area, almost identical to Paris, of thirty square miles.

Sixty years ago Tokyo was an ancient castle town surrounded by moats and towers and wonderful grey stone walls guiltless of mortar, which still stand as a monument to the workmanship of old Japan. A mere feudal lord was then ruling Japan, ruling it is true in the name of the Emperor, who, however, dwelt in splendid isolation in the imperial city of Kyoto, two hundred miles away, and was no more than a vassal to his powerful subject.

There had been great doings in Tokyo during the two hundred years that this feudal house held sway over the entire country. About the middle of the 17th century, the first lord, by way of simplifying the Government, expelled the foreigners, practically exterminated Christianity, which had been introduced by Xavier, and which numbered at that time nearly a million believers; and when these encumbrances had been wiped off proceeded to establish buffer states between the fiefs of his rivals; compelled every feudal lord to keep his wife and family in Tokyo, and to live himself six months of the year at the military garrison. In case of suspected trouble in the country fiefs, the wives and children in Tokyo were seized as hostages and the trouble soon ceased. The imperial court nobles in Kyoto were kept in control so that trouble could not arise from that source. Individuality and initiative were naturally suppressed, etiquette and formality took the place of spontaneous effort, and only the military powers flourished. Many Japanese people say that even today the whole Japanese nation suffers from these two centuries of repression.

And then only sixty years ago through circumstances that are now historical, the Emperor, then a young man only eighteen years of age, left the old imperial capital of Kyoto, with great pomp and imposing ceremony, went up to Tokyo, took possession of the garrison and resumed his imperial power. The feudal lords voluntarily surrendered their fiefs to the Crown, and in their place have come the viscounts, the dukes, and the barons, which make up modern aristocracy. And so began the new Japan.

The castle town, surrounded by a heterogeneous mass of villages where the subject lords lived in the feudal days, has grown within the lifetime of many now living into the fourth city in the world. It is a low lying city, the highest spot being only 129 feet above sea level and its lowest reclaimed land from the sea. The town and surrounding villages, grown together and greatly congested, form the present city. Within the last fifteen years alone the population has quadrupled.

The city is lit by electricity, more in the centre and less in the outskirts, tram lines follow the great arteries of commerce, but still, leave many places at magnificent distances from everywhere. Excellent water is supplied by the waterworks, but well water is still used in some of the lower sections, much to the detriment of health. There is no sewerage system and open drains carry the city's refuse down through the city's streets. The roads are not paved except a negligible bit here and there and mud abounds in rainy weather in the very centre of the metropolis. The lower parts of the city are crowded beyond all hope of improvement, the poor are miserably poor, and the rich are getting richer. Temples and Shinto shrines are found everywhere, numbering 1,440 all told, some of them depositories of wonderful historic relics and others disease-breeding popular gathering places for superstitious people.

The style of architecture is of every description perpetrated upon unsuspecting man since Adam was a boy. Artistic temples and shrines and public gates and modern public buildings, some of them very fine in appearance, with all sorts of excrescences in between! But the general standard is rising. The greater part of the town, however, is still mainly composed of small one-storey wooden houses of simple native architecture. Nobles and the common people are to be found together in all parts of the city and no one part is exclusively aristocratic. Some parts are however, exclusively otherwise.

The moral sanctions of the old religions are gone and Christianity has not yet come to its own. Within the entire country there is a church membership of not more than 200,000, counting all denominations and sects, and in Tokyo there are only 116 churches of all kinds. Nevehtheless, the Christian population wields an influence all out of proportion to its numbers, and non-Christian people themselves recognize the uniqueness of the Christian standards and respect Christian character when they see it.

Within the city are concentrated all the problems that beset every great city and some which are unique to Tokyo with its phenomenal birth and growth.

Tokyo is the centre of Government, the centre of law courts, the centre of everything. Globe trotters cannot see the meaning of Tokyo readily, for it is to be understood in terms of life and not of curios and they pass by it. There are less than one thousand Europeans living in Tokyo, and the life is Japanese. Side by side are mother and daughter, father and son, belonging to ages as remote as the sun and moon, and as little understanding one another. It is the tragedy of home life, but the age must march on. Japan carries a brave heart within, but her duties and responsibilities are appalling. Whether she will march on to a truer and nobler life will largely depend upon the practical sympathy that Christian nations will bring to her in the coming days.

AIRPLANES AND BATTLESHIPS

What else can we call it but hysteria when Admiral Sir Percy Scott says: "The battleship is dead. . . . . Battleships were dead before the war, and I think they are more dead now. The battleship waddles along at twenty miles an hour and cannot waddle far. . . . When a battleship nears the end of her coal and ammunition supply she must waddle home, and it takes several hours to refuel her, even if she uses oil. An airplane will return at one hundred miles an hour, and takes only three minutes to load agin." And if it were anyone but Lord Fisher, we should put it down to hysteria that he has written six letters to the London Times, and a whole book, to prove that pretty well everything in the British Navy, whether afloat or ashore, is wrong—except the gallant Admiral himself.

But we are not concerned so much with Lord Fisher's diatribes. Those who are interested in the brilliant, eccentric, over-masterful and choleric old sea dog can find much interesting naval gossip in surely the spiciest book ever written by an admiral, British or otherwise. Iago said he was "nothing if not original," and Fisher is nothing if not explosive. As to the good taste of his wholesale denunciation of his brother officers in the same breath in which, by indirection, he extols his own infallible genius, there will be but one opinion, both inside the Navy and out.

Admiral Scott says that battleships were dead before the war, and he thinks they are "more dead" now. It will be remembered that in 1914 he made the same statement. Six years have passed since then, and five of them witnessed the greatest series of naval operations of all history. So far from the battleship being dead, in our opinion it was never so much alive as it is today. It was the silent stranglehold of a navy whose strength in the last analysis, lay in its fighting line of dreadnought battleships, which was one of the principle contributing causes of the overwhelming defeat of the enemy.

Admiral Scott thinks that the battleship has already given way to the airplane. "It takes a battleship," he says, "weighing 30,000 tons to carry 100,000 pounds of high explosives. Ten airplanes of three tons each could carry the same amount." But so far from the airplane having destroyed the value of the battleship, it is a fact that in all of those five years of war, not once was a battleship destroyed by an airplane, and not once did an airplane even hit a battleship that was under way.

As a matter of fact, the evidence in the case points all in the other direction. That is, it shows how completely ineffective is airplane attack in sinking or seriously disabling the battleship. Proof of this was seen at the Dardanelles, when the airplane had the chance of its life in attacking the heavily armored battle-cruiser "Goeben." The conditions were ideal for the airplane, and the worst possible for the cruiser, for the "Goeben" in entering the Dardanelles had run aground, and therefore could not manoeuver. So, the flying men had everything pretty much their own way, and theoretically they should have bombed the "Goeben" to pieces. As a matter of fact, the ship was subsequently floated and returned through the Straits to Constantinople at fifteen knots, under her own steam.

The case for the airplane or the airship as a substitute for the battleship would be fairly strong, and the statement of Admiral Scott would be less preposterous, if the aiming of bombs from an airship had anything of the accuracy of the projectiles thrown from the heavy guns of a battleship. But so far as accuracy in hitting an object the size of a battleship is concerned, the airplane bomb is about the most inaccurate of all the missles that are known to the modern art of ballistics. As an airman once said: "It is really astonishing how much you can miss from an airplane." In regard to its inaccuracy, or rather the inaccuracy of the aiming, the airplne bomb is in the same class with the torpedo. Both the bomb and the torpedo are remarkably accurate weapons if they are launched at the proper angle with relation both to the speed of the firing craft and of the target at which they are aimed. The public may be excused for drawing inferences from the ease with which a huge mark like a city can be bombed, overlooking the difficulty of hitting a definite mark like a particular building on land or a particular ship at sea, from the height of 15,000 to 20,000 feet to which the attacking aircraft are forced by the accuracy and volume of anti-aircraft fire.

The battleship may "waddle" to use the Admiral's poetic term, and it is true that on exhausting its fuel and ammunition supply it must return to port at but twenty knots' speed, while the airplane can return at one hundred knots. But he omits to state that the battleship can waddle from five to ten times as far as the airplane on one filling of its tanks and bunkers. No. We can see no reason to suppose that the airplane is destined to be a cheap "kill-all" in naval warfare any more than the torpedo boat, the submarine, the so-called dynamite gun, or any other of the sensational inventions which have shown themselves above the horizon down through the past fifty years. Each of these in its turn has settled down to take its proper part in the great, diversified and complicated scheme of naval warfare. The airplane will supplement but it will not suppress the battleship. Already it has proved its vaue as an aid to the battleship in the two most important fields of scouting and spotting. The British have got the right idea in building their Argus mother ships, big, broad-platformed vessels, capable of going anywhere, nesting from twenty to thirty airplanes below deck and able to send them out hundreds of miles ahead of the fleet to get early tidings of the enemy's location, disposition and strength. As an aid to modern gunnery in spotting the fall of shot the airplane will prove to be simply invaluable, particularly in these days of sixteen-inch and eighteen-inch guns, with ranges of from twenty to thirty miles.

So, far from rendering the battleship obsolete, the airplane, because of its superb scouting and spotting possibilities, has prolonged the era of the battleship and rendered it even more efficient than before.—Scientific American.

BIG QUESTION FOR WOMEN IN "EXPERIMENTAL MARRIAGE

"Shall I marry and lose my freedom, or stay single and lose the man I love?" is the question Constance Talmadge, as Suzanne Ercoll finds herself called upon to answer in her latest Select Picture, "Experimental Marriage," in which she is presented by Lewis J. Selznick.

Does marriage imply the abandoning of all liberty on the part of the wife? When a woman marries a man, does it mean that she must give up her dearly beloved freedom and spend the rest of her life living for one man only out of the millions of men that exist on earth? These were the questions that the charming widow Ercoll put to herself and found herself incapable of answering.

That's why she hesitated when Harrison Ford as Foxcroft Grey proposed to her. She loved him and wanted to "hold" him in some manner so that she could be assured that he was hers alone, but she also dearly loved her freedom.

Furthermore, Suzanne had already been married and had led a humdrum existence for a few years because she had made a bad match. Her first husband, however, had died, and she had again breathed freely, and now she thought that to marry again was to plunge into perpetual bondage. So she received a sudden inspiration and contracted with her new love to marry, and live as man and wife three days out of each week, each to do as he or she pleased on the other four days. But it didn't work. You will have to see the picture at the Orpheum Theatre, on Monday and Tuesday to appreciate the clever way the foxy young lawyer cured her of these wild ideas.

Chinese Coal for United States

What is said to be the first shipment of Chinese coal to the American Continent was made in June, when 1,600 tons were shipped from Chinwangtao to Alaska. The price of the coal was reported to be $7.00 per ton, f.o.b. Chinwangtao, and was bought by a canning plant at Bristol Bay.

CAPT. ADAMS WAS TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Improvement so Remarkable After Taking Tanlac He Hardly Knows Himself.

"For one whole year before I took Tanlac there was hardly a day that I didn't have a severe headache and hardly a night that I got over an hour or two of sleep," said S. S. Adams when he called at the Owl Drug Store in Vancouver, B.C. Mr. Adams served as Captain in the Englih army and at the time he made this statement he was registered at the St. Frances Hotel, 600 Cordova, West, Vancouver. Mr. Adams further stated that he would leave for the Orient in a few days to accept a managing position with an English firm in Japan.

"For the past year," continued Mr. Adams, "I had gastritis in its very worst form, and gas would press against my heart and make it palpitate so bad that I would get dizzy and sometimes while I was eating I would get to feeling so dizzy that I would have to get up and leave the table without finishing. My appetite was almost completely gone and even the smell of food would sometimes turn my stomach, and I had to be extremely careful about what I ate so as not to suffer from gas. My nerves were shattered and the least little noise out of the ordinary would upset me completely.

"I tried medicine after medicine but nothing would do me any good, and I was about to give up trying to find anything else when my attention was called to a testimonial in the paper about Tanlac. I decided to try it, and I want to say right here that it took me by surprise and that it is simply remarkable how I have been restored to health. I have a splendid appetite and no matter what or how much I eat I never suffer from stomach trouble in any form. My nerves are quiet and steady, and I can sleep all night long. I am not troubled with headaches or dizzy spells any longer, and I feel so different in every way that I hardly know myself. I am leaving for the Orient in a few days and before I go I feel that it is my duty to make this statement and let the people know that Tanlac is a great thing and that it will do every bit of what they say it will."

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE OF CANADA

Emplyoment reports from employers to the Dominion Headquarters of the Employment Service of Canada, Department of Labour indicate that, disregarding loss of time due to strikes, there was, as has been anticipated, a slight decline in the volume of employment as compared with the preceeding week. In Ontario and the Maritime Provinces a slight improvement was reported, but in Quebec, the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia, declines were registered.

Reports for the week ending December 6th were received from 4921 firms. These firms reported 684,064 persons on payroll as compared with 685,439 persons on payroll during the week ending November 29th, a decrease of 1375 persons or .2 per cent. A further decrease of 2564 persons or .4 per cent was anticipated for the week ending December 13th.

The reports do not indicate as healthy a condition as during the week ending November 29th, when reports from 4911 firms with 699,656 persons on payroll indicates that staffs had been increased by 405 persons or .1 per cent. These firms anticipated a decrease of 676 persons or .1 per cent for the week ending December 6th which decrease the actual figures for that week show to have been more than registered.

The plus industries—those that registered increases in the number of persons employed—with their respective percentage increases, were: Commercial and Mercantile 1.3 per cent; Lumbering 2.4 per cent; Chemicals .3 per cent; Leather and Leather goods 1.0 per cent! Metals .2 per cent; Pulp, Paper and Printing .3 per cent; Textiles .6 per cent; Vehicles .4 per cent; Woodworking .9 per cent; Quarrying and Mining .5 per cent. In addition to Lumbering, which registered the most substantial gain, substantial increases were registered in Commercial and Mercantile (a reflection of the increased activity of the holiday season); Textiles; Quarrying and Mining; Metals—these groups maintaining substantial increases of preceding weeks. A nominal increase was registered in Railway Operation to be followed by an anticipated decrease of .4 per cent during the week of the 13th. With the excention of Railway Operation; Pulp, Paper and Printing and Chemicals, further gains were anticipated in all groups for week ending December 13th. The anticipated decreases in these latter groups, however, were not great.

The minus industries—those that registered net decreases in the number of persons employed—were: Building and Construction .3 per cent; Clay, Glass and Stone .3 per cent; Food, Drink and Tobacco .6 per cent; Railway Construction 8.0 per cent; Miscellaneous .2 per cent and Shipping and Longshore 20.0 per cent. The decline in Shipping and Longshore is a reflection of the close of inland navigation. Apart from Shipping and Longshore the largest decrease was registered in Railway Construction, reflecting a further seasonal decline in this group. Building and Construction and Food, Drink and Tobacco showed seasonal reductions. Further decreases in Railway Construction and Shipping and Longshore were anticipated for the week ending December 13th.

JOHN BULL SAYS NO GAMBLING

Discussing Horatio Bottomley's scheme of raising money for Imperial purposes, the Montreal Gazette says:

The British House of Commons has, with all due respect to Horatio W. Bottomley, turned its back on the tempter. It has declined, by a large majority, to follow the lure of easy money. If that excellent old gentleman, John Bull, is hard up, he will remain hard up unti such time as he is able to regain his customary state of affluence by the means and in accordance with the rules and regulations to which he is accustomed. He refuses to gamble, a practice which is not only pernicious, but unsafe.

The first subtle move against the character of Mr. Bull was made while the war was in progress, and when the old gentleman, preoccupied with martial affairs, might be thought to be occasionally off his guard in the matter of personal probity. There had been got together, under royal auspices, a great necklace of pearls, which was to be disposed of for the benefit of the Red Cross. The suggestion was made that these pearls should be disposed of by lottery, by which method the Red Cross would get a much larger sum than might otherwise be expected. The question was put before the House of Commons. It was the thin edge of the wedge, the first false step, the apple of Eden, and other things of that kind, and was quickly identified as such by the champions of rectitude, who were able to muster a majority of members. The request was refused and the necklace was sold according to the method sanctioned by respectable usage. This pleasant and reassuring incident must have escaped the otherwise tenacious memory of Mr. Horatio W. Bottomley. This gentleman is a financier of experience and repute and is described as "the author and chief advoiate of the Business Government idea." That he should have seriously proposed the issuing of premium bonds as a means of reducing the national indebtedness, must be ascribed to a momentary lapse in explanation of which it may be said that Mr. Bottomley is a journalist, keeps race horses, and was at one time interested in the mining industry. Anyhow, and be that as it may, Horatio did make the proposal, which was nothing more or less than that the debt should be liquidated, in part, by lottery. The house rejected the proposal, not as one man, but 276 to 84. The Chancellor of the Exchequer would have none of it. In honest work lay the only salvation, and the people should be taught that lesson. To issue premium bonds would be to encourage the gambling spirit, already too rampant. Besides which, the Chancellor's didn't believe he could get enough money that way.

IS THE EX-CZAR ALIVE?

Is the ex-Czar of Russia and his family alive and ready to put in an appearance when the propitious hour arrives?

There are many who think so, including the Dowager Empress, who is in England. The editor of the "London Magazine" expresses the belief that the ex-Czar and his family are alive and well, and publishes an article by M. S. Marsden, who is described as possessing inside information, in which the various stories about the fate of the Russian royal family are dismissed as untrue.

The Dowager Empress and all the Grand Dukes and Duchesses were reported slain. None of them were. In April of this year they got together, and to the number of twenty-four left for England, which they could not have done without the consent of Russian authority.

But, one may ask, why should the ex-Czar if alive keep so quiet and news of his death be so widely circulated? To this Mr. Marsden answers that British intervention in Russia is already unpopular, and "if it were known that the Czar is alive and that our allies in Russia were Royalists seeking to restore the Russian monarchy, it would be vastly more unpopular still."

This is very true. But the author of the article leaves the reader unconvinced that the ex-Czar is still alive. His case rests mostly on three facts: (1) that the stories of his death are numerous and contradictory, (2) that the Grand Dukes also reported slain are now alive and in England, and (3) the Czar's mother declares that he is still alive. The flaw in the case is right there. If he is alive and the fact is being concealed in the interest of the royal cause would not his mother carefully guard so important a secret? If she knew him to be alive would she blurt the truth to his injury?

Is it not more likely that she, like countless mothers in the world today, is hoping against hope that her son is alive somewhere and well, and will come again to her?

Hard-Wearing Cloth

A new textile fabric which, it is claimed, will tend to lower the present high cost of men's clothing is being placed on the market by a Pudsley (Yorkshire) manufacturer. The London agents of the manufacturer state that the new cloth is made entirely of silk noil (or short fibres), and that, while superior in wearing properties to a pure worsted, it can be sold at the price of shoddy cloth, or one-fourth the price of the best wool fabrics. It is said to be strong and almost untearable, very suitable for hard wear, and can be obtained grays, browns and blacks. The new fabric is claimed to be a British discovery and is at present manufactured only by one firm.

It is complained that a Canadian National train is so slow that the passengers get out and milk the cows along the way. But at Asquith the other night an engineer on the G.T.P. spit his store teeth out of the cab window, and the train was halted while he and the brakeman went back and recovered them. — Saskatoon Phoenix.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

BRANCHES AT FERNIE, MICHEL, NATAL AND COAL CREEK

NOVEMBER and DECEMBER DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

'SPIEL STARTS ON JAN. 12

(Lethbridge Herald)

January 12th will see the start of the district bonspiel of the Crow's Nest branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Association. This means that for a full week the city will be crowded with the good curlers and splendid fellows from Cranbrook on the west to Bow Island on the east.

To understand how the curling game is growing and just how fast the small towns are growing up one only has to remember that a few years ago Lethbridge curlers could only look to Macleod for an occasional game, with an off chance of a visit to Medicine Hat every other season or so.

Then look at what the entry list will show this year. There will be several rinks from each Cranbrook, Fernie, Macleod and Taber, with single or double entries, at least from Coleman, Pincher Creek, Carmangay, Vulcan, Claresholm, Granum, Bow Island and possibly Barons.

In past years the competitions have shown an entry list of twenty-two, twenty-four and occasionally as high as thirty rinks. But provided there is ice for a week before the big spiel starts, those in touch with the game feel that there will be records smashed by 50 per cent. in the matter of entries.

It looks like thirty five with possibly forty rinks to face the draw committee. Of this list Lethbridge will have 12 or 14 rinks the rest will be our visitors.

That means that the city will have as its guests from 60 to 75 of the prominent citizens and good curlers of our neighboring towns and cities, and they are here for four days to the full week.

Other cities, notably Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, take bonspiel weeks as an opportunity for a winter's sport carnival and put it over in no mean manner, with hockey matches, dog races, boxing matches, skating races, special programmes at the theatres, etc. Now we admit we are not quite as big as Calgary and the other cities mentioned, but listen Clarence, our bonspiels have pulled better than Calgary's the last two or three years, and there is a reason, it was because folks like coming to Lethbridge because they say the Lethbridge curlers are comfortable persons to know and our bonspiels are so well managed that they like to come back. Of course we have not the ice to attempt a 100 rink entry as Calgary is attempting this year with a prize list of over $2,000. But we can handle forty well.

There are five open competitions, with four sets of four prizes in each.

The Grand Challenge (Mason and Risch Cup) supported by Cranbrook, as to prizes.

The Walker, supported by Fernie.

The Magrath, supported by Lethbridge.

The Macleod, supported by Macleod and Taber.

The Trites-Wood, 1st prize by the Trites-Wood Co. of Fernie and 2nd, 3rd and 4th prizes supported by Carmangay, Coleman and one of the other smaller clubs.

In each case the first prizes are small individual cups, that the winners keep and prize for all time. This is the new method adopted last year and one that will appeal to all curlers. The seconds, thirds and fourth prizes are going to be exceptionally good ones and the list will be published later.

If we have the ice and its almost a sure bet that we will have with over two weeks of fine weather over our shoulder would it not be a good idea for the L. A. A. A. and the hockey boys to get together and arrange for a solid week of hockey with some skating races that week, pulling their hockey schedule up to date, as well as providing our visitors with another source of entertainment, while off the ice themselves.

Lethbridge is back on the sport map for keeps, and particularly has an effort been made to set hockey on its feet. Let us take this opportunity of establishing the fact to our visitors by showing them some well played games.

Do not forget the date, the week of January 12 to January 18. The new car schedule makes the rink easily reached from all parts of the city.

Lethbridge citizens can not overlook the opportunity of making bonspiel week an event. At least show the visitors by your cordiality that they are indeed welcome to this city.

Machinery Situation in France

After eight months spent in studying the industrial machinery situation in France and Belgium, Trade Commissioner Charles P. Wood, of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has returned to this country and is visiting various manufacturing and industrial centres to discuss with business men the facts his investigation has brought to light. How to take advantage of opportunities in France and Belgium, on terms profitable to all concerned, and in the face of the present adverse exchange situation, is a problem now perplexing American machinery manufacturers as well as their bankers and financial associates.

COAL CREEK NOTES

This camp has presented a very animated appearance during the Xmas and New Year celebration.

The following officers were elected to "carry on" the doctrines of the Club at the general meeting: President, Carmichael McNay; Vice-President, Frank Nee; Sce.-Treas., R. Johnstone; Board of Management, D. Kirkwood, W. May, J. S. Weir, J. Hayle, G. Smith, J. Milburn, G. Bradshaw, S. Heaney, W. Sheppard.

The annual Christmas Tree was held on Christmas eve, when presents were distributed to all children up to 14 in the camp; also children of members of the Club in Fernie. Owing to the lack of snow the sleigh had to be dispensed with and Santa arrived on wheels.

In the evening a whist drive, social and dance was held in the Club Hall. Commons Big Four Orchestra provided terpschicorean music. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Fowler entertained over fifty guests at a whist drive and carnival gathering at their home on Coyote street.

A grand reunion was held at the home of Mrs. Cartmell, Railway View.

Mr. and Mrs. Fawley of Welsh camp, entertained a large number of guests on Christmas night.

A large number of friends gathered together at the home of Mrs. Puckey, Riverside Ave. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

Sounds of merriment emanated from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Simpson of Holy City during the past week, when a family reunion was held.

The kiddies of the Methodist Sunday school met together on Friday evening last, the occasion being their annual Tea Party and prize distribution. Twenty-four children received prizes for regular attendance. The evening was spent in games, interspersed with solos and recitations.

George Barker, of pugilistic fame, arrived back in camp from Kamloops, where he has been negotiating a land deal. George reports a successful deal.

The boys held a successful smoker at the Club on New Year's eve, the occasion being used to present a handsome engraved cup to Kid Barker for his prowess in the roped arena. In a neat befitting speech the recipient thanked the boys for their kindness and regretted that owing to his opponent taking cold feet the fistic battle could not be staged.

The New Year was heralded in by the ringing of the church bell and the buzzer blowing, followed by the usual firecrackers.

The board of management at the Club announced a social and dance for New Year day, free to all Creekites and families of members resident in Fernie.

Special trains for the convenience of Creekites shopping in Fernie were run on Christmas and New Year's eve.

Congratulations to Frank Nee on his appointment by acclamation as Vice-President of Fernie G. W. V. A. J. Milburn retains his seat on the executive.

Jimmy Wilson arrived back in camp from the coast, where he received his discharge from the army.

The ferocious nature of some of the dogs around this camp is going to cause serious trouble for the owners. The "Duke" required a new pair of trousers in consequence of a bite received from one of them on New Year's eve.

The "Rambler" remarks that the only drawback to the celebrations of Christmas and New Year was the absence of his two pals, Johnny Walker and John Dewar.

The smoker on New Year's eve brought to light some would be Carusos. Our old friend "Bish" in his rendition of "Rose of No Man's Land" received loud applause. The accompaniment was played by Professor Morrison of Daily Mail fame on the piano and Signor Oliva on the cornet. As duettists Messrs. Smith and Wilson brought the house down and our old historical friend Patterson took one back in fancy to Bonnie Scotland by his Scottish airs rendered creditably.

STOCK CLEARING SALE

In arranging our stock, previous to stock-taking, we have found some odd lines in some departments and too much stock in others; and these we intend to clean up within the next nine days.

We invite the public to come and look these bargains over. They will be all cleared at low prices, and first come, will certainly get the benefit of some high quality, low priced goods.

We intend to clean these surplus goods up, and if low prices will do so, two or three days should be all that is necessary to get them in the hands of the public.

So come early, as this is a genuine high quality, low priced sale.

HOCKEY NOTES

With old Jack Frost back in our midst the league is under way once more. Up to date four games have been played, each team winning one and losing one, leaving the league standing even.

On Friday last the Leaf Lards took the measure of the Mills in a fast and clean exhibition of hockey, by the score of 5 to 3, and by doing so evened up the race and the leadership now belongs to anybody.

Tonight the Monarchs and Shamrocks lock horns. This will be the first time these teams have met and the game ought to be a thriller. The next league fixture is billed for Monday, Jan. 12 between Millionaires and Monarchs. Both games start at 7 p.m. sharp.

On Monday the League turned the ice over to the ladies for extra practice in anticipation of their return game with Calgary. The game to have taken place that night was postponed and will be pulled off Sunday afternoon, starting at 3.15 sharp.

A. Cyr, charged with having venison in his possession, was fined $20 this week.

OUR CIVIC FINANCES

The 1919 city council presented their final semi-monthly performance with all present except Ald. Beck at the opening.

The minutes of the previous meeting were regularly approved and correspondence requiring attention then presented. This was confined to one communication from the Canadian Patriotic Society refusing to entertain a claim of the city for reimbursement of certain monies it had been required to expend. The matter will be further pressed with the higher-ups in the C.P.S.

A belated notification from the Public Utilities Commission under date of Dec. 30, advised the council that in accordance with the "Act" passed March 29 last, before any change in rates charged for service from public utilities same must be approved by the said Commission before being put into effect.

The last revision of the water, power and light schedules was effective April 1st last but the motion authorizing the advanced rates was passed by the council early in March before the provincial act was placed on the statutes.

Last year's current accounts as recommended by the finance committee were authorized for payment. In this connection there were three items of $425.75, $193.28 and $6434.00 respectively, being cheques transferring these amounts to the proper accounts from general account. The first of these represents the annual net profit derived by the city through redeeming some $20,000 school debentures from the Royal Financial Corporation this last summer. As the debentures in question had some 17 years before maturity the transaction will in this manner accrue a saving of about $9000.00 in addition to which it will also have the benefit of the premium allowed over cost price of the Dominion War Loan Bonds surrendered in exchange for the said debentures. The second item of $193.28 is the annual proportion of principal set aside for Annex sewer debentures which have not as yet been sold. The $6434.00 item is the annual sinking fund payment after deducting surplus.

In accordance with instructions, the city clerk submitted the following data with respect to civic finances, which will give those interested in city affairs a comprehensive idea of the present very healthy financial condition as compared with former years. In tabloid form beginning with the sinking fund these figures show: Transactions during the year just closed through selling securities and purchasing debentures have resulted profitably and show a surplus in the sinking fund account of $2,683.84; and this is after making use of the surplus as applied at the beginning of last year to reduce the levy for 1919.

The electric light and power plant after providing for sinking fund payments and interest on debentures shows a surplus of $4900. When the estimates were brought down for 1919 on account of the anticipated increase in the cost of fuel and advance in wages there was no provision made for a profit during the year. Although this was the basis calculated even after a new schedule had been fixed advancing rates to consumers, it has developed instead of breaking even the handsome surplus has accrued, and same is largely due to the great saving in the amount of fuel consumed at the power house, estimated at about 500 tons; also oil $200, and a general observance of rigid economy by the fire, water and light committee in its supervision of the plant.

The waterworks department shows a surplus over and above the estimate of $1760. Formerly it has been customary to provide a reserve for depreciation in addition to sinking fund payments in the waterworks department, which fund could be used to meet any extreme contingency such as bad breaks or any other difficulty which might arise. At the beginning of 1919 the balance in hand in actual cash for this specific purpose was $19,630. That is the depreciation allowance laid aside in addition to sinking fund and has accumulated during the last 10 years. Had this sum been deposited in a separate bank account the general account overdraft would today be larger by that amount or if it were possible for the city to collect every cent of taxes due there would be $19,630 cash in hand to provide renewal or repairs in the waterworks system. The electric light department in a like manner shows a gross reserve of $11,917 but in view of there having been no issue of debentures for the purchase of meters a portion of same has been used for this purpose and at present there is a net amount of $5309 available.

In the revenue and expenditure account the following approximate figures are as at Dec. 31, 1919: Sewer rental $34 deficit; dog and pound tax realized $105.50 short of the amount estimated; police court fines have been $1661 less than estimated. In 1918 the police court fines aggregated a revenue of $7500, and after deducting one third the estimated revenue for 1919 was placed at $5000, but even this has fallen short by over $1600. Sewer connection permits produced $10 more than estimate; traders' licenses produced $192.50 more than estimate, while a surplus of $66 was received over estimated receipts from road taxes. The last year's tax sale after deducting expenses from the revenue netted the city $255.61.

Under expense account the following items appear:: The public works department has over expended its estimate by $22.41; the fire department went over estimate by $481.23, which is accountable by the increased cost of feed. The police department were under the estimate by $490; health department over expended $550, but as there has to be made a distribution for the 1918 influenza epidemic from this the actual over expenditure of the health and relief department for 1919 will be negligible. The city hall and office department over expended $422 of which the principal items are, fuel economizer $100; storm sash on council chamber $67.50; salaries were $215 greater for year than provided for, while under miscellaneous expenses the excess of amount appropriated was $412.04.

Summarizing the foregoing the total deficits as applied for 1919 total $4148.00, from which is deducted the gross surplus of $1241, leaving the net deficit $2907. But this is not the final condition as there remains after providing for depreciation the balance of $4722.30 for surplus provided in estimates but not utilized. Thus the above deficit is amply taken care of and leaves in hand for the year a surplus of over $1800.

The foregoing figures are only approximate but they have been calculated on a conservative basis and it is confidently believed when the final analysis is available the result will be even more favorable than at present shown. There is also another source of revenue to be calculated which was not estimated at the beginning of the year, namely the penalty additions for taxes when not paid in accordance within the prescribed time. This will amount to a reasonably substantial item.

The over expenditure by the school board, amounting to $3385, will be carried forward in their next annual estimates. This was caused by $2000 spent in repairs to the Central school building, and $1000 for school playground appliances.

In 1919, $4160 was expended for river bank protection by the city.

At the commencement of the year the present council had to assume a $9000 deficit, accumulated over previous years. The bank overdraft as at Dec. 31, 1918, was $68,593, while at Dec. 31, 1919, it was only $29,221. Outstanding taxes as at the same date totalled $22,000. As stated above the present council provided in their estimates for 1919 an amount of $5000 for over expenditures, which more than offsets the deficits for the year and in fact leaves a substantial surplus. Dating from the beginning of 1917, when the deficit was $400, the following are the deficits in each of the years named: 1918, $4,500; 1919, $9,500, while for 1920 it is conservatively estimated this account will be reduced to $4000.

SUGAR PRICES

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—The board of commerce, in a public statement on the sugar situation in Canada, rules that faced with the immediate prospect of 18-cent sugar in Canada from the "new crop" it will hold that sale of sugar higher than 16 cents per pound include unfair profits.

The wholesalers and retailers, says the board, will have mutually to arrange that for a period of three months the retail price can be kept at a price not higher than 16 cents.

The Fernie schools opened on Monday with almost a full attendance. The recent epidemic of mumps seems to be about over.

MINERS VOTE INTERNATIONAL

Lethbridge, Jan. 5.—According to statements made by Representative Houston, of the international, there will be nothing in the way of dispute in the mining camps of No. 3 and No. 6 mines here over the new agreement and the "check-off" arrangements.

He, along with Representative Grecola addressed a large meeting of miners at the end of last week, and with only one or two dissenters the men voted for the new agreement and the check-off. Committees were formed for interviewing miners individually and obtaining their signatures for membership in the international.

Of the eight hundred odd miners working in the local mines, it is confidently expected that seven hundred and fifty will line themselves up with the international.

EXCHANGE COMPLIMENTS

Just prior to the conclusion of last evening's council meeting the exchange of compliments by all and sundry members of the retiring administration were presented. His Worship delivered a short speech expressing gratitude for the assistance given him by the respective aldermen and declared he had decided to again seek honors by contesting for the mayor's chair. Ald Gates replied and also expressed appreciation at the harmonious spirit which had prevailed. He stated he would not seek re-election for the ensuing term. Ald. Beck followed, stating his pleasure in having been on the retiring council but he had decided not to run this year. Ald. Hunter and Ald. Rutledge briefly reviewed their efforts as members of the water and light committee and they both had decided to stand as aldermanic candidates. S. Graham said after seven years service at different periods on the council he would retire and seek election as police commissioner. Ald. Robichaud will also stand for re-election. Mr. Graham in announcing that he would run for police commissioner referred to his former experience in this capacity.

FERNIE GIRLS AT CALGARY

The Fernie Ladies hockey club journeyed to Calgary on Friday last, where they exhibited their talents as feminine hockeyists, crossing hickories with the Calgary Regents, returning on Sunday morning with the small end of a 2 to 1 score. Judging from reports and condition of some of the players, an Amazon battle was staged with the Regents having the advantage in weight and roughing it beyond expectation. The following clipping on the game will show the team leading in the penalty column for rough tactics:

(Calgary Herald)

Calgary had its first treat of ladies' hockey this winter when the Calgary Regents defeated the Fernie club by a score of 2—1 at Victoria park arena on Saturday afternoon. There was considerable rough play in the three periods. Calgary having the advantage in weight, but not necessarily the better of the argument in juggling the hickories.

The Regents got the first goal in the opening period when Miss Pue went through and slipped the disc into the nets, beating Miss Wood with a neat shot. The second period found the members of the gentle sex bumping one another rather freely, and several of them were escorted to the penalty box. Miss Hamill, of Fernie, romped through the Calgary tribe and bulged the twines, evening things up.

The third period provided the excitement for the several hundred spectators who gathered for the contest, and Miss Pue was again brought into the limelight when she speeded past the Fernie defence and landed the rubber between the flags.

The visitors displayed remarkable speed and finish, working through some excellent combination and stick handling with great skill The Regents had an advantage in weight, but they were certainly not inferior as speedsters or stickhandlers either, and deserved the win. The teams:

Referee:: Hammy Baker. Judge of play: Tibbitts.

Although defeated, Fernie felt confident that the tables could be turned in the return game to have taken place on Wednesday, which was postponed indefinitely through misfortune overcoming three of the Regent's 11 players, who were not seemingly strong enough to venture the return game and wired on Tuesday to have it postponed.

The ladies wish to display their prowess against outside talent and are now keeping things on the move in an endeavor to stage a game, in all probability by Wednesday next. If the Regents are not able to come, inducement will be offered the Patricias, who have on their line-up four of last year's Regents and are anxious for a game. So if you want to satisfy that desire to see the weaker sex play hockey, keep your eye open for the announcement.

FLEISHMAN CUP CAPTURED

In local curling circles the renewed seasonable weather has made it possible for things to hum lively at the Roarin' Game Limited. The Past Presidents' Cup is the competition about which interest is centered but as only a few series games have been played it is not far enough advanced to report any of the results.

The Fleishman Cup, which was captured by Cranbrook during the final curling days of 1918 has again returned to Fernie, rinks skipped by Herchmer and Kastner invading the railroad metropolis last Saturday and taking the measure of rinks skipped by Hogarth and Cameron. This week the winners have been required to defend the trophy upon two occasions. Liphardt and Lawe on Monday night made an unsuccessful attempt, while L. E. McDonald and Tom Prentice on Thursday evening were equally unsuccessful. Herchmer and Kastner intend the cup to remain with them during the season.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

The Staples Lumber Company, of Wycliffe, will inaugurate a night shift at their mill for the New Year.

Mrs. Lockwood Wray, of the Fernie Annex, died in the Fernie Hospital last night after a serious operation. Mr. Wray is in Vancouver.

A large number of citizens have taken the opportunity of seeing the beautiful display of historical paintings on display in the G. W. V. A. rooms during the past week.

Owing to the excellent manner in which the cantata "Santa Claus and His Friends" was presented by the scholars of Olivet Baptist Sunday School on Dec. 30th, they have been requested to present it again. This will be done on Tuesday, Jan. 13, at 7.30 p.m. Collection.

Provincial Police Inspector Fernie has been transferred to Kamloops district. Inspector W. R. Dunwoodie of Kamloops will have charge of this division. During his short stay in this city Mr. Fernie has made many friends, who will sincerely regret his departure. He expects to leave in the course of a few days.

In family circles where father refers to his wife at "mother," somehow things generally run smoothly, says the Vancouver Sun. And what would father do in these piping times of high costs if it was not for her! Balance wheel, saver, economizer and thrift queen all wrapped into one. Leave it to mother! It looks as if the pay envelope would not reach. Leave it to mother. She knows how. By skimping and paring and pruning, by cutting and basting and trimmings there seems to be plenty and to spare. Such meals from so little! Such clothes for the children, so neat and becoming! And the rainy day fund slowly but surely growing! Mother's a wonder. We don't see how she does it. But she does it! It's a good thing now, isn't it, that the home isn't run on the father-manager plan, isn't it?

E. B. FISH TALKS TO WORKERS

"Labor stands at the threshold of its greatest advance or its greatest back-step," declared Mr. E. B. Fish the other evening in an address before a mass meeting of shipyard workers and others in the Princess theatre at Victoria. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Harbor Marine company and Yarrows, Ltd., and on the platform with Mr. Fish were representatives of the yard organizations.

Mr. Fish declared that the conservative and sane element in the ranks of labor would ultimately rid itself of the parasite of radicalism, and step forward into a new era of equality and prosperity for the laboring class. He denounced bolshevism as "a damnable, hell-hatched doctrine," and declared that its own originators and leaders had been forced to admit that it was a failure.

"I wouldn't belong to the employing class if I had the chance," declared Mr. Fish. "By birth, training and aspiration I am a worker, and I am content and proud to remain so. I much prefer to work eight hours a day without having to worry overtime about getting out a payroll and keeping revenue ahead of costs. We see our employers riding out to the golf links in big cars and we envy them. But we forget the penalty that they are paying and ignore the mental superiority and effort that made it possible for them to do that kind of thing. I am satisfied to be a successful working man.

"I grant you that there are inequalities, he continued. "But conditions are not such as to rob labor of its dignity. There are some things in respect to which people are not equal and never will be equal. We will never be all equal in achievment and brain power, application, mental energy and determination. Even Lenine and Trotzky, with all their questionable magic, could never produce a race of human beings that would be born at a dead level of mentality. There are men who could turn a desert into brown sugar while you and I would starve. There are some people who seem to be created to make money. There are specialists in every thing.

"For that reason there can be no government founded on a basis of equality and democracy that will penalize one man because of his achievements and reward another because of inferior capacity. The greatest possible kind of inequality would be to grant equal reward for unequal service and accomplishment. Not even the O. B. U. could do that, but that is the kind of system that these pernicious movements are heading for.

"If the O. B. U. ever gets as far advanced as Lenine—and I know it never will in Canada—it would eventually have to acknowledge, as Lenine has done, that industry to be successful requires certain kinds of directive brain and ability, and that such an element must be paid for in a manner commensurate with the service given. Lenine himself has written that the transformation towards socialism requires specialists at special salaries, and that if socialism is to prosper, production must be increased.

"Yet agitators are trying to make you believe that bolshevism will lead to better things and equal reward for everyone. They try to foist on you the idea that it will be possible for you to reach a dead level with the best brains in the country, and for that reason they try to make you espouse the policies of the radicals.

"I am impressed with one thing—the necessity of labor and the necessity of upholding the honor, dignity and manhood of labor. The high binders and rattle-headed windjammers who tell you it is possible to reach a dead level in which all people are equal are peddling things to you that were never proved by practical experiment to be workable. If anyone had a chance to prove that the theory could be worked, it was Lenine, and yet in communist Russia they have come to acknowledge that there can be no equality. We have been fooled too much by foreign phrases.

"The section hand who drives the spike in the rails, the jack who cuts down your big timber on the mountain side; the miner who digs in the bowels of the earth and get out your coal, the machinist who sweats in the shop—these men are as essential in their place as the man we designate as 'higher-up.' But there are radicals in both parties, and the radical employer is more dangerous than the wild-eyed agitator. But I have reached the conclusion that the ordinary employer is just ten years ahead of the ordinary red agitator. In the main, I have found employers ready to display the spirit of conciliation and a desire to get together, to meet their labor more than half way so as to work out an agreement that will mean success for both parties. We have got to tear down the curtain of suspicion that separates the worker and the employer in many of our industrial concerns today. We have got to un to earth the professional agitator, the man who has to keep things stirred up and jump from one extreme to the other to be sure of his job.

"I believe that the time is coming when the conservative element in the ranks of labor will raise its strong right arm and declare to these radicals: 'For years we have fed you and let you live well. We have struck and starved and paid the bill. Now, you take a back seat and we'll settle this ourselves.'

"Don't blame capital for your unemployment on the coast today. Blame the radical highbinders who agitated and kicked and poisoned the minds of the workers to such an extent that they demanded concessions which forced industry to the alternative of closing down or bankruptcy. There is a great shipyard on the verge of complete shutting down today because it could not guarantee what wages would be. Who suffers? Everyone. Who caused it all? The people who haven't got brains enough to handle their own affairs and can't even make a success of their own lives, who mess around in other people's business and declare that men of their calibre ought to control the industries of the country."—Trail News.

'IN THE HOLLOW OF HER HAND' FEATURING ALICE BRADY ORPHEUM—MON. & TUE.

Alice Brady's latest Select Picture, "In the Hollow of Her Hand," which Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, is the story of a young English girl, Hetty Castleton, who, left penniless in the world, is forced to earn her own living. After trying several different positions in England she decides to come to America and accept a position offered her. On the steamer she meets and falls in love with Chalis Wrandall, a wealthy young American. Wrandall is a rake and libertine and has a wife in New York. Hetty knows nothing of all this. When, therefore, her position does not materialize in New York, she accepts without question his offers of help.

Hetty is suddenly awakened to Wrandall's real self when he takes her to a regulation roadhouse where he orders supper served in private rooms. A scene follows in which Hetty is forced to kill him in self-defence. His wife, Sara, is informed of his death. On her way home from the inn, she meets Hetty, who has escaped unnoticed from the inn and has been living in the woods for the past day. Sara decides to protect Hetty because Hetty has done what she has never dared to do.

Wrandall's death and the scandal attendant upon it humiliate the haughty Wrandalls. Sara decides to further humiliate them by marrying Hetty to Leslie Wrandall, her brother-in-law, who takes a great fancy to Hetty. Hetty refuses to marry him because she loves Brandon Booth.

Meanwhile, old Mr. Wrandall has detectives on the trail to find the woman who murdered his son. The detectives accuse Mrs. Wrandall. She denies the accusation. Hetty confesses and after she has finished telling her story, Mr. Wrandall, Sr., decides that the law shall not touch her. Brandon tells her that the crime she has committed makes no difference to him and that he still loves her.

The latest atrocity is to the effect that Beckett, the British pugilist, failed to retreat from Mons in time.. (Mons. Carpentier).—Ottawa Citizen.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

MOTOR ROADS

(Spokesman-Review)

Before the end of the coming year and in time for next winter's southerly motor exodus, the American Automobile association touring board predicts there will be travelable north-and-south trunk roads extending from St. John, N. B. to Miami, Florida, and from Victoria, B.C., to San Diego, the two parallel routes skirting the eastern and western coasts of the nation. Besides these two coast highways, at least two longitudinal routes will be available from the dominion of Canada to the winter resorts of the south.

Completion of these routes is of particular interest to motorists of Spokane and the Inland Empire. With the Bee Line highway extending through Spokane from the Banff district of Canada to California, adopted as one of the improvement movements of 1920, with cross-state road measures interesting more people daily and with the state bridge and state operation of ferries movements growing stronger these long touring stretches have increasing interest.

Driving west toward the Coast from Spokane, motorists may take either the Inland Empire highway, the Sunset boulevard, North Central highway, the Moscow, Pendleton route to Portland or the California Banff Bee Line highway to tap the proposed Victoria-San Diego route. These connections may be made at Seattle, Portland or Tacoma, or in the Sacremento Valley in inclement weather when the southerly route is more feasible.

Experience of the last summer when motor cars bearing license plates from every state in the union passed through Spokane on transcontinental tours have laid fresh emphasis on the importance of these connecting links.

The most recent information on the Atlantic highway comes from New Brunswick, where Minister of Public Works, Veniot, in St. John, at the annual meeting of the provincial automobile association assured those present that the St. John St. Stephen road soon would receive substantial attention as a result of applying federal funds appropriated by the dominion parliament, Canada some months ago having voted $20,000,000 in road aid to the provinces.

Maine is now at work, thanks to the energies of the Maine Automobile association, on the Portland-Calais thoroughfare reaching to the St. Croix river, which separates the two countries. Both the New Brunswick and Maine associations are affiliated with the A. A. A. which in view of the forthcoming increased international exchange of motor travelers with the "Maritime Provinces" will urge them to adopt the traffic rule of "turn to the right."

One break in the Atlantic highway which has been a touring discouragement for years finally has received long needed consideration. Virginia having expended a generous quantity of her federal aid money along with other funds on the several stretches between Alexandria and Fredericksburg, which in the past, quickly became impassable in wet weather. When Georgia has made it possible for the traveler to go from Savanah to Jacksonville via Brunswick, instead of the round-about Augusta-Macon-Waycross route, then the long line of road from St. John to Miami will deserve its name of the Atlantic highway.

Along the Pacific Highway the prospects are most encouraging. Victoria offers some excellent road with scenic embellishments on Vancouver island, while the automobile club of western Washington is co-operating with the state highway department in bringing about the early completion of the few missing links between Seattle and the Oregon line. The Oregon Motor association is doing similar work in that state, while in California the route is already contracted for and partially built north of San Francisco, with the southerly stretch already in existence. The California State Automobile association through its good roads department has been incessant in its labors for the Pacific highway.

Between the two coasts, the Jefferson highway, from Winnipeg to New Orleans; the Dixie highway, from Sault Ste. Marie and Cincinnati to Miami, and the Mississippi Valley highway, from Duluth to New Orleans, are all gradually being pieced together, in some states by federal aid and state money and in others through the issuing of county bonds.

These big roads, as well as the principle transcontinental highways say the A. A. A. officers, should be federal built and federally maintained as is set forth in the so-called Townsend bill, now pending in congress and calling for action in the regular session.

Nearly one hundred of the daily or weekly newspapers of Canada have disappeared since 1914. And yet the newsprint manufacturer demands more, and more.—Brantford Expositor.

NEW GOVERNOR VERY POPULAR

(By P. W. Luce)

With such formality as was meet and proper for so auspicious an occasion, Lt.-Col. the Hon. Edward Bawley Prior was on Dec. 18 duly sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of British Columbia, succeeding Sir Frank Barnard. The retiring governor held office during five troublous years, entertained many notables, and steps out of Government House a belted knight.

Whether Governor Prior will achieve this distinction time alone can reveal. Possibly Canadian democratic sentiment against titles will be too strong; perhaps the pendulum will have again swung in the opposite direction. One thing is certain: Governor Prior will not worry if he never feels the light tap of royal sword—nor will he be deaf to a royal command, for he is a good citizen, and of English stock.

Like ex-Governor Dunsmuir, Governor Prior graduates to the gubernatorial chair of his adopted Province from the coalfields of Nanaimo. There is, of course, this trifling difference: Dunsmuir owned the mines —Prior inspected them.

A Yorkshire tyke, born at Dallowgill, near Ripon, on May 31, 1853, Governor Prior is in his sixty-seventh year. He was educated at Leeds Grammar School in the days when the birch still had an important place in the curriculum. He became a mining engineer, and in 1873 came to Canada.

Settling in Nanaimo, Vancouver Island, he was for five years assistant manager of a coal mine, then became Government Inspector of Mines for the Province—a rather strenuous job in those days, when legislation was only in the making, and often addled in the process. The inspectorship did not last more than a couple of years, and then, with Alfred Fellows for a partner, he entered the iron and hardware business. Three years later he was sole proprietor, having bought out his partner. Today the wholesale and retail firm of E. G. Prior and Co., Ltd., is known throughout British Columbia and the Yukon, for it is one of the big concerns of the Province.

British Columbia politics in the early eighties were somewhat peculiar. Parliament was little more than a glorified rural council, without party factions or party lines—sometimes without any very clear or definite policies. Mr. Prior, once fairly established in business, took a serious interest in public life, and at the general election of 1886 he was returned at the head of the poll as member for Victoria in the Legislative assembly.

After two years in the Provincial Parliament, Mr. Prior yielded to public pressure and was elected by acclamation to the House of Commons. That he satisfied his constituents was plainly evident in 1891, and again in 1896, and for a third time in 1900, winning each election easily. For a time prior to the election of 1896 he held Cabinet rank as Controller of Inland Revenue.

Returning to Provincial politics it was only a short time before he was formally called to form a Government, and became Premier Prior. He held office for only seven months, from Nov. 1902, to June, 1903, going out because in a remote part of northern British Columbia a bridge was built over Chimney Creek. One of the subordinates in the Prior hardware concern showed undue zeal in connection with the selling of supplies for the contract for this trifling job, and the fuss which followed the exposure forced the Premier to resign, though he was in no way implicated.

In Victoria, where the greater part of his life has been spent, Lt.-Gov. Prior is widely popular, largely because of his inherent bonhommie, but partly because of his instant readiness to advance any cause which stands for the public good. Many years ago, when a young man, he risked his life to save another in a Nanaimo coal mine, and the same chivalrous and unselfish impulses have dominated his whole career.

Probably one of the proudest days for the Lieutenant-Governor was when he sailed from Canada in command of the Bisley team in 1890. He has always taken a keen interest in military matters, and in 1888 was appointed lieutenant-colonel commanding the Fifth Regiment, Canadian Garrison Artillery. He has twice been president of the Dominion Artillery Association.

The new Lieutenant-Governor has been twice married, first in 1878, to Suzette Work, daughter of the Hon. John Work, of Victoria, and again in 1899, to Genevieve Wright, of San Francisco. He has one son and three daughters.

MONEY AFFAIRS ARE ENTANGLED

(Calgary Herald)

Since Samuel Ballantyne and William Dalrymple, the special commission appointed by the United Mine Workers of America have been here straightening out the coal mining tangle in Alberta, they have paid some little attention to the funds of various locals which, it is stated, instead of being sent to the International, had been retained by the O. B.U. leaders and some of the secretaries. Whether legal steps will be taken to recover this money, or not, has not yet been decided. A complete report from the chartered accountant, who has been employed in the matter, has not yet been presented.

In the meantime, however, the chartered accountant has completed his investigation in connection with the Hillcrest Widows' and Orphans' Relief Fund, and this has formed the subject of a circular which has just been issued by the commission and which is being sent to the various coal mining districts of the province.

"We understand that some leaders and advocates of the One Big Union are going about repeatedly trying to discredit the representatives of the United Mine Workers of America who are working in this field by endeavoring to leave the impression that we are not honorable in our transactions, and that they ,the One Big Union leaders, are free from criticism. We wish to inform you that we have no fear of the light being thrown on any of our acts while transacting business for the United Mine Workers of America, but after careful perusal of a chartered accountant's report, who examined the accounts of District No. 18, we are convinced that the acts of former President P. M. Christophers and Secretary Ed. Browne, are not free from criticism.

"We wish to call your attention to some facts as brought out by the auditor after examining the books of the former district officers. First, we call your attention to transactions relative to the Hillcrest Widows' and Orphans' Fund. This fund, as we understand it was created after the Hillcrest explosion, the money being subscribed for the sole benefit of the widows and orphans left by the men killed in the explosion.

"The following is an item copied from chartered accountant's report:

" 'The cash receipts and disbursements of the Hillcrest Relief Fund are detailed in exhibit "C" and a statement of assets and liabilities is given in exhibit "D". It will be noted that a cheque of Beatrice Browne was returned as dishonored. The relation of this cheque to the fund was as follows:

" 'The whole of the fund amounting to $3,576.22 was withdrawn from the bank on July 26 and 28, and on August 14, $3,027.92 of it was redeposited to the credit of P. M. Christophers and Ed. Browne. When settlement was made on August 25 a cheque of Beatrice Browne was also deposited to their credit to cover the shortage so as to meet the cheque for $3,576.22 in your favor. This cheque of Beatrice Browne was dishonored, and the bank charged it back to your account, the other account being closed. As far as we have been able to learn the cheque has not yet been met.'

"The deficit of $548.30, which is the amount that they have failed to deposit in the bank again after the money was withdrawn was not paid by Ed. Browne, former secretary-treasurer of District No. 18, until after the following letter was written and sent by the International commission, who are charge of the affair in this field, which was as follows:

" 'We have had a chartered accountant make an audit of your accounts and make investigation of the bank deposits and receipts. I have quoted the statement he makes pertaining to the Hillcrest Relief Fund. (See auditor's statement.)

" 'This statement shows that when the money was drawn out of the bank and then later redeposited, the deposit shows that there was a shortage of the amount of $548.30, and that a cheque was issued by Beatrice Browne to cover the shortage, but the cheque of Beatrice Browne was dishonored and the bank charged the cheque to the account of the Hillcrest Relief Fund. Therefore, this fund is still short $548.30, and so authorized, I am making demand upon you to make up the shortage that the account shows as per statement of auditor's report. We expect immediate remittance of the amount to make up this shortage. We expect an answer from you as soon as possible.

" 'On behalf of commission,

(Signed)

" 'SAMUEL BALLANTYNE,

" 'WILLIAM DALRYMPLE.'

"Following is the reply received from Ed. Browne, former Secretary of District No. 18:

" 'District No. 1, Mining Department O.B.U.

" 'Office of Secretary-Treasurer,

" 'Taber November 25,1919.

" 'John Houston,

" 'Acting Secretary District No. 18.

" 'U.M.W. of A., Calgary, Alta.

" 'Sir:—

" 'Enclosed you will find Express Orders for $548.30. Please deposit to credit of Hillcrest Relief Fund. This covers the amount due this fund. Kindly forward receipt.

" 'EDW. BROWNE, Secretary.'

"We have been legally advised that proceedings could have been taken against Mr. Christophers and Mr. Browne in this matter.

"We further found in an examination of the auditor's report relative to the Hillcrest Relief Fund that $1-870.00 had been transferred from the Relief Fund to the General Fund which has never been paid back to the Hillcrest Relief Fund. When we took charge of the office the general and defence fund was depleted and many debts were outstanding against the district.

"We are at a loss to know where the former officials had authority to transfer money that belonged to a widows' and orphans' relief fund into the general fund. It appears to us to be a violent breach of trust, and we only draw it to your attention to show you how the business of the district was conducted by these men.

"There are other financial transactions by former employees of the district organization, which in our judgment are not free from criticism, which we will call to your attention in the near future when we expect to have the audit printed and copies sent to each local union."

IN MEMORIAM

And hope to meet some day.

Neither Mayor Church nor Controller Sam McBride can have any consistent claim to the silent vote in the Toronto mayoralty contest.—Peterboro Examiner.

TO THE CITIZENS OF FERNIE:

Having been urged by a number of ratepayers to stand for re-election for the office of Mayor, I have decided to again offer myself as a candidate for 1920. In appealing for your support, I desire to present to you a few facts concerning the record of the administration for the year just closed. The taxation burden during the past few years has been such as to cause considerable discontent and criticism, and by omitting to analyze the existing conditions, many are prone to place the entire responsibility therefor upon the shoulders of those in office.

I have had four years' experience as your chief executive and during the three years 1916, 1917 and 1918, we had a succession of catastrophies which made tremendous demands upon the exchequer of the city. When I was elected last year the insistent demand was "reduce the taxes," the mill rate for 1918, (during which term I was not in office) having been the highest in history or 40.02 mills. With a view to effecting economy without sacrificing efficiency, the estimates were scrutinized with extreme care and resulted in the mill rate of 39.20 being struck.

During the year just closed I have endeavored to conduct the affairs of the city along sound business lines, with the happy result that there has been an actual saving in outlays of over $10,000.00 or 6½ mills; and this amount has been applied in reducing over-expenditure accumulated from previous years.

If re-elected I will pledge myself to give the citizens the very best of my ability towards conserving their interests and conducting their affairs in a proper manner. I am confident that unless further unforseen occurrences transpire that if permitted to continue in office during the coming year that the rate of taxation can be and will be reduced from three to four mills, and this after making ample provision for further reduction of the old over-expenditures.

As it is impossible to give a complete review of my administration through the medium of this communication I beg to inform the citizens that I will have much pleasure in going fully into the details thereof, as well as illustrate the present satisfactory financial condition of the city, and also outline my program, to which I will faithfully adhere if re-elected for the coming year, on the occasion of the public meeting to be held on Wednesday next in the Grand Theatre.

THOS. UPHILL, Mayor.

G.W.V.A. NOTES

Billsborough, G. G. Moffatt.

The G.W.V.A. has learned that there are many delays in the administration of the Soldiers Settlement Act. Any soldier settlers under the Act who have complaints on account of delay or otherwise should communicate with the Secretary Treasurer G.W.V.A., Fernie, B.C., setting out nature of complaint and where the land is situated. Complaints should be clearly stated.

General meetings of the Fernie Branch will be held weekly on Sundays at 4 p.m. and Executive Committee meetings will be held weekly on Thursdays at 7.30 p.m. Next general meeting Sunday, 18th inst. Next executive committee meeting, Thursday, 15th inst.

THE FERNIE CITY BAND

Editor of Free Press,

Sir:—I again desire to ask for space in the "Free Press', in which to give further reasons why the above band should be publicly upheld, but, before touching on the above named matter, I shall first deal with a few minor points, as a reminder of the approaching municipal election.

Now, sir, lest we forget, it will be remembered that last year there were no "citizens' meetings" and in consequence, half the people that had votes not being mindful of the election, did not register their votes; therefore, please take note that a citizens' meeting will be held in the Grand Theatre to which due notice will be given, and furthermore, I shall endeavor to get the above band to give a half hour musical program prior to the meeting being called. The above will help some to get the steam up, so don't miss the citizens' meeting, boys, and enjoy a combination of "hot air and music", also watch your step on this occasion and register your vote for labor and a good band.

My reasons as to why the above band should be publicly upheld are as follows: first: that for six years I was acting president for the English band, (Fernie), and in order to get finances for the upkeep of the band it was my lot, along with the committee, to resort to measures and activities most repugnant to myself, namely, too much around the business people for financial aid, until I became absolutely ashamed of myself, by continually hitting up the same few people, whereas the burden could, and ought to be relieved publicly, and thus by running a series of concerts and an occasional dance, the obnoxious begging would be almost eliminated, and the full upkeep of the band maintained.

My second reason embraces a wide scope, showing the value of a band or music. There is not a general in the army, or of lower rank, of any country, but what will give excellent testimony to the value of a band or music, no matter whether in peace or war. Take for illustration, the point that I am driving at, namely, the contests held at Manchester, Belle Vue, England, each year, for nearly sixty years, and twenty bands competing at each contest, when, in consequence of the ravages of the war, only twelve bands competed in 1917, thus showing a combing out of the flower of the country's best musicians, and, I strongly maintain that not only the municipal boards generally, but also the respective Governments should lend a helping hand to stimulate music, as I regard the aforementioned loss of musicians during the war as a national loss to the country, and again, don't forget that during the war that out of the English band, (Fernie) thirty of its bandsmen enlisted for overseas duty, and two of these boys, namely: Robert Connell and Frank Townsend paid the supreme sacrifice.

Surely the plea of high rates and taxes ought not to be a set-back to the progress of music, otherwise what have you to say for the much vaunted civilization? Nature abhors a vacuum; you must progress; you must advance. Must it be said that the great works (musical) as handed down by the great master composers, Beethoven, Rossini, Mozart, Verdi, Meyerbeer and others, should be lightly brushed aside. Let us hope not, and, as we know how the cathedrals of the Middle Ages were erected by singing workmen. If they sang and loved their work in those days, how much more will labor in the consciousness of universal good-will which can come only when all men are brothers, and join in the great work of making life beautiful.

Yours for a good band and music,

Wm. Dickenson, Acting Pres.

We are requested to announce that the Ladies Legion Loyal Order of Moose will hold their meeting on Monday next, Jan. 12. Important business to be transacted. All sisters requested to attend.

The greatest police raid in history was that made last Friday in the United States when four thousand "Reds" were arrested by civil service officers in many cities from New York to San Francisco and New Orleans to St. Paul. So carefully had the arrangements been made that the arrest was carried out exactly at the same hour all over the continent, thus preventing any one community of "Reds" giving warning to any other. And, so well had everything been worked that ample evidence was secured upon which to base a successful prosecution that will lead to deportation to the guilty ones, so far as the foreigners are concerned. Wherever, Americans were caught in the net, they will be prosecuted as well, but instead of deportation, they will receive stiff sentences to the penitentiary if found guilty. Let the good work go on. A "Red" in any community or state is like a rattlesnake in the grass and the sooner it ies scotched, the better. — Kamloops Sentinel.

SOUR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach sweetener in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

There was considerable excitement at the Miners' hall on Sunday afternoon when the representatives of the International, Messrs. Houston and Grecola, clashed with the representatives of the O. B. U., ex-President Christophers and Ed. Browne. The meeting in the first place was held to get the report of the committees who were appointed on Friday afternoon last to get miners signed up for the International. The number who signed, reported so far, was 363. At the conclusion of the meeting, Christophers, the Herald was informed, harangued the men as to the O. B. U., stating that he and Ed. Browne would remain in the city as long as the International representatives to counteract their work. A stormy scene of words was the consequence. Christophers is at present registered at the Alexandra hotel under the name of Martin Phillips, being the transposition of his first names, Phillip Martin.—Lethbridge Herald.

GHOSTS WE MAY CELEBRATE

In those mild regions of one-half-of-one-per-cent thought known as the polite circles of metropolitan society there must always be some gentle intellectual stimulant which, while properly inebriating the mind, enables the imbiber to get home afterward without the aid of an ambulance.

Spirits are now on top and those twin harbingers of Destiny, the Ouija board and the planchette, occupy the centre of the table. The ghosts of celebrated men of the past haunt the fashionable drawing rooms of the present. Napoleon Bonaparte hobnobs with Chief Waa Wao, the Indian control, Goethe does the psychic shimmy with the Queen of Sheba, Alexander and Caesar arm in arm with Edgar Allan Poe hover in midair, while Cleopatra lurks in the background with Shakespeare, hoping to get a word in edgeways. Professor Hyslop of Columbia, who has been insisting for years that we can communicate with the dead, has at last come to his own. Conan Doyle has said it. Sir Oliver Lodge is coming in January to keep the boom in spirits going. Basil King has shown how the thing is done automatically. Booth Tarkington admits that there may be something in it and all the mediums and clairvoyants are beginning to look askance at W. G. McAdoo and hoping he will not get them mixed with the coal operators and ask for the publication of their excess profits.

Now the Ouija board is nothing but a heart-shaped, flat piece of wood which moves by some occult impulse when you lay your hands on it. People you have never met before commune with you in the most unblushing manner, and enough predictions of what is going to happen to you are made so that you can make a decent and honorable selection of them. A spirit who has been lolling about the house, free of charge, comes up and seizes your arm and you are off. Think of all the ghosts who have been occupying your premises all these years, paying no board and not even offering to help you out with the rent and you haven't known about it! But this matter will soon be remedied and everybody who can afford it will employ an automatic writer who will keep him in touch with the spirit world and all the latest doings on the celestial rialto.

A great scientist who, in spite of the fact that he has conducted experiments in psychology at Harvard and has kept his name out of the papers, appears to be gifted with ordinary intelligence and common sense, assures us that there is really something in it.

"We may dismiss," he said, "many of the obviously fraudulent mediums and we may condone such extremists as my good friends Lodge and Doyle and still believe that there is a definite psychic force capable of development along certain lines. Materialism is not impossible. There is a well-authenticated case of a psychic bar, that can be seen and felt which projects itself from the body of a medium and is able to curl up its end and grasp objects at a distance."

And so we are coming to this: in the absence of alcohol we have psychic bars.

"I can already project my astral body across the street," said an ethereal young woman, "and in the course of time I expect to cover the shopping district."

The advantages of this phase are readily apparent. Sitting peacefully at home you can send your astral body on trips and make it report to you instantly. As soon as the shopkeepers have been trained to know an astral body when they see one the high cost of living will immediately recede. The body being on the inside, so to speak, will know the exact cost of everything and profiteering will be impossible. Also, there is the saving in carfare. Automatic writing should therefore not be lightly dismissed. It comes within the reach of all. It is the first step in psychic development which has hitherto been in the hands of a few experts who have displayed their bag of tricks with a string tied to it; a sort of close corporation in psychic phenomena.

It is only one step from automatic writing to the recognition and training of the astral body which, being unhampered by mundane moulecules can travel through space with the speed of the wireless. No one is going to mind the entertaining of astral bodies of country relatives during the holiday season. As for those celebrated ladies and gentlemen who have "passed over," they will make it possible to dispense with libraries inasmuch as we can get their real views brought up to date and revised according to the way things have been going since they were here.

Adam could give his reminiscences and tell what he might have done if instead of Eve he had been tempted by a modern lady suffragist. Benjamin Franklin could give us some useful advice on how to settle the coal strike, and Queen Elizabeth's impressions of America could be vibrated from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

It would indeed be a strange historic paradox if New York, the most materialistic city in the world, should make this contribution to posterity.

ROUNDING UP "RED" CRIMINALS

Revelations made by the United States department of justice in connection with its ocean to ocean raid on revolutionary headquarters in 33 cities will startle those well-intentioned people who have been ignorantly saying that the "red" movement in this country did not amount to anyhing and had only to be left alone to die out for lack of recruiting material.

As a result of this righteous raid several thousand active revolutionists are now in jail and the government has rounded up, in the words of the official statement, "a very large number of dangerous anarchists and radical agitators."

The government has discovered that the communist organization here is closely connected with Russian bolshevism and is "attempting to overthrow this government by violence and force." To that end it is distributing daily from 200,000 to 500,000 pieces of revolutionary "literature" and a host of its emissaries have been crusading among the most ignorant alien elements of the great cities. The government has further proof that the revolutionaries have been carrying on their diabolical propaganda among the negroes of the south.

Undoubtedly there is a direct connection between this movement and the nation-wide bomb conspiracy which the department officials frustrated last summer. The anarchistic organization plotted then to assassinate more than a score of high government officials and prominent citizens. In a single day 17 dynamite bombs were found in the mails in the New York postoffice.

It is national good fortune that the government at Washington, after years of inaction and somnolence, has at last set about with real vigor to break up the most extensive conspiracy against the life of this republic that audacious enemies have ever set going beneath the folds of the Stars and Stripes. As The Spokesman-Review has long been contending, it was sheer folly to assume that the conspirators would voluntarily quit their destructive operations. In this matter we are dealing with crimes and criminals, and crime always increases when it is granted immunity.—Spokesman.

"God Save Ireland!" Apparently, there is no other way of doing it.—Brantford Expositor.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life and if not overcome it produces a fever shness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

"Here They Come!"

It is the cry of the children when a band is heard far down the street. Nearer and nearer it draws until each note becomes clearer and clearer.

To those in the city this is a familiar picture. But to those residing in suburban towns stirring strains of band music are more rare.

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

in your home makes it possible for you and your children to have at all times the wonderful march music that has inspired the world.

Wherever you live—on the farm or in town—let the New Edison bring the parade, with all its glamour, into your living room, every instrument, every note as clear as a real band—thanks to the genius of Thomas A. Edison.

We tell a wonderful story about the New Edison in a beautiful book that you should have. It is called "Edison and Music". Ask for it; and also for "What the Critics Say".

N. E. Suddaby, - Fernie, B.C.

TO THE ELECTORS, CITY OF FERNIE :

Ladies and Gentlemen—I have decided to become a candidate for the position of Mayor at the approaching Municipal Elections. My purpose in so doing at this time is for the object of demonstrating to the taxpayers of Fernie that the city's affairs can be efficiently conducted for considerably less money than has been spent for that purpose year by year for the past five or six years.

I am not the nominee of any party or faction, and am in a position to offer my services to the city untrammelled by obligations to any particular faction in the community, and if elected will endeavor to conduct the affairs of the city in such a manner as will redound in the greatest good to the greatest number.

The burden of taxation has been rapidly increasing year by year, with but little to show for it. Water and light rates have increased and efficiency has decreased.

If you desire to see an earnest effort made to alter these conditions your vote will be appreciated.

I consider the position of Mayor of any city an honorary one and the duties of that office should be performed for honor's sake and not for money. If elected, no additional burden will be added to the taxpayer as a salary for Mayor.

I have the honor to be,
Ladies and Gentlemen,
Yours very truly,
G. G. HENDERSON.

TO THE ELECTORS :

Having decided to allow my name to again be placed in nomination for the position of Alderman, I desire to solicit your vote and influence on my behalf. Having been Alderman in the City of Fernie for several years and having always tried to do my civic duty to the best of my ability, I appeal to you upon my record.

Wishing you the Compliments of the Season,

WM. ROBICHAUD.

TO THE CITIZENS OF FERNIE :

In view of the number of citizens urging me to seek office as Police Commissioner, I have consented to the candidature. If chosen, I assure the electors that the duties of Police Commissioner will be carried out in an intelligent and fearless manner, in so far as lies within my power. It will be my policy to endeavor to remove the sources of existing evils, rather than penalize the victims who may come within reach of the law.

I have no objection to the use of pure beer and light wines, but I am a strong advocate of the abolition of the use of liquor, and inordinate uses of drink. In pursuance of the above policy I believe I shall conserve the interests of all intelligent citizens, and respectfully solicit your support.

Yours faithfully,

W. LANCASTER.

THE MYSTERY OF "SOCIETY"

(By Thomas L. Masson)

Some years ago a man named Ward McAllister, who contrived to make both ends meet on an income of fifty thousand a year (which at that time was perhaps not impossible) announced that there were four hundred people in New York who were entitled to be members of what is known as "Society."

Since that time the population has largely increased. Just as there is a Greater New York there is a greater 400. Also, as the cost of profiteering is apparently the only necessity that hasn't gone up, and as the amount of money one has largely determines one's place in society, it is probably conservative to state that McAllister's 400 is now 800.

Various attempts have been made by intrepid explorers to penetrate this region known as Society. Upton Sinclair advanced beyond the first line trench. Robert W. Chambers Rupert Hughes and others have explored the outlying districts. But no white man, so far as is known, has been able to penetrate to the inner circle and come back to tell the tale. Yet much, apparently, is known about it, viewed from a discreet distance. The names of society people appear regularly in society columns. They are often photographed sitting in rows on fences at polo and tennis matches, like black birds. They are pictured as walking about in the open air or sitting in arm chairs on club verandahs. Their clothes are described with painstaking care and their slightest movements feverishly followed by multitudes. When a society wedding takes place hordes of so-called common people, who gather outside, have to be actually clubbed away by severe policemen to keep the peace. Yet their inner lives continue to be perennial mystery and the object of their existence a matter of continuous speculation.

Nothing appears so certain as society. War may subdue its activities, but it always rises again triumphant, and what Mrs. Tillie Coupons had on at a pink tea is of more importance than a debate in the Senate.

One thing seems to be firmly established about members of society. Whatever else may be said about them, they are undoubtedly human beings. They eat and sleep and wear clothes—not always as many clothes as others, but enough to establish their identity. They can stand upon their hind legs when necessary and speak when spoken to. Also, the amount of money they have is not invariably an indication of their position. Some multi-millionaires are not in Society at all. Some who have little money are in it. Family lineage while a help is not always essential. A man whose parents were common people if he has money enough may have his family live in London for a sufficient time and then come back and get into Metropolitan Society. Yet not every one who has been socially apprenticed to London can get into Society in New York.

The more we contemplate this mystery of Society, the more it baffles us. It is supposed to be made up of the idle rich, yet they are looked up to by multitudes: everything chronicled about them appears to be interesting and that they have always been maintained by the world at large seems to make for the fact that there is a good reason for their existence. Every town, no matter how small, has a society leader of some sort. Although they appear to be fickle and uncertain and careless, they are trusted by tradespeople to an astonishing degree. Occasionally some girl, who is in Society breaks away and marries "beneath her," as it is termed—her chauffeur, or even the butler at a pinch, if he is unencumbered. This causes a great clamor, not alone from the society people, but from everybody else. The unhappy couple try to subsist on love, but rarely succeed on a permanent basis.

Society people are cared for by a host of employees, who constitute a society in themselves with a special etiquette of their own and rigid rules of conduct. They have their leaders and their snobs. Thus we seem to have a double shift.

Society has never been so active as it is this year. There are more young girls coming out and nobody is going in. Before coming out a society girl must go through a regular process, just as if she was going to become a bacteriologist or a professor of theology. She has to be sprayed with certain kinds of knowledge for several years, to learn how to dance, play golf and tennis, acquire rudiments of music, wear clothes and learn how to talk without saying anything. This is no small matter. Many great statesmen in the history of the world have been tamed and made absolutely unfit for work by things like this when theologians and philosophers and hoary-headed seers have not been able to make the slightest impression upon them. We cannot dismiss society therefore, with a peevish sneer. Those who are in it have spent their lives in learning how and what they have learned is something that requires a native genius plus a lifetime of hard work. The question of how many forks shall be placed beside each plate at a dinner table, whether centre pieces are in vogue or not, what kind of cocktail (if any) shall be served—all these things are of immense importance in the history of all time.

Strange as it may seem, genuine society people do not crave notoriety. They care little for what outsiders think. They appear to be thinking and doing nothing but having a good time, but this is only a delusion. They are accustomed to doing what they do. It is second nature to them and therefore their joys and sorrows, while on a different plane from others, are relatively the same. Their main concern is to maintain themselves as they are; to keep up their standing with those who are playing the same game with them. They regard with horror the thought of any diminution of their fortunes which might make them change their habits. They are intensely conservative, and never do anything likely to be regarded as bad form. On the other hand they do many things quite as a matter of course, which would be regarded as highly improper and even vulgar by outsiders, because within their own sphere they can exercise a certain freedom which is sanctioned by society as a whole. A society girl may smoke cigarettes or swear mildly because these things do not limit her freedom of action or necessarily lower her standard, where a working girl might be in danger of losing her job.

It is also a mistake to suppose that all women in Society are extravagant. According to the scale in which they are accustomed to live, they usually consider their expenditure carefully and are often hard put to it to make both ends meet. If they think about it at all they will claim that the money they spend keeps a lot of people in work and trade active. A Society woman will spend from five to fifteen thousand a year on clothes. She cannot stop anywhere along the line, because if she did, her equipment would be faulty. Several women in New York have paid this year as high as fifty thousand dollars for fur coats. But these women are on the outer fringe. The real people buy what they need, usually making personal study of it, and pride themselves on getting their money's worth. Their bills are paid by father without complaint, for father enjoys the game as much as they do, although he may not always be willing to admit it. Besides, father cannot help himself.

Society people are not only human beings but they prove it constantly. They will always protect the young. When Reggie Vanderbonds marries Miss Amy Dodder Whooper, on an income of only four or five thousand or so, nobody thinks any the less of them, but everybody—in society—lends a hand to pull them through. Their pitiable condition is regarded with the utmost charity.

"THE HOODLUM" AT THE ORPHEUM WED. & THURS.

It takes a far more versatile person to be happy in a tenement district than it does on Riverside Drive. Amy Burke, played by Mary Pickford, discovers this in "The Hoodlum," her second picture produced in her own studios, released by First National Exhibitors' Circuit and which will be seen Wednesday and Thursday at the Orpheum Theatre.

As Amy Burke, Miss Pickford is the granddaughter of a financial power, a victim of all the ills of rich children and the recipient of all luxuries within the power of purchase.

But all of Amy's relatives are not as successful in matters of finance as her grandfather. Her father, for instance, is sociological writer and lecturer, of whom she has not heard for years. Her life of luxury is suddenly ended when her father returns, penniless, and she decides to forsake her grandfather and live with her father in the East Side districts where she "shoots craps" with the street ruffians, dances to the music of the hurdy-gurdies and engages in numerous pranks with the most reckless of her associates.

Amy makes several close friends in her life among the poor, among them being an artist whom she finds out was sent up for a term in the penitentiary on account of a crooked deal perpetrated by her own grandfather. She determines to aid the man she loves and whom her grandfather has caused to suffer. Her plan leads her into what appears to the police to be a criminal act. Then comes the big surprise, enjoyable to the audience, although rather difficult for the star.

LIKE THROWING MONEY AWAY

Postmaster of Cardiff Could Get Nothing to Help His Wife Until He Gave Her Tanlac

"You can tell them that Tanlac has helped my wife, too, and of all the people who have made statements about being benefited I believe we have the most cause to be thankful," was the statement made by J. Kuyper, post master of Cardiff, Alberta, while at the Owl Drug Store in Edmonton recently.

"For the past five years," he continued, "my wife has been so crippled up with sciatic rheumatism that she could hardly get about and while I have spent lots of money for treatment and medicines it was just like throwing it away, for nothing was the least bit of help to her until she began using Tanlac. Since she has been taking this medicine, however, she has been steadily improving all the time. Aside form the fact that she has almost gotten rid of the rheumatism, her general health has improved wonderfully, and her weight has increased from less than one hundred pounds to one hundred and ten.

"Her condition, before taking Tanlac, seemed almost hopeless and was very discouraging. She had continual pains across the small of her back and her right hip and limb were so stiff and painful she was barely able to get around. She was so weak and was so easily exhausted and would have to lie down three or four times a day. Her nerves were badly shattered and this, together with her awful pain, made sleep almost impossible for her. Her stomach was also out of order in some way, for her food seemed to do her no good and in place of gaining strength she was losing all the time. Her appetite was poor and altogether her condition was serious, and regardless of the best care and attention she kept getting worse.

"After reading so much about Tanlac, and, knowing o fthe good results others in our community had gotten from it, my wife began taking it and gradually improving from the very start. She was in such a bad shape that we could not expect complete recovery without time and patient use of the medicine. So she has stuck right to the treatment and it certainly has paid well, for the results have been nothing less than wonderful. She has taken twelve bottles now, eats three hearty meals every day, sleeps eight hours or more every night, and says she hardly feels the rheumatism any more. In fact, her entire system has been toned up and she is now about as strong as she ever was. Tanlac is the only medicine we have ever found that we could depend upon for results and it is so good that we feel it our duty to tell others about it."

PERMANENT BAN PLACED ON I.W.W.

"I have no hesitancy in granting the request of the state for a permanent injunction, and I want it understood that this is not to be an empty order and that the whole power of this court will be used to enforce it." declared Judge Webster in superior court yesterday noon as he announced his decision in the I. W. W. injunction hearing, which has been before his court since last Wednesday.

"I know of no reason why I should take this matter under advisement. It seems to me that there can be no difference of opinion. The effort to differentiate between a political and an industrial revolution ought not to befog an intelligent man.

"I might read all their literature, but I should come to no different opinion, for though it all runs clearly the intention to 'expropriate,' as they term it, the present owners of property and put in possession the members of the rank and file.

"By 'capitalists' they include all who by their industry have acquired property. The average American is not so weak and spineless that this is to be taken away from him without a struggle, and this means bloodshed and violence, and, if the physical power lies on the side of the I. W. W. it means the tearing down of all the things in this country that men have fought and died for in the last 100 years and those other things that men and women have struggled for in the last thousands of years. The organization that admits in its plans no conception of right and wrong in so many words harks back to the position of the brute. No man can be entirely human without a conception of right and wrong.

"Wrongs have been suffered by labor in the past, but these are being remedied as fast as an awakened public conscience can attend to it. In the state of Washington more forward-looking laws have been enacted than perhaps in any other state. It is idle that the I. W. W. take credit for such improvement, pointing to changes in the lumber camps in the last few years.

So far as the facts in this hearing are concerned, it is clear enough that the organization plans to overthrow the constitution of this state and of the United States, looking to emulate the example of Russia. From what I can learn, Russia was never so subject to tyranny and domination as today. Their literature is solely material, elevating the brute in man. It takes away the solace of religion from the sorrowing and the dying. Never in their books do you find mention of a supreme being. Through it all breathes hatred and malice and venom which can only find outlet in bloodshed. These witnesses, when asked how the bloodless industrial revolution that they advocate was to be brought about, say that that will be determined by the rank and file when the time comes. This indicates to me an unwillingness on their part to state that force is to be used."

The decision permanently prohibits any activity of the I. W. W. or its members, especially the carrying on of propaganda, and makes membership a contempt of court. Hereafter, any I. W. W. arrested may be tried under its provisions on questions of fact and sentence imposed for contempt of court. Such cases may then be appealed to the state supreme court, the applicant giving a sufficient bond.

"However much they may attempt to disguise the fact, the whole purpose of this organization is to overthrow this government and substitute for it the governing power of the general executive board of the I. W. W." said Prosecutor Lindsley in summing up the case. "They would take from men the competence that they by a lifetime of work have accumulated and give it to those who have nothing except what hangs on their frames, distinguished representatives of which class we have with us here.

"In 16 different languages they appeal to the ignorant cupidity of those who have no right on our shores except as our guests, tempting them to overthrow this government. They try to make them believe that they are to be put in the places of those who have spent their lives making this country what it is.

"These delegates here have taken up this work of the I. W. W. for a consideration, and make their living on dollars filched from the ignorant mass of workers.

"I admt there is no precedent for a court of equity to issue such an injunction, but neither is there any precedent for the condition confronting us, and to admit that we have not the power to combat this condition would be to confess shameful impotency."

Witnesses yesterday morning were Commissioner of Public Safety Tilsley, Detective L. E. Markwood and Assistant Corporation Counsel Arthur L. Hooper, who has been assisting in the prosecution. Most important was that of Commissioner Tilsley, who said that Attorney George Vanderveer of the I. W. W. had threatened him with personal violence if he didn't change his policy and also said that the "wobs" would defile his grave.—Spokesman-Review.

"That man O'Connor," strikes a new note when he tells us that 'greed' is the cause of the high cost of living. Then does the case seem hopeless, for no legislation was ever invented that could cure greed.—Guelph Mercury.

NEVER SHOOK HANDS WITH THE MAGISTRATE

Blue Jones, colored, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment at the police court Tuesday morning, for having morphine in his possession. Jones was arrested by Inspector Richardson and Detective Kilarski, who entered his room on another mission, but, seeing that the defendant was trying to hide something in the bathroom, they investigated the waste basket, and uncovered a small silver case containing the drug.

Jones was asked how long he had been in Calgary, and said that he had been in Canada for over 12 years.

"Oh, yes, you and I have met several times, haven't we?" said Magistrate Sanders.

"Yah, sir," replied Blue, "I've met you several times here, but I ain't never had the pleasure of shaking hands with you yet."—Calgary Herald.

Blue at one time was a resident of Fernie.

Another rise of 15 per cent in paper went into effect January 1st. Thus does the life of the printer man become correspondingly shortened.—Trail News.

G. G. HENDERSON IS ELECTED MAYOR

The official count of the ballots cast in yesterday's election took place today and the following is the result:

FOR MAYOR

George Gerrie Henderson	254
Thomas Uphill	234
Spoiled Ballots	17
Total Vote for Mayor	505

FOR ALDERMEN

John S. Bean	302
Robt. M. McEwan	289
William A. Harrison	265
Wm. Robichaud	257
Edwin Rutledge	230
Matthew Tully	204
William Hunter	198
Andrew Lees	168

FOR POLICE COMMISSIONER

William Lancaster	270
Samuel Graham	213

FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Archibald Corrie	358
John S. Irvine	321
Frank Brindley	121

Yesterday's civic election was a contest notable for the fact that it established a new record for the number of votes cast; the grand total was 518, of which 13 were for school trustees only, leaving the net total of ratepayers to exercise their franchise for the city administration 505. The contest did not develop into any bitter fight but was nevertheless a very keen one. There were undoubtedly two decided factions—the one the retiring administration seeking re-election on its record, which according to their representations had been very satisfactory and their expressed desire to continue to conduct the affairs of the city in this manner. Also while the full slate of last year's council did not offer themselves, consequently some new blood was forthcoming, and those candidates who more or less openly favored the former administration, developed a new phase in that they left themselves open for it to be said that their policy with regard to civic administration might be influenced to some extent by an element with which they have been closely connected.

On the other hand the other faction in the contest took the view that the methods used in conducting city affairs were of an unnecessarily extravagant nature and this they proposed to curtail. They also advocated conditions prevailing within the city should be such as to classify it as a "clean city" and by this it was made quite clear that they did not propose radical subjection or "the lid closed down tight" but that in the management and preservation of good conduct matters should never be allowed to reach the stage where civic authority does not command full respect.

The result yesterday clearly demonstrated that the people who are materially interested in the welfare of the city were desirous of a change. The mayoralty contest between Mr. Henderson and ex-Mayor Uphill, while close, was sufficiently decisive to indicate that the greater number are at least willing to give him the opportunity to handle the affairs as he advocated. This is further emphasized by the election of Aldermen Bean, McEwan and Harrison at the top of the poll, all of whom were supporters of the newly elected mayor. In the re-election of Aldermen Robichaud and Rutledge, undoubtedly the conscientious efforts of these gentlemen during the year just closed have been appreciated in that it was believed they had done their best for the ratepayers as a whole. Mr. Tulley is an entirely new member of the council. He proposes to work for the citizens to the best of his ability but has also stated "he never worked for nothing." However, it remains to be seen whether he will interest himself in the civic affairs for the benefit of the citizens—voluntarily.

In the election with a very substantial majority of Wm. Lancaster as police commissioner the proper regulation of this department in so far as he is personally able should not for a moment be doubted, basing this assumption entirely upon Mr. Lancaster's personal appeal to the electors. While he may not have had actual experience in this particular work his success in private life is an ample illustration that he knows his business. The newly constituted police commission undoubtedly will be an efficient body.

The re-election of Archibald Corrie and John S. Irvine to the school board over Frank Brindley, local secretary of the One Big Union, by an even 200 votes between the lowest number polled for the second candidate, is a most emphatic assertion that the actions of these men on the school board are highly commended.

MUNICIPAL MEETING

The public meeting held on election eve in the Grand theatre, at which all candidates for civic honors are "supposed" to appear on the platform and personally make their declarations as to what they are willing to do or not to do if elected to office, drew the usual overflow crowd. Upon this occasion the audience was carried into an unperturbed frame of mind by the soothing strains provided by the Fernie City Band. This organization came forward voluntarily and gave a brief concert, and the stage of proficiency shown since Prof. Zaccaro has taken hold certainly deserves unqualified praise. It is to be hoped they will continue to improve with the same rapid strides so we will achieve a musical organization to be proud of.

Robt. Duthie was after some slight persuasion induced to act as chairman, which he filled very aptly and no doubt his physical propensities went a long way towards keeping the meeting reasonably orderly, because as is characteristic upon occasions the irresponsible "hecklers" are more or less in evidence. Bob, however, kept them under control. A communication from Wm. Dickenson desiring to have the respective candidates declare themselves as to what they were prepared to do in regard to supporting the city band, and incidentally to say the least with the object of in-

The miners laid off on Tuesday because the M. F. & M. refused to carry their checkweighman, Wm. Potter, free of charge. A mass meeting was called and it was decided to place the matter before Commissioner Armstrong. The amount of money lost by the lay-off would have carried Potter for 100 years.

Word was received on Wednesday of the death of Dominic Guzzi, son of Mike Guzzi, of this city. Dominic was a well known Fernie boy, having been raised here from a child. He had served four years in the Italian army and was returning home when he was taken ill in New York, where he died in an hospital. He leaves a wife and child.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

The results of the examinations held in the High School just before the Christmas holidays are, for the first and second years, as follows. The standing for the third and fourth years will be published later. These results are of great importance to the first and second years, since promotion at the end of the year depends upon the standard reached in these examinations.

There are three more examinations to be held and pupils who have failed this time, by hard work at home and in school, could bring their work up to the necessary standard.

BONSPIEL POSTPONED

The five rinks of Fernie curlers returned from the Lethbridge banana belt on Thursday morning having only been able to play a few games owing to the mild weather conditions. The boys were well entertained while in Lethbridge and have promised to return when the spiel is called again. Following is a report of the annual meeting from the Lethbridge Herald:

The visiting curlers were entertained by the Lethbridge boys at a hustle-up banquet in the Masonic hall last night and it went over big; a good time was had. However, that is always so when the curling fraternity foregather. And there was a bunch of them; over a hundred followers of the broom and stones sat down.

The first business of the evening was the announcement by Sherwood Herchmer that the visitors had held a conference and decided to remain over in the city another 24 hours to give the so-called weather prophets a chance to justify themselves.

This anouncement was most pleasing to the home boys because they still have hopes. If the 'spiel can be started in the next day or so the games will be cut to 10 ends. If not, it was the decision of the meeting to postpone the 'spiel, leaving the date-fixing to the Lethbridge curlers, the date to be as convenient for all as possible, at least not earlier than a week from Monday next. It was the feeling of all present that there should be no blanks in the records of the association.

The next 'spiel is to be held the first Monday in February, 1921, at Fernie.

Then President A. C. Liphardt called the annual meeting to order and the election of officers resulted in the following being returned for the 1920-21 season.

President—Jas. McNaughton, M.P.P., Carmangay.

Vice-President — A. Ward, Cranbrook.

Chaplain—Duncan Duff, D.D.

Secretary — Sherwood Herchmer, Fernie.

Executive—J. S. Kirkham, Lethbridge; M. Kastner, Fernie; W. A. Wallinger, Cranbrook; J. F. Snyder, Carmangay; Jack Ross, Taber; Geo. Ringrose, Claresholm; Mr. Spooner, Vulcan; D. G. McKenzie, Macleod; C. C. McBwiney, Coleman; R. M. Brown, Pincher Creek; W. D. Woodhall, Champion.

The next order of business was the more entertaining one of eats, drinks, and the be merry, interspersed with speeches and songs.

The program throughout was of a most entertaining nature and was well accepted. S. J. Shepherd was in the chair.

The program:

Toast to the King.

Toast to the C. N. P. C. A. —Proposed by Dr. Leech. Reply by A. C. Liphardt.

Song—Mr. Thompson.

Toast to visiting curlers—Proposed by J. A. Reid.

Replies—Cranbrook, Mr. Shankland; Granum, Mr. Layton; Claresholm, E. Moffat; Fernie, Sherwood Herchmer and Milt Kastner; Macleod, D. G. McKenzie; Carmangay, Mr. Quayle; Coleman, Alex. Morrison.

Song—Geo. Fleming.

Duet—Mr. Tarrant and Joe Miller.

Song—Mr. A. B. Carson.

Song—Mr. Tarrant.

Song—Joe Miller.

Stump speech— Geo. Fleming.

While the west wind took a rest for a few hours Wednesday morning, enabling the ice to freeze up and raise the hopes of all the curlers, that is, to those who were up before 9 a.m., he was down to work with the office force at 9.15 and blew a gale all day.

In spite of this four games were played, resulting as follows:

Herchmer 9, Moffatt 7.

Ross 8, Ward 6.

Kastner 10, Liphardt 7.

Snyder 7, McNaughton 6.

All the games were ten ends and on ice too heavy to be anything else but a slugging match. No further games were attempted so all the visitors are away home this morning.

A. C. Liphardt and Jas. Johnston, of Fernie, went up on a friendly visit to Carmangay with the two Carmangay rinks, McNaughton and Snyder, as it was cold enough there to be freezing at their rink.

The boys from the mountains when they saw for themselves how fast this prairie weather could switch—a matter of 50 degrees in half an hour — admitted that we had some problem to forecast the weather. It would have been one of the best 'spiels in the history of the association—large entry, good prizes, good curlers, and keen rivalry.

It was disappointing to all but one of those things that could not be avoided.

Even the drive for the entertainment of the visitors had to be called off on account of the high wind and heavy dust pall.

Tough Luck—we say, Tough Luck.

DORIS—BAKER

A quiet wedding took place in the Roman Catholic church on Thursday morning, when Mr. Harry Doris, of Cranbrook, was united in marriage to Miss Florence Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Baker, of this city, Rev. Father KeKnnedy performing the ceremony. The young couple left on the morning train for Cranbrook.

I.O.D.E.

The Travelling Gallery of Historical Pictures, which were exhibited in the G.W.V.A. rooms and were so much enjoyed, has been on exhibition in the Central school here during the past week, the pupils having the pictures intelligently explained to them by their respective teachers. The gallery goes to Waldo on Jan. 17, from which place it goes to Cranbrook on the 26th, and thence westward to the different Chapters throughout the province.

A donation of $26.25 has been received from the Coal Creek school to be devoted towards supplying the school with British Historical Pictures. The Mt. Fernie Chapter has adopted the Coal Creek school and some splendid pictures are now on order for the school there.

The list of contributions towards the National Educational Memorial, which has been explained in several previous issues, is now open for members of the I.O.D.E. and others interested. Each member of the Mt. Fernie Chapter is expected to give or get at least $3.00 for this Memorial. The list will close May 31. The Chapter acknowledges the following: Workman $5.00.

Twenty-one car loads of automobiles passed through Fernie yesterday on their way to the coast.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Cheer up! For the great Philosophers of the day tell us that 1920 will be a golden year of health and happiness. There will be no national or world wide epidemic or scourge. Medical science and research will make great advances and discoveries. Incurable diseases will be lessened. The revelations of science will be startling. Vast enterprises will be launched for the relief of human suffering, and to promote human comfort. Outdoor living will be more popular than ever and thousands of tourists will visit the scenic grandeur of Elko and the Crow's Nest Pass. The great human family will be happier because the amplitude and the plentitude of life will destroy fear, worry and suspicion. The people will be happier because they see more clearly that the best future preparedness is to live at one's best daily. What Canada needs right today is clean politics and good advertising, and the gold of the world, like a mighty river, will flow into Canada. Cheer up!

The coming and going of our well known families is always of interest and furnishes a happy bit of gossip over the tea cups.

Miss M. M. Anderson, Elko's popular teacher made a great hit with the Christmas tree in the Opera house on December 19th. The concert by the whole school was a delightful surprise to the children's parents and was greatly enjoyed by the visitors who came to take in the dance after the distribution of the prizes, and not a child in the town was missed. It was one of the best planned Christmas trees and social events ever held in the old historic burg. A bountiful supper was provided by the Queen Bees of the town, and the visitors did justice to the feast. Jim Thomson of Cranbrook, an old Elkoite, the versatile vendor of Fox-Trots brought down some of Cranbrook's best dancers who introduced the new aeroplane propellers and some chicken scratches. The music was delightful and they went with such a swing that they voted it the best dance they had ever attended, and promised to come again.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller and daughter, of Wasa, passed through Elko on their way to Kalispell, Montana, during the holidays.

J. A. Broley, of Roosville Valley, entertained a party of friends to a Christmas dance at Rainbow Creek, Sunkist Orchards.

Mayor and Mrs. Klingensmith, of the Mining Exchange, Elko, left for Spokane last week and might go on to California and take in the swimming match through the Panama Canal.

Mrs. Fred Roo,of Roosville, gave a New Years' dance in honor of Miss E. B. Paterson, Kootenay Orchards, Cranbrook, who was down spending her holidays.

During New Years' week a party of tourists from Calgary stopped off at Elko and visited the Elk Canyon and falls.

C. E. Davis, secretary of the Commercial Club, Eureka, Montana, was up to Elko last week to arrange a meeting with the business men of the town to try and get in line with the Fernie Automobile Club for a meeting in the old historic burg of Elko in the near future. The meeting was held in the Mining Exchange, and it was remarked that on account of the bad roads in the Roosville Valley and the Flagstone districts that it was impossible to visit this side of the line the past summer, but Jim Thistlebeak assured Mr. Davis that the Oliver Government was going to block pave the whole Roosville Valley and the Flagstone district right away, as there had been some 47 thousand and 95c. appropriated and to date only 95c. had been spent and that the work would commence as soon as the weather permitted.

The New Year's dance at Elko engineered by Chris Foisy, Earl Holbrook, Phil Broster and Oscar Sanders was both a social and financial success. The arrangements were perfect and the boys sure gave the citizens and the visitors a fine treat. The Frank West orchestra supplied the music. There was a big crowd from surrounding towns; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Brown from Wardner were there and Charlie took first in the diamond waltz. It was like a ball game watching him make the home run for the bacon. Verne Abbey, Flagstone, and Miss Fuller, of Eureka, took first for the fox-trot.

Salesmen, travellers, peddlers and train jumpers are again starting to come around. Taylor of Calgary, made his first appearance and is one of the best pickled pork travelers we have seen in a long time. Pat Burns sure picks out the Chesterfields for the road work. Shierlock, the Great, is still at the coast digging clams and baiting whales.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ross and daughter spent the New Year holidays with friends at Lethbridge and Travers, Alberta.

Tom Letcher and son, Ted, of the Square Deal Ranch, Roosville Valley, visited several Alberta points during Christmas and New Year.

Happy Jack Hammond of the 225th Battalion, who lost his leg in France, was down visiting his parents and returned to the Military Hospital at Calgary this week.

Jim Thistlebeak says the reason the C.P.R. trains are always late is because the engines are suffering with bronchial trouble due to leaky valves and tubes.

Jim Thistlbeak says advice is like medicine; it's a jolly sight easier to give than to take.

"Why do you consider women superior to men in intelligence?"

"A bald-headed man buys his restorer by the bottle, doesn't he?"

"Er---yes."

"Well, a woman doesn't waste any time on hair restorer; she buys hair."

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomson of Cranbrook, are moving back to Elko. They have rented Harry Oldland's castle on Gospel Hill. They all come back.

Supt. of Roads, L. E. Macdonald, of Fernie, told the writer that the government were going to re-model the wagon bridge crossing the Elk River on Riverside Drive, and that Sergt. Jimmy Osborne would have charge of the work. The work will commence at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Duncan, of the Columbia Hotel, and family were Cranbrook visitors last week for several days.

Radium Hot Springs is a place that every time you go there, you feel ten years younger. I have a friend up in Cranbrook who has been there so often he is positively childish.

Jim Thistlebeak says there is more hope of usefulness for a hen setting on a door knob than for the woman living on her ancestry. A snob is a lemon of decayed aristocracy, and stinks worse than a Hottentot Sunday School in August.

Major and Mrs. Moffatt, of Fernie, were in Elko Sunday and motored to Baynes with the Lairds of Aberdeen.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN "A LADY'S NAME" AT THE ORPHEUM MON. AND TUES.

Constance Talmadge is presented by Lewis J. Selznick in Select's latest offering, "A Lady's Name," written by Cyril Harcourt, author of "A Pair of Silk Stockings," which will be seen at the Orpheum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

"A Lady's Name" introduces Constance as a young and popular writer in search of literary material. She is engaged to a rather priggish young man, but is rapidly tiring of him. In order to secure material for a novel she advertises in a newspaper for a husband, thereby shocking her roommate, a young suffragette, and incensing her fiance, who asks her to promise not to answer any more of the letters that she has received. She promises but she has already answered three of the applicants who are due to call.

The applicants arrive, the first one proving frankly impossible, but the second is a solemn little man, a butler, and Mabel is delighted with him as a subject for material and agrees to have tea with him at the house where he works while his master is away. The third applicant is a handsome young man, Noel Corcoran, and Mabel becomes fery much interested in him, though she hides her interest and sends him away because she thinks he needs to be taken down.

While she is having tea with the butler the next day his master unexpectedly enters and she finds him to be her third applicant. On a bet she answers two more of the letters which she has received which causes her to break her engagement with her fiance. She then becomes engaged to Noel Corcoran.

A CANADIAN SINGER WINS RECOGNITION

Edward Johnson, who is considered by critics the tenor sensation of the 1919 and 1920 musical season, has lately returned to America from other shores with a series of musical triumphs to his credit.

Mr. Johnson, who was born in the City of Guelph, is one of the first Canadians to achieve an international reputation as an operatic singer. This season he is singing with the Chicago Opera Company and reports say that his popularity bids fair to equal that of the mighty Caruso.

Studying in Paris was not enough for the ambitious Edward Johnson, but after completing his musical course in France he journied to Florence where he was under the personal tuition of the famous Vincenzo Lombardi. His operatic debut was made in 1912 in "Padua" using the stage name of Edoardo di Giovanni. He has also sung "Parsifal" at Milan but his greatest achievement was in a French Opera when he made the first successful Italian presentation of "Pelleas" at the Costanzi theatre in Rome.

It will be with a great sense of gratification that the many friends of Edward Johnson, not only in Guelph but throughout the entire Dominion, hear of his phenomenal success in the musical world, for never before has a Canadian singer had the single honor of presenting the first successful production of a French opera, sung in Italian, in one of the oldest and most famed opera houses in the world.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

WHAT IS HYPNOTISM?

The foregoing is a question asked Paris quite often by medical men.

This is his answer: More psychologists define Hypnotism as a state of mental abstractedness or absent-mindedness. Scientifically speaking, Hypnotism is the conscious or unconscious acceptance of a suggestion. To dispute the existence and value of Hypnotism today would be as ridiculous as to dispute the existence and value of the aeroplane, or any other modern invention. Every college and university in the world teaches the principles of hypnosis; the medical profession recognize its great value as a therapeutic agent; successful salesmen and business men learn its secrets to become more successful and efficient; parents have learned the fact that the world teaches the principles of hypnosis; the medical profession recognize the fact that the study of the mind is now considered the basis of all human endeavor.

Paris will explain all these things in interesting, short talks, after which he will offer the greatest scientific and comedy performance ever witnessed. If you enjoy laughing, see Paris. If you have the blues, Paris will dispel them in one evening.

Deserting Civilization

But the League exists, nevertheless, and will continue to exist, with such nations as Great Britain, France, Italy and the lesser powers of Europe, Asia and Latin America within the scope of its protecting influence. But we are not in it because the Wilson-haters in the Senate preferred to put us in the attitude of saying to the rest of the world:

"We did what we could to vanquish the Huns; we contributed our full share in precious lives and in money to help win the war, but you must do the rest. We are through! If you want the terms of peace enforced, go ahead and enforce them. If you want the territorial integrity of Belgium, Servia, Roumania and Poland protected and safeguarded, do what you may to that end. But count us out."

For shame on every senator who, because of his personal hatred of the President, voted to put us in the disgraceful category of deserting civilization!—Atlanta Constitution.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Cure Sick Headache, Constipation, Billiousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath—Candy Cathartic.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get relief with Cascarets. AS READ BY THE "REDS"

Some labor leaders are reading into Mr. Justice Metcalfe's charge to the jury in the Winnipeg sedition trial an assault upon the wage earner's right to work or not to work, as it pleases him. This, it seems to me, is drawing a herring across the trail. The mere fact that men struck in Winnipeg last spring is neither here nor there; the fact, however, clearly proven at the trial, that it was the intention of a body of men to overthrow our present form of government, substituting therefor a Soviet regime is very real indeed.

Winnipeg's troubles began with what looked like a perfectly legitimate strike among metal workers, but when this movement broadened into a sympathetic "strike" which closed newspaper offices, telephone exchanges, telegraph offices and fire halls, prohibited, except under license from a Soviet Committee, the delivery of ice, bread and other necessities; even going so far as to lower the water pressure, this so-called "strike" became a revolutionary movement, pure and simple.

What this strike committee had in the back of its head is not far to seek. What was premeditated was civil war. Every possible effort was directed toward the paralyss of the industrial and social life of Winnipeg, and one does not require much imagination to have seen in the next step, physical violence on a large scale followed by a bloody battle in the streets of Winnipeg. For mind you Canadians are not a lot of sheep, to be led around with a ring in their noses by a band of Bolshevists, as has been the case in Russia.

The argument heard in some quarters that what was done in Winnipeg was accomplished lawfully is utter nonsense. If such be the case civilization under its present form, might just as well be thrown to the dogs now as later on, letting us return one and all to stone age conditions. Imagine a condition of society which closes the telegraph lines in and out of Winnipeg to all but the friends of the "Reds;" that yells gleefully because the daily newspapers cannot be printed; that takes from the fire halls the firemen; from the streets those who collect refuse, and dictates openly and unashamed as to who shall or shall not go about their daily occupations.

The average laboring man in Canada is not fool enough to mix up Winnipeg's attempt at revolution with the "right to strike." They are as far apart as the poles. The Winnipeg Soviet cared not one jot as to the merits of this or that workman's grievance, if he had any. What these "Reds" were interested in was their nice little plot to utilize workers, organized or unorganized, to their own nefarious ends. As it was, even with the situation still without their complete grasp, the leaders began taking on the airs and graces of the Trotsky-Lenine group. How dare a man have ice for his family and milk for his babes without first calling upon the "strike committee" for a "permit." Imagine a permit from that gang of roughnecks as to whether your youngsters had food to sustain life, or ice to aid in keeping what foods you were fortunate enough to possess.—Toronto Saturday Night.

BUFFALO RAISED FOR PROFIT

The proposal of the Dominion Government to sell one thousand buffalo bulls from its herd at Buffalo Park, near Wainwright, Alberta, is an illustration of how a project sentimental and philanthropic in its inception may become profitable. Mr. W. J. Blair, M.P. for Battle River, Alberta, who takes a friendly interest in Buffalo Park, pointed out in a recent visit to the east that in going into business as buffalo breeders the Federal authorities builded better than they knew. In 1908 the opportunity to purchase a herd of 600 buffalo from a rancher in the State of Montana, who had made his hobby the preservation of an animal that was formerly the chief provider for the aboriginies of the West, was submitted to the Department of the Interior. After some negotiations the purchase was effected at the price of $250 per head. One hundred thousand acres near Wainwright was set apart as a National Park in which the beasts could be preserved. At the time the only idea was to save from extinction an animal deeply associated with the history of North America; but the original herd has thrived so well that it has increased in eleven years to approximately 5,000. Now the Department of the Interior has available 1,000 bulls which can be disposed of without endangering the prospects of posterity; and it is estimated that they will bring prices that will more than meet the original cost of the herd and that has since been expended for care and feeding during hard winters when they could not pick up a living from the land.

The proposed sale will fix the market value of the buffalo for commercial purposes in a way that no sale of the past has done. The buffalo hide today is enormously valuable, as a result of the increase in all fur values which has taken place in the past quarter of a century. The meat itself should undoubtedly command a high cash value among the epirures of this continent. A third item is the heads which when mounted have limited ornamental uses for large edifices. Generally speaking a marketed buffalo represents values undreamed of in the pioneer days of the West.

The Wainwright reservation has, however, developed other sources of national usefulness. Experiments in cross-breeding with cattle have been made on somewhat the same lines as those of Mr. Mossom Boyd at Bobcaygeon, Ontario, and some progress has been made toward producing a hybrid that may in time become a commercial proposition, though the experiments do not fully justify optimism on this point. Again, Buffalo Park, Alberta, is a source of sppply for any Canadian municipality which desires one or more of these animals for local park purposos. Generally speaking the Montana purchase of 1908 has more than justified itself.—Saturday Night.

SOCIALISM IN PRACTICE

It has been noticeable within the last ten years or so that, notwithstanding the strong socialistic agitation throughout this country, the results at State and national elections show that the ranks of the socialists are not increasing in proportion to the increased number of voters in the United States as the number of voters of other political creeds are increasing. Some people who are not socialists, but who take an interest in such matters, think that this is due to the fact that more socialists have developed into capitalistic employers than the average nonsocialist is aware of. That at least would prevent these employers from being socialists in practice though some of them might still remain socialistic in theory.

While socialists of all kinds, radical and otherwise, from communists and Bolshevists here and in other countries to those in the regular socialist party of the United States, declaim against capitalism and the wage system, it has been shown that socialists when they become possessed of capital hold as fast to the latter as any nonsocialist might do. Men who were rampant anticapitalistic speakers some years ago have since become capitalistic employers, often in a small way, are to be found in large cities. Some of them, at least among the smaller men, change their political creed when they become employers, but others after they become employers, continue to rail against capitalistic system. If any of them have asked their employees, to join with them in running the business as joint owners there is no record of such cases.

A man well known as a speaker at socialistic meetings in a large Eastern city, who has been a socialist candidate for political offices at election, to none of which he was elected, has a number of shares in an important business corporation and is, therefore, an employer of wage earners, notwithstanding which he still keeps up his attitude against the capitalistic system. Some of the men known as socialist speakers at labor meetings in the same city at one time have since developed into small employers, the majority of the latter having dropped all anticapitalistic speech making.

In other countries those who declare for the people owning all the wealth do not care to give any wealth to the workers when it comes into their own possession. When Timor Szamuely, the leader, or at least one of the principal leaders of the late communist government started in Hungary, after the war began, fled after its collapse and was killed by a man whose brother he had executed, it was found after his body was searched that he had one hundred and forty thousand crowns and many valuables on his person. Others of his kind held closely to any treasure they could find, and when any loot was discovered "every man for himself," generally appeared to be the slogan. —Popular Magazine.

NO matter how stylish a boot may appear, the final test in these days of high prices and substitutes is: "How long will it wear?" The life of the heel, for instance, depends upon whether it is solid leather "in the true sense of the word," or not.

To the right of this advertisement, we illustrate the layers of selected leather that are built into the solid, sturdy heel of the LECKIE DRESS BOOT. Likewise, the composition heel of the boot sold on appearances only, and therefore unable to withstand equal wear.

Thus, the LECKIE DRESS BOOT, built throughout on the same principle, gives "more miles per dollar" and offers the greatest combination of endurance, together with comfort, style and economy. Why not choose a boot by its reputation for wear? Ask to see the LECKIE DRESS BOOT.

INTRIGUES OF RUSSO-GERMAN

Fighting on interior lines against disjointed, and very often disorganized enemies, the Bolshevists have won what apears to be a decisive victory on most of their fronts. They have defeated the forces of Admiral Koltchak and are advancing eastwards in Siberia with nothing of a sufficiently formidable character to prevent them reaching the Pacific Coast, unless Japan adds largely to her army on the mainland. If a battle is to be fought by any of the Allies against the extension of the Bolshevist regime Japan is seemingly the only Power left to undertake the task, for it has just been announced that the last of the American troops in Siberia are to be withdrawn. It is instructive to notice that the greater the military triumphs of the Bolshevists the more anxious they become to make peace with the Allies. The reason is obvious, and it is because Bolshevism was German in origin and is still German. When the Allies make peace with the Bolshevists then Germany can "take possession" of Russia, commercially, financially, and, perhaps, politically. It must be admitted that the Germans are very near to success because the Bolshevist propaganda throughout the world has led to a clamor for peace with Lenine, especially among those who either cannot or will not understand what Bolshevism means.

An interesting sidelight on events is explained by a British official who has been in Russia before and during the revolution and before and during the Bolshevist regime. He points out that whenever Bolshevism has been in a critical position something has happened outside Russia to help it. When Yudenitch was threatening Petrograd and Denikine was pressing the Bolshevists on the south, Germany, by specious intrigue, led the Allies to dissociate themselves from the affairs of the Baltic States and Finland. On top of this decision came the Bermondt treachery, undoubtedly engineered by Germany. This same authority says: "The only thing keeping bolshevism alive today are German support, German propaganda, German officers and military engineers, and, even more helpful, the policy of the Allies." It is German intrigue which today is straining itself to the utmost to get the Allies to enter into negotiations with the Bolshevists, for in a time of peace between Russia and the world Germany has everything to gain.

There is another aspect of the Bolshevist menace and that is the indirect injury it has inflicted on the peoples of the Allied countries, apart from the insidious propaganda which is littered about through the medium of Russian gold. Nothing has conduced so much to the great increase in the cost of living throughout the world as Bolshevism and the consequent industrial stagnation which ensued in Russia. It was the competition of exported Russian wheat which gave the people of the Allied countries cheap bread. The suffering millions of Europe are now in the hands of the wheat trust of this continent and it is only Russian wheat that can help the peoples to have cheaper food. Russia is not exporting fuel as in the past, so there is a shortage in Europe. Her butter and eggs, such as are produced, are only sufficient to feed her own people, whereas in pre-war time she exported immense quantities. There are many raw materials which Russia exported in the past and which helped to keep down the cost of living throughout the world. Thus Bolshevism by a policy of cutting down industrial production is sending up prices everywhere and perpetuating unrest. The continuation of Bolshevism, which is German nurtured, means the perpetuation of Germany's war against the rest of the world, for whatever may happen to Russia it is Germany that will benefit in the long run. Despite military victories, Lenine's present campaign is concentrated on securing peace with the Allies, and the reason is in order that Germany's agents may set about regenerating Russia industrially and financially. Germany found the gold that made Lenine's coup d'etat possible. No one can accuse him of ingratitude since he is willing that the country he governs should become an annex of Germany. —Colonist.

REPORT OF THE AUDITOR

(Calgary Herald)

Notwithstanding the fact that the total receipts of the United Mine Workers of America in Alberta received at the offices of that organization in Calgary between January 1 and August 25, 1919, amounted to $32,668.62, according to a statement prepared by the auditing firm of Marwick, Mitchell, Peat and Company, of this city, when the international commission took possession of affairs here in August last there was only $10.49 representing cash on hand and in the bank. Not only this, but there were several thousands of dollars liability incurred in connection with the newspaper, the District Ledger, run by P. F. Lawson. In the statement issued by the auditors, during the period mentioned, $23,127.77 had been expended in officers' salaries and expenses.

The state of conditions revealed by the auditors' statement has resulted in Samuel Ballantyne and William Dalrymple, the international commission of the United Mine Workers of America, issuing a circular to the mine workers of District No. 18 which is most interesting reading.

This is as follows:

"The commission appointed by the International Executive Board of the United Mine Workers of America to investigate conditions and take charge of affairs in what was formerly known as District No. 18, U.M.W. of A. deemed it their duty both to the members comprising District No. 18 and the international organization, that an audit of the books and vouchers as received from ex-Secretary-Treasurer Ed. Browne, be immediately made. It was also decided to include in the investigation the affairs of "The District Ledger," Fernie, B.C., and for that purpose the services of Messrs. Marwick, Mitchell, Peat and Co. (auditors of international repute) were secured. Their findings are printed herewith.

"You will gather some idea of the financial condition of the district (when handed over to the commission) from the following statement of cash in hand and in bank:

Cash in hand, August 25, 1919	$9.90
Cash in bank, August 25, 1919	.59
Total	$10.49

"Against this amount there are several thousands of dollars' liabilities incurred in connection with the district and the "District Ledger." This was the financial condition of District No. 18 when Messrs. Christophers and Browne handed the books and monies over to the International Commission on August 25, 1919.

"The history of the Hillcrest Relief Fund (a fund created for the benefit of the widows and orphans of those killed in the Hillcrest explosion of 1914, and one to which the workers of this district and the International Union contributed so generously) is told by the auditors. Scant regard seems to have been paid by the trustees to the sacredness of this fund and the needs of the dependents, as $1,870,000 was taken and spent in the general fund.

"During the month of April Mr. Susnar, according to vouchers handed the auditors by ex-Secretary Treasurer Ed. Browne, succeeded in securing $729.57 in the shape of salary and expenses. The commission are informed that at about this time Susnar toured District No. 18, visiting a number of the locals in the interests of the O.B.U. At practically every meeting which was held he explained that he was not receiving any recompense, but was paying his expenses out of his own pocket. The result was that in many instances collections were made which run into hundreds of dollars. If this is truth (and the commission have no reason to doubt this information) Mr. Susnar must have found propaganda and district work very profitable. Following are the amounts received and the heading under which they were paid:

	Month of April
Policy Committee—	Salary	Expenses
A. Susnar	$179.76	$345.94
District Board Members—
A. Susnar	$ 51.36	66.75
Re Disputes—
A. Susnar	$ 51.36	35.40
Total salary and expenses received during April	$281.48	$448.09

"As this would be equal to nearly nine thousand dollars per annum the workers should not have much difficulty in ascertaining how the funds of District No. 18 were squandered.

"The sum of $32,668 was spent in the general fund during the eight months ending August 25, 1919, and although the workers were on strike and needing relief, there appears to have been very little to spare for such purposes and all we are able to discover is contained in the following items:

Spent on Relief
Wayne Local	$2,100.00
Rocca Dallena	12.00
Rosedale Relief—
Merchandise	50.00	$2,162.00

"The affairs of the "District Ledger" were responsible for considerable expense in connection with taking the audit, as the remarks of auditors will plainly show.

" . . . We have to report that we found the accounts and records in a very incomplete state. The books had not been posted up for three months and previous to that time the postings were by no means complete."

"The auditors make further comment in connection with the management of the "District Ledger" as follows:

"In filing his claim Mr. Lawson deducted $155.00 for advances, showing a balance of $827.98, which is $247.07 in excess of the amount shown by the books. He has already received $406.75 and the sheriff is endeavoring to collect the balance. If this balance is paid Mr. Lawson will be over-paid $247.07."

"As the result of some thirteen months' operation the whole plant and building has fallen into the sheriff's hands and the plant sold for about thirty-five hundred dollars. The building, it is understood, will be next offered for sale. The workers of this district have lost a property that could not be replaced today for very much less than $30,000. A perusal of this balance-sheet will easily disclose who the wreckers were.

"The attitude of the commission in refusing to assume any responsibility for the liabilities of the publication is thoroughly justified by auditors' report.

"In connection with the affairs of the paper the following is extracted from the district constitution as amended February, 1918 (whether this was subsequently amended the commission are unable to say as they have no records.:

"'ArticleII.—Sec. 3 (paragraph ii.) The bookkeeping and financial transactions of the 'District Ledger' and job printing shall be placed under the supervision of the district secretary-treasurer.'"

"When the worker has read and digested the contents of the report he should not have any great difficulty in understanding why it was so necessary (in the opinion of O.B.U. propagandists) that a new organization be formed. The contention of the 'Near-Messiah' element that the U.M.W.A. has 'outlived its usefulness' is readily understood—it had no means of collecting money fast enough to meet the insatiable demands of the "propamongorists!'"

Yours sincerely,
(Signed)

G.W.V.A. NOTES

Omitted from the list of contributors to the Children's Xmas Tree published last week, we wish to thank the I.O.D.E. $10; Mrs. Chivers $2.00; Mrs. Lantz $2.00.

Arrangements are completed for the dance to be held in Victoria hall on the night of the 26th. The very best possble music is being provided and a real "Burns Nicht" is assured.

The next general meeting will be held on Sunday, 18th, at 4 p.m. and from that date weekly.

A billiard table has been obtained and is now set up in the new billiard room. Decorators are at present finishing the decorations and we expect to have the billiard room in commission for Monday next.

HOCKEY NOTES

During the last cold snap two more games of the City League schedule were played. Friday last the Shamrocks put the skids under the Monarchs, giving them a trouncing by the score of 5 to 1, sliding them into the cellar division and moving themselves up to the position of top dog for a day or two. The Monarchs did not cease to fight, giving up only at the call of time, tired of trying to beat their goalie, who was playing in top form, which is more than could be said of their own.

The postponed game played on Sunday resulted in a win for the Nationals. After the smoke had cleared away the Millionaires found themselves on the small end of a 5-4 score. This makes a twin tie in the standing, the Nats moving up in the first division, while the Mills were sent sadly downword to keep the Mons company and sojourn in the cellar. The cub reporter, owing to reasons not necessarily explained, did not get around to see the last game, but from reports and general aftermath that ensues among the fans, in their armchair replay, and the prospective view of several players, a battle royal must have taken place. Some four or five participants showed ugly scars and bruises that usually are visible after a person's anatomy has come in contact with sticks, fists, etc., and would like to say to "Cy," "Chicky," etc., that they are in the wrong kind of an arena. Dempsey, et al would be glad to hear from them if they persist in staying in that kind of a mood.

The following is the league standing: Nationals, lost 1, won 2; Shamrocks, lost 1, won 2; Monarchs, lost 2, won 1; Millionaires, lost 2, won 1.

There was one more game scheduled for this week but spring arrived too soon, causing a further postponement of the schedule. However, when our next winter arrives this winter it will be continued. The next two games will give each team a definite place in the standing as the two leaders are billed to clash, while the Mons and Mills will fight it out and see who rightfully belongs in the coveted cellar position.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to publicly thank the G.W.V.A., the Ladies Auxiliary and other friends for expressions of sympathy and kindness during my recent bereavement.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Reuter and family desire to express their thanks for the kindness shown in the time of the suffering of the bereavement of their daughter, Bertha; to those, who in our sorrow thought of us; who with the touch of kindness helped ease our pain; who in the darkness, spoke, guiding our feet to surer ground; who by the fellowship of sympathy, bound us to our love and to them, helping to make it all a hallowed memory.

Bertha Reuter died on January 9th, 1920.

jecting this as an issue in so far as some were concerned to the entire disregard of other matters, was read. His Worship the Mayor was then called upon to tell those present his position and was received with boisterous apllause. He opened by referring to the "old election cry" of all candidates seeking office, viz., they promised to reduce the taxes but were never able to fulfill that promise in anything like the degree they advocated. However, he claimed that during the past year the deficit account did not exist. The administration had carried on all affairs and actually had a surplus to their credit despite the fact that a deficit account existed on the books of the city. This deficit account had accumulated through oxer-expenditure on debenture issues in years gone by, hence his administration was not to blame. He quoted innumerable figures, reviewing last year's details and despite the many times repeated inaccuracy of the figures reported in our last issue as having been submitted before the council, His Worship quoted nearly all of them in submitting his figures. The one exception which he took to our figures was that 500 tons of coal had been saved in fuel consumption; this he said was incorrect. It was not, however, denied that that identical statement was made at the council meeting—and by members of the fire, water and light committee. After going into these figures elaborately Mayor Uphill said in view of certain "election talk" relating to his attitude in connection with last summer's strike, and the strike committee, he defied any of those to say that it had not been the wisest course to pursue speaking from the viewpoint of economy. He challenged any of those criticizing his method of handling the situation to come forward openly with their suggestions. He favored giving the band a grant and did not favor the suggested amalgamation of the police and fire departments under the supervision of one officer.

G. G. Henderson, mayoralty candidate, took for his text the 1918 auditors' report, claiming that same was the last authentic figures available to any extent, although he had been able to get some figures concerning 1919. He characterized the method of administration in vogue as more becoming a city of 50,000 inhabitants than one the size of the city of Fernie. He went after last year's council on their own figures reported in the local press and showed that they could be made look somewhat ridiculous through certain methods of application. He showed that the mill rate for general taxation, which is the only thing in regard to taxation that is within the power of the council to fix, had jumped in 1919 to a higher figure than ever in the history of the city or in four years to 16 1-4 mills, when formerly it had only been a few mills. Mr. Henderson went into the condition of affairs of the city very exhaustively and contended his only desire for election was that he believed he could improve same—it was not honor or remuneration he wanted, it was entirely as a heavy taxpayer he wanted to be given the opportunity that if conducted on business lines more economy would result.

MADAME ARTHUR BEAUCHER

805 Cartier St., Montreal.

"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a short time, the Constipation was banished, I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

Madame ARTHUR BEAUCHER.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

The Mayor was given the opportunity to reply and contradicted some of Mr. Henderson's statements. Then each aldermanic candidate made his little address and Mr. Henderson was given a few minutes to make further remarks.

AERIAL NAVIGATION LAWS

The draft of the regulations, drawn up by the Air Board, and passed by the Governor General in Council, published recently, is virtually the bulk of the suggestions offered by the various flying associations throughout the Dominion. No little satisfaction is felt in flying circles over the regulations, though in some quarters they are being criticized as too mild. Still to have got through even so much is a distinct gain, and one that will make its presence felt immediately on the flying operations of the Dominion.

One of the most interesting features of the draft of regulations published so far, is the provision whereby the Government assumes control of all aircraft in war time, and gathers their pilots into a reserve Air Force. Col. H. Biggar, vice-chairman of the Air Board, while on the coast last fall, told the officials of the Aerial League of Canada that probably some form of Canadian Air Force Reserve would be provided for in peace time, but no such provision has been made so far.

Col. Biggar also outlined a scheme whereby pilots could take a course of training in the latest war flying tactics at Government flying school once every two years, this too has not been mentioned in the present regulations.

The regulations as they stand now practically bring aircraft on a par with motor vehicles with same special provisions for international questions. They are very complete, barring some minor points, and should be found to form the basis of a really workable idea. One thing that must come immediately as a result of the Air Board's regulations is the establishment of Government aerial custom ports along the southern boundary of the Dominion. This will fill a real want, and be the means of fostering aerial development between the two countries.

The provisions as regards licensing of pilots for private and commercial flying are well thought out, but at the same time do not seem to be nearly strict enough as far as passenger carrying pilots are concerned.

The regulations call for a cross country flight of 175 miles from a given point and return to same, a night flight at 1,500 feet for thirty minutes, and ten hours solo (or flying alone.) These constitute the flying tests, and the medical and technical tests are added. For the safeguard of passengers it should be made very much longer period of test, and call for higher grade of flying.

Wartime pilots got a minimum of 25 hours on several types of machines and that was found to be all too little in many cases. One night flight might be successfully negotiated by a pilot who might not be able to repeat the performance, and thirty minutes at 1,500 feet means nothing. The night flight or flights should be in the nature of a cross country and landing at separate aerodrome.

Night Shows start 7 p.m.

Other little features might be remedied to make the regulations more binding, but the draft as it stands is a very good beginning. The Air Board will have won the backing of all the flying men in the country by listening to their councils so far, and it is to be hoped that the same feeling of co-operation will continue to be exercised.—Omadhaun.

RADIUM AS SOURCE OF MECHANICAL POWER

As a feature of the centenary celebration in commemoration of James Watt, inventor of the steam engine, Sir Oliver Lodge made a broad prediction that radium would some day be the principal motive power for all machinery.

"If James Watt were living today he would be directing his attention to discovering whether there are other stores of energy at present almost unsuspected," Sir Oliver said. "The fact is, that contained in the properties of matter here is an immense source of energy so far inaccessible, but which I see no reason why the progress of discovery should not make available."

He referred to atomic energy, which, if it could be utilized on an extensive scale, would, he believed, greatly ameliorate the conditions of factory life. There would be no smoke, he said, due to imperfect combustion, and no dirt due to the transit of coal and ashes, while the power would be very compact and clean. Possibly there might occasionally be explosions, due to the liberation of power more quickly than it was wanted, but in general, he presumed that the conditions of utilization would be good.

Sir Oliver explained that the secret of this power began to be given away when radio-activity was discovered, and said that at present we were hardly at the beginning of its utilization. The discovery of radium, which soon followed, excited universal interest and aroused great surprise, because radium appeared to give off energy continually without being consumed.

"The truth is," he said, "that it did disappear as it gave off its energy, but the disappearance was so slow, and the energy given off so remarkable, that it is not surprising that one is noticed before the other. The energy of radium, however, is not under control, and it emits energy at its own proper rate without regard to accidental circumstances. What happens is that every now and then a particle is projected. The energy stored in an atom is something enormous, and if we could make atoms fly off when we wanted there would be available a source of energy which would put everything else into the background. This energy is contained in all forms of matter and is not confined to radio-active substances. If a stimulus could be found, the utilization of this source of energy would be possible.

"If you were able to use mechanically the energy contained in an ounce of matter, and you reckon the foot tons thereby obtained, you will find enough energy to raise the German Navy and pile it on top of a Scottish mountain." Perhaps it was a good thing, Sir Oliver continued, that a nation such as the Allies had had to deal with during the past five years had not made the discovery, and he hoped the human race as a whole would be equally unsuccessful until it had brains and morality enough to use it properly.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The result of yesterday's municipal election was eytremely gratifying to the little committee formed at the now almost historic meeting held in the Isis theatre some months ago. They worked earnestly and faithfully if quietly, in the face of strongly organized and financially supported opposition, to arouse an interest in the improvement of municipal affairs. That public sentiment was thoroughly aroused is shown by the largest vote ever polled in the history of Fernie. It is the hope and belief of this committee that the new civic officials will give us a cleaner city and a more efficient administration. —Communicated.

ELECTION NOTES

The result of the municipal elections yesterday must show the O.B.U. element where they stand with the citizens of the town. Their four aldermanic candidates footed the poll.

Notwithstanding the fact that almost the entire Italian colony opposed G. G. Henderson in his fight for the mayoralty, we believe he is broad enough to overlook this when the question of band support comes up before the council. Mayor Henderson was one of the leading organizers and supporters of the first band this city ever had and he is well aware that to perfect a good band they must have proper instruction and that this cannot be secured gratis.

When Mayor Uphill practically turned his authority over to the strike committee during the trouble last summer, he sealed his fate so far as another year in the mayoralty chair was concerned. When the citizens of any community place a man in the chief magistrate's chair they do so because they believe he has enough backbone to uphold the dignity of the position against any corporation, combination or individual who would seek to deprive him of his authority.

The election of Wm. Lancaster for police commissioner by a large majority over ExAld. Graham shows the strength of the citizens committee as opposed to the open town element.

Mayor Henderson and the aldermen elect for 1920 have a strenuous job ahead of them. They were nearly all elected on a platform of economy and they have vowed to hew to the line no matter where the chips fall. This will naturally create hard feelings in many quarters, but we believe the citizens would like to see the city run as nearly as possible on the same basis as a successful business man would run his own private business.

When cornered by Mr. Henderson on Wednesday evening in regard to some published statistics in our last issue as given out at the council meeting on the 11th inst., Mayor Uphill practically told the meeting that the Free Press report was a lie. If that report was a lie he and his crowd framed it for the consumption of the voters. If Mr. Uphill took a little more stock in some of the things the Free Press publishes and not so much in what Bill Robson peddles, he would still be mayor of Fernie.

CARD OF THANKS

I desire to publicly thank my supporters for their efforts on my behalf in the recent Mayoralty contest. I will at all times try to work for the best inerests of the city and will endeavor to merit the confidence you have reposed in me.

Thanking you,
G. G. Henderson.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to heartily thank my friends and supporters for their efforts in my behalf in yesterday's municipal contest. I was defeated but hold no animosity to anyone for that defeat and bespeak for my successor, Mr. Henderson, your support and consideration. Thanking you.

Yours truly,
Thos. Uphill.

CARD OF THANKS

Ald. Wm. Robichaud desires to express his appreciation for the vote he received in yesterday's municipal election and to especially thank the ladies for their votes and influence in his behalf.

FOOLS

The Secretary of the Treasury or any respectable banker will tell you that there are three degrees of fools. There is the mild fool who takes his Government securities out at night and, when no one is looking, puts them on the glowing coals and closes the stove door and goes back to bed. This is an attempt to make the loan a gift to the United States, and the foolishness stops there. A bigger fool than that one is the fool who sells his Government securities to blow the money. Of course this second degree fool not only deprives himself of his savings, but does so in order to join the unthrifty consumers of nonessentials who are helping to raise the cost of living and to use up mankind's store of resources. But the excelsior-brand fool is the one who exchanges his Government securities—savings stamps or bonds—for get-rich-quick stocks. He has in him all the foolishness of the other two. Only in his case it is a smarter man than he who blows the money. If you have a friend who is thinking of exchanging his Government securities for nicely engraved oil wells or well-printed gold mines and the like, just go with him as far as the door of the philanthropist who has offered to make the exchange and then say: "Bill, old friend, if this fellow is willing to give you something worth more than your Government securities, you ought to be ashamed of yourself for taking advantage of a crazy man. If you nan't be shrewd, at least be merciful."—Colliers'.

VALUES IT MORE THAN A FORTUNE

Power Gains Eighteen Pounds—Rheumatism Disappears After Taking Tanlac.

"I consider what Tanlac has done for me to be worth more than a fortune," said George Power, of Halifax, N.S., while talking to the Tanlac representative a few days ago. Mr. Power lives at 20½ Rottenberg St. Halifax; has lived in Nova Scotia all his life and is a well-known employee of the Nova Scotia Tram and Power Company.

"I've actually gained eighteen pounds since taking Tanlac, and I feel better in every way than I have in twenty-eight long years, and what's more I have spent hundreds and hundreds of dollars on medicines and never got a particle of good until I found Tanlac," continued Mr. Power.

"I had rheumatism in both my legs from the knees down, and in damp weather I just had to stay at home from work. My ankles bothered me too, and I don't believe anybody in the world suffered from rheumatism as bad as I did for it was just a sharp shooting pain that would go through my knees, down my legs and into my ankles like somebody was sticking a knife through me, and I would be in such agony that I would turn as white as a sheet. When these attacks came on me I wouldn't be able to sleep a wink but would roll and tumble all night long, and my joints would swell and my knees would be as stiff as a board and I couldn't walk a step for two or three days at a time and would be laid up at home flat on my back with my knees so stiff I couldn't bend them at all.

"I noticed where Tanlac was being highly recommended by people right here in Halifax, so I deceided to try it. And I wouldn't take anything in the world for the good it has done me. If anybody don't believe that I an a well man, and that rheumatism has left me entirely and that I never feel even a trace of it, just tell them to see me. My appetite has picked up and I have gained in weight, and feel better in every way and can sleep fine at night. Tanlac is the greatest thing I hvae ever seen, and I want you to publish this statement for I want everybody to know what this medicine will do."

AERIAL PATROL OF FORESTS

(By Clyde Leavitt)

One direction in which forest protection will probably be improved is through the use of aircraft. During the past season an experiment along this line has been maintained by the St. Maurice Forest Protective Association, in co-operation with the Quebec government, using seaplanes loaned by the Royal Canadian Naval Air Service. Similarly, in the north-western states, forest patrols by aircraft have been maintained through co-operation of the United States war department with the national forest service.

While these experiments have not yet produced absolutely conclusive results, they at least indicate clearly that aircraft will have an important place in forest protection in the future, provided the question of expense can be met. One point seems very clear, and that is that no matter what the cost may be, within reason, it will be much less than the average annual loss sustained by forest fires. In the United States, the proposal is that the federal government adopt definitely the policy of full co-operation with state and private forest protective agencies. It being assumed that a national air service is to be maintained in any event, assignment to forest patrol would constitute an extremely useful activity when personnel and equipment are not needed for national defence.

Under such an arrangement, with the federal government assisting thru the assignment of aircraft and aviators, the additional cost for an effective aerial patrol could be brought well within reason. Existing agencies can well afford to incur more expense in forest protection than they are now doing, provided the results are commensurate with the increased costs, and that this would be the case with aerial patrol now seems reasonably well established. It is probable that smaller machines than those thus far used for this purpose would prove preferable, because much cheaper in first cost as well as in maintenance and operation. Full co-ordination between the air force and the ground staff would, of course, be a prime essential. Look-out towers have many times proved their value in the detection of fires; an airplane or seaplane would take the place of many such towers.

The systematic mapping of the country, by aerial photography, is another closely-related activity, the possibilities of which are receiving consideration in both Canada and the United States. In Canada, it is receiving the attention of the Royal Canadian Naval Air Service, the Geodetic Survey and the Geological Survey. The St. Maurice Forest Protective Association, using the machines loaned by the Naval Air Service, and with the co-operation of the Geological Survey, is now experimenting along this line.

STILL BELIEVE IN WITCHES

We constantly hear it said that "this is the twentieth century; superstition and all that sort of thing died out long ago." Yet there is hardly a person in the country without his pet belief—that misfortune follows stooping over a baby or spilling salt, or that a black cat brings good luck, for example. Hence, too, the universal practice of wearing mascots "for luck."

These however, are not very serious beliefs, being merely personal fads. Superstition of a deeper rooted and more unpleasant type is still common in the more backward rural areas, however. Only a few weeks ago an old dame in the Fen country was boycotted by the whole countryside because she had the reputation of being a witch and of throwing spells over people's children, stock and crops. No one would go near her or let her have food or clothing, and she nearly starved to death.

The cold legal atmosphere of the courts would be thought unfavorable to belief in witchcraft, and yet a farmer—by no means an ignorant man—stood up the other day in Norfolk court and informed the bench that someone had bewitched his cows. He cured the evil spell by thrusting a red-hot poker into his churn, when the evil spirit vanished in abright flame.

Years ago any old crone who was cross grained with the neighbors stood a good chance of being tried (and burnt) for witchcraft, and cases are even known where animals were solemnly brought into court and tried on a similar charge.

A tough old cock at Basle, Switzerland, was accused of laying eggs—a most serious offense, as such eggs were used only for making witches' ointment. The unhappy bird was haled before the justice, and one of the eggs produced as proof of guilt. In the face of such evidence the rooster's case was hopeless. He was convicted and he and his miraculous eggs solemnly burnt at the stake in the town square.

A sow and six young pigs were accused of witchcraft towards a child, and were brought, protesting loudly, before the "beak." Amid great sensation, the sow was found guilty and publicly executed, but the porkers were acquitted on the ground of extreme youth. As late as 1740, a cow was accused of possessing a "devil" and, after a long hearing, was found guilty and condemned to death. "Rats and mice and such small deer" have been summoned on numerous occasions but almost invariably failed to put in an apearance in court.

In the fifteenth century, the peasants of a village in the south of France took legal proceedings against a plague of locusts which trespassed on their fields and devoured their crops. As the case was still being fought nearly half a century later, the modern gardener can sympathize with the unlucy plaintiffs, but would probably prefer the more up-to-date application of lime or mustard.

Another action was brought against a pest of leeches swarming in the ponds and streams of another country district of France. The judge issued a decree against the leeches trespassing further on the disputed territories, but history is silent as to whether the injunction was obeyed or ignored, with resultant punishment for contempt of court.

Animals have even been admitted as witnesses in the courts. It used to be considered no offence to kill a burglar trying to break into a house. There arose the difficulty that one man living alone might ask another to his house, and then murder him, pretending that he was a robber. To get over this, it was decided that any domestic animal, such as a cat or a dog, present at the time might bear witness. If the animal on being questioned, satisfied the court that his master had acted in good faith, the killing was held to be justified. There are not many instances of acquittal.—Colonist.

CRIMINALS DINE LIKE PRINCES

A world upside down, or, at any rate, not certainly right side up, offers continual surprises. Nothing is quite like it used to be, and much is shockingly different. So you read that in the dock at Central Criminal Court in London one frequently sees the latest fashions in men's and women's wear.

"It is," says a writer in The London Daily Mail, "a sign of the times."

"Twenty years ago the average criminal was ill-educated, ill-mannered, and slovenly in appearance. Today many thieves, men and women, are intelligent, punctilious in behavior and dressed in the height of fashion.

"Recently a notorious West End sharper, confident that the jury would acquit him, ordered his motor-car to be ready to take him home. It was a sad blow to his dignity and prestige when someone else ordered Black Maria for him.

"The modern criminal who infests the West End craves for the best of everything. He dines in the best restaurants, drinks the most expensive wines, smokes the choicest cigars, and makes love to pretty women. His clothes are faultless in material and style.

"And the women 'crooks' are just as fastidious. Parisian gowns cover them; rare jewels adorn them; sparkling eyes and a ready wit carry them anywhere. They all spend money as freely as a war profiteer. One woman—a clever jewel thief—appeared in the dock wearing a dress for which she had paid 70 guineas. Her £300 fur coat had been stolen by another thief, otherwise, no doubt, she would have worn that in court.

"Thieves have been making enormous profits. Furs, clothes, cigars and jewels to the value of hundreds of thousands of pounds have been stolen during the present year, and they have been sold again at practically their full market value. Receivers—the people to whom thieves dispose of their booty—willingly pay high prices for all kinds of wearing apparel because, although vast quantities have been recovered by the police, the risk of detection is comparatively small and there is always a generous return on the money expended.

"Motor cars, of which many hundreds have disappeared, have also a ready sale, but there is a greater danger in dealing with them, and consequently the thieves themselves get only about a tenth of the actual value."

The most marvellous wood workman in the world is Hananuma Masakitch, of Tokio, who has carved a figure in wood so like himself that when the two are placed side by side it is said to be almost impossible to tell which lives and breathes and which does not. Masakitch has faithfully reproduced every scar, every vein and wrinkle to be seen on his body. The figure is composed of 2,000 pieces of wood, dove-tailed and jointed with such skill that no seams can be detected.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

Get Your Money's Worth

Hearing The New Edison for the first time is like opening the blinds to the sunlight.

You expect to hear the familiar "talking machine tone".

Instead—there pours forth the voice or the music of the instrument, in all its natural beauty—pure and full, and indistinguishable from the living artist.

When you choose an Edison RE-CREATION, you receive the actual voice of the artist or his masterly instrumental performance—nothing more, nothing less.

We know that when you select an Edison RE-CREATION, you are getting your full money's worth because we have proof.

Two thousand musical critics have endorsed our claim that

The NEW EDISON

CERTIFICATES WILL REPLACE STAMPS

The British Columbia Divisional offices of the National War Savings are now closed, but the public will be able to carry on their savings by purchasing Thrift Stamps at their nearest Post Office or bank.

Thrift stamps are are still on the market at 25c.

War Savings Stamps are now being abolished as soon as the new War Savings Certificates are ready, which will be about January 31st.

The new Certificates are in denominations of $5.00, $10.00,$25.00, $50.00 and $100.00. They mature in three years from date of purchase and bear 5½ per cent interest. The purchase price of the $5.00 certificate is $4.25, the $10.00 certificate is $8.50, the $25 certificate -21.25, the $50.00 certificate $42.50 and the $100.00 certificate $85. These certificates will be the same price throughout the year. The certificates can be cashed at any time at any Money Order Post Office, but no interest will be paid unless they have been held six months from date of purchase.

The certificates are complete in themselves and do not require to be affixed to any card. They are automatically registered at Ottawa immediately after they have been purchased.

Thrift stamps will still continue to be sold, but as the rate of interest on the Savings certificates has been increased and the time of maturity decreased, it will be necessary to collect 17 Thrift stamps (value $4.25) to exchange for a Savings certificate of a maturity value of $5.00. There will be no additional cents required when exchanging a Thrift card containing 17 stamps for a Savings certificate. The extra stamp can be placed on the Thrift card using the old card until the new ones are out.

Pamphlets giving full particulars regarding these certificates will be issued in the near future.

THE SUGAR SITUATION

Calgary continues to have what appears to be an ample supply of sugar for the needs of all its citizens, yet we have always believed that in the past the Calgary market has been supplied from Vancouver. It is still possible in the Alberta town for any one customer to buy as much as 100 pounds of soft sugar, and, provided his or her other purchases at a store are commensurate, as much as 20 pounds of granulated sugar may be bought. Loaf sugar is sold on the same basis as the granulated, namely, a pound with every dollar's worth of goods purchased in the store. The soft sugar there comes from the east and if it can find its way to Alberta, why not as far as British Columbia? It is quite impossible to obtain anything like a clear and concise statement regarding the sugar situation here and the prospects of the future. We are inclined to believe that the Board of Commerce is at sea on the subject. We have been promised that there is to be an ample supply of sugar in this Province after January 15, but there is no assurance whatever that this will be the case. From all that can be learned locally the famine may persist for months to come.

If the Board of Commerce were sufficiently interested in the subject it would have its represntative in British Columbia and a full inquiry would be made into all the conditions which exists in his part of the Dominion. There is ample sugar in the East. There is plenty to meet all requirements in Calgary, yet thousands of people have to go without for days at a time both here and in Vancouver. Where does the fault lie? There are suspicions abroad that some influence prevents sugar being shipped into this Province from other parts of Canada, but since such a course would be in restriction of trade it is hardly believable. The immediate solution lies in shipments being made to this Province from centres in the Dominion where it is available in sufficient quantity. All efforts should be concentrated on bringing this desirable result about, for, in view of the conditions elsewhere, there is no legitimate reason why the people of this community should suffer any longer. —Colonist.

BOLSHEVIKI ARE DOOMED

Washington, Jan. 11.—Death to murderous plotters and traitors is provided in the house sedition bill, and speedy passage is assured by agreement of the judiciary committee, which will report it Monday.

One of the special purposes of the bill is to eradicate the "parlor bolshevik."

The Sterling bill, a similar measure, passed the senate Saturday.

The house measure contains the most stringent penalties. The death penalty may be inflicted, on recommendation of a jury, on all persons whose activities against the government cause loss of life.

The measure also would close the mails and express companies to seditious literature, prohibit the public exhibition of a red flag, deny persons the right to refuse to give testimony on the ground that it might tend to incriminate them, and provide in certain cases for disfranchisement and deportations.

The section of the measure which provided for the death penalty follows:

"That whoever incites, sets on foot, assists or engages in any insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or the authorities or laws thereof, or whoever sets on foot or assists or engages in the use of force or violence with intent to destroy or cause to be destroyed, or change or cause to be changed, or to overthrow or cause to be overthrown, the government of the United States, and the death of any person or persons is caused or results directly therefrom, shall be guilty of a felony and on conviction shall be punished by death, or shall be imprisoned not more than 20 years, or fined not more than $20,000, or both, and shall forever be debarred from holding office under the United States; provided, however, that the death penalty shall not be imposed unless recommended in the verdict of the jury."

Other sections of the measure would prohibit any person using any "writing, printing, or any sign, symbol, picture or caricature with the purpose of resisting or destroying the government of the United States or the governments of the several states; the distribution, writing, printing, publishing or transportation of seditious matter; the portation or transportation between states of seditious matter."

All organizations teaching the use of force against the government are declared to be unlawful, and persons would be prohibited from engaging in their activities, contributing money to them, or even renting them property in which to carry out their work.

The "giving, loaning or promising of anything of value" to such organization is declared to constitute affiliation with such associations.

Aliens convicted under the act would be deported after serving their sentences and prohibited to return to America, and persons who have declared their intention to become citizens, but who have not been naturalized would become ineligible to citizenship.

Conviction of citizens under all sections, except that providing death penalty, would carry imprisonment for not more than 20 years or a fine of not more than $20,000, or both, and in addition the convicted person would be debarred from ever holding office or trust in the United States.—Spokesman Review.

SALVATION ARMY "RED SHIELD" CAMPAIGN

I wish to take this opportunity on behalf of my husband, Ensign Dunlop, who came to Fernie nearly two months ago as organizer for the Salvation Army Red Shield Campaign, but was taken sick just after arriving here, and who is still confined to the hospital, to express our appreciation and to thank the local committee and the citizens of Fernie, and all who have so kindly assisted in the recent campaign, when the large sum of $1260.00 was raised, being $260.00 over the target set for Fernie.

Again thanking all who have taken part, I remain,

Yours very gratefully,
Mrs. Ensign Dunlop.

Brigadier J. S. McLean, Divisional Commander of the Salvation Army in B.C., wishes to thank the local committe and the citizens of Fernie for the noble way they have taken up our recent Red Shield Campaign and done so well with the same.

The Salvation Army as a whole deeply appreciate this co-operation of the citizens and gives the assurance that the funds raised will be used to the very best advantage for the S. A. local work.

Again thanking the committee and all, for their assistance, I remain,

Brigadier J. S. McLean,
Divisional Commander.

SAYS IT WAS RANK SEDITION

Winnipeg, Jan. 15.—Characterizing the action of R. B. Russell, convicted strike leader, which resulted in his prosecution and conviction, Chief Justice Perdue of the Manitoba Court of appeals said.

"There is no doubt but that it was rank sedition. It was an endeavor to bring about the displacement of the government; the establishment of a soviet government in Canada and to link it up with the present soviet government in Russia. It was the intention to do away with all monarchies, our own included. This stuff (referring to the propaganda put in as evidence against Russell) was printed in Canada and there is no doubt that the jury was right in finding him guilty whether he escaped on a technicality or not."

This statement was made by the chief justice following the conclusion of the crown argument in the appeal court today. Robert Cassidy, K. C., had commenced to make a final rebuttal argument for the defence. His first remarks were immediately challenged. He then dealt with the documents in the course of which the chief justice made the above remarks. Mr. Cassidy then went on to the argument as to the extent to which Russell could claim protection under Section 590 of the Criminal Code. This section is for the protection of trades combinations.

Chief Justice Perdue with reference to this point said: "This can not be called a trade union; it was a revolutionary conspiracy and not a trades union. What it wished to do was to upset the form of government and form one of its own, to divide up the property an dso on. All that can be easily gathered from the propaganda."

Mr. Cassidy interpolated that this was merely socialistic matter, whereas the other was trades union.

Chief Justice Perdue: "It was only masquerading as a trades union and was really a revolutionary conspiracy."

Arguments in the appeal should be concluded this afternoon. The argument for the crown was finished at the forenoon session. When Mr. Cassidy has concluded his rebuttal argument, which he promised would take a very few minutes ,the appeal will be finished. It is not expected that the court of appeal will announce judgment for some days.

JOINT INSTALLATION

A joint installation of the officers of Mt. Fernie Lodge and Esther Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., was held in Ingram's hall on Thursday evening, Jan. 15. A large number was present and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

WANTED— POKER PLAYING PASTOR

Many unusual advertisements have found their place in the papers from time to time, says the New York "Post," but perhaps none of them can claim precedence over a recent one which reads: "Wanted, a minister of the gospel for Athapuskow camp. Must be good poker player. No namby-pamby preachers need apply." The best part of it is that the profession has not been seen to hold up its hands in horror at the implication, but on the contrary a young Presbyterian minister has come forward who believes that he can fill the bill. He is undaunted by further details sent out by the copper miners of northern Manitoba to the effect that they want a "he-man, who wears a mackinaw jacket and stuffs his pants in his boots, can paddle a canoe, play a good game of poker, and give a good account of himself in a knock-down and drag-out row."

Rev. R. Arthur Basham of Columbus, O., possessed of most of these rare accomplishments and ready to perfect himself wherever he is not yet adept, said that he would rather "be a Santa Claus to the bunch of miners in that Canadian copper camp than a minister to all the elders in Christendom," and that he did not think the church would fail to supply the kind of preacher wanted. As a circuit rider in northern Manitoba before he went to France as a Y.M.C.A. worker, he had opportunity to know the country well. He can tell stories of times when he had to leave his sled and run on the snow behind the dogs to keep from freezing to death, and he says that one of the happiest recollections of his life is of meeting in the North Country with a Cornell graduate turned derelict. "Many a night I have played chess with him all night, trying to help him forget liquor, and one night it was necessory to knock a man down in a saloon because he tempted my friend with a bottle of whiskey. After that they let him alone."

Mr. Basham has found the deck of cards more help than hindrance in his career and he expects to do so again, although he says that he was once tried for heresy for playing whist in the home of one of the elders in his church. He admits that he is not an expert at poker, but thinks he can learn.

At the age of eleven years this minister was himself a coal miner in Wales, and he has six brothers working in the mines of Wales at present. Another brother was killed in the world war, in which all of them took part and all were wounded. He believes that something is materially wrong with the spirit of the church today and with the ministers. "The Masons and other fraternal orders are swamped with requests for admittance by returned soldiers, because of the spirit of brotherhood, but the churches are throwing open their doors, and coaxing them to come there, and they won't go. If there was the same spirit in the churches their problem would be solved," he says. "The chief reason I am interested in this mining camp job is because of the opportunities for building up. The common run of preachers are merely holding down their jobs. If 50 per cent of us as ministers were to go on strike at once American Protestantism would not suffer in the least degree, but most of us are not willing to admit it." His attitude was apparent in his work in Buffalo, where before going to France he rented a theatre every Sunday instead of preaching in his church, and filled the theatre to capacity for every service.

Mr. Basham will be accompanied in his new undertaking by his wife, to whom he was married in France in May.—Saturday Night.

AN ADDITION TO THE FORD JOKE LIST

Many are the stories of the popular Ford automobile, but Hillboro related in its local paper recently what it calls the best of the season, and the facts in this case are true. It happened in one of the leading churches of the city that the pastor took for the text of his sermon, "Better Church Attendance."

The pastor held that the automobile has taken more people away from the church than any other thing. He concluded with the exclamation: "The Ford car has taken more people to hell than any other thing that I can mention." Whereupon an old lady in the congregation began to clap her hands and moan "Praise the Lord! Praise the Lord!"

"What's the matter, sister?" asked the pastor.

"The Ford never went any place that it couldn't make the round trip, and I am sure that all of those people in hell will be back," she answered. "So praise the Lord."

NO COMPENSATION FOR LIQUOR MEN

Vancouver, Jan. 19.—Application on behalf of persons formerly in the liquor and hotel business in British Columbia for compensation for alleged losses arising out of prohibition was refused today by Mr. Justice Morrison in his capacity as commissioner to enquire into the question of compensation. The commissioner said he resisted "the alluring invitation, extended so seductively by Sir Charles Tupper and A. Dunbar Taylor, to accompany them into the realm of moral law" and since it was conceded by counsel for the claimants that there was "no legal right to compensation," he declined to proceed further with the enquiry.

"Paradoxical as it may seem," commented the commissioner, it was "solely upon the doctrines of morality" that the claimants sought compensation for their losses through prohibition.

Do not forget the I.O.D.E. card party in the G.W.V.A. reading room tonight at 8 p.m. sharp. All ladies who are arranging tables are requested to bring their own cards. Dancing after supper.

SHORT SESSION OF COUNCIL

The first meeting of the new City Council took place on Monday evening with all the members present. Only routine business came before the meeting, after which the following committees were appointed: Finance, Aldermen Rutledge and McEwan; Public Works, Aldermen McEwan and Robichaud; Fire, Water and Light, Aldermen Bean and Rutledge; Park, Aldermen Robichaud and Tulley; Assessment, Mayor G. G. Henderson and Alderman Bean; Health, Aldermen Harrison and Tulley; Court of Revision on Assessment, the whole council.

The next meeting of the council will be held on February 9th.

AN IMPORTANT TIMBER DEAL IS TRANSACTED

An important timber deal has just been completed in the East Kootenay whereby the East Kootenay Lumber Company, Ltd., has sold portions of its extensive holdings to the Crow's Nest Pass Lumber Company, Ltd., and to the eastern directors of that company who will incorporate as a separate company. The holdings sold consist of 10,000 acres of land and timber, and from 15,000 to 20,000 acres of timber in some five blocks, adjacent to Cranbrook, Ft. Steele, Bull River, and Moyie, and the consideration is between $250,000 and $500,000.

The eastern capitalists referred to, who are applying for incorporation, will start a new industry in the Cranbrook district that will mean an investment of at least $1,000,000.

It is expected that the porion of the holdings acquired by the Crow's Nest Pass Lumber company will be developed in connection with that company's big plant at Wardner.

The East Kootenay Lumber company still retains very extensive holdings and will carry on its lumber manufacturing industry at Jaffray as heretofore.

A. B. Macdonald, K.C., of the legal firm of Macdonald & Nisbet, Cranbrook, has all matters in charge for the three sets of parties concerned.

SHIPMENT OF ELK

Livingstone, Mont., Jan. 20.—The first shipment of Elk from Yellowstone Park to a point outside the United States left Gardiner, the northern entrance today, for the Rocky Mountains Park, Banff, Alberta. Two hundred one and two-year-old elk were sent. Howard Siebald, chief game warden for Canadian Parks, accompanied the shipment and promised the park officials to reciprocate by sending mountain goats from Banff to Yellowstone Park if the park authorities desire them.

PRIZES AT A BONSPIEL

The following letter will prove of interest to local and Pass curlers.

Sporting Editor, Calgary Albertan: I notice in the issue of your paper of January 14 an article on the prize list of the Calgary bonspiel, in which you presume to fully advertise the the list for the coming 'spiel.

To me, an old curler, the endeavoring to outstrip one's neighbors, and the advertising thereof, does more harm to the sport of the game than any other single action. If it is money or the value of prizes we are playing for, then the sooner the spirit changes the better it will be for the good old game. Personally, I am in favor throughout Canada of small individual cups being given for first prizes, of the value of $5.00 to $10.00, and wherever this arrangement has been followed, greater interest and more sportsmanship has ensued. I am not endeavoring to in any way knock the Calgary bonspiel, and I consider it the duty of all clubs to assist one another, but it seems to me that when curlers raise vast sums of money, and advertise same as an inducement, then they are clearly getting into the professional class and eventually a rink will figure out in dollars and cents whether it will pay to take a week's holiday and go to a bonspiel.

I will be obliged if you will publish this letter in the next issue of your paper. Sherwood Herchmer.

Fernie, B.C., Jan. 15.

NOTE—The idea of eliminating valuable prizes and merely awarding cups valued at $5.00 or $10.00, as suggested by Mr. Herchmer, of Fernie, has been a lively topic at Winnipeg for years, but, according to the 1920 prize list of the biggest 'spiel in the world, costly prizes will, as usual, be awarded. There are a few curlers who would take in these bonspiels for the love of it, but they are very few. It is the splendid prizes that the curlers go to win, and should they ever be eliminated, the bonspiel would be as lifeless to a curler as a 5 o'clock tea party. The prize list for the Calgary 'spiel is unquestionably wonderful, and that it will bring results is evident by the large number of entries.—Sporting Editor, Albertan.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor Fernie Free Press:

Dear Sir—On Thursday of this week, about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, two members of the North West Mounted Police, armed presumably with a search warrant, entered my house and made a search, when only my wife and little children were at home. I do not know what the search was for and it does not matter. I have been a resident of Fernie since 1902, and this is the first time that my home has been broken into and my family interfered with by the authorities. I did not know that I was under suspicion, and I do not know of anything I have ever done that would render me the subject of suspicion. I am trying to make an honest living for myself and my family and if the Mounted Police have any grievance against me I should like them to tell me about it. I think that I am entitled to ordinary protection and to the ordinary rights of a British citizen.

GREATER FIRE LOSS LAST YEAR

Victoria, Jan. 18.—Statistics covering the forest protection season during 1919 now issued for publication by Hon. T. D. Pattulo, minister of lands, disclosed the fact that the number of fires reported in the province, excluding the railway belt, was 1120. In 1918 the number was 910. The amount of green timber damaged by fire last year totalled 237,000,000 board feet. Out of this quantity it is estimated that 94,000,000 feet will be salvaged, reducing the net stumpage loss in feet board measure to 193,000,000 feet.

The cost of fire fighting during the season is placed by the minister at $153,000, to which is added the cost of patrol, trails, forest fire pumps, cars, launches and fire fighting tools, bringing the total for the year to approximately $330,000.

All the members of the Fernie Curling Club this week received the program for the thirty-second annual bonspiel of the Manitoba Curling Association, which opens on February 10th, in Winnipeg. Fernie will have at least one rink entered and possibly two.

TROUBLE OVER THE INCREASE

(Calgary Herald)

Though full reports are not yet in, it is generally understood that the majority of the miners in District 18 have received the 14 per cent. increase whether they are members of the United Mine Workers of America or not. This at once brings up the question as to whether the operators have broken the contract made with the international, or whether the latter have failed to organize the miners solidly under the banner of the union.

Organizers of the U.M.W. of A., who are in the city today, claim that with the operators paying the increase to all the men, the hands of the international have been weakened that much, as it simply means the men will stay at wark, not having been forced to sign the check-off demanded by the union. On the other hand, the operators appear to be of the opinion that they took the only course open to them to pursue, pay the increase to all, and so avoid a wholesale tying up of many of the mines, which is a situation the operators apparently want to avoid.

So far as is known, those who received the increase are Fernie, Michel, Taber, Coalhurst, Monarch mine (Drumheller,, Brule, Nordegg and Cadomin. None of these, it is said, have signed the check-off. In the Lethbridge district, the miners are pretty well organized under the international, and have therefore signed the checkoff. Mountain Park is still locked out, and there is no change in the situation there.

Clause 5 of order 141, issued by Commissioner Armstrong, reads as follows: "It is further agreed that this contract is made and entered into for the sole use of the members of the United Mine Workers of America, and the members of the Western Coal Operators Association of Canada. All men who work in and around the mines, who are eligible to become members of the United Mine Workers of America, must join that organization, and agree to sign the checkoff for all dues, assessments and fines; and the management of the mines agree to forward deductions made, to the acting secretary of the district, or such other person as that official may designate.

This is the clause which is supposed to bind the operators solidly to withhold the increase from non-members of the United Mine Workers, but following that is a note which says:—

"The foregoing clause to become effective whenever the officials of the United Mine Workers of America appear on the ground in each locality and co-operate with the operators in arranging details."

As the United Mine Workers officials claim this agreement specifically states that the agreement to pay higher wages only applies to members of their organization, and the operators take the view that it is up to the international to organize the men if they want the checkoff signed, the order will have to receive an interpretation as to whether it is being disobeyed or not.

Commissioner Armstrong is still at the coast, and he is expected here on Friday. There will be a conference of the Western Coal Operators on Saturday next, and there is no doubt the question as to the exact application of the order will be brought up.

The international claim practically all of the Drumheller field, though at Wayne the men who belong to the international were the ony ones paid the 14 per cent. increase.

Apart from that, the output from the Drumheller is keeping up to standard, according to late reports received by F. E. Harrison on Monday morning. On Saturday 5,700 tons came out of that field, and considering the weather, this is said to be very fair. An ample supply of cars is said to be hand today.

NEWSPAPERMAN RETIRES

Fred Simpson, of Kamloops, for 22 years a prominent newspaper publisher of B.C., sends out the following letter to the editors of the Province:

"Owing to the condition of my eyes, which have been growing worse for the past year, I am forced, much against my will and natural inclination, to relinquish for good, so far as I know now, newspaper work or go blind. I want to say just a word of good-bye to the boys and an expression of regret over leaving their ranks. Many of you I have known for years, some for a shorter time, and a few only by your papers. I have never had an unkind word from any of you. I owe all of you the deepest debt of gratitude for your uniform courtesy and kindness to me. You have honored me in your editorial association; you have been more than good in your references to me during the twenty-two years that I have been in the business in this province. I want you to know that I am sincerely thankful to you for what you have done for me, and that I wish for you the prosperity that is coming to you and the happiness that is your natural inheritance for the sacrifices you have made.

Sincerely yours, F.E. Simpson."

SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT AT CHRIST CHURCH

Everyone who attended the entertainment given in the basement of Christ church last evening voted it a huge success. The first half of the program consisted of musical items contributed by the War Veterans Concert Party, which were as follows:

Piano Solo, "A Little Ragtime," Fred Bass.
Solo, "In an Old Fashioned Town," W. Riley.
Recitation, "Fact Is," F. Bass.
Mandolin Solo, Miss F. White.
Solo, "A Friend of Mine," J. Riley.
Step Dance, J. Hayes.
Recitation, "The Bridegroom's Speech," Fred Bass.
Mandolin Solo, Miss F. White.
Solo, "Lullaby," J. Riley.

These selections were exceptionally well rendered and as usual were greatly appreciated by the audience as was shown by their hearty applause.

The second half consisted of an amusing little comedy entitled "That Troublesome Tramp," which delighted the audience and called forth many a good laugh.

The part of The Troublesome Tramp was very ably taken by Miss Hilda Minton, who certainly looked as if "sleeping in the fields" was wearing on the clothes. Miss Grace Hart made a typical Englishman monocle n' everything, Miss H. Yolland took the part of Mrs. Gordon, the fascinating widow, who was torn between fear of the tramp and worry over the small son Tommy, which was most capably filled by Con. A. Hamilton of the R.N.W.M.P. His bird's egg and mouse episodes created quite a sensation and his appearance as a dirty, mischief-loving little boy caused a general laugh. The part of Miss Nan Stephens, the object of our monocled friend's devotion, was taken by Miss M. Corsan, whose fame as an actress is very well known in the city and who as usual was at her very best on the stage. The part of Dorothy Gordon, Tommy's aunt, was taken by Miss Helen Booth, whose fear of the mouse appeared very realistic. Last but not least came the gardener, Pat Rafferty, which part was filled by J. Gibson, whose imitation of the brogue misled the audience into believing that he must surely be one of the sons of Erin. We left him still worrying over his "illigint bed of payonies," which that troublesome tramp had "destroyed entoirley." Altogether the audience were thoroughly satisfied by the manner in which they had spent the evening an dexpressed their wishes that the young amateurs would have as great a success in everything in which they took part.

WALDO AND BAYNES I.O.D.E.

The East Kootenay Chapter, Waldo and Baynes, donated $100 towards the War Memorial. The Chapter also donated $10 to the Canadian Institute for the Blind. A Whist drive was given at Baynes in November. The proceeds were $21.

RUSSELL APPEAL FAILS; JUDGES UNANIMOUS

Winnipeg, Jan. 19.—(By Canadian Press)—The Manitoba court of appeal, in a judgment handed down this morning, dismissed the appeal entered by the defense in the R. B. Russell case against the verdict and the sentence passed by Mr. Justice Metcalfe and jury.

The decision was unanimous and the defense will be unable to carry the fight to the supreme court of Canada on that account. The defense counsel, however, can make application for a hearing before the privy council in London, England. No intimation was given as to whether or not this step would be taken.

The thermometer dropped to 19.5 below zero last night. At Lethbridge it was about 30 and in Edmonton it dropped to 42 below.

UNABLE TO WORK FOR EIGHT MONTHS

For Four Years Conductor Could Only Work Half Time—Never Misses An Hour Now.

The remarkable results being obtained from Tanlac is further evidenced in the case of Albert Burgess, a popular conductor on the Winnipeg Electric Railway, who lives at 453 Stradbrook avenue, Fort Rouge. Mr. Burgess called at Liggett's drug store for his fifth bottle of Tanlac, recently, and made the following statement:

"I have been so wonderfully benefited by Tanlac that I wil never stop praising it," said Mr. Burgess. "For the past four years I have not been able to work but about three days a week and have had to spend a good part of my wages trying to get my health back. For eight months, I was unable to do a lick of work and was just barely able to get about. I suffered with awful pains through my forehead all the time and also had spells of dizziness when I would have to catch hold of something to keep from falling. My stomach finally got in such a bad shape that I could scarcely eat a thing and barely enough to keep me alive. What little I did eat soured on my stomach and I suffered terribly from gas and bloating. I took all kinds of medicines, but still I suffered and could not get myself in shape to work more than half time. I would go for weeks at a time without getting more than an hour's sleep at night. My condition was awful and I didn't know what to do for relief.

"At last a friend begged me to try Tanlac, and now I wish I had known about it long ago, for it has really made me feel like a brand new man. I used to suffer with a dreadful hurting in the pit of my stomach, but after taking Tanlac a short time this trouble disappeared and now my stomach is in such a good shape that I can eat just anything I want and never suffer a bit with gas or pain, and my appetite is so big that I can hardly get enough to eat. The pains have not only left my head, but all my misery is gone, and I have not missed an hour from my work since shortly after I began taking Tanlac. I have also gained several pounds in weight, but what I was after was relief, and thanks to Tanlac, I have found it. I can now handle my work as well as when I first got my run seven years ago. It certainly was lucky for me that I got Tanlac."

There's "a woman in the case," even in the U. F. O.'s first political hub-bub.—Stratford Herald.

WHAT WATCHMEN ARE SAYING

A New York newspaper, the Journal of Commerce, prints a compendium of the judgments and counsel of a score or more of noted captains of industry, heads of large banking institutions, merchants and students of history and economics. They are impressively alike in their outstanding analyses of world conditions and prescribed safeguards. High prices, as the Spokesman-Review has often said, spring from a variety of causes:

War's destruction and impaired production.

A worldwide inflation of currency and credits.

Labor's unsettlement and dangerous policy of defending constantly increasing wages along with shortened hours and more or less of an unwillingness to render efficient service.

And increasing demand for commodities, maintained in the face of rising prices.

The remedy is thus tersely stated by Richard S. Hawes, president of the American Bankers' Association: "Unless the American people realize that their extravagances must cease, and return to a fair-minded consideration of expenditures, no material reduction in the present high cost of living will be apparent. Thrift and saving should be encouraged."

J. Phillip Bird, general manager of the National Association of Manufacturers, has the same thought:

"Exhortations to consumer to practice economy and avoid manton, reckless and unnecesseary spending are apparently most futi e. Many classes of our people are and have for some time past been purchasing luxuries and extra comforts which they neither require nor can truthfully afford. The period of rising wage scales and the feel of the fat pay envelope has been largely responsible for a veritable orgy of wasteful spending. It is this very factor that has contributed in no small way to the petty and even wholesale profiteering practices of many retailers. These fundamental economic circumstances offer a weak spot in our national construction that may yet threaten our general prosperity and industrial stability."

Coming west we find George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago, expressing the same thought in these words: "Every one must begin to realize that there are only two ways of cheapening food, fuel, clothing and luxuries. One is by the practice of sensible economy; the joyride of the spenders causes prices to soar higher and higher. The other way, and both are imperative, is to increase production. There can not be much lowering of prices until more goods are made and more food is produced in the world."

James B. Forgan, head of the First National bank of Chicago, adds his testimony: "The unsettled condition of affairs has bred a spirit of living merely for the day and leaving the morrow to take care of itself, so that at a time when saving and economy are a crying need a large section of our population has indulged in indiscriminate expenditure and speculation to an almost unprecedented extent."

A. Barton Hepburn, perhaps the greatest American authority on banking and currency, says "the people are selling their present holdings of bonds at the rate of fifteen to thirty millions a day in Wall street to get funds to invest in what they think will pay them better—unwise speculation mostly—and likely to bring them loss."

Similar quotations could be added, in volume of column upon column of space—all alike in survey, conclusinos and warnings; all admonishing thrift, retrenchment, abstention from speculation on one hand and on the other greater industry and increased production.

Certainly if hard times should come upon the country, and people now rioting in extravagance and indulgence should come to distress, they can not say they were not given timely warning and sound counsel.—Spokesman-Review.

RAIDING REDS AT SEATTLE

Federal agents and police believe that the capture of more than 300 radicals in Seattle Monday night will "break the backbone of radical activities in the northwest." The raid will evoke the usual outcry from revolutionary sympathizers, including the "parlor pinks," that liberty is being strangled in this country and that freedom has grown decadent since the days of Lincoln.

Revolutionaries who want to destroy the government that Washington founded, Lincoln preserved and Roosevelt invigorated glibly invoke the name of Lincoln, an invocation without the slightest warrant. Lincoln had to grapple with disloyal and destructive influences in his day and did it with unfaltering courage. There can be no intelligent doubting that if he were alive today his voice and influence would uphold the righteous service that the government is rendering the country in its vigorous raids and deportations. A paragraph in his fourth annual message fits the present problem exactly and seems a solemn message from the tomb:

"For myself I have no doubt of the power and duty of the executive, under the law of nations, to exclude enemies of the human race from an asylum in the United States."

The government is deporting enemies of the human race—reckless vicious, criminal creatures who are proposing not only the destruction of orderly government, but the wrecking of religious institutions and the abolition of the marriage relation and the home. The government is rounding up for deportation a host of fools and fanatics who, having made a botch and blunder of their own lives, would pull down the foundations of civilization, built with the toil of ages and enriched by the wisdom of countless generations. Their ridiculous appeal to the memory of Lincoln is shocking sacrilege and can only delude the most ignorant and alien elements of population.—Spokesman-Review.

AFTER 20 YEARS

Remarkable Experience of Mrs. R. Ripley

Mrs. Millanor P. Ripley, of Williamsdale, East, has good news for those who suffer from aches and other ailments caused by Kidney Trouble. Read her letter:—

"Before taking Gin Pills I had suffered dreadfully with my back and headaches, and had suffered for 20 years. I tried almost everything but got no relief until I got Gin Pills. I have used 6 boxes and now I have not a trace of a pain or an ache. I am now 48 and feel as well as ever I did in my life."

In Gin Pills, all the valuable diuretic Juniper element in the Gin has been utilized, and the alcohol eliminated. Combined with other highly effective diuretics and antiseptics, Gin Pills present the most scientific and effective remedy for Kidney and Bladder trouble that can be secured. They give sure, quick and safe relief. If you have backache, headache, highly-coloured urine, rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, dizziness, lassitude, floating specks before the eyes, unaccountable uneasiness of mind and general debility, lose no time. Treat yourself with Gin Pills before it is too late. At all druggists and dealers, 50c. Money refunded if not relieved. Free sample on request.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

A NEGLECTED GRAVE

It has been discovered that the grave of "Father Pat," whose name was Rev. Henry Irwin, has been left in a sadly neglected state in a graveyard near New Westminster. "Father Pat" lived in Rossland for years. He was an Anglican minister, and a call from any miner's cabin meant an immediate reply in person, no matter whether it was one or ten miles away in the mountains with snow waist deep on the trail. During his life at Rossland, where there is a beautiful street fountain to commemorate his name, he was what the western people call a real Christian, and sect, creed nor color made no difference to himself where there was suffering or depression that needed his attention. "Father Pat" was a great man for a pioneer country and the good that he did will be remembered by those who know him, regardless of the fact that strangers have allowed his grave to be hidden from the rays of the sun by brambles and other thick growth.—Kamloops Sentinel.

BANK CLERKS IN LABOR UNIONS

Labor organizers have been endeavoring for some weeks past to form unions of bank clerks in Montreal and Toronto. The meetings have been well attended, but comparatively few have joined the new organizations, says the Monetary Times, of Toronto.

It is no secret that during the past two or three years bank employees have shared the discontent which has been widespread, and trades unionism, following up its success in the field of manual work, finds this an opportune time to try to strengthen itself by bringing in clerical workers. Thus far no attempt to organize bank clerks has succeeded, though a considerable one was made about 1911. Because the large amount of purely clerical work, and the fact that the different stages are fairly standardized, success seems quite possible.

But when we go back to examine what has caused the growth of trades unionism, certain differences between factory work and that of bank clerks are apparent. Trades unions arose as the step from the unemployed to the employing classes became increasingly difficult. This was the result of the organization of industry on a large scale; considerable capital was required, coupled with skill and experience in management, finance and marketing. The manual work, on the other hand, became simpler rather than more difficult, because the factory worker as a general rule did not even understand the machine he operated, much less the wider conditions under which the business was conducted. Formerly, the ambitious workman passed from the stage of apprentice to that of journeyman, and from that of journeyman to that of master workman, with little difficulty, because each stage trained him for the next. The new situation meant that he would always be an employee, and in recognition of that fact that all factory workers, and more especially those in a single industry, had interests in common, trades unions were organized and thrived.

This condition is not found in banking, where there is a direct path of promotion from the lowest to the highest rank. Earnings in the earlier years of service are lower than the wages of unskilled labor, because the later years bring indefinitely greater rewards in proportion to ability. The same condition holds good in the clerical departments of other lines of industry as well as in mercantile and financial institutions. Banking work can also be carried on to a comparatively advanced age, and in Canada pensions are provided for retired employees. Considering the early age at which beginners are employed, the financial rewards compare well with those of other occupations. Where a future is assured by certainty of employment, as in the service of the Government and of such large financial institutions as the Canadian banks, earnings in years of prosperity may not be so large as in other lines of endeavor, but over a long period they may be as good if not better.

It is curious to see a labor movement in the banking field, because banks are institutions for the collection and investment of capital. The threat of a tying up of banking service because of a strike would also be a novelty to the public mind. Perhaps it would not be an unmixed evil, however, as the public is always prone to underestimate the usefulness of institutions which have become such an essential part of everyday life.

SMASHERS OF TABLES MARK SPIRIT WORLD

(By Anne Merrill)

In the current issue of Light, an English paper, light in weight only, a man called Jeffrey tells how he "had the pleasure of demonstrating to 14 members of the Glasgow Society of Magicians," of which he is the president, "such intelligent, unseen powers as to convice them of something they had yet to learn. With three incandescent lights full ablaze the following took place.:

"A four-legged mahogany card table (with a shelf) was put in the room. Four of the gentlemen put their hands upon the table, while the others present remained seated. I inquired if our spirit friends (using the usual spelling code) were willing to give a demonstration of their powers. The answer was 'yes,' and after a further catechism the spirit people stated that the four men were to rise to their feet and hold the table firmly down with both hands.

"I, therefore, told the spirit people that they had my sanction and permission to wreck the table into matchwood if they could. In less than a minute that table fell like a pack of cards on the floor of my sitting-room, very much to the astonishment of all who witnessed the proceedings, which can be vouched for if required."

"Only last week," goes on this chronicler, "I commanded a table to push a major of the British army out of the room. A Mr. King was called to the major's assistance, and in less time than it takes me to tell it (also to the surprise of all) both men were pushed out of the room."

In winding up his statement, Jeffrey throws out a challenge in these words: "I am prepared to accept or give an open investigation to any party or body of investigators or scientists who really wish to prove the continuity of life in this way."

Judging the Mileage by the leather in the heel.

NO matter how stylish a boot may appear, the final test in these days of high prices and substitutes is: "How long will it wear?" The life of the heel, for instance, depends upon whether it is solid leather "in the true sense of the word," or not.

To the right of this advertisement, we illustrate the layers of selected leather that are built into the solid, sturdy heel of the LECKIE DRESS BOOT. Likewise, the composition heel of the boot sold on appearances only, and therefore unable to withstand equal wear.

Thus, the LECKIE DRESS BOOT, built throughout on the same principle, gives "more miles per dollar" and offers the greatest combination of endurance, together with comfort, style and economy. Why not choose a boot by its reputation for wear? Ask to see the LECKIE DRESS BOOT.

SOMETHING FOR THE INDUSTRIAL RADICALS

Industrial radicals talk as if they fancied that the world depended entirely on the labor represented by trade unions, and as if organized labor were independent of other workers. "Successful Farming" maintains that unionized labor is dependent on society as a whole and without it would starve and go naked. Its editor says: "We ask city workers to ponder what might happen if the farmer should demand shorter hours and higher pay. He is his own boss. He would not have to quarrel with anybody. He could hold out on strike, for he can feed himself. Suppose the farmer adopted the eight-hour day, and set a price on his labor and product based on an eight-hour scale. Where would city workers get their food? Only the rich could buy it. If living is too high, how will lessened production and increased cost of production bring prices down? If city workers expect the farmer to feed them at former prices, they have to work at former wages and make it possible for the farmer to buy more cheaply. Either the farmer must shorten hours and demand higher pay or city workers must lengthen hours and produce more without pay. What city workers have in common with farmers is less political than economic." There's considerable horse sense in that economic theory of the farmer. Russia provides a concrete illustration of the truth of part of that theory. In that Utopia of radical industrialism the farmer has gone on strike, refusing to produce more than suffices for himself. So the workers in more than one city of Russia fight for bread.

The deported Reds expelled from the United States put up an awful howl over their treatment. They seemed to consider the affair a causus bellow, in fact.—Ottawa Citizen.

PERFORMANCE BY ORCHESTRA

The following article was taken from a McGill Daily and refers to Harold Anderson, who has received the Lindsay Scholarship.

Last night the orchestra of the McGill Conservatorium of Music gave a very excellent programme, which was as follows:

Symphony in B flat, Op. 38..Schumann
Songs—Elizabeth's Greeting (Tannhauser) ..... Wagner
Mrs. Ray Fulkerson.
Pianoforte Solo—Rhapsody No 12, Liszt. Mr. Harold Anderson.
Violin Solo—
Andante Tranquillo ..... De Beriot
Gavotte in E .... J. S. Bach
Mr. Edwin Sherrard.
Orchestral Suite .... Coleridge-Taylor
La Caprice de Nanette—An allegro in 3-4 time in the key of E minor.
Demande et Response—An andante also in 3-4 time, in the key of G major.
Un Sonnet d'Amour—An allegretto in 2-4 time in key of A.
La Tarantelle Fretillante—A presto in 2-4 time in key of G major.
Songs—Jean .... Bierleigh
Le Car .... Flagier
Mr. Harold Roche.
Dance Cosaque .... Tschaikowsky

Though Schumann himself said that description and painting were not part of his intention when writing this Symphony, we find from authentic information given in Litzmann's book on Schumann that the four movements were originally entitled (1) Beginning of Spring, (2) Evening, (3) Merry Companions, (4) Full Spring.

The first movement opens with an introductory andante of thirty-eight bars, containing the theme played by the horns and trumpets, and leading to the Allegro Malto Vivace. The second subject in contrast to the pomposity of the principal subject, is lightly scored and charming in effect. In the development the material is drawn mainly from the principal subject, and after the approach to and restatement of the two subjects, the movement is brought to a close by a smooth and graceful coda.

The second movement, a larghetto in E flat, 3-8 time, is a direct contrast to the first, being less heavily scored. The theme is introduced by the first violins, and after an episodical passage, appears again on the violincello. After a second episode, the oboes play the theme once more. The efficient orchestral treatment of the accompaniment is a feature of each appearance of the theme.

There is no break between the second movement and the third, which is a Scherzo in D minor with two trios. Peculiar rythm and the contrasting of the strings with the woodwind are features of this movement.

The last movement, an allegro animato e graziozo, in 2-2 time, in key E flat, follows without a pause, opening somewhat pompously. The final subject is heard on the strings, followed by another theme on the oboes and bassoon. After reiterations of these two, a third, similar in rythm to the first, makes its appearance. The middle section of the Finale is short and mainly consists of development in constantly changing keys and on different orchestral instruments, the rythmic figure found in the initial bars. In the last section of the movement and before the restatement of the theme in order as they were first presented, a bar or two on the horns succeeded by a short cadenza on the flute arrest the attention, and after the restatement follows the peroration or coda with a quickening of the pace to the end.

Mrs. Fulkerson's song was exquisitely rendered, and it is worthy of note that this is the first appearance for some years of Wagner's music on the concert programme.

We are sure there is a brilliant future in store for Mr. Harold Anderson, who displayed such technical agility and fine musicianship in his masterly rendition of the Liszt Rhapsody. Mr. Anderson was 5 times recalled by the delighted audience.

Mr. Sherrard's playing was equally well enjoyed. The Andante Tranquillo, with its smooth sweet tones, and the charming Bach Gavotte, were each beautifully played.

The following diplomas were then presented by Dr. Perrin:

Mrs. Woolley—Teacher's Licentiate.

Miss Olive Campbell—Teacher's Licentiate.

Harold Ramsbottom — Performer's Licentiate—Organ.

Miss Hazel Hoffman—Performer's Licentiate—Piano.

Miss Ruth Duncan—Performer's Licentiate—Violin.

No English composer has surpassed Coleridge Taylor in ability to write good orchestral music of the lighter order, and this attractive little suite fully upholds his reputation in this respect. It consists of four short movements, and is exceedingly charming.

Mr. Roche possesses a beautifully rich and sonorous voice, and both songs were exceptionally well sung.

Danse Cosaque is a light, fantastic composition, forming part of Tschaikowsky's opera "Mazeppa." After the principal theme is heard first on the violins and repeated by the oboes, a second appears, which is followed shortly by a third of more lyric character. Each theme is them extended and the "Danse" is brought to a brilliant close.

It is to be hoped that the next orchestral concert which is to take place on March 4th, will prove as interesting as this one.

POSITION IS EVERYTHING

Nobody grudges the boys and girls of 1919 their good times. The young people of today have had five years of suppression, five years when their natural, healthy animal spirits have been frowned upon or have just naturally died from the tragedy with which the air was filled.

But now that the war is over, and peace is actually with us, we are all glad to see the young things enjoy their festal hour. During the Christmas season, the dance is the order of the night and we believe that dancing properly conducted and supervised, is as natural and healthy a diversion as walking or skating.

But—sometimes when one watches modern youth indulging in modern dancing, one longs to murmur in the ears of the dancers those well-known lines of Burns:

"Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us
To see ourselves as others see us."

The girl who waltzes about the room with her eyes closed and her head laid on the man's chest or shoulder may fancy she is having a delightfully romantic time but she is providing a delightfully amusing jest for all the onlookers. The girl who places her arm about the neck of the young man with whom she is dancing in what he is apt to irreverently designate as a "strangle hold"; the girl who places her head against the head of her partner or her cheek closely against his cheek—may think she is being up-to-date, but she completely ruins the effect of her dancing, no matter how good that may be.

These affectations are as vulgar as holding hands in the electric car or any other variety of "spooning" in public, which is always a sign of ill-breeding.

The position approved by the best dancing masters is the one which is gracefully correct. The right hand is placed lightly in the man's left hand and the girl's left hand is placed upon the man's right shoulder. This allows enough proximity for good dancing, but not enough to become objectionable to good taste.

You've heard that trite expression, "position is everything," used of many things. Think of it when you dance and don't make yourself ridiculous, cheap or common by your attitude.—Exchange.

RUSSELL CASE TO GO TO THE PRIVY COUNCIL

Winnipeg, Jan. 20. — (Canadian Press.)—The case of R. B. Russell, convicted strike leader, whose appeal for a reserve case was denied by the Manitoba court of appeal, will be taken to the privy council to determine the standing of trades unionism in Canada and incidentally to determine the guilt of Russell, according to formal announcement by J. Law, secretary of the labor defense league this afternoon.

(Wnnipeg, Jan. 20. — (Canadian Press.)—Two motions were announced when the second session of the assizes opened at noon today to try the seven remaining strike leaders charged with seditious conspiracy. Defence consel, W. Holland, stated that owing to the wide publicity given to the R. B. Russell trial, and arguments in the court of appeal, it would be impossible to get an unprejudiced jury, and it was desired to have the case stood over for a considerable time.

Mr. Justice Metcalfe said notice should have been given before 250 jurymen had been called from their homes; and that unless reports in newspapers were shown to be inaccurate there could be nothing in this motion. The second motion, presented by E. J. McMurray, defense counsel, provides for the challenging of the whole array of 250 jurymen. This will be argued late this afternoon.

With one exception the new defense counsel are entirely different from that which defended R. B. Russell. R. A. Bonnar, K.C., is assisted by W. Holland and E. J. McMurray.

THE PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

At the Parent-Teachers meeting on Vednesday afternoon, Dr. Garner gave a most interesting and instructive address in the child welfare series on "The Care of the Baby." He described the growth and development of the child from its earliest life to the age of two years and the care required at each stage.

The doctor impressed the need of teaching music in the schools as a means of raising the moral tone of the race.

The meeting later passed a resolution favoring government aid in the form of mothers' pensions and maternity benefits. One member described the working of such an Act in Alberta, where the government pays to mothers left without support for their children a sum not exceeding that paid per child to an institution, or about $8 per month.

The Association proposed to start agitation for a small park or playground for the children. With so many vacant lots in Fernie, it is difficult to see why one should not be utilized. A stout plank and a block of wood make an excellent see-saw. A couple of the large poles so numerous in our environs could be set up to hold a swing rope. A load of sand in one corner and you have provided hours of healthy amusement for the little folks at no great cost to anyone.

The next meeting of the Parent-Teachers will take the form of a social evening in the United Church basement on Wednesday evening, Feb. 18, when the fathers can come also and join in the informal discussion of the different problems. There will be a short program and refreshments will be served. Anyone interested in child welfare is welcome.

HOCKEY

On Saturday last the junior hockey team visited Coleman and had a close match with the team of that town. Our lads were defeated by a score of 8—6. On Wednesday the Coleman boys played a return game here. Up to half time it was a good exhibition, score standing 1—0 in favor of Fernie, but in the last half of the game things began to move and the final score was 8—4 in favor of the visitors.

Coleman was by far the superior team, their advantage in weight proving a big factor in winning both their games. By gameness and trick stick handling the lighter Fernie team made them extend themselves to the limit, Coleman's staying powers winning in the last period when they tallied five times.

City Hockey League:

When the soft weather made us put the winter game on the shelf, the League standing was a dual tie, two teams tied for first honors, the other two in the cellar. The next game scheduled will be pulled off tonight, between 7 and 8 o'clock, when the Monarchs and Millionaires will see who can keep out of the basement. On Monday the Nationals and Shamrocks will battle it out for the leadership. All games are played between 7 and 8 o'clock before skating. Come down a little earlier and get a line on what we have to make our senior team.

The senior team has been lined up and have been hard at practice whenever ice permitted. All are going in top form now and will satisfy anyone who would like to look at fast hockey. On Sunday they play their first game, when they journey to Michel. They are trying to make arrangements for a return game by next Wednesday.

No word has been received from the ladies camp yet, outside of expectation for their return game. However keep your eyes open for both these announcements.

ALICE BRADY IN "THE INDESTRUCTIBLE WIFE"

"The Indestructible Wife" with Alice Brady, which Select Pictures presents at the Orpheum theatre on Monday and Tuesday, is a story of an an athletic young wife whose husband becomes tired after playing one set of tennis. Charlotte Ordway, the strenuous bride of Jimmy Ordway, brings her young husband back from their honeymoon exhausted after the strenuous life she has made him lead.

Jimmy decides that something must be done with Charlotte to tire her out. One day he meets Brandy, a professional athlete and an old college friend of his. He sees in him just the person to do the trick.

Brandy finds in the indefatigable Charlotte a woman after his own heart—the first female he has ever met who can go as long as he can. Jimmy, left alone, consoles himself by making love to Julia Cleves. Brandy tells Charlotte about Jimmy's little affair and suggests that Charlotte leave her husband and marry him. Charlotte is loath to believe that Jimmy is in love with another woman until Brandy proves it to her, by showing her Jim and Julia sitting together in a corner of the arbor. Charlotte upbraids Jimmy.

Jim decides to tame Charlotte as Petruchio tamed the Shrew. He lasses her and carries her off in an automobile to his boathouse, where he ties her up. Charlotte secretly enjoys the situation. Brandy takes it all in earnest and decides to rescue her. First, however, he indulges in familiarities of an objectionable character. Charlotte bursts her fetters and throws Brandy down the boathouse steps into the water. Jim sees him fall in and comes rushing to his wife. He seizes her in his arms and by means of apologies, kisses and explanations all is made smooth sailing.

Lethbridge Herald: Whether the influence of the O.B.U. has been killed or not in Fernie, the following information received by the Herald is significant. In the payments of the 14 per cent increase, the miners in receipt of the same had to sign a statement. This statement placed the increase in the way of a bonus which the operators could withdraw if they thought fit should it be discovered that the recipients were not members of the International. This was evidently a precaution taken until the whole matter was definitely settled. The O.B.U. followers in Fernie made a protest against the signing of the statement, urging the miners not to sign the same. The statement was nevertheless signed by the miners. At a meeting called to go into the question, as among the rival affiliations, only seven O.B.U. men turned up.

NOW A TRUSTED WATCHMAN

At 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 19, 1900, Pat Crowe peered over the edge of a high embankment on a lonely road near Omaha, Nebraska, and saw approaching Edward A. Cuddahy, father of the boy whom he had kidnapped, and whom he was holding for $25,000 ransom. As per Pat's explicit written instructions, tossed into the Cuddahy yard the night before, the packing magnate displayed prominently on his buggy a red lantern. As per those same instructions, Cuddahy sr. was alone.

Following Crowe's carefully-planned schedule, the distracted father pulled up his horse beside a lantern hanging beside the road, carefully turned his horse around and alighted. He tugged at some thing heavy in the bottom of the buggy for a moment then appeared in the dim light, carrying a bulky sack. This he deposited at the base of the stick from which the lantern hung, immediately re-entered his buggy and drove off at top speed toward Omaha.

Crowe furtively watched him out of sight and sound, apprehensively looked and listened, first this way, then that, heaved a sigh of relief and plunged to the road below. Stopping only to assure himself that the ransom was in gold, as per his instructions, and that it would assay at approximately the stipulated sum, he set off cross-lots toward South Omaha to liberate the captive and speed his own getaway.

At 6.30 p.m. on Dec. 19, 1919, Pat Crowe, watchman at the now abandoned Salvation Army hut in Union Square, New York, and perforce his own chambermaid, housekeeper and cook, poised a choice porterhouse steak over a sizzling skillet, eyed it appraisingly and then placed it deftly to broil. In the intervening nineteen years, Pat, a master butcher by trade, has become not only a meat connoisseur of sorts, but has also lived a life more varied by far than fall to the lot of many men.

For six of those years, altho there was a reward of $50,000 for him, dead or alive, Crowe successfully eluded the police of the world, served with the British army in South Africa during part of the Boer war, deserted, returned to his old haunts in the west, figured in numerous bank, train and other robberies, and, finally, deciding that the game was not worth the candle, made up his mind to reform, and voluntarily surrendered himself in Butte, Montana.

At 50, Crowe is not proud of his early life. It is necessary to have more than a passing acquaintance with him if he is to talk about his record. Otherwise, he quickly leads the discussion into remote channels. But on the particular evening in question, Pat was in a more than ordinary communicative state. Perhaps it was because it was the anniversary of his famous coup. Or perhaps it was due to the steak.

That afternoon it was inadvertantly learned, Pat's larder had gotten very low. His available funds were in a similarly depleted condition. He had been working for the Salvation Army but little more than a week, and his first salary had gone to redeem a much-needed overcoat and a treasured timepiece. Therefore, a shopping tour was in order. Steak, bacon, butter, bread, cheese, dill pickles and such other staples as the tradesmen in that non-residential section could provide were purchased. It transpired that Pat had been subsisting on coffee and doughnuts for two days. Small wonder the juicy porterhouse loosed the well-springs of conversation.

It was after he had the cut nicely seared on both sides, steak, that Pat bethought himself of the time, and remembered that it was 19 years almost to a minute since he had secured the ransom money. For a fleeting second the old light of triumph and exultation shone on his face and his eyes danced. Then came a thoughtful look, and Pat bent over his steak.

When he straightened up, it was done to a turn, and further discourse had to be foregone. After the last luscious bite had disappeared, Pat pushed back from the table in his improvised diningroom, produced a little round box of snuff and took two pinches.

"Got to using this during the influenza epidemic last year," he said. "Don't know whether it helped or not, but anyhow I didn't have the 'flu'. Funny it's a crime to have snuff in your possession in Dakota. Yes, sir, they'll put you in the 'pen' if they find it on you."

Whether Pat's assertion is correct or not, I do not know, but in any event probably from force of habit, he makes it a point to keep informed about delicate points of the law. For example he kidnapped Edward A. Cuddahy, Jr., who was seventeen years old at the time, because there was no severe penalty for kidnapping any one of that age.

"But after I got the money," said Crowe, "almost every state in the Union put through stringent laws covering this crime. Believe me," and Pat smiles, "tickle the feet of the golden god and you get action! Every rich man with children in the country felt his money was threatened, and legislatures everywhere took the action that would protect the wealthy."

"What is the real story of the kidnapping of young Cuddahy, and what led up to it?" Pat was asked.

The old man laughed, "Let me begin at the beginning of things," he said, "that will give you a better perspective.

"I was born in Iowa, in Scott county, in 1869. My father was a farmer and there was never too much to eat around our sod house. My mother was a real mother and as religious as could be, devoted to the Holy Church. There were priests in our family. There wasn't a day that I failed to say my prayers, and until I was 12 there wasn't a better behaved kid in the country.

"Then mother died and things began to go wrong. I'm not offering an alibi, just stating a fact. I let the prayers slide and got to chasing around with tough kids, and finally landed a job in a packing house at South Omaha. From the packing house job to a small butcher shop of my own was but a step. I did well for a while until Ed Cuddahy opened up a retail market near my store in connection with his packing house. That soon put me out. Then after a time Cuddahy offered me the job as manager of his store. If truth be told I was not over particular in accounting for all the change in the cash drawer. Cuddahy got on to it and fired me.

"After that for a while I just drifted. Sometimes I had a job, sometimes I was out of work. Always I needed money, and finally I got an idea; to get it I would kidnap Cudahy's young son and hold him for ransom. To help me put over the job I picked up a partner, Jim Callahan.

"We talked over the scheme and fixed the ransom at $25,000 in gold. We studied out every detail, even to renting an unoccupied house on the outskirts of Omaha, situated upon a promontory from which every approach could be spied upon by us.

"The Cudahy family lived in a fine mansion at Thirty-ninth and Harney streets. On December 18, 1900 at 7 p.m., Jim Callahan and I went to the house and hung around outside until young Ed, then about 16, came out of the house. We walked up to him and I clapped a hand on his shoulder.

"'Magee,' I said, throwing back my coat lapel and flashing a big tin star "we want you. Don't make any fuss but come along like a little gentleman.'

"The kid looked at us as if we were crazy. There was no scare in him He was game.

"'What's the matter with you two,' he said. 'My name's not Magee.'

"'Tell that to the chief,' I said gruffly. 'Come now, we've no time to waste.'

"Eddie came along like a little lamb. We picked up our horse and bugyy and drove out to the Grove street house. It didn't take the kid long to sense what was doing. On the way out he said:

"'I'm on. The Magee stuff was a fake. You fellows are after some of the old man's money.'

"'Well, what about it?' asked Callahan. 'Do you think we'll get it?'

"'Sure,' said Eddie. 'The old man thinks a lot of me. Give me the makings!'

"When we got to the old house we put the kid in a clean room, where there was a cot, a bucket of fresh water, supper ready to eat, and a book or two as I remember. There wasn't a harsh word spoken on either side. I think the kid enjoyed the adventure of the thing. I told Callahan to keep an eye on the door, but not to bother the boy, and let him do pretty much as he pleased.

"'I'm going out a while, Eddie,' I said. 'Don't do anything foolish.'

"'Not me,' said the kid. This is between you and the old man.'

"I had written a letter, which told Edward A. Cudahy that it would cost him $25,000 in gold to get his son back; that the coin must be placed in five sacks and deposited at a certain spot in the Fremont road, where a light would be burning—a lantern; that when he saw the light he should get out of his buggy and examine it, and if it showed three color stripes, red, white and black, same as I had daubed on the letter, he was to leave the five sacks of gold by the roadside and drive straight home. I assured him that the boy would be returned to him that night, which would be the night of Dec. 19.

"I drove back to the city, and as I went by the Cudahy mansion tossed the letter, which was tied to a stick, over the fence and into the yard. It was found the next monring. When I got back, young Cudahy was sound asleep and Callahan was stewed. Eddie could have got away forty times.

"Early next night I went for the money, and, sure enough, there was the gold, five sacks of it, and not a sign or sound of the police. When I returned to the house with the ransom, Callahan was soused again. and Eddie, tilted back in a chair, was looking at him.

"'Did you get the money?' he asked.

"'Right here,' I said showing him the bags of gold.

"'All right, then; let me go home,' said the lad.

"We went straightway, driving to within a few blocks of the Cudahy mansion. I slipped a blindfold from Eddie's forehead and asked him if he knew just where he was. 'Sure,' he said, 'My house is just over there. Goodbye.'

"That's all there is to the story."

Crowe's ransom money had long since gone when he drifted to New York this winter and secured his present job with the Salvation Army, and he is said to be one of the most faithful watchmen that ever swung a night stick. For Pat has reformed since his old days, he admits that he was down on his luck when the Salvationists came to the rescue, but he says that he returned to the Army more from choice than necessity.

"About thirty years ago, he stated, "I was 'jugged' in a certain western city. That was back in the earlier days of the Salvation Army, and many people misunderstood their principles and their practices. Just why I do not know, but anyhow a Salvation Army officer in that city had been arrested for holding a street meeting.

"He was my cellmate. So you see, I know the Salvationists are good people, for I have lived with them."

—By Gilliams.

A directional wireless station is to be installed on the west coast of Vancouver Island by the Dominion Government in the near future. A chain of these stations is planned for the Pacific Coast of the United States and it is most probable that the British Columbia equipment will work in conjunction with one or two of the nearest United States installations. The directional wireless equipment, while yet in the experimental stage, has proved a great aid to navigation on the Atlantic coast. The new station will be able, by co-operating with other installations, to give to a ship off the coast her position with astonishing accuracy.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Home, Sweet Home

A wanderer stood in the darkened street, looking through the window at a happy family within. The scene pictured the longing in his soul for the home he did not have.

The man slipped away unseen, and one day wrote a song—the song of his soul. And this song became immortal; the most beautiful and pathetic heart-song that the world has ever known.

The man was John Howard Payne, and the song is "Home, Sweet Home."

NEW EMPIRE EGYPT TO INDIA

Haifa, Palestine.—The Anglo-French tangle in Syria has already got into the papers, but the stakes for which the British are playing in Syria are not at all easy to decide upon. British officers themselves do not know the game which is being played. They are dealt their cards and they play them, asking no questions. Only Cairo and London know what British high poliscy in Syria is.

The British Cape-to-Cairo-to-Calcutta scheme of empire should be remembered a san essential background for an understanding of British high policy in Syria. Before the war the Suez Canal, "the most strategic spot in the British Empire," was bulwarked on the eastern side only by the sands of the Siani desert. East of the Siani desert lay the old Ottoman empire, and the defence of the canal was secured there through the British embassy at Constantinople.

The Cape- to- Cairo- to- Calcutta scheme was then a dream. Today, however, the British have secured as a result of the war, a solid strip of contiguous territory from the Cape to Cairo, and with Persia coerced into the Anglo-Persian treaty, with Mesopotamia and Palestine occupied, and with control achieved over the Hedjaz and Yemen in the Arabian peninsula, the vast scheme is on the point of becoming a reality. Already a British railway is in large part constructed between the Cape and Cairo, and its completion is only a matter of time. Between Cairo and Calcutta, however, the knitting together of the new British possessions by a British railway must be provided for. The Bagdad railway is in British hands, but thus far it is not completed, and the question of ultimate British control over it is not at all decided.

Syria occupies a position on the map which makes it the peak of the Cape- to- Cairo- to- Calcutta scheme. British high policy there is conditioned upon British mandates over Palestine and Mesopotamia. It insists on the retention of the yet undeveloped part of Haifa in Palestine, and of control over the great railway junction of Aleppo in Northern Syria.

Control over Aleppo would give Britain a rail route from Cairo via Haifa to the Bagdad railway, and thence to Mesopotamia and ultimately to the far east. Already the British are prepared for the construction of a cut-off from Haifa direct to Rayak and thence to Aleppo—a fact which may shed some light on Britain's unwillingness to permit the French to get into the hinterland.

Control over Aleppo is conditioned upon the recognition of the claims of the new Arab state, which the British have set up in Damascus, and which they are now subsidizing. It is my own opinion that the statement of British high authorities that Britain does not want Syria north of Palestine is strictly correct. Any effort to secure such a mandate would arouse the resentment of the Arabs, and the Arabs for the first time is a centurp or so, are fully armed.

A British Palestine, buffered by a British controlled Arab state extending to Aleppo—this is the British policy in Syria. As for the French, what happens in the Lebanon is immaterial. The port of Damascus is to be Haifa, and the French may twiddle their thumbs in Beirut as long as they please. For as long as the French hold the coast, the new Arab state will be deprived of a port, which will prevent it becoming uncomfortably strong.

Haifa is of interest to the British, not only on account of its railway possibilities, but also on account of its naval possibilities. The Palestine military railway now runs direct from the Suez canal to Haifa, and a railway across the Syrian desert direct to Mesopotamia has already been projected. The fact that Haifa is to be the port of Damascus instead of Beirut, may be looked upon as incidental. Haifa is to be the port for Mesopotamia as well, and the terminus of a pipe line which is to transport Mesopotamia oil direct to the British navy in the Mediterranean. Already plans have been drawn secretly by the British for the development of the commodius bay of Haifa into a great naval base. The estimated cost is $10,000,000, and there is ample room for naval and merchant craft in the bay. The whole thing is down on paper, even to the docks, warehouses and railroad spurs. All that it waits on is the signature of a treaty of peace with Turkey.

This game, if it wins out in Syria, will give the British two routes from Cairo to Bagdad on the way to Calcutta. One will be Cairo to Haifa to Rayak to Aleppo to Bagdad. The other will be Cairo to Haifa to Hit (on the Euphrates) to Bagdad. Construction has not started on the latter route, but if it does start, it will be as simple a proposiion as the construction of the Palestine military railway across the Siani desert.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

MAKE LAWS AGAINST "REDS"

The United States is taking no chances, for it is fast making its laws water-tight in respect to banishing the "Reds" from the land of the free and home of the brave." As this is being written, a most drastic sedition bill is before Congress, containing firmer laws than were ever dreamed of in the Republic up to this time. Indeed, they are such that, if enacted here, would place a gag in the mouths of many of our favorite orators and put out of business some of our publications. The terms death and deportation stand out boldly in the bill. For instance, if an innocent person is killed as the result of a riot attending a movement to overthrow the Government, or prevent the carrying out of the laws or the decree of the courts, the death penalty may be invoked against those taking part in the disturbances. The bill further makes it a misdemeanor to exhibit in a public place a red flag or other emblem which tends to incite or indicate a purpose to overthrow the government.

All associations, societies or other bodies which teach, advise or favor the overthrow of government, or those who lend their buildings or quarters to this end, are also guilty of a felony, according to this bill. One aim of the bill is to get after the "parlor Bolshevists," who are thereby prevented from giving aid in any form whatever, being subject to heavy fines and imprisonment. Under the bill all convicted aliens are to be deported, while guilty citizens will be imprisoned, heavily fined and denied the right to hold any office under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government.—in other words, they will lose their citizenship.

For the publication that supports the Red movement in contravention of the existing Government, there is a red hot pickle, in the shape of imprisonment and deportation carried on by foreigners. Judging from appearances, there is going to be no nonsense about this Bolshevik business which, as the recent raids by Government officials indicate, has become very real indeed.—Saturday Night.

MINERS SHIFT THEIR JOBS

A lot of striking coal miners who are out at Minto, N.B., owing to their not agreeing with the findings of a conciliation board, have displayed more common sense than is usual at such times. In place of hanging around Minto, loafing their time away, they have all found jobs in other communities, mainly in the Spring Hill, N.S., and Cape Breton mines, thus doing away with the necessity of being supported by strike funds of the United Mine Workers. This also means that while the individual mine at Minto may suffer from lack of production, and the town incidentally loses most of its population, mines in other localities will "buck up" owing to increased man power. Strikes would not be so destructive to the community as a whole if this precedent was generally followed. It does not make much difference where a fellow works, so long as he does work.—Saturday Night.

TO BRING DOWN PRICES

Mr. Palmer, Attorney-General of the United States, gives in the New York "Independent" a message on "How to Bring Down Prices." He says that American speculators, figuring on an enormous foreign demand jammed supplies into the warehouses, which, according to conservative estimates, recently contained a billion pounds of food, while the highest point reached during the war was 700,000,000 pounds. The demand was not as high as was expected, and speculators were forced to unload at a loss. The Government also is trying to curb the profiteers, but it requires the co-operation of the people.

The people are asked to enter upon a campaign of conservation and economy such as that which did so much to win the war. Now there must be a war not only against high prices but against hunger and starvation in the cities and towns of the United States. The Attorney-General pleads for less expenditure on luxuries, so as to allow labor to be diverted to the production of necessities. And he asks also for a limitation of the demand for necessities. He urges increased production, and gives a warning against industrial strife. The advice is all good and equally applicable to this country.

Last year the membership of the U.F.O. was 25,000; this year it is 48,000; next year it is confidently expected that it will be 75,000. Illustrating the exceeding successfulness of success.—Hamilton Herald.

Pure Milk!

—a Guarantee plus a Guarantee

Purity at the source—purity at the dairy—purity in the condensary—purity in every step is not enough for Borden. In addition every batch of Borden's St. Charles Milk must pass a searching test by competent chemists before a single can is released to the trade.

Sealed in sterilized cans—with part of the natural moisture removed—Borden's St. Charles Brand remains pure and sweet indefinitely. After opening, it should be cared for the same as fluid milk.

St. Charles Brand is the handy milk—the ever-ready milk—the milk of known and guaranteed purity. Get a supply from your grocer today. Use it in all your cookery which requires milk.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

Jim Thistlebeak says if you overestimate a thing you are apt to suffer a ratio of diminishing returns. The municipal elections throughout the Pass towns were a surprise to a great many. A Sunday school teacher, not one hundred miles from Elko, was describing heaven to her class as follows: "The walls are jasper; the gates are pearls; the streets are pure gold; the flowers never die; it has no night; no one is ever hungry, nor unhappy, neither does anyone there do wrong, nor lie, nor steal. Now children, what little boys and girls go there?" There was a long silence; then a sad-faced little fellow said: "Dead ones."

There's many a smile that wouldn't show.
And many a time we'd never know
How near we are to friendship's glow
If all of life were May.

The travelers are getting back on the road again. Last week we had a few; just a few. Jack Richardson, of Nelson; Hipperson from the same burg; Fred Starkey, made famous and who still lives there; a lady saleslady, with corn silk hair, selling peanut butter and Ole Maggy Ann, went south to Spokane, said she was going to get a snap shot of some of the men that won the war. The genial and ever refreshing Walter Harwood, of the Fernie Brewery; his first appearance since the big Elko fire. Walter says that if you feel that you must have something besides good spring water, and root beer fails to relieve that tired feeling, then turn to buttermilk; it never changes; bring on the buttermilk. Charlie Bublolz, of Calgary, with Blackwoods Medicinal Waters and sheepherders delight; Senator Joe MacKnight, with a full line of tobaccos and other kinds of fumigating weeds; said the price of tobacco was going up not only in smoke but in price. Taylor, of the Pat Burns Co., who is making fast friends while some people would be getting acquainted, right there behind the goods; ancient or modern his manner, cheerful, tactful, patient and winning. Several calendar peddlers and several Federal United States spotters who should be down in Mexico protecting American citizens, several others that just passed through to the mill towns south, with Laird of Aberdeen. If you want to meet them come to Elko, the hub of South East Kootenay. Its the gateway to the famous Tobacco Plains and the Roosville Valley, where the dollars grow on the trees, and the milk that thick the cream cant even get to the top.

The newspapers tell us that the increase of divorces are startling. Jim Thistlebeak says that kises don't last but good cooking does. You never see a wife that can keep the children nice and clean and a good meal for her husband when he comes home for it, figure in the divorce court. This might sound Irish but its a fact. What the world needs right today to reduce the high cost of living is more producers. A father gave his son twenty-five cents for every morning he would get up at four o'clock to study. The first dollar the boy got he spent for an alarm clock. At twenty two he died in a sanitorium. Had he gven that boy twenty five cents to get up and work in the garden he would have been living yet, producing something. We are raising too many snobs, deadheads and spendthrifts.

Frank Allen, of the Elk Hotel, is some weather prophet. He's got them all beat, and hits the nail on the head every time. On January the 11th, the bush men were wishing it would snow and Big Frank told them they would get no snow until the following Sunday between 8 and 9 o'clock. Sunday the 8th, they were making fun of him; Sunday afternoon, when the sun was shining; but at three minutes past 8 the snow came.

On account of the mild weather and the bad roads, the logging camps and prop camps are all closing down, and the big demand for these goods will make the price all the same lumber—go up.

Mrs. Ken. Foster, wife of the Government Vet. at Newgate, B.C., was interred at Roosville cemetery on Saturday, January 17th. The doctor is also very sick at his residence at Newgate.

Fourteen automobiles passed over the road between Elko and Fernie last week. Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Brown, of Wardner, took a party from Elko to Fernie and return on the 14th. It's the only feasible route for the National Highway. It is through the Crow's Nest Pass. Its the all year route, with the best scenery and the best and most reasonable accommodations thrown in.

The last we heard of Fred Starkey, he was living in Nelson, B.C.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The social committee of the Club up here announce a grand social for this evening commencing at 9 p.m. Commons Big Four will provide the music. Refreshments.

Another success attended the efforts of the committee in charge of the "light fantastic" in the social dance held in the Club hall on Friday last. Mrs. McGregor provided the music.

The social committee are to be complimented for their unselfishness in cancelling the dance originally billed for the 26th inst., in order not to clash with the advertised dance of the G.W.V.A. and Ladies Auxiliary.

Whilst dealing with the social life of the camp we are asked to announce that the Ladies Chapter Loyal Order Moose have engaged the Club room for a social on Tuesday, Feb. 3rd. Notice will be posted on bulletin board.

The bird of the elongated legs was seen in the neighborhood of Coyote street on Sunday last, depositing a wee kiltie at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Thornton.

Dr. Asselstine paid a professional visit to the camp during last week end.

Gilbert Page, of Riverside avenue, is reported as being successfully operated on in Fernie hospital. We hope for a speedy recovery.

Our local tonsorial artist seems to have been busy lately as we notice several of our sports have parted with their upper lip alfalfa.

We have several budding would be Paderewskis in camp, as evidenced by the recent shipment of pianos into the camp.

Sounds of merriment emanated from the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Fowler during last week end, when they entertained a number of friends to a social gathering. Messrs. Patterson and Worthington dispensed appropriate music with piano and violin.

Mrs. R. Billsborough and daughter were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Worthington on Sunday last.

Owing to the shortage of railroad cars the afternoon shift was idle on Wednesday.

The G.W.V.A. Concert Party have engaged the Grand Theatre for Feb. 17, when they intend to put on a big show, consisting of variety turns, sketches, etc. As these boys have always shown a willingness to assist any cause or project, it is hoped the public will reciprocate and assist the boys to clear off their debt for costumes, etc. Box plans will be open at McLean's drug store in a few days.

SEVERE PENALTY NEEDED

In connection with a regrettable affair at Golden, the coroner's jury brought in the following verdict and rider:

"The said Herbert Blakley came to his death on the 17th day of December, 1919, at about four miles from Castledale, from a gunshot wound in the head, fired from the rifle in the hands of one Pierre Legace and we the said jury consider that the said Pierre Legace did not use sufficient precaution to satisfy himself as to the object at which he was shooting. We the said jury are of opinion that the frequency of occurrences of this nature in the past call for some drastic measure to be taken by the government with a view to lessening their number by punishment of offenders who by recklessness, amounting to criminal negligence, shoot at objects without being absolutely certain that the object is not a human being. Some penalty would in our opinion have a salutory effect in making hunters more careful."

CANADA GETS RID OF "REDS"

Montreal, Jan. 20.— (By Canadian Press.'—Lieut.-Col. W. E. Date, commandant of the camp for alien enemies at Kapuskasing, back here on furlough, stated yesterday that while the United States newspapers had made much ado about a shipment of several hundred "Reds" to Europe, the Canadian government had been carrying on this work quietly but effectively for over a year past. During the past year well over a thousand alien enemies had been shipped from Canada and more were yet to go. They included Austrians and Germans chiefly, and a certain number of Russians. These parties were sent under guard to Rotterdam or other ports from which easy access could be secured to central European parts.

About one hundred of the Winnipeg "Reds" had thus been deported who had been gathered in during the troubles at Winnipeg last June by the Royal Northwest Mounted Police and sent in batches to Kapuskasing, whence they were shipped across the Atlantic.

Lieut.-Col. Date said there were at present only abou one hundred alien enemies at Kapuskasing together with a few hundred in camps in other parts of the country who would be sent home at the earliest opportunity.

INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS 1919.

The amount of compensation and medical aid awarded under the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Act during the year 1919 was $4,057,696.-68, as compared with $3,883,994,84 during 1918, though the total number of accidents reported was only 44,260 in 1919, as against 47,848 in 1918. The increase in amount of awards is by reason of increased benefits under amendments to the Act, and increase of wages. The number of fatal accidents was 429, as against 440 in 1918. The number of accidents during the first nine months on 1919 was less, but during the last three months greater than in 1918, indicating recent increase in industrial activity.

INTERNATIONAL GETS STRONGER

Misunderstanding regarding order 141 was discussed at length Monday morning at a conference held in the office of the director of coal operations between representatives of the Western Coal Operators' Association the United Mine Workers of America and W. H. Armstrong, coal director. At its conclusion The Calgary Herald was informed that an arrangement satisfactory to all parties concerned was reached.

Reports received from different parts of District 18 show that the United Mine Workers are steadily gaining ground in their work of organization. Mountain Park camp, which was partially on strike, is now wholly for the United Mine Workers, and operating as usual. Organizers in the north report steady progress at the different camps.

Information from Drumheller also indicates that with the exception of two camps all are solid for the international. The Lethbridge district continues to improve and the One Big Union is steadily losing ground in that area. Organizers are at work at Fernie and satisfactory results are anticipated. Corbin mine in that district is 100 per cent. United Mine Workers.

MINIMUM WAGE BOARD TO RE-OPEN QUESTION

The reopening of the minimum wage question as it applies to female employees of telephone and telegraph companies has been decided upon by the Minimum Wage Board, which has fixed Tuesday, February 3, as the date for the conference at which the points to be considered will be discussed. The conference will be held at Vancouver, in the board's offices, 824 Vancouver Block.

The minimum wage for female employees of telegraph and telephone companies was fixed last year by the board at $15 per week. The companies do not object to this rate, but they do object to the restricting of the Minimum Wage Act respecting apprentices. They say that the telephone and telegraph businesses are not strictly those to which the regulations governing apprentices can be applied, as they do not require long training of a technical or semi-technical nature to qualify girls to competently operate. The Act now limits apprentices to one in seven employees, and this regulation has, the companies say, resulted in their being unable to secure a sufficient number of girls to enter as operators.

Mr. J. D. McNiven, chairman of the board, stated yesterday that, while the board has no power to alter the present apprenticeship regulations in the Act, it can hold the conference, and, should the decision of the conference be that telephone and telegraph companies are not properly businesses to which the apprenticeship regulations should apply, then regulations governing that particular class of employees can be made. The conference will be able to decide what is an adequate rate to be paid to such inexperienced employees though the minimum rate already fixed for experienced employees will not be altered.

The board will also reopen the case of female employees in the mercantile industry. That class was the first to be dealt with by the board following its organization, a minimum rate of $12.75 being fixed. It is conceded that this weekly rate is too low in view of existing conditions, and at the request of the Retail Clerks' Association the board has consented to hold another conference, at which the matter will be further considered. This conference will be held after that at Vancouver dealing with the telephone and telegraph employees, but the date has not yet been set.

I.O.D.E.

The card party and dance given by Mt. Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. last Friday evening in aid of the I.O.D.E. National War Memorial, proved a great success both socially and financially, the handsome sum of $66.00 being realized.

The prizes in Bridge were won by Mrs. Watson taking ladies prize and Mr. Watson walked off with the gentleman's prize. The prizes in Five Hundred were won by Miss Todd, the ladies prize, and J. Falconer the gentleman's prize.

Dancing was engaged in for a short time, Mr. Bass supplying the music.

The I.O.D.E. wish to thank the following friends for their generous donation of prizes:

Mrs. J. D. Quail, ladies prize in bridge, hot water pitcher.

Mrs. J. R. Wallace, ladies prize in Five Hundred, pair ladies silk stockings.

We wish to acknowledge also the following personal donations to the I.O.D.E. War Memorial: Dr. Workman $5.00; Mrs. R. W. Wood, $5.00.

Further donations will be thankfully received and gracefully acknowledged.

LADIES HOCKEY GAME IS POSTPONED

The ladies hockey game scheduled for Saturday night has been called off owing to soft weather. People who have tickets are requested to hold them as the game will likely be played next week.

DENY THERE IS A LOCKOUT

Statements that there is a lockout at Mountain Park mines as a result of the O.B.U. U.M.W. of A. fight for control are denied by Morgan Lewis, acting chairman of the United Miners' Commission now in control District No. 18.

"It has been drawn to the attention of the United Mine Workers officials that a lockout is in effect in the Mountain Park Collieries. We wish to give a complete denial to this statement with facts," said Mr. Morgan.

"The management of this mine is complying with the contract as entered into between the United Mine Workers of America and the operators of District Eighteen. We wish to assure all miners of this district that they will have the complete protection of the United Mine Workers' Organization in carrying out the terms of the agreement existing between the Western Coal Operators' Association and the United Mine Workers of America in District 18. We further wish to point out to all the miners desiring to work under the agreement entered into, the increase of 14 per cent. will be immediately paid on the signing of the check-off. We also draw your attention to the fact that the check-off is being signed by a majority of the miners in the district.

"Any miners desiring to work in the Mountain Park Collieries, kindly get in touch with officials of the United Mine Workers of America at 316-317 Beveridge Building, Calgary, or theri representatives at Mountain Park."

LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

The Local Council of Women of Fernie was organized on Nov. 26th by Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.P., of Vancouver. At that time only two societies, the Ladies Aid of the United Church and the Parent-Teachers Association, affiliated with the Council, so the officers were elected temporarily, pending the affiliation of other women's organizations in the cty.

On Wednesday, Jan. 28, at 4 p.m., a meetng of the Council was held in the city hall and five other societies were added to the above named. The societies now affiliated are:

United Church Ladies Aid, President, Mrs. Cummings.

The Parent-Teachers Association, President, Mrs. A. Cummings.

Catholic Women's Club, President, Mrs. Herchmer.

Christ Church Guild, President, Mrs. Hewat.

I.O.D.E., President, Mrs. A. B. Trites.

Women's Missionary Society, President, Mrs. D. G. Harvie.

Ladies Benevolent Society, President, Mrs. A. Klauer.

Societies yet to be heard from are the Ladies Curling Club and Women's Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A.

Because of internal regulations Esther Rebekah Lodge cannot affiliate, but two members, Mrs. Duthie and Mrs. Beck, were appointed as messengers to the Rebekahs from the Council.

The regular election of officers then took place and the following were elected by acclamation:

President—Mrs. A. I. Fisher.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. Herchmer.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Hewat.
Rec. Sec.—Miss E. M. Hogan.
Cor. Sec.—Mrs. A. Cummings.
Treas.—Mrs. J. S. Irvine.

Committees were appointed as follows:

Laws for Women and Children — Mrs. H. McLean, Mrs. Herchmer, Mrs. J. L. Gates.

Press—Mrs. F. A. Parker.

Public Health—Mrs. Irvine, Mrs. Hewat, Mrs. Crossman.

Education—Mrs. S. Wallace, Mrs. Colton, Mrs. Cummings.

It was brought to the attention of the Council that the snow slides from the roof of the Baptist church were dangerous to the little children attending school in the hall near by. After some discussion the corresponding secretary was instructed to write to the city council and also the trustees of the church concerning the same.

The meeting felt that we are badly in need of a new school to properly care for the children as the present schools are overcrowded and cannot adequately provide for their comfort. Manual Training and Domestic Science should be part of the education of our boys and girls, but there is no place, nor room for these even if teachers could be provided.

A new High School building with rooms for Manual Training and Domestic Science is no longer a luxury but a necessity.

HOCKEY

The following is the league standing after the last two games:

	W.	L.
Nationals	3	1
Shamrocks	2	2
Monarchs	1	3

On Friday last the Millionaires bumped the Monarchs into the cellar, giving them a decisive trimming by the score of 5—1. The game was played six man, giving the faster Mill forwards a big advantage, who kept the Mons goalie on the move all the time, the Monarchs fighting hard for two periods, falling down in the last stnza, when two extra tallies were added and they failed to count any. The game was fast and exceptionally clean, the Mons taking their defeat and promising what would happen the next time they met.

The game on Monday night was a humdinger, the Nationals bringing along their heavy artillery, bombarding the Shamrocks goal unmercifully, winning the game by the score of 11—5, and taking the lead with three wins and one loss; that, to the ill-fated Monarchs. The game was a well mixed up affair, both sides going after each other for two periods, taking the ice for the last period with the score tied at 4—4. The Shamrocks weakened and the Nats did not fail to take the advantage, scoring 7 times to the Shams 1. Despite tne big count against him the Shams goalie played a star game in holding the scoring marvels to so small a score as 11. They sure had their shooting sticks working.

On Wednesday night before a small crowd the Regulars (seniors) and Yannigans had a little mill. This is the first time the seniors had a game and were made to extend themselves all the time to come out on top, the Yannigans holding them to a 4-3 score, the game was played on heavy ice and was somewhat slow, but the few fans that turned out were well satisfied with the brand of hockey dished out.

Ice also permitting the next games in line on the league schedule will be pulled off on Monday and Friday of next week. The Shams and Mills meet on Monday and on Friday the cellar champs will try and duplicate their last feat against the leaders, being the only team to take their measure so far this year. In the line of senior hockey, they intended to go to Michel last Sunday, stormy weather hampered such a move and are now waiting for weather conditions to be able to play them a home and home game. The officials have already received word from Macleod and Nelson desiring games, and about the only drawback to such games will be very heavy expenses, owing to the distance to travel, and a two day trip for each team. With the weather man playing pranks on all winter sports so far this year we can only put such matters on the shelf until he gets settled, and then make arrangements. Next Wednesday, providing no outside team comes in, and such is possible, the Regulars and the Yannigans will clash once more. The Yans think if they can hold the seniors to a close score they can trim them. The game will be played from 7.30 till 8.30. Watch for the board in front of the Fernie Hotel.

DECLARES O. B. U. ILLEGAL

Winnipeg, Jan. 29.—That the One Big Union was in itself an unlawful conspiracy was a statement made by A. J. Andrews, K.C., leading counsel for the crown in the trial of the seven remaining Winnipeg strike leaders charged with seditious conspiracy, in making his address to the jury at the opening session of the trial today. Mr. Andrews said that the crown will urge that this case was brought down to test the legality of the One Big Union and the general strike which was used to demonstrate the solidarity of labor.

Mr. Andrews declared the reason why the One Big Union was unlawful was because its avowed purpose was to obtain its ends by the compelling force of massed action. One of the planks in its platform, he said, was the sympathetic strike which, the crown counsel on behalf of the people of Canada, contended was unlawful.

Mr. Andrews completed his address to the jury before the adjournment, and F. E. Langdale, sergeant in the intelligence department of Military District No. 10, was the first witness called upon resumption of proceedings.

In the course of his lengthy address to the jury, Mr. Andrews referred to the critical conditions in which the war had left the country, and the consequent duty resting on all good citizens to work for the restoration of normal conditions. What would the jury think of those who welcomed these critical days as fallow ground in which to sow seeds of discontent, he asked the jury. In 1917 some men commenced work to gain control of labor for reds and revolutionaries.

The crown counsel then traced the alleged conspiracy, citing alleged attempts of the radicals to get control of the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council from moderate labor leaders, who believed in constitutional methods. Articles that appeared in the labor paper of which the accused William Ivens was editor, would be introduced to show the development of this movement.

Andrews referred to W. A. Pritchard as "probably the brightest light in the constellation of the Socialist party of Canada—a man who had come from British Columbia to speak in support of the Winnipeg strike."

Mrs. A. J. Burnside, who has been in the city visiting her parents, left on Wednesday for her home in Amherstburg, Ont.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

The big storm predicted by Big Frank Allen, Elko's philosopher, arrived to the minute and was a humdinger, and lasted all week, which made it possible for the loggers to get down to business and do some hauling. The bush work, up to the time of the storm, was just at a standstill, but the snow and the frost have done wonders for the bushmen, and made it pleasant all around, and its just possible that Frank may be presented with a gold watch and a chain if he can just hold onto this weather until the loggers get through. Its an ill wind that don't blow someone some good.

The high price of furs is making the Noble Red Man dig out his traps and hike out into the hills after the fur bearing animals. A big party came up from the Tobacco Plains Reserve Monday and are going in the South Fork country, and some into the Morrissey Meadows and we fully expect that the fur will be flying in a few days. About a bakers dozen went through to Michel and will go up the north fork of the Elk River. Miss Stella-Big-Moon was with this party, and Stella is some girl, wearing a coronet of eagle feathers, and a Gossard corset presented to her by Miss Florence McNeill, of Regina, which she had trimmed with fantastic bead work and a beautiful rainbow colored blanket hanging over her classic shoulders.

The Elko school is giving a basket social and dance on January 30th in the Opera House, for the benefit of the School Library. The Frank West Jazz Band will dispense musical shafts of dances that make people forget their rheumatism and starts them fox-trotting. The older children of the school will give several vaudeville features never seen in the Pantages, or any other ages. The reception committe is the pick of the old historic burg and will make a man feel happy enough to love his mother-in-law. Everybody welcome. Don't forget the date. You can't forget the place. Elko, the best town in the Crow's Nest Pass.

Last week Elko had some of the awfullest specimens of travelers it ever had. If they would just put all these freaks producing something it might have a tendency to reduce the high cost of living. If I had a pinto cayuse that didn't have more sense in a minute than some of them travelers on the road have in a month, I'd take him down Riverside Drive and throw him in the Canyon.

Some of the Pass towns are going to do wonders in the near future. You've heard that old story about the new broom. The new aldermen are all along the line going to try and wash the dog without getting his skin wet. We shall see what we shall see. If you want to get into good society come to Elko.

Fred Roo was down visiting his family at Roosville several days last week. The saw mills in the valley are running to capacity. The Rainbow is logging near the Roosville school house. The Clear Springs Farm is cutting all the timber on the ranch and selling to the Rainbow company. The Rock Creek Lumber Company have a mill on the Billy Morrison place just north of the Rainbow Company in the Roosville Valley, and are working a full crew of men and teams hauling to Flagstone and shipping from that point. Joe Jordan, bush foreman for the Rainbow Lumber Co., at Roosville, was happily surprised on Saturday evening last when about 20 young people with well filled baskets of sandwiches and cakes called on him and took possession of his house for about four hours and danced, played games and told ghost stories of the Valley, and the whole company of visitors had a very enjoyable evening and voted Joe a man with a heart as big as his body.

Mrs. W. H. Bernard, of Rexford, Montana, was in Elko last Saturday.

Mayor and Mrs. C. A. Klingensmith gave a swell dinner to a party of capitalists at the Davenport Hotel, Spokane, Wash. The mayor is down trying to interest American capital in the Elko water power, the greatest in B.C. Charlie owns considerable property in Elko, and is anxious to see it move before the resurrection.

Jim Thistlebeak says that a man needs all his religion when he undertakes to teach a calf to drink from a bucket.

Mrs. Harry Blake, of the Liberty Bell Copper Property, Red Canyon Creek, Roosville Valley, passed thru Elko this week for Calgary to try and make arrangements with some mining magnate to take hold of the property. There is some of the best mining propositions in the Roosville Valley there is in B. C.

"HOW TO BE HAPPY THO' MARRIED" IN NEW FILM

Young men who are anticipating marriage will be able to observe some genuinely helpful hints for making wedded life happy by seeing "A Temperamental Wife," starring Constance Talmadge and which will be shown, on Monday and Tuesday at the Orpheum Theatre.

Probably no young man would be confronted with as perplexing and humorous a situation as the sickly Senator Newton from Nevada who was "vamped" by Billie Billings, a fascinating girl who wanted the Senator for a husband because he had a reputation for never taking notice of women. The Senator, however, turns out to be a model husband after his wife has eloped with a Bulgarian Count, roused fashionable tourists from their early morning slumbers and experienced the torture of being out out of a hotel just six inches in front of a six-shooter.

THE LIQUOR IMPORTATIONS

A despatch from Calgary quotes the Premier of Alberta as authority for the statement that the Social Service Council of that Province "considers that the stoppage of the importation of liquor would leave many persons and interests in a privileged position." For this reason, it was said, the Legislature of Alberta might not be called upon to pass a resolution calling for a plebiscite on the stoppage of importation.

While temperance reformers in Alberta were taking up this position the Dominion Committee on Liquor Legislation, representing twelve of the leading Canadian organizations for the promotion of temperance, held a session at Montreal at which the following resolution was adopted:—

"That the committee express its appreciation of the liquor legislation passed by the Dominion Parliament, providing for a vote in each Province on the importation of liquor for beverage purposes.

"That this committee recommend that each Province be encouraged to secure a vote on the question of prohibiting importation of liquor for beverage uses.

"That the idea of having the votes taken on the same date in all the provinces, in so far as this may be feasible, be approved.

"That the taking of the vote be upon lists which include women citizens on the same terms as men.

"That this committee advocate the establishment in each Province of an importing and distributing depot or warehouse through which all liquor to be used in such Provinces for the permitted purposes must pass."

There is a marked difference of opinion between the Alberta Social Service Council and the Dominion Committee on Liquor Legislation. That difference of viewpoint is to be found among temperance lawyers called into consultation as to the merits of the "Plebiscite Act" passed by Parliament, even if a plebiscite were taken, and the importation of liquor into Ontario, for example were forbidden under terms of the Act, it would still be possible to obtain liquor by "shortcircuiting." A living in Toronto could send an order to B in Montreal for a quantity of liquor manufactured in Toronto by C. An order could be given legally by B to C for the delivery of the liquor direct to A.

It is this particular "coach and four" the Alberta Social Service Council indicates as likely to be driven through the importation regulations in the event of the Provinces seeking to stop consumption by the banning of interprovincial or international trade in liquor. If the Dominion law is so defective as to be practically worthless the public should be informed of the fact so that an agitation may be carried on for the necessary amendments. The great majority of the people in the eight Prohibition Provinces are utterly opposed to the sort of jug-handled prohibition that permits any citizen to fill his house from cellar to garret with liquor so long as he claims that the liquor is for his own personal use and that of his guests. That was not the sort of prohibition the electors voted for. They are determined the cellar shall not take the place of the saloon in debauching the youth of Canada.—Toronto Globe.

SOME HEALTH PRECAUTIONS

It is well to know that the Provincial Department of Health is taking all precautions to cope with the possibility of another outbreak of influenza in British Columbia. What would be more to the point would be for that department, by a campaign of education, to urge the public to take such preventive measures as will insure the disease a light foothold if it comes in epidemic form. Salutary advice at a time like this would be to recommend the resumption of those gargling methods and the nasal douche which proved effective in the past, while, also, the value of more open-air exercise should be urged. The greatest reform which is wanted in all health legislation is to make the curative methods applied merely supplementary to the preventive system, which should always be in existence, and through the medium of which there should be a continuous campaign in progress to spread the doctrine of how to keep well. The victims of epidemics are generally those who are physically receptive. The last influenza epidemic left in its wake many weaknesses in those who were afflicted which have yet to be eradicated, and while any new epidemic of the disease is not likely to be so virulent as the last, it is of the highest importance that health authorities, now that they are forewarned, should take the public fully into their confidence.

In the modern development of medical science more and more emphasis is laid on the desirability of educative work sustained throughout the years, so that the public will have no excuse for not barring up the thousand doors which lead to reduced vitality and consequent susceptibility to the contagion or inroads of disease. A Council of Health has been created in this country, but in whatever campaign of publicity on which it is engaged, we have yet to learn that it sought the co-operation of the press. It is a mistaken idea which prevails in some quarters that the newspapers are not interested in medical science. They are, and to an extent not yet estimated by the profession of medicine. Governments, too, have failed to take advantage of the publicity which is awaiting subjects dealing with the health of the community. This was particularly noticeable during the last influenza epidemic. The lesson then of the lack of authoritative publicity regarding what were the best methods of prevention should not be lost.—Colonist.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

E. W. BEATTIE, PRESIDENT OF THE C.P.R.

E. W. Beatty, while discussing the year's appropriations for expenditures with the other executive officers of the Company said: "This year's programme of betterments, improvements and extensions as approved at headquarters is the most considerable undertaking since 1913. Given a normal grain yield, we look for the heaviest volume of freight traffic we have ever been called on to move, and we propose to make such provision for it that the public will continue to receive the best quality of service. I think the Western people will regard it as an inspiring expression of robust confidence in the immediate future of the Western Provinces.

"The work of double tracking those portions of the line where traffic is especially dense will be resumed. It is proposed this year to double track th Molson cut-off from Winnipeg to Molson, and to provide for the handling of all through freight and passenger traffic by that route.

"At Fort William, work will be started on another unit of the coal handling plant on Island No. 1, which even now is considered the finest on the Great Lakes. The new unit, which will take the best part of two years to build, will practically double the storage capacity which can be served by the plant. The engine house capacity at Fort William will also be increased, and additional yard facilities will be provided there and at Port Arthur.

"At Winnipeg block asphalt platforms will be laid to serve the station tracks. A new plant will be put in to provide for the more rapid cleaning and disinfecting of passenger coaches. The freight car shop at Weston will be extended, and provision has been made for many improvements in the other facilities at Weston."

The company intend making improvements at many other stations along the line, including Regina, Weyburn, Saskatoon, Moosejaw, Yorkton, and Medicine Hat.

"At Calgary," continued Mr. Beattie, "a handsome new building for the Dominion Express Company will be erected east of the present Y.M.C.A. Building. The capacity of Alyth freight terminal will be greatly increased by additional trackage, and the ice house facilities will be extended.

"At Edmonton, Lethbridge and Macleod there will be a considerable expenditure for improvement of present facilities.

"At Cranbrook the engine house the machine shops and the ice house will be replaced by new structures.

"At Revelstoke the engine house facilities will be materially improved.

"To handle the constantly increasing fruit traffic on Okanagan Lake an additional tug and an additional car barge will be provided, and a new tug will also be placed in commission on the Arrow Lakes.

"At Vancouver, work on the new ocean pier will be pressed vigorously and there will be other improvemnts undrtaken to provide for the handling of the growing traffic of that great port.

"At Victoria, in connection with our coast steamship service, we intend to add to the appearance of the inner harbor by erecting a fine office and terminal building.

"In addition to the buildings already enumerated, stations will be built at Lydiatt, Harrowby and at Schwitzer, in Manitoba; at Willows, Corrinne, Insinger, Dafoe, and Rutland, in Saskatchewan, and at Metiskow, Cardston and Lochearn, in Alberta.

"The increasing volume of live stock traffic will be recognized by the construction of twenty-nine additional stock yards.

"The building of branch lines to promote settlement and to serve the farming districts now without transportation facilities will proceed rapidly, but a definite announcement as to what we expect to complete this year is deferred until the prospects as to labor supply can be gauged a little more accurately."

Mr. Beattie added that he would shortly make a trip over Western lines to inspect the property, and to discuss present conditions and prospects with the Company's officers and its patrons.

AT THE GRAND WED. FEB. 11

"Little Red Riding Hood," F. Stuart-Whyte's fourth annual pantomime which comes to the Grand for one night, Wednesday, February 11th, is the largest and most elaborate production yet staged by the management whose efforts in the past have been taken from the old time adage: "A manager is known by the company he keeps."

In spite of the H. C. of P. (High Cost of Production) the show has been staged regardless of cost, and each of the fourteen scenes is a riot of color and harmony, intermingled with glorious girlhood, in costume creations that excel even the vampire modes of last season's "Cinderella."

For fifteen weeks the scenic artists were busy reproducing with brush the imaginary Enchanted Forests and Fairy Palaces. The costumers were deftly materializing materials for the shapely figures of Red Riding Hood and her host of friends.

Electricians have also dipped in the magic and devised a wonderful snow storm, that is to change, at a moment's notice, the Enchanted Forest, wherein Miss Hood meets the wicked Wolf, from russet tinted autumn to the depth of winter, at the bidding of the evil spirits.

The book, lyrics, and music have been written with a view of pleasing all children between the ages of six and sixty, who wish to get a transfer from Canada to the wonderful realm of Fairyland, where love laughs at locksmiths, and "they all live happily ever after."

The company is headed by Miss Zara Clinton, the star of "Aladdin", "Robinson Crusoe," and "Cinderella", who plays Little Boy Blue. Miss Dorothy Mackie, a little eleven year old Scotch lassie, will be the Red Riding Hood, while the principle comedy role, that of Old Mother Hubbard, will be taken by Mr. Johnny Osborne, late leading comedian of "Zig, Zag" at the Hippodrome in London, and more recently the foremost funmaker of the Follies Bergere, Paris, where he was seen by thousands of Canadian soldiers.

MRS. M. PECK HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS

Nine Years' Trouble Ends and She Is Well Now and Happy

"I have gained twenty-five pounds since I commenced taking Tanlac, and the troubles that have been making life miserable for me for nine years have been completely overcome," said Mrs. Minnie Peck, who lives at 9874-82nd Ave., Edmonton, the other day.

"When I commenced taking Tanlac." continued Mrs. Peck, "I was so weak and run down that I was hardly able to get about. Everything I ate disagreed with me, and I would suffer for two or three hours after every meal on account of gas forming and bloating me up. I would have severe cramping pains in the pit of my stomach. I was very nervous, so much that the slamming of a door would upset me terribly, and a good night's sleep was out of the question for me. I would actually get out of bed every morning feeling more tired and worn out than I did the night before. This condition just kept getting worse all the time until I got to where I was compelled to stay in bed most of the time.

"Then I decided to give Tanlac a trial, and it's the honest truth, I commenced to feel better before I had finished my first bottle of this wonderful medicine, and my condition just kept getting better until I am now as well as I ever was in my life. I never have a sign of stomach trouble now, and I have a fine appetite and eat just anything I want. I have gotten back all my strength and can easily do my housework. My nerves are in perfect condition, and I sleep like a child every night. It is simply wonderful the way I have gained in weight, and in fact, I just feel fine all the time. Yes, Sir, Tanlac is a wonderful medicine and as long as I live I will never lose an opportunity to say a good word for it."

CRERAR WOULD SQUEEZE LEMON

One now comes to the point of asking the Hon. Mr. Crerar how he expects the average Canadian to keep his head above water under the free trade plan advocated by him, and at the same time pay the income and other taxes which are expected of us? The customs duties at the moment yield some $135,000,000 per annum, and this sum he would make up by direct taxation. And, by the way, this total will have to be very appreciably increased if we are to pay our annual bills out of revenue in place of continued borrowings as is now the case. I noted the other day that the present average wage in Tokio, Japan, was 84 cents per day; that tailors (cutters) got $1.25 per day, teamsters 75 cents, compositors 62½ cents, nurserymen 65 cents, and so on. Under Mr. Crerar's plan I would, of course, have my clothes made in Japan, and we might even get our type set there when not in a rush. But that sort of thing is not going to bring home any bacon in our own country. Nor is it going to help pay the income taxes by reason of the fact that Canadian production under such competition is bound to decrease.

It is unfortunate, but we have seen no figures as to how the Hon. Mr. Crerar or the Hon. Mr. King are to work out this little sum in simple arithmetic: From nothing take something and have a whole lot left over to pay soldiers' gratuities and similar bills. Of course, if we are to get from our income tax budget a sum even approximating the $135,000,000, not to speak of greater sums that we lose by throwing our tariff to the dogs, we will be obliged to start out with very low exemptions; that is to say, tax everybody with an income of, say, over $500 or $600 per annum. This would get the workman's high wage and the comparatively low wage as well, in place of leaving, as now, all free and clear to the married man with not over $2,000 per annum. Then again, how are we going to catch the farmer? That's the rub. According to last accounts, Ontario farmers to the number of less than four hundred paid income taxes for the year 1917. Of course, the average Ontario farmer does not keep any books, and as he charges his own upkeep, in other words, his living, as well as that of his family and hired help against his earnings, there is quite possibly not sufficient left to tax under the present exemptions. Ninety per cent. of urban taxpayers would also be exempt, reckoned on the same basis. Under the Crerar notion of taxation, some plan must be devised to take a tax from all those who do not now pay, and it seems up to the Farmer leader, or possibly Mr. King, to point the way. —Saturday Night.

THE DISTRICT BONSPIEL

Fernie curlers returned from the Lethbridge Bonspiel on Sunday morning, bringing home with three cups, half the trophies in the bonspiel. M. A. Kastner won the Grand Challenge, defeating S. Herchmer's rink in the semi finals and Aird's rink in the finals. The Trites Wood cup to be played off in Fernie between Herchmer and Kastner, and the Liphardt cup between the three Fernie rinks.

Both the Herchmer and Kastner rinks made a fine showing at the spiel but did not succeed in winning the Grand Aggregate, which was carried off by the famous Aird rink. M. A. Kastner, however, showed his superiority over that aggregation by defeating them on three different occasions.

The final game in the Trites-Wood competition was played off at the Fernie rink os Tuesday night, when Herchmer took Kastner's measure by a score of 13 to 10. The game was a tie on the 10th end, but Sherwood succeeded is scoring on the last two ends.

The Liphardt competition will not be played until next week as F. C. Lawe, who is skipping for A. C. Liphardt, is on the sick list.

Following is the schedule of the Lethbridge 'spiel:

TRITES-WOOD

MACLEOD TROPHY

McKenzie Kastner Clarke Snyder Keiver Patterson Kirkham Chalmers	McKenzie Clarke Patterson Chalmers	Clarke Chalmers	Chalmers

MAGRATH

BUSINESS AS USUAL; 'SPIEL NOW HISTORY

(Lethbridge Herald)

Two more games and the 1920 Crow's Nest bonspiel will be history. Aird and Simpson having to play the final game in the Magrath, and in the Trites-Wood, Herchmer and Kastner will settle this little matter of ownership for the current year on their home ice.

Saturday was pretty much a case of Aird-Kastner, with other rinks being taken on as these two combinations could get around to it. Each rink played five games, starting at 9:30 a.m., and playing right through to 11.45 p.m., only stopping to eat. They were pretty weary prize winners, and for this reason the final game was cut to ten ends, as well as to keep safely within the limit of Saturday.

Aird suffered defeat in three of his five games. At 9.30 McNabb did numerous things to him in the Walker. He then turned on Sherwood Herchmer and trimmed him easily in the Magrath, and deciding also the winning of the Grand Aggregate. At 3 o'clock in the Trites-Wood he lost again to Kastner, turned again at 6 o'clock and trimmed the Clarke rink in the semi-final of the Grand Challenge. Then at 10 o'clock he met Kastner and fell hard in the final of the Grand Challenge, Kastner making it three wins over Aird, McNabb being the only other rink to have the honor.

Kastner started the day with a win from Carberry. At 12 o'clock he lost to Kirkham in the Walker. Won from Aird at 3 p.m. Took his fellow townsman Herchmer on at 6 and defeating him in the semi final of the Grand Challenge—and finished the day by a win from Aird and deciding the ownership of the premier trophy.

Scotty Chalmers won the Macleod in a sensational finish from the Clarke rink cleaning out 3 counters and laying two to win, in the most exciting finish of the day.

In the Walker, Kirkham got into the fours by a win over Kastner but fell before Hamilton in the semi final. Hamilton then met McNabb and lost to the green shirts in a game that only went 10 ends. 16—6 score.

Carberry lost to Simpson at 12 o'clock in the Magrath.

The bonspiel goes to prove that a rink that plays together year after year has the edge on picked up combinations, the Aird and McNabb rinks being cases in point.

Everyone feels satisfied with the results, there being a fairly even division of the trophies. Two for Fernie, two for Lethbridge and one for Carmangay.

Scotty Chalmers skipped his first bonspiel rink and deserves much credit for his decided wins. He's a real sport both on and off the ice, and some curler. His Burr—when talking shots—is like the salt in porridge. Scotty says it is no accent, he was born that way. To hear him say "I hugged ma' rrrock" or "axtra-orin—aree" is worth the price of admission.

The Stavely rinks did not get further than the eights, but they are good curlers and expressed their pleasure at the manner of running competitions to be found in the Crow's Nest 'spiel. They hope to be regular attendants.

The Crow's Nest 'spiel will be a forty rink 'spiel within a year or so and will be a week's solid fun for everybody.

Fernie holds the 'spiel next year and are counting on ten sheets of ice to accomodate it. This will cut out the late night draws which are the killers.

For a small 'spiel, the method of handling the prizes is ideal. Each club supports a trophy; Cranbrook the Grand Challenge; Fernie the Walker; Lethbridge the Magrath; Macleod and Taber the Macleod; Carmangay and Coleman the Trites-Wood.

The Crow's Nest association lead the way. All first prizes are individual trophies suitably engraved, which remain in possession of the winners. The game for the game's sake.

The Fernie rinks were well supplied with new rocks, all heavy ones, running to 42 pounds. They cost real money these days.

Miles playing third for Carberry was unfortunate enough to break one of his rocks on Thursday night.

Padre Denoon curled 5 games Friday. Five Saturday, and preached in Calgary Sunday. Some padre.

The inside skips filled the benches from early morning till the end of the day and every day.

Yet some person periodically wanders into the rink—and we overhear such remarks as this: "Isn't it fright ful show;" "I don't see anything to get excited over;" "why do they sweep;" "Isn't it silly;" "Don't they get cold;" "Its much like bowling or crochinole."

Hi Hum! "What makes the wild cat wild?" "Is a cat bigger than a bear?" It seems so—so it seems.

Old timers at the Crow's Nest 'spiel remark on the number of close and low scores which marked the present session. The Clarke-Patterson 7-6 game was a record—but there were a number of games in which 14-15 and 16 points total scores for 12 ends showed the closest of competition.

The weather played no capers this time—but it was cold enough—for two or three bonspiels.

We lost track of thirteen end games but McKenzie and Herchmer had to play an extra end in two of their three contests against each other.

We think there are a number who had sufficient curling for one week. Three, four and five games a day—is aplenty.

It is now Business as usual.

FEW ACCIDENTS DURING 1919

Only twelve fatal accidents occurred in the coal mines of British Columbia during 1919. This is a new record of quite a satisfactory character. Never before in the history of coal mining in this province has it been equalled. In point of number of deaths, it has been paralleled once in the last 21 years. This occurred in the year 1905, but it should be remembered in considering the statistics of that year, that then there were little more than half as many men employed in and around the mines as now is the case.

This announcement regarding the operation of the coal industry of the province was made on January 7th, 1920, by Hon. Wm. Sloan, minister of mines. That he was gratified is scarcely an adequate expression of his sentiment. He trusted that with the growing interest being manifested by miners in the acquirement of knowledge of mine gases and their apparent greater appreciation of the importance of the Safety-First principle, it would be possible to continue the contemplation of similar or even more satisfactory figures. Mr. Sloan also complimented George Wilkinson, Chief Inspector of Mines, on the evidence of the efficiency of the Mines Inspection Staff of the Provincial Bureau of Mines.

Of the 12 accidents referred to, four were the result of falls of rock, four resulted from falls of coal and an equal number occurred in the haulage. The fatalities were divided among the Collieries as follows:

Canadian Collieries, Ltd, Cumberland (All of whom were Orientals)	5
Canadian Collieries, Ltd., Extension	2
Canadian Western Fuel Co., Nanaimo, B.C.	4
Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., Ltd., Coal Creek, B.C.	1
Total	12

The nationality of those killed was as follows: English, 2; Scotch, 2; Canadian, 1; Italian, 1; Austrian, 1, (Naturalized British); Orientals, 5.

An estimate of the fatalities per 1,000 employees would put the percentage at approximately 2.2 as compared to the average of the past ten years of 5.095. This year's average, therefore, compares quite favorably with that of Great Britain and other European countries. This is worthy of special note when it is borne in mind that in the coal fields of the United Kingdom and of the Continent there are so many more miners actively engaged, and that it takes more than one serious accident to materially affect the general average at the end of a given period.

Only one fatality occurred in the mines of the Crow's Nest Pass district during 1919. This again is a record if the eastern British Columbia field in considered apart from the rest of the Province. It is the lowest mark since the first year of the field's development, over twenty years ago. Mr. Wilkinson notes in his report that the majority of these 12 fatal accidents could have been avoided had ordinary care been exeriised.

BOLSHEVISM MENACES U. S. LABOR

Hoboken, N.J., Jan. 26.—A warning that union labor is menaced by the activities of Bolshevists, I.W.W. and radical Socialists within its ranks and that their schemes must not be tolerated, was sounded today by Marsden G. Scott, president of the International Typographical Union, in a letter read at the convention of the Union Printers' League of New Jersey.

"It is stupid to deny the fact," Scott wrote, "that vicious alien propaganda has obtained a foothold in American trade unionism. There is more than coincidence in the disclosures that show some of the same traitorous influences which sought to handicap our government during the war are today co-operating to disrupt the American trades union movement."

"The man or men," he added, "who unnecessarily bring hunger and privation into the homes of the workmen is a criminal and a coward by every moral law, a social leper and menace to our country. It is unthinkable that American wage-earners will now accept a propaganda that includes the precepts of the radical leaders of foreign lands where murder, assassination and every unthinkable brutality is common to everyday existence."

Announcements have been received in the city of the marriage of Wm. George Bruce, of Montreal, and Miss Gladys McFarquhar, of Calgary. Both the young people were well known in Fernie, where they resided for many years. They will make their future home in Prince Edward Island.

There was a large convention of Pastor Russell's Bible Students in Fernie on Sunday last. Delegates were present from all along the line. J. B. Williams, of Winnipeg, was the principle speaker at the convention. He took for his subject "Is There No Hope For The Non-Christian Dead?" Mr. Williams is a clean speaker and was listened to with marked attention by those present.

On Saturday last, over one hundred lumberjacks came into Fernie on the G. N., as a result of a strike at the Ross-Saskatoon Lumber Co. camp near Waldo. The men claim they had a kick coming on several points, chief of which was in regard to board. As there have been a large number of I. W. W.s coming in from the United States, there is little doubt that these boys have been active in stirring up trouble.

It is a striking coincidence that at almost the time E. T. Saunders died in California, H. E. Derrelt, who he had left in charge of the Pincher Creek Echo, succumbed to a protracted illness. He was 42 years of age and had been employed in printing in Toronto before coming West. His wife and two little daughters survive him.

Wm. Potter, charged with an infraction of Sections 14 and 15 of the Coal Mines Regulations Act, in that he misconducted himself by posting O.B.U. notices on the cars of the company while employed as a checkweighman at Coal Creek, came up before Magistrates Watson and Moffatt on Thursday. He was found guilty and a summary order granted for his removal.

Jos. Walkley, who has for many years conducted the Cranbrook Meat Market, is branching out, his operations taking in Fernie. He has this week purchased the Fernie Cash Meat Market, owned and operated for the past couple of years by Harry Gould and Frank Greenwood. The business will be taken over on Feb. 1st. The Cranbrook concern has proved very successful and will doubtless do well here.

J. J. O'Neil, of the firm of O'Neil & Irvine, proprietors of the White Spruce Lumber Co., arrievd in town on Saturday last, accompanied by Fred Rigg and Walter Wilder, Minnesota capitalists, to look over the property of the company. Work has been proceeding very rapidly. The log cut is amounting to nearly 50,000 feet daily. Alarge steam tractor arrived in town by C.P.R. a couple of days ago and will be used to move the mill across the river to the new site on Hartley Creek. The amount of available timber on the limits is estimated at 200,000,000 feet, and will require about 10 years to cut. The new mill will have a capacity of 100,000 feet, in two shifts and it is expected that it will be in operation by the end of March.

Vancouver may soon have in operation its first motor truck factory, according to a report brought back from St. Louis by Douglas Hayes, general manager of the Hayes Anderson Motor Company Limited, the traffic distributors for British Columbia. Mr. Hayes went to St. Louis last month as a guest of the Traffic Motor Truck Corporation. Among other matters taken up was the erection of a Canadian factory, to take care of Canadian, British and other export trade. During the discussion the local traffic manager urged that Vancouver be the site for the prospective factory on account of its seaboard advantage and also the fact that the trend of the automotive vehicle trade is swinging to the west at a rapid pace.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce

Address of the General Manager at the Annual Meeting of the Bank

The address of Sir John Aird, General Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, at the Annual Meeting of the Shareholders, on the 13th instant, will be found of interest. It not only deals with the business of the Bank during the past year, which has been the most successful one in the history of the institution, but as well it is a review of the business of the country, and carries with it a splendid message to Canadian business men for the year on which we have now enterde. Sir John said:

Contrary to the view expressed last year, that it was unlikely that we should again show such large figures for some years to come, the unexpected has happened, and we have made a new record in both profits and total assets. Undoubtedly the contiued high level of prices for commodities of all kinds has left its mark upon the balance sheets of financial institutions, and while this condition continues it will be reflected in the figures of our own annual statement.

Increased Earnings

The net profits have amounted to $3,074,000, after a most careful provision for all the doubtful items among the Bank's assets. These earnings exceed those of last year by $224,000, a satisfactory increase of 7.9 per cent., but which compares with an increase of 8.9 per cent in assets. The figures show that the forces which have been steadily reducing the rate of earnings on the services performed by Canadian banks for the public, to which I referred last year, are still actively at work, and it is fervently to be hoped that the keen spirit of competition, so strenuously active in many directions, will not blind Canadian bankers to this tendency of the times. When it is considered that the three million odd dollars that we show as our net profits represent the combined earnings of over 500 offices, and the result of the efforts of a staff of over 4,000 employees, it will be more clearly recognized how meagre is the showing in comparison with the vast amount of hard labor and heavy responsibility involved.

The Pension Fund

We have paid during the year four quarterly dividends of 3 per cent., or 12 per cent. in all, and now that the war is over and we find it necessary to take up our building programme again, we have resumed our former practice and have written the sum of $250,000 off Bank Premises Account. This is perhaps more necessary now than ever, owing to the extremely high cost of all building operations, which has naturally caused us to limit our programme to only the most necessary work. The release of large numbers of our men from military service, and their return into the service of the Bank, has rendered a large increase necessary in the Bank's contribution to the Pension Fund. This is caused by many of these returned men having, during their absence on military service, reached or passed the age of 25, at which the Bank's contribution to the Pension Fund on their behalf begins. When all arrangements are completed and the question of ther back payments to the Fund is settled, a further large sum will no doubt be required to adjust the Bank's contribution for the period of their absence. It is our intention in the very near future to have the Fund again actuarially examined with a view to increasing the limit of the pensions awarded. We have also thought it wise, in view of the unsettled condition of the principal foreign exchanges, to set aside the sum of $750,000 as an appropriation for the continuous decrease in the value of our funds and investments abroad. We could, of course, offset this shrinkage by writing up the value of our investments in the United States, but as to realize the increased value we should have to liquidate our business in that country, we have not attempted to adopt such a short-sighted policy. We have also to consider that the exchange situation between Canada and the United States will right itself automatically when the European exchanges become more normal, and we think that the policy we have followed is one that should commend itself to every conservatively managed institution.

Patriotic Subscriptions

As usual, we ask you to confirm the larger subscriptions we have been called on to make during the year, amounting to the sum of $22,000, almost all on behalf of objects of a patriotic character connected with the war.

There has been a decrease in our note circulation for the first time since the commencement of the war. The decrease is only $1,536,000, but if it is one of the signs of a check to the inflation of prices, it is not unwelcome. The increase in deposits of $40,446,000 is the striking item of our statement, and it has taken place almost entirely in the more stable item of deposits bearing interest. The decreases in balances due to foreign banks and in bills payable are almost offset by the increase in acceptances under letters of credit, and none of these changes possess any special significance, save only that the increase in the use of letters of credit indicates a revival of foreign trade as a result of the ending of the war.

Increased Cash Assets

On the assets side of the statement we show an increase of $1,390,000 in cash on hand. The change is more than accounted for by the increase in Dominion notes held, there having been a slight decrease in our holdings of coin. Dominion notes in the Central Gold Reserves are $1,000,000 lower, corresponding to the decrease in our note circulation. There is a decrease of about $1,400,000 in the item of cheques on other banks, which may indicate a slight lessening in the activity of general business, but an increase in bank balances, which leaves the combined total of notes and cheques and bank balances $1,133,000 greater than the figures of last year. There has been an increase in our call and short loans in Canada and a decrease in those elsewhere, the combined effect of all these changes in assets being that our quick or easily realizable assets have increased by $16,892,000, and stand at 49.11 per cent. of our liabilities to the public. Our holdings of Dominion and Provincial Government securities have increased $10,700,000 during the year, largely represented by our share of advances to the Dominion Government, which are being repaid out of the proceeds of the last Victory Loan. Current commercial loans, that is, those current loans not classified as "call and short loans," both in Canada and elsewhere, show considerable increases, amounting to $20,837,000 in all, which may be considered as another welcome indication of reviving commercial activity. We have disposed of the Eastern Townships Bank building in Montreal during the year, and this accounts for the reduction in Real Estate other than Bank Premises. The increase in Bank Premises Account is due principally to the acquirement of sites for a number of our newer branches, in pursuance of our general policy in this respect. The total of our assets has grown during the year by $39,333,000, or 8.9 per cent., which, under the circumstances, we consider satisfactory.

New Branches

Throughout the war the Canadian banks abstained, by common consent, from the opening of new branches. Not only was this justified by the uncertainty of the outlook, but the drain upon the manhood of the country for military service was so great that it was only with difficulty that those members of our staff who were left behind yere able to cope with the assistance of the temporary staff. Accordingly, while the conflict lasted, we could do no more than to keep a record of those places which seemed to offer a promising field, with a view to occupying them when the general situation justified such a step. The programme thus laid down has fully employed our energies during the past year, but is fairly well completed, and now that we have occupied most of the promising new fields in Canada that have been brought to our attention, and have protected our business at those points where such action seemed necessary, we purpose turning our attention to foreign fields. In the meantime the new branches we have opened are, most of them, progressing satisfactorily, and although the initial expense connected with them are heavy, we look to see them become before long a source of strength and profit.

The Bank's Taxes.

Some years ago, after the outbreak of the war, we took occasion to refer to the subject of taxes paid by the Bank, and advised you that the total was about $650,000. It will no doubt be of interest to you to know that the sum taken out of the profits of the Bank during the past year, and applied to the payment of taxes, was nearly double that amount, or over $1,200,000. We have thought it well to speak thus frankly because the opinion seems to be more or less widely held that banks do not bear their fair share of the burdens of general taxation.

Out of the total of 1704 officers of this Bank who volunteered for the defence of the Empire, either in the army or navy, we have reinstated during the course of the year 996, and have still to hear from 253 of them. We have been glad to welcome these officers back to our service, and will do all in our power to assist them to become re-established in civil life. It is our hope that in the course of a reasonably short time they will find themselves at no disadvantage as a result of the loss in banking experience which naturally resulted from their absence. The opening of new branches and the expansion of our business have made it possible to take on the staff again all those who apply for reinstatement.

An unlooked-for consequence of the war has been the unsettlement of the relations between employer and employed in every walk of life. One of the primary causes of this has been the extraordinary increase in the cost of living, but any one who is forced to grapple with the problems before the employer knows that this can be the cause of only a small part of his difficulties. The deeper and more complex part of them, no doubt, had their origin in that phase of the war, when it took on the aspect of a life and death struggle between the opposing forces. For a time everything had to be subordinated to the turning out of men, munitions and material for use in the war. The Government became, practically, almost the sole employer, the erstwhile employer acting as its manager or agent to secure the necessary production. Under weights and counterpoises of business enterprise were lacking. To secure the necessary production was the only thing that mattered; the cost of doing so was a secondary consideration, and any demands made by employees were granted almost before they were asked. Thus new conditions arose, some showing marked improvement over those existing before the war, but others such as are foredoomed to failure if put into practice under the usual conditions of peace. It is, perhaps, too much to ask of either employees or employers that they should at once grasp with a clear mental vision all the far-reaching consequences of these changes. Suffice it to say that the adjustments necessary now that business conditions have become more normal are many and difficult, and involve to the utmost a spirit of fairness and a willingness to compromise opposing points of view on both sides. Speaking for our own staff, both permanent and temporary, they have rendered us loyal service in difficult days and we have sought to give generous and sympathetic consideration to the difficulties which have been particularly their lot, as salaried men and women, during an extraordinary rise in the cost of living.

The 1919 Victory Loan

In November last the Canadian Government issued its sixth War Loan, the money being required for purposes connected with the transition from war to peace. The Minister of Finance, Sir Henry Drayton, again aske dfor a minimum of $300,000,000, and the total subscriptions received were $676,242,790, almost as much as subscribed to the previous loan. The Minister of Finance, and the country itself are to be congratulated most heartily upon this new demonstration of the financial strength of Canada. There was a large reduction in the number of subscribers, the total number being 798,532, as compared with 1,140,05q in the case of the 1918 loan, so that the average amount subscribed was considerably larger, being $857, as against $610. It is interesting to note as showing the popularity of the Victory Loans among small subscribers, that in the case of the 1917 loan $100,300,000, and in the case of the 1918 loan $104,500,000, was issued in $50 and $100 bonds. The corresponding figures for the 1919 loan are not yet available, and owing to the reduction in the number of subscribers the total will probably not be so great, but it is evident that about about $300,000,000 of the last three loans has been obtained in this way.

.... Encourage Exploration

When addressing you last year I ventured to express the opinion that the government could afford to grant a small bounty on the production of the gold mines in Canada, with a view to increasing the available supply of the precious metal. This opinion has met with disapproval in some quarters, but I still think that the government should do something in the matter, perhaps not so much by way of offering a bounty on the gold itself, as to encourage the exploration and development of what are supposed to be gold-bearing areas. Were the same course to be followed in the case of silver, it is possible that the discovery of new fields and the opening of new mines might exercise a very beneficial steadying effect on eht price of that metal. The extension of the output of the present mines is, of course, encouraged by the material enhancement in price which has taken place. According to figures made public some time ago, the price per ounce rose during last year from an average of $1.01.12 during the first four months to $1.27.92 in November.

Depreciated Exchange

The condition of the foreign exchanges is one of the problems with which we have had to deal during the past year, and it is one in which the people of Canada are deeply concerned, as it has a very direct effect upon their enconomic life. Canada is not alone in suffering from the effects of a depreciated exchange; in fact, it is a condition now familiar to almost every country in the world. The artificial expedients which have been resorted to in order to correct the situation, such as the shipping of gold, the sale of securities and an attempt at fixing exchange rates, are inadequate and may even prove dangerous. The rehabilitation of our dollar can only be accomplished by saving, economy and greater production. It has perhaps become fairly generally known among those who take an interest in the matter that our imports from the United States greatly exceed our exports to that country, and that in the case of Great Britain the reverse is true, our exports generally exceeding our imports. Therefore in the case of our trade with the United States there is a scarcity of bills receivable which we can set off against our bills payable to that country; while in the case of our trade with Great Britain the reverse is true, and the bills receivable exceed the bills payable to such an extent that she has been forced to obtain credit from us for many of her purchases of food-stuffs produced in Canada.

Foreign Credits

There is much more, however, in the situation than this. We have been selling on credit to France, Belgium, Greece, Roumania, and to some extent to Great Britain, manufactured goods, the raw materials of which are largely imported from the United States, and we are called upon to pay for these raw materials in cash. In addition to this, the interest payments on our debt abroad have increased, as well as the heavy shipping charges which have to be paid on water-borne goods. In paying for the raw materials referred to we are forced to use up a large part of those funds ordinarily available to defray the cost of our normal imports from the United States. The scarcity of United States funds has thus been accentuated by the increased demand, while the source from which we have been wont in the past to make up any deficiencies, that is, the balance due to us by merchants and others in Great Britain, is not now abailable for this purpose for two reasons; first, that Great Britain is not settling in cash as in the past; second, that such part of this indebtedness as might be made available for the purpose is not now acceptable to the United States as payment, because that country has already a surplus of British debts which she is anxious to realize. If to these factors in the problem be added the effect of increased purchases of luxuries imported from the United States in the present era of free and easy spending, an inea will be obtained of at least some of the main reasons for the present situation.

British Imports

It should not be forgotten in any discussion of the position of the foreign exchanges as affecting Canada, that so far as imports to this country are ioncerned the position of the British and Continental Exchanges is just as favorable as United States exchange is favorable. The difficulty in this case is one of supply. Judging by recent accounts, however, Great Britain is bending all her energies, in spite of labor troubles and other adverse circumstances, to resuming her place as an exporting nation, and now that the difficulty of securing vessel space is decreasing, we shall hope to see a decided increase, in the near future, in imports from the mother country of those goods of which we stand in need, and which cannot be produced at home.

Buy in Canada

On the other hand, in our relations with the United States we should aim to decrease our imports, especially of those articles which are merely luxuries, or which can be produced equally well at home. The position of exchange at this moment is a lesson that our dollars can be more advantageously expended for a home-made article than for one manufactured in the United States, and it is to be hoped that this practical lesson will not be lost upon our people. Its influence should be strengthened by merchants and importers discontinuing to import for consumption such unnecessary articles as we have referred to.

To sum up, then, there is no royal road to the rectification of the foreign exchanges. Hard work and self-denial, such as will increase our income as a nation, and decrease our expenditure, are the only sovereign remedies for the disease. Harder work and greater diligence are needed to increase producton, and self-denial implies the cessation of purchases of imported articles which are only luxuries or can be produced at home. We doubt, however, whether aught save stern necessity can enforce these conditions upon our people.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. Where Words End, Music Begins

Words, in themselves, are but poor interpreters of emotion. Where words end, music begins. Where words only suggest, music satisfies; it utters with a clear, vibrant voice what otherwise would remain unuttered.

Music will allow you to express your innermost thoughts and ideals.

But how, you ask, can you create this music since you are no musician nor the master of any instrument?

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

has stored up in its magic discs the music of the world's greatest musicians—the soul-children of the music masters. And this music The New Edison will RE-CREATE for you, in your own home, exactly as you would hear it in the grand opera houses and the famous concert halls.

You should read the beautiful book "Edison and Music" and the booklet "What the Critics Say" containing evidence that proves Edison superiority. Ask for copies when you come to hear the New Edison.

CHANGE COMING IN RULE OF ROAD

A delegation of motor enthusiasts composed of representatives of the mainland, island and American automobile associations and of the boards of trades throughout British Columbia, waited upon Attorney General Farris and Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, last week, for the purpose of discussing and finding out the stand of the legislature on the rule of the road question.

According to H. F. Bird, secretary of the Vancouver Automobile Club, strong arguments were advanced in favor of the suggested change by the delegation, which included: S. Gintzburger, Vancouver Automobile Club; H. Frank Bird, Good Roads League of B.C.; A. A. Ross, Vancouver Board of Trade; C. A. Ross, Vancouver Rotary Club; W. Patrick, Vancouver Board of Trade; D. Shelor, manager of the Automobile Club of Western Washington; C. L. Harris, Island Automobile Association; Gilbert D. Christie, Victoria Automobile Association; Jack Scott, Victoria Rotary Club; W. A. McAdam, publicity commissioner of the Island Development Association; F. A. C. Wright, of the Associated Boards of Trade and Automobile Associations of the Interior; Mr. Payne, secretary of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

A. A. Ross acted as chairman of the delegation and advanced the arguments in favor of the adoption of the proposed change in the rule of the road. One of the reasons given in support of the change by Mr. Ross, was that with the coming of the proposed trans-Canada highway it was essential that the province should be in uniformity with the rest of the country.

That fully half of the visitors who wish to enter British Columbia for their vacation were deterred by the fact that the rule of the road for motor cars was the reverse on this side of the line, and they were not willing to take the risk, was the opinion expressed by Mr. Shelor.

The action of this province in retaining the left-hand drive rule was said to be deterring the advancement of the all-Canadian Highway from East to West.

"The one organization which would feel the pinch of the change would be the British Columbia Electric Railway company," said Mr. Bird. "To change the driving side of the road from the left to the right would mean that the company would have to build a new fleet of street cars; but the officials recognize the fact that the change is inevitable and are preparing to meet the problem."

It was pointed out that the change would involve thousands of motor owners operating cars along the pacific seaboard, and those who would come from the east along the new highway. Of the Georgian circuit travellers, thousands of whom travel up the pacific highway annually for their vacations, it would facilitate their movements in crossing to and from this province. The Seattle automobile association alone operates ten offices and last year, it was stated, 40,000 motorists were extended the associated service. Of this large number, the majority were deterred from entering British Columbia on account of the rule of the road.

Reference was made to the fact that the provincial legislature at its last session unanimously passed a resolution favoring a change in the rule of the road.

Messrs. Farris and King pointed out, continued Mr. Bird, that while they were not in a position to make any definite promise that legislation making effective the expressed opinion of the legislature would be forthcoming at the next session, they both stated the matter is one to which much attention has been paid by the government during the past year, and they hoped the government would have reached a decision by the time the legislature assembles at the end of the present month.

The resolution as passed by the legislature at its last session, one moved by A. I. Fisher, Liberal member for Fernie, and seconded by J. W. E. Thompson, Grand Forks, and unanimohsly passed, was as follows:

"Whereas, most of the provinces of Canada and the states of the American Union, including those contiguous to this province, operate under the opposite rule of the road to that in use in British Columbia;

"And whereas there is considerable road traffic between British Columbia and such contiguous provinces and states;

"And whereas the said road traffic is rapidly on the increase;

"And whereas the conflict in the rule of the road as between British Columbia and the contiguous provinces and states constitutes a serious menace to life and property;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that this House is of the opinion that the rule of the road should be changed in this province to conform with that in the contiguous provinces and states."

With the government in favor of the change and the motoring public in favor of the idea, it is practically a certainty that next year will see right hand driving in vogue in this province.

CHARGES OF ADMIRAL SIMS

Canadians will be pleased at the prompt declaration of Secretary Daniels that it was not he who told Rear-Admiral W. Sims in March, 1917, "not to let the British pull the wool over your eyes," and that the United States "would as soon fight the British as the Germans." Sims says that the statement was made to him verbally by "a high official." The status of that official will be of interest to Canadians. They will want to know if a man of importance in the Navy Department or any other department of the United States Government was using his influence against the British Empire and its allies in the hour of their greatest need. They were fighting as much for the protection of the United States as for any other of the free countries not actually involved in the war. Tremendous amounts of money from their treasuries, spent for munitions and food, were helping to make the United States the rich country that it is today. Any one and all of these nations would have been utterly disheartened at the thought that in the councils of the great Republic here was an adverse influence working to encompass their undoing to the extent of not hesitating to make war upon Britain, the keystone of the allied rampart against military autocracy. The name of this "high official" will no doubt be forthcoming during the investigations to be conducted by a Senate sub-committee and the General Board of the Navy, now that the Admiral's charges have been formally presented and made public.

For the rest, the charges have a familiar ring about them. Commissions of inquiry in Britain and confessions by Generals and Admirals in Germany have revealed that military and naval departments are conservative and prone to consider themselves infallible. Starting with a protest against the manner in which war decorations were awarded by Secretary Daniels, regardless of his own recommendations, Admiral Sims has now made sweeping charges against the Navy Department's conduct of affairs during the war. He was sent to Europe with one aide, and for months could get no more help. After he had been made Commander of the American naval forces in European waters his recommendations and suggestions and his repeated requests for reinforcements were ignored for months at a time. The Navy Department, he contends, conducted affairs as if the war were being fought off the American coast. The Department is, in fact, accused of "a violation of the fundamental principles of warfare, which continued throughout the war." This branch of the inquiry is one in which Americans will be more profoundly concerned now than the people of other nations. They will be fortunate if it results in any conclusions and decisions worth while. Its more probable course is an entanglement in political and personal policies and squabbles, until the public becomes bewildered and weary and officialdom has another victory to its credit.

People who look for an immediate drop in the cost of living are doomed to disappointment, according to Prof. G. F. Warren, of Cornell university. The chief consolation Prof. Warren could give an expectant world was this: "Although the pre-war level may never be reached, it seems probable that a very considerable drop in prices will take place in five to fifteen years."

T. EATON CO. INSURES 13,000 EMPLOYEES

In an article here recently, referring to group insurance, it stated that although many substantial firms have contracted with the insurance companies to purchase life insurance for their employees, so far none of our very big corporations have done so. However, the T. Eaton Company has since taken the step. Sir John Eaton President of the T. Eaton Company, announced that as a New Year gift the company would place $1,000 on the life of each of its 13,000 employees who have been with the company for six months or over. In addition this great corporation is perfecting a scheme of pensions for its employees, the details of which were to be

Wet weather and the life of your Shoes.

YOU wouldn't expect a leaky boat to keep out the water. Then why expect cheap, porous soles to keep your feet dry. The pictures here show you just what happens to sole leather in wet weather. The upper one shows you how the good quality, close grain leather used in Leckie Boots repels water. The lower one shows you how cheap, porous leather soaks up water like a sponge. There is nothing that will cause the fibre in sole leather to break down quicker than dampness, and broken down fibre means nothing else than rot.

Rotten leather can't stand the punishment of every day pounding over hard pavements—and the first thing you know the sole is worn through. That's what wet weather means to some shoes, but it doesn't happen with the Leckie Boot. Wearing quality is not the only recommendation; style is there aplenty. Putting your feet into a pair of Leckie Dress Boots gives them that added touch known as "CLASS."

NEW DEVICES TO SAVE WORK

There was a time when housewives needed to be convinced that an electric iron was superior to the old "sad", that day passed long ago. Since that day electrical devices, one by one, have been brought to such a state of perfection that they are now recognized without question as standard articles in household furnishings—toasters, vacuum cleaners, ranges, percolators, etc.

And the procession still goes on.

Up to the present the lectric washing machine has been looked upon with hope rather than favor. It has taken this appliance longer to prove its real labor-saving qualities. Not that there has been any difficulty in selling washing machines—quite the reverse. Once you convince a housewife that it will do what is claimed for it the machine sells itself. But it now seems as if the pioneer work had been done and that this article, like those that have gone before, is now established as an essential—a real mother's help.

And now, next in line comes the ironing machine and the dish washer. The field for both is unlimited. Both will get the kindliest possible reception and be given every chance to prove their worth. All that has to be shown is that they save labor —that is, save more than they create—and that they are dependable in operation. The latter should be simple, and if the present models don't save labor there is nothing for it but to correct the models. This, at best, will take a year or two.

Almost in the same class as the dishwasher and ironer comes the electric refrigerator. There is no piece of furniture in the home more frequently and constantly used. Three times a day, to and from the refrigerator—sometimes located in an almost inaccessible corner—always an expensive appliance to operate with the present-day high-priced ice—generally a nuisance to fill and messy at that—think, by comparison, of the luxury of an electrically operated refrigerator in the kitchen wall—ready to hand, automatically operated—a delight as well as a labor-saver to the kitchen worker.

Servants are scarce, and getting scarcer. The electrical trade holds the solution. There never was a richer harvest or a more urgent need for gathering in.

USE OUR OWN COAL

A special committee has been appointed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to investigate the possibility of developing sufficient fuel in Canada to meet the needs of Canadian industry. It would be a great boon to the country if the investigations of this committee resulted in taking full advantage of our deposits and in making us less dependent upon those of the United States.

"Considering the country as a whole," says Mr. Arthur V. White, Consulting Engineer of the Commission of Conservation, "Canada, in respect to quantity, quality and accessibility for mining purposos, possesses coal deposits which compare favorably with those of the greatest coal mining countries of the world. Speaking in round numbers, she has nearly 1,000,000,000 tons of semi-anthracite coal, 315,000,000,000 tons of bituminous coal, and 10,000,000,000,000 tons of sub-bituminous coal and lignite." Unfortunately these colossal deposits of coal are to be found in the eastern and in the western extremities of the Dominion, and the intervening country, thousands of miles in length, is without a supply of its own. Under present conditions it is impossible to utilize this coal in Central Canada in competition with that from the United States, which is nearer at hand. During the year 1917 Canada imported from the United States 5,319,680 tons of anthracite and 17,219,824 tons of bituminous coal, but for both economic and national reasons this country should not be so dependent upon a foreign country for its fuel. We now mine about 15,000,000 tons of our own coal and it is to be hoped that the Manufacturers' Association will be able to devise a practicable scheme for supplying more of our own coal to meet our own requirements. It will be necessary to co-ordinate transportation facilities and to provide for storage and distribution, but the National Railway system will be able to aid in remedying this national defect.—Globe.

Canadian Democracy

During his visit to Canada the Prince of Wales bestowed no decorations carrying the title of "Sir," but in the United States a number of citizens received G.C.M.G.'s and K.M.G.'s for services in the war. The explanation of this is, of course, to be found in the fact that the Dominion Parliament has vetoed the acceptance or recognition of titles, and the Montreal Daily Star has made it the subject of an ironical dissertation on the danger which American democracy is incurring through its laxity. Perhaps democracy in Canada is not very robust, but it does seem rather ridiculous that the King's own subjects should be barred from honors which citizens of the Republic over the border can accept. — London Truth.

In a bill respecting legitimation by subsequent marriage an important measure was given a second reading in the Saskatchewan legislature. Hon. A. Turgeon explained that the object of the bill was to give legal standing to illegitimate children whose parents subsequently married either before the passage of the bill or after its enactment. City League Standing—

	Won	Lost
Shamrocks	2	2
Millionaires	2	2
Monarchs	1	4

On Monday, Feb. 2, the Nationals practically cinched the City League championship by defeating the Monarchs 8—2. The game was very even up to the last period, when the Nationals ran away from the Monarchs and scored five goals.

Tonight if the ice is in good shape the Shamrocks and Millionaires will lock horns. This game should be a good one as these two teams have each a chance for the championship left by winning their remaining two games and the Nationals losing their next game, which will tie-up the race.

On Wednesday the Fernie team played their first outside game and lost to Coleman 8—3. For the first two periods the Fernie team was absolutely outclassed in every department of the game, outskated and played off their feet. In the last period they came to life for a while and scored three goals, thus saving a small portion of their reputation.

On Monday night Coleman plays a return game here at 8 p.m. sharp. The home team believes that on our own larger and better lighted rink they will make the Coleman team travel some to win. Admission: Gentlemen 50c; ladies 25c.

The teams lined up as follows:

Fernie—Goal, Colton; defence, Anderson and C. Colton; rover, Giddings; l. wing, Glover; r. wing, Dicken; centre, B. Wilson. Spares, Sofko and T. Wilson.

B. Wilson being hurt in the first two minutes of play, Sofko played out the rest of the game.

Benson from Blairmore refereed the game and his ability and fairness was greatly appreciated by both the teams.

FAREWELL TO PAPER WORK

To give up a profession that we have followed all our life, with the exception of two or three years when the condition of our eyes compelled us to seek other lines of endeavor, is not an easy task. But it must be done. It would be better to pick stones from the street than to pass into eternal darkness with the brain still active and anxious to accomplish more in this world. Blindness to one who has for so many years read books and periodicals that have become boon companions; to one who loves nature in all her beauty; who wants to see the facial expression of those he meets and read, when possible, the depth of the soul and listen as it were to the human heartbeats; to lose forever the greatest joy of home, the smiling welcome of those who love you best; blindness to humanity is the greatest affliction and to the man who has depended upon his eyes for his avocation, for his mental recreation, for all that is good and bright in this world, it is a calamity so disastrous that it is appalling. That is why we sever our connections with The Standard-Sentinel tomorrow night and with newspaper work, in all probability, the rest of our life. We want to save our eyes. In fact, they must be saved. Therefore, we can take no chances. To have been on the safe side we should have ceased the work some six or eight months ago. But we are quitting now and in another line of work will give them a thorough rest for six months or a year.

We want to say just a word in regard to our work in this province. We started in Wardner, B.C., in June, 1897, with the Wardner International and six months later founded the Cranbrook Herald. Then followed the Marysville Tribune, the Morrissey Miner, the Lethbridge Herald and the Victorian at Victoria, coming from there to Kamloops where we have been in the newspaper business for nearly four years in charge of The Standard-Sentinel. During those years we have never used any paper that we controlled to vent any personal spite nor did we permit any other person to do so. We have believed in British Columbia from the first day we arrived here, and we believe in her more today than ever; in her climate, in her resources, in her great possibilities, but more important tsill, we have an unfailing faith in her noble men and women. To the newspaper publishers throughout the province we have only words of thankfulness for their uniform courtesy; to the people whom we know, we want to thank them for their kindness at all times, and to the people of Kamloops we owe a debt of gratitude for their goodness in business and personal relations. We have made some enemies, but we have earned them. We have many friends that we know are good and true. We have tried to do our best for the city, the district, the province and the people. That is all one can do. We will say good-bye as a newspaperman, but will continue to remain in Kamloops. This good old town is our home and we hope that it may always be.—Standard-Sentinel.

NEW CONSULAR INVOICE REGULATIONS

The American Consul has just received word from his government that, in view of the present disparity in the currencies of the two countries consular invoices should in future show what currency is used in the invoice; and requiring, where Canadian currency is specified, that a currency certificate be attached to the invoice, showing exchange rate on date of certification.

Shippers will therefore (on all invoices expected to reach the Consulate after February 15) specify on the face of the invoice whether the dollar of the invoice is the Canadian or the United States dollar. If the United States dollar is specified, currency certificates of depreciation will not be attached to the invoice. A proper form for indicating this will be: "Total, $371.24 U.S. Currency."

If the nature of the currency is not indicated, or is stated as "Canadian currency," the Consul will attach the currency certificate. He states that these provisions are made in the interest of the American collectors of customs at the border, who are required to reduce all values to American money; and that it is distinctly in the interest of shippers to indicate that fact where sales are made in terms of U.S. currency.

CARD OF THANKS

The Ladies Chapter Loyal Order of Moose desire to express sincere thanks to W. R. Wilson for train faicilities granted on the occasion of the social held in Coal Creek on Tuesday evening.

The discount on Canadian paper mony in New York has reached 17½ per cent. In Spokane they are charging 20 per cent. A couple of sports from across the line gathered up about a bushel of Canadian silver in Fernie the other day and took it across the line. The present high rate for silver makes our coin worth more than its face value.

A. Farmilo, of Edmonton, organizer for the American Federation of Labor, was in the city this week, organizing the store clerks. A union was formed with an initial membership of twenty-five, and temporary officers elected until the charter arrives. The O.B.U. organizers have been very busy lately, trying to get the clerks into their organization, but the A.F. of L. have evidently put one over on them.

80 PER CENT ORGANIZED

Lethbridge, Feb. 5.—A peculiar situation has arisen here in regard to the Federal coal mine. The miners who are evidently O.B.U., have returned their International charter to Indianapolis. They now find that according to the order of Commissioner Armstrong that they have to sign the check-off for the International to be entitled to the 14 per cent increase. To get over this, a meeting of the miners has been held, in which they agreed to form their own union, independent of the international and the O.B.U. The plan aimed at is that they will be in a position to swing either way, as circumstances dictate.

The new status of the mine, however, cannot be accepted by the operators in view of the Armstrong order, both in regard to the check-off and to the increase in pay. This has been pointed out to the miners by the manager of the mine. The position of the miners in this mine is therefore that they will have to make up their minds by Feb. 14, which is pay day, as to whether they will be organized in the International to receive the benefits or otherwise.

So far as the mine owners are concerned, it is immaterial to them which course the miners take, as the shutting down of the mine will not affect them, the output being very small just now owing to the prevalence of mild weather and the fact that all dealers are now fully stocked. This applies to all mines in the district, where the output at present is much restricted. It is said that so far as the public is concerned, they will not suffer in the slightest degree if all the mines close for the next four months.

The Federal is a small mine, and with other small mines, has been temporarily left out by the International organizers, who have concentrated their efforts on the big mines. In District 18 eighty per cent of the mines have been organized for the International, and the miners are signing the check-off. There are only one or two mines in the Crow's Nest Pass and the mine at Commerce which have not yet come under the International.

P. M. Christophers has been camping on the ground in regard to the smaller mines, such as the Federal Coals and has been using his opportunity for the O.B.U. with regard to them, while the International representatives have been otherwise engaged. At present Mr. Houston is in the States called away on private business. Mr. Ramsay, his successor, is expected here in regard to the smaller mines yet to be brought in There is a glut in coal at present time, only last week 312 carload orders for the Western Canada mine at Taber being cancelled. From the Drumheller mine last week there were on the road of the C.N.R. 1800 cars ordered during the cold spell, but now they are hardly needed.

DOES IT PAY?

The following article is submitted at the request of a number of those interested in poultry:

It is not with the idea of giving the professional any information that this article appears. But it is an answer to the people who are for ever asking the question: Does it pay to keep poultry?—eggs $1.25 a dozen.

The question itself only calls for one answer and that is, no. But I believe that is not what is intended. And for that reason the writer will try to show how it does pay, and how it does not pay to engage in the poultry business.

This applies whether you keep a large or a small number. If you want to keep fowl follow these instructions:

Keep a good draught blowing on the birds. Keep the floor of the fowl house damp. Don't look for filth on the birds and only clean them out when spring comes. Keep their drinking fountains frozen over. Feed them any time and give them as much as will last them a full day. And then you can safely say you are keeping poultry and it will save the trouble of packing the eggs.

If you want the fowl to supply the table with eggs and derive a pleasure from them, let the fowl help to keep you and I can assure you they are always willing to do their part if you will give them a square deal.

See that their quarters are free from draught. They can put up with the cold fairly well but a draught starts them sneezing and roup generally follows.

Keep the floor covered with litter about 8 inches thick, and see that it is kept dry.

Keep them clean.

And if you will use common sense in feeding, eggs will be almost as plentiful in winter as summer.

Feeding Table—

Breakfast—Bury cracked corn and wheat under the litter so that they will have to scratch for every bit. The harder the fowl work the better they lay. Give clean water. Give green food at 10 a.m. prouted oats and beets are both good.

Noon — Give a mash as follows: Shorts, bran, rolled oats, add scraps, salt and a little charcoal. Don't give this mash hot.

Night—Give your birds all they will eat of hard grain.

Keep oyster shell and flint grit before them all the time. And don't forget your water.

If you think the above is more than you care to do, don't start with poultry. But if you are sure you would do it, they will more than pay you.

If you keep poultry at all you should be a member of an association if there is one handy. My reason for saying this is, you will sooner or later come across something you don't understand, and if you are a member you can take your trouble and you will find someone that had just the same thing, and you get put on the right way again.

I have keep poultry for a long time but I have let poultry help to keep me for a longer time.—A. H.

TEACHING ENGLISH TO ALIENS

The United States Senate has adopted a bill which requires all residents of that country between the ages of 16 and 21 years, not mentally or physically disqualified, and all alien residents between the ages of 16 and 45 who cannot speak, read or write English, to attend school not less than 200 hours a year.

Canadians are sometimes a bit startled at the suddenness and the extent of the swing of the pendulum of popular sentiment in the neighboring Republic. They have much of the inherent British inclinaton to move slowly and steadly. They desire to make progress safe, sane and sure. But the proposal to require all aliens living in the country to learn its language is neither hysterical nor unjust. It is sound national business. It is a constructive step toward the solution of many of the social and industrial problems which confront the Anglo-Saxon nations of the New World.

In Canada the situation with which the United States Senate is seeking to cope is one in which the Provinces have jurisdiction. The Federal authority regulates the imposition of educational tests upon immigration, but the responsibility for the adequate education of settlers of foreign birth and language rests with the Administrations in the various provinces. The action taken on the other side of the border line may well commend itself to Provincial consideration in this Dominion.

The most effective way in which to Canadianze the new citizenhood of this country is to teach it the English language. It is, moreover, a check upon the dangerous designs of agitators and Anarchsts who too frequently find the breeding ground for their propaganda in soil where English is little spoken and understood. At a time when national steadiness and industrial co-operaton are so essential to the well-being of the State as they are at the present juncture in Canada's history, any proposal to bring about a more general and a more thorough knowledge of the English language is worthy of the attention of those entrusted with government.

The provincial government is offering a reward of $1000 for the arrest and conviction of Joseph Cook, one of the staff of the Vancouver office. He is alleged to be about $3000 short in his cash.

The local Veterans Concert Party have engaged the Grand theatre for the 17th inst. Special efforts have been made to make this show as good as ever came to town, variety turns, burlesques, etc., being on the bill of fare. We in Fernie, and elsewhere in fact, are too prone to forget that we still owe a debt of gratitude to the local boys who went overseas, and as this party has always been willing to assist in all charities, thereby incurring certain debts, it is urged upon all to rally round the boys who did their bit. Box plan will be open at McLean's drug store on the 12th.

A SNEEZE IS NOT A JOKE

A joke is a joke and a sneeze is a sneeze but a sneeze is not a joke, as a rule, though the dictionary somewhat mechanically and facetiously says that it is "the conclusive motion and explosive sound attendant upon the ejection of air through the nose or mouth." This may be true, though I have little faith in dictionaries, says La Touche Hancock in he New York Post.

A great many people, when they sneeze, are like Mrs. Sparrit. You have forgotten who Mrs. Sparrit was? Tut! Tut! turn to your "Hard Times" by a somewhat celebrated author, Charles Dickens, and read: "Mrs. Sparrit with a violent cold upon her, and her stately frame so racked by continual sneezes that it seemed in danger of dismemberment." Mrs. Sparrit's condition at the moment was certainly no joke, and we have all probably been in he same condition at some time or other.

The—or a —sneeze has an interesting history. From the time of Adam to the days of Jacob sneezing was a Divine sign of death, but Jacob, by making sacrifice and prayers, succeeded in changing it to a sign of life. From Jacob's day you may have noticed that all babies have sneezed on coming into the world.

The first man that sneezed was so surprised that he couldn't understand what was happening, and straightway went and insured his life. Our ancestors were equally alarmed and astonished by their sneezes, and when gradually the idea of spirits and gods and devils developed to account for mysteries, naturally the sneeze came in for its share of superstitious explanation.

One of the loudest sneezes recorded by history was delivered by Timotheus the Athenian. He and his fleet were just putting out to sea on a hazardoos expedition when he sneezed so heartily and loudly that it startled the entire fleet. The sailors took the sneeze as a bad omen and demanded that he insantly return to port. Timotheus, however, rose up and spoke thusly: "And do you wonder, O Athenians, that amongst so many there should be one with a cold in his head?" These brave words restored the shattered confidence of the sailors and they sailed off to victory without more ado.

Then there is the famous sneeze of Xenophon. This sneeze decided the fate of Athens. There came a moment in one of his wars when his soldiers were wavering. Suddenly one of his soldiers sneezed loudly—extremely loudly. The idea was promptly spread by some ingenious officer that the gods had employed the sneezing soldier's nose as a trumpet wherewith to sound the blast of victory. Inspired by the idea, the army made up its mind to do or die, and so save Athens.

Eastern legends would have us believe that in the place of everlasting fire sits a judge who keeps a book in which the names of all mortals are written. Every day he turns one page and this settles what mortals are to come into his presence for judgment. As the leaf is turned each of the chosen ones sneezes.

In ancient Greece the sneeze was greeted with "Joy preserve thee!" In Italy with "Felicite!" In Germany with "Gesundheit!" In France with "Bonne Sante!" In England with "God bless you!" and in this country generally with "Oh, stop it!"

In England the North country folks have rhyme which runs:

Sneeze on a Monday, sneeze for danger!
Sneeze on a Tuesday, kiss a stranger!
Sneeze on a Wednesday, sneeze for a letter!
Sneeze on Thursday, you get something better!
Sneeze on a Friday, you sneeze for sorrow!
Sneeze on a Saturday, loves comes on the morrow!
Sneeze on a Sunday, you'd best safety seek,
The devil will have you the rest of the week!

This little ditty has not yet been set to music, although a sneezing saraband might well be developed out of the interesting lyric.

There are times to sneeze and times not to sneeze. Aritotle believed that a sneeze in the morning was a good augury, but in the afternoon a bad augury. If the ancients sneezed when they were going on a fasting journey they promptly went back to bed. They considered the moment was not propitious for rising. If a Hindoo sneezes while he is bathing in the Ganges and before his prayers are finished he begins to say them all over again from the beginning. Some people say that one sneeze brings good luck, and a double or treble sneeze bad luck. But there is certainly a time to sneeze and a time not to sneeze. The most awful time to sneeze is when making a proposal of marriage to a lady. A whole volume of fiction was once fashioned out of the idea that the hero sneezed half way through his proposal. In consequence he lost his opportunity and never recovered it.

I have said that a sneeze is no joke. It isn't, but it may lead to hilarity. Such occasions do occur. It was only the other day that some one said to me in an extremely rude tone of voice, "Oh! I can keep my eyes open." At that moment he sneezed. This gave me my opportunity for a splendid repartee. I replied on the instant, "Yes, and if at the same time you kept your mouth shut you'd be perfect!"

VICTORY FOR THE REDMAN

The noble red man, who, in the State of Oklahoma, is a very wealthy red man, is entitled to be protected in his rights, just as though he were white, according to a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court. A few years ago petroleum in very large quantities was discovered on the Osage reservation in Oklahoma, and formed the basis of a great industry built up by the Standard Oil Co., of which Tulsa in that State is the headquarters. The company itself dealt with the discoveries in just the same way as though the owners were white settlers, and so generous were the terms that it has made practically every Osage Indian rich. The phrase "squaw man" has in that region taken on an entirely new significance. Instead of a term of reproach, it now means a man whose wife possesses a large private income. The discoveries placed Oklahoma first among the oil producing regions of the world.

Under the circumstances it was inevitable that the good luck of the Indians should excite the cupidity of the white citizens of Oklahoma, and a concerted effort was made by the Board of Commissioners of Osage County to tax the Indians out of the possession of their oil lands, despite the fact that under the Federal law the tract was inalienable and nontaxable. The Department of the Interior, as guardians for the Osage Indians, offered to pay taxes based on an equitable assessment, but not on an assessment deliberately designed to absorb all the revenue accruing from oil and mineral rights; but this offer was refused, and a threat made to seize and sell the lands for delinquent taxes. In this course the commissioners were upheld by the State courts, but an appeal to the Supreme Court at Washington has resulted in a vindication of the rights of the Indians to enjoy in equity the revenues from their lands. The decision is in accord with the principles of abstract justice, and has some interest for Canada inasmuch as such questions may some day arise if the prophecies of those who look for great discoveries of petroleum in our own West are realized. It also contains another point of interest for Canadians, in that a considerable part of the Oklahoma crude petroleum comes to Canada by pipe line and is the basis of large industrial activity in our refining centres. There is a mistaken impression in some quarters that the operations of the Standard Oil interests in Canada deprive us of the benefits of a natural resource. As a matter of fact the boot is on the other foot, for at least nine-tenths of the crude product refined in Canada comes from beyonod our borders, whereas none of our own petroleum is diverted to American refineries.—Saturday Night.

A PHONETIC ALPHABET FOR THE CHINESE

China's adoption of a phonetic alphabet, which the national government officially established a year ago as the written language of the whole country, is expected to influence China's future helpfully. It may seem strange that so small a matter, seemingly, as an alphabet should exert such influence; but the seeming strangeness disappears when one recollects that the old Chinese alphabet, which really is not a system of signs for sounds, but a system of signs for ideas, is a prodigious thing and a wicked waster of time and work.

The phonetic alphabet is now taught through the length and breadth of China, and seems to be welcomed by the nation. "Asia" reports that remarkable progress has been made these 12 months. Books and magazines are printed in the new alphabet. Newspapers that use it find their circulation growing. Typewriters with phonetic keyboards have entered Chinese business. Every week sees formerly illiterate Chinamen enabled by the new system to read and write.

The old alphabet cost the Chinese scholar five years to master its 40,000 ideographs, but the phonetic alphabet requires only two months to acquire its 39 letters. They have no likeness to ours, but for the first time they make it as easy for a Chinaman as for an American to master reading and writing.

His Death Expected

New Brunswick Man Saved

Mr. Isidore Thomas, of Tilley's Road, Gloucester County, N.B., while expecting death, availed himself of help that was offered at random. Here is part of a letter he wrote to us:—

"I beg you to publish my letter, so that people may know what Gin Pills did for me. My case was very serious. I was so sick everybody expected my death any day. Finally, on advice from friends, I tried Gin Pills, and in a short time was well again, and soon had gained 20 pounds."

Kidney and bladder troubles, very often, work in secret ways. A bad condition may exist, with only a backache to indicate it. That is why the slightest pains in back or sides should be investigated. These pains, along with sciatic neuralgia, rheumatism, dizziness, constipation, lassitude, lumbago, highly-colored urine, headache, floating specks before the eyes, gravel, indicate kidney trouble. A course of Gin Pills, taken at once, will give relief, and prevent the progress of the disease, enabling the organs to right themselves and restore good health. Gin Pills are the sure, safe, quick remedy. Get a box from your druggist or dealer—50c. Money refunded if no relief found. Send for free sample.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

HOW YOU CAN TELL GENUINE ASPIRIN

BAYER

There is only one Aspirin, that marked with the "Bayer Cross"—all other tablets are only acid imitations.

Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" have been prescribed by physicians for nineteen years and proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages, can be had at any drug store. Made in Canada.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company, Ltd., will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

F. Stuart-Whyte's fourth annual importation of English pantomime to Canada will be "Little Red Riding Hood," which comes to the Grand Theatre for one night only, Wednesday February 11th.

The story of Red Riding Hood is one that lends itself admirably to pantomime usage, for, while the characters in the original tale are few, it is the custom when presenting the story in pantomime form to include all of the favorite characters of Mother Goose, among them being Boy Blue, Bo Peep, Jack Horner, Little Tommy Tucker, Big Jack Stout, Marjorie Daw, Jack and Jill, Peter Piper, Old King Cole, The Fairy Queen and Mother Hubbard, together with the Riding Hood family and of course the Wolf. This makes "Little Red Riding Hood" the biggest of all pantomimes to produce, as all of the characters are essential and must be played by competent artists.

It has been Mr. Whyte's wish for some time to produce this piece and bring it to Canada, but the scarcity of real pantomime artists during the war made the securing of an adequate cast impossible.

However, by being in London during the demobilization of the British troops and women war workers he was able to select a company of such proven abilities that even in pre-war days would have been difficult to engage for a Canadian tour.

"Far from being a new experiment in Democracy," writes Alfred W. Kiefoth, late U. S. Military attache to Russia, in the New York Times, "Bolshevism is the get-rich-quick scheme of radicalism. It is a party government maintaining its power through military force, terror, food control, tyrranical oppression of every form of opposition. The Bolsheviki speak of peace, but they are not sincere. They desire a breathing spell for world social revolution, which is their real aim. That is the theme of all the commissars in every village in the land." He adds that the political support that the Bolsheviki are receiving in Russia is due to the fact that the Allies have not adopted an open policy toward them. All their leaders emphasize the possibility of an American agreement, and this keeps up hope in Soviet Russia.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

It sure pays to advertise if you know how. But you've got to know how. Bill Smith refused to advertise. He thought himself "too wondrous wise". He said, "Instead, I'll take the chink that I would spend for printer's ink, and save it for a rainy day, for advertising doesn't pay. The people know I have the goods and if my store was in the woods, they'd wear a path up to my door. For I've got bargains here galore, although not strictly up-to-date, the price is right at any rate. And he who likes his wares can shout, but as for me—just count me out." But time passed on and so did Bill; his business is no more; a sign which reads "For Sale or Rent" is fastened on the door. His neighbor, Brown, has got the trade, (he doesn't handle trash), the staff of clerks are on the jump with hardly time for hash; his novel "stunts" to get the "Biz" are known both far and near. And when he comes to figure up, he's always in the clear.

Jim Thistlebeak says that Home is love's heaven. A cottage filled with love is a thousandfold grander than a mansion filled with things. Home is the sphere of harmony. Lovers of home have health of mind, content of spirit, poise of character, benevolence of soul. Every home maker is a prince of life. The glorious uncrowned queens of earth are the wives and mothers of homes.

Miss Annie-Wolf-Robe, from the Tobacco Plains Reserve was in Elko this week selling moccasins and buckskin gloves. The young bucks on the Reserve say that her flapjacks are dreams of delight, and her hard boiled eggs can't be beat.

Miss Doris Walker, of Nelson, passed through Elko Saturday for Flagstone, where she will have charge of the school.

The Rainbow Creek Lumber Company, Roosyille Valley, had a series of minor accidents last week. J. A. Broley fell off the jack-ladder and was almost drowned. Hubert Broley broke his nose crankng up the auto. One of the men had his hand crushed, and Joe Jordan killed one of Walter Foster's chickens with a kant hook to celebrate the day; then the engine broke down.

Kanute Sanders came in from Travis, Alberta, to visit his family on Sunday. Mr. Sanders is one of the big wheat growers of that district, and a good citizen of Elko.

A school teacher in a cooking school married a wise-winker in Vancouver. One night she frantically awoke her husband saying she positively heard a burglar in the pantry. "Let him alone," said the wise-winker, "he'll be dead in the morning."

A dear old lady gave a colored boy who returned her umbrella, which she had left at the store, ten cents, saying, "I do not give it to you for being honest, but because it makes me happy to give it." The kid looked at the dime, then at the old lady, and replied, "For Gawd sake, mam, if you'd gin me 50 cents it would have tickled you to death."

Mr. and Mrs. W. Parnell of the Compton Ranch, Roosville Valley, were in Elko this week.

The Indians on Tobacco Plains Reserve are cutting the timber on the Reserve and hauling to the Rock Creek Mills Co. It is estimated at the rate they are cutting, it will take them about 30 years to cut out the clear stuff.

The Flagstone Sunshine Society is giving one of their popular dances in the near future, and the young people in the Roosville Valley are going to give a masquerade in the Roosville school house in the near future; when notices will be sent out. giving the date.

There is some of the recent arrivals in Elko who have a propensity for butting into other people's family affairs; that they are making themselves as popular as a skunk in a hen house.

Geo. Schupe, the popular fire warden, was in Elko several hours last Sunday, getting acquainted with his family.

Considerable logging was done the other night at the Columbia Hotel. About four million feet were cut, swanmped and decked, and only one kant hook broke in the operation.

MAY REPLACE ANAESTHETICS BY HYPNOTISM

(By W. B. Thompson)

Will hypnotism take the place of anaesthetics?

Great specialists in every branch of surgery are beginning to feel that the application of the power of the mind directed in such a way as to solve medical and surgical problems in a manner which our forefathers would have denounced as magic.

Quietly and unobtrusively, on account of the grave danger of proceeding with such work on a grand scale until continued and repeated experiments have justified its claims doctors and dentists, too, are beginning to replace chloroform and other anaesthetics with magnetism and auto-suggestion.

They will not, as a rule, discuss the matter with laymen unless they are sure of a sympathetic hearing, which shall not lead to a mischievous and ill- considered, if not scandalous, criticism; for to the lay and unsympathetic mind the idea that difficult operations may be conducted without any other anaesthetic than that of the personal magnetism of the operator, and yet leave neither pain nor memory of pain in the mind of the patient, is one which mivht well be rejected as incredible and denounced as something little better than charlatanism.

If the names of the specialists who are today studying auto-suggestion, with the idea of incorporating it into the practice of surgery, could be published, the lay world would be astounded, for they include men whose reputation in the medical profession and in scientific circles is far too high to be affected by the breath of suspicion. In their heart of hearts, these great men hope that it will not be long before a patient who is wheeled into the operating room will not require chloroform or methyl-ether-alcohol, but will be "put to sleep" by the influence of a stronger mind acting upon his own.

INDUSTRIAL COUNCIL RULES

N. G. Neill, manager of the Employers Association of B.C., was in the city on Tuesday. He had just returned from Waldo where he had been called to try and adjust the strike trouble. Mr. Neill is a great advocate of the Industrial Council scheme for the settlement of all disputes, and declares that in five years' time the whole industrial situation will be dominated by the principle. Following is a list of rules contained in the agreement which employers and employees are being asked to sign in connection with the formation of an Industrial Council.

Recognizing that the best interests of all factors of the community, employers, employees, and general public, can best be served by the establishment of a system of practical co-operation, it is therefore deemed wise to form Industrial Councils" as the first step in carrying this out.

Industrial Councils may be formed either between the employers and employees of any one concern, or between the employers and employees in any trade group.

As it has been deemed advisable to form an Industrial Council for the ..... be it therefore resolved:

Clause 1.—That the name of the Industrial Council shall be "The Industrial Council of ....."

Clause 2.—That the "Industrial Council of ....." —hereinafter called the Industrial Council— shall be composed of an equal number of employers and employees.

Clause 3.—That the employees elect one representative for every..... or portion of..... in any one concern, such representatives to be duly elected by secret ballot of the employees of each concern at their individual meetings, all such elections to take place on the same day.

Clause 4.—That the employers of each concern shall nominate from amongst themselves and the managerial staff, including foremen, a number sufficient to equal but not to exceed the number of representatives of the employees of that concern.

Clause 5.—That the Industrial Council representatives elected by the employees, or decided on by the employers as their delegates, shall remain in office for a period of twelve months.

Clause 6.—That all elected representatives shall be subject to recall, should the employees of any concern at a properly assembled meeting (notice of which has been served on each employee not less than two weeks prior to the date of the meeting) so decide, but such meeting shall be composed of not less than seventy-five per cent of the employees affected.

Clause 7.—That a quorum of the Industrial Council shall be seventy-five per cent of the total number composing the Industrial Council.

Clause 8.—That all duly elected representatives of the employees on the Industrial Council shall not be subject to dismissal by their employers, except for serious neglect of duty in connection with their work, and in such case a complete report of the matter shall be made to the Industrial Council, before action is taken.

Clause .9—That both employers and employees in each concern shall sign a petition calling for the establishment of an Industrial Council, and each and every one shall agree to abide by the decisions of their Industrial Council.

Clause 10.—That at the first meeting of the Industrial Council, a chairman shall be chosen, and he shall immediately call for the nomination and election by ballot of a president and secretary, who shall hold office for a period of three consecutive months, and be eligible for re-election.

Clause 11.—That in order to maintain co-operation, the president and secretary shall be chosen when nominations are made, one from the employers and one from the employees.

Clause 12.—That the president shall preside at all meetings, and his decisions in the order and conduct of the business shall be final.

Clause 13.—That regular meetings shall be held once in each month, and that date, time and place shall be that most suitable to all.

Clause 14.—That any special meeting shall be called by the president, on the request for same, in writing, of 60 per cent of the members of the Industrial Council.

Clause 15.—That the Industrial Council when in session may arrange for any special meeting.

Clause 16—That the secretary shall keep an accurate record of all motions adopted at each meeting. He shall send out notices, and take an active interest in bringing to the attention of the president any matters which in his judgment should be presented to the meeting.

Clause 17.—That the president and secretary shall have a vote, and when a casting vote is required by the meeting then the president shall deposit same.

Clause 18.—That this Industrial Council, being organized for the purpose of establishing mutual co-operation, shall have power to consider and take action on all matters of joint interest affecting the employers, the employees, and the general public.

Clause 19.—That it shall be the duty of the members of the Industrial Council to assist each other in the conduct of the business in such manner as to establish the greatest efficiency and economy, and assure the best interests of both employers and employees.

Clause 20—That all new business requiring notice of motion shall be submitted in writing at a preceding meeting, and (unless the meeting so decides) no vote on any subject shall be taken, unless and until this has been done, but this is not to be interpreted as preventing an open discussion of any subject when it is introduced.

Clause 21—That it shall be the special duty of the members of the Industrial Council to establish, through meetings of the employers and employees generally, a spirit of goodfellowship. For this purpose and to this end the Industrial Council shall, at stated intervals, arrange social gatherings, and, whenever possible, business meetings of all the employees.

Clause 22—That it shall be the duty of the Industrial Council to provide ways and means for the welfare and protection of the employers and employees. All matters of wages and working conditions shall be taken up in the Industrial Council, and there shall be n lockout no rstrike, threatened, impiled, or intended, unless or until the matter has been considered by the Industrial Council in proper session at three meetings held within a period of seven days, without being able to arrive at an amicable adjustment. That in the event of the Industrial Council being unable to arrive at a settlement, an Arbitration Board of five shall be appointed by the Industrial Council—two being chosen by the employers, and two by the employees, and these four shall jointly select a fifth party, who shall be Chairman of the Arbitration Board.

Clause 23.—That this Constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of the members present at a duly and properly called meeting of the Industrial Council.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The past week brought the return of more old timers to the camp, Ike Simpkins, Geo. Waring, Billy Allott and Jack McGonnell being noticed.

George Palmer, of Calgary, author of "Stand To" and other literary efforts, was in camp on Monday. George is round on a publicity campaign in connection with the returned soldiers bonus scheme and addressed a number of Club members during his visit.

The mines have worked every day this week.

Patience is a virtue. A number of our sports are very virtuous as evidenced by the long wait for the arrival of certain commodities.

Don't forget the big show at the Grand theatre on Tuesday, Feb. 17, given by the Fernie, G.W.V.A. Concert Party. The show with some pep, burlesques, vaudeville acts. Box plan open at McLean's Drug Store on the 12th. Reserved seats, ground floor, $1; two rows balcony, 75c; general admission 50c. Get your tickets early.

Rumors of an increase of family at the home of one of our residents led the Rambler to make inquiries, and he found that it was the addition of our old friend Peter to the family circle.

The social dance held in the club hall on Friday evening was like its predecessors, voted a good time.

The Club hall was packed to full capacity on Tuesday evening, the occasion being a social evening arranged by the Ladies Chapter of the Loyal Order of Moose, whose fame as social organizers are legion. Great credit reflects on Mrs. Fowler, on whom the bulk of the work rested. The music was supplied by the Moose orchestra, with F. C. Bass at the piano. Vocal items were rendered by Miss Florence Billsborough, Mr. R. Samson and Mrs. Jenkinson, whose rich contralto voice took the audi- encore following each rendition. Thus have the Moose discovered another star in the vocal firmament. The duties of floor manager were carried out in creditable manner by Tom Uphill. Refreshments were served during the evening.

The committee in charge desire to thank the members for refreshments provided, the artists and the orchestra; also Manager W. R. Wilson for train facilities.

Balloting for the position of checkweighman took place up here on Thursday, Albert Simpson and Chas. Carter being the candidates.

The examination for miners certificates took place in the Home Bank office on Thursday. A goodly number were examined.

A large number of Greekites took in the big smoker at the Vets Club on Saturday last.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN MRS. LEFFINGWELL'S BOOTS AT THE ORPHEUM MON.

"Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots", which comes to the Orpheum theatre on Monday and Tuesday is Constance Talmadge's latest Select picture in which she is presented by Lewis J. Selznick. It is a bright and humorous story of Mr. and Mrs. Leffingwell in which two pairs of handsomely embroidered slippers play a prominent part and serve to make the jealous Mr. Leffingwell believe his wife is carrying on an affair with another man.

The trouble starts when Waltes Huntley purchases a pair of slippers for his fiancee, Mabel Brown, who breaks off the engagement before Huntley has time to give her the slippers. Having no other use for them he gives them to his maid. Mrs. Leffingwell buys an identical pair, and when Mr. Leffingwell chances to pass the window of Huntley's apartment and sees a pair of feet wearing the slippers, he naturally thinks it is his wife in Huntley's room, and he had had occasion to be suspicious of Huntley on several occasions.

When Mabel's sister-in-law gives a party at which Huntley and Mrs. Leffingwell both attend, Mr. Leffingwell has another opportunity to become jealous. He hurries to the Brown home and finds a pair of slippers drying before an open grate. The maid finds the boots, and as it is the same maid who once worked for Huntley, she seizes the slippers, thinking that someone has taken them from her room. At that moment Mrs. Leffingwell appears and claims the slippers. Then the maid goes to her room and gets the original pair, which serve to re-unite Mabel and Huntley and patch up the difference between the two Leffingwells.

NEW ETHER DISCOVERY

A new ether, which will eliminate pain without the loss of consciousness, has been orginated and perfected by Dr. James H. Cotton, a Toronto surgeon, living at 24 Bloor street east, and not yet in his thirties. With excellent results, "Cotton Process Ether" has been used for the last week in the Western and other Toronto hospitals. The supply in Toronto has practically run out, but more is expected in a few days. Dr. Geo. Carveth, chief anaesthetist of the Western Hospital, told The Globe yesterday that soon Dr. Cotton's ether would be used to the exclusion of all other mixtures.

The new anaesthetic is described as a purified form of the old ether. It is much quicker in its effects, and les is required for an operation. It sedom nauseates the patient, and in many cases almost immediately after the operation the subject can partake of a cup of coffee or other light refreshment.

Dr. Cotton, when interviewed by The Globe yesterday, was very reluctant to talk about his discovery. For years he struggled to perfect this process, and then struggled still harder to have his profession realize the advantages of it. The ether over which he worke for years has been denounced by many of the leading surgeons, and only recently has the demand for it in this country become great. Across the border its value was more quickly realized, and the demand for it has grown much greater than the supply.

It was in 1915, the year he graduated from the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Toronto, that the impurities of the commercial ether gave to the young man the idea of presenting the world with a purer and better general anaesthetic. The young doctor was already a chemist, having taken his M. A. in physics before he entered medicne, and, workng in his own laboratory and in the laboratories of the General Hospital, after months of continuous labor he devised the material which the medical profession now recognze as "Cotton process ether," and which is simply ordinary ether purified to almost an absolute stage by the methods originating plus synergists.

There are many things claimed for the new ether. A few drops, while it destroys all sense of feeling in the patient, will not make the patient unconscious. Operations can be performed, and have been performed, with the patient perfectly conscious of what is going on. So pleasant always is it for appendices to be removed, tendons grafted,or anything else in the surgical line done, that the occupant of the operating table or dentist's chair can talk, laugh and joke to the nurses and doctors while his interior geography is being changed. If the patient tires, or prefers sleeping through the performance, a few more drops are added to the mask and he becomes unconscious. The patient comes out of his sleep as quickly as he goes under, and seldom feels the nausea that other anaesthetics cause.

There is another important use that has not been mentioned. When a certain amount of the new ether has been administered the patients are quite willing to tell anything about their past life that is asked, and tell nothing but the truth. Physicians say that often the patient has to be prevented from going on with the story of his life. Whether this use of Cotton's process will be developed by the police to make hardened criminals lay bare the grim secrets of their lives surgeons are not prepared to say.

Dentists have found the "Cotton process ether" of great value. Patients have laughed and joked while they have had teeth extracted and roots dug out, one dentist told The Globe yesterday.

The use of the new ether in childbirth is said to be very helpful. While it cannot be said that all sensation of pain is lost, t is so reduced that the mother is relieved of much suffering.

SUBSTITUTES FOR GASOLINE

Mr. Henry Ford is so certain of the success of his new internal combustion engine-driven interurban car that his company is going ahead with plans for quantity production in a plant two miles long. If this car comes into general use for interurban service there will be an increased drain on the supply of gasoline, and if it is also used for urban purposes the drain will be much more severe. Its success will have a direct bearing on the price of gasoline and will hasten the day when gasoline must become exhausted, and will at once turn the attention of inventors to some substitute for it.

The Industrial Research Council of Canada pointed out in a report to the Government a few months ago that the use of denatured alcohol as motor fuel to replace gasoline is not a remote possibility, and that if industrial alcohol could be produced cheaply it would quickly replace gasoline, for it coud be used as effectively with slight changes in the motor engine. The Council were of opinion that industral alcohol at 30 to 35 cents a gallon, a not impossible price in the near future, should compete successfully with gasoline at 50 to 55 cents a gallon, a price that will be reached and exceeded in a few years. Alcohol for both industrial and motor purposes can be made successfully from materials from sawmills and pulp mills which are now wasted, but which are amost inexhaustible, whereas the supply of gasoline, unless made synthetically, is within measurable distance of exhaustion. Such a use of these waste materials would build up an enormously important industry in Canada.

In the meantime the increasing demand for gasoline and the consequent advance in price will turn the attention of engineers more and more to the advantages of hydro-electric power. The waters of the mighty St. Lawrence and of many minor streams flow on forever and require only to be harnessed in order to be available for transportation and industry.

BRICKLAYER CLAIMS TO BE LORD LENNOX

If John G. Rackshaw, erstwhile bricklayer of Sunderland, can establish his claim to the peerage of Dumbarton and estate of Burnbrae, carrying with it the title of Lord Lennox, he will give up his trowel and sit on one of the red-leather covered benches in the House of Lords, with a top hat cocked a bit on one side of his head in the accepted House of Lords manner. No women having as yet got into the House of Lords, the peers can still comfortably wear their toppers.

But Rackshaw the bricklayer has a long way to go before it will be decided whether or not he is Lord Lennox, especially as there has been an eleventh hour claimant to the title in the person of Mrs. Margaret Jones of Birkenhead. It is reputed that an annual rent roll of $180,000 goes with the title, and with it all the accustomed prestige of a peerage.

Rackshaw tells his story thus.

"I remember as a lad that every night when I came home from school my old grandmother, who brought me up, sued to tell me that I should be a nobleman one day. Her story was that my great-great-grandmother was a descendant of the Douglas family of Scotland, and that we were really related to Mary Queen of Scotts. She had but little money, but she made many sacrifices to keep me at school in order that I might get some education to fit me for the position to which I was entitled. For a time I acted as a school teacher, but I fell out with the headmaster and gave it up, and learned the trade of bricklaying, at which I have worked ever since."

One day, when Rackshaw's life seemed just one brick after another, he saw an advertisement in a London paper which flashed vividly on to his mind screen the story told him by his grandmother.

There was something else that gave Rackshaw a "hunch" that he was the man who, despite his proficiency in bricklaying, was destined to rightfully take his place in the nobility. Mrs. Rackshaw, hs wife, had dreamed just about this time that she had been walking through a castle and a big estate in Scotland along with her eldest brother.

Rackshaw immediately began collecting evidence in support of his case.

Owing to shortness of money, Rackshaw said, he has been hard put to it to pursue his claim, but one of his sons, a draughtsman, has helped him. He estimates his cost up to date at $4,000. Rackshaw, who is a hale and hearty man of sixty, is optimistic about his claim.

"I am the heir, and there is no doubt about it," he declares. "I can trace my ancestry back to 1581, and I think I shall win."

Rackshaw's solicitor, John Anderson, of Edinburgh, has informed him that the three women who are the present holders have withdrawn their defence, but now he must contest the claim of Mrs. Margaret Jones, who says she is a direct descendant of the Lennoxes and Grahams, and therefore more closely related in lineal descent to the last Lord Lennox of Dumbarton than the Hays, from whom, it is asserted, Rackshaw traces his forebears on his mother's side.

ELECTRICITY IN STEAM'S PLACE

Mr. Paul M. Lincoln, speaking recently on the subject of railway electricification, has some interesting information to give.

There are three places on the railroads where electricification is particularly desirable, says Mr. Lincoln. In the first place, it is of particular advantage in heavy grade sections, on account of its ability to haul heavier trains at higher speeds. The heavy grades are, so to speak, the neck of the bottle, limiting the capacity of the sections on which they are located, and since electrification can materially increase their capacity, these grade sections lend themselves to profitable electrification. One outstanding instance of this is on the Norfolk and Western line in West Virginia on the Elkhorn Hill, where there is a grade of about 2 per cent. for some 30 miles. This section was electrified several years ago and its capacity was increased to about double what it had been with steam. They are now hauling electric trains weighing about 5,000 tons at 14 miles an hour. This line, as you know, is a coal road, hauling coal from West Virginia to the port of Norfolk. In that particular case, the grade dictated the electrification, and it is a thorough success, both from an engineering and a commercial standpoint.

One other well-known road on which the grade was the reason for electrification was the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway. This road electrified that section of its line which crosses the mountains of Montana, there being three mountain ranges to cross in a run of about 440 miles. The electrification was carried out about four years ago, the first section having been installed by the General Electric Co., and it has proved a decided success. Power is purchased from the Montana Power Co. This same road also has authorized the electrification of another very heavy grade division in the State of Washington over the Cascade Mountains. The work has been delayed owing to the war, but it is expected that his secion will also be in operation within the next four months.

Another place on the steam railroad where electrification is called for is in the tunnels. This is because the steam locomotive becomes dangerous in a tunnel, particularly where there is a heavy grade. There are cases on record where the crews of the locomotive have been suffocated, owing to the accumulation of gasses when the engine stalled. One notable instance of this was in the Sarnia Tunnel under the St. Clair River. This tunnel has been electrified, as has also another tunnel at Detroit, for the same reason. The same is true of the tunnel of the Great Northern railway in Washington, which is five or six miles long. The tunnels have thus been isolated from the rest of the line and electrified, owing to the menace to life created by the use of steam locomotives in them.

The third place where electrification has been demanded is in the large city terminal. This was first forced upon the attention of the public in New York city. Many will remember how, some 16 or 18 years ago, a serious accident took place in New York as a result of the signals being obscured by steam and gasses from the preceding locomotive. Many people were killed and public opinion was aroused to such a degree that the Legislature of New York State passed a law requiring that all railroads entering New York city should be electrified by a certain date. The date so fixed was, as I recall it, January 1, 1907. In that way the question of electrification was brought to the front at a time when the art was not developed sufficiently to cope with such a large problem. The New York Central attacked it and adopted the same method as was used on our street railways, using 500 or 600 volts direct current, and the results have been very successful.

H. F. Rollings Is Surprised By Rapid Improvement—Troubles End.

"The best proof that I can give that Tanlac is the right thing for me is the way it is building me up," said H. F. Rollings, of 62 Flower Hill, St. Johns, Newfoundland, recently. Mr. Rollings has been employed as carpenter by Reeds Newfoundland Railway Company for ten years.

"At the time I began taking Tanlac I only weighed one hudred and twenty-two pounds, but now I weigh one hundred and fifty pounds—have actually gained twenty-eight pounds—and am picking up, both in weight and strength.

"I had been in the worst kind of a fix for some time and could get nothing to do me much good, if any. My appetite went back on me and my stomach was in such a bad fix that I could not eat meats or any of the more substantial foods at all. I had severe headaches and was so run down and weak that I couldn't do justice to my work. I would get so weak, faint and dizzy that I was actually afraid to mount the scaffolds. I was very nervous and nearly all my strength seemed to be gone. One day while crossing the railroad track I felt one of those dizzy spells coming on me. I managed to call for help, but I fainted dead away, and the next thing I knew I was home. I could never get a good night's sleep and that tired, worn-out feeling was with me all the time.

"My improvement since I began using Tanlac has certainly surprised me. My appetite returned after the first few doses and by the time my first bottle was gone, I could eat and digest anything. Then I commenced to pick up my lost weight and strength and get rid of that tired, worn-out feeling. The headaches, dizziness and nervousness have all left me and I sleep so soundly that I have to be woke up in the mornings. My appetite is so big that I can hardly get enough to eat and I never have the least trouble with my stomach any more, and when it comes to work, I can keep up my end with the best of them. I am convinced that Tanlac will help anyone who tried it and I am glad to make this statement for what it may be worth to others."

CRUSOE'S GUN IS BACK IN LONDON

Our museums are full of the weapons of kings, generals and famous men, but Robinson Crusoe's gun is still in private hands. It has just come back to London to the custody of its owner, Mr. Berens, after a tour of the museums of the country.

It is true that Robinson Crusoe is a fiction character and that Defoe invented him, but any schoolroom in the kingdom can tell you in one breathless phrase that Crusoe is founded on fact and really was a living person. The original Robinson Crusoe was Alexander Selkirk, and this is the gun with which he was put ashore on the desert island of Ivan Fernandez, 400 miles from the Chili Coast.

Life at sea in the days of William of Orange and Good Queen Anne was no smoother than it is now. Alexander Selkirk behaved as badly to his ship's captain as he did to his father, and was put ashore on the desert island as a reward for wickedness. He was landed with a bag of bullets, a pound of powder, and a flint-lock musket.

Mr. Randolph Berens has his musket today. He came by it by pure collector's luck. He was visiting Oxford and the Ashmolean Museum in 1882. The porter of the museum showed him around. Mr. Bernes remarked that there were few antiquee to be bought in Oxford then, and the porter agreed, but mentioned that he had been offered an old flintlock gun which was still in his lodge.

Mr. Bernes examined the piece, and was surprised to find that, roughly chip carved on the stock was the name A. Selkirk, and in smaller letters, Largo, N.B. On the other side was the date Anna R. 1701. According to our history books of today this date is wrong, but according to the old calendar it is correct.

On the wooden heel of the butt is the legend:

"With three drams powther, three ounce haile,
Rame me well and pryme me;
To kill I will not fail."

Mr. Berens bought the gun for 25s., and did his best to trace its history. He found that the piece came from near Clapham, and it is known that Alexander Selkirk owned a tavern there, but died at sea, aged 47, as lieutenant aboard his Majesty's ship Weymouth in 1723.

The weapon has been exhibited at the City of Bristol and other exhibitions, and is insured for no less than £2,000.

BRITON WINS ARABS OVER

London.—Among the great war's stories of romance and deeds of wonder none is more thrilling than that now being told here of the young English civilian, Thomas Lawrence, now a lieutenant-colonel in the British army. He has been ranked, for his eyploits in the east with Clive and Hastings.

At the outbreak of hostliities, Lawrence was still in his twenties, fresh from Oxford University. In the summer of 1914 he was wandering about the Euphrates valley, keenly interested in archaeological remains and the Arabic language, of which he is a master. His amazingly youthful appearance, his shy and bookish manners, made him the last man to regard as a posible leader of an army. Yet the British war office, with a truly notable perspicacity, recognized the latent talent in this unassuming student, commandeered his services, gave him a second lieutenant's commission, and placed him in the army that was then preparing to advance against the Turks.

Arabia was too near the war theatre to risk its friendship falling to the Turk, while the reinforcements of the British army with Arab forces was a factor that easily carried enormous possibilities of success. It was to Lawrence, with his knowledge of the language and of the subtelties of the Arab temperament that the British authorities looked for the accomplishment of this task.

He was sent to Arabia and attached to the staff of Emir Feisul, a leader strongly in favor of the allies. Lawrence proceeded to collect an army of 200,000. He was at this time entirely ignorant of military art and discipline, and so fair and pink in complexion that he was mistaken for a woman when dressed in native Arab costume.

Yet his influence over the Arabs was magnetic. Soon after his arrival they made him a "Prince of Mecca," which is a title carrying with it privileges that belong by right only to the best "bloods" of the land.

Lawrence's army was a haphazard collection of adventurous spirits to whom the word "discipline" was unknown. Not one had any experience of modern military methods, and with the prospect of approaching battle, their wild nature rose to a pitch of untamed excitement. Yet all, leaders as well as rank and file, were controlled and guided by one boyish Englishman.

His difficulties cannot be over-estimated. It is a common extravagance of those who know litle of the Arabs to talk of them and imagine them as a noble-hearted people, enthusiastist for freedom, sincere in action, capable of government and with definite ideas of policy. From the experiences of British officers and men, however, comes a tale less romantic but nearer the truth. To the men who fought in the Holy Land and came in constant contact with Turks and Arabs, the former, though enemies, were preferable. If the Turk was hateful in his meanness and treachery, the Arab was ten times more so. According to Englishmen, who would naturally wish to favor as far as possible their own ally, there is no cruelty too vile nor any deceit too low for an Arab.

Therefore, Lawrence's success becomes all the more wonderful. He suited his methods to the people under his care, for instance, the numberless drills and duties that dog the life of the ordinary private in other sections of, the allied army were unknown under him, while awards of merit were perhaps never dispensed more freely. There was a childish element in these soldiers which had to be appeased and it was very seldom that Lawrence moved anywhere without a camel in his cavalcade loadwith parcels containing special articles, such as watches, rings, bracelets, colored head dresses and ornaments of various descriptions to be distributed as gifts.

So did this young man lead this strange army across the Arabian hills into Palestine. It was a great adventure—no less than the breaking of another of ex-Kaiser Wilhelm's dreams for world-dominion, for it was after the rout of the Turks and their total defeat on the road to Damascus that the line of the noted Berlin to Bagdad railway was cut.

From the Valley of Jordan, over the plain of Sharon, from Haifa, Acre, Tyre and Sidon, across the Judean Hills, from Nazareth and the whole of Galilea, were the sultan's armies driven. The advance was relentless and unceasing—on the one side General Allenby and on the other, Lawrence with his Arabs.

The allied armies slowly but surely converged on Damascus; it was Lawrence who was the first to come within sight of the city. The enemy was arrayed for a last defence, but tho' he made a brave attempt, his attack was worth but little. By a clever ruse the Arabs surrounded their foes on three sides and opened a withering fire upon them at sunset. Soon the whole of that Turkish force was a scattered mob, seeking cover over the edge of the nearby hills, where, had they but known, another Arab force awaited them.

Lawrence entered Damascus, where he found Abdel Khader, an Arab of uncertain temper and ideas, in control. He summoned this man to his presence and told him that, as the representative of Emir Feisul, he appointed Shukri-el-Ayubi as military governor. This angered Abdel-Khader. But the Englishman with characteristic coolness called the troops to defend the city from the crowds of looters who were committing deeds of violence under the support of the late administrator. Peace was soon restored, a few hours later the British army arrived, and, soon after that, Emir Feisul and his suite.

His dream is for an Arab empire, with Damascus as its capitol. The future will show whether this vision can become real. But certain it is that no exploits in English history have been more daring or more brilliant than those of this young Oxford student.

"Little Red Riding Hood" is the title of F. Stuart-Whyte's fourth annual Canadian importation of English pantomime, which will be offered at the Grand Theatre for one night, Wednesday, February 11th.

The company and production were assembled in London and the action rehearsed under Mr. Whyte's personal direction.

The Canadian-American tour commences at Halifax December the 1st, and will include all of the principal Canadian cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific, Halifax to Victoria and Portland, Oregon, to Portland, Maine.

The presentation of "Little Red Riding Hood" will continue along the lines followed by Mr. Whyte in "Aladdin," "Robinson Crusoe," and "Cinderella," while his policy of giving something a little bigger and better each year will not be altered.

WHAT IS CHRISTIANITY?

It is always salutary for people to be compelled to reconsider and restate the essential features of their religious beliefs, because it tends to make those who hold a particular position realize more fully what it means.

There are indications that this necessity is now being placed afresh in Christian men and women. The war caused a great upheaval in regard to religion as in regard to all else, and Sr Arthur Conan Doyle, whose advocacy of Spiritualism is creating such wide-spread atention, calls his recently-found faith a "new revelation," and says that the Christian Church has given too much attention to the death of Christ and too little to His teaching.

From quite another quarter comes the opinion of an university professor that "the man in the street does not believe in miracles" and therefore a religion based on or associated with miracles is "certain to fail to appeal to the average individual," because a miracle is a "stumbling-block in his path to religious belief."

And yet the season of Christmas just passed has once again borne its testimony to a belief in the supreme miracle of Christianity—the Incarnation. Is it possible that the Christian Church has been mistaken all through the centuries, as Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "new revelation" and this modern view of the miraculous seem to imply? Was that Chinese Christian wrong when he suggested to Dr. Eddy the necessity of putting the emphasis on Christ's Death and Resurrection instead of, as Sir Arthur Conan Doyle urges, on His teaching? These are questions to be faced fearlessly by all who profess and call themselves Christians. If these have been mistaken, let it be proved so that their errors may be corrected. Truth is the supreme necessity. "Let justice be done though the heavens fall," is as applicable to right thinking as it is to righteous action.

But has the Church been wrong? Abraham Lincoln in some well-known and characteristic words once said: "You can fool some of the people all the time; you can fool all the people some of the time, but you cannot fool all the people all the time." It is, therefore, at least possible, if not probable that the entire Christian Church has not been wrong in believing that Christ was miraculous. There is a profound truth in the old Latin phrase which may be put into English by saying "The judgment of the whole world cannot go wrong," no one can doubt that for all these centuries the various (and often varying) sections of the Christian Church have believed in the miracle of the Incarnation of "God manifest in the flesh."

The person of Jesus Christ is unique and as such is a standing miracle. On this account He cannot be explained in terms of evolution. Whatever may be said of this doctrine in relation to natural and mental science we are still without any proof that morality, self-consciousness and self-determination can be brought within its scope. And sinre this is true of human life, much more is it true of Jesus Christ. Professor Henslow, himself an evolutionist in regard to physical nature, has written a book with this title, "Jesus Christ Not a Product of Evolution." As, therefore Christ is at least one great exception to the law of evolution, then we are in the presence of the miraculous, and on the historic, unique personality of Jesus Christ all non-miraculous theories are shattered.

What, then, becomes of the statement of the university professor quoted above? It is no question of the abstract possibility of the miraculous, but a question of the concrete reality of the miraculous in the supernatural Person of Christ. Dr. A. B. Bruhe was no obscurantist, but on the contrary, a decidedly broad thinker, and, yet he once aptly said, "The sinless Christ is as great a miracle as a Christ who can walk on the water." The Christian Church, therefore, adheres to the fundamental question of the miraculous Person. Modern physical nature has rightly made it impossible to identify the supernatural with the arbitrary or the unnatural. But no demand for uniformity can exclude Christ and relegate Him to the realm of natural, evolutionary processes. On the contrary, Christmas and Easter combine to present a religion based on the miracle of the Person of Christ, and if thereby Christianity "fails to appeal to the average individual," it cannot possibly help itself, because on this question compromise is impossible.

Nothing is gained by insisting on the absolute uniformity of nature unless we are prepared to go further and deny the possibility of any Divine interposition which, while being neither arbitrary nor unnatural, should still be supernatural. Even Alfred Russell Wallace, the great scientist, and by no means a Christian believer, maintained that there must have been three supernatural influxes or interpositions to arrount for the universe, as it now is.

The question remains, as ever, "What think ye of Christ?" and the Person of Christ is the great miracle which can neither be evaded or avoided. It has to be accounted for, because there was conspicuously in Christ, as a modern scholar has said, "an element of activity transcending common experience." When this is clearly seen all else becomes quite secondary.

And the ultimate decision will pretty certainly be made when men have settled hte question what Christ came into the world to do. If He was, as Sir Arthur Conan Doyle implies, only one of the world's greatest teachers, then the Church has been wrong through the ages in regarding Him as miraculous. But if there is in the world such a thing as sin we may be sure that a Divine Incarnation is essential, because no one but a miraculous, supernatural Redeemer can cope with it. And confirmed by all we know of Christ in the New Testament in the experiences of sinful men through the ages, and in the marvellous influence He has wielded and is wielding over human thought and life, the Christian Church will respectfully but firmly decline any "new revelation," and will cling to the ancient belief of the Church Universal, that Christianity is Christ, and that the Christ of Christianity is not only a Teacher and an Example but also and chiefly a Saviour and a Master, a Redeemer, and a Ruler, Son of Man and Son of God, "bone of our bone, flesh of our flesh," and yet "God over all blessed forever."

PEGGING VICTORY BONDS

Bargain days in Victory bonds, if any were in sight, have been postponed. The Dominion Government has taken a step to effectually "peg" the price of the 1917, 1918 and 1919 issues of the five and one-half per cent. variety, subscriptions to which were much greater in volume than to the prior five per cent. loans. The Government, through the instrumentality of the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada, has set a fixed price upon each maturity of bonds of the years named. A Market Committee will have charge of all buy and sell transactions, and the members of Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg Stock Exchanges have agreed to recognize the prices adopted and to market through the Market Committee. This plan answers a question which financial and bond men have recently been putting to themselves and each other, as to whether the Victories were bound for a higher or lower figure, under the influence of existing rates for money and bonds generally. The answer is that there will be no fluctuations. Prices are fixed in cement. The earlier issues of War Loan will be allowed to shift for themselves, evidently. They will have no benefit of clergy, as in the 5½'s, and in the event that lack of interest in them or demand for the fives weakens them, then the former holder who converted into the Victories will consider himself perhaps both lucky and shrewd. This pegging of a price is the first gun of a later Dominion Government bond issue. Whether the procedeure is sound or not remains to be seen, now that war is over and nothing remains but war problems. It will, however, appeal to the taxable public that if the Government has to have a set sum of money to carry on, it is better to insure a firm market for a new issue of bonds at around 5½ per cent. than to risk having to face a time which would necessitate offering a greater inducement to buy. This would mean the country as a whole would have to make up the difference, in one way or another.

If the League of Nations had become a workable reality, the General Manager at about this date, might be in a position to peg the price of British sterling in the United States. If some one would appoint an official pegger for the consumer, a very sharp peg would instantly be driven through the price of butter and other things. But apparently the idea is good only if employed in a limited way; if the application became universal, first thing we know we would be back under the old pre-war regime of free and unrestricted competition, timed by the pendulum swing of supply and demand. Could all of us stand such bit of radicalism?—Saturday Night.

DAMAGES APLENTY

A Chicago lawyer tells of a visit he received from a Mrs. Delehanty, accompanied by Mr. Delehanty, the day after Mrs. Delehanty and a Mrs. Cassidy had indulged in a little difference of opinion.

When he had listened to the recital of Mrs. Delehanty's troubles the lawyer said:

"You want to get damages, I suppose?"

"Damages! Damages!" came in shill tones from Mrs. Delehanty. "Damages! No, indeed! I've got damages enough. What I want is satisfaction."

SOUR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" neutralizes excessive acid in stomach, relieving dyspepsia, heartburn and distress at once.

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress, due to acidity, will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach sweetener in the whole world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

New Spring Merchandise Makes Its Initial Appearance

DRY GOODS DEPARTMENT

CORSETS —— SPECIAL

GOSSARD No. 570. Regular $6.50—$5.75

This low bust model will find favor with the slender women requiring a corset of dainty material that is light of weight and will give decidedly flat back and hip lines. Made in silk stripe.

GOSSARD LINE No. 263—$4.00. This corset will meet the needs of a large range of figure types. The low top is gracefully curved to follow the contour of the bust with the clasp carried high enough to support the flesh at the centre front. Made in everlast cloth.

GOSSARD LINE No. 241—$2.75. This general purpose model designed for the average figure is a lightly boned corset with an extremely low bust, and a long skirt that confines the lower back and thighs to skirt lines. The skirt is cut away in front to allow greater freedom of movement—everlast cloth.

On the evening of Feb. 2, Michel Brass Band enjoyed a moonlight excursion to the bush camp of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co, and sprung a surpise on the camp by giving them an hour's entertainment of choice music, which was appreciated to the limit by Foreman Price and his men, which was shown fully when one of the men passed the hat at the close of the entertainment and the sum of $47 was gathered in, which was greatly appreciated by the band and committee. The band wish to convey their thanks and appreciation to Foreman Price for the royal welcome and pleasant evening spent.

Joseph Branch and Wm. Conway were arrested by the Provincial police on Friday last on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of pit boss Alex Ewart, who was murdered at Meritt, B.C., about ten days ago. The immediate charge on which they were arrested was jumping their board bills. The men were taken to Meritt on Saturday. Constable Collins was the man who located the two suspects by their description. The local police think the men are innocent of the major charge.

CITY COUNCIL OUT WITH AXE

The frist regular meeting of the new city council was held last evening and the prompt and orderly way the business of the evening was handled speaks well for the way the city affairs will be conducted during 1920.

The mayor and all the aldermen with the exception of E. Rutledge were present.

The minutes of the meeting held on Jan. 19 were read and adopted on motion of Aldermen Bean and Robichaud.

A delegation from the City Band consisting of Wm. Dickenson, Geo. Thomson, A. Corrie and D. Nicoletti each addressed the board, requesting a grant of $125 per month toward the salary of the bandmaster. They stated that the affairs of the band during 1920 would be placed in the hands of a committee of business men of which two members could be appointed by the council, and that everything would be run in a businesslike manner. The bandmaster was a man of exceptional ability and would soon have the band in A1 condition. In return for the $125 per month the band would be willing to give an open air concert once a week during the summer months.

The mayor thanked the delegation, stating that while he was not opposed to the band receiving some assistance from the city, he wished to have the delegation gaze at a few of the band instruments which had been turned in. He then produced four or five pieces which looked as if they had been gathered up at the dumping ground and wanted to know if that was the way the members of the band took care of their instruments. He said that the request of the delegation would be given serious consideration before the council adjourned for the evening.

Frank Brindley appeared before the board with a request for assistance for John Shrypek, who was seriously ill, with a family of seven children to support. He had been turned down by the Compensation Board and was in desperate circumstances. The mayor promised consideration of the matter and later on a motion was passed requesting the Compensation Board to go into the case and see if something could not be done.

A letter from the Princeton Board of Trade requesting co-operation in regard to the Transcontinental Highway, was received.

The Good Roads League of the Province wrote asking that delegates be appointed to a convention in Vancouver.

John Woodnorth asked for a pasture concession near the park for which he was willing to pay $5. Laid over until next meeting.

The local G.W.V.A. wrote asking co-operation with them in securing the opening of the post office on Saturday afternoon for the distribution of registered mail.

Ald. McEwan stated that he thought the matter had already been attended to.

A communication from the Prince George hospital asking the city to pay a bill here, was filed without action.

Mrs. A. Cummings, writing on behalf of the local Women's Council, entered a protest against some of the churches being allowed to pile the sidewalks high with snow from the buildings.

A letter from the Provincial Board of Health requesting the Board to put into effect compulsory vaccination, was received and laid over until the next meeting in order to consult legal advice.

The staff of the power house requested an advance in wages of 14 per cent and time and a half for over time.

Miss Carmichael, of the city office staff, also asked for an advance.

The report of the Fire Chief for the year 1919 was read and adopted. He stated that the fire loss in the city during last year was $4831.

The fire, water and light committee submitted the following schedule for 1920:

Light for Residences and Business premises:

Meter Rent—Residences 15c per month; other buildings 25c per month.

Minimum charge for electricity—$1 per month.

Rate per K.W.H., 14c.

Hospitals per K.W.H. 11c.

Power Rates—

Meter Rent 25c net.

Minimum charge $1.00 net per H.P. of motor until current exceeds charge.

First 100 Kilowatt hours—13c per K.W.H.

Next 200 Kilowatt hours—11c per K.W.H.

Next 300 Kilowatt hours—9c per K.W.H.

Next 600 Kilowatt hours—7c per K.W.H.

Next 600 Kilowatt hours—5c per K.W.H.

Over 1800 Kilowatt hours—3c per K.W.H.

A discount of 10 per cent will be allowed on the above, if paid on or before the 25th of the following month, but when the 25th of the month falls on a Saturday or Sunday discount to be allowed on the following day, or when the 25th of the month falls on a public holiday, discount to be allowed on the following day on which office is open for business.

The following charges are net—No discount:

Advertising signs, if on seperate meter, 12c net.

City departments, 8c net.

Verandah Lights:

25 watt Tungsten, 30c per month.
8 C.P. Carbon, 40c per month.
40 watt Tungsten, 50c per month.
16 C.P. Carbon, 75c per month.
60 watt Tungsten, 75c per month.
100 watt Tungsten, $1.20 month.

Larger lamps according to capacity. Rates 1 1-5c per watt per month.

No more verandah or window lights will be connected to flat rates circuit and the charges for them will be made regardless whether used or not as long as the wiring remains unconnected and connected to the flat rate circuit.

Consumers desirous of discontinuing payment for veranda light must have it disconnected from the flat rate circuit.

Consumers who use veranda or window lights of larger capacity than arranged for, without having given proper notice in writing of their intention to do so, will be charged a minimum extra charge of 50c per month.

Consumers must not allow veranda or window lights to burn during daylight hours.

Any consumer violating this rule will be charged a minimum of 50c for each infraction thereof.

No person shall use electric light, power or heat in any place until said person shall have signed the form required and shall have paid the required deposit at the City Clerk's office. Deposits required under the above rule shall be equal to the amount of the maximum two months account during the twelve months preceding the date of application.

No interest shall be paid on deposits until they have been deposited for twelve months, after which time interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum shall be paid for the full period.

Notice must be given at the city office within 48 hours after a house has been vacated.

Water, light and power service will be cut off when the consumer is in arrears for 50 days.

Parties whom it has been necessary to cut off for non-payment of account, will be treated as new consumers, and an adequate deposit will have to be placed before they will be permitted to use current again.

A flat charge of $2.00 will be made for connecting up a consumer who has been cut off for the above reason.

No discount will be allowed unless all arrears are paid in full.

The meters must be protected with proper fuses; if heavier fuses than permitted are used, the consumer will be held responsible for any damage done to meter.

It was reported by a committee appointed for the purpose that they had decided to cut off four phones in the city buildings.

Ald. McEwan also thought that it was unnecessary for the Chief of Police and the City Engineer to have phones in their residences, but the remainder of the council disagreed with him.

A motion granting P. Lundie a rebate of $8 on taxes which were collected through an error, was passed.

Ald. Tully signed a motion granting an advance in the city clerk's salary, but could not get a seconder.

Ald. Tully and Ald. Robichaud on motion were appointed to represent the council on the Reconstruction Committee.

On Wednesday of this week Wm. Dunlap was united in marriage to Mrs. Josephine Dunlap, both of Fernie.

PUBLICITY MEETING

At a meeting held in the Council Chamber last Saturday evening, final arrangements for the publication of the booklet descriptive of the motoring possibilities of the whole of South Eastern British Columbia were made. A brief report of the proceedings follows.

Those present were Messrs. Harvie, Spalding, Corrie and Henderson of Fernie; Messrs. Wilson and Fink of Cranbrook; Messrs. Mallandaine and Hayes of Creston and Mr. Cleland of Invermere, who represented Golden as well.

Creston, not having been included in the arrangements which had been formerly made, decided that it would be better if they did take a part in it so as to make the booklet complete, and as they desired a little information as to what had been, and was to be done, Mr. Fink made a brief speech welcoming them in, and outlined the whole proposition, after which, they expressed their appreciation of the importance to their district and finally decided to take part in it. The minutes of preceding meetings were read and adopted and then Mr. Spalding was requested to read the write-up he had prepared, which, with one or two minor corrections, was adopted in it's entirety, and Creston will send Mr. Spalding particulars of their district for him to include.

The placing of the contract for printing was next discussed and Mr. Spalding submitted figures which he had obtained from several firms, including the Free Press. Mr. Cleland also told of figures which a Calgary firm had given him; these figures were less than half the price quoted by the others, and Mr. Henderson and Mr. Hayes both said, from their experience in the printing business that they could not possibly do the work for the amount quoted. It was proposed by Mr. Spalding that the offer of the Fernie Free Press be accepted for the reason that their offer was the next best, that it was local, and also, it would be much easier to see that specifications were carried out to the letter. While agreeing that this was true, Mr. Hayes thought that as there was such a difference in the quotations, it would be best to have a dummy booklet made up of the actual stock to be used and send it to the Calgary firm and ask for another estimate from them. It was finally decided that six firms should be asked to estimate on the job and, provided that there was not a great deal of difference, the Free Press offer would be accepted.

The method of distribution was next considered. Mr. Spalding's idea was accepted. This was to have a central distributing point so that they could all be sent out from there without any duplicating. The plan to be followed is that of the Board of Trade of each district put in a requisition for their requirements which will be filled first and then a general distribution made to tourist agencies, Automobile Clubs, Commercial Clubs, Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce, etc., throughout Canada and the States.

Mr. Spalding then outlined the efforts he is making to induce the organizers of the Winnipeg-Rocky-Mountain Tour to include this territory in their itinerary, and read some of the correspondence. This tour is being arranged by the Calgary Good Roads Association and the Winnipeg Automobile Club jointly, and is to take place in the latter end of July or early in August next. It is being arranged solely for the purpose of boosting for the Rockies as a motoring centre. It is expected that a large number of Americans will take part in it. Such well known men as Irving Cobb and Sinclair Lewis have signified their intention of being present. The start will be at Winnipeg, then through the prairies to Calgary, then Banff and Lake Louise. Mr. Spalding has pointed out to them that unless this portion of the province is included, it will hardly be a Rocky Mountain tour at all as they will not be near the mountains until they reach Morley and from there to Lake Louise is only 80 miles, whereas, if they take in this section they will have a run of over 280 miles from Crow's Nest to Golden, the whole of the distance being right through the heart of the mountains and far better scenery all through than the other. However, if they will not come this way, it is the intention of having somebody go from here and meet the tour at some place such as Medicine Hat or Swift Current and distribute our literature amongst them and endeavor to induce some of them at least to come through here.

Calgary is apparently doing all in their power to draw motor traffic to their town and do not seem to take this section into their considerations at all, but the Publicity Committee are going to try their utmost to get them to work with, and not against us. We have the scenery and the roads here, which, through lack of publicity hitherto, are very little known. It is a question if half a dozen Calgarians have ever driven through here and up into the Windermere country, which may explain their failure to include it in the tour. Mr. Spalding thinks that it would be a good idea to invite the Committee of the Calgary Good Roads Association here as our guests some time when the roads are in shape and take them up to Golden, showing them on the way such places of interest as Elko Canyon, Bull River Canyon, etc. It could not do any harm and might do a lot of good.

Mr. Wilson gave some very interesting figures in respect to the number of motorists who visited Yellowstone and Glacier National Parks last summer, approximately 700,000. At a conservative estimate they would leave behind at least $5 a passenger at stopping places. Both the parks are within easy reach of here and there are good roads between. It only needs us to get out and let them know what we have here and there is no doubt at all that a very considerable number could be induced to continue their trip through to here. Americans in the last five years have not been able to go to Europe and have had to travel round their own country. By now they have seen most of their tourist resorts, and are looking for new fields, and as our scenery beats anything they have, they will come here in their thousands when they get to know about it.

THE LOCAL BONSPIEL

The local bonspiel has narrowed down to the finals in two competitions. The final for the Burns was played off last evening between J. McLaren and E. Kirkpatrick, the latter winning the trophy after a hard game. The final for the Grand Challenge will be played tonight between W. Lancaster and E. K. Stewart; and for the Fernie Club on Monday between M. A. Kastner and T. Prentice. There are 22 rinks playing in the Consolation. It is down to the eights but will not be finished until next week.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

It sure pays to advertise if you know how. But you've got to know how. When you start to advertise stick to facts. Good business isn't built on lies—stick to facts. No matter what you have to sell; the truth is good enough to tell. Boost your goods and boost them well—stick to facts. When tmpted to exaggerate stick to facts. Tell the truth, don't overstate—stick to facts. If the truth is not enough, something's wrong about your stuff. Anyhow, don't try to bluff — stick to facts. Makers, merchants, middlemen stick to facts. Pick your points with pungent pen—but stick to facts. Though others make their figures lie, boosting of their values high; causing trade to pass you by—stick to facts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roo were Fernie visitors last week. Mrs. Roo coming up from Roosville via Flagstone and spent several days in Elko.

Mr. J. Hockley and family passed through Elko for Alberta this week.

Several well-known travellers visited Elko last week. Sid Newman, of Calgary, first time in nine years. Sid is well known in Fernie and the Pass towns, having traveled this section for the Western Canada Wholesale Co. Jimmy Clark, returned Vet. from Victoria, with a line of coffee as black as your hat. Earsine, the Purity Flour man. C. C. Snowden, of Sliptivity fame, wearing a nice white vest and a comellia in his coat, looking as happy as three million dollars. Plus MacFarrel, whose front name is Charlie, the noted shoe and slipper man. Like Barnum, the great showman, always got something new. This time with a shoe, a special for foot-ballers, made from mule hide. He stated at the meeting of the Queen Bees that if they wanted to do some kicking, them was the shoes to buy, and he sold; as Mac says that his lines sell themselves. All he does is write down the orders and says there is a lot more fun at an Irish wake than there is at a Canadian's funeral, but you must have shoes to go to either of them, and we have them for either place. Just pick your fancy and they'll be rolling home in the morning bhoys. The flowers that bloom in the spring are all right but you can't wear them on your feet like you can my shoes. Minister Miles and Miss Canada, both college bred, and society leaders, can you beat it? Jim Shierlock made his first trip since he was out to the coast. Arnold Booth selling overland trout, and pickled whales. Ed. Clay, with choice candies and dog biscuits.

The Elk River ice cutters at Elko walked out last week and are still out there were lots of men to take their places and the ice is coming in right along.

There are lots of fur buyers around these times, but there seems to be no demand for elephant hides and Mexican dog skins.

The residents of the Roosville Valley are giving a big masquerade ball on February 14th in the Roosville school house. Splendid music and a free supper. Tickets $1.00. Dick Roo, the cowboy floor manager, will introduce the kangaroo hop.

The kangaroo is jumping, as his daddy taught him to;
Early in the morning he goes hopping through the dew.
He gobbles down those dear old germs entirely without stint;
To him each little beggar is an after dinner mint.

Contractor Alex. McMillan is shipping logs to the Adolph Lumber Co. at Baynes, and expects to open up a mine tie, prop and cord wood camp.

Contractor Wm. Woods, the mine timber magnate of Elko, is expected home some time this month from England, where he went last December on receipt of a cable that his wife was very sick. His wife and family are returning with him.

The British navy probably never thought of "pulling the wool over the eyes" of Admiral Sims, as a high official of the United States navy feared, but de Valera, with 2,250,000 American dollars in the bag, seems to have done that very thing with a section of the American public.—Ottawa Journal.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

They immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet and head clear for months. They work while you sleep

MARION DAVIES IN "GETTING MARY MARRIED"

Marion Davies was never better in her life. As Mary, the starred character in "Getting Mary Married," her latest Select picture, which can be seen on Monday and Tuesday next at the Orpheum theatre, she is superb. Full of the joy and levity of youth, she prances through the picture like a beautiful, bright sunbeam. She is exquisite and an actress in every sense of the word. She is human, splendidly portraying the restlessness and gayety of youth, which continually looks for some means of utterance.

Step-daughter of the ultra-aristocratic John Bussard, every natural girlish impulse is stamped as bad form and Bussard will not permit her to have any friends or associates until she becomes a true Bussard. Luckily for her, before she has the opportunity to become a tried and trusted member of the Bussard family, her step-father dies. She thinks she has at last attained her freedom, but when the will is read she learns that she inherits her step-father's entire fortune on the condition that she goes to live with his family—the Bussards of Boston—for one year t oacquire a little more polish. She decides not to go but circumstances arise which force her once again to bear the brunt of aristocracy.

Bussard's will stipulates that if Mary does not remain the year out or marries within that time, the entire fortune is to go to his brother. The Bussards of Boston are well aware of this condition and decide to do their best to make their home a very uncomfortable one for Mary. They succeed remarkably well in this endeavor.

The picture is excellently directed by Allan Dwan and the cast is a splendid one. Norman Kerry plays opposite Miss Davies. No better Marion Davies picture has ever been seen upon the screen.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

INDUSTRY WORLD'S GREATEST NEED

British public men of all parties have begun a campaign of popular education along economic lines. They are endeavoring to teach the people the utter fallacy of the idea that the less work a man turns out, and the fewer hours he spends in production, the greater his wages are likely to be. They hope to be able to convince the British workman that there is no vast store of accumulated wealth from which wages can be drawn, and that the inevitable result of the slackening of production must be lowering of the standard of living.

They promise also that, in the days of painful reconstruction of a devastated and economically bankrupt world which lie ahead, labor will get a relatively arger share of the output of wealth than ever before, and will become a partner in industry instead of a commodity to be bought according tothe operation of the law of supply and demand. In the speeches of most of the big men of the United Kingdom this note is insistent and ever present. If employers who have the power to retain for themselves as the return to capital, an undue share of the profits of industry fail to play fair, the taxing power of the State will assuredly be empolyed to redres sthe balance. When the bulk of their excess profits is taken for public purposes the owners of industrial and mercantile enterprises will have little reason for grinding down the wages of their employees below a decent living standard.—Toronto Globe.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

R. L. BORDEN IS IMPROVING

London, Feb. 10.—(Canadian Press) Premier Borden, walking rather feebly, but looking well in the face, was in the distinguished strangers' gallery at the house of commons tonight when the prime minister replied to the Independent Liberal and Labor leaders in the debate on the speech from the throne.

"I am getting on very well, indeed" remarked Sir Robert Borden to the Canadian Press correspondent.

Premier Lloyd George had none of the haggard appearance which he has often been observed to wear when he has addressed the house during the past three years. He was in the best of good spirits and his reply to the strictures uttered just previously by Labor Leader Adamson on the record of the government were received with delighted shouts from every part of the house.

Mr. Adamson and Sir Donald McLean, Independent Liberal chief, were even moved to laughter at some of the premier's thrusts at themselves. Premier Lloyd George got his first blow in concerning Sir Donald McLean's reference to the bye-elections.

"So far as the right honorable gentleman's section is concerned," rapped out the premier, "they have been forced into third place, and he should have, therefore, left it for his Labor neighbor to have mentioned the matter."

The premier, proceeding seriously, referred to soldiers looking vainly for work, and drew loud cheers when he declared there was nothing but trade union regulations standing in the way of their getting it.

"When these regulations are suspended; when the national need comes first, then you can ask questions of the government why these men are not at work, but in the meantime, I ask this question of the Labor party."

The premier proceeded to say he had no fear of the judgment of a British jury when they had the real record of the government. He drew another burst of laughter and applause when, in indicating that members of the government had no time for party conflict, he said, "that is temporary though. Our time will come," continued the premier. "I am longing for it," he proceeded, "and you say nothing is being done. If you only took the trouble to attend the house of commons you would know more of what is really being done. I have no fear of bye-elections. But I am afraid of growing controversial," added the premier, as if by after thought, which drew the biggest burst of applause of all.

BOLSHEVISM IS CONDEMNED

Washington, Jan. 29.—Writing in the current number of the Federationist, official organ of the American Federation of Labor, Samuel Gompers condems Bolshevism "completely, finally and for all time."

Quoting from the new Bolshevist constitution, Mr. Gompers pointed out that while the fifth Pan-Russian Congress declares for a dictatorship of the proletariat and the peasantry, a great portion of the peasantry is disfranchised and the largest Bolshevist estimate of the proletariat calculates it as only one-fifth of the number of peasants. Even a fairly prosperous workingman, by this calculation, Mr. Gompers says, is not a proletariat. Bolshevist statistics, he says show that the Bolshevist minority does not even represent the masses of factory workers in Moscow, the Bolshevist stronghold.

He quoted a dispatch from Russian trade unions, to W. A. Appleton, president of the trade unions, which declared the Bolshevists have split up the reserve funds of trade unions, throttled the labor press, killed labor organizations, split up trades unions as a class, and put down strikes by 'force of arms and plentiful executions.'

"In all concepts of freedom within the American nation," says Mr. Gompers, "one fundamental principle is that an involuntary servitude, that is, compulsory labor, shall not be enforced upon the working people." He quoted the federal constitution, and adds:

"That concept has been entirely reversed by the constitution of Bolshevist Russia, which provides for and enforces compulsory labor. The plea to withhold judgment is a last desperate attempt to win favor from the American people for a system of government which by the confession of its own advocates and defenders is foreign to every concept of the American republic."

CANADA'S FINE TRADE BALANCE

Canada's trade has tsrned the corner. We are selling more than we are buying. We have demonstrated that without war activities, such as shell-making, we can export more than we import, which is as it should be. According to Government returns for the calendar year 1919, just issued, Canada exported products to the value of $1,294,000,000, of which only $37,000,000 were sold under Dominion credits; while in the same period our imports were $910,000,000, leaving a trade balance in our favor of $384,000,000, which sum, by the way, was only a few years ago equal to our entire export trade. Such has been Canada's growth.

The only fly in the ointment is the fact that we are still buying from the United States more than we are selling that country, but this is to a large extent an unalterable condition, at least at present, for these imports largely consist of necessary raw materials such as iron, steel, cotton, coal and the like. The imports from the United States during 1919 amounted to $740,000,000, while in the same period we exported to Uncle Sam's territory commodities to the value of $454,000,000 leaving us an adverse trade balance so far as that country is concerned of $286,000,000. However, the showing is a far better one than in previous years when our exports to the United States were smaller and our imports greater.

Unquestionably the exchange situation has had much to do with the decline in imports from the United States, and as there is every reason to believe that for a long period to come our funds will be at a serious discount in that country, the chances are greatly in favor of ending up the year 1920 with even a more favorable balance sheet than 1919 has shown.

Canada's trade with the United Kingdom shows a decidedly unfavorable balance so far as that country is concerned, inasmuch as we sold her $258,000,000 of products and bought from her only $87,000,000 during last year. This phase of the situation is also likely to materially alter during the present year, provided, of course, that Britain gets down to wirk and produces the things which we wish her to buy, but which cannot be purchased from her under existing conditions.

THE SAMARITAN

High Park boulevard is wide and handsome, with its lawns white and roomy, its pillars, and its vista, at the far end of the shadowy pines of the park.

But the wind has a way of lining itself up and down the boulevard and of spending a joyous night hooting and howling.

Muffled motor cars hustle along it, o'nights pushing into the wind.

Toboggan parties, sniffling lustily, wend their way homeward on it.

But long after the huskiest tobogganers had gone home for the night, a tiny little figure, a forlorn, weary little figure, walked up the middle of the boulevard pulling a sleigh behind.

It was a ridiculous little figure, alone in the wide street, with all the big warm houses sitting aloof, back.

Valient sniffles arose from it, but its paces were only about eight inches long. Several times, the tiny one seemed about to stop altogether.

It was late. The pathetic little sleigh that had no paint on it, seemed to drag. The tiny fellow, with a lustier sniffle than ever, halted, turned, and looked earnestly back at the park end, with its dim black pines.

No, the pines didn't seem any further off than the last time he had looked.

A big shiny limousine came rolling westward down the boulevard. It shied at the little figure as though the driver had imagined it a shadow on the snow. Then it came to a skidding stop.

A stout man got out of the back of the big car.

"Hey!" he yelled, "where are you going?"

"Home," said a little squeaky voice.

"Where have you been?" demanded the stout man.

"Sleigh ridin'," replied the squeaky voice.

"Where do you live?"

"Elizabeth street."

"Holy smoke! Jump in here," said the stout man.

So the little fellow, pulling his battered sled carefully after him, climbed into the monster car. The door slammed. The car, snorting and ejaculating explosively, backed up, turned around and rolled east.

APPLE SMELL AROUND FERNIE

The rotunda of the Fernie Hotel was fragrant with the aroma of apples Saturday night, and for a time on Sunday morning. So persistent, indeed, was the odor of the orchard that permanent guests at the hostelry insisted on Manager Kerr explaining why he was seizing upon the springtime twist to the weather to possibly induce the unwary to surmise that Fernie had again slipped back into the banana belt. Billy stoutly denied being accessory to any such misdemeanor either before of after the fact, and it was not until the Publicity Commissioner, Spaulding, was located that the phenomenon could be accounted for. To him there was no mystery connected with the matter; the sweet smelling savor was entirely due to the presence in Fernie, as guests at the hotel, of Messrs. Mallandaine and Hayes of Creston, who were here for the meeting of those who are compiling the tourist booklet, "Seeing the Canadian Rockies," and who, with a keen sense of the value of advertising, had brought along a couple of boxes of the well-known product of the Creston Valley to convince (if need be) of the surpassing excellence of the apples that have made Creston famous wherever their fruit has gone. Those who were favored with generous samples of the fruit were those who were at the committee meeting, while the Free Press also acknowledges having received one of the two packages and has no hesitation in saying that the two varieties—McIntosh Red and Delicious—could hardly be improved on for size, color and flavor. To the Free Press, Mr. Hayes stated that although 1919 had been about the dryest season on record, yet the increased output in apples was almost up to the 25 per cent increase which has been the rule in that section for the past five years. In apples alone, Creston had an export trade amounting to almost $200,000 in 1919, while the value of the export of the products of orchards, field and forest was over half a million dollars.

Next to tree fruits Creston is fast coming along in strawberry output, the value of the 1919 strawberry shipping being almost $50,000, which figures reminded Mr. Hayes that in 1914 the total export trade in every line from that section was less than $55,000. Major Mallandaine was equally enthusiastic over the prospects of expansion, stating that horticultural department employees who had recently taken a census of the fruit industry had predicted that in 1924 Creston orchards would be yielding on an avergae of 600,000 boxes of apples a year, which, at an average of $1.50 a box, would give the growers a return of almost $1,000,000. The major is very well known in Fernie and his friends will be pleased to hear that he is back into commercial life again, at present operating a mill on his limits on Goat Mountain, putting through a C.P.R. contract for 50,000 ties, and in a fair way to make quite a nice clean up.

Miss Fisher objected to the bill charged against her during the time she was in the detention hospital. No attention was paid to her protest.

Moved by Ald. Harrison, seconded by Ald. Bean, that Police Magistrate Whimster's salary be cut to $50 per month and that the, Attorney General be notified of the matter.

Ald. Robichaud thought the cut was rather stringent but no one else objected and the motion carried.

A communication from the school board asking for $39,094.75 for school purposes during 1920 was received. It was pointed out by the Mayor that this was an advance of nearly $12,000 over last year's estimate and he would like to know where this continual increase was going to end.

The following proposed estimate for city expenditure during 1920 was then adopted:

School Debt	$ 4688.09
School Expense	39094.75
City Debt $12204.19 — less S.E. Surplus $2683.84	9520.35
City Expense—
Public Works	6000.00
Fire Dept.	7262.60
Health	2302.20
Police	7732.50
City Hall	2224.74
Salaries and Grants	1580.00
General	4371.89
Depreciation	1898.92
Reduction Old Debt	5000.00
Interest	2560.00
Charity	400.00
Band	600.00
	$95235.04

Revenues—

Police Court Fines	$ 2500.00
Road Tax	700.00
Dog and Pound	600.00
Sewer Rental	3100.00
Traders Licenses	3500.00
Interest on Tax Arrears	800.00
Miscellaneous	50.00
Water Works	5500.00
	$16750.00

To raise by taxation $78286.04

The band request was threshed out at some length and it was at length decided to submit the matter to a vote of the taxpayers, to take place on March 1st.

Speaking of the estimates the mayor drew the attention of the board to the fact that it would be necessary to raise over $10,000 more than last year to meet the expenses of the city, and this was entirely due to the school board over which the city had no control.

The question of raising the salaries of the power house staff was discussed and referred to the fire and light committee.

The question of fire hall matters came up and after a lengthy discussion a resolution moved by Ald. Bean and seconded by Ald. McEwan, was passed, requesting Fire Chief McDougall to hand in his resignation on the grounds of general inefficiency.

HOCKEY

On Monday night Fernie avenged the defeat given them at Coleman, taking their measure in a scoring duel, winning by a score of 13—10.

Coleman arrived one man short, necessitating a six man a side game, giving the players an advantage for individual work and was instrumental in running up such large scores for both teams. Combination was limited, the game being one of end to end rushes, calling for "get the man," and served all that goes to make a hockey game worth while watching, the fans being in a state of excitement throughout, which grew intense as play became somewhat rougher towards the end; in fact some returned men mistook the fence for a parapet and went over the top in a melee in the corner behind the Fernie goal. It was soon stopped, the play resumed without bloodshed.

In the second period O. Anderson of Fernie and G. Johnson of Coleman had a bad spell, Johnson having his shoulder dislocated, while Anderson received a skate cut above the right eye and falling on the back of his head was laid out for the remainder of the game, being unconscious for 15 minutes. At the time of going to press he is still under the doctor's care. Dicken and Glover were the net bulging stars for Fernie, while C. Graham, Gate and Johnson ran up the count for Coleman. Referee McLeod handled the game to the satisfaction of all. The following is the summary:

Coleman	Fernie

On Wednesday our old rivals, Michel, journeyed here via cars and received a setback in their quest of the Allan cup, returning home late that night with the small end of an 8 to 4 score tucked under their belt. Miched did not seem to wake up until it was too late, coming to life in the second period, when they netted their four tallies. Fernie played excellent combination during the game and only wild shooting kept their end of the score as small as it was. Michel having a daylight rink were lost until they grew accustomed to the lights and believe they can give a better account of themselves at home and in all probability will have a return game there next Sunday.

The teams lined up as follows:

Referee—R. McLeod.

GREAT VARIETY OF PAPERS

The majority of Canadians know practically nothing about the English newspapers, and a knowledge of their various characters and temperaments, so to speak, is necessary in making an estimate of their opinions.

To begin with, there are two or three groups of papers which have grown much more powerful of recent years. There is Lord Northcliffe's group—the "Times," the "Daily Mail," the "Evening News," the "Daily Mirror," and the "Sunday Weekly Dispatch." "Father Fiveheads," some one called him in derision.

A few years ago it would have been thought difficult for the "Times," solemn and dignified, lending a general support to the Government of the day, to run in double harness with the sensational, stunt-hunting "Daily Mail."

Nowadays the "Times," the "Daily Mail" and the other Northcliffe organs harmoniously unite on the single platform of assailing Mr. Lloyd George with every weapon that comes to their hand.

What was Mr. George to do with Lord Northcliffe after he came to supreme power? He sent him on a special mission to the United States, partly, it was supposed, to gratify Lord Northcliffe's ambitions, partly lest he should quarrel with him. But the quarrel came, ostensibly over Russian policy, but, according to Mr. George because Lord Northcliffe had pretensions far beyond his capacities; the suggestion made is that Lord Northcliffe desired to be one of the British plenipotentiaries at the Peace Conference in Paris and has never forgiven Mr. George his failure to appoint him.

At the other political extreme is the Hulton group of newspapers, which are owned by Sir Edward Hulton, best known as an owner of race horses. These papers are printed partly in London and partly in Manchester, which is the home and headquarters of the firm. The "Evening Standard" the "Daily Sketch," the "Illustrated Sunday Herald," and a string of local Manchester papers are the best known of the group. They are little known abroad and have little political influence in their own country, but they are skillfully managed and popular purveyors of news.

The founder of the house, Sir Edward Hulton's father, was at one time a compositor in the employment of the "Manchester Guardian" who saw the possibilities of sporting journalism. The political motto of this group is "Lloyd George, right or wrong;" when all others criticize, it is his faithful friend.

Lord Burnham's paper is the "Daily Telegraph," the organ of the respectable bourgeoisie. Staid, sober and conservative, it carries consolation into West End drawing-roooms.

The "Daily Telegraph" may be said to represent the conservation and the respectability of John Buil. The "Morning Post" on the other hand, represents him in his least pleasant aspect—aggressive, domineering and acquisitive. The "Morning Post," which one cannot but admire for its independence and the finish of its editorial writing, stamps and roars and rattles the sabre all the time. It is all for force and plenty of it, for no nonsense about the League of Nations, for plenty of protection for the "interests" and for the necessity of "learning" the Irish that they are toads.

The penny (formerly halfpenny) papers conduct a great and bitter warfare among themselves. They are the "Daily Mail," the "Daily Express" the "Daily Chronicle" and the "Daily News." Of these the 'Daily Express' has made rapid progress of late. It is owned by Lord Beaverbrook, formerly Sir Max Aitken.

The animating motive of the "Daily Chronicle" is loyalty to Mr. Lloyd George and the Coalition. Toward the end of 1918 the "Chronicle," which was then edited by Mr. Robert Donald, was bought by a group of Lloyd George Liberals, headed by Sir Henry Dalziel.

There remains the "Daily News," until recently under the able political editorship of Mr. A. G. Gardiner. The "Daily News" was and is a political organ, but in Mr. Gardiner's time it suffered like the weekly "Nation," from the impression which it produced that if Mr. Lloyd George achieved something that would have done credit to the Archangel Gabriel, it wiuld nevertheless have found good reason fir condemnation. Mr. George has attacked the "Daily News" as fiercely as the "Times." It is owned principally by the Cadbury family, which furnished the point for Mr. fied reference to "Cocoa-slop."

Last of the daily papers one should mention the "Daily Herald," the Labor organ. It now claims a circulation of a quarter of a million—a small figure compared with the "Mail's" million and the circulations ranging from half a million to eight or nine hundred thousand claimed by "Herald" is still in its infancy and it is "carrying on."

Bill Cameron of Cranbrook paid a visit to the city on Wednesday evening.

Wm. Dicken of Fernie took charge of the services in the Methodist church on Sunday night.—Creston Review.

The case of Harry Drew, who was sentenced to a year in the pen for having booze in his hotel, has been appealed.

There was just five times as much booze imported to Canada from Britain in January of this year as in that month last year.

Jas. Chapman, of Crow's Nest, was tried in Fernie this week on a charge of inflicting grievous bodily harm. The case was remanded.

Marriage licenses were issued this week to Wm. H. Dunlap and Mrs. Josephine Dunlap, and Frank Dunlap and Miss Edith Kennedy.

Mrs. Frank Robichaud, of Kalispell, formerly of Fernie, died at her home in Kalispell last week. The remains were taken east for interment.

A musical treat is in store for the people of Fernie in the near future, when the operetta "Agatha" will be rendered by the Fernie Junior Choir. Watch this paper for the date.

The Herchmer rink have not yet struck their gait at the Winnipeg bonspiel. They have lost in three straight competitions, viz., the Dingwall, the Purity Flour and the Birks.

Word was received in the city on Saturday of the death of Mrs. John Gusty, of Saskatoon, formerly of Fernie, B.C. Mrs. Gusty was a dughter of Mrs. C. E. Lyons, of Spokane.

Phil Christophers and Wm. Potter addressed a mass meeting in the Grand Theatre on Sunday evening. The usual line of drivel was handed out. How long the public will continue to pay for Bolshevist propaganda is a question.

The Stuart-Whyte company, playing "Little Red Riding Hood," played to a large crowd in the Grand Theatre on Wednesday evening. The show was up to the usual high standard of the Zara Clinton shows, and was keenly appreciated by all.

The regular monthly tea of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church will be held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Pickering, on Tuesday, February 17, and will take the form of a musicale and valentine tea. Home made candy for sale; also a guessing contest. Everyone welcome. Admission 25c.

According to Wm. Ramsay of Nelson, provincial works engineer, who is just back from an official visit to the department at Victoria, it is more than likely the provincial government will operate a rock crusher in the Valley part of the year in connection with roadmaking operations.—Creston Review.

At a meeting of O.B.U. adherents held in the Grand Theatre on Sunday night, a resolution was passed requesting the organizers of the U.M.W. of A. to leave the district immediately. This sounds a good deal like a joke. Before another six months goes by the miners of this district will have forgotten there ever was such an organization as the O.B.U.

The city police raided the Canadian Boarding House and a Russian outfit that was running a joint in the Turner Block on Saturday evening last. Booze was found in both establishments, and the proprietors were each fined $85 and costs. In the Russian's place a card game was found running full blast and the players were arrested, but the charge was subsequently dropped as there was no money in sight.

The citizens in the Annex not far from the G. N. station, have been troubled for some weeks past by a lot of petty stealing. Mrs. Westby's residence has been entered on several occasions during her absence and money and other valuables taken. This stealing usually happened on Tuesday evening of each week. So they planned, with the assistance of Mr. Harold Wilson of the Post Office staff, to lay for the burglar. On Tuesday evening of this week, Mrs. Westby left the house as usual for down town, but this time Harold was concealed in the building and not long after her departure, along came Mr. burglar. He was captured after a short struggle and taken to the police station, where he was identified as Bryant Quigg, a returned lad, who has been suffering from shell shock, and who has been more or less mentally unbalanced since he returned from the front.

The doctors say there is little or no flu in the city.

The annual meeting of the I.O.D.E. will be held in the G.W.V.A. rooms tomorrow (Saturday) at 3.30 p.m.

The ratepayers of Fernie will have an opportunity on March 1 to vote on the question of whether they desire the city to contribute to the support of the city band. There will be a series of questions to answer, such as: Are you in favor of $125 per month for the band? Are you in favor of $100 per month or $50 per month? Or are you in favor of any grant?

An open meeting will be held by the Parent Teachers' Association on Thursday, February 19th, at 8 o'clock in the basement of the United church. A special invitation is extended to the school board and their wives, also fathers and all those interested in this movement, to be present at this meeting. There will be a short program and refreshments will be served.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held in the basement of the United Church on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Harvie conducted the meeting. Mr. Gordon gave a very fine address on the great work that the women medical missionaries are doing both at home and abroad. There was a good attendance. The meeting in future will commence at 3.30 p.m.

Mr. C. J. Lewis, an employee of the Canyon City Lumber company, near Creston, was brought into the St. Eugene hospital Monday suffering from a compound fracture of the ankle, sustained while at work Monday morning. The accident happened on the landing platform, when a log rolled on him, causing a nasty break. Mr. Lewis was rushed to the Cranbrook hospital, where he is receiving treatment and where he is reported today as improving. Mr. Lewis' family reside in this city.—Cranbrook Courier.

Frank Topham, roadmaster in the employ of the Canadian Pacific Railway for the past number of years, has been transferred to Salmon Arm, and left for his new location Friday last. During his residence here Mr. Topham has been a progressive citizen and a conscientious worker. He was an ardent follower of the roarin' game being one of the best skips the Cranbrook curling club could boast of. His successor, Mr. G. Walker, of Revelstoke, arrived in the city the first of the week.—Cranbrook Courier.

Bert Whimster, an old printer of the Fernie Free Press staff in the days of yore, was in the city Monday, accompanying Jack Lewis to the Cranbrook hospital, as the result of his unfortunate accident. Bert Whimster is one of the few printers who has cast aside the stick and rule with a comfortable living in sight. Failing eyesight compelled Bert to put the "traditional 30 to his printing office career. He has fallen into the printers weakness: chicken or fruit farming, taking up the latter as his life's work. Mr. Whimster has one hundred acres of land at Canyon City, with a frontage on the C.P.R. main line. He expects to blossom out this year with an extensive programme of development.—Cranbrook Courier.

In view of the attack of P. M. Christophers on Sunday evening, in which he stated that the conviction of Russell was a travesty of British justice, the following item may be of interest to him: Winnipeg, Feb. 10—In a special session of a full court of the King's bench held at 12:30 today, a rule was issued, commanding William Ivens, accused of seditious conspiracy, to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. Ivens, it is alleged, made statements that R. B. Russell was convicted of sedition "by a poisoned judge and a poisoned jury, and was in the penitentiary serving a poisoned service." It is alleged he made these statements at the labor church Christmas week. The rule of the court is returnable February 18. Ivens will be given the opportunity to defend himself on this occasion.

THE EXTRA SAFEGUARD

"Should I lose my earning power through accident or disease, who will keep up my life assurance payment?"

You may have asked yourself this question.

The Sun Life's Total Disability provision arranges under such circumstances to keep your policy in force, without further premiums, and, in addition, to pay you an income of one-tenth of the face value of the policy each remaining year of your life, starting immediately. The extra charge is comparatively trifling.

Ask us to tell you about it.

PROHIBITION IS MAIN ISSUE

Prohibition promises to be the all-absorbing topic at the present session of the Legislature which completed its first week's work yesterday; a week almost wholly devoted to consideration of the Speech from the Throne, the debate on the Address in Reply being got well under way. The bers isimportance the liquor question is assuming in the minds of the members is indicated by the attention which government supporters are paying to it in their speeches.

True, the Speech from the Throne—one in which a legislative bill of fare even more meagre than usual is offered—made but passing reference to the subject, merely mentioning the fact that amendments will be submitted further regulating the issuance of doctors' prescriptions. But this admission that the government deems it advisable to bow to the universal demand for betterment in existing deplorable conditions consequent upon the well-nigh general violation of the law may be said to be more or less political camouflage. The fact is, and it is accentuated by remarks of Liberal speakers, that the government is ready to go much further in the matter of liquor regulation than the Speech would indicate. Undoubtedly the government supporters, in their denunciation of the existing conditions and their bold declaration that the time has arrived when the problem of a bone-dry province or, as opposed to that, the sale of liquor under government control must be faced, are merely feeling out for the government the sentiment of members of the House. Charles F. Nelson (Slocan), himself a strong prohibitionist, Dr. Sutherland (Revelstoke), J. W. Cowper, Vancouver, a meber of the original committee of forty prohibitionists which launched the prohibition campaign in this province and saw it through to a finish, and Hugh Stewart (Comox), all hide-bound supporters of the present Liberal administration, were unanimous in their declarations that something more than a mere limiting of the size or number of doctors' prescriptions is necessary.

Dr. Sutherland, himself a physician, declared the act as it now stands is a curse to the medical profession, that the doctors want none of it and that he did not blame them for taking advantage of the opportunity thrown their way and making all the money they could through the issuance of prescriptions. Mr. Cowper, while emphasizing his personal belief in prohibition, confessed that after what he has seen of the operation of the act and resultant conditions, he was fully prepared to sink his personal predelections and in the public interest support government control whereunder liquor could be purchased by the bottle for use in the home.

The general and wide-spread violation of the law was not overlooked by these government supporters, though none of them hinted that such a condition would seem to indicate that there has been a decided laxity on the part of the authorities whose duty it is, under the terms of the present act, to enforce it. This phase of the matter will certainly not be overlooked by the opposition.

Mr. Cowper, erstwhile critic of the former encumbent in the office of Attorney-General, M. A. Macdonald, whose retirement from cabinet rank was due to Cowper's charges later substantiated by the findings of a Royal Commission, found no place in his denunciation of the liquor situation for criticism of the present chef law officers of the Crown. Indeed, Mr. Cowper pinned a medal upon the chest of that cabinet officer by asserting Hon. Mr. Farris could not in any degree be blamed for conditions, that it had been his earnest desire to enforce the law to the utmost. Opposition speakers were unkind enough to suggest that Mr. Cowper, having for the past three years been more or less—generally more—non persona grata with the administration, is now seeking, on bended knees, to creep back into the party fold, hoping his former activities as a member of the Vancouver "purity squad" in cleaning or seeking to clean the political Augean stables of the party there, might be overlooked.

Mrs. Ralph Smith, whose claim to independence does not prevent her consistently and persistently supporting the Liberal administration, did not as was expected of her, take any decided stand upon the prohibition issue. As woman's representative in the House it was expected she would have something to say of present conditions from the woman's standpoint and of woman's attitude on the alternative suggested by previous speakers. She contented herself with stating that in the event of another referendum, she was sure the people would make the right decision but she offered no opinion of her own as to just what that decision should be.

An echo of the famous "plugging scandal" was heard in the legislature on Friday when Capt. F. J. A. MacKenzie, Conservative soldier member for Delta, suggested the House would be interested in learning how it same that Joseph C. Cook, one-time secretary of the Ward Two Liberal Association, Vancouver, and one of the "inside gang" of Liberal workers who manipulated the votes of the Seattle waterfront thugs imported by the hundreds to Vancouver in February, 1916 to personate in the Liberal interest at the bye-election at which M. A. Macdonald was elected, came to be appointed to the responsible position of cashier in the department of the Provincial police at Vancouver. Cook is now a fugitive from justice, having recently levanted from that city with some $3,000 or more of provincial funds filched from the proceeds of motor and other license fees collected by the office and turned over to him for safe keeping. A reward of $1000 is now being offered for his arrest. Like his former pal in the "plugging" scandal, John T. Scott, of notorious memory, Cook made his getaway to Seattle by motor. He is still some laps ahead of the officers of the Crown.

Capt. MacKenzie quoted from the official record of Cook's evidence before the Royal Commission which investigated the plugging charges and which found that: "It is proved beyond any doubt that an elaborate and expensive scheme of personation was adopted in behalf of M. A. Macdonald, the Liberal candidate." True, Cook, before the Commission, was a most recalcitrant witness. He admitted destroying the books and papers of the Liberal plugging committee on which he was associated with John T. Scott, Scruton and others of that ilk who handled the pluggers and saw to it that they were housed and got to the polls at that bye-election. But he had absolutely no remembrance why he did so or on whose orders or advice. O that point his memory was a blank. It was a remarkable thing, Capt. Mackenzie opined, that a man with the notorious record of Cook should have been given a position of trust by the government. The House would, he was sure, await an explanation from Attorney-General Farris with interest and expectation.

After Cook's recent disappearance from Vancouver with a wad of the people's money, Attorney-General Farris, in a newspaper interview, intimated that Cook was already in the government service when he (Mr. Farris) entered the cabinet. This statement does not tally with his answers to questions put at last year's session by Mr. Bowser, opposition leader, who sought information concerning Cook's appointment and the reasons therefore. Then Mr. Farris had replied, Cook was appointed to the position in June, 1918. In other words he was given the job of cashier some months after the Attorney-general assumed the direction of the Law Department of the Crown, and in a department coming under the jurisdiction of Mr. Farris.

Opposition members of the Legislature are going to find their inquisitorial privileges materially curtailed this session. Hardly had their first question reached the order paper that Premier Oliver seized upon a technicality to prevent what he termed the "abuse of the privilege of question". Mr. Bowser had presented a number of queries bearing upon administrative affairs, notably a request for information as to salaries paid under various special acts and warrants in various departments with details thereof and also as to data concerning superannuation of civil servants by the present government over the past three years. The premier held that the proper method for the opposition leader to follow was to ask for a return to be brought down, that the required to look up the records, etc., would be so great that the rules of the House never contemplated that information of that nature should be supplied in answers by members of the government. Mr. Bowser pointed to previous experience of the opposition when returns asked for had been purposely delayed until the last day of the session so that the information asked for was not forthcoming thus preventing the opposition from exercising its undoubted right to follow its role of investigator of the government's administration of public affairs, a right he strenuously upheld. Authorities were quoted by the Premier and the opposition leader in support of their respective positions and finally the debate was adjourned for a day on suggestion of Mr. Hawthornthwaite, socialist member for Newcastle, who opined that Mr. Speaker should have time to consider the matter and who suggested that the opposition leader's assertion that the Premier's tactics smacked of Russia was a comparison hardly fair to Russia.

On Thursday the matter again came up. There was more arguments by the opposing leaders and then Mr. Speaker rendered his decision, one he had had before him all written, a fact that did not escape the eagle eye of the leader of the opposition, who suggested Mr. Speaker had reached his decision before he had heard the full argument. The decision supported the Premier's stand. The opposition leader appealed to the House against the decision and was, naturally unsuccessful, the government majority—one he was wont to dub a brute majority—being on hand to support Mr. Speaker. But the division, the first of the session, was significant in that it showed evidences of the growing spirit of independence among the government supporters. Mr. Wilson (Rossland) and Whiteside (New Westminster) voted with the opposition as did Hawthornthwaite (Newcastle).

This display on the part of some of the Liberals was a subject of comment indicating as it did a growing spirit of independence among the rank and file of the government side. Up-country members particularly, if ther views expressed in the corridors count for anything, and showing a disposition to be critical of their own chiefs, and they admit an increasing restlessness among their political friends in their ridings, one engendered, they suggest, by present conditions and the feeling that the government, after three years in office, is not showing sufficient initiative in meeting the pressing problems of development, the while there is no apparent likelihood of any easing up in the pressure of the financial thumbscrew applied by the administration.

Despite promises that the present session of the Legislature would see an improvement in the way of the early preparation and submission of legislation, the fact is government legislation is no more ready now that it has been at the corresponding period in former years. This session will, of a certainty, see a repitition of previous sessions when bills came down in bunches in the dying hours of the session and were rushed through with a rapidity, but lack of consideration, that savored of the ridiculous. True, the legislative bill of fare as presented in the Speech from the Throne, was a slim one and did not indicate that the government will have much legislation to offer. Beyond some amendments to existing legislation chiefly designed to affect irrigation, forest administration, highways and some amendments to enlarge the powers of the Land Settlement Board in acquiring settlement areas, there is nothing of out-standing importance foreshadowed. But as the session proceeds more matters requiring legislative enactments will undoubtedly crop up and the usual grist of bills can be counted upon. But if the Speech from the Throne is any criterion, the government is apparently resting upon its past achievments rather than seeking to improve its record by new or novel enactments.

The general concensus of opinion among the members was about summed up by Mrs. Ralph Smith, woman member for Vancouver, when in her speech on the debate on the address in reply she admitted she had looked for something better and that the Speech from the Throne did not appear to contain much real "meat."

OTHER TABLETS NOT ASPIRIN AT ALL

BAYER

If you don't see the "Bayer Cross" on the tablets, you are not getting Aspirin—only an acid imitation.

The "Bayer Cross" is your only way of knowing that you are getting genuine Aspirin, prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years and proved safe by millions for Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis, and for Pain generally. Made in Canada.

While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company, Ltd., will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

SOFT COAL MINES PREDICT DISASTER

Washington, Feb. 9.—Representatives of bituminous operators in Montana and Washington told the coal strike settlement commssion today that permanent application of the recent 14 per cent wage advance to coal miners might force them to close their mines.

W. A. Barnham, spokesman for the Commercial Operators' association of Washington, said the government could not protect the northwestern operators, if it advances wages, merely by fixing a higher maximum price for coal.

Competition of Canadian coal and California oil, caused a total loss of more than $600,000 to Washington mines east of the Cascade mountains in the first 10 months of 1919, he said, adding that "the fixing of a more fictitious maximum price would have no effect on the counteracting wage increases."

J. C. White, representing operators in the Anaconda field of Montana, told the commission that the competition of hydro-electric power in that state made any advance in production cost prohibitive. He declared every mine in the state operated at a loss in 1919.

Robert A. Harlen, representing the Washington district of the United Mine Workers, declared the workers of that field urged before all other demands that they be granted a 30-hour week because the neighboring mines in British Columbia had an eight-hour day from "bank to bank."

The six-hour day, he said, would be practically equivalent to this and was necessary to stabilize the relationship between the two fields.

BEST INVESTMENT GILBERT EVER MADE

Tanlac Restored Dartmouth Man To Health Two Years Ago—Still Feels Fine.

"Yes, sir, I can recommend Tanlac for it set me right two years ago, while I was living in Hamilton, Ont., and I have been in good shape ever since," said Jeffrey Gilbert while in Kinley's Drug Store in Halifax, recently. M. Gilbert resides at 35 Ochterloney street, Dartmouth, and is employed as boiler maker at the Halifax shipyards.

"Never in all my life," he continued "have I had a mediiine to do me so much good as Tanlac. My stomach had been giving me trouble for some time. It just seemed like I could not eat anything but what would give me indigestion the worst kind. I would bloat all up with sour gas and feel miserable for hours after every meal. There was a feeling like a lump of lead in the pit of my stomach. I would almost double up with cramping pains and could hardly draw a deep breth. My appetite was so poor that I never relished anything to eat and I ust suffered constantly with that indigestion. I was continually losing weight, felt weak and sluggish all the time and had no energy.

"I had tried all kinds of medicines, but kept getting worse, and after Tanlac came to Hamilton and so many people there got to praising it I bought a bottle and I declare that was the best investment I ever made in my life. Before I had finished the first bottle I felt a considerable improvement. Then I bought another, and another, and when I had finished my fourth bottle my stomach was in fine condition and I have not been troubled with indigestion since that time. The gas and pain all disappeared and I am still eating just anything I want without the least trouble from it. It was not only my own experience with Tanlac that convinced me it is a wonderful medicine, but I personally know many others who took it with just as fine resdlts as I did. You can't beat it and if I should get to where I need medicine again I wouldn't think of anything else."

FEDERAL BANKRUPTCY ACT

A uniform federal bankruptcy act to take the place of the Provincial Acts on the subject will come into force on July 1st next, according to an order-in-council which was passed on January 5th. Among the several important features of this most advanced piece of insolvency legislation on the continent, is the provision for the appointment of all assignees by the provincial governments. They must be capable men, who will be bonded for the work they have to perform. Another provision is that the benefits of the Act are open to men in business or private citizens, if the latter so desire to make an assignment. They may be declared insolvent if it is found that the circumstances warrant such action.

When a merchant has filed a statement showing his financial condition, his creditors can take action to have him declared insolvent if his statement justifies this being done. All persons carrying on business must keep books showing the record of all their transactions. This becomes compulsory from the date of the Act coming into effect, on July 1, next.

As it passed the House the measure had the support of the business and professional men of all classes, and its provisions were regarded as equally fair to those in all lines of trade, as well as farmers and private citizens.

If the natural resources of Canada can be supplied at a trifling fee to the paper manufacturers with liberty to export them to a foreign country while Canadians suffer from a lack of them, there is certainly something rotten in the system that calls loudly for reform.—Montreal Herald.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

CASH MEAT MARKET

U. S. VIEW OF CAN. EXCHANGE

Dealing with the present problem of exchange, as it affects Canada and the United States, the New York Sun observes that a noteworthy fact about the industrial expansion, commercial power and financial problem of Canada is that while Canadian exchange in New York has been at a discount of 10 per cent to 12 per cent British exchange has been at a discount of 25 per cent to 27 per cent. While the British pound has been worth $3.49 in New York it has been worth $3.90 in Canada. And, let it be remembered, nearly half of all Canadian exports go to Great Britain. On the other hand, the United States is Canada's pre-eminent buying market.

The New York paper refers in glowing terms to Canada's part in the war. For more than five years, it says, Canada has been a heroic financier of the Allies in general and in particular of Great Britain. "Our intrepid neighbor's contribution to the winning of the war was not merely in troops, which measured by her population, were sent across prodigally, and in food supplies shipped stupendously for her own and to other fighting forces in Europe. Canada bought raw material in the United States and elsewhere by the hundreds of millions of dollars and manufactured it into munitions and war weapons and equipment of all kinds, speeding it across to the allies on credit. Canada thus became and Canada continues to be one of the great creditor nations of the world."

For the nine months ending with last December Canada's foreign trade —$1,707,597,390—was a gain of about thirty millions over the corresponding period in 1918. For the nine months Canada's exports, at $976,651,791, showed a gain of more than twenty-six millions; her imports, at $730,-942,599, a gain of twenty-four millions. For the nine months, in spite of the U.S. heavy balance against Canada, her net balance on all her foreign trade was about one hundred and fifty millions.

There are, however, continues the New York Sun, credit bounds beyond which Canada, rich as she is in natural resources, strong as she has become in international trade and finance, cannot go. She can sell and sell hugely out of her own surplus products. She can carry hundreds of millions more of such credit burdens. But Canada cannot buy without limit from the States, for example, to resell to Great Britain and the Continent on credit. She can postpone her collections on her deliveries of her own goods. She cannot pay slathers of cash to the U. S. for goods that are going to her non-paying customers abroad.

Industrially, commercially and financially, the Sun considers that no foreign trade of the United States has a higher potential value than the trade with Canada. No other foreign trade, it asserts, makes so powerful an appeal to the hearts of the people of the States. With this it argues that the United States must give prompt and full attention to the need of Canadian financing over the border. For both the United States and Canada, it concludes, it will be a100 per cent safe investment. "For both it should be a 100 per cent sound link in the chain binding together neighbors, friends and kindred."

PRODUCE MORE; BUY AT HOME

"The patriotism which the people of this country showed during the trying days of the war must be applied at the present time in a practical way to our commercial life, if we are to keep our feet financially; and remedy the conditions which have been brought about by the unfavorable rate of exchange which exists today between this country and the United States."

In these words, Brigadier General H. F. McDonald, C. M. G., General manager of the Alberta Industrial Development Association and the Industrial Congress, gave concise expression of his opinion on the paramount question in the business world today—the depreciation of British and Canadian currency in the United States. Careful buying in our own markets and those of Great Britain is, in the opinion of General McDonald, the only remedy for the present state of affairs. In the course of a recent interview he made an appeal to the people of Canada to patronize their own industries and in this way readjust th eunfavorable trade balance which is causing the unfavorable rate of exchange.

"Many merchants in this country are today alive to the fact that to protect themselves and their business interests they must not let this depreciation go on," said General McDonald. Some of them have gone so far as to cancel orders in the United States. They are doing this through no petty discrimination! but for two logical business reasons. They cannot afford to pay the exchange; and they realize that if the rate is ever to be brought back to normal we must sell more, and buy less from outside our own country. The best business brains in the Dominion today have agreed that this is the only way in which the situation can ever be brought back to normal. By buying the products of their own country the Canadian people are not undergoing any hardships, but will wake up to the fact that they are probably getting better value for their money.

"Everybody complains about the unfavorable rate of exchange and it is up to the man on the street and the woman who is managing the house to see that their money is spent to help the country's financial position and not to increase our unfavorable trade balance. The merchants themselves are finding that it is a very unprofitable game. In addition to the freight and duty charges on goods brought into this country at the present time they now have to pay eleven or twelve per cent on the exchange. These items put nearly fifty per cent on the price of their shipments, cost their customers more money and help to keep the rate of exchange against us."

"As Canadians, it is up to us to see that we buy Canadian goods. Away from any higher patriotic principle, it is a matter of good common sense business for the individual. If necessary, put aside the broader aspect of the case and make it personal. It means as much to every man connected in any way with the commercial life of this country. It comes down to a question of protection—a vital and personal matter to every Canadian citizen. We must protect ourselves and our standing in the world's commerce and there is one, and only one, way to do it; produce more and buy at home."

BEAUTIFUL LOVE PLOT IN "HEART O' THE HILLS"

If Steve Honeycutt and Widow Hawn had followed the advice of their children, Mary Pickford wouldn't be able to offer such a wonderful picture as "Heart o' the Hills", adapted from the story by John Fox, Jr., which will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre, next Wednesday and Thursday.

As Mavis Hawn, Miss Pickford takes the part of a Kentucky mountain girl at war with certain factors which she knows nothing of and determined at least to put an end for all time to come to the whippings which her mother has been liberally inflicting.

A love tale is interwoven in the plot about a mountain feud of long-standing and the story affords Miss Pickford ample opportunity to score such triumphs as characterized "Daddy Longlegs," and "The Hoodlum," her previous attractions from her own studios and released htrough First National Exhibitors' Circuit.

Mavis and her sweetheart, Jason Honeycutt, oppose the marriage of their parents for the reason that Honeycutt's prime motive is prompted by a desire to secure Widow Hawn's valuable coal lands. The children, when grown, fire a double shot that ends Honeycutt's life, when they find he is responsible for the murder of Mavis' father.

JANUARY AND FEBRUARY DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

STRIKE TRIAL AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Feb. 11.—(By Canadian Press)—The strike committee regarded permits as authority to managers of industries to whom they were issued to operate and not as a protection to the workers, William Percy declared under cross-examination by R. A. Bonnar, K.C., defense counsel at the trial of the seven strike leaders today.

He admitted, however, that the trades and labor council had no power to call or to stop the strike and that it was called in response to instructions of the union membership itself.

Percy's examination and the reading of parts of evidence of William E. Davis, a Minneapolis advertising man, who heard William Ivens deliver a speech, occupied the whole of the morning session. Davis quotes Ivens as declaring that "parliament is in the Labor temple and not in the city hall."

"If we stand firm for a short time we will bring the employers to their knees, saying, 'What shall we do to be saved?'"

When the trial of the seven strike leaders accused of seditious conspiracy resumed this morning, A. J. Andrews, K.C., counsel for the crown asked to know if the defense wanted a commission to go to Minneapolis, to take the evidence of W. E. Davis, a crown witness who was ill. Mr. Bonnar, defense counsel, stated that he would like one, but could not manage it.

William Ivens, one of the accused, objected strongly to the evidence given by Davis at the preliminary trial going in, stating that Mr. Davis' evidence was against him and he wished to cross-ehamine Davis.

"It is a very strange thing," he said, "that this and other witnesses cannot come, and I question those affidavits of Mr. Davis' sickness."

When asked by Mr. Justice Metcalfe if he wanted a commission, Ivens replied that he didn't see how one could be held, and the judge remarked: "All right, that settles it."

The first witness of the morning was a member of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, who identified documents seized in a raid.

William Percy, a member of the strike committee, was recalled to the stand for cross-esamination by the defense. He gave evidence regarding the general strike and western labor organizations.

Winnipeg, Feb. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—F. G. Perry, court reporter fo Fernie, B.C., was the only witness called at the morning session of the trial of F. J. Dixon, M.L.A., charged with publishing seditious words Hugh Phillips, counsel for the crown, read various resolutions adopted at the Calgary convention which resulted in the formation of the One Big Union. A number of letters between R. B. Russell and Joe Knight, and Charles Stevenson, of Vancouver, were read by Mr. Phillips. These referred to the labor agitation in Winnipeg and the riot of last March.

Dixon, in cross-examining, asked the witness if he had seen him at the Calgar yconvention. The witness replied in the negative, and stated that he had not even heard his name mentioned. Mr. Phillips conceded the point that Dixon was in no way connected with the convention.

CAPITAL MAY BE INCREASED

The Granby Consolidated Mining, Smelting and Power company will hold a special meeting in New York on February 23 to vote upon a proposal for increasing the capitalization to $25,000,000 from $20,000,000. At this meeting the issuance of $2,500,000 in debenture bonds will be considered. The transfer books will be closed on February 11 and re-opened on February 25.

The Granby company has expended about $10,000,000 on plant and equipment, all of which could be properly charged to capital account, says a Boston report issued several weeks ago. The entire amount has thus far been financed from treasury and temporary loans.

The original intention of the managers was to meet the obligation with the surplus, but the dullness of the copper market last year and an inability to make sales made necessary a change in these plans, with the result that a large part of the expenditure will be capitalized.

Not only has the Anyox smelter been remodeled and improved, but a coal and coking plant has been added to the equipment at a total cost that approaches $500,000, says the report. Granby owns a large coal property through which it will effect a large saving in its fuel and coke charges and have a substantial tonnage available for custom markets, it is stated.

The copper on hand had been reduced to 3,000,000 pounds on January 1, as compared with 12,000,000 pounds at one time in 1919.

KILLING THEIR OIL WELLS

In a recent issue of "The Lamp," issued by Standard Oil, occurs the following, respecting the new oil field of the United States, against which so many additional oil concerns have been floated:

"Six months ago four new oil fields in Texas—Burkburnett, Caddo, Ranger and Desdemona—were threatening a veritable flood of production. Many large wells were daily being completed at these places and production figures amounted day after day, 'potntial' faster than 'actual.' The highest point reached for the entire country was almost 1,150,000 barrels per day and the average for the entire period was above 1,000,000 barrels.

"Consumption of crude kept an almost even pace with the actual amount produced and less than 3,000,000 barrels were put into storage.

"There was considerably more crude at hand, however, than the demand called for, especially at Burkburnett, where the few completed pipe lines, the limited amount of empty tankage and hte congested condition of the railroads made no other course possible than to wholly or partly shut in the wells after completion. This practice gave rise to a multitude of false impressions, most popular of which was that if all wells, including those shut down on top of the sand, were drilled in and allowed to produce to capacity, production would jump 50,000 to 100,000 barrels a day above the usual average of 90,000 barrels for this field.

"As each well at Burkburnett was completed and began flowing, its enthusiastic owners believed it good for from one to three thousand barrels a day. Thereupon they shut it in or took only part of its production and moved a few feet away to start another hole. A test of any kind was very often impossible, yet the drilling of new wells went merrily on.

"Today, after completion of sufficient lines to transport all production, the sad realization has dawned on many that when all the wells in the field are dividing the pressure of the pool in flowing their oil to the lines, the average production per well is not in the thousands, but in the small hundreds, and the further fact is becoming more and more evident that with an average of one well to a little over two acres even the 'hundreds' cannot long be maintained. The excessive prices paid for acreage by small stockselling concerns and others will never be recovered, let alone the money expended in drilling four wells to get the production one well eventually would yield.

"While Caddo, Ranger and Desdemona have not turned out as well as expected earlier in the year, they have produced a large amount of oil, and because the producing area in this district is constantly being broadened, a large production is still confidently expected for some time to come. But the newer territory appears to be no more promising than the old; there is the same thin pay ay great depths and the same expensive drilling. If there were fewer wells and consequently larger areas to be drained by each production averages would be higher and much money saved.

"Outside of Texas there is but one new pool of interest. This it at Homer, in the north central part of Louisiana, where six minths ago there were but one or two producing wells. A shallow sand production was originally developed, the wells coming in at anywhere from 100 to 1,000 barrels with a few considerably higher, but recently, deeper drilling has uncovered at a very prilific producing formation at around 2,100 feet. To date, 20 wells have been completed to the deeper sand and each is estimated to be good for from 5,000 to 20,000 barrels per day. The gravity of the fresh crude is about 40 degrees B.

"The Homer field as now drilled has a proved area of about 1,500 arres and there is very good reason to think the area will be still greater.

"The actual priduction of the Homer field today is less than 10,000 barrels. It is expected there will be facilities for handling 50,000 barrels per day from this field."

COMMUNICATION

Dear Editor: Kindly allow me space in your next issue of the "Free Press" to voice the opinion of the theatregoing public of the City of Fernie.

I have been requested to do this, but how to do it to give the credit due to the G.W.V.A. Concert Party, I am at a loss. To say the least, right from the raising of the curtain to the finish, there was one continual roar of laughter and pleasantness, created by a company of local artists who had studied hard and rehearsed for weeks previous, so that when they did appear on the stage, the patrons of the theatre should not be disappointed.

Pete Mulligan was sure a great hit, taking the crowd by storm with his imitations of Harry Lauder and Billy Sunday. Lanky Jack, the famous Lancashire step-dancer was a stunner. Harold Wheeler, with his recitations, held the crowd spellbound. Riley Bros. were two good numbers, with their beautiful voices, while T. Ogg, Harold Bowen and R. Billsborough were up to their usual perfection.

Fred Bass has great credit coming to him for the way he has worked and brought out this, the best of local talent.

In conclusion, permit me to say that I think it is my duty as the manager of the Grand Theatre, of Fernie, to get the Fernie Boys on the Theatre circuit, as I believe they are quite capable of taking any house by storm.

Thanking you in advance, I beg to remain, Yours very truly,

Frank Brindley.

HIGH FINANCE

The following statement in connection with a compensation case has been issued:

Mrs. Brown, a resident of Silverton, B.C., had her husband, who was a miner, killed in a slide.

Hy. Martin, Secretary of Fernie Local, received a cheque for $2400 compensation for the woman and deposited the money in his own name at the Home Bank, Fernie.

Martin gave Macneil, lawyer	$ 650.00
(Out of this $650.00 Macneil gave Wm. Robson $100.00 as his share.)
To pay for show films	450.00
Lawson (District Ledger)	250.00
	$1050.00
Martin sent Mrs. Brown	$ 900.00
....$150.00 cannot be accounted for.
Total received	$2400.00
Mrs. Brown received	900.00
	$1500.00

This amount was spent of the woman's money.

An I.W.W. was arrested in Fernie and Martin gave $1000.00 bond (marked cheque) on this fund. If the man had skipped the woman would not have got a cent of the $2400.00.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO G.W.V.A. MEMBERS

There will be a smoker for members only at the Club rooms on Saturday, 21st inst., commencing at 8 p.m. Walter Drinnan, Provincial Secretary Treasurer, will be present and will make an address on subjects of vital interest to the members. Every member is urged to attend. There will aslo be a musical program.

HERCHMER IN THE JEWELRY

The latest news from Winnipeg states that S. Herchmer with his rink of stalwarts from far away Fernie, B.C., entered the jewelry class of the consolation event for the Lieutenant-Governor's cup, and its accompanying prizes, in the 10 o'clock draw, winning from the local Strathcona rink skipped by J. E. Robertson, 11 to 9. Herchmer is also in the eights of the Hudson Bay trophy.

CURLING NEWS

The cup competitions in the local bonspiel came to an end Monday night when Tom Prentice defeated Milt Kastner in a close game for the Fernie Club trophy. This gives McDonald third place and Kirkpatrick fourth.

In the Grand Challenge, Lancaster landed the silverware by defeating Stewart with a spectacular shot in the last end. In the semi-finals of this competition, Lancaster "came home" two points down. His last rock meant win or loss but there was a chance. He took the chance and when the smoke had cleared he had scored three points and won the game from Douglas. The latter gets third money and McLaren fourth.

In the semi-finals of both the Burns and Grand Challenge competitions, Stewart and McLaren were rivals, Stewart going into the finals in the Grand Challenge and McLaren into the finals of the Burns where he was defeated by Kirkpatrick, thus giving Lawe third place and Stewart fourth.

The Consolation is nearing the finish. Mitchell defeated Liphardt in the semi-finals on Wednesday night.

NOTICE

We, the undersigned Moving Picture Exhibitors of British Columbia, find that owing to the material increase in the rental of pictures and all theatre supplies, it becomes imperative to either lower the standard of entertainment or increase admission prices.

We are unwilling, and we feel that our patrons would resent being offered anything but the highest class motion pictures that the market affords.

In order that our patrons may not be denied the advantage of the best, and if our theatres shall continue to operate without loss, an increase in admission price is absolutely necessary, therefore kindly take notice that on and after March 1st the adult evening admission price at the undermentioned theatres will be 35c.

In view of the number of cases of Influenza of varying degree of severity in the city, the citizens are strongly advised to avoid crowded gatherings of all kinds.—D. Corsan, M.H.O.

Three rinks from Coleman skipped by Messrs. Whitesides, Little and Kellock, visited Fernie on Wednesday afternoon and played several friendly games with our local boys. The Fernie skips who played them were Messrs. Greenwood, Liphardt and Jas. Johnston.

THE G. W. V. A. CONCERT PARTY

AN APPRECIATION BY ONE OF THE AUDIENCE

Everybody is asking: "Did you go to the show Tuesday night?" and "The best ever," is the unanimous verdict.

The Fernie G.W.V.A. Concert Party has come into its own, and Mr. Fred Bass, the manager and musical director, is to be congratulated on bringing out talent which kept a crowded house rocking with laughter or ringing with applause from the start of the varied program to the finish. There was not a dull turn in the whole performance and the snap and swing with which the programme was carried through would have been a credit to the best of professionals. Charming musical numbers were sandwiched in between burlesque of the most sidesplitting nature and one surprise after another burst upon a delighted audience. New songs, new jokes, new costumes (where, by the way, did you get them Mr. propertyman?) and new tunes. The program as follows, was a rollicking, rippling success from beginning to end.

Part One taking the form of a Minstrel performance, with Pete Mulligan and Jack Hayes as endmen, began with an opening chorus by the full company, followed by a running fire of repartee with a snap, patter with pep, and jokes with a (Oh, naughty—a little louder next time Harold; some of 'em missed it). Mr. Bass' dramatic recitation was lost forever to the audience by a lively altercation arising between two of the party over the loan of two-bits, in which the whole company joined Very cleverly done and greatly appreciated by the audience.

The song: "Deep in the Heart of a Rose," chosen by Harold Bowen, suited to perfection his beautiful tenor voice. Always a favorite with the public, he was greeted with round after round of applause and responded with his usual good nature by giving an encore.

Bob Billsborough followed with a humorous song, most amusingly rendered with a true Parisian accent. (Some song, Bob, "Oh La, La, Oui, Oui."). Joe Riley then appeared upon the scene and the audience had its hands full, so to speak, with both ears cocked to catch every note of his delightful "Yodelling" and both eyes eager not to lose anything of the comic side show of the end men. Mr. Wheeler, with his clever monologue, "Water? No!" brought down the house and later on in the programme his recitation "Spotty," with dramatic piano accompaniment by Mr. Bass, brought such insistent applause that he responded with a lightning change artist act and gave "Renting a House."

W. Riley's beautiful voice was never heard to better advantage than in the song "When You Come Home," and in the second half of the programme in rendering "Sometime, Dear Heart" his gift for imparting a different quality of tone (coloration is, I believe, the correct technical term) was most pleasing. Needless to say the audience insisted upon an encore. Again Mr. Bass attempted to do his bit and again his efforts were turned into farcical musical gag between him and Mr. Billsborough. Mr. Ogg's sympathetic rendering of "When Song is Sweet," and "I'm Wearying For You" held the audience for a breathless second before it broke into a storm of applause, showing the appreciation which must be so gratifying to a singer. They were given no chance to linger in a sentimental mood however, for Messrs. Parnell, Mulligan, J. and W. Riley, in a rollicking quartette "Rolling The Bones" had everyone laughing again and it was only in anticipation of hearing Pete Mulligan's "Irish Lullaby" that they were allowed to leave the stage. And now at last Mr. Bass got a hearing and gave a humorous song "I'm On Strike" in his own inimitable manner, followed by a comic dialogue with Mr. Ogg, which bristled with local hits and topical gags.

When the curtain fell at the close of the first half of the programme after a burlesque by the entire party entitled "At The Circus" one looked about at an audience obviously more than delighted with the performance and eagerly waiting for more.

Interspersed in the second half of the programme with songs already mentioned, were more surprises. Mr. Mulligan in his impersonations was a howling success and his "Dago in the Police Court," "A Frenchman reciting the Charge of the Light Brigade," "The Wily Chink" and "The Swedish Preacher" were given with a professional finish which took the house by storm.

Jack Hayes, with many intricate steps added to his clever dancing, was only allowed to retire for want of breath. A charming song entitled "Friend of Mine", sung by J. Riley, had such a lilting refrain that unconsciously everybody joined in the chorus. A clever singing gag "This and That," by the quartette in costume was followed by a burlesque sketch called "A Railway Hero", in which the parts were taked by Messrs. Bowen, Billsborough, J. and W. Riley, and the curtain fell upon one of the most successful performances ever staged in Fernie.

Owing to illness, Oscar Anderson was unable to act as accompanist and Miss Grace Hart, an accomplished young pianist, whom the public would like to hear more often, took his place.

Tom Joinson was greatly missed in the party, he unfortunately being in the hospital seriously ill with blood-poisoning.

NEED A NEW HIGH SCHOOL

An open meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association was held last evening at which Dr. Garner performed the duties of chairman in his usual happy and tactful way. The vocal solos by Miss Hogan and Mr. Alexander were very much enjoyed, as were also the piano solos and duets by Miss Harper and Miss Ingram.

Mr. Corrie, Mr. Lancaster and Mr. Hancock on behalf of the school board urged the imperative need of a new High School and Vocational Training building. They condemned the present quarters in the old Methodist church in the strongest terms. Everything possible had been done to improve the ven...tion, even to having expert advice from Calgary. Any bettering of conditions there was impracticable and it was still unfit for any child to be confined in. It was not a matter of expense, as these temporary makeshifts cost more in the end with far less efficiency.

Mr. Corrie spoke of the plan soon to be completed of having a swimming pool and better recreation facilities for the children. Mr. Hancock urged the taking advantage by the citizens of the St. John Ambulance lectures on Sunday afternoons in the Baptist church basement.

Dr. Garner referred in particular to the need of Manual Training and Domestic Science, especially in a community such as Fernie, where an unusually large percentage leave school while in the grades. The present system has not enough practical bearing on the occupation of the boy or girl in after life. A little geology for instance would be very good for the boy who is going to work in the mines. So, too, the mechanical work learned in the Vocational School would help many boys more than Latin. The Doctor also condemned housing conditions for school children, which by impairing health, led inevitably to impaired life.

Mention was also made of the great value of having music taught in the schools, which could be done with very little expense.

Mr. Morrison and Mr. Ashley being unable to attend through illness, Mr. Morrison sent a letter giving the viewpoint of the "victims" of the present High school building, describing the condition there as "slow poisoning," and condemning it in no uncertain terms.

Mr. Daniels spoke along general educational lines, referring to the bright future ahead for the children of Canada, as shown by educational conferences in the larger centres, where some of the brightest men of the country are making it their business to improve both text books and system. He also referred to the crowded condition of our schools.

The discussion was continued informally over "coffee and things" and before the meeting broke up a strong resolution was passed urging that an immediate and vigorous campaign be undertaken to secure a new high school building.

Maurice D. McPhee, C.P.R. operator at the station, died at his home on McPherson Avenue this morning. Deceased, who was 45 years of age, was born at Kitchener, Ont. He had been an employee of the C.P.R. for 28 years. He leaves a widow and four children, two sons and two daughters. The funeral will be held on Monday, February 23, at 2.30 p.m. from Thomson's Funeral Parlors.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

If you've got a tender message
Or a loving word to say;
Don't wait till you forget it,
But whisper it today.
We live but in the present.
The future is unknown.
Tomorrow is a mystery;
Today is all our own.

And don't forget—there will be lots of people in heaven just as much surprised to see you there as you will be to see them. But don't stop advertising on that account.

By the newspaper reports from the Parliament buildings at Victoria, Honest John Oliver must begin to think there comes a time to us all, when we begin to wonder if we are as smart as we have always thought we were. The government seems to have had a hint of what they may expect. If pre-election promises are treated with neglect, they might amend their tactics for all politics apart. Persistence in their present course will land them in the cart.

Mrs. Tom Duncan and family were Cranbrook visitors last week, taking in the English Pantomime.

Joe Schell, Bert Sang and F. W. Burgess, of Cranbrook, were down to Elko on Saturday.

Mayor C. A. Klingensmith, who is rusticating down across the International boundary line, writes from Portland, Oregon, that everything is green; the flowers in bloom; everybody working, even the Old Man, and that he and his wife were going fishing. What better evidence of spring could there be?

W. J. J. Morrison is down in the Roosville Valley putting up buildings on his stock ranch.

Alex Birnie sold out his pure bred dairy stock to Mr. Jules Anderson, of Fernie, this week.

The Rainbow Creek Lumber Co., near Roosville, bought the C. Ferguson timber, east of the mill, and have a big staff of men cutting close to the Roosville school house. Stanley McLean Norton, G.W.V. is chief accountant, and one of the most popular men in camp; well-known in Fernie and Cranbrook.

A. Jeffries, general manager for the Bill Woods tie and prop camps near Elko, was a Fernie visitor this week.

A. McMillan, contractor at the Smith and Watson spur on the Great Northern Railway, is having considerable trouble to get cars, and when loaded, to get them moved. Either the railroad or the railway employees are working a great hardship on this G.W.V. contractor, and if the G. N. Railway is just in here for their own convenience, its about time the Canadian Railway Commissioners took hold of the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miller entertained a party of friends to a card party at their residence on Riverside Drive last week.

Maybelle-Two-Stockings, Amelia-Son-of-a-Gun and Minnie-Wolf-Robe came in from the Tobacco Plains Reserve with a few martin skins, and swapped them for two hudred and fifty dollars, and left in the varnished cars for Cranbrook this week.

We are wondering what Mr. Foreman, Deputy Minister of Public Works is going to do with the Government wagon bridge at Elko.

Contractor J. J. Cameron is starting up his camps again, taking out ties and mine timber.

where the war was not carried into the tropical colonies of European states there was retrogression because they were neglected and at a standstill. Practically no exploration except in the polar regions was in progress in those four years.

We know now that in the rebuilding of the world, intensive study is to be given to the whole earth to ascertain how every part of it may add most efficiently to the things that people need. It is the purpose of this column to record the work planned, in progress or completed, to add to our knowledge of the world and its resources; and the means by which these available.

We now know practically what route will be followed by the Cape to Cairo R. R. from the south end of Africa to the Mediterranean. Before the war began the railroad from Cape Town had been completed to Broken Hill in northern Rhodesia and was then pushed on to Elizabethville, the city that had sprung up in the Katanga copper mining region near the southeastern edge of the Belgian Congo. Then the line was pushed northwest to the Lualaba, one of the great head streams of the Congo and it was eypected to extend it north, also along the river, to Stanleyville, about 700 miles. Here one of the great problems would be met.

The railroad was to pass for 700 miles thru the great tropical forest, an experiment that had never been tried. Was there any expedient by whic hthe great forest might be avoided? The German Government was finally approached on the subject Its permission was asked to extend the Cape to Cairo line thru German East Africa where it could easily be carried northward. The reply of Germany was decisive. "It is not the policy of the German government to permit railroads built by other European powers to enter German African territories."

Great Britain now holds the mandate for the former German East Africa. If she wishes to use that country as a link in the Cape to Cairo enterprise she can do so; and if the railroad is thus completed the entire route will be in territory that is under the British flag or amenable to British law.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

AT THE ORPHEUM WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

BRITAIN'S PART IN THE WAR

England has found it hard to realize that there are actually people who belittle the share taken by Great Britain in the war, and do more than hint and continue to hint that she did not pull her weight. The average Englishman replies contemptuously to these insinuations: "What does it matter? It's not worth answering."

However, now, rather late to catch up with the slanders, official figures are published to show exactly what Great Britain did in the Great War.

It is stated that 8,645,467 troops from Great Britain and her Dominions took part in the war. They are divided as follows:

British Isles	5,704,416
Canada	640,886
Australia	416,809
New Zealand	220.099
South Africa	136,070
India	1,401,350
Other Colonies	134,837
	8,654,467

The total casualties from the whole of the British Empire were:

Killed, died and died of wounds	851,117
Missing and prisoners	142,057
Wounded	2,067,442

It is also very interesting to note that during the great offensive between July and November, 1918, which ended the war, the British armies took 200,000 prisoners and 2,540 guns, while the Americans took 43,-300 prisoners and 1,421 guns. The French took 135,720 prisoners and 1,880 guns, and the Belgians 14,500 prisoners and 474 guns. Comment on these figures seems unnecessary.

It is sometimes overlooked by friends as well as those who are not friends, that Great Britain had 80,-000 combatant troops in Italy, who helped in the final defeat of the Austrian army, and captured 30,000 prisoners, and that 400,000 British troops fought in Palestine and Mesopotamia.

The complete defeat and destruction of the Turkish army was accomplished by British troops alone, and a total of 85,000 prisoners were taken.

So that's that.—Saturday Night.

THE RIVER AMAZON

Most of us know so little about South America that the following interesting description of the greatest river in the world should be welcomed by older boys and girls. It is taken from The Children's Friend, an excellent little monthly paper, published in London.

So vast is the body of water that flows down this mightiest of all rivers of the earth, that ships approaching the northeast corner of South America may be said to be "sailing up the Amazon" long before the first glimpse of the coast can be obtained. For, far from the mouth of the great river the salt water of the Atlantic Ocean is driven back. It is a river n the sea, and maintains its freshness for a distance of 180 miles out from the land. After starting on its long career from a tiny spring in the snowy Andes of Peru, more than 4,000 miles away from its mouth it is joined by 1,100 tributaries, many of which are noble and mighty rivers in themselves.

If, in imagination, we made a trip up ths great waterway, we should enter the magic region by that portion of its mouth known as the River Para. On the left bank stands the town of Belem, capitol of the state of Para. Bathed in sunshine so bright that by contrast the shadows of the houses have all the appearance of being deep blue in color, Belem is not lacking in energy. Its wharves are visited by large numbers of ships, some engaged in the varied trade of the great river, some coming from the uttermost corners of the earth to collect cargoes of the famous Brazilian rubber. In the state of Para alone there are more than 7,000,000 rubber trees; so little wonder that Belem, though within a few miles of the equator, has no time to spend in idleness.

Sailing westward we shortly reach the main stream of the Amazon, but so vast is the width that the opposite shore is quite invisible. The far-stretching forest, haunted by thousands of different forms of animal life, comes down to the water's edge. As we cruise along we see among the overhanging branches the lively forms of bright hued birds and no less agile monkeys. There is a magic in the deep recesses of this limitless forest, where the naturalist, Bates, spent so many years exploring its mysteries, but we can give it no more than a passing glance as we hold on our way, up this "Mediterranean of South America," as it is called, till we reach the mouth of the River Negro, on which stands the flourishing town of Manaos, 1,000 miles from the sea. In twenty-five years Manaos has grown from an unimportant little settlement to a flourishing place of business with a population of nearly 100,000 people, who are so well off that they spend no less than £40,000 a year on the illumination of their streets and houses. River steamers are busy here, up and down the Amazon and the River Negro, carrying cargoes of timber, for in the huge forests grow quantities of the acapu and yellow-wood trees. The wood from these is made into flooring boards, and many of the finest houses in far away Lisbon have been "floored" from the forests around Manaos. But the merchants of this town also deal in rubber, Brazil nuts, fish and the hides of wild animals.

At the mouth of the River Negro our trip must end for the present, but the wonderland of the Amazon has scarcely been entered. On and on to the never reached horizon stretch the waters and woods. There are islands in the river; there are broken channels forming a maze of watery avenues, and over these the feathery forest hangs a green roof, so that our exploring vessel would have to pass through tunnel after tunnel of cool shade, while right and left there is no dearcation to show where the forest ends and the river begins. The silence here is broken alone by the strange cries of wild animals and birds. To the lover of nature it is a veritable paradise, and the naturalist of whom we have already spoken discovered here no fewer than 8,000 new varieties of animal life, while in the broad valley through which the river flows there are 1,200 kinds of birds that make it their exclusive home.

Speaking of the varying character of this remarkable river, Bates says: "The year at Ega (on the Upper Amazon) is divided according to the rises and falls of the river (that is to say, the wet and dry seasons). In this region there are two rises and two falls in every year. The great annual rise commences about the end of February and continues to the middle of June. The flood progresses gently, inch by inch, and is felt even in the interior of the forest, miles away from the river, till many a little valley, dry in the rainless season, becomes a navigable stream for small boats."

INVITES COOK TO THE PALACE

Vivacious, unconventional, full of good stories and wise sayings, Lord Fisher's new volume, "Records," published recently in London, will provoke as much controversy as his career has done. He has the frank, delightful egotism of a child, says a London Mail reviewer, but behind this is the fame of unrivalled achievements which even his severest critics will admit.

These are some typical sayings and anecdotes from his book:

"Napoleon praised our blockades; but very justly of our diplomacy he thought but ill. Yes, alas! What a diplomacy it has been! If our blockade had been permitted by the diplomats to have been effective it would have finished the war at once."

"I entered the navy penniless friendless, and forlorn. I have always had to fight like —, and fighting has made me what I am. Hunger and thirst are the way to heaven."

"I went down to Sandringham with a great party. I slunk off to my room to write an important letter; then I took off my coat, got out my keys, unlocked my portmanteau, and began unpacking. I had a boot in each hand; I heard somebody fumbling with the door handle, and thinking it was the footman, I said, 'come in, don't go humbugging with that door handle!' and i nwalked King Edward, with acigar about a yard long in his mouth. He said (I with a boot in each hand!) 'What on earth are you doing?' Unpacking, Sir!' 'Where's your servant?' 'Haven't got one, Sir.' 'Where is he?' 'Never had one, Sir.; couldn't afford it.' 'Put those boots down; sit in that arm chair.' And he went and sat in the other on the other side of the fire. I thought to myself, 'This is a rum state of affairs! Here's the King of England sitting in my bedroom on one side of the fire and I'm in my shirt sleeves sitting in an arm chair on the other side.'

"He could be extremely unpleasant. One night when I got the King's nurse to dress me, she put the ribbon of something over the wrong shoulder an dthe King harangued me as if I'd robbed a church."

When, in 1904, King Edward came to stay with him:

"He had the cook (Lord Fisher's cook) up in the morning. The King gave her some decoration—I can't remember what it was. Some little time after the King had left, one night I said to the butler at dinner, "This soup was never made by Mrs. Baker (the cook in question); is she ill? The butler replied, 'No, Sir John; Mrs. Baker isn't ill; she has been invited by the King to stay at Buckingham Palace. . . He said to her that he thought she would enjoy seeing how a great State dinner was managed, and told her he would ask her to stay at Buckingham Palace or Windsor Castle to see one!"

"There are three types of secrecy. 1. The ostrich. 2. The red box. 3. The real thing. The secrecy of the red box is that of a distinguished admiral who used to have his red despatch box carried before him as containing the most secret plans, but one day, the box being unfortunately capsized and burst open, the only contents that fell out were copies of La Vie Parisienne!"

"Our motto in the war war: Too Late."

"When Togo was given the Order of Merit he wore it the wrong way out, so that the inscription 'For Merit' should not be seen, he was so modest."

"The war will come in 1914, and Jellicoe will command the Grand Fleet. (Prediction in a letter of 1910 to Sir M. Hankey.)

"The Admiralty thought of coal in the oil age, it was so safe! Lot's wife thought of her toasted muffins."

"The British Fleet won the war and the British Fleet didn't get a single thing it ought to have excepting the everlasting stigma among our allies of being fools in allowing the German Fleet to be sunk under our noses because we mistook the Germans for gentlemen."

LONDONERS SHUT MANSIONS ESCAPE FROM ENGLAND

"Where have they gone?" murmurs the London club member as he ruminates over certain empty chairs. "Where have they gone?" asks the homeabiding Londoner as he strolls through one West End square after another and comtemplates the shuttered windows.

The "imposing mansion," proud of its 30 bedrooms, is as derelict as a summer hotel in December. Whither they have gone, these homeless folk? They have fled from England in eager haste. This one winter has given them—after five long years—the first opportunity of escape, and they have seized it. They are fleeing, says the London Times, not from the horrors of war, but from the penalties of peace. Behind their hurrying feet are neither burning cities nor shell-mangled roads. They are pursued by the dour platoon of the tax-gatherer, the profiteer, the collector of rates, the imperious man on strike, and above all, by the ghost of the domestic servant that was. They have escaped from England. That has been the one great purpose of their exodus. Large numbers have followed the sun and have taken refuge along the shores of the Mediterranean. Although the Riviera season has not formally commenced and although one half of the hotels are as yet unopened and one-third of the shops still bare, yet the familiar resorts seem crowded, and the crowd to be British. There are, of course, French and Italians to be come upon, with possibly a Russian or two, but with happily never a German in any recognizable guise.

The fugitives are, for the most part, elderly; for the strain has told more heavily upon them than upon the young. They are not picturesque like the refugees in the north of France. They are not met with, stumbling and footsore, upon the road. They are not pushing wheelbarrows before them, nor are they sitting upon a pile of furniture in an unsteady cart.

From such scraps of conversation as are to be heard in the lounge and the smoking room one can gather what is uppermost in the minds of these fugitives from their native land. Their broken utterances are rather in such wise as this: "You see we had to store all our furniture. . . . Our cook left us at a day's notice. . . . As to the last charwoman we had, well. . . . My poor husband had to cook the breakfast. . . . The way the kitchenmaid behaved was. . . . From these melancholy fragments it may be inferred that the predominant terror from which the speakers are fleeing is the elusive shade of the domestic servant.

Radicalism Again Downed

The elections of last week in Australia, which have secured the reelection of Premier Hughes, are not without interest to Americans. The particular issue involved in them, in its essential features, has been faced by the voters of every nation that has emerged with the concourse of the victors from the World War—the issue between a strong and self-reliant nationalism and surrender to a denationalizing radical minority. The leader of the forces of Australian nationalism was the noted statesman, William E. Hughes, who throughout the war and the labors of the peace table represented sa ably the cause of the commonwealth. Opposed to Premier Hughes were the Laborites led by Frank Tudor and former Premier Ryan of the Province of Queensland. Their platform called for the adoption of a form of state Socialism, with the minimum play for private enterprise. Virtually complete returns from the elections establish Premier Hughes' title to victory and he is certain of a decided majority in the next House of Representatives in support of his coalition party.

Politically and ethnically Australia is essentially a British colony. Its remoteness from Europe., the sparseness of its population and the frontier character of much of its life have made of the Australian a type distinct from the Englishman. But the deep-rootedness of the British traditions and the heritage of Anglo-Saxon ideals of government have made the Australiain share with the Britisher a conception of government whose relation to society corresponds in a general way with that of the policeman in the community which he serves—the function of government being to permit the fullest development of the activities of the individual. The success of Premier Hughes is to be interpreted as an assertion of the instinctive preference of the Anglo-Saxon for a government that leaves untouched the realm of enterprise and a repudiation of state paternalism.—Boston Transcript.

The Increased Cost of Wheat

"At the moment when all necessities of life are being sold at prices hitherto unheard of, when the consumer is being exploited by the profiteers in a most revolting manner, without the public powers seriously attempting to apply the curb, the Canadian Government, through the Canadian Wheat Commission, decrees by a stroke of the pen and a brutal gesture that wheat shall be more, and consequently flour and bread. After such an economic assault on the Canadian consumer, when he was expecting some efficacious protection from the Federal Government, what moral force can be invoked against the bakers who were recently accused of combining in order to increase the price of bread? What is the pretended conspiracy of a small group of bakers compared with the conspiracy higher up, which differs from the other only because it is more general and because care has been exercised to legalize it in advance? There has been a simple pretext to make the public believe that the authorities were seriously occupied with the task of combatting the plague of the high cost of living, when in reality they were cynically mocking the consumer, who, through his deplorable isolation, has up to the present time been unable to exercise any other than a negative influence on the acts of a power which is becoming more and more feverishly preoccupied with the task of saving from wreckage the barque which is carrying it to the abyss. The Grain Growers of the west are the power of the day. Their desires are orders for a Government which has neither will nor energy, which governs only under the domination of fear after having shown itself—when it thought itself to be absolute master—the most autocratic of tyrants. 'In order to enrich the farmers of the West,' declares a Montreal miller, 'six million consumers are being delivered over to their exploitation.' That is the present situation; and the odious policy ought to be resented by the whole population of the East, who are the victims of an abominable abuse of power and a conspiracy in which there is no attempt to dissimulate the plot."—La Presse, Montreal.

CENSUS AND PARLIAMENT

According to the municipal statistics of Quebec, that Province had a population of 2,432,251 in 1918, as compared with 2,003,232 given by the Dominion census in 1911, an increase of 429,019 in eight years, or more than 50,000 a year. The municipal figures are not entirely accurate, but probably represent the average increase, and if this increase is maintained Quebec will have close to 2,750,000 when the next census is taken in 1921. This large increase of population in Quebec will necessitate a general rearrangement of representation in the House of Commons.

Quebec, under the B.N.A. Act, is given 65 members of Parliament, and this number divided among the population of that Province gives the basis of representation for the other provinces. This basis, according to the census of 1911, was 30,818 population for each member, but if the population of Quebec in 1921 should be 2,750,000 the basis would rise to 42,300. It is quite certain that Ontraio, which by the census of 1911 had a population of 2,533,274, has not increased by any means as rapidly as Quebec, and it is possible that Ontario's representation in the House of Commons, which is now 82, may not be much over 70 as a result of the next census.—Globe.

The written and oral examinations are designed to test the knowledge and ability of applicants to perform the duties of Assistant Forest Rangers. The examination will consist mainly of practical questions on logging, cruising, surveying, forest protection, etc., but will also include questions to test the applicant's ability to prepare reports. Physical ability and good character are absolute requirements.

All statements made by applicants as to experience, education and fitness are subject to verification by the Department. No persons other than British subjects will be permitted to take the examination. Intending applicants should notify the Chief Forester, Victoria, or the District Forester at Vancouver, Prince Rupert, Prince George, Kamloops, Cranbrook or Nelson.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Geo. Cody is seriously ill with the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Kirkpatrick are on the sick list.

A Cox, of Natal, was in the city on business Tuesday.

Bill Potter, the apostle of unrest, visited Lethbridge this week.

There are a large number of Fernie people on the sick list just now.

Jack Carmichael is confined to the house with partial paralysis of the legs.

Have you got your ticket for the Moose Annual Ball on St. Patrick's night? Now on sale.

The Pollock Export Co. expect to open business in the old Pollock Wine Co. stand very shortly.

H. P. Gregson, of Dorr, was in the city on Tuesday. He has just returned from a short visit to his old home in England.

The Ladies' Chapter, Loyal Order of Moose, are holding another social on Monday next, at Ingram's Hall, commencing at 7.30 sharp.

Born—On the 8th instant, at Minnedosa, Man., to May, the wife of Stanley McLean Norton, Flagstone, B.C., a daughter.

It costs six bits in Calgary to get a hair cut, but of course it is not absolutely necessary to get ones hair cut at all. The time was when everybody let their hair grow.

A sale of home cooking will be held in McLeans old stand, by the ladies of the Holy Family Church on the afternoon of Saturday, February 28. Tea will be served from 1 to 6 p.m.

M. J. Smoke died at Prince Rupert. He was one of the first white men to land in Cranbrook, locating there in the pioneer days, when a few scattered residents, some forty persons, comprised the population of that place.

The Ladies of the Catholic church are giving a St. Patrick's dance on March 17th, in the Church Hall Dancing at 9.30 sharp. Commons' four piece orchestra. Refreshments. Admission: ladies and gentlemen, 50 cents each.

The G.W.V.A. Concert Party are contemplating making a road tour in the near future. R. Billsborough has resigned as secretary. All communications in future should be addressed to Joseph Riley. We wish them every success in their venture.

The Herchmer rink at the Winnipeg Bonspiel have been playing in hard luck. They lost steadily all last week but started off lucky on Monday, getting a default in the Consolation, and a win in the Hudson Bay. On Tuesday they got another win in the Consolation.

Fernie has had two deaths from pneumonia this week. Erick Schneider, a member of the G. N. bridge crew died in the hospital on Tuesday, and Jas. Wainwright, one of the Waldorf staff, died on Thursday, after an illness of only four days. Wainwright's people reside in Bermuda.

Mt. Fernie Lodge, I.O.O.F., will be At Home on Thursday evening next, February 26th, at 8 p.m. Invitations have been issued to Corbin, Cranbrook and Michel Lodges to be present. All local Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and their wives and husbands are specially requested to be present on this occasion.

E. Picarello, of Blairmore, late of Fernie, well-known as the bottle king, has secured an export liquor license from the Alberta Government and has opened up a warehouse in Blairmore. Pick, with his wonderful aggressiveness jumped into the business right. He got his first carload of booze, costing $130,000, in by express, the carrying charges alone costing $3,000. Ten years ago Pick didn't have a dollar. Today he is worth several hundred thousands, and yet they say that prohibition is no good.

This city will lose a good citizen tomorrow in the person of Arthur Hancock, who is leaving with his family for England, where he expects to go into the poultry business. Mr. Hancock is a citizen who has earned the respect and high regard of every man with whom he has come in contact. He has served with credit on the school board, of which body he is still a member. He was largely instrumental in organizing first aid and mine rescue work in Fernie, and is at present an officer in the First Aid Association. He has been a prominent worker on the Reconstruction and Victory Loan Committees, and altogether has made himself a most useful member of society. Coming to Fernie some nine years ago, he worked in the Coal Creek mines ever since and laid up a nice little nest egg, which will establish him well in the poultry business, in which he has always taken a keen interest, being known all over the west for his fine poultry stock.

Colin Commons is seriously ill.

Sheriff Doyle, of Nelson, was in the city yesterday on business.

Officers for the coming year were nominated at the meeting of the local lodge Loyal Order of Moose. Election takes place at the first meeting in March.

Manager Johnston of the Orpheum says that it will shortly become necessary to raise the price of admission to the picture shows to 35c. Every town in the west have boosted their prices long ago.

Owing to the partial closing down of the mines in the Drumheller field there has been an influx of miners to the Fernie district. Among the oldtimers to come back is Bob Fagan, well known here. He will locate at Michel.

The third lecture, St. John's Ambulance Association, for the Ambulance class will be given by Dr. Garner in the basement of the Baptist church on Sunday next, Feb. 22, at 4 p.m. All persons interested are invited to attend.

The usual fortnightly meeting of the W. A. of the G.W.V.A. will be held on Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock, followed by whist drive for the members. Mrs. H. Biggs, Mrs. Clarkston and Mrs. G. Wilson will serve refreshments.

The Pacific Great Eastern railway will not be constructed into the Peace River country at present, Premier Oliver has informed a delegation representing the associated boards of trade of British Columbia. The premier intimated that Prince George would be the limit of line according to present plans.

The St. Valentines dance, given by the Ladies of the Catholic church, on Friday evening last, was a success in every way. The decorations were splendid and very appropriate while the supper, which was served, left nothing to be desired. The music supplied by Commons' Orchestra was of the best; and everyone who attended reported a splendid time.

The Mt. Fernie Chapter, I.O.D.E., is making a big effort to go over the top in the amount that has been set as its share towards the National War Memorial. As there is still a deficit to be made up within the next few months, the chapter has deemed it advisable to ask its members for a minimum contribution of $3.00 per capita. The following committee has been appointed to interview the members: Mrs. Beck, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Wood.

A quiet wedding took place at the Roman Catholic church on Monday morning, when Ambrose Joseph Schell, manager of the Cranbrook Jobbers, was united in marriage to Margaret Agnes Howard, also of Cranbrook. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Fred Dennison. The groom was assisted by Carl Mackay and Miss Frances Drummond acted as bridesmaid. Mrs. Gorlay provided the music for the occasion and sang the beautiful solo "A Perfect Day" and "Ave Marie." Rev. Father B. J. Kennedy performed the marriage ceremony. The young couple left on the morning train for Spokane.

The Orpheum Theatre will present next week what is considered by experts to be one of the most perfect motion pictures yet made. The story is of a marriage of convenience, adapted from "Her Kingdom of Dreams," by Louise Provost, which was published in "The People's Home Journal." The film was directed by Marshall Neilan who recently made Mary Pickford's "Daddy Long Legs." Critics state that it is almost impossible to pick a flaw in the wonderful acting, while the settings, photography and scenic effects—particularly those showing the logging in the Pacific northwest—are magnificent. It is a First National Attraction, and will be shown Wednesday and Thursday.

LITTLE DONE IN LEGISLATURE

Victoria, B.C.—Two weeks of talk with little of real work accomplished is the record of the present session of the Legislature to date. The debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne is still dragging along, and it looks as if it will not conclude until well on to the end of next week. Members are becoming restless and outspoken criticism of the fact that so far practically no legislation of importance has been tabled, is heard.

Premier Oliver rather heatedly took to task on Friday J. W. McIntosh, erstwhile supporter of the government, whe the latter complained that the legislature was marking time. The Premier asserted it to be as much the business of members of the House as it was of the government, to bring in legislation that that was what they were there for and paid for. But he did not deign to explain why promised bills were not as yet forthcoming.

The fact is the government is still unprepared with its legislation and the situation today is the same as it has been at this time in previous sessions despite the assurances of the government last year that a new order would be instituted at this session. Five private bills and three government measures have so far been introduced, the latter of but minor importance. Major Burde, Alberni, has introduced a bill designed to regulate the hours of labor in industries, the specific object being to reduce hours of labor in saw-mills. Mr. Hawthornthwaite, Newcastle, has a bill to give the government power to cancel charters granted by the province to companies which do not live up to their charter obligations. This bill seeks to obviate, in future, the situation created by the action of the B.C. Electric railway in applying to the Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada to have their undertakings declared works of public advantage to Canada, thereby coming under the direct jurisdiction of that Board and removing itself from the control of the Provincial Public Utilities Commission, the new department created last year. In consequence the Province is possessed of a Public Utilities Commissioner, who draws $7,000 a year and has practically nothing to do.

A bill to amend the Pre-empters' Free Grants Act has been introduced. Under the existing act returned soldiers can only secure their free grants upon furnishing evidence of their discharge. Cases have arisen where men are still attached to units, although they have returned to this country. It is the purpose of the amending bill to permit free grants to them even if they have not been discharged.

With the recent loan for $2,500,000 floated by the Province for P.G.E. purposes, the aggregate bonded indebtedness of B.C. is approximately $33,000,000, or nearly double what it was at the end of 1916, when the present administration tok office, a little over three years ago. Then the debt was slightly over $18,000,000. The present Liberal administration has, therefore, borrowed about $14,000,000. Next year this large total will be swelled by a further loan for $4,000,000 to be utilized in completing construction of the P.G.E. into Prince George and for other purposes.

The financial operations of the government will undoubtedly be a fruitful topic of discussion at the present session. The opposition scoffs at the claim advanced by Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, to a surplus of $1.040,000 in current revenue over current expenditures for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1919, as shown in the public accounts just tabled. They assert the so-called surplus is merely a book-keeping one, Mr. W. R. Ross, Conservative, suggesting that the Minister, being a young man and more or less inexperienced, was "just kidding" himself into believing he had a surplus.

The opposition ran up against another snag in the Legislature this week in its efforts to get information from the government. Last week Mr. Bowser lost out when a straight party majority sustained the Premier's contention that information asked for in the shape of questions on the order paper could be expected only in the shape of returns made to the House, an attitude on the part of the Premier, which, Mr. Bowser stated, simply meant that as had been the case on previous occasions, informations sought for by the opposition, would be brought down on the last day of the session when it would be of no use to the members of the House.

Mr. W. R. Ross, having in mind that attitude, this week asked for a return of reports made by forest rangers to the Minister of Lands, covering a recent serious forest fire at Cheakmus, on the line of the P.G.E., whereby a valuable saw-mill and other private property was destroyed. The Minister refused to table the reports on the ground that they were personal opinions expressed by the forest rangers and were, therefore, confidential. He refused to be budged from that position despite Mr. Ross' contention that all official business was open to the Legislature.

It is hinted that these reports would throw an interesting light upon a threatened legal action by the saw-mill concern against the government railway, the fire, it being stated, having originated from the railway and at the time there were no forest rangers available to prevent its spread, hence the possibility of a damage action against the government.

F. Giolma, soldier member for Victoria, brought balm to the feelings of members on the government side when he stated on Friday that in his opinion, the goversment had lived up to the spirit of the resolution passed by the House last year calling for preference to returned men when filling government positions. That resolution, it will be remembered, was the outcome of lengthy debate in which the Premier and members of the cabinet opposed it, claiming the government's hands should not be so tied as the question of efficiency had to be considered. It was Mr. Bowser's argument pointing to the action of the late government in that respect and it's guarantee to the men enlisting that they would be cared for on their return, that convinced the House of the propriety of the resolution. But the opposition this year is persistently demanding to know how it is that government positions are still being held by men who, at the outbreak of the war, were of military age and who did not enlist, while veterans back from service overseas and capable of filling those positions are out of employment and in straightened circumstances.

Mr. Ross aroused the ire of the Minister of Public Works, by asking the ages of certain of the Public Works district engineers at the beginning of the war and if any of them had been rejected for service or whether they had offered their services. The minister returned the cryptic answer, "No information."

The opposition is also showing interest in the career of one W. L. Woodford, now holding the responsible position of cashier under Commissioner Gillespie, government administrator of the affairs of the Municipality of South Vancouver. They want to know if Woodford is the same individual who was a member of the "inside" Liberal campaign committee which worked at the 1916 bye-election campaign in Vancouver in the interests of the Liberal candidate M. A. Macdonald, and who was associated in that work with John T. Scott, of "plugging" fame, and Joseph C. Cook, who recently fled from Vancouver after embezzling some $3000 or more of government funds from the Provincial Police department in which he had been appointed cashier despite his previous record in the "plugging" affair. The opposition seek to know what reasons moved the government for appointing Woodford to a position of responsibility.

DUNLAP—KENNEDY

Despite the earliness of the hour and the atmospheric conditions prevailing, a large crowd assembled at the United church on Saturday morning last, when the nuptial knot was tied between Mr. Frank Dunlap and Miss Edith Kennedy, the Rev. Batzold officiating. The duties of groomsman and bridesmaid were performed by Archie Dunlap and Miss Lily Hitchmough respectively. The bride was tastefully arrayed in white satin with gold lace trimmings, the bridesmaid being attired in a most becoming dress of blue silk. After the ceremony the parties journeyed to the house of the bride's parents where a sumptuous repast was spread immediate friends and relatives of both parties being present. The happy couple left on the morning train for Spokane.

Prior to the wedding a grand reception was held in the G. W. V. A. auditorium at which about 300 people attended. Commons Big Four orchestra supplied the music. Refreshments were handed round at intervals. LIVETT ANSWERS POTTER'S THRUST

Editor, The Calgary Herald:—

W. Potter's remarks recently published are to the effect that money was withdrawn from the Hillcrest relief fund on October 1,1917, so that the district might pay my salary and expenses, which should have been paid by the International organization. This, to express the matter mildly, is rather extraordinary, as I was not employed by the district or the International organization previous to that date, therefore they were not indebted to me.

About October 1, 1917, Potter was in Calgary in connection with the district, and at the termination of his business presented his bill. He was informed that the exchequer was a little shy of funds, and it was suggested (and I am not sure that Potter cannot be given credit—or discredit—for the suggestion) that funds be taken from the Hillcrest widows and orphans' fund. Both Tom Price and myself refused to be a party to such a scheme, and went on record as protesting.

His statement that it was by the authority of the policy committee and district executive board that money was withdrawn from the Hillcrest fund and redeposited in Browne and Christopher's name is also false. The policy committee was disbanded nearly two years previous to August, 1919, therefore could not function at that date.

Potter's knowledge of the O.B.U.'s progress seems to be as trustworthy as other statements, and for his benefit permit me to say that the U.M.W. of A. have a local 214 strong in Bellevue, also locals at Hillcrest and Corbin.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The Coal Creek Ambulance Class got a good start off on Sunday evening, when between 50 and 60 members enrolled. The enthusiasm displayed augurs well for the future.

The dance held in the Club Hall on Monday evening under the auspices of the "Bachelor Girls" was the best social event ever held in the camp. The hall was filled to capacity and the beautiful strains of piano and violin dispensed by Messrs. Patterson and Worthington left nothing to be desired. Refreshments were served during the evening by the committee in charge.

A large number of Creekites took in the Veterans show on Tuesday night. "A real good show" was the unanimous vote.

Great difficulty is being experienced in the running of the outside departments of the mines up here owing to a large number of the outside employees being sick.

The mines were idle on Saturday last owing to shortage of railroad cars. Work was resumed on Sunday night.

One of our local celebrities tried hard to take advantage of the leap year as evidenced by his fascinating appearance on the occasion of the Bachelor Girls dance. What did the outfit cost, gloves and cane included?

The quarterly meeting was held at the Club Hall on Sunday last. Several matters of great importance to the members were discussed.

We are asked to announce that on Monday evening next, Feb. 23, the Ladies Chapter Loyal Order Moose are holding another of their now famous socials at Ingram's hall, to commence at 7.30 p.m. Male non-members 50c; ladies and members 25c; children 10c.

Bob McFagan, an old timer of this camp, was in camp renewing acquaintances during the week.

The organizers of the U.M.W. of A. were in camp during the week. They report progress in this field.

The late train for the Vets show was greatly appreciated by the residents of this camp.

DRUGS AND THEIR EFFECTS ON TISSUES

Sir Thomas Fraser, Emeritus Professor of Materia Medica in Edinburgh University and Honorary Physician in Ordinary to the King in Scotland, died recently.

Sir Thomas was among the pioneers of medical research. His subject when he began to teach consisted of an array of drugs, the action of which was but imperfectly understood. The student was taught much about the preparatios of medicines from the crude plant or mineral. He was taught how to make pills, potions, ointments and so on. But as to where any how the drugs acted his teaching was, at the best, sketchy and iscomplete.

It became the aim of Fraser's life to remedy this state of maters. He saw that what was required was definite knowledge exactly how they acted, on what tissues of the body their effects might be called into play in cases of disease. He thus aimed at linking up the study of cure and the study of disease in a new manner. He desired to make of treatment an expression of a careful understanding of symptoms, and thus place thereby side by side with diagnosis.

It was a tremendous task, for treatment at that time was vague and haphazard. Yet he went to work with great resolution and patience. The dry bones of materia medica took flesh again and became alive, just as, more recently, the dry bones of anatomy have been clothed in living form by Dr. Arthur Keith. The student at Edinburgh was privileged to witness the coming of a new era in treatment. One of the most valuable researches which were carried out was that upon the drug stropanthus in its relation to heart affections. Another discovered the uses of physostigmine. Sir Thomas' work was studied far and wide and brought him into great prominence, for the whole medical profession recognized that an advance of incalculable value had been made.

It became possible, indeed, to relate the chemical properties of drugs to their action on tissues. Stropanthus had been used as an arrow poison by certain native tribes. Its active principle, mode of action, and effects were now set forth in a clear and definite manner. Physostigmine on the other hand, was the active principle of the Calabar bean; Sir Thomas showed upon what structures it produced its effects, and demonstrated its very definite action upon the eye.

Moreover, the fact that he was a clinical teacher and worker saved him from pitfalls into which others have fallen. He recognized that the action of drugs is no mere phenomenon of the laboratory. It is in its essence an event of the sick room. The pharmacologist—who owes his very existence to work such as that of Fraser—is apt to think he has done all that is required of him if he conducts an experiment upon an animal and shows a particular action of a drug. Fraser saw the value of that method; he saw also its danger. His own work was tested by the experience of life itself and its value enhanced very greatly by this method.

"VOIX DE VILLE" said Jean Chardavoine, a French musician; and thus came into being three hundred and fifty years ago what to-day we call "Vaudeville".

Vaudeville is the melting pot of the dramatic and musical arts. In it nothing is out of place; it includes drama, comedy, tragedy, farce and burlesque; and every form of music from grand opera to jazz is heard upon its stage.

Every city has its favorite vaudeville house. But you—who live at a distance from the great cities—can have vaudeville right in your home, with

The NEW EDISON

COLLECTIVE BLUDGEONING

A voluble demagogue who sits in the Manitoba Legislature for the constituency of Assinaboia, recently denounced the Norris Government for failing to recognize the principle of "collective bargaining." He went so far as to blame the administration for the prolongation of the Winnipeg strike on this count. The accusation would be more intelligible if Capt. Wilson, the member in question, were able to offer any intelligible definition of what he means by collective bargaining. It is a stock phrase with many journals and many Labor leaders, but what is meant by it in con tradistinction to the form of collective bargaining that has long prevailed in this country is not clear.

For thirty or forty years nearly all Canadian factories have been based on a system of collective bargaining between the employer and the various trades unions involved in his particular line of industry. Sometimes the various trades have been united in one alliance, and sometimes they have preferred to negotiate as units, but the bargains as to wages and hours and the agreements resulting therefrom have at all times been collective. In recent years the same system has been applied to municipal and other public services in many centres. The principle of collective bargaining has been so widely recognized on this continent that it has sometimes operated detrimentally to the interests of trades unions. For instance, in the famous Danbury Hatters decision the principle of collective bargaining and its necessary concommittant of collective responsibility was so thoroughly recognized by the courts of Connecticut that every individual member of the hatters' union was held to be responsible for the acts of that union as a body—a very harsh decision it is true, but one completely in line with the abstract principle of collective bargaining.

When the general strike was called in Winnipeg last spring almost all local industries, and all public services, were operating on the basis of collective agreements solemnly entered into between employers and trades union officers. Yet a paradoxical situation arose whereby the unions, with a few honorable exceptions, broke collective bargains and agreements and at the same time went on strike to secure (as they professesd) the very boon which they enjoyed.

It is clear therefore, that all this talk about collective bargaining which is now being revived in the Manitoba Legislature, and of which we shall perhaps hear something in the Ontario Legislature shortly, is fantastic and insincere. Labor already has it, and how Governments and courts of law could go farther than they have already in recognizing it, is beyond the power of man to say.

Certain great and complex industrial corporations involving the services of many trades—the International Harvester Company and the Imperial Oil Company, for instance—have, on their own initiative, introduced the principle on a very wide scale through the establishment of workmen's councils elected by the men, but these measures the more radical agitators refuse to recognize as collective bargaining at all.

When we probe below the surface we discover that what the individuals who play such pranks with the phrase "collective bargaining" really want, is collective bludgeoning—a vast organization which shall define who are workers and who are not, and compulsorily enroll the first-named group in one formidable body to deprive excluded individuals of what they at present possess. Under such a system no man would work for his employer, but for the One Big Union, and no bargains would be made at all—everything would be subject to mandate. To apply the fair sounding phrase "collective bargaining" to such a system would be to sink to the depths of absurdity. No Government or no court of law could recognize such a system without announcing its own permanent dissolution.—Toronto Saturday Night.

COMPLETELY CRIPPLED

Terrible Experience of Mr. J. Harrop

It is seldom that anyone who has been continually exposed to every weather condition does not contract some form of Kidney or Rheumatic trouble. In many cases, cold, settling in the kidneys, so weakens those important organs that they are unable to filter the waste and poison out of the blood. The latter is carried throughout the body, causing uric acid to accumulate in the joints, with consequent rheumatism, stiff joints, swollen ankles, lumbago, sciatica, neuralgia, constipation, torturing pains in back and side and head. These ills can all be made right. Gin Pills give quick, certain and sure relief. Read what Mr. J. Harrop writes to us:—

"I have been crippled up so completely that I could not stand. Work was out of the question. A few doses of Gin Pills put me right. I cannot praise Gin Pills too much, and every home should have a box."

Gin Pills can help you. If you suffer from backache, or have that dreadful feeling of lassitude, with floating specks before the eyes, highly-colored urine, stone in the bladder and general debility, get Gin Pills at once. At all druggists or dealers, 50c. Money refunded if you are not relieved. A sample large enough to demonstrate its value, free on request.

HERO OF "GAY OLD DOG" HAS COUNTERPART IN LIFE

Hobart Henley, the actor-director, enters the ranks of producer as well when he presents "The Gay Old Dog" the Pathe picture coming to the Orpheum Theatre Friday and Saturday, February 20 and 21.

"The Gay Old Dog" was a short story written by that master word painter of life, Edna Ferber, and in undertaking to transfer this beautiful human story to the screen, Hobart Henley fully realized the obstacles he was confronting, and no higher praise can be rendered him than to say that "The Gay Old Dog" is Miss Ferber's word picture transferred to the screen.

The story of Jimmy Dodd, the "Gay Old Dog," is real. In him you can recognize people you know—perhaps you, yourself, are a Jimmy Dodd for the world is full of such as he—self-sacrificing and unthanked and unappreciated.

John Cumberland, quite new to the screen but a familiar figure in such popular farces as "Twin Beds," "Fair and Warmer," "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," asd "Up is Mabel's Room," plays the title role so skillfully and understandingly one suspects him of being a Jimmy Dodd himself. Gertrude Robinson returns to the screen in the role of his sweetheart, Emily, and others in the cast are Nell Tracy, Mary Chambers, Emily Lorraine, Inez Marcel and Frances Neilson. Mr. Henley directed the picture asd Mrs. Sidney Drew wrote the scenario.

M'DONALD GAINS TWENTY POUNDS

Also Gets Rid of Rheumatism After Tanlac Builds Him Up.

"If there ever was a time in my life when I felt better than I do since taking this Tanlac, I can't remember it," said Rod C. McDonald, the blacksmith, living at 4 Cunard St., Halifax, a few days ago.

"That spell of F'lu' I had last fall," continued Mr. McDonald, "left me with stomach trouble and rheumatism and so weak and run down that I couldn't shoe three horses without being completely exhausted. I had no appetite and my stomach was so upset that even the sight or smell of food would nauseate me. I would often leave the table without eating a bite and when I did eat anything it seemed to do me little, or no good, as I fell off twenty pounds in weight. My nerves were so shattered that I would wake up at all hours of the night, never getting any sound sleep, and felt so bad in the mornings that it was all I could do to get off to the shop, and besides I just hurt all over with rheumatism. My legs, arms and shoulders seemed to ache clean to the bone. My joints would get stiff and I could hardly bend them in damp weather, especially. I couldn't make a move without suffering agony. There was a constant pain in the small of my back and my arms and shoulders were so stiff and painful that it was difficult for me to raise my hands up to my head. I was so stiff and achy in the mornings that I had trouble getting my clothes on and between the rheumatism and that tired, worn-out feeling, I was about all in.

"Just before I started on Tanlac, I had made up my mind to stop trying to work and go to the country and see if that would help me, for I was getting worse all the time. In the meantime, I ran across a Tanlac testimonial that described my case so well that I concluded to see if the medicine would help me. Well, it has not only helped me, it almost made a new man of me. I have taken six bottles now and have gotten back twenty pounds of my lost weight already. My appetite is great and I am eating three hearty meals every day and my stomach never troubles me in the least. And as to the rheumatism, I haven't had a touch of it since I finished my second bottle of Tanlac. I believe it has left me for good for I can work ten hours a day and never feel a sign of it. I can go to bed at night and sleep like a log until six the next morning. All that tired weak feeling is gone and I can now shoe an average of twelve horses a day and still feel fine. I don't feel the effects of the 'Flu' now any more than if I had never had it. In fact I am just feeling fine and can recommend Tanlac as by far the best medicine I have ever used."

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRU

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a small bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of lustre, its strength and its very life and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

JANUARY AND FEBRUARY DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

ARE COMING TO FERNIE

Canada, and even Ontario, are the homes of people who have no sense of their debt to the returned soldiers. The audiences that have crowded the Grand Opera House during the engagement of "The Dumbells," or Third Division Concert Party, are soldiers in their own personal relationship to the fighting line, or soldiers in their relationship of father, mother, wife, child, sister or brother to a fighting man.

"The Dumbells" appeal to an audience that wants to be entertained. The fighting men in the audience remember when they sat with other audiences in France and applauded the same entertainment. Civilian men and women welcome "The Dumbells" as part of the great army of the immortals who suffered hardship, endured misery and faced death in battle for Canada. The entertainment comes as a flash of sunlight through the storm clouds of war.

"The Dumbells" do not travel to success on the memory of their war service. They are genuine masters of the art of entertainment. The mirth and misery of the Great War are joined in the magic of a great and inspiring entertainment. The Canadian stage will be better for the presence of more companies like "The Dumbell." The Canadian drama might have its beginnings in plays that ring as true as the trifles in which "The Dumbells" carry the life of war into the literature of peace. The soldiers who call themselves "The Dumbells" are more than entertainers. They are illustrators of the riches that returned soldiers can bring to the literature, the drama, to the platforms and Parliament of this country.—Toronto Telegram.

SHOULD RAISE MORE LIVESTOCK IN CANADA

Hogs sold off Canadian farms in 1919 exceeded $80,000,000 in value. More than 40 per cent went direct from the farm to the packing plant.

Canada exported to Great Britain in 1918 only about 2 1-4 per cent of the total importation of beef there. During the past six months there has been practically no exprt of beef—a fact touching production and marketing that should receive the joint attention of farmer and packer.

Singlehanded, neither the farmer nor the packer can expect to enter the vast field for exports; only by the united efforts of both can it be done.

Roundly, 2,3332,400 hogs were slaughtered at Government inspected packing houses last year. The increase of 72,000 on the previous year came wholly from Ontario and Quebec. Numbers from the West dropped.

The Minister of Agriculture, Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, in an effort to encourage the raising of more lvestock, points out that export of Canadian meats must help to pay the nation's war bills.

A cent up or down in the wholesale price of hides makes a difference of 14 cents a hundredweight for the beef In old-fashioned butchering, hides were often partly spoiled. In modern packing, eight or ten experts take off each hide. This specialization gives a better grade leather and enables the farmer to get a better price for livestock than the local butcher can pay.

HARRY LAUDER ON RELIGION

"We are told to love each other. How can you love your fellow man if you don't know him? If we only knew each other and understood each other ,we would love each other better. Listen. Listen! Men can no longer say that birth, the life, the crucifixion and the death on the cross of the Son of Man dont concern them. He made the supreme sacrifice that men might have life. Possibly I couldn't understand its full significance a few years ago, but I do now. My own laddie, my own bairn, laid down his life for his fellows. He made the supreme sacrifice. Thousands of other parents, like Annie and myself, have had their Gethsemane. My boy, John, lies on the hillside beyond Hamel, in Picardy, where he fell. I have stood by his grave. He was our all.

"No, we will not bring him home to Scotland. He will lie there till the final review, with the lads he led. Near him, in one grave, there are buried eighty two lads of the King's Rifles. John was captain of a company of Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. Before the war he was a lieutenant in the Territorials. He was at his studies at Cambridge when the call to service came. He was wounded three times. When he had recovered from the third wound he was offered a place in the War Office. He refused it. He said: 'I am a soldier; I am needed at the front. My lads know me and trust me.' He was in a shell-hole when a German sniper got him with a bullet through the heart.

"Am I a Scotch Presbyterian? Yes, but at the front, in France, I got a new vision of life and what it means. It means service—service for others. I am for the simple religion of Jesus Christ. I want no man or creed to come between me and my God. We have too many creeds. We pay so much heed to our doctrines and creeds that sometimes I think we forget God. We are serving under the same Great Commander, and all marching forward and upward to get over thinking that our particular belief is the only religion that has God's approval. The day has come for the wiping out of religious intolerance and animosities.—Oregon Journal.

SHERROLD PAIGE with Billy Oswald in "The Goose Girl."

BILLY OSWALD IN "THE GOOSE GIRL" WED. FEB. 25.

"The Goose Girl," which is announced as the bill for the return engagement of Billy Oswald at the Grand Theatre, Wednesday, February 25th, is said to be the best comedy that the famous Scot has yet offered the theatregoing public.

The play sparkles with tingling tunes and clean wholesome comedy that brings forth one laugh after another. Mr. Oswald has a role with plenty of scope to produce laughs and it is needless to say that his audience is in an uproar while he is on the stage. He is supported by the same excellent company that were with him on his last visit here and the special costuming and scenery are said to be gorgeous.

Some of the song hits of "The Goose Girl" are: "Jerry," "Molly Malone," "Is Tha' A Fac'," "Farm Yard," "Mary," "Chopstick," "Tell Me," "The Lily and the Frog," "Puritan Maid," "Quack! Quack!" and "The Bells of St. Marys."

Mr. Oswald will play an engagement of two nights and for the second night he will offer the "1920 Revue," a mixture of tuneful songs and comedy.

"BIFF, BING, BANG." THE DUMBELLS ARE COMING

Fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers, wives, sweethearts and friends (and who in Canada does not include one's self in the above category) are to have an opportunity of seeing for themselves just how our Canadian boys were entertained by the soldier-actors in France. "The Dumbells," the most popular group of these entertainers, have been brought to Canada in their original form, under the personal direction of Capt. M. W. Plunkett, and will present their biggest success, "Biff, Bing, Bang," at the Grand Theatre on Thursday and Friday, March 4th and 5th.

These boys have a record of over five hundred performances near the front lines in France as well as a month at the Coliseum in London, and a special engagement by Royal Command in Brussels, shortly after the armistice, for which they were presented with a medal and address by the King of the Belgians.

A decided novelty of the entertainment to Canadians is the fact that all the beautiful girl roles are played by real soldiers, who have done their bit. They have been gowned and corseted by Lucille and other famous modistes of London and Paris, and it is little wonder that the boys used to remark upon the courage of such wonderful "girls" in coming so near the lines and sometimes playing under artillery fire, for the identity of the "girls" was for a long time kept a guarded secret, owing to the boys fear of being joshed by their comrades. Now "Marjorie" and "Marie" are two of the most popular soldiers who went over the top or donned a skirt.

The funeral of the late Corpl. J. M. Wainwright, late of the 107th Regt. and 11th C.G.R., will take place on Sunday, leaving the undertaking parlors at 2 p.m. All ex-members of the 107th, 11th C.G.R. and members of the G.W.V.A. are respectfully urged to attend.

SHOULD THINK NATIONALLY

The time is due in Canada for the formation of a party of moderates in order that the country may be saved from extremists. In addressing the Canadian Club at Kingston, Ont., recently, the Hon. Arthur Meighen well expressed the situation when he said: "There were the extreme labor man, who demanded the One Big Union; the extreme protectionist, who wanted a high and still higher triff; the extreme free trader, who demanded no tariff at all; the extreme Socialist, who would nationalize everything; the extreme individual, ,who thought there was too much nationalization already; and the extreme farmer, who would establish an agricultural dynasty."

On the other hand there are many thousands of men and women of moderate views. People who believe that those exploiting the present unrest, as they are surely doing, should not have their way, and it is the firm belief of the writer that there is a sufficient majority of such minded voters to control the situation, provided they are properly led. It matters not what a man's past party affiliations were. The names Conservative and Liberal now mean little or nothing. They can be safely cast to the winds in order that the moderates may drain their numbers from both. The man who declares against all protection for Canadian industry through the medium of a tariff, is as dangerous to the community as the O.B.U. On the other hand the ultra protectionists who would demand a tariff higher than stern business necessity warrants is equally dangerous. What is the use of the Farmers' Party declaring, as they now do, an indifference to the prosperity of our centres of population when eighty-five per cent of marketable farm products are consumed in these manufacturing centres? The doctrines of the wage earner, the farmer or the manufacturer are all class doctrines, and each is dangerous when exploited to the exclusion of other classes. The people of this country must get into a state of mind where they can think nationally in place of sectionally. Sectarian exclusiveness can accomplish nothing worth while, but may on the other hand be conducive of great harm to our national structure.—Saturday Night.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

CITY COUNCIL HOLD SESSION

The regular meeting of the council was held last evening, His Worship Mayor Henderson presiding and Aldermen Bean, Robichaud, Harrison, Tulley and McEwan in attendance.

The minutes of the previous meeting having been adopted as read, deputations were then received.

The first was a committee from the Fernie City Band executive and consisted of Wm. Dickenson, D. F. Markland and J. Sweeney. Mr. Dickenson acted as spokesman and advised the council they came before them to voice a protest with regard to the informal vote to be taken on Monday next, when the ratepayers will have the opportunity of expressing their views with regard to financing the band. The delegation objected to the questionaire form of ballot, viz., (1) $1500 grant, (2) $600 grant, (3) No grant, and contended that in so far as the success of the band was concerned nothing less than the $1500 or $125 per month would be adequate, and they would much prefer the ballot to be taken yes or no on this one question. His Worship pointed out however that the ballots had been prepared in accordance with the decision of the council and in this form they would be presented to the ratepayers. The deputation after a short further discussion retired, quite obviously in a dissatisfied frame of mind.

S. Herchmer, on behalf of a client, made a recommendation to the council, and was assured the matter would be given careful consideration.

Correspondence was then taken up. A draft resolution from the Kaslo council petitioning the government to increase grants to municipalities for educational purposes was adopted with the necessary alterations. His Worship voiced the opinion that he would very heartily favor the government assuming the entire financial burden for maintaining schools by which means a Dominion wide standardization of the educational system could be very effectively introduced. It was also pointed out that approximately $12,000 more for the current year would be required to maintain the local schools.

The Workmen's Compensation Board replied to an inquiry with regard to an alleged discrimination having been stopped. The Board assumed that the council had not become acquainted with the existing facts in the case in question, apparently relying upon irresponsible or misrepresented statements. The Mayor will investigate and report upon same later.

A communication advised the council that volunteer nurses would be available in the event of a severe outbreak of influenza.

A report on water fittings installed during the past year was submitted and referred to the city engineer for verification, and for those installations which have not been reported accounts will be rendered retroactive from the date these fittings were put in operation.

Ald. Robichaud was instructed to obtain offers for pasturage permits at the city park.

With regard to property acquired by the city through tax sale and at present registered in the name of the City of Fernie, the city clerk was authorized to advertise these parcels for sale by tender. By this means it may be possible to dispose of quite a number of lots, but while tenders will be received this action does not bind the council to accept the most favorable or any tender. It will mean, however, that after the properties have once been advertised for sale, at any subsequent time sale may then be made by private treaty.

A small portable power pump for use in connection with the waterworks department while repairing breaks, quotations for which were submitted by several firms, was ordered to be purchased.

In view of three debenture issues falling due during the current year, the total amount of which is $21,500, and as the sinking fund is largely secured in the form of Victory Bonds, the city clerk was authorized to sell $5000 par value Victory Bonds at the first favorable opportunity in order that there may be funds available to redeem the said debentures.

Accounts as recommended by the finance committee were formally approved for payment.

Miss Carmichael, of the city office staff, was granted an advance in salary of $10 per month.

Bylaw No. 200, being Rates Bylaw for the year 1920, was put through the initial stages. The mill rate as fixed by same for this year will be 44 mills or a considerable increase over last year. With regard to the item general taxation, which is the only one over which the council has control, this has been reduced to 14.63 mills, while in 1919 this item was 16.18 mills. Particulars of how the total rate of taxation is arrived at are as follows:

	Mills
Interest and Sinking Fund on City Bonded Debt	6.17
School Board Estimated Expenditure	20.72
Interest and Principle School Debt	2.48
All other lawful purposes	14.63
Mills	44.00

Waterworks rates, salary adjustments, and other matters were the topics of a general discussion and will receive further consideration at a later time.

D. McDougall, in a communication in which he stated in compliance with a request made to him he submitted his resignation. Chief McDougall briefly reviewed his efforts as head of the fire department for considerably over a decade and emphasized that the City of Fernie despite the tremendous fire losses occasioned by the disaster of 1908 and previous holocausts, bore the enviable distinction of having one of the lowest insurance rates of any city within the province. Without comment a motion introduced by Ald. Bean to accept Chief McDougall's resignation was put and carried, same to take effect March 31st.

FATAL ACCIDENT NEAR WALDO

On Monday afternoon an accident occurred at Camp 3 of the Baker Lumber Co., about 15 miles from Waldo, when Isidore Deschamps, employed with a skidding crew, sustained injuries which later resulted in his demise. The three remaining members of the crew did not witness the accident but when Deschamps was missed a search was made and he was found at the bottom of the skidway with a small log resting on his body. Coroner Thomson visited the scene on Wednesday and decided that a postmortem examination was necessary, in view of there being no external indications of fatal injuries, and also that an inquest be held. The remains were brought to this city and the inquest will be held this evening.

Deceased, from documents found on his body, was apparently a married man, his wife and three children residing at Fournier, Ont. He is also stated to be a nephew of J. Deschamps, a lumberman, of Rossland, B.C.

The following is a list of those who have contributed towards the I.O.D.E. National Memorial Fund:

Mrs. R. W. Wood	$5.00
Dr. Workman	$5.00
Mrs. A. B. Trites	$5.00
Mrs. A. I. Fisher	$3.00
Mrs. Suddaby	$3.00
Mrs. Duthie	$3.00
Mrs. Hughes	$3.00
Mrs. T. Beck	$3.00
Miss Banks	$3.00
Mrs. James McLean	$3.00
Mrs. Klauer	$3.00

The fund will be open until May. Subscriptions will be acknowledged weekly. Mrs. R. W. Wood, Mrs. A. I. Fisher, Mrs. Hughes and Mrs. Beck have been appointed to receive donations towards this fund.

The allotment for B.C. is $50,000. Let Mt. Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. subscribe its quota of $730; $500 has already been sent in to Vancouver.

O. S. Johnson, trapper, sold eleven marten pelts in Nelson this week to McFadden for $880.

A sale of home cooking will be held in McLeans old stand, by the ladies of the Holy Family Church on the afternoon of Saturday, February 28. Tea will be served from 1 to 6 p.m.

The proposed establishment of a $5,000,000 steel plant in Victoria, with a capacity of 200 tons per day, is being investigated by the civic authorities at present. The finance committee of the city council has interviewed an official of a company which is desirous of establishing the plant here and has decided to co-operate with the board of trade and other public bodies in considering the matter further.

THE LADIES HOCKEY GAME

Before a record attendance at the local arena on Wednesday afternoon the Calgary Regents Ladies Hockey Team defeated the Fernie ladies by a score of 2 to 1. The Fernie ladies showed some brilliant combination work but were weak in finishing, failing to shoot at critical moments. The Calgary girls were past masters of the game, having been playing for over six years. They were the heavier aggregation and this counted much in their favor in winning the game.

Rod McLeod started the game at 4.35 p.m. and right from the start the Calgary forward line made a raid on Miss Wood's citadel but failed to penetrate. Miss Henderson brought the crowd to their feet with a brilliant rush but was robbed of the puck by Mrs. Brownlee. After a little centre ice play Miss Pue broke away and passed to Mrs. Robertson, who beat Miss Wood, putting Calgary in the lead six minutes from the start. Fernie rallied after this reverse and kept the puck well into Calgary's territory. Following a nice combination run by Fernie forwards, Mrs. Donaldson passed to Miss Dragon, who beat Miss McLaren with a beautiful shot. A little rough play was indulged in by Mrs. Robertson, and Cy Glover escorted her to the cooler for one minute.

The second period opened with Fernie determined to break the tie. Miss Biggs made a get away but her finishing shot was too weak to penetrate the Calgary defence. Miss Hammil captured the puck but was tripped up by Mrs. Robertson and Mrs. Brownlee and Cy took both of them into custody. This gave Fernie a chance but although they shot several times Miss McLaren was right there with the big stick. Fernie was pressing when the gong went.

The third period opened with a rush by Miss Short, who took the puck from centre ice and narrowly shot past. Miss Whalley captured the puck and made a good effort but was stopped by the Calgary defence. Miss Short made another getaway and scored with a nice shot, giving Miss Wood no chance. Fernie played hard after this reverse to try and even up but Calgary team went on the defensive and practically packed their goal. Miss Hammil and Mrs. Robertson got into a little mixup and were put on the fence for two minutes. Shortly after this Miss Short tripped up Miss Biggs and was sent to keep Mrs. Robertson and Miss Hammil company for one minute. The game finished with Fernie pressing but when a chance came for a shot they were unable to take advantage of it.

The teams lined up as follows:

Calgary		Fernie
	Goal
Miss McLaren		Miss Wood
	Point
Mrs. Brownlee		Miss Henderosn
	Cover
Mrs. Ballard		Miss Whalley
	Rover
Mrs. Forge		Miss Dragon
	Right
Mrs. Robertson		Miss Biggs
	Centre
Miss Pue		Mrs. Donaldson
	Left
Miss Short		Miss Hammil

Referee—Rod McLeod.

Judge of Play—Cy Glover.

Scoring—

1st Period: Calgary, Mrs. Robertson, 6 mins.; Fernie, Miss Dragon, 14 mins.

3rd Period: Calgary, Miss Short, 4 minutes.

COMMUNICATION

Sir—I understand that considerable caustic criticism is being aimed at the city council in connection with the increased school expenditures for 1920.

Permit me through the columns of your paper to inform these critics that the city council has no say whatever in school expenditure. The school board handles this matter entirely alone.

This enormous increase in school expenditure, which amounts to $11,943.75 more than last year (6.07 mills on the dollar) together with an inheritnace from the old council of a $30,000 overdrawn bank account and $4000 in deficits in other departments during 1919, and which the 1920 council has to make up, is the principal reason for the council asking the ratepayers to indicate by ballot on Monday next just what they are willing that the council should give the band.

Every member of the present council is determined to conduct the city's business as economically as possible, and although the proposed expenditure in every department has been placed at the lowest possible figure, no matter how the present council may economize they cannot possibly overcome this increase of 6.07 mills in school expenditure, and the rate for 1920 is bound to be higher than last year.

The general rate for 1920, which is actually the only rate over which the council has any control, will probably be two mills less than in 1919, with the deficits of last year wiped out and the bank overdraft reduced by at least $5000.

I have no desire to influence ratepayers with reference to how they should vote on the question of a grant to the band, but consider it only fair that they should be given an idea of the condition of the city's finances. On July 1st, before which date no taxes will be paid, the city's overdraft at the bank will probably be not less than $50,000. Whatever amount is given the band will of necessity add to this overdraft.

G. G. Henderson.

EXPRESS THANKS

The Fernie Hockey Girls wish to thank the following for the kind assistance extended them in making the game a big success:

Thos. Biggs and Geo. Hefford for taking in the gate receipts; Wm. Johnston of the Orpheum for advertising the game; Fernie Free Press re small charge for bills and advertisements in the local columns; J. C. Orner, rink manager, for free practice; Roddy McLeod and Cy Glover for refereeing and judge of play for the game; Mrs. Wyatt of the Fernie Hotel for the splendid dinner served and quick service in order for the girls to get away the same evening.

After the game the Calgary Regents were the guests of the Fernie ladies at a special dinner at the Fernie hotel, where they spent an enjoyable time. The manager of the Regents, L. Hannay, gave a very interesting speech after dinner, to which Miss Mary Dragon of the Fernie Ladies Hockey Club replied in a very short and sweet speech. Mr. and Mrs. McLaren of Calgary accompanied the team and appreciated the invitation to dinner extended to them by the Fernie ladies. Twenty-five were present at the dinner.—Communicated.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., Feb. 25, 1920

The Editor, Fernie Free Press,

Dear Sir:—I wish that you would kindly correct an error which appeared in your paper of February 20th in an article under the caption of "High Finance."

Action was commenced by me in the case referred to on the 10th of December, 1913, and Judgment was finally signed in September, 1917, for $1,500. Owing to the delay in payment of the judgment, the interest together with the costs made up the total sum of $2,400, the costs alone in the action, which were taxed until date of Judgment, from 1913 to 1919 amounted to $801.98, of which I received the sum of $564 on March 10, 1919 instead of $650 as mentioned in the article above referred to.

Yours faihfully, A. Macneil.

(Editor's Note—We had no intention of reflecting on Mr. Macneil's part in this transaction. Harry Martin would hardly have paid him this money if it were not coming to him, but we would also like Mr. Macneil to explain how Harry Martin came to have anything to do with this case.

O. B. U. PROPAGANDA CHARGED BY DRAPER

Ottawa, Feb. 23. — Charges that the men going around the country appealing for funds for the defence of the Winnipeg strike leaders were at the same time spreading One Big Union propaganda, were made by Delegate Draper at the meeting of the Allied Trades and Labor Association Friday night following the reading of a letter from the secretary of Winnipeg defence committee, stating that a sum of $50,000 was urgently resuired to carry on the defence. The letter stated that this was an "S. O. S." call and that if the money was not forthcoming the forces of labor would crumble away without resistance before the onslaught of the irantagonists, and suggesting that each member be assessed 50 cents to meet the emergency.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

The High Cost of Living is still soaring; still we think it's worth the price; still I don't know what the Dickens we shall come to in the end. For thing are very crooked, and they never seem to mend. I'd like to go to Honolulu or somewhere as nice, where things are somewhat cheaper and the dollar worth its price.

Fur buyers are around thicker than hair on a dog, and the fur prices jumping out of sight. But by the coast paper reports cabinet ministers hides are likely to take a drop.

The Flu is very bad in Elko and not a family seems to be escaping it. There are also several cases of pneumonia. Dick Roo, buyer for the Roosville Cash Stores at Elko, Flagstone and Roosville, is down with pneumonia and too sick to move to the hospital. His mother came up from Roosville and he is getting the very best care possible, assisted by Mrs. Duncan of the Columbia Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Duncan, of the Columbia Hotel, were down to Passburg this week, attending the funeral of Mr. Kerr, a merchant of that place.

A Winnipeg woman has devised a new cable code that gets in one third more talk for one third less tolls. Leave it to the women to plan ways of getting in more conversation, says Jim Thistlebeak.

A delightful masquerade dance was given last Saturday at the Roosville school house. About one hundred people took in the dance and there were about thirty maskers, coming from Eureaka, Mont., Waldo, Flagstone, Elko, Baynes, Fernie and Cranbrook. At midnight, Dick Roo, the floor manager, had the merry maskers lined up and the judges, Messrs. Dingsdale, Ferguson and Broley, made the awards as follows: Best Gentleman, Fred Roo, Jr. Seaford Camp Clown, with knobs on; Best Lady, Miss Marguerite McGuire, of the Mountain Meadow Ranch, Roosville Valley. Prof. Ferguson's string band supplied the music. The visitors were well pleased with the hospitality they received and enjoyed the whole affair more than any they have attended for a long time.

Fred Peterson and Herman Hefte, the well-known Roosvill e trappers, came out with their second catch of 27 marten, 6 mink,19 weasels, 1 lynx and sold to S. A. Miller, of Calgary, this week.

Constable Brady, of the R.C.M. Police, stationed at Newgate, passed through Elko to Fernie, returning with a brand new ivory handled broncho for patrol duty between Roosville and Newgate, along the International boundary line of Montana, U.S.A. The home of high finance, cast iron dollars and wooden nutmegs and the Goddess of Liberty crumbling into dust from being insulted by every state in the union.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Ross, Elko Carriage Works and Shoeing Forge, are both down with the Flu in the Fernie general hospital.

Mrs. E. B. Sanders and Mrs. A. J. Carter, two of the very best nurses in this country in or out of any hospital, are doing great work among the sick, and both are working day and night, rendering every assistance they can, and Elko is proud of these ladies, and more than appreciate the work they are doing in every home in town.

The Indians on Tobacco Plains are all trapping fur, the high price is making them dig up their traps that have been idle for the last twenty years, and they all have money, and lots of it, and when they get to town they spend it like a sailor ashore.

L. E. MacDonald, superintendent of roads and bridges, was in Elko this week fraternizing with Jim Thistlebeak.

We await your dope each week,
Thistlebeak.
Longingly, you rum old freak,
Thistlebeak.
It's the only joyous streak
In a world that's drab and bleak.
It makes the dullness take a sneak,
Thistlebeak.

W. A. Swope, C.P.R. agent, and family are all down with the Flu.

CAPITAL AND LABOR

The Farmers' Advocate draws attention to the utterance, as reported of a Labor representative at the United Farmers' Convention recently held at Calgary. Here he stated that the farmer and labor interests should get together and destroy capital. The Labor representative was only one of his kind. He speaks of what he has not given close thought to. It is just one of those oratorical bubbles which burst when subjected to an atmosphere in which there is a wave of thought.

Referring to the incident the Farmers' Advocate says "We have let ourselves carelessly use the term capital when we were discussing the control of capital. As a matter of fact we cannot get along without capital. The bulk of the capital is represented not in gold or bank bills, but in and, live stock, grain, machinery, factories, developed mines, transportation systems and a hundred other material things very necessary to our present civilization, such as motion picture houses. We might add that the capital as represented in farms, live stock and farm machinery in Canada is calculated in billions of dollars. Do we want this capital or wealth destroyed. It would be an easy matter so easy that with all the talk that is going on, we might well be a little more serious."

It is quite true that capital has obtained a bad flavor through the use certain capitalists have made of it. But it is idle on this score to preach the destruction of what is as equally essential to industry as labor is. No one but a foolish and an unthinking individual would advocate the destruction of capital if he exactly realizes what capital means. If capital is destroyed then labor commits suicide as a matter of course. The one cannot exist without the other.

There are certain nostrums which the agitating pedlar carries with him figuratively in his grip. They are patent medicines for creating trouble. If their true virtue were sensed by those who accept the dose, there will be no more foolish talkers and no more foolish believers. We have not a doubt that the intelligent at the Calgary Convention gave their true value to the speaker's remarks, but there is always the danger that there may be as foolish listeners to beleive what the foolish speaker enunciated.

TO BUILD BRIQUETTING PLANT AT ESTAVAN

Regina, Sask., Feb. 23.—Tenders are now being called by the Dominion government for the construction of the new briquetting plant to be located at Hudson Bay mine, in the Bienfait district, near Estavan. The erection of the plant will be proceeded with as early as possible in the spring for the lignite utilization board. It is the intention of the board to have lignite briquetes on the market by August. The plant will cost in the neighborhood of $400,000.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

Experience Has Developed "Brain Cells" In This Expert's Finger Tips

INSPECTING leather for over 40 years, judging balance, substance and finish, has developed in this man's finger tips a "feel" that is far more accurate than the "see" of the human eye.

Each piece of leather going into the LECKIE DRESS BOOT must pass through such an expert's hands. And it is the thoroughness of his work that has put into the LECKIE BOOT that which gives "More Miles Per Dollar."

The LECKIE DRESS BOOT is sort of a "city brother" to the famous LECKIE LOGGING BOOT. It possesses those same rugged, wear-resisting qualities, besides having a refinement of style that is correct in every detail.

Easing your foot into a LECKIE DRESS BOOT is providing shoe insurance for months to come. Sold almost everywhere.

WILLIAM RUSSELL IN "SIX FEET FOUR" AT ISIS

E. M. Gregory, the brother of Jackson Gregory, the novelist, says he acn't conceive of any one in all filmdom fitted better than William Russell to interpret the part of "Buck" Thornton. This is the title role in "Six Feet Four," which has been screened in banner style by American and is billed as the big attraction at the Isis, Saturday of this week. And E. M. Gregory ought to know, for he's the self-same mysterious "E.M.G." referred to in the author's dedicatory line, "Here's Your Book!" If you'll refer to the front page of your copy, you'll be able to verify that statement.

Frock Coats and Shirt Sleeves

American opinion appears to be suffering from a kind of backwash of feeling against its world commitments. The sentiment is expressed in the phrase that the United States are suspicious of European diplomacy and diplomats. If this view spells condemnation it is nearer to a phrase than a reality. Who are shrewder in driving bargains than American business men? Do these business men always inform their competitors what price they are offering for a contract The truth of the matter is that there is as much secret diplomacy in business as in the Chancelleries of Europe, or, we might say, at a trade union headquarters. Bargaining of any kind calls for quick decision, which cannot wait on publicity. The American view really comes to this—that what a diplomat does in a frock coat is open to a suspicion which does not attach to what a business man does in his shirt sleeves. We cannot accept this sartorial view of international relations. — London Daily Express.

THE MERVILLE BUNGLE

In his able review of the deficiencies of the Oliver Government last week, Hon. W. J. Bowser criticized the Land Settlement policies of the government, evidently with telling effect, for it moved the Minister of Agriculture, who admitted that he had not intended participating in the debate, to take the floor. The net result was a reluctant admission that to a considerable extent, at least, the Opposition leader's charges were well founded. The latter had asserted that the work of the Land Settlement Board in connection with the Merville and Creston soldier settlement areas had proved so costly, through inadesuate management, that an undue financial burden was being cast upon the veterans who would settle upon the lands in those areas. He doubted whether, in view of the excessive cost due to ineffective administration, the soldiers, even if they consented to pay the province the price asked for the lands, would be able to secure from the federal authorities loans on anything like the valuations fixed by the province. Especially did he instance the Creston area, where, he stated, some 2500 acres of useless land was included in the area secured by the Settlement Board, and is being developed along with the good land for soldier settlement purposes. Was the cost of this useless portion to be charged up against the veterans, he asked.?

Mr. Barrow was forced to admit that at least 1,000 acres of land quite unsuited for agricultural development, is included in the Creston area, that it was to be turned into holdings and the cost to the province would be charged against the soldier settlers. On the point of the Christian ranch, near Kelowna, another area secured for soldiers at a cost to the province of $33,000, of which $9,000 went to the president of the local Liberal organization as a rake-off, Mr. Barrow failed to reply to Mr. Bowser's query as to whether that profit to a Liberal heeler was also to be charged up against the soldiers. So far as the Werville settlement was concerned, Hon. Mr. Barrow confined himself to general statements, asserting the veterans now there are enthusiastic over the prospects, but he failed to explain how it came to be that they have so far refused to accept the Board's figures of cost, and that the federal government refuses to advance funds based upon the valuation made by the province. He admitted that twenty- five per cent. of the men who originally entered upon that area have quit. "Misfits" he called them. To Mr. Bowser's assertion that up to date some $333,000 has been spent on the Merville operations to clear about 147 acres of land, and yet not a single soldier has been settled, the Minister admitted that perhaps mistakes had been made, for the scheme was merely an experiment, but valuable lessons had been learned, he said. To Mr. Bowser's declaration that it would be most unfair to charge the returned soldiers with the over-expenditure, and that the only proper thing to do was for the government to shoulder it, and charge it to 'incompetent administration,' neither the Minister of Agriculture nor the Premier vouchsafed any reply, nor did the Opposition leader's demand for the dismissal of the present head of the Land Settlement Board, Mr. M. H. Nelems, on the score of incompetency, draw forth a reply.

No better commentary upon the justness of Mr. Bowser's charge that the Land Settlement Board's operations have been a failure, could be made than the statement that Saturday Mr. Nelems tendered his resignation, which has been accepted. The Board has been in session for a number of days and on Friday a majority of the members passed a vote of want of confidence in their chairman and demanded that the government dismiss him. Mr. Nelem's resignation followed. It is no secret that his autocratic methods and his refusal to accept recommendations of the practical members on the Board created differences which ended in their demanding his removal from the administrative office of chairman.— British Columbian.

WILL LEAVE ON NOVEL MISSION

London.—Did you ever think of the Antarctic regions, those realms of eternal snow and ice, the grave of the heroic Captain Scott and his companions, as a land of commercial possibilities, a centre of future trade? Well it behooves you to do so, because an Antarctic expedition is being planned in England which has among its aims the novel one of determining the commercial possibilities of the South Polar regions. The expedition will investigate the stories of vast mineral wealth supposed to exist in the Polar regions.

As to whether human beings could live in the South Polar regions long enough to exploit mines there, this is what the man who expects to lead the expedition, J. L. Cope, has to say: "Few fields of commercial exploration are left which offer sucr wide scope as the Antarctic continent and the islands lying in its approach. The coasts and the islands contain fine harbors, which in the northern parts can be worked for at least six months in the year. The climate is easier to live in and the natural forces more easily contested than in Siberia or the Klondyke.

"Manganese, coal, granite, marble and rubies have already been found there, and there is more than a possibility of finding gold. The Antarctic whaling industry is lucrative and extensive."

The cost of the expedition, which is to be known as the British Imperial Antarctic Expedition, is put at about $700,000. The "Terra Nova," a vessel famous in Antarctic annals, has been obtained for the venture.

The chief of the scientific staff will be Capt. H. H. Wilkins, chief of scientific staff on the Stefansson expedition. The "Terra Nova" is expected to leave England next June for Wellington, New Zealand,. She will go from Wellington to Macquarrie Island, where a geological survey will be made.

The ship will carry an aeroplane which will be used for aerial photography. It is also possible that an air trip will be made to the South Pole. The expedition will be away five years.

ANNUAL REPORT OF I. O. D. E.

Regent, Mrs. A. I. Fisher; First Vice-Regent, Mrs. E. K. Stewart; Second Vice-Regent, Mrs. J. S. Irvine; Secretary, Mrs. N. E. Suddaby; Educational Secretary, Mrs. R. W. Wood; Echoes Secretary, Mrs. M. A. Kastner; Treasurer, Mrs. S. Graham; Standard Bearer, Miss Crocker.

The Mt. Fernie Chapter has just completed another year of splendid effort and magnificent achievment. There were eleven regular, eight executive and two special meetings, with an average attendance of seventeen.

Our work at the beginning of the year was largely war work. In February and March we shipped sixteen cases of Red Cross supplies and refugee garments. When the appeal came for the French, we again shipped two cases of warm clothing and $22.55 in cash, which we collected by giving a shower. We also voted $100.00 for Rumanian relief.

Owing to the fact that our schools are largely attended by children of foreign parentage, our Chapter has considered this a splendid field for work. We placed a library of forty-five books in our Central school, and in a very short time, whole roomfuls of children had qualified for membership in the I.O.D.E. reading circle. We awarded three books and three pictures for the best essay on Canadian History. We also feel that the work being done by the Wolf Cubs deserved encouragement, and in order to stimulate greater interest, we promised to award seven bronze medals at the end of the term to the best pack. These medals, together with the books and prizes for essays were presented in July on the grounds of the Provincial Buildings. On the same occasion, our former regent, Mrs. Moffat, presented the Chapter with a large and handsome Standard.

In June we had a visit from the Matron of the Frank Sanatorium, and on learning of some of the soldiers' needs, we voted $100.00 to be used for fishing rods and bedroom slippers. The Regent had a subscription list open througout the season for motor rides for these same patients We were able to send $125.00 by the end of the season. The Chapter also sent a weekly box of flowers throughout the summer, which were much appreciated. We also sent a library of fiction collected amongst the members.

On July 1st and 11th our Society conducted a refreshment booth in the Park. The net proceeds of $404.68 from the former occasion were set aside, together with the gate receipts of the day, for a playground trust fund. The Peace Day proceeds of $297.21 were to be used for our local soldiers' Memorial.

On October 21st we assisted the Navy League on their annual tag day, and were able to hand them a check for $238.00. For two successive dances this winter, given in aid of the local Memorial, our Chapter has supplied the refreshments. Upon an appeal for aid from the local Memorial committee, we voted them $250.00 from our funds.

In December, we gave our first annual Rose Ball. This was a brilliant success, financially and socially, netting us $125.00. We sent $25.00 to Frank Sanitorium and Balfour respectively, for Christmas cheer for the patients.

Our compassionate fund, which was started at the beginning of our year, has proven most helpful. Several soldier's wives have been given aid at different times.

Mrs. Smith's visit was much appreciated; our only regret being the shortness of her stay.

We voted $500.00 to be sent out of this year's funds towards our annaal I.O.D.E. War Memorial.

The Travelling Art Gallery was exhibited here in January. A great number of people availed themselves of the opportunity of enjoying a rare treat. A silver collection at the door yielded $22.00.

The Chapter gave an evening card party, which was most enjoyable, and netted us $54.00.

Our Chapter has applied for life memberships for three of our prominent workers: Mrs. A. B. Trites, Mrs. R. W. Wood and Mrs. W. R. Wilson, which gives us four Life Members in the National Chapter.

The financial statement will be published next week.

In concluding, the officers of the past year feel that they have endeavored, with the support of the Chapter, to maintain the high standard of work set up by previous years. Although the demands made upon our Society have been quite different from war times, they were none the less urgent, and in many respects the Executive has found this a very busy year.

The officers elected for the following year are: Honorary Regent, Mrs. A. I. Fisher; Vice-Honorary Regent, Mrs. N. E. Suddaby; Regent, Mrs. A. B. Trites; 1st Vice-Regent, Mrs. J. L. Gates; 2nd Vice-Regent, Mrs. R. Duthie; Secretary, Mrs. M. A. Kastner; Echoes Secretary, Mrs. Dufour; Educational Secretary, Mrs. R. W. Wood; Treasurer, Mrs. S. Graham; Standard Bearer, Miss O. Brown.

IVENS GUILTY, MUST BEHAVE

Winnipeg, Feb. 24.—(By Canadian Press)—William Ivens, one of the seven accused strike leaders, was found guilty by the full court of King's bench on a charge of contempt of court and was bound over to keep the peace for three months on $2,000 security today. Chief Justice Mathers in handing down the decision, said he accused had been bound over to keep the peace so as not to hamper the defense in the trial of the strike leaders on charges of seditious conspiracy.

"Owing to the fact that the accused, William Ivens, is now undergoing trial for sedition, and that he is defending his own case, it would cause him much hardship if he were given a prison sentence. As he could not conduct his case from prison, he will be bound over to keep the peace. Nothing must be done to prejudice his own trial." So spoke Justice Mathers in giving the decision of the judges who were sitting on the case.

Reviewing the case in detail, his lordship stated that there was no doubt whatever that the words uttered by Mr. Ivens were contempt of court. The words uttered by the accused were calculated, whether intentionally or not, to give the impression that the Russell trial had been unfair.

The tendency of the speech was to shake the confidence of the public in the fairness of the court. It was a travesty on justice to state that Russell and other labor leaders had been persecuted and oppressed, and that the labor leaders on trial were suffering for the liberty of the public, his lordship stated.

The judge condemned the newspaper editorials on the Russell trial, of which Mr. Ivens had complained of in his apologies to the court. His lordship stated that the articles were in form, contempt of court, but that they did not justify the actions of the accused.

FERNIE CITY BAND

Editor Free Press:

Sir—I shall endeavor to give a few reasons as to why the executive committee of the above band come to the conclusion that "shady tactics" has, and is being used, to embarrass the isssue of a grant of $125 per month for bandmaster's salary; to which, according to the Free Press, the ratepayers or property owners will be called upon on March 1 to record their votes on the above grant question, or rather, I should say, grant questions.

In order to give more light on the above matter, I desire to say that I was one included in the delegation of four, appointed to interview the city council, which was held on the 12th of February. We presented our appeal to the council—which all must be aware has to be done very briefly—for the above named grant; we also read to the council, in brief form, as to what the band were prepared to do on return for the grant of $125, namely, that the band would turn out once a week (weather permitting) during the summer months, to render musical service to the general public of Fernie, thus giving value for money received; also we would submit once a year a financial statement of the band to the city council. The bandmaster would also sign a contract for one year.

The delegation as a whole, having testified to the need of the grant with which to establish a "good band" for Fernie. The matter was then in the hands of the city council, and the Mayor (Mr. Henderson) promptly rose and curtly said, "I desire to show the delegation something," and quickly withdrew and almost just as quickly returned, and held up for exhibition four or five instruments as a specimen to gaze upon, especially the slide trombone, by the delegation and iouncil in general. It was thus the Mayor planted his first body blow, and the delegation counted out, as the Mayor decreed that the council would give their best consideration to the matter.

We understand that the questions to vote upon on March 1st are as follows: $125 per month, $50 per month, and for a grant or no grant. We also notice that the Free Press include $100 with the above questions.

Now, sir, some of your readers may say that they see nothing "shady" by exhibiting those instruments. True, provided the matter had been kept from publication until the grant question had been decided, for the following two or three reasons: First that the publication of the condition of those instruments has a direct tendency to prejudice the minds of those entitled to vote against the grant. Second, that the Mayor, with very little trouble, could have gained the truth about those instruments long ago, had he taken a little trouble to investigate; but no, he must need to wait right to the very day when the council declares that the grant for the bandmaster must be settled by a referendum vote, and in almost the very same breath he bewails the fact of having found the instruments in bad shape and allows the same to become a public statement in the Free Press. This is what we call "embarrassing the issue." There is still a third reason. Had the Mayor made inquiry of the secretary of the amalgamated bands as to what precautions for the care of the instruments were made, the secretary would have produced his minute book showing that as far back as last September, 1919, a motion was passed instructing the secretary to post notices calling on all bandsmen to bring in all property and instruments of both bands, for the purpose of stocktaking and inspection of instruments, thus proving that provision is made for the care of instruments. I could enlarge on the word "efficiency," but, if the provision as provided by the council—such I understand is as far as they would provide, namely $600—with which to get an efficient bandmaster, to make an efficient band, then, sir, I have failed to understand what "efficiency" means.

In conclusion, I desire to voice the opinion of the executive committee of the above band, by saying that their choice is for a straight $125 or no grant, as we consider that the drop to $50 per month would simply mean more soliciting around the city than ever before , and the undersigned has had more than enough.

Yours,
Wm. Dickinson,
Acting President.

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

Dr. Corsan visited Elko on Wednesday, where there are a number of people down with the flu.

Baskin & Stedman have purchased an additional timber limit adjoining their mill property near Nelson.

Billy Oswald, the Scottish comedian played to fair sized houses in the Grand on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Mrs. Jack Green and children, who have been visiting in England for the past six months, sailed on Saturday for Canada.

In compliance with the health officer's request, the I.O.D.E. has postponed the whist drive and dance for the present.

The funeral of the late Morris McPhee took place from Thomson's Undertaking Parlors on Monday. It was largely attended.

Al. Rizutto, who forcibly ejected an O.B.U. organizer from his post camp, was up for trial on Monday, but the case was adjourned for a week.

The degree team of Esther Rebekah Lodge will meet at 7 p.m. sharp at the lodge room next Thursday night for practice. Regular meeting of the lodge at 8p.m.

Jack Carmichael, who has been on the sick list for some time, left on Sunday evening to consult a Calgary specialist. He was accompanied by Mrs. Carmichael.

Leslie Grossmith, one of the most successful musical artists touring western Canada, will perform here shortly. Particulars will be announced in our next issue.

Sherwood Herchmer defeated A. C. Liphardt on Tuesday evening in the final game of the Interprovincial Competition a game left over from the Lethbridge bonspiel.

A meeting held in Ingram's Hall on Sunday last for U.M.W. of A. organization was packed by O.B.U. spouters, and under the circumstances it was impossible to conduct any business.

With the Flu epidemic rampant, public loitering should be strictly prohibited, particularly this should be the case in regard to the post office building, where a number of employees have to spend most of the day.

On Monday, if you are a property owner in the city you will have an opportunity to vote on the question of support for the local band. If you think this city needs a band, and can afford to pay for it, vote for the $1,500 grant.

J. C. Donald, a civil engineer, of New York, who is also manager of the British Columbia & Alberta Power Co., Ltd., which has recently taken over the Bull River Power Co., is in Fernie this week on business in connection with the developmnt of power industry.

The Herchmer rink returned on Sunday from Winnipeg. They all report having a fine time at the big 'spiel. This is the second year for Sherwood to get in the money, and he will yet bring home one of the big cups. They got off to a bad start this year but wound up by winning eight straight games.

It is reported that the Northport smelter will resume. In fact, it spends most of its time in a state of resumption. It closed down two weeks ago on account of a petition being presented asking for an increase in wages. Originally the petition merely asked for a raise, but it is said someone cut off the heading of the original petition and pasted on another, which pre-emptorily demanded an increase in wages or the signers would walk out. The management immediately ordered the plant closed. The men then petitioned the company to resume work and promised to work at the old scale and be satisfied, and the management will likely accede to their request. As is customary in such cases, the agitators who started the trouble, have left for greener fields and left the married men and owners of homes to get along the best way they could. This is their usua l method. The game, though old as the hills, is ever new, for there is a new crop of suckers always coming up.—Trail News.

For Sale Cheap—Driving Pony, Harness, Cutter, Buggy and Sleigh Runners. Apply to John Pearson, Fernie Annex.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church will be held in the basement of the church on Wednesday, March 3rd, at 3.30 p.m.

The Nelson hockey team were booked to play in Fernie last evening, but were unable to come. The game is postponed indefinitely owing to three of the Nelson players being down with the flu.

Elliott Kirkpatrick, who has been dangerously ill with pneumonia since last Saturday, is still making a wonderful fight for life. He was given up by the doctors several days ago. Mrs. Kirkpatrick and her son Ernest are expected in from Chicago tomorrow.

Miss Effie Ross, daughter of D. R. Ross, of Embro, Ont., and neice of Mrs. Henry Johnson, of Fernie, who visited here for about a year, before the war, died suddenly of pneumonia at her home in Embro, on the 16th inst. Brigadier General J. M. Ross, C.M.G., D.S.O., Military Commander of British Columbia, is a brother of the deceased.

Three propositions will be put before the property owners on Monday, in regard to the band question, viz: 1st. Are you in favor of a grant to the band? 2nd. Are you in favor of a $1,500 grant? 3rd. Are you in favor of a $600 grant? The voting will take place in the City Council Chamber, from 1 p.m. until 7 p. m. It is your duty to turn out and vote.

Mrs. Maurice D. McPhee desires in this manner to express her heartfelt gratitude to her neighbors and friends for their great kindness and sympathy during the time of her bereavement, and also to acknowledge with deep appreciation the beautiful floral tributes from the following: Mr. and Mrs. John Telfer; Mr. and Mrs. T. Biggs; Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson; Mrs. Todhunter; Miss Todd; Mr. and Mrs. Golightly; Baptist Boys Own Class; Order Railway Telegraphers; Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; Order Railway Conductors.

While tunnelling in a gold-bearing quartz ledge on his group claim on Percy Creek, in the East Kootenay, Robert B. Durrant has encountered a shoot of silver-lead ore, assays running $101 to $103 for the total metallic contents. This galena ore body in a quartz ledge, is now the principle feature of the property, and as soon as snow goes off in the spring, Mr. Durrant will run a tunnel under the find, at 100 to 120 feet depth, to gain stoping ground and ascertain whether the ore body persists. This group is about eight miles south of the Sullivan and North Star mines at Kimberley.

The O.B.U. have been conducting a nation wide campaign to collect money for the Winnipeg defense committee, but like some of the money that got into the hands of a late O. B. U. secretary here, it seems to have a hard time reaching its proper destination. The B. C. Government should investigate the case of widow Brown, who seems to have been deliberately robbed of a large sum of money in order to keep Harry Martin, The Grand Theatre picture show and Lawson, of the late Ledger, in funds. If some of the members of the local union were half as keen in protecting the widow and the orphan as they are in stirring up trouble, they would have a lot better organization.

On Monday, February 23rd, Mr. Frederick Adolph, Sr., of Baynes Lake died at the Fernie hospital, after a short illness. Deceased, who was 82 years of age, was born in Waterloo County, Ontario, his parents having emigrated to this country from Switzerland about four years previous to his birth. When deceased was twenty years old, he settled in Bruce County, where he married MargaretLamont.. He was a contractor, and many of the residences and barns he erected in that county are standing as a monument to his workmanship. After a number of years, they moved to the little town of Chesley, Ont., where he owned a sawmill for sixteen years. In 1904 the family came to British Columbia, and after residing in Cranbrook for two years, they moved to Baynes Lake, where his sons are owners of the Adolph Lumber Co. Deceased was a man highly respected, and his word was as good as his bond. He was a staunch Presbyterian in religion and a life long Liberal. He is survived by his wife, three sons, Fred and Frank, of Baynes Lake, and L. F. Adolph, of Brandon, and two daughters. Miss Jennie and Mrs. Griffiths, of Baynes. The remains were taken east, to Chesley, for interment, where the funeral will take place on March 1st.

TURKS' FLEET NOW A RELIC

(By O. D. A. Stevenson)
Constantinople.

On November 20th, 1918, in accordance with Article VI. of the Turkish Armistice Treaty, the fleet of the Ottoman Empire was concentrated—Selim (ex-Goeben), held on the Asiatic side—in the Golden Horn, to be disarmed. In the brotherhood of common misfortune armored cruisers and gunboats, coast-guard ships, destroyers, torpedo boats, and armored yachts, huddled up against each other now sleep in the sunshine huddled below the Nassim Arsenal, at the foot of the ancient quays where in bygone days were moored the galleons of the "Grand Turk."

Pontoons anchored parallel to the shore defend the approaches to the tangle of ships, but languid sentries allow one to draw near and make a meticulous survey of the forlorn anchored fleet.

On the port side of the long line of ships is the Hamidich, the only large vessel now remaining that has had an active career. She made trips to the Yemen and to England, where she represented Turkey in the great naval review at Portsmouth; and in the first Balkan war she had a remarkable cruise in the Aegean Sea, escaping from the superior Greek Averoff by the merest chance. Then, when, on the night of October 20th, 1914, Turkey entered the great war by attacking the Crimean coast the Hamidich bombarded Theodosa. She followed the Goeben as scout—in the place of the Breslau (sunk in the Dardanelles earlier in the year), into Sevastpol in May, 1918; and it was on this occasion that the festering Turko-German alliance received its first overt shock, for in the argument which arose concerning the division of the booty brought by this ephemeral success (due to Bolshevik control of the Russian fleet), there was actually an exchange of cannon shots between the vessels.

A short distance away are two long modern destroyers, with high bows and low freeboard. They have a (nominal) speed of 32 knots and are well armed. They are the sole survivors of the squadron of four fine units of the Muavenet type which Turkey possessed at the beginning of the war. On the night of July 10th, 1917, a British plane dropped a bomb sheer down the rear funnel of the Millieh, anchored at Sterna near the Goeben, and the destroyer sank immediately; while a second bomb wrecked the Muavenet lying alongside.

In the midst of a crowd of smaller units, gunboats and mine-layers there rests a weird-looking craft. This is the ancient Ijlalieh an armored "corvette", dating from 1861. This veteran of the Ottoman fleet once tasted fame—in the Russo-Turkish war of the 'seventies—for while anchored at Sulma it was attacked by a tiny Russian torpedo boat commanded by a Lieut. Rojeestoensky, the future Russian admiral in the Russo-Japanese war twenty-seven years later. But who recalls today the episodes Reis, the flagship then, recalls to us of that bygone strife? The Gorgut merely the two Turkish batles, and defeats, by the Greeks in the Dardanelles in 1912.

Finally, there is the Medjidieh, far away to the right of the anchorage. Back from its long captivity in Russia, the one-time fast Turkish cruiser is still only half repaired, the work of the Czar's engineers (in the Crimea) having been interrupted by the hurricane of the revolution.

As the caique, assisted by the current, rapidly bears one back to the Bosphorus (where, in fine poetic justice the Greek flag floats again a victor—after nearly five centuries of suffering and slavery—over two splendid battleships the Kalkis and Iras) the spectacle of this melancholy fleet behind us, in its deathlike immobility, seems to be o symbol. Is it not an image of the Turkish notion itself, on the morrows of the feverish crises of 1877-78, 1912-13, and 1914-18, dropping back into an ever deeper prostration and an ever more indifferent fatalism?

NAZIMOVA TO BE SEEN IN "THE RED LANTERN"

Nazimova, the distinguished Russian star, will be the feature in the powerful Metro super-feature, "The Red Lantern," at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next. In it she is seen in a dual role, which gives her opportunity for the most powerful characterizations of her brilliant career.

The two roles which she enacts are as widely different as the poles—one is that of the Eurasian girl, Mahlee, and the other Blanche, her English half-sister.

The story tells of the life of this half-cast girl, who, born in a coffin shop in the Chinese quarter of Pekin, is at the death of her grandmother, taken to the Christian Mission and brought up amidst European surroundings. The conflicting blood which surges in her veins causes her passionate restlessness—she feels the lure of China, the mysterious and passionate land of her mother, but the inheritance of her English father, the ideals and intellect of the West, are strong within her and she is like a ball in the hands of Fate—flung from one extreme to the other.

How she becomes the powerful War Maiden of China—the Goddess of the Red Lantern—is shown in this play of remarkable and startling happenings where all the mysticisms and gorgeousness of the vivid East is woven into a powerful and fascinating drama. The lure of the Purple Forbidden City—the customs and superstitions of secret China—the gorgeous pageantry and pomp which surrounds the Orient with golden glamour is shown with a touch of magic which brings romance to life.

The production is one of clever artistry with a star of rare genius, who is ably supported by such noted players as Darrell Foss, Noah Beery, Frank Currier, Winter Hall, Mrs. McWade, Virginia Ross, Edward J. Connelly, Amy Van Ness, Harry Mann, William Eagle Eye, Yukio Ao Yamo. The production was directed by Albert Cappellani and produced under the personal supervision of Maxwell Karger, director-general.

England's Oldest Inn

The Tottenham magistrates have just transferred the license of "Ye Old King James and Ye Tinker." This quaintly styled tavern claims to have been established for over a thousand years, and it would no doubt be difficult to disprove such claim, so it remains accepted locally. The house stands in White Webb's Lane, near Waltham Cross, and not far from Theobalds Park. The king was James I., and the tinker was drinking beer there or quaffing ale, when His Majesty stopped at the house during a Royal hunt in Enfield Chase. The tinker expressed a desire to see a king in the flesh. James said he should, and took him along with him on his horse to where his nobles were awaiting him. He then discovered himself to the astonished tinker, and wound up the incident by conferring a knighthood upon him. That, at any rate, is the story.—London Daily Chronicle.

WINNIPEG MAN HAS GAINED 35 POUNDS

All His Troubles Were Overcome By Taking Tanlac—Feels Fine Now.

"I don't believe there is a man in the world who has been helped by Tanlac more than I have, and if it was possible I would go out and tell everybody personally what this medicine has done for me," said E. J. Coleman, a well-known painter and decorator who lives at 195 Michigan Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"After an attack of double pneumonia about a year ago," he continued, "I got out of bed almost a wreck, and was so weak I could hardly stand up, couldn't walk myself, and now since I have taken Tanlac I have gained thirty-five pounds and feel so well and strong that it seems more like a dream than anything else for such a remarkable change to come over a man.

"My stomach was in an awful condition and I suffered so with indigestion that Iate hardly enough to keep alive. My nerves were completely shattered, and just to show you how nervous I was, a friend walked up behind me one day and slapped me on the back and I almost collapsed and he had to catch me to keep me from falling. It was out of the question for me to sleep at night, and sometimes my nerves would be on edge so bad that I was even afraid to be alone in the dark and I couldn't stay in a room by myself. My kidneys were out of order and nearly all the time I had a pain across the small of my back, and I lost so much weight that I actually looked like a frame.

"One day my folks brought me a bottle of Tanlac, but I didn't want to take it because I had taken so many medicines that had done me no good that I was discouraged and didn't care whether I ever took any more medicine or not. But they insisted so that I finally consented to take it, and to my complete surprise I commenced feeling better right away, and by the time I had finished that first bottle I had improved so much that I was able to go down town myself and get my second bottle. Now I am on my fourth bottle and I never felt better in my life and can do as hard a day's work as any man. My nerves are steady and I can stand any kind of noise. I eat anything I want, digest it perfectly and don't feel a trace of indigestion or gas, and the pain across my back has completely disappeared. My kidneys are in fine condition and I sleep all night long as sound as a child and get up in the mornings feeling just fine. If any man had told me that Tanlac would do me just half as much as it has, I would have laughed at him. As long as I live I will never be able to praise Tanlac enough for the wonderful good it has done me."

HIGH VALUE OF SILVER

Whatever may happen to the prices of other commodities in terms of paper money, silver is likely to remain at a comparatively high price for two or three years, or even longer, according to H. Mitchell of the department of political science, McMaster University, writing in the Journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

This he foresees as the almost inevitable result of an arbitrary and altogether artificial demand which will begin to take effect automatically, by act of Congress, as soon as the natural demand has fallen sufficiently or the value of money increased sufficiently to bring silver down to a dollar an ounce.

"We must not forget," he says, "that although the Pitman Act empowered the United States treasury to sell 350 million silver dollars . . . . it also laid on the treasury the duty of buying back that amount of silver at a dollar an ounce. It may be a long time before silver sinks to a dollar an ounce, but so soon as it does the treasury will have to begin buying it at that figure. If it does not perform this operation with extreme care the price will be forced up again, and the very fact that the treasury is under legal obligation to buy at a dollar an ounce so large a quantiy of silver will tend to keep up the price at, or higher than, that figure for some time. We may therefore anticipate that silver will certainly not fall below a dollar an ounce for perhaps two or three years or even longer."

PRESS COMMENT

Quarreling

The United Farmers have only been in power a short time and already adverse criticism has been directed against them. We recall all the stir that was made over the nomination of the Collector of Revenue at Walkerville. Today it is the Hon. W. Biggs, Minister of Public Works and Highways, who is being hauled over the coals for having awarded a contract without tender, for auto-trucks to Len Larkins, proprietor of a garage at Dudas. This contract was given to Larkins, it was claimed, in order to secure his political influence. Mr. Larkins is an important citizen of North Wentworth, which Mr. Biggs represents. Yet Premier Drury, in taking up the reins of office, made a strong point of the abolition of patronage. From now on no more favors for political friends. There will not be much more of this sort of thing before the opponents of the Farmers' Government begin to talk about scandals. It goes without saying that this disclosure has roused considerable interest in political circles. In spite of their wish to give the new cabinet fair play, the politicians are beginning to kick. Mr. Dewart will certainly not give the new government any rest. He has made this quite clear in the various interviews he has given to the papers. The debut of the Drury cabinet promises to be quite lively both inside and outside the Legislature.—La Patrie, Montreal.

Canada's Prime Minister

It was known that Sir Robert Borden contemplated retirement, but those who knew him best were confident that he would continue in the leadership until the fortunes of the Unionists—ambiguous in the light of the Ontario election—could be foreseen more definitely for good or ill. That, we have no doubt, would have been his personal desire, but his health is worse than had been realized, and he must obey imperative medical commands. He will be a great loss to Canada. His industry has been untiring under the heavy burdens laid by the war upon the Prime Minister of Canada. His courage has never failed, his judgment has been sound with the soundness of a wise caution, his dignity is instinctive, his tact inborn. These are great qualities, and their value to Canada has been beyond reckoning.—London Times.

The gold mining companies of Northern Ontario are today receiving about $4 an ounce premium on gold produced. This added revenue is due to the scale of their product at a premium of 18 per cent in the United States. In the case of the Hollinger, where about $24,300 is being produced daily, the receipt of $3.70 an ounce premium amounts to an extra $136,738.12 monthly, or an added net revenue at the rate of $1,640,857.50 annually.

Where Words End, Music Begins

Words, in themselves, are but poor interpreters of emotion. Where words end, music begins. Where words only suggest, music satisfies; it utters with a clear, vibrant voice what otherwise would remain unuttered.

Music will allow you to express your innermost thoughts and ideals.

But how, you ask, can you create this music since you are no musician nor the master of any instrument?

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

has stored up in its magic discs the music of the world's greatest musicians—the soul-children of the music masters. And this music The New Edison will RE-CREATE for you, in your own home, exactly as you would hear it in the grand opera houses and the famous concert halls.

You should read the beautiful book "Edison and Music" and the booklet "What the Critics Say" containing evidence that proves Edison superiority. Ask for copies when you come to hear the New Edison.

N. E. Suddaby, - Fernie, B.C.

R. D. Hamilton, as himself and as the famous "Marjorie" with "The Dumbells" in "Biff, Bing, Bang," at the Grand, March 4th and 5th.

Ask any returned soldier to tell you the name of the most famous girl in France, and he will smile and answer "Marjorie."

"Marjorie" played no favorites, but was the favorite alike of Tommies, Officers and even Major Generals, and once upon a time there was a Prince who gave a dinner in the officers' mess in honor of this same "Marjorie."

Now, "Marjorie" was the "leading lady" of the finest bunch of all soldier talent ever gathered together to entertain the boys while they were in rest billets just behind the lines, and her make-up was so perfect that many believed her to be some famous actress smuggled up to all man's land in the guise of a private soldier. This was true in a measure, as "Marjorie" did go up the line as a common soldier, and remained there for sixteen months, a target for German bullets, before Captain Plunkett was given a roving commission to pick out a company of soldier actors and to organize them into an entertainment unit that could be sent right up to the lines to play for the boys who could not be relieved for long enough to permit them to go back to the various bases where regular theatrical companies from England were giving performances. Among those chosen was Pte. R. D. Hamilton, of Montreal, who, later, gowned in the most ravishing costume creations by Lucille, became the famous "Marjorie."

Because this organization was fostered by Maj.-Gen. L. J. Lipsett, C.B., C.M.G., they were called the Dumbells, in token of the field marking of his division, the 3rd, and although they soon became the favorites of the entire C.E.F. and B.E.F., the title stuck to them where ever they went, and now that the war is over and they are playing a home-coming tour of Canada, they still retain their old name, which will be recognized by all their old comrades returned from France.

For this Canadian tour the "Dumbells" are offering their original overseas musical comedy revue, "Biff, Bing, Bang," which will be the offering at the Grand Theatre for two nights, commencing Thursday, March 4th.

MAY SET WORLD IN WAR FLAME

"Germany has not completed her nefarious work. She is planning to get back far more than she has ever lost, and unless England takes steps at once to protect the Indian frontier, and by the aid of the allied armies stamp out this 'Pan-Turanian' movement, which is being waged by the Germans, Turks and Bolshevists, through all the heathen nations of the world, it will not be many years before the world will be set in a flame, which will be worse than any war we have ever experienced." said Mr. O. D. A. Stevenson, who has just returned to the city after spending three years in the overseas forces in the East.

"This movement is one of the most important and biggest menaces, which has ever affected the world; and is more serious than any one in North America appears to realize. Documents have been captured, which show that the Germans, Turks, and Bolshevists have signed compacts, and are working in the closest co-operation. They are endeavoring to convert the whole world to their beliefs, and customs, which are of the greatest possible disintegrating force against all Christianity. The staff work is being done by the Germans, and the majority of the orders issued, are written either in the German or Russian language. All the disturbances, which have been aroused are due to the work of these three forces, which have used Bolshevic money for the purpose of spreading unrest throughout the world.

"England made a mistake in withdrawing her troops from Russia. She should profit by this action and put a strong force to guard the frontiers of India. She can thus support Persia in making a sufficiently strong bulwark to keep the Turks out of a country, which if aroused would prove a mighty foe. If their conspiracy to raise all the Mohammedans in the world is not checked they will raise an army of some 400,000,000 men in Africa, Algeria, India, Egypt, China and Turkey, which would whip the Christian races out of existence.

The Bolshevic force is one of the worst we have to contend with. These people have done away with the marriage laws, religion, higher education. In their schools they have no examinations. The children come and go as they please. The people are drunk with power, and lead the most lawless life. In Russia alone they have massacred over 2,000,000 women and children, and forced the men to go into the army."

In conclusion, Mr. Stevenson said: "This menace cannot be brought home too strongly to Canadian people. I have spent over two years among these people, through Persia, the Black Sea, India and Egypt, and I have seen the terrible effect that the Germans are having. The war has left them in a state of unrest, and they are ready to ally themselves with any movement which presents itself, which is likely to bring them back the old power of the Ottoman Empire."

IT MAKES A DIFFERENCE

That it pays to keep your subscription to the home paper paid up is a long-established fact. Take the case of John Jones and his neighbor, Abe Smith, for instance. Both were well-known citizens of the community; both had lived the average sort of a life; but when they passed from out this vale of tears John was paid in advance, while Abe was some six or seven seasons behind the lighthouse. Their funerals are held; mourners in about equal numbers follow them to their last long resting places. The editor is alone in the sanctum. He sums up their careers in his mind, and after looking at their subscription accounts he takes the office typewriter on his knee and this is what he says:

"John Jones.—Our heart is in a tumult of sadness, and life's way has been darkened. A familiar form has gone from our midst that the coming years will be unable to replace. To know our friend and neighbor, John Jones, was to love him. He was the soul of generosity and kindness, and his sad leave-taking has cast a pall over the entire community. As a husband and father he was the personification of all that was good and noble: in his business dealings with his fellow men he was the acme of honesty and uprightness. He has gone out over the vineclad hills of time to await the coming of his loved ones on that other shore. His life was ideal, an inspiration to better citizenship; and we know that his shall be the reward of the faithful—a seat on the right of the throne, a place in glory through all the eternal ages."

"Abe Smith.—In the due course of human events Destiny finally came to its senses, and last Wednesday night reached out and yanked old Abe Smith into the unknown. We don't know where he has gone, and care a damsite less. So far as this community is concerned we can spare him with pleasure. He was a boulder upon the rails of progress; he was 'agin' everything that stood for the betterment of the town in which he lived. He was parsimonious, low-down, and foul of mouth, and it must be a relief to his family to be rid of him. He died leaving a widow and eight small children, no estate, and an unpaid subscription account at this office of seven dollars. We are humane, we are forgiving, and just before the undertaker screwed the lid down we put in a seersucker suit, a palm-leaf fan, and a thermometer. We hope he'll have a darn big lot of use for 'em."—Exchange.

Encouraging Female Murderers

It sounds very chivalrous and gallant to say a woman cannot be punished for crime, even for a murder but it is as much an obstruction of justice to utrn loose the woman killer as the man killer, and the jury that does it is false to its oath and is encouraging crime. As long as courts clear women of killing or give them inadequate sentences when they are proven guilty by the evidence, it is an invitation to another reckless, callous and jealous-mad woman to go out and shoot down someone—preferably a husband, if she has a grievance—and then come into court and plead not guilty because of her sex. There is no warrant in law for making fish of one and fowl of another in dealing with male and female criminals in courts. Guilt it not affected by sex. The man shot dead by a jealous, infuriated woman is just as dead as if a man had pulled the trigger. The consequences are the same and society is as much in jeopardy.—Houston Post.

THE PROHIBITION SITUATION

It is satisfactory to note from the tenor of speeches in the legislature that the prohibition act is admitted on all sides. This is undoubtedly a reflection of public opinion. The act has proved to be unsatisfactory to both sides of the controversy. It does not satisfy the prohibitionists, because it does not prohibit; and naturally it does not satisfy the antis either. Any man who is honest must admit that liquor is being openly sold for beverage purposes at the vendors' stores. Prescriptions are only so much camouflage, and very flimsy at that. If the government is not prepared to enforce prohibition in its real sense, and one may be permitted to doubt whether any government dare to do that in the present state of public opinion, then it might as well sweep away annoying but useless restrictions, go openly into the liquor business, and at least save an entire province from hypocracy. For that is what the present situation amounts to. —Columbian.

'SIR JOHN MOORE'

On October 10, six geese came to my place. I went out and called to these six geese, and the old gander answered. He knew me. I got twelve ears of cron, and threw one of them at him. Just as I did so the four baby geese jumped in the air, but he called them and they dropped down. Then I threw more ears of corn, and each time the same thing would happen; he would sound that low note, and every time he did so the geese would come down. By the time I had thrown the eight ear he had convinced them that all was well, and they did not fly up any more. It was interesting to watch him trying to educate them to take the kernels of corn off the ear, but it was strange to them. He would get a kernel off and drop it down, but it was fully fifteen minutes before he got those goslings to take the corn; when they did start, they cleaned off every kernel of the twelve ears. That told me these young goslings had never seen an ear of corn before, and that they had come all the way from Hudson bay without a mouthful and had dropped down there. The old gander had led them all the way down.

My mother-in-law's daughter and I coaxed this old gander and his five goslings into the coop and she held the door while I went in and clamped a tag on his leg. After I tagged him I took him to the door and threw him out—this same old gander that had been telling his boys and girls to eat the corn and to stay there and not be afraid. When I threw the gander out, did he fly to the lake? To know the Canada goose is to love him forever. You cannot show me any of his actions that one need be ashamed of, not one.

This old gander went out, and when he was about two rods away he turned around and looked back. You could hear him calling for the rest of his family in that little catch pen. He came right back to the door until every one of his family had been liberated; he stood right there and fought for them. We caught him the second time, put a cuff on each leg and named him "Sir John Moore" and we put on the tag this verse of scripture: "No good thing will He withhold from them that walk uprightly."

They migrated as usual and, on March 17, following, the boys said: "Look Dad," and there was Sir John Moore, with the two cuffs on his legs, looking for more corn. Five of his family had returned; he had taken care of them down in the southern states all winter and brought them back. The last week in April they disappeared and my heart sank when I opened a letter from Fort George, James bay, and found four of the tags. The letter read: "The Indian says that seven geese came into their decoys, and they killed four of them. Each one had a tag on it." You know just how I would feel, although that is part of the game. To the fellow who wants to shoot, let me say this: I am not opposed to a man shooting a bird or two, but will you not join with us in limiting your bag? Remember, the bird that falls out of the air from our deadly aim gives you and me a little pleasure, but deprives thousands of people of pleasure and recreation in seeing it alive. Let us consider that; let us think it over.—Jack Miner, Kingsville, Ont., in National Conference on Game and Wild Life Conservation.

A town is just as big as its businesses and industries will make it. The business houses of a small community are the backbone of that community. It is the business houses and the industries that put a town on the map and hold it there. To be an asset, or an influence, or of any importance outside of itself, the businesses and industries of a town must be successful; to be successful they must be patronized, supported—encouraged absolutely by the people of the community—the local business has no other field.

REORGANIZATION OF B. C. FOREST BRANCH

The British Columbia Forest Branch has recently undergone a complete administrative re-organization, which will enable it to handle its large volume of work more adequately, and render better service to the public. The return of technically trained foresters from overseas service, coupled with the acquisition of new men, has rendered this progressive action possible.

In recognition of valuable services rendered, as well as of increased living costs, the salary scales have also been revised upward in a way that will set the standard for other governmental forestry organizations throughout Canada.

One of the features of the reorgnization is the establishment of an office of investigations. Its duty will be to conduct studies and researches into the various problems connected with the administration of provincial Crown timber lands. This will include growth studies, volume studies, regeneration surveys, methods and costs of slash disposal, etc.

The Forest Branch has full charge of all phases of Crown timber land administration, including not only fire protection, but the enforcement of the timber regulations, scaling, collection of forest revenue, grazing, and the development of domestic and foreign trade in British Columbia timber. The forest revenue of the Province aggregates upward of $2,700,000 per year and is now to be materially increased, due to the enhanced selling price of lumber, upon the basis of which stumpage prices for timber cut on Crown lands will be increased.

CAN'T EXPERIMENT IN VIENNA NOW, MOUSE $20

(By George Witte.)

Berlin.—The German universities, which, before the war, announced so many discoveries in the fields of medicine and hygienne, can no longer continue certain of their scientific experiments, because of the high price of mice, rabbits, dogs and horses. Animals of every kind have become so precious as food that to use them for vivisection or inoculation purposes is sacrilegious, according to Dr. Blankenburg, a well-known German educational authority.

"The allowance the State gives us is just enough to buy one mouse, one rabbit, one dog and one horse," said Dr. Blankenburg." We experiment on them and take motion pictures. For further lectures we use the films. Research work at our universities has been brought to a standstill, and although the German people are suffering more from new diseases than ever before, we cannot do anything toward studying them and finding the remedies. German science has lost infinitely as a result of Germany's defeat, and we are facing complete disruption."

In Vienna, Dr. Blankenburg added, one mouse brings 100 crowns (normally $20.)

TELLS OF OCEAN BIRDS

The habits of that remarkable seabird, the Gannet, were explained at considerable length by Professor A. P. Coleman to the bird lovers of Toronto in the Y.M.C.A. this afternoon, when he delivered an illustrated lecture on "The Birds of the Atlantic," under the auspices of the Toronto Ornithologists.

Professor Coleman spoke of the seabirds which he has observed in their natural haunts at points widely separated over the broad Atlantic Ocean and took his hearers with him from Spitzbergen in the north to the south of the line, where the Albatross wheels around the ship and where the flightless penguin rests on the ledges of the southern coast.

A numebr of interesting lantern slides were shown, showing the seabirds in flight, and some particularly interesting pictures of the seabird colony at Spitzbergen, where the birds are fed on the refuse from the whales which are brought to the port.

Professor Coleman spoke of the birds which he has seen on the Labrador coast, and he made particular mention of the eider duck, which is valued highly for the down which the birds use to line their nests, and which they pluck from their own breasts for the purpose.

Finally, the speaker showed some slides of the bird sanctuary on Bonaventure Island, and he spoke of the puffins and auks, which he has observed in their natural haunts there.

Among the famous birds which he described was the stormy petrl, which he saw in the Southern seas, although he explained that this bird is also found in more northern latitudes as well.

The speaker also told of a visit which he paid to the Norweigan coast.

NOTICE

We, the undersigned Moving Picture Exhibitors of British Columbia, find that owing to the material increase in the rental of pictures and all theatre supplies, it becomes imperative to either lower the standard of entertainment or increase admission prices.

We are unwilling, and we feel that our patrons would resent being offered anything but the highest class motion pictures that the market affords.

In order that our patrons may not be denied the advantage of the best, and if our theatres shall continue to operate without loss, an increase in admission price is absolutely necessary, therefore kindly take notice that on and after March 1st the adult evening admission price at the undermentioned theatres will be 35c.

COMPULSORY VACCINATION

At a special meeting of the Fernie city council held on Tuesday evening it was decided that all Fernie school children will have to produce a certificate of successful vaccination on or before April 15 or be sent home from school. This order was the result of the following communicaton received from the Provincial Board of Health:

Victoria, Jan. 26, 1920.

To School Trustees and Teachers:

There has been a severe epidemic of Smallpox in the Eastern Provinces, particularly in Ontario. Our Medical Officers of Health were advised of this and urged to vaccinate as many of the people as possble. A great deal has been accomplished along these lines, but much remains to be done.

The disease has appeared in British Columbia in different parts of the Province, and if we are to avoid being quarantined, as Ontario has been, it will be necessary for everyone, and particularly the children to be vaccinated.

The Health Regulations in regard to the vaccination of school children are as follows:

Vaccination—

14. It shall be incumbent upon Local Boards of Health to arrange suitable times and places for vaccination, and to give public notice thereof.

15. It is now deemed necessary, and is hereby ordered, that teachers in Public Schools and High Schools or Colleges shall require a certificate of successful vaccination from each child attending at such School or College, or a certificate that such child is at that present time insusceptible to vaccination. The certificate shall be presented on demand to the teacher or other proper authority.

Penal Clause (Sec. 112, Health Act.)

16. Provides that any person who violates any regulation of the Provincial Board shall, unless it is otherwise specially provided, be liable for every such offence to a fine not exceeding one hundred dollars, with or without costs, or to imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding six months, or to both fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the convicting Court.

"Smallpox cannot be suppressed without the expenditure of money." "The more promptly you act the less it will cost."

Please bring this matter to the attention of your Board.

The Provincial Board of Health will supply vaccine Free.

SILVER MEMORIAL CROSS TO NEXT OF KIN

The issue of these Memorial Crosses to relatives of soldiers who died whilst serving with the Canadian Forces will be made from the Rolls in the possession of the Militia Department at Ottawa. No application is necessary to be made.

These Memorial Crosses will also be issued to relatives of Canadian personnel who died whilst serving with the Imperial or Allied Forces. In the latter case, applications are necessary and such applications must be accompanied by the undermentioned documents.

(a) Should the soldier have died whilst serving—(i) the original certificate of death issued by the Government concerned.

(b) Should death have occurred subsequent to discharge—(i) a discharge certificate issued by the Government concerned. (ii) civil death certificate.

(c) A Statutory Declaration—(i) to the effect that the deceased soldier was resident in Canada on the 4th of August, 1914. (ii) as to the relationship of the applicant to the deceased soldier.

The Crosses with respect to deceased members of the Naval Service will be issued by the Department of the Naval Service.

DIVISION 22 IN THE LEAD

For the month of February, as for January, Division 22, a receiving class in the Annex school, shows the highest percentage of attendance. The epidemic of colds, etc., has greatly hampered the work of many classes, and this, following the mumps outbreak of last term, places a goodly number of pupils under a serious handicap.

The following list indicates the percentage of possible attendance in the various classes for last month, together with the names of those pupils who made perfect attendance.

Division 1. E. G. Daniels, teacher, percentage 85.95.—Stephen Bernot, Marie Coppe, Albert Davies, Edna Edgar, Leonard Hesketh, Harry Hewat, George Ihas, Clarice Littley, Mary Puillandre, Doris Reid, Leon Rushcall, Albin Vansacker, Merle Wallace Ralph Whalley.

WILL COME THIS WAY

A. L. Megis, of Calgary, President of the Dominion Trails Association, and organizer for the Winnipeg-Lake Louise automobile tour, was in the city yesterday, and addressed the Board of Trade at a special meeting held in the Council Chamber at 2.30 p.m.

Mr. Megis, who is deeply interested in the interprovincial highway, which the Dominion Government proposes to build, stated that Edmonton, Saskatoon, and several other northern towns were moving heaven and earth at Ottawa to have the road constructed by way of Edmonton and the Yellow Head Pass, and that it was up to the towns on the southern route to get busy themselves, or they would be left in the lurch. Calgary was boosting for the Crow's Nest Pass route, but, Fernie, Cranbrook and a whole lot of other towns seemed to be asleep.

He said he had come to Fernie at the request of Fernie's publicity booster, Mr. Spalding, to see what could be done toward bringing at least a part of the Winnipeg-Lake Louise automobile party down through the Windermere Valley and back by way of the Crow's Nest Pass. He had already arranged for a number of prominent editors and writers for different magazines to come this way, but a large number of the rest of the party had decided to come also and he wanted the city to be prepared to accomodate them.

A moving picture outfit was being carried along and views of the entire trip were being taken. Views of the town would also be taken at a cost of $1.50 per foot, if so desired. Mr. Megis spoke for about half an hour, outlining the efforts of his committee to boost this section of British Columbia and stated that thousands of tourists would come this way in the future as a result of their efforts at advertising the country.

Mr. S. Herchmer, who occupied the chair, thanked the speaker on behalf of the city and promised every cooperation to make the proposed visit of the Winnipeg-Lake Louise excursion as pleasant as possible.

The meeting decided to use 200 feet of picture reel for our local requirements.

Wm. Ashley, employed at the Fernie Dairy, was instantly killed on Wednesday of this week when the fly wheel of a gasoline negine flew to pieces. He was tsruck on the side of the head by a large piece of the weel and the skull crushed.. Coroner Geo. Thomson investigated the case and finding that it was purely accidental did not hold an nquest. Deceased was a young Englishman, lately returned from overseas, where he served with the 72nd Batt. He leaves a mother and sister to mourn his loss.

TURN DOWN THE BAND

The ratepayers of the city of Fernie voted on Monday last against the proposition to grant a bonus toward assisting the city band. Although there has been a strong feeling that something should be done to help the band, when it came to digging up the coin they voted nay in no uncertain voice. The vote stood:

No Grant	99
For $600	25
For $1,500	47
Spoiled Ballots	2

The large vote clearly showed that a great deal of interest was taken in the subject. This is the largest vote that ever turned out to vote on a by-lay in this city.

CROSSES THE GREAT DIVIDE

Fernie lost one of its best young men on Saturday morning last when death claimed Mr. Elliott Kirkpatrick, son of Mrs. E. Kirkpatrick, for many years a resident of this town. Deceased was a victim of pneumonia, which followed an attack of influenza. His mother, who was visiting near Chicago, did not arrive until a few hours after his death. Elliott was a fine young man and his death has struck a note of sorrow in almost every house in town, for he was loved and honored by everyone in this city where he had grown up from a child. The funeral, which was one of the most largely attended ever held in the city, took place on Monday, the Knights of Pythias and members of the Curling Club attending in a body. The service was held from the United Church. Deceased leaves a wife, mother, sister and three brothers to mourn his loss.

ESTIMATES FOR 1920

Following is a comparative statement of the estimates for 1919 and 1920:

FERNIE BOARD OF TRADE

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The annual Meeting Called for last Wednesday, owing to poor attendance has been postponed until next Wednesday evening, the 9th, at 8 p.m., in the Council Chamber.

Every citizen who has any interest in the town should make a special effort to attend this meeting as it will be most important. Election of officers first, and then the tourist question. We are going to have the Winnipeg-Lake Louise tour brought through here, and there is another large tour from the Western States in prospect. This will likely bring thousands of tourists here this summer, and if you want them to come, turn out to this meeting and show it.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)

It is not what we wear that makes us what we are. A curate of an Episcopal church was going over to Nelson last week on the boat. After the boat was well under way on the lake, two Irishmen came along the deck and one raised his hat and said, "Good morning, Father," whereupon the other turned to his friend who had spoken and said, "Ach, a devil a bit is he a Father, Pat, he's married and got three children."

Mrs. Tom Duncan and children, of the Columbia Hotel, Elko, are spending the weekend in Cranbrook.

There isn't a town in the Crow's Nest Pass with better opportunities than Elko, and everybody is talking about it, and writing for information about it.

The inimitable and ever refreshing Fred G. Perry, of Fernie, Winnipeg and Calgary, was in Elko this week visiting an old college chum.

Jim Thistlebeak says that it i not true that dark haired women marry first. It is quite as likely to be the light headed ones.

The Rainbow Creek Lumber Co., Roosville, have sold their cut to the Eureka Lumber Co., of Eureka, Mont.

J. M. Agnew, of Edmonton, an old Elkoite, was here this week buying mine timber, ties, saw-logs, and toothpick timber for Alberta points.

Malcolm M. McInnes, the timber magnate of Crow's Nest and Calgary, was down the Valley this week looking over his timber limits, and might put in a mill in the near future.

A white Leghorn hen belonging to a Roosville Valley rancher, has just laid an egg weighing six ounces. Jim Thistlebeak says he don't see what else the hen could have laid.

Jim Thistlebeak says many a lonely bachelor looking back over the stretch of years, recalls the charming moonlight nights, when the cool summer air was perfumed with old fashioned flowers, and he looked into the loving eyes of his sweetheart; recalls how the crimson glow of youth flushed her velvet cheeks as he took her warm hand in his; recalls sadly that if he had only given that hand "a square deal", played it in the game of life, he would have had "a full house" now.

John E. Brooks, Deputy Collector of United States Customs, at the port of Gateway, Mont., was in Elko last week on official business, and visiting Jim Thistlebeak, an old college chum.

S. A. Miller, (the Australia fur buyer) got over twelve hundred dollars' worth of fur in Elko last Sunday, at Roo's store. Mr. Miller fought with the Australian forces in the Great World War, that was won by the British before the Americans left New York.

Salesmen, travelers and train jumpers are coming to Elko more than ever and a lot of new men are making their first appearance in the old historic burg, offering for sale everything from stem winding mouse traps to cyclone stackers, four-ton trucks and wagon bridges, with or without pipe line fixtures. A great trouble with some of these freaks of nature is they know so much that isn't true, and handle their samples like an old bachelor handles a baby who is cutting teeth, and eat soft boiled eggs, no doubt thinking they were in a shower bath; some wearing G.W.V. buttons carrying no samples. It's no wonder the food stuffs are soaring. So many dead heads running around the country. It would be a lot better if 90 per cent of them were where they belong; on the farm, hoeing spuds and weeding onions.

Several Alberta sheepmen are looking over the Roosville Valley for land.

Gradual reduction of Dominion notes in circulation, it is understood is planned by the government as a means of improving the financial situation. The last return issued by the finance department shows that, on January 19, there were Dominion notes in circulation amounting to $318,690,080. They were secured in gold to the extent of $114,821,602, and in approved securities under the terms of the Finance Act of 1914 to the amount of $154,237,000. The gold is therefore about 35.9 of the total issue.

URGES PUBLIC ECONOMY

Toronto Globe: All Canada will back Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, in his insistence that the public expenditures shall be so planned as to come within the country's revenues. The brake might have been applied before this with good effect. It has been so long in disuse that only the utmost determination will enable it to function as a drag upon the easy-running wheels of prodigality.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

Torture of the Inquisition

A Modern Example of Suffering

People suffer—suffer torments—with help at hand. Gin Pills can overcome pain in the most marvelous way—all the suffering which follows in the wake of weak or diseased kidneys, such as rheumatism, sciatic neuralgia, stone in the bladder, excruciating backache, stiff and swollen joints and ankles, yields quickly to the soothing, healing, strengthening power of Gin Pills, which contain Juniper and seven other valuable diuretics and antiseptics.

Mr. Arnold McAskell, of Hants, N.S., writes as follows:

"For a long time I suffered from a pain in my back and could not move without agony. I grew worse until confined to bed. A friend advised me to use Gin Pills. Before I had used one box I began to feel better. By the time I had finished two, I was completely cured. I cannot say too much in favor of these pills and I recommend them strongly to anyone suffering from kidney trouble."

At the first suggestion of pain in the back get Gin Pills from your druggist or dealer. Each box is guaranteed to relieve—or money back. 50c a box. Free sample, sufficient to show its value, sent on request.

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS

Victoria.—Entering upon the second month of its labors, the Legislature is just beginning to get down to real business. After three solid weeks of spell-binding on the debate on the Address in Reply the House this week was supplied with some of the government's legislative bill-of-fare, opening with measures of minor importance and closing with the new Provincial Elections Act, which, undoubtedly, will easily prove the most interesting item to the members. Practically the whole week was devoted to getting legislation underway and to date about twenty bills have been introduced though few of them can be said to be any ennunciation of government policy on a broad scale.

The new Elections Act proposes some radical departures from old procedure. The elimination of the requirement of a deposit by candidate, the provisions requiring statements from the candidates as well as from the secretary and treasurer of the various political parties of election expenses, receipts, etc.; those providing for absentee voting, the granting to returned soldiers of whatever age and nationality the franchise, especially to Japanese veterans, and the greater ease afforded to voters to get their names upon the voters' lists, are the chief features of the bill. There is one feature that will undoubtedly call for criticism, that providing for the appointment of deputy registrars to assist in the preparation of the lists. These officials will, apparently, operate on the same basis as the enumerators engaged at the 1917 federal election. Opposition members are unkind enough to suggest that the plan will prove a glorious opportunity for "the boys" to draw down a substantial stipend form the public purse. The proposed system of absentee voting, too, will be productive of keen debate. While the premier informed the House he believed it to be a most radical step, he expressed the hope that sufficient safe-guards to prevent corruption had been placed in the bill. At the same time it was evident that he expects the bill, and especially that portion of it respecting absentee voting, will come under strong criticism, for he admitted that he knew he was running into "the biggest bunch of trouble" he had ever encountered. He appeared to take great satisfaction in the section calling for submission of statements by candidates and parties of their expenditures, though it is apparent that the obvious method of getting around such provisions would be to entrust the election outlays to some party stalwarts who need not keep the candidate nor the party officials posted as to details of outlays. But the premier sees, in such regulations, the elimination of the former practice of donations to campaign funds. Old lists will be cancelled by the coming into effect of the new Act and thereafter the lists will be compiled annually instead of semi-annually as at present, except that should an election be held more than six months after the last revision, a special revision will be held to permit of purification of the list. At elections each voter will be required to sign his name and then address before being given a ballot and these will be compared with the signature on the original application made by the voter for registration. This provision is expected, in great measure, to prevent personation, and at the same time form the basis for the new list. Absentee voters may vote in any polling division in which they happen to be on election day, voting for the candidate they favor in their home division. These absentee votes will be forwarded by the returning officer to the voter's home division to be counted in that division. But according to the Act the final count, including these absentee ballots, is not to be made until at least twenty-one days after election day.

Many other bills came up for consideration, among them being the Soldiers Lands Act, an mendment to the Mineral Act, a change in the Mineral Survey and Development Act, and others.

G. H. Hanes, Liberal member for North Vancouver, who broke into the lime-light two weeks ago when he issued his charge against Premier Oliver to the effect that the latter had obstructe dgovernment inspectors in their work of checking up assets of the P.G.E., thereby preventing valuable property, which should have come into the possession of the Province, from being taken over under the settlement arrived at between the Province and the P.G.E. former interests, is not satisfied with the action of the Premier in sumarily dismissing the charge in the course of his speech in the debate on the Address. Hanes has given notice of a motion he will move in which he demands the appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate his charge. But the North Vancouver member wants to go further. He insists upon an investigation into that old question of P.G.E. donations to campaign funds, a matter, which, he stated at the time of making his rerent charges against the premier, he had endeavored to have probed by the select committee of the House at the 1917 session, at which time, he asserted, the Attorney-General had urged him to go easy in his effort to have Mr. Bowser, opposition leader haled before that committee because "Bowser knows too much."

Disclosures made through the agency of questions asked by opposition members and more or less skilfully evaded by the government, concerning the participation of the firm of Gillespie, Hart, & Todd, of Victoria, in the "pickings" afforded by the P.G.E. railway, the government owned line, have proved of immense interest to members of the Legislature. The association of Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, with that firm and the financial benefits it secured through its being awarded the tender for the $2,241,970 insurance on railway equipment, rolling stock, etc., has been the subject of interested gossip in Legislative circles. The premium paid by the railway to the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company, of New York, the firm with which Gillespie, Hart & Todd placed the insurance totalled $9,528. The customary commission paid to agents on that class of business is twenty per cent, so the Victoria firm, of which the minister is reputed to be a partner, secured some $2,000 by the transaction.

But it was when the Premier replied that he had "no official information" that Hon. John Hart is a member of the firm of Gillespie, Hart & Todd or, even, that he is a director of the P.G.E. that the amusement among members became pronounced. For the past two years the premier has been sitting with Hon. Mr. Hart and Attorney-general Farris on the Board of Directors of the government road and yet at this date he lacks, he says, "official" information concerning Hon. Mr. Hart's status on the Board.

The evident determination of the opposition to insist upon its rights and not be birked in its criticisms of the government, not even when frowned upon by the Speaker, was again illustrated on Thursday when Mr. Bowser and Mr. Speaker Keen went to the mat consequent upon the latter's ruling that the opposition leader was out of order in his criticisms of the bill to amend the Game Act, a measure which, by the way, he tore to shreds in his characteristic manner, declaring it to be a mass of contradictions, silly restrictions upon the sportsmen and compiled by one wholly ignorant of the actual game conditions in the Province.

Mr. Bowser's criticisms of the amendments to the Game Act were pungent and clearly impressed the members. He showed how it was proposed by restricting the granting of hunting licenses for non-residents of the province, to British subjects resident in Canada, to place a ban upon Englishmen or residents of other British possessions, the while a section provided for the granting of licenses to visiting officials and "or in special cases" free of charge.

"You don't propose, apparently, to allow British subjects from outside the Dominion to come to this province and shoot, but some American friend of Dr. Baker, perhaps Mr. Vanderveer, of Seattle, the gentleman who figured in that plugging incident, is to be given privileges under the guise of a "special case'," he said.

The whole tenor of the bill, Mr. Bowser argued, was to place a lot of annoying restrictions upon the farmers and sportsmen who have been in the past the best friends of the government in assisting in the enforcement of the regulations. He asserted that only by a return to the old method of game wardens, men expert in their peculiar knowledge of game, could proper results be secured. The present method of placing the enforcement of the act with the Provincial police simply meant that that force, occupied with its police duties, could give but very indifferent attention to the game situation, wth the result that the game of the Province is being depleted. He demanded the placing of a competent man at the head of the game department nistead of attempting to run it by dentists and clerks who knew actually nothing of the real situation. He suggested that the Attorney general, in his trips around the Province, should leave his pullman car long enough to get a real insight into actual conditions.

THE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE OF CANADA

The Employment Service of the Department of Labour reports that returns from the Dominion and Provincial offices of the Employment Service of Canada for the week ending February 7th show an increase in placements as compared with the preceding week. During the week the 94 offices reported that they had referred 6,754 persons to regular positions, and that 5,581 of these were placed. This represents an increase of 377 placements as compared with the preceding week when 5,204 persons were placed. In addition, 1,280 casual jobs were supplied as compared with 1,029 during the week ended January 31st. The placements for the week were distributed as follows: Prince Edward Island, 9; Nova Scotia, 113; New Brunswick, 222; Quebec, 675; Ontario,1,974; Manitoba, 601; Saskatchewan, 295; Alberta, 599; British Columbia, 992.

During the week 10,316 applicants were registered, of whom 9,624 were men and 692 were women. This represents an increase of 1,134 in registration when compared with the 9363 applications of the previous week. The number of vacancies notified by employers during the week totalled 7,137, of which 5,964 were for men and 1,173 for women. This shows an increase of 1,012 vacancies when compared with the 6,125 notified during the preceding week. The number of applicants unplaced at the end of the week totalled 28,348 while the number of vacancies remaining unfilled was 10,215. This compares with 27,-664 placed applicants and 10,052 unfilled vacancies at the end of the week of January 31st. Of the placements in regular employment, 424 were women and 5,157 were men. The number of returned men reported as placed was 2,745.

UNABLE TO WORK FOR WHOLE YEAR

Rheumatism and Other Troubles Had Regina Man In Bed Until He Took Tanlac.

"All my friends comment on my healthy appearance since I began taking Tanlac," said Charles Tuck, who up to a few years ago, was a farmer, but who now resides at 1058 Robinson Street, Regina, Saskatchewan, Canada, while in Kelly's drug store in Regina a few days ago. Continuing, he said:

"For three years I have suffered a lot with rheumatism in my hips. It would leave me for a time but would always come back, sometimes I could hardly stand, and my legs would give way and I would almost fall, and the pain from the jar would be something awful. I was also troubled with shingles on my side and it would nearly drive me crazy. It would itch so bad at times it was simply unbearable Between the two troubles I was in misery all the time and for a whole year I gave up trying to do any kind of work, and spent most of the time in bed.

"On different occasions I had read of Tanlac in the newspapers, and as it seemed to be doing so many people good I decided to try it, and as it gave me relief from the very start, I kept on taking it, and now I must say I feel like a different man. I am not troubled with rheumatism at all and the shingles bother me very little. I am still taking Tanlac and expect to be entirely relieved shortly.

"My wife has been feeling very badly run down of late and has been having pains in her back, so she helped me finish the last bottle and felt so much better I am going to start her taking Tanlac regularly. I am so pleased with the benefit I have received from taking Tanlac I a m glad to tell others about it."

GRANBY MAY RESUME OPERATIONS IN SUMMER

There are growing indications that the Granby Company will resume operations at its Grand Forks smelter and mines at Phoenix in the early summer, though plans are only tentative as yet. Granby is understood to have obtained options on some other properties in the district that they may develop as feeders for the local reduction works.—Grand Forks Gazette.

GREAT WEST LIFE SHOW NEW RECORD

The Great West Life Assurance Co., started business at Winnipeg under the management of its founder, Mr. J. H. Brock, in August 1892, and during 1919 its income from premiums and interest amounted to over eight million and a half dollars, an increase over the previous year of about one and a half million dollars.

Its assets increased during the year about three million and a half and had earned a tremendous profit of one million, three hurdred and twenty thousand, five hundred and twenty dollars.

For twenty-seven years its interest earnings have never been less than 7 per cent.

The greater part of its assets are gilt-edged mortgages on farms in the west, although it invested many millions in government securities to help meet the requirements of the country.

The merits of the company have been appreciated in the east as indicated by the fact that twenty-four millions in applications for new business were forwarded from the provinces of Quebec and Ontario.

The only foreign business done by the company to date was in North Dakota, but the company are about to enter at least two of the other leading states in the neighboring country.

Its general manager and actuary, Mr. C. C. Ferguson, a comparatively young Prince Edward Islander, son of the late Senator Ferguson, is the competent head of the company, having succeeded the late J. R. Brock as general manager.

FERNIE OPTICAL PARLORS

ORPHEUM—WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY, MARCH 10th -11th.

SHERMAN IS PEEVED

We have received a communication this week signed, G. Sawyer, Sec., who writes on behalf of the O. B.U., in which he uses all the adjectives in the English language to tell us just how dirty and scurrilous we are in our attack on his union because we suggest that the membership of his organization should take steps to bring to justice the party or parties implicated in getting away with a large portion of Widow Brown's compensation. Following is the main portion of his letter. We do not feel called upon to publish the first part as it is entirely devoted to the vituperation of the Free Press and its editor and has nothing whatever to do with the question at issue.

The letter reads in part:

"The miners have no desire to enter into any controversy with you through the columns of your notorious paper, but the lying and misleading statements which appeared in your last issue, referring to Widow Brown's compensation case and involving the honesty of Mr. P. Lawson and the Miners' Union, cannot go unchallenged. We can quite understand from what source you received your lying information and we are desirous of getting to the bottom of this misleading story and placing the blame where it properly belongs; hence, we have decided to invite you and your U.M.W. of A. friends to a public meeting in the Grand Theatre, for the purpose of threshing this matter out in the proper way.

If you and your friends will kindly accept this invitation, you will give us the opportunity of showing the people of Fernie that Mr. Lawson and the Miners' Union are in no way to blame for the widow not receiving the full amount of the compensation.

We agree with you that there should be a Government investigation in this case and we sincerely hope that such investigation will take place, so that the people of Fernie will hear one of the most interesting "financial juggling" stories that was ever heard in this Province. Some of those involved may belong to the so-called "respectable" class, Mr. Editor.

On behalf of the Miners' Executive of the O.B.U.,

G. Sawyer, Sec'y. "

Our item which called forth this letter was but the publication of reports eminating from members of your own organization. The U.M.W. of A. do not enter into this controversy so far as we are concerned, we having never had any conversation with any of their delegates regarding the matter.

The report as published, is common property. If it is untrue, we have been wilfully misinformed, and have libelled the Grand Theatre management and Mr. Lawson. Now it is far from our intention to intimate for a moment that either of the above parties stole this money from the Widow Brown fund, but as your own letter intimates, this woman was defrauded of a large amount and the facts as we understand them, are that part of this money was used either by way of a loan or a donation to the Grand Theatre picture show and to Mr. Lawson, editor of the "Ledger." (We know not whether the latter was for use in the business or a personal matter.) Now if these are the facts how in the name of justice could this money, which should have been immediately forwarded to the widow in question, been handed to the above parties either in the shape of a loan or as a donation, without a direct violation of the law.

This is no question for a public meeting. Your secretary claims to have all the data on the question. Why, as self-constituted guardians of the widows and dependents of your membership, have you not laid the information at your disposal before the proper authorities, and had the custodians of this money brought to account?

Abuse and vilification are what any editor expects when his correspondents do not agree with his views. Also invitations ranging from offers to debate the matter to challenges to mortal combat. The present instance however is one where none of these things is to the point, and Mr. Sawyer, although he abuses us for making a statement of certain facts, agrees with us that there should be a government investigation. That is the correct atttude. It is not a matter for debate. It is a matter for investigation, and the authorities are the proper parties to do it. But has Mr. Sawyer made any attempt to have such an investigation undertaken? Have any of his associates? If Mr. Sawyer feels that he and his associates have been misjudged through the publication of the article in questin, we shall be glad to give the same publicity to any statement of the facts which he cares to make public, and to assist him in securing a government investigation into the matter, for the benefit of all parties concerned.

We do not understand his reference to such an investigation including some of "the so-called respectable class," but we presume Mr. Sawyer is as sincere as ourselves in desiring the investigation to be complete, let the chips fall where they may.

We might also state that we have never published a statement about your organization or any member thereof, knowing it to be untrue, and if we have unwittingly done so, stand to be corrected, and are perfectly willing to retract same and apologize. The last paragraph of your own letter more than bears out our item regarding the matter in question.

EDITOR.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE IN "THE VEILED ADVENTURE"

At the Orpheum, Monday and Tuesday, March 8th and 9th.

One of the best opportunities yet afforded Constance Talmadge for the display of her talents is the role of Geraldine Barker in "The Veiled Adventure," a Select comedy plus drama in which she is presented by Lewis J. Selznick and which appears Monday and Tuesday at the Orpheum.

A beautifu thread of romance runs through the picture; and romance, it might be said, is Constance Talmadge's "long suit." Her many admirers can be assured of a rare treat when they view her work in this picture. She is full of her customary dash and pep and her vivacious personality is given free rein. Her work in this production is exceptionally good and is certain to increase her already enviable popularity among screen patrons.

Geraldine Barker is a young and beautiful society girl, whose marriage to Reginald Crocker, a society "fop," is averted. This occurs when she, in trying to teach Richard Annesly, a young man from Texas, a lesson as to the influence of woman over man, is herself enlightened regarding men and unconsciously teaches herself a vital lesson f life.

GOLF MATCHES FOR NEXT YEAR

New York.—When Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, professional golf stars, toured the links of the United States in 1913, they met with few pairs fit to take their measure, notwithstanding the fact that Franc's Ouimet, the amateur, had done it in the play-off at Brookline. Alex. Smith and his brother Macdonald were two who did lower the colors of the Englishmen, but on the whole they had what might be termed a merry party and rolled up a record of victories that made those who had not seen the play at Brookline wonder how Ouimet had ever come to defeat them.

Next year golfers are promised some of the same sort of entertainment as they enjoyed in 1913 when there is likely to be more of it. Not only will Ray and Vardon be here, it is hoped, but there will be such players to draw from as Taylor, Duncan and Mitchell. The latter couple have been the pick of the British professional basket this year, and as such have been singled out for special attention by the American professionals, who are even now laying their plans towards matching Duncan and Mitchell with, for instance, such a pair as Walter Hagen and Jim Barnes, the accepted leaders of the professional game here.

The scheme that has been broached is to have Duncan and Mitchell meet Hagan and Barnes in a match or series of matches for the benefit of the Professional Golfers' Association. Professionals of the metropolitan district are enthusiastic over the suggestion and believe that there will be no difficulty in bringing about such a contest. It is their opinion that the game should be played as near as possible to New York City, and that if they can arrange to have it on such easily accessible courses as Garden City and Siwanoy, golfers will return thanks and subscribe liberally to the various funds of the P.G.A.

In a matter of this sort it is only necessary to set the ball a-rolling. Without a doubt such a match will also appeal to suhc centres of the royal and ancient game as Chicago, Boston, Pittsburg, Philadelphia and Detroit, and Duncan and Mitchell should find more work on their arrival here than confronted Ray and Vardon. That there will be enough in the New York matches to pay Duncan, Mitchell and the two Americans a liberal fee in addition to leaving a big margin for the P.G.A. is assured.

Alex. Pirie, of North Shore Country Club, secretary of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, said recently that an invitation has been forwarded to the leading professionals of Great Britain, in accordance with the wishes of the P.G.A. members expressed at a recent meeting held in this city. This will allow the visitors to enter the match play of the annual professional championship tournament without the necessity of having to qualify. The invitation has been forwarded to the secretary of the British Professionals' Association.

Pirie also announced that a scheme had been outlined so that the Britishers could play in the championship without working any hardship on their own members who might be fortunate enough to qualify in the sectional tourneys which will be held prior ot the match play phase of the competition. Qualifying will proceed as it did last year, according to the present plan of the P.G.A. officials. There will be thirty-two eligibles as formerly, supplied by the various divisions, and to make room for the Britons a preliminary round will be held.

Assuming that there are four players from the other side of the Atlantic it will be necessary to make room for that many in the match play, and to do this the officials will draw eight Americans and send them off on an elimination round. The places of the four deleted will then be filled by the British quartette. To work out this plan satisfactorily it will be necessary to start the P.G.A. championship on a Monday, leaving the balance of the week for other rounds.

BOLSHEVISM IS DISAPPOINTMENT

Stockholm, March 4.—Bitter disappointment with Bolshevism is expressed in an article published recently by Maxim Gorky, the Russian radical, according to dispatches received here.

THE CAMP COOKING REVEALED THIS

On Saturday we had a letter from a lady in New Westminster who asks that her name be omitted.

She says they discovered Pacific Milk while she cooked for her husband in a camp last summer, where no fresh milk was to be had.

It made such delicious and fine grained cakes and hot breads and at less cost that she kept on using it when they came back to town.

She says: "Always reduce it at least half with cold water."

The city council have ordered two high-class gas and smoke masks for the use of the fire brigade. These masks will enable the firemen to enter buildings in case of fire when a room or basement is densely filled with smoke and should be the means of avoiding a great deal of damage by water, especially in case of basement fires.

The local representative of the U. M.W.A. takes exception to the statement (unsigned) published and posted by the O.B.U. officials, that the U. M. W. of A. intend to deduct $10 joining fee and $2.00 per month, and other assessments, from the earnings of the miners, and states in reply that any miners joining the U.M.W. of A. at the present time the sum of $1.50 each per month would be deducted and same to be used as follows: 50c to the International; 35c expenses of the District; 20c to be deposited for the strike defence fund; and 45c for the expenses of the local union.

Owing to the absence of the Secretary no notices respecting the meeting of the Board of Trade fo r last night were sent out, with the result that only about twenty members turned out. This was not considered to be sufficiently representative for the important business to be discussed and it was decided to postpone it until next Wednesday evening, when it is hoped that there will be a large attendance as the business to be transacted is of more vital interest to the town than any in the past few years.

After the election of officers the tourist question will be discussed from all angles. The success that the Publicity Committee is meeting with is exceeding their greatest hopes. The organizers of the Winnipeg-Lake Louise tour have definitely decided to include this section in the tour, which alone will mean in the neighborhood of probably several hundred tourists coming here. In addition to this, arrangements will be made to bring a tour in from Portland, Seattle, Walla Walla and Spokane, but as this can only be brought about by the co-operation of every business man in this town. If they want to have tourists brought in they ought to show enough interest in it to turn out to the Board of Trade meetings. Every business is benefitted directly or indirectly by tourist travel, and Ferne's chances of securing a very large portion of this is good, but it cannot be done without the concerted effort and a proper get-together feeling being shown by those who will reap the benefit.

THE EXTRA SAFEGUARD

"Should I lose my earning power through accident or disease, who will keep up my life assurance payment?"

You may have asked yourself this question.

The Sun Life's Total Disability provision arranges under such circumstances to keep your policy in force, without further premiums, and, in addition, to pay you an income of one-tenth of the face value of the policy each remaining year of your life, starting immediately. The extra charge is comparatively trifling.

Ask us to tell you about it.

SLUMP IN EXCHANGE

The average Consumer, even if he does not pretend to fathom the mysteries of foreign exchange, must note with more than ordinary interest that when foreign exchange crashed during the first week of February, the pound sterling falling to 35 per cent. below normal and the other exchanges following, cotton prices fell violently, while corn, pork, lard, and other commodities were marked down substantially in the Chicago market. The consumer, who now finds the business and financial columns in his paper decidedly worth reading, discovers that our cotton and grain warehouses have been filled almost to bursting with goods intended for sale to Europe at the highest price obtainable. But when a dollar's worth of American goods costs an Englishman more than a dollar and a quarter and a Frenchman over two dollars, Old-World purchases will be limited to absolute necessities, and this "will force these stored foodstuffs and other commodities into domestic channels of trade and automatically cause a gradual reduction in the prices of the necessaries of life." So eminent an authority as the Federal Reserve Board opines that the drop in foreign exchange means lower prices. And, as the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin observes, a condition of exchange which brings about cheaper stockings and cheaper food and a more rational expense account "doesn't seem bad at all' to the consumer. The Omaha Bee insists that "it means good for America." The Detroit Journal believes that the lowering of prices due to the collapse of foreign exchange "will remove one of the chief causes for strikes, cripple one of the arguments upon which is builded the agitation of unrest, give the country time to go through with a national election temperately and with a minimum of the unreasonableness which marks some of our public affairs today." So, it concludes, "the bad state of foreign exchange is not altogether a curse." It seems to the New York World that "the day of the ultimate consumer as against the profiteer on inflated credit at last approaches." Here competent financial authorities agree. Predicting that decreased exportation to Europe and increased importation from Europe will follow hand in hand upon the drop in foreign exchange, the New York Journal of Commerce says that this state of affairs will undoubtedly limit the markets of our manufacturers, but "would, from the consumer's point of view, be an unmixed benefit." The Annalist (New York) is convinced that the consumer is now to become "a positive instead of a negative force in the country's markets," that he "certainly has room for hope and confidence over the future." As this financial weekly sizes up the situation:

"European bidders for our goods have been forced to decrease their activities in the American markets through the sheer power of costs they can not meet. Fundamentally the reason for all this lies in so tremendous a fall of sterling rates as to record a depreciation in the pound of 35 per cent from the normal level. As sterling leads, so other European exchanges follow. A depreciation of more than 60 per cent in the French franc at New York has caused French importers to limit their purchases here to the barest necessities. European bidding has slackened materially, and is expected to contract further. The result of this process is obvious—the making available of more goods for home-buyers than would othrewise be the case. . . . . .

"So now the consumer sees this: a beginning of price recessions which finds an active demand which may be stimulated by lower prices. The manufacturer sees the same situation. The unsolved question for both of them is how these forces will act in relation to one another. If a lessening of extravagance comes with receding prices, which may quite possibly happen, if business confidence is weakened and overtime wages grow smaller,there may occur a really substantial backing up of goods in the home markets because of the shrinking foreign demand. Then the consumer should see a progress of lowering prices in the next few months and the manufacturer should experience a smaller output of his products. The consumer's position under these circumstances would be strengthened all the more by an increase of imports from countries which has been making progress for several months. On the other hand, if purchases, heretofore kept submerged by high prices, should be brought out by price recessions it would happen that the decline would be slow and business profits would continue on a high level, even though they were not so substantial as has been forecast in January when Europe was still buying here on a generous scale."

The Annalist concludes that even the consumer does not want too sharp a drop in prices; he "awaits with longing for prices which will fill his pocketbook, but he does not want a reaction in manufacturing and other forms of production which would bring a marked decline of his wages or salary." Commerce and Finance (New York) predicts that "our manufactories running at present speed, wartime speed, with the foreign market cut off will find their goods inclined to pile up, and then they will slow down their operations." And several of our dailies see cause for concern in this prospect, fearing that the lowering of prices will be accompanied by industrial depression which will, in the words of the Chattanooga News, "check greatly the commercial and industrial activity o fthe country."—Literary Digest.

A COOL REQUEST

White paper from Canada is at a premium on the American markets, whie paper containing signatures involving promises that come to maturity upon certain dates is at a discount upon the New York money market. There is at least an atom of comfort for Canadians in the knowledge that they possess unequalled resources for the manufacture of white paper and that their American neighbors have been so aroused by this fact that they purpose asking upon what terms we will dispose of a portion of our holdings. We think that under the circumstances the Canadian Government should take the position the Jews of old assumed when dealing with the Samaritans was suggested. Paper in a manufactured state is of more value than it is in the form of either pulp or wood. The conditions for manufacturing are just as favorable in Canada as they are in the United States and the benefits from manufacturing processes naturally accrue to the people of the countries in which manufacturing is carried on. We should be willing to supply Americans with all the paper in a finished state that they require consistent with meeting the demands of the home market. We do not think it can be quite true as suggested by the American public man who wants negotiations opened for a pulp supply that the very existence of United States newspapers is imperilled by the existing condition of the paper market. In any event, we are quite sure that if the conditions were reversed no American public man would consent to the adoption of a measure that would result in the transfer of a natural industry such as paper making from the United States to Canada.—Colonist.

THE RUSSIAN SITUATION

Little by little we are getting a clearer view of the Russian situation. One thing that stands out boldly is the fact that it is a far cry from that fantastic everybody-talk-at-once government under Kerensky, which followed on the heels of the Czar's downfall, to the present inflexible, iron discipline that is now being handed out by Trotsky and his immediate followers. The average Russian has apparently awakened from his dream of "government for and by the people" and resigned himself to being bossed by a small coterie of men—the Moscow Soviet—which body, by the way, is as far removed from democratic ideas of government as ever was Russia under Peter the Great.

In effect the Russian people have merely swapped one tyrant for another. All pretense of a popular form of government has within the past two years gone by the board. The mere fact that the local Soviets are no longer elected by the people (and not over one person in five ever did have a vote), but are appointed by the Moscow Soviet of People's Commissaries, is proof of this statement. There is also proof positive that the nationalization of industries is a dismal failure, and has brought ruination as well as starvation upon what should be a land of plenty. Under the Russian scheme of nationalization, it has been found that men will not work unless driven to it at the point of a gun, and this very thing Trotsky has done by conscripting labor, and ordering them to work twelve hours per day.

Another point made clear is that the necessities of the people, such as transportation, coal, food, etc., cannot be obtained under the present government. Politically, the whole machine of State is hard and fast aground and incapable of functioning.

The only organization in Russia which seems to have made headway is the army, which is of itself a sufficiently bad sign. If the Russians have still to be governed by brute force, they have merely changed one master for another, and gained nothing by the swap. The secret of the army's success, no doubt, lies in the fact taht these are the only people in Russia, outside of the Soviet official class, who have sufficient food and clothing. Other people may die of exposure and starvation, but the army will keep warm, well fed and efficient.

As this is being written, authentic reports are being received concerning the suffering of the Russian people in the centres of population, owing to lack of both fuel and food. A complete breakdown of transportation has taken place, and in consequence there is no coal to be had and little food. People are driven to tearing down buildings for fuel purposes, while thousands of families are reported to be in bitter winter weather without means of heating their miserable quarters.

Poor Russia! It was indeed an ill wind that blew the Trotsky-Lenine Government into power.— Toronto Saturday Night.

UNSKILLED WORKMAN

In the first place, he ought not to exist. Work that demands no skill should be done, not by men, but by machinery, says Harry W. Kimball, employment manager of the Arnold Print Works. If work can not be done by a machine it is really skilled labor and should be classed as such. All such work can be developed and trained. There is a right and a wrong way, even of shovelling coal. Yet in every industry, Mr. Kimball reminds us, there are still jobs classed as "unskilled." The problems of this unskilled labor, and the changed conditions under which it must be employed, and controlled are set forth in his article. The "unskilled" man in flannel shirt and overalls is now frequently paid more, Mr. Kimball says, than the clerk in "boiled shirt" and stiff white collar. The later may have to drop into the unskilled class to better himself. The really unskilled man is a drfter. We read thus of him in Mr. Kimball's article, which we quote and condense from "Industrial Management" (New York):

The real problem of the unskilled worker is how to keep a good one when you get him. Every employment manager recognizes that if you get a man with a family he is likely to stay. Such a man has given hostages to fortune. It is foolish to employ for an inside task the man who likes an outside job. There are many men who feel stifled under cover and are restless when working indoors. Another kind of unskilled worker is the man who wants an easy place. He is continually tired.

There are certain jobs where the main necessity is simply continual presence and a fair amount of attention to simple processes, and in such jobs these men often make good.

Men without families often have other ties to hold them. In one plant I know of there are many Italians who have on the whole proved good workers and dependable. They have brought their friends to the plant from many other places and thus have aided in maintaining the supply of unskilled labor. The companionship of fellow workers of their own nationality has proved one of the forces which has kept them from wandering. While an undue emphasis upon racial spirit is not wanted in these days when Americanization is the dominant note, yet a wise recognition of deep racial instincts and feelings, and a sympathy with these, may be effective in dealing with groups of workers in whose hearts the sense of nationality is still strong.

The way in which the unskilled worker is introduced to the plant is important. Far more than with the skilled employee, a congenial environment will be apt to make him contented. The lunch-room should not be overlooked. If these men can get something good to eat and something hot to drink it will be considered as an asset of the job.

The unskilled worker too often is treated as though he were not a human being. He is known by a number sworn at by irritated foremen, ordered about as though he were a dog, and fired as though the welfare of himself and family was not worthy of consideration. Recognition of his selfhood is what he wants.

Men are more insistent today that they be treated as men and not as mere cogs in the machinery. The unskilled workers today demand good working conditions. The very latest and the very best in plant equipment is required, else your unskilled workers will inevitably gravitate to plants where working conditions are better.

If the unskilled worker is to be kept on his job there must also be a recognition of the monotony of his task. He will do more and better work if he is allowed to relax now and then during his day of toil. Let him stop for a moment's chat with a fellow worker, for a visit to the lunch-room, for a refreshing drink, or, better still, have the drink brought to where he is, or even let him rest for a few moments of smoking where it is practical.

Many salaried men have felt jealous as they have seen the wages of the unskilled worker mount to an equality with their own and even beyond. For the first time ordinary disagreeable work is being paid for at a high rate. The pleasant jobs where white collars can be worn and where the surroundings are cleanly are no longer more highly paid than the dirty task. The fact that a certain amount of responsibility goes with these pleasant jobs is no longer considered a sufficient reason why more pay should be given than to the unskilled worker. There is a rude sort of justice in this swing of the pendulum.

In a way education should be its own reward. The appreciation of books music, and nature, and the ability because of education to find your friends on high levels is rich compensation for the opportunities of study. Hours are short, pay is good, responsibility is not required. The salaried class is at liberty at any time to seek this work. They would be welcomed, and for many of them it would be the way out to a more effective life than that in office or at a desk. The law of supply and demand has brought the unskilled worker into his own. He can now obtain a good price for his labor and will continue to do so fo a long time to come. Only a large influx of immigration would affect his present standing.

The emphasis just now is on efficiency, the training of the worker for his job, the stimulating of ambition in the hearts of both young and old, classes and instruction for those who would climb, rewards for those who push on and up. But it will not do to forget those who plod in the lower ranks, and who must stay there because they can do nothing else. The study of their welfare, the understanding of their minds, and accurate knowledge of their feelings are very important, and are deserving of much more attention than is usually given. Perhaps they should have our best thought because they need it most.—Literary Digest.

A DOCTRINE OF COMFORT

The absolute unreality of these things which we see, hear, feel and smell and the reality and truth and importance of those things which elude our senses, were propounded by Sir Oliver Lodge, eminent British scientist, to an audience that filled Carnegie Hall, New York, to the last inch of standing room recently.

Sir Oliver reiterated his belief that the living are separated from those who have gone to the other side only by a veil of the senses, which are unreal, that there is no gulf but only, perhaps, a chasm, which is bridged by love. He said that those who remain on earth should not be sorry for those who have left, because of the joy and happiness existing in the beyond and because those beyond look back and watch over those remaining here.

Speaking with a steady, clear voice, that filled the great auditorium, the tall, white-haired, white-bearded scientist declared, amid a rousing round of applause, that "a man who speaks from a negative standpoint, denying that certain things are true, probably will not be worth hearing, but a man who speaks in the positive probably is worth hearing."

"Now in these topics I do not wish to dogmatize," he said, 'I am here to tell you what has been the result of my life-long study of those things and no one will suppose for a moment that I have any infallibility. Every statement of this kind must be judged on its merits."

"The soul constructed the body, dominates it and will survive it," declared Sir Oliver. "The body wears out, but why should the soul? All real things perish. Life incarnates itself in one form and then in another. We developed our own personality. If we have individuality, or character, then we may simply go on in the general body and live like vegetable matter.

"I believe that we had pre-existence in some other form of life. I do not think we jumped into life afresh fifty or sixty years ago. There was some germ of us before, but it was not this individual that we are today. Our present individuality began with birth. We have acquired possession of our own soul, individuality and personality.

"My message to you is that those who have gone through the veil are all one family. The partition is not a real partition. It is a veil of sense. There is no gulf around us. The other life is all around us. The brain is the screening organ. During our short period on earth we have practical work to do. If our minds were centred on the glories beyond we could hardly attend to our work here.

"We are guided and helped through the unseen, and many a prophet and saint has been aware of this. The highest communicate with us through messages and signs. It is a fact that the saints and prophets of history have not been fooled. We trace the grades of existence beneath us, but not above us. But it is a spiritual universe and its existence is the foundation of all existence. We ought not to allow ourselves to be limited to what allows us to do our daily work.

"The science of the future will be a message to humanity whereby the results which have been obtained by the few will mean access to the many. The peak from which these things are visible has been reached by people who do not climb, but who ascend by —baloon or inspiration— whatever you like to call it. We workers in science must construct a road, up which others may grope."

Sir Oliver declared that space was empty only of obstructive matter. Science has shown that space will convey light, and that in space there is ether of a substantial reality, containing an immense amount of energy. It is far more interesting, indeed, than matter, he said. "It also is a most important thing," he added, "by far the most important thing in the universe. Of it matter is made, Matter is a modification of ether. Matter in unsubstantial."

He rapped the small wooden table, standing before him, and said:

"This appears to be solid." Then he waved his long arm in the air above his head, "and this appears to be empty. It is exactly the opposite. You may not believe it. But it is true."

"Inasmuch as ether has no direct appeal to the senses, it gives doubters a good excuse. Einstein does not deny that in space there is an important and interesting ether. He simply ignores it, because he declares it is too difficult to experiment upon."

He said many other things elude the sense, such as electricitv.

"Elecetricity eludes your senses," he said, "but when it passes through a small wire it produces light. Its current runs through a dynamo and it produces motion. The moment you connect it with matter you can tell it.

"Isn't it quite natural that we should think sometimes that we are hard treated because our senses tell us so little?"

Animals compared to human beings, he showed, received little information from their senses because they had no sense of philosophy. Therefore, he said, the horse or the dog had no particular liking for music or pictures or poetry.

FINDING OF JURY UPHELD BY COURT OF APPEAL

Winnipeg, March 1.—The written judgments of the court of appeal in the case of R. B. Russell, strike leader, now serving a two year term of imprisonment, have now been filed. Chief Justice Perdue says:

"The accused has been found guilty upon all the counts set forth in the indictment. There was amply sufficient evidence to justify the jury in making their findings. In fact, they could not have honestly arrived at any other conclusion. So far from being a legitimate strike, the combination was in fact, as the jury has found, a seditious conspiracy. To aid a brother trade union in its strike for higher wages or to obtain higher wages for all was not the real object of the combination. What tok place before the strike shows that the accused and his associate "Reds" aimed at something much more drastic. Their ultimate purpose, as declared in their public speeches, was revolution, the overthrow of the existing form of government in Canada and the introduction of a form of Socialistic or Soviet rule in its place. This was to be accomplished by general strikes, force and terror and if necessary by bloodshed."

Mr. Justice Cameron's opinion said: "The general strike of last summer was in fact an insurrectionary attempt to subvert the authority of our governments, municipal, provincial and Dominion, and substitute for them an irresponsible 'strike committee,' an attempt attended for a time with a measure of success which looked at in retrospect, seems incredible."

"I can not see how it is possible to speak of such a revolutionary uprising as a mere 'sympathetic' or 'general strike.' In view of the grim facts, to argue that this outbreak was brought about for the purpose of a trade combination, is to my mind, simply out of the question. The contention put forward on the argument that the consolidation into one organization of all or nearly all, the trade organizations in the city, which developed or merged during the strike into One Big Union, was merely a 'trade combination,' and therefore, protected by law, is in view of the facts, wholly untenable." Mr. Justice Dennistoun stated his agreement with the finding of his colleagues.

MIXES JUDGMENT WITH COMMON SENSE

"It can't be done," asseverated the wiseacres and old-time politicians when it was proposed to make a woman the magistrate of the Woman's Court of New York City. It made no difference that only women were to be tried in this court. A lot of people thought that no woman could deal out even-handed justice in any court, no matter what sex the culprits appearing therein might be. "A woman," quoth they, "would either be wishy-washy or merciless." Nevertheless a woman was finally appointed to preside over this court. She was Mrs. Jean Norrs, a lawyer, and the founder of the National Federation of Professional and Business Women. Mrs. Norris has held the job for several months now, and it seems that so far no charges of wishy-washyness, mercilessness, sentimentality, or other judicial shortcomings have been lodged against her. It is apparent that she is making good, as evidenced by the fact that, while her first appointment was temporary, she has recently been appointed to fill a vacancy caused by the election of a man judge to another office, this unexpired term ending in April 1927. The court over which Mrs. Norris presides is in a section of lawer New York not particularly distinguished for its beauty. The building itself is described as "a gloomy pile at best," in close proximity to roaring elevated trains. About its walls surges the congested life of the city, "in all the sordid vehemence which congestion linked with poverty can bring." Within the court-room there passes before this woman judge a constant stream of wretched human beings reflecting the seamiest side of the life without. Some of them are classified as wreckage beyond the hope of redemption. But others are worth salvaging, and we are told that this is the part of her work which enables Mrs. Norris to endure the depression and strain of her job without losing faith in her sex. It seems also that the judge is so fortunate as to possess a sense of humor which is of much assistance to her. "The constructive work is what keeps you hopeful," she says, "and the funny things are what preserve your sanity."—Literary Digest.

THE "RED" IN HIS TRUE LIGHT

The United States Government is to be commended for the upstanding fight now being made against the "Red" element in that country. It is evidently the purpose of that Government to clean these people up, no matter where located, and it would not be surprising if several transports in place of one, were eventually utilized in shipping undesirables to other lands.

U. S. Attorney-General Palmer suggested the other day that the American people should devote some considerable time in the new year to the special study of the "Red" movement, as such would be helpful to the cause of good government and the preservation of peace and happiness. The suggestion is an excellent one, in view of the misinformation which is being spread broadcast by parlor Bolshevists, out-and-out Reds, mistaken idealists, social bigots and others suffering from varying forms of hyperesthesia. As the Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer has said, this radicalism which is among us is not the radicalism of progress. On the contrary it repre sents quite a different doctrine. It is not a movement of liberty-loving persons, but is a distinctly criminal and dishonest movement. It advocates the destruction of all ownership of property, as well as the destruction of all religion and belief in the Almighty.

Through the various government loans the people of Canada, to the number of upward of a million, have bought victory bonds. This means that about one in every eight people in the country is an owner of these bonds. The "Reds," if given their way, will do one of two things, repudiate these bonds or else take them from the individual. In our banks, million people in Canada are living on the land, for the most part their own land, bought and paid for through their own endeavour. The purpose of the "Reds" is to take this land away from hte individual. In our banks, many millions of dollars, the property of over a million of people, are on deposit. These funds, in the eyes of the Bolshevists are illgotten gains, to be plundered at will. Under the Soviet no man would be master of his own home. On the contrary he would at best be asked to share it with the first "Red" who happened along, and at the worst he would be dispossessed entirely.

These are not theories, but facts, and anybody who takes the trouble to investigate the Trotsky-Lenine regime as they have it in Russia should be able to verify them.—Toronto Saturday Night.

CITY FATHERS HOLD SESSION

The city council met in regular session Thursday evening, with Ald. Rutledge the only absentee.

The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted as read.

A communication was received from the city of Kamloops requesting endorsation by the council of a resolution with regard to a highway to connect the interior and coast district. Similar resolutions had formerly been endorsed by the council and it was decided nothing further need be done with this resolution.

The Provincial Secretary wrote with reference to the isolation hospital and same was filed.

Permission was given to M. Turnbull to use Lot 6, Block 53 for garden purposes.

For no grant—98.
For $600 grant—25.
For $1500 grant—47.

The R.O. added to his report that as this undoubtedly definitely rejected this question no further comment was necessary.

A tender of $20 for the building at 347 Victoria avenue was rejected.

Lot 1, Block 30, was sold to Mrs. A. Rizzuto.

Applications for the position of fire chief were received from H. A. Wilkes and Jas. McNicholas. The report of the fire, water and light committee was then submitted as it contained matter relating to these applications. In this report recommendations for salary increases were as follows: Engineers Brown and Bateman to be paid at the rate of $160 per month. Fireman Mulligan $4.50 per 8 hour day. Time and a half for all over time sanctioned by the committee. The salaries of Engineer D. Smith and Electrician W. Quail were stated to remain as at present.

With regard to the appointenmt of a fire chief, the committee recommended Jas. McNicholas for same. Mr. Wilkes requested a salary of $150 per month with uniform. Mr. McNicholas proffered his services for $125 per month with all privileges available to the former chief. A postscript, however, qualified the "privileges" as "not to extend to chickens, ducks and pigs."

On motion of Ald. McEwan and Ald. Tully the report of the fire, water and light committee was adopted in its entirety unanimously, and on motion by Robichaud and Harrison the wage increase to power house employees was authorized.

Jas. McNicholas was appointed fire chief at $125 per month from April 1st, on motion by Tully and Harrison.

A number of accounts were approved for payment.

Moved by Aldermen Bean and Robichaud, that notification be given the Fernie Cartage Co. that the contract for ambulance services would be terminated as at March 31st. It is proposed to handle the ambulance from the fire hall in the future.

Bylaw No. 200, being rates Bylaw for 1920, was finally passed and adopted. The same action was adopted with regard to Bylaw No. 201, being Dog Licenses Amendment Bylaw.

A communication with regard to supplying the city with hydro-electric power from the British Columbia and Alberta Power Co., was received and the same was laid over for further consideration.

Electric light, power and water consumers in arrears amounting to a substantial amount will hear from the light committee and the arrears will have to be reduced or the juice will be cut off; likewise the aqua pura."

A brief discussion with regard to civic servants and the matter of wages took place, during which His Worship announced that as far as he was concerned there would be no dead ones working for the city.

With regard to the consolidation of Bylaws Nos. 162-191, dealing with revision of water rates, they were discussed piecemeal and proposed alterations noted for embodiment in new schedules.

CONSULAR INVOICE FEES

The American Consul at Fernie announces that beginning April 1, the following fees (in Canadian currency' will be charged for the certification of consular invoices:

Ordinary Invoices, $3.00.

MILITARY FUNERAL

The remains of Wm. Ashley, who was instantly killed in an accident at the Fernie Dairy, on Tuesday of last week, and Dominic Guzzi, who died in New York, while on hs way home from the Italan army, were interred with military honors in Fernie on Sunday last, it being one of the largest funerals ever held here.

Dominic Guzzi was born in Canada and was engaged in the draying business with his brother Paul, when the Italian government appealed for men to fight the Hun. Although Dominic was under twenty years of age he left for Italy as soon as he could put his business affairs in order. He saw considerable service in the trenches and when the war was over married an Italian maiden and remained for about a year in Italy. With his wife and her mother he reached New York and was landed at Ellis Island. Here a baby was born and here Dominic died.

His brother Paul was notified and went to New York but, unacquainted with the big city, returned without locating the survivors of the party. After he had returned to Fernie he communicated through N. F. Brand, American consul in Fernie, with the Italian consul in New York, and Dominic's wife and her mother started westward with the body.

The bodies of both Ashley and Guzzi were borne on gun carriages to the cemetery and burid with full military honors. A large number of local veterans together with representatives of several fraternal orders and a large concourse of friends accompanied the remains of the deceased men to their resting place on the hill.

CHRIST CHURCH

The annual congregational meeting for the election of officers and the presenting of the financial report will be held on Sunday evening at the close of the evening service. Those who are interested in the welfare of the church should make a point of being present.

Joseph Haig met with a bad accident in No. 1 North on Wednesday, when his leg was so badly crushed that it may have to be amputated. The lad, who was working with a trip of cars, was alone at the time, and it is not known how the accident occurred, but when found he was underneath the trip and one leg horribly mangled. He is in the Fernie hospital.

MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE

A general meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the council chamber on Wednesday evening, when fully fifty members were present, which is a very encouraging sign that there is a keen interest being taken with regard to the proposed activities of the Board for the ensuing year. In connection with the Salvation Army Red Shield Campaign held here last fall, Mayor Henderson reported to the Board that over $1200 had been realized for this fund when only $1000 had been asked for. It was decided for the coming year that the regular meetings of the Board will be held the first Thurusday in each month.

Arising out of the minutes of the previous meeting the matter of securing sufficient telephone subscribers in order to bring into effect the agreement between the Telephone Co. and the city, opened a wide discussion. The committee in whose hands this matter had been left for investigation did not present their detailed report but assurance was forthcoming that satisfactory progress is being made.

Dr. Gee was duly elected a member of the Board.

President Corrie then addressed the gathering, announcing that the meeting was the annual general one and therefore nominations for officers were in order. He reviewed the work of the Board last year and particularly commended the activities of the Publicity Committee and other officers who had gratuitously rendered service. There was some difficulty in securing nominees for the respective offices but after much discussion and persuasion the following were duly elected:

President—Thos. Prentice.
Vice-President—E. K. Stewart.
Secretary—Fred G. Perry.
Asst. Sec. and Treasurer — F. A. Parker.

An election of nine members to the Executive Council resulted as follows: R. M. Young, G. G. Henderson, J. F. Spalding, J. L. Gates, A. Corrie, H. J. Johnson, D. G. Harvie, A B. Trites and Dr. Gee.

The matter of additional passenger train service on the Crow was revived and a concerted effort will be made to have this established during the summer.

Sherwood Herchmer spoke at some length with regard to the matter of supporting the program of publicity whereby it was expected the city and district would reap much benefit from tourist traffic. He rebuked to some extent the lack of response given this matter by some of the citizens when it came to be measured in dollars and cents. His remarks were very warmly received by those present.

J. L. Gates replied and explained certain features as they appeared to him personally. He, however, said he felt that wonderful work had been already accomplished by the officers and committees during the year just closed and did not blame any who had worked hard and conscientiously for the advancement of the community in being somewhat discouraged when others who had done little or nothing but which these very efforts benefitted most, showed reluctance in rendering financial aid. He closed his remarks by tendering a vote of thanks, seconded by Mr. Pollock, to all those gentlemen who had rendered such valuable services during the year just closed.

A resolution requesting support of Daylight Saving legislation was filed.

The matter of establishing a Land Registry Office for East Kootenay was considered but this was temporarily laid over for further consideration.

Under the heading of general business J. F. Spalding addressed the meeting with reference to the matter of publicity and tourist possibilites in and around Fernie and gave instances of towns which had not nearly the attractions we have, existing entirely off tourist travel. He was interrupted by questions very often but had convincing replies to them all. The interruptions got so frequent that his talk finally ended in a general discussion terminating in the resolution to ask Cranbrook and other towns in this section of British Columbia to co-operate with this Board of Trade and endeavor to raise the necessary funds for the appointment of a permanent man to take charge of the work and institute a vigorous campaign.

Amongst other things which he emphasized was the fact that every business is benefitted by this travel, whether it comes directly or indirectly. That the tourist is often on the lookout for investment whilst on his way, and many an industry has been located in towns which never would have succeeded in getting them by any other means. He emphasized the fact that the booklet which is being issued is descriptive of the whole district and will be the means of bringing tourists to the country, but as no one place was favored more than another, the choice of where he shall make a stay is left with the tourist. It is now up to Fernie to specialize on the inducements here to entice them to stay off for a few days or weeks. He was sure that this could be done if properly attended to, and it would develop into a very big thing. He told of the amount of his time which this work has taken up and stated that it has reached beyond expectations now, and needed someone to give his entire time to it.

The lengthy discussion arising out of the foregoing was terminated by the following motion being passed: Moved by Young and Parker, That the work done by the Publicity Committee last year and carried on with such vigor should be continued and that the Secretary take up with the various points in the district with a view to obtaining a permanent secretary of publicity and also to ascertain whether the district points would co-operate in providing the necessary amount to pay one to do the necessary work.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT

A shocking accident took place in West Fernie last week, when little Annie Woodhouse, the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woodhouse, fell into a boiler of scalding water, receiving injuries from which she died about ten hours later. The little girl suffered fearful agony until death finally came to her relief.

The funeral took place on Saturday to the Fernie cemetery.

The family have the heartfelt sympathy of all in their terrible affliction.

DOUBLE DROWNING AT TRAIL

E. W. Hazelwood, druggist, of Trail, who for a number of years was associated with N. E. Suddaby in the drug business here, had the misfortune to lose hs fourteen year old son by drowning on Sunday last. A Trail dispatch says:

A double drowning occurred this afternoon at 4.45 o'clock at Trail, when two boys, Brandon Hawlewood and Harold Begein went through the ice while playing hockey on the ice across the Columbia river from Trail.

The boys, along with four others, were playing near the shore when the puck was drven away out near the edge of the ice towards the middle of the river. Brandon Hazlewood skated out to get the puck but just before reaching it the ice gave way beneath him and he fell through into the water. Three other boys, A. Stiff, V. Matthews and Harold Begein had also gone out near the edge of the ice and were holding hands at the time that young Hazelwood went through and their combined weight n one spot proved too much for the thin ice which gave way and precipitated all three into the water.

Frantic efforts were made to rescue the boys all of whom were good swimmers, by L. Stiff and F. Matthews, brothers to two of the boys in the water.

Swimming as best they could with their clothes on and seeking for a firm hold on the strong ice. A. Stiff and V. Matthews managed to haul themselves out on to the ice and finally to the shore. The other two boys, however, could not get to sufficiently strong ice, and within two or three minutes disappeared from view.

Other people coming to the scene, the two drowned boys were finally got out of the water by means of long poles, after they had been immersed for about half an hour, but despite the strenuous efforts of Drs. Nay and Thom at resusctation, which was continued for over an hour, neither of the boys could be brought round again.

Brandon Hazlewood was 14 years old, and the only child of G. W. Hazlewood, druggist, of Trail, and Harold Begein was the only son of George Begein, a carpenter employed at the Trail smelter.

ELKO NOTES

(By Fred Roo)
(By Fred Roo)

The high cost of living is still soaring and very much advertised every newspaper you pick up has something to say about it. Even Edison, the great inventor, warns people against overeating, and Jim Thistlebeak says the price considered it is superfluous warning.

Mary Pickford, America's sweetheart, got her divorce from Owen Moore (no relation to Norman Moore of the Forest Branch) but Mary does not need the advertising. Still it's the dope to keep you on the band wagon at the head of the parade. There are no flies on Mary this time of the year.

The Canadian Pipe Co., who own the Elko Water, Light and Power Co., are putting in a new supply pipe across the Elk river and making other improvements at the lake. When completed Elko will have the best water system in the Crow's Nest Pass.

English papers say that the Hon. Lady Astor is about to tackle the liquor question. Take a jolly good fling at the bally bottle as it were, says Jim Thistlebeak.

Before leaving Portland, Oregon, C. A. Klingensmith shipped a bale of Oregon blue grass for exhibit at the Mining Exchange in Elko. Mr. and Mrs. Klingensmith left Portland for Vancouver, B.C., and are guests at the Hotel Regent, Hastings street, where Tom Whelan lives.

K. Sanders shipped 16 head of horses to Travis, Alberta, where Mr. Travis owns several sections of wheat land.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are guests at the Columbia hotel from Burmis, Alberta, looking up a location.

Mr. Lakie of the Dominion Rubber Co., Lethbridge, was in Elko last week, looking up a suitable site for spesding the summer.

If the coast papers are any criterion to go by, Jim Thistlebeak says that Honest John Oliver never harvested such a crop from his farm on the mainland that he is harvesting from his lots at Victoria.

J. Findly, of Shawnegan Lake, was in Elko last week and entertained some of Fernie's business men to a very interesting lecture on the social unrest at Victoria and throughout the province, at the Columbia hotel.

Mrs. Jack Graham and daughter, Miss Peggy, returned from London, England, where they had been spending the winter. While in London she saw the United States Rainbow Battalion.

Dr. Bob Findley, of Cranbrook, B. C., passed through Elko for the Roosville Valley, where he will operate on the old Frank Downs' mill and busted boilers, and put the whole machinery into the 30 thousand a day class. The mill was bought by R. J. Nolan, late of the Rainbow Creek Lumber Co., Roosville, who will manufacture high class lumber for the New York market.

The many friends of Dick Roo, chief clerk for the Roosville Cash Stores at Elko, who has been down with pneumonia for the last three weeks. will be pleased to know that he is now past the crisis and on the convalescent grade, after a hard fight. Dick is one of the best known and popupar young men in this district. Besides being able to tie up cranberries in paper sacks and count cocoanuts behind the counter, he can bust a bucking broncho, cue out a steer from the herd without stampeding the rest, lasso moving objects and give other exhibitions of science.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ross are back at home from the Fernie hospital and speak very highly of the treatment they received from the staff while confined there.

Geo. B. Thomson, of Fernie, who runs the last post planting emporium, was in Elko last week and met a man from the coast

CANADA'S ARMY

The population of Canada is, for purposes of comparison, about the same as that of the State of New York. Yet Canada, by the adoption of a sane and intelligent military policy, is organizing a military force which should guarantee her from outside attack. The lesson which Canada is giving the slow-moving congress and government of the United States is one which it well behooves the American people to take to heart. Canada does not place her reliance on a regular army. Proportionately to our population, we require no doubt a greater force than our northernly neighbor considers necessary. But ultimately, the main reliance of both the United States and Canada must rest in a citizenry trained in arms. Canada is well on the way towards recognizing in a concrete way that truth. How long will it be before the United States also subscribes to the principle that will make her impregnable from external aggression. —Boston Transcript.

Mr. J. Weart, M.P.P., asks that a tax of $100 be placed upon motor trucks for the purpose of raising money to build good roads. Has the hon. member ever asked himself what the effect of placing this tax, or of any other tax for that matter, would be? He and many of his kind seem to proceed on the general principle of the Irshman at Donnybrooke Fair; wherever you see a head hit it. The average legislator or councillor of the present day says: Wherever you see anything taxable, tax it. The process seems simple, and the effect of it is equally simple. The public pay the tax in the end. An impost upon motor trucks or any conveyance used as a business vehicle means an increase to the public in the prices of the articles the vehicle transports from one place to another. Good roads are very much to be desired. They are the arteries of trade and commerce. Without them the province cannot be opened up to settlers and the business which develop. But the taxation of necessary things in order to build roads seems an inequitable way of meeting the requirements of the situation.—Colonist.

The bow of promise has not been permanently withdrawn form the heavens. An Eastern contemporary makes the rather startling statement at least to us of the West, that for the fourth time in as many weeks the mercantile agency reports show more declines than increases in wholesale commodity prices. This hopeful conditon is ascrbed to the effect of change on American exports. Cargo ships are said to be leaving American ports with their holds half empty. In the meantime goods are piling up both in Europe and America. There are said to be in European warehouses more than two billion dollars worth of various kinds of products accumulated that cannot find markets. The consequence is that prices as a whole are now on the downward path. We live in hopes of meeting them on that path before the lapse of many days.—Colonist.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

Bolshevism is breaking down in Russia. The intolerance of the Bolshevik leaders is showing the masses that there are things quite as bad as Czarism. If the action of the Allies in deciding to withdraw from Russia has had the result of giving the people an opportunity of seeing Bolshevism in its true light, then the action of the Allies was right. The next year will see a great change in Russia.

DOINGS IN THE B. C. HOUSE

Victoria—The fifth week of a session which, the longer it lasts, the more apparent it becomes that the government was almost wholly unprepared with its legislative programme and which, almost daily, has given evidence of a lack of direction, has nevertheless not been lacking in point of interest. Oppositions, especially one as numerically handicapped as is that in the present legislature with what Mr. Bowser is wont to call a "brute majority" arraigned against them it must expect to have a difficult task in exercising its functions cast upon it under the present political system. The fact is that to date honors have gone to the minority—the week has seen the government on the defensive. True, the Premier continues to display his wonted militant frame of mind and, with a political chip upon his shoulder, to assert his readiness to meet all-comers, but the clear evidence of the growing independent spirit in his own political following is indication that party methods designed to keep the rank and flie in line are lacking in that essential quality known as punch.

It cannot be said that Premier Oliver is finding much assistance from his confreres of the cabinet, with the possible exception of Attorney General Farris, whose chief effort durng the week has been to rally to the defence of hs chairman of the Game Conservation Board, who and whose administration of that office has come under hot fire from the opposition.

To the onlooker following the daily proceedings of the House, the impression is irrestibly conveyed that there is an almost entire lack of team-work in the government ranks. If ever there was a session characterized by an evident spirit of "get by" it is the present one. Five weeks consumed and not a week's real work done is not a showing for which the present administration can hope to claim much kudos. Legislation is coming down in driblets and, at times, the close of the day's work has seen the order paper almost cleaned up. True, there have been a number of items dealt with which, to the uninitiated, might appear of first importance, but most of them are introduced with the idea of creating the impression that British Columbia is being imposed upon by the Federal government, and all form part of that propaganda arising out of which will be heard at the next general elections the cry of provincial rights. The motion by the Minister of Lands calling upon the House to urge upon Ottawa the necessity of handing over to the Province the lands within the railway belt and the Peace River Block that of the Minister of Mines calling for the maintenance of the work of the Dominion Geological Survey, a work which necessarily suffered during the war; and motions by various government supporters, clearly inspired, calling for returns bearing upon matters having a federal aspect, such as fisheries, dual titles in the E. & N. railway belt, Settlers' Rights and others, are all "old stuff" but being dished up agan, a species of political camouflage designed to impress the public with the idea that the administration is actually doing something worth while.

The House early in the week was treated to another exhbition of internecine strife within the government ranks, when the irrepressible George S. Hanes, Liberal member for North Vancouver, returned to the charge he levelled three weeks ago against the Premier, one accusing the latter with having, through his interference with government inspectors sent out to check up assets taken over from the former P.G.E. interests under the settlement reached in 1918, permitted valuable assets to be retained by those interests.

Hanes was evidently not at all satisfied with the general denial made by the Premier in the course of the latter's speech in the debate on the Address in Reply. His motion calling for the appointment of a Royal Commission was, however, ruled out of order as was predicted it would be. But it was productive of lengthy debate and some new and interesting sidelights upon inside political happenings and motives. For instance, Hanes took occasion to correct a former statement of his relative to the motive which, he asserted, moved the Attorney General during the 1917 House investigation into P.G.E. affairs to resist his (Hanes) demand that W. J. Bowser, K.C., Opposition leader, should be called before the investigating committee to testify to what he knew concerning contributions of P.G.E. funds to party campaign funds .Hanes said that his previous declaration that the Attorney General had then told him to go easy because "Bowser knows too much" was true in substance but that that was not exactly how the A. G. expressed himself. "For God's sake don't call Bowser, he's got the goods on us," is how the Attorney General then chairman of the investigating committee, expressed himself, Hanes declared.

This second spasm by the member for North Vancouver evidently forced the Attorney General to conclude it was about time he spoke for himself. He gave Hanes the lie direct, declaring the latter's statement to be a deliberate falsehood.

Bpt the dispute, as aired in the House this week, was not without its amusing features. It appears that Hanes had taken his motion to Mr. Speaker for revision in the hope that when it finally appeared before the House it would be iron-clad so far as compliance with the rules was concerned. Hanes says Mr. Speaker revised it for him. Certain it is Mr. Speaker threw it out on a point of order raised by the Premier. The resolution called for the appointment of a Royal Commission by the House. Mr. Speaker held that under the Public Inquiries Act the House has no authority to appoint a Royal Commission, a step which can only be taken by the Lieut.-Gov. in Council. Further, he ruled, as the motion called for the terms thereof being incorporated in any instructions that might be given to such Commission, it was quite out of order as it presumed to dictate the frame and scope of the Commission being asked for.

Attorney General Farris showed considerable heat on Wednesday when he rallied to the defense of Dr. Baker, chairman of the Game Conservation Board. He was clearly peeved because the opposition demand a return showing just what amount has been paid out of the public purse on account of disbursements on behalf of that official, who is supposed to be executing his duties gratuitously, only his actual travelling and other expenses being given him. The opposition has been directing considerable criticism towards Dr. Baker and to the administration of the Game department, their onslaughts being pointed to say the least, criticism which has found approval from the government side. The Attorney General asserted the Game administration, one for which he is responsible, as that department comes under his jurisdiction, has never been more perfect, the change from the old system of game wardens to that of placing the enforcement of the regulations under the provincial police, having resulted, he claimed, in more efficiency at a reduction in cost. He pictured the chairman of the board as a man whose interest in the conservation of the game was dictated by a sole desire to be of public service. Opposition critics have been unkind enough to suggest that a free motor car, trips and exceptional opportunities afforded by the position to indulge in his hobby of hunting, were more potent influences inducing the doctor to accept the office without remuneration. The Attorney General's defense of Dr. Baker was inspired to a great extent by the fact that the bill to amend the Game Act brought forth marked signs of disapproval from members on the government side, especially was objection taken to the general administration and the lack of proper enforcement of the law. They claimed that only by such a system as the old game wardens could the best results be obtained, a system by which men possessed of knowledge of game conditions and sympathetic with game conservation and protection, were charged with the enforcement of the regulations.

Confirmation of the well grounded belief that there had been decided friction between the Land Settlement Board and the Lands Department in respect of the jurisdiction in the matter of land settlement and development was forthcoming in the course of the House debate upon the Soldiers' Land Act, one designed to increase the $500,000 provided last year to acquire and develop lands for soldier settlement, to one million. This Act is being administered by the Land Department the while soldier settlements at Courtenay and elsewhere are being carried on under the direction of the Land Settlement Board. Under the fire of opposition critics it was clearly disclosed that there is no definite policy of cooperation between the two departments. Hon. Mr. Patullo stated that the arrangement so far has been that when the Land Settlement Board proposed to acquire lands in the dry belt, for instance, the Lands Department, through its water rights branch, made inspection as to the problems of irrigation, it being proper, he thought, that the department, possessing the water experts, should do that work. The opposition promptly queried why, if such were the case, had not this expert investigation been made before the Creston soldier area was secured, one where, it afterwards developed, water rights were already held in other hands and to secure another source of supply would involve heavy additional outlays.

Twenty-three millions in a trifle over three years is a borrowing record before which all previous borrowings by all previous administrations in the province combined pale into insignificance. Yet the present Liberal administration by the time the two bills brought down in the Legislature on Friday are approved, bills which at one fell swoop provide for further provincial loans to secure a net $8,000,000 on P.G.E. railway account, will have accomplished that financial feat. T obe exact the aggregate borrowings by the government will total $22,570,000, but in days of stretching the credit of the province by wholesale a few odd hundred thousands do not really cut much figure. This toal exceeds by just about an even four million the provincial net bonded indebtedness when the government took office, it then standing at slightly over $18,000,000. And the end is not yet. There must be further provision made for such government enterprises as land settlement, etc., which may not be provided for by loans floated immediately but will be carried on by treasury notes for short terms cashed with the bank. Inevitable, however, the bank loans must be taken up and further bond issues floated.

GRIP, INFLUENZA

Hamlin's Wizard Oil a Reliable, Antiseptic Preventive

During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and snuff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall of defense against "Flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza.

Get it from druggists for 30c. If not satisfied, return the bottle and get your money back.

OUR SCENIC FUTURE

At the Annual Meeting of the Board of Trade on Tuesday night, special interest centered in the work accomplished by the Publicity Committee during the year in arousing interest in our tourist attractions. No one has ever questioned the fact that Nature has given this district attractions in abundance, but little has been done up to the last year to advertise the fact. We have been mildly gratified when the occasional tourist passing through commented favorably on our mountains ,our rivers and our good roads, but that it might mean anything to us beyond mere satisfaction occurred to but few. During the past year, however, a great deal of pioneer work has been done by Fred Spalding, including the contribution of long descriptive articles to motor magazines and publications interested in tourist travel, and Mr. Al. Meigs, representative of the contemplated Winnipeg-Lake Louise automobile tour, is credited with the statement that at least one of the direct results of that work is that a portion of the tour will include this district this summer. Other results are indicated in the letter from Mr. Spalding published in this issue.

There is no question that the work is meritorius, beneficial and deserving support. So far it has been confined to such scope as the means at hand would permit, but these have not been adequate, and a vigorous campaign this summer is only possible with the active co-operation of every business man and citizen interested in seeing this city and district secure the benefits and advantages of a tourist trade to which it is naturally suited. It is a common human weakness to wish for something we haven't got, but here is something made to our hand, and it is our own fault if we do not appreciate and use it. Cranbrook and Golden are already active in individual work and in co-operation with the Fernie Committee, and Fernie never yet fell behind in anything it took hold of.

"FRED SPALDING WRITES"

Editor Free Press:

Dear Sir—Already through our efforts we have received the assurance that the Winnipeg-Lake Louise tour will be brought through here. I am also trying to bring a tour from Portland, Seattle, Walla Walla and Spokane. The places mentioned are very keen about it and Seattle and Walla Walla each wrote to me for an article describing this section of the province for publication in their motoring magazines and newspapers. I have sent a 400 word one to Seattle and a 6000 word one to Walla Walla. To date I have had no reply from Seattle but tonight received the following letter from Walla Walla:

Dear Sir—Your letter of the 6th to hand together with the story, for which please accept our thanks. We will certainly run the whole story if it takes the entire magazine to hold it. You make no mention of photographs or cuts, so I do not know if you intend sending any or not. A story as good as this should have some illustrations, and I would ask you to either send me three or four cuts or photographs. I would like to use one on the front outside cover. This space will admit of a cut 4x5 inches.

I am leaving this afternoon for Pendleton for several days and will take the matter up with them.

Trusting that we shall have the pleasure of seeing you and some of your friends down this way also during the season. We are,

Very truly yours,
Tri-State Auto Club,
per W. S. Parks, Sec.

Articles written up as stories and and not as publicity propaganda will bring better results because they will be read by motorists as being impressions of a brother motorist, and we can get magazines to publish them at no cost to us, whereas propaganda emanating from the Board of Trade such an article would be charged for at advertising rates and cost up in the hundreds of dollars. Yours truly,

Fred Spalding.

OBITUARY

(Cranbrook Courier)

Death never happens but once, yet we feel it every moment of our lives. How strikingly this was brought home to the citizens of Cranbrook when word passed around that W. J. Atchison, proprietor of the Cranbrook Drug & Book company, had breathed his last Wednesday morning. His demise came after a week's illness, pneumonia getting in its deadly work. Everything that medical science could do was employed to save his life. Patient care and tender nursing were of no vail, the vital spark being extinguished at 3.20. During the past five years the deceased has not enjoyed good health, being subject to severe colds and general failing health since an attack of pneumonia some years ago.

William John Atchison was born at Colborne, Ontario. He came west when a comparative youth, settling first in Winnipeg, where he entered into the drug business. After a short residence in that city of two years he ventured farther west, locating in the town of Moyie at which place he conducted a drug and book store for a number of years previous to his coming to Cranbrook. He was a citizen of Cranbrook for the past eighteen years, being for several years junior partner in the firm of Beattie & Atchison. Failing health compelled him to seek outdoor work. He embarked in the poultry and live stock business, taking up a ranch in what is known today as the Kootenay Orchard section. After the fire, which partially destroyed the old building and premises of the Cranbrook Drug & Book company three years ago, Mr. Atchison purchased the business and up to the time of his death conducted the undertaking.

Thirteen years ago he married Miss Chrissie McKay, of Lethbridge, four children being born to the union. They are: Ethel, aged 11; Jack, aged 9; George, aged 8, and Charles, aged 6. His mother resides at Orange, California, and a brother, James, in this city. Mrs. George Robson, of Cranbrook, is an aunt. He was a graduate of the Ontario College of Pharmacy and one of the best pharmasists in the west.

FINANCIAL REPORT I.O.D.E.

March 4, 1920.

To the Regent of the Fernie Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, Fernie, B.C.

Dear Madam—In accordance with your request I have audited the books of your society and beg to report that they are most excellently kept.

The statement attached is so drawn as to exhibit a true and correct view of the finances of your society during the twelve months ended January 31, 1920, as shown by the books laid before me for audit.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Your very truly,
Arthur J. Moffatt, Auditor.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The mines were idle Saturday, Tuesday and Thursday.

The "Bachelors" dance held up here last week was sure "it." The boys issued 200 invitations. A surprise was sprung on the bachelor girls. A committee consisting of B. Caufield, R. Johnstone and J. Worthington was chosen to pick out the best waltzers among the bachelor girls, and special prizes were given. The choice of the he committe was, 1st Miss McHattie, 2nd Miss A. Cartmell. Messrs. Worthington and Patterson supplied the music. Sandwiches, cake and ice cream were handed around at intervals. The boys are to be congratulated on the efforts put forth.

A large concourse of Creekites journeyed to Fernie by the special train on Sunday last to attend the military funeral.

Miss McHattie is indisposed, suffering from la grippe. Miss R. Fowler has taken over her duties at the school.

Joe Haigh, of West Fernie, was conveyed to the Fernie hospital suffering from injuries to the legs sustained whilst following his employment in the mines.

W. Mowatt, R.N.W.M.P., and Miss Elsie Hugall, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hugall of this camp, were united in the bonds of matrimony at the English church, Fernie, on Thursday afternoon. The duties of groomsman and bridesmaid were ably carried out by Constable Wood, R.N.W.M.P., and Eva, sister of the bride. A grand reception was held in the Club Hall here after the ceremony. The happy couple were the recipients of numerous presents.

There is a rumor going around that on the occasion of the Moose ball to be held on March 17, the Moose orchestra will provide the music. We are asked to publish a denial as Fred Bass' orchestra is engaged for that occasion. Anyone requiring tickets apply to Mrs. R. Fowler, Coyote St.

STOP MINE AND OIL GAMBLING

In view of the fact that we are forbidden to rebuy our own foreign-held securities in order that available funds may be retained in this country, is it not time that the same government put a stop to the crazy oil and mine speculation, or, to put it more plainly, gamble, that is now upon us. Page and half-page advertisements appearing in the newspapers inviting the public to come in on a gamble on this or that ore or oil prospect. Some of the prospects are located in Alaska, some in Texas, and more still in sections of Canada that have already been passed up by real mining companies and real miners.

All this is an absolute waste of the public's money. Prospecting for oil in Canada is a big man's game, and let us hope that the efforts of the large corporations, such as the Standard Oil and the Royal Shell Company, which have undertaken the pioneer work in this respect, meet with success. Such work means the expenditure of millions before anything like success can be hoped for, and it is no more or less than a sheer waste of the public's money for the "piker" to put his few dollars into some small company to this end. The chances against the success of such a company, owing to the enormous cost of materials and drilling, are a thousand to one. As for "investment" by Canadians in Texas or other United States oil fields, it may be taken for grnted that anything worth having is never offered to the Canadian public, the oil men of the United States not being such fools as to allow anything really good to escape them.

In regard to the organization of small mining companies with shares selling at 20 to 50 cents, their time has also passed. Our large and successful mining organizations have millions of dollars in their treasuries available for the purpose of investigating meritorious prospects, and, moreover, these corporations have constantly in their employ large numbers of trained mining engineers whose business it is to do this work, for the companies are only too anxious to add to the number of their producing mines, no matter where located.

Mining is not a gamble, but a business, and should be so regarded, but, unfortunately, just so long as "far-away hills look green," one may expect that "greenies" with more money than common sense will continue to lose their money.—Toronto Saturday Night.

GUARD AGAINST THE 'FLU

Serious Outbreaks of Influenza all over Canada

GOOD HEALTH IS THE SUREST SAFEGUARD

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brings Vigor and Vitality and Thus Protects Against Disease

There can be no doubt that the situation regarding the spread of Influenza throughout Canada is one of grave concern. It is quite true that the number of cases does not constitute an epidemic such as caused the suffering and sorrow during the terrible days of 1918. Yet there is no disguising the fact that everyone should be on their guard against the disease.

In Montreal alone, from January 20th to February 21st, three thousand, one hundred and twenty-two cases of Influenza and 139 deaths from the disease were reported to the Health Department.

If the outbreak had come at the beginning of the winter instead of the end, we might reasonably feel that the very cold weather would check the spread of the disease. But coming as it has, at the end of the winter, there is grave fear that an epidemic may occur. For spring, with its slush and rain under foot, its dampness and chill, its constant changing from cold to warm and back again, is a prolific source of coughs and colds, pleurisy and pneumonia.

The best protection, in fact, the only safeguard against the 'Flu, is, GOOD HEALTH.

Those who are not as well and strong as they should be; those who are underweight; those who are "run-down" through overwork or sickness; should build up at once. What they need is a Blood-purifier, a body-builder, a strength-giver, like "Fruit-a-tives", the wonderful fruit medicine.

"Fruit-a-tives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the skin active, and insures an abundant supply of pure, rich blood. "Fruit-a-tives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, sharpens the appetite, brings restful sleep and renews the vitality of the nervous system. "Fruit-a-tives" contains everything that an ideal tonic should have; to purify the blood, to build up strength and vigor, and to regulate the eliminating organs, so that the whole system would be in the best possible condition to resist disease.

Now is the time to build up your health and strength, not only as a precaution against the ravages of Influenza, but also to protect you against "spring fever" and the inevitable reaction which comes with the appearance of warmer weather. Get a box of "Fruit-a-tives" today and let this fruit medicine keep you well.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, trial size 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

MILK DOES A LOT

We have a letter from a little town up the coast in which a lady states that she couldn't cook now without Pacific Milk.

She says that when they lived in Vancouver her cakes always seemed coarse and sort of heavy.

When she had to leave off using fresh mily it worried her until she tried Pacific. The baking improved so much that now she says she will always have Ladner packed mily on her pantry shelves.

A. Rizzuto, who beat up an O.B.U. organizer who was making himself obnoxious, was on Wednesday fined $20 and costs.

W. Watmough, of Montreal, arrived this week to take over the management of the dry goods department of the Trites-Wood Co.

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will be held on Wednesday, March 17, in the city council chamber at 4 p.m.

The British Columbia and Alberta Power Co. have made Fernie their headquarters and have opened offices over the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Greenwood will leave next Wednesday for the north, Frank having decided to locate n a little town about 50 miles north of Edmonton.

Inspector Dunwoodie and Magistrate Hewat returned on Tuesday from Yahk, where they convicted a bootlegger, giving him three months in the pen.

Don't forget the second annual concert of the Ladies of the United Church, which will be held on Friday, March 19. An excellent program is being arranged.

The fifth lecture, St. John's Ambulance Association, Fernie Centre, will be given by Dr. Garner in the basement of the Baptist church on Sunday, March 14, at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Frank Greenwood was the guest of honor at a farewell party at the home of Mrs. M. A. Kastner on Tuesday evening. The affair was under the auspices of the Ladies of the United Church.

Smallpox has appeared at Crow's Nest. There has been considerable controversy over compulsory vaccination but with the dread disease within a few miles of both sides of us, the opposition will soon die down.

The members of the Fernie Branch G.W.V.A. wish to thank the Moose and Italian societies for their splendid co-operation at the funeral of the late comrades, D. Guzzi and W. Ashley; also the following: G. B. Thomson, W. R. Wilson, M. Berigan, J. Wilson and the Elk Lumber Co. for assistance rendered.

W. J. Claridge, S.C.R. Representative, returned on Tuesday from the coast after an absence of two weeks, on business connected with the Lister Land Settlement area at Creston. While at Victoria he had an interview with Hon. E. G. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, and also with the Land Settlement Board.

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mrs. Kastner last Friday evening, when the Ladies Aid of the United Church met to bid Mrs. Frank Greenwood bon voyage on the eve of the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood for Edmonton. The special feature of the evening was the presentation of a silver teapot to Mrs. Greenwood, who has been a valued member and secretary of the organization since its beginning and also of the Methodist Ladies Aid before the union of churches. After a few words addressed to Mrs. Greenwood by the President, Mrs. W. R. Wilson, late Methodist Ladies Aid president, presented the gift. Musical numbers and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," followed. Good wishes from the Aid will follow Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood to their new home.

G. G. Moffatt is on the sick list.

His Honor Judge Thompson, of Cranbrook, visited Fernie this week after a serious attack of the flu.

The Ladies of the Catholic church are giving a St. Patrick's dance on March 17th, in the Church Hall Dancing at 9.30 sharp. Commons' four piece orchestra. Refreshments. Admission: ladies and gentlemen, 50 cents each.

Fred Wildman, of Hosmer, is dangerously ill with pneumonia. His entire family have been ill with the flu.

The regular monthly meeting of the I.O.D.E. will be held in the reading room of the G.W.V.A. at 3.30 p.m. on Saturday.

A meeting of the Executive Council of the Fernie Board of Trade will convene in the council chamber this evening at 7.30.

A lockout occurred at the Bellevue mine of the West Canadian Collieries on Tuesday, when an order was issued to the effect that no men be permitted to go to work without signing the U.M.W. of A. check-off. Some four hundred men were thus locked out.

A particularly sad case is reported from Bellevue, where a Belgian man who had recently adopted the seven children of his sister, who had died in Belgium, has now lost his wife, leaving him a widower with 14 children to care for—seven of his own and the seven of his sister's.

The Annual Meeting of Fernie District Committee for National Reconstruction will be held in the council chamber on Monday evening, March 15, at 8 p.m. As there are a number of important matters to come up on this occasion it is desired that as many members as possible be in attendance.

Consul Brand will leave Fernie for the east on April 1st for a vacation of six or eight weeks. During his absence ht intends attending trade conference in Chicago and Minneapolis and will perhaps speak at other points further east. Vice Consul H. R. Huntington will be in charge of the Consulate during the absence of the consul.

The many friends of Mrs. Hugh McMillan, of Cowley, will learn with deep regret of her death, which took place yesterday at Rochester, Minn. She had been operated on about a week ago for appendicitis and the reports of her recovery were very optimistic. The news of her sudden relapse and death came as a terrible shock to the family and friends.

Word was received in the city today of the death of Richard Roo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roo, of Elko. The young man, who was a victim of pneumonia following an attack of flu, was about 22 years of age. He was widely known in the South country and his death will be keenly felt by a host of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Roo have the sympathy of their many Fernie friends in their sad bereavement. The remains will be taken to Roosville and the funeral will be held on Sunday.

Real estate is changing hands in Fernie rapidly, and it is almost impossible to rent a comfortable home in the city. Last week Frank Greenwood sold his property on Howland avenue to Harry Miard of Coal Creek. Wm. Jackson of Blairmore, disposed of his residence to Maurice Cox, superintendent of the White Spruce Lumber Co., while T. H. Williams, manager of the Michel Colleries of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co., sold one of his houses to Mr. Price, who will have charge of the extension work at Michel for the same company. The latter gentleman will move his family here from the old country at an early date.

THE EXTRA SAFEGUARD

"Should I lose my earning power through accident or disease, who will keep up my life assurance payment?"

You may have asked yourself this question.

The Sun Life's Total Disability provision arranges under such circumstances to keep your policy in force, without further premiums, and, in addition, to pay you an income of one-tenth of the face value of the policy each remaining year of your life, starting immediately. The extra charge is comparatively trifling.

Ask us to tell you about it.

SHOULD BOY SCOUTS TRAP?

"Is the treaty which the Boy Scout makes with the animal world in his 'scout oath' that he will be 'a friend of animals' to be merely a scrap of paper?" demands Minnie Maddern Fiske, the actress, in a strong protest against encouraging "the barbarism of trapping" among the Boy Scouts. She characterizes the sport as from every angle "the lowest, most despicable business on earth," basing her opinion not upon sentiment, but upon the fact that she has been "in close touch with trappers and with the business of trapping for twenty years." The occasion for her argument against unnecessary cruelty to the fur-bearers was an article on "The Ethics of Trapping," which appeared in the Boy Scouts' magazine, "Boys' Life" (New York), and which, she says, thousands of people who are interested in seeking justice for dumb animals will consider the greatest blow the cause has ever received, for they have "pinned their faith to the Boy Scouts' organization, hoping, in the next generation, for the coming of a better day—a day of greater enlightenment, when mankind shall have realized, to some extent at least, its responsibility to the world of dumb creatures committed to its care." She goes into those unpleasant details about which most folk are only too willing not to think, in a letter to the New York Times:

If the Boy Scout is to be a trapper he will undoubtedly study and meditate upon the books that are published for the instruction of trappers. He will learn of the "pan" which clutches the leg of the captive close up to the body. The animal will gnaw its fettered foot off, but it can never get away. The Scout will also learn of the spring-pole, which jerks the prisoner into the air and holds it there, sometimes for days at a time, suffering the torture of the clutch, fever, inflammation, thirst. starvation terror freezing — struggling always to escape until it is possible to struggle no more. And the Boy Scout. if he were to become a trapper, would learn how the ermine is caught —ermine, which is the badge of royalty. The trapping of ermine reveals a phase of human ingenuity at its worst.

It is true that our sportsmen opponents suggest that the Boy Scouts should visit their traps every twenty-four hours (24 hours of excruciating suffering. of mind and body is the limit proposed) to inflict the coup de grace to the prisoners, whose one offense has been that they sought for food. Twenty-four hours! Let us imagine a human being in this plight for one hour. If any one of those who write suavely of the advantages of trapping were himself caught in the clutch of the steel, it is safe to say that that particular advocate of the "sport" would be silent as to these advantages forevermore.

Last year a trapper of my acquaintance delayed for a week to visit his traps and found a trapt bear still alive, but in such a condition as to render both feat and fur useless.

We all shrink from physical pain and torture. It is an instinct of nature. We shrink from it ourselves and for our children and loved ones. We seek desperately in every direction possible to avoid or alleviate it. But how many of us unhesitatingly inflict upon the creatures of the dumb world unspeakable suffering that not one of us would have the courage to face! Last winter four million cattle. turned out to face the winter without food or shelter, perished in the stock gamble on the ranges. Trapping involves incredible acts of martyrdom on the part of warm-blooded, sensitive living creatures. who are capable of suffering even as we suffer.

If the Boy Scout is to be a trapper and this exciting "sport" is started, where will it end—a "sport" so engrossing that other aimless diversions will have lessened zest once the pace has been set for the pastime. whose object is pursuing and killing, whether by trap or gun? New pests will be suggested for extermination. and the butchery to be associated with the Scouts' great organization will never sease. And the sacred pledge which our young crusader takes at his initiation, how about that?—this excellent Scout law which he promises to obey when he takes oath that "he will be a friend to animals?" Is the treaty he has made with the animal world to be merely a scrap of paper? Will his faithlessness lead to other breaches of manly promise to "be kind?"

This taking of life in a manner that includes unspeakable suffering is a debasing. soul-hardening employment. Let it not be assigned to impressionable youth. If in the case of destructive animals the work must be done, let slaughtermen be appointed to do it and compelled by law to do it as humanely as possible.

Mrs. Fiske is not without a word concerning the responsibility of the women who buy the furs:

It is difficult to believe that the woman lives who would consent to wear trapt furs if she were obliged to witness the tragedy of their procuring If women would band together for six months — and an organization in each city would accomplish the desired end—in refusing to purchase trapt furs. the boycott would be sufficient to put an end to the business and compel the attention of the controllers of the fur trade to fur-farming. Furs are unnecessary as clothing, save for inhabitants of reginos where other clothing is unobtainable. Thousands of people have ceased to wear furs. It is a fact that certain arctic explorers have deliberately abandoned furs for clothing which is more comfortable.

There is, however, some hope in this trapping problem. Mrs. Fiske says, and it consists of two legitimate industries, the making of imitation furs. which are as warm as real furs, of beautiful texture and effect, and the establishing of farms for raising fur-bearing animals. On these farms animals are humanely reared and humanely destroyed. and the fur is better.

GOLF

Colonist: The game called golf (word not pronounced as written by ancient and some modern devotees of the pastime) has been pronounced by some ardent chasers of the "wee bit ba'" as a sovereign cure for all the ills that flesh is heir to. We even have heard it described as balm to the soul of the harrassed business man and as a tonic to the body of the weary workingman. Physicians verbally prescribe it for the worn and depressed. In fact, so many virtues have been ascribed to it that still the wonder grows that it is worshipped but by a comparatively few (notwithstanding the assertion to the contrary of the hon. member for Alberni) of the thousands of people who inhabit Victoria and its environs.

On the other hand, there are barbarians who contend that if the people who play golf would go forth and till even a portion of the soil and become agents in production in these days when everybody is preaching production as a panacea for high prices, they would get just as much and just as beneficial exercise as they obtain upon the links. So there you are; and what is the mere individual who neither toils nor spins in a manual sense nor is addicted to the alleged vice of golf to think about it, not to say pronounce judgment upon it?

One thing we do know, golf is not at the present time a pastime of the workingman; it is a pursuit of pleasure reserved exclusively for the professional and the business man. The conditions may be different in other places, but as far as Victoria is concerned the facts are as stated. But, given the opportunity, and the tired worker might be just as enthusiastic in his devotion to tht mysterious and fascinating game as the men and women in other avocations. The proposed municipal links might fill in the gap that yawns between the professional and business and working classes. If the advocates of the scheme now under discussion are quite sure of their ground, the proposed expenditure assuredly would be amply justified.

OFFICE BOY TO SHIPOWNER

London—A former office boy, ordinary sailor and day laborer who, in four years, has piled up a fortune estimated in millions of pounds sterling, and, having formed his first shipping company in 1915, is now the largest shipowner in Cardiff, and one of the largest in England, is the subject of more talk, at present, than perhaps any other man in the commercial world of Great Britain. This is James Childs Gould, M. P., who recently announced a scheme of amalgamation of shipping companies with a capital of $15,000,000, and, a few days later, made a gift of $50,000 to the Cardiff Hospital. "Jimmy" Gould, as he is known in the shipping world, sits for Cardiff, his native city, in the House of Commons.

His first business success was scored in the Unted States, where, frst a day laborer and afterwards an insurance clerk, he became manager, at an early age, of one of the largest marine re-insurance companies in New York. Today, besides being head of the big shipping firm of J. C. Gould and Company of Cardiff, he is a leading coal exporter and company director, as well as one of the livest wires in the House of Commons, to which he was elected in 1918.

Born in Cardiff and the son of a working man, he got his early education at a "board school" (the board or public schools of Great Britain are, generally speaking, attended only by the children of the working classes), but had to leave early in order to help toward the family exchequer, and started work as office boy to a shipping company. Before he was out of his teens he had begun to make good. Bent on seeing the world he joined a ship bound for South Africa as an ordinary seaman. He left his ship at the Cape, worked for a while as clerk to a South African trading firm, and hied him to America.

As a clerk in New York he advanced himself so rapidly that well before he was thirty he was managing a firm employing 120 clerks. He left New York in 1908 to start on his own as a marine insurance broker in London, and soon was doing a big trade, with branches on the continent and agencies in Brussels and Berlin. Later he went in for shipbrokering and, in 1915, became a shipowner.

He was then, he told me, a poor man. Public confidence in him brought in all the capital he needed for his ventures and he had keen notions as to freight rates, insurance, the management of vessels, and the tendencies of the shipping industry. He seldom puts in less than sixteen hours a day, but some day, he declares, he will lead a campaign for an eight-hour maximum day for shipowners. He believes in treating his men well. His office staff has a dining room for its convenience, where a mid-day meal is served free.

Millionaires who take in roomers!

PLAIN, simple country folk down in Texas went to bed one night as poor as church mice and awoke to find themselves millionaires! But they cannot accustom themselves to prosperity. They do the most extraordinary things with their newly acquired wealth. Old Jake Wells went out and bought himself $4.80 worth of bananas, ate them, and then died.

Mrs. Snodgrass, wife of the village doctor (who hasn't the slightest idea how rich she is), built a large wing on the old homestead so she could take in more roomers!

Another old lady—whose profits quickly passed the million mark—bought "paw" a new ax so he could cut the kindling more easily. And it's true!

Don't fail to read "Millionaires Made While You Wait", by Frazier Hunt, in the new Cosmopolitan

Is parent-love a menace?

Great men almost invariably have had unusual mothers or fathers who played a conspicuous part in shaping their lives. And yet eminent psychologists tell us that the pampering love of parent for child—unless wisely directed—can do tremendous harm.

Harvey O'Higgins has interviewed one of the greatest nerve-specialists in America on this vital problem. Nothing more amazing and dramatic has been written about human relationships than "The Love-Image," in the current Cosmopolitan.

Are wives harder to get along with than husbands?

Boxer thought so, because, as he told his friend Charny, his wife had called him a "drunken satyr" simply because he tried to light his cigarette at an electric-light bulb.

And Charny agreed with him because his wife told him that he never kept a promise in his life. And he sometimes did! Gouverneur Morris, in "The Great Friends," has surpassed himself in this rollicking story of domestic misunderstandings, and how they were overcome. Don't fail to read it in this month's Cosmopolitan.

When a financier's wife pawns her jewels

You won't know until the end of the story why she did it. But when the pretty young wife of a feeble old millionaire is seen to frequent a pawnbroker's, and then enter a cheap lodging-house, being watched by good-looking detective—well, there's enough mystery, love, action and high finance in this unusual story to satisfy anybody.

"Her Secret"—by Will Payne—is the first of a series of the adventures of Ben Bodet, business detective, who—we prophesy—is going to take rank as one of the most interesting sleuths of fiction.

They discovered the fountain of youth

"Phony" Dick and "Overcoat" Bennie had just relieved an oil magnate of $500. But when they went and lost it on the Kentucky Derby, they simply didn't have the heart to go home to Mrs. "Phony," who kept the cash (and who also kept track of their prowess in the papers). So they decided to take a little fishing-trip out California way, and that's how they happened to discover the Beauty Fountain.

You who have applauded his "Boston Blackie" stories will delight in this crook story, in a lighter vein, by Jack Boyle, in the new Cosmopolitan.

WATER NOTICE
(Use and Storage)

TAKE NOTICE that British Columbia and Alberta Power Company, Limited, whose address is 410 Central Building, Victoria, British Columbia, will apply for a licence to take and use Three Hundred Forty (340) cubic feet of water per second, and to store about eight million (8,000,000) cubic feet of water out of Bull River, which flows South and drains into Kootenay River near Wardner, British Columbia.

The storage dam will be located at about Four Thousand Five Hundred (4,500) feet up stream from the Government Bridge over the canyon.

The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about Eight Million (8,000,000) cubic feet and it will flood about Two Hundred and Fifty (250) acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about Four Thousand Five Hundred (4,500) feet up stream from Government bridge over the canyon, and will be used for power purpose upon the site described for generating hydro-electric power for use in Kootenay District, British Columbia ,and (if and when authorized by law) in the Province of Alberta.

This notice was posted on the ground on the 27th day of February, 1920.

A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Fernie, British Columbia.

Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper.

And Take Notice that the Petition of the said Applicant for approval of its undertaking will be heard in the office of the Board of Investigation of Water Rights at a date to be fixed by the Comptroller and that any interested person may file an objection thereto in the office of the Comptroller or of the Water Recorder of the Fernie Water District.

THE BRITISH WAR EFFORT

Writing in the February number of the Overseas Magazine for 1920, the editor, Mr. Evelyn Wrench, quotes the official figures of British war effort. In doing this he states: "It is with no desire to indulge in vainglorious boasting that I give these figures in Overseas, but in fairness to the memory of the men who have "gone west" it is desirable that the correct figures of the British effort should be placed on record."

The figures are taken from the recent statement published by the government. The following table shows the total of men furnished by each section of the Empire:

British Isles	5,704,416
Canada	640,886
Australia	416,809
New Zealand	220,099
South Africa	136,070
India	1,401,350

Much discussion has been centred in the relative strength of the British and American forces in France during the last six months of the war. In comparing these figures the British campaign in Palestine must be remembered, for in our Eastern Expeditionary force an average of 400,000 men were employed during 1918 in additon to 80,000 combatants on the Italan front. The defeat of the Turks and the capture of 85,000 prisoners in Palestine was, of course, effected by the British alone.

The total British and American troops in France during 1918, including non-combatants, but excluding colored labor services, was as under:

	British	American
March 11	1,828,098	245,000
April 1	1,667,701	319,000
Sept. 23	1,752,829	1,641,000
Nov. 11	1,731,578	1,924,000

In this table may be seen (1) the depletion of the British ranks due to the German offensive of March21; and (2) the increase — especially of the American forces — due to the hastening of reinforcements to the Western front.

The capture of prisoners and guns in France during the victorious offensive against the German army between July 18 and November 11 were as follows:

	Prisoners	Guns
British Armies	200,000	2,540
French Armies	135,	1,880
American Armies	43,300	1,421
Belgian Armies	14,500	474

The final and revised casualty figures are as follows:

	Approximate killed, died of wounds, died
British Isles	662,083
Canada	56,119
Australia	58,460
New Zealand	16,132
South Africa	6,928
India	47,746
Other Colonies	3,649

Sam Nemore, of Elsberry, Missouri, who now abideth in Hosmer, B.C., March 12 in 1920.

I yet participate in this capacity of a theologian. A prophet is a preaches tho a preacher is not a prophet. I knew preachers in the U.S.A. to stand in the pulpit and weep with a bitter cry in case of falsely revile. I know many people who have been falsely revile and suggested of that which they did not and will not do as well as myself. When you want to see what kind of people of whom God spoke see St. John, chapter 8, verse 44, and when you want to see why falsehood is often product and suggested see I Kings, chapter 21, verses 1 to 20. And Satan have abolished two of my sermons recently. Do you understand what you read. See St. John, chapter 15, verse 18-19. Religious and scientific says heell scare is due from the pulpits although it is the devilish doctrine of eternal torment that is driving the best people of the churches into infidelity. There are some still foolish enough to believe that by thus blaspheming God's name and character they can lead men to honor and obey the Creator. Also how great a mistake gradually as the eyes of our understanding open to the true beauties of God's Word. We find that the gross errors of the past have indeed some foundation in the truth, yet two are so different that they might pass each other without recognition, as Bible students are allowing the Word of God to interpret itself, they are being blessed. Their faith is being strengthened as they find that the real teachings of the Bible are beautiful and harmonious, and God honoring and acceptable to sanctified common sense as so much of our confusion has been connected with the subject of future punishment it is only reasonable that much of our blessing and enlightenment should come from a better understanding of the Scriptures bearing upon this subject. Our first lesson to learn was the difference between the Bible hell and the hobgoblin torture chambers of our bewildered forefathers, who had not the Bible in their possession and who if they had possessed it lacked generally the education necessary to read it. When we found that the Hebrew word Sheol is the only word translated hell during the old Testament period of four thousand years, we are not surprised, but when we found that that word signifies the tomb, the death state, and that it is translated grave in our common version Bible more times than it is translated hell, we were surprised, and when further close investigation showed that the good as well as the bad go to Sheol, and that the Bible declares that all who go to Sheol were redeemed by Christ's death, and that eventually he will destroy Sheol and deliver all prisoners of death from Sheol, then we began to see what a serious blunder had been made in the translation but when about to blame the translators for deceiving us we found that the trouble lay rather with a change in the use of language. All know that all living languages are gradually changing and investigation shows that in old English the word hell was used as a synonym for hole or pit or something covered over as the grave. Thus an English farmer in olden times might say, we helled five hundred bushel of potatoes this fall or we helled, thatched, our cottage. The fault was not so much with the translators as with the wrong idea already firmly embedded in the human mind, not the teaching of the Bible, that God intends to punish in purgatory or eternal torture, but God has thus made provision for our living again and ever since he made known his gracious plan those who speak and write intelligently upon the subject; for instance the inspired Scripture writers as if by common consent speak of the unconscious interim between death and the resurrection morning in which sentilent being is suspended as a sleep. Indeed the illustration is an excellent one for the dead will be totally unconscious of the lapse of time and the moment of awakening will seem to them like the next moment after the moment of their dissolution. For instance, we read that speaking of Lazarus death our Lord said our friend Lazarus sleepeth. I go that I may awake him out of sleep. Afterwards because the disciples were slow to comprehend, he said, Lazarus is dead. See St. John 11 and 11. Were the theory of consciousness in death correct is it not remarkable that Lazarus gave no account of his experience during those four days. None will claim that he was in a hell of torment for our Lord calls him his friend and if he had been in heavenly bliss our Lord would not have called him from it for that would have been an unfriendly act. But there is no suggestion of eternal torment with the word sheol anywhere and the fact that the Lord redeems our souls from sheol and will destroy sheol eventually by raising mankind from the state of death proves positively the gross error under which we labored in respect to the meaning of this word and its equivalent in the New Testament Greek hades. The two hundred thousand American people who met their fate during the civil war will achieve the same right to the tree of life as anybody else and also the King of the South U.S.A., and all our names are written in the Lamb's Book of Life from the foundation of the world, Jesus written our names down on his honorable roll we see with his blood shed upon Mount alvary, and we will obtain a new body and incorruptible body. True there is a refernce to the second death, where we read of those who shall be brought to a knowledge of God during th eMessiah's kingdom and who then shall deliberately and intelligently refuse the way of righteousness, shall be returned to sheol. And from the creation of Adam until now has been a period of six thousand year days, man's work week during which he has been permitted to try everything he could imagine for his own relief from sin and its penalty of death. So far from gaining life everlasting for our race all our efforts have accomplished nothing. Our mose learned physicians and specialists declare that the world is on the verge of collapse and that at the present rate of increase there would not in one hundred and sixty years be enough sane people in the world to care for the insane. They tell us that various diseases are increasing so rapidly as to endanger the race in a very short time and that this is so notwithstanding the fact that sanitary conditions are made necessary even to the extent of individual drinking cups Our only hope lies in the great seventh day, the antitypical Sabbath, in it Messiah associating with himself the saintly ones of this gospel age, will set up the divine kingdom amongst men, a spiritual kingdom, not an earthly one, but ruling amongst mankind, blessing and uplifting them for a thousand years, the work of unlift will progress until all the willing and obedient will have attained again the lost likeness of their reator and the whole earth will be their paradise.

SIGNS OF SPRING.

The Caribou In the Far North Seek New Pastures.

The one sign of spring which Athabasca Landing, Alta., considers really dependable is now in evidence —the caribou are off for the north. According to word from hunters and scouts, they left the sheltered valleys and woodlands south of Churchill river, their winter feeding grounds, and began to press toward the Great Barrens on March 25. Therefore spring was at hand in Northern Canada. The Arctic deer know best. They never start on this thousand-mile journey back to the tundra pastures until they are sure. A Hudson Bay trapper, just in with his catch of furs from the Artillery Lake country, said that he was awakened early one morning by a great noise that sounded like a storm tearing through the forest, or ice breaking up in the lake. It was the caribou rattling and clashing their horns together. Valley and hills were black with the herd, which poured in a solid stream out of the south. It took them fourteen days and nights, the trapper declared, to pass his camp.

There are many different estimates of caribou in northern Canada. Inspectors of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, whose patrol formerly extended from Hudson Bay to Great Slave Lake, said 60,000,000. Frequently plans have been put forward for turning these vast herds into a source of the national meat supply. One proposes rounding up the caribou with cowboys and driving them into the cattle country of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba, there to domesticate them. Another would send hunting parties into the region about Chesterfield Inlet, which is the heart of the caribou country, and thence ship out the meat to eastern Canadian markets, either by Hudson Strait and the Atlantic or by way of James Bay and so overland. The completion of the Hudson Bay railway this summer, however, will solve the problem for that whole region, and when the Alberta Great Waterways road is ready, shipments can be made from the caribou grounds of Great Slave Lake and the Mackenzie Basin to western Canadian cities by the Peace River route, and this latter, it is thought, will be the first plan tried.

Trying Tactics.

He watched her daintily nibbling her cress sandwich.

"I know what it is!" he cried suddenly. "I know why you appeal to me more than any other girl I ever met. It's because you're the perfect combination of the spiritual and physical. Your flesh, plump beauty and your bird-like appetite—"

"I never did eat much, even as a child," she murmured idyllically. "A touch of toast in the morning, a sip of soup at noon, a sprig of celery or a pinch of parsley at supper, and I'm satisfied. As mother always says, 'the man that pays my board bill for life will be in luck.'

"My ideal," he cried.

Late that night she repaired to the larder, and consumed seven hard-boiled eggs, four cold porkchops, half a pound of potato salad, three tomatoes and three slices of pie.

"It's a fearful strain," she thought; "but I'll land him this week or die in the attempt."

Toronto War Memorial.

Formal sanction of the University of Toronto Alumni has been given to the memorial plans submitted by a special committee. These include the construction of an archway and tower connecting two of the main buildings, and the creation of certain scholarships for returned men and for dependents of soldiers killed in the war. The total sum to be raised for this purpose is $500,000, of which $275,000 will be set aside for scholarships. The university has also established a fund from which loans may be drawn by students who have served in the war and need financial assistance, and a special committee has been appointed to co-operate with the university authorities in requesting the Dominion Government to make financial provision for those veterans who wish to attend Canadian universities.

Tommy's Spirit.

"You don't get any sympathy in the army," said a returned soldier. "And some of them do not mind a joke now and then on their infirmities. A bunch of us were waiting on the dock at Brest. There were a lot of wounded casuals among us ready to be checked up and sent aboard the transport for home. One of them sat on a box swinging what was left of his leg. It had been amputated between the knee and the ankle. Another Tommy with one arm gone yelled over to him, 'Say, Bill, why don't you water it a bit? Maybe, it will grow.' And the other came back at him: 'Water yer brains, you big stiff! Who got your other arm?' "

Steel.

Steel is a kind of iron which can easily be hammered out thin without cracking and can be made extremely hard by being heated and then cooled quickly. It is different from ordinary iron because of the amount of carbon in it. Wrought iron contains less carbon than steel and so it can not be made so hard; cast iron contains more and so is brittle.

A Memorial at Tapley.

Premier Borden unveiled at Tapley, Bucks, England, on April 4th, a memorial to those who have died at the Canadian Red Cross Hospital there. The memorial takes the form of a female figure typifying Victory, and stands in the beautiful little cemetery on Mrs. Astor's estate, adjoining the hospital cemetery, being in the form of an Italian garden.

Quite a Difference.

"There is quite a difference between the blowhard and the garrulous toper."

"Say it!"

"One is inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity, and the other is verbose with the exuberance of his own inebriation."

FEELS IT A DUTY TO RELATE FACTS

Miss Boyd Was All Run Down After Influenza—Gains Ten Pounds Taking Tanlac

"Before I began taking Tanlac I had little or no hopes of ever being rid of my troubles, but today I am happy to say I am in perfect health," said Miss Mary Body, living at East Delta, B.C. but whose post office address in R.F.D. No. 1, Westminster, B.C.

"I have been in bad health for the past two years," Miss Boyd continued, "and then last winter I had a severe case of influenza. When I got up I was worse than ever, as I had been left in a weakened, run-down condition. I had little or no appetite and nothing tasted good to me, in fact, even the smell of food sometimes nauseated me. After a meal or rather, a few bites, gas would begin to form and it pressed up into my chest and caused a choking feeling in my throat. My heart would palpitate so bad I could hardly get my breath. I was so nervous that the rustle of a newspaper would unnerve me and if a door closed to very hard I would jump like a shot had been fired. I had pains in my back so bad that it was misery for me to try to stoop over. I got very little sleep, for I was rolling and tossing nearly all night long. My head felt stifled most of the time and I was tired out from morning till night.

"So many people right here in Vancouver were taking Tanlac and praising it so highly that I decided to try it myself. And it is just simply wonderful how it has helped me. Why, all my troubles are now over and I am feeling as fine as I ever did in my life. I have a splendid appetite and everything I eat agrees with me perfectly. I never have a touch of indigestion and my heart action and breathing are regular and normal. My head feels clear all the time and the pains in my back have all disappeared. I am not at all nervous and am sleeping fine every night. I have gained ten pounds in weight and I feel so much stronger that my housework does not tire me the least bit. I feel it my duty to tell everybody that it was Tanlac that gave me such fine health."

THE "REDS" CONTROLLED

Winnipeg, March 8.—Completion of "Red" control of all Canadian labor organizations occurred by March 1, 1919, A. J. Andrews, K.C., senior counsel for the crown, contended today in continuing his address to the jury at the trial of the seven strike leaders. Mr. Andrews showed that at the Calgary labor conference "Red" control dictated the policy and led to the formation of the One Big Union and the commencement of the Dominion-wide propaganda campaign.

Revolutionary propaganda which was circulated throughout Canada was all imported literature, Mr. Andrews pointed out. Articles appearing in Canadian labor publications lacked originality and were all copied from Industrial Workers of the World, "Red" Socialistic and radical publications from the United States, he said.

At the afternoon session Mr. Andrews will continue to show the events which occurred between May 15, at the conclusion of the Calgary conference, and the calling of the general strike in Winnipeg.

The morning session was brought to a close an hour ahead of the regular time when a juryman was taken suddenly ill.

Winnipeg, March 8. — Mr. Andrews continued his address to the jury following the opening of the morning session of the strike leaders' trial by outlining the resolutions passed at the Calagry labor convention March 13-15, 1919. The first resolution that he mentioned, which was adopted, expressed approval of the soviet form of government as being more efficient than the present form. The second resolution unanimously adopted by the conference expressed accord and sympathy with the Russian Bolsheviki and German Sparticist movement. It also called for a general strike and the furtherance of Socialistic propaganda throughout the country. The third resolution was one of greetings from the conference to the Russian Soviet government, the German Spartacist and all other working class movements, and expressed the approval of the conference in a proletarian dictatorship.

Mr. Andrews declared that the conference advocated the departure from all constitutional methods and return to the period when "might and cunning" take the place of "right."

This propaganda, said Mr. Andrews, was expressed in the resolutions passed at the Calgary conference and was the propaganda of the One Big Union which intended to call a general strike to force its demands on the government.

The "Reds," he said, had gained control and had succeeded in having all their ideas endorsed by the Calgary conference, which he referred to as "a camouflage labor conference" which advocated massed action, direct action, the awakening of the "slaves" and the taking over of all industries.

"This," said Mr. Andrews, "was the most pernicious appeal ever made to all the predatory instincts of man."

DIRECT ACTION

The project of forcing the nationalization of mines in Great Britain by a general strike has broken down. One result may be the resignation of Robt. Smillie from the presidency of the Miners' Federation. Whatever may be the argument in Great Britain in favor of nationalizaton as an economic policy there is a clear inconsistency in the prosecution of a public programme by direct action and political action at the same time. The Labor party has been making headway in the bye elections, though it failed in Paisley. But it can not appeal with success to moderate people for support as a political party if it betrays its political supporters by taking grave questions of public policy out of parliament and forcing them on the country by direct action. Electors who might be willing to support Labor in its political aspiratons, would be likely to refuse support to leaders who blow hot and cold at the same time.—Province.

"An industrial and not a political government," was the definition applied to the Oliver administration this afternoon by A. I. Fisher, Liberal member for Fernie, in continuing the debate on the Mineral Act.

"The sooner we realize that this is the form of government we must have in British Columbia the better off we shall be," declared the up-country member as he outlined his reasons for standing firmly behind the Minister of Mines in his proposed amendments. Mr. Fisher, representing the greatest coal district, said Mr. Sloan had been the first Minister to go underground at Coal Creek and as a prospector of the old days was a Minister who understood the needs of the Province and could enact effective legislation.

The Fernie member advocated close government supervision of iron ore development and said he would even extend the principle to cover most phases of mining.

The prospector would benefit by the proposed amendments, continued Mr. Fisher, since he would have government assistance and would not be forced to "sell out" for a song as had been the case in the old days referred to by the Leader of the Opposition. The claims purchased in this way, said Mr. Fisher had been held out of development and still were undeveloped. He referred to one $2,000,000 property as proof of his contention, saying that the owners had provided nothing of real value, but were merely speculators.

THE BLAZING GAME

After a protracted illness of severe cold feet and minor ailments, a trip to Winnipeg to get special remedies in the shape of a few pointers in playing the game, the Two Percenters stacked up against the Revenue Cutters in one of the greatest games of curling seen this season. WILL COME TO FERNIE

Vancouver, March 15.—Another excursion through British Columbia is being planned by the board of trade along the lines of the two successful ones held last year. The party will tour the Kootenay country and may also again visit central British Columbia. Tentative plans are for the party to leave Vancouver about the middle of July, visiting among other centres, Grand Forks, Rossland, Trail, Slocan, Nelson. Creston, Cranbrook and Fernie.

Leaving the Kootenay country it is intended to pass through the Windermere valley. one of the most picturesque sections of the province. One plan is to return by Golden, and then visit Revelstoke.

It is probable that the party will return as far as Kamloops and then switch to the Canadian National, going northward to Prince George, with a stop at Lucerne. From Prince George the return trip either will be made down the Fraser River and Cariboo road and the Pacific Great Eastern, or by way of the Grand Trunk Pacific to Prince Rupert and back to Vancouver by boat. The party will be away about two weeks.

ANNUAL MEET. OF COMMITTEE

Last Monday the annual meeting of the Fernie District Committee for National Reconstruction was held in the council chamber, and a very representative attendance was recorded. President Bonnallie presided and the preliminary routine business having been transacted, Mr. Bonnallie addressed the meeting at some length. He outlined the important matters to be considered upon this occasion and then gave a very concise review of what the Committee had accomplished during its first year of activity. When originally constituted the scope of the Reconstruction Committee it appeared included almost everything and requests and grievances of every description had been carried to the Committee to take up, consider, adjust or reject as the case might be. All this involved endless attention but the members of the Committee had admirably responded and the work of the standing committees had achieved considerable success. At the outset these committees included Reception, whose duty it was to see that the boys returning home from the front were made comfortable immediately upon their arrival; the Employment committee to whom returned boys who were out of work were assisted in securing suitable employment. However, since the Federal and Provincial governments through the establishment of labor bureaus and the Soliders' Re-establishment Branch systematically taken the matter in hand, the local committee have not been called upon to the same extent. In connection with the Land Settlement and Industrial Committee, this too is now being administered by the Provincial government, although much data was compiled by the local committee as to available tracts, etc., in this district. The Welfare and Housing committee have not been required to co-operate with the authorities as regards this feature to any great extent so far, as it was decided some time ago that this city would not take advantage of the proposed "housing scheme." This matter, however, may be revived in the near future and that the services of the local committee will be available is a certainty.

While all the aforementioned units of the Reconstruction Committee have contributed their efforts to the branch to which they were assigned, it has remained for the Memorial Committee to assume the greater burden of all, viz., to undertake to provide a suitable memorial home for the boys who have returned from overseas and also to see that this district provides a memorial to commemorate the sacrifices made by those boys from our midst who will never return. The direction of the work embodied in this huge dual task was undertaken by A. B. Trites. He and his committee commenced their duties late last spring and as the report of the treasurer, given in detail below, will show that within a period of a limited number of months almost $8000 has been raised, and this has been accomplished without a subscription list being opened and an individual canvass being made. After thorough investigation of the various suggestions with regard to a memorial home, the present G.W.V.A. building was acquired as a temporary location only, but in deciding upon this the committee of trustees assumed an initial financial obligation of $15,000, of which amount approximately one-half has been paid at this date. Mr. Trites personally has pursued the work vigorously and never for a moment allowed the matter to become dormant. Apart from his own efforts, the success so far attained is largely due to the ladies' organizations and others in this city, and great material support has been given by the residents of Baynes, Waldo, Corbin and Coal Creek.

Another important branch insofar as the Memorial Building is concerned is that of the Maintenance Committee. This committee assumed the gigantic task of renovating same and also to endeavor to place it upon a self-sustaining basis. It had been vacant for a few years and was sorely in need of repair. The Maintenance committee, however, were undaunted, and the report submitted by E. K. Stewart, chairman, at the annual meeting, shows that the G. W. V. A. building is now in a very reasonable state of good repair and that it is to all intents and purposes, self-sustaining.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

Hon. President—W. R. Wilson.
Hon. Vice-Presidents—C. D. McNab, F. W Adolph and H H. Ross.
President—G. A. Bonnallie
1st Vice-President—E. K. Stewart.
2nd Vice-President—E. Heaphy.
Secretary—F. G. Perry.
Asst. Secy.—W. J. Claridge.

An executive committee was authorized to consist of respective representatives of the City Council, G. W.V.A., Miners Union, I.O.D.E., Board of Trade, Trustees, and the chairman of Maintenance, Memorial and Finance Committees

The report of A. Klauer, treasurer of the Memorial Fund, as follows, was submitted:

E. K. Stewart, chairman of the Maintenance Committee, presented the financial statement in detail with regard to the maintenance and operation of the building. The reports were adopted as presented.

A communication from the Ladies Benevloent Society announcing that that body had decided to forego holding their annual Easter ball this year in favor of the Reconstruction Committee, was warmly received and the appreciation of the Committee for this voluntary assistance was voiced by all present. Formal expression of sincere appreciation also is to be conveyed to the Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. who have undertaken to handle the catering for the Easter ball. S. Herchmer was elected chairman of the Easter ball committee and every effort is being put forward to make this function equally as successful as has been accomplished upon former occasions of this kind which have been tendered under the auspices of the Reconstruction Committee.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers for their good work performed during the year just closed.

RENO SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Roy J. Reno, who has resided in and about here for about a year, was committed for trial by Stipendiary Magistrate Hewat yesterday on a charge of stealing $100. The allegation is that about ten days ago while at Galloway, Reno received from a workman there the above sum to be taken and put in safe keeping. Instead of depositing the money, however, Reno disappeared and on Monday was arrested near the American boundary by Constable Dryden. Reno is originally from the State of Michigan and last spring was tried on a charge of receiving and having stolen cattle in his possession. J. O'Keefe, killed in a rear end collision at Jaffray last fall, was his uncle, and the cattle in question were part of his estate, Reno contending he was only working for his uncle and after his demise he continued to look after and wind up his affairs. He was acquitted on that charge.

The Publicity Committee of the Board of Trade have outlined a campaign which deserves the backing of every citizen, both morally and financially. It is a campaign which will ultimately bring thousands of dollars to this city. Get out and help the good work along.

WHISKEY IS STOLEN

Last Saturday evening three young lads, H. Nicholson, Frank Nadon and Herbert Allison, by use of a skeleton key effected entrance to the residence of S. Graham, 298 Victoria Avenue, and carried away in all 53 bottles of liquor, which they found therein. Mr. Graham, the occupant of the house, had only arrived in the city a few weeks ago and taken up his residence here. On Saturday he went out on the evening train east, of which fact the boys were well aware, and returned Sunday to find that two cases of Johnnie Walker Scotch whiskey and two suit cases, each containing one dozen bottles of John Dewar's Scotch, and five bottles of rye were missing. The investigation with regard to the robbery resulted in the above boys being taken into custody. When charged they admitted the crime but contended that the four dozen bottles of Scotch whiskey had been disposed of by them immediately after they had been stolen. As a result of their signed statements a charge of receiving and having stolen goods was preferred against J. Wilson, one of the proprietors of the Fernie Cartage Co. The lads allege they received $100 for the four cases and a cheque for this amount in favor of Nicholson drawn by the Fernie Cartage Co., was produced at the hearing. This was cashed late Saturday evening by the boys at a local cigar store and the proceeds equally divided among them. Following the arrest of the boys, a search warrant was obtained to search the residence of Wilson. The search was made early Monday morning, when 39 bottles of liquor of the same brand was found. These were confiscated as exhibits, including the cases containing them, which, Graham, the alleged owner, claims to be identically the same as those from his residence. Preliminary hearings were held this week and the boys committed for trial. In connection with the charge against Wilson this is not concluded and in the meantime he is at liberty on $2500 bail.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., March 15, 1920.
Editor Fernie Free Press:

Allow me through the columns of your paper to correct a misleading impression which has been caused by a portion of the report of a Board of Trade meeting which appeared in last week's Free Press. I refer to the following paragraph:

Arising out of the minutes of the previous meeting the matter of securing sufficient telephone subscribers in order to bring into effect the agreement between the Telephone Co. and the city, opened a wide discussion. The committee in whose hands this matter had been left for investigation did not present their detailed report but assurance was forthcoming that satisfactory progress is being made.

I wish to inform you that the Board of Trade nor any Board of Trade Committee has had nothing whatever to do with the progress made towards securing for the people of Fernie cheaper telephones. I have personally on behalf of the City Council solicited and secured orders for a sufficient number of new phones to entitle all telephone subscribers to the reduction of $1 per month. So far as I can learn the efforts of the Board of Trade towards securing this reduced rate has been nil. Had the Fernie Board of Trade been alive they could have secured this reduced rate years ago. The present city council was unable to learn of any efforts being made by the Board of Trade to secure this advantage for the people and decided to take hold of the matter themselves, with the result that a sufficient number of new subscribers has been secured to entitle all users to the reduced rate.

The matter is now in the hands of the city clerk, who has been instructed to demand from the Telephone Co. a reduction of $1 per month in accordance with the terms of their agreement with the city.

In conclusion, permit me to say that the present city council, unlike the Board of Trade in this case at least, believes in action rather than in "watchful waiting."

KILLED AT COAL CREEK

The funeral of the late Matthew Turnbull, fireboss at Coal Creek mines, was held yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the local Knights of Pythias. It was one of the largest attended burials in the history of Fernie. Deceased was born in Scotland and came to this city about thirteen years ago and went to work in the mines. A few years ago he qualified and was appointed fireboss, which occupation he followed at the time of his death. He was a most highly respected and active citizen, and a most careful mine official.

The accident which resulted in his death occurred shortly after noon on Monday when on a tour of inspection he noticed in a working place a post which he considered defective and ordered the two Italian workmen to remove it and instal a new one. He remained while preparations to carry out his order were being carried on and with but a brief warning a cave-in occurred. The two workmen both jumped in one direction to avoid the fall, while Turnbull sought safety in another but was caught. Ample help was soon on the spot and frantic efforts were put forward to extricate him but on account of the large amount of debris and uncertainty of his location over two hours elapsed before he was found, by which time life was extinct, the immediate cause being suffocation.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS

The examination results for the third quarter are furnished herewith for the benefit of the High School parents and others of the public of Fernie who are interested.

I am compelled to state, judging from these examinatins just held, that the third quarter does not show the results we had hoped for.

We trust that the fourth quarter may redeem the third, but there has been from the beginning of the New Year, seemingly a restlessness and an indifference, and a degree of home idleness among many of the student body that makes it imperative on both parents and teachers that they at once take measures to remedy this condition if possible.

Of course there are some splendid showings in the following lists; in fact some brilliant ones. But owing to bad attendance and bad attention, and a lack of grip and persistency on the part of their owners, many names—too many—do not appear at all in some subjects.

We ask the parents that they carefully scan the reports about to be sent to them. Any parents not receiving their report will confer a favor by notifying the principal, who will at once send another.

Respectfully Submitted, A. B. Morrison.

First Class—75 and over. Second Class—55 to 75. Pass—34 to 55.

The names are in the order of merit.

Fourth Year

Fourth year. Geometry, 4. First Class—Ernest Frey, Elsie Frey. 2nd Class—Fred Beale.

PRINCE BUYS ALTA. RANCH

How the Prince of Wales came to buy his Alberta ranch during his recent Canadian visit was an entertaining story told to the members of the British Columbia Stockbreeders' Association held last week in Victoria. The narrator was Prof. W. L. Carlyle, of the "Bar U" ranch, High River, Alberta. Prof. Carlyle was answering the questions of the delegates after an informing lecture on the "Future of Horse Breeding," and the wish of one member to hear about what sort of a farm the Prince had bought in Alberta was vigorously applauded by the audience.

The ranch was established in 1882 and was formerly owned by the Allan Steamship Company. Prof. Carlyle said that the Prince had visited the "Bar U" ranch while on the westward route of his tour. Prof. Carlyle had undertaken the job of showing the Prince something of the ways and means of ranch life in the West, and had had his work cut out to keep up with the energetic heir to the British crown. The Prince showed himself to be a genuine sport. The genial professor, whose name and manner smacked somewhat of the North British section of the Old Country, had never met an Englishman who was so willing to forget he was an Englishman as the Prince had been on that visit.

The Prince wanted to do things as they were done on the "Bar U," and he came pretty near doing them that way, said the professor. He rode cowboy fashion, and he hunted prairie chicken afoot until his companions were mighty glad for a rest. The Prince had never seen any other part of the world that so much reminded him of his Scotch home at Balmoral as the foothill country in which the ranch is located; and he fell so much in love with the place that he expressed a desire to own a ranch in those parts.

Prof. Carlyle was commissioned to acquire a ranch for the Prince, and closed the deal, which was confirmed by the Prince on his way back across Canada from the Pacific coast, for a ranch of 1,600 acres, near to the "Bar U". The ranch was to be used as a distributing centre for progeny of pure-bred stock brought from the old country estates of the Prince. Prof. Carlyle had made a trip to the old country and had selected some very fine stock for this purpose, and had had to pay a nice fancy price for it, "because all the Prince's managers are Scots." They were bringing over twenty-six head of short horn cattle. some Shropshire sheep, and eight or ten thoroughbred fillies of the best racing stock in England. About twenty Dartmoor ponies, in the development of which the Prince is greatly interested, and his own variety of which he has improved by a strain of Arab blood, were also to be brought to the Alberta ranch.

IMMUTABLE LAWS OF COMMERCE

Canada has had her Food Controllers and her Paper Controllers and her Boards of Commerce. The Food Controllers have gone. the Paper Controller has gone and the chairman of the Board of Commerce is no more, in an official sense. With the exception of the Wheat Board, we do not know that any other price regulating or commerce directing institution is effectively exercising its functions in Canada at the present time, and perhaps it would be just as well for the trade of the Dominion if the Wheat Board were to go the way of all the rest.

The value of the operations of the Paper Controller may be justly estimated from the fact that several newspapers in Canada have had to suspend publication for many days and some of them to restrict the number of their pages for the periods because the controller could not so control the operations of the mills as to supply the press of Canada with the raw material it required. The Controller after his resignation frankly admitted that he was not in sympathy with the objects he was selected to direct. Then, being a lawyer, he accepted a brief from the paper manufacturers to assist in thwarting the demands of the newspapers for supplies of paper at what were considered reasonable prices. He became an upholder of the laws of supply and demand. and the demand for paper from the United States determined the price of the article and created the channels through which it should flow.

The Board of Commerce doubtless was a beneficent institution up to a certain point. It had a restraining influence upon prices, but at the same time its price-regulating functions exasperated producers and caused some of them at least to restrict their output, putting consumers to considerable inconvenience. The shortage of sugar in this Province is a case in point. Whatever way the matter may be looked at, or from whatever angle it may be surveyed, experience proves that it is better to permit trade to flow in its natural channels, for commerce is like the wind, it "bloweth whither it listeth."

UNRIPE FRUITS OF INTOLERANCE

Pouring oil upon the fire of enmity which burns between Ontario and Quebec, a French-Canadian member of the Dominion Parliament declared that Quebec is a constant receiver of unjust treatment as a member of Confederation. Possibly that is so in view of French-Canadians. Certainly we are always being told that it is so. And yet where could French-Canadians be likely to receive fairer treatment than they have been accorded in the Canadian Confederation under laws framed by the Imperial Parliament? They have complete freedom there practically under the institutions they cherish as a distinct people living and thriving under the British flag. They have freedom of conscience and absolute liberty in the exercise of the religion. The French language is recognized by the State. It is spoken in Parliament and printed upon the statute books. It is one of the official languages of the country. They have their own schools in which their children are educated. Could they have any of these rights or privileges if Quebec were a state of the American Union, as some of the more ardent or thoughtless of their leaders sometimes have suggested? Could they have more if they were independent. as the Apostle Bourassa has occasionally advocated in his moments of extreme aberration? The level-headed leaders in Quebec affairs know that annexation to the United States is absolutely impossible and that independence under existing conditions is quite impracticable. In fact, Quebec is in reality the favored daughter of Confederation, and her wise men, whether in church or state, know it and appreciate it, and will be heart and soul against a change in any direction.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

"Safety First" To Be Enforced.

People Taking Matters Into Their Own Hands.

Public safety does not alone concern the operation of railways, street cars and motors. It lies deeper. It lies in the health of the people.

One of the greatest enemies to health is kidney trouble. If the kidneys don't filter from the blood the uric acid and other poisons, the general health declines, and all manner of ills appear—rheumatic, sciatic, and neuralgic pains, lumbago, stone in the bladder, headaches, constipation, lassitude. There is certain relief for these ailments. Gin Pills help where other remedies fail. They build up the debilitated system, bring the kidneys and bladder back to normal action, and, by removing the cause, make impossible the evil results. Gin Pills do not contain any alcohol, but all the valuable diuretic properties of the Gin together with other diuretics and antiseptics which have a signal effect on the bladder and kidneys.

All druggists and dealers sell Gin Pills under a guarantee to return your money if they do not bring relief. If you have backache, constant headaches or pain in the sides, begin treatment at once with Gin Pills. 50c a box. Free sample on request.

MURDER OF ROMANOFFS

(From Toronto Mail and Empire)

Having formed the vicious habit of describing the fate of the late Czar and his family, it seems necessary to yield to it each time a fresh account comes to light. This time the version is that supplied by Col. George H. Emerson, of St. Paul, formerly general manager of the Great Northern Railway, who recently returned from Russia. Col. Emerson was not an eye-witness, being sixty miles away from the scene of the murder on the night of July 17, 1918; but his report was gathered from persons who were present and whose statements were included in a special report on the subject made by Gen. Dietrichs. There was also an investigation made by some Czech officers, and on the whole one is probably justified in supposing that Col. Emerson's story is not less addisted to fact than the others that have preceded it. Indeed, that there should be any difference of opinion over such a world-famous tragedy a year and a half after it was enacted shows in what a chaotic condition Russian affairs must have been since then. There has been no official statement of the Czar's fate from the Bolshevists, which has left open the way for occasinal rumors that Nicholas escaped and is now in hiding. There appears to be no reason, however, for doubting that he was foully murdered with his wife and children.

Nor is there reason to doubt that his death was determined from the time the Bolshevists got control. The royal family were made prisoners, but at first their confinement was not oppressive. With the members of the court that remained faithful, they were conveyed to Tobolsk. Then came the order that they should go to Ekaterinburg. At this time the Czar's son was ill and he was left with a couple of his sisters and some ladies of the Court at Tobolsk while the Czar, the Czarina and other members of the family went to the new prison. On their arrival they were subjected to close and unceremonious search, but they appear to have been able to conceal many valuable jewels which they had sewn in the lining of their clothing. Their guards showed them little consideration and at times their attitude was intolerable. The treatment of the prisoners became worse as the Czecho-Slovak forces approached Ekaterinburg. and one theory of the murders is that they were committed in a blind panic by the Red Guards, who determined that the Czar should not fall into the hands of the Czechs. It is quite as probable that they were ordered by Trotzky and Lenine, who feared that Nicholas might become a rallying centre for the anti-Bolshevist Russian forces.

Some dozen of the Red Guards were the actual perpetrators, and afterwards boasted of the deed. though one of them, named Yakimoff, appears to have acted against his wishes and testified later that at times he was obliged to leave the shambles for a breath of fresh air. Col. Emerson's account does not speak of any trial, such as previous historians have reported, even to going to the length in some cases of giving the questions put to the Czar and the answers. The formality was all contained in the chief executioner reading some supposed order to the unhappy Nicholas. The members of the family, including the Heir, who with his sisters, had by this time rejoined the father and mother, were awakened between midnight and one o'clock. and told to dress and go down stairs. They huddled on their clothes and descended. They were then informed that the approach of the Czechs made it necessary that they should be killed. If they protested or pleaded for their lives the chronicle is silent on this point, and we prefer to think that the Czar had at least a royal way of dying with him.

In so far as the executioners were concerned, the way they had was the way a man and his terriers would kill a lot of rats. Rifles were levelled and a volley fired. The first to fall instantly killed, were the Czar and his son. The others were wounded. They had to be finished off, according to Yakimoff with further bullets, with batterings by muskets and stabbing with bayonets. One of the attendants, called the Fraulein, appears to have given trouble. She tried to protect herself with a pillow and before she was put out of her misery some thirty odd wounds were inflicted on her body. The Grand Duchess Anastasia Nikglaievna at first appeared to be dead, but was only in a faint and shrieked when the murderers began to examine her for plunder. Bayonets and butts soon put an end to her outcries. The bodies were rifled, and it was then that a great trove of jewels was discovered. Whether it was turned over to the headquarters of the Bolshevists or whether it was divided among the executioners is not stated for the reason that it does not need to be.

The Czar and his son therefore, were killed before the eyes of the Czarina, and we have the detail that she had time to make the sign of the cross before she too fell. The daughters were murdered as well as the few Court ladies who had remained with the family, and the servants. The bodies were then piled on motor trucks and taken away. Coming to a disused mine shaft, it appears that the guards descended with what remained of Russian royalty and having started a fire with oil, poured acid on the bodies and consumed every trace of the Romanoffs. Peasants rummaging in the heap of ashes a few days later discovered overlooked gems. Splinters of bombs and hand grenades were also found, and articles that were identified as belonging to one or another of the little band that fell. Thus the pious, simple minded Russians made an end of the Little Father and the women and children who had clung to him. Thus they justified the angry ridicule of the Germans who in the early days of the war used to sneer at the Allies' tributes to their great comrades of the Eastern front.

GAME LAW AMEDMENT

The sportsmen of the province will appreciate the stand of Hon. W. J. Bowser in his sharp criticism of the Game Act Amendments. He demands an open, above board administration of the Game Laws which the amendments, introduced by the Attorney-General, will fail to provide. Mr. Bowser showed how, by restricting the granting of hunting licenses for non-residents of the province to British subjects resident in the Dominion, as it was proposed in the amendments, the result would be that a ban would be placed upon Englishmen and residents of other British possessions hunting in this province, the while a section of the amendments provided for the granting of free licenses to visiting official or "in special cases."

"You do not propose, apparently," commented Mr. Bowser, "to allow British subjects from outside of the Dominion to come to British Columbia and shoot. but some American friend of Dr. Baker, perhaps Mr. Vanderveer, of Seattle, the gentleman who figured in that plugging incident, is to be given privileges under the guise of a 'special case.'"

Ther's another amendment that calls for strong criticism. This one proposes that it be made unlawful to carry a loaded gun in any power boat or sailboat. Also that it is to be illegal to shoot from a power boat. Salmon fishermen are zealously advocating a large enough bounty on hair seals to make it profitable for riflemen to kill off this pest, which often works great havoc among the catch of the gill net men. Should this be granted by the Dominion Department, and Dr. Baker's proposed amendment becomes effective, where would the fishermen get off? Would he also bar the Canadian navy from target practice? Poor old Rainbow!

What this province needs is less law and more sense. There are too many acts on the statute books now that eternally conflict, so why burden the suffering public with a whole lot more? It would be better to devote a little more time and attention to making the present game laws more familiar to the sportsmen of the province, for not one man in ten who reads the printed slip handed him when he obtains his license can thoroughly understand them. And they are not the only ones. Summaries of game laws issued by three different sporting goods houses for the guidance of hunters during the season just closed contained errors of translation that would have landed any sportsman in jail, who followed them literally, and few papers published accurate summaries of the laws even though the reporters were conscientious and keen as usual.

Sportsmen call for a good resume of the proposed amendments to the Game Act. and then let them have a word to say, as they contribute over $100,000 per year so that the Government can buy about $100 worth of pheasants to replenish the inbred stock.—Columbian.

GENERAL JAN SMUTS CONFRONTS HECKLERS

General Smuts' tour in the Free State is arousing much attention. It is significant that the Nationalists, who usually make a practice of absenting themselves from such meetings, are attending in large numbers, and giving him a most attentive hearing.

The usual practice is for the Prime Minister's speeches to be followed by a string of questions, which are designed to cause embarrassment. At Vrede, he was asked if he wanted to do away with the Union Jack and give South Africa a new flag. This was put by Brand Wessels, a notorious Nationalist. General Smuts replied:

Listen to the fatal poison of the question. He does not ask me whether I am in favor of South Africa having its own flag, but whether I want to do away with the Union Jack? That is the spirit which I abhor and which is the curse of South Africa. There is no question of doing away with the Union Jack.

General Smuts further insisted that the Republican movement was unnecessary, because "we are free," and it was dangerous because it might turn South Africa into a second Ireland. He firmly declined to consent to an amnesty for Maritz, who, he said, must stand his trial if he returned to South Africa.

At Harrismith, General Smuts emphasized the vital necessity of both sections of the white race standing side by side if European civilization in South Africa was to be preserved.

KILLING THE GOLDEN GOOSE OF EMPLOYMENT

An English firm of piano manufacturers has announced its suspension. High wages have swamped it. Even an English piano manufacturer can not operate for his health. This goose may have been less than 24 carat gold. But it was better than no gold. Now it is a dead goose. No gold. Three hundred workers are now idle. Three hundred jobs have been erased.

An American manufacturer has reported confidentially that he is paying 200 per cent more wages than five years ago. He reports also that the same workmen while receiving 200 per cent more wages are delivering only 55 per cent of their prewar energy. Production in that plant has fallen off 45 per cent. Unless production increases there is another golden goose on the way to to slaughter.

The fable of the golden goose is one of the oldest in our literature. Also it is the least regarded. Each person is disposed to think the moral applies to the other fellow. Each person in America probably is most content to go on with his own method of scant production and carefree spending while looking to the other fellow to derive comfort out of the fable of the golden goose.

Perhaps it is too much to say that all Americans are slowing up. But too many are. So many that the supply falls farther than ever behind the demand every day.

There is no hope of satisfying indefinitely the demand for increased wages unless production also increases. The production limit is the wage limit. The current tendency is a hopeless reversal of the principle. Wages are mounting because manufacturers are taking hope as security against the future. When hope fails, factories must close.

There is a real economic danger in slack production. The theory that workers should shirk so that more jobs may be provided can have only one result—no jobs at all.—Chicago Tribune.

FARRIS TRIES TO SPRING BOMB

In an effort to stage a "come-back" in reply to opposition assaults which, during the past week, have centered upon him and have provided the House with an excellent example of the gentle art of getting under the hide of the administration, Hon. J. W. deB. Farris, on Friday exploded what was intended to prove a veritable bombshell and overwhelm a minority who had, up to date this session, more than held its own with the "brute majority." All week the Attorney-General has given plain indication that the opposition criticism of the game department, under the direction of his dentist henchman, Dr. Baker, and Mr. Bowser's telling assault upon the weaknesses of the new Elections Act, which he tore to shreds and in the framing of which he saw the hand of the "wicked partner" in the administration had got home. The minister displayed an amount of peevishness and acrimony that, however undignified it was, was none the less relished by the opposition as proving the effectiveness of the attacks.

It was when he was attempting to answer Mr. Bowser on the Election bill, one which, the opposition leader claimed, left the door wide open for the grossest irregularities, that the Attorney general sprung his sensation. Declaring that Mr. Bowser was well qualified to speak of irregularities and crookedness, and accusing him of "vile insinuations" and "despicable tactics", Hon. Mr. Farris produced a copy of an alleged cable, which. he averred, had been sent by Mr. Bowser immediately following the general elections on Sept. 14, 1916 to Sir Richard McBride, then agent general for the Province at London. This cable, as quoted by the Attorney general was as follows: "Soldiers' vote may give us from twelve to fifteen seats. I want 180. Slump was general everywhere. Prohibition carried by seven thousand." Into this cable the Attorney general, whose virtuous indignation of the opposition propensity for insinuation was declaimed in theatrical manner, proceeded to read the insinuation that Mr. Bowser was then sending out an S.O.S. call for help, in other words, demanding of the late Sir Richard that he produce the goods in the shape of 180 votes to permit of the election of his former political partner. those votes apparently, to be secured somehow in the count of the overseas' soldier vote. He labored upon the phrase "I want 180." He saw in it the appeal of a desperate political leader whose party had been overwhelmed by the righteous indignation of an outraged electorate, and who was willing to resort to any means to secure his return. even to the extent of manipulating the overseas votes to make up the deficiency in his civilian vote at home.

It cannot be said that the Attorney general's insinuation—he was careful not to make any direct charge—created any particular excitement. It did not assume the proportions even, of the near sensation it was intended to be. It developed that the above cable, incorrectly quoted by Hon. Mr. Farris, was found on the files of the Agent general's office when the commission composed of Messrs. Whitesides, Pauline and Nelson, appointed by the 1917 legislature to proceed overseas and investigate the charges of irregularities in the taking of the overseas' vote on the Prohibition referendum, was in London. It will be remembered that as a result of that commission's report to the special session of the legislature in September 1917, the legislature decided to throw out some 4,000 odd votes thus giving a majority to Prohibition. The copy of the cable was brought back by the commission and handed to the late Mr. Brewster who, apparently, was unable to read into it the meaning the legal mind of the attorney general has discovered. But it would appear the latter saw his opportunity to make good his oft-repeated declaration that he would meet his political traducer the opposi-

ROAD MEN TO MEET AT 'PEG

The seventh annual Canadian Good Roads convention will be held in Winnipeg on June 1, 2 and 3.

This is the first time that the convention has gone west of Ontario, and every effort is being made to make the programme one that will be of interest and advantage to the Western municipalities, whose road conditions and problems are somewhat different from those in the east.

A feature of the convention will be a conference of government highway officials, who will meet on the second day of the convention and discuss such matters as road laws, traffic regulations, automobile taxation, systems of construction and maintenance of highways and similar questions, with a view to arriving at a uniform system of regulations for the whole Dominion. Officials of the Federal government will also participate in this conference, which will proceed concurrently with the meetings of the delegates.

During the convention a section of road will be constructed in the district under the personal supervision of the best experts on the continent, who will be among the speakers, and who will thus be able to demonstrate the proper method of grading, ditching, draining, foundation laying and building up of a complete modern highway.

Invitations are being sent to every municipality in Canada, and they number 3,500, to send delegates to the convention, each municipality having the right, on paying the nominal fee of membership in the Canadian Good Roads Association, to send several delegates, who can submit to the practical road builders invited to address them, the local problems that they have to deal with in building improved hgihways, and secure the best advice obtainable on the subject.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

A marriage license was issued this week to Silvo Zuodin and Gilindia De Pooli.

Mrs. N. E. Suddaby will leave in a few days on a visit to her old home in Ontario.

Fire early Thursday morning totally destroyed the residence and contents of H. Bentham, Anex extension, while the occupants were attending the St. Patrick's dance. The city fire brigade made a quick response to the alarm but the fire was breaking through the roof before it was discovered. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

At a meeting of the Fernie City Band held last night the following resolution was passed: That we, the executive and members of the above band pass a vote of confidence in the President, W. Dickinson, he having acted at all times in the best interests of the band and adhered to all mandates laid down. We also wish to state in the Press that we strongly resent the statements made by Mayor Henderson detrimental to the executive.—D. Markland, Rec.-Sec.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Tom Wilson arrived back in camp after a few months spent around Brazeau. He reports conditions up that way very poor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Manning have returned to camp from Vancouver and taken up their residence on Coyote street.

Frank Nee left for Montreal on Tuesday night to attend the G.W.V.A. Dominion convention, representing Fernie local.

We learn that Mrs. Miard has tendered her resignation as postmistress up here, a position she has held creditably for a number of years.

Not wishing to be outdone by the young dancing element of the camp the Old Stiffs organizer a strong working committee with the set purpose of giving a dance. This took place on St. Patrick's night and from a social standpoint took first place of any social event ever staged up here. The scribe was pleased to see the old people whom he had not seen for years and to see the graceful movements from a terschicorean standpoint of some of our elderly females would have put some of our young ones to shame. Refreshments were served. The Riley Bros. and Lanky Jack and Mulligan and Joinson of the Vets Concert Party enlivened the intervals between dances by vocal efforts and the funnyocities of Mulligan and Joinson in their Chinese argument caused roars of laughter. Mrs. McGregor is to be complimented on the music provided for the dance. The Old Stiffs' dance will be a long remembrd vnt in th ecamp.

We learn a movement is on foot towards having a dance to be arranged by the married couples.

Apropos of the Old Stiffs' dance held up here keen disappointment was felt among the younger element at not receiving an invitaion.

A large number of Creekites took advantage of the special train to attend the funeral of Mat. Turnbull on Thursday.

The mines have only worked three days this week

MILK DOES A LOT

We have a letter from a little town up the coast in which a lady states that she couldn't cook now without Pacific Milk.

She says that when they lived in Vancouver her cakes always seemed coarse and sort of heavy.

When she had to leave off using fresh mily it worried her until she tried Pacific. The baking improved so much that now she says she will always have Ladner packed mily on her pantry shelves.

The majority of the citizens of this town believe in running a clean town, but they draw the line at allowing a few fanatics to dictate to the Police Commissioners in the matter of Sunday observance.

James Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wood, of Fernie, died in a military hospital at Vancouver yesterday. Deceased had suffered for a long time from the effects of a gas attack which he received in France. His father left on Wednesday for the coast and the body will be brought to Fernie for interment. The family have the heartfelt sympathy of the district in their bereavement.

Gossip says that Squire Brown's son was stolen for purpose of ransom, or that the nurse and boy were drowned in the river, but no trace of any kind gave credence to the latter. For twelve years no tidings were gleaned and still the Squire and his wife were hoping that some day they would solve the mystery. See "Agatha" at the Grand theatre on April 14 for the truth of the unravelling of the mysterious disappearance of Squire Brown's son and heir.

Rev. Batzold got quite a scare yesterday when he received a letter from a man named Cousins, stating that it was his intention to depart this life by the Elk River route and naming the spot he would jump off. Rev. Batzold turned the letter over to the police and a systematic search for the man has been made, but so far without result. Cousins is a musician from Montreal, who has been working with the Elk Lumber Co. in an effort to recover failing health.

All the residents of a town are partners, not opponents. In all likelihood the more business done by your rival, the more you will do. Every merchant who treats his customers honestly and fairly will get his share and the more business that can be secured by united effort. the better it will be for all. When a town ceases to grow it commences to die, and the more people try to kill each other off in business and good name the more rapidly will utter ruin come to all. Stand together for the advancement of all.—Summerland Review.

The latest curling game to be pulled off and probably the last of the season, took place last night, when two rinks of the Knights of Pythias lined up against two rinks of Odd Fellows. The Odd Fellows proved to be too fast for the Knights, winning both of their games. The losers are to provide a social evening in Ingram's hall on Tuesday, the 23rd, for all Odd Fellows, Rebekahs, Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters. A nice program is being arranged and refreshments will be served. A big turn out is expected.

On Saturday evening last the candy stores and cigar stores were notified that they must not sell goods on Sunday unless same were to be consumed on the premises. This is the first time that any bunch of police commissioners here ever tried to pull off anything as stringent as this in an effort to enforce the Sunday observance law. From general comment the new regulation seems to be far from popular. It seems hard for a body of police commissioners in this town to strike a happy medium in the enforcement of the law. One lot will run the city so wide open that everybody becomes disgusted and they are finally kicked out, only to be replaced by a bunch of straight-laced ones who are just as impossible the other way.

SERIOUS CRIME WAVE COMES

London—British police reports admit that the process of demobilization has turned loose 25,000 criminals in Great Britain, of whom from 3000 to 4000 are considered dangerous men.

While police officials insist that crimes of violence are merely of unusually sensational features and hence give rise to reports of a crime wave, it is the popular belief that Great Britain is suffering from such a wave of crime as has not inundated it for decades. The war is universally pointed out as its cause. Men who have driven their bayonets home into German flesh have no longer the horror of killing, which made law-abiding citizens of them before the war, it is explained.

Four sensational murders have staggered Britain during the last month. Side by side with accounts of them in the newspapers have been accounts of sensational suicides and robberies — all of them together furnishing a sordid and tragic commentary on the war.

The "sandhill murder" was the first of the four. The body of a beautiful young married woman was discovered by fishermen in the sand dunes to the south of Blackpool.

An officer in the Loyal North Lancashire Regiment is awaiting trial on a charge of her murder.

The "train murder" occurred shortly after the Blackpool tragedy. Miss Florence Nightingale Shore, a recently demobilized army nurse and the sister of Brig.-Gen. Shore, C.B., C.I.E., D.SO, who is now in California, was assaulted in a compartment on the London-Hastings express and died in a Hastings hospital She was a god-daughter and a distant relative of Florence Nightingale, the heroine of the Crimean war, and had served as an army nurse in the South African war, as well as in French Red Cross during the Great War. Her assailant has not been arrested and the tragedy of her murder on a crowded train has given great stimulus to the demand that only corridor cars shall be used on British express trains.

The victim of the third murder was also a woman. A policeman, smelling smoke shortly after midnight at the door of a saloon, summoned a fire company to Chelsea, the artists' quarter of London. The firemen found a quantity of sawdust smouldering in the basement of the saloon and in the midst of the heap the dead body of the woman saloon-keeper with terrible injuries about the head. She had been in the habit of keeping her bar receipts until she had some $300 or $400 before she made a bank deposit, and this fact is taken by the police as explaining the motive of the murder.

The fourth tragedy occurred in the north of England. Neighbors in the town of Bolton, Lancashire, heard knockings on their wall in the early hours of the morning and, breaking into the house next door, discovered that an old man had been waked by a thief who demanded the keys to his safe. He had refused them and had been beaten into unconsciousness. The house had been torn into the greatest disorder, but the keys to the safe, where he had kept about $3000, had not been discovered. The old man died later in the day.

To these crimes have been added a long series of daring robberies by expert thieves, lock-pickers, confidence men, oxy-acetylene experts, motor drivers, receivers of stolen goods, etc. They have not confined themselves to money and jewels. Recent big thefts have concerned such widely varied valuables as clothing, furs, cloth, antique furniture and even a motor ambulance.

Lady Loughborough has been robbed of jewels worth over $50,000. A famous London firm of jewelers lost rings worth $25,000. A resident in Wimbledon, on the western outskirts of London, lost family heirlooms worth $150,000.

Another sensation is a series of post-office raids. In the latest case thieves took out a safe at 6 o'clock in the morning, loaded it into a motor car and drove off. It contained stamps and coin worth $4700.

SHORTAGE OF LOCOMOTIVES

The world-wide shortage of locomotives and rolling stock which has resulted from five years of warfare is an obstacle of the first magnitude which must be surmounted before international transport and trade relations can be resumed on anything like normal conditions.

One of the largest English engineering firms, whilst war was still proceeding, foresaw that an acute shortage of this kind was to be expected when peace came. The directors of this firm therefore carefully and methodically laid their plans, with a view to ensuring that this country should at any rate receive its fair share of the vast contracts for locomotives which after the war would undoubtedly have to be placed.

These carefully prepared arrangements have now materialized, and at the present time the Armstrong Whitworth Company are making a remarkable bid for the premier position amongst locomotive builders throughout the world.

Their erstwhile ammunition works at Scotswood, on Tyneside, were allocated for the construction of locomotives. Immediately after the Armistice they commenced their reorganization in this direction with a forceful thoroughness which has brought a splendid success.

Within the short space of a year the vast munition plant has been swept away, the new plant installed, and the first Armstrong Whitworth locomotive—a powerful 0-8-0 type for the North-Eastern Railway—was completed and delivered from their works.

Today the Scotswood Locomotive Works are the largest and best equipped works of its kind in the British Empire. Their present output capacity is over 400 heavy main line engines per year.

It is understood, however, that the support which the new Armstrong enterprise has received from all parts of the world is such that consideration is now being given to new and important extensions in regard to these works.

The result of such proposed extensions would be to make the Scotswood works probably the most important centre in the world for the construction of locomotives.

Even under present conditions the company themselves anticipate that by the Summer of 1920 their output will have increased to not less than forty-five locomotives per week.

Some sixteen nations have purchased their warships from the Armstrong shipyards. It would appear that this fine record is likely before long to be eclipsed by their present success in regard to the locomotive industry.

Remembering, therefore, that hardly a year has elapsed since the commencement of the new Armstrong enterprise, readers can form their own opinions from the following list, which gives particulars of some of the most interesting and important contracts which Messrs. Armstrong at the present time have on hand:

North-Eastern Railway Co., England; type, 0-8-0, with six-wheel tender.

Midland and Great Western Railway of Ireland; type, -6-0 with six-wheel tender.

Caledonian Railway, Scotland; type 4-4-0, with six-wheel tender.

Great Southern and Western Railway, Ireland; type, 4-6-0, with six-wheel tender.

Dutch Colonial Government Railway, Java; type, 4-6-4.

Leopoldina Railway, Brazil; type, 4-6-0, with six-wheel tender.

Trinidad Railway, Trinidad; type, 4-6-0, with six-wheel tender.

Nigerian Railway, Nigeria; type, Aro class 4-8-0, with eight-wheel tender.

Indian State North Western Railway; 0-6-0, with six-wheel tender.

Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway; type 2-8-0, with six-wheel tender.

Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway, India; type, 2-8-0, with six-wheel tender.

Buenos Aires Western Railway, Argentina; type 2-6-2.

Belgian State Railways; type 2-8-0, with six-wheel tender.

ANITA STEWART PRACTICALLY TAKES PART OF TWO CHARACTERS; THAT OF SHOP GIRL AND THEATRICAL STAR

Anita Stewart is shown in practically two characters in "Mind the Paint Girl," a First National feature which will be shown at the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

First she appears as the little slum girl, who sweeps out her father's shop and runs errands and does any handy work to help make ends meet for her parents. who are very poor. As the shop girl, she is shown in more or less ragged calico dresses, with her hair hanging down her back and hats of impossible styles. Ignorant and untutored, yet she has a strong heart and battles her way among the roughs of the neighborhood who are very much in love with her pretty face. and try to steal kisses as chance presents itself.

Full of ambition to get out of the sordid neighborhood and to win to the better things of life, she takes the opportunity of her father's death to move. Then she applies for a place on the stage. After much discouragement, she finally gets a place in the chorus. Then through the accidental spilling of a bucket of paint, she gets an inspiration. and suggest the song, "Mind the Paint," to a composer. She is given the opportunity to sing it and makes the hit of the season.

Then as the famous music hall girl and the world at her feet, she is presented in beautiful gowns of every description, gowns that every woman will want to study to see the latest in styles and the perfection of their artistry.

NOTHING TOO GOOD TO SAY ABOUT IT

David Brown Is Enthusiastic About Tanlac—Gains Thirteen Pounds.

"Yes, Sir, I will certainly back up Tanlac, for I don't believe anything is too good to say about it," was the statement made by David Brown, a well-known employee of the Regina Flour and Feed Co., who resides at 1408 Tenth Avenue, Regina Sask.

"For over a year I have been in a badly run-down condition," continued Mr. Brown, "steadily losing weight and troubled with a bad case of indigestion. I had little or no appetite, could never enjoy a meal, and what I managed to eat wouldn't digest but caused so much gas to form that I would bloat up and have a tight feeling across my chest like I was bound with a rope. I went around all the time with a heavy feeling, and was continually belching and had a mean taste in my mouth. Whenever I stooped over and started to straighten back up again my back pained me like somebody was sticking a knife in me. Often I would have splitting headaches, and I couldn't rest at night but would get up of mornings feeling just about all in, and I had fallen off until I was about twenty-five pounds under weight.

"I had heard so many people talking about Tanlac that I made up my mind to quit everything else I was trying and take Tanlac. Well, Sir, I could tell after the first few doses that it was helping me, and that encouraged me so that I kept on taking Tanlac until now I am not only in as good health as a man could want to be in but I have gained thirteen pounds in weight. My appetite is fine, I can eat anything I want without being troubled with indigestion in any form and the bad taste has left my mouth. The pains in my back have entirely disappeared and I hardly ever have a headache and that tired, worn-out feeling has all left me. My sleep is sound and restful, and when I get up of mornings, I am ready for as big a day's work as any man. I cannot praise Tanlac enough and I wish everybody who is troubled like I was could read my statement."

GOOD ADVICE

Hon. H. S. Beland, who was Postmaster-General in the last few months of the Laurier Government, has addressed to his electors in Beauce a letter that might well be adopted, says the Toronto Mail and Empire, as a model for similar use by other Canadian members of Parliament. The subject of that letter is the state of exchange between this country and the United States, and the object of it is to persuade the people of Beauce to cut down their purchases in the United States and increase their sales thereto. Dr. Beland tells his constituents that Canada buys from her neighbor much more than she can pay for by what she sells to him. He asks them to consider the fact that the people in Canada buy from the United States on every commercial day of the year a million dollars more of merchandise than they sell to that nation. That is why the Canadian dollar has been depressed to the 85-cent point on the United States dollar-gauge. This condition of affairs can, he says, be remedied if the people of Canada desire. He grants that it may not all at once be practicable to produce for exportation a vastly greater volume of merchandise than we have been producing in recent years, but he says that it certainly is possible to import less. He divides merchandise into three classes — superfluous articles, useful articles and necessary articles. He would have people cease importing superfluous articles, cut down to zero the imports of useful articles they can do without or get at home, and strictly confine their buying in the United States to necessary articles. He would have that rule followed until an equilibrium is established. Raw cotton, anthracite coal, tropical fruits and raw sugar are, he says, all that it is strictly necessary for us to import. As a last word he urges: "If the thing can be done without injury to the individual interest, insist on getting Canadian merchandise. It is equal to any other. In doing this we will encourage the industries of our towns, whose prosperity is indispensible to the prosperity of the rural districts." For himself he pleaded guilty of having bought articles of luxury, but he has taken a strong resolution to contribute no longer by such purchases to enrich the neighboring country and depreciate the value of our own money. "If," he adds, "the citizens of Canada take the same resolution and hold to it, in a relatively short period our importations from the United States will not be appreciably greater than our exportations thereto, the Canadian dollar will be worth the American dollar, and as an inevitable accompaniment, we shall realize a national economy very vital in the hours of crisis through which we are passing." Dr. Beland's advice will. we hope, be acted upon by the mass of the Canadian people. It is simply a matter of resolving to stand by Canadian industry and uphold the value of Canadian money.

tion leader on the floor of the House and there confound him. The fact is the incident has not created even a ripple of excitement in the political world. The bomb-shell has proved to be a "dud."

The facts are that a cable was sent by Mr. Bowser in reply to one he received on Sept. 16, 1916, two days after the general elections. from Sir Richard McBride, as follows: "London Times reports reverses. Much regret. Telegraph particulars. Also state votes referendum." On the same date Mr. Bowser replied: "Soldiers votes may give us twelve to fifteen seats in the House. I want 180 to elect me. Slump was general everywhere. Prohibition carried by seven thousand."

Mr. Bowser promptly took up the insinuation by the attorney general pointing to the fact that, off-hand, he was unable to state whether the attorney general's rendition of the cable was correct or not. It was quite true he said. that he had been defeated on the civilian vote in Vancouver, the while his confrere, Mr. W. R. Ross. had been elected in Fort George by 10 or 12 of a majority. Naturally they were both anxious to know how hte vote overseas was going. He had been importuned by the press, by the Liberals and others to resign office but he had considered it was proper for him to hold on until the result of the overseas' vote were complete. The count of that vote started in London in October by which time the result of the count of the soldier vote is Canada outside of B.C. had been completed. giving him a majority over Donelly in Vancouver, of 46. He had cabled Sir Richard several times asking him to keep him posted on the count in London. At that time Sir Richard was very ill. how ill was not realized here. In fact he was almost blind and the supervision of the London count was entrusted to a London barrister and it was proceeded with before representatives of both political parties as well as those of the Prohibition and Liquor interests. On October 23, Mr. Bowser cabled to Sir Richard as follows: "Am now elected 46 ahead of Donelly. Cable how I am running there; also Ross."

It cannot be said that the attorney general displayed any considerable logic in his insinuations. In one breath he referred to the alleged enmity between the opposition leader and Sir Richard McBride. who, he asserted, had been driven out of the Conservative government by Mr. Bowser; in the next he was asking the House to believe that Sir Richard in the face of that ill-treatment. was willing to assist Mr. Bowser by manipulation. of the overseas' vote. It also developed that Mr. Bowser's cable mentioning the 180 votes needed to elect him, was found on the open files of the agent general's office. It could hardly be expected that a man, as astute a politician as was the late Sir Richard, would have left any incriminating cables lying around loose had he seen in it the hidden meaning the attorney general professed to have discovered. Mr. Bowser. on Friday afternoon, explained to the House that he could hardly be expected. off-hand, to deal with a matter of nearly four years ago. He stated he would. after securing other cables that had passed between himself and Sir Richard. make a further statement to the House as was his right.

This statement will be made Monday afternoon.

Comment among the Liberal members of the House indicated that as a political sensation the attorney general's allegations. based upon that cable, were very far-fetched. As a campaign roar-back on the eve of an election it might have served a purpose. But in the cold light of logic the bomb--shell had proved nothing but a squib.

The new elections bill has proved the chief point of interest in the week's debate in the House and especially noteworthy were the opposition leader's assaults upon the measure, one which, he pointed out. shows some startling departures from the bill which the late Mr. Brewster had drafted and circulated among the members of the House for their consideration. Especially has the provision for granting the franchise to Japanese war veterans proved a contentious one. Judging from the expressions of public opinion which have reached members, the contemplated move by the government to permit what. Mr. Bowser claimed, would be the entry of the thin edge of the wedge for future demands for wider privileges for the Oriental. is by no means a popular one. On this point the opposition have come out flat-footed. Mr. Bowser was willing to concede the sensational phase of the question. but in view of the strong public opinion on the whole question of the Oriental in B.C.. he urged that the provision be eliminated.

THE PINCHER CREEK BUNCH

By Ed. L. Carson

Three men up before the Colonel, three Canadian volunteers
Who had broken regulations after taking sundry beers;
Colonel looks them over gravely with a frown upon his brow
Well he knows them, hear him asking, "What have you been doing now?"
Charge is insubordination, insolence and other things,
Said they'd done so much saluting they must wear their arms in slings.
Cussed a corporal, sassed a sergeant, called a captain "Copper-beak."
Back to duty. reprimanded, three hard men fro mPincher Creek.

Three men on a scouting party watching closely from the grass
Part Deleray's command working over to the pass.
Logan turns to Jones and Wiggins, with a slight sardonic smile:
"Never do to let them make it; better hold them here awhile.
They can get our boys from ambush when behind the rocks they creep,
Then there's simply nothing to it; they can kill them off like sheep."
Few and short their preparations, few and short the words they speak.
Three men standing off a hundred, three grim men from Pincher Creek.

Three men lying on a kopje with their faces to the sky
While their bullet-mangled bodies show how hard it was to die.
Side by side lay Jones and Wiggins, first to fall so it appears;
Logan lay a little from them by three empty bandoliers.
Captain of the force that found them needs a single glance to see
What they sacrificed in saving his entire company.
"Hats off, boys, these men were heroes," while a tear rolls down his cheek,
"Lay to rest with every honor three brave men from Pincher Creek."

The above poem appeared in a recent issue of "Adventure" and refers to an incident in the South African War.

WATER NOTICE
(Use and Storage)

TAKE NOTICE that British Columbia and Alberta Power Company, Limited, whose address is 410 Central Building, Victoria, British Columbia, will apply for a licence to take and use Three Hundred Forty (340) cubic feet of water per second, and to store about eight million (8,000,000) cubic feet of water out of Bull River, which flows South and drains into Kootenay River near Wardner, British Columbia.

The storage dam will be located at about Four Thousand Five Hundred (4,500) feet up stream from the Government Bridge over the canyon.

The capacity of the reservoir to be created is about Eight Million (8,000,000) cubic feet and it will flood about Two Hundred and Fifty (250) acres of land. The water will be diverted from the stream at a point about Four Thousand Five Hundred (4,500) feet up stream from Government bridge over the canyon, and will be used for power purpose upon the site described for generating hydro-electric power for use in Kootenay District, British Columbia ,and (if and when authorized by law) in the Province of Alberta.

This notice was posted on the ground on the 27th day of February, 1920.

A copy of this notice and an application pursuant thereto and to the "Water Act, 1914," will be filed in the office of the Water Recorder at Fernie, British Columbia.

Objections to the application may be filed with the said Water Recorder or with the Comptroller of Water Rights, Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C., within thirty days after the first appearance of this notice in a local newspaper.

And Take Notice that the Petition of the said Applicant for approval of its undertaking will be heard in the office of the Board of Investigation of Water Rights at a date to be fixed by the Comptroller and that any interested person may file an objection thereto in the office of the Comptroller or of the Water Recorder of the Fernie Water District.

THE MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA

"CANADA'S ONLY MUTUAL"

1870 Our Jubilee 1920

The year 1919 was notable inasmuch as it completed the first fifty years of the company's active operations, and at the same time marked the year of its greatest development and progress in all departments of its business. The first policies were offered to the public in the spring of 1870, and the end of the first half century sees the company with unimpeachable assets of $38,000,000 and policies in force amounting to $170,000,000.

Remarkable Expansion of Business

The most remarkable feature of the year was the flood of new business received, due largely to the awakening of popular appreciation of the benficent function of life assurance by the experience of the war and the influenza epidemic that followed. The increase in new business acquired was nearly 90 per cent. That the recor dfor quality business was fully maintained is indicated by the large increase of $33,065,691 in the total business in force, being over 80 per cent of the new business written.

The Surplus Earnings

No item of the year's operations is more gratifying than the great increase in the surplus earnings. Notwithstanding a certain number of abnormal death losses arising from the war and the influenza epidemic, amounting to $352,857.65, the surplus earnings for the year were $1,302,801, an increase over the previous year of 60 per cent., and showing earnings of $34.27 for every $1,000 of total assets held at the end of the year.

Invested Funds

Never in the history of Canadian life insurance has there been such a remarkable opportunity for the profitable investment of life insurance funds and the effect of the past year's investments will be to enhance the surplus earnings over a long period of years, through holding up the average rate of interest earned on the invested funds. For the year 1919 the company earned the very satisfactory rate of 6.39 per cent.

"A policy in it pays."

QUOTATIONS

A man who has often been quoted, is said to have spoken disparagingly of Shakespeare as an author "because he was so full of quotations." This critic gave unconscious testimony to the greatness of the bard of Avon. He had all his life been familiar with certain sentences, and going to see Hamlet for the first time, he heard them from the lips of the actors. Demurring at the fame of the author, "this man," quoth he, "is not original."

This man from the street did no more than testify that many of Shakespeare's lines have become household words. He was not one of the higher critics who find out that some of the things that Shakespeare wrote, had been written before, in substance, by other authors. It would seem that every author of creative ability is surrounded consciously or unconsciously by an atmosphere of ideas some of which, by a sort of wireless telegraphy, are in tune with his own individuality and are incorporated into his writings. It is his individuality that we value, and that barbs his words. We do not care how many times the sentiments have been uttered before; he puts them into a new form; accentuates them; puts vitality into them. Some of them are axiomatic, self-evident, and therefore hackneyed, but in his version they come out as good as new.

These gems of expression are so numerous that collections are made of them, and "Familiar Quotations" and books with similar titles are now large and heavy volumes. We find as we look at them that the world is, in a manner, living on quotations. They form a kind of popular Bible. Though, like dictionaries, they "change the subject very often," they embody to a great extent all that the great public know of many authors. So far as the majority of people are concerned, the authors might be reckoned to have done their life's work, if they had only written the sentences by which they are popularly known. The world has picked the plums out of their pudding and disregarded the rest. The query arises. can the eminence and capacity of an author be decided by the number of plums in his confection? While this may be a debatable point, there can be little doubt that the popular appeal of writers may be tested on this touchstone; and while there are those who affect to despise this overwhelming vogue, it surely has to be reckoned with in any general estimate. The authors could not possibly tell which of their words would live in the minds of people and be frequent on their lips from generation to generation. But some of the things they wrote went home to the hearts and minds of men. Furthermore, they had the faculty of putting them into a quotable form.

Considered by this criterion, Shakespeare is, after the Bible, at the top of the tree, and Tennyson and Longfellow bulk more largely than Browning and Matthew Arnold. Quotableness seems to depend not only on the ideas that authors express but on the art of putting them into words. Those who wish to "echo down the corridors of time" should remeber this. But most of that which was quotable seems to have been written years ago. We are sometimes told that the age of miracles has passed. Perhaps the age of quotations has, too.

FIVE KINGS

How many kings will be left in ten years from now, do you think?" asked an American.

"Five," replied the Britisher.

"Five? Which?"

"The king of hearts, king of diamonds, king of spades, king of clubs, and King George."

WILL CARRY ORE BY FLYING BOAT

Seattle.—Three Seattle-made planes will inaugurate aerial transportation of mining ore in Northen British Columbia, according to negotiations being completed between the Boeing Airplane Company, of Seattle, and the Granby Mining Company, of Vancouver, B.C.

It is planned to use three large flying boats to carry silver ore from the interior mine of the Granby Company to the tidewater at Stewart, B.C., twelve miles. Each plane will carry 1,000 pounds of this ore every trip. The present route by pack train is very roundabout, and freighting costs 15 cents a pound. It is believed that aerial transportation will reduce freight charges 50 per cent. Only the highest grade of ore, worth from $1,000 to $1,200 a ton. will be shipped.

Eddie Hubbard will fly the first plane to British Columbia in April and will demonstrate its operation to Lieut. Ernest Hall, a former army flyer, who will command one of the planes. The other two planes will be shipped north, it is expected, in June.

The flying boats to be used in this service will weigh 3,600 pounds each, and will be equipped with 220-horsepower Liberty motors.

Lieut. Hall is a former Victoria boy, well-known as an athlete and as an aviator.

CANADIAN LUMBER COMPETITION WITH U.S.

"The need of Government intervention of some kind to conserve the waning timber supply stands out as extremely important," says the third annual report of the United States tariff commission, which has just been issued at Washington. It continues: "This is a policy the urgency of which the lumber interests themselves are beginning openly to acknowledge. They appreciate the necessity for conservation, not only in the interest of consumers, agriculture, inland navigation and water power, but also because the problem is one with which private enterprise is powerless to deal without governmental intervention or co-operation."

With reference to the lumber export trade, the tariff commission points out that the only coustry subjecting American producers to serious competition is Canada. "Nevertheless," it says, "the United States is exporting lumber as well as importing lumber from Canada and both the United States and Canada export lumber of the same general character to all important markets throughout the world. These facts appear to indicate that costs of production cannot be markedly different in the two countries, and that, taken as a whole, producers in the United States are in a position to compete with those of Canada. However, the Canadian frontier is long and in some regions competition is severe."

THE battle of business has succeeded the battle of armies. FRY'S COCOA is the greatest of all strength makers for men who must work hard—just as it was for our soldiers and sailors who had to fight hard.

FRY'S exclusive process makes this Cocoa extremely soluble, delicious in flavor and very easy to digest.

When Life feels Life

AS the inspector stands at the table, his sensitive finger tips subtly feel the "life" in the leather he is examining. So accurate is this sense of touch that he knows instantly whether that piece of leather is up to the LECKIE standard. His 40 years of "knowing" makes it impossible for a piece of "dead" leather to get by. That's one reason why the LECKIE BOOT gives "More Miles Per Dollar.

In making the LECKIE DRESS BOOT, only "live" leather is used. The pictures at the side show the difference in leather. The upper one is of first quality, after having been stretched by the inspector it still retains its original appearance and shows no wrinkles. The lower picture shows what happens to the poorer grades—note the wrinkles.

It is such thoroughness in the manufacture of THE LECKIE BOOT that has made it the greatest wearing boot today. Slip your foot into one.

FERNIE, B.C.

Most favoured of cities; on all sides surrounded
By vast towering mountains, so varied and grand.
Though storms break upon them, they are not confounded,
But stand as a witness of God's mighty hand.

Many tourists shall come from the far distant cities;
From prairies, and towns, where no mountains are seen
And gaze with delight at the marvellous beauty;
Forgetting in rapture all things that are mean.

And while they are gazing on river and pine trees;
On sparkling white summits and blue skies above,
Storing fair pictures for mind's future pleasure,
Just tell them, O Mountains, of God's boundless love.

And then, O ye mountains, when shadows are creeping,
They turn for a last look, ere seeking their rest.
Then whisper so softly that under God's shadow
His children may shelter, for evermore blest. I. S.

RENO GETS SIX MONTHS

Roy J. Reno was tried before Judge Thompson on Wednesday on a charge of theft of $110, the property of Bjarni Skatfeld, a workman employed near Galloway at a camp of the Macdonald Co. The evidence established that Reno while acting as timekeeper and clerk at the camp had been given the above money for safekeeping. However, he subsequently used a portion of same for his own purposes and left the employ of the company without returning the money or at that time without making any arrangements to repay it. Later on he wrote to Skatfeld promising to pay, but this promise and subsequent ones were never fulfilled. Reno in his defence, while contending he had no criminal intent with regard to the money, admitted he had been somewhat careless in his endeavors to repay it. He was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to six months at Nelson.

Thos. Fitzgerald, of Calgary, is in town today.

CITY COUNCIL IN SESSION

The council met in regular session last evening with all present except Ald. Rutledge.

Under the heading of correspondence there was a considerable volume of this requiring an equal amount of information for the Public Utilities Commission. Such as can be obtained will be submitted but a large amount of the particulars demanded cannot be furnished from the civic archives.

With regard to the matter of telephone rates which by reason of 41 new subscribers having been secured through a campaign recently carried on, automatically brings a substantial reduction into effect for phone rentals as per terms of contract between the city and the company, a letter acknowledging receipt of list of new applicants for phones in this city was presented from Secretary Gilroy of the K.T.L. He, however, advised that at present the company only had material and equipment to instal about 12 phones or less than one-third required. Assurance was that the others would be installed as soon as material could be obtained. The city clerk was instructed to press the matter with all possible dispatch and all particulars will be laid before the Provincial Utilities Commission with a view to having the Company carry out the terms of its agreement.

In connection with conditions at the fire hall, His Worship submitted a report of an inspection made since Acting Chief McCallum has been in charge. The report was to the effect that there was now a marked improvement in sanitary conditions. Also certain chemical equipments and apparatus is being repaired and put in shape for use. Geo. Goule was appointed as teamster at $100 a month.

A bylaw formally giving the city power to arrange the necessary line of credit to meet expenditures for this year was duly given three readings. The maximum amount the city can borrow is $95,253.08 but it will only be necessary to arrange for an overdraft of about $65,000.

Ald. Harrison reported having made a survey of sanitary conditions in certain parts of the town and generally matters in this connection were very good. However in a few cases very unsatisfactory conditions prevailed and the authorities will see that they are rectified promptly.

GOLF CLUB MEETING

The annual meeting of the Fernie Golf Club was held in the G.W.V.A. rooms on Wednesday evening. Judging from the large attendance of both ladies and gentlemen and the general enthusiasm which prevailed at the meeting, there is every indication to believe that the Club may look forward with confidence to a most prosperous year. Three cups have already been kindly donated for competition, the cups to become the property of the winner and it is expected that medals and other trophies will be given for competition during the ensuing year. The donors of the cups are Messrs. A. C. Liphardt and John Ogilvie, and it is very gratifying to note the interest taken by these gentlemen in the welfare of the Club.

Every effort is being made this year to make the course as attractive as possible and a permanent greenkeeper may be appointed for the season whose duties will be to keep the greens and the fairway in good playing condition. It is hoped that the members themselves will see their way to assist in the cutting and removing of underbrush from the fairway. If this is done a great saving will be effected for the Club.

The following were elected as officers for the ensuing year:

Hon. President—W. R. Wilson.
Hon. Vice-President—Dr. Corsan.
President—R M| Young.
1st Vice-President—M. A. Kastner.
2nd Vice-President—F. White.
Sec.-Treas.—J. S. Irvine.
Executive Committee—A Watson, A. Graham, S. Herchmer, E. K. Stewart, J. McLean and T. Prentice.

The lady members are also to elect three of their number to act with the executive committee in all matters peraining to the management of the Club.

A. C. Liphardt, G. F. Johnson and J. S. Corbett were appointed as a committee to solicit prizes for the ensuing year.

The fees were fixed as follows:

Men—$20.00.
Ladies—$10.00.
Non-Resident— $5.00.
Green Fees—50c per day.

The fees for caddies are—25c for 18 holes and 15c for 9 holes.

Work will be commenced on the course as soon as weather conditions permit. Following is the financial statement for last year:

JUDGMENT IN LIQUOR CASES

Last Friday the Court of Appeal handed down its decision in the three liquor appeals carried to it by the Crown when His Honor Judge Thompson last September allowed the appeals, quashed the convictions and dismissed the accused. Immediately following the restoration of the magistrate's convictions, which the Court of Appeal did, Mr. Justice Murphy who at the Fall Assizes here heard some seven appeals by way of stated case, from convictions for alleged sales, dismissed these cases and the convictions stand. The final proceedings in connection with these cases will now undoubtedly be the serving of the six month sentences imposed, as it is not at all probable that further steps by recourse to law will be taken in view of the decisions handed down by the highest tribunals within the Province.

Moved by Miss O'Brien, seconded by Lady Pope, and unanimously carried—"That the following be placed on the minutes and sent to all Chapters.

"The financial situation in Canada and the Mother Country is such as to cause anxiety, and whereas the need for thrift and economy is obvious, and whereas in order to readjust our adverse position, we should encourage increased production in Canada :

"Therefore be it resolved, that the National Executive urge the members of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, all over Canada to purchase, whenever possible, articles or clothing, food or other necessities of life which are manufactured or grown in Canada or any other part of the British Empire."

The National annual meeting will be held in Calgary, Alberta, during the week beginning May 24th. Full information as to place of meeting, transportation, etc., will be sent to the Chapters as soon as arrangements have been made.

Con. Smith, brewer for the Fernie-Fort Steele Brewing Co., left on Wednesday for Japan, where he has secured a lucrative position with a big brewing outfit in that country. He signed a two year contract.

Over 1500 children were vaccinated in Fernie during the past two weeks. There was some agitation against compulsory vaccination and a meeting was called for Wednesday evening to protest against it, but very few people seemed to be interested.

THEFT CASE IN COURT

The cases causing the greatest local interest at the sittings of the County Judge's Criminal Court this week were those of Rex vs. Nicholson, Nadon and Allison, and Rex vs. John Wilson. In connection with the former, these boys were defended by D. M. Mitchell, and pleas of guilty were entered. However, in view of their close relation to the Wilson case, sentence has been deferred until that matter has been concluded, which will be on April 7.

In the Wilson case the Crown, represented by A. B. Macdonald, K. C., of Cranbrook, six witnesses were called. Samuel Graham, who is only a recent arrival in this city, having come here to live in January last, was the first witness. He related having lost four cases of Scotch whiskey and ten bottles of rye whiskey. This had been intact in his residence on Victoria Avenue when he left for Crow's Nest on Saturday, March 13, but on his return Sunday morning, the 14th, he found his residence had been entered and the liquor had disappeared. Graham apparently commenced investigation of the theft himself as it was not until some time later the matter was reported to the police, with the result that the three boys were arrested, and after their arrest volunteered statements in connection with the crime which implicated Wilson. Chief Boardman and Constable Clarkston testified to the search being made early Monday morning at the residence of Mr. Wilson and the finding of two Johnnie Walker cases containing 21 bottles, and 18 bottles of John Dewar Special Liqueur. Mr. Wilson was then taken into custody and the liquor seized.

The evidence of the three boys amounted to their having watched Graham leave the city on the evening train on March 13, and then a short time after to their going to the residence, entrance to which was effected through the accused Allison having a key which opened the front door. They carried away, they claim, in all 53 bottles, being two suit cases each containing 12 bottles, the two wooden cases which they thought contained 24 bottles and five bottles of rye. They took it back of the Fernie Cartage Co. barn and Nicholson went to find Wilson, whom he soon located. When Wilson arrived they told him that they had some whiskey to sell and would he buy it. He told them to bring it into the house, where it was examined, and counted, and an effort to strike a bargain made. The boys first asked $120 for the lot, which Wilson refused and offered to give them $100. The boys left Wilson's house and according to them returned the suit cases to Graham's residence, later coming to the barn and accepting the $100 offered by Wilson, which they received in the form of a check for that amount. The boys claim that Mr. Wilson knew where they obtained the liquor. For the defence Paterson and the accused both gave evidence. The contention put forth was that in response to the boys being asked where they had obtained the liquor, they claimed they had procured it "from that Bootlegger who lived between Letcher's barn and the Chinaman's." The defence claimed that as Mr. Graham, to whom the boys referred, had endeavored to dispose of some liquor to them, they naturally thought the boys had accepted his offer; particularly on account of the belief that Graham was anxious to leave the city.

S. Herchmer appeared on behalf of Mr. Wilson, and after all the evidence was heard, addressed the court at considerable length. Mr. Macdonald replied on behalf of the case for the Crown. His Honor, however, in order to look up the law raised in connection with the case, adjourned same until April 7. Accused was allowed out on personal recognizance of $2000 and two sureties of $1000 each.

COMMUNICATION

Editor, Fernie Free Press:

Sir:—Allow me, through the columns of your paper, to say a few words on the question of the Sunday Observance Act. It has always been considered a lawful act, but has never been fully enforced in this community.

I noticed in the Friday's paper of March 19, a paragraph in reference to this act, which the Police Commissioners deemed necessary to enforce to a certain extent. By the way the paper read, the idea of selling no goods to anyone, on Sunday, except they be consumed on the premises, does not seem to be favorable with the majority.

I, myself, consider it to be most beneficial. As far as running a clean town is concerned, I think this step would greatly improve conditions. If the Sabbath is going to be observed, then why not observe it fully instead of half way?

The things purchased in the cigar and candy stores on Sunday are not necessarily essential. Therefore, why should they keep open doors on Sunday any more than a grocery or hardware store?

I do not think that the Police Commissioners have taken a step to the extreme. Every sensible thinking citizen will agree that it would be of further benefit if the cigar and candy stores were closed entirely on the Sabbath day.

Martha Reid.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Fred Sterling, of Nelson, District Freight Agent for the C.P.R., is in the city today.

Inspector Dunwoodie of the Provincial Police, returned last evening form a trip to West Kootenay.

W. Wegren, aged 34 years, an employee of the White Spruce Lumber Co., died in Fernie on Monday, the funeral taking place on Thursday. Influenza was the cause of death.

The concert given last Friday evening in the United church was a distinct success. Every number on the program was exceptionally well rendered and was thoroughly enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience. During the intermission little Miss Marjorie Batzold and Miss Jean MacKinnon appeared as little fairies and presented Mrs. Watson with a huge bouquet of caruahoris and sweet peas as a slight appreciation of her work, and to Miss Bell, who acted as accompanist, a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas. This is the second recital of the kind to be given by the ladies of the United church. After the concert was over all those taking part were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Liphardt at their home. Dainty refreshments were served and another enjoyable hour was spent.

CHAS. CHAPLIN'S WIFE WANTS SOME SUPPORT

Los Angeles, Cal.—Charging Charles Chaplin, screen comedian, has not lived with her for several months, and that he has failed to support her, Mrs. Mildred Harris Chaplin today confirmed the report that she has placed her affairs in the hands of an attorney and, unless her marital conditions are soon remedied, she will seek a divorce.

"I have not seen Mr. Chaplin in two weeks and he has not been living with me for several months," declared Mrs. Chaplin. "I am forced to conclude that he does not want to live with me. I do not want a divorce, nor do I want Mr. Chaplin's money, but I must have support."

When asked for a statement, Chaplin declared:

"Such is life in the Great West."

At the Chaplin residence a woman, who said she was Chaplin's secretary denied there is any difficulty between Mr. and Mrs. Chaplin, and said they were living together.

DOINGS IN THE B. C. HOUSE

Into the limbo of things forgotten has passed the incident which last week enlivened the House proceeding for a passing moment when Attorney General Farris "sprung" that cable message upon the Legislators in an abortive effort to relieve his pent-up feelings at the expense of the opposition leader, W. J. Bowser, K.C. Designed as a crushing retort to the telling criticism of the failure of the administration of the Game Department under the charge of his dentist chairman, Dr. Baker, and in retaliation for Mr. Bowser's able attack upon the manifold weaknesses of the new Elections Act, the cablegram into which the Attorney General read the insinuation that the former had, when he cabled to Sir Richard McBride on Sept. 16, 1916, "I want 180 votes to elect me" been demanding that the then Agent-general the wrongful production of votes to make up Mr. Bowser's home deficiency, has proved a veritable boomerang. The insinuation by the Attorney-general was promptly replied to Mr. Bowser, whose explanation was, on its face, so palpably sincere and reasonable that the Premier was moved to rush to the defense of his Minister in a lengthy harrangue which, while it breathed resentment, bristled with insinuations and inuenda and covert charges against the opposition leader, left a bad taste in mouths of members. The Premier's effort convinced no one, not even the most rabid of his party followers, and comment in the Legislative corridors made it clear that in the opinion of members the Attorney-general's move in introducing the cable and seeking to make political capital thereof was ill-advised and reflected no credit upon himself or the government, and certainly cast no discredit upon the opposition leader. Summed up, it proved to be just another of those peevish outbursts for which the Attorney-general is becoming noted; an ebullition of childish petulence he displays when opposition thrusts get home.

Mr. Bowser's statement to the House on Monday to the Attorney-general's attack was temperate in tone, convincing in its logic and withal simply made. Unlike the Minister, Mr. Bowser's manner was frank and open, but there was sting to his statement when he challenged the Attorney-general to fight out the issue at the coming elections in Vancouver, the city he has represented for seventeen years, in which period, he asserted, he had never taken part in a crooked election and where no different opinion had ever been held of him until the Attorney-general, in 1916, had insinuated that his money was behind the Seattle pluggers. It was quite true, Mr. Bowser said, that it was possible to read into a perfectly innocent message an evil suggestion, if such suited the political purposes of members of the governmetn but, he concluded, "I dislike to wipe out the frenzied joy which the honorable members showed at the end of the Attorney-general's speech, and which looked as if the whole matter had been rehearsed previously in their caucus, but if they knew the Attorney-general as well as I do, I think the next time they had better stage something more conclusive, and have some other member of the cabinet chosen to do the work who will, at least, read the cable in its entirety."

Mr. Bowser's motion that his statement be made part of the records of the House moved the Premier to offer an amendment designed to give him opportunity to come to the rescue of his discomfited minister, an amendment calling for the tabling of all cables passing between the government and the then Agent-general in connection with the overseas' count. Here was another opportunity for Liberal members to sit back in anticipation of further developments. On Tuesday Premier Oliver spoke to his amendment. Summarized, his remarks were a re-hash of all the hard things the Liberals have been wont to say about the opposition leader couched in the characteristic bull-dozing manner of the government's head, who, however, was careful to say he was making no charges. He pointed to the fact that some cables which, he said, had been exchanged at that time because the cable company's accounts showed them to have been paid for, were not available, a sinister circumstance, he opined. He admitted the opposition leader's explanation might be all right; he was not prepared to say it wasn't, but it looked queer to him. In fact, the Premier spent an hour telling the House that he had his doubts. He did exactly what Mr. Bowser suggested would be done by anyone, especially a hide-bound Liberal, who desired to do so, that is, read into any meaning it suited his political purpose to do. But the Premier's statement was not without its interesing feaures. For instance, in regard to Mr. Bowser's reference to the plugging scandal and to the fact that the former Attorney-general (M. A. Macdonald) had had to leave the government, the Premier naively retorted that that gentleman had been at fault only in that he had accepted campaign funds from the C.N.R. personally "rather than through an intermediary." In view of the fact that Mr. Macdonald has persistently been endeavoring to convince a skeptical public that that donation was not from the C.N.R. at all but from Dr. Mackenzie, a personal friend, the Premier's version was a frank admission to say the least. The Premier also felt called upon to apologize for the demeanor of his Attorney-general who, he said, was prone to speak in heat.

The Premier's amendment was accepted by the House, the opposition supporting it. With its passing closed an incident which, while it entertained the galleries for two days, delayed the more serious business of the Legislature, the while failing to create that sensation which its author, the Attorney-general inteded it should.

The past week has seen the Legislature get down to some real business and progress has been made with legislation so far brought down. Chief attention has been paid to the new Elections Act in connection with which it early became apparent that the opposition criticism has produced marked effect. The strong declaration by Mr. Bowser against the proposal to grant the franchise to Japanese veterans who served overseas had brought forth the excuse from the government that it was not to be taken as a declaration of policy, but merely a concession to the request from the G.W.V.A. in Vancouver to extend to the Japs the vote. Just how such a provision incorporated in a government measure which had been fully canvassed in caucus before it reached the House, could be construed into anything else that a considered policy of the government was not explained. The opposition which in almost every section of the Province, and by every class in the community, has been voiced against the proposal has made it abundantly clear that Mr. Bowser, in his attitude, has expressed the unanimous opinion of the people of the Province, While the definite announcement has not, as yet, been forthcoming it is practically a certainty that the obnoxious clause will be eliminated.

The opposition scored a point, too, when their assault upon the growing practice of Ministers of the government taking to themselves powers rightfully pertaining to the Legislature or, at any rate to the Lieutenant-governor-in-council, forced the Minister of Mines to make an important change in the bill to amend the Mineral Act whereunder provision was made for placing reserves upon iron ore lands upon advice of the Minister, to whom authority was given to lift such reserves when he saw fit. This was the measure which Mr. Bowser had claimed would so prejudicially affect the prospectors of the Province and which was extending the harmful policy already inaugurated by the Minister of Lands whereby the latter secured control of the administration of the coal and petroleum lands of the Province. The bill, as drafted, would have permitted the Minister of Mines to lift a reserve without any public notice and dispose of the lands in any manner he might see fit. Mr. Bowser urged that when a reserve was lifted due public notice should be given, ad he was heartily supported by Mr. Hanes, North Vancouver. As a result of the criticism directed against the measure an amendment was brought in by the Minister providing for the public notification, thus eliminating any possibility of secret negotiations between the Minister or government and any individual or syndicate who might desire to secure control of such ore lands.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to mkke improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfillment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

STRIKES ARE UNLAWFUL

Paris, March—Under the government bill for the settlement of labor disputes arbitration is made compulsory in all public services, namely, railways, street railways and all other public transportation agencies, gas and electrical plants, fuel, mines, water, light and power plants and hospitals, and in cities of more than 25,000 inhabitants in the city, health and cleaning services. In all such services the employers must within a month submit to the government for approval a statement of wages, conditions and pensions.

In all other commercial, industrial and agricultural establishments employing more than twenty workers, although the final right of strike and lockout is maintained, a preliminary attempt at conciliation is made obligatory.

When trouble threatens the employes are obliged to choose not more than five delegates, men or women, more than 21 years of age, who have been employed at least six months, but when an enterprise employs several categories of workers each category must have its own delegation. The management must receive this delegation within 24 hours and give an answer within another 24 hours unless the time is extended by agreement.

If no conciliation results it is obligatory upon both parties to agree on a conciliator or each shall choose a conciliator or shall address themselves to a special conciliation commission or to a justice of the peace. Both parties are then subject to a summons within 24 hours and must have authority to sign an agreement. If conciliation again fails arbitration is optional. If arbitration is agreed upon both parties may name one or several arbitrators. If the arbitrators disagree they themselves may name another or leave the choice to the proper judicial officer of the district.

Strikes or lockouts are forbidden during the process of arbitration. Arrangements are provided for establishing special conciliation committees in various industres by government decree in agreement with the employers and working people. Another interesting article provides that the delegates in any enterprise may be made permanent under regulations drawn up by the employers and ratified by the majority of the employes.

The bill will probably receive favorable consideration in the Chamber. The majority groups, comprising 495 out of a total of 626 deputies, have been holding meetings recently on this very question because of the railway strike.

They are agreed that strikes are perfectly admissible in ordinary industries where the employer has the right of lockout, but they are not permissible in public utilities, where lockouts are impossible and where the contests therefore are unfair.

NOT ALL PRIME BEEF

Out of every dollar paid by the packer to the farmer for cattle 25 cents goes to purchase parts which bring no return whatever to the abattoir.

Tests recently made show the yield of saleable parts and of waste material in an average steer of 1000 lbs. live weight to be as follows:

	Lbs.
Dressed Carcass	540
Hide	70
Edible Fat	40
Liver	9
Tongue	6
Heart	3½
Tail	1
Head Meat	5½
Sweetbreads	1
Casings	10
Tripe	10
Tankage (dry)	12
Oil and Grease	6
Bones	18
Blood (dry)	9
Sinews	2
	743

Including the manure, which weighs about 75 lbs. and hardly pays for removal, the total waste amounts to 257 lbs. or just over one-quarter of the live weight of the animal.

At ten cents a pound live weight the wastage on a 1000 lb. steer is over $25.

Only by using every particle of the by-products can monetary loss be avoided and only by keentst attention to these points can meat prices with increasing cost of manufacture, be kept down to the present retail level.

Eighteen thousand schools were reported closed in the United States on February the 13th, on account of a shortage of teachers, while over forty thousand schools were being conducted by teachers characterized as "below standard, but taken on temporarily in the emergency."

COLEMAN MAN IS PRESIDENT CANADIAN MINING INSTITUTE

Toronto.—The Canadian Mining nstitue at the last session of its convention here went on record as being unanimously in favor of nickle coinage. On the proposition of T. W. Gibson, deputy minister of mines for Ontario, and seconded by A. J. Young a resolution was adopted recommending to the government the advisability of nickle coinage and its circulation at an early date.

C. R. Macdonald, of the International Company, said Canada produced 80 per cent of the world's nickle.

The following officers for the coming year were elected:

President, O. E. S. Whiteside, general manager, International Coal & Coke Company, Coleman, Alta.

Western vice-presidents: British Columbia, E. E. Campbell, mine superintendent, Granby Smelting Company, Anyox, B.C.; Manitoba, W. J. Dick, fuel engineer, Coal Sellers, Limited, Winnipeg.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., March 22, 1920.
Editor Fernie Free Press:

Anent your remarks with reference to the Police Commissioners in last week's Free Press, permit me to say that for once you are quite correct when you say that a majority of the citizens are in favor of a clean town. They are. But you are wrong as usual when you say that a few fanatics, or any one else, for that matter, dictate to the Police Commissioners. Neither you nor any one else dictates to the Police Commissioners.

So far as the Free Press is concerned, it would be a mighty long time before the town was clean if it had to wait on its efforts in that behalf. I venture to say that you cannot reproduce one single item that ever appeared in the Free Press, since I ceased to control it, condemning bootlegging, Sunday liquor selling, gambling, prostitution or anything of that nature. It is doubtful if the same could be said of any other paper in the province.

Police Commissioners are sworn to uphold the law. It is unlawful to sell cigars and confectionery on Sunday, except in regular eating houses. It is also unlawful to seel fishing tackle, baseball goods, boxing gloves, silverware, safety razors, etc., on Sunday. Almost every store in the city carries these goods. If one store is allowed to sell such goods on Sunday all should be.

It would be much more becoming a would-be framer of public opinion to assist in making a clean town instead of condemning those who are trying to do so.

MUST FILE INCOME RETURN

Piano For Sale—Instrument in good condition. Apply Fred Bass, Northern Hotel.

Wyandotte and Leghorn Eggs for Sale; $1.50 per setting. Apply Thos. Allen, West Fernie. M26-3

Forms for filing Dominion Income Tax Returns for 1919 have now been supplied to all postmasters in British Columbia and in view of the fact that the 1919 Amendment to the Income War Tax Act calls for a penalty of 25 per cent of the amount of the tax should the taxpayer fail to file his return on or before April 30, 1920, all persons who are taxable should see that their returns are recorded by the date named, otherwise the penalty set out in the Act must be strictly adhered to. Under the Act the onus of completing a return within the prescribed time limit rests entirely with the taxpayer without any notice or demand by the Department; on the other hand all persons who are requested to file returns, whether they consider themselves liable to tax or not, must make such returns as required.

All unmarried persons, widows or widowers without dependent children, whose gross income exceeds $1000 and all married persons, widows and widowers with dependent children whose gross income exceeds $2000, are required to make returns.

All incorporated companies whose gross income exceeds $2000 are required to make returns.

The following are the rates of tax for 1919:

Four per centum upon all income exceeding one thousand dollars but not exceeding six thousand dollars in the case of unmarried persons and widows or widowers without dependent children, and persons who are not supporting brothers or sisters under the age of 18 years, or a dependent parent or parents, grandparent or grandparents; and exceeding two thousand dollars but not exceeding six thousand dollars in the case of all other persons; and eight per centum upon all income exceding six thousand dollars; and in addition thereto a graduated surtax is levied on all incomes exceeding $5000. The rates commence at 1 per cent between $5000 and $6000 and run to 65 per cent where the income exceeds $1,000,000.

Corporations and Joint Stock Companies no matter how created, or organized shall pay ten per centum upon income exceeding $2000.

The following are the forms used for filing returns:

Form "T" 1—This form is for filing returns of all individuals (except farmers and ranchers) and should be completed for the calendar year, except in the cases of proprietors and partners in business, who may file a return in conformity with their books for their fiscal year falling within the calendar year 1919.—To be filed on or before 30th April.

Form "T" 1A—This form is to be filed by farmers and ranchers and should be completed for the calendar year.—To be filed on or before the 30th April.

Form "T" 2—This form to be used by Incorporated Companies and should be filed for the fiscal year or calendar year ending in 1919.—To be filed on or before the 30th April.

Form "T" 3—Is for the use of Trustees, Executors, Administrators, Agents, Receivers, or other persons acting in a fiduciary capacity. Returns are required for the calendar year in all cases where the gross income exceeds $500 whether distributed or not.—To be filed on or before the 31st March.

Form "T" 4—To be filed by employers showing wages, salaries, commission or other remuneration paid.—To be filed on or before 31st of March.

Form "T" 5—Returns to be filed by Corporations showing dividends paid during the calendar year.—To be filed on or before the 31st March.

All persons who should file returns on Forms T-3, T-4 and T-5, who fail to do so before the 31st March are liable to a penalty of $10 for each day during which the default continues.

Any further information or forms may be obtained from C. H. Clendenning, Inspector of Taxation, London Building, Vancouver, B.C.

MILK DOES A LOT

We have a letter from a little town up the coast in which a lady states that she couldn't cook now without Pacific Milk.

She says that when they lived in Vancouver her cakes always seemed coarse and sort of heavy.

When she had to leave off using fresh mily it worried her until she tried Pacific. The baking improved so much that now she says she will always have Ladner packed mily on her pantry shelves.

Mike Rosse, who during his stay in the town of Blairmore has won fame only through his connection with the all-but-honorable liquor traffic, appeared before an adjourned court session at Coleman on Tuesday, to answer the charge of having sold intoxicating liquor on or about the 25th of February. Mike appeared before Magistrate Burrell on Monday the 8th, and pleaded "not guilty". On Tuesday, appearing under the same charge and being defended by C. F. Harris, of Lethbridge, he pleaded guilty and was assessed $150 and costs. The public have every reason to ask why discrimination is shown in Rosse's interest. Other individuals, apparently no more enwrapped in the traffic than Mike, paid into the courts at Coleman on the 8th, sums of $175 and upwards, all of whom pleaded guilty and made no bones about their illicit business or kick about paying any amount to avoid going to the penitentiary. The remark is being made repeatedly in public that the decision in the case f Rosse represents a gross mis-carriage of justice.—Blairmore Enterprise.

GUARD AGAINST THE 'FLU

Serious Outbreaks of Influenza all over Canada

GOOD HEALTH IS THE SUREST SAFEGUARD

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brings Vigor and Vitality and Thus Protects Against Disease

There can be no doubt that the situation regarding the spread of Influenza throughout Canada is one of grave concern. It is quite true that the number of cases does not constitute an epidemic such as caused the suffering and sorrow during the terrible days of 1918. Yet there is no disguising the fact that everyone should be on their guard against the disease.

In Montreal alone, from January 20th to February 21st, three thousand, one hundred and twenty-two cases of Influenza and 139 deaths from the disease were reported to the Health Department.

If the outbreak had come at the beginning of the winter instead of the end, we might reasonably feel that the very cold weather would check the spread of the disease. But coming as it has, at the end of the winter, there is grave fear that an epidemic may occur. For spring, with its slush and rain under foot, its dampness and chill, its constant changing from cold to warm and back again, is a prolific source of coughs and colds, pleurisy and pneumonia.

The best protection, in fact, the only safeguard against the 'Flu, is, GOOD HEALTH.

Those who are not as well and strong as they should be; those who are underweight; those who are "run-down" through overwork or sickness; should build up at once. What they need is a Blood-purifier, a body-builder, a strength-giver, like "Fruit-a-tives", the wonderful fruit medicine.

"Fruit-a-tives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the skin active, and insures an abundant supply of pure, rich blood. "Fruit-a-tives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, sharpens the appetite, brings restful sleep and renews the vitality of the nervous system. "Fruit-a-tives" contains everything that an ideal tonic should have; to purify the blood, to build up strength and vigor, and to regulate the eliminating organs, so that the whole system would be in the best possible condition to resist disease.

Now is the time to build up your health and strength, not only as a precaution against the ravages of Influenza, but also to protect you against "spring fever" and the inevitable reaction which comes with the appearance of warmer weather. Get a box of "Fruit-a-tives" today and let this fruit medicine keep you well.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, trial size 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The picture is so big that one is completely overwhelmed. It seems as if a fortune has been expended in each scene which appears on the screen, and the spectacle simply beggars description. The Fox production is flawless in its setting—magnificent beyond compare. The performance of the star is at all times vastly interesting. Never has Miss Bara looked so regally beautiful, and if the original Cleo were just half so lovely as her prototype we do not blame Antony for renouncing Rome.—Tribune, New York.

Theda Bara in "Cleopatra"

The Premier Siren of the Screen Portrays the Passions of Egypt's Vampire Queen

Facts Concerning this Theda Bara Superpicture

It was photographed in California.
It represents the co-ordinated playing of 30,000 people.
It took months to make and represents the expenditure of huge sums for the erection of Egyptian and Roman cities.
It portrays the world's first naval battle—the battle of Actium—and the first great naval conflict ever fimed.
80 vessels were especially constructed for the naval battle scenes, and later burned to the water's edge.
Miss Bara wears fifty distinctively different costumes....Before and during the production ten seamstresses were constantly working on Miss Bara's costumes.
To match each costume the Siren of the Nile wears a complete set of jewels—fifty dazzling sets of baubles.
2,000 people who do not appear on the screen were active in the work of production—carpenters, masons, painters, hostlers, ship builders, and the like.
3,000 horses were used in the battle and desert scenes.
100,000 lunches were consumed by the armies of Rome and Egypt.

Mrs. Colton's Spring Millinery Opening is now on. She has one of the most beautiful displays of pattern and picture hats that has ever been shown here. Visit her parlors before making your puchase.

Little Helen Harrington, who has been ill for many months, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Harrington, early on Tuesday morning. She was buried from the Roman Catholic church yesterday morning, the funeral being largely attended. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the entire community.

Harry Martin, Supt. of the M. F. & M., has resigned his position and will move to Cleveland, Ohio, having been a resident of Fernie 19 years and a good citizen. He says that things are becoming so straight-laced here under the new regime that a man might as well live back east where he can at least buy an ice cream soda on the Sabbath.

The funeral of the late James Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wood, of Fernie, who died in a Vancouver hospital last week, took place in Fernie on Tuesday. Deceased, who was a returned man, died from the effects of gas poisoning which he received in France. He was buried with military honors, his old comrades carrying him to his last resting place.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Trade, which should be held on the first Thursday in each month, will not be held on April 1, as this date precedes Good Friday and all places of business will remain open the evening prior. It has therefore been decided to postpone the meeting, the date of which will be announced in the usual manner.

No trace of the man Cousins, who wrote Rev. Batzold last week stating that he intended to commit suicide in the Elk River, has yet been found. If he did jump into the Elk the chances are that it will be many months before the body is discovered. Cousins is supposed to have been a prominent Montreal lawyer and there is considerable evidence which would lead one to believe that he was a dope fiend.

On Tuesday evening the K. of P.'s entertained the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs to a social evening in Ingram's hall. A short whist drive was held from 8.30 to 10 o'clock, after which a program of songs and recitations was given and dancing was indulged in till about 2 a.m. Fred Bass was at the piano. Mr. H. Douglas occupied the chair. This was the result of the curling game held last week, between two teams from each lodge. About one hundred guests were present and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

Why did Squire Brown encourage gypsies regularly to encamp in his grounds? Rumor has it that he hoped through them to some day find his long lost son. This could not be so, because being of a kind disposition, he had always previous to the loss of his child allowed them his privilege. Now he might be seen mingling with them and playing with their children, thereby relieving to some extent the great sorrow which for twelve long years had darkened his life. If you wish to know the way in which this sorrow was changed into joy as an outcome of the Squire's kindness, see "Agatha" at the Grand theatre on April 14. Admission 75c; reserved seats 25c extra. Seats on sale at McLean's drug store.

THE EXTRA SAFEGUARD

"Should I lose my earning power through accident or disease, who will keep up my life assurance payment?"

You may have asked yourself this question.

The Sun Life's Total Disability provision arranges under such circumstances to keep your policy in force, without further premiums, and, in addition, to pay you an income of one-tenth of the face value of the policy each remaining year of your life, starting immediately. The extra charge is comparatively trifling.

Ask us to tell you about it.

JOHN WALKER HAS GAINED 25 POUNDS

Had to Give Up His Business But Is Back on the Job Every Day Now

"My five years of troubles had pulled me down until I weighed only one hundred and fifteen pounds at the time I began taking Tanlac, but now I tip the scales at exactly one hundred and thirty-eight," said John Walker, a well known tile layer residing at 428 Alexander Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"I had suffered so long that I had no colr in my skin and hardly strength enough to move about," continued Mr. Walker. "I had to give up my regular line of work and take up a different business, and I was in such a weakened condition that I almost had to give it up also. I was all I could do to put in one or two days a week and I had to lay off the rest of the time. At last I was compelled to go to the hospital and I styed there seven and a half weeks, but I came home in no better condition than I was. I had such a poor appetite that I hardly cared whether I went to the table or not and my digestion was so bad that I had terrible pains across my back and around my heart. It seemed that no matter what time I went t obed I could never close my eyes until after three o'clock in the morning, and when I got up I felt worse than when I went to bed the night before. I was troubled almost constantly with an awful pain across my back, and when I stooped over it felt like my back was breaking in two.

"I was advised by a friend to take Tanlac, and as I had read a great deal about it I decided to give it a trial. I have taken six bottles and it has made such a different man out of me that all my friends are remarking about how well and strong I am looking. I never once dreamed that anything could build me up and strengthen me like Tanlac did. I have a splendid appetite and digest what I eat without the least trouble and the pains in my chest and around my heart heave all disappeared. The pains in my back are just about gone I sleep fine at night and my color has come back. As I said I have gained twenty-three pounds in weight and have gone back to doing my regular work of tile-laying. My gain has been in every way and I am in better general health than I have been in years."

INCREASE IN COMPENSATION

Amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act, as set forth in the bill brought down in the legislature by Attorney General Farris, provide for increased compensation to dependents of workmen fatally injured. It provides for the payment to:

1. A dependent who is a widow or an invalid widower without any children $35 per month for life instead of $20 heretofore paid.

2. To a widow or invalid widower with one or more children, $35, with an additional $7.50 compared with the previous $5 for each child under sixteen or each invalid child over that age, but not exceeding in all $65 as against $40 now allowed.

3. Where the dependents are children without any widow or invalid widower the existing $10 per month to each child under 16 years of age, and to each invalid child over that age, is increased to $12.50, not to exceed in the whole $50, against the present $40.

4. Where there is no widow or invalid widower or any child under sixteen or invalid child over that age, but there are other dependents, the present $20 paid is increased to $30 for the parent or parents, but not more than $45 all told.

The amount of $20 which the board was allowed to grant to a parent or parents in the above cases of 1 and3, is increased to $30, but not to exceed, with the payments to children, $65 in all compared with the present $40 being allowed. Increases are also provided for out of the accumulation of funds arising out of lesser sums paid to dependents residing outside of Canada of aliens who die here.

It is also provided that in case a dependent widow marries, the monthly payments to her shall cease, but she shall be entitled in lieu of them a sum equal to the monthly payments for two years this however not to exceed $480.

These various increases will date from January 1 this year.

The Attorney General also introduced a bill to provide for the appointment by the Lt.-Gov. in Council of an administrator of lunatics' estates, with wide powers to deal with such estates and clothed with all the powers of a committee appointed by a judge in lunacy.

CARRYING NEWS INTO AFRICA

A gallant little band of four members of the Union Camel Corps have managed to struggle back to Grootfontein after announcing the Allied victory and the signing of the peace to the native tribes of the far north (says a Reuter dispatch to the Johannesburg (Transvaal) Sunday Times-. Thus the glad tidings were carried to the Ovambos and Barotses, and the news spread through the lands of the Bushmen and other tribes. Their adventures have seldom been rivaled in the history of outposts of the British Empire.

In the words of a Dutch farmer of the district, "These four went where 20,000 German soldiers could not and would not have gone."

Thus it was with particular interest that the governor-general inspected the remnants of the camels belonging to the corps and heard the thrilling story of Captain Gage, the military magistrate, and Captain Swemmer, the squadron commander, who had led the small peace mission. Of the men of the corps who went with them, one, a Dutch sergeant-major, was the most expert in finding the path through the wilds.

The squadron went out shortly after the signing of peace, out past Namutoni and the Etosha Pan, and over the 200 and odd miles of almost unknown bush to the Okovango River. Day after day they swung along to the ungainly gait of the camels through a country largely waterless and given over to big game, lions, snakes, and Bushmen. Thanks, in a big measure, to the skillful track-finding of the Dutch sergeant-major, the small expedition of the patrol safely reached the Okovango and had a splendid welcome from the Ovambos. On the river are the kraals of the three principal chiefs and the Union officers purchased and killed twelve oxen so that there was a mighty feast in each kraal to celebrate the Allied victory and the signing of the peace. Naturally the intrepid four were the honored guests of the chiefs, on whom they report very favorably, both as regards their behavior and the state of the kraals.

They then went farther afield and joined in the celebration with the Portuguese officers over the Okovango.

On the return journey the small party split in half, Captain Gage and Captain Swemmer each taking a sergeant with him. All went well until within 160 miles of Grootfontein. As usual a large fire was lit by Captain Swemmer at night, as lions were often numerous. The camels were only thirty yards from the fire, and the belief of the patrol had always been that lions would not attack camels. The first sign of anything wrong which Captain Swemmer and the sergeant got was the frenzied squeal of a camel. Then by the light of the fire a lion could be seen tearing to pieces a big old bull camel. A lioness immediately seized and dragged away another camel. Captain Swemmer and the sergeant soon got a hot fusilade going, the latter managing to secure one camel, at the same time endeavoring to keep up the rifle fire. The other three camels stampeded. As a result of this fight and an endeavor to find the stampeded camels the two members of the patrol became lost in grass growing higher than their heads. They fired shots to attract attention, and Bushmen came to them in the long grass and led them on to their track.

Their position was fairly desperate. It was 160 miles to Grootfontein, and they had only one bottle of water and one camel. They also knew that the last eighty miles was an absolutely waterless tract. Still their resolution to reach the headquarters of the patrol never faltered, and taking turns at riding on the camel and walking they averaged thirty-two miles per day. As it would have been fatal to drink from the water bottle they merely moistened their lips, and after four trying days they got near Grootfontein.

Then came one of those mysterious incidents which happen in wildest Africa. By some means the Bushmen passed along the word that Captain Swemmer had been attacked by lions and was coming along with one camel and that he would need water. The Bushmen on the fringe of Grootfontein got the tidings to the men of the patrol, and a trooper hurried along the track with water bottles and met them at the beginning of their fifth day of thirst. The rest of the journey home was easy. How the news travelled is not known. Bushmen runners may have taken the trouble to bring it to the Bushmen near Grootfontein. This is not thought very probable, and, curiously enough, white men who have lived long in the district prefer to believe that the Bushmen have the great primitive gift of telepathy. Instances are given in Grootfontein on very reliable authority of news traveling a large distance in an unbelievably short time, such as eighty miles in a matter of hours. This is considered to be outside the powers of any runners, and the information in three notable cases has been quite accurate.

It was naturally thought in Grootfontein that the five missing camels had been devoured. but in a few days two of the acmels which stampeded found their way home to the headquarters of the patrol, a marvelous feat in itself, quite apart from the fact that they had been for a week in

When later, aptain Gage passed near the spot of the attack on the camels a lion and lioness crossed the path just in front of him in broad daylight, and other lions were seen, but this section of the gallant four was not molested. The incident has knocked on the head the plan of placing camels round the camp at night to ward off lions in the belief that a lino will never attack a camel.

BRITISH LABOR BACK TO SANITY

By a vote of more than three to one the trades unions of Great Britain last week declared against Direct Action, or as it is known on this side of the water, the General Strike. This decision encourages the belief that British labor is at last settling down to an intelligent view of the world's economic situation. Great as was the waste and distress involved by the transport workers' strike last autumn it may have been a blessing in disguise. Because of the vital part the railway systems play in the life of a country like Great Britain, where the urban populations largely exceed that of the rural districts, the transport workers' strike bore most of the outward aspects of a General Strike. It tied up most industries and interfered with the food supply almost as effectively as if all unions had been simultaneously ordered to cease every form of activity except picketing and parading.

The trades unions of Great Britain thus obtained practical experience of how oppressively a General Strike bears upon the working classes and it is quite obvious that they want no more such tragic nonsense. Robt. Smillie, the chief champion of Direct Action, who less than a year ago was regarded as the most powerful and dangerous labor leader in Great Britain, is today a discredited man. The vote in question was taken —a proposal from Smillie and his friends in the miners' union—that Labor as a united body resort to a general strike to compel the Government to nationalize the mines. Already the Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George proposes a nationalization of mineral rights, but stops short of taking the operation of the mines themselves out of private hands. It is obvious that Smillie, in his nationalization plans, wished to atain a position which would make him a dictator of the extent of output, the hours of labor and rate of wages, under a nationalized system. Since a great number of British industries are in the last instance dependent on the coal, iron, and other minerals produced by British mines, the goal was plainly the control of industry by labor.

British labor circles were last year flooded with literature aiming to prove that such a system had proven a success in Russia. The truth about Russia has been lately revealed in a manner that cannot be controverted by the mere assertion that all arguments against the control of industry by labor are the lies of the capitalistic press. The British workmen now know that the Soviet government though victorious in a military sense has suffered a defeat of all the principles on which it is founded. The control of industry by labor has ended in the conscription of labor at long hours and low wages and the re-employment at large salaries of the deposed "bourgeois" who formerly directed industry. Last week's vote on Direct Action shows that not more than twenty per cent of organized labor in the motherland remains still infected with Bolshevism.

This decision does not mean that labor as a political force will be less powerful in Great Britain. By a vote equally strong the unions declared for political or constitutional action which means that they will endeavor to secure reforms in their interest by securing the support of a majority of the whole people. In this endeavor a casting off of the follies of Bolshevism will strengthen rather than weaken the Independent Labor Party. —Toronto Saturday Night.

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS LABOR IS BOLSHEVIST

London, March 19.—Lloyd George declared the extremists were in control of the labor party and its policy was Bolshevism and disdained any redress of grievances and improvement of conditions. What they sought was to destroy systm, root and branch, and plant another tree. As a Liberal he was out to fight despotism, whether on the part of autocracy or on the part of trades union officials. The premier made those statements at a meeting with coalition Liberals, held for discussion regarding the proposed formation of a new party by fusing with the Unionists. The meeting was private, but it is reported that Lloyd George maintained the impossibility of a coalition between the Liberals and the Labor party and urged the absolute necessity of a complete co-operation between the moderate elements in ordr to fight the socialists. He asserted that a large number of members in the Commons supposed to represent Labor did not really do so. He would be willing to retire and take a rest after 15 years' strenuous service if the party desired it.

GOOD BUSINESS

The proposition of the Fernie Board of Trade, decided at the Annual meeting of the Board last week, to request other similar bodies to co-operate in the maintenance in the field at all times of a permanent working secretary or publicity agent, is one of merit, and should have the hearty support of all the commercial bodies in the district and business interests.

The action of the Fernie Board is simply voicing the unanimous opinion of members of the local board the question having been fully discussed at a recent meeting of the Cranbrook board when it was decided to appeal to other boards in the district and endeavor to bring about the organization of an Associated Board for South East Kootenay.

At the same time speakers told of the importance of such an official as is now proposed to put in the field, and the local executive should not hesitate in giving the undertaking the support possible, especially in view of the fact that the question was approved some time ago.

The work has become so voluminous and the prospects in sight are that it will continue to increase to the point where it is quite unfair to expect any business man to give his time to the work.

Mr. J. F. Spalding is out for the place, and his work is so well known that no doubt he will receive the hearty support of the local board for the place if it can be provided for in a financial way.

Had such an official been in office when the California moving picture company was seeking a place to stage a snow scene, and when it was decided to go to Golden, later being sidetracked by a Vancouver newspaper which advised the company there was no snow in that section in the early part of the coming month, things might be different and some excellent publicity, and probably a permanent thing would have been established in the Golden section.

This is but another instance bearing out this paper's contention that the Coast is "hogging" everything and that, to hold our own and progress we must become active and offset this sort of propaganda.

In other words we have live wire, paid publicity men to combat and we must meet them in a similar manner to the tactics they have adopted—be alive and go after things that rightly belong to us.

The time is now, when some action along the lines suggested by Fernie Board, should be decided upon. — Cranbrook Herald.

COAL CREEK NOTES

The children of the camp had an enjoyable time on Friday last when they were the guests of the "Old Stiffs." The kiddies were regaled with candies, chocolate, ice cream and cakes. A remarkable incident was that every child evidently had a younger brother or sister for whom they claimed a share of the good things provided. Oh, you, Bill.

Visions of brighter prospects loom ahead, the mines having worked four days this week.

The grim reaper gathered toll from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dugal McGregor on Saturday last, when their baby boy passed away. The funeral took place on Monday. The sympathy of the residents is extended to the bereaved parents.

Arrangements are under way for the presentation of a suitable testimonial to John Oliver, colliery accountant up here, who has taken up duties in the big office at Fernie. During his reign of office up here Jack has gained the respect and esteem of all who came in contact with him, by his obliging and courteous manner. We wish him every success in his new sphere of labor.

Harry Lathorn has been appointed colliery accountant up here. H. Page has received the appointment lately occupied by Harry.

A representative meeting of married men and women was held in the Club hall on Wednesday evening for the purpose of arranging a big social dance. It was decided to pull off the dance on Friday, April 9, invitations to be sent to Bachelor Girls, Bachelors and Old Stiffs. A committee was appointed to fix up details and we hope the appeal of the refreshment committee will meet with a ready response.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Worthington journeyed to Michel on Wednesday evening to attend the wedding of Percy Almond, brother of Mrs. Worthington.

We are requested to ask all local Moose to attend at Ingram's hall on Monday evening next. Installation of officers for the coming season, after which a social will be held for members and families only.

"CLEOPATRA" TO BE SHOWN AT THE ORPHEUM NEXT WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

When William Fox presents his epoch-making film version of "Cleopatra," with Theda Bara as the Siren of the Nile at the Orpheum on Wednesday and Thursday, next, local amusement seekers will see the most sensational and magnificent photo-dramatic spectacle ever produced. The passions and pageants of Egypt's vampire queen as portrayed by the screen's foremost interpreter of siren roles aroused the entire theatre and picture-going public of New York, where "Cleopatra" enjoyed a phenomenally successful run on Broadway at the Lyric Theatre. No film drama ever offered the American public has achieved greater popularity than this stupendous production.

William Fox, who is never happier than when making cinema productions of huge proportions, is said to have set a new mark with his picturization of the famous loves of Cleopatra, and it will be some time before there will be found a type into which the savage beauty and personality of Miss Bara fits more perfectly.

"Cleopatra" was photographed in California under the direction of J. Gordon Edwards. It represents the co-ordinated playing of 30,000 people. It took months to make and represents the expenditure of large sums for the erection of egyptian and Roman cities. It portrays the world's first naval battle—the battle of Actium—for which eighty vessels were especially constructed and later burned to the water's edge. It shows the armies of Egypt and Rome engaged in titanic struggle, depicts the death of Caesar in the Roman Forum, and shows the fascinating Siren of the Nile working her wiles on the Roman conquerors.

HAVE NO USE FOR POTTER

Michel, B.C., March 24.—The O.B.U. held a meeting in Natal on Saturday night, March 20, when about 50 members assembled and Mr. Sudworth, who was a delegate to the Lethbridge convention, handed in his report for their consideration.

The meeting resolved to uphold Bellevue and Blairmore in their present struggle against owners and the U.M.W.A. The most serious part of the meeting then began, which was a discussion re Mr. Potter, of Fernie, who, it seems, had been appointed by Beard as an organizer for the O.B.U. at a salary of $6.50 a day ,with board and lodgings. Denunciations against retaining him in the fold of the O.B.U. here were so frequent that the management concluded they had made a mistake.

R. J. Stenson, Govt. Agent at Kaslo, will be the new agent at Fernie, B.C. Mr. Stenson is spoken of very highly in West Kootenay and will no doubt make good in Fernie.

TO NELSON FOR SIX MONTHS

In connection with the Appeal by Way of Stated Case in re Denusick vs. Owen, the following is the judgment handed down by Mr. Justice Murphy under date of March 22: "Inasmuch as the point of substance in this appeal has been disposed of by the Court of Appeal adversely to appellant's contention, it is necessary for me to decide the preliminary question as to whether the matter is properly before me. Following the decision in Whimster v. Dragoni this appeal is dismissed. As it was agreed that the decision herein should govern in the other cases stated, which came before me at the last Fernie Assizes, the appeals in said cases are likewise dismissed."

The convictions therefore are sustained and this morning six of those found guilty of selling liquor contrary to the provisions of the Prohibition Act, entrained for Nelson, where the sentences of six months with hard labor are to be served.—"Tempora mutantur, et nos mutamur in illis."

THE EASTER MONDAY DANCE

On Monday next, Easter Monday, the Reconstruction Committee are holding a dance for the purpose of raising additional funds for the "Memorial Building Fund." The committee has been at work some time making the necessary preparations for this event and everything possible in order to insure a good time for those attending is being done. It will be held in Victoria Hall and Commons' orchestra will supply the music. The catering branch is being managed by the Fernie Chapter I.O.D.E. so that excellent refreshments are assured. In view of the necessity of making this a financial success it is earnestly hoped that when the tickets for same are placed on sale everyone will gladly respond by purchasing same, whether it is convenient to attend the function or not, because as a community we should not hesitate to fulfill our obligations to permanently establish a suitable Memorial here. What has so far been accomplished in this connection is highly commendable but the task is by no menas completed, and until then it is the duty of each individual to continue to contribute his mite.

Mayor Henderson criticizes the Free Press on its attitude on the moral reform question. We might go into an argument with the Mayor but don't want to create the impression that we are dissatisfied with his regime. We believe G. G. Henderson is doing good work for this city—work that was needed very badly—and while we do not agree with his policy in regard to Sunday observance, we presume the citizens can stand for a little inconvenience rather than have a good man get sore and quit.

Malcolm McNeill, a driver at the Hillcrest coal mine, was instantly killed Friday afternoon last when he was run over by a number of cars that left the track. McNeill, who was about 21 years of age, was a native of Sydney Forks, Nova Scotia, and was the only surviving son, five brothers having been killed in the late war. He was himself a returned veteran and had seen considerable service in France. He was a prominent member of the U.M.W. of A. at Hillcrest and very popular amongst his fellow workers.

EXPORT OF B.C. LOGS

Bitter opposition was made by the Conservative minority, backed by the soldiers' party and by Hanes and Wilson, Liberals, and Hawthornthwaite, Socialist, against the proposed move by the minister of Lands to permit export of manufactured lumber from B.C. for the term of ten years, until June 30, 1930. It appeared that the Minister had come to some arrangement with the loggers and some lumbermen to amend the act. Mr. Bowser strongly opposed the move, pointing to the fact that it would be a radical deparure from previous policy and would have he inevitable result of building up the mill industry in Puget Sound cities at the expense of B.C. cities, the while the manufactured product would compee in the Canadian market with that from this province. In reply to the Minister's statement that the late government had permitted such exports and done it illegally, for there was then no power in the act to permit the government by order-in-council to approve of the same, Mr. Bowser showed where, during the war and at a time when shipping facilities were totally lacking and the loggers could not sell their logs, permission had been granted. But now that the war was over and B.C. is seeking to build up her industries, and in the face of a certain tremendous demand for lumber, the government's proposal to permit exports to the United States, which is now benefitting at the expense of Canada hrough the exchange situation, was a most ill-advised one. He pointed to the certainty of the loggers putting in larger plants to get out the unmanufactured product and that when the ten year period was up hey would advance that fact as a plea why they should be permitted an extension of time for export. Mr. Bowser's amendment to restrict the term to one year, thus permitting the Legislaure next year, to further re-consider the propriety or otherwise of a still further extension, was defeated.

WEALTH OF BRITISH COLUMBIA'S WATER POWER

Vancouver — The water power wealth of British Columbia, equal, it is said, to five Niagaras—one of the greatest industrial assets this province contains—will be one of the chief resources which will be shown and explained to the delegates of Canada's Industrial Congress when they reach the Coast in June this year. The Congress tour, which commences in Medicine Hat, on June 2, will reach Vancouver on June 7 and will close at Victoria on the 10th.

Pouring down from the mountains and from the glaciers that fill the gorges of the northern ranges comes enough water every day to develop electrical power equivalent to three million horsepower. This figure is not based on flood conditions, but is the estimate arrived at by government engineers working during low water seasons and using a conservative basis of estimate. The mighty falls of Niagara, when all the water that is available on the Canadian side has been harnessed to the turbine will produce only 650,000 horsepower. British Columbia's mighty rivers and mountain torrents, if they are all harnessed, could supply the homes and the industries of this province with nearly five times as much power.

When it is remembered that only 123,000 electric horsepower can be developed by the plants which are at present supplying Vancouver, New Westminster and all the towns of the vicinity with power which drives the motors in the mills and factories, propels the street cars along the city streets and far out into the country, provides lights for the city's streets and homes and the heat for the up to date kitchens, it will be seen that while the power generated at present at the plant of the B. C. Electric on the North Arm and of the Western Canada Power Co. on the Stave River is ample to take care of present needs and of the needs of the cities and other communities of the lower mainland for some time to come, the total water power available in the province is sufficient to provide power, light and heat for forty cities and industrial centres of the size of Greater Vancouver and New Westminster combined. British Columbia possesses in the liquid wealth that pours down from the hills equivalent to five Niagaras with all that this means for the future of the province industrially when these waters are harnessed and turned to the needs of men.

ALABAMA COAL OPERATORS ACCEPT

Birmingham, March 30.—Alabama coal operators today accepted the wage scale and working conditions, provisions embodied in the majority report of the bituminous commission. The United Mine Workers of the Alabama district have voted to withhold acceptance pending negotiations of a new wage agreement for the central competitive field.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETS APRIL 6

The Board of Trade will meet in the council chamber on Tuesday evening next, April 6th. This meeting will be a very important one as upon this occasion the publicity committee will submit its proposal with regard to the projected campaign for 1920 publicity and handling of tourist traffic. It is therefore extremely urgent that every member to be in attendance on Tuesday evening in order that they may hear first hand what the publicity committee have decided to recommend. In connection with this program the executive met last Monday when details of the the estimated expenditure involved in the scheme submitted were presented. However, as this is such a vitally important matter to all business men and citizens generally, the executive did not feel competent to assume the responsibility of endorsing or recommending the substantial expenditures proposed without first having had same presented to the membership at a general meeting, when it could be fully discussed and a majority decision reached. The following resolution was therefore adopted at that meeting: "That this executive report to the first general meeting of the Board of Trade that the Publicity Committee has been unable to enlist the co-operation of other towns in this district in a joint publicity campaign for 1920. That it is estimated that to carry on such a campaign for Fernie alone as was originally contemplated for the whole district would cost approximately $4000. That it is imperative that a decision be arrived at immediately as to whether Fernie should go ahead on its own account with publicity work, and if so, whether on the lines submitted in attached statement, or if not on what other basis, and to what extent, if any. The executive believe the value of the work already done should not be lost by discontinuance of publicity work, but feel that the extent of future expense and work is for the Board as a whole to determine.

"AGATHA"—APRIL 14TH

All lovers of boys and girls, whether they are our own or other people's children, love to see them have a good time. Can anything be better for our young people than a summer camp with congenial companionship, clean games, long tramps and talks for the healthy development of mind and body? The young people composing the chorus of the beautiful operetta "Agatha," which is about to be rendered, have already started in the right direction for health and pleasure to themselves. The citizens of Fernie cannot do better than show appeciation of their efforts to try and please the public than to encourage this choir, who are spending a number of hours each week in practicing faithfully to do justice to the piece they are giving on Wednesday, April 14. Fernie people have always been willing to pay a good price for good entertainments and as the price for this performance will be within the reach of all an overflowing attendance is expected. Get your tickets early so that you will not be disappointed. You are always pleased to spend money to hear and see strangers sing and perform, so be sure and see the ability and hear the sweet voices of our own children at the Grand Theatre, on Wednesday, April 14.

WHEN GRIFFITH MET MARY PICKFORD'S TWO GIRL FRIENDS

Away back in 1912 Mary Pickford took two girl-visitors with her to the old Biograph studio to watch her finish some scenes on a new picture.

"Who are those kids, Mary?" asked the director, who happened to be D. W. Griffith.

"Oh, they are just the Gish girls." But Griffith was interested and on the strength of the introduction opened a converation with the youngters by asking them what they thought of motion pictures.

"They are very nice," said Lilian primly, "I am going to take up this work."

"So am I," Dorothy chimed in.

"Indeed! And when do you expect to begin your careers before the camera?"

"Tell him, Mary," urged Lilian, "when you want sister and me to begin."

Mary told. And D. W. Griffith's agreement with the Gish girls has lasted from that day to this. Dorothy is coming to the Orpheum theatre next week in a Paramount-Artcraft picture, "Turning the Tables," and, though she is quite a little lady now compared with those far-off days, she is still the exuberant youngster at heart, as the picture will show you.

REDS WANTED DICTATORSHIP

Winnipeg, March 29.—"The commissioner finds that the great mass of the workers, intelligent and loyal to British institutions, did not acquiesce in all that was said and done and that it was not clear to the latter that the motive of the radicals was not that of obtaining the right to a collective bargaining of a group of workers, but that their purpose was to elevate labor into a state of dictatorship," is the statement made in an official report of the Robson royal commission, released for publication by Premier Norris today.

The report also states that "the commissioner finds that the character of the Western Labor News from its inception in August 1918 was toward radical socialism, rather than craft unionism, and that the circulation of the paper had a large part in stirring up discord and discontent, and bringing it to a head."

It is pointed out that had the Industrial Conditions Act been in operation the strike would have been averted, and recommends the setting up of a joint council under the act as soon as possible.

An excerpt from the report reads: "It is found that these Socialist leaders made the utmost of the strike to advance their own plans and to convert the general strike into a practically socialistic movement and to thrust themselves into its leadership."

JUDGMENT IN LIQUOR CASES

Whimster vs. Dragoni, Mills and Northern Club & Cafe Co. Limited.

Vancouver, Mar. 19, 1920.

Objection is taken to the jurisdiction of the convicting Police Magistrate Whimster on the ground that the Deputy Inspector of Provincial Police who laid the information had no power to do so within the limits of the Muncipal Corporation of the City of Fernie. It was said, and the fact is that the Lieutenant Governor in Council has not seen fit under sec. 409 of the Municipal Act, 1914, "to direct and empower the Superintendent of Police to take charge of the policing of such municipality," but in my opinion that section has no application to this case, but is a special one to meet an emergency in times of exceptional danger to the public peace or safety, as a careful consideration of the section, and the very unusual powers it confers, will show. By sec. 29 of the Prohibition Act, cap. 49 of 1916, the duty of enforcing that Act and of prosecuting offenders thereunder, is laid upon "the Superintendent and upon all constables and officers of every Province and of municipal police force in the Province, and they shall severally have full authority to enforce all such provisions."

By section 5 of the Police and Prison Regulations Act, cap. 180, R.S.B.C. constables of the Provincial Police force already had "authority to act in any part of the Province," and there is nothing strange that they and municipal police should be required to cooperate "to suppress the liquor traffic," (to cite the preamble) in municipal as well as in unorganized districts.

Sub-section (2) goes on to declare that "every police constable or officer shall be deemed to be within the provisions of this Act and impose upon him the duty of making "diligent inquiry" with the object of prosecuting offenders."

NO PLACE TO PLAY

Plenty of room for dives and dens
(glitter and glare and sin!)
Plenty of room for prison pens
(gather the criminals in!)
Plenty of room for jails and courts
(willing enough to pay!)
But never a place for the lads to race;
no, never a place to play!

Plenty of room for shops and stores
(Mammon must have the best-)
Plenty of room for the running sores that rot in the city's breast.
Plenty of room for the lures that lead
the hearts of youth astray,
But never a cent on a playground spent; no, never a place to play-

Plenty of room for schools and halls,
plenty of room for art;
Plenty of room for teas and balls, platform, stage and mart.
Proud is the city—she finds a place for many a fad today,
But she's more than blind if she fails to find a place for the boys to play.

Give them a chance, for innocent sport; give them a chance for fun—
Better a playground plot than a court and a jail when the harm is done!
Give them a chance — if you stint them now, tomorrow you'll have to pay
A larger bill for a darker ill, so give them a place to play.

—Dennis A. McCarthy.

A GREAT SPIRITUALIST

Sir Olived Lodge, the great scientist, who was in Toronto the other day, was once asked to impart some reminiscences. "I have no reminiscences," he replied, "I have no time to look back, only to look forward." No other reply could so aptly have summed up his career. His life has been a constant looking forward, peering eagerly into the unsolved mysteries of science.

Anything in the nature of the unknown has always intrigued him. He has solved so many things, found the key that unlocked the door to so many hidden treasures of scientific thought. Perhaps it is the very mystery of the thing that has captivated his mind in the greatest mystery of all, the after-world and the life of the dead.

It is almost twelve years ago since Sir Oliver Lodge, whose achievements in physics and chemistry had won him agreat name, startled the world by solemnly stating that the "boundary between the two states—the known and the unknown—while still substantial, was wearing thin," and that like excavators boring a tunnel we were beginning to hear now and again the strokes of the pick axes on the other side. Since that Sir Oliver, in the eyes of the skeptical, and they are a myriad, has gone from bad to worse. The great scientist, the man of the wonderful brain, has become a great spiritist; in the casual mind of the unbeliever he is classed in the same category with table-rapping and cheap mediums' fakes.

There is something almost anachronistic in the development of the psychic twist in Sir Oliver Lodge's mentality in an atmosphere so strictly utiltarian as that of Birmingham, his home, the great English city which manufactures a range of everyday commodities, from steel nibs to steam engines. And his office and his laboratory are in the old Mason College in the very heart of the city.

Sir Oliver Lodge combines great stature with great mentality. His seventy years of study have made but little stoop on his six feet three inches of height. The hair which fringes his head has turned white, but the massive dome is still Olympian, high, broad and long, with all the great phrenological faculties all seemingly well developed.

Sir Oliver comes of a family remarkable for its productivity. His grandfather had 25 children. He was the eldest of several brothers who all distinguished themselves. He had twelve children himself, six boys and six girls. Although originally English, the Lodges lived in Ireland from the reign of James I. until two generations ago. They were mostly a scholastic and clerical breed, but were celebrated for their stature in Tipperary, a region of big men.

To enumerate the wideness of Sir Oliver's discoveries would require columns. This last decade he has been trifling absorbingly with the mysticisms of the occult, but before that he had established a world-wide reputation as a great and versatile scientist. He was a pioneer of wireless telegraphy. More than 30 years ago he was patiently investigating the waves in ether arising from electric sparks, those electro-magnetic waves of Hertz which later developments converted to the service of man. Sir Oliver was the first to invent the "coherer" for detecting the waves, and thus devised the method by which wireless signals may be received at a distance.

He invented, too, a devise for dispersing fog, an ingenious affair which if utilized on a sufficiently large scale should do much towards cleansing the smoke-polluted atmosphere of big manufacturing centres. In 1914 he suggested the possibility of securing some measure of control over the electrification of the atmosphere. If it was desired to produce rain, why not send up a kite to reach the clouds? He believed that if enough electricity were discharged into the clouds the drops would behave there as they did in the laboratory. They would coalesce, and once that happened the process might be repeated and cause a shower. When rain was wanted, he declared in a lecture, negative electricity should be sent up and if fine weather, positive electricity.

No wonder that his adherence to spiritism in the last decade has frequently given Sir Oliver a front space in the news.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Minimum price of first-class land reduced to $5 an acre; second-class to $2.50 an acre.

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole of original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

OTTAWA'S PIONEER DAYS

Clearly recalling events that occurred 90 years ago Ottawa's oldest living pioneer citizen, Michael O'Brien, in an interview has told the story of the capital of Canada when it was a little nameless settlement in the wilderness, when the howling of wolves from Parliament Hill terrorized the inhabitants, and wild game roamed the forests where is now the heart of the city.

Fersh in his memory is the digging of the Rideau canal, which was to give Lower Canada a defensive link with the stronghold at Kingston. The laborers, he claims, were paid 50 cents a day and brought up large families of happy children on that amount.

Among his most vivid recollections is the time when whiskey of the first quality could be purchased for "thripence"—six cents—a quart.

Mr. O'Brien recalls the birth of a man who is now 88 years old and living in Ottawa.

Laughing in the face of Father Time this remarkable old nonagenarian is passing the home stretch of life in a house that he built with his own hands on Cumberland street. The only thing that he has to complain of is a "little touch of rheumatism, which is only to be expected at my years." Every morning he "bucks" the wood for the kitchen stove, and spends hours roaming around the city that he has seen rise from the virgin forest.

His memory is the most remarkable thing about Mr. O'Brien. Besides a clear recollection of events transpiring as far back as 1830 he faintly recalls coming to Ottawa from Ireland as a small child with his parents in 1827.

"The trip from Montreal to Ottawa was made on barges and took nearly a week," he declares. "We landed at Nepean Point. There was no Bytown or Ottawa then — only a few roungh shacks and tents."

Mr. O'Brien's father settled close to where the first work in digging the Rideau Canal was started, and as a boy he remembers watching the workmen taking the earth out shovelful by shovelful and wheeling it away in barrows. He claims that the space for the locks to the Ottawa river between Parliament Hill and the Chateau Laurier was cleared in this way.

"I often heard the howling of wolves from over Barracks Hill (Parliament Hill) as a little fellow, but I got used to it," Mr. O'Brien went on. "Deer was very plentiful and often came close to the settlement. Bear and other game were common all around the place. Yes, there were lots of Indians. One family lived in a shack a few doors from my father's house."

Mr. O'Brien told of the gradual growth of the little place; when the first baker arrived, of the first school teacher who went from house to house teaching the older people as well as the young.

The first taverns, he said, were started in private houses. "They used to put a few candles in the window, with some tobacco and pipes, and that was a sign that you could get a drink."

Mr. O'Brien paused and a sad, far-away look came into his eyes. "Good whiskey was plentiful at thripence a quart in those days," he mused.

"The price was increased two or three times when the men came on the canal," Mr. O'Brien continued. "And when it got to seven pence halfpenny a quart the old men around the town said they would have to stop drinking as it was getting too expensive."

"When I was a young fellow a man could get drunk at night and in the morning go to work sober, but now if a man gets drunk he is poisoned for a week," he said, with a hint of bitterness.

He thought that living conditions were better 90 years ago than they are today, despite the lack of conveniences.

"A sixpenc thn was worth what a dollar is today. A man got two shillings or btter a day when the canal was built and his wife and family lived well on it," he declared.

Mr. O'Brien says that in the days of the building of the Rideau Canal the lumber trade, which a few years later caused the city to grow rapidly, had not developed. There was some fur trading and everyone had a fur coat.

"Furs 'weren't much thought of then, except maybe fishers and marten, which the women thought were nice," he said. "Some of the furs that big prices are paid for today could be got for then a few plugs of tobacco or some gun powder."

He added that the person with a woolen coat was usually looked upon as being possessed of considerable wealth.

After Mr. O'Brien had reached young manhood he went to the United States, where he worked as a carpenter and at other jobs. He helped to build the original Rockaway Beach resort near New York and was on the construction gang of the first railroad to California.

He returned about 1850 and found the little settlement that had been named Bytown shortly after his arrival with his parents from Ireland had grown into the thriving city of Ottawa.

PUT FERNIE ON THE MAP

There has just come to hand a booklet issued by the National Parks Highway from their headquarters in Spokane which contains maps with directions how to reach Spokane from all points in the States. The nearest it comes to Canada is Bonners Ferry. It is illustrated with pictures purporting to be of the scenery the tourist will see whilst travelling along that highway, but strange to say we notice amongst these pictures of Lake Windermere, Columbia Lake, the Valley of Ten Peaks at Laggan and Burrard Inlet, Vancouver. These also are the best pictures this booklet contains. Now when they have to come to Canada for pictures of sufficient interest and use them as their scenery to create the desire to travel to see them, it is an admission that our scenery is far better than theirs. This only confirms Mr. Spalding's repeated statement that there is no scenery on the other side to compare with ours.

The booklet which the Boards of Trade of South Eastern British Columbia will have ready for distribution next week cannot help but bring tourists in their hundreds through here instead of through the States, but as no town receives more notice than any other in it the choice as to where he will stop is left entirely to the tourist. Now it is up to our Publicity Committee to follow up the booklet with further pamphlets, stating in detail what inducements we have to entice him to stay over here. These are many. To us who live here, perhaps they do not seem anything special, as we are so used to seeing them, but to the people living in the prairie country the mountains are a constant source of delight, and to say they have climbed some of them is the height of delight to them. Our fishing is excellent, and with the stocking of streams this year, will be even better, and we have big game in plenty for those desiring to hunt. Such inducements as these are not to be found within such a short radius of any other town in North America. It is time that Fernie business men got together and supported to the fullest extent possible an aggressive Publicity campaign which cannot fail to bring about financial returns to the whole community far in excess of expectations.

Mr. Spalding has written articles which have appeared in several of the leading papers in Western Canada and has received requests for more of a similar kind. The interest these have created is evidenced by the fact that he is daily receiving enquiries from people who have read them, for further information and advice, and answering them alone is taking up more of his time than he can spare from his business, to say nothing about all the other work attached to this publicity work. If it is to be carried on as it should be some arrangements must be made, as it is not to be expected that he can give his time to it indefinitely and without recompense.

Cranbrook has stated that they have so much other expense to meet this year that they cannot enter into a follow up campaign with us. In a way the necessity for them is not so great as for us, because they are so situated that all the travel from the Banff-Windermere road going into the States must go through there and this road will be finished this year. Mr. Spalding has taken up the matter of the road through Gateway to Montana points and has been informed that the Montana Highway Commission did a lot of work between Kalispell and Rexford last year and that the balance of the road will be put into good shape this summer early, as there is only a few miles to be done. As this will be the natural way for Glacier Park travel to go, or come, this is another strong inducement for us to get busy now, especially as our road to Gateway is to be put into good shape this spring.

Invermere is to receive a lot of publicity through the C.P.R. this year. They have given $25000 towards the construction of 25 log bungalows, a large dance hall and dining pavilion there, and have guaranteed that they will keep it filled with tourists between June and October. If we have somebody here whose time was paid for, he could visit this camp periodically and no doubt could induce many of the tourists there to come through to here.

With Calgary, Nelson and Spokane all having aggressive Publicity Campaingns on this year, it behooves Fernie to get busy on her own account, and now is the time to do it. The idea of waiting a year to see what we have already spent brings in is wasting the most valuable opportunity Fernie ever had to do something really worth while for herself.

Now the business men of Fernie have always been very generous in giving to sports and such like. Invariably their stores are closed on such days, and financially they reap practically nothing in return. The same amount, or very little more, given towards the extension of our publicity campaign now, will bring in permanent benefits to the whole community.

NEW PAIR OF INCE STARS IN HUMOROUS FILM

Out in the wild and movie West they call Thomas H. Ince "the screen star-maker." IIf you have any doubts as to his right to this title, survey the list of luminaries he has supplied to the screen during the past six years: 1913, Sessue Hayakawa; 1914, William S. Hart and Bessie Barriscale; 1915, H. B. Warner and Frank Keenan and William Desmond; 1916, Dorothy Dalton, Charles Ray and Louise Glaum; and in 1917, Enid Bennett. Now Mr. Ince has gone and done it again, presenting as his latest addition to the stellar ranks the team of Doris May and Douglas McLean. The great producer has had these two talented young people under his wing for two years now, and he has never picked a failure yet, so it is reasonably certain that they are destined for a joint career of success. But Mr. Ince has taken no chances. He recently paid out $67,000 for six cheerful clever stories by noted authors as starring vehicles for his new finds. The first of these is "Twenty-three and a Half Hours' Leave" by Mary Roberts Rhinehart, which has been made into a Paramount-Artcvraft picture and will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

FAVOR ASSOCIATED BOARDS

(Cranbrook Courier)

At the executive meeting of the Cranbrook board of trade held Friday evening in the office of President Spreull, the question of entering into a proposal with the Fernie board of trade for the carrying on of an aggressive publicity campaign, was taken up and thoroughly discussed by the entire executive. The scheme as outlined by Mr. J. F. Spalding, of Fernie, i.e., to engage the services of a paid secretary, who would work in co-operation with the Cranbrook, Windermere and Fernie boards in the carrying out of a vigorous advertising campaign by way of booklets, photos and general publicity work, was considered too big an undertaking for the Cranbrook board to enter into at this time. Every member present agreed that the scheme was practical, but felt that with the development of mining, agriculture, lumbering, stock and range problems yet to be solved, it could not enter into an arrangement of this kind at the present time.

A number favored the formation of an Associated Boards of Trade of East Kootenay, whereby just such a problem as the one confronting the meeting could be handled. J. P. Fink strongly advised the putting forth of united effort to this end. He said Creston was favorable to such a proposition and felt that towns to the east of Cranbrook could be brought into line when the advantages of such an organization was pointed out to the business men residing in East Kootenay. From utterances made by members of the Invermere board of trade at the board of trade banquet in Cranbrook a short time ago., it would seem that that body is also favorable. What is desired just now is a meeting at some central point to consummate the deal. President Spreull will shortly visit Fernie to explain the stand taken by the Cranbrook board and to foster the Associated Boards movement. He will announce the activities of the Cranbrook board for the coming year and seek the hearty co-operation of the Fernie board.

J. F. Guimont, chairman of the finance committee, reported to the board on behalf of that committee. He reported that the city grant of $25.00 a month for 1920 had been secured through the generosity of the city council.

Another very important matter to be brought before the meeting for the consideration of the board was the providing of suitable grounds for campers. A large number of tourists passing through Cranbrook carried tents and camping outfits and were ardent supporters of "the simple life," much preferring the babling waters of some nearby stream to the confinement of four walls. A suitable site is being sought with a view to erecting a cabin or small cottage for the use of campers. A stove and equipment will be placed at the disposal of the motoring public during their sojourn in this city. A parking ground of at least an acre is required, where sanitary arrangements can be made ideal. A spot near the lawn tennis ground was suggested. Should the scheme be put into effect several business men have signified their intention to donate towards the erection and maintenance of the building. The Cranbrook Electric Light company will furnish light for the building at a low cost.

REDS ARE FOUND GUILTY

Winnipeg, March 27. — Alderman John Queen, William Ivens, W. A. Pritchard, R. J. Johns and George Armstrong, leaders in Winnipeg's general strike of last summer, this afternoon were convicted by the assize court jury of seditious conspiracy on account of their actions in connection with the strike. They also were convicted of having committed a common nuisance.

R. E. Bray was found not guilty of conspiracy, but guilty of committing a nuisance.

Alderman A. A. Heaps was found not guilty on all charges.

Scenes of disorder marked the receipt of the verdict by the crowd in the court room. Through a mistake it went from mouth to mouth that the accused were not guilty. A wild cheer arose. Mr. Justice Metcalfe in the court, annoyed by the noise, peremptorily ordered the crowd to be cleared. A squad of constables with Deputy Sheriff John Pyniger at their head, started to clear the room. Then the report of the actual verdict swept through the crowd. The sheriff and his men were hissed and hooted. Somebody hit Deputy Sheriff Pyniger a fist blow. A couple of the constables struck back into the crowd and it looked for a moment as if there would be a riot. After ten minutes the deputy sheriff and constables succeeded in clearing the hall and drove the crowd out into the street. Everything then became calm.

The accused all accepted the verdict quietly. Heaps showed no elation over his acquittal. Relatives of the men found guilty, who were in the court room, were deeply affected by the verdict. When the first verdict of guilty was announced in the case of William Ivens a suppressed groan arose from the crowd, and as the other verdicts followed the wives of the several men, who were in various parts of the courtroom, broke down one after another.

R. A. Bonnar, K .C., counsel for Bray, asked for a reserved case for all those who were found guilty. He also asked if the men could not be let out on bail until this point was decided. Mr. Bonar went into consultation with A. J. Andrews, K.C., crown counsel, on the question of a remand until Wednesday for sentence.

The accused were remanded for sentence for ten days without bail. They were taken to the jail after having a few moments conversation with their relatives. A large crowd was assembled outside the courthouse and in the lower halls. The crowd made a demonstration against the jurymen, who left the building by a side exit.

"COURAGEOUS COWARD," JAP'S BEST DRAMA

New Screen Play Starring Hayakawa, Declared to be Oriental Actor's Most Powerful Photo Drama

Sessue Hayakawa, the marvelous star of the silent drama, has another excellent production to his credit, in The Courageous Coward," his last production for Exhibitors—Mutual distributors. Hayakawa has the knack of picking just the right kind of stories, and he has yet to produce a picture that lacks the much sought for punch.

"The Courageous Coward" has large quantities of punch. There isn't a slow foot of film in the entire drama. The plot is stronger, if anything, than any play the brilliant star has ever screened, while the atmosphere is remarkable for its fidelity. "The Barbary Coast," San Francisco's notorious Chinatown district, is the scene selected for the unfolding of drama that involves a cataclysm of events resulting from a conflict of Oriental ideas and American standards. A beautiful Japanese girl's love for one of her own race leads her into the underworld of Chinatown and involves her in a dubious romance with an American all-round sport. Her lover kills a gambler and makes his escape, leaving an innocent man to stand prosecution.

Suki, the Oriental lover, a brilliant prosecuting attorney, is branded as a coward when he refuses to go on with the prosecution. Rather than betray the American lover of the Japanese girl, he bears the stigma of a coward. The climax of the story, when the murderer confesses and removes the stain of cowardice from Suki's reputation, is sensational and gripping. One of the striging bits of realism is the Chinatown celebration of the Chinese New Year, a riot of revelry and an orgy of bacchanalia splendor.

Hayakawa is supported by his chaming wife, Tsuru Aoki, Francis J. McDonald, Toyo Fujita and Geo. Hernandez. The production was made under the direction of Wm. Worthington, who directed Hayakawa in "His Birthright," "Bonds of Honor" and "A Heart in Pawn."

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Bert Whimster, of Creston, spent the week end in the city.

Mayor Henderson is spending a few days in West Kootenay.

There will be a big masquerade ball in Elko on April 16 in Hirtz's Hall.

Major Moffatt, who has been ill for some time, is still in a very critical condition.

Married — At West Robson on March 17, Wm. Nelson, of Fernie, and Miss Gladys Clyde.

Don't forget the Reconstruction dance on Monday night. The committee are badly in need of funds.

The Fernie Poultry and Pet Stock Association will hold its Grand Drawing in the Orpheum theatre on April 8th.

Government Agent R. Hewat will leave on the 15th for Kaslo, where he will take over the office in that city.

A meeting of all those interested in football will be held in the G.W.V.A. quarters tomorrow (Friday) afternoon, at 2.30.

The ladies of the Catholic church are giving a sale of home cooking on April 10th, in the Old McLean stand. Afternoon tea will be served. A2-2

Bennie Wallace, of Pincher Creek, son of S. F. Wallace of Fernie, will be married on Saturday in Victoria to Miss Isabella Campbell. They will reside in Pincher Creek.

Special Easter Services at the Baptist church on Sunday. The Junior Choir will provide special music. Rev. Strawbridge, the new pastor, will preach at both services.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carmichael arrived home from Calgary this morning. Jack is still in very poor health and the doctors say it will be months before he will be on his feet again.

Rev. Batzold, pastor of the United Church of Fernie, has resigned. During his stay in Fernie Mr. Batzold has worked hard and made many friends who will deeply regret his departure.

The annual meeting of the Fernie-Fort Steele Brewing Co. was held in Fernie on Monday. R. T. L. Galbraith, A. B. Macdonald, Al. Doyle and A. Mutz were all in from outside points to attend the meeting.

Thos. Fitzgerald and Geo. Vincent have leased the old Marks store in West Fernie and will start a general store. These young men are both live wires and will doubtless make a success of any business they may undertake.

Snow fell last evening to a depth of over a foot. The peculiar part of it was that the last inch that fell was a different color from the rest, it being of a dirty yellow as though it had passed through a cloud of volcanic dust.

Mrs. David Gash, Jr., died at the Fernie Hospital on Sunday after a short illness. The funeral took place on Wednesday and was largely attended. Deceased had only resided in Fernie for a few months, having come over from England with her husband after the war.

R. J. Smith, of Nelson, District Passenger Agent for the G.N. Ry., has quit the service after twenty years. He has accepted a position as manager of the Robt. Dollar Steamship Lines, whose fleet sails from the Atlantic and Pacific by way of the Panama Canal to the Orient.

Fernie just received the tail end of the big storm which swept over the United States, killing hundreds of people and destroying millions of dollars worth of property. Very little damage was done here. Several windows were broken and the wind played havoc with W. Hawthorne's bill posting plant.

Lee Dennis, J. H. Bonner, M. N. Dorr and V. E. Wilham, of the Montana Railway Commission, with headquarters at Helena, spent a couple of days in the city this week the guests of J. R. Pollock and A. Klauer. They visited Fernie on a pleasure trip and incidentally to report on the enforcement of prohibition in B.C.

Mrs. Colton's Spring Millinery Opening is now on. She has one of the most beautiful displays of pattern and picture hats that has ever been shown here. Visit her parlors before making your puchase.

St. John's Ambulance Association, Fernie Centre—The examination for the Fernie class will be held in the basement of the Baptist church on Friday, April 2, at 3 p.m.

Marriage licenses were issued this week to B. F. Wallace and Isabella Campbell; Wm. Hurock and May Petriev, of Hosmer; Alex. Day and Monica Warren, of Jaffray; Mike Moshuk and Edna Estabrook, of Michel. The high cost of living does not seem to interfere with the marriage game in this neck of the woods.

The Fernie Motor Co. this week received a shipment of three large trucks for commercial use here.

The water and light committee of the city council have asked for the resignation of City Electrician W. Quail. It is also stated that one or two other power house employees are slated for the axe.

An old time Fernie miner died on Sunday last at Coleman in the person of Thomas Waklem. He was buried in Fernie on Wednesday. Deceased was very popular here a number of years ago, being one of the best trap shooters who ever lived here. He was working at Coal Creek when the war broke out and although nearly sixty years of age bluffed the military authorities into allowing him to go overseas. Since his return he has resided at Coleman.

Easter millinery of the finest quality is now on display at Mrs. Colton's Millinery Parlors. The stock is perfect and the prices within reach of all.

The annual Easter Sale of the Ladies Guild of Christ church will be held in the basement of the church on Saturday, April 3rd, at 3 p.m. There will be a sale of work and home cooking and afternoon tea will be served.

Cocoa and Chocolate Merger

Canadian Interests of Fry's and Lowney's, Associated Arrangements have been made for the association of the business interests, in Canada, of The Walter M. Lowney Company of Canada, Limited, and J. S. Fry & Sons, Limited of Bristol, England.

The Walter M. Lowney Company of Canada, Limited, has a large plant in operation in Montreal, established many years ago, and has been carrying on business in all parts of the Dominion, its sales of eating chocolate and confectionery having been particularly extensive.

The firm of J. S. Fry & Sons, Bristol, was established in England in the year 1728, and, for generations, its chocolate and cocoa products have been well and extensively known in Canada and the Empire. During the past ten years these have been handled by its own branches throughout Canada. The Bristol firm has recently caused J. S. Fry & Sons, (Canada) Limited, to be incorporated by Dominion Charter, with head office in Montreal, to which it has transferred its Canadian assets. J. S. Fry & Sons, (Canada) Limited, will continue to maintain its own branches throughout Canada, and has acquired and will promptly equip, an extensive modern manufacturing plant in Montreal, for the purpose of manufacturing, within Canada, Fry's well-known brands, which hitherto have been imported from Bristol.

While the identity and good will of each Firm will be maintained and extended, it is expected that, through the association, substantial economies will be erected, both in the purchase of raw materials, and in the marketing of finished product. The two lines supplement each other, inasmuch as the Lowney Company is largely engaged in manufacturing and selling eating chocolate and confectionery, and the Fry Company specializes very stronly in cocoa and related products.

The Walter M. Lowney Company of Canada, Limited, Montreal.

JUDGMENT IN THE LIQUOR CASES

The mere fact that sec. 28 (3) directs that in certain cases penalties recovered upon conviction shall be paid into the Provincial, and in others into a municipal exchequer, cannot nullify the said plainly conferred right and duty to prosecute; the subsection may be regarded as an incentive to the different classes of police to be vigilant in their duties upon their "several" initiatives.

A further objection is taken in the conviction of the Northern Club & Cafe Company, Limited, that as it is a corporation it cannot be convicted because the only penalty is that under sec. 28 (1). which after reciting convictions under sec. 10 in the case of a "person" goes on to say: "And if the offender convicted under this sub-section be a corporation it shall be liable to a penalty of one thousand dollars."

The point is taken that in fact there is not and cannot be any conviction "under this sub-section." because it relates only to penalties after conviction under section 10, and therefore the conviction incorporating as it does the imposition of an unlawful penalty cannot stand.

Now there has been a conviction under section 10 and section 28 (1) need only be resorted to for the appropriate penalties. The way penal statutes must now be construed was laid down by the Full Court of this Province, affirming the decision of Mr. Justice Duff, in McGregor v. The Canadian Consolidated Mines Limited. (1907, 2. M.M.C. 428), "The rule of strict construction, however, whenever invoked, comes attended with qualifications and other rules no less important; and it is by the light which each contributes that the meaning must be determined. Among them is the rule that that sense of the words is to be adopted which best harmonizes with the context, and promotes in the fullest manner the policy and objects of the Legislature. The paramount object, in construing penal as well as other statutes, is to ascertain the legislative intent; and the rule of strict construction is not violated by permitting the words to have their full meaning, or the more extensive of two meanings, when best effectuating the intention. They are, indeed, frequently taken in the widest sense, sometimes even in a sense more wide than etymologically belongs or is popularly attached to them, in order to carry out effectually the legislative intent, or, to use Lord Coke's words. to suppress the mischief and advance the remedy."

In that case the Court felt justified in reading the word "section" as "rule" in order to give effect to the manifest intention of the Legislature and here still less a change is necessary, because merely to read subsection" as "section" attains that object, and then the statute would read: "If the offender convicted under this section," i.e.. sec. 10, which is the sole subject being considered by sec. 28 (1). Indeed the same result can be appropriately accomplished by treating the three words "under this subsection" as an obvious surplusage and still the statute would be fully effective.

It follows that in my opinion, both objections should be over-ruled.

Then it is submitted that sec. 38 does not warrant the conviction of the occupant in the absence of knowledge on his part of the prohibited "sale, barter or traffic in liquor" made or had on the occupied premises "by some other person who cannot be proved to have acted so under or by the directions of such occupant."

In each of the three cases before us, the sale was made by the occupant's servant. the bartender, who has been convicted of such offence, and the Police Magistrate convicted the three respective occupants, but the learned County Judge upon appeal quashed the convictions upon the ground that sec. 38 "presupposes knowledge and consent on the part of the occupant whereby authority and direction may be presumed," and he was of opinion that such knowledge and consent were wanting.

After careful consideration of the reasons given by the learned Judge, I am, with every respect to him. unable to adopt them. He fails, if I may say so, to appreciate the all important distinction between "conclusive evidence" under sec. 38 and "prima facie proof" under, e.g. sec. 41. The case upon which he chiefly relies, Rex vs. Hoffman (1917) 28, Man. 7 as being "very similar" to the one at bar, is, when carefully examined, very dissimilar, because it is a conviction upon the charge that the accused "did unlawfully have liquor in a place other than in the private dwellinghouse. etc.," which charge has not herein been (even assuming it could be) preferred under our section 38, which relates to "sale, barter or traffic of liquor or any matter or thing in contravention of this act," etc., whatever that may be held to include. The words in the Manitoba Act under which that charge was laid. viz: "having, keeping or giving liquor" are not in our section; moreover, the Manitoba section makes proof of certain facts "prima facie evidence" merely, instead of "conclusive evidence" as does our section as aforesaid.

The case of Rex vs. Bradley (1911) 19, C.C.C. 110, is very much in point wherein the more innocent permission of the use of the premises, (there a stable) for unlawful purposes rendered the owner personally liable as an occupant, the statute declaring that an occupant is so liable for any offence committed upon the premises by any person who is suffered to be or remain upon the premises, and the proof of sale by such person is made conclusive evidence that such sale took place with the authority and by the direction of such occupant, which is the same as our section.

The learned Judge made the following observations upon the statute with which I am in entire accord: "By this double statutory 'conclusive' presumption, the owner is made liable for offences committed upon his premises, and he is called upon to exercise such care in his choice of tenants and the terms of his leases as to guard himself from the very serious consequences of repeated violations of the law for which he may be called upon to suffer."

"I have to accept the law as I find it; and it is no part of my duty to criticize either its wisdom or its justice. If it has appeared necessary and right to the Legislature, in order to secure obedience to the law, to impose a penalty upon a landlord whose tenant violates the law; it is the duty of the magistrate, and of this Court, when clearly satisfied that this is the meaning of the statute, to enforce its provisions. All consideration of hardship must be addressed to the Legislature itself.

In my opinion, therefore, the occupant was rightly convicted as well as the servant, apart from the question of a double penalty, as to which reliance is placed upon Rex vs. Martin. (1916) 9 Alb. 265, wherein it was held that under a section identical practically with our Sec. 38, the conviction of the occupant is a bar to the conviction of the employee, and it is submitted the principle should apply to the converse, i.e., the prior conviction of the employee. Doubtless this would be the case if the principle be sound, but with every respect, I am of the opinion that it is not, but that the statute clearly contemplates the distinct and double liability of occupant and employee. It has apparently escaped the attention of Mr. Justice McCarthy, with whom the majority of the Court agree, (Mr. Justice Stuart dissenting) that the question is not really, "Can both be convicted of the same offence?" because the statute deals also with acts which have nothing whatever to do with employee, viz., those of "any person..... who is suffered to be or remain in or upon the premises of such occupant," and therefore it is not in reality the "same offence," but a distinct liability arising out of it may be, all or part of the same circumstances. The offence of the employee or other person, is that he committed the unlawful act; the offence of the occupant is that he "suffered" the offender to commit said act upon his premises, whether done, e.g. by the employee in the public dining room, or by the "other person" in his private bedroom. The cases of Ex parte Kelly, (1893-94) 32, N.B. 271, and Rex vs. Williams, (2878) 42, U.C.R. 462 and Rex vs. Howard (1880) 45, U.C.R. 346, relied upon are distinguishable where they are not obiter, being purely cases of employer and employee.

The reasons given by Mr. Justice Stuart in his dissenting judgment in Rex vs. Martin, commend themselves to me, and with all due respect to contrary views, I feel that they should have prevailed. There is only one answer, in my opinion, to his most apt question at p. 268, viz., that where the occupant is first convicted, could a roomer or visitor, not an employee, go scott free? Assuredly not. This gives an unmistakable indication to the intention of the Legislature to impose a distinct and dual liability. The learned judge goes on appropriately to remark:

"Upon any contrary view it is left quite open to an occupant and employees upon premises where they all know there is no license at all to agree to sell liquors knowingly in contravention to the Act, and to have only one of themselves, i.e., the occupant, fined when the employees have wilfully broken the law. Why they also should not be punished for their illegal act committed with full consciousness of its illegality I am, I confess, utterly unable to comprehend."

There is, however, a further section in this Province not present in Rex vs Martin, which if support were needed (though I think it is not) to my said view, would supply it. viz., 39 (1):

"Every offence against the provisions of this Act committed by the employee, servant, agent, or workman of any person unlawfully selling liquor shall be deemed to be the offence of the preson so unlawfully selling liquor, and such person shall be answerable for and shall be punished for such offence; Provided nothing therein shall absolve the actual offender from guilt and punishment, but he shall be punished also."

This means that the offence of the employee in "selling liquor" shall be deemed also the offence of his employer as the real 'person so unlawfully selling liquor," and "such person" (i.e. the employer) shall be answerable for and shall be punished for such offence. And the statute goes on to say that the "actual offender," i.e. the employee, "shall be punished also" for that same offence, which provisions, in any event exactly cover this case and mean precisely what they clearly say, though they are restricted to cases of "selling liquor" only.

As a matter of precaution, I note that sub-section (2) of 39, has no application to this case, the word "vendor" there, as in sections 4 4 et seq. and 36, meaning a person appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council under section 2 defining that term.

The appeal therefore should be dismissed.

The Possibility of Fatal Results Prevented

In kidney troubles, the surgeon's knife should be the last resort. Kidney trouble can be relieved in a wonderful way by treating in time with the most efficient of all preparations for toning up and rebuilding weak and diseased kidneys—Gin Pills.

Gin Pills are free from all trace of alcohol. They contain Juniper and seven other diuretics and antiseptics. Much time and profound study was given to perfecting the formula on which Gin Pills are prepared and they furnish quick and positive relief, immediately attacking the congested tissue, destroying the poison, soothing, healing and building up the emaciated and weakened organ so that it can take up its work of purifying the blood with efficiency.

Once the kidneys are made normal, the pains, rheumatism, swollen joints, and general debility disappear, the stone or gravel in the bladder are eliminated, and good health and buoyant spirits return. All druggists and dealers sell Gin Pills at 50c per box, with a guarantee to return your money if you do not receive relief. Free sample on request. Address:—

Give Way to Soothing Hamlin's Wizard Oil

Hamlin's Wizard Oil is a safe and effective treatment for headache and neuralgia. Rubbed in where the pain is, it acts as a tonic to the tortured nerves and almost invariably brings quick relief.

Its healing, antiseptic qualities can always be relied upon to prevent infection, or other serious results, from sprains, bruises, cuts, burns, bites and stings. Just as good, too, for sore feet, stiff neck, frost bites, cold sores and canker sores.

Get it from druggists for 30 cents. If not satisfied return the bottle and get your money back.

Ever constipated or have sick headache? Just try Wizard Liver Whips, pleasant little pink pills, 30 cents. Guaranteed.

VERDICT ON PROHIBITION

Labor leaders know the views of the workers as well as politicians know the wishes of their constituents, possibly better, for unionized labor makes its wants known in no uncertain manner. Consequently, when "The Literary Digest" wished to learn for its readers the attitude of the workingman regarding prohibition; its virtues or evils, according to the view-point; whether it is a benefit or a disadvantage to the workingman and his family; whether it has been an aid or an impediment to their happiness and well-being, we could not ask the individual union-worker because there are about four million of him, so we asked their duly elected officials. The question asked by letter was, "Has prohibition been a benefit to the workingmen and their families?" and the replies indicate that they have been made with great care and considerable circumspection in practically all cases. In fact, approximately 30 per cent of the 526 replies of labor-leaders inform us that a poll was taken on the question at the regular meeting.
