"Maryland and Virginia are fairly bespattered with the names of the Queens and Princesses of England, the very State names themselves being taken from that of Queen Henrietta Maria, the wife of Charles I., and the disputably fortunate state of Elizabeth. Then, too, there are Annapolis, named for the wife of James I. of England, and Anne Arundel and Caroline Counties in Maryland, called after the wives of two of the Calverts; Fluvanna County and the North Anna River in Virginia, named after Queen Anne and Charlotte. Amelia and Caroline Counties and Charlottesville, the home of the University of Virginia, all called after the wives and daughters of the English kings.

"Marietta, Ohio, was named after the haughty, charming Marie Antoinette. The Aleutian Islands, off the coast of Alaska, when the territory was Russian were known as Catherine Archipelago, in honor of Catherine the Great. Ekaterinburg was named for the Russian Catherine who ruled Russia through her husband, Peter the Great.

"St. Helena, the rugged little island in the Atlantic, which has such a soothing effect upon the restless tendencies of autocrats, bears the name of the mother of Constantine the Great, who, according to the legend, discovered the cross upon which Christ died during a visit she made to the Holy Land. She was known in the early days of Christianity for her religious zeal and piety. Helena, Montana, though opinions differ as to the origin of the name, is said to have been so called because of the resemblance of its location to that of St. Helena.

"The naming of Hart County, Georgia, is a generous tribute to a Dixie heroine of the Revolution, Nancy Hart.

"Races do not scorn to boast that their names were taken from those of women. The Scots claim to be descended from Scota, a daughter of Pharoah, and the Saracens from Sarah, the wife of Abraham. The Herbor Beara in Ireland is said to have been named by Owen Moore, King of Munster during the reign of Conn of the Hundred Battles, for his wife, a Spanish princess. No Saint, perhaps holds a dearer place in the Irish heart than St. Ite, or Ide, often called Brigid of Munster, and we find her name in several variations in the names of many churches and places throughout the country.

ALCOHOL THE MOTOR FUEL OF THE FUTURE

Alcohol, routed ignominiously as a beverage, promises to be up and doing presently and to hold sway over a wider dominion than in the past. Even though it may no longer make us dizzy, it seems destined to supplant gasoline to a very great extent in making the wheels of industry go round. The public at large may not be aware of it, says the Scientific American, but the motor vehicle owner knows that gasoline has not measured up in the past two years to the standard previously set, notwithstanding the advance in price. The big problem of automobile builders and makers of other gasoline engines has been to offset the fuel defects by so designing their engines that they would continue to perform well despite this handicap. Some of them, however, have been experimenting satisfactorily with natalite, a synthetic fuel containing 60 per cent of alcohol, 39 per cent of ether, 1 per cent of ammonia and a small amount of arsenious acid. The ether, we read, makes it possible to start the engine when cold even more easily than with gasoline; while the ammonia neutralizes the natural corrosive exhaust of the alcohol, thus preventing injury to exposed metal surfaces. The arsenic is used simply to deter the over-thirsty. Further, writes R. G. Skeerett, in the New York Sun Magazine:

"Natalite is only one of several syuthetic fuels now based upon alcohol. It contributes to a smooth running engine and a low deposit of objectionable carbon results from its employment. Natalite and other allied composite fuels are of value during the period of transition from gasoline engines to alcohol motors. Their advent makes it possible to bridge a gap which otherwise would entail heavy economic and manufacturing losses and postpone the rapid development and widespread adoption of an engine so designed that it could depend entirely upon the spirit unmixed.

"OH, BOY!"

The following press comment on "Oh, Boy!" which will be shown at the Isis Friday and Saturday, speaks much for this picture:

New York Commercial—Clean and wholesome. Leaves pleasant memories of an evening happily spent. There is in store for those who desire something more than the satisfaction of jaded appetites as acquaintanceship with the theatre that must create desire for more production of this class.

New York Herald—The sensation of the season. The pet prize of polite performances. There is a plot, a regular plot, which involves a quite marvelous affair of pajamas or perhaps ma-jamas, for they are that kind.

New York Journal of Commerce—"Oh, Boy!" One of the Season's Greatest Hits. There is more fun in "Oh, Boy!" than in three or four ordinary musical comedies rolled into one. And it has a lot of pretty girls in dainty costumes, who are in the picture all the time and who get into the same as if they really enjoyed it. The beauty standard of "Oh, Boy!" is exceptionally high. "Oh, Boy!" landed in the middle of the Land of Success with a report that sounded like a 42 centimeter gun.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. ADVICE TO YOUNG HUSBAND

Eight young men in every ten imagine that they are wholly competent in deciphering that "phosphorescent hieroglyphy the maiden." The other two are dubious and self-distrustful. They recognize fundamental emotional and mental differences in the two sexes, and appreciate the fact that men and women do not view life and human nature from exactly the same angle.

Almost universally women regard men as awkward over-grown boys, and men look upon women as somewhat refractory, but engaging, children. The inexperienced husband has much to learn, and the more certain he is concerning his ability for "managing" his wife, the greater the menace of failure. A wise man is humble regarding his knowledge of the feminine soul.

The young married man is most frequently solicitous for the happiness of his bride. Nevertheless, he makes mistakes, and often suffers bewilderment at the alleged unreasonableness of his partner. He may have an indulgent, doting mother who has habitually humored and petted him. In his ignorance he supposes that his wife will behave toward him as his fond mother behaved.

He may be compelled to undergo a complete re-education concerning the relation of men and women. Unconsciously he may annoy his bride from the outset of the honeymoon by petty selfishness. At first she may refrain from pointing out the thoughtless acts that vex her. But one day when her nerves are tired, she may utter her first caustic reproach.

To a sensitive man this is a painful moment. He cannot conjecture what he has done or left undone, to merit such sarcasm. It may be that he has scattered cigarette ash on the clean tablecloth, or unthinkingly seated himself in the most comfortable chair.

If he is hot-tempered as well as sensitive — and the two traits are usually found in conjunction—he will retort sharply to the sting.

In a wordy contest with a woman the greater number of men are puny combatants. If he besilent his wife will think him a sulker. If he flies into a rage she will defend her conduct and add to her first indictment.

The advice that I tender is not my own. It is more valuable than any counsel I could offer.

Two women whom I respect most profoundly have assured me in all sincerity that we men are much too literal in our acceptance of what a woman says when she is irritated The young husband should know that it is human to exaggerate under vexation, and that this human tendercy is rather stronger in women than in men.

Possibly most women cannot help saying more than they mean when suffering from irritation. Let the untried husband bear this in mind from the wedding day onward. Let him also remember that the woman who is able to denounce his faults is the one who is capable of appreciating his merits and defending him against the whole world.—January Mortimer in the London Daily Mail.

NOISY FISH

In popular fancy fish are generally regarded as a peculiarly silent and voiceless section of the nimated world. But modern investigation has demonstrated that they are in the aggregate far from mute. Not less than three hundred species of fish are now known to produce sounds of various kinds and in different degree of intensity.

Among the most notable examples of sound-producing fish is the sunfish, a large curious-shaped creature. sometimes taken around the coast of Britain, in the making of which Nature seems to have run short of material and left out the tail. When taken from the water it emits a distinctly audible grona. The croaker, well known along the Atlantic coasts, derives its name from the sound it makes when taken into a boat, and the barbel and carp will also croak when taken from their natural element.

The red gurnard has been nicknamed the sea cock from its crowing sound; while the grunt, the pig fish, and the hog fish are so named by reason of emitting sounds more or less resembling the grunt of a hog. Similar sounds are produced by the globe fish and the scad, or horse mackerel, when captured.

The big jewfish of the Gulf of Mexico breaks the solemn silence of the waters at night with sonorous booms; while the armado of South American waters, when caught with a hook and line gives forth a harsh grating sound which is said to be distinctly heard before the fish is brought to the surface of the water.

Some of the blennies, and also an amphibious siluroid fish, emit a kind of shriek when taken; and the sea frog of the Malabar waters, owes its name to the sound it emits.

The faculty of producing sound is not limited to the deep-sea fish. There are records of the river bullhead giving forth sounds similar to the low and indistinct vibrations of a gong or the pedal pipe of an organ; and the Tagus has a fish that emits vibrations resembling the sound of a deep-toned bell or gong

Herring, it is said, have been known to produce a like sound when drawn within the net but in this case it may be open to doubt whether such sounds are really produced by the fish or merely as the result of mechanical friction among the scaly crowd.

The fabled song of the sirens is believed to have had its origin in the sounds emitted by the maigre, which vary in volume and tone from a distinct, clear sound, lasting many seconds, to an indefinite hum which, either from lack of intensity or excessive vibrations, is lost in the silence of the watery waste. These sounds are said to be audible from a depth of twenty fathoms when the fish are travelling in shoals.—C. St. J., in The London Daily Mail.

POLICE OFFICER CHASES OUTLAW FOR MONTH IN SNOW WASTES OF NORTH

There is a wealth of wonderful scenery of the snow wastes of the frozen northland in the picture, "The River's End," by James Oliver Curwood, a Marshall Neilan production, that will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre next wednesday and Thursday.

The snow scenes were taken far up in Canada, where the snows lay many feet deep on the ground almost the year round. There are miles and miles of snow fields stretching to the horizon and beyond to the land of the midnight sun.

Here there is only a chance white man's hut, some one seeking a refuge from the world of men, an outcast from his own people. Occasionally there will be the rude tepees of the northern Indians and perhaps the igloos of the Esquimaux. But mostly it is a dreary waste, where the wolf pack hunts or howls at the moon.

In a long, long time there is seen a trail, and a white man on snow shoes travelling across the snow, or perhaps a sled drawn by huskies, white men on some unusual mission.

In this setting is laid a story of tremendous action and of deep heart interest, the story of a man driven into exile because charged with murder, of a thrilling chase which lasts for months—the relentless Royal Mounted Police on the trail, determined that justice shall be satisfied by a hanging.

Then back to civilization runs the story, following the outlaw in a dead man's garments and with a dead man's name. These mysteries and thrills are unfolded in a way that will both startle and fascinate all.

CALAMITY GULCH

Down a mountain valley
A stream does wend its way.
There are beaver dams in plenty,
And beaver, too, they say.

Another dam was wanted,
Built by the hand of man.
It took a lot of timber;
From bank to bank it ran.

It was a costly structure;
It was a brilliant scheme
Until it filled with water,
And then went down the stream.

Right through its wooden walls
A raging flood did roar;
Destruction in its pathway,
And sweeping all before.

I had a bridge so handy,
But now it is no more;
The timbers lie along the banks
Of Sand Creek's sunny shore.

Just at the dawn of morning
This flood it raised the dickens;
I went through water cold and deep
To save my hens and chickens.

I heard the flood go roaring by;
The logs they rose and fell;
I cussed the builders of the dam
In words that don't sound well.

Many dams are built
That are good dams for years,
But when they break and harm me
I damn the engineers.

This year it was a flood;
Last year it was a fire;
This gulch has more calamities
Than what I quite require.

Artificial Eyes.

During the year 1880 Professor Boissoneau of France created what could honestly be called an eye that was human in appearance. The method of manufacturing was practically the same as that employed at the present time, with the exception that in the intervening years great improvements have been made in imitating the colors, that are almost lifelike in their effect. Besides, many improvements have been made in the shapes, which are practically molded to conform to the socket and fill all the available space.

Use Time to Advantage.

Time, which never stands still itself, will not allow any one of us to stand still. It delivers into our hands sixty minutes every hour and compels us to dispose of them in some way. Whether we will or not, a constant accounting has to be rendered. One who falls into the habit of dissipating time dissipates not only opportunity but happiness, for the spendthrift of time becomes a spendthrift of the other things which make life worth while.—Forbes Magazine.

The Musk Rat.

The musk rat, as its name would indicate, is a species of rat. It is found nowhere but in America. Its body is shaped like that of the ordinary rat, but instead of the short, close hair of the land species, it is covered by a thick reddish-brown fur, and because it lives much in the water it has webbed toes. Although very awkward on land, it is lively and playful in water, and is a great swimmer and diver.

Evolution of Clothes Terms

Dozens and dozens of clothes terms there are that indicate the evolution of clothes among our ancestors. Petticoat, which has been used as a not very respectful synonym for women in general, was a garment for men originally, and was the undercoat worn beneath the heavier overcoat. It was fairly long, and eventually the word came to be applied to the garments that evolved from this "petti," or small coat.

Beliefs Concerning Sneezing.

According to Aristotle, if a man was sick sneezing once forbode his death, but sneezing twice his recovery. If the patient was a woman the rule worked the opposite way. A traveler in the woods was threatened with an attack by brigands if he sneezed once, while sneezing twice presaged a happy journey. As a rule, the person sneezing twice in succession will be lucky, but unlucky if it occurs once.

Crab in Oyster Shell.

A perfectly formed hardshell crab about the size of the end of a person's thumb was once found in an oyster shell. The crab had evidently been swallowed by the oyster, but presumably the crab proved too much for the oyster, as there was no oyster in the shell when it was opened.

Peru Sparsely Populated.

A territory on the Pacific ocean approximately 1,400 miles in length and 700 miles in width is occupied by Peru. The territory extends over 679,600 square miles, with a population that is estimated at 4,500,000, or, approximately, 6.6 to the square mile.

For the Typist.

Instead of adjusting the operator's chair to the height of the table on which a typewriter is placed, a typist may now have an adjustable table. The top of the new stand may be raised or lowered like the top of a piano stool.

To Soften Paint Brushes.

If paint brushes have been allowed to get dry and hard, they can be softened in the following manner: Heat some vinegar to boiling point and allow the brushes to simmer in it for about ten minutes. Then wash them well in strong soapsuds.

Improved Propellers.

A new propeller for either water or air has blades with spiral-like curves at one point and concave at the other, carrying the water or air their full length and overcoming the gyroscopic effect of ordinary propellers.

Rat Ravages on Crops.

There are about 750 forms of rodents inhabiting the United States, and the annual loss they cause in food and feed crops is estimated at $50,000,000.—Indianapolis News.

Overheard.

"Poor man! She makes him shake in his shoes so much he wears out his socks in no time."—Boston Transcript.

So They Couldn't Get Away.

Immense Pastoral Holdings.

It has been said that the average size of pastoral holdings in the northern territory of Australia is 275,000 acres.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., August 12, 1920.

Editor Fernie Free Press:

Last week's issue of the Free Press contained a communication signed by G. G. Henderson in connection with the 5 per cent amusement tax recently levied by the city on theatres operating in Fernie.

I take this opportunity of handing back to Mr. Henderson the compliment he so generously bestowed upon me and quote his own words in connection with his own communication, which are: Half the truth is worse than a lie. It cannot truthfully be said that Mr. Henderson's letter is the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

Mr. Henderson states that the picture shows announced their intention of running one show each night weeks before the city council considered the amusement tax bylaw. I cannot say whether the city council considered this bylaw prior to July 1st or not. I do know, however, that the amusement tax question was discussed by members of the council prior to this date and on one occasion, at least, Mr. Henderson admitted to some of the aldermen that the tax was unfair. Admitting himself the tax to be unfair, Mr. Henderson worked to make it a bylaw, and succeeded. Holdups are sometimes pulled off without the use of a gun.

The statement made by Mr. Henderson that last winter and spring Fernie had but one picture show is absolutely incorrect. Fernie had two picture houses last winter and spring, the Isis theatre being operated every Saturday and on holidays. It is only right to mention that the Orpheum and Isis theatres each paid the city $100 per year license fee for the privilege of doing business.

Mr. Henderson also states that the one picture theatre paid the government from $70 to $130 per week in amusement tax. This statement is entirely misleading as the amount of $130 was never paid the government for one week's receipts of a picture theatre in Fernie. As for the statement that every fair-minded person will agree that the city is entitled to part of the amusement tax, I am sure that every fair-minded person will agree that it is just as fair for the city to levy a tax on a grocery, garage or bakery business or to tax the rentals of a business block, as to levy a tax upon the running expenses of a picture theatre.

In reference to the 15 cents per reel film tax mentioned by Mr. Henderson, it is only fair to say that this tax was levied by the Dominion government after the outbreak of the war, upon all films used in a moving picture theatre. This tax was always considered by theatres as unfair inasmuch as the small houses running one or two shows per night was taxed the same as the large houses operating eight or ten hours per day. This tax was abolished last May, but not by any effort of Mr. Henderson as the wording of his communication would leave one to believe.

The moving picture theatres are paying a license fee of $100 per year each to the city, a fee far higher, I believe, than any other business in proportion to the amount of business done. Each theatre pays the provincial government a yearly licence fee of about $80, with ten per cent amusement tax on gross receipts paid to the government and five per cent levied by the city. It begins to look as if an effort is being made to put the picture theatres out of business via the taxation route.

Wm. Johnston.

REAL OLD-TIMER VISITS FERNIE

Harry Bentley, of Lethbridge, spent a few hours in the city the other day. Harry for a number of years conducted a general store in Fernie. The Nelson News contains the following about the old pioneer:

Seventy years old but as sprightly as a mere boy of 50, Harry Bentley, customs appraiser at Lethbridge, is a visitor in Nelson—"To see my old tillicums," as he phrases it.

Mr. Bentley is one of the real old-timers, a pioneer of the good old days. Thirty-five years ago he came to Lethbridge, and for a long time carried on a large commercial business there. At times he filled the mayoralty chair.

Yesterday Mr. Bentley told of his early struggles; how he came down the Red river before any railways were laid—in 1879; how he took up his first homestead on Brandon Plains. He walked from Winnipeg to Medicine Hat in 1882.

Mr. Bentley is thoroughly enjoying the renewal of old acquaintances. "I remember E. F. Gigot," he said, "in 1879. He was at Portage la Prairie in charge of the Hudson's Bay company. At that time Fred Hume was landing goods on the Columbia river at Donald, the first crossing. Bob Green was there too. I helped them both to put up tents.

"I don't know how many years ago it is since I first met Fred Starkey — somewhere about 1880, I think, in Winnipeg. My goodness! The days we had together! And to come along here and meet the old bunch again, well, it's good! When I met Fred then, he was a green boy from the old country and was just getting over (as one gets over measles), his first investment in homestead pre-emptions, his first experience with land sharks.

This interview closed in Fred Starkey's flt. Mr. Starkey was cooking a meal. He would have been in his shirt sleeves but for the absence of a shirt; however, a very beautiful butcher's pinafore decorously did duty for all deficient garments, and he and Mr. Bentley were busy shelling broad beans and swapping reminiscences.

Many a chuckle testified that there was quality as well as quantity in the adventurous recollections of these two old-timers.

"Say," said Mr. Bentlew, "Fred is some cook; if I were premier I should make him minister for the interior."

CAPTURED THE BANDIT

alone in the return fire, and he thinks that Usher must have been hit at once as he did not open fire until too late. After emptying his automatic, Frewin backed out in order to get out his regulation gun, but did not have an opportunity to use it as the bandits made a rapid rush for the door and soon had the building between them.

The bandit who was killed, had a bullet hole in the top of his head and another through the right arm and shoulder. This man stood leaning against the wall of the building and emptied both of his revolvers into the bodies of Constable Usher and Baillie as they lay on the sidewalk at the entrance of the restaurant, before he sank down dead himself from the shot which entered his head at the top.

The other bandit, who is described as the big one with the heavy black mustache, made his getaway, going toward Frank. W. L. Evans, liveryman, who saw most of the fight, says he saw the man going rapidly in that direction with a gun in each hand, and he is of the opinion that he was not seriously hurt, though he left blood stains marking his course.

A posse of men are now engaged in searching through the Frank rock slide for him.

While the battle went on, the whole village was aroused to what was going on, and J. H. Robertson, a J. P. and coroner, took his full share in the fight, using his gun as best he could. In all there must have been 75 shots fired, 15 or 20 of them inside the restaurant, as is evidenced by the bullet hole in the partitions, show cases and windows. There were no less than 14 bullet holes in the body of Mounty Usher, four of them in his pistol arm, between the wrist and elbow.

The body of Constable Baillie was removed to Macleod Saturday night, after the close of the coroner's inquest, and that of Usher was taken to Macleod Sunday night. A double funeral will be held when the two bodies are buried. P. Ernest Usher's parents live in Ireland and a cable has been sent to his brother there, announcing young Usher's death. This young man, 25 years of age, was of rather slight build and fair; a smooth, clean-looking fellow in the blossom of manhood, and his death, as that of Consable Baillie, is a great loss. Constable James Frewin has been a member of the R.N.W.M.P. for five years previous to going overseas, and since his return has been a member of the Alberta constabulary for 15 months.

The honors of the fight, like the dead, are equally divided between the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Alberta provincials. From statements, the source of which, for obvious reasons, cannot be made public, it would appear that these desperadoes have some friends in the Pass or it would hardly be possible for them to have been so bold in their movements since they made their clumsy attempt at train robbery last Monday.

Tom Bassoff, bandit, holdup man, and declared by a coroner's jury to be the murderer of Corporal Uusher of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and Frederick W. E. Baillie, of the Alberta Provincial Police, was arrested in a shack near the railway yards at Pincher Station on Wednesday night just before 11 o'clock.

The arrest was effected by C.P.R. special constables Glover and Towler, aided by members of the crew of the pusher engine which works between Burmis and Pincher Station.

The arrest was effected without shooting. Bassoff surrendered to a superior force when he saw all chance of escape shut off.

To Harry Hammond, of Lethbridge, engineer of the pusher engine, belongs the credit for spotting the bandit and laying the wires for his arrest.

Engineer Hammond was pushing an eastbound drag to Pincher Station when the headlight from his engine was thrown upon a tramp-like person on the right of way. The actions of the man aroused his suspicions, and on his return to Lundbreck he notified the officials of the company who were in charge of the chase at Frank, asking for instructions. Four special C.P.R. policemen were at Lundbreck and Mr. Hammond received orders to return towards Pincher, keeping a sharp lookout for the man.

About a quarter of a mile west of Pincher the wanted man was seen again in the glare of the headlight. He hurried off the right of way as rapidly as possible, and Engineer Hammond stopped the engine. The hunted man made for a shack close to the right of way. The special officers and train crew, all well armed, followed and surrounded the place. Entry was made into the building with drawn guns, and after three orders the man held up his hands. Without a move on the part of the bandit the officers approached, manacled him, and led him into the waiting room of the depot at Pincher.

On being searched there were found on him two revolvers, one empty and one loaded, and a passport and exemption papers, bearing the name of Tom Bassoff. Then the C.P.R. specials knew that they had taken their man.

MADAME ARTHUR BEAUCHER

805 Cartier St., Montreal.

"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a short time, the Constipation was banished, I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

On the edge of civilization there are no traditions. Men meet life with all the strength of soul within them. That is why the greatest stories have always been written, not of the atrophied emotions of society, but of the virile people nearest the great outdoors. These men may be good or bad, but whatever they are, they are strong. "The River's End" is a story of the Royal Mounted Police—a story of adventure and a story of wonderful love.

The ladies tug of war between teams captained by Mrs. W. Mills and Mrs. J. Wilson proved very interesting. Unfortunately the rope could not stand the strain of such a galaxy of beauty and parted, precipitating the fair contestants. Ice cream was served out liberally. Lunch and supper were also provided. NO 'RED PERIL" THINKS SCHWAB

Deprecating the widespread fear of Bolshevism in the United States as groundless and urging a readjustment of relations between capital and labor on the basis of collective bargaining and profit sharing, Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel Co., predicted an era of great prosperity for the United States and the world in an address at the annual dinner of the Pennsylvania Society in New York.

"The more the Bolsheviki talk and threaten destruction," said Mr. Schwab, "the more will our people see through all the sophistry preached to them and stand adamant for law, order and opportunity." The greatest need of the world at present is work, said Mr. Schwab.

"There are breakers ahead; there are rapids through which we must pass but I am one of those who believe in the future progress of the world and that we are soon to have one of the greatest eras of prosperity in all history.

"A good many people these days are 'seeing red.' Some talk as though the whole world is threatened with overturn by Bolshevism. I am not one of those who talk or think that way.

"We hear a great deal about the labor problem. I am one of those who do not believe much in theorizing about labor and capital. I do not believe the world is going to be suddenly changed by any academic solution of, or resolutions about, the labor question.

"I believe that the first and prime need of every man engaged in industry is to get and to keep his own house in order and to obtain the confidence and the enthusiastic loyalty of his own men. We have great problems to face, great work to do, and our real job is to get out and to get to work, and that applies not alone to the laboring man, but to every man in business, no matter how high up he may be.

"An honest day's work for a full day's pay is the supreme thing which it is the duty of every business man and manufacturer, not alone to obtain from the workman, but it is no less his duty to make the workman see that just such a performance is in the workman's own highest interest.

"It is the duty of the business men to address himself to seeing to it that the largest possible opportunity for employment and work is given to the greatest number of men, and I am myself a firm believer in the fact that the successful employment of labor does now and will in the future more and more rest upon the recognition:

"First—Of the right of the men to deal with their employers collectively; and,

"Second—Upon the privilege of the men through some kind of profit sharing to obtain a direct share in the profits realized upon the articles they themselves are making.

"What the laboring man wants, as I see it, is above all else recognition, appreciation and fellowship. He wants to be treated as a man of flesh and blood.

"And so I suggest the time has come to get together and to get to work. Let us go forward with confidence and determination. Never was a situation more difficult; never were opportunities so brilliant."

FIGHTING FAMINE WITH GOOD ROADS

When the sitchmen's strike threatened Chicago with famine, a combination of good roads and motor-trucks averted that disaster. George F. Paul tells about it in the Highway Magazine, Chicago. When the possibility of a nation-wide railroad tie-up became apparent, this writer made a special investigation of highway transport conditions in and about Chicago to determine how this great manufacturing center could utilize the highways in supplying necessities to near-by cities. He writes:

"There came a call for motor-trucks. Dozens of cities within a radius of fifty to seventy-five miles of Chicago, which are dependent upon the big packing houses for their meat suppiles, began to flash S.O.S. calls as soon as the switchmen walked out.

"The shortage of cars had recently kept outlying towns and cities on a day to day ration. One day's supply shut off would mean a meat famine.

"The highways extending from Chicago to points within a radius of 50 to 75 miles were in fair condition in spite of the wet spring, and the city was immediately able to dispatch convoy of from eight to twelve motor trucks, each convoy leaving as rapidly as it could be loaded.

"Convoy after convoy rumbled over the hard-surfaced roads or pulled sturdily through the mud, reaching the thickly populated manufacturing centres of Waukegan, Aurora, Elgin, and Gary, within a few hours with thousands of pounds of fresh meat.

"Perhaps, realizing that such a necessity would at some time arise, some of the big packers had purchased a large supply of specially designed tractor trailers, which are in reality small refrigerator cars.

"Each one is capable of holding 24,000 pounds of fresh meat. Each trailer has its own refrigerating system, and the meat is kept at a temperature of 35 degrees during the hauls.

"The construction of these trailers is interesting. They are 45 feet long, 11 feet 3 inches high, and 7 feet 6 inches wide. A cork lining serves to keep the contents at an even temperature. All meats are suspended from the ceiling of the body as in standard railroad refrigerator cars. Each trailer is demountable from the fifth wheel of the tractor and can be detached by two men in three minutes, through the use of two strong jacks fixed to each trailer body.

MISS SARAH GIBNEY

"Not only was the meat supply handled by motor truck, but many commercial houses depended upon local motor transport companies to move their freight between Chicago and points throughout the Middle West. Thousands of tons of goods were thus kept moving.

"It took the war with its car shortage to demonstrate the value of the motor truck in commercial transport. But at the same time, America's need for better highways was made apparent. The railroad strike has again brought the motor truck as an intercity freight vehicle into nation-wide prominence and shown the value of good roads."

TELEPHONE BLENDS OUR DIALECT

That the use of the telephone is bringing about greater similarity of accent in different parts of the country and is tending so to change the voices of the nation that Northerner and Southerner, Easterner and Westerner are gradually losing their characteristic intonation is the the belief of scientists who are familiar with the matter.

Furthermore, the president of a Southern telephone company observes that the Southern accent, too, is rapidly disappearing. There are many causes—he points out—the Southerner travels more, he uses the language of commerce, today where thirty years ago it was the language of literature. But above all looms the fact that the long-distance telephone is used so much more generally and so frequently. The use of the telephone, little as the casual onlooked may think it, is bringing all normal voices to a sameness of pitch and engrafting a similarity in enunciation. In fact, the telephone is gradually changing the voice of all of us.

It is thought by some that all this is due more to the feeling of the telephone user that the person he is talking to is some distance away than to any necessity caused by the instrument itself. People generally are apt to raise their voices when using the telephone much higher than there is any need. Or course, when using the long-distance telephone there is greater necessity for speaking louder and more distinctly than when speaking over a local line. On the other hand, the damping effect on electric waves is much greater with voices of higher pitch than the lower ones. The bass voice should carry further than the treble.

It is interesting to recall at this time a statement made some time ago, and upon which there was much comment at the time, that French is a better telephone language than English. If it be the case that English, with its harsh and sibilant sounds, is poorly adapted to the telephone, the frequent use which we make of the instrument may gradually bring about changes in speech. So, too, long-distance conversations, by causing the talker to exert a conscious effort in speaking, may unconsciously affect his ordinary enunciation.

SCARLET VS. KHAKI

The practical reason for going back to scarlet and blue is that a khaki-clad army can never be maintained by voluntary methods. Superior persons profess to sneer at the idea that modern men are attracted by a showy uniform. But it is so. The chief objection to scarlet is based on grounds of economy. The public are asked to believe that the proposed reversion to that color is a pure waste of money. The suggestion is false; soldiers must wear something, and a difference in the color of the cloth means very little difference in the cost of it. Indeed, one scarlet coat will outlast several khaki ones, because the soldier, being proud of it, will take care of it. Besides, it is not proposed to make scarlet the only wear. Khaki will still provide the working kit.—London Daily Express.

"OVER NIGHT" AT THE GRAND SATURDAY NIGHT

The Sarah Gibney Company, whom local playgoers will remember for their excellent performance of "Pal o' Mine," at the Grand some few weeks ago, are making us a return visit next Saturday night, when they will offer the laughing farce comedy "Over Night."

Since their performance of "Pal o' Mine" playgoers have commented highly on the merits of this organization and a keen interest has been aroused in their return.

Uproariously funny are the scenes in "Over Night," and no such amusing lines have ever before been conceived as are spoken in this comedy. Miss Gibney is supported by the same excellent company that appeared with her on her last visit and many new and pleasing songs are introduced during the action of the play.

Mr. Springer and Miss Gibney have the two principal roles and it can safely be said that both will acquit themselves with high honors.

The play is mounted and staged in the same lavish manner as "Pal o' Mine."

It is reported that Miss Gibney and her Company will play us a return engagement every Saturday night and for their next play the ever popular Irish comedy drama "Peg o' My Heart" will be the offering.

THE BRITISH EMPIRE

The British Dominions, which did so much in the conflict, have played their share in the conclusion of peace. But the full effect of the treaties now being drawn up, together with the modifications of older ones and the carrying into practice of the various mandates for former enemy territories, must profoundly influence the coming agreements for the safety of the Empire. The Dominions have a further responsibility in the share that they possess in the establishment and maintenance of the League of Nations. Many points of inter-Imperial and international policy will be ripe for decision by the time the next Imperial conference meets a year hence. We already see the Dominions taking on the full status of independent nations in their diplomatic and trade relationships with foreign powers, which does not mean a weakening of the Imperial bond, but a strengthening of the one really well established League of Nations which the world already possessed without knowing it. These are directions wherein no Dominion, any more than the Empire as a whole can advance ahead of public opinion.—Buluwayo Chronicle.

MRS. HAMOR MENTIONS THIS

Mrs. Hamor says that new potatoes and other new vegetables taste better when they are creamed with Pacific Milk than when she uses fresh milk.

They buy Pacific Milk by the case and have been doing so since the first of the year.

Up until then she would not believe that canned milk could possibly be better than fresh milk for any purpose.

She says now she knows it is.

RELATIVES GAVE UP HOPE FOR HER

Winnipeg Woman Unable To Eat and Nerves Unstrung—Tanlac Again Proves Merit

"My relatives had almost given up all hopes of my recovery, but since taking Tanlac my health is as good as it ever was in my life," said Mrs. Alice Garlick, Suite 6, McKerchar Block, Winnipeg, Man.

"Something over two years ago my health failed," she continued, and six months ago my condition suddenly became serious and I grew worse until I could hardly retain a thing, no matter how careful I was about what I ate. I felt nauseated after meals, my heart palpitated terribly and my throat and chest were so choked up I thought I would suffocate. I had such weak, fainty spells sometimes that I could not stand up and I had to stop and sit down wherever I happened to be. My strength and vitality left me, I gave up my housework entirely and just had to lie in bed or sit around all day long. My nerves were terribly unstrung and I would jump even at the rustle of a newspaper and at night I would doze off to sleep and then wake up and lie for hours unable to close my eyes. Terrible headache spells came on me nearly every day and I became so thin and pale that all the neighbors were talking about how bad I was looking and my friend didn't think I could hold out much longer.

"But just in the nick of time some of my friends recommended Tanlac and I started in taking it, but I was so bad off I had to take several bottles before I could notice much improvement. But after that I improved rapidly and today I am happy to say that Tanlac has restored me to perfect health. I am enjoying everything I eat now, because I never have a touch of indigestion and I can retain my food without any trouble. My nerves are as steady as can be and at night I sleep like a child. I am free from headaches and those fainty spells and it is no trouble at all for me to do my housework now. In the last month I have gained ten pounds and I feel so much stronger that I can hardly realize the wonderful change Tanlac has made in me."

FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

Sport offers at once a relief and an antidote. It takes the population into the open air and whether as players or spectators is a matter of little concern. We have no patience with the people who cry out against the crowds which assemble to watch matches between the greater players of games. They go in the right spirit. They are generally discriminating critics, with some practical acquaintance with the game they watch and encourage. And they are in the open air and obtaining that measure of recreation which they believe to be best suited to themselves. A population that watches games is as unlikely as as a population in which the playing of games is universal to be discontented with life. The very atmosphere in which it moves is one of enthusiasm with things as they are.

AMERICAN THOUGHT ON THE LEAGUE

The Welt politiken of certain Republican organs in the United States is almost as arrogant as that of many Pan-German organs in the palmy days of the ex-Kaiser. A recent editorial in the "Sun and New York Herald" is an example. It announced that the League of Nations was dead and buried, for the sole reason that the United States has not joined it, assuming, seemingly, that by a policy of passive resistance, the American Republic rules the world. On the whole issue of the peace treaty, United States Congress has been a good deal like the captain of the "Resolute," afraid to put to sea in a high wind—but it does not follow that because the Republic has refused participation the League of Nations does not exist.

The thought implied in the "Sun-Herald's" article goes even farther than this. It clearly intimates that if Senator Harding (should he attain the Presidency) vetoes the League, other powers, including the not inconsiderable British Empire, must perforce dissolve it, and Europe once more become an armed camp. It is possible that Europe is too weak, quarrelsome and foolish to sustain for an indefinite period such a splendid ideal as that involved in the League, but if that potent agency for peace ever does break up, it will not be on the say-so of parochial politicians in the United States.

MIDSUMMER DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

PUBLICITY COLUMN

(By J. F. Spalding)

The United States press representative of the C. P. R. at New York has written for 22 pictures of our local scenery, which he is going to publish in some literature the C.P.R. are issuing about this part of the country as a holiday resort. The railway companies are all beginning to realize that Easterners want to tour the mountains of the West, but many of them object to the long drive from the East. For the last few years most of the visitors to Southern California from the East have been shipping their cars instead of driving, and now some of the railroads have a special schedule of certain days in the week for shipping private cars from the larger centres in the East. Arrangements are made whereby the owners are not bothered either by the shipping or taking delivery of their cars on arrival at their destination. The large auto clubs in the East have a special department which looks after the shipping for them. They call at their house for the car, put it on the train, and either the California State Auto Association at Frisco or the Southern California Auto Club at Los Angeles take delivery of it there and all the owner has to do is notify them of his address and they will drive it to it. Undoubtedly such arrangements will be the eventual outcome of this section of the Canadian Rockies. We have infinitely more inducements to offer enthusiastic motorists than California has, and the railway companies are beginning to realize it. There is no doubt that our publicity campaign has been the means of bringing before the motoring public of America the wonderful possibilities of enjoyable touring in this section of the Rockies, in a very effectual manner. Our booklets have reached the right people and have created a very extensive desire to come out here for a trip amongst those who have seen them. Unfortunately they were a little late in being sent out and perhaps many who might have come this year had they gone out earlier, had made other arrangements for this season, but they will remember about this when making future arrangements, and it will be next year and the following years that we shall see the great increase in tourist travel through here.

To obtain our proper share of this, however, we must not let our efforts lag, in fact, with the completion of the Banff-Windermere road we must increase our efforts materially for the following reasons: Tourist travel coming up from Yellowstone and Glacier Parks to Banff will continue through to Windermere and Cranbrook and thence on to Spokane. The same thing applies to travel coming in from Spokane. They will go up from Cranbrook through the Windermere and on to Banff and Calgary and back through Glacier, and this portion of the Crow between Cranbrook and Macleod will be missed entirely excepting by those making the 500 mile circle from Calgary and return. The proportion of those doing that will be very small compared with those making trips through, and unless we make a strong effort by illustrated literature to let the motoring public know that the section between Crow's Nest and Elko is the finest part of the whole country and has the best roads, we shall miss a great deal of this business. A perusal of the map will show exactly our position. Cranbrook can afford to sit serenely on the fence because without any effort on their part, they are certain of this business. The same applies to Windermere and we cannot expect to get much help from them. What we do will have to be done by ourselves unless we can get the communities East of us sufficiently interested, and I think that the time is ripe to approach them on the sub-

LAST VICTIM OF DROWNING ACCIDENT

The body of Mrs. A. Moe, the last of the three who met a watery grave in the boating fatality at St. Mary's lake on June 20th, was recovered on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock by James Wallwork, brother-in-law of the bereaved husband, of Lethbridge, who came here from that city to assist in the search. The body was recovered near Bear Creek, about three miles below the scene of the shocking accident. It is in a good state of preservation despite the long time in the water. Undertaker MacPherson left for Bear Creek last night arriving back with the body early this morning.

The late Mrs. Moe was a native of Lindsay, Ont., and moved west to Lethbridge years ago, coming to Cranbrook about two years ago. She was a member of the Maple Leaf Rebekah Lodge, taking a keen interest in the welfare of the association. At Lethbridge she held several of the important offices in that city. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides a sorrowing husband, three sisters and two brother. The sisters are Mrs. Wm. Niven, of Calgary; Mrs. James Wallwork, of Lethbridge; Mrs. Ormond, of Nanaimo, B.C. The brothers are Bruce and Jack Davies of Lethbridge, and Bruce Davies, D.C.M., of Calgary, Alta.

The body will be shipped to Lethbridge on Saturday morning's local. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon, if the relatives who are now en route to Lethbridge can reach that city in time.

The recovery of Mrs. Moe's body will remove a strain from the minds of the afflicted. The bereaved husband has, with the aid of friends, been constantly at work searching for the body of his wife. The sympathy of the many friends, including the several railroad brotherhoods, extend him their heartfelt sympathy.—Cranbrook Courier.

PLENTY OF COAL BUT CANNOT MARKET

If the railroad problem, with its obligation of more than a billion dollars, is Canada's first problem in magnitude, that of the fuel supply is a very dlose second. The difficulty connected with the fuel question of course is not one of fuel scarcity in its fudamental sense. On the contrary Canada has enough coal and other forms of fuel to keep the entire continent going for many years. Our fuel problem is mainly a problem of distribution, and with it, therefore, the problem of transportation is indissolubly associated.

Canada consumes 34,800,0000 tons of coal every year. Of this total 22,500,000 tons including 5,000,000 tons of anthracite coal, is imported from the United States. This is to say, probably three-fourths of the population of Canada are dependent upon coal from the United States. If through any natural or artificial cause that source of supply were cut off for any considerable period the effect upon this Dominion would be catastrophical.

The Hon. Fraik Carvell and Mr. S. J. McLean of the Dominion Railway Commission, recently returned from Washington, where they have been conferring with the Interstate Commerce Commission regarding the shipment of American coal to Canada for the approaching winter. A plan has been devised by the American Commission which, it is hoped, will ensure an adequate flow of coal to Lake Erie ports for transhipment to the Northwest States and the Dominion.

Efforts also are being made to utilize Canadian coal in Central Canada and the governments of Ontario and Alberta have been in communication on the question. The Alberta authorities point out that any proposal for increased production in that province to help supply the needs of thee East will not be received with much enthusiasm if it is for temporary purposes only. Railway freights, they also urge, should be fixed low enough to enable Alberta producers to compete with the American exporters.

There is no doubt that the coal mines of Alberta and British Columbia could be made to play an important part in the solution of Central Canada's fuel problem, but whether they will do so or not is a matter largely for Central Canada to decide. To stimulate the increased production necessary in these provinces there must be a guarantee of more than a temporary market. The demand must be permanent, while transportation facilities and costs should be of such a character as to involve no handicap in competition with the outside product. The government authorities of Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec, in co-operation with the heads of the three transcontinental railroads, should be able to develop some plan which, through the utilization of Alberta and British Columbia coal, will help very largely to make Central Canada independent of coal from the States. — Victoria Times.

The Wallingford Company is reported to be looking on Fernie with longing eyes. Mr. Horace G. Daw, special representative of the above company, has been in town the past few days looking over the city with a view to launching a branch of his ture of the enterprise but stated that organization in this city. Mr. Daw from time to time he would divulge was very reticient regarding the na his plans in the Free Press.—Advt.

Hon. N. W. Rowell comes out of the muddle with considerable glory. Good Tory papers that hadn't a nice word for him before 1917 are now copying the eulogy of the Toronto Star and spreading abroad their belief that Mr. Rowell wasn't what they thought he was at all; that, in short, he was a cracking good minister and "made good" against heavy odds. All of which is probably true, but Hon. Mr. Rowell's course in declining to join up with the Meighen cabinet indicates that he has ideas of his own with regard to the standing and future of the group that succeeds the government of which he was a part.—London Advertiser.

THREE SUDDEN FATALITIES

During the past week three sudden deaths of workmen engaged in the lumbering industry in this immediate vicinity have occurred. The first was that of John Hadden, aged 39 years, and a resident of this district for the last twelve years, who was an employee of the Elk Valley Lumber Co. in the capacity of jammer engineer at the camp. This accident occurred last Friday afternoon and as related by witnesses who testified at the inquest, Hadden while at his post noticed that two loaded log cars which had been dropped down below the loading deck were still moving forward and in danger of running away. He apparently ran down and stepped in between the two loads for the purpose of applying the brakes, and in some manner was thrown down or tripped with the result that the forward set of trucks on the second car passed over him, severing the right limb and causing fatal abdominal crushing. He was extricated promptly but the injuries were so severe that he died in about an hour afterwards. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death but added a rider suggesting that the company take all precautions in the future to prevent cars from running away from the loading decks.

On Tuesday moning, Joseph O'Riley, also an employee at the Elk Valley Lumber Co. camp, while working in the woods was taken suddenly ill and while he with the assistance of his partner managed to return to the camp, he expired within a few minutes of arriving there. Coroner Thomson was called and after holding an inquiry decided an inquest was unnecessary. The cause of death was assigned to an attack of heart failure. O'Riley was 55 years of age and a returned veteran. He was well known in this city.

The third violent death was recorded on Wednesday, when Tom Dutka, employed as swamper for the White Spruce Lumber Co. at their upper camp on Hartley Creek, while engaged in clearing brush for a new wagon road, was struck by a falling tree and instantly killed. At the time of the accident a very high gale was blowing and according to Dutka's partner this was responsible for the tree which caused the fatal accident, falling. While it fell with but slight warning, there was sufficient time for Dutka to shout to his partner to run for safety, which the partner did, but unfortunately Dutka got caught in some brush and held directly in the path of the falling tree. Coroner Thomson has ordered an inquest.

SENTENCED TO ONE YEAR

In the County Judge's Criminal Court before His Honor Judge Thompson on Tuesday, Frank Sherman, a rerent arrival in this locality from the State of Montana, was sentenced to twelve months in Nelson gaol, for burglary. Sherman arrived in the city on Sunday evening and registered at the King Edward hotel. About 2.30 in the morning the porter heard a disturbance on the first floor and investigating found Sherman in the baggage room rummaging through things. He had broken into the room by the transom. As soon as the porter appeared on the scene Sherman beat a hasty retreat but not before he had been closely observed, which made identification positive later. Sherman was arrested Monday morning in one of the other hotels.

BASEBALL

The Winnipeg Colored Giants baseball team visited Fernie last Tuesday and played an exhibition game here against the Fernie Seniors. The game was a striking example of the amateur vs. the professional. The local boys played hard but were defeated by a score of five to one and it might have been worse but — it wasn't.

The fans were treated to some fine exhibitions of fielding and base running by the colored ball players. Their pitcher seemed to have perfect confidence in his fielders and left the bulk of the work to them. The dusky boys put over two runs in both the first and second frames, while Fernie scored in the first. The score remained at four to one till the 6th innings, when Boyd of the Giants crossed the plate, making the score five to one. In the last two innings it was evident that the Giants were in a big hurry to finish the game. They did not allow a Fernie player to reach first if they could possibly help it. Their fielding was perfect.

The Giants played two games at Cranbrook against the Wycliffe aggregation last Wednesday and Thursday. The Giants won both games, 5 to 2 and 13 to 5.

The Fernie Juniors cleaned up in the home and home games against Michel, winning the game here last Sunday by 12 to 9 and the game at Michel on Wednesday by 17 to 15.

The Fernie Seniors went to Cranbrook last Sunday but are very reticient at to what happened down there but it is learned from good authority that the Wycliffe aggregation were in good batting fettle and trimmed the local team by a score of 12 to 1.

The game that had been arranged to take place on Sunday with Cranbrook on the local diamond, has been postponed till Aug. 29, so as not to clash with the football game that had been drawn up in the meantime. The Waldo boys have come to life again and this week were up looking for a game, so the local team will go down there this Sunday and play at home next Sunday. These two games will be the last that Sofko will be with the team.

SCENERY APPRECIATED

By J. F. Spalding

Those who were at the Chautauqua last evening heard what Tom Skeyhill had to say about the scenery around Fernie. For the benefit of those who were not there I am going to repeat it. "I did not come here to speak about your progressive and solid little town nor about your surroundings, but I cannot go away without expressing my admiration for the beauty of it all. The magnificence of your mountains surpass in all respects those at Banff, in fact, in all my travels I have never seen such wonderful scenery as you have right here."

To give force to this statement he told us where he had travelled, through Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, the entire United States, the greater part of Canada and throughout Europe.

This statement was entirely spontaneous on his part as I have not met him and do not believe he was prompted to say it by anyone else. He simply agrees with every tourist through here, that this section of the country is the scenic centre of America and that when it is beter known thousands will come to see it, but as he said, working together and a proper community spirit by the people here, is the only way to accomplish anything.

Hitherto the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. have ignored this town entirely, the only place in which we appear in any of their literature is in their time tables. I did think that when they opened up the Tourist Camp at Lake Windermere they would at least mention Fernie as being in the line of route, but as usual nothing is said about us in their booklet, Cranbrook gets it, so last week I wrote a long letter to Mr. J. M. Gibbon their publicity agent at Montreal expressing the Fernie Board of Trade's surprise at this omission and pointed out to him that a great number of the tourists going to that camp have to go through here and that the best scenery in the whole distance is between here and Elko. I went into the matter thoroughly and have hopes that they will be induced to give us the representation we are entitled to in their literature henceforth. I shall probably hear from him in the next few days and next week will publish my letter and his reply.

Having had to spend an entire day this week with the directors of the Elk Valley Lumber Co., I took the opportunity of broaching the subject of the conservation of the timber around Island Lake, pointing out to them that we hoped to make the Lake one of the drawing cards to this town. Mr. Campbell and Mr. Liggeg made a trip up to the Lake and were impressed with its beahty and told me yesterday that they would be glad to co-operate with us and reserve the timber adjoining it. They are going into the matter and desire to have a survey made, but want us to state exactly what we want done.

FINED THE MAXIMUM

The city police this week have been active in connection with the enforcement of the Prohibition Act and so far have secured two convictions. On Sunday last a visit was paid to the Queen's Hotel and a search made. Upon the person of the bartender on duty at the time a flask of liquor was found for which contravention of the Act he was penalized $75 and costs by Magistrate Whimster. On Tuesday the Northern Club & Cafe Co., Ltd., management, appeared in the police court in answer to a charge of having intoxicating liquor in other than a private dwelling. This charge was laid as a result of a search of the premises, when two officers found two bottles of intoxicating liquor in a card room back of the bar. The court held the charge proven and fined the company $1000. The imposing of the maximum fine of $1000 is the third occasion upon which a like amount has been imposed here. The first was over a year and a half ago when the Flathead Hotel Co. paid that amount. On the two former occasions however the fines went to the provincial treasury as it was the provincial authorities who prosecuted. The fine Tuesday is the first instance whereby the city exchequer has been enriched to that extent under the Prohibition Act. The company has given notice of appeal.

O.B.U. ORGANIZER TELLS KIDNAPPING TALE

Regina, Aug. 17.—P. M. Christophers, organizer for the One Big Union and the man alleged to have been kidnapped from the local hotel at Beinfait, on the night of July 4 last was the chief witness for the crown when charges were heard against seven men of Estavan and district of kidnapping, this morning at that village.

It had been expected that the seven men would be charged jointly, but an agreement in this connection has not been made by counsel and each man will be tried separately.

For the first time since the incident happened the facts of the kidnapping case have been made public. Christophers this morning swore on oath that he arrived in this district at the request of the general secretary of the organization to look into organizing the miners into a branch of the One Big Union. On the night of July 3, after he had retired to his bed, a number of men came to his room, one of them being Tom Monro, whose case is the first to be heard.

Christopher was asked a number of questions by these men as to who he was and what he was doing in the town. He stated to them as he stated in court, that he was English by birth and was organizing for the One Big Union. He was told by these men to get his clothes on, and as soon as he was dressed he was accompanied downstairs by these men including Munro. He went to pay his bill but could not get a money order cashed, and one of the party offered to settle for him. He was then placed in an automobile and accompanied by Munro and the others, was driven to Estevan and thence to Noonan, N.D., where he was put out of the car and left. He went to the hotel and stayed till 9 o'clock Sunday morning and then walked into Portal.

Before the party left him they told him if he returned to Canada he would be tarred and feathered. In cross-examination he denied stoutly that he had the slightest connection with the I. W. W. or that he had tampered with Drumheller United Mine Workers. Questions of W. W. Lind, acting for the defense in this regard, were objected to by the presiding magistrate, who warned Mr. Lind that he must be prepared to substantiate such suggestions by actual evidence.

The remainder of the morning was taken up by evidence from the driver of the automobile, who knew nothing of the actual kidnapping, other than that having been alluded to.

All the defendants surrendered to their bail when the court opened those being charged being T. Munro, G. Hunter, J. Clark, S. Dryden, A. Gough, T. Jones and R. Thompson.

U.S. PRESIDENT'S SALARY

The President of the United States is an honorary member of all the clubs around Washington. He has to pay no taxes at all, the Supreme Court having decided that his salary is exempt. Also the White House is maintained by the public treasury. Then what does a president spend his money on. Chiefly on his clothing and food, and the food of his private attendants, the four or five servants whose wages he is responsible for. As the former secretary observes: "The President's personal clothing bill is not large. A man of sufficient intelligence to be president is not a fop. Furthermore, he has passed the fop age." A few good suits of clothes are all he requires and even these are kept pressed and in good condition by a valet paid by the government. Therefore, it is not unreasonable to suppose that the president can save out of his $75,000 salary and his $25,000 travelling allowances at least half. Only a riotous entertainer or a man of incurable extravagance could fill the office of president of the United States and at the same time spend his salary. Mr. McAdoo must have had some other reason in the back of his mind when he pleaded poverty as a disqualification for becoming president.

FERNIE LAD IS KILLED

A most unfortunate accident occurred at Eureka yesterday, which resulted in the death of little Johnny Podbielancik, the ten year old son of John Podbielancik of this city. Only meagre details are to hand of the accident, but it appears the little lad, who was visiting friends there, was riding a horse and was thrown off and dragged for a considerable distance, resulting in injuries which caused his death.

The body will be brought to Fernie today.

The bereaved parents have the deepest sympathy of the entire community.

SPECIAL COUNCIL MEETING

The council held a special meeting on Wednesday evening. The beverage license of the Northern hotel, ipso facto cancelled by virtue of conviction under the Prohibition Act, was reinstated. An application for beverage licence for the Canadian Boarding House was refused.

The following motion was passed: That all owners of vacant lots whose taxes are delinquent be sued through the court or county court as the case may require, for all taxes up to 1920.

WOMEN'S EXTRAVAGANCE

With the sensible wish to encourage economy and to save the purses of those who are impoverished by taxation, the Queen abolished the ladies' trains at court and the feathers in the hair. But to curb the extravagance of women is beyond even the power of a queen. The feathers that were forbidden on the head were merely transferred to the hand in the shape of fans; and if the costly trains and veils disappeared they were replaced by the usual spectacle of diamonds worn by unmarried girls.—London Saturday Review.

O.B.U. OPPOSE FREE SPEECH

(Lethbridge Herald)

If there is one thing that the apostles of the One Big Union talk about, it is freedom and liberty. They protest against curtailment of free speech, and they demand wide open discussion of all problems.

We know these apostles won't admit it and will charge that the Herald is body and soul possessed by capital, and that it has no sympathy with the worker, and all that sort of rubbish, when we say the O. B. U. is against the light of day being shed upon labor problems and is viciously opposed to free speech.

Here is the proof: The other day there was a debate in Winnipeg on the merits of International Unions and the O.B.U. Both causes were championed by two speakers each. The Winnipeg Free Press, fair enough, despite all the trash about a capitalistic press gave over two pages of a verbatim report of what was said. It is clear from the remarks of the O.B.U. spouters that that organization is out to throttle all industry, when it gets the chance. So much for that. What we want to impress is the fact that the O.B.U. is so sensitive that it can't stand criticism. One of the International Union advocates, W. H. Hoop, did not mince words in dealing with the O. B. U. When he was through the O.B.U. had a chance through the celebrated Joe Knight to reply, but words were not enough for the O.B.U. sympathizers at the close of the meeting set upon Hoop and viciously assaulted him. In this incident we have the measure of the O.B.U. It is so small that it resents criticism and tries with the fists and the feet to put down free expression of opinion. Truly if labor got into the hands of these fellows it would be destroyed forever. Imagine the people who in holy horror protest against Christophers being driven out of Saskatchewan jumping with both feet upon a man, who in open meeting, was bold enough to expose some of their tactics.

"GET RICH QUICK WALLINGFORD

Everyone is familiar with the stories that ran in the Saturday Evening Post and several other publications, of J. Rufus Wallingford and his "side-kick," Blackie Daw, but it remained to the lot of George M. Cohen to bring before the public these two, happy-go-lucky characters in the flesh and blood. Mr. Cohen dramatized "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" and produced it at the Cohen theatre, New York City, where it enjoyed a run of eighteen months. The play has been proclaimed by the press and public as being Mr. Cohen's best offering.

Fred Bass, director of the Juvenile Stock Co., has had the play in rehearsal for the past two weeks and reports that the Juveniles are making great progress with it. It is his intention to produce "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" during the month of September, and he informs us that it will be given a mounting that will rival many of the road shows. The cast, which is a long one, will include all of the principals of the last Juvenile show and many new faces have been added. Watch for dates.

WHY DO PEOPLE TAKE MONKEY GLANDS?

Rejuvenation, both physically and mental, can be acquired much easier and more pleasantly than by taking or eating the glads from monkeys. The French have invented a medicine, in tablet form, that does away with all other means of rejuvenation. These Tablets are now universally sold throughout Canada and are known as VITAL Tablets. They supply the necessary Vigor and Youth. There is no need to import chimpanzees from Africa, to take their glands to inject into people. Why go to all this trouble and expense, when VITAL Tablets can now be procured right in your own town, from your drug store? VITAL Tablets taken for a short period, disease of every description, old age with its aches and pains, will be a thing of the past. Young men and women with their pale faces, thin blood, impure blood, blotches on the skin, run down, worn out, tired people can be placed in a state of good health, with pure blood, strong nerves, a strong stomach, a healthy body, full of youth and vigor. Every Tablet of this new medicine contains the elements to make you feel as nature intended you to feel, no matter what your trouble is, go to your druggist and procure a box of VITAL Tablets. If they do not do you good, go back and get your money. Get on your feet, away with that pale, worn out look on the face. VITAL will bring back the rose of youth. Price fifty cents per box at all drug stores.—2t

G.W.V.A. CONCERT PARTY TO STAGE "PEG O' MY HEART"

On August 300th and 31st the G. W.V.A. Concert Party announce that they will offer to local theatregoers at the Grand theatre the most successful of all plays "Peg o' My Heart."

They have arranged with Miss Sarah Gibney and Wm. P. Springer, who were both featured in this play during its first tour through Canada, to produce the play for them and also to assume the two principal roles. Miss Gibney and Mr. Springer are now hard at work on the detail of the production and have rehearsals well under way. They have made arrangements with the Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., to use the original scenery, costumes, electrical effects and advertising matter.

The cast will include, besides Miss Gibney and Mr. Springer, Jos. Riley, Harold Bowen, George Parnell, Wm. Riley, Robt. Billsborough, Harold Wheeler and other members of the Concert Party. It will also be augmented with several local young ladies. The names so far secured are Miss Myrtle Schagel, Florence Billsborough and Dahlia Schagel.

Between the acts vaudeville and song selections will be rendered by members of the G.W.V.A. Concert Party and the G.W.V.A. band will participate in a big street parade and concert.

AIMED AT REVOLUTION

(Toronto Saturday Night)

In these columns we have, on previous occasions, paid some attention to one William Z. Foster, the said Foster being the mainspring of the recent United States steel strike. We ventured the opinion at the time that Foster was merely striving for a revolution, making an attempt to overthrow the United States government, and was in reality not the least concerned in "bettering working conditions" or getting more money for the men. The above is now confirmed by no less a person than Foster himself, in his new book entitled "The Great Steel Strike and Its Lessons." The Reds who engineered the strike, according to Foster's own story, were not trying to redress grievances at all, in fact if there had been more grievances they would have been better pleased. But, on the contrary, they were mobilizing their poor blind followers for a general assault on the whole system of American industry and government, just as our own jailbirds did in Winnipeg.

Organized labor, says Foster, pretends to be conservative, because that is necessary until such time as it is strong enough to make open war on "capitalism" which is his term for private ownership of property. According to Foster, organized labor's real purpose is to abolish the wage system, in other words, Bolshevism for him. "The important thing," says Foster, "is the trend of the (labor) movement. The trade unions, by their very make-up and methods, are anti-capitalistic. If they instinctively throw dust in the eyes of their enemies, they have done it for a worthy purpose."

Foster then recounts, with considerable glee the enormous losses occasioned by the steel strike. The loss of wages to the steel strikers, according to him, amounted to $12,500,000, and the cost to the American Federation of Labor was $461,000. Of course, none of this came out of Foster's pocket, but it did come out of the pockets of his dupes, the steel workers and out of the rest of the people.

Just so long as this Foster breed of yellow scoundrels are allowed to lead honest workmen around by the nose, just so long will unionism be looked upon with suspicion by the many millions unattached to union ranks. Fundamentally unionism is right and proper, but when men of the Foster stripe bend it to their own ends it becomes a danger and a menace.

WHO DID IT ?

In 1914 there was excuse for the world's blindness to the sort of dose Germany was mixing. It seemed impossible to conceive of an apparently intelligent nation going mad, even though its rulers told it to.

The press, the pulpit, the lecture room for nearly a generation had been pouring out in a steady stream the doctrine that what Germany did could not happen. It was more plausible to condemn as crazy militarists Roberts in Great Britain, Clemenceau in France and Roosevelt in America, who warned against the coming storm and preached the need of preparedness.

But this justification can not be pleaded a second time. The new crisis is too close in point of time to the old — too linked in a thousand ways for their relation not to be seen. For two years no basis for doubt has existed as to what sort of power was building itself up in Russia. It has made no secret of its purpose to use force to organize the world on its plan, just as the Prussians sought by force to organize the world on their plan.

No one has any reason to be surprised over the outbreak of Russian imperialism. That the Bolshevik power, if it dared, would try to play the role Germany failed in was certain. Democracy is as hateful to the Lenin crowd as to the kaiser crowd. Everything done was to be for the world's good. If the world was so stupid as not to recognize this, then it must be bled into a better understanding.

Those who have encouraged Russia to start on her amuck running may with reason boast of the celerity of her reaction to their stimulus. Let us not be silly enough to lay the exclusive blame on Bolshevik emissaries and the formal propaganda of Moscow.

In this country the sinister business has been forwarded by Americans in Great Britain by Britons, in France by Frenchmen. The noisy minority which has spread the idea that the allies were wicked has a malign influence. Its members have done all in their power to break down the morale of the allied peoples —have made them doubt and suspect one another and their governments.

It is probable a way will be found to bridge the present crisis. Russia will be no more satisfied with crushing the national aspirations of Letts, Lithuanians and Ukrainians and with humiliating Poland than Germany was with the acquisition of Alsace-Lorraine and the humiliation of France.

To the fourteen pointers of America and other countries these few words may be addressed: "Look on your handiwork! If new rivers of blood must flow to save democracy and the institutions of freedom, no small part of the stream is traceable to you as its fountain."—New York Tribune.

WHAT FAMOUS MEN "MIGHT HAVE BEEN"

It is one of life's ironies that few men follow the careers on which they first set their hearts.

If, for example, Mr. Lloyd George had realized his youthful ambition, instead of being Britain's prime minister, he would be a leading Nonconformist divine, and probably one of Britain's most popular preachers.

Mr. Asquith's ambition as a city of London schoolboy was similarly to be a parson; and if he had not strayed into law and politics he might have become a distinguished ornament of the house of lords, known to fame as a most reverend archbishop. Mr. Churchill has confessed that, as a boy, his greatest longing was to be an actor.

If Mr. Austen Chamberlain had had his way he would now be known in the university world as a learned Cambridge professor, and Lord Milner would not be a viscount, famous as statesman and administrator, but the editor of a great newspaper.

Mr. Bonar Law would be a New Brunswick parson, like his father before him; or, if he had realized the alternative ambition of his school days, a peaceful and industrious Canadian farmer.

As a young man, Sir Edward Carson loathed politics, and looked forward happily to the career of an architect. Indeed, his beautiful home at Rottingdean is eloquent evidence of a skill that would have won him fame and fortune in the arena of architecture.

Mr. Thos. Hardy is another man who, if he had been able to resist the lure of the pen, would be known today as one of Great Britain's greatest achitects, a profession which he followed with considerable success until he was thirty. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle might still be a popular Southsea doctor, unknown to the outside world, if he had never been tempted to write "A Study in Scarlet"; while Sir Anthony Hope Hawkins and Sir Rider Haggard would still be wearing wigs and gowns if they had not accidentally found more gold in their pens than in their briefs.

Long before he wrote a line for publication, Mr. Robert Hichens had set his heart on winning fame as a musician. It was pure accident that led to him winning fame by his books.

But for a similar accident Sir Hall Caine would be known today, not for designing suburban villas and his clever fiction, but for his skill in churches.

Mr. H. G. Wells, if he had allowed repeated failure to keep the door of literature closed against him, would now be earning a small fraction of his present income as science master; and Mr. Henry Arthur Jones, if he had never written "A Clerical Error" would now be enjoying a well earned rest after a busy commercial life.

Mr. George P. Sims has confided to the world that the ambition of his youth was to become a circus-rider. "Iwould still much sooner be that than a journalist," he says. Perhaps by this time, had he achieved his ambition, he would have abandoned the role of performer for the more dignified career of circus-propietor.

Sir Arthur Pinero's earliest inclination was to become an omnibus conductor; Mr. Martin Harvey, as a youth, asked nothing more of life than to be allowed to live in Italy and write poetry, and Mr. Fred Terry confesses, "If I had had my way, I should today be the proud driver of a taxi-cab."

Chaucer might have been a customs house official if he had kept away from Canterbury and his pilgrims. Burns might have done good work as a gauger. Keats threw away his chances as general practitioner, while Charles Dickens, in his early days, was a reporter in the press gallery of the house of commons.

AVENUE OF SACRED MONSTERS IN STONE

What is declared to be the strangest avenue of statutes in the world leads to the ancient Ming temple in China. It is not far outside the walls of the city of Nankin, which is nearly equidistant between Canton and Peking.

The avenue and its sculptures become much more interesting when one understands something of what they signify. It is worth while to know the meaning of the colossal stone animals; how and when they were carved, and by what means they arrived where they stand or squat.

Consider the monstrous camel in a kneeling attitude, carved out of a single block of stone. It was originally quarried from the rocks of a hill several miles distant, and must have been dragged to its present site on a great sledge by many hundreds of men pulling long ropes. To support it, a massive stone foundation was first laid, the surface of the latter on a level with the ground.

Why the camel? Because it is a sacred animal. The camel has been deified in China; it is a god. The elephant is likewise a god, and hence the mighty proboscidians of stone, standing and recumbent, that guard the road to the Ming tombs. They were quarried from the same hills, each one a monolith, and transported by the means already described.

The camel and elephants are spirited and artistic pieces of sculpture, doubtless executed by an artist of celebrity in his day. Another animal represented is the horse, which is also a god. There are even human colossi on the strange road. One of them represents a soldier, another a Buddhist priest. The soldier carries a sword and is armored from top to toe.

The soldier's armor is "scale mail," which was brought to high perfection in China at an early period. The scales were fastened upon leather or cloth as tiles are applied to a roof; they are usually of iron or pewter, but sometimes of silver or gold. The helmet of this stone warrior looks massive and heavy; but, generally speaking, the old-time Chinese armorer devoted his attention to making the headpiece monstrous and terrifying rather than protective. Representing the jaws of a dragon, a griffin or a serpent, it was meant to scare the enemy.

The road and its curious sculptures dates back to the fourteenth century when the first emperor of the Ming, or "Bright" dynasty reigned. He was the son of a Chinese laborer, but became a great military leader, destroying the rule of the Mongols in the Flowery Land. It was he and his immediate successors who built the tombs and constructed the avenues of statues. The avenue has been allowed to go to ruin, but the sculptures remain.

In 1627 the last Ming emperor ascended the throne. Political disturbances culminated in revolution and a rebel general, named Li, besieged the the capital of Hunan province so closely and so long that starvation resulted and human flesh was regularly sold in the markets. An imperial army raised the siege by cutting the dykes of the Yellow river. The rebels escaped, but two hundred thousand inhabzitants of the city were drowned. To quell the rebellion, the Chinese sought the aid of their old enemies, the Manchu Tartars, who, having been invited in, refused to get out, and assumed the reins of government, starting a new dynasty which was only recently upset. The last of the Ming emperors drowned" himself in the Yangtze river.

There are two reasons why we should celebrate Dominion Day; one, that the Fathers of Confederation made a good job of their work; the other, that they didn't vote themselves an increase of salary for doing it. —Kingston Standard.

Will the people who so kindly loaned dishes, table napkins, etc., to the Children's Lawn Fete on Mrs. Jungett's lawn, some time ago, kindly call for same and oblige. A small key was also found on the premises.

The big excitement of the week has been the Chautauqua. The lecturers and other entertainers have been drawing large and appreciative audiences. The program has been well up to the standard established during the past three years.

The Lethbridge Herald is doing a lot of talking about the lawlessness of the Pass towns, but if they can find any place any more lawless than Lethbridge, why, they will have to hustle. Lethbridge is known far and wide as the bootleggers' distributing point.

John Kinnear and Miss O'Hearn, two young people well known in Fernie, were united in marriage at Prince Rupert last week. They are expected to arrive in Fernie this evening, where they will reside in future. Miss O'Hearn taught school in this city for a number of years and Mr. Kinnear is office manager for the Elk Valley Lumber Co.

The Liphardt golf challenge cup has changed hands during the past week no less than four times. On Saturday the original winners, Watson and Herchmer, lost to Irvine and Young, who on Monday lost to Liphardt and Wallace. On Wednesday, Black and G. F. Johnson defeated the holders, but were in turn defeated by Kastner and Stewart yesterday afternoon. Messrs. Watson and Herchmer are next in line for a chance at it again and the game will probably be played this evening.

Miss Myrtle Brown returned on Saturday from Calgary, where she attended business college. Previous to her departure an unfortunate accident happened to a little six year old child who was in the habit of accompanying her for a short distance every day toward the business college she attended. On the day previous to her departure the little one had just dropped her hand and was returning home when the tot was struck by an automobile and almost instantly killed.

W. R. Wilson has a plan for building two fine swimming pools just off the Fernie golf course. This is a fine idea as there is nothing that this city needs quite so badly as a swimming pool.

Harry Bentley, of Lethbridge, who has been spending a week in West Kootenay, is again in Fernie for a few days. Harry and Steve Alexander, two of our old timers, are out for a good time.

Constables Kerr and Martin took four prisoners to Nelson yesterday, two of them being the men who were sent up for trial by Judge Thompson for the holdup at Skookumchuck. They will come up for trial at the fall assizes here.

A wire received from Tom Whalen of Vancouver on Wednesday stated that Grant Downing had just died following an operation for gall stones. Deceased, who resided in Fernie for many years was a popular old-timer and his death has caused deep regret among his many friends.

Walter Harwood's dog, a thoroughbred Chesapeake, yesterday succumbed to poison, obtained in some unknown quarter. This is the fourth valuable canine Mr. Harwood has lost by this secretive means and he is beginning to think someone has a vindictive personal dislike for he and his pets. In the city we have many varities of dogs and dogs, mongrels and mongrels, in which respect it might be said the canine population is too great and therefore no strong objection could be taken to destroying certain varities, but it can hardly be justified that anyone should resort to the indiscriminate distribution of poisonous bait.

WHO DID IT ?

In 1914 there was excuse for the world's blindness to the sort of dose Germany was mixing. It seemed impossible to conceive of an apparently intelligent nation going mad, even though its rulers told it to.

The press, the pulpit, the lecture room for nearly a generation had been pouring out in a steady stream the doctrine that what Germany did could not happen. It was more plausible to condemn as crazy militarists Roberts in Great Britain, Clemenceau in France and Roosevelt in America, who warned against the coming storm and preached the need of preparedness.

But this justification can not be pleaded a second time. The new crisis is too close in point of time to the old — too linked in a thousand ways for their relation not to be seen. For two years no basis for doubt has existed as to what sort of power was building itself up in Russia. It has made no secret of its purpose to use force to organize the world on its plan, just as the Prussians sought by force to organize the world on their plan.

No one has any reason to be surprised over the outbreak of Russian imperialism. That the Bolshevik power, if it dared, would try to play the role Germany failed in was certain. Democracy is as hateful to the Lenin crowd as to the kaiser crowd. Everything done was to be for the world's good. If the world was so stupid as not to recognize this, then it must be bled into a better understanding.

Those who have encouraged Russia to start on her amuck running may with reason boast of the celerity of her reaction to their stimulus. Let us not be silly enough to lay the exclusive blame on Bolshevik emissaries and the formal propaganda of Moscow.

In this country the sinister business has been forwarded by Americans in Great Britain by Britons, in France by Frenchmen. The noisy minority which has spread the idea that the allies were wicked has a malign influence. Its members have done all in their power to break down the morale of the allied peoples —have made them doubt and suspect one another and their governments.

It is probable a way will be found to bridge the present crisis. Russia will be no more satisfied with crushing the national aspirations of Letts, Lithuanians and Ukrainians and with humiliating Poland than Germany was with the acquisition of Alsace-Lorraine and the humiliation of France.

To the fourteen pointers of America and other countries these few words may be addressed: "Look on your handiwork! If new rivers of blood must flow to save democracy and the institutions of freedom, no small part of the stream is traceable to you as its fountain."—New York Tribune.

WHAT FAMOUS MEN "MIGHT HAVE BEEN"

It is one of life's ironies that few men follow the careers on which they first set their hearts.

If, for example, Mr. Lloyd George had realized his youthful ambition, instead of being Britain's prime minister, he would be a leading Nonconformist divine, and probably one of Britain's most popular preachers.

Mr. Asquith's ambition as a city of London schoolboy was similarly to be a parson; and if he had not strayed into law and politics he might have become a distinguished ornament of the house of lords, known to fame as a most reverend archbishop. Mr. Churchill has confessed that, as a boy, his greatest longing was to be an actor.

If Mr. Austen Chamberlain had had his way he would now be known in the university world as a learned Cambridge professor, and Lord Milner would not be a viscount, famous as statesman and administrator, but the editor of a great newspaper.

Mr. Bonar Law would be a New Brunswick parson, like his father before him; or, if he had realized the alternative ambition of his school days, a peaceful and industrious Canadian farmer.

As a young man, Sir Edward Carson loathed politics, and looked forward happily to the career of an architect. Indeed, his beautiful home at Rottingdean is eloquent evidence of a skill that would have won him fame and fortune in the arena of architecture.

Mr. Thos. Hardy is another man who, if he had been able to resist the lure of the pen, would be known today as one of Great Britain's greatest achitects, a profession which he followed with considerable success until he was thirty. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle might still be a popular South-sea doctor, unknown to the outside world, if he had never been tempted to write "A Study in Scarlet"; while Sir Anthony Hope Hawkins and Sir Rider Haggard would still be wearing wigs and gowns if they had not accidentally found more gold in their pens than in their briefs.

Long before he wrote a line for publication, Mr. Robert Hichens had set his heart on winning fame as a musician. It was pure accident that led to him winning fame by his books.

But for a similar accident Sir Hall Caine would be known today, not for designing suburban villas and his clever fiction, but for his skill in churches.

Mr. H. G. Wells, if he had allowed repeated failure to keep the door of literature closed against him, would now be earning a small fraction of his present income as science master; and Mr. Henry Arthur Jones, if he had never written "A Clerical Error" would now be enjoying a well earned rest after a busy commercial life.

Mr. George P. Sims has confided to the world that the ambition of his youth was to become a circus-rider. "Iwould still much sooner be that than a journalist," he says. Perhaps by this time, had he achieved his ambition, he would have abandoned the role of performer for the more dignified career of circus-propietor.

Sir Arthur Pinero's earliest inclination was to become an omnibus conductor; Mr. Martin Harvey, as a youth, asked nothing more of life than to be allowed to live in Italy and write poetry, and Mr. Fred Terry confesses, "If I had had my way, I should today be the proud driver of a taxi-cab."

Chaucer might have been a customs house official if he had kept away from Canterbury and his pilgrims. Burns might have done good work as a gauger. Keats threw away his chances as general practitioner, while Charles Dickens, in his early days, was a reporter in the press gallery of the house of commons.

AVENUE OF SACRED MONSTERS IN STONE

What is declared to be the strangest avenue of statutes in the world leads to the ancient Ming temple in China. It is not far outside the walls of the city of Nankin, which is nearly equidistant between Canton and Peking.

The avenue and its sculptures become much more interesting when one understands something of what they signify. It is worth while to know the meaning of the colossal stone animals; how and when they were carved, and by what means they arrived where they stand or squat.

Consider the monstrous camel in a kneeling attitude, carved out of a single block of stone. It was originally quarried from the rocks of a hill several miles distant, and must have been dragged to its present site on a great sledge by many hundreds of men pulling long ropes. To support it, a massive stone foundation was first laid, the surface of the latter on a level with the ground.

Why the camel? Because it is a sacred animal. The camel has been deified in China; it is a god. The elephant is likewise a god, and hence the mighty proboscidians of stone, standing and recumbent, that guard the road to the Ming tombs. They were quarried from the same hills, each one a monolith, and transported by the means already described.

The camel and elephants are spirited and artistic pieces of sculpture, doubtless executed by an artist of celebrity in his day. Another animal represented is the horse, which is also a god. There are even human colossi on the strange road. One of them represents a soldier, another a Buddhist priest. The soldier carries a sword and is armored from top to toe.

The soldier's armor is "scale mail," which was brought to high perfection in China at an early period. The scales were fastened upon leather or cloth as tiles are applied to a roof; they are usually of iron or pewter, but sometimes of silver or gold. The helmet of this stone warrior looks massive and heavy; but, generally speaking, the old-time Chinese armorer devoted his attention to making the headpiece monstrous and terrifying rather than protective. Representing the jaws of a dragon, a griffin or a serpent, it was meant to scare the enemy.

The road and its curious sculptures dates back to the fourteenth century when the first emperor of the Ming, or "Bright" dynasty reigned. He was the son of a Chinese laborer, but became a great military leader, destroying the rule of the Mongols in the Flowery Land. It was he and his immediate successors who built the tombs and constructed the avenues of statues. The avenue has been allowed to go to ruin, but the sculptures remain.

In 1627 the last Ming emperor ascended the throne. Political disturbances culminated in revolution and a rebel general, named Li, besieged the the capital of Hunan province so closely and so long that starvation resulted and human flesh was regularly sold in the markets. An imperial army raised the siege by cutting the dykes of the Yellow river. The rebels escaped, but two hundred thousand inhabzitants of the city were drowned. To quell the rebellion, the Chinese sought the aid of their old enemies, the Manchu Tartars, who, having been invited in, refused to get out, and assumed the reins of government, starting a new dynasty which was only recently upset. The last of the Ming emperors drowned himself in the Yangtze river.

There are two reasons why we should celebrate Dominion Day; one, that the Fathers of Confederation made a good job of their work; the other, that they didn't vote themselves an increase of salary for doing it. — Kingston Standard.

An Examination for Licensing Scalers will be held Tuesday, August 24th, at the C.P.R. Dr. Pickering has just installed the very latest X-ray machine for use in his dental parlors.

Gus Johnson, a Swede, at Wardner was fined $50 this week for an infraction of the Prohibition Act.

Lethbridge has only 64 members in their golf club. Fernie club, although only two years old, has over 70.

A. E. Ingham, of Elko, was in the city yesterday. He was accompanied by J. Webb, an old friend from Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. T. Alexander, of Victoria are the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Corsan. Miss Alexander is visiting in England.

Chief Spiller driving his Ford collided with a motor truck at the Home Bank corner the other day. Both machines were slightly damaged.

Marriage licenses were issued this week to Albert Saunders and Martha Ernest, both of Baynes Lake; and to Wm. Andrews and Kathleen C. Brodie of Lethbridge.

Jack Hammond and Huge McCabe, charged with housebreaking at Elko, came up before Magistrate Watson here on Tuesday. They were remanded until next Tuesday.

Frank Moses, who recently graduated with high honors from the Bliss Electrical College, Baltimore, is home on a short visit to his parents. His mother, Mrs. Geo. Moses, is seriously ill.

Jos. McDougall arrived home on Monday from Rochester, Minn., where he visited his father, who is seriously ill. Mr. McDougall, who it was reported was on his way home, was too ill to leave.

L. E. McDonald, Jas. Johnstone, Thomas Q. Roe and Walter Harwood journeyed by automobile to the Windermere today for a week's sojourn in that locality. They will camp at Radium Hot Springs.

A representative of the B.C. Moderation League was in the city yesterday and held a meeting of the local executive committee to outline a plan of campaign for this city in connection with the coming plebiscite.

Will the people who so kindly loaned dishes, table napkins, etc., to the Children's Lawn Fete on Mrs. Jungett's lawn, some time ago, kindly call for same and oblige. A small key was also found on the premises.

The big excitement of the week has been the Chautauqua. The lecturers and other entertainers have been drawing large and appreciative audiences. The program has been well up to the standard established during the past three years.

The Lethbridge Herald is doing a lot of talking about the lawlessness of the Pass towns, but if they can find any place any more lawless than Lethbridge, why, they will have to hustle. Lethbridge is known far and wide as the bootleggers' distributing point.

John Kinnear and Miss O'Hearn, two young people well known in Fernie, were united in marriage at Prince Rupert last week. They are expected to arrive in Fernie this evening, where they will reside in future. Miss O'Hearn taught school in this city for a number of years and Mr. Kinnear is office manager for the Elk Valley Lumber Co.

The Liphardt golf challenge cup has changed hands during the past week no less than four times. On Saturday the original winners, Watson and Herchmer, lost to Irvine and Young, who on Monday lost to Liphardt and Wallace. On Wednesday, Black and G. F. Johnson defeated the holders, but were in turn defeated by Kastner and Stewart yesterday afternoon. Messrs. Watson and Herchmer are next in line for a chance at it again and the game will probably be played this evening.

Miss Myrtle Brown returned on Saturday from Calgary, where she attended business college. Previous to her departure an unfortunate accident happened to a little six year old child who was in the habit of accompanying her for a short distance every day toward the business college she attended. On the day previous to her departure the little one had just dropped her hand and was returning home when the tot was struck by an automobile and almost instantly killed.

W. R. Wilson has a plan for building two fine swimming pools just off the Fernie golf course. This is a fine idea as there is nothing that this city needs quite so badly as a swimming pool.

Harry Bentley, of Lethbridge, who has been spending a week in West Kootenay, is again in Fernie for a few days. Harry and Steve Alexander, two of our old timers, are out for a good time.

Constables Kerr and Martin took four prisoners to Nelson yesterday, two of them being the men who were sent up for trial by Judge Thompson for the holdup at Skookumchuck. They will come up for trial at the fall assizes here.

A wire received from Tom Whalen of Vancouver on Wednesday stated that Grant Downing had just died following an operation for gall stones. Deceased, who resided in Fernie for many years was a popular old-timer and his death has caused deep regret among his many friends.

Walter Harwood's dog, a thoroughbred Chesapeake, yesterday succumbed to poison, obtained in some unknown quarter. This is the fourth valuable canine Mr. Harwood has lost by this secretive means and he is beginning to think someone has a vindictive personal dislike for he and his pets. In the city we have many varities of dogs and dogs, mongrels and mongrels, in which respect it might be said the canine population is too great and therefore no strong objection could be taken to destroying certain varities, but it can hardly be justified that anyone should resort to the indiscriminate distribution of poisonous bait.

RUSSIA FROM THE INSIDE

With the Russian hordes attempting to stamp Europe flat, one is reminded of Kipling's now almost forgotten poem, a line of which runs: "Make ye no truce with Adam-Zad, the Bear that walks like a man." If the poet did not foresee the present crisis, he must have had in mind something very much akin to it. He liked these half savage people little, and wrote of them as he thought. In a short story, "The Man Who Was," Kipling well described the Russian when he wrote (I quote from memory): "Russia—the most Western of Eastern nations, not the most Eastern of Western."

Looking at the Russian people through Kipling's eyes will perhaps give us a better understanding of the vast problems which now face the world. Little by little, a bit at a time, a goodly part of Continental Europe is being dragged back into the semi-savage state in which Peter the Great found it when as a boy of seventeen he began his personal rule. The Russians are not a race, but the descendants of many races. The Mongolians from the East, mixed with the hordes of barbarians from the Steppes, intermingled in turn with the Savage Northmen, and mixed again with the Slavonic tribes and the Tartars. Such are the Russians. Add gross ignorance to this confusion of blood and perhaps we have at least a partial explanation of why the Russian has run amuck.

In the latest issue of the London "Nation" is an article by Bertrand Russell. Mr. Russell is a scholar, and had previously written noteworthy articles on the Social Democracy of Germany and on philosophy. He accompanied the British Labor delegation to Germany, though not a member of that body, and while they were being feted and made much of by the Bolshevists who wished to make the best impression possible, Mr. Russell went off "on his own" with a view of finding out the true condition of affairs. I quote a characteristic passage from his article:

"Friends of Russia here think of the dictatorship of the proletariat as merely a new form of representative government in which only working men and women have votes. They think that the proletariat means the proletariat, but dictatorship does not quite men dictatorship. This is the opposite of the truth. When a Russian Communist speaks of dictatorship he eans the word literally, but when speaks of the proletariat he uses word in a Pickwickian sense. He s the class-conscious part of the ariat—the Communist party."

Russell goes on to state that sition to the present regime d without mercy and without the methods being the same the old time Czars. The say for the present Rusnent is that it compares of Cromwell, while at rallels the Directory of ally militant and intic.

STRIKING CASE OF GOOD DONE BY HERBS

Relief Obtained by Vancouver Man Who Suffered From Asthma For Years

A remarkable story which will be read with interest by any person afflicted with Asthma or who has friends suffering from the disease, is told by Mr. H. S. Duncan, of 1368 Eleventh avenue west, Vancouver. The case of Mr. Duncan is well known in Vancouver and the wonderful manner in which Wonder Health Restorer relieved his sufferings has been a tremendous surprise to his friends, who had given up his case as hopeless. Mr. Duncan's own statement reads:

"I have suffered from Bronchial Asthma since childhood and frequently developed such bad colds I was obliged to take hospital treatment. I have passed many sleepless nights and my daily duties were often a burden. Since taking Wonder Health Restorer I can say without fear of contradiction that I have slept perfectly and now feel fit as any man. I cannot say too much of the value of Wonder Health Restorer and strongly recommend its use by any sufferer from the disease."

Call and enquire about the remedy. Ask for a copy of "The Road to Health," which tells all about it and gives the personal testimony of many who have used it.

WHEN KIDDIES START TO SCHOOL

Barefoot days and loose, easy shoes of summer have given their feet a wonderchance to develop, naturally, through several months of play.

As they go back to school be very sure that they have shoes which allow for these changes. You know how older folks "go to pieces" when their feet hurt. A child will do the same, and lasting injury may result. You cannot be too careful.

MACDONALD'S CUT "BRIER"

"Brier" Smoking Tobacco has become a Canadian institution. More men smoke "Brier" than any other tobacco in Canada. It leads in quality—and leads in value.

Now "Brier" comes in new form—Macdonald's Cut "Brier"—the same tobacco—prepared under the Macdonald standards established in 1858.

Still leading in value. Macdonald's Cut "Brier" gives more tobacco for the money in the 1-12 lb. package for 15c.—$1.80 per pound.

NEVER MISSES DAY FROM WORK

Formerly Laid Off For Weeks at Time—Gains 15 Pounds Taking Tanlac

"Besides getting complete relief from all my troubles by taking Tanlac I have gained fifteen pounds in weight," said Samuel Wise, 685 William Ave., Winnipeg, Man., recently. Mr. Wise is an old and well known railroad man, having been connected with the Canadian Pacific Railway for twenty years or more, and has lived in Winnipeg and vicinity for the past thirty years.

"For years my stomach was in such bad condition I could hardly digest anything," said Mr. Wise. "My appetite had failed me until I did not even care to look at anything to eat, and the little I did manage to eat seemed to lodge about half way down my chest, form into a lump and stay there. The pain was terrible and I would have heartburn until I could nearly go distracted, and fill up with gas until I was in perfect misery. My heart palpitated so bad at times I would actually become frightened and I could hardly get my breath. I had such severe pains across the small of my back I could hardly bend over and if I did it was agony for me to straighten up again, for it felt as if a knife was being stuck in my back. I also suffered a great deal with rheumatism in my arms and legs, and the joints of my knees would get so stiff and the muscles become so sore I could hardly get around. I had pains all through my body just about all the time, could get but little sleep and was in such a bad fix generally I had to lay off from work for weeks at a time.

"I had tried so many different treatments and medicines without getting any benefit from them I had become discouraged, but when Tanlac was recommended to me I decided to give it a trial. Well, I began to get better almost at once, and as I continued taking it I continued to improve until now I feel as hale and hearty as I ever did. It has built up my whole system, my stomach is in splendid condition, I have a good appetite and eat anything I want without having a particle of trouble. I never suffer with heartburn gas or palpitation of the heart and the rheumatism has left me entirely. My kidneys never give me any more trouble. I sleep well and can get around as good as ever. After what Tanlac has done for me it is a real pleasure for me to recommend it."

A CUP RACE WITH CANADA

There is every reason, national and international to desire that the tentative challenge wired to the New York Yacht Club by Alex. C. Ross, of Montreal, will result in a contest for the America's cup next year between American and Canadian boats. The proposition from over the border is alluring in every suggested detail. A yacht built by Canadian popular subscription, managed by fishermen and backed in its venture by two great Nova Scotia clubs—there is a body of circumstances to stir sporting instincts and expectations to the utmost, both in the dominion and the United States.

In 1921 it will be forty years since Canada's effort to capture the cup with the Atlanta; 45 years since the countess of Dufferin, sent down by Toronto yachtsmen, was defeated by the defender Madeline. Two meetings in all the years since the America's cup was set up make really a rather poor showing between neighbors. However it may be the beginning of better things to have the celebration of the trophy's 70th anniversary marked by the competition of next-door friends. — New York World.

PACIFIC MILK SAVES TROUBLE

It's interesting to read the letters people send in. We get all sorts of good suggestions.

One lady says that we have never mentioned the fact that it is handier to use Pacific Milk than fresh Milk.

She points out that one may have a dozen cans in the pantry. The milk is always ready to use; she is never caught without milk in the house by unexpected guests.

It is a good suggestion. We are grateful for it and pass it along.

BASSOFF COMMITTED

Lethbridge Aug. 17. — Thomas Bassoff, train bandit and alleged murderer of Corp. Usher and Constable Baillie in a gun fight with the police officers at Bellevue on Saturday, Aug. 7, was this morning committed for trial on a charge of holding up C.P. R. train No. 63 on the afternoon of August 2.

This afternoon Bassoff is standing his preliminary trial on the charge of murder. J. W. Macdonald of Macleod is prosecuting for the crown, and Lieut. George Rice is conducting the defence.

The preliminary is creating unheard of interest here, so much in fact that the sheriff was prevailed upon to throw open the supreme court chamber of the court house for the hearing. Even then hundreds who tried to gain admission were turned away. Many women and children were in the curious audience.

Bassoff appeared in the dock flanked on both side by Alberta police officers fully armed. The bandit presented a vastly different appearance than on Thursday morning last when he was landed in his cell at A. A. P. headquarters, following a 75-mile drive from Pincher Station, where he was captured after a four-day hunt. He was shaved and looked quite presentable. He still had the sullen look which is his characteristic but he followed the evidence given by the crown witnesses very closely. Bassoff's leg has almost recovered from the wound received at the time of the Bellevue battle.

Magistrate Burrell designated Macleod as the scene of the trial in committing him on the charge of holding up the train.

There was very little which came out in the preliminary which has not been told about the holdup on August 2. Conductor Sam Jones declared he saw Bassoff twice during the holdup, each time with a gun in his hand. Baggageman Staples told of coming out of the baggage car to see what was the matter. Bassoff, perched on top of the smoker of the passenger coach ordered him to hold up his hands and a second bandit ordered him to the coach.

James T. Hickie, brakeman, gave evidence of hearing a shot and seeing the bandit known as Aulcoff with a gun in his hand. Aulcoff relieved Conductor Jones and himself of their money and on second search of the conductor took his watch. Witness saw Bassoff only once, as he was running along the side of the train after it stopped following the holdup. He declared that Bassoff shot once after leaving the train, presumably to scare the passengers and crew.

Wm. Macleod, a C. P. R. surveyor, corroborated Hickie's evidence as to Bassoff's firing a shot as the train was leaving Sentinel, where the bandits jumped off.

Bassoff reserved his defence. The murder charges are being heard this afternoon.

COAL CREEK NOTES

A slight accident occurred on the government road on Saturday night, when two automobiles collided. Fortunately no one was injured.

Through the kindness of General Manager Wilson a special train was run down from Coal Creek to Fernie for the benefit of the Creekites taking in the special meeting of the U. M. W. of A. held in the Grand Theatre on Sunday last.

A little excitement was created in the camp when news of a daring holdup got circulated. On investigation ye scribe found that an armed, masked man forced his entrance into the domicile occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Manning and after looting the premises of all available cash, decamped. Up to the present the police have no clue to the desperado.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Almond of Lundbreck are still enjoying the pleasure this camp offers, as the guests of their daughter, Mrs. J. Worthington.

Owing to unforseen circumstances the G.W.V.A. picnic has been postponed.

We are asked to request all members of the Ladies Chapter Loyal Order of Moose to attend a meeting in Hawthorne's hall on Monday night at 7.30, to meet a deputation of the male members with a view to arranging a social evening for Labor Day. Sisters will please govern themselves accordingly.

Conversation in camp centres round the football game to be staged in Fernie on Sunday next, when Coal Creek and Fernie lock horns for superiority.

CLARK FILM APPEALS

It is an appealing bit of girl-psychology that Marguerite Clark unfolds in her new picture, "A Girl Named Mary," which is being shown at the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday. She has the role of a stenographer living in a humble flat with a woman she has always called mother. A rich widow has been searching for fifteen years for her daughter who was carried away, involved in a train wreck, and never heard from again. The widow suddenly discovers that Mary, the stenographer, is the long sought for girl and she pours out her heart to her, offering her ease and luxury instead of her humble life of toil. Mary's heart is torn with conflicting emotions. She hardly knows her real mother and she has learned to love her foster mother dearly. At first she rebels at the elegance and lofty tastes of the widow's household and runs away. But finally a certain young man, the sweetheart of her less prosperous days, clears up the difficulty by asking her hand in marriage.

THE PASS NEEDS A CLEAN UP

(Lethbridge Herald)

No one can read the reports coming from the scene of the bandit hunt in the Crow's Nest Pass these days without being struck by the fact that lawlessness seems to have been the order of the day in the Pass for some considerable time before the murder of two police officers served to bring it forcibly before the public.

Wide-open bars where bootleg whiskey flowed as freely as in the old days of the territorial permit, dives and gambling joints and a general disregard for law and order seems to have been the rule, and this, too, right in the heart of the mining district where there is the greatest concentration of foreign population of any section of Alberta, and where, above all other parts of the province, an effort should have been made to impress the foreign-born with the fact that the law was made to be observed.

The result has been that the Crow's Nest Pass has become infested with gangs of bootleggers, crooks and gun men, and it is no surprise now that the culmination came in the murder of two police officers by members of one of the worst gangs of desperadoes it has ever been Alberta's ill-fortune to harbor.

There is evidence that the efforts to maintain the law in a dignified manner in this foreign settlement have not been up to the standard. We do not blame this on the police officers in that section who were charged with the task of enforcing the laws. But we do think that the organization was far from efficient. Those in authority do not appear to have sensed the situation, and the police officers who were in that section were far too few for the task.

Stories of bootlegging through the Pass have been rampant during the past year. There seems to have been a regular and heavy traffic in illicit liquor between Fernie and the Crow's Nest towns. In Fernie this was recognized, and some time ago the B.C. police made a determined effort to stamp out the traffic. But little was done on the Alberta side of the border.

The finding of the body of a dead man under a culvert on the C.P.R. right-of-way at Burmis, a case which clearly indicated murder, does not appear to have created a ripple. It was an indication of lawlessness but seems to have been taken as a matter of fact.

Conditions in the Pass have been such for some time that the police authorities should have undertaken a long time ago a general clean-up. Had that been done there would not have been concentrated there such a gang as the Bassoffs and the Akroffs, whose lawless natures were only impelled to greater lawlessness when they saw the law being so openly violated, and the recent crime would probably never have been written. It was a crime which is a black blot on the fair name of Alberta, and the Attorney-General's department should lose no time in effecting such a police organization in the Crow's Nest Pass district that a recurrence would be impossible.

A thorough clean-up of that district is what is needed. It would have a wholesome effect on the foreigner who lets his liberty run to licence. Saturday's tragedy has created a public demand for instant action.

"You can't take something from nothing," quoted the wise guy. "You can come pretty close to it by taking the conceit out of some people," replied the simple mug. — Philadelphia Record.

People are coming to America from Europe to get something to eat, and Americans are going to Europe to get something to drink. It's the new balance of trade.—Cincinnati Star.

Many unusual angles that have never before been embodied in a Constance Talmadge production make "In Search of a Sinner" one of the most distinctive offerings to be shown on the screen in the past year.

WHAT ABOUT THE RINK

It is understood that there is a probability that the Fernie Skating Rink will not be operating this year on account of the fact that the people of Fernie generally have not in the past been patronizing the rink during the winter months.

When the rink was rebuilt in 1909 after the disastrous fire of 1908, the Company was without money, and rather than go to the people for further money at that time, a number of the then shareholders who were among the largest in the Company, raised a loan from the bank and secured same by their personal notes, which amounted then to $6000.

From time to time, these men have been called upon to make payments at the bank out of their own pocket, and have reduced the indebtedness to something like $3300, and now the bank insists that the notes be liquidated, which means a further present payment of some $400 by each of the individuals who guaranteed the loan.

For some reason or other, people have not been patronizing the rink, and the consequence is that the different parties who rented it from year to year, with few exceptions, have been unable to pay their rent, and with the taxes and insurance, and the notes to be paid, it has been necessary for the men who endeavored to finance this undertaking to pay up considerable monies from year to year.

Originally the rink was not built as a money making scheme, but simply as a benefit to the town, and there is no reason why a few individuals should have to pay large sums of money out of their own pockets, and if the citizens of Fernie generally are anxious that the younger people should have a rink during the winter months, it is time for them now to get busy and do something.

There is nothing for the children to do during the winter months other than skate, and it would be a calamity if the rink were to close down. There was some talk years ago of the people of the town taking over the rink with the then liability, but nothing was done, and since that time a few have been financing the whole proposition. Possibly the rink could still be taken over for the present debt plus the amount that the backers of the notes are actually out of pocket, and if such is the case, the citizens generally should waste no time in handling the proposition so that the children may be assured of skating for the coming year.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE

A meeting of the C.N.P. Football League was held in Fernie on Sunday last, when the Alberta clubs were represented by Blairmore and Coleman. It was decided to play for the Cooper Cup under regular cup tie terms.

The following is the draw:

First round—

Fernie vs. Michel at Fernie.

Coleman vs. Hillcrest at Coleman.

Blairmore vs. Coal Creek at Blairmore.

To be played on Sept. 5.

Semi-Final—

Winner of Blairmore-Coal Creek a bye.

To be played on Sept. 12.

C. P. R. POLICE STILL LOOKING FOR ARELOFF

Lethbridge, Aug. 26.—Though police officers have relaxed somewhat in their hunt for Alex Areloff, the third of the Crow's Nest train bandits, C.P.R. special police are still making determined efforts to locate him. Areloff's real name is Ausbey Auloff.

Police in Great Falls are co-operating in a roundup of members of the gang, composed of Russians, who are understood to have been operating in an international way. Several deportations are likely to result.

BROKE HIS LEG IN A FOOTBALL GAME

The Fernie Junior Football team made their first appearance this season at the north end park when they played a junior team from Michel. The game had only been going about ten minutes when Porter, the Michel, centre forward, collided with Billy Thompson of Fernie and fell, breaking his leg just above the ankle. The game stopped for a few minutes and Dr. Garner was rushed to the grounds. The unfortunate lad was taken to the hospital and is now progressing favorably.

On resumption of the game Wilson netted for Fernie. Michel played hard after this reverse but were unable to score in the first half. After the change over, Michel played hard to equalize and were successful towards the end of the game, the ball being netted during a scrimmage in front of Fernie goal. Fifteen minutes overtime was played but neither side was able to break the tie.

TODAY'S NEWS

Living will probably spend four or five years travelling in various parts of the territory. It is expected to increase the supply of reindeer so that the missionaries and people of Labrador and the Hudson's Bay territory will be provided with both a food and transportation system.

THE JUVENILES IN "GET RICH QUICK WALLINGFORD"

The Juvenile Stock Co., who will present "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" during the month of September, are giving theatregoers a rare treat. They will be the fist organization to bring the very amusing comedy to Fernie, and Fred Bass says the cast will be a great surprise.

The play is without exception one of the funniest comedies ever written and each of the Juveniles has been cast for a role that fits them. The main plot of the play centres around a covered carpet tack and the manner in which J. Rufus Wallingford and his co-worker, Blackie Daw, get the local business men of Battlesburg to boost their game is well worth while.

APPROVE HYDROELECTRIC

Last night the city fathers convened in regular session with every member present.

The minutes of the previous meetings were adopted as read.

A letter from the Municipal Officers Association soliciting support, was filed.

The sale of the three fire horses, on regular motion, was confirmed. J. Wilson was the purchaser, the consideration being $300.

In connection with the decision of the council at the special meeting last week whereby legal proceedings were to be resorted to in order to collect arrears in taxes on vacant lots presumably held for purely speculative purposes, the City Clerk prepared a list of these delinquents numbering 31 in all, the aggregate amount due therefrom being $4752. The respective accounts were taken up individually and it was finally decided to refer the whole matter to a special committee of the council, who will investigate each case and is empowered to institute legal suits for collection of amounts due from all and sundry whom they deem such course necessary.

The finally revised hydro-electric contract between the City and the B.C. and Alberta Power Co., was read and received unanimous approval. A bylaw will be prepared at once for ratification by the ratepayers.

Witnesseth that in consideration of the mutual covenants and conditions herein contained, the parties hereto agree as follows:

1. The term of this Agreement shall be ten (10) years from the date on which electrical energy is first supplied by the Company to the Consumer. As the said date of first supply is dependent upon the cimcumstances set out in paragraph 12 hereof, a memorandum shall be endorsed on these presents as soon as conveniently may be after electrical energy is first supplied as as aforesaid, which memorandum shall be executed by the parties hereto, and shall set out the date on which electrical energy is first supplied to the Consumer. Such Memordandum shall be and shall be held to be and shall be construed as part of these presents.

2. The Company shall supply the Consumer for and during the term of this Agreement with electrical energy to be distributed by the Consumer within the corporate limits of the Municipality and the Fernie School district, for lighting purposes and for power purposes up to seventy-five (75) horse power in any individual installation or to any individual power consumer. Electrical energy supplied shall be three (3) phase alternating current at a nominal frequency of sixty (60) cycles and a nominal voltage of twenty-three hundred (2300).

3. The Company shall deliver at one central point on the premises of the Consumer a maximum of two hundred (200) kilowatts of electrical energy, and such quantities in excess of the said maximum as the Consumer may from time to time require in the conduct of its lighting and power business; Provided that in the event of the Consumer at any time or times requiring a quantity of more than 20 kilowatts in excess of the said maximum the Consumer shall give the Company at its office in the City of Fernie aforesaid, four months' notice in writing of the requirements of such additional quantity.

4. The Company shall, at its own expense, supply and maintain meters for measuring the current on the 2300 volt side of step-down transformers.

5. The Company shall, at its own expense, instal, equip, maintain, and, if necessary, replace, and shall be responsible for its high-tension substation, and all wiring up to the meters mentioned in paragraph 4 hereof. The Consumer shall, at its own expense, instal, maintain and if necessary replace and shall be responsible for all wiring on the Consumer's side of the meters mentioned in paragraph 4 hereof.

6. The Consumer agrees to take electrical energy as herein provided and shall pay to the Company at the office of the Company in the City of Fernie aforesaid, on the 10th day of each and every month for the electrical energy consumed by the Consumer during the immediately preceding calendar month, the said electrical energy to be measured by polyphase recording watt-hour meter and to be at the following rates, viz.—

First 30,000 kwh. per month at .025c per kilowatt-hour.

Next 30,000 kwh. per month at .0225c per kilowatt-hour.

Next 20,000 kwh. per month at .02c per kilowatt-hour.

Next 200,000 kwh. per month at .0175c per kilowatt-hour.

All over 100,000 kwh. per month at .015c per kilowatt-hour.

Provided, however, and it is understood and agreed, that the minimum payment to be made by the Consumer for electrical energy supplied by the Company to the Consumer shall be the sum of $10,000.00 per annum, and in the event of the said monthly payments not aggregating in any year the said minimum of $10,000.00 the Consumer shall pay to the Company the deficit, on adjustment of accounts at the end of each year under this Agreement; Provided further that the said minimum of $10,000.00 is subject to reduction for interruption to service as set out in paragraph 9 hereof.

7. The Consumer agrees that its wiring and appliances shall be installed and maintained in an efficient manner, and agrees to conform in every way with the requirements of the laws of the Province of British Columbia from time to time in force affecting the installation and maintenance of its wiring and appliances.

8. The Company's Inspector shall have the right to enter the premises of the Consumer at all reasonable hours to examine the wiring and appliances and use of current and to remove the property of the Company.

9. (a) In the event of interruption to service from any cause whatsover, whether within or beyond the control of the Company, occurring at or on the Company's side of the transformer substation mentioned in paragraph 5 hereof, the said minimum of $10,000.00 shall be reduced by the sum of $27.40 or porportionate part thereof, for each and every day or part exceeding two hours thereof, during which such interruption shall continue in excess of two hours. The Consumer further agrees that the said reduction of minimum by the sum of $27.40 or proportionate part thereof for each and every day or part thereof in excess of two hours, shall be and shall be held to be and shall be accepted by the Consumer as full and complete liquidated damages for interruptions as aforesaid.

(b) In the event of such interruption of service as is set out in the immediately preceding sub-paragraph for three (3) consecutive months, the Consumer shall have the option, at any time during such period thereafter as said interruption shall continue, of cancelling this Agreement by giving the Company notice in writing at the office of the Company in the City of Fernie aforesaid, and upon the giving of such notice of cancellation and upon payment of monies (if any) due the Company by the Consumer the rights of the Company hereunder shall be forfeited.

10. The Company shall not be liable for damage to property situate on the Consumer's side of the meters mentioned in paragraph 4 hereof.

11. The Company shall have the right, with reasonable notice to the Consumer, to shut off the supply of electrical energy, whenever in its judgment it is necessary for repairs, subject, however, to the terms of paragraph 9 hereof.

12. It is understood and agreed that the date of commencement of delivery of electrical energy is de-

HOLD SUNDAY SCHOOLS PICNIC

The annual union picnic of the Anglican, United and Baptist Sunday Schools will be held in the City Park on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 1. The schools will meet on the lots where the Chautauqua was held and cars will leave for the park at 2 o'clock. Provisions should be sent to the respective churches by 12 noon on the day of the picnic. A good program of races and games has been prepared and a good time for everybody is anticipated. A cup has been donated by the Primary Department of the United Church to be competed for by the Sunday School scholars. The school winning the most points will hold the cup for one year. There will be points given for the various games played, baseball, football and basket ball, and it is expected that each of the Sunday schools will have at least one team competing in each of these events.

AMERICA HAD BIG ANIMALS

Stealing a dinosaur sounds about as fesible as walking off with the Brooklyn bridge, but dispatches from Buenos Ayres tell of an expedition recently sent to Patagonia to study a mammoth specimen discovered a year ago, and found it missing!

"Today we must go to Africa for the biggest game, but there was a time in the dim, distant past when American produced animals larger than any now living," says a communication to the National Geographical Society by Barnum Brown.

"That was so long ago that nothing remains of these creatures except their bones, and they are turned to stone. Hidden away under strata of earth, their spoor has long since grown cold.

"The animals are dinosaurs; for the moment we will call them lizards—not the creeping, crawling kind, but huge reptiles that stalked upright through the jungles, rivaling in size the elephant, the hippopotamus, and the rhinoceros.

"In the marshes of prehistoric times dwelt a host of reptiles, some large, some small, and of various forms, flesh eaters and herb eaters, but all sharing certain characters in common and known as dinosaurs. Not any were closely related to any living reptile, yet they had some characters common to the lizards, crocodiles and birds.

"Of the kinds characteristic of the period one species, a herb eater named Trachodon, was more than thirty feet long and about fifteen feet high when standing erect. Its head, with broadly expanded mouth, resembled that of a duck, but back of the beak there were more than two thousand small teeth, disposed in many vertical rows, each containing several individual teeth, the new ones coming up from below as the old ones wore out.

"The long hind feet terminated in three large hoofed toes, and the shorter, slender front feet were partially webbed. A long, thin, slender tail acted as a powerful swimming organ, and the body was covered with rough tuberculate skin. Having no means of defence, it lived chiefly in the water, where it was free from attacks of the flesh eaters.

"With the 'duck-billed' Trachodon there were other large closely related forms inhabiting the water. Sourolophus was similar in build, but characterized by a large crest extending above the skull and plevic bones that were developed for attachment of powerful tail muscles. It was probably a distinct aquatic type.

"Along the shores lived Ornithomimus, the bird mimic, as the name implies, one of the most remarkable of the dinosaurs. A skeleton found last year shows it to have been a toothless creature, the jaws sheathed like the beak of a bird."

ARE WE SLAVES OF OUR SLAVES

"I am a slave of Capital," cries Labor.

"Labor has become the most insolent and exacting tyrant that has ever been seen in history," replies Capital.

"In truth," says Guglielme Ferrero, "both are slaves of a third power—of the tools that Labor and Capital have together created in the illusion that they would be their docile and obedient servants.

"One day," he continues, "man recognized that Fire, this modest domestic slave who cooked his food and warmed him in the winter was a portentous Demon able to dominate space and nature. . . .

"Man was intoxicated with this discovery. Since the Fire was the animator of these giants of iron and he was the master of the Fire, he began to dream a beautiful dream.

"But this dream was only half confirmed. Man has become the lord of the earth and of nature. He has conquered Space, compelled the earth to yield its treasures. . . But he has not succeeded in shaking the yoke of labor which was placed around his neck in Eden. On the contrary, the more he is enriched and the more powerful he has become, the more he has been condemned to work restlessly, even to exhaustion. . .

"This is exactly the atrocious joke that these giants of iron have played on man. Although they are blind, deaf and without brains, they have been more cunning than their incautious creator. They have succeeded in making the man who created them to serve him, the real slave. How? By exciting in him unlimited desires. . . .

"Intoxicated by the ease with which wealth is produced today, thanks to new machinery, Western civilization has been seibed by an insatiable mania for new and always greater riches. . . .

"The great problem that stands before Western civilization, that torments it, and does not allow it to sleep, is just this: Neither to destroy these giants of iron as enemies of the human race, nor to multiply them blindly, making the world their prey and their slave, but to reduce them anew to the condition of servants of man, obedient to our commands, and thus destroy their tyranny. How it can be solved is the secret of the future."

WASTING 50,000,000 HORSES FOR LACK OF A HARNESS

It is a familiar prophecy that our coal beds can not last indefinitely, though the time for their giving out is usually fixed so far in the future that the prophecy loses force. But when it is suggested with seeming authority that the oil wells of America will last but twenty years we are confronted with a forecast that obviously presents a serious menace to our own generation.

Peculiar interest attaches, therefore, to a summary that appeared recently in the Electrical World, estimating the water power neglected in this country. Te total potential water power in the United States is placed at not far from sixty million horsepower; whereas the developed water power is less than ten million horsepower. In other words, a bulk of water capable of developing fifty million horsepower is permitted to run down our mountain slopes and flow to the sea unutilized.

The greatest waste of water power occurs in the Pacific States, where only about six per cent of the available water power is utilized; and in the Mountain States, which waste all but seven per cent.

Even New England, which makes by far the best showing utilizes only 77 per cent of the potential power of its streams.—Dr. Henry Smith Williams.

DRUMHELLER MINES SLACK

(Calgary Herald)

For the last four days in last week the daily output of coal in the Drumheller valley averaged 3500 to 4000 tons, which is a slight improvement over the preceding days. It is, nevertheless, far below what the full output would be if the mines were running to capacity. Orders for the winter's supply, according to local dealers, are still coming in but slowly. There would appear, however, to be a better demand springing up in connection with the Winnipeg market.

It is the opinion of many engaged in the coal mining industry that considerable good will result from the conference that was held in Calgary last week, at which there was a large representation of Winnipeg and Saskatchewan dealers. Some of these stated that 80 per cent of the coal burned in that city this winter would be Alberta coal, and as it is estimated that the average annual consumption there is 600,000 tons, operators are looking forward to many orders being placed at an early date.

What benefit the newly formed retailers' association will be to the general public is regarded in some quarters as being rather hazy. It is pointed out that if it will merely seek to regulate prices, keeping them at the highest possible level, it may only result in a trade combination. It was pointed out at the convention, however, that this is not the object of the association at all, but to bring about a uniform effort in developing the coal resources of the province.

While many dealers and operators from the first were doubtful of a joint association of both parties being formed, all are agreed that nothing but good will result from the proposed annual conference, at which both operators and dealers can freely discuss each other's point of view in connection with the coal industry.

WALT MASON ON LETTER WRITING

"The country is full of old-timers who say that letter writing is a lost art," says Walt Mason. "It probably is," he continues, "and so much the better." The letter they used to write half a century ago would drive a modern reader to desperate deeds.

When I left home to seek my fortune, old Mrs. McDarrow said she would write me regularly and keep me posted as to the news in my native village.

It is forty years since I received her first letter; I have been reading it at intervals ever since and hope to live long enough to reach the end. Mrs. McDarrow wrote across the paper from east to west, in a tall, angular hand; when a page was filled she shifted it halfway around and wrote from north to south, right across te original writing; then she gave it another quarter hitch, and wrote across it in a diagonal direction, a little west of south; and then she wrote all around the edge, and wherever there was some blank space.

The typewriter and the habit of dictation have been fatal to voluminous correspondence. When you begin dictating to a blonde stenographer, whose favorite chewing gum has the wintergreen flavor, the idea of saying beautiful things, or of quoting a few lines from Mrs. Hemans, seems ridiculous; an dif you tried it the stenographer would give you a glance that would put you where you belong. So you confine yourself to the dry bones of fact, beginning with a "My Dear Sir," and ending with a "Yours truly," and then you sign your name so nobody can read it without being under the influence of Hostetter's tonic, and the trick is done.

Mr. De Valera may be President of Ireland, but he doesn't seem to spend much time there.—New York Evening Post.

PAROCHIALISM OF CANADIANS

His Excellency the Governor-General was quoted the other day as saying that Canadians were inclined to be parochial; that they were interested in immediate local concerns to the exclusion of a world-wide outlook. Possibly he was struck by the fact that our people were more engrossed in the bootlegging at Windsor than in the Russian-Polish war which at that time threatened to widen out into a gigantic conflagration. Be that as it may, Canadians may have to plead guilty to the reproach of parochialism. But strangely enough we hear very much the same reproach against nearly every other people.

Our neighbors to the south, for example, are parochial, and rather proud of it. Until the conclusion of the Spanish-American war the United States shared with China the title of a hermit nation. A good many of her aftermath of imperialism. The great citizens deplored that war and its majority of them probably regarded the Phillipines as a burden rather than a benefit, and would be glad to see the little brown men granted their independence. New York city is, in many respects, more parochial than the typical village, because few of her citizens take any interest in anything outside of Manhattan Island.

Even the Governor General's countrymen do not escape being charged with insularity and parochialism. Canadians are often offended by the ignorance of Canada which they find in the Motherland. The extent of the empire makes educated Englishmen take an interest in events happening on every continent and on every sea. But it is a interest prompted by the feeling that their possessions may be threatened or affected by those events. Until human nature is radically changed people will be mainly interested in their own affairs. Few of us have reached the lofty pitch of the Roman dramatist who had one of his characters say: "I am a man, and therefore anything that affects humanity is of interest to me."

SOME NOTED PEERS AMONG THE EXCLUDED

Blackballs, which are a regrettable exception in an ordinary club, flourish in the Royal Yacht Squadron like berries on a bush. Among those who have failed to get elected are eminent peers, members of parliament, and sportsmen of all kinds. The challenger for the Americas Cup is not a member, but Sir Thomas Lipton should not lose heart. He will certainly be elected when he is 80.

The odd thing about the squadron is that few of its members own yachts. The new commodore, the Duke of Leeds, has a fine steam yacht, and there are others, like Lord Dunraven, with both steam and sailing vessels on its register, but the last commodore, Lord Ormonde, the vice-commodore, and many others own no yachts at all.

How then, it may be asked, can one belong to the squadron? This problem has been solved in a most beautiful manner. A kind of decoy yacht is kept, and it is duly sold by the holder to a successfully-elected member, who, in turn, sells it again to someone else at the next election. Membership of the squadron, if you have a yacht, gives you all kinds of privileges, including flying the white ensign and drawing stores from government dockyards in cases of necessity. The last named privilege has been rather curtailed by the admiralty deciding that as the regulation was meant for sailing vessels, it does not include coal. The white ensign privilege is valuable, but, of course, was temporarily withdrawn during the war.

FERNIE EVENTUALLY WINS A BALL GAME

Last Sunday the local diamond stars journeyed to Waldo via auto and took the Waldo tribe by surprise. Why we say surprise, they virtually played ball, putting up an airtight game behind Bishop, who had everything his own way after the second, the only bad innings he had. Although Todhunter, who was on the mound for Waldo, struck out 13 men, the locals garnered 11 safeties where they were needed. Bishop had 6 strike outs and allowed 8 scattered hits.

1st—Fernie: Todhunter speared Glover's liner, Murray hit and was out stealing second, Dunlap fanned. Waldo: Henry out Murray to Colton, Fercoe flyed to Colton, Campbell hit, Kline hit, Campbell going to third, Brown fanned.

2nd—Fernie: Colton hit, Crumbley out Kennedy to Kline, Balayti fanned, Sofko flyed out to Ross. Waldo: Kennedy hit, Todhunter hit 3-bagger, scoring Kennedy, Anderson hit scoring Todhunter, Anderson stole 2nd, went to third on overthrow and scored when Balayti dropped Ross' high fly. Fernie then settled down, Henry hit by pitcher, Fercoe flyed to Murray, Campbell out Murray to Colton.

3rd—Fernie: Wilson fanned, Bishop out Todhunter to Kline, Glover out Kennedy to Kline. Waldo: Brown hit by pitcher, Kennedy out Murray to Colton, Todhunter out Sofko to Colton, Anderson out Balatyi to Colton.

4th—Fernie: Murray singled, Dunlap hit 3-bagger and scored on wild throw to plate, Colton out Tod to Kline, Crumley and Balayti fanned. Waldo: Ross and Henry fanned, Fercoe flyed to Murray.

5th—Fernie: Sofko fanned, Wilson singled, Bishop singled, Glover drew a base on balls, filling the bases with one out. In contesting a decision Wilson was caught trying to steal home, Murray flyed to Kline. Waldo: Campbell flyed to Sofko, Kline and Brown fanned.

6th—Fernie: Dunlap fanned, Colton singled, Crumbley and Balayti fanned. Waldo: Kennedy fanned, Tod singled, Anderson out Bishop to Colton, Ross out Murray to Colton.

7th—Fernie: Sofko singled, Wilson walked, Bishop safe on Kenned's error scoring Sofko, Wilson going to third, Glover out Tod to Kline, Murray whiffed, Dunlap singled scoring Wilson, Colton hit scoring Bishop, Crumley went out Kennedy to Kline. Waldo: Glover speared Henry's line drive out of the clouds, Fercoe doubled, Campbell out Bishop to Colton, Fercoe taking third, Kline out Balayti to Colton.

8th—Fernie: Balayti fanned for the fourth time, Sofko out Henry to Kline; Wilson fanned. Waldo: Brown out trying to stretch his hit into a three bagger, by relay, Glover to Wilson to Sofko, Kennedy out Murray to Colton, Tod flyed to Wilson.

9th—Fernie: Bishop out Campbell to Kline, Glover singled, Murray fanned, Dunlap flyed to Fercoe. Waldo: Anderson out Murray to Colton, Ross flyed to Colton, Henry out Balayti to Colton.

Waldo will be up for a return game and vengeance on Sunday. This is the last game Sofko will be with the team, leaving next week to attend school in Toronto. Game is called for 2 p.m. sharp. Owing to Cranbrook making a tour, arrangements were cancelled for a game with them on Sunday. They will play on their way home about Sept. 12.

It would be too bad if the third bandit Areloff eventually made good his escape. To maintain Canada's name for rigid enforcement of law and order, no funds or effort should be spared by federal or provincial authorities to track down and capture this potential murderer, even should a world-wide chase be necessary. —Calgary Herald.

GENEROUS MEN

After the death of a former Mayor of Chicago, his widow testified he had left her 15 cents to start life with after the funeral. The mayor was known as a "generous man." It was said that he never paid less than half a dollar for a shoe shine, and that he never gave a cab driver less than a bill. Just think of a man paying half a dollar for his shoe shines, and then at his death leaving his widow 15 cents, and yet many men drift along month by month spending enough on luxuries and non-essentials to provide a fine income for their loved ones. Men are lauded for their donations to various forms of charity, and then they pass out, leaving no provision whatever for the maintenance of their family. Such charity is not the proper distribution of their available resources, for it is every man's duty to provide for his own family and dependents. The Chicago mayor's "generosity" has many equals. Thirteen of twenty-six Presidents of the United States failed to provide for their old age or for their families after death. Ninety per cent of the estates of $5000 and over are dissipated in seven years. Only three persons out of 1100 in the Philadelphia poorhouse have been beneficiaries of life insurance. Of 6000 asylum children in just one Chicago church the parents of only twelve left life insurance. The daughters of a Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court were compelled to go out and earn their own living after his death. Every man is willing to give his family a certain income while he is living, so why should he permit them to pinch and scrape after his death? One thousand dollars invested at six per cent brings an income of five dollars per month, so if a man wishes to leave his family an income of $100 per month, it would be necessary that he carry $20,000 of insurance, and unless he does carry that much he has no business in otherwise disposing of his income above actual living expenses. EXTRAVAGANCE THE NATIONAL SIN OF AMERICA

Asked if it is possible to become rich through saving small sums, Jas. B. Forgan, the veteran head of the huge First National Bank of Chicago, replied: "Yes, that is the way most people have to start. It is the way I started.

"Had I any system for saving money? I had—a very simple system. I don't know that I could improve upon it had I to start all over again. At the beginning of each year I figured out very carefully what I thought would be the amount I could save during the year by watching my expenditures carefully and avoiding extravagance, the national sin of America. Having decided, say, that I could save $75 per month, I proceeded to buy some sound security, usually a $1000 bond. I would arrange with the bank to pay $100 down, borrow the $900 balance from the bank, and agree to pay $75 off each month. The first thing I did when I received my monthly salary was to pay the $75 to the bank, and then live on the remainder. In this way I owned outright the $1000 bond at the end of the year.

"Any well managed bank or high-grade investment house will gladly cooperate in this way with the man who shows that he is in earnest about so ordering his income and expenditure as to enable him to accumulate a competency.

"Many years ago I made the statement that extravagance is America's besetting sin. Happily, that fact has come to be more widely recognized; but, unhappily it has not yet come to be as widely avoided as it ought to be. Extravagance is bad alike for the individual and for the nation. Saving is good for both. The lack of a modest amount of capital has prevented many a man from seizing an attractive opportunity. Nor can any nation advance unless its people save and accumulate capital for investment."

Both Chicago's bankers and the nation's bankers have showered virtually every possible honor upon James B. Forgan. He is often referred to as the "ablest practical banker in America."

I tried different medicines I saw advertised and was treated by doctors in Amherst, also in my home town, but the Rheumatism came back.

In 1916, I saw in an advertisement that 'Fruit-a-tives' would stop Rheumatism, and took one box and got relief; then I took them right along for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since.

Anyone who would care to write me as regards 'Fruit-a-tives' I would be glad to tell them what 'Fruit-a-tives' did for me."

Max Belecky, of Blairmore, is moving furniture into the Napanee hotel, which he recently purchased from the Reconstruction Committee. The place will be conducted as a working man's hotel.

A lot of Fernie people who have been paying their bills in Canadian silver in Spokane in future will be disappointed as the banks in that city have decided to charge a 20 per cent discount on it. Spokane had become flooded with Canadian silver.

The event that patrons of the Isis are looking forward to is the magnificent half million dollar Jewel picture of Priscilla Dean in "The Virgin of Stamboul," that will be shown on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 1 and 2. A soul stirring representation of life in Turkey, showing actual scenes in city, country and desert. Emotion, conflice — there is action from start to finish.

A great deal of excitement was caused on Monday afternoon when the fire brigade turned out to a blaze at Joe Perry's barn at the north end of the town. At the time there was a very strong wind blowing from the south and the houses in the vicinity were in a very dangerous position. Owing to the smart work of the fire department, however, the fire was soon extinguished. The damage is estimated to be between seven and eight hundred dollars.

Another capture of whiskey aboard a Studebaker car, consisting of 48 bottles, was made Tuesday on the road between Fernie and Hosmer. The occupants of the car, a man and woman giving their name as Huston, were brought before Magistrate Watson, where the woman claimed to be the owner of the car and the contents, and was fined $100 and costs. The whiskey was confiscated, but the pair was allowed to depart with the car, which bore an Alberta license number. Chief Spiller, Chief Lawson and Constable McNally made the capture.

Gus Axner, a C. P. R. workman at Jaffray, met with a serious accident and was admitted to the Fernie hospital on Wednesday. It appears that Axner was loading steel on a flat car at Jaffray and the angle bar caught in his sleeve, throwing him off the car on to a steel rail, severely injuring his head.

The Fernie Pool Room is receiving the finishing touches from its recent clean-up and is expected to open up for business on Saturday morning. Mrs. Coleman, wife of D. C. Coleman, vice-president of the C.P.R., was drowned at Windermere, B.C., on Aug. 24, while bathing in the lake. A man named Traynton, who was repairing a canoe on the shore, says that he saw Mrs. Coleman about 50 feet from the shore apparently in difficulties. He got into the canoe and went to Mrs. Coleman's aid, and just as he reached her a heavy gust of wind upset the canoe, separating Mrs. Coleman from him. Mrs. Coleman sank and her body was not recovered until 5 o'clock in the afternoon in ten feet of water fifty feet from the shore.

WORLD'S GREATEST EXPERIMENT IN SOCIALISM

Socialists are always claiming that their experiments have never had a fair test. They say that given first a fine climate and rich land; second, a colony whose every member is an enthusiactic socialist; third, a community not made up of intellectuals and dreamers, but hardy farmers, contractors, brickmasons, trained to pioneering; fourth, a community unfettered by bondage to any religious creed, that then, and only then, can anyone expect Socialism to succeed. But, given these four conditions, Socialism will produce an ideal community, a Utopia, a Plato's republic, a realized "Brook Farm," and glorified "New Harmony," a city that would be over against New York, Chicago and San Francisco, as John's New Jerusalem with gates of pearl and streets of gold is over against a group of huts and Indian tepees. H. G. Wells and George Bernard Shaw, and Robert Morris and Edward Bellamy, Foster the syndicalist and Hayward the convict and Lenine and Trotzky as exponents of Karl Marx, do not simply prophesy this city, they "tell us" that under these four conditions poverty, hunger, famine and pestilence will be unknown in that socialistic colony and that wealth, peace, brotherhood, art galleries, halls of science, gloriously beautiful men and women are inevitable. Well, these four conditions have been fulfilled and more than fulfilled, in the New Australia, and with what result? The colonists themselves being the witnesses, the results were starvation, rags, poverty, lies, theft, laziness suicide, rape and murder. It is evident that the time has come for the people of this country, who are following the will-o'-the-wisp light, kindled by Socialist leaders, to stop and study this one experiment in Socialism under absolutely ideal conditions.

The founder of the world's greatest experiment in Socialism was Wm. Lane, a brilliant writer, born in England, married to a gifted American woman, but trained in Australia. He was a man of acute intellect and iron will. He was also a pioneer hardy, and accustomed to burdens and full master of himself. Such intellectual gifts had Lane that he obtained a concession from the government of Paraguay of a tract of land thirty miles long and twenty miles wide. The climate was ideal, temperate in summer, not too cold in winter—the climate of the Carolinas and Georgia. It was a land of pastures and meadows, of herds and flocks, of springs and water brooks. The soil was black and very rich. It was not like Plymouth, Mass., with its rocky soil and fog and winter chill. To secure this land the government of Paraguay spent $450,000 to buy out certain settlers leaving their ranches and buildings as a present to the members of the new colony. The Socialist members of the colony also were a group of hary pioneers from Australia. Never were men more united, determined, convinced and enthusiastic. Everything that nature could do for them, through rivers, forests, herds and flocks. had been done by a friendly sky, abundant rains, rich soil, lush grass abundant cotton, rice, sugar and corn.

Nothing witnesses to the sincerity of the members of this colony like the fact that tradesmen, carpenters, farmers, herdsmen, joining often contributed from $2000 to $6000. Money rolled in on Lane for the purchase of tools for the fields, goods for the shelves of the common store. The New Australian co-operative colony started with approximately $100,000 When the members went aboard their new sailing vessel, Lane referred to "that noble fleet of steamers that would be plying between the Old Australia and the New Australia" he was to found in Paraguay. His last message to the people of Sydney and Melbourne was this: "What do we expect? For every man the right to work, to do every man friendship and justice, for every man and woman a fair share of the result of common work, to every man friendship and facilities to marry and have a comfortable home to live without fear, to fill all life with pleasures and joys that can be for each, where all are content to labor honestly. For the children, the healthy rearing which is every child's right. That is what we expect and what we can be sure of, for labor never fails to produce plenty where it is able to work."

In these days when the Radical Socialists are holding hundreds of schools on Sunday to teach Socialism and thousands of week-day meetings for adults, the result of this great experiment is of vital importance to the people of the United States. If individual ownership produces poverty, hate and crime, we want to know it. If Socialism under ideal conditions will abolish poverty hate, warfare, fear of old age and create abundance and prosperity we want to know that. Fortunately Lane tells us that "everything has been prepared for in advance, that nothing had been left to chance and therefore, if failure takes place, it must be traced to something in our plan itself." At first everything went beautifully. On landing in Paraguay a committee of the government met them and turned over to the colonists a great building for tihe r temporary home. Banquets were given the leaders; all were toasted and cheered to the echo. Wagons were placed at their disposal; goods were sold to them on long credit; certain experts who knew the country were given them as advisers Reaching their colony, they built a great common building, 144 feet long and 20 feet wide. The house looked out on orange trees loaded with fruit, with bananas, pineapples and guavas were near at hand. But as susal, the serpent soon entered the garden.

Then came the startling discovery that Socialism, to the disillusioned pioneers ruled with an iron rod. Lane began with the statement that, freed from the vicious influence of capitalism the Socialists would dwell together in brotherly love, without restriction. But he soon found that some one had to apportion the work. Unconsciously he gave the easy jobs to his favorites. In the morning, Lane sent one man to herd the cattle, another to the vegetable garden, another to grub out the roots of trees, another to help the cook. Had each man been allowed to do the thing for which he felt that he was especially fitted there might have been less friction but after trying this plan and realizing that it was a complete failure, Lane announced the policy of benevolent despotism. Bitter charges of favoritism were filed against him. Envy, hatred, uncharitableness slander, thrived in this paradise as in a hotbed. Lane became a tyrant. With a stern hand he put down the revolt; at last, no settler could leave the colony without Lane's permission. One member wrote to Australia, saying "We have lost all civil rights and become mere cogs in the wheel. We are no longer active factors in the scheme of civilization. Lane does the thinking, and the colonists do the work. A man is practically a slave; result, barbarism." Had there been a youthful Shakespeare in that colony, Lane would have made him plow corn, or clean the sewer and named it benevolent despotism. As a matter of fact, many slaves in the South, most serfs under feudalism, had more privileges and a freer life than these members of New Australia.

The next thing that all the Socialists found out was that instead of Socialism abolishing poverty it produces poverty. In his "New World for Old" Wells scouts the idea that men will not work without the hope of a harvest that will safeguard them against winter and old age. Blatchford declares that men strive to win a game of cricket and football, without the incentive of gain; that soldiers work for the Victoria Cross, fathers and husbands work for love, and that in the Socialist colony men will work for the common good. But, strangely enough in that rich land, the New Paradise grew poorer and poorer. Remember that these colonists owned 350 000 acres of the very finest land in Paraguay, pasturage for at least 70,000 head of cattle, that other ranchmen with individual ownership paid from 20 to 30 per cent profit a year, and yet this colony, after twenty years, had reached the point where members would have starved to death but for the assistance of the government of Paraguay. Every day they sank into lower depths of poverty, misery and degradation. Just outside of the colony dwelt a Frenchman who cleared ten acres of ground in thirteen months, and planted it with sugar cane, tobacco alfalfa, beans, melons, corn, and after a few years lived in luxury. Nevertheless it took 35 of the Socialists to clear ten acres of ground, and they nearly starved to death. In the finest corn land in the world each winter found them without maize for their cattle and bread for themselves. Surrounded by the finest forests, they lived in mud huts, and only semi-occasionally sold a raft of logs. Starting with 3000 head of cattle, their neglect reduced the herd to 900. Their own report says "a blight seemed to descend upon everything managed by the community, and the children proved no exception to the rule. Untaught and unrestrained, the neglected children seemed doomed to suffer all their lives for the follies of their parents." In their poverty the time came when an old covered wagon was used for a schoolhouse for the community children.

When the Socialists realized that they could not support themselves they began to look forward to receiving contributions of future members. Gilbert Casey was sent forth to beat up recruits with money, made and saved, of course under individualism, which could be added to the common treasury of the Socialists for the support of these non-sufficing members. Meanwhile the dissentions became very bitter. Charges were brought against Lane recriminations were poured forth on every hand. One woman broke up a meeting by bringing charges against another member on the ground that this non-working family drew as many bushels of corn or potatoes, and as much flour as the industrious family. She insisted that this lazy man was being rewarded for his laziness, and that Socialism was in reality damning his soul; that nature's way was to scourge a man to his work by the whip of hunger. Foreseeing his expulsion and the break up of the colony, Lane withdrew, to found another rival centre. Once more Lane announced that capitalism robbed the worker of two-thirds of his harvest. But one of his followers who cursed the day that he joined the colony shouted out the question: "If capitalism gets two-thirds of the workers' toil, why is it that here, where there are no capitalists, as Socialists we do not have even as large a return as we had under capitalism?"

Then the family life began to go to pieces. When a young man and woman lived together without a marriage ceremony, they defended themselves by pointing to the way the native Indians lived. These Indians reared their children in common, left their squaws when love was no longer felt and the young people began to ask, "Why go to the trouble of any legal form of marriage?" Half caste children began to be seen in the colony. The suicides became common. We all know that Karl Marx's son-in-law and Marx's daughter both committed suicide on their 70th birthday. Later another daughter killed herself. The historian of the New Cosmos lived for a year and a half in the colony before he associated suicide with Socialism. First of all, a Scotchman, who had become an extreme Socialist and atheist, lost his illusions, and killed his wife and then himself. Later one of his personal friends took his life under most tragic circumstances. Three out of ninety Socialists during a year and a half suicided. If that proportion kept up, there would be 3,600,000 people in this country to take their own lives every eighteen months, and in terms of forty years for every man that died a natural death there would be one to commit suicide. This is another dark aspect of this fiasco, that began with hard-headed pioneers, under absolutely ideal conditions.

The time came when in sheer disgust, amidst the uttermost of bitterness and disappointment the members of both colonies rebelled and petitioned the government to grant them private ownership. It was as if a magician had entered the scene and waved a wonder-working wand. All talk about an eight-hour day ended. From sunrise to sunset, once they were assured of the sanctity of their private property, that the house they had built would be their own as a shelter for old age, they began to work like bees and beavers. Benjamin Kidd, the philosopher, witnessed the beginning of a new era. He tells us that men who were indolent and worthless under Socialism became enterprising ambitious and skilful under individualism. In an incredibly short space of time houses shot up, surrounded by well tilled gardens, with carefully fenced crops and soon once more the pastures were covered with herds and flocks. Single individuals prospered so marvellously that in a short time they owned a larger number of cattle and horses than had formerly belonged to the entire colony. And two men soon developed a larger lumber trade with other towns and cities than had the entire colony. Families who for years had not spoken to each other became good friends under individualism. Time soon healed the bitter feuds and the mutual jealousies. Boys and young men who under Socialism had never done a fair day's work in their lives became sane, sober, hard-working, self-respecting farmers. Having wasted the best part of their lives in a hopeless experiment, the Cosman started toward prosperity. Their own member and historian being the judge, the fruits of Socialism were indolence, poverty, discontent favoritism, mismanagement, strife, hate, theft, crime, while the last six years under individual ownership, exhibit sudden growth, prosperity, wealth as the fruit of industry, economy, self-reliance.

Under ideal conditions, having absolutely everything that the Socialists have demanded, this experiment has demonstrated certain facts. It shows that Socialism is not the trustworthy panacea it was advertised to be. It hasn't worked while man slept. It has not lessened strikes. It was not democratic. The whole story came out the other day in a hearing in London before the British Coal Commission when Mr. Hughes, for eight years prime minister of Australia, gave this testimony. A desperate attempt was made to discredit the facts. But the truth leaked out. Hughes took the committee into the back yard and exposed the Socialist clothes-line covered with soiled, dirty disagreeable facts. Among the capitalistic crowd are certain get-rich quick artists, who bank on the fact that there is a fool born every minute. And among the working people there are also the get-rich-easy quacks, Marx and Shaw and Wells and Bellamy, who are telling the laboring classes that just around the corner there is a golden age of Socialism, where the worker is no longer robbed by capital of two-thirds of the fruitage of his work. And now, a laboratory demonstration under ideal conditions in Paraguay, has once more proved that this perpetual motion machine is a delusion. The whole beautiful balloon of Socialism — the greatest gasbag of all dream Zeppelins—bursts like a bubble when you prick it with that plain, common, every-day pin, named—human frailty.—By Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis in Toronto Saturday Night.

"WONDERFUL" SAYS VANCOUVER WOMAN

"I Have Gained Twelve Pounds and Am Perfectly Well Cince Taking Tanlac"

"I have gained twelve pounds and am feeling perfectly well in every respect, and it is all due to Tanlac," said Mrs. M. Lund, 427 Sixth avenue West, Vancouver, B.C., recently.

"For over a year," continued Mrs. Lund, "I had indigestion so bad that I didn't know what it was to enjoy a single meal. My appetite got so poor that the most delicious meal, no matter how well prepared, failed to tempt me, and even the little I did eat soured on my stomach and caused me to have such a stuffy, nauseated feeling I thought I would choke. Nearly every day I had fearful headache spells which would start in the upper part of my neck and rise up into my head, making me miserable from morning till night. I was so nervous that the little noises I used to pass by unnoticed would completely upset me. Many times at night I lay awake for three or four hours before I could get to sleep and then the least sound would waken me up, and in the mornings I was so tired out I hardly had strength enough to get out of bed, and I would have to sit around awhile before I was able to get around the house.

"So many people here in Vancouver had taken Tanlac and were so well pleased with it that I made up my mind to give it a trial. In all I took five bottles and it is just simply wonderful how much I have improved. My appetite was never better in my life. Why, I have to eat a snack before I go to bed at night and I don't have a touch of indigestion any more. I never have to take a laxative now and I am free from constipation. My nerves are calm and I sleep soundly all night long. I have already gained twelve pounds and I am still gaining in weight and strength right along. I feel perfectly well in every way and I am convinced that Tanlac deserves every bit of the praise it is getting all over the country."

"AN ENGLISH WIFE IN BERLIN"

A story reminiscent of the old elocutionary "piece" on the death of Benedict Arnold, is revealed in an account just published of the last hours of Roger Casement, the Irishman executed for promoting the Easter rebellion in 1916.

The story forms one of the most striking passages in the book "An English Wife in Berlin," by Princess Blucher, daughter of an old Lancashire family, who married the then Count Blucher in 1907 and was forced to leave England and go to Berlin with him and other members of the German Embassy staff in 1914.

She knew Casement throughout his sojourn in Germany. She tells how at first both she and her husband endeavored to dissuade Casement from attempting his exploit, but the latter not only persisted but made himself obnoxious by the manner in which he aired his opinions. Later Princess Blucher describes Casement's disillusionment.

"The poor man came into the room like one demented and rushed around examining all the doors. For a moment I was frightened, thinking that I had to do with a maniac, and moved toward the telephone.

"Then he began: 'You were right last year when you told me I had put my head into the noose by coming here. I tried not to admit you were right. I didn't like to tell you when you kept urging me to get out of the country, that I realized from the moment I landed here what a terrific mistake I had made. Also, I didn't want to tell the reality, that I was a prisoner here. I couldn't get away. They won't let me leave the country.

"'The German Foreign Office has me shadowed, believing I am a British spy, and England has had many men spying upon me at all times as well. Now the German Admiralty has asked me to go on an errand which all my being revolts against, and I am going mad at the thought of it, for it will make me appear a traitor to the Irish cause.'

"At these words he sat down and sobbed like a child."

The Princess tried to get more facts from him in order to try to suggest an exit from the situation, but Casement refused, saying that if he told more, lives would be imperilled, if he were silent, only his own would be forfeited. Casement said, according to the Princess:

"'They are holding a pistol to my head here and they have the hangman's noose ready for me in England, so the only thing for me to do is to go out and kill myself.' I dissuaded him from this, and he finally left, leaving a packet of letters for delivery after his death.

AN OLD CLASSIC

An old book that was a classic in Sunday school libraries a generation or so ago, was entitled "The Prince of the House of David." This title might almost be applied to the new British Commissioner for Palestine, Herbert Samuel. Before he went out to take this post of empire, this eminent English lawyer, a London Jew, was summoned to Buckingham Palace and made a knight by His Majesty, King George, who also invested him with the insigna of the Grand Cross of the Brtish Empire. Honored in this way, and assuming such a role of importance in Jerusalem, Sir Herbert Samuel comes nearer to being a real prince of the old city of David than any Jew since the towers of Zion were crumbled into ruins by the battering-rams of Trajan.

Under the high superintendance of the League of Nations a new day dawns for that country to which the eyes of so many millions of Jews and Christians have been turned during the long ages in which it has groaned under the ruthless trranny of the Crescent. In the mandate generously assumed by Great Britain over Palestine, all the fondest hopes of Crusaders have at length been realized. But, strange to say, the Jewish race, so cordially hated by Richard Couer de Lion, Godfrey and the other Crusaders, is as enthusiastic over the new order as the Christians themselves. If the Chritian princes of the west who burned with zeal to deliver the Holy Sepulchre from the infidel could have looked into the future and could have had a vision of an English Jewish knight going forth as the British Prince of Palestine what would their feelings have been!

And how strange it is that Sir Herbert Samuel, Prince of Zion, is as much bound to protect the Mohammedan in the free exercise of his religion as he is to give freedom to worship to people of his own faith! In a public statement made recently, just before he left England, Sir Herbert said: "Complete religious liberty will be maintained in Palestine. The places sacred to the great religions will remain in the control of the adherents of those religions. A civilian administration for the country will be at once established. The higher ranks will consist of British officials of ability and experience. The other ranks will be open to the local population irrespective of creed. Order will be firmly maintained. The economic development of the country will be actively promoted."

These are gracious words and surely they prove that we are making some progress in this old world of ours. Neither Lion-Heart nor the Saladin could have appreciated them, nor yet the exclusive Jews of olden time. "Complete religious liberty"—that is a phrase which gathers up into itself the long result, the glorious fruitage of time, and Jews the world over are the first to recognize that the land of their fathers could not have come under better auspices than those of Great Britain, whose troops wrested Pelestine from the oppressor and whose conception of liberty is the largest and noblest in the history of mankind.—Calgary Herald.

TABLE TIPPING PRODUCED BY THE ODYLIC EFFLUVIA

Od is the magnetic or vital fluid which at every second of our existence emanates from our whole being in uninterrupted waves.

In a normal state, these emanations remain unknown to us and entirely invisible . . . but subjects in the hypnotic state are able to see these effluvia very clearly in the dark. . . . It has been ascertained that this fluid is the same as that which produces the manifestations of table-turning. To the eyes of the sensitive, indeed, these manifestations are accompanied by luminous phenomena which synchronize in such a way as to leave no doubt as to the corelation between the emission of the fluid and the movements of the table. It moves only when the rays issuing from the sitters' hands become sufficiently powerful. These rays converge into a colunm of light rising from the centre of the table as they become more intense. tion as they become more intense. When the rays are extinguished the table becomes inert.

It is certain that this fluid, which is able to set in motion a clock inside a glass vessel, sealed by means of the blow pipe, or to raise a table weighing over two hundred pounds, possesses a force which is sometimes enormous, which is independent of our muscles, which may be attributed to our nerves, to our soul, to whatever you please, but which, nevertheless, is of a purely spiritual nature.—Maurice Maeterlinck.

THE LABOR ORGAN'S ROLE

British Labor has assumed an unusual position in regard to Russia and Poland. The new Republic may have committed a grave mistake in carrying the war against the Bolsheviki far beyond the boundaries set by the Treaty of Versailles, but there was a good deal of excuse for her military leaders seeking to meet the enemy at a safe distance from Polish soil. If Great Britain were in the same position, with a nation on one side defeated yet with an aggressive spirit unconquered and on the other a fanatical people led by men ready to deny their word if it suits their ends, the British people would likely go far to strengthen the defences of their country. But none of these considerations appear to count with the radicals among organized labor in Great Britain. All their sympathy has been for Russia's soviet government and none for Poland.

A reason for this extraordinary attitude was bound to be sought, and there is no wonder that the British people have been deeply interested in the publication of the wireless messages between George Tchitcherin, Russian Bolsheviki foreign minister, and Maxim Litvinoff, Bolsheviki representative in Copenhagen, dealing with the financial transactions between the Russian soviet government and the London Daily Herald, the Labor paper of England. The messages appear incomplete, the London cable says, some of them referring to a commercial deal in newsprint paper, and others showing that M. Litvinoff was urging M. Tchitcherin to subsidise the Herald.

The Herald's editor, George Lansbury, denies that the Russian government, directly or indirectly, had the slightest control of this Labor organ, and also that the newspaper ever received Chinese bonds from the Russian government as a subsidy.

The Herald may be innocent of supporting the Soviet cause for a consideration, but it will have to do a good deal of explaining to convince many people, and many moderate Labor people in Great Britain at that, of the sincerity of its propaganda. Its claim that it prevented the British government from going to war with Russia and its continued insistent demand that Great Britain conclude peace with the Soviet government is are these wireless messages with the bound to create suspicion when there soviet leaders to explain away.—Columbian.

BRITISH EDITORS SEE ROCKIES

Windermere Camp, B.C., Aug. 23.—Through the land of snow capped peaks, beautiful valleys and innumerable magnificent lakes and rivers, the delegates to the Imperial Press Conference continued on their way westward today after brief visits to Lake Louise and Windermere Lake, the former already famous for its wonderful scenery, its lakes in the clouds and its other attractions, and the latter rapidly becoming just as well known for its great natural beauty.

At Lake Louise the party spent a whole day revelling in the wonderful scenery around Agnes lake and Mirror lake, and some of the more hardy members of the party even venturing the climb up Beehive mountain, over 7000 feet above sea level. Similar to the day spent at Windermere Lake, it was a day of recreation or rest as the members saw fit and when the party left there it was with feelings of regret.

But at Windermere the residents, including many well known people from other parts, left nothing to chance in their welcome. Boating, fishing, riding, golf, and Indian potlatch, bathing and other diversions were offered and heartily enjoyed by the party. The stay at the lake was short but it was enjoyable in every sense of the word.

The visitors were given some idea of the wealth of the Columbia valley by a demonstration arranged at the summer camp by the C. P. R., including samples of ore taken from the mines of the district, grains, fuits, vegetables and fodder grown on land irrigated for the most part by natural flow from mountain streams.

Participating in the welcome here prominent residents from not only Windermere and Invermere but also from Golden and Cranbrook, Mr. G. J. Spreul, president of the South East Kootenay Associated Boards of Trade being present from the latter place, and Mr. H. G. Parson, president of the Golden board, representing that section of the province.

The Indians in their colorful garb attracted the attention of the delegates, but one of the features that probably drew more attention than any other was the handling of a string of pack horses by Walter Nixon, one of the pioneer guides and prospectors of the district.

THE OPPOSITE SEX

Never was the opposite sex and how to behave in its presence more debated than in this crowded hour of night wandering motor cars, emancipated debutantes and cheek-to-cheek dancing. Is the world practically in the devil's hands, as Mrs. Katherine Fullerton Gerould thinks? Or can it be saved yet? And, if so, how?

Plainly the International Bible Students' Association thinks that what hope there is lies in the direction of drastic measures. We can see the amazed surprise of the debutante as she reads the vows of these stern reformers. To conduct one's self "toward those of the opposite sex in private exactly as in public in the presence of a congregation of the Lord's people," is a large order. The rest of the vow, "to avoid being in the same room with any of the opposite sex alone unless the door of the room stands wide open," is not so precise and terrifying. In fact, we suspect it is a shot that misses the mark. The modern dancing has brought young things into close proximity quite in the public gaze, with all doors completely open.

It is hard to say just how large a part rules can play in keeping boys and girls sweet and fine and honorable in the presence of one another. The rules that are usually cited as the bulwark of morals have always been impossible for the largest classes of humans—that requiring a chaperon, for instance, for all occosions outside the home of the girl. Yet the morals of the poor undoubtedly equal those of the rich, who revel in chaperons. The wicked motor car is accused of demoralizing a generation; yet buggy riding is as old as the nation.

In defence of the present customs it is probably to be said that the opposite sexs never understood one another as well as today. There is a frankness of friendship that can not help but prevent ill-assorted marriages and blunders based on a misconception of the divergent problems which the two sexes face. Manners and customs have changed; morals, according to most opinions have remained about where they have always been.

What parents should concern themselves about, it would seem, is not so much an attempt to restore precise and obsolete rules as an effort to be sure that a spirit of fineness is kept alive amid the present-day changes of customs. Not so much open doors as high ideals might better be the goal. There can well be rules against customs that are corrupting and coarsening. Such rules have fundamental sense behind them and can prevail. But we should be very sure that we are not insisting upon technical rules, ill adapted to current life and bearing not at all upon essentials.—New York Tribune.

MY FAITHFUL FRIEND

I have a friend, a faithful friend
On whom I can rely.
We live beside a mountain stream,
My trusted friend and I.

And when I lay me down to rest,
He goes on watch and ward;
No prowler then disturbs the night
While Trusty is on guard.

When the daylight comes again
He does "Good morning" say;
Although he only acts the words
In his kind doggy way.

When I am travelling in the dark
He always keeps the trail;
I have then for a beacon light
The white tip on his tail,

He brings in wood, at hawks he barks,
And then to show his style
Upon a chair with pipe and hat
He makes the people smile.

This dog is of the Spaniel breed,
His color black and white;
Though he is just rather fat,
I know his heart is right.

He has got a curly coat
That glistens in the sun;
He sits before the cabin door
Until the day is done.

My dog and I are somewhat like,
For we are getting old;
He knows I would not part with him
For silver or for gold.

The friendship of my dog is true—
You see it in his face;
An honest doggie through and through
A model for his race.

WILL HOLD AN INQUEST ON GUS AXNER

Gus Axner, employed as a laborer by the C.P.R., while engaged with a crew unloading steel and angle bars near Jaffray last week, had the misfortune in throwing off a couple of angle bars to have one or both of them catch in his glove while releasing his hold and he was pulled from the car and fell upon these heavy pieces of iron. He sustained severe bruises about the side of the head and was rendered temporarily unconscious. Axner was conveyed to the Fernie hospital, where it was ascertained that his skull had not been fractured and at first hopes were entertained for recovery. However, a cerebral hemorrhage developed last Friday and death resulted. Axner was about 55 years of age and unmarried. Coroner Thomson ordered an inquest and this will convene this evening at the city hall. The jury is composed of Jas. McLean, foreman, C. Hesketh, Jules Andre, Wm. Cooper, Wm. Barton and O. N. Jacobson.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

Another violent death was recorded in this locality late Saturday evening last when Michael Barbiere, an Italian, committed an act of self-destruction by using a 32-calibre revolver. Barbiere has been a resident of Fernie Annex for some time, and, as divulged from the investigation subsequent to the commission of the rash act, has during recent weeks threatened to commit suicide. These threats, however, were not taken at all seriously, principally on account of the frequency with which they had been made. Last Saturday, however. he fulfilled them all, when, shortly after leaving his residence about 5.30 p.m., he walked along the Great Northern railway track to a point immediately east of the "wye" and put the revolver to his head and fired the fatal shot. The report of the tragedy was made promptly to the authorities through a young man by the name of Roscar, who, while returning from the White Spruce Lumber Co., by walking along the Great Northern right of way, saw a man approaching him on the track. This party then walked off to the side of the railroad out of Roscar's sight, and he immediately thereafter heard the report of a gun, and coming up saw a man lying on his back with blood oozing from a wound in the head. Without waiting to ascertain whether he was dead or alive, Roscar rushed to the city and notified Coroner Thomson, who accompanied by the police rushed to the scene. There it was found that the man, later identified as Barbiere, was dead with gunshot wound through the head. The coroner later decided that an inquest was not necessary, as it was clearly a case of suicide. Barbiere was about 35 years of age and married, being survived by his wife and three step-children.

MINE COSTS INCREASE

The increase in wages paid to the mine workers at the gold mines of Northern Ontario, beginning some few months ago, has caused mining costs to increase considerably. At the Hollinger Consolidated, which is the largest individual employer of labor, it has been estimated that the added efficiency as a result of higher pay would cause costs to increase not more than 25 cents for each ton of ore treated. It turns out, however, that costs have actually increased between 50 cents and $1 a ton. It is generally believed that the increase in pay was warranted, however, and that this alone has enabled the company to continue to operate at about two-thirds capacity and to maintain earnings at the rate between eight and nine per cent. On the other hand thre are those who appear to firmly believe, and who freely predict that the higher wages the companies pay, the lower will be the efficiency.

This contention is based on two facts. One is this: men in receipt of increased wages come to realize that their service must be absolutely essential and that whether they work hard or loaf a good part of the time, their jobs are safe. The second fact, is this: while it is not true in all cases yet there are a great many men who are satisfied to get along with just sufficient work to pay for their clothing and what they eat. This class of men is numbered among those who almost weekly take one or more days off work. The higher the pay, the more days off.

The situation at the Hollinger Consolidated, as well as at other large mines in Northern Ontario, bears out the above contention. It is not known whether or not the managements at the mines referred to would agree that it does, but to the careful observer, making a study of the ebb and flow of men, the habits of the worker in general and the trend of the cost sheets at the mines, the truth is brought home that indeed men are less efficient workers than when lower wages were paid.

BIG WILD ANIMAL SERIAL A THRILLER

The most weird, strange and certainly most thrillingly sensational screen offering of recent years is soon to burst upon the excitement-loving public in the form of a 15-episode serial production, "The Lost City," a story of the African jungle and its never-ceasing thrills and adventures, featuring the beautiful and daring Juanita Hansen, who is supported by Geo. Chesebro and a big cast of clever screen talent, will begin its run at the Orpheum theatre next week.

Who has not at some time or other read of the dangers of the jungle without a compelling desire to see for themselves these daring adventures with their own eyes? And this desire has not been confined alone to the younger element. Old and young revel in such scenes as only the wild and mysterious jungles can offer, and in the presentation of this extraordinary serial story the producer whisks the spectator into a strange land, among strange people, and a long series of hazardous adventures that could never be described in words as it can be shown in thrilling motion pictures upon the screen.

Elephants, tigers, lions, leopards, camels, gorillas, alligators, eagles, and all the other wild denizens of the African jungle and scorching desert, each play their important part in this swift-moving story, crowding sensation upon sensation in such rapid sequence that the spectator is hardly allowed to recover from one gasp before another is forced upon him.

TODAY'S NEWS

Warsaw, Sept. 3.—M. Danishvisky has resigned as head of the Russian Bolshevik delegation to negotiate an armistice agreement and a peace treaty with Poland, and has been replaced by Adolph Joffe, former Soviet ambassador to Germany, according to Moscow advices received here. M. Danishevisky resigned because the Soviet government refused to carry on further negotiations with Poland at Riga. The essential condition of the Riga conference, according to the Russian and Ukranian delegates, was the right to free and uninterrupted communication in code by telegraph, wireless or courier.

Berlin, Sept. 3.—Lithunia will defend herself with all means at her disposal against invasion by Polish troops and will prevent any further violations of her territory, says a Kovno dispatch.

Edmonton, Sept. 3.—According to a report from the north, oil has been struck by the Imperial Oil Co. at a point within the Arctic circle north of Great Slave Lake and close to the Mackenzie River. The flow of oil is small, being about ten barrels per day, but it is regarded as a sure indication that a heavy flow is to be expected in the locality. Other enterprises of the company at other points are regarded favorably, especially in the Czar region, where a well has already reached a depth of 2000 feet.

Regina, Sept. 3.—The province of Saskatchewan is encouraging the emigration of British teachers to take provincial schools. Last week a party of 12 arrived from England and were immediately given schools.

Fredericton, N.B., Sept. 3. — The Dominion Fruit Commissioner, who has been inspecting the province's orchards, reports that the apple crop this year is exceptionally clean and the quality superior to last year. The crop, estimated at about 60 per cent of last year's, will probably amount to 30,000 barrels.

Ottawa, Sept. 3.—During the first six months of the present year Canada threw open her doors to 68,857 emigrants, of which 37,261 were from the United Kingdom and 25,183 from the United States. United States settlers brought with them more than $6,000,000 and goods worth $2,000,000.

Babe Ruth has made a greater total of home runs than any other player in the American League, he will make a new record of most homers in one season for any and all leagues, and his team as a whole may set up a new season's record, but there is one hefty slugger who still holds out a challenge to Babe. That one is Gravvy Cravath, who is the champion of all champions, so far as records show, for swatting homers. These records show Old Wooden Shoes in his professional baseball career that began with Los Angeles in 1903 has hit a total of 218 four-ply smashes. His best single season was in 1911 with Minneapolis, when he got 29. In 1915 as a Philly he hit an even two dozen. But Cravath is about done hitting, and Ruth has many years ahead of him, so the Babe may in time make even Cravath's record look sick.

MUCH LIQUOR IS SEIZED

In connection with the illicit liquor traffic between British Columbia and the arid State of Montana, the provincial police, guided by information unearthed by them last week, made a swoop down upon the Great Northern railway southbound coal drags last Friday and Saturday. It is reported from reliable sources that the authorities came into possession of information which led them to believe that a consignment of liquor amounting to some 200 cases, was being moved to the United States and consequently the inference was that the transfer would be by means of the intoxicants being secluded in cars of coal, this assumption of course being based upon the fact that the coal trains are by far the most convenient method of smuggling liquor when there is a quantity involved. Accordingly Chief Spiller, assisted by four of his deputies, made a swoop on Friday's train when it arrived at Waldo. A search was instituted and as a result of the arduous open-air coal mining, twenty cases were found. These twenty cases were located in the very bottom of a loaded car, proving conclusively that the same had been placed therein prior to the car having been loaded. On Saturday the search was continued and 18 more cases added to the former trophies. On board this train were found five men purloining rides. They were all taken into custody but four of them were released almost immediately, as it was not possible to implicate them with the illegal transportation of the liquor. The fifth, G. Spencer, a brakeman, however, was held longer, and while he was suspected of being connected with the liquor traffic, no positive evidence against him could be obtained. He, to his personal misfortune, carried an offensive weapon in the form of a revolver, for which offence he was arrested and brought into the city, and later penalized. All the liquor seized was confiscated and forthwith shipped to Vancouver to the Provincial Vendor. This consisted of 38 cases of various brands, and while the police would very much have liked to grab the full quantity supposed to be on the trains, the minute search did not produce any more, and therefore the alleged 200 cases supposed to have comprised the shipment was exaggerated or there are still 162 cases in storage or disposed of by some other unknown route.

CANADIAN COAL POWER

Canada is well supplied with water power, with the exception of the middle West, which must produce its electrical energy and other forms of power mainly from coal or other fuel. As some of the largest reserves of the world are found in this and adjacent territory, however, we may anticipate that with proper organization, the power can be produced and offered to industries at rates as low as if derived from the most favorable water-power sites.

The importance of Canada's coals is pointed out in "Power in Alberta" by James White. The author points out that "Alberta contains 87 per cent of the coal in Canada, but the estimate in "Coal Resources of the World" states that 82 per cent of the coal in that province is lignite or subbituminous. Practically the whole of the statements in the preceding paragraph respecting the relative costs of steam-electric and hydro-electric power indicate the desirability of investigating the economies of steam-electric power generated at super-power underlain by this valuable fuel, and the settled porton of the province is stations and transmitted to the municipalities within easy transmission distance, say 100 miles or more."

In "Coal Resources of the World" it is stated that southern Saskatchewan contains lignite seams, many of which, especially in the valley of the Souris River, are being mined. A seam in the Estevan field is reported to be 15 feet in thickness in places, while, north of this field, coal has been reported near Cullen, Arcola and Wauchope. West of the Souris River coal-seams of workable thickness are found over a very large area. It is estimated that, in Saskatchewan, an area of 11,840 square miles in underlain by coal seams.

Recently, a super-power plant has been constructed in Germany to supply electrical energy to Berlin. The energy is entirely produced from lignite. The plant, which has been designed and installed in accordance with the most modern practice has a capacity of 180,000 h.p., which compares approximately with the size of our larger plants at Niagara Falls.

SAYS FLATHEAD IS RICH IN OIL

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 29.—Tremendously rich oil fields in the Flathead country in the Kootenay near the international boundary line is predicted by John Watt, pioneer prespector of the interior, who arrived in Victoria Saturday to confer with Premier Oliver. Samples of oil that he has discovered in the Flathead, Mr. Watt has brought down with him. From indications, he declared that the oil field there will turn out to be one of the richest in the world.

The Flathead has for years been looked upon as one of the potential oil fields of the west. The old Lineham well at Oil City, near Waterton Lakes, which has produced oil for nearly 20 years, is in the vicinity of the Flathead. A Calgary company with Mr. Patrick in charge of the work, has cleaned out the old well and is drilling another. The Boston-Albera well, south of Cardston, now being drilled, is just 25 miles east of the old Lineham well.

ARE NOT THE CHINOURDS

A report was received here Wednesday, emanating from Eureka, Montana, announcing that Sheriff Bayley of that place, in pursuance of his official duties, had been seriously wounded by one of two half-breeds, whom he suspected of carrying offensive weapons, and also of being the Chinourd boys, wanted here for the murder of Taihl Singh, a Hindoo, at Waldo, in July. This information caused the local authorities to get busy on the matter and subsequently more details were received. It appears that Sheriff Bayley at the time of the affair was searching one of the men, when the other pulled a gun and shot him, the bullet entering the sheriff's chest. Although critically wounded the sheriff managed to use his gun and firmly believed he hit one of the men as they made their escape. The U.S. authorities in that locality were notified of the shooting and on Thursday two men answering their descriptions were arrested at Whitefish, one of whom had a bullet wound in the thigh. The Whitefish police immediately wired the provincial police here to send an officer down to Kalispell, whence the prisoners were taken, to identify the men as the missing halfbreeds, or Chinourd boys, whom the American authorities believed they had captured. Constable Collins left yesterday for Kalispell and while his official report has not been received here yet, through another source it is now reasonably certain that the two men arrested at Whitefish are not the Chinourds although they are the ones wanted for shooting Sheriff Bayley.

FOOTBALL

The final game in the Mutz Cup was played in Fernie on Sunday last resulting in a draw—score 1 to 1. The game will therefore have to be played over and the date will be announced soon by the League Secretary. The weather was a bit chilly but ideal for football and both teams put up the best game of the year. The replay should be a whirlwind. Both teams were in splendid form and it was anybody's game from the start to the finish, both goals being bombarded frequently and both of the goalies being pretty lucky. The play travelled from end to end, showing the equality of the teams. Michel played a snappier game on the forward line and but for Fernie's defence the score might have been different. The two Travers boys and Brown will keep any defence busy. Michel played a new full back and he showed up well. Fernie played a new centre forward, JoeRiley, and he played a good game, notwithstanding the fact that he has been playing full back all season. A few more games and he will be a dangerous centre.

The next game will be played in Fernie next Sunday, Sept. 5, and is the first game in the Cooper Cup. The winners of the game will play the winners of Coleman vs. Hillcrest.

THE FOLLIES OF THE MOB

Mob violence has been on the increase in Canada during recent years, an inevitable outcome of the unsettlement of the public mind, generated in time of war. But the recent spisode at Thorold, Ont., is the first occasion in which a lynching has been planned on Canadian soil within the memory of living men. Let us be thankful that the good name of this country was not sullied by the tragedy that was projected; what really occurred is humiliating enough, and illustrates amply the folly of mob psychology. The causes which led the Thorold mob to desist from their purpose were hardly less a demonstration of folly than those which precipitated the disturbances. That the mob should finally be swayed to mercy by the protestations of a man against whom there lies a prima facie commitment on a charge of murder in its most hideous form, after refusing to heed the appeals of citizens of high standing like Chief Mains of Niagara and Crown Attorney Cowper of Welland, is a ludicrous example of popular emotionalism.

The citizens of Thorold would have been less than human if they had not been moved to extreme horror at the crime of which McNeil is accused; but the net result of their interference with the courses of justice is to shift the odds in favor of the ultimate acquittal of the accused very materially in his favor. They are also minus, one newly completed town hall. NcNeil, if guilty, could have asked no greater favor at the hands of Providence than the melodramatic occurrence of which he was the central figure.

Some time ago it was pointed out in these columns that the tenderness which the Federal Department of Justice has of late years shown toward convicted murderers, and the tendency of certain sentimental newspapers to spread the impression that every man convicted of a capital crime is a victim of a gross miscarriage of justice, was certain to produce a bad effect on the public morale. It cannot be that all or even a small part of the men who comprised the Thorold mob are bloodthirsty scoundrels. No doubt they acted on some obscure feeling that the effective punishment of murder is becoming too much of a gamble in this country. For this the press and politicians are more to blame than the authorities. Every reader must recall scores of cases where mawkish articles have been published with regard to men convicted on most convincing evidence. No prejudicial reference is intended to the case of McNeil, which is sub judice. We have in mind earlier and more notorious instances in which newspapers have shown a disposition to accept the word of a convicted murderer that he is innocent, seemingly without asking themselves whether a man who would commit murder would hesitate to lie. The mob cannot be reasonably asked to let justice take its course, unless supposedly more enlightened elements in the community are willing to adopt the same precept.—Saturday Night.

STATUARY EXHIBITION

The Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology during the past three years displayed as an educational exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition sculptured groups, placed in historically accurate settings and designed to give the lay mind a vivid picture of the life of the early inhabitants of the continent. The groups so far displayed in the series have been those depicting respectively the life of the Ontario Indian, the early cliff dweller and the British Columbia Indian. The fourth group, suggested, as were the former, by Prof. T. C. Corelli and modeled by W. S. J. Dunbar, will be shown this year in the government building, and will depict the famous Snake Dance of the Hopis Indians of Arizona.

The snake dance of the Hopis tribe belongs not to the oldest of the national movements, but was rather developed transition from the nomadic to the pastoral mode of life. It is continued even by the present descendants of the tribe and owes its significance to their minds, to their belief that the snakes are in close communication with the gods which control the rainfall, a vital necessity to the crops in their arid country. The prescribed rites of the dance cluminate in an open air ceremony in which live snakes are carried, and the most striking episode is presented in this group, which shows a trio of snake priests, respectively the "carrier," the "sustainer," and the "collector," a line of priests of the Antelope society, who act as chorus, and a maid and matron whose office is, along with the others, to scatter sacred meal on the participants as a sacrifice to the gods.

The dance takes place in the plaza of the village, on one side of which is built a bower of branches in which the keeper of the snakes sits with jars containing cenemous species, which he hands out from time to time to the carriers. The dancers march in file around the plaza, each stamping on a small board set in the ground in front of the bower as he passes, as a notification to the gods of the underworld that a ceremony is in progress. They then assume their places in two files, facing each other, the Antelope chorus flanking the brush house, where they sway and chant for a few minutes, shaking their rattles. The file of snake priests then breaks up into groups of three and they dance around in a circle receiving the snakes as they pass the brush house, the carrier holding one or more in his mouth, the sustainer diverting the attention of the snakes with a feather wand, while the collector attends to gathering the stray snakes. After dancing around for a while, the carrier drops the snakes on the ground, to be seized by the collectors, who keep them in their hands until the completion of the ceremony, when the priests carry the snakes swiftly to the country below the mesa on which the village stands, where they are released.

The ceremony originated and is kept up in accordance with the belief that the first children of the union between an ancertal hero and a mythical snake princess were rattlesnakes and hence the elder brothers of the later generations. Being sprung from a source in some respects supernatural, snakes are believed to be in close touch with the gods that control rain, which insures the crops and other blessings needed by the Hopi, whose country is arid and desolate.

None of these pople would willingly kill a snake, poisonous or harmless, as they are regarded as sacred and imbued with some of the peculiar attributes and powers of the gods. Rattlesnakes are generally used in the ceremony, but, due to the care in handling them, accidents rarely or never occur. The ceremony, as practised today, is usually witnessed by a large number of strangers.

MRS. HORTON LIKES ECONOMY

Mrs. J. M. Horton says she learned the economy of canned milk through a lady demonstrating Pacific Milk in a Department store.

She took one can and made a cake and a pudding. Next she bought two tins.

Results were so good she decided to have a dozen cans.

Now she buks a case at a time and counts that she saves a dollar a month on her milk bill.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 2 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

MENACE OF "OUIJA" TOY

One of the addresses which attracted most public interest at the recent convention of the Canadian Medical Association held in Vancouver was that delivered by Dr. Wm. House, the brilliant American alienist, on the danger of occultism. He passed severe strictures on the credulity of those using the ouija board, which has become somewhat of a fad. He attributed the present rage for the occult to the war.

"For several years," he said, "man has been subjected to stresses unparalleled in the annals of history. His emotions and passions have been played upon by mighty destructive forces set free by the Madman of Europe. Hatred, fear, anger, jealousy, grief, love, courage, devotion, heroism, consecutively or alternatively, have been roused beyond the range of the most daring imagination. To many alleviation of poignant distress comes through faith in a supreme being and belief in a future life. Others, unable to endure the loss of loved ones and the delay in meeting them in the hereafter, have evolved or found means which seem to them sufficient. Metaphysics, occultism, mysticism, telepathy, clairvoyance, mind-reading, crystal-gazing, fortune telling, miracle healing, all flourish.

"The ouija board, after a third of a century of relegation to the attic, has returned to the living room a monument to the longing and grief, credulity and stupidness of mankind. Scientists, pseudo-scientists, amateur investigators, paranoics, charlatans, and quacks of every kind are busy trying to solve the mystery of a future life and of spirit communication or to take advantage for mercenary and other reasons of those who are honestly engaged in the sisyphean task. Multitudes have unmoored their barques and ventured to ride the psychic wave. Some will escape harm, while others, less fortunate or less capable, will be grievously injured by their experience.

"The ouija board interests and presents a special appeal to people of every age. It is inexpensive, requires no elaborate steeings as surround the spiritualists, and lends itself to the will and desire of the individual. It may be induced to give messages responsive to imaginings or yearnings of its victims.

"It is not a new device. In the eighties it was commonly in evidence but its use was discouraged by the Roman Catholic Church, and it gradually disappeared except from a few households. Department stores are unable to supply the demand for it, and newspaper accounts of ouijamania daily appear. Whole families are reported to have been adjudged insane from its use, though it is doubtful if such patients are really more than hysterical. It appeals to the weak, easily led and mentally sub-normal. Sound minds can not use it, unsound ones should not be permitted to do so. Its victims are numerous, but most of them will recover after a brief sojourn in an institution for the mentally disordered."

MAHARAJAS AND JEWELS

The Nawab of Bahawalpur owns a portion of what is known as the "Delhi loot," which as a whole, once constituted the Mogul emperors' crown jewels, filched by them in turn from the Hindus and their ancient temples, says a writer in "Asia." So it was fitting that some should have found their way back. History records that every gem in the almost fabulous collection has been figuratively, if not literally, drenched in blood. There are ornaments for the fronts of turbans; caps to cover the head fashioned entirely of jewels, with just enough gold filigree to hold them in place; ropes of pearls, rubies and emeralds, numberless rings, bracelets and anklets for women. There is a wonderful diamond necklace called the "Garland of Delight," the largest stone of which measures one and one quarter inches in diameter.

The native state of Baroda is close to the Runn of Cutch, and the state of Indore had easy access to it. In its quiet twisting waterways lay rich pearl oyster beds, which, in the old days, were infested with pirates. Doubtless the ancestors of the present highnesses of these states got their share of "first pickings," as the Maharaja Gaekwar of Baroda has the largest collection of pearls in India, although the handsome young Maharaja Holkar of Indore runs him a close second. I sat near this resplendent personage once at a royal Hindu wedding, close enough to hear a pleasant little tinkling sound when he moved, for he was wearing his "pearl scarf," which he values at a crore of rupees ($3,300,000). It is composed of nine stands of cream lustre pearls, as large as marrowfat peas, that hang from a thick pearl tassel over one shoulder across his chest to his hips, scarf fashion. Eighteen great pearls, each with a carat diamond set into it, comprise the neckpiece. Think of the vandalism of drilling them! Maharaja Holkar has inherited his father's peacock turban, another marvel of pearls, rubies, emeralds and diamonds.

THINKING TOO MUCH

Modernity is wallowing in self-analysis. The disease is as contagious as smallpox, but is far from difficult to throw off.

No corner of the mind is sacred. Thought becomes a surgeon's probe, an conversation takes on the character of a clinical lecture. It never seems to occur to anyone that there is somthing a little indelicate in this public undressing and tending of the mind.

In all art, and especially in literature, the analysis fever is raging furiously. There is not an emotion impulse, or desire that is not turned about and questioned, stripped of its decent coverings and displayed, quivering and naked, to a curious world.

We talk and think like a Russian nevelist.

There are no new emotions in this old, experienced world. The soul-shattering revelations that come to the modern mind have come in just the same way to a million former minds. Our forefathers believed in action.

If an ancestor was troubled with jealousy he went out and broke his rival's head. But we sit down and talk about it. If we are poets, we write reams of horribly intimate self-revelation.

Are we becoming pale shadows of our former lusty selves? Can there be any true mental health when there is so much diagnosis and doctoring?

Self-consciousness and egotism flourish apace in the moderns. We refuse to merge ourselves in the mob. What was good enough for our fathers is most certainly not good enough for us. We are so absorbedly busy examining our individual mental processes that the race can go hang.

There is much to be said for the primitive, direct mind. It has simplicity and strength. It does not think too much. It is content to be. —London Daily News.

SAYS HUNGER STRIKER COMMITS SUICIDE

London, Sepe. 3.—The question has been widely discussed here recently as to whether it is justifiable to give the last sacrament to hunger strikers, it being maintained by many persons that to all interests such strikers were committing suicide. Father Bernard Vaughn, famous for his sermons and writings, today made the following statement to the Press Association regarding the subject:

"Personally, from my reading theology, moral and dogmatic, I should not feel entitled to administer the rites of the church to anyone, no matter what his nationality, who was deliberately dying through a hunger strike. But I am free to admit that other theologians, far more learned than I am, would reverse my verdict on the subject.

"Some moralists there are who deny that hunger striking can not be justified; others have drawn a distinction between objective truths and subjective error. But, as you are asking for my personal view of the subject, I give it for what it is worth without comment upon anyone who may differ from me."

CO-OPERATIVE ORGANIZED

Incorporation papers have been applied for and it is the intention of the company to go into all lines of the mercantile business.

MARSHALL—NELSON

The happy couple left on Tuesday for Red Deer, where they will reside in future, Mr. Marshall having accepted a position as departmental manager for a large mercantile concern in that city.

WHEAT BREAK

Toronto, Sept. 1.—Announcement of a long drop in the price of both new and old what crop is viewed as a serious bend in the back of the hign cost of living bogey and the forerunner of a general decline in prices. Though bakers here say that the price of bread will not be affected for some time yet, it is conceded that the break in the wheat market is the beginning of a new standard of costs.

GERMAN FOREIGN MINISTER REJECTS THE BOLSHIES

Berlin, Sept. 1.—Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister, addressing the Reichstag foreign affairs committee today declared he had been urged to collaborate with the Russian Bolshevik against the western powers as a means of breaking the bonds imposed by the treaty of Versailles, but that after mature reflection, he had rejected this course.

Mennonite delegates to Quebec have been very pleased with their visit to the province. We always thought that the Mennonites were strictly a teetotal sect.—Lethbridge Herald.

A team of eight or nine golfers from Pincher Creek, Blairmore, Macleod and several other places, captained by our old townsman "Dusty" Rhodes, manager of the Bank of Commerce at Pincher Creek, came in on Sunday last and demonstrated to the local boys how the game should be played. In the morning they played a hole competition, and with the exception of A. Watson and R. M. Young, who won their games, made a complete sweep of the local boys. In the afternoon a series of two-ball foursomes was arranged, when the locals managed to make a standoff. A return match will likely be arranged for the 12th at Pincher Creek.

WON $3,000,000 IN SINGLE NIGHT

Paris — "Gambling, drinking and tangoing have become the very existence of the world's richest people congregated in Deauville," says the Paris satire weekly, Cri D'Paris. "Sums of money sufficient to provide a life income for a large family are won and lost in a few seconds at the baccarat table, to which anyone is admitted after the pretext of examining identification papers."

The most picturesque figure in the casino is the Syrian, Ghi Kahn, who several months ago was a humble carpet seller in the Paris streets, but who subsequently won $3,000,000 in one night. His romance is asserted to be the most extraordinary on record. Coming to France from Jaffa in June, he sold five carpets, realizing 1000 francs. He immediately placed the entire sum on "Meddlesome Maid," A. K. McComber's horse, at the Longchamps races, and won at odds of 11 to 1.

He retired from the trade and joined the Baccarat Club at Enghein, where he won $22,000 before the club was closed by a scandalized parliament. It was too close to Paris. From Enghlien, Kahn went to Vicyh, where he repeated his extraordinary run of luck, finally ending up at Deauville, where he is living in the Imperial Suite in the Royal Hotel. He is estimated to have cleaned up a total of $8,000,000 without a sign of his luck changing.

Indication of the incredible high play is had in the fact that yesterday the croupiers received $20,400 in tips, while the "casino," which derives its profit entirely from a five per cent "rake-off," gained more than $3,000,000.

The costumes and mannerisms of the eccentric new rich are criticized strongly by the conservative Paris Figaro, which caustically asserted that the women wear ropes of pearls longer than their skirts, but at the same time fail to renounce their "plebian rubber heels." Several munitions barons have created a sensation by wearing four tiepins simultaneously.

An example of the prevalent desire to show off, no matter what the price, was seen at the races yesterday, when the Maharanee Kapurthula arrived dressed in Oriental silks and veils and riding on an enormous whit elephant. The height of eccentricity was reached by Mistinguette, the famous French musical comedy star, who wore a costume of violently-colored satin, the design of which was continued from the cloth on to her bare skin by hand painting.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

"Peg o' My Heart," one of the most successful plays ever written, will be given at the Grand on Sept. 8 and 9, by Miss Sarah Gibney, assisted by Wm. P. Springer and a cast of local people.

"Peg o' My Heart" has been presented in every part of the English speaking world and was accorded the most interesting comedy that the stage has yet known. It had a run of over 700 nights in New York and a two year record in London. When the play was first offered in Canada Miss Gibney was selected for the role of "Peg" and from press reports throughout the Dominion her performance was greeted everywhere with capacity audiences.

Miss Gibney has been busy on the rehearsals of the play for the past two weeks and both the production and players are ready for the first performance.

The management of the Grand wishes to announce that "Peg o' My Heart" will not be presented with the G.W.V.A. Concert Party, but is under the direction of Miss Sarah Gibney, who has selected her cast from local talent. The G.W.V.A. Concert Party, who was to supply the cast, could not get the available people so decided to withdraw from the arrangement and program.

IRRESPONSIBILITY OF LABOR

One of the bravest Labor leaders of the day, Mr. George Barnes, has just declared that "the worst aspect of affairs from the Labor point of view is the sheer irresponsibility and lack of moral courage on the part of Labor spokesmen." Nor is that unhappy moral affliction confined to Labor spokesmen only. It is the general fault of politicians; it has been the bane and the ruin of democracies from the earliest times. It is only men like Lincoln who dare resist political pressure which they know to be evil and the temptation to flatter the people in order to gain their votes. "Let us have faith," said he, that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it." Is that the spirit of modern politics here or elsewhere? Democracy has crushed military autocracy, but in what spirit is triumphant democracy addressing itself to the reconstruction of society or to the world's work. — London Daily Telegraph.

B.C. TO HAVE CAVALRY UNIT

It is of interest to the people of British Columbia, says the B.C. Veterans' Weekly, to learn that the 31st B.C. Horse will be perpetuated in the new militia establishment as the 5th Regiment of Canadian Cavalry, with headquarters at Kamloops, with Lt.-Col. Chas. L. Flick, C.M.G., C.B.E., in command.

There will be four squadrons, to be located as follows: Victoria, Vancouver, Kamloops and Merritt. Until such time as some definite announcement is made by the militia department at Ottawa upon the question of paid adjutants, R.Q.M.S. Walsh Bishop of the permanent force will have charge of it.

The regiment is immediately to be brought up to full strength, if possible. Just as soon as a sufficient number of men is secured for the local squadron a course of training will commence.

Lieut.-Col. J. P. O. Tudor, D. S. O. and bar, is to command the Kamloops squadron; Lieut.-Col. G. S. Pragnell, D. S. O., the Merritt squadron.

It will be remembered that the 31st B. C. Horse went to Valcartier at the outbreak of hostilities in 1914 as a completely equipped regiment. It was up to full strength in men and officers and was one of the few regiments that could boast of being ready to sail. By some unfortunate turn of affairs it was subsequently broken up. Officers and men distinguished themselves, however, and it is in recognition of their work and of the fact that the regiment was in such splendid shape when the war broke out that the overseas designation, the 5th Regiment, taken from the 5th Battalion, now comes to Kamloops. Lieut.-Col. Flick was in command of the regiment before the war and took it to Valcartier.

FRIENDS AMAZED OVER BIG CHANGE

"Yes, sir, my wife looks like another person entirely since she commenced taking Tanlac, and what's more she is enjoying better health than for seven years," was the statement made by Chris Nauman, a prosperous farmer living at Strathcona, Alberta, recently.

"My wife had never known what trouble meant until seven years ago when she suffered a complete breakdown and ever since then her health has simply been miserable. Each year she got worse and worse, the color left her face and she commenced to lose in weight and finally got so weak she had to give up entirely and take to her bed. Her stomach was out of order and she was told she had acute indigestion and that an operation was her only hope, but she would not consent to that. Her appetite dwindled away to almost nothing and it seemed every bit she ate meant trouble for her. Right after eating she would have smothering spells and her chest would choke up so bad she had to gasp and fight for air. If she tried to take a deepbreath she always complained of a sharp, stabbing pain around her heart and sometimes it would nearly make her faint. And the same pain she said would go up between her shoulder blades and into her neck. At times, an awful pain would strike her in the right side and it would nearly draw her double. When she got able to get out of bed she looked thin and pale and was as weak as a rag. Her circulation was bad, pimples broke out all over her chest and her right foot was so cold and numb all the time that it looked like the circulation had stopped entirely.

"One day one of our neighbors who had been taking Tanlac came to see her and advised her to give it a trial. Well, sir, my wife was as surprised as I was at the way this medicine began to build her up, her appetite came back, the color returned to her face and the pains commenced to let up. And now although she has been taking it only a few weeks she is eating anything she wants without a bit of trouble and the pains in her shoulders and side have disappeared entirely. Her weight and strength have returned and she is still gaining right along. The circulation of her blood is normal, the numbness has left her foot and the pimples have all gone away. She is doing her housework again and she has been built up to where all her friends are amazed to see her looking so well and strong. When a medicine will do all this for anybody it deserves all the praise people can give it."

LANDED GENTRY SELLING ESTATES

In the years immediately preceding the war more large English estates were sold or subdivided then in the previous generation. This was due to the heavy burden placed upon land owners by the Lloyd George schemes of raising money. Now, we are told, these old homes are being disposed of even more rapidly, and estates are being placed on the market that have been in the possession of single families for centuries. In some cases the war taxation drives the impoverished owners to seel property that they no longer can keep up. In other cases, whole families have been wiped out by the war, and the properties are to be disposed of in order to settle estates, while in not a few instances landed gentry are disposing of their country holdings and intend to live in the future on the continent of Europe. The purchasers of these historic estates are in some cases American millionaires and in others English newly rich who made fortunes in the war. Not long ago we observed in the London Times an advertisement from one of the latter class who wanted a country house and was willing to spend $1,000,000 or more in the enterprise.

A few days ago a dispatch was published to the effect that Eden Hall was about to pass from the Musgrave family after an ownership of 460 years. The present owner is Sir Richard Musgrave, who has not resided in the Hall for 20 years, and who some time ago sold his other estates of Kirk Oswald and Lazenby, in Cumberland, and Musgrave and Kirkby Stephen, in Westmoreland, as well as property in the county of Durham. Eden Hall for centuries has been associated with North country legend, and there is the famous "Luck" of Eden Hall, a beautiful goblet of Venetian glass, ascribed to the 14th century. The story is that on one occasion a Musgrave surprised a number of fairies dancing round the glass, and that he captured it. The fairies asked him to return it to them but he refused, whereupon the queen fairy said:

"If e'er this cup shall break or fall,
Farewell the luck of Eden Hall."

The goblet remains intact, but one would think the Musgrave family was out of luck in being compelled to sell so beautiful an estate as Eden Hall.

The Earl of Wemyss and March, a relative of Jellicoe's sucressor as First Sea Lord, is selling Gosford House, near North Berwick, one of the most beautiful estates in Scotland. The advertisements announce that it is within easy reach of eight golf courses and commands a fine view of the Frith of Forth. The house itself, which is almost the size of a royal castle, is built of stone, and the estate contains a magnificent park, a chain of ornamental lakes, lovely gardens, shooting coverts, etc., and comprises 3000 acres. The stable will house 25 horses and eight cars can be stored in the garage. Another fine estate recently disposed of was Holm Lacy, in Hereford, a noble mansion with 2700 acres of land, and history dating back to the Norman conquest. For many generations it was the home of the Scudamores, one of whom was a patron of Spencer, and is spoken of as "Sir Scudamore" in "The Faerie Queen." In Hereford the Scudamore family has long been famous for the cider that was made on the estate, thus referred to in an old verse:

"Hence styled the Scudamorean plant whose wine
Whoever tastes let him with grateful hart
Rezpect that ancient loyal house."

Another stately pleasure dome to be sold is Normanhurst, in East Sussex. It was the home of the late Rt. Hon. Thomas Allnut Earl Brassey, editor of Brassey's Naval Annual, and owner of the famous yacht "Sunbeam," one of the best known vessels in history. The estate is one of 3400 acres and includes some of the finest land in the country. We note that it has twenty "principal bedrooms," twelve "secondary bedrooms," and "extensive cellarage," which ought to endear it to a prospective American owner. How would you like to own the following sporting estate, two hours by train from London—"A magnificent mansion in the Elizabethan style upon which an immense sum of money has been expended in exquisite decorations, panelling and the installation of every luxury?" It is announced that "the gardens and grounds are splendidly timbered with ancient garden and ornamental forset trees, wide terraces sloping down to many acres of mown lawns embracing water gardens, herbaceoue walks, rose gardens, rock gardens and many unique garden features." The estate extends over 8000 acres where there is covert for 30,000 pheasants, and there is also three miles of good trout fishing.

Many an owner of an English castle in modern times has found it a regular white elephant. When most of them were built there were no railroads and few good roads. People travelled on horseback, or in carriages and naturally when they arrived any place for a visit, they stayed a considerable length of time, taking with them their own servants. Nowadays, people pay their visits by motor car, which will whisk them home after a dinner and dance, so that there is no longer the necessity for so many guest rooms. Servants, too, are harder to get than ever, and a large staff of them is necessary if the castle is to be kept in condition. Modern conveniences in many cases are lacking. Most of them are without furnaces, or as they call it in England, "central heating," and on the whole the average ancient castle is much more picturesque than comfortable. The new owners of some of them, used to their snug rooms with art squares on the floor, may long for their former vulgar cosiness after spending a winter amid these marble halls.

The Mathematical Mind

Many people, fond of juggling with figures, form the habit of thinking in arithmetical terms. Few carried this habit farther than the philosopher of heredity, Francis Galton. When in his old age he received the honor of knighthood he was excused the usual formalities, and also the paying of the customary fees; and he at once made a caluculation to find how this remission would affect the country's taxation. The conclusion he reached by arithmetic was that each taxpayer on an average would be impoverished by the value of the fortieth part of one drop of ale. — London Morning Post.

MIDSUMMER DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

COAL CREEK NOTES

A large number of our local football enthusiasts took in the Fernie vs. Michel cup final on Sunday.

Much has been said about the good roads of this district but we would ask the Road Supt. and powers that be to take a look over the government road around here, especially in the vicinity of No. 5 mine. Several accidents have been narrowly averted lately, our local autoists having had to fix the road for themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown arrived back in camp after a short holiday spent in the old country.

A party of our local nimrods have gone out preparatory to the opening of the hunting season.

E. Hesketh, E. Rutledge, N. Hilton, W. Green and C. McNay are representing Coal Creek at the mine rescue competition at Nanaimo on Labor Day.

Constantine Picco, Mike Dragon and Fred Blaine received injuries on Monday whilst following their employment in the mines. C. DeHondt had his back hurt on Tuesday afternoon.

The management of the Methodist church up here are holding their annual picnic on Labor Day, Morrissey being the place chosen. By kind permission of General Manager Wilson a special train will leave Coal Creek at 9.45 a.m. and a special train will leave Fernie in the evening immediately after the arrival of the passenger on the C.P.R. All children residents of Coal Creek under fourteen years of age free. Refreshments provided for the children. Adults are requested to bring their own refreshments. A program of races, games, etc., has been arranged. Given favorable weather conditions a good time is assured. The committe in charge desire to thank the residents for their generous response for funds to give the kiddies a good time; also W. R. Wilson for train facilities.

Our local leather chasers are billed to appear at Blairmore on Sunday next in the first round for the Cooper Cup. Get out and boost for your own team.

We extend a welcome to Ben Knight and family, who have recently arrived from Yorkshire, Eng., and have taken up their residence here.

A joint meeting of members of the Loyal Order of Moose and members of the Ladies Chapter is called for Thursday evening next in the Hawthorne Hall to arrange for the projected social to be held on Sept.16.

Mrs. Hamer and family visited the camp on Thursday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Oakley.

Our local First Aid teams have put in some strenuous practice preparatory to the competition to be held in Fernie on Labor Day.

The body of Michael Sweeney, who passed away in this camp, is being shipped back to Lancaster, England, for interment. His daughter, Mrs. J. Caufield, will accompany the remains.

THE "COUNCIL" AND IRELAND

The announcement by J. Ramsay Macdonald that the "Council of Action"—British Labor's pretended Soviet—is going to tackle the Irish problem will cause more amusement than surprise. Having, as Premier Lloyd George puts it, wielded a sledgehammer at an open door, the Council must needs keep up its pretence to having won a popular victory, by having some other door to slash at. It has chosen well in deciding to get at the Irish problem. If it can devise any method of satisfactorily handling this, it will deserve to get more attention. It has in England Archbishop Mannix, and a group of anti-British citizens of the Empire to help it. The British Labor party sent a commission to Ireland some months ago, to study the problem, but the result was similar to that of the Labor party visit to Russia. If the British Laborites are willing to grant the Sinn Fein demand for complete independence for Ireland, they will be at once classified as enemies of their own country, for Ireland has to remain within the Empire. If they put forward any other solution, they cannot shake hands with the Sinn Fein gang. Then there is Ulster. How to pacify the South of Ireland, without provoking a state of civil war in the North, is a question over which the Council may profitably ponder. If the Council is what its radical members claim it to be, viz., the virtual dictator of British policy, let it give a real test of its ability by relieving the Lloyd George government of its "Irish stew."—Mail and Empire.

CHARLES RAY IN "HOMER COMES HOME"

In "Homer Comes Home," to be shown at the Orpheum on Friday and Saturday, Charles Ray has another of those country boy roles for which he is famous on the screen. Thomas H. Ince produced the picture.

The story centres around Homer Cavender, who, having exhausted all the jobs of Mainesville, goes to the city and becomes a clerk. Having accumulated a few hundred dollars, he returns home on his vacation and creates a big impression with the townsfolk as a man of wealth and affairs. He renews his acquaintance with Pretty Rachel Prouty, completely outshining his rival, Arthur Machim, son of the local hotel proprietor. On the last day of his visit, Homer, remembering a chance remark of his boss's, starts selling stock to build in Mainesville a branch factory of the concern for which he works as clerk.

Thinking Homer must be at least a partner in the firm, the villagers fall. But young Machim learns the truth and proceeds to ruin Homer's little scheme. However, things turn out happily, and Homer wins not only the girl, but the managership of the mainesville factory. Priscilla Bonner is the leading woman in "Homer Comes Home." The picture, which is a Paramount Artcraft, was directed by Jerome Storm.

"A GENTLEMAN"

France has paid us a compliment all the more effective because unstudied by giving the word "gentleman" a naturalized place in her beautiful and jealously guarded language. The French Academy keeps a close check upon foreign importations and if it now officially admits "gentleman" into the dictionary, it is because the expression conveys a meaning cherisable for its own sake which no native term will adequately express. A gentleman will stand defined in France as "a man who, without being noble by race, has lofty sentiments, elegant manners, and does noble acts." It is a fairly successful attempt at rendering a conception which the utmost skill of the verbal anatomist can scarcely capture. —Pall Mall Gazette.

GOVERNMENT ILLEGALITIES

What authority has the Chancellor of the Exchequer for remitting income-tax upon the official salaries of members of parliament? We certainly do not grudge members the concession. Regarded as a salary for work done, the $2000 a year is almost contemptible in these days, and can easily be absorbed in unavoidable expenses. Even so, we ask who sanctions the allowance and treats the salary as free from income tax? Apparently the whole thing is done departmentally, without regard to any authority that parliament may possess. Then, again, we would ask under what Act is the government proposing to prevent the landing on British soil of Archbishop Mannix? We see the statement made that he will be allowed to land in England, if not in Ireland, and that suggests that somebody has looked into the legal text-book. We would be prepared to admit that Archbishop Mannix is a mischievous man but the prevention of a British subject landing on British soil is a thing that requires some legal sanction behind it. Things that were done with impunity under the pressure of war are not to be done in peace, and we cannot afford to destroy an elementary right of the citizen because we do not like a particular man.—Westminster Gazette.

NOT TO BE TRUSTED

When has the principle of Bolshevism yielded to the principle of truth? A leaf from the book of German imperialism was taken by the Red leaders when they began their organization. The word of the Moscow government is not as good as the word of the German empire, which never was given with other intentions than to serve the purpose of the moment. Promises made at Minsk by emissaries of Lenin will be illustrative of the adage that the promises of dishonest men are made, like pie crust, to be broken.—Louisville Courier.

LOCAL MAN IS AUDITOR

The city council met last night, Aldermen Bean and Rutledge absent.

The minutes of the previous meeting were disposed of in the usual manner.

Certain circular correspondence was presented, among which was a lengthy resolution from the Revelstoke city council dealing with suggestions concerning what are believed to be improved methods of administering municipal affairs. The resolution covered many important questions and as some time for a reply to this is required the matter was laid over.

A deputation from the newly formed Library Association, comprising Mrs. Fisher and Miss Hogan and D. V. Mott, F. A. Parker and A. Cummings, waited upon the council requesting that quarters for use as a local distributing library be provided, the preference being expressed for a room in the city hall. D. V. Mott, spokesman of the delegation, fully explained that a local association had just been formed at the instance of the representative of the Provincial Library Commission, who visited the city this week. The government has provided for the wide distribution of books throughout the province through responsible local bodies. The only cost for the use of these books is the payment of transportation from and to the coast, estimated for 500 volumes, the first consignment, at about $60. The provincial Commission have already secured 45,000 volumes. These will be loaned to various local boards in 500 lots and it is expected with the active local committee in charge a long felt want for a public library in the city will be filled. The council unanimously decided to allow a suitable room in the fire hall to be used as quarters for the library.

A letter from the city clerk at Nelson requested information as to the number of delegates from this city to the meeting of the Union of B. C. Municipalities at Nelson in October. Aldermen Tully and Harrison supported a motion in favor of sending two delegates. Ald. McEwan and Robichaud negatived same. His Worship refused to cast the deciding vote and after some talk the matter was laid over until the next meeting.

In connection with the appointment of auditor for 1920, G. F. Johnson was the choice. The fee named is $300.

Tenders for city garbage collector were received from George Bowen, John Reid, T. McGladrey, F. Santoni, W. Dicken. Mr. Reid was successful at a salary of $225 per month.

Bylaw No. 213, being the hydro-electric bylaw, received its three readings.

LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

"There is everywhere in the Province a desire for books, and a frequently expressed wish for the use of public libraries."

Herbert Killam, the Secretary of the Public Library Commission, who is making a trip through this part of the province, has expressed this opinion. The Provincial government has for a number of years been lending books to the rural communities by means of travelling libraries, but these have gone chiefly into the agricultural districts. The Public Library Commission, with the intention of extending and improving this work, has sent Mr. Killam out to learn at first hand the needs and desires of the people of this district.

"Working continually in Victoria, it was impossible to get any true idea of the opportunities and needs. But this trip is opening my eyes, I had been told that people did not want books, were not a reading public. I can no longer believe that, for everywhere there is evidence of extensive reading, and everywhere I have had inquiries as to where books can be obtained and what can be done towards forming libraries. The usual existence of the "small town" library has until lately been feeble and short-lived. Lack of funds and consequent insufficient supply of books has generally been the cause of the closing of such libraries. But in the United States a remedy has been found in the "County Library" system, whereby a whole county taxes itself to supply books for its whole population, and no community, no matter how small, need be deprived of a fair number of books. In British Columbia it will probably be necessary to form Public Library Associations in groups for co-operative library service. Under such arrangement the various libraries would pool their resources, and thus a fairly large number of books would be available for the use of each Association. Such a group will probably be formed with Nelson for a working centre."

"It has been greatly encouraging to find much interest in the library idea in Fernie. Nearly everybody with whom I have spoken has expressed a desire for the formation of a public library. Last evening I talked the matter over with a number of men, and it was agreed that plans for the organization of a Public Library Association should be made as soon as possible, then a public meeting should be called to explain the purposes and work of such a society, and the raising of the necessary funds and purchase of books proceeded with. I explained that loans of books would be made from the stock of the Travelling Libraries and Provincial Library. Local funds could be used for the purchase of the lighter reading, while the more expensive books would come from those institutions. Probably a local committee will send the Commission lists of books that are wanted and it would be a good idea for persons reading special books to suggest them to the committee as soon as it is formed."

"I hope the local library will be considered part of a system of education. The use of a library imparts a desire for knowledge which serves as an incentive to children to continue their education after leaving school, and provides for the education of adults who have lacked, or failed to make use of, early opportunities. The loans to Fernie will contain books on the important industries of the district chosen by men who know their subject, and books in foreign languages for those who have not yet learned to read English easily. I am sure that everybody in Fernie will join to make the proposed Association a valuable institution for the city."

NEW VOTERS LIST FOR B.C. SHOWS INCREASE OF 45,000

The following figures are interesting as they show the voters' list of 1919 and the one just completed. It shows an increase throughout the province, of something like 45,000 but Fernie district shows a decrease owing to lack of interest in registration.

COAL CREEK WINS CUP

The big competition in First Aid work, held on the C.N.P. Coal Co. lawn on Labor Day, created keen interest.

The contest was under the auspices of the East Kootenay district organization of which Barney Caufield is president and Clem Stubbs, late lieutenant in the 295th battalion, is secretary. The first prize in the Senior division, a beautiful silver cup, was captured by the Coal Creek team under the command of Captain J. D. Nee, and the second and third prizes were tied by Coal Creek and Michel, under the direction of Captains J. Hamer and J. Strachan. The first year competition went to the Fernie team, commanded by Capt. Hynds.

The Coal Creek and Michel Juniors tied in the contest in that class, H. Pearson and Sam Fowler being the respective captains.

THE TEACHING STAFF

FOOTBALL

Fernie defeated Michel 1—0 at Fernie on Sunday last in the first round of the Cooper Cup. Fernie will play Coleman at Coleman on Sept. 12 and the winning team will play the final against Blairmore at Fernie. Blairmore defeated Coal Creek last Sunday at Blairmore 7—1. The Fernie-Michel game was a good exhibition of football, especially in the second half. Joe Riley, Fernie's centre forward, was not playing owin to an injured ankle and Fernie felt his loss. Sawyer had a bad foot but it did not hamper his usual stellar goal-keeping. However, Fernie was lucky in getting its lone tally. It came from a foul kick from W. Riley. The ball was neatly placed between the Michel backs and their goalkeeper. Michel's goalkeeper did not seem to know whether the backs were going to get it or save himself and this hesitation lost them the game, as he did not have time to pick the ball up. He took a kick at it and just managed to stop the progress of the ball. The ball stopped within three feet of the goal, when Thornton rushed in and made sure of finding the net. Michel did not have their regular line up but their forward line was always dangerous, and but for Fernie's defence Michel would have walked off with the long end of the score.

"PICTURESQUE FERNIE" TO BE PUBLISHED

A long felt want is being met by the Spalding Art Co. in the way of a handsome souvenir book containing about 16 photographs of the Fernie District, which will be entitled "Picturesque Fernie."

Anyone who has done any touring in this section knows that the material for a book of this kind is unsurpassed anywhere in the world. And with Mr. Spalding's assurance that no money will be saved in the printing, binding, etc., of the book and that it will be a credit to this section, we feel assured that the needed co-operation will be given by the public spirited citizens of Fernie. Although no advertising matter will be in the publication, a certain number of copies will have to be subscribed for prior to its going to press.

AFRICAN WOOD

A re-enforcement for the world demand for lumber is preparing in British East Africa, where there are between two and three million acres of woodland to draw upon, and a new industry, very infantile at present, is expected to grow so rapidly that the government is now considering plans to improve the harbor facilities for exporting the forests. The best wood is suitable for wheelmakers and wagon builders and the making of wood-block paving, railway sleepers, bridges, ox yokes, and ax and pick and tool handles. It also makes good flooring and lining boards. The builder, however, must needs be of a patient disposition if he postpones building until these British East African woods are available. Meantime there are new sounds in some of the African forests, the rhythm of the woodsman's ax, the buzz of the sawmill, and the puffing of undersized locomotives on the narrow gauge tracks that are penetrating from the main line of railway into the woodlands. And many a workman, no doubt, will some day work with tools whose handles grew in an African forest.

PUBLIC HEALTH LECTURE

Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, Secretary of the B.C. Women's Institutes, gave a talk to a small but interested audience in the United church last Friday evening. Her subject was "Public Health," including Public Health, Nursing, Child Welfare and Medical Inspection of Schools.

The strength of a nation depends on the health of a nation and unless more attention is given to safeguard the children of today, it is estimated that by 1948 we will have become a decadent race. Someone has said "A nation marches onward on the feet of little children." In our own province in the year ending June 30, 1917, there were 597 deaths of children under one year. Had there been public health nurses in each community (whose duties are not only to visit the sick but to instruct mothers in the care of babies) a large number of these deaths might have been prevented. In the case of preventable diseases a nurse is invaluable as going into the schools and homes she would see these conditions and tell how to treat them, thus eliminating a large percentage of sickness in the schools.

Tonsils and adenoids are the sources of a great deal of children's troubles and here again the nurse would report those needing operations.

The salary of a public health nurse is $1500 per year, part of which is paid by the government in the form of a grant, the same as for teachers.

Mrs. McLachlan spoke of her own town of Saanich, where they have had a public health nurse for some time. The health of the entire community has been raised in a wonderful degree, sanitation is better, and the people are enthusiastic over the nurse's work.

After the address a few minutes were given to discussion of the question of a Public Health Nurse for Fernie. The feeling of the meeting was that a nurse was certainly needed here but nothing definite was done.

O. B. U. BEANS SPILLED

(Saturday Night)

The truth about forces back of the Winnipeg general strike of 1919 is gradually coming out, and recent revelations from within the ranks of labor circles amply bear out all that was said in these columns at the time as to the essentially revolutionary character of the incident. The most sensational of these disclosures took place during a joint debate recently held in the convention hall of the Winnipeg Board of Trade between advocates of the "Internationals" (i.e., supporters of the American Federation of Labor) and promoters of the One Big Union. In the outcome, what had been projected as an academic discussion, became a scene of disorder, and W. H. Hoop, a widely known labor leader who now espouses the cause of the international craft unions, was assaulted and kicked by a group of O.B.U. champions. Though he spoke at length, he did not get a real hearing, but having anticipated something of the kind, had taken the precaution to prepare his address in typewritten form, for publication in the press.

Reading the text of Hoop's speech, it is easy to understand why O. B. U. champions were infuriated. In colloquial parlance he effectively "spilled the beans." Mr. Hoop, it will be recalled, was deep in the Winnipeg general strike himself, and is today employed by the "Western Labor News," formerly conducted by Rev. Wm. Ivens. He is regarded as a good deal of an extremist, but has evidently come to the conclusion that the cause of labor is best served by constitutional measures and not by "direct action" the strong card of the One Big Union advocates. The allegation which most infuriated his assailants was, briefly, an admission that early in 1919 the One Big Union planned a general strike for the express purpose of having it merge into a revolution followed by a proletarian dictatorship on Soviet lines. Singularly enough, the O.B.U. debaters made no attempt to dispute this charge. The inference to be drawn from their addresses was that revolution was proper and desirable. Enthusiasts in the audience met Hoop's revelations with blows and kicks rather than denials, not because his words were untrue, but because they apparently regarded them as traitorous.

Mr. Hoop declared that the genesis of the O.B.U. arose from the belief widely prevalent in Socialistic circles that the war had so wrecked the capitalistic system that it could not be patched up again. To use his own words: "With the wealth of civilization destroyed on fields of battle, and the flower of the manhood of all nations killed, maimed or wounded, and all nations financially bankrupt, the resurrection of capitalism seemed impossible." When in Canada capitalism called for "more production" it was interpreted as an effort to rebuild from the bottom instead of from the top, and it was decided that the time had come for revolution. The O.B.U. was brought into existence at two conventions in Calgary with revolution as its avowed aim and force as its weapon. To attract the attention of labor throughout the country, says Hoop, a resolution calling for a six-hour day was adopted at Calgary, but this was merely camouflage of a plan to get strikes started in various cities, and then proceed with the larger plan of revolution. The date fixed for the general strike throughout Western Canada, with the prospect of Eastern co-operation, was June 1st, 1919. Through lack of proper co-ordination the crisis was sprung at Winnipeg some weeks earlier than intended, owing to the resolve of local leaders there to seize on the opportunity afforded by the metal workers' strike. This premature move left the authorities in a position to meet the abortive revolution piecemeal.

Though he did not at one time hold that view, Mr. Hoop now sees that the movement was doomed from the outset. He now sees that two conditions which promoted Soviet success in Russia were lacking in Canada. The idea of proletarian dictatorship was nourished in Russia by the fact that the producing class, both agricultural and industrial, had long been oppressed. No such condition has existed in Canada; and attempts to create the feeling that the masses are oppressed has been artificial and short-lived. Secondly, Bolshevism, when it seized power in Russia, had no central government to fight. Kerensky had destroyed the Czar's regime, and Lenin and Trotzky simply availed themselves of the fruits of Kerensky's labors by promising more to the masses. On the other hand, Soviet advocates in Canada found they had a srongly entrenched government, supported by popular sentiment, to encounter. Consequently disillusion soon came to them. Nevertheless, they started out as optimists; early in 1919 they believed that they would speedily establish a proletarian dictatorship west of the Great Lakes, and that in less than four years would be in control of all Canada. A further miscalculation was involved here. When the series of sporadic strikes was started in the West the O.B.U. leaders suddenly became aware that Western Canada is an agricultural country and that they could rely on no help from the farmers like the peasant risings in Russia, which made it so easy for the Soviet organization to grasp and hold the reins of power.

Mr. Hoop's purpose in making these revelations was apparently to show that the purposes of the O.B.U. were futile and impossible of accomplishment from the very outset; and that the continuance of the organization can only work mischief to labor. Undoubtedly he is right.

BLIND BABIES—AN APPEAL

An Open Letter to the Generously Disposed

A few weeks ago I came across in the London Spectator an appeal by Sir Arthur Pearson, in behalf of a specially helpless class of the community, in which he says:

"At Sunshine House, Chorley Wood, we have 25 babies who are being taught to be little normal human beings, so far as that is possible, from their earliest days until the age of five, when they are transferred to the residential schools for the blind. There are enough poor blind babies in the Kingdom to fill six Sunshine Houses, and I want money to enable me to start the other five."

From this it would appear that in England there is room and need for six homes for blind babies and only one in existence. But here, in this favored Canada, nothing has heretofore been done in this direction, except a movement commenced last year by the late T. Hope Churchill, of Toronto, who, after collecting between one and two thousand dollars, specially deposited in a local bank to the credit of the fund, asked me to aid him in raising a sufficient sum to purchase premises for the proposed home. Having warm sympathy with Mr. Churchill's praiseworthy enterprise, I promised to give him the necessary assistance, but circumstances prevented me undertaking the work until the present time, and meanwhile death suddenly removed Mr. Churchill. Now, in order that the money collected may be utilized for the purpose for which it was subscribed, a Charter (without stock subscription) is being secured so that the incorporated company can legally and properly lay claim to the money in the bank and proceed to carry out the objects for which the Charter is sought, viz.:

"To provide a refuge for baby and infant blind, to provide free scientific care, training and maintenance, to save the ilves of even a few of the many of such unfortunates who, for lack of such service, perish every year; and to return these little ones to their parents, at school age, with normal healthy bodies and sound minds."

Such, in brief, is the task before the promoters. Money is urgently needed to carry it to successful completion. Canadians have never been known to turn their backs on any deserving cause, claiming their aid, and surely this appeal will meet with a generous response. Help now, without waiting to be called upon by a collector, so that the close of the year may see "The Blind Babies' Home, Nursery and Kindergarten" in successful operation in the Capital City of Canada. Cheques may be made payable to "Canadian Blind Babies' Home." All remittances will be promptly acknowledged.

SCHOOL DAYS BEST DAYS

By Dr. Frank Crane

There is no time of my life I would rather live over than my school days.

It may interest boys and girls to know I, fifty years old and over, having had all sorts of experience, would feel about going to school, if I were young again.

I would surely go to school, because school is the best place in which to pass one's youth. No matter how great a chance to make money a boy may have, he will make more money in the long run if he has a good schooling. No matter how good an opportunity a girl may have to get married, she will make a better wife and mother, and be happier, if she has an education.

There is more and better fun to be had in school than anywhere else during the age between 6 and 21.

You are much more likely to meet the best kind of people with whom to form lifelong friendships in school than elsewhere.

Schools are not perfect, but they are the best institutions that exist for boys and girls. They are the finest product of civilization, the best result of evolution.

Time spent in school is not wasted. You lose nothing by taking pains to sharpen your ax.

In school you get in touch with the past. The human race has existed a long while. At school you get the benefit of its accumulated experience. You stand on your forefather's shoulders and do not have to try experiments they have tried over and over.

At school you acquire your inheritance from the wisdom of the past, which is far better than inheriting a million dollars from your father.

At school you learn to love and to use books, and from books have come the best efficiency and enjoyment of my life.

At school you learn what is best of all, how to form good tastes. The most marked difference between a cultured person and a vulgar one is the kind of things they like.

At school you learn how to use your riches so as to get real satisfaction, if you are to be rich; also, if you are to be poor, how to have a full and happy life in spite of it.

At school you rub off the sharp corners of your personality; you learn how to be agreeable, how to get along with folks, and how to play the game of life with the most enjoyment.

Of all the men and women I have known, not one of them was ever sorry for going to school, and every one who for any reason had missed an education regretted it.

If you have parents that will send you to school you are fortunate, and thrice fortunate if you have to work your way through school by your own exertions.

To say that you would like to go to school if you were able is nonsense. Any boy can get an education if he desires it enough. Any girl can get schooling if she is sufficiently determined.

Of all the fools that roam the earth, the one that wears the blue ribbon as the biggest fool of all is the boy who will not go to school because he wants to go into business. His only competitor for first prize is the girl who leaves school to get married.

GINGER OR JINJA

Somehow Jinja seems to amuse people, as the name of a place, says a writer in Blackwood, at least he finds that when you speak of it to anyone unfamiliar with the place, he or she usually laughs and says, "Jinja? How do you spell it?" Yet Jinja is far from a joke, on a still night in the great heat, when there is a steep hill to climb; then indeed one is apt to wish that the little bungalows were not so far above the little pier that thrusts out into the still waters of the great Victoria Nyanza. It was from Jinja that the journey was made to Rejaf, and we are given a picture of the country through which Andrew Balfour, C.M.G., passed to the source of the Nile. "The sward slopes gently to the west to the gorge where the Nile has its birth, where it leaps into being amongst black rocks, and spray, and cormorants and countless fish—where gliding from the mighty lake it gathers force and impetus—when penned between high banks it takes a river's form, and encounters the first of its many barricades, plunges over and across it. It is a wonderful sight, this birthplace of the Nile, wonderful as viewed from Busoga, as one journeys from Jinja."

B.C. WILL IGNORE FEDERAL GAME LAWS

Vancouver, Sept. 7.—British Columbia game authorities will ignore a set of game regulations promulgated from Ottawa in a bulletin of June 20. Hon. J. W. DeB. Farris, attorney-general, telegraphed the minister of the interior at Ottawa that the migratory birds regulations passed by the Dominion would conflict with the British Columbia ones and are less stringent. Official notices sent to game wardens and provincial police by the Dominion have been ordered cancelled and destroyed by the provincial authorities. Federal regulations allow 250 ducks per season to each hunter. Provincial regulations cut these to 150. British Columbia regulations prohibit the use of a pump gun, which is allowed by the Dominion.

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

To the People of Canada

THERE are many things which you need not buy unless you choose. But footwear is not among them. You must have shoes. From the standpoint of your health, as well as for comfort and appearance, good shoes are a necessity. And that fact alone places upon the manufacturer of shoes a responsibility which he must at all times appreciate.

That responsibility to the Canadian public is shared by the 158 manufacturers of shoes in Canada, from whom you buy nearly $50,000,000 worth of footwear every year.

The fact that we have built up an industry of such magnitude is the best evidence that we do appreciate this responsibility. One may think that our responsibility ends when we have produced footwear of honest value and sincere workmanship, and have placed it on the shelf of the retail store where it is accessible to you. That is one essential service which our industry is called upon to render.

But we cannot dismiss our responsibility quite so easily. We believe that we should do more than that.

Good shoes are of such daily importance that we ought to make public certain facts and conditions which govern the quality of the product we make, and the value which you receive for your money. We ought to point out clearly, the part which you play, and the influence which you exercise, in establishing those conditions. We should urge upon you, your own responsibility in the matter, and show you just how you can help to maintain the quality of the footwear which we offer you.

This is the first advertisement of a series which will be devoted to that purpose.

¶ Canada produces footwear of every desirable type, and of standard quality in all grades. When you buy Made in Canada Footwear you are assured, at fair prices always, of the utmost that modern skill can produce in Comfort, Service and Style.

SHOE MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

TOURISTS DELIGHTED

By J. F. Spalding

As stated in one of these columns about three weeks ago, I wrote to the C.P.R. Co. about their neglect of this part of the country and promised to publish my letter and their reply as soon as I received it. This came to hand the other day and both are given at the conclusion of this article. It is to be hoped that they will carry out their promise and give a little more publicity for this part in their subsequent literature.

Owing to the gasoline shortage in Washington, Oregon and California the tourist travel from those points has not come up to expectations, but from other points it has been beyond them, and the best part of it all is, that there has not been a single exception to admiration of our scenery and roads. I have only met a small proportion of those who have gone through here, but those I have met have all been very enthusiastic about them and have said that they intended to boost for this part on their return. There is little doubt that it is the opinion of them all and this means a great increase next season.

It is getting a little late now, but the season is far from ended as indicated by the result of some articles which I had in two of the prairie papers recently. There have been several enquiries from parties starting from there during this month, who have read them.

A lot of them have been stopping over for some fishing. I have taken several of them out and fortunately they have had pretty fair luck. In one instance especially, I took a party from Tacoma down to the South Fork. He happened to be a very experienced angler and said that he had fished most of the streams in Oregon and Washington, but the day's sport I showed him was the best he had ever had, not in respect to number, but in size. He caught 11, not one of them would be less than three-quarters of a pound, and the last one he caught was a two and a half pounder. I don't think I ever saw a more tickled man in my life as he was when he landed it. He says that he intends to come again next year and bring several others with him.

So many people have asked me during the last two or three years why I did not put out a souvenir book of views, and especially has this been so lately. To get up a thing of this kind is a very expensive proposition and I have never been able to afford to take the chance. Anything less than an edition of three thousand copies would make the selling price high and they would not sell very fast in consequence. The requests for them lately have been so frequent that I have decided to get one out provided that I have guarantees for at least two thousand copies at 50c each. This is the exact amount that the first two thousand will cost me, viz., $1000, and as the number will about fill the requirements locally I shall have to depend upon chance to dispose of the remainder. So far as it turning out a financial success, I do not look for that. If I break even I shall be satisfied. I figure that these will be sent to all quarters of the globe and be extremely good publicity for this community. The size of the book will be eight by twelve inches. The cuts will be the best procurable half tones six by eight inches in size. The whole thing will be of the best quality, there will be 14 pictures, and these will be the best ones I have, all new ones and taken especially for this book. Before the final selection is made they will be submitted to the publicity committee and they will be given the final decision as to which pictures shall be used. Perhaps I had better say right here, that the Board of Trade have absolutely no connection with this book, but as it is to be truly representative of this community I thought that it might be more so if their opinion were asked. My representative will be calling on people here for their orders in advance and directly he has orders for 2000 the contract for the production of the book will be let to the Free Press. So now it is up to you, if you really do want to have it. This will be your opportunity and a good one to help boost the town. I do not think that there is much doubt that the 2000 will be ordered, and if I am right, the book will be out by about the end of next month or early in November, in plenty of time to send away for Christmas. I might say that your orders will not be payable until the book is delivered. All I want now is your signature that you will take a certain number of copies. Orders can be left in the studio by those who are not seen by the representative. In conclusion I want to state that there will not be a single advertisement of any kind in the book; neither will there be any pictures of streets or buildings. It will be entirely scenic and of scenes taken directly from the automobile roads, of the river and mountains, including perhaps two of my best pictures of Elko Canyon, two of Crow's Nest Mountain and Lake, one of Bull River Canyon, etc. I propose to call the book either "Picturesque Fernie" or "Picturesque Fernie District." I would like to have suggestions in this respect from anyone feeling inclined to make them.

August 16, 1920.

J. M. Gibbon, Esq.,
General Publicity Agent C.P.R.
Montreal.

Dear Sir—This Board of Trade is very much concerned at the apparent indifference of your Company in respect to the many delightfully attractive features of this district of British Columbia as inducements for tourist travel, and are particularly desirous to bring same to your notice in the endeavor to have you include it in your subsequent advertising.

The writer, after close scrutiny during an automobile tour which embraced the whole of the Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia, also the States of Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California in which he drove considerably over 100,000 miles, is convinced that nowhere in the whole of North America is there to be found a section so replete with places of interest reached by splendid roads as the District of South Eastern British Columbia, and especially that part between Fernie and Elko. Throughout the territory I have driven there is certainly nothing to compare with that drive, and many tourists who have driven through the Alps have said that this is the best they have seen.

We understand that Lake Windermere Camp has been established principally for motor tourists, yet in your literature not a word is said about the attractiveness of the drive through this district to reach the camp, and neither does it appear on the map contained in your booklet. Naturally you wish to make this camp as attractive as possible. You will only do this by routing people to or from it by the most attractive routes. On my travels I made a study of tourist requirements, their impressions, opinions, etc., and almost without exception, more was said about the drive to any particular place than about the place itself. This was particularly noticeable in California, where it is necessary to make long drives through comparatively uninteresting scenery to reach the places of particular interest. In my own case I certainly should have derived considerably more enjoyment from my visit to them had I anticipated a more enjoyable drive back than I knew was before me.

The Banff-Windermere road will not be opened for tourist travel until 1922. Mr. Wardle, who has this road under his personal charge, informs me that there will be no possibility of cars getting through before the Fall of next year as the road will only be roughed out by then. This means, even to the most optimistic, 1922. In the meantime there is no possibility of a tourist by motor reaching Lake Windermere Camp without returning over the same road unless by shipping from Golden to Lake Louise. The average man objects to doing either of these, but if the endless attractions we have through here were pointed out to him in your literature, I feel sure that many who are hesitating about it until the Banff-Windermere road is finished, will come during next year. I say this without hesitation, because as manager of this Board's Free Information Bureau for Tourists, I have already sent a considerable number up to that camp who have called here on their return and expressed themselves most enthusiastically. Some of them have shipped from Golden to Banff and come down through Calgary, but most have simply driven up and back. There has been no exception to the opinion that the 20 miles between Elko and here is by far the most beautiful portion of the drive.

Our Tourists Register has a column for "Remarks," some of which I have copied out and enclose for your perusal in the hope that they will enable you to realize what tourists really do think of this district, and why we consider that your company in neglecting us is also neglecting opportunities for itself, which if taken proper advantage of would redound to our mutual advantage.

In conjunction with the Associated Boards of Trade of South Eastern British Columbia and individually, this Board has spent a considerable amount of money during the last two years in advertising this section of our Province, and hope to be able to continue to do so, as we are convinced that South Eastern British Columbia will eventually become the motoring playground of North America, not only on account of our scenic attractions and better roads, but because Americans have been confined to America for their touring during the last six years and by now have seen most of what their country has to offer and are now looking for fresh attractions. These we have in superior abundance and your company can, if they will, be of very material assistance in bringing them.

Last year when we were preparing our booklet, Mr. Randolph Bruce of Invermere told us that you were willing to supply us with 10,000 copies of the section of the map (enclosed herewith) in your booklet "Resorts in the Canadian Rockies," but owing to a shortage of paper it is printed on, you could not let us have them in time, consequently the matter was dropped and we prepared another map.

This Board intends to prepare another booklet shortly and although we shall have a road map in it, we should appreciate it very much if you will supply us with the maps you promised then for inclusion with it. We need hardly say that the booklets will have a judicious distribution chiefly in American cities and cannot fail to be valuable advertising to you also.

I shall be glad to supply you with authentic road data and complete descriptions of all places of interest in this part of the Province and be of any assistance I can in enabling you to give us fair representation in your subsequent advertising matter appertaining to South Eastern British Columbia.

Yours very truly,
J. Fred Spalding,
Publicity Agent Fernie Board of Trade.

Montreal, Sept. 1, 1920.

J. Fred Spalding, Esq.,
Publicity Agent Fernie Board of Trade, Fernie, B.C.

Dear Sir—In reply to your of Aug. 16th.

As the camp was built at the cost of the railway, the primary object was naturally to induce rail traffic, although those who come by automobile are naturally always welcome. For that reason it was only natural that chief attention should be drawn to rail connections. Folder to which you refer was got up at very short notice, but in the next edition we will be glad to show the road connection as well as the railway connection with Fernie and say more about the Crow's Nest route to the Lake Windermere district.

I quite agree with you that the Crow's Nest route is highly picturesque, and we have been endeavoring to get more people to go that way through our publication entitled "Southern Lake District of British Columbia."

With reference to the section of the panoramic map contained in our "Resorts in the Rockies" folder. If your request is on behalf of the publication of the Associated Boards of Trade of South Eastern British Columbia, I will get an estimate from the printers and find out whether we can get an appropriation for the supply .The cost is quite considerable and deliveries very uncertain, owing to the paper situation, so that I should have to know the date on which the maps would be required before I could get a definite decision.

Yours very truly,
J. M. Gibbon,
General Publicity Agent.

Road Supt. McDonald informs us that the road to McBain's Lake, near Jaffray, has been opened for the use of cars. He also states that he will shortly put a big gang of men at work on the Morrissey Hill road in order to widen it out and make it safe for travellers.

The road around the Morrissey Hill is not in very good shape and the people of Fernie should make an appeal for a special appropriation to be devoted to widening the road so that two cars will be able to pass. Motor traffic has become so heavy of late that it is dangerous for anyone but an expert to drive a car between Fernie and Elko. The Board of Trade should get busy with the government at once.

According to the Searchlight the O.B.U. are going to call another big convention in Calgary with the object of declaring war on the U.M.W. of A. checkoff. The agitating parasites, such as P. M. Christophers, Phillips, Lawson, etc., find it exceedingly hard to gather in the O.B.U. dues from men who are now paying into the U.M.W. of A. and they are determined to put up a hard fight to crush the checkoff before they are compelled to return to honest work.

Tom Richards, ex-M.P. for an English constituency for some time, visited Fernie over the week-end and addressed meetings of working men and also lectured in the Orpheum theatre to an appreciative audience of men and women interested in the coming plebiscite upon prohibition. Mr. Richards was a very effective speaker, driving each point he made in favor of the continuance of the Prohibition Act home in a most conclusive manner. He gave his hearers much valuable information regarding the manner in which the campaign is being carried on in the province and at the close of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was extended to the speaker and to the proprietor of the theatre, Mr. Johnson, for the free use of the hall. Dr. Garner presided and made it quite plain that he was uncompromisingly in favor of the continuance of the act.

PALMY DAYS OF PHOENIX

Under the caption "Phoenix Sings Her Swan Song," Elmer Hall, editor of the Trail News, writes the following appreciation of the Boundary's famous mining camp:

Much has been written regarding the passing of the mining camp of Phoenix. Some writers seem to gloat over the fact that her glories are fading. The writer, probably from sentimental reasons, views the passing of Phoenix with a tinge of sadness. We saw the rise and fall of this camp and we know her for what she was—one of the greatest copper camps in the west. We spent a part of our youth within her confines and the imprint of those early associations is still upon us. Wild, rough and openhearted were the early settlers in Phoenix and no one went hungry. The man with money could get any kind of game he was looking for and the man without money found remunerative employment and prospered. The latchstring was always on the outside and you did not have to go out with a lantern in search of hospitality.

Phoenix was not much different from the ordinary western mining town. There were many saloons for there were many patrons and the red light district was large and prosperous. During the balmy days there were nearly as many people on the streets at night as there were during the day, and the resorts held high revel. Easy marks rattled their coin, "soiled doves" in short skirts passed the champagne, while rough miners and prospectors shook their No. 11 brogans to the dulcet strains of the tuneful pas-ma-la.

Phoenix was one of the last mining camps in the west to carry the real western flavor. She had the real western mining town tone and there are many of us who do not relish the thought that she is being dismantled and relegated to the scrap heap, but such is the case. Her fine homes are being deserted, her business blocks are being torn down and moved away, where found profitable to do so, railroads are tearing out their tracks and the big Granby works are being dismantled and stripped of everything of value.

The writer, with W. B. Wilcox, founded the Phoenix Pioneer, in the young days of the camp, and the difficulties we experienced in getting the plant into Phoenix will long be remembered. The first paper was printed on a Washington hand press, but later we bought an old Country Campbell cylinder press and the installation of that old cylinder press nearly cost the writer his life as well as his chances of a becoming hereafter. While the mud in front of the Pioneer office was estimated to be only four feet deep, the team hauling the drum of the press failed to find a comfortable footing even with their hind legs and were fast disappearing from view when assistance arrived, and with much rope, men and a lot of profanity the horses were brought to the surface, resuscitated and finally placed on firm ground. The wagon, with two wheels on solid ground had tipped and the big drum rolled off into the bog. Getting the big cylinder out of the mud and into the office is a subject we do not like to dwell upon.

The mines of Phoenix made the Granby company rich, built up Grand Forks, and the entire surrounding country and attracted the eyes of the mining world to Southern British Columbia. The Granby company made a clear profit from Phoenix ores of about thirteen million dollars before it suspended operations. The ore was low grade but was self-fluxing and easily handled. The lode was in blanket formation and notwithstanding the huge sums spent in diamond drilling new bodies were never located and the camp was doomed. The Granby company had in the meantime developed properties at Anyox and are now making millions in their new field of endeavor.

The passing of Phoenix is but a natural consequence. It lived twenty years, which is about the average life of a mining camp, though many die younger and few live longer. While Phoenix lacked the wild lawlessness that prevailed in the Black Hills, Virginia City and many of the greater camps, she was a great camp just the same.

"REPRESENTING" LABOR

Mr. Smillie and Mr. Robert Williams do not represent the English people, not even by any means the "Labor" section of it. Those who are inclined to give ear to the wild words of these firebrands should reflect that not one of the Allied governments, and least of all our own, can have the smallest incentive to plunge into warlike operations for ambitious or aggressive objects. All they want is to maintain the settlement of Europe bought by English blood and English valor; to insist that it shall not be set at naught by a ferocious militarism, masquerading under other names. In that enterprise they are entitled to receive national support, and we refuse to believe that they will ask for it in vain.—London Daily Telegraph.

ORIGINAL WINNIPEG KIDDIES COMING TO THE GRAND

Canadians who doubt that their own country can produce the best stage talent on the globe are due for a big surprise when they see the Original Winnipeg Kiddies who have smashed scores of records in both Canada and the United States—and whose history is more astounding and unique than any other show in existence today.

The performance given by these kiddies is a riot of color and comedy, of melody and mirth. You forget all about them being kids after the first five minutes, and you settle down to enjoy a show that has broken records made by big New York successes.

These kiddies started out when they were about seven years old. Their aim was to raise funds for patriotic purposes. That was in 1915. They played in the villages and small towns, undergoing many hardships without a whimper, and working for years for nothing. In this work, in which they raised thousands upon thousands of dollars for war widows, war orphans and like needs, they gave freely—one of them losing an eye, and two others narrowly escaping death by drowning.

They grew in numbers and talent until they began touring the big cities. When the United States entered the war, the Kiddies were requested to assist American recruiting missions, and made a couple of successful tours of the American northwest, also playing the army cantonments by request of Washington, and creating a veritable furore. They were feted and dined and entertained by governors of states and many other high dignitaries, and always the theatres were packed to the doors. In one big city several business men paid $100 a seat, knowing that the funds were going to recruiting purposes. But the complete history of this remarkable troupe would require many columns of space. They are now on a commercial basis.

NATIVE HAWAIIANS COMING TO THE GRAND

Next Thursday night, Sept. 16, Hockwald's Famous Native Hawaiians are to appear at the Grand theatre. This organization has toured Canada and the United States for the past five years and have met with wonderful success each season. They will bring to us the same plaintive, haunting melodies that are sung, string-picked, crooned and chanted in the native huts of Hawaii. The music breathes the langour of the tropics, the mummur of the night winds in the palms, the "swish-swish" of the waves at Waikiki. There is a melodious sweetness in the strains of the ukelele, steel guitar and laropatch found in no other music in the world. Its soft carressing notes go straight to the heart. Besides the native songs and dances the company will render many of our own popular song hits.

GET RICH QUICK

There are many inventions which are simplicity itself. Almost daily there appears at the patent offices some little article that makes you wonder how it was that you didn't think of the same thing yourself. Take for instance the opener on a tin of shoe polish. What is it? Nothing more than a piece of bent tin, rivetted on to the side of the shoe polish tin. One twist and you have the lid off. A simple device, yet it made money for the inventor. When Colonel J. Rufus Wallingford and Horace G. Daw landed in Battlesburg they had nothing but a few dollars and plenty of nerve. Out of these they made themselves and everybody millionaires, and they did it on a simple invention, the covered carpet tack. How it all came about is told in the next Juvenile Stock Co. show, "Get-Rich-Wallingford." Watch for dates.

WHERE THEIR HEART IS

The faith and the sympathy of Mr. Henderson—who by the way has just been appointed President of the International Executive — and of the other signatories of the labor manifesto — evidently go with Moscow rather than with London. They believe the unsupported word of Lenin and Trotzky in preference to that of the governments of their own country and the other Allied powers, although this is backed by proof which has only to be accepted. They take the part of Russian tyranny and aggression against free Poland, engaged in a desperate struggle to retain her soil and preserve her liberties. They are also evidently prepared to back up Germany in resisting any measures that may have to be adopted for clearing the accesses for sending men and munitions to the help of the Poles.—London Morning Post.

John Oman Was Worried Over Wife's Poor Health — Is Grateful To Tanlac

"My wife has taken only four bottles of Tanlac so far, but her improvement is simply remarkable," said John Oman, 9610 100-A Street, Edmonton, Alberta, a carpenter, working for the city of Edmonton.

"For the past four years," said Mr Oman, "my wife had suffered from a terrible stomach trouble. She lost weight until she was scarcely more than a frame and was so weak she could barely get around. About a year ago I was forced to send her to a hospital, where she was operated on for gall stones. She stayed there two months, and after coming out, instead of getting better her stomach took a turn for the worse. She ate hardly anything and when she did she suffered dreadfully from the formation of gas. She complained of severe pains in her chest and a terrible choking sensation all the time and had great difficulty in breathing. She wes extremely nervous and could get but little sleep and always in the mornings felt tired and worn out. She suffered a great deal from constipation, would have a headache just about all the time and always had a bad taste in her mouth.

"She tried just about every kind of medicine we could hear of, but nothing did her any good, and she had become so badly run down I was greatly worried about her condition. Finally a neighbor, who lives just across the street from us, suggested that she try Tanlac. Well, sir, it began to help her almost at once and today she is in better health than she has been for years. Her appetite has improved, she eats just anything she wants and is bothered so little with gas she hardly notices it. The pains have gone out of her chest and she never has any trouble in breathing. The headaches have left her entirely, her nerves are in fine condition and she goes to sleep almost as soon as her head touches the pillow. She is never troubled with constipation, she has gained several pounds in weight and has regained her strength so that she can do her housework with the greatest ease. My wife and myself are so grateful for what Tanlac has done for her we never miss an opportunity to say a good word for it."

THE NEAR VIEW OF BOLSHEVISM

While in Canada certain labor organizations are expressing sympathy with the Russian Soviet, it is well that it should be known that real radical labor men from Great Britain, who visited Russia as members of a deputation chosen by British labor organizations do not return with enthusiasm for the Bolshevistic movement. Personal acquaintance with the system make them hostile to it. It is better to accept their view than that of the long distance agitators of the O.B.U. and other organizations whose knowledge of Bolshevism is that it is revolutionary, and so they are with it.

We read in a press dispatch from Geneva that Tom Shaw described the Soviet system as he had seen it on his recent visit to Russia. He said: "There is no proletarian distatorship in Russia, no freedom, no democracy, only the autocratic rule of a small group. The workers have no liberty, They must work where directed and at what they are told." He refused, he said, to use mild language or to hand bouquets to men who threatened to hang Herr Scheidemann from the lamppost, called Mr. Ramsay McDonald a traitor to the working classes, and denounced other workers' leaders as the bourgeois tools of capitalists. He could not understand the mentality of men who were willing to plunge their own country into bloodshed and misery to please Lenin.—Lethbridge Herald.

BRITISH VITAL STATISTICS

The vital statistics for Great Britain furnished by the British Registrar-General are most instructive and of great interest. Taking the prewar year 1913 for the purposes of comparison the effect on the British population of war's devastation is plainly evident. The birth-rate in 1913 was 24.1 and the death rate 13.8 —a "survival rate" of 10.3, while infant mortality was 109 per thousand. In 1914 there was a falling off in the survival rate to 9.8, but also a slight decrease in infant mortality, to 105 per thousand. Then came a big jump in the death-rate for 1915, to 15.7, and still further decline in the birth-rate to 21.9—the survival rate falling to 6.2, infant mortality rising at the same time to 110. This reveals the merciless hand of the destroyer in a terrible manner. In 1916 bith rate declined further to 20.9, but the death-rate was also a little lower at 14.4—the survival rate improving a shade to 6.5, while infant mortality was reduced to 91. In 1917 the birth rate shrank alarmingly -- to 17.9, while the death rate was stationary at 14.4, the survival rate being only 3.5 and infant mortality 97 per thousand. In 1918 the birth rate was a fraction lower still— 17.7 —and the death rate rose to 17.6—the survival rate therefore being 0.1. Infant mortality remained at 97. The full figures are not obtainable for 1919, but the provisional figures for the birth rate show a slight increase to 18.5, and infant mortality showing a gratifying diminution to 89 per thousand. Though there was no active warfare in 1919 to deplete the British population, it is feared that the influenza epidemic in the first quarter raised the death rate above the birth rate. The infant mortality figures, however, show a remarkable improvement over other years. In the first quarter the figure was 149; in the third quarter—which used to be known as the "deadly third quarter" on account of the summer diseases prevalent amongst infants—the mortality rate was only 70 per thousand, the lowest ever recorded for any quarter of any year, and this notwithstanding the fact that the weather was very hot and dry, and particularly favorable to the prevalence of infantile Summer diarrhoea. It is claimed, on this showing, that that disease has now been definitely mastered in Great Britain.

THE LEGION OF HONOR

We often hear about the Legion of Honor, the French order established in 1802, but we sometimes forget that each President of the Republic is ex officio grand master of the order. This was in the consulship of Napoleon and the first consul was by the terms of the decree "Chief of the Legion of Honor and president of the council of administration." The order was confirmed by the Orleans and the Bourbon princes, Louis XVIII taking the title of "Chief and Protector." With the advent of Louis Napoleon, later to become Napoleon III, the order was continued and in 1852 a decree was signed wherein the Prince-President was declared as "Sovereign Chief and Grand Master of the Legion of Honor," and so the President of the French Republic is qualified today.

These words gave rise to a discussion in parliament, a sub-committee holding its first meeting in 1909 at the Ministry of Justice. It was proposed to suppress the word "sovereign" as contrary to the spirit of the republic and the speaker that raised the question called the word "dangereux". It was argued against this contention that the adjective might be "a little archaic," but did no harm to anyone and besides should be retained with a view to foreign opinion. Finally, by an 11 to 3 vote, the sub-committee proposed to eliminate "sovereign," but this recommendation has never been given force and the grand master of the order is still its sovereign chief.

The grand master's collar, which M. Deschanel will wear as President, was made in 1881, by the Jeweler Lemoine. It is of handsome design of chiselled gold. The medallions enclosed in the double chain bear some of them the names of presidents that have worn it; neither Mr. Thiers nor the Marshal Del Mac Mahon's name appears on it, as the collar was not then in existence in its present shape.

SINN FEIN UTTERANCES

There does not appear to be anything sensational in the Sinn Fein documents captured by the police. By them DeValera is authorized to spend half a million dollars in the election campaign for the Presidency of the United States government. The money was raised by DeValera in the United States, and these resolutions are merely a formal authorization to him to spend it there. He certainly gave his subscribers some amusement for their expenditure. He tried both Republican and Democratic parties, and he failed to get an Irish plank into the platform of either. And he got into dispute with the American-Irish, who want all the money subscribed spent in the United States. — Westminster Gazette.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. Where sub-purchasers do not claim whole original parcel, purchase price due and taxes may be distributed proportionately over whole area. Applications must be made by May 1, 1920.

GRAZING.

Grazing Act, 1919, for systematic development of livestock industry provides for grazing districts and range administration under Commissioner. Annual grazing permits issued based on numbers ranged; priority for established owners. Stock-owners may form Associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits for settlers, campers or travellers, up to ten head.

MIDSUMMER DELINEATORS FOR DISTRIBUTION

COAL CREEK NOTES

Our local leather chasers journeyed to Blairmore on Sunday, contesting for the Cooper Cup. Blairmore won; score 7—0.

Coal Creek depot presented an animated appearance on Monday when the rising generation of the camp, accompanied by their parents, assembled thereon enroute to Morrissey as the guests of the management committee of the Methodist church. On arrival at their destination the adults of the party prepared a substantial lunch for the young folks. After the inner man had been attended to a series of games and races was arranged. The successful contestants received prizes. A baseball game between the boys and girls resulted in a draw. The successful contestants in the married ladies race were: 1 Mrs. A. Atkinson, 2 Mrs. G. Larmont, 3 Mrs. G. Smith. Ice cream was served in abundance. Mr. Dicken of Fernie conveyed parties to the townsite free of charge for which the committee extend thanks. We are asked to again record thanks to all who assisted in any way towards what will be a red letter day in the annals of the local Methodist church, and we are glad to report that a small balance was left from the funds collected. We wish to compliment Geo. Larmont on his culinary abilities, everybody voting the tea and coffee which he prepared to be like mother used to make.

We are asked to announce that the Loyal Order of Moose are holding the first social of the season in Hawthorne's hall on Thursday, Sept. 16. Bass' orchestra will provide music. Refreshments will be provided. The time is 7.30 p.m. and the price, members and wives 25c each; non-members 50c. As the Moose are famous for the socials held under their auspices the patrons are assured of a swell time. Local members please govern themselves accordingly.

The school reopened after the summer vacation on Tuesday under the principalship of Mr. Prescott, assisted by Miss Manzer and Miss Foster.

Our local First Aid teams, senior and junior, carried off prizes at the competition held in Fernie on Labor Day. The senior team carried off the silver challenge cup along with the money. The judges complimented both teams on their good work.

Several of our local autoists took advantage of the Labor Day holiday to visit fields and pastures new.

MERINOS, LLAMAS AND ALPACAS

There are plenty of wool-bearing animals in Bolivia, merino sheep in flocks ranging from a few sheep herded by an Indian shepherd to as many as 8000 under a single ownership; llamas, probably about 500,000 of these little cousins of the camel, and at least 200,000 alpacas much like their near relatives, the llamas, but shorter in the legs and endowed with a softer, silkier wool. Yet it is only recently that Bolivia has begun developing a wool industry that reaches out beyond the local consumption of wool for the manufacture of woolen garments worn by the natives and exports the product to foreign markets.

Indian women, weaving in primitive fashion, shawls, ponchos, and other articles of wear, use yearly about 1,000,000 pounds of wool; and Indian men still shear the sheep with pieces of glass or sharpened tin, and so far refuse to be converted to the use of anything so modern as a pair of shears. A few years ago says a recent examiner of the Bolivian sheep and wool situation, a hundred shears were imported, but try as he might the importer could not persuade the shepherds to buy them. Methods, in short, are practically as old as the line of sheep, for the flocks that pasture throughout the highland region are the descendants of the sheep brought into the country by the Spanish conquerors.

MAXIMS OF MARY

The exhortations to love our neighbors was given before apartment houses were built.

Women hate to be called cats, but a grown-up cat could give some of them points on dignity.

The woman is not yet born who does not consider that she has excellent taste in dress.

The people who do most harm in the world are those who have some charming quality to recommend them.

If a woman be not beautiful, accomplished or witty, she may acquire popularity by becoming versed in palm reading or phrenology. Everybody falls for it.

There is a mean streak in human nature which makes us dislike to see our juniors learn easily and quickly that which we attained only by laborious toil.

Under the Soviet system a husband can put off his wife as he would a garment of which he is tired. If he desires a divorce and his wife does not, the husband simply has to wait three months and he is free of her and can marry again, no matter how much justice there is on the woman's side. The couple are put on probation for three months, and so given an opportunity to "patch it up," and then if the husband still wants a divorce it is granted. Where both husband and wife both want a divorce it is granted without any other reason. In short, every social law that is calculated to save women from becoming mere slaves to man's bestial passions has been wiped out in Russia by the Bolshevists.—Nelson News.

An atempt at safe-cracking was made during Tuesday night by someone at the business place of the Cranbrook Meat Market but the would-be safe-blowers failed to make good in their attempt. Entering by the rear of the store, making their way through the door, which was fastened by a heavy wire and bolt, the safe-crackers got busy and broke from the door of the safe the hinges completely, as well as the combination. About $1400 was in the safe, but the robbers failed to remove the door and must have been frightened away by passers by. Nothing was left that would afford a clue for the police to work on, and the robbers may be successful in making their get-away. The safe was wrecked completely as far as the hinges are concerned and the combination as well, this part of the job looking very much as if an expert at small safe-cracking had been on the job. The police are of the opinion the parties who attempted the job are young fellows who attempted a similar job some time ago at the King Lumber Co. plant. They are certain they have a good clue and expect ere long to have the would-be robbers under arrest. — Cranbrook Herald.

ASSOCIATED BOARDS TO MEET

(Special to Free Press)

Invermere, B.C., Sept. 17.—The Secretary of the Associated Boards of Trades of South Eastern British Columbia, comprising those of Fernie, Cranbrook, Creston, Windermere District and Golden, advises that the executive have decided to hold their second annual convention at Fernie on Wednesday, Sept. 29, the time of meeting to be after the arrival of the train from the west. It is expected that a large number of delegates will be present representing the various Boards mentioned, as matters of great importance are to be brought under discussion. Amongst other motions submitted to the Secretary to date are ones relative to the sitting of the Railway Commission at Nelson; the possibility of urging the Provincial government to start some irrigation projects throughout the district or to take over some of those already established and push them along; another asking that the Provincial government mark the main trails with standard road signs in conformity with the signs used by the Dominion Trails Association; one urging them to protect the timber along the main highway so that the scenic grandeur may not be impaired; still another asking for the formation of a Land Registry Office for the District of East Kootenay; and ones petitioning the Dominion government to rush the completion of the Banff-Windermere road, and the extension of the telephone system from Windermere to Wasa. An effort will also be made to make some changes in the constitution as it at present exists.

PRICKING OF O. B. U. BUBBLE

To what shifts the members of the O. B. U. are driven to support and keep life in what is a fast waning cause is demonstrated by the last means employed in the bogus announcement that the delegates sitting in conference in Calgary had received a cable message from the redoubtable Robert Smillie urging them to join in a sympathetic strike with the miners in Great Britain on September 25th, the date proposed overseas. Like many another bubble of the O. B. U., this one has been pricked in the denial given to the statement by Mr. Smillie himself in an authentic cable message.

The sham announcement of the O. B. U. was a bid for sympathy under nothing short of false pretences. In so doing the position of the organization cannot be improved. It cannot hope to thrive and flourish with shams, and incidentally, this reliance on sham in the way of the bogus message indicates the show of the whole movement.

One of the delegates to the O. B. U. convention said, it is stated, that the O. B. U. purse was well drained, and that the financial statement "showed there was a deficit of $11." From this it may be opined that on the principle of "any port in a storm" the O. B. U. conference seized on the idea of the bogus message. It may have been regarded a smart move, but the O.B.U. reckoned without their host Robert Smillie. However, with this vain attempt to bolster their cause and at the same time replenish their treasury, the O. B. U. leaders have been "hoist with their own petard," in the unfavorable impression such tactics cannot but create.

Robert Smillie, as one of the radical extremists in the Labor camp in Great Britain, may be guilty of many things in his creed of direct action, but he appears to have the discretion of steering clear of the ranks of the O.B.U. and has lost no time in denying the statement himself that he sent the message attributed to him, and so disassociating himself in the eye of the public from any truck or trade with the O.B.U. In this Smillie has shown the better part, extremist though he be.—Lethbridge Herald.

SHORTHOUSE—FLETCHER

The church of St. Laurence, Measham, to Mr. John William Short-ceremony on Tuesday of last week, when a large company of friends assembled for the wedding of Miss Ida Olive, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fletcher, of Measham, to Mr. John William Shorthouse, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shorthouse, of Fernie, British Columbia. The bride, who was led to the altar by her father, was daintily attired in a dress of ivory crepe meteor, with an overskirt of net embroidered with sequins. The bridal veil was of choice Brussels lace, a heirloom of the family. The bridesmaids, Miss Ethel Fletcher (sister) and Miss Evelyn D. Castter (friend of the bride) wore dresses of Wedgewood blue crepe-de-chine. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. Hewetson, M.A., Vicar, and Mr. Lewen, who officiated at the organ, played Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," as the happy couple left the church. The bride and bridegroom were the recipients of a large number of beautiful and useful presents from a wide circle of friends the bridegroom's present to the bride being a gold brooch set with pearls and emeralds. After the ceremony a reception was held on the lawn of The Wharf, kindly lent by Mr. John Stanfield. Mr. and Mrs. Shorthouse left Measham on Wednesday for Sleaford, where they will spend their honeymoon. They expect to sail for Canada on Sept. 15.—Burton Chronicle.

FERNIE BEATS COLEMAN 3-0

Fernie travelled to Coleman Saturday last to play in the semi-finals of the Cooper Cup, with the result as above indicated. Fernie was at full strength realizing that they were up against an aggregation of footballers. Coleman also played at full strength and the game from beginning to end was full of thrills for the Fernie rooters. Fernie lost the toss and played with the sun in their faces and the wind partially against them. Joe Riley, centre forward, scored the first goal ten minutes from the kick-off. It was placed from Thornton and Riley made sure of it. Coleman immediately started to press but nothing resulted as the Fernie defence was in rare form. Joe Riley scored two more goals before the teams crossed over. Coleman wasn't a bit downhearted for they went at it hammer and tongs to try and even up but it was no use, as Fernie kept breaking up combinations and the whistle blew for full time with no further scoring.

Jimmy Wilson refereed the game and it was one of the cleanest played in the Pass this year. Coleman did not seem to play the game they are used to playing but nobody seemed to be able to say what was the matter. While Fernie was confident of winning, they counted only on a one goal margin. The whole Fernie team playin stellar form. The Coleman boys are a real bunch of sports and Fernie hopes to meet them again some other time.

Blairmore and Fernie play the final game in the Cooper Cup competition on Sept. 19 at Fernie at the north end grounds. Kick-off at 3.30. Don't miss it.

O.B.U. DOES NOT AFFECT NOVA SCOTIA MINERS

Sydney, N.S., Sept. 13. — Robert Baxter, president of the U.M.W. District No. 26, disclosed today that he had no intimation of the action taken by the O. B. U. in Calgary toward a sympathetic strike with the old country miners. "Nova Scotia miners, for the most part are not in the least affected by the attitude of the O. B. U. Only word from the U. M. W. headquarters in Indianapolis will bring out the men," he said.

GOV.-GENERAL HERE FOR DAY

The Governor-General and party, who are touring Western Canada, have arranged to spend Sunday, Oct. 10, in Fernie. They will arrive by way of the Kootenay Central, leaving Golden at 9 a.m. on the 8th, arriving at Cranbrook at 5 p.m.; leaving Cranbrook 1 p.m. on the 9th, arriving at Fernie at 4 p.m. They will remain here until Monday morning, when they will leave for the east.

No arrangements have yet been made for the entertainment of the vice-regal party, but the city council and board of trade will doubtless take the matter in hand at an early date.

LABOR RESPONSIBILITIES

The speeches of the Canadian Labor leaders on Labor Day, so far as they have been reported, indicate a wholesome spirit. As a whole, they laid stress upon the obtaining of full rights for Labor, but they also emphasized the new responsibilities falling on Labor because of its increasing economic power. Perhaps the most effective bit of warning given to members of Labor unions was that in which these members were admonished to take full part in the conduct of the union business, and not to leave it to professional Labor leaders. The business of a Trade Union is the business of every member, not merely of an executive committee, or of a business agent. The reason so much agitation and trouble is found within the ranks of British Trade Unionism is found in the lethargy of the private member. Labor leaders, by the nature of their position, strive to hold attention and support by constantly hatching new schemes for "betterment." It is easier for them to point out some new method of attack on an employer, and egg the members on to demanding new concessions, than it is to let affairs run along peaceably. The business of too many Labor leaders is agitation. Already, there are signs that the general public is weary to death of strikes and labor agietations. The 90 per cent of the people who are assailed by higher prices every way they turn find that a large part of the higher prices is caused by excessive Labor union demands. Their revolt has not taken tangible form, because they do not yet know how they can fight back economically. But the farmer has discovered a way, and only the helplessness of the middle-class citizen of the cities and towns prevents him from also turning. Carried too far, Labor demands will cause a cessation of markets for commodities, unemployment and hard times. Labor Unionists who, during the last few years have had an unbroken record of success in obtaining concessions need words of caution and counsels of prudence, and that so many Labor Day speeches were of this character is a good sign that relations between Labor and the community at large will be on a solid, sensible basis in Canada.

COUNTY COURT SESSIONS

The fall term of the County Court opened here last week with a three day session. The case which occupied the major portion of the time was an action brought by G. Cody against Jang Yee et al for payment of contract price for remodelling a building in Chinatown here. F. C. Lawe appeared for the plaintiff and D. Mitchell for the defendants. Judgment was reserved.

An appeal was entered by A. F. Haddad against a judgment from the small debts court in favor of one J. Richards, a workman who had been employed on the new Haddad building. After the evidence of the respondent had been taken, however, the matter was settled out of court by the parties.

On Tuesday next His Honor Judge Thompson will hold a special sittings when the appeal of W. Kerr from a conviction under the Prohibition Act will be heard. In the lower court the penalty inflicted was a fine of $75.00 and intoxicating liquor to the estimated value of between $12,000 and $15,000 was confiscated. The appeal is to quash this conviction and also for restitution of the liquor seized. A. B. Macdonald, of Cranbrook, and F. C. Lawe, of Fernie, are counsel for the appellant, while it is expected that the Deputy Attorney General will be here and handle the case for the Crown.

Cranbrook Courier: The pool room operated by John Armour on Baker street was visited by the police late Saturday night, and several men were arrested and charged with gambling. One man, it is alleged, claims to have lost a neat roll in the game. The proprietor was absent at the time, the place being in charge of a man named Ernie Dalberg, who made his getaway but was apprehended at Fernie and brought to this city last night. The charge laid against the place was keeping open after hours and permitting gambling. One of the men arrested when the place was entered by the police, was fined $0 and two others $30 each. Just what will be the result of the charges when Dalberg is given a hearing remains to be seen.

12. It is understood and agreed that the date of commencement of delivery of electrical energy is dependent upon the delivery of machinery by the manufacturers with whom the Company will place orders. The Company expects to commence delivery of electrical energy to the Consumer by the 30th day of June, 1921. In the event of delivery of electrical energy to the Consumer not being commenced by the 31st day of December, 1921, the Consumer shall thereupon have the option of cancelling this Agreement by giving the Company notice in writing at the office of the Company in the City of Fernie aforesaid, and upon the cancellation of this Agreement by the Consumer as aforesaid, the rights of the Company hereunder shall be forfeited.

13. At any time during the tenth year of this Agreement the Company agrees to renew this contract for any period from five to ten years as the Consumer may elect. The Company further agrees to make the Consumer a rate for electric service, upon said renewal of this agreement, which will not be in excess of any rates made by the Company to any other consumer, within one year prior to the expiration of this Agreement, for a similar quantity of electric power to be used for municipal street and commercial lighting and for retail power purposes.

14. This Agreement shall be binding upon the parties hereto and their respective successors and assigns.

THE COAL RATES

(Edmonton Journal)

Under the railway rate decision an increase in the freight rate on coal of from 10 to 20 cents per ton, flat rate according to distance, is authorized. This is not calculated to help along the plans to make Canada independent of American coal supplies by encouraging the use of Canadian products.

But the railway commission's function is simply to fix such rates os operating conditions warrant. If the use of Canadian coal is to be encouraged by a lowering of the rates on that commodity, this will have to be brought about by governmental action, the cost being met out of the public treasury. Of such vital importance is it that the Daminion should not be left at the mercy of American policy—which is likely as not at any time to be changed to that of prohibiting coal exports altogether — that the government should not delay in taking such action.

Coal mining being our second greatest industry, we in Alberta would, of course, like to see such a move made, but it is hardly of as much importance to us as to those provinces which have no coal of their own and the people of which are liable to freeze to death if American supplies should be suddenly shut off and the interprovincial trade has in the meanwhile not been developed to a much greater extent.

DO'S AND DON'TS TO AVOID DISASTER

In view of the present growth of motoring and the consequent increase of road accidents, it is suggested that the following hints should be carefully studied by chauffeurs and exhibited in their garages.

At a cross road do not regard the blowing of your horn as the whole duty of man—or woman. If you blow and carry on the other man may do the same. The coroner will interview the survivor.

Have your argument as to which was the main and which the side road before and not after the accident. Dogmatism is no compensation for a fractured skull.

Never overtake another vehicle upon a corner round which you cannot see. There are easier roads to suicide.

Remember, if you are comng from a byway into a main road, that if you have to turn to the right you will be going with the stream of traffic; if to the left you are cutting dead across it and must be prepared to stop in a yard.

Don't try to show off. The man who drives within a foot of danger may also be within a foot of the grave. In this case a mile is better than a miss.

Drectly you begin to race with another car on the high road you are in danger. Go to the race track if you want to test the efficiency of your engine.

Doctors disagree about the percentage of deaf people, but all admit that it is very large. You may meet one upon a bicycle next time you are out and he will not hear your horn. Nor will he hear you when you visit him in the hospital. It is your business to assume that oid people who pay no attention to your tooting do so because they cannot hear it.

A good driver is one with a wide outlook. He sees the child who is about to run across the street. The other fellow sees nothing but the road ahead of him.

Remember that the stationary car is an abiding souce of danger. Until the end of the world the born imbecile will cross the road behind the back of a car and tell the story to St. Peter. In many cases they do not allow private cars to pass public vehicles which are setting down passengers. The rule is salutary.

On descending a very steep hill, put in your first gear whatever faith you have in your brakes. It is idle to wait for the ditch at the bottom to discover that the hill is dangerous.

When the road is greasy and narrow and you must pass another car at speed, check some distance away. A skid as you pass the other fellow may interest the heirs of both.

A safety mirror on every road vehicle, please!

Do not run up to the back of carts and then jamb on your brakes violently. The man who makes a good average keeps his car going all the time. He does not have to go down a speed owing to violent braking.

Having taken a decision, stick to it. The man who hesitates is lost. Remember that the other driver may be watching your movements and depending upon them.

Never in a narrow road overtake and try to pass another car until the driver is aware of your presence. Men lie under the tombstone who have done this thing.

Remember that courtesy was once a great tradition of the highroad. We should try to maintain its splendid story.

Finally, drive as you expect the other man to do. Then there will be no need to appeal to the insurance companies.

MICHEL NOTES

T. H. Williams, Supt. of Michel colliery, has resumed his duties after a two week holiday, which he spent with Mrs. Williams at the coast.

The team that went to Ladysmith to compete for the cup given by the government for mine rescue work returned tonight, having failed to brings the goods east. J. N. Littler, A. Davies, A. Almond, Hy. Parkinson, Joe Scales and I. Horrocks composed the team, and W. R. Wilson, president and manager of the C.N.P. Coal Co., with his usual liberality, provided the wherewithal for the trip.

Michel football team journeyed to Coleman on Labor Day to carry off some of the big prize money, but instead they got wiped off the map by a score of 5 to 1.

The garden competition in Michel produces much excitement and this year it was very pronounced as flowers and vegetables were of the best grade and competitors were more numerous. W. R. Wilson, of Fernie, donates the prize money. The vegetable gardens were divided into two lots, above the tipple and below; whereas the flowers were classed in one lot. Prizes were awarded as follows:

Flower gardens—1, A. Causey; 2, L. Little; 3, C. Smith; 4, I. Hampton; 5, J. Jenkins; 6, M. Littler; 7, D. Taylor.

Natal held their annual horticultural exhibition on Labor Day in glorious weather, when everybody turned out to make it a success. Honors were gathered in by Causey, Little, Jones and Lozza.

Clean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

The employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway are to get wage increases of $60,000,000. Inasmuch as the total traffic revenue of all the Canadian railways last year was only $350,000,000 — all out of about eight million people—this increase, coupled with the increases to come on the other lines, may well make the ordinary worker gasp. This raising of costs of public utilities n such wholesale fashion is bound to bring a heavy reaction somewhere.

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

Why You Should Buy Shoes Now!

WE Shoe Manufacturers of Canada—and there are 158 of us in all—feel that there are certain features relating to our industry that you should know.

One of the principal things is this—

There is little likelihood that shoe prices will be very much lower than at present, for some months to come, at least.

IN any event, any reduction that the manufacturer may be able to make to the retailer will be slight; on the other hand, there is a possibility that prices on some styles may be higher.

Your shoe retailer bases his prices to you on what he pays the manufacturer. We, in turn, are dependent on the cost of leather and other things, as well as of labor.

We buy our materials months before our shoes are on your feet, and the price of these shoes is naturally regulated by the cost of the materials of which they are made, and of the handiwork expended on them.

Therefore, our advice to you—and we give it in all sincerity—is to BUY NOW any shoes you need for your self or your family. Don't buy extravagantly or recklessly, but do so carefully and judiciously.

Your retailer will give you this same advice too, if you ask him. He knows, as we do, that if the public demand for footwear suddenly started up abnormally, scarcity of shoes and higher prices would probably result.

This is a situation that should be mutually avoided, and will be if you buy what shoes you need, as you need them.

Canada produces footwear of every desirable type, and of standard quality in all grades. When you buy Made in Canada Footwear you are assured, at fair prices always, of the utmost that modern skill can produce in Comfort, Service and Style.

SHOE MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

PUBLICITY COLUMN

By J. F. Spalding

Different people have different ideas. A day or so ago a tourist was in from Saskatoon on his way to Vancouver and put this in the remarks colmun of the register: "Roads not so good as last year." He made the same trip last year. Another tourist from Tulsa, Oklahomt, who has already been through Oklahoma, Colorado Springs, and Grand Canyon, Utah, Idaho, Yellowstone and Glacier Parks and Banff, then from here he goes to Spokane, Seattle and home, he says, "Referring to the above 'slam' will say, If such is the case roads up here last year must have been super wonderful," as we have found them in their present condition to be the best we have experienced in all our travels so far.

This recent moisture has certainly made an appreciable difference to the number of tourists coming through. It seems to have scared them somewhat, but now it has cleared up, they are bowling along. Quite a few are coming in from the prairies now on their way to California and fine weather for the next few weeks is sure to bring many others. I have had several enquiries lately asking about the latest date that it will be safe to drive through this way, and also several people who are figuring already on next year's trip.

The other day I received a letter from the president of the Theodore Roosevelt International Highway Association which appears at the conclusion hereof. I have never heard of what he calls the "Green Trail," so have asked him to prepare me a rough map showing the course of this Highway from North Dakota to the point at which he proposes to enter Canada, which I presume will be at North Portal, then I will connect up with the Canadian portion and have something tangible to go on before taking up the matter with the communities on this side of the line which will be interested. If the proposal he makes can be carried out it will be a wonderful thing for this town and district. Fernie will be the Western terminus in Canadian territory. A very large number of the tourists from Eastern points already use this highway, which until this year has routed them to Glacier Park from where they have had to ship their cars to Belton, which is on the other side of the park, before they could continue their trip west. This has been objected to very much owing to the railway company refusing to accept any responsibility for stolen articles, and as at least 75 per cent of tourists now are campers it means that they are compelled to leave their stuff on the car and take a chance. The result has been that there have been many of them who have lost quite a lot of stuff.

Ever since early this season I have been after this Association to include us in their route and now it looks as if I have not wasted my effort. If it materializes it will mean that we shall have to work in conjunction with the communities East of us along the lines I mentioned in one of my previous articles. Our interests are mutual. But what is done will have to be done between now and next year because the following year it is expected that the Banff-Windermere road will be opened for motor traffic, and then the direct travel will all go over it from Calgary and come down to Cranbrook and then go west from there, missing us entirely, and all we shall have to depend on will be the people making the circle trip from Calgary, whose numbers will be very small compared with the through travellers, but if we can get them using the new highway as proposed, next year. It will mean a lot of valuable publicity for this district and assure us of our share of the travel over the Banff-Windermere road as well.

One thing which we must have here for next season is a Municipal Camping Ground, properly prepared and fixed up in good shape for the campers. This is the only thing about which I have heard any adverse criticism this summer. It has been a source of surprise to the majority of them. They all cite the fact that Cranbrook and other places have specially prepared grounds for them. I happen to know of several parties who would have camped right here, some of them perhaps for several days, if we had had a place for them, but who have gone on to one of the properly prepared sites. This means the loss to this town of a considerable amount of good money in the course of a season. I have sent quite a few parties down to the park. They have said how nice it is there and so on, but have moved on to the places where preparations have been made for them. The President of the Kalispell Chamber of Commerce was here recently and tald me about the site which they have there, saying that they have found it to be a very profitable investment on the part of the Municipality, as it has been the means of keeping parties there for several days at a stretch. They have put up rough board buildings containing hot and cold tub baths, electric cooking stoves, washing machines, irons, etc., and the whole is lit up by electric lights. The cost of this was in the neighborhood of $1200. The Power Co. put in some of the electrical appliances and supply light and power free. The city put in the rest and supply a caretaker who is always on the spot. We cannot expect to go in as strong as that for a start, but a very small outlay will give us a camp site which we shall not need be ashamed of. Think it over!

Minot, N.D., Sept. 9, 1920

J. Fred Spalding, Fernie, B.C.

My dear Mr. Spalding—I owe you an apology for not visiting Fernie during my western trip, but I was so tired out when I struck the Flathead that it took all the time I had to get back my pep after 11 months of really hard work, that I did not feel I ought to make a trip over a new trail that contained many mountain roads, and then I had to hurry back to my work here. I did a lot of inquiring, however, and found that the road to Fernie from Columbia Falls is a feasible route, and that it will be possible to make a hookup with your trail via the old Green Trail through North Dakota along the Soo Line Railway, and Fernie, and then back via the Roosevelt Highway from Columbia Falls, Mont. I am sending out feelers now along the Green Trail asking whether the towns will be interested in holding a meeting at Minot this fall with the view of changing the name of the highway by combining an international name for it, and getting the road marked properly from Minneapolis to Fernie, B.C.

Of course, I do not know anyhting about the Canadian end of the tourist highway game, and will have to depend on you for this information, but I am sure that I can hook up with the Minneapolis Civic and Commerce Association through Minnesota and North Dakota. Let me hear from you in the matter.

Yours as ever,
Will E. Holbein.

O. B. U. BLUFF IS CALLED

Upon being closely questioned Henry Beard, president of the miners' department of the O.B.U. in Alberta, now admits that no cable was received from Bob Smillie, president of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, requesting that the workers here come out on strike on Sept. 25.

Other officials of the O.B.U. movement here, when seen, were inclined to still maintain that a cable had been received, but when informed that Smillie himself had denied sending such a message they tried to explain that it was a "letter" that had been received from the miners' leader in Britain. A copy of this letter could not be produced, however, the statement being made that it was in the possession of P. M. Chistophers, who was now out of the city.

J. W. Brown, international organizer for the United Mine Workers of America, who was in Calgay Monday morning, informed a representative of the Calgary Herald that he could not conceive for one moment knowing Smillie as he did, that he would for a moment consider sending any communication at all to such a movement as the O. B. U. Smillie, he said, totally disapproved of the policies of such an organization. "The eyes of the world are on Smillie, at the present time," he said, "and it is absolutely absurd for a statement to be made that he has communicated with O.B.U. agitators. If he sent any communication at all he certainly would have sent it to the international organization, an dcertainly no word has been received from him as far as we are concerned."

The statement in the alleged letter from Smillie, which was referred to by Ed. Browne, the secretary of the O. B. U. miners, as "the cable," was to the effect that "the time had come when the workers of the world act in unison," and asked that "he be kept in close touch with the proceedings from the Alberta district."

"This bluff on the part of the O.B.U. is only just in line with their previous actions," remarked J. W. Brown. "Fortunately Smillie has at once sent out a complete denial of their 'cable' canard, and later on is sure to send out another contradiction regarding the alleged letter."

Mr. Brown added that it had been stated that there were 12 representatives from the Crow's Nest Pass district present at the "convention;" an equal number from Drumheller; and five delegates from the northern fields. "As far as we have been able to ascertain," he remarked, "there were only three miners from the Crow's Nest Pass, two from Drumheller and none from the north; all the other delegates present were not actual miners." He claimed that the O. B. U. agitators amongst the miners knew they were fighting a losing battle and they could not, if they so desired, bring about a strike of Alberta miners.

From one of the delegates who was present at the convention, the Herald learns that the question of finances was one of the questions that overshadowed all the discussions. "It was frankly admitted," he stated, "that there were no funds in the treasury, and a collection had to be taken to pay expenses of 10 organizers to the coal camps on the distinct understanding that they would look out for a blanket and a meal ticket when they got there. The financial statement," he added, "showed there was a deficit of $11."

LIFE INSURANCE FOR WOMEN IN BUSINESS

WOMEN are giving ever-increasing attention to business affairs and are employed in banks, insurance offices and other institutons earning substantial salaries. The result is that many are today in positions of responsibility and have relatives or friends dependent upon them who under former conditions would themselves be dependent.

The Ideal Policy for the business woman is an endowment such as is issued by The Mutual Life of Canada.

The Endowment Eolicy is payable at the end of a certain term of years if the assured be then living, so that by means of such a policy provision can be made for the needs of later life. Should death occur during the endowment term a substantial estate is left.

The endowment policy therefore protects one's estate, encourages saving and affords a moderately profitable and absolutely safe investment.

The annual church service of Esther Rebekah Lodge, No. 20, will take place at Christ church on Sunday evening, Sept. 19. All Rebekahs and Odd Fellows are asked to be present at the lodge room at 7 p.m. to attend this service.

The court of revision on the Provincial Voters List was held on Monday by Govt. Agent Stenson and the lists are being rushed out so that the Prohibition plebiscite can be held on the 20th of October. The Fernie list contains something over 2800 names, about 1200 less than were on the last revision.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Geo. F. Moses, who died at the Fernie hospital on Tuesday, took place yesterday. Deceased, who had been ill for some time, was a highly respected citizen of Fernie for many years, and a prominent church worker. She is survived by her husband and one son.

Eight golfers from Fernie with twelve from Macleod played a combination of twenty men at Pincher Creek on Sunday last, defeating the Pincher players by a small margin in both a single and double competition. The weather was very pleasant with the exception of a high wind which prevailed all day and somewhat lowered the standard of golf. The Fernie men who took part were: A. Watson, J. Ogilvie, R. M. Young, J. S. Irvine, N. E. Suddaby, S. Herchmer, D. Mitchell and M. A. Kastner.

The itinerary of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, federal Liberal leader, on his forthcoming tour through this province, indicates that he may be expected in Fernie and Cranbrook about the middle of next month. He goes straight to Vancouver, from there to Victoria and Vancouver Island points, back to Vancouver, up to Prince Rupert, east to Edmonton, south to Calgary and back westward through the Crow's Nest, all this provided the proposed itinerary remains unchanged. Accompanying Mr. King is a battery of Liberal big guns of different calibre, the idea being apparently that after turning on this artillery full blast the west will fall in line obediently at the next federal election.

The marriage of Miss Eva Ingram to Mr. Hugh McLaughlin was solemnized at the home of the bride's father on Victoria avenue at 8.30 Wednesday morning, Sept. 8, by Rev. Mr. Burns of the United church. Miss Nettie Ingram was bridesmaid, while Oscar Anderson supported the bridegroom. The home was beautifully decorated with flowers and after the ceremony about twenty guests sat down to the wedding breakfast. The bride looked lovely in silver gray silk and Georgette embroidered in pink roses and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. Her going away gown was brown velvet with furs and hat to match. The bridesmaid was becomingly attired in light blue silk with Georgette to match and carried cream roses. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ingham, of Elko; Mrs. Wattles of KaKnsas City; Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Finch, sisters of the groom, of Spokane. The happy couple left on the noon train for their home in Spokane, followed by the good wishes of their many friends in Fernie.

G. F. Moses, Frank, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lyne and family wish to thank the doctors and nursing staff of Fernie hospital, the women of Mooseheart Legion, L.O.O.M., K. of P. of Michel, and all friends for the kindness shown them during the illness and demise of their dear one.

Two convictions under the Prohibition Act were recorded this week at Yahk, when fines of $100 each were imposed. Inspector Dunwoody also seized 120 cases of liquor, the property of E. Clausen, of Yahk, on the ground that said liquor was stored in a place other than a private dwelling. This trial will be heard at Yahk on Sept. 23.

Geo. Eastman, of the famous Eastman Kodak Co., with a large party of friends, arrived in Fernie last Tuesday via Coal Creek from the Flathead valley. The size of the party may better be understood when we say that it took 32 pack horses to convey their outfit. This is the second year Mr. Eastman has put in his holidays in this district and he expresses himself as altogether delighted both with the scenery and the hunting and fishing, and he expects to come again next season. The party left on Wednesday for Rochester, N.Y.

THE HOME OF THE WORKING MAN

DO DIVERS SEE GHOSTS?

Considering the number of people who have found a last resting-place at the bottom of the sea, it is not surprising that divers should occasionally come across what are popularly known as ghosts.

A diver, while employed one day in bringing up various articles from the wreck of the "Royal George," which went down off Spithead on August 28, 1782, being seized with a sudden fit of drowsiness, fell asleep. He dreamed three times in succession that just as he was about to pick up a curiously wrought silver dish from among a mass of debris, a very tall figure, dressed in a diving-suit, sprang at him and tried to cut the lifeline.

As at this time the other two men he was working with were both of short stature, not in the least degree like the figure in his dreams, he soon forgot it.

But great was his trepidation one morning when on turning up at his work he found one of his mates absent, and a newcomer — a very tall man—in his place. Indeed, so alarmed was he that, on descending, he took with him a stout cudgel, and warned those in charge of the communication rope to be on the alert for a signal, however slight. On arriving at the bottom he was soon at work on the wreck, amid a pile of loose spars he came upon a dish exactly like the one he had seen in his dreams.

He was staring at it in a kind of dazed fashion when suddenly he saw his companion, the new diver, coming towards him just as he had seen the figure in his dreams, and the next moment he was engaged in the most desperate struggle for his life.

He succeeded in administering such a severe blow on the hand of his assailant with his stick that the latter dropped his knife with which he had been armed, and before he could pick it up again our friend the dreamer had pulled the communication cord, and was drawn up out of danger. It subsequently transpired that the new diver had gone raving mad.

Another curious case occurred not so many years ago off the coast of Galway. Some divers were employed in looking for the remains of Spanish treasures, when one of their party, wandering a little apart from the rest, saw a dim light in the distance.

Advancing towards it, he discovered that it prcoeeded from the porthole of a wreckage of very ancient date.

Approaching the ship, not without trepidation, he peeped in, and saw, to his amazement, an old man, with a very long beard, kneeling down, examining an iron-clasped oaken chest. By and by he raised the lid and dipping his hands in, drew them out full of golden coins, which he played with like a child plays with some new toy.

The diver, happening at this juncture to make a noise the old man turned slowly round, revealing a face of the most ghastly pallor, which so terrified the diver that he turned tail and fled back to his mates, with far more haste than dignity.

Pooh-poohing his story, they went back with him and there sure enough in the very spot he had described was the ship, and, what was even more wonderful, the chest of gold.

Lastly, there is the case of the diver who was repairing one of the London bridges. He had made his descent into the water and was kneeling down examining the masonry when he felt something tap him on the shoulder. He looked round when to his utmost terror he saw standing at his shoulder peering down at him an exact counterpart of himself.

The following day, against the advice of his wife, who was a Scot and very superstitious, he again went down in the same place, and, a piece of loose masonry falling on him, he was killed.

"GET RICH QUICK WALLINGFORD"

The Juvenile Stock Company beg to announce their second offering in the form of "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," a play in four acts, by Geo. M. Cohen, on Thursday, Sept. 23, at the Grand Theatre. This play, which is brimful with dry humor, deals with the adventures of J. Rufus Wallingford and his slick pal "Blackie Daw," in a sleepy little country town, and the whole plot is wound around a simple little invention, the covered carpet tack. There is a delightful love story running through the entire play and the whole thing is put through with a swing that will surprise the Fernie public. Fred C. Bass, in the role of Wallngford, is ably supported by Miss Helen Herchmer in the role of Fanny Jasper, while R. P. Colton, as Blackie Daw, is supported by Miss Ruth McLean as Dorothy Welles. Erc Colton and Miss Blanche Labelle are again working together, this time takng the roles of Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey. Altogether the cast is a strong one and six new faces are to be seen in the company.

There will be no general admission tickets on sale for this show only at the doors, and all of those who missed the last show are advised to be on hand early for this one. Reserved seats on sale at McLean's, $1.00. "Get Rich Quick Wallingford" is in aid of the Girls Hockey Team, and is produced by local talent. Remember, Thursday, Sept. 23.

"SHIMMY"

Just as the "bunny hug" and the "turkey trot" had their origin in the dance halls of the Barbary Coast, and other sections which would hardly be regarded as respectable, the "shimmy" was born in the negro dives of the south, its undulating wiggle being peculiarly suited to the syncopated music so dear to the hearts of the race which launched both "jazz" and "ragtime."

The name of the dance while bearing little apparent connection with the true pronounciation of the word, is derived from the French "chemise," as applied to a rather intimate article of feminine underwear. The negro tongue, unable to master true Gallic sound, translated the word into its own dialect as "shimmy," and the expression "Shake yo' shimmy, hon, shake yo' shimmy!" has been common throughout the south for many years. The recent popularity of jazz music coupled with the quick and almost barbaric notes of the "blues," has given added impetus to the negro dances. Little by little, these movements have made their way, first into the white dance halls, then to the stage, and finally, in a somewhat deleted form, to the ball room. But in the final analysis, "shaking the shimmy" means that the dancer is emulating a negro wench, clad above the waist with a single piece of underwear and moving ecstatically to the strains of a melody which vividly recalls the tom-toms and war-drums of her native African jungle.

I at once bought six boxes. I have used Twelve altogether, and all I have to say is, I wish I heard of them Three Years ago. I would have given Five Hundred Dollars to have obtained the same relief that I received from Vital Tablets.—John Cameron, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

FERNIE KIDS ARE INVITED TO BIG SHOW

Yoo-hoo, Skinnay—here's big news. The funniest and liveliest kids in the whole wide world are coming to Fernie in a few days and they've got something special up their sleeves for the youngsters here.

These famous juvenile stars are the Original Winnipeg Kiddies—known all over the English-speaking world as the greatest juvenile troupe on earth. They're charging a dollar-fifty "top price" for their show (the same as in the big cities) but, at the special request of Manager Reilly of the Grand theatre, they're going to put on a matinee right after school for the Fernie children, and will charge the local youngsters only 25c a head—which, with the tax, amounts to 30c—a dollar and a half show for thirty cents!

This is a guaranteed show—guaranteed by Manager Reilly and by R. J. Lydiatt, who is vice-president of the Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd. Mr. Lydiatt in a recent letter said: "There is no show on the road today that is more popular or has greater prestige than the Winnipeg Kiddies."

Laugh? You'll laugh yourselves sick at the antics of these clever youngsters — the cleverest in the world. Don't miss 'em—because all Fernie will be talking about them for months to come.

Adults who want to come to the matinee will be admitted for $1.00. The night prices are $1.50 and $1.00.

The date is Thursday, Sept. 24 and the matinee will begin at 4.15—right after school.

It transpires that the One Big Union's claim that Robert Smillie, president of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, had urged it to strike in unison with the Miners' Federation, was a hoax. No such cable was received. The O.B.U. is absolutely discredited by such tactics. It has no force in Alberta any more.

MERCHANTS WIFE LOST 32 POUNDS

"My wife actually lost thirty-two pounds in weight and was so weak she couldn't walk, but since taking Tanlac she has gained every pound of it back and for the first time in over a year is able to do her own housework," was the statement made by Robert M. Graham, a well known merchant and influential citizen of Newbrook, Alberta.

"A year ago last November my wife had a serious attack of the 'flu,' which kept her in bed nearly two weeks and left her in such a run-down condition that she fell off in weight until she was a mere shadow of her former self. After she recovered from the 'flu' she was left so weak she actually couldn't walk and it's a fact she was so helpless we had to wait on her for every little thing. She couldn't dress herself and we had to carry her from one place to another whenever she wanted to move around. I worried and worried over her condition and almost gave up my business to stay around and attend to her wants, for it seemed to me she was growing weaker and weaker all the time. She didn't relish a thing she ate for her digestion was so bad that nearly everything disagreed with her. Then to add to her misery she began to have terrific headaches nearly every day and sometimes these spells would almost drive her distracted.

"That is the condition my wife was in and it seems like a dream that's come true for her to be so well and happy today. But it's a fact, she is a different person altogether and Tanlac is the cause of it all. I never once thought it was possible for any medicine to do for her what Tanlac has. Why, I can hardly realize the change that has come over her. She has regained all her lost weight and to tell the truth she weighs several pounds more than she ever did in her life. Everything she eats agrees with her perfectly and she never complains of a headache any more. She has new life and energy now, her housework seems more like play than work and she says Tanlac has been the greatest blessing of her life and I gladly join with her in giving it the highest praise."

INDUSTRY, NOT EDUCATION

A Chicago father, when asked for the hand of his daughter, told the learning. The professor then went was the age of industry, instead of learning. The professor then went into business, and made a success. There is more truth than poetry in the remark. The chase of the Almighty Dollar has left far behind the relatively small group of professional "intellectuals" — the men who value education for its own sake, without regard for the monetary value by which nearly all things are judged.

The automobile and moving picture have had a great deal to do with this change of public ideal. Before the automobile and "movie" people could not get about so readily. They did not amuse themselves by touring around. Books were their reliance and quiet home life, with the cultivation of arts of leisure, was the rule. Luxuries of style were much rarer. The present geneation has found science and industry providing it with many more facilities, at home and in outside life, and with many more external spheres to occupy mental powers. Books are read now more than ever but with a different object. "Smart" conversation, helped by a smattering of many books is more valued as an accomplishment than quiet familiarity with the deeper authors. Life is much busier, more casual, and less solid than it used to be. The acquisition of luxuries is the common ambition, and only as education assists in social life, or smooths the way for professional progress, is it valued equally with industrial achievement. He would be bold who asserts that the people today are not as happy, in their relative superficiality, as those who, in a stoffer and sterner age, prepared the Greek and Latin lessons before breakfast. Materialism has its legitimate claims, and fortunately the progress of compulsory education gives enough cultural influence to leaven it partially, and weaken the more vicious phases of it.

The advice of any father today would probably be to seek success in industry or commerce, rather than in letters. The task of winning material reward in literature is not much easier than it was in the days of Dickens or Scott. The professional educationist is under-valued, because the world wants only technical education or sufficient culture to make industrial work easier. The accumulation of great masses of capital which has to be turned to productive account puts increasing pressure on industrial efficiency, and the enlarged spending powers of the people make the rewards of business ever so much greater. —Mail and Empire.

CONSERVATION MEANS GAME

The hunting season is here.

To those who have never hunted small or large game this statement means nothing, but to those who have gone into the field year after year it is cheerful news. There are many who look forward to the annual visit to the woods in search of game with the same enthusiasm as the baseball player who has been in the "world's series" does to collecting his "bit."

It's great sport and there are a lot of people just as much aware of this as we are. Statistics gathered from the various fish and game commissions of the United States prove this. We haven't got the figures from all of the states but the figures we do have tell us that 3,915,000 men, women and children secured licenses to hunt in 1919. With four million active participants hunting is quite a sport.

More attention is being paid to wild game now than for a half century. The people are being educated to the fact that if they try to kill all the game this year there won't be any next year. Conservation is the watchword. The hunters are working hand in hand with the state Fish and Game Commissions, more attention is being paid to the laws and instead of game decreasing it is actually increasing.

In Alabama last year more than 8,000,000 quail were shot, yet through proper conservation methods no one is talking about a scarcity of quail in Alabama. The shooters can take out another 8,000,000 this fall and there will be more next year. In California more than 1,000,000 ducks are killed annually(also about 500,000 quail. Last year about 15,000 deer were taken and in no locality is deer decreasing. In some places deer have increased. California gave 190,000 hunting licenses and 120,000 fishing licenses.

The deer season is closed in Illinois until 1925, but that didn't prevent 250,000 persons from hunting in that state last fall. Colorado had a four-day deer season, and 1000 deer were taken. More than 100,000 persons obtained licenses to shoot game in Colorado. Indiana gave out about 100,000 licenses and Iowa about 90,000. Idaho furnished about the same number of licenses as Iowa. Idaho is a progressive state without reference to game conditions. The example set by New York and Pennsylvania is being followed, and data is being kept on all game killed. The Game Commission knows almost to the exact number the deer, mountain goat, moose and sheep in the state. There were 30,000 more hunters in Idaho last year than the season before.

In the neighborhood of 30,000 took out licenses in Kansas, and in Kentucky the figure reached 90,000. Eighty per cent of the hunting in Kentucky is done in November and December. Louisiana is a mighty good state to hunt in and some 65,000 persons know this. Every one knows that Maine is a fertile field for the hunter. Ninety-five thousand hunters invaded Maine last fall. They discovered deer more plentiful than ever before. They took away about 6,000 deer and much other game. Maryland is just beginning to blossom as a game community, and some 50,000 took advantage of the game there. Massachusetts had out some 76,000 and Michigan about 60,000. Deer to the number of 18,000 were bagged in Michigan.

Minnesota tells us that 1,750,000 wild ducks and 20,000 deer were bagged in 1919. Wolves were as plentiful in Minnesota as rabbits were in other sections. One wolf hunt in Minnesota saw the killing of 500. In one rabbit drive in Idaho some 4000 were killed and in several drives in Washington more than 30,000 rabbits were bagged. In Washington the rabbit is very much of a pest. About 75,000 took out licenses in Missouri and 80,000 in Montana. Montana is one of the greatest hunting states. No one knows just how much game there is there. About 6,500 elk and 7,500 deer were killed; also 3000 bear.

Twenty-five years ago a deer was a curiosity in New Hampshire. Last year 8000 were killed. They are becoming more plentiful each year. That hunters know this is attested by the 70,000 licenses. New Jersey gave 135,000 licenses and statistics show that 522 deer were killed in the four day season. New York sold about 300,000 licenses and estimates that 20,000 deer were killed legally. New York has game supervisors in every district, 131 in all, and these supervisors obtained convictions in 98 per cent of their cases in 1919. To shoot in New York this year it is necessary to tell how much game you bagged last year. Through this census the New York Commission will know how much game is bagged yearly, and in time will be able to tell just how much game is in the state.

Twenty thousand licenses were given in New Mexico and three times that number in Nebraska. North Carolina is without a game commission. There is game there, however, for we know a lot of hunters who live there. About 10,000 took out licences in Nevada, 35,000 in North Dakota and 285,000 in Ohio. Oklahoma issued 75,000 and Oregon 100,000. Oregon is a mighty good place to hunt, for the figures that we have that 15,000 Chinese pheasants, 20,000 ducks, 3000 geese, 1000 bear and 5000 deer were taken last year. Bear were soplentiful in some places that entire communities engaged in bear hunts.

There will be even more licenses granted to hunters this fall than in the past hunting season, and the hunting should be better in every state.

Many tried for the first missing line but so far we have not received the correct answer.

CRESTON SENDING DELEGATES

At a meeting of the Creston Board of Trade held last week the matter of representation at the forthcoming annual meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Southeastern British Columbia at Fernie was taken up. The Creston Review says:

"A letter from the proposed new East Kootenay Associated Boards of Trade was read, in which the date of Sept. 29 was suggested as a good time for the meeting of the organization, with Fernie suggested as the place of meeting. As the time was too short for the preparation of resolutions, etc., the secretary was instructed to write asking that the meeting be not held till about the middle of October, and the following were selected as convention delegates, President Constable, C. O. Rodgers and S. A. Speers. Owing to no provision having been made in the financing to take care of this latest affiliation the delegates will be in attendance at their own expense."

Mrs. C. H. Buhrer, of Jacksonville, Mich., who has been visiting her mother here for several weeks, returned home on Monday.

SHORT COUNCIL MEETING

The regular meeting of the city council took place last evening with all the members present.

The minutes of the meetings held on Sept. 9 and 14 were read and adopted.

Frank Blakemore and Geo. Goule applied for the position of auto truck driver. The applications were laid over until the next meeting.

Moved by Ald. Tully and seconded by Ald. Rutledge, that the city clerk place before the Municipal Convention at Nelson the following resolution:

That the council does hereby protest against the appointment of a local government board, as they are unable to see any advantage to be gained by its formation.

That this council strongly recommends that the government take over the administration of education and provide for the cost by direct taxation.

That police commissioners be required to have the same property qualifications as aldermen.

That the government take over the fire insurance of the province.

That the mayor and aldermen be elected for a two year term.

That the city council be empowered to regulate clubs the same as hotels.

The motion passed.

It was decided to send two delegates to the Nelson Convention.

A number of accounts were passed and the meeting adjourned.

MINERS ASK INCREASE OF $1.50 PER DAY

Coal operators of Western Canada are in session today in Calgary, and among other things they will discuss a request from District No. 18, United Mine Workers of America, of an increase of $1.50 per day for day men employed about the mines of the district, in order to bring the wage schedule for such employees in this district up to the wages now being paid similar men in the competitive fields of the United States.

That this request has been made is indicated in a statement of Robert Livett, at present acting head of District No. 18. Contract miners' wages have been fixed by the agreement signed some month ago granting an additional 13 per cent increase, which was the same increase as was granted in the competitive fields of the United States. But at that time, the wages of day men in the States' field had not been fixed definitely. However, now, all districts in the U. S. have completed their agreements with the day men who work in and about the mines, and the result is that they are getting $1.50 per day more than is being paid here.

Commissioner Armstrong, who is in charge of operations in District 18, has been appraised of the demands of the men.

If the increase is granted, which is considered by local operators to be quite likely, in part at least, it will mean an increase in the cost of production of between 30 and 50 cents per ton and a consequent increase in the price of coal throughout the prairie west.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Mrs. Cartmell and family desire to thank the residents of the camp for the many kind expressions of sympathy during their recent sad bereavement; also the school children for their attendance at the funeral and the many beautiful floral takens; also the Coal Co. for special train arrangements.

A large concourse of Creekites journeyed to Fernie on Sunday last to witness the final for the Cooper Cup, Fernie vs. Blairmore.

We are informed that Victoria Park, Coal Creek, will be the Mecca for the replay final for the Mutz Cup on Sunday next, Sept. 25, Fernie vs. Michel being the participants.

Yesterday was pay day up here.

Mrs. J. Hunter returned from the coast to attend the funeral of her sister, the late Ada Cartmell.

Geo. Bradshaw arrived back in camp during the week, having been away to recuperate his health.

Our shivaree band are gathering up all the instruments of "noise" preparatory to the forthcoming event to take place in Slav town.

The Company has installed a new electric box car loader during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Worthington and family are away on a fortnight tour of the eastern pastures.

Balloting took place up here on Thursday on the questions: Are you in favor of an increase of wages for outside men? Are you in favor of the abolition of the check-off?

All members of the Ladies Chapter Loyal Order of Moose are requested to attend a special meeting of the Order in Hawthorne's hall on Monday next at 7.45. Business: Balloting on prespective members.

Notices of the benefit dance for D. McDougall, under the auspices of the L.O.O.M. are posted around camp. A good time is assured all patrons.

PLEBISCITE OCT. 20.

Premier Oliver has confirmed the announcement that the vote upon the prohibition issue in this province will take place on Wednesday, October 20. Under the legislation passed by the provincial house last session it was provided that the vote should not be taken earlier than August 15. Accordingly, the Premier points out, the date fixed is over two months later than the time mentioned in the act.

We are expecting every day to hear Senator Harding declare that the early period of the Garden of Eden was Republican, and that the fall was caused by a Democratic administration taking charge of the works.—Columbia Record.

NIGHT SCHOOLS FOR FERNIE

We are glad to see the Board of School Trustees launcing out once more into the Night School work, as such classes provide the great opportunity of improvement for those who have left school and realize their deficiencies of education.

Here is a chance for young miners who desire to succeed in their life's work. By attending these clases men can prepare for that promotion which brings respect from their fellow men.

A happy combination could be made with a Night School class and the Correspondence Courses of instruction in mining conducted by the Education Department at Victoria. In the city of Merritt, for instance, the Night School class in coal mining is conducted in a tutorial manner. The home work is taken to Night School and the instructor, acting as a tutor more than a lecturer, meets every man with his troubles and helps him along.

We commend the school trustees for their progressive outlook and trust the people will come out in great numbers to take advantage of the classes which are being organized. All boys who have left school, and mining men, should enquire into the Correspondence Courses in Coal Mining and write for particulars to Mr. Hargreaves, Department of Education, Victoria.

DAD BLEASDELL CROSSES DIVIDE

A. W. Bleasdell, for nineteen years a prominent business man of Fernie, died on Tuesday of this week from an attack of pneumonia after only a day or two of illness.

Deceased was a real old-timer in the west, having arrived in Winnipeg about 1883. A year or two later he came west to Macleod, where he was shortly after elected mayor. About thirty years ago he again drifted further west to Fort Steele, where he resided till about 1901, when he located his drug business in Fernie. He always took an active interest in public affairs and was on three different occasions elected mayor of the city. He was a prominent member of the Rifle Association and held many trophies for shooting.

Mrs. Bleasdell died about four years ago and his only son, William, died in Winnipeg a year ago. The only relatives surviving are his grandchildren. The body, it is expected, will be taken east for interment.

GOVERNMENT WINS

By-elections held on Monday in two federal ridings in the east resulted in easy victories for the candidates representing the newly re-formed government of Hon. Arthur Meighen at Ottawa.

In Colchester, Nova Scotia, Hon. F. B. McCurdy newly appointed minister of public works received a majority of about 1500 over Captain Dckson, a returned soldier who opposed him as a Farmer-Labor candidate. There was a large majority for McCurdy in the town of Truro the largest urban centre of the constituency, amounting to about 2100 while the rural districts gave his opponent a majority of about 600, this not affecting McCurdy's substantial lead on the entire constituency very much.

In the constituency of St. John Albert, N.B., a district embracing St. John city an ddistrict, Hon. W. R. Wigmore, minister without portfolio in the Meighen cabinet, obtained an even more signal victory over Mr. Emery, a straight line Liberal, the figures being: Wigmore 8028, Emery 3838. Majority for Wigmore 4190.

"GET RICH QUICK WALLINGFORD"

The Fernie Juvenile Stock Co. made their third appearance before the Fernie public last evening, when they produced the popular comedy "Get Rich Quick Wallingford." The cast as a whole are to be complimented on the clever way in which they rendered the parts in which they played. From the start to the finish they held their audience's full attention, and carried the plot throughout in a splendid manner. Freddie Bass was in the leading role as "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," supported by Pep Colton as Blackie Daw, his able assistant.

The audience was not quite up to standard size but those who witnessed the play are of the unanimous opinion that the Stock Company deserved a much larger crowd, as last night's play showed great improvement over the plays they have previously put on here.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Geo. B. Thomson and family will leave Fernie for the east on Friday next.

Jas. Mitchell spent several days in Saskatchewan last week. He returned home on Monday.

Mrs. Hill, of Calgary, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. Billsborough during the week end.

Mrs. H. R. Colton and son Conroy returned this week from Vancouver, where they were the guests of T. H. Whelan of the Regent Hotel.

Clifford Roberts will give a lecture in Hawthorne's Hall on the evening of Oct. 1, under the auspices of the Bible Students. Subject, "The World is now Ended; Millions Living today will never die."

The executive of the Football League met on Tuesday and sustained the protest of the Fernie team in regard to last Sunday's game. The replay will take place on Oct. 3 at Fernie.

Frank Wood, one of the owners of the Hamilton Cartage Co., the firm which became famous by returning to the Dominion government some $750,000, the profits accruing through the manufacture of munitions, was in the city several days this week, the guest of his brother, R. W. Wood.

The Moose Lodge will hold a benefit dance for D. McDougall in the Hawthorne Hall on Thursday, Sept. 30th. As the cause is a most worthy one the lodge will greatly appreciate a large patronage. Tickets $1.00 per couple.

NAME OFFICERS FOR REFERENDUM

Victoria, Sept. 19.—Under the provisions of the Temperance Plebiscite Act the Oliver cabinet has recommended the following to be the returning officers for the approval of the lieutenant governor.

BLAIRMORE BEATS FERNIE

The final game for the Cooper Cup was played under protest by the Fernie team, last Sunday, under splendid weather conditions, Blairmore winning 1-0. The game was one of the hardest fought in the Pass this year. Blairmore had a strong line-up, including two men from Lethbridge, and the Fernie team was the same with the exception of Wilson at back, who could not play. Fernie's centre forward, Joe Riley, had to move back and as a result the forward line was weakened. Fernie lost the toss and played with the sun in their faces, and it was a considerable handicap for their defence. Blairmore pressed right from the start and Fernie' goal was sure lucky in not having the net bulged several times. The teams crossed over with no score and in the second half Fernie team showed up to better advantage, but the Blairmore defence was on the job. Their goalkeeper is no mean custodian and he certainly deserves credit for the good save he pulled off from the boot of Dick Thornton. Hardy, centre forward for Fernie, had an open shot from the penalty area but he booted the ball over the bar. The game was waxing pretty hot about this time, one or two players being winded. The whistle blew for full time with no score, and the game was ordered finished by the referee, so 15 minutes each way was decided on for extra time. Near the last of the second 15 minutes Mulligan, from Blairmore, got a nice cross from Jack Mills, and dashing between the Fernie backs, scored the only tally during the game. Fernie finally woke up to the fact that they were beaten and kept the Blairmore goalie busy for a few minutes, but it was no use, and one of the hardest fought games this year came to a close. Fernie supporters were disappointed, to say the least, as Fernie has the material this year for one of the best teams that has played in Fernie for some years. We understand, if the protest goes through, a replay will be ordered by the District League executive, and if it does, don't miss this game, as Blairmore has lots of supporters and plenty of money.

On the replay in the final for the Mutz Cup, Fernie will play Michel at Coal Creek on Sunday. Watch for the bills as to the time of kick-off.

FROM FOCH'S MEMOIRS

Paris—Marshal Foch has given to the Petit Parisien an interview on the first battle of the Marne which reads like a chapter from his memoirs. Never before has France's illustrious soldier talked so freely of the world war. Indeed, it is the first time that he has discussed in print at any length the conflict which saved France and made certain Germany's defeat.

"The first Marne," Marshal Foch began, blowing clouds of smoke from his little old pipe toward the ceiling, "What can I tell you that has not been said?" But the great soldier continued: "The German chieftains, Von Bulow, Von Kluck and Von Hausen, dispute our victory, it seems, and the conquered generals wish to appear each as an individual victor. It is very curious. To the mind of the Germans their defeat at the Marne is a history of musical discord. Up until September 6th there was effective, or almost perfect accord. From that date the conductor went wrong. The German general headquarters fell frankly into the trap and afterward left the army commanders to get out of it the best way possible.

"This would not have been so bad if only the commanders had had a clear understanding among themselves, but each wanted to play the piece as if it were a solo and without paying attention to his neighbor. The result of this cacophony was the military fiasco which followed."

"In other words, Marshal," the interviewer interposed, "you hold the German general staff entirely responsible for their defeat in that battle?"

"The Germans started out with a plan already made, a rigid plan, one of those plans that can come out only from the brain of the other side of the Rhine and which leaves nothing to the unforseen."

The Marshal went on to describe Von Kluck's precipitate advance, which he said was "stupefying," but which resulted necessarily in a certain confusion in the general movement forward. "But," he remarked, "in the minds of the great strategists of Berlin, everything should have gone through as planned without a flaw. And, therefore, we saw von Kluck's flank bitten by Gallieni in the midst of his manoeuvre. The confusion increased. There was but one thing for the German general staff to do. It was to take a firmer grip, resume control of its wavering armies and reestablish that unity which bound them together only by the slightest hairs. But what does the German general staff do? The German staff, which is at Luxemburg, does absolutely nothing, says absolutely nothing. At Luxembeurg! Can you imagine Joffre's headquarters at Lyons or Marseilles?"

Marshal Foch then described in a few terse phrases the disarray into which all the other German armies fell, in their turn, under the concentrated attacks of the French. Imperturbable confidence on their rigid plans was larely to blame for the German failure, he observed, and to this mistaken idea the German high command clung tenaciously throughout the war. To illustrate this tenacity, the Marshal told an anecdote related to him by the burgomaster of Spa. "On July 8, 1918, on the eve of the great German offensive, there was great movement and confusion in Spa, where the Kaiser had his headquarters. There was the stirring around, the shouting and general excitement that usually occurs before all great events. And the coming event must be a great one, because everything at headquarters was packed up, even to the sentry boxes outside the Kaiser's villa. The burgomaster, becoming anxious, enquired discreetly what was happening.

"'We are going to Versailles,' the sentries told him.

"Only that I don't know whether the sentry boxes came back," said the Marshal smiling. "But what is certain is that on the 20th or 27th—I don't remember the exact date—the burgomaster saw returning the Kaiser and his suite, all very much disgruntled. There was no longer any question of a journey to Versailles. Gouraud and Mangin, with whom they had not counted, had cut short this promenade."

Then Foch entered into some details about his own experience at the Battle of the Marne. Things had been going very badly, he said, reinforcements had failed to arrive. The troops seemed too weary to attack. Finally, it was agreed to postpone the advance until the next morning. Then, suddenly, the telephone rang and a voice said: "We are at Fere Champenoise." This unexpected news, telling of the progress of the French troops far into the German lines, filled the Marshal with joy. Immediately by telephone he ordered a general onslaught along the whole line.

Division commanders replied: "We cannot;; we dare not."

"Forward," Foch retorted.

"I myself arrived at Fere Champenoise at midday," the Marshal told his interviewer. "I had never seen such a spectacle. Literally it was impossible to advance in automobile, on horseback or afoot, the streets were so encumbered with bottles. Ah, they had enjoyed themselves the night before, those Bosches. They got such a jag that hundreds of them were still lying drunk in cellars. I saw a great number of them on the roofs, running along the rain gutters like cats. Our soldiers amused themselves by shooting at them as they jumped."

The Marshal spent the night on an ancient mattress with Gen. Weigand his chief of staff. "At midnight," Foch related, "I was awakened, to be told that the High Command had named me Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor. 'All right,' I replied, and immediately fell asleep again on my straw.

"Half an hour afterward, I was awakened again with the message: 'General, the Commander-in-Chief has sent you some cigars and blankets.'

"That was better than a cussing out. We had been freezing on those cool September nights, and for at least a week had not had a bit of tobacco."

WAS ABOUT TO GIVE UP HOPE

Kept Losing Weight All the Time Until She Began Taking Tanlac

"I have gained ten pounds in weight since I started taking Tanlac and I honestly don't believe I would be here today if it hadn't been for this medicine," said Mrs. Constance Monihan, 856 Stella avenue, Winnipeg, Man., recently.

"A year ago," continued Mrs. Monihan, "my stomach began to give me trouble and kept getting worse so rapidly that it was only a short while before I had absolutely no appetite, and I had lost weight until I was scarcely more than a frame. Every mouthful I forced down soured on my stomach almost at once, my heart would palpitate dreadfully and I had such terrible attacks of heartburn they nearly drove me distracted. I suffered with severe headaches nearly all the time and my nerves were in such bad condition the least little noise out of the ordinary would completely upset me and it was almost impossible for me to get any sleep at all as I would roll and toss from one side of the bed to the other all night long and in the mornings I always felt miserable. Why, I was so nervous and my hands trembled so bad I could not even put a teaspoonful of tea or coffee to my lips. My face was thin and pale, my cheeks sunken in and I was so weak and run down I couldn't do any part of my housework. My friends often remarked that if I didn't soon get something to help me I would surely die, and I realized this perhaps better than anyone else.

"I had been advised to take some kind of treatment, and as I had seen Tanlac so highly recommended I decided to try it first. Well, I took three bottles before I could feel any change but I continued taking it. My appetite gradually improved, until now I am hungry just about all the time and can eat anything I want without suffering any bad after effects whatever. I am completely rid of the headaches and my nerves are in such fine condition I sleep all night as peaceful as a child. My cheeks have filled out, I have a fine color in my face and have regained my strength so that now I do all my housework with the greatest ease. I am truly thankful for what Tanlac has done for me and I never miss an opportunity of telling others about it."

BRITISH COLUMBIA WATER POWER

The water power wealth of British Columbia is equal, it is said, to five Niagaras, one of the greatest industrial assets the province of Ontario contains.

Pouring down from the mountains and from the glaciers that fill the gorges of the northern ranges, comes enough water every day to develop electrical power equivalent to three million horsepower. This figure is not based on flood conditions, but is the estimate arrived at by government engineers working during low water seasons and using a conservative basis of estimate. The mighty falls of Niagara, where all the water that is available on the Canadian side has been harnessed to the turbine, will produce only 650,000 horsepower. British Columbia's mighty rivers and mountain torrents, if they are all harnessed, could supply the homes and the industries of this province with nearly five times as much power.

When it is remembered that only 123,000 electric horsepower can be developed by the plants which are at present supplying Vancouver, New Westminster and all the towns of the vicinity with power which drives the motors in the mills and factories, propels the street cars along the city's streets and homes and the heat for the up-to-date kitchen it will be seen that while the power generated at present at the plant of the British Columbia Electric on the North Arm, and of the Western Canada Power Co. on Stave the River, is ample for the needs of the cities and other communities of the lower mainland for some time to come, the total waterpower available in the province is sufficient to provide power, light and heat for 40 cities and industrial centres of the size of Greater Vancouver and New Westminster combined. British Columbia possesses in the liquid wealth that pours down the hills the equivalent of five Niagaras with all that this means for the future of the province industrially when these waters are harnessed and turned to the needs of men.

CANADA is more than an accident of geography. The magnificent record of effort made by Canadians in the great European struggle bears witness that the peaceful and unhindered development of the Canadian ideal should be maintained.

The future of Canada depends upon the sincere and earnest self-expression of Canada's millions of workers—at the plough, the loom, the forge—in the factory, the office and the home. FROM FOCH'S MEMOIRS

Paris—Marshal Foch has given to the Petit Parisien an interview on the first battle of the Marne which reads like a chapter from his memoirs. Never before has France's illustrious soldier talked so freely of the world war. Indeed, it is the first time that he has discussed in print at any length the conflict which saved France and made certain Germany's defeat.

"The first Marne," Marshal Foch began, blowing clouds of smoke from his little old pipe toward the ceiling, "What can I tell you that has not been said?" But the great soldier continued: "The German chieftains, Von Bulow, Von Kluck and Von Hausen, dispute our victory, it seems, and the conquered generals wish to appear each as an individual victor. It is very curious. To the mind of the Germans their defeat at the Marne is a history of musical discord. Up until September 6th there was effective, or almost perfect accord. From that date the conductor went wrong. The German general headquarters fell frankly into the trap and afterward left the army commanders to get out of it the best way possible.

"This would not have been so bad if only the commanders had had a clear understanding among themselves, but each wanted to play the piece as if it were a solo and without paying attention to his neighbor. The result of this cacophony was the military fiasco which followed."

"In other words, Marshal," the interviewer interposed, "you hold the German general staff entirely responsible for their defeat in that battle?"

"The Germans started out with a plan already made, a rigid plan, one of those plans that can come out only from the brain of the other side of the Rhine and which leaves nothing to the unforseen."

The Marshal went on to describe Von Kluck's precipitate advance, which he said was "stupefying," but which resulted necessarily in a certain confusion in the general movement forward. "But" he remarked, "in the minds of the great strategists of Berlin, everything should have gone through as planned without a flaw. And, therefore, we saw von Kluck's flank bitten by Gallieni in the midst of his manoeuvre. The confusion increased. There was but one thing for the German general staff to do. It was to take a firmer grip, resume control of its wavering armies and reestablish that unity which bound them together only by the slightest hairs. But what does the German general staff do? The German staff, which is at Luxemburg, does absolutely nothing, says absolutely nothing. At Luxembeurg! Can you imagine Joffre's headquarters at Lyons or Marseilles?"

Marshal Foch then described in a few terse phrases the disarray into which all the other German armies fell, in their turn, under the concentrated attacks of the French. Imperturbable confidence on their rigid plans was larely to blame for the German failure, he observed, and to this mistaken idea the German high command clung tenaciously throughout the war. To illustrate this tenacity, the Marshal told an anecdote related to him by the burgomaster of Spa. "On July 8, 1918, on the eve of the great German offensive, there was great movement and confusion in Spa, where the Kaiser had his headquarters. There was the stirring around, the shouting and general excitement that usually occurs before all great events. And the coming event must be a great one, because everything at headquarters was packed up, even to the sentry boxes outside the Kaiser's villa. The burgomaster, becoming anxious, enquired discreetly what was happening.

"'We are going to Versailles,' the sentries told him.

"Only that I don't know whether the sentry boxes came back," said the Marshal smiling. "But what is certain is that on the 20th or 27th—I don't remember the exact date—the burgomaster saw returning the Kaiser and his suite, all very much disgruntled. There was no longer any question of a journey to Versailles. Gouraud and Mangin, with whom they had not counted, had cut short this promenade."

Then Foch entered into some details about his own experience at the Battle of the Marne. Things had been going very badly, he said, reinforcements had failed to arrive. The troops seemed too weary to attack. Finally, it was agreed to postpone the advance until the next morning. Then, suddenly, the telephone rang and a voice said: "We are at Fere Champenoise." This unexpected news, telling of the progress of the French troops far into the German lines, filled the Marshal with joy. Immediately by telephone he ordered a general onslaught along the whole line.

Division commanders replied: "We cannot;; we dare not."

"Forward," Foch retorted.

"I myself arrived at Fere Champenoise at midday," the Marshal told his interviewer. "I had never seen such a spectacle. Literally it was impossible to advance in automobile, on horseback or afoot, the streets were so encumbered with bottles. Ah, they had enjoyed themselves the night before, those Bosches. They got such a jag that hundreds of them were still lying drunk in cellars. I saw a great number of them on the roofs, running along the rain gutters like cats. Our soldiers amused themselves by shooting at them as they jumped."

The Marshal spent the night on an ancient mattress with Gen. Weigand his chief of staff. "At midnight," Foch related, "I was awakened, to be told that the High Command had named me Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor. 'All right,' I replied, and immediately fell asleep again on my straw.

"Half an hour afterward, I was awakened again with the message: 'General, the Commander-in-Chief has sent you some cigars and blankets.'

"That was better than a cussing out. We had been freezing on those cool September nights, and for at least a week had not had a bit of tobacco."

SHOE MANUFACTURERS ASSOCIATION OF CANADA

TO THE MINE WORKERS DISTRICT 18

The local official of the U.M.W. of A. have addressed a circular letter to the mine workers of Alberta, in which the check-off system in paying dues is defended as a democratic principle. In it they point out that it is only the slacker and the shirker who woold have society protect him while he was too mean to contribute his mite in a just and eqoitable tax.

The circslar adds that it would be interesting to know how much the One Big Union leaders get for fighting the check-off system and naively states that they are not such simpletons to do the work for nothing.

In every modern city or town we have a municipal water system, sewerage system, fire department, police department and free public schools. With such of these institutions that are still privately owned—as for instance the water system—the people are obliged to pay directly to the water company for the privilege of using the water, while the publicly owned institutions, such as the fire department and the schools, are sustained by a system of taxation.

If the maintenance of these institutions was left to voluntary contribution not one man in a hundred would volunteer to contribute to their support—they would simply cease to exist as public institutions. Progress would be turned backwards a thousand years, and everything, even such matters as school education, would become the exclusive privilege of the owning class. This would result finally not only in a monopoly of the economic sources of life but would give the owning classes a monopoly of the educational institutions as well. Therefore, these institutions have been made democratic so that everybody may take advantage of them and a tax is levied which compels everybody to contribute his proportional share to their maintenance.

If a man fails to pay his taxes his property is seized upon by the commonwealth and sold to cover his proportional share of the taxes.

Only the slacker, the shirker, the fellow who wants society to protect him and his and to educate his children and who is himself too mean to contribute his mite to maintain these institutions protests against paying a just and equitable tax.

It is the same type of a man who protests against paying dues into his Union. He knows, if he knows anything, that hours are shortened, wages increased and working conditions improved only through the power of the Union. Experience has taught us — human nature being as it is—that men will not voluntarily pay dues to the Union any more than they will voluntarily pay taxes to the city in which they live, hence the check-off system. It is the only democratic system ever devised for making the slacker, the shirker, the ingrate do his honest part.

There is but one class in the world today that can logically fight the check-off system, and that is the large Corporations which have in themselves become industrial autocracies. These corporations know that large bodies of men cannot be moved in any one direction without discipline. They know that without discipline it is impossible to organize large bodies of men into one solid body with any measure of permanency, and without a permanent organization there can be no such thing as a Joint Agreement.

They know that the check-off is the only democratic method ever devised for organizing the workers into one solid Industrial Army. With labor solidly organized the workers can establish their RIGHTS and have them set forth in a Joint Agreement, without the check-off we can have no solid organization; without a solid organization we can have no joint agreement and without a joint agreement we are the veriest kind of industrial slaves. Hence these Industrial Autocrats fight the check-off system and every man who fights against the check-off system is either in the employ of these industrial autocrats or he ought to be. If he is not, then he is making himself very cheap, because all of these industrial autocrats, such as Garey of the United States Steel Corporation, Rockefeller of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co., The Dominion Steel Corporation, and the Coal Operators of Vancouver Island (who have not as yet accepted the Joint Agreement) are all fighting the check-off system and are paying large salaries to their emissaries to carry on this very propaganda.

It would be very interesting to know how much the One Big Union leaders get for fighting the check-off system. Surely they are not such impletons as to be doing this work for nothing when there is a "slush" fund of millions that is being used for this purpose. It would also be interesting for the miners of District 18 to know where the funds come from to support the "Searchlight." When Mr. Lawson was editing and managing the "District Ledger" he very soon ran that paper into the hole, nothwithstanding the fact that he had the combined support of the mine workers of District 18. Now that he has come into the open and lined himself up with the Industrial Autocrats of both Canada and the United States to fight the organized labor movement we submit to the mine workers of District 18 that he lays himself open to suspicion.

TORTURED BY TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

Dame PETER LAMARRE (fils).

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Judgment was recently rendered in the famous O.B.U. damage case at Cranbrook. A number of Veterans and other citizens took it upon themselves about a year ago to instruct an O.B.U. organizer to leave the city of Cranbrook. He left but entered an action for damages. The case was heard at Fernie last spring. The case was dismissed.

The famous Kerr liquor case came up before Judge Thompson on Tuesday. W. D. Carter, of Vancouver, prosecuted for the government and F. C. Lawe and A. B. Macdonald acted for the defendant. The whole case seems to rest upon the question of whether one room constitutes a household and it seems a very fine point. Judge Thompson reserved his decision.

Demand that the U.M.W. check-off be abolished by Oct. 1, and that a new agreement with respect to wages and working conditions be negotiated at once, failing which necessary steps to enforce such action will be taken, is made in a circular sent to all miners in Alberta, members of the former district 18, U. M. W. of A., by Arthur Evans, newly appointed secretary of the miners' unit of the O.B.U. "Necessary action" presumably means that a strike will be called, if the O. B.U. can find sufficient miners in the province to support their demands. The circular pointedly refers to the present busy season in the coal mines as the most favorable time to enforce the demands.—Calgary Herald.

NATURE'S WIRELESS

The spirit of the hive, which Maeterlinck makes so much of, seems to give us the key to the psychic life of all the lower orders, says John Burroughs, in the North American Review. What one knows, all of that kind seem to know at the same instant. It seems as if they draw it in with the air they breathe. It is something like community mind, or unity of mind. Of course it is not an intellectual process; not a thought, as with us, but an impulse.

So far as we know there is nothing like a council or advisory board in the hive. There are no decrees or orders. The swarm is a unit. The members act in concert without direction or rule. If anything happens to the queen, if she is lost or killed, every bee in the hive seems to know it at the same instant, and the whole swarm becomes greatly agitated. The division of labor in the hive is spontaneous. The bees function and cooperate as do the organs in our own bodies, each playing its part without scheme or direction.

This community of mind is seen in such an instance as that of the migrating lemmings from the Scandinavian peninsula. Vast hordes of these little creatures are at times seized with the impulse to migrate, or to commit suicide for it amounts to that. They leave their habitat in Norway and, without being defleted by any obstacle, march straight towards the sea, swimming lakes and rivers that lie in their way. When the coast is reached they enter the water and continue on their course. This suicidal act of the lemmings strikes one as a kind of insanity. It is one of the most puzzling phenomena I know of in animal life. But the migration of all animals on a large scale shows the same unity of purpose. The whole tribe shares in a single impulse. The annual migration of the caribou in the North is an illustration. In the flocking birds this unity of mind is especially noticeable. The vast armies of passenger pigeons, which we of an older generation saw in our youth, moved like human armies under orders. They formed a unit. They came in countless hordes like an army of invasion and they departed in the same way. Their orders were written upon the air; their leaders were as intangible as the shadows of their wings. The same is true of all our flocking birds; a flock of snow buntings or of starlings or of blackbirds, will act as one body, performing their evolutions in the air with astonishing precision.

In Florida, in the spring when the mating instinct is strong I have seen a flock of white curlews waltzing about the sky, going through various intricate movements, with the precision of dancers in a ball room quadrille. No sign, no signal, no guidance whatever. Let a body of men try it under the same conditions, and behold the confusion and the tumbling over one another!

ORPHEUM THEATRE—MONDAY AND TUESDAY

REACTIONARY BISHOPS

There is something pathetic about the continental wanderings of the self-deluded Mennonite Church dignitaries searching for a corner in some province or state where they and their flock may be a law unto themselves. For half a century they have enjoyed special privileges over other citizens in Western Canada and grown wealthy. As Germanized colonies, their religious liberties never have been interfered with, and even now are not threatened in any way, notwithstanding assertions made abroad. They were exempted from military service duing the European war, and during that ordeal suffered no persecutions whatever, being left free to produce and enjoy the attending enormous financial rewards. The sole and only grievance they have — amazing as it may seem to enlightened people—is an objection on the part of Church Bishops to permit the Mennonite children to receive a proper education in the English language, as decreed by the various provincial educational departments. Having contested these decrees through all the courts, even to the Privy Council, and lost, the old colony autocratic chiefs are now seeking a new haven where they may bring their children up in ignorance—at least so far as the official language of the state is concerned. That is the extent of their "persecution" in Western Canada.

Having failed to find the promised land—where ignorance may continue unrestrained—in the United States or South American republics, the aforesaid Bishops have been negotiating with the Quebec government. Failing there, it looks as if the only alternative will be to go back to Russia or Germany, from whence they came. It has been definitely and rightly decided by the Manitoba and Saskatchewan governments that the younger generation, at least, in these colonies must be converted into intelligent English-speaking citizens — and the test of long experience has proven this can only be done through the medium of the public schools. If Quebec, or any other state, is willing to adopt a Germanized policy more pleasing to the Mennonites, they will be quite welcome to them, so far as Western Canada is concerned.

But when a final show of hands is called for, if the movement does materialize, it will probably reveal a decided split in the ranks. There is reason to believe that the younger and more independent element may decline to any longer be driven like sheep by the Bishops, still living in a by-gone age, and decide to remain in the districts where they have made good and become prosperous. Much the same thing happened a few years ago in the old Doukhobor colony when the autocratic wand of the big chief lost much of its magnetic power—and they have had no reason to regret it. A similar severing of relations among the Mennonites would no doubt be quite beneficial to those possessing sufficient intelligence to see the wisdom of such a course.

If there has been any "persecution" in these colonies, it may safely be laid at the door of Bishops, who for some mysterious or selfish reason wish to keep their follower in ignorance of modern civilization.—Saturday Night

WILL TIMBER HOLD OUT?

(By Hon. T. D. Patullo, in the Canadian Lumberman)

How much merchantable timber have we ? This question is being asked today the world over. While I write, an Imperial Forestry Conference in London, England, is trying to find the answer so far as the British Empire is concerned.

To the south of us State Foresters and timber experts are seeking to provide Congress with an answer to the same question, as well as answers to further questions arising out of the leading query.

There has been considerable controversy in the various trade journals both as to stands of timber and the best methods of handling them economically. One expert makes an estimate, and another immediately produces widely different figures. That the experts differ is not the important point—that they are both making a genuine effort to arrive at a fair estimate is the vital fact.

One of the good results of the war is that a general stock-taking of natural resources is going on, and it has been found that this is particularly necessary in regard to timber. After four years of destruction, during which ordinary work was at a standstill, the world is hungry for timber and its products. How long will our visible supply of raw material last? Frankly, we do not know. Fortunately, we are trying to find out.

It has been a habit for years past to think and speak of our timber resources as being unlimited, with the result that we have been mining timber instead of cropping it, as is done for instance in Sweden, where every available stick of timber is utilized. The unlimited supply idea has depleted Wisconsin forests; has left very little timber in Michigan, and is rapidly depleting the stands in the Southern States. It is estimated that the original stand of 650 billion feet in the Southern States has been reduced to 139 billion feet.

There is no question for hysteria, but we, in British Columbia, must look facts calmly in the face and lay our plans accordingly. We must after careful survey, decide on the best methods of timber conservation.

Much is being said these days of reforestation and extensive experiments along this line are being made by some of the larger pulp and paper companies in Eastern Canada. Experts are not agreed that the hope for the future lies entirely in reforesting. They seem inclined to the belief that it will prove rather as an assistance to the forest to reproduce naturally. In other words, that natural reproduction of the species native to each locality is the goal to be aimed at, but that, where necessary, nature should be helped out by artificial means.

In natural reproduction and rapid growth the coast of British Columbia is peculiarly fortunate, thanks to her moist climate and mild winter. It is estimated that we have 97,000 square miles of productive forest land and that on most of that area young timber is growing after previous destruction of the crop by fire and logging. While it is true that much of this young forest is at some distance from present means of operation, by the time it has reached maturity distances will have been shortened, as they are being steadily shortened year by year. The important point is that the timber is there, while it is esually important that it should remain there.

Timber's greatest enemy is fire, or rather man, for man is responsible for the great majority of our forest fires. This point cannot be too strongly emphasized, or repeated too often. While fires in mature timber are the most spectacular, and therefore most noticed, it is the young growth on which the future depends that suffers most. Repeated burnings in areas no longer able to reseed themselves readily destroy reproduction for long periods of years and result in brush and scrub growth where good, healthy young timber should be. The protection of this young growth from fire is clearly the most important factor in reaforestation, and its care is not the duty of the forest ranger only, but also the duty of every citizen of British Columbia. The material welfare of many thousands of future citizens of British Columbia is assured if our young forest growth remains intact from fire.

As well as being lumber hungry the world is paper hungry, and mood pulp is the base of the bulk of the paper consumed by the reading public. Publishers are alarmed regarding even the immediate future. Here, again stocktaking has been going on and some of the large pulp and paper plants in the east on both sides of the line are looking around for new sources of supply, while they are taking steps to conserve the pulpwood on their present area.

The search for new pulpwood areas is being extended to Labrador and Alaska, and, naturally, British Columbia is not being overlooked. On this cost the pulp and paper industry is already established on a firm basis and there is every prospect of rapid development just as soon as supplies of pulp and paper making plant are available.

There are large pulpwood areas in Northern British Columbia and in the interior of the province still untouched. The future must bring about development in these districts.

In pulp, as in merchantable timber, we are still at the "nugget' stage, as it were, but the day of closer utilization is coming just as it has in mining where the low grade ores are being treated successfully. In the older countries, the pulp plant is looked upon as being of the nature of a scavenger for the large saw mills, and it would appear that the day is coming when much of the woods and mill waste will find its way to the pulp digester.

The greatest value accruing from a discussion of our forest wealth and its future care and disposition is in the stirring of public interest on the subject. A man may make the wildest guess as to the future, yet he has succeeded in doing good if he has stirred up a controversy which entails devoting thought to our future welfare.

I feel satisfied that the various branches of the timber industry are thinking longer thoughts today in regard to the future of our forest resources than ever before, and I know that the officials of the Forset Branch are doing so. Much of the success for the future depends upon a continuance of the mutually helpful spirit which exists between the industry and the Provincial Forest

THE ITALIAN OUTBREAK

The miniature economic outbreak in Italy is as fantastic in its way as D'Annunzio's adventure in another sphere. Taking advantage of a lockout in a great automobile plant, and of the unwise threat of many employers to close their works rather than parley further with Labor, employees in the metal trades have occupied numerous factories, ejected the owners, and taken control of production. Despatches say that they are seizing railway coal, with exclusive regard to their own needs. Having no sales organization they are accumulating finished products with a delightful indifference to the market and the law of supply and demand. So long as raw material holds out or can be appropriated this process can go on, providing the workers are not concerned about wages or about paying their bills. The storekeepers are showing a lack of enthusiasm for the arrangement, but have been told that if they will not give credit their goods will be commandered. There is no reason at all why the metal workers cannot live within this circle or vacuum so long as materials, fuel, food, clothing and shelter can be got for the asking. It will not matter whether they sell a single automobile or any other product.

Northern Italy has become highly industrialized, and the Socialist movement, which embraces the majority of wage-earners, is strongly influenced by French syndicalism and Russian communism. Bolshevist agitators have been active, and are trying to bring about a general revolution on Soviet lines, but so far they have been held in check by Labor leaders, who fear that if their plans are pushed farther they will come into direct conflict with the whole power of the state. Revolutionary sentiment in Italy is local or regional, and there is discretion in the decision to limit the area of the present experiment in syndicalism. It cannot, of course, succeed, as it is based on the fallacy that the only factors in production are labor and machinery. It ignores enterprise, managerial talent, personal initiative, the science of salesmanship and marketing, the world ramifications of trade, and the complexity of business on a large scale. The scheme will collapse because it ignores essential elements in industry and it does not deserve to succeed because it is based on the robbery of employers. A better social order cannot be built on such foundations. — Toronto Globe.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Paton wish to convey their sincere thanks to those friends of Fernie and Coal Creek who were so kind to them during their late bereavement.

IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of our Dear Son Thomas G. Martin, who was killed in action 21st September, 1916.

An unknown grave is the bitterest blow,
None but an aching heart can know.
A little hillock of blood and clay,
A wooden cross raised four years today.
Beneath sleeps a hero—a mother's son,
Honored in death by victory won.
He fell with others so noble and brave,
And sleeps tonight in a soldier's grave.

"THE RIGHT TO HAPPINESS"

Big Special Production at the Orpheum, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 29 and 30.

A picture of what all humanity claims as its own—the right to happiness.

A love story for which the screen has no equal.

In 1898, Andrew Hardcastle, an American business man in Russia, is bereft of his baby daughter, Dorothea, through a program against the Jews. Thinking her dead, he returns to this country bringing with him little Vivian — twin sister of Dorothea. Years pass and Hardcastle, his heart hardened, makes millions in war profits but obstinately refuses his workmen their just rewards. Meanwhile, Vivian revels in luxury, heedless of those others who also have the right to happiness. Comes now — Sonia—a fiery young Russian agitator, burning with convictions of injustice, filled with passionate love for mankind. Enciting the Hardcastle employees to violence, she leads the mob to—her own father's home. Here she is accidentally shot but, while dying, is recognized by her father and sister. With their eyes opened at last to their duties to humanity, these two henceforth earn their right to happiness through justice and unselfishness.

SOME DANCE AND SONG SHOW

Lamb and Goodrich, one of the best known teams of terpsichorian artists, head the long list of dancers who will appear with the new musical comedy "Come Along Mary," which will be the attraction at the Grand next Friday, Oct. 1. They are exponents of all the latest society syncopations, including the famous London Slum dance, known as "The Rounders." Kenneth Christie, the exceptional blackface comedian is a wonder when it comes to eccentric dancing, and these clever dancers are assisted by a score of others who hold a place in the front ranks of the modern dancing artists of the day.

Of the singers, one seldom hears a more satisfying voice than that possessed by Jess Willingham, the silver voiced Irish Tenor, who with petite Lucile 'Lestrange, the little girl with the wonderful voice, form a duo of singers seldom equalled in musical comedy.

The Broadway Male Quartette is an organization hard to beat and are producers of harmony and comedy never equalled.

The entire cast of principals has been selected with a view of making this attraction one of the fastest singing and dancing shows on the road, and they are assisted by a chorus of charming young "squabs" who sing and dance their way through two and one half hours of hilarious fun and melodious music.

"Come Along Mary" is a fast stepping 20th century musical comedy treat, different from anything that has ever been invented or discovered. Seats on sale at McLean's.

FERNIE'S OPPORTUNITY

The city has for a number of years operated a steam electric plant with which to supply energy for commercial and street lighting and power. During the calendar year 1919 the operating expense was approximately $18,000 and the energy output amounted to slightliy more than 352,000 kilowatt-hours. Add to operating costs fixed charges and it will be seen that almost 10 cents per kilowatt-hour is expended to produce electricity which is now being supplied to the citizens of Fernie.

The present steam plant is obsolete and inadequate; in short it is incapable of supplying the growing needs for electricity and has already traveled a long distance towards the junk heap. Fernie has one of two things to do, viz., build a new steam plant and face increasing operating costs (with continued high prices to consumers) or purchase hydro-electric power at a cost not exceeding 2½c per kilowatt-hour.

It is a public duty for each and every citizen to read the contract proposed by the British Columbia & Alberta Power Co., Ltd., and be prepared to vote intelligently on the ordnance which provides for the acceptance of this agreement.

Visualize what this will mean to the average householder; continuous service, eventually a lower price, opportunity for a broader use of domestic appliances and better lighted streets. Do not overlook the commercial advantages; it has for years been demonstrated that diversified manufacturing has been given a tremendous impetus by the advent of cheap power and an adequate supply. Fernie is the centre of a district which has a wealth of forest and mineral resources. In the interest of economy raw materials should be made into the finished product, as near as possible to the point of origin, before shipping to outside markets.

In the matter of geographical location and natural resources Fernie is particularly favored; an additional advantage is offered in the way of a plentiful supply of low priced electric power. A vote will be held on Oct. 6, which will determine whether or not we will have this last named advantage.

CORRECTION

Owing to the inability of our reporter to be present at the last council meeting, the report of the last meeting as given in the Free Press was not altogether correct. The vote on the motion to send two delegates to the annual convention of B. C. Municipalities resulted in a tie and the motion was declared lost, so that Fernie will not be represented at this convention. The original motion of Ald. Tully, endorsing certain resolutions submitted by Revelstoke city council, was not understood by Ald. Tully to contain the clause requesting that municipalities be given power to regulate and control or collect licenses from incorporated clubs as now constituted. This explanation is made in justice to Ald. Tully.

LETTER FROM EX-EDITOR

The following letter from Geo. L. Pedlar to J. L. Gates will be of interest to his many friends in Fernie:

Woodside, Man., Sept. 22.

Dear John—A reply to your interesting letter is long overdue, partly on account of carelessness and partly because I have been trying to hit the ball.

We got the golden harvest set up in bunches and are trying to thresh it between showes. After every shower prices drop 10c. A few more and we have to pay somebody to take it.

I still get 3 squares a day if I cook 'em myself and have a good roof over my head except when it rains.

Solemn warning is hereby given that if you and Wallace blow along before the last sheaf is threshed you get introduced 2 a 3-pronged tosser. And you would sure be a welcome addition to the gang. Later, I might put you on an easy graft bumping rocks. We has sow belly and can tomatters regular and if you are hungry enough you can eat it.

The little prairie hen is numerous, but wild, tho I think we could spear a few. We might chase a wolf if the old plugs didn't drop dead. But one thing we could do to perfection and I'd sure admire 2 b at it, and that is chew the fat of old times, and later history.

My happy home measures 10x16 with plenty of head room up to long Lowe's size, and you could sleep in the big tamarac bunk. We have some horse blankets in a pinch and lots of springy hay and thistles.

Speaking seriously, it would be like the advent of an angel from Heaven to see your smiling countenance come out of the car door and I can't urge you too strongly to come out here and see how "the other half" live. When the little Frost puts the plow out of business I am a free nigger for a while, with little to do but gather the 2 daily eggs and water the goose. Maybe there won't be any eggs to bother with and we can eat the goose. I might sell you a farm and earn your eternal reproach.

I haven't seen a soul from Fernie since I left Geo. Schupe on the blawsted boat. I get the paper regularly and note that the old burg seems to be getting a touch of prosperity. It's about time.

The demon is to be slain utterly here on the 25th of next month and we shall have to make our own. I am getting a large teapot.

No word from Fairclough or Volume for many moons. Bob is living in a country where they can still get a drop and I think Jack is in B. C. somewhere.

I hope you are getting your paw into the grab bag occasionally and that the family are flourishing apace.

Kindest regards to Mrs. G. and the best of everything to youurself is the sincere wis hof

Your old tallicum

CURLY THOMSON GOES EAST

Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Thomson and family left this morning for Toronto, Ont., in which province it is their intention to permanently reside. With their departure two of our most popular young people have gone from out midst and a gap has been made among those who take active part in furthering social welfare which will be very hard to repair. Mr. Thomson came to this city over thirteen years ago and was employed by a furniture and undertaking firm here. His energy and progressiveness were rewarded by success in the commercial field and for several years he has been the sole owner of the first class undertaking establishment. He also took a deep interest in civil affairs and served one term on the city council as alderman, following which he was awarded the highest honor the citizens of Fernie could confer upon him by electing him their mayor. In fraternal circles, "Curly Thomson," by which name he was more generally known, took a very active part, and was a member of several orders. He very efficiently held the appointment of coroner for over three years, and was secretary of the Fernie Distict Libeal Association. Having a desire, however, to secure a business in a larger centre, he disposed of his business here to A. E. Ferguson, and with an opportunity in view to locate in Toronto, he and his family departed thence this morning. In the new sphere in which Mr. and Mrs. Thomson are about to enter, they will have with them the well-wishes of not only the citizens of Fernie, but of those in the entire distrct whch surrounds this city, and that the prosperity and success achieved here will ever continue with them and theirs.

A few days prior to their departure, about thirty ladies gave a surprise party at the Thomson residence and presented Mrs. Thomson with a beautiful pearl pendant and chain, Mrs. Jos. Austin making the presentation. Mr. Thomson was also the guest of honor of the local Masonic lodge the same evening.

CARD OF THONKS

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Paton and family wish to thank their many friends for tokens of sympathy and numerous floral tributes during their recent sad bereavement; also the Ladies Benevolent Society for kindness to Allison during her long illness.

CARD OF THONKS

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Morris wish to extend thanks to those who were so kind to them during their recent bereavement an dto those who donated flowers for he funeral.

It was her night of nights. She wanted to be proud of him, and he failed her miserably. How he atoned is told in "Human Stuff," starring Harry Carey. Isis Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

NO STRIKE AT PRESENT

Ever since the O.B.U. convention in Calgary about two weeks ago, the emissaries of that Bolshevik organization have been busy throughout the district trying to start something in the line of a strike. Foiled in their scheme to ring in a fake telegram from English labor leaders, asking them to come out in sympathy, they had to find other pretexts. The recent raise in wages for day men across the line was the mole hill to be exalted into a mountain in this district, and they have spared no effort to stir up feeling in this connection, although everybody is perfectly aware that it is the checkoff which is really worrying the O.B.U.

After a careful investigation, which showed that there would be a decided split in the ranks if a strike was called involving the checkoff, they decided to bide their time and grasp what they could from the desperate situation, and at a mass meeting held last evening, at which the U. M. W. of A. representatives were present, a resolution was passed demanding that the day men be given an increase of $1.50 or a strike would be called at the expiration of ten days. The matter of the checkoff was dropped.

As the matter of an increase for day men has been under consideration between the U. M. W. of A. and the Operators at Calgary for some time, it is generally believed that this trouble will be adjusted amicably.

FOOTBALL

Michel and Fernie battled to another draw last Sunday at Coal Creek in the replay of the final for the Mutz cup. The day was ideal for the players but chilly for the spectators. However, after the game got started nobody thought about the cold, as the play was exciting all through the game. Michel won the toss and played with the wind in their backs, and some strenuous football was witnessed before the teams crossed over at half time, with no score on either side. Immediately on resumption of play Michel began to press and through a scrimmage in front of the Fernie goal they scored the first tally of the game. This nettled Fernie and the play was immediately turned into Michel's territory, and there was no let up until Fernie evened the score. Full time was called with the score even and the referee ordered 30 minutes extra time, but the score was the same when the extra time was called. This is the second tie in the final of the Mutz cup, and a replay will be ordered. Look out for the date and don't miss the replay as both teams are bent on winning the cup. Michel team had the assistance last week of Fisher, the goal keeper from Hillcrest; also Fowler and Yates from Coleman. We hope they will have their regular lineup next game. Fisher is sure some goalkeeper, but he's not a patch on Sawyer, the Fernie man. Fowler from Coleman is a fairly good artist with the ball, it was practically impossible for him to pass Booth and Wilson, the Fernie defence. Fernie team as a whole played their regular game. Michel missed the Travers boys, but nevertheless they were always dangerous.

Jimmy Wilson handled the game as usual.

"MAPLE LEAFS" COMING

In response to the many requests from ex-service men in Canada, especially former fourth division men, Captain M. W. Plunkett, the producer of most of the soldier entertainments supplied our boys in France, has gathered together the "Maple Leafs" theatrical company and will present them on a home coming tour of Canada in their original revue, "Camouflage."

The "Maple Leafs" were the official party of the fourth division in France and were one of the greatest favorites of the C.E.F.

Their musical revue was written for them in London and it has proved to be one of the brightest and most tuneful shows ever staged in close proximity to the firing line.

There are several wonderful 'girls' among the Maple Leafs, all of whom did their bit with rifle and bayonet before being chosen by the Captain for service in the entertainment corps. It is this fact which makes the artistry of the soldier-actors a thing above the ordinary theatrical entertainment. It is true that their work often times ranks higher than that of old time professionals, as proved by the fact that the members of the "Maple Leafs" have nearly all been featured in London musical shows since the war, but, to Canada, at least, their work has a splendid significance, which nothing but the fact that they were first of all Canadian soldiers fighting side by side with our own boys, could impart.

"Camouflage" has been given a brilliant production by Captain Plunkett, and the fact that this tour is under his personal direction is a sufficient guarantee to the theatre going public and the returned men that the performance will be clean and wholesome, gorgeously gowned and elaborately staged.

CURLERS HOLD ANNUAL MEET.

The annual meeting of the Fernie Curling Club took place last evening in the curling rink with about forty members present.

The President, Archie Corrie, occupied the chair and reviewed the history of the organization during the past year.

The minutes of the annual meeting held Oct. 17 of last year were read and adopted.

The financial statement as follows was also adopted:

Balance in bank	$ 70.19

The following officers for the ensuing year were then elected:

Hon. President — Dr. S. Bonnell, M.P.

President—Harvey Brown.

1st Vice—R. M. Young.

2nd Vice—Guy Johnston.

Sec.-Treas.—D. M. Mitchell.

Chaplain—Rev. Father Kennedy.

Executive—Mayor G. G. Henderson, T. Beck, A. Corrie, T. Prentice and S. Herchmer.

After considerable discussion it was decided to appoint a committee of two, consisting of F. C. Lawe and S. Herchmer, to interview all the curlers re membership for 1920-21, and obtain from them the information whether they desired to be active members or associate members. In past years a lot of trouble and annoyance has been caused by members being placed on rinks who very seldom if ever turned out to play. It was also decided that associate members could play on any rink to fill a vacancy subject to the rules governing, or that in case a rink of such members was formed later in the season they could do so subject to the ruling of the executive.

The membership fee for the season was fixed at $15.

The election of skips was placed in the hands of the executive committee.

The ladies curling fee was fixed at $5.

As the District Bonspiel will be held in Fernie this winter, it was decided to give the executive committee power to add to their numbers in order to handle that event.

After the curlers had partaken of a bountiful supply of refreshments the meeting adjourned.

IMMIGRATION INCREASING

Contrary to many predictions the tide of immigration from Europe is approaching the high-water mark of pre-war days—5000 arrivals a day now at Ellis Island; 800,000 immigrants in the year ended June 30, compared to 141,132 during the previous year and the record of 1,285,349 in 1907, according to the Department of Labor; steamships taxed to the limit of their capacity and all available accommodations booked for a year in advance. Metropolitan journals welcome these prospects of making up a shortage of labor, generally indorse the department "shake-up" which promises more considerate and efficient handling of immigrants at ports of entry, and in the most cases sounds the call for friendly Americanization. The change from bitter war-time emphasis on perils to the United States from hordes of ignorant foreigners is striking. The swing of the pendulum is marked by a census statistician in the Atlantic Monthly who would have overseas critics, and incidentally home observers as well, remember "the unruffled fifty-five millions" of native American white stock which he figures out to be the cluminative dominant element in the United States today.

Continuation of the present wave of immigration will do much to relieve the shortage of labor by which industry and enterprise are severely handicapped, observes the Boston Transcript, whose comment is representative of the opinion of many papers.

"The immigrant of the better type is needed in America. There is plenty for him to do here, and the opportunities for him to advance and become a useful American citizen were probably never greater than they are today.

"America has need of immigrants. But in his coming he lays upon the American people grave and inescapable responsibilities. Those responsibilities must be cheerfully and promptly accepted if the balance sheet of immigration is not to register a deficit. America, the 'land of opportunity,' owes to each of its prospective citizens a chance to learn the principles upon which the greatness of America has been builded. Not to provide such a chance to every one who knocks at our doors would be to give visible aid and comfort to the enemies within our own household."

The fact that many of the immigrants are reservists who went over to former homelands leads to varying comment. "For every immigrant with his smattering of American ways there is an immigrant who knows nothing regarding practices here," remarks the Detroit Free Press, and thorough assimilation and care to start them right must be provided. The Jacksonville, Florida, Times-Union encouragingly points out that doubtless those who return have had an American influence on their friends in foreign countries. The Salt Lake City Desert News thinks there be another advantage in the return of men already in a measure familiar with American methods: "They will be able at once to enter into lively competition with those engaged in their particular kind of labor," and so relieve shortage and increase efficiency. The Newark Ledger protests against the reported plan of organized labor to ask Congress to impose further drastic restrictions on immigration, including higher educational and property qualifications. "It is unskilled labor which immigration brings," and "when we have a vast supply of this essential knocking at our doors, turning it away arbitrarily to ease groundless apprehension that it will lower wages is not to be thought of."

Against alarmist and superficial misconceptions of the contents of the American "melting-pot," Mr. W. S. Rossiter, in the Atlantic Monthly, sets his calculation that "the American stock, with its assimilated early additions, is the greatest Anglo-Saxon element in the world," in numbers greater than the combined population of England, Scotland, Wales and Canada. These constitute "the unruffled fifty-five millions," "the placid deeps of the nation," "the homogeneous basic stock of "the real American." Mr. Rossiter is chairman of an Advisory Committee to the Director of the Census and writes in answer to the question, "What are Americans?"

"Primarily they are a mighty company of nearly fifty-five millions of men, women and children of British ancestry, including the descendants in the second or later generations of Irish, German, and other immigrants who came to America sixty years ago or earlier, and including also later Anglo-Saxon arrivals and their children, welded into one vast and surprisingly homogeneous element. This element is the pillar which supports the Republic. It is the element which manages and controls the United States. Even in places where it is in a minority it generally leads. The activities of the nation, infinite in variety and extent, both intellectual and material, are principally in the hands of persons of the native and allied stock. The farmers are largely native, as are lawyers, clergymen, physicians, school teachers, bankers, this is no exclusive company or class, manufacturers and managers. Yet since these vocations are open to all who qualify."

The census figures showing about one-third of our population as foreign born or their children does not justify the European conception of a mongrel America, according to Mr. Rossiter. He analyzes the census statictics of "natives of native parentage" constituting the largest group of our population. This began with 3,200,000 white population at the first census in 1790, practically "basic British stock," which had become 39,000,000 in 1910. Descendants of immigrants before 1860, British, German and Irish, early and quickly assimilated, raise the reckoning to 43,100,000. Including offspring of later British stock, the computation becomes 44,200,000. Add 5,100,000 persons of Anglo-Saxon birth or parentage and the total is 49,300,000. Half a million Scotch-Irish raise the figure to 49,800,000. Allowing but 10 per cent increase for the decade since 1910, the estimate for 1920 is 54,800,000 in a total white population of approximately 94,000,000. As for 11,000,000 negroes, Mr. Rossiter points out that they "know nothing but America," "little use for foreigners," and at least half of them, comprising the more intelligent element, "ought to be classed as standing with the native white stock in purposes and ideals."

While the average native American is not especially pro-British, nevertheless, the writer says, "the American and British, springing in the main from the same blood, speak the same language of ideals and purposes."

"Talk of serious disagreements between Great Britain and the United States is preposterous. Were Irish agitators to attempt to precipitate trouble, the great Anglo-Saxon bulk of the nation would be heard from in no uncertain tones. Meanwhile, it is hard—especially for foreign observers—to realize that, just as the waves break and roar upon the surface over untroubled deeps, so on the surface of the great body of the American people, nearly fifty-five million strong, Irish agitators roar and the restless and frothy of other nationalities shout and intrigue. With us, patient endurance is part of the great task of assimilation."

What the Atlantic's article would prove, comments the New York Evening Post, is "simply that the close-welded centre is still easily strong enough to determine the line of the national march."

"A danger lurks in all attempts to define national character with reference to blood and race, for our national character transcends them. A Greek or Italian ten years in America may easily be a better American than the descendant of Puritans. But we can at least appeal to the statistics of blood and race as an argument for the purpose of enlarging, not contracting, our nationality. In so far as they show that talk of 'swamping' the old stock is wild they serve a useful purpose to old and new stock alike. Danger actually exists that here and there, in this city or that, immigrants may grow too numerous, and our present concern with Americanization was much needed. But in the large view exclusionists can gain no comfort from census figures." — Literary Digest.

THE WORK OF HEARST

Though it would be, no doubt, impossible to indict him in court for the offence, there is little doubt that the bomb outrage in Wall Street which resulted in the death of thirty or more men and women was the work of William Randolph Hearst. That he is morally guilty of that wholesale slaughter is as certain as the known fact that Hearst was responsible for the assassination of President McKinley in 1901. On that occasion it was made clear that the wretched Czolgocz who fired the fatal shot was directly inspired to do so by the New York "Journal."

The attacks on McKinley, 19 years ago, were mild compared wth those which have lately been published in the leading Hearst jaurnals in denunciation of J. Pierpont Morgan, Henry Pomeroy Davison, Thomas W. Lamont, Edward Stettinius and others connected with the Morgan firm. Before us is a copy of the Chicago American of recent date in whch all these men were charged with conspiracy to hand over the United States of America to the control of Great Britain, and with spending fabulous sums to accomplish that end. It was alleged that not only did the Morgan firm receive billions from Great Britan as her purchasing agent in the early stages of the war; but that Mr. Morgan and his associates, especially Mr. Stettinius, became wholesale profiteers at the expense of the American people after the United States entered the war. Another detail of the alleged conspiracy was that the United States were to be bought with money borrowed from themselves. The chief object of Great Britain was stated that of evading payment of that enormous debt. As in all Hearst editorials the suggestion that violence was the remedy was cunningly intimaed. These charges have been repeated under a hundred variations in the many Hearst newspapers that dsgrace leading American cities, and debauch the minds of ignorant and discontented readers. Nominally these attacks have been published in the interest of Presidential candidature of Senator Harding, but the desire of Hearst to "get" Mr. Morgan and his partners was obvious. In specific terms they have been denounced as a "British firm of bankers" engaged in wholesale pillage.

In connection with this campaign the League of Nations has been dragged in as one of the chief agencies in a plot against humanity. In a recent issue of the Los Angeles Examiner, the League, of which Mr. Lamont of the Morgan firm is a strong advocate, was denounced as a "militaristic league of oppression" which its sponsors were endeavoring "to impose on the overburdened backs of the American people." France was not spared either. France needs American wheat and a protest was made against letting her have any because she had "wasted her substance in an unjust war" and also "in a wretched, immoral intrigue against the independence of Russia."

The whole recent policy of the Hearst publications has been to inflame the Bolshevist element of the United States against Great Britain and France and against the Morgan firm as capitalists who are in alliance with them. Again and again it has been emphasized that the money in the vaults of Morgan had been stolen from the American people. What wonder then that with daily inflammatory appeals of this kind to feed their venom a group of anarchists should have endeavored to bomb the Morgan building? The deaths of thirty odd victims enable William Randolph Hearst to add so many more deaths to his long tally of personally promoted slaughter.—Saturday Night.

He looked like a tenderfoot; but his well tailored clothes hid a frame of steel and there was a sledge hammer punch in each of his carefully gloved hands. See Harry Carey in "Human Stuff" at Isis Monday and Tuesday.

LABOR FLOUTS DIRECT ACTION

The predominating sanity of Canadian labor was reflected at the sessions of the Trades Congress of Canada, held at Windsor last week. Though the aim of labor to secure the highest possible rewards was made abundantly clear, revolutionary proposals for the reconstruction of existing society got short shrift. The speeches of visitors like Mr. Thomas E. Shea, of the American Federation of Labor, and Mr. J. E. Davidson, national organizer of the Iron Founders of Great Britain, showed that evolution rather than revolution is the creed of experienced labor leaders. Mr. Davidson's condemnation of "direct action" was particularly apropos at the present time. He holds that "direct action," which means the use of the strike weapon to control all governmental decisions and give labor the sole controlling voice in national affairs, would be a boomerang that would exhaust the resources of trade unions and inflict needless suffering on the families of the workingmen themselves, with no tangible results in the end.

Such addresses should be a useful antidote to those speeches that Robt. Smillie, the British apostle of "direct action" expects to make when he comes to Canada next month. That Smillie is coming across the ocean and proposes to give the British people a rest will be welcome news, both there and elsewhere. It shows that the Federation of Miners of Great Britain, of which he is the head, have decided to abandon, for the coming winter at least, the project of bringing on a general strike among the basic industries of the motherland and enforcing immediate social reconstruction.

Smillie, who has all the fanaticism of an embattled Scotsman, is intent on the destruction of the parliamentary form of government, which he regards, because of its widely representative character, as a permanent obstacle to domination of public affairs by the working classes. He is so sincere in his belief that the House of Commons is a capitalistic abomination that he has on many occasions refused nominations for parliament in safe seats. It is said that he has no definite programme of social reconstruction. He wishes to destroy the existing edifice of government first and trusts himself to evolve in due time a plan to take its place. Smillie's aspirations to dictatorship are so well known that Lloyd George once said of them: "The British people would not submit to King Charles the First as dictator; I don not believe they will submit to 'King' Smillie either."—Saturday Night.

FUNERAL IS HELD OF LATE MR. DILL

A large attendance of citizens was recorded yesterday at the funeral of the late J. W .Dill, of Toronto, who died at Fernie last week while en route to Nelson to visit his sons. A service was held at the residence of H. E. Dill, Mill street, and another was held at St. Paul's Presbyterian church, both conducted by Rev. D. T. McClintock. Interment was in the city cemetery.

The late J. W. Dill was born in Preston, Ont., in 1840. He filled positions in Hespeler and Penetanguishene. In 1867 he married Mary Anne, daughter of James Wright, and of this marriage there were six sons and three daughters. After his mariage he moved to Mattewa, in the employ of the federal government. From there he went to Bracebridge in 1870, and entered into commercial business. Here he served as school trustee, councillor and reeve of the town, and was elected warden of the county of Victoria. In 1885 he was elected member of the legislatore. He was afterwards crown land agent for the government.

In 1891 Mr. Dill moved to Moosomin, Sask., and for several years carried on a general store business. During 1893 he was bereaved of his wife.

Shortly after this he moved to Riverside, Calif., and in 1895 married Laura Anne, daughter of the late Col. Reynolds, of London.

Mr. Dill returned with his family to Ontario in 1897, entering the civil service in 1899, first as legislative librarian, then as assistant postmaster in the parliament buildings, which position he held until his death.

He is survived by his wife, his sons, H. E. Dill and A. J. Dill, of Nelson, B.C.; Chas. W. Dill, Regina; E. B. Dill and A. W. Dill, of Enderby; F. B. Dill, Vancouver; and his daughters, Mrs. A. Howard, Whitby, Ont.; and Mrs. R. T. McMullen, Toronto.

Mr. Dill was a member of the Presbyterian church, a member of the Masonic Order for 41 years, and was fond of outdoor sports, such as curling, cricket, bowling and hunting. Last July he underwent a serious operation in Grace hospital, Toronto, and was on his way to British Columbia on the advice of his doctor, hoping to regain his strength and spend some time with his sons in Nelson, Enderby and Vancouver. Death came suddenly on Sept. 21, near Fernie, the land elevation apparently affecting the action of the heart.

Mrs. Dill will remain in Nelson for the present.

Four of his sons attended the funeral, including Frank B., from Vancouver, and Edwin B., from Enderby.—Nelson News.

MARY MILES MINTER IN "ANNE OF GREEN GABLES"

At the Orpheum Monday and Tuesday.

The photoplay "Anne of Green Gables," was adapted by Frances Marion from the four "Anne" books of L. M. Montgomery, popular alike with children and grownups for many years. William D. Taylor directed Miss Minter and George Fosley did the photography.

The story of the play has to do with Marilla and Matthew Cuthbert, a New England spinster and her farmer brother, living at a home called Green Gables, in Bright River, Mass., who write to an orphanage to send them a boy to help on the farm. Instead, Anne Shirley, a freckled-faced girl with an exaggerated imagination, arrives. Anne proves to be a mischievous girl and the story deals with the scrapes she gets into. The years pass and Anne is graduated from the Academy at the top of the class. Her plans to go to college are upset when Matthew has financial reverses, causing his death. In order to obtain the services of an eye specialist for Marilla, Anne teaches at the village school. Anne's difficulties with a family named Pie result in complications which almost cost Marilla's eyesight, but things are straightened out and Anne gets a lover besides.

The story is replete with the wholesomeness and freshness so often lacking in pictures at the present time. Ridiculous situations and a cast that is true to the characterizations of the book go toward making it a success.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

H. P. Gregson, of Dorr, is in the city today.

Mrs. A. J. Moffatt arrived home on Saturday after spending a year with her people in England.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Corbett returned on Thursday from a two weeks' visit at the coast.

M. A. Kastner sold the John McLachlan property in West Fernie this week.

Mildred Harris Chaplin in "The Inferior Sex" at the Orpheum, Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 6 and 7.

Wm. Barraclough has moved his butcher shop into the new Bossio block, across the road from the old stand. He has a fine shop.

Miss M. Clarke, dry good buyer for Ashwell Limited, of Chilliwack, B.C., spent a few days last week in town, the guest of Miss L. E. Benning.

Prov. Chief Spiller, who has been ill at the coast, returned to the city this week. He will take a month's holidays before resuming his duties.

F. W. Robbins, of the Home Bank staff, has been transferred to Calgary. Jos. McDougall has taken over the cash cage.

The regular meeting of the W. A. G.W.V.A. will be held at Hawthorne's Hall on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, Oct. 5.

Prov. Police Inspector Dunwoody has purchased Robt. Potter's residence on Howland Ave; $1900 was the amount involved. M. A. Kastner put through the deal.

Don't forget the vote on the hydro-electric Bylaw on Wednesday, Oct. 6. This is an opportunity for the city to save over $7000 a year. It is worth turning out to vote for.

The District Ledger building was sold yesterday in default of payment of taxes by the U.M.W. of A., who formerly held this property, to a syndicate headed by William Hunter.

The executive of the golf club have adopted a new set of local rules for the course. They are now in the hands of the printer and players will be able to get a copy by Saturday or Sunday.

Reports from Corbin indicate that a building boom is going on in that city. The population of Corbin has been rapidly increasing lately and prospects are very bright for it being an up to date city.

Weather permitting, Cranbrook and Fernie will clash in what may be the last baseball game of the season, on Sunday, Oct. 3. In the event of the football game being called off, the baseball game will start at 2.30 instead of 2.00 as billed.

Robt. Potter, formerly city engineer of Fernie, was in the city several days this week. Bob is located at Penticton, where he conducts a wholesale ice cream business. During his stay here he was the guest of A. Cummings.

It is hardly fair to the baseball boys, who turn out every spring and during the season to repair their grounds, and have some people unconsciously taking advantage of an unguarded field, to use the diamond for a turning point for autos, short cuts for teams and for driving cows to and from pasture; also the outfield as a race track when one is available nearby. Such actions have caused the ball team a lot of expense this year, calling for rolling before each game can be played.

J. A. Broley, of Flagstone, was in the city yesterday. Jim says the countryside down his way is very much excited over the mysterious disappearance of 15 cases of hooch. It seems that an alleged Jew bootlegger was moving 48 cases of liquor from one building to another via an auto truck and during the operations kept the man who was doing the moving well covered with a rifle. The goods were loaded 48 strong, but when unloaded 15 cases had disappeared. The Jew is still hunting, but he is fully persuaded that the angels got them.

She leaves a husband, residing at Wigan, six sons and two daughters, to mourn her death.

Almost too late she realized that the man she pretended to despise was the one man that really mattered. Instinctively he heard the call and responded. See "Human Stuff," Harry Carey's latest photodrama, at Isis Monday and Tuesday.

"Something will happen. These people will delude themselves until the present day attitude of "easy come—easy go" will find them unprepared for the future. Munro Tells How Tanlac Built Him Up So Others May Benefit By His Experience

"Tanlac has completely relieved me of a severe case of stomach trouble which had bothered me for years, and I feel it my duty to state my experience for the benefit of others," said Aleck G. Munro, 1261 McTavish St., Regina, Sask.

"Indigestion kept me in perfect misery most of the time. Why, I couldn't eat a thing without having pains in the pit of my stomach afterwards and being bloated up with gas until I could scarcely breathe and my heart would beat like a trip-hammer. I lost all desire for food, became very weak, and altogether was in an awful run-down condition.

"When I saw by the papers that so many people were being helped by Tanlac I decided to give it a trial and it certainly is wonderful how quickly it fixed me up. It gave me a good appetite right away and by the time I was through with the third bottle I was feeling like a new man. I never have any trouble from indigestion now and have gained steadily in weight and strength right along. I sleep like a log every night and get up in the mornings feeling fresh and strong. My whole system seems to have been benefited by Tanlac and I am simply delighted with the results."

CANADA GOOD FOR WHATEVER AILS YOU

New York—It looks as though Canada is going to have a bulge on the vacation business this winter. It is strange that the great majority of vacationers never thought of Canada before.

Really, it is quite a place to spend the two or three weeks. Its natural attractions are numerous and there is no doubting the fact that some of its artificial advantages beckon more strongly this winter than ever before.

People who have never studied up the climate of Canada now find that it is the most salubrious in the world and is wonderful for rheumatism, spavin, ring-bone, St. Vitus' dance, spots before the eyes, nervous prostration, housemaid's knee, pip and, in fact, every other ailment.

People who seem to think it is necessary to have an excuse for taking vacations in winter and spending them in Canada are inventig them with wonderful skill. One man is going there for the reason that he is sure a visit there in January will prevent his usual attack of hay fever next August. Another is going for neuralgia. Another tells us that he has been advised that a short sojourn in Canada will completely cure the carburetor of his automobile, which has been subject to choking spells for several years.

Many are going just to take the children, the same as they go to the circus. One man is going for his wife's toothache, while another is going for the benefit of his bow-legs confident that the wonderful climate will straighten them out. Another, who is hard of hearing, says the rarified atmosphere there will give him relief. He expects to hear so well after he gets there that he will reply promptly to every question by saying: "I'll take the same."

PROVINCIAL NAVAL BRIGADE FAREWELL GATHERING

The first annual Provincial Camp of representatives from every Boys' Naval Brigade throughout the province have held their farewell gathering. Parents and friends of the boys attended and witnessed the closing ceremonies, which consisted mainly in presenting the lads with awards gained for efficiency whilst under instruction in seamanship, etc.

The Vernon Brigade, represented by Petty Officer Ball and Leading Seaman Cooper, won the cup given by Josiah Rylands, of Victoria, for the most efficient brigade in camp. In this competition Vancouver, Victoria and Vernon were equal with a percentage of 186½ out of a possible 200 marks, but as the Vernon boys had no paid instructor to teach them prior to arriving at the camp, they were awarded first place and won the cup.

For individual efficiency Petty Officer Francois, Victoria, and Leading Seaman De Carlo, Vancouver, tied for first place with 100 p.c. each. The former was then presented with a medal from the G.W.V.A. by Comrade Stone, President of the Association, and the latter with a medal from A. & N. V. A., by Brig. Gen. R. P. Clark, on their behalf.

Chief Petty Officer Owens, of Victoria, was then presented with a special prize by the Provincial President of the Navy League of Canada, B.C. Division, for excellent work and attention to his duties whilst at the camp.

An even larger camp on similar lines is being contemplated for next year in view of the great benefit derived by the embryo seamen who are thus enabled to undergo intensive training.

WARNING TO UNIONS

Chicago, Sept. 27.—A warning to building crafts that unless they resort to reason and end disputes, the unions may be destrayed and the open shop come into vogue, has been issued by John H. Donlin, president of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor. The warning is contained in a letter sent from Washington to each union affiliated with his department, and was made public here today.

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

22,000 Canadian Men and Women ask you to buy "Made-in-Canada" Shoes

22,000 CANADIANS are engaged exclusively in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes.

The industry provides them with over $20,000,000 a year to spend within the Dominion.

They buy food and clothing; pay rent and taxes—they help swell the total of Canadian trade.

ALLIED with these 22,000 men and women are many thousands of other workers who contribute to the making of Boots and Shoes. These include textile operatives; wire, nail and metal workers; machine manufacturers; box and carton makers; coal miners and dealers; railway men and shippers; printers; packers and battalions of clerks.

All these, and more, participate in the 50 million dollars which is the yearly value of the Canadian-Made Shoes.

EVERY pair of Canadian-made Shoes you buy actually puts money in the pay envelope of this vast army of men and women.

Every pair of imported Shoes you buy reduces Canada's capital stock and puts money in the pockets of foreigners who contribute nothing to our national growth

CANADIAN-made Shoes, grade for grade, are the equal of the best in the world.

The most scientific processes of manufacture are employed.

Canadian workmen are as conscientious and skilled as those of any other country.

SITUATED as we are between the Old World and the New, every authoritative idea of shape and style and fashion is immediately seized and developed.

The price of Canadian-made Shoes is based entirely on actual production costs. It represents 100% of value.

Canada produces footwear of every desirable type, and of standard quality in all grades. When you buy Made in Canada Footwear you are assured, at fair prices always, of the utmost that modern skill can produce in Comfort, Service and Style.

"THE LITTLE CAFE"

Max Linder has been absent from the screen entirely too long, and it is with pleasure that Pathe brings him back to their program in a five-reel feature comedy of the type of "The Little Cafe."

Linder was one of the earliest of screen comedians, and his name was among the first of fun makers to become known to the public. A native of France, Mr. Linder fought in the war and was wounded at Aisne and discharged as unfit for further service. He then came to the United States and made several comedies, but complications resulted from his wounds and he was forced to give up picture making and return to France. "The Little Cafe" is his first screen appearance in several years. At the Isis Today and Tomorrow.

COAL AND COMMUNISM

Dispatches, which are not always reliable, report that a revolution is pending in Scotland; that communists are laying plans for taking forcible possession of the coal mines of the country and doubtless operating them for the benefit of labor to the entire elimination of capital. If this should prove true, then we are prepared to believe almost anything that may be said about the "land of brown heath and shaggy wood;" even that an earthquake has shaken the country and that Sinn Feinism and Bolshevism have found a lodgment there and are preparing to create all manner of unpleasantness for the people. It would be a miracle, of course, if the coal miners of Scotland have not been smitten by the demon of unrest that prevails in almost all other coal mining regions of the world, but it would be a greater miracle if the Scots should be the first to take extreme measures in the premises. As a general thing the men of the North are slow to action. They are unquestionably very cautious and discreet, taking the population as a whole. But miners are uually radical in their political opinions and instantaneous in seizing opportunities to strike for their personal benefit.

Withal, it is extremely probable that the contents of the dispatch referring to a communist uprisinng may safely be subjected to considerable discount. It is hardly conceivable that Scotch miners would resort to "direct action" of the kind while the English and Welsh underground workers are wrestling with the British government for public ownership and operation of the mines with an increase in the pay of miners and a decrease in the cost of coal to consumers. The men who make those demands do not undertake to say how such apparently contradictory measures can be made effective without saddling the loss incurred in mine operation upon the general taxpayer. Probably they are not much concerned about the solution of problems of their creation so long as they get what they seek. What with one thing and another, it is evident that the Lloyd George government has serious matters on its hands in these days of combined unrest and aspiration. —Colonist.

It's a UNIVERSAL-JEWEL Picture

DO you know what the devil's passkey is? Can it be bought? Who uses it? You'll know when you see this amazing photodrama of an American husband and wife in Paris—one day on the very crest of the social wave, the next day, the storm centre of the biggest scandal Paris ever knew. A picture so real, so human, so crowded with suspense that you'll remember it all your days. Now playing. Don't miss it

A MASTERPIECE OF PRODUCTION

"The DEVIL'S PASSKEY"

Von Stroheim's New Wonder Picture

THE tremendous story of an American playwright in Paris who dramatized the indiscretions of an unknown woman and brought himself fame and fortune. Then he learned the woman was his own wife. What did he do to untangle the meshes of scandal and gossip? What would you have done? You'll have to see this master picture to satisfy yourself. Don't think of missing it. Playing now.

It's a UNIVERSAL-JEWEL Picture

WEDNESDAY & THURSDAY, OCTOBER 6th & 7th

25 & 50 CENTS. SPECIAL MUSIC

A MARVEL OF SUSPENSE

Picture the husband's situation! One moment, a successful playwright, applauded by all Paris after years of grinding effort, the golden prize at last in his hands. In the next moment, a thing of scorn and contempt, ruined for life, cast into outer darkness along with her whose love has been his fool's delight. Do you wonder that he thirsts for revenge on her—on him—on them AAA? Does he get that revenge? Ah—there's the genius of Von Stroheim at its best—SUSPENSE!

If ever or never you've felt almost UNBEARABLE SUSPENSE you will feel it all through the latter half of this remarkable picture. You will sit helpless before the wondrous pictured march of its inevitable events.

To which we would add that neither will you forget the BREADTH and DEPTH of this picture's staging—the great race-track scene at Longchamps, the glittering shops, the gorgeous interior of the Theatre Francais with its fashionable audience, the gay after-theatre supper at the Tivoli where La Belle Odera dances,

"It reflects the gaiety and glitter of the Paris shops," says McElravy in Moving Picture World. "The bathroom scene, in which La Belle Odera has one of her tiny feet manicured, is like an animated drawing from La Vie Parisienne."

SOVIET INTRIGUE IN BRITAIN

The conduct of the London Daily Herald, the National Labor organ of Great Britain, in accepting vast bribes from the Bolshevist emissary, Kameneff, may perhaps find excuse in the minds of those who take an excessively commercial view of life, on the ground that if a newspaper chooses to publish mischievous and deceptive rubbish, it is better to do so for cash, than in a spirit of mere perversity. For months back the underlying motive of every utterance in the Daily Herald has been to upset the existing form of government in Great Britain and establish a "proletarian dictatorship." That the Bolshevist regime in Russia would be willing to pay well for such service is obvious, for Lenine long ago declared that the only hope of success for Sovietism lay in effecting revolutions which would destroy prevailing forms of government in other lands.

Though they claim to have returned the money, the course adopted by the owners of the Daily Herald ever since the charges were mooted early in August has been such as to brand them as men who have not sense enough to tell the truth when cornered. The fact that the Lenine regime was paying large sums to the Daily Herald to agitate against the British government at a time when it was professedly entering into bona fide negotiations for peace, came to light in a curious way. Telegraphic communications with Petrograd on the subject of the deal were picked up by the wireless apparatus of British warships in the Baltic Sea. These telegrams were handed to the press without comment, by the British Admiralty. The intention evidently was to "draw" the Herald for the wording of the messages was not very explicit. The Herald fell into the trap and by the vehemence of its denials fitted the cap on itself rather securely. In the meantime the British secret service was at work and obtained proof that Kemaneff had brought to London jewels of great value in addition to other wealth, had very secretly raised funds, and had made arrangements to turn over the sum of $400,000 to Edgar Lansbury, son of the editor-in-chief, Geo. Lansbury, M.P., and Francis Meynell, one of the directors. After a series of further denials, the Daily Herald suddenly admitted the facts and presented them as proof of the "solidarity of labor." It is believed that the elder Lansbury was kept in ignorance of the transaction until September 6th, and wrote the denials in good faith. He is perhaps one of those individuals too absorbed in his own ideas to give consideration to the source from which the revenues of his publication come. His son Edgar seems a more practical person.

It should be said, for the sake of clearing the good name of the British trades unionist ,that none of the parties to this scandal are real workingmen. George Lansbury by birth and previous condition is a member of the small merchant class, who some years ago became a violent Radical by conviction. Francis Maynell is what is known in America as a "parlor Bolshevik" or "kid-gloved revolutionist." Though an opponent of capitalistic institutions he seems to have strange primitive longings of the soul when confronted with money.

The moral obliquity of the Daily Herald lies in the fact that it was taking money from a regime which from the outset declared itself at war with Great Britain, killed unoffending Britishers who had gone to Russia to aid her in time of need, and has constantly threatened the Asiatic portions of the British Empire with invasion. There was nothing dishonorable in the desire of the British people for an understanding with Russia which would bring peace to Europe; but the Daily Herald, while professedly in sympathy with such aims, was trying to betray them by promoting civil war in England.

In the world at large, as evidenced even in certain labor coteries in Canada, there has been an attempt to create the impression that the Entente powers are responsible for the continuance of war in Europe. They overlook the fact that Lenine, Trotsky and their associates have repeatedly declared themselves at war with all nations which maintain capitalistic institutions. The latest revelations show that they have not yet realized the entire futility of such a project, and are determined as ever that there will be no peace in Europe if they can prevent it.—Saturday Night.

WHISKEY RUNNING

When the west reads about the trafficking in liquor between Windsor and Detroit, or any other two eastern points along the boundary line, it says with the same grim humor that characterizes two people who are comparing bunions or liver symptoms or boils : "Huh! You should see ours!"

Rum running along the prairie border is an old, old game and if there is anything in heredity probably comes easier to the westerner than to his brother in the east, who usually must take into consideration the additional risk of freighting by a water route. Strung across the international boundary between Saskatchewan and the States is a double fringe of "boozoriums" on which it is practically impossible to keep a check.

The town of Minot in North Dakota is said to contain at all times enough whiskey to float the Lusitania. It is being utilized as a general clearing station for the organized gangs of "runners." The Americans at this point and others nearby are experiencing such a wave of prosperity that numbers have sold out their legitimate business and taken to smuggling exclusively. A return run from Estevan, Sask., with a cargo, or cargoes, across poorly patrolled country is mere child's play and cars easily clear $2500 in Mineapolis or St. Paul.

Estevan is said to rsemble some famous national or international resort with its lines of parked cars bearing license plates from every state in the Union. It is not strictly a border town, but is the second largest one in the province and the most important point within motoring distance of the States. Day after day, Sunday being in no wise different, these visiting autos roll in, and the owners in many instances don't even trouble to invent a pretext. It is admitted by them that they regard all danger over once the boundary is crossed.

Since the illicit trade has reached its present proportions, with men making thousands of dollars per month, hundreds in and around Estevan are devoting most of their time to it, while a state verging on lawlessness prevails everywhere. The officers of the law are at their wits' end. It is evident that sufficient patrol and adequate punishment by the American government is sadly lacking. Minot has been nick-named Little Detroit.

Recently two men from Minot were shot in a holdup. Every week has its tale of shooting. One night a car bearing four Minneapolis men was stopped within a mile of the border, promptly run into the ditch and its cargo of 52 cases of whiskey removed and taken to another car. While those engaged in transferring the load were busy, another member of their gang was occupied with keeping a gun pointed on the original smugglers of the booze, and the second "bunch" got clear away, leaving the first literally ditched. This is by no means the only case of its kind.

A car belonging to a Minot citizen was being kept under close observation at Estevan and was searched while waiting directly in front of a liquor wholesale house. No liquor could be found, but the man and his wife, who was along, were arrested for carrying concealed weapons. They each had an automatic. Each was fined $100 and costs.

This armament was carried, apparently, for use in case of interruption and had undoubtedly seen service of this kind. The woman was garbed in breeches and leather jacket and acted as chauffeur.

Obviously a fast type of car is preferred for this adventurous business. They are nearly all high-powered cars or "whiskey-sixes" giving the impression, which is not a false one, that people of means are engaged in the traffic or at any rate loaning their machines for that purpose.

The greatest difficulty in the prevention of rum running is found in the way the hands of the police are tied. It is not unlawful to carry liquor in cars unless it can be proven that it is for sale or that it has been purchased unlawfully, while, once it is over the line it is out of our jurisdiction.

O.B.U. STIRS UP TROUBLE

The wind has changed again and Fernie and Michel miners are out on a sympathetic strike in response to a wild-eyed appeal from O.B.U. organizers at Drumheller. The call came suddenly on Tuesday and a mass meeting was held in Fernie that evening, and while the strike vote was not altogether unanimous it carried by quite a large majority and the mines have been practically idle since.

What the next move will be is hard to say, but the street talk would incline one to think that a settlement would soon be reached. However, in view of the real facts in the case, it looks like a hard and bitter fight between the U. M. W. of A. and the O.B.U.

One thing is certain, that the men who have been instrumental in causing this strike will have a big time squaring themselves with the public and with their own followers before six weeks have passed. Winter is in sight and a winter without coal will be a hardship that will be just as trying to the miners as to the public generally.

Robt. Livett, Chairman of the Commission, the governing body for District 18, U.M.W. of A., arrived in the city this morning from Calgary, accompanied by International Organizers Brown and Thorpe. In speaking of the recent developments in the mining industry as brought about by the abrupt suspension of work through the miners here and at Michel, Mr. Livett stated that the situation in Fernie and Michel was not peculiar to those existing in any of the other camps throughout the Crow's Nest Pass and northern fields, with the possible exception of the Drumheller district, where a strike has been called, but which was by no means unanimous and daily increased numbers were returning to work. The local situation appears to have been engineered by other than United Mine Workers and the only advice transmitted to the Calgary office of the U.M.W. of A. concerning any strike was in the form of a resolution passed last week at a regular meeting of Fernie Local, wherein the demand was made that unless within 10 days thereafter the operators conceded the $1.50 per day increase to day wage men, which was in line with the award increase to U.M.W. of A. in the United States, a strike in these mines would follow. The time limit for this however has not elapsed and the only other excuse for calling the present strike here is a sympathetic strike on behalf of the Drumheller field miners. This, it is believed by the U.M.W. of A. officials, is purely an anomaly; and behind it all are the One Big Union plotters who seek to shatter if possible the strong position the U.M.W. of A. has acquired for the mineworkers, and render them helpless in their struggle for an even footing with their masters, and at the same time create a haven of security and ease for the agitators whose ambitions are not directed towards the advancement of the industry.

Briefly, according to Mr. Livett, the position the miners here and at Michel have placed themselves in by striking in inexcusable violation of their contract, is that they have removed themselves from the jurisdiction of the United Mine Workers. The company has now the exclusive right to re-engage only those whom it sees fit, and there can be no alleged grievance as to discrimination. The men have taken this step voluntarily and must accordingly abide by the consequences. The United Mine Workers, however, are ready and willing to stand by the men who desire to conscientiously hold sacred their promise to carry out their part of the bargain. The organization and all its resources and power are behind those who uphold the principles, but at the same time they will not permit any to remain in the organization who are merely using it as a shelter and cloak to further their own selfish motives, or for the purpose of undermining it and causing disruption. As soon as these recalcitrants become known they will be banished from the ranks of honest labor. Honesty of purpose has proved time and again to be the bset and only policy, and just so soon as the mine workers throughout this district purge themselves body and soul of the stigma of Bolshevism, anarchism, and I.W.W.ism, camouflaged recently as O.B.U., the sooner will they become more contented and reap the full benefits to which they are justly entitled. The present strike in so far as duration is concerned, is problematical—it may be a matter of merely days, or it may be weeks, possibly months; it solely remains with the workers. As long as they refuse to return to work, none of their committees or representatives will be received by the employers, and it is highly improbable that higher constitutional authorities will intervene. Strikes at all times are deplorable and the innocent always suffer equally as keenly as the guilty, oftimes to a greater degree. But since the present one has come it may be that those upon whom it has been forced will not be at all eager to grant any concessions whatever and it will be a lengthy battle of the survival of the fittest. The answer is very plain—whether near or far, soon or late, the conclusion is only too evident.

U.M.W.A. MUST GET BUSY

When the U. M. W. of A. get the men who are now on strike, contrary to the specific terms of the agreement between the Operators and the Union, back to work, the Coal Operators will be willing to meet the representatives of District No. 18, U. M. W. of A., and negotiate a new agreement.

In a nutshell, that is the situation as it exists today. The correspondence between the Union and the Mine Operators is as follows:

Miners to Operators.

United Mine Workers of America.
P. O. Box 1844,
Calgary, Alta.,
Sept. 23, 1920.

Mr. W. F. McNeill, Commissioner, Western Canada Coal Operators' Association, 1015, Herald Building, Calgary, Alta.

Dear Sir—The present joint agreement between the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and District 18, U.M.W. of A., was based on the settlement made in what is known as the central competitive field in the United States, which took effect on April 1st this year. Since this settlement was made the day and monthly men in the central competitive field have received an advance in wages, and we feel that the day men, boys and monthly men, District 18, U. M. W. of A., are entitled to the same increase in wages that was granted by the operators in the central competitive field.

We, the undersigned representatives of District 18, U.M.W. of A., therefore urge a joint conference between the representatives of the Western Canada Coal Operators' Association and the representatives of the U.M.W. of A., District 18, at as early a date as possible to consider this request for an increase in wages for the day men, boys and monthly men, covered by the present joint agreement.

Awaiting an early reply, we are,
Yours truly,

Robt. Livett,
Jas. Mooney,
Int. Com. Dis. 18, U.M.W. of A.

Gentlemen—With further regard to your letter of Sept. 23, 1920, and our reply thereto.

I beg to advise you that after hearing your presentation this morning the Association took the whole question under consideration.

They are of the opinion that before they can meet you to discuss this matter further that it will be necessary for the men which are now on strike contrary to the specific terms of the agreement recently arrived at, to return to work.

When this is an accomplished fact the Association are prepared to meet you to consider the request.

(Sgd.) W. F. McNeill, Secy.

Lethbridge Herald: Everything is quiet in the coal mines in the city and in the Pass. The miners in the Maple Creek mine at Bellevue went out yesterday, but this has nothing to do with the O.B.U. movement. The walk-out was in the way of protest against the dismissal of the pit boss, the men refusing to go back until his case for reinstatement is considered.

The ladies of the Holy Family Church will hold a sale of home cooking in the old Haddd store, Miners Hall, on Saturday, Oct. 9th.

Some political candidates appear to think they are running on an amphibious ticket.—Boston Reporter.

NEARLY UNANIMOUS VOTE ON HYDRO-ELECTRIC BYLAW

On Wednesday the ratepayers voted in favor of the Hydro-Electric Bylaw, whereby upon ratification by the Lt.-Gov. in Council, the City of Fernie will complete a contract with the British Columbia and Alberta Power Co. to supply electrical energy for lighting and power purposes for a period of ten years at a specified rate. The official figures of the vote were 139 in favor and 5 against.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE UNITED CHURCH

The Official Boards of the United Church of Fernie have arranged to hold the third annual meeting of the United congregation on Wednesday evening next in the basement of the church and are sending out card invitations to all members, adherents and friends of the organization to be present upon that occasion.

The election of officers to fill the positions on the boards, all of which become vacant by limitation, will be held, and this of itself is of great importance to the congregation.

A budget system of financing is being prepared and the result will be submitted to the meeting. Do not forget the date and be on hand to do your part in assisting in organizing more thorouhly this work.

It may seem an innovation, but there will be no appeal for money at this meeting, not even for the fine program of refreshments which the ladies are preparing, as it is to be really a church family affair at which the family desires the presence of all its members and relatives.

Signed:—
W. F. Burns, Chairman Board of Sessions; Dr. Garner, Secretary.
D. V. Mott, Chairman Board of Managers; A. Corrie, Secretary.

A Plea for Fair Play

The two great parties are before support. The decision of the people expressed at the polls in November, will fix the political complexion of Congress for two. Which of the two parties is to be entrusted with power? Much depends upon the answer given to that question by the people. Upon what basis is the decision to be rendered? Is the public couclusion to be founded upon the relative merits of the candidates, the principals involved and the policies proposed, or upon the weight to be given to charges and counter charges of immorality and unfitness? Are we to count and record the blows, or are we to consider the facts? In short is the contest a prizefight or a debate? —The St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FIRE IN WEST FERNIE

About 2 p.m. on Wednesday morning the nocturnal silence was broken by short sharp blasts of the mill whistle of the Elk Valley Lumber Co. in West Fernie, denoting a fire in that vicinity. These were immediately followed by the bell in the tower at the fire hall and a glance at the western sky showed it illuminated by a ruddy hue. The location of the blaze and its intensity caused those aroused by the alarm to form the conclusion that it was the large sawmill plant that was afire and consequently many citizens were attracted to the locality. The fire, however, was confined to the grocery store premises of Glover & Meiklejohn, two of Fernie's youngest business men, as it was only on Aug. 1 last that they opened a place of business on their own responsibility. The cause of the fire is attributed to an overheated stove and a defective pipe where it fitted into the chimney. The entire building was gutted beyond repair and the complete stock and contents a total loss.

The manner in which the fighting of this fire was conducted by the volunteer fire corps of the Elk Valley Lumber Co., directed by E. Heaphy, and the city fire department under Acting Chief McCallum, deserves great praise. When the fire was discovered the interior of the building was a seething caldron and it had broken out through the roof. The Elk brigade was on the job almost immediately and the fire pumps in operation, thereby supplying a strong water pressure. When the city truck arrived in record time, other lines were laid and volumes of water turned on. It was soon seen that it would be impossible to save the store, and as the building was situated with frame residences close up on each side and other frame buildings, including the Elk Co. stables, immediately at the rear, attention was directed to save the adjacent buildings and merely keep down the original fire. These efforts were successful as beyond a slight scorching no other loss was sustained.

THE SOVIET PROPAGANDA

Hon. G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, he explained that the motive behind the isuance of the pamphlet containing authorative information respecting the Russian Soviet system and its propaganda in North America was to meet criticism which had been appearing in the press for months to the effffect that the Government should do something by the way of counter-propaganda to off-set the harm being done by the radical and revolutionary literature which was being distributed throughout the country.

Citizens who are not extremists and who recall the activity of the radical Socialist element in Canada last winter, the spread of the one big union idea, and the free circulation of literature favorable to the Soviet system which has continued since, will agree that the Soviet propagandists have had a fair field to push their doctrines, and that it is time to hear something about the other side of the question. They will also agree that it is a duty of a just such a department as the Labor department of Canada to provide such authoritative information, and that a valuable service has been done the country in the issuance of this pamphlet. And more especialy at this time when there are such strange proceedings in the labor circles of England and other countries. The action of the British miners in declining to submit their wage demands to a competent court, and in threatening to strike for the purpose of forcing the nationalization of the mines of the United Kingdom, is characterized by Sir Robert Horne, the president of the British Board of Trade, as a menace to the safety of the country, since it is a strike for political ends.

J. L. Garvin, writing in the Sunday Observer of London, goes farther than this and declares that the question is whether a decisive strugle will be undertaken between the historic British system and the Russian system on the Bolsheviki model, prostrating every liberty to the rule of sheer force more grinding than formed despotism. He declares also that if the issue is challenged by the miners, it implies the nation must fight for its life and that triumpth of a British Soviet system would mean the dissolution of the British Empire. In the face of such a menace, it is well that means be offered to the people to learn of the aim of the extermists in the labor circles. There is no question about the wide-spread nature of the propaganda of the believers in the Soviet system, in Canada and particularly in British Columbia. From the region of the offices of the Fedreation of Labor publication, there has been put in circulation a flood of pamphlets, which seek to put in the best light the Soviet system. This cannot be condemmed, but it should not be pased idly by. Citizens and organizations who have kept a democrecy safe have a duty to perform in counteracting such insidious propaganda by giving the truth a chance to circulate. The country has been weakened in a political sense by the lull in party politics which, after all, is a very effective means to lead men to an appreciation of their duty as citizens in a democratic state.—British Columbian.

WILL BE THREE-CORNERED CONTEST IN YALE

After the calm comes the storm. Yale was the only federal ministerial seat to get an acclamation at the last general election, and now a bye-election is to have at least three, and perhaps more candidates in the field. And notwithstanding a general election will take place within the next two years.

J. A. McKelvie, editor of the Vernon News, was named the government candidate ten days ago. Last Monday the G.W.V.A. and U.F.B.C. in joint convention at Penticton nominated Col. Edgetts as a soldier-farmer standard-bearer. And now Mr. Tom Richardson, the famous British member of parliament, has announced acceptance of nomination by the Labor convention held at Kelowna some weeks ago. As voting will not take place until Nov. 22 there is plenty of opportunity for the Opposition leader, Mackenzie King, to carry out his expressed intention of having a follower in the Yale field.

Good lively contests reflect a healthy interest by electors in national affairs and also clarifies the political atmosphere in any constituency. The Yale contest will mark the entry of the Farmers' party in the political field of British Columbia, though the action does not appear to have been unanimous. Grand Forks U.F.B.C. at their recent conference is said to have opposed placing a candidate in the field at the present time, and it is understood that there were a considerable number of the Farmers' locals at the convention of the same opinion. The divergence of opinion appears to have arisen from the fact that the provincial organization would not enter the fight, leaving the matter entirely to the locals of the constituency. Their joining forces with the returned soldiers makes the Yale contest not unlike the recent fight in Colchester, N.S., where the Hon. Mr. McCurdy was opposed by a returned soldier of splendid overseas record and who was endorsed by the Farmers' party. In Yale there will also be the difference of a Labor candidate in the field, making a three-cornered contest.

Electors may look forward to lively discussions of federal affairs, both Messrs. McKelvie and Richardson, at least, being splendid platform peakers. It is also quite probable that the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, the new Premier, will speak at Grand Forks. It is understood that he will speak at three points in Yale during his western tour and the probabilities are that Vernon, Penticton and Grand Forks will be chosen for the meetings.—Grand Forks Gazette.

ANOTHER CIRCULAR

The local officials of the United Mine Workers are issuing a further circular to the coal miners of Alberta and incidentally to all organized wage workers of Western Canada, upon the tactics adopted by the One Big Union.

This circular reads:

"Were it not that the irresponsible leaders of the O.B.U. are asking you to throw down your tools and strike there would be no need for stating at this time the exact conditions relative to the finance and membership of the O.B.U., of the United States and Canada.

"The general secretary of the miners' district, Arthur Evans, is quoted in a certain Calgary morning paper of Oct. 1, that you can expect sympathetic support from the dock workers of Port Arthur and Fort William. Mr. Evans knows that the official report of the O.B.U. convention, held in Port Arthur on Sept. 20, gave only 63 members paid up to June, 1920, as belonging to the coal handlers' unit of the O.B.U. It might be well to point out that at the beginning of the year, this unit had a membership of about 300. If the situation, so far as misrepresentation of the actual facts were not so serious, the position would be ridiculous. What help could you expect from 63 coal handlers in Port Arthur?

"Nor could you expect any assistance from Vancouver. At the last convention, V. Midgely, the general secretary, who by the way is one of the trustees of the supposed central council of the O.B.U. of Vancouver, did not even have credentials, and as an actual fact, this central council, while they reported in the official proceedings that they had a membership of about 700 in January last they had not even a cent of per capita tax since that date.

"The part that the B. C. loggers took in the convention is now public property. They refused to be a party to a machine-made convention. According to official reports the loggers were entitled to a representation of about 12,000. Owing to the action of Joe Knight and others only 3000 was their allotment, hence it was but little wonder that the loggers refused to be party to the convention.

"It may be interesting to the O.B.U. miners to know that their delegates were not in favor of granting the full representation to the loggers, and they therefore became party to the machine. It is of further interest to note that the general secretary could only show a balance of $162.42.

"It might be stated by some that support might be epected from the railway workers, but the first thing to remember is that these men have just completed an international agreement with the railway companies by which they are to receive increased pay, which will be retroactive, and they will no doubt be governed by their immediate materal interests and will consider that it would be the height of folly to talk of a strike.

"Therefore, with the raw deal handed to the lumber workers by the machine politicians, with Vancouver out of it, Port Arthur having but 63 members, and other features that could be mentioned, wage workers will readily understand how they have been misled, and to follow other than the sane course adopted during the past several months would court nothing but disaster.

"The motives of the O.B.U. leaders are so apparent that comment is really unnecessary. Nevertheless, we ask our brothers throughout the district to face the disgusting spectacle and to think what it all really means.

"Remember, you have suffered long, your families have suffered patiently during your struggles, and all to satisfy the vain desires of misguided dreamers who during the struggle have received their wages regularly. Let not these schemers be your gods before whom you bow your knees and pour out your tears in open sacrifice."—Calgary Herald.

OVERRULES CONVICTION

Vancouver, Oct. 4.—Holding with the argument that "knocking down" by a railway conductor could not be held to be theft of a fare from the railway company for which he worked, Chief Justice Hunter today quashed the conviction of Jos. Jackson, a Cranbrook conductor who was charged with theft of $3.75 from the Canadian Pacific railway.

According to the facts as set out by E. P. Davis, K.C., who appeared in the application for Jackson, he was charged with allowing two men, who represented themselves to be gamblers, to ride from Cranbrook to Kootenay Landing for $3.75. One of the men, on boarding the train, suggested a short fare for himself and companion. It was alleged that Jackson accepted the sum and as the men turned out to be Thiel detectives his arrest and conviction followed.

Mr. Davis urged that the conviction was bad inasmuch as the accused could not be charged with theft under such circumstances. Had he accepted a full fare and kept the money he could then probably have been charged with stealing. The acceptance of an amount less than that which the company authorized him to accept was payment for a breach of duty. The money was paid to him, not for the company, but to induce him not to collect the full fare. Therefore, the money never was the property of the company.

It might have been a pig or a calf, or a revolver or anything for that matter. It was also argued that the magistrate who tried the case had not proved his jurisdiction inasmuch as it had not been proved that the alleged offence took place in the county of Kootenay, for which the magistrate held his commission.

Chief Justice Hunter thereupon quashed the conviction on the ground that Jackson could not be committed for theft, and he held with the argument in the matter of jurisdiction.

The case of Conductor Cameron, which is of a similar nature, comes up on Oct. 11 in the same court, and it is thought the conviction will be also quashed in his case.

E. P. Davis, K.C., is acting in these cases on instructions from Lawe & Fisher, of Fernie.

The Arabs and British Administration

It is a little surprising to find that while the Arabs in Mesoptamia are seething with revolt, those living east of the Jordan have been petitioning Sir Herbert Samuel for the extension of British Administration to their country. We must obviously be very careful before we make sweeping generalization about affairs in the Midle East. The policy outlined in Sir Herbert Samuel's reply is a model of what our policy there should be. He promises every sort of friendly assistance and advice to the Arabs in their task of learning to govern themselves. A few political officers are to be lent to help in the organization of defence, the administration of justice, and the promotion of commerce. Also the commercial facilities enjoyed by the people of Palestine are to be extended to the Arabs living beyond the Jordan. This is clearly the right course to pursue. It minimizes our responsibilities; It must accelerate the poltical development of the Arabs; and it should bind them to us by ties of friendship with which no element of coercion is mingled—Westminster Gazette.

THE STORE OF SERVICE AND VALUE

WAS FORCED TO QUIT ENTIRELY

"After being such a sick man for six months that I had to quit all work, Tanlac has put me back on the job feeling as well as I ever did," said W. Anderson, 3460 Quebec St., Vancouver, B.C.

"I suffered untold agonies on account of stomach trouble. Everything I ate would lie on my stomach like a lump of lead and then sour and form gas that bloated me up until I could heardly breathe and my heart would beat like a trip-hammer. I had spells of dizziness and often had terrible headaches. At night I used to roll and toss about on the bed for hours unable to sleep and when morning came I was so tired and worn out that I could hardly stand up. Finally I became so weak that I had to give up my job.

"I read a statement in the papers telling how a man with troubles just like mine had been helped by Tanlac, so I decided to try it myself. The first bottle did me so much good that I kept right on with it and by the time I was through with the second I was at work and haven't missed a day since. My appetite is splendid, all trouble from indigestion has disappeared and I have gained several pounds in weight. I haven't had a headache or dizzy spell since I finished the first bottle of Tanlac, and I sleep like a log every night."

WEIRD BASEBALL PLAYED AT CEFU

The game of baseball was introduced at Cefu by a party of Americans, who are employed at the chemical works of Messrs. Graesser, and some of the employees whom they had instructed in the game, says The Wrexham Advertiser. Curiosity had been aroused, and there was a very good attendance on the Aqueduct field. The game appears to be a miture of cricket and rounders, embodying all the dangerous elements of cricket. The first thing to draw "stumper." He made his appearance attired in a headpiece, the design of which seemed to incorporate a gas mask, bull dog muzzle, and a rat trap. He was protected from a frontal attack by a padded apron, and weilded with his left hand a glove, the padding of which had been worked to the shape of a stone mason's mallet. All that he required to complete the equipment and to be prepared for any emergency, was a Sam Browne belt and an army helmet.

As the game proceeded it was clear that the protective measures were much needed, for the bowler's chief object seemed to be to aim the ball as hard as he could at the batsman's head, who was unprotected, and endeavored to hit the ball with a bat that looked more like an Indian club. The bowler was allowed three tries. If the batsman mised the ball the three times, he was considered out; if the ball hit him he would certainly be out, without any consideration whatever, but if he succeded in hitting the ball he ran as if pursued by some hot pursuer. And any stray balls that passed the batsman, the stumper brought his regulation equipment into action to stop their proress.

Someone remarked that the ball generated heat or weight in its beght, and judging by the size of the gloves which the players wore, and the quick way that some of the spectators dropped the ball after trying to stop its progress, it certainly apeared to be either very hot or very heavy, and no one had the courage to make a second attempt. The ball was a little larger than a cricket ball, but sounded ten times harder, and had the general appearance of a tennis ball. Anyone who contemplates taking up the game should bear that in mind, unles he possesses one of the monster gloves, or one of those nets on a lang pole, such as are used by fisherman to land an unwilling fish.

One of the players smilingly inquired if any of the spectators would like to have a game; but some suddenly remembered important engagements, with others it was almose teatime, while one sport said he was not insured, but would go home and seek out his insurance agent, and then come back, if it would not be too late.

Finding the game not very interesting, the topic amongst the spectators turned to football. "Never mind," said one, "we have only another fortnight to wait." Another reminded the company of Jack Love's great goal for Rhosymedre in the replay cup tie match with Rhos, Just at this moment there was a general scramble amongst the company, for the ball seemed to be coming their way, and it was thought a pity to stop it.

It was also noticed that Mr. Horace Manley was now doing duty as "stumper," Mr. Manley is a native of Cefu, and a nephew of Prof. Share Jones (who was also watching the game.) He was in American for some time, and played the game there. He had no fear of the ball, and stood close to the batsman, calmly awaiting the bowler's fast delivery. Speculation was rife amongst the spectators as to whether he would catch the ball each time, or the ball catch him; but, fortunately, Mr. Manley proved himself to be an expert "stumper," and would no doubt make a first rate wicket-keeper. Oh, boy, who won? Well, some one said that "they," whoever they were, had scored one. Whether it was a goal, a run, a try, or a "hard lines" no one seemed to know—or care.

GUARD AGAINST CHILLS

Cultivate the habit of taking a cup of hot Oxo—a cube to a cup—before going out in the cold or damp. Such weather is a tax upon the system, and the strengthening and warming powers of the concentrated beef-goodness fortify you against the evils consequent upon exposure.

If the uses of Oxo are new to you, try a tin of four cubes. Oxo greatly improves gravies, stews, or soups, and is a delightful, sustaining and appetizing beverage. It is excellent for children.

Regular users of Oxo prefer the larger tins of 10 and 50 cubes, using them in many different ways in place of meat.

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

The Price of Shoes vs. The Price of Other Things

IT has been said that "comparisons are odious." And so they are—as a rule.

But it has been so repeatedly stated that shoe prices are "excessive" or "ridiculous," that we feel justified in making a comparison between the present price of shoes and the price of some other things that we buy.

Advance in price of Iron and Steel	124 per cent
Advance in price of Textiles	206.2 "

Shoe prices had to increase—naturally. The price of everything that enters into a pair of shoes has gone up tremendously in late years. For instance, hides have advanced 154.6 per cent. in six years. One of the principal materials used in making fine shoes has advanced 500% in the same period. In fact, there is no single commodity used in the manufacture of shoes that has not advanced by leaps and bounds during late years.

But in spite of this a close margin of profits, efficient manufacturing methods, and keen domestic competition, has resulted in lower prices than the above advances would seem to make inevitable.

These comparisons will show why shoe prices are higher—they have simply followed in the wake of general advancing prices.

But, in Canada, they are neither "excessive" nor "ridiculous," but proportionately lower than most other things.

The Shoe Industry in Canada is an efficient and competent one—making shoes for the Canadian people which, grade for grade, are as low, or lower in price, as shoes obtainable in any Country.

Canada produces footwear of every desirable type, and of standard quality in all grades. When you buy Made in Canada Footwear you are assured, at fair prices always, of the utmost that modern skill can produce in Comfort, Service and Style.

Your Railways and the Cost of Living

BEFORE the Privy Council at Ottawa, protest against the new railway rates has heen made on the grounds that the giving of the new rates would raise the cost of living by a percentage many times higher than the percentage actually charged by the Canadian railways.

It was pointed out that the numerous middlemen, who act as the distributors of goods, would each add his percentage of profit to the freight rate, so that although the railways might only receive, say 40 cents additional freight charges on a shipment, the public would be forced, by the distributing middlemen, to pay many times that amount.

The management of the various Canadian railways desire, through this, their association, to draw the attention of newspaper readers to the highly significant fact that the recent increase in United States railway rates---an increase similar to the increase in Canada has actually been followed by a decrease in the cost of living in that country.

Furthermore:

A great Canadian manufacturer recently made public---without any solicitation and without the previous knowledge of the railway managements---figures which proved that the retail selling-price of a yard of plain white cloth in Winnipeg after being hauled from Montreal to Toronto and Toronto to Winnipeg, would be increased only one half a cent even after the wholesaler had added 20 per cent profit to the new freight rate and the retailers another 50 per cent.

He showed that the distributors, whether rightly or wrongly, added 15 cents to his mill-price of 16 cents per yard.

Yet the railways carried the raw cotton for this yard of goods from Texas to Montreal and the finished goods from the mill to Toronto and Toronto to Winnipeg for one-and-one-half cents.

We venture to believe that whatever the explanation or the justification may be, the same serious additions to cost by the distributing trades will be found in relation to almost every article of common household use.

This is not to attack distributors. They may themselves be victims of a bad system or of an over-crowded trade. But it is to point out that if they add whatever percentages they, as a trade find convenient on top of the freiget rates the railways cannot help either themselves or the pudlic. The oppressive results of these practices should not be charged against the railway managements, nor cited as reasons for holding freight rates down merely because railway rates can be held down while other prices soar as the various trades find necessary.

RAILWAY charges always must be a serious item in determining cost of productions. But the management of your railways urge upon your attention this fact: that antiquated, overloaded and wasteful systems of distribution of goods are much more properly subject for the public.

Canada cannot prosper without prosperous railways. Canadian railways cannot prosper unless Canada prospers.

In all sincerity let us suggest that the people of Canada beware of those who would restrict and even strangle the railways simply because control exists there and is not so convenient in other departments of commercial activity.

GOLF CLUB AT WALDO

Waldo, Oct. 4.—A meeting was held Monday evening, September 27, in the office of the Baker Lumber Company, Ltd., for the purpose of inaugurating the Waldo Golf Club, amongst those present being Messrs. Fred Adolph, Frank Adolph, C. Burgess, C. M. Edwards, C. Leask, C. McNab, C. J. Rue, Dr. T. F. Saunders, J. V. Saunier, Tim Verhoff and A. M. White.

Dr. T. F. Saunders being appointed chairman, outlined the purposes for which the meeting had been called, explaining that some two years ago considerable work was done in preparing a nine hole course on land loaned indefinitely by the Baker Lumber Co., Ltd., the expense being borne by Fernie golfers and residents of this district.

It might be stated that with the exception of the two fairways, the course is in good playing condition, and during the ideal weather is being made use of daily. The site is an ideal one, and as soon as the completion of work now in progress, will make one of the most desirable and picturesque golf links in the Kootenay district, being both adjacent to Cranbrook, Fernie and intermediate points, accessible by means of the finest highways in the province, and on ths account will undoubtedly become a very popular resort for those wishing to combine the pleasures of motoring and golfing.

There is every indication that the club will be largely supported by the residents of the surrounding districts, as already there are upwards of 30 members admitted during its formation.

MUST FLY UNION JACK

Through the initative of the Grand Army of United Veterans at Vancouver, the law relating to the display of foreign flags in Canada is to be enforced at the boundary in the case of American cars which come into this Province bearing a United States flag thereon.

Hereafter motor drivers from Uncle Sam's domain will be advised at the international boundary that if they desire to display the American flag on their cars they must obey the law, which requires them to display the Union Jack in an equally prominent manner. The Board of Police Commisioners at Vancouver, consequent upon the appeal by the veteran's organization, has requested the federal immigration officials at the boundary to enforce the law.

In their communication to the Vancouver authorities the veterans complained that the American flag was often carried alone, perhaps through ignorance of the Canadian law, and they urged that the authorities should take action to the end desired.

NAVY LEAGUE CAMPAIGN

This fact has been established to the satisfaction of practically every naval expert, but this is scarcely realized by the vast majority of Canadians. Rivers throughout the world play a very important part in the marine industry, and in Canada a chain of lakes is at the disposal. Those who think Winnipeg is far inland should change their viewpoint slightly when they are reminded that Winnipeg is only 400 miles from Great Lake steamboats. Montreal and Quebec are coupled with the famous St. Lawrence river, while Toronto and all the Great Lake ports are in touch with the open waters of the Atlantic, through the same artery of transportation.

Canada has also some of the finest natural harbors in the world. At Halifax and St. John's as well as Quebec and Montreal, all the world's largest freighters and passenger steamers call for cargoes. Ninety per cent of the ocean going vessels could traverse the Great Lakes if the Welland Canal and the St. Lawrence river were deepened a few points, and the romance of "Winnipeg-by-the Sea" would become a reality.

Support of the Navy League campaign, which will be inaugurated for a week beginning Oct. 15, means encouraging national and imperial development of this character.

"THE MAPLE LEAF'S"

Little dabs of powder,
Little dobs of paint,
Make the husky soldier
Look like what he ain't.
—That's "Camouflage"

Dainty, Dimpled Darlings,
Dancing to and fro,
Are really husky soldier-boys,
Putting on a show.
—More "Camouflage"

Bits from France and Flanders,
Make-up over mud,
Twenty joyful veterans,
Nary one a "dud."
—Then what's "Camouflage"

"Camoubage in this particular instance, is the apt title of the joyous musical comedy revue which the famous fourth division party, The "Maple Leafs" are offering on their first home-coming tour of Canada, and is the vehicle in which they found greatest favor when entertaining the boys behind the lines in France and Flanders.

The piece has been re-written and given an elaborate staging by Capt. M.W. Plunkett, whose experience in staging entertainments for the boys over there has given him an ability along this line which probably no other theatrical producer possesses.

The company is composed entirely of ex-service men, all of whom have done their bit in te trenches. It is this fact, coupled with their unquestioned artistry and exceptional ability, which has made the soldier-actors so popular in Canada. The realization that these same boys, who now don the gay frocks and add the proper dash of rouge, were once designated by a number, and fought side by side with the boys from our own town and country carries an appeal of such sentimental force that their ventures on the legitimate stage are bound for success.

However, this is unnecessary except for an initial drawing power, as the performance they give are the equal, if not the superior, to the better class of musical entertainment offered by the regular attractions.

The "Maple Leafs" will be the attraction at the Grand Theatre. for 2 Nights, starting, Thursday, October, 14th.

Georges Carpentier

Mr. Carpentier is a rare artist, plays the piano, is a Greek athlete, and is the idol of France. He was the hero in the war and knows how to use firearms. If the articles with Mr. Dempsey will permit Carpentier to enter the ring with a two-foot knife, automatic, handful of grenades, gas mask, etc., equipped for mopping up trenches, we have no objection to the fight. Otherwise it is not to be thought of. Our relations with France are important, and we prefer to have the French remember that Lafayette and not Carpentier fought here. Mr. Dempsey classifies with earthquakes, typhoons, tidal waves and other natural catastrophies. If the French have a trained typhoon we do not object to its meeting Dempsey, but we object to having the French-American entente knocked into the middle of the Atlantic Dempsey is too rough. He doesn't even shave. He is a hard boiled thunderbolt, and if he ever hit Carpentier in the stomach the whole French nation would be doubled up.—Chicago Tribune.

THE BEST SECURITY ON EARTH

The Mutual Life Agent who hands you a Mutual Life policy is one of the best friends you will ever have in this world. For although the Mutual of Canada is a "business" it is a most beneficent business. Mutual Life insurance protects your family and your home; it increases your credit; it gives you peace of mind; it ensures to the children an education should you not live to provide it for them by your personal effort. These are only a few things that a Mutual Life Policy means. A Mutual policy is also one of the best of all securities for "There is nothing else in the civilized world which approaches even remotely the security of a well-established life insurance office." In addition to its security the Mutual is conducted on a pre-eminently economical, equitable and democratic system.

INJURED BY DYNAMITE CAP

On Saturday last a party of motorists returning from Michel football match found two lads of about 17 years of age lying alongside of the road near the White Spruce mill, suffering severely from the accidental explosion of a dynamite cap.

The injured boys were hastily conveyed to the Fernie hospital, where everything possible was done for them, but John McCrown, in whose hand the cap exploded, will lose his left eye and is otherwise badly marked, while the other, A. Parsons, is also severely cut about the head.

The two boys, who are from Toronto, had recently arrived from the prairie, where they had been harvesting., and were working for the White Spruce Lumber Co. Their parents in Toronto have been notified.

The vote on the prohibition plebiscite will take place next Wednesday.

STRIKE IS PETERING OUT

The local strike situation remains practically the same, although all the rest of the mines in the District have resumed operations.

On Tuesday a mass meeting of the men was called at the instance of the U.M.W. of A. supporters to discuss the taking of a secret ballot. The O.B.U. gang pleaded for more time in order to discover if the published reports regarding men working in the Drumheller field were correct, and this was granted, a committee consisting of W. Sherman and Jim Clarke being appointed to visit that field to view actual conditions. A loyal member of the U.M.W. of A. was also appointed by the District officers to accompany the above men on their trip. The committee are supposed to report tomorrow.

The following wires relative to the men working in the different mines have been received from W. H. Armstrong, Director of Coal Operations, but of course his word will be doubted by the O.B.U. bunch, who seem to think that Sherman, Christophers and Beard have a monopoly of the truth.

The following message has been received from Calgary, 4.20 p.m., Oct. 13, 1920:

To W. W. Wilson,
President and General Manager,

Understand that information furnished by United Mine Workers' Commission and O.B.U. has caused difference in opinion among employees of the C.N.P. Coal Co., Ltd., regarding present situation in District 18.

The following is the correct condition of affairs this morning:

Sub. Dist. 1—Corbin, working full crew.

Sub. Dist. 2—All mines working—full crew.

Sub. Dist. 3—All mines working—full crew.

Sub. Dist. 4—All mines working—full crew except Nordegg.

Sub. Dist. 5—Drumheller. All mines working with full or partial crew, 857 men working out of approximately 1300 in that Sub. Dist.

Sub. Dist. 6—All mines working.

Please give this information suitable publicity. A similar wire has been sent to the Secretary, Gladstone Local Union.

(Signed) W. H. Armstrong,
Director of Coal Operations.

The following message has been received from Calgary, dated Thursday, Oct. 14, 1920:

To W. W. Wilson,
President and General Manager,

Referring to my wire of yesterday: Situation in District 18 unchanged except that 150 more men are working in Drumheller. Monarch mine in that district commenced operations today. Similar wire sent to Secretary Local Union.

(Signed) W. H. Armstrong,
Director of Coal Operations.

Calgary, Alta., Oct. 14, 1920.

To W. W. Wilson,
President and General Manager,

Miners at Nordegg voted today to resume work. All mines in District 18 now working except Fernie and Michel. Please give suitable publicity to this information. Similar wire has been sent to Secretary Gladstone Local Union.

CITY COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the city council was held last night at which all members were present.

S. Herchmer appeared on behalf of the licenses of the Royal and Napanee hotels. These were cancelled automatically following convictions for contraventions of the Prohibition Act. These matters will stand in abeyance for the time being.

Wm. Hunter and Thos. Uphill appeared as a delegation to purchase the Grand Theatre building. A written application from J. Angelo of the U. M. W. of A., requesting that that organization be permitted by council to repurchase this building for the amount owing to the city on account was received. The matter was concluded by the following motion:

Moved by Alds. Rutledge and Tully: "That the City Clerk be instructed to prepare a bylaw to be introdoced at next meeting to seel the premises known as the Miners Hall to the United Mine Workers of America."—Carried.

Fire Chief McNi..las reported that he expects to be back on the job about the middle of October.

The Provincial Board of Health formally advised council that the Fairy Creek watershed had been created a special health area. This precludes any and all logging operations in that area except under the strict terms of the regulations now operative in so far as this locality is concerned.

An offer from a representative of the Royal Financial Corporation to purchase City of Fernie debentures was referred to the finance committee.

After approving a batch of accounts for payment the council adjourned.

DUKE MADE SHORT VISIT

Last Saturday at 2.30 p.m. the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire with their party arrived in Fernie by special train and were met by the school children and the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire.

Mayor Henderson received the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire on behalf of the City of Fernie and delivered the following address welcoming them to our city:

To His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, K.G., P.C., K.C.M.G., K.C.V.O., Governor General and Commander in Chief of the Dominion of Canada.

May it please Your Excellency:

We, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Council of the City of Fernie, on behalf of the citizens of the said city, approach your Excellency on the occasion of your visit here, with sentiments of devotion and loyalty to His Majesty's person and government and humbly beg to present for your Excellency's acceptance the following address:

We appreciate the honor of your Excellency's visit here and extend to you our warmest welcome to our industrious and prosperous city.

During the Great War about 1400 men enlisted from this district out of an estimated population of 10,000. Efforts are being made by the Provincial Government to open up land for agricultural settlement primarily for the benefit of returned soldiers.

Fernie is one of the most important coal producing centres in the Dominion of Canada, the mines having a daily output of about 4000 tons of coal and 600 tons of coke.

A mountainous country such as this is naturally looked to when water power is being discussed and our natural resources under this head are being employed. A hydro-electric plant is expected to be in operation within the next twelve months which will supply all the Crow's Nest Pass with cheap electric power.

An important industry here is that of lumbering and the two mills in operation in the immediate vicinity of the city have a daily output of 200,000 feet.

The Crow's Nest Pass is fast becoming a popular tourist route and we believe the scenery is not surpassed in any other part of the world. Big game is plentiful, fishing excellent and for mountaineers interesting climbs of varying degrees of difficulty are available.

Assuring your Excellency of our loyal devotion.

I have the honor to be.
Your Excellency's most obedient servant.

George Gerrie Henderson.

Fernie, B.C., Oct. 9, 1920.

The Duke responded on behalf of himself and the Duchess and thanked those present and gained the admiration and gratitude of the children by promising them a holiday to celebrate the occasion. He also presented the Mayor with an autograph photo of himself and the Duchess.

The children then sang "God Save the King," after which little Miss Mildred Kastner presented the Duchess with a beautiful bouquet of flowers on behalf of the Daughters of the Empire and little Miss Frances Foster presented a bouquet on behalf of the school children of Newgate.

The ladies were presented to the Duke and Duchess after which they again boarded their train amid many smiles and good wishes.

FIVE YEARS IN THE PEN

The Fall Assizes opened here on Monday last before Mr. Justice Macdonald. On the criminal calendar there were only two cases, namely, Rex vs. Nic Urick and Rex. vs. Peter Lazuk, charged with robbery in two indictments, in each of which there were two counts. These cases arose out of a hold-up at the Skookumchuck camp of the Crow's Nest Pass Lumber Co., on July 31, last, when three men about 11 o'clock at night entered the bunk house at Camp 2 and forced seven men engaged in a game of poker to submit themselves to be relieved of all their valuables found upon their persons. Three other men asleep in their bunks were also made to get up and submit to search, one in particular, John Dilly, having a minute search made of his bunk, but no valuables were found on him. This was the only bunk searched by the robbers and they secured $105.25 in cash, three time checks and a watch from Dilly's effects. From the card players a sum of about $250 was realized, together with several watches. The hold-up was carried out by three men, two of whom having a revolver each, while the third man took a position in the doorway of the camp and kept two revolvers trained on the inmates. This man was identified by different witnesses for the Crown as Nic Urick, one of the others as Pete Lazuk, while the third man, although known to the authorities, has not so far been apprehended.

The question of identification was the important feature of the case and as all the highwaymen wore masks made from green mosquito netting, their features were completely hidden. The principal witnesses, however, swore to their identity from articles of clothing, or more particularly as to the shoes worn by Urick and Lazuk; also their voices and peculiarities in their walk. Dilly swore positively as to Lazuk, contending he recognized him when the mask he wore dropped down a trifle on his face, while Dilly was being searched. The movements of the three men charged were traced for some days prior to the robbery and up to the time of the arrest of Lazuk and Urick late Monday night, Aug. 2, in Cranbrook. Urick was arrested earlier in the evening and immediately upon Lazuk being identified by Dilly, Chief Adams placed Dilly in one of the cells in the Cranbrook lock-up where he, Dilly, overheard a conversation between the two men, the nature of which indicated their fear of arrest and apprehension lest the third member should be caught, when, according to words stated by Dilly to have been used by Lazuk, he expressed himself that it was all over with them if he was ever arrested. When the Crown closed its case, D. M. Mitchell of this city, conducting that banch of the case, A. B. Macdonald, K. C., appearing for the accused, announced the defence would rest without calling any witnesses. Following addresses to the jury by counsel, His Lordship charged the jury and they retired shortly after twelve o'clock noon on Tuesday. At 2.45 the jury returned and through Foreman, W. W. Brown, the announcement was made that it was very doubtful that a verdict could be reached and a disagreement was about the best the jury could do. His Lordship, however, requested the jury to return and further deliberate with a view to arriving at a unanimous verdict. These instructions were followed and shortly after four o'clock the jury returned a verdict of guilty. His Lordship thereupon discharged the jury and passed sentence upon the prisoners of five years in the penitentiary at New Westdinster.

On the civil list a petition for divorce by one Alex Melnyk was granted by an Absolute Order, when corroborative evidence was submitted to prove the allegation contained in the petition. Another petition for divorce, viz., McBride vs. McBride, was adjourned to Cranbrook, while the case of Lungren vs. C.P.R., which was first heard at the Spring Assizes but owing to a disagreement by the jury, was traversed to the Fall Assizes, was dismissed with costs on account of the plaintiff failing to appear.

Fernie visited Michel on Sunday to play the final for the Mutz Cup. The first half of the game was all Michel, but Sawyer, the Fernie goalkeeper, saved his team time and again. The next half play was more even but Fernie by a lucky shot which glanced off the goalpost, scored one. About five minutes before time Michel had a penalty kick but Watson kicked wide and Fernie won the game 1—0. This is the first time Fernie has beaten Michel on its home grounds for several years. It was ideal weather and a big crowd was at the game.

A. J. Burnside and Mrs. Burnside, are at Medicine Hat, were the former is seriously ill. They were motoring from the east to Fernie.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

The first chapter in the murder case of Taihl Singh, an elderly Hindoo, brutally assaulted in his shack late one night in July last, was concluded with the arrest at Fort Wright, near Spokane, of Charlie Chinourd, one of the parties charged by the victim before his demise in the city hospital here a few days after the assault, and for whom the provincial police have been diligently searching since the matter was placed in their hands. A brief history of this hideous crime, according to the ante mortem statement of the Hindoo, is that on the night in question the two Chinourd boys entered his shack when he was in bed and made an unprovoked assault upon him. He was unable to say what weapons they had used but it was some heavy blunt instrument. The fatal injuries sustained consisted of a badly fractured skull, one eye gouged out and several ghastly cuts and bruises about the head and face. Twelve hours later the unconscious man was found and after medical aid had been rendered he recovered sufficiently to be brought to the hospital here, where he lingered for three or four days and finally expired.

Based upon the charge against the Chinourd boys, Charlie and Billy, the latter being better known by the alias of Billy Salter, the provincial police under the direct supervision of Inspector Dunwoody, took up the quest for these lads, when it was learned they had left Waldo presumably for the American side the morning following the crime. Constable Collins was detailed for special duty on the case and about one month ago located "Billy" working for the G. N. R. as a sectionman at Stonehill, Mont., a small village west of Rexford, where he was arrested. Bill, however, had taken steps to conceal his true identity by dyeing his jet black hair a peroxide hue, and also very crudely altering his military discharge papers as a further attempt to baffle the authorities. This deception was fruitless and waiving extradition he was brought here, pending the arrest of Charlie, his preliminary being from time to time postponed. On Monday last Inspector Dunwoody, who has spread the official dragnet far and near, received information that the wanted lad had enlisted with the American army and was thought to be with a company of soldiers stationed at Fort Wright. Constable Collins was forthwith dispatched to Spokane and located his man. He was brought back to this city on Wednesday and both lads will come up for preliminary hearing on a charge of murder early next week.

MUST VOTE TO KEEP ON LIST

Voters who do not mark their ballots on the referendum, Oct. 20, in this province, will have their names struck off the provincial voters' list. This might mean in the event of an election being called quickly they would lose their right to vote.

It is one of the provisions of the new provincal electons act that when a voter fails to vote he is automatically struck off the list. The idea is that if a person does not vote the list should be kept cleaned up by striking him or her off, the theory being that a person who does not vote has probably left the district. It is a plan which is bound to work some hardships—a voter may be ill or be prevented from voting by circumstances beyond his control—but it is the law and no doubt will be carried out.

Everyone should vote on the referendum, either for prohibition or government control, as a matter of public duty, but the fact that those who do not vote will be stricken from the voters' list and perhaps lose opportunity to vote in the next provincial election is an additional reason for marking a ballot on Oct. 20

HER TRIP TO OLD COUNTRY USELESS

Returning Home Sick and Miserable She Found Relief by Taking Tanlac

"After what Tanlac has done for me I feel that the very least I can do to show my gratitude is to allow a statement of mycase tobe made public for it has completely restored my health," said Mrs. May Dawson, of 1081 Pender St., East, Vancouver, B.C.

"For fully two years I had been unable to eat anyhing without being troubled with indigestion. My food would sour and form gas, and my heart would palpitate so that I became alarmed. I suffered from terrible pains in the pit of my stomach and would feel like I was choking. At times I felt so weak and dizzy that I could not stand without holding to something.

"I also had severe pains across the small of my back that hurt terribly whenever I attempted to stoop over. I became so weak that I could scarcely do a thing, and my nerves were so unstrung that the children playing or any unusual noise would almost drive me frantic. As the treatments and medicines did me no good, a little over a year ago I went back to England, hoping the change would do me good, but I failed to find any relief over there either.

"About two months ago I reutrned to Vancouver, still feeling very sick and miserable. A friend got me to try Tanlac, and after taking three bottles you would never think there was ever anything the matter with me.

"I now have a splendid appetite and am never troubled with sourness or gas, nor suffer from palpitation or shortness of breath. The pain in my back is gone and I haven't an ache of any kind. My nerves are calm and steady, I sleep like a child and get up feeling rested and full of life. I have gained nine pounds and feel as strong and healthy as I ever did in my life. My daughter Gladys also suffered with indigestion, so she took Tanlac and it completely relieved her trouble."

CURLING PHILOSOPHY

  Are armchairs in a row,
Where fellows sit to watch the games,
  While wreaths of smoke they blow;
And if you really want to learn
  The fine points of the play,
Don't shoot your rocks, just stay inside,
  And listen what they say.
So light your pipe and take your seat
  Where it is warm and nice,
Where better games are always curled
  Than out upon the ice.
For soon you'll hear, "He's narrow sure,
  He's comin' far too hard.
No, no—Don't sweep—just let it go,
  He's goin' to get a guard."
"Say! watch that guy, the twists he makes
  In his deliveree—
He'll tie himself into a knot
  If he should draw a tee.
He's wide—He's slow, oh, let it go,
  He never got the broom.
There's no excuse to miss that shot,
  He sure had lots of room."
"Now what's he playing that shot for?
  What can he be about?
He ought to have a runnin' shot
  And take that rock right out.
He'll never get it with that ice—
  Well, look at what he struck.
He got it after all, but then
  He had a lotta luck."
But when these men are called to play,
  These curlers, skilled and wise,
They make the very same mistakes
  As those they criticize.
They find it takes but little skill
  To dissipate advice
And play a scientific game
  When they are off the ice.
So as we pass along life's way,
  And as we hear men talk,
We're always skilful when we throw
  The other fellow's rock.
This disposition is not strange,
  In life it's just the same,
We're always wisest when we skip
  The other fellow's game.

CHILDREN SELDOM NEED DRUGS, SAYS Dr.WILEY

There is a growing belief that the physician called to a sick infant should use drugs in the most sparing manner. The infant vitality is already low when the infant is ill, and cannot react under the influence of a drug as a more mature human being is adle to do. There may be cases where certain remedies are indicated, but as a rule the sick child needs a proper diet and proper nursing far more than he needs a pill or a pellet. The great trouble is not with the physician at the present time, but with the father and the mother. If a doctor is called for their sick child and he does not write a prescription, they think he has not done anything for the child. The prescription helps the father and mother, and it may be written so as not to injure the child. The child doctor has to treat the three persons, but he should not do it at the expense of the sick one of the three. It may not be good ethics to write a perscription which is chiefly a placebo and intended for the benefit of the father and mother, yet there are times when such a prescription may be advisable. The father and mother make much better nurses, if they are fully convinced that the physician has done everything in the world possible for the sick baby. A trained nurse is not always available, and after all, no trained nurse can really take the place of a mother or a father. —from "The League for Longer Life"

Mr. George Stevenson, an old and respected resident of this section of the province for the past twenty-five years, whilst employed with the government road gang on work near the golf course, met with an accident Tuesday morning which will perhaps terminate fatally. About noon hour of Tuesday Chief of Pilice Adams received an urgent call from the golf club informing him that a man had met with an accident by being trampled under foot by a team engaged on road work. The chief made all possible haste to the scene of the accident and found the injured man in an unconscious state, with blood streaming from a nasty wound in the head, caused by the horse's hoof He immediately phoned the St. Eugene hospital for the ambulance and the injured man was conveyed to that institution with all possible haste. He is in a precarious condition, being weak from loss of blood. At this writing his condition is critical wth little hope held out for his recovery, his advanced age and the serious injuries to his head mitigating against recovery. — Cranbrook Courier.

If your purse is limited it is a good idea to purchase a gold-filled case, with the idea of securing later on a solid gold case. This permits of putting the maximum value into the movement, which of course will be permanent.

POSSIBILITIES OF NORTHERN B.C.

Col. W. B. Greeley, chief of the United States Forestry Service, after a tour of Alaska, returns most enthusiastic in respect to the production of pulp and paper in that country. He is right, in spite of the fact that New York interests decry the idea of going so far afield for either pulp or paper. And by the same token, Canadian forest reserves northward along the coast line from Vancouver as far as the international boundary will sooner or later be taken into serious consideration by those who are looking for the future development of the pulp and paper business.

From Vancouver northward as far as Skagway, a distance of approximately a thousand miles,, the writer recently saw incredible quantities of standing timber of the very finest pulp and paper making varieties. This timber is not in patches nor of small, inferior quality, but stood up there as it had for a thousand years, a seemingly endless forest, ranging from the ocean level, up the mountain sides until "timberline" is reached and the eternal snows begin. It is there, readily accessible, by the billions of feet, and never has a woodsman's axe touched even the edges of this huge mass of potential wealth.

The natural advantages of pulp and paper making along the Pacific coast cannot long be overlooked. Here is an inland waterway, the result of glacier action ages ago, which extends from Vancouver, B.C., as far as Skagway, Alaska. At no stage of a steamer's journey is one subjected to rough haidling by the Pacific ocean for more than a few hours, as for instance when passing through Queen Charlotte Sound, which is unprotected from the Pacific's billows for a space covered in three hours' steaming time. All along this protected ocean highway there is water and to spare. It would be rare, indeed, to find a location where a large ocean freighter could not safely navigate within a stone's throw of these thickly wooded shores.

All along this route are waterpowers, not in numbers to count on one's fingers, but literally by the hundreds, that some day will be harnessed for the use of man. And there is this to remember in respect to climatic conditions' the average person is under the impression that Northern British Columbia and Southern Alaska is just one huge cold storage vault, whose chief crop is glaciers and icebergs. Nothing could be farther from the truth. On and near the coast line the warm Japanese current has much the same effect as has the Gulf Stream in certain portions of the Atlantic, and in place of extreme cold which the latitude would naturally indicate, the climate is in reality not over harsh, nothing to be compared with our own Northwest during the winter months, and this statement is borne out by the character of the vegetation which abounds.

With the Panama canal in working order, the shipment of either pulp or paper from Northern British Columbia and Alaska in cargo lots should be altogether feasible, and if properly directed, give large returns to those who have the courage to enter this comparatively unknown field.

HIS RIGHT TO LIVE

When they arrested Anton Keuhn, 19 years old, on a charge of burglary, he readily confessed his guilt. "A fellow has to live, you know," he urged inextenuation of his bad deeds.

Young Anton Keuhn was mistaken of course. A fellow does not have to live. There is not anywhere in the world today, there never in all the history of the world has been, any individual who must live. All humanity of more than a century ago died. All the people now on earth will die. Those who went in the past were not long missed; always their places were filled by others. The world will go safely, happily on when we shall have left it.

It is one of the oldest errors — this view of young Anton Keuhn "one has to live." What millions it keeps from doing the plainest duty! Some men shirk the call of the patriot in time of a nation's danger because they fear to die—yet no one who escapes death on the battlefield insures himself safety from the grave. In a way, one may make choice of methods of dying — but is it worse to answer the last call from the snug shelter of a coward's retreat than to respond from the post of a hero? Is it worse to die from the pangs of hunger than to rot in a foul prison cell?

To besure, the choice is not really so limited. Millions come bravely, joyously back from war while only thousands sleep in graves baptized by a nation's tears.

And while young Anton Keuhn stole what another had toiled to possess the industries of the earth were calling for workers at a rich wage. Young Anton had to close his ears to the summons in order that he might go his way and rob instead of earning honestly and happily a right to live.—St. Louis Times.

BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT

Appreciating the efforts of those who are interested in the Boy Problem, we have decided to devote a certain amount of space each week in dealing with a particular phase of the Boy Scout movement.

The Boy Scout movement was founded by Lieut.-General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, who, realizing the necessity of developing the boys of the present generation into a strong, sturdy manhood, originated this scheme of training for the physical, moral and spiritual development of the boys.

Although in its infancy, only being some fifteen years old, the movement has so appealed to the imagination of all boys that there are today two million boys connected with this or-ganization. These are centered throughout the British Empire and most of the largest countries of the world, including France, Italy, China, United States, Japan, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, etc. There are Scouts of every race and color, but through the Scout organization all are bound together into one great brotherhood.

Character building is the aim of the Boy Scout movement. It takes into its membership boys of from 12 to 18 years of age, and makes an effort to get them to appreciate the important things around them, and to train them in self-reliance, manhood and good citizenship. It is Peace-Scouting these boys engage in, living as much as possible out of doors, camping, hiking and learning the secrets of the woods and fields. Endurance, self-reliance, self-control, and an effort to help someone else are Scout objectives. Every activity which lends itself to these aims is good Scoutcraft.

DEMAND A CLEAN-UP

(Cranbrook Herald)

A somewhat stormy session of the Police Commission took place on Tuesday evening at the city hall, a delegation of citizens, among them being a number of ladies, attending to hear Chief of Police Adams tell the results of his instructions to "clean-up" the city in the past month, which were given him some time ago.

Mayor Genest was in the chair, Commissioner Shankland being the only commissioner present for a time, Commissioner Balment putting in an appearance later.

The Mayor invited those present to make any statements they might desire to, and Mr. Atlee Bridges was the first speaker, being of the opinion that things had not improved much during the past month or so. Messrs. Haynes and Fyles also addressed the Commission, and the discussion waxed warm for a time.

Commissioner Shankland was critical of the work of the police and intimated that some vendors of "drinks" seemed to be favored. Chief of Police Adams outlined conditions from the point of view of the department, and Magistrate Leask also took a hand in the discussion at times.

Commissioner Shankland wanted to see the law enforced and asked of the Mayor if a special meeting could be called to consider possibly some changes in the police department personnel. Such a meeting, it is understood, may be held at the end of this week.

Chief of Police Adams presented his report, which showed the amount of fines collected, etc. There were 28 arrests for being drunk and disorderly, 6 for infractions of the prohibition act and 2 for violations of the beer and beverage by-law; that Fernie had 20 cases of violation of the "dry act," Nelson 17 and Cranbrook 28. The department had collected in fines for the past nine months $6,651, which is more than double that of 1919.

Chief Adams denied the charge made during the evening that "some people were paying him," as Commissioner Shankland said he had been informed.

CHECK-OFF MADE VALID

The much vexed question of the legality of the U. M. W. of A. check-off authorized by Coal Commissioner Armstrong has been declared valid by the Appellate Court in Calgary, consisting of Chief Justice Harvey and Justices Beck, Stuart and Ives. The court accepted the contention that the Armstrong order has been made valid by statute since it was promulgated.

The appeal decision arose out of the decision of Magistrate Davidson of Calgary, before whom, last spring, the case was heard as brought by the Canmore miners, who claimed that the lock-out enforced by the mine management was illegal in that it was a contravention of the Lemieux Act, though it was in conformity with the order of Commissioner Armstrong enforcing the U. M. W. of A. check-off. The miners held that the order could not supersede the Lemieux Act and that, in consequence, the mine management had acted illegally in locking out the miners for refusing to comply with the Armstrong order No. 11, which made the check-off compulsory.

Under the Lemieux Act the miners claimed that a board of conciliation should have been granted, as they requested, before their being locked out. The claim of the miners was dismissed.

H. Ostlund appeared with A. Macleod Sinclair, K.C., on behalf of the Canmore miners, and it was urged that the Privy Council order 1725 only gave Commissioner Armstrong power to investigate into hours of labor, holidays and conditions in the mines, and not to issue orders. In doing so it was argued that the commissioner had exceeded his powers. The court expressed the opinion that evidently it was thought that there was something wrong in the Armstrong order in the passing of statute to make it legal. But now that that the order had been validated by Act of parliament they decided against the appeal.

The case will not be carried further.

FERNIE OPTICAL PARLORS

PASERS BY

Peter Waverton, in a whimsical moment, decided to open his home to the strays who passed by his window. There came Nighty, a cabby and a friend of his valet's, Pine; a derelict named Burns, and a woman who had lost her way in a dense fog.

The woman is Margaret, whom Peter had loved six years ago and lost through the machinations of his sister. She had wanted him to marry a girl in his own station in life. Margaret was only a governess, so she went out of his life and his search for her was in vain.

Margaret was the great love in Peter's life, but the finding of her at last was complicated by his engagement to another. When Peter meets Little Peter—his and Margaret's son—a way to happiness is found.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

R. T. Wilson and D. E. Lewis, of Michel, were fined $25 each this week for breaking into a box car.

D. Peters and a man named Wilson were each fined $25 by Magistrate Stenson for theft this week.

S. Lowden, head cutter for P. Burns & Co., has resigned his position to go into partnership with the Fernie Meat Market on Nov. 1st.

F. Mulosky, of Michel, was fined $50 the other day for shooting a moose out of season. How he came to get off so easy is a problem, as the minimum fine is supposed to be $250.

A. E. Ferguson has sold the undertaking business, which he recently bought from G. B. Thomson, to the Fernie Undertaking Co., of which J. P. Lowe is the manager. They will re-open the Thomson undertaking parlors.

Hon. Mackenzie King and a number of other prominent Liberals will address a public meeting in Cranbrook on Monday next, Oct. 18. It is expected that quite a number of the faithful in this city will attend the meeting.

Mrs. Dr. M. McKay, wife of Dr. McKay, of Vancouver, will address a mass meeting in Hawthorne's Hall, Saturday, Oct. 16, at 8 p.m., in the interest of prohibition. Mrs. McKay is a fluent and convincing speaker and thoroughly knows his subject. A collection will be taken.

The employees of the Elk Lumber Co. have arranged to hold a benefit dance in Victoria Hall on Friday, Oct. 29, in aid of Billy Hart, who is in the hospital suffering from a broken leg and who has several people dependent upon him. Tickets $1.50. Bass' orchestra in attendance.

Died—At Fernie, Oct. [illegible] Estner, aged 42 years, beloved wife of John Hill. The funeral was held from the family residence, 358 Victoria Ave., on Wednesday, Oct. 13, and procceded to the United Church, where services were held at 12 o'clock noon, Rev. Burns officiating.

A meeting is being held this evening in the council chamber for the purpose of organizing a Local Association in connection with the Boy Scout movement. A number of leading citizens of Fernie have stated their sympathy and appreciation of this movement and are lending their assistance in the supervision of this work, recognizing the fact that the time and money expended on the boys is the best and surest investment that can be made.

Coleman station of the C.P.R. was burglarized Sunday night. The total loss is not known yet and will not be known until a check has been made of the ticket case. It appears that the burglar or burglars entered the station through the freight door. A window was broken. Two or three bottles of whiskey were taken, $7.90 from the express till and some small change from the ticket agent's till. Efforts had been made to enter the station by a door in the rear.

The "superfluous female" was emphasized in the performance of "Camouflage," the overseas revue presented by the "Maple Leafs," last evening at the Grand, in the extremely natural manner the "boys" played their parts. The camouflage in this respect was excellent, and feminine grace and figure outvied the real article, while the "creations" were, as miladi would describe it, "a dream" The performance will be repeated this evening.

The funeral of the late Johnny Dragon, son of our former townsman, Simon Dragon, took place from the Roman Catholic church on Wednesday and was largely attended. The pallbearers, who were the lad's personal friends, were C. Glover, T. Wilson, T. Baker, R. Colton, A. Dunlap and J. Wasnock. The many beautiful floral tributes received showed the high esteem in which the young man was held. Full details of how the accident which caused the death of the deceased are now to hand. The young man was driving to the cannery with a load of tomatoes, when the whiffletree broke and he was jerked from the wagon, his head striking the front wheel, resulting in almost instntaneous death. His father accompanied the body to Fernie, where the boy was born in 1900 and where his mother was buried six years ago.

ALBERTA EXPORTS COAL TO THE U.S.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—Telegrams received here by the Railway commission from J. H. Mahoney, representative of the war trade board at Washington, stated that the Inter-State Commerce Commission had issued orders to all railways to furnish coal cars to mines in preference to any other use. The order which became effective on October 10 at midnight is to remain in effect until the domestic situation is well in hand.

September imports of coal showed an encouraging tone in that the imports during the last half of the month showed an increase over those of the first two weeks. There were 371,000 tons of anthracite and 1,787,000 tons of bituminous coal brought into Canada in the month. While Canada is still behind last year in the tonnage of anthracite imported, there is a slight gain in the supply of bituminous brought in.

The coal production of Alberta mines in August was 578,000 tons, which was 225,000 tons ahead of the monthly average for the season. An interesting point in connection with the Alberta output is the fact that 75,000 tons of Alberta coal has been exported to the United States since this season opened and 1300 tons has been brought to points in Western Ontario at the head of the lakes.

THE RIGHT TO DRINK SOBERLY

(By the Dean of Exeter, the Very Rev. H. R. Gamble.)

If I am asked on what grounds I am opposed to what is known as the "Prohibition movement," I would reply:

(1) Because I "profess and call" myself a Christian, and I do not believe in "prohibiting" what the Christian religion permits. For there is no question that the Christian religion sanctions the use of wine, etc. Indeed, all through the Bible its use is taken for granted, and the Psalmist sings of "wine that maketh glad the heart of man." An attempt has sometimes been made to divide the wines of the Bible into intoxicating and non-intoxicating, and to maintain that the latter only were permitted, but for this contention there is no ground whatever.

So in the New Testament we find that Christ Himself neither taught nor practiced abstinence from wine. This was the difference between Him and John the Baptist. "For John came neither eating nor drinking, and ye say he hath a devil; the Son of Man came eating and drinking, and ye say, Behold a gluttonous man and a wine-bibber, a friend of publicans and sinners!" At Cana, in Galilee, He changed the water into wine, and in the institution of the Holy Communion He made use of wine as well as of bread. So again, Paul advised Timothy to "use a little wine for his stomach's sake." In short, though we find frequent denunciations of drunkenness, we find none of drinking. Temperance is enjoined on all Christians, but not total abstinence.

Herein, in short, is one difference between Christianity and Mohammedanism, that the latter forbids the use of intoxicating liquors, while the former permits it. It may have been something of a shock to the American Prohibitionist when in the course of a conversation with a newspaper correspondent "the Sultan remarked that it was with satisfaction he observed that America was adopting Prohibition, which had been practised by the faithful Mussulmans for ages" (but which had not prevented the Armenian massacres). They were hardly, perhaps, prepared for such a frank and warm recognition of religious affinity to Mohammedanism.

(2) In the next place I am opposed to Prohibition because I believe in liberty, without which there can be no virtue. It might, no doubt, be possible to make a nation of total abstainers of a man by locking him up in prison. But in either case is there any gain in character, and nothing can make up for the loss of personal freedom. Of course, the State has its rights as well as the individual, and though State action in our day threatens to become excessive in many directions, we fully recognize that there are departments of life and action in which it must be supreme.

But if an individual is to have any freedom at all it must surely be in such questions as to what he shall eat and drink. Yet even here also the State, as the guardian of public order, has its proper functions. It is bound to suppress public and disorderly drunkenness, and, if necessary, take steps to prevent it. But in doing this is has no moral right to prohibit the sober man from drinking soberly.

Not only has it no moral right to do this, but it is morally bound to give every man as much of liberty as possible, in order that he may form and develop his own character; for the strength of every State lies in the character of its citizens. But there can be no character without freedom. Temperance, for instance, means self-control; but there can be no selfcontrol without freedom. Such is the conviction which inspires the well-known but often misunderstood words of Archbishop Magee.

"If I must take my choice whether England should be free or sober. . . . I should say that it would be better that England should be free than that it should be compulsory sober. I would distinctly prefer freedom to sobriety, because with freedom we might in the end attain sobriety; but in the other alternative we should quickly lose both freedom and sobriety."

Once more, I am opposed to Prohibition because, so far as I can judge, its fruits are nil. It dos not even accomplish what it set before itself as its great aim—the suppression of all drinking. Like Frank Osbaldistone in Scott's "Rob Roy," it does not even "understand the beggarly trade which its has undertaken." Its effects are to make drinking secret instead of open; to produce contempt and violation of law; and to be, in the words of Mr. Gompers, the American labor leader, "the champion breeder of class hatred." In most places liquor is obtainable by those who have money enough to buy it, i.e., by the rich and well to do. Everywhere there is widespread discontent, and already there is a strong movement for relaxing Prohibition which was not so much carried by the American people as forced upon them by a well-organized minority.

Everywhere, we are told, there are hosts of spies and informers. There may, on the other hand, be some decrease in poverty and crime, but even if it is so, the gain is dearly bought. It is, however, very doubtful as to how far there is any improvement in that respect, and Mr. M. Redmayne, for 20 years a resident in California, recently wrote to the "Spectator" as follows: "As to the improvement in general morality which was foretold as a result of Prohibition, it can only be said that crimes of violence, gambling, drug-taking, divorce, and general extravagance and wastefulness are on the increase," and he concludes his letter with these significant sentences:

"There is a general feeling that the country is no longer free, and that other, and more tyrannous, restrictions on liberty will follow. Incidentally, the costs of enforcement will be enormous, burdening the people with further vexatious taxation, and taking away a great and legitimate source of revenue. There is already a tremendous reaction in America against total prohibition, and in favor of the use of wine and beer.

"For the present, prohibitionists seem to have a stranglehold on the organization of both political parties, but I do not believe it will last, and then sane and moderate counsels will prevail. We in this country have no need to look to Americans for lessons in how to conduct our lives in any way, for they are neither more moral, more efficient, nor more free than we are.

"We have the power—and, I believe, the will—so to reform our use of alcohol that, while removing its undoubted abuses, we may remain the most moral and efficient, and, at the same time, the freest people in the world."

Such, then, are some of my reasons for opposing the "Prohibition" movement. But in doing so I am by no means blind to the need of improving our present arrangements. We ought to see, for instance, that the beer supplied is pure beer; there can be, if necessary, a reduction of the hours during which public houses are open; that is a matter for arrangement; all that we ask is that there shall be facilities for reasonable men to drink reasonably.

Above all, we should like to see a change in the character of the public-house. We should prefer to see it more like the Continental cafe — so far as our climate permits—a place in which non-intoxicants could be obtained as easily as beer or wine; a place, not of mere drinking but of true social intercourse. Such changes as these might be obtained, without any sweeping legislation, which, indeed, the country, which is growing more and more temperate, neither needs nor desires. We must keep these aims before us, even though we obtain little help from extremists on either side; but our immediate task is to resist the tyranny with which we are threatened.

BOOTLEGGER RESISTS ARREST

Tom Minchuk, proprietor of the Royal hotel, was up before Magistrate Whimster on Tuesday, charged with having liquor in his possession and with resisting an officer while pursuing his duty.

Chief Lawson and Constable Clarkston of the city force spotted a suspicious looking automobile in the alley back of the Royal hotel Saturday night and upon investigating found that Mr. and Mrs. Minchuk were the occupants and the lady in question was sitting upon three bottles of what the officers assert was liquor. A short scrimmage took place in which the three bottles were broken and the contents spilled thus destroying the evidence which they are supposed to have contained as was also a jar containing similar liquid to that which was in the bottles.

Constable Clarkston received a blow on the shoulder inflicted by Minchuk and Chief Lawson was hit on the head and had to retaliate with his "billy" before Minchuk could be persuaded to subside. A ten gallon keg of alcohol was captured in the fight.

Magistrate Whimster fined Minchuk $250 and the charge of resisting an officer in the discharge of his duty was laid over until next Tuesday. As the authorities have about lost patience with the way some of these foreigners are respecting the law and its officers, Minchuk will in all probability be severely dealt with.

REPRESENTATION NEEDED

Looking over the roster of officers of the Good Roads League of B. C., as set forth in the program of the convention at Nelson, one is struck by the fact that Southeastern British Columbia's representation in the organization is nil. Not one of the nine officers or fourteen directors hails from east of Nelson, and yet there is no district more vitally interested in good roads than this section. The experience of this past season has shown to us what good road may mean to a district. It seems doubly strange therefore that there should be no voice from this part of the province in the affairs of the Good Roads League. This body has been accomplishing good work in bringing out many different expressions as to what constitutes a good road, how best it may be maintained and why it should be maintained as such. From this interchange of ideas a certain degree of uniformity has been attained, and this will be more marked in the future than in the past. In these days it is essential that every cent spent on the roads shall tell, the old days of haphazard road making having of necessity given place to something more thorough and systematic.

Is it lack of sympathy with the work of the Good Roads League that has kept the district out of that organization or is it merely inertia?—Cranbrook Herald.

The Kelowna Courier put the position of the country weekly in reference to the question of politics very well when it says:

"It is well to point out that the majority of country newspapers have been gradually weaning themselves from party politics during the past few years. In rural district publishing is inseparably associated with commercial printing, and the business support of the whole community is necessary to finance the production of a publication of which the district need not be ashamed. As business men, there is really no more sense in country publishers taking political sides than for local grocery, hardware or other businesses to proclaim themselves Conservatives or Liberal. Every man should have decided opinion, but it is not incumbent on him to carry them into his business to its detriment. Hence the yearly increasing number of weeklies in the newspaper directories as "independant" in politics. They realize they are not in a position to represent the political feelings of one section of a small community when they must look to all for their support, and instead of the colored and unfair reports of political meetings not to their liking which characterized their columns in bygone days, they are seeking to give the political news without partiality.

CANADIAN SHOES FOR CANADIAN PEOPLE

A thousand rumors do not make one single fact

ALL of us want to believe the rumors regarding further reduction in footwear prices. If they were founded on fact—or even probability—we would have been ahead of Rumor in announcing the good news.

BUT rumor, as usual, ignores the one fact that controls the situation—that prices to the retailer are governed by the cost of raw materials and labor.

High prices are not of our making or seeking. They have been imposed upon us and you by the tremendously increased cost of every single thing that enters into the making of shoes.

And these high material costs, together with to-day's wage scale, which govern and dictate our shoe prices, show no immediate tendency to permanently seek lower levels.

THAT is why we cannot make any definite promise to you that our prices to the retailer will be any lower this season than those in effect for Spring, 1921, styles.

Irresponsible Rumor ignores these facts—delights in "sensational news"—and, as is so often the case, hurts everybody indiscriminately until its falseness and viciousness become apparent.

We appreciate our responsibility to you; we want to help towards cheaper living and we are earnestly striving to improve matters. We ask your confidence and belief to encourage us towards that end.

OUR advice to you—and we give it in all sincerity—is to BUY NOW any shoes you need for yourself or your family for Fall and Winter. Don't buy extravagantly or recklessly, but do so carefully and judiciously.

SHIPWRECKED AMONG CANNIBALS

WAS DARWIN RIGHT? COME AND SEE

TRUE!

It gets you right at the start—the realization that here is the true pictorial history of an adventure that was never meant to be an adventure—a tremendous danger into which Mr. Laemmle and Mr. Alder were plunged without any wish on their part. And over it all hangs the constant danger—which the titles perfectly bring out—that each scene may be the last—that these two daring men may pay the penalty for their rashness and end as the only other white man who has lived among these savages ended his life—in a big pot over a fire.

SENSATIONAL!

Here's a real thriller! The authentic adventures of two daredevil Americans shipwrecked on the coast of New Guinea completely at the mercy of a tribe of cannibals, the lowest and most savage specimens of the human race. With the very first title you will see that this tremendous adventure on the part of Edward Laemmle and William F. Alder is one of the biggest things ever shown on the screens of the world—sensational because true—dramatic because this is not a picture of actors but of the perils of two cameramen—true, because the whole expedition is there for you to see. Take it from us—this is the real goods.

DRAMATIC!

Imagine the situation? You don't have to! It's all there in the pictures—their ship cast ashore by the storm—the wild savages rising out of the jungle and rushing down to the beach—the parley—then their virtual imprisonment for weeks during which time they were able to collect hundreds of the strangest scenes that any camera ever shot. Wild dances—children who play with human skulls — women whose bodies are scarred and seared to make them beautiful—men whose faces are tortured out of all human semblance to make them ferocious. Never have there been any moving pictures like these.

Unique adventure of two modern Explorers and Sportsmen among the Kia Kia headhunters of New Guinea where they risked their lives rather than forego the opportunity of making some of the most remarkable moving pictures ever taken.

BASSOFF TO BE HANGED

Macleod, Oct. 13.—On December 22, 1920, Tom Bassoff will pay with his life for the murdering of Constable F. W. E. Bailey of the Lethbridge detachment of the Alberta provincial police. That was the decree of the assizes court here this afternoon. Six good men and true returned a verdict of guilty of murder and Judge McCarthy passed the death sentence. They gave their verdict at 4.45 this afternoon after an hour's deliberation.

With the hanging of Bassaff in the Lethbridge jail at dawn, three days before Christmas and just at the time when millions of children are dreaming about Santa Claus, the fifth life resulting from the holding up of C. P.R. train number 63 at Sentinel on August 2 will have been taken. British justice then will have been served and the law of the land will consider that proper recompense has been made for the stopping unlawfully of the train, the stealing of four hundred dollars and the taking of the life of Constable Bailey and that of Corporal Ernest Usher, of the Macleod detachment of the R. C. M. P.

Two other lives have been lost in this chase after fugitives. Akroff, one of the bandits, a partner of Bassoff, paid for his share of the train robbery and for resisting of arrest in the Bellevue cafe in Bellevue on August 7, with his life on that date, and Nick Kyslik, who refused to obey the command of Constable Hidson, was shot dead at Hillcrest during a search of the houses at that point on August 9.

That is the cost of the train robbery and the chase in the Frank country, put down in cold words. In money the chase and trial cost a large sum but this afternoon justice was served with the sentencing of Bassoff to be hanged.

True enough it was the verdict expected by nearly every one who attended the court but the jury was out one hour and during that time some thought a gleam of light was beginning to show for the crouching figure in the iron cage. Bassoff, with his eye constantly turned toward the floor today appeared not to be paying much attention to what was going on and not until Judge McCarthy called to him to stand on his feet and hear his fate did he lift his eye.

Standing in his old clothes, wearing a mackinaw in the hot court room and his grey shirt unfastened at his neck Bassoff listened to Judge McCarthy voice his life away and then without a quiver on his face sat down. Not until policemen handcuffed him again and were leading him down the hall on the ground floor, did Bassoff show signs of human feelings. He appeared dejected and looked neither to the right nor left but on the floor all the time and was hunched more than ever.

CARPENTIER WINS FIGHT

Jersey City, N.J., Oct. 12.—Georges Carpentier, the French heavyweight, made his initial bow as a fighter before an American audience tonight and knocked out Battling Levinsky, who held the United States light-heavyweight title, in seven seconds of the fourth round. Carpentier, who holds the light-heavyweight title of Europe, is now the world's title-holder of that division.

Early in 1918, Jack Dempsey, who subsequently won the world's heavyweight title, knocked out Levinsky in three rounds at Philadelphia. Tonight Carpentier failed to equal Dempsey's time in finishing Levinsky, but he is the only one outside of the champion who has knocked out Levinsky since the latter became prominent as a fighter.

The last round started with both fighters fiddling. Then Carpentier drove Levinsky across the ring lending lefts and rights at will, finally sending Levinsky down for the full count. Levinsky was not unconscious, but he was tangled up in a corner on the ropes while he was counted out.

THE BEST SECURITY ON EARTH

The Mutual Life Agent who hands you a Mutual Life policy is one of the best friends you will ever have in this world. For although the Mutual of Canada is a "business" it is a most beneficent business. Mutual Life insurance protects your family and your home; it increases your credit; it gives you peace of mind; it ensures to the children an education should you not live to provide it for them by your personal effort. These are only a few things that a Mutual Life Policy means. A Mutual policy is also one of the best of all securities for "There is nothing else in the civilized world which approaches even remotely the security of a well-established life insurance office." In addition to its security the Mutual is conducted on a pre-eminently economical, equitable and democratic system.

MOTORS AND SPEED LIMITS

The police take a wise course in abandoning prosecutions in the Metropolitan area for exceeding the speed limit in a motor car and relying on evidence of dangerous driving. Driving may be dangerous at a speed far below the limit, and high speed, on a quiet stretch of open road, although, illegal, may be safe enough. The difficutly we forsee is that of bringing home the dangerous character of the driving when there has not been an proved we hope that magistrates will deal with it severly, and especially in the way of cancelling licences to drive. The inefficiency of the present system of fines and endorsements is clear enough from the fact that Kingston alone has had 476 cases of driving at high speed this year, and the motorists pay the penalties inflicted and go on their way. The administration of law in a way that does not deter the lawbreaker only leads to indifference to the law.—Westminster Gazette.

WORKING FULL BLAST

At a meeting of the miners held on Saturday last it was decided to return to work on Tuesday morning. A resolution was also carried that in case the Company refused to reemploy the agitators who were responsible for the men coming out in the first place, that at the end of ten days they would again go on strike. As, we understand, there are a few men whom the company absolutely refuse to take on again, it looks like as if there would be further trouble. These few are out and out O.B.U. men and cannot expect to receive the backing of the U. M. W. of A.

However, the mines at Coal Creek and Michel are again working full blast, whatever the future may bring forth.

PRELIMINARY IN MURDER CHARGE

The preliminary hearing of Billy Salter alias Billy Chinourd and Charie Chinourd, jointly charged with the murder of Taihl Singh, who died as a result of injuries inflicted upon him in Waldo on the 16th of July last, was opened this morning before Stipendiary Magistrate Stenson. Dr. Asselstine of this city testified as to the injuries found upon the unfortunate Hindoo, and also the result of the post mortem examination. Dr. Saunders, of Waldo, also testified as to the injuries and matters relating to the case when he was called to treat the injured man in his shack, when he was found that some 12 hours after the alleged assault. Paul Gagne, an employee of the Baker Lumber Co., gave evidence as to finding the injured man in his shack and also as to the evidences of a scuffle and the profuse quantity of blood found therein on the table, floor, walls, etc.

The movements of the accused boys were traced through evidence by several witnesses, Wm. McInnis having driven them about 9 o'clock the night of the occurrence from the Waldo Hotel to Baker's Hall, which is only a short distance from the Hindoo's shack. John McKay stated that the accused returned to the hotel about 1 o'clock in the morning and demanded a room, which was supplied to them. The reason for being out so late that they gave to his witness was on account of their having been visiting one Frederick Hammonds at his place and with whom they were acquainted. Mr. Hammond, however, in his evidence stated that he saw them only in the afternoon of the 16th, the last time being about 5 p.m. when they were returning to Waldo. They had never again visited his place. They left the Waldo hotel the following morning and presumably went south on the Great Northern train. Wm. Woodley, nightwatchman at the Baker mill, swore as to having heard loud talking in the direction of the Hindoo's shack about midnight, but saw no one. C. W. Draggett, of Stonehill, Mont., testified as to Billy Chinourd, who at that place went under the alias of Fred Williams, first telling him about the murder. Billy is alleged to have asked witness if he had heard anything about the assault and later stating he had beaten up the Hindoo, using only his fists and then twisting his head until he heard the bones crack. The reason given far attacking the Hindoo was that when young lads they knew of the Hindoo making an indecent attack upon their mother and also a young sister. On another occasion Charlie had made practically the same admission to Draggett, that his brother had killed the Hindoo, he being present at the time and words to the effect that they cut off one ear. Constable Collins gave evidence as to the arrest of both the accused. Billy, it is alleged, after being taken into custody and cautioned made the statement he was quite satisfied and if the authorities could prove he was in Waldo on the date in question he would tell the whole thing. Charlie was arrested in Fort Wright, near Spokane, where he was a member of the company of U.S. soldiers stationed at that place. Later, it is claimed, he made the admission that Bill, his brother, hit the Hindoo over the head with an axe. Inspector Dunwoody gave some important evidence as to a voluntary statement made by Billy. This was corroborated by Chief Lawson. In brief, the statement admits guilt of assault, the motive being revenge for wrongful relations between the Hindoo and the boy's sister. Accused denied in this statement, however, that he had at any time any desire to kill the Hindoo, Taihl Singh, but merely wanted to give him a severe beating up for what he had done He claimed he fought fairly and let the Hindoo up every time he knocked him down and only used his fists. Part of the time the light was out in the shack and while Charlie also hit the Hindoo, accused, Billy, did not know if any instrument had been used.

The hearing was adjourned until Friday as there are some other witnesses to be called who were not available today.

D. M. Mitchell is conducting the prosecution, the accused not being represented by counsel.

TODAY'S NEWS

London, Oct. 21.—Messages from Melbourne, Australia, state that the elections give Labor slight gains but resulted in a government victory. Early city returns from Victoria on the local option poll indicate that the vote will go for a continuation of local option.

London, Oct. 21.—The cabinet discussed tonight the grave situation arising out of the Railwaymen and Transport workers to force the government to negotiate with the miners. Whether any decision was reached was not disclosed up to 10.30 tonight. Two grave questions are exercising the political and industrial world, the first, to what extent the labor leaders are losing control of the workers, and, second, whether a political crisis and an appeal to the country will develop out of the miners' dispute.

Skibberren, Ireland, Oct. 21.—Three "Black and Tan" policemen returning to barracks were ambushed today and shot and wounded. Two of the men are not likely to recover.

New York, Oct. 21.—The federal grand jury today as a result of a secret investigation conducted by an assistant of the Attorney General's office, returned an indictment against Armour & Co., Chicago, packers, and against the officers of the company individually, charging them with "profiteering" in violation of the Lever Act.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—A warrant charging him with the murder of Elmer C. Drewes, Dartmouth Senior, was issued for Wm. P. Brines, a university of Pennsylvania freshman, by the district attorney tonight. Brines, according to the police, is the owner of a yellow motor car stained with blood and containing an automatic pistol and two empty bottles, found abandoned today about a mile from where Derewes body was discovered last Sunday morning.

London, Oct. 21.—The absence of Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law from the Commons debate tonight on the question of unemployment was much remarked, but the inference was that it was connected with the industrial crisis. The Premier appeared in the House late at night and replying to Arthur Henderson's question made a statement to the effect that he had been engaged for two days in discussion with the parties concerned in the coal strike with favorable progress.

"EVERYWOMAN" POPULAR

The presentation of "Everywoman," Walter Browne's celebrated modern morality play, as a screen spectacle, at the Orpheum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday next, recalls the enthusiastic reception it received upon its initial production upon the stage at the Herald Square Theatre, New York, in February, 1911. The cast included Patricia Collinge, Laura Nelson Hall and Wilda Bennett. Nothing like it had ever been seen before and the metropolitan critics hailed it as something gloriously new in the American drama. Almost continuously since that time it has been playing on the road and has been a great artistic and financial success. It was followed by several other plays of similar character, but none of them attained its popularity.

The screen version is said to have been arranged upon a most elaborate scale. The title role is played by Violet Heming and in the cast are Theodore Roberts, Wanda Hawley, Margaret Loomis, Monte Blue, Raymond Hatton and Irving Cummings. George Melford was the director and it is a Paramount-Artcraft picture.

GOVERNMENT TO CONTROL

Very little interest was taken locally in the prohibition plebiscite, only about two-thirds of the voters turning out to the polls and the vast majority of them voting government control. The plebiscite as worded gave little option to the voters. The present Prohibition Act had proved such a farce that to vote for its continuance seemed a joke and the result proves this contention.

Vancouver, Oct. 21.—The province of British Columbia, by a majority estimated at 25,000, expressed itself yesterday as preferring government control and sale of liquor to the prospect of continued prohibition. Although there are many districts yet to be heard from, the vote in the cities and towns is conclusive and decisive so far as the fate of the Prohibition Act is concerned. Penticton and Nelson only among the cities gave meagre majorities for prohibition. All the others went for government control by substantial majorities, in many cases there being two votes to one in favor.

The city of Vancouver, which at the former referendum was strongly in favor of prohibition, gave a majority of 10,000 against the present act.

Both sides at the outset expressed their fullest confidence, the prohibitionists relying very heavily on the vote of the new enfranchised women.

The poll all over the province was a heavy one.

The extent of the victory for government control was a surprise not merely to the prohibitionists but to many of the moderationists.

On Vancouver Island and throughout the interior, all the way from the Buckley valley south to the boundary line, voters expressed their overwhelming desire for government control.

Although government sale of liqcor has carried by a great majority, the B.C. Prohibition act, with its 8-ounce amendment, must remain the law for the province until the legislature meets and enacts a new law.

The present law cannot be repealed, nor a new one enacted, without calling the legislature together. A cabinet meeting, it is known, has been called by Premier Oliver to take place at Victoria on Saturday, at which, presumably, the referendum result will be discussed and a decision made as to the government's policy in bringing in new legislation.

It is said to be altogether likely that the government will outline the scope of a liquor control bill and seek immediate dissolution, going to the people for a mandate (among other things) on the details of the proposed measure.

Although the government always declined to discuss the details of a state sale measure until the people had first expressed a desire for it, there is said to be a general agreement among the members of the government that no private sale of any kind must be permitted. This means that there wil lbe no table serving, and may even spell the abolition of the present near-beer bars.

The plan favored by the government is said to be a permit system, whereby any adult citizen may procure a permit on the principle of a ration card, entitling him or her to purchase liquor in reasonable quantities for personal and domestic use, upon presentation at the nearest government store.

It is probable the government will exact a reasonable fee for the purchase of permits, which may be revoked or suspended for abuse of its privileges, or refused altogether where adequate reason is shown.

In order to lift the administration of the act as far as possible above the suspicion of political influence and to secure the greatest efficiency, it is understood that the measure to be submitted will provide for a public commission to administer the government sale act, comprising representatives of the moderation and prohibition parties as well as representatives appointed by the government. The commssion, it is understood, will have complete control of the liquor administration.

Commenting on yesterday's referendum result the Sun says in part:

"Even enthusiasts among the moderationists must be a little surprised at the decisive character of theri victory yesterday. Explanations are idle to seek. The idea that a preponderating majority of women would vote dry has gone glimmering. They are evidently not nearly as afraid of the evils of drink as the supporters of prohibition have supposed. The contention that the workingman and the storekeeper had become welded to total abstinence will not survive the revelation of the ballot box. So far as the prohibitionists forces are concerned the outcome expressed is not understandable."

MUST HAVE A NEW SCHOOL

At the regular Parent-Teachers meeting on Friday afternoon, Mr. Herchmer spoke to the Association on the subject of the much-needed new school. It was shown that more than 20 pupils of school age were missing their first half year of schooling, because there was no room for them. The Board had made a thorough search over the city and no place at all suitable for school purposes was available. It will be impossible ,therefore, to open this room until after New Year, and perhaps not then. Besides, each new term will bring a new influx of students, for whom there is no room.

Conditions in the present High school were most deplorable. Except on the brightest days artificial light is used all day, which is very hard on the pupils' eyes. From a sanitary point of view the place has been condemned over and over by every authority examining it. In addition, samples of the air were sent to Ottawa, and the reply, which came back was that "such air was not fit for pigs to live in." (This seems a little unfair, as everyone knows the most senseless of pigs won't attempt to live where there isn't plenty of fresh air, much less force his small piglets to do so.) However, the lease on the present High school premises expires next year, and the Board has not the slightest intention of renewing it. So unless the ratepayers vote at the next civic election to build a new school, the High school in Fernie will be closed. This will result in a great deal of trade and other benefits being diverted from this city.

The present make-shift arrangements are costing the city as much as the efficient kind, and we are getting nothing permanent in return for our money.

Throughout the meeting the discussion, which was participated in by Mr. Morrison, Mr. Baker and others, was very live and interesting.

In January at the regular civic elections a by-law for building a new school will be put before the ratepayers. It is hoped that every elector will feel it his duty to give the children of Fernie the same birthright he himself enjoyed, of an education in childhood.

Cork, Oct. 21.—A military party was ambushed this afternoon at Clonakilly near Newceston, County Cork, four soldiers being wounded, two of them seriously. An armed military detachment raided the office of the newspaper The Echo, at Enniscorthy and pied large quantities of type as a protest against "the lies about the military and police."

REINDEER FOR FOOD

Ottawa.—The plan to increase Canada's food supplies by the domestication of reindeer and musk ox in the Far North, which was first broached to a gathering of parliamentarians by Hjalmur Steffansson, the session before last, promises soon to be given a trial. Hon. Arthur Meighen, who was Minister of the Interior at the time, brought about the appointment of a commission to inquire into the feasibility of the explorer's proposal, and it made a favorable report.

That the plan has now reached the stage of feasibility and is about to be given a test, is intimated by the incorporation of the Hudson's Bay Reindeer Co., Ltd., with headquarters in Winnipeg, and a capitalization of $200,000.

The company proposes to acquire domestic or wild reindeer, musk ox, herbivorous animals of all kinds and to transplant them to grazing areas in the far north, for which a lease has already been secured.

Seattle, Oct. 15. — The Alaska Steamship Company's Bhering Sea liner Victoria, which sailed from Nome, Alaska, Sunday, carried 1000 carcasses of reindeer which will be placed on the market here to augment the fresh meat supply of Seattle. It is the largest shipment of reindeer ever brought down from Alaska, it is said.

"GRUMPY"

There is no actor on the stage today so proficient in the art of pantomine as Edward Lewers, who plays the part of "Grumpy" in Cyril Maude's comedy drama of that title which comes to the Grand Theatre on Fri., October 29th.

In a discussion on the most essential factor in comedy work, Mr. Lewers made the following remarks to an interviewer in the east, "To my mind pantomine is the father to all comedy, yes, even the father, the mother and the whole blessed family. Some Shakespearians (I was for some years an actor of his comedy roles myself) may refer to this gentle pastime as "Mugging," but I can assure you that it is the most essential part of comedy work.

The ancient Greeks, the founders of the theatre, realized its importance. Pantomine was a common means of entertainment with them long before the spoken drama came into existance, and it was all in pantomine that the first religous plays were produced. Let us take for instance, the higher entertainment of the more recent date, what spoken comedy has lived so long as "Columbine and Harlequin?" Just a few seasons ago, no less a person than Mr. Winthrop revived the story of this pantomine pair for his little theatre in New York.

The value of the pantomine in the conveyance of thought from the actor to the audience has been forcibly demonstrated in the tours of Restori, the elder Salvini, Sarah Bernhardt. None of these great artists could speak a word of English, yet they conveyed the various emotions with their hands and eyes so forcibly that English audiences could follow the entire plot of their plays.

From the very beginning of my stage career the mirror played an important part in my rehersals. For hours at a time I would stand before a mirror cultivating the muscles of my face and of the rest of my body, at the same time rehearsing the expression that would accompany every line of dialogue. To this day I still train my face, noting carefully the effect of each expression, and I think the public has appreciated this study, for they have been most enthusiastic over parts of my work where, in different productions, I have uttered no spoken word.

EVERY FARMER MAY MAKE HIS OWN GAS

"If present experiments being undertaken by the Unuited States department of agriculture terminate satisfactorily, it won't be many years before every farmer will have on his farm a full-fledged gasoline plant capable of distilling from wheat straw all the fuel he will require for his automobiles and farm machinery," says a recent bulletin.

"According to the department of agriculture there is gas enough in a ton of wheat straw to equal 40 gallons of gasoline. There is enough wheat straw going to waste west of the Mississippi River alone to equal at this rate to one-fifth the driving power of all gasoline now manufactured. Experiments so far have extended only to wheat straw. If cornstalks, which are richer in carbon than wheat straw, can be used, there are enough cornstalks wasted in the United States to more than equal all the gasoline now produced. There are also possibilities in sugar corn, and the refuse of the cotton plant.

"Wheat straw when put through the same process now used to make gas out of soft coal, produces a gas which is almost identical with illuminating gas, and during the war all the London omnibuses were successfully operated on illuminating gas as well as a great many of the lorries at the front. Automobiles have been run with wheat straw gas as the motive power. This has been accomplished by carrying the gas in a bag.

"The problem before the department is the liquifying of the gas so that it can be used from an ordinary automible tank. They are also hard at work on a retort and gas container which will be within the means of the ordinary farmer who has an automobile and other gasoline-driven machinery."

VITALITY IN BOMBAY

It has been calculated that 50 per cent of the children born in Bombay die before reaching the age of eighteen months. In Delhi also the pathetic feature of the birth rate is the terrible wastage that occurs in the first year. One out of every four children born in 1919 was doomed to die within twelve months, and in 1918 one in every three died in the first year of its existance. These figures appear to be a greater reflection on Delhi than are the Bombay figures a reflection on the Western India city, for if there is any excuse to be found in the congestion of Bombay, where the majority of the children are born in darkness and despair, there is less in Delhi which has certainly room to expand.—Times of India.

HUMAN SUNSHINE

During the Great War the nations of the world were divided into two formidable groups. The thoughts and feelings of mankind then sought clearly defined channels through which to win victory for their respective sides, each of which strove for domination. In nations where military operations are ended great masses of men and women, released from the tension of war, have given way to their feelings of unrest and general disturbance has resulted. Man's hand is against his fellowman, class against class, capital against labor, handicraftsman against thinker, all seemingly engaged in a selfish struggle.

But in the midst of the dark turmoil one brilliant ray of human kindness beams. The League of Red Cross Societies, some thirty nations strong, has undertaken the beneficent task of trying to prevent typhus from breaking loose on the world and to relieve the want and suffering of the millions of orphan children of Europe. These, though innocent of the causes of the war, have been the greatest sufferers from its results. Ten million of them are fatherless, and of that number a large proportion have lost both parents. When it is remembered that during the years of war a great number of these children have been insufficiently nourished, it can be partly realized how great a task confronts the League of Red Cross Societies in its endeavor to repair the damage done by the sad years of war. At present the great task of helping the children and of stamping out devastating disease, which is now ravaging the poorer populations of Europe, have been but begun. The British Empire will undertake a large share in this humane work, and under the patronage of His Majesty the King a relief fund has been started for which an appeal will be made throughout the Empire.

In Canada the arrangements for the receipt of contributions to the Fund during Armistice Week are being made by the Canadian Red Cross. Each Provincial Division will have charge of the organization in its own territory and will cover every locality through its local branches. All who are interested in this great work should get in touch with their local branch of the Canadian Red Cross: if no local branch exists, with the Provincial Executive at its own headquarters. All funds donated for this purpose will be ultimately forwarded to the Canadian Red Cross Headquarters, and afterwards administered by the British Empire Relief Fund in co-operation with the League of Red Cross Societies. Contributions may be earmarked for a particular country, territory, or object, such as the relief of children.

AMERICAN VISITORS IN THE NEW PARIS AND THE NEW LONDON

Mr. George, a Parisian-born Londoner and author of "Woman and Tomorrow," "The Second Blooming," "Caliban" and scores of stories of the beter sort, is inviting Americans and especially the American women to re-visit her French and English cousins.

"The American woman is immensely popular in England," says Mr. W. L. George in October 'Harpers Bazar;' "we like her humor; we delight in her clothes and we wonder at her hospitable ways. We like her altogether."

"But still,"—continues Mr. George, I won't pretend; there is a 'je ne sais quoi.' The thousands who summered in Europe found something abroad, something like the atmosphere when Mr. American has forgotten to telephone his wife that he would dine at the club. What has happened is that Americans, Frenchmen and Englishmen have for the first time suffered on the field of battle. Sentimentalists will say this united them. But it does not; war is dull, dirty, dangerous, as great a trial for friends as a railway journey during a heat wave, joint suffering does not join us up; it makes us blame and bicker one another.

"It is therefore worth considering how best to get on with the French. They are quite responsive—what they ask of the Americans is mainly external. The Parisian would like her to wear her darkest clothes (black and white check being almost an outbreak), and especially such clothes as show clean lines, clothes without bows, frills or tucks. He asks her to maintain as much gravity as her mercurial temperment allows; to do in Paris as the Parisians do and to remember that she is among the soberest race in the world. The Parisian wants sympathy for the wounds of France, which are still open; briefly, he asks the visitor for an expression of her admiration for France, expressions with vigor and felicity, and he wants her to show her heart (this being the mode).

"Among the Londoners, the American visitor finds a different problem. Let her above all never expose her heart. In London let the American wear her most triumphant clothes, and if she gives us a chance to be faintly shocked, we shall be appreciate her all the more. London knows no mood of mourning, so the American must forget all about the war, for England keeps her wounds to herself; indeed, London will love the American lady if she abandons all seriousness, all views, religions and ideas, if she confines herself to annexing popular Englishmen at dinner and finds her reward in the exercise of this virtue.

"Lastly the American is asked to think England as perfect as France, but not to tell her so; in France she should admire, but in England, never; she would make us horribly self-conscious. The Londoner must never be made to stand face to face with his patriotic emotions.

"That's all. It's very simple. Double sets of manners, alternative clothes, interchangeable conversation, a taste of tragedy, a feeling for comedy; thus provided, any American can conquer the best of those two worlds of which one is Paris and the other, different in every detail, London."

GEN. SMUTS CARRIES ON

The close of the present seesion will either find the government contemplating another appeal to the country or will find substantial agreement reached between the moderate elements in all three non-Labor parties. General Smuts has done wonderfully well in carrying on for five months with a small party, dependent entirely on support outside his own ranks for continuance in office. But how has he succeeded? Has it not been because, in effect, he has ignored the party complexion of the house, and has always addressed his proposals to it as though it were a non-party heterogeneous assembly, prepared to view all suggestions purely on their legislative merit, and without regard to the political complexion of any section. This attitude, so far as he has adopted it, may have been suggestet by political expediency. In effect, however, it is an intelligent interpretation of what the country as a whole needs.—Natal Advertiser.

A WOMAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY

In the Senate last week Senator Gardiner complained that an Australian woman, the widow of an American, had been unable to get a passport to England. The Australian authorities said she was an American citizen, and sent her to the American consul, who said she was an Australian citizen and sent her back. The Minister of Repatriation said a point of law was involved in this case. According to Australian law the woman was an American, but under the American law she was an Australian. The passport had been refused pending a decision by the Crown law authorities.— Sydney Bulletin.

BASKET BALL

The Fernie high school boys played the first basketball game of the season last Monday afternoon (Thanksgiving Day) defeating the Cranbrook All Stars by a score of 24 to 13. The game was played in the high school gymnasium. For the winners Erwin Jones and Bob Kerr starred, while R. Robichaud played a stellar game for Cranbrook. The game was largely attended by high school students.

The game opened with a rush by the Cranbrok team, who succeeded in scoring two baskets, giving them 4 points in the first 5 minutes of play. The Fernie guards soon checked more closely with the result that the high school forwards found their shooting eye, evened the score and made it 12 to 4 for Fernie at the end of the first half. Cranbrook opened the second half with a forward rush and succeeded in finding the basket several times, but the play soon seesawed to the other basket, Fernie notching four points. The score when the whistle blew was 23 to 14.

The line-up of the teams was as follows:

A return match will be played at Cranbrook on Armistice Day, Nov. 11. A game with the Cranbrook high school at Christmas is also contemplated.

Funds are urgently needed by the boys to purchase sweaters and pay expenses for making the trip to Cranbrook.

"GRUMPY"

With elements that cater to many tastes, "Grumpy," Cyril Maude's well known comedy drama, which plays at the Grand Theatre, Friday October 29th, is an entertainment that will appeal to everyone.

The title role is no longer played by Cyril Maude, but by Edward Lewers, a distinguished essociate of his supported by an all-star all-English cast. In his journey across Canada from the Atlantic Mr. Lewers has evoked the warmest praise from critics, who saw Maude in the original, and from the general public.

"Grumpy" is a four-act comedy drama built around the remarkable personality of Andrew Bullivant, an elderly retired lawyer, whose eccentric but lovable essumption of a sternness he does not mean earn him from his friends and relatives the title of "Grumpy."

A nephew of his returning to England from South Africa, and stopping off at Grumpy's country home en route to London, is robbed of a valuable diamond which he is conveying to a firm of jewellers in Hatton Gardens. Upon the solution of the mystery, which hinges upon a camelia which the young man was wearing as a butonhole at the time of the robbery, Grumpy focuses his deductive ability, the fruit of forty years work for the prosecution or for the defence at Bow street. It is his whimsical blend of impatience and kindliness which furnishes the comedy of the story, and which makes it such a delicate task for the actor to interpret. "Grumpy" lives on the stage, one can identify him in ones personal catalogue of friends or acquaintances, and that is what gives the play its "punch." And, while it is upon the central character that the continuity of the story depends, ample scope is given to the other characters, which are admirably presented by the capable English artists who enact them.

"Grumpy" is the first all-English offering to tour Canada for some time. Edward Lewers, himself an idealist who realizes the immense influence of the speaking stage, has fallen in love with the Canadian public. He finds that Martin Harvey and other distinguished friends of his, and of his craft, have built the foundations in this country of a permanent love of the offerings of the English stage, be they comedy or drama.

REPORT UNFOUNDED

To the Editor:

Dear Sir — Certain rumors and charges which have been circulated in regard to a sum of money being removed from my residence are entirely unfounded. As these reports were evidently circulated with the view of injuring certain people, I wish to publicly contradict them.

Thanking you,

John Hill.

THINKS FORD HAS MADE MISTAKE

A banker says: "Henry Ford builds the best machine for the money that has ever been built. That's generally agreed. He has made more mistakes than most men. That's generally agreed, too. I regard the reduction at this time simply as onother mistake. Mr. Ford is a manufactorer, not an ecomomist. No doubt the readjustment that is necessary could be brought about in much shorter time if all manufacturers could and would folow Mr. Ford's example. However, the law of supply and demand will govern the action of most manufacturers, and the demand is sufficiently strong to support prices near the present level for most goods. There is a rule familiar to every speculator, which if followed, would result in profit. Almost every man has learned the rule, but few have the courage to apply it. It is none other than, 'Buy when everybody is selling and sell when everybody is buying.' At present, and for some months past, selling has been urgent and general, but few people have the courage and wisdom to buy at present prices. Some years hence you will hear people telling how low such and such a stock could have been bought in 1920. Mr. Ford is simply following the mob; he is selling at the bottom." — Boston News Bureau.

MADAME ARTHUR BEAUCHER

805 Cartier St., Montreal.

"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a short time, the Constipation was banished, I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

MADE THEIR GETAWAY

Peter Lazuk, better known among his Russian fellow countrymen as "Trotsky," and Nick Urick, convicted by a jury at the assizes here a week ago of holding up a number of lumberjacks at Camp 2 of the C. N. P. Lumber Co. at Skookumchuck last July, and sentenced to five years at New Westminster, made a successful escape from escort while en route to the coast in the early hours of last Friday morning, by jumping from a moving Kettle Valley train a few miles west of Grand Forks. At the time the men were guarded by Constable Shipman, of Corbin, and Special Constable J. McAlpine of Coal Creek. According to meagre details of the escape, owing to heavy passenger traffic the two prisoners and constables occupied the smoking compartment of a car, while Chief Spiller in charge of a patient for the asylum and a young lad for the reform school, were out in the body of the coach. The train had pulled out of Grand Forks about 4.30 a.m. and owing to over-fatigue the two constables dozed off to sleep and during the few precious minutes the prisoners quietly removed themselves from the presence of the officers, and although handcuffed together managed to drop off the moving train, which on account of there being a steep grade at this particular point, was not as dangerous a task as might be supposed. The alarm was soon sent out and the chase taken up by the R. N. W. M. P. and Grand Forks police and the trail of the escaped men traced for several miles, but so far they are still at liberty, and as the place where they eluded the officers is very close to the line they may have had little difficulty in entering the U.S. In this neighborhood also there is a Doukhobor settlement, and Lazuk and Urick being familiar with the language of these people, may have found a haven of seclusion temporarily.

The thermometer was invented by Gabriel Daniel Fahrenheit in 1774, when its inventor was twenty-eight years of age. Fahrenheit was born at Dantzig, which then belonged to Poland, but did much of his work in England and Holland.

RUSSELLITES AND THE LAW

Named by the Labor Gazette of Canada as "being among those organizations which seek to take control of the economic system by forcible menas," the International Bible Students 'Association issues broadcast a reply blaming "the maddened clergy" of this country for the government's action.

The self-styled Bible students, better known as the Russellites, were included in a list which included the anarchists, Socialist party of Canada, the Labor church and many foreign-born groups. Evidently they do not like to be known as belonging to this company, for their publication harks back angrily to the prosecutions of their eligible converts for refusal to fight against Germany.

"During the world war and afterward many unbelievable things transpired in Canada which were in utter disregard of religious liberty and which were unnoticed by the public press," says The Golden Age, dated New York, Sept. 29.

Inserted in the paper is a leaflet containing a letter purporting to have been sent by their leader, "Judge" Rutherford, to the department of labor, Ottawa, protesting against the article in The Labor Gazette.

"Judge" Rutherford will be remembered as the American who visited this country during the war to urge his followers to stand by their pacifism, and who on April 8, 1917, said publicly in Toronto that "no Christian could take up arms or kill."

The leaflet goes on to say that "the following evidence tends to show that the Catholic and Protestant clergy of Canada, angered by the continuous telling of truth that hurts by the I.B.S.A., have again inveigled high government officials into departing from their public duty and into using their office to circulate, at the pepole's expense, a wanton and malicious libel against the citizens who belong to that religious body."

"Dense ignorance" and "criminal negligence" are among the epithets hurled above Rutherford's signature at the labor department, while the clergy are reminded of "their unenviable position." But the evidence is lacking.

An editorial note says that Judge F. K. Ebbitt at Iroquois Falls, Ont., ordered the destruction of Bibles owned by "these Christians." The character of such allegations may be judged from the reference to convicted Russellites as being "legal conscientious objectors." Only an American could believe that, for Canadians know that the only conscientious objectors recognized by the law in this country were members of long-established bodies like the Friends and the Mennonites.

Our own Magistrate Denison is referred to as "Colonel Denison of the Anglican church," and the "fearful" charge that a minister of the Anglican church was present at his hearings of Russellite cases is actually brought forward. The Russellites were sentenced for having copies of a banned book, "The Finished Mystery."

Belleville, Peterboro, Haliburton and other Ontario places are mentioned as places where Methodists and other magistrates fined admirers of the late Pastor Russell, who either refused to don the uniform or to get along without their favorite books.

At Peterboro, when one of the convicted men came in to pay his fine he found the chief of police closeted with a Roman Catholic priest, according to the "disclosure" in The Golden Age.

Catholic and Protestant clergy are lumped together as having something terrible to do with "Babylon the Great," of Revelations. This, of course, enables the publication to liken the ministers to some very unpleasant types of persons.

Cruel treatment at Seaford camp and Wandsworth prison, on account of refusing to go to France and fight is alleged in the paper. Most Canadians will admit that France was better than Wandsworth and will fail to understand just why anyone would prefer that prison to the line.

The Catholic hierarchy and the Protestant nominal church systems have created societies, such as the Knights of Columbus, Y.M.C.A., etc., to aid in their work "of cementing the unholy trinity," according to another "serious charge."

One Russellite who was "promoted to the care of officers' quarters" deserves more mention than even The Golden Age allots him.

The entire publication is designed for "our British and Canadian readers," who include such young men as became preserving converts in increasing numbers the nearer Canada came to compulsory service.

The back page advertises "The Finished Mystery," which needs so much more advertising than formerly, because the removal of the censors ban has dampened the curiosity and daring which in war time induced people to read it.

But the charges of revolutionary purposes have not been withdrawn by the Canadian government, which is in possession of adequate means of information, and future visits of 'Judge' Rutherford to this city are awaited with interest by those soldiers whom he denounced as murderers on the eve of Vimy Ridge.—Toronto World.

ANOTHER ENTENTE

The spread of French financial influence in the Near East is being watched with great intrest here. The Matin's story of the treaty between Horthy, the monarchist ruler of Hungary, and France has made it all the keener. Nobody would grudge France any opportunity of trade which would help to restore her position, but critics point out that control of railways and industries, secured by agreements to supply troops to monarchists forces, are likely to do harm not only to France, but to the rest of Europe. If the activities of French financiers should lead to a reactionary block in the Near East, including even Austria, we might have another bulwark against Bolshevism, but let us hope it will not lead to as much trouble as previous barriers.—London Daily News.

EMPIRE DEFENCE

General Sir John Monash, of Australia, has just said that a series of independent armies and navies for the Dominions is impossible, and that Australia's system of defence must be linked with that of the rest of the Empire. Australians have as much of the national pride and spirit of independence as General Hertzog, and will allow no interference in the government of their island-continent; but they know what is necessary for safety, and mean to do it. If we can imagine South Africa accepting the Republican doctrine, the logic of events would quickly bring the country back to its present position, which was maintained only by the principles of Imperial co-operation, for which too little preparation had been made when the war began.—Perth (Australia) Western News.

DISTRESS IN EUROPE

British Empire Effort to Help Smaller Nations.

Canadian Red Cross to Organize Appeal on Behalf of Orphans—Call to Be Made In Armistice Week.

An urgent appeal for aid to combat the widespread disease and distress in the war-stricken areas in Europe has been made by the League of Red Cross Societies to the nations which have suffered least from the war. In response a War Relief Fund has been undertaken in Great Britain with an Empire-wide appeal for contributions. The Fund is under the immediate patronage of His Majesty the King and has the support of all parts of the Empire.

His Excellency, the Governor-General of Canada, having received communications from London upon this matter, consulted the Prime Minister, and with his approval referred the question to the Canadian Red Cross Society, and it was arranged for an appeal to be made in Canada during Armistice week in November. The Fund will be known as "The British Empire War Relief Fund."

To Make Known the Need.

The Canadian Red Cross Society accepted the task of making this appeal known throughout Canada only in view of the relentless circumstances and the humane desire to help to alleviate the terrible suffering of a large number of peoples. The reasons are numerous and compelling. Large populations are suffering from distress and disease. Millions of innocent children are among them. Even in time of peace great numbers of their people lived close to the bread line. The war drained them of all their surplus resources.

Through the years of strife they were denied all but the barest necessities, and their condition now is pitiful indeed. History has repeated itself. The diseases which took such fearful toll of human life after the Thirty Years' War, the Seven Years' War (1757-65), and the Napoleonic Wars are again widespread, and now there are millions of people in Galicia, Poland, Jugo-Slavia and Roumania who, in addition to being poverty stricken, are in the direst misery and despair on account of disease. In some twelve countries, most of which were either our Allies or friendly to the Allied cause, modern civilization is faced with the inevitable consequences of a great war through partial famine and pestilence.

A Previous Epidemic.

That the epidemic is now one of alarming proportions and terrible in its effect may be noted from the following quotation from "The Times":

"At present the worst results of typhus are confined to Galicia, where the schools are closed, business is at a standstill, and civic life is crippled. The whole community is faced with starvation, whilst the absence of clothing and drugs makes it impossible for the authorities to make any headway against the epidemic. Here we have a country into which the idea of modern sanitation has never penetrated; for the most part there is no water supply in the smaller towns and villages save wells, whilst the work of sewers is done by open gullies running through the streets. There are no doctors, no nurses, and no beds, and the miserable typhus-stricken patients lie unattended on the bare floor. Throughout the rural districts whole families exist in miserable one-roomed huts, their diet consisting of starvation rations of potatoes and beet, both bread and meat being luxuries rarely seen. In almost every hut there are several cases of typhus and in many instances whole families are stricken with the disease, and are perforce left to die unattended."

Many Countries Are Suffering.

What is said of Galicia is true of other countries of Europe, such as Esthonia, Lithuania, Lativia, huge territories of the Ukraine, Soviet Russia, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia. Nor is typhus the only affliction. Tuberculosis, smallpox, dysentery and relapsing fever are also ravaging large areas.

Lack of Medical Aid.

These terrible conditions have been called to the attention of the people of the British Empire in a statement by the Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, who, speaking for the Council of the League of Nations, says:

"Men, women and children are dying by thousands, and over vast and civilized areas there are neither medical appliances nor medical skill sufficient to cope with the horrors by which we are faced. Governments have in certain cases done all in their power to bring relief, but there remains a vast field for charitable enterprise which can be dealt with only by voluntary effort."

Eleven Million Orphans.

Dr. Livingstone Farrand, chairman of the Central Committee of the American Red Cross, who has just returned from Europe, states that there are 11,000,000 fatherless children in Europe who face the next few years without hope of adequate care unless outside assistance is given.

For Suffering Children.

No stronger call could be made to humanity than that of suffering children, and on their behalf particularly the Canadian Red Cross will appeal throughout Canada during Armistice week. Each provincial division of the Red Cross will have charge of the arrangements in its own province, and all Red Cross workers should put themselves into touch immediately with their local branch or with the Headquarters of the Provincial Division if no local branch is organized.

MINISTER GIVES FACTS TO PUBLIC

Tells of Wonderful Change Tanlac Brought in His Wife's Condition

Yet another minister of religion to give his unqualified endorsement to Tanlac as a medicine of remarkable merit is the Rev. John Zaetschky, pastor of the Lutheran church, Ohio Synod, Calgary, Alberta, who resides at, 1920 5½ Stret West, in a statement made at the Liggett-Findlay Drug Store recently.

"For nine years my wife suffered from dropsy," he said, "and for the past five years has been in a very bad state of health. Her appetite was very poor, and although she ate but very little she always had a full feeling after meals. She had a drowsy feeling all the time from which nothing could arouse her ,and felt tired both mentally and physically. She often complained of acute pains across the back which were so bad that she had to let her work go entirely and at night her sleep was very disturbed. Her nervous system became so shattered that the least thing would alarm her, and she was getting worse year by year. She tried all kinds of treatments and even went to the hospital on several occasions, but always failed to get more than temporary relief.

"We had read much about the merits of Tanlac and finally I bought a bottle. It seemed to do my wife good and so I continued with it. She has now taken three bottles in all and a decided change for the better has been the result. She now sleeps the whole night through and has lost that tired, drowsy feeling. She is so much improved that she can now do her housework with perfect ease, and the pains in her back have disappeared entirely. I would not go so far as to say that she is entirely relieved of dropsy, but it does not bother her half as much as it did, and she has not been so well for many years past. Tanlac has helped her wonderfully and we wouldn't be without it on any account. It is certainly a splendid medicine and I take pleasure in recommendng it."

WANTED—A BUSINESS GOVT.

Let those who are attempting to reorganize the government enlist the merchant class on their side, and they will create a cohesive force against which the petty jealousies of rival politicians, and the ambitions of individual militarists, wil be of no avail. The vested interests which in this, as in every other recent political crisis, will be arrayed against reunion and efficiency, will melt away if the Chinese merchant classes throughout the territory of the republic pledge their financial and moral support to a Central Government whose members are no longer permitted to play ducks and drakes with the national revenue.—Tientsin (China) Times.

WOMEN VOTERS

The outstanding feature of the Maine returns, as it seems to us, is the indicated tendency of the women voters to divide along strict party lines, and to side with their husbands and brothers and fathers and sons. Thus the normal Republican majority in Maine has been proportinately increased by the enfranchisement of the Maine women, pretty much regardless of the issue at stake, and appeals to the femine voters to disregard party lines and support the principles enlisting their sympathies. Whether the women of other states will follow the lead of their sisters in Maine remains to be seen. — New Orleans Times-Picayune.

LOTS OF SPENDING MONEY

The Anglo-Persian agreement has broken down; the Government does not know whether to go forward or to draw back. They are doing neither; but they are spending money which can serve no useful purpose. The American exchanges are turning further against Great Britan. Trade has passed its apogee and in some branches shows a tendency to decline. Yet apart from the money we are spending something like five million a year on forces in Persia; we have lent the Persian Government two millions on security about as good as that of a defaulting speculator in the Bombay bazzar. Insensate folly could go no further.—Hongkong News.

BUSINESS MEN NOW GOVERN IN GERMANY

The German Government of the present, is a business man's government and the professional politicians of the monarchial days is decidedly unpopular, according to Walter Kellner, a Privy Councillor, who is now making an unofficial visit to the United States. The business men realize that the salvation of the nationalities in the rapid rehadilitation of the industries, so that Germany's indeminities can be paid, and they are not willing to trust the country's interests in the hands of professional politicians, he declared.

Bearing letters to prominent bankers and manufacturers in New York and elsewhere, Mr. Kellner has come during interests. He is a manufacturer of machinery on a large scale and employs several thousand men and women in his plants at Barmen and Detwold. In an interview in the office of Roselius & Co., 31 Union Square West, he described present conditions in Germany and the efforts being made to restore normal business conditions.

"The immediate need of Germany is to get the industries started again and to accomplish this purpose the bnsiness men have come to the fore in the crisis," he said. "In the old days they took little part in public affairs, leaving the governing of the country to the politicians. But since the armistice they have recognized that it is up to them to save the nation. Typical of the business men who are taking part in public affairs is Hugo Stinnes, one of our industrial magnets. He and other large manufacturers are taking no small part in determining the internal policies of the country.

"In their efforts they seem to have the suport of all classes. It is not a question now of whether you are a Monarchist or a Republican. The only question that is asked is 'are you willing to work? If not, why not?' We are having very little labor trouble, as the employers and emqloyees are working together in harmony. Speaking of my own business, I do not have to worry whether I will be able to carry out my contracts, as my employees are not discontented.

"We have a minimum wage scale in Germany of from 4 to 6 marks an hour, which figures about 12 and 15 cents in your money, for a single or a married man, with additional allowances for children or dependents.

"Politically I do not fear Bolshevism in Germany, as efforts to convert the majority of the population have not succeeded. During the Red uprising one of my factories was made the headquarters of the Red commander. He tried to command some of my employees for duty, but they refused to join him. The present government is stable and is in high favor with the people."

THE LAST OF THE SLAVE MART

The end of July witnessed the disappearance of an institution which had existed in Zanzibar for the last twenty-eight years. The International Maratime Slave Bureau at Zanzibar had for its purpose the centralization of documentary and other information relating to native vessels and the slave trade generally, and owned its orign to the Brussels Act of 1890, which provided inter alla for the constitution of the International Maratime Bureau at Zanzibar. Great Britan, France, Portugal, Italy and Germany were parties to the Act which made provisions for each Signatory Power being represented at the Bureau by one delegate. Although for a number of years the Bureau in Zanzibar has ceased to serve any useful purpose, its constitution has been the outcome of an international agreement, and its suppression could only be effected with the consent of all the Signatory Powers of the Brussels Act. As far back as 1913 four out of the five Powers concerned had signified their concurrence in its proposed abolition, but with that characteristic obstinacy which was the predominant feature of the diplomacy of the German Empire of that period, Germany demurred, and when war was declared in 1914, no agreement had yet been reached. It was only when Germany was obliged by Article 126 of the Treaty of Peace to accept the Convention of September 10th, 1919, revising the Berlin and Brussels Acts, that the abolition of the International Maritime Bureau at Zanzibar became possible.—Zanzibar Gazette.

THE PERFECT VICAR

Literature has given us many portraits of the ideal country parson, but we find that fact still surpasses imagination. To any young author who aspires to rival Goldsmith and Rousseau in this department we recommend a study of the achievement of the Rev. Mr. Clutterbuck. That versatile divine "won the first prize in an open competition for home made fruit cakes, beating several women." Mr. Clutterbuck is a bachelor. An interesting question in psychology is suggested by this extension of clerical proficiency to domestic tasks. Will the ladies of the parish, will the mothers' meeting, have more or less respect for the parson who is a competent cook? We venture to doubt whether women in general set any value upon the man who is proficient in the art and craft of housewifery. It is a common experience that the sex loves to think of a man left to his own resources as incapable of providing himself with comfort or even sustenance. In Robinson Crusoe women have never believed. We shall not now attempt to analyze the dark and complex mysteries of this part of feminine psychology. The revelant point is that the vicar who takes the first prize for cakes seems in danger of attempting too much. — London Daily Telegraph.

TAKING THEM TOO SERIOUSLY

The woman always paid the price of strike or lockout on the grand scale. The wife always felt most nearly the pinch of sudden poverty. She knew the difficulty of keeping house on less than half the usual earnings. She watched most anxiously the paling faces of ill-nourished children. She bore the brunt. But she was powerless. Men arranged all these matters and women reaped what men sowed. Today woman and wife are not powerless. They may not have exercised much influence on a strike ballot. They can use their new power when it comes to the ballot box of a general election. as a great strike must surely come for its solution. The secrets of women are ,after all, well kept. They may not yet know their own mind. But a strike would surely set them thinking hard. And clear thinking is, we are persuaded, the enemy of industrial warfare.—London Daily Express.

The Philippine Islands, as well as the Straits called after him, were discovered by a Portugese captain, Magellan. Though he was killed there, one of his five ships, the Victoria, reached home, having been the first to sail round the earth. The voyage lasted from August, 1519, to July, 1522.

WHOLESALE PROSECUTIONS

Lethbridge Herald: Officers of the Liquor Department of the Attorney-General's Department have been particularly active just lately in ferretting out and bringing to trial those who have contravened the Liquor Act by unlawfully selling liquor. Following several prosecutions in Lethbridge, where eleven different persons were brought before the A.P.P. court, on Saturday, and fined in the aggregate of $1900, the officials who are working under Chief Detective Hesketh of the Liquor Department, left for the Crow's Nest. Here they were successful in pulling 29 different parties simultaneously in Blairmore, Bellevue, Hillcrest, Coleman and Frank on Thanksgiving Day. All the parties charged with the unlawful sale of liquor will appear before the Magistrate in due course.

An incident in the activities of the officials of the Liquor Department, as reported to the Herald from Blairmore, is the prosecution of one of them for the alleged hold-up and robbery of the clerk of the Cosmopolitan hotel, Blairmore, W. J. Claridge. It is stated that the officer, Frank Delaney, had some words with the hotel clerk over the charge made for his room. He considered that he had been overcharged and in the dispute that followed, it is alleged he pulled his gun on Claridge and further that he forcibly extracted the sum of $3 from the cash register. The case will come up before Justice of Peace Gresham on Thursday.

It is stated that at the time the occurrence took place the hotel lobby was full of people and seeing what was about to happen they made a hasty exit.

The doings which took place in the Pass on Thanksgiving Day have created a great deal of excitement in the Pass. Full particulars of the prosecutions have not yet come to hand. At the local A.P.P. headquarters nothing has been heard of what had transpired, in that the prosecutions are outside the A.P.P. proper, coming under the head of the special Liquor Department of the Attorney-General's office. The detectives when they left Lethbridge had 19 warrants with them.

PRESS SUBSIDIES

The case against a British newspaper being subsidized by grants from a foreign government is clear; it makes no difference whether the government concerned is a government of French Chauvinists or German Socialists or Russian Communists, M. Chicherin has no more business to interfere directly or indirectly in the policies of this country than Mr. Churchill has to intervene in the politics of Russia. As for the plea that the acceptance of $375,000 will have no influence at all on the policy of the recipient, it is too naive for comment. Man is an ungrateful animal, but not so ungrateful as all that. —London Daily News.

THE WORLD CHORUS

Semi-bankruptcy in Europe would react heavily against Britain, not merely through defaulting debtors but by the ultimate setting up of industrial competitors living on a much lower scale and so competing almost as next-door neighbors in a way that has previously been associated only with Asiatic countries like India and Japan. It is curious to note that business men in England seem as eager as the Labor organizations for a restoration of Russia as a settled and commercially active country. If the Allied countries do their part in trying to bring this about any actions of the Soviet government tending to prevent it ought to hasten the inevitable end of the Bolshevik influence, which lives upon high prices, short supplies and the hindrance of production, whereas lower prices, a larger output and flourishing trade will cure the world of its present ills. —Buluwayo Chronicle.

MEN, WOMEN AND FASHIONS

Bloomsbury has been invaded by a large party of strangers, who are the subjects of curiosity. The men, outwardly, are unquestionably Americans—suits, hats, shirts and socks have the "Noo Yark" accent. But the women, with large, graceful cotton headdresses and blouses in vivid tints, have almost mediaeval appearance. All talk a tongue unknown even to cosmopolitan boarding-house keepers. They are Finns, who have "made good" in America and are returning to their old country for a holiday. The wait in London is for a boat. The Americanization of the men's clothes, while the women remain faithful to those of their native land, raises the question of whether men are more susceptible to the fashions of a new country than women. The dress of these human birds of passage suggests that they are.—London Daily Chronicle.

Put back in pie dish with few slices of tomato, season with pepper and salt and flavour with herbs. Dissolve one Oxo cube in ½ pint of hot milk and pour over mixture. Put few bits of butter on top and bake for two hours in moderate oven. It's delicious.

For although the Mutual of Canada is a "business" it is a most beneficent business. Mutual Life insurance protects your family and your home; it increases your credit; it gives you peace of mind; it ensures to the children an education should you not live to provide it for them by your personal effort. These are only a few things that a Mutual Life Policy means. A Mutual policy is also one of the best of all securities for "There is nothing else in the civilized world which approaches even remotely the security of a well-established life insurance office." In addition to its security the Mutual is conducted on a pre-eminently economical, equitable and democratic system.

WESTERN CANADA FIREBOSSES ASSOCIATION

The Western Canada Firebosses Association held their first annual convention at Fernie, B.C., on Oct. 18. Bro. Philip of Fernie acted as chairman and opened the convention with a suitable address.

Bro. F. Lote of Hillcrest, secretary for the past year, gave his report and outlined the future policy.

Short addresses were given by R. Holmes of Coleman, B. Ball of Michel and E. Rutledge of Fernie.

It was decided to establish a head office for the Association at Hillcrest, and sub-districts and locals were agreed upon.

President—R. Holmes, Coleman.
Vice—G. Snarey, Hillcrest.
Secretary—F. Lote, Hillcrest.
Treas.—J. T. Griffiths, Coleman.

The per capita tax was fixed at 50 cents per month per member, payable monthly.

A vote of thanks was tendered F. Lote, secretary, for the able manner in which he filled his duties. He then outlined the policy of the Association as follows:

We must organize every person holding a third class certificate working on same or not.

To again ask for recognition and to press forward until that end is obtained.

To form sub-districts.

All agreements must be dealt with through the head office and have the consent of the rank and file.

Locals must try to settle their own grievances before sending them to the head office.

To find ways and means whereby an examiner can be defended unless it is an act that is wilfully committed.

To endeavor to have certificates transferable throughout Canada.

BOY SCOUT ASSOCIATION

The election of officers for the local Boy Scout Association took place in the council chamber on Friday evening, Oct. 22, the following officers being elected:

Hon. Pres.—W. R. Wilson.
Hon. Vice-Pres.—S. Bonnell, M.P.
President—Dr. E. L. Garner.
Vive-Pres.—E. K. Stewart.
Sec.-Treas.—A. B. Morrison, B.A.

In addition to these officers the following were elected to the executive committee: L. T. Baker, F. A. Parker, A. Corrie, A. Cummings, S. Herchmer, R. M. Young, G. C. Evans.

By unanimous vote it was decided to open up a drive for raising funds to finance and equip a troop of Scouts. The objective was placed at $1000 and a strong committee appointed to launch this drive.

THE SCOUT PROMISE

On my honor I promise that I will do my best—

To do my duty to God and the King.

To help other people at all times.

To obey the Scout law.

THE SCOUT LAW

1. A Scout's honor is to be trusted.
2. A Scout is loyal to the King, and his officers, and to his parents, his country and his employers or employees.
3. A Scout's duty is to be useful and help others.
4. A Scout is a friend to all, and a brother to every other Scout.
5. A Scout is courteous.
6. A Scout is a friend to animals.
7. A Scout obeys orders of his parents, Patrol Leader or Scoutmaster without question.
8. A Scout smiles and whistles under all difficulties.
9. A Scout is thrifty.
10. A Scout is clean in thought, word and deed.

LADIES GOLF CLUB

Last Tuesday afternoon the medal given by Mrs. Wilson was played off by the ladies who had held same during the summer months. Mrs. Young won the medal the first month but did not play in the finals. The following is the score:

	Score	Hand.	Net
Mrs. Stewart	64	26	38
Mrs. Irvine	60	16	44
Mrs. Watson	61	20	41
Mrs. Liphardt	74	30	44

Mrs. Stewart won in the final competition.

Mrs. Wilson entertained the Club at her home at the tea hour, and then pinned the medal on Mrs. Stewart.

Mrs. Irvine was the winner of the Corsan prize, having won from Mrs. Stewart by default in the final play, and was presented with a pair of cut glass vases by Mrs. Corsan, who in her little speech hoped she would always have plenty of flowers to fill them.

The presentation of the Ogilvie Cup was the next thing on the program, which also went to Mrs. Irvine, who defeated Mrs. Stewart in the finals and was presented by Mrs. Wood, convenor of the competition committee, who explained in her speech that we owed our partial organization to Mr. Ogilvie when he put up the cup as an inducement to the ladies, and also that our Club should feel proud that we can put up such a player as Mrs. Irvine after two years' play.

The Irvine Cup is now being played for.

MEETING OF CITY COUNCIL

The council met last night and in the absence of Mayor Henderson, the chair was occupied by Ald. McEwan. All members were present.

The minutes of the last meeting were adopted as read.

A delegation from the Fernie Poultry and Pet Stock Association, composed of Messrs. Bonnallie, Clarke and Cunliffe, made an appeal for a grant to help defray expenses to be incurred in connection with the annual poultry show to be held here in December next. It was pointed out that the Association had at present 92 members, all of whom were tax payers. The Association contemplates holding equally as good if not a better exhibition than has been held in former years. After giving the matter consideration the council made a grant of $150 to this cause.

The Secretary of the Fernie District Liberal Association made application to the council to rent the vacant store premises in the Grand theatre building from Nov. 2 to Dec. 2. A motion was passed to the effect that the premises would be leased to the Association for $50 for the term specified, not including electric light.

The C.N.P. Coal Co. notified the city that an increase of 60c per ton had become effective Oct. 25. This makes the price of slack f.o.b. power house spur $6.47 per ton.

A report was received from the Chief of Police relating to an application from P. Marchinek for beverage license for the Royal hotel. The report favored the granting of the application upon payment of $200 fee provided certain conditions imposed by the inspector are observed.

An application for reinstallation of electric lights to a West Fernie residence was rejected on account of power shortage.

On regular motion Robt. Dickson was appointed permanent fire truck driver at a salary of $125 per month, duties to commence Nov. 1.

C. Lassalle will be permitted to repurchase Lot 7, Block 53 for the sum of $125.

The International Sales Co., a representative of which firm had recently paid a Traders License fee of $50, but later found it not an opportune time to carry on business, requested that the term of this license be extended until next spring. There was positively nothing doing.

A large number of accounts were approved for payment.

The garbage disposal arrangements were discussed and it was decided that the charge for this service would be subject to a discount of 10 per cent, the same as water and light, if payment was made before the 10th of each month.

The council then adjourned.

The Governor General's special train was stopped for a short period at the Elko water tank and Mayor C. Klingensmith was marshalling the citizens of the old historic burg for presentation, when Mrs. Hennessey leaned over to His Worship and whispered, "What's his name?" "McKenzie King," was the reply.

ASSOCIATED BOARDS MEET

The first convention of the South-eastern Associated Board of Trade that has been called since the initial meeting at Invermere, where the Association was formed last summer, was held in Fernie on Wednesday night and proved a most successful and interesting gathering. There were present from Windermere, R. Randolph Bruce, C.E., F.R.G.S., F. L. Archer and B. G. Hamilton, Secretary of the Associated Boards; from Cranbrook, G. J. Spruel, President, and J. P. Fink and W. H. Wilson. Fernie delegates were T. Prentice, Vice-President, J. F. Spalding and R. M. Young. There were many members of the Fernie board and from other boards present as spectators. Among these were: C. D. McNab, Waldo; C. M. Edwards, Baynes; A. I. Fisher, M.L.A., George Cody, J. L. Gates, Harvey Brown, Manager Owen of the Imperial Bank, Manager Bonnallie of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, A. Corrie, Manager of the Western Canada Wholesale; Manager Donald of the British Columbia and Alberta Power Co., F. C. Lawe, E. K. Stewart and others, who, while not taking active part in the proceedings manifested their personal interest by close attention to the business methods of the Association, and in the many subjects dealt with in the very brief space of time allowed between the belated arrival of the eastbound train and adjournment at midnight.

It being the first regular meeting after organization at Invermere, there was an accumulation of routine business to dispose of, and the methods of transacting business under the guidance of the president, Mr. Spruel, showed much care and arrangement prior to the meeting.

A committee consisting of Bruce, Spalding and Wilson was appointed and reported the delegates entitled to seats in the convention as listed above. Reports from the secretary and the financial report were submitted and adopted.

A committe on resolutions was also appointed to which all resolutions submitted by the different boards for final action were referred and afterwards reported back to the meeting for action. These resolutions covered a wide range of subjects, all of interest to the whole district, and all resolutions submitted were adopted except one dealing with a request to the provincial government to establish a land registry office in the district. This resolution, after discussion, was deferred for future action, upon the ground that the expense of instituting such an office would be too great to meet with favorable action at this time.

A resolution asking the provincial government to take the necessary steps to finance an irrigation system suited to the needs of the Kootenay Valley and tributaries, and which would benefit all parts of the district, and in the end amply repay the province for the financial aid extended, brought a lengthy discussion, during which the immense advantages to be gained were fully explained. R. Randolph Bruce spoke at some length on the subject, pointing out the necessity of government action instead of private enterprise, as the project was of too large proportions to be handled other than by government financing.

Mr. Bruce has been a resident of the district for over twenty years, having passed through this valley before a stick of timber had been cut, and he expressed his belief that the soil and climate conditions were most favorable to agriculture and pastoral pursuits provided water could be made use of on the wide stretches of land in the valley. He mentioned in this connection the reason for failure at Baynes, attributing it to the lack of sufficient financial aid to bring water from the Elk river in sufficient quantity to serve that district, and stating the provincial government should be urged to come to the relief of those settlers who had been induced to make homes there, and who had suffered for want of water in sufficient quantity to make those lands productive.

A resolution dealing with this feature of the irrigation subject was later introduced and unanimously adopted.

F. C. Lawe spoke regarding an experience he had a few years ago while visiting a friend in Snake Valley, Idaho, where he was shown the value of ample water on otherwise useless land. He had seen the same quality of land in the same valley lying perfectly useless because of lack of water.

J. P. Fink, of Cranbrook, spoke of the large areas of valuable lands in the district known as St. Mary's prairie,, which could be made to blossom with bountiful crops after

CONSERVATIVE RALLY

A Conservative meeting will be held in the Catholic Hall, Howland Avenue, on Monday evening, Nov. 1, at 8 p.m.

The present political situation in the province will be discussed and a date set for holding the nominating convention.

It is earnestly hoped that all interested will attend and a special invitation is extended to the women.

LIQUOR MUST BE RETURNED

Judgment in the famous Kerr liquor case was given by His Honor Judge Thompson today, reversing the decision of Magistrate Whimster.

The judgment is a lengthy one and goes fully into the facts. He finds that a single room occupied and used as a dwelling falls within the meaning of section 3 of the Prohibition Act and that the accused was entitled to have liquor in his possession in that room and therefore finds in favor of the appellant and directs that the conviction be quashed and the liquor returned.

PLEBISCITE VOTE

For Prohibition	571
For Government Control	1468
Spoiled	27
Total	2066

THE B.C. PLBISCITE

This vote (British Columbia's) does not, needless to saf, mean the return of the bar. That is an institution which, let us hope, has seen its last days in this country. The women's part in the British Columbia referendum will, of course, be interpreted in a variety of ways. The general result will not be without its effect on the impending votes in other provinces.—Montreal Star.

The reason which impelled the people of the Coast province to declare against prohibition as shown in the course of the campaign were that bootlegging was rife and almost openly carried on in every part of the province; that medical men were being corrupted by having the legal right to prescribe alcohol; that the law turned large numbers of respectable citizens into lawbreakers, with a consequent contempt for law and order and that the rising generation, which is prone to buy its experience, was left to the mercy of the bootlegger.—Montreal Herald.

At least one southern state went through a period of trial and tribulation as a result of its government dispensary. So large were the sums received by those managing the institution and so tempting the opportunity to graft that scandal was an inevitable result. British Columbia may be more fortunate, both in the selection of officials and in the administration of the new law. If so, the system may endure for a long time. But the history of similar ventures in America raises doubts on this score.—Seattle Times.

RESULTS OF PLEBISCITE

From the latest returns it is estimated that the majorities adverse to the importation of liquor are approximately:

Alberta	8,763
Saskatchewan	10,000
Manitoba	15,000
Nova Scotia	30,000

IMPORTATION OF LIQUOR FOR SIXTY DAYS

Ottawa, Oct. 2 .—Importation of liquor in the four provinces which voted "dry" yesterday will still be possible for a period of at least 60 days. Provisions are made in the amendments to the Canadian Temperance Act passed last session for the issuance of the necesary proclamations by the federal government, but not before a period of 60 days has elapsed, after the adoption by a province of the bone dry principle.

WINTERING IN SUB-ARCTICS

Just how those Ontario men who are creating a new source of oil for the empire in northern Alberta and the sub-Arctics live is narrated by a returned driller. Evidently the country has surface wealth, too.

J. O. Lanouette, a member of the Imperial Oil crew, who recently returned to Edmonton from the far north, furnishes considerable information regarding living conditions for a winter drilling crew near Fort Norman where the first well has just been struck beside the Mackenzie river. The workers are housed in a big log building about eight feet by 30 with board floor and bunks. The boards are relics of scows, which carried down provisions and equipment for the camp and were promptly transformed into building material. This building served the triple purpose of bunk house, living room and kitchen, the latter housing an up to date cooking equipment that set a new standard for the far north.

Potatoes of splendid quality, cauliflowers, turnips and other vegetables were further advanced than similar crops when the drilling crew left Edmonton some weeks before. In the spring the oil company men planted a garden, and when the first boat arrived from the "outside" passengers and crew were regaled with radishes lettuce and other early growths. Potatoes were in flower July 21.

Land around Fort Norman is a deep rich black loam, but covered with surface moss. Removing this moss allows the sun to get at the ground, causing it to thaw quickly; and it is quite possible the country may be successfully farmed once the overlying moss is plowed under or burned out.

The open season at Fort Norman is necessarily short owing to the proximity of the Arctic Circle but during the growing season the light is almost continuous and plant life gets close to 24 hours' sunlight.

While going north in the spring of 1919 the company employees took along a cat and an ox. The ox, "Nigger," after a useful career as a logger, was finally converted into beef. Considerable difficulty was experienced in the fall in securing food for the black bovine. In order to get hay a territory about six miles equare had to be harvested, the hay being gathered in armfuls.

All the logs used in building the camp were hauled by Nig, who showed considerable ingenuity in handling the big timbers. The logs were cut on a small creek flowing into the Mackenzie, and on being hitched to a log Nigger promptly took to the water and ferried it down stream until it arrived opposite the camp, when he left the water and made for the hay pile, no guidance being necessary during the journey.

According to Lamouteet, the ox and cat are the first of their kind to reach as far north as Fort Norman. Nigger was a favorite, both alive and dead, but the cat apparently merited its name of "Tiger."

The camp at Norman had a personnel of eight, but Imperial Oil had a number of other units in the north, including four geologists. In addition, three or four other companies have survey parties at work.

"We also have a rig on the Great Slave Lake and hope to have some report from there early next spring. We do not look for any news before that time," comments C. O. Stillman, for the Imperial Oil, Ltd.

"While the showing so far does not prove the existence of an oil field, it is very encouraging, so far as the work has gone, as it fully justifies the efforts of our geologists and their recommendations, after an immense amount of research work in the Mackenzie field.

"If subsequent developments carry out the promise, there will be a new oil field in Canada. Many development operators have already located leases and no doubt others will do the same thing. It is a big country, there is plenty of room, and certainly we would like to see a number of others operating, as it would help to prove the territory and incidentally to solve the transportation problem.

"But I want to repeat what I have many times before pointed out, that drilling for oil is a hazardous undertaking and one that should not be rushed into without very careful consideration of the risks and a thorough appreciation of the circumstances that any project not adequately financed is doomed to failure on account of the great distances involved and the heavy outlay necessary."

The Imperial well is 45 miles down stream from Fort Norman. The latter post consists of mission building, besides posts of the Hudson's Bay Co., the Northern Trading and Lamson-Hubbard trading companies, these being constructed of hewn logs, roofed with lumber cut at the government sawmill at Fort Simpson. The "fort" is bult on the river bank, its population consisting of about ten whites and 35 native families.

Officials at the Edmonton land office report that 7000 acres of oil lands in the neighborhood of Fort Norman have been blanketed as a result of the registration of 46 oil claims during a couple of weeks following the report of the Fort Norman strike. In addition, it is understood that many claims have been filed at the sub-offices of the land department at Fort Smith and Fort Simpson. Notification of these has not yet reached Edmonton. The strike has developed a great deal of additional interest in oil prospects in northern Alberta, and much additional drilling is anticipated.

The Alberta Gazette announces the names of some 200 Calgary boom companies written off the register. During May, June and July of 1914 some 500 companies were formed to operate in the Calgary field, but most of these got little further than securing their charters. Only a few still remain active. About 100 have been struck off earlier and only 40 or 50 have kept themselves in good standing and by filing regular returns.

Synopsis of Land Act Amendments

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.

Interest on agreements to purchase town or city lots held by members of Allied Forces, or dependents, acquired direct or indirect, remitted from enlistment to March 31, 1920.

SUB-PURCHASERS OF CROWN LANDS.

Provision made for issuance of Crown grants to sub-purchasers of Crown Lands, acquiring rights from purchasers who failed to complete purchase, involving forfeiture, on fulfilment of conditions of purchase, interest and taxes. WORLD'S GREAT NEED OF TIN

War Has Diminished Supply of Indispensable Metal, and So Immensely Increased Its Cost.

Probably no market has been more vitally affected by the war and less subject to control than the tin market. It is not really an American industry, for an insignificant amount of tin is produced in the United States as compared with the total consumed. This country is almost absolutely dependent on foreign sources for its supplies. But the metal is a vital necessity at all times and in many directions. It is particularly a war metal in that its use is essential in producing tinplate for food and other containers and for bearings for machinery.

In no other metal has such complete chaos developed as in tin as a result of war conditions. It is the only metal which is exempt from price fixing by our own government, because about 99 per cent of our consumption comes from foreign countries, where its production and sale are controlled by foreign interests. Only its distribution here has been regulated as a war measure.

One of the largest importers has recently said that it would probably be a long time before 60-cent tin would again be seen. Before the war the metal was selling at a little over 30 cents a pound in New York. It has advanced by leaps and bounds until a month ago the New York price was nominal at over $1 a pound, with the future shipments from the east up to 95 cents—both unheard of heights. This has been caused by the fact that the world's output of tin has not been enough. In fact, statistics show that in recent years this has been at about a standstill.

FORTUNE VANISHED IN NIGHT

The experiences of an American citizen in revolution-racked Mexico, in which between two suns he fell from a position of wealth and affluence to poverty, are told by W. A. King, importer of snakes and wild animals from that cactus country. Widely known as the "Snake King," he makes his headquarters in Brownsville, Tex., where he is prominent in Masonic circles. He was in Washington a few days ago on business with the federal government.

"I lived for a nuber of years in Mexico," he said, "and am one of the Americans who can really appreciate the genuine freedom of our nation. I had a unique experience there just before Pershing invaded that country on his hunt for Villa.

"I was in that section dominated by the Villa bandits and anarchists. I had in my personal possession more than 300,000 of the Villa pesos, and from the point of view of the Mexicans that sum of money made me a millionaire of influence.

"I went to bed one night with my wealth strapped around me in a money belt. I awakened the next morning and found that a military and political break had taken place between Villa and Carranza and I was a pauper.

"The 300,000 in pesos were worthless. I did not have the price of a cup of coffee."

The Extreme Penalty.

George, the colored porter, was telling about a negro gambling club.

"Any tough colored gamblers ever there?"

"Any of the boys ever get rough?"

"Oh, no suh, not much."

"Any ever pull a razor on you?"

"No, not on dis baby."

"If one did, some real tough fellow, what would you do?"

"And supposing that he would cut you all up, just hack you to bits, what would you do then?"

Helping Food Administrator.

"If everybody grew his own vegetables and ate less meat," he soliloquized, "we'd put old Bill on the bum in a hurry. This is tough work, but I'll stick to it if it kills me. I'm with Hoover on this."

At this point a fine assortment of earthworms was unearthed. The digger's reflections immediately shifted to a shady stream and the final scene shows him happily fishing.

"Oh, well," he reflects to soothe his conscience, "vegetables or fish; it's all the same to Mr. Hoover."—War-Garden Guyed.

Valuable Books Found.

In moving Thiel college library at Greenville, Pa., to another building many rare and almost priceless books of Latin and Greek text were found. One book was printed by Zell at Cologne in 1473, a Virgil's Aeneid was printed in 1501 and one in 1508. A history of Rome, printed by Andrew Welcher in 1586 at Frankfort and a German religious work, printed in 1594, are in a good state of preservation. Among the other volumes is an iron-bound Bible.

NINTH WIFE HEARS TOO MUCH OF EIGHT

Los Angeles, Oct. 24.—Dagmar Dalgren, ninth wife of "Kid" McCoy, heard too much for the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth wife of the former champion during the three days she lived with the prizefighter. That is why, she said, se is suing for divorce.

She said: "He used to talk to me all the time about his other wives. Why, during the three days following our marriage that was all I heard.

"Always telling me about them, he was, and showing me their pictures. He had a regular rogues' gallery of them. He would get them out, and display Lottie's picture, and Julie's, and Lillian's, and Edna's. He would talk about those women by the hour, and compare their merits and their faults.

"It's an awful thing for a young girl who thinks she is doing a sensible thing by getting married to realize inside the first 24 hours that she has made a terrible mistake.

"McCoy married one of his wives three times; do you think that he and you may become reconciled?" the reporter asked.

"Not me, I am done for good," she replied.

Here is "Kid" McCoy's marriage and divorce record, which in its way is quite as interesting as his long ring record:

First wife: Lottie Pithler; year and a half; divorce.

Third wife: Julie Woodruff: two years; divorce.

Fourth wife: Julie Woodruff; one year; divorce.

Fifth wife: Julie Woodruff; very short time; divorce.

Seventh wife: Estelle Lillian Earle; five years; divorce.

N.B. — There may be some slight inaccuracies in the above list, as these records have not been kept with the same care as are the records of the prize-ring.

POLITICAL SITUATION

The 14th Legislature of British Columbia, the first Liberal administration to hold the reins in the Province, was returned to power at the general election held on Sept. 14, 1916, succeeding the Conservative administration which, under the leadership of the late Sir Richard McBride, was overwhelmingly returned to office in 1903 and was the first distinctly party government for British Columbia. In October, 1915, Sir Richard resigned the office of premier to accept the office of Agent-General for British Columbia at London, Eng., and the mantle of leadership fell upon the shoulders of Mr. Bowser, who held office until the general election in September, 1916, when the Liberals, under the leadership of the late Hon. H. C. Brewster, attained the treasury benches, the new government having a very large majority, counting no less than 31 party seats against nine for the Conservatives.

Following the death of the late Mr. Brewster, Hon. Mr. Oliver, who held the portfolio of Minister of Agriculture, was nominated leader at a Liberal caucus session held during the session of 1918, securing the high office by a narrow majority over Hon. Dr. King, Minister of Public Works, and since that decision Hon. Mr. Oliver has been the titular head of the government and leader of the Liberal forces in the province

In the bye-election for Alberni made necessary by reason of Hon. Mr. Brewster's death, the Conservative minority won the seat, the late Mr. Wallis being elected. On his death a year later, that riding was thrown open again and Major Richard Burke K.C., was elected by accalamation as an independent soldier candidate.

In addition to the above straight party alignment of members the Legislature just dissolved contained four soldier members, one Socialist member and one Independent, Mrs. Ralph Smith, of Vancouver, who, it is reported, will be found at the forthcoming elections on the Vancouver Liberal ticket and put forward for cabinet honors.

It is no secret that the result of last week's poll on the liquor plebiscite was a decided surprise to the government, the members of the cabinet having confidently counted upon Prohibition being carried. Arrangements were made for an early election prior to the plebiscite but the plan was, so political gossip had it, that the government would make its appeal on the platform of more rigid enforcement of the Act, and the promise made of a further plebiscite on the question of a "bone-dry" province. But the outcome of the vote last week upset calculations. Now the government will come forward with a policy for bringing into effect a system of government control. While the Prohibitionists were defeated at the plebiscite they constitute a large and important element of the voting strength of the province, and one worth cultivating in the coming campaign.

There has already been considerable spade work done by both political leaders. Hon. Mr. Oliver has made a number of speaking tours during the past summer, visiting the Peace River section, where he and his opponent, Mr. Bowser, appeared on the same platform and also along the line of the G.T.P. Ry., and at various points along the coast from Vancouver north to Stewart on the Portland Canal. He has also made two tours of the interior, and only last week finished a trip to the Delta and Dewdney districts, the latter of which ridings he represents.

Mr. Bowser, too, has not been letting the political grass grow under his feet and has covered the same territory as his opponent having visited practically every important centre of the province as well as speaking at many points on Vancouver Island. Hence the electors have already had opportunity of hearing the political big guns in action.

The employees of the Elk Valley Lumber Co., Ltd., are giving a dance in Victoria Hall tonight. Bass' orchestra will supply the music and a first class program is assured. Various committees have the arrangements well in hand and every effort is being put forth to make this one of the best dances ever held in the city. The entire proceeds will be donated for the benefit of Wm. Hnnt, who is at present in the Fernie hospital with a fractured leg, as a result of an accident at the mill on Sept. 29. Tickets can be obtained from the mill employees. $1.50 per couple; extra lady 50c.

Fernie, B.C., Oct. 27, 1920.
To the Rev. Father Kennedy:

Dear Sir—In view of the controversy which arose at the grave side of our late brother, G. Digiorgio, I wish to state my position in the matter. For twenty years our Italian Society has taken part in the service at the grave side of any of our departed brothers without ony objection from the church. Our order is purely fraternal, without either religious or political prejudice and our service in no way conflicts with your religious views and therefore we fail to understand why you should object to our simple rites. If you have any reasonable objection we would be glad to hear from you.

Thanking you,
Frank Santoni, G.M.

Another resolution coming from the Cranbrook board regarding the reservation of timber along the highways and about the lakes and other beauty spots of the district drew forth extended remarks regarding the preservation of God's grandest gift to the district, the noble trees, which, alas, did not now exist except in small quantity, and Mr. Bruce again spoke at length on the subject. It was stated that in the United States today the timber was disappearing four times as rapidly as it was being replaced by natural growth. Also, it was stated that the timber areas of this province are being rapidly curtailed, a statement which has occular demonstration to every visitor to the Crow's Nest Pass.

The election of officers for the year resulted in the re-election of Mr. Spruel as President; Mr. Prentice as Vice-President, and Mr. B. G. Hamilton as secretary-treasurer.

Aside from the two resolutions, which were of such general interest, there were a score of resolutions dealing with improvements to roads, the erection of proper sign boards, and matters of local interest dealt with. The subject of extended telephone service was also dealt with and a resolution urging the speedy completion of the Banff-Windermere auto road was adopted.

Affiliation with the Good Roads League and with the Good Roads Association of Alberta were also dealt with favorably, and an invitation of the British Columbia Associate Boards of Trade was also accepted.

The meeting can be said to have been a decided success, and the delegates can rest assured that they have the people of the district behind them in their efforts to bring about the settlement and cultivation of the vast area of idle land in the Kootenay Valley.

The other matters deal with, while of considerable importance, sink into insignificance when compared to the far reaching and lasting value of the irrigation and forest preservation enterprises, which the board has taken up with so much interest and a desire to push to a successful termination.

The Golden and Creston boards sent regrets at not being able to have delegates present.

Just before adjournment, J. P. Fink, of Cranbrook, extended an invitation to the boards to come to Cranbrook for its next meeting. This was heartily accepted.

A vote of thanks was passed to B. Hamilton, for his services as secretary, and with a few remarks by President Spruel, thanking the Fernie Board for hospitality, the convention passed on into the history of the district.

Judgment was handed down the other day at the coast in the case of Archie Farquharson vs. the Great Northern Railway. The verdict awards the plaintiff $8000. There were two actions and it is not known whether the $8000 covers one or both actions. If it is the entire award the case will be appealed. The action was heard some months ago before Justice Morrison at Fernie.

While "nosing" about the cells in the city jail the city police, "smelling a rat" in the shape of a strong odor suggestive of fermentation, and following the scent ran upon a miniature still behind the heating stove. Some of the boarders in the City Restaurant had constructed a small still in which they were making use of potatoes and molasses for the purpose of producing home-brewed whiskey. The process had not been completed until the police interfered with the scheme and it will result in the shutting off of the supply of molasses to the boarders. All of which demonstrates that while the "wets" outvoted the "drys" last week the tribulations of the ultra thirsty are not yet disposed of to the satisfaction of the thirsty.

James McLean has been appointed returning officer for Fernie riding for the coming provincial election. His appointment will meet with the hearty approval of all parties.

G. J. Duncan, for seven years a provincial officer in the Peace River country, arrived at Elko this week to take over the position of constable. Elko will look like a metropolis to that boy.

Pat Dally, who is well known in Fernie, is a candidate for the Labor party in the Atlin district. It is rumored that he will be opposed by Wm. Ross, Jr., son of our former Minister of Lands. The young man is practicing law at Stewart.

The Hon. Wm. Sloan, Minister of Mines for B.C., is in the city today on official business. During his stay here he met a committee from the employees of the C.N.P. Coal Co., who took up several vital matters with him.

The local political pot is beginning to simmer. A. I. Fisher, M.P.P., will no doubt again be the candidate for the Liberal party. The Conservatives have not yet made a move with the exception of calling a local rally for next Monday evening. The names of A. Leitch, G. G. Moffatt, F. Adolph, S. Herchmer, Dr. Corsan and W. R. Ross have all been mentioned in connection with the nomination. The Labor party is talking about Tom Uphill as their candidate and the soldiers may put up a man. It is said the Socialists will also be around as usual.

Before His Honor Judge Forin, at Cranbrook, on Wednesday, in the appeal of Geddy Clauson, of Yahk, from conviction under the Prohibition Act, when Clauson was fined $200 and costs and 42 cases of liquor confiscated, the appeal was allowed. The court in finding in favor of accused said that from facts disclosed in evidence while there might be strong suspicion that the building in which the liquor was seized was an "avoidance" of the Act, this nevertheless was sufficient to warrant allowing accused the privileges permitted by the Act. The conviction was quashed and the liquor ordered to be restored.

Will present day attitude of "Easy come-easy go" find you unprepared?

"TOO many people are sitting around waiting for something to happen," says Henry Ford.

"Something will happen. These people will delude themselves until the present day attitude of "easy come—easy go" will find them unprepared for the future. Those people who are acting foolishly today will then regret their wastefulness. The time will come when a nest egg, in the form of a bank account, will be your best friend."

The sensible person knows this and is holding his or her money back on all but necessary purchases. They know that a few years hence they will be able to buy far more with the same amount of money.

AMERICAN "MONSTER"

The Japanese problem breaking into flame now in California is a long-smouldering evil. Sensation-loving newspapers have stirred alarm and remarks of office seekers, born of party prejudice, have only created greater confusion. For the last six weeks the trouble has been growing in seriousness, until now the entire republic is talking. Japanses statesmen have expressed bitter thoughts —more bitter than any originating in America.

The reopening of the yellow question of the Pacific coast in the United States and Canada may be attributed to the bill which, if passed upon favorably by the voters of California, will not permit Japanese to lease or hold land in that state and will greatly curtail immigration of Asiatics. The proposed legislation has official Tokio thoroughly aroused. It is felt generally that the relations cannot continue as they are without serious results.

Ninety thousand Japanese reside in California, four-fifths of all the Japanese in the United States. One child in every twelve born in California is a Japanese. During the past five years Japanese immigration to California increased tremendously. The Japanese are all the more difficult to combat in their invasion because they cannot be attacked on the grounds that they are an undesirable citizen or that they are a menace to the community's welfare. They have by true thrift well-established themselves.

They are owners of homes, automobiles and comforts of life, greater in proportion, perhaps, than the whites. The Japanese have succeeded in their occupations because of their diligence and hard work. They have come to control vegetable and fruit markets as the most dependable and capable producers, cultivating the state's finest ranch lands. Not only do the men work in the fields, but they send their women and children into the fields. These are too great odds to be combatted by the American who will not ask his wife or his children to work by his side. The Japanese have thrust themselves into the fishing and other industries and by their stubbornness of nature and desire to achieve, have won success in practically every venture.

One thing, the Japanese ways of living are somewhat offensive to the whites. Their homes are far from picturesque. Can they mingle with the whites? is the frequent question which is always answered in the negative. Other immigrants, say from Poland, Austria, Russia, or other countries, can come in the most pitiful state to America, and their second and third generations can intermarry with Americans.

There have been several marriages of Japanese with American girls, but the ties were soon dissolved and inter-marriage proved an absolute failure. So on every side, is the Japanese problem a difficult one, with no plausible solution apparent.

Nor are the Japanese leaving it to their government to fight the battle of their invasion and their right to own land in the Sunset State. Thousands are holding mass meetings in California. It is unconstitutional, say many Japanese, for "all men are created free and equal." And, moreover, they are complying in every detail with the laws of the United States. The Japanese government is also fighting the battle. They consider bitterly that the American government permits foreigners from Europe who arrive in a far more undesirable condition to enter the country, and at the western coast the exclusion of the thrifty Japanese is proposed.

Japanese statesmen have been quoted as saying that the situation is very serious and that even military leaders have been called to conference.

While the Japanese maintain the question is that of racial equality and calls for world recognition, the American government declares that it is a domestic problem, a matter to be settled in the United States.

Japan has grown prosperous. She has taken full advantage of the opportunity presented during the war She must expand and her people feel that they should be permitted to go anywhere as do Englishmen and Americans. But where can she go without facing the barrier of racial inequality, of color?

The density of population in Japan is fast increasing. Emigration as a necessty. America is trying to shut the door. Australia desires to do the same and Alaska and British Columbia frown upon the coming of the yellow man, despite his developing civilization.

"We must appeal to the far judgment of enlightened America and if necessary to the whole world," says Marquis Okuma, former Japanese premier. A Japanese newspaper says: "We never dreamed that the United States would go to such lengths of aggression so soon after the war. We are unable to remain calm while America is showing herself such a hypocrite, a wolf in sheep's clothing, such a monster masquerading as an angel."

So, if at the elections in November California's three million people express themselves as unfavorable to continued Japanese land ownership, it no doubt wll become a matter of greatest international moment, directly affecting Great Britain and Canada as well as the principals in the contest.

NATIONALISM IN SOUTH AFRICA

The Union is reconstructing its local and modest military system upon a natural citizen basis. The Nationalist complaint is that this system fits into that of the Empire as a whole, which is meant purely for defence. Some of the Republicans—superior in their patriotism to the Americans, Frenchmen, Italians and others who donned khaki, not because there was anything particular British about it, but as a good field color that had become the most useful Allied wear—writhes in anguish at the thought of "their sons" wearing such a garb. It is "the uniform of the conqueror (it may be observed) of Germany, whose sullied "field grey" would be much more acceptable to these non-military patriots. The Minister of Defence had to go to the absurd length of promising that nobody should be forced to don the South African uniform against his will—as if it were not an honor to be clad in what one's fellow-countrymen were wearing. There will be neither dignity nor unity in South Africa until the country can ignore or laugh out of existence such nonsense as masquerading in the guise of a spirit of independence.—Buluwayo Chronicle.

COST OF LIVING PROBLEMS

Living costs are certain to decline slowly but with marked effect. There must be a point, of course, at which they must reflect in a wage reduction. What this point is the various industries must determine with their own consciences, in all fairness. Unless they do so, with commodities subject only to the usual slight fluctuations, the economic stability of the nation will be overthrown and an era of hard times will ensue — in which both wages and prices will fall to the bottom. The purchasing public does not ask that wages be disturbed, with respect to the purchasing power. It is willing to share its proportion of the increase, in which it profits, but it does insist that the selling price shall be based upon actually increased cost, and nothing more.—The Morning Oregonian.

CANADA LEADS THE WORLD

The Autumnal "apple war," which during recent years has taken the place of the Victorian contest about the "big gooseberry," seems to have set in early and with great severity, but neither the 20-oz. Kent apple nor the slightly larger Essex rival comes near the "record." A specimen of Gloria Mundi, a big Herefordshire cooking apple, which weighed 37½ ounces, was sold seven years ago at Covent Garden for 16 guineas. But the "world's record" for large apples is still held by the variety of Spokane Beauty, a specimen of which, weighing 38 ounces, was exhibited at the first Canadian apple show in 1910. It was grown on rough land in British Columbia without special cultivation. —London Daily Chronicle.

SAYS LEMON JUICE WILL REMOVE FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

A RED CROSS BRIDGE.

The development of the dairy industry of Canada during the past two decades has been surprisingly rapid. Quick to realize the profits to be derived from milk production and the great value of dairying in conserving the fertility of the soil, the Canadian farmer has not hesitated to increase his investments in dairy cattle. The industry expanded during the five years of world war. Canada, being distant from the theatres of war, although handicapped by the drafting into military service of half a million of her most vigorous manhood, was able to continue the development of many of her important industries, particularly agriculture.

It was not so in Europe. There the fiery blast of war, which left profits in some parts of the world, almost extinguished not only industry but national life itself in other. The drain upon manhood was so great that now in hundreds of thousands of families no adult males remain. Europe moreover is filled with orphan children whose prospect of life is marred by the lack of all that is necessary to bodily and mental growth. In most cases the earning power and consequently the purchasing power of their families is utterly destroyed.

Turning again to Canada we find there a surplus production of the commodities that are so badly needed in Europe. Condensed milk for instance is a commodity that is a prime necessity for the children of the poor communities of Europe but the nations to which they belong have no means of purchasing it for them. The Canadian Red Cross is going to endeavor to supply part of their needs by means of a general appeal for contributions to be made during Armistice week on behalf of the British Empire Fund, which is to be used in the humane task of relieving the sufferings of millions who are stricken by famine and disease. Part of the fund will be used for purchasing in Canada suitable supplies and thus the Red Cross will furnish the bridge across which some of our surplus milk will reach the enfeebled children in war-stricken areas. Those who assist will not only have the satisfaction of having contributed to relieve the sufferings of others less fortunate but by helping others will thereby indirectly help themselves.

FROM GENEVA.

"While we at home are intent on industrial expansion and a place in the sun, Europe in its war-weakened condition is fighting for its very existence," said Donald W. Brown, director of the department of organization in the League of Red Cross Societies of the World, which has its headquarters at Geneva, Switzerland. He visited Toronto to learn the peace program of the Canadian Red Cross Society and to establish closer contact between it and the league.

Millions of War Orphans.

Having just arrived from Europe, Mr. Brown was able to give the Canadian Red Cross some first hand information concerning the people of Europe. He called attention particularly to the condition of the children, so many of whom are now orphans. While the exact number who have lost one or both parents during the war cannot be determined, the most conservative estimate places the number at over ten millions. This number seems quite consistent with the heavy war casualties among so many nations.

Dependent Upon Charity.

The condition of these children is in most cases very pitiable. Many of them have no homes and they are dependent upon whoever may be charitable and kind enough to help them. But there are few who are able to give such help for the mass of the people of Russia, Poland, parts of Roumania, Czecho-Slovakia and other countries are so poor that they have not necessaries for themselves. Consequently in the great area between the Baltic, the Black and the Adriatic Seas, there are millions of children who face the next few years, and particularly the coming winter, without hope of proper care unless outside assistance is given them.

Disease Prevalent.

In addition to the unhappy condition of the children the adult populations are in the direst of misery on account of disease. Suffering has been accentuated by lack of food and clothing, nursing and medical attention, and tuberculosis, smallpox, typhus and dysentery are continuing unchecked.

Typhus which has so often proved a scourge and menace to the human race is again prevalent, and unless checked will most likely extend its ravages to an alarming degree.

British Empire Appeal.

For these urgent reasons, Mr. Brown said, the League of Red Cross Societies has made an earnest appeal to the people of the British Empire and he was glad to hear that the cause of the suffering children was being taken up in Canada. He had learned that an appeal on behalf of the British Empire Fund would be made in Canada by the Canadian Red Cross during Armistice week and wished for it every success.

Typhus In Canada.

In its earlier days Canada suffered from the ravages of a disease then known as "spotted fever" but now known generally by the name of typhus. It is a disease that spreads rapidly and is very destructive of human life. In the years 1846-47 it was brought to Canada by immigrants and caused great loss of life. It is only by taking urgent measures to stamp it out in the centres where it is now raging that it can be prevented from extending.

SAYS HIS CHANCE WAS MIGHTY SLIM

Seaman Had Rheumatism So Bad He Was Told There Was Practically No Hope

"The rheumatism got such a hold on me I was told there was scarcely one chance in ten I would ever be entirely rid of it again, but thanks to Tanlac it has entirely disappeared, and all my other troubles along with it," said Wm. R. Holovotsky, of 132 Higgins St., Vancouver, B.C.

"For about six years I suffered from a bad case of rheumatism. My right leg became stiff, and the calves of my legs swelled up. My arms ached and pained me so it was agony for me to put on my clothes. I had such chronic pains across my back that I don't believe it could have hurt worse had someone been jabbing me with a knife. My appetite dwindled away to almost nothing and I was continually losing strength and weight.

"While in Winnipeg on a visit I read about Tanlac in the papers and got a bottle. The results were so fine that I kept on taking it until the rheumatism left me entirely, and now I never have a sign of a pain of any kind. My appetite is so big I can hardly satisfy it, and I've gained ten pounds in weight. At night I sleep like a rock, and I feel every bit of ten years younger. Tanlac has certainly proved a remarkable medicine in my case, and I believe the best way in which I can show my gratitude is to make a statement for the benefit of others."

THE SOCIAL SCALE A DELUSION AND SNARE

One of the most profitable and pleasant avenues of employment open to girls is in housework, yet the demand is far greater than the supply. There are over 1,500,000 girls and women in excess of males in England, it is said, and many of these could find profitable employment in household work in Canada. The prejudice against accepting employment in the homes keeps many girls from taking up this line of work, and the fault is largely that of the employer. Household workers have been labelled domestic servants and placed low down on the social scale, while girls working in a store or office for a few dollars a week are regarded as being in "genteel employment." In some households the assistants with the housework are treated as members of the family, and from these householders come no complaints of the difficulty of securing and retaining competent help, nor are the girls easily enticed from such positions by offers of higher salaries. Money is not everything in life, and the household help problem will never be solved satisfactorily until conditions are remedied. Household work is just as honorable as any other avenue of making a living, and should be recognized as such. The trouble is we are all a little uppity, and prone to regard ourselves as a little better than our neighbors, or a little higher in the social scale than somebody else, and that is what causes much of the heartburnings and jealousies in this little world. The social scale is a delusion and a snare, any way it is viewed, and under a post mortem falls to pieces, beeause it has no solid foundation of fact to rest upon — it is all airy-fairy supposition, wheels within wheels, and circles circulating nowhere. — Brockville Recorder.

AUSTRALIAN DEFENCE

We in this is land are accustomed to think of ourselves as cut off from Europe by belt of sea and rendered free from invasion or the project of invasion mainly by our supreme navy. But Australia is also an island, with a longer and infinitely more vulnerable coastline; and if she has not close at hand an armed camp such as Europe was before the war nevertheless she, with her small white population, has hard by, the densely packed populations of Asia which have caught the restless spirit of the modern world. The preparation of a defence scheme is a precaution which Australia, situated as she is, is bound to take.—London Daily Chronicle.

DANCING AND THE CHURCH

A fine fuss is being made as to whether or not the clergy should give their sanction to a ball the object of which is to raise funds for the restoration of Westminster Abbey. Since when has the church, as such, turned its back on one of the finest and most delightful of human pleasures Have the objectors to the ball never heard of the dances which took place in the old days in Merrie England under the approval of Mother Church and of the disapproval of the sour-faced Puritans The church tales of the old days saw nothing wrong in a young man and a maid dancing together, and when Christianity becomes the merry thing it should be we shall hear no more of the anti-Westminster objections. — London Morning Post.

TWO DOLLAR WHEAT

The suggestion which comes from the president of the United Farmers of Alberta and others, to the effect that the Canadian Wheat Board should once more get into the saddle in order that wheat prices may be maintained, sounds very much like an attempt to pull one's self off the ground by one's boot straps. If Canada is to find a market for her surplus wheat it must be in competition with other wheat growing countries. Government wheat control, to be effective, must be well nigh universal, else it must signally fail.

The reasons for the decline in wheat prices are plain enough. France has not only sufficient wheat for her own needs this year, but a considerable amount for export. This means an unusually heavy crop, as the French, as everybody knows, are abnormally large bread eaters. England crop, while not sufficient for her requirements, is still large. The United States has plenty for her own use and a lot to export, while same may be said of the Argentine and Australia. Add to this the fact that the countries needing wheat have little money and less credit, and the Canadian wheat growers' present difficulties are sufficiently plain.

The Canadian millers have been for a long period looking for a slump in prices, as it is the old story of the supply exceeding the demand. No government machinery ,short of a credit to certain continental counaries, can alter the situation. Wheat, like everything else, has got to get on a peace footing. This does not mean that the old eighty and ninety cent wheat is going to reappear. Production costs will not allow of that either in Canada or in other countries. It is probably costing today, on the average, $1 or better to grow a bushel of wheat, and the same condition applies very generally throughout the world.—Saturday Night.

FREE SPEECH IN NEW YORK

George Haven Putnam is the head of an American publishing house of 80 years' standing. He is the great-grandnephew of the revolutionary General Israel Putnam; member of a numerous family which has for many generations contributed leaders of distinction to American public life. His title of major was won in the civil war; he faced not only the perils of the field but suffered imprisonment in Danville and in the Libby prison. In peace as in war he has taken the duties of American citizenship seriously, and has been untiring in good works, when lazier men took their ease. His has been such a career as should win honor in any land.

And on Monday night this patriotic American, of purest breed and most distinguished service, was howled down by hypenated Americans in the attempt to make an address in a public school building under the auspices of the Board of Education. To this pass has come the precious boon of free speech in the metropolis of the American republic!—New York World.

THE TRADE DEPRESSION

The depression in trade is becoming more general, and its effects are now being seriously felt in Lancashire, where about 18,000 cotton operatives are working short time. The main cause of this slump in demand is the high price of goods. Prices have been continually rising, whereas the immediate necessities of the public have gradually been declining. Now the point has been reached at which prices must come down if demand for goods is to continue. High taxation and high wages make a reduction in the price of many articles extremely difficult. Greater output per man would make production cheaper. It is, therefore, paradoxical but true that greater output would still relieve the situation, because by decreasing the cost of the goods produced it would make them more readily saleable. — Westminster Gazette.

TO DO THE DETERMINING

There is fine morality and unselfishness in the doctrine of self-determination by the small nations under the protection and guidance of friendly great powers. But there is also an intimation of inferiority which goes against the pride of the beneficiary nations. They would much prefer to do ther determining without aid or advice. And that is what Czecho-Slovakia, Jugo-Slavia and Roumania propose to do. They are strong for self-determination; and they have formed an alliance in order to make themselves strong enough to do the determining in their own way. — Cleveland Plaindealer.

ELECTION ON DECEMBER 1

His Honor Lieut--Gov. Prior on Saturday signed the formal documents providing for a dissolution of the Provincial Legislature and the holding of a general election on Wednesday, Dec. 1, with nominations taking place on Nov. 10.

The decision to make these recommendations to His Honor was reached at a full cabinet meeting Saturday. The discussion was a lengthy one, and it was after 2 p.m. before the decision was reached.

Immediately afterwards, Premier Oliver and Hon. Dr. J. H. King drove to Government House, and the former laid the matter before the Lieut.-Governor, giving his reasons for asking for a dissolution of the Legislature. Later in the day the formal documents providing for the dissolution, and naming the dates of nominations and election, were signed by the Lieut.-Governor. This brings to an end the 14th Legislature of British Columbia.

During the sitting of the cabinet and its discussion of the question of an early election, gossip was rife in legislative corridors. It is no secret that there was a considerable divergence of views as to the date of the contest and in fact as to the necessity of an immediate appeal to the country. At Wednesday's meeting at Vancouver, at which a majority of the cabinet were present, the subject created considerable heat and when the Premier emerged from the meeting and was confronted with newspaper reporters seeking a statement he stated he had nothing to say. Later Attorney-General Farris came forward and announced to the press men that there would be an early election but on the point of the date thereof he was unable, he said, to make a definite announcement.

The announcement of an election some time early in December was not, therefore, unexpected in political circles, but the general opinion was it would be called about the second week in the month. Selection of an earlier date, Dec. 1, comes as a surprise. It means that the forthcoming campaign will be a short one and, it can be predicted, will be marked by sufficient interest to keep the public mind engaged.

Early next week the various ministers will scatter to their respective constituencies. While he was not able to say yesterday just what his immediate movements will be, Premier Oliver said that undoubtedly he will be on the move campaigning. He will later announce his program.

W. J. Bowser, Conservative leaded, when informed of the cabinet decision, remarked: "We are ready." He stated that Conservative organizations throughout the province have been actively preparing for an early decision and immediately steps will be taken in each riding to hold nominating conventions for the purpose of selecting candidates to represent the Conservative party in the fight.

"Throughout the province it is our aim to place in the field the very best type of candidate, men and women who command the confidence and respect of their fellows, who have made a success in their own affairs and who, if elected, can be relied upon to measure up to the responsibilities cast upon them," said Mr. Bowser, who also stated that next week he will commence his campaign by a series of meetings on the Lower Mainland.

THE GREAT OPPORTUNIST

The extremely favorable terms agreed to by the Bolsheviki are in large measure due to the increasing discontent in Russia. The Red soldiers have no stomach for a winter campaign against the Poles, while the proletariat of the Russian cities, which have been the sole dependable supporter of Bolshevism, is appalled by the prospect of another foodless, fuelless winter. There are many reports of strikes, uprisings and general unrest, and though they are not circumstantial or always convincing, it must be apparent that so much smoke has its origin in considerable fire. Opportunism is Lenine's gospel. He would as readily yield to Poland now as he yielded to Germany at the beginning of his career as dictator if by yielding he might strengthen his grasp on the throats of the Russian people.—St. Louis Globe.

NEW COAL MINING AREA IS VERY RICH

Coleman, Nov. 4.—What gives evidence of developing into one of the richest coal fields in the Crow's Nest Pass region is now being exploited by the Glacier Coal Co., Ltd., who five months ago began opening up a property which contains, according to mining experts, the immense coal wealth of 80,000,000 tons.

Sixteen hundred and ninety acres of coal land are held by the company situated around Sleeping Giant mountain. The property is five and a half miles west of Coleman and a mile and a quarter from Sentinel Siding on the C.P.R.

For nine years A. J. McGuire, now of Spokane, but who is an old timer in the Pass country, having lived here when the steel was put through, has held the lease on this valuable property. He made no effort to develop it, and when approached by a group of Spokane business men ,he sold out to them.

The company is incorporated in Alberta with a capital stock of $200,000 and is a closed corporation, the whole interest being controlled by American capital.

LIBERAL BIG GUNS IN ACTION AT FERNIE

Premier Oliver and Hon. Dr. King, Minister Lands Address Electors.

The big guns of the Liberal party were unlimbered at the opening of the campaign here on Wednesday evening.

Mayor Henderson was in the chair and on the platform with him were Hon. John Oliver, Premier; Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works; A. I. Fisher, Liberal candidate; C. D. McNab and H. H. Ross, of Waldo; C. A. Klingensmith, of Elko; Robert Duthie and D. J. Black, of Fernie; and B. Ball and D. F. Fleming, of Michel.

Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, it is always a great pleasure for me to come to Fernie, and although I am not fond of public speaking, still I do like to speak to the people of Fernie because you are interested in public matters and follow public matters. This evening my time is limited on account of the recently nominated candidate in support of the government policies, Mr. Fisher, and also your desire to hear the Premier, so I must refrain and cut my remarks very short.

As Minister of Public Works I know your are interested in that department, and I wish to express to you, or to say to you and give you some idea of the activities of the works department since I have had the honor of administering the affairs of that department. In 1916, November, we assumed office, and I do not wish to be critical or go back into past histories tonight. What is passed is not worth while telling very much about, but I have to refer to conditions at that time in order that you may understand the conditions the government had to deal with in order that they might carry on the affairs of the province.

When we assumed office the late gov- of course, as you know, the Dominion and the Empire was at war and there had been a curtailment of public expeiditure, not only of the Empire but all over the world. We found of necessity that we were compelled to adopt that course, but very largely this was due to the financial condition of the treasury of the province that we had to make the curtailment and I will show you in a few minutes how large that curtailment was.

When we aumed office the late government had disposed of the natural resources; sold them and took the money and spent the money. We had nothing to sell as far as that is concerned; and as far as revenue is concerned we had to take revenue by way of taxation. The lands were disposed of; timber disposed of and the coal. We found $56,000 in the treasury and a liability for that old expenditure of some four million dollars that had to be met within a short period of time. The members of the government in consultation decided on account of the condition not only of the province but world-wide conditions, that we should curtail, and on account of our financial condition we had to curtail and the public works department being the large spending department of the government, we were necessarily asked to make the large curtailment. I quite readily consented to that, realizing the necessity of carrying on very carefully, and my supply bill for 1917, when it was brought down, asked for $900,000 for roads in the province of British Columbia. Previous to that period during the last seven years of the late government, our expenditure averaged some $3,250,000 to $3,500,000. You will realize the difference between $900,000 and $3,500,00, and that was the condition as far as the public works department was concerned.

We were satisfied to carry on under those conditions in order to carry on and maintain the proper service. We scrutinized everything and reorganized the public works department of the province on a sound basis; a basis by which the taxpayers' money would be properly expended and we had to make very very material changes in the whole system of the administration of the public works department. You have knowledge of the change that was made. I know throughout the province there was great complaint, even from my own party, that we were making changes that were not satisfactory to every one but we did not go and make these changes blindly. We made a study of the question; ascertained what other countries were doing and we found where efficiency and economic administration were maintained by departments of public works, especially roads, transport works of that character, that they had organized along the lines of districts, that is, divide the various parts of the province into districts. We divided the province into eight; this year we increased it one and made nine districts and placed competent men in charge of those districts in order that they might study the requirements of the people of those districts in the matter of transport works.

You will be surprised when I tell you although the late government from 1909 to 1916 spent $22,000,000 of the people's money on roads, that in the department of public works the only thing the department had at all were vouchers and cheques paid. That is practically true in the main; in some places surveys had been made and profiles were in the department, but so far as roads were concerned—take the road through the Crow's Nest Pass, a part of the transcontinental highway, there was nothing to show what that road proposed to serve, the character of the country, the character of the road material or the character of the road built, so you will understand as far as the department was concerned, we had very little information.

Today we are bringing to the department of public works information regarding the requirements of the people as to road transportation. We have a knowledge of certain roads, the people served, the territory it goes through, grades, curvatures and character of the road material, and we are trying to treat road conditions in a more or less scientific manner, and I think the people of Fernie and Kootenay realize the importance of that change, because I travelled through your district last summer and today from Cranbrook here and I know the road, some that we have made, and we have succeeded in bringing about some very material changes and improvements, and we have done this at small expenditure.

For the first two years of our administration we spent: In 1917, $900,000 as against $3,500,000. In 1918, less than a million dollars—$950,000— as against the larger appropriation. In 1919, the government did, owing to improved conditions, and the fact that the war was over and the necessity of expanding in the matter of road transportation — the government did bring down what is known as the B.C. Loan Act, 1919, whereby $1,500,000 was provided for improvements to the trunk road system and the building of industrial, mining and settlement roads. That money has been expended last year and this year and that is the reason for the improved road conditions in this Province.

During the inactive and carrying on period of reorganization, when I appointed the district engineers, I told them I wished to have information from the various districts in regard to road transportation in order that we might establish a trans-provincial road system in the province. We were able to assemble the information we required, and at the last session, with the concurrence of the government, I was able to announce that the government of this province proposed to connect the various districts in the province and in that way provide a trans-provincial road system. If you look at the map—I have a small one but I am not sure it will be very much use to you from this distance—you will find that the coast road system is distinct from the interior road system. You find the Vancouver Island system, of course, will remain distinct. From Vancouver to Hope we have a very good road system. In that block there was a road of 70 miles proposed by the late government, between Hope and Princeton. They built a few miles at each end and stopped in 1913 or 1914. We have been making a study of this route from Hope to Kamloops or Spence's Bridge with a view to finding out which would be the better route and serve the whole of the

RECAPTURE HOLDUP MEN

Pete Lazuk, alias "Trotsky," and Dan Urick, two Russians convicted at the assizes here last month and sentenced to five year in the penitentiary, and who while enroute to the coast escaped from the escort by jumping from a moving train while handcuffed together, have been recaptured, and according to telegraphic advice received at provincial police headquarters here today, are now in the custody of the sheriff at Wenatchee, Wash.

The crime for which Lazuk and Urick were found guilty was holding-up a lumber camp of the Crow's Nest Pass Lumber Co. at Skookumchuck in July, when a number of lumberjacks were robbed of sums of money and watches. There were three principals in the robbery but the third member has not yet been apprehended.

Lazuk and Urick are a desperate type of criminal, and after sentence stated that they would not enter the penitentiary alive, and nearly made good their threat by their daring escape from the train during the night of October 15, a few miles west of Grand Forks, B.C., whence they fled to the United States leaving no trace until arrested at Wenatchee today.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Charles Walsh, James McClure and William Wilson, alias "Blackie," were committed for trial by Stipendiary Magistrate Stenson on Wednesday, the charge being that on the 31st of October, at Crow's Nest, they unlawfully with and by means of violence, then and there used by them to and against the person of one William White, to prevent resistance, did violently steal from the person of the said William White and against his will, [illegible] watch and chain and certain monies of the amount of six dolars; and at the time the said accused committed the robbery the said William White they did beat and use personal violence to him. The evidence adduced at the preliminary hearing established that the three accused were first noticed about the Summit hotel, Crow's Nest, on Sunday afternoon. About 8 o'clock that evening, according to witnesses for the Crown, they were aggressors in a general fight in the bar room, following which the management of the hotel excluded everybody from the bar. Shortly after this Mr. White, who had been out at the rear of the building, returned and reported the robbery. The police were notified and Constable Hilton, of Michel, went to the scene. He investigated and obtaining a description of the three hold up men searched the trains and cars in the C.P.R. yard without result. He then paid a visit to the camp of the Rock Creek Lumber Co. near Crow's Nest and upon entering one of the shacks found accused Wilson in bed with accused McClure, and Walsh sitting beside him apparently in conversation. Discovering recent abrasions on Walsh and Wilson, also blood spots on the clothing, Contable Hilton took the three men into custody. Later it transpired that a young lad by the name of J. Schall, employed at the same camp, had shortly before the arrival of the constable been handed a gold filled watch by accused Wilson for safe keeping. This watch at the preliminary was positively identified by White as his property, he having kept a record of the number of the works and case, as well as identification by means of a mark on the case.

The accused will come up before Judge Thompson on Wednesday next for election, which will probably be for speedy trial.

LIBERAL BIG GUNS

interior best. We also investigated the route from Harrison Lake up to Clinton, and this year have investigated the old Dewdney Trail. The policy of the government in the establishment of an interprovincial road system will be to give the people of the interior the opportunity of going to the coast and enjoying the privileges of the coast road system, or the people of the coast the opportunity of coming to the interior and enjoying the privileges of the interior road system. That has been examined and we have information coming to the department on which the route will be adopted, and it is the purpose of the government to start construction on that link next year.

Now there are some four or five other links. Passing from Princeton travelling by way of the Okanagan Valley through to Kelowna, you come to ..... Hill. We have there a standard road, 7 per cent grade, which takes you over that mountain and drops down into Greenwood and Grand Forks, where you travel over a magnificent road system in that district, but you come to Christina Lake or Cascade, where there is another block of 30 miles. We have under construction a road connecting that portion of the province. The last block is the cut-off into Trail and Nelson. We have an excellent roadway there. Then we come to Kootenay Lake and on to Balfour, from there by lake to Kuskanook. We have a road under construction from Kuskanook to Sirdar that will be completed this fall, and connected by the boat service, transfer or ferry, the motorist will be able to go to Balfour, and with the construction of those links I have mentioned you will have a trans-provincial highway through Southern British Columbia.

We have also under construction this year the portion leading from Quesnel to Ft. George. Once that is constructed and the construction of two or three links in this area near Hazleton, then you will have the whole central portion of British Columbia accessible north and south. That is the policy of the public works department and that is the policy of trunk road construction in this province. Our policy is not an election policy; it was announced long ago. It was not announced hurriedly but only after three or four years of careful study of the requirements and from the knowledge of men specially trained, we have arrived at certain conclusions, and it was announced in the house last year that that was the program of the government.

We went further than that and also passed legislation affecting the motorists of the province, whereby the taxation or fees on motors in the province was increased, and it is proposed to fund those monies in order to capitalize some five million dollars to be used for that purpose, and already this year there has been expended a portion of that money. So we are not coming to you with an election policy. It is a real policy, and the only link not actively under construction is that between the coast and the interior or between Hope and Princeton, or Hope and Yale.

I think it is well realized by the people of Fernie, living as you are on what is going to be the trans-provincial highway of the province, the importance of building these connecting links. Years ago, in fact only a few years ago, people were quite satisfied to have roads constructed in their district. That was the policy of the late government—district road construction. You no doubt remember very well that the district receiving the large appropriation was very well satisfied and the fellow, because he was in the opposition was left out —that district suffered. Now that is not the policy of this government. We believe the roads of the Okanagan should be available to the people of Fernie and we believe the roads of the interior should be available to the people of Vancouver, and our policy during the last two years—well, it is hardly two years—we have only spent money during the last two years. The first two years we had only $900,000, which merely went to patch up the old holes; but during last season and this season we have been carrying on an active constructive policy. In the making of roads in this district, you know, there has been marked improvements and in fact the trunk roads have been regraded and put in good condition.

We must not pass without explaining what the government propose doing during the next five years. From motor tax license we will have $5,000,000; also there is available the grant made by the Dominion government two years ago, whereby twenty million dollars was appropriated for road construction throughout Canada. That appropriation by the Dominion government was not intended to relieve provincial expenditures but rather to stimulate them to make greater expenditures on road systems. The good people at Ottwa realized, as we must realize, that if we are going to develop Canada, we must improve our road systems. We follow this out by providing certain monies and as far as the motorist is concerned, we have met him in committee and he has accepted this but wants good roads. He is not satisfied with being able to travel in his own district but he wants to travel farther and wider afield and they have accepted that increase for that purpose.

Before leaving the public works service I do not want it to be understood that the government relies altogether on having a trunk road system, and although the trunk roads are important and will mean bringing into the province many hundreds or thousands of tourists, which, if directed properly will bring a great revenue to the province, still we realize, as far as the government is concerned, that it is not the most important feature. If we are going to succeed we must have more people in the province; greater production; more people on the land and the government does not intend only to maintain the trunk roads, but to improve the system by constructing settlement roads, industrial roads and mining roads, and that policy will be followed as far as this government is concerned.

It was very pleasing to me as minister of public works on a visit last summer to look at your tourist association room, and there look at the register of the tourists passing through, and your secretary very kindly furnished me with a photograph copy of a portion of that register and it is interesting reading. It might be used at this time for political purposes .Here is one of many similar expressions of the visitors with respect to your roads: "Roads excellent; scenery the finest ever seen on mountain roads in any country." If you are sufficiently interested you can go to the association office and look at that register and confirm the opinion that you have fairly good roads in this province.

Now the Leader of the Opposition states that the road system has deteriorated; that we are not taking care of that which we have. Well now, I am quite satisfied. Had he made that statement to the the people of Fernie or the people of Cranbrook, or any district through the country, he would at once be challenged, because the people know better, and when he makes that statement it will not be considered because the people can see and think for themselves.

Now, I must not encroach on the time of the other gentlemen, but I do wish to say a word or two in regard to other matters. I would like to refer to the legislation that has been passed by the government There has been more constructive legislation passed by the Brewster and Oliver governments than ever passed before. You take the land legislation, which you will hear discussed this evening, particularly as to the matter of irrigation, because this government is seriously considering the question of irrigation. We are not coming to you and telling you we are going to do something, but we are already doing it. And in the matter of social legislation, I know that will appeal to the ladies as to what the government has done. I will mention a few bills passed by the House and in operation. "Equal Guardianship," whereby the wife has equal control with the husband in regard to children. Minimum Wage (interruption and laughter). My friend doesn't understand, possibly, what is the meaning of "Equal Guardianship." Formerly the the wife did not have control of the child; it was absolutely in the hands of the husband. That was absolutely unfair, so "Equal Guardianship," in the care of the child gives equal control to the father and mother and I am sure the people of Fernie endorse that action.

We also passed the "Minimum Wage Act." It will be interesting for you to know, or you do not know, that girls who were employed in certain industries and offices throughout the province, were not receiving proper consideration and it was proposed and thought necessary that there should be a minimum wage for these people. As you know, girls have lately gone into industrial life; have gone out to earn their own living, and we found conditions when we came into office where girls engaged in mercantile industries received $4 a week. There was not much show for the girl at $4 a week, but by passing the Minimum Wage Act we increased that to $12.75 a week.

A Voice—Not enough.

Dr. King: It may not be enough, my friend, but there is quite a difference between $4.00 and $12.75. Girls in the laundry industry were receiving $5 a week; $13.50 a week is the minimum wage in that industry. In regard to girls engaged in public house-keeping and hotels, they were receiving $3.50 a week; they are now receiving a minimum wage of $14.00 a week. I know the people will appreciate that legislation.

And in regard to Mothers' Pensions. Last year we passed a bill that provided in case of the death of the husband and the widow was left with a family dependent on her for support; and we know in every community there are cases where unfortunately the bread-winner is taken away and the wife and children left helpless, and it is necessary for the wife to go out and work and leave the children at home or to go on as they like. We propose to do way with that condition and so we passed the Mothers' Pension Bill. You have a local board who advises with the Commissioner if there are cases of that kind. I hope not, but there is always the chance there may be and there is the Bill to give relief to the people in that condition, and I am sure you will endorse that action.

We also passed legislation establishing a Juvenile Court, whereby young girls or young boys who have made a mistake and gone wrong are not taken before the ordinary court of law. They are now taken before Mrs. Gill in Vancouver, and it is proposed to extend the operation of that Act to apply to other communities in the Province. That is some of the social legislation that this government has passed and I am satisfied, as far as the ladies are concerned, and I know the men must and will, endorse that legislation. But we have other legislation in view. We hope to improve the hospitals in the province. Heretofore hospitals have been maintained by grants from the government and subscriptions. Owing to the high cost of everything, and the fact that our people are using the hospitals more every day, we are coming to realize that the hospital is the only proper place for the treatment of sick people. If a man is sick in his own home, he would not stay there if he can get into a properly conducted hospital. Therefore, in the hospitals of British Columbia, in order that they should fill their proper place, it is necessary for the government to give further consideration and further aid, and it is the purpose of the government to give larger support to the hospitals.

Now, I don't think I should keep you any longer. It has been a great pleasure for me just to speak a few moments, and I wish to say in conclusion it was great gratification to find the government supporters nominated Mr. Fisher this evening, as standard bearer in the coming election, and I trust the people will give him the support he is entitled to, because there is no better local representative in the House than Mr. Fisher. There is not a local representative consulted more in regard to matters concerning labor and matters pertaining to your district. I wish in closing to thank you for the kind attention you have given me and trust you will give Mr. Fisher that support I think he should have and I think the government policies should have, and that you will endorse those by supporting him on the first of December. (Loud applause).

A. I. Fisher: M.L.A.

Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, although one half of this audience are ladies there are none on the platform. I have endeavored to get some to come on but they are modest and unasuming, and so good looking that they will not come on. Now I must suggest the ladies of Fernie riding, that they are different from the ladies of Vancouver and Victoria, because you cant keep them off the platform down there, and they are not nearly so good looking. (laughter) In fact I was on the same platform—I am not saying what particular part of Vancouver— where there were some ladies and had I known they were going to be a beauty chorus I might have wished myself in the bosom of my family in Fernie. Ladies, we must have you in our work; in our political work, in our civic work.

The Hon. minister of public work referred to the fact of certain amendments passed during the four years under the regime of the goverment, amending certain legislation, but we haven't got nearly as far as we are going in the next four years, if I go back there. (Interruption)

Well, I heard that before that I wasn't going but I went. I understood a few days ago there were going to be four men in the field; one in each corner and I knew from my experience in Michel, Coal Creek and Fernie that most of the bloodshed might be in my corner of the room. I was going to say more would be there, but if there are three other candidates going to be in the field, I intend to carry the war into Africa and there will be more bloodshed in the other corners than in the corner occupied by the Goverment Candidate. I remmember some twelve or thirteen years ago when I began my political career in the constituency by addressing a meeting in Michel and on that platform immediately behind the speaker, was a large window with very many panes. I had proceeded very nicely, I thought, and had gone on discussing matters with considerable eloquence, when someone in the audience politely or I should say, impolitely, told me to choose my pane because he was going to throw me out the window. Ladies and gentlemen, I am not very much bigger now than I was then, but I have never gone out through a pane yet, although I have suffered lots of grief, and while in somewhat humorous fashion, I now desire to pay a tribute of thanks to the people of Fernie Riding who some four years ago, after a strenous fight, did me the honor of electing me as their representative and I have appreciated the opportunity of taking part in the deliberations of the legislature of the Province of British Columbia, and I propose as the candidate for the goverment in this province, to endeavor to put myself, or to be in a position of again taking part in the deliberations of that assembly. An honor I consider to be worthy of my fighting for, a responibility which I feel and a duty which I shall perform, if it is your wish that I should go there again, and if it is not, I am satisfied to accept your verdict and I never squealed before when I was beaten, and I will not squeal again; but I won't be beaten without a squeal, in other words there wont be any squeal afterwards but there is going to be a whole lot before. (Laughter)

Ladies and gentlemen I don't subscribe to the doctrine and never have although born and bred a liberal, and it is pretty hard to get liberal blood out of your veins, but I have never subscribed to the doctrine here or before the legislature, that any measure proposed by a liberal government should be railroaded through that house without careful consideration and deliberation, and I think you will agree that I have not always agreed with my honored leader, the Premier of this Province, and I told him so and he will bear me out, but he has such a way of convincing the other members that I am only a private member, he gets away with a whole lot more than I can. I venture to say if you will peruse a pamphlet which will be circulated, entitled "Special Legislation Enacted by the Legislature of the Province of British Columbia, during the last Four Sessions," that you will appreciate the fact that a great deal of industrial, social and economic legislation has been put through that house during the last four years and it is on that record of the legislature and administration that I propose to stand or fall during the ensuing campaign.

Now, some things we have not been able to obtain and a great many Acts that have been amended, will need further amendment. I propose to cite some instances where they have gone a long way and I propose to tell you, ladies and gentleman, some of the difficulties which we have had and I think fairly withont any discredit to other liberal supporters of this government, that sometimes some liberal members have difficulty in getting through the house certain industrial, social or economic legislation, owing sometimes to the opposition of certain members elected as liberals but whose opinions differ on some minor points or things somewhat essential, from the rest, by the wall of human personality. We do not live in a world simply by the rule of one,we come in opposition and contact with other individuality and other personality, and even members elected in support of the same government and while in agreement with that government and its cabinet on fundamentals, often we may have difficulty in accomplishing administration which we would wish to have.

Take for example the amendment to the eight hour law for surface men at Coal Creek, Michel, and other places throughout the province. The amendment to the Labor Regulation Act so far as coke oven and smelters are concerned and the amendments to the Coal Mines Regulation Act so far as coal mining in this district and elsewhere throughout the province is concerned. Now when I appeared at the first session some suggested this was legislation for the people of Fernie, Nanaimo, Greenwood and Grand Forks; that they were anxious for this to be placed on the Statute Book by amending the Coal Mines Regulation Act as I have suggested and amending the Labor Regulation Act altering the law with respect to smelters and so on. Immediately this was mentioned, some representatives, irrespective of politics, from the rural constituencies seemed to be somewhat alarmed at a general eight hour law applying to the farms and their workmen, and they made the suggestion, that often during the summer season, they had to make hay when the sun shone and it was often necessary for them to work twelve and fifteen hours or more, whereas in the winter months they might not work at all. They didn't admit that, but some suggested possibly they didn't.

Now we had to go to work in order to procure the amendments we wished and convince these other representatives that we didn't intend to affect them but they said they will be after us later, so you see, ladies and gentlemen, one has difficulty bringing forth certain measures of reform, by the opposition of some who are afraid that you intend to go much farther than you had any desire to go at the time, so in 1918 we succeeded in passing our amendments to both the Labor Regulation Act and the Coal Mines Regulation Act, so that now I do not need to tell you that British Columbia men in this district return home from their work from one to three hours sooner than some of them used to.

Now I must tell you what happened in some other matters pertaining to the eight hour legislation, just to show you that I should endeavor to work and argue these matters out with the voters throughout this riding during the next few weeks if you desire the government candidate should be elected, because after we had put through this legislation in the session of 1918 and it was to become operative the 31st day of March not know that we had passed this legislation and who was yet friendly disposed, apparently to myself, personally called at my office and said he had heard I was going to address a meeting in Coal Creek and he asked me if I had introduced an amendment to the Coal Mines Regulation Act so as to provide an eight hour day for the surface men. Not just thinking what he was getting at, and not realizing he did not know this legislation was already on the Statute Book; and remembering that Hon. minister of Mines introduced the bill and not myself, because that is the way to get bills through, Mr. Premier. I would like to tell you of the bills I have introduced but I didn't introduce many, possibly one, because the way to get things through the house is to get the minister to introduce it and get the premier to put it through. When you have got that you have got your Act; if you haven't got that and try to play a lone hand, as possibly one of my opponents would if you send him, he will not get as much as I got. In fact he hasn't got a chance in the world. However if you want to send him I will gracefully retire and then watch certain amendments he may introduce, but I am sure he will not be able to pass any such legislation such as I have been able to.

I got a long way from my story (laughter) telling about the young man who came into my office and having asked if I had introduced the bill and if I could bring a copy along with me. I said, "No I had not introduced such bill," and he says, "If you can't bring a copy of the bill introduced, and show that you introduced it personally, I don't think you need to come to Coal Creek at the present time." I just sent out for the 1918 Statutes and I said, "If you wait a second I will show you not a bill, but an Act that was put through the house and will become law within the course of three or four months." When he realized it was not a bill we need talk about but an Act of parliment, he was particularly gratified and he will, no doubt, vote for Fisher on the First of December. (laughter and applause)

Ladies and gentlemen, there will be a certain amount of criticism undoubtedly of myself as to certain votes which have been cast by myself in the house during the past four sessions, but I ask you to judge of me and the record of this government not straw votes; not by votes that do not mean very much after all, but by the legislation that has been placed on the statute books of this province, which is outlined and emphasized in the booklet which will be circulated throughout the riding. We have amended in 1918 the Coal Mines Regulation Act and the Labour Reglation Act bringing about the eight hour legislation; now we will advance upon that undoubtedly and we will have more industrial and social legislation. I also want to emphasize the fact we also have the Mothers' Pension Act, recently passed and now operative, but that Act doesn't go as far as we hope it will. If you will bear with me a moment I will explain. A great many of the members were seized with and worried about where we had the case such as we had here at the time of the flu, where widows were left through the death of the by other than accident. If it had been by accident the Workmen's Compensation Act took care of the case but where death resulted otherwise than by accident we were in this position that the widows and children were left without any provision whatsoever. Some members, apart from politics, spoke about legislation to take care of these cases, especially after the flu epidemic and were greatly interested that these cases should be provided for. It was thought at one time it could be incorporated in the Workmen's Compensation Act but that only covers industrial life and consequently difficulty in seeking to amend that Act. Then we had the proposition brought forward and emphasized by Mrs. Ralph Smith and others that we should have mother's pensions and they would take care of these cases such as I have spoken of, so that now we have started and made legislation in connection with mothers pensions and yet haven't gone far enough, but I say with experimental legislation you must make a start and this Mother's Pensions Act as it now stands does not cover the case of a widow who has no charge under sixteen years of age but yet is left penniless and helpless. We trust to make provision for that and take care of that and other cases not provided for under the Act.

That brings me to this and I talk as seriously as I can with regard to the matter of taxation because it is going to be made a great deal of that this government has imposed taxation not imposed by other governments. You must wrestle with that and analyze that carefully. This government has to meet the issue and is prepared to meet the issue and the incident of taxation or whether the taxation is proper or not, that is fit and proper, outlining the method of taxation and justified; but what I am bringing to your attention is that there are certain people in this riding who will vote against the government on the ground the taxation increase might be different or fall more heavily on some quarters as it did. If we adopt the attitude of the vote against the government on the ground they have imposed certain taxation, please remember if you vote against the government on that ground you are voting against handing the Mothers' Pension Board half a million dollars which will be necessary for the succeeding twelve months. You cannot have the money for the widows and children under sixteen, left destitute, without taxation, therefore by voting against the government candidate and for the election of some candidate opposed on that ground, you will be doing so, perchane without recollecting, that you may take and carry og from some widow or child the very possibility of having any pension in the future. If you change the taxation by the government you may effect, undoubtedly the disbursements because the Mothers' Pension Ace is dependent practically, upon the Consolidation Revenue Fund, at least, it is dependent on the revenue coming from the people of this province. If you, therefore, are led away by the argument in respect to taxation, and I will concede it has been greater in some cases than heretofore, then you may be making a serious mistake. I wish to warn you against that possibility and ask you before voting against the government candidate, you must sit down and carefully consider and thoroughly understand you can't have this and many other things or these social matters unless someone and that is the people of this province pays the tax.

A VOICE:

—"Do you propose to tax excess profits?"

MR. FISHER:

I knew I wouldn't get very far without a question. (laughter) That is a kind of a hobby of mine, excess profits; possibly it will be worked ont but that is a Dominion issue. I like to talk Dominion politics sometimes, however that reminds me of the Hon. MacKenzie King in the riding of the Hon. minister of public works the other evening. He made a very eloquent address and he made a certain positive statement, after which he said, "I defy any one in the audience to stand up and contradict me." Well, I thought he would never get away with anything like that in Fernie. (laughter)

I have heard there is going to be a labor candidate in this riding. I don't see why, because there never was a department of labor untill the government of my hon. friend, the premier. You never had a department of labor before, so now we have a dept. of labor operating throughout this province and that is one reason with regard to which I submit that this government is entitled to favorable consideration on the part of the electorate. In the depart of labor we have made an attempt to deal with social, industrial and economic questions and as I say we have only gone so far but hope to get farther as the days go by.

Now the Hon. Doctor, the minister of public works, has spoken with regard to the road policy and perhaps I had better leave that matter with him and possibly I should not discuss these question any further than I have done, tonight. I only wish to say, ladies and gentlemen, I propose during the next four or five weeks to hold meetings throughout the entire riding, whether there is any opposition candidate or not, because I haven't been able to appear on many platforms throughout the riding during the past four years, because even a lawyer has to earn his living. If the Hon. Premier had made me a cabinet minister as he should have done (laughter) and as perhaps he will do if the Fernie (laughter and applause) why I might have been in the condition as they have been, to travel all over the province and address the electors, at the present time. Under the circumstances I have not been able to do so and I propose during the next four or five weeks to place before the electors of this riding some account of my stewardship, and I hope when reciting some part that I have taken in the administrative record you will not think it boasting. I am simply giving an account of my stewardship, and while I may in some respect be considered boasting of it as I will, at the same time it is not for that reason but in order that you may know exactly what the government has done and what it has not done; and what I have accomplished and what I have not been able to accomplish, and in order to give you a fair, free informed opinion before you cast your vote. After giving me due consideration and listening to the arguments, seriously consider and study the legislation that has been put through and brought to your attention, ladies and gentlemen, I am satisfied to leave the verdict entirely in your hands whether or not I shall be returned, but I wish to express this wish that the province of British Columbia will see fit to return the Premier, Hon. John Oliver, and his government in power and I wish to add this, that however much a private member may think he can accomplish he can get very little through the provincial legislature or the Dominion House unless he has the sympathy of the government and the premier, and while I have not succeeded in carrying all the social or industrial legislation which this riding may wish for, I am free to tell you ladies and gentlemen, that I have always received the most sympathetic hearing from the Hon. John Oliver, premier of this province. (Loud applause).

Hon. John Oliver, Premier:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen, I can assure you that it is a pleasure for me once again to appear before a Fernie audience. I have spoken from this platform on a previous occasion and I didn't get very far until interrupted by some questions thrown at me. I tried to take in a good natured manner because that is one of the rights and privileges which you are free to exercise in this province of British Columbia, and if you have got anything to throw at me tonight let it be verbal missles and not in the shape of ancient eggs. (Laughter).

It gives me very great pleasure to be here tonight and to congratulate the people of this district that Mr. Fisher has been chosen again as candidate in support of the government of which I happen to be, for the time being, the leader. Mr. Fisher has told you a private member cannot get very far unless he has the sympathy of the premier. I want to tell you more than that, the premier cannot get very far unless he has the sympathy and confidence of the members elect, so that this sympathy is a mutual arrangement. And I want to tell you the premier and ministers cannot go half as far or as far as they would like because of the limitations by the constitution of the province; but much more effective limitation is in the way of financial consideration, and if you don't get all that you want just recollect that the government is willing to give you all that you are willing to pay for. (Laughter.) The government has no hidden mine of wealth or inexhaustible treasure house. When demanding public service which means the expenditure of public money, the government has got to come to the people and you have never given the government a surplus; never enough money for the things asked for, so now dig up because you cannot get these things unless you do.

A Voice—I would like to ask the Hon. Premier one question: How is it possible for someone to dig up when you have nothing to dig?

The Premier: That is just the position the government is in.

I know I will have the sympathy and support of my honorable friend; he has a fellow feeling; he knows the plight we are in every day.

I appear before you tonight not to tell you about the things we would like to do but to tell you a few things that we have done and a few of the things we may possibly hope to do in the future. This is a great big province; it has many and diversified interests. Not all mining coal or gold and silver or even the baser metals; not all growing wheat; raising cattle or feeding pigs. Not even all lumbering, not even all manufacturing; in fact there is very little in the lines of industry that is not carried on, but there is nothing in the shape of industry carried on in this province that does not have to receive the attention of the government to a greater or lesser degree. Th government of the province has to consider each varied interest and all the varied interests include all the different classes of people and I want to touch briefly on a few of them.

When I stood on this platform six years ago one of the chief causes of complaint was on account of the fact that the late government had allowed the land speculators to get hold of the agicultural lands of the province so that when we should have settlers to clear and till the lands to grow food for our own people without sending so many millions of dollars out of the province for food, these settlers were unable to get access to the lands, and I told you on that occasion I didn't believe the Almighty ever intended anyone should have the right or power to keep holding the land from the man who wished to use it and make it better.

At te first session of the legislature we introduced legislation which gave us the power that was necessary to allow us to deal with the speculative owner. Iam just going to give you a mere outline of what we have done. We have legislation and are enforcing that legislation to such an effect that the absentee land owner is now more anxious to let go than he was to get it in the first place, and we have done that by way of taxation, and as a result of that policy there are today available for settlers millions of acres of land at a price not exceeding 25 to 30 per cent of the prices asked six years ago. Not only that but these absentee land owners in their endeavor to recover a portion of the money invested in these lands, are today scouring the face of the earth to induce settlers to come on and take the lands off their hands; in some cases even advancing money, thereby enabling the settler to improve the lands because they have come to the conclusion they can no longer hold agricultural lands out of use in the Province of British Columbia. It will pay them better to give the land to someone else than pay the taxes. As a result of that policy we have many hundreds of settlers, principally along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific. During the year 1919 there were 174 carloads of settlers' effects unloaded at different stations along that line. There were 84 carloads of cattle brought in by settlers. The government imported over 900 head of dairy cattle and sold them to the settlers, because the government could bring in a carload where a settler could only bring in one or two or half a dozen, and it was more economical for the government to buy by the carload and distribute by sale to the settlers than it was for the settler going personally to the prairie provinces or possibly the coast and procuring the animals he would require. We have already established settlements at Vanderhoef, and another getting ready in the Bulkley Valley, and the settlers there have increased to such an extent that today we have to provide school accommodation for more than double the children that were there three years ago, so I think we can claim we have accomplished something in this direction.

I want to pass to another question, that is the question of railways. Just the other day, at Golden on Monday, I was asked what big election cry are you going to give the people of this province in order to induce them to return you to power. You know it has always been the custom to go to the people with some big election cry. One was a "White British Columbia," another "Better Terms with the Dominion Government," another time; two or three times it was the "Railway Policy." What have all the big election cries got? I will tell you. Have they got you a white British Columbia? Have they got railways without costing anything? Have they got you better terms with the Dominion government? No, absolutely, no; they were simply used to deceive; intended only as get by propositions, and I propose to get by without any such proposition as that or I am not going. (Applause.)

Now let us turn to the question of railways for a moment. In 1912 the late government brought forth a railway policy. Mr. Bowser told the members of the legislature that that railway policy would never cost a dollar or a cent. What happened? They gave the railways twenty-five million dollars capital stock and they issued that capital stock, and they issued it fully paid up. You know how much they paid for it. They paid $40,000 for $25,000,000 and they had the $25,000,000 the first shot out of the box and they put $40,000 in the treasury. They got a guarantee of $35,000 a mile conditional that the money was to be paid over when construction of the whole road was completed. What happened? Why they paid the whole subsidy for 470 miles when there were only 17 miles of road built. That is just what happened. Then they came back and got a new subsidy of another $7000 a mile and that was all paid out to them when there was 166 miles built of the 476 to be built. When the subsidy was exhausted there were 284 miles of railway that didn't have a bridge, a tie, a rail or even a fence. That is the way your money was used by the railway policy; a railway policy used to catch votes to get the late government by at election time. What is your position today? The contractors failed; refused to go on with the contract and the government took it over. Right at the present moment there is $33,000,000 invested in that railway and by the time that railway is completed to Prince George there will be $37,000,000, and I cannot tell how much to connect the road from Squamish to the city of Vancouver, possibly seven or eight million; 27 miles untouched, and when all the money was gone 52 miles that never had a pick on it. That is the situation left by the late government and after that $26,000,000 left us to take as an obligation on something that would never cost a dollar. At the present moment we have Mr. Bowser telling the people if he is returned he will immediately carry the road to the eastern boundary of the province. Now in my additional capacity as minister of railways, I have gone into that, and they tell me the lowest estimate is $21,000,000 more and if you add interest on twenty million dollars until the road is fully built you would have $25,000,000 before the road is fully built and completed. Now some people of this province tell you this Oliver government don't give you anything. Let me tell you, as Dr. King told you tonight, they didn't have the money to put into roads. Do a little mental artithmetic, because I know some of you can do that. Figure $33,000,000 at 5½ per cent; add half a million depreciation on the road year by year and add another quarter of a million loss in operating and it will bring you up to approximately two and a half million dollars a year being paid out of the treasury each year because of the legacies of debt left to us by the late government. That is what these catch cries get you and they ask you to return them as in the past. I say if you haven't learned it is time you have. I wouldn't undertake to teach you, because I don't think you would learn so long as you live. (Laughter and applause).

Let us pass to another matter. I want to tell you that this government has been carrying on under such conditions such as never confronted any other government. When we took office there was $54,000 or $56,000 in money in the treasury. We had an obligation to meet of four million dollars within a few weeks of the time we took office. How did the obligation come to be made at that time? Go back to the public accounts and you will find the late government received over eleven million dollars from the sale of lands. What did they do with that money? Did they spend the money building roads? No; they spent it building court houses and gaols. The late attorney-general, Mr. Bowser, had a mania for law courts. He is a lawyer himself and wanted some place to put his victims, and decided to build gaols for them and build court houses to try them. (Laughter). You may laugh but it is no laughing matter. If you turn to the public accounts for the year 1914 you will find this same Bowser spent $747,000 in supposed administration of justice in this province or salaries paid. $747,000; why spend that vast sum? Why we had labor troubles on Vancouver Island and he was asked to mediate and effect a settlement. He refused to settle that way but undertook to do so in another way. How? By sending the military there and rending destruction of property, and hundreds of men were arrested and $747,000 of our money was spent in that one year in that way over a thing that could have been settled by a little common sense being used—by getting together on the situation and bringing common sense to bear on it.

I told you the position the treasury was in when we took office and you ask why the four million dollars? Again I refer you to the public accounts of the province and if you will examine those public accounts for the years commencing the 1st of March, 1911 and ending the 31st of March, 1917, the last six years of office of the late government, you will find that they averaged an annual deficit of $3,000,000 or $19,800,000 of an aggregate deficit in those six years, and during that time take the millions of dollars received from the sale of lands in this province and yet this amazing deficit, and then they claim credit for building a large mileage of road. They spent three million three hundred thousand dollars a year more than they received, or in other words, every dollar spent on every road and bridge in this province in those six years was borrowed money, and more than that, you are paying through your government interest and sinking fund on the borrowed money and that comes out of the revenue which we have to get.

Let's go into the financial subject along another line. Take revenue. They sold the land, disposed of the timber, disposed of the natural assets with the result that year by year, commencing in 1904 the revenue steadily climbed until in 1912 that revenue was $12,500,000, but they spent not only the revenue but spent three and a half million dollars more than the revenue during that year. Three and a half million more and then what happened? The speculator had all the lands; more lands than he could digest; more lands than he could pay for, and the boom collapsed and the revenue began to drop, but they didn't cut the expenditure; they went on spending money just the same. (Interruption).

As I say, the revenue increased year by year up to twelve and a half million in 19-12-13; then the revenue began to drop; it dropped to ten million dollars; dropped to seven million dollars, and the last year they were in office the revenue was $6,291,000; but they spent $10,000,000, and by that leaving $4,00,000 for us to meet, and I was called upon to take office and meet the demands of this province with the revenue just about one half of what the expenditure called for. What was the only thing for us to do? We had to go and raise the taxes and we raised those taxes in a great many different ways. We restored the very objectionable poll tax, and if we had had to go to the people that year, why there wouldn't have been a vestige of us left. Yet we knew when we put that tax on, we were as popular as a pole-cat at one of your picnics. (Laughter).

But what were we to do under the circumstances? Somebody said tax the excess profits. Show us where they are and we will tax them. What about this tax on excess profits? Doesn't that mean tax on income? If some of you are not paying enough we will quite willingly accommodate you. What about the tax on income? The late government collected $296,000 tax on incomes. What do you think we have done? We collected two million dollars. Do you think we have raised it enough, 700 per cent? Tell us where the man is who has those excess profits; we want to get after him. We need the money. Do you know we are receiving 10 per cent on income from some of the producers of this province?

A Voice—What about the bootlegger?

The Premier—That is just the man I want to see; the bootlegger is just the man I want to see (Laughter). I am told the bootleggers are making excess profits and I want to get after them because we want the money.

A Voice—There are lots here.

The Premier—Lots here; all right, you have got a mayor and police force; just turn them over to the chief of police, will you. What about taxation? Mr. Bowser says he is going to get the revenue from the natural resources. What are our natural resources—coal, minerals and lumber. We are taxing corporations ten per cent on incomes over $26,000.

The Premier—Sixty cents a ton on coal; I have to pay $14.50, so someone must be getting some profit. (Laughter.) But I want to say to you right here and now, that we have to produce coal in competition with coal produced elsewhere. We have to produce lumber in competition with lumber produced elsewhere and the producers say they are taxed about all they can stand. What is the condition then? Isn't there more coal mines that could be worked to a full extent? Isn't there a lot of lumber mills closed down that could be producing lumber? Idon't know how the tax can be put on if there is no coal produced or lumber manufactured.

A Voice—Why not stop the importation of coal?

The Premier—My friend had better take the British North America Act and read it carefully and he would know the province has no power whatever over imports. Talk to your Dominion representative. You don't go to a coal mine to get shavings; you go to a workshop. (Laughter). If you want to stop the importation of coal go to the Dominion government; talk to your Dominion representative. That is not in my line.

Let's go a little bit further with taxation. Your municipalities are all complaining they haven't got enough revenue; the government hasn't got enough revenue; nobody has. The coal miner, the lumberman, everybody is complaining they haven't got revenue enough. Where does it all go? That is the question we would like to find out. I said the revenue decreased by about one-half; the annual expenditure $10,000,000 and $6,000,000 revenue to meet it, and we had to increase the revenue by way of taxation. We are not selling lands. We have not got them to sell and couldn't get the settlers to give anything in the shape of revenue and we had to raise the revenue in other ways. We were not in a position to go and borrow money to carry on without having to show the monied men that we would increase the revenue and we would raise it by taxation as the only way. And we have raised the revenue, At the end of the first year we raised the revenue to $8,000,000; at the end of the second year we had raised the revenue to over ten million dollars; and at the end of the third year of office we had raised the revenue to thirteen and three-quarter million dollars. What do you say? You must have lots of money? No; the needs of the people have increased faster than the increase in revenue. I can't tell you interest we have got to pay on the debt year by year for this very railway obligation is increased over a million dollars more than it was in 1912. Our sinking funds have increased $700,000 a year more than it was in 1912. The maintenance of hospitals has increased by several hundreds of thousands of dollars, and peaking of hospitals, I agree with Mr. Fisher and Dr. King, we have got to give more support or they cannot meet the demands made upon them. We have got to go to the people of the province for that increased revenue, for our revenue is just the same as in other lines—as the needs increase we must have more revenue. Do you know we are spending now over eight hundred thousand dollars more on education than in 1912, and we have not anywhere near enough money. We are spending this year in the neighborhood of three or four hundred thousand dollars on new school buildings, and we require at least one million two hundred thousand dollars to meet the necessity of the case. And are we, the people of the Province of British Columbia, going to take the position before the people of the world that we are not able to educate our children as they ought to be educated? I say you ought to be ashamed. I look and see the smiling faces here and the way you are dressed here today, and I couldn't and you couldn't conscientiously say you are not going to educate your children. It is a shame not to do so, and yet when asked to provide money, and when we come to you with taxes to provide money for the education of your children you find fault. We simply cannot exercise the power of the Almighty and create something out of nothing.

Now I want to pass on to another question. My friend down in the corner seemed vey interested in the fate of the bootlegger. I propose to put the bootlegger out of business. (Laughter). What is the position of this liquor question in the Province of British Columbia. I can go back to 1907 and 1908, when there was a strong agitation for local option in this province. Temperance friends, and they are friends of mine, never let up the agitation with the late government to bring about the Prohibition Act. That Prohibition Act was put before the legislature in 1916 and was to come into force, if supported by a majority vote of the people of this province. It was referred to the people of this province at the last general election and the people by a seven or eight thousand majority voted in favor of that bill, but there were a great many thousands who had gone overseas to fight in the war and as right and proper they were asked to vote on that question.

A Voice—Some of them.

The Premier—Yes, some of them, only some of them, but the general opinion was all were being asked and that was the desire of the people. The time for voting was extended over seas to the end of the year. The election took place in September but on that vote the soldiers were given to the end of the year and this government sent agents over there with instructions to take the vote, to collect and to take the vote overseas; and after the end of the year was over we got a return of the vote. What was suggested was that the vote in favor in this province had been wiped out and that Prohibition had been defeated by some 822 votes. I have the official return here, because I know you people are interested in the fate of the bootlegger. (Laughter).

Officially defeated by 822; then the next step; our temperance friends came to the government and said there had been fraud overseas in connection with taking the vote; serious frauds, and they said, pass that as a war measure. That was their demand, pass that as a war measure, and as I was very close to the late premier, he said: "No, this is a referendum to be decided by the votes of the people; if it is to be done as a war measure the only authority is the government at Ottawa. But," he said, "the only thing to do with this is to send a committee over there and have an investigation into the alleged frauds. (Interruption). We proposed to send a commission and we proposed to investigate the frauds. I want to impress upon you, I don't care whether you are temperance people or not, but I believe in fair play first, last and all the time, and I want to impress this upon your minds. If there was fraud perpetrated it was by the appointees of the Bowser government. It was their agents who were taking that vote and if there was fraud it was perpetrated by the Bowser government, and when we proposed to have the frauds investigated it was necessary to pass legislation to investigate those frauds, and we did bring a bill authorizing that investigation, and what do you think happened when we proposed that bill? Just let me read the division—Pooley, Schofield, Jones, A. McDonald, Rose, Bowser, Ross, Shatford and Cowper, all voting against the investigation of those frauds; everyone voting against it.

Now what I submit to you is this, that if Premier Bowser intended an honest election why should he refuse to have the frauds investigated? However, we appointed a royal commission that went overseas and investigated. I have their report here. They found there were 3796 legitimate votes cast in that election and they found there were 4697 fraudulent votes cast; 4697 fraudulent votes cast. Sixty per cent of the votes cast over there were frauds, and we had in the legislature two members of the legislature who were overseas at the time, and they stood in their places on the floor of the house and they said they had voted twice against prohibition overseas.

Now following the report of that commission we brought into force the Prohibition Act and also upon the bringing into force of that Act the Dominion government passed an order in council prohibiting importation of liquor into British Columbia; because you probably know that the Prohibition Act did not prevent people getting liquor without the province and bringing it into the province for their own use. That was permissible, but the Dominion government passed an order in council as a war measure, prohibiting the importation of liquor into the province and that continued until after the close of the war.

During the years 1918 and 1919 we had an epidemic and medical authorities prescribed liquor as medicine. They prescribed it for the flu and when medical men prescribed two quarts of Scotch, a great many of them afterwards always had what came to be known as "two quart colds." A great many people have been suffering from colds since that time.

There was a great deal of unfavorable comment against the government for the alleged non-enforcement of the Prohibition Act, and as you know the doctors' prescriptions came to be quite a public scandal, and it was suggested the Temperance Act should be tightened up against the issuing of prescriptions, and later amendments were made as to the amount prescribed, but about that time, when the last amendment was passed, the Dominion war order in council was withdrawn and importation again permitted. Why it was amazing the sudden dropping off of the two-quart colds. It wasn't necessary to have a two quart cold any more. All you had to do was to send to Calgary and get it. You didn't need a doctor's prescription. You could send for whiskey and have it come in a case or a carload, and then was the hardest time for the bootlegger, which my friend is so interested about.

In 1919 there was a Moderation League formed. It was formed by people who believed they had the right to have liquor for their own use. They came to the government with a bill all ready drawn and asked the government to pass this bill and the government after looking it over said, "No, not at this time. This is not the time." "Why?" "Because the returned soldiers have not come back." But let me tell you, by bringing down the Prohibition Bill in 1917 it was objected to on the ground the men overseas had had no say in the matter, and we said, after these men come back and conditions had become normal that we would submit this question to the people. In 1919 the Moderation League came and wanted legislation. I said "No, these men have not come back, conditions have not settled down, and a vote would not be satisfactory and would not give a true indication. Another reason was, the voters list was loaded up with absentees and dead men and under the old election law there was too much opportunity for fraud to be perpetrated. We intended then to bring in a new Elections Act, and clean the voters' list. We brought down a new Elections Act, which, I venture to think, is a great improvement. I haven't got the time to go into the merits of that tonight but you will find out more about it by the time the election is over.

Last session the Moderationists came back and presented a petition signed by thouands of names of people of this province, asking that the question be re-submitted. We brought a Bill authorizing a plebiscite, which you voted on a couple of weeks ago, and I frankly say I didn't expect the verdict you gave, but you have given your verdict and you people of this province have to be given the effect of that verdict by legislation at the next session of the legislature. Our government has been censured by some of our temperance friends. They say, you should not have submitted the question at this time; that is just what the Moderationists told us in 1916, we shouldn't have submitted it. Now if it was good for our temperance friends to have the question submitted in 1916, why isn't it good to have it re-submitted in 1920. Let's be logical and reasonable in these matters. However, it was submitted and now we are blamed for going to the expense of a special election and we should have submitted it to the people at a general election. I want to say if you had this along at a general election, we would have this question mixed up with the records of the different political parties, with the result that when you had the verdict you wouldn't know what the people meant by it, because of the number of issues at the time. Now whether you agree or disagree, the government has taken the responsibility of submitting it at a time separate from any other question, because I wanted a clear cut verdict upon which we can pass legislation. Now that is the position just at present and you will say, what does government control mean?

As I understand government control, the people desire liquor available for use in reasonable quantities at reasonable prices and under restrictions which will prevent abuses. I believe the people are tired of the bootlegger, and I believe the people would like the liquor traffic absolutely and finally stamped out, and I say the legislation passed should have that effect. Will it have that effect? The position is this: the people of this province have settled the principle of what they want, and how that is to be given effect is for the representatives in the legislature to decide. Mr. Fisher tells you he sometimes differs from myself. He may have a different opinion. We have 47 members in the legislature and I venture to say no two of those members will see exactly alike in every detail of that legislation, but these members will be given the opportunity to discuss these questions with the members of the cabinet, who will come before you and then you will naturally elect the man whose views most nearly coincide with your own, and your instructions will be brought about by debates and during private conversations. The man whom you elect will have discussed this question with you and he will be in a position to go before the legislature and say just how far you want to go in this question. What is true with you will be true of all the different constituencies. The question will be asked: Are there no limits? Are the legislators to have a free hand? I say yes; you have settled the question of what you want by your verdict in the ballot box, and only details of the legislation and how your verdict is to be given effect, is before the legislature to be given consideration, and the members will be absolutely free to work out the legislation to give effect to that verdict. And it will be said, and it has been said, that Oliver has tried to evade the question. You never saw me try to evade anything yet. I don't have to. Why don't I have to? Because there is nothing you can give me that I really need and there is nothing I have that you can lawfully take away from me; that is why. I stand an absolute free man. I don't have to be a member of the government to live. I have been a working man and I can still work. I never took a dependent position in my life and I am not going to now for the sake of stopping in public life, when I cannot be as free as anyone. I intend to be free and so long as you give me your confidence I will stay with the job, and I am going to stay quite a while yet. (Applause).

How are you going to supply liquor and prevent abuses? How are you going to shut out the bootlegger? Unfortunately the power of the local legislature is limited. The local legislature has no power to prevent importation or exportation; and the local legislature has no power to prevent the manufacture of liquor in the province, but we have the power and the right, as the people of British Columbia, to go to the parliament of Canada, and we have the right to say, "The people of British Columbia want the liquor handled in a certain manner." We have the right to say to the parliament of Canada, "We want legislation to enable us to deal with this question as the people of British Columbia desire it to be dealt with," and I venture to think if we can, as a united poeple, demand that right from the parliament of Canada, I venture to think we will get there.

Now there is a great deal of difference of opinion on the question that importation should be solely with the government. Well my view, and I am speaking personally, and I think sane and reasonable. It is this; we shall go to the Dominion parliament and obtain legislation which will give us effective control over the source of supply, whether that source of supply is importation or manufacture within the province; and we should be given control to the extent that is necessary for the efficient control of liquor sales in the province. We must check the stocks of the wholesale dealer who deals in liquor either import or export and we must be able to check the stocks and books of the people manufacturing within the province of British Columbia; otherwise the so-called government control will not be effective.

As to the distribution to the individual there will be many ideas on that subject. Personally and I say personally advisedly, control of the individual would be the means of a permit system, but these are details which can only be worked out by your representatives in the legislature after they have discussed the matter with you during the process of this election. That is the position of the government in this matter.

Another phase, the government has been blamed for not administering or not enforcing the Act properly. If you read the Prohibition Act you would know the responsibility lies in Section 29 of that act. You will find every provincial and every municipal authority is charged with the enforcement of that Act. What follows; if you are reasonable about it you will learn that 86 per cent of the people of the province being in municipalities 86 per cent having control of the enforcement of that Act is in municipal authorities. Now where have the evasions of that Act been. Have they been in the unorganized districts or in municipalities? You know just as well as I know that the bulk of the breaches have been in municipalities, so should not the criticism be directed to the municipal authorities because that is the provision of the Act itself.

Why has not this Act been enforced in the municipalities? From municipalites, represenatves have come to the government and they have said; "We have got to have revenue to meet our requirements and by your temperance legislation you have taken away our liquor licenses and saddled us with the expense of enforcing that Act; an Act which only received a scant if it received any majority at all. You force the administration of the Act on us without our consent, and they say if we seize a stock of liquor the Crown takes possession and we are not allowed to have anything for the liquor. The Act provides a gaol sentence; the offender must be sent to gaol if there is an offence against the Act and we have to maintain him at the expense of the municipality, so you have not merely taken away that source of revenue from the municipality, but you have put on an additional expense and have given nothing." Now with the large proportion of the people in the municipalities and the objection to that Act, if we hope to have proper enforcement of the new law, you must have the municipalities to enforce the law. How the municipality should be considered is for the legislature to say, but speaking for myself, and I think I represent my colleagues in this matter, we say this: That a substantial proportion of any revenue which accrues from the operation of the proposed law should be handed to the municipality; should be handed to the municipality because of the obligation to enforce it. We will say that all costs of the prosecution of offenders should be a charge against the revenue under that law the cost of maintaining prisoners should be a charge against the revenue which accrues under that law.

Then the question of selling liquor to minors. I have no hesitation in saying as far as I am personally concerned, I shall certainly favor an Act which will prohibit the sale of liquor to boys and girls under 21 years of age. (Applause.)

Now let us deal with these matters frankly and fairly. Mr. Bowser takes the position—He says the government should prepare an Act and submit that Act for the consideration of the people. I say no, and I say so by reason of experience under the administration of the late Act. What is the position? You prepare an Act and submit it to the people—and I believe in the referendum—who approves of that Act in all its details, and you find the Act defective; it has to be strengthened. Then the question at once arises that you are changing an Act the people voted for and you should submit the changes to the people. But it also makes it more difficult to administer, and I think it far better the people should settle the principles of this legislation and that their representatives in parliament should work out the details for this reason. After years of operation there has been found some defect in that Act and not as intended to work out. Then the legislature brings in amending legislation and cures the defect, and it in for that reason you get the best law.

What would be my position today if I were preparing a bill at the time of a general election? What would be my position in drafting that legislation? The thought uppermost in my mind would be how to frame the bill so as to make it the least objectionable to the people; that would be the dominant thought; but if I don't prepare the bill until after the election is over the position is changed and I shall use my best endeavors to make the bill workable so that in the working out of the law it will accomplish the effect we are looking for. I say you can have a far better bill under those conditions.

Now ,ladies and gentlemen, there are other things I would like to discuss tonight, but the hour is getting late and I have been speaking every night and I expect to speak nearly every night until the 1st of December. I am very glad to have the opportunity of discussing these questions with you and in conclusion I wish to say that we, you and I, citizens of this province, are carrying on work much more serious and much more elastic than we realize. We have in the province of British Columbia an area of some 393 thousand square miles, and we have less than two people to every square mile of territory in this province; less than two people to every square mile of territory. We have natural resources which will maintain a population of millions of people, and if you and I realize that today dealing with our natural resources, by putting legislation on the statute books and laying the foundation that cannot be moved or only moved a certain extent. We are laying the foundation in our daily life and let those foundations be laid on the rock of equity, the rock of justice, the rock of recognizing the rights of our fellow men is equal to that which we claim for ourselves. Unless you lay the foundation of justice and righteousness and recognize your duty to the future generation, our work will not stand the test of time. I say, take all things into serious consideration and lay the foundation on the solid rock so that the future generations may build on that foundation in all sense of security. (Loud applause).

DOMINIONS GET EMIGRANTS

Despite the loss of approximately a million lives during the war Britain today is beginning to voice the query: "Have we a surplus population?"

That there is a surplus of women is incontestible. Conservative estimates put the excess of females over males at 1,250,000. But, although there are no official figures to guide one, the calculation is made that England's population has increased at least a million since 1914, and the plain fact seems to be that there is no room in the island for many more people—nor, inded, in the opinion of many writers, for the present population.

"In spite of the enormous sacrifices of human life made by this country in the war, Great Britain still has a surplus of population," comments the Daily Mail. "The war stopped the outflow, and now, after making allowance for war losses, there must be two million men and women waiting to leave our shores. They are going as fast as ships can be found to carry them, and a large proportion, it is satisfactory to learn, are going to countries under the British flag."

There is in this the keynote of Britain's new emigration policy. The people who leave the home island are going to the dominions in preference to submerging their nationality under alien flags. Canada and Australia are claiming the majority. Up to 1914 about 400,000 emigrants left the British Isles every year, and of these, in the five years before the war, Canada received an average of 131,420 annually. During the six years following 1914, however, only 59,603 people have left Britain for Canada, and this includes the figures for the two post-war years.

Especial efforts are being made to stimulate female emigration to the dominions. While the surplus of males in the overseas territories is not so great as it was before the war it is still, to some extent, existent. The women who are making their preparations to leave are chiefly those who engaged actively in some form of war work and who have acquired in some measure both the urge to move on—the wanderlust—and the ability to take care of thmselves under strange surroundings.

PERU IS DEVELOPING MARVELLOUSLY

Tucked away on the west coast of South America, just where the continent bulges out into the Pacific like the prow of a ship, lies the republic of Peru, which until the opening of the Panama canal, was one of the least known and most inaccessible of all the South American countries.

Perhaps its only connection with Canada has been through the International Petroleum Co., a sub sidiary of the Imperial Oil, which operates there and has a staff of Canadians.

This very isolation and its remoteness from the usual ocean routes caused the country, which ranks third in size among the South American republics, to be somewhat backward in its commencial development. The Panama canal, however, has changed all this, and the European war, coming at about the same time as the completion of the canal and bringing in its train unheard of prices for Peru's principal products, has caused this marvelously rich country to develop and expand in a way that its own people can scarcely credit.

The people are kindly, hospitable, very courteous and altogether a very charming race, carrying down to the present day many of the traditions of the days of the Spanish vice-regency, when Peru was the seat of Spain's power in the new world and its capital, Lima, was the favorite object of attention of the Spanish sovereigns. Founded by that greatest of all the conquistadores, Pizarro, Lima received the coveted distinction of a coat of arms from the Spanish court, and in this democratic capital of the New World republ'c is seen today on every hand the coat of arms bearing the three crowns, denoting that it had thrice been decorated for conspicuous service to the motherland, and, as a special mark of distinction, the initials K. and J., Karolus and Joana, the old names of the Spanish sovereigns, Carlos and Juana.

SETTLERS COMING INTO FORT STEELE DISTRICT

Settlers still continue to arrive at Fort Steele. During the past week truckloads of settlers effects may be seen passing through the business district. Recently F. Estay arrived from High River and the same day a car of effects arrived for him. Mr. Estay is taking charge of the Forest and Mines Products, Ltd., a concern operating a sawmill near Fort Steele. The head office of the company is located at Edmonton, Alta., and was until recently in charge of J. M. Agnew, an old Cranbrook lumberman, who is returning to headquarters. Still another arrival in the historic town of Fort Steele is William Clarke, who, after investigating conditions, decided to take up residence in Steele, being impressed with its marvellous opportunities and great agricultural wealth. A large influx of prairie farmers is expected in the Fort Steele district before winter takes a firm grip on the situation, although the climatic conditions in Steele are ideal.—Cranbrook Courier.

TYPHUS THREATENS WESTERN NATIONS

War and famine have brought about a typhus epidemic in eastern Europe which threatens, if not arrested, to extend its ravages to western countries. In view of the international danger, Mr. Balfour, in the name of the council of the League of Nations, has issued an appeal to the various governments for the immediate provision of £250,000 out of the £10,000,000 needed. Recent military events only make the need more urgent. Mr. Balfour in the course of his letter writes: "An eminent doctor, who has just returned from Russia, says that it has been swept from end to end by typhus, that scarcely a town or village has escaped; and that half the doctors engaged in combatting the plague have died. Every competent authority is at one in thinking that the evil is on the increase. It is safe to conclude that, unless effective steps are immediately taken, the plague will be far more deadly in the winter of 1920-21 than it was in the winter of 1919-1920. If the plague be allowed to spread unchecked from Russia to Poland, it will assuredly spread from Poland to her western and southern neighbors. In central Europe every circumstance — moral and material — favors the disease. A population, weakened by war and famine, is living in conditions which, even were it vigorous and well fed, would make resistance to infection difficult or impossible. As infection spreads it becomes harder to deal with, and no European country, not perhaps even an island like Great Britain, can count itself wholly safe if Poland be allowed to succumb. The disease is one which attacks with peculiar severity men in the prime of life. It is thus the breadwinner of the family that is stricken down by death or long-drawn-out illness, and whole families become a charge on the community through the misfortune of a single member."

FOOLS AND THEIR MONEY

Avast amount of wealth was accumulated during the war. Some of it went to those accustomed to handling great sums and fitted to do so wisely. Much of it went to persons of a directly opposite type. It is these who are putting it back into circulation with dazzling rapidity, and the sooner they make a complete job of it the better ,for it is the way to more normal distribution. After all ,that old Scriptural saying about the fool and his money is not so much a warning as a promise. So long as a fool has his gold, he is dangerous and his wealth is a menace; but the minute he begins to part with it, there is a chance that some of it, at least, will fall into wiser hands.—Tacoma Tribune.

"IT CERTAINLY WAS A BLESSING TO ME"

Feels She Can Never Pay the Debt of Gratitude She Owes Tanlac

"I can never pay the debt of gratitude I owe for the wonderful good Tanlac has done me," said Mrs. F. G. Roberts, Burnaby, B.C., while telling recently of her recovery since taking the medicine.

"I have certainly gone through my share of suffering," she continued, "for during the past four years I was in miserable health. My appetite was so poor that nothing appealed to me, not even the most tempting dishes, and when I forced myself to eat a little something it didn't taste good and would cause terrible cramps in my stomach. I had an awful burning in my chest and my heart palpitated so bad it would frighten me. I was always constipated and had such fearful headaches they nearly drove me frantic. My nerves were so upset the rustle of a newspaper startled me and there was hardly any sleep for me at night. My back pained me so bad I could hardly turn in bed, and many a time when morning came I was not able to get up at all.

"Tanlac was certainly a blessing to me and I am now thankful that I began taking it before it was too late. I have taken only four bottles, but it made such a wonderful change in my condition that I don't feel or act like the same woman and I am in better health than I have been for years. My digestion is so fine that I can now eat anything I want without suffering the least bit afterward. My back never pains me at all, the headaches are gone and I am no longer constipated. My nerves have calmed down so that now I can sleep sound every night and I is no trouble for me to do my housework. I am perfectly willing for you to put my statement in the paper, for I am delighted with Tanlac and am pleased to tell others about it."

OIL IN THE NORTH

(Toronto Globe)

The necessity for more accurate information on Canada's mineral resources was urged by Dr. J. A. Allen of Alberta University at the Western convention of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, because he believed that that province was on the verge of what might be the greatest oil boom that had ever occurred on the American continent. The subject was also discussed by Mr. E. S. Whiteside, the President of the Institute, who declared that, "because of general ignorance concerning mining matters, the public as a whole were failing to realize the greatness of their own heritage and were allowing it to pass out of their hands into the control of others."

In anticipation of great oil discoveries the Dominion government ought to make it clear that the nation must have a fair share of its patrimony. At present the only returns come from fees for leasing privileges. For the year ending March 31, 1919, there were in force under the regulations 3172 petroleum and natural gas leases, embracing 1,109,934 acres, distributed as follows: Manitoba, four leases, 1053 acres; Saskatchewan, 91 leases, 41,888 acres; Alberta, 2861 leases, 973,621 acres; British Columbia, 253 leases, 84,412 acres, and in the Territories, eight leases, 8960 acres. The total revenue derived from petroleum lands during the year was $106,166. This revenue was from license fees of fixed sums, but the country does not participate in the output. There are no royalties on the oil produced, but, on the contrary, a bounty of one and one-half cents a gallon. If great gushers are struck in the north the country under present regulations may be obliged to pay large sums for the exploitation of its own resources. The danger of alienation to which Mr. Whiteside referred is shown by the incorporation of a San Francisco company with a capital of $3,000,000 to take over a number of leases held by Edmonton parties.

Mexico may not be a model to follow for administrative methods, but President de la Huerta was fully alive to the importance of the oil industry. In an address to the Congress of Mexico he stated that steps have been taken "toward the elaboration of regulations governing the exploration and exploitation of this industry," and one of the regulations includes a royalty of 15 per cent of the production. These regulations cannot be oppressive because prospectors are continually seeking new fields in that Republic, and "it is noteworthy," he says, "that the new interests that are being created under our laws are offsetting the opposition of the oil operators dissatisfied with the principle of the nationalization of the sub-soil." Oppressive regulations would block the industry, but "it can be said without fear of being mistaken," declared the President, "that upon the completion of the majority of the wells located in the Federal zones the government will receive, under the caption of revenues, a sum of money so large that it will suffice to cover nearly all of its expenses."

The dissipation of resources has had its day in Canada, and the government must take steps to secure an adequate share without, however, discouraging the enterprise necessary for their development.

AIMS TO CO-OPERATE WITH SCHOOL BOARDS OF PROVINCE

(Cranbrook Herald)

In view of the fact that the teachers of the Cranbrook district are endeavoring to get a branch of the B.C. Teachers' Federation organized here, or a teachers' institute as they are sometimes called, a statement of the aims of that body, as set forth by H. Charlesworth, the secretary, is of interest. Mr. Charlesworth is expected in the city shortly to meet the teachers in regard to formal organization of an institute here. In speaking at the recent convention of the B. C. School Trustees, Association, held at Nelson, Mr. Charlesworth gave an address on "Co-Operation for Educational Progress." He made a powerful appeal for closer relationship between the organizations of the trustees and teachers. The teachers' federation had for its aim, he said, co-operation in ideals and practice, and was not formed for any kind of class warfare.

Their first interest was to raise the status of the profession, not salaries, realizing that they were not employed so much in teaching facts, but in preparing pupils to meet life. They were bearing in mind that they had more to do than make of the children future citizens. They must teach them to be real children while they were young.

They wished to see the profession made more attractive for men. The period of training should be lengthened; they had caused it to be extended to twelve months, but wanted this to be doubled. Teachers were not to be given permanent certificates until they had proved their worth in the field. Another improvement had been effected whereby a second-class certificated teacher could qualify for a first by a university course.

Reading courses for teachers in rural schools had been arranged, and were a great boon to those in the outlying districts. Of the teachers now engaged in the province 2300 belonged to the federation, which was doing great work between the profession and the department, as well as also smoothing out the difficulties between teachers and trustees. He strongly urged the co-operation of the school boards in a campaign of education for parents to get them receptive to the new ideas that must be operative in training the young.

A HOT CAKE RECIPE

MARS FORETOLD BOMB PLOT?

The Wall Street bomb explosion was clearly presaged in the heavens! Says Frank Theodore Allen, director of Astrological Research Bureau, Washington, D.C.: "It is absolutely impossible that such an event could occur without being in some way quite definitely foreshadowed upon the scroll of the heavens!" With this he goes on to prove in a lengthy article that, "by the dangerous and menacing position and aspect of the fiery and explosive Mars in the house of money and in combination with very erratic aspects centering in the house of speculation . . . some sort of a disastrous blow-out resulting in terrific excitement involving the money interests of New York was most clearly suggested." To show that he did foresee some such thing, he quotes extracts of his August forecast as follows:

"Mars in the second (house of money) endangers high expenditures, waste, losses and extravagance, also failures, robberies, excited speculation or wild excitement on the stock exchange . . . a smash in speculative affairs. . . . something like a rich man's panic. . . I do not see that the general public will suffer seriously from whatever may result from this threatening combination — so why worry?"

Taking this matter in all seriousness, we feel that we owe a debt of gratitude to Mars for thus putting himself out and taking up such a 'dangerous and menacing position" merely to let us poor mortals learn of impending disaster. Just why we were not more definitely informed ahead of time, so that steps could have been taken to prevent the tragedy, is carefully explained by the learned director as being "for the same reason that it is impossible for even the most capable physician to foresee and predict the illnesses that befall his many friends, kin and neighbors, because it is not possible for him to give each the very intimate and exhaustive examination and study necessary to make a diagnosis and declare an opinion. But after anyone has been stricken, then the physician can readily trace out the train of events and conditions that inevitably led to the illness."

What could be more sensible and convincing—almost as convincing as a "movie" press agent. Nevertheless, it seems pitiful that great Mars, having gone so far, should have deemed it beneath his fiery dignity to have gone a little farther and disclosed the whole plot.

To tell the truth, that explosive gentleman did not even make himself as startlingly convincing as Edwin P. Fischer, who admitted that his source of information was a recollection of the fateful warning contained in his high school Julius Caesar—'Remember March, the Ides of March remember"—and combining that with the indisputable fact that the Ides of September was exactly six months later. Fischer was put in an insane asylum, but we can hardly do that to Mars. In fact, we almost doubt that gigantic Mars, blazing away in his distant position in the mighty universe, had anything at all to do with the matter, and are inclined to credit the lunacy to almanac makers.

The ingenious Frank Theodore has managed to take to himself quite an imposing title from which one would naturally infer that his "Astrological Research Bureau, D.C.," was a first cousin to if not actually more important than the official "weather bureau itself — a relationship which the "weather bureau" would be very quick to repudiate.

The scientific men of the stars deny there is any sense whatever in astrology. To them it is mediaeval "bunk."

Mr. Blake, of the Toronto Observatory, states that it is "all trash and has not an atom of scientific foundation on which to stand."

The other planets have a decided influence on the earth," says Mr. Blake, "as illustrated by the tides and the fact that all life would become extinct if the sun were to fail to shine; but, outside of that, the planets run their natural course through the heavens, with very little regard as to the individual atoms of humanity invisible on the face of the tiny earth."

The stars can influence the lives and minds of those who study their greatness, and the moon has long been given credit for her silver influence over lovers and such stargazers, but as for the quack horoscopes which pretend to foretell events and individual fates and fill patent medicine almanacs with weather guesses, they are the relics of ancient superstition and can only be "put over" on ignorant, gullible people. They are the result of human machinations and cannot be blamed on the mighty, infinite stars.

THE FOREST OF THE TUNG LING

From wall to wall, whoever gets permission to visit the Tung Ling in China, may travel about a hundred miles, and within the wall are forests, mountains, villages, and the magnificent tombs of Manchu emperors. The dynasty is gone, but the great park still belongs to the Manchus, and some member of that once powerful court is always in residence. But within the walls also a change is taking place that some day China will probably regret.

Roy Chapman Andrews, associate curator of mammals at the American Museum of Natural History, New York, has been visiting the Tung Ling to obtain specimens of animal and bird life that is becoming rare in North China and comments in Asia on the wanton destruction of the forest now going on in this wonderful Manchu park.

"Thousands of great trees," he says, "were lying in a ruin of charred and blackened trunks," and where trees had been the farmers were busily preparing the land for cultivation. To increase the agricultural acreage the woodland was being swept away with no thought of the value of the trees and although North China has very little timber, tracts of forest were being recklessly burned; in one case a whole hillside had been carelessly set on fire by a farmer burning brush to clear a small farm. The expostulation of the American traveller merely surprised the farmer. "He had not the faintest idea," says Mr. Andrews, "that burning up that beautiful forest was in the slightest degree reprehensible. Land, whether it be on a hill or in a valley was made to grow crops and to be cultivated by Chinese farmers."

So, for lack of foresight that is nowadays called "conservation," the Tung Ling is on the way to be treeless, and a spot that may be described as one of the most beautiful in all China is likely to become comparatively less valuable. As similar things have happened in other countries it is probable enough that the Chinese government will let the destruction go on, and then wish too late that it had purchased the mountains and forests of the Tung Ling from their Manchu owners and made the place, which is less than 100 miles from Peking, a national park.

ELAINE HAMMERSTEIN IN "WHISPERS"

Elaine Hammerstein, the charming Selznick star, will be seen in a new emotional drama, "Whispers," at the Orpheum theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

Probably no star has risen with such a steadily flowing tide of popularity than this talented young performer. Ever since she appeared in her first Selznick picture, "The Country Cousin," she has been know and liked by Mr. and Mrs. Everybody in this wide country.

In "Whispers" Miss Hammerstein has a dramatic role that is tinged with tragedy and topped off with a pleasing touch of comedy. As the adopted daughter of a scheming aunt, who is trying to force the girl into a money marriage, Miss Hammerstein has a role expressly made for her. She metts a newspaper reporter, becomes involved in a scaore of complications stirred by the slandal tongues of a whispering community and falls heir to an adventure that brings the play to the pinnacle of emotion.

This privilege is also made retroactive.

MR. JOHN E. GUILDERSON

"I suffered with Rheumatism for five years, having it so badly at times I was unable to get up without assistance.

I tried different medicines I saw advertised and was treated by doctors in Amherst, also in my home town, but the Rheumatism came back.

In 1916, I saw in an advertisement that 'Fruit-a-tives' would stop Rheumatism, and took one box and got relief; then I took them right along for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since.

Anyone who would care to write me as regards 'Fruit-a-tives' I would be glad to tell them what 'Fruit-a-tives' did for me."

LITTER OF SYMPATHY

Miss Mary Dragon is in receipt of the following letter from the National Athletic Club, of Vancouver, regarding the death of her brother, John Dragon:

Vancouver.

Dear Miss Dragon—Permit me to convey to you the deepest personal sympathy in the death of your brother, Johnny, who I was closely acquainted with while playing for our hockey team, the Nationals, in the year 1918. The news of his death, when told by Carl Dahl, who works here with me, shocked me terribly, and on informing his other team mates and friends they were also deeply moved.

As we heard nothing about it until recently we would have done our best to send a representative of the club to the funeral had we known in time. "Babs" had a great number of friends here, practically everyone looked forward to seeing him perform again in hockey where he made quite a name for himself.

Carl Dahl gave me the clipping, and along with a picture of him in his uniform I am inserting it in the "Province." I am also sending a couple of the pictures which he had taken but were never called for. The picture will appear in the paper in a couple of days as a cut has to be made.

In doing this little bit I feel that I am not doing 1 per cent enough in respect of "Babs" and yet am pleased to be able to show in a very small way my own and his friends' here deep feeling.

Sincerely yours,
Ed. Bayley.

UNANIMOUS FOR HERCHMER

Delegates from all parts of the district to the number of 65 met in Fernie on Monday night to select a standard bearer for the Conservative party in the coming provincial election.

G. G. Jewell, of Caithness, occupied the chair, and after a stirring address by Dr. Bonnell, M.P., called for nominations. Wm. Carlin, of Fort Steele; G. G. Moffatt, of Fernie; A. McCool, of New Michel; and S. Herchmer, of Fernie, were all nominated for the position, but the first three withdrew, making the nomination unanimous for Mr. Herchmer.

Short addresses were then made by a number of delegates from different parts of the district, after which the meeting was brought to a close by an eloquent address from the candidate, who thanked the delegates for the confidence which they had placed in him.

In the selection of Mr. Herchmer as thei rcandidate in the coming election the Conservative party have chosen one of the most public spirited men in the province. Mr. Herchmer came to Fernie aboot twenty years ago after returning from South Africa, where he served as a private during the Boer War, and had the honor to be mentioned twice in dispatches. From the commencement of the Great War in 1914, no citizen took a keener interest than he did in all matters of a patriotic nature, and few worked as hard as he did to further the ends of the numerous committees on which he was always one of the most active members. It is well known to all those who took an interest in the Patriotic Fund that the Fernie Board was responsible for binging about a large number of increased grants, and it is equally well known that the prime mover and one of the most indefatigable workers on the Fernie Board was Mr. Herchmer. The Victory Loans also, which were so generously subscribed to in this district, owed much of their success to the active part which he took in their management. Few citizen will ever forget the terrible scourge of influenza which swept through Fernie in 1917, and the chaotic condition into which the city was plunged through the appalling ravages of the dread disease. With the doctors working night and day, with no hospital accommodation adequate to accommodate a twentieth part of the cases, with whole families in outlying districts lying sick and helpless, it was indeed as desperate a state of affairs as our unfortunate little city has ever been plunged into. It was at this time the desperate straits demanded the leadership of a strong, energetic and resourceful man, and this man was found in Sherwood Herchmer. He closed his office, formed a relief committee and within 48 hours had fully equipped emergency hospitals ready for the reception of patients, the outlying districts under supervision, competent sub-committees at work in every district, and order restored where chaos had reigned. No one can think of the terrible ordeal through which this city passed without remembering him with gratitude and admiration. For two years he held the office of mayor in our city and during that term worked with the same zeal and with the same success which shows itself in any work he undertakes. At that time the streets of the Annex were a mass of stumps making horse traffic an impossibility, but through his efforts and the efforts of Tom Beck, who at that time was one of his aldermen, the Annex streets were cleared, stumped and put in a condition which rendered horse traffic possible. No man has taken keener interest than he has in the welfare of the children of this city, and the citizens have shown their appreciation in his work in this connection by electing him the Chairman of the School Board, which position he has occupied for the last four years. The swings and other apparatus in the school grounds were erected at his instigation, and through his efforts a fund was started for the construction of a swimming pool, and at the present time this fund has to its credit the sum of $2500. In sports of every kind, he has always taken a keen and active interest, and few games committees have ever been formed in the district where his name did not appear in a prominent place on the executive committee. It is a fact, well known not only in Fernie, but throughout the entire district, that whenever Mr. Herchmer takes up anything—it goes. Why? Not only because he is a worker himself (for a man can accomplish little single-handed) but because he has a wonderful gift of inspiring all those associated with him with his own enthusasm, his own zeal, and to a certain extent with his own tremendous capacity for work. Not only this, he is a leader, and like all good leaders, sees to it that his associates and followers work as hard as he works himself. This faculty of inspiring his followers is a great gift and it is being exercised at the present time to a greater ertent than it has ever been exercised before, and its results will be seen on the 1st of December when the electors of the Fernie Riding will stand up for the man who has always worked and stood up for them, and bring him in at the head of the poll.

WILL SAVE THE RINK

The city council observed Armistice Day by holding its regular inital meeting for the current month, His Worship's official proclamation for this day to be observed as a civic holiday notwithstanding.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had followed the formal course a delegation comprised of members of the teaching staff, of which Principal Sheffield was the spokesman, waited upon the council presenting a most earnest appeal to prevent the skating rink passing into oblivion entirely. This eventuality is highly probable, it was explained, on account of the owners of the rink property from the combined heavy financial drain having had their patience exhausted as well as their pocketbooks. Hence the grave possibility of the rink being demolished in order that this permanent financial burden may be removed and some salvage recovered by sale of the iron, etc., of which the building is constructed. Principals Sheffield and Morrison put up very strong pleas for the council to come forward and relieve this situation, whereby the skating rink may continue to be the useful institution of recreation for children and adults alike. Two alternative proposals along this line were suggested. First, that the council take it over and operate it as a civic institution, or secondly that failing this that the city donate light and water gratis this season. The matter was left in the hands of His Worship to act as will best meet the situation within the bounds of reason for operating the rink and a report submitted to the council later.

E. Marsham, fireman at the city power house, advised the council that a recent advance in the schedule for this classification had become effective and requested that he be placed on the new rate of pay of $7.08 per day. The appeal was referred to the fire, water and light committee for consideration and report.

The Fernie Liberal Association wrote with reference to the store premises in the Miners Hall building, declining now to take it owing to the lack of heating facilities therein, but at the some time requesting advice as to whether they had incurred any liability to the city in this connection. It was decided in view of the Association not having occupied the premises and as no definite application to rent same had been received during the interim, that they would call the matter square.

The chief of police reported that two prisoners confined in the city gaol had been removed to the city hospital. They were suffering from pneumonia.

Tenders will be asked for, for certain improved property acquired by the city by the tax sale route and for which an application had been received.

The bylaw covering the contract between the City and the B.C. and Alberta Power Co., received final sanction of the council. It will now be transmitted to the Lt.-Gov. in Council for formal legal approval, following which it becomes binding upon both parties.

The committee of the G.W.V.A. appointed to look after the memormial services on Armistice Day wish to convey their hearty thanks to all who helped in the proceedings of the day, and especially to W. R. Wilson, Hartley Wilson, Wm. Johnston, Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, Mrs. Kastner, Dr. Corsan, Rev. Brown, Rev. Father Kennedy, Rev. Mr. Burns, Mrs. Strawbridge, City Power House Staff, the Salvation Army, George Ramsey and his musicians of the brass, pipe and bugle bands, civic authorities for granting a city holiday, Editor of Free Press and staff.

WILL BE THREE CORNERED FIGHT

Nomination day passed off quietly, three candidates being placed in the field, namely:

A. I. Fisher, Liberal standard bearer, with the following names on his papers : William Workman, Charles McNab, John Caufield, John S. Weir, D. J. Black, Anna Duthie, Dennis Flemming, Benj. Ball, W. W. Douglas, J. J. Worth, H. W. Barr, John A. Lee, J. J. Wood, Buleah Asselstine, J. L. McIntyre.

EXPELLED THE BLOCKERS

(Mail and Empire)

Decisive action was taken by the District Labor Council last night towards eliminating the Socialistic element. The delegates of two organizations, the Butcher Workers and Retail Clerks, unions, were expelled and due notice was served on others of the red element that similar action would be taken in their case unless they changed their tactics. The extremists put up a strong fight before they were finally squelched, and great uproar prevailed, but the moderates had an overwhelming majority of delegates in attendance, and carried all their resolutions. The proceedings were prolonged to such an extent that it was after ten o'clock before President Tom Moore, of the Dominion Trades Congress, was given an opportunity to speak. When he rose he was greeted with cheers, followtd by a volley of boos from the spectators in the gallery.

The chairman threatened to have the gallery cleared unless order was maintained. President Moore when quietness had been restored said he did not desire to have the disturbers removed as he had something special to say to them. The extremist element were always crying for the preservation of free speech, but the moment they found themselves in a minority, they wanted to apply the gag. Mr. Moore refused to deal with the Watters case, because that individual was not present. It had been disposed of at the Windsor convention.

There were three reasons why he had accepted the invitation to address the Council, first because he wanted to refute the statements made regarding himself and the Dominion Congress, secondly as he wanted to try and undo some of the mischief wrought by the spread of the O. B. U. propaganda, and thirdly to endeavor to restore harmonity and unity of action in the labor movement in Toronto. He started by telling the extremists they were traitors to the cause of the workers and that their avowed objects were to disrupt the international labor unions. The tactics that had been pursued in Toronto for the past twelve months or more, both in the Labor Council and in the pages of the Industrial Banner, were precisely the same as pursued in Winnipeg prior to the strikes.

These traitors within the ranks were the advocates of the One Big Union proposition and the promoters of the secessionist movement. These individuals were so dishonest as to sail under false colors and by nefarious, underhand methods they hoped to gain control of the bona fide unions so that they might secure what did not belong to them. The articles and reports appearing in the Industrial Banner were calculated to breed secession, as they proclaimed to the world the fact of a serious feud existing in the ranks of organized labor in Toronto, which had a baneful effect throughout the whole province.

Mr. Moore referred in scathing terms to the attack that had been made on the A. M. of L., and the international officers, and declared the Winnipeg troubles had been financed by the so-called political defence fund of the O. B. U. The extremists in the local council and the publishers of the Industrial Banner endeavored to raise a similar fund in Toronto for precisely similar purposes. Delegates had been sent to the council and per capita tax paid in ome instances on fictitious numbers simply to further the disruptionist movement, which was sheer dishonesty.

Dealing with the Dominion Trades Congress, Mr. Moore said that body was an open forum for bona fide trade unionists, and no delegates were refused admission who presented proper credentials. There was no machine in control of the Congress, as the delegates were elected by the local unions, who in turn elected the Congress officers. With nearly 1000 delegates at the convention, coming from all parts of the Dominion, it could easily be seen that it was impossible to frame up anything.

The Congress was only a legislative body carrying out the wishes and desires of the various craft unions. It should not be made a political body or given powers to order strikes. He believed in political action, but that could only be attained through the Independent Labor Party, and the membership of the latter should be confined to bona fide trade unionists. They did not want outsiders to tell them of their needs or to prescribe for their grievances. He concluded an impassionate address by a recital of what had been accomplished in the way of bettering the condition of the workers through the influence of the Congress, and made a fervent appeal for closer co-operation between all branches of organized labor.

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICE

The anniversary of Armistice Day was fittingly celebrated in this city. A procession consisting of the Great War Veterans, Daughters of the Empire and others was formed at the G. W. V. A. headquarters and proceeded to the Orpheum theatre, where a memorial service was held. From the point of view of Christian unity this servce was unique. The speakers on the platform represented five great religious bodies, viz., Anglicans, Roman Catholics, Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist. Rev. Hamilton Brown, who had served as chaplain overseas, was chairman of the meeting and gave the opening address. This was followed by the singing of hymns and addresses by Rev. Father Kennedy, Rev. W. F. Burns and Mrs. Strawbridge. The speakers in words appropriate for the occasion emphasized the higher meaning of this memorial day. Splendid tributes were paid to those who had made the supreme sacrifice and whose memory was now being honored. Some of the lessons that the Great War has taught us were dwelt upon. It was pointed out that a civilization built upon purely materialistic deals can never be an enduring civilization, that religion must have a larger place in the life of the nation, and the spirit of true brotherhood must be developed.

Those who attended the service will not soon forget the hearty singing of such grand old hymns as "O God our help in ages past," "Onward Christian Soldiers," etc. At the close of the service a tablet containing the names of the fallen was unveiled. This honor fittingly fell to Dr. Corsan, who himself gave two sons to the cause of freedom. The Last Post was then sounded in true army style and the meeting was brought to a close with the Benediction by the chairman.

The G.W.V.A. are to be congratulated on the success of this memorial service and no doubt each successive Armistice Day will see a similar observance.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Trites and Miss Trites returned on Tuesday from a trip to Southern California.

S. Herchmer was one of the speakers at Mr. Bowser's big meeting at Cranbrook on Tuesday evening. He says Mr. Bowser is very confident that the government will be defeated in the forthcoming election.

There are a lot of people kicking about the moral standard of some of the dances which have been pulled off in Fernie lately. The mayor might make it a point to either attend himself or have the chief of police present to act as censor.

THIS LIBERAL ADMINISTRATION

Has revised and improved Educational Laws and Regulations, giving better opportunities to children in isolated districts to secure an education. Its Health Department has given valuable assistance in the training of rural nurses. It has provided for venereal disease control. It has broadened the course in manual training, domestic science, night schools and agricultural teaching. It has provided schools for mentally deficient children, the deaf and dumb. It has established a school for the education of the blind, and a Provincial Technical School. It has provided for financing the erection of buildings for the University of British Columbia. BROUGHT HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

Mrs. Graves Says Tanlac Made A Wonderful Change In Her Condition

"Tanlac has given me health and happiness and I am now ready to express my thanks and gratitude for this wonderful medicine," recently said Mrs. H. Graves, 482 Twenty-fourth Ave., East, Vancouver, B.C.

"For the past two years my health had been so bad that life was hardly worth living," she explained, "and all the time I felt just like I was ready to give up. I underwent several operations, but instead of getting better I grew weaker and weaker until I was almost a wreck. My appetite was so poor that the most tempting things could not make me eat and many times all I could take was a cup of tea. It was hard for me to retain anything on my stomach and for hours after a meal I felt nauseated and stuffy. Nearly every day I had terrible headache spells that almost drove me wild, and my husband would have to bathe my head in cold water to ease the pains. I had dreadful pains in my back and I could not stoop over without having a sharp pain that felt like a knife cutting me. My sleep was so restless I woke up at all hours of the night, and every morning I was so tired I felt like I just couldn't get out of bed. My nerves were so unstrung the street car nearly drove me frantic, and if I was riding in an automobile I'd get so nervous that I would almost jump out of the car.

"One of the neighbors advised me to try Tanlac, but before I took it I asked the doctor what he thought about it and he said, 'Yes, go get it; that is just what you need.' I took four bottles of Tanlac and now I am so happy over what it has done for me that I am telling all my friends about it. My appetite is splendid and I am enjoying everything I eat, for it all agrees with me and I am never troubled one bit afterwards. The pains in my back have entirely disappeared and I haven't had one of those headaches since I started taking Tanlac. My nerves are steady and at night I sleep as sound as a child. I am gaining in weight and strength every day and I am overjoyed at the wonderful change Tanlac has made in me."

COMMUNICATION

59 Blackwood St.,
New Westminster,
Nov. 5, 1920.

Editor Fernie Free Press,
Fernie, B.C.

Dear Mr. Editor—Would you be kind enough to allow me space in your next issue for the following communication, so as to correct the wrong impression which must have been created by Mr. Santoni's letter that appeared in your paper of Oct. 29th.

Mr. Santoni is taking to task Rev. Father Kennedy, O.M.I., for his conscientious objection to a funeral rite being performed at the grave by a fraternal society. In so doing he makes two erroneous statements, viz., that for twenty years this funeral service has been held without objection from the church, and that it does not conflict with the religious views of the priest.

During the nine and a half years that I have been in charge of Holy Family church, I have always protested in one way or another against these funeral rites, not only of the Italian but of all other societies, and I can positively state that my predecessors, Rev. Father Tavernier and also Rev. Father Meissner took strong objection to them.

If the religious views of Mr. Santoni and the members of the fraternal society of which he is the G.M., were not so sadly in conflict with those of the Church, they would find no fault with their priest for upholding the Church's law in this as well as in any other matter.

Yours truly,
Father A. Michels, O.M.I.

COMMUNICATION

Fernie, B.C., Nov. 10, 1920

Dear Mr. Editor—May I be so bold as to expect you to grant me a small space in your paper to express to the citizens of Fernie my thanks and gratitude for the very generous support given the Navy League of Canada last Saturday, our annual Tag Day, which resulted in the sum of $303.00 being raised to enable us to continue our work in the schools, boys' brigades, relief and Institutes in British Columbia.

I think the support was wonderful taking into consideration that a very small percentage of the people really understood what our aims and objects are.

To the kind ladies and gentlemen who so untiring convened and carried out the appeal in the face of many inconveniences and discomforts I wish also to express my sincere thanks.

The owner of the local picture house, Mr. Wm. Johnston, must not be overlooked for so kindly allowing the League the use of the Orpheum for two matinees for the children of the schools. Also the school board, teachers and local press for the support given me in my work among the children, which I feel is reeally a national work of great importance.

I shall look forward with great pleasure to my return to Fernie in the near future. Yours very truly,

Provincial Sec.-Treas. Navy League of Canada.

The Rebekahs will hold a whist drive and dance in Ingram's Hall, on Tuesday night, Nov. 16. Good music, prizes, refreshments. Gents 50c; ladies 50c. Cards to begin 8 o'clock sharp.

Constable Collins returned the other day from New Westminster after delivering the two escaped prisoners, who were recaptured at Wenatchee. The men were captured by a G. N. special agent, who was on duty in the railroad yards there. He took the men for tramps and commanded them to halt. They refused and he fired, bringing them both down with one shot, the bullet passing trough the leg of both men as they ran. The men were taken to the hospital and later on commenced suit against the G.N. for damages. Luckily Chief Spiller's description of the escaped men arrived in time to have them identified as the escaped prisoners.

Dr. Bonnell, M.P., visited Calgary on Wednesday to hear the Prime Minister speak.

The provincial government has appealed against the decision of Judge Thompson in the Kerr liquor case.

The three hold-up men, arrested at Crow's Nest last week were each sentenced to six months in jail by His Honor Judge Thompson on Wednesday.

Real estate still seems to be on the move. M. A. Kastner sold three houses during the pat week. C. O'Neill, of the White Spruce Lumber Co., purchased the Hewat property.

HOTEL MEN BOOST BRITISH COLUMBIA

New York, Nov. 10.—Hotel men from all over the United States are gathered here to participate in the Fifth National Hotel Men's Exposition, which is being held at the Grand Central Palace. Everything pertaining to the hotel and resort business is on exhibition and managers from every section are alert for new suggestions.

One of the interesting features is an extensive exhibit of the attractions of the Pacific Northwest, which is in charge of Herbert Cuthbert, Secretary of the Pacific Northwest Tourist Association. This consists of reproductions of scenic spots in the part of the United States and Canada known as the "International Playground of America," and specimens of the advertising which this organization has used to attract tourists to the states of Washington and Oregon and the Province of British Columbia.

Much attention has been attracted to this exhibit by a huge salmon which is shown to illustrate the fishing for which this region is famous. A fresh fish is received each day by express from the Pacific and a card attached to it tells of the sport awaiting the visitor. Many an ardent angler gazes longingly at the big fellow and plans to spend his next vacation in the evergreen Northwest.

AID TO MUNICIPALITIES

One of the most important issues of the present provincial election is that of increased sources of revenue for municipalities. Hon. W. J. Bowser, the Conservative leader, has definitely promised that, if returned to power, he will give municipalities a share in the amusement taxes, a share also of the motor taxes, and part of the profits from the sale of liquor by the government. The Oliver government, which, during its term of office, has set its face against any aid to municipalities, goes no further in its pre-election promises than saying that "the question of the more equitable adjustment of taxation is most important, and will have the earnest consideration of the government."

Some relief was expected from the Government at the last session of the Legislature. Did not a Taxation Commission hold sittings in Victoria and Vancouver at which they heard representatives from the Union of B.C. Municipalities, of the urgent need for some relief? This commission never reported to the House and the only result in legislation was a gold brick in the form of authority to municipalities to pass a bylaw imposing an extra tax of ten per cent on the admission price of places of amusement. In fact, two gold bricks, for municipal councils were also authorized to impose a poll tax not exceeding five dollars upon all male presons who do not pay five dollars taxes upon real property. Then when the councils started in to collect this poll tax they found that the provincial tax officers had been ahead of tem and officers had been ahead of them, and there was no refund.

But the situation for municipalities was made still more burdensome, since, while the new taxes were earmarked for hospital and educational needs, the possible effect of these taxes in new sources of revenue was entirely taken away by Chapter 33 of this year's amendments to the Hospital Act, which raised the rate that may be collected by hospitals from the municipalities for indigent patients from one dollar to two dollars and fifty cents a day.

It was the emphatic testimony before the Taxation commission, which never reported, that municipalities cannot exist, particularly small towns and suburban municipalities, under the present sources of revenue granted incorporated communities. It was shown that municipalities were collecting all that could be collected from land; that improvements were in reality taxed through the over-valuation of land assessments, while the vacant property was being confiscated for the same reason; that tenant taxes for the occupancy of real estate was simply another form of taxation on the landlord, and that he had all that he could stand now. Then, since relief must come out of personality, and all personality was now taxed by the province, therefore, any relief to municipalities must come out of income taxation.

These representations fell upon deaf ears. The Oliver government's record shows they are determined to draw every penny possible from sources of revenue which should be available for municipal needs, and then to plead a lean treasury when municipalities apply for relief. The platform of the Conservative Party, on the other hand is specific. It reads: "The Conservative government, if elected to office, will give assistance to the municipalities by paying them a per capita grant from the consolidated revenue, which will have the effect of reducing taxes;" also that "the Conservative government will hand over to municipalities a share of the profits derived from the sale of liquor in the government stores, so that the burden of taxation in municipalities may be reduced by this contribution from the government.—Columbian.

Children Like Their Cereals More —Eat More—With This Wholesome Milk

Eager to get out in the air—to play outside—the kiddies are often too impatient to eat a hearty breakfast.

Low-cost, nourishing food—like porridge and other cereals, should be made appetizing for them by using rich, creamy milk.

Try them with Carnation Milk.

Serve it as rich as they like it. Part of the water has been evaporated from the milk, giving Carnation a creamy richness. For tea or coffee it is just right. Some also use it as it is for cereals. But for the children's cereal, add water to Carnation Milk.

An equal part of water reduces Carnation to a natural "whole" milk. Even more water can be added for the children's drink.

Imagine the convenience of such a milk supply! No bother with bottles—no delayed deliveries—no uncertainty as to quality, no need to buy cream.

You keep sealed cans of Carnation Milk on your pantry shelves.

Whenever you want "fresh" milk —you open a can of Carnation. You use it as any other milk—adding water of course, unless you wish to serve it as cream.

Nothing has been added to Carnation Milk—no sugar—no preservatives.

The rich "whole" milk is sealed in new clean cans, at our spotless condenseries. It is sterilized to make it safe and keep it pure.

It comes to your table pure, wholesome and rich.

NAVY LEAGUE OF CANADA

On Tuesday, Nov. 9, the pupils of the High School, Entrance Class and Junior Fourth Class of the Public School assembled in the Orpheum theatre to see some very interesting lantern slides exhibited by Lieut. Helmsing, R.N.V.R., depicting the operations of different branches of the Naval Service during the past four and a half years; also some very good pictures of the surrender of the German Fleet to Admiral Lord Beatty on Nov. 21, 1918.

After the slides had been shown and carefully explained by the Lieutenant, he had a little talk with the children, drawing their attention to the valhe and importance of the sea to Canada and to the Empire as a whole.

These classes will write an essay on this subject, for which the Navy League will give three prizes in each of the following classes:

1st and 2nd year, High School.
3rd and 4th year, High School.
Entrance Class.
Junior Fourth Class.

On Wednesday, Nov. 10, the junior classes of the Public School assembled in the Orpheum theatre for the purpose of seeing the same slides and having them explained to them.

The Orpheum was filled to overflowing but the poungsters sat motionless and quiet while the Lieutenant explained in language the youngest child could understand, some of the work the sailors had done during the Great War.

The meeting closed by the children joining Lieut. Helmsing in the singing of the National Anthem.

There's a sacred spot in war-torn France,
Just marked by a simple cross;
It's the mark of a brave young soldier,
And the sign of a mother's great loss.

"BUYERS BEWARE"

There was a custom some time ago, in making a transfer of real estate, to make use of an Agreement form the heading of which was a Latin phrase, "Caveat Emptor,"—"Let the Buyer Beware." As though there was need to warn the intending purchaser of a possible flaw in the contract.

Now, in buying a Birks' Watch the full responsibility rests on us—you don't have to investigate or to get outside opinion. If we say the watch is such and such—well, it is.

A MEATLESS HOT PIE

Another Use Discovered For Those Oxo Cubes.

Peel and slice sufficient potatoes to half fill a large pie dish, add few small onions, also sliced. Put into cold water, bring quickly to a boil, boil one minute, then drain.

Put back in pie dish with few slices of tomato, season with pepper and salt and flavour with herbs. Dissolve one Oxo cube in ½ pint of hot milk and pour over mixture. Put few bits of butter on top and bake for two hours in moderate oven. It's delicious.

All dealers sell Oxo in tins of four, ten, and fifty cubes.

LABOR PARTY TACTICS

The largest political gathering held in Fernie for many years took place on Monday evening last in the interest of S. Herchmer, Conservative candidate. The crowd must have easily numbered seven hundred, every seat being filled and the entire standing room taken up. Voters were present from every corner of the district to hear the discussion.

Invitations had been extended to the opposition candidates, Mr. Fisher and Mr. Uphill, to be present, and they had been alloted the same length of time to speak as Mr. Herchmer.

G. G. Moffatt occupied the chair and called upon the candidates to take the platform. It was then learned that Mr. Uphill would not be present and a request was made that one Bray, one of the recently notorious Bolshevik leaders in Winnipeg, should appear in his behalf. Mr. Herchmer immediately objected to a man of the reputation of Bray, who was neither a voter or had any knowledge of the political situation in B.C., taking up the time of the audience, and in view of the character of the would-be supporter of Mr. Uphill, absolutely refused to allow him to speak.

It was evident that this course had been anticipated by those who were behind Bray, as about a dozen noisy boys in the gallery immediately started to raise a row, calling repeated for Mr. Bray. A. I. Fisher, who was the first speaker, tried in vain to get a hearing, appealing to the noisy ones with all the flattery at his command, offering to associate with Mr. Bray or any other Tom, Dick or Harry whom they might produce on his platform, but it was useless. When they couldn't make enough noise with their mouths they used their feet.

The chairman, losing patience, refused to go on with the meeting, and much to the disappointment of the hecklers, asked for the National Anthem.

After the crowd got out on the street, Bray entertained those who cared to listen to him, with a talk on the Winnipeg strike and the martyrs who went to jail for the Bolshevik cause in that city.

A DENIAL

The members of the Fernie Branch G.W.V.A. wish it to be thoroughly understood by all citizens that they were in no way responsible for the unseemly disturbance at Sherwood Herchmer's meeting on the 15th inst. They furthermore do not consider that, as a body, they should be blamed for the actions of one or two irresponsible members.

We also wish all readers of your paper to understand that the G. W. V. A. knows absolutely no politics. All members can vote just as their conscience dictates, and it has been unanimously passed by the last meeting of the G.W.V.A. that they would take no active part in politics as an organization.

H. A. Bryant, Pres.

FERNIE NOW HAS K. OF C. LODGE

The institution of a Knights of Columbus Council here in Fernie on Sunday drew a large and representative crowd of visitors to the city. In all there were one hundred and fifty men at the gathering and there were 54 candidates initiated.

Mass was celebrated at 8.30 in the morning and Rev. Father Carroll, of Gonzaga College, Spokane, addressed the attendants.

The degree work was statrted at 10.30 in Victoria Hall, and there being so many candidates to initiate it took all the time available for the purpose to enable the workers to complete their task before the banquet, which was given in the Catholic hall by the ladies of the Catholic club and which was the crowning effort of those ladies.

J. E. Guiemont, of Cranbrook, acted as toastmaster, and R. J. Collins, Grand Knight of Cranbrook, responded to the toast to "The New Council."

B. J. Caufield, of Coal Creek, responded to the toast to the new members.

The outstanding response of the evening was that of Father Carroll in speaking upon "True Citizenship." Father Carroll is an eloquent speaker and his response left an enduring impression upon his hearers.

Mayor Henderson in responding to the toast to "Our City," congratulated the visitors and trusted that good fellowship engendered by such gatherings would tend to alleviate the discontent which had grown out of the conditions which had followed the war.

United States Immigration Officer Hart, of Gateway, responded to the toast "To Our Order," and J. D. O'Connel, Past State Deputy of Victoria, spoke of "Knighthood." T. J. Scanlan, of Nelson, responded to the toast to the ladies, and Mr. Ed. Heaphy responded to the toast to "Our Guests."

The banquet called for the highest praise for the ladies who had it in charge under the direction of Mrs. Herchmer, President of the Ladies' Club and Mrs. Klauer, Secretary.

The toast list was enlivened by a solo from Joseph Riley, which was encored, and he had to respond several times before the feasters were satisifed.

The Riley brothers and Mr. Mulligan sang a trio which also brought forth rapturous applause.

Besides those mentioned in the toast list there were present L. H. Choquette of Nelson, Burt Lesage of Vancouver, Rev. Father Murphy of Cranbrook, Rev. Father Des Marais of St. Eugene Mission, J. O'Neil of Blairmore, Mr. Pedicord of Calgary, J. Sweeney of Vancouver, and many others, all of whom went away carrying pleasant memories of an event which will stand as one of the historical periods in the history of Fernie.

WHY I REFUSED TO LET BRAY SPEAK

To the Electors of Fernie Riding:

In view of the fact that the meeting I called for the 15th inst. was deliberately broken up by the supporters of Mr. Thomas Uphill, and in view of the fact that Mr. Fisher, a guest of mine at that meeting, sided in with the rough-house element, I think it only right that I should state to the electors my position in the matter.

I decided to hold a public meeting and requested Mr. Uphill and Mr. Fisher to speak and they both consented. It is usual when one candidate calls a meeting, that he only allots a short space of time to the rival candidates, and that he speaks last. I, however, decided that I would allow each candidate the same amount of time as I allotted to myself, and so told them. And I also stated that I would speak between Mr. Fisher and Mr. Uphill. I saw Mr. Uphill on Saturday morning, the 13th, when he told me he might not be able to get back to the meeting as he could not afford to come, and I then told him if he would let me know where he would be I would send my own car to bring him back. He stated he would try and come but if he was unable he would have Dick Beard or someone else to speak for him. Today, the 15th, I ascertained that Mr. Bray, of Winnipeg, would represent Mr. Uphill. This man, along with many others, endeavored to overthrow constituted government in Canada and was tried for sedition in the City of Winnipeg. He apparently had not the nerve to go quite as far as some of the others, but he was in the gang, and was convicted of being a common nuisance and sentenced to six months in gaol, and this sentence was confirmed by the Privy Council. After his conviction he openly made the statement that he would have considered it an honor to have been found guilty of sedition. He claimed in the meeting that he was a returned soldier, but later on, being questioned by a returned veteran, during a speech he made outside the building, he admitted that he had not been further than England. Mr. Fisher, as my guest at the meeting, knowing all the circumstances as well as I did, endeavored to catch the vote of the electorate by making the statement that he was quite willing to have this man speak and would allow him to speak at any meeting of his. I refused to allow him to speak. In doing so I adopted the only course open to any self-respecting citizen.

SHERWOOD HERCHMER,
Conservative Candidate.

FERNIE TO HAVE PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Fernie Public Library Association has been incorporated and expects to commence operations in the near future, and full information will be given in these columns as soon as the Association is in a position to lend books. The subscription has been fixed at $2.00 per annum, payable in advance, and for this sum the borrower is entitled to one work of fiction and one of non-fiction at a time, which may be kept for two weeks or exchanged as often as desired. The Association aims at the provision of volumes of a very varied character and is willing to obtain volumes in any language a reader may desire to have, and the secretary, Arthur J. Moffatt, will be pleased to receive from any persons interested a list of volumes that they would like to have. There are available about 20,000 volumes and this Association has the privilege of borrowing 500 at a time for a period of six months, and in this manner the Association hopes to keep a supply of books on the shelves which will be changed as soon as the readers have had full opportunity of using them.

There are necessarily certain preliminary expenses in connection with the establishment of such a library. There will be book shelves, furniture, etc., to purchase, and the Association will be glad to receive subscriptions from any persons who desire to pay now in order to give the Association a start, and such subscriptions would not expire until one year from date of commencement of service.

VAUDEVILLE AT GRAND EVERY WEDNESDAY

The management of the Grand wishes to announce that they have secured the famous Hippodrome Vaudeville Shows to be played every Wednesday night in Fernie, before going on through to the States. These shows are now playing in Winnipeg, Brandon, Regina, Calgary and Lethbridge, and all the other large cities throughout Canada. The bill for next Wednesday consists of four high class acts, namely: Connors and Martin, roller skaters; Leo Haley, imitations, dancing and songs; the Musical Shermans, expert guitarists; Lewis & Lewis, the jazz pair from Dixieland. Popular prices will prevail. It will be of interest to local people to know that the following Wednesday's bill will include Ralph Maddison, the singing miner, who has worked in the mines at Coal Creek, and other mines throughout the Pass.

Mrs. J. R. Pollock held a reception at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor:

The long suffering public of British Columbia, after four years of excessive mismanagement by the Oliver government, are having its sufferings still further increased not only by the frothings at the mouth by its supporters and members but by a thirty page booklet entitled "A Brief Record of the Oliver Government," which is being sent broadcast through the mail.

After a close perusal of this wonderful document one is forced to admit that whilst extremely wordy, it certainly is brief when it comes to a dissection of what they really have accomplished.

Villification of the Bowser government seems to be its chief support.

They claim that the revenue shows a healthy condition, because it shows for 1919-20 about thirteen and three-quarter millions against six millions for 1916-17. How has this been brought about? They surely do not claim credit for the natural increase from the natural resources of the province, do they? Might just as well claim credit for the stars in the firmament, if they do. It certainly is not through any beneficent legislation on their part. All they have done is to increase taxation to such an extent as to be an intolerable burden. A very considerable portion of the revenue derived from this taxation has been spent in such a way that if the heads of the departments responsible for the expenditure, instead of being Cabinet Ministers carrying on business of the Province, had been the Board of Directors of a private corporation, they would have raised particular cain amongst their shareholders.

After stating their borrowings on account of the P.G.E., they state that other borrowings have been on account of loans to farmers, improving agricultural lands for returned soldiers, aiding the municipality of South Vancouver, protecting irrigation works in the dry belt, providing homes for returned soldiers and aid to returned soldiers and others in establishing various industries, they claim that all borrowings of this class are repayable and are in the nature of investments. There is no doubt at all about the nature of these investments; they are poor in the extreme and no one knows this better than does the returned soldier. Honest John does not tell us how many soldiers are on the improved agricultural lands, how many they have provided homes for, or how many and to what extent they have aided them in establishing industries. He cannot tell us this without holding up his administration to ridicule and contempt from every business man in the province.

There is not a man of good sound business ability at the head of any one of the departments, if we can believe the premier's own words, when he told us at his meeting here two weeks ago that he had selected the best man he had at his disposal for the department of public works. Dr. King is a physician and a man who has the respect of everybody who knows him irrespective of party, but his training has not been along business lines and to place him in charge of the principal spending department of the province, whilst a great compliment to him, is a damining example of ineptitude on the Premier's part and only shows how necessary it is for the people to show their realization of this at the polls on Dec. 1st. We do not need to go outside of this district for plenty of reasons for unfavorable criticism of the management of this department. Our roads have been allowed to get into a very bad condition this summer, and the money spent on the maintenance of them has been wasted because the work which has been done has made them worse than they ever were. The only new piece of work in this district has been between Baynes and Waldo, and this obviously was done for political reasons.

The re-organization of this department into nine engineering districts, each under a competent engineer, with a road superintendent and various foremen to each electoral district, would have been an admirable business-like organization had the department had at its disposal unlimited funds with which to carry on its plans, for instance work involving the expenditure of many millions could have been carried out without increase to the present executive staff, yet with an expenditure of less than two millions a year—the bulk of which has been spent in the coast districts—the full executive has been maintained, with the result that the departmental expenses have swallowed up an altogether disproportionate amount to that spent on the work. It dos not require high salaried engineers, etc., to maintain roads which are in existence. This can be done by the veriest dub of a road foreman at a fraction of the present cost, and if the work done in this district is a sample of that done in the rest of the province, the sooner this bunch is ditched, the better it will be for the ratepayers. The present condition of affairs in the province and in this department, especially forces us to a comparison between the present administration and the Bowser regime which is altogether in favor of the latter, who did give us roads and public buildings without excessive taxation, and even if they did leave an indebtedness of around six million dollars, we have got something to show for it, which is something the ratepayer will remember when he sits down to digest the record of the Oliver government, who have taxed and taxed and taxed, given us little or nothing for it, and yet have increased our indebtedness a further twenty or more millions.

Four years ago when the Oliver crowd were stumping the country, one of their favorite criticisms was that the Bowser regime was a rubber stamp government, and if they were elected they would do this and that and the other. Now after four years they are telling us that if this had not happened, if that had not happened, if we had had the money we would have done so and so, it is if, if, if. Bowser could well retaliate by calling them the if government. By the way, what are the last two initials of our present member's name?

If we remember rightly—and our memory is a fairly good one—practically the principal plank in the platform of the Oliver party at the last election was the abolishment of patronage, and it was principally this which placed them in power. What has happened. Within a few days of assuming office wholesale changes were made. Old and trusted servants of the province were kicked out and political friends put in their places; new offices carrying high salaries were created, and a right merry carnival was had, and when questioned by the opposition on the floor of the house, Honest John rose on his hind legs and brayed forth, "To the victor belong the spoils." This within a few days of having gone into power on the strength of his promise to abolish that very thing. A more flagrant flaunting of public opinion is hard to conceive. What a sardonically sarcastic personage he must have been who christened him Honest John.

This bunch have accomplished so little during their term of office that they are actually claiming credit for the Woman's Suffrage Bill. At Mr. Fisher's meeting at Coal Creek last week he claimed they had done this, and in the Nelson News of the 15th, in their campaign advertisement, this Bill heads the list of the legislation they claim to have put through. This either shows gross ignorance of what they have actually done or else it is a deliberate attempt to mislead the women voters. Either of which is an admission of the weakness of their case, and when we add to this the reprehensible vote catching tactics adopted by Mr. Fisher at Mr. Herchmer's meeting last Monday, we feel that the people will show by their vote on Dec. 1st, that they want a government composed of men with less bone in their heads and more in their backs.

There is hardly a man, woman or child in this town who has not got something of a material nature to thank Mr. Herchmer for. He has had a great deal of business organization to supervise. He has never fallen down on anything he has tackled; he is broad-minded; a fair open fighter and a go getter from the word go. Even as an opposition member it would be impossible for him to do less than our present government member has done for us, so vote for Herchmer and let us get action. — One Who Voted for Fisher the Last Election.

O.B.U. MEANS OPEN SHOP

The Calgary Trades and Labor Council has refused to finance the election campaign of labor candidates for the city council. Ald. Broatch was also severely criticized.

Three special reasons for opposing any financial support to Ald. Broatch were cited by Alex. Ross. In the first place, said Mr. Ross, the alderman broke faith with the labor party in announcing himself as a candidate for office before the matter had been considered by the party. In the second place he had signed the round robin in favor of Ald. Adams, who was a nominee of the citizens' committee last year. The third and most important reason was that Mr. Broatch was a member of the O.B.U., an organization which had a disrupting influence on the trades union movement of the province.

hopes to keep a supply of books on Watkins Products. Watkins goods the City of Fernie for the year 1921

"Some people may be partial to it," said Mr. Ross, "but as I see it, this organization has disrupted our forces and if ever we are called upon to face a real issue we shall be so disorganized that it will be difficult to fight. Inevitably in the near futre an effort will be made to reduce wages. We shall have unemployment and depression. The price of commodities is coming down, and it will not be long before the fall will be reflected in retail prices. I can see that a determined effort to reduce wages will come, and as a result of the disruptive influence of the O.B.U. we shall be less potent to meet this real issue—whether we are to submit or not.

"In my opinion the industrial side of our movement is more important than the political, and Ald. Broatch's influence as a labor agitator has done more to hinder organized labor than anything else. To me the O.B.U. is nothing else but an open shop movement."

Mr. Ross recalled the Medicine Hat convention some time before the labor split, when Joe Knight and a miner delegate said that the U.M.W. of A. were 90 per cent organized and that every effort should be made to compel the remaining 10 per cent to come into the union. "Since that time," said the speaker, "the O. B. U. has come out and made an attack on the checkoff system established in district 18, an attack on the closed shop, under which the employee agrees to deduct union dues from wages. For that principle we had a seven months miners' strike in 1911."

In contending that each individual man had a right to determine which organization he would belong to the O. B. U. was in effect establishing a right to belong to no organization at all. "The O.B.U. in my opinion is a direct negative to the trade union movement," declared the speaker.

A Business Government

Proved and Approved

When the Oliver Government assumed office four years ago the credit of British Columbia was so low that it was impossible to sell British Columbia bonds except at a sacrifice which no business administration would possibly consider.

The Last Million Dollar Bond Issue of the Oliver Government which was put on the market in October, 1920, brought a premium of over $33,000, making the low net rate of interest 4¾ per cent. per annum, a better price than that received by other provinces for a similar loan.

MR. G. A. HASKELL, a banker from Seattle, Wash., said in an interview with the Times, Oct. 16, 1920:

"We sold the whole $1,000,000 of the last loan in an hour. British Columbia securities are now regarded favorably by investors from Seattle to San Francisco. They realize that the Hon. John Hart, your Minister of Finance, has put the Province back into a sound financial position. This Province, as far as outsiders who have money to invest see it, is now in quite a different financial position from what it was in the past. Careful management has brought back its credit."

THE LIBERAL ADMINISTRATION HAS PROVED ITSELF TO BE A BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Continue a REAL BUSINESS Government at Victoria for the next five years by voting for Liberal Candidates, Decemcer 1st.

VOTERS' ATTENTION

On Monday last a meeting was called in the Grand Theatre of this city by the candidate of the Conservative party for the purpose of a free, frank, open and honest discussion of the public questions relating to British Columbia politics. The candidate of the government, Mr. Fisher, had promised to come; the candidate travelling under the name of the Federated Labor Party also promised to attend.

At eight o'clock every seat in the theatre was occupied, standing room at the back of the hall was completely taken up and a number of people standing in the outside lobby with the doors open so that they could hear. Mr. Oliver a short time before had challenged a vote of confidence in the government on his record of the past four years as compared with the record of the late Conservative government during their thirteen years of office.

This is the first election in British Columbia where the women have had the general right to exercise their franchise. At least 200 of that vast audience were women voters, who for the first time in their lives would cast a vote, and they desired to hear the evidence of all parties, before coming to a decision as to whom they would vote for.

Momentuous changes have taken place in human affairs during the past six years. It marks a turning point in our human history. Women have a tremendous responsibility placed on them, because with their vote the future of the entire race is in their hands. This responsibility was not given them by the Oliver government but was granted them by the male voters of B.C. in September, 1916, on a plebiscite put forward by Mr. Bowser's government. There is not a woman in Canada who does not look with horror and alarm at the domestic state of affairs in Central Europe and Russia. Not one desires to see in Canada the mad changes which have taken place in these countries. Wisely used, the franchise in woman's hands will prove to be a great defence against the destructive forces that are everywhere raging. Now what happened at this meeting? It was broken up by eight O.B.U. men. They refused to let the meeting proceed unless a man by the name of Bray was allowed to speak. The Conservatives did not object to Mr. Uphill being represented by any resident in B.C. or by anyone who would confine himself to a discussion of British Columbia politics, but they did object to a man who had been mixed up with five others in a sedition charge, and who himself had been convicted as a common nuisance, and the judgment of the trial judge upheld by the highest court of law in the Empire; a man who has been repudiated by the G. W. V. A. in Manitoba and the Federated Labor Party of Canada. This man Bray was trying to get a hearing as a returned soldier, as a man who had fought in the muddy trenches of France (as one of his boosters put it at the meeting and he did not deny it then.) As a matter of fact his active service consisted of five weeks in England and being sent back with a broken thumb. He is today trading on the glorious reputation which was achieved by our heroes, who in thousands made the supreme sacrifice for their country's honor, and thousands more who were maimed for life, in the greatest struggle the world ever saw, the struggle for democracy over autocracy, and yet he never was on a fighting front. Unquestionably Mr. Herchmer and his committee were right in their decision, and when the votes are counted on December first, the men and women of this district will vote for the man who had the courage to stand by his decision once taken, rather than by the man who thought he might be able to make a little political capital out of the situation and turn it to his own advantage, and possibly gain a few votes from the element supporting Bray.

ENID BENNETT HAS NEW INCE PICTURE

The latest Enid Bennett picture bears the interesting title of "The Woman in the Suitcase." It will be shown at the Orpheum theatre Friday and Saturday. The story centres around a vivacious young boarding school miss, who has always made more or less of a pal out of her father and is shocked to discover the photograph of a comely woman, not her mother, in his suitcase. The picture bears an endearing inscription and convinces Mary, the heroine, that her father is carrying on an affair with the siren. She determines to rescue him.

The developments when Mary hires a professional escort, makes the acquaintance of "the other woman," and finally brings about a dramatic situation that makes her father see the error of his ways form the plot of what is declared to be a most absorbing picture.

Appearing in the role of the father is William Conklin. Roland Lee is the young man who assists Miss Bennett out of her difficulties, and Dorcas Matthews is the "vampire."

NAVY LEAGUE RE-ORGANIZE

On Friday evening, Nov. 12, in the city council chamber, a very enthusiastic meeting was held for the purpose of re-organizing the local branch of the Navy League. The attendance was very representative, including prominent ladies and gentlemen of the city, thus showing that support is still very strong in favor of the national work being done by the League.

The meeting was called to order at 8 p.m. by Dr. Corsan, who was in the chair.

Mr. Rudnicki, the secretary-treasurer, read his financial report for the past year, showing a balance in the bank of some $170, and reported that since the Armistice had been signed they had had some difficulty in getting well attended meetings.

The election of officers was the next order of business, but before this was proceeded with, Lieut. H. F. Helmsing addressed the meeting, opening his remarks with an expression of thanks from the Provincial Division and himself personally for the support given the League in Fernie and the untiring efforts of those ladies and gentlemen who had kept the orgaization together. He expressed thanks to Mr. Rudnicki, who had been very faithful to his duties and to whom a great deal of credit was due. He also expressed the feeling of appreciation felt at headquarters when the Fernie Branch voted the sum of $100 to be divided between Kaslo and Nanaimo for Boys' Brigade work last year.

Referring to Boys' Brigades, Lt. Helmsing assured the meeting that in view of the formation of the Boy Scouts he would be the last to try and form a Naval Brigade, but on the other hand would do all he could to further the Scout movement.

With reference to the election of officers and an executive, he cautioned the meeting to be careful to elect officers who had the interests of the League at heart and who would be willing to keep the work going.

After explaining the present aims and objects of the League to the meeting, the election of officers was proceeded with and resulted as follows :

Hon. Chairman—A. B. Trites.
Chairman—G. G. Moffatt.
Sec.-Treas.—J. S. Corbett.
Educational Sec. — Miss Myrtle Brown.
Executive—Mrs. A. B. Trites, Mrs. G. G. Moffatt, Mr. Morrison, Mr. Sheffiield, Mrs. Fisher, Miss Dicken, Miss Crocker.

Votes of thanks were passed to Mrs. Wood, the retiring Educational Secretary; Mr. Rudnicki, the retiring Secretary-Treasurer, and Lt. Helmsing.

At the close of the meeting several joined the League, including A. B. Trites as a life member.

The total figures for Fernie's Trafalgar campaign, including Tag Day receipts from Fernie, Corbin and Coal Creek and membership is $638.

The thanks of the Local Branch and also the Provincial Division are due to the people of Corbin for their generous subscription of $104 towards this figure.

"EXPERIENCEE" COMING

TO THE GRAND

"Experience," George V. Hobart's modern morality comedy drama, will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest at the Grand for one night, Friday, Nov. 26. "Exeperience" has been one of the greatest hits of our generation, and it is now in its seventh year of success. It contains a little of everything and something that appeals to everyone. The hardened theatreoger will find much to amuse and interest him. The casual theatre-goer will also be pleased. He will find a blending of musical comedy, a bit of drama, a dash of "Pilgrim's Progress," and a touch of farce comedy. For the moralist, for the man or woman who goes to the theatre only on exceptional occasions, "Experience" will prove a boon. They will find in it everything they believe should be in a play.

Mr. Hobart has taken as his theme the journey of Youth — the average young man of today — through life, and dressing it in most modern garb, setting it in the gilded joy palaces and the sordid vice dens of today, has told the story of Youth's adventures in the big world. The curtain rises on a pastoral scene in the land where Dreams begin with Ambition. Youth is discovered taking leave of his sweetheart, Love, to go with Ambition in to the great wide world to seek his fortune. He leaves Love in the good care of Hope and sets forth on his journey. Arriving in the great city, his first meeting is with Experience, who becomes his companion and the one acquaintance who never leaves him.

Pleasure meets him next and with her coming Ambition ceases to restrain his hold on Youth, and Experience's kind advice is tossed aside as worthless. Opportunity calls, but is unable to obtain a hearing, and then, following Pleasure along the Primrose Path, Youth becomes acquainted with Travel, Sport, Frivolity, Deceit, Slander, Pride, Wealth, Passion, Intoxication and a host of others.

From the gay night life in the Golden Cabaret on the Primrose Path of Pleasure, Youth Steps into the Corridors of Chance, where he loses all his worldly wealth playing roulette, and then his path goes downward. On he goes to the House of Lost Souls, into the Street of Forgotten days, where he is saved from Crime by the never-failing miracle of a mother's love, and goes back to the Land Where the Dreamer Awakens, where he meets Love and Hope and again finds Ambition.

"Experience" will be given here by the same company that is now playing at the Grand Theatre, Calgary.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions with joint residence, but each making necessary improvement on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres before receiving Crown Grant.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

This privilege is also made retroactive.

SAYS LEMON JUICE WILL REMOVE FRECKLES

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

A Third to a Half full of Carnation Milk— then fill up with water

Adding an equal portion of water restores Carnation Milk to the natural consistency—not of skimmed or separated milk—but of rich, "whole" milk.

It is rich.

It is pure.

It is absolutely safe.

Such quality in your milk supply—such freedom from bother—such assurance of safety—are due entirely to Carnation methods of distributing milk.

To start with, the milk is rich and pure.

It is gathered daily in Canada's best dairy centres.

A part of the water is removed by evaporation, leaving a milk of creamy consistency. Fresh and sweet, it goes into clean, new containers. Then it is sterilized to insure purity.

In this form it goes to you in perfect safety and is kept until you are ready to use it. It is used as cream in tea and coffee, on cereals or fruit.

But for ordinary use add an equal quantity of water.

There is no sugar or anything added to Carnation Milk, so it may be used for every household use.

"CAN'T BE BEAT" SAYS BAILEY

Eats Anything, Sleeps Like a Log and Feels Fine Since Taking Tanlac

"No, sir, I couldn't ask to feel better than I do since taking Tanlac and it does me good to tell other people about this medicine," was the statement made recently by D. Bailey, a well-known sawmill owner, residing at 1824 Pandora street, Vancouver, B.C.

"I had such a bad case of indigestion that I had to force myself to go to the table. In fact, I dreaded to eat, for I would be in misery with my stomach afterwards. I had awful cramps in my stomach and gas would form and cause such a pressure in my chest and around my heart that I thought I would suffocate. My back also troubled me terribly, for the pains were so cutting I could hardly lace up my shoes, and if I was standing up and tried to stoop over I got so dizzy I would nearly fall over. Nervous spells often came on me and caused a dull headache and sometimes my head felt so heavy I could hardly hold it up. Constipation bothered me a great deal and I had to take a laxative every few days. What little sleep I got was not restful and when I got up every morning I felt like I had just finished a hard day's work.

"A number of my friends had taken Tanlac and were so well pleased with it that I finally decided to take their advice and give it a trial. If I had searched the whole world over I don't believe I could have found a better medicine than Tanlac, for it went straight to the spot and I am now enjoying the best of health and am feeling strong and healthy like a man ought to feel. And eat? Why, my appetite is so fine I can hardly eat enough and the beauty of it is that nothing at all disagrees with me. I can bend over or stoop down as much as I please without a pain or ache in my back and I have not had a headacvhe or dizzy spell since I finished the first bottle of Tanlac. I am free from constipation and nervousness and at night I sleep like a log. Without a doubt Tanlac can't be beat and I am always ready to speak a good word for it."

BAYNES LAKE, B. C.

(By Rev. Joseph Philip, B.D., a former pastor of Central Methodist Church St. Thomas)

Baynes Lake is in the midst of a beautiful valley adout 16 miles wide, with the Rocky Mountains eight miles to the northeast and the Selkirks the same distance to the southwest. The valley has hills and dales, woodlands and prairies, and is crossed by mountain streams, dotted with lakes of emerald and blue and drained by the Kootenay River. The mountains never lose their charm. Their colors change from white to grey, yellow to green, blue to violet, and purple to black. At the same time the heavens may be hung with curtains of grey and blue, purple and crimson, silver and gold. A few evenings ago the reflection of a rainbow was thrown over one oof the Rockies and for a time it was adorned with all the prismatic colors. Frequently, when the sun is setting, the Alpine glow rests upon the mountains and they are radiant with light.

About eight miles from Baynes there is a wonderful gorge known as the Elk River Canyon. The rocks of white and grey limestone and blue marble rise like well-laid courses of masonry to the height of 60 or 100 feet, while back a little distance the mountains rise to majestic heights. Down the canyon the water rushes in a series of cataracts, which, if harnessed, would drive all the machinery of the district and make it so much like heaven that there would be "no night there."

I have done some climbing to the height of 7,000 feet, and am anxious to make it 9,000 or even 10,000. The cooling springs on the hillsides, the mountain lakes nestling in the laps of the everlasting hills, the beauty and the variety of the flowers and the sea of peaks in all directions, these make one cry "Excelsior!" Climbing about 1,500 feet from the above-named canyon we come to a perpendicular cliff, where we see a chain of 7 charming little lakes 700 feet below us. The first lake is blue, with a silver border; the second is yellow, and the third one green. When cloud and sunshine alternate, their beauty beggars description.

I want to tell you about a lovely trip we took early in September. First we motored from Baynes to Golden, a distance of 210 miles. Leaving home at 1 p.m., we had our tea at a wayside camp in the forest primeval. Then on to Invermere at the head of Lake Windermere, for the night, a run of 130 miles. Then up the Columbia valley to Golden. At Golden we took the C.P.R. train for Banff. The C. P.R. Hotel, beautifuly situated, with mountains roundabout, as "The mountains are roundabout Jerusalem," the Hot Springs, the large park, the museum and the zoological gordens make Banff a place of delight. Back to Lake Louise, that charming fairy lake, with its home-like chateau, its drives and climbs, its Mirror and Agnes Lakes, and restful chalet among the clouds, what a place for rest! Back to Golden in an open coach, along rushing streams and mountain lakes, through arches and snow sheds and tunnels reaching to the very heart of "the hills of God," now far up on the sides of the mountains and now down into valleys where the sun seldom shines. And the mountains, of all shapes and sizes and colors! Single mountains, double mountains, ten-peaked mountains, cathedral mountains, temple mountains, castle mountains, beehive mountains, sugar-loaf mountains, plebian mountains, humble and lowly, aristocratic mountains, with lofty heads and lordly names. Mountains cold and bare and mountains clothed with forests, veiled with clouds and capped with snow or crowned with gold. Mountains where not a sound is heard and mountains where glaciers burst with thunder sound, mountains torn by storms, and mountains bathed in sunshine; quiet mountains, and mountains where bears roam, wolves howl, panthers scream, coyotes cry, deer wander, birds nest, squirrels play and the huntsman finds a paradise.

On our journey from Golden back to Invermere we turned aside to visit the Radium Hot Springs, where we had a glorious bath and a splendid dinner. The vermillion rocks at this place have been rent asunder by some great cataclysm that made it a place of "gaunt solemnity." A road is being built up this vallef to Banff, and when completed, it will be an enchanting drive. We spent another night at Invermere, where we visited the new and popular camping ground. Our dinner the next day at Canal Flats was prepared by a granddaughter of Lord John Russell, and the cutlery and dishes had often graced the table of the noble lord. Then "Home, Sweet Home." British Columbia is the scenic province of Canada, and will become the playground of the world.

"EXPERIENCE" COMING

"Experience," aptly described as the most wonderful play in America, now in its seventh season of remarkable prosperity, will be presented by F. Ray Comstock and Morris Gest, at the Grand Theatre, Nov. 26th.

The career of "Experience" in the past few years has been little less than remarkable and the announcement of the coming of this big dramatic and comedy success is sure to result in a capacity house. Some years ago Messrs. Comstock and Gest produced this play for the first time and since then it has played in most of the big cities of the United States from coast to coast and has enjoyed remarkable endorsement from press and clergy everywhere it has been prsented. Now for its seventh season the managers have provided a complete new scenic production and new costumes for the ladies in the company. The cast has been selected with great care and will be one of the strongest that has ever presented this wonderful morality play.

DOES IT PAY TO ATTEND HIGH SCHOOL OR COLLEGE?

"Will a college education pay? Can I afford the time and the money it will cost? Could not the money and the time for four years' training be better invested in other ways? Would it not be better to go to work and make an early start in the business world?" These are some of the questions of the average high-school student. Ours is a practical age. We are tempted to measure life itself in terms of dollars and cents.

We hear much of the self-made man, and many an earnest young man hesitates to spend four valuable years in college after high school is finished. Some become discouraged and yield to the lure of the dollar even before the work of the secondary school is completed.

Careful statistics show that the average uneducated man earns $1.50 a day. Omitting Sundays he earns $450 a year. In forty years he earns $18,000. The average high-school graduate earns $1000 a year. In forty years he earns $40,000. The difference in favor of the high-school man is $22,000. To get this added amount he spends twelve years in school, nine months per year, 20 days per month, or 2160 days. In other words, he earns at the rate of $10 for each day he remains in school.

A college education increases one's earnings much more rapidly. The United States Commissioner of Education has asserted that a common or public school education increases a man's productive ability 50 per cent, a high school training increases it 100 per cent, and a college education increases it from 200 to 300 per cent.

November is "Stick-to -School month for Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers." Stick it out boys; if you have left school, go back, or get in some extra study somehow.

TO MOTHERS AND FATHERS

Tradition says that experience is the champion school teacher of the world, yet how many people ever profit by the experience of others, Have you, fathers and mothers, ever given your children the benefit of your experience in life?

In a few days a play will be presented in Fernie which should interest the citizens of this community. There are hundreds of fathers and mothers in this city who should send their children, their sons and daughters, all ignorant of the snares and pitfalls of life, to see this play.

This play, 'Experience," is the Eternal, Never-dying story of Douth, his early struggles, his venture into the great world to see fame and fortune, his trials and temptations, his triumph over evil and wickedness through the everlasting influence of a woman's love; just the sort of experience that your boy may be about to endure.

"Experience" teaches a great moral lesson. It has been endorsed by clergymen of all denominations, wherever presented. It has a wonderful effect upon the audience, because it points out to every man, woman and child the evils of a life upon the Primrose Path, and brings home to every heart the old, old story that the straight and narrow way alone is the road to happiness.

The play is presented in 10 scenes by a company of 40 people, and comes here after a phenomenal engagement of nine months in New York, seven months in Chicago and five months in Boston. It shows at the Grand for One Night Only, Friday, November 26.

COAL CREEK NOTES

A series of tournament games are being run at the Club, substantial additions to the entrance fees being given as prizes.

Charlie Perrie has gone to Spokane to have his eyes tested by a specialist.

A committee is going the rounds of the camp taking names and ages of the children preparatory to the annual Christmas Tree to be held at the Club Hall.

Mrs. Corlett, of Riverside Avenue, entertained a party of friends at her home on Sunday evning. Among the guests was Mrs. D. F. Markland, of Fernie.

A large number of Creekites journeyed to Fernie on Monday evening to attend the advertised Conservative meeting. The abrupt termination of same created many expressions of keen disappointment.

The forthcoming provincial election is the main topic of the camp these days. The committees of the three respective candidates are working energetically.

The Board of Management of the Club are preparing a monster program of events for the coming festive season. Further particulars will be given later.

Billy Atherton, the genial "liquid dispenser" at the Club, has gone east to attend a pension board.

Alarge number of oldtimers are migrating back to camp, the steady work at the mines here being a big attraction.

We are asked to notify all local members of the Loyal Order of Moose and Ladies Chapter that there will be a joint meeting in Hawthorne's Hall, Fernie, on Monday next, for the purpose of arranging for the projected social dance.

Chief Spiller, of the provincial staff, left on Wednesday for Vernon, where he will relieve the officer in charge there during a short absence.

The ladies of Fernie are taking a keen intertst in the local political situation and some of them are even ready to pull hair if the occasion demands it. It is hardly safe for one side to smile at the other.

GUARD AGAINST CHILLS

Cultivate the habit of taking a cup of hot Oxo—a cube to a cup—before going out in the cold or damp. Such weather is a tax upon the system, and the strengthening and warming powers of the concentrated beef-goodness fortify you against the evils consequent upon exposure.

If the uses of Oxo are new to you, try a tin of four cubes. Oxo greatly improves gravies, stews, or soups, and is a delightful, sustaining and appetizing beverage. It is excellent for children.

Regular users of Oxo prefer the larger tins of 10 and 50 cubes, using them in many different ways in place of meat.

ENSURE YOUR BOY AN EDUCATION

Boys with a public school education in after life earn $668.00 per annum on the average. Boys with a high school training earn $1550.00 on an average.

It has been shown that for every day of high school work boys afterward received a compensation of nine dollars.

Figures carefully prepared by the American Bureau of Education show that a youth with a college training has 800 times as many chances of success as one without schooling.

A Mutual Policy will guarantee your boy an education.

MEETING AT THE ORPHEUM

The Hon. Wm. Sloan, who was billed to speak at the Orpheum on Tuesday night, came in on Monday evening and was immediately sent on to Michel, where a joint meeting was in session. From reports it would appear that the Hon. gentleman was given a rather warm time, as he failed to show up at Fernie on Wednesday night.

However, the three candidates were very much in evidence and a Mrs. Brown from Vancouver, supposed to be President of the Vancouver Women's Liberal Association, was also on the platform on behalf of Mr. Fisher.

Mayor Henderson was on the platform as chairman and succeeded in keeping very good order, the disorderly element of the meeting held last week having apparently decided that their tactics were not getting them anywhere.

Mrs. Stanley Brown, appearing on behalf of the government, was the first speaker and appealed to the lady voters of the audience particularly to support the government on the record of the wonderful things they had done for the women of B.C. Mrs. Brown is not a good speaker and her prejudical attitude did not sound very convincing to the large audience.

Sherwood Herchmer was the next speaker. He spoke for about three-quarters of an hour, criticizing the Oliver regime, attacking them from almost every viewpoint. The Oliver government was appealing to the public on their record and when you come to compile that record about all they had accomplished was to give a very limited Mothers' Pension Bill, which was very good in itself, but did not go half far enough, barring out many women of advanced age who really needed it a great deal more than the younger women. It was merely a sop thrown to catch the women's votes. Mr. Fisher and his government were trying to take the credit for the Women's Franchise Bill, but it was the Bowser government which had given the people the referendum and thus made it possible for the women to receive the vote.

The Oliver government had been elected on a platform declaring they would abolish patronage, but almost the first thing they had done in our own riding was to discharge several efficient government servants from this district. He named two in particular. Billy Wilmot, whom everyone knew, had been discharged because he passed some remark in praise of the late Richard McBride; and Frank Harmer, a game warden, because he had arrested Mr. Fisher's big booster, Charley McNab, for vio-

COMMUNICATION

To the Editor:

At Mr. Fisher's meeting in the Orpheum theatre on Monday night I was asked the question by Mr. Uphill whether he had actually promised to be at my meeting the Monday before.

It is rather difficult to answer some questions "yes" or "no," and in answering that he had not actually promised, I endeavored to give an explanation which apparently a great number of the people in the hall did not hear and thus went away with the wrong impression. The facts are that both Mr. Uphill and Mr. Sawyer had been notified of the meeting, and from my conversation with both, I concluded Mr. Uphill would be present.

On the Saturday just before the meeting Mr. Uphill pointed out that he might not be able to get back as he had to go to Fort Steele and could not afford to hire a car, whereupon I promised him to send my car, for which he thanked me and stated if he could not get back, Mr. Dick Beard, of Michel, or someone else would speak for him. On Monday afternoon, at least two of the men who were on his nomination paper and two others whom I am told compose his committee, asked that I allow Bray to speak, which request I refused and stated to the committee that Mr. Beard, who had previously spoken for Mr. Uphill at Natal, or any other man with the exception of Mr. Bray, would have the same length of time on the platform as I had and would speak after and not before me. This appealed to me as a fair proposition.

Yours truly,
SHERWOOD HERCHMER.

MISRULE OF THE OLIVER-FARRIS GOVERNMENT

They have not abolished patronage as promised in the election of 1916.

They did not properly enforced the Prohibition Act.

They have not spent money on roads to keep them in proper repair.

They have only spent during their term $3,516,000 on Public Works while the Conservatives spent $44,560,000 on Public Works during their term.

The first expenditure on assuming office in 1916 was to refurnish all the offices occupied by the Ministers at a cost of over $9,000.

They have expended in three years $150,000 in automobiles for officials.

They have borrowed in four years $27,536,500 while the Conservatives during their thirteen years of office only borrowed $12,405,000.

The net debt of the Province when the Conservatives left office was $19,000,000 while the net debt of the province today is $34,000,000 or an addition to the net debt under Liberal rule of$15,000,000.

They have imposed on the people attending moving picture shows the sum of $345,985, during their first two years and not a cent was given back to the Municipalities.

They have collected in their first three years in office from motor licences $573,754 and expect to collect in this fiscal year$650,000, making a grand total of $1,123,754, and not a dollar have they paid back to the Municipalities nor have they spent any portion of their money on the roads—and see the state of the roads today.

In 1917 they took over the operation of the Frondeg Farm at Cobble Hill belonging to Griffith Hughes, the then owner of the Victoria Daily Times and a strong supporter of the Government, and in its operation they lost $8,718, and then gave up the lease before the time expired.

They built a private bridge for Charles Doering on Cache Creek connecting his field with the Cariboo Road. It cost $2,450.... They put a gate on the bridge preventing the public from using it. This bridge is locally known as the "Hindenburg" bridge.

The firm of Gillespie, Hart & Todd, of which firm the Minister of Finance is yet a partner, have been doing business with the Government in connection with Insurance and the selling of Provincial Bonds.

The Pacific Great Eastern Railway, whose directors are the Premier, Mr. Oliver, and the Minister of Finance, Mr. Hart, and the Attorney-General, Mr. Farris, placed insurance on the railway in 1919 amounting to $2,249,970, with the firm of Gillespie, Hart & Todd, although they were not the lowest tenderers, and the insurance was placed with an American firm.

ROADS

In 1917-18 the Oilver Government spent $1,151,970 in Public Works and the cost of supervision was $119,972 or 10.4%, while the Conservative Government in 1912-13 spent $4,124,042, and the supervision cost$137,907, or 3.3%.

In 1916 under the Conservative Government the total salaries for the Deputy Minister of Public Works and his assistants at Victoria was $855.32 per month, while in 1920, under the Oliver-Farris Government this same office is costing $2,254.99 per month, an increase in this office alone of $16,796.00 per annum, or 260% of an increase, and during that period the

CITY COUNCIL FIRE CLIFT

The regular meeting of the city council was held last evening with all members present, and as there was only a small amount of business requiring attention the session was one of the shortest held this year.

In connection with the Garbage Disposal Bylaw a fairly lengthy discussion took place. It would appear that nearly every member of the council had had complaints of one kind or another presented to him relative to the charge of 50c a month, the manner in which garbage was being collected, or not being collected in some cases. After the question had been considered at length the matter of modifying the regulations were referred to the committee and it was up to them to bring in their report dealing with adjustments of inequalities should they find that any existed. A sample galvanized iron receptacle received from a Nelson firm was produced for inspection. The price quoted on these cans was $4.00 each in dozen lots or $3.90 each in greater quantities delivered at Fernie. Two local quotations were received of $7.50 and $7.75 each respectively for identically the same article. The decision as to placing any order for garbage cans was left temporarily in abeyance.

Two tenders for the purchase of an improved property acquired by the city at the 1919 tax sale were received; one at $175 and another at $250. The city clerk was instructed to investigate both tenders and make disposition of the property as is deemed just to the former owner.

The city clerk reported that he had now received all certificates of title for all properties sold at the tax sale 1919, including the Miners Hall. The bylaw authorizing the sale of this property to the United Mine Workers of America, same to be deeded in trust to the International President, Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer, received three readings.

A couple of applications for power rate in place of light rate charged at present to consumers using certain electrical appliances, were rejected as the reduction of one cent a kilowatt would not be sufficient to warrant the consumers coming in this proposed class when the expense of installation, special meters and rental therefor was taken into consideration.

His Worship directed the attention of the council to a controversy which had arisen between Mr. Clift, chief power house engineer, and the city engineer and employees of the water works department. This is alleged to have been the statement made by Mr. Clift that if these officials permitted seepage water to flood the power house on any occasion he would close the plant down. Upon this assertion of Mr. Clift being communicated to the mayer, His Worship, accompanied by Ald. Robichaud interviewed Mr. Clift, and he repeated his determination to close the plant down if at any one time the water was allowed to drain into a certain part of the power house. His Worship had thereupon informed Mr. Clift that in so far as closing the plant, that was a matter over which the council were the absolute authority and before he attempted any such drastic a course he must consult the council. Mr. Clift's reply to this instruction, which Ald. Robichaud positively corroborated, was that "The Mayor and the city council could go to h—; that he was in charge of the power plant." His Worship in relating the incident concluded by stating that in view of this disrespectful conduct by Mr. Clift towards the council he should be given one month's notice that his services were no longer required. The matter was discussed by all members present, none of whom however attempted to be in favor of any employee taking such an arbitrary and disrespectful stand. It was intimated to His Worship that he would have been quite within his authority and also would have received the support of the council had he discharged Mr. Clift on the spot. His Worship very positively stated that had the statement been directed to him personally and had not included the entire council, he would have discharged Mr. Clift, but in view of the entire body having its authority ignored, he had decided to place the matter before them to decide as they saw fit. It was, moreover, emphasized that during the term of a former council, Mr. Clift, in the capacity of spokesman for the power house employees, when a demand had been made for increased remuneration, had delivered to the council an ultimatum whereby only a period of two hours was given to meet these demands or the plant would have been closed at that time. The matter was concluded on motion by Alds. McEwan and Robichaud, "That Mr. Clift be given one month's notice that his services are no longer required." There were no dissenting votes to this motion.

Wm. Ingram will install a special wire in his store to receive the election returns on Dec. 1.

VETERANS PROTEST

A communication forwarded by the veterans at Lister to Capt. Ian Mackenzie, president of the Vancouver G.W.V.A., and a Liberal candidate there in the present election contest, will be of interest locally:

Camp Lister, Nov. 14, 1920.

"Capt. Ian Mackenzie,
Pres. Vancouver G.W.V.A.,
"Vancouver, B.C.

"Dear Comrade—Our attention has been drawn to a report of your speeches in Vancouver, particularly one in which you stated that the Hon. W. J. Bowser had been around in the different soldier settlements trying to stir up trouble and ill-feeling towards the Liberal government. We beg to say that in so far as the Lister soldier settlement is concerned your statement is absolutely untrue.

"We would have you note that Mr. Bowser in his tour of the Kootenay last week did not even stop at Creston, so the soldier settlers of Lister have decided to forward to Mr. Bowser a statement of their grievances against the government, with a request that he bring the facts before the public. It may also interest you to know that the Lister branch of the G.W.V.A. have unanimously decided to support Col. Lister in his candidature for this riding and also any other candidate who is opposed to the present government.

"Your statements are the more serious owing to the fact that you, as a member of the Provincial Executive ought to have known that the soldier settlers of Lister have been trying for a year to have their differences with the government settled amicably. The government have broken every agreement under which the settlers came here, and we appealed to both the Provincial Command and the S.C.R. for help towards making the government fulfil their pledges.

"I enclose a copy of the agreement which was presented to the soldier settlers here by Hon. E. D. Barrow, who stated this agreement had been drawn up by the Attorney-General. Would ask you to read this agreement as a lawyer and a returned man and not as a politician. Is it not an insult to all returned men? Can you wonder that we are surprised that you should think it necessary for any person to try to create ill-feeling against the government amongst the settlers? The settlers wrote and protested against such an agreement and thy were informed by Col. Davies the Superintendent of the Land Settlement Board, that if this didn't suit they could get out.

"We trust you will take the first opportunity of correcting your statements, as we feel sure that you must value the welfare of your returned comrades far more than any political advantage gained from public statements which are contrary to the truth.

"Vice-president Lister G.W.V.A."
"(Sgd) L. LOWES.

COAL CREEK NOTES

Among the old timers who arrived back in camp last week were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Gaskell, who have been sojourning on Vancouver Island for the past three years.

Jack Walls, of French camp, attended the "proficiency in mining" examinatfons held in Fernie this week.

Mrs. J. Greenough, of Fernie, was a visitor to camp on Tuesday.

Quite a large number of Creekites journeyed to town on Tuesday evening to take in the Fisher meeting at the Orpheum theatre. A special train conveyed the residents back after the meeting.

As a result of the joint meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose and the Ladies Chapter, a grand dance will be held in Hawthorne's Hall on Tuesday evening, Nov. 30. Bass' orchestra will supply the music. Good eats and popular music. $1 per couple. Dancing from 9.30 p.m. As the Moose are famous for their socials, patrons are assured of a good time.

Dr. Rutledge, of Cranbrook, was in town on Tuesday. The Doctor says that Tom Cavan will have an easy victory over Dr. King in the Cranbrook district.

A. S. GOODEVE DIES SUDDENLY

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Word was received here today of the death in Toronto late last night of A. S. Goodeve, member of the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada.

The late Mr. Goodeve, formerly member for this Dominion constituency, was well known in Fernie, where he has addressed the electors on several occasions and his death is deeply regretted.

He was born in Guelph, Ont., where he served his apprenticeship as a druggist. From Guelph, Mr. Goodeve went to the College of Pharmacy, Toronto, and after graduating he proceeded to New York City. From New York he returned to Chesley, Ont., where he opened a successful drug business. At the fire that occurred in the town he lost heavily, and with his elder brother, Henry, he then came west to Rossland, B.C., where he opened a drug store.

While in Rossland the late Mr. Goodeve went into politics. He was appointed a cabinet minister in the McBride cabinet, but going to the electorate was defeated at the polls by the Labor vote. He was appointed to the Railway Commission shortly after the defeat of the Laurier government in 1911.

The late Mr. Goodeve was known as one of the best, if not the best, stump speakers in Canada. He was a ready and resourceful speaker. He was about 60 years of age and the son of the late H. Goodeve, an old type of Englishman, who had settled in Guelph, where deceased was born. The father was President of the St. George's Society at Guelph.

Mr. Goodeve had been on the Railway Commission since about 1914. Prior to that he represented Kootenay in the House of Commons. He was first elected in 1908 and was re-elected in 1911.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Natal men are betting that Herchmer will have a majority in both Old and New Michel.

* * *

The Hon. Minister of Lands, Dr. King, will be defeated in Cranbrook. His own friends practically admit it.

* * *

* * *

A Cranbrook sport was in town this week and made a bet of $150 to $100 that the government would be defeated. He also bet $300 that Dr. King would be defeated.

* * *

It has taken Mr. Fisher four years to get a road surveyed to Corbin. If he is elected again they may have the right of way cleared by the time the next election comes round.

* * *

D. V. Mott is very much afraid that Tom Uphill will be elected. Don't worry, D.V., neither Tom or Alex have much chance, although it looks as if the former would get second place.

* * *

The Liberals brought Mrs. Stanley Brown all the way from Vancouver to tell the ladies to vote for Premier Oliver. Almost any lady in the audience could have upset her arguments in two minutes.

* * *

Ye gods and little fishes. For the past four years Fisher has forgotten that there was even a road to Coal Creek but now he has six men at work trying to demonstrate the thoughtfulness of the government.

* * *

Mr. Fisher complains that all the school teachers are supporting Mr. Herchmer. This certainly speaks well for the intelligence of the teachers. How any thinking citizen could do otherwise is hard to realize.

* * *

All that Mr. Fisher's government does over in West Fernie is to collect the taxes. They never need any roads or sidewalks in that place. If they could only get Charlie McNab to reside there for a while it might be different.

* * *

Oliver shouts: No straw to make bricks with, no money to build decent roads. He threw away nearly $300,000 on worthless land at Fernie, Kelowna and Creston, and then shouts no money. Why there is not enough money in the world to keep him and his bunch of incompetents going.

* * *

The Liberal candidate boasts that he did not fire a single Conservative J.P., a Notary Public or a Provincial policeman, when he was elected in 1916. Some leniency, indeed. The first two do not get a cent of salary and the policeman is so poorly paid that there is every excuse for him becoming a thief.

* * *

Judging from the remarks of the Hon. Minister of Lands, Dr. King, when he admitted to his supporters that he had a desperate fight on his hands at Cranbrook, and the Hon. Minister of Mines, who said he would be lucky if he were again elected at Nanaimo, it looks very much like a political landslide was in sight which would upset the government.

* * *

A. I. Fisher is a past master at uttering half truths. He told the ladies that Mr. Bowser had voted against Women's Franchise in 1910, but he never said a word about that man giving the public a chance to vote on the referendum, whereby they gained that franchise, or that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and all his Liberal lieutenants at Ottawa opposed women's franchise as late as 1918.

* * *

Charlie McNab was under the spot light at the meeting on Monday evening. The voters have not forgotten that he compelled his servant, A. I. Fisher, to discharge Frank Harmer for doing his duty, when he laid information against Charlie McNab for violating the game law. It was the most despicable act any politician ever pulled off. When the public servant should have been rewarded for doing his duty he was instantly fired and Fisher cannot truthfully deny it.

* * *

And talking about incompetents. Just listen to a little local affair which all should know. A seizure of about half a car of liquor was made by the city and immediately taken over by the Attorney-General's department, who wired to have it immediately sent by express to Vancouver. No time to appeal the case was allowed; it must be shipped at once by express. It cost the government $700 more to send this shipment by express than by freight, but a little thing like $700 does not mean anything to the Oliver government, and still they shout, no straw, no straw. And further, the decision confiscating the liquor has been reversed and now they will have to bring it back, at further expense.

Oliver-Farris Government has built no new roads. This same increase has prevailed all over the province in connection with Public Works. You can now see why the Government "surtaxes" the farmer by increasing his taxes three-fold and spends nothing on roads.

When the Conservatives left office in 1916 they left over 15,000 miles of roads, 8,000 miles of trails and 60 miles of bridges, while the Oliver-Farris Government have failed to keep up these works by way of repairs, as all their money voted for district votes is spent in overhead salaries and travelling expenses of high-class officials.

In the first three years of office the Oliver-Farris Government collected $214,136 for Game Licenses, and this year they expect to collect $120,000, making a total of $334,000. And the game of this country is being slaughtered because all old game officials were dismissed, and there are no officials to speak of attempting to prosecute under the Game Act. Dr. Baker, a practising dentist in Vancouver, was placed in charge of the Department and is now receiving a salary of$300.00 per month, and Attorney-General Farris purchased for him an Overland 5-passenger car, costing $1,523, which is used exclusively by Dr. Baker in Vancouver and vicinity. The Department pays for the storage and upkeep of the said car.

The Agricultural Credits Commission, brought into existence by the old Govt. for the purpose of loaning cheap money to farmers cost $13,073 a year to operate, while the Land Settlement Board which took its place under the Oliver administration in 1918 cost $28,860 a year to operate, or more than double the cost of the old Board, and have only loaned about $110,000 since they took office. This Board has spent $2,400,000 in connection with so-called Soldier Settlement areas and everyone knows the most unsatisfactory results received from this work. This Board bought the Christian Ranch near Kelowna for a Soldier Land Settlement area for the sum of $34,543.52, and in addition spent $$55,171 in development work, in all $89,741, and in July last the Government abandoned it because there was no water available to irrigate the land and the soldiers had to give up their holdings.

Mr. Thos. Morrison, President of the Liberal Association at Rutland, obtained this property under option from the original owners and after having it for thirty days turned it over to the Land Settlement Board making a clear profit of $9,000.00.

The Board also bought a Soldier area at Fernie and spent $23,713 on it and then abandoned it, and the soldiers from both this area and the Kelowna area have now been scattered all over the province.

When the Conservative Government left office in 1916 the salaries paid to officials in the Province amounted to$1,664,222, while today under the Oliver-Farris Government these salaries have reached the enormous figure of $3,202,482 — or an increase in four years of $1,538,260, which is a quarter of the total revenue of the province.

The record of absconding officials under the Oliver-Farris Administration has never been equalled in the history of the Province. Their first Attorney-General, Mr. M. A. Macdonald, was forced to resign owning to his having received $15,000 campaign funds from the Mackenzie-Mann interests. He was also involved in his first election in 1916 in the "plugging" scandal, when Seattle toughs were brought over from Seattle under one John T. Scott, to vote absentees and daed men in the city of Vancouver. Scott was assisted in his work by a man named Cook, who was afterwards appointed by Attorney-General Farris to the public service and placed in charge of automobile licenses. Later on he absconded and together with Scott is now residing in the United States and has never been punished. Mr. Findlay, the Prohibition Commissioner, was also appointed by Attorney-General Farris and tried to escape, but was caught on the U. S. boundary and has since served a term in the penitentiary.

Although the Mothers' Pension Act passed the Legislature last April, the first payment under this Act was not made until the month of October, just before the election.

The Minimum Wage Board has proved a failure as employers are allowed to evade its provisions.

What the New Conservative Government Will Do If Electe To Office

1. They will give you an efficient and economical Administration.
2. They will reduce the great overhead salary list but not in such a way as to affect the Public Service and at the same time pay reasonable salaries, considering the high cost of living, to those in the employ of the Government.
3. They will do everything possible to encourage and assist in developing natural resources.
4. They will try to establish, as they did in the past, more pulp mills in this province.
5. They will restore our credit in the money markets where they left it in 1916.
6. They will follow out their original policy of 1914 in extending the Pacific Great Eastern Railway into the Peace River and touch the great grain growing area of Western Alberta so as to divert that shipping into our coast harbours.
7. They will encourage prospecting in both minerals and oil and will cancel the reserves which the Oliver Government has placd on coal, iron and oil in this province.
8. They will go into the money markets and borrow money at the lowest possible rate of interest and re-loan it to farmers in loans from 10 to 40 years.
9. They will institute a proper and practical policy of encouraging soldiers to go on the land.
10. They will give assistance to Municipalities by paying them a per capita grant from the consolidated revenue, which will have the effect of reducing taxes.
11. They will encourage irrigation in the portions of the province requiring it by assuming Government ownership and control of the water for irrigation purposes, construction of storage, surveys and main canals as public utilities.
12. They will also assist the distribution of irrigation water by guaranteeing of bonds of water municipalities.
13. They will also give consideration to further necessary irrigation facilities by means of assistance to hydro-electric projects.
14. They will introduce legislation and carry into effect the declared wishes of the people as expressd in the recent referendum on liquor; at the same time this Act must be a fair and reasonable one so that the Government will have absolute control of the traffic and that there will be no abuse in the uses of liquor, but same to be used only in moderation. Heavy penalties will be included in the Act for all infractions, and the Act will be strictly enforced. They will also use every effort with the Dominion Government, under whose jurisdiction the matter lies, to see that legislation is passed at Ottawa which will stop the importation of liquor into this province by private parties, so that all liquor purchased and sold in British Columbia will be absolutely under Government control.
15. The Conservative Government will also hand over to the Municipalities a share of the profits derived from the sale of liquor in the Government stores so that the burden of taxation in Municipalities may be reduced by this contribution from the government.
16. The above are only a few of the reforms which will be instituted by the Conservative Government should they be elected on the 1st December as they stand pledged to adopt a constructive business-like program which will be administered by business men, looking forward to a more successful period in the next five years and with more results than we have seen under the Oliver Administration.

"WILL PRAISE IT LONG AS I LIVE"

Mrs. Imerson Almost Like A Different Woman Since Taking Tanlac

"I will praise Tanlac long as I live for what it has done for my wife," said Henry E. Imerson, 302 Fourteenth St., Calgary, Alberta, recently.

"For three years my wife suffered terribly from indigestion. After every meal her food would sour, she had a bad taste in her mouth and suffered terribly from the formation of gas. Frequently she had such pains in the region of her heart she could hardly breathe, and if she took a long breath the pain was almost unbearable. She could get but little sleep and many a night lay awake nearly all night. She did not have a particle of color in her face, was in a badly run-down condition and had lost considerable weight.

"She had tried many treatments and medicines, but nothing seemed to do her good until she started taking Tanlac. I bought her a bottle, as I had heard so much about the good it was doing others, and I must say that after taking seven bottles she is almost like a different woman. She can eat three hearty meals a day and enjoy every one of them and everything she eats agrees with her perfectly. The gas has quit forming after her meals, she does not have that bad taste in her mouth and never has a sign of pain in the region of her heart. She sleeps well, has a good color in her face and has gained several pounds in weight. She feels better now than she has for many years, and we both never miss an opportunity to praise it."

TUXIS BOYS AND TRAIL RANGERS
BY Firelighter

ROTARIANS AND BOYS

The Rotary Club of Prince Albert, Sask., not long ago gave an evening to the entertainment of about fifty boys from the public schools and the Collegiate Institute. The evening was part of the wide-spread movement among Rotarians to do everything possible to persuade boys to remain at school for complete equipment for the tasks of life.

Everyone had a good time and the boys listened to four cracking good speeches put up to them. The topic for the evening was "Education As An Investment," and it was taken up from four standpoints by as many speakers.

Let me quote a few sentences from one of the speakers: "Children should stay at school as long as possible because education means better jobs. Boys and girls who go to work at the end of the public school course rarely get good jobs. The work they find to do is usually unskilled; it offers little training or chance for advancement. When they are older they find they are still untrained for the skilled work which offers a future. Education means higher wages.

"Many boys and girls when they leave school find work that offers a high wage for a beginner. But these wages seldom grow because the work requires no training.

"A position with a future and steadily increasing wages requires school training.

"Does it pay to continue your studies? Education means a successful and useful life; it pays the individual; it pays the nation. Talk this over with your parents and ask them what they think about it. Stay in school.

"From a study of a large number of actual cases it has been found that at 25 years of age the boy who remained in school until he was 18 has received $2000 more salary than the boy who left school at 14, and that the better educated youth was then receiving more than $900 a year more in pay.

"This is equivalent to an investment of $18,000 at 5 per cent. Can a boy increase his capital as fast in any other way?

"From this time on the salary of the better educated boy will rise more rapidly, while the earnings of the boy who left school at 14 will increase but little."

November is "Stick-to-School" month for Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers. Stick it out, boys. if you have left school go back, or get in some extra study somehow, by night school or correspondence study.

PIES and PASTRIES

FOR light, tender, flaky pastry you have only to add that spoonful of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

And once you have seen how easy these deliciously filled pies are to make, you will want one or more of them every day in the week!

Custard Pie

1 cup pastry flour
½ teaspoon Dr. Price's Baking Powder
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
cold water

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; add one-half shortening and rub in lightly with fingers; add water slowly until of right consistency to roll out. Roll out very thin; put on in small pieces remaining shortening; fold upper and lower edges in to center; fold sides in to center; fold sides in to center again; roll out thin and put on pie plate.

Custard

3 eggs
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups scalded milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Beat eggs, add sugar, salt, flavoring and milk very slowly. Line pie plate with paste made as above, and bake in very hot oven about 10 minutes. Pour custard into the baked crust and bake in moderate oven about 25 minutes. The pie is done when a knife put in center of custard comes out dry.

Cocoanut Pie is made the same way, adding 1 cup of shredded cocoanut, and using only 2 eggs.

Pumpkin Pie

2 cups stewed and strained pumpkin
2 cups rich milk or cream
¾ cup brown or granulated sugar
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix pumpkin with milk, sugar, well-beaten eggs, ginger, salt, cinnamon, and beat 2 minutes. Pour into pie tin which has been lined with pastry. Place in hot oven for 15 minutes, then reduce heat and bake 45 minutes in moderate oven. To bring out flavor of pumpkin it must be very well baked.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM Baking Powder

lating the game laws. That was the kind of man who was appealing to you for your votes on the ground of non-patronage.

The Premier, Mr. Oliver, had said that like the Egyptians, the government could not make brick without straw, but if they threw their money away buying worthless property such as that recently abandoned by the Soldier Settlement Board east of the town, they could not be expected to spend much on roads. And talking about wasting money, at Fernie they had only squandered some fifty thousand dollars, but at Kelowna it reached $90,000 and not a returned man today on the land. Let them go to Creston; the returned men there had made Mr. Oliver sit up and take notice and forced him to change the agreements which they had been asked to sign.

He said Mr. Fisher had been carrying on a campaign of villification against Mr. Bowser on the P. G. & E, but he had been dropping it of late. When the Liberal party had been elected they had been carried into power on a crusade of villification, declaring that Mr. Bowser was the worst thief at large and when they were elected he would be immediately placed behind the bars, but what was the result of their investigations. They had spent $18,000 on a special audit, which they never even brought down in the House, because they found that audit exonerated Mr. Bowser. On the other hand the Liberal Attorney General, M. A. Macdonald, had been compelled to resign owing to his crooked record in the late elections.

A. I. Fisher then took the platform. He was in good fettle and made a strong appeal to the electors of Fernie for their support. He said that it was a noticeable fact that both Mr. Herchmer and Mr. Uphill were out after his scalp but they never seemed to bother going after each other. Mr. Herchmer had accused him of violating the non-patronage platform, but not a J.P. or a Notary Public in the district had been fired and he still noticed that the court house crowd and most of the policemen were on the job; and also that a number of Conservatives had been allowed to work on the government roads.

He was strong on records and packed a small library, which he threatened to deluge his audience with if they would only come out and hear him at a meeting which he will hol dnext Monday night. The government had made lots of mistakes, but nobody gets any place without making mistakes. Mr. Herchmer had spoken of three places where the government had blundered in picking land for soldier settlement, but he hadn't mentioned about 17 other places which had turned out all right, neither had he mentioned the number of industries which the government was assisting financially at the coast. The government had been perfectly honest in their endeavors in every particular and he thought they should be given another chance.

He then took up the matter of moderation, stating that so far as he was concerned he believed the hard liquor should be sold by the government, but that he would be in favor of granting the hotels the right to sell beer.

Mr. Uphill was the last speaker. He said both the other candidates had devoted a good deal of time toward showing that neither the Liberal party, on the one hand, or the Conservative party on the other, were competent to run the country. He believed both men were telling the truth. Neither of them had the best interests of the country at heart. He said that the Fernie constituency was one of the largest industrial districts in the province and should be represented by a working man who had some knowledge of the working conditions, rather than by a lawyer who, although he might be an honest man, had not the interest of the workers at heart.

The meeting was not wildly enthusiastic for any one of the candidates, but each man was given a fair and impartial hearing, and each one seemed to have a good substantial following in the house.

Mr. Morrison, high school teacher, at one time took Mr. Fisher to task for saying that the teachers of Fernie were behind Mr. Herchmer because the Conservative candidate happened to be chairman of the school board. He said that not all the teachers were supporting Mr. Herchmer, although he himself was doing so because he believed him to be the best man.

DANCE AT NOLAN'S CAMP

A very successful dance was held at Nolan's Camp on Saturday, Nov. 277, under the direction of Miss Essler, the school teacher, and Mrs. S. McDonald, the object of the donce being to raise funds for the children's Christmas tree. Before the dance, A. I. Fisher addressed the audience in a very touching speech which was well appreciated, and was followed by Mr. Gregson on behalf of Mr. Herchmer, who outlined his views. It was a very friendly affair and there was no sign of friction on either side. The dance was a great success, and after the tagger, who did not let any slip by. for the Christmas tree. We have to thank Miss Essler and Mrs. McDonald for the able manner in which the affair was carried out; also the tagger, wh odid not let any slip by. FATAL ACCIDENT AT GOAT RANCH

Last Sunday afternoon a sad accident occurred at the ranch of Tony Bossio, better known as the Goat Ranch, whereby 14 year old Joseph Bossio, twin son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Bossio, lost his life. It was another case of a child playing with a loaded gun, and while there was no one actually present when the accident occurred, the investigation conducted by Robert Duthie, Coroner, and the Provincial Police, resulted in substantially determining how it happened. The little fellow was left in the home while his mother and grandmother went outside to perform their daily task of milking the goats. The animals were being herded up for this purpose by two brothers of the unfortunate boy. This was between 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon and the first intimation of any unusual occurrence was the sound of a gun being discharged. The mother and grandmother immediately rushed into the house and there found the little fellow lying on his back on th floor in a doorway between two rooms, with a single barrel shotgun also on the floor beside him, muzzle towards the body. He was immediately lifted up and placed on a bed in an adjoining room, and the only indication of life after the women reached him was a faint gasp. Medical aid was hastily summoned and both Dr. Asseltine and Dr. Bonnell hurried to the scene but the lad was beyond medical skill, and at the inquest Dr. Bonnell testified that death had been instantaneous, as the full charge had penetrated the abdomen and owing to the close proximity of the gun the effect had been extremely severe.

The evidence adduced at the coroner's inquest was that the shot gun, which was of a very obsolete pattern, and in very unsafe condition, had been kept in a store room in the rear of the dwelling, and that as far as the mother and grandmother knew had not been used for a very long time, nor to their knowledge was there a shell in the house suitable for use in this gun. The boy had not been in the habit of playing with firearms to their knowledge, and when they left the house on Sunday he was amusing himself about the house but the gun was not in evidence. The first thought of the gun was when they heard the report.

At the outset certain peculiar features presented themselves to the authorities more or less emphasizing the impossibility of the lad himself being able to dicharge the gun, but an examination of the mechanism of the weapon soon divulged that it might operate without using the trigger. The reasonable explanation reached as to how the accident occurred was that the little fellow had obtained the gun from its secluded placing, and if at that time unloaded had possibly secured a shell from some unknown source, as in his pockets a quantity of 22 calibre shells was found concerning which his parents knew nothing, inserted the cartridge and then as the gun was somewhat cumbersome for him to handle, had dragged it along by the muzzle to the outer room where near the doorway in which he was found was a chair, on the leg of which the hammer had caught, pulling it backward, and when released from this or whatever obstruction it had come in contact with, through the defective mechanism, it did not remain cocked but snapped back with sufficient force to discharge the shell. The ease with which this could happen was demonstrated to the jury, and after retiring for a short period they returned a verdict of accidental death.

This was the first occasion upon which Mr. Duthie has acted in his newly acquired official capacity of coroner and the businesslike manner and dispatch with which he conducted the investigation and presented the material at his disposal to the jury deserves commendation, and is a good indication that with a little more experience in these matters, that he will conduct them in a fair and unbiased manner, and that they will be thorough, complete and adhere strictly to the essential features, as should be the case in enquiries of this nature.

Everything in connection with the polling on election day seems to have passed off very nicely and Jas. McLean and his clerk, H. Bryant, deserve credit for the masterly manner in which they carried out the provisions of a very complicated Election Act.

LABOR CANDIDATE CARRIES OFF HONORS

The big fight is over and in this district the representatives of the two old parties have been left holding the bag while the Labor candidate got away with the spoils. However it was a battle royal and for three weeks all three candidates worked like tojans.

Fernie City was a big disappointment to both the Liberals and the Conservatives, the former not falling within 130 of their marked list, and the Conservatives also falling down by approximately the same number.

In the district Mr. Uphill got a majority in 9 polls, Mr. Herchmer in 8 and Mr. Fisher in 5. There will be over 200 votes yet to count on Dec. 22, but there is no probability of the final result being switched.

The election was on the whole a very clean fight and as both the defeated men are the best of losers all hard feelings and disappointment will sonn pass away.

Following is the result in the different polls throughout the district :

CRANBROOK AND "DAD"

A wealth of reminiscence was stirred up this week in the memories of the real old-timers of the city, when the news came through on Tuesday morning of the death of F. E. Simpson, formerly of this city, but lately of Kamloops. The word came to Mr. W. M. Harries from Mort. Billings, who was associated with "Old Man" Simpson both here and subsequently at Kamloops, that he had died while under an operation for appendicitis.

The story of "Dad" Simpson's connection with Cranbrook and vicinity harks back to the earliest days of the place. He came first in 1897 to Wardner, which was at that time actually being used by the C. P. R. as its divisional point. Col. Baker, however, was largely instrumental in having the C. P. R. change its decision, and the divisional point was finally removed to Cranbrook. Mr. Simpson had in the meantime commenced the publication of the "Wardner International" at that point but came to Cranbrook in the spring of 1898 and established the Cranbrook Herald, for a time continuing the publication of both papers. For the next twelve or thirteen years he was intimately connected with the life and growth of the city. He was a charter member of the local Odd Fellow lodge, and with J. P. Fink was one of the first delegates to go from the local lodge to Grand Lodge sessions at New Westminster. Mr. Simpson was also closely connected with the early activities of the Cranbrook Board of Trade and other organizations. Shortly after his coming to this part he married Miss Kate Phelps, who came from his old home town of Souix City, Iowa. They had no family of their own but in the largeness of their hearts they took a boy for adoption as their own son, giving him their own surname. Ever since, Donald Watson Simpson has had a good home, and has been treated as one of the family. He has been at Kamloops with his foster parents since they established themselves there. Mr. Simpson was always keenly interested in politics, and a Democrat in his homeland to the south, he espoused the Liberal cause in provincial issues here, to which viewpoint he leaned quite strongly till about 1910 or thereabouts when he turned to the Conservative fold. He was an unexcelled speaker and after leaving here in 1911 or thereabouts, having disposed of the Herald, he took part in the election campaign of 1912.

He dropped newspaper work for a time after leaving this city, and took up with a tobacco and cigar business at Kamloops. While there he also took an interest in one of the subdivisions of that city and going over to the Old Country made a sale of the property, a deal which is supposed to have netted him something upwards of $50,000. Returning from England he went to Victoria and engaged in a journalistic venture in the form of a weekly journal, which however was not a success. A little later he was back in the newspaper game at Kamloops, being connected with the Sentinel, which he pursued until two years ago or so, when failing eyesight compelled him to relinquish it. When he was thus compelled to lay aside his pen, one of the outstanding figures in British Columbia journalism was removed. He was also connected with the Lethbridge Herald at the time of the beginnings of that now prosperous paper.

Now with the news of his death, there are scores all through the interior who mourn in his passing the loss of a good friend and true, and who join in extending to Mrs. Simpson and son their deep sympathy. — Cranbrook Herald.

BROLEY'S INVENTION FAILED

J. A. Broley wanted to paint his chicken house, so he went to the warehouse and got hold of what he thought was some dark colored paint. He poured some of this out into a can, put in some turps and mixed it up, and then handed it to one of the men and told him to go ahead. He did so. At the end of an hour or so he rubbed it to see if it was sticking O.K. and was surprised to find that it all rubbed off. So he painted it again and left it for two hours with the same result. So he added a little more turps and painted it again, this time leaving it all night. But exactly the same thing happened in the morning. Mrs. Broley happened along in the morning, smelt something funny and asked them what they were painting the chicken house with. "Paint, of course." "I don't think so," she said, "smells to me like molasses." And upon investigation it was found that J. A. B. had taken the wrong can. Exastly similar to the paint can was a can containing five gallons of New Orleans blackstrap molasses. This was mixed with turp and ued to paint the chicken house.

A district in B.C. gets just about what it votes for. With the election of a Labor candidate without any particular backing in the House—unless by chance that backing wields the balance of power—the district will receive very little recognition in the matter of appropriations. If the candidate happens to be a member of either of the larger parties, they are forced to listen to his demands.

GOVERNMENT RETURNED

Vancouver, Dec. 2. — The Oliver government has been returned to office but with a greatly reduced majority in the British Columbia elections held yesterday. Returns received up to an easly hour this morning assure the election of 24 Liberals out of a house of 47 members. The Conservatives are conceded 15 seats, while the balance of the seats are distributed among Independent Liberals, Independents and Labor. There are two doubtful seats, which the Liberals claim they will win. It is regarded as certain that the government will have a safe working majority.

To the Workers of Fernie Riding :

It affords me the very greatest pleasure to take this, the first opportunity, of expressing my sincere thanks for your confidence in myself and the cause I represent, which you so ably demonstrated during the entire campaign and in the polling booth on election day.

I feel that the thanks of every man who sympathizes with the workers' cause are especially due to the wives and mothers who, in spite of the propaganda of the old political parties, loyally stood by their cause and their class.

The victory achieved on Wednesday last is but the forerunner of greater victories to be, when the workers have fully realized their own economic position and have awakened to the possibilities of united action.

Personally, it shall be my very pleasant duty to carry out your wishes and your instructions as your representative at Victoria, and to see that Fernie riding gets the attention its position as one of the largest producing centres in the province deserves. Let us, from this time on, sink our petty differences, sever our allegiance with the old political parties, discard the old shibboleths and as workers go forward to victory over the class that has so long held us in subjugation.

Yours in the cause,
Thos. Uphill.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

The 4th Fernie Troop of Boy Scouts has been organized now for about a month. During this time 35 boys, 5 officers and instructors have been enrolled.

The headquarters of this Troop is situated in the Liphardt Block, Victoria avenue, but due to the fact that these quarters are fast becoming too crowded and cramped, it has been decided to move the headquarters to the rooms above the 41 Market, Victoria avenue.

Equipment for the proper training of the boys is being obtained as fast as the finances will permit and at the present time Carpentering, First Aid and Signalling classes have been started, as well as general instruction in Scoutcraft.

To date, fifteen boys have passed their first test in Scoutcraft, what is known as the "Tenderfoot Test," while several more of the boys are ready to try this test at the next meeting.

Parents and guardians "Consent Cards" are being sent to the homes of the boys who have joined, as well as to prospective members. The object of these cards is to secure the consent of the parents and guardians of the boys, as it is realized that in some cases boys have joined without the knowledge or consent of the parents and this movement asks for the support and co-operation of the parents.

It is hoped that once the Boy Scouts are established in their new quarters that their parents and guardians will be invited to come and see for themselves the activities of their boys as represented by the Boy Scout movement.—Scoutmaster.

The Fernie Boy Scout Local Association wishes to acknowledge the following donations :

Previously acknowledged	$180.00
R. W. Wood	50.00
A. Cummings	10.00
Total	$240.00

Fire Chief Jimmy McNicholas, one of Fernie's best known young men, was united in marriage on Dec. 2nd to Miss Mary Murray, of Durham, Eng. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Strawbridge. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents.

OUTPUT AND HOURS.

From the report on Factories and Workshops it appears that the introduction of the eight-hour day has in some cases led to no loss of production, whilst leading to great improvement in the matter of time-keeping, which must tend to the more regular and profitable conduct of the factory. The trades in which output has not suffered are mainly those involving great exertion or constant alertness on the part of the workman, but where production depends almost entirely on the speed of the machinery as in spinning, it is stated that the fall in output has been nearly in proportion to the reduction in hours. There is, however, some indirect evidence that this falling-off can be eliminated by a suitable increase in so-called "non-productive" section of the staff. Thus at a silk spinning and weaving factory when the hours of work were reduced from 49 to 44 per week the output actually rose. In this case careful records were kept of each machine and worker, and any deficiency in individual output colsely investigated. This often brought to light slight defects in the machinery and also demonstrated the fact that temperature had a considerable influence on production. Moreover, it was found that certain workers were not fitted to the work on which they were engaged, but made good when transferred to other duties. This plan of fitting the job to the workman instead of the workman to the job appears to have been first systematically practiced by that remarkable genius the late F. W. Taylor, who is reported to have said that while he had no use for any but a first-class operative he had yet to meet with the man who did not prove first-class at some kind of work. —Engineering London.

ADDING TERRORS TO DEATH

The spiritists who are so active nowadays, persist in adding new terrors to death. Now, it is alleged, Thomas A. Edison has invented a telephone by which he expects to communicate with the dead. We should have expected a great man whose course is almost run to have had more sympathy with the majority he must some day join, than to invent an instrument for the destruction of the peace we all hope to enjoy in the hereafter. Most busy men suffer enough annoyance from telephone calls in this world, without having to face the prospect of their continuance in the next.

Taking one consideration with another, a dead man's life is not a happy happy one, when the "mediums" and their supporters, the spiritists, get after him. No matter how brilliant his intellect during his earthly life, his mind seemingly suffers almost total eclipse after physical dissolution. He is placed at the beck and call of some Indian chief, who does a land office business as a "control." He is made to play a guitar, shake the curtains, slap ladies' faces, push tables about, and do all sorts of childish things that he would never have thought of doing in this life. Small wonder that when he occasionally writes a letter with slate and pencil he has lost more of his powers of expression. And the Indian chief constantly compels him to state that he is happy; which under most circumstances must be a lie. His letters are in this respect no more candid, probably, than those which were sent from Mr. Squeers' establishment, Dotheboys Hall.

Now that he is expected to answer telephone calls from this earth his trials will be doubled; and it is to be hoped that once in a while the big Injun boss will permit him to leave the phone off the hook. It is also to be hoped that Edison's new invention will be a failure not merely for the sake of the dead, but of the living. If the spirits are no more successful at making themselves clear over the telephone, than they are in their letrs, the listener at this end will have his troubles too.—Saturday Night.

NOT CRAZY NOWADAYS

The world today is filled with people who are suffering from complexes. These mental delusions are not generally recognized as such, because so many persons boast about things of which they should be ashamed — things like being unable to eat a cucumber or to sleep with their heads to the north. Complexes, both. With so many psycho-analysts at hand, it is almost criminal in this day and age for anybody to harbor a "notion."

When an individual showed signs of having a crack in his cranium ten or twenty years ago, his family picked out a pleasantly situated sanitarium for him or shut him up in a large room on the third floor behind a sentry, who would prevent him from wandering down into the drawing-room and scaring the bridge players.

However faint a poor creature's hallucination, he was academically spoken of as "bughouse" and considered unfit to vote for mayor or help decorate the Christmas tree.

Just about the time when the provincial asylums were beginning to clamor for larger appropriations to care for their charges, psychology was discovered: It had been heard of before, of course, but it had never been talked about.

Then the word went round that insanity was a misnomer in seven cases out of ten. The scientists had discovered that a man's believing himself to be a boa constrictor was no justification for branding him as crazy. He was merely suffering from a complex—in this instance, the serpent complex—and could be easily cured and made fit to serve as vestryman by a few simple questions which would dig up his mental past and bring to light for instant annihilation whatever buried subconscious idea was polluting his active gray matter. They would take him into a room and ask him to tell instantly what he thought of when he heard such words or expressions as "uncle," "Georgia peach," "frog," "infinity." In short, they would "psyche" him to destroy his complex, and he would never again consider himself a boa constrictor.

The man who wants to play every hand at bridge is suffering from the superiority complex. It is imbedded in his mind that the safety of the rubber lies with him alone.

Then there is the preson who never knows what he wants to order in a restaurant. He is the "carte-du-jour" complex. He will stare helplessly at the printed items while the waiter hovers expectantly over him, and will whipsaw among Salmon Hollandaise, sweetbread croquettes and mushrooms on toast until his table companions are ready to bolt. He has a horror of food in print. A few questions ought to cure him.

It is said that spinsters have a habit of looking under their beds before turning out the light to see whether or not a man has hidden himself in their apartments. It is the "left all alone again" complex which forces them to satisfy themselves as to their safety. Experience has taught them that they are not likely to find a burglar under the bed, but the subsonscious mind is too strong for them.

The "fear of traffic" complex is another interesting one. Many people have such a timidity about crossing the street that they will hurl themselves at a policeman for protection even after the whistles have blown for everything to stop.

Then there is the "Dorine" complex. Many women go through life under the constant fear that their noses are shining. As soon as the curtain falls upon an act of a play, they may be seen streaking for the dressing room in order to repair their complexions. Some of them are so obessed with the complex that they will resort to their vanity cases in restaurants and other public places.

These, of course, are only a few of the complexes which trouble hummanity and detract from the sum total of human happiness. But they should give the reader a faint idea of the current conception of mental distress and point a way to relief if he should give the reader a fair idea of his own. A complex should get the same treatment as a bad tooth.

HON. ARTHUR MEIGHEN

The consensus of opinion among experienced observers in all parts of the country is that the better the public becomes acquainted with the Prime Minister, Hon. Arthur Meighen, the better it likes him. Everywhere he goes, his speeches score in the interest of the national government over which he presides and have the effect of spreading new enthusiasm, and a renewed interest in the great issues that face Canada, among many who had become dissident or indifferent. He is thus creating a sound and stable body of public sentiment to combat the forces of unrest and disintegration which have become too active in Canada. Western advices show that this is as true of the districts beyond the Great Lakes as it is of estern centres.

That Hon. Mr. Meighen should have been able to accomplish this much within less than five months confirms the opinion of those instrumental in elevating him to his present position, that he is the ablest and most adroit leader who has captained the Liberal-Conservative party since the death of Sir John A. Macdonald. There are even those who go farther and hold that while he has not the wonderful magnetic oratory of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he has gifts of concentration and decision surpassing those of "Le Veiux Coq," an epithet Sir Wilfrid liked.

When he became Prime Minister in the early summer, the personality of Hon. Arthur Meighen was unknown outside the Province of Manitoba and the city of Ottawa. His reputation was a matter of newspaper fame, and he, perhaps to a greater extent than any other member of the Borden cabinet, had been the subject of abuse, that, when it was not untruthful was bitterly unfair. It was a paramount necessity if he was to carry on government with success the people must become better acquainted with him. Since then he has spoken in almost every province from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and the electorate have realized that it was not being governed by a man of icy, Machiavellian intellect detached from the multitude, but a warm-blooded fighting man with an enormous grasp of national problems and of intense convictions. It was said that he dare not face Quebec. He took up the challenge and now even his opponents in that province speak of him as a fine courageous man. It was said that he would be crushed under the opprobrium of his own people if he went into the west. He has just completed a tour of that vast section and has addressed countless enthusiastic audiences in which many who came to jeer, remained to cheer.

The secret of Mr. Meighen's success on the platform lies in his straightforwardness, his freedom from evasions of any kind, his willingness to emphatically state his position on any question that is raised. He showed this in Toronto last week when with the one word "No" he answered an enquiry as to whether he would re-open the question of soldiers' gratuities. Before his meeting threats had been made as to what would happen if he did not recede from his position on that matter. Nothing did happen except some windy al fresco oratory. Inside Massey Hall the Prime Minister went ahead with the enunciation of his constructive programme.

Hon. Mr. Meighen, no matter what the future holds in store for him, is today recognized as the most powerful figure in Canadian politics. His ever-growing personal prestige is due to his refreshing and Roosveltain quality of not only knowing what he thinks, but saying what he thinks. No one can question his sincerity and candor, and though it would be a mistake to suppose that public meetings do more than scratch the surface of public prejudice and public opinion, he undoubtedly stands on an ever growing base of public confidence.—Saturday Night.

GABRIELLE FAVORED BY HENRY OF NAVARRE

Gabrielle, the only woman who succeeded in holding until her death the heart of the fickle King of Navarre was born of a good family in the year 1573, but there was little incentive to virtue in her environment. Her father was notorious for his love of dancing, for which he neglected his duty of governing the town of La Fere, and her mother, running away with a nobleman young enough to be her son.

Gabrielle was but 17 years old when Henry, spending a night in her father's castle, became violently enamored of her. Gabrielle was young and radiantly beautiful, with golden hair and eyes of a wonderful blue. But she saw little that was attractive in the King. Henry was 37 years old and he looked older. He had been called the ugliest man in all France. By the time that Henry had conquered most of his foes, Gabrielle's influence and position were publicly recognized. And when Henry of Navarre made his triumphal entry into Paris, Gabrielle rode before him in an open litter, her jewels glittering in the light of countless torches.

But the King's attentions alarmed Gabrielle's father, who hurriedly married her to a neighbor, a man of considerable wealth, but as unattractive as the King in appearance and without any of Henry's courage and sound sense. She lived for three months with her husband, found life unendurable, and then flung caution to the winds. She fled from her home and joined the wandering court of the fighting King.

TEMPERAMENT MEANS TEMPER MEANT?

"It is always a source of amusement to me," confides Miss Norma Talmadge, whose latest photoplay success, "Yes or No," will be at the Orpheum Friday and Saturday of this week, "to hear some one speak of an actor or actress' temperament. How absurd such a thing is. Why should a player have outbursts of temperament any more than a lawyer, doctor, artist or any other professional? Why is it necessary for them to give vent to these exhibitions of the eccentricity of genius any more than it is for a cook or a chambermaid to have similar outbursts.

"To my mind temperament means temper—nothing more, and I would blush to have any one accuse me of being temperamental. Although you could not get them to admit it, temperament has been the ruination of many prominent stars in the theatrical world. I recall one case off hand of one of the most prominent donnas the musical comedy stage possessed a few years ago, who through this so-called temperament lost her popularity with theatregoers to such an extent that she was finally forced to appear in a cabaret in order to obtain a livelihood. She realized her mistake before it was too late and finally re-established herself in the public's good graces and now—after wasting several years of her life, she is gradually regaining her popularity.

"As for me I am too busy to give vent to temperament even if I had the desire. To me work is the surest preventative for this dread malady and I go in for this cure."

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

THE HOME OF THE WORKING MAN

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Mrs. Robt. Dudley received word this week of the death of a brother in Ontario.

Married—At Christ Church, Fernie, B.C., on Saturday, Nov. 27, by Rev. Mr. Brown, Wm. Phillips and Edith Tinsley.

The election fight between Dr. King and Tom Cavan was a battle royal and the end is not yet. King at present has a small lead, which the official count is very likely to upset.

Don't forget the I.O.D.E. Rummage and Delicatsssen Sale to be held Saturday afternoon, Dec. 4, in the store recently occupied by K. A. Saad, Henderson Block.

The city voters list has been posted at the city hall and if you have been left off by any error now is the time to put your kick in, as the Court of Revision meets on Dec. 10th.

The Fernie Junior Hockey team will hold a dance in Victoria Hall on Tuesday, Dec. 21. Dancing from 9.30 to 2.30. $1.50 per couple. Extra lady 50c.

The annual meeting of the Ladies Benevolent Society will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 3.30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. M. A. Kastner. All members are urgently requested to be present.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will be held in the council chamber on Monday, Dec. 6, at 8 p.m. The men are specially requested to be present as there will be an important discussion on the new School Bylaw.

A. B. Morrison, principal of the High School, has resigned his position. Mr. Morrison has accepted the position of science specialist in Vancouver High School, and will leave for the coast the first of the New Year.

A quiet wedding took place at Michel on Tuesday, when Harry James Reed was united in marriage to Miss Joan May Frew. The ceremony, which took place at the home of the bride's parents, was performed by Rev. Mr. Burns, of Fernie, in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties.

A hockey meeting is called for Tuesday evening, Dec. 7 at 8 o'clock sharp in the council chamber. All interested in Fernie being put on the sporting map of Canada's National game should be there. Important business to be discussed, especially that of the proposed Crow's Nest Pass and Southern Alberta Hockey League, which Fernie has been asked to join.

The annual Christmas Bazaar of the Ladies Guild of Christ Church will be held in the basement of the church on Saturday, Dec. 11, at 3 p.m. A choice assortment of goods suitable for Christmas gifts, will be on sale, a table of home cooking, candy, and a fish pond for the children. Afternoon tea will be served. Contributions from the ladies of the church are earnestly requested. D3-2

Fernie citizens who had the pleasure of meeting Eddie O'Donnell, auto racing driver, when he visited Mayor Henderson here about four years ago, will learn with regret that he was killed on Beverley Hills speedway at Los Angeles on Nov. 26. Eddie O'Donnell was one of the most wonderful drivers in the history of automobile racing.

The city police seized a shipment of booze at the G.N. station on Sunday morning. It was concealed in a loaded car of coal. No one was arrested in connection with the seizure.

The election returns for White Sulphur give A. I. Fisher 4, Herchmer 0, Uphill 0. As there are only three votes on the list at that point it is hard to realize how they got the four count.

The entire high school teaching staff has resigned. Mr. Morrison goes to Vancouver, Miss Carscadden to Morriburg, Ont., and Mr. Baker to Toronto. The school board will have to hustle to replace the staff by the first of the year. All of the retiring teachers were very popular and of proved efficiency.

The Free Press has said a lot of things about Bray which were not very complimentary, but which were nevertheless true, but we wish to compliment him on the address which he made to his followers upon their visit to the Conservative committee rooms on election night.

WHITE STAR YEAST CAKES

Are not the "Just as good Kind"

THEY ARE THE BEST

Mrs. Wm. Ingram and her son Frank, returned on Tuesday from several months' visit in Ontario.

Born—On Saturday, Nov. 26, to Mr. and Mrs. Beale, West Fernie, a daughter.

There are at least eight seats in B.C. in which the count is so close that they will wait anxiously until Dec. 22.

The Knights of Pythias will hold a social on Dec. 14, at 8 p.m. for K. of P's., their wives and Pythian Sisters. Each member may invite two friends.

Percy Bean, Albert Fearson, Geo. Hearn and Wm. Baldrey returned on Tuesday from Morrissey Meadows, where they had been hunting for a week. They brought home 8 deer.

There is considerable rivalry in the Labor camp already as to who elected Mr. Uphill, Bray and Billy Robson both claiming the honor. Bray says Fernie looks good to him and that he will come right back here.

Mrs. Uphill will give a social and dance to all lady supporters of the Labor candidate in Hawthorne's Hall on Friday, Dec. 10. Bring your husband or best fellow or the next best fellow.

17. During the Show the Superintendent will have absolute charge of all exhibits entered and no bird must be handled or removed without his consent. Any party, except the owner, infringing this rule will forfeit any prize awarded them.

18. In any class if in the judge's opinion a bird is not worthy of 1st prize, it shall be placed accordingly.

19. In every show there is more or less complaint on the part of exhibitors over some awards. This is usually occasioned by some disgruntled exhibitor or would be judge, who hopes to gain prestige in the eyes of the loser by finding fault with the work of the judge. It gains them nothing and becomes disgusting to all fair-minded exhibitors, and we propose to eliminate this worthless feature from the show. When we find exhibitors who insist on nonsensical kicking and fault-finding, where there is no cause for complaint, we shall list them and refuse their entries at future exhibitions. We do not intend to take any rights away from our exhibitors, but we do intend to cut out once and for all the silly system of knocking that is sometimes indulged in.

20. All specimens for competition must be the bona-fide property of the Exhibitor. The discovery of any false statement, whether of age or proprietorship, will exclude the entry from competition if discovered in time, and if not the premium will be withheld.

21. Displays to consist of 8 birds; cock, hen, cockerel, pullet and pen.

DOUGHNUTS and CRULLERS

DOUGHNUTS! There is nothing more wholesome and delightful than doughnuts or crullers rightly made. Their rich, golden color and appetizing aroma will create an appetite quicker than anything else in the world.

Doughnuts

3 tablespoons shortening
⅔ cup sugar
1 egg
⅔ cup milk
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups flour
4 teaspoons Dr. Price's Baking Powder

Cream shortening; add sugar and well-beaten egg; stir in milk; add nutmeg, salt, flour and baking powder which have been sifted together and enough additional flour to make dough stiff enough to roll. Roll out on floured board to about ½ inch thick; cut out. Fry in deep fat hot enough to brown a piece of bread in 60 seconds. Drain on unglazed paper and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM Baking Powder

MADE IN CANADA

Afternoon Tea Doughnuts

2 eggs
6 tablespoons sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon grated nutmeg
2 tablespoons shortening
6 tablespoons milk
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons Dr. Price's Baking Powder

Beat eggs until very light; add sugar, salt, nutmeg and melted shortening; add milk, and flour and baking powder which have been sifted together; mix well. Drop by teaspoons into deep hot fat and fry until brown. Drain well on unglazed paper and sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar.

Crullers

4 tablespoons shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons Dr. Price's Baking Powder
⅝ cup milk

Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and beaten eggs; sift together flour, cinnamon, salt and baking powder; add one-half and mix well; add milk and remainder of dry ingredients to make soft dough. Roll out on floured board to about ½ inch thick and cut into strips about 4 inches long and ½ inch wide; roll in hands and twist each strip and bring ends together. Fry in deep hot fat. Drain and roll in powdered sugar.

CANADIAN MAJOR PRAISES TANLAC

Former Member of Mounted Police and Overseas Officer Says It Restored His Health

"I have tried Tanlac and give it my unqualified endorsement," declared Sed Park, of Victoria, B.C., who formerly was connected with the Royal Northwest Mounted Police and during the war was a Major in the Canadian Expeditionary Forces.

"For the past two years my health declined, brought on by a chronic case of stomach trouble," said Major Park. "My appetite was gone and I ate very little of anything, for gas would form on my stomach and give me a heavy bloated feeling and cause my heart to palpitate till I could hardly breathe.

"I was constipated, had awful headaches and many times I wasn't able to work. While in France I was shell shocked and my nerves were simply a total wreck. It was hard for me to get to sleep at night and then I was disturbed by terrible dreams. My back, too, was weak and pained me constantly.

"A few weeks ago I started taking Tanlac and I feel better and stronger in every way and am enjoying the very best of health. My appetite is fine and everything agrees with me perfectly. I am not now troubled with constipation and my back never hurts me at all. My nerves are quiet and steady and I sleep fine every night."

NEED NOT SHOOT NIAGARA

It always strikes us that people who put their heads into lions' mouths do not realize what a dangerous place the planet is without any artificial stimulus.

Did the daredevil barber of Bristol ever realize, we wonder, the danger he was in every time he raised a fork with a piece of roast beef to his lips? Either the beef might have choked him or it might have given him ptomaine poisoning, or, if it failed of either of these there are at least half a dozen fatal diseases which vegetarians say are saused by eating it. Even if we take for granted that there is little danger in plain beef, are there not curries and sausages and pork pies on which a lover of risks may exercise his daring in the restaurants?

Some live in terror of mackerel and herrings. We ourselves have always admired the gallantry of Londoners, who go into a chance restaurant and order lobster or curried prawns. Then there are all the tinned foods, a spoil for heroes. We have known a V. C. who was frightened out of tinned salmon.

And a man's food is not more beset with perils than his drink. Even if he confines himself to water he is in danger at every sip. If the water is too hard it may deposit destruction in his arteries. If it is too soft, it may give his child rickets. Or it may be populous with germs and give him typhoid fever. If, on the other hand, he is dissatisfied with the drink of the lower animals and takes beverages, the use of which distinguishes men from oxen, what a nightmare procession of potential ills lies in wait for him! You may read an account of them in any temperance tract. But, alas, even to breathe is to put one's self in danger. There are more germs in a bus than there are stars in the firmament, and one cannot walk along the Strand without all sorts of bacilli shooting their little arrows at one every breath.

If men realized these things—really realized them — they would see that there is no need to go to the North Pole in order to live dangerously. A walk from Charing Cross to St. Paul's would then be seen to be as rich in hairbreadth escapes as a voyage to an island of head-hunters. The man who lives the most thrilling life we known is a man who rarely stirs beyond his garden. Every time he is pricked by a thorn or gets a little earth in his fingernail, he rushes into the house to bathe his hands in lysol and, for days afterwards, he keeps feeling his jaw to see whether it is stiffening with the first signs of tetanus. He lives in a condition of recurrent alarm. He gets more frights in a week than an ordinary traveller could get in a year. We have often advised him to give up gardening, seeing that he finds it so exciting. We have come to the conclusion, however, that he enjoys the desperate game of hide and seek with lockjaw. He needs no barrel to roll him over Niagara in order to gaze into "the bright eyes of danger." He finds all the danger he wants at the root of the meanest Brussels sprout that blows.—London New Statesman.

MAE MURRAY IN "ON WITH THE DANCE"

Mae Murray, the pretty stage and screen player who is featured in the first George Fitzmaurice Production, "On With the Dance," which is coming to the Orpheum theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, is another of those talented young actresses who have risen to stardom from the ranks of the Follies. Miss Murray was a hit in the 1915 edition of the Ziegfeld show. On the authority of James Montgomery Flagg, she has the world's most cameo-like profile.

In addition to her rare beauty and stage talents, Miss Murray is a dancer of extraordinary grace and ability. She was a headliner in vaudeville for several years. She has lately been devoting her efforts to motion pictures exclusively and has starred in ingenue and straight dramatic roles.

"On With the Dance" presents her as a pleasure-loving orphan who is thrown up against some members of New York's "fast set" as well as representatives of the worth-while class. How she overcomes her baser impulses and works out her destiny happily is the theme of what is declared to be a more than ordinarily interesting photoplay. George Fitzmaurice directed and Ouida Bergere furnished the scenario. It is a Paramount Artcraft.

WILL EDUCATION HELP IN BUSINESS?

Twenty years ago Andrew Carnegie said that the college man "has not the slightest chance, entering business at twenty, against the boy who swept the office or who began as shipping clerk at fourteen." These words have been quoted to thousands of boys. But Mr. Carnegie lived to learn of his mistake, as is shown by his recent declaration that "the business men of America have at last come to realize that a college education has a commercial value." He has given more for the cause of higher education than any other man, save one, in the world.

One of the managers of a great insurance company has written: "A boy can learn to measure tape or retail groceries without a college education but for the management of men and the control of large enterprises the more complete and thorough his training the more likely he is to be successful."

The greatest need of the advancing world is men who are prepared to lead. The true secret of every great victory has been a commanding man. Every nation has reached the zenith of its power held within the grip of a strong leader. Wherever there are issues to be decided, battles to be fought, advancement to be made, there must be men who are able to command the attention, the confidence, the allegiance of the forces.

The great battles of history have not always been decided by musket and sword. The battles that have changed the course of civilization have been fought upon the field of intellect and the weapons that have decided those battles have been those of clear, orderly and intense thought and of forceful expression.

A college education gives one the power of independent thought. It teaches him to weigh evidence, to go to the heart of the question and find its main issues. It teaches him to guard his every statement and to express his own thoughts attractively and forcefully. It develops self-control, self-confidence, initiative and personality. All these are absolute requisites of leadership in business as other spheres of life. Pioneers have alway been scarce. Few men have ability to go before and blaze the trails. Most men only follow in the beaten path and criticize the man who attempts the new way. But the pathfinders are the leaders of the race. Because "the pen is mightier than the sword," the history of the world's progress is the record of the triumph of the educated mind.

Stick to school, Tuxis Boys and Trail Rangers. Stick it out; if you have left school, go back, or get in some extra study, somehow.

The Farmers' Sun says that "farmers perform a two-fold service to the cities. In the first place they grow the food which feeds the city worker and in the second place they buy the shoes, clothing, machinery and furniture the urban artisan makes." In replay the Montreal Gazette well says: "This is a fair putting of the situation. Then, the cities produce the shoes, clothing, machinery and furniture the farmers use, and buy the food the farmer raises. The combination looks like a good one."

ENGINEER PROTESTS

The regular session of the council was held last night and before it was called to order the presence of a number of citizens indicated that some matters were to be taken up with the council, as it is a very significant fact that unless parties have business to take up with the civic administration there are no spectators. Ald. Robichaud was the only absentee last night.

The minutes of the last regular and of a special meeting held on Dec. 3 were adopted with a minor correction.

Delegations were then received, the first being Jos. Longden, who applied to connect certain properties near the brewery with city light. It was pointed out that the policy of the council had been to refuse applications for light extensions outside the city. This is particularly essential during this season of the year when the plant is operating under top notch load. After duly considering the matter the request was not granted.

Mr. Roadley, as representative of the ratepayers of the Annex, presented a protest with regard to the garbage disposal system, both as to the rate of 50c a month as well as the possibility of the city purchasing receptacles for retaining garbage, which Mr. Roadley claimed was not required.

H. Clift, deposed chief engineer at the power house, appeared in his own defence with regard to his dismissal, and demanded an explanation as to why his services had been summarily dispensed with. His Worship replied to Mr. Clift telling him he knew perfectly well why he had been dismissed. Verbal fireworks thereupon commenced. Ald. Rutledge took up the cudgel in Mr. Clift's behalf to the extent of suggesting he should at least be entitled to a hearing. The mayor pointed out that the council had considered the matter and that the statements introduced at that time had been corroborated by Ald. Robichaud, so it therefore must be taken as finally closed. Mr. Clift claimed the right to vindicate his character and related in minute detail his version of the incident, from which the present situation arose. Such language as "insult," "utterance of deliberate lies," and "libel" were more or less frequently used in the animated discussion in which all members of the council, as well as Mr. Clift, participated. Mr. Clift positively denied having made use of disrespectful language as alleged in the charge made against him. He said he had told the mayor to "go to h—," but not the aldermen, as he had too much respect for them to utter such a statement. Mr. Clift in the course of his remarks by request related what purported to be a verbatim report of the entire conversation from this recantation contained five times memory. His Worship in reply said what had actually occurred and furthermore, that had the remark of disrespect been directed to himself personally he would have suspended Mr. Clift on the spot, but such was not the case. The statement had been that the council could "go to h—," and so on. Regarding the reference about Mr. Clift's alleged activities in connection with the two hour ultimatum for compliance with demands of power house staff or a shut down, he took strong exception to this reflection and inferred the implication against him had been a distorted one. The Mayor gave as his authority ex-Mayor Thomson and an ex-alderman for the accusation.

For the time being at this stage the matter was dropped and the city engineer reported with reference to a team for the fire hall during the winter months, when it would not be expedient to operate the fire truck. In this connection it was later decided that Ald. Robichaud and Fire Chief McNicholas make a tour of inspection and report to a special meeting of the council to be held on Tuesday evening next.

Under the caption of correspondence a lengthy communication signed by Wm. Bateman, John Brown and Ed. Marsham relating again to the Clift controversy, wherein the question of safety-first for the staff was emphasized as being the prime factor which caused Mr. Clift to temporarily become disrespectful towards the civic administration, when it was apparent that his complaints were not being rectified as promptly as he desired. This communication was filed without any discussion.

The management of both the Grand Central and Queen's hotels applied for reinstatement of licenses to sell beverages, which had been automatically cancelled through said establishments being convicted this week for contravention of the Prohibition Act. As the policy of the present council in dealing with first offenders under this regulation, the licensees were in each case reinstated.

Three tax sale properties sale by-laws, covering three improved parcels acquired by the city were resold; one of these was the miners' hall, which was returned to the United Mine Workers of America, the International officers or their successors being named as trustees.

In response to inquiries tenders from several firms quoting prices of hay and oats were received, but no orders were placed.

What has now become a regular subject for discussion was the garbage disposal system now in vogue, and practically each and every member of the council had received complaints. These have now become so frequent that the council have almost been driven to the position that nothing short of abolition of compulsory garbage disposal would be satisfactory to those registering the complaints, and it is quite apparent that 50c per month is of much greater concern to many than the matter of sanitation. Even Mr. Roadley, who in the early stages of the meeting professed to represent ratepayers of the Annex in a protest against the present method, when questioned as to his own method of garbage disposition, contended he only had one tin can a month in the way of garbage and this he carried from his residence and indiscriminately disposed of it by hurling it at the landscape, qualifying this admission by saying outside the city limits. On a regular motion the council authorized only clean ashes to be taken to the dump on Bethune Ave. And it was distinctly made plain that this did not include tin cans.

Five applications for the position of power house engineer were received by the city clerk, but as it was evident that a formal hearing should be given Mr. Clift, the retiring incumbent of this appointment, a special meeting was ordered to be held Tuesday evening next, when all parties will have their respective witnesses present. Ald. Rutledge stated he had a motion to rescind the one discharging Mr. Clift, but in view of this decision would not submit same to be seconded.

Council adjourned at 10.30.

CRANBROOK HAS CRIME WAVE

The "quasi-pure" neighbor City of Cranbrook during the past week has been inflicted with a wave of crime unprecedented in this vicinity in volume for many moons. In the criminal courts of that city this week some fifteen cases have come up for hearing. The list includes various forms of theft and house-breaking, hold-ups, cattle stealing, indecent assault, assault with intent to do grevious bodily harm, and in this particular instance a more serious charge may be preferred, as one of the victims of the knife is in grave danger of losing his life. It is regrettable that epidemics of this nature unforfortunately break out in all communities at different times, and when they do those who are not any too well informed are inclined to cast the responsibility on those handling departments of public safety. It is hardly probable that this is the cause of the outbreak in Cranbrook at this time, and it may more properly be applied to the present unsettled condition of industrial life, following the period of inflated prosperity, when those who have been accustomed recently to "easy come" now find it a trifle more difficult to satisfy all their extravagant desires and consequently resort to criminal methods to carry on. This practice should be stopped and without any hesitation. Our criminal code gives authority to deal with those who make war upon society, and if Cranbrook would heed experience gained in this city, which also on occasions has been inflicted with these outbreaks, it will learn that the application or meting out exacting punishment for the breach committed is a wonderful deterrent for the continuation of lawlessness.

The government, Lloyd George added, would give safe conduct to Sinn Fein members of the House of Commons so that they may meet with the government to discuss the Irish situation. Sinn Fein members who had been guilty of the commission of serious crime, however, would not be granted safe conduct.

Geneva, Dec. 9.—Canada, whose delegates have made a great impression on the League of Nations Assembly, scored a gain today when it secured elimination of the provision in the technical committee's report for permanent trade and health commissions. Geneva, Dec. 9.—The admission of Bulgaria to the League of Nations has been voted by the Commission on the admission of new states. "TRAINING FOR SERVICE"

We have come upon a time when success is measured by service. Yesterday we asked of a man, "What is he worth?" and the answer told us how much property he had accumulated. Today we are asking not only "what has he got?" but "How did he get it?" Tomorrow we shall ask the worth of a man and the answer shall tell us, not what he holds, but what he gives; not how much poorer he has made the world because he has used its goods, but how much richer he has made the world because he has contributed to its wealth.

Education is the process of equipping a man for service. Whatever else it may do, it is a failure if it does not do this. There are three ways in which a man may serve his generation: there is the service of the hand, the service of the head and the service of the heart. There are material values in life, there are intellectual values, and there are spiritual values. An education that is worth the time of the student must prepare him to contribute something to one or more of these world-values.

No man can truly succeed in life until he finds himself working in harmony with the eternal laws of the universe. No man can realize his own type and his highest self until he seeks it in co-operation with the plans of the All-wise King of each individual life. Only as one does his best to live in harmony with the deepest and highest laws of life can he render his best service to his generation.

"Therefore, though few may hear, or heed, or help us;
Let us work on with head and heart
and hand;
For we are sure this great new age
will need us,
And we must help our time to take its stand."

A HUNDRED ROADS FOR WALKING

I had started early in the afternoon for a long walk; it was just the weather for walking, and I went across the fields with a delighted heart. The wind came straight in from the sea, and the sky was bright blue; there was a little tinge of red still lingering on the maples, and my dress brushed over the late golden rods, while my old dog, . . jumped about wildly and raced after the little birds that flew up out of the long brown grass — the constant little chickadees that would soon sing before the coming of the snow. But this day brought no thought of winter; it was one of the October days. . .

I stopped by each of the stray apple trees that came in my way, to make friends with it. . . These old apple trees make very charming bits of the world in October; the leaves cling to them later than to the other trees, and the turf keeps short and green underneath; and in this grass, which was frosty in the morning, and has not quite dried yet, you can find some little . . apples, with one side knurly, and one shiny bright red or yellow cheek. They are wet with dew, these little apples, and a black ant runs anxiously over them when you turn them round and round to see where the best place is to bite. There will almost always be a bird's nest in the tree, and it is most likely to be a robin's nest. . .

I am very fond of walking between the roads. One grows so familiar with the highways themselves. But once leap the fence and there are a hundred roads that you can take, each with its own scenery and entertainment. Every walk of this kind proves itself a tour of exploration and discovery, and the fields of my own town, which I think I know so well, are always new fields. I find new ways to go, new sights to see, new friends among the things that grow, and new treasures and pleasures every summer; and later, when the frosts have come and the swamps have frozen, I can go everywhere I like all over my world.—Sarah Orne Jewett in "Country Byways."

The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

BOY SCOUTS

We had intended to give an outline of the activities of the local Boy Scouts this week but on second thought we decided to postpone this for another week and instead give you a message from the chief scout, Sir Robert Baden-Powell, which he recently addressed to the parents of the boys;

What shall I do with my boy?

Dear Fellow Parents :

I expect that you feel as I do that it is a bit of responsibility to be a father of a boy. The lad may be working all right at school, yet if one looks back at one's own schooling and then at the way in which one had to make one's own way in life afterwards, one feels that, although the school teaching him, among his classmates, a lot of the three R's (reading 'riting and 'rithmetic,) it doesn't definitely teach him as an individual as necessary to success in making a career.

I mean such things as:-

1. Character, that is a sense of honor and fair play, steadfastness and pluck, self-reliance and cheery unselfishness, etc.

2. Handicraft and skill, through hobbies which keep a boy interested and usefully occupied.

3. Physical developement and health knowledge, including avoiddance of sex dangers, etc.

4. Helpfulness to others, and sense of duty to the comunity.

These things that are left to the father to impart,or what is generally the case, if he is a busy man, to the boy to pick up as best as he can in his out-of-school or out-of-workshop time. It often ends in his not doing so at all and thereby becoming a failure.

A boy's out-of-school playtime runs into a pretty big amount when one comes to tot it up.

Hours per week:- In school 40 - Asleep 70 - Feeding 8 - Playing 50.

In these play hours he may be learning what is good, but as often as not what is bad; this depends on his surroundings and companions. Whether he is wild or slack, wayward or backward, there is generally something that his father would like to see corrected.

The parent feels that it is not playing the game to let his boy drift into being a slacker, yet what is he to do?

Well, here is one way.

In order to help the parent in this matter and to save the boy, the Boy Scout Movement has been devised.

Here we endeavor to supply a good enviroment with healthy activities, games and pratice, which appeal to the boy and which at the same time develop in him the above four attributes that go to make a man of him, and to directly prepare him to make a success of his life.

The sole aim of the movement is to make happy, efficient citizens. We do not go in for military drill, we make no distinction as to what religious belief or social standing the boy has, and we have no political bias.

The movement now numbers over 200,000 in Great Britain, and extends also to every Overseas Dominion and to every foreign country.

The effects of the training on the boys have been remarkable, and, as one result, the heads of government departments, governors, managers and employers continually ask now for boy scouts in preference to lads who have not been so trained. Educationists and clergy have also testified to the value of the training and given their support.

I have been asked what is my little game promoting the scout movement. Well, I really don't know myself beyond that I have intense sympathy for the immense number of young fellows who have been allowed to drift, in no way prepared to launch or paddle their own canoe in life, with the result that they lead miserable existences, no good to themselves, no good to anyone else; when all the time they've got bodies, souls and minds that might with a little training have made them into happy, successful men and good citizens for their country.

So I venture to suggest that if you approve the organization and the aims and the methods of the movement, you might do well to encourage your boy to join the nearest troop of scouts and to win his badges of efficiency.

He will no doubt be glad to join that jolly brotherhood, and you will have the satisfaction of feeling that he is no longer wasting his out-of-school time, but is picking up practical knowledge and gaining character that will tend to make him a healthy, happy and successful man, and a good efficient citizen.

Yours truly,
Robert Baden-Powell

The output of bituminous and anthracite coal is back to normal in the United States. Soft coal mined during October, 1920, was as great as in October, 1918, when the miners made a sperial effort to inrrease the tonnoge. From January to July, 1920, Canada received approximately 13-14ths of the anthracite (domestic) coal exported from the United States.

Up at Atlin, where there were six candidates in the field, two of whom were well known in Fernie, viz., Pat Daly and Billy Ross, the battle seems to have been very keen. Billy Ross at last reports was running third, while Pat Daly seems to have been in the also-ran class, having only received some twenty odd votes.

One look at Spalding's display of views of our surrounding scenery and your Christmas gift perplexities are solved. Your out of town friends will appreciate a picture showing them some of the grand scenery you live amongst, and especially so if they have ever been here and seen it. They are in 10x15, 10x22 and 16x20 inch sizes and arrangements can be made in the studio for them to be packed and mailed from there at a nominal cost.

A mysterious dodger made its appearance at Michel and a few other labor camps on election day, which has caused a lot of excitement. It was supposed to be a campaign dodger for A. I. Fisher, but was so worded that the effect must have been similar to waving a red rag before a bull. It was headed with "Business Men Unite," and proceeded to attack the Italian Co-Operative store movement, and wound up by saying that the working men were becoming altogether too arrogant. At the bottom of the dodger appeared in large type, "Vote For Fisher." The Liberals of course blamed the Conservatives for putting out the bill, but Conservatives are not in the habit of playing that kind of snake in the grass game and when the matter is traced to its source and the "cause and effect" figured out, as our old friend "Billy Robson" would say, it is not hard to say where it originated.

A SOCIALIST OPINION ABOUT SOVIET RUSSIA

The question arises naturally in many minds, "If Russian Sovietism is the gigantic failure and tragedy that it is reported to be, how shall be explained its proved strength at arms—raised by Kolchak, by Denikine, by Yudenitch and Wrangel?" The answer is that a military despotism can organize and operate an effective fighting organization on the ruins of an overthrown government and in the face of appaling public misery. It was done in France after the French revolution. On a smaller stage we have seen it operating in Mexico.

In Russia the scheme of military dominance and despotism is frankly avowed by Lenin and Trotzky in the manifesto of the third internationale. They brutally declare that—

> This makes necessary the disarming of the bourgeoisie, the arming of the laborers and the formation of a communist army as the protector of the rule of the proletariat and the inviolability of the social struggle. Such is the red army of Soviet Russia which arose to protect the achievements of the working class from every assault from within and without. The Soviet army is inseparable from the soviet state.

More, the soviet army is the soviet state. To maintain it all the rest of the Russian people are impoverished. They are lacking in arms, in leadership, in resources. They are terrorized. There is no heart left in them.

Testimony confirming that condisources athe vbgkqj cmfwyp shrdlu tion comes from widely divergent sources. Its most recent expression is found in the report of a delegation of socialist deputies from the Italian parliament. They recently made a first hand study of soviet Russia and report that they found an entire absence of enthusiasm for the existing regime among the people, whose one purpose is to struggle along and keep soul and body together. The economic section of the mission found the economic life of the cities characterized by material and moral misery.

The conclusion of these Italian socialists is that "capitalism is destroyed, but the revolution has not put anything in its place which responds in the least way to the needs of the people.'" The result of the direct control of industries by the workmen have been disastrous and paralysis exists throughout the country.

Here are the facts about soviet Russia, portrayed by men who would be disposed to find something good in this gigantic socialistic experiment if it had been anywhere visible. The soviet armies are kept in fighting trim while the rest of Russia suffers. The soviet regime could not maintain itself a fortnight without these armies. It is a sheer despotism miscalled a republic—as remote from democracy a it would be possible to constitute a government.—Spoksman Review.

CHURCH DIGNITARIES

High dignitaries of the English Church are finding difficulty in making their official stipends meet the high cost of living.

Dr. Winnington Ingram, the Bishop of London, has leased his town mansion in St. James Square and announces that he is quite prepared to give up Fulham Palace, his magnificent official residence. The bishop's stipend is $50,000 a year. Being a man of simple habits, he does not spend $5,000 a year on himself, yet he is often heard to say that he is "worse off now than when he was a curate."

The Archbishop of York and primate of England, Cosmo Gordon Lang, declares that it is quite impossible for him to maintain his home, Bishopthorpe palace and entertain his clergy adequately, on his official income of $45,000 a year, although he is a bachelor, says the Evening Standard.

The Bishop of Winchester, with $30,000 annual income is in a similar plight. He has to maintain Farnham Castle, the largest bishop's palace in this country, with a deer park which is one of the sights of England.

The Bishop of Litchfield definitely announces that he is about to change his palace for a small house. He states that, although the yearly income of his see is $20,000, the necessary official charges leave him only $5,000 for the upkeep of the palace, which requires $10,000 per year.

The Bishop of Worcester, who draws $18,000, is also considering the advisability of leasing his vast palace, Hartlebury Castle, to take a more modest dwelling

MANY HUNDREDS GIVE TESTIMONY

Mrs. M. Draper Among the Latest to Receive Remarkable Benefits from Tanlac

"The way Tanlac has built me up was the surprise of my life, and today I am just like a different woman" said Mrs. M. Draper, who with her husband lives on their motor launch the "She" at Coal Harbour, and whose address is 'General Delivery' Vancouver, B.C.

"Before I had the 'Flu' I was in a very badly run-down condition and suffered greatly from indigestion, I couldn't eat a thing but what would sour and form gas that bloated me up until I could hardly breathe. At times I had such pains between the shoulders that I could not move my arms without suffering. At night I would roll about restlessly for hours and get up in the morning hardly able to drag about.

"My nerves were in a frightful state and my husband took me for several cruises around the coast, but this failed to do me any good and I was getting thinner and weaker all the time. Then about two months ago I had an attack of 'Flu' that left me worse off than ever.

"My first bottle of Tanlac convinced me that it was just the medicine I needed and very soon I had a splendid appetite and could eat anything I wanted without being troubled with indigestion. All the aches and pains left me, my nerves got better and I could sleep well at night. I am so much stronger now that I can take long walks without getting tired, and am feeling as well as I ever did in my life."

THE IDEAL WAGE

LORD COWDRAY ON LABOR TROUBLES

Lord Cowdray, as Lord Rector of Aberdeen University, delivered his address recently, choosing as his subject "Labor, Its Problems, and the Ideal Wage." He said that he had taken the subject as being opportune, and one on which he ought to be able to speak with knowledge largely gained in his experience in his own business. The difficulty in this country was that men were nowhere writing on a clean slate. In illustration of this fact, he spoke of the need of clear definitions—for example, in regard to wealth, as it consisted not only of tangible things and materials, but of an immense variety of other considerations, such as good will, credit and anticipations of the future. The wealth of the United Kingdom was frequently assessed at 24,000 millions, and it is said that if it were divided up equally there would be £500 for every man, woman and child. But even if division were possible, the value would be largely destroyed in the process of division, as it was all based on the capitalist system, which the division would extinguish. The idea of dividing the spoil was therefore not so wicked as it was illusory. The Bolshevists had discovered this in their attempt to apply communism in Russia. They had learned that you can destroy capital, but cannot at the same time exact a huge indemnity from it.

Such was the broad fact, though it did not apply to what was called real property. Land could be divided, and, in a country where agriculture was primitive, people on it could carry on without much disturbance of the ordinary life, except for the landowners dispossessed. Thus the peasantry of Russia suffered comparatively little, while the town workers were thrown into confusion and starvation. The substance of the lesson was that though another system might be conceivably built up in time, it would not be because it had confiscated and divided the old wealth, but because it had discovered a way of producing new wealth.

If we were to make a new world on communist lines, we must begin by writing off the values of the old world. It was for that reason that many Socialists proposed, not the destruction of the present order, but the transfer of its control from the individual to the state. In most of the systems they proposed, the capitalist system was to remain, subject to certain improvements which they could introduce into it, but the capitalist in future was to be the state and not the private individual working for his own profit. The idea that the worker would necessarily earn a better wage, have more security, and better conditions, if he were working for the state than if he were working for a private employer was an unproven assumption. It assumed that the total product would be increased if private profit was extinguished, and that the creators, controllers and directors of industry and commerce, the inventors and designers, will do better work for the state, though receiving a less remuneration, than they now did for themselves. This was an assumption which no impartial person thought of making in regard to the manual laborer, and there was no obvious reason why it should be true of other kinds of workers.

But even if we supposed these obstacles overcome, none of the socialistic schemes attempted to solve the problem of the remuneration of labor. The transfer of the controlling and directing functions from one set of individuals called employers and capitalists to another set of individuals called the state left the question of the division of the product untouched. The wage-earners held tenaciously to the position that they would not forego their right to strike, whether the state or the private employer was controller, and frequently rejected moderate and most reasonable proposals for delay and arbitration. The present strike of the miners was a glaring example.

The Communists had the solution of forced labor, prohibition of strikes, and fixed legal remuneration decided without appeal, by the government. But the Socialists and nationalizers rejected these solutions, and did not see how the division was to be effected except by the present method of collective bargaining, with strikes as the last word. No one could be satisfied with that solution. It had all the defects in the industrial world of war, and warlike methods in the political world. It ranged workmen and employers in hostile camps — though their aims must be identical— it led to a sharp diplomacy in which the two sides were under a perpetual temptation to outwit each other, and not infrequently to ruinous conflicts.

In his view the hope of the country lay in the substitution of the idea of partnership for the idea of war. The partnership, unfortunately, could never be on equal terms, as men were not equal either in hands or brains. So we advanced to the principle of the minimum wage, which endeavored to secure a relatively decent standard of existence for every employed man and woman. We were also groping our way to some kind of unemployment insurance, which would prevent the worker from being plunged into complete poverty by the fluctuation of the labor market.

There were three factors in the "ideal wage." First, the guaranteed minimum; second, a variable quantity according to the output of the individual; third, a variable addition according to the result of the undertaking. To put it shortly, it was piecemeal work, with a guaranteed minimum and a bonus on profits. This, if realized, would seiure the worker against falling below the poverty line, put a premium on his individual effort, and give him an interest in the results of his labor. Some of the trade unions were active in their endeavors to kill all piecework. This they could not be allowed to do. Without piecework few industries in this country could permanently flourish.

Dealing with the application of the principle of a bonus on prifts, Lord Cowdray referred to the scheme for guild Socialism as being difficult, or even dangerous, to carry out on a large scale, but said that there was no reason why experiments of this kind should not be made on a moderate scale. The Co-operative Society had immense funds at its disposal, all of it workmen's money, and it might apply at least a part of them in fruitful and useful experiments on co-operative production of goods and food needed for its own stores, instead of relying almost wholly on ordinary capitalist methods. Speaking more generally, he went on to submit to both employers and employed that in the position we had reached, it was all-important to make great efforts to develop the third factor in the ideal wage—the bonus on results — with the workman's voice in management. He mentioned, without claiming to be able to solve them, some of the points that would arise in any co-partnership scheme. The first was the return that capital should receive for its use and the risk it ran. The second, the remuneration to be paid for brains, experience, and for special and exceptional circumstances. The third, how should the surplus, if any, after providing for the foregoing, be apportioned between the capital employed, the administration or management, and the workman. The division must necessarily vary in each trade. It should be divided so that each received according to its contribution to the making of the surplus.

As to question of how the workman's representatives, who were to assist in the administration, who were to be appointed, he said that their tenure of office, he assumed, must be for not less than two or three years. In the early years of the scheme the workman's part must be limited to advice. With experience, the workers responsibilities might be increased. He believed that it was the right solution of these points, the finding out of the way to partnership and mutual understanding, which would alone bring peace and prevent the struggle for the division of industry becoming a blind tussle of force.

Saturday last was pay day up here.

The popularity of the Moose was further evidenced by the large crowd who participated in the social held up here on Tuesday under their auspices. The ladies are to be complimented on the good eats provided.

The Moose ladies desire to thank W. R. Wilson for train facilities granted them, which favor was greatly appeciated by the residents of this camp, as it afforded more time for shopping purposes.

Among the old timers migrated back to camp during the past week we notice Fred Talbot, W. J. Ferguson and John Glover, who arrived from the coast cities.

Handbills advertising a special meeting of G.W.V.A. members, to which all ex-service men are cordially invited, for Sunday next at 4.30 p.m., have been freely circulated around the camp.

BOLSHEVIKI ARE ACTIVE IN CANADA

Toronto, Dec. 8.—Positive proof that Soviet agents are at work in Canada, and that every wave of unrest is the work of Bolsheviki agents, is claimed by Victor Bruce Grant, M. A., of Edinburgh university, who is in Toronto today. Mr. Grant spent four months in Russia recently studying conditions for his forthcoming book, "The Civilization of Man."

APPEAL AGAINST ALBERTA LIQUOR ACT

Edmonton, Dec. 9.—The Alberta Liquor Act is up for a test before a special sitting of the supreme court of Alberta, with Mr. Justice Hyndman presiding. The case before the court is an appeal of the Nat Bell Liquors, Ltd., from a conviction and fine of $200 and costs registered by Magistrate McLeod, in the Alberta provincial court, on Oct. 22, for keeping liquor for sale and a subsequent confiscation order forfeiting to the Crown over $50,000 worth of cased whiskey in the warehouse premises of the defendant company. Among the documents presented for the consideration of the court is a typewritten list of 14 reasons why the conviction should be quashed and the forfeiture nullified. Chief in importance among reasons specified is a declaration that the liquor act is ultra vires of the provincial legislature. The argument will likely continue all week.

LETHBRIDGE MAYOR IS RE-ELECTED

Lethbridge, Dec. 6.—Mayor Hardie was elected by acclamation for a term of three years at the civic nominations today. He has already been mayor eight years.

A plebiscite is to be submitted to the people shortly to ask whether his salary should be increased from $4000 to $6000 per annum, and it is possible that, at the same time, a plebiscite on a proposal to supercede the present commission government of three commissioners and an unpaid advisory board of aldermen, one of whom shall be mayor, will also be submitted.

Seven were nominated for four vacancies on the school board.

COAL OPERATORS TO BE CHECKED AS TO PROFITS

Alberta coal operators are to be checked up in their profits. When it was arranged that the miners were to receive an increase in their wages, in accordance with their new working agreement, the director of coal operations, on behalf of the federal government, sanctioned an increase to the operators, an increase of 60 and 65 cents a ton at the pit head in order to meet this, subject to a government audit to take place at a later date.

David S. Kerr, a Chartered accountant of Montreal, has now arrived here to undertake this audit. He will visit the principal coal mines in District 18, and when his audit is completed will report to the minister of labor. It is expected that this work wil take about a fortnight to complete.—Calgary Herald.

There may be some good points about the Soviet system of government, or whatever system is in general operation throughout Russia — if they are not past finding out. For example, we frequently are told that there is an evil tendency in Canada, and in several other countries, of people leaving the farms and the rural districts and crowding cities to the point of congestion. The Bolsheviki, in Russia have arrested that tendency. According to a census just completed the population of Petrograd is only 71 per cent of what it was in the days before the war when that of Moscow has fallen to about half of what it was in 1914. But the country districts have not gained at the expense of the cities. The population as a whole has declined by more than 10 per cent.

In Japan it is no uncommon sight to see women smoking, the most of them beginning at the age of ten years.

THE SCHOOL CONCERT

The concert given by the school children last night was a great success. All took their parts exceptionally well from the wee tots up to the grown up children. The little butterflies fluttering around were very pretty. The sketch from "Hiawatha" was exceptionally good and certainly made a beautiful picture in their camp.

The Boy Scout drill was well done, and also the Highland Reel by the little girls and the Sailor's Hornpipe by the boys. The little play "Santa Claus" was well presented and we still have "Old Santa" with us. What would we do without him? No fairy princess could take his place.

The choruses were well rendered and the two little accompanists helped wonderfully.

Great credit is due to the teachers for the time and training given to the children, and judging from the result and the number present they must feel amply repaid for their trouble.

The proceeds of this concert go to pay for a piano for the school.

COUNCIL HOLD EXTRA MEETING

A special meeting of the council was held on Tuesday last for the purpose of giving all the aldermen the opportunity of hearing all the facts which led up to the discharge of Mr. Clift from the power house staff, and also his defence for any alleged inappropriate conduct. After completely reviewing the circumstances the motion advising Mr. Clift that his services were no longer required after the end of the month, passed two weeks ago, was allowed to stand. The matter of appointment of a successor was then considered and out of five applicants for the position Mr. Thornton was the successful one and he will receive the regular remuneration of $226 per month paid for this class of work.

WOMEN'S COUNCIL

A meeting of the Women's Council of Fernie took place in the council chamber at 4 p.m. on Wednesday and the real business of the meeting was the subject of a school nurse for Fernie. Ever since Mrs. MacLauchlin, of Saanich, lectured in Fernie in September on "Health of the Community and the Benefits of a School Nurse," the Woman's Council has been planning and working towards getting a nurse.

The health committee reported that they had met twice with the school board and laid before them the matter of procuring a nurse. The board expressed itself in favor of a nurse and felt that there was great need for one here.

The nurse's duties would be to keep an accurate account of the physical well-being of each child. Any defects would be carefully noted and the chold's parents notified.

These nurses are not only fully qualified nurses but in addition have taken a special course to enable them to do this particular kind of work in the very best way.

At the present time there are only eleven nurses in the province thus trained by the government in this course, and it was decided that the Fernie Council should write to Mrs. MacLauchlin to procure the names of some of these nurses, who would, in her estimation, prove most satisfactory to the people of Fernie.

Waldo already has a school nurse, Miss Bray, who is doing excellent work, and not only has looked after the health of the school children, but has found time for other work as well. There is no objection to a nurse making professional calls outside of the school but these calls must be paid for at the rate of 50c per call. A school nurse is not such an expense as it might seem, as the government pays $520 per year toward her salary, which is the same grant as is allowed for a teacher.

The following resolution, to be forwarded to the school board, was unanimously passed:

Resolved, That whereas a school nurse is urgently needed in Fernie, and whereas the government will pay $520 per year toward maintaining said nurse, be it resolved that this organization request the school board to make provision for the other $980 required to maintain said nurse, in their estimates for 1921.

The Woman's Council was requested to assist with the selling of membership tickets for the new Library—tickets to be $2 each; and also to help find suitable housing accommodation for the Library.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Sentences passed upon guilty accused at the Cranbrook sittings of the county court, consequent upon the outbreak of crime in that city, included administering the lash for indecent assault to Jack Dow and Harry Smith, two youths. His Honor Judge Thompson in passing sentence dwelt at length upon the exposition of morals in that city, using the words: "The prevailing conditions in Cranbrook today are abominable, and I am saying this publicly and I hope it is repeated publicly—the conditions among the rising generation are appalling. The authorities seem to have no desire to help although they well know such exists, as it has been brought to their attention by myself. They would rather save a few dollars and destroy the morals of the children than spend a little in providing healthful amusement and recreation, with the result that I have before me today this case, which but for the compassion of the complainant, would have been one whereby I could have done nothing but sentence these boys to penitentiary for long terms.".

The Judge for the second time within one week has meted out sentence of whipping in addition to confinement.

John Doherty, 67 years old, was sentenced to nine months in Nelson jail for fraudulent retention of cattle found astray and defacing the brand.

The self-confessed highwaymen, Zelinsky and Rathwell, who migrated from Nelson to Cranbrook with the preconceived idea of holding up various places, were sentenced on Monday last by Judge Thmopson. Rathwell, who is a returned veteran, but mentally weak, was given five years in New Westminster, with the recommendation that he be placed under medical observation. Zelinsky, the promoter of the expedition, had a more severe punishment inflicted, although it was far under the maximum penalty for the offence. He will serve seven years in the penitentiary and receive 24 lashes.

LADIES CURLING CLUB

The Ladies Curling Club met at the home of Mrs. F. C. Lawe on Thursday, Dec. 16. The following officers were elected for the coming season:

President: Mrs. H. F. McLean.
1st Vice-President: Mrs. G. G. Henderson.
2nd Vice-President: Mrs. John L. Gates.
Sec.-Treas.: Mrs. J. Kinnear.

All ladies intending to join the Club kindly send in their names to the secretary as soon as possible.

SUCCESSFUL POULTRY SHOW

The annual poultry show of District No. 9 was held in this city on Tuesday, Wednesday & Thursday of this week under the auspices of the Fernie Poultry and Pet Stock Association, and this third successive annual event held here has by far surpassed any of the previous shows, and in arriving at this conclusion it does not mean that the former shows were at all poor. Upon this occasion there were 463 entries, and as Victoria Hall was used this year, they were all shown at satisfactory advantage. James Clarke, President, and J. Cunliffe, Secretary, both of this city, assisted by an able local committee, were in charge of the preparations for the show just closed, and the completeness with which everything had been arranged and carried out smoothly, demonstrates that it was due entirely to their untiring energy and thoughtfulness that these events are improving each year and result so successfully. Sid Knight, of Corbin, who acted in the capacity of superintendent of the show, also deserves great praise for his management upon this occasion. The judging was conducted by J. W. Westbrook, of Lethbridge. He acted in this capacity last year and while upon that occasion Mr. Westbrook, who has had years of experience in judging poultry in different localities, made the unqualified assertion that poultry raisers in this locality had birds of a quality that would compete successfully in any of the larger shows of the west, upon this occasion he claimed there were entries much superior to last year and varieties that could very well be placed in competition with any upon the American continent.

Entries from outside points this year included Fruitvale, Cranbrook, Nelson, Fort Steele, Lethbridge, Michel and Corbin, also Waldo, from which latter place A. M. Beattie was highly commended by the local fanciers and members of the Association for bringing to the show a large assortment of varied varieties which go to make an event of this kind more attractive and also for his qualities as a thoroughbred sportsman.

Special mention is due in connection with the different classes exhibited. The White Wyandottes comprised a larger class than ever placed in competition here before and a much improved quality, sufficiently so that they would have undoubtedly been in the money had they been shown at Calgary. The Silver Laced and Black Wyandottes are not considered exceedingly popular varieties hence only small classes were shown. The White Plymouth Rocks, while only a small class, were exceptionally fine birds. Only a fair class of S. C. Anconas were shown. R. C. Black Minorcas were an exceptionally good class and fine specimens. G. A. Bonnallie of this city carried off the Novice Cup with this breed. S. C. White Leghorns were an extra good

FATALITY AT BLAIRMORE

BLAIRMORE, Dec. 14—Mrs. O.B. McDonald, a war widow and mother of three children, is lying in Blairmore hospital in a critical condition and Jim Vitto, an Italian miner, is lodged in the A.P.P. cells at Coleman as a result of a shooting affray in Mrs. McDonald's residence here about nine o'clock this morning.

With no apparent motive so far as can be learned, Vitto entered Mrs. McDonald's residence, and drawing a revolver, shot her, inflicting very serious wounds. The police were notified of the shooting and the Alberta Provincial Police Officers and Chief Carter of Blairmore effected the arrest, taking him to Coleman for preliminary hearing.

The only explanation there is for the attempted murder is that Vitto was drunk at the time. He lives with his brother in a house not far from Mrs. McDonald's residence. Mrs. MscDonald is about 35 years of age and Vitto is about 40.

The date of the preliminary hearing has not yet been set but it will not likely take place until his victim's fate is learned.

The shooting created a great deal of excitement in the town and the Veterans are going to see to it that the prosecution is pushed to the utmost—Lethbridge Herald.

"PIFF PUFF" AT THE GRAND NEXT MONDAY

When the G.W.V.A. Concert Party gave their entertainment at the Grand last year there were many who looked for nothing more than a good amateur show. What they saw was something so far removed from and superior to the average amateur show as to make the comparison foolish. Many a professional company has visited us and given us a less satisfying entertainment and received $2 a seat. Since their last performance here the boys have received many requests for another show. On Monday night next at the Grand theatre the Concert Party will offer us a better and brighter revue then ever, with many new faces, new songs and new jokes.

The revue is divided into two parts the first half representing a bivouac on the Western front, and the second half that of a canteen behind the lines.

There are many solos, trios, quartettes and chorus numbers, as well as sketches, instrumental and comedy turns. The music is under the direction of Harold Anderson, who will also offer a piano selection. The cast is composed of the following local favorites: Jos. Riley, Harold Bowen, Wm. Riley, Harold Thompson, Harry Sharp, Jack Hayes, H. A. Bryan, Wm. Corrigan, Harold Mitchell, C. J. Riley, Robt. Billsborough, Hugh Brown and Geo. Bowen.

The show will start prompt at 8.30 p.m. and no late comer will be seated after the curtain rises until the end of the first act.

The concert is in aid of the G. W. V. A. band, who will also furnish music before and during the preformance.

MINER IS FINED $50

Albert Viguie, employed as a miner in No. 2 mine, Coal Creek, appeared before Magistrate Stenson yesterday charged with attempting to steal a car of coal from cross-shift miner. This crime is known in mining parlance as "checking cars," and considered most despicable among the miners. It is, however, very difficult to bring home guilt to the culprit in most cases. The case yesterday, however, was sufficiently clear to establish a conviction. Viguie, who is an oldtimer in so far as having worked at Coal Creek before the 1902 explosion, had only started working in No. 1 room of No. 2 mine on Dec. 6. The cross-shift partners were Wm. Hunter and T. Shorthouse, and upon going off shift on the three succeeding days had left a loaded car in the place.. The suspicions of the driver was first aroused upon discovering a loaded car with accused's check number placed in a reverse position on these cars upon his first trip around the district distributing cars to diggers and pulling out loads, and so early in the shift that accused, who worked alone, could not possibly have had time to dig and load them. The real owners of the cars of coal in checking up found they were short this number of cars according to their own tally and reported it. The investigation which followed by the mine officials led to Viguie as being responsible for the disappearance of the coal, and he was questioned about it by both the superintendent and mine overman. He denied being guilty and attempted to explain it by saying that the tally checks may have got mixed up. He was also required to say how many cars of coal he had turned out. In view of his long term of service and heretofore good character the officials were reluctant in coming to any conclusion as to his guilt, but in the afternoon following the consultation with the officials in the morning, a car came out of this man's working place bearing Mr. Hunter's tally check, which was considered sufficient for the laying of the formal charge. Viguie was fined $50 and costs, but the solicitor for the Company stated to His Worship that while in this case the penalty would be accepted as satisfactory, he intended that in any future case, where a man was found guilty of replacing the owner's checks on cars with his own, that he would press persistently for punishment by imprisonment.

The merchants are very busy dressing their Xmas windows. Among those completed are those of the Crow's Nest Trading Co., and they certainly are a dream of wealth and beauty. The finest window display that has ever been seen in Fernie.

BOY SCOUTS

I take it for granted that the readers of this particular section, are either parents of Boy Scouts or those who are interested in the Boy Scout Movement from one motive or other, therefore, allow me to take you in thought to a boy scout meeting and show you some of the activities of the boys and how they take to the meetings.

First of all, we will suppose that you enter the headquarters of the scouts after the boys have assembled. Here you will find between 25 and 30 boys of all sizes and ages between eleven and seventeen years, giving vent to their surplus energy in ways which are distinctly those of a boy. The Scoutmaster enters the room and with one long blast of his whistle, calls the scouts to order. The boys then form into their respective patrols, which bear such fancy names as; Wolf Patrol, Bulldog Patrol, Owl Patrol, Eagle Patrol and Stag Patrol, etc Orders are then read, the roll is called and instructions given for the evening activities. The patrols then break up, one bunch of boys are to be seen going to what is known as "the kitchen," here they soon are busy peeling potatoes and getting out pots and pans, preparatory to trying their "Cooking test." Lets stay and watch them for a while. One scout wants to know whether he may boil or fry his potatoes, another wants to know this and another that, however one and all get busy. Soon an argument starts as to which of the two will have first opportunity in handling the frying pan on the fire, while this slight controvesy is going on, a dog belonging to these erstwhile cooks, has made his appearance and devoured the meat bought by these two boys, so that when they have finally decided which one will try first, they find that their "choice steak" has disappeared. Oh yes! they've brought pepper and salt, knives and forks and all other tools required for cooking, yes 'Jim' brought enough salt to keep the troops going for a year, another one has spilled all his pepper, so that all the cooks are suffering from the snezzes, however, despite all these slight diversions the cooks are under way so we will leave them and go next door where a bunch of would-be carpenters are at work trying to get the maximum amount of noise out of each tool that they handle. We go over to the boss carpenter and ask him what he and his class are doing. He tells us that they are at work making a chest as well as benches. Well, that may be so although we can only see and hear a noise made by about eight boys with a hundred different tools; lumber; sawdust and nails al over the floor, so let us go to the next room and see what the signallers are doing. Here we see a bunch of scout signallers in every manner and form. Three or four are madly waving as though it was the final S. O.S. they are sending, three or four more are calmly stretched out on the floor with paper and pencil trying to decipher the frantic waving of the rest. Let us go over and speak to the instructor in charge and hear what he has to say about these scouts with the flags who are continuing their frantic wig-wagging and those so calmly disposing themselves on the floor. Well, he tells us they are doing fine and making progress. All right that may be so but we derive some satisfaction from knowing that there is a First Aid class in session in an adjoining room who can render first aid should these enthusiastic signallers get too hoplessly entangled with their flags. So we proceed to calmer regions where we know the Ambulance class is at home. We enter and lo, lying in the middle of the room is a boy so thoroughly bandaged up that we feel chills chasing up and down our spines, for surely we recognize in him the second who was joking the scout next to him when the orders were being read but a short time ago. Bending over him we ask how he got hurt and all the satisfaction we can get out of him is, "Wait till I get at that guy that fixed my fractured collar-bone and I'll bandage him up so completely that he wont be able to yell." Just as we have a sigh of relief at finding that he is not hurt at all but merely a subject for practice, the door bursts open and in rushes a scout holding his finger and asking to have it dressed as he used a wood chisel on his finger instead of the chest he was working on. First aid is promptly rendered and he is on his way again tormenting the chest with a chisel and whistling with redoubled energy.

We now enter the final precinct of the Scouthall. Here we find the Scoutmaster examining some souts in the various mysteries of Scoutcraft. Just as we enter, a scout appears to be apologising for the mixing upof the St. George, St. Andrew and St. Patrick's flags and forming the Union Jack. Well the scout has just got to the stage where he is telling the secrets about St. Patrick when in rushes a scout with a knife in one hand on which is a cooked potatoe while in the other hand he has a piece of steak six inches square. "How's this Mr—this is my meat and potatoes, you want to taste it, it's good." We try it and it's——. Oh well, that's what they are learning.

We regret that we cannot watch any further activities of the scouts tonight so after promising to call again, we leave, having obtained a small insight into the Boy Scout Movement, sufficient to convince us that it is something we should know all about and a movement worthy of our moral support.

"ONE OF THE BLOOD" AT ORPHEUM ON WED. & THURS.

The first motion picture to be made by Douglas Fairbanks, as a member of the "Big Four," United Artists Corporation to use its full name—has been secured for next Wednesday & Thursday by the Orpheum Theatre.

United Artists Corporation is made up of Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, Douglas Fairbanks and D. W. Griffith.

The United Artists feel that they will have greater freedom and consequently can do better work if they market their own pictures than if they permit their pictures to be marketed through an outside company.

The first picture to be put out by this new giant organization is "One of The Blood." The plans of the company are so full of promise of better things all round in the motion picture business, that theatres the country over have been most anxious to secure the first production to be made under these ideal conditions. The Orpheum Theatre will have the distinction of first exhibiting "One of The Blood" to the people of this city next Wednesday and Thursday.

The picture itself is said to be the most ambitious production that Fairbanks has ever undertaken. Eight weeks were devoted exclusively to the preparation of the scenario. Joseph Henaberry who created the part of "Lincoln" in the "Birth of a Nation" and who assisted D.W. Griffith in producing "Intolerance,"and also directed Douglas Fairbanks in "The Man from Painted Post," "Say Young Fellow" and other noteworthy successes, developed the scenario with the assistance of Elton Banks. Mr. Henaberry, of course, is the director of "One of the Blood."

Marjory Daw plays the leading feminine role in the picture and Frank Campeau, Sam Sothern, brother of E. H. Sothern, Lillian Langdon, Albert McQuarrie and other notables are included in the cast.

In addition to a company of high-salaried actors that in themselves guarantee splendid support for the agile "Doug," "One of The Blood" is said to have cost a fortune in point of actual production.

Mr. Fairbanks has set a mark which it will be hard to approach in settings for his new picture. Money has been spent lavishly in providing the atmosphere necessary for the successful portrayal of the story but the results have completely justified the tremendous outlay.

Its presentation at the Orpheum Theatre should be a genuine event among the motion picture enthusiasts of the city.

THE LADY MEMBER AND POSSIBILITIES

Premier Oliver, of British Columbia, we read, almost started a riot by meeting "Mary Ellen" Smith (Mrs. Ralph Smith, the lady M.L.A.) at the platform's edge and delivered a sound kiss. It was true that he blushed for several minutes afterwards, but in his speech he said the appreciation of the Vancouver electorate was so complete that it was the one thing left for him to do, to show his sentiment. "If there is one thing I pride myself upon, it is that I never let an opportunity slip by, and at any time in life I'd rather be envied than pitied," he said "Honest John!"

The reception accorded the Vancouver lady who was victorious at the polls raises up what might be somewhat embarrassing situations. It might become the general custom to use this method of bestowing the laurel leaf on the conquering female, and it may be particular duty of a defeated candidate so to accept his defeat, in the spirit of sport towards the lady by whom he was vanquished, in the future electoral contests with women engaged in them. It might be that the victress is one of sour visage, and the tribute may become a penance. On the other hand she may be young and handsome, and this will bring in the eternal triangle, with a jealous wife or a jealous husband to be reckoned with. And what if the lady is prude and resents the liberty? We can picture the humiliation that may follow. Again, in the truth that much can be considered lost in winning a lady's smile, will there not be a temptation, with a winsome female in the field, for the male who opposes her to endeavor to lose the election, in the anticipation of the kiss that will then be his proper portion. Will elections go by kisses? A kiss might be considered better than a miss.

Premier Oliver has started a fashion which is so appealing that it will be encouraged to grow. We can apply it to our friends and imagine the situation. We might figure out Mayor Hardie imprinting the kiss on the successful lady who aspires to be Mayoress against him. With the fashion in being aspirants for public office, with ladies in the field, will have to practise the art of kissing in public in case of eventualities. Every member of Parliament, with ladies elected, will be in the thrills of anticipation as to the lip salute which will, no doubt, come to be the proper greeting given the ladies when they take their place in the House "Honest John,"with very little temptation to prove his honesty, has made himself responsible for a great deal—Lethbridge Herald.

PORTFOLIO MAY BE GIVEN LADY MEMEBER

VICTORIA Dec. 15—A local paper states today that it is reported Mrs. Ralph Smith, Vancouver's woman member of the legislature, who led the polls in the recent election, may be given cabinet rank in the next Liberal administration. By adding the new department of public health, it is said, Hon. J. D. McLean will be transferred to that post and Mrs. Smith will succeed him.

USEFUL RECIPES

Christmas Plum Pudding

Chop until fine one and one-half pounds each of currants and seeded raisins, one-half pound each of candied orange-peel and citron, and one pound of suet. Mix all together and add one pound of fine breadcrumbs (these should be stale but not dry) the yolk of eight eggs beaten until light, three-fourths of a grated nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoonful of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of salt, one and one-half cupfuls of dark brown sugar, two tablespoonfuls of cider, white grape-juice, or coffee, and last, the stiffly beaten whites of eight eggs. Put the mixture in buttered bowls, cover with a floured cloth or parchment paper, tie down well, and cook two and one-half hours. When used, steam two and one-half hours longer.

What would Christmas be with an empty cookie jar, and no other goodies to gladden the hearts of the little kiddies? Good things to eat are always tempting, but at holiday time they seem a real necessity. It is for them that the busy little mother begins to plan weeks ahead—for there is the fruit cake to have ready, the huge cookie jar to fill full with delicious crisp cookies, and no end of other good things must be in readiness.

This year with foodstuffs abnormally high, you must plan accordingly. So that you may have all the good things, and yet practice economy, here are suggested a few simple recipes to help you.

First in a recipe for orange peel candied that may be finished in one day. Heretofore every recipe for this delicious dainty has taken at least two days in preparing.

Candied Orange Peel

Peel 4 oranges, 1cup sugar, ½cup hot water, place peel in cold water and put over fire. Cook until tender Drain and with the back of a spoon scrape part of white from peel. Cut in strips with a sharp knife and cook 12 minutes in syrup made by cooking sugar and water until it threads. Drain and allow to cool. Then roll in granulated sugar and serve.

Stuffed Dates

Stone dates and either stuff with chopped nuts or raisins. Then roll in powdered sugar.

Tuna Fish Sandwiches

One can tuna fish, 2 tablespoonfuls chopped capers, 2 hard cooked eggs 1 tablespoon lemon, mayonaise, mix fish eggs and capers with lemon juice and add enough mayonaise to spread well. Decorate with pickles.

MILLIONS KILLED IN ACTION

Wonderful news! Millions and millions of germs killed in action and thousands and thousands of victims relieved of bronchitis, asthma, coughs, and colds. There is great rejoicing in the fact that science has at last invented the world's surest death trap for germs—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. With the first dose this remedy gets right down to business, and never ceases in its destructive work until every trace of the disease is completely removed and the victim restored to normal health. Letters from all parts of Canada praising this wonderful mixture are literally pouring into headquarters. Read this letter:—"Years of suffering from that terrible affliction, bronchial asthma, ordered by all medical men to close my business in Montreal and go south to a warmer climate, but I noticed your ad. in the "Montreal Standard" for the above mixture and I said I would give one more trial to health before I leave my native town, and thank the good maker I did. My bronchial tubes are clear, the hacking cough has disappeared, the wheezing cough has ceased as if by magic, and all discomforts have gone since taking your wonderful mixture."—Herbert Corri, 417 McKay Street, Montreal. There is no reason whatever why you cannot be completely and speedily restored to health if you take this remedy. You are satisfied or the money is refunded, according to our guarantee. Don't delay. RANCHER HAD TO GET RELIEF QUICK

Says he couldn't have kept Going Much Longer if it Hadn't Been for Tanlac

"If I hadn't got hold of Tanlac when I did I couldn't have stayed on the job," said Henry Robertson, a well-known ranchman, living at Port Kells, B. C.

"About six months ago my stomach got into a mighty bad state. I just had to force down everything I ate and the little that I did eat always hurt me. Always after eating I bloated up with gas until I could hardly get my breath, and sometimes felt like I was going to smother. Often I became so nauseated I could scarcely retain a thing. My head ached fit to burst and I would get dizzy and was badly constipated, too. My nerves were unstrung and at night I often rolled and tossed for hours before I could get to sleep, and in the morning felt too tired to move. The least exertion would tire me out and I was getting weaker every day.

"I had heard a lot about Tanlac and decided to give it a trial, and I haven't had a headache since I finished the first bottle. I have taken four bottles of Tanlac now and my appetite is so good I can eat just anything and everything and never have a particle of trouble afterwards. I sleep like a rock at night and get up in the morning ready for a big breakfast and a big days' work on the ranch. If I ever felt better in my life than I do right this minute I don't know when it was, and the best of it is, it is the regular thing with me to feel that way now."

VIENNA IS DYING

It is an old story that Vienna is dying. It is an old story that in the homes, the offices, the streets of Vienna, at least a million human beings must die slowly, by infinite graduations of starvation, through the months and years that follow the peace treaty of Varsailles. We say that Vienna was destroyed by the war, but she was not destroyed by the war. It is peace that is killing her—a peace undisturbed by the sound of guns, a peace in which orchestras play in the cafes, women buy jewels and ride in limousines beneath the trees of the Ring, and men pile up fortunes in food speculation; a peace in which prices rise, the value of money decreases, salaries remain stationary, and production drops.

"These invisible betrayers of a ages throughout the world are more terrible than the devastation that follows armies. Vienna, a great city agony, a witness to the danger that condemned to death, because, in her is present in all countries, unnoticed showing only in the listlessness and stunted growth of children, the headache and fatigues of girls in schools and offices, the dull statistics that record the increase of tuberculosis and the deaths of babies. In Vienna these symptoms of the decaying vitality of a people come from conditions that were forced upon her, and from causes whose roots are as old as history; in America they are the result of indifference, and of economic tendencies that might be checked."—Rose Wilder Lane.

SCHOOLS FILLED WITH FRILLS, FANCIES, FADS

Two eminent college professors, holding important positions in the University of Toronto, ventured the statement the other day (privately, of course,) that the system of education in Ontario and more particularly in Toronto, was the worst in their experience, and their experience, it may be said, is as wide as the seven seas. What is the matter? Education in Toronto Public Schools is costing more per scholar than any city I know of on the continent. Here are a few figures for the year 1918, later ones not being obtainable: Buffalo, per pupil, cost, $40; Detroit, $41; Chicago $45; Toronto $54. The Toronto cost per pupil for the year 1919 ran over $63. What the bill per head was in the other cities named in the same year has not yet been ascertained, but it is fairly safe to state that it will be less than in Toronto.

When asked to give an explanation as to why the Toronto schools were down in respect to scholarship, in spite of the immense sums contributed by the taxpayers, the professors were unanimous in their reply, which was "frills." They went on to say that first of all too much was being attempted. Scholars were given too many subjects. Their minds were not being properly trained. There was not sufficient concentration because there are too many interests.

No one will begrudge comfortable, well built school buildings for our youth. But why stone palaces? Why these fads, frills and flounces, when the net result is so unsatisfactory? The "little red school house" did better.— Saturday Night.

DR. KING ELECTED

A phone message from Cranbrook as we go to press states that the official count yesterday gave Dr. King 16 of a majority over Thos. Caven.

CITY FATHERS GENEROUS

The council convened in regular session last night with Alds. Harrison and Rutledge absent. Minutes were approved.

Wm. Hunter on behalf of the International Organization, United Mine Workers of America made a very earnest appeal, that the city make an adjusting settlement in connection with the Miner's Hall repurchased by the U.M.W. of A. just lately. The purchase price paid included all the charges against the property to December 31st according to Mr. Hunter and as the city received all revenues, he argued, they should assume the liabilities. He asked that the Union be refunded the difference between rents received less water and light charges. This matter after being discussed for over half an hour was settled by the following motion, adopted unanimousley: that the City pay the U.M.W. of A. $142.00 and collect accounts due to November 30 and the Union stand responsible for all December City accounts against the property.

Messrs. Riley and Quigg appeared as a deputation from the G.W.V.A. in connection with the Civic grant to that organization. It was requested, this should be increased if possible. The delegation were appeased by the council, who would give this, earnest consideration at a later time.

Mr. J. C. Orner made application that electric power be supplied from 2.30 p.m. Xmas Day, in order that he may give a free matinee for children. The request was granted.

The Union of B. C. Municipalities wrote requesting suggestions in connection with municipal taxation. This will be complied and forwarded.

The formal motions necessary for the forthcoming elections were passed The City Clerk was appointed returning officer. Monday Jan. 10th is fixed as nomination day and polling if any on Thursday Jan. 13th 1921.

As the date of the next regular meeting falls on election day, on motion, the next regular meeting will be held on Jan 11th. A Civic meeting at which all prospective candidates for civic honors will have the opportunity of announcing their ambitions towards the desired civic administration. The Grand Theatre will be engaged for the occasion.

A large number of accounts were approved for payment. A grant of $100.00 was made to the G.W.V.A.

Chief Lawson and Const. Clarkstone paid an official visit Thursday evening to the premises operated by Pete Ceslikowski and a search brought forth a sealed bottle labelled Rye. Pete will be prosecuted under the Prohibition Act at least.

The skating rink will be opened to patrons at 2.30 on Xmas afternoon. The rink management state an excellent sheet of ice has been made and to induce a large number to take season tickets, the prices have been fixed at $5.00 and $2.50. The ordinary admision, however, will be 35c. and 20c.

W. J. Claridge of Blairmore was in the city this week. He will skip a rink from that place during the District Bonspiel here.

The council then adjourned at 9.35.

BASSOFF IS HANGED

Lethbridge Herald, Dec. 22

When the trap was sprung at 6.04 this morning and Tom Bassoff, bandit murder, plunged into eternity at the end of the hangman's rope, the fifth life was snuffed out in the tragic chain started on Aug. 2nd last when Bassoff, Auloff and Akroff held up C.P.R. train No. 63 at Sentinel in the Crow's Nest Pass, and justice had been appeased for the murder of Corp. Usher and Const. Bailey at Bellevue on Saturday Aug. 7th.

The Jury's Verdict

Not a hitch occured in this morning's hanging at the provincial jail, the fourth death by hanging to take place in the city of Lethbridge. No spectators were present, and the press was not represented, but according to the story of the hanging as given the Herald by the sheriff, who was in charge, everything went off smoothly. There was no bungling. At 6.19 just fifteen minutes after the trap had been sprung, the official surgeon, Dr. Wray, examined the body and pronounced Bassoff dead. Coroner McNicol and jury composed of Arthur Hayr, foreman, James Westbrook, R. V. Gibbons, George McLean, Len S. Brown and Robert Barrowman, then viewed the remains in an official inquest and rendered the following verdict:

"That Thomas Bassoff came to his death at the provincial jail near Lethbridge at about six o'clock on the morning of December twenty-second by being hung by the public executioner."

Only those whose official business required their presence were on hand to view the execution.

Bassoff slept very little last night. He heard every hour tolled off as the jail roundman punched the clock in the great cell chamber. With his guard in the death cell, he paced the floor and as the hours were tolled off which drew him closer to his doom he would say, "That's another hour gone." Shortly after five o'clock breakfast was taken to him, but this he hardly touched. He was keenly alive to the fate which awaited him, but in spite of the strain he did not break down. Just before six o'clock the sheriff went to the cell to give the word and to see that the condemned man's arms were properly bound. He was then led by his guard to the scaffold which he mounted practically unaided. There was no sign of breakdown. The official hangman hurriedly bound Bassoff's legs, adjusted the black cap and placed the noose around his neck, adjusting the knot in the approved fashion, and at exactly 6.04 the trap was sprung. Though Bassoff was a small man, weighing little over 150 pounds, a perfect dislocation of the neck was secured. Death was practically instantaneous but it was 15 minutes later before Dr. Wray pronounced life extinct.

As the condemned man shot into eternity to face his maker and answer to the crime of double murder, prayers were being said by Rev. Father Cozenet of St. Patrick's mission in the absence of Rev. Alexander L. Kizium of the Greek Catholic church, Edmonton, whom the government had provided as Bassoff's confessor, the condemned man being of that faith.

No further confession as to his guilt for the murder of Usher and Bailey was made by Bassoff before he went to the gallows.

Prior to the springing of the trap, Bassoff, whose senses seemed to be keenly alive to all that was going on about him said, "Good bye, everybody," and while his voice was shaky it betrayed no craven fear of the awful moment.

It was a cold morning on the scaffold which was brilliantly lighted by electricity to guard against any possibility of fumbling the job, and the hangman worked with dispatch. Officials were back in the city by 6.35.

None of Bassoff's relatives were present to claim the remains which were taken charge of by the jail authorities, and as soon as the body was cut down it was removed to Fetterly's undertaking parlors where it will be held pending the possible claiming by some of his friends from Coaldale or from the pass mining camps. Should the remains not be claimed, the jail authorities will bury them without ceremony as is usual in the case of those who die on the scaffold.

The hanging of Bassoff writes "finis" on the history of the most sensational murder case in the history of Southern Alberta.

COAL CO. PAY $275.000

The Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co. pay rolls for the month of December will be about $275,000.00. The wages for the first ten working days of December, together with the last two working days of November were paid on December 18th. The wages due the Employees of the Company from December the 12th to 25th will be paid on Friday, December 31st, instead of Saturday, it being a holiday. It may be noted by those who have more than a passing interest in the welfare and progress of this local mining district how prosperous these local camps may become when freed from local strife prevails. There is no working community of the same number of population in any part of this broad Dominion that has more favorable opportunities before them for making a respectable living than the men of this immediate district, if they unite in their efforts to wisely understand the basic principals of the industry they are engaged in, and the reasonable possibility of their share of obtainment therefrom.

MINER KILLED AT BELLVUE

BELLEVUE, Dec. 22-Cairie Bonne, a French miner, had his back broken when he was pinned beneath a fall of coal. Dr. N. T. Beenan rendered all possible medical aid, but Boone succumbed some hours later. Death occured in the hospital last night. Boone, who was well-liked by all who knew him in this and neighbouring camps, is survived by a widow. There are no children. Funeral arrangements are being made.

BLAIRMORE MURDER IS TRIANGLE CASE

Coleman, Dec. 21. — Preliminary hearing of James Vitto, now under arrest for the murder of Mrs. Olive B. McDonald at Blairmore last week, will open in the town hall at Coleman on Wednesday morning and some very sensational evidence is likely to be adduced, as it is understood that the eternal triangle figures in the case which has created considerable excitement in Blairmore.

On Monday afternoon at Coleman police barracks, a coroner's inquest was held when the following verdict was brought in by the jury:

"We, the jury empanelled to inquire into the death of Mrs. Olive B. McDonald, of Blairmore, who died about 8.30 p.m. at the hospital at Bairmore, on Dec. 16, 1920, having viewed the remains and heard the evidence of witnesses reative to her death, find that the said Oive B. McDonad came to her death from the effects of a bullet fired from a revolver on the night of Dec. 13. The said revolver was found the same night upon the person of one, James Vitto."

Witnesses called were Dr. James Olivia; Clara McDonald, 13-year-old daughter of the murdered woman; James Carter, chief of Blairmore police, and Harold Pinckney.

The attorney-general was represented by J. W. McDonald, K.C., of Macleod; Mr. Putnam appeared for the accused, and Mr. Gillies for Pinckney, who is an interested principal in the case.

The Pacific Coast League is under way, Vancouver trimmed the Seattle Mets. in the opening game on Monday by the score of 2-0.

The Trites-Wood window dressers have been right on the job again this Christmas and have excelled their former high standard by their magnificent display.

THE U. S. GOING TO BE GOOD

The Presidental election being over and nothing in sight in the way of adventure in that direction, the people of the United States are taking up the question of a Blue Sunday. As in their custom, they are "going to it" with all the enthusiasism possible. No Sunday excursions; street and general railway service cut to the minimum actually required by churchgoers; no Sunday papers, which will be a big saving and tend to releive the newspaper situation; no Sunday athletics, including golf; no Sunday concerts, and so on, and so on.

Rev. Dr. Bowlby, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, waxes enthusiastic over the project. He is even given to talking like Old Bill Bryan. Listen to this:

"As the official representative of between fifteen and sixteen million communicants in the evangelical churches, we intend to see that the laboring man shall not be led to the guillotine of any man's greed or crucified on the cross of gold or have his brow pressed down by unnecessary labor."

Now, could Old Bill doany better himself ?

Of course there is going to be opposi tion to the proposal. Some people are going so far as to point out that the late Puritans were extremely unpopular; even blaming them for New England's later retrograde steps. And then there was the court of Charles II and all that sort of thing but no matter. We are strong for Rev. Bowlby and his project. If the United States wants to be really good, we are disposed to do the best we can toward helping them do good. See how good we are since our Lord's Day Alliance took hold of us!

Rev. Dr. Manning, of Trinity Church New York, is among the kickers, and goes so far as to remark that the Puritans of our Lord's day were rebuked and told that the Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath. We would like, however, to call Dr. Manning's attention to the fact that times and customs have changed; that labor unions in those days were in their incipient stage, if they existed at all, and there was no time-and-one-half or double-time for Sunday work, and therefore no incentive to lay off during the week and pick up the extra change that Sunday work affords. If Dr. Manning had occasion to hire a plumber on Sunday, he would see the full force of this remark.

Anyway, the Blue Sundayites are going at the job in a thoroughly workmanlike manner. First tmhey are to force Congress to enact in the District of Columbia, which is a species of no man's land, as it is governed by Congress through Commissioners, a set of laws bristling with Sunday restrictions. This, it is planned, will be followed by another amendment to the Constitution (poor old Constitution!) whereby these laws will be spread all over the United States.

THE "FLU" Dare Not Return

The "Flu" will certainly get a warm reception this winter if it dares show its ugly head in our peaceful midst, for the people are confident now that they can deal it such a smashing blow it will never survive. In every village, town and city in Canada, families are fortifying themselves with the greatest "Flu" ammunition known to science—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. Colds, coughs, etc.—the advance guards of Flu—are met with withering fire, and relief from these troubles is sure every time. One hundred thousand Canadians are only too willing to testify to the great healing power this remedy contains. It has conquered coughs of 35 years' standing. It cannot fail to do for you what it has done for others. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose, as it is sold under a money-back guarantee to banish coughs, colds, bronchitis, bronchial asthma and prevent you from getting the "Flu." It is not a syrup, but a scientific mixture, 20 times stronger than any other cough cure. One dose gives instant relief. Price, 75 cents. Take no substitute. None genuine without my signature. WISH TO REVIVE THE PURITAN SUNDAY

Canadians who have heard about the campaign in the United States to revive the old "blue laws" can afford to laugh comfortably. Not so Americans. However absured the old laws may appear, Americans can recall other legal absurdities that have been clamped on them. They are much in the position of the wight who called his lawyer to visit him in jail, told his story and the lawyer remarking. "Why, they can't put you in jail for that." observed, "But I am in jail." The machinery that made prohibition constitutional, and which now aspires to make it a crime or a cause of disfranchisement for an Americtn citizen abroad to quaff a beaker, is at work to "put the Sun in Sunday." This, according to Rev. Henry L. Bowlby, general secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, is the object of the movement. Others contend that the object is just the opposite. Nor can Americans take much joy and comfort from the activities of the leading American newspapers. With few exceptions they were opposed to prohibition, as they are now opposed to a revival of the blue laws. Yet they failed to accomplish anything. In all fairness, we have to admit that the Hearst papers were in favor of prohibition.

The reformers are working along three lines. They are determined that in those states in which archaic Sunday laws still remain on the statute books, they shall be rvived and enforced. They wish to have other states restrict the activities of citizens of one day of the week. They are squaring a way to have another constitutional amendment to make it obligatory for law-abiding citizens to spend their Sundays in a prescribed manner. These are certain states in which the old laws, derived from the Puritans, have never been repealed; they have merely been allowed to become obsolete. The idea is to revive these laws and make them a living force. No Sunday amusements, no Sunday games, no Sunday newspapers, no Sunday restaurants, no trains pasing from one state to another on Sundays—these are some of the "no-Sunday" things that are nailed to the flagpoles of the reformers.

It is officially denied that the idea is to revive the old Puritan laws, but, as remarked, the Americans are suspicious. They declare that the uplifters are like the camel that was permitted to thrust his nose under the tent and wound up by inserting his whole body. Filled with panic they are turning over old statutes and find thatsome of the laws which governed the Puritans on Sunday are as follows:

"No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep house, cut hair or shave on the Sabbath day.

"No one shall run on the Sabbath, or walk in his garden or elsewhere ercept reverantly to and from meeting.

"No woman shall kiss her child on the Sabbath or fasting day.

"If any man shall kiss his wife, or wife shall kiss her husband on the Lord's Day, the part in fault shall be punished at the discretion of the court of magistrates."

Although the Pilgrim Fathers found the growing of tobacco a profitable occupation and the practise of smoking soothing to the nerves and designed to incline one to a devotional frame of mind, it was recognized as a scandal to smoke publicly on Sunday. Nobody was allowed to smoke within two miles of the meeting house. It was necessary that one should go to church, and a statute provided the officers of the law with authority to visit "any house where they may suspect that any slothfully do lurke att home or gett together in companie to neglect the publicke worship of God or prophane the Lord's Day, and finding any such disorder shall return the names of the persons to the next court, and give notice also of any particular miscarriage that they may have taken notice of that it may be inquired intoe."

The kind of musical instruments that the old Pilgrims and their descendants might perform upon were listed. They included the drum, the trumpet and the jew's harp. A man was forbidden to shave or have his hair cut on Sunday, and there was even a sumptuary decree that "every male shall have his hair cut round according to a cap." American city dwellers, regarding the possibility of a revival of the blue laws, naturally wonder what they will be permitted to do on Sunday should the law be revived. Rev. Mr. Bowlby, when interviewed by the New York Tribune, said that apart from attending Divine worship they might "walk out in the fields" and said that "the museums will be open and the parks." This seemed to be encouraging, but it was qualified by the assertion that they might not take a swim. Asked in desperation what were people really to do on this Sunday, he said blandly that people might sit in the quiet of their own homes and learn to be peaceful citizens."

NEAR BEER ATTRACTS BIG CROWD TO VILLAGE

Huntingdon, B.C., Dec. 20. — From Monday to Saturday Huntingdon is a sleepy little village with so little in the way of accommodation that visitors have to cross the line into Sumas, Wash., to get a bed and a meal and recently appointed officers have been obliged to live temporarily in Washington while conducting their duty in British Columbia. But on Saturday night Huntingdon takes on the appearance of a city on a holiday. Hundreds of Americans flock into the village to quaff near beer. Main St. is packed with automobiles and near-beer emporiums are crowded to their utmost capacity.

WONT ABOLISH BUSINESS PROFITS TAX AWHILE YET

OTTAWA, Dec. 20—(Can. Press.)—There has been no decision by the government as to removal of the business profits tax, according to Hon. R. W. Wigmore, minister of customs and inland revenue. To the Canadian Press, Mr. Wigmore stated this afternoon that the only changes contemplated in the taxation measures at the present were those which became effective with the partial remission of the lurury and manufacturers taxes this morning. There has, however, been a great deal of opposition inside and outside of parliament to the business profits tax since it was imposed, but no immediate abolition is anticipated. It is expected that there will be consideration of this tax in connection with the next budget, which the government it is believed, hopes to have ready for presentation in a very short time to the impending parliament.

The date for the opening of parliament is still indefinite, but at the present time, expectations are that the event will take place about the middle of February.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Ladies Benevolent Society was held on Saturday at the home of Mrs. M. A. Kastner, the President, Mrs. Klauer, in the chair.

The work of the year was gone into and the following report was presented by the Secretary:

The Society affiliated with the Women's Council and appointed four delegates to represent them, which delegates brought before the Women's Council the necessity of having more Tubercular Hospital accomodation at this end of the province, and asking their assistance in bringing the matter before the government.

Several destitute families were assisted with food and clothing. Where sickness prevailed special attention and aid was given by the Society.

Government aid was procured through Mr. Stenson for several cases outside the city limits.

Last Christmas four families were provided with Christmas hampers.

As Fernie had sent several children to the Children's Home in Vancouver, a donation of $25.00 was sent to C. J. South, the superintendent, as they were badly in need of funds and had asked our assistance.

We are also assisting in procuring Mothers' Compensation for Mrs. Baba and Mrs. Gallamore, two very deserving cases.

The Society owns the dishes in Victoria Hall and has received $79.00 from the rent of same, which has helped considerably in the work.

PASSENGER RATES DOWN 10 P.C. JAN. 1st

OTTAWA, Dec. 21.—The judgment delivered today by the board of Railway Commissioners say that any discussion of passenger rates which took place at the hearing on the appeal was merely incidental to the presentation of financial statistics and estimates, while it has developed that since the increased rates of the board came into effect, there has been a considerable falling off in receipts from this source. While this increase may be due in part to the general decline in business activity, the board thinks it may also be in part attributable to the higher rates, and to that extent the provisions made for a reduction on January 1st of 10 per cent of the 20 per cent increase is justified.

The latter portion of the judgment deals with the financial position of the C.P.R. and the need for the higher rates fixed by the board in September. Reference is made to the statement made by the chief commissioner in his judgment, that with the entire increase asked for by the railways—40 per cent. on freight and 20 per cent. on pasenger rates—the C.P.R. would have an estimated surplus for the year 1921 of $15,064,500.

It is noted that: "Although the judgment subsequently set forth that under the rates actually allowed, subject as these were to many exceptions and time limitations, this estiamted surplus, based as it was on essentially different calculations, had absolutely no bearing on the situation, much adverse critisism, founded on this incidental statement has been directed at the board."

The judgment proceeds:

"When the appeal in the railway rates case was before the governor-in-council the Canadian Pacific Railway was required tofurnish an estimate of revenue and expenditure of the C. P.R. for the year 1921 based on the increases as actually authorized by the order of the board.

"SOLDIERS OF FORTUNE" AT THE ORPHEUM

Few stories in the annals of literature carry a greater universal appeal than does "Soldiers of Fortune" written by Richard Harding Davis.

Its vivid action, poetic romance and intense situations have thrilled the countless millions the world over both as a book and a play.

Director Allan Dwan, in picturizing "Soldiers of Fortune" for the screen, has been able to present it in a far broader scope than the limitations of the spoken stage or cold type could possibly permit, adhering closely to the story so as to preserve all of those qualities which have endeared the tale to all who are familiar with it.

Norman Kerry and Anna Q. Nilson are starred in the leading roles.

"Soldiers of Fortune" will be seen at the Orpheum Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, December 27th and 28th.

ERECTS TABLET TO EMPLOYEE VETERANS

The Berliner Gramophone Co. Ltd., have paid a very fine tribute to the men who left their employ to take part in the Great War. A handsome tablet has been erected on the Lacasse Street side of their million dollar plant, which has just been erected in Montreal.

The tablet is suitably inscribed and bears the names of the employees who left to take part in the great struggle, two of whom, Donald Robinson and Emile Gerard, made the supreme sacrifice.

Lt. Col. Alexander McMullen of St. John, N.B. officiated at the unveiling of the tablet on December 9th, the Directors and Officers and many employees being present.

B. C. CLAIM FOR LANDS "IN MIND" AT OTTAWA

Victoria, Dec. 20.—Premier Oliver has been informed by Prime Minister Meighen, that the federal government is bearing in mind the claim advanced two years ago at the Ottawa conference on behalf of British Columbia for the return to the province of the lands within the railway belt and the Peace River block.

The message from Mr. Meighen was in response to one sent by Premier Oliver to Ottawa in consequence of the meeting there of the premiers of the three prairie provinces who were conferring with the Dominion on the question of the return to those provinces of their natural resources.

VANCOUVER WOMAN GAINS 15 POUNDS

Says she feels like different person since Tanlac restored her health

"Tanlac has not only releived me of all my troubles but has also built me up fifteen pounds in weight," declared Mrs. George Farrell of Lynn Valley, North Vancouver, B. C.

"For the past ten years I suffered from a badly disordered stomach and was in a weak condition all that time. My appetite left me entirely, and I wasn't able to eat my breakfast at all. Everything I ate just semmed to lie in my stomach and sour, causing a terrible depressed feeling, and I had dreadful headaches. My nerves were worn to a frazzle, and the least little noise would upset me. I could scarcely sleep at night and would get up in the morning feeling worse than when I retired. I was continually losing weight and strength, and even my little housework would tire me out completely.

"The statements I read about Tanlac impressed me so, that I decided to try it, and after taking six bottles, I'm feeling as fine as I ever did in my life. I'm always glad to see mealtime come, for I can eat just anything I want. My stomach is in splendid order again, and I never have a headach. My nerves are perfectly calm, and at night I sleep like a child. I'm always full of strength and energy and feel like an entirely different woman. My husband is getting splendid results from Tanlac, also, and I can't praise it enough for what it has done for us."

BRITAIN'S ENORMOUS FINANCIAL DEALINGS

"British Public Finance," a book just issued from the press, gives some amazing figures of what the British people have expended since the beginning of the war. Analyzing the total expenditure of the United Kingdom from 1688 to 1920 it shows that for the six fiscal years beginning March 31, 1914, and ending March 31, 1920, the expenditure of the government actually exceeds the total outlay for the two and a quarter centuries preceeding 1914. The exact figures are: For the 226 years, $54,720,000,000 for the six years, $56,340,000,000 The British people paid into the coffers of the government in taxes and other revenue collections over 36 p.c. of this vast amount. The other 64 p.c. was borrowed.

The war borrowings of Great Britain at their maximum, Dec. 31, 1919, amounted at par value of securities issued to $36,840,000,000, $30,055,000,000 furnished by her own people, $5,135,000,000, borrowed in and from the United States, and $1,650,000,000 borrowed from other foreign nations and from the Dominions. On the other hand, Great Britan had then loaned to the Dominions $930,000,000, and to her allies $8,330,000,000, so that the amount loaned abroad exceeded by $2,475,000,000 the amount borrowed abroad.

The 46 million people of the British Isles raised entirely from their own resources a net amount of $49,555,000,000, over $1,075 for each one of their number.

For the active war period covering the five fiscal years ending March 31,, 1919, from 22½ per cent of the expenditure was raised from taxation, other revenue collections, and war contributions.

WALLACE REID IN "EXCUSE MY DUST"

Wallace Reid proves that he is a speed demon of parts as well as an entertaining comedy star in his new picture, "Excuse My Dust," at the Orpheum, Friday and Saturday.

Mr Reid has the role of a young manager of the "Darco" auto agency. His business rivals, the "Fargot" people, are most anxious to secure a sketch of the new "Darco" motor, supposed to be a marvel for speed and power. Accepting a challenge for a road race, Wallie is fouled by his rivals, but manages to cripple them so that Theodore Roberts, in the roleof "The Bear," president of the "Darco" company flashes over the line a winner.

Ann Little makes an exceedingly attractive leading woman, Tully Marshall and Guy Oliver are also in supporting cast. Not the least important member of the company is the talented child-actor who plays Toodles Jr., in the films. Will M. Ritchey adapted the picture from a magazine story by Bryon Morgan. It is designed as a sequel to "The Roaring Road," Wallace Reid's previous auto racing picture. Sam Wood directed and it is a Paramount Artcraft.

TAKE A LESSON FROM NORTH DAKOTA

The radicalism of North Dakota is reaping its reward. At different times we have had the occasion to mention the methods adopted by which the bewhiskered gentry of North Dakota had driven privately-owned institutions, such as banks, beyond their gates by unfriendly legislation; the plan being to establish in their place a chain of farmers' banks at strategic points within the state. These banks, according to the plan, were going to do wonders for North Dakota agriculturists. They have. Some fiften institutions have closed their doors within the past few weeks and more will no doubt follow along in the mournful possession.

These banks did just what an astute banker would avoid, put their eggs all in one basket. They borrowed from the farmer and loaned to the farmer. They dealt with the farmer exclusively. All went well during the war when form products sold at peak prices. But now things are different in North Dakota, and in the first crisis they meet down go these like card houses. And there is something in this for Canadians to remember when projects such as banks to deal with one community or province are under advisement, as is now the case in British Columbia— Saturday Night.

"SPUDS" AS AN ARTICLE OF FOOD

The high price of potatoes during the past few years has directed particular attention to their value as an article of food. It has also lent point to the desirability of having the best that can be grown. As far back as 1915 a system of potato inspection and certification was established in New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Hence the special demand for potatoes grown in those provinces. The system has now been extended to Nova Scotia, Quebec, Northern Ontario and Manitoba. A survey restricted to the commercial growing district of Southern Ontario and to some districts of Saskatchewan and Alberta has also been made. A description of the methods followed in the prosecution of this work is given in the Agricultural Gazette. If a field passes satisfactory it is classified at headquarters as grade 1 or 2, the grading depending upon the percentageof diseases recorded, and a second inspection is made at or after harvet time toacertain to what extent, if any, diseases affecting the tubers, are present. If this second inspection is satisfactory, and the grower agrees to grade his stock so that a shipment of potatoes for seed purposes contains no tuber under two ounces and above twelve ounces in weight, a sufficient number of tags to cover the number of bags or other containers necessary for the shipment of the amount of potatoes inspected, is issued by the inspector and placed by him upon the shipment at the point of loading. Tags certify to ownership and that the contents of the containers have been officially inspected. Twenty-five inspectors have been employed this year and 7,613 acres inspected, of which 2,850¾ have been graded as No. 1 and 1,105½ as No. 2.

MINES IN CROW HAVE BIG PAYDAY

Payday in the mines of Lethbridge and the Crow's Nest Pass has been advanced a couple of days in order to give the miners their pay before Christmas. Friday, Dec. 24th, is designated as the date, and at that time the largest payroll ever known in the history of this field will be distributed.

In the Lethbridge field alone there will be $165,000 put in circulation through the mine payrolls, and the merchants in the city and the close-in camps are looking for a huge business on Friday evening when the stores remain open until 10 o'clock.

Galt mines	$76,000
North American	22,000
Chinook	22,000
Federal and others	15,000
Total	$165,200

The total pay distributed to mines of the Lethbridge mine field this month will be $325,000.

MALNUTRITION

"Malnutrition is not starvation. Black bread and turnips fill the stomach and quiet hunger; corn pone and sorghum make a meal in the southern states of America; applepie and coffee are breakfast for a New England farmer; many a child in the slums lives on coffee and bread, and school-children will be satisfied with a luncheon of cake and pickles. Malnutrition is the slow stunting of growth and the lessening of energy that results from eating food that may be sufficient in quantity but is insufficient in chemical content.

"Directly from malnutrition, too, comes the disease that every year kills more Americans than any other cause, the disease that during the years of Vienna's underfeeding fastened itself upon nearly half of the population—tuberculosis.

"Tuberculosis will never get a foothold in a properly nourished body, Dr. Pirquet, Vienna's famous physician, says emphatically. Tuberculosis always means that the patient's resistance has been weakened by bad feeding.—Rae Wilder Lane.

APPEAL CASES TO BE HEARD

At the sittings of the Court of Appeal, which will open in Victoria on Jan. 4, there will be heard three cases from here. They are: Farquharson et al vs. Great Northern Railway; Cody vs. Jang Yee; and the King vs. Wm. Kerr. The first mentioned came to trial at the Spring Assizes in May last and is an action involving approximately $30,000 for loss occasioned by fire to the property of the plaintiffs, liability for said fire having been admitted by the railway companies. Mr. Justice Morrison presided at the trial and awarded damages to the extent of $8000, the date of judgment being Oct. 19, or about five months after the case was heard. In re Cody vs. Jang Yee et al, the defendants are appealing from judgment by His Honor Judge Thompson, whereby the plaintiff suing for balance due on contract for renovating and repairing building occupied by Jang Yee, was given the award. The King vs. Kerr involves some $15,000 worth of liquors which the Crown allege were kept in a place other than a private dwelling house. The premises in question was a room in the Alex. Beck block, where defendant resides. Kerr was found guilty before Magistrate Whimster, fined $100 and the liquor confiscated. An appeal was made to Judge Thompson's court and the evidence re-heard, in which instance the conviction was quashed and the liquor seized ordered returned. The Crown immediately gave notice of appeal to the highest court in this province and this will be heard next week.

CLASS FOR BEGINNERS AT PUBLIC SCHOOL

The Fernie School Board announces that a class for beginners will be started at the Central School on Monday, January 3rd, 1921 at 1 p.m. Last September there were some thirty pupils of school age who could not be admited on account of lack of room. The new class is intended to urovide for these students, but there will be room for a few others. All parents having children of the full age of six years whom they wish to start to school this term should communicate with Principal Sheffield at once so that necessary arrangements may be made.

Another class of beginners will also be started on February 1st, when the mid-year grading is done. The class for beginners at West Fernie School will also start on the First of February.

MAY INTRODUCE THE LAND TAX

The Toronto Globe's Ottawa correspondent, discussing the need of new taxation to meet the removal of the luxury tax, says:

In view of the fact that farmers throughout Canada have said that they would be willing to have the land taxed in consideration of a reduction in tariff taxation, it is believed that considerable attention has been given to the possibility of having a Federal super-tax collected by municipalities throughout Canada. There is strong objection to this by some members of the government on the ground that it is encroaching on the municipal preserves.

If the business profits tax is eliminated as expected, a small land tax and an income tax higher in some respects than at present are not beyond the bounds of possibility.

All books in Russia have been declared common property. Intellectual wealth, like material wealth, in theory, is to be a possession of all the people. We hope the Russians will avail themselves of the opportunity being placed before them, as they need enlightenment upon many important points. But the chances are that they will be supplied with only the kind of literature that Trotzky deems desirable, and that will hardly guide them into a better land.—Colonist.

THE LATEST DISPATCHES

London, Dec. 30.—Britain's outlook for 1921 is pictured in rather colors by the politicians, economists, financiers and labor leaders, who are casting their eyes forward to the new year. At home two outstanding problems, unemployment and Ireland, baffled the government, while it is also besieged by many results of the war, including a vigorous campaign against so-called government extravagance by the newspapers.

Dublin, Dec. 30.—Catholics of the Archdiocese of Tuam are reminded that armed resistance to the Crown is unlawful by the Most Rev. Thomas P. Gilmartin, Archbishop of Tuam, in a letter he has just issued. He also warns against secret societies.

New York, Dec. 30. — Physicians attending Enrico Caruso, tenor, who is ill with pleurisy at his apartments here, announced tonight that he had been successfully operated upon and that his condition is satisfactory.

Dublin, Dec. 30.—A third incendiary attack was made this evening on the business offices of the Freeman's Journal. Men entered the offices and exploded a bomb which filled the place with smoke but did little damage.

St. Louis, Dec. 30.—Branch Hickey, manager of the St. Louis Nationals, today reiterated that Roger Hornsby, star infielder, is not for sale. The announcement followed one made in New York last night that an offer by the Giants of $200,000 and four players for the local star had been turned down.

London, Dec. 30.—It is expected in the near future that full relations will be entered into between Japan and the far eastern Russian republic, says a wireless communication received here today from Moscow. The communication adds that Great Britain, Japan and the far east have negotiations proceeding.

Washington, Dec. 30.—So long as the Russian Soviet seeks to stir up insurrection against the government of the United States, its members resident there will be subject to deportation, Secretary of Labor Wilson said in a letter made public today.

Paris, Dec. 30.—An overwhelming vote of confidence in the government in connection with the Tours Socialist Congress was given by the chamber of deputies this evening. The vote, which was 451 to 54, came after the gauntlet had been thrown down to the government by the new Communist party of France formed at the Tours Congress and acceptance on behalf of the government had been made by Minister of the Interior Steeg.

Mrs. H. F. McLean and Miss Ruth returned home from Calgary yesterday.

Gladstone Local Union gave all the children in town a Christmas treat of 25c each on the 25th. If the merchants who have the 25c tickets will have them ready by Jan. 3, the Secretary will call and redeem them.

Mt. Fernie Lodge, I.O.O.F., and Esther Rebekah Lodge will hold a joint installation of officers on the evening of Thursday, Jan. 6.

YOUNG MAN GETS ONE YEAR

In the County Judge's Criminal Court at Cranbrook this week, Hugh Macdonald, a lad of 18 years of age, was found guilty of receiving and retaining an automobile knowing the same to have been stolen, and sentenced to one year in Nelson gaol. The boy has been a resident of Cranbrook since childhood and of a highly respectable family. The car in question was purchased last spring by Joe Brault, proprietor of the Canadian Hotel in that place. The theft was not discovered until Nov. 22 and the last occasion prior to that date upon which the owner saw the car was the evening of Nov. 19, when he left it in his garage. As soon as the loss was discovered it was advertised and a reward offered, but it was not until Nov. 30 that the car was located on a ranch property owned by accused's father immediately adjoining the city of Cranbrook. According to the evidence adduced there apparently had been no real attempt made to hide the car, although the serial number and engine number had, in a crude manner, been defaced and the license plates removed. Macdonald had driven the car frequently about the city but it had caused no suspicion until noticed by the engineer at the St. Eugene hospital on the Macdonald ranch nearby that institution. The defence was that the accused had accepted a position as chauffeur for a mysterious unknown bootlegger, known to him by the name of "Summerland." A car of identical make and style had been furnished accused, it was alleged, a week prior to the theft of the Brault car, but unknown to the accused the evening of his arrest apparently the stolen car had been substituted for the one left in his custody. The mysterious "Summerland" could not be located, nor would accused reveal any knowledge of facts admittedly in his possession, and while he was charged with the actual theft, the court held this charge had not been proved against him. However, there was sufficient evidence to warrant conviction for receiving and retaining stolen property, and accordingly the punishment of one year was inflicted.

8000-MILE NON-STOP FLIGHT

The ZR-2, the largest dirgible ever built, now under construction for the United States Navy Department in England, will proceed to the United States under her own power late in May or early in June of next year, it was announced at New York. Although plans for the flight have not been completed, an attempt is being made to arrange continuance of the flight direct to the Pacific coast, without a stop. This would establish a distance record of about 8000 miles.

The principal obstacle in the way of this project is the lack of housing faicilities for the big bag anywhere west of New Jersey.

The reported price of the huge airship is in the neighborhood of £500,000. It was purchased by the United States navy while in the early stages of construction. It is 700 feet long and more than 85 feet in diameter. The disposable lift of the ZR-2 is about 45 tons. It has a maximum speed of 69 or 70 miles an hour and is propelled by six engines.

B.C. LEGISLATURE MEETS ON FEB. 8.

VICTORIA Dec. 28.—It was semi-officially announced last night that the provincial legislature will met for business on Tuesday, February 8.

CURLERS ATTENTION

The International Coal and Coke Company, Limited of Coleman, has donated a handsome silver trophy to the Crow's Nest Branch of the R.C.C.C. for annual competition, and will also donate four individual cups each year. There are already five open events, so it has been decided for this year to have the new competition a closed event, and it is the wish of the donors that the rinks entering from each club should play down a knockout competition before the date of the Bonspiel to determine which rink shall represent that particular club at the Bonspiel which starts January 17th, 1921.

In order that Fernie, which will probably enter a number of rinks in the Bonspiel, may know which one will represent it, it is necessary that the competition start not later than the 6th of January.

All rinks intending to enter in the Bonspiel and desirous of competing, must have their entries in with the Secretary, D.M. Mitchell, not later than the evening of the 5th of January, when the draw will be made and the play down will start on the evening of the 6th, immediately after the finish of the regular club games

"ONCE TO EVERY WOMAN"

It is a liberal education in dramatic art to watch Dorothy Phillips in the evolution of her character in "Once to Every Woman" shown at the Isis Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, Jan. 5th and 6th.

Her growth and developement from a school girl in a country town,, until she becomes a grand opera prima donna with the world at her feet, are portrayed with consumnate skill one expects from this charming Universal star.

How she loses her voice and regains it are two of the strongest dramatic points of the play.

There is a very pleasant surprise in store for the patrons of the Isis Theatre in this picture and for once, the theatre-going public of Fernie, will see how a picture should be put on.

ASK TIME FOR LICENSE FEES

Victoria, Dec. 29.—No decision has yet been reached by the provincial government relative to representations made by many timber license holders for an extension of time in which to meet their arrears of license fees on holdings in this province.

All timber license fees must be paid up by the end of the year, or the licenses will revert to the crown, Many of the holders who have been holding timber limits for years and have paid many thousands in fees are finding it almost impossible to secure money to meet the arrears which have accumulated against their holdings.

Just what the total amount of these arrears are at present is not certain but they probably will aggregate nearly a million.

Hon. T. D. Patullo, minister of lands, stated tonight that so far no decision has been reached by the government as to whether the relief asked for would be granted or, if so, to what extent.

GO DRY FEBRUARY 1.

It is now stated that the dry date for the prairie provinces will be February 1st. A despatch from Ottawa says:

The all-dry date for Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia, will probably be decided today. A special meeting of the cabinet council is being held prior to the departure of the prime minister for the west, and the all-dry proclamation for the provinces mentioned, it is understood, is the main business for consideration. The date in view for the coming into effect of the all-dry lay is said to be February 1st. The case of Alberta, which also voted "dry" at the same time as Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia, may not be determined today. A couple of necessary official returns are still wanting from Alberta. They may arrive during the day, should they do so, the all-dry date for Alberta will also be considered.

After the all-dry date is fixed in the four provinces, importation into their territory of alcoholic liquors, except insofar as is permitted under provincial law, will be prohibited. Any infraction of the law in this regard imposes liability to a fine for the first offence of not less than $200 and not more than $1,000 and, in default of payment, to imprisonment for any term not less than three months and not more than six months, and for each subsequent offence to imprisonment for any term not less than six months and not more than twelve months.

NANAIMO MINERS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

OTTAWA, DEC. 26—(Canadian Press)—The St. John Ambulance association has just concluded its country-wide first aid competition and the report of the chief examiner, Colonel C. A. Hodgetts, C. M. G., M. D., issued from the headquarters here gives the standing of the leading teams in the various competitions as follows:

General competition for the Wallace Nesbit Rosewater Dish: first, Grand Trunk railway station team, Stratford, Ont., second, Grand Trunk railway shop team, Montreal.

Western police competition for the Lord Shaughnessy shield: first, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Lethbridge, second, No. 2 team, Canadian Pacific railway police, Winnipeg.

Miners' competition for the Codere Cup: first, Barton's team Nanaimo, B. C., second, No. 4 surface team Cumberland, B. C.

Championship trophy for the Montizambert Cup, emblematic of the championship of Canada: first Barton's team, Nanaimo, B. C., second, Grand Trunk railway station team, Stratford, Ont.

The competitions were open to five-men teams, the members of which were required to be certificate holders of the St. John Ambulance association.

The teams were examined along practical lines, each being given a definite task to perform and each individual examined in detail.

A tribute to the efficiency of Barton's mining team, of Nanaimo, was paid by Mr. Hodgetts, honorary secretary of the association. He is of the opinion that the success of this team will be an encouragement to the colliery companies in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to establish first aid classes among their men.

WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN AT COLEMAN

At about 5.30 on Wednesday afternoon Mrs. John Watson was struck and killed by Westbound No. 63 passenger train. The fatality occurred at what is known as the International crossing to Bushtown, east of Coleman.

Mrs. Watson was a half-blooded Indian, having married a white man some years ago. Her husband is employed at Coleman Mine.

This is the second woman to meet death in this manner at Coleman in the last four years.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" makes sick, sour, gassy stomachs surely feel fine in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get relief in five minutes by neutralizing acidity. Put an end to such stomach distress now by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by food fermentation due to excessive acid in stomach.

ONCE in every woman's life comes a certain great moment. Once in her lifetime something comes to her on which her whole future depends. It has come—or will surely come—to you, just as it came to Aurora Meredith. What do you think it is? You'll know when you see splendid Dorothy Phillips, the star of "The Heart of Humanity" and "The Right to Happiness" play this great part in a picture that every woman in the world will understand. Report of the Auditors to the Shareholders of The Canadian Bank of Commerce

In accordance with the provisions of sub-sections 19 and 20 of section 56 of the Bank Act, 1913, we report as follows:

We have audited the above Balance Sheet and compared it with the books and vouchers at Head Office and with the certified returns from the branches. We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required, and are of the opinion that the transactions of the Bank which have come under our notice have been within the powers of the Bank.

We have checked the cash, and verified the securities representing the investments of the Bank, at its chief office and principal branches at a date other than that of the verification at the chief office on the 30th November, 1920, and found that they were in agreement with the entries in the books of the Bank relating thereto.

In our opinion the Balance Sheet is properly drawn up so as to exhibit a true and correct view of the state of the affairs of the Bank according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the books of the Bank.

Enoch Neuart, late ice maker for the curling rink, was badly beaten up and cut about the head by a couple of ruffians in a local hostelry, and had it not been for the timely arrival of big Jack Brown, of the Fernie-Fort Steele Brewing Co. staff, might have been killed. He had flashed some large bills in the bar and was presumably followed to a back room by the two culprits, who proceeded to beat him up. At the moment when they had Neuart down, Brown appeared on the scene and quickly turned the tables. The police were called and arrested the two men, who gave their names as J. McDonald and G. Robbins. They came up yesterday before Magistrate Whimster charged with assault and were sent up for trial.

"BLIND HUSBANDS" AT THE ORPHEUM, WED. & THURS.

A trip to the snow crowned heights of the Tyrolean Alps awaits the playgoer at the Orpheum Theatre when the big Universal film story, "Blind Husbands" open next Wednesday & Thursday.

The story deals with a famous American surgeon and his beautiful wife. Professional care make the scientist preoccupied and apparently indifferent to his wife's heart happiness.

It is a splendid opportunity for a love-bandit to get in his work, an opportunity that Lieut. von Steuben, of the Austrian army could not consistently overlook.

The hun hounder of women began his work. He nearly broke down the womanly resistance of the beautiful woman. Then occured the strange incident that makes "Blind Husbands" supreme in heart interest.

The role of von Steuben is portrayed by Count Eric von Stroheim, formerly an officer of the Austrian army, who wrote, directed and plays the principal role.

Beautiful Francelia Billington supports the star and a strong cast of Universal players add to the appeal of the production. The players supporting Stroheim and Miss Billington are Sam DeGrasse. H. Gibson-Gowland, Valerie Germonprez and Jack Perrin.

On unsurpassed awe-inspiring scenery, vigorous dramatic action and the very uniqueness of the daring plot "Blind Husbands," makes its bid for the plaudits of the picture multitudes.

EVERY NEW HOUSE POSSESSES A BATH

Toronto — The rebuilding of the part of Halifax which was devastated by the great explosion of the munitions ship in the harbor Dec. 6, 1917, has practically been completed.

In the north end of Halifax 1000 homes, accommodating 6000 people, have been erected, more than 600 of these being fireproof. In addition to providing new homes for those who lost everything in the disaster, the commission overseeing the rebuilding, has restored damaged properties to their former condition and replaced furniture. Every house rebuilt has a both. Thirty people were permanently blinded by the shattering of glass in the explosion and these have been provided with pensions. As a result of exposure following the destruction of so many homes a number of children have developed tubercular trouble. A fund of half a million dollars, partly contributed by United States citizens, is being used in behalf of these children. From all sources the sum of $23,000,000 was available for the work of reconstruction.

The above interesting details were given in an interview here recently by F. L. Fowke, of Oshawa, Ont., who for the past three years has been one of the commissioners overseeing the rebuilding.

YANK CAPITAL FOR B.C. PULP INDUSTRY

Vancouver, Dec. 29.—American engineers, representing financial interests of Chicago, New York and Buffalo, are investigating pulp manufacturing possibilities of British Columbia, with the object of investing from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 in the pulp industry in the province, according to a statement made here today by C. S. Battle, prominent lumber man. The investment would represent the taking over of the Beaver Cove Lumber and Pulp Co., Ltd., together with the timber holdings of the company and of White Brothers, of Boyne City, Michigan, which in the aggregate, total five million feet of the finest stumpage in the province.

C.P.R. MAY ACQUIRE GRANBY

Victoria, Dec. 29.—Rumars of pending negotiations which, if consummated, will result in one of the most important financial transactions in the history of mining in British Columbia, are afloat to the effect that shortly the interests of the Granby Mining, Smelting & Power company one of the largest, if not the largest, concern operating in the British Columbia field will be taken over. The rumor has it that the Canadian Pacific ralway are contemplating the acquisition of the company's holdings, which include the great mines and smelter with other extensive holdings at Anyox and the coal holdings of the Granby concern at Cassidy's Landing, near Nanaimo.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Made Her Well, Strong and Vigorous

MADAME ARTHUR BEAUCHER

805 Cartier St., Montreal.

"I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had gas, constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a short time, the Constipation was banished, I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

Hounded by secret agents, fleeing from the law, holding documents for which the chancellories of Europe would have given their ears, he heard something move behind the door of his room. He pulled the bar, peered through the gloom, and saw a sight that made the blood leap in his veins, changed his whole life, plunged him into a whirlpool of adventure that will fire you with excitement right up to the last inch of film.—Adapted from "Capt. Word was received on Wednesday from Vancouver of the death of Mrs. A.K. Farquharson, one of Fernie's earliest pioneers. The family came to Fernie from Algona in 1898, and resided here until the time of the fire when they moved to Vancouver. Deceased leaves a husband and a grown up family of sons and daughters, one of whom, Archie, still resides in Fernie.

The C.P.R. passenger train from Medicine Hat was delayed for nine and one-half hours Tuesday morning through the engine losing a couple of its drive wheels and being derailed when it ran into a sand bank just west of Kipp about 1.30. The sand had been piled on the track during the early hours of the night by the high wind and the engine was upon it before the engineer could stop it. Luckily none of the passenger coaches left the track, and few if any of the passengers knew of the accident until morning. The track was cleared and the train got under way about 11 o'clock.

H. L. Stevens, formerly proprietor of the Alexandria Hotel at Morrissey Mines, is a Fernie visitor. Mr. Stevens, who located in Calgary after he left this district, has been for the past few years down in the Texas oil fields, where he has large interests. H. L. says that quite a number of B. C. speculators have done well in the Texas fields. One teamster whom he knew at Cranbrook in the early days, invested a few hundred dollars and sold out for $1,600,000. Dave Elmer, formerly of Moyie and well known here, he says, holds valuable oil leases and is in the way of cleaning up big money. Mr. Stevens says that the report that Tom Crahan had died recently is not correct. Tom is in the automobile business at Los Angeles.

The B.C. Government should make a note of the request of the chief of police of Chicago, who has asked for an increase for his force of $500 each They are at present drawing down from $1600 to $2000 a year. The chief says that if they are going to have an honest staff, they must be paid a living wage.

Fernie has had considerable experience with drunken automobile drivers and will appreciate the legislation which the attorney-general of Alberta is endeavoring to put through, making it a criminal offence for an automobile driver to be intoxicated while in charge of a car. This law at the present applies to railroad engineers.

All the coal mining camps in the country are not running as smoothly as Fernie. A dispatch from Sydney, N.S., says: "Asserting that the bottom had dropped out of the coal trade, officials of the Dominion Coal Co., and leaders in the United Mine Workers admitted yesterday that idleness in Cape Breton colleries would increase during the next few weeks. On Monday not a wheel turned in the collieries of the Dominion Coal Co. in Cape Breton, and Assistant General Manager McCann declared last night that only a few mines would be runing today. He declared that there was no market for Cape Breton coal and admitted that the miners in Cape Breton might be forced to accept a shorter working week."

THE BEST TURN FRIEND EVER DID

That is What Vancouver Man says After taking Tanlac on Friend's Advice

"Tanlac fixed me up more than a year ago and did the work so thoroughly I have been feeling fine ever since," said Richard Pasken, of 656 Pender St., East, Vancouver, B.C., employed by the Marine Ways Shipbuilding Co.

"I had a bad form of stomach trouble and while my appetite was good everything I ate disagreed with me. I lost weight and strength every day and had so many atacks of smothering and fluttering of the heart, I was told I had heart trouble. I lived in dread of the future, for my condition seemed helpless.

"I had a sharp, cutting pain right across the small of my back, and if I stooped over to pick up a wrench from the floor it would hurt me to straighten up that I would actually groan with agony. What little sleep I got didn't rest me, as I was rolling and tossing most of the night.

"A good friend persuaded me to try Tanlac and that was about the best turn a friend ever did me. It certainly was a big surprise, the way Tanlac knocked out my troubles. It did a hundred per cent job, for it made me a healthy, strong man and I have been this way ever since.

"I am eatng anything and sleeping like a log and haven't a pain or an ache of any sort. That's what three bottles of Tanlac did for me and that is why I am recommending it every chance I get."

WESTERN CURLERS LEAVE FOR SCOTLAND

WINNIPEG, Dec. 26. — The western members of the Canadian Curling team for Scotland were given a rousing send-off when they entrained for the east here today on the first lap of their journey. Only nine members were in the party owing to the fact that William McEwen dropped out at the last minute, Thomas Lowe, of Winnipeg, well known in curling circles, will fill the vacancy, but will be unable to join the party until after they reach Scotland. At a banquet tendered by the Manitoba Curling Association the western representatives were given the best wishes for a pleasant trip and a safe return.

ROBBED OF SIX HUNDRED

Details have come to hand in regard to a robbery alleged to have taken place on the C. P. R. eastbound Crow's Nest train which necessitated it being held up at Macleod for an hour at a few minutes past one on the morning after Christmas Day. The delay was caused through a search having to be made, following the complaint of T. H. McCutcheon that he had been robbed of his roll of $600 while he was asleep on one of the seats in the smoking car. The search was constables of the R.C.M.P., stationed at duc'ed by Sergt. Allen and two con-Macleod when the train pulled up.

It appears that McCutcheon got on the train at Bellevue, and, it is alleged, was much under the influence of drink at the time. He fell asleep on a seat in the smoking car and woke a few minutes before the train arrived at Macleod. Jumping up he claimed that he had lost his roll of $600. A man sitting in the seat opposite McCutcheon told him that he had seen the sleeping car conductor take his money from his pocket, whereupon McCutcheon started off to find the conductor. Meanwhile the man who had volunteered the information, and who is suspected of being the thief, suddenly disappeared from the train.

Segt. Allen after searching the train turned the case over to the town constable. Ridley, who proceeded to make a search of the C. P. R. yard. while doing this he came across a man. who as he thought, was the suspect and who had tried to get away on a freight train to Calgary. On seeing the constable the man started off to make tracks, pursued by the constable, who lost him in timber at the river bottom.

Corporal Watt, of the A. P. P. was informed of what had taken place about one o'clock on the 26th. about twelve hours after the man was lost at the river bottom, and started out on his trail. He picked it up from the timber on the track which led out of it, marked very plainly on the deep snow. He followed it for about five miles through fences and fields, and then further trace was not possible.

The individual who is suspected of taking the missing roll is thought to have boarded the train at Cranbrook, buying a ticket to Coleman, but not getting off there. While in the train he secured another ticket from Coleman to Bellevue, and still another from Bellevue and Macleod. The police have a full description of him, and a search is being made far and wide for him.—Lethbridge Herald.
