CLAIM PRICE OF BREAD TOO HIGH

Chatham Citizens Would Like an Investigation

QUOTATIONS COMPARED

Twelve-Cent Loaf Is Eight Cents in Hamilton

CHATHAM, Sept. 30.—A local citizen, interested in Chatham and the welfare of her citizens returns from Hamilton with the information that bread is being sold in that city for eight cents a loaf. In passing along the streets in Hamilton, he said, he saw advertisements in the window of the shops quoting bread at eight cents a loaf when the price for the same sized loaf in Chatham is 12 cents.

The matter is being brought to the attention of the conservation committee of the City Council, and it is likely that it will provoke an interesting discussion at the council meeting on Monday evening. It is also represented that in many cities the same size as Chatham bread is selling for 10 and 11 cents a loaf, and some effort may be made to investigate the local price, and see if it not possible to have it reduced.

SAYS LIFE THREATENED.

Herbert Mann, who lives on the 4th concession, Raleigh Township, gave damaging evidence against Harry Boulton in the county police court this morning when he stated that Boulton and a companion, both intoxicated, saw him in a motor car last July and pulled a gun and threatened his life, because he got too curious to see what Boulton's car contained. Boulton is charged with carrying a concealed weapon, and the case was not concluded this morning.

Mrs. M. G. Thrush, of Morpeth, has brought a case of assault against O. Coll, of the same place. Coll boards in the hotel, which is run by Mrs. Thrush's mother. It was claimed that Coll had liquor in his room and on this account a charge will be laid against him of possessing liquor illegally. Mrs. Thrush is also bringing a charge of non-support against her husband, who boards at the same hotel and has supervision over the pool room, managed in connection with the establishment.

TOBACCO GROWERS MEET.

At a very successful meeting of the Tobacco Growers Association, held in Harrison Hall last evening, Kingsley Coghill, manager of the Kingsville Tobacco Co-operative Company, gave a fine address in which he pointed to the need of more interest being shown by the farmers in this co-operative movement. There were about 30 or 40 growers at the meeting and the address was listened to with a great deal of attention and interest. Mr. Coghill's object in coming to Chatham was to get all of the tobacco growers interested in the co-operative company.

Arthur Gray, of Wallaceburg, formerly of this city, fractured his right hip yesterday by falling out of an apple tree on the farm of Alf. Smith, River road, Chatham Township. He was removed to the Public General Hospital for treatment. Gray was picking apples at the time when, in some manner, he slipped and fell heavily to the ground.

On Monday evening at St. Andrew's Church manse, the marriage was quietly solemnized of Mr. Josiah Cheetham and Miss Helen Hazel Smith, both of Blenheim. Rev. A. S. Orton performed the ceremony and there were no attendants. The young couple will reside in Blenheim.

TENDERS FOR SUPPLIES.

The property committee of the County Council held a meeting in Harrison Hall yesterday afternoon for the purpose of awarding the tenders for supplies for the jail during the coming year, which begins on October 1. This is the second time this year that tenders for these supplies have been received. At a previous meeting the councilors considered that the tenders were too high and new bids were called for and considered yesterday. The tender for meat was given to W. J. Easton, of this city; for groceries, Harry Andrew, and for bread, E. R. Young.

There is practically no unemployment in the city at the present time, according to the local Government employment agency. Men who have applied to the agency for work have all been supplied and it is now impossible to secure the services of enough men to fill the demand for farm labor. Apple picking is at its height in Kent County at the present time and there are not enough pickers to insure the work being done properly. In the city also there is a good demand for labor and large numbers of men have been placed on construction work which is now in progress. The fall season is opening up under very favorable conditions as far as labor is concerned.

WOULD ANNUL CONTRACT.

An action involving the sum of $500 over an alleged breach of contract in connection with the sale of tractor stock was heard this morning in the county court by Judge Stanworth. The plaintiff, Dr. Stonehouse, of Wallaceburg, asked for an annulment of his contract made with the Graham-Sanson Company, of Toronto, and for the recovery of the $500 paid under an alleged misrepresentation to the Graham-Sanson Company for stock. Judge Stanworth reserved judgment. J. S. Fraser, of Wallaceburg, appeared for Dr. Stonehouse; Holden & Murdoch, of Toronto, for the Graham-Sanson Company.

RELIGIOUS COUNCIL ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

North Perth Organization Hears Interesting Addresses at Convention at Listowel.

LISTOWEL, Sept. 30.—The annual Sunday school convention for North Perth Ontario Religious Education Council was held here yesterday in the Anglican church, Rev. H. Bean, county president, occupying the chair. The opening exercises were conducted by the Rev. W. H Dunbar. Encouraging reports of the year's work were given by the superintendents of each department. The open conference was an interesting one and many took part in the discussion, especially in connection with the graded lessons. Rev. Mr. Fletcher, of Toronto, and Rev. Mr. Bean gave excellent addresses dealing with educational evangelism and the rights of the child. Several musical items were enjoyed during the evening, when there was a large attendance.

EGGS HIGHER ON LOCAL MARKET

Fruit and Vegetables Feature of Offering To-Day

Fruit and vegetables predominated at a capacity market to-day. Every available foot of space on the square was occupied. There was a good supply of poultry, for which the demand was fair.

Butter was plentiful this morning and there are indications that it may decline to some extent during the next few weeks. Many farm housewives who were not making butter during the hot weather have again taken to the churn, and this was reflected in the very large supply on hand.

Eggs continue to be in good demand and prices were slightly higher this morning, with retail prices at from 48c to 50c per dozen.

There was a very large supply of cauliflowers this morning. These were available in very size and prices were lower for the smaller heads. Prices ranged from $1 to $2.50 per dozen.

There was a large supply of mushrooms on hand. The warm rains of the past week have brought the mushrooms along rapidly. They sold to-day at from 25c to 40c per pound.

WALL STREET REVIEW.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The financial markets moved in contrary directions this week, stocks most often displaying uncertain tendencies, while bonds, especially Federal Government's war flotations, were unusually active and strong. Transactions in Liberty bonds and Victory notes were on an enormous scale and top prices for a year or more ruled. The demand for these issues doubtless emanated in large part from substantial investment sources, but the treasury, according to trustworthy reports, also bought heavily for its sinking fund.

Railway shares were strong on further excellent August returns.

Supplies of call money were in excess of demand and many maturing time loans renewed into the year's final quarter at unchanged rates.

SUING FOR $600. — Meredith & Fisher, acting for Mary Chivas, have issued a writ in the Supreme Court against Jessie Scott to recover $600 which the plaintiff claims was received by the defendant for and on behalf of the plaintiff in July, 1919.

WALL STREET TRADING.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Wall Street, 10.30 a.m.).—Further active buying of Lehigh Valley, presumably in anticipation of its forth coming segregation plan, was the feature at the opening of to-day's stock market, those shares soon adding 1¾ points to yesterday's substantial advance. Otherwise, trading was extremely dull with a firm tone for favorite issues of the equipment, motor and specialty groups. Oils were irregular, Mexican Petroleum falling off fractionally, though making quick recovery. Foreign exchange was featured by another reaction in German marks.

Live Stock Show Excellent and Races Well Contested

WEATHER NOT THE BEST

ILDERTON, Oct. 1.—Ilderton fair struck bad weather, but still had a big crowd and, as usual, a fine show. In the hall every place was filled with exhibits. Fruit was a splendid exhibit, and all the ladies' exhibits were better by far than last year.

Poultry also was a large exhibit, and grain and roots good. The sports were well filled, especially the novelty and foot races, in which there were many entries. The Birr brass band played good music, and Capt. Robson sang once or twice in accompaniment.

INSURE PARCELS NOW FOR THREE CENTS EACH

Limited In Value to $5—New Service Much Needed.

The new system of insurance on parcels sent through the mails went into effect to-day in the local post office.

For the sum of three cents, in addition to the regular postage, the person sending a parcel may insure it to the value of $5. There is a graduating scale for persons wishing to insure for more than this amount.

There will be no registration of such parcels. The plan is much cheaper, and will probably be just as effective.

If a person living on a rural route wishes to insure a parcel he will hand it to the courier, and if the necessary stamps are attached will be given a receipt. The courier will also get a receipt from the postmaster, which will be delivered to the person sending the parcel. For parcels posted in cities or towns or at regular post offices just one receipt will be given.

SENIOR MEMBER OF MAXWELL FIRM DIES

St. Marys Loses Head of Big Industrial Concern.

ST. MARYS, Oct. 1.—James Maxwell, senior member of Maxwell, Limited, manufacturers of farm machinery, died last night after a short illness. The deceased was a man widely known throughout Ontario, having been for long years a prominent member of the Manufacturers' Association. David Maxwell & Sons, manufacturers of the Maxwell Binders and Mowers, moved their plant from Paris to St. Marys in the eighties and did an extensive business for long years in harvesting machinery, covering Ontario and the entire Canadian West. After the death of David Maxwell, sr., the business was carried on by the three sons, James, John and David, under the name of Maxwells, Limited. John died some three or four years ago, and now David is the sole survivor. John's son, Lawrence, and David's son, Harold, are in the firm.

The deceased was identified with all important stages of the town's history. He is survived by his widow, a daughter of the Rev. Dr. W. T. McMullen, of Woodstock, and two children, James and Jean, the latter a student at Toronto University.

GRANTS FOR THOSE WHO ADVANCED

Reward for Teachers Who Took Summer Courses

WILL NOT MEET EXPENSES

Appreciation of Efforts to Develop More Efficiency

The first step towards inaugurating an efficiency bonus system for the supplementing of salaries paid London teachers has been taken this year, Secretary Tanner announced to-day. This in that all of London's teachers who during the summer months took special courses in various provincial institutions for their professional improvement are to be made grants ranging from $50 to $100.

These grants, while not meeting the expense of these courses, are concrete recognition of such teachers as are willing to sacrifice part of their legal holiday period for the improvement of their teaching status. These grants, begun in a small way in 1920, have stimulated interest in summer school work to an unprecedented degree and it is anticipated that the coming year will see practically every member of the city's teaching staff taking work in one of the various inter-term schools of the province.

The salary commission of the Board of Education will probably hold a meeting within a short while to lay out plans for the coming year. It is believed that the members of that committee are almost ready to do away with the salary schedule save as a sort of guide for the initial employment of teachers. Both maximum and minimum salaries may be done away with, if recommendations are carried out by the 1922 board, and teachers paid solely on their teaching qualifications and actual evidence of success after employment.

CUSTOMS COLLECTIONS. — Customs and excise collections for September at the Port of London totaled $204,276.69. The total was made up as follows: Customs taxes and duties, $90,752.71; excise tax, $89,159.44; excise duties, $23,951.51; sundries, $413.03.

New Turn Leads

Irish rebels," said: "The question now under discussion is whether the community of nations known as the British Empire is to continue to exist, and, thanks to the Government, even more than to Mr. De Valera, the question is well on its way to a negative decision."

Editorial comment to-day avoided discussion of how the republican claims to which the Dail Eireann is pledged can be harmonized with Great Britain's unbending refusal of independence. Reports from Ireland told of universal popular satisfaction with the acceptance of the invitation to the conference, but it was declared the extremists' section of the Sinn Fein had recently shown impatience at any suggestion toward the abandonment of the claim of independence. This section is yet to be heard from and its leaders are asserted to regard Mr. De Valera's consent to enter the conference under Mr. Lloyd George's terms as seeming to imply the abandonment of a treasured ideal.

URGES CONCESSIONS

CORK, Oct. 1. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — Concessions by both sides in the conference to be held in London on October 11 will do much to facilitate the reaching of an agreement making for peace in Ireland, said The Cork Examiner this morning in commenting upon the latest exchange of notes between London and Dublin.

"The Irish people," the newspaper said, are genuinely sincere in their desire for an accommodation of the differences which must be equitably adjusted if conflict is to be ended and honorable peace achieved. They are equally sincere in the belief that the conference will supply a means by which the desired end may be attained, and, while aware that grave difficulties exist, they are convinced that when the conferees get to close quarters with these difficulties a give-and-take policy will smooth the way and dissolve them.

"Ireland looks forward to the conference with the fullest hope, believing that the southern statesmanship and the broad outlook which her plenipotentiaries command will enable them to serve the country's interests and lead to a real achievement. They are charged with heavy responsibilities in their task and will have to yield points as well as make them."

A "GREAT OPPORTUNITY"

BELFAST, Oct. 1. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — Commenting on the conference to be held in London for the purpose of finding a basis for peace in Ireland, The Irish News, Nationalist organ, said to-day: "The possibility of a disagreement need not be dismissed, but we believe nobody outside the ranks of the disgrunted enemies of peace will regard that possibility as a probability. The best interests of Ireland, Great Britain and the world are involved in a just settlement of the Irish problem which will end the oldest war in history. A great opportunity has arisen. It must not be lost through any miscalculations, faults or follies on the part of Irish Nationalists."

The Northern Whig, Unionist, scouted the idea that Britain would give way on the question of an Irish republic.

"The other way to peace," it continued, "is by acceptance of membership in the empire. Here we find a barrier in explicit statements, many times repeated, that the demand for complete independence must be insisted upon. Voluntary assent to the inclusion of Ireland in the British Empire means the end of Sinn Feinism. We may all hope this road will be chosen, but in view of what is known of the origin and history of the Sinn Fein, is it rational to denounce everyone who ventures to hint a doubt regarding the possibility of its realization?"

WOULD FREE PRISONERS

DUBLIN, Oct. 1. — The Freeman's Journal, expressing satisfaction over Mr. de Valera's reply to Mr. Lloyd George, says the people of both countries will hope the possibilities not only will be explored but realized.

"Meantime," the newspaper continues, "let the peace atmosphere be maintained more carefully than ever. Every risk to its maintenance should be removed. The existence of internment camps involve a hundred such risks. Untried and innocent men there are not receiving the treatment of untried prisoners. The camps are not sanitary; some of the commandants are as unfettered in their jobs as were commandants of those German camps where British prisoners of war were maltreated. Such conditions constitute an ever-present temptation, and the provocation for danger must be removed. Release the prisoners."

DE VALERA ACCEPTS

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(Associated Press Cable.)—In a brief, businesslike message Eamonn De Valera this evening informed Premier Lloyd George of his acceptance of the prime minister's invitation to a conference in London on October 11 on the Irish question, thus clearing the way for a momentous attempt to settle the centuries-old problem between Ireland and Great Britain.

Relief was expressed in official circles here to-night that the difficulties which for some time seemingly threatened to prevent another conference apparently had been cleared away by the message of De Valera.

The reply raised no question as to the status of the Sinn Fein delegates, and no further correspondence between the prime minister and the Irish leader is expected.

THE TEXT.

The text of Mr. De Valera's reply follows:

"We received your letter of invitation to a conference in London on October 11 with a view to ascertaining how the association of Ireland with the community of nations known as the British Empire may best be reconciled with Irish national aspirations," said Mr. De Valera in his reply.

"Our respective positions have been stated and understood, and we agree that conference, not correspondence, is the most practical and hopeful way to an understanding.

"We accept the invitation. Our delegates will meet you in London on the date mentioned and explore every possibility of a settlement by personal discussion."

The formula of the association of Ireland with other communities of the British Empire, for which the mind of Mr. Lloyd George was responsible, has thus finally brought together two sides to the long drawn out controversy on terms which it is considered here involve surrender by neither side.

The conference is expected to be unprecedented in the history of Great Britain, if not of Europe. One result of it will be the cancellation of all hopes of Mr. Lloyd George attending the Washington disarmament conference, because the country will look to his diplomacy to steer the empire through the waters of the complicated undertaking. The belief was expressed in high quarters to-night that if Mr. Lloyd George is successful in the task of bringing about peace in Ireland he will have achieved greater honors than could be attained at Washington.

PROBABLE ENVOYS.

Although no names have been formally announced it is understood that the Sinn Fein delegates to the conference will be Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein; Michael Collins, finance minister; Robert C. Barton, who has been a leading figure in the negotiations; Eamonn J. Duggan, Sinn Fein member of Parliament, and George Duffy, who has acted as representative of the Sinn Fein abroad. These men were to have been the delegates to the conference at Inverness, which was canceled by Mr. Lloyd George.

The program of the conference remains to be decided. Two courses appear to be possible: The conference of leaders merely to frame the general platform determining Ireland's position and writing down the main planks of the agreement, as was done in Mr. Lloyd George's original offer to the Sinn Fein, and delegation of the work of arranging the new plan of Irish government to other negotiators.

An alternative is that the conference sit as long as is necessary to settle the details of Ireland's relations with the remainder of the United Kingdom. That, it is thought, would mean long and absorbing work, which would leave the members of the Imperial Cabinet concerned little time for other affairs of the Government.

It appears that the prime minister himself can hardly give the necessary time because the problem of unemployment already is engaging his attention and is likely to become more important before it becomes less.

MAY URGE KINGDOM

Beyond this point there is little speculation as yet, although the possibility is advanced that the Sinn Feiners may ask for the restoration of Ireland as a kingdom under the British crown, for which growing sentiment among important factions of the Irish people is declared to have been making itself felt.

While it is generally recognized that the calling of the conference does not necessarily mean a solution of the Irish problem is at hand it is regarded as the greatest step forward yet taken toward smoothing out the difficulties between Great Britain and Ireland.

According to a dispatch to The Daily Mail, belief is expressed in Belfast that the Earl of Granard has tendered to the Sinn Fein delegates to the conference his home in London during their stay there. The delegates to the conference have not been announced, but it is presumed that in addition to Mr. Lloyd George, who will preside, the others will likely be Lord Birkenhead, chief secretary for Ireland; Lord Greenwood, secretary for war; Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, Colonial Secretary Churchill and Home Secretary Shortt.

HEVEY COMES BACK AT FRED YOUNG

Never Advised Labor to Vote for Somerville

PLATFORM NOT STATED

Advised Taking Paid Jobs for Grits

J. W. Hevey, of the Labor Leader, Toronto, emphatically denies that he told Fred Young that "London labor will make no mistake in backing Somerville in the coming election." Mr. Hevey asserts that the only conversation he had with Mr. Young regarding the local situation was with reference to the former accepting a paid situation with the London Liberal camp for the election. He stated that Mr. Young asked his advice about this and he advised Mr. Young to accept a position if he had the offer. But he insists that he did not urge that labor would do well to support Mr. Somerville.

"I have the greatest respect for ex-Mayor C. R. Somerville, of London," said Mr. Hevey to The Free Press, "but I do not know what his policy would be if elected, and until such time as I do know I am not in a position to urge labor or any other party to support him."

Mr. Young, when told of Mr. Hevey's denial, asserted that Mr. Hevey advised him that both labor and the returned soldiers of London would not make any mistake in supporting Mr. Somerville. With reference to taking a position with the local Liberal camp Mr. Young said he had remarked to Mr. Hevey that he was out of work, and he was advised by the Toronto gentleman to go to work for the Liberals. Mr. Young admitted that he had always been a Liberal and he would desire to work for them in this election.

ASKS ABOLITION OF TWELVE-MILE LIMIT

Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M. P. P. for London, has requested that the attorney-general put through an order-in-council suspending the 12-mile limit for automobiles at crossings. He was in Toronto yesterday and conferred with the Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of public works, on this question. He could not see the attorney-general, but Mr. Biggs promised to lay the request before Hon. Mr. Raney.

According to Dr. Stevenson, Mr. Biggs stated that Middlesex is the only county in which the "speed cops" are trying to enforce the 12-mile limit.

DOES NOT PERMIT LABOR SUPPORT

Veterans, Too, Are Against C. R. Somerville

TO SPRING SURPRISE

Liberals Won't Get Soldier-Labor Vote

Instead of giving their support to C. R. Somerville, the Liberal candidate for London, the Labor-Soldier voters are now preparing to give Mr. Somerville the "surprise of his life" at the coming elections. This is the opinion expressed by the soldiers and members of the labor unions of London to-day. What action will be taken to assist in defeating Mr. Somerville is not known, but it is freely hinted that something will be done shortly.

The advice which J. W. Hevey is said to have given the local men to support Mr. Somerville will certainly not be heeded, it is generally stated. Both the returned soldier and the labor voters point out that Mr. Somerville has done absolutely nothing to merit the support of either body in the coming election. The soldiers assert that the Liberal candidate cannot point to any one reason why they should support him and the rank and file of the labor men are strong in their assertions that they cannot vote for Mr. Somerville under any consideration.

AYLMER GAS RATE TO BE INCREASED SOON

Gas Referee So Indicates in Conversation To-day—St. Thomas Rate May Remain As At Present.

Gas Referee Henderson, at a meeting of the city natural gas committee to-day, gave a forecast of his action towards adjusting rates in St. Thomas and Aylmer within a few days. He pointed out that St. Thomas is supplied by a wealthy corporation with immense resources, while Aylmer gets its gas supply from a struggling corporation.

"I cannot give Aylmer the same rate as St. Thomas," he stated, "for if I do, that smaller company will go under and Aylmer will have no gas at all."

OBTAINS B. A. DEGREE.—Among the list just announced of those obtaining degrees in arts at Queen's University, Kingston, is Geoffrey A. Wheable, of this city. Mr. Wheable is well-known in the city and is principal of Empress Avenue School. He receives the degree of bachelor of arts.

An Opportunity

No City on the American Continent is in greater need of additional modern hotel facilities than Montreal, Canada.

With the Railway and Steamship lines bringing thousands of people into the City daily on business and pleasure, supplemented in the Summer season by an unusual motor traffic, immediate relief is needed in the way of increased hotel accommodation.

To meet this demand "THE MOUNT ROYAL" is now being built. Upon completion it will be not only the largest first-class hotel in Canada, but the largest in the British Empire, and will contribute in a great degree to Montreal's prestige as a Tourist City and business centre.

The 8% convertible debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, carrying a 30% bonus of Common Stock, offer a rather unusual opportunity for a safe and profitable investment.

The reports on the property by the Canadian Appraisal Company, together with the Auditor's report, are on file in our office.

E SPOTTON N NORTH HURON

Government Supporters Hold Enthusiastic Meeting in Wingham

COL. CLARK A SPEAKER

Declares Agitators Have Caused Trouble With Farmers

WINGHAM, Sept. 30.—(By Staff Reporter.)—Party organization, both Conservative and Liberal, was largely neglected during the political truce at Ottawa for "win the war" purposes. Meantime the Farmers' party "made hay," so to speak. Col. Hugh Clark, M. P., North Bruce, pointed this out this afternoon in a brief address to supporters of the Meighen Government representing North Huron municipalities.

"The trouble," he said, "has been that while the truce was on only one propaganda was abroad in the Dominion, and that was a propaganda endeavoring to blacken the reputation of the Government. It went unchecked. There was nobody there to defend it. There was no counter propaganda because of the truce, and a great many people have an idea, because these stories were unchecked, that the Government was a Government of the big interests and did this and that which it ought not to have done.

A GOOD GOVERNMENT.

"We are under enormous obligations, due to the war, that have to be met, and I don't know any Government that can handle them better than the present Government. A Government that has learned to say "no." The most dangerous thing you can do to-day is to put a new Government there. Any new Government is necessarily extravagant, because of inexperience. We need to-day the strongest men we can get to handle the affairs of this country."

Col. Clark's remarks about party disorganization were not prompted by the North Huron convention, which, in spite of cold, rainy weather, filled the town hall auditorium with a larger gathering than at the Liberal nomination a few weeks ago. Anyone who may have entertained an idea that the party nomination was going begging in this riding must have had the notion dispelled by the proceedings. Eight names were proposed and George Spotton, of Wingham, Independent Conservative candidate in the provincial by-election of 1918, was chosen after a lively, but good-natured contest with H. J. A. MacEwan, of Goderich, secretary of the riding association. Mr. MacEwan had suggested that he might "run" a little faster than Mr. Spotton, who weighs 280 pounds, but on the announcement of the result of balloting promptly moved that the latter be made the unanimous choice of the convention. There were many expressions of opinion that the nominee of the party will retain North Huron as a Government seat ,partiocularly as the U. F. O. candidate is a former Liberal. James Bowman, the present federal member, is in poor health and is making his home in Toronto.

OTHERS SUGGESTED

The other names proposed were those of Dr. R. L. Stewart, Wingham; Peter W. Scott, Belgrave; William Campbell, Goderich; Mayor E. R. Wigle, Goderich; Dr. Redmond, Wingham and John Joynt, M. P. P., Lucknow. All withdrew, pledging full support to the choice of the convention.

"The riding can be won for the Government if we get behind our candidate unanimously," said Mr. Scott, who, as president, occupied the chair. "Sink any personal differences, if their are any, on hebalf of our beloved premier, Mr. Meighen, for he deserves it."

"My hand and heart will be with the nominee of this convention," said Mr. Joynt. "I am a conservative. Some have been telling around the last year or two that Joynt has turned U. F. O. I voted with the Drury Government on two or three occasions because I claim the right of independence, and every vote I am willing to give the reason for, but I am loyal to the National-Liberal and Conservative party. In this great issue to-day there is room for thought and the policy of the Liberal-Conservative party of the Dominion to-day, if I know anything at all, is the policy for this country if we are going to be a great country. I speak to you as a farmer, as well as business man, and I believe in protection. I don't want to see this country filled with the cheap stuff the United States wants to dump on us; that is why we have to pay 11 or 12 per cent. discount at the bank on our funds."

A GREAT PARTY.

Mayor Wigle said: "We have the unique situation of three parties seeking power, and I believe the National-Conservative party will be returned, because you have a policy, laid down by Sir John Macdonald, which has seen the country through many a bad day. This is one of the constituencies which the Government expects to win."

William Campbell, of Goderich, a veteran over 30, who as he recalled to-day was active in politics at Confederation, was given a tribute of applause as he ascended the platform. Mr. Campbell predicted that the choice of the convention would head the polls on election day.

President Scott told of the big London meeting which the premier addressed, and which he had attended. "We feel," he said, "that we have a leader straightforward, capable and enjoying the confidence of his followers, so much so, indeed, that some Liberals who joined in support of the Unionist Government are staying by him."

Mr. Spotton announced that he would challenge Mr. King, U. F. O. candidate, and Mr. Fraser, Liberal, to hold joint meetings, for he was not afraid to put forward the National Policy which had "lifted us from the lean years and set out feet on solid rock."

U. F. O. DECLINING.

"The U. F. O.," he said, "is not what it was. I know presidents of U. F. O. clubs—I see two before me in this meeting—as good Tories as they ever were. A man can be U. F. O. and still vote for Sir John A. Macdonald's historic policy that has given the home market to the farmer. Treat our U. F. O. friends kindly and on election day they will give a good account of themselves. We have right and justice on our side. What is good for the United States farmer in building up their home market is good for the Canadian farmer. The tariff is the issue, and the whole issue, and on this we will fight this campaign until 5 o'clock on election night."

"If we all get out and help Mr. Spotton he will be the member for North Huron some time in December," said Mr. MacEwan in moving that the choice be made unanimous.

The convention was one of appointed delegates, the credentials committee reporting 165 representatives. A motion by Mr. Spotton that all present in the hall be allowed to vote was withdrawn when it was made apparent that objections were entertained.

TRIBUTE TO MR. BOWMAN

Mr. Spotton, seconded by Mr. Joynt, also presented a resolution appreciative of the services of James Bowman, M.P. "'Jim' did a lot of fighting in this riding," he said. "But a generation arises which knows not Joseph." The motion carried unanimously.

The resolutions committee, through Dr. Stewart, presented resolutions of confidence in Premier Meighen and his policy and in Hon. Howard Ferguson and the provincial member, Mr. Joynt, which were duly approved.

Election of officers resulted in the return of Peter W. Scott as president, notwithstanding a protest from himself. Dr. Armstrong, of Gorrie, succeeds the late Matthew Lockhart as first vice; William McQuillan, of West Wawanosh, is new second vice, and A. J. Goldthorpe, of Colborne, third. Mr. MacEwan was re-elected secretary and Dudley Holmes, of Wingham, treasurer. Chairmen of municipalties are: Ashfield, John A. Johnston; Blyth, J. G. Emigh; Brussels, Alf. Baker; Colborne, James McManus; Grey, J. Pearce; Howick, A. A. Graham; Morris, Arthur Shaw; Turnberry, John Metcalfe; E. Wawanosh, George L. Sturdy; West Wawanosh, Robert Medd; Wroxeter, T. G. Hemphill; Goderich and Wingham chairmen to be named by local associations.

"What it it the farmers want that they cannot have or have asked for?" demanded Col. Clark. "Agitators have gone about and tried to persuade the farmers that parliaments and legislatures have not done the decent thing by them and that they have not been sufficiently represented. Whose fault is it? There never was an occasion in this riding, or in most rural ridigs, when the farmers could not have a farmer as candidate. We are supposed to be represented according to population, and yet we have rural ridings of ten, fifteen and twenty thousand people, and city ridings of 75,000 and 100,000. I sat in the Legislature 10 years and in the Commons 10 years and not conscious of a single instance in which we have discriminated against the farmer. I would like these agitators to tell us exactly where we have failed in that respect. In all my experience I have never known a solitary case, whether Grits or Tories, where they have discriminated against the farming population. The very opposite is true, as, for example, in the Workmen's Compensation Act in Ontario; the Excess Profits Act, Military Service Act, and Bankruptcy Act in the Dominion. They may tell you the tariff discriminates against the farmer. It doesn't. They endeavor to tell you the tariff is not an issue. If not, they should not devote so much attention to it.

WESTERNERS' PLATFORM.

"The Council of Agriculture, which drafted the Farmers' platform some four or five years ago in Winnipeg, and was adopted by the U. F. O., although I don't believe there was one solitary member from Ontario in Winnipeg when it was drafted, is opposed to anything in the nature of protection; is in favor of the old reciprocity treaty and in favor of putting foodstuffs, not mentioned in the treaty, on the free list. As a result of the Fordney tariff our exports of foodstuffs are getting down to the vanishing point. The Americans have protected the American farmer and are keeping the American market for him and doing it by means of a tariff. In face of that the Liberal and U. F. O. parties, although the United States will not allow the Canadian farmer to sel lin the United States, are prepared to share the Canadian market with the American farmer. If the Canadian farmers are going to support a policy of that kind there is nothing but ruination ahead of the Canadian farmer. It is bad enough as it is, farm products practically excluded from the United States. It would a thousand times worse if, on top of that, the Canadian farmer has to halve his market with the American farmer.

"I don't know what the organized farmers want that they have not had or been in a position to get. Mr. Crerar was minister of agriculture for two years. If there was anything he knew that should be done he was in a position to do it. If he did not do it he was derelict in his duty. If he has thought of anything since, he is still a member of the House and has a considerable following, but I cannot recall that he or any of his followers introduced a bill in the interests of agriculture. On the contrary, everything for the benefit of agriculture was brought forward by Hon. Dr. Tolmie.

"We have to-day as leader one of the brightest minds we have to-day in Canada. (Applause.) I did not know John A. Macdonald, but I knew Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Robert Borden, and I doubt if we ever had in the political history of Canada a man so well equipped as Arthur Meighen to handle the affairs of this country. I doubt if there is in the United States or Britain a man his superior. The destinies of this country will be safe if left in his charge—a capable administrator and a man who has courage to carry this country through one of the most critical times it has ever had to go through."

Noses and Throats Freed of Catarrh!

Hundreds of noses and throats all over Canada and the United States have been freed from Catarrh with all its annoying features. These noses and throats were pretty bad—some of them. They had bothered their owners for long periods. The noses had been stopped up—crusts formed—mucus gathered and made discharges which had to be constantly blown out on handkerchiefs.*

Some of this purulent mucus dropped into the throats belonging to the above noses and made them raw and sore, with an annoying constant tickling sensation.

Little wonder that the eyes accompanying these noses and throats became watery and weak—the breathe foul and the sense of smell gradually disappearing.

But what a change has come over these same noses and throats through the method of treatment originated by Catarrh Specialist Sproule, 38 Trade Building, Boston. They become once again the clear, sweet, useful portions of the body their Creator intended. All the loathsome mucus disappears, because there is no more inflammation and catarrh germs to cause it. The eyes, the nose, the throat become free and clear. Those stupid dull feelings vanish—and the happy individuals meet their friends frankly grateful they need no longer worry over what serious thing their catarrh is going to develop into.

SUGGESTS PLANS TO PROVIDE WORK FOR JOBLESS IN U. S.

Committee Decides on Recommendations to Be Made to Coming National Conference

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—(Associated Press Dispatch.)—Tentative recommendations for providing work for the jobless workers of the United States, estimated at 4,000,000, were completed to-day for submission to the national conference of unemployment.

Establishment of representative emergency committees in the communities to co-ordinate the work of finding jobs for the involuntary idle and for registration of the unemployed was understood to be recommended as the initial step in the relief program.

Other recommendations were understood to include establishment of part-time work by manufacturers, thus increasing the number of workers used by each plant.

Operation of factories and mills in the making of stock where possible.

Continuation of repair and similar work on a normal scale.

Doing of repair and alteration work by office building, hotel and home owners during the coming winter, instead of in the spring, as usual.

Expansion of street, sewage, repair and building work by municipalities to the maximum volume.

Solace for Both the Wets And Drys In These Scientific Tests

Carnegie Institute Professor Tries Experiments With Alcohol on White Rats

COLD SPRINGS HARBOR, N.Y., Sept. 30.—(Canadian Press Dispatch.)—Both "wet" and "dry" humans may find material for arguments in the results announced to-day of scientific study of two pairs of white rats and their offspring. One pair of ancestors were drunkards and the other pair teetotalers.

In five years Dr. E. C. MacDowell has studied four generations of white rats in 8,784 tests at the Carnegie Institute station for experimental evolution. To one pair of white rats he fed alcohol fumes daily. The other pair was left to progress normally. Here are the results.

The teetotalers grew more rapidly and produced 40 per cent. more litters; their litters were 10 per cent. larger; the parents' intelligence was greater, as revealed by ability to ferret their way through a five-foot maze that had several blind alleys and only one path leading from the center to the outside.

The temperate descendants of the alcoholic pair, however, grew more rapidly and produced more litters than their relatives descended from teetotalers. But the descendeants of the temperate pair revealed greater intelligence in solving the maze. The tests have left the investigator in doubt whether alcohol acts as a selective agent, tending to eliminate weak tendencies in the race.

Dr. MacDowell says it would be purely conjectural to make any deduction from his experiments as to the affect of alcohol on man. No rush of human volunteers is expected for his experiments, for the alcohol is inhaled, not swallowed.

DOHERTY KEEPS UP HIS FIGHT

Still Attempting to Ban Article X. From Covenant

ARGUES TO COMMITTEE

Impresses the Members With Need of Change

GENEVA, Sept. 30.—Hon. Charles J. Doherty, Canadian representative at the League of Nations assembly, has reduced to a minimum the chances of final rejection at this session of the assembly of his amendment which would eliminate article 10 from the covenant of the League of Nations.

The subcommittee having this matter in hand has decided upon rejection and adopted an interpretative resolution to the effect that article 10 was never intended to perpetuate geographical and political divisions as they now exist, but merely as a safeguard against external aggression.

Not satisfied with this position, Mr. Doherty at a hearing before the full committee this afternoon gave an exhaustive argument that greatly impressed the committee. It was then suggested that the interpretative resolution be droppeed, but Mr. Doherty's amendment stand on the agenda and that the assembly be asked again to refer the matter for investigation with a report to the next assembly.

Mr. Doherty was not ready to agree to this procedure and asked permission to think it over until to-morrow, when the committee again will consider the question.

BOLSHEVISM SCORED

Charges that Bolshevism is responsible for the Russian famine and countercharges that political considerations are the cause of the hesitation on the part of the Governments to provide for the feeding of the starving Russians were the outstanding features of a violent debate in the league assembly to-day.

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, high commissioner of the International Commission for Russian Relief, who made the countercharge, was upheld in his efforts, however, and a paragraph was introduced in the committee report expressing confidence in him and in the prospect of his success. As adopted the committee report leaves the Governmental action with reference to Russian relief to be decided by the Brussels conference, while appealing to private charity and welfare organizations generally for aid for Russia.

REPEATS CHARGES

Dr. Nansen, keeping his word that he would carry the fight for an appeal by the assembly to the Governments from the committtee to the floor of the assembly, repeated his charges that the press was in league with the campaign of falsehoods to prevent the success of his work. He defended his agreement with the Bolsheviki, declaring that Herbert Hoover also had been obliged to accept the co-operation of the Soviets.

M. Enckell, of Finland, threw the first bomb into the debate by asserting that Bolsheviki troops had seized food sent by Finland to relieve famine sufferers in Eastern Karelia on the Finnish border. He said that refugees in that region had asked Finland to intervene with the powers so as to be assured relief sent them would reach its destination.

For a second time the assembly was shocked when the Jugo-Slav delegate, M. Spalaikovitch, introduced a resolution amending the committee's report, in which he declared the Russian Soviets were responsible for the present situation in Russia and severely condemned their regime.

After considerable further debate on the subject in which H. A. L. Fisher, Great Britain; Lord Robert Cecil, representing South Africa; M. Lafontaine, Belgium; M. Hanotaux, France; Dr. Motta, Switzerland, and M. Spalaikovitch, participated, a compromise was reached. M. Spalaikovitch withdrew his amendment and the paragraph voicing confidence in Dr. Nansen was introduced into the report.

Internal parasites in the shape of worms in the stomach and bowels of children sap their vitality and retard physical development. They keep the child in a constant state of unrest and, if not attended to, endanger life. The child can be spared much suffering and the mother much anxiety by using a reliable worm remedy, such as Miller's Worm Powders, which are sure death to worms.—Advt.

QUEBEC WIRES HIT BY NORTHWESTER

Serious Property Damage Reported as Result of Gale.

QUEBEC, Oct. 1.—The violent northwesterly gale which swept over this city about 6 o'clock last evening caused considerable property damage as well as seriously hampering Quebec's telegraphic communication with the outside world. The wires of the Canadian Press, Limited, between Quebec and Montreal, were torn down, while the signal service wires were also put out of order. When the storm was at its height it tore down a wall covered with advertising signs and completely buried an automobile in which Joseph Menard, a taxi driver, was asleep at the time. The car was considerably damaged, but the driver escaped without injury.

FARM HOME BURNED.

THAMESVILLE, Oct. 1.—Fire at an early hour this (Saturday) morning completely destroyed the farm residence of John Bedford, about two miles east of here. The damage is estimated at $3,000.

PROVINCE HIT BY GALE, TWO DEAD

Wind Attains Hurricane Proportions in Some Places

HOUSES ARE UNROOFED

Many Orchards Wrecked and Other Damage Caused

LONDON ESCAPES.

The storm which did so much damage in parts of Ontario yesterday caused but little loss in London or the major part of Western Ontario, though early in the morning the wind blew at a good rate for a while.

In Westminster and London townships large quantities of apples were blown off the trees.

No damage was done in the city, apart from limbs being broken off some trees.

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—Weather forecasts calling for a gale centered over the eastern part of Lake Erie to-day were fulfilled to the letter. The wind attained the proportions of a hurricane along the lower lakes and very few cities or towns from Kitchener east escaped damage to buildings, signs, trees, telephone and telegraph wires, and in some places fatalities were reported. In the early afternoon the breeze stiffened into a 20-mile blow in Toronto, while a 48-mile gale raged along the lake shore. Reports from points on the Niagara Peninsula told of severe destruction on both sides of the border. The telegraph and long-distance phone services were entirely demoralized, especially between Toronto and Montral and Ottawa, and between Toronto and New York. A partial service had been restored early in the evening, but owing to the limited wire connection all press matter had to be curtailed and commercial business was held up.

AT HAMILTON.

Hamilton felt the effect of the blow before noon and interruption to radial and street car services, falling overhead wires, unroofed houses and collapse of buildings were some of the consequences of the tempest. The electric railway and inclines were held up for an hour by dislocation of wires.

Welland was struck by the storm about 10 o'clock and roofs were torn from buildings, windows blown in, chimneys swept away and trees uprooted. Thousands of dollars damage was caused.

From rural sections reports are coming in of orchards laid low, fences swept away and barns unroofed

Warnings were sent out early in the day by the local weather bureau and also by Washington of northwest storms on Lakes Ontario, Erie and Huron and considerable disturbances also over the eastern end of Lake Superior and the northwest end of Lake Michigan.

Two fatalities reported during the afternoon were those of two children who were killed while returning from school, one at Kingston and the other at Kitchener. The Kitchener boy, Peter Hammer, age 9, was electrocuted by a live wire which had been blown down, and at Kingston Donald McLean, age 12, was struck and instantly killed by a portion of a roof that had been blown off a tower.

AT OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—The terrific wind which swept the Ottawa district late this afternoon cut this city off from telephonic communication with the outside world, with resultant damage of $10,000 to the wires and poles of the Bell Telephone Company, according to a statement issued by J. A. Gorrie, Ottawa manager, to-night. All the telephone wires to Toronto, Montreal, Kingston, Cornwall and Brockville were out of commission, together with the wires to scores of smaller places. In Ottawa city alone more than 800 telephones were cut off by the wind which swept through the streets, carrying away electric light globes and smashing the branches from the trees along the boulevards.

MANY BREAKS.

The damage to the telephone lines will not be repaired for at least three weeks, although the company expected to have a small number working tomorrow. Several of the lines to the larger centers have from six to eight breaks, while on the Rockland-Clarence Creek line there is one continuous break stretching for a mile and a half. Near Casselman, on one of the Montreal lines, one-half mile of poles are down, while 15 miles west of Perth on one of the Toronto lines, there is a break of three-quarters of a mile.

Among the smaller places cut off from Ottawa are Carleton Place, Carp, Arnprior, Winchester, Kemptville, Smiths Falls and all the circuits leading up the Gatineau.

To-night repair gangs are stringing cables along fence posts in an effort to restore communication.

MONTREAL HIT.

MONTREAL, Sept. 30.—Accompanied by a 50-mile-an-hour gust of wind a rainstorm of tropical violence struck this city this afternoon around 4 o'clock, felling trees, smashing windows, tearing copings from roofs and even blowing conveyances across the roads. No serious injuries are reported as yet, although three pedestrians were struck by a Ford car which was blown on to the sidewalk, but very considerable damage has been done. The telegraph companies are the principal sufferers, most of the wires out of Montreal being out of commission. The tramway service was held up for some time and in some parts of the city the lighting was seriously affected.

At St. Anne's, near here, the same conditions obtained, while at Vaudreuil a coping was blown from a house and many trees were felled.

At Brockville the roof of the opera house was blown clear off the building.

BAD AROUND BUFFALO.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 30.—A mile-a-minute gale swept over Erie and Niagara counties to-day. A factory building in the Town of Forks collapsed under the force of the wind and several workmen were injured. Fifteen houses in the town lost roofs or verandas. At East Pembroke a church steeple collapsed and crashed through the roof. Severe damage to orchards in the vicinity of Lockport is reported. Telephone and telegraph wires are down in all directions. State police reported highways blocked by uprooted trees.

The steamer Matthew Andrews, en route from Chicago with a grain cargo, was in distress at noon about two miles off the breakwater. Heavy seas were breaking over her. Tugs were sent to bring the steamer into the harbor.

KITCHENER FATALITY.

KITCHENER, Sept. 30.—While returning from school at noon to-day Peter Hammer, aged 9 years, was instantly killed when he took hold of an electric wire carrying 2,200 volts. The wire had broken during the heavy windstorm and was hanging from a pole about three feet from the ground. The fatality took place within a few yards of the lad's home.

DELAY CALL FOR CANAL TENDERS

Government Acts in View of the Approaching Elections

STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Contracts at This Time Might Be Open to Objections

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—(Canadian Press Dispatch.)—A statement handed out tonight by the department of railways and canals says:

"The Government has decided to postpone for the present the call for tenders for sections 3 and 4, combined, of the Welland Ship Canal, which is the subject of advertisement at the present time.

"This work was under contract, prior to the war, but, in common with other large Government undertakings, was shut down in 1917 until the close of hostilities, when work was resumed by the department of railways and canals on force account.

"Since last winter preparations have been in progress to the contract system and several months ago sections 1 and 2 were re-let. More recently, sections 3 and 4, combined, were advertised, the bid being due on Ovtober 5.

THE REASON

"When the decision was reached to advertise this work the possibility of an immediate election was not taken into account. The contract is one which will involve probably $16,00,000 and the Government feels that the letting of such an important contract between dissolution and the date of election might be open to objection, hence the decision to postpone the call for tenders and continue the work for the present on force account.

"From the employment standpoint the decision will be helpful, as had a contract been let it would have been necessary to close down the work for some weeks while the contractor was organizing his forces and taking stock of the plant.

"As the tenders were to have been accompanied by accepted checks for the sum of $1,150,000, the number of contractors who will be affected by the decision of the Government will not be large."

SPANIARDS AND MOORS ARE AGAIN IN CONFLICT

MADRID, Sept. 30.—Hostilities of a fairly important nature began near Melilo yesterday between Spanish and Moroccan forces. Newspapers report an attack upon a Spanish food convoy, but say the rebels eventually were repulsed with heavy losses.

Moorich troops, who have been preventing the Spanish from reprovisioning the advanced post of Tiza, southwest of Melilla, have been driven from their positions with severe losses.

TEN NATIONALITIES AT NEW KITCHENER SCHOOL

KITCHENER, Sept. 30—The free night school for new Canadians commenced at the Victoria School last night with an attendance of 50, ten nationalities being represented. Sessions will be held twice a week during the winter months and two experienced teachers have been secured to give instruction in the English language and Canadian customs.

and would cost about 3 times as much to operate. This has been proved again and again by hundreds of satisfied Banner users.

If you have no cellar it makes no difference—all you need is a small excavation for the furnace, which can be installed in 6 hours.

Just one big register over the furnace heats the whole house. No heat wasted in the cellar or the walls—That's how the Banner saves you two-thirds of your fuel bills.

WASHING THE DISHES AGAIN!

Every housewife has had her moments of rebellion against the endlessly-recurring task of washing dishes. Nobody would mind doing it once; but three times a day, through all the years, stretches this uninspiring task. So it is with cooking and sweeping and dusting and sewing. The dead monotony of it has broken the spirit of weak women, who have not risen to an understanding of the truth that scarcely anything in life is ever done for all, to stay done forever thereafter. All of us are busy with a repetition of the humdrum. Have you heard of the Frenchman who committed suicide because he grew tired of tying his shoe laces? The small boy wearies of washing his face, even as father complains of having to shave daily.

What has all this got to do with Paul's third missionary journey? Everything; it is the same principle at work. Paul evangelized the cities on his first journey; and then did it all over again on his second and third journeys. He not only entered new fields but he also went over the old. Repetition is the way of learning and of life. Paul taught his converts the Way; then, patiently and lovingly, by repeated visit and letter, he made clear how they should walk therein. This is the practical significance of that third great journey — in some ways the greatest of all—about which we shall be studying for some weeks to come. We are not to grow weary in well-doing.

Watching the sun rise one morning from the deck of a British transport over the ruins of the old City of Corinth, and the hills behind it, my thought was less of the almost complete extinction of this famous Greek city, than of the magnitude of the heroic figure whose name is forever associated with it. Every traveler to Greece, through the Corinthian Canal, will be interested in the ruins of Corinth: nine out of ten will think of the Apostle Paul and his association with the place. In his time, the city had given it name "Corinthianize" to to the uttermost forms of immortality; Paul gave the city a new name, for it was to the Christians at Corinth that he wrote some of his sublimest words—as the famous passage on love.

In distress of mind and body, the great missionary labored in Corinth for a year and a half. So difficult was his task there that he may even have had to face the possibility of the existence of a people for whom Christianity had no message. There seem such even today. A young man told me yesterday, concerning an admirable family that he anything to them at all. All churches, in their opinion, are alike, except as one may be more aesthetically attractive than another. But the Bible and Christ and spiritual realities apparently have no significance for them." Yet as Paul found in Corinth, after being reassured by a vision, there were those with ears for the Word; so in every modern community and family there are bound to come times when people answer to the call of Christ. Reports indicate such a spiritual turning in our own day. If the ways of heathen Corinth have seemed to have a vogue in the modern world, there is coming a new day and a new mood, when the Pauline message is to be heeded in all its transforming power.

NOTED BAD LANDS AREA IS NAMED AS A PARK

VERMILION, S. Dakota, Sept. 30.—Residents of Vermillion who are keeping in touch with the plan to set aside the noted Bad Lands area in western South Dakota as a national park announce that there is little doubt that Congress will take favorable action on the project this winter.

The western part of South Dakota has long been cherishing the idea of converting this remarkable region into a national reserve, and it is now proposed to co-ordinate all efforts under the state geological and natural history survey and to begin an active campaign at once.

It would be impracticable to include the entire region — from Kadoka to Rapid City, and from White River, 20 miles north—in the proposed park, because large tracts are now productive farms and ranches. It is therefore planned to include the so-called "Bad Lands Wall" and contiguous land needed for approaches, from a point about six miles east of Interior, westward to Scenic, and thence southward to take in the noted Sheep Mountain region and westward to Medicine Root Creek.

The preliminary survey was completed several years ago by Louis Knowles, under the auspices of the forest service. His report is in the hands of the department of the interior for action. All necessary land to be included is described by Mr. Knowles: much of it is still in the public domain and needs only to be withdrawn from entry. Many homesteads run over the Great Wall, but since they are quite barren and impossible of cultivation they could easily be obtained.

The Bad Lands fill all the requirements needed for a national park. They are noted all over the United States and even in Europe for their unusual scenic attractions; fantastic, eroded formations, beautiful colorings and weird light effects. They are rich in fossil remains also.

SILVER FIND IN B. C.

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., Sept. 30.—Discovery of rich silver ore on the Kitsault River, Alice Arm district, in claims close to the famous Dolly Varden Mine, is reported here. Three general samples taken free from native silver average more than 100 ounces to the ton, and the body of ore of this richness is said to be very extensive. It has an average width of 22 inches and adjoins lower grade ore, which carries good milling values.

PROF. KEIRSTADE IS AT EGERTON CHURCH

Dr. E. M. Keirstade, M.A., D.D., L.L.D., one of the most prominent theologians in Canada, will conduct both services at Egerton Street Baptist Church on Sunday. As head of McMaster University, Prof. Keirstade is well known throughout the country and it is certain that his eloquence will attract large congregations to-morrow.

Rev. A. C. Bingham, pastor of the church, is conducting anniversary services at Sparta this Sunday and accordingly secured the dean of McMaster to occupy the pulpit during his absence.

CLUB PLANNING TO PAY MORTGAGE

Men's Club of St. James' Church Has Ambitious Scheme.

Not content with having saved their church over $10,000 in the installation of a heating plant this summer, the Men's Club of St. James Church is now devising plans for raising sufficient funds to pay off the mortgage which is held on the church property. Their first effort will be in conjunction with the Women's Guild and will take the form of a rummage sale.

The club is without a doubt one of the livest church organizations in the city, meeting every Thursday evening and dealing with business matters affecting the church in addition to fostering the social activities for the men of the congregation. At their last meeting it was brought to their attention that the annual interest and installment on the church mortgage was due shortly and that money was needed to pay the coal bill of the church.

Undaunted, the members undertook the responsibility of these payments. The rummage sale which they intend to hold is but one of many schemes which they will make use of in placing their church finances on a sound basis.

INDIA'S IMMIGRATION PROBLEM CRUCIAL

ALLAHABAD, India, Sept. 30.—The resolution of the imperial conference on the vexed question of Indian immigration and on Indian rights of citizenship in the dominions has at length been published. The Government of India immediately issued an announcement that it had not had time to consider the issue and that it proposed to await taking any action. Probably because the matter is unavoidably in an indeterminate stage at present, the resolution has not created much excitement in any quarter. That may begin with the next session of the Imperial Legislative Council at Simla. The resolution certainly represents an advance if falling short of what Indians demand or anticipate.

This was the main resolution which was accepted by the representatives of the mother country and by Canada, Australia and New Zealand. Canada has, of course, a certain Indian population in her borders in British Columbia, and in so far as these suffer from any disabilities the Dominion Government is committed to seeing that they are removed and full citizenship given, Australia and New Zealand have practically no Indian inhabitants, and as the agreement of 1918, reaffirmed by the resolution just passed, gave each constituent part of the empire full liberty as regards immigration the resolution cost these two dominions no particular searchings of heart.

But the representative of South Africa dissented "in view of the exceptional circumstances of the greater part of the Union." General Smuts, their principal delegate, gave it as his opinion that Mesopotamia was better suited for Indian immigration than South Africa. The Indian representatives, while appreciatng the importance of this resolution, expressed their profound concern at the South African attitude and hoped that by direct negotiations a more satisfactory situation might be reached. The really important characteristic of the resolution was its acceptance by the colonial office as applying to the crown colonies. Winston Churchill will have need of all his statesmanship and such tact as he may possess to settle the Kenya problem on the lines of full citizenship for India.

In East Africa feeling could not be worse. There has even been talk of a secret organization of white settlers to contest the Indian claims, while the latter have been very truculent in asserting their position. A meeting in camera has been held in the Kenya Legislative Council to discuss the situation. The natives, who, of course, considerably outnumber both whites and Indians, have been strongly protesting against the Indian claims. Practically the colonial office has to weigh the balance between the justice on the one side and the passionate feelings of the small and superoir civilization fighting desperately for its existence against the remorseless advance of the much inferior but numerically much superior civilization.

Fiji, where there has of late been much unrest among the Indian imported labor, is another crucial problem fastening its attention on the colonial office, though it is hoped that the deputation shortly proceeding there from India will ease matters. It is a matter for patience on the part of the Indian, coupled with a determination to improve the standing of his civilization in these other parts of the empire; for broadmindedness on the part of the European, coupled with the removing of grosser anomalies of franchise where they exist.

LARGEST POTATO FARM IN CANADA; 300 ACRES DEVOTED TO THE SPUD

WINNIPEG, Sept. 30.—Silver Heights' Farm, located a short distance west of this city, are reviving the glories of the old Silver Heights estate of the late Lord Strathcona and this year can make the proud boast of the largest potato farm in the whole of Canada. Three hundred acres of potatoes have been cultivated this year and carlot shipments are being made daily to Eastern Canada and United States points. Shipments have been made to Kansas City and Minneapolis, also to Toronto. The American shipments are profitable, it is claimed, even when duty is paid, the difference in exchange helping out materially.

E. C. Messervey, the managing director of the farms, which also include 300 acres of grain, states that the crop is of very fine quality and the early potatoes are running about 215 to 220 bushels to the acre. The Irish Cobblers variety will run considerably over 300 bushels per acre. Much of the crop has been grown from certified seed and will be put on the market this fall and winter under Government certificate.

The great bulk of the seeding on this large farm was completed by May 18, and the first shipment of potatoes for market was made on July 12, a record.

BROTHERHOODS OF CITY REORGANIZE

Are Great Solidifying Force In Protestant Churches.

THE MOVEMENT GROWS.

Meetings Develop Speakers In All the City Churches.

One of the greatest forces solidifying the interests of the Protestant churches of this city is the brotherhood movement, which is to be revived in the majority of London churches this month. All the clubs which flourished in the different congregations last year will be reorganized within the course of the month and arrangements made for Sunday morning meetings, week-day social activities and the installation of new executives.

In this city alone the movement has hundreds of members and has made itself a potent influence in church work during the past year. The intervention of the summer holidays halted the activities temporarily, but the officials are going back to them with renewed energy and zeal now and with the definite objectives of a club in every church and every man in each congregation a member.

VALUE TO MEMBERS

Apart from the value which each brotherhood is to its church, the members themselves are the greatest beneficiaries. The most outstanding men in the city are numbered among those who have given lectures in the past and who will address the 10 a.m. meetings this coming year. Educational as well as religious themes are touched upon and in more than one instance civic affairs have come under review.

While outside speakers are frequently secured by the brotherhoods, the officials also aim to encourage their own members to speak on matters with which they are conversant. It has often happened that a member of a brotherhood is an authority on a matter of timely interest and is thus able to give his fellows the benefit of firsthand knowledge. Similarly practical talks on different trades or professions have proved to be intensely interesting.

The ladies of the different churches have worked hand in hand with the men in the social activities of the brotherhoods. Believing in the old adage that the best approach to a man's heart is through his stomach, the officials have held many banquets and while they have allowed the women to help them with the spreads, they have returned the compliment by holding ladies' nights, in which the men act as cooks, waiters and dishwashers. The programs have always been bright and interesting and the social evenings have accomplished their object of making the men of the church, especially a large one, better acquainted with each other.

This year promises to be a record one for the score or two of brotherhoods in the city. The Men's Federation, which acts as the clearing house for all the organizations in the city, will meet shortly, it is understood, and decide on an ambitious program to form new branches and to strengthen the ones already existing.

INCREASE IN ALLIED SHIPPING FLEETS

ANTWERP, Sept. 30.—Amongst the facts and figures from the latest edition of "Lloyd's Register Book" one very noteworthy point is the manner in which the increase of the respective fleets of the allied and associated powers has been effected. Very largely it is attributable to the acquisition of tonnage allotted to them out of the confiscated fleets of the Central States. In this way they obtained a total accretion of something like 6,000,000 tons. Altogether, old and new, they and the former neutrals shows an excess of 11,703,000 tons over their pre-war figures.

The figures above exclude the present German tonnage. It may be interesting to note how rapidly that country is regaining her old industrial position. She is not likely to export her wares in foreign bottoms; indeed, it is well known that her Government has allocated 11,970,000 marks for the purpose of rebuilding her mercantile fleet. Her shipbuilding concerns have greatly augmented their capital and her yards are humming with activity.

This is a very serious factor. In Belgian maritime circles it is considered that the allied countries are overburdened with vessels chiefly built prior to 1914. By the time Germany has completed her present efforts, namely, in a very few years, the majority of the allied ships will be obsolete, while the German craft will all be up-to-date. Be it remembered the Belgian shipping experts remark, that the superiority, for instance, of the German rice ships before she was succeeded in transferring the rice market from London to Hamburg.

What the results of the presumable difference of equipment between the German ships now building and those of her competitors will be it is difficult to say. Anyhow such a competent personality as Mr. Cuno, of the Hamburg-American Line, asserts that, within five years, Germany will own at least a third part of its pre-war tonnage.

PLAN MEMORIAL TO DENTISTS WHO FELL IN THE GREAT WAR

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 30.—As a memorial to Canadian dentists who lost their lives in the great war the dentists of Saskatchewan are being asked to contribute their share towards the establishment of a permanent endowment fund for dental research for the Dominion.

"The foundation," states Dr. W. D. Cowan, "plans to work along lines that will be of practical advantage to the dentists of Canada, and subscribers to the foundation will receive bulletins from time to time, covering approved technique of practical office problems. Subscribers will also, upon request, be able to secure special reports covering any difficult problem where clinical advice or laboratory report is desired."

TUCKER—In sad and loving memory of our dear sister, Adelaide, who passed away one year ago, October 2, 1920.
We loved her, yes, no tongue can tell
How true, how deep, and, oh, how well.

To take her home with Him to rest.
She lives with us in memory,
And will forever more.
Earth has lost her, heaven has found her.
Jesus doeth all things well.

TUCKER—In cherished memory of a loving wife and mother, who passed away one year ago to-morrow, October 2, 1920.
Oh, dear mother, how we miss you,
In the year that has gone by.

Earth the lonely casket keeps;
But oft we linger midst tears and flowers,
Where our darling loved one sleeps.

Eternal life was best for thee.

We miss thee everywhere.

PRIDE IN WORK REAL SOLUTION

Rev. Dr. Gordon Discusses the Industrial Problem

LAUDS BRITISH PEOPLE

Noted Canadian Guest of Canadian Clubs Here

"World, national and individual peace and happiness will never come until we all, ladies and gentlemen, accept that eternally true basis of human relationship: 'Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do you even so to them.'" This closed the speech given by Rev. Dr. Charles W. Gordon, moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly of Canada at last night's joint dinner meeting of the men's and women's Canadian clubs in London. But Londoners gathered to hear "Ralph Connor" speak and were spiritually in the frontier mission station of "Black Rock," where broken lives might be healed through the power of the cross. It needed only another Mrs. Mavor to sing "The Land o' the Leal" or "The Sweet Bye and Bye" to turn the banquet-room into a place of revival and religious experience.

Dr. Gordon, one of Canada's most distinguished authors, pastor of a Winnipeg church, chairman of a provincial council of industry, veteran of the Great War and head of Canadian Presbyterianism, took for his subject "Religion and the Business of Living." And before proceeding to the 'business of living' portion of his address he defined religion.

DOING THE RIGHT.

"Religion," he said, "is just being decent all around. Doing the right thing towards God; doing the right thing towards one's fellow man."

He led up to this definition by quoting from an American statistician of business whose industrial advisory service enters nearly every business office. That man, Roger W. Babson, a friend of Dr. Gordon, stated recently that religion is the bulwark of business and industry, and that deposit boxes and steel storerooms were as thin as egg shells when men and women forgot God. "The value of our investments," the financier's summing up was quoted, "depends upon the strength of the churches."

"One of the characteristics of our day," Dr. Gordon stated, "is that all men are seeking a lead in these days of stress. And those anxious for industrial peace united in emphasizing the importance of religion.

"For one and a half years I have been chairman of the Manitoba Council of Industry. Four members, two representing labor, two representing capital. This council listens to the complaints of employers; any employee has the right to appeal to the council against actual or imagined wrong treatment. It has been a wonderful experience, for we have found that the differences between so-called classes is not so much a divergence in points of view as a difference in eternal and foundation principles. A difference in the way man thinks of his fellow man and his God. The solution of difficulties comes in being right with God and man. When men get the right attitude towards God and their fellows the other points are merely differences of opinion and judgment."

BRITAIN'S PROBLEMS.

This reminded the speaker of Great Britain's post-war problems, of how 20 royal commissions were appointed in 1919 to study imperial social problems. "We used to think," he said, "that we knew how to do things better here than our British brothers. But let me send a reverent salute across the seas to them, for the war has shown us and all other nations that no country on earth is so far advanced in wise and sane attempts to solve sociological problems. (Cheers.) But these 20 royal commissions found that the brains of the people had been confused by their hearts.

"We don't want more brains, we want better hearts."

Referring to the work of the Manitoba Council of Industry, Dr. Gordon pointed out that parties with differences of opinion reduced their grievances to logical statements in writing. This cleared the air, cooked heated passions, and enabled former irreconcilables to find a basis of understanding. Anger, suspicion and sometimes even hatred were removed, and then came good-will and mutual settlement of difficulties.

ABOLISH HATE.

"Get the hate and suspicion out of the world's heart," the speaker stated, "let us live together as one family, and we will not be long in settling our industrial problems. Religion takes the evil out of men's hearts."

Then followed a typical "Sky Pilot" touch. Dr. Gordon referred to a recent world conference of Presbyterians in Pittsburg, Pa. With superb preparation for his coming point, he asserted that everyone knew that where world Presbyterians gathered, there would be the best brains of the world. Someone cried: "Hear, hear!" This reminded the doctor of a story of the war, where a Highlander lay seriously wounded and another "Jock" volunteered to go for a minister. "Mind, ye," said the Caledonian, "that ye get a real meenester, none o' these Episcopalian bodies." But the comrade returned with the sad news that no real dominie was available and that an Anglican padre would have to serve. To this the wounded Scot replied, "Weel, that's very bad, but I hae to confess that while I was born a Presbyterian, I hae lived more like an Anglican!" There was laughter, and then Dr. Gordon drove home his point.

"Churches, as bodies, share in the temptations of humanity, they have divergent points of view, and I defy the sincerest churchman to keep evil out of his heart in the heat of argument. Some of the fiercest wars in history were fought over religious questions. But when churches carry out their proper religious functions, such things are kept out. These things which cloud our vision of the true way."

VALUE FOR VALUE

The speaker then dealt with the great principles of the business of living according to true religion. "Value for value," he asserted, "was the rule. Employers demand more production and say they do not mind the cost of wages if they can get production. But the pay envelope is not the way. Experience shows that the larger the pay envelope the less the production. We will not go into the subject of fair wages; we are all striving for a solution. But the real solution is to get men everywhere to take pride in their work.

"As a schoolboy in Glengarry I used to ride to school on timber sticks made from our heaven-soaring Glengarry pines. John McCrae, a mighty man with the axe, hewed them out with his axe. The timbers so hewed were almost without axe marks. John McCrae took pride in his work. Offer him larger pay for doing his work better than other men? The man would have been insulted.

"Our industrial problem is not one of status. I do not believe that any employer wants to keep any man in a certain class. That belongs to the bad, bad past. It is our Canadian pride that any man may fight his way to the top. We don't want, we won't have, classes. Canada simply doesn't want that sort of thing. Not a great leader of industry in this Dominion but broke through, put himself at the top by his own efforts.

"And in closing I leave this with you as the final summing up. Words old as Christianity, words spoken by its founder: 'Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you do ye even so to them.'"

Dr. Gordon was introduced to the members of the men's and women's Canadian clubs by Mrs. F. E. Leonard, president of the women's club. Mrs. Leonard was introduced by President Green, of the men's organization, who expressed the men's appreciation of the ladies' presence in welcoming Dr. Gordon.

How I Was Wrecking the Lives of My Children

And Suffering Indescribable Tortures Myself Day and Night. A Mother's Terrible Confession.

For some time I had noticed that my two children, a boy of seven and a girl of 10, were becoming highly nervous, irritable and very disobedient—at times even "sassy." I tried various punishments, even whipping, but they kept growing worse. I fought and struggled with the situation. My own nerves were all "on edge"—the least thing put me into a rage. I quarreled and had most awful "fusses" with my husband over nothing as I now look back on them. I was too weak to work or enjoy life, and too nervous and irritable to go anywhere. I was horribly impatient and ugly if I did not get just what I wanted when I wanted it. I often suffered from severe heart palpitation and indigestion. I could not sleep at night; I had an almost constant dull aching pain in the back of my neck and head, and frequently a very disagreeable sense of fullness in the front part of my head. I often had severe pains across my back, which made me think I had kidney trouble. I also had tender spots along the spine, which convinced me that a fall I had had several years ago had caused permanent spinal injury which later proved to be only "a case of nerves." I could not begin to describe all the tortures, terrible pains, and great devitalizing weakness which I endured. Nobody, not even my husband, seemed to appreciate or realize my condition, and very few offered any sympathy, which irritated me all the more.

Finally I went to a doctor and told him my story; what awful children I had, and asked his advice as to what to do with them, and whether or not I should send them to a reform school. After studying my case and talking with me and my children, to my surprise and disgust, he told me I was the cause of my children's condition; that it was all my fault. At this I flew into a rage, but after I had quieted down somewhat he explained to me the terrible condition of my nerve cells. He told me how the system only manufactured so much nerve force, and that this vital fluid of life was stored in the nerve cells, much like electricity is stored in a storage battery, and that I was like an electric automobile after the electricity in the storage batteries had nearly all been used up, and the car could, therefore, hardly move. He said my own highly nervous condition had been a constant drain on the nerve force of my children, and that the constant nervous strain to which I had subjected them had wrecked their highly sensitive nervous organizations and lives, and made them what they were—that what my children needed was not a reform school, but a reformed mother, and later all this I found out to be true, because after I regained my own nervous poise, and revitalized my worn out, exhausted nerve centers, and the same was done for my children, I found them to be the nicest, sweetest children in the world—their whole dispositions entirely changed.

The above is a hypothetical case, which a physician says may well illustrate thousands which exist to-day. Homes are wrecked, children ruined, suicides caused, all through exhausted nerve force or neurasthenic conditions. Very few people realize the awful suffering and terrible physical and mental tortures which may be caused by a depletion of the nervo-vital fluid.

In such cases it is often worse than foolish to take mere stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, which only whip up your lagging vital powers for the moment, may be at the expense of your life later on. What you need is to put more nerve force into your nerves and more iron into your blood. This is most effectively accomplished by the free use of Nuxated Iron. This valuable product contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most nearly resembles that in the nerve and brain cells of man.

It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. This form of iron will not blacken nor injure the teeth nor upset the stomach. It is an entirely different thing from metallic iron which people usually take. Nuxated Iron may, therefore, be termed both a blood and a nerve food, as it feeds strength—giving iron to your blood and the principal chemical ingredient of active living nerve force to your brain and nerve cells.

Over four million people are using Nuxated Iron annually, and from the remarkable beneficial results which it has produced the manufacturers feel so certain of its efficacy that they guarantee satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Beware of substitutes, look for the word "Nuxated" on every package.

After using Nuxated Iron we shall be pleased to have you write us what it does for you for publication. Your name will be withheld.

Nuxated Iron for the blood and nerves is sold by all druggists.

Loss of Weight and Vigor

Far-reaching Effects of Kidney Disease

IF you are losing strength, weight and vigor, it is highly probable that your kidneys are not performing their natural functions in a proper manner. In many cases, people have allowed themselves to be sapped of their vitality before realizing the true cause. A backache, constant headaches, painful urination, and other similar pains are frequently signs of kidney derangement. Indifference, or delayed treatment, will surely result in loss of weight and vigor, and in the development of more serious ailments, such as rheumatism or sciatica, lumbago, swollen joints or stone in the bladder.

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

Gin has always been recognized as a remedy for kidney and bladder troubles. Gin Pills, however, contain none of the harmful alcohol, but all the healing qualities of the Juniper Berry. These properties are compounded with seven other diuretics and antiseptics, and the result is a pill which stands out as the finest restorative and corrective for deranged kidneys. If you have any of the dreaded symptoms, get a box at once from your druggist or dealer—50c. If you obtain no relief, we will refund your money. Or, write to us for a free sample, sufficient to convince you of their value. Act without delay.

Coveleskie Holds Sox While His Indians Hit Faber

Cleveland Stays in Fight for Pennant, While Yankees Are Idle

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—The Cleveland Indians, fighting desperately to-day to retain their place in the American League pennant chase, refused to bow to the pitching prowess of "Red" Faber, pitching star of the White Sox, and batted out a 3-to-2 victory. The game was a thrilling pitching duel between Stanley Coveleskie and Faber, who was attempting to win his 26th victory of the season. Coveleskie was unsteady at the start and Chicago got away to a one-run lead in the first inning. After two men were out, Collins singled to center and Hooper followed with a single to right and Collins scored when Sheeley singled to center. Coveleskie settled down and was given sensational support in the next two innings, but in the fourth he lost control and Hooper was passed. Sheeley worked him for a count of 3 and 2 and then hit to left for two bases, scoring Hooper. A quick double play by Gardner and Sewell and Mulligan's fly to Gardner ended the inning.

Faber pitched invincible ball until the fifth inning, when the Indians got the range.

Gardner opened with a single and Sewell followed with another safe hit. Burns fanned and Faber walked O'Neill, filling the bases. Coveleskie's long fly to Hooper scored Gardner after the catch. Jamieson's single to right scored Sewell, and when Wambsganss singled to center, O'Neill counted.

Faber held Cleveland to seven hits, four of which were made by Jamieson, who had a perfect average.

Brief Sport

Harry Batstone is one of the most sought for athletes in Toronto to-day. He is a member of the Argonauts and the Hillcrests, one a football and the other a baseball team. Both teams have important games to play this afternoon and he hopes to be able to participate in both games, playing the first period with the Argos against the Hamilton Tigers at Varsity Stadium, and the whole game at third base for the Hillcrests in their game with Oshawa at the Island Stadium.

The Woodbine closes its gates after the seventh race to-day for the year and will not reopen until May 20, 1922. The horsemen will ship their nags to Windsor, where the last Canadian Racing Association meeting will be stageed at the Kenilworth Jockey Club, beginning on Wednesday next.

Eddie Seagram, of Waterloo, must have been proud on Thursday when his two English-breds, Sphere and Brilliant Jester, ran first and second as an entry to win the Seagram cup, donated several years ago by his father, Joseph E. Seagram, to the Ontario Jockey Club.

Mike McTigue, middleweight champion of Canada, is reported to be all set to force Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, into a titular contest. "There is no doubt that during the past few months McTigue has fought himself into a position where Wilson must step into the same ring with him," says Bob Edgren.

By winning his seventh pennant for the New York Nationals, Manager John J. McGraw tops all other managers in the number of championships. He was tied at six with Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Americans, until he piloted the 1912 Giants out in front. The Giants won their first National League title under McGraw in 1904. They repeated the next year, when they won their first and only world's championship. They also won the league title in 1911, 1912, 1913, 1917 and 1921.

Victory for the Yankees on Thursday, coupled with Cleveland's defeat, was as good as meedicine for Babe Ruth's cold that kept him indoors. Babe had a bad cold, but a day's rest and the tonic of a victory for New York and Cleveland's defeat must have worked wonders, as he joined his team mates and tried to increase his home reun record at Philadelphia yesterday.

Catcher Styles, of the Baltimore club, will not be allowed to figure in the post-season series with the Louisville Colonels, winners of the American Association pennant. Styles was only a recent acquisition and for that reason will not take part in the games, which begin at Louisville on next Wednesday.

St. Louis Nationals ended the hopes that some fans entertained for Mooney Gibson's Pirates to land the pennant, and Bill Doak, a Pittsburg home-brew, pitched the Cardinals to a 5-to-4 victory in the first game on Thursday. The Pittsburg Nationals certainly cannot place the blame on anything else but their weakness at bat for their dismal slump during the last six weeks of the race, as their pitchers have been holding their opponents to a minimum number of runs in every game.

The loss of Billy Southworth and Nicholson, two heavy-hitting outfielders, who were included in the trade that brought "Rabbit" Maranville to the Buccaneers, has been felt, as they were two of the heaviest hitters in the league.

It is expected that many outside tennis players will arrive in London next week for the Western Ontario tennis championships. Owen Sound, Listowel, St. Catharines, Windsor, St. Thomas, Hamilton, Kitchener, Woodstock, Stratford, Sarnia and Goderich players have signified their intention of entering.

Junior Hockey Organizes Again For Kitchener

Strong Committee and Plenty Good Material Available

KITCHENER, Sept. 30.—Kitchener will be represented in the O. H. A. by a husky team of juniors and no time will be lost in beginning training operations. Instead of electing a staff of figure-heads as officers of the club, three well-known hockey supporters have been appointed as an executive, consisting of H. W. Sturm, E. O. Ritz and C. H. Kaplin. This committee will act in an advisory capacity. The affairs of the team will be looked after by the following officials: Manager, Norman Johnson; secretary, L. Krueger; treasurer, E. L. Hearn; trainer, W. White. Among last year's players available are L. Trushinski, M. Hearn, W. Molson, Gross, J. White, A. Forwell, A. Schell and W. Hass.

The London Thistle Club bowlers continued on their trophy capturing antics last night when they wrested the Ardiel challenge cup from the London Rowing Club by a five-shot victory in a two-rink competition at the L. R. C. lawn.

Albert Trick's quartet defeated Captain MacDonald's rink by 21 to 13, but Fred N. Allen's combination were down three shots in their match with William Hynd's rink, the score being 22 to 19. Summary:

ATTACKS ACQUISITIONS BY JAPS IN PACIFIC

Rear-Admiral Sims Characterizes Award as "Hamstringing of United States in Pacific."

NEWPORT, Rhode Island, Sept. 28.—Japan's acquisition of Shantung and the Caroline Islands, as remuneration for her part in the war, was characterized as "the hamstringing of the United States in the Pacific," by Rear-Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., in an address at a Baptist church gathering here. He declared that the United States remains free from attack by Japan because of Japan's lack of bases on this side of the Pacific. The acquisitions of the Japanese, however, Admiral Sims said, provide a means of cutting the United States' communications with the Philippines.

Admiral Sims said the peace of the world depends on a proper understanding among the English-speaking peoples of the world. He referred to the coming disarmament conference and the influence the English-speaking nations would have. He said that affairs in the Pacific will be discussed in this conference.

"China is sure to be the bone of contention," the admiral said. "It is dollars to doughnuts that the powers will agree to guarantee the integrity of China and to maintain the Hay policy of the open door. Japan may or may not consent. You may judge for yourself which would be the most comfortable for her."

Admiral Sims talked on "Co-operation." Among other things he said that the guarding of the eastern seaboard of the United States with 2,000 airplanes, with a similar number on the Pacific coast, would make the country impregnable to naval attack.

GERMAN ECONOMIC SITUATION PUZZLING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—The United States is interested in and frankly puzzled by the economic situation in Germany and the probable outcome. Officials refuse to speak for quotation, but the reports of experts recently made have formed the basis for much conjecture, which, as a matter of fact, leads nowhere. There are no precedents to judge by. It could not have been imagined that at this length of time after the war practically all the man-power of Germany should be employed, and yet that there should be no money with which to pay Germany's obligations.

With the German mark worth less than a cent, it is hardly possible to consider German money as of any value, especially as the amount of paper currency is being added to daily in large quantities.

Recently Germany has been turning out all but worthless paper money with the greatest recklessness, and the mark has accordingly been depreciating. Here and there, for certain purposes, stores of gold have been turned up and used and it may be that that method of doing business can be resorted to more generally, but it does not seem possible to stabilize the currency at the rate at which things are going now.

ST. CATHARINES TENNIS TEAM MEETS WINDSOR HERE TO-DAY

Final Matches for The London Free Press Trophy, Emblematic of the Western Ontario League Championship, Will Be Played at Reid's Courts

Secretary J. G. Boucher, of the Western Ontario tennis tournament committee, who are staging the revival of the annual event this year at the courts of the London Hunt and Country Club next Thursday, Friday and Saturday, will meet the winner of the Graham-Black semi-final this afternoon for the championship of the Jolung Tennis Club's tournament.

Much local interest centers in the finals to-day between the St. Catharines c'ub team and the Windsor team, for the championship of the Western Ontario league, which will be staged at Ed. Reid's courts at the foot of St. James street west. The St. Kitts team won The London Free Press trophy on two previous occasions, before the war, and need to defeat the fast Windsor team to gain permanent possession of the silverware.

Entries to the tournament starting next Thursday are coming in well now and it will require three days of competition to declare the championships in the various events. The list closes next Wednesday.

The games at the Jolung Club will be hustled through as Boucher is anxious to see some of the games at Reid's court.

Hockey League Has Its Ideas On Amalgamation

Discuss Plan With M.A.A.A. Officers, But Further Action Depends on Tuesday Meeting

There was a lengthy discussion when the prime movers of the Manufacturers' Amateur Athletic Association discussed the proposed amalgamation of all sports throughout the various seasons with the representatives of the Manufacturers' Hockey League at Brisco's store last evening.

The hockey officials contepd that while the object of the M. A. A. A. is to foster only activities for bona fide employees in various branches of sport under their plan, it was found impossible to secure sufficient teams for the hockey league and it was found necessary in the past to open the way for non-industrial organizations. But most of the hockey teams, in one way or another, could be grouped as industrials.

No decision was rested last night and the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday night next should develop some interesting discussions. It is planned to then organize the association, which will bring about amalgamation of all industrial sport in the city under chief executive with contributaries from the various branches.

Testimonal To Matty Nets Him Over $40,000

Former Giant Pitching Star Is Reimbursed for Past Services

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Old-time members of the New York Giants defeated the National League leaders to-day, 2 to 0, in a five-inning game, the proceeds of which will go to Christy Mathewson, former Giant pitcher, who is recovering from tuberculosis. Jeff Tesreau did the bulk of the twirling for the Old-Timers and Warner caught. The Giants' battery was Ryan and Gaston. Score:

Giants	000 00—	0	7	0

A crowd of 20,000 witnessed the game. A ball autographed by President Harding, Vice-President Coolidge, Babe Ruth, Mathewson and George Kelly was auctioned off for $750.

Another ball autographed by Hans Wagner sold for $250.

The Giants' game with Boston, which was to have followed the contest with the Old-Timers, was called off on account of a heavy rainstorm.

Despite the disappointing weather, between $40,000 and $50,000 was realized for the Mathewson fund, officials of the Giants stated to-night. Included in this amount will be $22,500 rain insurance that was taken out with a British company by the committee in charge of the testimonial.

PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF FORGERY

Man at Ingersoll Sentenced to Burwash Farm.—Subscription Artist Fined $100.

INGERSOLL, Sept. 30.—Harry Dickson was to-day sentenced to two years less one day at Burwash Farm by Magistrate Paterson on a forgery charge to which he pleaded guilty. Dickson forged a cheque for $210 on a Thamesford bank, using the name of a local man.

Willian Dunn, a Toronto magazine subscription canvasser, was fined $100 for having secured subscriptions under false pretences in Dereham Township. He took a subscription for a magazine which he purported to be a London periodical. Crown Attorney McMullen, of Woodstock, prosecuted in both cases.

CONFIDENT OF GAIN IN THE MEMBERSHIP

C. of C. Drive Halted Because of Weather, But Workers Sure of Outcome.

Bad weather yesterday interfered somewhat with the success of the Chamber of Commerce membership drive.

A goodly number of new and renewal memberships were received, but as the work has not been completed it was decided to continue on a couple of days the first of next week.

No reports will be issued until the canvass is completed, but last evening the organizers of the campaign were confident that when all reutrns are received the gain in membership to the chamber would be well up to the goal set.

BARN AND CONTENTS DESTROYED BY FIRE

ALLENFORD, Sept. 30.—While threshing was being done on Monday a barn and contents belonging to R. J. Nixon, of Lindsay Township, Bruce Peninsula, were totally destroyed by fire. The fire started in the straw shed, but the cause is unknown. A new screen had been put on the smokestack of the engine that morning and it it is said the the fire may have been caused by a hot box. The men in the barn had barely time to get out.

SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT.

RODNEY, Sept. 30.—A successful entertainment was held in New Glasgow Presbyterian church, near here, on Wednesday evening. The program consisted of music and solos by the McPherson Quartet, Campbellton; readings by C. Shaw and solos by Mrs. A. G. Duncanson, Dutton; comic selections by Gordon McPherson and Sinclair Duncanson. The proceeds, $18.25, was in aid of the expense fund for the W. M. S. society.

BOOST MILK PRICES.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 30.—Eleven cents a quart will be charged for milk in this city to-morrow. This is an increase of one cent a quart. The raise is attributed by the Dairy Company to the failure of the cereal crops in this vicinity and the high price of feed. Milk was 13 cents a quart here a year ago, when the farmers received $1 more a hundredweight for their milk.

RAIN PUTS END TO FAIR AT STRATFORD

Races Called Off and Entry Money Refunded—Midway Lost Business Yesterday

STRATFORD, Sept. 30.—The directors of the Stratford Fall Fair decided this year on a four-day exhibition, but the weather man decreed that three days were enough. After three days of glorious sunshine, the rain set in during the night and continued with few and brief intervals to-day. The track having been converted into a quagmire, with racing out of the range of possibility for several days, the officials decided to call of to-day's card and refund the entry money rather than postpone the events. As all the stock judging and other typical fair features had been concluded on Thursday, the rain automatically closed the fair. The midway was left stranded in the rain, losing a full day's business. Had to-day been fine the fair would easily have established new records in attendance and proceeds. Even with the last day canceled, however, the exhibition will pay its way.

About 50 members of the various sections of the G. T. R. staffs at Guelph, Kitchener, Stratford and other points, met at the local Y. M. C. A. at 10 o'clock this morning to attend two lectures bearing on railway work. The first lecture was by J. E. Dempsey, of Chicago, who spoke on the use and application of the Dempsey telegraphic code. Mr. Dempsey is a telegraphy expert. It was he who formulated a code for the use of the United States Government during the recent war. The second lecture was by A. H. McMullen, of Toronto, and dealt with the handling and transportation of explosives and inflammmable materials.

RAIL MEN WILL SEEK COMPROMSIE

Hold Conference at Montreal on Board Chief's Advice

HEARING IS ADJOURNED

Conciliation Board Will Not Meet Until Wednesday

MONTREAL, Sept. 30.—This afternoon the 35 delegates from the railway brotherhoods met and decided to appoint a subcommittee comprising the six vice-presidents of the various brotherhoods to represent the railroad employees in a conference suggested by Judge MacLennan, chairman of the conciliation board sitting to inquire into the wage reduction of 12½ per cent., imposed by the railroads. The suggestion is that representatives of the C.P.R., G.T.R. and C.N.R. meet together and talk the situation over with a view to meeting the subcommittee representative of the men and arriving at some tentative agreement.

This course was agreed to and Judge MacLennan adjourned the conciliation board until Wednesday next. He stated that full opportunity would be allowed for further conferences between now and next Wednesday, by which time some sort of arrangement would, he hoped, be reached.

George Hodge, the C. P. R. representative, said that, while the railways were ready to adopt the new plan and confer with representatives of the men, "it must not be imagined that this new phase of the discussion means any acceptance of the principle of collective bargaining by the railway."

LADY LAURIER URGED TO CONTEST ONE OF THE OTTAWA RIDINGS

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—(Special to The Free Press.)—In Liberal circles here the novel suggestion is put forth that Lady Laurier be the French Liberal candidate, as a means to overcome the perpetual conflict among aspirants for the nomination and also to encourage Frenchwomen to excise a privilege they are not eager to avail themselves of. As Lady Laurier is nearly 80 years old it is doubtful if she will consent, though efforts are being made to induce her to run.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—(Special to The Press).—The recommendation of Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, that Dr. Ferdinand Von Bruyssel be appointed a special commissioner to investigate the live stock markets with a view to increasing Canadian trade, was to-day approved by the Cabinet.

In consequence, while in Europe on the live stock investigation, he will carefully examine the market possibilities for flax and fiber flax seed. He is to leave for Europe immediately.

THE TORTURE OF INDIGESTION

Thousands Made Miserable By This Trouble.

"Fruit-a-tives" Relieves It.

What is Indigestion and what causes it? As you know, solid food must be changed into a liquid by the stomach before it can be taken up as nourishment by the blood.

The stomach acts as a churn. It is covered by a strong, muscular coat and lined with a soft, delicate membrane which secretes the Gastric Juice which digests or dissolves solid food.

When food enters the stomach the muscular coat squeezes and presses the food from end to end, or churns it with the gastric juice to dissolve or digest it.

But—if the stomach muscles are weak—or if the dissolving fluid is poor or insufficient—then food cannot be digested properly and you have Indigestion.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the most wonderful medicine in the world for strengthening the stomach muscles and providing an abundance of pure, full-strength dissolving fluid to completely digest every meal. "FRUIT-A-TIVES" does this because it keeps the kidneys, active, the bowels regular and the blood pure, which insures pure Gastric Juice.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" will correct your Indigestion or Dyspepsia and enable you to enjoy every meal. Try it.

FORMAL CHARGES OR NO INQUIRY

Decision of Windsor Police Commission on Chief's Case

FAVORS INVESTIGATION

But Demands That Allegations Be in Writing

WINDSOR, Sept. 30.—(Special to the Free Press.)—Not until formal charges are made by Ald. Frank Mitchell will the Windsor Police Commission act on the request of the City Council to suspend chief of police Danial Thompson, for alleged irregularities charged against the police head by Ald. Mitchell at Monday night's Council meetig.

The commission was a unit to-night in favoring the suggetsion of Mayor Wilson that an immediate investigation of federal charges should be held.

JUDGE'S VIEW.

County Judge Coughlin, who took his seat at a meeting of the commission for the first time since his appointment to succeed Judge Smith, removed from the commission by order of Attorney-General Raney, said the matter should be left in abeyance until City Solicitor Davis had acted on instructions from counsel to "take the necessary steps to bring about an investigation."

"I don't care how far the investigation is carried," Chief Thompson broke in at this point of the meeting. "The sooner the better."

Ald. Mitchell must now file written charges, a copy of which will be furnished the chief in order that he may know what he is to face.

CHARGED IN CONNECTION WITH DEATH OF LAD

Dr. Sebben, of Stratford, Whose Auto Struck Boy, Arraigned; Released on $7,000 Bail.

STRATFORD, Sept. 30.—Shortly after 4 o'clock this afternoon Dr. J. F. Sebben, dentist, was arraigned before Police Magistrate Makins and committed for trial on a charge of culpable homicide, arising out of the death of the late Royal Smalley. He was released on $7,000 bail.

Crown Attorney McPherson laid the charge. W. H. Gregory appeared in the interests of the accused.

Yesterday the coroner's jury returned the following verdict: "We, the jury, find that Royal Smalley came to his death by being struck by an automobile driven by Dr. J. F. Sebben. We find that this accident was caused by Dr. Sebben taking the wrong side of the road under a misapprehension, expecting the deceased to continue the direction in which he was going down Mornington street, and we would recommend that a traffic signal be placed at this intersection."

HUGHES WOULD LEAVE CONSTITUTION ALONE

LONDON, Sept. 30. — Reuter's correspondent in Melbourne, Australia, in a dispatch, says that Premier Hughes, in the course of a speech in the House of Representatives to-day, declared himself as opposed to a constitutional conference. The surest way to dismember the British Empire, said the premier, was to meddle with the constitution.

OTTAWA, Sept. 30.—The presidents of the Lethbridge and Banff branches of the G. W. V. A. have telegraphed the Dominion command office here denying the statement that they had decided to cast in their lot with the new ex-service men's organization, known as the Canadian Legion.

LOCAL UPRISING IN THE SOUDAN SUPPRESSED

KHARTOUM, Eastern Soudan, Sept. 30.—A party of Messalat tribesmen, under the fanatical leader, Abdulah-Cl-Soghayer, attacked Nyalla on Monday, but was repulsed with heavy loss by the infantry and police. The Abdullah is reported to have been killed.

The British lost five killed, including a member of the Soudan civil service, McNyll, and Capt. Chown.

The rising is said to be purely local, without political significance.

necessitate the lighting of the furnaces the demand for fuel from all over the country will be so heavy that shipments will be considerably delayed.

It is pointed out that considerable coal was placed in the cellars during the earlier months of the summer, but recently the public has stopped buying. It has been the impression that the price of fuel would fall as the year advanced. This has not been the case, however. In fact it is more probable that prices will be advanced in the near future. Some of the wholesalers have been increasing the rates within the last month or so. This has not yet affected the retail trade prices, but if the wholesalers advance any further the retailers will be compelled to boost the prices also.

At any rate the selling price of coal now is from 35 to 40 per cent. lower than it was last winter. It is not as low as it formerly was, and the general opinion is that it can never again be sold for the low rates that were in effect prior to the war. On the other hand the quality of the coal is now better than it was during the war years. On account of the enormous demand many mines were putting on the market the refuse coal that could not be sold previously. Thus a ton of coal was often not more than 75 to 80 per cent. useful. This has changed, however, and one ton of coal now is 2,000 pounds of good fuel. The refuse piles are again left lying idle.

The local dealers are paying particular attention to the quality of the fuel now. They can do this where it would have been impossible even last winter. Thus taking in consideration the increase in quality as compared with the fuel sold during the war years the prices now are not more than half what they were in 1919 and 1920.

Dealers state that with the exception of stove coal any grade of fuel can now be secured. There is a greater demand for stove coal in the United States than for any other grade, consequently Ontario can not import so much of this. If residents are holding off from buying in the hope that they will be able to secure stove coal later they are liable to be fooled, according to several dealers. This grade of coal is as plentiful right now as it will be at any time. But it is urged that there are other sizes of fuel that will serve the ordinary purpose as well as stove coal will.

In any event it is considered important that every householder who can at all do so should see that his winter fuel supply is stored away in the cellar within the next few days or so. Any further delay may be disastrous, it is pointed out.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 16 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont

And Now!

A New Light 7-Passenger Car

Here is the most important announcement Reo ever made.

— for this is the greatest value Reo has ever been able to offer.

— and this is, we believe, the most advanced model ever turned out by any factory.

— this new light seven-passenger Touring Car will revolutionize design and set a new standard.

— and finally—its price establishes a new low level of prices and creates a new standard of values.

How has this been accomplished? — is your natural query.

How, in a car whose over-all dimensions are but little longer than its predecessor, have we been able to obtain so much more seating room?

For this most desirable result the Reo builders have actually accomplished.

How?—Why, by converting waste space into passenger capacity.

You will have to see this new Reo to fully appreciate the study, the ingenuity and the clever craftsmanship by which this has been accomplished.

And when you do, your enthusiasm will know no bounds.

How often have you wished for a car that would, on occasion, hold seven?

Yet you would not buy a "seven," because up to now, a car of that capacity was an overgrown, cumbersome, unwieldly affair whose first cost was excessive and whose upkeep was prohibitively so.

There has been a great need for a car of moderate length, of light weight and hence of reasonable upkeep—yet with plenty of power and room for seven.

You have wished for such a car.

Reo dealers have asked for such a car.

Reo craftsmen have sought long and diligently for the solution, and striven unceasingly to produce such a car.

Finally, as a happy inspiration, it came.

And now the long sought, ardently desired, is available to you—at a price that not only is within your reach but which conforms to your idea of values—"The Gold Standard of Values."

It is logical that this advanced model should emanate from the Reo shops.

Pioneering is natural to "The Reo Folk".

Reo has long been known as the "School Master" in the trade.

Just a few instances of Reo pioneering—all of which, received at first in doubt and some with derision, finally became the standard:—

Side door entrance—One Lever, Center Control—Interlocked Clutch and Brake, Electric Starter:

—Many methods and special machine tools that have revolutionized manufacturing were first used in the Reo shops.

And—; Reo was first to put pneumatic tires on a truck—result, that mighty Speed Wagon which has revolutionized transportation and rendered practically every other type obsolete.

That Speed Wagon—which "Fits Every Business" and dominates the field regardless of carrying capacities—was just such an innovation as this.

History will repeat itself.

See this new Reo—you will be delighted with this light, snappy, flexible, beautiful 7-passenger car.

Size makes it ideal to handle on narrow roads or streets, or parking in tight places.

Upkeep and operation costs will be less than heretofore have been possible in a car of 7-passenger capacity.

Need we say this is a quality car? Being a Reo, it must be that. The very terms are synonymous.

Built for the connoisseur — for that select Reo clientele who appreciate and demand the best—this Reo possesses all the inherent quality—the "hidden beauty"—for which the Reo product is famous.

This is the handsomest touring model that ever came from the Reo shops.

Body design conforms to the very latest mode. Long, slightly-curved lines sweep gracefully from radiator to extreme rear—edges beveled, doors flush.

Power and speed and endurance radiate from this new Light Reo.

Viewed from any angle, it looks the lithe, sinewy, swift running thing it is.

A car of singular grace and irresistibly inviting.

Ideal for its purpose—long, cross-country touring, camping—"Gypsying" with the entire family.

In a word, this latest example of Reo pioneering is the epitome of Reo experience, and pride of two decades of Reo achievement.

In confidence that it will meet with your enthusiastic acclaim, we present for your approval this New Light 7-passenger Reo.

"Little Church 'Round The Corner" Romantic Spot In Heart of New York

BY CHARLES E. CARRUTHERS

Stand in Twenty-ninth street, just a few steps from Fifth avenue, in New York City, and pause a few minutes to view a low, picturesque, rambling brown structure that has been added to from time to time and which registers on the mind as a modest chapel. A well-shaded lawn stands between this building and the street and on practically every day of the year the twittering of birds among the boughs of the big trees can be heard. To the stranger the peculiar atmosphere, rather rural in effect and so strikingly out of place in the heart of this big city, will probably attract a second glance that will stray to the sign board on which are set out the hours of service and the name, "Church of the Transfiguration."

"Quaint church and charming little restful spot," you would murmur to yourself and dismiss the impression from your mental records. But if some one whispered in your ear as you contemplated the picture, "that's The Little Church Around the Corner," the church, the ground and the very atmosphere of the place would be clothed in glittering attractiveness. You would gaze again with zest and appreciation at one of the most celebrated and probably the best known church edifices on the continent. A church supported largely by members of the theatrical profession and in which many romantic wedding ceremonies have been performed. From its portals hundreds of dead actors and actresses have been borne to the grave. Fifty-one years ago the church got its name of "The Little Church Around the Corner." In 1870 George Holland, a veteran actor, with a kindly soul and most gentlemanly manner, died in New York City. His sister attended a fashionable church on Fifth avenue and she desired to have him buried from it. Joseph Jefferson, of "Rip Van Winkle" fame, and a close friend of the dead actor, accompanied by one of Holland's sons, went to arrange for the funeral. On telling the rector that his friend was an actor, the rector declined to permit the burial from his church. Jefferson, whose heart was as big and sweet as a sugar beet, started to lead the son of his dead friend from the presence of the clergyman. The boy was crying softly. Just as the door was reached Jefferson, who was fighting to control his indignation, turned and asked if there was any other church from which his friend might be buried.

"There is a little church around the corner where it might be done," coolly replied the rector.

"Then, if this be so, God bless 'the little church around the corner,'" retorted Mr. Jefferson.

It was in the church around the corner that the burial ceremony was performed by Rev. George H. Houghton, its rector, a man beloved by all members of the theatrical profession, and when he died in 1897 his son succeeded him.

A. E. Lancaster, a popular dramatist of the time, wrote the following lines at the time of the funeral:

Bring him not here, where our sainted feet
Are treading the path to glory;
Bring him not here, where our Saviour sweet.
Repeats for us His story.
Go, take him where 'such things' are done—
For he sat in the seat of the scorner—
To where they have room, for we have none,
To "that little church' round the corner."

So spake the holy man of God
Of another man, his brother.
Whose cold remains, ere they sought the sod,
Had only asked that a Christian rite
Might be read above them by one whose light
Was: "Bretfiren, love one another;"
Had only asked that a prayer might be read
Ere his flesh went down to join the dead.

Whilst his spirit looked with suppliant eyes,
Searching for God throughout the skies.
But the priest frowned "No," and his brow was bare
Of love in the sight of the mourner;
And they looked for Christ and found Him—where?
In "that little church 'round the corner."

Ah, well, God grant, when with aching feet
We tread life's last few paces,
That we may hear some accents sweet
And kiss to the end, fond faces;
God grant that this tired flesh may rest
(Mid many a musing mourner),
While the sermon is preached and the rites are read,
In no church where the heart of love is dead,
And the pastor a pious prig at best,
But in some small nook where God's confessed—
Some "little church 'round the corner."

8,000 PERSONS IN MAMMOTH PICTURE

"The Son of Wallingford" Being Shown at Grand All Next Week —"French Leave" Coming.

The biggest picture sensation of the year, in which 8,000 actors appear and which combines the most thrilling and stupendous features of circus, hippodrome and zoo in one mammoth production, will be seen at the Grand Opera House all next week, with daily matinees and two performances each evening. This sensational photo-drama is "The Son of Wallingford," written by George Randolph Chester and containing all the famous Wallingford characters which have become known to so many thousands through the Chester stories.

Naturally, for a story of such character, the largest and most expensive settings have been used in a manner that marks a new epoch in the wonderful science of screen production. The spectacular fire scene alone cost $25,000 to produce, while the funny circus pageant scene in which hosts of animal actors are used are the biggest of the kind ever attempted. In the pageant scenes some 8,000 persons were used and it was necessary to organize them in a military formation, with captains, lieutenants, sergeants and corporals. These officers had charge of the yelling, distribution of two tons of confetti and 10,000 toy balloons. A parade, with camels, elephants and massive floats, rival that of a large circus. Over 10 miles of bunting were used to decorate band stands, floats and buildings of Whittier, Cal. The whole town was turned over to Vitagraph for a week. One day the company bought up the entire edition of a newspaper to be used in a scene. There are over 1,500 scenes in the production, each of which requires expensive settings and properties. The film was made in record time under the direction of Lillian and George Randolph Chester, who wrote the story, and who endeavored to secure for the cast players whose physical make-up resembles the characters described by them. The people of the story are so well known that their names have become household words.

As an added attraction Miss Lina Craine, the Popular New York soprano, whose songs delighted the audiences at the Grand this week, has been held over for next week and will appear at every showing of "The Son of Wallingford" with a complete change of her songs. There will be the usual topic, comedy and scenic films, the whole making a great big show.

Genevieve Beitolaris, with "French Leave," which is coming to Grand on October 10, 11, 12.

"FRENCH LEAVE" COMING

"French Leave" will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 10, 11 and 12. "French Leave" is the funniest play in England, which convulsed London's greatest critics on the first night of the production and has since been playing to crowded houses nightly at the Globe Theater, has been secured for Canadian production by Marc. Klaw, Inc Chas. Coburn and Transcanada Theaters Limited. The daring parts of the irresistible Mle. Juliette and the superb old Brig-Gen. Archibald Ross will be in capable hands.

Reginald Berkeley, the author, who jumped into fame as a humorist, with the production of "French Leave," has created for theater-goers an evening full of surprises, unexpected wit, daring escapades and uproariously funny situations. Mlle. Juliette, supposedly a beguiled French lady, charms a rigid and pompous general into an absurd catastrophe to gain leave of absence for her jealous husband. When she tries to meet her husband secretly she scandalizes half a dozen adoring slaves, and involves them in her daring escapades. She acts so impulsively that no one can be sure of her next step, and at the end there is a snap and twist that throws everyone into confusion. All the characters are very human. They are lovable and full of humor and are continually getting themselves and each other into trouble.

St. John Ervine, the author of "Jane Clegg" and "John Ferguson," laughed at its never-ending surprises all evening. He predicted that it would still be running a year hence.

COLOSSAL SPECTACLE AT ALLENS MONDAY

"Intolerance," D. W. Griffith's $2,000,000 Picture of Love's Struggle Throughout the Age, With Unsurpassed Cast.

D. W. Griffith's world-embracing spectacle, "Intolerance," is coming to the Allen for a return engagement to London by special demand.

The stage has seen productions of great magnificence, but they seem paltry and tawdry beside the far-reaching, all-embracing story of the fruits of intolerance throughout the ages. This colossal spectacle has achieved a triumph of art which changed the outlook of humanity. It is the condensation of a thousand centuries of evolution. Don't miss it. You will see more drama than in all other photo-plays you have ever witnessed. A red-blooded romance, tense with the spirit of adventure—annihilates time and space—125,000 people fill its scenes—7,000 horses and 1,500 chariots add to the excitement. Babylon the mighty—Jerusalem, the Haly City—Paris, the mediaeval siren—America of the overwhelming—to-day are the features of its background. Men of valor—houris of the Orient—heart-throbs and smiles—titanic struggles on towering battlements—ancient luxury in its wildest excesses—are parts of the four great stories rushing to a thrilling climax that keeps alive the hope of redemption in the shuddering heart of man. It is like a dream come true—a vision realized. No one can tell the story with word, brush or pen. It is too vast, too comprehensive, too far-reaching in its scope. It must be seen to realized. It will live for years and will prove a boon of enjoyment to thousands who have never yet been attracted to the theater, as well as to those who have been its frequent patrons.

"Intolerance" is a new art form that illuminates every fundamental of drama, music, literature and painting. It is pre-eminent because it tracks intolerance to its lair and dares to tell the truth.

An unceasing delight is the splendid musical score that accompanies this gigantic production.

Few pictures have presented such a wealth of unusual entertainment as the Catherine Curtis production of Ralph Connor's gripping story of the Canadian wilds, "The Sky Pilot," the feature attraction at the Allen on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. An unforgettable cattle stampede is just one of hundreds of thrilling incidents in the creation of the splendid characters of the book. Enacted against the rugged background of Canada's grandest crags, ""The Sky Pilot" becomes unique in its qualities of drama, human interest and true sensation.

Among the added attractions will be shown another Booth Tarkington comedy, "Edgar, the Detective;" Allen World News, special musical program by Allen's Concert Orchestra.

Owing to popular demand on the part of Allen patrons, Beatrice O'Leary, the famous "Century Girl," whose wonderful soprano voice has proven such an exceptional entertainment in her "Sing Revue of 1921," all this week at the Allen, has been secured for an extended engagement all next week.

Bert Lytell in "A Trip to Paradise," the feature photoplay attraction at Loew's on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

GETS INTO MOVIES FROM COLLEGE PLAYS

Ramsey Wallace, at Patricia Monday, Made Big Jump From University To Screen Fame.

It was a big jump from the University of South Carolina to screen fame, but Ramsey Wallace, who is appearing in Edith Robert's latest Universal success, "Luring Lips," at the Patricia Theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, made it in record time. He was leading man in the class play, and was ambitious. New York called and he answered.

He worked diligently and his success was awarded by being cast opposite popular New York stage favorites. He was leading man for Laurete Taylor, Mary Nash, Crystal Hearne, May Robson and many others. Then came the crowning glory for all actors, two years with David Belasco's productions. He spent a year in London in the stage success "Kick In."

Over a year ago he joined the film colony on the West coast and has appeared in a number of film stories for Universal and other producing companies.

Wallace has two great outdoor specialities. One is pictures and the other is his country home, where he spends most of his pocket money for riding horses. From the South he brings his love for horses and one of his greatest delights is exhibiting his fancy stock. He spends most of his time, when not at the studio, cantering away on the sunny slopes and sun-splashed California roads. He is a great admirer of the simple life combined with pictures, and finds contentment and rest in a cosy little ranch home, which nestles in the hills of the great Southwest.

BLIZZARD A TREAT FOR BEBE DANIELS

Star in "Ducks and Drakes," at Loew's on Monday, Had Most Thrilling Experience.

Nineteen before she had ever touched snow!

To people in the Eastern and Middle-Western States it would seem incomprehensible that any one could have lived to the age of 19 without becoming acquainted with the mantle of whiteness that makes winter a delight to children and often a trial to their elders. But such was really the case with Bebe Daniels, the young Realart star, whose latest comedy-drama, "Ducks and Drakes," the photo play, will open at the Loew Theater for three days, beginning Monday.

"You see," explained Miss Daniels one day at the studio, when someone asked her about her first experience with snow, "I was born in Dallas, Texas, and lived most of my life there and in Los Angeles. The only snow I had ever seen was that far away on the mountain tops. Therefore, you can imagine I was very glad when, on the last day of our 'location' trip at Big Bear Valley, 8,000 feet up in the mountains, a real blizzard began. We had gone up there to film scenes for 'Ducks and Drakes.'"

In addition to Bebe Daniels in "Ducks and Drakes," the program will include a hall room boys' comedy, Loew's British and Canadian News, vaudeville and Loew's concert orchestra, with Mr. Joseph Tirri leader.

"A Trip to Paradise," Bert Lytell's newest starring vehicle for Metro, is a screen adaptation of a Hungarian drama by Franz Molnar. The American version was written by Benjamin F. Glazer, who also adapted "The Master" for Arnold Daly's use on the stage and "The Name is Woman," in which Mary Nash appeared.

The locale of "A Trip to Paradise" has been changed from Hungary to Coney Island, where the leading character, Curley Flynn, played by Bert. Lytell, is the barker in a sideshow called "A Trip to Paradise." It is the story of a man's regeneration through the love of a woman and the influence of a dream.

Rev. C. W. Gordon, the noted author of "The Sky Pilot." The screen version of this thrilling drama of the Canadian West, will be shown at the Allen on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

IS GERMANY TO LAUNCH A MOVIE DRIVE?

The Actors' Equity Association, which is the trades union of our friends of the theater, sends us the following bulletin:

"The German Government, German steamship companies, German banks and Prince Henkel, wealthiest man in Germany, are said to have reorganized the German film trust to make a movie drive on the world.

"The German drive will be concentrated on America, where the first German picture, 'Passion,' has netted a profit of more than $2,000,000 in a few months to the American producer.

MORE LAUGHS ON MAJESTIC PROGRAM

"Wedding Bells," Comedy in Three Acts, To Be Presented By Majestic Players Next Week.

"Wedding Bells"—what memories, some sad and some joyful—for those who have had even a smiling acquaintance with them. There are many tales that could be unfolded with the title: "Wedding Bells," but perhaps the best that Londoners will hear or see will be the comedy in three acts, full of laughs and tender situations, by Salisbury Field, which will be produced by the Wm. A. Grew players at the Majestic Theater all next week, with matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

"Wedding Bells" is the story of an old love, chuck full of funny situations, and of course, it will be portrayed with the dash that is necessary to put it across and to make it live in the minds of those who see it by the Grew players.

Patrons of the Majestic will be pleased to learn that Mr. Robert Hyman will be in the leading role and that Miss Virginia Mann, who has just arrived from New York, where she has had wonderful success, will play the part of Rosalie. The Grew players are indeed fortunate in securing the services of Miss Mann, whose last engagement was with Belasco in "Seven Chances," and who has made a wonderful reputation all over the big cities of the United States in playing stock.

Mr. Hyman and Miss Mann will be supported by the full strength of the Grew players, and when that is said theatergoers need have no doubt of the quality of the performance they will witness and no hesitation in making reservations for "Wedding Bells" for the coming week.

Selling Price of Coal In London Is Much Less Than It Was For Winter 1920-21

Efficiency has been the watchword of the world, especially since the close of the great war, and to-day the women of London are planning their kitchens to secure the greatest possible service with the minimum of expense and labor. It is a recognized fact that the foundation of the genuine home is the kitchen, and naturally the kitchen centers around the cooking apparatus.

This may be a coal and wood range, a gas stove or an electric range of the latest approved type. But whatever it is, the housewife is now demanding that it be the best and most efficient that can be purchased.

A kitchen stove during the summer months must be a good cooker, but it should not throw out too much heat in the room. But as soon as the fall days begin to show some taste of the coming winter, the heating capacity of the cook stove is not to be despised. Heretofore the practice has been to install small heaters beside the gas range. This is still followed to a great extent where the kitchens are comparatively large, but many women have found it more satisfactory to install a combination coal and gas range instead.

This method provides one of the best arrangements for cooking and heating that can be found, it is stated. In the summer the gas range is used entirely, while the coal range is much in demand in the winter. But even during the cold months it is often desirable to boil a kettle in a hurry. Then the gas range is right at hand for instant use. The new combination stoves take up no more room than the ordinary coal range, and some require even less space than the average cook stove alone.

Merchants handling stoves of all kinds report a heavy demand this fall. In fact it is stated that the number being purchased in London this year is much greater than that of last year. Several reasons are advanced for this, but the principal one is that prices are down to normal or nearly so. All stoves are selling at least 25 per cent. lower now than they were twelve months ago. The general opinion is that there will be no further reduction. At least prices will remain as they are for another year, and it is predicted that there will not be more than a few dollars reduction, if any at all, next fall.

The purchasing public is recognizing these facts, and many who had postponed the purchase of new stoves are now buying. The choice of designs is also larger now than it was during the war years.

Citizens generally have reached the conclusion that to refrain from purchasing necessary articles of furniture, such as stoves, for longer will be of no advantage. In fact it is agreed that the only sane course to pursue is to buy everything that one needs.

In this connection it is pointed out that local dealers have given a preference to home manufacture. Wherever possible goods made in London are handled, and all stoves sold here are at least made in Canada. Thus, when one purchases a stove from a local store he is doing himself a "good turn." Besides getting the best article that money can buy he is assisting his fellow citizens to carry on.

It is stated that the dealers of London offer the best selection at the most reasonable prices that are to be found in any center with conditions similar to those in this city.

These fine fall days do not make one think of the furnace and the coalbin, but now is the very best time to lay in the winter's fuel supply. At least this is the general opinion of those who are in a position to know. The roads are in good condition now and the coal could be placed in the cellars with the least difficulty, whereas if the work is delayed longer many streets may be practically impassable to coal trucks.

No person who can possibly do so should fail to put in the entire supply of fuel at once. Delivery could be made without delay, while later it may be all but impossible to secure delivery at all. In this connection it is pointed out that the situation is not altogether dependent on the local demand. While the supply of coal in the city now is large it is stated by coal travelers that many other cities and towns have practically no supply on hand. Thus as soon as the weather becomes cold enough to

"Where those Good Stoves Come From"

HYDRO SHOP PRICES INCLUDE ALL INSTALLATION CHARGES.

When you buy from the HYDRO SHOP you have the protection and service of your own store through all the years ahead. Your Stove is placed wherever you want it, with all costs covered in the purchase price.

2,000 London housewives have cooked 6,000,000 family meals on their Electric Ranges in the last six years.

Hydro First!

With all the arguments for all makes and types of stoves before you, your preference is sure to rest with a HYDRO RANGE

Before you choose, weigh the facts for yourself. You will find the case clear cut:

The electric button vs. matches, the coal oil can and kindling, safety vs. the dread of fire or suffocation, quick heat under perfect control for any cooking operation vs. slow fires and pressure worries.

Absolute cleanliness vs. fumes, smoke, soot, dust and blackened cooking utensils.

And greater than all, no other stove compares to the HYDRO RANGE in economical and satisfactory operation.

Gas for cooking costs three times as much as electricity. If gas is costing you $5 a month, hydro will do the work better for less than $1.65; besides hydro is cheaper than even coal, wood or oil.

Come in and see an ELECTRIC RANGE at work.

If it is not convenient for you to come to the HYDRO SHOP, phone your order to 7000, or allow us to send a salesman to your home with complete descriptive literature. DO IT NOW.

ON MENTAL ANTENNA.

RUTH CAMERON

"I know one thing that has helped that man get as far as he has," said the Authorman, speaking of a man we had recently met, who had risen from a humble position to one of some prominence and success, and who bids fair to go farther. "He has intense sensitiveness to other people's moods and feelings.

"He was telling me a story while he was here and he said something which started a train of thought and my mind wandered for an instant and, by George, he knew it. "You must let me know if I'm boring you," he said. He wasn't, but it was wonderful to see how instantly he sensed that he had lost my attention. I can understand now what has made him go so far in the law with so poor a start. He is sensitive to other people's emotions."

"Now, J," he went on, speaking of another man who sometimes visits us, "is exactly the opposite. He would never know whether you were listening or not, or whether you were pleased or displeased, he is so wrapped up in what he is saying or thinking.

"And we are always wondering," I reminded him, "why when J. has such a good mind, he doesn't get along faster in the world."

"Exactly," he said. "I shouldn't be surprised if that had a great deal to do with it."

Nor should I.

Don't you often notice the presence or the absence in people of this peculiar sensitiveness to other people's states of mind?

And now that you think of it, do you not find that the complete lack of this sensitiveness is the reason why you cannot warm to certain perfectly good people?

I am thinking now of a very good, kind woman. She is the sort who is always giving gifts of one sort or another, and she would do a good deal for anyone she liked—but she is almost totally lacking in sensitiveness. She never knows when you are bored, when she is treading on your mental and your spiritual corns, when you have something you want to say. And, try as I will, I cannot like her as I know I should.

To all success which depends upon getting along with people, this quality of sensitiveness is a necessary factor. Can it be cultivated or is it inborn? Some people have it inborn and some cultivate it.

It is, of course, the opposite of self-absorption.

Perhaps when you are looking over your friends to see if they have it, you will be interested to inquire if that person who seems at times your best friend, and at other times your worst enemy, possesses it.

McGill Principal Asked to Address Annual W. I. Convention Here In November

Gen. Sir Arthur Currie, G. C. M. G., K. C. B., LL. D., principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University, will, it is hoped, be a speaker during the convention of the Western Ontario Women's Institutes, to be held in this city on November 1, 2 and 3.

Sir Arthur has been asked to attend the banquet, which is to take place on the evening of Tuesday, November 1, and for which the McCormick Manufacturing Company has kindly lent its spacious dining hall. Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture, will also be a guest and speaker at the banquet, and will address a subsequent session of the convention in the Masonic Temple, where it is hoped Sir Arthur will also speak.

Other interesting speakers who are looked for on the program are Dr. Helen McMurchie, of the Dominion Bureau of Child Welfare; Dr. McCullough, of the provincial health department, and Dr. Annie Backus, of Aylmer officer of the W. I. and a prominent medical authority and agriculturist.

Efficient Housekeeping
BY LAURA A. KIRKMAN.

HOW TO KNOW PURE LINEN.

Linen is much more expensive than cotton, and when linen prices are paid linen should be received by the purchaser—not just a good imitation of linen. Every housewife, as the buyer of household supplies for the family, should feel it her duty to learn to know pure linen when she sees it.

Linen was formerly the most important vegetable fiber, but of late years it has been largely replaced by cotton for household uses. The linen fiber is long, smooth and lustrous when spun into a thread. It is very strong and has not so many fuzzy ends as cotton has. Cloth made from it stays clean longer than cotton cloth because of its smoothness, and, of course, it is handsomer because of its lustre. Good linen yarn is round and twisted; if the yarn is flat and loosely twisted the material will not wear as well.

It is more difficult to choose a medium-priced piece of linen wisely than to choose a more expensive and finer grade because substitutions for various finishes and strong fiber may be made to lower the price while they give the same appearance. Linen—even the best—always contains a certain amount of sizing, for the yarn would become rough in weaving if the sizing were omitted. But too often sizing is used to conceal imperfections or to conceal the use of cotton or mercerized cotton fibers. When heavily starched and given a good finish so-called "linen" collars are often largely cotton; inexpensive "linen" handkerchiefs which are embroidered are apt to be cotton in disguise, also. Without training or study along these lines the inexperienced purchaser would better buy her linen only of reliable firms.

By "training and study" I mean experimentation with the following:

Tests to Tell Pure Linen.—The simplest is the oil test. Put a drop of olive oil on linen, press the cloth between 2 white blotting paper; if it is pure linen it will become quite transparent, whereas if it is cotton, or adulterated linen, the oil spot will hardly be transparent at all.

Another simple test. Examine the threads carefully. Cotton is made up of short fibers which project from the surface of the thread and become fuzzy when the thread is rubbed between the fingers; linen thread will not become fuzzy when rubbed in this way. Also, when broken, a cotton thread has a tufted end, while the linen fibers break more unevenly and leave a more pointed end. A linen thread is stronger than a cotton thread.

Water test: Apply a drop of water to the material (get a sample before purchasing the linen, if possible, to experiment on). On linen the water drop will spread and evaporate quickly, while on cotton this takes place more slowly.

Tearing test: Tear the sample across the material. Pure linen is hard to tear, gives out a sharp, shrill sound when torn, and leaves a smooth torn edge. Cotton is easy to tear, gives out a muffled sound, and leaves a curled edge.

Burning test: Apply a lighted match to ends of the threads; if pure linen the burned ends are sharp, smooth and even, but if cotton they will resemble a pain brush.

Glycerine drop test: Put a drop of glycerine on a sample; if pure linen it will form a transparent spot, but if cotton it will not be absorbed at all—will roll up as if it were mercury.

Styles
BY Lenore

For the little maid of 10 or 12 is this trimmiest of blue serge frocks with a bolero front and cherry red worsted stitching around the edges. The back is softly bloused. Red, too, are the ball bone buttons and the graceful ribbon girdle which encircles the waist, tieing under the bolero in front.

And for her party frock nothing can be smarter than a frock of peach tinted crepe de chine, with two tiers of pleating for the very brief skirt. What the frock lacks in sleeve is more than made up in the exquisite blending of color, for the ribbons which tie with such piquant butterfly bows on the shoulders are a lovely shade of faded old blue edged with silver. Both frocks are from French designs.

MODIFIED COW'S MILK.

If the baby cannot be breast fed and if modified cow's milk must be used, the Estraus Materna Graduate (which can be had of any druggist) furnishes about as practical a means of preparing such milk as has been devised. I also mail full directions about weaning to all requiring them who send stamped self-addressed envelope.

Questions and Answers.

Will you kindly tell me what is pneumothorax; also what is empyema?

Answer.—I am profoundly touched by your letter, of which only one line is here reproduced. Empyema is pus in the pleural cavity. Pneumothorax is air in the pleural cavity. By the article I am sending you you will understand these terms better. You ask: "Do you think my boy would have had any chance at all if I had been informed of his condition in the beginning?" I believe not. But do not keep meditating on whether your brave boy would have lived if something which should have been done had been done. Let the dead past bury its dead. Let me respectfully state that it is your duty now to think of your other son and to apply what would be helpful in your sad past experiences to the relief and betterment of your boy now living. I am mailing you information on tuberculosis which should be useful.

I have a persistent throat trouble. Our local doctors relieve me during acute attacks, but the trouble remains chronic, I suppose. During the past winter the trouble assumed an alarming stage—it seemed that death would "Nick the thread, an' choke the breath" out of one ill-prepared to go hence! The irritation is located at the point called "Adam's apple" (but I suppose in this case would be Mrs. Eve's apple, or Mrs. Adam's rather)—at least the apple that causd the great dilemma to all mankind.

Answer.—Information mailed to you. None of us are really ever prepared to go hence.

What can I do to make my two little girls' hair grow thick? They have patches of hard stuff like candle cap on their heads. It makes the head bald in some places and also makes them sore and itchy.

Answre.—This is "plica polonica," rare in this country. It is made up of great masses of eczematous and generally well inhabited material. Mailing you information how to clean the scalp of this. Better cut off the hair to start with. It will grow on again, and all the finer for the cutting.

Would cold cream containing (six substances mentioned) cause superfluous hair to grow?

Answer.—It would have that tendency. And as to complexions: I know a lady of 86 years whose complexion 99 girls in 100 to-day would envy. How does she keep it so? Just washes her face vigorously with plain cold water. And the rougher she towels it the more beautiful it seems to be. You young things have an idea you know it all; but your grandmothers could give you tips.

UNION S. A. MEETING.—Major Mary Booth meetings are to be united and held in the Patricia Theater on Sunday, October 23, at 3 o'clock. She will be accompanied by Staff-Capt. Eva Smith, and the chief secretary will be here directing the campaign.

LEGACY FOR HOSPITALS FROM LONDON TEACHER

Several Charities Will Shortly Benefit Under Will of Late Mrs Andrews.

The children's hospital fund will, in the course of a few day, be enriched by something over $700, a legacy under the will of the late Miss Daisy Andrews, of this city.

Miss Andrew's formerly a teacher on the Alexandra School staff, died here about two years ago, and the settling of her estate, which will be completed shortly, will provide this legacy for the hospital, and similar sums for the Protestant Orphans' Home and the Children's Aid Society.

The gift is deeply appreciated by the hospital committee, who were aware of the late Miss Andrew's warm interest in child welfare work, which her will has demonstrated in so generous a manner.

Earned $1,000 By Auto Knitting

Mrs Kate Corbett, of Ontario, is one of the women who finishes successfully what she undertakes As soon as she realized the possibilities of the Auto Knitter she started working regular business hours at it She now has two machines and four members of her family can use them Mrs Corbett writes:

"We bought our first knitter in February 1919, and in that time we have made $1,000.00 and some cents in work for the company together with home customers When we want a shopping trip to the city or a holiday there is the Auto Knitter, check The machine is a little wonder It never fails to pull us through all difficulties"

Has Earned $226 at Home With Her Auto Knitter

When both the husband and son of Mrs. Peter Schroeder, of Ontario, were laid off from work the family would have been in want if it had not been for the Auto Knitter Mrs. Schroeder writes:

"I'll tell you how we worked it. My 17 year old boy would sit and knit from morning till night He was so interested in the work We would fill the bobbins for him and close the toes and press the socks to send the company We made $18.00 a week, and how welcome it was, as that was all the earnings we had. From the time I booked it the money amounted to $226.80, without outside knitting for private families, of which we did a lot. The little machine kept us all winter."

Spare Time Work Brought Her $100

Mrs. M. J. Tobin, of Ontario, was left a widow, but has found that she can support herself with the aid of her Auto Knitter She says in part:

"I am only working part time, as I have my housework to do, and a garden to look after I have knit 717 pairs of socks since I got the machine—all accepted and paid for I have made $100. I am very glad that I can make the money as I need it I use it for clothes, fuel, rent and food. I feel glad to be able to sit in the house and make the money, without going out. It is the best work I ever took to do."

Made $125 Above Expenses

Mrs. J Brown an Ontario housewife, is one of the thousands of women who have found the answer to their extra money problems in Auto Knitting She writes.

"So far all my work has been for friends, who have supplied the wool I have earned somewhere in the neighborhood of $125 over and above expenses in the short time I have been operating the Auto Knitter.

Make $235 in 5 Month in Spare Hours

"I always did want to have a knitting machine," writes Mrs. Margaret Webster, of British Columbia, "but I never seriously considered buying one until my husband and I went to Western Canada on a farm." There expenses were heavy and Mrs. Webster desired some way to make extra money at home, so she ordered an Auto Knitter Part of her letter follows:

"I never kept exact account of how many pairs I knitted, but I was always highly pleased when my check came from Toronto for socks sent in I also built up quite a home trade besides knitting for the company Orders came in thick and fast for knitted goods Between the months of August and December I had cleared $235. Next year I did even better."

Cleared $135 by Spare Time Knitting Only

Thousands of people who have a hard time making ends meet on small incomes long for some way to make extra money. Hosts of them are finding the way in knitting socks at home on the Auto Knitter, just as Mrs N J. Turner, of Ontario, did She writes:

"There certainly is a good profit in knitting and it is a clean, easy job. We figure that we can have made $135.00 clear of all expenses since we began last winter We have kept out of debt which we could not have done without the Auto Knitter."

How These 6 Women Earned $1820 -in Their Spare Time —At Home

Thousands of Women, and Men Too, Are Now Turning Spare Hours into Welcome Dollars—Without "Going to Work"

HUNDREDS and hundreds of letters — written by women all the way from Nova Scotia to British Columbia—all tell this same story, in almost these same words:

"Before I found this way of making extra money right at home, I had to go without many of the things a woman wants. My husband's wages, while enough to meet our absolutely necessary expenses, were not enough to furnish the new clothes I really needed, or the new furnishings our home lacked. Besides we had none of the little extra pleasures that mean so much to a family. The cost of living had soared so high and our income hadn't increased with it.

"I kept wishing for some way to make extra money, without neglecting my home and children, and searched the magazines for advertisements of work that could be done at home.

"At last I read about your wonderful home-work plan, and learned that you would take and pay for all the wool socks I could turn out on your machine. I sent for the free literature and found it so convincing and reasonable that I at once decided to take up Auto Knitting and make the money I needed."

Then the letters go on and tell wonderfully interesting experiences of success in Auto Knitting—in making and selling socks and other articles knitted on the remarkable little home-money-making machine called the Auto Knitter.

A Paying Home Business

Most of these people use their machines to earn money in spare time only—but many have found Auto Knitting more profitable than the work they were doing, and now give their entire time to this pleasant and profitable home occupation.

Read the extracts from some of these letters on this page—letters from who women had longed for some way to increase their family incomes, but had never found it until they learned about the wonderful "guaranteed wage offer" that we make to everybody who decides to become an Auto Knitter worker.

And now this "guaranteed wage" these women receive is helping to furnish and pay for their homes, to buy their clothes, pay off their mortgages, educate their children, build up their bank accounts, and bring them many of the little comforts and luxuries they never before thought they could afford.

We Send Free Yarn and Guarantee Your Market

The best part about the Auto Knitter home work plan is that you never have any trouble in disposing of the socks you make on your Auto Knitter. Our "Wage Contract" guarantees you a steady market for every pair made according to our directions—and it guarantees the price you get too. Besides, since we pay the transportation charges on shipments of 10 dozen finished socks, you can always count on knowing just how much money you are going to get —and you can also count on getting your pay check promptly.

With the machine you receive a supply of wool yarn, and you also receive prepaid, the exact amount of yarn needed to replace that used in the socks you send to the company. Our workers go on for years—knitting and sending us shipments of socks, and receiving their pay checks and replacement yarn—without spending any of their profits for more material or shipping charges.

The Wage Contract we sign with you binds us to take all the standard quality socks you make and send us, but it leaves you entirely free. You can work for us as much or as little as you wish, or not at all. You are, of course, at liberty to dispose of the output of your Auto Knitter as you see fit, but for all the socks you do send us you get your pay check promptly. There are absolutely no strings tied to the Wage Agreement, it is straight, out-and-out pay at a fixed wage on a piece-work basis—a good wage for your services.

This is the home work plan that begins to operate for your benefit the moment you decide to take up Auto Knitting. Now a word about the Auto Knitter itself.

It is a remarkably efficient little machine—weighing about 20 pounds—which can be clamped to any ordinary table. It makes the entire sock—top—body—heel and toe—without removal from the machine, and it does it in a surprisingly short time. Experience in knitting and familiarity with machines are unnecessary. The Auto Knitter operates so quickly and easily, that it is really "better than a hundred hands."

Among the interesting and prominent W. C. T. U. workers who will attend the provincial convention to be held here this month are Mrs. McKee, of North Bay, for a number of years provincial president; Mrs. Statler, of Oshawa, provincial president of the missionary department, and Mrs. McAllister, of Exeter, editor of "White Ribbon Tidings." Mrs. McAllister will be a guest with Miss May Fowler, Queen's avenue, during the convention.

The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kiff was remembered in a pleasant fashion by a number of their friends, who visited them at their home, 60 Linwood street, Knollwood Park. The presentation of a handsome silver tea service by Mr. W. Bemford, accompanied by a charmingly-worded address read by Mrs. Alfred Fox, was a delightful surprise to the bride and groom of 25 years ago, and the former expressed their warm thanks in a brief speech. A lovely bouquet of flowers was also presented to Mrs. Kiff by Mrs. G. Poole. Games, music and a dainty supper passed the evening very happily.

Miss Watt, one of the general officers of the Leper Mission in Canada, will be a guest in the city next week with Mrs. Boyd on Waterloo street. While in London Miss Watt will address a series of meetings, beginning with that at the Y. M. C. A. residence on Wellington street on Monday afternoon. On Monday evening Miss Watt will speak at the First Methodist Epworth League; on Wednesday evening she will speak at the Talbot Street Baptist Church, and on Thursday afternoon at Cronyn Hall. On Friday afternoon Mrs. Marr is lending her home on Dufferin avenue for a drawing-room meeting at which those interested will have an opportunity to meet Miss Watt.

Rev. Thomas Roy and Mrs. Roy were warmly welcomed by the members of Talbot Street Baptist Church at a recent very happy gathering in the church parlors, where pastor and congregation met to open the fall season with a social evening. Mr. and Mrs. Roy received, assisted by the deacons of the church and their ladies. During the evening brief addresses were given by Mr. Roy, who acted as chairman; Mr. Lloyd Houlding, Mr. John Holman and Mr. J. W. Westervelt, sr. Solos by Miss Beryl Wainwright, Miss Dorothy Eveson and Mrs. Watt, and piano numbers by Miss Delia Peckham made up a pleasing program, which was followed by a pleasant social hour and a delicious supper.

Weddings

Dann-Irwin.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday, September 28, at St. Matthew's rectory, when Miss Jennie Irwin became the bride of Mr. Stephen Dann, both formerly of Bryanston. Rev. H. B. Ashby officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Dann will reside in London.

Nelson-Jamieson.

An interesting wedding took place at St. Andrew's Church, Westmount, Quebec, on Wednesday evening, when the marriage of Miss Edith A. Jamieson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jamieson, of Westmount, to Dr. W. E. Nelson, also of Westmount, was solemnized by Rev. W. J. Clarke. The bride, who was unattended, wore a midnight blue Canton crepe gown, embroidered in gray, hat of navy duvetyn and corsage of Ophelia roses. Immediately after the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Nelson left on a trip to New York and Atlantic City. The bride is a sister of Mrs. C. H. Ivey, jr., of this city, who, with Mr. Ivey, was a guest at the wedding.

Y. W. C. A. BIBLE CLASS.

The weekly Bible class, to be a feature of the Y. W. C. A. winter program, will, it is expected, develop into an organized class later in the season. For the present the class will meet on Friday afternoons at the King street Y. W. C. A., where from 4.30 to 5.30 o'clock Rev. John McNair will lead in the study of the life of Christ. The class is open to all women of the city who wish to spend an hour weekly in Scripture study.

CANVASS COMMITTEE.

A special meeting of the children's hospital canvass committee is taking place at the Y. W. C. A. on Monday afternoon, when teams will be appointed for the first round of canvassers. The work is being done in sections, only certain members of the community being approached at one time, and it is expected that the result of this quiet campaign will be a more satisfactory addition to the hospital funds. It is understood that the first of the canvass will start as soon after Monday's meeting as possible.

TEACHER RESIGNS.

The resignation of Dr. K. P. R. Neville, for the past eight years teacher of Class 27 at Dundas Center Church, was received with deep regret by the class members at their business meeting this week. It is not yet known who will succeed Mr. Neville, whose services the class have deeply appreciated. The president, Mrs. John Adams, impressed upon the members their responsibility in connection with the main school, urging them to be in readiness to undertake class work when desired. The resignations of Miss Mary MacNaughton and Mrs. William Wortman from the converships of the decorating and social committee were also regretfully accepted, Mrs. James Haskett and Mrs. Hueston taking over this work.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

The Askin Street Methodist Church was recently the scene of a very unique and interesting event, when the Junior Mission Circle held a birthday party, honoring the occasion of its first birthday. The lecture room was a mass of autumn flowers, charmingly arranged, and here the following program was presented: Orchestra, Misses Courtis, West, Yeo, Davidson, Pack and Roy; violin solo, Miss D. Davidson; piano solo, Miss Miriam Pearson; reading, Miss Peggy Taylor; drama, "Where the Need Is Greatest;" "Heralds" from Korea, given by Miss L. Meadows; from China, by Miss Frieda Dobbyn, and from Western Canada, by Miss D. Horwood, made up this clever part of the program, after which the members and their friends proceed to the supper room, where the table was centered with a huge basket of salvia and where an enjoyable half hour was spent.

SOWING THE CITY WITH SALT

When Abimelech, the son of Jerubbaal, in the ancient Scriptural story, wanted to be king, "He hired him vain and light persons which followed him." And he went and slew his brethren, the men of his father's house, lest any should dispute his claim. Only Jotham, his youngest brother, escaped—for Jotham "hid himself."

Then Jotham stood on a high hill and spoke a parable to the Shechemites, rebuking them and foretelling their ruin. He said: "The trees went forth to anoint a king over them and they said unto the Olive: 'Reign thou over us.' But the Olive refused and said: 'Should I leave my fatness and go and be promoted over the trees?' Then the trees offered the nomination to the Fig, but the Fig replied: 'Should I forsake my sweetness and my good fruit?' Likewise the Vine when it was interviewed, exclaimed: 'Should I lose my wine?' So the trees said unto the Bramble: 'Come!' and the Bramble came."

The ancient ruler symbolized by the Bramble held office for three years. During that time he seems to have sickened the people of their choice, just as Jotham prophesied he would. He was a "bramble" indeed. The Biblical phrase describing his political career has it that he "sowed the city with salt."

Abimelech's administration came to an end at the hands of a woman who cast a millstone at him and all but broke his skull, so that he cried out to his armor bearer: "Draw and kill me that men say not of me: 'A woman slew him!'"

Canada, at this moment, is full of "bramble" politicians. Their policy is a policy that would "sow the city with salt." They would ruin our industries. They would swamp us with foreign goods, while our workmen, more and more, would be out of employment. This would raise the discount on our dollar so that it would be ashamed to look a 100-cent dollar in the face. By means of "group" government they would make our people suspect and distrust each other. Sown with salt! What a slogan!

Using this ancient fable of the "millstone" in the hand of the woman to set forth modern circumstances in the City of New York, The New York Times represents it as the "vote." The Vote vs. the Bramble.

Our moral is that if the women of Canada vote as effectively as the woman of Thebez used the millstone we shall have no Bramble politicians to rule over us—to sow our cities with salt.

THE BLACK SHEEP

By Ruby M. Ayres

Norah herself had never dreamed of such a thing; she was very fond of him, but she would have been highly amused had any one suggested that red hair and a freckled face sometimes go with a romantic disposition.

She chatted away to him eagerly as they walked down the road together. "I didn't bring the car as I know you hate it; and I didn't bring Friday because I knew his paws would be muddy and he would be sure to jump up at you and spoil your coat."

Rodney laughed. "As if I should have minded!"

She laughed with him. "No; I know you wouldn't, but I didn't bring him; and now—oh, bother! it's raining again, and I haven't brought an umbrella."

"You can have mine—it's big enough for two." He slipped an arm through hers, holding the umbrella to shield them both. "And what other news is there?" he asked. "I seem to have been away for ever so long."

"Only four days! And, anyway, there isn't any news. Nothing exciting ever happens in a place like this, except—oh, yes—I almost forgot; I've had an adventure.

"An adventure?"

Norah laughed excitedly. "With George Laxton, the new man at Barton Manor! He nearly ran over me in his car—the day before yesterday, it was; and, of course, he stopped and apologized, and so I had to speak to him, and he's really rather nice."

Rodney's face changed a little. "So you've seen the black sheep?"

"Yes—and, after all, I don't believe half the silly stories people have been telling about him."

He glanced at her quickly. "Why not?"

"Oh—well," she hesitated. "I can't explain why exactly, but—well, I don't believe them." She looked up, a little flushed. "He knows Laurie Fenton—she was with him down here one day, and she saw me and told him she was at school with me."

"Did she?" There was a sort of growl in Rodney's voice.

"Of course, I know she didn't like me," Norah went on thoughtfully. "And, of course, I know she thought father wasn't a gentleman, and—and all that. I told him so."

"You told Laxton?"

"Yes, but I didn't tell him that Laurie's hair never used to be golden in those days," she added, with a chuckle. "I did think about it, but I changed my mind."

Rodney laughed: "Very noble of you, I call it. Most women would have jumped at the opportunity."

"Would they?" Norah looked grave. She was remembering the tone of Laxton's voice when he had spoken of Laurie, and for the first time she wondered a little. "She was the prettiest girl in the school, anyway," she added generously.

"When you were not there, of course," said Rodney stoutly.

She squeezed his arm. "Dear old thing."

His plain face flushed a little.

"So he's coming to see us—you and dad," Nora went on, blissfully unconscious of the emotion in Rodney's heart. "And I'm quite sure everybody will like him," she added confidently.

Rodney was not so sure. "There's never smoke without fire, you know," he reminded her sententiously. "And after the rotten stories we've heard about him. . . . Norah!"

She had torn her arm angrily from his. "It's most unfair to talk like that," she said hotly. "You condemn him when you've never seen him nor spoken to him."

"I was not condemning him; I merely reminded you of what we have heard."

A lot of scandal, which nobody in their senses would listen to!" she declared scornfully. "I don't care what people say—I like him."

"You've said that before," Rodney told her jealously.

"And I shall probably say it again lots of times," she answered defiantly; then suddenly she laughed. "Silly old thing! We're not going to quarrel, are we—just when I'm so glad you've come back?"

She changed the subject and Laxton was not mentioned again between them till the evening at dinner.

Mr. Ackroyd was there then and Norah was bubbling over with delight at having him home again. She adored her father, though to a disinterested eye there might not have been very much in him to adore. He was a tall, rather heavily built man, with hair as red as Rodney's, and a loud, rather swaggering voice.

But he had a heart of gold, and there were many people in the world besides his daughter and Rodney who had discovered it.

In manner he was rather rough, and he did not always speak quite grammatically or remember his "h's."

"I'm a self-made man," he would say to anybody who showed the least interest in him. "I've nobody but myself to thank for my money and I don't owe anybody a penny."

How he had made it, or when, nobody seemed to now; the fact that he had made it, and still possessed it, probably being enough for most people.

"And what has my little miss been doing with herself while I've been away?" he asked, looking at Norah.

He was leaning back in his chair contentedly; he was always glad to be home, though he seldom stayed there for more than a few days at a time.

"The same as usual!" she told him laughing. Looking after the house and driving the car. . . . Oh——" she broke off; she looked across at Rodney mischievously. "I've had an adventure, but Rodney doesn't approve of it, so I don't know if you will."

RESPECT AND OBEDIENCE PART OF HOME TRAINING

Parents Get What They Demand, Says President of Union Mothers' Club

With Mrs. John Rose, president of the Union Mothers' Club, as the speaker, the opening meeting of the Rectory Street Mothers' Club took place successfully this week, Mrs. Thomas Mason presiding. Mrs. Rose chose as her subject the duties of parents to children and of children to parents, and urged upon the mothers the importance of "non-spoiling." "It is a great temptation to do this with the first baby, who is, of course, the only baby in the world," Mrs. Rose said.

Self-control, repose of manner, obedience and respect for self and others are some of the essentials which mothers must early impart to their children, according to Mrs. Rose. The speaker pointed out the value of an attractive home, where the young folks will come and bring their friends. "Give each child a share in the household responsibility," the speaker suggested; "develop mother instinct in your girls, teach your children to respect and honor their family name, and, very important, teach them respect for age and for their parents. The boy who touches his cap to 'mother' when he meets her on the street is a long way on the road in this lesson."

The club members selected from the topics suggested by the union executive a most interesting program, for which speakers will be secured for the subsequent meetings on the fourth Thursday of the month.

WARDSVILLE W. I.

The Wardsville Women's Institute held an interesting meeting resently at the home of Miss Gardiner, where a program for the winter was mapped out. Mrs. P. O'Malley and Mrs. R. G. NO TIME TO REST.

"Oh, dear," exclaimed Dorothy, "I'm just about tired to death."

"I should think you would be," replied her mother. "You have been to four dances this week. Why don't you stay at home once in a while and rest?"

"I can't, mother. They are inventing new steps so fast that if I missed one party I would never be able to catch up with the rest of the crowd."

IRON OUTPUT WAS LOWER IN AUGUST

Total Shows Decline of 4,000 Tons Over July Figures.

RECORD IN STEEL.

Production In Canada Highest Since November Last.

The quantity of pig iron and ferro-alloys produced in Canada during the month of August was nearly 4,000 tons lower than that of the previous month. Pig iron made by the firms for their own use dropped about 10 per cent., or 5,828 tons below last month's figures. The output of basic iron was considerably higher, being 46,939 tons, as compared with 40,720 tons in July. Foundry iron production decreased from 10,339 tons in July, to 1,882 tons in August. This decrease was entirely in that which was made for the use of the producing firms. Malleable iron also declined during this month, none of the firms reporting any of this product as being made for their own use, while 1,234 tons was made for sale. There was but a slight falling off in the output of electric iron castings; last month's total of 105 tons being lessened by 4 tons. Pig iron made for sale during August amounted to 3,207 tons, which was an increase of 1,898 tons over that of July.

The reports for this month show that there were 2,547 tons of spiegeleisen produced. There is included in this amount 94 tons which was sold, this being the first sale of spiegeleisen reported since February. The several grades of ferro-silicon totaled 967 tons for August, as compared with 659 tons during the previous month, a gain of 308 tons.

The Algoma Steel Corporation reported only two blast furnaces in operation at the end of the month, one having been blown out during the period. This loss leaves a total of five furnaces operating and 15 idle at the end of August. The blast furnaces active were as follows: Two at Sault Ste. Marie, one at Hamilton and two at Sydney.

This month's production of steel ingots and castings, totaling 72,023 long tons, is the highest since November, 1920, being nearly 10,000 tons omre than the amount produced in June, the previous record month of this year. The output of steel ingots showed an increase of 25 per cent., or 17,698 tons over than of last month. Basic open-hearth steel accounted for the increase, this month's total being 70,088 tons, as compared with 52,111 tons in July, all of which was made by producing firms for further use in their own plants. There was a falling off in the output of electric steel ingots, 246 tons being produced in August, as against 523 tons in July.

The production of direct steel castings during August amounted to 1,684 tons, which was an increase of 347 tons over July's total. Basic open-hearth steel castings continued the advance made in July by rising to a higher level, 770 tons being produced, as compared with 630 tons in July and 389 tons in June. The quantity produced for sale was 483 tons this month and 445 tons last month, while that made for further use totaled 287 tons in August and only 185 tons in July. Electric steel castings increased 204 tons, the total for the month being 812 tons, and for last month 608 tonus.

Converter steel castings produced during the month amounted to 102 tons, or three tons more than last month's total. The small percentage, 6 per cent. (six tons) was made for further use by the producing firms, while the balance, 96 tons, was made for sale

The record production of steel during the current month raises the average monthly production from 50,000 tons to nearly 53,000 tons. The average for the first four months of the present year was 45,000 tons, while that for May, June, July and August is 25 per cent. higher, or 60,000 tons. It will be noted by examining Table 4 (b) that the greatest production of steel during the first eight months of 1920 occurred in August.

DOMINION WOOL MARKET.

As a result of general buying activity in Europe, Britain, United States and Canada, there has been a tendency on the part of sellers to advance wool prices. Buyers, on the other hand, although apparently willing to deal on the old level of values have been slow to meet the new prices asked and sales have been slow, except on offerings which have remained at former quotations. The evident shortage of this year's cotton crop and the already appreciable advance in prices for British tops and yarns are creating a stronger undertone to wool prices and it would appear only a matter of time until buyers will have to meet the prices asked by sellers.

DESTROYER ASHORE.

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—The coastguard cutter Acushnet was ordered out from Woods Hole to-day to the assistance of a naval vessel, described in radiograms as the naval tug Bagaduce, reported ashore on the east end of Fishers' Island, off New London, Conn. The Bagaduce, last reported at New London, is listed in United States naval records as a destroyer.

this burden including not only the heavy federal taxes, but also the ever-increasing burden of local taxation. Another factor which it was stated would do much toward improving the situation would be a stabilizing of the raw material market, and it also being said that a readjustment of freight rates to a more normal basis would be of material assistance.

Real prosperity will return, the answers to the questions declared, when farm, ranch and mineral products can be sold again for at least the cost of their production; when railroads can be operated on freight rates low enough to permit shippers to sell their merchandise at a profit; when labor, generally speaking, again will do a maximum day's work in full co-operation with employers on a readjusted wage; when readjusted retail commodity prices permit wage earners to live self-respectively on such readjusted wages, and when the post-war unemployed class finds and settles down into permanent usefulness.

Seven reasons for optimism were mentioned by merchants, banks and manufacturers in their answers, as follows: Money is much easier during the last two years, the reserve ratio is steadily increasing, labor difficulties in some states seem to be decreasing and the workers seem to be readily co-operating in readjustment, the probable favorable outcome of the coming disarmament conference, the hopeful possibility of lower freight rates, the nation-wide economy policy of the Government, corporations and the general public, the possibility that farmers and stockmen may be able to sell a good part of the products on good terms this autumn and that they will liquidate their debts.

UPSETS THE LAW ON CHILD LABOR

United States Federal Court Declares It Unconstitutional.

NO FEDERAL CONTROL.

Judge Holds Labor Is Regulated By Different States.

At the United States federal court at Greenboro, North Carolina, on August 22, Judge James E. Boyd declared unconstitutional the law which has been in force since April 25, 1919, imposing a federal tax of 10 per cent. on the net profits derived from the operations of firms employing child labor. The provisions of this act were designated to take the place of an earlier law, passed in September, 1916, which had also been declared by the same judge to conflict with state sovereign rights, this opinion being confirmed later by the Supreme Court of the United States. In his latest decision the judge has declared that regulation of labor is one of the powers retained by the several states and not delegated to the Federal Government. State child labor laws, he held, may provide a penalty, though not a tax, such as was imposed under the federal act. A strong protest against this judgment was issued next day by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, with a demand that the decision be at once appealed, and if it should be sustained that Congress devise some other method of preventing child labor. Members of the executive council claimed that this law had virtually abolished child labor in mills in the Southern States. The 10 per cent. tax was imposed on the profits of (a) any mine or quarry in the United States in which children under 16 have been employed during the taxable year; or (b) any mill, cannery, workshop, factory or manufacturing establishment in which children under 14 years of age have been employed or permitted to work, or children between the ages of 14 and 16 years have worked more than eight hours a day, or after the hour of 7 p. m., or before 6 a. m. The Vivian Spinning Mills, of Cherrydale, N. C., asked for an order of court restraining the collector of inland revenue from enforcing the act at their plant, with the result outlined.

ORDER FOR JAPAN FILLED IN LONDON

The Corston Company Working On Special Pipe Order.

WILL MAKE HUGE SKYLIGHT.

Largest Construction of That Kind Reaching Completion.

The largest metal skylight ever constructed in the City of London is now under way in the shop of the Corston Company, successors to Foster & Corston, metal contractors, 74 Fullarton street. This skylight, which is 26 feet square, will be installed on the roof of the new Collegiate School, the Corston Company having awarded the contract for all the metal work on that building.

Known as Foster & Corston this firm, though in business but a short time, soon forged to a prominent place in the front ranks of London's sheet metal workers and contractors. Quite recently W. M. Corston, who had been previously associated with the firm as a partner, took over the whole business himself and it is now known as The Corston Company.

Not only locally has the firm acquired an enviable reputation, but specimens of the work it turns out have journeyed to Japan and have given such satisfaction there that repeat orders have resulted. The Japanese orders consist of the necessary hoppers and pipes used in connection with a coal pulverizing plant. The Japanese firm which is installing the plant uses a very fine coal under its boilers and the material sent out by the London firm is used in pulverizing the coal to the necessary fineness. This is the second installation of the kind the Corston Company has made for Japanese concerns, which speaks well for the quality of the firm's output.

Another line of metal working in which the concern has specialized with much success is the manufacture of automobile bodies. On the occasion of a recent order the bare chassis was left in the shop and the firm was instructed to build a body for it along certain general lines. The result was one of the snappiest automobiles turned out of any factory and in consequence of this success other orders of a similar character have followed suit. The firm pays particular attention to special orders or unusual executions for work of any kind in the line of sheet metal.

GERMANY CAN UNDERBID WORLD IN EQUIPMENT

LONDON, Sept. 30.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Commenting on the severity of the German competition for orders for railway equipment, Modern Transport states that one German firm's tender was 40 per cent. under the lowest British tender for carriages for the Indian State railway. The tender in connection with one of the Burman railways has been given to a British firm, although the quotations exceeded the lowest German figures by 10 per cent.

STOP THE FIRE

BEFORE IT BECOMES A DISASTER. DON'T WAIT FOR THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.
Ten minutes' handicap may turn an incipient blaze into an uncontrollable conflagration. Seventy-five per cent. of all fires are extinguished by chemicals, and more by hand chemical extinguishers than by any other means. With a "PYRENE" Extinguisher you can throw a gaseous, fire-killing mist fifty feet. It will seek out fires between walls and floors and places otherwise inaccessible. It has many times the extinguishing power of water and will instantly snuff out fires that water has no effect upon, such as those in oil, gasoline, kerosene, paints, etc. Every home, office and factory should be equipped with "PYRENE" Fire Extinguishers. WABASH FLYER KILLS THREE AT COURTLAND

AGED MAN KILLED BY UNKNOWN MOTORIST

Samuel Whindell, 78 Years O'd, Victim of Collision With Automobile.

CAR STRIKES BUGGY; HIS INJURIES FATAL.

Conscious After Accident, But Died Few Hours Later.

Samuel Whindell, a farmer, aged 78 years, living on the second concession of London Township, died this morning at 3 o'clock of injuries received when the democrat in which he was riding was struck by an automobile on Oxford street, just east of Summit avenue, about 7 o'clock last night. The name of the driver of the car could not be learned.

Mr. Whindell had brought some friends, who had been visiting at his home, into the city. He brought them as far as the street car line at the corner of Wharncliffe road and Oxford street, and was on his way back home when the accident occurred.

The deceased was thrown from the buggy by the collision, but did not lose consciousness and was not believed to be badly hurt. He was taken to his home in the automobile and Dr. S. J. F. Bean, of Wharncliffe road, was summoned. Mr. Whindell was unconscious when the doctor arrived and did not regain consciousness. All efforts to save his life proved of no avail.

Dr. Bean was unable to say what caused death. There were but a few minor bruises on the injured man's body. He believed that death was due to internal injuries probably to both the body and the head.

Dr. Cameron Wilson was notified of the fatality and has ordered an inquest. The body will be viewed at Griffith's undertaking parlors to-night.

ENLARGE ASKIN STREET CHURCH

Committee To Report On Sunday School Accommodation.

GYMNASIUM IS PROPOSED.

Plan To Pay Greater Attention To Girls.

Within a week a special committee of the Askin Street Methodist Brotherhood will bring in a report and recommendations on the subject of religious education in that church. It is believed that the committee will recommend additional accommodation in view of the fact that classes are now being taught in the main auditorium of the church and in the basement. The plans submitted will probably go into the subject of recreational rooms for both boys and girls, including a gymnasium and C. S. E. T. headquarters.

The committee, it is stated, has been seriously concerned over the fact that, while lads of the church are being looked after, girls are rather neglected. That condition may be splendidly remedied and a precedent established in connection with Sunday school work.

At the brotherhood meeting on Sunday morning W. J. Hofferd, of the Normal School, spoke on the life and work of John Wycliffe, who first gave an English Bible to Englishmen, and was one of the forerunners of the great reformation. His example and teaching, Mr. Hofferd stated, spread to Bohemia and inspired John Huss.

That Czecho-Slovakia, one of the world's newest nations, is Protestant, may be ascribed to John Wycliffe, the speaker stated.

All Records Smashed As Hundreds Throng Doors Of Western U. To-Day

Well On To 1,000 Undergraduates Register For 1921-22 Session On Opening Day.

INSTITUTION'S GROWTH IS WITHOUT PRECEDENT.

Record Attendance Will Clearly Demonstrate Immediate Need of New University Buildings.

Western University opened its 1921-22 session to-day with a registration well on towards the thousand mark, breaking all previous records of the institution. The year begins with the medical school housed in its new half-million-dollar plant, complete at every point; an institution of public health now available for use entirely as a scholastic and research institution; and the arts school is crowded to capacity with the ambitious young men and women of Western Ontario and London.

"A record enrollment," Dean Fox, of the arts school, said to-day in reply to a question. "We are doing 24 hours work a day making provision for new students."

Dr. Neville, the registrar of the university, was asked if he would give the totals of enrollment. "If," came the sinister reply over the wire, "you are on the wire one minute from now I'll give you a black eye." He discounted that threat by stating that his department was literally swamped with new students and that final figures will not be available before the morrow. It is believed, however, that the final figures will show at least a 20 per cent. gain over 1920, when 534 students were enrolled in all departments. There is reason to support the prediction that final reports will show more than 750 enrolled in all departments, resident and extra-mural.

TEMPORARY QUARTERS.

Extra room provided at the arts school by making one room serve in the place of two, the use of the old medical school on York and Waterloo streets, and other temporary measures will prove inadequate to the 1921 enrollment, it is believed. Other temporary quarters, it is understood, will have to be arranged for within the week.

These facts will have tremendous weight in the launching of the university building campaign next spring. The need for larger permanent accommodation will be so urgent and so apparent, officials state, that the coming canvass for extension funds may be made on proved records of the university's growth and potential influence instead of dealing in hope for development.

Western University, with an enrollment drawing close on to the 1,000 mark, is unique amongst North American universities, it is pointed out. Other institutions, more fortunate in the matter of grants and endowments, have existed for decades sometime before attracting a student body commensurate with the endowment of the school or the magnificence of its buildings. Western University, however, has the student body already and further growth is said to be limited only to its ability to accommodate undergraduate recruits.

SINN FEIN PARTY TO LEAVE MONDAY

De Valera Will Not Be One of Delegates To London.

DUBLIN, Oct. 3.—The Sinn Fein delegation to the conference in London beginning October 11, which will explore the possibilities of the Irish situation with a view to a definite settlement, will leave Dublin next Monday, October 10, it was announced here to-day.

Eamonn De Valera will not be one of the Sinn Fein delegates and will not go to London in connection with the conference, according to Desmond Fitzgerald, the Sinn Fein minister of propaganda, who made the announcement regarding the delegation's departure.

ULSTER NOT INVITED.

BELFAST, Oct. 3.—Reports that Ulster had been invited to send delegates to the London conference next on the Irish question, which have been in circulation here, were officially denied to-day.

REV. DEAN TUCKER AGAIN IN CHAIR

Re-Elected President of London Anglican Church Association.

DEANERY MEETS OCTOBER 18

Will Discuss Needs of Church and Way To Meet Them.

The Rev. Dean N. L. Tucker was re-elected president of the London Anglican Clerical Association at the monthly meeting held in Cronyn Hall to-day. Other officers for the coming year are: Vice-president, Rev. Quintin Warner; secretary-treasurer, Rev. H. E. Bray; program committee, Dean Tucker, Rev. Mr. Bray, and Professor Anderson, D. D., of Huron College.

It was decided to hold a meeting of the rural deanery for the discussion of fall work in the city and district on October 18. A round-table conference will take place at this time on the needs of the church and the most effective way in which the clergy may minister to these needs. Delegates from the district as well as city are expected to attend.

Discussion centered for the most part around the budget of the church and Sunday schools of the city, and the whole finances of the church, including that of the forward movement, were brought under review.

A letter was ordered to be sent to the Ven. Archdeacon Richardson expressing regret at his most serious illness and the hope that he will once more be returned to complete health.

COUNCIL WILL KILL NEW GAS CONTRACT

City Solicitor Says Two-Year Term Legally Impossible Under Companies Act.

ALDERMEN OPPOSE NATURAL GAS SCHEME.

Ald. Cameron Wilson Asserts Natural Gas Offer Entirely Too High Under Existing Conditions.

The recommendation of the special gas committee that a contract be made for the purchase of the natural gas from the Saul wells at 85 cents per thousand, at the consumers' meters, this to continue in force for two years, will not be accepted by the Council to-night. At least, this is the general opinion as gathered from the aldermen who discussed the proposition to-day. It is pointed out that the term of two years is too long, and others insist that the price is unreasonable.

Chairman W. A. Wilson, of the special gas committee, will not support the committee's recommendation with reference to the length of the contract. He would be willing to accept the price proposed, but the contract should not extend beyond one year, he insisted.

Chairman Wilson also stated that, according to the advice of City Solicitor Meredith, the city cannot make a contract for longer than one year under these conditions.

PRICE TOO HIGH

Ald. Cameron Wilson contends that the price asked is altogether too high. In this connection he points out that it will be some months yet before the natural gas will be available, there is considerable piping to be done, and as the $1.25 rate for artificial gas expires in May, next, the city would only have about three months' benefit from the natural gas. It is generally accepted that the previous rate of 90 cents for the artificial product will be made effective next May again. Thus the consumer would be paying practically as much for the natural product as for the manufactured article.

Ald. Drake is also absolutely opposed to making a contract for the purchase of gas at 85 cents a thousand. This rate is not to be considered for one moment, he intimated. He contends that this is the highest price at which the natural product is being paid. There is no reason for London paying such a rate. The advantage to the consumers is not worth anything, he asserts.

LITTLE APPROVES

Mayor Little, however, believes the reduction in the price of gas to the public of London is well worth considering. If the city can obtain even a few cents reduction in the price of gas by signing a two-year contract the Council should do so, he states.

Some of the aldermen fear that the city might become further involved with the City Gas Company if the proposed agreement is ratified. This company will lay the pipe line from the city limits to the Horton street gas works if the natural gas is used, and it is pointed out that the company would not be inclined to agree to this when the supply of the natural product is so uncertain, unless it could see some further advantage ahead.

At any rate, the whole question will be thoroughly discussed to-night at the Council meeting, and it is expected that the proposition will be referred back to the special gas committee at least.

MEMBERSHIP COSTLY IN LEAGUE OF NATIONS

China and Venezuela Among the States Which Are Dissatisfied.

GENEVA, Oct. 3.—Election of nonpermanent members of the council of the League of Nations, amendments to the covenant and the allocation of the expenses of the league were on the agenda of the league assembly when it began this morning what was expected to be the final week of its present session. A contest was expected on the allocation of expenses, and it was feared this might prolong the session a day or two, and possibly until the end of the week. The delegates hoped, however, that by holding two long sessions daily they could finish business on Wednesday.

Some small states find that membership in the league is costing them large sums, China and Venezuela being particularly dissatisfied.

LLOYD GEORGE SPENDS A BUSY WEEK-END

Discusses Problem of Unemployment With Bankers and Others.

GAIRLOCH, Scotland, Oct. 3.—Prime Minister Lloyd George passed a busy week-end at his temporary home here, spending many hours discussing with bankers and industrial leaders the possible means of dealing with the problem of unemployment, such as relief work, doles, Government loans and credits to foster a revival of trade. An official statement issued this morning regarding these conferences said: "The discussions were extremely helpful, but no definite decision were possible."

PRIZE FOR CANCER CURE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—A prize of $100,000 for the discovery of a medicinal remedy to relieve cancer has been offered by an anonymous donor through the Cancer Research Society, of Brooklyn, it was annnounced to-day.

Astrakhan Is A City Of Misery And Death

People Flee From Volga District, Where Food and Medicine Are Depleted.

FIRST SNOW OF WINTER WHITENING THE ROOFS.

Twelve Keepers Found In Lighthouse Starved To Death With Shoes Eaten.

ASTRAKHAN, Russia, Oct. 3.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Hopeless groups of famine refugees crowd the wharves of Astrakhan, which in happier times were filled with the tides of commerce flowing to and from Russia and the Transcaspian plains. Bitter rains of autumn are falling almost continually, and the first snow of the Russian winter has whitened the roofs of the buildings of the city, but the throngs of emigrants have no shelter while they wait, perhaps vainly, day and night, for transportation to the Kuban and Don regions, where they can obtain food.

Astrakhan is a city of misery and suffering and death. Astrakhan once was a city filled with industries and commerce, but it is now but a shadow of its former self. Its cavalr and fishing industries are estimated to have dwindled nearly 70 per cent. Where once 2,000 ships daily sailed up and down "Mother Volga," there are now barely 100 on that stream.

IN FLIGHT FROM DEATH.

Death seems to dog the footsteps of the refugees. They are fleeing from starvation. Meat or bread costs 3,000 rubles or about five cents per pound, but there are few who have money enough to pay this price day after day.

When one asks the people the cause of the present terrible condition of affairs, the inevitable answer is "there has been no rain." The only ray in the gloom is the fact that the potato crop was slightly larger than usual and for the moment this crop is helping in the solution of the dire problem of hunger.

NO MEDICINE SUPPLY.

Medicines cannot be found here. In the entire Province of Astrakhan, which measures 90,000 square miles, there are only 500 grains of quinine, it is declared.

Along the west coast of Caspian stands the Island of Shiloh, where one of the grimmest tragedies of the famine was recently enacted. Mariners noticed the lighthouse on the island was darkened and landed to investigate. They found in the lighthouse the 12 keepers all dead from starvation. They had eaten their shoes and had boiled fur skins to maintain life, and one by one had succumbed, the light going out when the last of the 12 sank in death.

MADE CHAPLAIN FOR HOSPITALS

Rev. Salter Appointed At Methodist Association.

WORK WITH REV. CURRIE.

Many New Faces At Monthly Meeting To-Day.

Rev. Samuel Salton was appointed by the Methodist Ministerial Association to act as city chaplain for the Methodist Church in the three local hospitals, Victoria, St. Joseph's and the Ontario, at the regular monthly meeting of the association held in Wesley Hall to-day. He will act in conjunction with Rev. John Currie, the Presbyterian appointee to a similar position.

An unusual situation brought out at the reception of new clergy was that the "old-timers" were in the minority. Only four of the local Methodist pulpits are to-day being filled by the same ministers as a year ago and six of the churches have new ministers this year. In other years only one or two new faces have appeared in the association each fall.

An inspiring address on the "Importance of Boys' Work in the Community," was given by L. M. Houlding, of the local Y. M. C. A., who pointed out that the greatest need of to-day was leadership for the hundreds of boys who are organized or who wish to ally themselves with one of the Tuxis or trail rangers groups in the city. The rising generation, said the speaker, must provide the leaders for to-morrow, and it was necessary, therefore, to see that the boys got the best training possible.

SELF-DETERMINATION LEAGUE IS HOPEFUL

Talk of Disbanding Is Heard at Halifax Branch.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 3.—W. A. Hallisey, president of the Halifax branch of the Self-Determination for Ireland League of Canada, suggested at a meeting last night that the organization might disband in that its purposes were apparently about to be accomplished. The suggestion followed expressions of confidence by several speakers that a satisfactory settlement of the Irish question would be found at the proposed conference this month of the British Government and members of the Dail Eireann."

It was decided, however, that the organization should continue until "self-determination became a fact," and Rev. Father Thomas O'Sullivan further suggested that it should continue following a settlement, as an intellectual and educational factor.

THORNDALE WOMAN AND SISTER AND LAD OF THREE DIE WHEN CAR IS HIT AT LEVEL CROSSING

Will LaForge, of Thorndale, Leaps To Safety and Escapes With Slight Injury, While His Wife and Sister-In-Law, Miss Rohrer, Are Instantly Killed Little Guy Farrier Succumbs To Injuries — Accident Occurs On Main Street of Village of Courtland.

MISS ROHRER, DRIVING THE CAR, SAW THE FLYER, BUT TOO LATE.

DEAD:

Mrs. William LaForge, Thorndale.
Miss Violet Rohrer, Middleton Township.
Guy Farrier, aged three years, Middleton Township.

INJURED:

William LaForge, Thorndale, leg crushed.

COURTLAND, Oct. 3.—(Special to The Free Press).—Two women were instantly killed, a three-year-old boy was so badly hurt that he died later and a fourth member of a party of four had a narrow escape from death when Wabash train No. 3 crashed into an automobile at the Main street crossing here about 11.30 o'clock this morning. The dead are: Mrs. William LaForge, of Thorndale; Miss Violet Rohrer, Middleton Township, and Guy Farrier, also of Middleton Township. William LaForge escaped death by jumping to safety a matter of seconds before the crash.

Mr. and Mrs. LaForge, who live in the vicinity of Thorndale, where Mr. LaForge recently conducted a sawmill ,had been on a visit to the parents of Guy Farrier. They were on their way to the station at Courtland to catch a train when the accident occurred. Miss Rohrer, a sister of Mrs. LaForge and of Mrs. Farrier, was driving the party to the station. Of the four, Mr. LaForge was the only one apparently who saw the train and he jumped just before the accident and escaped with but a minor injury to his foot. The train struck the auto exactly in the center.

LAD LIVES TWO HOURS.

Guy Farrier, a nephew of the dead woman, had his skull fractured, but lived for nearly two hours. He was taken on the death train to Tillsonburg, where he died in the hospital about 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The automobile was totally wrecked and the impact was of such force that the cow-catcher on the train was broken into matchwood. Both of the women were dead when Dr. Atkinson, of Courtland, arrived at the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. William LaForge are well-known in the vicinity of Thorndale, and Miss Rohrer, who was 19 years of age, was a favorite in the vicinity of her home.

TRAIN DOES NOT STOP.

Wabash train No. 3, westbound, is one of the fastest trains on the Canadian division of the Wabash and does not make a stop at Courtland. The crossing at which the accident occurred is a level one and has been the scene of other fatalities.

Dr. Bennett, coroner, of Tillsonburg, was notified at once of the accident and ordered an inquest. The preliminary hearing was held at Courtland this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Wilbert Tait, of Thorndale, is a relative of Mrs. LaForge.

PARIS COURT SETS PRICE OF STOLEN KISS

PARIS, Oct. 3.—The pecuniary value of a kiss is agitating the Paris courts. The excitement follows the complaint of Madame Vera Ostenski that she was forcibly kissed by Ebenezer Whitfield, a wealthy Englishman, when with him in a railway compartment.

Madame Vera demanded $5,000. Whitfield refused to pay, declaring that he would rather go to jail. The court compromised by sentencing him to a month in jail or $10 fine.

BRIDGE THAMES AT RICHMOND ST

Provide New Entrance Into South London.

OPEN NEW DISTRICT.

Much Needed Development Proposed By City.

That portion of South London bounded by the Thames and Wharncliffe road may soon be given another direct highway from the center of the city. Plans are now drawn by the city department concerned for the extension of Richmond street southward across the Thames and thence by Belgrave street to Tecumseh avenue. A bridge, near the site of the old traction bridge is included in this street extension plan, which will open up a new residential district and parallel Ridout street, which at present alone offers direct communication with the central business section of the South London district stated above.

The matter will come up for early settlement, owing to the drawing of plans for the new branch high school, which will be located in the Tecumseh school grounds. It is understood that plans are being held up pending a settlement of the proposed extension of Richmond street southward.

AGREEMENT NEEDED.

Committees of the Board of Education interested in the new school site will have to come to some agreement with the City Council works department at an early date. The public school committee, which meets to-day, will probably take the initiative in the matter.

Ald. F. E. Harley states that the proposed development is very much needed, for, as the matter now stands, South London beyond the Thames is practically isolated from the rest of the city. Extension of Richmond street however, would give two lines of direct communication, permit the inauguration of a new car service, which will be needed on the completion of the first of the city's branch high schools.

CLERGY START ON CHURCH UNION

Implement Presbyterian Assembly Decision Without Loss of Time.

COMMITTEES TO MEET.

No time is being lost by the local clergy in carrying out the program of organic church union as adopted by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church a few months ago. At the first fall meeting of the local Presbyterian Association a committee was appointed to co-operate with a similar committee of the Methodist Association in consummating union by whatever means are possible. Election of officers and an agreement of union Thanksgiving services also featured to-day's meeting.

A meeting will be called within a short time of the Methodist ministerial executive and the Presbyterian committee, which consists of Rev. W. R. McIntosh and Rev. F. W. K. Harris. Amalgamation of the two ministerial associations in the city and the holding of joint meetings will be one of the most important questions to come under discussion. Co-operation will also be aimed at through union meetings, rallies and all efforts which have before been conducted on a purely denominational basis.

Rev. G. M. Young, of Chalmers Church, was elected president of the association for the coming year, and Rev. Mr. Harris, superintendent of religious education at St. Andrew's, will be the secretary.

Union Thanksgiving services for the Presbyterian churches of the city will be held on November 7 in First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. William Beattie, D.D., pastor of the church, will be the speaker at this service.

It was brought to the attention of the meeting that the home mission committee had requested the local association to support the minister who was doing chaplain work at the Ontario Hospital. A recommendation was forwarded back to the committee asking that the salary of Rev. John Currie, the present chaplain, be paid out of the sustentation fund of the committee.

The new ministers, which include the Rev. Mr. Beattie and the Rev. Mr. Harris, were introduced to their brother clergy at the meeting which was held at the home of the Rev. Mr. Young.

CHINA HAS THE LARGEST ARMY

French Are Next and Britain Is Third In List.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 3.—Active armies of the 14 most important nations of the world to-day include approximately 6,000,000 men, according to figures obtained here and regarded as reasonably correct. With the inclusion of land armaments in the agenda of the forthcoming conference on limitation of armaments, these are the figures with which it is expected the assembled commissioners will have to deal.

China stands first among the nations in this summary of soldiers actually under arms about September 1, last, being credited with 1,370,000 active troops. France is far ahead among nations not distressed by civil strife in the number of men with the colors. The French army strength is placed at 1,034,000 men, the British Empire standing next with 740,500, according to this estimate.

Other nations are given as follows: Russia, 538,000; Poland, 450,000; Italy, 350,000; Japan, 300,000; Greece, 255,000; Spain, 253,000; Switzerland, 150,000; Turkey, 152,000; Czecho-Slovakia, 150,000; United States, 149,000; Germany, 100,000.

JAPAN TO URGE NEED OF OUTLET

Problem Will Be Submitted To Washington Parley.

TOKIO, Oct. 3.—Japan's problem of finding an outlet for her increasing population will be frankly submitted at the conference on the limitation of armaments and Far Eastern questions at Washington, it is declared by the Asahi Shimbun, of this city. The newspaper says the Government will emphasize the urgency of extending economic opportunities for the welfare of the increasing millions of Japanese.

For the purpose of increasing facilities for communication with the United States during the conference, it is reported that Japan, by agreement, will reconnect the interrupted Guam-Yap cable, and that experts will be dispatched to make adjustments.

WINNIPEG STORE BURNS.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 3.—The old St. Nicholas Hotel property on Main street, which, since the days of prohibition has been converted into a dry goods store and billiard hall, was destroyed by fire early on Sunday. The damage will probably amount to $40,000.

ONE WEEK'S NOTICE OF ALL MARRIAGES, REFORM SOUGHT BY CHURCH OF ENGLAND

Social Service Council Recommends Immediate Action and Seeks Co-Operation of Other Bodies.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Public notice one week in advance of all marriages—such is one of the reforms that the executive of the Social Service Council of the Church of England wants to effect in the Canadian marriage laws.

In its report to the annual meeting of the council, held here this morning, the executive made this recommendation: "During the winter the executive gave careful attention to the need of safeguarding marriage and of preventing hasty and ill-advised unions.

"The executive decided it was desirable to seek legislation making it legally necessary for those seeking marriage to give public notice thereof for at least one week in advance of the ceremony. The co-operation of other religious bodies is to be sought in this matter. The executive does not pronounce on the proposal that those marrying should be required to present health certificates. It remarks that this is a difficult and important matter and asks the council itself to deal with it."

The recommendations of the executive will probably be taken up at the Anglican General Synod, which opens in Hamilton this week.

PAST SUMMER TOO HOT FOR DAYLIGHT SAVING; PEOPLE IN BRITAIN MAY QUIT IT

Effort To Make Plan Permanent Will Probably Be Defeated As Result of Present Campaign.

LONDON, Oct. 3. — Great Britain was to-day again working under Greenwich time, summer time having ended this morning. It is possible that the daylight saving plan will not be resumed in future, it is declared by newspapers, as it has encountered considerable opposition in agricultural quarters and from theatrical, educational and railway interests. These are expected to endeavor to defeat the bill for making daylight saving a permanent feature each summer. The bill was introduced in Parliament during the last session by the home secretary and forces opposing it will be marshalled when it comes up for second reading after Parliament reassembles.

The London Times to-day printed a long article written by Dr. Benjamin Moore, professor of bio-chemistry at Oxford, who argues that from the health point of view daylight saving in summer is not a benefit, but an evil, especially during the season of intense sunshine and high temperatures such as was experienced in the British Ises this year.

He admits, however, that during a cold, dull summer, daylight saving time might be beneficial. Dr. Moore contends that the plan of advancing the clocks one hour during the summer months is particularly disadvantageous to school children, agricultural interests and some industrial workers.

CURFEW LAW GOOD THING; PARENTS ARE AUTHORITIES TO CARRY OUT DISCIPLINE

Times Have Changed Since Grandpa Was a Boy—Police Have Enough Troubles Now.

"The curfew law would be a good thing whether operated on the streets or in the homes, but I can see much difficulty in its proper enforcement if it is left to the police," said an official of the department in discussing the possibility of "ringing" the boys and girls of tender age off the streets of London at a certain hour each evening, unless they are accompanied by elders or can give a reasonable excuse for being away from their fireside.

"The home is the real place for curfew bell legislation to go into effect," said another official. "I can remember when I was a boy I stood a good chance of getting warmed if the old gentleman found me away from the hay at 9 o'clock. But times have changed. Nowadays at 9 o'clock things have hardly commenced to warm up. Take a dance night at Springbank Park—the greater part of the patrons do not arrive before 9 o'clock and then they look forward to a long evening."

HARD TO GUESS AGE.

"Well, I shouldn't want to be the policeman to stop girls on the street now and ask them why they are not home. I think I'd get in awful Dutch with these styles. You can't tell 'em nowadays, 16 or 60 they all look the same, and it 'ud be a pretty how'd'ye do if I held up what I thought was a 16-year-old flapper, wearing one of these see-more skirts, a thin blouse and all the etceteras, only to find that she was a grandma, responding with the peppermint to an emergency call for her second youngest married daughters' youngest child. No thanks, not for mine. We've got enough trouble now. If they get any more laws for us cops to enforce I'll chuck the whole job and go back drivin' a truck. The curfew is all right, if they think they need it, but the parents are the ones to enforce it. Just let pa warm Johnny and tan Lizzie when they stay out late and it is surprising the regularity with which they'll hit for home in future."

RAMBLING AROUND WITH OLD DOC. PEP

October 3 (Lord's Day).—Up and to put on my new green silk-mixed hose, the first hose I ever had in my life with silk in them, also my new black silk tie with small stripes of red and blue and yellow, the finest tie I have had for a long time. Also my new black shoes of leather (£1-16) with this new fashion of high heels for men. Making me at least one-half inch taller than I am ordinarily, but do throw one so far forward out of balance that my speed of walking is increased to a notable extent. Then to breakfast on mushrooms which friends send to us after making them sick, but the best mushrooms we have had this year. Being cooked with little brown sausages and after eating them do feel as pious as I ever did on a Sunday morning.

After which to pedal my velocipede out to Lambeth on the U. F. O., their new highway. It being finished, bating one bridge which is nearly so, to the village limits. A fine, glorious day, and on returning stand filling my pipe at this new bridge and hold converse with a gentleman yeoman on the ravages of the corn borer. He holding, a thing that I have not heard of before, that these borers do live in golden rod and other plants with pith the same as in corn, and the thing calls for high measures to rid ourselves of this pest. But whether the yeomen government will do aught about it, beyond appointing a commission of hardware men to look into it, St. George alone knows.

And coming to the topp of this two-mile hill dismount from my two-wheeled steed and to look over our city. Yonder the spire of the teaching schools rises; beyond, the towers of the cathedral and other notable buildings. A kindly, pleasant city, seen from afar, and seems to beckon travelers. And everywhere about the city and country beyond may be seen the camp fires of autumn. Scarlet and gold, a little here and there, these fires begin to kindle. And in another week our whole countryside will be glorious with these fires of nature. Burning up the leafage of one year, but a sure promise of spring to come.

Which reminds me of a good tale I hear which is that a Scotchman in Edinborough goes to a fish market with his collie dog and they both look over the fish pretty inquisitive. But presently a lobster seizes on the tail of this collie, who runs off yowling the highest in the world straight for his home. And at this departure the fish man cries: "Mon, mon! Whustle for your dog!" And the would-be customer smiles placidly, responding: "Hoots-toots, mon, whustle for your lobster!"

Out and to hear Rev. Dr. Beattie preach to the First Presbyterian Church. This doctor being the head of chaplains to the warr, is decorated with the order of St. Michael and St. George, and, being released from service only lately, is almost the latest veteran to be demobilized. His sermon is a challenge to his former comrades that they make good with the things they learned in the warr. The same as saying that the hearts of veterans be made into refined gold by trial, but they now need the stamp of the King of Kings for to pass current in these peace days. A fine, sober discourse and pretty eloquent. Methinks this chaplain-general will do much for all of us.

Out to my best friend's for supper this Lord's Day, where we have pumpkin pie, amongst other things, and to remember that I be now in such good estate that pumpkin pie is merely an incident in my life and not an anniversary. And while we be eating my friend turns to his young-man son, saying: "Where did you have the motor coach last night?" "Oh," says the young man, "just driving around with a few of the fellows." "Well, then," says my friend, glowering at him, "tell them not to leave their hairpins in the car!" Which is mighty strange.

On Saturday night went with nephew for to see the "Maple Leafs," the finest players I ever saw almost. Their talking of rest camps and sergeant-majors with bad breaths and canteen faces nearly chokes we ordinary ex-soldiers with laughing. Although, St. George witness, I never saw an officer with a canteen face, and have seen sergeant-majors face the Germans almost as brave as I did. And a peculiar thing is how they dress men up as women, but know it not until I send a little note to one telling, as a grateful man should, how much I admire her acting.

And at this show see the new fashion in hair for women and without seeing would not have believed that they go any worse, but they do. For now their hair is built up behind so that the shows will have to put out signs: "Ladies, please keep your hats on so people may see!" For this new hair, when the hat if off, do rise like the horror of bad consciences, and they also have horns of hair sticking out from the napes of their necks the most ridiculous I ever saw. Methinks if my wife takes to this new fashion I shall cut her hair off as she sleeps. But little good it will do me, what with wigs and additions of all sorts!

The news is how curfew is to sound about the city for to keep adolescents indoors so we adult, wicked people may wander about like roaring lions. But nephew, who reads this with the greatest disgust possible, suggests: "Why not sound curfew for these destroyers of innocence and such like? Why shut up the youthful pure and allow the others to walk abroad free?" And in this question he rivals the sphinx. For we have never yet solved why the innocent suffer with and for the guilty; that one bad apple will rot a barrel of good ones. Heaven help us!

An advertisement says that the shady side of spiritual meetings is to be discussed in the highest way possible. Mayhap they intended no pun, but that is just what spiritualism deals with entirely—shades.

FINED $300 FOR SELLING LIQUOR

Magistrate Gives Decision In the Case of Mrs. Ann Freeman.

SAYS CHARGE PROVEN.

Consideration For Sex Prevents Imposition of Maximum Fine.

Mrs. Ann Freeman was fined $300 and costs in police court this morning for selling liquor in violation of the O. T. A. Mrs. Freeman's case was one of those worked up by the provincial inspectors when operating here some weeks ago. She was tried last week and Magistrate Bartlett gave judgment in her case this morning.

In his judgment the magistrate said that there was evidence that the woman had been selling liquor right along. Just before the date of the charge against her she received a large consignment and another came to her later. This could not be for her personal use. At the same time, as she was a woman, he would not fine her the full amount to which she was liable under the law, but would make it $300 and costs or three months in jail.

Charles Cox, charged with having liquor in a place other than his private dwelling, was remanded until Thursday.

R. JORDON HIGH GUN AT SPRINGWOOD SHOOT

The Springwood Gun Club held a shoot on Saturday afternoon, which was the first of the weekly events it will conduct this fall.

Richard Jordan and A. S. Blackburn turned in very good scores, as the high wind was playing pranks with the targets.

Three gunning enthusiastis from Woodstock motored to the city to enjoy the afternoon's sport with the local shooters. Following are the results of the 50-target event:

HENSHAW WON Y. M. C. A. ANNUAL BICYCLE RACE

Did Eight Miles in Twenty-Seven Minutes and Thirteen Seconds.

C. Henshaw won the annual bicycle race of the Y. M. C. A., held on Saturday afternoon, doing the eight miles in the exceptionally good time of 27 minutes and 13 seconds. The best time, however, was made by O. Westland, who was scratched a few seconds on the start, and did the course in six seconds less than Henshaw. Other prize winners were: N. Tucker, E. Chapman, G. Davies, H. Christie, J. Wilkey and C. Alford.

Mayor Little acted as starter for the race, which began and ended at Pottersburg, while Ald. G. Wenige acted as referee. The judges were: F. Radway, W. B. Ballingall, Dr. McArthur, A. T. Tanner and Capt. Tom Best. Road conditions were good, the course extending four miles east from Pottersburg and return.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE CONSCIENCE MATTER

Inspector C. B. Edwards is opposed to the "Blue Sunday" propaganda as such and to-day gave his reasons. "To my way of thinking," he stated, "every day is God's day. A thing that is wrong on Sunday is wrong on Wednesday, and anything right on Thursday is right on Sunday."

According to Mr. Edwards' philosophy, Sunday observance is a matter of conscience so far as the individual is concerned. Certain basic rights of people to a day of rest and recreation, rights that were recognized by the Babylonian Justinian before Abraham was born, do not admit of argument on the theory of the greatest good to the greatest number.

But "Blue Sunday" advocates, so-called, deal largely with the individual. And that angle of the question, Mr. Edwards applied his "everyday God's day" autum.

WAITED IN RAIN FOR MAN TO COME BACK

Policeman Took Drunk to Church to Collect His Fine.

There is one member of the police force at whose expense his fellows are enjoying a good laugh just now. It all arose over a drunk arrested on Sunday morning. The officer was sent with the prisoner to go to St. Peter's Cathedray, where, he said, he could obtain the amount of his fine. When the pair got to the cathedral the prisoner entered a door, asking the officer to wait just a minute. He waited. Rain commenced to fall and finally fell in torrents, but the prisoner did not return. Nor has he been seen since. The P. C. returned to the station, wet and angry. But it will be a sorry day for that prisoner the next time he runs foul of the law.

AD. GOT LARGEST DAY'S BUSINESS

Cairncross & Lawrence Break Record By Using The Free Press.

TELLS PEOPLE OF BARGAINS.

Selling Powers of City's Biggest Paper Is Appreciated.

The Free Press this morning received a letter from Cairncross & Lawrence conveying appreciation of the wonder pulling power of Free Press advertising. The letter following will speak for itself:

October 3, 1921.

The London Free Press:

Gentlemen—I want to express my keen appreciation of the wonderful results derived from my advertisement, which appeared in your columns exclusively on Friday last. We enjoyed the biggest day's business in our history on Saturday, not except days before Christmas and other big sales events. It was the direct result of printer's ink coupled with drug bargains of unusual quality. Our entire list of drugs and drug sundries are greatly reduced in price, and Londoners evidently appreciate our efforts to reduce the high cost of living. So many of our customers were disappointed in being unable to obtain some of the items advertised through our stocks being completely exhausted that we have decided to repeat this sale in the columns of your valuable publication at an early date, and trust we shall have sufficient stocks on hand to meet the wonder results your paper pulls.

I could not overlook paying tribute to the results achieved on Saturday by The Free Press and can assure you my announcement will appear regularly in your columns. Yours very truly,

DIED IN CALGARY.—The death occurred on Friday, September 23, at his home in Calgary, of Charles Edgar Wilson, a former resident of Westminster Township. Prior to his departure for Calgary eight years ago the deceased had lived on the Summer's side road, southwest of this city, and was an active member of Brick Street Methodist Church. Six months ago he was taken seriously ill with appendicitis and peritonitis, from which he recovered sufficiently to be about the house for a few weeks, but was compelled in July to return to bed by reason of hardening of the arteries, which caused his death. The late Mr. Wilson was in his 67th year and is survived by his widow and nine children, six of whom live in Alberta, Norval, at Vulcan; John, at Parkland; Mrs. Joseph Vannop and Howard, at Scollard; Mrs. (Rev.) Hunt, of Holden, and Sadie at home; also Harry, of Salmon Arm, B. C.; Mrs. Ezra Hillis, of Winnipeg, and Mrs. James H. Kilbourne, of Kilworth, Ont.

BALLOONS AND BINDER TWINE COULD BE USED IN THE PLAN PROPOSED FOR CITY HALL

Building Inspector Does Not Agree With Party Who Would Introduce Novelty Building.

The plan which has been proposed to build the new city hall without foundation is not approved by Building Inspector Piper on general principle. Referring to the scheme to erect a central shaft of concrete and wire each floor to that, Mr. Piper questioned whether it would not be wise to wait until binder twine is somewhat lower in price, as the building costs could probably be reduced by the substitution of twine for the wire. Another suggestion that was made to Mr. Piper by an architect, who had some idea of the proposition as made to President Bridge, of the Chamber of Commerce, is that the expenses might be further reduced by using two captive balloons as supports for the new hall. Mayor Little is inclined to believe this latter suggestion might be well worth considering.

In this connection one wag of the city hall proposed that the Council could then be absolutely assured of privacy at any time it was desired to discuss street railway or other matters without the presence of the scribes. It would be an easy matter to take on a little gas and then the Council chamber, surrounded by the entire city hall, could be carried away to the clouds.

NOT NECESSARY HERE

However, seriously speaking, Mr. Piper points out that there is no necessity for adopting the cantilever principle in building construction in London. In several large American cities, where it is impossible to carry the outside walls down to a solid foundation because of the proximity of other buildings, the central column support is used to some extent.

But the foundation costs would be more if this plan is used than where the regular foundation is constructed, according to Mr. Piper. In any event, the outside walls must have solid support.

Several of the aldermen suggested that the round tower on the new hall should have a conical-shaped roof. In fact, it is proposed that the regular silo roof pattern might be utilized to good advantage. If this were followed it might be possible to secure some assistance from the U. F. O. Government at Toronto towards the erection of the hall. In return the top floor immediately under the silo roof could, no doubt, be rented to the various U. F. O. clubs in this district for their meetings.

ADVERTISING POSSIBILITIES

As yet no one has thought of the advertising possibilities of a silo roof on the top of London's new city hall. With a roof of sufficient pitch it should be an easy matter to derive an income from the Dominion's advertisers of sufficient volume to eliminate the necessity for collecting taxes. This roof could be made to revolve and thus add to its value as an advertising medium.

Mayor Little is still anxiously waiting for these or any other plans that will provide London with a city hall at no expense to the citizens to be carried to a successful conclusion.

NOT A NEIGHBOR, ONLY HIS SISTER

Defi Issued On Street Brings On Hostilities.

WOMAN PAYS $1 FOR FUN.

Magistrate Refuses Brother's Request For Fine.

Mrs. Charles McDonald was very emphatic in police court this morning when she pleaded guilty to using insulting language to Charles Shell.

"Guilty, your honor," she said, while her eyes flashed and her jaw set itself.

Meanwhile Shell and his diminutive spouse watched the proceedings from the side lines.

"Let us hear all about this," said the magistrate.

"Well, your honor," said Shell, "the wife and I were walking down the street where Mrs. McDonald lives when she called out names at us."

"Why did she do that?"

"I dunno."

"Did you ever have any trouble with her?"

"No, sir."

"Was she a neighbor of your's?"

"No, sir, she's only my sister."

At this the court gasped, for the spectacle of a brother pressing a charge against a sister is not usual. It's not done in the best families.

WHAT SHE SAID.

Seeking for enlightenment the magistrate turned to the defendant, who, while Shell was telling his story, had stood rigidly regarding him with a baleful eye.

"Did you call names to this man and woman?" asked his honor.

"No, sir," was the reply. "I only said, 'If you're a gentleman and she's a lady comes on across the street here an' I can lick you. I did it before an' I can do it again.' "

"Do you want your sister fined?" the magistrate asked Shell.

"Yes, I do," said the complainant, while his wife nodded vigorously.

"Well, I won't fine her," said the magistrate. "I'll let her go on payment of costs, and, Mr. Moule, make those costs as light as you can."

The long and the short of it was that Mrs. McDonald paid $1 for the privilege of issuing her family defi, but as she left the court room the gleam in her eye was abundant evidence to the spectators that she thought the entertainment cheap at the price.

SECRETARY OF MISSION TO LEPERS A VISITOR

Says Germ of Dread Disease Very Much Like That of Tuberculosis.

Miss Lila Watt, secretary of the Canadian branch of the Mission to Lepers, is a visitor in the city this week, arriving this morning, to speak on the work of the mission to the local society and to a number of the city churches.

The Mission to Lepers, an international and nondenominational body, finances 92 stations in India, China, Japan, Siam, South America and other countries. The mission does not itself send out missionaries to these stations, but provide funds for the carrying on of the work, which is both medical and evangelistic. In India stations are supported by the mission and supervised by resident missionaries of the Church of England, the Presbyterian and the Baptist churches of Canada.

"The germ of leprosy is very like that of tuberculosis," Miss Watt explained, "and I think has very little to do with climatic conditions. Bad sanitation and insufficient food will make it develop to a great extent, and in the countries where it is so prevalent proper care has never been taken to segregate the patients. In Canada when, as occasionally happens, a case breaks out, the patient who, nine times out of 10, is Chinese, is at once shipped back to his own country, with all proper precautions.

"The disease is still called incurable," Miss Watt stated, "but wonderful strides have been made of late in the development of medical treatment and we cannot say what the future will hold."

Miss Watt addressed a meeting of the London branch of the mission this afternoon and will this evening speak to the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church.

DISCOVERED TRUE REMEDY FOR SYSTEMATIC CATARRH.

A bad case of Catarrh is not an easy thing to treat, and a remedy that makes good deserves great credit. Catarrhozone certainly fixed up Chas. H. Webb, who writes from Woodstock: "For a number of years I was troubled with Systematic Catarrh. Nothing helped me very much. I used Catarrhozone Inhaler and got relief. To build up my system I used Ferrozone. This combination can't be beaten. They made me well." Your case may also be bad, but Catarrhozone will do for you what it did for Mr. Webb. Two months' treatment $1.00; small size 50 cents. All dealers or The Catarrhozone Co., Montreal.—Advt.

ASK LEGISLATURE FOR TAX DIVISION

Petitions Being Circulated In the Roman Catholic Churches.

CLAIM SYSTEM UNJUST.

Taxes of Public Corporations Go To Public Schools.

Petitions are being circulated throughout the Roman Catholic churches of the city for the signature of all Catholic school supporters and taxpayers, which will be presented before the Ontario Legislature at its next sitting.

Father Brisson, secretary of the R. C. schools in the city, stated this morning that the majority of large corporations in Ontario are paying their taxes to the public schools, even though a great number of the shareholders are Catholics, and in this way the Catholic schools are being deprived of many thousands of dollars annually.

Taking the Toronto street railway for an example, he stated that it was owned by the citizens of Toronto, among whom were probably as many Catholics as there were Protestants, and in this case the taxes were given over entirely to the public schools.

"We are educating children of Protestant fathers and Catholic mothers, and even though the fathers are willing to be assessed as Catholic school supporters, the law will not allow their taxes to go where they rightfully should," said Father Brisson.

"The Protestants of Quebec are in the minority, just the same as the Catholics are in Ontario, and they have their share of taxes set aside for their schools, and I can't understand why we should not have the same rights," he added.

ACACIA LODGE, NO 580, CONSECRATED SATURDAY

Deputy Grand Master R. W. Drope Conducts Ceremony—Past Masters Install Officers.

Acacia Lodge, 580, A., F. & A. M., was consecrated on Saturday evening by the customary ceremonies in the Masonic Temple. The Grand Lodge met for the purpose of the consecration and at 6 o'clock the Grand Lodge officers were tendered a luncheon in the temple, R. W. Brother Drope, deputy grand master, being the guest of honor.

At 7.30 Grand Lodge met in the red room and the members of Acacia Lodge in the blue room. The consecration ceremonies were then carried out. There was a very large attendance and the ceremonies were the most interesting of the kind held in London for 40 years. R. W. Brother W. C. Moore, of Belmont, was in charge of the work, assisted by D. W. Brother C. H. Ziegler and Grand Lodge officers.

The officials of Acacia Lodge were then installed by the London past masters' installing board, under W. Brother Nelson Walsh. They are as follows:

W. Bro. Whit Lancaster, W. M.; E. Fremlin, S. W.; J. H. C. Woodward, J. W.; J. F. Tennant, chaplain; V. W. Bro. C. A. Whitwam, treasurer; J. W. Plewes, secretary; J. H. Langford, S. D.; F. G. Staples, J. D.; E. Chamberlain, D. of C.; G. Overton, organist; J. W. Wild, Sen. Std.; W. H. Biggs, Jun. Std.; J. W. Wallace, tyler.

Acacia Lodge, of Hamilton, sent a large deputation, under their master, W. Bro. Charles Brown, and Rev. Bro. C. E. Kelly, D. D. G. M. of Hamilton district. A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation of a silver-mounted gavel to the London lodge by its namesake lodge from Hamilton.

MOTORISTS IN COURT. — A number of motorists were in court to-day charged with various violations of the Motor Vehicles Act. The case against A. D. McLean was dismissed. He was charged with exceeding the speed limit on Ridout street from Duchess to Elmwood avenue. He denied the charge and said his car was not there at the time. John Smith, charged with allowing his car to stand on Carling street without the required three lighted lights, pleaded that when he left the car it was all right. Someone deliberately turned his lights off, Mr. Smith said. "If I wanted to park a car without lights on it, your honor," he said, "I'd take it to some dark street. I wouldn't park it in front of the police station." This seemed logical, so Mr. Smith was allowed to go.

SEEK LAW FOR AGE OF CONSENT

Matter To Be Taken Up At Toronto This Week.

PLACE THE RESPONSIBILITY.

'Girl May Marry Without Parents' Consent At 18.

Legislation covering illegitimacy and the legal age of consent will probably be sought by the Social Service Council of Ontario through its child welfare committee, which meets in Toronto on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. District Secretary T. D. McCullough will attend the sessions and will report back to the meeting of the local council which intends to deal with the child welfare phase of the social survey next Thursday.

Under the existing statutes of the province a child of 14 may still secure a marriage license and if 18 years of age may marry without the parents' consent. It is believed by welfare workers that both of these age limits should be raised if the standard of marriages is to be elevated. Other provinces have amended their laws in this regard and the Ontario council intends to take the initiative in securing corrective legislation.

BILL FRAMED NOW.

Another important measure that is sought is a law that will place the responsibility for illegitimacy on the parents and remove the stigma of such birth from the child. It is understood a bill along the desired lines has already been drawn up and that the discussion will center on its administration when it comes into force.

Infant mortality, which is being extensively studied in this city, will also be brought under review with an effort to cut down the high rates of recent years. London offers an example of what pre-natal clinics and proper education will do for the reducing of the rate as there has been a 10 per cent. decrease locally in the number of infant deaths since the institution of these reforms.

Other matters that will be dealt with include: Co-operation of child welfare, family desertion, educational propaganda, blind babies, detention home in Toronto, juvenile courts and baby clinics.

LONDON LADS WHO ROAM STREET AT NIGHT EXPLAIN

Two London lads set out to roam about the town at night, although each laddie had a home, he looked for other sights. They wandered and they wandered then until long after one, when a bold copper hove in sight and said: "See what you've done. You've no right my pretty birds, to wander out alone, and pound the sidewalks after one, when you'd ought to be at home. Your names and addresses quickly give or else I trouble you to come with me unto the cells and then what can you do?"

"Go soak your head," one bird replied. "Go to it," said the other. "Though we should wander far and wide you are no older brother. You have no right to hold us up and then proceed to quiz, where do we live? What are our names? That is none of your biz."

Then wrathy grew the man in blue and quick he grabbed the pair and rushed them on to Carling street and when he got them there he planked them in a blooming cage to wait the morning's light, when they could tell the big idea in gumshoein' round at night.

When morning came the cadi sat upon the police court rostrum and asked the two young men to tell, or money it would cost 'em. "It's written here that you're both vags, now what have you to say? Speak quick an' true or else you two a healthy fine will pay!"

"We ain't no vags," one youth replied. The other said: "Darn it, I've lived in London all my life. My name is Arthur Arnett. And I'm a moulder man by trade and had a decent place. But I wouldn't tell that cop me name for I didn't like his face.

"My name is Craig," the other said, "and I'm from London, too! I've never been known to steal or beg, but have lots of work to do. An' if we want to take the air though after 1 o'clock, is that any reason for luggin' us here an' puttin' us in this dock?"

"Now, what about it, chief," then asked the cadi seated high. "They disobeyed the law," said the chief, "and so they're here, that's why. For when a copper 'costs a man in daytime or at night, and asks to know what is his clan, he's got to answer right, for if he don't the law provides arrest to loose his speech. That's why these boys are here to-day; they didn't want to peech."

"You both can go!" the cadi said, "but, now, remember, mind; when next a copper speaks to you, don't crack it on or grind, but tell him what he wants to know and tell him without fail. Then you won't get your coco bumped nor spend the night in jail."

THOUGHT WAR WAS ON WHEN STOVE PIPE FELL

Shell-Shocked Veteran Inquires "Where Did That One Go To."

Just because the evenings are getting somewhat cooler and from hearing rumors going around to the effect that the citizens of London were getting out their stove pipes and other incidentals pertaining to the erection of a kitchen stove, a resident of Briscoe street thought he might as well keep up with the rest of the world and decided to put up his stove Saturday afternoon and banish that chilly feeling which everyone has been affected with for the last couple of weeks.

Everything went as merry as the proverbial wedding bell as far as getting the stove erected and the pipes adjusted and even to the lighting of the fire, but, when the family was called to order for their daily bread and everything was in readiness for them to commence eating, the pipes, apparently not yet 'wakened up from their long sleep during the warm summer months, fell down with a crash on to the heads of the family below.

After the smoke and dust had somewhat cleared away a returned soldier, who happens to be a boarder at the place of the accident, and who still suffers at times from the effects of shell-shock, cried out in a faltering voice: "W-w-where did that one go to?"

Latest reports say that he is on the road to a rapid recovery.

TWO WAYS OF VIEWING AWARD

New York Herald Discusses the G. T. R. Award.

HARD ON SHAREHOLDERS.

These Encouraged To Believe Appeal May Succeed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—After a lengthy review of the committee attending the award of the Grand Trunk arbitration board, The New York Herald to-day sums up the situation by stating that accordingly as one views with displeasure or with approval the policy of fixing on innocent stockholders the penalty for the mistake of the board of directors in undertaking the ruinous Grand Trunk Pacific project, which the Government could have restrained but did not, in the same degree the majority award of the arbitration board will be either loathsome or justifiable.

The British investors view the award as confiscatory. They might have swallowed the pill with less complaining if it had been one of their Canadian cousins, instead of the United States member of the board of arbitration who dissented.

The Herald notes that ex-President Taft, in his minority report, objected to the shares being adjusted entirely valueless and says that on the strength of this the shareholders are encouraged in the belief that an appeal to the Privy Council may be successful in some degree.

"But the whole matter," states The Herald, is one in which no hard or fast legal principles can be followed. The majority report says that if the road had been let alone to drift for itself the result would have been bankruptcy and the disappearance of the equity behind the shares.

HOPE OF WEST LODGE HOLDS ANNIVERSARY

Largely-Attended and Pleasing Session Here on Saturday Afternoon.

Under the auspices of the Hope of the West Lodge of Good Templars an important meeting of the members of that lodge took place on Saturday afternoon in the schoolroom of First Congregational Church, Dundas street. Commencing at 4 o'clock the special meeting of the lodge was called to order by the chief templar, Fred. W. Robins, P. G. S., J. W., when there was a splendid attendance of members and friends. A pleasing feature was the presence of a large number of Indian brethren from the two Indian Good Templar lodges in Middlesex, namely, Bear Creek Lodge, of Middlemiss, and Chippewa Lodge, situated on the Muncey reserve. The occasion of the gathering was the 14th anniversary of the institution of Hope of the West Lodge, and in honor of the occasion the members were favored also with an official visit from the executive of the Grand Lodge of Canada, headed by A. E. Robinson, of Earlscourt, the grand chief templar.

Control of the meeting was handed over to the distinguished visiting officer and numerous interesting addresses were delivered. Among those called upon to speak were: Robt. Morison, grand counsellor; Mrs. Jos. H. Day, grand vice-templar; Mrs. S. A. Morrish, grand superintendent of juvenile work; John T. Dyson, grand secretary; Joseph H. Day, grand treasurer, and Tom Macnaughton, past grand chief templar, all from outside points in Ontario.

A model session of the local Sunbeam Temple (juvenile) took place, and the work of the children and an address from the grand superintendent of juvenile work created favorable comment, the superintendent of the temple being highly complimented. At 6 o'clock the meeting adjourned and all present were tendered a banquet by the members of the Hope of the West Lodge. Special sessions of District and Grand Lodge were held and the district and grand degree conferred. The remainder of the evening was devoted to a program of a social nature.

The dispatch adds, that many of the Wrangel forces have been killed or wounded in a railway accident near Ragusa.

TWO LOCAL BAKERS DROP BREAD PRICES

Will Sell 24-Ounce Loaf for 10 Cents; Believe Low Level Is Reached

Johnston Bros. and the Parnell Baking Company last night announced that the price of bread would be 10 cents for a 24-ounce loaf, to take effect to-day, a drop of 1 cent on the loaf. This makes three bakers in the city selling bread for 10 cents, one having dropped his price about two weeks ago.

One local baker stated last night that the lowered price was due to the drop in flour and other ingredients, but thought that the price was down to rock bottom for a few months.

"With the price we are paying for flour to-day we can sell bread at 10 cents and could have dropped the price a few weeks ago, but in view of the fact that the majority of bakers had a large supply of flour on hand it was out of the question to drop the price," he said.

It is believed that the remainder of the bakers in the city will drop their price in the course of a few days.

FOUR CHURCHES HOLD RALLY DAY

Methodist Sunday Schools in Special Services

OPEN FALL ACTIVITIES

Rev. Dr. Sparling Inaugurates First Church Pastorate

In an auspicious manner the fall activities of four Methodist churches were commenced yesterday. Unusually large congregations, together with inspiring services marked rally day at Dundas Center, Empress Avenue, Askin Street and First Church, which were unable to join in the interdenominational rally of a week ago. Inaugural sermons were preached at First Church by the pastor-elect, Rev. William Sparling, B.A., D.D., who made a special plea in his morning message for the socializing of the church.

While the rally day was intended to particularly emphasize the Sunday school and young people's departments of the church, it had a secondary objective, which was realized in each instance, that of bringing out larger congregations and filling the pews which were vacant in the summer months. The ministers in their addresses stressed the need of more interest being manifested in the church and a realization of the individual responsibility for making it the greatest institution in the community.

ASKIN STREET

No less than four separate rallies were held in Askin Street Methodist. The brotherhood resumed its Sunday morning meetings with a large crowd of men to hear an address by W. J. Hodder on "The Story of the English Bible." Rev. A. R. Kellam conducted the morning service, which was a rally of the spiritual workers, while in the evening an interesting talk to young people was given by Capt. T. F. Best, of the Y. M. C. A. The afternoon session was marked for many things, chief of which was the address by W. E. Saunders on his favorite topic, "Birds."

No less enthusiastic were the services held in Dundas Center and Empress Avenue churches. The large turnouts at the Sunday school in the afternoon were especially satisfactory to the officials of the school who had spent much time and patience in making the services unqualifiedly successful. Rev. John Garbutt in his morning address at Dundas Center spoke to the children, while Rev. G. T. Watts was the speaker at Empress Avenue in the afternoon.

All records for attendance at First Methodist Sunday school were broken yesterday and a program of exceptional merit put on under the direction of Rev E. W. Jewitt, director of religious education. An orchestra, with between 20 and 30 members, gave several selections, and addresses were delivered by the superintendent, the pastor and the heads of the different departments of the school.

DR. SPARLING'S SERMON.

Rev. Mr. Sparling in the morning told a congregation that almost filled the body of the church that a panacea for all the social ills of life will be found once the church functions are socialized. The divine ideal of life, the all-fatherhood of God must be recognized by society and individuals alike and embodied in the church worship. Mankind was simply a big family and regardless of nationality or race we were all brothers and sisters.

"The world has knocked at the door of the church for fellowship and the response has not been as hearty as it should have been," said the pastor. "The church should be the molding, moral influence in the community, and its appeal should be broad enough to include all peoples and all classes. Services should be rich, full and complete. If we can introduce anything into it that will touch one soul then let us have it."

Rev. Mr. Sparling pointed out that man was essentially a social creature and that therefore the church should satisfy his craving for fellowship. Similarly a man loved the dramatic, the aesthetic, the artistic and a place should be found in the church for all of this. There were many approaches to the house of God and none of these should be closed by a narrow appeal.

"Above every other function of the church is the maintenance of that ideal in Christian worship," added the minister in referring to the brotherhood of mankind. "Must we go outside of the church for that fellowship for which human nature craves, and which leads a man to lodges and other fraternal organizations? A thousand times, no. The church ought to stand for the greatest fraternity in the world, where everyone may get fellowship, sympathy and social life."

N. L. C. FORMS STRONG EXECUTIVE IN LONDON

Arrangements Are Under Way for Large and Representative Convention of Party.

Following the Western Ontario conference of party leaders a few days ago in this city a meeting was called on Saturday of the Libera-Conservative executive and also of the Unionist executive, formed for the 1917 campaign. There was a complete representation and much important organization work accomplished or put under way. From the two bodies a National Liberal and Conservative executive was formed, sub-committees appointed and plans for the coming campaign well advanced. Hume Cronyn, M. P., returned to the city from the Nesbitt meeting at Woodstock in time to address the gathering.

Arrangements are being made for a large and representative convention and it appears likely at the present time that three or four names will come before the party on that occasion.

The old Conservative Club rooms in the Majestic building are being used as Western Ontario headquarters. The local executive will have an office elsewhere, with a secretary to handle routine work.

RAINBOW CHASERS.

Old-timers who headed the Klondike gold rush in 1896, held a reunion in Dawson City, in the far North Canadian Yukon. They celebrated the 25th anniversary of the first rich strike of Klondike gold on Bonanza Creek. There was adventure for you—the only big gold strike since the Forty-Niners went overland in prairie schooners to California. Thousands perished in the Yukon snows, seeking gold. Yet the greatest amount of yellow metal ever taken out of the Klondike in a single year was $22,000,000, in 1900. Klondike took more in human life than it gave in wealth. Generally it is that way with rainbow chasing. It costs more than it is worth.—Calgary Albertain.

HAROLD JARVIS HEARD AT SATURDAY RECITAL

Detroit Singer Appears With Parnell Morris on Full Program at Dundas Center

Harold Jarvis, of Detroit, the ever-popular tenor, was an admirable complement to the brilliant program of organ music presented by Mr. J. Parnell Morris at Dundas Center Methodist Church on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Jarvis was in exceptionally good voice and his rendering of one or two old-time favorites delighted his audience. In addition to the listed numbers the Detroit singer gave, by special request, "Highland Mary" and "Face to Face."

Mr. Morris, at the organ, played his remarkably fine numbers with the fire and verve which Londoners have come to look for in his performances, and the large audiences that greeted him on Saturday afternoon is a promising augury of future attendance at the recitals which he purposes to give on the first Saturday of each month.

The program included the following numbers: Prelude, C sharp minor (Rachmaninoff); song, "The Same Old Dear Old Place"; Cantilene (Salome); Toccata (Dubois); song, "Flow Gently Sweet Afton" (Hume); Slumber Song (Schumann); Autumn (Johnston); intermezzo (Callaerts); song, "O Little Mother o' Mine" (Burleigh); grand chorus (Guilmant).

FIRTHS' BID ON UNIFORMS LOWEST

Tender Will Be Recommended by No. 1 Committee

TO COUNCIL TO-NIGHT

May Ask Fire Chief to Award Future Contracts

The contract for supplying the firemen's winter uniforms will again be awarded to Firth Bros. by the Council to-night, it is expected. Chairman Ald. Watkinson and Chief Aitken have examined the tenders submitted last week, and according to Ald. Watkinson, the lowest bid, which was submitted by Firth Bros., will be recommended for acceptance to-night. It is understood that the price is but a few cents lower than that which was submitted by this firm two weeks ago.

SECOND ATTEMPT.

This is the second time that tenders have been called for the winter uniforms this year. No. 1 committee at its mid-September meeting recommended the acceptance of the bid of Firth Bros. for the work. This meant a saving to the city of more than $1,200 over the next lowest tender. But for some reason the Council, on the request of Chairman Watkinson of No. 1 committee, referred the question back to the committee. Then on the morning following the Council meeting new tenders were called for with the consent of the members of No. 1.

DR. R. V. BRAY, OF CHATHAM, IS DEAD

Public Spirited Citizen Succumbs to Pneumonia

CHATHAM, Oct. 2.—Dr. Reginald V. Bray, aged 52, one of this city's most prominent physicians, died to-night at 6.25 o'clock, at his residence, 25 Dufferin avenue. Death was due to pneumonia and a complication of diseases. The doctor, who was a son of the late Dr. J. L. Bray, was ill but 11 days.

During his career in this city, in which he lived all his life, Dr. Bray gathered around him many friends. He took an active part in charitable work, and, as secretary of the board of managers of the Children's Aid Society, came in touch with work that pleased him. He was also interested in hospital work and was one of the chief lecturers instructing nurses at the Public General Hospital.

The deceased was a surgeon for the Grand Trunk and was a member of the school board. In patriotic affairs he expressed keen interest and was always willing to lend aid in furthering the welfare of the community. The doctor was an ardent member of Christ's Church and was superintendent of that Sunday school.

Besides his widow, he is survived by his mother and two brothers, Walter, of New York, and Jack, of Weyburn, Saskatchewan. The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, to the Maple Leaf Cemetery.

PINNED BENEATH CAR, IS BURNED TO DEATH

TORONTO, Oct. 2.—(Canadian Press Dispatch).—Pinned under a burning car in a ditch on the Hamilton-Toronto highway, John L. Forster, an Oakville man, met a horrible death this evening. The accident occurred about two miles west of the Village of Bronte while Forster and a friend, John Lyons, of Oakville, were driving west. The rain had made the pavement slippery and a skid sent the car off the road into the ditch, where it overturned. Lyons was thrown clear of the machine, but Forster was caught under the seat. The gasoline tank ignited almost immediately and in a moment the wreck was aflame, and the fire was burning so fiercely that it was impossible for the rescuers to lift the mass from the doomed man.

TWO HURT IN AUTO MISHAP AT OJIBWAY

WINDSOR, Oct. 2.—Miss Stella Frank, 18 years old, Glengarry avenue, is at Hotel Dieu with a fractured skull, and George Burnett, 11 Salter avenue, is slightly hurt as the result of their auto turning off a cement roadway in Ojibway late on Saturday night and plunging into a ditch. A machine coming in the opposite direction with glaring headlights blinded Burnett and caused him to lose control, he told the police.

TWO PERISH IN HOTEL FIRE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Two persons are known to have lost their lives in a fire which early to-day partially destroyed the National Hotel on Pennsylvania avenue, a few blocks from the capitol. The dead are George Mason, 40, Charlottesville, Va., an employee of the shipping board, and Miss Catherine Dean, 25, a telephone operator at the hotel.

HOW COME?

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—"Canada is about to witness one of the dirtiest campaigns the Dominion has ever seen," said J. B. Lavert, Labor-Farmer candidate in Nipissing, and one of the Dominion directors of the Farmers' party, addressing a meeting here last evening.

MERNER NAMED IN SOUTH HURON

Member Is Unanimous Choice At Hensall Convention.

FREE TRADE IS DEBATED.

HENSALL, Oct 1. — (By Staff Reporter).—The name of J. J. Merner wouldn't look just right nowadays without "M P." after it, in the opinion of South Huron Liberal - Conservatives. The member may well be gratified at the spirit of cordial good-will with which the party tendered him once again the federal nomination, as well as at the fine fighting trim displayed by the forces behind him.

It was one of those conventions where they get up and yell now and then. Far from being a cut-and-dried affair, there were 14 names proposed besides that of Mr. Merner, and aside from the usual "complimentary" nominations, there was brought forward some first-class material, including men who, it was quite evident, would have made strong leaders had occasion required.

W. H. Lobb, of London Township, said: "I hope this convention will end up in unanimous support of our late candidate," and the gathering cheered the sentiment. Ex-Warden W. R. Elliott, of Stephen, retired in favor of Mr. Merner, and the convention applauded again. William Consitt, of Hillsgreen, said: "Let Mr. Merner fight out the campaign with Black and McMillan." Someone in the audience called out: "He can do it," and there was more cheering. Thus retired also N. W. Trewartha, reeve of Goderich Township; Charles G. Middleton, Goderich Township, new president of the association; Harry Salkeld, of Goderich Township; Mrs. William Consitt, Hillsgreen; Fred Ellerington; Dr. Thomson, Clinton; David Cantelon, Clinton; John Sowerby, Goderich Township; Thomas E. Hays, Seaforth; Mrs. N. W. Trewartha, Goderich Township, and Mrs. Mary Murphy, of Tuckersmith.

UNANIMOUS CHOICE.

George W. Holman, county clerk of Huron, himself a veteran of South Huron, presided most capably during the nomination proceedings, and after Mr. Merner's speech of acceptance declared the member the choice of the convention, no ballot being necessary. Although Saturday is considered unfavorable for attendance of townspeople fine weather brought out a full representation from the rural municipalities, and the town hall auditorium was filled.

"If the enthusiasm stays as it is this afternoon, and you stand behind me, I believe I will be able to carry the riding all right," said Mr. Merner. "I cannot believe that our old Conservative friends will stay with the U. F. O. The policy they advocate is surely not favorable to the farmers, and I believe they will come back. The premier has a platform on which we have stood for 43 years, and the Conservative party has stood by it whether in or out of power. It is quite different with the others.

"I don't think the farmer should market cattle in a half-finished state, and if he finishes the product I consider he is a manufacturer. He should do things in a little more businesslike manner, and consider himself a business man. The farmer has a right to be looked upon as one of the upper classes. I believe sometimes he has not got all he was entitled to, and I think perhaps he should have more protection on butter and eggs, dairy products, and even meat. It is surprising to know the amount of meat, eggs and butter shipped into this country from the United States."

Replying to a suggestion of Harry Salkeld, that the members should meet their constituents oftener, between elections, Mr. Merner said: "I sometimes used to think we were not welcome when we did these things. When we go to fairs and such places around the country, people say, 'Hello, is there going to be an election soon?' and we naturally think we are imposing on them. However, in future I will take a little of Mr. Salkeld's advice and try to do a little better." (Applause).

"I don't believe we have had a bigger man in Canada than Hon. Arthur Meighen. (Applause). I predicted as far back as 1914, when there was talk of Sir Robert Borden dropping out, that we had a man as big as Canada ever had. In putting yourselves out to aid me, you are supporting him, and yourselves as well, for I believe his policy is the one for Canada to-day." (Applause).

FINE ADDRESSES.

Aside from the enthusiasm with which the choice of Mr. Merner was confirmed, the feature of the convention was the caliber of the addresses delivered by the men and women who, by reason of their names being proposed, were required to speak from the platform. Mrs. Trewartha and Mrs. Murphy, who came first and were quite unprepared, delivered neat little addresses which won them rousing applause from the body of the house. Thomas E. Hays, Seaforth, introduced as an "old warhorse" and one-time candidate, said: "We have a good cause, and a good man to carry it out. We have in Premier Meighen a leader who has not been equalled, and he is a man who says what he thinks, and thinks what he says."

"New parties have arisen," said Mr. Sowerby, "which threaten to undermine the very foundations of society, in order to gain their own ends. It will take our united efforts to combat the forces organized, but it can be done. The premier is a source of great inspiration to us all, a man extraordinarily gifted, who has won distinction in the old land and comes home respected by all. The tariff issue concerns the prosperity of us all, and is the main factor by which the prosperity of Canada has been advanced since 1878. According to the Farmers' Sun, at any rate, the policy of the U. F. O. is largely free trade. If federal timber were scarce I would not see Conservative party without a man, but I am not a candidate to-day."

PROTECTION NEEDED.

Ex-Warden "Dave" Cantelon, of Clinton, another "old war horse," said: "I wish I were about 15 years younger and I would feel like giving you a tussle." He referred to the absence of Mackenzie King from Canada during the war and gave due credit to Hon. T. A. Crerar for his work in the Unionist Government.

"Protection must be retained by the next administration or the result will be direct taxation, and it is a question every voter should look into. I don't see free trade for the farmer. Hogs have been worth $2 or $3 a hundred more in Toronto than in Chicago and Buffalo, and if the Western people, whom Crerar is looking to for his lease of life, cannot raise hogs they should drop the wheat question. Only last week four carloads of Canadian hogs were sent from Toronto to Winnipeg to feed the people in Manitoba and the Northwest, where theese hogs should have been raised, I think. That is probably one of the reasons they want free trade, to get American bacon shipped in via Winnipeg to supply the wants of that section of the country."

"I see by The Free Press," said Harry Salkeld, "that a speaker at the U. F. O. convention here, day before yesterday, said the members of Parliament worked from 6 a. m. to 3 a. m. and had no time to make reports, but I don't think it behooves a member to make himself so busy that he cannot give a report when he comes back home." Mr. Salkeld referred to the grain inquiry in the West and wondered when it was checked if the growers were not afraid of their own party.

OF FOREIGN ORIGIN.

"The agrarians are demanding free trade," remarked ex-Warden Wm. R. Elliott. "That policy was born in the West, of Americans chiefly, and foreigners from all countries. Were we to adopt that policy what would become of our manufacturing industries? We are lying beside a country that has built itself up by protection. Every country in the world has raised its tariff since the war. We cannot possibly compete if the bars are thrown down to allow American products in, and our workmen would have to look elsewhere for employment.

"It was the farmers of the United States who were the means of bringing about the Fordney tariff. I think before this election is over the farmers of this country will be opposing free trade. The heads of the free trade policy, the chief instigators, are not working for the interests of the farmers, but for themselves. If the people of Canada do not support Hon. Arthur Meighen in the National Policy, it will be a sad day for Canada. It is the only policy for the country, and for me. I am a farmer, and my son is a farmer, and I hope my grandsons will be, and what is a benefit to my country is a benefit to me. I think the only policy for the Dominion of Canada to-day is the old National Policy. (Applause).

"I believe since the time of commercial union and unrestricted reciprocity agitations, there has been no greater need of staying with the tariff policy put forward by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, than to-day," said Mr. Consitt.

Charles G. Middleton referred to the address of William Black, U. F. O. nominee, at Thursday's convention, as reported in The Free Press. Mr. Meighen had thrown down the gauntlet on the tariff question, and the tariff, according to Mr. Black, is not the issue, but the record of the Government for the past 10 years. "Very well," said Mr. Middleton, "we will fight them on that, if they wish to. (Applause). We must not forget that our Liberal-Conservative Association means that we have a great many Liberals with us, and it is a grand thing to think that the two old parties can unite, as in the crisis of 1917. I was wondering as I came past the beautiful monument before this hall, to the memory of your dead, how Mr. Black could make the statement, or Mr. Thomas McMillan could make the statement, that he was proud of his 1917 record, as he has done."

"If we had free trade," said Reeve Trewartha, "the largest source of revenue our farmers' wives have would be cut off, to a large extent, that is, what they receive from their cows and poultry; if we had free trade the price of eggs would be lowered anywhere from six to 12 cents a dozen. Right to-day you can buy fresh firsts in Chicago at 29 cents a dozen, and this is the case all the year round. It would mean $20 to $65 a year on an ordinary flock of poultry, and tens of thousands of dollars in the County of Huron, and that means thousands the merchants would never receive."

DR. STEELE.

Dr. M. Steele, M.P., South Perth, addressed the gathering most effectively on federal issues.

"I am exceedingly glad you have in your wisdom, and with such enthusiasm, chosen our good friend Mr. Merner to be your candidate in the coming election," he said. "It is possible that with the splendid list you have had here, you might have selected some person who would have done better, but any person who can excel Mr. Merner's record and work at Ottawa is indeed a man or a woman well worthy to represent any riding. I have been closely associated with Mr. Merner, and I must say you have had a man who has looked after the interests of South Huron. With your spirit and enthusiasm, and the support we have seen to-day, I predict for him success in the coming election.

"Canada did her share splendidly in the war. The men who fought for us overseas, the women who stayed at home, and supported every patriotic cause, the women who labored night and day in providing comfort for the soldiers and spirit for those who remained at home, all are entitled to share in the splendid result of that terrible world conflict. Canada at the close of the war was in a better position socially, economically and financially than any country engaged in supporting the allied cause. (Applause.)

There are some people, even in Canada, who cannot see that, and we regret it, because no people of any civilized country in the world to-day have greater reason to hold up their heads feel proud of their nationality and country than Canadians. (Applause.) Let me say to you men and women who are taking the present situation seriously, who are not in politics for the sake of being in politics, but who are looking forward to the contest upon which we are entering with the desire that Canada shall have the very best service throughout this contest, that the result shall be in the best interests of Canada, who are deely thinking what may be the results to this country providing certain policies are adopted and certain parties win power, let me say to you men and women who are looking on this from a patriotic point of view only, that the Government that is appealing for your suffrages at this time and which I believe every man and woman in this room is prepared to support, the Government representing what is to-day the National Liberal and Conservative party, represents a party that, during the five years of war forgot politics entirely and devoted every energy of which it was capable to the common support of our cause in Europe; did everything possible to forget everything extraneous and did everything possible that the freedom of the country might be maintained and the Union Jack still float over us at the end of the war and that Canada might remain a part of the British Empire." (Applause.)

Our portrait is of Mr. MICHAEL T. ROONEY, of 65, Granville Avenue, Long Eaton, England, who writes:—

"Some years ago whilst touring Ireland with 'Sanger's Royal Circus,' I contracted some kind of an irritable skin complaint, which seemed to baffle different treatments in the way of ointments and lotions, all of which utterly failed to give me the slightest relief. Recently at Long Eaton, where I am engaged as Advertising Manager of The Picturedrome, the conductor there begged me to try Clarke's Blood Mixture, but I refused. However, he, knowing its curative powers from experience, made me a present of a bottle, which I began to take. Recognising a slight improvement in my limbs, I got another bottle, and continued the treatment until I had used four bottles, and now my skin is perfectly healthy again."

PHONE SQUABBLE GROWING APACE

Norfolk Company's Offer Not Even Considered

TOLLS IN EFFECT TO-DAY

Disorderly Meeting Is Held at Simcoe Hall

SIMCOE, Oct. 2.—Extremists lead the reactionariees in the squabble between the Norfolk County Telephone Company and a section of its rural subscribers. This was demonstrated in a meeting held here yesterday to further protest against accepting the finding of the board which sanctioned an increase of rates and to determine what should next be done.

G. D. Swell, M.P.P., and Joseph Cridland, M.P.P. for North and South Norfolk were present and were named with Frank Richardson, Stafford Ditcher and Bert Kelman on a committee appointed to meet J. B. Jackson president, and W. L. Innes, director, of the telephone company to ascertain if an agreement could be reached and the phones already taken out be again installed.

LACK OF ORDER

The meeting was held in the town hall, while the committee were deliberating with the company behind closed doors in the office of T. E. Langford across the street. James E. Pohnson, manager of the Norfolk Co-Operative Association, endeavored to ge the extremists down to reason, but he was met with cat calls and abuse.

LEGAL TWO—PHONE SQUABBLE

Mr. Johnston left in time to catch his train for Chicago on a business trip, shaking his head as he left the hall, and expressing his doubt that any good could be done.

The committee returned prepared that the company would not back down and laid on the table their suggestions, and with them palm leaves from the company, under indorsation of the municipal board. The company has offered minor concessions, the committee said.

The meeting refused the suggestion to appoint a committee of five or seven to consider negotiations.

Chairman Hellerman then made announcements that the political executive of the U. F. O. would meet at election headquarters in the Norfolk House, and the financial executive also, as soon as the meeting adjourned. The adjournment took place most informally. The hall had been occupied without the usual application to the town clerk and without the usual advance arrangement before the meeting was advertised.

ORDER IN EFFECT TO-DAY.

A member of the Town Council present got permission to be heard, and as he was explaining that the hall was used for many purposes, and that in order that no body of men should be disappointed arrangements should be made in advance, he was heckled by the extremists, the chairman leaving his seat before the speaker was through.

To-morrow the company will put the toll order in force. The management has an order from the board indorsing a charge of $3 for replacing phones ordered out, within a year, and this, too, goes into effect, and the company will carry on under the board's order.

JAIL DELIVERY ASKED

Cabinet Meeting Awaits Return of Lloyd George

LONDON, Oct. 2.—(Associated Press Cable.)—The Cabinet meeting which is to be held this week, as soon as Mr. Lloyd George returns to London, is expected first to select delegates to the Irish conference. According to Dublin dispatches the Sinn Fein delegation will be accompanied by Desmond Fitzgerald, minister of propaganda, and several of his assistants.

Incident to the conference, statements of the Sinn Fein spokesmen, as published in the South of Ireland papers, indicate that a demand will be made for the release of Irish prisoners in jail and internment camps.

The feeling is reported to be growing among Southern Unionists and Constitutional Nationalists that they are entitled to representation.

The Irish Times says: "At least one representative of the Southern Unionists ought to have a place at the conference table. We anticipate no objection from the republican leaders, whose meetings with the Southern Unionists were a most auspicious feature of the early negotiations. The time will come when this educated and influential minority must have policy plans of its own if it is to play a proper part in the building of the new Ireland."

MORE THAN 2,000 AT DRESDEN FALL FAIR

DRESDEN, Oct. 2.—Over 2,000 people attended the Dresden Fair despite the unfavorable weather. The exhibits of fruit, vegetables, cooking and fancy-work were the best in years, as was also the showing of poultry and live stock, and the prizes were generous. The baseball matches were clean and fast exhibitions of good sport.

Tupperville and Wabash played the first game, the score for seven innings being 3 to 1 in favor of Tupperville. The contestants in the second game were Oil Springs and Dresden, which resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 4 to 2. Only one of the horse races was run off, a farmers' race, which resulted as follows: 1, Gibson; 2, Carr; 3, Lepper; 4, McFadden; 5, Warwick; 6, Walker. Bruce Wicks secured the tire, he having held the lucky number.

ALL PACKED UP, NOWHERE TO GO

Chaos Surrounds Annual Moving Day in New York

PUSSY WANTS A CORNER

No Homes for 69,797 Families With Leases Up

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(Associated Press Cable).—All packed up and no place to go—this was the plight to-day of hundreds of New York families who thought to participate with some 100,000 of their fellows in the annual game of swapping apartments.

Many of them gave up their old homes and got as far as the front doors of apartments they expected to occupy before they found the prior occupants refused to get out. Others learned of their misfortune in time to avoid having their belongings piled on the sidewalk or carted to storage—and promptly elected to "stick" there by passing woe on to those who had counted on succeeding them.

But this was only one feature of an October 1, described by seasoned movers as the most chaotic in the history of the city. Other features, according to city officials, were:

There were 69,797 families for whom there weren't any homes at all.

Even if there had been homes for all, there were but 2,500 moving vans available for the joint use of more than 100,000 would-be movers.

The higher priced apartments were the only sort available in any number. Of these there were more than there have been for several years, and the demand for them was relatively dull.

DOHERTY WINS FIGHT AGAINST ARTICLE X.

Assembly of League Likely to Hold Over Contested Amendment.

GENEVA, Oct. 2.—(Associated Press Cable.)—The assembly of the League of Nations will begin the final week of its second session in better spirits than have prevailed since the opening of the deliberation.

There has been much comment on the speeches of M. Nobelmaire, of France, committing his country to a program including limitation of armaments for the next two years to the figures of this year's budget, and H. A. L. Fisher's address giving Great Britain's hearty support to the same program.

Hon. C. J. Doherty, representing Canada, has won his fight against rejection of his amendment to the covenant designed to eliminate article 10. The final conclusion of the committee, which it is considered certain the assembly will ratify, is that the amendment deserves careful study and should be held over until the next assembly for further consideration.

HALTS KLUX PARADE AND STARTS A RIOT

Texas Sheriff Tries to Snatch Flag, And Nine Men Are Wounded in Fight.

WACO, Texas, Oct. 2.—(Associated Press Dispatch.)—Nine men, including Sheriff Bob Buchanan, were wounded last night during a riot that resulted when the sheriff attempted to break up a Ku Klux Klan parade at the intersection of the main streets of Lorena. Two pistol shots in the right side laid the sheriff low when he attempted to snatch a United States flag from the leader of the parade. The spectators rushed into the street and a general fight ensued, some firing pistols and others brandishing knives. The marchers, apparently not annoyed by the intrusion of the sheriff, slipped away from the turmoil after rescuing their flag and re-formed in a quieter spot, marching away calmly bearing their flaming cross.

NEWSPAPER MAN FACES CHARGE OF LIBEL

Joseph McCulley, St. Thomas Detective, Complainant in Action Against Free Press Representative.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 1.—The Times-Journal published the following this afternoon:

"Fred J. Young, St. Thomas representative of The London Free Press, was taken into custody on Saturday afternoon on a warrant issued at the instance of Police Detective Joseph McCulley, who charges Mr. Young with criminal libel, contained in a newspaper article published in Friday's Free Press. The article in question stated that Detective McCulley had attempted to arrest a former railroad man, against whom a warrant has been out for some time, but that the man wanted "stepped" on the accelerator of his automobile and speeded away.

"Mr. Young was arraigned before Magistrate Maxwell on Saturday afternoon and was let out on $2,000 bail, $1,000 in himself and one surety from Clifford Honsinger for $1,000, to appear next Friday.

"Detective McCulley claims that there is absolutely no truth to the newspaper article that has caused the trouble and that it is holding him up to public ridicule.

"When the article appeared on Friday morning Crown Attorney McCrimmon stated that it is libel when a man is held up to public ridicule. Some doubts are expressed as to the alleged offense being serious enough to be placed in a criminal category and a warrant issued for the arrest of the accused."

NESBITT TO RUN IN NORTH OXFORD

Accepts Unanimous Nomination At Woodstock Convention.

BACKS TARIFF POLICY.

An "Ideal Member," Says Hume Cronyn of Mr. Nesbitt.

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 1.—(By Staff Reporter).—E. W. Nesbitt, veteran parliamentarian, who has represented the riding of North Oxford in the Dominion House of Commons since 1908, will carry the banner of the National Liberal and Conservative party in this riding in the general election. Mr. Nesbitt was nominated this afternoon at a largely attended and highly enthusiastic convention of party supporters, held in the opera house here, and accepted the trust. His prospects of election are considered as most excellent, and the enthusiasm and fighting spirit displayed this afternoon may be taken as an indication of victory. A noteworthy feature of the afternoon was the large number of ladies in attendance, as well as the complete representation from all parts of the riding.

In opening the meeting Mr. Nesbitt explained that it had been called to determine whether the National Liberal and Conservative party in North Oxford would nominate a candidate for the election, and upon receiving a rousing reponse in the affirmative he then asked those present to elect a president and secretary.

J. W. R. Shaw, of Woodstock, seconded by L. Jacobs, Woodstock, nominated John Bain, of the Bain Wagon Company, as chairman. Wesley West was appointed secretary.

UNDER THE "N. P."

In calling the gathering to order Mr. Bain at some length explained why he was opposed to the doctrine of free trade as enunciated by the Liberals and Agrarians and against which the Government party is fighting. With simple directness and without affectation he told the story of his own life from an apprentice to a carriage and wagon builder in a small, struggling establishment, who, under the free trade of years ago, had a hard time to get along, until he became the head of a mammoth industry with a turnover of $1,000,000 annually. Under free trade the young men of Canada had to go to the United States to get employment, but when the national policy of protection was incepted conditions in this country improved, and he, with others, turned to found the great industry which now bears his name. If that industry was of any benefit to Woodstock, to North Oxford or to Canada, it should be remembered that it was made possible by a protective tariff. Mr. Bain then asked the meeting to proceed to the nomination of a candidate, and amid applause Henry Turner, a farmer of East Zorra, offered the name of E. W. Nesbitt. This was seconded by E. Lanoway, of Woodstock, and unanimously carried.

MR. NESBITT.

In accepting the nomination Mr. Nesbitt, who was greeted with cheers and applause, said he first desired to give an account of his stewardship.

In the session of 1917, certain members of the Liberal party left their leader on the conscription issue. When the election came on, he went to the executive committee of the Liberal Association and explained to them that he could not support the military policy of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at the same time asking for the privilege of supporting the newly formed Union Government, in all measures that pertained to the winning of the war, and in all other measures that he considered to be in the interests of the country at large. "I received their unanimous consent," said Mr. Nesbitt, "and I have carried out the conditions absolutely." He had been told that some Liberals thought that when the war was over and demobilization had taken place, he should have crossed the floor of the house, and again joined with the Liberal Opposition.

"I do not agree with that position," said Mr. Nesbitt. "If I had felt that I could not support any measure introduced by the Union party, and afterwards the National Liberal and Conservative party lead by Mr. Meighen, I would have been my duty to resign, and go back to my constituency. This I stated in the House on different occasions, and I also stated it to the Liberal Association at their annual meeting in 1919."

For this reason, Mr. Nesbitt said, he felt he had no apologies to make for his position he had taken during the past few years, or for his action on conscription issue.

THE ONLY ISSUE.

"But the tariff question is the only issue to be fought out at this election," said Mr. Nesbitt, coming to the issue of the day.

A voice from the audience: "That suits us."

Mr. Nesbitt continued. "Therefore, it is well that I should explain to you what the tariff, as favored by the National Liberal and Conservative party stands for, what it aims to accomplish. It has five principal objects:

(1) To provide a revenue; (2) to nourish a legitimate industry, and this is a policy of great importance just now and in these times it is absolutely necessary that the men of business in this country, from one end to the other, should know where they are at, and whether they may expect the stable and steady growth and development which the protective tariff will bring, or the condition of commercial chaos which I believe would follow the adoption of free trade; (3) to encourage the establishment of new industries necessary to the economic development of our country; (4) to develop to the full extent our national resources and (5) to prevent the abouse of the tariff by the exploitation of the consumer.

"I am not a high tariff man, but I do think a reasonable protection. I believe that a high tariff would tend to make manufacturers slovenly in their methods, but I also believe that we require the tariff if we would place Canadian commerce and industry in that position we all want to see it. Free trade would be most dangerous to Canada. We are a comparatively small state, with 8,000,000 people, and we adjoin a powerful state with 100,000,000 people. It is folly to think that we can compete against the United States except in certain lines. Therefore we require a reasonable protection against the great power and resources of the American manufacturer. (Applause.)

"We spent two billions of dollars fighting Germany, and now we must meet her again commercially. To-day the German mark is worth one cent. A German workmen are paid one-third the wages of Canadian workmen. How can we manufacture goods to compete with Germany under such conditions unless we have some protection? What are we going to do in competition with Japan, whose workmen receive but one-tenth what our own workmen are paid? Protection is absolutely necessary to keep the wheels of industry in motion and to allow Canada to hold her own markets against the intrusion of other countries where cheaper labor and cheaper materials are to be obtained."

CLASS REPRESENTATION.

Referring to his nominated opponent, who is running as a representative of the U. F. O., Mr. Nesbitt said he had nothing whatever to say against him. He had as much right to run as any other man. But to run as a farmer, because he is a farmer and represents a class, was an entirely different matter. It is absolutely impossible to build up our country if we are divided into classes, such as the laboring class or the farming class. It is absolutely wrong, and opposed to the interests of the country to try to legislate upon class lines. No class of a community can exist independently of other classes. The U. F. O. were absolutely all right as long as they confined their activities to commercial purposes, because in many instances they could better their position by buying in quantities and distributing among their members, and the same applies to selling. But, to endeavor to divide this country into groups and classes would be as Dr. Michael Clark says, nothing short of a national disaster.

The feeling that had existed against the Government, the speaker characterized as undeserved. There had not been a breath of scandal against the ministration, but through the troublous days of the war and now in the equally troublous reconstruction period the thought of every man in the Government party was as to what could be done for the best interests of Canada and the Canadian people.

TRIBUTE TO PREMIER.

As to Mr. Meighen, Mr. Nesbitt said, he was a young man with a very acute mind; a capable speaker, and with a wide vision as to the needs of the country. He is absolutely straight. Up to now, he can be judged best by his actions in England this summer during the imperial conference. Ever since imperial conferences have been held, we have been reprsentd by outstanding men. But at no conference have we been more ably represented than by our young premier this summer, and the country, regardless of party, should be proud of the position he took, as apparently they were in England and Scotland.

As to Mr. Nesbitt's present position, he stated that he proposed to support the tariff platform of the National Liberal and Conservative party, otherwise reserving to himself the right to support such legislation as he might think to be in the interests of the country at large.

F. S. SCOTT, M.P.

Stewart Scott, M.P. for South Waterloo, followed Mr. Nesbitt, and in opening paid tribute to the industry and capacity of that gentleman. North Oxford had every reason to be proud if the services he had given to the country. There never was a time in Canada, said Mr. Scott, when the rank and file of the Liberal party and the Liberal-Conservative party did not think pretty much alike on many questions. Liberal business men and Conservative business men realized down in their hearts that the proper tariff policy for Canada to-day is one of moderate protection. Therefore, no reason exists why these men should not come together for the benefit of the country as a whole and against the announced agrarian policy of free trade. The leaders of the Liberal party hoped for political advantage and therefore did their best to keep the fires of party strife burning, and to make imaginary differences appear to be real. He believed that in North Oxford the men of the two parties should stand together to resist the agrarian free trade movement.

"If this tariff question is decided upon its merits," Mr. Scott continued, "there is no question but that the Province of Quebec will give the Government a solid representation, because Quebec believes in a moderate protection. But in that province the tariff question has been thrown to one side by the Liberals and base appeals are being made to racial and religious prejudices." He then quoted from a speech recently delivered by Lucien Cannon, member for Dorchester, in which that gentleman urged his French-Canadian compatriots to vote against the Meighen Government because in his action on conscription "Meighen had insulted the old mother, Quebec, and no man will stand to see his mother insulted." In Quebec Mr. Cannon had stated that the real issue was an issue of punishment of Mr. Meighen. "It is of the first importance," said Mr. Scott, "that the people of Ontario keep these things in mind and unite solidly behind the Meighen Government."

Mr. Meighen had been pictured as the enemy of Quebec, but he had challenged his traducers to show where by one act he had ever treated Quebec differently from the rest of Canada.

The tariff question is the big and practically the only issue in this campaign, and it would be a most unfortunate and inopportune time for the Government of Canada to fall into the hands of the free trade party. Referring to the exchange situation Mr. Scott said that Canada pays to the United States in exchange now as much money as would meet the entire expense of Government in the entire prior to the war. The United States itself believed in protection and in this respect he quoted schedules from the Fordney emergency tariff, under which goods that the Canadian farmer can new sell to the United States are penalized. Any reduction in the Canadian tariff would be a move in the wrong direction and would tend to bring about again the exodus of young men from this country to the country across the line, which was so noticeable years ago. He believed the farmers were making a mistake in advocating free trade and were not consulting their own best interests. They forgot that of the boys now growing up upon Canadian farms not all would be farmers. For the Western grain growers, who wanted free trade, there was something to be said, but there were so many other interests in Canada that would be adversely affected by a lowering of the tariff that the grain grower became but a small minority.

He did not believe the North Oxford farmers would subscribe to the doctrine of the Agrarian party, because they knew that their best interests were the same as the cities. Their best markets were to be found in Woodstock and London and Toronto, and it would be poor business for them to vote for any policy that would reduce the purchasing power of the men in those markets. In the future, the farmer who had not been stampeded by this cry of free trade would be regarded as a man of wisdom. In conclusion, Mr. Scott referred to the defection of Dr. Michael Clark, M. P. for Red Deer, who cut loose from the Agrarian party because he did not believe in class legislation or class government and that was what the farmer movement aimed at. (Cheers and applause.)

QUALITIES OF A MEMBER.

Major Hume Cronyn, M. P. for London, said he had come to the convention because he was a warm admirer and friend of Mr. Nesbitt and he desired the opportunity to partially repay him for much good advice given and many kindnesses shown to the speaker in Ottawa. "I am out of politics," said Major Cronyn, "because as a executive of a large financial institution, I cannot take part in politics. There is no politics about the dollar. Financial institutions, like the judiciary, serve the whole people, and a man associated as I am cannot afford to take political sides, because I am bound to offend someone. Also, while in politics, I cannot give proper service to my institution. One cannot be in Ottawa and in London at the same time. In the election of 1917, however, there was a serious war crisis and it became the duty of every man to do all he could, even if it meant personal sacrifice."

Major Cronyn then dealt with the qualifications which a member of Parliament should possess to be of the greatest service to his country and also referred to the conditions under which members of Parliament studied public questions. This was done largely by private discussion, by party caucus, in committee, and, finally, in the House of Commons itself, although the actual proceedings in the House of Commons were often of less importance to the country as a whole than the work done in committee.

A member of Parliament, to be successful, should be constant in his attention to business, should be possessed of business experience and ripe judgment and should also possess courage, strength of character and an independent mind. All of these characteristics Mr. Nesbitt possessed in a large measure. There was no better man in the House of Commons, and the speaker felt he would not be betraying a confidence when he said that on the occasion of his recent visit to London the prime minister, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, in discussing the prospects in Western Ontario ridings, referred to Mr. Nesbitt and said: "I do hope he will be returned, for he is one of the most valuable members we have in the House."

The speaker had been associated with Mr. Nesbitt on the committee on soldiers' affairs, on which committee the member for North Oxford had done valuable service. To the problems confronting him he brought his best business judgment and experience. He had little tolerance for the lead-swinger or the faker, but at the same time he possessed a broad sympathy for the soldier, and this to an extent not surpassed by any other member of the committee. From every standpoint Mr. Nesbitt had been an ideal member of Parliament and the speaker concluded by expressing the earnest hope that in the interests of North Oxford and of Canada as a whole he would be returned at the head of the poll.

PAY TRIBUTE TO THE HEROIC DEAD

Monument to Forty Men Unveiled at Seaforth

AN IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Many People Present From All Parts of District

SEAFORTH, Oct. 2.—The ceremony in connection with the unveiling of the monument erected in Victoria Park by the Town of Seaforth in commemoration of the men from this district who lost their lives in the Great War, which took place this afternoon, was most impressive. A great many people assembled from all parts of the country and listened attentively in spite of a drizzling rain.

The service, which commenced at 3 o'clock, was preceded by a parade under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. in which the Seaforth citizens' band, the veterans' buzle band, the war veterans under the leadership of Rev. Capt. Edwards the separate school and the united Sunday schools took part. The procession formed at the corner of Goderich and Main streets and marched to the park, where appropriate addresses were delivered by the chairman, Mayor Golding, Rev. T. H. Brown, Rev. Father Goetz, Rev. F. H. Larkin, Rev. Father White, of St. Columban, and Rev. R. D. MacDiarmid, of Goderich, who spoke in the absence of Rev. S. McLean, of Egmondville.

The monument was unveiled by Rev. Capt. Edwards after which the buglers played the last post.

NAMES OF FORTY MEN

This handsome tribute, which has been erected to perpetuate the memory of these brave men is conceived and executed along broad and artistic lines and represents a young soldier standing on the grave of a fallen comrade in Flanders, the whole inscribed "In Flanders Field." On the base of the monument is engraved the names of 40 soldiers from this community who were killed in active service, also a list of the battles in which the Canadian army took part, including Vimy, Courcellette, Lens, Givinchy Arras, Mons, St. Eloi, Somme, etc. Beautiful wreaths were laid at the foot of the monument by the G.W.V.A., the Women's War Auxiliary, the united Sunday schools, the separate school and other friends of the departed.

SIX MONTHS' JAIL FOR BREACH OF THE O. T. A.

GODERICH, Oct. 2.—W. C. Lepard, of Wingham, was sentenced yesterday in the local police court by Magistrate Reid to spend six months in the Goderich jail. This case has caused considerable interest in the community, as it was the first time that anyone has been charged with a second offense against the O. T. A.

It was proved in court a week ago that Lepard had sold five gallons of swamp whisky for $75 in the month of August and about two months previous he had been warned by the court to the extent of being fined $500 and costs for a similar offense. Crown Attorney Seager acted for Inspector Pellow, and Dudley Holmes, of Wingham, for Lepard.

TELL ADVANTAGES OF ORGANIZED LABOR

SOUTHAMPTON, Oct. 2.—Messrs. P. Green, of Ottawa, and J. A. Flett, of Hamilton, addressed a meeting of the local branch of the Northwestern Ontario Labor Union here. They spoke of the subject of what organization of labor has done and is doing for the laboring classes.

Howard Green, a local youth, lost the ends of the two middle fingers of his right hand in a machine at Panels, Limited.

The town's new sand pump is in operation, cleaning out the filter beds on the beach back of the pumping station. The pump is doing splendid work.

BRUCE FARMER FINED $700 IN LIQUOR CASE

WALKERTON, Oct. 2.—Jack McGillivray, a Bruce Township farmer, pleaded guilty before Magistrates Tolton and Richardson yesterday to two infractions of the liquor law. He was fined $500 and costs under the Revenue Act and $200 and costs under the Ontario Temperance Act. The information against McGillivray was laid by License Inspector White, who, in company with Constable John A. Hogg, conducted a raid on his premises on Thursday. The officers uncovered two stills, one of which was in operation.

FALLS DURING RACE, ARM IS FRACTURED

TARA, Oct. 2.—The schools of Arran and South Amabel townships held their annual school fair at the exhibition grounds here and a large crowd from the surrounding district was in attendance. The sports were entered into with enthusiasm by the scholars and provided amusement for the spectators. The entries in every class were numerous and the exhibits were excellent. A little girl, while running in a foot race, fell and fractured her arm. The victim of the accident was Jessie McCrae, a daughter of Mr. William McCrae, of Elsinore Village. The winners in the school parade were as follows: First prize, No. 7; second prize, No. 1, and third prize, No. 6.

HOWICK FAIR

GORRIE, Oct. 3. — Howick Agricultural Society's sixty-second annual fair took place here on Saturday. The weather was good and the fair proved to be one of the best ever held here. Dr. Clark, of Goderich, was judge of light horses and Mr. William Graham Barrie and Mr. Hare, of Watford, were cattle judges. Mount Forest pipe band kept the crowd of 3,000 in good humor all the way through, while little Miss Jennett Johnston, of Fordwich, closed the day by giving a thrilling exhibition on her little pony.

REGARD QUEBEC OUTLOOK AS GOOD

Premier's Plea For Unity Has Widespread Effect.

"REVENGE" IS SLOGAN.

Liberals Would Risk Fiscal Safety of Country.

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—(Special to The Free Press.)—Only two days have elapsed since the prime minister made his strong appeal in this city for unity, stability and progress, but the effect has already been remarkable. His courage has been a great inspiration to his supporters and they now talk with a hopefulness of victory not previously apparent.

An isolated Quebec is past, except Quebec reimpose this penalty on herself. His new ministers have been before the public and have been accepted as fitting representatives of their race and province, and what is equally important, he has brought in Quebec to a been realization of the danger to our fiscal independence and financial stability. It was an epoch-making speech and there is to-day a virile National Liberal and Conservative party in Quebec.

DEMAND REVENGE.

The Liberal campaign, so far as can be judged by addresses of such men as Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Hon. Jacques Bureau and Lucien Cannon, is to be patterned on the 1917 fight, with its wild appeals to racial prejudice, with the additional demand for revenge on provinces and persons who stood by the country and army in the dark days when the Hun was smashing his way to Paris and the channel ports.

The Nicolet meeting was more demagogic than any appeals in the last fight. Revenge is the slogan, and the object a Mackenzie King victory, with a dominant Quebec, to justify Quebec's position in 1917 and to punish the victors of the election. They want power and fiscal protection, but will sacrifice or compromise our fiscal policy to obtain office and revenge. They control Hon. Mr. King as completely as they controlled the national Liberal convention that made him Liberal leader. In their campaign they are seeking to eliminate the tariff as an issue and are demanding that their leader does not visit the West during the fight. How far the cry for revenge will carry them is not yet definitely apparent, but it is always a dangerous issue and generally a successful one in this province. The better class of French-Canadians are opposed to this appeal and it is in their influence that lies a hope of bringing Quebec and the other provinces into national unity.

TARIFF IN DANGER.

The dangers of this campaign are the perpetuation of racial discord and the loss of our fiscal independence. Leading men of both races in Quebec realize that a division on racial lines means a cleft Canada. They also fear that our fiscal interests will be compromised.

Quebec is protectionist and on that issue would rally almost unanimously to Hon. Mr. Meighen but a party elected for revenge will, if successful, wreak vengeance at any cost. Power to do this can only be obtained by a deal with the agrarians and they will cooperate only on terms that will give effect to a greater part of their free trade and socialistic theories. In any Mackenzie King government either the free trade agrarians or the vendetta group from Quebec must control and in either case the tariff is endangered.

There are two other issues in the Quebec contest that may play a part in the decision. Quebec is opposed to the nationalization of railways. It is a province of corporations and a corporation control.

ATTACK NATIONAL RAILWAYS

The national railway system is being attacked by the French-Canadian Liberals. They would revert to corporation control and openly favor the Shaughnessy proposal which would give the C.P.R. their present dividends and hand over to the Government the system pruned of its verility and productiveness to add to our railway problem. Also the status of labor is at stake if the Liberal wins with the Dominion element in their party from this province. Quebec favors the open shop. The belief in a corporation paternalism for labor as opposed to trades unionism. Ernest Lapointe and other leaders would supplant nonsectarian and nonracial trades unionism with the National Catholic Workmen's Union, a purely sectarian body. It is labor's fight not only for fiscal protection of industry for the workingman but for the very existence of this protective trade organization. The Quebec Liberal platform is racial revenge. Corporation control and the open shop and sectarian labor organization.

The Liberals believe they can perpetuate the solid bloc in Quebec and they may do so. They are well organized and in the cry for revenge have a powerful weapon. In that solid bloc lies a great danger to Canada if it controls in the next Parliament as it will if Mr. Mackenzie King is premier. The prime minister has greatly heartened his followers and they are making a great fight against great odds. They will win some constituencies, but not more than a dozen at most and there will still be a powerful bloc for revenge, corporation control and sectarian unions, with protection as the pawn in the game. Labor and farmer candidate will not be a factor in the great contest in this province.

RALLY DAY AT DUNDAS CENTER CHURCH

Attendance of 521 Scholars At Sunday School—Mr. Harold Jarvis Renders Several Musical Numbers.

Rally day at Dundas Center Methodist Church yesterday, throughout all the services, proved a record. The congregations were large and it was quite evident the "Go to Church" slogan is having its effect in London. The pastor, Rev. John Garbutt, preached two impressive sermons. The morning address was more particularly to younger members on "The Compass," pointing out in life's voyage the compass, which resembled the mariner's compass, was our conscience, which was the voice of God speaking to us. The true compass always points to the north star, and the same will be true with us if our life points to the Star of Bethlehem. In the evening Mr. Garbutt spoke on the significance of heaven.

Harold Jarvis, tenor, of Detroit, sang at both services, his numbers being: "When I Have Crossed the Bar," "What Will You Do With Jesus?" "Some Time We'll Understand," "The Eternal God" and "Peace, Peace," all of which were rendered in a high order of musical ability.

In the Sunday school an attendance of 521 scholars was recorded. Mr. Jarvis contributed musical numbers and lantern views of the church picnic held at Springbank in June were screened, while the pastor, Mr. Garbutt, gave an address. C. E. German, superintendent, presided. The school orchestra, under Mr. Petrie, rendered special music.

CURRENT TOPIC CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL BANQUET

At "Bungalow Tea House," Springbank —John M. Gunn, Harold Jarvis and Members Contribute To Its Success.

The fifth annual banquet of the Current Topic Club of London was held on Saturday evening at the "Bungalow Tea House," Springbank, and proved a most successful event. The Current Topicers are regular Saturday nighters and are a body of men who delve into current world doings during the winter months and are composed of members of all walks in life. The dainty tea house presented an inviting appearance with its handsomely decorated tables of autumn flowers and roses, and seemed to be an enchanted nook in the surrounding wood.

The retiring president, A. E. Cowley, opened the proceedings by announcing the toast to "Our King," which was responded to by singing the "National Anthem," after which he presented his valedictory, couched in words of praise and appreciation, lauding the members for the past year's success and extending to them every good wish for the new term at hand.

In his inaugural address on assuming the office as president of the Current Topic Club, Mr. Leonard Tait bespoke a bright future, and in a truly genuine toastmaster-like fashion he elicited the goodfellowship and commingling of the members and their wives in introducing the evening's program. Prof. James H. Bowman gave an exhaustive purview of the line of work the club will be called upon to handle during the winter. The toast to "The Ladies" was ably proposed by D. C. McNaughton and was responded to by Mrs. J. Parnell Morris in a happy, winning manner.

The speech of the evening was given by Mr. John M. Gunn, of this city, who spoke on "The Use of Our Leisure Time." Mr. Gunn made it very clear that a time for stock taking was absolutely necessary to see where we stood intellectually and spiritually. Are we going ahead or standing still? he asked. We go through life like a dog in a tread mill. Our leisure time goes into character. Thrills of the movies show an unhealthy tendency. Every man should have a hobby, or avocation, a something which will absorb his attention. To improve the quality of life in man is more important than quantity.

Mr. Harold Jarvis, of Detroit, favored the club with several musical numbers, which included the poem by Rudyard Kipling's put to music, "On the Road To Mandalay, and for an encore sang "Wooing." Mr. J. Parnell Morris acted as accompanist.

Dr. Thornley Bowman and J. W. P. Jones moved a vote of thanks to the visiting artists, to which Mr. Jarvis and Mr. Gunn feelingly replied. "Auld Lang Syne" brought to a close an evening of unalloyed pleasure.

NEED TARIFF TO BAR CHEAP GERMAN GOODS

Sir George Foster at Hamilton Speaks of National Policy; Gordon C. Wilson Nominated.

HAMILTON, Oct. 2.—(Canadian Press Dispatch).—Gordon C. Wilson, the sitting member for Wentworth in the House of Commons, was again nominated at the National Liberal-Conservative convention on Saturday. Six others, who were nominated, withdrew.

Sir George Foster, who was the principal speaker, said the big issue in the present campaign was the tariff.

Regarding the National Policy, he said:

"You can buy more rubles in Russia with an English pound than you can carry. In Germany manufacturing is done at low cost, as all work is paid for in marks, which have dropped a great deal in value. Therefore, there should be legislation to protect the country against the influx of products of European countries where manufacturing costs are low."

Those opposed to Mr. Meighen, said the speaker, desired to take away the protection already enjoyed, and he believed that if the people studied the matter thoroughly the Government of Premier Meighen would be returned.

Political Reminiscences

Now that Sir George Foster has retired to the quiet seclusion of the Senate he should devote his time to the writing of his reminiscences. He is the last living link with the politicians of an earlier generation and has been a prominent figure in many stirring political fights and events since the early eighties. Historically such a book would be invaluable, and if Sir George would only tell all of the inside story of the famous "Nest of Traitors" it would be entrancingly interesting.

Canadian politicians and statesmen have not the habit of British public men of writing their "Recollections," and Canadian history and literature as a result is the loser. The last memoirs in book form which have appeared were those of Sir Richard Cartwright, and much of their value was lost by the obvious bitter prejudices of the old Liberal war-horse. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had as his ambition the writing of a constitutional history of Canada, but unfortunately continued in active politics until his death.

Chinese Invasion of Ontario

Is the Oriental problem looming up in Ontario? It is well known that in British Columbia Japanese and Chinese market gardeners and fruit growers are driving out the whites, but that Ontario is being invaded is something new. The Canadian Horticulturist complains that the Chinese are making headway in Ontario and that in the market garden centers around Toronto they are becoming securely and firmly entrenched. The Horticulturist says that the Chinese started in the market garden business five years ago and at first only grew Chinese vegetables for Chinese restaurants. The Oriental is broadening out and to-day is growing all kinds of vegetables, increasing his acreage and his produce so as to include all classes of restaurants. The Horticulturist predicts that in a few years' time the Chinese will be entering competition in general on all markets, wholesale and retail. With cheap living and low wages the Ontario market gardener cannot long compete with his industrious Eastern competitor. Apart from this side of the question, The Horticulturist makes a serious complaint in regard to Chinese labor, which should be dealt with by the authorities. The Horticulturist says:

"We would call attention to one fact, however, in the Ontario problem that needs immediate action. The Chinese on market gardens near Toronto work on Sundays. They pay no attention to protests by white neighbors. They care nothing apparently for the laws of the land, which they know, so far as Sunday is concerned, as well as anyone. Strangest of all, they have not been hindered in their Sunday labor by the authorities, while any white man of the neighborhood with a hoe in his hand on Sunday would be arrested at sight. The white market gardeners of the places concerned are much incensed at this seeming discrimination. Irrespective of the law, for the moment, these Chinese should be made to respect the customs of the country in which they now live. If the authorities would show the Chinese where they must stand on the Sunday labor question, such lesson might be a starter toward solving the entire Oriental problem in Ontario horticulture. If the Chinese are not to be kept out of the country by adequate immigration restrictions, that lesson should mean in effect that the Oriental in Canada must do as white men do, or —get out!"

Don't Mistake Friend for Foe, Canada

It sometimes happens that people, otherwise quite reasonable, taken their friends for their foes and use them accordingly. To mistake a friend for an enemy, or, for that matter, an enemy for a friend, is one of the most fatal errors in an unthinking man's life. Judgement, good-nature, generosity, justice, gratitude, common prudence, all are here at stake. To be blind in this situation is to be blind indeed.

The above reflections arise out of a paragraph in the address given, last week, to supporters of the Meighen Government in North Bruce, by Col. Hugh Clark, M. P. That paragraph contains a statement so true to actual circumstances and so clear-cut in its analysis of them, that it might well go down as a parable in the political history of Canada.

Referring to the political truce, established in this country during the win-the-war period, Col Clarke pointed to the fact that while that "truce" was on, a propaganda was abroad in the Dominion, the object of which was to "blacken the Government." That propaganda went unchecked for the reason that those actually engaged in winning the war, from the Government end of it, were too busy thinking and planning for the safety of this country and for the comfort of our soldiers to give a thought to anything so seemingly trivial as political scandal.

There was, said Col. Clarke, no counter-propaganda. In consequence, and because the stories then circulated were unchecked a great many people have an idea that the Government is a Government of the big interests. Yet all the time, in Col. Clarke's opinion, and he has watched the situation closely, no Government could, or can, handle the enormous obligations we are under as a result of the war, like the present Government.

"A Government that has learned to say 'no.' The most dangerous thing you can do to-day is to put a new Government there. Any new Government is necessarily extravagant because of inexperience. . ."

This human error of mistaking a friend for a foe is as old as humanity itself. Our ancient friend Æsop, who lived so long ago that men have almost come to believe him a myth himself, has the following fable:

"There came a thief into a bee garden in the absence of the master and robbed the hives. The owner discovered it upon his return and stood pausing a while to bethink himself how this should come to pass. The bees in the interim came laden home out of the fields from feeding and missing their combs they fell powdering in swarms upon their master. Well, says he, you are a company of foolish and ungrateful wretches to let a stranger go away quietly that has rifled ye, and to bend all your spite against your master that is at this instant beating his brains how he may repair and preserve you."

The caution which the great fabulist has so cunningly set forth, holds as well in politics as in morals and in public cases equally with private, since as we have said, there is nothing perhaps more fatal than for people to take their oppressors for their protectors and their protectors for their oppressors; as the bees spared the thief and fell foul upon their keeper. This is the very humor of the mob when it mistakes its man.

Against a background so vast as the background of the Great War, the individual man, no matter what his genius, looms small. In a democratic country like this, the Government is but an assembly of individual men, elected from among their fellows to act as agents for the administration of the state. It was not possible then that such an assembly could comport itself titan-wise, with all wisdom, with infallible sapience and judgment in a situation unparalleled in the history of the world. No Government on earth has done that, no Government could. What we do claim, however, is that the Government of Canada must have done its part pretty well otherwise Canada could not have come out of the war as Canada did with flying colors. Nor could we, at this moment, be in the situation of prosperity and potential progress we undoubtedly hold.

Montreal Captures Grain Trade

In the past there has been serious complaint that a large part of Canadian grain traffic reached the Atlantic seaports and European sources by American routes. Grain was shipped by water as far as Buffalo, and hence by rail to New York and Baltimore.

This year the situation is reversed. The outstanding feature of the North American grain traffic is the unprecedented volume of grain passing through the port of Montreal owing to the existence of a freight rate that is favorable to shipments through that port. A situation has been created which even the great facilities of Montreal harbor have proved almost inadequate to meet. A Royal Bank bulletin gives the following figures showing the growth of traffic at Montreal within the past 20 years:

Season	Bushels
1906	944,321
1911	21,007,164
1916	51,548,720
1921 (to Sept. 11)	67,708,696

The presence in the harbor of 80 ocean-going ships, most of them desirous of loading grain, taxed elevator capacity to the utmost. More especially the arrival of tramp steamers in large numbers has proved embarrassing to the harbor commissioners. Prior to this year, the number had been almost negligible, and there is little space in the harbor which is not leased to steamship lines. If this year's experience is to become the rule, special accommodation will have to be provided for tramp shipping.

The increased traffic will, it is thought, be continued in coming years, as it is claimed that a differential rate in favor of Montreal, as against other Atlantic ports on this continent, can be maintained under any competition.

The Third Column

TWO CLERKS.

Two there were in the self-same store
Side by side on the busy floor,
Each with ribbons and silks to sell,
But one of them rose while the other fell;
One moved up while all year long
The other was merely a part of the throng.

Here's the story, so oft retold
In the busy shops where life's wares are sold—
One sold silk from a crowded shelf,
And quite forgot he must sell himself;
One was cheerful and liked his work,
The other gloomy and just a clerk.

The cheerful one with his ready smile
Had people flock to his crowded aisle;
They'd ask for him, and thus advertise
That he was patient and also wise;;
For this was his plan, to the long day's end,
To make a sale and to make a friend.

It wasn't long ere the chief found out
He had a clerk being talked about;;
He heard it from women but poorly dressed,
He heard it, too, from the city's best;
And he learned it from something that never fails,
The growing sum of the young man's sales.

Oh, boy, whatever your job may be
Go to it bravely and cheerfully;
Over the counter and from the shelf
Remember always to sell yourself;
Be at your best till the long day ends
For that is the secret of making friends.

YOUR LIFE.

I read a very lovely sentence the other day. I give it to you. "Life," said this writer, "is very precious—we must give it back to God some day, so let us get the most from it."

It is interesting to note, however, that I have quoted from the letter of a mother to her son.

And if there is anyone who looks life in the face, it is a real mother.

Of course, compared to all time in its eternal running, life is just like a quick breath, but stretching it into its own average of 60 years or so there is a great deal of time in which to do much.

And when you think of the lasting efforts of men and women whose work has come down through the years and made such an impress upon the world, you are able to appreciate how important it is that not a minute be wasted and that you learn to get and to give.

Deep disappointments, sorrows and setbacks are all great molders of character. A person who has never gone through with them is easily swayed from strong standing when storms come.

If we had three or four lives to live, we could experiment a little—try out different ways of living. But, unfortunately, we have but one with which to play, as far as we know now.

So let us make the most of all that we have!

Live as much as you are able according to your own individual ideas as to what constitutes a strong experience—remembering to consider the rights of others as not always second to your own.

Learn to bury the past and to forget imagined wrongs. Live ahead!

And make people want to have you around.

FAREWELL, SUMMER.

When sizzling summer pulls her freight, and lets the autumn in, my lyre hits up a better gait—may'st hear the merry din. When summer's getting in her work, I spring a noble bluff, and, with an optimistic smirk, I say that she's the stuff. Oh, where, I ask, would be our wheat, and radishes and beans, if summer didn't send the heat that ripens all such greens? Oh, where would be the luscious fruit, the pumpkins and the maize, if summer's sun refused to shoot its justly famous rays? But even as I deftly spring conundrums such as these, I wish that summer would take wing, and send an early freeze. It is no treason now it's o'er, or fading to its rest, to say that summer is a bore, and now and then a pest. I'm always glad when summer goes, and autumn makes her bow, and hands us hints of early snows to cool each fevered brow. When sizzling summer comes again, if I am still on earth, I will point out to melting men her virtue and her worth; and as I boost her varied charms, I'll sigh, in accents drear, "I'd gladly give two upland farms if autumn days were here!"

LESSENING AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS.

The plea for a more complete knowledge of the workings of a motor car is good as far as it goes, but driving the car is much a matter of temperament after all. Men who know how to build an automobile, and who can tell from the sound of its motor whether it is working properly, who know all about the brakes and the gears, etc., frequently find themselves unable to drive a car. They have the theory of the machine, but they lack the perfect co-ordination necessary. One of the greatest needs in any campaign looking to the reduction of accidents is teaching drivers to use more common sense. —Indianapolis News.

Death of Englebert Humperdinck, His Fairy Opera "Hansel and Gretel"

In January, 1913, the noted composer, Englebert Humperdinck, whose death is reported at Neu-Strelitz, fell ill of an illness which had in it pathetic prognostications of paralysis. The actual cause of his death is now said to have been apoplexy.

Eight long years of helpless invalidism! A long servitude for a man with the poetic, the "faery" musical mind of a Humperdinck. News of the composer's condition during that period has necessarily been meager. The war intervened to make us out of sympathy with, here we did not positively hate, everything German, and so it happens on this side of the world, we do not know the state of Humperdink's mentality during the years of his illness. It is safe, however, to conclude from what we do know that he was in no state to continue his work of musical creation. Doubtless the year 1912 saw the last composition from the pen of Englebert Humperdinck.

These things bring to my mind forcibly, if somewhat sadly, the evening upon which for the first time I heard Humperdinck's fairy music play, "Hensel and Gretel."

On Christmas Eve, 1906, the late Henrick Conrad, then director of the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, gave an elaborate revival performance. The work had not been heard in America since Augustus Daly had given it in the Daly Theater 10 years before. As a consequence all the world of music lovers was agog with interest. That I, too, was agog with the world goes without saying. How it all comes back.

I remember what a stormy Christmas Eve it was and how the cabs and carriages, and even the street cars, had to beat their way to get to 40th street and Broadway. I remember—isn't it curious that one should remember so?—that eggs were selling in New York at 60 cents a dozen, and that it struck my housewifely soul with consternation to see Miss Marion Weed (who enacted the part of Gertrude, the broom-maker's wife in the old nursery tale) break three "strictly fresh," or so they looked from out front, into that cake she was beating up in the first act, and then let the curtain go down without any attempt at baking the batter. Prodigality of that description, it seemed to me, even more than the insobriety of Peter, the wretched husband and father, might have been the real occasion of the poverty of the broom-maker's family, and hence of the thrilling adventures of the two famous children. But I found it set down in the book that Peter, and none other was the cause of the trouble. So we'll let the singer's extravagance pass!

Best of all, I remember how full the house was of joyous children and equally joyous "grown-ups"—how one and all we gave ourselves up to the innocent charm of the dear old story in its lovely modern musical form.

Once upon a time, long before the war which, we may be sure, devastated German hearts and lives, as well as the hearts and lives of other people, was even thought of, outside the foolish and the frenzied brain of Wilhelm Hohenzollern, Crown Prince of Germany, a clever woman, Frau Witte, wife of a physician in Cologne, arranged for production within her own family circle a play based on Grimm's tale of "Hansel and Gretel." The play was in verse form, simple stanzas, telling the story of the little brother and sister who, driven into the woods by their cruel "stepmother," lost themselves and fell into the toils of the Knuxperhex, the Crust Witch, whose habit it was to entice youngsters into her gingerbread house and there eat them up.

After the verses were written Frau Witte sent them to her brother, Englebert Humperdinck, in Frankfort, in which city the brilliant young friend of Wagner, was settled, teaching orchestration. She asked him to supplement her words with a "little music." The little music developed into an opera. In fact the composer set the simple verses to music so brilliant and charming that it was not long before the joint work of the brother and sisted got beyond the family circle, gradually came to be heard in various German cities and finally was taken over to London, where it enjoyed an uninterrupted run of six months. And in London Augustus Daly heard it and carried it out to New York.

The author of the verses, Frau Witte, couldn't bear to treat the children quite so ruthlessly as Grimm treats them. So she made a few changes, to which I must draw attention. She substituted for the "cruel stepmother" of Grimm, a real mother who loves her children, of course, but who, impetuous creature that she is, is wont to fly into tempers with them. This mother does not plan their death, but in a fit of pique pushes them from the house and to punish them for indolence drives them into the woods, where she tells them to gather strawberries.

The youngsters loiter in the woods and eventually reach the Ilsenstein, a spot that figures as a witch's haunt in Goethe's "Faust." There night overtakes them and they are put to sleep by "Sandman," but before they go to sleep they say their evening prayer, which tells how 14 guardian angels are sent to watch over good children every night. The angels come as described, and in the morning the children are awakened by "Dewman" (the dawn fairy), who shakes dew into the eyes of sleeping children out of a bell-flower, when it is time for them to wake up, and happen upon the house of the Crust Witch.

It is the practice of this witch to bake her victims into gingerbread and eat them afterwards. She meets the fate of the witch in the original story, and is herself transformed into a monstrous gingerbread. When the magic oven falls to pieces the gingerbread covering falls off the figures, which form the fence around the witch's house, and the spell being removed from them, the children all come to life, and the opera ends with their chorus of thanksgiving and the rejoicing of the broom maker (not wood-cutter) and his wife at the recovery of their children.

There are some people old-fashioned enough to have a prejudice about an interference with a little masterpiece such as Grimm's story, and these people cavil a bit at Frau Witte's alterations and interpolations, and think that the opera could have been written very well in the original form of the little classic. But such persons are decidedly in the minority; and for the most part it is thought that the librettist has done her work very well.

The scene opens in a small, poorly-furnished German peasant house, with a view from its windows of dark, rich forest, and at the opposite side of the cottage a great fireplace deep enough to roast the proverbial ox.

Hansel and Gretel, the little brother and sister, sole children of their father and mother, a poor broom maker and his wife, are discovered as the only occupants of the house; the parents being out about their business. They are engaged, the boy in making a rough twig broom and the girl in knitting a gray stocking.

For a good five minutes the orchestra has been playing an exquisite prelude. As Humperdinck has acknowledged that he has written his fairy work, a la Wagner, scorning to deny the influence which that great Titan in music has had, and must inevitably have, upon all his country's composers, it will not be heresy to say that the music in this scene reminds one decidedly of the apprentice music of the "Meistersingers," but is none the less delightful for that; and Humperdinck has created an atmosphere that is quite other than Wagner's.

Suddenly, as the curtain rises, the children break into a musical bewailment of their poverty. But at the thought of their mother's returning home and making them a blanc mange, a delightful possibility suggested by the imaginative Gretel, who is always a little more inventive and aggressive than her gentler brother, their grief changes to gladness, and they throw aside their work and join together in a simple, rompish, childish dance.

The merrymaking of the pretty pair is, however, all at once interrupted by the return of Frau Gertrude, in none too good a temper. She, driven quite beside herself at the sight of the idle children, descends upon her offspring with the idea of giving them a trouncing. A scramble ensues, and in the general confusion the milk jug, containing the family's whole store of milk, is thrown over; and, behold, the joyously anticipated blanc mange still in a fluid state, runs in a white river across the floor.

Totally beside herself at this accident, Gertrude drives the children before her to the door, and, throwing a basket at the retreating Gretel, bids them go to the woods and gather strawberries. Then, stupid person that she is, in place of setting the room to rights and getting her good man's meal, as one would expect of a German housewife, she sits down in a chair and falls asleep.

At this instant the father's voice is heard, as he comes singing through the woods. It is an hilarious, half-drunken song, but cheery and good-natured for all that, and far from calculated to awaken consternation in the minds of the listener.

Father Peter, who, by the way, carries a large basket on his back, soon spies his sleeping wife, and is none too drunk to lean over and awaken her with a kiss. Then, manlike, he immediately asks for his supper.

The wife complains about the slim meal they'll have since the children have toppled over the milk jug, when, with a great musical guffaw of satisfaction, Peter opens his basket and shows an ample supper, besides dainties for all. He has sold more brooms than usual and has come home with a little pile in his pocket.

Suddenly Peter thinks of the children and asks for them, and Gertrude, in a careless way, says they may be at the Ilsenstein. At this the unfortunate father begins to wail and cry out that the poor little dears may be lost, or, worse yet, may have fallen into the hands of the wicked, gobbling ogress, whose custom is to allure children into her house, fatten them and then cook them in her magic oven until they change into gingerbread, whereupon she eats them up.

With these horrible conjectures in mind the two run out of their cottage on a wild and melancholy search.

The second act of the opera is very beautiful. It opens with a forest scene, which shows in the background the Ilsenstein, thickly grown with fir trees, and in the foreground a tiny glade, in which, under a great oak, Gretel sits making a wreath of flowers, while Hansel, to the left, amid mossy grasses, is searching for strawberries.

The children are delighted that the basket is so full and that they may soon return home. Suddenly a cuckoo begins to call, its wild woodland music being sweetly imitated by the instruments in the orchestra and echoed and re-echoed by the plaintive, childish voices.

This song of the cuckoo and its orchestral imitation is a decided Wagnerian touch. But Humperdinck is not ashamed to acknowledge, musically speaking, the pit from whence he is digged. An associate of Wagner and a deep student of the great master of music-drama, it is his proudest boast that he has been able to build up the structure of his "Hansel and Gretel" in "the Wagnerian manner."

But meanwhile on the stage it is growing dark. Jack-o'-lanterns come out in the bushes, and great eyes of things shine out on the children from the trees. They are horribly frightened, and when it dawns upon them that they are really lost in the woods, they fall on their knees and call out for the "Vater" and "Mutter," who are so far away.

And while the two mites are thus clinging together and sobbing out the misery of their baby hearts in rhythmic phrases, and while the orchestra is wailing and crying in sympathetic unison, a great gray mist falls slowly over the land, and lo, out of the mist comes a little gray man. It is, indeed, the Sandman, the beloved familiar of all infancy, who approaches the youngsters with friendly gesture and as they grow calmer and under his benign influence, slowly throws sand from the sack on his back into their drooping eyes, the while he croons them a cradle song.

It is now dark and the sleepy children whisper their evening prayer:

"When at night I go to sleep
Fourteen angels are around me."

Whereupon they lie down and twining their arms around each other, sleep.

Suddenly a bright light breaks through the mist and floats it away. And the mist rolls together in clouds like a great staircase which reaches, as Jacob's ladder did, from earth to heaven. And on the ladder ascend and descend the angels of God. But fourteen particular angels, all dressed in robes of white and having wings upon their shoulders, come out from the groups of angels that ascend and descend and approach the sleeping children and stand by them according to the order of the evening prayer:

"Two at my head,
Two at my feet.
Two at my right.
Two at my left.
Two who cover me,
Two who wake me,
Two who show me
The way to Paradise."

Then while the angelic visitants stand thus in silence which is punctuated by celestial music from the harps and violins, the curtain slowly falls, the auditorium lights brighten, and we are once more of the earth earthly.

The rest of the opera follows the Grimm story right up to the point where Gretel pushes the witch into the oven and slams the door tight. Then all the gingerbread children whom the wicked witch has held in a spell come to life and the whole closes in a delicious outburst of frolic and melody.

* * * * * * * * *

In summing up his criticism of Humperdinck's work, the eminent critic, H. E. Krehbiel, says:

"Of all recent operatic phenomena, Engelbert Humperdinck's 'Hansel and Gretel' is the most interesting and instructive. . . . Ever since the death of the great German poet-composer (Wagner) the minds of critics and musical historians have been occupied with the question whether or not progress in operatic composition was possible in the direction pointed out by him. Of his influence upon the style of composition throughout the Occidental world there has been no doubt for several decades; but for the greater part it manifested itself in the modification of old methods rather than the adoption of new. In Germany, it is true, attempts have been made to follow his system, but though there have been occasional proclamations of success (as in the case of Cyril Kistler's 'Kunihild' and Max Schilling's 'Ingwelde'), in the end it has been found that the experiments have all ended in failure. Naturally enough the fact provoked discussion. If no one could write in Wagner's manner, was there a future for the lyric drama outside of the return to the style which he had striven to overthrow? If there could be no such future, did the circumstance afford indubitable proof of the failure of the Wagnerian movement as a creative force? These questions were frequently answered in a spirit antagonistic to Wagner, but the answers were both overhasty and short-sighted. It needed only that one should come who had thoroughly assimilated Wagner's methods, and who had the genius to apply them in a spirit of individuality to demonstrate that it is possible to continue the production of lyric dramas without returning to the hackneyed manner of the opposing school. The composer who did this was Humperdinck, and it is peculiarly noteworthy that his demonstration acquires its most convincing force from the circumstance that instead of seeking his material in the myths of antiquity, as Wagner did, he found them in the nursery."

* * * * * * * * *

Of course the credit of Humperdinck's success is chiefly due to the music, but no one who has seen the opera and noted with what poetic skill the sweet simplicity of the old nursery tale is preserved in the dramatic version, can deny that the genius of the musician has been more than helped out by that of the poet, his clever sister, Frau Witte.

ADMISSION TO HOME OF INCURABLES.

Question: 1. In order to be admitted to the Home of Incurables in London whom is it necessary to appeal to? 2. Can a respectable man of 60 years, without friends able to support him and who has exhausted his means trying to regain health be admitted free of charge? 3. What steps have to be taken for admission of an invalided soldier to a military hospital?—Subscriber.

Answer: Patients in the Victoria Home for Incurables are paid for either by the city or their county. Nonpaying patients are not admitted, but the city or county willingly pays for deserving residents. Application on the part of country residents desiring to enter the home should be made to their County Council, and through that body to Mrs. L. H. "SWAT THE FLY."

Question: Is the house fly really as dangerous as it is generally represented to be, or this only a delusion?—L. J. M.

Answer: Until recent years common house flies were considered harmless. Now it is known that they are the principal means of distributing typhoid fever and other intestinal diseases. They multiply very fast. Therefore, "swat the fly."

"EVEN AS YOU AND I."

Question: Where did the words "Even as You and I," originate?—A. Constant Reader.

Answer: We are not able to say where this phrase originated, but as given popular currency it is to be found in a poem entitled "The Vampire," by Rudyard Kipling:

"A fool there was and he made his prayer
(Even as You and I)
To a rag and a bone and a hank of hair
(We called her the woman who did not care)
But the fool he called her his lady fair."

MEANING OF "IRREDENTA."

Question: Kindly explain in your worthy paper the meaning of the word "Irredenta."—L. F.

Answer: "Irredenta" is an Italian word and means "unredeemed." "Italia Irredenta" was "Unredeemed Italy," comprises those territories inhabited by people of Italian stock and language but remaining subject to foreign rule, mainly Austrian. As a result of the great war and Italy's participation in it, the "Italia Irredenta" that had been so long subject to Austria was taken from the power and united to Italy.

Kessock, Sask.—"My mother has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and upon learning of my troubles advised me to try it, as I seemed all run down after the flu and had leucorrhoea very bad. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and used the Sanitive Wash also Dr. Brown's Capsules and Prescription and am much better in every way. I am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial as I recommend your medicines." — Mrs. IRENE NELSON, Kessock, Sask.

It is not always in business that a woman is forced to give up her work on account of ill health. It is quite as often the woman who does her own work at home. When backaches and headaches drive out all ambition, when that bearing-down sensation attacks you, when you are nervous and blue, the one great help for such ailments is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

WAGE RATE SET BY ONTARIO BD.

Provincial Commission Confers With Industrial Representatives of Province

FINDINGS SATISFACTORY

Local Sittings Conclude on Satday; Official Announcement of Result Later

The Ontario Minimum Wage board concluded their London sittings on Saturday afternoon, following a most satisfactory conference with representatives of industry in the Ontario centers having a population of less than 50,000. Employers and employees in the candy, biscuit, jam, pickle, syrup and similar industries in the province were represented at the conference, which reached an amicable settlement of the minimum scale of wages for female employees in these industries. These findings the board will again consider and will later announce through the official gazette. The rate will probably be in force by the first of the year.

Members of the commission, of which Dr. J. W. McMillan, of Toronto, is the chairman, reported a most gratifying discussion between employers and employees of the problems to be dealt with on both sides of the question, and, though the scale set cannot yet be announced, it was intimated that it would be entirely desirable and that an excellent spirit prevailed throughout Saturday's conference and that of the preceding day, when the commissioners conferred with the industrial representatives from Ottawa, Hamilton and this city.

The commission members returned to Toronto on Saturday evening.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSN. ELECTS BY BALLOT

One Hundred Per Cent. Vote Polled at Formal Election; Miss MacPherson President

In an election conducted on the most up-to-date municipal lines the Collegiate Girls' Athletic Association recently elected their officers for the year in conjunction with a similar election carried on by the Students' Council and Boys' Athletic Association.

The Students' Union is in reality the governing body at the Collegiate, but, in turn, each athletic association has its own executive, of which the vice-presidents are the presidents of each school group. Four councilors from each group complete the executive.

Interest ran high in the elections, for which poll clerks, returning officers and scrutineers were appointed and in which nearly a 100-per cent. vote was recorded.

THE OFFICERS

Officers of the Girls' Association are as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. W. H. T. Mooney; honorary vice-presidents, Mrs. A. T. Edwards, Miss E. Holland, Miss Hilda Keene; president, Miss Mary Macpherson; secretary, Louise Wyatt; treasurer, Kathleen Brooks. Princess Avenue School: Vice-president, Miss Dorothy McCann; councillors, Marion Drew, Margaret Goodwin, Frances Talbot, Margaret Millman. Alexandra School: Vice-president, Miss K. Jackson; councilors, Nora Allen, Elsie Haynes, Sybil Higman, Sterling Westland. Lord Roberts School, first year: Vice-president, Miss A. Minhinnick; councilors, Phyllis Bock, Ola Riddell, A. Johnannsen, M. Wilson. North Building: Vice-president, Mrs. Hofferd; councilors, C. Jones, A. Boulton, V. Cooke, H. Chapman.

The efforts of the association are at present directed to the promotion of as many games as possible, the earliest activities to take place on Friday next, when at the annual field day the girls will take part in the sports, which will include rugby, basket ball, indoor baseball and tennis. A parade of the schools, carrying their banners, will contest for the principal's cup, which Mr. W. H. T. Mooney will present.

CHURCH AT HOME.

A recent successful event was the "at home" arranged by the Women's Association, of Knollwood Park Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Short, recently appointed to the presidency to succeed Mrs. Fox, welcomed the guests, who numbered more than 50. Mrs. Harrison, of the London W. C. T. U., was the speaker, and Mr. James Balch sang a charming solo. Afternoon tea was served by the committee.

D. O. S. TO MEET.

The Daughters of Scotland are preparing some interesting plans for the coming season, which will be fully decided upon at the meeting of the executive which is to take place shortly. Mrs. Samuel Logan, North London, will be the hostess at to-morrow's meeting of the Trafalgar Chapter, the first of the season. Mrs. E. J. Ram will preside and a program for the winter activities will be considered.

LADY SCHOOL TRUSTEE IN LOVE WITH HER JOB

"I am not tired of it yet and I have enjoyed every minute of my two years on the London Board of Education, but that doesn't say that I am prepared to enter the field again," was the statement made yesterday by Mrs. W. A. Tanner to The Free Press.

Mrs. Tanner, whose term of office expires at the end of the year, was elected two years ago, and since that time has done admirable work on the board. In particular has Mrs. Tanner been interested in the auxiliary classes which have been so successfully begun here this autumn.

"I had to fight opposition about those classes," Mrs. Tanner remarked, "but I am delighted that they are going so well, and I am sure that they will be entirely satisfactory, though we must wait for the first of the year statistics to see just how efficacious they have been."

"Will you enter the field again?" Mrs. Tanner was asked.

"I have nothing to say on that point yet," was the reply. "It will depend on whether the people think I have done good enough work to be renominated, and also on personal matters. The work interests me, but is, of course, something of a strain."

The suggestion that an increased number of women candidates be entered this year in the trustee field has been made among the women of the city, but so far no definite announcement has been forthcoming, although it is understood that next week's meeting of the citizenship committee may see some suggested nominations. Mrs. J. I. A. Hunt, the remaining woman member on the Board of Education, was elected last year and has still another term to run.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

Fruit Cake.

Those who try this fruit cake will always keep it on hand. It is moist and will keep for months—(if hidden): One cup brown sugar, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon each cloves and cinnamon, one nutmeg, two cups milk, two and a half cups flour sifted with one teaspoon soda, one pound each raisins, currants, dates, nuts, one pound each citron and lemon peel.

A delicious filling for layer cake is made by boiling together sweetened cream and the yoke of one egg. Thicken with ground peanuts.

If sinks are flushed out once a week with a strong solution of coarse salt and boiling water there will be no more trouble with clogged pipes.

Almost all stains on white goods can be successfully removed without injury to the finest fabric by soaking in buttermilk.

The grated rind of oranges or lemons is an excellent flavoring for apple pies and layer cakes.

DRAWING LESSONS FOR OUR KIDDIES

Old Doctor Stork is a funny old bird and is very easy to draw First you must make the number four, then place a long oval on the top of the four and now you can make his funny looking head. Then you start to put his clothes on him, his hat first, now his collar and coat, and place an umbrella under his wing. There you have the doctor complete.

THE BLACK SHEEP

By Ruby M. Ayres

Mr. Ackroyd glanced at his nephew. "Rodney doesn't approve—eh—it isn't often he disapproves of anything you do, my dear."

"He thinks this is dreadful, though," she declared teasingly. "But I'll tell you all the same, and you shall decide. Well, I've made friends with the black sheep—he nearly ran over me in his car, so we spoke, and I thought he was nice, and he's coming to see you." She spoke rather quickly, as if not quite sure how her news would be received.

Mr. Ackroyd laughed and held up his hand.

"Not so fast—not so fast! I can't follow you. The black sheep—now, first of all, who is the black sheep?"

Rodney glanced up from his occupation of pealing an apple; his eyes looked somehow angry.

"Norah means Laxton—Laxton, of Barton Manor," he said slowly.

"Laxton!" Mr. Ackroyd echoed the name sharply. "That fellow! You've made friends with him, and he's coming here!" He brought his fist down heavily on the table. His kind face was scowling, the very tone of his voice had changed. "I'll take good care he doesn't come here," he thundered. "He's an absolute young blackguard! I won't have the fellow in my house, and you can tell him so, or I will—if I ever meet him."

Norah stared at her father in utter amazement; he had never spoken so roughly to her before; the hot color rushed to her cheeks.

"Father!" she said breathlessly.

Mr. Ackroyd pushed back his chair irritably and rose to his feet.

"I mean what I say," he said curtly. "I won't have the felow here; you've no business to have allowed him to speak to you; if he'd been a gentleman he wouldn't have done it."

She broke in then: "He only apologized for almost running me down; he wouldn't have been a gentleman if he had driven on and said nothing. I think you're most unjust—you haven't even seen him."

"There are some people it isn't necessary to see," he interrupted grimly. "I know quite enough about the young man to know that he's no fit companion for you; so don't let me catch him hanging around here. I mean what I say, mind."

He opened the door and went out of the room.

There was a little silence.

"Well!" said Norah, indignantly. She looked across the room for sympathy, but he did not raise his eyes. "Of all the mean, unjust things," she went on hotly. "Talk about women being spiteful to each other—men are a thousand times worse."

Rodney shrugged his shoulders. "Everyone knows what Laxton is. All these things wouldn't be said about him if there wasn't some truth in them."

"And what has been said, pray?" she demanded angrily. "I haven't heard anything so dreadful! Just that he's a spendthrift, and things like that—nothing worse."

Rodney made no reply.

"I suppose you're going to side with father," she accused him; there were tears in her eyes now; tears in her voice, too, for that matter; young Ackroys looked up quickly.

"Norah—you're not crying over that fellow?"

"Of course I'm not crying"—she winked the tears indignantly away—"but—but father has never spoken to me like that before."

"Which is all the more reason for listening to him now. You know your father never says a think like he has just said without a good reason. You're generally eager enough to do what he wishes."

"But this is different — somehow," she declared, thought for the life of her she would not have said wherein the difference lay. She got up and walked over to the window; it was quite dark now, and there was a pleasant smell of damp earth and flowers.

She looked away toward the village and the direction of Barton Manor, and her heart beat a little more quickly as she thought of the man who was there in the great house alone.

She did not believe all the things that had been said of him; she had seen him and spoken with him herself, and instinctively she had liked him; she was conscious of a burning resentment against her father—she considered him unjust and unfair.

Behind her Rodney spoke suddenly.

"Don't be a goose, Norah; what does the fellow matter to us? I don't suppose he'll stay here long; from what one hears he hates the country."

He came behind her and laid his hands on her shoulders.

Norah did not turn. "I hate injustice," she said in a stifled voice.

The hands fell from her shoulders; there was a little pause, then——

Weddings

Jarman-Blissett.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Christ Church on Wednesday, September 28, by Rev. Canon Gunne, when Florence, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blissett, was united in marriage to Mr. Jack Jarman, of this city. The bride was given in marriage by her father and looked charming in a suit of moonshine satin, with vest of real lace, and hat to match. Miss Kathleen Blissett, sister of the bride, and Miss Dolly Archer were the bridesmaids, both prettily gowned in organdy frocks and hats. Mr. Wm. Jarman, brother of the groom, was best man. The groom's gift to the bride was a ring, to the bridesmaids gold pins and to the best man gold cuff links.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarman will be home to their friends at their new home Vauxhall street, London.

Following the banquet there was a fine program of short speeches and songs by both Rotarians and teachers.

SLEEPY-TIME TALES

A MYSTERY.

There was one thing that Mrs. Ladybug dreaded more than any other. That was—fire. The slightest whiff of smoke sent her into a flutter of alarm. The sight of a blaze made her almost frantic.

Perhaps Mrs. Ladybug's neighbors—more than she—were to be blamed for her fear. Some of them had an unkind way of frightening her. When they found her a bit too prying with her countless questions about this, that and the other matter that did not concern her, they said to her: "Aren't you worried, Mrs. Ladybug? What if your house were on fire? Wouldn't your children burn?"

Such questions never failed to send Mrs. Ladybug hurrying away.

After a while people began to wonder where Mrs. Ladybug went when she dashed away like that. Nobody seemed to know where she lived. They supposed that she must fly to her home, wherever it was.

To everybody's surprise, Mrs. Ladybug appeared to want to keep the site of her house a secret from all her friends. When they asked her, point-blank, where her house was, she always pretended not to hear the question and left them. Or she would begin to ask questions of her own choosing, without answering theirs.

"Humph!" said some people. "Mrs. Ladybug likes to pry into our affairs. She wants to know all about our business. And when she learns anything about anybody else she can't rest until she has told it to the whole neighborhood."

She soon pointed out his mistake.

The more Mrs. Ladybug's friends thought about her house, the harder they tried to discover its whereabouts. Sometimes they even mentioned fire to her and then tried to follow her when she hurried off. But she always managed to give them the slip before she had gone far.

Now and then somebody or other thought he had found Mrs. Ladybug's house. But in the end somebody else was sure to prove that he was mistaken.

Once Freddie Firefly announced with great pride that at last he knew where Mrs. Ladybug was rearing her family.

"Her house," he explained, "is a hole in the ground, in the meadow."

And that night he led Miss Mehitable Moth to the spot, lighting the way with his flickering gleams.

She soon pointed out his mistake. He had led her to the doorway of the Bumblebee family, who were all sound asleep inside their crowded house.

After that Freddie Firefly had to listen to a good many titters from his friends.

"The idea!" they would say. "Mrs. Ladybug must have a much bigger house than the Bumblebee family's. She couldn't squeeze her children into such small quarters as theirs. Why, she has more children than she can count."

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

CASTORIA

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good".

Masquerading under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late?

WAGE RATE SET BY ONTARIO BD.

Provincial Commission Confers With Industrial Representatives of Province

FINDINGS SATISFACTORY

Local Sittings Conclude on Satday; Official Announcement of Result Later

The Ontario Minimum Wage board concluded their London sittings on Saturday afternoon, following a most satisfactory conference with representatives of industry in the Ontario centers having a population of less than 50,000. Employers and employees in the candy, biscuit, jam, pickle, syrup and similar industries in the province were represented at the conference, which reached an amicable settlement of the minimum scale of wages for female employees in these industries. These findings the board will again consider and will later announce through the official gazette. The rate will probably be in force by the first of the year.

Members of the commission, of which Dr. J. W. McMillan, of Toronto, is the chairman, reported a most gratifying discussion between employers and employees of the problems to be dealt with on both sides of the question, and, though the scale set cannot yet be announced, it was intimated that it would be entirely desirable and that an excellent spirit prevailed throughout Saturday's conference and that of the preceding day, when the commissioners conferred with the industrial representatives from Ottawa, Hamilton and this city.

The commission members returned to Toronto on Saturday evening.

The Ladies' Guild of St. James' Church, South London, is undertaking some important work for the church this winter, including the purchase of the winter coal. For this fund, a rummage sale will be held shortly, and the Guild members are also preparing for their annual November bazaar, which this year promises to be a very important event. Guild officers are: Mrs. R. E. Davis, president; Mrs. George Pugsley, vice-president; Mrs. C. L. Jeffrey, treasurer, and Miss Beatrice Bartram, secretary.

LADY SCHOOL TRUSTEE IN LOVE WITH HER JOB

"I am not tired of it yet and I have enjoyed every minute of my two years on the London Board of Education, but that doesn't say that I am prepared to enter the field again," was the statement made yesterday by Mrs. W. A. Tanner to The Free Press.

Mrs. Tanner, whose term of office expires at the end of the year, was elected two years ago, and since that time has done admirable work on the board. In particular has Mrs. Tanner been interested in the auxiliary classes which have been so successfully begun here this autumn.

"I had to fight opposition about those classes," Mrs. Tanner remarked, "but I am delighted that they are going so well, and I am sure that they will be entirely satisfactory, though we must wait for the first of the year statistics to see just how efficacious they have been."

"Will you enter the field again?" Mrs. Tanner was asked.

"I have nothing to say on that point yet," was the reply. "It will depend on whether the people think I have done good enough work to be renominated, and also on personal matters. The work interests me, but is, of course, something of a strain."

The suggestion that an increased number of women candidates be entered this year in the trustee field has been made among the women of the city, but so far no definite announcement has been forthcoming, although it is understood that next week's meeting of the citizenship committee may see some suggested nominations. Mrs. J. I. A. Hunt, the remaining woman member on the Board of Education, was elected last year and has still another term to run.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS

Fruit Cake.

Those who try this fruit cake will always keep it on hand. It is moist and will keep for months—(if hidden): One cup brown sugar, one tablespoon butter, one teaspoon each cloves and cinnamon, one nutmeg, two cups milk, two and a half cups flour sifted with one teaspoon soda, one pound each raisins, currants, dates, nuts, one pound each citron and lemon peel.

A delicious filling for layer cake is made by boiling together sweetened cream and the yoke of one egg. Thicken with ground peanuts.

If sinks are flushed out once a week with a strong solution of coarse salt and boiling water there will be no more trouble with clogged pipes.

Almost all stains on white goods can be successfully removed without injury to the finest fabric by soaking in buttermilk.

The grated rind of oranges or lemons is an excellent flavoring for apple pies and layer cakes.

DRAWING LESSONS FOR OUR KIDDIES

Old Doctor Stork is a funny old bird and is very easy to draw First you must make the number four, then place a long oval on the top of the four and now you can make his funny looking head. Then you start to put his clothes on him, his hat first, now his collar and coat, and place an umbrella under his wing. There you have the doctor complete.

THE BLACK SHEEP

By Ruby M. Ayres

Mr. Ackroyd glanced at his nephew. "Rodney doesn't approve—eh—it isn't often he disapproves of anything you do, my dear."

"He thinks this is dreadful, though," she declared teasingly. "But I'll tell you all the same, and you shall decide. Well, I've made friends with the black sheep—he nearly ran over me in his car, so we spoke, and I thought he was nice, and he's coming to see you." She spoke rather quickly, as if not quite sure how her news would be received.

Mr. Ackroyd laughed and held up his hand.

"Not so fast—not so fast! I can't follow you. The black sheep—now, first of all, who is the black sheep?"

Rodney glanced up from his occupation of pealing an apple; his eyes looked somehow angry.

"Norah means Laxton—Laxton, of Barton Manor," he said slowly.

"Laxton!" Mr. Ackroyd echoed the name sharply. "That fellow! You've made friends with him, and he's coming here!" He brought his fist down heavily on the table. His kind face was scowling, the very tone of his voice had changed. "I'll take good care he doesn't come here," he thundered. "He's an absolute young blackguard! I won't have the fellow in my house, and you can tell him so, or I will—if I ever meet him."

Norah stared at her father in utter amazement; he had never spoken so roughly to her before; the hot color rushed to her cheeks.

"Father!" she said breathlessly.

Mr. Ackroyd pushed back his chair irritably and rose to his feet.

"I mean what I say," he said curtly. "I won't have the fellow here; you've no business to have allowed him to speak to you; if he'd been a gentleman he wouldn't have done it."

She broke in then: "He only apologized for almost running me down; he wouldn't have been a gentleman if he had driven on and said nothing. I think you're most unjust—you haven't even seen him."

"There are some people it isn't necessary to see," he interrupted grimly. "I know quite enough about the young man to know that he's no fit companion for you; so don't let me catch him hanging around here. I mean what I say, mind."

He opened the door and went out of the room.

There was a little silence.

"Well!" said Norah, indignantly. She looked across the room for sympathy, but he did not raise his eyes. "Of all the mean, unjust things," she went on hotly. "Talk about women being spiteful to each other—men are a thousand times worse."

Rodney shrugged his shoulders. "Everyone knows what Laxton is. All these things wouldn't be said about him if there wasn't some truth in them."

"And what has been said, pray?" she demanded angrily. "I haven't heard anything so dreadful! Just that he's a spendthrift, and things like that—nothing worse."

Rodney made no reply.

"I suppose you're going to side with father," she accused him; there were tears in her eyes now; tears in her voice, too, for that matter; young Ackroyd looked up quickly.

"Norah—you're not crying over that fellow?"

"Of course I'm not crying"—she winked the tears indignantly away—"but—but father has never spoken to me like that before."

"Which is all the more reason for listening to him now. You know your father never says a think like he has just said without a good reason. You're generally eager enough to do what he wishes."

"But this is different — somehow," she declared, thought for the life of her she would not have said wherein the difference lay. She got up and walked over to the window; it was quite dark now, and there was a pleasant smell of damp earth and flowers.

She looked away toward the village and the direction of Barton Manor, and her heart beat a little more quickly as she thought of the man who was there in the great house alone.

She did not believe all the things that had been said of him; she had seen him and spoken with him herself, and instinctively she had liked him; she was conscious of a burning resentment against her father—she considered him unjust and unfair.

Behind her Rodney spoke suddenly.

"Don't be a goose, Norah; what does the fellow matter to us? I don't suppose he'll stay here long; from what one hears he hates the country."

He came behind her and laid his hands on her shoulders.

Norah did not turn. "I hate injustice," she said in a stifled voice.

The hands fell from her shoulders; there was a little pause, then——

Weddings

Jarman-Blissett.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Christ Church on Wednesday, September 28, by Rev. Canon Gunne, when Florence, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blissett, was united in marriage to Mr. Jack Jarman, of this city. The bride was given in marriage by her father and looked charming in a suit of moonshine satin, with vest of real lace, and hat to match. Miss Kathleen Blissett, sister of the bride, and Miss Dolly Archer were the bridesmaids, both prettily gowned in organdy frocks and hats. Mr. Wm. Jarman, brother of the groom, was best man. The groom's gift to the bride was a ring, to the bridesmaids gold pins and to the best man gold cuff links.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarman will be home to their friends at their new home Vauxhall street, London.

BISPHAM, BARITONE, DIES AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—David S. Bispham, baritone, and one of the best-known American lyric artists, died of intestinal trouble to-day after an illness of six weeks. He was 64 years old. A wife and two daughters survive him.

Mr. Bispham, a native of Philadelphia, made his operatic debut in London in 1891. After a successful career abroad he came to the Metropolitan Opera Company, singing baritone roles in French, German, Italian and English. He produced classic opera comique in English.

GUESTS OF ROTARIANS.

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 2.—Practically every teacher in Owen Sound attended a banquet in the Masonic Hall on Friday evening, which was tendered them by the local Rotary Club. The party numbered about 120. Following the banquet there was a fine program of short speeches and songs by both Rotarians and teachers.

A MYSTERY.

There was one thing that Mrs. Ladybug dreaded more than any other. That was—fire. The slightest whiff of smoke sent her into a flutter of alarm. The sight of a blaze made her almost frantic.

Perhaps Mrs. Ladybug's neighbors—more than she—were to be blamed for her fear. Some of them had an unkind way of frightening her. When they found her a bit too prying with her countless questions about this, that and the other matter that did not concern her, they said to her: "Aren't you worried, Mrs. Ladybug? What if your house were on fire? Wouldn't your children burn?"

Such questions never failed to send Mrs. Ladybug hurrying away.

After a while people began to wonder where Mrs. Ladybug went when she dashed away like that. Nobody seemed to know where she lived. They supposed that she must fly to her home, wherever it was.

To everybody's surprise, Mrs. Ladybug appeared to want to keep the site of her house a secret from all her friends. When they asked her, point-blank, where her house was, she always pretended not to hear the question and left them. Or she would begin to ask questions of her own choosing, without answering theirs.

"Humph!" said some people. "Mrs. Ladybug likes to pry into our affairs. She wants to know all about our business. And when she learns anything about anybody else she can't rest until she has told it to the whole neighborhood."

She soon pointed out his mistake.

The more Mrs. Ladybug's friends thought about her house, the harder they tried to discover its whereabouts. Sometimes they even mentioned fire to her and then tried to follow her when she hurried off. But she always managed to give them the slip before she had gone far.

Now and then somebody or other thought he had found Mrs. Ladybug's house. But in the end somebody else was sure to prove that he was mistaken.

Once Freddie Firefly announced with great pride that at last he knew where Mrs. Ladybug was rearing her family.

"Her house," he explained, "is a hole in the ground, in the meadow."

And that night he led Miss Mehitable Moth to the spot, lighting the way with his flickering gleams.

She soon pointed out his mistake. He had led her to the doorway of the Bumblebee family, who were all sound asleep inside their crowded house.

After that Freddie Firefly had to listen to a good many titters from his friends.

"The idea!" they would say. "Mrs. Ladybug must have a much bigger house than the Bumblebee family's. She couldn't squeeze her children into such small quarters as theirs. Why, she has more children than she can count."

FORMER KING WILLIAM OF WURTTEMBERG DIES

STUTTGART, Germany, Oct. 2.—(Associated Press Cable.)—Former King William II., of Wurttemberg, is dead.

William II., reigning king of the Monarchy of Wurttemberg, abdicated in November, 1918. He issued a proclamation saying that his person would never serve to hinder the development of the wishes of the people. His abdication, along with that of many other German rulers, was a direct outcome of the war. He had reigned since 1891.

When Baby Complains.

THERE ARE MANY WAYS a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

CASTORIA

Let's Think It Over.

There is such a thing as saying too much on any subject, and the "grand-stand" talker sooner or later becomes a bore. The truth is always welcomed, and the truth reiterated and confirmed is more than welcome—it reaches your innermost soul.

Fletcher's Castoria is all its advertising has claimed for it. Scrutinized by the microscope of public opinion and used for over thirty years it stands without a peer in the hearts of thoughtful, cautious, discerning Mothers. And once used, mother love—there is no substitute for mother love—will scorn to try a "substitute" or a "just-as-good".

Masquerading under many names drugs that are injurious to the tender babe have found their way into some households, but the light of experience soon casts them out. Are they cast out before it is too late?

Windsor Tennis Team Wins London Free Press Trophy

Defeats St. Catharines Team Just When a Victory Would Have Meant Permanent Possession of Cup, Which Is Emblematic of Western Ontario Tennis League Championship

The London Free Press trophy, emblematic of the Western Ontario Tennis League championship, was captured by the Elmcourt tennis team, of Windsor, when they decisively defeated the two-time champions of St. Catharines at Reid's fine asphalt courts on Saturday afternoon, taking three events out of four and leaving the fifth unfinished.

CUMMINGS WINDSOR STAR

The Windsor ace was J. D. Cummings, whose style was superb and vastly superior to anything disclosed of any of the players on the courts during the afternoon. He was wonderful at the net and, while he restricted himself to a medium yet forceful stroke in volleying, he was complete master throughout. He probably used his mystifying serving style owing to the peculiar antics of the wind, which swept across the courts. He had a strong oppenent in Major Gould, but won his sets by 6-2 and 6-2. Dr. Laing won his singles match from Dr. Currey, after having teamed it successfully with Cummings in the doubles against Hara and Currey. Currey gave Laing a battle in the first set, which was decided by 6-4, but took the count in the deciding set by 6-2.

WIN ONE DOUBLES EVENT

St. Catharines negotiated their only event when Major Gould and Spencer defeated Smith and Whatmore in the doubles by 6-3 and 6-3 and with the count 3 to 1 against them Hara left his singles match with Whatmore unfinished, as the latter was leading by a good margin.

The St. Kitts team needed only to win the majority of the events in order to annex The Free Press silverware permanently, as they had won it on two previous occasions. Windsor's success lengthens the life of the original trophy, which was donated in 1914, to the only league of its kind in tennis circles. The league this year extended from east to west in Western Ontario and was the medium for more interclub matches than ever before staged in this section. Summary:

J. D. Cummings and Dr. Laing (Windsor) defeated L. D. Hara and Dr. Curry (St. Catharines), 7-5, 7-5.

Major Gould and Spencer (St. Catharines) defeated George E. Smith and G. W. Whatmore (Windsor), 6-3, 6-3.

J. D. Cummings (Windsor) defeated Major Gould (St. Catharines), 6-2, 6-2.

Dr. Laing (Windsor) defeated Dr. Curry (St. Catharines), 6-4, 6-2.

G. Whatmore (Windsor) vs. L. O. Hara (St. Catharines), unfinished.

BOUCHER WINS FINAL.

Secretary J. G. Boucher, of the Western Ontario tournament, which begins next Thursday at the London Hunt and Country Club courts, won the singles championship of the Jolung tennis tournament on Saturday afternoon by defeating Black, 6-2, 6-2.

Black won from Graham in the postponed semi-final of the previous Saturday by 6-2, 3-6 and 6-3.

Baseball Night For Orient Team

The Orient Club members will honor their baseball team, which won the interclub championship and the Martin-Lyon trophy for the first time. It has been decided to hold a baseball night on Friday, October 14.

Each individual member of the Orient baseball team will be presented with a gift, which will come in the form of a surprise. Charles Martin and Messrs. Lyons, who are the donors of the Martin-Lyons cup, will be present and will make the presentation to the championship baseball team.

The Orient Club team has won the league championship for two consecutive years, and, according to Manager Ted Braund, will be out to win the honors again next year.

The following club members have been elected to make final plans for the baseball night: Gordon Erskine, H. Gillies, H. Hamilton, Jack Fraser, John Burgess and H. Down.

MISSES LEITCH ENTER ANOTHER GOLF TOURNEY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—Announcement was made at the White Marsh Valley Country Club to-day that Miss Cecil Leitch, British, French and Canadian woman golf champion, her sister, Edith, and two other British women players, will compete in the Berthellyn cup tournament, which opens in the Huntingdon Valley Country Club on October 11. A number of leading U. S. players, including Miss Alexa Stirling, the national titleholder, also are entered.

PRESENT JAFFRAY WITH PEN

GALT, Oct. 2.—It is very doubtful if the record of W. G. Grace, the grand old man of cricket, and that of J. P. Jaffray, local editor, can be equalled. This year marks his 50th as a player and he is still going strong. To remind him of the occasion his fellow-cricketers have presented him with a handsome fountain pen. Mr. Jaffray has done much to boost the game locally and in Western Ontario. During sojourns in Chicago and Philadelphia he also played the game there.

Hamilton Soccer All-Stars Play Here Saturday

London and District Executive Committee Will Select Team on Wednesday

London and District Football Association all-stars will meet a selected aggregation from the Hamilton and District in an exhibition game to be staged at Tecumseh Park on Saturday afternoon. At a meeting of the executive committee of the L. and D. F. A., to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock, the local team will be selected.

Other important questions are to come before the executive, including the petition asking that James Smith, former Public Utilities captain, be reinstated.

The Hamilton soccer officials will make their selection to-night and intend sending their strongest possible team to London to compete in the exhibition match.

McCutcheon Cup Entries Close Next Friday

City League Officials Will Make Draw at Meeting on Friday Evening

Entries for the McCutcheon cup ties will close on Friday, October 7. The draw for the cup ties will then be made by the City League officials at a meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock.

It has been decided to have the gate receipts in the preliminary and cup tie games evenly divided among the teams entering the series, and the receipts in the finals will go to the City League and will be used to purchase medals for the members of the winners and the runners up.

The City League games will be completed as soon as possible, and double headers will be ordered for the remainder of the season. There are still three or four games to be played by each team in the City League. When these are completed the McCutcheon cup games will be started immediately.

Rugby Teams Will Practice To-Day

Collegiate and Western "U" Teams Will Be Out at Tecumseh Park

London's two rugby teams will be out at Tecumseh Park this afternoon for a two-hour practice. A. T. Taylor and "Buster" Reid will be in attendance and will give the rugby players more instructions.

The Collegiate squad will likely line up against the University students for the first time this season. It is expected that the former Western "U" players who have not yet put in an appearance will be out this afternoon in their rugby regalia.

The Collegiate Institute team is down to hard work and will be in good shape to play their first group game.

The Western "U" will be strengthened for the coming interscholastic series with the Toronto universities. The two coaches have been working hard and are anxious to have two strong teams represent London in the rugby series.

Fivepin League For Manhattans

Four-Team League Is Organized; Captains Are Elected

A fivepin league has been organized by the members of the Manhattan Club. Arrangements are now under way to have the season commence during the next two weeks and the games will be continued until early in the spring.

The league will be open to members of the Manhattan Club only and Alex. McCormick, Hugh McCormick, Hector Boyce and Bert Spettigue, who were members of the Manhattan team in the City League last season, have been chosen as team captains.

There are a few experienced bowlers among the Manhattans and there are also many amateurs who are anxious to get a chance at knocking down the five pins. The teams will be evenly balanced and the competition will no doubt be keen.

Public Utilities Win City Title

Defeated R. C. R. and Win King Edward Soccer Cup

The Public Utilities soccer team defeated the Royal Canadian Regiment eleven by the score of 3 to 2 at Carling's Heights on Saturday afternoon and cinched the King Edward cup, which is emblematic of the City League championship.

The Public Utilities team, which is badly crippled, played an exceptionally good game. In the second half of the game the soldiers only passed the halfway line three times.

Herring scored two goals and Perkins one for the winners.

The following team represented the Public Utilities: Whitworth, goal; Hunt and Dennis, backs; Ince, Smith and Short, half backs; Herring, Perkins, Ridley, Johnston and Holt, forwards.

THROUGH SPORTS LENS

Another effort will be made by the officers of the Public Utilities soccer team to have James Smith reinstated at a meeting of the London and District Football Association executive to be held on Wednesday evening.

Manager Tommy Hodkinson states that it may be impossible for the Public Utilities to place a team in the field to defend the McCrimmon trophy if he does not receive some aid from the London and District Football Association. Four of the Public Utilities players are out of the game at the present time. Hazelwood is suffering from injuries he received in Ottawa game. Moore has an injured foot. Clarke has a bad leg and Hunt has recently come out of the hospital. These four players were injured in the Plenty cup games, representing the London and district, and the manager of the Public Utilities contends that it is only fair that he should receive some assistance from the association now that it is needed. The Public Utilities representatives will request the L. and D. F. A. executive committee to take some action on the petition at Wednesday's session.

The amateur baseball season has come to an end in London for the year 1921. Owing to the fact that the Civil Service won the Manufacturers' League title, and the Orient Club team the Interclub League championship, a playoff for the city championship was impossible, as many of the Civil Service players are also Orient team members.

The Orient Club is proud of the championship baseball team, which has won the honors for two consecutive years and will honor them at the baseball night to be held shortly.

Although the City Soccer League has not completed the season, the Public Utilities team has won the championship and the King Edward cup. This trophy was won last year by the Grand Trunk Amateur Athletic Association team. This makes the second cup for the Public Utilities eleven this year. The team won The London Free Press cup, emblematic of the championship of the London and District Association, and figured in the finals of the Plenty cup series. Had it not been for misfortunate circumstances the London team would have brought home the Albert Plenty trophy.

The Elmcourt Tennis Club players, of Windsor, on Saturday won The London Free Press tennis cup and the championship of the Western Ontario Tennis League by defeating St. Catharines players, who were twice winners of the cup

The Manufacturers' Amateur Athletic Association will get away to a good start at a meeting to be held in the Y. M. C. A. to-morrow evening. Several firms have already entered the newly organized association and several more are expected to-day and to-morrow.

Entries for the Western Ontario tennis tournament, which will be held here for three days, commencing on Thursday, will close with Secretary J. G. Boucher on Wednesday night.

St. Marys Wins Lacrosse Title

Stone Town Ten Win Round by Two Goals, Defeating Oshawa Finalists at Home by 9 to 8

OSHAWA, Oct. 1.—By defeating Oshawa 9 goals to 8, in one of the most sensational games of lacrosse seen here in years, St. Mary's captured the intermediate championship of the O. A. L. A., winning the round by two goals. The two teams were evenly matched, but the locals fully expected to overcome the one-goal lead which the Saints brought down with them. However, the tricky combination of the visitors' home was largely responsible for Oshawa's defeat, while their defense showed great improvement over their performance at home on Wednesday. Oshawa was conceded to be easy winners, but the Stone Town boys proved that their staying powers were equally as good as Art Warwick's clan. The locals came strong at the finish, scoring two goals, but they made a costly mistake when they deserted Jocques in the net, and when Lavelle broke away he had no difficulty in finding the net.

Oshawa—Goal, Jocques; point, Beecham; cover, Cooke; first defense, Clapper; second defense, McKinnon; center, Lovegrove; first home, Ganton; second home, Oliver; inside, Graham; outside, Sales; spares, McDonald, N. Irwin and K. Irwin.

St. Marys — Goal, Stevens; point, Stewart; cover, Yates; first defense, Alberts; second defense, Wilson; center, Iver; first home, L. Lavelle; second home, Smith; inside, Cowan; outside, W. Lavelle; spares, Stricker, Wilson and Newman.

Interclub League Has Good Year

Officers Complete Business for the Season; More Teams Next Year.

The Interclub Baseball League officials, at a meeting held recently, completed the business transactions for the season and have closed a successful year.

The league officials will convene again within the next few weeks and discuss the proposed plan to increase the size of the league. It is likely that all clubs and social organizations of the season will be invited to play in the league next season.

It has been definitely decided to have next year's games staged in the city instead of going to Port Stanley, which has been the case for the past two years.

The Orients and Alerts drew large crowds in the play-off series, which will help to make the league a success financially.

TORONTO, Oct. 2.—The Argonauts outclassed the Hamilton Tigers in the opening game of the Interprovincial Rugby Union senior season at Varsity stadium Saturday afternoon, and won easily by a score of 27 to 4, the Tigers never being in the hunt after the first ten minutes. The score by quarters was 13-0, 13-2, 21-3 and 27-4. Conacher, the big center half of the Argos, was the star of the game, his running and kicking being sensational. He scored 17 of the winners' points and was directly responsible for seven of the other 10. The locals were far the superior team and overshadowed the Tigers in every department. Every man who played for the scullers was a star, while Manson, on the back division, and Suzner, on the line, were the only ones of the Bengals who showed anything like real senior form.

The showing of the Tigers was a great disappointment to the 7,500 fans who witnessed the game, as it was expected that the Tigers would prove to be the Argos' stumbling block in their quest for a second championship.

OUTPLAY MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Oct. 2.—Ottawa defeated the M.A.A.A. rugby football squad in the opening clash here of the Interprovincial Union on Saturday afternoon, winning by 20 to 5, in a game which was replete with loose plays, and showed that the teams had not yet taken to the new rules. Except for a short-lived offensive in the first quarter, which ended without a score being registered, and a flash in the third period, which culminated in Klein going over for a touchdown, the Montreal squad was outplayed by the Senators in all departments.

Growing Earnings

Because of their essential nature, the services of our water power and public utility companies are less subject to fluctuating demand than other industries as is proved by the fact that to-day in face of the most adverse business conditions, most of these companies are showing steadily increased net earnings.

In view of this, ought not the bonds of such companies to be the most desirable kind of investment, combining as they do, safety with a generous interest?

Guelph Leafs Vs. Plowites October 5

Hurry Up Play-Offs in O.B.A.A. by Advancing Games This Week

GUELPH, Oct. 2.—Owing to the lateness of the season the O. B. A. A. has decided to have the second game between the Maple Leafs and the Hamilton Plowites played here on Wednesday afternoon instead of waiting until next Saturday, and it may be that the Copper Cliff Club, champions of the Nickel Belt League, will play here on Saturday should the Leafs dispose of the Plowites on Wednesday. In case a third game with the Plowites is necessary it will be played on Saturday, possibly at Galt, and the Copper Cliff team would then play Hillcrest should they defeat Oshawa on Wednesday. Should they require a third game then the Nickel Belt champions will have to wait a few days longer.

There was great jubilation here on Saturday night over the victory of the Leafs at Hamilton and local fans are now convinced that they have a real chance to carry off the Ontario championship. There will be a record crowd here on Wednesday should the weather be fine, as fans from all over the surrounding country will be here.

SMALL PIGS DROP TWO DOLLARS CWT.

Potato Market Steady In Spite of Importation of Carlots.

Apples were plentiful on the local market on Saturday due to the heavy winds of Friday causing windfalls in large quantities and, as a result, there was more than the demand called for. They sold at 40c to 60c a peck and $1 to $2 a bushel.

Eggs were in good demand on Saturday and the price increased towards noon from 42c to 44c for crate lots and from 44c to 45c for basket lots, wholesale.

Small pigs dropped from $10 to $12 to $8 to $12 a hundredweight.

Another carload of potatoes arrived in the city this morning for local dealers, but although there has been quite a number imported during the last two weeks, it seems to have no effect on the local situation, as prices remain steady.

Cucumbers are getting scarce and it is expected that they will be off the market by the end of the week.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS DAMAGE THREE TOWNS

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Oct. 2.—After more than 50 hours of recurrent earthquake shocks and almost continuous trembling, the seismic disturbances at Richfield, Elsinore and Monroe, 120 miles south of Salt Lake City, have subsided. Property damage at Elsinore and Monroe is estimated at more than $100,000. The exodus of residents from the three towns south of here, near the center of the disturbance, continued throughout the day. Those who have left Elsinore and Monroe have abandoned all brick and stone structures in the towns because of fear of injury in case of additional shaking. School sessions will probably be resumed at Elsinore on Monday.

Not a brick or stone structure remains intact in either Elsinore or Monroe, it is said, and several residences and warehouses are total wrecks. Several personal injuries have been recorded.

ARVA SCHOOL FAIR—St. Johns will hold its first school fair to-morrow. All indications point to it being a great success.

FINANCIAL.

WALL STREET TRADING.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—(Wall street, 10.30 a. m.)—Renewed buying of oils, metals and coalers infused a measure of strength at the opening to-day. Mexican Petroleum, General Asphalt, Royal Dutch and such domestic issues as Standard Oil of New Jersey and Invincible and Junior oils made large fractional gains. Utah and Chino Copper, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Baltimore and Ohio and Pittsburg and West Virginia registered similar advances, and rubber and chemical specialties also improved. The list became somewhat unsettled within the first half hour, however, American Sugar showing especial pressure at a loss of 2½ points to a new low record.

FARMERS NAME ARCH. HODGINS

U. F. O. President Is Choice in East Middlesex

FIFTEEN NOMINATIONS

H. J. Heath, Labor, Eliminated on Third Ballot

Archie L. Hodgins, of Ilderton, will be the federal candidate of the Progressives for East Middlesex. Mr. Hodgins was chosen from a field of seven, on the fifth ballot, at a largely-attended convention in the Masonic Temple on Saturday afternoon. On motion of Richard Fitzgerald and Frank Wilson, two of the contestants, the nomination was declared unanimous. When the result of the fifth ballot was announced, although it was almost a foregone conclusion, Mr. Hodgins received an ovation. Cheers and applause which lasted several minutes carried the congratulations of the entire assemblage to the successful contender.

The candidate lives about three miles from Ilderton and is actively engaged in farming. He was born in the district, in which he still resides. He is president of the East Middlesex United Farmers of Ontario and president as well of the Ilderton U. F. O. Club. He has been actively interested in the United Farmer organization since its inception, but aside from that has not been in public life.

FIFTEEN PROPOSED.

There were 15 nominations for the candidacy, of whom, however, only seven remained in the field. One woman, Mrs. Smith, of Crumlin, was nominated. All the nominees spoke briefly. On the fifth ballot but Mr. Hodgins and Richard Fitzgerald, of West Nissouri, remained in the running. The result of the ballots was not announced, but it was admitted that Mr. Hodgins had obtained more than one-half the votes on the fourth ballot.

On the first ballot, R. D. Stanley, of Biddulph, received the lowest number of votes and was automatically eliminated. On the second voting two of the candidates, Louis Craig, of Belmont, and Frank Wilson, of West Nissouri, were low with a tie vote and dropped out of the race. H. J. Heath, of Hyde Park, who was the candidate favored by the Labor delegates at the convention, was eliminated on the third ballot. Stanley Shaw, of Dorchester, dropped from the race on the succeeding ballot, leaving Mr. Hodgins and Mr. Fitzgerald in the fifth and final ballot.

Mr. Hodgins spoke briefly, both before and after his selection as Progressive candidate. He declared that he recognized the responsibility that had been placed upon him and the only fear he had was that he was not capable of living up to it. It was an honor to be chosen as a candidate in such a constituency as East Middlesex. He expressed the hope that he might prove true to the Progressives, true to himself and true to his country. He did not touch on the tariff or any other issue, but stated that all his followers would have plenty of opportunity to hear from him in the near future.

R. H. Halbert, M. P. for North Ontario, followed the choice of Mr. Hodgins as candidate, spoke at some length. Touching on the tariff, which he did very lightly, Mr. Halbert stated that every manufacturer was a free trader when he wanted to buy but not when he wanted to sell. The manufacturers were always handy to the Government at election time, according to the speaker.

"Wool is cheap," declared Mr. Halbert, "but look out they don't stuff your eyes with this cheap wool at election time."

AN "OLD FAVORITE."

Mr. Halbert declared that the farmers had been called Bolshevists by Premier Meighen, but he was proud to belong to a party lead by a man of the character and integrity of T. A. Crerar. He declared that the farmers were called Bolshevists because they had begun to think for themselves.

The speaker declared that the Provincial Government had been attacked on its good roads policy. He was not defending the Provincial Government, but he stated that the good roads policy had been formulated by the preceding Government. The Provincial Government had been charged with extravagance, but, according to Mr. Halbert, they appeared to be more extravagant than other Governments because they had been honest in their bookkeeping. Touching on the motor truck deal of the Hon. F. C. Biggs, Mr. Halbert stated that Mr. Biggs had made a political mistake, but he justified this by declaring that Hon. C. C. Ballantyne had given contracts for a number of ships for the Canadian merchant marine without calling for tenders.

The farmers of Canada had a duty to perform, Mr. Halbert declared. It had come to a time when Canada was going through such a seige as she had never gone through before. The Progressives of East Middlesex had picked their candidate and Mr. Halbert made a plea for the farmers to get behind him. He also appealed to the ladies, many of whom were going to mark their ballots for the first time, to get away from the old parties and get behind the farmers.

LABOR DELEGATES.

H. J. Heath, of Hyde Park, a former railway conductor, and one of the nominees for the East Middlesex candidacy, was strongly supported by Labor and made a good run. There were some 32 labor delegates from the outlying parts of London, who are in the East Middlesex riding and these supported Mr. Heath. In addressing the gathering, Mr. Heath declared that it was a very important one as it was a fight between the farmers and the manufacturers.

The speaker expressed himself to the effect that Canada, being an agricultural country, should first find a market for her crop. Under present conditions this was not possible and as a result there was a large part of the 1920 crops still on hand and all of the 1921 crop. This would result disastrously for the industrial classes, he declared. On the other hand if production were retarded, it would mean dispensing with surplus labor and would increase the army of unemployed. The free trade question had been mentioned. While it was deserving of consideration, the speaker admitted that he had been unable up to the present to find one person absolutely in favor of full free trade. What was being asked was a revision of the tariff only.

James Ramsay, of Thorndale, pointed to the attendance of a large number of women voters as a difference from conventions of former years. Touching on the matter of class legislation, the speaker declared that while he would feel safe with a farmer government he would be a little alarmed with labor or professional men predominating. He advised the convention to select the best possible candidate.

Richard Fitzgerald, of West Nissouri, the closest contender for the nomination, spoke very briefly. He declared that he had always advocated farmers to represent agricultural constituencies. If there had been more farmers in Parliament during the past few years there would have been better government.

Louis Craig, of Belmont, expressed the opinion that the farmers' platform did not propose throwing wide open the doors of Canada for free trade for the farmers and the laboring classes. There was little difference between the platforms of the Progressives and Labor.

R. D. Stanley, of Diddulph, declared simply that he would stand by the farmers platform and the recall plank. Walter Laidlaw, of Wilton Grove, announced that he would not be a candidate for the nomination. History was about to repeat itself, in his opinion. After any great crisis in the world's history countries had either advanced or gone back. The National Progressive party had come to the front in Canada to push ahead. He believed that a time such as the present demanded great men—men whom the spoils of office would not buy.

Mrs. Smith, of Crumlin, a director of the East Middlesex U. F. O. was given a fine reception. She appreciated the honor which had been accorded her and could think of no greater privilege than to represent a constituency such as East Middlesex. Duty however began at home and her family required all her time.

There were great matters of immigration, finance, waterways and the pulp wood to be looked after, Frank Wilson, of West Nissouri, declared in his brief remarks. He declared himself in favor of reforestation. John Dawes, of Belmont, declared that the destiny of the country was in the hands of the farmers to-day. There was never a time when the country was faced by such vital problems as it would face during the next five years.

Stanley Shaw, of Dorchester, declared in favor of farmers and labor getting together for the federal campaign. He declared that there was not more than 10 per cent of difference in the platforms of the two parties. He declared he was not a free trader, but was in favor of a reduced tariff, in favor of lumber, coal and farm implements.

A. M. Dickie, of Hyde Park, and Isaac Needham, of Bryanston, spoke briefly withdrawing from the contest as did also the chairman George Bogue, of Lambeth, president of the East Middlesex U. F. O. Political Association.

DR. STEVENSON.

Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M. P. P., asked those who said that farmers and labor could not work together to go down to the Provincial House and see how they were working together. He declared that the present Provincial Government had given the province the best legislation that had ever been given. He declared that someone was trying to drive a wedge between the farmers and labor, but that despite this they were better together than ever before. Such a government as is in power in Ontario would give as good administration in the Dominion House.

Mrs. Thomas Robson, assistant county treasurer, made a plea for all classes to get together in an address which she delivered during the intervals between the balloting. Andrew Hicks, Provincial Government whip, was present.

IN NATURE'S PLAYGROUNDS.

A region which provides one of the most delightful winter holidays is the great Algonquin Park reserve, 200 miles north of Toronto and 170 miles west of Ottawa. Two thousand feet above the sea level, it has invigorating climatic conditions. No matter how cold it is, the air is dry, and the man with a sweater never suffers discomfort. The Highland Inn, the largest of the park hotels, will be open for the reception of guests this season from December 15 to March 15, and as the accommodation is limited, patrons are advised to make reservations early. Write to any Canadian National-Grand Trunk agent, or to manager, Highland Inn, Algonquin Park Station, Ont., for illustrated booklet. J3h

TO ENTER CANDIDATE

CHATHAM, Oct. 2.—The executive committee of the United Farmers of Kent held a meeting in Harrison Hall last evening at which the question of placing a candidate in the field to contest the next federal election was discussed. The ultimate decision of the meeting was that they should be represented in the fight, and it was arranged to hold a mass meeting of the members of the U.F.O. in this city on October 22 for the purpose of selecting a candidate.

There were about 15 members of the executive present and it is believed the decision to enter the contest was practically unanimous. Several names have been mentioned as probable candidates, but this question was not discussed at length at yesterday's meeting. It was decided to leave the selection entirely with the convention. Four delegates will be present at this convention from each of the polling subdivisions, including city, town and rural districts.

Elliot W. Hardy presided at the executive meeting, and other prominent U.F.O. officers who were also present were: G. Estabrook, of Merlin County, director for Kent; Sam Montgomery, of Dover, and William Ferguson, of Oxford.

Archie B. McCoig, the present Liberal member for the riding of Kent, has already signified his willingness to run as a Liberal, although no convention has as yet been called to nominate him.

NORTH ESSEX LIBERALS.

WINDSOR, Oct. 2.—At a meeting of the executive of North Essex Liberal Association held yesterday, Saturday, October 15 was set as date for holding nominating convention. The delegates will meet at Odd Fellows Hall on that date and it is expected will name W. C. Kennedy, who has represented the constituency for the past three years as standard-bearer for North Essex Liberals.

MR. FAUTEAUX NOMINATED

ST. JEROME, Que., Oct. 2.—Hon. Andre Fauteaux, solicitor-general in Premier Meighen's Cabinet, was yesterday unanimously chosen to be the Government standard bearer in Terre Bonne County in the general elections. Hon. R. Monty, secretary of state, addressed the meeting in the absence of Hon. Mr. Fauteaux at Ottawa, where he had been called to assume his portfolio.

U. S. FIRM TO CUT PRICE OF IMPLEMENTS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 2.—(Canadian Press Dispatch.)—A reduction of 20 per cent. in the price of plows, tilling implements and harvesting machinery was announced to-day by B. F. Avery & Sons, manufacturers. Gradual reduction in the cost of manufacture made possible this comparatively large cut, said William Black, president.

C. P. R. BRAKEMAN KILLED.

ROBB IS CHOSEN

ORMSTOWN, Que., Oct. 3. — (Canadian Express Dispatch.) — Strong condemnation of Government ownership and operation of railways both in principle and practice was voiced by Hon. Walter Mitchell, provincial treasurer of the Province of Quebec, and by J. A. Robb, M.P. for the federal division of Chateauguay-Huntingdon, in the course of a meeting on Saturday, at which Mr. Robb was chosen unanimously as Liberal candidate for the division at the approaching elections.

McMASTER RENAMED

SHERBROOKE, Que., Oct. 3. — At a rally held in Knowlton on Saturday afternoon the Liberal delegates of Brome County again nominated A. R. McMaster, M.P., to represent the party in the coming election. The choice was unanimous.

LIBERALS NAME CARDIN

SOREL, Que., Oct. 3. — At a Liberal convention at Sorel on Sunday, P. J. Cardin, M.P. for this city, was chosen Liberal candidate at the forthcoming federal elections for the County of Richelieu.

Speaking later in the same city, Hon. Jacques Bureau denied that he ever raised racial and religious cries. He was French-Canadian, which meant he was 100 per cent Canadian and all French-Canadians were, he declared, loyal.

PUGSLEY UNCERTAIN.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 3.—Commenting on a report that Lieut.-Governor Pugsley would be a candidate in Royal (King's-Queen's) in the approaching elections, Premier Foster, of New Brunswick, in the absence of the governor, said last night that the latter had not given authority for the use of his name and had not given further consideration to the matter of candidacy. Concerning the report that he himself would be a candidate in the federal division of St. John and Albert, Premier Foster said: "The balance is on the side of probability that I will not be a candidate."

NORTH PERTH CONVENTION.

H. B. Morphy, K.C., M.P., was in the city yesterday on his way to Kingsville, where South Essex Liberal-Conservatives hold their nominating convention to-day. Mr. Morphy announced that the convention of the party in his own riding of North Perth has been called for Wednesday, October 12, at Milverton.

SOUTH YORK LIBERALS.

TORONTO, Oct. 2.—Alex. McGregor, K.C., who contested South York unsuccessfully for the Liberals at the general election of 1917, is to have another opportunity to test the sentiment of the electors, as he was, at Saturday's convention of the party, held in the Labor Temple, the unanimous choice. There were about 175 delegates present and there were a number of nominations made, but all the others retired in favor of Mr. McGregor, after making speeches.

GLENVILLE U.F.O.

BROCKVILLE, Oct. 1.—G. Arthur Payne, Cardinal, was to-day selected as United Farmer candidate in Grenville riding at a largely-attended convention held at Spencerville. Mr. Payne was the unsuccessful candidate against Hon. G. Howard Ferguson at the last provincial election.

PUGSLEY TO RE-ENTER ARENA

ST. JOHN, Oct. 1.—(Canadian Press Dispatch.)—The Standard to-day says that Hon. Wm. Pugsley is to resign as lieutenant-governor of New Brunswick and stand as Liberal candidate in Royal, N. B. The member for Royal now is Gen. H. H. McLean, and the newspaper says he will be the new lieutenant-governor.

LABOR FAILS TO WAG U. F. O.

HAMILTON, Oct. 2.—(Canadian Press Dispatch.)—The nomination of C. F. Woodley, a farmer of Lynden, as the Farmer-Labor candidate in the federal riding of Wentworth was carried out at a joint convention of Labor and U. F. O. delegates on Saturday, but not without and outburst of opposition from some of the Labor men.

Declaring that the Farmers had "put it over them" a number of Laborites refused to make the nomination of Mr. Woodley unanimous.

There were 46 delegates from each party present and six Farmers and five Laborites were nominated.

Mr. Woodley got 49 votes on the first ballot. The Laborites expressed suspicions when it was declared that one of the Farmer candidates did not get a vote, even his mover and seconder having passed him up.

N. WATERLOO I. L. P.-U. F. O.

KITCHENER, Oct. 2.—Dr. J. E. Hett, former mayor of Kitchener and member of the provincial executive of the I.L.P., will be the Labor-Farmer candidate for North Waterloo, having been selected at a largely-attended joint convention held in Waterloo on Saturday. Six other names were offered, including those of Mayor Bohlender, of Waterloo, Ald. Chas. Massel, of Kitchener, and Gavin Barbour, of Cross Hill, unsuccessful farmer candidate in the last provincial election. All those mentioned withdrew in favor of Dr. Hett, leaving him the unanimous choice. About 200 persons attended the convention, slightly over half being U.F.O. men.

FIVE NAMED BY I. L. P.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 2.—(By Staff Reporter.)—Dissension, preached by a small few of the party, who were his enemies for purely selfish reasons, was declared by ex-Ald. John Lane, former nominee of the U. F. O.-I. L. P. in West Elgin, to be responsible for the recent agitation to call a new convention. Mr. Lane was again nominated, with five others, at a largely-attended I. L. P. convention here last night, but he admitted in his brief address that were the Labor men to "carry on" at Ottawa as they had done in the preliminaries in West Elgin during the past six weeks they had better, for the benefit of all concerned, disband the organization and forget all about representation at Ottawa. Mr. Lane also stated that he was still the rightful nominee of the party and expected support when a ballot is taken two weeks hence.

John L. Burger, president of the Trades and Labor Council, was the only nominee to withdraw at last night's meeting. He said that for personal reasons he could not accept the candidature. Albert Roberts, a member of the water board, in a spicy address, declared that he rather enjoyed a battle of wits and would gladly accept the candidature were there a little more unity in evidence between its members, but he was inclined to be a little dubious under existing circumstances. He did not withdraw, but would announce his intentions later, he said.

The other nominees were: Ald. William Stokes, president of the local I. L. P.; ex-Ald. A. E. Hookway, and W. K. Sanderson, chairman of the local Hydro Commission, who was not present when nominated.

KING AT BRIDGEWATER

BRIDGEWATER, N. S., Oct. 2.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—"The prime minister asked at Montreal that I name a single autocratic act of his Government, that I name a combine which his Government has failed to break up. As for the former it is not necessary to name any one action. The whole record of the Government is one long record of autocratic acts, but I shall name many of them in this address. As for naming a combination many of you know who they are. But I will give you an idea of what one man said who should have known."

With these words and, in addition with quotations from the letter of James Murdock, former member of the Board of Commerce, to Sir Robert Borden, Hon. Mackenzie King on Saturday afternoon replied to the Montreal speech of the prime minister, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen. The Bridgewater rink was filled long before the meeting opened, numbers of persons having come in from all parts of this riding, as well as from the adjoining County of Queens. Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. H. S. Beland and W. M. Duff also addressed the audience.

Afterwards Mr. King and his colleagues left for Lunenburg, N. S., where a reception was held in their honor. On Monday Mr. King will speak at Digby.

JAMES SINGER CHOICE

GUELPH, Oct. 2.—James Singer, Township of Nichol, received the nomination of the U. F. O. and I. L. P. convention held here yesterday afternoon. Those placed in nomination were Messrs. James Milloy, James Singer, W. Phil Evans, George Penfold, T. J. Mahon and J. A. Cockburn. Mr. Evans and Mr. Penfold were the Labor nominees. Three of those nominated withdrew and the first ballot showed 114 votes for Mr. Singer, 85 for Evans and 59 for Mahon. The latter's name was dropped and the second and final ballot was 164 for Singer and 101 for Evans. Mr. Singer was then made the unanimous choice and several addresses were delivered, Mrs. Hector Prenter, of Toronto, being the chief speaker.

When Hon. Hugh Guthrie is formally nominated by the National Liberals and Conservatives on Wednesday, October 12, there will be four candidates in the field in South Wellington, though there is a strong disposition in many quarters that the Minister of Militia should be given an election by acclamation. Sam Carter was nominated some time ago by the supporters of Hon. Mackenzie King and since then J. W. Oakes has announced that he will run as a Liberal against Mr. Carter, whose attitude he strongly dissents from.

DECIDE WHETHER 14 OR 5 MEMBERS SHALL CONSTITUTE BOARD

Important Meeting of School Trustees Is Being Held This Afternoon.

BOARD UNWIELDY IS OPINION OF MEMBERS.

Trustee Smith To Introduce Motion That Will Bring Action On Plan.

The Board of Education may to-day take definite action towards reducing the membership of that body from 14 to five members. Notice of motion by Trustee Edwin Smith at the most recent board session will come up to-day for final action. There is reason to believe that the trustees will support the idea of the motion, if not the exact form stated by Trustee Smith.

Mr. Smith calls for reduction of the board to four members with the mayor serving ex-officio. The Separate School Board representatives to be as at present, whose vote would affect only high school matters. And in view of the fact that trustees believe that the Separate School Board is gradually severing connection with the Board of Education, the final organization of the proposed educational commission would consist of four directly elected members and the mayor of the city.

ELECT FOR TWO YEARS

Two of the members would be elected for two years and two for one year at the election of 1923, if the motion is approved and secures legislative endorsement, and thereafter two members each year.

Trustees known to favor the reduction of the board include Trustees Thomas Rowe, the "father" of the scheme; Trustee Edwin Smith, Trustee J. B. Wright, Trustee W. T. Clark, Trustee A. N. Udy and Trustee A. A. Bice. Other members are believed to be entirely in accord with the reduction plan.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES.

DAVID HANNAH, who was born in St. John, N.B., but who lived in London for more than 60 years, dies at his home. He was a successful merchant and a member of the London City Council for a short term.

DONALD CAMPBELL DIED TO-DAY

Prominent Business Man of London For 35 Years.

BORN IN KENT IN 1847.

Heart Attack Follows Stroke of Apoplexy.

Donald Campbell, a conspicuous figure in the fire insurance business for the past 35 years, died at his home, 761 King street, at 5 a. m. to-day. A few weeks ago Mr. Campbell had a stroke of apoplexy and on Wednesday an attack of heart trouble followed, which resulted fatally this morning.

Though in his 75th year Mr. Campbell was a man of remarkable vitality and had rarely been absent from his office in the Bank of Toronto Chambers because of ill health. Two months ago he began to visit his business less frequently and was confined to his home under the doctor's care.

Born in Clearville, Kent County, on March 8, 1847, Mr. Campbell had come to London in 1870 and continued in the fire insurance business, which he had commenced four years previously. In his long experience in this occupation he became one of the best known citizens of London and his passing will be regretted by a large number of business associates and friends in the city.

On May 23, 1877, he married Agnes Dobie Bryden, who predeceased him on March 30, four years ago. His second marriage took place in November, 1919, to Harriet Mihel, who survives him. He is also survived by three sons, Bryden N. Campbell, John Kent Campbell, who was a partner in the insurance business with him, and D. E. Campbell, manager of the district pensions office of this city.

Mr. Campbell was a member of St. James' Presbyterian Church, but was affiliated with no lodges or societies. Funeral services will be conducted at his late home, at 2.30 p. m. on Thursday by Rev. J. MacKay.

The mother was also terribly burned trying to save the child's life.

GOVERNOR'S JOB A POPULAR ONE

Applications For Post of Jailer Pouring In.

MANY FROM OUTSIDE.

Toronto Newspaper Man Mentioned Among Number.

Many are seeking the appointment to the governorship of the Middlesex County jail. There are already a large number of applications in the sheriff's office and they are still coming in. Deputy Sheriff Watterworth could not say just how many had been received, but he intimated that the number was very large.

The names of those who have made application for the job are not being made public, but there are a number of applicants from outside London and the county.

A number of applications have been sent to the provincial secretary's department at Toronto and from there have been forwarded to Sheriff Cameron.

The appointment is made by the sheriff of the county, subject to the approval of the provincial secretary. While no probable names have been mentioned it is believed that, all other things equal, a London or district man will be appointed.

Captain W. H. Scott, a well-known Toronto newspaper man, is said to be among the applicants for the position. He served overseas as a member of the Imperial Black Watch and joined up with the first contingent at Montreal. He took his commission in the Black Watch in 1915. He was wounded on the Somme, was appointed to the staff and saw service in the Eastern theaters of war. During his tour of duty in Mesopotamia Captain Scott was in charge of the military prison at Basra.

POCOCK MENTIONED FOR SHERIFF'S JOB

In Toronto To-Day With Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.L.A.; High in U. F. O. Favor.

E. A. Pocock is mentioned to succeed Sheriff D. M. Cameron, whose resignation has been demanded. Mr. Pocock and Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.L.A., are both in Toronto to-day. The Free Press was informed that Mr. Pocock's friends were working in his behalf, but it is believed that nothing more than formal representations have been made in view of the fact that Mr. Cameron, so far as known, has not forwarded his resignation.

E. A. Pocock was a member of a commission appointed to investigate the crown attorney's offices in Ontario. As a member of that commission, he got only took evidence all over Ontario, but visited the Western Provinces in an investigation of the Torrens land registration system.

ADVANCES IN OIL.

DISSOLUTION LIKELY TO BE ANNOUNCED TO-DAY AND VOTING DATE SET

Statement Coming After Cabinet Meeting This Afternoon and Manifesto Will Then Be Issued.

OTTAWA, Oct. 4.—(Canadian Press)—Announcement of the dissolution of Parliament, together with the issue of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen's manifesto, will not be made until after the meeting of Cabinet this afternoon, it was stated this morning. It was also probable that the date of election will be made public at the same time.

It was understood this morning that his excellency the governor-general had signed the recommendation for dissolution, but that the members of Cabinet wished to go over the documents for the last time before they were made public.

Announcement of the date of the election was held up through delay in the completion of the lists of returning officers. R. B. Bennett, K. C., minister of justice, brought the Alberta lists to the capital, and with the arrival of the list for Prince Edward Island this afternoon it will be possible to issue the election writs. The date of election was still uncertain at noon.

Mr. Bennett was sworn in as minister of justice to-day and will attend the meeting of Council this afternoon.

Not Only Inventor But Also Optimist

Western "U" Now Has Device To Find London Street Cars.

F. W. Claasens, biological technician at Western University, who has perfected a miniature x-ray machine which may be constructed at a nominal cost, has now developed a simple device for locating the whereabouts of street cars. This invention, it is believed, will be widely used when the city takes over the transit company and is prepared to give regular and frequent service.

The device consists of a wire and a small reproducing earpiece constructed on the lines of the ordinary telephone, only smaller and more economical. This instrument, by attachment to any water tap, will enable the listener to hear street cars some distance away.

This invention, while absurdly simple, is not only unique, but is now actually in use. One such is used by Mr. Claasens in his St. James street home, and by it he is able to determine the approach of distant street cars and thus avoid waiting at corners for a considerable time.

The interviewer "listened in" and was able to detect a Richmond street car northbound and also one bound for the south. A North Belt car could be plainly distinguished as well as an Oxford. Beyond these was a mass of car sounds coming from all sections of the city.

With this simple instrument in use and citizens made familiar with the method of judging distance, no one living several blocks from a street car line need miss cars or wait on street corners for minutes in rain, snow or summer heat.

The explanation of the invention is that sounds travel farther through solids than any other medium. Electricity in thousands of volts is being constantly discharged in London's portion of the earth. Metal carries electricity and electricity carries sounds.

MOWAT GOES TO SUPREME COURT

Parkdale Member's Appointment Announced At Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Oct. 4. — (Canadian Press Dispatch.) — H. M. Mowat, member for Parkdale, has been appointed to the bench of the Supreme Court of Ontario. This announcement was made this morning, together with official confirmation of the appointments of R. F. Green, member for Kootenay, to the Senate as one of the British Columbia representatives, and that of Hon. T. W. Crothers, former minister of labor in the Borden Government, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator W. C. Edwards, of Ottawa. The two Ontario appointments complete the Ontario list, but senatorship vacancies yet remain in British Columbia, Saskatchewan, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

There are two judgeships to be filled in Saskatchewan in addition to the appointment of the railway commission to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Commissioner A. S. Goodeve.

ESSEX MAN CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER AS DRIVER OF CAR THAT KILLED BROTHER

George Smith Arraigned After Exhaustive Inquiry Conducted By Provincial Police.

CROWN SAYS ACCUSED DROVE WHILE INTOXICATED.

Discovery of Bottle of Liquor Is Part of Evidence—No Inquest At Time of Fatality.

WINDSOR, Oct. 4.—(Canadian Press Dispatch).—Following an investigation conducted by provincial officers into the death of Fire Chief Sam Smith, of Essex, killed on July 31 last, when a car turned turtle in a ditch at Maidstone, provincial police late on Monday afternoon placed under arrest and lodged in the Windsor police cells Geo. Smith, brother of the deceased and the driver of the death car. Smith was arraigned before Magistrate Gundy in police court to-day on a charge of manslaughter and on application made by his counsel, W. H. Furlong, was released for preliminary hearing on Wednesday under $2,000 bail, two sureties.

FOUND WHISKY BOTTLE.

According to a statement by Crown Attorney Urquhart, who will conduct the prosecution, a bottle of whisky was found close by to the wrecked car a few minutes after the fire chief and his brother were taken from the wreckage. Fire Chief Smith was instantly killed and his brother was severely injured.

The crown will endeavor to prove that the accused was under the influence of liquor at the time of the tragedy; that the car was being driven in a reckless and negligent manner.

NO INQUEST HELD.

W. H. Furlong, Smith's counsel, stated that no inquest was held at the time of the fatality because of the fact that no suspicious circumstances came to light in connection with the smash of the automobile. Mr. Furlong said that the prosecution was the result of an investigation conducted by License Department Inspector J. E. Stone, who, several days ago, notified provincial police of the alleged circumstances of the smash.

GRAFTED EYE MAY RESTORE HUMAN SIGHT

PARIS, Oct. 4.—Dr. Koppanyi, of Vienna, who has successfully cured blindness in animals by transplanting eyes, believes that it is possible to restore human sight in the same manner.

He believes that by engrafting the eye of an animal, preferably a dog, sight may be restored to blinded humans. He declares that the transplanted eye will rapidly take on the appearance of a human eye and will function normally in all respects. He is asking for volunteers.

ED. TOWE DIES IN 73RD YEAR

Was In Insurance Business Here Since 1874.

LEAVES WIDOW AND 3 SONS.

Treasurer of Western Ontario Bible Society.

The death occurred this morning after a long illness of Mr. Edward Towe at his late residence, 492 Princess avenue. Mr. Towe, who was in his 73rd year, was the city's oldest insurance man, and he had long been identified with its business life. Born in London Township, his early years were spent on the farm, until in 1874 he came to London and opened an insurance office, which is still being conducted under the name of Edward Towe & Son.

He was an enthusiastic member of the Canadian Order of Foresters, and had been for four years high chief ranger. Mr. Towe was also treasurer of the Western Ontario Bible Society, which position he held up to the time of his death. On several occasions he had been delegate from the society to conventions held in Montreal, Winnipeg, etc. He was instrumental in establishing in this city the Pentecostal Mission, on Dundas street, and he had a prominent part in the work of this church.

He is survived by his widow, who was formerly Miss Agnes Peel, and three sons—Clarence E., of Detroit; Allen M. and John H., of London.

The funeral is to be held on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The services will be conducted by the Pentecostal Mission.

MR. HEVEY SIGNS STRAIGHT DENIAL

Did Not Say Labor Should Back Mr. Somerville

AS PER LOCAL REPORT

Pending Knowledge of Policy Nothing Is Pledged

W. J. Hevey, in a signed statement sent to The Free Press yesterday afternoon, absolutely and unequivocably denies that he told Fred Young that the returned soldiers and labor in London should support ex-Mayor C. R. Somerville in the coming federal election.

Fred Young, in a letter published in a local paper yesterday, stated that the denial of Mr. Hevey carried in The Free Press on Saturday was intended to "pin the badge of the 'Ancient and Numerous Order of Ananias' on the lapel of someone's coat." M. Hevey, over his own signature, asserts that he never told Fred Young what he was said in a local paper to have told him, and that the only reference made to the local political situation was in connection with Mr. Young accepting a paid position in the Liberal camp. Mr. Hevey advsed Mr. Young to accept such a position if the chance offered.

THE MESSAGE.

Following is the message sent to The Free Press by Mr. Hevey on this matter. This message was sent for publication:

"Editor Free Press, London: I did not tell Fred Young that Labor and the returned soldiers should support C. R. Somerville in the coming federal election. I have the greatest respect for Mr. C. R. Somerville, ex-mayor of the City of London, but I have not said that I or the Labor Leader would support him or anyone else. I do not know what Mr. Somerville's policy would be if elected and until such time as I do know I am not in a position to pledge my support or the support of the Labor Leader.

FATHER AND MOTHER FIND SOLDIER SON, THOUGHT DEAD, AFTER AUTHORITIES GIVE UP

St. George Couple Go On Quest To England and Find Missing Boy In Hospital.

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 4.—To be missing and presumed to be dead since before the signing of the armistice in November, 1918, and then be found by his father and mother in a hospital in England, where he was going under a different name while suffering from shell-shock, was the experience of a young man named Wood, whose home is in St. George, near Brantford, Ont. The young man and his father and mother, who spent the week-end in Gananoque with friends, arrived in Canada a few days ago on the steamer Empress of Britain and went on to their home in St. George this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood had the military authorities do all in their power to locate their son, but all the efforts were fruitless. Going overseas in July last the father and mother started a search for themselves, and while they were on a visit to a hospital in England they found their son. He was going under the name of Wood Brown.

Fake Check Artist Gets $31 From Shopkeeper

Purchased Two Bags of Sugar For Doctor With Forged Paper.

POLICE FIND NO TRACE OF SMOOTH CUSTOMER.

Well-Dressed Stranger Leaves Store After Argument About the Cash.

"Dr. Tillman wants a bag of sugar, or you better make it two bags. Mrs. Tillman is preserving so two bags will probably be required, and they want it right away." So said a short, dark, well-dressed, gray-capped gentleman in a Richmond street grocery store yesterday afternoon.

"Yes, sir, we will attend to it at once," said the proprietor's wife as she booked the order. The customer then tendered in payment a check for $51, and the saleslady hastened to give him his change. Another woman in the store at the time advised that care be exercised in the cashing of checks, but the customer was there with the smooth reply. "The doctor is out of the city," he said.

That settled all arguments and the customer left the store with $31 as his change.

Inquiry of Dr. Tillman elicited the fact that the check was not his and that he had not ordered sugar. The police were at once notified, but up to the present have no clue to the fakir.

While other cities and towns in Western Ontario have suffered more or less through the trade in bogus shecks, London has escaped practically without loss up to the present time, but judging from yesterday afternoon's incident, there is at least one smooth check artist who is prosecuting his trade in the city with some success.

COMMUNITY HALLS FOR FOUR WARDS

Playground Board and Y. M. C. A. May Work Together

FOR WINTER MONTHS.

Great Development Planned For Early Action.

Winter playground plans will probably include the spread of the community hall idea to all sections of the city; that is to say, with sufficient municipal appropriation and community support, each city ward may this winter have municipal recreation centers established on lines similar to the experimental community hall work carried out in East London last year.

Secretary Houlding, of the Y. M. C. A., and Manager Buchanan have the plan under consideration and a full report is expected at an early date. It is believed that the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. could furnish the staff for the proposed community halls, thus solving the chief problem that the playgrounds committee has had to confront with regard to its winter activities.

These community halls, it is believed, would form the nucleus of future branch Y. M. C. A.'s.

The old City Hall in East London may be abandoned as the site for an east community hall. Other sites are now under consideration.

Unless Red Triangle is prepared to go ahead now, the halls will not be opened until after the municipal election. Funds will not be available until after that date, Mr. Buchanan stated. The playgrounds committee members, howere, are determined to develop the community hall work to the fullest extent possible and will welcome, it is stated, the co-operation of the two Christian association.

PREMIER LEAVES GAIRLOCH TO-DAY

His Health Is Reported To Have Improved Greatly.

DECISIONS WERE REACHED.

International Trade Policy May Now Be Altered.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Prime Minister Lloyd George planned to leave Gairloch to-day after a vacation which was often interrupted by state business. Irish problems and the unemployment situation were considered so frequently by Mr. Lloyd George that much of the time he spent at Gairloch he has been as busy as if he had remained in London.

The prime minister's health is reported to have been improved by the air of the Scottish highlands, but his physician has forbidden him to address any public meetings for some time. Mr. Lloyd George, however, is so impressed with the gravity and urgency of the unemployment question that he has decided, it was reported to-day, to lay before the public without delay information as to important conferences he held over the last week-end with financial, commercial and industrial experts.

He planned to go from Gairloch to Inverness, where he was to be presented the freedom of the city to-day. It was said he had compromised between his physician's orders and his eagerness to make public his attitude relative to unemployment and was expected to announce he would give no public audiences and would deliver a short address to the municipal dignitaries and a few press stenographers. There was an understanding that his speech would be important, although it was not expected he would announce any final decisions, as he has yet to consult labor leaders, which he will do immediately after returning to London to-morrow.

SPECIAL COURSE FOR THE FARMERS

London Technical and Art School's New Development.

TO TEACH AGRICULTURE.

Combine New Studies With Technical Course.

Farmers of Middlesex County will this winter be able to take agricultural short courses at the London Technical and Arts School, and young farm people of high school age are to be given the opportunity of taking a combined technical-agricultural course at the city's vocational institution.

These steps were announced by Headmaster A. D. Hone to-day, and as regards the combined course in agriculture and technical subjects for rural students, the London Technical School is the first institution of that kind in the province to branch out into that particular field.

The course, also, will be open to city pupils that plan to follow farming or horticulture as a profession. The horticultural and fruit farming end will, it is believed, make a special appeal to city pupils. For these special courses, the Technical School will secure lecturers from the local agricultural bureau and agricultural papers as well as successful farmers in Middlesex County.

The straight agriculture-technical course for rural pupils will combine intermediate farm science—soil analysis, plant research, experimental work of all sorts, lectures and biology—with machine shop practice and woodworking. The technical school laboratories are among the finest in the province and are particularly adapted both for high school work in agriculture and for agricultural short courses.

The courses, Mr. Hone pointed out, will not be elementary, but advanced and essentially practical. The Technical School graduate in agriculture in future will be equipped for scientific farming or horticulture; and short courses of real value will be offered to farmers of Middlesex and surrounding counties.

"This will round out the Technical School's program and make it a complete vocational school," Mr. Hone stated. "We will be able to prepare students for trade, commerce or agriculture."

DECEMBER FIFTH TO BE BUSY DAY

Federal and Civic Elections To Be Held.

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY.

Confusion Likely Over Different Polling Booths.

December 5 will be a busy day in London if, as is now predicted, this is set for the federal polling. The first Monday in December, which is December 5, is also the date set for the municipal elections.

What the ultimate effect on the vote will be is not known, but it is generally expected that the two elections on the same day will cause considerable confusion. More especially will this be true as the municipal polling booths will be in the schools and the federal booths will be located in private residences, as heretofore.

It is pointed out that this is certain to confuse the voters. There will be many who will vote only once, thinking they have done all that is necessary. This will result in a smaller vote in both instances than would otherwise be the case, it is said.

This is the first year that the municipal elections have been set for December 5. This was done with the consent of the Legislature. It was the opinion of the aldermen that New Year's Day is not a good date for any election. The small vote that has been in evidence in the municipal elections has been charged to the date of the polling.

As this date has been set by the Legislature there is no chance of having any change made, even if the two elections will conflict, and it is the general consensus of opinion in civic circles that a minimum vote will be the result in both contests in London.

PREACHER GETS LIMIT ON DESERTION CHARGE

Proven That His Only Wife Was the Mother of His Eight Children.

MERIDIAN, Miss., Oct. 4.—The limit of the law, a $500 fine and six months' imprisonment, was imposed upon Rev. W. E. Bennett, Nazarine preacher, after his conviction yesterday upon a statutory charge.

Bennett had testified that the woman with whom he lived for 28 years and who was the mother of his eight children was not his wife and claimed his only legal marriage was to a young woman from Texas, with whom he recently has been living. Justice Raymond Clay held that the mother of his children was his life under Louisiana laws. The couple had been living in Louisania until the time of Bennett's alleged desertion of his family.

The applicant will not consent to enter the hospital except on the granting of certain special privileges. RAMBLING AROUND WITH OLD DOC. PEP

October 4. Rose pretty early, owing to my neighbor's cock crowing disrespectfully, and St. George grant that this chanticler soons finds himself in a pott. As we grow more civilized and greater in our population, methinks our noises increase. And that anyone lives to be forty is a sure sign that our constitutions are not degenerating. For if it be not street coaches jangling and thumping past our windows, there is some idiot tooting his motor coach horn at all hours of the night. A few moments respite and late going lovers make the empty street ring with whistling "Pegg" or some such thing out of tune. Day ne'er dawns but to send every mangy cock in town to crowing his silly head off, nor full moon shines but full-mouthed dogs do bay like mad. Noise, noise, noise. And it has even come to pass that our ministers preach no more in one key, but drop from shouting to whispers and then back again to shouting. Which destroys the last refuge of the man that would take a nap.

But these worries disappear in thinking how last night my Aunt Mary do bake a pie of Concord grapes. This pie tasting of frost-kissed vineyards and also of long, golden summer days in which bees, drunk with pollen, do fly about industriously and roses bloom in white and yellow beside the mellowed dignity of garden walls. The crust of it as flaky as hoar frost on young pine trees, and the purple stain on my lips afterwards makes me feel a sort of rural Bachannal. Not one to dance and become frenzied in groves of Daphne, but a sober stepping out to pipes on the village green.

The news is that our Western University has opened with the greatest enrolment in its history, for which heaven be praised. And our good citizens should bethink themselves how hundreds of Western Ontario lads are now our guests, and to devise things for their comfort. Churches should make efforts to give them house-of-worship homes, and our noble clubs—the Rotating, the Kiwanian and the Lions, to say naught of the Canadian—might have days for them, at least for senior students. Western University, we do predict, will be one of our greatest civic assets and every Londoner should push at it, upward.

Methinks we should have a special section to our prayer books where we ask infinity for to aid those peril by land and sea, which shall apply particularly to bachelors. For one man tells me, who comes to our club, that he cooks his own breakfast. And so set in his mind on higher matters that he prepares to make coffee, and then he goes off into the realms of fancy suddenly coming back, after a time, to find his coffee pott empty. And the man knows not whether he made the coffee and drank it, or made no coffee at all!

On October 10 Gen. Pershing will lay a medal of honor on the grave to the empire's illustrious unknown, which is situate in Westminster Abbey 'midst kings and queens and other notables. And on that day, my lord Senator Borah in the Union States Parliament will introduce a bill to take all charges off Yang-kee boats going through the Panama Canal. This to the breaking of treaties and the despite of this Canada. And he who died that treaties be not considered scraps of paper, whether at the hands of Huns or what not, will resent this medal, methinks, and disdain it utterly.

A weekly paper we receive makes a notable correction in saying: Last week in our report of the Smith-Jones wedding we stated that the "roses were punk." Of course, we meant that "the roses were pink." Which is strange.

Out on the street in the late afterglow and to observe the new moon shining in the west. Below it a copper-colored belt left by the sun, who doubtless casts it aside before sleeping. Also cloud islands, dark and mysterious, whose rugged headlands jut out towards the realms of day. There is a sadness in the sunset as old as history, and also joy when lit by the silver bow of the moon. The sadness of farewell and utter mystery, and the joy of things half remembered but forgotten before fully so. How oft we stand with our souls tip-toe to hear the secret, but not quite we hear it, not quite.

DISPUTE AMOUNT OF SALES COMMISSION

Disagreement in Action Brought Against the Vulcan Company.

The action brought by Watson McCluskey against the Vulcan Company, Limited, claiming commission for the sale of stock, occupied the county court at the opening session before Judge Talbot Macbeth this morning. The case was still in progress at press time.

The plaintiff claims $750 commission from the defendant company for the sale of stock in the company. He claims that he was to receive a commission of 15 per cent. on sales and that he sold 50 shares at $100 to two clients.

In their statement of defense the company claimed that the plaintiff was only to receive a commission of 10 per cent. for sales and that at the time of the commencement of the suit they had not received the money for the stock which the plaintiff alleged to have sold.

During the hearing of the evidence for the plaintiff this morning the defendants asked leave to amend their statement of defense. They amended it by declaring that the deal was never completed.

Judge Macbeth, during the taking of evidence, made the comment that the company's affairs appeared to have been handled in a very irregular way.

There are only two other actions to be disposed of at the nonjury sittings. Four actions were entered, but one was settled out of court before it came to trial.

JAMES HOLT AND SEVEN OTHERS TAKEN TO GUELPH

Man Who Committed Incest Will Be Lashed In Few Days.

James F. Holt, sentenced to two months at hard labor and 30 lashes for a crime against his daughter, has been removed, along with seven other prisoners, to the Guelph prison farm. The eight prisoners were taken in charge by Provincial Bailiff Ryan yesterday afternoon and left on the 4.30 Grand Trunk train for the Guelph institution.

Holt was sentenced about two weeks ago by Judge Talbot Macbeth after pleading guilty to a charge of incest. No order was made as to the institution in which the punishment should be carried out. There are no facilities at the county jail for whipping a prisoner, and as a result the deputy sheriff got in touch with W. W. Dunlop, inspector of prisons, with the result that Holt was ordered taken to Guelph.

The provincial bailiff had 13 prisoners when he left London. In addition to the eight from the local bastile, there were some five men from one of the border cities.

FIREMEN PARADES PREVENTION WEEK

Citizens Are Asked To Reduce Fire Hazard.

FREE CITY OF DANGER.

Civic Officials To Take Part In Campaign.

A thorough inspection of all homes, stores and other buildings and the removal of all rubbish, is the request made to Londoners by Fire Chief Aitken in connection with fire prevention week, which begins throughout Canada on Sunday next. The chief is making special preparations to bring the attention of citizens to the prevention campaign and is requesting that his men be given every assistance to making London as free from fire danger as possible.

The chief intimated that the significance of prevention week would be brought to the citizens by means of parades of the city's fire fighting apparatus. In addition to this the members of the department will make a thorough inspection of the business section of the city. Theaters, hotels, hospitals and asylum will receive a thorough inspection and recommendations made to perfect safety in case of fire.

Fire Prevention Week has become a national institution and the dates were announced in a proclamation in a special edition of the Canada Gazette. The date from October 9 to October 15 was set by order-in-council.

SPECIAL APPEAL.

A special appeal is made to Canadians to reduce the fire hazard in Canada. Fire drills for school children and factory employees are recommended with special instructions to teachers and the distribution of appropriate literature to the pupils. Boy scout leaders are asked to lend their aid by giving instruction to their troops as to the best means of co-operating with fire departments in the extinguishing, as well as the prevention of fires.

Municipal officials are to make public announcements of the laws and regulations regarding fire prevention.

It is pointed out that fire prevention is of national importance in the safeguarding of life and property. Special regulations are being issued for the prevention of forest fires to be studied by those in lumber camps and by hunters and settlers.

THEY OBJECT TO HIS INACTIVITY

Why Soldiers and Labor Oppose C. R. Somerville.

HIS SLATE TOO CLEAN.

Made No Mistakes Because He Did Nothing, They Say.

While local labor has not yet definitely made up its mind whom it will support in the coming Federal elections it is assured that it will oppose ex-Mayor C. R. Somerville to the last. This is the substance of the opinions one hears from the labor men on all sides. It appears to be not so much a question among the workers generally as to whom they should support, but rather whom should they fight. Almost to a man they have quietly resolved that they will take the field against Mr. Somerville, at all odds.

SOLDIERS ALSO.

This is the stand taken by the returned soldiers as well. Mr. Somerville as a candidate is not receiving support from the returned soldiers. Not that they point to any one thing which disqualifies him from receiving their confidence, but they intimate that it has rather been his inactivity in matters of vital importance to which they object.

"It is true that Mr. Somerville has a clear record and that no one can point to any serious acts which he committed while in public life," said one to-day, "but his sheet is too clear. He has done nothing. If he had done something one might be willing to overlook a few mistakes, but this inactivity cannot be forgiven in a man in public life. So far as I can see we cannot give him any support at all."

One labor man, who is now and has always been a strong supporter of labor in the political field, expressed the opinion to-day that every means possible will be taken to assist in the defeat of Mr. Somerville.

LABOR MEN LINED UP.

"You will not find many bona fide labor men giving their support to Mr. Somerville in any way," said this labor man. "Perhaps some few who are looking for a job may be willing to work for him, but those are the exceptions. But if a man who would have advanced the cause of labor had been brought out by the Liberals in convention the labor forces of this city would have given him their undivided support.

"In this connection I would not be surprised if labor should endorse the candidate of the opposite party if one who would be at all acceptable to the working men was brought out," he continued. "Certainly some of those mentioned as probable candidates for the Government side in London will not be supported by labor. But if the right man is nominated I am sure that the labor party of this city would not only refrain from placing a candidate in the field, but they would organize to assist in the election of the Government candidate."

The labor men and returned soldiers of the city point out that a suitable candidate would be one who has in the past shown that he has been a true friend of labor, while he has not been in any manner untrue to the employers. Such a candidate would receive the unqualified support of the workers, it is assured.

MAY COME TO LONDON

Utilities Commission Officials Inspect What Cleveland Offers.

Messrs. J. W. Peart and G. W. Blay, of the Public Utilities Commission, have returned from Cleveland, where they inspected electrical houses built by the Ohio metropolis. These houses are offered for sale to the higher-salaried section of the community in a sort of reverse method housing scheme, for every one of these better houses sold releases a less costly property for people with smaller means.

As a result of their inspection, the Utilities Commissioners will be asked at an early date to inaugurate a similar plan in London. It is believed a complete electrical bungalow may be built for $7,500. These would be offered for sale on a cash basis and, while helping to sell more hydro power, would help in solving the city's housing problem.

A plan is also advanced to-day for building a permanent hydro building on the new Western Fair site. This building would be a model cottage, run completely by electricity and would prove, it is believed, one of the fair's drawing attractions.

BARGAIN RATES IF YOU PAY REAL MONEY FOR SPEEDING WITHOUT ASKING TRIAL

Clerk of Court Moule Knows How To Get the Coin From Citizens.

A large gallery of spectators assembled in the police court this morning to watch the grinding of the mills of justice. They were disappointed, for the mills didn't grind worth a cent. The mainspring was missing and operations were delayed.

Magistrate Bartlett was detained in the higher court and was unable to make arrangements for substitute service, consequently Court Clerk John Moule was in charge of affairs. Mr. Moule has no power to try cases, but he can collect fines and that's where he shines.

As a result the only cases heard this morning were simple ones where there was little or no defense and Mr. Moule talked the fines out of the defendants' pockets and into the coffers of the city. And defendant who thought he had a chance to beat the police had his case adjourned until Magistrate Bartlett is again on duty to-morrow, but there were few of these.

The mode of procedure was very simple.

"Galilleo Humperdinck," Mr. Moule would call softly and insinuatingly. "Is Galilleo here?"

And if Galilleo was he couldn't resist that appeal, but came to the front.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

"You are charged with allowing seven hens owned by you to park on Ridout street without three lighted lamps. That will be $6.85 and you can pay here. Of course, if you want the case tried and the police officers go into the box and prove the case against you it will probably cost you more. You can't be tried to-day anyway, but will have to lose another day to come to court. I think it would be cheaper to pay up."

And Galilleo paid and then went home to kill his hens.

But there was one gentleman upon whom the blandishments of the clerk were lost. He answered to the name of O'Brien and when he stepped forward his eye gleamed with the black wrath of the old Irish kings.

"You are charged with exceeding the speed limit with your Mazurna car 7-675-842; also with climbing telephone poles and disturbing the peace. If you pay $6.85 now it can be settled for that. If not and the case goes against you, you may confidently expect to be drawn and quartered, your car confiscated and your family banished. Of course, if you pay up now it will be so much easier and we can all be friends together—"

"But, look here, Mister Man, I was seven miles away from here on that day. And I have seven witnesses to prove it. I have one of them here now, but I can bring the whole lot—"

"Now, for $6.85—" Mr. Moule was beginning again when the defendant interrupted with, "$6.85 nothing; just you tell me how many witnesses I've got to haul to this court and I'll be here with bells on. That's all I want you to do," he added threateningly. "Just you tell me—"

The clerk looked appealingly at the irate O'Brien, smiled and said: "For $6.85 paid now—"

"What're you tryin' to do, sell me sumpin'?" responded O'Brien. "I tell you I'm going to fight this case and I've got seven witnesses. All I want to know is when to come back and how many witnesses to bring with me."

COME BACK WEDNESDAY.

Mr. Moule stiffened and the chief, who during this conversation had bulked largely in the offing, glowered at the presumption of a man who didn't know a real bargain in fines when he saw one.

"You can come back to-morrow," said Mr. Moule.

"How many witnesses do you want" O'Brien asked, and was informed that he could use his own judgment as to that. Then he jammed his hat down over his ears and left the court, remarking to a friend as he did so that he would spend $200 to win the case.

But there was only one man in court of the O'Brien stripe. The others paid up, though they didn't look pleasant. And those who were unfortunate enough to be incarcerated on charges that Mr. Moule could not arrange will spend 24 more hours in jail until Magistrate Bartlett returns to the bench, which is expected to be to-morrow morning.

In one case a citizen reported for violation of the Motor Vehicles Act asked for an adjournment, but the ensuing argument as to the date was prolonged to such an extent that he finally lost patience and paid the fine. And $6.85 more went into the coffers of the city.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR UNEMPLOYED

Meeting of Social Service Council On Thursday.

SITUATION HERE IS FAIR.

City In Better Position Than Year Ago.

What action the local Social Service Council will take with reference to the unemployment situation in the city will not be made known until Thursday, when the regular monthly meeting is held. The committee appointed to deal with unemployment and relief met yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. and after the reception of reports decided to delay any recommendation until another meeting is held just prior to the council meeting on Thursday.

Believing that it is not good economics to extend relief if there is any possibility of work being obtained for the jobless, the council will probably devote its efforts to providing work for any men out of employment. Not till this solution of the problem fails will relief measures be instituted for those who are destitute.

It was pointed out that London is faring much better than other cities with regard to the jobless, and is in a much better situation than a year ago. The Government bureau has been enabled to place a large number of men this fall and has kept the number of unemployed down to the minimum.

Two problems, however, have to be faced, it was stated. A number of immigrants have been brought to this country only to find that there is no employment in their particular line of trade. These must be considered as residents of the community. Then there are the usual number of men who have flocked to the city from the rural districts in search of the elusive job. The process of weeding out these men and extending preference to bona fide residents of the city has already been commenced.

DUCKS FOR ZOO.—East India and Moscovy ducks have been added to the city's zoo at Springbank. A pair of deodorized skunk will soon be given permanent quarters where citizens may enjoy the real beauty of these dainty animals without imagining a gas shell factory has exploded.

BULLET WENT ON JOURNEY ROUND THE WHOLE WORLD

Editor Free Press: Reading Saturday's Free Press, I see that some marksmen in Elgin County are boasting to be the best long range shots in Canada. Pooh! pooh! This impression must be corrected at once. Let me tell you, Mr. Editor, that those Beechwood pot-hunters have nothing on London when it comes to accurate marksmanship. Didn't a team of Londoners, armed with blunderbusses, win a tremendous moral victory over the Village of St. Thomas sniping fraternity with their Ross rifles about a month ago, and put it all over them by scoring only 176 points less than their opponents? Sure they did!!

Mill street residents should be warned not to call the police reserves if they hear a fusillade of shots in that vicinity. It will be nothing so blood-curdling as bandits, murders or suicides—just J. W. Smith scoring bull's-eyes from his backyard on the Cove range targets a couple of miles away. I also have it on the authority of the adjutant of this year's Bisley team, Major Chester Butler, that Fred. Allen started to score "possibles" on the Bisley targets from the ocean liner in mid-Atlantic, 1,000 miles away. If you don't believe me, ask Chester.

Last Saturday afternoon Morrie Lee performed a feat which will turn those Elgin County quasi-marksmen green with envy. Taking careful aim at the eight-inch bull's-eye, Morrie fired, but the bullet went over the bluff. "Wait a minute, boys," says he, when the register-keeper was about to chalk up a miss. Five minutes later, a whining sound became audible in the rear, passed overhead, and the bullet hit the bull's-eye plumb in the center!! Bull's-eye for Morrie!! Extraordinary as it may seem, the bullet, after clearing the bluff, had made a complete circuit of the earth and found its mark. Next, please!!

Yours truthfully,
SOME SHOOTER.

FIREMEN'S SUITS CAUSE OF WORRY

Ald. Watkinson Blames All His Troubles On Them.

CONTRACT IS AWARDED.

Fire Chief Intimates Better Value Could Have Been Obtained.

Chairman Watkinson, of No. 1 committee, is in a peck of trouble just now. He says so himself, and he intimates that it is all because of his anxiety to perform his work for the city in accord with the oath of office. But he is having troubles of his own.

One of his worries is the contract for the firemen's uniforms. He swears that next year Chief Aitken will be delegated to look after the contracts without any reference to the committee. But last night the chairman of No. 1 committee awarded the contract for the winter uniforms to Orth's, Limited, for the sum of $39.75. This includes an extra pair of trousers. Ald. Watkinson contends that he did this to have the work done in the city. But Chief Aitken recommended that a tender submitted by another firm be accepted at $43 for the suits and extra trousers.

The chief based his recommendation on the finding of the expert to whom the samples were submitted. This expert emphatically stated that the $43 tender was the lowest when the quality of the cloth is considered. But the suits would not be made in the city, although the firm maintains a large establishment there and pays heavy taxes. Ald. Watkinson argued that the work should be done in the city, and he also contended that the lowest bid has been accepted.

ONE LOWER TENDER

But examination of the prices submitted reveals the fact that one firm put in a tender to supply the suits, with extra trousers, for $35. The sample of cloth submitted with this tender was of the same make, but two ounces heavier than the sample which was chosen by Ald. Watkinson. However, this cloth could not be secured until after the new year, and this tender could not be considered.

On the other hand, Ald. Watkinson asserts that he has the word of the firm which secured the contract that the same cloth which was recommended by the expert at $43 a suit will be used in making the $39.75 suits. But Chief Aitken points out that there is no communication to this effect on record in connection with the tenders. In fact, he intimates that he does not know what quality of cloth will be used in the new suits.

With reference to the work being done in the city, Chief Aitken points out that this is practically an impossibility unless it is done in a large clothing manufacturing establishment. No custom tailor shop could turn out 60 suits and 17 pea jackets in 30 days, he says. It will be necessary to have the work completed within 30 days as the men are in need of the clothing.

S. F. GLASS SECURES VOLUMES FOR LIBRARY

Fifty Books Dealing With Current Canadian History For Western U.

Through the efforts of S. Frank Glass, M. P., Western University has just received some 50 volumes dealing with current Canadian history. These volumes have been entered at the Barnett library, on Cheapside street, for cataloguing.

In this connection Dr. Brown, executive secretary of the university, issues an appeal to citizens for volumes of Canadian Parliamentary and departmental regulations. Any such books or documents, he pointed out, will be particularly appreciated and render the university a real service. For while the college library receives volumes of that sort from the King's printer, duplicate volumes are needed for exchange with American universities.

These duplicate volumes are sent, from time to time, to American institutions of learning and those institutions in turn send volumes dealing with the current history of federal and state Governments in the United States.

Western University has a magnificent ideal in its library work. It is hoped that it will some day be one of the finest historical depositories in Canada. The goal is 50,000 volumes, dealing with Canadian and American history. Citizens may help to bring this goal nearer in realizing this ideal.

BUILDING PERMITS. — The first day of October saw $9 735 of building permits written up. The year's total now stands at $2,054,380. S. F. Lawrason is building a two-story addition to his factory at a cost of $8,000.

FASHION DISPLAY DELIGHTS MANY Beautiful Gowns On Display At Smallman & Ingram's.

WONDERFUL SHADINGS.

Graceful Girl Models Pose For Admiring Audience.

Manners may make a man, but it was a clever combination of manners and clothes that made the woman at Smallman & Ingram's fashion show this morning, and the five pretty, graceful girl models went a long way to the making of the many smart and interesting costumes shown.

The impromptu stage and long Persian carpeted aisle on the third floor of the big shop are as attractive as a theater to the scores of women who during the three days of the show will criticize and admire (and copy). And the parade of mannequins, each wearing one of the newest of the fall costumes, is as thrilling as a play, with the acts set cleverly all the way from street gowns and suits, afternoon frocks and charming negligee, to the pleasing denouement of evening gowns and dance dresses.

For the season's colors such niceties of shading are announced as whirlpool blue, jadette green, zinc gray, etc., but the majority of the models shown were developed in the richer autumn tints, warm browns and deep blues and a certain modification of the old Indian red which is known as Mohawk. The materials are wonderfully rich and effective. In a number of the coats llama cloth was shown, and if the imagination of the beholder can picture a crepe plush she will have the resulting texture. For the gowns, variations of crepe were introduced almost entirely save for the strictly tailored street gowns, which were shown in tricotine and poiret twill, a similar weave, Canton crepe, embroidered and beaded canton crepe, showing the satin and dull finish, canton crepe in panels and facings and girdles on many cloth models, gave some idea of the vogue of this graceful and most satisfactory material, which at its loveliest is known as "Roschinar."

FORTY MODELS.

As for the gowns themselves, they were a delightful display throughout, not a frock nor a coat in the whole 40 models shown that was not the acme of good taste and refinement, delicately coupled with that touch of chic that makes the well-dressed woman.

From the first number, a symbolical gown of black lace and velvet with a cloak train that introduced all the intricacies of the fall colorings, to the last pretty grouping of evening gowns, the models were all charming. There were dance frocks for the debutante, in bouffant pastel taffetas, and stately black gowns, one showing an artistic touch of fur, for the sophisticated lady. The street gowns show touches of oriental embroidery and beading, the rich tints relieving the sombre fabric of the dress, while one number worthy of note was of a decidedly military type, with a crisp little cape fastened to the shoulders by round gunmetal buttons. The prettiest of the pretty models were a black crepe gown with wired lace panniers and a tiny corsage of gay French flowers, and later appeared in a deep mourning costume with Gainsborough hat draped artistically with a flowing veil. Nasturtium red peeped vividly through a curtain of Havana brown georgette in one gown, and there was a stately wrap of brown llama cloth that showed a graceful cape collar under its choker of beaver.

Half a dozen exquisite negligees were shown, very prettily exploited by the mannequins, who donned little caps to match, and to set off the day costumes were dozens of the most fascinating hats by Gage and Clarice and many another whose names spell perfection of style.

With an orchestra in attendance and a generally effective setting the Smallman & Ingram fashion show will, without a doubt, draw its interested quota of London ladies during the balance of the performances.

HYDRO FOR WATER HEATING.—Hydro for domestic water heating may now be secured for $36 a year for continuous use of one horsepower, Manager Buchanan states.

CHIPPAWA OPENS DECEMBER 1.—E. V. Buchannan has received word from the Hydro-Electric Commission that on December 1 the wheels of the Chippawa power plant will begin to turn. It was expected that the development would have been ready early in September, but strikes and the Government's attitude towards hydro-radial development are said to have delayed completion of the plant.

CASES ADJOURNED.—Orville Kellar and Jack Reynolds, reported for fighting together in the lobby of the Majestic Theater, were to have been tried in the police court this morning, but owing to the absence of Magistrate Bartlett the case was adjourned until to-morrow. Several local theatrical men were in court as witnesses. W. H. Armstrong, charged with disorderly conduct on a Springbank car, was similarly disposed of.

WRIT FOR DAMAGES.—Ivey, Elliott and Ivey, acting for Harold F. McKinley, through his next friend, George McKinley, have issued a writ in the county court against Oscar Stewart for unstated damages. The plaintiff claims that his motor car was damaged as the result of the alleged negligence of the defendant in the improper management and operation of his automobile at the intersection of Dundas and Talbot streets at 12.30 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, September 28.

CHOIR CONCERT.—A pleasing concert was given by the choir of Dundas Center Methodist Church in the Appin Methodist Church on Monday night, under the direction of J. Parnell Morris. The audience was most appreciative and the encores were many. Autos were supplied by Dundas Center people and about 60 members and friends made the trip. Rev. Maxwell Parr opened the meeting with a witty speech. The program included solos by Miss E. Kunz, Mrs. W. B. Wortman, Mr. E. N. Harding, Mr. Leon Adams and Mr. W. McCormick. The Arion Boys' quartet was well received, while the violin solos of Miss Dorothy Cahill more than pleased her auditors, who also played a violin obligato to the solo number of Mrs. Wortman. A chicken dinner was given the choir, at the conclusion of which Mr. Leonard Tait and Delmar Lewis moved a vote of thanks to the ladies of Appin church for the spread, which was responded to by Rev. Maxwell Parr. A vote of thanks was also tendered to the members of Dundas Center Church who so kindly offered their autos for the outing, which was moved by Douglas Morris and seconded by Leon Odams. The party arrived home about 1 o'clock.

RED TRIANGLE HAS BIG PLANS

Efforts for Underprivileged Boy Will Be Extended

YEAR'S WORK REVIEWED

Optimistic Reports at Annual Meeting of "Y" Directors

Every department of the London Y. M. C. A. gave an ambitious and optimistic report at the annual meeting of the directors and committeemen held last night. Prospects of a successful year's work are unusually bright this year, due partly to the fact that the "Y" has been reorganized on a strictly democratic basis and more directly by the advantage which the members derive from the new gymnasium. One of the features of the gathering was the constructive criticism which was directed at certain activity or lack of activity by the Red Triangle.

W. D. Christianson, chairman of the membership committee, gave a particularly pleasing address, pointing out that the membership was growing by such leaps and bounds that a new building would be a necessity within a short time. Over 1,000 members were now enrolled and the registration was increasing daily, due to a great degree by the conversion of the old auditorium into a gymnasium. Finances, too, are in a healthy condition, as was shown at the directors' meeting, revenue for the year totaling $8,846.90, or only $24.35 above the current expenses after all bills had been paid.

FOR LEADERS.

General Secretary E. J. Jenkins announced that this year a normal training class would be held for young men between the ages of 18 and 24, who would supply leadership for the boys' groups in the city. He pointed out that there was a great dearth of volunteer workers amongst the boys and urged the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs to take an even greater interest in saving civilization by providing religious education for lads of adolescent age. One of his most striking statements was that it was the responsible citizens who had thrown religious education out of the public school by their inability to agree on a program that would suit every denomination.

Neil McCrimmon, president of the junior business men's club, and Arthur R. Ford, speaking on behalf of the underprivileged boys of the city, pointed out the need of the members taking an interest in boys who were unable to pay membership fees and who are debarred from having the same privileges as the more fortunate lads in richer homes. Mr. McCrimmon said that his class had undertaken to care for 10 of these boys and he put it up to the senior business men that they should put at least that many youngsters into the association. Mr. Ford echoed this suggestion and emphasized his remarks by stating that the greatest criticism against the Y. M. C. A. in the welfare drive was that the association was a rich boys' club.

The various reports were submitted following a supper on the second floor. Previous to that time the directors and committeemen had inspected the new gymnasium and played volley ball and indoor baseball on it. Vice-President F. J. White presided at the meeting and expressed his pleasure at the excellent prospects for the year's work.

SIX REUNIONS.

So successful were the reunions held last year that the reunion committee has decided to hold six of them during the coming fall and winter, George Yull announced. He recommended that bleachers be purchased for the new gymnasium so as to enable the committee to carry out its programs and pointed out that he committee would bear one-half of the cost.

Ronald Gurd, one of the best-known radiographers in the city and president of the wireless organization of the Y.M.C.A., reported that there were now 40 members enrolled. He announced that classes would be held Wednesday and Friday evenings, and a final examination will be held in May, when diplomas will be given to all who are proficient.

Six educational courses will be presented by the educational department this year. Chairman W. J. Brown announced that they would cover the following features: Salesmanship, French and Spanish, lithographing course, debating society, teacher training in co-operation with the religious education council, and English for foreigners. Eleven foreigners are already being reached by these classes.

Hints of the many good times which members of the association may enjoy this coming season are given by George Taylor, chairman of the social and service activities. The Cheerio Club he said, was an organization of "big brothers" which was rendering valuable service to men seking professional advice. A friendship tea was held every Sunday afternoon, at 5 o'clock, with special attention being pain to strangers. Members' suppers, sing songs and other social events will be held and members in search of board and rooms given every assistance.

OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES.

Outside activities of the Y. M. C. A. were told of by James Gray, chairman of the military and industrial committee. Moving pictures were given free three times a week to the men at Westminster and Byron hospitals, libraries and magazines supplied, and returned soldiers given the opportunity of educational courses at reduced rates. In many of the London industries noon hour shop meetings will be held and addresses given by prominent men.

A. T. Taylor, formerly physical director of the local "Y," said that the City Basket Ball League had been reorganized with six teams entered. Section "A" consisted of the more seasoned players, and section "B" of the younger players. Intermediate and junior teams will be placed in the O. A. B. A. The Manufacturers' Athletic Association would be conducted as usual this year.

For the young men's and senior classes medical examinations are provided every week, and workouts in the gym provided every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. The leaders' corps will be reorganized, athletic meets held, and a circus, hexalthon and boxing and wrestling featured. The junior business men's class has an objective of 100 members and is showing the big brother spirit by undertaking to look after some 15 boys who have not all the privileges of the average lad. A hockey league will also be organized among the seniors immediately after the new year. C. B. Chapman told of the plans of the senior business men, which includes the formation of a volley ball league.

Chairman George Copeland, of the membership committee, stated that the enrollment of the association showed an increase over last year. New objectives had been set and it was hoped to bring it from the present total of 509 to 810. This membership does not include the boys who number as many as all the senior departments put together. He urged that each member help to bring a new member into the association.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT.

W. D. Beamer, chairman of the boys' division, told of what was being done by the association for the junior members, explaining the objective, the general plan and program and the organization by which the plans are carried out. Members of different committees also spoke on the department work carried on in the boys' section.

A threefold objective was aimed at: First, to bring every member under the influence of a fully balanced program; secondly, to co-relate and invigorate all the agencies working for this end in the city, especially the home, the church and the school, and finally to extend as far as possible the program in fields not at present occupied by agencies doing boys' work.

"For the promotion of this work we will co-operate with the churches, with the boys' work board, the religious education council and other organizations such as the orphans home, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, boy scouts, young Hebrews and the juvenile court," explained the chairman. "The program will be carried out on the small group plan, each group led by a capable mentor and boy leader.

The plans of the boys' department was outlined by Mr. Beamer under six heads and the features which are proposed were explained. Devotional work included Bible study classes, social included clubs, suppers, games and entertainment; vocational was a branch being stressed particularly now; physical work was never more popular, extension work combined Tuxis and Trail Ranger activities and helping the underprivileged boy, while a membership campaign was now on among the members to boost the enrollment to a thousand boys.

LONDON WILL OPPOSE HIGHER PHONE RATES

London will fight the application of the Bell Telephone Company for an increase in rates through the agency of the Union of Canadian Municipalities. The City Council took this stand last night on motion of Ald. Harley and Watt. Ald. W. A. Wilson asserted that he had made this same motion previously in the meeting.

Ald. Harley pointed out that the company is asking for an increase in the rates of from eight to 30 per cent. The average increase in London will be 16 per cent.

"It is absolutely necessary to oppose this increase," said Ald. Harley. "We should join with all the other municipalities to see that the telephone subscribers are properly treated."

HUNGARIANS WITHDRAW.

BUDAPEST, Oct. 4.—Hungarian troops began to withdraw from the second zone of Burgenland, a narrow strip of territory along the Austrian frontier, yesterday. Several hundred gendarmes will remain at Oedenburg at the request of the interallied commission, for the purpose of maintaining order, under the authority of that body.

STEAMER FORD IS SAFE.

SAULT STE. MARIE., Mich., Oct. 4.—Following the fear expressed yesterday afternoon that perhaps the storm of a week ago had claimed the steamer G. C. Ford, with her consort, the Owen, comes the report that she was safe yesterday along the north shore. The tug Reliane, which carries supplies to the paper camps along the shore, arrived last night, the crew stating that they saw two vessels in shelter on Sunday afternoon. This has caused considerable relief.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

WINDSOR, Oct. 3.—Death came without warning to W. F. H. Hackney, well-known Windsor citizen, this evening. He was found in bed by his wife at the supper hour. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause. He was 44 years old and a native of England. Surviving besides the widow are one son and one daughter living here. Mr. Hackney was a Government mail contractor, having charge of the transferring of the mails from Windsor post office to the various depots. For a number of years he was inspector in charge of Children's Aid Society work here.

Gain Efficiency In Art, Then Use It To Advantage

WINDSOR, Oct. 3.—A mysterious burglar operated successfully here last night. Three places were broken into in practically the same manner and ransacked, but, as far as the owners could ascertain, nothing was stolen.

Alex. Simpson, 1237 Pelissier street; George Simons, 805 Sandwich street east, and Norman Clark, 1566 Church street, reported the visits. At each place entrance was gained by prying up a back window with a chisel.

The theory that the thief was after liquor is put aside, because at one residence a small quantity was overlooked.

DRESSING ROOMS WOULD BE COSTLY

Board Decides Against Facilities at Victoria

MOTHERS' CLUB HOURS

Public School Site in South London to Be Bought

Dressing-rooms and stage entrances at the new Victoria School will not be provided by the Board of Education, at least this year, because of the cost involved now that the school is nearing completion, was the decision of the public school committee yesterday. Trustee Harry Hayman pointed out that the whole demand for dressing-rooms and stage entrances to Victoria School was the result of agitation by a few citizens only and not the expressed wish of all citizens in the Victoria School district.

A communication from Victoria Mothers' Club was received, however, in which it was pointed out that such provision should have been made in the original plans, and urged that it be made now at least.

Chairman Coleridge championed the idea and urged that dressing-rooms be built. He stated: "It is entirely regrettable that such accommodation was not provided for in the original plans. It is important that the community side of school work be emphasized. This auditorium should be made ready for community plays."

On the architect's statement that he could not now alter the arrangement of lavatories which adjoin the stage, and that building of additional dressing-rooms would cost $4,000, the committee laid the matter over.

CAN'T SHARE ELECTION COST.

The Board of Education will not pay a one-fifth share of the January elections. The account for that share, $345.51, was passed by the board and by the public school committee, but was stopped by Trustee Coleridge, chairman of the board, who held that the charge was illegal. His opinion was verified by the city solicitor, who stated that the board was not legally, and only possibly morally, bound to pay a share of the election costs. Mr. Coleridge observed: "Public school supporters are not expected to pay mere moral liabilities."

Property already optioned in Southeast London for a new public school, with the exception of one lot, will probably be purchased at once. The excepted lot, the title of which is not clear, will be forfeited provided the owners do not clear the title. The owners, it was understood, wanted the board to incur the legal expenses of clearing the title. Chairman Coleridge pointed out that the board might well bear a share of the expense, but not all. If a mutual agreement cannot be drawn up to that effect the option on the lot will be forfeited. There is sufficient ground there with clear title, it was stated, to give ample school grounds.

JANITORS AND THE CLUBS.

A communication was received from public school janitors that asked the board to restrict the hours for the use of schools by mothers' clubs. Some trustees were for fixing an arbitrary 10 o'clock in the evening limit, but Chairman Coleridge suggested that 10.30 be made a time limit at the board's expense, after that the mothers' clubs to pay the janitors extra. The janitors also objected to cleaning up household science rooms after mothers' club meetings.

"They get $2 a night for such work," Mr. Coleridge pointed out. "They should be content with that. There are plenty of men that would be glad to get such sinecures at this time."

The committee decided to empower the superintendent of works to post rules for boiler care and operation in all schools, and also give janitors special instructions.

Refusal of old line banks to collect penny bank accounts may result in the transfer of these accounts to the Huron & Erie Mortgage Corporation. Chairman Coleridge volunteered to interview that financial corporation, and was of the opinion that they would collect daily or weekly deposits

Happy Home
TO maintain a happy home the housewife must keep in good health. Her duties are many and various, and it seems as if every other member of the family depended very much on her.
"Where is my hat?" cries the boy.
"What did you do with my coat?" asks the daughter.
"I can't find any handkerchiefs," yells the husband.
The housewife is usually the advisor and general manager of the family.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women to maintain a happy home by keeping them in good health.
Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered with irregular menstruation, was weak and run down, could not eat, and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy and I seemed to be smothering. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends and if these facts will help some poor woman use them as you please."—Mrs. J. F. PEASEY, 387 King St., Toronto.
Owen Sound, Ont.—"I suffered for ten years with female organic trouble, neuralgia and indigestion, and was weak and had such bad pains I could hardly walk or stand up at times. The last doctor I had told me he never expected me to be on my feet again or able to do a day's work. One day one of your little books was left at my door and my husband said I should try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I thank God I did, for it relieved me, and I am now well and strong. I think there is no remedy like the Vegetable Compound for anyone who has my troubles, and have recommended it to my neighbors."—Mrs. HENRY A. MITCHELL, 1767 7th Ave. East, Owen Sound, Ont.

FRESHIES TO BE INITIATED SOON

No Ban On Hazing At Western University.

MURDER IS PROHIBITED.

Western Ladies To Look After New Sisters.

While effete Eastern universities may publish bans and such like against hazing, Western University unofficially clings to the virile ideal that made life interesting in the days when colleges were colleges and not seminaries for senile Fauntleroys. Freshmen will not be murdered during the coming few weeks, but outside of that single prohibition a good many other things will be done to them.

It is understood that the hazing season of 1921 will go down in Western's history as a thing of jewel-like perfection, and that many a mild mannered young man will date his introduction to the path of success to the time when a party of sophs, in September of the present year, set upon him, cut his hair, painted him red and green, and sent him forth minus shoes and stockings.

For hazing, those that have passed through the grill state, is as necessary to a complete education as hours spent in a laboratory. For discipline is taught, little puffed-up egotisms vanish under mass tactics, and class spirit is born amidst the fires of persecution.

WILL DO IT RIGHT.

The Western ladies also plan to look after their newly arriving sisters. Particular attention, it is unofficially rumored, will be paid to the length of skirts worn by belles from the Western Ontario prairies and what not. This attention will take the form of "Saving the eyes of male freshmen!" A special committee of stately women juniors will carry measuring rods with them; and woe betide that young lady neophyte whose skirt comes to not more than six inches of the ground. For failing that standard, paper ruffles will be attached. The ruffles, it is understood, will save the freshmen's eyes.

There will be parades of bound captives, the Western Oracle states. Young men will enter restaurants, order noble repasts, and they will be forced to pay their check in coppers.

Medical students will be introduced to the special demon of the medical school known (it is whispered darkly) as "Ann Elizabeth." There has been some talk of painting the city hall, at least in spots. Another brilliant suggestion that may be acted on is that every lamp on the city's white way bear the magic numerals of this term's graduating class.

All these things, if carried out, will be done unofficially; but later on, it is understood, there will be a grand class rush under the eyes of the faculty. After which bounds will be again raised and no more heard of class rivalry except in studious application.

This will be brought about by the students themselves, who have their own self-government council. This council maintains discipline and good conduct as no body of professors could, and after the initial fun the serious grind will begin unmarred by hurt feelings or animosity of any sort.

BRITISH IMMIGRATION ASSOCIATION FORMED

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—With the purpose of assisting the best class of immigrants into Canada, the British Immigration Aid Association has just been incorporated. Those to whom the letters patent have been issued are L. H. Davidson, K. C., Lieut.-Col. H. R. Lordly, John Chisholm, Presbyterian clergyman and chaplain and director of immigration, C. E. Gault, M. L. A., and A. D. Stewart, M. D., all of Montreal.

British-born subjects of good health and character are to be assisted by loans of money or otherwise, to migrate to Canada from any part of the world, but especially from the British Isles. Farms are to be leased or purchased and equipment and homes provided in advance for settlers. A small commission will be charged on such sales or leases. The corporation also proposes to co-operate with other charitable organizations engaged in similar work. Advise and guidance are to be placed at the disposal of intending emigrants and agents are to be appointed to receive and help them upon their arrival in Canada.

It is proposed to acquire a revenue for the purpose of the association from gifts by will or donations and from membership fees, in addition to collecting moneys advanced to immigrants.

WEALTHY NEW YORK WOMAN TAKES LIFE

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Oct. 3.—Dying from an overdose of a sleeping powder and with both wrists slashed, Mrs. Paul C. Zuhlke, wife of a wealthy New York importer and exporter, who had been missing since Thursday, was found on Saturday night in a barn on the Zuhlke estate, near Madison, it became known to-day. Mrs. Zuhlke died a few minutes after being found.

When found by her husband and a party of searchers, Mrs. Zuhlke was unconscious. A private physician was called, and later, the Madison authorities announced to-day, the coroner declared it to be a case of suicide. It is believed she became despondent over the death of her only son.

I have been taking Redmac and what a blessing it is to me. I can eat three square meals a day now.

At the Theaters

AT THE GRAND.

Packed full to the brim of the sort of comedy that caused the "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" stories to attract thousands upon thousands of readers, "The Son of Wallingford," a wonderful screen production, which introduces all the familiar characters, and in addition combines the spectacular qualities of circus, zoo and hippodrome, opened a week's engagement at the Grand yesterday to large and delighted audiences. Before the week is out "The Son of Wallingford" will be one of the most popular young men in London.

The characters are typical of the illustrations used in the earlier series to portray "Blackie" Daw and J. Rufus Wallingford. They also are typical of Mr. Chester's descriptions of the characters, and show that the author-director spent much time in casting his production, which includes 22 principals, most of whom have either been starred or featured in other productions, and no less than 3,000 actors used for the big mob scenes for which the picture has become famed.

Perhaps the biggest scene in the entire production, and certainly the most thrilling is that in which hero and heroine are shown rowing on an island lake covered with oil, which catches fire. The flames speed along the surface toward the unsuspecting couple. Escape seems absolutely impossible. Walls and sheets of flame are on all sides and fierce tongues of fire are seen licking at the sides of the rowboat, while a pall of smoke is blown fitfully back and forth. This is the greatest fire scene, bar none, ever to be caught by the eye of the camera. It is shown but a few hundred feet in the production, but the oil on the artificial lake burned for 10 days. Great masses of flame twice the size of a man's body shoot hundreds of feet into the air in the form of a whirlpool.

The picture is splendidly cast. Tom Gallery plays the title role, while that veteran actor, Wilfrid North, is seen as J. Rufus Wallingford, and George Webb plays Blackie Daw. The other roles are also in exceeding competent hands. In addition to the feature picture The Grand's bill also includes a Vitagraph colored scenic, "The World of Living," and a Big V comedy, "The Goops." Miss Lina Craine, soprano, who scored such a distinct hit last week, has new song numbers, which she sings with much acceptance. Yesterday she sang "My Cavalier," "I Hear You Calling Me" and "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling."

AT THE MAJCTIC.

"Wedding Bells," a comedy in three acts, presented at the Majestic Theater the entire week, is not as joyful as it may sound, at least, not for the ones interested.

Reginald Carter, played by Robert Hyman, is a bachelor, as far as the outside world is concerned, but in reality is married to a young lady he met on a trip to Japan. Three days after they were married she left him and obtained a divorce. After fruitlessly searching for her for over a year he meets another "first love" and becomes engaged to her. On the day before his marriage he is stricken with remorse to think that he has not told his prospective wife that he has already been married and divorced, and he asks the advice of his butler.

During the course of their conversation he finds out that the butler has been married three times and, wishing to prevent another "catastrophe," is on the verge of leaving, as he says that the new mistress will probably have a ladies' maid or at least a house maid, and as one is as susceptible as the other, he would not be able to resist the temptation. The arguments put up by the would-be divorcees and the would-be marrying couples keeps the audience in constant laughter.

After many excuses everything turns out for the best, and each one make a resolution of "Never again."

AT ALLEN'S

Probably the greatest picture story the world has ever seen is "Intolerance," which returned to the Allen at the request of many patrons of the theater who were not privileged to see it on other occasions or who wish to again see this wonderful spectacle—the last word in the motion picture drama. Large audiences attended the performances on Monday.

It would be hard to conceive a picture more magnificent or more stupendous than "Intolerance," and yet withal it sets out, in a true, finished way, the brutal truths of life which through the ages have brought the world into chaos. It is a story of love through the ages.

One of the charms of this great production is the simplicity and the deftness with which each age is interwoven with another, making the whole a complete story of intense interest. The episodes are genuinely thrilling and bespeak the master craftsmanship of D. W. Griffith, who has been responsible for the two greatest productions in the history of the silver screen, "The Birth of a Nation," which was overshadowed, however, by "Intolerance."

There have been changes in the mode of man through the ages, from ancient and medieval times, but human nature has been the same through all times and this is clearly depicted in the great production. It is an education as well as an entertainment. It would be impossible to describe the picture and it is sufficient when those who have seen it declare that they would not have missed it.

The Allen orchestra adds much to he inerest of "Intolerance." During its early release it was accompanied by a large augmented orchestra and the Allen orchestra does much to give the finishing touch to this creation. It bespeaks much for the offering that it has such an array of talent as Robert Harron, Douglas Fairbanks, Wallace Reid, Elliott Dexter, Constance Talmadge and Mae Marsh.

The "Century Girl," Miss Beatrice O'Leary, is again pleasing with her soprano selections. The remainder of the program is good.

AT LOEW'S.

Bebe Daniels' latest vehicle, "Ducks and Drakes," which opened at Loew's on Monday, is of the comedy order and is an entertainment to banish dull care. It is the story of a restless fiancee, who, although on the verge of matrimony, cannot help but flirt outrageously with all and sundry males. She means no harm, but merely wants a fling, and she gets it, more than she bargained for.

One of her pet pastimes is to call numbers on the telephone at random and then flirt by wire with a masculine voice which answers. The young lady's husband-to-be discovers her practice and starts a campaign to cure her. The campaign is successful and the fiancee goes demurely to the altar, cured.

The vaudeville program is good. The "Five Virginia Belles" have a musical act that is a really fine entertainment. The five young ladies are all accomplished musicians and play a number of instruments in a finished manner. The handsome setting and costumes add zest to the act. Wardell and La Coste, in a singing and dancing act, have a pleasing offering. Munniford and Stanley, in a comedy singing and talking act, were given a good reception at the opening day's performances.

Loew's weekly news pictorial of world events and a good comedy complete a meritorious bill, which will be repeated again to-day and on Wednesday.

AT THE PATRICIA

"Lying Lips," feature attraction at the Patricia Theater the forepart of the week, and starring Edith Roberts, is a story of human interest from beginning to end.

David Martin was chief teller of a Wall street banking house and, on his honeymoon, was seized by the far-reaching hand of the law and imprisoned. His accounts were found to be $5,000 short. Adele, his faithful wife, believed in her husband and remained loyal to him. It was necessary that she carry on an affair with the head of the banking house in order to gain the evidence which would free her loved one. The husband in prison, learning of their affair, thought his wife doubted him and grew despondent and gave up hope. To the end, however, Adele worked for his freedom and was at last successful in seeing the gates of the prison roll back and release her loved one.

On the same bill is presented a Star comedy, a two-reel Western drama, starring Hoot Gibson in "Bandits, Beware," and a well-presented vaudeville act of musical features and singing.

This program will be repeated twice to-day and again to-morrow.

The Fashion Show

Below is a part of the fashion show program. There are 35 changes, together with a number of extras. Tickets are still available for Wednesday and Thursday morning performances.

Dress From 1885 Fashions

NO. 1.

The Fashion Show opens with a very smart lady indeed. Her suit is of soft navy broadcloth, buttoning up to the neck, where a lovely gray lamb collar caresses her cheeks. On her head she wears a black Spanish model from Fisk, making the costume complete.

NO. 2.

Then in steps a charming person, almost concealed 'neath a wrappy coat of reindeer velour and moleskin. Just a motion of her shoulders will slip off this silky-lined garment, displaying a modish gown of navy tricotine, brightened with its trimmings of coral beads and luxurious with its silk-lined skirt panels.

NO. 3.

Following close behind her comes another in a suit of ensign blue, that lovely soft shade which becomes every one. Chenile and silk embroidery give a smart touch to the long-skirted coat, while moleskin trims collar and cuffs.

NO. 4.

Semi-dressy is the gown of navy tricotine and jade green Canton crepe which the fourth mannequin is wearing. The flare of her skirt, as she trips along, is emphasized by an encircling of black silk braid from bodice to hem.

NO. 5.

The lady who wears the coat-dress of navy tricotine is surely up to the minute in costume. And what helps to make her so lovely is a great splash of dull red and gold embroidery which has found a resting place just where the bodice and skirt meet.

NO. 6.

Mohawk is the pretty soft red shade which faces and trims the coat-dress of navy tricotine worn by the sixth model. But there isn't the least bit of the Indian about the resulting costume, with its wide sash of black cire ribbon and lovely colored buttons.

NO. 7.

It falls to the seventh lady to wear the first real gown of the Fashion Show. And surely no one could help looking charming in a soft bodice of black kitten's ear crepe, a bouffant skirt of black lace, tiny lace sleeves and as a crowning touch a wee corsage of bright colored flowers. And what more appropriate to wear with it than a Gainsborough picture hat?

NO. 8.

A willowy person indeed must don this lovely gown of navy georgette. Accordion-pleated from yoke to hem, it sways gracefully with every movement, and is only confined with a loose Spanish girdle of beads, whose color matches the military red of the soutache braid on yoke and sleeves.

NO. 9.

Another lucky person is she who wears the frock of navy Canton crepe, whose skirt is weighted down by a heavy pattern done in brown and coral Hawaiian beads. But all this splendor is hidden until she removes her long coat of French blue velour with moleskin trimmings, in style reminiscent of a Russian blouse.

NO. 10.

Imagine a black Canton crepe intensified in heaviness and silkiness and you have some idea of the material known as Roshinar, which was used in the making of the handsome coat-dress now parading at the Fashion Show. Its only trimming, as you see, is a very fine silk thread embroidery, completely covering the bodice and stretching down into the skirt.

Program To Be Continued To-Morrow.

NOTE—All models presented at this show are selected from our stock of ready-to-wear, and these or similar garments may be seen on the second floor.

WOMAN FINDS CHILD IN CAR; ADOPTS IT

Infant, Wrapped In Brown Paper, Apparently Reached Right Address.

MONTREAL, Oct. 4.—Finding a 6-months-old child in a tram car, its sole covering a sheet of brown paper, Mrs. Albert Simard, Montcalm street, walked into the nearest police station and announced her intention of adopting it. Her husband, she said, had seen the child and agreed with her decision.

She said that she had boarded an Amherst street car at the corner of Robin street and had found a large bundle on the seat where she was about to sit. Unwrapping it she had found the child, entirely nude, but apparently in good health. She had clothed and fed the child at her home. The couple are childless.

FRENCH WILL HONOR AMERICAN SOLDIER

Remains From the Rhine Will Be Laid To Rest In Arlington.

PARIS, Oct. 4.—The "unknown soldier" of the United States army, whose body will find honored sepulture in the national cemetery at Arlington, Va., will be selected by a noncommissioned officer from the United States forces on the Rhine at Chalons-Sur-Marne on the morning of October 24. The body will leave Havre late on the evening of October 25 on board the United States cruiser Olympia.

At the request of the United States Government elaborate plans formulated by the French Government for receiving the body in Paris have been abandoned. It will be sent direct to Havre from Chalons-Sur-Marne, and the only formal ceremonies will take place just before it is placed on board the Olympia.

A French general, who is as yet unnamed, will pin the cross of the Legion of Honor to the casket. M. Barthou informed General Allen yesterday that Marshall Foch would decorate the unknown soldier with the Military Medal and the War Cross at Arlington Cemetery on November 11, when the body will be buried.

A DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER & Zam-Buk

Well-known Salvationist Tells of Mother & Son Saved from Blood-Poison & Disablement.

"One cannot speak too highly of this wonderful Zam-Buk," says Mrs. Jane E. Zealley, an ex-Major of the Salvation Army and daughter of the late Dr. Bevan, of St. David's, South Wales.

Called upon at her home, 3, Bushness Avenue, Toronto, Mrs. Zealley said: "Eight years ago my boy Alfred scratched his leg with the brass tag of a shoe lace and blood-poisoning set in. I had used various ointments on the sore, without doing good, when, hearing splendid reports about Zam-Buk I decided to give it a trial. You can imagine my relief, when, after a few applications of Zam-Buk, I saw that healing had already started. Continued treatment quickly removed every trace of the obstinate sore. It made me realise what pain and suffering I might have saved the boy, had I got Zam-Buk at first.

"When I fell over a steel fender and injured my knee badly, I again used Zam-Buk. My daughter, who was a nurse, thought an operation would be necessary to remove the mass of inflammation and pus, but I hadn't forgotten my previous experience with Zam-Buk. Again regular applications of the balm took out all pain and swelling and healed the wound in a few days. The knee has never given further trouble." Herbal Zam-Buk is 50c. box, all dealers.

News of the Federal Campaign

U. F. O. Official Is Chosen By North Perth Labor Convention—Mowat To Quit the Arena In Parkdale.

CANDIDATES NAMED

ESSEX, South—Eugene Scratch (Government).

PERTH, North—W. A. Amos (Labor-U. F. O.).

WELLINGTON, North — J. C. Pritchard (U. F. O.).

PETERBORO, East—G. A. Brethern (U. F. O.).

WELLAND—Evan Fraser (Government).

EDWARDS MAY BE UNOPPOSED.

KINGSTON, Oct. 3.—Difficulties are being encountered in the selection of the U. F. O. candidate for Frontenac, according to reports. So serious has the situation become that a committee left for Toronto to-day to lay the situation before the Ontario executive. It is stated that unless the central committee can send one of the big leaders of the movement here to contest the seat for Hon. J. W. Edwards may get an acclamation. It appears that no one of the present aspirants is prepared to accept the nomination under existing conditions. The U. F. O. convention is to be held here on Wednesday.

KENT NAMES MENTIONED.

CHATHAM, Oct. 4.—In connection with the meeting of farmers, held in this city on Saturday to discuss the question of placing a candidate in the field, the names of E. W. Hardey and D. R. McLarnnid, of Ridgetown, are being prominently mentioned in connection with the nomination. Both of these gentlemen have been very active in the U. F. O. ranks of Kent County and are regarded as strong men who would make creditable candidates. The executive has, however, decided to leave the choice entirely in the hands of the convention when it is called.

PRITCHARD IN WELLINGTON.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Oct. 3. — John C. Pritchard, of Harriston, was nominated at a U. F. O. convention here to-day as the Progressive candidate in the federal riding of North Wellington.

AN AGRARIAN IN B. C.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 4. — J. J. Richmond has announced his intention of contesting the seat of Vancouver South in the federal elections as a National Progressive party candidate, according to The Daily Province. This is the first definite intimation that the agrarian party would contest a British Columbia seat.

EVAN FRASER NAMED.

WELLAND, Ont., Oct. 3.—The Conservatives in convention here to-day nominated Evan Fraser as their candidate in the federal riding of Welland. Mr. Fraser is the sitting member. Hon. Hugh Guthrie was the principal speaker.

BRETHERN RUNS AS U. F. O.

PETERBORO, Ont., Oct. 3. — G. A. Brethern, a cattle breeder of Norwood district, was chosen at the U. F. O. convention at Norwood to-day as the Progressive candidate in the federal riding of East Peterboro. Four other nominees were eliminated by ballot.

MR. KING AT DIGBY.

DIGBY, N. S., Oct. 3.—If the Liberals of 1911 had not gone down to defeat fighting the battles of the farmers in the reciprocity pact, there might be some excuse for putting farmer candidates in every riding in Canada, declared Mr. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, at tonight's meeting in the roller rink. But as it is, they are dividing the forces of progress in seeking not alone a voice in the government but a group in the government of their country. It would not be surprising if the common enemy of farmers and Liberals had been responsible for many of the farmer candidates being placed in the field.

"I see my friend, Mr. Davidson" (the sitting member), he said, "in the hall. Wouldn't he enjoy seeing a farmer candidate in the riding to take votes away from Dr. Lovett, who represents the Liberals and who will be the next member for Digby-Annapolis?"

Hon. Mr. King was well received in Digby. Though a heavy rain fell during the entire evening, well over two thousand persons filled the rink for the occasion and gave the speakers of the evening close attention.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Dr. H. S. Holland and Dr. Lovett, Liberal candidate, also addressed the gathering.

LIBERALS AT NICOLET.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Oct. 4.—Arthur Trahan, M. P., for Nicolet, was chosen as Liberal candidate for that constituency at the forthcoming federal elections at a convention held at Lancour yesterday.

PREVOST RENOMINATED.

ST. JEROME, Terrebonne County, Que., Oct. 4.—Jules Edouard Prevost, M. P. for Terrebonne County, was renominated to-day as Liberal candidate for the forthcoming Federal elections. Speakers at the meeting included Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Hon. Athanaze Lanthier, and Fernand Renfret, M. P. for St. James, Montreal.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux claimed there was an insidious annexation movement going on, it being said that Canada could not pay its enormous debt and that the United States would have to collect it. He issued a warning against this campaign. Mr. Lemieux said he would never forget the insults leveled at Quebec in the 1917 election. "I would not be worthy of my name and race if I forgot," he concluded.

EAST ELGIN LIBERALS

An open convention of the Liberals of East Elgin will be held in the town hall at Aylmer on Tuesday of next week when a candidate for the approaching campaign will be chosen. Duncan Ross, M. P., will be present and will give an address. It is understood that W. G. Charlton, the former candidate, will not again contest the riding, and several names are being mentioned as likely successors. Among them are Wilson H. Mills, of Sparta; Dr. F. H. Miller, of Aylmer, and others.

ELGIN N. L. C. ACTIVE.

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 3.—(By Staff Reporter.)—The National Liberal and Conservative executive held a largely attended meeting here to-night. Organization plans were considered. Another meeting will be held on Wednesday.

NORTH SIMCOE FARMERS.

BARRIE, Oct. 3.—Thomas E. Ross, of Oro Township, was chosen on Saturday at Staynor as the Progressive candidate in the riding of North Simcoe.

TURMOIL IN SOUTH OXFORD.

TILLSONBURG, Oct. 3.—Since the Liberal convention in Mount Elgin on Friday, at which Mayor M. G. Dean, of Tillsonburg, was given the nomination, subject to his acceptance in a few days, the political situation in South Oxford has developed into a turmoil. The U.F.O. forces have suffered a severe setback in the fact that their most cherished aspirant has now declined to allow his name to go before the convention on October 25, at Mount Elgin. The Liberal-Conservative convention has been called for October 11, in Mount Elgin, and here again there is difficulty. Donald Sutherland, M.P. for South Oxford, no longer resides in the riding, but makes his home in Toronto. All day Saturday in the riding Liberals and Conservatives have held conferences and it is the general opinion that the thing to do is to drop both party candidates and select an independant candidate to contest the riding against the U. F.O. The present indication is that the names of M. Haley, of Springford, and J. Lambden, of Delmar, are the only two names to go before the U.F.O. convention. Both of these gentlemen are former strong Conservative workers.

TO OPPOSE W. C. GOOD.

BRANTFORD, Oct. 3.—At a meeting of the I. L. P. matters concerning the federal election were discussed and the result may be that the local Labor party will nominate a candidate for Brant to oppose W. C. Good. A letter was received from E. Bigger, in which he said he was giving serious consideration to the nomination for Brant and he would give a decided answer at an early date.

U. F. O. OFFICIAL CHOSEN

STRATFORD, Oct. 3.—(Special to The Free Press.)—A surprise was sprung at the Labor-Farmer convention here to-night when W. A. Amos, Wallace Township, vice-president of the provincial U. F. O., was chosen by the Labor delegates as candidate for North Perth. In 1919 Mr. Amos was the defeated U. F. O. candidate in the provincial election.

Whether or not the Labor party will support the nominee remains to be seen. It is likely the situation will have an effect on the North Perth Liberal convention, which is to be held to-morrow. The Labor party was given to understand that a Labor representative would be put in the field and that he would be backed up by the farmers.

TWO NAMES ADDED.

Fourteen names selected by the Labor party a couple of weeks ago came before the convention to-night, and to this list were added the names of W. A. Amos and Harry Wigglesworth, Labor. As soon as these were approved nominations were closed and the balloting began. On the first ballot all were eliminated but five, and on the second and final ballot the results were: W. A. Amos, 36; A. Skidmore, 14; O. J. Connell, 10; H. Wigglesworth, 6, and T. L. Clancy, 3.

The U. F. O. was allowed five delegates at to-night's meeting. They did not vote on the first ballot. On the second ballot they were given votes, but it is not known if they were used.

ASKS O. K. BY FARMERS.

In a short address Mr. Amos asked W. S. Sheares, president of the Perth U. F. O. to call a convention and as a matter of form confirm the nomination which had been made by the Labor party. This may be done.

In the 1919 election the farmers named their candidate and Labor added to his support, and this time the situation was to have been reversed. It was reversed so far as the action went, but the Labor delegates selected a U. F. O. man.

MAY UNITE CHURCHES.

RIPLEY, Oct. 3.—A commission from the presbytery has been appointed to look into the uniting of the two Presbyterian churches here.

COUNCIL ASKS NATURAL GAS AT 65 CENTS

Committee's Recommendation to Pay 85 Cents Is Referred Back

TWO-YEAR CONTRACT MEETS WITH DISFAVOR

Chairman Wilson Pronounces Proposed Agreement Otherwise Fair

London will not pay 85 cents a thousand feet for natural gas, delivered to the consumers; 65 cents is the outside limit. This was decided by the Council last night when the recommendation of the special gas committee that a contract be made with the City Gas Company for a period of two years for the natural gas from the Saul wells at 85 cents was referred back for further consideration, with instructions that no contract calling for any rate above 65 cents will be acceptable to the Council.

Chairman Ald. W. A. Wilson, of the gas committee, refused to move the adoption of his own committee's report. He agreed that the price set, 85 cents, was fair, but he objected to making any two-year contract.

THINKS PRICE FAIR.

"I think the price is fair," said Chairman Wilson. "If we get 250,000 feet of natural gas the consumers will pay only $1.15 for the mixed gas, and if we can get 1,000,000 feet the city will be paying only 85 cents for its entire gas supply."

Mayor Little ruled that the discussion could be carried no further until the special committee's recommendation had been regularly moved. This was done by Ald. Wenige and Brighton.

"The City Gas Company is charging entirely too much when it wants 70 per cent. of the cost of the gas for distribution," contended Ald. Watt.

"The company is only asking 35 cents," interjected Ald. W. A. Wilson.

"Well, that is 70 per cent. of 50 cents, isn't it?" retorted Ald. Watt.

DOUBTS WASTAGE.

"We want the natural gas here, but both the gas companies concerned are unreasonable in their demands," continued Ald. Watt. "I think the Government officials were out in their estimates regarding the wastage in the line between the wells and the consumers. Bnt at any rate 85 cents is too much to pay for the gas."

Ald. Harley warned that the city should be protected against any but the purest of natural gas being used in the city. He pointed out that under the present proposal the City Gas Company could mix any quality of natural gas with the artificial product, and the city would be compelled to pay the one rate for all.

Mayor Little explained that the city would be amply protected in any contract made.

Ald. Wenige urged that two years was a comparatively short term. He also called attention to the fact that the City Gas Company would be brought under the jurisdiction of the gas referee in this contract, and the rates would be easily adjusted.

Ald. Ashton argued that the 85-cent rate is too much to pay for the gas when many cities are paying only 40 cents.

AGREEMENT UNAFFECTED.

"Will that affect our agreement with the City Gas Company?" asked Ald. Harley.

"No," replied Mayor Little. "We will deal entirely with the City Gas Company and the existing agreement will not be affected in any way."

"This Council would not be justified in signing any two-year contract at this price," objected Ald. Cameron Wilson. "If the Council of next year does its duty the Legislature will be induced to reduce the price of artificial gas to 90 cents, or near it, and in view of this we should not bind the citizens to pay 85 cents for the natural product for two years. This is the highest price paid any place for natural gas. We should not pay more than 40 cents for the gas at the city limits and 25 cents for distribution. You can easily figure out how much profit the company would make on a capital expenditure of $40,000."

Ald. W. A. Wilson moved to accept the price, but not for a two-year term. Ald. Watkinson submitted a motion to have the question referred back to the committee. This was finally adopted. It was also decided, on suggestion of Ald. Cameron Wilson, that the city should not pay more than 65 cents.

Ald. Watkinson queried whether the London Street Railway Company is violating its contract by taking off some cars.

"I presume it is," replied Mayor Little.

"That contract was made to be broken," explained Ald. Harley.

"What do you mean by cars?" asked Ald. Ashton.

"I will have to reply that I do not know," was the answer of the mayor.

Ald. Wenige wanted to know when Stanley street is to be fixed up right.

Mayor Little explained that the work will be completed quite satisfactorily within a few days now.

"That street will be all right; the company is making a good job on it," asserted Ald. W. A. Wilson. "But I must say Mr. King is as slow as time. I thought he would be as good as his word when he promised the work would be done at once.

The Council left the question of awarding the contracts for the firemen's uniforms to Chief Aitken and Chairman Watkinson, of No. 1 committee, and in special conference these two, on suggestion of the latter, awarded the contract to Orth, Ltd., whose price was $39.75 per suit.

ST. GREGOIRE COLLEGE DESTROYED BY FIRE; OCCUPANTS ESCAPE

QUEBEC, Oct. 4.—The St. Gregoire College, a day school in the parish of St. Gregoire, near Montmorency Falls, was destroyed by fire at midnight last night. The Mariat Brothers, in charge of the school, had difficulty in escaping from the building, which was soon a mass of flames. The origin of the fire is not known, but it is thought that it was caused by the chimney or by electric wiring.

The college was a four-story brick-faced building, about 100 feet square. The loss is estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000.

U. S. TO TEST NEW GUN ON MARYLAND RANGES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—A new 16-inch rifle, said to be more powerful than any naval gun in use, and other new developments in ordnance will be tested at the army ordnance proving ground at Aberdeen, Maryland, on Friday. New types of artillery, shells, tanks and bombs also will be tried out.

DAVID HANNAH TAKEN BY DEATH

Well-Known Business Man Dies After Long Illness

ALDERMAN IN 1892-93

Born In St. Johns In 1841 and Lived Here Sixty Years

David Collins Hannah, one of London's best-known business men, died at his home, 791 Richmond street, last night. He had been in failing health for the past two years and his death was not unexpected.

Deceased was born in St. John, N. B., in 1841, and came to this city when a lad with his parents and resided here for over 60 years. Some 45 years ago he entered the firm of Edward Adams Company, wholesale grocers, but later started in the business of merchandise and customs broker, a business he followed until two years ago, when he retired. This business is now being carried on by his son, D. C. Hannah.

WAS ALDERMAN HERE.

In 1892-93 he was alderman in the city, serving under the late Mayor W. M. Spencer. He was one of the officers who reorganized the 7th Regiment here in 1865 and since then was more or less connected with the 7th Fusiliers. He wa sa veteran of the Fenian Raid, in the rank of ensign. He married Miss L. Bethel, daughter of the late Francis Bethel, of Montreal, who predeceased him 12 years ago. He was a member of First Methodist Church and an ardent worker in all branches of church work, and was a member of St. John's Masonic Lodge, 209a. He was educated in the local public and high schools.

GREATLY ESTEEMED.

"The late Mr. Hannah was a man of sterling character, even tempered and fine disposition. He had a bright smile for everyone who knew him, was always cordial and his death will be deeply regretted by a large circle of friends, who held him in high esteem," said William Turnbull, president of Edward Adams & Co.

The deceased is survived by two sons, D. C., of this city, and Stewart, of Winnipeg, and one daughter, Miss Maud, living at home. Lieut.-Col. Frank Ware, of this city, is a nephew.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

NOT MUCH INTEREST IN RUSS TRADE MOVE

RIGA, Oct. 4.—Russia's removal of the Government monopoly on foreign trade has failed to arouse much interest. Various trade experts and foreign commerce men are here watching the Russian situation.

While Russia's action is considered potentially important, as indicating a general reform, at the same time it is deemed by banking interests a confession of exhaustion of the Russian Government's gold reserve and that, lacking money to buy as a Government, the Soviet is ready now to let the co-operative societies and individuals try a hand.

It is learned from exceptionally well-informed financial sources that the Soviet's gold supply cannot exceed 50,000,000 roubles, probably much less. Even the Roumanian gold reserve of nearly 200,000,000 roubles, which was removed to Moscow for safe keeping at the time of the great German offensive, has been sold by the Bolsheviki, according to Stockholm bankers, who have bought most of the Russian gold.

Russian export trade is increasing; the volume is not great, but actual exports are now in evidence. A radio message announces that the first big shipment to Berlin is being prepared at Moscow, consisting of 80 carloads of raw hides, flax, hemp, wool, spirits and tobacco. Thirty-nine ships have arrived at Archangel to load cargoes of lumber.

SON IS ELECTED IN PLACE OF HIS FATHER

NEWCASTLE, N. B., Oct. 4.—By a plurality of over 1,100 over his nearest opponent, David Allain, Independent Liberal, A. V. Vanderveck, Liberal, was elected in Northumberland yesterday for the vacant seat in the Legislature caused by the death of his father, J. W. Vanderbeck. With three or four small places still to hear from the vote stands: Vanderbeck, 3,383; Allain, 2,249; Williams Johnson, Conservative, 1,394.

THE QUEST IN DIFFICULTIES.

LISBON, Oct. 4.—The steamer Quest, having on board Sir Ernest Shackleton and his party, on their way to the Antarctic on a trip of exploration expected to last four years, has been placed in a difficult position by a heavy storm off Cape DaRoca, west of here. She has asked that help be sent.

Try Magnesia For Stomach Trouble

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion you have already tried pepsin, pancreatin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids, and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little bisurated magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate of milk, but the pure bisurated magnesia, which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow almost everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little bisurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and, moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion. —Advt.

BEWARE OF LITTLE FRAUD DETECTOR

London Man's Invention Can Be Used For Novel Purposes.

The x-ray may now enter the commercial field as a matter of everyday use, not as an elaborate mechanism confined to scientific laboratories. A London inventor has perfected a machine, able to take x-ray pictures in a few seconds, that may be carried about in the hand like a camera, and that will cost not more than a better-grade kodak.

For this machine, which will be named the "Western University X-Ray," may be used in a hundred ways that has hitherto been impracticable with the larger and more costly machines.

Here are some of the uses suggested by F. W. Claasens, the inventor, who is a biological technician at the arts college. "Every shoe store should be equipped with one to show customers that shoes offered for sale are all leather and are properly nailed or sewn.

"Have them used in cigar stores to prove that 'La Petite Chou' cigar is all Havana.

"For use on the city market to demonstrate whether fowl offered for sale departed this life at the hands of the tubercle bacilli or other deadly germ.

"To be used by customs inspectors who may have a suspicion that the stout lady passing before him does not owe all her weight to a fondness for chocolate ice cream sodas.

"By license inspectors who may make casual inspections of passing motor cars that may, or may not, contain a half barrel of hootch under the elongated radiator hood."

A thousand other uses are suggested by this machine, now perfected, which can be carried in the hand, gets its power from any electric light bulb, and produces a picture in a very few seconds.

CIVIC DEPARTMENT WORKS AT NIGHT

Engineer's Staff Not Afraid of Advent of Efficiency Experts.

One office at the city hall would welcome an investigation by a committee of citizens bent on correcting slothful public service. The city engineer's office is the one with the clear conscience and they are confident that they are the only public servants in Canada that work nights voluntarily.

They work on an average three nights each week because the men who handle transits and theodolites in the daytime must be assessment men at night. The city engineer's department has to make the local improvement assessments on the basis of street frontage and the unprecedented paving program of this year has made night work absolutely necessary.

The staff, however, receives no overtime and, in fact, have made no complaint. "It's all in the day's work," they stated.

HICCUP EPIDEMIC PREVALENT.

Don't get the habit of hiccups—stop the slightest attack at the beginning. Nothing brings such magical relief as slowly sipping a few drops of Nerviline in sweetened water. For stomach pains, bloating, cramps, diarrhoea, nothing will prove more useful in every home than a 35-cent bottle of good old Nerviline.—Advt.

DUCK SHOOTING ACCIDENT FATAL

Kenneth Rook, 22, of Toronto, Killed In Muskoka.

HIS COMPANION TRIPS.

Gun Discharges and Shot Lodges In Rook's Side.

TORONTO, Oct. 4. — Kenneth Rook, aged 22, of Toronto, died to-night an an improvised special C. P. R. train racing from Torrance toward Toronto. The youth was actually shot while tramping the Muskoka bush with ex-Controller R. H. Cameron, on a duck shooting expedition. Mr. Cameron stumbled and the gun he was carrying discharged itself into the side of his young friend and companion. With a cry the lad fell.

After a hurried examination of the wound and anxious attempt to stem the flow of blood, Mr. Cameron started a one-mile run through the rough bush to summon assistance. Arriving back at Torrance in an exhausted condition, he dispatched an automobile at full speed to Bala to summon a physician.

Meanwhile, the wounded youth was brought into the little hamlet. It was manifest that his condition was most serious. The arrival of the doctor confirmed the worst fears. The physician said it was essential that he be removed at once to a hospital.

A special train was immediately improvised from the engine and caboose of a freight train which had pulled into the station at Torrance. The injured lad was placed on board and with Mr. and Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Rook, the lad's mother, and the doctor, the train started on its 112-mile race with Death toward Toronto.

But it was too late. The train had scarcely got under way when the youthful victim breathed his last.

Chief Coroner G. W. Graham was notified and the body was taken to an undertaking establishment to await the decision of the coroner as to whether or not an inquest will be held.

BUSINESS IN CANADA RAPIDLY INCREASING

President Kelly, of Grand Trunk, Optimistic Over Conditions.

Regarding the prosperity of Canada, Howard G. Kelley, president of the G. T. R., who passed through the city last night, stated that business generally throughout the Dominion was rapidly picking up, or at least holding its own.

The G. H. T., according to Mr. Kelley, has had increasing business in the last few weeks and showed no apparent slackening for some time to come.

He would make no comments on the value of the G. T. R., as placed recently by the arbitration board, except that any further developments would originate in England.

OPEN SEASON FOR WOODCOCK.

In connection with the game regulations for the protection of woodcock, a curious conflict of federal and provincial laws has occurred. The Dominion regulations provide an open season from October 15 to November 14, the provincial law gives an open season from September 15 to October 15, inclusive. Sergt.-Major G. T. E. Martin reports that the matter has been taken up with Ottawa, and information received that in such cases the federal regulation applies, though the provincial department can make its laws more restrictive than the federal. In view of the severe penalties which may be imposed for infraction of the regulation is is desirable that sportsmen should take note of the situation.

SMALL STATES OPPOSE BLOCKADE REGULATIONS

GENEVA, Oct. 4.—Eight small states, members of the League of Nations, resumed in this morning's session of the assembly of the league, their fight against the too rigid application of blockade regulations, which was prescribed as one of the weapons to be used by the league against a state which violated the covenant of the organization.

Greece has been especially active in her effort to bring about an amendment of Article 16 of the covenant of the league, so that no state can initate a blockade on its own account without previous notification from the council of the league that the blockade of a covenant breaker is in order.

A motion introduced by Holland, providing for a suspension of all action under Article 16, was withdrawn, and a Greek amendment to Article 16, which would provide that individual states would not exercise the right of blockade until a date had been fixed by the council, was lost.

King's Hopeless Position

The Liberal party must be in a hopeless position in Ontario when The London Advertiser has to make a pathetic appeal for a candidate in that historic Liberal riding, North Oxford. There have been thirteen elections in North Oxford since confederation and in every case until 1917, when E. W. Nesbitt ran as a Liberal-Unionist, the riding has gone Liberal by overwhelming majorities.

Yet to-day in this stronghold of the party the situation is so bad for the supporters of Hon. Mackenzie King that The Advertiser has to beg the Liberals to put up a candidate. E. W. Nesbitt is a Liberal-Unionist who is remaining loyal to Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen and at the meeting Saturday in Woodstock, where he was again nominated, he was pledged the support of hundreds of Liberals.

North Oxford is not the only old Liberal riding where Mr. King is having difficulties. In West Lambton Fred Pardee is talking of dropping out and may not get the nomination. In South Renfrew the U. F. O. has driven one of Mr. King's strongest supporters, Isaac Pedlow, out of the field. He has announced he will not be a candidate again. South Renfrew, like North Oxford is traditionally Liberal.

In Fort William many of the Liberal executive have announced their intention of supporting Hon. Dr. Manion, the new minister of Soldier's Civil Re-establishment. It is not likely there will be a Liberal candidate.

The facts are that the Liberal-Unionists in growing numbers in Ontario are standing staunchly by Mr. Meighen. The fight is becoming one between the Government and the U. F. O. The reason is not hard to seek. They are the only parties with definite platforms. In the case of these two parties the people know what they are voting for. Mr. King is too much of a political chameleon to be taken seriously.

Western University Expands

Western University opened yesterday with a record attendance. Any doubts as to the need or the value of a strong institution for higher education in London catering particularly to Western Ontario should be dispelled by the registration this fall. The university authorities, with their meager accommodation and inadequate facilities, will have difficulty in properly providing for the rush of new students.

The registration for this session should finally settle the question of the erection of new buildings. The university to-day has more students than it can handle with fairness to the undergraduates and to the professors.

The Provincial Cabinet has already accepted the principle of aid to Western University as recommended by the royal commission, but has not yet decided when aid is to be extended or to what extent. The Government at the next session of the Legislature should set aside a sufficient sum so that the work of erecting new buildings can commence next spring. This should be done out of justice to Western University, the youth of Western Ontario and the cause of higher education generally.

Just to refresh the memories of the legislators and the people of Western Ontario we quote again the following tribute paid to Western University by the royal commission in its report:

"Western is situated in the heart of one of the wealthiest and most populous agricultural and industrial parts of Ontario. Western Ontario has an estimated population of 780,000, about one-third of the population of the province. Its municipal assessment is one-third of the whole provincial assessment. It contains one-third of the secondary schools and more than one-third of the secondary school population of the province. It has aroused strong local enthusiasm for its support. It can supply the facilities for higher education to hundreds of students who aare seeking it at moderate cost and in the vicinity of their homes. Even under the present hampering conditions, the student body in arts has increased at the rate of 66 2-3 per cent. per annum for the last three years. Its faculty of public health has been a pioneer, and is now carrying on valuable pathological researches. It can stimulate all the educational activities of Western Ontario by summer schools, by extension work, by library facilities, as well as by the direct influence it wields through its graduates and undergraduates. Its initial achievements and its wonderful opportunities justify a substantial measure of public assistance."

Fairies Banished From Russia

The normal child loves a fairy tale. The "Never-Never Land" is his true inheritance. Fairies and fairy-folk are his proper brethren and companions.

In the beloved fairy-play, "Peter Pan," Barrie put the childhood of the world to the test, when he made the life or death of Tinker Bell depend upon a child's belief in fairies. If no child in the audience was brave enough to stand up when the great question was posed: "How many believe in fairies?" with a resounding "I do," then Tinker Bell must die. Fortunately, there never was a children's audience assembled for a presentation of the play where dozens of children were not on their feet instantly, to rebutt the charge that "faery" had passed away from the earth. No, nor no "grown-up" audience, we think, failed of its one poet-hearted man or one poet-hearted woman who still clung to the dear young faith of childhood.

That the children of London are normal children, that is, that they are poetic children, imaginative children, romantic children, is evidenced by the latest report of the London library. This report establishes the fact that during the past year the children of the public schools of this city alone took out of the library nearly six thousand fairy tales. Children other than public school children, doubtless, read Hans Andersen, Grimm, the Arabian Nights, the Blue Fairy Book, the Red Fairy Book and all the others quite as assiduously. Their cards not being school cards, however, the record of their reading cou'd not so easily be kept. Enough is known, though, to establish the fact that the London child of the year 1921 is not behind his little Egyptian predecessor of the epoch of the Rameses, his Persian predecessor of the days of Cyrus, his Grecian predecessors of the age of Pericles, all of whom, it has long ago been established, loved Egyptian, Persian and Greek versions of the very fairy tales our children love to-day.

All this to bring us to the fact that the Soviet Government, not content with its already pretty long list of "atrocities," has committed what is, perhaps, the crowning atrocity of all: it has banished fairies from Russia. The following "pronouncement" (how dead tyrants must tingle!) comes from the literary section of the Soviet Commissariat for Education. It reads:

"Children's tales must be devoid of all elements of superstition, and must contain no mention of angels, fairies, evil genii, etc.

"Kings and princes must be described as oppressors of the masses, as they are in reality.

"The literary section suggests as subject matter for such tales the future of mankind, the achievements of science, technical skill and industry.

"Tales describing the life of the working masses will be especially welcome.

"All mythological or religious subjects, God and the devil must be carefully avoided.

The "future of mankind"—under Soviet Russia! Poor little Russian Ivan and Olga! What a drab and dreary world is the world you were born into!

In all we are willing to wager the old tales of the Russian Wonder Book—do you remember the pictures in it?—the quaint and vivid folk-lore of the field and fireside, eventually, will escape the knout of Czar Lenin and confound his latest ukase. Lenine and Trotzky may drive nature out with a fork, but she'll come back with a spoon.

In the meantime citizens of this fair, free Canada, howsoever prices pinch and taxes terrify, be thankful the grim hand of Soviet puritanism cannot fall upon the budding life of Canadian children. To be as sane as the Soviet is to be mad indeed.

Be thankful, too, that as yet, even in Russia, we believe, they have not quite succeeded in banishing the greatest and the most divine of tale-tellers, the dramatis personae of whose so exquisite folk-lore are the flowers of the field, the birds of the air, the cattle on the hillside; who pictures prodigals and housewives, lords and servants as never man pictured these or other characters of the common human story; who fears not to name His Father in heaven, no, nor Beelzebub—and whose sweetest command is that men should "suffer the little children" to come unto Him and "forbid them not."

Are We Working?

An opinion, which has been expressed repeatedly of late, is that the difficult times we are passing through are not wholly due to the direct or even the indirect effects of war reaction. The trouble is due to the fact that so few of us are willing to set ourselves to hard work. Not necessarily hard work of the stone-breaking order, but the kind of work that demands our best energies, our interest, our enthusiasm first and foremost, and our thought of the double reward, most of us draw from work, second.

After the Franco-Prussian war Bismarck is said to have remarked how France was working night and day to meet her obligation—a fact that caused the astute statesman to voice the opinion that France was prospering and Germany was slippping back commercially.

Germany to-day is doing what France did in the middle and late seventies of the past century—working night and day.

Do we, who cannot accuse ourselves of like energy, realize what may happen this time? When we review the situation the question naturally comes to our mind, shall we watch Germany work night and day and not make a move at least to work the better part of the day? Shall we watch her bend all her energies to meet her obligations and not put forth a strong effort to meet our own obligations as soon as possible? Shall we, and the allied countries, stand aside and watch Germany capture many things that commercially should be ours?

This second calamity will not fall on the allies or ourselves if once more we all begin again at hard work—the work which we agree includes the exercise of our brains, our muscles, our interest, our enthusiasms. Even at this rate hard work will not be hard work if we provision the result our efforts will mean to Canada.

The Third Column

THE THINKER.

There's a fortune in store for the man who can Think
And glory to crown his endeavor;
He can come to renown, who will often sit down
Away from the wise men and clever;
And with reason to guide him will map out a plan
That is best for his country and best for the man.

The thoughtless are many, they swarm in a throng
But the Thinkers are solemnly few,
But the man at the top, is the man who will stop
To ponder the course he'll pursue;
And he never attacks any problem of doubt
Before he has carefully thought it all out.

Our country will honor the man who can Think
For the need of his wisdom is great;
The man unafraid and not easily swayed
Is the man who shall fashion our fate,
For plausible Folly the mob often moves
But the Thinker considers before he approves.

These are days for the Thinker, there's much to be done,
And many the dangers to face,
And what seems to be good when it's all understood
May be ruin and shame and disgrace.
Whenever arises a problem of doubt
For the good of our country let's reason it out.

FACE AND FIGHT THEM ALL.

The world is all the time vexed with problems. It has to face each one, sooner or later—and fight each one out. And that is the same with us all.

We are puzzled with an increasing number of choices. We may choose to be mediocre—or we may determine to rise above the average, to stalk above the crowd—to be great!

It takes much more time, infinitely more pains and patience, days and nights of discouragement and maybe suffering—and oh, so much waiting and waiting and—waiting—to be great, though. The easy way, however, is the temporary way—full of disappointment that breeds disappointment.

You must think the thing you want to be—the man or woman you want to become. Then face every problem and fight the good fight to a finish.

I have a little motto pasted on my typewriter. Here it is: "Make no small plans—they have no magic to stir the imagination."

If you have imagination, if you can see yourself stronger and more courageous with the oncoming of every new day, you will be adding equipment to your character which will serve it faithfully when dire emergencies come unawares.

Then will you be able to face your tasks without crumbling in heart, and fight them out to a grand result.

But try not to lean in your climbing—Nit!

And do your best to lift someone else besides yourself—for "he climbs highest who helps another up."

Be a real artist. But did you ever hear of anyone who ever distinguished himself as a real artist who didn't first distinguish himself as a fighter who faced every fight—big or little—and who won more than he ever lost?

It is easy for any intelligent person to believe in one who believes in himself—and demonstrates the fact!!

—By George Matthew Adams.

TO-MORROW.

To-day has little sorrow, it is a good safe bet; but we believe to-morrow will show up better yet. And all through life we're groping, with slow and heavy tread, still hoping, always hoping, for better things ahead. And so our loads we're bearing with patience, day by day; few pilgrims are despairing, though weary be the way; for in us is implanted the faith in joy to come, in Eden lands enchanted, where birds are singing some. Without this faith we'd falter, and quit our useful chores, and you would need a halter to drag us from our doors. Ah, then no fine incentive this stale life would accord, no spur to minds inventive, for progress no reward; then all our pep would vanish, and we would sink in sloth, and, growing also-rannish, we'd end up in the broth. But all well balanced mortals have faith in bliss ahead, and so they greet with chorties the bogies dire and dread. What if to-day is tougher than punk days gone before? We haven't long to suffer—to-morrow's at the door. What if we're overloaded, and galled and chafed and vexed? We shall not long be goaded—to-morrow's turn is next. And so we erring critters toil onward day by day, and bravely take our bitters—the nectar's on the way.

The Political Arena

It is beginning to look as if Hon. R. J. Manion will get the backing of most of the Liberals in Fort William. The majority of the old Liberal executive are supporting him, and the only opposition, if any, will be from Labor. Hon. Mr. Manion is only 40 years of age, but has crowded many experiences into that period. Like his colleague, Mr. H. H. Stevens, he was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth, but owes his present position to a determination to succeed and to a tenacity that would not permit him to quit. He fought his way through college and after being graduated from Toronto took honorable degrees in his profession in Edinburgh and Glasgow. Born in Pembroke, Ont., his boyhood was spent in Fort William, and it was in that city that he acquired a large professional practice and a prominent place in civic politics. When the war broke out he was one of the first to answer the call and in the early stages of hostilities he served with the French army. Rejoining the Canadians, he became attached to the 21st Battalion and won the Military Cross for gallantry on the field. In 1915 he was nominated for Fort William by the Liberal party, of which he was a supporter, but in 1917 he stood for conscription and was returned to Parliament to support the coalition. A man of fine speaking capacity, and of brilliant attainments, it was fitting that Mr. Meighen should select him as the Irish Catholic representative in the new ministry.

The Vancouver Province thinks that the appointment of Hon. H. H. Stevens as minister of trade and commerce will mean much to that province. The Province, writing in regard to his appointment, says it "would accord with the preference of the member for Vancouver Center, who has been particularly interested in the promotion and development of Canadian commerce on the Pacific. Thus it has come about that as minister of trade Mr. Stevens was able, as soon as he took office, to give a practical answer to the request which he had made as a private member for the establishment at Vancouver of a departmental office to deal with Oriental trade.

"If we consider for a moment the volume of commerce already handled between Canada and Japan, and remember that other Asiatic countries have 12 times the population and 70 times the area of Japan we may get some hint of these possibilities. The outlook on these avenues of trade and enterprise will be much clear to a department which has eyes in Vancouver than to one which looks out only from Ottawa. The Ottawa vision, like that of Sam Weller, is limited."

The expectation that the contest in North York would be a keen one does not seem likely to be disappointed. R. W. E. Burnaby is reported as saying at a public meeting:

"Mr. King's strongest card is his grandfather. We've all heard so much about that grandfather business that we're sick of it. The Liberal leader gets up on a platform in North York and says: 'Our first duty is to defeat the present Government.' Two sentences farther down he states: 'Mr. Burnaby should step out and leave me the field because my grandfather had it.' Is a constituency an heirloom to be handed down from one generation to another?"

The Edmonton Bulletin, edited by Hon. Frank Oliver, who will be the Liberal standard-bearer in Edmonton, fears the development of a class party. Discussing the controversy between Dr. Michael Clark and Hon. T. A. Crerar the Bulletin says:

"That the country is menaced by the attempt to organize society into 'economic classes' for political purposes Mr. Crerar seems to admit. But that movement could get nowhere save through its connection with the Progressive party. Mr. Wood's doctrine might be a menace to Alberta, even if the U. F. A. were not in affiliation with farmers' organizations in other provinces; but it could accomplish nothing as a factor in federal affairs. It is only because the U. F. A. has the backing of the other branches of the Progressive party in other provinces that Mr. Wood's doctrine is dangerous to the Dominion. If Mr. Crerar does not believe in it why is he giving it standing and the power for mischief? The Progressive party, like others, will have to be known by the society it keeps. For those members of it who do not propose to be linked up with an autocratic movement there is only one course open."

Soothing all like shady tree.

Wakes the patient ether-bound,
Dead to either sight or sound,
Blessed peace from pain's hard grip,

CANADA and JAPAN

An article on the Prime Minister of Canada, by Lieut.-Col. John A. Cooper, appears in the October "World's Work." It is an excellent nonpolitical sketch of the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, and as such should attract some attention in the United States.

Col. Cooper's remarks on what happened at the imperial conference in regard to the Anglo-Japanese alliance, whether inspired or not, are rather interesting, as the following quotations will indicate:

"At the conference he took a prominent part and proved himself quite the equal of General Smuts, of South Africa, and Mr. Hughes, of Australia, as an exponent of Britannic foreign policy, present and future.

"It quickly became apparent that the most vital aspect of the conference was that which opened up the problems revolving around the first item on the agenda—namely, the question of the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance; and, in the deliberations that followed, Mr. Meighen played a remarkable and even a decisive part. He recognized indeed the desirability of continued friendship and co-operation with Japan, who has such an inevitably important place in the Far East and whose most thoughtful and far-seeing elements are genuinely anxious to play a worthy role in the community of nations; but he urged that an exclusive alliance or arrangement between only two of the powers interested in the Pacific and Far East had become obsolete and inadequate as a means of regulating the international politics of that region, and that for such an arrangement there should be substituted a wider understanding, based upon the more modern and effective system of free and full consultation and conference between all the powers vitally interested. In short, he proposed that the British Empire should lend its weight to the principle of a conference of the Pacific powers—that is China, Japan, the United States and the British Empire — with the expectations that these powers might become accustomed to the idea of this method as a permanent method of adjusting their relations one with another.

"In the old world the conference system has seen in recent years a remarkable and beneficial extension. It should be no less beneficial in its application to the problems of the new world and the Orient, which bid fair to occupy the center of the stage during the next generations. In these circumstances the Canadian prime minister was among the first to welcome President Harding's wise and timely action, taken while the deliberations in London were in progress, in inviting the powers concerned to meet in conference in Washington. The Washington conference offers a supreme opportunity not only for harmonizing, upon a sound and permanent basis, the relations between the two great branches of the English-speaking world, but also for adjusting the difficult problems that arise from a far more ancient division—the division of East from the West. The difficulties in all these aspects will be great, but public opinion everywhere is becoming more and more insistent that this conference must not and dare not fail.

"All this but emphasizes how significant and far-reaching was the effect of the recent conference of the British Empire in London. His leadership in opposing a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance was evidence that he regards Canada as the connecting link between the two great Anglo-Saxon countries, Great Britain and the United States."

A GIFT TO ST. PAUL'S.

A painting, "The Dead Christ," by Romanelli, an Italian artist of the early seventeenth century, has been presented to the dean and chapter of St. Paul's Cathedral by the Duke of Bedford.

Giovanni Francesco Romanelli, who was born at Viterbo in 1610, showed great promise in his early days, promise which was not fulfilled in a great way. He worked in France for a time, and paintings by him are to be found in the Louvre and the Bibliotheque National, Paris. At Hampton Court there is by him a copy of Guido Reni's "Triumph of Bacchus."

FLOWERDALE.

Flowerdale House, Gairloch, Scotland, where Mr. Lloyd George has been spending a holiday, was built in 1738. It takes its name from the little glen near by—a jungle of wild flowers. In a paddock below the house is a small, round plantation called the Island, because it is surrounded by a wet ditch. It was on this "Island of Justice" that the lairds of Gairloch exercised their right of "pit and gallows" in days gone by. The laird, his jury of four, the accused and the accuser all stood at separate trees. If found guilty the accused went to the Gallows Hill, which was only half a mile away.

GAELIC IN LONDON.

Gaelic, which, according to the census, is only spoken by 3.3 per cent. of the population of Scotland, can still be heard in two churches in London six times every year. One of these places is Crown Court Church, at the northeast corner of Covent Garden, and the other is the Presbyterian church in Regent Square. Three of the annual services in Gaelic are held at each of these churches, and all the old forms are kept. The organ is silent and the worshippers sit to sing and stand to pray. The praise is only from the Bible, and a precentor leads the singers, chanting over the words before them, as one might hear him in the Hebrides. Until the war a Gaelic service was held every Sunday afternoon in the Conference Hall, Eccleston street, Buckingham Palace road, in connection with the Free Presbyterian Church of Scotland.

GURNEY sells every form of HEAT

PERHAPS you have noticed that Canadians do not apologise for their climate as they used to. When Kipling wrote "Our Lady of the Snows," a howl arose. We did not want our winters written up. Some years ago, the Ice Palace at Montreal was famous throughout the the world. It was discontinued because we didn't want people to know that it got cold in Canada in the winter. But it does get cold in Canada in the winter and we don't care now who knows it.

That perhaps accounts for the fact that Canadians are in the very forefront in the designing and making of heating devices.

"WE sell every form of heat." Over 80 years ago the first Gurney factory was established. Viewed in the light of present developments, the products of those days were crude and elementary. But they were well thought of then.

Since then Gurney have developed the art of scientific heating to a high degree. Canada is a country where people live under very diversified conditions. We have had to devise heating and cooking appliances to meet those widely different conditions. Imagine anything more different than the heating requirements of a large and magnificent metropolitan hotel and the requirements of the small house! There are Gurney products exactly suited for those varying needs.

NOT only on matters of heating have Gurney products become famous during these 80 years. From crude beginnings, Gurney have developed the gas stove almost to perfection in service and appearance. And it is impossible to tell in how many kitchens, housewives and cooks "swear by" Gurney coal and wood ranges. When you dine on railways or boats, the chances are that your meals are prepared on Gurney Kitchen Equipment—in short—"We sell every form of heat."

"BETTER 'OLE" NO PLACE TO BE

O.A.C. Freshmen Treated to More Surprises

GUELPH, Oct. 3.—The "Better 'Ole," made famous by Bairnsfather, was an innovation introduced in the initiation ceremony which took place at the Ontario Agricultural College this afternoon. The "'ole" was dug in the college campus and then filled in with sticky clay and water puddled to the consistency of glue.

The freshies were blinded and led by the "sophs" to a plank, on which they were made to slide down backwards, landing with a "plop" in the "'ole." Some fell in all square, while others landed head first in the mud, and were generally well-plastered before they menaged to crawl out.

Other stunts pulled off were: A pillow fight, the contestants riding a log and hammering the other with a pillow filled with soot; rolling on onion around the campus with their noses seemed to be the chief occupation of some, while others were busily engaged in crawling under a net well-plastered with molasses and soot.

The barber shop did a rushing business all the time, the sophomore barber making a specialty of giving flour and water shampoos and soot lather shaves.

The flag fight lasted only about three minutes. The "sophs" after engaging the attention of the freshmen with a rapid fire of rotten tomatoes rushed the pole from the other side and succeeded in gaining the flag.

STRATFORD, Oct. 3.—The City Council at to-night's meeting authorized several more local improvements, mostly sidewalks and sewers. Ald. Andrew and Ald. Ballantyne were delegated to attend the Ontario town planning and housing conference in Toronto, October 31 to November 1.

NO DECISION IN BRANTFORD PROBE

Marked Evidence in Theft Case Stolen

BRANTFORD, Oct. 13.—The inquiry into the disappearance of evidence from the strong room of the police court here was continued this afternoon. The police commission, anxious to fix the blame for the disappearance of peculiarly marked pieces of liquor cases used in the hearing of the alleged thieves of the J. H. Spence liquor, met for two hours.

The first part of the session was taken up in the calling of several officers, who testified that no liquor had been opened at the police station other than a single bottle of gin, and that was in the presence of Mr. Spence, owner of the consignment. The inquiry court then went into camera and the commissioners discussed heatedly the whole matter. No decision was reached, however, and the board will meet again on Thursday.

MR. FRIPP DISAPPOINTED, WANTED A SENATORSHIP

Ottawa Member Threatens to Run as an Independent Conservative

OTTAWA, Oct. 3.—(Special to The Free Press.)—The only event to make a ripple on the political waters here today has been the statement given out to the press by Mr. A. E. Fripp, the senior member for Ottawa, who voices his disappointment that he is not to receive a senatorship. The 55 other varieties of applicants who also failed to land the place made vacant by the late Senator Edwards are licking their sores in silence.

Hon. Thomas Crothers, who is understood to have landed the prize, has been making a beaten track between all known sources of information, including the press gallery, to find someone who can confirm his good fortune.

Mr. Fripp threatens to run in Ottawa as an Independent Conservative and has written to the local party organization setting forth his views and woes.

There are still four senatorships to be filled, one each in Saskatchewan, British Columbia, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. The two last named vacancies will probably be filled after Premier Meighen's return from his tour and hearing the claims of the applicants and their supporters on the spot.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

Hamilton Man Now Convinced

Declares It's Wonderful the Way Tanlac Relieved His Wife and Built Her Up.

"Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine, if my wife's case is a fair example of what the medicine will do for anyone suffering from stomach trouble and a run-down condition," said Alexander William Collins, of 8½ John street N. Hamilton, Ont., well-known foreman for the Canada Bread Company.

"My wife was in a mighty bad state of health when she started taking Tanlac and complained of feeling tired and worn-out all the time. Her appetite was so poor she could eat very little of anything, and this even seemed to give her no nourishment. Her back hurt her so bad she could hardly bend over and straighten up again, and she had very frequent attacks of awful sick headache. She just seemed to be a bundle of nerves, was easily upset and was so restless she could scarcely sleep.

"Tanlac was being praised so highly all around that she began taking it and the medicine soon had her improving rapidly in every way. Three bottles have ended all her troubles and made her healthy and strong again. She enjoys her meals now and says she just feels fine all the time. Tanlac has certainly fixed her up wonderfully, and I can't help but believe it will do as much for others."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drugs, Limited, and by leading druggists everywhere.—Advt.

A Danger Signal—Tender and Bleeding Gums

Healthy teeth cannot live in diseased tissue. Gums tainted with Pyorrhea are dangerously diseased. For not only the teeth are affected, but Pyorrhea germs seep into the body, lower its vitality and cause many ills.

Pyorrhea begins with tender and bleeding gums. Then the gums recede, the teeth decay, loosen and fall out, or must be extracted to rid the system of the poisonous germs that breed in pockets about them.

Four out of five people over forty have this disease. But you need not have it. Visit your dentist often for tooth and gum inspection. And keep Pyorrhea away by using Forhan's For the Gums.

Forhan's For the Gums will prevent Pyorrhea—or check its progress—if used in time and used consistently. Ordinary dentifrices cannot do this. Forhan's keeps the gums hard and healthy, the teeth white and clean. If you have tender or bleeding gums, start using it today. If gum-shrinkage has already set in, use Forhan's according to directions, and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

Miss Joe Belton was the winner of the first prize in the "sealed hole" competition arranged by the ladies' golf committee on the Hunt Club links yesterday, Mrs. Warner and Mrs. Allen McLean tying for the second prize. Miss Belton was also victorious in playing off the tie with Mrs. Allen McLean in the semi-finals for the Smart cup, and will play against Mrs. Warner in the finals, which will be completed on Wednesday. The monthly bronze medal play was also arranged for yesterday, with Mrs. Webster as the winner.

A LINK WITH BURNS.

A Mrs. Bell, who died within the last few days in the Burns Cottage Homes, Mauchline, Scotland, was the last grandchild of Robin Wilson, whom the Scottish poet describes as the "gallant weaver" in his song beginning: "Where Cart rins rowin' to the sea." As a matter of fact, Wilson and Jean Armour were sweethearts until the all-conquering Robbie came on the scene. Even when Burns had "cut him out," however, Wilson, fully realizing that his rival had triumphed in love, continued to show much kindness to Jean, and it was this which made the poet call him the "gallant weaver," and, in order to show that this praise was sincerely meant, presented the vanquished man with a marble salt dish, which was in the possession of Mrs. Bell when she died.

Weddings

SMITH-FORD.

A charming autumn wedding took place at the rectory, Dorchester, at high noon on Saturday, October 1, when the marriage of Miss Jessie Ford, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ford, of Dorchester, to Mr. Percy C. Smith, of St. George, Ont., was solemnized by Rev. Harold Sutton. The ceremony took place beneath an arch of flowers and autumn leaves. The bride, who was attended by Miss Marion Rickard wore a smart suit of navy broadcloth, with black hat and corsage of Ophelia roses and orchids and the groom's gift, a handsome necklace with pendant brooch set with pearls and diamonds. The bridesmaid wore a brown broadcloth suit, with corsage of sunset roses, and the groom's gift, a string of pearls. To the best man, Mr. Leo Herbert, of this city, the groom presented gold cuff links. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party returned to the bride's home, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. Later Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on a motor trip to Sarnia, Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo. Returning they will reside at Fairview farm, St. George. Mrs. Smith, of St. George, and Mr. Leo Herbert, of London, were among the out-of-town guests for the wedding.

Grant-Fenn.

One of the most interesting of the autumn weddings took place at Parkhill at high noon Saturday, October 1, when Lloy Esther Fenn, B.A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Fenn, of Parkhill, was married to John Cameron Grant (late of Victoria Rifles, Montreal), son of Mr. and Mrs. John Grant, of John street, this city. Only immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present for the ceremony, which took place in the drawing-room of the bride's home, before a glowing galaxy of autumn flowers banked with ferns, Rev. Mr. Sheppard officiating. Miss Margaret Reid, cousin of the bride, played Mendellsohn's Wedding March as the bride was brought in by her father, who gave her in marriage. Master Jack Burgman, nephew of the bride, wearing a white sailor suit and carrying the ring concealed in a madonna lily, was the only attendant. The bride wore a graceful gown of midnight blue charmeuse embroidered in oriental chenille and a corsage of white rosebuds, a handsome wrap of blue velderpe with lynx trimming, and small hat of embroidered angora. Mrs. Fenn, mother of the bride, wore a navy georgette gown with oriental trimmings, taupe feather hat and corsage of Ophelia roses. Mrs. Grant, mother of the groom, was handsomely gowned in black velvet with jet trimmings, feather hat and corsage of sweetheart roses. After the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Grant left to spend their honeymoon at Algonquin Park, and will reside at Hotel Victoria, Park Boulevard, Detroit.

BABIES JOIN CLINICS AS RESULT OF FAIR

Child Welfare Assn. Reports Increased Attendance in September

That the child welfare tent conducted at the Western Fair is bringing in definite results already is the satisfactory report of Miss Bertha Smith, who states that the clinic attendance has greatly increased during the past fortnight os so, most of the newcomers being mothers and babies who make a first acquaintance with the London child welfare department at this tent.

In August, Miss Smith reports, 442 families were on the regular visiting list. In September this number increased to 470, while the September attendance of babies at the four city clinics showed a total of 299, exclusive of the week of the fair, when regular clinics were canceled.

The association still numbers four weekly clinics on its record, with a sick-baby clinic also run weekly at Victoria Hospital. These clinics, Miss Smith stated to The Free Press, cover the various sections of the city to advantage, although two more would be readily filled if established in the Hamilton road and Wellington road sections of the city. "We could carry on two more clinics with our present staff of four," Miss Smith pointed out, "but it would mean giving up some of the private visiting. The question is, which is the more advantageous to the work? For the present, however, there is no suggestion of adding to the clinics."

At the pre-natal clinic conducted weekly at Victoria Hospital the attendance is increasing, and those in command are satisfied that this important branch of the work will gain in popularity as its value becomes apparent to the city mothers.

The growth of the child welfare activities in this city, since their inception three years ago, has been remarkably good, and it is expected that further improvements and developments will be announced at the semi-annual meeting of the Association, which will take place this month.

THE BLACK SHEEP

By Ruby M. Ayres

"You seem to forget that a week ago you were talking about him in the same way as everybody else," said Rodney constrainedly. "You've changed your opinion very quickly."

"I suppose I may if I like."

She moved past him to the door. He looked after her. "Where are you going?" he asked sharply.

The door banged by way of answer.

Norah took her hat from a hall stand and went out into the garden. It was much warmer than it had been in the morning; the chill breeze had dropped to sleep, and through the scudding clouds a pale moon was visible now and again.

She walked on without realizing where she was going.

When she reached the gate leading to the lane she turned and looked back at the house.

There was a light in her father's study, and as she looked she saw his tall, bulky figure cross the room. She turned away then and went down the lane towards the road. As if there was any harm in her knowing Laxton if she liked. After all, she had spoken to him twice, and had not seen him since. It was all a very absurd fuss about nothing.

"Absurd!" she said aloud angrily.

"What is absurd?" someone asked through the darkness.

She started violently, catching back a little frightened cry.

"Oh, is it you?" she said with a relieved laugh. "You did frighten me."

"I'm sorry. I could see you against the light from the house, so thought you could see me." Laxton fell into step beside her. "Where are you going?"

"Nowhere in particular. Where are you going?"

"With you if I may. I came up here to see if I could see anything of you."

She did not answer. Her heart was racing again now; her pulses felt jumpy.

He sauntered slowly along beside her; he was smoking a cigar that smelt expensive. She glanced up at him timidly.

Now her eyes were growing more accustomed to the darkness, she could see the outline of his tall figure distinctly. He was wearing a gray flannel suit and no hat. He walked with his hands in his pockets.

After a moment he spoke. "What did you say was absurd?" he asked.

She laughed nervously. "I was only thinking aloud. I didn't know you were anywhere about. I felt angry."

"With whom?"

"Everybody," she told him laughingly.

"Not including me, I hope."

"Of course not. Why should I be angry with you?"

"There is no reason that I know of, but women are so funny—they often get angry with a man when there is no reason.

"Do they?"

"Don't they?"

She laughed. "I don't know; I hardly know any men—except Rodney."

"And Rodney is a cousin, and so he doesn't count—eh?"

"Yes, Rodney is a cousin."

"And doesn't count," he repeated.

She frowned in the darkness. "He does count—sometimes,' she answered. "But to-night he was so silly—oh, I felt so angry with him."

"You won't tell me why?"

"I'd—I'd rather not." There was a little silence.

"Perhaps I can guess," said Laxton quietly; she knew that he was looking at her now; she could feel his eyes upon her through the darkness.

"He was talking about me," he said again.

She was startled. "How did you know? How could you know?"

He laughed rather mirthlessly. "Oh, a sort of instinct, I suppose. Well—what did he say?"

She was silent; presently, "Mr. Laxton, will you let me ask you a question?"

"A dozen if you like," he answered lightly.

Norah frowned; she did not like him when he spoke flippantly; it seemed impossible now to ask the question that had been on her lips. He seemed to feel the change in her; he stopped.

"What do you want to ask me?"

The clouds had scudded away from the face of the moon, and its yellow light shone down on the man and the girl as they stood there.

Laxton tossed the end of his cigar into the wet hedge. "Please tell me," he said earnestly.

"You will be angry," she warned him.

"No, I shall not."

"Well—well. . . . Are you—are you really a—a black sheep?"

The faintest ghost of a smile crossed his face and was gone instantly. When he answered his voice was quite even and undisturbed.

"That all depends what you mean by—a black sheep."

He hesitated a moment, looking away from her down the road into the darkness.

"The devil is never as black as he is painted, you know," he said whimsically. "Though I admit that he's very black." He turned his eyes to her again. "I wonder what you've heard about me?" he said thoughtfully. "What has cousin Rodney been saying?"

CANVASS BEGINS.

The canvass of the professional people of the city in aid of the children's hospital will be launched almost immediately, according to plans completed at yesterday's meeting of the canvass committee. The earlier canvass will include the doctors, clergy, lawyers and teachers, as well as a number of the ladies, and the lists are now being perfected. A few of the workers, already organized, will begin their task at once, and the entire canvass will, it is expected, be completed by Armistice Day. It has been suggested that some special celebration of thanksgiving mark the conclusion of the canvass, but no decision has been reached in this matter as yet. Mrs. John Gemmell is convener of the committee, with Mrs. G. L. MacDonald as secretary.

GOOD WORK CARRIED ON BY MISSION TO LEPERS

Miss Watt, Secretary of Canadian Branch, Addresses Local Society

Splendid Work Carried on by Mission

An appeal for increased interest in the work, and a resume of the activities already carried on, were yesterday made by Miss Lila Watt, secretary of the Canadian branch of the Mission to Lepers, in an address to the London branch of the mission, holding its monthly meeting at the Wellington street residence of the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Watt told of the splendid work being done by the mission, which has adherents in Canada, the United States, the British Isles and in Europe. Ninety-two leper hospitals at various stations are supported, the work being supervised by missionaries of the religious denominations already situated in these centers.

The speaker referred to the wonderful change in the character of the leper when he begins to receive treatment, and becomes an object of Christian care and attention rather than a despised outcast.

WEST IS STRONG.

Miss Watt has recently come from the West, and spoke in eulogistic terms of the generous contributions received there. "One small church in a Western city was unable even to pay a sufficient stipend to its minister, who was forced to work during the week, and yet, at great self-sacrifice, the members of the congregation raised $23 for the leper work," she said.

In Winnipeg, Miss Watt stated, the sum of $20,000 was raised last year. An effort is being made to interest all churches in the leper missions.

The speaker touched on the varying stages of the disease, and outlined the expenditure of the money on the medical and evangelistic work carried on among the lepers, particularly in India and China.

Mrs. George Wood presided over yesterday's meeting, where the collection amounted to $16.

Miss Watt addressed a meeting of the Epworth League of the First Methodist Church last evening, and will speak in a number of the city churches during the week.

IN A CONSERVATORY.

These have not known the sting of rain,
Nor sweet storm waters, heavy falling;
And they have never felt the pain
Of burning sun;
And in the stillness never one
Has heard a wild bird calling.

Gray days to them are outer gloom,
And never chill like forest glades.
Here in their warm and fragrant room
They bloom content,
And slowly fade, when life is spent,
As no wild flower fades.

The loud east wind may call and shout
Among the trees, and sing and cry
Against the window panes "Come out."
But they are still,
And heedless of the east wind's will,
They live their lives and die.

PARIS (By Mail.)—There is a very interesting shade of bronze brown which is exceedingly smart for afternoon frocks. In the Vionnet model shown in the sketch this color is used, and emphasized by a novelty metal belt of greenish shades. The design of the dress follows the flat back and front silhouette, but widens at the hips by the use of diamond shaped panels attached so as to cascade gracefully down each side with the long point extending several inches below the hem. Note the brief sleeves, almost entirely open at the top. Narrow pleats provide the slenderizing panels in back and front.

Efficient Housekeeping

BY LAURA A. KIRKMAN.

HOW TO MAKE GOOD CHOCOLATE CREAMS.

To Make Chocolate Cream Candies "just like the bought kind," follow these directions: It is best to buy a candy thermometer to put into the saucepan with the boiling syrup; when the thermometer registers 238 degrees Fahrenheit the "soft ball" stage is reached—and there is no need to test the syrup by dropping a little in cold water, as is usually done. One can't make a mistake with a candy thermometer, and the same thermometer may be used in making boiled icing for cake.

To Make Boiled White Fondant: Put into an agate or aluminum saucepan 5 cups of granulated sugar and 1-8 teaspoon cream of tartar well mixed together; add 1½ cups boiling water and set over a slow fire. Heat slowly to the boiling point with the thermometer in the syrup, and do not stir. Watch the mercury on the thermometer, and at 238 degrees remove pan from range and pour the hot syrup on to a large oiled meat platter or on to an oiled marble slab or porcelain-topped table. Let cool for about one hour, or until a dent will remain upon the surface of the syrup when it is touched with a dry finger. There should be no crust on the syrup; if there is a crust it must be removed or else the syrup must be boiled over again.

When the syrup "dents" after touching with finger you must work it as dough is kneaded, with a wooden spoon or butter paddle. This working and stirring will make it a creamy white mass. When creamy, and it begins to harden on the table, scrape it all off and put it into a bowl in ball-shape. Let stand over night covered with oiled paper or a damp cloth.

The next morning it is ready to receive a chocolate coating. Form the fondant into small round balls and dip them into the following chocolate preparation either with the fingers or with a piece of wire shaped like a spoon (make this yourself). The small twist at the top, such as is found on store candies, can be made by touching with the finger-tip just before dry.

To Dip Fondant Candies: Melt ½ pound (or 1 bar) of the regular confectioners' "dipping chocolate" and one-tenth of a bar of cocoa butter (the cocoa butter comes in bars the same shape and weight as the chocolate) and if any reader would like to know the address of a firm that will sell her either the cocoa butter or the dipping chocolate by mail, I will gladly send it upon receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. I cannot give it here, as that is advertising). The cocoa butter makes the chocolate harden and keeps it from being sticky. Melt these together over mild heat, then remove from fire and beat until cool and of the consistency of molasses. It is now ready to coat the fondant balls. Dry on a thick quality of oiled paper. If you have done it right, the first candy's chocolate coat should be dry when the seventh candy is being dipped.

Fondant made by the above given recipe may be kept an indefinite length of time if it is wrapped in a damp cloth and tightly covered. It will have to be steamed in the top of a double boiler till warm (over simmering water) before being dipped, and often it is necessary to add a very little cold water to it as it steams, to allow for evaporation.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

WHY THE ROOSTER CROWED.

Henrietta Hen had commanded the rooster to wait until daylight before he began to crow. He saw that she had made up her mind that he must obey her. But he knew he couldn't, and he always took great pains to be polite to the ladies.

It was a wonder the rooster didn't turn red in the face. He had never found himself in such a corner before.

"You don't understand," he blurted. "I'd be delighted to oblige you, but if I didn't crow until after the sun rose I'd never crow again."

"We could stand that," was Henrietta Hen's grim reply.

"Perhaps!" he admitted—for she made him feel strangely humble. "But could you stand it if the night lasted forever?"

"You're talking nonsense now," she declared.

"You don't understand," he told her again. "And I must say I'm surprised, madam, that you didn't know it was I that waked the sun up every morning. That's why I crow so early."

Henrietta Hen was so astonished that she didn't know what to say. She thought deeply for a time—or as deeply as she could.

"Have you not noticed," the rooster inquired, "that the sun never rises until I've crowed loudly a good many times?"

"No! No—I haven't," Henrietta Hen murmured. "But now that you speak of it, I see that it's so."

"Exactly!" he said. "And often, madam, I have to crow a long time before he peeps over Blue Mountain. It's lucky I have a good, strong voice," the "Great cracked corn!" he exclaimed.

rooster added with a smirk, for he was feeling more at his ease. "If I had a thin, squeaky crow such as those worthless cockerels have, Farmer Green would have to do many a day's work in the dark."

"Goodness!" Henrietta Hen gasped. "Do crow your loudest the moment you wake up, Mr. Rooster! Do make all the noise you can!"

And he promised faithfully that he would.

Henrietta left him then. Somehow she couldn't get their talk out of her mind. And soon she had an unhappy thought. What if anything should happen to the rooster's voice!

The moment that question popped into her head, Henrietta Hen hurried back to the rooster.

"Do be careful!" she besought him. Don't get your feet wet! For if you caught cold you might be so horse that you couldn't speak above a whisper."

The rooster thanked her politely for thinking of his health.

"I always take good care of myself," he assured her.

"It looks like rain this minute," she said as she cast an anxious glance at the sky. "Hadn't you better run into the barn?"

He thought otherwise—and said as much.

"You ought to wear rubbers every day," she chided him, as she went away again.

Soon Henrietta returned once more to urge the rooster to carry an umbrella. And it wasn't long after that when she came bustling up to him and informed him that a warm muffler about his throat wouldn't be amiss.

There seemed to be no end to her suggestions. And though at first the rooster had liked to hear them (without having an idea of following them) after a time Henrietta's attentions began to annoy him.

"Great crackled corn!" he exclaimed. "This Henrietta Hen is getting to be a pest."

To-morrow—Henrietta has a surprise for her friends. She boasts about it loudly.

It was the opinion of the committee that these candidates need not of necessity be women, but that the committee should hold themselves in readiness to indorse the candidature of the citizens having the best interests of the city at heart, and in particular those best adapted to handle the increased school activities of the coming year.

STUDY THE TARIFF.

The determination to thoroughly master the tariff question and other national policies was a noticeable element in yesterday's meeting, and it was thought that the suggested meetings, when the opposing views of the question could be presented by the candidates alone or assisted by some other outstanding speaker, would do much to develop the ability to think and decide for themselves among the enfranchised women of the city.

It is understood that an opportunity will later be given to the candidates for civic office to announce their policies to the women of London.

In a brief address from the chair, Mrs. Henderson, who, it is expected will preside at the mass meetings, pointed out to the members the value of co-operation in these undertakings. "We must have the co-operation and backing of the public-spirited men of our city in this, our endeavor to get in line for the exercise of our franchise to the greater good of the community," she said.

The citizenship committee will meet again to discuss further activities on Tuesday, October 18.

The butter fat and other "solids" in milk, is what counts. For they mean richness and wholsomeness. ST. CHARLES "with the cream left in" is pure milk with over half the moisture removed. IS YOUR HOME THE ONE?

RUTH CAMERON

In every neighborhood of children there is a home where all the children just naturally gather.

Sometimes it is the house with the largest yard, but not always; sometimes it's the largest house, but not always. Once in a while it is the finest house, but very seldom. But there is one thing it always is—the home where there is a mother who understands children, who does not mind their clutter, who does not interfere, without reason, in play, and who has enough sympathy with the heart of a child to be willing to supply the properties of their play instead of saying "Don't bother me, I am busy."

I am proud to say that in my childhood our house was usually the headquarters. And that kind of a mother was the reason.

I saw some children making a string telephone the other day, and immediately my mind flew back to the vacation days when time hung heavy and someone suggested "let's make a telephone to-day." And my next picture was of the little boy from across the way and myself rushing in and commandeering all the household string from our house for our purpose.

It was always so. When we wanted old duds to dress up in they came from our attic; when it rained and we stayed indoors and played "Letters" or "Authors," it was in our shabby living-room that we, nine times out of ten, gathered.

Maybe it wore out our carpets a bit faster to have so many feet trotting over them; doubtless our house was never in so good order as some of the other houses, but I am sure my mother thought it worth while.

The mother who creates that kind of an atmosphere is the mother who usually knows where her children are, and the kind of children they are playing with, and what their plays are like.

While the mother who wants to keep her house immaculate and does not like to have a gang of youngsters circulating about it, who makes them feel constrained when they are in her living-room, who is always too busy with more important things to bother to hunt up string for the telephone or old duds for them to rig out in, buys her immunity from bother at a price of driving her children away from home.

To my mind the most beautiful living-room I ever saw was a big, shabby living-room in an old house filled with comfortable chairs, bookshelves, centering around a big table always piled with magazines, and showing in every detail of it the fact that the children of the family and of the neighborhood loved to gather there.

FORMER LONDON MAN HEADS M'GILL ARTS

Dr. Gordon J. Laing Appointed Dean—E. W. Beatty Selected as Next Chancellor.

MONTREAL, Oct. 3.—E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Railway, was selected as the next chancellor of McGill University at a meeting of the board of governors this afternoon. The board also appointed Dr. Gordon Jennings Laing, at present of the University of Chicago, to the deanship of the faculty of arts and head of the department of classics at McGill.

Notification from the executors of the will of the late Mrs. E. B. Eddy, announcing a bequest of $200,000 to the university, was received and a reply gratefully accepting the gift forwarded.

SIX MEN RESCUED FROM BURNING BOAT

WINDSOR, Oct. 3.—Six men were rescued from a burning boat off Fighting Island shortly after midnight this morning, according to a report of the Ecorse police.

It is believed they were on their way across from the Canadian side when their cabin caught fire. The boat burst into flames near the range light on the end of Fighting Island. The blaze was plainly visible to residents on shore.

Burt Allor, a fisherman living in a boathouse in the marshland, put out in his boat and took the passengers off. The police say it sank a moment after its occupants had escaped. The names of the passengers have not been learned.

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at almost any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advt.

SEARLES' BODY TO BE EXHUMED

Anonymous Reports That Millionaire Was Poisoned

AUTOPSY IS ORDERED

Arthur Walker, Formerly of Kent Heir to Estate

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 3.—(Associated Press Dispatch)—The body of Edward F. Searles, the recluse millionaire of Methuen, was ordered exhumed for the purpose of holding an autopsy to-day. District Attorney S. Howard Donnell, in making the announcement, which followed anonymous reports to him that Searles was poisoned, said he had no evidence at present to warrant a belief that death was due to poison or violence.

The body of Searles is interred in a tomb on his walled estate at Methuen. District Attorney Donnell said he would request permission of the Methuen authorities at once for its removal.

KENT MAN CHIEF HEIR.

The principal beneficiary of his millions was Arthur T. Walker, of New York, formerly of Cedar Springs, Kent County, Ontario, who assisted him in legal matters.

The estate has been variously estimated to be worth from $14,000,000 to $40,000,000

In bringing suit several months ago for a larger share of the estate Albert Victor Searles, of Boston, a nephew of the millionaire, asserted that his uncle was of unsound mind during the latter part of his life. A conspiracy to influence the provisions of the will, which was drawn two weeks before Searles died, was charged. The suit of the nephew was settled out of court, with the result, it was reported, that he received several millions insead of the $250,000 provided by the will.

MARRIED A FORTUNE.

The Searles fortune was largely that of Mary Hopkins, California railroad magnate, whose widow Searles married, as he testified in a court proceeding, "partly out of affection and partly for her money."

District Attorney Donnell to-night said that information had reached him which might lead to the identification of the author of the anonymous reports that Mr. Searles was poisoned. The autopsy, he said, would probably not take place for a week or 10 days, as Dr. Magrath, whom he desires to have present, would not be able to appear immediately.

SAYS MEHARG HAD SMOKING PISTOL

Called on Dickenson to "Hand Over the Money"

EVIDENCE OF SPAULDING

Trial for Murder of Dr. Whitworth Opens at Hamilton

HAMILTON, Oct. 3.—(Canadian Press Dispatch)—Edward Dickenson, aged 24, was placed on trial here to-day for the murder of Dr. Edward J. Whitworth, of Binbrook, on December 23 last. Wilfred Meharg will also be tried on the same charge.

The killing of Dr. Whitworth was the out come of an escapade in which half a dozen young men took part, using a stolen motor car.

Clarence Spaulding, driver of the car, testified that the party went to search for whisky and stopped at Binbrook to get gasoline. While he was getting the gasoline, said the witness, Dickenson and Meharg went away, as he thought, to buy cigarettes. Pretty soon they came running back and Meharg said "Get out of here, I had to shoot." He held a smoking revolver in his hand. After getting in the car Meharg called upon Dickenson to "hand over the money."

CONFIRM STORY.

Lloyd Martin and George Horning, who were occupants of the car, told practically the same story. Martin said he did not know when he joined the party that a robbery was contemplated.

Russell Gidman, the owner of the store where Whitworth was shot, testified at the time of the shooting that the till had been looted of some cash. Dr. Whitworth had lived with him for a couple of years.

The case will be resumed to-morrow.

This afternoon the grand jury returned true bills against Alex. Tolmie, charged with manslaughter; Frank Ross, charged with attempted murder, and Daniel Mattelic, charged with attempted rape.

ARBUCKLE INDICTMENT PUT OVER FOR WEEK

District Attorney to File With Court Manslaughter Finding of Police Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3.—The grand jury indictment, charging Roscoe C. ("Fatty") Arbuckle, motion picture comedian, with manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress, was on the calendar of Superior Judge Harold Louderback for a plea to-day, but was put over until Monday, October 10.

The continuance was granted upon motion of the district attorney, who said he intended to file an information with the Superior Court this week which would put on the court calendar the manslaughter finding of a police court against Arbuckle last week. He did not say what would eventually become of the indictment.

CHAOS IN INDIA IF BRITISH STEPPED OUT

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. — (Canadian Press Dispatch).—Frederick De Latour Booth-Tucker, international commissioner for the Salvation Army, who has been in British India for the last 39 years in Army work, declared during an address at the town hall yesterday that India is justly ruled, and that chaos would result if the British stepped out. Allegations to the contrary, Mr. Booth-Tucker characterized, as "the untruthful wails of anarchist voices."

"If Great Britain were to get out of India now there would be an immediate clash between the Mohammedans and the Hindus.

"It is not necessary for me to picture what that would mean," he said. "The Englishman leaves India as poor as he goes into it, for it is a penal offense to accept a penny or a gift from the natives. Britain is known there as 'protector of the poor' and a 'mother and father of the poor.'"

FARM WORKERS' WAGES REDUCED IN BRITA...

LONDON, Oct. 3.—(Canadian Press Cable).—According to the London representatives of the agricultural workers' unions, absolute chaos now exists in the agricultural areas, following the termination of the agricultural wages board. It is alleged that the machinery of local voluntary conciliation committees has broken down on the wages question and deadlocks have arisen in a number of cases.

Already there has been a national reduction in wages of agricultural workers, ranging from four to six shillings per week, according to the minimum scale in the various counties. This reduction brought wages down to ... shillings weekly, and now further local reductions are being proposed in several county.

London's Two Rugby Teams Hard At Work Preparing For Coming Group Games

Thirty Players Attended Workout Yesterday; L.C.I. Squad Meets St. Thomas Team on Friday

Thirty rugby players attended the workout held by the Western University and Collegiate Institute at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon. Mel Blake took charge of the Western boys and A. T. Taylor was on hand to coach the high school squad.

The greater part of the time was devoted to signal practice and considerable improvement is visible in the Western team. The university students are in need of some opposition, and it is proposed to have the Collegiate boys line up against the Western squad some time soon.

The university students will continue practicing until the season opens as Mr. Blake is anxious to have the boys in the best of condition when they line up against the Toronto schools.

The Collegiate pigskin chasers will have a final workout before meeting the St. Thomas Collegiate team in an exhibition game here on Friday afternoon. A. T. Taylor gave the youths some valuable instructions on passing and checking yesterday, and the high school lads will have their signals down to perfection by Friday.

The following Western "U" players were out yesterday: Williams, Screaton, T. Cowley, W. Cowley, Bayley, Campbell, MacMahon, Sifton, Dundas, Callaghan, Lindsay, Priddle, Rice, Talbot and Rose.

The following were among the Collegiate representatives: Beard, Johnstone, Hill, Crittle, Hunter, Sessions, McCausland, Wilson, Daly, Ardiel, Lawrence, Menzies, Rourke, Wilkinson and Newell.

Attention Turns To New York As Season Is Over

Cleveland and Pittsburg Must Be Satisfied With Runners-Up Prize This Year

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—With the major league baseball season passed into history, the eyes of the sporting world—and that includes nearly everybody—are turning toward the Polo Grounds. There, on Wednesday, the Giants and the Yankees will begin their struggle for the title of world's champions.

The National League champs finished the season with a defeat by their old rivals, the Brooklyn Superbas yesterday, while the Yankees wound up by winning from the Boston Red Sox. Pittsburg maintained second place in the National League by a victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, and the St. Louis Browns won third place in the American circuit by subduing the Detroit Tigers. Cleveland lost its final contest to Chicago.

Some lively hitting featured the final game. Jacobson, St. Louis Browns, cracked the ball safely in each of his five times up, and stole three bases. Myers hit a double and two singles for Brooklyn. In two games, which the Cubs won from Cincinnati, Catcher O'Farrell, Chicago, made five hits in seven trips to the plate. his two safeties in the second contest giving him a perfect average for this game. Rogers Hornsby, the National League's leading batter, however, went hitless in four times up, but he made eight assists and a put-out in the field.

Walter Johnson turned in ten strikeouts in his team's victory over Philadelphia.

60 HOMERS IN 1922.

Babe Ruth, "home run king," and star batsman of the 1921 American League champions, to-day announced his 1922 batting campaign plans. Ruth, whose 59th home run yesterday was one short of the season mark he had set for himself, said he would make another effort to reach the three-score total next year.

"We'll go gunning for that 60 mark next season," the Yankee slugger declared, "and I have a sneaking hunch that I'll make it."

Ruth's 1921 record is five better than his 1920 performance.

EXPECT EVEN STRUGGLE.

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, and Manager Wilbert Robinson, of the Brooklyn Nationals, believe the outcome of the world's series will be close.

"I look for a close, interesting series of battles," declared the Chicago jurist at the Polo Grounds, where he saw the final game between the Yankees and the Red Sox yesterday.

Manager Robinson said he believed the series will be one of the hardest fought in the history of the classic. He regarded Fred Toney as the Giant pitcher most likely to stop the Yankee batters.

SERIES OFFICIALS.

The appointment of Ernest C. Quigley as one of the umpires, representing the National League, for the world's baseball game became known to-day.

President Johnson, of the American League, to-day appointed George Moriarity and Ollie Chill as the American League umpires for the world's series.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Oct. 3.—Harry Schuman, Denver welterweight, has been matched to meet Jack Britton, welterweight, at Baltimore, October 17.

Heilman Real Swat Leader

Noses Out Cobb by .0003, According to Unofficial Figures

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Harry Heilman, Detroit's slugging outfielder, won the 1921 batting championship in the American League by .0003 point, according to unofficial figures made public to-day.

Heilman's boss, Manager Ty Cobb, gave him a merry chase for the title. They were virtually tied when the season closed yesterday, with .390 each, but the figures, when carried out to four percentage point, gave Heilman .3904 and Cobb .3901. Ruth, New York, was third with .377; Sisler, St. Louis, last year's champion, fourth, .371, and Speaker, Cleveland, fifth, .357.

Heilman participated in 149 games, was at bat 602 times, scored 113 runs and made 235 hits. A year ago he ranked 23rd in the batting list, with .309.

Cobb, who last year was the ninth ranking American League batsman, with an average of .334, was in 21 less games than his rival outfielder this season. He batted 505 times, crossed the plate 122 times and hit safely 197 times.

Rogers Hornsby, the St. Louis Cardinals' star second baseman, topped the National League batters with .398, the unofficial averages showed. This figure is an increase of 28 points over his total last year, when he also was the senior organization's champion hitter. Rousch, Cincinnati, was second this year with .352; Cruiz, Boston, third, .349; McHenry, St. Louis, fourth, .348, and Meusel, New York, fifth, .343.

Two Sections For City Basket Ball League This Year

Season Will Open Within Next Two Weeks; Captains Are Named

The City Basket Ball League will be divided into two sections this year, which will be known as section "A" and section "B." Section "A" will be composed of the more experienced basket ball players of London, many of whom will be able to make the "Y" senior O. A. B. A. team, while section "B" will be made up of the lesser experienced and younger basket ballers, who will provide the material for the junior O. A. B. A. aggregation.

Arrangements are now under way to have the season open about the middle of the present month. Three games will be played at the "Y" gymnasium every Thursday night.

Four teams will comprise each section and a split season schedule will be carried out. The winners of each series will meet early in the spring for the championship.

A. T. Taylor, A. Jackson, W. Stephens and George Douglas have been chosen as the captains of the teams in section "A." The leaders for the other teams will be named within the next few days.

INTERSCHOLASTIC RUGBY SCHEDULE IS ANNOUNCED; SEASON OPENS OCTOBER 15

THROUGH SPORTS LENS

London's trophy enthusiasts will be given their first opportunity to witness a rugby match, under the newly adopted rules, on Friday afternoon, when the London Collegiate boys will meet St. Thomas. A. T. Taylor, coach for the Collegiate squad, spent over one hour yesterday explaining the new rules to the boys and showing them how to play the new game.

Enterprising London sportsmen are trying to arrange for an electric paragon score board to be brought to London so that the local baseball fans may be provided with the plays of the world series as they are made.

Ald. George Wenige is working hard to make the motor cycle and bicycle meet at Queen's Park on Saturday a big success. Notable riders will be here to participate in the events.

The five and ten-pin bowlers are off to a good start in London and different firms and organizations are now considering the formation of leagues. The social clubs are adopting this winter pastime, and present indications are that the bowlers will have a big year.

The Hamilton and District Football Association will send a picked team to London on Saturday to oppose the London and district all-stars. The executive will make the selections for the local team to-morrow evening.

The local Collegiate rugby players are anxious to bring back the honors formerly held by the London Collegiate Institute by defeating the St. Thomas Collegiate in the coming intercity series. The high school boys will oppose the Askin Elks to-morrow afternoon.

The London Collegiate track team will compete against relay stars of the Canadian and American high schools and Collegiates at the international athletic meet to be held in Toronto on Saturday. Lawrence and Wilson have been making good records in the local meets and are expected to be members of relay team.

Thirteen Firms Already Affiliated With London Manufacturers' A. A. A.

Organization Meeting at Y. M. C. A. To-Night; Officers Will Be Elected for Ensuing Year

Thirteen firms of the city have already become affiliated with the London Manufacturers' Amateur Athletic Association, and more are expected to join before the organization meeting is held this evening in the Y.M.C.A.

The initial meeting of the London Manufacturers' Amateur Athletic Association, in its broader form, not covering merely track and field athletics, but including all branches of sports for the employees of the local industries of the city, will be held to-night.

Each industry which has become a member of the L.M.A.A.A., will send two delegates to the meeting. The officers will be elected to-night for the coming year, and the proposed program will also likely be drafted.

HOCKEY MEN TO ATTEND.

Representatives from the Manufacturers' Hockey League will be present, and will discuss the proposed plan of having the Manufacturers' Hockey League conducted under the auspices of the new association.

A move will also be made to secure the enclosed ground inside the half mile track at Queen's Park for a permanent athletic field. Ald. George Wenige has already submitted this proposition to the members of the Western Fair Board.

WORLD'S SERIES BASEBALL ARGUMENT HOLDS SWAY DAY BEFORE FIRST GAME

New York Fans Divided Over Outcome of 1921 Classic, Which Begins To-Morrow at Polo Grounds Between the Yankees and Giants

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—New York plunged into a sea of baseball argument to-day and at the same time divided itself for a rooters' war when the Yankees and Giants meet in the world's series combat at the Polo Grounds on Wednesday afternoon.

On the subways, the elevated, the busses and in surface cars and hotel lobbies—everywhere—baseball fans were debating the respective merits of the various players. Whether the speed and resourcefulness of the Giants can overcome the punching power of the Yankees is one of the big points at issue. Yankee rooters expect big things of "Babe" Ruth, home-run king, who is undoubtedly the greatest individual figure in the series.

Meanwhile, the offices of the opposing clubs were making final preparations for the post-season classic. At the Giants' headquarters all the tickets had been reserved, it was announced, and there talk centered about McGraw's pitching selection for the opening game. "Toney is his best bet," declared an old-time player. "Fred will make Ruth and Meusel and the rest of that Yankee slugging crowd pop 'em up to the infield. McGraw wants to take that first game and Toney is the boy to do it."

Other Giant followers thought McGraw might start Artie Nehf, the young left-hander, and still others favored Phil Douglas. McGraw said nothing; neither did Hughey Jennings, nor Cozey Dolan, the two coaches.

MAYS WILL START.

It is generally agreed that Manager Huggins, of the Yankees, will start Carl Mays, the submarine hurler, but Bob Shawkey has been going so good in the last few games he has pitched that Huggins may spring him as a surprise.

Fans from all over the country are pouring into the city, and hotel managers are counting on filling their accommodations. The seating capacity of the Polo Grounds is given as 38,000, but ambitious ushers always have been able to find seats in the aisles and on the rails for at least 3,000, and there is standing room for many more.

One individual fistic event such as the Dempsey-Carpentier fight or the Yale-Harvard football game may stir up more commotion than a world's baseball game, but no other sport known could hold the protracted interest which is continued from a week to 10 days, while the supremacy of the emerald diamond is being decided.

The fact that the coming series will be an all-Manhattan affair has fanned the local interest to a flame never known heretofore on the eve of a New York world's series. There is something about New York which gives a sporting event, as anything else, a magic touch. New York has developed the best two clubs in the major leagues, and the entire nation now awaits the verdict as to whether Giants or Yanks are the greater.

YANKEES CONVERT THE TOWN

Ever since the Yanks became real factors in the American League in 1919 there have been arguments between local fans as to which team is the stronger. Up to the war New York was a strong National League town, but the coming of Ruth won thousands of converts for the Yankee cause.

The Yankee following to-day is fully on a par with that of the Giants, and though the local Nationals have played to more business than ever before in the last two years the Yankees actually outdrew them.

Many believe it is the fact that Babe will play in the series which is responsible for the remarkable out-of-town interest in a strictly New York baseball feud. Outside of our presidents and Billy Sunday no American has received the publicity that has been accorded Ruth. He is known in every hamlet from coast to coast, through the prairies of Canada to the mining towns of Alaska, while his name is more familiar to the Cuban schoolboy than that of the president of the island republic.

NOT NEW STUNT FOR BABE

Ruth has been in world's series before, and carried off his share of world's series glory. Beating Mathewson's world series pitching record shows what a bear Ruth was as a pitcher. He held his National League opponents without a run for 29 innings in 1916 and 1918.

In the coming series Ruth is expected to star just as much on offense as he did on the defense when one of the baseball's leading pitchers. All he asks is that Giant pitchers give him half a chance.

The Babe has been no great shucks as a world's series hitter, as he has made only one world's series hit, a triple, which won a game for the Red Sox in 1918. However, those series were played before Ruth discovered his remarkable power as a slugger.

EVEN BETTING PROPOSITION.

One writer intimately acquainted with the team play of both New York clubs, the spirit of the two teams and the temperaments of the players, says there seems little to favor either team. As a betting proposition it appears to be even money. The American League's supremacy in the past and the individual power of Babe Ruth might give the Yankees the edge.

On the other hand, the American League's supremacy of the past also may be advanced as an argument that this is due to be a Giant year. Having lost their series in 1911, 1912, 1913 and 1917, the worm should be ready to turn. It does not seem to be in the cards for a team to lose five straight world's series. Then the Yankees have never beaten the Giants, as they lost the city series in 1910 and 1914.

Both clubs hit well, though the Yankees should outslug the local National Leaguers. The Giants, however, are faster as a team—on the whole, are smarter players, and rate a little better than the Yankees in the field.

It looks to be an even choice; take your pick.

The record attendance at a series, 236,000, undoubtedly will be broken if the series goes to six or more games.

THREE ADDITIONAL CUPS FOR TENNIS TOURNEY WINNERS

Hon. C. S. Hyman has donated a silver trophy for the ladies' singles championship, to be decided at the Western Ontario tennis tournament, to be held at the London Hunt and Country Club on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. C. R. Somerville has donated two cups for the winners of the mixed doubles event, while Dr. Tisdale, of Delhi, will defend The London Free Press trophy, emblematic of the men's singles championship.

Prizes have also been secured for the runners up in each of the four events, namely: Men's singles, men's doubles, ladies' singles and mixed doubles.

Secretary J. G. Boucher, 367 Central avenue, phone 2667, of the tournament committee, announced last night that entries were coming in fast and that he looked for a large list in to-morrow's mail as the entries close to-morrow night.

The courts at the Kennels are in fine condition and everything points to a most successful series of championship matches.

Arrange Program For Sports Day At Tecumseh Park

London Collegiate Students Will Entertain St. Thomas C.I. on Friday

Members of the committee in charge of Sports Day for the London Collegiate Institute, which will be held on Friday afternoon at Tecumseh Park, have announced the program which will be carried out.

The feature attraction of the afternoon will be the annual intercity rugby game between St. Thomas Collegiate squad and the local aggregation. The Blue and Whites of St. Thomas claim that they have the best team in years with Bob Johnson, Mac McCarthy, Savage, Moody and others on the line-up.

LIGHT AND FAST.

The Lonodn squad is not there when it comes to weight, but judging from the exhibition the boys have given at the last few workouts they are a speedy bunch of youngsters and should make the Railway City high school students step some to beat them.

The Lonodn boys will play the return rugby game in St. Thomas on Thursday, October 13, when the St. Thomas C. I. will hold their annual field day sports.

Soft ball baseball will be played by picked teams from the girls attending the London and St. Thomas Collegiates and a basket ball match between two girl teams will also be staged.

Something new in the line of sports for the pupils of the two schools will be held this year, the committee having arranged a tennis competition. The local tennis courts are being secured for this affair and some of the games will be played at Thames Park courts, the remainder may be staged elsewhere. It has not yet been definitely determined whether singles or doubles will be played, but the committee will make an announcement regarding this in a day or two.

Ball Fans Present Solid Gold Watch To Buzz Wetzel

London Appreciates Its Successful Baseball Leader, Who Will Be Back in 1922

BUZZ WETZEL

Manager H. Buzz Wetzel, of the London Michigan-Ontario Baseball League champions of 1920 and 1921, was last night made the recipient of a solid gold watch and chain by a coterie of his baseball friends at the Tecumseh House.

President W. H. Heard, of the Tecumseh Baseball and Athletic Association, made the presentation and in a few well-chosen words expressed the appreciation of the fans of London for Manager Wetzel's effort in winning the pennant, also for his success as a leader of the Tecumsehs, who not only triumphed over the Bay City club in the play-off for the 1921 championship, but kept the standard of baseball played in the league unrivaled by that of the Central League by annexing the post-season series with the Ludington champions.

The brand of baseball served to fans in London and vicinity since Buzz Wetzel took over the managerial reins has never been equaled, unless it might have been in the days of Fred Goldsmith and Joe Horning. President Heard assurred the fans present that as long as Buzz gave his best effort he would be retained as London's baseball pilot.

BUZZ TALKS A BIT

Buzz, who seldom ever spoke more than a few words in public during his two years here as a leader, mopped off his brow and replied: "I tell you, boys, I certainly appreciate the best gift I ever received as long as I've been connected with baseball. I have always been used like a prince here. Tried to do what was right and give you the best I had, and I honestly believe that the fans here have a right to be proud of their baseball team, and you all know that we battled all the teams to a finish and it didn't matter whether our opponents happened to be the Detroit Tigers, the Pittsburg Pirates or the Boston Red Sox."

He added: "I expect to sign a contract to-morrow to manage the London Tecumsehs in 1922 and have already given Mr. Heard my word that I would be back with him next year."

WALL STREET TRADING

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. —(Wall street, 10.30 a.m. — Domestic oils were again in demand at the opening of to-day's stock market on the higher prices quoted for crude products in the Pennsylvania and Wyoming fields, but European issues of that class continued their recent reactionary course. Standard Oils of New Jersey rose 2¼ points and California and Mexican Petroleum were fractionally higher. Selling of sugar shares was resumed on the unfavorable trade outlook. American Sugar preferred fell 2½ points to a new low record and the Cuban sugars were subjected to further pressure. Dealings in rails, steels and equipments were light at irregular changes.

GRAIN.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Wheat prices had an upward tendency to-day, influenced more or less by an opinion current that there is but little unsold wheat in Europe and that there will be no world surplus this year, whereas at the end of last year there was a large one. Absence of selling pressure was also a feature. The only offerings of consequence came from house with Northwestern connections. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 1c higher, were followed by a slight decline, and then by moderate upturns all around. Notwithstanding frost last night, corn was firm with wheat. After opening unchanged to ¼c up, including December at 49¾c, the market scored additional gains.

Oats derived strength from other cereals, starting ⅛c off to a like advance, and then made a general upturn.

Higher quotations on hogs gave a lift to provisions.

CAUSE OF ZR-2 CRASH UNKNOWN

Jury Says Lives Were Lost As Result of "Accident."

HULL, England, Oct. 4. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — The catastrophe to the giant airship R-2 over the Humber River on August 24, in which more than 40 persons lost their lives, was due to accident, according to the verdict reached by the coroner's jury at the resumed inquest here to-day. There is no evidence as to the actual cause of the disaster, the verdict says.

This verdict was rendered in the case of Lieut.-Commander Charles G. Little, of the United States navy, which was the first to be considered by the coroner's jury. A similar verdict was rendered in each of the remaining cases.

Premier

Britain may be necessary throughout the winter months, but experts with whom Lloyd George has conferred have so far been silent regarding the conversations at Gairloch. The Daily Mail, however, declares the necessity for peace in the Near East and in Poland, as a preliminary to the adjustment of foreign exchange and a revival of trade was discussed. It is also said that the payment of indemnity by Germany was also taken up at the Gairloch conferences.

There is a strong feeling in certain industrial quarters. The Daily Mail declares, that to compel Germany to pay her obligations at present would result only in a further decline in the value of the mark and in fluctuations in the exchange rate which would seriously damage the revival of trade. It is said that alterations of great importance in the Government's international policy may result from the Gairloch deliberations, although final decisions cannot be made until the prime minister has consulted his Cabinet.

REFERS TO COMING PARLEYS

INVERNESS, Scotland, Oct. 4. — Prime Minister Lloyd George, speaking here concerning unemployment, to-day touched upon the Irish question, declaring the London conference, beginning on October 11, between representatives of the British Government and the Sinn Fein "can only succeed if those who enter it make up their minds definitely and resolutely to trust to the common sense of their own people and do not try to reconcile the extremists."

Lloyd George referred optimistically to the forthcoming conference in Washington on limitation of armaments, declaring "it will constitute one of those outstanding events which will affect human history for centuries."

SALES BY WEIGHT OPPOSED BY SOME

Plan of Grocers Not Favored By All Housewives.

PREFER OLD MEASURES.

Others Think Change Would Result In Better Values.

London housewives are by no means one in their opinion as to the desirability of purchasing vegetables by weight rather than by measure, as at present. The proposal to sell vegetables by weight which has been made by the retail grocers of the city was both commended and condemned by a number of housewives called at random by The Free Press.

Almost all of those spoken to declared, however, that they had not given the matter serious consideration and the majority of them appeared to believe that it was deserving of thought on the part of those who are buying vegetables of all kinds for their homes.

Mrs. Warren Jenkins, of 501 Oxford street, was absolutely opposed to such a change. She expressed the opinion that it was just as well to leave the system as at the present time. She would be opposed to the change.

On the other hand, Mrs. John Climie, 86 Horton street, was strongly in favor of the proposed change. "I think it would be much better if the grocers were to sell vegetables by the pound," she declared. "I believe that the housewife would get better value for her money than under the present system."

REGULATE PRICES.

Mrs. C. G. Harper, 355 Princess avenue, declared that it all depended on the value that the housewife would get under the proposed change. It would make little difference, Mrs. Harper thought, if the prices were regulated so as to give the housewife as good value for her money as under the present system the change would make little difference. She admitted, however, that she had not really given the matter serious thought.

"I don't like it at all," was the comment of Mrs. W. Perkins, 120 Mount Pleasant avenue. "I would rather have the measure system, as at present. Of course, I haven't had much time to think the matter over and I might change my opinion with the proposed system in operation."

Two others who were called did not feel like giving an opinion without more consideration. They suggested that they be called a little later and their request was acceded to.

"I think it is best to buy by measure, as we are doing at present," declared Mrs. J. Allaster, 1230 Osborne street. "I don't see why they want to change it."

Mrs. James H. Smith, 12 Teresa street, after giving the matter some consideration, declared herself in favor of vegetables being sold by weight, if the prices were regulated fairly. She believed that the housewife would get what she was paying for by this method.

STOLE NOTHING BUT LIQUOR FROM HOUSE

Oasis Removed From Cellar of William Street Residence During Absence of Owner.

While a resident of William street north was spending last week-end in Toronto some person or persons desiring to escape from the sands of the desert broke into his home and removed an oasis from the cellar. The Londoner expressed an intention of reporting the theft to the police.

How entrance was gained to the house is not known. When the householder returned home he found the back door wide open and the spirits and spiriters gone. The supply was not large and had been put by with an eye to several long, dry seasons.

The thief or thieves evidently came after only one thing—the liquor. So far as the householder has been able to check up his less valuable belongings, he finds them intact. Nothing else, apparently, was displaced and there is a suspicion in the mind of the loser that it was taken by someone who knew beyond a doubt that it was there.

LONDON AD. CLUB HEARS WORLD HEAD

Charles H. Macintosh Speaker at Ad. Club Luncheon This Afternoon.

Charles H. Macintosh, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, was the speaker at the luncheon of the London Ad. Club, held in the Tecumseh House this afternoon. Mr. Macintosh has just returned from a tour of the United States and Canada in the interests of the organization over which he presides, and his address today was a careful analysis of selling methods from the factory to the consumer, paying particular attention to the application of general helps which an organization such as the Ad. Club could provide to merchants. There was a very large attendance of members of the Rotary Club nad the Chamber of Commerce, gathing with the Ad. Club to hear the distinguished speaker. H. B. Muir occupied the chair and gracefully introduced the guest of the occasion.

POOR LIGHTING AT POINT OF ACCIDENT

Dr. George Weir, school attendance officer, believes that Samuel Whindell, an aged London Township man, who received fatal injuries on Oxford street night before last, met his death because of inadequate street lighting.

Dr. Weir stated to-day that the light at the corner where Mr. Whindell was injured had been removed some time previously, leaving that portion of the street in darkness. "That will come out at the inquest," said Dr. Weir.

Mr. Whindell was driving into the city in a light wagon when he was struck by an automobile. He refused aid at the time, went to his home, but died later in the night from shock, it is believed.

IN MEMORIAM

COOK—In loving memory of Pte. Ernest H. Cook, who was killed in action in October, 1918, at the battle of Cambrai. Buried at Sancourt British Cemetery.
"His name and honor liveth for evermore."
—From Father, Mother, Brother and Sisters. f

TAYLOR—In loving memory of our darling Amy, who died October 4th, 1918, aged 8 years.
As some sweet blossom droops and dies,
When blighted by the frost,
She faded from before our eyes,
And all too soon was lost.
But in God's garden, free from pain,
Where grow his fairest flowers,
We know that we shall find again,
This fairest bloom of ours.
—Mother and Father. f

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR DEAR son, William Earle Abbott, who gave his life for his country three years ago to-day, October 4, 1918, formerly of Canadian Engineers 5th Battalion.
"Sleep on, dear son, in your lonely grave,
Your life for your country you nobly gave;
No loved one stood near to say farewell,
But in God's keeping now you dwell."
—Father and Mother. f

A FARM IN THE WEST. TO OWN A farm home is the desire and ambition of most people. It is easier to get a farm home in the Prairie Provinces of Canada because fertile farm lands, suitable for grain growing, dairying or stock raising can be bought at prices averaging $18 an acre, and on terms of payment spread over twenty years, with lighter payments at the beginning, so as to enable farmers with moderate capital to get a good start. SCRATCH CHOSEN IN SOUTH ESSEX

Strong Man Is Nominated By Government Party At Kingsville.

DR. BRIEN HAS RETIRED.

H. B. Morphy, M. P., Deals With the Federal Issues.

KINGSVILLE, Oct. 3.—(Special to The Free Press)—With more than 150 delegates present, only three townships being unrepresented, the National Liberal and Conservative party, of South Essex, in convention here this afternoon, unanimously selected Eugene Scratch, farmer, of Gosfield North, warden of Essex County, as their candidate.

Dr. J. W. Brien, present member; J. E. Brown, Kingsville; Dr. F. Park, Amherstburg; A. B. Herring, Harrow; Mrs. Brien and Mrs. S. B. Geddes; Lewis Wigle, Leamington; E. J. Gott, Amherstburg, and Mr. Scratch were nominated. All but the last three withdrew. The vote that followed was so decisively in favor of the warden that his selection was made unanimous.

MR. GRAHAM AN OPPONENT.

H. B. Morphy, K. C., M. P. for Perth, made a vigorous attack on W. L. Mackenzie King. Mr. King, an unmarried man, left Canada for the U. S. when the issue of conscription was fought. The speaker said that Warden Scratch will have as his opponents Hon. G. P. Graham, Liberal, and a Farmer candidate yet to be selected.

President S. B. Geddes was in the chair, and with him on the platform were Lewis Wigle, Dr. Brien, Dr. Park, A. B. Herring, Darius Wigle and J. E. Brown. Mr. Geddes expressed pleasure at the fine representation, and outlined the policies of the different parties. The leaders, he said, had thought the National party should lose no time in putting a candidate in the field as the issues before the country were too great to be neglected or trifled with.

DR. BRIEN RETIRES.

Dr. Brien, the present member, expressed gratification for the confidence shown in him by the south riding, but reiterated his determination, previously announced, not to be a candidate again. He had served his country for seven years, both in Parliament and on the battlefields of Europe, and felt that he should now be permitted to retire. He would have liked to review the work of the Government, but Mr. Morphy, of North Perth, was present and would be a pleasing exponent of the Government's acts during and since the war.

The doctor said that while he could not accept a nomination, yet he would not relinquish his activity, nor withhold any effort to elect the choice of the convention.

Mr. Scratch said that the nomination was not of his own seeking, but he had been approached by a number to allow his name to go before the convention and would be satisfied to abide by the result.

E. Brown was willing to support any party who were not inclined to trifle with the tariffs.

Mr. Gott had been asked by many to be a candidate. He would accept an unanimous nomination or would give a whole-hearted support to any other man who was the choice of this convention.

Lewis Wigle, introduced as "the old war horse," said he beat his mother's brother twice for Parliamentary honors. He was not too old yet, but a better man than he was to represent the riding than he ever was. Geo. P. Graham was not going to be a snap. He was a convincing speaker and that was all, but when he comes to Essex and the old-time Liberals listen to his speeches many of them will rally round him. If the convention made him their choice he would fight Graham to a finish and Graham would not be in the finish.

Dr. Parks was going to be on the warpath in the support of the choice of this convention.

A. B. Herring felt he was not in a position to accept the nomination.

Geo. Cady was not a candidate, but he could not see why the farmers of South Essex could support any free trade policy.

THREE ON BALLOT.

The ballot, taken in perfect order, showed the choice of the convention to be Mr. Eugene Scratch. Mr. Lewis Wigle and Mr. Gott proposed that the choice be unanimous; carried. Mr. Scratch thanked the convention, he solicited co-operation and he intended to take off his coat and he felt confident of success.

Mr. Morphy, of North Perth, speaker of the day, paid a tribute to Dr. Brien and expressed regret at the doctor's retirement. He congratulated the convention in their choice of an old public servant who had given years of his life to his township as reeve and to his county as warden. Mr. Morphy expressed an opinion of the old Unionist Government. Sir Robert Borden formed that Government from outstanding Conservatives and Liberals at a time when it was necessary for the parties to get together. This Government did great work, and, notwithstanding reports of scandals, he had known no scandal. Out of 26,000 horses that had been bought, only five of them were pronounced unfit. Out of many million dollars spent during the war there could not be substantial proof given of any money misspent. The speaker thought the present election to be the most momentous election in the history of Canada, a time for honest and sober thought for right judgment in voting. The King Liberals, and there is more than one party of Liberals, have a policy that is a tariff for revenue only, which is practically free trade.

THE CRERAR PLATFORM.

The Crerar policy is based on absolute free trade, Mr. Crerar had said more than once that the industries should not flourish in Canada and that Canada should be an agricultural country only, a policy that would kill factory life. What did he care if the poor factory man got work so long as the farmer could sell where he liked. He does not seem to realize that he would be driving his own market, the consumers of his products, to the United States. King, during the war, while men and women were working hard here, depriving themselves of even the necessities of life, to support the boys at the front, went to the United States. Talk about free trade, there is no free trade country in the world, said the speaker. England is collecting millions in tariff on many commodities, including tobacco. German cheap labor has driven England to protect her workmen. The speaker counseled the voters not to make up their mind in regard to the election in too great a hurry, but to study the issues from the standpoint of a Canadian and then go to the polls with no other motive than to do their duty for home and native land.

PLAN "WHITE CRUSADE" TO PROMOTE PURITY

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Restoration of the seat of the ancient crusaders to the church to-day is the aim of a movement to inaugurate a great "White Crusade" all over Canada in the 40 days of Lent next year.

The object of the suggested crusade was to promote purity in the home and the individual life, and the idea is recommended to the social service council of the Church of England by its executive. All organizations of the church are to be enlisted, and specialists may be secured to give addresses and hold meetings all over Canada.

IN NATURE'S PLAYGROUNDS.

A region which provides one of the most delightful winter holidays is the great Algonquin Park reserve, 200 miles north of Toronto and 170 miles west of Ottawa. Two thousand feet above the sea level, it has invigorating climatic conditions. No matter how cold it is, the air is dry, and the man with a sweater never suffers discomfort. The Highland Inn, the largest of the park hotels, will be open for the reception of guests this season from December 15 to March 15, and as the accommodation is limited, patrons are advised to make reservations early. CHAPLIN WORE DOWLER HAT

A popular London firm has received considerable free advertising in connection with the arrival in London recently of Charlie Chaplain, the king of film comedians. A cable from London, England, to the Chicago Tribune and the Toronto Globe, and published in many other newspapers, gives a graphic description of the arrival of Chaplin in London and the fact that tens of thousands of cheering people waited in the vicinity of the railway station to bid him welcome. London was literally wild with enthusiasm over the return of "King Charlie."

After describing the crowds in waiting for a glimpse of the comedian, the manner in which he was hugged and kissed by pretty girls, and the way in which squads of police were employed to shepherd the crowds into some semblance of order the London cable goes on to tell about the comedian's immaculate appearance as he came into the view of the waiting thousands. "He wore," to quote the cable, "a light gray overcoat and Dowler hat."

Have Dark Hair and Look Young

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Advt.

PREMIER OPENS TOUR IN EAST

Points Out Every Country Is Increasing Tariff.

CANADA'S IS THE LOWEST.

Hon. F. B. McCurdy Also Speaker At Amherst Meeting.

AMHERST, N.S., Oct. 3.—(By Canadian Press staff correspondent.)—Premier Meighen's opening speech in the Maritime Provinces was listened to by a gathering of 2,000 persons in the armories here to-day. Again the prime minister made a powerful plea for a protective tariff and charged Hon. Mackenzie King with duplicity in tariff matters. In addition, he rebutted charges of extravagance and autocracy. The prime minister received a respectful hearing from an audience which displayed a serious and concentrated interest in the arguments advanced by him. He warned his hearers of injurious results from abandoning the present tariff system. Canada would become a back door, a mere dumping ground to the United States; her industries would die and the present unemployment situation would be aggravated.

Mrs. Meighen occupied a seat on the platform and was presented with a bouquet of flowers.

Hon. F. B. McCurdy, minister of public works, emphasized the importance of the coming contest. He resented charges made by the Liberal Opposition leader that the prime minister was autocratic in his methods and insisted that "Mr. Meighen's ability, his courage, his firmness, his devotion to the country, his superb self-confidence marked him as a man who can safely lead us."

INCREASE IS WAR DEBT

The prime minister, said Mr. McCurdy, had a majority of the House of Commons behind him and used it, but that was not autocracy. Mr. King also charged extravagance, but he did not say where, or in what this extravagance occurred. If Mr. King were frank he would admit that the increase in the public debt was just exactly the amount which Canada had expended in carrying on the war.

Andre Fauteaux, the newly-appointed solicitor-general, speaking in French, emphasized the importance of eliminating racial strife and opposition in the country. The people of Quebec, he said, had decided to take their part in the councils of the country in a broad and friendly spirit.

Premier Meighen referred first to the three great men whom Nova Scotia had given to Canada. Sir Robert Borden had confronted the most baffling task, but the pen of impartial history would give to him the due that was his. Sir John Thompson, Sir Charles Tupper, two other great Nova Scotians, were men of whom it was an honor to follow.

LIBERALS EVADE ISSUE.

Asking the gathering what they were voting for in the coming election he continued, declaring the Liberals were advancing other issues in order to evade the tariff issue. He was charged by Mr. King with autocracy, but the most democratic legislation in Canada, the law which gave women votes, had been put through by the Conservative Government, though opposed by the Opposition.

The Government was criticized for its policy in regard to shipbuilding, but the Liberals, who were now criticizing, supported the policy. They had only started to cry out against it when prices went down and the value of the ships was lessened. The Liberals wanted to abandon the whole scheme and leave the keels and hulls of the ships to rot in the water.

Turning to the tariff, Mr. Meighen referred to the Liberal policy as announced in the platform of the party. He insisted that the Liberal policy meant free trade.

"Make the platform law and you will have free trade and nothing else," declared Mr. Meighen. The Liberals had adopted their platform in order to try and swing the Farmer movement in behind them. Why did they want to do this? Because this movement had gained tremendous strength in the West and the Liberal leader wanted to get control of the organization behind it. Mr. King went out into the West and preached free trade. He came into the East and called for protection. In the West the Agrarian party had eliminated the Liberal party absolutely.

OPENS WAY TO ABSORPTION.

"The moment this country decides that it is through with protection, that moment it starts down the path of commercial absorption by the United States," declared the premier. He went on to insist that every country in the world had protection to-day, and every country was increasing it.

"If there is any country in the world that has everything to lose by abandoning protection that country is Canada," he said. We were living beside a huge nation which had a protective tariff wall and was building it higher.

"No country on earth of any size maintained as low a tariff as Canada," said Mr. Meighen. Had the time come to close up our big factories manufacturing food stuffs and purchase the surplus of the United States? The prime minister appealed to the farmers. He asked them if they seriously proposed voting for a policy which would admit the exportable surplus into Canada from the United States, which would kill the home market for agricultural products. He asked the labor men if they wanted to kill Canadian industries. The platforms of the Progressives and the Liberals were both wrong, and the only country which would benefit from them was the United States.

"Don't be thinking so much against Canadian industry as to vote in favor of American industries," pleaded Mr. Meighen.

He went on to say that this country had brought $1,800,000,000 worth of goods more from the United States than she had sold to the United States in the last five years. The depreciation of the Canadian dollar in the United States was the inevitable result.

"A moderate protective tariff is the sound and true policy for Canada," insisted the prime minister solemnly and he declared that the great Liberal leaders of the past as well as the Conservatives had appreciated this fact. It was time for Canada to hoe her own row on tariff matters.

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The Yankees tore off the opener of the world's series this afternoon by kalsomining the Giants by a score of 3 to 0. Mays' submarine ball tied the Giants in knots, though Frank Frisch, the National Leaguer's third baseman helped himself to four hits.

Babe Ruth accounted for one of the Yankees' runs with a blazing single, but could not oblige the 35,000 fans with a home run.

McNally's steal home in the fifth inning was the base-running feature of the game.

Noon time found the upper unreserved stand only a quarter filled and all comers were easily accommodated, while there was still yawning gaps in the open stands behind the outfield. Down-town speculators were reported selling reserved seats at prices that would have shocked a profiteering landlord. Some there were who stood all night in a shivering line to get the best seats in the open stands.

COLD WIND BLOWS.

A smart shower fell early to-day with a rapid clearing, followed by a cold wind that swept the field. The early comers shivered and shook and padded their coats with newspapers to keep out the searching breeze.

The playing field glowed brightly in the October sun and the damp spots on the outfield were soon baked out. A fast-playing field was thus assured.

The first real cheer of the day came in the Giants batting practice when Frank Frisch popped one into the upper right field stands. Coach Cozey Dolan served up the slants during the batting practice, in which pitchers Toney, Douglas and Nehf took part.

While the Giants indulged in a batting workout the Yankees remained in center field stand. Elmer Miller led the way, followed closely by Babe Ruth carrying two bats. Miller Huggins, their manager, was the last to appear. The Yankees wore their traveling uniforms of gray with blue caps and stockings.

THE BATTERIES:

Douglas and Snyder were announced as battery for Giants.

Mays and Schang were announced for the Yankees.

Umpires—Charles Rigler and Ernest Quigley for the National League, and George Moriarity and Ollie Chill for the American League.

The umpires to-day will be distributed in this order: At the plate, Rigler; first base, Moriarity; second base, Quigley; third base, Chill.

In the second game Moriarity will go behind the plate, with Rigler at third, and each of the others advancing. That rotation will be continued throughout the series.

New York was awake early to-day to enjoy the initial game of the series. Hours before the two teams went to battle at the Polo Grounds crowds of fans were hurrying toward the park, hoping to gain admittance to the mecca of the baseball world.

Some, in fact, did not sleep at all. At midnight several of them gathered at the entrance to Brush Stadium, the first in line and the first in the park—if they did not fall asleep and awake to find some more alert fan in their place. By 1 o'clock about 50 of them were in line.

Heading the line was Charles M. Kierst, 29, a fireman, from Auburn, N. Y. He said he had not missed a world's series yet and doesn't intend to. It was a cold night for the waiting fans. A raw wind, accompanied by frequent showers, brought out overcoats, blankets and even old newspapers to keep the enthusiasts warm. But the inclement weather failed to daunt them. They stuck to their posts like sentinels. Not a few brought their own sandwiches and hot drinks in vacuum bottles, while others bought early breakfasts of "hot dogs" and coffee from vendors, who did a lively business. The fans afoot were not the only ones among the early arrivals, a number of automobiles reaching the surrounding streets soon after midnight. Drawn curtains indicated the occupants were asleep, awaiting daybreak and a chance to buy a ticket.

Boys did a thriving business selling small wooden boxes to those in line so they could rest their weary bodies. They had short use of them, however, as the police ordered the line occupants to destroy them soon after they were purchased. Even this did not peeve the fans. They compiled with a grin.

EVENLY MATCHED.

Never in the history of world's series baseball were two teams so evenly matched. Led by Ruth, around whom centers at once the series hopes of the Yankees and the problem of the Giants, the Americans, virtually slugged their way to the 1921 pennant, while McGraw's men, with apparently greater odds to overcome, achieved victory through daring and cleverness.

The 1921 World's Baseball Series

Not Enough Natural Gas Available To Interest

Little Chance of Securing Sufficient Supply To Make Plan Worth While.

SIXTY-FIVE CENTS IS ENOUGH FOR COMPANY.

Negotiations Have Probably Ended As Far As City Is Concerned.

That London has but little chance of now securing natural gas is the general opinion expressed in civic circles to-day. But the reasons given for this belief are varied. Some of the aldermen assert that the Progressive Gas and Oil Company and the City Gas Company will not meet the city's offer of 65 cents a thousand. But Philip Pocock, one of the members representing the Chamber of Commerce on the special gas committee, voices the opinion that "there is no gas there."

Mr. Pocock would not state whether he had received any additional information with regard to the Saul farm development of the Progressive Oil and Gas Company, of Hamilton, but on Saturday Mr. Pocock moved that the city enter into a two-year agreement with the City Gas Company and the natural gas corporation.

ESTIMATE CUT.

"Of course," he qualified his statement, "there is a little gas there, that is incontrovertible, but not enough to interest London. They first stated that they could furnish 500,000 cubic feet of gas daily, but this was cut to 250,000 feet at the Saturday conference. I don't believe they can supply gas to the city as we were led to expect."

Mr. Pocock's statement takes direct issue with Gas Referee Henderson and Col. Harkness, who is the special investigator for that department. Mr. Henderson on Saturday stated that to the best of his information there was a considerable supply of gas on the Saul farm immediately available and that, according to Col Harkness' report on the geological formation of that district, the chances were that a much larger supply might be developed."

DEFINITE OFFER.

The situation, as it now stands, with regard to securing natural gas for the city in that a definite offer of 65 cents the thousand cubic feet for natural gas has been made by the city. The special gas committee can conclude an agreement on that basis. If the two gas companies concerned agree to this London consumers will get fuel gas at about $1 the lowest temperature, with a possible 10-cent rebate on the artificial gas portion.

The Progressive company, however, asserted at the Saturday conference that they had made their final concession and that they had received offers for the gas from other municipalities.

If that statement were made without qualification, mental or otherwise, aldermen believe, the negotiations are now definitely at an end.

Demand Sheriff Give Up Position

Government Takes Action To Place New Officer In Charge of Jail.

Sheriff Donald M. Cameron has received a demand from the Provincial Government to hand in his resignation. The request was made to the sheriff on Monday by a Government official in person, who made the request on instructions from the inspector of legal offices for Ontario.

It is understood that the sheriff refused to make known his intention to the official and intimated that he would convey these directly to Toronto.

The recommendation of the retirement of Sheriff Cameron was made in the report of Deputy Attorney-General Bayly in his report on the inquiry into the escape of William and Sidney Murrell, the two alleged murderers who escaped from the county jail on the evening of September 2.

The report, however, brought no response from the Middlesex sheriff, who had no comment to make on the report. Later, when he was asked when or not he purposed resigning, he declared that there was no purpose in resigning when one was capable of performing the duties of one's office.

It appears likely that there will be some definite action from the attorney-general's department within a short time. Sheriff Cameron had no comment to make on the new developments.

GROCERS OPEN WAR ON CITY BAKERS

Three Firms Have Opened Bread-Making Plants To Supply Customers.

War has been openly declared between the grocers and the bakers, with the result that bread is selling in certain sections in London to-day at three loaves for 25 cents. Three Hamilton road grocers, Ald. Drake, McFarlane & McDonald, and Charles W. Summers & Sons have opened a bakeshop and they are now supplying the staff of life at three for a quarter to all and sundry. It was rumored that some of the bakers had reduced their prices to meet this, but one of the large bakers denied that there had been any suggestion of this. It was only Monday that the majority of the bakers brought the bread down to 10 cents a loaf. There has been no change in the size of the loaf, the standard of one pound and one-half being maintained in the three stores despite the reduced prices.

Until about one month ago bread was selling at 12 cents a loaf with the exception of one or two instances. Ald. Bridge, in accord with his promise made several weeks previously, opened up a bread factory and sold the product at 10 cents a loaf. The other bakers reduced to 11 cents a loaf and finally they brought it down to 10 cents. Now it would appear that the price will be lower still.

WANT MORE THAN CENT.

Ald. Drake states that the bakers are unwilling to allow the grocers more than one cent a loaf for handling the bread. He insists that this is too small a margin of profit. For this reason he, with the other two grocers, got together and secured a bakeshop for themselves. They are handling mainly the product of their own shop.

New wheat dropped about 10 cents per hundredweight to-day on the local market.

DISTRICT U. F. A. HEAD QUITS WOOD

Joshua Fletcher Denounces President's Federal Policy.

GRAND PRAIRIE, Alta., Oct. 5.—In a letter published in The Grand Prairie Herald yesterday, Joshua Fletcher, president of the district United Farmers of Alberta, tenders his resignation and withdrawal from the organization as a protest against the dictation of President Wood, whose policy in regard to the federal affairs is described as being dangerous and in effect designed to bring about national suicide.

Mr. Fletcher has been a leader in the United Farmer movement for 17 years. In his letter of resignation he calls on all citizens, regardless of class, who respect Canadian institutions, to unite in stamping out the system lately introduced into U. F. A. affairs, as they would some dread disease. He makes it quite clear, however, that he remains a strong supporer of the local Farmer member of the Provincial Legislature.

MOSQUITOES PUNCTURE TIRES ON AUTOMOBILES TRAVELING ON LAKE ROAD

BEECH PARK, Oct. 5 — (By Staff Reporter.) — A mystery that has engaged the attention of county and provincial police for several months has been cleared up by the confession of Jed Switcher, a former resident of Cleveland, who opened a garage on the Lake road, about five miles east of Port Stanley, this spring, and who did a thriving business all summer in tire repairing.

Thousands of motorists use the Lake road daily and constant complaint was made of tires being punctured while passing the Dexter road, about 300 yards west of Switcher's garage. Search of the road, which is rather sandy at this spot, failed to reveal cause for the deflated tires. The matter was reported to county officers with no results and the provincial police failed to penetrate the mystery. Meantime Switcher did a thriving business.

Yesterday, however, Switcher became violently ill as the result of eating toadstools in mistake for mushrooms, and thinking he was about to slip his cable, confessed that he was responsible for the vandalism, but the actual crimes were committed by trained mosquitoes.

Switcher secured a nest of young mosquitoes early in the spring and kept them in an enclosure lined with rubber about a quarter of an inch thick. Back of the rubber he smeared olizon, a particularly sweet substance, of which mosquitoes will make every effort to secure. The insects, with a few weeks' practice, so hardened and extended their bills that they were able to penetrate the rubber and get a taste of the olizon. It was Switcher's practice to let one or two of the mosquitoes loose when an auto approached and they would make direct for the tires, easily puncturing one or more. The evidence of his crime was eliminated each time as the bills of the mosquitoes caught in the tires and before they could be extricated the wheel turned over and killed the criminals. Switcher's condition is much improved to-day.

"READINESS TO SERVE" CHARGE WHICH COST CITIZENS $60,000 NOT RECOVERABLE, JUDGE RULES

Ald. Wenige's Test Action Against City Gas Company Decided Against Him.

JUDGE ADMITS CHARGE WAS NOT MAKE LEGALLY.

Quotes Precedents To Show Money Paid Freely Cannot Be Recovered.

While the City Gas Company had no justification for the imposition of the "readiness to serve" charge, which cost citizens some $60,000, it cannot be recovered. This is the substance of a judgment handed down by Judge Joseph Judd this morning in the action brought by Ald. George Wenige against the City Gas Company in the ninth division court.

In his finding, Judge Judd points out that while the defendants had no right to make the charge and could not have collected it in any court of law, payment was made by the plaintiff of his own free will, and he was in a position to know all the facts and circumstances connected with the matter.

"Morally, the company has no right to keep the money which the plaintiff paid for these charges, but after a full and careful consideration of the decided cases (which I am bound to follow); I must hold that money paid voluntarily and without duress or compulsion, for an illegal charge, cannot be recovered back even though such payments were made under protest; and that is the position in which I find the plaintiff placed himself in the matter."

QUOTES PRECEDENTS.

Judge Judd in his judgment quotes a large number of cases dating back as far as 1841, in which it has been held that money paid voluntarily, even if under protest, could not be recovered.

While there is no appeal from the finding of Judge Judd, the opinion is expressed, however, that the question will go to a higher court in some form. It is said that an action for any amount may be brought in the Supreme Court, with the penalty that if the amount is below $800 the plaintiff must pay the costs of the court. It might also be brought before the high court by one claimant obtaining an assignment of claims amounting to more than $800.

THE JUDGMENT

IN THE NINTH DIVISION COURT, IN THE COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX. BETWEEN:

GEORGE WENIGE, Plaintiff,

and

THE CITY GAS COMPANY, OF LONDON, Defendants.

J. M. Donohue, for Plaintiff.
H. R. Cluff, for Defendants.

Reasons for Judgment:

In 1906 the City Gas Company of London applied to the Legislature of the Province for an Act to enable them to convert certain shares of paid-up stock, and to increase their capital stock and to validate and confirm a certain agreement made with the Corporation of the City of London on September 8, 1879, with reference to the "laying of pipes on the streets of the city."

The corporation opposed the passing of the act unless certain reductions in the price of gas and meter rent were made by the company, and finally sections, 6, 7 and 8, of chapter 129 of the Ontario Statutes, 1906, reduced the price of gas to 95 cents per thousand cubic feet, for a period of five years from 1st July, 1906, and thereafter (that is after 1911) to 90 cents per thousand cubic feet, and also made reductions in the meter rent. Section 7 particularly states that the company "shall continue hereafter to sell gas to all such consumers at a rate not greater than the said rate," that is 90 cents per M.

Notwithstanding such enactment and well knowing that they were prohibited by law from charging more than 90 cents per thousand, the company decided to increase the rate under the disguise of a "readiness to serve" charge, and on June 5, 1920, sent out notices to their customers that they would thereafter make a monthly charge of 85 cents to each consumer. Subsequently, negotiations were entered into with the City Council with the result that the "readiness to serve" charge was placed on a sliding scale, according to the quantity of gas used by each consumer.

There could be no justification for

1,657 Citizens Are Eligible For Jury Service of Whom Half Are of the Fair Sex

The 1921 voters' list of the citizens of London, containing nearly 25,000 names of residents entitled to vote at either municipal or provincial elections, is now in the hands of the printers. Aside from the extraordinary increase in the number of voters over 1920, the list shows that only 1,657 citizens of London are liable for jury service. More than half of these are women.

Jury service, under exemptions now allowed, is practically noneffective, so far as city residents are concerned. Teachers, preachers, editors, firemen, policemen, clerks, bookkeepers, railway employees, day laborers and reporters are among the list of exempted citizens which includes practically all classes of city residents except invalid citizens suffering from rheumatism. A doctor's certificate in the latter case, it is understood, would also secure their being excused from jury duty.

Juries, according to this list of exemptions, must perforce be made of county residents engaged in agriculture.

The 1921 voters' list of London will contain three lists. One showing those entitled to vote in provincial and municipal elections, and those entitled to vote only in municipal elections.

The preparation of the provincial list by the city is the first work of that kind ever done by the city, and adds considerably to the cost of the work, which cost, it is understood, is not made up from the provincial treasury, but must be paid by the taxpayers of London.

ASK BARON BYNG TO OPEN SCHOOL

May Be Given Honorary Degree By Western University.

ANXIOUS TO VISIT THE CITY.

Hope To Have Governor-General Here This Month.

Baron Byng of Vimy, governor-general of Canada, will probably formally open the new medical school of Western University some time this month, at which time his excellency may be given an honorary degree by the senate of the London institution.

Definite acceptance of the invitation with regard to the medical school opening has not been received as yet, but it is considered certain that Lord Byng will take advantage of the opportunity to visit a section of the Dominion which furnished the corps he commanded in the late war with so many soldiers.

It will be recalled in this connection that the Duke of Devonshire formally opened the Queen Alexandra Sanitarium at Byron.

FORMAL OPENING.

Other plans for the formal opening of the new medical building are taking shape daily and it is expected that the occasion will be one of the memorable events in the university's history. The Ontario Legislature will be invited in a body, together with many other representative men. Special clinics are also outlined during the formal opening week.

An effort will probably be made soon to bring Western Ontario editors to London for an inspection of the university. This will be a sort of preliminary step to next year's campaign for extension funds and recognizes the influence of Western Ontario journals in the matter of higher education for this section of the province.

ASK FOR $100,000 DUE TO LONDON

Surplus Held By Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

COULD USE MONEY FOR DAM.

Work Could Be Done Without Extra Taxation.

Sir Adam Beck will be approached within a short while by Manager Buchanan with a view to securing $100,000, with accumulated interest, held by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario as a surplus due London. Mr. Buchanan will suggest, in line with arrangements made with other Ontario municipalities having such surpluses, that the city's hydro bill be cancelled for a period of five months as between the hydro commission and the local Utilities Commission. That would balance the account, and the money collected as usual during the five months might be applied to any civic work that the Council and Public Utilities Commission might deem necessary.

In this connection it is suggested that the surplus might be appropriated to the building of a new dam across the Thames at Springbank. That sum would practically take care of dam construction and a small deduction from the annual one mill appropriation for parks would take care of the balance.

CREDITED WITH AMOUNT.

Aldermen are convinced that this would be the proper course of action in the matter in that a long-needed public work could be gone ahead with at no increase of taxation.

As the case stands $100,000 is being held by the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario to the credit of the City of London. That amount has not been paid over simply because no civic department has made a demand for it. It is believed, however, that the City Council is becoming interested in the matter and will urge the commission to take immediate steps towards securing it.

DEAL, N. J., Oct. 5.—Miss Cecil Leitch, woman's golf champion of Great Britain, France and Canada, has failed in her quest of the United States championship. She was defeated to-day by Mrs. F. C. Letts, junior, of Chicago, one up at the home green and thus eliminated from the tournament.

DRURY MINISTERS DEFEND THEIR PARTICIPATION IN FEDERAL ELECTION FIGHT

Doherty and Rollo Say It Has Always Been the Practice In the Past.

PORT CREDIT, Ont., Oct. 5.—Hon. Manning Doherty, provincial minister of agriculture, and Hon. Walter Rollo, provincial commissioner of labor, defended the participation of members of the Drury Government in the Federal election campaign in the course of their speeches at a meeting in the interests of Herbert Taylor, U. F. O. candidate, here last night.

Mr. Doherty pointed out that for many years it has been the practice of the Provincial Governments to take part in federal campaigns. While that had been the practice in the past, he doubted if the present Provincial Government would have taken part were it not that there was hardly a meeting held anywhere in the province by Liberals or Conservatives where the administration of the Drury Government was not called into question and subjected to undue criticism.

As a native of the county, he declared he had a right to be present to discuss the situation. The minister of agriculture confined his address entirely to provincial affairs, but the minister of labor dealt chiefly with federal affairs.

Hon. Mr. Rollo made no apology for taking part in a federal campaign, remarking that the only reason he was not a member of the Federal Parliament was that he did not get sufficient votes when he was a candidate in Hamilton. He invited those who tired of the old political parties to join the new party a chance.

INTERESTING DEVELOPMENTS EXPECTED WHEN BEET SUGAR REACHES MARKET THIS WEEK

Will Be Sold For Less Than Nine Dollars Hundred, One Local Grocer States.

Beet sugar grown and refined in this province will be marketed before the end of the week at a price considerably lower than prevailing quotations on the cane product. George Wood, local agent of the Dominion Sugar Company, has already received invoices of shipments which may come any day. While not willing to state the exact price to the retail trade, he made the significant remark that "it will be no higher, anyway."

One of the grocers who has placed his order for a quantity of the new crop of sugar stated that at the rate offered him he would be able to sell the commodity at $8.35. This would represent an initial drop of 40 cents per hundredweight, with the anticipation of further reductions in the near future.

"We have a good average crop of beet sugar, which will equal if not exceed the quality of last year," stated Mr. Wood. "The cost of it will be known as soon as the shipments arrive."

STARTED THE SLUMP

A year ago it was the introduction of beet sugar on to the market that caused the phenomenal slump in the cost of sugar from the peak prices around $22 down to almost half that amount. Competition forced other companies dealing in Cuban cane sugar to adjust their prices accordingly and the consumer was soon given the sweetening product at half the price that had been demanded before that time. The advantages which the Canadian producer has over the American companies are obvious since there are no long freight hauls, no exchange rate and no duties to be added on to the cost.

Mr. Wood intimated that there would not, of course, be the drastic cuts that took place a year ago, because the price was down to a more reasonable basis now. He admitted that the wholesale cost would not be much more than $8 per hundredweight, but pointed out that this was liable to vary either upward or downward after that. At any rate, sugar will not cost the housewife more than the present price of $8.75.

HEAVY INCREASE IN POLICE CASES

Statistical Report Shows Busiest Year On Record.

NO SERIOUS CRIME.

O. T. A. and Motor Vehicle Act Bring Many To Court.

Police court statistics for the year ending September 30 have been prepared by Police Clerk John Moule, to be forwarded to the Dominion Government. Eventually they will form part of the Canadian criminal statistics for the year.

The London report, which is the largest in the history of the court, shows that during the year there were 2,984 summary convictions for unindictable offences and 185 for indictable offences. Juvenile convictions registered totaled 292.

The most common of the indictable offences is theft, of which there were 103 convictions. Of the 185 convictions for indictable offences 174 were men and 11 women. Among the theft cases the largest in point of value of goods stolen and recovered was that in which five women were arrested some months ago charged with shoplifting. They were convicted and sentenced to two years less one day.

In the summary convictions for unindictable offences violations of the Motor Vehicle Act provided the most cases, while violations of the Ontario Temperance Act came second. Drunkenness did not figure so largely as in the year before, which may be taken as an indication of increasing sobriety or increasing difficulty in obtaining the liquor.

C. B. R. E. REFUSES WORKING TERMS

Unanimous Vote In Opposition To Railways' Proposal.

The revised working schedule proposed by the Grand Trunk Railway in respect to certain employees, organized as the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, was turned down decisively at a mass meeting of that organization held in Hyman Hall last night. There was no move toward compromise, the entire schedule being turned down by unanimous vote. From the opening of the meeting the members showed plainly that they were opposed to the proposition of the company and there was but little discussion before the vote.

The schedule was read to the meeting clause by clause by T. Clift, president of the C. B. of R. E., but the members of the brotherhood did not avail themselves of an opportunity to take action on any single clause.

Among the clauses to which most objection was taken were: Restriction on membership in railway organizations which would put certain employees out of the reach of the union; making a working day any eight hours in 12 instead of eight consecutive hours as at present; making the new schedule retroactive to July 16.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

A committee composed of the secretary, president and two representatives of the several departments of the brotherhood were appointed to deal with each clause separately and to make counter proposals. The departments represented are: Freight sheds, freight offices, oilers and firemen employed in roundhouse, coal chute employees, the stores department and the east end yard offices.

When the counter proposals have been drawn up and approved, they will be taken by J. Chick, chairman of the local grievance committee, to Montreal, where they will be laid before the general grievance committee, representing employees in all parts of the country.

W. H. Stewart, provisional secretary of the London branch of the Canadian National Labor Party, addressed the meeting, briefly, asking the members of the brotherhood to stand behind Labor in the coming federal elections. The brotherhood was requested to send delegates to the convention on October 28. The president, in reply, expressed the opinion that the organization would not stand aloof from the new party, despite the treatment that it had received at the hands of the Canadian Trades Congress.

RAMBLING AROUND WITH OLD DOC. PEP

October 5.—Up mighty betimes and to thank heaven that some one thinks of me even if my wife does not. For last night, what with the longest session of the Educating Board that ever was, not home to dinner until after 7 o'clock. And which alarms my Aunt Mary so that she calls my office, thinking some one has murdered me on my velocipede. Which meeting of the educating trustees is a very notable one, for methinks they do more business than has been done in a year almost, despite cries of "bad faith" and other high actions. This "bad faith" cry coming from Master Rowe, who hurls it at the public school committee with regard to buying boilers outside of the city when London men be out of work, and they say naught at him for his charging, hanging their heads utterly. But would heaven other liberal-minded men could see our national, Canadian policy of protection as clearly as they do local protection. For if they did, our N. L. C. Government could begin now appointing new postmasters and not leave it off until after the election.

But the most humorous thing is how a citizen writes this board saying they owe £300 and that he has been cheated out of it. Also saying: "And the most cowardly, dastardly action of this judge is that he dubs me 'non compos mentis,' which is a libel to high heaven, and a murrain on him!" Whereat the board do roar.

And methinks there is a growing up between our college high school, which may be called the great war memorial school, and the technician school a sort of feeling that is not rivalry but a sort of survival of this "white collar" silliness. This in that both schools hold field days, but at different ends of the city and not together. They having two bands and other high actions. A thing we want not, for as fine lads as ever were in the world attend the Collegiate, and St. George knows one finer one goes to the Technical School in that, at least, one Pepys is enrolled there.

And thinking on the "white collar" foolishness, am reminded how the warr changes all that. For three years I stay in the armies of his majesty and they make me no more than an acting bombardier, despite my brains and white collars, while our section commander was a notable blacksmith in Winnipeg. This due, however, to our general's slogan that we go at the Germans "hammer and tongs," and he forthwith uses a blacksmith for his hammering. And he does pretty well, though misdoubting we would have won the warr without the Yang-kees if they had given me due appreciation.

"Scotchman"—Lad, ye should no hurt a man with a letter like yon screed that wraps about a sprig o' the bonnie heather. The heather, the bonnie, bonnie heather, all purple magic at morn's first light! The heather of a thousand memories and a million thoughts. The gray sea battling 'gainst rugged cliffs and the purple stain of it above lochs. The wee cot on the hillside and the sob of pipes in the glens. But above a', the wee mither, who carries the heart of Scotia in her breast and the light of heaven in her eyes. But lad, ye must no be downhearted. This Canada will soon smile under prosperous times and ye'll wonder at the siller and gowd that will come to ye. Remember always: "God loves the Irish—but He helps the Scotch!"

And while the educating board decides to have new teachers examined by chirurgeons before putting them on the school staff, a suggestion is now in order from school-teachers and other citizens that we put the Binet-Simon intelligence tests to trustees and such as would run for the council of trustees.

Considering how chirurgeons of all sorts mostly do hate publicity, come to appreciate a wonderful thing. That is that all our civilization may boast over the ancients is that we have advertising. Nero had fawning parasites, arbiters of elegance, but he did not have a press agency. Hence the coupling with the name of Nero such modern criminals and near-criminals as this "Fat" Arbuckle. The sooner our chirurgeons forsake their medicine-man air of mystery and advertise themselves frankly as: "Dr. Killorcure, I make sick people well and well people glorious," the better for all of us.

A friend submits another time when we feel that life is utterly futile. When we see ourselves as worms on a ball of dust hurtling through the uncharted oceans of eternal space. When we feel that we are no more than the bad dream of some interplanetary madman, or the minute creatures of a milky way microscope. This when we go abroad to the country and to pick mushrooms, picking them by thousands and to return home licking our lips. And no sooner exhibited to our wives than they say: "In heaven's name, John William, take those poison fungi out of the house this minute, the very idea!"

Great good news that plans are now to be drawn for building an audience room and gymnastic apartment at the technician school. For which thank heaven, and also to hope that they put doors to the stage of this proposed auditorium and dressing-rooms. For in so doing that school will be the first in the city to have such a thing. For while other schools have these assembly rooms and stages, they have no doors whatever.

RIVERVIEW MOTHERS' CLUB.

Principal Newhouse Tells of Responsibility of Mothers to Children.

Principal F. J. Newhouse, in a splendid address to the Mothers' Club of Riverview School last evening, eulogized the work and principles of this organization, and urged a still further cooperation between mothers and teachers for the greater good of the child. The speaker pointed out the need for constant progress on the part of the mothers and emphasized their responsibility in placing every possible opportunity for education in the way of their children.

A debate, "Is the child more public than the school?" will be arranged shortly between the Riverview Club and the St. George's Club, Mrs. Alfred Drew (president) and Mrs. T. C. Benson, of the latter club, being guests at last evening's meeting.

The election of Mrs. Cowan, succeeding Mrs. Schott on her resignation of the secretaryship, was one of the business items of the meeting over which Mrs. Charles Walker presided for the first time since her election to the presidency.

The club will give a bazaar this month to raise funds for carrying on necessary relief work in their own district.

SCHOOLS SHOULD BE OPENED MORE

Cost Too Much To Keep Closed So Much.

JANITORS NOT SATISFIED.

Should Be Used For Community Centers.

A community center in every local public school is an ideal which the Boyle Memorial Mothers' Club may seek to realize this winter. At the regular meeting of the club last night it was contended by many of the members that the city schools are too costly institutions to be used for brief periods only and that they are the natural and desirable centers for the life of the different neighborhoods. The proposed reduction of the size of the Board of Education, however, was opposed.

It was pointed out that public schools are scattered throughout the city at strategic points and would make admirable community centers. Considerable money has been invested by the city in educational institutions and ratepayers were not getting value for their money when the buildings were not being used from four in the afternoon till nine the next morning. Two hours at least in the evening could be used to advantage by the residents of the neighborhood in the development of community life.

The only drawback to the plans is the fact that the janitors who work in the day time are not satisfied with the remuneration they receive for their overtime work. It was believed, however, that by closing the meetings at 10 o'clock each night and employing part-time janitors that this difficulty could be readily overcome.

WANT LARGE BOARD

With regard to the Board of Education, the consensus of opinion among the Boyle Memorial mothers was that the present membership was satisfactory, and that a reduction to five members would mean the settling of school matters by a body not sufficiently representative and the placing of too much power in the hands of a few persons.

The club members were warm in their appreciation of the Queen's Park playground conducted so successfully this summer, and passed a standing vote of appreciation to Mr. Buchanan and his co-workers for the excellent results obtained during the summer months.

The decision to return to the original club policy as a nonmoney-making society will be put into effect after the final $500 voted by the union clubs to the Children's Hospital is raised. To bear its share in this final payment, the Boyle Memorial Mothers' Club will hold a bazaar during the autumn, with Mrs. Simmons as convener, assisted by the executive and a number of members.

The appointment of the treasurer, Mrs. Doan, as joint secretary-treasurer, succeeding Mrs. Tennant in the latter office, and the reception of several new members, were items included in the routine business. Visitors from the Tecumseh School club were present, and during the pleasant social hour that succeeded the business session, Mrs. Lloyd contributed several charming solos.

A bright and interesting talk from Mrs. John Rose, union president, on the duties of parents and children, was followed by a suggestion from the speaker that several five-minute papers on various topics of interest to the mothers be given by club members at each meeting, and this suggestion will be followed at the next meeting of the club.

Y. M. C. A. TO ENTERTAIN BYRON, WESTMINSTER

Men In Both Institutions Will Have Weekly "Shows."

Secretary Robert Liddle is to-day visiting Byron Sanatorium and Westminster Hospital in order to make arrangements for the Y. M. C. A. carrying out entertainments for the returned soldier patients there this coming year. The tentative program, which is supplied without charge to the men, includes moving pictures three times each week.

The Red Triangle will be as conspicuous as ever with soldiers and ex-soldiers in the city and district. With the P. P. C. L. I. in Winnipeg there is not the usual number of khaki men to be looked after at the Heights, so that the "Y" will center its work for the most part on bringing pleasure to the veterans who are inmates of the two hospitals located near the city.

A cinematograph machine is now the property of the local association and will be used to advantage practically every day in the week during the coming months. Films which will have a strong appeal to ex-service men have been selected and, subject to approval of the authorities of the D. S. C. R., will be shown at the two institutions. It is understood that one feature film, together with a comic and educational picture, will comprise the usual bill.

Assistance of local concert parties will also be solicited by the Y. M. C. A. in giving the inmates of the institutions the best entertainments possible this fall and winter. The hospitals being situated some distance from the city it is impossible for the patients to get to city theaters for amusements and are thus dependent on the programs which are provided for them by the local "Y." Funds for continuing the military phase of association activities comes from the national council of the "Y" in Toronto. In addition to entertainments the association also makes visitations to the invalided patients and distributes fruit, cigarettes and chocolates amongst them.

PASSER OF BOGUS CHECK ADDICTED TO DRUGS

That he obtained $31.50 through the medium of a bogus check yesterday morning and between that time and last evening when arrested he spent the proceeds on "dope," was the admission made in police court this morning by a well-known local man, who, though still on the sunny side of 30, has an unenviable police record.

There were three charges against the unfortunate. The first was that on September 17 he stole a mirror from the lodgeroom of the Independent Order of Foresters and sold it, the mirror being valued at between $15 and $20. The second charge was that of obtaining $17 and a quantity of goods on October 1 from Louis Boulis.

Yesterday morning he went into a city grocery store and ordered two bags of sugar, saying it was for Dr. Tillman. He tendered a check for $51, purporting to be signed by Dr. Tillman, in payment, and obtained $31.50 change from Mrs. Ivy Leader, the clerk in the store.

The police were at once notified and from the description given by Mrs. Leader soon had their man in custody. When arrested he had no money, and when asked what he had done with the sum he had obtained said he spent it for dope. He repeated his statement in court this morning after he had pleaded guilty to all three charges.

On the request of the crown attorney sentence was deferred for one week and in the meantime the authorities will consider what disposition is best. The young man has long been known to the police as a drug addict and has previously been arrested on similar charges of fraud.

CORN GROWERS OUTCLASS OLD SATAN HIMSELF

Editor Free Press: When I was a small boy my grandfather pictured before me the form of Satan. He said he was a very large black man, with very large horns and a long tail with a big hook at the end, and whenever anyone tells fairy tales Satan would rap his tail around him and drag him to perdition. Well, sir, I read so much in your paper about the Canadian corn and mushroom fabrications that I dreamed a dream, and Satan appeared before me and he said: "My boy, I came here to get you." So I begged for mercy. At last Satan said: "I will grant you three days, and each day you make a wish, and if I can't perform the thing you wish I will give you free." Well, sir, that night I lay thinking, trying to think of something that I thought would be impossible for Satan to perform. Early in the morning comes Satan. Well, sir, I could think of nothing, so Satan and I took a walk to the lake, and you all remember the big mountain on the lake bank. I said, please Satan, remove that mountain and throw it in the middle of the lake. Well, sir, he took and threw it out in the lake as easy as if it had been a goose egg. Well, you may know what effect it had on me. That night I sweat big drops; so next morning here comes Satan again. Well, sir, what I was to wish I could not tell, so Satan and I took another walk, this time through the town park. Of course, you all remember that great oak tree in the center of the park. I said, please, Satan, remove that, oak root and branch, and cast it in the lake on top of the mountain, and he hooked his tail around the oak and walked to the lake and cast it in the middle of the lake on top of the mountain. Well, sir, you may believe me or not, but that night I sweat barrels of sweat. Bright and early he comes again. My, oh my, boys, how I wish you could have seen the smile on his face; he even lit a cigarette and blew the smoke in my face; he was sure of me. Well, boys, I was so weak from sweating that I could not get up. So he said: "Well, my boy, what is your wish this morning?" I said: "Oh, Satan, please give me another day!" He said: "No, sir, I have you now." So I began to think hard and loud, and all of a sudden I thought of the Canadian corn and mushroom growers, and I said: "Oh, please, Satan, tell me a bigger fairy tale than the Canadian corn and mushroom artists can tell." And Satan turned around and wrapped his tail around his body and said: "Oh, my dear boy, that is impossible, you are free!"

RETICENCE OF PREMIER REMARKED BY JOURNALS

LONDON, Oct. 5—(Canadian Press Cable)—"The premier said many things which nobody denies," is the burden of the editorial comment in this morning's newspapers on the speech delivered by Premier Lloyd eGorge at Inverness, Scotland, last night. It is recognized, however, that reticence on the part of the premier was almost inevitable, as the plans of the Cabinet for the handling of the unemployment situation are not yet definitely formulated. Several of the editorials return to a subject which the premier did not directly touch, namely, the number of strikes which intensified the distress now apparent.

USING CHILDREN FOR ADVERTISING

Trustee Rowe Wants Exploitation of Schools Stopped.

WHOLESALE ESSAY WRITING.

Education Being Neglected To Boost Someone's Game.

Trustee Thomas Rowe to-day voiced the majority opinion of the Board of Education that advertising exploitation of the public schools should be stopped at once. The matter came before the board yesterday and was referred to the finance committee with power.

The plan being used generally by certain advertisers, Mr. Rowe pointed out, is the "essay prize" contest. Prizes ranging from $1 to $25 are offered the public school children of London for the best essays on some subject such as "Almond Meal Soap Tablets." The total of prizes offered some 8,000 children does not total more than $50 or $75 in most cases, it is understood. But no other method of advertising yet devised, it is stated, is so calculated to fix the importance of "Japanese Jujubes," for instance, on the plastic child mind. Incidentally some 8,000 homes in the city are filled with a vast longing for these "Jujubes," which, the exploiters assert, give the user immediate knowledge of the Nipponese science of ju-jitsu and hari-kari.

NEGLECT ESSENTIALS.

But meanwhile the astonished pupils neglect such nonessentials as the multiplication table and parsing of sentences. And the teachers, from principal down, are seized with the urge of the wild, the very wildest wild.

The campaign so far, it is stated, has been very insidious and only yesterday did the trustees pause to ask: "Whither are we drifting?" They became so convinced that they were not only drifting, but being carried rapidly by the swift current of a new sort of advertising that they immediately shouted for the life-saving crew, which will be headed by Inspectors Edwards and Greer. Those officials will frown at all such advertising, referring the applicants to the columns of the nearest newspaper.

GOT PLUMP CHICKENS FROM MARKET VENDORS

New Scheme Put In Operation by Smooth Fakir.

While the check artists are busily engaged in the city and elsewhere a new-fangled idea to get value for nothing out of the unsuspecting victim has sprung up.

A very smooth individual, claiming to represent a local grocery concern, approached a farmer on the market on Saturday and, presenting an order supposedly from the firm, picked out several of the farmer's finest looking chickens, stated that they were for an order and asked if the farmer would mind presentnig the bill to the firm for payment.

The bill amounted to $6.40, which, of course, looked like very good business for the farmer, but, when he presented it to the firm, they denied that they had bought any fowl from him or had authorized anyone to purchase it.

About 10 minutes after the farmer had reported the incident to Market Clerk Maker another farmer approached him and told him the same tale, except that the man who succeeded in getting the chickens from him differed in description from the other one, and he bought them for another firm, to the amount of $2.40.

Farmers are warned to beware of unknown persons alleging to represent firms in the city and wishing to purchase anything, unless they first present money for payment.

NO. 15 WINS PARADE PRIZE AT ST. JOHN

Exhibits at First School Fair in Township Hall Considered Good.

ST. JOHN, Oct. 4.—The first school fair held in the town hall here on Tuesday was a splendid success, both from the point of view of exhibits and attendance. The hall was filled to capacity with exhibits entered by the school children from the four school sections adjoining the village, and one of the fair officials expressed the opinion that it was a worthy rival of the London Township fair.

The parade of the children from the four schools made a fine showing. The pupils of No. 15 school carried off premier honors for the parade and No. 11 captured second place.

The exhibits were very fine. The judging was carried out by R. A. Finn, district representative of the department of agriculture, and Miss Christine Welsh. One of the features of the exhibits was the showing of trained animal pets.

The exhibition was so much of a success that it will be an annual fall event and those in charge of the arrangement believe that within a couple of years it will grow to large proportions.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE AND MANUAL TRAINING WANTED

Ealing Mothers' Club Sends Letter to Board of Education.

The Ealing Mothers' Club last night made another bid for the addition of a manual training and domestic science department in the Ealing school, when a letter was drafted to the Board of Education, urging that this matter be given attention.

Fifteen new members were admitted to the club at this meeting, where a record attendance of 60 members was noted. With Mrs. Rake presiding, an attractive program was introduced, including an interesting travel talk from Mrs. Heritage, a past president of the club, on her recent trip to the Pacific coast. A charming reading from Madame Charlotte Fabien delighted the members.

The sum of $15 was voted to the children's hospital, making a total contribution of $35.

CHARGE TRUSTEES WITH BAD FAITH

Trustee Rowe Denounces Letting Boiler Contract Elsewhere.

CIVIC PROTECTION.

Also Raps Principal Mooney For Salary Increase Suggestion.

WHAT THE BOARD DID.

Took the first step towards abandoning the Tecumseh School site for the new high school in view of proposed early extension of Richmond street across the Thames, and thence by Belgrave street to the Base Line road.

Will ask written opinion of the city solicitor on the question of high school and technical fees to county pupils, and hold early special meeting to determine policy.

Inspectors report greatest public and high school enrollment in city's history. Over 8,100 in public schools; over 1,500 in Collegiate Institute and Technical School.

Authorized immediate construction of southeastern public school.

Gave industrial committee authority to prepare plans, estimates and suggest method of financing building of auditorium and gymnasium at the Technical School.

Asked finance committee to consider formation of night public school classes for adolescents without high school entrance standing.

Will formulate definite rules for use of public schools by adult organizations.

Took definite stand on advertising exploitation of public school children and teachers.

Ordered that all teachers coming on schools staff sign yearly contract and submit medical certificate of fitness.

The public school committee of the Board of Education, of which Trustee Harry Hayman is chairman, was yesterday charged with bad faith by Trustee Thomas Rowe, who denounced that committee's action in placing the order for a boiler in Victoria School which, he asserted, was to have been made almost entirely in London, and was referred to them with that understanding, but that the contract was let to outside firms almost entirely, and that the committee in question let the contract without reporting to the board as required by procedure rules.

The boiler in question was actually authorized by the school architect, and was the subject of an inspection trip to Montreal this summer by members of the board. F. E. Leonard & Sons protested the letting of the contract to outside firms, and at the past meeting of the board it was understood that the major portion of the contract was to be let to that company.

Trustee Rowe, by cross-examination of trustees and officials, brought admissions that the contract had been let, that the "buck" had been passed to the architect, and the matter was finally closed by Chairman Coleridge, who ruled the discussion out of order in view of the fact that the contract had been awarded and the boiler installed.

Trustee Eggett replied to Mr. Rowe by stating that the contractor had the final say as to what boiler should be installed unless the board wanted to pay the difference in price, if any, and assume all obligations in the matter. Trustee Hayman did not make any counter reply.

SLOW WORK.

Trustee Rowe also charged Principal Mooney, of the Collegiate Institute, with being dilatory in advertising for teachers in view of Mr. Mooney's report that he had not been able to fill two vacancies on his staff, one in the department of English, another in science. Male teachers were wanted.

Mr. Mooney stated: "I have received 10 applications, of which seven were women and three were men. One (of the men) wrote his application on the back of a loose leaf calendar, one was a specialist with no professional training, the other a retired clergyman." The position pays $2,100 a year.

Mr. Mooney suggested: "As a result of this (advertising) and former experiments it seems that adjustments in salary must be made if the standard of efficiency is to be maintained."

Mr. Rowe took issue with the intimation that the salary question should be again opened and charged that if advertisement had been made earlier there would have been no difficulty in filling the places. "You knew that one of these positions would be vacant early in June, did you not?" asked Mr. Rowe. "It was so intimated to me," Mr. Mooney replied.

Fees came up for considerable discussion, both in the Technical School report and in the Collegiate committee, which met prior to the board. Considerable confusion as to the powers of the board was evident. At Chairman Coleridge's suggestion the board will secure a written legal opinion from the city solicitor and hold a special meeting to decide the matter.

Tenders will be called for the furnishings of the new Collegiate and Victoria School.

NO ESTIMATES.

Trustee Smith's motion that the board prepare estimates for the guidance of the 1922 board was lost.

Grants were made the public schools, high school and Technical School for the annual field days sports. Mrs. Tanner served notice of motion that in future years collegiates and technical schools hold their field day on the same day and on the same grounds.

Public school children will soon have a half week's holidays. Their annual field day will be held at Queen's Park, Wednesday, October 13, which will take a half day. And on Thursday and Friday the annual teachers' institute will be in session giving two more holidays.

Principal Claud Brown reported unmentionable conduct in the grounds of the Aberdeen school in the evenings on the part of certain people. The police will be asked, on the authority of the board, to make a careful inspection and arrests if possible.

That the Separate School Board does not mean to sever its connection with the Board of Education was shown in the fact that Dr. Claude Brown, who has just returned from the West, took his accustomed place at the Board meeting yesterday.

NIGHT CLASSES.

Dr. George Weir, school attendance officer, reported cases of startling ignorance in connection with the issue of work and home permits to adolescents between the ages of 14 and 16. He recommended the formation of high public school classes. The recommendation was referred to the finance committee.

Inspector Edwards reported an unprecedented increase in average attendance in the public schools during September. The average having increased by 483 over 1920.

The Technical school reported a 40 per cent. increase in attendance over 1920, and the night school of the Collegiate showed an increase of nearly 150 per cent.

NAMED TO ATTEND THE GAS HEARING

Westminster Reeve and Deputy Reeves to go to St. Thomas.

Reeve W. E. Grieve and Deputy Reeves John Cousens and Robert Brown were appointed a committee to look after the interests of Westminster Township at the gas hearing to be held before Referee Henderson at St. Thomas on October 24, at a meeting of the Township Council at the county building yesterday afternoon.

It is expected that the referee will set a rate at which the Southern Ontario Gas Company will deliver gas to Westminster Township residents at this hearing. The township offered the company 60c a thousand feet and two cents a thousand for nonpayment of bills, but the company refused to accept this offer, which is an increase of 25 per cent. over the rate chargeable under the franchise.

A subdivision in the county on the edge of the city was approved by the Council on condition that the owner keep the streets in repair.

Messrs. R. Stephens and Morris waited on the Council to ask permission to lay water pipes on Cathcart street from the city limits to the Base Line and along the Base Line to their residences. The request was granted.

Two cases of faulty drains were reported at the meeting, and the Council took action to have these put in good shape as soon as possible.

PHONE TO POLICE ENDS A HOLD-UP

Woman in Wallaceburg Residence Calls the Police

ALLEGED BANDIT CAUGHT

But Not Before He Had Gone Ten Miles on Foot

WALLACEBURG, Oct. 4.—(Special to The Free Press.)—Pursuit started as a result of an appeal from a woman, ended up to-day in the capture of Garfield Light, aged 22, of Chatham, by Chief of Police Hector McIntosh. Light, it is charged, entered the home of and tried to hold up Mrs. Jarvis, wife of the local manager of the Bank of Montreal.

The prisoner, it is stated, boldly entered Mrs. Jarvis' home about 10 o'clock this morning. He did not, apparently, figure on much opposition, and did not take into consideration there was another woman in the house. Just after he got in the telephone was used to advantage and the police help summoned. Light took fright and made his escape from the house on foot.

It was difficult to trace exactly the direction taken by the alleged hold-up man, even though a description of him had been furnished. Chief McIntosh, however, with assistance, finally located Light about 10 miles from Wallaceburg in a shack on the road to Chatham.

Nothing was taken from the Jarvis home.

THANKS PUNJAB MOSLEMS.

Viceroy Pleased Over Their Refusal to Join in Boycott of Prince's Visit.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Addressing a deputation representing Punjab Moslems, the Earl of Reading, viceroy of India, expressed gratification at their plans to welcome the Prince of Wales, whose visit the supporters of Gandi's non-co-operative movement are being exhorted to boycott. He noted the deputation's dissociation from this movement.

Referring to the recent establishment by the imperial conference of full status of Indians in the Empire, he regretted deeply that South Africa was unable to accept the resolution favoring equal status, but recognized that there were special difficulties in her case.

Nevertheless, he would strive to obtain the desired recognition.

DUNCAN ROSS IS GROWING ANXIOUS

Confers With F. F. Pardee on W. Middlesex Situation.

J. C. ELLIOTT MAY RUN.

Doubted That He Is Ineligible As U. F. O. Nominee, as Stated.

F. F. Pardee, M. P. for West Lambton, who has been assisting at Liberal conventions and other meetings in Western Ontario, was in the city yesterday and met local leaders. Mayor Little reported the situation as "more cheerful," and said that Mr. Somerville, party nominee for the London seat, was "working all the time."

Mr. Pardee has been in conference in West Middlesex with Duncan C. Ross, the present member, who is understood to be somewhat apprehensive as to his chances in what is apparently to be a three-cornered fight.

J. C. Elliott, K. C., former M. P. P. for the west riding, is said to be still a possibility as nominee of the Farmers' party. It was recently stated that he was ineligible because he is not yet six months a member of the U. F. O., but it is pointed out that farmer conventions elsewhere have balloted on proposed candidates who do not even belong to the U. F. O. or even to the I. L. P. The interest of the situation lies in the fact that Hr. Ross would not oppose Mr. Elliott should he be chosen.

AUSTRALIA UNABLE TO ABSORB 100,000 YEARLY

Premier Hughes Says to Send That Many to Antipodes Would be Folly.

LONDON, Oct. 4. — A Reuter cable from Melbourne says that Premier Hughes, referring to an interview with the Australian emigration agent, cabled from London, who is alleged to have recommended the dispatch of 100,000 emigrants yearly to Australia from the British Isles, says it would be folly to pour such a population into Australia until adequate arrangements have been made for making them wealth producers.

Premier Hughes thinks the figures quoted is absurd. In his view the practical position is that from 12,000 to 20,000 might safely be sent out this year.

An Election Expense

MONTREAL, Oct. 4.—Louis Rochfort, a candidate for the mayoralty, has just received his third summons for speeding within the vicinity of the city hall. Mr. Rochfort to-day remarked that it was a curious coincidence, because he had never received a summons until he had announced his intention of running for the mayoralty.

NONJURY COURT LASTS ONE DAY

Only One Case Goes to Hearing and That Adjourned.

McCLUSKEY VS. VULCAN CO.

Plaintiff Asks $750 for the Sale of Stock.

The Middlesex nonjury sitting of the county court, which opened yesterday morning before County Judge Macbeth, proved a very short session indeed. Only one action came up for hearing. Two other cases were postponed until the next regular or special sitting of the court.

The action brought by Watson McCluskey against the Vulcan Company, Limited, was not completed. During the progress of the case the defendants asked leave to amend their statement of defense and in order to give the plaintiff an opportunity to bring forward evidence to set against the amended defense, the case was adjourned until Monday next. When the motion to amend was made, the plaintiff's counsel pointed out that they were not prepared for this contingency. Judge Macbeth decided, however, that all the evidence should be taken.

The plaintiff claims that he is entitled to $750 commission for the sale of stock in the defendant company. This commission he says is due him on the sale of 50 shares of stock at $100 a share at 15 per cent. The defendants claim that he was only to receive 10 per cent. for stock sales, and that the sale on which he claims commission has never been completed.

During the taking of the evidence Judge Macbeth made the comment that the affairs of the defendant company appeared to have been conducted on very irregular lines.

INTERESTING PAPER READ.

United Thanksgiving Services to Be Held.

LISTOWEL, Oct. 4.—The Ministerial Association held the first meeting of the season here last evening. The meeting was well attended by the local clergy and also by visiting clergy. Rev. Dr. Hazen occupied the chair. After the reading and adopting of the minutes the usual business was conducted. The election of officers took place during the evening, which resulted in Rev. B. Davies being elected president and Ensign Stevens secretary. Rev. W. H. Dunbar, rector of Christ Church, read a paper, in which he dealt with "Conservation and Sanctification." The paper caused much favorable comment and evoked a very helpful discussion. Expressions of sympathy were extended to Rev. M. L. Wing on account of his recent breavement. A resolution of appreciation of fellowship and service was passed to Rev. Mr. MacKenzie, who was leaving his pastorate to take up work in connection with the Lord's Day Alliance.

Arrangements were made for a united thanksgiving service in one of the largest churches on Thanksgiving Day.

A 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent to show you how to end film. See below.

Five Quick Effects

When you brush teeth in this way

This new way of tooth brushing brings five desired effects. Some are immediate, all are quick. A ten-day test, which costs you nothing, will clearly show you what they mean to you.

Leading dentists everywhere advise this new-day method. Millions now employ it. You see the results in glistening teeth wherever people gather. Now let your own teeth show them.

You must fight film

Brushing does not save the teeth if you leave the film. That's why well-brushed teeth so often discolor and decay.

Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not end it, so very few people have escaped its damage.

It is the film-coat that discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. So dental science has in late years sought ways to fight that film.

Scientific methods

Efficient methods have been found. Able authorities have proved them by many careful tests. The best dental opinion endorses them.

These methods are combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And to let all know its benefits a 10-Day Tube is being sent to everyone who asks.

A 10-day test is free

Pepsodent quickly proves itself. The results are unique and conspicuous. And a book we send tells what each one means.

One ingredient is pepsin. Another multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits that cling. The saliva's alkalinity is multiplied also. That to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Two factors directly attack the film. One of them keeps teeth so highly polished that film cannot easily adhere.

Pepsodent, twice daily, attacks the teeth's chief enemies.

Send the coupon for this 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

The results in ten days will amaze and delight you. Make this test now. Cut out the coupon so you won't forget.

WILL MOVE FOR SMALLER BOARDS

London School Trustees to Seek Provincial Legislation.

ASK ASSOCIATION'S AID.

Urge Local Option in the Matter of Size.

Reduction of the size of boards of education will probably become a matter of general provincial interest, owing to yesterday's action of the London Board of Education, which instructed its representatives to the Urban Trustees' Association of Ontario to urge that body, which meets this month, to consider the advisability of asking special legislation.

Such legislation, if secured, would probably be in the local option form, under which cities of certain size might have a board of trustees of from five to twelve members.

THE PROPOSERS.

The action of the London Board of Education was taken at the suggestion of Trustee Thomas Rowe in the course of discussing Trustee Edwin Smith's motion that the local board be reduced from 14 members to a board that would consist of four public school trustees, one separate school trustee and the mayor of London; two public school trustees to be elected each year. He asked, if the board approved, that the resolution be sent to the City Council for embodiment in the City of London bill.

And while the trustees were unanimously agreed that the reduction of the size of the board was essential to efficient administration it was decided to lay the matter over until after the urban trustees take action and also to give the trustees more time to consider the matter.

The motion was accordingly laid on the table and there is a possibility that a small committee of the trustees will be appointed to study the subject, consult the city solicitor and make a final considered report on the proposition, suggesting a definite course of action.

IS ACQUITTED ON HOLD-UP CHARGE

Stratford Youth Freed by Judge Barron.

STRATFORD, Oct. 4.—Charles Edward Smith, aged 19, who was charged with holding up and robbing Earl Dennison, 377 Albert street, at the corner of Wellington and St. David streets on the night of August 8, was acquitted by Judge Barron in criminal court here this morning. The case devolved into a question of identity, and the crown, represented by G. G. McPherson, K. C., did not press for a conviction. Mr. John Murray, of Riddell & Murray, defended.

About 10 minutes sufficed to dispose of the docket, for the time being anyway, of the nonjury sittings of the County court before the judge this afternoon. There were seven cases on the docket; two were settled and five postponed to dates to be set.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION IN SCHOOLS IS URGED

Board of Church of England in Canada Favors Action Under the Present Laws.

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—Efforts to have the teaching of the Bible and religious education made general throughout the public schools of Canada will be made by the general board of religious education of the Church of England in Canada, which met here to-day. Members of the board took the stand that the Protestant ministers should avail themselves of the privilege allowed under the provincial statute, which sets aside a limited time per week for religious teaching.

"We have developed our educational system largely on the assumption that religion either has no place in it or it has, that it belongs to a sphere different and distinct from that of general education," stated Rev. R. A. Hiltz, general secretary for religious education of the Anglican church.

With the exception of the Jewish and Roman Catholic faith the religious education of the average boy and girl was confined to the half-hour a week or so provided by the Sunday school. The time has come for the church to make a concerted effort to overcome this defect.

INDIAN AGITATOR TRIES NEW PLAN

Starts Meetings at Which Government Is Condemned

GANDHI STILL ACTIVE

Hopes to Induce Native Police to Resign

LONDON, Oct. 4.—A Reuter cable from Bombay says the arrest of the Ali brothers and other agitators against the Government has apparently aroused little excitement outwardly.

Meantime, Gandhi maintains that the alleged offense of the Ali brothers is nothing new, and says he intends to persuade the Sepoys and police to resign as soon as he is convinced that they are able to support themselves by the spinning-wheel.

The program of the agitators at present is apparently to challenge the Government by organizing meetings at which resolutions containing charges against the Government will be adopted. Such meetings have already been held at Cawnpore and Nagpur.

APPLY THE TORCH.

CALICUT, British India, Oct. 4.—An official statement issued to-day says the refugees report that 50 Hindu houses in Thuvur have been burned by rebellious tribesmen, and the heads of 34 Hindus and two Moplahs severed and thrown into a well. The two Moplahs were beheaded for helping the British troops, the refugees say.

YOUTH ACQUITTED ON MURDER COUNT

Dickenson Found Not Guilty at Hamilton of Dr. Whitworth's Death

PLACES BLAME ON MEHARG

Latter, Former Elgin Lad, Now to Face Charge

HAMILTON, Oct. 4.—Edward Dickenson was acquitted this afternoon on the charge of murdering Dr. E. J. Whitworth, of Bimbrook, Ont., on December 23. The prisoner was not freed, but held on a charge of robbery in connection with the case.

When the verdict was announced two spectators, Ernest Higman and Robert Mantour, applauded and cried out in court. Chief Justice Mulock instructed that the men be brought before him, and when they admitted their guilt they were sent to jail until the conclusion of the present assize court. Their outburst will cause them about two weeks in jail.

Wilfred Maharg will now be tried on a charge of murdering Dr. Whitworth.

The story was retold to-day of how Dickenson, Meharg and three other men, Martin, Spaulding and Horning drove to Bimbrook in a car stolen in Hamilton.

ROBBERY ATTEMPT.

According to Detective Goodman, Dickenson, after his arrest, made a confession, in which he stated they stopped to buy gasoline. Dickenson, who entered the store with Meharg, said he was ordered by the latter to rob the till when Dr. Whitworth, the veterinary surgeon, who was in charge of the store, turned his back.

Dickenson told of Whitmorth grappling with him and then declared that Meharg fired the shots.

They fled to the waiting car and drove to Brantford, dividing the loot on the way. Dickenson said Meharg threatened to get anyone who did not keep his mouth shut. Leo Haley, the farmer from whose home the men telephoned to Hamilton for a taxi, after abandoning the stolen car at Brantford, also testified.

The defense questioned Provincial Detective Miller as to Dickenson's age. The detective said he could not say that Dickenson was more than 18, although he knew that the prisoner had a wife and three children. The defense offered character evidence, but did not place Dickenson on the stand.

SEEKING MEANS TO IMPROVE AGRICULTURE

British Minister Tells of Government's Plans to Assist Them on the Land.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Rt. Hon. Sir A. Griffith-Boscawen, minister of agriculture, announces that although the Government has abandoned the policy of guaranteed prices and control of cultivation, they are determined to pursue the policy of education and research as the most permanent method of improving agriculture.

The announcement was made to the English Council of Agriculture, who required definite assurance of frank consultation whenever any important issue developed. The council also asked that provision be made for loan advances to working farmers who had recently purchased their holdings similar to those granted to small holders.

WINDSOR BABE HIT BY AUTO; SKULL FRACTURED

WINDSOR, Oct. 4.—Rudolph Stillman, two years old, of 952 Langlois avenue, is in a critical condition at Hotel Dieu as the result of being struck this afternoon by an auto driven by A. O. Suprenant, of 237 Sandwich street. The accident happened in front of the child's home. His skull is fractured.

According to witnesses, the little boy ran from behind a truck directly into the path of Suprenant's car, which was proceeding at a moderate speed.

The driver ran his auto into a fence on the opposite side of the street in an effort to avoid striking the child.

WIFE'S FUR COAT BAGGED BY THE GAME WARDEN

WINDSOR, Ont., Oct. 4. — Harvey Field, a farmer, living on Tecumseh road, near Windsor, started last fall to get his wife a fur coat. He bagged six raccoons and hid their pelts away.

A few days ago he started out with his trusty gun again, but while wandering through the fields happened to explain his mission to a stranger. The stranger was the game warden, and Field was notified to appear in Windsor police court.

The six coon skins that were to have been Mrs. Field's winter coat have passed into the game warden's possession. Field claimed ignorance of the ban on raccoons.

Dress From 1885 Fashions

11

MODEL NO. 11 is surely ready for Jack Frost with her luxurious coat of Hudson seal and sable. The only thing that will induce her to unfold from her cosy nest will be to display her pretty gown of black canton crepe trimmed with milk-white beads. She loves the way the white silk lining of her skirt panels is displayed when she moves. And she is a constant reminder that glycerined goose feathers are the latest thing, for her hat is from Gage.

12

THE GRACIOUS LADY who comes in wearing a modest street dress of navy tricotine, with touches of embroidery in silk and iridescent, with touches of embroidery famous French milliner, Clarice, whose hat of black hatter's plush takes for trimming glycerined vulture feathers, curving gracefully away from her face and falling to either side below the brim.

13

JADE GREEN must be a popular color, for it appears again as bead trimming on the navy tricotine street dress worn by the thirteenth mannequin. And what could be more charming than the large sailor hat of navy hatter's plush, across the front of which a flat ostrich quill is splashed.

14

THE APPROACH of another lady brings into view a marvelous Hudson seal coat with wide collar and cuffs of Alaska sable. And when she throws it aside, behold! a lovely gown of black canton crepe; the skirt falling in a loose panel at front, is a mass of beautiful jet and cut steel bead embroidery.

15

A SMART SUIT of French blue velour with beaver collar next appears, worn by a charming lady who carries a beaver muff to match. The heavy black silk embroidery on the skirt of the coat is an effective touch.

16

BUT WHO wouldn't envy the next model with her coat dress of military derivation? The cape, for it has a cape, is attached to the shoulders with gunmetal buttons, and is of the same material as the underdress of navy poiret twill; gray silk Japanese embroidery adorns collar and cuffs.

17

MANNEQUIN NO. 17 is seen in deepest mourning. But she hasn't forgotten her appearance in her sadness. Although her long-veiled hat hints of the old-fashioned mourning headwear, it was designed by Gainsborough, who knew what was fitting. Underneath the French seal coat which she wears is an exquisite gown of half-finish canton crepe, and in her hand she carries a crepe and silk novelty bag, all black.

18

CHINESE EMBROIDERY in a riot of gorgeous colors is being shown on many of the gowns, not the least effective of which is the navy tricotine two-piece costume, worn next, where the oriental embroidery is carried out in chenile, both on coat and dress.

19

MIDNIGHT BLUE canton crepe with satin finish is the material used for the gown to be seen on this model. Here the Mohawk shade of red is again introduced to cover the skirt with heavy embroidery and for facings of georgette.

20

LOVELY BEYOND belief is Havana brown georgette, when it veils the same material in a deep nasturtium shade, to produce the twentieth gown displayed. And to still further enhance its beauty, a clever designer has used bronze and Chinese red beads on pointed overskirt, bodice and sleeves.

21

SOON, IN WALKS she who wears a gown of black, satin-faced, canton crepe, rich in its bandings of silver Chinese embroidery and suggestive of the East with its wide mandarin sleeves. But all this is concealed until the lady removes her loose llama cloth coat, the shade of which matches a wide beaver collar. Her hat is a tricorn of brown hackle-feathers with flame feather crown.

22

WITH A NAVY tricotine street costume, characterized by brilliant bead embroidery in royal blue and fusia shades, the next mannequin wears a small hat of silk duvetyn in a henna shade, with flowing nigger brown veil.

23

IRIDESCENT BUGLE BEADS trim this dress of navy tricotine, which boasts collar, cuffs and sash of cire ribbon. The lady who wears it knows that she is well dressed, and is satisfied that her hat is a Queen model.

24

ONE WOULD HARDLY imagine that the heavy Pekin blue Normandy wrap which now appears conceals a fairy-like dance frock of pink taffeta, finely embroidered in silver thread, with touches of silver lace on sleeves and neck and French flowers at the girdle.

25

WHEN THE GOWN of African brown canton crepe with its many-colored Oriental embroidery comes on to the stage, it attracts every eye. And lovely, too, is the Hudson seal coat with a lining which shows huge poppies on a background of blue. The model wears it because she admires the deep shawl collar and cuffs of gray squirrel.

26

SOMETHING NEW, depending altogether on its perfect lines, is the gown of navy satin-finish canton crepe, which now appears. It is designed to show both the satin and dull finish of the material, and is absolutely devoid of trimming.

27

BLACK HATTER'S PLUSH was used for the turban which sits so becomingly on the head of this lady. Glycerined ostrich feathers from the crown and mount. With it is worn a gown of black canton crepe, trimmed with pearl gray Chinese embroidery. A pleated skirt is a feature of the costume.

28

A SUIT AGAIN appears in the fashion show of ensign blue with touches of iridescent beading and Australian opossum collar. And the hat worn with it bears the stamp of Clarice.

NOTE.—All models presented at this show are selected from our stock of ready-to-wear, and these or similar garments may be seen on the Second Floor.

LONDON'S HYDRO HAS BIG SURPLUS

Leads the 300 Municipalities In Hydro Zone.

TORONTO AWAY DOWN.

Ten Times London's Size, But Makes Poor Showing.

London's hydro system shows the largest surplus of any of the more than 300 municipalities now in the hydro zone up to the end of 1920. Even Toronto, with more than 10 times the population of London, has only a surplus of but little more than half the amount credited to London. London's surplus, as shown in a report published by the provincial commission, is $386,876.78, while Toronto has only $221,073.23 in its surplus account. These include the total surpluses earned since the inauguration of hydro service in these cities.

London has total assets in hydro amounting to $2,761,966.54. This includes the investment in the local plants and lines and the city's proportion of the provincial distribution system and power plants. The city's entire liabilities are only $1,735,815.10, including $748,411.80, which represents the city's portion of the unpaid debentures issued by the province for hydro development and construction. The total reserves and surpluses held by London amount to $1,026,154.44.

The gross assets of the province in the hydro system are given as $73,052,213.70, while the total expenditures have been $59,362,017.20, thus leaving a total surplus of $13,690,196.50.

Philip Pocock, who has been a member of the London Public Utilities Commission since the advent of hydro, points out that London has no reason to regret being one of the first 12 municipalities to exploit water water.

MEN'S CLUB ELECT NEW PRESIDENT

Annual Meeting of St. Matthew's Church Men Shows Association Making Fine Progress.

T. H. Holmes was elected president of the Men's Club of St. Matthew's Church last night at the annual meeting of the club. Rev. H. B. Ashby was chosen honorary president. John Berins was elected vice-president and H. S. H. Burton was re-elected secretary-treasurer by acclamation.

The retiring secretary presented a report which showed the club to be in a flourishing condition, financially and otherwise. During the last season, by the purchase of additional property, the club was enabled to make four of the best bowling greens in the city.

It was also through the efforts of the club that a rectory was purchased for the church. Two houses west of the church were purchased and one has been remodeled for the rectory, while the other one is being made over for a parish hall. The official opening of this hall will be held shortly.

A committee consisting of John Madden, Dan Stallard, John E. Hitchens and William Casson was appointed to map out a program for the winter. It is intended to pay particular attention to carpet ball this winter. One feature of the meeting this season will be the five-minute addresses to be given by various members of the club. The first of these will be given at the opening session for the season on Tuesday night next. Refreshments will be served on this occasion. The club is looking forward to a good season.

CARRYING THE GOSPEL TO THE LUMBER CAMPS

London Responds Generously to Appeal for Shantymen.

The appeal being made locally on behalf of the Shantymen's Christian Association is meeting with a satisfactory response to Rev. Thomas Joplin. A large number of citizens have been canvassed and very few have failed to measure up to their donations of other years, while others have seen fit to give substantial increases.

It is impossible to conduct a thorough canvass of the city, however, and Mr. Joblin would be glad to receive any subscriptions to the worthy work he represents, through the agency of the Y. M. C. A. Large amounts are not asked for, but every individual who realizes the need of spreading the Gospel to the lumber men in the Canadian north woods, is asked to do his bit towards realizing the money objective.

Seven thousand camps are touched each year by the officials of the S. C. A., and a total of 55,000 men are reached and ministered to. Due to lack of money, the missionaries, who charge the lumbermen nothing, are unable to come in touch with thousands of other men throughout the camps. One of the interesting facts regarding the men is that 90 per cent. of them are total prohibitionists and were so before the prohibitory enactment was passed in this province. Moreover, none of them have any sympathy with the "reds."

BURIED TO-DAY.—The funeral of Joseph Newman, formerly an inmate of the Aged People's Home, who died on Monday in Victoria Hospital, was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock to Woodland Cemetery, under the direction of the I. O. F. Services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Crummer, of Thorndale, chaplain of Eureka Lodge, No. 30, I. O. O. F., at 2.30.

LATE DAVID COLLINS HANNAH. — The funeral of David Collins Hannah, who died on Monday, will be held from his family residence, 791 Richmond street, on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Stirling, of the First Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. J. Edmunds, at 2.30.

Dr. Rankin To Try Again In Perth—Burt Confirmed As Candidate At Brantford—Farmers Active In Quebec.

PERTH S.—Government, Dr. M. Steele, M. P.

H. R. ROSS CHOSEN.

NEEPAWA, Man., Oct. 5. — Hugh Robert Ross, insurance agent, MacGregor, Man., was last night nominated as the Government candidate for the federal constituency of Neepawa at a convention of supporters of the National Liberal and Conservative party.

EAST SIMCOE FARMERS.

MIDLAND, Oct. 5.—At a joint convention of Farmer, Labor and Soldier organizations to-day Thomas Swindle, of North Orillia, was chosen as their candidate in the federal riding of East Simcoe.

TOLMIE FOR BRUCE?

PORT ELGIN, Oct. 5.—At an organization meeting of North Bruce U. F. O. here yesterday the matter of a candidate was considered, and it was believed that the executive would be asked to recommend R. E. Stacey, of Amabel, who was placed in nomination a year or so ago. When the nominating convention is held it is believed Stacey's nomination will be confirmed.

The situation in the riding has a variety of possibilities. Hugh Clark, M. P., will be Government candidate again and considers his chances good in a three-cornered fight. The latest rumor is that Major Tolmie, of Windsor, will return to his home county of Bruce and run as Liberal candidate against Hugh Clark. This cannot be confirmed. Other names suggested in the Liberal camp include W. H. Cameron and Alex. McCannell, of Saugeen.

FARMERS IN QUEBEC.

MONTREAL, Oct. 5.—A farmers' movement is well under way in this province, not so much along the lines of similar organizations in Ontario and the Western Provinces as a form of protest against "silk hat conventions" and "imposed candidates."

In the division of Two Mountains-Laveille, P. Fortier, member for St. Scholastique, has been appointed by the farmers to contest the seat at the forthcoming federal elections. In the adjoining division of Terre Bonne County, where there are two candidates, Hon. Andre Fauteaux, solicitor-general, for the Government, and J. E. Provost, Liberal candidate, a movement to select a farmers' candidate is making progress. In the division of Chateaugay-Huntingdon a meeting was held at Ormstown last week, at which a farmers' candidate was favored. A considerable sum was collected at this meeting for expenses.

It is no secret that Armand Lavergne, the well-known Nationalist, is going to throw in his lot with the farmer movement for the elections and it is said he will likely launch the new party at Quebec shortly, with himself as candidate there.

PREMIER AT YARMOUTH.

YARMOUTH, N. S., Oct. 5.—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen motored 65 miles from Digby to address a large gathering in this town in support of Hon. E. K. Spinney, minister without portfolio. The prime minister arrived at 8 o'clock and had to leave at 9.30 and was the only speaker. The opera house was crowded.

Mr. Meighen devoted his whole address to the fiscal issue. In his explanation of the Liberal attitude on the tariff, he said that the electors, in supporting Mr. King, had to choose between free trade and dishonesty. If the Liberals gave effect to their official platform it meant free trade for Canada and if they did not they were dishonest. The Liberal fiscal policy, he claimed, was free trade on the prairies and a repudiation of their platform in industrial centers.

Again, the premier warned his audience of the danger of fiscal agreements with the United States, and referred to Hon. W. S. Fielding's "observance" on reciprocity.

Previous to the meeting the premier visited the local Great War Veterans' Association, at their request. He assured them of the sympathy and support of the Government. They gave him a very hearty reception.

CANNOT SUPPORT LIBERAL

BRANTFORD, Oct. 4.—(Special to The Free Press.)—The Expositor (Liberal,) to-night says:

"For the first time in its history, The Expositor seems destined to occupy an entirely independent position in a political general election. This decision has not been arrived at because the Expositor has no opposition in this newspaper field, and therefore finds a straddle-the-fence position to be the easiest one. Nor is it due to the fact that in principle it is any less Liberal to-day than it has been in the past. It has been compelled by reason of the shape the present contest has assumed and by the fact that while Liberal in its sympathies, this paper does not feel called upon to blindly follow its party when the latter adopts a course which it cannot conscientiously follow.

HITS AT INDUSTRY.

"It was by unwillingness which led it to forsake Sir Wilfred Laurier on the conscription issue, and it is this unwillingness which leads it to withhold support from the Liberal platform of to-day when that platform contains a clause which is in the nature of an axe laid at the roots of certain industries in which its home city is vitally interested.

"On the other hand, there are reasons which debar The Expositor from placing itself in the Conservative campaign. Of these is its tradition liberalism, and another that it is not prepared to support a policy of undiluted or undefined protection. It does not intend, however, to remain a silent spectator of the passing show, but will feel free at all times to speak its mind freely. Always however, from an independent rather than a partisan point of view."

DR. RANKIN WILL TRY AGAIN

STRATFORD, Oct. 4. — Dr. J. P. Rankin was the choice of the Liberals of North Perth at their convention at Milverton this afternoon. Though 13 names went before the meeting there was no effort to cause a contest. Mayor A. E. Malcolm, of Listowel, and F. Wellington Hay, M. P. P., also of Listowel, were the only nominees who might have sought the honor, but as candidate after candidate retired and expressed a desire for Dr. Rankin to again carry the Liberal banner the boom for a "northern" candidate faded and the veteran Stratford physician was given the nomination which he accepted. His nomination was moved by Reeve Robert Armstrong, of Ellice, and seconded by A. Collett, of Stratford.

The nominees were Dr. Rankin, F. W. Hay, Mayor A. E. Malcolm, Listowel, Alderman Tom Brown, Ex-Mayor John Stevenson, Stratford; Mrs. Dr. Foster, Listowel; Ex-Warden J. M. McCallum, North Easthope; Dr. Lorne Robinson, Stratford; Reeve Robt. Armstrong, Ellice; W. D. Weir, Milverton; Miss Kate McCallum, North Easthope; D. A. McLachlin, Stratford and R. A. Climie, Listowel.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The convention was presided over by Dr. P. F. Quinlan, of Stratford. The officers were re-elected by acclamation: President, Dr. Quinlan; vice-presidents, Mrs. R. J. Easson, Stratford, and Dr. Foster, Listowel; secretary, Mayor Gregory, Stratford; assistant secretary, Miss Gertrude Rankin, Stratford; treasurer, John Brown, Stratford. Ald. Tom Brown and Mrs. John Stevenson are the Stratford vice-presidents.

A resolution of condolence was passed to the family of the late Valentine Stock, ex-M. P. P., of Tavistock. There were no resolutions on policy or leadership.

Mr. Hay paid his respects to the United Farmers" sharply criticizing the political picnic policy of the U. F. O. cabinet members.

MR. PARDEE.

F. F. Pardee, M. P., of Sarnia, who motored over from London with Mayor Little was the chief speaker. He accused the Conservatives of having within one year of attaining office in 1911, incorporated in their tariff policy every plank in the reciprocity policy which they had by a flag-waving campaign, defeated the Laurier Government.

APPROVE CHOICE OF A. W. BURT

BRANTFORD, Oct. 4.—A joint conference of the U. F. O., of Brantford riding, and the Brantford branch of the Provincial Independent Labor party, was held here to-night. Twenty delegates from each were in attendance. Only one name was placed in nomination, that of A. W. Burt, of the Brantford Collegiate teaching staff, and his nomination was unanimously approved.

ASK MacDONALD TO RUN

BRANTFORD, Oct. 4.—The returned soldiers of the city, it was learned to-day, have approached Mr. Ross McDonald, a return officer, barrister and treasurer of the Brantford Reform Association, and have asked him to stand in the coming Federal election.

Mr. MacDonald, although assured of hearty support from the veterans, declined to commit himself, stating that he would give the matter his close attention.

KING TALKING IN EAST

KENTVILLE, N. S., Oct. 4. — (By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—In 1911, after 15 years of Liberal administration, the Conservative party, then in opposition, stumped this country with the slogan, "Let Well Enough Alone," declared Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party, in his speech here to-night.

"Can you find to-day, after 10 years of Tory rule, one person who will say that?" he asked.

"The cry to-day from one end of the country to the other is, 'Give us a change and get rid for all time of this Government which has increased our debt, our taxes and our expenditure.'"

The premier, said Mr. King, had charged the Liberals with avoiding the tariff issue by talking about railways and other matters. Mr. Meighen, declared the Liberal leader, has not refuted any of the charges of autocracy and extravagance made and "I challenge him to do so."

The Liberal leader charged that the Government refused to practice economy and continued to make large expenditures on army, navy and air services while the cost of living continued to soar.

William Duff, M. P., Lunenburg, and Dr. H. S. Beland, also addressed the meeting.

THRE EIN NORTH WATERLOO

KITCHENER, Oct. 4.—Arrangements are being made by supporters of the Meighen Government in North Waterloo for a convention during the latter part of next week, at which a candidate will be placed in the field.

A meeting of representatives has been called for to-morrow to complete the details of the convention, which promises to be one of the biggest and most representative of its kind ever held in this riding.

The tariff issue is already being widely discussed in this industrial riding, and in view of the U. F. O.-I. L. P. and Independent Liberal candidates being practically in the field, North Waterloo will be the center of a contest on the fiscal issue.

It is likely that there will be a contest in the convention for the candidature, as several leading protectionists are being mentioned as possibilities.

MR. GOOD RENOMINATED

BRANTFORD, Oct. 4.—W. C. Good, B. A., of Brantford Township, was this afternoon renominated as the U. F. O. candidate for the riding of Brant in the coming federal elections.

Mr. Good was nominated two years, but he asked that his name go before the Farmer delegates again. This was done, and although Reeve Eddy, of Burford, led him a stiff fight in the primary balloting, Mr. Good finally secured a unanimous standing vote.

In his nomination address Mr. Good called for a clean fight.

Manager Beard, of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, announces that arrangements have been made with the Royal Bank of Canada, whereby that bank will act as collection agents of the company and that any branch of the Royal Bank will accept payment of telephone bills. This convenience will be appreciated by telephone subscribers, as it will afford increased facilities for convenient payment of their bills.

Payment through the branches of the Royal Bank, Richmond street, Richmond and Piccadilly, East London branch, Dundas street and Hamilton road branch will not entail any extra charge to subscribers. f

A Gentle Way to End Corns

The Modern Method—Scientific, Easy, Quick and Sure

THE old corn enders were harsh, crude and uncertain. They came into disrepute.

Then a world-famed laboratory created a new method, and millions have adopted it.

The new way is Blue-jay—liquid or plaster. One applies it by a touch. The pain stops instantly, and soon the whole corn loosens and comes out.

To pare a corn and keep it now is folly. Stop it the moment it appears. Remove it in this gentle way.

Watch one corn go when Blue-jay is applied. You will let it deal with all corns after that.

Send to the drug store now.

TEACHERS MEET HERE NEXT WEEK

Association's Annual Session At the Normal School.

NOTED SPEAKERS HERE.

Attractive Program Prepared For Two-Day Meeting.

The London Teachers' Association will hold its annual session at the Normal School on October 13 and 14. Programs of the sessions made public to-day show a lengthy list of distinguished speakers and a schedule of subjects for discussion that will challenge the deepest thinkers among provincial educators.

Rudolph Pintner, M.A., Ph.D., of Columbia University, will discuss on Friday the use of combined mental-educational tests. The subject will deal with the spread of Binet-Simon and other intelligence tests as opposed to set examinations. Dr. Pintner will touch a new field in suggesting the combination of standard tests and the newer measures of human mental development. Dr. Pintner will also discuss the problem of the bright child. This lecture will be of particular interest in view of the fact that an auxiliary class for gifted pupils will be formed in London at an early date.

Prof. James A. Spencely is scheduled for an address on "Our Mother Tongue and Some of Its Ways."

Ed. E. Read, Manager of the London Life Insurance Company, will give an address on Thursday dealing with religious education in the schools.

Principal W. H. T. Mooney will give an address on the new high school curriculum.

The Victoria School choir will give a short concert and show how music may be developed in a public school.

Officers of the association this year are: Alex. MacQueen, president; G. A. Wheable, vice-president; F. Newhouse, second vice-president; Miss E. A. Knott, secretary-treasurer.

The executive committee consists of the officers, Miss Carswell, Messrs. Calvert, Hone, C. B. Edwards, V. K. Greer and J. F. Sullivan.

VOLUNTEER HAD TOO MUCH SPEED

Amateur Postman "Distributing" Papers Almost Commits Murder.

AUTOIST INJURED.

Flying Parcel Strikes Car Windshield and Blood Flies.

Thrown from the back of a street car by a "volunteer postman," a parcel of papers struck and shattered the windshield of the auto in which William Brown was driving west on the Hamilton road near Egerton street to-day. Mr. Brown was badly cut about the face and hands by the flying glass, and he had the wind knocked out of him by the parcel which struck him forcibly after crashing through the windshield. A pedestrian, whom Mr. Brown had picked up previously, had his chin laid open by pieces of glass, but he walked away without leaving his name or address. Mr. Brown is taking the matter up with the postal authorities to see what will be done. He was taken to a doctor by the crew of the street car, but the London Street Railway Company asserts that it is in no way responsible for the accident.

It appears that a postman had asked a passenger on the Oxford car traveling eastward on the Hamilton road to throw out a parcel of papers a short distance east of Egerton street. The postman left the car west of Egerton street. The passenger stood on the rear platform of the car, an open one, and threw the parcel around the back of the car towards the north side of the street. He did not see the auto approaching on that side, and the papers struck the windshield with the above results.

Mr. Brown, who lives a short distance east of the city, said he thought he had suddenly encountered a cyclone.

MARKET WEIGH CLERK EXPERIENCED JUROR

James Dean Has Been a "Peer" for More Than 50 Times.

The record for jury attendance in this city, and perhaps in the district, is held by James Dean, city weigh scales clerk, who has acted as one of 12 good men and true on no fewer than 50 occasions. Mr. Dean, who is one of the best known citizens of London, kept count of the number of cases in which he had helped to bring about justice, but lost track after the fiftieth case.

His accessibility probably accounts for the fact that Mr. Dean has been pressed into service on an average of more than once every year of his life. This was particularly true some years ago, when the jury was usually composed of the first dozen men that could be collected. Mr. Dean, located on the market, was often the first man approached and requested to act as juryman.

The great majority of the juries on which Mr. Dean sat were summoned for the purpose of inquiring into the death of some person. The law formerly required that 12 men be empanneled for inquests instead of eight as at the present time. The London of the past generation had not the population of to-day and it was often a difficult matter to pick on the 12 peers who should sit on a case.

The weigh scales clerk believes that the greatest lesson which he has learned from his experiences is that any man who attempts to lie to the jury will be betrayed by his facial expressions and his mannerisms while in the witness box. In no instance, says Mr. Dean, has he found that a person can deliberately give false evidence to his fellow judges and "get away with it."

ENTER WOODSTOCK PLOWING MATCHES

International Contest Open on October 19 for Three Days — Prize List Totals $2,000.

A number of farmers in this district have expressed their intention of entering the international plowing contests to be held by the Ontario Plowmen's Association at Woodstock on October 19, 20 and 21, for which more than $2,000 in prizes are offered.

Demonstrations of all kinds of farm machinery will be given on Wednesday and the plowing contests will commence on Thursday and continue on Friday. Stubble plowing contests are billed for Thursday and sod plowing for the following day. There are contests for tractor plowing as well as for team plowing.

OPEN NEW AREA IN SOUTH LONDON

Alternative Plans For Extension of Richmond Street.

MEANS RIVER VIADUCT.

New Collegiate May Be On the Smallman Estate.

Several alternative plans are in the hands of the city engineer with regard to extending Richmond street in a southerly direction to the city limits, thus opening up a new residential district and paving the way for the inauguration of a new car service. The plans involve the building of a viaduct over the Thames. That the work will be carried out in 1922 is considered practically certain. The city already owns sufficient property, with the exception of a block of the Tecumseh School grounds, to put the extension plans into effect.

With this scheme of highway development, which would make Richmond street the axial thoroughfare of London stretching from north to south limits and bisecting the present down-town commercial district, goes the matter of a site for the new South London Collgeiate.

It is understood that the Board of Education may secure the Smallman estate on Ridout street, corner Grand avenue, as the new site. This site might be secured in financial conjunction with the parks or playgrounds committee. The building itself, it is pointed out, could be used for a branch high school with very little alteration.

The Tecumseh avenue site, it is believed will be definitely abandoned. The ground there, while well adapted for residential development and to give ample room for the public school playground, would necessitate elaborate terracing for the erection of a new school or the use of cut stone for foundations.

VOTE ON $100,000 FOR ARTS BUILDING

County Has Already Agreed To Give Similar Amount.

NEED BUILDING BADLY.

Government Recognizes Efforts of Western Ontario.

Citizens of London will probably be asked to vote on the issue of debentures towards building the new arts college building in 1922 at the coming municipal election. Middlesex County has already appropriated $100,000 towards that work, and it is believed that London will be asked to show its faith in Western University's future by appropriating a similar amount. Philip Pocock, member of the university board of governors, to-day outlined the civic necessity of such debenture issues.

"It is my belief," he said, "that with a new arts building erected which will be as efficient in the field of classical education as the new medical school is in its particular field, we shall be able to get greatly increased annual grants from the Provincial Legislature and that we will have an annual enrollment of 1,200 or 1,500 pupils in the university colleges.

"The province is now granting us $200,000 a year. But greater grants from the province and greater support from Western Ontario counties depend to a large extent upon London's own effort. Middlesex has given a fine lead in the matter; a little more effort on London's part and the other Western counties will give magnificent support."

Mr. Pocock was of the opinion that the growth of the university demands that there be no longer delay in starting work on at least one major unit of the new university buildings. With a civic appropriation made on December 5 it is believed that the work may be well under way by spring, and that the new arts building will be ready for students at the opening of the 1922-23 term next September.

BREAD QUESTION TO BE TALKED TO-NIGHT

Grocers To Line Up In Retail Bread War.

What side the grocers of the city will take in the local bread war will be made known at the meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association this evening. Action will also be taken with reference to the activities of hucksters on the local market square and in regard to the sale of vegetables and fruit by weight instead of quantity.

With every prospect of the local bakers selling bread for nine cents a loaf or three loaves for a quarter, the merchants who dispose of the commodity through their stores want to have an understanding as to their own profit. Formerly they were able to get a cent and a half on a loaf, and this has been cut down to one cent with the advent of 10-cent bread. It is likely that the association will refuse to accept any smaller profit than that.

Frank Pierce, secretary of the association, believes that one of the most important matters before the meeting will be that brought up by Ald. Watkinson at a recent City Council meeting. Hucksters, he claims, who are not even citizens of Canada, have been accustomed to buying up quantities of produce from the market gardeners and reselling it at a huge profit.

It was instanced that cauligowers have been purchased by these hucksters at $1 a dozen and later sold again at 50 cents or higher a piece. Some civic legislation should be introduced, in his opinion, that would prevent these men from operating, as they thwarted the real purpose of the market. It is probable that the association will pass a resolution asking for remedial legislation from the Council.

As intimated a short time ago, the sale of vegetables by weight instead of by quantity will be an issue with the grocers at their meeting to-night. Opinion as to the advisability of any change seems to be divided.

SOON NAME INCUMBENT TO CLAYTON FREY'S JOB

An assistant to R. A. Finn, district agricultural representative, to fill the vacancy caused by the appointment of Clayton Frey, agricultural representative for Haldimand County, will be appointed shortly, it is believed.

This appointment is expected within the course of a month, in view of the fact that a three-months course in agriculture is to be opened at Strathroy about December 1.

Mr. Finn declared that he had no intimation as yet as to when any appointment would be made or to whom it was likely to be. He was of the opinion, however, that another assistant would be appointed before very long.

OBJECTION TO CARVELL ON BOARD

Counsel For Raney Submits Plea At Phone Rate Hearing.

HEARING IS ADJOURNED.

Appeal To Privy Council Still Pending, Is Reason.

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—On the ground that Hon. Frank Carvell, chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, was formerly connected with the New Brunswick Telephone Company, counsel for the attorney-general of Ontario objected to-day to his presence on the board, which is to-day hearing the application of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada to increase its rates throughout Eastern Canada.

On the motion of Judge Laurendeau, of Montreal, representing the Canadian Union of Municipalities, the hearing was adjourned until to-morroy, pending the decision of the board as to whether it would continue the hearing in view of the fact that the appeal to the Privy Council against the existing judgment was still pending.

WOMEN REPLACED BY MEN AT S. C. R.

Seventeen Ex-Service Men Given Positions This Year.

CHARGES ARE DENIED.

Equal Chance For All Who Can Qualify.

Charges emanating from returned soldier organizations that the local D. S. C. R. was employing young women in clerical positions that might be filled by unemployed veterans were to-day refuted by an official of the local department. Since the first of the year, he stated, 17 returned soldiers had been taken on the strength of the Horton street offices and a corresponding number of girls dismissed from the service.

"No ex-service man who can do the work or who is willing to take the pay of a woman in our department has been refused a position with us," stated the official, who is assistant administrator of the department. "In the face of such a statement no returned man can say that we are showing a preference for women. In employing men we are merely following out the dictates of our own headquarters, which has stipulated that men should be preferred to women wherever possible.

HAVE OBJECTIONS

"The great trouble is that the men who apply are either not qualified or will not take the same rate of pay offered the female clerks," said the official. "Our principal need is stenographers and there are very few male stenographers. We have given the majority of clerical positions to men, but have had to turn down some applicants for lack of experience or insufficient education."

"Is the pay sufficient to keep a man?" he was asked.

"Well, it is not too bad," was the answer. "With the bonus a first-class stenographer can get $81.25, which compares favorably with what he could secure elsewhere for the same work. Especially when the unemployment situation is taken into account, the salary is quite acceptable."

The returned soldiers claimed that the D. S. C. R. was not giving returned men an equal chance with women in securing jobs and contended that while banks and other institutions were replacing girls with men, the department was not setting a good example.

STRATHROY WILL HAVE AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL

Three Months' Courses for Boys and Girls of That City.

An innovation in education will be the agricultural school to be inaugurated at Strathroy, the first classes of which will open about December 1. All arrangements for the new school are not complete and no definite opening date has been decided upon. The course, however, will last for about three months, and both boys and girls from the district surrounding the West Middlesex town will receive instruction, the boys in agriculture and the girls in domestic science.

The course, which is being inaugurated by the department of agriculture and which will be under the direction of R. A. Finn, district representative of the department, will be the first of its kind in the Province of Ontario.

There have been short courses in agriculture and domestic science put on by the department of agriculture throughout the province the past few years, but these courses have been only of three weeks' duration at the outide. This new course will be, in fact, a school in agriculture and home making. There will be a large number of demonstrators sent by the department to give instruction in the various subjects. Practical farming and domestic science instruction will be the object of these new schools.

Mr. Finn intimated that the outlook was bright for a really fine three months' course. It will be open to all boys and girls over 15 years of age, as well as men and women. The classes will be held during the three winter months, so that it will give those from the agricultural districts an opportunity to attend during the slack season.

If the school in Middlesex proves successful, it is likely that similar schools will be opened in various other sections of the province.

IRISH REPUBLIC SEEKS LOAN IN BUENOS AYRES

BUENOS AYRES, Oct. 5.—Subscriptions to a loan for the "elected government of the republic of Ireland" were invited by advertisements published here to-day by the diplomatic mission of the Irish republic. This commission, headed by Laurence Ginnell, offered certificates in denominations ranging from 1 to 10,000 pesos. These were not negotiable, but on presentation at the treasury of the republic "one month after international recognition is extended" would be exchangeable for gold bonds carrying five per cent. interest. The loan would carry interest from "the first day of the seventh month after the liberation of the territory of the Irish republic from British military control."

The certificates offered, which were signed by Eamonn De Valera and representatives of the Dail Eireann, and which bore the seal of the Irish republic, would be redeemable at par a year after the Irish republic is recognized.

GENERAL SYNOD OPENS SESSIONS

First Business Meeting This Afternoon At Hamilton.

PRIMATE MAKES ADDRESS.

Archbishop Matheson Outlines Work Before the Synod.

HAMILTON, Oct. 5—With imposing ceremony the ninth session of the general synod, the great ecclesiastical Parliament of the Church of England in Canada, opened its session here this morning.

Dignitaries of the church from every part of the Dominion and from many far-off charges were in attendance. In addition to the 350 representatives, including the House of Bishops of the Church of England in Canada and bishops whose episcopates are in foreign countries, there were many clergymen from every diocese in Canada and lay delegates as well in attendance.

The members of the synod met in the parish house and at 10.30 marched to Christ Church Cathedral, where communion was celebrated, Rev. Chas. Brent, D. D., Bishop of Western New York, who recently addressed the Pan-Presbyterian Council in Pittsburg on church union, delivered the sermon at this morning's service.

MANY BISHOPS THERE.

Among the church dignitaries present are 14 archbishops and bishops, including Rt. Rev. E. J. Bidwell, D. D., D.C.L., Bishop of Ontario; Rt. Rev. A. W. DePencier, M.A., Bishop of Cariboo and New Westminster; Most Rev C. L. Worrell, D.D., D.C.L., Archbishop of Nova Scotia; Rt. Rev. M. T. McAdam Harding, D.D., Bishop of Qu' Appelle; Rt. Rev. David Williams, D.D., Bishop of Huron; Most Rev. S. P. Matheson, D.D., LL.D., Archbishop of Rupert's Land; Rt. Rev. I. O. Stringer, Bishop of the Yukon; Rt. Rev. J. C. Farthing, M.A., D.D., D.C.L., Bishop of Montreal; Rt. Rev. C. D. Schofield, D.D., Bishop of Columbia; Rt. Rev. L. W. Williams, D.D., Bishop of Quebec; Rt. Rev. A. J. Among bishops from foreign fields who are taking part in the proceedings are: Bishop Hamilton, of Mid-Japan; Bishop White, of Honan, China; Rev. Mr. Ford, a missionary from the India fields where there is as yet no episcopate; Bishop Brent, of New York, formerly bishop of the Philippines, and Bishop Tucker, of Southern Virginia.

FIRST BUSINESS SESSION.

The first business session of the synod commenced at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and the principal feature was the address of Archbishop Matheson, primate of all Canada. The address touched upon many momentous questions that will be dealt with during the 12-days' conference of the synod. The primate paid tribute to three outstanding lay members of the church who had been called by death. He said:

"It is doubtful whether any diocese has ever, or will ever, contribute to the councils of the church such a triumvirate of able and devoted laymen as the Diocese of Huron gave to this synod during the whole period of its existence. I refer to Charles Jenkins, Dr. Mathew Wilson and E. G. Henderson. To every department of the synod's work they brought to bear not only rare devotion but conspicuous ability."

W. C. FITZGERALD TO BE RETURNING OFFICER

W. C. Fitzgerald will be the returning officer for London in the federal elections. While all those who know anything about this are refusing to talk to the press, it is learned that the appointment has been recommended and will be confirmed within a day or so. In the announcement of the dissolution of Parliament, made to-day, it is pointed out that the delay in setting the polling date is attributable to the fact that the list of returning officers is not yet complete. But London is not among those districts that have not named their officer.

No names have yet been suggested with reference to the other positions in connection with the polling in London. The registrars, D. R. O.'s and other officers will be appointed later.

FUNERAL OF MRS. BARCLAY. — The funeral of Mrs. Annie C. Barclay, of 40 Gerrard avenue, was held from the residence of her son-in-law, Luvern Shaddock, Ilderton, on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to Hyde Park Cemetery. Deceased is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. L. Shaddock, of Ilderton; one son, Fred, of Leamington; three sisters, Mrs. R. H. Scott, of Vanneck; Mrs. Robert Weir, of Ivan; Mrs. A. Anderson, of Strathroy, and two brothers, Henry, of Thorndale, and Dan, of Welyn, Sask. The pallbearers were: Donald McKenzie, Donald McMillan, Archie Loughrey, John Watson, Joseph Henderson and John McDonald.

GOVERNMENT BUYS COAL IN CANADA

This Policy Is Being Followed When Possible.

REDUCES THE IMPORTS.

All Possible Eastern Coal Is Shipped To Ontario.

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—The policy of patronizing home industry is being followed by the Government in the purchase of coal supplies for the different departments. As a result there is a marked diminution in American coal imports and a corresponding increase in purchase from Canadian mines East and West. The purchasing commission announces that this year it has bought 103,367 tons of Canadian coal, as against 65,603 tons last year.

On the other hand, purchases of American bituminous have declined from 61,222 tons to 43,334, and of American anthracite from 57,736 to 15,274. Eastern Canada coal has been brought as far west as Ottawa and Western coal to Port Arthur. The commission buys for all departments except marine, naval and railways, but the same policy is followed by them.

Lack of facilities stands in the way of shipping Eastern coal to Ontario more extensively than now, but it is hoped to partially overcome this next year.

EVENING CLASSES OPENING TO-NIGHT.

The Technical and Commercial evening classes are meeting a wide variety of needs both for factory, office and domestic work in the city. The machine shop classes not only prepare boys for entering machine shop occupations, but also afford instruction in advanced machine shop work and toolmaking for journeymen machine shop men. The stationary engineering classes prepare engineers in charge of steam and power plants for the Government examinations for stationary engineers' certificates. The carpentry classes include courses in advanced roof framing and stair building as well as elementary work in carpentry. The art classes, held both in the evenings and afternoons, include all forms of commercial and decorative art and sketch classes from life. Students may enter these classes any afternoon or evening this week till all the classes are filled. Advt. f

TEACHERS MUST BE PHYSICALLY FIT

Physical Tests for All New Appointees to City Staff.

Dr. Edwin R. Seaborn will conduct the physical examination of all teachers appointed to the city teaching staff, it was announced at Board of Education offices to-day. All new teachers, in future, must undergo a rigid examination before being given permanent appointments on the high or public school staffs. This action was authorized at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Education. Dr. Seaborn's appointment was announced to-day.

New teachers, in future, will enter the city's employ on the distinct understanding that they will serve an entire year. The new contract form provides and the rule governing the matter was yesterday confirmed by the board of trustees.

Older teachers, however, signed contracts under a sort of mental reservation that they might resign at the end of a term, but the new policy does away with such action so far as new teachers are concerned, and it is understood that older teachers will guide themselves by it.

Whose fault is it when your husband is cross at breakfast?

If you hit your thumb with a hammer you wouldn't blame your thumb for hurting.

Then why blame your husband whose nerves may have been pounded by tea or coffee, and whose rest probably has been broken by the irritation of the thein or caffeine it contains?

If you stay awake half the night you don't feel any too cheerful.

The thein of tea and the caffeine of coffee are known drugs. If their use is persisted in, sooner or later the nervous system may give way.

Then you may have insomnia, or disturbed sleep. Your nerves and tissues will be robbed of that stability essential for normal and happy living.

You can avoid this possibility if you'll stop drinking tea and coffee and drink instead, rich, pleasing Postum.

Postum is the delicious cereal beverage with a satisfying flavor. It affords the advantages of a hot drink, without the ill effects of tea or coffee.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Try it with the family for a few days, and see what a difference there'll be — how it will permit Nature to bring sound sleep and strong, sturdy, quiet nerves. Sold by grocers.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

The Railway Problem and the Three Parties.

Next to the tariff the most vital question before the electors to-day is the future of the Government railways. In fact, many opponents of the Government, who are endeavoring to divert attention from the fiscal question, are claiming that it is the most important problem.

The railway question is a political inheritance, the responsibility for which all parties must share. The Grand Trunk Pacific and the National Transcontinental, built on an extravagant scale, were colossal blunders. The Laurier Government was chiefly responsible, but the scheme was launched in the boom days and the people of Canada were back of the plan. The Borden Government must take some share of responsibility for having encouraged the Canadian Northern to become a transcontinental road. No protest in those days was ever heard from the Farmers' leaders, so that all three parties are to blame.

The railway problem is an outcome of over-optimism and extravagant building in days when the whole world looked rosy and there were no dark clouds on the horizon. Then came the war, upsetting the whole industrial fabric and the railroads of Canada faced suddenly a serious situation. Business went bad and further financing was impossible. The Government, to prevent bankruptcy and transportation chaos in the midst of the war, took over the Canadian Northern and later the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Grand Trunk. To-day the Government owns over 20,000 miles of road. At present there is a huge annual deficit. The people must decide as to the future of these systems.

As for two of the parties they have very definite platforms. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen is a strong believer in public ownership and the Government has a public ownership plank in its platform. The Government's policy in regard to the railways is summed up in the following terms in the official platform:

"Recognition of the necessity under existing conditions of amalgamating and unifying the various lines owned by the Dominion, with a view to eliminating duplication and effecting economies in construction and administration.

"Efficient expert management and operation of the entire national railway system, unfettered by partisan political interference.

"The fixing of a proper capitalization for the national railway system."

This is the policy of the Government and a policy which under the leadership of the ablest business man in Canada to-day, Sir Joseph Flavelle, is being carried out.

The Farmers' party also believes in public ownership. Hon. T. A. Crerar was a member of the Government when public ownership of railways was adopted as a policy and has since supported the acquisition of the Grand Trunk. Between these two parties there is no issue on this question.

Finally, there is the Liberal party. As on the fiscal question, Hon. Mackenzie King has no policy and the party is hopelessly divided. The Toronto Globe, which professes now to be a loyal supporter of the Liberal party, is staunchly for public ownership. But the Liberals in Quebec, who dominate the Liberal party, are strongly opposed to Government ownership and apparently favor handing over the Government system to the C. P. R. along the lines of the Shaughnessy plan. The Liberal platform drafted in 1919 conveniently forgot to mention the subject. As for poor Mr. King, torn between the two factions and anxious to please all, he knows not where he stands. His attitude on the railway problem is about as clear as on the tariff issue.

There is no doubt where Mr. King's Quebec followers stand. Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, who is no inconspicuous member of the Liberal party, came out flat-footedly at the big Montreal banquet in favor of the Shaughnessy scheme. Mr. Lemieux said:

"I have on many occasions expressed my personal opinion on the railway problem. It was a fatal error for Canada, after the experience of Great Britain and the United States, to have taken over the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk. The proposition of Lord Shaughnessy appears to me to be the one solution possible, subject to revision in terms. Someone will cry of monopoly, but between two evils we must choose the lesser. I prefer monopoly to bankruptcy. The railway commission has powers which are absolute in the matter of tariff, and was created to protect the public."

Nor was Mr. Lemieux alone in his declaration. The Premier of Quebec, who followed Mr. Lemieux, was more guarded in his language, but no one need doubt the meaning of these words:

"No Liberal can approve the disastrous policy with regard to the railways and merchant marine fathered by the Meighen Government. I have confidence in the future of my country and in its immense natural resources. The twentieth century will be Canada's, as predicted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and in three-quarters of a century it will support a population equal to that of the United States. But this mad adventure of state monopolies will lead us to the abyss, if we do not stay it. Our country cannot afford to pay $150,000,000 a year to meet the deficits of our railways. It means in the near future the total ruin of our credit, with consequences which no one cares to contemplate."

On Saturday, speaking at a nomination meeting at Ormstown, Quebec, James A. Robb, the chief Liberal whip and certain to be a Cabinet member if Mackenzie King should win, spoke determinedly against public ownership. Hon. Walter Mitchell, provincial treasurer for Quebec, came out on the same platform for private ownership. The Toronto Globe is so alarmed over the situation that it devotes a full column leader editorial to a rebuke of the Quebec Liberals.

The Manitoba Free Press, discussing the situation, says that the Liberal party on this question is in a most questionable position and demands a straight statement from Mr. King. It wants not only a personal repudiation of the views of his Quebec followers, but a renouncement from Mr. Lemieux or his retirement as one of his chief lieutenants.

Never was a political party in Canada in such a desperate position as the Liberals led by Mr. King. It has a fiscal policy adopted in 1919 which it refuses now to say whether it accepts or rejects. It has no policy on the railways. It is a case of every man for himself. The Liberals are for free trade and public ownership in the West, protection and public ownership in Ontario and protection, anti-public ownership and anti-conscription in Quebec.

It is a party without a definite platform and a leader who cannot lead. Do the people of Canada want such a party and such a leader at the head of affairs in the present critical juncture in the Dominion's history?

David Bispham's Singing English.

David Bispham, the well-known American baritone, whose fame has gone 'round the world, and whose death was announced in our yesterday's columns, did at least one permanent thing for modern music. Mr. Bispham declared that English is a musical language; that it is possible to sing as musically in English as it is in Italian. Bispham did more than this. He proved his point. He sang musically in English, dramatically as well as musically. We heard him do it, here in London.

We have used the phrase "it is possible" advisedly and with caution. We do not, nor, we believe, did Mr. Bispham, contend that it is as "easy" to sing musically in English as it is in Italian. Far otherwise.

The master of voice production and of the art of singing in the several languages has what he calls his "models." This is to say, there are certain positions into which the mouth, lips, tongue, face and vocal organs of the singer must fall for the musical ennunciation of certain sounds, be those sounds single consonants or cowel combinations.

As it happens, the phonetic elements of the Italian tongue make the musical "modeling" of that language a comparatively simple affair. This on account not only of the prevalence in it of "open" vowel sounds, and by reason of the fact that all syllables must end with a vowel, but because the Italian consonant for the most part is more liquid than is the consonant in English, and when not more liquid it is more "explosive" and thus more pliable in attack.

To be frank, singing English is subject to five or six times as many musical "models" as Italian is.

These difficulties to one side, and what are "difficulties" when the musical reputation of the English language is at stake? English has a volume, a richness, a clarity, a dramatic content that make it a vehicle of musical expression which on the lips of a master-vocalist is unexcelled. As David Bispham himself sang English some years ago, the language of Shakespeare seemed as fitted for musical as it is for oratorical, for dramatic or for poetic expression. In English, the word's the thing! No singer who fails to get his words across, clear-cut as though they were chiselled in marble, can be said to "sing" English.

Mr. Bispham argued that in order to attain a singing English, we need a spoken English of the very highest standard. He advocated in all our schools compulsory classes in spoken English. In other words, in his opinion our schools should insist that before graduation students should be proficient in the accurate pronunciation of the vocabulary we use in our daily existence. Only by that means can we secure any great number of students to whom it will be possible to sing in English with distinction and style.

David Bispham is a loss not only to the operatic and the concert stage, but to the whole art of modern vocal music.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Human nature isn't altered by being altared.

Germany is known not only by her marks, but by her finger marks.

South Essex will come up to the Scratch in December all right.

Mr. Crerar's trick is to polish his policy with the grain of the Wood.

Now if only the It in "Limitation" doesn't go and fool around things.

We hope there isn't going to be any "daylight saving" at the Washington conference.

Canadian farms rose in value from $35 an acre in 1915 to $48 in 1920. A lucky 13.

Mr. De Valera shouldn't think quite so much about Tara's "hauls"—he harps too much on one string.

It doesn't make much difference to the world who has the "largest army" so long as they don't use it.

Does anybody know whether Mars will be a morning or an evening star during the Armament Conference?

Eighty per cent. of all Canada's farm production is consumed in Canada. Are we going to destroy that eight-tenths of our market?

The annual agricultural loss in this country by way of parasites is estimated at $125,000,000. That doesn't include the human parasites.

The "shock absorbing pavement" is said to be the latest in roadways. We thought the well-advertised thoroughfare to the Infernal Regions was already of that construction.

The Third Column

THE WISER MAN

Bill and Joe were rivals for a pretty maiden's hand,
And Bill and Joe gave battle for the fairest in the land,
But not with lance or pistol, or in a cruel fray,
For each one sought the charmer in his own peculiar way.

Bill wrote her pretty poems and praised her gentle eyes,
He wooed her with his laughter and
wooed her with his sighs;
He'd telephone o' mornings, and the afternoons would find Bill hanging round her doorway, for he was the spoony kind.

Joe's methods were much different.
"I'm after you," said he;
"Some day I'll make a fortune so you can marry me."
And while Bill wrote his poems and
spooned the hours away,
Joe hustled at his labors and earned a raise in pay.

At last Joe sought the maiden, and said, "I'm fixed for life.
The home we need is ready, come on and be my wife!"
And promptly she accepted, which made
Bill an also ran,
For while he was the nicer sweetheart,
Joe was the wiser man.

DUSK

I believe that most of us love the soft shadows — those which are not too heavily accented. Like the softer and more mellow notes in music.

The soul has nothing of harshness to it. Rather it is filled with the qualities of sublimity — in fact, set quite apart from all that has anything of discord or disturbance to it.

Like the finest ring or ornament set with the purest diamonds, so does the soul reflect beauty.

To dusk comes all the finer elements of the day — to intermingle, as a happy family may at the close of the working hours.

The sun is creeping into its bed chamber, wrapped in its most georgeous garments. The breezes of noon-time, warmed by the sun, become cooled and almost still. The farmer has housed his herds and horses for the night, and with an honest tiredness, feels his way to a happy rest.

Weary fingers and feet relax. Minds busy with the thought of a thousand enterprises, became light and seek rest and reflection in pleasant talk.

What is rarer than a perfect dusk?

What peaceful quiet, and what comfort. What a time in which to hear the pindrops of loveliness out of a world of sorddidness and grasp for selfish gain.

It is at the sign of dusk that the flowers bend their heads and close their eyes from the dew of darkness. When they throw their wraps about their perfume vials — conserving them for the distributing power of the wind and sun of unborn days.

At dusk, I believe that we all feel most alone — and lonely. Yet comforted most by the remembered loves of the days that have gone.

We come most to ourselves at dusk. It is a period of self-examination and review.

No finer time in which to forgive and forget — than at dusk. No more fitter time in which to bathe and cleanse the heart.

And what better time in which to remember what Browning said in "Pippa Passes," that "God's in His heaven and all's right with the world!"

—George Mathew Adams.

VESTIGIA

I took a day to search for God,
And found Him not. But as I trod
By rocky ledge, through woods untamed,
Just where one scarlet lily flamed,
I saw His footprint in the sod.

Then suddenly, all unaware,
Far off in the deep shadows, where
A solitary hermit thrush
Sang through the holy twilight hush—
I heard His voice upon the air.

And even as I marveled how
God gives us heaven here and now,
In a stir of wind that hardly shook
The poplar leaves beside the brook—
His hand was light upon my brow.

At last with evening as I turned Homeward, and thought what I had learned
And all that there was still to probe—
I caught the glory of His robe
Where the last fires of sunset burned.

Back to the world with quickeneing start
I looked and longed for any part
In making saving beauty be . . . .
And from that kindling ecstacy
I knew God dwelt within my heart.

The Political Arena

Hon. Dr. Edwards the new minister of health and immigration, may secure an acclamation in Frontenac. The Liberals have already decided not to contest the seat, while the U. F. O. are having such difficulty in securing a candidate that a delegation has been sent to Toronto to see if some of the leaders of the party will not run.

Hon. Dr. Edwards is one of the militant figures of Parliament. Entering the House of Commons in 1908, he at once advocated the reform of Kingston penitentiary and compelled an investigation into conditions there which led to sweeping reforms. A hard hitter who scorns quarter and gives none, he is one of the ablest debaters in Parliament. In the reciprocity campaign of 1911 he won a name for himself as one of the most penetrating critics of that ill-fated agreement, and his services on the platform were eagerly sought all over the Province of Ontario. Like so many other men who have achieved success, Dr. Edwards began life as a school teacher. Of English descent—his people were United Empire Loyalists—Dr. Edward is a prominent Orangemen and holds a high position in that order. As Minister of Health and Immigration he will administer his department without fear or favor.

The Kingston Whig, which, because it is Liberal, questions the policies of the party led by Mr. Mackenzie King, thinks also that recent events have operated to hurt the prospects of the Opposition. It declares its belief to be that:

"There is only one party that goes into the election to-day with any semblance of a solid front against all others and that is the National Liberal and Conservative, or Tory party, but just how strong the party is will be determined only by the voting test. It has arrayed against it some of the forces that in the past united under the Liberal banner, but which are now broken up into three separate groups, viz.: Liberal, the Farmer group, and Labor. It was the combination of these groups that in 1896 placed Sir Wilfrid Laurier in power and returned him in 1900, 1904 and 1908. In 1912 the Liberal regime came to an end and subsequent events have broken up every link of cohesion that united the various progressive elements to Liberalism. Liberalism, therefore, has suffered worse by the change that has taken place in men's minds throughout Canada than Conservatism."

The Whig's conclusion is not hopeful of the early fortunes of its historic party. It says:

"Liberalism, while always the expression of pure democracy, and therefore, perhaps best suited to the needs of a country like Canada which must for many decades continue to meet new conditions incident to the process of development, depends for its success upon active aggression. The moment it becames inactive and disorganized it falls because its success is just in proportion to the ability of its leaders to educate the masses and keep the public alive to national issues. This is a process that takes time, and what the party needs in Canada to-day is able and active leaders. It lost its leadership when the coalition was formed, and to this must be attributed the offshoots from the party represented by Labor and the Farmers.

"There is a great work to be performed for Liberalism that calls for the development of leaders and until these men are found and an effective national organization is formed Liberalism will wander a disunited party."

Judging by the comments of the Montreal French-Canadian papers Hon. Arthur Meighen made a great hit at his big Montreal meeting. La Patrie has the following comment:

"The Hon. Mr. Meighen on Friday night conquered his audience immediately. If there was anybody present with bad intentions they remained silent in their seats, and the eggs they are reported to have carried did not leave their hands. The premier logically developed the two principal articles of his program—the maintenance of a protective tariff, and the bringing about of harmony and concord between the provinces — and it can be said that if his eloquent words did not inflame the eager adversaries who went to hear him, they did rouse in the hearts of the friends of his cause new hopes, and an absolute confidence in the wisdom of the fiscal policy which the Dominion owes to Sir John Macdonald, and has seen all the succeeding governments at Ottawa, including that of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, determined to maintain it. The prime minister has unbounded confidence in Canada's future. He counts on the co-operation of the Province of Quebec to which he will render complete justice. The sympathetic reception Mr. Meighen received is a sincere tribute to his remarkable talents and political courage. The new French-Canadian ministers have very reason to be proud of the reception which was accorded them. In their speeches they appealed to the good sense and judgment of their hearers, who were in no way niggardly in the expression of their cordial sympathy. The meeting at the Monument National will, there is reason to hope, give tone to all the political gatherings which are to follow in the province in the course of the election campaign. We have too often in the past furnished to our enemies occasion to decry us. Let us calmly ponder over the serious problems which will be offered to our consideration."

THE PIPES

The English people are said not to appreciate the bagpipes, but if you tell a Scotsman that, he only smiles and shrugs his shoulders, more in sorrow than in anger. Those who talk about the bagpipes as being unmusical, and make remarks about "squealy bags," only show that they have never seen a Highland regiment on the march, with its long, easy stride, headed by its pipe band. Fewer still, perhaps, have heard the pipers start up "Hi, Johnny Cope, Are You Wakin' Yet?" in the early morning after revellie has sounded, or watched an eightsome reel being danced. There is a popular song in Scotland which recounts how on one occasion the Scots, headed by a hundred pipers, crossed the border and, when the Esk was swollen, red, and deep, the braw lads swam over to English ground and "danced themselves dry to the pibroch sound." One cannot imagine dancing oneself dry to a waltz tune or a fox trot, but one could do it to an Irish jig. Of course, the Irish also have bagpipes, and are also great musicians. —Christian Science Monitor.

OUR NEED OF A PEACEFUL GERMANY

It is only common sense that all of us and our Governments in the allied countries — and also neutral Governments like the Dutch, which have no interest in the reduction of Europe to destitution—should take sides fervently, in our own minds, with the Eberts and Wirths against the Wilhelms and Ludendorffs. We do not propose intervention, but diplomacy knows plenty of ways of tempering such winds as it can influence for the comfort and encouragement of a foreign Government in difficulties with a dangerous conspiracy. We know that in dealing strongly with the incorrigibles of Prussianism the Wirth Cabinet will be doing all Europe's work as well as Germany's own, and the foreign offices should have no difficulty in conveying to Dr. Wirth that while making this effort he need not fear any embarrassing demands or pressure from those who were the kaiser's enemies in the field before he became a conspirator against the lawful Government of Germany. — Manchester Guardian.

There is a purity in her singing which is quite indescribable.
Queen Victoria's Diary, 1846

The Throat of a Great Singer

ABOVE all musical instruments ranks the human voice. No sound-producing mechanism is at once so simple and so perfect as the throat of a great singer. Nature may be imitated but never surpassed.

Jenny Lind, the Swedish Nightingale, sang her way into the heart of the world by the pure, clear human quality of her voice. Nature gave her a perfect throat. In the throat the quality of a singer's voice is determined. Here it is decided whether he may tour the world in triumph or roam the world in vain.

The tonal passages of the McLagan Phonograph in shape and modeling are fashioned exactly upon the principle of the human throat.

The McLagan Phonograph

Clear, round, smooth, free of extraneous vibration, the sound waves recorded on the disc are returned to life by the McLagan-Fletcher Reproducer.

Clear, round, unbroken, they are developed in growing volume in the McLagan-Fletcher Tone Arm, Clear, round, pure, they pour through the wide, smooth, unobstructed throat into the all-wood Tone Amplifier. The whole course of the sound waves is unobstucted by any cross-bars or braces, or by any fault in the stream-line curves of the smooth surfaces.

No mechanical noises, no false vibrations, no harsh tones or "wolf" notes. Clear, natural life-like, the McLagan reproduces what the voice of the singer has recorded—nothing less and nothing more.

Beautiful Period Designs

The McLagan offers the widest choice of authentic period designs—cabinets, consoles, and tables—of any phonograph on the market. Gothic, Italian Renaissance, Sheraton, Queen Anne, Louis XV, Louis XVI, Chippendale, etc. Above all, the McLagan is a Beautiful Phonograph.

Rev. Father Doyle, S. J., officiated and solos were sung at the offertory and signing of the register by Mr. James Gallaher. The bride, who was given away by her father, was smartly gowned in her traveling suit of sand suedine with mink collar and French hat of brown panne velvet touched with flamingo. Orchids composed her corsage bouquet and she carried an ivory prayer book. She was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes Hefferman, wearing a blue French frock with Isabelle fox furns and carrying Premier roses. Mr. Jack McCauley, of Toronto, acted as groomsman. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, 122 Yorkshire street, only the immediate relatives being present. Mr. and Mrs. Devine will spend their honeymoon in Montreal and New York before going to their new home in Hamilton.

MRS. QUINTIN WARNER WINS SMART TROPHY

Mrs. Quintin Warner is announced as winner of the Smart cup offered to members of the London Ladies' Golf Club.

Mrs. Warner completed a splendid season's play yesterday, when she won in the finals from Miss Joe Belton. Mrs. Warner's handicap was 3 more than her opponent, and her score 4 up and 3 to go.

In the preliminary round of the championship series, also played yesterday, Mrs. Sterling was the winner, playing against Mrs. George Belton, Mrs. Geo. Little winning from Mrs. Donald McLean by default.

The early sower never borrows of the late nor does the early shopper ever wonder "why she missed a bargain."

DRAWING LESSONS FOR OUR KIDDIES

There is no need of telling you who this is, that you draw by starting with two circles. One of them just a little smaller than the other. When you have all the features placed on the two circles, then you draw a pear and from the pear you make a pair of pants.

THE BLACK SHEEP

By Ruby M. Ayres

"It wasn't Rodney—it was my father."

"Whew!" He gave a little whistle of pretended dismay. "Your father, was it? I suppose I am not to come to the house—and that you are not to speak to me—is that it?"

"Yes."

He shrugged his shoulders; he walked on slowly beside her. "I am sorry," he said at last.

There was a sort of finality in his voice; Norah's heart gave a little dismayed throb; she broke out impulsively:

"But I am not a child—I am old enough to choose my own friends."

Laxton looked up at the moon. There was a flash of triumph in his eyes, though there was none in his voice when when he spoke.

"If that means what I hope it does," he said, "I thank you."

They walked a little way without speaking. The man was thinking quickly; trying to look ahead—to calculate his chances.

This girl was so young and unworldly; sufficiently unworldly to take him at her own romantice valuation; to dare hold her own opinion against the sounder one of those older than herself.

And the situation was desperate. Only that morning he had received a threatening letter from the man to whom he owed more money than he could ever hope to repay.

There was one chance left, and one only—marriage with a rich woman.

And yet . . . through the darkness the black sheep thought of the woman he loved, and he bit his lip almost through.

He had not seen her since that day when he had parted from her in jealous anger. She had not written to him. Was it indeed all over? Did she really care so little for him that she could not face life with him because he was poor?

He had sworn to forget her; never to see her again; but now as he stood there in the scented spring night, with the pale moonlight making a golden ladder down to earth, an almost uncontrollable longing to see her once more took possession of him.

Perhaps it was not too late—perhaps if he saw her again, pleaded with her once more not to ruin his life. . . . He caught his breath hard.

The girl beside him spoke suddenly.

"I think I ought to go back home. I did not mean to come so far." Her voice was a little nervous and uncertain.

Laxton turned at once. "I will walk back with you."

They retraced their steps almost in silence. It was only when they reached the gate that he said suddenly:

"I may not see you again for a day or two. I am going to London in the morning."

"To London?" She did not know that there was disappointment in her voice, but the man heard it, and a little thrill of triumph went through him.

"Only for a day or two," he said quickly. "And then, when I come back——" He broke off.

"When you come back?" she echoed.

The black sheep groped through the darkness and found her hand.

"I will tell you the rest—when I come back," he said softly.

And the next minute he was alone in the night.

He walked back to the village slowly. He was not staying at Barton Manor, as Norah had thought, but at the inn in the village where he and Laurie Fenton had had tea that last afternoon.

He passed the big carriage gates of Barton Manor and stopped for a moment looking toward the dark face of the great house.

It would be fine to live there, he thought wistfully; heaven to live there with a woman one loved; he went on again with dragging steps.

When he reached the inn he gave instructions for them to call him early—in time to catch the first train to London; he was feeling very tired and dispirited; he kicked off his boots in the little parlor where he and Laurie had said good-bye and turned toward the stairs.

As he did so his eye caught sight of a letter in the rack addressed to himself.

He crossed the narrow passage and snatched it down eagerly; the color flew to his face—the weariness faded from his eyes.

He went up the stairs two at a time to his bedroom; it was small and poorly furnished, but Laxton never troubled about such things; he had slept in many worse places in his time.

He fumbled in the darkness for a match, and swore impatiently when he could not find one; it seemed an eternity till he found the box; he lit a couple of candles on the painted dressing chest with an unsteady hand; he tore open the envelope.

She had written, after all; she was sorry; she wanted to see him again. For a moment his sight was blurred so that he could not read what was written there; he lifted the paper to his lips and kissed it; it bore a faint scent of a perfume which Laurie Fenton always used.

Barton Manor, Norah Ackroyd, everything was forgotten but the memory of this one woman, who alone in all his roving, disreputable life had really had any lasting influence with him.

She had written to him again—she had not forgotten him; nothing else counted at all.

"Dear Boy——" She had never begun so coldly before, and the hammering blood at his temples quieted, the little mist cleared away from before his eyes as he read on.

ABAGAIL BECKER CHAPTER.

The making of garments for the children cared for by the Child Welfare Association, of this city, will occupy the members of the Abagail Chapter, I. O. D. E., at their winter meetings, the first of which was held this week at the home of Miss Isabel Macbeth, Central avenue, with Mrs. T. C. Duncan presiding. The chapter voted a donation for the purchase of toys for these kiddies and made some interesting plans for the raising of more funds during the winter.

CANADIAN CLUB.

"Women in Men's Fiction" will be the subject of an address to the Women's Canadian Club by Miss Syme, of Montreal, who will speak here on October 15, according to the announcement made at a recent meeting of the executive. Mrs. Frank Leonard, president of the club, was present at this interesting meeting, which was held at Mr. Ray Lawson's home on Cheapside street, and had some important details to give of the recent convention of Canadian clubs in Winnipeg. Mrs. Leonard touched on the outstanding features of the convention in so satisfactory a manner that the executive hopes to arrange a further talk on the topic before the members of the club. A number of very eminent speakers were suggested by the corresponding secretary and the future success of the club seems well assured along this line, judging from the two excellent speakers already secured during the first month of the season. Mrs. Lawson entertained the executive to tea at the conclusion of the business discussion, Mrs. H. H. Coleman and Mrs. Jared Vining presiding over the teacups.

SHUT-IN.

If I should live again,
O God, let me be young,
Quick in sinew and vein,
With the honeycomb on my tongue,
All in a moment flung
With the dawn on a grassy plain,
Riding, riding, riding, riding,
Between the sun and the rain.

If I, having been, must be,
O God, let it be so,
Swift and supple and free
With a long journey to go,
And the clink of the curb, and the blow
Of hoofs, and the wind at my knee,
Riding, riding, riding, riding
Between the hills and the sea.

HAUGHTY HENRIETTA.

Feeling as important as she did Henrietta Hen likes to have her own way. She said that she couldn't be expected to do just as others wished.

"I'll take orders from nobody," she often declared. "And if I lay eggs for Farmer Green I shall lay them when and where I please."

Henrietta took special delight in laying her eggs in out-of-the-way places. She was never content to lay two in the same nest.

"If they left them for me perhaps I'd feel differently," she explained to her neighbors. "But Johnnie Green gathers every egg that he can find. And if he takes my eggs I'll make him hunt for them, anyhow."

The older, more staid hens shook their heads when Henrietta talked like that. They told her she was ungrateful.

"Farmer Green gives you a snug home and plenty of food," they reminded her. "And the least you can do is to repay him. You ought not to make trouble by hiding your eggs."

But Henrietta Hen couldn't—or wouldn't—agree with them.

"It's all very well for you to talk,"

"Look!" she cried, when they reached her nest high up in the haymow.

she retorted. "If my eggs were undersized I shouldn't mind losing them as fast as I laid them. But I lay the biggest and finest eggs to be had, so have at least one around to look at—it's only natural that I should like to and to show to callers."

Now, there were plenty of other hens in the flock that laid eggs exactly as big—or even bigger—than Henrietta Hen's. Some of them told her as much. Yet it did them no good to talk to her. She wouldn't believe that there were any eggs in the world to compare with hers. So her neighbors learned after a while that they might as well let Henrietta Hen manage her affairs as she pleased. They couldn't help hoping, however, that somehow Farmer Green would find a way to outwit her.

"What can Henrietta Hen be so hopeful about now?" the hens asked one another one day. "She acts as if she thought more highly of herself than ever."

They soon discovered the reason for Henrietta's unusually pompous manner. For she began to make calls on all her friends. And she invited everybody to come to her latest nest high up in the hay mow.

"I've something there to show you," she said with an air of mystery. "You'll be surprised to see it."

Most of Henrietta's neighbors did not show any great curiosity to see the surprise. They smiled at one another. "She's laid another egg—that's all!" they whispered.

But there are always some that can't rest until they know everybody else's business. And it was lucky that Henrietta Hen hurried home to receive her callers, because she had a good many. They came even earlier in the afternoon than was strictly fashionable. And they came in a crowd, too. That, however, didn't bother Henrietta Hen. Nor could they have arrived too soon to suit her.

"Look!" she cried, when they reached her nest high up in the hay mow. "Did you ever see anything to beat that?"

ANNUAL OF LOCAL RED CROSS SOCIETY TO-DAY

Re-election of Mrs. Ronald Harris to Presidency Expected.

Indications point to the re-election of Mrs. Ronald Harris as president of the London branch of the Red Cross Society, the annual meeting of which takes pace in Cronyn Hall at 3.30 o'clock this afternoon.

Definite announcement of election, however, even by acclamation, cannot be made until after the meeting, as nominations are in order from the floor during the course of the meeting. It is understood that a slate has been prepared for the other officers of the executive.

An outline of the peace policy of the Red Cross, as particularly adopted by the London branch, will be made by the president, and the reports of secretary, treasurer and other officers will be presented. It is understood that a large attendance has been requested, attendance at the annual meeting being the only compulsory duty of a Red Cross member.

Embarrassing Hairs Can Be Quickly Removed

(Beauty Culture)

Hairs can be easily banished from the under-arms, neck and face by this quick, painless method. Mix into a stiff paste some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. Excepting in very stubborn growths, one application is sufficient. To avoid disappointment, buy the delatone in an original package and mix fresh.—Advt.

GRADUATE OF VICTORIA SPEAKS TO ALUMNAE

Miss Struthers, Late of New York, Compares American and Canadian Registration.

Registration of nurses in New York State and the system of registration as at present existent in this province and in Canada generally were made the subjects of an interesting address from Miss Florence B. Struthers to the Victoria Hospital nurses' alumnae association last evening.

Miss Struthers, who is herself a graduate of the Victoria Hospital training school, has met with great success in her professional work in the U. S. A. and has but lately given up the superintendency of the Trudeau Sanatorium, in New York, to return for a time to Canada.

Dividing her topic into four heads, preliminary education, professional education, licensing examinations, and registration, Miss Struthers gave an interesting resume of the requirements necessary in New York State and in Canada for legal registration.

"Legal registration now means more than simply setting down your name as a qualified nurse" Miss Struthers said.

SCHOLASTIC REQUIREMENTS.

"Certain scholastic requirements are necessary, and so far, these requirements have been set by the provinces in Canada, and the various states in the U. S. A. We have now to consider whether it would be advisable to have a set standard for registration throughout the Dominion, to encourage reciprocity between the provinces. On the other hand, it must be remembered that scholastic standing, as determined by examinations, is not the only criterion of merit. There is much to consider, before the Canadian Nurses' Association undertakes to ask for a final settlement of the question, which of course we will get, since the woman's vote has given us so decisive a say in everything."

The speaker cited the four stages of nursing in New York State, graduate licensed nurse, licensed trained nurse, licensed trained attendant and licensed certified nurses. "We have to remember that this grading simplifies matters for the private patient," she explained "since usually the nurse who reaches the highest qualifications of her profession goes out of private nursing entirely."

Victoria and St. Joseph's Hospital nurses are eligible for registration in New York State, Miss Struthers pointed out.

The speaker concluded her address with some interesting and instructive details of the T. B. nursing as carried on in the Adirondacks hospitals.

A report of the Canadian Nurses' convention in Quebec this summer was presented by Mrs. Walter Cumming. Miss Agnes Malloch, vice-president, presided.

SASKATCHEWAN'S CROP.

The federal department of agriculture's estimate of this year's crop, based upon conditions as reported on September 15, is next thing to a final estimate made after the wheat is threshed and sold. It is interesting to Saskatchewan, and should be of interest to all Canada, to note that production of wheat for this province is estimated at 173,580,000 bushels, out of a total wheat crop for all Canada of 294,387,000 bushels, which is to say there are 173,000,000 bushels of wheat grown in Saskatchewan and 121,000,000 bushels in other provinces.

It is not only in wheat that Saskatchewan leads. The yield of oats is ahead of that of last year by 42,000,000 bushels. The yield of barley is larger by 3,000,000, and the yield of rye by 1,400,000 bushels. Only in flax is a slight decrease reported. Saskatchewan is the only province reporting increases in these grains—Regina Post.

McGraw As Pilot Always Has His Club Trying

Career Is One of Most Illustrious In Professional Baseball.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The career of John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants, and one of the best known men in professional baseball, stands out as one of the most interesting in the annals of the national sport. McGraw was born at Truxton, N. Y., on April 7, 1873.

McGraw played his first professional game shortly after he discarded short trousers. He made such a reputation around his home town as a hard hitter and skillful fielder that he was recommended to the Olean team, then in the New York State team, and in the spring of 1890 signed his first baseball contract.

McGraw says he never will forget the first game he played with Olean. Although only about 200 fans attended he felt more nervous than at any time in his life. In describing his first game the popular leader of the Giants said:

"That first game was one of the greatest events in my life and I will remember it always. I was confident of making good until I went on the field. Then I was bewildered; it seemed that there were enough persons in the stands to populate the State of New York. I hoped that the batter would not hit the ball to me.

"When a grounder did come my way I felt as though I was rooted to the turf. I couldn't move. Finally it seemed like an age to me—I got started and picked the ball up in my bare hand, but threw it over the first baseman's head in my haste to beat the runner."

SALARY $40 PER MONTH.

The error lost the game for McGraw's team, but it did not discourage him. McGraw got $60 a month for playing with Olean.

After one year with Olean he went to the Cedar Rapids Club, where the remuneration was slightly better. While with the Iowa team there was a remarkable change for the better in his playing. He performed at shortstop and his playing there attracted the attention of a big league scout, and in August, 1891, he was signed by the Baltimore Club, of the National League, then in a 12-club circuit.

Bill Barney was manager of the Orioles when McGraw broke into the "fast set." John finished the season of 1891 as a bench warmer.

In May, 1892, Ned Hanlon succeeded Barney and took a fancy to McGraw in spite of his small stature. First he tried him on second base, where he showed much speed and skill. He was transferred to third, where he played even more brilliantly, and there he stuck.

From that time until he withdrew from active service he was one of the best third basemen in the game, at one time being considered the top-notcher of them all. His ability to field bunts was uncanny, and no third baseman in the game ever has equaled him in that department. He always was a capable batter, but under Hanlon's direction he became one of the greatest in baseball. For years his average never fell below the .350 mark and he was very fast on the bases. His all-round good work was a big factor in Baltimore's string of pennants.

While a member of the Orioles he was surrounded by a coterie of stars who helped to set off his brilliancy. Hughie Jennings, who now is associated with him in the direction of the Giants, and Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyns, were among them.

McGraw and Robinson were sold in 1900 to the St. Louis Club for a price reported to be $18,000. The sale displeased both men.

When the American League invaded the East in 1900 McGraw was one of the ablest lieutenants of Ban Johnson, the league president. While they were still in St. Louis McGraw and Robinson were plotting to place an American team in Baltimore. Finally, McGraw obtained backing and assembled a good ball team. He was appointed manager of the club, which was a most popular move in Baltimore, and in 1901 there was no stauncher American leader than John McGraw, now the premier leader of the National League.

In 1902 there was an open split between McGraw and Johnson. Not only were the Orioles weakened by suspensions, but many players were retired with injuries. McGraw was spiked three times in 1902, the last causing an ugly wound in his knee, which practically ended his days as an active participant in the game. In mid-season the affairs of the Baltimore team became to demoralized that McGraw quit and announced that he was through with the game forever.

About this time the Giants were going poorly. It was during the Freedman regime. The team played bad ball and the fans were not attending the games. McGraw's name was suggested to Freedman and he placed him in command of the team on July 10. He has led the Giants since.

When McGraw came to New York the Polo Grounds seated 12,000 persons. Now it seats 38,000, and frequently on big days the club is compelled to close the gates. The New York Club considers John McGraw such a valuable asset that they have had his life insured for $100,000. The following table shows how McGraw's team has finished in the National League since he took hold:

Year.	Position.	Year.	Position.
1903	2	1912	1

BUZZ'S FIGHTING FACE.

Manager Buzz Wetzel, who lead the London Tecumsehs to the two consecutive championships in the Michigan Ontario Baseball League, signed a renewal of his 1921 contract with the London Tecumseh Baseball and Athletic Association, Limited, yesterday, and will be at the helm again next season.

Wetzel, with all sorts of offers and inducements staring him in the face, set everything aside to stay with the organization that has done so much for the furthering of the best interests of baseball, which often meant the loss of dollars and cents.

He has well defined plans for next season and while he intends keeping a spattering of old players he hopes to bring new faces to the Tecumseh Park diamond next season.

Buzz has the good wishes of the London fans no matter what his endeavors may be.

London Collegiate Selects Track Team For Toronto

Lawrence, Wilson, Wanless, Thompson, Gorman and Tambling Will Take Part.

Capt. J. J. Syme, of the London Collegiate Institute, last night announced the names of the six athletes who will go to Toronto on Saturday and participate in the international schools sports, to be held at the exhibition grounds under the auspices of the Sportsmen Patriotic Association.

The trials were held at Queen's Park last night and owing to the wind it was impossible to carry out the full program. The athletes were selected on the showings made in other field sports as well as the trials.

Albert Lawrence will take part in the 440 and 880-yard events. Lawrence figured largely in the Western Ontario interscholastic sports held here in the summer.

J. Cameron Wilson will run in the 100 and 220-yard races. N. William Wanless will take part in three events, namely: 100 yards, 220 yards and running high jump. William Thompson will represent the London Collegiate Institute in the one-mile run. Perrin Gorman will run in the 100 yards and also in the 100 yards open race for boys under 18 years.

TAMBLING INDEPENDENT.

Harry Tambling will go down as an independent athlete and will figure in the 880 yard, 220-yard open and the 100-yard race for boys under 18 years.

The relay team will be composed of Lawrence, Wilson, Wanless and Thompson. These boys have been practicing together for some time and expect to be among the winners.

The track team will leave London at 7 o'clock on Friday night on the C. P. R. and will have an opportunity to look over the track on Saturday morning before entering the competitions.

Y. Athletic Work Begins Earnestly

Nine Classes of Boys, Three Groups of Young Men, Besides Business Men Included.

Athletic classes for boys, young men and business men were opened yesterday at the Young Men's Christian Association. The classes are the largest in years, and, with the new gymnasium completed, the directors have planned to carry out a most extensive program of athletics this coming winter.

In the boys division nine classes have been organized. Six of the classes will meet twice a week while the other three will be out once a week.

Three groups have been organized for the young men. One class will have their exercises and drills three times a week and the remaining two will hold semi-weekly sessions.

The business men's section will meet twice a week. The business men's classes have grown greatly during the past year and London's leading business men pay regular visits to the "Y" gymnasium and keep themselves in condition.

Arrangements are now being made to organize a wrestling class, and the local men and boys wishing to take up this branch of the work will have their first meet within the next two weeks.

The leaders' corps will meet each Monday evening and receive instructions on how to handle groups.

COLLEGIATE SQUAD MEET ELKS TO-DAY

Two Playoffs to Decide Teams For N. W. B. A. Finals

PALMERSTON, Oct. 4.— In the N. W. B.A. finals Zurich and Woodstock will meet at Fullerton and Wingham and Palmerston will meet at Wingham tomorrow. The place of the play-off in the former game was set by the N.W.B.A. and in the latter a toss decided it. Both games are to decide ties and the winners will be matched against each other in the N.W.B.A. final.

The uproar in the league caused by Elora's protest will be settled by an executive vote and should this vote change the decision as laid down early last month Elora may, by a two third vote, play the winners for the Clarke trophy and the N.W.B.A. championship.

LONDON M. A. A. A. ORGANIZES

(FRANK WHITE IS PRESIDENT)

TO FOSTER ATHLETICS HERE

Parent Body Chosen to Control Sport Among Firms' Employees; Will Try to Have Queen's Park Track Enclosure Permanent Recreation Park; Sixteen Concerns Are Affiliated

London now has a parent body to govern athletics among the different firms of the city. The London Manufacturers' Amateur Athletic Association was organized at an enthusiastic meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. last evening, when more than 40 delegates from the various industries were present.

A move was also fostered to secure the ground encircled in the half-mile track at the Western Fair grounds for a permanent athletic field. Ald. George Wenige was elected to carry out the plans and will to-day issue petitions among the citizens of London requesting the fair board to allow the association to have the privilege of using the grounds.

The two Manufacturers leagues, which have been in existence in the past, will become amalgamated with the new parent body, but will elect their own officers. The president of each league will also be members of the executive committee of the L. M. A. A. A.

It was decided by the delegates not to exclude the teams which have been members of the Manufacturers' Baseball League and Manufacturers' Hockey League in 1920 and 1921, from the organization. Several of the hockey and baseball teams in the past have not exactly been manufacturers, but these teams will still enjoy the privilege of competing in the leagues if they so desire.

Ald. George Wenige was elected temporary chairman at the commencement of the meeting, after Fred Waud, former president of the London Manufacturers' A. A. A., had outlined the duties carried out in the past by the organization, and also the new plans.

DECIDE TO ORGANIZE.

The delegates unanimously decided to form an organization, and it was later voted to continue the name of the London Manufacturers' Amateur Athletic Association. The object of such an association is to foster athletics among the employees of all the manufacturing concerns of London.

"The possibilities are here and we must make the association much larger than it has been in the past or drop out altogether," said Ald. Wenige, upon taking the chair.

Every delegate in the room was called upon to give his views on whether the new organization should be formed and what plans carried out. The executives of the Manufacturers' Baseball League and Manufacturers' Hockey League were present and were in favor of the scheme providing that their former teams would again be admitted and that they be allowed to state in what manner the present funds would be disposed of. Fred Waud, ex-president, stated that it was merely a matter for the two leagues to decide and that the new body did not wish to dictate to the other leagues in any way whatsoever.

The election of officers was then held and J. J. Foote was chosen as honorary president. Mayor E. S. Little was also nominated, but lost out by one vote.

ELECT FRANK J. WHITE.

Frank J. White, of the London Rolling Mills, was elected president of the new association by acclamation. F. W. St. Lawrence, of Perrins' Manufacturing Company, was elected first vice-president. Fred Waud and T. W. McFarland were the defeated candidates.

Norman B. Graham, formerly president of the Manufacturers' Hockey League and vice-president of the Manufacturers' Baseball League, was elected second vice-president. L. H. Jones and J. J. McHale were also nominated.

David Allan, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., was elected secretary, defeating P. E. Suddick in the election for the office. F. H. Westbury was appointed treasurer by acclamation.

An executive committee composed of the following was appointed in addition to the other officers: J. J. McHale, P. L. Ferguson, A. T. Taylor and Fred J. Waud.

Whit Lancaster suggested that the name manufacturers' be eliminated and that the organization be known as the London Amateur Athletic Association, but the majority decided to continue the former title.

Norman (Cap) Graham was appointed to be in charge of the formation of a Manufacturers' Hockey League, and will call a meeting within the next 10 days, when all the firms interested in hockey will be requested to send their delegates to the meeting.

It is also probable that a basketball league will be organized to operate in the town during the next few days. The following are the members: George White & Son, D. S. Perrin, Leonards, Richard Wilcox, McClarys, T. H. Baker & Co., Beatty Brothers, Ruggles Motors, Silverwoods, Limited, London Free Press Printing Company, H. J. Jones & Sons, London Rolling Mills, McCormick Manufacturing Company.

M. L. Blake, director of physical education at the Western University, has drafted the program which will be carried out for university students during the fall and winter months.

The athletic classes will commence on Monday, October 10. The first and second year students will be trained between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock every Tuesday and Thursday evening.

The interyear basketball league is in the midst of formation and the games will be staged in the medical school gymnasium each Tuesday evening, between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock.

The ladies basket ball league will be composed of several teams, and the games will be conducted in the Oxford street gymnasium every Saturday.

PUSH BALL AND BOXING.

A push ball league will be formed and games will be played at the gymnasium on Monday evenings, between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock.

Boxing and wrestling classes will be conducted at the medical gymnasium on Thursdays. From present indications the boxing and wrestling classes will be large, as many of the students are anxious to take up this branch of athletics.

A large amount of time is being devoted to rugby at the present and the coach is endeavoring to have the Western "U" squad well trained so that they will capture the first two games at home in the interscholastic series.

John Evers Calls Giants to Win

Former Chicago Cub Leader Favors National League Winners Because of McGraw.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Johnny Evers, former manager of the Chicago Cubs, favors the Giants in the coming battles between the New York clubs for baseball supremacy of the world.

"I like the Giants," declared the former infield star to-day. "McGraw is a great manager, and has a better team than many think he has. The Giants are a smart bunch of players and fast on the bases."

"Babe" Ruth may prove a stumbling block for the National League club, however, in Evers' opinion.

The rival managers, McGraw and Huggins, are equally confident of the outcome of the games. The fact that the rain yesterday spoiled the Giants' chance to practice did not worry their guardian.

"My players are in good condition, and the rest will do them just as much good, if not more, than an hour or two of work on the diamond," McGraw said.

"We are ready, and no excuses will be offered on the score of condition if the Giants are beaten by the Yankees."

Baseball as it is played in the American League, will be the Yankees' style in the series, declared Manager Huggins, of the junior circuit champions.

"I intend to play regular American League baseball in the series with the Giants," he said, "the kind of baseball that won for us in our season's campaign. I think it will be a hard-fought series. Our club is going in with all the confidence in the world. We realize the Giants have a good team, but we will go in with the determination to beat them, as good as they are.

"I believe our pitching and attack will win the world's championship for us."

McGraw's pitchers will have to watch their step when it comes to Ruth, he said. "The big fellow is apt to break up a game any time he comes to bat. Outside of Ruth though. I think the Giants have the edge on the Yankees in batting."

RELIEVE QUIGLEY.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 4.—At the request of the National Baseball Commission, Ernest Quigley, the National League umpire, named as one of the staff for the world's series, was relieved to-day by the Harvard athletic management of his assignment as the referee of the Indiana-Harvard football game here next Saturday. An official to act in his place will be named after a conference between Indiana and Harvard authorities on Thursday.

British Ladies' Chances to Land Golf Title Good

Miss Cecil Leitch and Sister Edith and Mrs. Hall Win Easily.

DEAL, N. J., Oct. 4.—Chances of the British delegation to capture the United States women's golf championship increased to-day in the first round of match play of the national tournament at the Hollywood Golf Club. Three British contenders, Miss Cecil Leitch, champion of Great Britain, Canada and France; her sister, Miss Edith Leitch, and Mrs. Latham Hall, survived the day's round in most impressive style.

Miss Cecil Leitch had an easy opponent in Mrs. R. H. Hammer, of New York. She won by eight up and seven to play. Despite the fact that the British champion had no need to extend herself during the round, her trip to the turn in 41 against a head wind increased respect for her wonderful driving power.

One of the greatest upsets of the day was the defeat of Miss Glenna Collett, of Providence, R. I., the 18-year-old phenomenon, who tied with Mrs. Hall for the qualifying medal yesterday, by Miss Edith Leitch, three up and two to go. Miss Leitch played her usual steady game, while the Providence girl was off in her putting and made one shot into a ditch.

The battle royal of the day was the match between Miss Hall, who tied Miss Collett yesterday in the qualifying round, and Mrs. W. A. Gavin, of New York, which went to 20 holes. Mrs. Hail won as the result of Mrs. Gavin tamping her footprints in a bunker with her club before she had played out. She made the same mistake in the qualifying round yesterday and it cost her the match, under the rules.

Miss Alexa Stirling, of Atlanta, had no trouble in surviving. She eliminated Miss Harriet Shepherd, of Hartford, Conn., seven up and five to play.

They will have so many subjects to discuss at the disarmament conference that perhaps they won't reach the subject of disarmament at all. — Omaha World-Herald.

LONDON JOBLESS HOLD BIG PARADE

March To Hyde Park, Demand Work Or Maintenance.

CONTROL ALMOST LOST.

Premier's Arrival To-Day May Make a Difference.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—(Associated Press Cable.)—What the police characterize as the biggest demonstration of unemployed ever known in London occurred to-day when about 10,000 workless, including hundreds of women, some of them carrying babies, assembled on the Thames embankment and marched to Trafalgar Square. Finding that closed to them they marched to Hyde Park where speeches were made, demanding work or maintenance.

Harry Gosling, one of the foremost labor leaders, speaking before the London County Council, said:

"The labor leaders are on the brink of losing control over the unemployed. Unless the unemployment question is settled immediately there is bound to be a row, not only in London, but all over the country."

With the arrival here to-morrow of Premier Lloyd George from his holiday the preparation of plans to deal wth the problems will be rushed ahead.

PREMIER EXPLAINS.

INVERNESS, Scotland, Oct. 4. — Prime Minister Lloyd George, speaking here concerning unemployment, to-day touched upon the Irish question, declaring the London conference, beginning on October 11, between representatives of the British Government and the Sinn Fein "can only succeed if those who enter it make up their minds definitely and resolutely to trust to the common sense of their own people and do not try to reconcile the extremists."

Lloyd George referred optimistically to the forthcoming conference in Washington on limitation of armaments, declaring "it will constitute one of those outstanding events which will affect human history for centuries."

"INVERNESS FORMULA."

Mr. Lloyd George said he had hoped to further the Irish question while in the Highlands, but that through no fault of is own or his colleagues he did not succeed.

"At any rate, when we enter the conference, which will be held in London," he declared, " we shall do so with what is known as the Inverness formula, which was signed in this very chamber and dispatched to the representatives of the Irish people."

Dealing with unemployment, the prime minster emphasized that it was not ordinary trade depression, but a world condition, due to shattering effects upon the world's trade, credit and competition.

"The nations have had to mortgage their resources and pledge their future," Mr. Lloyd George said. "The result is that it has led to impoverishment. Traders, investors and workingmen—and everybody dependent upon them—must be impoverished for years to come."

Meantime, the prime minister said, it was necessary to look after the needy.

The premier left to-night for London.

TEACHER DISMISSED AND THEN REINSTATED

WINNIPEG, Oct. 5.—W. D. Bayley, M. L. A., has been reinstated as principal of King George V. School by the St. Boniface School Board. Mr. Bayley has now placed his resignation in the hands of the Teachers' Federation, but it had not been received by the St. Boniface School Board at last night's meeting. Mr. Bayley claims that his position as principal has been compromised.

R. J. BALL, M. P., AGAIN CHOSEN

Nominated by Government Supporters to Contest South Grey

DELEGATES ENTHUSIASTIC.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie Given Fine Reception at Durham Gathering.

DURHAM, Oct. 4.—R. J. Ball, M. P., was again the choice of the National Liberal and Conservative convention held here to-day. Mr. Ball will bear the standard in the riding of South Grey. He defeated R. J. Edwards, Glenelg Township farmer, by 107 to 56. In all six names were put before the convention. The other four, Hon. I. B. Lucas, ex-M. P. P., Dr. David Jamieson, W. Bressie and Dr. Eagle, withdrew.

The convention was one of great optimism. Evidence of the interest displayed was the large crowd which turned out despite the unfavorable weather. The speaker of the day was Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of militia. He was greeted with cheers and in a forceful way told what the United States Fordney tariff bill meant to the citizens of Canada.

Each of the six nominees spoke 10 minutes and were confident of the success of the Government at the polls in December.

QUEST HAS NOT ONE ABLE SEAMAN

Shackleton's Party Consists Entirely of Specialists.

MARINERS ARE RUEFUL.

Think Three-Year Cruise Without Man-Before-the-Mast Unwise.

LISBON, Oct. 5.—Sir Ernest Shakleton and his party have arrived here on board the vessel Quest, which has been damaged by a heavy storm off the west coast of Portugal.

It is recalled that when the Quest started out from England on its voyage of exploration to the Antarctic, dispatches from London stated there was not a "single able-bodied seaman in the crew." The use of oil fuel on board the Quest made it necessary for Sir Ernest to ship specialists as members of his crew. Perhaps this unusual personnel was the reason that an English journalist who accompanied the little ship to the mouth of the Thames wrote in a dispatch: "It was with a feeling of relief that Gravesend was reached."

British mariners were said to have taken a rueful view of a vessel undertaking a three-year cruise without a man-before-the-mast.

60 BOTTLES OF WINE WITHOUT AN OWNER

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 4.—A barrel containing five dozen bottles of native wine was confiscated by License Inspector Killing here to-day, following the failure of the party to whom it was consigned to call for it. The shipment arrived here some days ago, but no trace has been found of the person to whom it was addressed. To-day the authorities notified the wine company to have a representative here to give any reasons why shipment should not be confiscated, but no one turned up, so the wine was to-day sent to the license board in Toronto.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES AT WINGHAM CHURCH

WINGHAM, Oct. 4.—The annual harvest thanksgiving services were held in St. Paul's Church on Sunday, when large congregations were present, both morning and evening, to greet a former much respected rector in the person of Rev. William Lowe, now located at St. John's, London Township, and two very interesting and helpful sermons were much enjoyed by all present. The church was very prettily decorated to suit the occasion and splendid music was rendered by the choir, including a delightful solo from C. Templeman. On Monday evening a harvest home supper was given in the schoolroom by the Ladies' Guild, which was a splendid success both socially and financially.

SUCCESSFUL MISSION.

Milestones

"GOOD-BYE, Son!" Such simple words, yet how they choke you! How they blot out the sunshine! You have always known that the day must come when he would go out into the world. But ah! The bleak reality of today! Leaving home! Grown up! And it seems only days since he was tumbling out of apple-trees, and tracking mud over the kitchen floor to the cookie jar.

"Good-bye, Son!" Unreasoning fear clutches at your breast, but in that valiant mother-way, your eyes smile straight and trustingly into the young eyes looking lovingly into yours. It is a moment of sacred covenant between you and your boy. And as your lips seal the silent compact of promise and trust, you slip into his hand that matchless gift—an Elgin Watch—while the look of amazed delight and the sudden mist in his eyes, is your precious reward.

PREMIER PUTS ISSUE SQUARELY BEFORE PEOPLE OF CANADA

In Manifesto to Canadian Electorate the Prime Minister Tells of the Conditions Which Led Statesmen Forty-Two Years Ago To Adopt the Policy of Tariff Protection for Canada and Points to the Development of Canada Into Prosperous Nationhood as a Consequence of That Policy.

OTTAWA, Oct. 4.—(Special to The Free Press.)—Dissolution of Parliament was promulgated with official formality to-night. Simultaneously, the prime minister's manifesto to the people of Canada was issued by Senator Lougheed in the absence of Mr. Meighen. The election date, however, is not yet announced, the delay being attributed to the fact that the list of returning officers is not yet complete, and the writs cannot issue until in each constituency there is someone to whom they can be directed. In any event, the voting will be in the first week of December and the specific date will be announced in a day or so.

The manifesto of the prime minister is a calm, well-reasoned, dispassionate discussion of the outstanding political issues. It is forcible in its assertions, direct in its appeal and specific in its portrayal of the situation; the paramount question is the maintenance of the fiscal independence of the country. Mr. Meighen emphatically urges that the best interests of the Dominion could only be served through continuing in effect the present tariff policy and that the fight in the present election is wholly a fight against free trade.

SAW THE NEED.

Pointing out that 42 years ago the people of Canada realized the need of a protective tariff to prevent a submissive relationship towards the United States, and a study of the last 45 years would conclusively show the advances made under protection, the prime minister sets forth that any downward revision of the tariff schedules would mean the surrender of the advances made as a self-contained aggressive industrial nation and a reversion to a position where dependence upon a more favorable American tariff policy would become the national aspiration.

The tariff proposals of the Liberals and Progressives are held up as practically the same, both tending toward a downward revision and free trade, with consequent greater buying from and less selling to the United States. This would mean a loss of millions in exchange alone, while would find that with the depreciation of Canadian industry the burden of taxation would fall heavier and heavier upon themselves. The tariff policies of both oppositions were proposals to which both the Liberals and Progressives were solemnly committed.

LABOR WILL BENEFIT FIRST.

Mr. Meighen asks the people to pronounce against all such policies and by a decisive verdict restore confidence and industrial peace. The laboring people would be the first to benefit by such a verdict.

At the outset of his manifesto the prime minister outlines the tremendous difficulties of the war years and the successful work of re-establishment since that time. He also includes an appeal to the women of Canada to fully share the responsibilities of public life with the men, and expresses the confident hope that they will prove a steady and enlightening force in the public life.

Text of the Premier's Manifesto

The text of the Premier's manifesto to the electorate of the Dominion follows:

"TO THE PEOPLE OF CANADA:

"Parliament has been dissolved. The people of Canada, its men and for the first time its women are called upon to determine in what will inevitably be a contest far-reaching and momentous in its outcome, what shall be, through the strenuous journey that very plainly is ahead of us, the character and direction of our policy.

"I have been a member of the Government through eight eventful years and its leader for something more than one. The Government has conducted Canada's affairs through a devastating war. It has met and surmounted unprecedented difficulties and survived the crises that such a war brings in its train. It has formulated policies by means of which the sufferings of the conflict have been and are being ameliorated and its loss and wreckage repaired. To the demands of those trying years it has devoted all its energies, and is prepared now with vigor undiminished to lead the way through the dangers and unsettlement which, in common with other countries we are passing through.

THE WAR AND AFTER.

"What has been accomplished both in war effort on its many fields and in our more domestic after-war activities, designed to steady and direct the transition from belligerency to peace, is a total so vast, when related to our population, that even yet we cannot adequately measure its merits or its proportions. We are still too close to the events. A useful standard, indeed the only useful standard by which to gauge the efficiency of Canada's performance is a comparison with the corresponding achievement of any other nation. By such standard neither this nor any future generation of Canadians need ever fear to have their country judged. If the leadership of the Government in all this work is subjected to attack we are prepared to meet that attack. But neither the Government nor the National-Liberal and Conservative party that supports it seek to monopolize or to turn to partisan advantage credit that belongs to the whole nation and that constitutes now its richest legacy and asset for the future; much less would we take to ourselves any part of the glory that belongs alone to those who braved the foe in battle. History will, with the utmost impartiality, separate the permanent from the transient and distinguish big things from small; will condemn where there has been mistake and will do full justice to plans boldly conceived and unflinchingly carried through.

A PROUD MEMORY.

"The war is a memory, and a proud memory, but it is no longer an issue. Canada from 1914 to 1918, under the splendid leadership of Sir Robert Borden, passed through one of those crises that reaps the soul of a people. We must now face with courage the gigantic task of reconstruction. We must sustain and improve services already established for assisting those who especially suffered from the war; we must map out our course; we must choose policies that accord with our aspirations as a nation, that are suited to the present stage of our development, to our surroundings in the world and to the troubled age in which we live.

"By tradition, by the sense of common inheritance and of common ideals the Dominion of Canada aspires to one destiny and one only—a destiny than there is no nobler—nationhood within the British Empire. I am convinced there is no single thing more vital to the best interests of the world than that the British Empire as at present constituted shoud be maintained. We enjoy the fullest autonomy and that autonomy is not challenged and never shall be challenged. For the maintenance of the British Empire, as a league of autonomous nations, there are common burdens that all must share but these burdens are light and the advantages abundant in comparison with either the burdens or the advantages of any other destiny that can be conceived. Sentiment and interest are in accord in upholding British connection.

POLICY OF PROTECTION.

"Forty-two years ago Canada adopted and ever since has consistently maintained a protective tariff. At the time the Canadian people decided on this policy experience had driven home two very important conclusions,

"1. Our nearness to the United States was tending to drain the natural resources of our younger country into the larger manufacturing establishments of the Republic, there to employ American workmen in their development and American railways and other commercial interests in their distribution and sale. Hundreds of thousands of Canadians, workmen and others, were accordingly compelled to emigrate.

"2. After this process had continued a change in the American policy resulting in the imposition of a high protective tariff against us threw Canada into a state of reaction and depression and to escape this penalty there was strong temptation to assume a submissive or dependent relationship towards the United States.

"Acting in the light of these experiences the Canadian people decided to build up an industrial system of their own. To thus develop our own resources and keep our people here earning wages and salaries and profits therefrom, a protective tariff was essential. A study of the last 40 years will clearly show that the conclusions drawn by our fathers in 1878 were sound and right conclusions. These years have been years of continuous development through good times and ill. The markets of our towns and cities have become more and more the reliance of our agricultural producers. The value of our manufacturing, mineral and agricultural production has multiplied many times over. Being able to depend so largely on an ever-expanding home market we have produced upon a scale that enabled us to enter markets abroad and so successful have we been that the trade of Canada has multiplied over and over again. Our exports last year were 14 times in value what they were in 1870 and four times what they were as late as 1910. Our total trade is now over seven times what is was 20 years ago. Indeed, the per capita trade of Canada stands in the front of the larger nations of the world and has stood as high as 2½ times the per capita trade of the United States. We have taken the strong, self-reliant course and have been able to pursue that course and maintain our prosperity regardless of the policy of any other nation.

MOVE TO UPSET POLICY

"For some years past and very emphatically in recent years a determined movement has been on foot seeking to reverse the tariff policy of the Dominion. The official Opposition in the Commons now led by Hon. Mackenzie King has made repeated and vaired demands in Parliament for the wiping out of tariff schedules. Finally that party was called into convention in August, 1919, which convention unanimously passed the following resolution:

"That the best interests of Canada demand that substantial reductions of the burdens of customs taxation be made with a view to the accomplishing of two purposes of the highest importance.

"'First, diminishing the very high cost of living which presses so severely on the masses of the people.

"'Second, reducing the cost of the instruments of production in the industries based on the natural resources of the Dominion, the vigorous development of which is essential to the progress and prosperity of our country.

"'That to these ends, wheat, wheat flour and all products of wheat, the principal articles of food, farm implements and machinery, farm tractors, mining, flour and sawmill machinery and repair parts thereof, rough and dressed lumber, gasoline, illuminating, lubricating oils, nets, net twines and fishermen's equipments, cements and fertilizers should be free from customs duties, as well as the raw material entering into the same.

REVISION DOWNWARD.

"'That revision downwards of the tariff should be made whereby substantial reductions should be effected in the cost of wearing apparel, footwear and other articles of general consumption other than luxuries, as well as on raw materials entering into the manufacture of the same.

"'That the British preference be increased to 50 per cent. of the general tariff.

"'And the Piberal party hereby pledges itself to implement by legislation the provisions of this resolution when returned to power.'

"This resolution, though frequently evaded, and more often avoided, sometimes paraded to entice allies, sometimes entombed to conciliate friends, nevertheless stands as the solemn recorded unanimous pledge of the Hon. Mackenzie King and his party. It is not a declaration of principle, but a concrete, binding commitment to specific acts.

A GRAVER MENACE.

"But a stronger and more menacing enemy has arisen. For some years past there has been growing up, first on the prairies of the West and later through selected parts of Eastern Canada, a party backed by a costly and persistent propaganda, the purpose of which is to reverse the tariff policy of this country. This movement, led by the Hon. T. A. Crerar and Mr. H. W. Wood, has also set down its immediate tariff demands in black and white. They need not be here repeated. The resolution of the Liberal convention quoted above substantially embodies, indeed, was modeled on the platform of the Wood-Crerar party. The latter, however, demand also the free entry of coal and vehicles, unrestricted reciprocity with the United States and free trade with England within five years. The federal Liberal party, of Alberta, merging its demands in the agrarian platform, has officially demanded, as well, free trade with the United States within five years. There is no need of drawing fine distinctions. The great mass of those subscribing to these demands are determined propagandists of free trade. They are determined opponents of any protective tariff in this country, and their goal they are resolved to reach by as rapid means as they can command.

WHAT IT MEANS.

"The immediate enactments which both sections of the Opposition are pledged to put into effect inevitably mean the abandonment of the protective system. No system can be defended or can continue which strips hundreds of the most essential industries of this country of all tariff protection and leaves less important industries in the enjoyment of tariff protection. It is therefore beyond dispute, both because of the intent of the vast majority behind these programs and because of the logical consequences of the programs themselves that the real thing we are called upon to resist at the present time is a free trade policy for Canada.

"The United States protective tariff, much reduced in 1913, was last March restored to the most prohibitive level in force for many years. Even as their tariff stood they had sold this country in the last five years goods to the value of nearly 18 hundred million dollars over and above the value of all they buoght from us. They have now imposed high customs taxes with a view to purchasing still less from us, and as a part of such policy they have placed almost prohibitive barriers against farm products of this country.

"Our dollar is already at a serious discount in the United States, mainly because of our excessive purchases there compared with our sales. Under these circumstances it is indeed hard to conceive how serious-minded Canadians can suggest as the proper course for us the wiping out entirely of our present moderate duties on farm products coming into Canada and the general leveling down of our tariff in order that while we are compelled to sell them less we may be induced to purchase more.

WOULD CLOSE INDUSTRIES.

"To follow such advice means the loss of additional millions in the discount of our money. It means grossly unfair competition for the great mass of the farmers of Canada. It means the curtailment or the closing down of many scores of industries, the discouragement and contraction of our towns and cities, and the impairment of the best market for the products of our farms. It means the surrender of the advance we have made as a self-contained aggressive industrial nation, and reversion to a position where dependence upon a more favorable American fiscal policy will become more and more a national aspiration. The spirit of this country will not tolerate a course so weak and so disastrous.

"Against the tariff proposals of the Hon. Mackenzie King and all whom in this contest he represents, against the tariff proposals of Mr. Wood and Mr. Crerar and all whom they represent, I ask the people of Canada to pronounce.

"Already there is unsettlement of business conditions resulting in unemployment and loss to all classes. A persistent protection campaign, resulting in uncertainty and lack of confidence has so disturbed and curtailed production as to account for many thousands being out of work to-day. A decisive verdict by the Canadian people will be the signal for returning confidence, for renewed productive activities and for better times. The laboring population of our country will be the first to benefit by such a verdict and would be the heaviest sufferers should the tried and proven policy of this country be exchanged for manifestly fallacious theories. Canadian farmers would soon find that with the reduction or destruction of our industrial centers would pass away not only their most profitable market, but at the same time the source of the greater portion of our revenue, with the result that the burden of taxation would thereafter have to be borne more and more by themselves. The time has come to settle this issue and the well-being of our and all depends upon its being settled right.

OTHER SUBJECTS.

"There are other subjects of importance, and these I have on several platforms discussed, and shall again discuss. As respects one and all, my position has been and shall be definite, understandable and consistent. There is no topic of public interest that we wish to evade; there can be no attack that we are not eager and able by the presentation of facts to repel. We have carried through these years a responsibility unprecedented in its magnitude, and for the discharge of that responsibility we are prepared to answer through all portions of the Dominion, and before all classes of the people of Canada. On the shoulders of the people themselves the responsibility now is placed. They must decide, and I pray that the gravity of that decision every man and every woman will fully comprehend. They must decide between sure and ordered progress and perilous experiments; they must decide between the certain fruits of a strong and stable government and that sterility and despair which can be the only product of class alliances and the balancing of groups; they must decide between a tariff policy which, in Canada's position is the very root of her prosperity, and the progressive absorption of Canadian industries, and with them manhood and womanhood in the ever expanding system of the United States.

APPEALS TO WOMEN.

"To the women of Canada I make especial appeal. The Government now in office, supported by the party which I have the honor to lead, extended to you three years ago the federal franchise. Your rights of suffrage are now in every respect the same as the suffrage rights of men. This was done voluntarily as an act of justice. The services of women in the war had been such that in the judgment of the Government and the party that supported it their qualifications for franchise had been demonstrated, and their right of franchise had been earned. Nevertheless, there were those opposed to us who resisted the Government's action in this regard, and who still insist that such action was wrong. My appeal to them is earnestly and thoroughly to study the great issue that now confronts our country, and conscientiously to seek a conclusion on that issue from the standpoint of country-loving Canadians to refuse steadfastly to be moved by reckless and unsupported calumny of public men or by the cry of prequdice or by class appeal. Through the long struggle of the war the women of our country proved themselves equal with men in stern, unselfish patriotism and fervent devotion to duty. I confidently hope that in the execution of the trust reposed in them now they will prove to be a steadying and enlightening force in our public life, that they will show forth an example of public conduct dictated by love of country alone, and will thus vindicate to all the world their right to share with men responsibility for public affairs.

(Signed) "ARTHUR MEIGHEN."

TELLS BELAND TO TALK IN QUEBEC

Should Plead For Racial Harmony There, Says Meighen.

PREMIER AT DIGBY.

Gives Example of Mr. King's Duplicity On Tariff.

DIGBY, N.S., Oct. 4.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—From the same platform which Hon. MacKenzie King spoke from last night, Premier Meighen, prime minister, this afternoon made his declaration to the people of Digby and vicinity. His speech, which was well received, contained admonition to members of the Liberal opposition. He advised Dr. H. S. Beland, who voiced a plea for racial harmony at last night's meeting, to practice and preach this doctrine in his own province. He denied allegations which he said had been made by Willian Duff, M.P. for Lunenburg, that the Government had put through its mercantile marine program by orders-in-council and declared that the Liberal Opposition, including Mr. Duff, had voted in favor of the program.

The Premier immediately after his Digby speech went to Yarmouth, where he addressed another large meeting. He again pleaded the cause of protection, declaring his earnest belief that a protective policy was essential to the life of the Dominion.

AT SPRINGHILL.

Speaking at still another large meeting at Springhill, Mr. Meighen emphasized the responsibility which had confronted the Government during the war period. No army could have achieved what the Canadian army had achieved in France had it not been adequately supported by the Government at home. In 1918, the situation in France had been so grave that it was necessary to break even the Government's pledge and cancel the exemptions of men from 21 to 24 and there had been considerable feeling in the country against the Government as a result of the action taken then. The prime minister declared that the Government had treated its returned soldiers better than any other country taking part in the war.

The Government's land settlement policy had resulted in placing 26,000 men on the land, and 95 per cent. of them were making good.

NO SIGN OF GRAFT.

Canada had expended on war and the products of war two billion dollars. Charges of graft in public expenditures had vanished and vague allegations of extravagance, unsupported by facts, were not to be taken seriously. Mr. Meighen said that Canada had come through the war in better condition than any other belligerent country save the United States.

"Situated as this country is, alongside the greatest industrial country the world has ever known, a policy of protection is vital to this country," declared Hon. Mr. Meighen. "I make this prophecy," he went on, referring to the Liberal policy, that you will not hear one Liberal on this platform who will say he is against a duty on coal. But ask Mr. King if he told them in the West that he favored a duty on coal. He did not because the farmers are in favor of removing the duty on coal."

Mr. Meighen explained once more the importance of keeping up the tariff wall in order that Canadian industry may live.

Mr. Meighen speaks at Yarmouth tomorrow morning, at Windsor in the afternoon and at Halifax at night.

MUSICIANS TO VOTE ON COWLRICK QUESTION

MONTREAL, Oct. 4.—It was announced here to-day that, acting under the instructions of President Weber, of the International Union of American Musicians, every Canadian union throughout the Dominion would, on Friday next, vote whether or not they are in favor of admitting J. Cowlrick, the well-known English orchestral director, into Canada on a "limited ticket."

Mr. Cowlrick is to conduct an English musical revue. He was at first refused permission to conduct the music here on the ground that he was not a member of the American Musicians' Union. Strong pressure, however, was brought to bear on Mr. Weber by the Canadian locals affiliated with the American organization.

Great indignation has been expressed in the English papers at the decision of Mr. Weber to prevent an English musician playing in Canada, particularly after Mr. Weber had already licensed two old country orchestra leaders under precisely similar circumstances.

HAVE TAXI TARIFF.

SIMCOE, Oct. 4.—The police committee of the Council is preparing a by-law which will establish a rate of fees for taxi drivers, etc.

DR. STEELE AGAIN CHOSEN IN PERTH

Unanimously Nominated At Convention In Mitchell.

APPLAUSE FOR MEIGHEN.

Dr. Steele Says Perth Proud of Her Native Son.

MITCHELL, Oct. 4.—(By Staff Reporter).—Dr. Michael Steele, of Tavistock, federal member for South Perth since 1911, and candidate of his party in the two preceding contests, was this afternoon given the unanimous nomination of the National LIberal and Conservative party, at a well-attended convention in the opera house here. When nominations were called for by Dr. W. A. Brown, chairman, no others were proposed. The meeting shouted for Dr. Steele, and Dr. Steele it was. There were addresses by F. Stewart Scott, sitting member in South Waterloo, the adjoining constituency; Miss Sherritt, of Blanshard, late missionary in China, and daughter of the late John Sherritt, who was a member for the old North Middlesex riding 20 years ago, and by several of the delegates. Organization was resumed with election of a new slate of officers.

References to Premier Meighen, himself a native of South Perth, were heartily applauded. The speakers dealt largely with the tariff, but in view of a contention by Opposition parties that the record of the Government is a chief issue, displayed every willingness to discuss that as well. Dr. Steele said he was glad both the "Mackenzie King Liberals" and the Farmers' party were to contest the riding, as it would promote fullest discussion of public issues, and announced his intention to hold as many meetings as possible.

PROUD OF LEADER.

"It is an honor," he said, "to be nominated in such a riding as South Perth, and it is an honor to be nominated as a supporter of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen (applause). He is a South Perth boy, born and raised in the riding, never having forgotten the township and constituency where he was brought up, and still retaining most kindly feelings and affectionate remembrances of the place of which he is a native son.

"It is 17 years, I think, about now, since I was first nominated as a candidate in South Perth. We have had our ups and downs, our failures and successes, and now I come up for a fifth time, and I suppose we might say this is the deciding game. Well, let us make it the deciding game, and see that the decision is proper (applause).

"The nominee of the National Liberal and Conservative party goes into the conflict untrammeled by any pledges, and if elected is elected as a free man. He is expected to think for himself. When a man is elected as a candidate of this party, it is an indication that his friends think him intelligent enough to do what he thinks is right. It is the only way a man should be elected to any legislative assembly in the British Empire. (Applause).

"One of the objects of the National Liberal and Conservative party is to serve all the people of Canada. It recognizes no class, and particularly no occupation, but is a party for all Canada, regardless of class, creed, race or the province in which they live.

FORGOT POLITICS.

"This, too, is the party that for five years forgot politics, and that is one of the reasons we are meeting here today with no organization. They dropped it at the time this country was going through the terrible stress we passed through. The purpose of the party is that out of this conflict shall come a greater Canada and a better and greater Canadian people.

"If you want a leader who has ability, capacity for work, devotion to duty as he sees it, who has an intense love of his country, and has a vision of the Canada of the future, and a burning desire for the social betterment of the Canadian people as men and women, you have such a leader in the person of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen. (Applause.) Times and conditions in the country call for just such a leader and just such a party. We are laying the foundation for future greatness, and we want to see that that foundation is well and truly laid.

"We have three parties opposing the Government to-day. The Mackenzie King Liberals are dividing the people of Canada by the solid bloc of the Province of Quebec, which they are striving to maintain. The Farmers' party is dividing the people on class lines, selecting farmers only in their consideration of who shall represent them. And it is only a special farmer that will be considered by them, a man carrying the U. F. O. brand, otherwise he can not represent them. No matter how bright a farmer's boy may be, who has left the farm and gone to the city and become a capable business man, he is excluded from participation in the affairs of Canada by the U. F. O. platform. Then there is the Independent Labor party. I regret very much for the sake of the farmers of Canada that any section of the farmers have chosen to ally themselves with the I. L. P. I do not say the Labor party, because the great mass of them are not affiliated with them. The Independent Labor party has nominated in Winnipeg Mr. Russell, who spent nearly a year in jail as punishment for his part in the attempted revolution in Winnipeg in 1919.

"The policy of all three, I think, is destructive, when the policy of the party governing Canada ought to be constructive. What we need to-day is men who will build up. Many men in the West would set up a Soviet Government, as they attempted to do. Many men who are opposing this Government in different parts of the country are doing all they possibly can to destroy the unity of citizenship of Canada.

"The more you know of the real record of the Government—not the imputed record—the more you will think of that Government. Let us have discussion of it, if the people desire, but we cannot get away from the fact that one of the great questions we have to decide to-day is whether we are going to continue the fiscal policy which has been in effect in Canada for 43 years or destroy it. If the farmers of South Perth are so self-sacrificing as to throw down the barriers and say to the Americans, "Come on with your foodstuffs, we will enjoy competing with you," you are more self-sacrificing than I give you credit for."

MR. SCOTT.

Mr. Scott emphasized the fact that there had been no scandal or serious fault to be found with the present administration. The public accounts committee had met only three or four times.

He referred to the circumstances which led to the acquisition by the country of the several railways now in the Government system, and recalled how at one time Mackenzie and Mann were seeking to build steam and electric lines in Western Ontario as feeders to the Canadian Northern in the West. The Government now controls these necessary feeders in the Western Ontario lines of the Grand Trunk.

"If we had not acquired them, to make a success of these other lines, we would have had to expend enormous sums. To duplicate to-day a railway system such as the old Grand Trunk, and to give the service we hope to have, would cost an enormous amount, and while we believe the railway situation is most important, and we are faced with deficits, we must not forget that, after all, railroad earnings are a barometer of trade conditions. We are going to have better times, and I believe they have already started, and that railroad earnings are going to go up, and in the years to come we will find it is a splendid investment for the Dominion of Canada.

THE BALANCE OF TRADE.

"In 1920 our imports from the United States were $97 per head of population. Their imports from Canada were but $4.31 per capita. It would seem to the average man that the United States ought to be pretty well satisfied with that trade condition. The fact, however, is that there has been a tremendous agitation, carried on largely in the Western States, for a duty on Canadian products. The Republican party came into power last year, as you know, and has intriduced the Fordney bill, and there is a general increase which will largely prevent Canada from sending goods into the United States.

"It is a most inopportune time for us to think of reducing our tariff, in the face of that. If Canada is going to occupy the position which we hope and believe she will occupy, are we going the right way about it if we follow the plans suggested by the agrarians in the West?

"The way to do it is to buy at home, and produce our goods right here in Canada. We in Waterloo County are proud of what we have done in an industrial way, and look with great misgiving upon the program of the agrarian party.

"We have in Canada more than 500 branches of United States concerns. The development of Hamilton has been due entirely to the locating there of such industries. If we had followed the policy laid down by the Agrarian party at this time the International Harvester Company and all these various concerns would not have considered it for a moment, but would have supplied the Canadian market from their American plants. If the people of Canada were to vote for a free trade policy it would simply add eight or ten states to the American Union. In effect that is just what it means, and we have a little different vision of the future of Canada. Let us follow the policy we have during the past few years and we will rival the development of the United States.

"A great deal of our wheat has been exported to the United States to be mixed with their softer grades in the manufacture of flour. Their new tariff imposes a duty on wheat which is almost prohibitive. If they do not get our wheat they are going to have an inferior grade of flour. Our millers will press Canadian trade in the markets of the world and I believe will take a lot of the trade that the United States has been getting. (Applause.)

"Building will revive, immigration will come and our development will give the Canadian farmer the best home market he ever had. I have no quarrel with the farmers, but I contend they are badly led. If you start looking for grievances you can find them. And all the farmers are not in it—(applause)—and some of the farmers who are not in it at the present time, when this thing has blown over will be looked upon as men of good judgment and common sense." (Applause.)

A DESERVING GOVERNMENT.

"The future of the Dominion depends upon the stand to be taken in a few weeks to come," said Miss Sherritt, who addressed herself particularly to the ladies present. "We know what might happen in this country were we to place at the head of affairs men incapable of handling the situation. We know what it has meant to Russia to have a government of men inexperienced and unable to reconstruct that empire. Can we not trust the men who have borne the burden of the testing time and brought us thus far safely? Can we erect a more memorable monument to our boys who died on the battlefield than to retain the Government that is giving us democracy today?

"I cannot think of South Perth voting against Dr. Steele, because if they do they will be voting against our own Arthur Meighen.

"We women are proud to think we have the franchise, and we should show our appreciation by voting for the administration that gave it to us.

"Dr. Steele is a modest, retiring man, but he has been on the job while representing us, and we are pleased that we have such a man in South Perth, interested in all parties. I feel that we could not do better than send him back to represent us." (Applause).

"You have a leader to cheer for in Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen," said Dr. Brown, who presided. "We have had great leaders since Sir John Macdonald, but not one has stood out as Mr. Meighen does. He is absolutely fearless, as you know, and stands on the public platform in Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia and tells the same story, and that cannot be said of the other two leaders." (Applause).

SCHOOLMATE TO PREMIER.

J. W. Graham, St. Marys, barrister, recalled boyhood days at the same little country school as Premier Meighen. "I want to tell you," he said, "that as a boy he was square, straight and honest, and he is still square, straight and honest, and I think it should be the privilege of every person in this hall to go up and down the concession lines, if necessary, to get votes for Dr. Steele. Keep the people in power who mean to do the right thing by Canada."

New officers were named as follows: President, R. W. Switzer, Blanshard; vice-president, Miss Graham, St. Marys; second vice-president, James Norris, Mitchell; secretary, Charles Barnett, Blanshard; treasurer, Arthur Mutton, Mitchell. Municipalities will appoint their chairmen. Jasper Walkom, of St. Marys, acted as secretary for the meeting.

OWEN SOUND CUTS THE PRICE OF GAS

Reductions From $2.20 to $1.62 Made on Account of Lower Coal Quotations.

OWEN SOUND, Oct. 4.—The Public Utilities Commission met to-day and decided to make a substantial drop in the price of gas. The price has been $2.20 for 1,000 feet during the last year. The new price is $1.80 per [illegible] with a 10 per cent. discount [illegible] making the price $1.62. The high price of coal has been the cause of high price of gas and since the price of coal has dropped it was thought reasonable to lower the price of gas.

TORONTO PRESBYTERY CONDEMNS LOTTERIES AT CHURCH BENTS

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—To aid the attorney-general in all his efforts to put down gambling of every description, from race track betting to lotteries even at church fairs, was the decision of the Toronto Presbytery at meeting in St. James' Church to-day. The presbytery in the strongest terms condemned the effort now in progress to secure the legalization of lotteries at church fairs.

An Opportunity

No City on the American Continent is in greater need of additional modern hotel facilities than Montreal, Canada.

With the Railway and Steamship lines bringing thousands of people into the City daily on business and pleasure, supplemented in the Summer season by an unusual motor traffic, immediate relief is needed in the way of increased hotel accommodation.

To meet this demand "THE MOUNT ROYAL" is now being built. Upon completion it will be not only the largest first-class hotel in Canada, but the largest in the British Empire, and will contribute in a great degree to Montreal's prestige as a Tourist City and business centre.

The 8% convertible debentures of The Mount Royal Hotel Company, Limited, carrying a 30% bonus of Common Stock, offer a rather unusual opportunity for a safe and profitable investment.

NEW WHEAT DROPS 10 CENTS BUSHEL

Oats Also Decline On Local Market To-Day.

There was very little doing on the local market to-day with the exception of a few loads of hay and grain being offered.

New wheat took a drop this morning from $1.92 to $2 to $1.83 a hundredweight, and from $1.15 to $1.20 to $1.10 per bushel. New oats also registered a decline from $1.45 to $1.40 per hundredweight, and from 49½c to 48c a bushel.

Hay was a little more firm and two select loads sold at $1 higher than the price quoted, but the average load brought $18 to $20 a ton.

Live hogs were reported to have declined 25c on Tuesday, but this morning they regained their Monday's price of $9 a hundredweight.

MONTREAL, Oct. 4. — The morning session was quiet throughout, the only change worthy of notice being in National Breweries, which went down a point to 52¼. Abitibi and Atlantic Sugar remained unchanged at their opening figures, as did also Laurentide. Spanish River was quiet at 56.

GRAIN.

CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 5—Wheat, corn and oats to-day all reached the lowest prices this season. Absence of foreign demand counted as a specially depressing factor to wheat. Opening quotations, which varied from ¼c to 1½c lower, were followed by a slight further setback and then a moderate rally. Continued liberal receipts weighed down the corn market. After opening ¼c to ⅝c lower, the market underwent an additional decline. Oats started unchanged to ⅛ down and then scored losses for both December and May. Provisions were weak with grain, despite an upturn in the value of hogs.

City News

BILLIARD TABLES.—Billiard tables are now being installed in the rooms of the G. W. V. A. in order to provide recreation for the veterans this coming fall and winter.

COLLEGIATE FIELD DAY — The London Collegiate will hold its annual field day on October 7, the public schools on October 12, and the Technical School on October 13.

TAXES COMING IN. — Treasurer Bell reports that $225,000 of taxes have been collected in the third installment of the present year. An unusually high percentage of complete collections is reported.

G. W. V. A. EUCHER DRIVE.—The first of a series of monthly eucher drives will be held in the G. W. V. A. clubrooms in the Majestic Block on October 20. Substantial prizes have been donated and a large turnout of members is expected.

SEWER EXTENSION.—Plans of proposed sewer extension to Ealing School will probably be completed by the city engineer this week and forwarded to the Provincial Board of Health. If approved by that body tenders will be immediately called for.

EXTEND CURRICULA.—Huron College is preparing to extend its curricula in sociology. Arrangements are being made by a special committee of the university faculty to arrange classes in political economy and allied subjects for first-year Huron men, with a view to intensive study of sociology later in the theological course.

FINED FOR CONDUCT.—A young man was fined $5 and costs in police court to-day on a charge of disorderly conduct on a Springbank car. The young man admitted that he threw a kernel of corn at a friend getting off the car, but said he stopped when told to. He also said the motorman on the car called him "a poor fish."

PENSIONS NOT PERMANENT. — Secretary Lance, of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, has been advised that no pensions are ever made permanent, no matter what time elapses between boards. A pensioner may miss three or more years of medical examination and yet be liable for a board and pension reduction.

TO MAKE INSPECTION. — Lieut.-Gen. Sir Henry Burstall, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., A.D.C., inspector-general of Canadian militia, will arrive in London on November 28 to inspect public school cadets. Brig. Wheable, principal of Empress Avenue School, has been advised of this coming inspection, and all the public school cadet organizations will be inspected by the general. A march past will probably be featured, weather permitting, and the smartness of London's kiddie cadets is expected to make a very pleasing impression.

BUILDING PERMITS. — October's building permits continue to show unusual activity, indicating a continuance of the city's building, due largely to perfect fall weather. At the present rate and with fine weather continued for another month, it is expected that the 1921 building total will have passed 1919, thus establishing an historical record. The month's total is now $34,965; the year's total $2,079,610. J. M. Totten is building brick residence on Victoria street, to cost $4,000; A. J. Beadle is erecting a brick cottage on Langarth street, to cost $3,000.

AVERTS PROBABLE SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Quick Action of Street Railway Motorman Prevents Injury To Motor Cyclist.

The presence of mind and quick action of Alec Fitzsimmons, a motorman on the street railway, prevented a possible serious accident this afternoon about 1 o'clock, when John Harvey, driving a motor cycle on Richmond street, near St. Peter's Cathedral, lost his head for the moment and drove in the front of the car.

Mr. Fitzsimmons immediately taking hold of the situation dropped his fender and carried the man, who sustained not a scratch, a distance of about 15 feet.

When the car was brought to a stop the motor cycle was found with the front wheel touching the wheel of the street car, but outside of a slightly bent front mudguard and the lens of the headlight being broken, was not otherwise damaged.

"Readiness To Serve"

such procedure, which was all wrong and illegal, nor was there any means by which the company could, or can, against the will of the consumer, enforce or collect a "readiness to serve" charge, which was only an attempt in a round-about way to increase the price of gas, in violation of and contrary to the statute. If the company had brought suit to recover the charge from a consumer, who refused to pay, no court could have given judgment for the company or ordered the consumer to pay; or if they had attempted to remove any consumer's meter, the court would very quickly have issued an injunction to restrain them from so doing. That the company was well aware of the legal position is evidenced by the words of the notice, which says: "If any customers object to paying the 'readiness to serve' charge, the company will upon request, remove the consumer's meter." It will be observed that there is no threat of compulsion or duress, but the removal of the meter only at request of the consumer. By no stretch of imagination can I hold, as argued by the plaintiff's counsel, that the notice is that the company will remove the meter upon request for payment of the charge by the company and a refusal by the customer to pay. The plaintiffs evidence shows that he was not apprehensive that his meter would be removed and it was not that which caused him to pay. Nor is there anything in the act which gives the company the power to remove a meter, nor did they seek to do so with those who refused to pay.

The plaintiff is a shrewd, sharp and intelligent business man, an alderman of the city, one who admits in his evidence that he thought the company had no legal right to make the charge, and who knew all the facts and circumstances in connection therewith.

He was free to exercise his will and to make a choice and to resist payment of the demand, if he chose.

"Duress" is defined in the law books to mean "compulsion," and applies where a person is not a free agent and is not able to protect himself.

Had he refused to pay these charges and stood upon his strict legal rights (as a great many of the customers did) there was no means by which the company could have made him pay, but he chose to take the other course and pay the charges without being compelled to do so by duress or compulsion. He did not even protest against the payment. He states that he took the first payment over to the office of the company himself and asked the girl at the paying wicket if it were necessary "for him to pay the charge," and upon her replying "yes" he paid the charge, without more being said, then or at any subsequent time. Such a statement, in my opinion, is far from being "compulsion." No judge can, under those circumstances, find that the amount was paid under protest or by duress or compulsion, but must find that it was a voluntary payment, made with knowledge of all the circumstances.

After having received the company's notice, as the plaintiff admits he did, the payment by him of the charges under the circumstances detailed, practically amounts to a consent to pay the charges, and constitutes an implied contract with the company to do so.

Morally, the company has no right to keep the money which the plaintiff paid for these charges, but after a full and careful consideration of the decided cases (which I am bound to follow), I must hold that money paid voluntarily and without duress or compulsion, for an illegal charge cannot be recovered back, even though such payment were made under protest. And that is the position in which I find the plaintiff himself in this matter.

I have no sympathy with the defendant company in this unit because the "readiness to serve" charge was totally unwarranted and wholly illegal and could not be enforced in a court of law, but it is no part of the duty of a judge to give relief to a person who voluntarily, with a full knowledge of all the facts, places himself in a position which he afterwards regrets and seeks to change; and the authorities prohibit me from giving judgment in favor of the plaintiff.

The law (which I am bound to follow) upon the subject is quite clear, as will be seen from the following text references and reported cases:

1. C. Y. C., Vol. 23, Page 288—A "Protest" is to make a solemn declaration of opposition.

2. C. Y. C., Vol. 30, Page 1303—The real and ultimate fact to be determined in every cases is whether or not the party paying really had a choice; whether he had the freedom of exercising his will . . . where a party with full knowledge of the facts pays a demand made against him, as to which he has a valid defense, such payment is voluntary and cannot be recovered back.

Page 1306—Mere apprehension or threat to enforce a claim, unaccompanied by any act of oppression, does to render a payment involuntary, in the sense that it can be recovered back.

3. Halsbury "Law of England," Vol. 7, Page 477—A person who voluntarily pays a sum of money on another person's demand cannot claim a return thereof, for since he might have resisted the demand the payment must be taken to have been voluntary.

4. Slater vs. Burnley (Major) 59 L. T. 636 App. Div.—Water rent. Action to recover overcharge in water rate. Defendants had power to cut off water on nonpayment of charges. Wills, J., says: "The respondent gave way and paid, it seems to me, in these circumstances, it is idle to say there is anything like duress. It is simply the ordinary case of a person raising a contention when a demand is made upon him. This is not sufficient to constitute duress so as to prevent a payment being a voluntary one. Appeal must succeed on this ground." Cave, J., says: "The learned county judge says in his note that as the corporation had power to cut off the water supply, therefore the payment was not a voluntary one. If this were not a voluntary payment, no payment of rent to a landlord would be a voluntary payment."

5. Kelly vs. Solari (1841) 9 M. & W., 53—The safest rule is that if the party makes the payment with the full knowledge of the facts, although under ignorance of the law, there being no fraud on the other side, he cannot recover it back.

6. Higgs vs. Scott (1849) 7 C. B., 63; English C. L. Reports, 62—Where a party threatened with distress for rent pays money when he might legally have defended himself, it is not a payment by compulsion and cannot be recovered back.

7. Sharp Bros. & Knight vs. Chant (1917), 1 K. B. 771—The act provided that the increase beyond the standard rent was not recoverable by the landlord from the tenant, yet the tenant, having paid it under a mistake of law, was not entitled to recover it from the landlord in any shape or form.

8. Batten Pool vs. Kennedy (1907) 1 Ch. 256—Money paid under terms of supposed license, suppositions—erroneous. Held: Money could not be recovered back.

9. Grantham vs. Toronto, 3 U. C. R., 212—If a person over-rated pays the over-rate without compulsion he cannot afterwards recover it back.

10. Street vs. Couty of Simcoe, 12 C. P., 294—Taxes paid under protest on assessment of unpatented lands which was invalid. Held: Could not be recovered back.

11. Boulton vs. York & Peel, 25 U. C. R. 21—Land sold for taxes in arrears. Sale illegal, payment made under protest of sum required to redeem them. Held—Could not be recovered back.

12. Benjamin vs. Elgin 26 U. C. R. 660—Lands illegally assessed. Taxes paid under protest and without prejudice. No pressure exercised or threatened to compel payment. Held—money so paid could not be recovered back.

13. Trusts Corporation vs. Toronto 30 O. R. 209—Money paid under illegal bylaw for license fee. Action to recover back money paid by plaintiff and others. Osler J. says: Money voluntarily paid to a corporation under a claim of right without fraud or imposition for an illegal tax license or fine cannot, without statutory aid, be recovered back either at law or equity, even though such could not have been legally demanded or enforced.

15. O'Grady vs. Toronto (1916) 37 O. L. R. 139—Action to recover money paid as taxes on an illegal assessment of a house—held money paid under a mistake of law cannot be recovered back. Action dismissed because payments were voluntary.

16. Perry vs. Newcastle, Dist. Mut. Fire Ins. Co., 8 U. C. Q. B. 363—A person who has paid money to another with full knowledge of the facts cannot recover it back.

17. Birr vs. Montreal 30 S. C. R. 252; G. T. R. vs. Quebec 30 S. C. R. 73—Money paid voluntarily with knowledge of the circumstances under which tax imposed cannot be recovered back.

18. Jervis vs. Strathroy 6th D., C. Middlesex, May, 1919; Blake vs Biddulph 3rd D. C. Middlesex, May, 1920; Barry vs. Cottrill 1st D. C. Middlesex, November, 1920—These are cases which were tried before me in the above courts and in which I held that money paid voluntarily with full knowledge of the facts could not be recovered back.

Though unwarranted and illegal, the claim of the company to impose this "readiness to serve" charge was not fraudulent. They were asserting a claim of right to make this charge apart from the price which was fixed by the statute. Nor was there any concealment of the facts. The plaintiff on the other hand was at liberty to assert that the charge was, in effect, an increase in the price of the gas, and to refuse payment of the increase as a violation of the statute. He did not do so, but paid voluntarily the illegal charges and the result is, on the authorities cited, that he cannot recover back the money he paid.

Judgment for the defendants with costs.

POPULATION IS THE ONLY REMEDY

Sir Joseph Flavelle Outlines the Railway Situation

HOW TO MAKE LINES PAY

Get People on to Land in West, He Urges

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—In an address before the Board of Trade here to-day Sir Joseph Flavelle said he agreed with the recommendation once made by Charles M. Hays, that the head office of the Grand Trunk should have been in Canada and its directors chosen from among the shareholders on this side of the ocean.

Speaking of the present situation and the possible remedies Sir Joseph said, in part: "We have 22,000 miles of railway, costing $1,652,000,000. How were they financed? The Intercolonial was built with public moneys, $182,000,000. The National Transcontinental was built with public moneys, $185,000,000. The Grand Trunk, Grand Trunk Pacific and Grand Trunk Pacific branch lines and the Canadian Northern aggregate in borrowings from the Canadian public $353,000,000. Of the $1,652,000,000 invested in these railways $720,000,000 in cash came from the public. About $40,000,000 will be required at the end of this year to pay the annual interest charges on these securities.

"You have to pay the bill. How long?

MUST HAVE BUSINESS.

"The only remedy is more people, greater production, greater tonnage, more passengers.

"Our plan is conceived with the idea of filling the vacant lands in the West—they won't fil themselves. The ablest body of men in Canada could well be segregated for the purpose of studying and applying the soundest methods to add to the population in the Western Provinces and produce the necessary tonnage, and there is no other relief.

"If during the next 10 years we do—as we should—increase our population by two millions of people with all the increased activities that come, we will feel the effect of it as the years go by in increased earnings."

The speaker emphasized the folly of duplicating lines, and incidentally indorsed the stand Premier Drury, of Ontario, against the radial program of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

WOULD ASSIST OTHER NATIONS TO PURCHASE UNITED STATES GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Financing of foreign countries to enable them to take the agricultural surplus of the United States was advocated by Governor McCray, of Indiana, to-day in an address before the Grain Dealers' National Association. Governor McCray formerly was president of the association.

"APPROXIMATE AGE" WILL NOT DO; WOMEN MUST TELL CORRECT FIGURE

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 4.—Women must not quibble about their age if they wish to vote, according to a decision given in common pleas court here yesterday when an appeal of Miss Elizabeth Warnock from action of registration officials was dismissed. The court held the exact age is necessary for identification, and that the words, "approximate age," will not suffice.

IN NATURE'S PLAYGROUNDS.

A region which provides one of the most delightful winter holidays is the great Algonquin Park reserve, 200 miles north of Toronto and 170 miles west of Ottawa. Two thousand feet above the sea level, it has invigorating climatic conditions. No matter how cold it is, the air is dry, and the man with a sweater never suffers discomfort. The Highland Inn, the largest of the park hotels, will be open for the reception of guests this season from December 15 to March 15, and as the accommodation is limited, patrons are advised to make reservations early. Write to any Canadian National-Grand Trunk agent, or to manager, Highland Inn, Algonquin Park Station, Ont., for illustrated booklet. J3h

GOOD HAUL FOR BANDITS.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 4. — Three armed bandits in a motor car held up James Flynn, a U.S. Shipping Board paymaster, near the Hog Island shipyard this afternoon and robbed him of about $10,000. They escaped.

INVITE SMALLER NATIONS TO WASHINGTON PARLEY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—Invitations to the Governments of Belgium, Holland and Portugal to become members of the conference on Far Eastern subjects are being prepared by the state department.

The decision to include these three governments in the conference followed correspondence between Secretary Hughes and the foreign offices of the five powers originally asked to confer on the subjects of limitation of armament and Far Eastern questions. Formal approval of the suggestion that the three powers be admitted to the conference has been received from all and the invitations will be immediately forwarded.

The three new members will not be expected to take part in conferences concerning armament, but will be accorded equal privileges with the five principal powers in any of the discussions concerning the Far East.

HYDRO USERS GET A REFUND

St. Thomas Customers Pleased With Rebate Scheme

DIVIDING THE SURPLUS

Receiving Receipt Acknowledging Payment of Accounts

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 4.—(By Staff Reporter.)—Local household users of hydro were rather agreeably surprised on receiving their monthly lighting account for September early this week to learn that the local commission, acting on instructions from the Ontario commission, has started the work of distributing the surplus revenue that has accumulated during the past 10 years of operation, and instead of being billed for a month's power they were in reality receiving a receipt acknowledging payment of the month's account.

According to careful figuring by experts this was decided on as the best means of paying off the amount due each consumer. In many cases the rebate amounts to $2, and some even higher. Under the arrangement each householder who has been a user of hydro is allowed a rebate. The plan, according to officials, is in keeping with the motto of the commission since its inception, which is to give the people power at cost. Considerable criticism of the officials at the head of affairs for allowing a surplus to pile up has been heard, but this novel method of distributing the accumulated profits among the users of hydro now overcomes this.

ALL BENEFIT.

The rebate does not, however, confine itself to the household users, for, commencing the first of the month, power users, both large and small, in the industrial class are each receiving checks for 25 per cent. of the first four months' power bill, or in reality, 100 per cent. of one month.

The plan is meeting with general approval and many favorable comments on hydro development and its efficient management are heard. It will be some weeks before all local consumers are included, as the work of building is handled by the local commission on the modern "continuous billing" system, and a number of accounts are being handled daily.

FORMERLY OF HURON.

Joshua Callaway, Prominent Winnipeg Resident, Succumbs, Aged 91.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 4.—Joshua Callaway, aged 91, a pioneer citizen and prominent in the public life of the city, died at his home here to-day.

He came from England with his parents in 1843, settling in the Township of Stanley, Huron County, Ont.

Mr. Callaway had been a resident here since 1876.

LIVED AT DUBLIN.

DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—The many friends of Mrs. M. Watters, relict of the late Michael Watters, regret to hear of her death at Mount Hope, London, on Friday last. Mrs. Watters was a very kind neighbor. Mr. Watters, her husband, died last December at the age of 90. Mrs. Watters was in her 82nd year. The aged couple lived for many years in this village and about a year and a half ago both left for London, where they received every kindness from the Sisters of St. Joseph.

NEED NOT FEAR WAR WITH JAPS

Consul-General to Canada From Japan Gives Opinion.

A WINDSOR VISITOR.

Rank and File of People Opposed to Another Conflict.

WINDSOR, Oct. 4.—America need have no fear of war with Japan, according to Seizaburo Shimizu, consul-general to Canada from Japan, who visited Windsor to-day.

The rank and file of the Japanese people are as much opposed to another armed conflict as are the people of United States, he said. "It is only those who have no real standing in public esteem who discuss such a thing as a possibility."

Mr. Shimizu came to Windsor to observe local business conditions, he said. His mission is to promote closer business relations between Canada and his country. He is especially interested in enlarging the steel exportations from Ontario companies.

SELL TOBACCO CROP.

Tobacco growers of South Essex also claim his attention, and through him are trying to sell their crops to the Japanese Government. The tobacco industry is controlled entirely by the Government in Japan, he explains. At present much of the raw product is purchased in Virginia. If leaves grown by Ontario farmers prove satisfactory, Mr. Shimizu sees no reason why these farmers should not receive a part of the trade, he said.

The consul-general visited Detroit this morning and went through the Ford Motor Company plant. This afternoon he was taken through the large manufacturing plants of Windsor.

"F. Steele, Optician, 210 Dundas street, for satisfaction." f

NO TRUTH IN REPORT OF DISCRIMINATION

MONTREAL, Oct. 4.—Poles, Italians and other foreigners are now being allowed to enter Canada, while English, Scottish and Irish immigrants are being turned back because they have not the amount of money required by the Dominion immigration authorities. This is the claim of the local immigration officials. It is said that the money required is advanced to the foreign immigrants by friendly societies, who are paid back as soon as the immigrants gain access to the country.

DENIED.

OTTAWA, Oct. 4.—At the department of immigration here to-day it was stated that there was no truth in the assertion, made in Montreal, that foreign immigrants were finding it easier to get into Canada than those of British birth.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

MULATTO MAKES CLAIM FOR NOVA SCOTIA LANDS

HALIFAX, Oct. 4. — William C. Hearnley, of Truro, N.S., a mulatto, formerly a Pullman car porter, is putting a claim for an estate of land in Colchester county, granted by the Government to his father, Captain William Hearnley, who came here at the close of the Crimean war. Hearnley did not know he was heir to the estate until the attorney-general's department of Nova Scotia gave notice that unless the estate was claimed by October 4, it would be forfeited to the crown.

AGAIN CUT WAGES OF ENGLISH STEEL WORKERS

Reduction of 25 Per Cent. as Recommended By Board of Arbitration to Be Enforced.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Under the sliding scale adopted by a board of conciliation and arbitration, affecting the manufactured iron and steel trade of North England, wages will be reduced 25 per cent. immediately, making total reductions since January of 132½ per cent.

The present wage scale is 97½ per cent. above the pre-war scale.

The Villiers Spelter Works at Swansea has reopened and is the only spelter works in South Wales now operating. The management announce that wage reductions enabled the plant to resume operations.

The South Wales coal mine owners to-day, at a meeting at Cardiff, decided to accept the invitation of the mines department of the Government to refer to an arbitration board the dispute over the terms under which the subsidy was granted to hasten the end of the recent strike of coal miners. Under the Government's interpretation of the terms the mine owners are asked to pay £750,000 more in wages to the men.

The Public Utilities Commission Announces A

New Flat Rate For Continuous Hot Water Service In Your Home

Again leading all hydro municipalities—and that means the world—in the development of practical means of improving living conditions, through the use of electricity, the Public Utilities Commission of London to-day announces that—

You may now have installed in your home a perfected water heater that makes obsolete the coil in the furnace, the water front in the kitchen range or the so-called instantaneous heaters operated by high-priced gas.

At a cost varying from $20 to $40, according to the extent of wiring and piping changes necessary, you may now have your tank equipped with a One Horsepower Electric Heater. The price quoted includes the heater and all installation charges.

The electric current for the heater does not pass through your meter. If you desire you may leave the switch on night and day throughout the year. The charge for electricity is $3 per month, with a 10 per cent. discount for prompt payment. In other words, a continuous supply of hot water in bath, kitchen or laundry for only $2.70 a month.

Larger heaters to provide for the extraordinary needs of large families, apartment houses or institutions installed on correspondingly favorable terms.

YEARLY CONTRACTS REQUIRED.

Come to The Hydro Shop or Phone 7000 and a Hydro Representative will bring full information to you.

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 6.—The Giants primed their southpaw edge gun, little Artie Nehf, for to-day's world series intra city affray with the Yankees. The champions of the National League also held in reserve the right-hander, Fred Toney, to spell the American Leaguers who toppled the Giants yesterday in the first contest for the high honors of baseball.

BETTER WEATHER.

An Indian summer day followed a chilly night. The sun blazed like a burnished disc in a clear sky, and the fans in the bleachers were grateful for the light westerly breeze.

The crowd came late. The man who stayed up all night and had only himself for company would have found thousands of vacant seats ready to receive him at noon. The unreserved upper stand also filled slowly. There were prospects of a 30,000 attendance. The band, though, came early and piped some tunes for the edification of the pound-keepers and bleacherites.

The reserved seats sections did not pick up until near game time. Mrs. "Babe" Ruth plans to fly in a seaplane over the Polo Grounds this afternoon and drop a parachute containing baseballs, on each of which will be a message to her husband.

The crowd howled its welcome as the Yankees marched across the field while the band played "Over There." But the roar went up when Ruth, in batting practice, hit a ball for up in the center field bleachers and all over the batting screen.

THEY CHEERED.

"Rip" Collins and Alex Ferguson, two right-handers, floated the balls up to the Yankees in batting practice. Mays and McNally, Yankee heroes of Wednesday's game, came in for cheers as they came on the field. Waite Hoyt and Doc Shawkey took part in the batting work-out. The Giants, wearing their batting uniforms of light gray with stripes to match, came in for cheers as they came upon the field.

The Giants did not appear at all disheartened by their initial defeat and were prepared to enter Brush Stadium to-day with more determination than ever to even up the world's series by winning the second game. They pointed out that they came from behind in the opening race and that the same grim fighting spirit would carry them through this time.

The Yankees and their followers believed they would win again by speed on the bases, relentless, aggressive play in the field and opportune hitting. I say nothing of the kind of pitching that Carl Mays exhibited yesterday in beating the Giants 3 to 0. It was in mind that the Giants were reputed to have the advantage over the American League champions. Even Manager Huggins, of the Yankees, admitted the Giants were faster, but his team showed the most speed yesterday turning in home runs, which, as the old-timers say, is what wins ball games.

LOOKED TO FRISCH.

The Giants not only looked to see Frank Frisch, their star third baseman, live up to his yesterday's performance of hitting and good base running, but they planned to share in it themselves. Frisch was the outstanding star of the club in the first game, making two of the Giants' five hits. His average was perfect at the bat and in the field.

Manager McGraw, of the Giants, surprised some of the experts in the opening game by picking Douglas, who played a good game, but not so good as Nehf.

CHANGE PLACES.

The Giants to-day will be the "visiting team," while the Yankees will occupy the place of the home crew, held by the Giants yesterday. This change in process also involves a shifting of uniforms and dugouts. The Yankees, who wore their road suits yesterday, will have their "at home" apparel on, and McGraw's men will don traveling uniforms.

Joe McNally, the star of the first game by his steal of home, another hit and two hits, planned to continue his efforts to-day, and so did Shortstop Rapaugh, a tower of defense, with six assists to his credit. Then there was is Babe Ruth to be considered.

The weather early to-day was clear and less chilly than that which greeted early morning fans yesterday. Many came for the Polo Grounds early, but the long waiting list was absent.

The umpires were assigned as follows: Moriarity at plate; Quigley at first; Chill at second, and Rigler at third.

BOWLERS AT THISTLES.—The office is at hand for the lawn bowlers and the curlers, and in order to provide amusement for its members the Thistle club has decided to stage eucher tournaments every Friday night at their spacious street clubrooms.

ONTARIO CENTER OF BALLOT FIGHT

Indications Point To Contest In Every Riding.

MANY "THREE CORNERS."

One Woman In Lists, Nominated In South Grey.

Ontario will be the Belguim in the battle of the ballots which will be staged throughout the Dominion of Canada on a date yet to be announced, which it is generally believed will be in the first week in December. Present indications are that there will not be an acclamation in any riding in the province, while in the majority there will be at least three candidates. The National Liberal and Conservative party will have a candidate in every riding. The Liberals are expected to abandon several, but contest most of them, while the same holds good for the Agrarians or the Progressives, as Leader Crerar prefers to have them called. In many ridings where there are large towns or cities Labor will also be represented, while in several constituencies the Labor party and the Farmers, or Agrarians or Progressives, have joined hands.

So far there has been but one woman nominated, this honor going to Miss McPhail, who has been chosen as the U. F. O. candidate in South Grey. So far no sitting member has failed to get his nomination where he wanted it, although several have declined to run again, business or personal reasons making it necessary for them to retire to private life.

All the parties are preparing tons upon tons of campaign literature, which will be in the hands of the electors within the next few weeks. The political leaders are also preparing to center upon Ontario. The premier will spend at least three weeks in this province, at least one week of which will be in Western Ontario. Mackenzie King will also be heard in the principal centers, while Mr. Crerar plans to address a number of meetings. While the exact dates of the three leaders have not yet been made puolic it is understood they will all strike Ontario about the same time, in which case the interest in the forthcoming election will be mightily stimulated.

REFORMATORY BURNS; ONLY ONE ESCAPES

Prisoners Set to Work To-day and Clear Up Debris at Iona.

IONA, Mich., Oct. 6.—Inmates of the Michigan State reformatory here, which was almost completely destroyed by fire yesterday with a loss of nearly half a million dollars, were put to work today clearing away the debris for the possible erection of a new model prison.

After a checking up of the prisoners, officials announced that out of the 680 convicts only one had taken advantage of the fire to affect an escape.

An investigation indicates the fire was caused by defective wiring in the administration building, rather than by a workman's blow torch as at first believed. The prisoners are being housed temporarily in the furniture factory building.

Minimum Wage $12 For Girls Of London

Expect This Will Be Finding of Board Which Sat Here Recently.

MAJORITY RECEIVING AMOUNT IS BELIEF.

Protection of Working Girls Against Possible Unscrupulous Employers Assured.

Although the minimum wage board has not made public its finding as yet, Rev. W. R. McIntosh believes that the minimum for girl clerks in London, Hamilton and Ottawa will be fixed at $12 a week. The minister, who was in attendance at the last sitting of the board here, stated that unfounded rumors were going about that girls in certain stores were being discharged in anticipation of the new wage rates coming into force.

"There is always the danger of unscrupulous employers keeping down their clerical expenses by discharging their old employees and hiring apprentices, who may be paid smaller salaries," explained Mr. McIntosh. "We have, however, a safeguard for this problem in the stipulation that a certain percentage of the employees must be experienced, that is, those who have been in the business for a year or more. The rumor heard around town that older clerks are being replaced by apprentices is untrue."

Mr. McIntosh is of the opinion that the setting of minimum wages in different trades is a move in the right direction. Although he believed that the majority of London stores had already reached the minimum to be required, he pointed out that public business is given to feel that the people as a whole are concerned with the amounts which are paid to girls and young women of the community.

INADEQUATE WAGES

"It prevents men from giving wages are uterly inadequate and protects the right to women to be paid a livelihood, at least," said the pastor. "The public are also shown that it is not a struggle between the girls on the one hand and the employer on the other, but that both are ready to accept a decision which will bring about a general improvement of conditions."

Mr. McIntosh explained that if the cost of living decreased to any extent that the board will revise its finding accordingly, since it meets once a year. It is understood that both the employer and the employee will always have access to the board and have any complaints adjudicated at the annual sessions.

SIGNING WHITE SLAVE PROTOCOL

Canada Puts Signature To Important Agreement.

WOMEN OPPOSED IT.

Seemed Disturbed Over Curtailing of Liberties.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Canada is one of the 14 states which have signed the protocol of the League of Nations' convention regarding the white slave traffic. South America and France, which opposed the convention, have abstained from signing, M. Hanotaux, the French delegate, insisting on the necessity for delay over a matter of pure form. Col. Obed Smith, the Canadian delegate to the last conference on this matter, told the correspondent that he was surprised at the lack of unanimity over such a grave question, where there should be but one opinion. Few of the other members of the conference,he said, realized how inextricably this traffic was bound up with emigration. Col. Smith was also surprised that the women delegates, who might have been supposed to be deeply concerned in suppressing the white slave traffic at any cost, had no constructive plan for its extinction, and seemed more disturbed over the alleged indignity of curtailing women's liberty, even in their own interests.

ALBERTA DAIRYMEN PLAN MARKETING POOL

CALGARY, Oct. 6.—At a meeting of milk and cream producers of Calgary district, held yesterday, a draft contract for use between shippers and the proposed pool for marketing of dairy products was adopted. The pool is expected to be capitalized at $200,000 or $225,000.

$1,100,000 Per Year, Mothers' Allowance

Total of 2,581 Now Receiving Benefits—Over Three Children To Family.

PROVINCE PAID $91,883 FOR MONTH SEPTEMBER.

Average Payments In London Total About One Thousand Dollars a Month.

The annual cost of the Mothers' Allowance Act to the people of this province will amount to more than $1,100,000 per annum. At a meeting of the central commission, attended by the local chairman, it was announced that the cost for the month of September for 2,581 mothers who are benefiting, totals $91,883.

One of the surprising facts brought out at this meeting was that the average family which is dependant on the provincial act has three and one-half children in addition to the mother. This shows that there must be a considerable number of mothers who have large families to care for, as the great majority of beneficiaries under the act have only the two children.

Up till the end of September the payments paid to widows in this city totaled approximately $10,000. This was for a period of 11 months, so that the average monthly expenditure is about $1,000, the initial monthly payments being much smaller than they are now. These figures show that one per cent. of the total annual amounts is paid out to the widows of London.

The Mothers' Pension Act has now been in force for nearly a year and practically all the widows who are entitled to benefits are now receiving payments. It is possible therefore to estimate that the provincial cost will not be much in excess of the $1,100,000 mark unless the scope of the legislation is widened or the population increased by any large percentage.

WESTERN ONTARIO TENNIS TOURNEY GETS UNDER WAY

Some Close Play Marks the Early First Round Matches.

J. PUDDICOMBE LOSES TO J. R. TAGGERT, JR.

Play Continues To-Morrow At Kennels' Courts; Finals On Saturday.

Tennis players from all parts of the district are here to-day competing in the Western Ontario tennis tournament, which opened at the London Hunt and Country Club courts to-day.

With ideal weather conditions the tournament promises to be a great success in spite of the fact that it is being staged late in the season.

A fair sized gallery was present this afternoon to witness the matches. The first rounds in the men's singles, men's doubles and ladies' singles will be concluded to-day, and it is expected that the winners of the three trophies will be determined by Saturday.

WILL DEFEND FREE PRESS CUP.

The London Free Press trophy, emblematic of the men's singles championship, will be defended by Dr. Tisdale, of Delhi. Hon. C. S. Hyman has donated a cup for the winner of the ladies' singles, and C. R. Somerville has presented two trophies to the winners of the mixed singles.

G. R. Taggart, jr., defeated John Puddicombe in the men's singles, the scores being 6-2, 8-6. Taggart has been playing a superior quality of tennis this season and surprised the gallery by defeating Mr. Puddicombe, who is prominent in tennis circles of the city.

C. M. Wilson won from L. T. Camp, the scores being 6-love, and 6-3. Wilson and Camp are both of London.

Capt. Fenton won from H. F. Featherstone by the scores of 6-2 and 7-5.

Jack Ferguson won from L. Mathews in the men's singles, the scores being 11-9 and 6-1.

Tisdale and Hendry, of Delhi, won from Barnes and Mathews. The first set ended with the score of 6-1 and the second six-love.

Ferguson and Beattie defeated Taggart and Williams by the scores of 2-6, 6-1 and 9-7.

Ross and Buchanan won from Camp and Walker. The scores were 8-6, 3-6 and 6-3.

In the mixed doubles Miss McKenzie and Ferguson defeated Miss Wooley and McCrimmon, the scores being 6-1 and 6-2.

Mrs. F. C. Letts, jr., of Chicago, conqueror of Miss Cecil Leitch, was defeated by Miss Marion Hollins, of New York, four and three.

MEIGHEN TO SPEAK AT GODERICH, OCTOBER 19

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—(Special to The Free Press.)—It is announced to-day that in addition to the list of places published this morning, Goderich has been added to Premier Meighen's itinerary. The prime minister will speak at Goderich on the night of October 19. It will be one of his first meetings of the Western Ontario tour.

ALDERMEN REFUSE TO RATIFY AGREEMENT OF L. & P. S. BOARD

Want Information Regarding Contract With Michigan Central Railway.

TOO READY TO APPROVE WITHOUT KNOWLEDGE.

Purchase of Port Stanley Land To Be Held Up Until Inspection Made.

Hostilities were commenced to-day against the London Railway Commission by the London & Port Stanley board at a directors' meeting when the board, on motion of Ald. Watt and Boss, decided that the agreement pending between the commission and the Michigan Central Railroad should not be ratified by the directors until complete information concerning this agreement is submitted by the commission. The purchase of Port Stanley property by the commission was also held up to give the members of the board an opportunity to inspect the property in company with the engineer and other officials of the London & Port Stanley Railway. This inspection will be made on Friday afternoon.

"We are responsible to the citizens of London for what is done with this road and it is time we took a decided stand to demand full information before we ratify any further actions of the commission," said Ald. Watt in support of his motion to take no action on the Michigan Central Railroad agreement, pending a further investigation.

WANT INFORMATION.

Ald. Watt, in additional statements, intimated that the City Council is rapidly becoming a rubber stamp for several of the other bodies. While he did not say this in so many words, it was the impression which was conveyed by his speech and actions.

"I agree with Ald. Watt," said Ald. Boss. "This Council should have complete information on every proposition that is brought to us for ratification."

"The Council is too ready to approve some action about which it knows practically nothing," said Ald. Wenige. "We have a habit of ratifying too many things without making any investigation. The sooner this is stopped the better it will be for the city."

"Yes, it seems as if we were elected merely to approve what some other body does, but we are not given any information on the questions passed on to us for ratification," said Ald. Watt. "I am opposed to approving anything else for the London Railway Commission unless we are taken into the confidence of the commission. We might as well take a stand on this question now."

WILL STAND OVER.

This was the opinion of Ald. Boss and Wenige, the other two members of the board present, and the agreement with the M. C. R. as well as the completion of the purchase of lands at Port Stanley will stand over until the facts concerning each case are at hand.

POPPY DAY SUGGESTED BY McCRAE'S POEM

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Col. John McCrae's poem, "In Flanders' Fields," suggested to Lord Haig the organization of Poppy Day on November 11, in aid of various schemes for the benefit of ex-service men of all ranks. Lord Haig is president of the British Legion, which helps both officers and men, and he used the Canadian poet's words as a message of inspiration to all the workers in the vast scheme to be launched next month and will be signalized by the placing of a gigantic wreath of poppies at the foot of the cenotaph in Whitehall.

SURPLUS CAN NOT BE USED FOR DAMS

Can Only Be Employed For Hydro-Electric Extension.

MAY REFUSE DEBENTURES.

Council To Be Asked To Provide $50,000 For Department.

It was yesterday reported that the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario held $100,000, with accumulated interest, due to the City of London on account of its proportionate share in the commission's surpluses. It was suggested by members of the Council that this sum, which Manager Buchanan stated would be asked for at an early date, should be applied to the building of the Springbank dam. Today Manager Buchanan states that the surplus may not be so used, even though one of the purposes of rebuilding the dam is to eventually develop additional hydro power for the city which may be used in cases of emergency.

"No hydro surplus whatever," Mr. Buchanan stated, "may be used for other than hydro-electric extensions. If dam and power developing plant could be built for $100,000, then this sum might be applied to its building provided the power development was authorized by the Hydro-Electric Commission."

Mr. Buchanan pointed out that the development might not be favorably considered because of additional power shortly to be generated at the Falls.

But whether the hydro surplus is paid for the Springbank development or not, it is believed that the City Council will ask for a statement concerning the fund.

The Utilities Commission meets today to consider its annual application for debentures in the electrical and water works departments. Intimations have been made that between $50,000 and $75,000 will be asked of the City Council.

But, in view of the commission's statement that they had $100,000 to their credit in Toronto, the City Council may refuse to issue debentures when money is admitted to be available for hydro extension.

EMIL AND BOB HAVE SERIES OF THEIR OWN

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Meusel brothers have a little series of their own. Emil, the elder, left fielder for the Giants, and a National League batting star, let it be known that there is a wager on with his brother Bob, hard-hitting Yankee right fielder. The one who makes the least hits in the series is to supply the Thanksgiving dinner for the entire Meusel family. They start each with a .000 batting average to-day because Bob's three-bagger yesterday did not count when he neglected to touch first base on his way around.

"FRESHMAN" AT 65.

Elderly Woman Joins Class of Arts '25 At Western.

There is one freshman at Western University who will not be initiated this year along with the other members of the record-breaking class of Arts '25. This freshman is 65 years of age, it is stated, and belongs to the fair sex. This lady has enrolled for special classes at the university and is one of the most punctual attendants at lectures. The professors report that her work is above the average in the classes she has selected. Other older people, now that the ice is broken, may enrol at Western and thus solve the problem of what to do when past 60.

Appeal For Help For Aged Couple Comes Too Late; Husband Died To-Day

City Gave Two Dollars a Week Towards Support of Man and Wife Over Fourscore.

"When Age comes on!—
The deepening dusk is where the dawn
Once glittered splendid, and the dew
In honey-drips, from red rose lips
Was kissed away from me and you—
And now across the frosty lawn
Black footprints trail, and Age comes on—
And Age comes on!
And biting wild-winds whistle through
Our tattered hopes—and Age comes on." —J. Whitcomb Riley.

Ald. John Ashton and Inspector Sanders, of the Board of Health, to-day asked a Free Press man to send out an appeal for an aged couple whose faltering steps were turned towards life's sunset, and who needed help that they be not separated in the last few hours before death came.

But that appeal is now useless except for the aged widow who sobs the infant-like sobs of age beside the body of her husband, lover, mate.

This aged couple, with 50 golden years of joy and sorrow behind them, lived together in two small rooms "somewhere in London." They had given much of their life to Canada; if to be a pioneer entitled the wearing of decorations they would have been amongst the first to receive the accolade.

But "Age came on" and found them almost penniless. The city granted them two dollars a week, these that had lived in London from village to city. Not enough in these days of high prices for bread and milk hardly; certainly not enough for coal.

Inspector Sanders knew them and had helped them out of his own pocket and secured Ald. Ashton's interest in their behalf. They could have secured comparative comfort in institutions for the aged, but that meant separation, and that they would not consider.

To-day Mr. Sanders and the kindly alderman asked The Free Press to appeal in their behalf, which The Free Press gladly consented to do. But, in the meantime, "Death came on." The widow sits grieving by her dead, and outside her window the sun shines gloriously and the maple leaves turn scarlet, purple and gold.

LARGE SCHOOL NOT NEEDED IN SOUTH EAST SECTION AT PRESENT SAYS INSPECTOR

Mr. Edwards Suggests Economical Plan Which Would Benefit Children.

Inspector Edwards to-day outlined the proposed policy of unit public schools, which he has presented to the Board of Education as a solution of the accommodation question in London, and the inaugurating of a new sort of school entirely in which younger pupils will be separated from the older ones and thus be given more intensive attention than is possible under the present system. This plan of Mr. Edwards' is distinctly Canadian, and since Knollwood carries out these ideas both as to size and organization, the proposition is not a theoretical abstraction, but, as demonstrated, a system of education which is both original and national.

The plan, as outlined by Mr. Edwards, and which will require definite action by the trustees at early meetings, calls for the erection of one-story schools that will contain four rooms in the original construction. Later, four more rooms might be added, and if the growth of the district demanded, these primary schools, by the addition of four or eight more rooms, might be made into a senior public school without destroying the architectural integrity of the building or any increased expense through such unit construction.

SCHOOLS NOT NEEDED.

Mr. Edwards' plan will meet with considerable opposition, it is believed, from interested parties. And while the senior inspector has suggested a four-room primary school for the new south-eastern public school site, there is already a movement under way to build a 12 or 16-room school there.

"It is not needed," Mr. Edwards stated. "We want small schools for the smaller pupils; we want, also, large grounds, made beautiful with flowers and lawns. These cost very little, it should be noted. The larger school is not needed at this time."

It is believed that if the board adopts the primary school building policy that there will be no major construction for several years to come, and that the existing 12, 14 and 16-room schools will be amply sufficient for the older pupils up to high school entrance.

COW CHASES TRIO OF MUSHROOM HUNTERS

Young Men Will Purchase Delicacies in the Future.

Yesterday morning, bright and early, three young men, residents of East London, could be seen on the Hamilton road, directing their footsteps towards the outskirts of the city in a search for mushrooms with which to satisfy their craving.

After tramping wearily for many miles they finally reached a field which looked very promising.

Heedless of the sign which read "No Trespassing," and of the high rail fence, they leaped nimbly over the bars and commenced searching for the elusive dainties.

They were successful in their search and, after filling a paper bag, decided to return to the city.

Up until this time they had been unaware of the presence of a peacefully grazing moo-cow. The cow, on the other hand, was quite aware of their presence and had evidently taken a great liking to their company and apparently did not relish the idea of being left entirely alone after they had gone, because, when they turned their feet towards the fence, she let out a snort and terrific "moo" and dashed madly after them.

The young men separated, each one doing in a different direction. One of them, who was afterwards telling of his narrow escape, said: "I know that cow was looking right at me and all the time I was running I kept saying to myself, 'I hope she is cross-eyed and ain't looking at me at all, but I know different.'"

The second trespasser succeeded in reaching the top rail of the fence and safety, but claimed that he might as well have been bunted by the cow as he laughed himself sick at the actions of the other two.

The third one never stopped for fence, ditches or anything else until he was about a mile up the road from the field and so very much out of breath that he had to call a halt. He claims that he has been chased by dogs, turkeys and geese, but he never thought that a lady-cow would ever take the offensive.

They have all decided to purchase mushrooms in the future and not take their lives in their hands again by trying to get something for nothing.

RAMBLING AROUND WITH OLD DOC. PEP

October 6.—Up and to read the news how the courts hold that the gassing company is to keep the £12,000 "donated" by citizens. And while we doubt not the legal precedents made and established, we do feel that the law is not only an ass but that it is pretty close to criminality. For there should be a stone set up in this city showing that barely three months agone six lads were sent to jail for a petty crime 'gainst the property of plutocrats, although they commit no crimes before in their lives and are just boys.

The news is that city green grocers are to start a war on bakers. We are privily informed that the bakers will be forbidden to throw custard pies and the grocers will not use any Swiss cheeses as gass bombs.

Great headlines and stirring over this base-and-ball championship to the Union States. And while we may be unduly prejudiced, even to the point of jingoism, we resent in the highest way this featuring of the sportsmanship of the Yang-kees. Fearing, also, that come the end of the season we shall be treated to more detail's in a court of justice and players fined for conspiracy. The whole system of free advertising of this great financial venture, in which real sport plays a mighty little part, is but another tentacle seeking to strangle our nationalism. And a strange thing is how we root and yell for teams playing in the Union States, but a proposition to build a hockey arena is met with mighty chill reception.

Out to the shows and to see "Intolerance," this picture-sermon which deals with the only real vice we humans are afflicted with, that vice being selfishness. There is no law of God or man, morals or manners, that may not be reduced to the single one of "Thou shalt not be selfish!" The murderer, the thief (and this includes chicken thieves and them that get away with tens of thousands), the adulterer, the dishonorer of parents, the zaney that talks in theaters during music, the boor that jostles people on sidewalks are alike guilty of one basic sin—selfishness.

The news is that Sir George Bury is mentioned as a man that could take our Grand Trunk steam coach road and make it pay. Which may be true, but heaven preserve us from a man named 'Bury' in any business, what with the suggestion of funerals and burying grounds in it.

One thing I find that we need in our Lord's Day schools is pictures of Christ that will not present an effeminate sort of man and label it the founder of Christianity. A man that could run a crowd of money changers out of a temple with a scourge would be considered an athlete anywhere in the world; and that He carries His cross for miles to the place of execution shows Him to have been a man of extraordinary strength. But, above al, He loves children and methinks His eyes twinkle kindly when on this earth, humor lifts the corners of His mouth, and misdoubt His wearing long hair. A carpenter would have found it mighty burdensome.

A discussion at our club as to what this emotion of love is, Commodore Potts holding it to be no more than a sort of fever, while Master Meek asserts it to be a sort of earthly purgatory wished on some men for their sins. But young Master Keats-Smith, who is a sort of poet, holds to the Platonic idea that love is the result of our soul's creation. Which soul is really dual in nature, and when one half of it finds the other, the greatest to do poseible until they be united. Which seems a pretty sound idea, except for the fact that most of these silly souls have delusions and the true mate only found once in a while, to the great content of divorcing lawyers.

Home last night as tired as I have been for a long time, what with writing and pursuing news about the city. Not to my body, but to my poor brain, which, somehow, was never very strong. Yet there be many people who imagine this reporting life to be pretty easy, one such coming to our office at 3 o'clock of the afternoon and to find us doing nothing much, seeing that the paper—the crown of our day's work—has gone to the impressing machine. Whereat he reserves, no doubt meaning to be pleasant: "You fellows seem to have a sort of holiday to-day!" Which makes all of us hott, for he takes no account of our going abroad at night to all hours, or our playing the game of wits with a world that is full to the brim with the biggest sort of news, but which obstinately hangs on to it unless interviewed by a sort of Sherlock Holmes.

Every day our paper publishes items of vessel arrivals at our own and the American ports. And some day, perhaps, we shall have entries of everybody's ship coming in. The greatest, happiest day in the history of the world when that vessel with silken sails do make port! Methinks there will go up shouts of gladness that will delight heaven. Toys for children that never had toys; dogs and real dirt for poor little rich boys and girls; true lovers made able to marry before they get lumbago, bald heads and gray hair. Machinery for making ugly towns and cities beautiful, and loving kindness for the whole world.

A murmain on people that every now and then refer back to ancient Athens as a city of vast pleasure owing to its Phidian sculptors, philosophers and other pleasures. They meanwhile forgetting that only about one thousand of these Athenians enjoy these beauties and philosophies, the rest being marvelous poor or slaves. We should, without self-conceit, realize that we live in the best age of history, and that we can make it better with very little effort.

Take Master Maple out to our pigeon-shooting ranges for practice preliminary to his being made a full member of our shooting club. Which delights the young man so much, now that his honeymoon is well over, that he almost weeps on my neck. And from what happens after, methinks he boasts to his wife, my Couzen Juliana, how he is to go abroad as a modern Nimrod and to shoot clay pigeons. Which she admires mightily and they part tenderly with many kisses and she warning him not to let a clay pigeon bite him or some such thing. But after he is gone her housewifery asserts itself, she phoning my wife: "Oh, Couzen Elizabeth, snookums has gone abroad to shoot clay pigeons with Couzen Samuel, and will you tell me how to cook them?" And my poor wife tells her that she is to treat them the same as mudlark pie!!

VARIETY ACTS TO BE CENSORED

Objectionable Features To Be Eliminated From Theaters.

MAKE FUN OF RELIGION.

Immoral Influence of Vulgar and Suggestive Sayings.

A committee headed by O. St. James Freer was organized by the Social Service Council of Ontario in Toronto yesterday to deal with the censorship of all vaudeville acts appearing in the theaters of the province, it was learned at the local council offices to-day. This committee will have similar jurisdiction to that of the motion picture board and will be able to ban acts or any part of them which have a pernicious influence.

"The lewdness and lowness of the vaudeville which has been shown lately is apparent to any decent-minded person," said the district representative of the council to-day. "Its courseness has been an object of concern to all people who realize the immoral influence of a suggestive or plainly vulgar performance.

STRONG COMMITTEE.

"Fortunately Mr. Freer is backed up by a very strong committee, because he has a most difficult task before him," added the secretary. "It is a comparatively easy matter to censor a picture, because once it has been banned or certain parts of it deleted there is no chance of its bad features been seen by the public. With vaudeville it is different, however, due to the fact that a turn may be put on in a mild form, so as to pass a board of censors who are known to be viewing it. In subsequent renditions it may contain vulgarities which are reprehensible. The board will not only deal with acts which are vulgar, but will be empowered to censor those which adopt a sneering tone to religion and those who preach it."

BROKE BOTTLE WHEN OFFICER CAME ALONG

Charles Cox Fined $200 and Costs For Having Liquor.

Charles Cox was this morning fined $200 and costs for having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling. It was charged that on Saturday, September 24, the accused, when approached by Sergt. McCullough and P. C. Pope, pulled a bottle from his pocket and broke it on the road. The pieces were gathered up and brought to the police station, along with Cox and a man named William Stewart. The constables testified that the bottle smelled strongly of whisky.

According to the story of the police, Stewart drove up in a buggy and talked to Cox. He gave him something which appeared to be money, and Cox went across the road and came back shortly. As he crossed the road back toward where Stewart was standing, he saw Sergt. McCullough, according to the evidence of the two policemen, and pulled a bottle from the inside pocket of his coat and threw it to the pavement.

Stewart was also called by the crown. He told of meeting Cox and asking him to get a drink of whisky. He stated that he gave Cox $7, for which he expected to get liquor, but stated that Cox had remarked that he (Stewart) owed him $7 for a coat which he had sold him. He admitted that he had owed him the money. Cox, he declared, did not say whether he was going to get him any liquor or not, but went away and he waited expecting him to come back. He did not see the bottle.

SENT FOR POLICEMEN COME AND ARREST HIM

Most People Try To Get Out of Jail, But This Man Wanted To Get Back.

While so many prisoners are trying, many successfully, to break out of jail, there is one resident of London who finds that it is impossible to break into the police station for one night even. He implored the aid of three or four stalwarts and the police patrol one night recently in a desperate attempt to get there, but he failed.

This particular resident walked into a fruit store not more than three or four blocks southwest from Richmond and Dundas streets on Tuesday night and called the police station.

"Send down the patrol and three or four big policemen right away," was the message he called in, giving the location of the store. "No; one policeman will not do, send down three or more. There is a rough man down here, who is beating his wife and it will take more than one of you to handle him."

In due time the patrol with several policemen landed at the store and the officer in charge demanded: "Where is the man you told us about?"

"Here he is," replied the citizen who had sent the emergency call to Carling street, as he pointed proudly to himself. His wife explained to the strong arms of the law that her husband wanted to be taken to the police station for the night. But his request was not granted, and the record on the books at the station will show a false alarm, if any record is kept. Just why he wished to visit Carling street in the patrol is not known.

ALDERMAN WATT CROSSES SWORDS WITH ALD. WILSON ON PRICE OF NATURAL GAS

One City Father Considers 85 Cents Reasonable — Other Points Out Price Highest In Ontario.

Ald. Watt and W. A. Wilson crossed swords to-day over the gas situation. It was during an intermission of the meeting of the London & Port Stanley board when Ald. Watt took occasion to say what he thought of the special gas committee for recommending a price of 85 cents for natural gas.

"I can't see why this committee, which we appointed to investigate the question thoroughly, should calmly recommend to the Council that we must pay 85 cents for this gas," said Ald. Watt. "Why, the price agreed upon by the aldermen, 65 cents, is 10 cents per thousand more than is paid by any other municipality for the natural gas. What this committee was thinking of when it agreed to that rate is more than I can understand."

PRICE FAIR ONE?

"The price we recommended is a fair one, and I do not care what you think about it," retorted Ald. Wilson. "The rider attached to the proposition by the Council that limits us to a price of 65 cents should not have been approved by the aldermen. It only means that we cannot get the gas at all. The companies will not give it to us at that rate. The Council would have made a good bargain if our recommendation had been accepted. But now we will lose the gas entirely."

"We don't want the gas at the 85-cent price," objected Ald. Watt.

"Yes, we do, I tell you," retorted Ald. Wilson.

Ald. Boss pointed out that prices generally are on the down grade and this should be considered in dealing with the gas situation.

"We want the natural gas, and it is a disgrace to let it get away from us," argued Ald. Wilson.

WHAT OTHER CENTERS PAY.

"What are other municipalities paying for natural gas?" Ald. Watt queried. "The committee did not take that into consideration at all. I am paying only 50 cents a thousand in Petrolea; that is 50 per cent. higher than I paid in 1918. Then in Belmont they are paying 45 cents a thousand and they are making a h—— of a kick over it."

"Oh you are talking of that sulphur gas," countered Ald. Wilson. "This gas in the Saul wells is a sweet gas."

"Do you know of any place paying anything like 85 cents for natural gas?" asked Ald. Watt.

"Yes, I do," was the emphatic reply of Ald. Wilson. "I heard of one municipality that is paying 85 cents, but I just forget where it is now."

City Clerk Baker interrupted at this point to tell of his experiences in hog raising, obviously to change the subject. He related how he had sold a porker last week for 17 cents a pound and then on Saturday he had gone to the butcher shop and purchased a piece of this same pig at 40 cents a pound.

This was allowed to go practically unnoticed.

"We want the gas if it is possible to get it," continued Ald. Wilson.

"Yes, if we can get it at a reasonable price," agreed Ald. Watt. "But I do not see why London should always have to pay higher prices for everything than any other city."

"Well, shut up about the gas and let us get down to the business before us," and Ald. Wilson closed the argument.

WEATHER AFFECTS STREET PAVEMENT

Coolness Causes Cracks On New Piccadilly Surface.

RATEPAYERS COMPLAIN.

Richer Mixture Used Will Result In Permanency.

Members of the works committee of the City Council, with City Engineer Brazier, inspected the new surface on Piccadilly street this morning at the request of ratepayers in that district. The party included Aldermen W. A. Wilson, H. J. Childs, G. W. Drake and John Ashton.

Complaints from citizens were to the effect that the surface had been honeycombed and thus threatened the base underneath through water seepage. Mr. Brazier stated that he had used a richer mixture on the street, which is guaranteed to give longer service, but this mixture, on account of cool weather, had gaped a little at certain points. He asserted positively that traffic would close up the minute openings, and that the street would last longer than others constructed on a different plan.

On the city engineer's statement the aldermen decided to leave the street as it is for another year. Payments may be held up, however, for a year so as to insure that the bordering ratepayers will not be made to pay for possible repairs during the year of experiment.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

BURNS 94% AIR

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, F. P. Johnson, 246 Craig street w., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.—Advt. 18*

PARENTS ATTACK THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

Claims Remodelling of Boyle Memorial School Should Have Been Done During Summer.

Parents of children attending Boyle Memorial School are highly indignant over the remodelling of the school, which has been in progress for the past few days. The consensus of opinion is that the Board of Education is lacking in tact, or they would have had this done during the two months' summer vacation.

They point out that work being done to the interior of the school is a great handicap to the children, noise and changing from one room to the other is the daily procedure and they claim there is no reason why this could not have been done during the summer. One resident stated that his children, as all the others, have to climb over scaffolds and all sorts of truck in order to get into their rooms.

ARTERY IN WOMAN'S HEAD CUT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. George Phinn Stepped In Front of Car.

Mrs. George Phinn, of Pipe Line road, who was injured last night when she was hit by an automobile driven by Benjamin Blackwell, was reported this morning to be getting along nicely.

It is said that Mrs. Phinn, in order to avoid an automobile driven by Dr. McWilliams, stepped back in front of the car going the opposite direction. She was knocked to the pavement and a large artery in the back of her head was cut. Had it not been for the presence of the doctor, who rendered first aid, it is said that Mrs. Phinn might have bled to death. She was removed to her own home.

PARTRIDGE SENT TO HIGHER COURT

L. & P. S. Conductor-Detective Committed By Magistrate.

ON CONSPIRACY CHARGE.

Said To Have Supplied Tickets To Missing Doctor.

Ernest Partridge, charged with conspiring with Dr. E. W. Honsinger, of St. Thomas, to defraud the London & Port Stanley Railway by supplying the latter with tickets for transportation, was sent for trial by Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett when he appeared in police court this morning. He was allowed out on $2,000 bail, in two sureties of $1,000 each. Dr. Honsinger, who was a denist at the Westminster Hospital, has not yet been located by the police.

It came out in the examinaton that the accused had been employed for four yars by the ralway, not only in the capacity of conductor, but also as a special detective. This was admitted by J. E. Richards, general manager of the L. & P. S., when he was questioned by J. M. McEvoy, acting for the accused. Mr. Richards admitted that it was part of the duties of Mr. Partridge to catch those attempting fraud.

A signed statement, given the company by the accused, was put in by the crown. The statement was to the effect that Mr. Partridge had supplied Dr. Honsinger with commutation tickets during the summer and with some return ticket stubs.

Manager Richards was the only witness called. He stated that there was no way of finding out whether or not Dr. Honsinger had used the tickets which the accused claimed to have supplied to him. The amount involved was about $20. The witness declared that although Dr. Honsinger had traveled on the line practically every day during the summer he had purchased only one book of commutation tickets.

The accused will come up for trial at the next general sessions.

STATEMENT BY BIGGS CAUSES LABOR CONCERN

Ottawa I. L. P. Moves to Find Out What He Said on Wages.

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—The local executive of the Independent Labor Party, at a meeting of the local branch of the party, held last night in St. Patrick's Hall, were authorized to ask the provincial executive of the party to ascertain if the statements attributed to Hon. Mr. Biggs, regarding wages, which appeared in the press some days ago, were correct. If they proved correct, the executive was authorized to ask if the statements were in accord with the policy of the Government. Hon. Mr. Biggs was reported to have said that 30c per hour was a reasonable wage for work in the country when compared with farm wages.

As yet no labor candidate has been put in the field for the coming federal elections. It was expected that one would be named at the meeting last night, but it was afterwards announced that the choosing of a candidate was left over for another meeting to be held shortly. The date of this meeting will be set by the executive of the party.

COMMISSION DECLARES PANAMA CANAL CAN BE OPERATED MORE CHEAPLY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Thorough reorganization of the administrative machinery in the Panama Canal zone, with radical changes in existing policies affecting employment of labor and the physical operation of the canal and railroad, is recommended in the preliminary report submitted to Secretary Weeks by the commission which recently investigated conditons in the canal zone at his request.

The commission estimates an annual saving of $5,000,000 by the adoption of its suggestions.

The report recommends "that the open shop principle be actually put into effect on the Isthmus and that in all departments a substantial proportion of nonunion men be employed."

Representatives of union labor in the zone have been in conference with Secretary Weeks and Governor Morrow regarding the recommendations of the commission affecting labor which, it is said, they came to Washington to resist.

OIL PLANT EMPLOYEES NOTIFIED OF WAGE CUT

BAYONNE, N. J., Oct. 6. — The Tidewater Oil Company to-day notified 1,800 employees at its plant here that beginning October 10 their wages would be reduced 10 to 24 per cent. The cut was made necessary, the company said, because the plant had been operating at a loss of $3,000,000 since the first of the year.

NO AUTHORITY TO EJECT "FARES"

Street Railway Employees Cannot Put Passengers Off.

COMPANY ISSUES RULING.

Violation of Transfer Rule Must Be Otherwise Dealt With.

The practice which has been followed by some employees of the London Street Railway Company of having passengers ejected from the cars for infractions of the transfer regulations has been stopped by the company officials. A notice has been posted, calling the attention of the men to the rules, which do not allow passengers to be put off for such offence. It is stated that no conductor or other employee of the road has the authority to have any passenger put off for offering a transfer at other than a transfer point. Despite this, many patrons of the road have been ejected from the cars since the new rule regarding transfers has been enforced.

Only recently an aged couple was put off within one block of Dundas and Richmond streets for offering a transfer at a wrong point. They refused to pay a second fare. Some of the conductors openly stated to the officials that they would not enforce the transfer rule to the point of having the passengers taken off the cars.

Now the company has given its men instructions that discretion and courtesy are to be used in dealing with the passengers who tender transfers at other than the regular transfer points. While the transfer rule will be enforced, no passenger will be ejected, it is understood.

INNOCENT AUTOMOBILE GOT WORST OF MIX-UP

Street Car Hits Gravel Wagon and Wagon Hits Auto.

A Ridout street car and a gravel wagon tried to mix it up on the Ridout street hill, just south of the bridge, this morning, with the result that an innocent bystander, an automobile, was embroiled and received the worst of the deal.

The street car was coming down the hill from the south and apparently the gravel wagon attempted to go around the automobile, which was parked at the curb, heading south. The car hit the wagon and drove it against the automobile. One of the horses was knocked down and slightly injured and the automobile was somewhat battered. The street car had the fender broken.

MURRELL TRAIL PICKED UP AGAIN

Camp Residents Have Exciting Chase

PURSUE UNKNOWN PAIR

Description Said to Tally With Much-Sought Men

ST. THOMAS, Oct. 5.—(By Staff Reporter).—An interesting story reached here to-day of an exciting time that occurred at Campbelltown, a village in North Dunwich near the lake shore, on Monday last, when it is believed the village was visited by the famous Murrell brothers, who escaped from the Middlesex County jail at London a month ago. The county constables in the vicinity are busy searching the countryside at the present time, but so far no clue even to the likely route taken by the two stranger has been obtained, but hopes are entertained for some report within the next few hours.

The two strangers, who are said by residents who brought the report to the city to have answered the description of the Murrells to a nicety, made their appearance at the home of Thos. Leitch, just outside the village, about 5 o'clock in the morning, asking assistance in getting their automobile started, their gas tank having gone dry during the night. Mr. Leitch assisted them and noticed that their car bore evidence of very hard driving during the night. The strangers informed him that they had no money to pay for the gasoline he gave them, but asked him to give them his name and address, promising that they would send along the money later.

SUSPICIONS AROUSED

It was then that Mr. Leitch's suspicions were aroused. When questioned regarding their identities the strangers positively refused to answer and kept their heads turned from Mr. Leitch. Mr. Leitch allowed them to have the gas and then was asked to loan a crank to start the car with. They finally proceeded on their way.

Confident that the strangers were the Murrells Mr. Leitch promptly followed in his own car and saw their car stall at the bottom of a hill near the river. He hurried into a farmhouse and, obtaining three volunteers, proceeded on foot, but found that the strangers had quickly got away while Mr. Leitch was in the farmhouse asking assistance. The tracks of the car led to the Longwood road and thence toward Strathburn and Glencoe. On reaching these places the searchers were advised that a car answering the description had passed through there two hours earlier. The machine was finally traced to a side road and there lost. It was not until to-day that the story reached here.

Mr. Leitch states that every action on the part of the strangers showed conclusively that they were trying to get safely away without their identities becoming known. When taking his address one of the youths used a card bearing another name. He asked if that was his own card, but one of the men stated: "It used to be, but is not any more." The strangers acted very nervous throughout the interview, according to Mr. Leitch, and he states that he has not the slightest doubt but that they were the Murrell brothers, for whom rewards are offered.

BELIEVE CHURCHILL TO DROP COLONIAL PLAN

LONDON, Oct. 5. — The Canadian Press has reason to believe that Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill's plan for grouping the colonies under high commissionership will be dropped. It has received poor press encouragement, both here and further afield.

Unfavorable comment still appears concerning the appointment of Sir Masterton Smith as permanent colonial under-secretary. The newspaper, Truth, to-day says there is no doubt that Mr. Churchill has a high opinion of Sir Masterton's abilities as the latter worked under him in the admiralty office, but that the bestowal of the most important post in the colonial office upon a civil servant hitherto a complete stranger to its remarkable complex problems is indefensible.

Moreover, says Truth, it is an obvious injustice to the assistant undersecretaries, whose claims were passed over.

LATE ELIJAH ADAMS.—The funeral of Elijah Adams, who died in Chicago on Sunday, was held from the undertaking parlors of George Logan & Sons yesterday at 2.30. Services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Watts, of Wellington Street Methodist Church, at 2 o'clock. Interment was made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

MASS MEETINGS IN E. MIDDLESEX

Opportunities to Discuss Questions of the Day

FIRST TO-NIGHT AT LUCAN

Dr. Michael Steele, S. F. Glass and Others Are to Speak

The first of a series of mass meetings to be held in East Middlesex for the purpose of discussing questions of national importance, and to organize the several districts for the Federal contest, will be held in the Opera House, Lucan, this evening. Dr. Steele, M.P., S. Frank Glass, M.P., and other prominent speakers will address this and the other meetings of the series. To-morrow evening the voters of the district will gather in Harding's Hall, Thorndale, and on Monday night next the Orange Hall, Dorchester, will be the place of meeting. All meetings will open at 8 o'clock sharp.

PLAN CONVENTION.

In addition to the appointment of subdivision conveners and dealing with other details of the organization, arrangements will be made at these meetings for holding a convention at which a candidate to represent the riding in the interests of the Government in the federal elections will be chosen. It is particularly requested that the women of these districts attend the meetings in order to acquaint themselves with the issues of the campaign, and to become familiar with the organization work.

In this connection it is pointed out that the women of the Dominion have shouldered a great responsibility in accepting the franchise. They will have a great part, in the coming election, in working to insure a continuance of stable government in Canada, under the policy laid down by the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, premier.

Question of particular interest to the women will be discussed at these metings as well as the other outstanding issues of the day. It is expected that representative audiences will be at each gathering.

WILL CONTINUE GAS CHARGE SUIT

Ald. Wenige Not Through With the Company

GOING TO SUPREME COURT

Several Other Citizens to Join Him in the Case

Despite Judge Judd's decision yesterday that the City Gas Company cannot be compelled to refund the "readiness to serve" charge, Ald. G. A. Wenige, who brought the suit to recover, is determined, like Gen. Grant, to continue his fight for a refund of $60,000 collected through "voluntary" contribution of citizens by the company, "if it takes all summer—and winter." Ald. Wenige is preparing to enter joint action with several other interested citizens against the City Gas Company for the recovery of charges. The Supreme Court will consider no suit of less than $100. The joint suits will represent, Mr. Wenige stated in an interview, at least $1,000.

COUNSEL RETAINED.

Attorney J. M. Donahue will be retained by Mr. Wenige and other parties to the action to lead the fight for recovery of the service charges in the Supreme Court of Ontario. Assistant counsel, if Mr. Donahue so desires, will be secured.

Mr. Wenige expressed himself as entirely pleased with Mr. Donahue's conduct of the case. "He did all that any man could do and we will back him to fight the case in the highest courts of the land. The matter will not, must not rest here. The money, courts have decided, was collected illegally, the gas company has no moral right to retain it, and despite legal quibbles we are going to find out whether moral law means anything in the Province of Ontario."

KNOCKED OFF BICYCLE.

William Pope, messenger boy for the G. N. W. Telegraph office, suffered a shaking-up when he was knocked off his bicycle on Bathurst street, near Richmond, by an auto driven by Morris Gootson, 41 Maitland street, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

A Remarkable Discovery.

Among the 20th century discoveries none will go down to posterity as a more popular labor-saver than the great boon to housewives—Mir-A-cle Washing Cream. Entirely different than any other aid to washing, Mir-A-cle is in a class by itself. Used with soap it does the wash without rub being required. Include a bottle of Mir-A-cle in your order and make wash day easier.

CUT ASSESSMENT ON OPERA HOUSE

Court of Revision Agrees to Lop Off $8,000

APPEALS BEING HEARD

Citizen Objects to Wrong Age Attributed to Child

On the recommendation of Assessment Commissioner Grant the court of revision last night reduced the assessment of the Grand Opera House by $8,000. In his report Mr. Grant stated that the appellant was perfectly satisfied with this reduction. This case was considered at the last meeeting of the court and referred to Mr. Grant for a report. Several appeals heard last night were referred to the assessment commissioner, and these will be dealt with later. Among these was the appeal presented by Philip Pocock for a reduction in the assessment of the block on the corner of Richmond and York streets.

ONE COMPLAINT.

One citizen thought it worth while to appeal to the court to have his babe of a few months old properly registered in the assessment books. It appears that the assessor had inadvertently placed the youngster in the five to 16-year-old column insted of in the column reserved for infants below five years of age.

"What is your complaint?" queried Chairman Murphy, of the court.

The complaint was explained.

"Is that all?" asked the chairman in surprisee.

"Yes," said the appellant.

"See that the baby is properly assessed; it is only four months old," said the chairman, turning to Clerk of the Court Baker.

One Thames street resident complained bitterly about the ridiculous assessment.

"You receive $11 a month for a property that is assessed for $300," said the chairman.

"No, the property is assessed for $600," corrected the appellant.

"Well, that includes the house and lot," replied the chairman. "I was referring to the house."

NEVER SAW ONE

"You can't have a house without a lot, can you?" retorted the Thames street resident. "I have never yet seen a house that did not need a lot."

"But you are getting $11 a month on the property and according to the rental the property should be worth at least $1,000."

The appellant pointed out that the court had previously held that the amount of rental has no influence on the assessment. He was finally assured by the court that his case would be carefully considered later.

One other appellant declared that his house was only frame, without any solid foundations. Besides this the plaster had fallen off the ceilings not long ago.

"You had a new roof put on some time ago and that makes the place more valuable," commented Jared Vining.

"Yes, but the roof was not put on any too soon," was the reply.

TOO SOON.

"I think the work was done too soon for it was completed in ... assessors to notice it," commented Mr. Vining.

The court promised to take this case under consideration also.

W. Lancaster asked for a reduction in the assessment on the rink on Wortley road. It is assessed for $3,300.

"I thought the rink was not there now," said Chairman Murphy.

"It came very near not being there, only the prospective purchaser would not give enough for it," replied Mr. Lancaster.

"The assessment on the building looks too high to me," commented the chairman.

"It looks too high to me also," asserted Mr. Lancaster. "The only thing it has been used for during the last few years is for an amusement place for the kids to break into."

Mr. Lancaster was promised that his appeal would be gone into thoroughly later.

One owner of some vacant property on the Wortley road near Tecumseh avenue wanted to sell the land to the chairman of the court for $700. The assessment on this land is $1,080. But even this did not move the heart of the court, as the members declared that there is too much vacant land in the city now. It was further pointed out that no reduction could be made on this land as all in that district is equally assessed.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep.

"I congratulate you on the manner in which you are handling my father's estate. HELPS MAKE RICH, RED BLOOD

Annually use these tablets of organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to build up red blood, strength and endurance.

There are thousands whose bodies are ageing and breaking down at a time when they should be enjoying that perfect health which carries defiance to disease simply because they are not awake to the condition of their blood. By allowing it to remain thin, pale and watery, they are not giving the natural life forces of the body a chance to do their work. Iron is red blood food and there is no better means for building the red blood corpuscles and helping to give increased power to the blood than organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron comes in tablet form only and does not contain any ordinary metallic iron but only the finest quality of pre-digested organic iron which is easily assimilated by the blood.

T. & L. Delegates Resent Minister's 30 Cents an Hour Talk

MUCH TALK ON WAGES

Question of Union Men on C. I. Construction Up

At the meeting of the Trades and Labor committee last night a communication from the United States regarding the lowering of wages by one dollar a day and at the same time increasing the working day to 10 hours instead of eight for the employees at the various moving picture studios, was read, and the local organization was asked to take action with the musicians, stage hands and other union employees of the local playhouses in preventing the showing of pictures made by the concerns instituting the new rate. A committee of two men was appointed to look into the matter and make a report at the next meeting.

Five delegates were also appointed to look into the unemployment situation in the city and surrounding district.

CIGARMAKERS.

It was reported at the meeting that the local union members of the cigar factoris, who went on strike on December 11 last year, were still out, and, with no apparent settlement in sight, some of the men had started up small shops of their own. The union was asked to support their trade, and, by doing so, would increase the demand for the brand of cigars turned out by the shops and relieve the situation somewhat by providing employment for some of the members in a union shop with union wages and conditions.

A communication regarding the public highways and the difference in what was being done and what could be done, from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was being read, when one of the members of the committee suggested that it be turned over to Hon. F. C. Biggs, Ontario minister of public works and highways, who stated that the men were receiving a fair wage if paid 30 cents per hour, as it contained some points which might interest him.

Mr. Flett, organizer ior the American Federation of Labor, stated that he had read in the press where a reverend gentleman had made some remarks to the effect that work, which men in Canada had demanded 75c an hour for was being done in Buffalo for 28c, which in his estimation was a fair wage. Mr. Flett added that if he had the reverend gentleman to deal with he would see that the reverend gentleman would live on a 28c wage basis.

Mr. Sangster, representative of the tailors' union, stated that it was through the tailors' efforts that the contracts for the new uniforms which were being made for the firemen was given to a local concern instead of being done by another local firm, who would have to send the work out of the city to be completed, and by doing this were helping to somewhat relieve the local unemployment situation.

It was stated that, on account of the hours being worked, union carpenters were barred from obtaining employment at the Collegiate Institute. Delegate Hessel stated that although bylaws were made in 1914 regarding a fair wage schedule decided upon by the Board of Education and City Council, it did not seem to have any effect on the local situation and that the Board of Education could make their own laws regarding the situation and were getting away with the goods.

A committee was appointed to look into the matter.

AVERTS PROBABLE SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Quick Action of Street Railway Motorman Prevents Injury To Motor Cyclist.

The presence of mind and quick action of Alec Fitzsimmons, a motorman on the street railway, prevented a possible serious accident yesterday about 1 o'clock, when John Harvey, driving a motor cycle on Richmond street, near St. Peter's Cathedral, lost his head for the moment and drove in the front of the car.

Mr. Fitzsimmons immediately taking hold of the situation dropped his fender and carried the man, who sustained not a scratch, a distance of about 15 feet.

When the car was brought to a stop the motor cycle was found with the front wheel touching the wheel of the street car, but outside of a slightly bent front mudguard and the lens of the headlight being broken, was not otherwise damaged.

WANT HUCKSTERS OFF THE MARKET

Retail Grocers Discuss the Question at Meeting

FINAL ACTION DEFERRED

Will Probably Hold Out for 2 Cents Profit on Bread

That the dealers in the city will probably hold out for a two-cent profit on bread was indicated by the discussion which took place at the regular monthly meeting of the London Retail Grocers' Association last night. Action in this matter, as well as in the banning of hucksters from the market square, was postponed till Tuesday, when the report of a committee on each issue will be heard at an adjourned meeting.

In contending that they should be granted the two-cent profit on a loaf the grocers pointed out that the bakers themselves admit that it costs two cents on an average to market a loaf. While bread was selling at 13 cents the dealers were allowed this margin, but since the last two reductions in the cost of the staff of life the margin has been cut to 1½ cents and just lately to one cent. It was the reduction of the profit to one cent that led three East End grocers to open a bakeshop of their own in order to make bread for their own customers.

THE HUCKSTERS.

The meeting was practically unanimous that there should be some civic legislation that will prohibit hucksters from dealing in market produce and exercising monopolies over certain lines of commodities. It was explained that these hucksters, many of whom are not even citizens of Canada, let alone London, are in the habit of buying up produce early in the morning and then demanding exorbitant prices for the same in their resales.

It was the opinion of the meeting that both of these matters merited serious consideration and should not be dealt with hastily. Accordingly another meeting was decided upon and two committees were appointed to make a report on the bread and the market situation at that time. It is possible that the grocers will be drawn into a war with the bakers over the profit on bread and probable that the City Council will be asked to bar all hucksters from trading on the market square.

4,000 VISITORS AT MELBOURNE FAIR

Annual Exhibition Declared a Splendid Success

BARN DANCE IS STAGED

Attractions on the Midway Well Patronized

MELBOURNE, Oct. 5.—(By Staff Reporter).—With the most glorious weather prevailing and an efficient management in charge, the annual fair, held here to-day, was a decided success in every respect, and it is estimated that upwards of 4,000 people passed into the grounds during the day. The day's festivities opened at an early hour, and from then until late in the afternoon the crowd kept pouring through the main entrance. The various attractions on the midway were exceptionally well patronized during the afternoon and everyone appeared to be enjoying themselves immenseley. A fine concert by the Trunswick Trio, of London, including the comedian, Jock Ballantyne, followed by an old-fashioned barn dance, provided a fitting conclusion to one of the most successful days in the history of the town.

Some conception of the extensive array of exhibits can be gleaned from the fact that the large exhibition building in the fair grounds was found far too small to house the extensive array of articles placed there for competition in the various classes, and a large tent had to be used to take care of the home cooking and pastry exhibit. The poultry and vegetable entries were placed on exhibition in a specially provided enclosure outside the main building, while the live stock were judged in a fenced-off section of the fair grounds.

SELL FINE COOKING.

A pleasing feature on the grounds were the tents erected by the Ladies' Aid of both the Presbyterian and Methodist churches, where meals were served throughout the day. A large sum was obtained for the work of the ladies' organizations and those who did not desire to leave the grounds were enabled to obtain meals at a very reasonable price. The ladies, as usual, excelled themselves in the quality of cooking offered.

The races were the event of the day, and but for the two accidents, they were a decided success, some keen competition being witnessed. The results follow:

WILL TRY AGAIN FOR A FAIR RENTAL BILL

TORONTO, Oct. 5. — Capt. Jack Ramsden, M. P. P., who failed in an eleventh hour attempt to get fair rentals legislation passed owing to the opposition of Drury Government which earlier in the session had gone back on Mr. Raney's pledge to enact such a law, will try again this coming session.

It is said that last session the Toronto members pledged to support his bill, but the measure was called in the late hours of the session when many of the members were away and the premier's opposition to it secured its defeat.

This session the fight will be started earlier and Mr. Drury's later allies are to support the move.

News of the Federal Campaign

Dr. Rankin To Try Again In Perth—Burt Confirmed As Candidate At Brantford—Farmers Active In Quebec.

U. F. NAME CANDIDATE.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 6.—G. Harold Perkins, of Norton, was yesterday nominated as the United Farmer candidate for the constituency of Royal (Kings and Queens counties) in the forthcoming federal election.

LAMBTON I. L. P.-U. F. O. BREAK.

SARNIA, Oct. 4.—The executives of the I. L. P. and U. F. O. of West Lambton met last night to discuss the arrangements made in Brigden last year when these parties agreed to support a candidate at the forthcoming election. The Labor party last night insisted that the Farmers either withdraw their candidate or call a new convention when both parties could either agree upon a platform or separate.

R. J. White, the Farmer candidate, was agreeable to a withdrawal and call a new convention, but the majority of the Farmers favored a straight Farmer nominee. The Labor party then gave definite notice that the existing agreement was at an end, and a break so long talked about between the two parties became a fact. Memgers of the I.L.P. then left the meeting, but the Farmers were still in session at an early hour this morning. No statement was given out by them.

The Labor party will call a meeting at an early date to discuss the situation. While it is among the possibilities that a Labor candidate may be later chosen, it is generally thought the party will be behind the candidate favoring a protection policy. In view of Mr. F. F. Pardee's coupling to the Farmers in his various speeches, it is thought he will not be the candidate who will get the Labor support.

THREE-CORNERED FIGHT

KITCHENER, Oct. 5.—There is every possibility of a three-cornered fight in the North Waterloo riding. Dr. J. E. Pitt has been chosen to represent the Labor-Farmer forces and it is quite certain that the present member, W. D. Euler, M.P., will again enter the lists as an Independent Liberal. The latest development is the announcement from reliable sources that a Government candidate will run, the convention to be held within a few days. The name of J. G. Weichel, ex-M.P., is mentioned in this respect. Mr. Weichel carried the riding against W. L. M. King in 1911.

WEST LAMBTON LIBERALS.

SARNIA, Oct. 5.—The executive committee of the Liberals of West Lambton met this afternoon and discussed the political situation in this county. While no particulars are available, it is understood that a convention of the party will be held in Sarnia on October 18 to select a candidate for the federal elections.

SOUTHAMPTON ENTHUSED.

SOUTHAMPTON, Oct. 5.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of supporters of the Government, of Southampton and Bruegen Township, was held in the Town Hiker House here last night. Despite unfavorable weather a large crowd turned out to hear Col. Hugh Clark, M.P., North Bruce, who will likely be chosen as candidate for this riding at a convention in Tara next week. Col. Clark delivered a splendid address. Mr. Burt was chairman.

HON. MR. STEWART NOMINATED.

OTTAWA, Oct. 5.—Hon. J. A. Stewart, minister of railways, was unanimously nominated this afternoon at a largely attended meeting of the National Liberal-Conservative Association of Lanark, at Carleton Place. Each of 71 subdivisions in the Lanark riding was represented by five delegates, in addition to whom there were a number of U. F. O. followers present, who joined in welcoming the new minister.

HOT SHOT FOR DR. BELAND.

KENTVILLE, Oct. 5.—(Canadian Press Dispatch.)—Speaking at a large and enthusiastic meeting here this afternoon Premier Meighen said that he had notes made of addresses given by Hon. Dr. Beland and Hon. Mackenzie King from the same platform. Dr. Beland, Mr. Meighen said, was achieving the reputation of making incorrect statements and having to retract them.

"Every statement made by Dr. Beland in regard to difficulties in getting representation for my Cabinet in Quebec was false," said the premier. Quoting from a report of a speech by Lucien Cannon, M. P. for Dorchester, Mr. Meighen said Dr. Beland's colleagues were going around promoting racial hatred.

In regard to the Canadian mercantile marine, Mr. Meighen declared that charges that the Government had spent $70,000,000 in ships without authority of Parliament were false. Every one of the Liberals had supported the Government's shipbuilding policy when it was launched. Canadian ships were not getting as much business as the Government would like, but they had done better than those of any other country. The accounts of money spent by the Government were open to the members of the Liberal Opposition. If they wanted to see them they had only to read the report of the auditor-general.

The Liberal Opposition leader was trying to evade the tariff issue in his Maritime Provinces tour, said Mr. Meighen. Mr. King never even referred to the platform adopted by the Liberals at their 1919 convention, but this platform called for free food, free implements and tariff reduction on other things.

BUILDING PERMITS. — October's building permits continue to show unusual activity, indicating a continuance of the city's building, due largely to perfect fall weather. At the present rate and with fine weather continued for another month, it is expected that the 1921 building total will have passed 1919, thus establishing an historical record. The month's total is now $34,965; the year's total $2,079,610. J. M. Totten is building brick residence on Victoria street, to cost $4,000; A. J. Beadle is erecting a brick cottage on Langarth street, to cost $3,000.

Winter Gardens. Special features next Saturday night. Admission 15 cents.

UNEMPLOYMENT JUST THE SAME.

On June 1 of this year the stock of gold in the United States amounted to $3,175,037,198. This is the largest accumulation of gold by any nation in modern history. It is increasing, the rate from January to June being something like $80,000,000 a month. It constitutes about 40 per cent. of the world's visible supply of gold. At the beginning of the war the United States stock was $1,837,270,664.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Delivery Boy's Mistake Brings Joy to This Home.

A confusion of grocery orders resulted in a well-known resident receiving by mistake a mysterious bottle. Investigation proved that the bottle contained real "joy" liquid—when it was used to aid in the family wash rubbing was not necessary. The bottle contained the wonder washing cream, "Mir-A-cle." You should order a trial bottle of "Mir-A-cle" to-day.

TO WARN PEOPLE OF FIRE MENACE

Next Week To Be Observed As Fire Prevention Week.

MANY VALUABLE LESSONS.

To Spread Gospel of Clean-Up and Safety First.

The importance of taking all possible measures in the direction of fire prevention will be impressed upon the people of Canada in the week from October 9 to 15. In this the people of London will do their share, the work here being largely under the direction of the London branch of the Ontario Fire Prevention League. Capt. J. M. Watt is chairman of the local branch and is working out a program which will be observed. Fire Chief John Aitken will also make several demonstrations during the week. Members of the fire department will preach the gospel of clean up and safety first on every opportunity.

The Chamber of Commerce has received from Toronto a booklet containing suggestions for the proper observance of the fire prevention week.

A NATIONAL OBSERVANCE.

The governor-general's proclamation, setting forth fire prevention week as a national observance and giving the reasons for such a step, will be read in all the city schools and teachers will instruct their pupils upon the menace of fire and the necessity of doing everything possible to avoid it. Quite a number of business men have been communicated with and have agreed to make special window displays on certain days of the week, these displays being so designed that they will direct attention to the special purpose of the week. Manufacturers will be urged to take special precautions in the way of more efficient inspection and watchman service and better fire-fighting equipment, such as chemical fire extinguishers and automatic sprinklers. In this connection the booklet of the Ontario Fire Prevention League particularly urges the use of automatic sprinklers and points out that in the City of Boston it was found that out of 15,000 fires in establishments where sprinklers were used 85 per cent. were put out by one sprinkler head.

OUR FIRE WASTE.

It is pointed out that the fire waste in Ontario, not including forest fires, for the last five years was as follows:

1916—$16,520,206, caused by 10,279 fires.
1917—$10,365,539, caused by 9,681 fires.
1918—$15,673,240, caused by 9,740 fires.
1919—$10,514,232, caused by 9,396 fires.
1920—$11,771,718, caused by 9,296 fires.

The average fire loss in Ontario for the last three years has exceeded one million dollars per month, a per capita of $5 for every man, woman and child in the province. In contrast with this the league's literature states that the annual fire loss in the principal European countries under normal conditions is 33 cents per capita.

PRIZES FOR ESSAYS.

Arrangements are made for prizes for essays, open to pupils in the third and fourth forms of public, private and separate schools in Ontario, for the best essays on "Prevention of Fire in Home and Factory." One thousand gold-plated and enamelel medals will be presented as prizes for these essays. There will also be 15 sterling silver medals, open to the high schools of the province and seven gold medals, for the best theses written by students in universities and colleges. The competition in all classes closes on November 15 and the judges are W. H. Shapley, president Dominion Fire Prevention Association; Arthur Hewitt, president of the Ontario Fire Prevention League, and John B. Laidlaw, ex-president of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association.

MAY BE FIRE PARADE.

It is probable that in the city Sunday schools there will be brief talks on fire prevention and, if possible, a parade of the fire department will be held on some day during the week. This matter is in the hands of the fire chief.

The local branch of the Ontario Fire Prevention League is most anxious that all citizens shall participate in the work of fire prevention week so that the best results may be obtained.

Capt. Watt and his committee men have been active in this work and expect that the observance of 1921 will be more than ordinarily successful.

SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL FIRST AUTUMN MEETING

Many Matters Will Come Up For Discussion This Evening.

The inaugural fall meeting of the district Social Service council will be held to-night for the purpose of arranging the coming year's activities of the council and also to deal with the first report of the child welfare committee of the local social survey. The secretary of the council will report on the recent sessions of the mothers' allowance commission, the provincial child welfare committee and the formation of the new vaudville censorship board.

The infant mortality rate in the city, which was and still is a matter of concern, will probably come in for considerable discussion, as London, though it has brought down the number of deaths among babies, is still above the average of the province. Educational propaganda, explaining what social legislation has been passed and what measures are contemplated by the council, will be arranged for shortly, it was stated to-day.

REMOVED GLASS FROM PATH OF MOTOR CARS

Act of Curtesy Done on Road Near City Limits.

"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" is evidently the text by which two lady residents of West London abide.

Yesterday morning, when a local business man was returning to the city in his automobile, his attention was attracted to the activities of two women busily engaged in the middle of Wharncliffe road between the C. P. R. bridge and the Sarnia gravel road, with a dustpan and brooms, sweeping up small particles of glass which had probably been strew along the highway by the breaking of a windshield in a passing automobile.

Not content with their good work in preventing possible punctures to automobile tires, they stopped any approaching car and warned the driver to keep a sharp lookout for glass farther down the road.

The business man is high in his praise for these kind-hearted women who took so much trouble in doing this act of kindness when they had no need to bother with it, and it is his intention to bring the matter before the Ontario Motor Club.

MEDICAL LIBRARY HAS 4,000 BOOKS

Occupies Two Floors In the New Building.

READING ROOM, TOO.

One Encyclopedia Runs From "Reason To Stupidity."

Four thousand volumes on the allied subjects of medical and surgical science are now in place on the shelves of the Western University Medical School library, and many volumes are being added weekly.

The medical library department of the new school really occupies two floors. On the basement floor is a storage room with thousands of uncatalogued volumes and pamphlets, while on the main floor is a long room which is complete to the last detail of medern scientific library arrangement.

One feature due to the planning of Dean McKibben, is a collection of 120 periodical reading desks, each which resembles a rough pulpit with the upper slant to the wall. On each of these desks is a current periodical, underneath the back numbers of that particular periodical for the past year.

The books are all stored in fireproof steel shelving, and one section is alone devoted to encyclopedias. And here the non-medical observer runs across a curious fact. Medical encyclopedias are not indicated, as to content, as the ordinary ones are. Everyone knows how the Encyclopedia Britannica is indexed from A to Bac, from Back to Bri, from Bri to Chu, and from Ste to Zym. Not so for the medical storehouses of knowledge.

They run from "Abdomen to Brain," from "Chyle to Diagnosis," from "Mouth to Osteopathy," and from "Reason to Stupidity."

BISHOPS TO PRAY FOR IRISH PEACE

Also For Blessings On Disarmament Deliberations.

PROGRAM AT HAMILTON.

Omission of Word "Holy" In Ritual Cause of Debate.

HAMILTON, Oct. 6. — The presentation of various reports and discussion of these, a welcome by Mayor Cappley on behalf of the city, and greetings from the Protestant Episcopal Church of America, formed the chief business at this morning's session of the general synod of the Anglican Church of Canada.

A message from the House of Bishops asked that special prayers be prepared for peace in Ireland, and for blessings on the deliberations of the disarmament conference in Washington.

The report of the auditor was submitted by Dr. Lansing Lewis, of Montreal, who intimated that the synod, since approaching the millionaire class, was becoming a bit extravagant, especially with regard to printing.

WORD "HOLY" OMITTED

A message from the House of Bishops asked that the lower house concur in the motion of the Bishop of Ottawa, in which the upper house had voted concurrence to the effect that the synod "believe that the omission of the word 'holy' from the clause in the Nicene creed," and "I believe one catholic and apostolic church," has been due to accident and has no justification in the history of the text of the creed, hereby expressing its approval of the restoration of the word "holy" in this clause. And further, that the primate be requested to present the resolution to the consultative committee of the Lambeth Conference as to how best the restoration might be authoritatively made. The lower house moved an amendment which is under consideration.

MANY IN DEBATE

Several speakers, including Canon Dyson Hague, Canon Cody and Principal Vance, of Vancouver, spoke during the discussion. The latter contended that the matter should be left to the Lambeth Conference without any expression of opinion.

Dr. Dyson Hague held that the word "holy" had not been left out by accident, but on "textual" grounds.

Canon Cody took exception to the word "accident" in the motion of Bishop Roper.

At 11.30 the upper and lower floors met together to receive civic welcome extended by Mayor Coppley.

TAKE 23 BODIES FROM WRECKAGE

Only Seven Identified After Tunnel Smash At Paris.

PARIS, Oct. 6.—Twenty-three bodies of persons who lost their lives in the rear-end collision of two suburban passenger trains in the half-mile tunnel leading into the St. Nazaire railway station yesterday evening had been recovered from the smouldering wreckage this afternoon. Only seven have been identified, among these being Count Gerard De Rohan-Chabot, a former cavalry officer who was prominent in French social circles.

M. Aimond, deputy from the Department of the Seine-et-Oise, to-day served notice upon Minister of Public Works LeTrocquer that he will interpellate the Chamber of Deputies concerning the catastrophe.

The accident is attributed to the failure of a signal or a mistake in working the signal. When a train enters the tunnel a signal should drop automatically, preventing another train from entering until the signal is raised by a signal tender on the other side of the tunnel who has seen the first train leave the tunnel. An investigation is being made as to whether the signal failed to drop or was raised prematurely.

BROTHERHOOD WILL FIGHT REDUCTIONS

W. J. McPherson, organizer of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, arrived in the city on Wednesday. He stated that the organization would fight the company in regards to the new wage schedule decided upon by them, but would make no statement regarding their plans or progress made by the wage board.

He will visit the St. Thomas branch this afternoon to meet the heads of the organization and discuss their plans for the future.

PARLIAMENT OF TEACHERS MEETS

East Middlesex Institute Opens Its Sessions.

VERY LARGE ATTENDANCE.

Askin Street Pastor Eloquently Welcomes Visitors.

There was a very large attendance at the opening meeting of the East Middlesex Teachers' Institute at the courthouse this morning. It has formerly been the practice to hold the annual gathering in the county council chamber, but the attendance has increased to such an extent that this is now incapable of holding the crowd. The teachers are meeting again this afternoon and evening and on Friday.

The opening address to the public school teachers of East Middlesex was given by Rev. J. T. C. Morris, pastor of Askin Street Methodist Church, this city. He gave them a very strong talk on "The Unity of Life and the Value of Application."

Miss Blanche Silcox, president of the institute, gave the teachers an address on the "Evolution of the Subjects Taught and the Advancement." It was a most comprehensive survey of the changes in the school curricula during the years.

Miss Ethel Boyes and Miss Mary Coulton gave the meeting fine reports on the splendid work accomplished by the summer school held here during the summer vacation months, which was well attended by East Middlesex teachers.

SENT FOR TRIAL ON THEFT CHARGE

William Graham Guilty On Several Counts.

TOLD RAMBLING STORY.

Obtained Money, Clothing and Auto By Fraud.

William Graham, who told the court his home was anywhere that he happened to be when night overtook him, was found guilty on four charges of fraud and was committed for trial on a theft charge. Graham was charged with having obtained $50 from the Molsons Bank here by fraud; of obtaining money and clothing from Orth's, Limited, on worthless checks; obtaining cash and an automobile on worthless checks, and other charges.

On September 20, according to the evidence of B. G. Sheriff, accountant at the Molsons Bank, the accused deposited a check for $300 drawn on W. J. Long at the Millbank branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia. He asked for and received $50 in cash on the strength of the deposit. The check was returned from Milibank with the information that there was no such account and no funds. J. H. Lewis, manager of the Milverton branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, which conducts the Millbank branch, testified that there was no such person as W. J. Long having an account with their branch at either Millbank or Milverton and he knew of no such person.

Graham, in the box, told a long story of having sold an automobile to W. J. Long, on which the check which he had deposited at the Molsons Bank was a payment. He could not remember the name of the man from whom he had bought the car. He had met Long in Stratford and the deal was made on the road near Long's home. He had never been to Long's home. He had received $50 in cash on the car and had turned it over immediately to Long and walked back to Milverton. He met Long in London about three weeks ago and obtained the $300 check as a second payment. On the following day he received a check from him for $250. Long had not wanted to give him this second check, but he had asked him for it. There was still $50 due him on the sale.

The accused said that he had been working for the Fuller Brush Co. He came to Canada from the old country about two years ago and he named several persons for whom he had worked in Stratford.

BORDEN WILL BE CANADA'S ENVOY

To Represent Dominion At Washington Disarmament Parley.

WORD EXPECTED SOON.

He Will Go As Part of the British Delegation.

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—(Special to The Free Press.)—It is well understood here that Sir Robert Borden will represent Canada at the forthcoming disarmament conference in Washington. Cables are being exchanged on the subject, but an official announcement is not yet ready. It will probably come from the British Government, inasmuch as Sir Robert will be a part of the British delegation rather than as a separate representative of Canada. No invitation has been extended to Canada for the gathering.

201 PRISONERS IN 3 MONTHS

County Jail Popular During Last Quarter.

BOARD COSTS 16 CENTS DAY.

With Medical Attention 16.6 Cents Was the Tariff.

During the three months ending September 30 there were 201 prisoners admitted to the county jail according to the quarterly report which Governor Carter has just submitted to the Government. These prisoners were confined for varying periods, totaling 2,101 days.

The cost of maintenance at the jail was low. Without the inclusion of the cost of medical attendance it cost 16.2c to keep each prisoner for one day. With medical attention included the cost was 16.6c per day.

Your STYLE SHOW Opened My Eyes

—said an enthusiastic shopper this week. She continued: "I never realized there could be such a difference between the garments you show and those one sees in ordinary stores or in ready-to-wear departments. Your styles are nicer some way—yet the prices don't seem any higher. Perhaps I'd have noticed this before if I'd been more critical in shopping around—but anyway, I know it now. Your Style Show made it very apparent."

It was the difficulty of emphasizing by ordinary means the fact that Raphael-Mack garments ARE so superior—though no higher-priced—that created the "Style Show!" And hundreds had the same experience as the customer referred to above.

If you saw the show you'll surely appreciate a closer inspection of the garments; if you didn't see it, we'll welcome you to inspect our displays and make critical comparisons. Regardless of the superior distinction and beauty of the garments we offer, our prices are based on QUALITY, not style. They're never higher than elsewhere, and they're often lower—considering the excellence of the materials and workmanship. Let us show you.

THE RAPHAEL-MACK CO.

LONDON 236 DUNDAS STREET HAMILTON

CITY NEWS

RECEPTION FRIDAY. — The girls of the senior class of Western University are giving a reception to the girls of the other three classes in the arts building from 4 to 6 o'clock on Friday.

WORK ON PAVING STARTS. — Work has started on paving Richmond street north and the transfer of the street railway switch from opposite Huron street to a point north. This will give clearance between streets and curb. English street, between Dundas and Queen's, is being paved.

WESTERN REUNION. — Western University class of the year 1912 will hold its first reunion in London beginning Friday, October 7. A splendid program has been arranged by the officers in charge of the reunion, which will be marked by a banquet, theater party, special clinics and inspection of the new medical school.

SUGGESTIONS FOR COSTUMES. — The latest use of the Barnett library of the Western University is to give suggestions for costumes for theatrical performances. A local theater, that is planning to put on a period play soon, has secured plates from the library for copying. Western Ontario citizens are also taking advantage of the offer of volumes in the collection for short loan periods, it was announced to-day.

CHANGE LIGHTS ? — A suggestion was made by a prominent architect today that the city engineer's department change its danger lights from red to green. This plan was advanced because citizens find difficulty in determining at a distance, whether a red light ahead means city works going on or is merely the tail light of parked automobiles. The ralways use green lights to indicate grade crossings, it was also pointed out.

MAYOR LITTLE MAY SEEK THIRD TERM

Rumored That He Will Again Be Candidate for the Chair.

There is a persistent rumor in civic circles to the effect that Mayor Little may enter the mayoralty contest for the third time. In answer to a direct question the mayor asserts that he knows nothing of the rumor, nor has he heard that he is to be a candidate for the third time.

However, many of his close friends and associates are saying that it is more than possible that he will be in the ring again this year. While his worship intimates that he has no intentions of contesting the mayoralty election this year, he is not definitely positive that he will not be a candidate.

COMPLAIN OF ACTION OF CAR CONDUCTOR

Kept Door Closed, It is Alleged, When Car Stalled on Railway Track.

Blocked on the G. T. R. tracks to-day the conductor of Normal car No. 152 refused to open the doors so the passengers could escape from the danger zone. While no train was in sight at the time, the passengers are loud in their denunciations of the conductor who turned a deaf ear to their appeals. They point out that many lives might have been lost as a result of the street railway employee's action.

Car No. 150 dropped its "cowcatcher" accidentally while crossing the tracks and blocked the street railway traffic. Car No. 152 happened along a few minutes later and ran up on No. 150. This left the papssengers of the last car right in the path of any trains that might have been arriving in the city, and they asked the conductor to open the doors so they could leave. He urged that there was no danger and maintained a strict watch to see that the doors were not opened. Happily, the car was away before any express came along, or the story might have had a different ending, it is said.

BIG STORM ON ERIE DELAYS LAKE BOATS

Bessemer is Delayed For Two Hours—Beach is Inundated.

One of the most severe storms in years struck Lake Erie yesterday, disrupting service and tying up lake traffic until an early hour this morning.

The waves attained such great force that they washed over the cement pier and entirely inundated the board walk at times.

Four lake steamers which never call at Port Stanley were blown out of their course and forced to take refuge in the harbor.

The Bessemer coal steamer succeeded in reaching port safely after a two-hour struggle, but a large steamer, with crippled engines, was towed in by a lake tug only after a terrific struggle with the waves.

Up until press time no reports as to the estimated damage done were available.

Delay in Order That Board May Consider Points at Issue..

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.—When the railway board met here this morning, Hon. Frank Carvell, chief commissioner, adjourned the hearing of the application of the Bell Telephone Company for increased tolls until Tuesday morning, October 11. The reason for the adjournment, said Mr. Carvell, was that the board might meantime give further attention to the points at issue.

CAPTAIN CARTER DIES.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Capt. R. F. Carter, 75 years old, who for 35 years was captain of the Maid of the Mist, the little steamer which plies the lower river at the foot of the American and Horseshoe Falls, died today at his home in Niagara Falls, Ont. He was closely identified with many daring rescues from the Niagara and was known to thousands of tourists who had made sight-seeing trips on his boat season after season.

AYLMER, Oct. 6. — (By Staff Reporter.) — East Elgin United Farmers met here this afternoon to select a candidate. There seemed to be no doubt that S. S. McDermand, M.P., recently elected in a by-election here, would be renominated.

Big Things in Canada

Canada has the world's richest nickel and asbestos mines. Do you want the output of those mines to be drained into the larger manufacturing establishments of the United States, there to employ United States workmen in its development and United States railways and other commercial interests to control its distribution?

Canada possesses the world's largest pulp wood resources. The United States has been a flagrant waster of paper, and paper is the most important by-product of pulp wood. The United States is in need of pulp wood products. Do you want your pulp wood drained out of this country into the wood pulp mills and the paper mills and the wood pulp products industries of the republic; or do you want it to be manufactured into wood pulp, paper and wood pulp products here at home and so give employment to thousands of Canadians?

Canada has the most extensive sea fisheries in the world. Canada has the largest copper mines in the British Empire. Canada holds the world's records in wheat and oats, both for quality and quantity per acre, and since but one-tenth of Canada's arable land is as yet under crop cultivation, the possibilities for the development of agriculture in Canada are unlimited. Again, Canada has the largest inland port in the world (Montreal). And, finally, Canada has the greatest railway mileage in the world per capita. In a word, Canada is a country of big things.

All Canada needs, then, is population, men and women born into Canadian citizenship or willing to immigrate and so become citizens of this big country of big resources.

Let us pose a question: By what sort of a fiscal policy did the United States build up the big resources which were that country's natural inheritance into an industrial system that earned for her people wages and salaries and profits? By what sort of a fiscal policy did that country win population so far in advance of an ordinary "natural increase," that to-day, fifty odd years after the disaster of the American Civil War, her people number close on to 110,000,000 souls?"

Did she do it by a Protective tariff policy, the result of which was to increase the value of her manufacturing, mineral and agricultural production and expand her home markets, so as to enable her to produce upon a scale that fitted her to enter and win success in the markets of the world? Or did she do it by a policy of Free Trade?

Enough said!

In the forty-two years our country has maintained a protective tariff, among the other big industrial and commercial enterprises and accomplishments of Canada, let us note:

Canada has the largest grain mills in the British Empire. Canada has the world's highest hydraulic lift lock (Peterboro). Canada has the largest agricultural implement industry in the British Empire. Canada has the largest combination elevator in the world (Port Arthur). Canada has the largest pulp mill of its kind in the world (Chicoutimi). Canada has the biggest dam in the world (Gouin), with a capacity double the Assouan dam on the Nile. Canada will shortly have the largest power generating station in the world, Queenston end of the Chippewa-Queenston hydro power canal, the largest engineering work in the world since the Panama Canal construction. Canada has the largest water power tunnel in the world (Niagara). Canada has the largest industrial exhibition in the world. Once more, at Nobleford, Alberta, Canada has a farm recording the largest yield from any single enterprise in the world—a million dollar crop (1920), from 515,000 bushels of wheat, oats and rye. Finally, between the years 1879 and 1920, Canada's foreign trade multiplied 16 times. All this under protection. Can you beat it?

Who Is Right?

The London Advertiser assures its readers that the duties on agricultural implements will not be wiped off if the Liberals win and Hon. Mackenzie King becomes prime minister. Has The Advertiser any special message to this effect from Mr. King or the Liberal leaders? If it has, it owes it to its readers to publish it.

The Liberal party in 1919 at its Ottawa convention adopted a platform. This platform contained, among other clauses, the following:

"That wheat, wheat flour and all products of wheat, the principal articles of food, farm implements and machinery, farm tractors, mining, flour and sawmill machinery and repair parts thereof, rough and dressed lumber, gasoline, illuminating, lubricating oils, nets, net twines and fishermen's equipments, cements and fertilizers, should be free from customs duties, as well as the raw materials entering into the same."

A solemn pledge was added that this policy would be put into legislative effect if the Liberals gained power. In addition, only a year ago Hon. Mackenzie King, in the course of the budget debate, asked if he would put this platform into effect, declared with all the emphasis that he could command that he would "stand or fall by this platform."

Recently on rural platforms many Liberal speakers have been emphasizing this clause in the platform, while in Western Canada free agricultural implements is the chief card of the Liberal party. Neither Mr. King, Mr. Fielding nor any other Liberal leader has made a statement to the effect that this platform will not be carried out.

Does The London Advertiser mean to say that this platform will not be put into effect, that the solemn pledges of the party and Mr. King mean nothing, that Liberal speakers on rural platforms and in the West are pulling the wool over the eyes of the electors?

If The Advertiser is correct and there is no intention of putting farm implements on the free list, then the Liberal party stands self-condemned of political deception and hypocrisy without precedent in Canadian history.

McGill Calls Dr. Gordon Laing.

As evidence of the tendency to bring Canadian men who have made "good" in the United States back to Canada, we note the appointment of a London old boy, Dr. Gordon J. Laing, at present of the University of Chicago, to the deanship of the faculty of arts and head of the department of classics at McGill University, Montreal.

This is as it should be. It is as it should be because Dr. Laing's university and professional career is worthy of the high honor conferred upon him. Further, it is as it should be because a "return" of this character lays an emphasis not only upon the similarity in the curriculums which obtain in the educational institutions of the two countries, but on their kinship. Dr. Laing, for example, was able to give as satisfactory work to Chicago as he gave to Vancouver, in which university, if we mistake not, he held his premier professorship.

It is the same thing in the case of university men coming from the United States to Canadian universities. Provided the standard of education is the same in the colleges from which such men come as it is in the colleges to which they go, other things are equal.

Moreover, no greater provision for the continued friendship of the English-speaking peoples could be provided than just this sort of "exchange" of educationists. Under such a rule young men and women of the two countries form alliances of the intellect and of the affections with older men and women of the two countries during a most impressionable age. Every alliance of this character is an English-speaking asset.

So far, the universities of the United States have drawn more men in proportion from Canada than Canada has drawn from them. Recently, however, Canadians, too, have awakened to the importance of inculcating good-fellowship at the very roots of life, and of watering it with all the amenities. And when, as has happened Canada in the case of Dr. Laing, American university men who have made "good" in Canada, are recalled, they, too, in some such way as he, will have broadened their viewpoint by contact with a people like themselves, who are not yet themselves, augmented their English-speaking sympathies, and, as a consequence, wherever they go in their own country, these, inevitably, must be centers of understanding and accord.

Gordon Jennings Laing is the second son of the late Mr. J. B. Laing, of this city, for so many years one of our most prominent wholesale merchants. Dr. Laing was educated at the old "Central," at the Collegiate Institute and at the University of Toronto. Those who remember him in his school days, remember a lithe, brown-eyed, studious youth, who always ran away with the prizes; one whose books were his choicest "meat."

The Free Press extends congratulations to our distinguished "old boy."

Liberal Tactics in Quebec.

Hon. Mackenzie King is taking no steps to rebuke his Quebec followers for their campaign of "revenge" for conscription, which they are conducting in that province. Mr. King expects to become prime minister and the only hope for this expectation is based on a solid Quebec. A solid "bloc" can only be maintained by an outrageous appeal to prejudice. Until Mr. King repudiates this campaign of hate which is being waged in Quebec he will have to take responsibility for it.

In London the Liberals have nominated in C. R. Somerville a man who bore his share of war sacrifice and who supported conscription in 1917. How Mr. Somerville can honestly and consistently support a leader who is winking at such appeals is beyond understanding. Unless Mr. Somerville repudiates his leader or Mr. King puts an end to the campaign of his Quebec followers he will have to carry the odium of these political tactics.

Over the week-end there were the usual appeals of this character on the part of the Liberal speakers, with our friend, Lucien Cannon, M. P., the chief firebrand. For the benefit of Mr. Somerville and the thousands of other Liberals who supported conscription, we quote from Mr. Cannon's speech at Sorel, where P. J. Cardin, M. P., was nominated, as reported in Montreal papers:

"Mr. Cannon said that when the war broke out the gentleman who traveled through the country as an imperialist telling the people that Canada should give all for the empire was Mr. Meighen. Who is the author of the conscription law and who defended it in Parliament? It was Premier Meighen. They want us to forget conscription, but we are not afraid of it. It was not passed to help Great Britain and insure victory for the allies. It was a political maneuver. Conscription was the Golgotha on which Quebec was crucified to keep Borden in power. Premier Meighen is now telling Quebec he was always fond of this province. But I say a new treason is prepacing. In 1917 it was their affair to insult us, and now it is their affair to compliment us."

NOTE AND COMMENT

In politics many are "chosen" and more chewed.

Advocates of direct taxation generally aim straight at the other fellow.

"The Man Who Would Be King" to-day must have been playing Rip Van Winkle.

The profiteers are reputed to have drawn tears as well as money from the people.

"The triangle" is trying out new problems. It has now entered the political field.

Florida Water may smell sweet, but its taste must turn to bitterness when it costs $5 per and charges for the O. T. A. breach.

"The new heads of Alaska and the Philippines are Bone and Wood, respectively." Well, we have our's, too; Bone in Toronto and Wood out Alberta way.

The Third Column

BUCK UP.

Buck up when you're discouraged,
Buck up when things go wrong,
Buck up and face the battle,
Care doesn't last for long.
What though disaster taunts you,
And hope seems lost in doubt?
Buck up and face your problem,
You still can work it out.

Buck up and fight still harder,
To-morrow waits for you;
Until the game is ended
There's something you can do,
And even after failure,
If but your faith be stout,
And you remain undaunted,
You still can work it out

Buck up when you are tiring,
Your foes are tiring, too;
Buck up, the fight's not hopeless
Until they've conquered you.
Buck up, though bruised and battered,
Still battle, tooth and nail;
Though flesh and muscle falter,
Don't let your spirit fail.

Buck up, the will within you
Unconquered must remain,
For man must face his duty
In spite of grief or pain.
There still is time to conquer
However dark the view,
Unless you let misfortune
Destroy your spirit, too.

LEARN TO WALK PAST FAILURE.

I remember, as a boy, I was afraid to walk past certain dark or mysterious places in the town where I lived.

I do not know why I was afraid. We do not know so many things.

As I have thought of it since, however, I have reasoned that we are inheritors of fears—from where or whom we cannot figure out.

Perhaps that one great fear—Failure—is one of the fears which we have all inherited.

All right—learn to walk right by it!

I have noticed that when a dog runs out to bark at me, if I ignore it and walk right on, it soon gets discouraged and stops barking and running at my heels and trots back to its home.

If you desire to win strong enough—you cannot fail.

Failure is always around, though. It is always peeping its sneer our way. But laught at it—walk right past it—and what do you care whether it is near or not?

Keep a warm heart and you need never be afraid of "cold feet."

What most of us long for right along is to have someone come to us and tell us that we are worth while and that we must use the faith that we have to face the thing toward which we aspire—and learn to walk past failure.

We need discouragement to contrast our bright days with. But we also need the courage to lead us safely through our greatest successes.

The artist becomes great only through long waiting and weariness of soul. He walks over set-backs. He rises into days of darkness—to stream them with the light of his sublime faith.

Sometimes we miss God and wonder where He keeps Himself. And just then we discover Him strolling with somebody who long ago—learned to walk past Failure.

And what an inspiring person that one is!

—George Matthew Adams

CHEAP SKATES.

Cheap skates are men whose idle lives no sane results are giving, who loaf and argue while their wives attempt to earn the living. While men of vim and merit chase around in high endeavor, cheap skates sit in the market place and thrash stale themes forever. They play cheap games for cheaper stakes in joints where skates assemble, and talk of toil with hoes and rakes will make them flinch and tremble. Cheap skates are men who never pay unless through writ or judgment; their promises of yesterday but show what bunk and fudge meant. They spoil their stand-off at the start, they mangle and behead it, and now there is no store or mart where they can buy on credit. Their children have to blush for shame, their wives, as well, are blushing, while they, to play a checker game, through alleys dark are rushing. Cheap skates are chaps who have no pride, who'd rather loaf than labor, and smile when charity's supplied by some more thrifty neighbor. Cheap skates will borrow book or hen, they borrow things and break them, and never bring them back again unless the peelers make them. Cheap skates abound in every town, and rank not with its glories; they hold the shady benches down, and tell the shady stories.

DEATH.

When we would go forth to meet thee,
Death, Oh, Death!
And so joyously greet thee, would
Death, glad Death;
Then thou tarriest so late,
Whilst we linger and we wait,
Death, Oh, Death!

When thou comest, King of Terrors,
Death, Oh, Death!
Whilst we still cling to sin's errors,
Death, Oh, Death!
As thief unheard thou comest creeping,
And takest us in thy keeping,
Death, grim Death!

THE FREE PRESS LETTER BOX

MR. BOSTON EXPLAINS.

Editor Free Press: It has been asserted in the press that when I was governor of the London jail I resigned on account of the escape of a prisoner. This statement is absolutely without foundation. When I was governor of the jail a man did escape by the name of Texas, but it was under the following circumstances: We had an insane prisoner in jail, Dr. McArthur. The jail physician endeavored to have him placed in the asylum, but was unable to do so. He came to me and said: "Boston, while you were in the County Council you had a good deal to do with jail matters and with getting insane prisoners in the asylum," and requested me to go to the asylum and try to get the man in. I went to the asylum to make arrangements about having the insane man admitted, and while I was absent the head turnkey insisted on the night watchman going off duty, thus giving the prisoner an opportunity to escape on account of not being properly guarded.

The inspector came to London and held an investigation, the result of which was that the head turnkey and night watchman were both discharged. I was not even censured and remained governor of the jail until I was given the nomination as the Liberal convention to run for the House of Commons for the north riding of Middlesex, when I resigned.

DOWN ON BOARD.

Editor Free Press: I note, as reported in your paper, that the Board of Education has no money to spend on Empress Avenue School, at the same time proposing to spend $50,000 to $75,000 on the Technical school for a swimming pool and gymnasium—both as unnecessary as a second tail to a dog. Now, sir, the remedy to teach this extravagant and wasteful board (which accomplishments no one will dispute) a lesson is at the next election to refuse to vote for any of the present members who offer for re-election. It is unfortunate that the whole board is not elected for a one-year term instead of two years. There are only a few who are not groaning under the burden of our heavy taxation. With the enormous and unwarranted increase in our assessment the taxes next year will be beyond all reason. There has been no attempt at economy on the part of our City Council, but spend, spend, spend! I would advise all citizens not to give a single vote to any member who offers for re-election. Rout the whole bunch is the only remedy to adopt if they want economical instead of extravagant municipal government.

Monument Marks Resting Place Of Great Explorer

A monument to the memory of Simon Fraser, the discoverer of the Fraser River and one of the pioneer explorers of British Coumbia, has been erected over his grave in the little Village of St. Andrew's, in Glengarry County.

The monument in the cemetery at St. Andrew's West was secured through the instrumentality of Col. Donald McGregor, of Yukon fame, who is now at his old home in Martintown, Glengarry County. The colonel brought the matter to the attention of the Hudson's Bay Company offices, suggesting that Simon Fraser's last resting place should be finally marked. Perhaps no man living was more familiar with the history of Simon Fraser and the work he accomplished than Col. McGregor, as he knows every foot of the Fraser River, from its source to the sea, and covered much of the territory in British Columbia which Simon Fraser traversed. The Hudson's Bay Company officials in Montreal and Winnipeg were greatly taken with the idea of erecting the monument to mark the resting place of Simon Fraser and his wife, and the contract was placed with Messrs. Fallon Brothers months ago. The monument is now complete and bears the following inscription in raised letters in black of imperishable material:

"In memory of Simon Fraser, explorer, born 1776, died 1862. While in the employ of the Northwest company he conducted important exploration and pioneer work, principally in the area now known as British Columbia, which he helped to secure for the British. He led the first exploring expedition to descend the river which bears his name, reaching the Gulf of Georgia on July 2, 1808.

"This monument was erected in 1921 by the Hudson's Bay Company over the grave where he and his wife were buried."

Simon Fraser was born in the State of Vermont when it was a British possession, and his father, who was a member of the King's Royal Regiment, was made a prisoner during the Revolutionary War and died as such. His widow, with her family, including Simon, then a mere infant, settled at St. Andrew's West, where the future explorer grew up. Like so many young men of that day, Simon Fraser joined the Northwest Fur Company and remained in its service till its amalgamation with the Hudson's Bay Company, when he resigned and returned to St. Andrew's, where he spent his last days. During his travels he discovered the river known to the Indians as the Great River, which he explored to its entry to the Pacific Ocean, and which was called after him. He also discovered a tributary to it, which he named after David Thompson, an astronomer of the Northwest Company, who on his return from the West settled in Williamstown, where he purchased the home now occupied by Mr. Farquhar Robertson, of Montreal, and which was originally a Presbyterian manse, the first in Upper Canada.

On his route Simon Fraser established the principle posts of the Northwest Company, in what is now known as British Columbia, to which the Hudson's Bay Company eventually succeeded. In his journeyings he was accompanied by a man named Stewart, an uncle of the late Lord Strathcona, and gave his name to a large river and lake.

GUESS AGAIN.

David Lloyd George has looked through the countries of the allies and their associates and finds that while he still remains in power as premier there have meanwhile been six premiers in France, six in Italy and nine in Germany. He might have added, of course, two presidents in America, or, rather, two secretaries of state. The question is pertinent: What has kept Mr. Lloyd George the only man still in office? It is an old question in England, and the answer that suggests itself is "The Coalition," which the New Zealand caricaturist, that other David, "the one and only Low," has repcesented to the world as the sublime coalition double-headed ass, "The Marvelous Moke." Much virtue in your coalition then! Although there are many Liberals who see in it no virtue whatever, and would be mightily pleased if anyone could show them how to end a coalition that is no coalition at all, so long as it does not include them!—Christian Science Monitor.

ANSWERS

GENERAL ELECTION OF 1911 AND 1817.

Question—Will you kindly let us have details as to how Sir Robert Borden carried 1911 and 1917 general elections by Provinces?

CANADIAN.

Answer—In the general elections of 1911 the result was as follows: Conservatives, led by Sir Robert Borden—Ontario, 72; Quebec, 27; Nova Scotia, 9; New Brunswick, 5; Prince Edward Island, 2; Manitoba, 8; Saskatchewan, 1; Alberta, 1; British Columbia, 7; the Yukon, 1. Total, 133. General election of 1917: Unionist, led by Sir Robert Borden—Ontario, 74; Quebec, 3; Nova Scotia, 12; New Brunswick, 7; Prince Edward Island, 2; Manitoba, 14; Saskatchewan, 14; Alberta, 11; British Columbia, 13; the Yukon, 1. Total, 153. In 1911 the Liberals carried 86 seats and in 1917 82 seats, let in both campaigns by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

SIR MORELL MACKENZIE.

Question—Would you please publish a short biography of the late Sir Morrell MacKenzie, noted physician?

A. A. S., City.

Answer—Sir Morell Mackenzie was a British physician, a great authority on throat diseases. He was born at Leytonstone, Essex, England, on July 7, 1837, the son of Stephen Mackenzie, a surgeon. He studied medicine in London, Paris, Vienna and Perth. In 1863 he won the Jacksonian prize at the Royal College of Surgeons, London, for an essay on the "Pathology of the Larynx," and he then devoted himself to becoming a specialist in diseases of the throat. He had a great share in establishing the throat hospital in London, which was founded in Golden Square in 1863. So great was his reputation that he was summoned to attend the Crown Prince of Germany (afterwards the Emperor Frederick III) when he was attacked by the infection of the throat of which he ultimately died. He was knighted in September, 1887, and died somewhat suddenly in London on February 3, 1892. His "Manual of Diseases of the Throat and Ear" is a standard work.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

Question—Can you tell me the origin of Thanksgiving Day?

READER.

Ayr, Ont., October 3, 1921.

Answer—The Pilgrim Fathers were the first to set apart a day for thanksgiving, immediately after their first harvest at Plymouth in 1621. The Massachusetts colony held their first thanksgiving in 1630, and frequently thereafter until about 1680, when it became an annual festivity in that colony. Connecticut started a Thanksgiving Day in 1647. After the American Revolution, President Washington appointed the last Thursday in November as Thanksgiving Day, until the close of the war of 1812. In some of the Southern States there was opposition to the observance of such a day on the ground that it was a relic of Puritan bigotry, but in 1858 a proclamation oppointing a day of thanksgiving was issued by the governors of 25 American states. President Lincoln appointed the fourth Thursday of November, 1864, and since that time each American president has annually followed this example. In Canada there has been no fixed day for Thanksgiving, the Government annually proclaiming the date. For years Thanksgiving Day in Canada followed the American example and was held on Thursday, but following many petitions, particularly from commercial travelers, in recent years Thanksgiving Day has been held on Monday. Parliament last session made Thanksgiving Day the Monday nearest Armistice Day.

CAN'T MARRY AGAIN.

Question.—Would you kindly answer this, through your valuable paper, in the question column? A man's wife left him 12 years ago. He has not seen her since that time. Also he has not heard from her or anything about her for the last eight years, although he has made all inquiries possible to locate her. Would it be quite legal for the man to marry again, believing his wife must be dead or he would have heard from her before, as she knew his whereabouts and address the whole time?

SUBSCRIBER.

Answer.—You cannot legally marry again unless the courts have officially declared your wife dead.

PRIZE POEM.

Question.—Is there a society in Canada which gives an annual prize for the best Canadian poem?

Answer.—The Arts and Letters Club, of Ottawa, has for several years given prizes for the best Canadian poem. As far as we are aware they have not offered a prize for this year.

WATERLOO SEES VALUE OF TARIFF

Farmers Mindful of Nearby City Markets.

F. S. SCOTT RENOMINATED.

E. W. Nesbitt Urges "Tariff To Suit Canadians."

NEW HAMBURG, Oct. 5.—(By Staff Reporter)—"Were the electors of this riding to sit down, like a board of directors, regardless of party, to choose a chairman, without any prejudices, I doubt if they would not choose the same man you have chosen to represent them, aside from party policies at all, but just for his business ability." E. W. Nesbitt, late M. P. for North Oxford, paid this effective tribute this afternoon to the qualities of F. Stewart Scott, who was the unanimous choice of the National Liberal and Conservative party as federal candidate for a third term.

No other names were placed before the meeting. Mr. Scott was nominated by Dr. Wardlaw, who expressed himself "a firm believer in the policy of not swapping horses in midstream." Seconder of the motion was A. R. G. Smith, of New Hamburg, who said: "I happen to be a farmer. I have had the privilege of traveling pretty widely in Canada, and I have changed my mind during the past 10 years, and never was more convinced than during the past few years of the importance of a protective tariff for the farmers in the Province of Ontario and the Dominion of Canada. (Applause). Our forefathers grew wheat and cattle, but to-day you find the products many and diversified as a result of the proximity of the markets in industrial Ontario. I have great respect for the protective tariff and what it has done in the County of Waterloo. The farmers and townspeople should co-operate, and I am going to support the policy which I think will be the protective policy for the whole Dominion." (Applause).

NO HALL LARGE ENOUGH.

The convention was full of "pep" and enthusiasm from start to finish. It began with the discovery that Library Hall was far too small for the crowd, and the meeting was transferred to a picture theater. It wasn't big enough either and many stood at the back of the hall. Homer Watson, of Doon, started the ball rolling, then relinquished the chair to R. O. McCulloch, of Galt, who kept the business of the afternoon moving rapidly.

Although South Waterloo is full of manufacturing centers there were many farmers present, and these stirred the meeting to tremendous applause with a resolution on the tariff. Sponsored by Alfred E. Kerr and John Orr, both of Dumfries Township, the motion was carried unanimously. It reads: "That this convention, composed of delegates from town and country, cheerfully records its appreciation of the great value to farmers of their interwoven interests, mindful as these delegates are of near-by markets and the wonderfully profitable influence of thriving industrial centers upon our farm life; that these conditions may be continued, this convention, interpreting the prevailing sentiment of the rural parts of this constituency, pledges itself to support the tariff policy of Rt. Hon. Mr. Meighen as one essential to the continued prosperity of our men and women upon the farms."

The convention also adopted a resolution introduced by M. H. Mullin, of Preston, and L. E. Weaver, of Hespeler: "That this convention approves the most generous treatment of our war veterans, in hearty acknowledgment of their services so nobly rendered when Canada was in danger; this convention standing for such wide and just administration of the department affecting the lives of returned men and women as will leave no cause for complaint in their ranks."

A resolution brought forward by J. P. Jaffray and Dr. James Warnock, of Galt, expressed confidence in Rt. Hon Arthur Meighen as a leader of the highest type, and in the administration and policy of the Government

NEW OFFICERS.

A new executive was elected, including selection of a lady for the newly created position of second vice-president: President, Fred Palmer Galt; first vice-president, ex-Mayor Weaver, Hespeler; second vice-president, Mrs. C. R. H. Warnock, Galt; secretary, C. G. Robertson, Preston; treasurer, J. M. Irwin, Galt. Representatives from Galt New Hamburg, Preston, Hespeler, Ayr Waterloo and Wilmot townships presented lists of names from these municipalities for the executive and all were approved.

Mr. Scott, after suitable asknowledgment of his nomination, dealt with the railway situation, and at some length with the tariff.

"Labor, I believe, is behind the stand which the Meighen Government takes on the tariff question," he said. "A year or two ago the Trades and Labor Councils of Canada, from coast to coast, were passing resolutions urging continuance of the customs tariff and opposing free trade. I don't believe that any group of men, resolving themselves into the Independent Labor party or any other party can repudiate resolutions of that kind. Those men were discussing the question free from political bias, and I have no doubt the same serious-minded people are to-day standing just where they stood when these resolutions were passed.

"Britain is to-day protecting what she calls her 'key industries.' A Labor Government in Australia has introduced a customs tariff and adopted the principle of protection. They are going in to develop their manufacturing industries.

"When you buy foreign goods you are paying off the debts of foreign countries. When you buy United States goods you are helping to pay, not only their war debt, but their state taxes, and so I say it is the more important that we should encourage the sale of goods made here at home. (Applause.)

"My firm conviction is that if you settle this tariff question in December the way it ought to be settled, and say that we are going to have tariff stability in this country, you are going to give renewed hope and confidence to the entire Canadia people, and you will find that business will get a new lease on life, and it will not be very long until Canada is going full steam ahead in national prosperity."

A MAN WHO CAN THINK.

E. W. Nesbitt, late member and now National nominee in North Oxford, said he indorsed the tariff platform of the National Liberal and Conservative party, but was otherwise an Independent.

"We should elect men with unprejudiced mind, and who have thoughts of their own," he said, "and that is the kind of a man my friend Scott is, with all due deference to his being called a Conservative."

Mr. Nesbitt reviewed the railway situation, describing the guaranteeing of Canadian Northern bonds as a "horrible mistake."

"We didn't need a third transcontinental," he said. "Blair was right. I voted for the taking over of the railways in the West, because the old Grand Trunk had feelers in Ontario which count for a great deal. I an not in favor of Government ownership of anything, and I am certainly not in favor of Government operation of anything, but if we ever redeem ourselves in the railway operation of this country it will be owing to the old Grand Trunk.

"The last clause in the platform of the National party is that we shall make a tariff to suit the Canadian people, and won't make tariffs to suit the United States. (Applause). Did you ever hear of the United States making anything to suit anybody else but themselves? (Laughter and applause). If you did, I didn't. We propose in that tariff to protect our own people and our own industries. I was an advocate of reciprocity in 1911. I won my election on it, and I was about the only one who did. It was absolutely all right—at that time. Remember, I am not in favor of a high tariff. It gets people in a slovenly way of doing business, because, after all, we have got to export, and to export we have to meet the competition of the world, and that is why I am anxious to see the manufacturers of this country get their businesses organized and systemized.

A GREAT CHANGE.

"Every country in the world has changed since 1911, and we have to live up with the times unless we want to be smothered and get out of the world entirely. Mr. Wilson was perfectly willing to trade with us on a reasonable and equal basis, but say! the American people, perhap they didn't slaughter Mr. Wilson! Now, are we going to compile a tariff to suit the present or any other party in the United States? I say 'no.' We cannot tell when these people will change their minds.

"The agrarians are calling for free trade. Men who are running as U.F.O. candidates in this election, remember, are running for the Dominion House. They are followers of Mr. Crerar, the agrarian leader, who says he won't cut the tariff all off at once. Thanks, very much, I hope he will never have the opportunity. But he distinctly says he will reduce it as rapidly as he can. Mr. Scott has told you how we came out of the war. The debt has to be carried and paid. Are we going to take the tariff off now and let the American people take our markets over, or are we going to protect ourselves and our industries and our workingmen?

"I am a farmer, though the U.F.O. fellows say I am an agriculturist. Anyway, I have more money invested in farming than in all my other interests, and it is absolutely useless to tell me I do not know the interests of the farmer, because I do. I was raised on the farm till I was 18, and since that time have had 40 years' experience in commercial life. You cannot separate the interests of the farmer from the interests of the rest of the people. There is no class of people or individual in this country entirely independent, no matter how wealthy or poor. Suppose we were all farmers, what would we do? Trade jack-knives, that's all. I don't want to see this agitation that is separating farm from town men. It does not pay. If you separate the interest of employer and employee there is ruin for both, and let me repeat, you cannot separate the interests of the farmers and town people, and when the U.F.O. or agrarian party say they are independent and can live by themselves and don't want the home market, then they don't know what they are talking about, or if they do they have a very narrow outlook on life.

"While they are to a certain extent governed by the foreign market for their wheat and their steers, I want to tell you that if you look back since June of this year at the prices of wheat at Port Arthur, you will find that the price at Port Arthur was not governed by the foreign demand, but by the local demand, because the foreign price was far under the price paid at Port Arthur during these last few months. Now the new harvest is coming in, and necessarily the foreign price governs."

FARMERS AND THE TOWNS.

James Hodgins, of Brampton, said that Quebec Liberals were quite prepared to go back to the old Laurier tariff, and had repudiated Mackenzie King in disgust and despair.

"If the farmers would only stop to consider, for five minutes," he said, "he would not listen to J. J. Morrison and the rest of them. If you look over the voters' lists, you will find the same named in the country as in the towns. Our rural towns are the very creation of the farmers hands. Where do they spend their reclining days? Who takes more pride in them than these sturdy pioneers and their sons? Their money is invested in bonds and stocks and mortgages and railways. What the farmer should bear in mind is that his solvency is conditioned on the solvency of our towns and cities.

"If London should grow to 200,000, and all our splendid towns in proportion, what would be the result to the farmer? His land would enormously increase in value and vast tracts would be taken in as surburban property and great fortunes would be reaped as they already have been reaped along the lake shore between Toronto and Hamilton.

"Not only do our towns and cities take the bulk of what he raises, but also the surplus population, and that is a point rarely pressed home. I know three great surgeons in Toronto, men who have been an almost inconceivable blessing to the community, who were born in country homes. Can you imagine a greater form of cruelty than to keep a young Edison, say, toiling, after a plow, or to hold a boy created by God as a great surgeon toiling away on the acres when he might be blessing mankind? The average Canadian farm of 100 to 150 acres will not support a typical Canadian family when they have grown up. That is not our way of doing things. It is in Ireland, and that is the cause of Ireland's woe—three acres and a pig, and largely the cause of the backwardness in Quebec.

"In 1872-73 we simply raised young men and women and brought them up in the fear of God and presented them to the United States for nothing. The greatest thing that ever happened this country was the policy inaugurated by that great old statesman—and I may say I am a Conservative whenever I think of the name of Sir John A. Macdonald. I can remember the hope that swept like a prairie fire over the whole community. Then and there Sir John created a nation. (Applause). It is all right to be independent, and I hope I am, but there is a time in the affairs of men when every man is a natural Conservative. The Conservative party in Canada has a glorious cause; it is based upon the ark of the covenant of common sense."

The meeting closed with cheers for the King, the premier and Mr. Scott.

MR. KING TACKLES THE MANIFESTO

Criticizes Premier's Message to the People of Canada

SPEAKS AT AMHERST, N. S.

Liberal Repeats His Former Charges of Autocracy, Etc.

AMHERST, N. S., Oct. 5.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Audiences of Amherst and Cumberland County citizens, estimated to include some 6,000 persons, this afternoon gathered in the Arena Rink to hear Hon. Mackenzie King and other prominent Liberals.

Dealing with the manifesto of the prime minister, the Liberal leader said Mr. Meighen began by claiming for his Government the credit of conducting the war, and ended by declaring that his Government had extended the franchise to women voters. But, Mr. King asserted, there was no one who believed that the Government of Arthur Meighen had carried on the war, and no one who did not know that Mr. Meighen and his friends had refused the vote to three-quarters of the women of Canada.

The record of Mr. Meighen had been one of reaction when construction was needed, said the Liberal leader, and one of autocracy when the country was crying out for a return to democracy and freedom, economy and retrenchment in public expenditures.

IN 1917.

In 1917 Sir Robert Borden, Mr. Meighen and others had appealed for support in winning the war. They asked the people to forget past Government records and unite to win the war. Then there was to be a return to old parties.

"The Government of 1917 was a coalition to win the war," declared Mr. King. "Will anyone say that this Government is a win-the-war coalition?"

The Spinney bill opening the civil service to patronage had been a great reactionary measure.

Precedents and customs had been crushed aside by Mr. Meighen, the Liberal leader asserted. The most sacred of these was the right of Parliament to scrutinize all public expenditures.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier had dissolved Parliament to consult the people on reciprocity. But the Borden-Meighen governments took over 20,000 miles of railways without a word with or from the people. The Grand Trunk agreement was forced down the throats of Parliament. This was a Government of autocracy, not of democracy. Government was carried on to-day, controlled, said Mr. King, by political autocrats and industrial plutocrats.

"Until that combination is broken (and the people now have their opportunity) you cannot have free and proper government," Mr. King declared.

Hon. H. S. Beland referred to a statement that he should preach harmony in Quebec. Every province must plead guilty to have raised a few mischief-makers, he said, but they were an infinitely small majority.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA CAN TAKE IMMIGRANTS

Able To Absorb 100,000 a Year At the Minimum, Says Agent-General.

LONDON, Oct. 6. — (Canadian Press Cable.) — Sir James Connolly, agent-general in London for Western Australia, replying to a statement made by Hon. Wm. Hughes, prime minister of Australia, wherein the premier discounted the possibility of Australia being able to absorb 100,000 immigrants yearly, declares that this number represents not the maximum but the minimum, when conditions become more settled. Western Australia, says the agent-general, even this year has been absorbing immigrants on a ratio which would represent for the whole commonwealth more than the number quoted.

It is a good rule to follow each meal with a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet to avoid dyspeptic results due to eating and drinking. Should the stomach sour, with water-brash, biliousness, and the peculiar gassiness due to indigestion these tablets bring relief because they supply the alkaline effect to the stomach and thus offset the acidity of such dyspeptic conditions.

It is well to know this and not deny yourself the pleasures of the good things to eat and drink through fear of indigestion. You will find Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets on sale in all drug stores at 60 cents a box.—Advt.

MINIMIZE TAXES TILL RATES ARE EQUALIZED

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Resolutions opposing the levy of any local taxes except those to meet local needs and the requirements of the poor law until the London tax rates are equalized were adopted by the council of the Borough of Stephens, a section of London, last night. These resolutions were identical with those recently adopted by the borough councils of Bethnal Green and Poplar, other London suburbs. The borough councillors of Poplar were placed in jail recently for contempt of court, following their refusal to comply with an order from the city council to raise tax rates.

Mrs. Ronald Harris President Of Red Cross By Acclamation; Lady Beck Is Again Hon. Pres.

Peace Program of Society Demonstrated at Annual Meeting; Large Sums Expended in Public and Welfare Work

With Lady Beck returned by acclamation to the honorary presidency of the London Red Cross Society, and Mrs. Ronald Harris re-elected president, also by acclamation, election by acclamation for the entire executive, with the exception of the vice-presidents, was in order at the seventh annual meeting of the society, held yesterday at Cronyn Hall, with Mrs. Harris presiding.

Mrs. Becher, honorary vice-president; Mrs. A. E. Cooper, honorary treasurer; Mrs. C. E. Bowker, recording secretary, and Miss Ruth Robinson, corresponding secretary, were unopposed in the nominations. The vice-presidents are Mrs. J. M. Slater, Mrs. (Dr.) Zeigler, Mrs. J. S. Ashplant and Miss Shaw-Wood.

The yearly report of the treasurer, Mrs. A. E. Cooper, was of especial interest, covering as it did the two distinct sides of the work now carried on by the society. Regulation Red Cross work is still active among the returned men in hospital, and for this, in the regular income of the society, total receipts were given as $26,550.74, with a balance at the end of July of $4,289. The special section covers the peace time program of the society, including the partial financing of the London Day Nursery, welfare work through the soldiers' aid commission among the families of returned men, and scholarships for a number of nurses taking the public health course under the London Institute of Public Health. In this section total receipts are given as $14,782.92, with a balance of $9,858.37.

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS.

In a vivid and most comprehensive address the president, Mrs. Ronald Harris, outlined the present work of the Red Cross, the most important of which is still that carried on among the men at Byron Sanatorium. Constant visiting, treats, supplies, holiday cheer, motor rides, concerts and parties are arranged by an indefatigable committee, of which the president spoke in most appreciative terms, referring especially to the work of the late convener, Miss Shaw-Wood, and the present convener, Mrs. J. S. Ashplant. Committee members assisting in this work are Miss Maude Hannah, Miss Leonard, Mrs. Glennie Wilson, Mrs. Greenaway, Miss Bullen, Miss Margaret Scatchard Mrs. Wilkey, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. George Fraser, Mrs. Ginge, Mrs. Allen and Miss Catherine Cronyn.

At Westminster Hospital, the president stated, important work is also being carried on by Mrs. James Slater, Mrs. Ashplant, Mrs. A. E. Miller and Miss Gertrude Bapty, while Mrs. Edward Morley has lately succeeded Mrs. Gerald Pearson and Mrs. Allen Cleghorn in the Victoria Hospital visiting.

"During this year," Mrs. Harris said, "the Red Cross Society has contributed generously from its special fund to the relief work among the families of returned men, finding this undertaking, supervised by the S. A. C., most worthy of our attention. The sum of $3,840.60 was contributed to European relief through the British Red Cross war relief fund, and, perhaps one of the most important of the peace time activities. We have promised the sum of $2,000 yearly for three years to provide a course in public health nursing for graduate nurses at Western University. The day nursery, which we felt to be a most necessary institution for the working mothers of the city, we have financed to the sum of $4,500 in all."

A SACRED TRUST.

Referring to the finances of the society, the president pointed out that the funds at present devoted to work among the soldiers were received largely from the 1919 campaign, and as such are, in the opinion of the executive, a sacred trust, to be expended only for this particular cause. "We have received generous support from the citizens of London and of the district," Mrs. Harris said, "and anything that we do outside the work for the returned men must come out of our smaller special fund."

In closing the president spoke of the junior Red Cross work, which she hopes to see definitely begun in larger city schools this autumn, and paid a touching tribute to the late Mrs. H. A. Boomer, first president of the Red Cross in London.

Interesting reports were presented by Mrs. Bowker and Miss Robinson, recording and corresponding secretaries, the latter giving a detailed account of the hospital work.

Rev. Denny Bright, of St. Paul's Cathedral, conducted a brief opening service, and during the afternoon Miss Annie Clarke sang a delightful solo, with Captain Harry Dickinson at the piano.

COLLEGIATE FIELD DAY.

Interest in the Collegiate field day to-morrow is an interesting to the girls of the school as the boys and the members of the Girls' Athletic Association are taking leading parts in the games of basket ball, tennis and indoor baseball which have been arranged. The students' parade, in competition for the flag donated by the principal, Dr. W. H. T. Mooney, will be an important feature of the day, the standard this year being that of marching and attendance rather than of decorations. The teaching staff of the schools and the St. Thomas visitors, who are participating in the sports, will be entertained at a banquet at the Y. M. C. A by the students to-morrow evening.

STUDY CLASS.

An interesting meeting of the W. M. S. study class of the First Methodist Church took place recently at Mrs. H. E. Boomer's home when the new textbook, "Canada's Share in World Tasks," was introduced for the winter course of study. With an initial membership of 16 the class looks forward to instructive monthly meetings during the season.

MAPLETON MEETING.

Mrs. James Moore entertained the members of Mapleton C. W. B. M. at their recent meeting, when a report of the flower committee was an interesting item of business. Through the offices of this committee many absent and sick members have been delightfully remembered with floral gifts and kindly messages. Plans for a bazaar, which the ladies purpose holding shortly, will be completed at the next meeting, to be held at the home of Mrs. D. O. White.

THE BLACK SHEEP

By Ruby M. Ayres

Laurie Fenton had put it quite nicely. She took three pages to say what she might have said in three lines; but the whole gist of the matter was that she had decided to mend her broken heart by marriage with another man—a richer man—a middle-aged, unattractive creature whose sole claim to adornment was a halo of golden sovereigns.

". . . Try and forget me—though I shall never forget you. Fate is very cruel to us . . . if only things could have been different."

The black sheep read to the very end, and the fire and eagerness died slowly from his heart, leaving him cold and hard.

She had done with him—done with him; it was nothing to her any more what he did—what became of him.

He stood staring out of the blindless window at the moonlit narrow street with a very hell of misery raging in his heart.

She did not care; neither, then, would he.

There was still Barton Manor and Norah Ackroyd: Norah, who even at that moment was looking from her window on to the moonlit lane and thinking of the black sheep with a little glow of warmth at her heart.

CHAPTER IV.

Norah was very quiet at breakfast the following morning. She sat at the head of the table, opposite her father, with her chin a little tip-tilted.

Mr. Ackroyd glanced at her once or twice in perplexity. He had forgotten their little breeze of the previous evening. Her monosyllabic answers to his attempts at conversation puzzled him. When breakfast was over and she had gone, he turned at once to his nephew.

"What's the matter with Norah, Rodney?"

Rodney shrugged his shoulders.

"I suppose she's annoyed about your refusal to have Laxton to the house," he said reluctantly.

Mr. Ackroyd laughed disbelievingly.

"What utter nonsense!" he said briskly. "Norah isn't so foolish as that! Why, I tell you, that fellow isn't worth discussing."

Rodney looked interested.

"Do you know him, then?"

"I know of him—a good deal of him! He's up to his eyes in debt to begin with; he's been out of England for the past two or three years because he'd made it too hot to hold him. He lives on credit and borrowed money. I'd rather see my girl dead than know she was mixed up with that young blackguard!"

"She seems to have taken a rancy to him," said Rodney rather constrainedly.

"Fancy! Rot!" Mr. Ackroyd pushed back his chair so violently that it fell over. He began to pace up and down the room, ruffling his hair in perturbation. "A man like Laxton always gets on with women," he said again agrily. "They make a hero of him; think he's misjudged and misunderstood and all the rest of the tomfoolery. Look here, my boy, you've got to get this nonsense out of the girl's head, and the sooner the better."

Rodney did not answer.

"I'll have a word with the young puppy myself," Mr. Ackroyd went on, with dignity. "I'm not afraid of him, if he does own Barton Manor; a fat lot of good it will be to him without a penny to spend on it."

"It's to be let or sold, so I hear."

The elder man muttered something unintelligible under his breath. Norah was the apple of his eye. To his way of thinking the man had not yet been born who would be worthy of her.

Rodney rose to his feet, stretching his arms.

"Well, there's no harm done," he said laconically. "And Laxton has probably plenty of girls in town to run after without coming here to annoy us."

"Annoy us! He won't annoy me!" Mr. Ackroyd asserted loudly. "He won't get the chance! Impudent young puppy, racing about the lanes as if he's bought the place. From what I can hear he spends half his time at the Connaught Arms—a nice place for the master of Barton Manor. His old uncle would turn in his grave if he could see him." He went out into the hall and Rodney heard him shouting for Norah.

After a moment or two she came to the top of the stairs. "Did you call me, father?"

Mr. Ackroyd chuckled.

"Did I call you! When I was bellowing like a town bull! Yes, I did call you, my dear. Come down here, I want to speak to you."

Norah obeyed slowly. She stood on the bottom stair, with her eyes cast down. There was a moment of silence, then suddenly she looked up.

"Daddy, you old silly. . . ."

She put her arms round his neck and gave him a hug.

"Is that what you wanted?" she asked teasingly.

Mr. Ackroyd smoothed his hair. "It was, partly," he admitted. "And now get your hat and come out with me."

"I'm very busy. . . ."

"Not too busy to come out with me. Rung along."

THE BIG WHITE EGG.

When Henrietta Hen's callers crowded about her nest in the haymow they expected to see something wonderful. But when they craned their necks and peered into the little, hollowed-out snuggery in the hay they couldn't help being disappointed. And when they didn't burst forth with cries of surprise and praise Henrietta Hen looked quite unhappy.

"I thought," she said, "you'd want to see this egg. I'm sure you never beheld a bigger nor a whiter one than this."

They admitted that the egg was big and that it was very, very white. And if their praise was faint, Henrietta never noticed it.

"Are you going to let Farmer Green have that egg?" one of the company inquired.

"No doubt Johnnie Green will grab it as soon as he finds my nest," said Henrietta, with something like a sigh. "If I could only keep this one I wouldn't care how many others he took."

Polly Plymouth Rock turned to old Whitey, a hen who had come with her to the haymow.

"What do you think?" Polly asked. "Is Henrietta in danger of losing this egg that she thinks so much of?"

"She needn't be alarmed," old Whitey answered. "If Johnnie Green robs her of this one I'll miss my guess."

"Oh! I'm glad to hear you say that!" Henrietta Hen cried. "Now I won't need to worry—that is, if you know what you're talking about."

That, of course, was a most impolite way for Henrietta Hen to speak to anybody of old Whitey's age. Whitey was the oldest hen in the flock. And what she didn't know about such things as nests and eggs and roosts wasn't worth knowing.

Polly Plymouth Rock didn't like Henrietta Hen's remark. She opened her mouth. And no doubt she would have said something quite sharp in reply. But only Whitey stopped her.

"Never mind," said Whitey. "The day will come when Henrietta Hen will agree that my guess is a good one."

Still Henrietta Hen felt uneasy about that big, white egg.

"I do hope Johnnie Green won't find this new nest of mine," she remarked. "If he does, I fear he'll take my beautiful egg away from me."

"Lay another!" said old Whitey. "Lay another and he'll take that and leave this one."

"I suppose I may as well try your plan," Henrietta replied, "since nobody suggests anything better."

"My idea's a good one, or I'll miss my guess," said old Whitey.

There was some snickering among Henrietta's callers as they bade her good afternoon and left her.

"They're laughing at old Whitey," she said to herself. She hasn't the slightest notion that they could be giggling at her. "Old Whitey must be wrong," she thought. "But I may as well take her advice, for I don't know what else to do."

Not long afterward Henrietta Hen came fluttering down from the haymow, squawking at the top of her lungs for old Whitey. And as soon as she found her, Henrietta cried, "Come up to my nest right away. I want to ask your advice."

Although she didn't say "Please," old Whitey went with her.

PARIS (By Mail).—Just to prove that fur is not indispensable to smartness in the top coat of the season, nor to comfort either, for that matter, here is a dark blue wool velour model which looked very rich in its ample fulness as the tall mannikin walked back and forth before her audience of fashion hunters. The wide scarf, faced with red and finished with deep fringe in the same color, may be worn open and slipped through the slashes as the sketch indicates or it may be adjusted in any one of a number of interesting ways, as the model gracefully demonstrated. In the back the coat is entirely plain, rather fitted about the shoulders, but flaring gently out toward the bottom. It is not at all a difficult model to copy, if one has a trustworthy tailor, and it may be done in a more conservative combination of colors, such as navy with gray facing, for always these two colors blend well

MRS. MARSHALL RETIRES

Satisfactory Reports Heard From Victoria and Aged People's Home

Closing the 47th year of successful history in this city the Woman's Christian Association yesterday elected Mrs. John Currie to the presidency, succeeding Mrs. Helen Marshall, who has resigned the office after 15 years of most efficient and faithful service. The immediate election of Mrs. Marshall os honorary president was an expression of the sincere affection and gratitude of the members.

Mrs. Currie will have as her executive Miss Margaret Macdonald secretary treasurer, and six vice-presidents, Mrs. C. C. Waller, Mrs. J. S. Barnard, Mrs. C. B. Hunt, Mrs. Peter MacDonald, Mrs. (Dr.) Meek and Mrs. Gibson.

COMMITTEE NAMED

Following the address of the retiring president, summing up the work of the year, which has seen the completion, equipment and occupation of the new Victoria Home for Incurables, the naming of committees occupied the members. For the house committee Mrs. B. F. Brighton was named convener; assisted by Mrs. Lerner, Mrs. C. B. Hunt, Mrs. W. E. Kelly, Mrs. Hyatt, Miss J. Moore and Mrs. Lambe. Mrs. Brighton was also elected convener of the supplies.

Other conveners are Mrs. C. B. Hunt, purchasing; Mrs. L. H. Ingram, improvement; Mrs. Frank Anderson, visiting; Mrs. W. E. Kelly, investigating; Mrs. Lerner, relief; Mrs. Currie and Mrs. McEachern, religious services.

THE CITY HOMES

The report of the treasurer has been delayed and will be presented at the next meeting, where is is understood that a most gratifying financial statement will be forthcoming. In her secretarial report Miss MacDonald referred to the excellent work carried on by the association during the year and reported entirely satisfactory conditions at the Victoria Home and, at the Aged People's Home in North London. At the latter institution the kitchen garden this year proved a great success a sufficient supply of vegetables having been grown to last the home during the summer months.

At the Aged People's Home the present registration is 73 residents, while 58 patients are in residence at the Victoria Home at the present time. For the latter home a furnishing fund is bringing in gratifying returns.

MUSHROOM CATSUP

"Anxious Reader" Asks for a Recipe for Mushroom Catsup.

Use only the larger kind of mushrooms, known as umbrellas or "flaps." These must be very fresh and not gathered in wet weather. Wash and cut in two or four pieces; place in wide, flat jars in layers, sprinkling each layer with a little salt. Let stand 24 hours, then press out juice, place in a bottle and cork. Place mushrooms again in jar, resprinkling the layers with salt, and let stand a second 24 hours before again pressing out the juice. Repeat this method a third time, then put all the juice together and season with pepper, allspice and cloves, to taste, first pounding spices together. Boil liquor, skimming as long as skum arises. Bottle when cool, placing two cloves and a pepper corn in each bottle. Seal and keep in a dry place.

Washed Clothes in Waters of Lake Erie.

Summer campers at Port Stanley, now home for the fall and winter, have some laughable experiences to relate. A great deal of amusement has been created over the idea someone started or doing the wash on the beach. As a result of this practice many garments are decidedly "off-color," but they can be restored without rubbing by that wonderful washing cream, Mir-A-cle. Make next wash day easier. Order a bottle of Mir-A-cle.

THE UNION JACK.

What do you think the result would be
If the "Union Jack" was furled?
How would it be with Humanity?
What would it mean to the world?

Rapine and murder, famine and crime,
These would stalk hand in hand.
Men could not sleep in their beds at night,
Terror would cover the land.

Honor and decency, faith and hope,
Would pass away with its fall.
What could we get to take its place?
Nothing—nothing at all.

Let the foes of Britain ponder well,
Before they have gone too far.
They have nothing to offer half so good,
And things are best as they are.

THE WORLD HAS NEED OF EVERYTHING.

The world has need of all the things
Of beauty that the summer brings—
Petals and perfumes, gauze and wings.

The planet has so much of snows
The world has need of every rose,
Wherever any traveler goes.

There are such stones the weary mass
Of men in daily journey pass.
The world has need of all its grass.

There is such gray in every scene,
Such shadows sunny hills between,
The world has need of all its green.

So much of drab there is to see,
Drab hills and drab humanity,
The world has need of every tree.

The foolish man who built his house on the sand

He gave an example in folly which anybody can understand.

It isn't so easy, however, to sense the mistake of trying to build the body on foods which lack essential nourishment.

Here, again, is a foundation of sand which gives 'way when the test comes.

Many a food that tastes good lacks honesty of nourishment to equal it's taste. Thus it tempts the appetite into mistakes that often are costly.

Grape-Nuts is a food which helps build bodily endurance for life's stress and storm. The full nourishment of wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral salts so necessary to bone structure and red blood corpuscles, with phosphates for the brain, is retained in Grape-Nuts. The long baking process by which Grape-Nuts is made gives the food a natural sweetness and an unusual ease of digestibility and assimilation.

Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is fully nourishing, and whether eaten as a cereal at breakfast or lunch, or made into a pudding for dinner, Grape-Nuts has a particular delight for the appetite. Sold by grocers.

ASSEMBLY ROOM OF LITTLE USE

Lack of Dressing Rooms Is Responsible.

Citizens of South London are criticising the Board of Education and the architect for what is termed inefficiency in connection with the erection of the Victoria school, in which an auditorium has been constructed without any dressing rooms or any rear entrances to the stage. It is pointed out that if an auditorium with a stage is a necessity the dressing rooms are also needed. On the other hand, if all that is needed is a large assembly room the expense connected with the auditorium could have been eliminated by making one or two class rooms so they could be transformed into an auditorium as needed.

Trustee Rowe suggests that if the auditorium is to be used as an assembly room merely there is not any great necessity for dressing rooms, or for a rear entrance to the stage or platform. But it will be practically impossible to stage any plays in this room because of the lack of proper facilities.

The board, after attention had been called to the lack of these necessities, took up the question with Architect Carrothers, but it was decided that nothing could be done to remedy the defects. In this connection it is pointed out that the advice of an architect who knows the requirements of auditoriums and school theaters should have been secured before the plans were finally approved.

However, the building is well on the way to completion, but the auditorium will not be available for plays or similar entertainments because someone overlooked the situation earlier in the year, it is said.

Health Talks

By John B. Huber, A.M., M.D.

SACCHARINE.

Kindly advise me if it harmful to use saccharine in place of sugar. I understand that it is hard on the heart. Is this so, or can it be used quite safely for sweetening?

Can you tell me what is the reason for a calf swelling up after drinking milk fresh from its mother? Is it because the milk from the cow is diseased in any way, or would it only be caused by the calf not being well? Milk from another cow does not affect it in this way. Do you think it would be necessary to have this milk tested, and who could I send a sample to in order to have it tested?

Answer—Saccharine is 280 times sweeter than sugar, for which it is used as substitute in diabetes (sugar sickness), obesity and gout. It is also antiseptic and has been found useful in cases of erysipelas, septic fever and other infectious diseases. One-half grain is equal to about a teaspoonful of sugar. It is to be had at all druggists, generally in bottles of 100 tablets. It has been observed to tend to the arrest of the digestive processes when used to excess; therefore, it should, like all other things, be used in moderation. In excessive doses it does, indeed, depress the heart action.

Questions and Answers.

Kindly advise me if I can stand plenty of hard work, if it will help for health of mind, and how I can cure my nervous disease, so I can have full control of my mind. I feel absent-minded and dazed very often Answer—I wish I could print your whole letter. You should be thoroughly examined by a Y. M. C. A. medical director. I make not the slightest doubt he will find you sound. Then start into hard work. George Ade well observed that "Work is a snap; it is idle people who are keeping our sanitaria agoing."

I am a daily reader of your good advice and am taking my first adventure toward asking advice for myself. Could you kindly tel lme what is good for headaches? I have so many of them I am certainly disgusted with them. My doctor tells me they are nervous headaches and when I have them should lie down in a darkened room. I do not like to lie down, as I cannot rest. Now, if the ycome from the nerves, do you advise me to take any of the nerve tonics on the market? Sometimes when I lie down and turn over I hear a little cracking noise in my head towards the side. What could that be?

Answer—We have to do lots of things we don't like when we are sick. Take only what your doctor prescribes for you. Mailing further information.

WAS THIN, WEAK AND MISERABLE

Mrs. Bradley Gains 16 Pounds and Is Picture of Health Since Taking Tanlac.

"My friends tell me I look the picture of health—I know I never felt better in my life, and it's all on account of what Tanlac did for me, and nothing else," said Mrs. H. S. Bradley, of 217 Wilson street, Hamilton, Ont.

"I don't know what was the matter with me, but for seven years I didn't have what could be called a well day. I managed to keep out of bed most of the time, but I always had a depressed, tired-out, weary feeling. I was subject to miserable, dizzy headaches, my temples would just throb until I could hardly stand it. I was almost a nervous wreck from suffering and loss of sleep.

"My father and sister had both been helped by Tanlac and they persuaded me to take it. I was thin, weak and miserable when I started on it, but I am like a different woman now. I have a wonderful appetite, my digestion is perfect, have gained sixteen pounds in weight and am back to my normal weight again. All my nervousness is gone and I sleep like a child all night long. Friends stop me on the street now to congratulate me on how well I look. Tanlac was certainly a blessing to me."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drugs, Ltd., and by leading druggists everywhere.—Advt.

To Have Curly, Wavy Hair Like "Nature's Own"

Women who have trouble keeping their hair in curl, or of securing the desired wavy effect—and especially those who realize the harm that the hot iron does to the hair—will do well to try plain liquid silmerine. In no other way can they acquire such pretty waves and curls, having all the appearance of "Nature's own." And the hair, instead of being singed, ragged or dead looking, has such a lively luster and wholesome beauty.

If one will get a bottle of liquid silmerine at any drug store and follow the accompanying directions, she will be simply delighted with the result. This product is, of course, perfectly harmless and there is nothing sticky, greasy or unpleasant about it. The hair will be quite manageable, no matter in what fashion it is done up.—Advt.

SIDE TALKS

—BY—

RUTH CAMERON

DO YOU RIP THE BUTTONS OFF?

Do you rip the buttons off when you give things away?

After reading my little talk on the duty of trying to pick out the people who will be most benefited by the cast-off garments you want to pass on, a letter friend suggests I put the above question.

"When I was a girl," she said, "we were not very well off and several people used to give my mother old clothes to make over for us, and almost always the buttons and any trimmings were carefully ripped off. I shall never forget one dress that was very plain, but had evidently been trimmed wholly with beautiful buttons. I knew they were beautiful because the lady who gave it to us had carelessly overlooked one button. How I did wish I could have the rest of those buttons. When I give things away now I make it a rule to leave the buttons on, and if there is a dainty collar or cuffs that could go with another dress I often stretch a point and leave them. Of course, even if you do strip a dress down to skin and bones and give just that, that's something, but I think it comes a good deal nearer being a real gift if you leave on the trimmings."

I certainly agree with my letter friend.

In fact, I do not see how one has a right to feel the glow of generosity unless the thing one gives away does represent some element of sacrifice. Perhaps the sacrifice of a possible chance to have worn it a few times again in favor of the more thorough use the recipient will get out of it by having it given to her now instead of after it has gone out of style, or the sacrifice of some pretty trimming or other accessory that one might have used some way again, or the sacrifice of time one would have liked to use for some other purpose in getting the things together and seeing that they reach the person who can make the best use of them.

I once knew a woman who made it a practice when she gave things away not only to leave all the buttons and trimmings on them, but to put them in good condition, mend and patch them.

Fancy that! How very far removed from the careless giving of the woman who gives things away largely because she doesn't want the bother of mending.

But, of course, many of us really haven't the time to do that sort of thing. This woman was without children and had only a small home to keep, and she said she liked to do her bit for other hard worked women that way.

As to what we can afford to give of buttons and other accessories we must each make up our minds ourselves. To give what one really cannot afford to give and then buy something new and prettier to take the place of it from an income that cannot afford that strain is not generosity—to one's husband at least.

To give a collar instead of keeping it as an extra one to be worn now and then is generosity.

Each one of us knows what he can do, or perhaps I should say she, for did you ever know a man who would give away any worn-out garment unless his wife somehow forced him into it? I never did.

Efficient Housekeeping

REQUESTED PICKLING AND PRESERVING RECIPES.

L. L. Cucumber Relish—Twelve cucumbers, six onions, four red peppers, four stalks celery, two cups sugar, two teaspoons salt and vinegar. Peel and chop the cucumbers and onions. Discard seeds from peppers and put through meat grinder, or chop finely by hand. Remove all coarse strings from celery and chop. Mix these ingredients together with the sugar and salt and add enough vinegar to cover. Bring to boiling point, let boil a few minutes, then turn into hot sterilized jars and seal at once.

Eva: Green Tomato Preserves—Cut large green tomatoes into half, then quarter the halves. For each pound of tomato add ¾ of a pound of sugar and one lemon (all but seeds) thinly sliced. Put the sugar first into the preserving kettle with just enough water to dissolve it, then add the sliced tomatoes and sliced lemons and let come to a boil; simmer gently until the tomatoes are transparent and the syrup is thick. Seal in hot sterilized jars at once.

Mrs. E.: Oil Pickles—Five dozen cucumbers, one dozen onions, one cup olive oil or salad oil, half cup mustard seed, half teaspoon black pepper, vinegar. Peel and slice the cucumbers and onions. Cover them with a brine made of boiling water to cover and half cup of salt. Let them stand in this brine for two hours, then drain. Measure the brine drained off and to an equal quantity of vinegar add the cup of oil, the mustard seed and the pepper; bring this spiced vinegar to the boiling point (the brine is, of course, thrown away) and pour it over the pickles, which have been placed in hot sterilized jars. Seal at once.

Citron Melon Preserve—Select a five-pound citron, peel off the green outside, remove seeds and soft part and cut in inch-square pieces; put these cubes in the preserving kettle with one cup of hot water and simmer for a half hour, then add four pounds of white sugar. Cook a little longer (15 minutes), then add one lemon sliced thin (rind and all) with seeds removed. Now continue to cook slowly for four or five hours, stirring often and taking care not to crush the cubes, as they should be kept in as perfect shpae as possible. When done this preserve should look light brown and be as thick as syrup. Stir particularly during the last half hour, as this is the time it is most apt to catch and burn. This is a famous receipe with housewives of two generations ago. Your grandmother always had it in her preserve closet.

Sweet Cucumber Pickles—Wash and clean green cucumbers, soak them in brine overnight; in the morning rinse and cook until tender in a syrup made by combining three pints of sugar and one quart of vinegar, and spicing this syrup with one tablespoon cinnamon, half teaspoon mace and half teaspoon pepper. Seal at once in glass jars not from being sterilized. (By sterilized I mean boiling the jars for 10 minutes or more in clear water)

PERSHING'S RETURN IS DELAYED BY BRITISH

PARIS, Oct. 5.—Delay by the British Government in making arrangements for placing of the United States congressional medal on the tomb of the unknown soldier in Westminster Abbey, is causing much embarrassment to General John J. Pershing and his staff. It was announced to-night that General Pershing had deferred sailing for home from October 15 to 20, when he will take passage on the steamer George Washington.

The British Government was informed in August of the desire of the United States Government to honor the British unknown soldier. The British foreign office was notified of this fact by the United States embassy in London when General Pershing sailed for Europe. The embassy requested that a suitable day be named for the function.

General Pershing expected to be in London this week and has kept his composite battalion in Paris so it could accompany him as a guard of honor. These troops still are the guests of the French Government and will occupy quarters at the military school until a reply is received from London.

It is assumed that the delay in making the arrangements for the placing of the medal on the tomb is due to Mr. Lloyd George's indisposition in Scotland and perhaps the King's long-standing engagement.

WEST. ONTARIO GARDENS AMONG PRIZE WINNERS

For several years past, the C. P. R. has held a competition for the best flower gardens among the various employees. Substantial prizes are awarded to those who, by their own efforts and without the assistance of paid gardeners, make the most creditable showing.

Prizes for the season of 1921 have been awarded as follows:

Grand prize for the best garden in the Ontario District, J. W. Anderson, agent at Lindsay.

First prize for the best car foreman's garden in the Ontario district, A. Duckworth, car foreman at St. Thomas.

First prize for the local division, for the best station garden, A. P. Hamel, agent at Ayr.

First prize for the best section man's garden, F. Skinner, section foreman at Lakeside; second prize, R. Lemery, section man at Dumfries.

Second prize for the second best locomotive foreman's garden, W. Shipman, locomotive foreman at Goderich.

No Case for Libel.

No action will be taken by the makers of the popular Washing Cream, "Mir-A-cle," against the London housewife who claims "Mir-A-cle" is not so effective unless used with soap. This is quite true—Mir-A-cle does not take the place of soap—but instead takes the place of "the rub." Use lots of soap with Mir-A-cle, but cut out the back-breaking rub. Make next wash day easier by ordering a bottle of Mir-A-cle from your grocer.

Carl Mays Blanks Giants In First

Ruth's Hit Wins, Then He Whiffs

BRINGING UP FATHER. BY GEORGE McMANUS.

YANKS TRIUMPH OVER GIANTS IN FIRST GAME FOR WORLD'S TITLE

Mays Holds McGraw's Batters to Five Widely Scattered Hits, While American League Champs Crash Douglas for Hits When They Meant Runs

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Carl Mays, with one of his masterful exhibitions of box work, pitched the Yankees to a well-earned victory over the Giants in the first game of the 1921 world's series at the Polo Grounds today. The blond American League twirler, of the underhand delivery, held the National Leaguers scoreless, the final score being 3 to 0. It was not without some fine fielding behind Mays, some pretty work with the stick and clever running on the bases that the Yankees were able to get the jump in the first all-New York series ever played for world baseball honors.

"Babe" Ruth, king of the long-distance clouters, although he did not make any home runs, was there with a timely hit and some inspiring heady coaching on the lines. Mike McNally, the Yankee third-baseman, rated as one of the weakest hitters, contributed a double, which blossomed into a run, and jumped into a niche in the world's series hall of fame by tearing off a neat steal of home in the fifth inning for the second run of the game.

The Yankee victory was won against a determined Giant defense, the sterling feature of which was a well-pitched game by Phil Douglas, the Nationals' spit-ball star. Douglas had the slugging Ruth at his mercy after the fourth inning, striking out the Bambino twice amid roars of approval from the Giant rooters.

Douglas left the game in the eighth inning, when Earl Smith, pinch hitter, went to bat for him and flied out to Ruth. Barnes pitched the ninth inning for the Giants and was clouted for two hits.

In the field Ruth played well, getting four of the five outfield putouts. In the third inning he gave his admirers a thrill when he caught Douglas' high fly ball and let it bounce out of his hands. He managed to recover the ball, however, before it fell to the ground. He was cheered every time he came to the plate and every time he caught a fly.

In the Giants' line-up Frank Frisch, their stellar third baseman, ran true to his spectacular form, getting four of the Nationals' five hits, one of them a triple, and fielding brilliantly every thing that came his way. As a whole the Giants played a heady, consistent game, except that the usually reliable Bancroft, at short, was a little unsteady at times—although in no instance to the detriment of his team.

Their inability to hit Mays, however, was fatal together with dash shown by the Yankees on the base paths, the latter beating the Giants at what was supposed to be their own game.

RUTH THE ATTRACTION.

Undoubtedly from the standpoint of the more than thirty thousand spectators in the stands and bleachers, the appearance of Babe Ruth at the plate was the big attraction of the afternoon. As has been said, he went home runless for the day, his only hit being the first inning blow—a slashing single to center—that sent Miller home with the first run of the game. Ruth on this occasion went out himself on a fast double play. On his second trip to the plate he received a base on balls. In the sixth and eighth innings he struck out.

"Bob" Meusel, the Yankees' heavy-hitting right fielder, another local point of popular interest, did something toward living up to his reputation as a long-distance clouter by finding Douglas for a hit in the sixth inning, which would have been a triple but for a slip on his part. Bob's hit scored Roger Peckinpaugh from second, but unfortunately for the batter, he failed to touch first in rounding that bag and was declared out while standing on third. Someone in the Giant dugout caught the omission on his part and the ball was called for and thrown to first, whereupon Umpire Moriarty declared him out.

FIRST, FIFTH AND SIXTH.

The Yankees' three runs came in the first, fifth and sixth innings. Miller opened the game with a single to center and took second on Peckinpaugh's sacrifice, Douglas to Kelly. Miller scored when Ruth hit the first ball pitched to him to center field. It was a hot drive and brought great cheering from the big crowd.

The Yankees got men as far as second in the second and fourth innings. In the fifth McNally opened with the only double of the game, was advanced to third on Schang's sacrifice, Douglas to Kely, and stole home.

The third run came in the sixth inning, Peckinpaugh singled to short. A passed ball by Snyder allowed him to gain second. After Ruth struck out trying to put the ball out of the lot, Bob Meusel hit to left center, scoring Peckinpaugh. Meusel drew up on third for what looked like a perfect three-bagger, but was called out for not touching third base.

After this inning only one Yankee reached third base.

FRISCH THREATENS.

The Giants threatened the home plate twice. The best chance to score came in the fourth inning with Frisch on the third base and only one out. He had reached first on a single to right, stole second and took third on Young's sacrifice, Mays to Pipp. He was left there, as Kelly struck out and Emil Meusel grounded out.

The other chance came in the sixth inning on Frsch's triple, after two were out. Young, however, was not equal to the occasion, going out, Ward to Pipp. The Giants had men left on second in the first and second innings.

One of the surprising things about the game was the fact that, while the Polo Grounds will accommodate nearly 39,000 persons, the official attendance figures showed but 30,203 persons present. The upper grand stand, to which admission could only be obtained by purchasing tickets at the gates after they were opened, showed large stretches of empty seats at the extremes of the stand. This was easily accounted for, however, when it became known that the police orders to keep nonticket holders from the vicinity of the field after 1 o'clock had been strictly enforced, with the result that thousands of late comers, who might readily have been accommodated, were kept beyond reach of the box office.

NO TENSE SITUATIONS.

For another thing, the game lacked really tense situations. It was close throughout, but the Yankees took an early lead and never were headed. The Yankee rooters made plenty of noise when the game ended spectacularly by a flashing double-play, with Peckinpaugh and Ward as the leading figures.

The Giant fans had held hope of a score up to this point, for Frisch got a clean single to start the inning, and visions of a rally were indulged in. Frisch, however, was forced by Young and then Kelly's hit to Peckinpaugh was tossed by him to Ward, forcing Young, Ward then wheeling and throwing to first, getting the batter and ending the game.

The only other double play of the afternoon was made by the Giants in the first inning. There was one out when Bob Meusel forced Ruth at second, Frisch to Rawlings, and was himself thrown out at first.

In base-running the Yankees outsprinted the Giants two to one. McNally's two steals could not be matched by the Giants, whose only pilfered base was earned by Frisch. Pipp, of the Yankees, tried to go to second but was thrown out, Snyder to Rawlings.

Four sacrifices were made in the game, two of them by Peckinpaugh and Schang, figuring in two of the Yankees' three runs. The others to sacrifice were Pipp and Young.

There were four bases on balls given by Douglas. The men who received the passes were Ward, Ruth, Pipp and Schang. His passes did not figure in the scoring.

Mays was very steady. He gave no passes, but hit one man, Rawlings, the ball striking the Giants' second baseman on the leg.

Although Douglas was credited with a lost game he struck out six to Mays' one. Ruth fell a victim twice in his last two trips to the plate. On one of these occasions there was a man on second. Peckinpaugh, Ward, Schang and Mays whiffed once each. Schang also was struck out by Barnes.

The only Giant to fan was Kelly, who cut the air with a man on third.

An odd incident of the game was that not a Giant outfielder made a put-out.

With an attendance of 32,203, the official announcement gave the gate receipts as $103,965, a new record. Of this the players' funds get $53,022.15; the two clubs a total of $35,348.10, and the National Commission $15,594.75.

The only other case of the gate receipts at a world's series game running over $100,000 was the sixth game of the Cincinnati-Chicago series in 1919, when the receipts were $101,768.

Some 400-odd newspaper men gathered to report the series, said to be the largest number ever assembled for this purpose.

Expect Big Year For Basket Ball

Several Leagues Will Be Formed; Four O.A.B.A. Teams for London

A meeting will be called next week for the purpose of organizing the eight teams for the City Basket Ball League. The names of the players wishing to play basket ball are coming in rapidly and the captains will select their players shortly.

Indications are that basket ball will be more popular in London this year, than ever before and many more teams will be organized.

Now that the L.M.A.A.A. has been made a parent body governing athletics among the employees of the local industries it is believed that the manufacturers will organize a basket ball league and have games staged during the winter months.

The Canadian Standard Efficiency Test basket ball league will again be organized and many teams from the various churches and Sunday schools of the city will enter the competitions

The Western University is planning to place two teams in the O. W. B. A. series and the Y. M. C. A. will have equal representation.

Watch Bulletins At Free Press Office On World's Series

The Free Press bulletin service on the world's baseball series was unexcelled yesterday, and in conjunction with the megaphone announcement giving the details of the play, was well received by a big crowd.

The same service will be continued throughout the series and crowds that gather will try the patience of the police in keeping the traffic open on Richmond street.

The wireless service from the polo grounds to the Dundas sanctorium, with its groans of capacity crowds, proved a myth yesterday as the voice that told the details of the game came from an editorial room and not from New York.

Get an Evening Free Press daily containing what you desire to read about the play-off for the world's baseball title. The full report will be carried each day.

London Tecs At Woodstock To-Day

Opening Game of Oxford and Middlesex Interscholastic Rugby Union

The London Technical School rugby team held a final workout yesterday afternoon and will to-day meet the Woodstock College squad in Woodstock in the opening match of the Oxford and Middlesex Rugby Union.

For some time the "Tecs" have been practicing hard for the coming series and will endeavor to give the Woodstock College team a struggle for the honors. The college students will play the return game in London on October 14.

This is the first year the "Tecs" have entered organized rugby. Last season they staged exhibition games with Woodstock and London teams, and at the beginning of the year they decided to enter the group competitions.

There is plenty of promising material among the pupils of the London Technical School, and the boys state that they are in rugby to stay, and that in the event that they do not finish at the top of the group this season, that they will come back again next year and make another attempt.

PRIMATE URGES ACTION ON UNION

Anglican Archbishop Sees Danger In Delay.

SPEAKS AT THE SYNOD.

Imposing Ceremonies Mark Start of Sessions.

HAMILTON, Oct. 5.—(Canadian Press Dispatch.)—That Canadianism, at least as far as a large section of its leaders is concerned, is looking towards a not far distant day when some form of union between the Church of England and the other Protestant denominations of the Dominion will be an accomplished fact was indicated by two significant pronouncements delivered at to-day's opening sessions of the ninth triennial gatherial of the General Synol of the Church of England in Canada.

Speaking from the pulpit at the synod's initial service in Christ's Church Cathedral this morning, Rev. Charles Brent, bishop of Western New York, a Canadian by birth, emphatically declared that there had been enough of "talk" about union as far as the Anglican church was concerned, and that the time had come for action. Still more significant, the primate of all Canada, Most Rev. S. P. Matheson, archbishop of Rupert's Land, in delivering his charge to the members of the upper and lower houses at their opening joint session in the cathedral parish hall in the afternoon, declared that further delay in bringing into effect the recommendations on union issued by the bishops at Lambeth would be fraught with danger to the well-being of the whole Christian church.

HOPEFUL OF OUTCOME.

The primate stated that he had already communicated with the heads of the other Canadian Protestant churches, pointing out that he hoped and expected that following the session of the general synod now being held, the Anglican Church of Canada would be prepared to meet and confer with the heads of these churches to discuss union proposals.

That the primate was speaking with a knowledge of the general attitude of the 1921 synod is shown by the fact that, when, in the course of his address he referred to Bishop Brent's point-blank declarations on the immediate necessity for union as "a most fitting message and just what the crisis of the times in which we live calls for," the statement was received with prolonged applause.

The opening service of the meeting was marked with all the pomp and circumstance of ecclesiastical ceremony. At 11 o'clock preceeded by the choir of the cathedral, the long procession of archbishops, bishops, ex-prolucutors, deacons, archdeacons, canons, junior clergy and lay members, wound its way into Christ's Church. With the clergy in their gowns and hoods and the bishops in their scarlet robes, the spectacle was an impressive one.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

With the exception of one, all the officers of the lower house who held office last year were re-elected by acclamation. As at the last session the prolocutor's chair will be occupied by the Very Rev. J. P. Lloyd, M.A., D.D., dean of Nova Scotia, of Halifax. On the second ballot Archdeacon Heathcote, of Vancouver, was elected deputy prolocutor over Dean Tucker, of Huron.

Routine business occupied the greater part of the evening session. At a late hour Judge C. O. Ermatinger, of St. Thomas introduced his resolution calling for the support and appointment of a committee to confer with other Protestant churches on the subject of union, but agreed to postpone consideration till the general subject of union was put before the synod.

350 DELEGATES.

In all there were 350 delegates present when the sessions, which were preceded by service, were opened at 10.30 with the primate's address.

Emphasizing some of the principal matters which would engage the attention of the synod, Dr. Matheson said the two most outstanding events in the history of the church since the last meeting in 1908 were the Forward Movement in the Canadian church and the Lambeth Conference for bishops for the whole of the Anglican communion throughout the world. The steps leading up to the luanching of the Forward Movement were explained at length and satisfaction expressed with the splendid progress made. Tribute was paid to Canon Gould, the energetic missionary secretary.

"With the blessing of God the movement can be carried to completion most successfully and results achieved beyond our original expectations," declared the primate.

The appointment of the ontinuation committee to stimulate the work was alluded to, and the appointment of a central committee to guide, suggest and collect data favored. But there must be individual effort by every diocese and member of the church.

Never before had there been so much in the condition of the world to cause grave anxiety as there was to-day. Civilization seemed to be at the cross roads and it was well-nigh impossible to predict which path it would follow. There existed a consuming desire to set things right, but too evidently through impationece or some other cause both men and nations were going the wrong way about it.

Under it all, though, was the yearning for better things and for deliverance from social and other wrongs, which had accumulated under the materialistic tendencies of modern civilization. The world was crying out for betterment and it was that cry which the church must answer if it was to live.

TRIBUTE TO DEAD.

The primate paid tribute to three outstanding lay members of the church who had been called by death. He said:

"It is doubtful whether any diocese has ever, or will ever, contribute to the councils of the church such a triumvirate of able and devoted laymen as the Diocese of Huron gave to this synod during the whole period of its existence. I refer to Charles Jenkins, Dr. Mathew Wilson and E. G. Henderson. To every department of the synod's work they brought to bear not only rare devotion but conspicuous ability."

EMPEROR YOSHOHITO IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Word From Imperial Household in Tokio Is Discouraging.

TOKIO, Oct. 6.—Emperor Yoshohito, whose illness has been causing alarm in Japan, is said to be worse, in an official statement issued here. It is declared his condition is most unsatisfactory.

At the imperial household it is explained that the emperor's physical and mental condition has become aggravated. The difficulty he has experienced in walking and holding conversation has been augmented, while his memory and capacity for attention have declined. There are signs that he has been suffering from a severe disease of the brain, and it is recalled that during his infancy he was seriously ill, his malady recurring after he attained his majority. Since the coronation he has gradually weakened in mind and body.

London and District Team Meets Strong Team Here on Saturday

At a meeting of the executive committee of the London and District Football Association, held in the Y. M. C. A. last evening, final arrangements were made for the exhibition game to be played here on Saturday between Hamilton and District stars and a selected team from the London and District.

The petition asking that James Smith, of the Public Utilities team, be reinstated was dealt with and the executive decided to have the suspension remain effective until November 17.

The Askin Street Elks and Woodstock College rugby teams will play a preliminary game at Tecumseh Park on Saturday. The soccer match will commence at 3 o'clock.

The following team was chosen to represent London and District: Adamson, Army and Navy, goal; Allman, St. John's Rovers, St. Thomas, back; Latham, G. T. R., back; Ince, Public Utilities, half-back; Morley, United Vets, St. Thomas, half-back; P. Smith, Public Utilities, half-back; Paul, St. John's Rovers, St. Thomas, forward; Ridley, Public Utilities, forward; Moore, Public Utilities, forward; Holt, Public Utilities, forward; Dearden, London Box, forward. Reserves: Jacques, Lowney, Whitworth, Angus, Branston and Currie.

Referee: Noble.

W. U. Students Get Out For Drill

Twenty-five Western University students attended the work-out held at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon. The players rehearsed their new signals and now appear to be playing a much faster class of rugby.

The signals which M. L. Blake has adopted for the team are smart and the players put in two hours of solid work yesterday practicing for the first intermediate interscholastic group match, which will be played here with St. Michael's College, of Toronto, a week from Saturday.

The players have agreed to practice every night from now until October 15, so that the team will be in condition to oppose the Queen City squad.

From all reports the St. Michael's team is anxious to defeat the Western boys in the opening game, and the Toronto boys are also devoting a considerable amount of time to rugby practice.

Toronto Varsity seconds will be the strongest in years, is the news from Toronto, and the Aggies are also preparing for the coming rugby series.

Western University players will fight hard to take their place with the other college teams and also to win the group honors, which will permit them to meet the winners of the Eastern group of the intermediate interscholastic rugby series.

The Elks have gathered a snappy rugby team and had no trouble in breaking through the Collegiate line. One minute after play Hoffman made a clean run of the field and scored a touch-down, and got two more during the game.

The London Collegiate squad will endeavor to give the St. Thomas team a fight for the honors at Tecumseh Park to-morrow afternoon. A. T. Taylor has given the Collegiate boys any amount of valuable advice and improvement is now visible. The teams:

London Collegiate: Sessions, quarter; Ardiel, Cr tle, Brennan, halves; Beard, McCausland, middle; Rourke, snap; Hill, Murphy, inside; Daly and Foote, outside; Hunter, flying wing.

Askin Street Elks: Gould, quarter; Dennis, Gillies, Hoffman, halves; Baker and Baker, middles; Richmond, snap; Walder and Plastow, outside; Blakwell and Willoughby, insides; Shaw, flying wing.
