THIRTEENTH YEAR. TUESDAY MORNING, JANUARY 31 1893. ONE CENT

FIRST DIVISION.

A Government Majority of Fifty.

COMFORTABLE TO WORK UPON

Debate on the Speech from the Throne.

Laurier Said That the New Offices Created By Sir John Macdonald and Filled By Sir John Thompson Enabled the Government To Mingle the Orange and Green Harmoniously Together — Fun Over the Head Basket Industry Among the Caughnawaga Squaws—Cartwright Still Preaching Blue Ruin—Sir John Thompson and Hon. Mr. Foster Make Brilliant Replies.

OTTAWA, Jan. 30.—The newly-elected member for Kent, N.B., moved the adoption of the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, and for the next half-hour he took up the speech, paragraph by paragraph, in excellent style, dealing with the different subjects in a manner which showed that he had made a careful study of them.

Mr. McInerney is a pleasing and agreeable speaker, who makes his points well and who gives promise of proving a decided acquisition to the debating power of the House. In his opening remarks he referred to the fact that on six occasions he had endeavored to represent his constituency, but only succeeded on the seventh trial, and regretted that he had not got into the House earlier so that he might have had the pleasure of meeting that great leader, Sir John Macdonald, to whose memory he paid a touching tribute.

He also referred to the absence of Hon. Mr. Blake and expressed the hope that in his new sphere of usefulness he might assist in solving the great problem of Home Rule. He expressed the highest confidence in Sir John Thompson, the present leader of the Conservative party, and said that the leader's great ability and good qualities needed no words of commendation from him.

Neatly and briefly he referred to the progress of the country, as shown by the trade returns and statement of revenue and expenditure, and was greeted with hearty applause when he said he was informed that the exports of dairy produce from Canada with its 5,000,000 of population were a million and a quarter more than the exports of dairy produce from the United States with their 65,000,000 of population. After touching lightly on each subject in the debate, he wound up an excellent half-hour speech with a brilliant peroration on the inculcation of a national spirit in Canada.

Mr. Leclaire, Hon. Mr. Chapleau's successor in Terrebonne, seconded the resolution in French, and when he had straightened himself up and towred above his fellow members to the extent of six feet four inches he was greeted with considerable applause. He speaks well, has a good voice and kept the House interested for 15 minutes.

He paid a high tribute to his predecessor, Mr. Chapleau, and thoroughly and heartily endorsed the policy of the Government as outlined in the speech.

Laurier's Speech.

Hon. Mr. Laurier, who was not looking thoroughly recovered from his recent indisposition, was greeted with applause as he rose to continue the debate. He appeared a little weak at first, but warmed up as he went on and managed to crowd a very good speech into ten minutes' time. He commenced by referring to the change of administration since last session and in doing so paid a high compliment to Sir John Abbott, of whom he spoke in the highest terms as one of the ablest men in public life, and expressing regret that ill-health should have caused his retirement. He congratulated Sir John Thompson on his succession to the Premiership, referred to his rapid advance since his entering Parliament, and pleasantly welcomed his promotion. He then proceeded to twit Sir John on his speech at the Young Conservative meeting in Toronto, and charged him with indulging in flights of imagination in claiming that the National Policy had anything to do with the acquisition and development of the Northwest Territories. With regard to the statement that the present Government was a strong one, he indulged in a little good-natured chaff about the increase in the number of ministers, and caused a laugh by saying that there were 15 ministerial advisers of the crown and three advisers of the advisers.

The Orange and Green.

He thought that there was no necessity for bringing into force the acts relating to the Department of Trade and Commerce and the Solicitor-General, and believed that the real reason of these acts which had lain on the statute book for six years being called into existence was "in order to balance colors and shades and to enable the orange and green to mingle harmoniously together."

Of course he denied that the country was prosperous, referred to the lower rate of increase in population shown by the census of 1891 as compared with that of 1881, and read an extract from Sir John Macdonald's famous resolution of 1878, in which it was stated, amongst other things, that the National Policy would provide work for the unemployed and stop the exodus, claiming that it had manifestly failed in this respect, as the exodus was greater than ever.

He rather sneered at the development of manufacture shown by the census, and humorously alluded to the increase of manufacturing establishments in the Indian village of Caughnawaga from 8 in 1881 to 42 in 1891, which he said probably meant that so many more bead baskets and other Indian curios were now made there, which was probably caused by the fact that these articles were not protected and there was free trade in them.

Canal Tolls Question.

With regard to reciprocity in wrecking he thought that the Americans ought to be allowed to do wrecking in Canadian canals, as the intention of Parliament was to give the freest possible use of our waters. He blamed the Government for its course with respect to canal tolls, and thought the present difficulty might have been avoided if a more generous policy had been pursued. He claimed that the Canadian Government had never been generous in its treatment of the American Government, and thought that a broad and generous course should be taken, and whenever there was a favor to be done it should be done with a good grace.

As to the legislative forecast of the speech, he was pleased to see that the Franchise Act was to be amended and thought that the best thing that could be done with it would be to amend it off the statute book altogether. For 21 years the provincial lists had been used and had been found to work well, but since 1887 there had been great complaints as to the unjust working of the act, and as an instance he referred to the case of Mr. Tarte, who had been elected for L'Islet, but was prevented from taking his seat by the working of the act.

The speech was more remarkable for what was not in it than for what was. There was no allusion to the prohibition commission, there was no allusion to the Caron commission, and there was no reference to the Manitoba School question. As to the latter question he held that the report of the sub-committee of council should have been presented to the House before it was published, and ridiculed the idea that council could turn itself into a court of justice and hear the case in any other than a political capacity.

The greatest omission from the speech, however, he claimed, was the absence of any reference to tariff changes. Sadness, he said, was over the land, and the Minister had been running about from place to place holding out hopes that some of the "mouldering branches" of the National Policy would be lopped off, but there was no reference in the speech to any proposed change. The country expected legislation on this subject and he would, therefore, conclude by moving the following amendment to the motion for the adoption of the address:

An Amendment.

That the following words be added to the address: "We feel bound to represent to Your Excellency that in the present condition of the people of Canada, substantial reductions should be made in the taxation which presses so heavily upon the great bulk of the community, and we regret that in the speech, graciously delivered from the Throne, Your Excellency was not advised to hold out promises of reductions to the oppressive duties now imposed."

The Premier's Reply.

Sir John Thompson, on rising to reply, was greeted with long and vigorous applause from the Ministerial side of the House, and a sweet smile of gratified contentment stole over his face as he listened to the vociferous plaudits of his numerous followers. Sir John was in excellent form, clear, concise and incisive, and as he took up and answered, one by one, the objections raised by Mr. Laurier, he was frequently interrupted by outbursts of approval and applause.

He commenced by complimenting the mover and seconder of the address, whom, he said, had not only done credit to themselves, but had added to the dignity of the House. He returned thanks to Mr. Laurier for his kindly remarks about Sir John Abbott, who had the most profound respect of the whole party, and whose loss would be deeply felt. [Applause.]

He was also grateful to the leader of the Opposition for his graceful but somewhat sarcastic remarks about himself. Referring to the charge that the Ministers had gone about preaching that the country was prosperous, he said that they were always able to support their statements by extracts from the public records, while the hon. gentleman did not consult the published records at all, but contented himself with saying it was all trash when the increase of trade, the development of railways, etc., were hurled as evidences of prosperity, but the hon. gentleman never contradicted the figures.

With regard to the census he said it was unfair to compare the results of the census of 1891 with that of ten years before, because they were not taken under the same conditions.

Bead Basket Industry.

With reference to his Toronto speech he said that what he meant was that the whole policy of the Liberal-Conservative party had been national in the sense that it was intended to build up the country. He twitted the leader of the Opposition on abandoning his old friend, unrestricted reciprocity, and said the only allusion to it was found in the reference to the baskets of the Indian women of Caughnawaga being sold all over the continent.

With regard to the exodus, he claimed that the National Policy had found work for thousands who would otherwise have been forced to go out of the country. The leader of the Opposition had taken what figures he pleased from the census when he was talking about the exodus, but when the development of trade was referred to he professed to ignore the census figures.

Dealing with the question of wrecking, he said the Canadian Government was quite willing to allow American vessels all the facilities with regard to wrecking which were enjoyed by Canadian vessels, but no vessels could be allowed to block the canals for the purpose of undergoing repairs.

As to the rebate on canal tolls, they had existed for years and there had been no remonstrance until last year, when it was made in the middle of the season after all shipping engagements had been made, and it was possible to abolish the rebate then. When the correspondence was brought down it would not be found that the action of Canada had been harsh and unkind towards the United States.

The canal question was not a new one. The Opposition had to complain that the Americans got the use of the Canadian canals, while Canadians were refused the use of the American canals; but now the Opposition seems anxious that the Americans should do as they pleased with their canals.

With regard to the so-called omissions from the speech, he could not believe that the honorable gentleman came through Montreal and saw the prohibition commissions at work there and still expected to find some allusion to its report in the speech.

As to the Caron Commission the report was made and would be laid on the table.

As to the Manitoba school question he declined to follow the leader of the Opposition with respect to it, but would reserve any decision until after the papers were brought down. There was no discourtesy whatever shown to the House by the publication of the report of the sub-committee before it was presented to the House.

As to the omission of any mention of tariff changes in the speech, Sir John pointed out that with the exception of 1879, when the National Policy was introduced, it was not usual to make any reference in the speech to the tariff changes which would not be made for months afterwards.

Sir Richard Cartwright followed, speaking up to recess.

Dealt With the Exodus.

After recess Sir Richard continued for an hour, dealing mostly with the exodus, as shown by the census returns, and deploring generally the unprosperous condition of the country, which he charged wholly to the National Policy.

The Hon. Mr. Foster said the hon. gentleman had not gone beyond blaming the Government for the exodus, but he had not pointed out a single cause for the effect.

The coincidence that people left the country during the regime of the Liberal-Conservative Government proved nothing. We must go deeper than that, as the figures show that while the exodus has been going on under both Governments it was going on in decreasing volume. [Applause.]

The only census Sir Richard quoted showed that in 10 years the rural population of the northern States had remained stationary, the population moving west. The two causes of the depletion of rural districts were well known and were at work here as elsewhere. Until a few years ago we had no great west to attract our people, otherwise we should have no exodus. The Opposition did not in their time attempt to open up the Northwest or encourage our manufactories, and by their policy never took a step towards providing a remedy, and yet these are the men who now talk of a failure of policy. [Cheers.]

In spite of them we opened up the Northwest, for they fought, opposed and ridiculed every movement in that direction. [Applause.] Now they say that continental free trade is the only way to prosperity for Canada. That is their policy. Sir Richard had declared that only war or pestilence could excuse the exodus. But we have had war, a war carried on by him and his friends on every hustings in Canada and in many places in the United States against Canada's interests as we have had the pestilential utterances of the Opposition and the pestilential writings of Sir Richard himself in the heart of the British Empire. [Cheers and groans.] The depreciation of farm lands was not here more apparent than in free trade England, and was general throughout the world.

The hon. gentleman did not say anything about the increase in the deposits in the savings banks. He was oblivious to the increase in trade. He had a great deal to say about taxing the people, but he said nothing about the taxation when he was Minister of Finance. Then tea was taxed six cents a pound, and at that rate the tax on tea this year would have been a million and a quarter. The Conservative Government had put tea on the free list. Sir Richard had taxed coffee and sugar. Now they were both free. The tax on sugar under the Mackenzie regime was about two cents and a half a pound, and at that rate on last year's importation the duty would have been about $4,500,000. He compared the per capita tax under the two administrations and pointed out that the increase had been very slight, while the average duty collected was only about 17½ per cent. on the whole importation. The hon. gentleman finished an excellent speech amid great applause.

After some remarks by Mr. Mills the members were called in and the House divided on Mr. Laurier's amendment, which was lost. Yeas 53; nays 103.

The usual formal motions were then made and carried with regard to presenting the address to His Excellency.

The Estimates.

Hon. Mr. Foster presented the estimates for 1893-94. The total amount to be voted is $23,701,345. As the total amount required, including amounts fixed by statute, is $42,919,614 there is a decrease of $557,225 from last year. But it must be remembered this does not include supplementary estimates yet to be brought down.

House adjourned at 11.25.

FRANCE'S WORRY.

She Is Fuming Over Egyptian, Austrian and Home Affairs.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—This has been a very exciting week, says Jacques St. Cere in The New York Herald. M. Develle, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has been passing through panics of which the public has had no idea.

Besides the Panama Canal scandal the Ministers have been busy with foreign affairs. We have had two things weighing heavily on us—the first was the affair with England, the second the affair with Austria.

Nothing, and you know, has taken a position in Egypt directly contrary to treaties made with Europe, and in which France is a co-signatory. It is quite evident that in the discussion with Prince Abbas, the Khedive, the question is not as to mere Ministerial changes, but as to whose hand shall finally grasp Egypt. It is no longer a question of a protectorate, but of annexation pure and simple. Besides, we want to know whether France can tolerate such an illegal proceeding.

England speaks of the "interests of civilization." The question is are the "interests of civilization" really in the game? It is clear that the English occupation of Egypt is absolutely contrary to the desires and wishes of the Egyptian population, as has been proved by the demonstration at Cairo. Are not all the treaties regulating the Egyptian question and making her forever the vassal of Turkey in force? England cannot by herself tear up all these treaties.

There is now an interchange of notes between the two countries, and they have taken on a sharp character. France, who has right on her side, is now beginning to understand that she made an error in not entering Egypt in 1881. England, who is strong in the right of possession, will not even think of evacuation. Because Lord Rosebery, the British Minister for Foreign Affairs, has strong German sympathies it is possible that the hand of Germany may be seen in this aggressive political move of England.

The same reflection may be made as regards the quarrels sought by Austria this week. Count Hoyos, the Austrian Ambassador here, has reproached France with the articles appearing in the Paris newspapers, alleging that they were injurious to Austria. Count Hoyos, who has now been eight years in France, knows that the Government can do nothing in this matter. There are no press coercion laws in France.

It was thought at first that the complaints were not serious, but Count Hoyos has returned twice to the charge, demanding the second time that apologies be made, when he knew the prudent character of Austrian diplomacy.

No one can believe that such a move was inspired by Austria. There must be other influences at work, and it is thought that they are German. This is the belief in France, where public opinion is always inclined to decide an accusation against the neighboring empire. But what we must emphasize, and which we beg the citizens of the great American Republic to believe, is that no provocation has come from France, which is desirous of peace.

From the very beginning of that sad Panama affair France has been showered with insults from the press of every land which does not discriminate between the guilty few and the great mass of honest Frenchmen. Is it necessary to protest against such injustice?

France wants peace. France is in a bad condition interiorly, and yet from all sides comes a bitter attack upon her.

WHAT WILL THE C.P.R. ASK

IN RETURN FOR A FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE?

Probably a Liberal Subsidy—Maritime Members Object to the Intercolonial Railway Passing Into Van Horne's Control—Conservatives to a Man Will Stand By the National Policy.

OTTAWA, Jan. 30.—The article in to-day's World in regard to the railway situation and the likelihood of the C.P.R. asking for the control of the Intercolonial is borne out by the interview of Mr. Shaughnessy in Quebec, who is reported to have said that the establishment of the fast Atlantic service is dependent on two things, namely: a liberal subsidy from the Dominion Government and the acquisition of and complete control over the Intercolonial by the C.P.R.

If that is really the program of the C.P.R. it will meet with a great opposition from the Maritime members, and it is not at all likely that it could be carried even were the Government disposed to entertain it.

A gentlemen well-known to be an old friend of the C.P.R. says the most they will ask for is a liberal subsidy for a steamship line and more running power over the Inter-colonial, and that if they ask for anything more, neither Sir John Thompson nor Mr. Haggart, Minister of Railways, will consent to it, as it would put Sir John Thompson in a weak position with his Maritime friends, and it would mean that Mr. Haggart's department, which is now coming to be one of the most efficient in the Dominion service, would have to go out of existence, and the canal branch be transferred to the Public Works Department.

Several Maritime members said that to allow the Intercolonial to pass completely into the hands of the C.P.R. at the same time that the coal fields of Nova Scotia are passing into the control of a great American monopoly, would be to make the people of the Maritime Provinces serfs to these two immense concerns.

Depends on a Caucus.

The debate on the address chiefly concerned the exodus. Very little was said in regard to tariff changes. Whether there will be any change or not depends a great deal on a caucus of the Conservative members to be held at an early day, when the proposals of some Conservatives to abolish or reduce the duties will come under the review of their fellow-members.

The World ventures to predict that when the time comes very few mouldering branches will be lopped away; that the Conservatives will line up almost to a man and stand by the National Policy in its entirety.

D'Alton McCarthy is the uncertain quantity in regard to the tariff debate, and he has not yet appeared at Ottawa. Mr. Laurier carefully avoided any reference to D'Alton McCarthy's position, and Sir John Thompson, following in his footsteps in his reply, made no reference to the Stayner speech.

Peace For Children.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—A remarkable row is being made over the harmless attempt by the London School Board to develop and encourage patriotic feeling in children's breasts by ornamenting every elementary school with the national flag and by talking to the youngsters occasionally about the great deeds of their fighting ancestors.

The International Peace and Arbitration Society first took alarm and protested vehemently against the proposal as an insidious attempt to gloss over the horrors of war and discredit peaceful methods of settling disputes. They actually organized public meetings of protest and, stranger still, obtained large audiences and induced them to pass resolutions denouncing the wicked school board.

The Cholera Scare.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The cholera scare is now arousing genuine alarm throughout Europe. It is past midwinter, and the dread disease seems to have entrenched itself beyond the possibility of dislodgement.

It is now almost universally admitted by competent authorities that the danger for the coming summer is far greater than it was last year. Preparations are being made to fight the monster, but there is reason to fear that the measures adopted are altogether inadequate.

Cleveland Said to Look Favorably Upon Hawaiian Annexation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30.—The Examiner prints the following interview: "I received to-day," said Commissioner Castle, "a despatch that satisfies us that President-elect Cleveland looks favorably upon our proposal. Naturally that has given great encouragement to us."

"If you are unable to come to an understanding with the Government at Washington, will you go to England with your proposals?"

"Our Commissioner gives us no authority to go beyond the United States," replied Mr. Castle, "if we cannot arrange terms with the United States Government we will return home. Then if the island has to turn to England a commission will be sent, but we hope that will never be necessary."

A Serious Affair.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—A San Francisco special to The Herald says Hawaii's revolution may prove a more serious affair to the United States than was expected. Lillinokalani insists that she yielded not to the revolutionists in Honolulu but to the superior force of the United States, and she charges in a proclamation issued after her abdication that the American Minister, John L. Stevens, "caused United States troops to be landed at Honolulu, and declared he would support the said Government."

THE BRITISH PRESS.

Comments On the Proposed Annexation of Hawaii.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The Daily News says: "The overthrow of the Hawaiian Queen appears to be an American coup. Hawaii being the key to the whole group, the Americans, once they possess it, would not find any difficulty in making themselves masters of the others. Europe, however, has necessities in the same quarter, Honolulu being the only coaling station on the mail route between San Francisco and Auckland.

The Daily Telegraph says the affair wears the aspect of a successful attempt by American citizens to subvert the existing order of things in favor, first, of themselves and next, of what is impossible, annexation. We could not allow the United States to annex the islands, even if the established policy at Washington permitted the idea to be entertained. This policy, however, will not permit it. Obviously the native government ought to be restored, for the revolution is the work of discontented, selfish foreigners, chiefly Yankees.

The Chronicle says: Europe has not any great concern with Hawaii, nevertheless the Queen has rights which seem to have received scant respect from the leaders of the movement. Events had not given to a section of the foreign population the right to oust the lawful sovereign. Anxiety for the welfare of the native population seems to be less of a motive with the American party than a desire to further their own interests.

The Standard says: It is not likely that the good sense of the American people will permit them to assume this responsibility, which would be found onerous and unprofitable, or to claim an extension of influence which would be opposed and resented by other powers having interests at stake. It is thought the United States could not allow any other power to annex the island, but none has such an ambition. Justice requires that the constitution be restored with such reforms as are necessary.

The Times says: It is difficult to see how compliance with Mr. Dole's reques can be reconciled with existing American engagements and institutions. It seems plain, however, that the state of things that has existed lately cannot continue any longer. Something must be done. The question is: What, and by whom? The Samoan precedent is not altogether encouraging, nevertheless it seems possible that some such scheme may be executed ultimately.

Action in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—In the Senate a resolution was offered by Mr. Chandler of New Hampshire requesting the President to enter into negotiations with the provisional government of Hawaii for the admission of the islands as a territory, and to lay the convention before Congress for ratification by legislation.

MAY ABANDON THE CONDUIT

AND PUMP THE WATER SUPPLY FROM NEAR SCARBORO HEIGHTS.

Engineer Keating Endorses The World's Scheme for a Water Supply—The New Board of Health — Prose and Poetry Keep the Council in Session Until After Midnight.

At a meeting of the City Council last evening the Mayor stated that Engineer Keating had expressed himself as entertaining grave doubts of the advisability of spending further sums in the repair of the conduit across the bay, preferring to have the water taken from the lake at a point in the vicinity of Scarboro Heights.

The committee amalgamation bylaw providing for the amalgamation of the Waterworks with the Board of Works was adopted. The Engineer was empowered to secure assistants and make a full and complete report at the earliest possible date as to the expenditure and repairs necessary and also as to the condition of the department.

These were among the communications read: A suggestion from Mr. J. P. Jackson that a prize be offered for the best essay on Toronto as a residential and business centre, the idea being to publish this essay in pamphlet form to be distributed at the World's Fair for the purpose of advertising the city.

George C Morgan of Chicago wrote that he had observed an article in The World suggesting the employment of a hydraulic engineer by the city to assist it out of the present waterworks difficulty and offering his services.

Banton, Robert Glockling, John Armstrong, representing the Trades and Labor Council; Albert W. Wickens, John A. Wills, representing the Association of Stationary Engineers; Edmund Burke, W. R. Strickland, representing the Toronto Architectural Guild; Professor John Galbraith, Dr. William Hodgens Ellis, educationists, and John Inglis, manufacturer.

Executive Committee's Report.

Ald. Bailey objected to the appointment of M. Defoe as city valuator, as recommended by the Executive Committee, claiming that City Surveyor Sankey should act in that capacity. His motion to this effect was defeated, however.

Three tenders for the 36-inch iron piping for the extension from the pumping main at the new engine house to the pumping main on Front-street were received. Mr. Alexander Garthwaite of Hamilton offered to supply the material at 25 cents per ton lower than the St. Lawrence Foundry of Toronto, and the committee recommended that the former tender be accepted.

Ald. Hewitt raised an objection to this. He thought home manufacturers should be encouraged, even at an increased expenditure to the city.

Ald. McMurrich did not look at it in this light at all and spoke strongly in support of the committee's report, as did Ald. Carlyle, who scouted the idea that it was disloyalty to the city when Toronto was not the lowest bidder to distinguish in favor of her citizens.

Ald. J. E. Verral thought, as it was only a matter of $30, that the local man should have the preference.

Ald. Hallam said it was a shame to advertise for tenders and then not accept the lowest because an outside firm made the bid.

Ald. Hewitt's amendment carried after a long discussion.

No Steam Fire Engine.

The report of the Committee on Fire and Light was passed with the exception of the clause recommending the purchase of a new steam fire engine and a hook and ladder truck, which clause, by the advice of the Executive Committee, was referred back.

A Question of Privilege.

The Hallam-Burns affair was again brought up, and Ald. Burns denied positively ever having promised Ald. Hallam his vote for the committee chairmanship, and in consequence he wished the latter to retract the charge to the effect that he had gone back on his promise.

Ald. Hallam stated that if he had not been sure of Ald. Burns' vote he would never have allowed him to get on the committees he now served on, and concluded with a verse of poetry.

The Mayor induced the two gentlemen to abandon the argument for the present at all events.

Cheaper Gas.

City Auditor W. R. Hughes reported on the accounts of the Consumers' Gas Co. and condemned the system of account keeping adopted by the company.

Mr. Hughes contends that the company is using revenue as a kind of supplementary capital, and that the reserve and repairs funds are kept purposely low so that the company may not be compelled to reduce the price of gas. The auditor asserts that $35,000 of the company's funds should now be used for the purpose of giving cheaper gas to the citizens.

The Council Drops Into Poetry.

Mr. Auguste Bolte, the French vice consul, introduced Captain Andrews to the council and the Mayor presented the captain with a diploma and medal awarded him for his bravery in saving lives by the Life Saving Knights of the Maritime Alps. Captain Andrews replied by reciting a poem of his own composition, descriptive of his life and the accident which deprived him of his sight. He also requested the council to petition Sir Adolphe Caron to restore him to his position on the civil service list.

Taking Over The Lake Shore-Road.

The agreement concerning the taking over of the Lake Shore-road from the county was then brought forward for discussion. Each clause in the document seemed to have a champion and also a detractor present, and it was only after considerable time had elapsed that the numerous amendments were put to the vote. The report was finally adopted intact, as presented by the committee.

When the Executive report, as amended, was brought before the council for final settlement Ald. McMurrich moved that the name of Alex Gartshore of Hamilton be not struck out and that of the St. Lawrence Foundry substituted. Yeas—Ald. Carlyle, Hallam, Hill, Jolliffe, Leslie, Lynd, McMurrich, Orr, Saunders. Nays—Bailey, Bell, Burns, Crawford, Davies, Hewitt, Lamb, Murray, Shaw, Small, Stewart, G. Verral, J. E. Verral. As it required a two-thirds vote to carry it the report was lost, but the "nays" passed a resolution referring this clause to the City Engineer to ascertain if this particular piece of pipe was a necessity.

On motion of Ald. Bailey, the name of City Surveyor Sankey was substituted for that of D. M. Defoe to deal with claims against the city for damages by parties whose property was injured by the erection of the Dundas-street bridges.

The report as a whole was then adopted.

The New Board of Health.

The following aldermen were named in the bylaw introduced by Ald. Hallam regarding the personnel of the Local Board of Health: Messrs. Carlyle, Hallam, Murray, Franklin, Maloney, Bailey, Crawford and Small.

Ald. Leslie asked to be placed on the board in place of Ald. Frankland, and insinuated that the reason why he was left off was to ensure Ald. Carlyle the chairmanship.

Dr. Orr also wished his name in lieu of Ald. Maloney's.

Ald. Leslie's request was voted down, as was Ald. Orr's.

Ald. Hill's name, on motion of Ald. James E. Verral, was substituted for that of Ald. Frankland, when the report passed the committee of the whole as amended. It also passed the council and was read a third time and finally passed by that body.

THE SALE CONTINUES.

The Fur Season Not Over Yet, But Goods Going Fast.

The temperature has again gone down, and all day yesterday there was a great crush at King and Yonge-streets. Dineens' showrooms, which are situated on that prominent corner, were thronged with eager shoppers taking advantage of the low prices to which furs have been temporarily reduced. Messrs. Dineen have just re-assorted their handsome stock of jackets and wraps, and have reduced the prices to the lowest possible figure, in some cases going below cost. The new prices of cloth jackets, fur trimmed, run from $10 to $20, while under the new arrangement the firm's beautiful sealette jackets have been reduced to prices ranging from $15 to $25, which are below cost of importation. These sealette jackets have been imported by W. & D. Dineen, and there is a great variety of design, scarcely two of the garments being alike. They are to be had with loose front or back, in reefers and tight-fitting patterns. Sizes run from 30 to 42. Nearly all have quilted satin lining, and are finished in the best possible style. These garments being special designs are marvelous bargains at the prices now asked for them. Cloth jackets are of all fashionable materials and are handsomely trimmed with fur, having also fur collars and cuffs. They are all imported designs and run from 32 to 36 bust measurement. These have also been placed away below the cost of importation, and are the cheapest line of high-class jackets ever offered in Toronto. Dineen has still a number of beautiful squirrel-lined Russian circulars in figured wool brocade goods, with extra handsome fur collars and trimmings. These are being sold at cost prices, and there is an increasing demand for them. There are some lovely designs in opera cloaks, with white fur trimmings and elegant fur linings. These are special and exclusive styles, which cannot be duplicated, and are offered at prices that will assure a speedy sale. Dineens' clearing sale will last until the end of the week, but it is most advisable that purchasers should make their selections at once, as the stock cannot last until then.

Rescued from Starvation.

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Jan. 30.—After a seven hours' battle with floating ice the steamer Gudgeon finally reached Chincoteague Island yesterday afternoon with a supply of food for the 3000 islanders who have been cut off from all communication with the mainland for two weeks. The steamer was badly damaged by the ice. Had communication with the island been cut off for a day or two longer the consequences would have been disastrous. As it was, many persons had suffered for the want of food, fuel, and milch cows had been killed to meet the pressing necessity. Some persons had not eaten a mouthful for two days and a number of others had existed for several days on bread alone.

The Wanderers' Ball at the Pavilion.

All those who were present at that select ball will not forget the delicious claret cup—they say the bouquet was excellent. But no matter how good the claret may be, credit must also be given to the maker of the cup. For, "like the cook, he can spoil the broth."

It is, however, essential to have the right kind of claret (for all clarets are not suitable).

Messrs. Gianelli & Co. have imported the proper claret for this purpose, and it has received universal patronage from all parts of the province.

Good sound digestion, breath as sweet as a nut, and the vigor of health is obtained by using Adams' Tutti Frutti Gum. See that Tutti Frutti is on each package.

Drink Pure Water.

The mineral water from Mt. Clemens, Mich., is bottled just as it flows from the earth. Every bottle is put up at the spring, therefore our customers can be assured that what they receive is the pure mineral spring water. It is the most healthful and palatable of all carbonated waters. Price $2 per doz. quarts, $7.50 per case of 53 bottles; 30 cents per dozen allowed if bottles are returned. William Mara, sole agent, 79 Yonge-street, third door north of King-street. Telephone 1708.

The Bewildered Liberal Leaders.

In these days, when comic papers are lugubrious reading, we are much indebted to any who brighten life by genuine humor. For a supply of this spice we owe the Liberal party much thanks.

Their recent convention was as amusing as a lot of school boys full of high spirits wrangling with boyish earnestness and glee over what direction they should take to spend a holiday. One wanted to make a rush for free trade; another thought that trip was too far; others cried out for going somewhere, distance and locality not specified; some thought the best fun would be to make a general raid on the tariff, to have a general scrimmage, as it were, with the lads of another school; a few were ambitious of going over to have a good time with Uncle Sam.

A brilliant idea struck one of the crowd; "Let's organize," cried he, and, as this was regarded as the only thing they could do, they spent the rest of their enthusiasm and time in organizing. Actually it had never occurred to the great Liberal party, it appears, that their supreme need was organization. Here were a body of men who have been clamoring to be entrusted with the government of Canada admitting that they were up to last week a mere mob.

What they will do when organized they are hopelessly at sea about. Some time ago their leaders led them off on a hunt after unrestricted reciprocity; that game has been abandoned, as dogs will follow a skunk until the aroma gets too high flavored. Mr. Laurier and Sir Richard, who find the smell they acquired by getting too close to that creature offensive to decent nostrils, have turned away to point their noses towards free trade.

But as a large body of their followers think that game is too perilous, they are advocating its capture by stalking, by a still hunt; "come as tho' ye were nae coming to me," is their idea of a Liberal policy. They propose to reach free trade by a series of stealthy marches, not letting the rank and file know the goal aimed at, lest they desert, for every sane Liberal knows that free trade would involve direct taxation, which he abhors; especially your farming Grit. Those of the manufacturing persuasion, "if there be any," as Brutus says, know also that their name would quickly be "Dinis" if the Yankees had free course into Canada, as the slaughter market business would soon be at work to wipe out them and their factories.

There is not a merchant in Toronto who does not know that if free trade existed his warehouse would have to be abandoned, as the supplies for retailers would all come from Boston and New York. The Yankee would have our markets, but we should not have his. The wealthy United States merchants would simply add a possible five million customers to their field for sales, while wholesalers would have the choice of being ruined by ruthless competition or taking up their tents and stealing away to act as clerks in Boston or New York.

There is not a manufacturing enterprise in all Canada that would not be fatally struck by our markets being free while those of the States were kept barred against us. Combinations would be organized in the States of each class, in order to run, as it were, parallels around the fort of our industries to invest them like besiegers until the time came for carrying the whole of the defensive works by assault.

The attitude of the Liberal leaders to the rank and file is well illustrated by the following passage from a well-known play:

LIGARIUS: Are not some whole that we must make sick?

BRUTUS: That must be also. What it is my Caius
I shall unfold to thee as we are going.

LIGARIUS: Set on your foot,
And with a heart new-fir'd I follow you
To do I know not what; but it sufficeth
That Brutus leads me on.

The exodus would be changed into a stampede, while curses, both loud and deep, would cover the Liberal party with a nation's maledictions.

Well may Messrs. Laurier, Cartwright, et al., shrink from advocating a straightforward policy of free trade. They dare not propose to leave Canada naked and defenceless to her enemies by razing the wall of protection to the ground. They know that their free trade talk is the rankest buncombe, a mere cry of bewilderment, like that of children in the night who are alarmed by darkness and solitude.

If they believe in free trade, which we refuse to believe, where is the courage of their convictions? If they are free traders they are cowards, not to say so plainly. But they are bold to the extreme of audacity and rashness in braving the indignation of every loyal Canadian by their tortuous, double-faced course and attitude in advocating free trade, not for any love of it, not from any desire to see it established in Canada, but solely to use what weapons are found in that armory against protection, as their own private ammunition has long since been used up, or lost its explosive force.

The Liberals have done well to organize; but their great need is to organize their ideas about a policy, as they are too kaleidoscopic in variety of changes to fix the attention or gain the support of the country. They are a unit on only one point—they are "agen the Government," like all other disorderly citizens.

One Effect of the Robbery.

[Hamilton Spectator.]

Since the attempted robbery of the Home Loan and Savings bank in Toronto on Friday afternoon all the local banks have prepared to give such enterprising robbers a warm reception should they try the same game here. The hardware stores did a rushing business in revolvers on Saturday, and now each cashier and receiving teller is prepared to inject lead into the system of any bold bad robber who attempts to make a forcible withdrawal of funds.

Can recommend it. Mr. Enos Bornberry, Tuscarora, writes: "I am pleased to say that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is all that you claim it to be, as we have been using it for years, both internally and externally, and have always received benefit from its use. It is our family medicine, and I take great pleasure in recommending it."

Dyer's improved food for infants is recognized as the very best possible food for children. It is easily digested, made from pure pearl barley and highly recommended. Druggists keep it.

FROM POVERTY TO WEALTH

STRANGE CAREER OF "JIMMY" FRENCH'S DISOWNED SON.

He Dies in An Almshouse at Flatbush, N.Y., and His Family, Who Have Been Living in Poverty Ever Since, Now Find They are Heirs to $115,000—The Matter to Come Up at the Hall To-day.

The motion for the final distribution of the estate of the late James French, "the friend of the widow and the orphan," will come up at Osgoode Hall to-day. Some of the events developed in arranging the distribution of the estate bear a complexion that resembles more the incidents of an English three-volume novel than sober everyday life.

Richard French, the only son of the late Mr. French, was the black sheep of his family and left Toronto many years ago, settling in Brooklyn in 1865.

In time he married a Brooklyn woman, and after many vicissitudes he died in the almshouse in Flatbush in 1886, leaving a widow and six children in destitute circumstances.

Since then the family has rubbed along as best it could. The eldest child is a girl now of age, and two boys are also old enough to earn their livelihood.

After the death of James French in May last the news that the family had fallen heir to a large fortune came like a godsend. The widow is now living at 506 Vanderbilt-avenue, Brooklyn.

The French estate amounts to nearly $500,000, to be divided among the widow of James French, the family of his son Richard French and the family of the late Mrs. Bates of New York, and of Mrs. McClellan, his two daughters. According to the terms of his will it was not quite clear as to what portion the widow and children of Richard French should receive, but after several references $115,000 was allotted.

All the heirs are now satisfied excepting the eldest daughter of Richard French, but it is hardly probable that she will make any trouble.

Mr. Sam Staneland,

the famous restauranter of 99 King-street west, is one of the best-known men around town, and it is almost needless to add that in his line he is away up in public estimation. 'Twas back about '48 that Sam first showed up in the East Riding of Yorkshire, and as it is an admitted fact that a Yorkshireman cuts his eyeteeth when a yearling it can't surprise anybody to learn that Sam started out on his own account when 10 years old. His first move was to Paris, in La Belle France, where for several years he served an apprenticeship to that renowned culinary artist, Monsieur Soyer. He graduated with high honors, and soon crossed the herring pond to the United States. After a brief sojourn at Delmonico's in New York, he came to Toronto and has been a fixture here ever since.

For several years he was located in the Romaine buildings, but not having elbow room enough to spread himself in proper shape he about three years ago bought out the establishment in King-street. Staneland's restaurant was known far and wide, and the immense number of citizens who daily meeled there was the most substantial sort of evidence to prove its popularity. The famous porterhouse steak of the renowned Savage Club was not more deserving of notice than Staneland's efforts in the same line, while his chops and joints were talked about by all who ever interviewed them. The bill-of-fare was a great one, and the palate of the connoisseur was daily tickled by the presence of some little tit-bit that coaxed the laggard appetite to exert itself. It's a stubborn fact there is no denying that Sam was master of his business. He was also a good all-round sportsman. As one of the old members of the Toronto Gun Club he has made many a brilliant score, and as a field sportsman, gun in hand, and one of his famous Irish setters ranging free, his tally is a hard one to beat. He is also an enthusiastic disciple of Isaac Walton, and many a noble catch of black bass, and speckled beauties have from time to time been on view in his King-street windows as evidence of his skill. As a fisherman he is a success, and as a spinner of yarns in the fish line—Jewbitaker, it would knock the breath out of a windmill to hear Sam unwind himself!—Canadian Sportsman.

S. Staneland, thanking his many friends for past favors in King-street, has opened a grill room in connection with his hotel, corner Yonge and Trinity-square, where broiled steaks, chops, oysters and all delicacies of the season will be served as of yoolden time. The grill room will be open till after the theatre, when ladies and gentlemen can be served to the Queen's taste.

Opening Day at the Bon Marche.

One of the liveliest and most brilliant scenes ever witnessed in a drygoods establishment was that at the Bon Marche yesterday. The occasion was the opening of the great retiring from business liquidation sale of F. X. Cousineau & Co., which started yesterday morning. The doors were open to the public at 10 o'clock and closed at 5 o'clock p.m. The crowd was something immense and continued the day throughout. Although they had secured the services of many extra clerks it was impossible to wait on the customers, thousands having to leave unserved. They are, therefore, taking on a still further staff and will be able to accommodate the ladies to-day with greater satisfaction, but would advise them to come in the morning. The sale will continue each day from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Another Half Million Dollars Worth of Canadian Nickel Wanted.

The contract for over 10,000 tons of mill and protective plate for the new warships Brooklyn and Iowa has been awarded to the Carbon Steel Company of Pittsburg, Pa. The work includes the mill plates, the nickel-steel protective plates and the necessary shapes. The protective deck plating is to be all nickel-steel, and the percentage of nickel to be 3 to 4 per cent. This means a consumption of 10,000 tons of Canadian ore, which will yield 400 tons of fine nickel, worth at its present market value $456,000.

THE TROUBLE IN HAWAII.

The Change of Government Has Evidently Placed the American Element on the Islands in Control.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The World says: Hawaii is again vindicating its volcanic origin. For years it has been the scene of political disturbances more or less violent, but they have usually arisen from the somewhat sorbid ambition of rival factions seeking to acquire ascendancy in order to secure some commercial advantage over competitors. The present upheaval, however, was precipitated by the Queen, who wished to promulgate a new constitution which abolished the House of Nobles, deprived foreigners of the right of franchise and conferred upon herself powers not authorized by the existing constitution or exercised by her predecessor.

There are three parties on the island. One favors committing everything under the government worth having to natives, another favors the English and yet another favors American ascendancy.

It will be remembered that King Kalakaua died in San Francisco in 1891. His sister Liliuokalani, the present Queen, succeeded him. Her predilections were all for the English party, and her niece, Princess Victoria, who was proclaimed heiress to the throne, is now being educated in Scotland. But soon after the death of the King the Queen married an adventurous American named Dominis, whose occupation was that of a sailor, and who, without any genius for work on land, possessed something of a Turkish fondness for tobacco and women. Death ended his earthly career a short time ago, and his widow desiring to learn more of his family and his history, advertised for correspondence with his relatives. The first answer she got was from the fellow's former wife, or one of them, in this country, and she promptly suspended all further enquiry.

Attempts Against the Queen.

Several conspiracies have been formed during her short reign to dethrone her, one when she was very ill, and all that prevented its success was the conclusion of the conspirators to wait for her expected death, which did not occur.

The proposition to annex the islands to this country shows that the Americans are in practical control of the new provisional Government, which consists of an executive council of four members and an advisory council of 14. For years a movement has been developing to this end. The islands composing the group have a population of 80,000, including 2000 Americans, about 1200 English, German and French, 20,000 Japanese and 13,000 Chinamen. The rest are natives, who are rapidly dying out because of their fondness at a very destructive liquor and the prevalence of certain diseases which are aggravated by filth. They live mostly in the city of Honolulu and the smaller villages, where the life is easy, though on the sugar plantations may be found sturdier men who are superior to the Chinese as laborers. About $30,000,000 is invested in these plantations, only one-fifth of which are owned by the natives. The greater part are owned by Americans. The export of raw sugar to the United States in 1889 amounted to $5,439,000, while the entire exports amounted to $14,000,000.

The American Party.

The American party has long been seeking some form of annexation. Previous to the passage of the McKinley Bill a treaty existed by which, in consideration of the free importation of sugar to this country, the duties were taken off American agricultural implements and manufactures of iron, cotton and other articles. The passage of the McKinley Bill placed the sugar-growers on the same footing with those of other sugar-producing countries by removing all duty on that commodity, and thus deprived them of the special advantages they had enjoyed. The Hawaiian Government asked to be compensated for this loss and the United States offered it a treaty establishing free trade in all products, which, though accepted, was not as satisfactory as the advantages formerly enjoyed. This changed condition stimulated the spirit of annexation, and the Queen's unconstitutional action has given opportunity for a formal proposition.

To what extent speculation and jobbery enter into the plans of the American faction it remains to be seen. It is not unlikely that the annexation scheme has friends at both ends of the line who will urge its adoption regardless of consequences, but the matter is one to be considered with deliberation.

Varsity News.

The Modern Language Club held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon in room No. 12 in the college, Mr. R. S. Jenkins presiding in the absence of the president. The meeting was devoted to French subjects, the author taken up being Chateaubriand. Miss Johnson, '93, read a paper on the author and his "Atala;" Mr. E. R. Laughlin, '94, contributed an essay on Paul and Virginie; Miss Clayton, '95, read a paper on St. Beaune Chateaubriand; and Mr. Lingelbach followed with a short essay in French, after which the members engaged in French conversation.

Mr. J. Lorne McDougall, the University representative to McGill annual dinner, which took place in Montreal last Friday night, returned to the city yesterday.

At the meeting of the Methodist Ministerial Association yesterday a paper was read by Rev. Dr. Galbraith on "The Bible Method of Bridging the Chasm Between Labor and Capital," and was discussed by Revs. W. S. Blackstock and A. M. Phillips.

At the annual tea meeting of the Broadway Methodist Tabernacle last evening, Rev. John Philip, M.A., occupied the chair. Addresses were given by Rev. Dr. Briggs, Rev. W. F. Wilson, Rev. Charles Fish and Rev. Dr. Chapman of Oregon.

Mr. Fred P. Richardson, principal of the Canadian Academy of Dramatic Art, gave a lecture last night in Association Hall on "The natural principles of vocal culture and stage deportment." Principal Brown of the Y.M.C.A. Dramatic Art Society occupied the chair.

At a meeting of the Baptist Ministerial Association yesterday morning Rev. Dr. Goodspeed read a paper entitled "Conscience," and a spirited discussion took place, in which the Revs. Alexander, Grant, Fox, Denovan, Wallace, Welton and Chancellor Rand took part.

Frederick W. Hill, barrister, of Stouffville, died Saturday night. Deceased was a graduate of Toronto University, and for five years was in the law office of Murphy & Miller. About three years ago he removed to Stouffville with his family, and assumed the law business of John McLean.

Fruit is not an article of diet at the Model Lodging House and when William Morrison, a boarder of that institution, saw some Florida oranges temptingly displayed outside of John Miller's window, 68 Queen west, he promptly sampled one. He was as promptly arrested by P. C. Phillips and locked up at Agues-street station.

At a meeting of the Presbyterian Ministerial Association in the Y.M.C.A. buildings yesterday morning a paper was read by Rev. R. M. Hamilton on "Songs and their Compositions" with illustrations from Tennyson. Messrs. Chambers and Parr contributed selections and Mr. Hughes of the Erskine Church accompanied the singers.

The Class Association of '92, of Trinity Medical College last evening elected these officers: Hon. president, Dr. Sheard; president, J. T. Robinson; vice-president, W. Glaister; secretary-treasurer, Harold Bird; assistant secretaries, Relph Brodie, T. Carlaw, Neil Campbell, J. C. Stinson; committee, J. R. Bingham, P. J. Maloney, R. T. Corbett, F. C. Burrows. The association is composed entirely of the graduating class for '93 and is for mutual benefit.

A public missionary meeting was held in Convocation Hall, Trinity University, under the auspices of the Trinity University Theological and Missionary Society, last evening. The Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Toronto presided, and on the platform beside him were Right Rev. the Bishop of Nova Scotia, Rev. Mr. Langtry, Rev. Provost Body and Mr. Allan M. Diamond. Addresses on missionary work were given by the Bishop of Toronto, the Bishop of Nova Scotia and Mr. Diamond.

On Saturday evening about 9 o'clock a young man, well dressed but with a dirty face, rang the bell at the residence of Mr. O'Brien in College-street. He said that he was one of the scavengers on that beat and that the mistress of the house had promised him a Xmas box. The servant left him at the open hall door while she went upstairs to make enquiries. Of course the message was a pretence, but it gave the man an opportunity to enter and view the premises, if he so desired, while the servant was away. Mr. O'Brien has made arrangements in case this visit should be followed up, but it would be well for all householders to be on the alert.

Preaching on Sunday in the New Jerusalem Church in Elm-street, the pastor, Rev. G. L. Allbutt, called attention to the fact that it was the anniversary of the birth of Emanuel Swedenborg, who was born Jan. 29, 1688, and urged the earnest study of his theological writings as a most clear unfolding of the Holy Scripture; this instrumentality having been divinely adopted, that we may now enter with the understanding into the mysteries of faith, worshipping the one only God of Heaven and earth, the Lord Jesus Christ, and living according to His commandments.

California or Mexico.

The Wabash Railway have now on sale round trip tickets at very low rates to southern points, including Old Mexico and California. What the Council Overlooked.

Editor World: The council last evening left over an item of importance, viz., our sending a representative to the Columbian Exhibition to Chicago the same as we did to the Centennial at Philadelphia in 1876. It is to the credit of Ald. Davies that three years ago he proposed a recommendation that Chicago was the best place to hold above, for the reason that visitors from Europe might take in Toronto en route. We trust the Mayor has backbone to see to this being carried out by a committee of citizens. CITIZEN.

INTENDED TO AMUSE.

Item from the latest society novel—"And Gustavus Adolphus diligently pressed his suit."

No man can tell how much it would take to make him rich.

It doesn't always follow that shaking an acquaintance rattles him.

"Give the devil his due" is all wrong. Give him your "don't" and you'll be happier.

It was a Frenchman who refused to fight a duel because, as he said, he didn't want to live.

She—You will have to work hard if you win her. The Poet—I'll have to work hard if I don't.

Some men are so conscientious that they never put off anything till to-morrow but the bill collector.

Clara—Mamma, dear, is a bat harmful? Mamma—I don't know, my child. Ask your father, there.

Has a Strong Left Arm.

A young man in Scott County, Ky., felt a severe pain in his left shoulder and arm some two years ago, and for months he suffered intensely. Then the affected parts began to change color and became dark brown, and the pain decreased. At last the shoulder and arm were covered with a thick growth of soft, brown hair an inch long, the pain ceased entirely and now the young man is twice as strong in his left arm as he is in his right.

Canadian Fur in England.

The nearest imitation to the soft Russian fur, says a London fashion authority, is the Canadian sable, which is less costly and also handsome. Seal and astrachan, are not as much in favor as usual, only the finest astrachan being worn. It is effective, however, for tight jackets and Eton vests. Vison or mink are much employed for trimming walking dresses, whilst fox fur is seen in every variety, from the costly black to the becoming silver. Ermine is once more seen as a lining for open cloaks, and is delightfully warm agreeable wear. Boas, pelerines and muffs are of Thibet lamb in a good shade of brown. Muffs are huge, and exactly resemble those formidable hand-warmers our grandmothers affected, whilst with the 1820 costume the old-fashioned reticule hung on the arm with a long ribbon is a correct detail. The most popular material in zibeline, which bids fair to distance the cloth and tweeds whose popularity has been so long-lived. Zibeline (which, by the way, figured in so many of Princess Marie's trousseau garments) is a very soft, velvety and supple material, made in exceptionally wide width, both plain and figured. Grace velvet is much worn. Chenille, too, is making its way to the front again, and makes up into elegant reception and visiting gowns. The fine stripes are woven so closely together that it has a shot appearance, sage green and subdued red and beaver and gold being approved of mixtures. For ball gowns the accordion-pleated skirts are in vogue. They are exceedingly pretty and graceful looking, but not the most practical garment in which to join the mazy whirl. These are generally finished off with a satin sash tied on one side.

Where to Secure Valuables.

The recent attempts at burglary in our city and the decision given lately in Allen v. Dominion Bank in favor of the latter, an action to recover debentures misappropriated by an official, are of great importance to the general public.

The Trusts Corporation of Ontario, whose offices and vaults are situated in the basement of the Bank of Commerce building (which is completely fireproof), offer to depositors an absolute protection against fire, theft or misappropriation.

Valuables of all kinds may be stored at a very moderate rate and bonds, debentures or other securities payable to bearer by being deposited here are removed from all danger of loss.

The cost of a deposit box is so insignificant and the comfort so great of having our valuables of all kinds secure beyond a doubt that everyone should avail themselves of the care provided by this corporation.

Of most modern construction and protected carefully at all hours, the safe deposit vaults on the corner of King and Jordan-streets should commend themselves to all requiring all absolute security and comfortable accommodation.

RHEUMATISM

We venture the assertion that, although electricity has only been in use as a curative power for a few years, it has cured more cases of rheumatism than all other means combined. Some of our leading physicians, recognizing this fact, are availing themselves of this most potent of nature's forces. It is the only known remedial agent that will supply what is lacking, namely, nerve force or power, impart tone and vigor and arouse to healthy action the whole nervous system.

☞ Electric Insoles—Dr. Owen's Electric Insoles will prevent Rheumatism and cure Chilblains and Cramps in the feet and legs. Price $1, by mail.

Beware of imitations and the worthless, cheap, so-called Electric Belts advertised by some concerns and peddled through the country. They are electric in name only, worthless as a curative power, and dear at any price.

Our trade mark is the portrait of Dr. Owen embossed in gold upon every Belt and Appliance manufactured by us.

HOSMER FINISHED FIVE LENGTHS IN THE REAR.

The Sculling Race for England's Championship—Curling for the Ontario Tankard—Provincial Association Hockey—Toronto Cricketers' Annual Meeting—General Sporting News and Gossip.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The sculling race between George H. Hosmer of Boston, Mass., and G. Bubear of London took place over the Thames championship course and was won by the Englishman by five boat lengths. The race was for the championship of England, The Sportsman's Challenge Cup and $1000 a side. The course was from Putney to Mortlake, being 4 miles 440 yards straight away. The Englishman had the course studied carefully from decades of practice and steered a perfect course. The windings in the river somewhat handicapped the American, who, however, rowed a plucky race all through. Only a fair crowd witnessed the event.

THE LEMON PRIZES.

York County Curlers' Tourney Ends in Richmond Hill's Victory.

Richmond Hill's rinks captured the Lemon curling stones, defeating York in the semi-final and Scarboro Maple Leafs in the final. Both events took place at Prospect Park yesterday, and were witnessed by many spectators.

The trophies were presented to the victors by Mr. Lemon at the Clyde Hotel after the contests. They must be won twice, but not necessarily in consecutive years before becoming a club's property. York was beaten as follows in the afternoon:

Curling Association Proceedings.

At a meeting of the committee of the Ontario Curling Association yesterday it was formally decided to abandon the City v. Province match as announced last week here. The reason ascribed is the refusal of the railways to grant the rates required.

Affairs in Tankard Group 9 are at present at a standstill owing to the protest against Moss Park by Markham. President Dr. Beeton will hand in his decision to-day. It is expected that Markham and Toronto will be ordered to meet and the winner to play off with the Caledonians for the final.

Granite Curlers' Program.

Four rinks from the Granite Curling Club go to Galt to-day to play matches with both the local clubs there.

Four rinks go to Brampton to-morrow afternoon to play a game with the Excelsiors there.

On Thursday the Peterboros are coming up to play the Granites a match with 12 rinks aside. Half the match will be played in the afternoon and half in the evening, and the time will be utilized playing matches of six rinks each with the Torontos and the Prospect Parks.

On Wednesday or Friday it is probable there will be a further match played on Granite ice for the Ontario Tankard between the Prospect Park club and its next opponents.

A couple of rinks from Bowmanville will meet a couple of rinks from Berlin some day during the week on Granite ice, and each of the teams will probably play a match with the Granites on the same day.

It is probable that the next game in the City Cup competition will be played next week, as the competition must be finished before Feb. 20.

Toronto Curlers' Engagements.

Next Saturday Buffalo Caledonians and Toronto curlers play for the Thompson Scoville Medal in Bisontown. Toronto's other arrangements for the week are: Peterboro will be here on Thursday. The Excelsiors of Brampton will be met at Brampton on Saturday week. A return match with the Hamilton Thistles will be played shortly, while a city Tankard competition is down for an early decision.

THE GAME WITH PUCK.

Victoria's Seven Defeat Toronto by 7 Goals to 3 on Granite Ice.

Victoria (7): Stevenson 4, Parkyn 2, Jones.
Toronto (3): Donaldson 2, Gale.

A hockey match in the Ontario Association series was played last night at the Granite Rink between Toronto and Victoria, which resulted in a victory for the Huron-street hockeyists by 7 goals to 3. There was a large number of spectators in the galleries, the majority of whom were disappointed at Toronto's failure to win. The Vics were in scoring mood and besides played well on the defence. They had their best team out and put up a game that the Granites will find it hard to surmount. The teams were:

Victoria (7): Goal, McVitty; point, Henderson; cover, Forsyth; forwards, Parkyn, Stevenson, Bedford-Jones, Cosby.

Toronto (3): Goal, McHardy; point, Windeyer; cover, Lamon; forwards, Donaldson, Gale, Creelman, Patterson.

Referee—J. F. Smellie, Osgoode.

Dominion Juniors' Victory.

A friendly hockey match was played at the Granite Rink last night between the junior sevens of the Dominion and Commerce bank teams. Dominion won by 5 goals to 2. The teams were as follows:

Dominion II. (5): Goal, Brought; point, Butler; cover, Clark; forwards, Bogart, Richardson, Lee, Gray.

Commerce II. (2): Goal, Roy; point, Ridout; cover, Noble; forwards, Logan, McMann, McCarthy, Mitchell.

Referee—W. Langtry, Toronto.

THE DUKE WASN'T THERE.

But Toronto Club Cricketers Held Their Annual Meeting All the Same.

The annual meeting of the Toronto Cricket Club was held last night in the Walker House, President Major A. M. Cosby in the chair. Mr. Duke Collins wasn't present. The secretary's report was read by Mr. Casey Wood and was very incomplete. It did not pretend to give the batting averages, and merely mentioned that Rev. F. W. Terry led the lot with an average of 32.11 for 20 innings, making 835 runs altogether, which, by the way, is the record for one season in Canada. Then came D. W. Saunders with 29.50, and P. C. Goldingham 22.73. Of the 44 matches played, 24 were won, 3 drawn and 7 lost.

The treasurer's report showed the club's finances to be in a somewhat deplorable state. Many plans were suggested whereby a remedy would be effected, and finally it was decided to hold another meeting next month and endeavor to evolve a suitable scheme. The officers were elected as follows:

President, A. M. Cosby; vice-presidents, G. G.S. Lindsey, D. W. Saunders, H. E. H. Vernon; secretary, J. S. Johnston; assistant secretary, S. C. Wood; treasurer, J. E. Hall; auditor, W. L. M. Lindsey; committee, H. J. Bethune, R. O. McCulloch, W. Jones, C. N. Shanly, C. Kingstone, W. R. Wadsworth, W. J. Fleury.

It was decided to engage a professional for next season. A notice of motion was introduced to have the club's colors changed. The special meeting will take place Monday, Feb. 20. Notwithstanding the untoward financial condition the T.C.C. expect to have a big season with plenty of matches on their University grounds and also the usual tours abroad.

Varsity Plays New Fort.

Varsity and New Fort met at the Victoria Rink yesterday afternoon. The collegians won easily by 14 goals to 2. The teams were:

Varsity (14): Goal, J. Gilmour; point, Wilson; cover, Burwash; forwards, W. Gilmour, Barr, Sheppard, Field.

New Fort (2): Goal, Baldwin; point, Logan; cover, Mitchell; forwards, Windeyer, Cooper, Donald, McKay.

POST ODDS AGAIN.

This Time He is Down in New Orleans—Failure of an Expected Coup.

The now notorious Post Odds, that was entered at the spring meeting of the Jockey Club here, but who was discovered to be a ringer before he was cut loose, turned up at the New Orleans winter meeting on Friday last.

It seems that those who controlled the horse were out for "hog killing," but their little plans were nipped in the bud.

In the fourth race a horse called Marksman was entered by E. Mackebee, but the racing governors could not identify the horse and he was scratched at the last minute and time given for a new book on the race to be made. Mackebee sent a telegram to William Brannon, Covington, Ky., and one to J. B. Brannon, Columbus, O., stating the horse was good and to play him heavily, which a special report from the pool rooms in both places indicated they did.

J. B. and William Brannon were ruled off in the famous Polk Badget and Caddo cases, and half a dozen well-known horsemen are positive the colors and marks of Marksman are the same as Post Odds, alias Caddo. E. Mackebee and a man named Caven, who is connected with him, were suspended until they can produce evidence to show that Marksman is not a ringer.

Goodwin's Annual.

The Annual Turf Guide for '93, published by Goodwin Bros., is now in hand and will be on the market the first week in February. This will be pleasing news to racegoers, who are every day asking for the Annual to look up this or that horse. The work this year contains 1600 pages, which makes it the most complete work of its kind ever published. Sixty-two hundred horses' names are indexed in it, telling in how many of the 10,002 races they ran. No less than 37 pages are devoted to the sales of thoroughbreds that took place at Tattersall's during the past year. This is a new innovation in The Guide and will be welcomed by turfmen in general, as they can without any trouble find the pedigree of the horse and the name of his buyer.

Gossip of the Turf.

A thief stole from Eugene Leigh's stable, near Lexington last week, the promising American Derby candidate Clifford, bay colt, by Vandal, dam Duchess. Leigh paid $4000 for him less than two months ago.

Mr. McKean, president of the Terre Haute Industrial Fair, writes Dr. McCully that in consequence of the change of dates in the Southwestern Circuit the closing of stake entries to their meeting has been extended to April 1. The original dates selected by Terre Haute were from Aug. 25 to 30, but they have been changed to Aug. 14 to 19. It is possible that Terre Haute will get quite a few Canadian entries.

Mr. Haines of Owen Sound, Canada, has sold to Joseph Duggan of Toronto the 2-year-old filly Stepping Stone, by imp. Shillingstone (son of Doncaster), out of imp. Zoonomy (dam of Foam), by Sterling or Oxford. Shillingstone was imported to Canada in 1887. Foam will be remembered as the 2-year-old of last year, who, though not much bigger than a jack rabbit, pulled off a big coup for his party at Brighton Beach, beating Sandowne, who was at 2 to 1 on, with the greatest ease.—Daily Spirit of the Times.

Baseball Brevities.

Mike Slattery, formerly of Toronto, is negotiating with Baltimore.

Ed Crane has already begun gymnasium practice. He has signed with New York.

The championship season of the National League will open the latter part of April.

Varsity have made their first fixture of the season with Cornell. They have completed arrangements to play in Ithaca on Monday, June 12. This will be the nucleus for the trip through New York State.

Doc, the Trotting Dog, is Still Alive.

BRIGHTON, Jan 30.—There is no truth whatever in the report that the famous trotting dog, Doc, was killed by a railway accident in New Jersey last week as has been published in many papers during the past few days. Doc has not been away from home since last November and is here now safe and well.

Notes.

Dave Nagle, a chore boy, fired bird shot out of a double-barreled gun at Jimmy Jenkins, the negro steeplechase jockey, at Guttenberg on Saturday, which nearly resulted in his death. The row was caused by a dispute near the betting ring, just before the last race. Nagle was arrested.

INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION.

A Well-Attended Meeting Held In Brockton Hall Last Evening.

An influential and interesting meeting was held at Brockton Hall last evening pursuant to proclamation of the Mayor. Ex-Alderman John Woods occupied the chair.

Mr. James Beaty, Q.C., briefly addressed the meeting and described the objects and aims of the association as set forth in the pamphlet recently published by the association on the subject.

He was followed by Mr. J. N. Blake, secretary of the association, who pointed out that similar associations throughout the American continent had been productive of wonderful civic and industrial development. He also pointed out the vast difference between the raw material and manufactured product, and urged Torontonians to secure the benefit of manufacturing our iron and other ores in this city.

Mr. Arthur Harvey, in an interesting and telling address, referred to the present position and vast potentialities of Toronto.

He was followed by Mr. J. R. Roaf, who impressed the meeting with the necessity of providing a large fire-proof hotel and offering inducements to tourists to visit Toronto.

Mr. McIntyre also addressed the meeting on the same line, and these resolutions were unanimously carried: Moved by Ex-Ald Charles L. Denison, seconded by Mr. Scott, That this meeting, having heard the explanations as to the aims and objects of the Toronto Industrial Association, heartily approve of the same, and request the Mayor and council of this city and the Governments of the Dominion and Ontario to render all assistance possible towards the establishment of the association and in carrying out its objects; and in the opinion of this meeting the City Council should render substantial financial aid to this association for the advancement of Toronto.

Moved by C. S. Wood, seconded by J. J. Graham, That in order to carry out the objects of the Toronto Industrial Association Mr. Richard Macdonell be chairman of the Canvassing Committee of this ward to select a committee and carry on an active canvass for subscriptions in aid of the Association.

Moved by Mr. Pocock, seconded by Mr. Macdonell, that in the opinion of this meeting the City Council should in every case give preference to tenders of manufacturers located in the city for city supplies.

After a vote of thanks to the chairman the meeting adjourned.

THE YOUNG POLITICIANS.

The Conservative Club Still Wrestling With the Trade Question.

The Young Conservatives met last evening at Shaftesbury Hall and continued discussion on the trade question. There were about 100 members present. The debate was participated in by Messrs. Smith, Gurophsky, Newcombe, Little, Cooper and Armstrong. It was hoped that a vote would be reached, but a motion to adjourn was carried, and the question will be taken up at next week's meeting.

The most important business transacted was the appointment of a committee to attend the annual banquet at Collingwood to-night. The following gentlemen were named on the committee: President Armstrong, J. H. McGhie, W. Starr, G. W. Bruce, A. G. McLean and F. C. Cross.

The Young Liberals.

There was a good attendance at the weekly meeting of the Young Liberals last evening, President McIntosh in the chair. The whole evening was devoted to the discussion of the impending local election, and a large committee, with an executive, was appointed to assist the Liberal candidate in the contest.

THREE ALLEGED BURGLARS.

The Authors of Several Larcenies Believed To Be Under Arrest.

Frank Dinning, 2 Clinton-place, and William Taylor and Harry Graham, 66 Jarvis-street, were arrested last night charged with breaking into the shops of Mitchell & McLean, 240 Yonge-street, and Samuel Trees, 42 Wellington-street east, Sunday afternoon. Three dollars, some pocket handkerchiefs and gloves were taken from McLean & Mitchell's and a pair of gold sleeve links and some postage stamps from Mr. Trees'.

A Big Bridge.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 30.—President Harrison has just signed a bill which authorizes Chicago men to construct over the Mississippi River at New Orleans the largest cantilever bridge in America. Surveyors and engineers will leave the city at once to begin preliminary operations, and within three years the $5,000,000 structure will be opened for traffic.

Mrs. M. Stephens of Albany, N.Y., writes us as follows: My stomach was so weak that I could not eat anything sour or very sweet, even fruit at tea-time would cause Heartburn, fulness or oppression of the chest, short breath, restlessness during sleep, and frightful dreams of disagreeable sights, so that I would often dread to go to sleep. With the use of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery this unpleasantness has all been removed, and I now can eat what suits my taste or fancy."

Cost $250 to Thaw Out the Pipes.

A small blaze at 4 p.m. yesterday in an unoccupied house at 114 Dundas-street, owned by J. Maxwell, occasioned $250 damage. The fire was caused by plumbers thawing out the water-pipes.

Do not delay in getting relief for the little folks. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator is a pleasant and sure cure. If you love your child why do you let it suffer when a remedy is so near at hand?

MOST BRILLIANT OF COMEDIES.

Marie Wainwright and a Fine Company Score a Great Success at the Grand—Lovely Gowns.

The wittiest of comedies, "School for Scandal," was played at the Grand last night by Marie Wainwright and her company. No more delightful performance has been given at the Grand Opera House for many a season. There is no other American star traveling who shows such a conscientious regard for the fitness of things dramatic as Marie Wainwright. Some of the English stars, like Willard and Barrett, show a similar regard for the picturesque and artistic in costuming and mounting, but American stars are as a rule lax where Miss Wainwright is most conscientious. The exquisite costuming utilitated the artistic feelings of the audience so much as to give an additional flavor to the good acting.

Marie Wainwright has never done a more delightful bit of characterization than her Lady Teazle. There was a delicious variety of mood, an airiness, a sparkle in the earlier scenes that carried the audience with her. She let her audience into her confidence, they understood her if Sir Peter did not. She was a tender, beautiful butterfly, whose heart had its artistic longings, whose soul craved experience and affection richer than that which was within her reach, a sphere wider than her own. Miss Wainwright, by the gentle refinement of her method, the nervous temperament restrained by art, gracefully accomplished this; and when in the later scenes her follies have brought their punishment, the sensations of sorrow and shame and repentance were expressed by Miss Wainwright in a manner that left no doubt of their sincerity. It was a performance full of delicate tints and touches.

Miss Wainwright's company has assimilated perfectly the spirit of the play. Mr. Barton Hill as Sir Peter gave a delightful performance: his work was full of light and shade. He overdid nothing but kept a perfect balance between the irascibility and the tenderness of the character. It was at once keen, intellectual and spontaneous. Mr. William Ingersoll's Charles Surface was a spirited, magnetic performance; while Mr. Hartwig's Joseph was sincere in its villainy, and in some of the most hypocritical scenes he displayed much delicate humor. Miss Eleanor Carey, a most beautiful woman, was a delicious Mrs. Candour, full of bright humor, in fact all the faculty of the "School" were good: Miss Blancke as Lady Sneerwell, Mr. Brooke as Crabtree, Mr. Elsner as Backbite and Mr. Brent as Snake.

Reilly & Woods.

Reilly & Woods' big aggregation of vaudeville artists held the boards at Jacobs & Sparrow's Opera House last night, the audience being unusually large. The company is stronger than ever, presents a very good bill of amusements and certainly deserves the applause which it receives. The entertainment opened with Nelsonia, who does some excellent juggling and intricate manipulations. John J. Burke and Miss Forrest are both superior comedians, the latter being moreover an adept with the gloves. Mr. Leslie's trained dogs come in for a share of the audience's attention, as do also the Borani Bros., who are grotesque contortionists are concerned. Miss Lily Laurel, the imitator of Lottie Collins, charmed the audience with her songs, while the Nelson Sisters, who were with Mr. Reilly last season, are better than when last seen here. The spectacular extravaganza "Hades and the 400," has been greatly improved since last season, and is a fitting ending to the evening's amusement. The performance will be repeated every night this week with Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday matinee.

"Erminie" Once More.

"Erminie" was produced at the Academy last night at popular prices in a manner satisfactory to those present. There are melodies and graces about "Erminie" that tend to make it the most popular of light opera and one that will never grow old. Miss Edith Bartou played the sentimental Erminie and Miss Essie Barton the contrasting and worldly Gavotte and were several times recalled. As the two thieves, George Traverner and Frank Nelson were comic in a fashion entirely pleasing to the audience. And the balance of the large cast did good work. This beautiful opera will receive two more performances.

The Musee.

The Musee has an excellent bill of novelties this week. In the lecture hall there is a reproduction of slave life before the war which interests everyone. Mlle. Aimee, an albino, does some extraordinary feats of mind-reading. In the theatre the Zubins do singing and dancing, A. W. Wilson, ventriloquist; Frank B. Sheridan, one of the authors of McGinty, and Annie Forrester in an amusing comedy sketch. The Calliope Quartet, in their cat song, and Riley and Wolfe, sketch artists, furnish one of the best bills that has been presented in the Musee.

At the Pavilion.

The Catholic Mutual Benefit Association's concert in the Pavilion last evening in aid of St. Michael's Hospital was largely attended, the Pavilion being comfortably filled. An excellent program was provided, the following artists taking part: Miss Marguerite Dunn, Mrs. Mackelcan, Mrs. Klein, Miss Sullivan, Mr. J. F. Kirk, Mr. George Fox, Mr. Frank A. Anglin and Mr. W. E. Ramsay. The singing of Mrs. Klein and Mrs. Mackelcan was particularly good. Miss Marguerite Dunn added to her reputation as one of the finest elocutionists in the Province.

The Ladies' Schubert Quartet.

Those who miss hearing this excellent quartet in Association Hall Thursday evening will lose a great treat. Their work has received the highest commendation alike from press and people. The nice balance and poise of parts, the exquisite blending of the rich voices has won for them hearty and merited applause wherever they have appeared. Their singing of "The Old Folks at Home" is a thing to be remembered. The concert is under the patronage of the Toronto Pastmasters' Association and will be largely attended by the Masonic body.

Dyllyn v. Jacobs.

It is alleged that Bernard Dyllyn, nee Barney Dillon of the Bowery, who sang the "Torreador" song with the Corinne company for two seasons, has brought suit against Mr. H. R. Jacobs for $10,000. The grounds of the suit are business slander and boycott. He claims that Jacobs was instrumental in his being fired from the Corinne company and has also "jonahed" him from getting other engagements. Mr. Jacobs will say nothing about the matter. Dyllyn attained unpleasant notoriety from his reputed habit of tarashing chorus girls.

Notes.

The Duff Opera Company will be the attraction at the Academy of Music next week.

The pupils of the Conservatory School of Elocution gave a recital in the Conservatory Music Hall last night. The attendance was large and the program an excellent one.

PURELY VEGETABLE—

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're a compound of refined and concentrated botanical extracts. These tiny, sugar-coated pellets—the smallest and the easiest to take—absolutely and permanently cure Constipation, Indigestion, Sick and Bilious Headaches, Dizziness, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels.

They cure permanently, because they act naturally. They don't shock and weaken the system, like the huge, old-fashioned pills. And they're more effective. One little pellet for a corrective or laxative—three for a cathartic.

They're the cheapest pills you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.

You pay only for the good you get.

A PUBLISHER IN COURT.

S. Frank Wilson Sued by Broker Sproule for Commission.

The case of Sproule v. Wilson, an action for payment of $400 commission, occupied the greater part of yesterday's session of the Assize Court. The action is brought by R. K. Sproule against S. Frank Wilson, publisher of Truth and The Home Journal, and hinges on the interpretation of the little word "get." Mr. Sproule, who is a broker at 11 1-2 Richmond-street, alleges that in June, 1892, he contracted with Mr. Wilson to negotiate a loan of $50,000 for him on his property, 73 to 81 Adelaide-street west. The agreement was verbal and Sproule's commission was to be paid when the publisher "got" the money. The North American Life Insurance Company was willing to advance the loan and Mr. Wilson made the verbal application for the amount, but withdrew from negotiations when he found himself unable to discharge a prior mortgage held by the Home Savings and Loan Company. Sproule claims that his part of the contract was fulfilled and demands reimbursement. Mr. Goldman, secretary of the North American Life Insurance Company, gave evidence as to Mr. Sproule's negotiations with his company, and Mr. James Mason, manager of the Home Savings & Loan Company, told about the loan procured by Wilson from his company by a mortgage on the Adelaide-street property.

This finished the plaintiff's case and then Mr. Wilson took the stand. He said that his Adelaide-street property was heavily encumbered. He had agreed with Mr. Sproule to pay him $400 commission to procure a loan of $50,000. Sproule at first wated $500, but agreed to $400. On the $50,000 he was to pay 5½ per cent., and when it was reduced to $40,000, 5 per cent. Mr. Wilson further stated that he had received no notification from the North American Life of the acceptance of his application.

The afternoon was taken up by the arguments of the opposing counsel, and in charging the jury Judge Rose took occasion to remove from their minds the aspersion that had been implied against Mr. Kerr, who, he said, in his negotiations with Mr. Sproule re the commission had acted as a business man. He had not, as might be thought, accepted money from the other side, but had acted honestly and in the interests of his company. The jury then retired and shortly after delivered a sealed verdict.

The Argument Adjourned.

In the case of Cook v. Fox, an action to recover $650, balance due on the sale of lot 115 Shaw-street, north of Bloor, the argument was adjourned till 10 o'clock this morning.

DISCUSSED BY THE BOARD.

Lake Shore-Road Transfer Will Be Taken Up By the County Council To-Day.

At a meeting of the Boaad of Works yesterday there were present Ald. Lamb, Chairman, and Ald. Bell, Burns, Small, Lynd and Maloney.

The only business taken into consideration was the agreement drawn up by the City and County Solicitors re the taking over of the Lake Shore-road by the city.

Substantially the agreement embodies the points conceded by both corporations at the conference of their respective committees Friday.

The one point on which the committees differed, viz., the respecting of the rights of the Mimico Electric Railway Company, has been completely ignored in the agreement.

The County Council will in all probability discuss the proposition of the city this morning.

CREDITORS' RELIEF ACT.

An Important Case Entered for Trial at Osgoode Hall.

A special case has been stated for argument before the Court of Appeal, the argument of which was fixed for yesterday, but late in the afternoon the case had not been reached. The question arises out of the construction of section 9, chap. 124 R.S.O., which is the Creditors Relief Act. The point to be settled is whether executions in the hands of the sheriff against a man at the time he makes an assignment for the benefit of his creditors should or should not have precedence. The case is stated by the Attorney-General of Ontario, who is represented by Æmilius Irving, Q.C. The interests of the Dominion Government are looked after by Christopher Robinson, Q.C., and the claims of private creditors by W. F. Walker, Q.C., of Hamilton.

FELL DEAD FROM HIS LOAD.

Tragic Fate of a Mimico Gardener In King-street.

S. Hall, a market gardener at Mimico, fell from a load of manure which he was driving opposite the Mercer Reformatory. J. M. Wood, who chanced to be in the vicinity, ran over to the fallen man and was surprised to find that he was dead. Death resulted from heart disease and not from the fall.

Not So Inhuman As Reported.

Mr. Huson Murray, solicitor for the Protestant Orphans' Home, writes respecting Alfred Thwaites, the young boy who was suffering from the effects of frozen hands and feet and was sent into the city from Mount Forest by Farmer Smith. Mr. Murray says the strictures on Smith were unjust, that he telegraphed the manager of the home when he put the boy on the train to meet him in Toronto, but the telegram arrived too late. He also states that Mr. Smith came to Toronto and visited the boy, who is getting along first-rate.

Lent Lectures at Trinity.

A course of lectures has been arranged for by the Reverend Professor Rigby on Thursday afternoons in Lent, in Convocation Hall, beginning on Feb. 16, the subject being "Early England, with special reference to its church history." This course will be a continuation of the Lent term lectures on English church history given last year which drew such large audiences. A schedule of the lectures will be issued forthwith.

Trinity's New Wing.

Trinity University Amateur Dramatic Club will give an entertainment in St. Andrew's Hall Feb. 2 in aid of the gymnasium fund. The work of convocation in connection with the proposed gymnasium and eastern wing seems likely ere long to bear practical results. Full plans and estimates have been obtained from the college architect, and the matter is likely to be advanced a further stage when the committee report to the meeting of the corporation shortly.

A Dinner Pill.—Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healthy nutriment it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions and convert the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia.

Another Cold Wave.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 30.—Another rigid wave, the coldest of the winter, is sweeping down from the far northwest. At 9.30 o'clock last night the register at Edmonton, N.W.T., was 44 degrees below zero. At the same hour it was from 30 to 38 degrees below zero at all points in Manitoba. The register at Cookstown, Fergus Falls and Moosehead was 30 below zero.

"August Flower"

I had been troubled five months with Dyspepsia. The doctors told me it was chronic. I had a fullness after eating and a heavy load in the pit of my stomach. I suffered frequently from a Water Brash of clear matter. Sometimes a deathly Sickness at the Stomach would overtake me. Then again I would have the terrible pains of Wind Colic. At such times I would try to belch and could not. I was working then for Thomas McHenry, Druggist, Cor. Irwin and Western Ave., Allegheny City, Pa., in whose employ I had been for seven years. Finally I used August Flower, and after using just one bottle for two weeks, was entirely relieved of all the trouble. I can now eat things I dared not touch before. I would like to refer you to Mr. McHenry, for whom I worked, who knows all about my condition, and from whom I bought the medicine. I live with my wife and family at 39 James St., Allegheny City, Pa. Signed, JOHN D. COX.

TIPS FROM WALL-STREET.

John J. Dixon & Co. received the following despatch over their private wire from Henry Allen & Co to-day:

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—There was terrific trading in the stock market to-day and the bears have scored many advantages. Whisky, the feature, tumbled nearly 10 points at the opening of the market. Later there was a recovery of three or four points, but this reflected merely a movement to cover up on the part of the traders short of the stock. A good many trustful people have been slaughtered. There is only mystery in the property. Official statements are given out which are met with denials from quarters entitled to belief. The situation is so serious only speculators with long purses dare touch the stock on the long side. Having slid from about 70 under 40, there seems now no good reason why it should not plunge down a good deal lower still. The whole market has suffered under the depressing influences of D C.F. stock. Some of the granger stocks, in which excellent buying orders have lately appeared, suffered in the melee. The demoralization induced by the shameless tactics of insiders striving to betray investors in D.C.F. and some other similar concerns reaches the whole market and is destructive of every hope for outside interests.

Wheat—There is an easier feeling in Ontario and Manitoba wheat to-day. White wheat, north and west, was bought at 65c and red at 65c. Spring wheat is nominal at 63c. No. 1 Manitoba hard is offering to-day, North Bay, at 87c, with 80c bid. No. 2 hard, above grade, offered at 89c, 84c bid. No. 2 frosted was wanted at 61c and No. 3 at 54c.

Rye—Very little doing. Quoted nominally at 51 to 52c outside.

Peas—Firm, buyers offering 59c for large or small lots west.

Oats—Higher. White oats were wanted at 29c west and at 32c on track. Mixed are quoted ½c lower.

Barley—No. 3 extra sold to-day at 38c outside. No. 2 and No. 1 are unchanged at 42c and 47c.

Buckwheat—Dull, at 42 to 43c east.

Bran—Firmer. Manitoba bran quoted at $16, delivered here. Ontario bran is quoted at $11 west and at $12.50 on track here.

Shorts—Quoted $12 west and $13 Toronto freights.

Flour—Nothing doing. Eastern buyers are bidding $3 for straight roller, and as holders are not accepting so low a figure no business is being done. Holders are asking $3.15 to $3.20, Toronto freights.

GOSSIP FROM CHICAGO.

John J. Dixon & Co. received the following despatch over their private wire from Walker & Co. to-day.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Wheat early was strong and higher. The cold wave throughout the winter wheat sections and the light shipments from India had a tendency to bring in some good buying orders. Then the visible supply showed a good decrease for first time on this crop. Cables, both opening and closing, came weak and lower, and in absence of outside support prices sagged off, closing at the bottom for the day. The early buying was for local account, while towards the close the house having eastern connections took the offerings. Receipts fair, clearances big.

Corn at the opening was much higher, but the offerings of long stuff eased it off and close is at the bottom of the day. New York houses were selling and local bulls also took profits.

Lighter receipts of hogs than expected and higher prices for same were the causes of sharp advance in provisions at the opening. The trading has been quite large. Dunham sold pork, probably 20,000 barrels. It was long pork. At the early decline John Cudahy took the offerings of pork, and later Dunham bought.

Ream sold large line of ribs.Ately Brothers took what lard was offered. Market is strong and indications point to a further advance.

R. Cochran received the following despatch from Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to-day:

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Wheat on the prospective cold weather and moderately steady cables rallied sharply and prices were tolerably well sustained until after the visible was posted. In the meantime an alleged French report indicating short yield this year had been received, but as the Paris market was weak it was not generally credited. Visible would have showed increase but for the burned elevators. Corn and oats opened strong, but weakened later on realizing sales and increase in visible. English corn markets strong and speculative sentiment still favors higher prices. Provisions strong without special features. Offerings too light to permit prices to sell off much.

FRANCIS' PATENT LOOP HOOKS AND EYES.

Edge Pattern. Flat Pattern.

There are two kinds of loops—one is for use on flat surface and the other on edges.

A fastener suitable for Ladies' and Children's Dresses and Cloaks, Capes, etc., the loop being the new feature. Made in all sizes.

"Kit" in Toronto Mail says: "This invention saves a wonderful lot of bother. Is one of the neatest things I have seen for a long time. They are quite invisible when the garment is hooked and are far more secure than the ordinary thread loops or other eyes. They will be a boon to dressmakers."

FOR SALE EVERYWHERE. 246
