Hon. Mr. Byrne introduced a bill to amend the New Brunswick Election Act. He explained that the object of the bill was to provide machinery for adding names to voters' lists which had been omitted by Revisors. After the lists have been prepared and forwarded to the Secretary-Treasurer, any man or woman qualified to vote could have his or her name added by making affidavit, setting forth the facts and forwarding the same to the chairman of the Board of Revisors. In the case of names omitted from voters' lists after the same had passed to the sheriff, provision was made for the issuing of certificates by the Secretary-Treasurer, which, on presentation to the Deputy Returning Officer, would give the right to vote.

Incorporation of Villages.

Hon. Mr. Byrne introduced a bill respecting the incorporation of villages. He said that the bill provided that areas consisting of 1,000 acres and having a population of 250 could become incorporated. A petition signed by forty ratepayers, after due notice had been given, would be forwarded to the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer, who, after taking a census, could declare the village incorporated and grant it a name. The Council of such villages would consist of three members to be elected annually, and they would be given powers with respect to administration of affairs of the village, similar to those contained in the Municipalities and Towns Incorporation Act. The officials to be appointed would be a Treasurer and an Assessor, and both offices could be filled by the one person. He said that he had prepared the bill in response to a demand which had come to him from different sections of the province, and he trusted it would have the careful consideration of hon. members.

Mr. Michaud introduced a bill to authorize the Town of Edmundston to borrow $25,000 for street and sidewalk improvement.

Hon. Mr. Robinson introduced bills to amend the Schools Act relating to the City of Moncton, also to enable the School Board of that city to issue debentures, also a bill relating to sewerage and marsh lands in the Parish of Moncton.

Mr. Dysart, on the order of the day being called, moved the adjournment of the debate on the motion to go into Supply, and it was made the order of the day for Tuesday next at 3 o'clock.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that it was proposed to take up a number of private bills in committee of the whole on Tuesday evening, and he trusted that members would have their bills ready. He said that when they returned to their duties on Tuesday he hoped they would be prepared for late evening sessions.

The House adjourned at 5.20 p. m., until Tuesday at 3 p. m.

C. E. F. HAS PASSED INTO HISTORY NOW

Transfer of All Remaining Units to Permanent Militia Has Been Made.

Ottawa, April 1.—Today marked the name "Canadian Expeditionary Force, passing into history of the official name "Canadian Expeditionary Force." Yesterday the transfer of all the remaining units under that designation to the permanent militia forces was completed and all that now remains is a glorious tradition of five and a half years' splendid service.

The C. E. F. had its birth early in August, 1914, when the order-in-council authorizing the raising of the battalions that trained at Valcartier, was issued. Since that time over half a million men were on its strength.

Only a few hundred men remain on the strength when the order was given to turn the remaining units into the permanent force.

MARRIED IN THE WEST.

Ralph Gilmore, Formerly of Stanley, United in Marriage to Miss Dorothy Parton, of Vancouver.

A Vancouver paper of recent date has the following account of the marriage in that city of Ralph Gilmore, formerly of Stanley, N. B., and a son of Maurice Gilmore, who was a well known engineer on the Intercolonial Railway:—

A quiet wedding took place at St. George's Church on Thursday afternoon, when Miss Dorothy Parton and Mr. Ralph Gilmore were united in marriage by His Lordship Bishop de Pencier, in the presence of about twenty friends. The bride, unattended, was given away by J. Frank Boyd, formerly of Abbottsford, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. M. H. Jackson. After the ceremony a reception was given the bride and groom at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd, 902 Twenty-third avenue west, when refreshments were served by Miss Vivian Peele and Miss Nora Stevenson. Mrs. Colby poured tea and Mrs. B. B. Smith cut the ices.

The groom enlisted with the 47th Battalion early in 1915 and spent over two years in France. He was seriously wounded on the Somme, and was a patient at the Annex in Vancouver for about a year. He took a course at the S. C. R. and is now employed at the Abbottsford Mill. The bride is one of the most popular young ladies in Abbotsford, and has been in the employ of the Royal Bank there for six years, having risen from stenographer to the position of assistant manager. After spending a few days in the city the happy couple will return to Abbotsford, where they will make their home.

Misses Alma and Gertrude Connors, daughters of Louis Connors, of Black's Harbor, are in the city en route to their home, after having undergone treatment at River Glade.—St. John Telegraph.

Most men dislike to visit their relatives almost as much as their relatives dislike to have them do it.

First to Give Peace-Time Value

$1365 F.O.B. CHATHAM WAR TAX EXTRA GRAY-DORT

Immediately the armistice was signed Gray-Dort executives began working towards a readjustment of motor car values.

Last fall we were able to put in production the present Gray-Dort—the first car to offer you leaping, peace-time value.

Overshadowing Other Light Cars

Ordinary light car standards did not satisfy us in building the Gray-Dort.

So we built a bigger and better motor—with 3½-inch bore and 5-inch stroke; with a heavy crankshaft—weighs 40 pounds, as against about 25 pounds in other light cars. Specially-designed, quiet valves; extra-large wrist-pins; extra-light, three-ringed pistons.

As in the motor, so it is throughout the chassis. A cellular-type radiator and extra big water jackets for cooling. *A heavy, safe steering gear which is unusually easy on the driver. Frame heavier and sturdier than the light car standard. Rear axle specially strong and fine—and built right under our supervision here in Chatham. The long springs are built here, too. *The gas tank is big and is placed in the rear for convenience and appearance. *The emergency brake is on a lever, as in big cars—and the brake lining is Thermoid.

Convenience has not been sacrificed to sturdiness in the Gray-Dort. *The side-curtains open with the doors as in cars costing $2000 and up, and they fit smoothly. *The tonneau has very much more leg-room. *A shorter, smarter cowl does the same for the driving compartment. The gears can be shifted with the pressure of two fingers. The brakes are positive in action. To drive a Gray-Dort is real pleasure.

Clothed in Beauty

Completing this high-grade chassis is a body wonderfully good-looking. The smooth lines do not force themselves upon your attention. They are not extreme. But always you are aware of their supreme good-looks. And Gray-Dort design is the type which remains in favor for many years.

And then the wonderful Gray-Dort finish! We have spent 60 years developing this finish for vehicles. It is applied as only master craftsmen can finish a job. It is lasting and lustrous. It is one of the outstanding features of the Gray-Dort.

*You will notice, too, the rather high hood with its many long, narrow, louvres. *The smart top, hand-tailored in our own shops. The French pleated upholstery. The full sweep of the heavy gauge fenders.

At $1365 the Gray-Dort will be the fastest selling car of the year. The output has been doubled. Yet there is every sign of a shortage. We advise you to see the Gray-Dort dealer now.

*Features marked with this asterisk are some of the improvements new to this Gray-Dort.

NEW YORK STRIKE HARBOR EMPLOYEES

Union Men Assert that Harbor Will Be Tied Up Completely Before Nightfall.

New York, April 3.—Traffic in New York harbor was still curtailed today by the strike of harbor employees, but the ferry lines, except those of the Erie and West Shore Railroad, were operating on virtually normal schedules. Railroad officials claimed that, while many tugs, lighters and barges were out of service, all danger of interruption of the food and coal supplies had been averted.

Union officials reasserted that the harbor would be tied up before nightfall, claiming that a misunderstanding in orders yesterday had prevented all the workers from joining the strike.

SEVERE FIGHTING ON POLISH FRONT

Bolshevik Attack in the Region of Lake Osveia Repulsed With Heavy Loss.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Warsaw, April 3.—The Bolsheviki launched attacks yesterday on both sides of the river Dvina, apparently in the beginning of their threatend drive on the northern front designed to carry them in the direction of Vilna. Fighting at various points on this front is reported in the Lettish communiques today.

One of the Lettish statements announces the repulse of a Bolshevik attack in the region of Lake Osveia.

The fighting is reported particularly severe in the region of Dedinoz along the northern banks of the Dvina.

The Bolshevik forces attacked the Polish lines in the region of Lepel, east of Vilna and north of Borisov, on Thursday, but were repulsed, according to an official despatch issued at army headquarters here.

RESENTS INSULT TO COUNCILLORS

Mr. Mersereau of Sunbury Takes Northumberland Co. Member to Task.

At a meeting of the municipalities committee of the Legislature on Thursday afternoon when an important bill effecting the finances of municipal councils was under discussion Dr. McGrath, of Newcastle, in the course of his discussion, cast a reflection upon the business ability of councillors by referring to them as "Moss Backs."

Mr. Mersereau, who is a councillor for Sunbury, jumped to his feet to resent the insult. He said: "I take exceptions to the uncalled for remarks of the gentleman from Newcastle. There are just as substantial and business like men in our council as are found in any group of men, business or professional. It is no wonder the people of the country are turning against this overnment when one of its members gets on its feet and makes such a remark. And, sir, I shall have more to say about it on the floors of the House."

Miss Marjory Linden, of Newcastle, is at the Queen Hotel.

Miss Mary Farrell, of the Campbellton school staff, is spending the Easter holdiays with her sister, Mrs. Jas. Barry, King street.

DORCAS LIKELY TO ASK REINSTATEMENT

that he was not drunk at the time; and asked when he thought a man drunk, he stated that a man was drunk when he was down and couldn't get up. When asked how he connected his statement with the condition of the other employees whom he said were drunk, but who were able to get around, he said they were "very near drunk." When asked how he came to be arrested he stated that he had been summond to appear as a witness against the other employees and while on the way here he was arrested as a thief. His story was unchanged by a vigorous cross-examiantion.

CONRAD'S "VICTORY"

One by one the best works of the modern masters of fiction are finding their way to the screen. Joseph Conrad's great novel, "Victory," has been made into a motion picture by Maurice Tourneur and will be shown at the Gaiety for two days, commencing Easter Monday, April 5th.

In the picturization of "Victory" Mr. Tourneur was right in his element. He has lately given to the screen such thrilling and massive productions as "Sporting Life," "The White Heather," and "The Life Line," the latter founded upon the famous "Romany Rye." Like most of Conrad's novels, "Victory" is a story of the sea, laid in the South Sea islands. The hero is the son of an expatriated Swedish baron, drifts to the South Pacific and after some thrilling encounters with a group of unscrupulous adventurers who seek the supposed fortune he possesses wins the love of the girl whom he rescued from her brutal master. It is a picture of the sea in her changing moods, of red-blooded men and women, and has the fascinating, exotic flavor of all the Conrad tales. In the cast are such favorites as Jack Holt, Seena Owen, Lon Chaney, Wallace Beery, and Bull Montana.

NO TRACE YET OF THE MURDERER

morning that he considered it quite probable that the murderer had escaped without assistance as desribed and in support of the theory said that Clark had appeared demented and melancholy during the time he was in the hospital. Moreover, he recalled that it had come out during the coroner's inquest into the death of Phoebe Bell that Clark had obtained a lot of information about the falls and had appeared to be fascinated by the great waterfall in many ways.

Moreover, Dr. Puddington upset prevalent theories when he declared that Clark was in a physical condition which would have made it possible for him to escape unaided from the hospital. While the report had been taken to the Attorney General's office at Fredericton that Clark was in a serious state and would not be able to be removed from the hospital for at least thirty days, Dr. Puddington declared this morning to The Gleaner that Clark had never had an elevation of either pulse or temperature and the bullets he had fired into his own breast had not hit any vital tissue. "He has been eating like a horse," declared Dr. Puddington.

Another Man in Same Room.

Constabale Allan McLaughlin, who took charge of Clark and the situation at the Bell residence immediately after the shooting, declared this morning that he felt absolutely certain Clark had assistance in making his escape from the hospital. He was sure, he said, that the murderer had escaped out of the window and that a bench had been used in helping him down from the roof.

In the same room with Clark was another patient, a man named William Watson, who had been operated upon, and McLaughlin says that so far he has been unsuccessful in getting much information from him. Watson, it is understood, says he heard some noise behind the screens which encircled Clark's bed, but that is about all he has said so far. The nurses at the hospital have made conflicting statements so far as to the time when they last know Clark was in the hospital, but this may be explained by the fact that the bed had been made up by the use of pillows so as to make it appear as if it was occupied.

Clark's Brothers Start A Story That Murderer Was Kidnapped From Hospital

Investigators Don't Put Much Stock in Story and Believe He Will Be Found in Some Out-of-the-Way Place Along Boundary—Escaped Through Open Window.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Grand Falls, N. B., April 3.—That Newman Clark escaped out of a window from the ward on the second floor of Dr. Puddington's hospital sometime on Thursday night—and not by making his way down the main stairs of the hospital—was pretty well established this morning by Constable Allan McLaughlin, who has been in charge of the case from the outset.

At noon today Constable McLaughlin said a nurse had been stationed in the hall outside the room all night, and Clark could not have got out that way without her knowledge. There is still much mystery as to what time Clark escaped, but it seems the last time he was actually seen in his bed was not very late in the evening, and it was fairly well along on Good Friday morning when it was definitely announced he was not there.

The three brothers of Clark, who were here some days ago and left here on Thursday, returned again last night on the same train which brought Sheriff Albion Foster of Carleton county here. They expressed the belief this morning that Newman had been kidnapped by persons wishing to make way with him and said they did not expect him to be found alive. This story has not caused the investigators to ease up in their efforts, which they expect will show he was assisted in escaping from the hospital and is now at some out-of-the-way place along the boundary line.

Newman Clark, according to the coroner's inquisition, held before George Ryan, was found guilty of having caused the death of Phoebe Bell, at Grand Falls, on Thursday, March 25th, but the coroner failed to issue a warrant for the man's apprehension. The next step was the laying of the information by Allan McLaughlin, provincial constable, before James P. Kelly, charging Clark with the murder. After taking the information, James P. Kelly issued a warrant for the apprehension of Clark, and it was delivered to Jeremiah Sullivan, a constable in Grand Falls, for execution. In the meantime, it is reported that the Magistrate wired the Attorney-General advising him of the crime and for instructions, but no reply was made to the magistrate. In the interim Clark was an inmate of the Grand Falls hospital, merely as a patient, not as a prisoner, and without guard.

Constable McLaughlin went to Fredericton on Thursday to get instructions from the Attorney General and was advised to have a continuous guard kept over Clark, but on Friday morning the murderer was missing. Sheriff Tibbits is ill at Andover and thus has been unable to take any part in the case.

CANADA'S TAXATION.

Whatever adjustment of taxation may be made, and there is reason to change the incidence, it is abundantly clear that no reduction can be effected for a long time. Even rigid economy can touch such small items that in the aggregate the saving would be insignificant, unless a long pursued policy in respect of important services is abandoned, says the Montreal Gazette. The main estimates of expenditure on revenue account for the coming fiscal year call for $440,496,000, only $11,233,000 less than the appropriations for the year just ended, a cut of about 2½ per cent. Of this large amount, quite one-half has arisen out of the war. There is, for instance, interest on public debt which, including sinking funds on pre-war issues, will absorb $141,281,000; approximately the same total of the whole Dominion expenditure seven or eight years ago. The debt, moreover, has not reached its apex, as it will be necessary for the Finance Minister to go into the money market again before many months to meet excess expenditure and obtain the means of discharging obligations arising out of demobilization, railway construction and equipment, and merchant shipbuilding. In a year or two interest on public debt will consume about $16,000,000 of revenue, practically as much as is now derived from Customs duties. Sooner or later, too, provision should be made for sinking funds on the Victory Loans, if a beginning is to be made in paring down the large debt.

How great a part the war has played in the creation of debt and expenditure is revealed in the following figures:

Interest on debt	$142,281,000
Pensions	27,520,000
Land Settlement	50,017,000
Re-establishment	34,000,000
Total	$253,818,000

In 1914 interest on the public debt did not exceed $12,000,000, so that virtually the whole expenditure comprised in the foregoing figures is a legacy of the war. It reaches nearly 60 per cent. of the total estimated expenditure on revenue account, and in respect of 70 per cent. is fixed and practically permanent. The amount appropriated for settlement of soldiers on land being principally in the nature of advances, it may be recouped to the Treasury in time, and there is reason to expect that the considerable item set apart for soldiers' civil re-establishment, $34,000,000, will not be of long continuance, an anticipation encouraged by the fact that the appropriation is $38,368,000 less than was made for the current year. This expenditure has general sanction as an obligation of the country to the maimed men, and the money will not be begrudged; what may be insisted upon is economy in administration, this item making up a large portion of the appropriation. The amount asked for demobilization is not much more than one-tenth the vote for the year now ending, $38,463,000, against $350,000,000, and with the coming year the item should disappear.

All told, Canada's federal expenditure in the new year is placed at $537,149,000, a decrease of $363,702,000, due almost entirely to the near completion of demobilization. It is a large figure. On revenue account alone the expenditure works out at about $50 per head of population, but there are bright lights in the picture. The appropriation in connection with demobilization and soldiers' settlement, $122,000,000, is on a descending scale, and in a year or two will, in ordinary course, disappear, while a revote of $13,310,000 to provincial governments to encourage the erection of dwelling houses may be treated as an investment, and is not likely to be repeated. The financial position of the Government is improving, but it will be a long time before a much can be said of the taxation.

HONORS FOR A MECHANIC.

A telegram from Belfast notes that John Moir, of that city, has been appointed a member of the Order of the British Empire for making a "world's record" by driving 11,200 rivets in a standard ship in nine hours on June 15, 1918. This is said to be the first time that a shipyard worker has figured in a civil honor list. To be sure, this order is one of those created especially for the purpose of stimulating effort in winning the war.

Inexperience, particularly in the present generation, in almost every duty of a citizen save that of providing for his own (as admonished—we admit—by Scripture) is probably the reason why recognition of the usefulness of any rewards save money prizes has been so slow in other countries. The man who drove more than eleven thousand rivets in nine hours may have found part of his recompense in the pleasure of the athlete in his performance. But at least he drove his own work ostensibly for his country's good, and while his new decoration may not prove him actually more patriotic than many of his fellows, it ought to make him a little better man to realize how he came by it.

And this is the folly and sin of the slacker's policy, that it refuses to admit that one man should be acknowledged to be a "better man" than another. We all know that men vary in capacity. The pretence that it is necessary to level effort downward for the sake of the least competent is too false and flimsy to stand honest examination. And if one wishes to do his work, whatever it is, "on honor," he must not refuse honest discussion, nor an honest conclusion.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Attorney General proceeded hastily to Grand Falls this morning to ascertain, if possible, who is responsible for the getaway of Newman Clark, who was under arrest on a charge of murder. There are suspicions that some one, or perhaps more than one, in a position or positions of trust assisted the alleged murderer to escape, and inquiry and prompt action are necessary in such a situation. It is well that the machinery of the Justice Department has been set in motion quickly; but there is something lacking in the control of the affairs of the Department and in the general organization when the Attorney General feels it is necessary for him to go to Grand Falls in his official capacity to undertake detective work, and then to investigate. The capture of the escaped prisoner is the first duty. When that is done, there must be a thorough investigation of the conditions under which it was possible for the prisoner to get away, and the responsibility placed. A situation which calls the Attorney General to do what he is now doing as the first law officer of the Crown suggests that his department has run amuck.

ARRESTS AT CALAIS FOR SMUGGLING

St. Stephen, N. B., April 2.—Arrests were made last night in Calais of a young Jew named Miller, a news agent on the Maine Central, running between Calais and Bangor, and another young lad from St. Stephen, charged with taking liquor into the United States. They are said to have been operating between the border towns for some time, making use of the ice bridge. Both lads were taken to Portland, Me., where they will be arraigned before a United States commission.

ST. CROIX RIVER AT FRESHET PITCH

St. Stephen, April 2.—The St. Croix river is at freshet height, but no damage has resulted and none is contemplated, for, like everything else on the border, the river conducts itself decently and in order. One boom of logs broke away during Wednesday night, and boatmen did a thriving business for a few hours picking up the logs that came below Ferry Point bridge. The logs belong to the St. Croix Paper Co.

WOODSTOCK LATH MILL WAS BURNED

Woodstock, N. B., April 2.—Early this morning fire broke out in McDade's lath mill and the building was totally destroyed. The mill was a new one and well equipped for the manufacture of laths. The operations were carried on night and day and the loss at this time is severe. No insurance was carried on the property. The mill will be rebuilt and workmen are already clearing away the ruins.

CLUE TO OTTAWA BANK ROBBERS

Picture in Rogue's Gallery Identified as One of Men Who Held Up Bank in N. S.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 3.—Although the police have in their possession the name of one of the men who is believed to have been one of the trio who Thursday afternoon held up the Chapel street branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia and got away with upwards of $1,000, no arrests have yet been made.

The teller at the bank, Mr. W. Scott, has identified a picture in the rogues' gallery at police headquarters as that of the man who secured the money from the cashier's cage and they are scouring the neighboring districts for some trace of the bandits, but so far without success.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

New York, April 3.—Increases of 25 per cent in the rates for burglar insurance in New York city, and 35 per cent. in nearby territories, were put into effect yesterday by indemnity and surety companies here, following a secret meeting of underwriters last night. Officials stated the increase in robberies here and elsewhere since the first of the year was the principal reason for the action.

EDMONTON HAS HOUSING PROBLEM

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Edmonton, Alta., April 3.—Edmonton needs five hundred new houses this year. That is the estimate placed on the city's housing requirements by several of the rental agencies here. "There is no doubt but that we will need that many new houses before the end of the year," declared one agent who handles hundreds of houses and apartments.

Miss Eloide Fisher, who has been confined to her home for some weeks through illness, is able to be around again.

Major and Mrs. Rowe, of St. John, are spending the Easter holidays here and will leave next week for Calais to spend some days.

RUSH TO CANADIAN SUMMER RESORTS

American Tourists Turn Their Eyes Northward to Land of Cooling Drinks.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

New York, April 3. — "It looks as though there was going to be a slump in summer cottages on this side of the line in spite of the scarcity of housing accommodations," a local real estate man said recently. "Why should a man spend a totally 'dry' vacation in some American summer resort when he can go up to Canada at practically the same expense and enjoy cooling summer beverages of the good old-fashioned kind?" he queried by way of explaining his previous statement.

This real estate man reports a rush of inquiries regarding the Canadian summer resorts. He declares that many wealthy New Yorkers have already obtained options on cottages at Canadian resorts and will send their families to them and run up themselves as often during the summer as their business permits and thirst or inclination impels.

Representatives of Canadian railways here also report an unusually active demand for information regarding summer resorts in Canada and they look for a greatly increased exodus of Americans to the Dominion this summer for temporary residence. While they hesitate to attribute this to a general desire to escape the drought, they report that they had met New Yorkers who frankly admitted that they wished to spend their holidays where they could obtain stimulating refreshment without taking a chance on wood alcohol.

Evidently many Canadians are alive to the possibilities of the situation. Recent Sunday editions of New York newspapers contained an advertisement of a summer cottage near Toronto for rent. It was not the charm of the scenery, the nearby golf course, the pleasant neighborhood, or the advantage of all modern conveniences that was emphasized in the advertising. "No prohobition restrictions," was the inducement offered to prospective tenants. And, if the local railwaymen and real estate agents are correct, that ad. most likely brought a lot of applications to the owner of the cottage.

FROM THE PEOPLE

A DANGEROUS BRIDGE.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Seeing in your interesting columns that you discuss questions of interest in the People's Column, I thought I would write, asking what the public at large think of a man holding a position and spending the people's money supposedly for the safety of the people and yet leave the public road in such a condition as to be a danger to all travellers.

Such a case has come to my notice in a place called East Waterville. A bridge in that place was started last November, and left in such a condition as to be a danger. I was told that the old bridge was taken out and new stringers were put in and covered with rock, some as big as cabbages, left in the covering, so that wagons were broken in trying to cross. It wasn't covered with dirt or brush, as is usually the case. Now this bridge is at the foot of a steep hill and only about 17 feet wide and yet was left without railing or protection of any kind at the sides. Anyone driving over in the dark is as apt to go over the side as anywhere, with a fall of 18 feet before them.

Now, Mr. Haines passed this bridge, called it safe for the public. How would he like to cross it on a dark night? Or does he think that if the people knew he was coming they would hang a red lantern on the one post as a danger signal. Well, from what I heard I don't think they would, as they seem to think if he went over he would be more careful of how he left things to be a danger to the people, whose money he spent in building this man-trap. When spring opens it will be impossible to get around this place, as on one side is a side hill, all plowed, and on the other side is a deep gully impassable in spring on account of the deep water.

Now, I read a speech Mr. Veniot made at a supper in which he said: No man need run to him for an office, but if he had a job he would give it to a follower of his party.

Well, that would be all right if the man understood his business.

It is the people's money that is being spent, and it is simply wasted on a job like this, and a disgrace to a man that would pass it as a bridge safe for the public.

This bridge stands as a mute witness of how some of the public money is being wasted.

Yours truly,
TRAVELLER.

East New Bridge, N. B., April 1, 1920.

"TELL ME WHERE IS FANCY BRED."

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—An interesting question is, Would Poe have produced his wonderful works of genius had he been a teetotaller? Very likely "he never wrote when he was drunk," but how about receiving his inspiration?

Now, as any artist knows inspiration is never so likely to come as when he is—I will not say drunk, but—exhilarated, hence it is that from time immemorial the poet, the painter and the musician have been lovers of the wine cup. Had Poe not been so it is almost certain, I think, that The Raven and the Fall of the House of Ussher would never have been conceived. I do not suggest for a moment that an artist of whatever kind when he comes to execute is not better perfectly sober, but in order to set his fancy germinating at its best he must have a stimulant.

Yours,
F. M.

Woodstock, March 31, 1920.

MISPLACED SYMPATHY.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I would like to say a few words to the young chap, S. M., who likes to sit among smokers but don't like the smoke. Some might suggest that he wear a gas mask, for it would be a shame for this poison drug to enter his system. Now, I would suggest that he be a man among men, or join a ladies' sewing circle, but even then everything might not be as sweet as he would like. It is hard to have everything as we would like in this world, but thank goodness we can still smoke.

Yours,
ONE WHO SMOKES.

Mr. Peck of Albert Has His Say On Budget For Benefit Of the Provincial Treasurer

Contribution to the Budget Debate That Attracted Much Interest —Premier Foster Told He Had Better Shake Off the Barnacles from His Political Ship.

In the Budget debate that has been going on in the Legislature there have been few speeches received with more general interest by the members of the House, or the galleries either, than that delivered late on Wednesday evening by Mr. Peck, of Albert

Hon. Robert Murray, the provincial secretary-treasurer, had in his budget speech made an onslaught upon Mr. Peck's knowledge of financial matters, and after the member for Albert had his "come back" it was generally conceded that the honors rested with him. Whether the feud between the two rotund members will become as noted as the famous Murphy-Rowell combat that has lasted for several years at Ottawa is not known, but Mr. Peck has at least given the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer some questions which will occupy him during Easter, if he is to prepare answers that will stand the acid test.

Not only did Mr. Peck show conclusively that as much as $450,000 had been lost to the province on the latest bond issue by failure to take advantage of the exchange situation—producing evidence to substantiate his statements—but he gave the Provincial Secretary some valuable "tips" on how to float provincial bond issues in a popular way that would yield the greatest returns. His description of the speeches made from the Government side last session when the resolution to expel certain members of the Opposition was brought in, caused roars of laughter, and Mr. Peck expressed the opinion that the charges against Hon. William Currie were the only ones that had been actually proved by the many investigations that had been held.

This brought Mr. LeBlanc, of Restigouche, to his feet with a protest. "The first words of the report are that Murchie lied," declared Mr. LeBlanc heatedly.

"Ah, g'wan," was Mr. Peck's laconic reply; and once more the House was in laughter. No further reply to Mr. LeBlanc was needed, and he made no more interruptions.

Mr. Peck wound up his remarks by telling Premier Foster that he was a very fine young man and might be trying to do the best he could, but that he should "shake off the barnacles and get some new cabinet timber." Everybody seemed to know just who the member for Albert was referring to. He sat down amidst applause from both sides, the members generally appreciating in his contribution a cleverly delivered speech, after declaring he was going to leave the problem of how much a goose knows about geometry for the Provincial Secretary himself to solve.

Province's Losses on Bond Issue.

Mr. Peck at the outset said that since occupying a seat in the House he had used his influence on behalf of the county of Albert. The Premier had said a lot of time had been wasted in speeches on the Address, yet he had read newspaper clippings and had himself taken up a lot of time.

The Provincial Secretary had made an onslaught on him (Peck) because of a reference which he had made to a sale of bonds. In 1918 he had pointed out that $1,000,000 of bonds which the government had sold at 96 had afterwards been turned over at 106. The next issue was at the rate of six per cent., and had been disposed of at par. It was only after criticism by the Opposition that the second loan had been placed on the market and taken up by the small investors. The government was seeking authority to sell bonds to the amount of $650,000 for permanent bridges. He believed those bonds should be in small denominations and sold to the farmers and the small investors of the province. As it was not a party question, every member should take hold and help. The Minister of Lands and Mines should commend those bonds to the lumbermen, who would have plenty of money in the fall. The Minister of Agriculture might persuade the farmers to purchase them. With reference to the Minister of Public Works, the general impression prevailed that he was the spendthrift of the administration. He (Peck) claimed that the government had made a bungle in selling bonds to the value of $2,282,000, payable in New York, at a time when the exchange rate was rising against Canada. Those bonds had been bought up quickly at 96, and had drifted into American hands while the door was open. He claimed that $200,000 had been lost on that transaction. A practical bond dealer had informed him that he was absolutely correct in his statements. He had purchased one bond at 99½ and had afterwards sold it for $100 in American funds. He had deposited the money in the bank and had been paid a premium of 14½ per cent. Had the government taken the same course, they would have made $450,000 on the transaction. He had the coupon and the bank receipt, which he could produce in support of his statement.

The Tone of Debate.

The Provincial Secretary had made an attack on him, and he thought at the time that he was trying to intimidate a young member of the House. Undignified language had been made use of by the Provincial Secretary. He (Peck) had been referred to as a "wizard" and a "sucker." At a time when Mr. Speaker was doing his best to raise the tone of the debate the Provincial Secretary was lowering the dignity of the House. It was no wonder that the report went broadcast that the Foster government was weak when it was composed of such material. The Provincial Secretary had not spoken but had a typewritten speech he could not even read well. On one occasion he had soared off and had thrown across the floor of the House an insinuation concerning Patriotic Potatoes. He (Peck) had heard a discussion on Patriotic Potatoes during the last session, and had concluded that there was nothing in it. Certainly it had not been shown that any hon. member had benefited from the transaction. The member for Westmorland had stated on that occasion that his course was being watched by 50,000 eyes. A member for Northumberland had spoken with such a sad face that he (Peck) would also have become sad had not the member for York informed him that he had known the other member for 38 years and he merely was playing politics. Other members had expressed their views, the curtain went down, and the matter had not been heard from again until mentioned by the Provincial Secretary.

In regard to the Patriotic Fund tax of $118,000, he said it had been assumed by the province, and he told how the money had been disposed of. He would like to remind the Provincial Secretary that in 1918 the Westmorland County Council had refused to pay its share, and had not yet paid it. That being so, he would like the hon. minister to state where he had obtained the $118,000 which he claimed was put into current assets. He (Pec) had been told if he had any charges to make they would be investigated. He knew something of the history of past investigations. They had put thousands of dollars into the pockets of defeated candidates and friends of the Foster administration. There would be no investigation for him. In regard to the Currie investigation the province owed a debt and other wounds and sores on horses and cattle. It will also cure Eczema, Burns, Bruises, Ring Worm or Run-round, Open Sores, etc. The best results will be obtained if the sore is first washed with NATIONAL DISINFECTANT.

National Liquid Gall Cure

NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE has been used for years by some of the largest Lumbering Concerns, and Railroad Contractors. OUR GUARANTEE: "We will see that your money is refunded if National Liquid Gall Cure does not cure any ailment for which it is recommended as quickly as the purchaser thinks it should." And we have never had to make a refund. Below are two testimonials given us voluntarily:

I have a valuable team horse that had a bad cut on her ankle for about a year. I used all the remedies that I had any faith in, but was not successful in healing the sore. When we worked her in the mud in the woods last fall the ankle got worse and it looked as though we would have to lay her up. Mr. Miller recommended me to use NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE and it effected a complete cure quickly, although we worked her steadily in mud. The first time I saw Mr. Miller after coming out of the woods, I remarked to him, "You cannot recommend NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE too highly."

You are at liberty to use this testimonial which is voluntarily given and without remuneration, in advertising NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE.

(Signed) ASA D. KENNEDY,
March 1, 1916. Hartland, N. B.

I have a valuable driving mare that has been unfit to drive or work much of the time for two or three years with Chronic Scratches. About two months ago I began washing her legs with NATIONAL DISINFECTANT and applying NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE. Within a few days the swelling began to go down and in two weeks her legs were normal in size. The cracks which had been sore and bleeding at times for two years were entirely healed within a month. Several ridges of a substance as hard as horn entirely disappeared, and I consider the cure made by NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE permanent. I had tried every remedy I heard of without effect, till I was advised by Estey & Curtis Co., Ltd., to apply NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE. I would willingly have agreed to give anyone $50.00 who would have guaranteed such a cure as NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE has effected. This is a voluntary testimonial and given with remuneration and Estey & Curtis Co., Ltd., Hartland, N. B., are at liberty to use it in advertising NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE.

MR. PECK OF ALBERT SPEAKS ON BUDGET

to ex-Attorney General Baxter, as the charges had been proved.

Mr. LeBlanc—"Does my hon. friend say that the charges against Mr. Currie had been proven? He was absolutely misinformed. The first words of the Commissioner's report stated that Murchie was lying."

Mr. Peck, continuing, said he would leave the Provincial Secretary to tell the House what a goose knew about geometry, as he was better adapted for that than for the duties of Provincial Secretary.

Bye Roads Are Neglected.

The Minister of Public Works was spending a lot of money on the roads, although he was doing some good work. The rural roads in some parts were in a bad state, and the farmers talked of abandoning their farms and moving out to the auto roads. He regretted that the Minister had not been able to persuade the Federal Government to take over the roads, as had been done by British Columbia. The finances of the province were in an alarming state and the debt now totalled $22,000,000. He had a suggestion to offer, which he thought the government should act upon. Nine-tenths of the stockholders of banks doing business in the province lived outside it. The banks paid 3 per cent. on deposits. He believed they should be compelled by law to carry a certain amount of the bonds of the province and allow interest at the rate of 5 per cent. The government had a deficit in 1919 of $337,686, and strange to say were showing it on the books as an asset.

The matters he had outlined were of a kind upon which all could unite. It was an age of reconstruction. In New Brunswick, development of water powers was the most important question of the day and should not be a matter of party politics. He recently had been in Ottawa and had observed the wonderful results of the application of hydro-electric development. The reference which had been made to water power developmnt in connection with the introduction of the Water Power Bill, he agreed with, but he regretted that no reference had been made to the great dam at Hopewell Cape and the possibilities of developing power in that section of the country. Another matter of importance was that of St. John harbor development. Lumber destined for overseas was held up there in considerable quantities by lack of facilities. If there were not an improvement, this lumber must go elsewhere. Even at the present time some lumber was being shipped to England by way of Boston. The Federal subsidy was another matter of importance and it was a fact recognized by all that New Brunswick had not received her full share of the value of the northwest lands. In connection with this matter he had a word of advice to give to the Premier, and that was the next time he went to Ottawa as a member of a Better Terms Delegation, not to rush at first into a Liberal convention and have the word sent out that that was what he went for. If he received the same treatment there which he gave to his opponents, this province would get very little. The Premier was a young business man who should be of value whether in Opposition or in the Government. What he should do, however, was to gather about him the best men obtainable, shake off the barnacles and get new cabinet timber.

EAST LEADS WEST FOR HOCKEY TITLE

Ottawa's Victory Fourth of Seven Decisive Series Won by the East.

Ottawa's victory over Seattle at Toronto in the deciding game of the Stanley cup series put the East in the lead over the West in the number of world's series titles won.

The series was the eighth meeting between representatives of the East and the West, and up to least year each of the two leagues had broken even. The 1919 series was unfinished, Canadiens being tied with Seattle with two games each and the fifth not being played because of 'flu breaking out in the camp of the two teams, the late lamented Joe Hall being fatally attacked while Malone, Lalonde and other players were seriously ill.

This year's series was thus the rubber meeting. Ottawa won the first two and the last game, and in the total scoring led by 15 to 11 goals, there being a smaller number of goals scored than in any series since 1914, as the following record of world's series games since they were inaugurated in 1913 shows:

1913—At Victoria:
Victoria 7, Quebec 5.
Victoria 3, Quebec 6.
Victoria 6, Quebec 1.
Total goals, Victoria 16, Quebec 12.
1914—At Toronto:
Toronto 5, Victoria 2.
Toronto 6, Victoria 5.
Toronto 2, Victoria 1.
Total goals, Toronto 13, Victoria 8.
1915—At Vancouver:
Vancouver 6, Ottawa 2.
Vancouver 8, Ottawa 3.
Vancouver 12, Ottawa 3.
Total goals, Vancouver 26, Ottawa 8.
1916—At Montreal:
Canadiens 0, Portland 2.
Canadiens 2, Portland 1.
Canadiens 6, Portland 1.
Canadiens 5, Portland 6.
Canadiens 5, Portland 1.
Total goals, Canadiens 15, Portland 13.
1917—At Seattle:
Seattle 4, Canadiens 8.
Seattle 6, Canadienes 1.
Seattle 4, Canadiens 1.
Seattle 9, Canadiens 1.
Total goals, Seattle 23, Canadiens 11.
1918—At Toronto:
Toronto 5, Vancouver 3.
Toronto 4, Vancouver 6.
Toronto 6, Vancouver 3.
Toronto 1, Vancouver 8.
Toronto 1, Vancouver 1.
Total goals, Toronto 18, Vancouver 21.
1919—At Seattle:
No decision—Series unfinished because of flu epidemic after Canadiens and Seattle had each won two games.
1920—At Ottawa and Toronto:

Ottawa 3, Seattle 0.
Ottawa 1, Seattle 3.
Ottawa 2, Seattle 5.

Rowe's Injury Crippled Seattle.

Toronto, April 1.—Ottawa defeated Seattle tonight by six to one and won the Stanley cup, emblematic of the world's professional hockey championship. For two periods the battle was close and until Rowe, the star Seattle defence player, was injured the Westerners had the edge on the play. Seattle went completely to pieces in the last twenty minutes and Ottawa ran in five straight goals.

Seattle never gave up trying until Darragh scored the fourth goal. They fought a gallant battle and had Rowe not been injured might have won the title. All of the Ottawa players showed splendid form but Jack Darragh stood out as their most effectiv goal-getter, he tallying no less than four of the goals.

Chances were considered bright that Seattle would break the jinx that has always pursued the visiting team on Stanle cup matches but for the tenth time the teams ran true to form.

The line-up and summary follows:

Ottawa		Seattle
Benedict	Goal	Holmes
Gerrard	Defence	Rickey
Cleghorn		Rowe
Nighbor	Centre	Foyston
Darragh	Right Wing	Walker
McKell	Substitutes	Morris
Bruce		Nicholls
Denenny		Murray
Broadbent		Tobin

Referess—Cooper-Smeaton, Montreal.

The scoring:
First period—
1—Seattle, Rowe, 10 mins.
2—Ottawa, Boucher, 6 mins.
Second period—No score.
Third period—
3—Ottawa, Darragh, 5 mins.
4—Ottawa, Gerrard, 5 mins.
5—Ottawa, Darragh, 8 mins.
6—Ottawa,, Darragh, 17 mins.
7—Ottawa, Nighbor, .30 min.

"MATTY" M'INTYRE IS 'FLU VICTIM

Former American Leaguer Died in Detroit—Boston Opinion McGraw's Giants

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Detroit, Mich., April 3.—Matthew M. McIntyre, a left fielder with the Detroit Americans from 1905 to 1910, died here last night of influenza. He was 40 years of age. He also played with the Chicago White Sox and after leaving the majors managed clubs in the western and southern leagues.

LIKES THE GIANTS.

Boston Critic Likes the Looks of the New York National League Club.

Bert Whitman, sporting editor of the Boston Herald, after seeing the New York Giants in action with the Boston Red Sox expressed his opinion of McGraw's team as follows:

"McGraw's team looks better to me by far than a year ago. Then his entire infield, with the single exception of Fletcher at short, looked to be on the ragged edge. His pitching staff was none too good. Now he has a star third sacker in Frank Frisch, a young fresh from Fordham. At short Fletch is holding forth, still a star. At second there is the weakness in George Kelly at first there is a mighty big target, a remarkable thrower, a fair hitter and one of the type that is likely to come rapidly once he acquires a little confidence through success.

"The outfield, with Burns, Kauff, Statz and Young, is the best in the National League. The catching ought to be taken care of with Earl Smith, Frank McCarthy, Frank Snyder and possibly Mike Gonzales.

"But it is in pitching that McGraw has a bulge on any other National League team, even Cincinnati and the Cubs, in my opinion, Art Nehf is worth the $40,000 the Braves received for him. He is the best left-hander in the old league. Take Fred Toney, Phil Douglas, Jess Barnes and Rube Benton on the staff of fingers and you have some class in the pitching department.

"If the Giants had a fair young second sacker and if Matty, the coach, had been just a trifle more successful with various pitchers he has handled, I'd pik the Giants to win the N. L. flag hands down. As it is, they're contenders, sure."

Dodgers' Training Ends.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 3.—The Dodgers were put through their final spring training workout at Barr's Field yesterday afternoon, but they were on the field less than an hour when a heavy shower put an abrupt end to the drilling.

Robbie is not satisfied with the way his team has batted against the Yankee slabsters recently and is peeved because the American Leaguers have won two games.

Yankees Place Two Rookies.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 3.—The Yanks wind up their Jacksonville stay with a game with Brooklyn this afternoon. On Sunday both clubs will break camp and start on a trip north. The club has been getting so little work here in the last few days that Huggins called all hands to morning practice yesterday. It was well that he did, for it rained in the afternoon.

Huggins announced today that Bob Rice, a young infielder, and Marco De Vitalis would leave here tonight. Rice will go to Philadelphia and stay there until it is time to report to the Springfield Eastern League club. De Vitalis will have his nose operated on in New York. He will probably be sent to a club in the Pacific coast league.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS.

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial.

The Most Artistic Roof

is the one that completely harmonizes with the design and finishing of the house. For this reason there is a steadily increasing demand for Brantford Asphalt Slates for the modern style of homes.

Brantford Asphalt Slates have a surface of crushed slate embedded into our asphalt coating, the base of the roofing being felt saturated with asphalt. They are cut the size of shingles, and their beautiful soft colors of reddish brown and dark green give a roof a most artistic appearance. The colors are the natural shades of the slate as it comes out of the quarries. Brantford Asphalt Slates are, therefore, unfadeable—never require painting.

Brantford Asphalt Slates

are accurate in size and pliable, which makes them very easily handled and quickly laid, saving time and labor, and therefore costing less to lay.

Brantford Asphalt Slates make an artistic, durable and economical roof. Booklet describing them mailed on request.

EASTER INVASION OF OLD NEW YORK

Different Throng of Canadians to Those Visiting Gotham in Pre-War Days.

New York, April 3. — Canada's army of Easter invasion is here, but it is a very different army from that of the days of old, the good old days before the war and the profiteers, the stoney-hearted railway officials, and the mysteries of international exchange took the joy out of the annual New York junket.

Time was when it seemed as though half of the population of Toronto and Montreal and other prosperous Eastern Canadian cities was to be found here in New York at Easter time. In those days—the days before the war—the railways ran special Easter excursions here from Montreal and Toronto, bringing the Canadian pilgrims in and returning them to their homes for half of the regular return fare. Thousands took advantage of the cheap rate to run down here over the Easter holidays, see a couple of Broadway shows, participate in the Easter parade, purchase an assortment of clothing and return home with the loot, skilfully camouflaging it when the Canadian customs officials went through the train. Incidentally they gladdened the hearts of the New York hotel men, who stuck them double rates because of the overcrowded condition of the city and consequent lack of accommodation, and were welcomed with open arms by the Fifth avenue storekeepers, for they brought with them very large wads of money ripe for the spending and they spent it lavishly. Many a hat that could have been obtained for fifteen or twenty dollars in Yonge street or St. Catherine street was purchased on Fifth avenue for fifty or sixty.

But all that is changed now. In the first place there is no excursion rate on the railways. The American roads but recently returned to the hands of the private owners by the United States government, have many more important things to worry about than cheaper Easter fares. Moreover, it is extremely unlikely that Canadians will ever again have the privilege of saving ten dollars on railway fare in order to squander a hundred or so on hotel bills and shopping orgies in New York.

"I do not believe you will ever see a return to the cheap excursion system," said a Canadian railway official the other day. "The railways may reestablish the short excursion, the one day return trip, but I don't think they will ever get back to that ten-sixty-five Montreal to New York and return Easter time rate, or similar excursions. It never was very profitable for the railways, for it merely served to concentrate travel in certain directions at certain particular times. I believe most of the Canadians who came to New York in that grand, mad Easter rush would have made at least one trip down here during the year, anyway. They took advantage of the cheap rate, however, and all came in a flock. The railways gained little or nothing by it."

Then there is the matter of exchange. A trip to New York with the shopping feature eliminaed has but little attraction, particularly for the shopping sex. And with the Canadian dollar worth only 88 or 89 cents in the New York stores the majority of Canadians will very much prefer to spend their money at home.

But apparently quite a few Canadians contracted the Easter-time New York trip habit and neither full fares on the railways nor discount on the dollar has cured them of it. The managers of a number of the leading hotels report a big influx this week-end from Eastern Canada.

"I have had a stack of reservations for Easter time from Canadians coming in for the past two weeks," declared the manager of one hotel which caters particularly to travellers from the Dominion, "and a large percentage of the guests in the hotel now are from Canada. I don't know why so many have chosen to come here at this particular time, unless it is to see the Easter parade, but they are very welcome."

Several other hotels which are popular with Canadian visitors reported a large number of reservations from the Dominion.

Therefore it may be said that the Easter invasion from Canada is once again in progress, even though the army of invasion is only a skeleton of its former self.

Because it Enriches the Blood, Makes Sound Flesh and Muscle Tissue, and Little Thin Limbs Round and Plump

Druggists Guarantee It

When a child is tired all the time, no appetite, weak, sickly and ailing—no energy, no vitality, they need the strengthening elements of tonic iron, combined with the rare flesh, muscle and tissue building elements of good old-fashioned cod liver oil as contained in VINOL. That is what makes them respond so quickly to its use.

VINOL is easily assimilated and contains no oil to upset their delicate stomachs like emulsions.

Just try it on our guarantee and you will get the same results as this mother who writes: "My little girl was weak, puny and tired all the time, did not want to do anything. VINOL was recommended, and it built up her strength and made her healthy, and now she romps and plays like other children, and is robust and rosy."

If you have a sickly, ailing child do not wait another day, but get a bottle of VINOL and try it on the guarantee of your druggist to return your money if it fails to benefit.

"Thought more of mine home?" cried Sir Nigel. "Lady, I fear that in this matter at least you are mistaken.

"Not so, Sir Nigel. Come hither, young man, young English squire with the gray eyes! Now give me your hand, and place it here across my brow, that I may see that which you have seen. What is this that rises before me? Mist, mist, rolling mist with a square black tower above it. See it shreds out, it thins, it rises, and there lies a castle in green plain, with the sea beneath it, and a great church within a bow-shot. There are two rivers which run through the meadows, and between them lie the tents of the besiegers."

"The besiegers!" cried Alleyne, Ford, and Sir Nigel, all three in a breath.

"Yes truly, and they press hard upon the castle, for they are an exceeding multitude and full of courage. See how they storm and rage against the gate, while some rear ladders, and leaders who shout and beckon, and one, a tall man with a golden beard, who stands before the gate stamping his foot and hallooing them on, as a others, line after line, sweep the walls with their arrows. They are many pricker doth the hounds. There is a woman, two women, who stand upon the walls, and give heart to the men-at-arms. They shower down arrows, darts and great stones. Ah! they have struck down the tall leader, and the others give back. The mist thickens and I can see no more."

"By Saint Paul!" said Sir Nigel, "I do not think that there can be any such doings at Christchurch, and I am very easy of the fortalice so long as my sweet wife hangs the key of the outer bailey at the head of her bed. Yet I will not deny that you have pictured the castle as well as I could have done myself, and I am full of wonderment at all that I have heard and seen."

"I would, Lady Tiphaine," cried the Lady Rochefort, "that you would use your power to tell me what hath befallen my golden bracelet which I wore when hawking upon the second Sunday of Advent, and have never set eyes upon since."

"Nay, lady," said Du Guesclin, "it does not befit so great and wondrous a power to pry and search and play the varlet even to the beautiful chatelaine of Villefranche. As a worthy question, and, with the blessing of God, you shall have a worthy answer."

"Then I would fain ask," cried one of the French squires, "as to which may hope to conquer in these wars betwixt the English and ourselves."

"Both will conquer and each will hold its own," answered the Lady Tiphaine.

"Then we shall still hold Gascony and Guienne?" cried Sir Nigel.

The lady shook her head. 'French land, French blood, French speech,' she answered. "They are French, and France shall have them."

"But not Bordeaux?" cried Sir Nigel excitedly.

"Bordeaux also is for France."

"But Calais?"

"Calais too."

"Woe worth me then, and ill hail to these evil words! If Bordeaux and Calais be gone, then what is left of England?"

"It seems indeed that there are evil times coming upon your country," said Du Guesclin. "In our fondest hopes we never thought to hold Bordeaux. By Saint Ives! this news hath warmed the heart within me. Our dear country will then be very great in the future, Triphaine?"

"Great, and rich, and beautiful," she cried. "Far down the course of time I can see her still leading the nations, a wayward queen among the peoples, great in war, but greater in peace, quick in thought, deft in action, with her people's will for her sole monarch, from the sands of Calais to the blue seas of the south."

"Ha!" cried Du Guesclin, with his eyes flashing in triumph, "you hear her, Sir Nigel?—and she never yet said word which was not sooth."

The English knight shook his head moodily. "What of my own poor country?" said he. "I fear, lady, that what you have said bodes but ill for her."

The lady sat with parted lips, and her breath came quick and fast. "My God!" she cried, "what is this that is shown me? Whence come they, these peoples, these lordly nations, these mighty countries which rise up before me? I look beyond, and others rise, and yet others, far and farther to the shores of the uttermost waters. They crowd! They swarm! The world is given to them, and it resounds with the clang of their hammers and the ringing of their church bells. They call them many names, and they rule them this way or that, but they are all English, for I can hear the voices of the people. On I go, and onwards over seas where man hath never yet sailed, and I see a great land under new stars and a stranger sky, and still the land is England. Where have her children not gone? What have they not done? Her banner is planted on ice. Her banner is scorced in the sun. She lies athwart the lands, and her shadow is over the seas. Bertrand, Bertrand! we are undone, for the buds of her bud are even as our choicest flower!" Her voice rose into a wild cry, and throwing up her arms she sank back white and nerveless into the deep oaken chair.

"It is over," said Du Guesclin moodily, as he raised her drooping head with his strong brown hand. "Wine for the lady, squire! The blessed hour of sight hath passed."

CHAPTER XXX.

How the Brushwood Men Came to the Chateau of Villefranche.

It was late ere Alleyne Edricson, having carried Sir Nigel the goblet of spiced wine which it was his custom to drink after the curling of his hair, was able at last to seek his chamber. It was a stone-flagged room upon the second floor, with a bed in a recess for him, and two smaller pallets on the other side, on which Aylward and Hordle John were already snoring. Alleyne had knelt down to his evening orisons, when there came a tap at his door, and Ford entered with a small lamp in his hand. His face was deadly pale, and his hand shook until the shadows flickered up and down the wall.

"What is it, Ford?" cried Alleyne, springing to his feet.

"I can scarce tell you," said he, sitting down on the side of the couch, and resting his hin upon his hand. "I know not what to say or what to think."

"Has aught befallen you, then."

"Yes, or I have been slave to my own fancy. I tell you, lad that I am all undone, like a fretted bow-string. Hark hither, Alleyne! it cannot be that you have forgotten little Tita, the daukhter of the old glass stainer at Bordeaux?"

"I remember her well."

"She and I, Alleyne broke the lucky groat together ere we parted, and she wears my ring upon her finger. 'Caro mio,' quoth she when last we parted, 'I shall be near thee in wars, and thy danger will be my danger.' Alleyne, as God is my help, as I came up the stairs this night I saw her stand before me, her face in tears, her hands out as though in warning—I saw it, Alleyne, even as I see those two archers upon their couches. Our very finger-tips seemed to meet, ere she thinned away like a mist in the sunshine."

"I would not give overmuch thought to it," answered Alleyne. "Our minds will play us strange pranks, and bethink you that these words of the Lady Tiphaine Du Guesclin have wrought upon us and shaken us."

Ford shook his head. "I saw little Tita as clearly as though I were back at the Rue des Apotres at Bordeaux," said he. "But the hour is late, and I must go."

"Where do you sleep, then?"

DORCAS LIKELY TO ASK REINSTATEMENT ON C. N. RAILWAY

Demand for His Old Position Expected to Follow His Acquittal.

THE JURY WERE OUT ONLY 16 MINUTES

Case Against a Foreman at Napudogan Not Likely to Be Proceeded With.

There is much speculation as to what effect the acquittal of James Dorcas, fireman on the shunting engine in Napudogan yard, in the York County Court will have upon further action in clearing up the thefts of liquor on the Transcontinental division of the Canadian National Railways.

Having been found not guilty of receiving stolen liquor by a jury who took only 16 minutes to reach that conclusion unanimously Dorcas, it was said today, would make application for reinstatement as a C. N. R. employee at once and demand that he be given back his position from which he had been dismissed on the grounds that he was not guilty of the charge on which he has now been acquitted by a jury.

There was undisguised dismay upon the faces of the seven other C. N. R. employees who had been called from the jail to act as witnesses against Dorcas when they listened to the jury's verdict in the court room on Thursday evening and reflected what might have happened to them had they not pleaded guilty. It was also said that the outcome of the case against Dorcas would probably mean that a warrant which had been sworn out for the arrest of one of the foremen at Napudogan would probably not now be proceeded with.

Dorcas on the Witness Stand.

When the court opened at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the defendant, James Dorcas, was called to the stand. When questioned as to his whereabouts on January 29th, he stated that in the morning he had been at Fredericton and while here he had obtained a bottle of liquor through a doctor's prescription. He stated that he had taken two drinks only from the bottle. He went to Napudogan from this city and was on duty there ffrom 4 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight. He said he had first seen the stolen liquor when A. Gallop threw two cases of it into the cab of which he was the fireman. He said that eight bottles of liquor were in the box under the driver's seat but he did not know how they got there. He admitted that he had given Martin Hunter two bottles of the liquor when he had asked William Grant for valve-oil, but denied possession of the liquor. He stated

Charged With Forging Prescriptions for Liquor

It was learned this morning that the man named Gallant, in whose possession fourteen prescriptions for liquor signed by Dr. J. S. P. Richard, of Bathurst, were found recently resulting in the doctor being fined $1,000, has now been charged with forging prescriptions for liquor.

At the office of Rev. W. D. Wilson, chief inspector, no further information was obtainable in the case today, except that it was expected to come on for trial at Bathurst on Tuesday. It is understood that the names of Dr. Meahan, of Bathurst, was forged on the prescriptions in question.

THREE RETURNED SOLDIERS MARRIED

Trio of Great War Veterans Become Benedicts During Easter Season.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage last evening when Rev. G. M. Young united in marriage Monclair Webster, of this city, and Miss Lily Macpherson, of Nashwaak Village. The bride has for a number of years been a waitress at the Barker House in this city and has many friends all over the province. The groom is a returned soldier, having gone overseas with the 145th Battalion. They will probably make their home in this city.

The Brunswick St. Baptist parsonage was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Thursday evening, when Miss Helen Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Haining, Needham street, became the bride of Alexander J. Nason, of this city. They were attended by F. W. Rickard and Letitia Carman, both of Barker's Point. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. C. Warren. The groom is a returned soldier, who had enlisted in February, 1916, in the 140th Battalion and spent over two years and a half overseas.

A quiet wedding took place at the Brunswick St. Baptist parsonage on Wednesday last, when Rev. G. C. Warren united in marriage Arthur James Foulger, of this city, and Mrs. Minnie Brown Hovey, of Doaktown. The groom is a returned soldier. He enlisted in January, 1917, in the 8th Field Ambulance, and spent nearly two years and a half overseas. The happy couple will make their home in the city.

NEW SCHEDULE OF TEACHERS' SALARIES DRAWN UP HERE

Executive of N. B. Teachers Association Meeting in Fredericton.

25 PER CENT. INCREASE FOR NEXT SCHOOL YEAR

Association, Now Open to All Teachers, Wants Pensions Doubled, Too.

A new schedule of salaries, providing an increase of twenty-five per cent. over last year's schedule, has been drawn up by the executive of the New Brunswick Teachers' Association at their meeting now going on at the Fraser Memioral building here. The new schedule will not be published for some time it was stated this morning by the President, Dr. B. C. Foster, but it to go into effect on July 1st of this year and will be effective until June 30th, 1921.

All day yesterday was taken up by the executive in arranging the schedule and this is not completely arranged as yet. The assessment of every school district was gone into in detail and several discrepancies were righted.

The second and third class teachers, it was stated this morning, will be invited to join the Association. It was intended when tthe organization was formed that they would not be included, but it was thought that the association would be unwieldy if all were to unite at first. Now that the organization has been completed satisfactorily, the Association is open to all classes of teachers. Of the 575 first class teachers in the Province, 525 have been enrolled.

The matter of revising the pensions will be considered this afternoon at the meeting, and it is the intention to ask that the maximum be increased from $400 to $800. It is also the intention of the executive to ask that a disability clause be inserted in the pension.

This morning the executive were engaged in drawing up a programme for the annual meeting of the association, which occurs about the last of June in this city.

Among those present at the meeting are: Dr. B. C. Foster, president, and A. S. McFarlane, secretary, of this city; W. J. S. Myles and Miss Stella Payson, of St. John; W. McL. Barker, Moncton; A. B. Brooks, of St. Stephen; W. T. Denham, of Bathurst; Miss Caulie McInerney, of Rexton; G. H. Harrison, of Chatham; Miss Bessie M. Fraser and A. D. Jonah, of Grand Falls; D. W. Wallace, of Woodstock, and Miss Anna Jackson, of Gagetown.

ARREST GERMANS AS LIQUOR SELLERS AT MINTO MINES

Booze Imported for "Personal Use" Said to Have Been Sold to Miners.

RUM SEIZED WHEN ARRESTS ARE MADE

Inspector Fraser Saunders Made Five Arrests at Minto Yesterday.

Two German miners were arrested yesterday by Sub-Inspector Fraser Saunders of the Prohibition forces, charged with peddling liquor in the Grand Lake coal mining districts.

The arrests were made at Minto, and at the same time Inspector Saunders seized three gallon tins and twenty-four bottles of rum, which he brought here and deposited in the vault at the Provincial Government buildings.

This morning Inspector Saunders said that the Germans had been having a good many shipments of liquor come in from Montreal to Minto as for "personal use," but had been peddling the liquor, and the action which had been taken followed complaints which had been made from that district.

The Germans will appear before Magistrate McLeod early next week on charges of violating the Prohibition Act.

Three other men were also arrested at Minto yesterday by Inspector Saunders charged with creating a disturbance. They are said to have imbibed too freely of some of the Germans' liquor and will appear before Magistrate McLeod at the same time.

CLARK DECLARES HE WAS KIDNAPPED

Five Arrests on Suspicion Today At Grand Falls

Clark's Brothers and His Uncles Being Held as Material Witnesses

CLARK CLAIMS HE WAS KIDNAPPED

Attorney General Byrne Is Going on With Formal Investigation.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Grand Falls, N. B., April 5.—Five arrests have been made of persons who are held in connection with the escape of Newman Clark, charged with the murder of Phoebe Bell on March 25th, from the private hospital of Dr. Puddington here last Thursday night, following the return of Sheriff Foster and Constable Morris McCrea, of Perth, late last night from Limestone, Me., with Clark, who they found there at the home of Daniel Morrell.

CLARK'S BROTHERS AND UNCLES ARE ARRESTED

Peter Woods, who lives at Grand Falls, is held under suspicion of being implicated while Chap Clark and William Clark, brothers of the murderer, and Marshall and Thomas Everett, his uncles, all of Four Falls, N. B., where Clark's family live, are being held as material witnesses at present. Before night some further arrests are expected, although Sheriff Foster declared at noon today there was a good deal yet to be done before the mystery of Clark's escape from the hospital was entirely solved.

The recapture of Clark has not caused Hon. J. P. Byrne, Attorney General of New Brunswick, to halt the formal investigation into the circumstances surrounding Clark's esape which he commenced here on Saturday night, and the enquiry was resumed this morning at the Curless Hotel. At Saturday night's session of the investigation at the hospital the evidence of Miss Wetmore, the matron, and Miss Mallin, the night nurse, did not establish anything further than that Clark left the hospital by way of a window near his bed at some hour during the night unknown to them.

Clark Says He Was Kidnapped.

The startling announcement, however, was made by Sheriff Foster this morning that Clark had told a story to the effect that he was forcibly taken from the hospital on Thursday night by two French Canadians whose names were unknown to him, but who he could identify he believed if he saw them again.

These men, he said, gagged him and took him out the window to the roof and thence to the ground, where they put a coat over his shoulders and bundled him into a sleigh and drove in the direction of Limestone, Me. It was getting near daylight when they were on the outskirts of Limestone and Clark says that they carried him into the bushes and told him to remain there until they had a chance to get him some clothes when they would come back to him. Clark told the officers that he believed they intended to leave him there to die, and when night came he walked as far as the Morrell house, where he took refuge in the barn because of his exhausted condition.

Soon after he had entered the barn a young man arrived there with a horse, which he put in the stable and took him into the house, where he remained until the officers arrived.

Told Different Story at Limestone.

This story is different in some respects to that said to have been told by Clark at Limestone. Over the long distance telephone last night Mrs. Morrell said that Clark had told them he walked all the way from Grand Falls to Limestone, walking during the nights and hiding in the woods during the hours of daylight on Friday. He said nothing there to indicate that he had been gagged or forcibly taken out of the hospital, and his story has a striking resemblance to the theory set up by his brothers when they arrived here on Friday night. It would therefore not be surprising if Clark's story turned out to be pure fiction invented by him for the purpose of misleading the Attorney General's investigators.

The witnesses at today's sessions of the investigation include Clark's two brothers, his two uncles and a young woman who was present at the shooting on March 25th, when Clark shot and killed Phoebe Bell and fired two bullets into his own breast.

The story of the recapture of Clark at Limestone, Me., Mrs. D. Morrells' story of the murderer's stay at her home and the report of Saturday night's session of the Attorney General's investigation will be found on page 5 of The Gleaner today.

Clarke's Captors Got Green's Murderers

Special Despatch to The Gleaner.

Grand Falls, N. B., April 5.—Sheriff Foster, of Carleton county, and Constable Morris McCrea, of Perth, who recaptured Newman Clark, murderer of Phoebe Bell, at Limestone, Me., on Sunday, are the same officers who caught the murderers of Paddy Green, the Montreal jewelry salesman who was shot down on the right-of-way near here while the Transcontinental Railway was under construction. This was the last big murder sensation in Victoria county and it is an interesting coincidence that the same officers are taking such a prominent part in this case.

WILL TAKE CLARK TO JAIL TONIGHT

Murderer's Feet Badly Frozen and Nurse Will Be in Charge at Jail.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Grand Falls, N. B., April 5.—In order to take no further chances of his escaping or being kidnapped, Newman Clark, murderer of Phoebe Bell, will be taken to Andover this afternoon or this evening and placed in the Victoria county jail.

This morning Clark, upon whom a warrant charging him with the killing of Phoebe Bell on March 25th, was served as soon as he was back on Canadian soil again last night, is at Curless' Hotel under guard of Deputy Sheriff Mooers of Carleton county, who accompanied Sheriff Foster here on Friday. Considering his experiences of the past few days he is in good shape today; his self-inflicted wounds have healed pretty well and he seems fairly strong, but his feet are badly frozen as a result of the exposure and are giving him much pain.

This afternoon Clark will appear before Magistrate James Kelly here on the charge of murder and will at once be remanded to the county jail. He will at once be taken to the county jail at Andover and a professional nurse will take charge of him there. This is regarded as a safer procedure than to allow him to remain here. Plans to have Clark appear before the magistrate this morning were changed when it was announced that he has engaged Hon. W. P. Jones, K. C., of Woodstock, a former Solicitor General of New Brunswick, to appear in his interests. No action will therefore be taken until Hon. Mr. Jones arrives.

Clark doesn't appear to have suffered much from the iodine he drank when the officers were about to arrest him at Limestone, Me., yesterday afternoon. Sheriff Foster says that grease, eggs and other antidotes were poured down the prisoner's throat to offset the effects of the poison.

DIED AS RESULT OF GAS WOUNDS

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Montreal, April 5.—Gunner Charles Heggum died on Friday as the result of gas wounds received in Flanders. He was born in Quebec 42 years ago and educated at St. Patrick's Academy.

He afterwards lived at Sherbrooke, where he was employed by the Canadian Ingersoll Rand Company. His father was a well known sea captain, who for years traded between Greenock and Quebec.

ORDER HUNS TO RECALL THE RUHR TROOPS

The French Forces Ready to Advance Into District if Berlin Does Not Comply.

GENERAL DE GOUTTE IN COMMAND OF FRENCH

German Government Troops Have Encountered Serious Opposition at Points.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 5.—French military measures destined to force the German government to withdraw its troops from the Ruhr Basin are now entirely in the hands of Marshal Foch, it was said at the Foreign Office this morning.

Nothing more, it was added, has transpired regarding an advance by French troops than had been indicated in official statements.

It is advanced in some well informed quarters that occupation of Frankfort, Darmstadt, Hamburg and Hanau is unlikely to exercise sufficient pressure upon the Germans, since they may well argue that this occupation is distasteful to the French as well as to themselves, and cannot continue indefinitely. On the other hand, the expense of operation comes up as a vital question in the present state of French finances.

This morning's newspapers recall war tributes imposed by German troops upon French and Belgian cities, and suggest similar measures being applied to German cities occupied by French troops.

Despatches from Wiesbaden saying that General De Goutte's forces are under "alert" orders are explained as not necessarily meaning an immediate advance, but complete readiness to move forward unless Berlin promptly recalls the troops which have entered the Ruhr district against protests from France.

No censorship has been established here on news of the intended operation, but since the matter now is entirely in the hands of Marshal Foch, communications from the army will probably be surrounded with the usual precautions, although the operation is not considered on a basis of war.

The Wiesbaden correspondent of the Matin declares that French troops commanded by General De Goutte, which are stationed along the Rhine, are prepared to enter German territory this morning.

The newspapers continue to discuss the situation resulting from the entry of German government troops in the Ruhr basin, and the Petit Parisien declares the indications given by the German note concerning these forces do not correspond with the information received by Marshal Foch.

The British government will decline to co-operate in the occupation of Frankfort, Darmstadt and other German cities, according to the London correspondent of the Petit Parisien, but will, he says, "favorably follow the action of France, realizing the importance of the situation."

In the southern part of the Ruhr district, says the Echo de Paris, the German government troops have advanced without resistance, but have encountered serious opposition in the central portion of the Ruhr Basin.

Two hundred persons have been killed in a fight near Duisburg, according to information reaching this city.

The latest information reaching the foreign office confirms its belief that despite the assurance officially given by the Germans that only very limited troops had been sent to the Ruhr, in reality the number amounts to an army of forty thousand men.

All information from the country bordering on the Ruhr Basin, it was said at the Foreign Office today, tends to prove there was no necessity of sending an army into the Ruhr, as the workers and communists were exhausted and without money, food or ammunition. Confirmatory information has also been received that the movement in the industrial region was not Bolshevik in nature, although many aliens were involved, and was essentially anti-militaristic.

Held Prisoners in Great Lakes Ice Field

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Ludington, Mich., April 5.—Held prisoners in a great ice field extending more than three miles off shore, crews and passengers numbering more than 200 persons, on board the five Pere Marquette car ferries and Pere Marquette line steamer No. 4, are believed to be in grave danger.

There was fear that the boats may be driven ashore or crushed by the ice, which is piled in windrows several feet in height.

A few scattering groups of passengers have made their way ashore at the peril of their lives, venturing the trip of the mile or more over the ice.

WARM BLIZZARD NOW.

A Return to Balmy Spring Weather Predicted in United States.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Chicago, April 5.—The middle and southwest, heartened by weather bureau predictions of a "return to balmy spring weather," today set about digging themselves out of record breaking Easter snow falls.

The "warm blizzard," as official forecasters designated it, developed in the Texas Panhandle and yesterday swept rapidly through the central west, today continuing steadily eastward, the snowfall ranging from six inches to two feet.

In the open country of the southwest, cattle were reported to have suffered. There were few official reports of crop damage anywhere, however.

Telegraph and telephone communication was cut off in some sections and in Chicago and some other cities electric service was crippled.

EASTER HOLIDAYS IN GREAT BRITAIN

Seaside Resorts Crowded, but the Weather Was Most Unpropitious.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

London, April 5.—Despite the absence of cheap rail fares and the high cost of everything, this has been a record Easter for holiday making away from home. Seaside resorts are crowded, but the weather throughout has been extremely forbidding.

Holiday makers at Manchester, Huddersfield, Oldham and several Welsh towns have been much inconvenienced by the lightning strike of street car workers, who repudiated their leaders' settlement of a wage advance on national lines.

Easter marriages have been less numerous than usual, attributable partly, doubtless, to the house shortage.

British Exchange Above $4 Today

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 5.—The British exchange rate rose above $4 today, after being below that figure since Dec. 1 last. Cables on London sold at $4.00½ shortly after the opening and demand bills at $3.99¾. Canadian dollars were at 91.65 cents.

Notwithstanding the disturbed Franco-German situation, French, Italian and German rates also were firmer, franc checks opening at 14.55 to the dollar, lire checks at 20.52 to the dollar, marks at 1.54 cents.

By noon demand sterling advanced to $4.01¾ and cables to 4.02¼.

EMIGRANTS ARE LEAVING U. S. NOW

275,000 Already Gone and a Million More Are Ready to Get Away.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 5.—Since the signing of the armistice, 275,000 emigrants have left the United States, taking with them savings estimated conservatively at $2,000 for each emigrant, according to a statement issued by the Inter-Racial Council.

When passport regulations and transportation conditions permit, it is believed 1,125,000 more will leave.

THE BIG UNIONS ATTEMPTING TO BREAK STRIKE

Eleven Railroads in Chicago District Affected by Strike of the Switchmen.

MAY BE NECESSARY TO CALL OUT MILITIA

Strike Unauthorized by Unions and the Latter Order Men Back to Work.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Chicago, April 5.—Train service throughout the Chicago district, already seriously crippled by a heavy snow storm, virtually was demoralized today by the spread of an unauthorized strike of switchmen, according to reports from the eleven railroads affected.

Fearing possible riots, John J. Garrity, Chief of Police, early today placed the entire police force on reserve. Five hundred policemen patrolled the switch yards last night, he said.

Mr. Garrity said the situation was serious and added that it may be necessary to call out the militia and declare military control in the railroad yards. Approximately 2,500 switchmen are out according to strike leaders, and the General Managers' Association, representing the railroads. The strikers asserted 9,000 men would be affected today and predicted a complete tieup of freight traffic and serious impairment of interurban service.

After a long conference with representatives of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, with which the switchmen are affiliated, and the Switchmen's Union of North America, the General Managers' Association issued a declaration that there would be no compromise with the strikers.

Officials of the two big unions have declared the strike "illegal," ordered the men to return to work, and are co-operating with the rail heads in attempting to break the strike.

The demands of the "outlaw" organization, the recently formed Chicago Yardmen's Association, are:

"Foremen of all yards and transfer engines, $1 per hour; yard helpers, 95 cents an hour; switch tenders, $5 a day for attending not more than three switches; helpers' rate of pay to apply at 95 cents an hour; time and a half for overtime; Sundays and all legal holidays, and where they are required to work more than eight hours on Sundays or legal holidays, double time for all time exceeding eight hours."

EXPELLED MEN TO TO SEEK RE-ELECTION

New York Socialists Determined to Re-elect Men to New York Assembly.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 5.—Determination of socialists to carry the fight to reinstate five members of their party expelled from the New York assembly before the voters at a special election, was announced Saturday night by officials of socialist organizations after a conference here. The Governor, it was said, would be asked to call a special election, and the five men would seek re-election "confident of success."

It was announced that a meeting of delegates representing labor organizations of Greater New York would be held here Wednesday to consider the situation.

New York Labor Leader Has Proposal to Submit to Gompers

HEAD OFF MOVE OF EMPLOYERS

Who Are Said to Desire Removal of the Eight Hour Day.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 5.—Plans are being worked out for a national strike of six million trades unionists "to hold off a suspected move by employers in leading industries to abolish the eight hour day," William A. Maher, vice president and secretary of the Marine Workers' Affiliation and one of the leaders of the harbor strike, announced officially last night. He said plans would be submitted to Samuel Gompers and the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.

Refuse Compromise.

Hamilton, Ont., April 5.—Employees of the Hamilton Bridge Works Company, who have been on strike for several days, and are demanding an eight hour day and a wage advance of 25 per cent., have refused an offer from the Company of an advance of fifteen per cent. and a nine hour day.

The men say they will work nine hours if given the 25 per cent. increase in their pay.

The Madrid Barbers Demand Higher Wage

Madrid, April 5.—A general strike of Madrid barbers began Saturday. Several arrests were made yesterday after the strikers visited all barber shops and threatened to "club" the non-union workers.

The barbers are demanding higher wages and no Sunday work.

STRIKE WEAPON SHOWS ITS POWER

Brought Quick Success in Germany and Denmark When Used Against Govts.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Copenhagen, April 5.—Definite agreement to call off the general strike which resulted in forcing King Christian to dismiss the Liebe cabinet, has been reached by employers and workers here.

The result of this strike is the second remarkaable illustration within a few weeks of the entirely novel use of the strike weapon, which has hitherto been employed almost exclusively in industrial disputes.

It has been employed with surprising effect in two important constitutional crises.

The first was in Germany, where the reationary Government set up by Dr. Kapp was forced to relinquish power at the end of five days. The second was in this country, where it was employed with almost as quick success.

The ministry which has been formed seems to meet with general approval by the parties. It is composed largely of the permanent secretaries of the different governmental departments, who obviously have been chosen for the most part to carry on the routine of the departments in the Government, which is considered purely temporary in character. The other portfolios are held by men who, although representative of various political parties, are not considered as likely to make any radical changes in the conduct of their departments.

The reinstatement of H. P. Hanssen as commissioner for Schleswig affairs, which is announced, has given great satisfaction to those who objected to an annexationist policy regarding the disputed northern Schleswig plebiscite zone. It is stated, however, that the appointee's political friends are endeavoring to persuade him not to accept the post, fearing that his presence in the Government would be used in propaganda against the temporary cabinet.

MANGLED REMAINS FOUND ON TRACK

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Quebec, April 5.—The horribly mangled remains of Edmond Careau, aged 42 years, of St. Gerard Magella, a parish about twenty miles from this city, were found Sunday morning lying by the track of the Canadian National Railway near St. Michael station, on the Quebec & Lake St. John division of the line.

It is supposed that he was struck by an incoming freight train.

BRITISH PREMIERS VIEWS ON LABOR

Lloyd-George Apparently Has Decided to Continue Breach With Labor Party.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

London, April 5.—Premier Lloyd-George and Right Hon. Andrew Bonar Law have written a joint letter to Patrick Ford, coalition member for North Edinburgh, where a vacancy occurs through Scottish legal change.

"There is a candidate whose main policy is to revolutionize the existing order of society," says the letter, "to substitute national ownership for private enterprise and, as an inevitable corollary to convert a whole community into a forced army of civil servants as they are now in Russia. There is another candidate whose stock in trade would appear to be a revival of dead party controversies of pre-war days, who has forgotten nothing and learned nothing during the last five years."

The independent Liberal candidate is Walter Runciman, ship owner, former member and Asquith candidate. The Labor candidate is Major Graham Pole. The coalition letter or coupon above quoted is taken generally as being in more of a militant strain than the ordinary run of such recommendations recently. It seems to indicate that Premier Lloyd-George has resolved on fully sustaining his breach with the Labor party.

FOREIGN TRAPPERS EXCLUDED IN NORTH

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 5.—Trappers who had planned a three years' stay on Bank's Island, in the far Canadian north, will be disappointed. An order-in-council has been passed prohibiting trapping on Victoria Island or Bank's Island, Northwest Territories. The hunting ground in the Arctic, on the advice of the commission of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, is to be preserved for the native Eskimos and foreign trappers are to be excluded.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 5.—A Dusseldorf despatch to the London Times dated April 3, says that the Central Workers' Council at Essen is disarming its troops and asserts it may be safely concluded that there will be no more fighting as the workers have agreed that the best weapon to use in case the government does not keep its agreement would be a general strike.

Tramway Employees on Strike In Many Towns in Great Britain

The Men Have Suspended Work Over the Holiday Season as a Demonstration in Their Demand for Increase of Wages —Great Inconvenience to Public.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 5.—The movement among the tramway employees in many of the provincial towns to obtain an increase in wages has resulted in strikes at Manchester, Oldham, Cardiff, Swansea and other cities.

The strikes began Saturday midnight and caused great inconvenience to the holiday makers Sunday. The suspension will continue over today and will handicap numerous race and athletic meetings.

EASTER OBSERVED IN FREDERICTON

Typical Spring Weather, New Costumes and Special Church Services.

Easter observation in Fredericton yesterday was marked by typical spring weather for the display of fineries, which showed no slackening as a result of high costs.

The day broke beautifully fine, following a night of showers and some heavy rain, and throughout the day the sun shone brightly, although there was a cold wind blowing most of the time. Although roses were selling at $2 a piece and carnations at 50 cents each flowers were everywhere in evidence while sprhig costumes of a most elaborate character and new designs were worn.

There were exceptionally large congregations at the city churches where special musical programmes and seasonable services were conducted.

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

At St. Paul's Presbyterian church the pastor, Rev. J. S. Sutherland, at the morning service chose for his topic The First Easter Lesson, drawing lessons from the Resurrection. Mrs. Fletcher Peacock rendered an excellent solo.

At the evening service a trio composed of Mrs. Lockwood, Mrs. Colwell and Miss Madge Kelly furnished an excellent selection while George Brown gave a solo. The subject for the evening sermon was the question: Why Do We Believe in Christ?

Brunswick Street Baptist Church.

At the Brunswick Street Baptist church the pastor, Rev. G. C. Warren, delivered splendid sermons to a large congregation at both the morning and evening services. At the morning service two new members were received into the church and at the evening service six candidates were baptized.

Christchurch Cathedral.

At Christchurch Cathedral Communion services were held at 7 and 8 a. m. and an unusually large number of communicants were present. At 11 o'clock another Communion service was conducted by Very Rev. Dean Neales. At three o'clock the children's service was held by Rev. Mr. Bulteel. At 7 p. m. the service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Bulteel, Very Rev. Dean Neales reading the lessons and His Lordship the Bishop preached a powerful sermon on Immortality. The special music by the choir under the leadership of W. J. Smith, A. R. C. O., was of very high order.

Christchurch Parish Church.

At Christchurch Parish church the early Communion services were well attended and at 11 a. m. Holy Communion and Matins were conducted by Rev. A. F. Bate, the Bishop preaching an inspiring sermon. At three o'clock the children's service was conducted by Rev. A. F. Bate and in the evening a special Easter service was held. The music was exceptionally good at all the services.

At St. Dunstan's.

At St. Dunstan's church at 8.30 a. m. a very large congregation were present and received Holy Communion. At 10.30 high mass was celebrated and Very Rev. F. L. Carney preached a sermon appropriate to the joyous feast of Easter. In the evening vespers was sung and Benediction given. The offering for the day was the largest ever taken up at Easter, amounting to $908.

Methodist Church.

The morning service at the Methodist church was a reception service conducted by the pastor, Rev. G. M. Young, and thirty-five members were admitted to full connection with the church. Miss Alice Boyd, with a cello accompaniment by D. B. Tees, delivered an excellent solo, and a male quartette also gave an excellent selection.

At the closing service in the evening John J. Weddall, recording steward of the church, voiced the appreciation of the members for the splendid work done for the church by Evangelist G. S. K. Anderson, who leaves today for Boston.

George Street Baptist.

At the George street Baptist church special Easter music was rendered and inspiring sermons preached by the pastor at both morning and evening services. The day was also observed as Grand Ligne yesterday by the George street Baptist Sunday school, and an offering of nearly one hundred and twenty-eight dollars was taken for missions. The attendance was very large, who thoroughly enjoyed a splendid programme presented by members of the school. Great credit is due Miss Louise Kingborn for the training of the children for their parts. The following is the programme:

Hymn—Onward Christian Soldiers.
The Lord's prayer.
Roll call and marking attendance.
Hymn—Let the Lower Lights Be Burning.
Reading of the Scriptures.
The opening prayer by the pastor.
Welcome by the superintendent.
Reading—"Suwartha's Easter," Nina Gregg.
Exercise—"Missionary," six boys.
Talk on "Grande Ligne Mission," Minnie Gould.
Recitation—Daisy Falle.
Solo—Pauline True.
Reading—Annie Vail.
Exercise—"The World for Christ," twelve girls.
Taking the Easter offering.
Dedication prayer by the superintendent.
Hymn—The Light of the World is Jesus.
Benediction by the pastor.

The voluntary offerings of the day amounted to over $200. At the evening service ten candidates were baptized.

AT MILITARY HOSPITAL.

Patients Were Well Remembered by Friends and Day One Long to Be Remembered.

Easter Sunday, 1920, will long be remembered by the boys who are undergoing treatment at the S. C. R. Hospital as one of the happiest of their lives, for the ladies of the different societies of the city were untiring in their efforts to see that the boys were well looked after.

SPIES AS ACTIVE AS EVER IN BRITAIN

London, April 4.—The British government is taking steps to restrict the operations in England of spies from foreign countries. The House of Commons has just adopted anti-spy regulations at the request of Sir Ernest Pollock, the solicitor general, who told the members of the House that information was now being collected here for foreign governments and that this ought to be stopped for the sake of the country's safety.

"Spies are as active in this country as ever," said Brig.-Gen. Cockerill, director of Special Intelligence at the War Office.

D. B. E. sent twenty-five beautiful potted plants, besides oranges, apples and home made candies done up in dainty wrappings to represent butterflies.

The Red Cross Society contributed twenty-five potted plants and ice cream for dinner. The ladies auxiliary of the G. W. V. A. sent potted ferns and cigars, which were obtained by a contribution of $52 from the members of the legislature. The Knights of Columbus donated 2,000 cigarettes for the boys, and the men had all the smokes required.

The hospital was a perfect bower of beauty yesterday, a potted plant being at the bedside of each patient, besides being placed in the recreation rooms and halls. The dinner was an especial one, and each table was adorned with a potted plant. In the evening the ministering circle of the King's Daughters entertained the boys at a sing-song and refreshments.

At Victoria Hospital.

The staff anad patients of Victoria Hospital were also remembered yesterday, refreshments and cut flowers being sent in by friends.

Clark Was Recapturedon Sunday at Limestone, Me.

Declares He Escaped Unaided—Again Tries to Cheat Gallows

WALKED IN HIS NIGHT CLOTHES

His Feet Were Frosibitten When He Was Stopped By Exhaustion.

Newman Clark, who murdered Phœbe Bell, a popular 18 years old girl of Grand Falls, N. B., on March 25th, and then put two bullets into his own breast, was recaptured on Sunday afternoon at Limestone, Me., almost twenty miles in a southwesterly direction through Maine's famous Aroostook county potato belt from Grand Falls, whence he escaped from Dr. Puddington's private hospital some time on Thursday night.

Sheriff Albion Foster, of Carleton county, and Morris McCrea, a specially sworn deputy, found the escaped murderer at the home of Daniel Morrell, at Limestone, where he had been since early Saturday morning, when he was found in the stable by one of Mr. Morrell's sons clad only in the nightgown and pneumonia jacket in which he had escaped from the hospital by slipping out a window from a room on the second floor on to the roof of a verandah whence he dropped to the snow and ice covered road and soon had crossed the American boundary line, only about a mile away.

Tried to Drink Poison.

When found by the New Brunswick officers Clark was suffering from bayly frostbitten feet, as all the protection he had had for his fet from the time he escaped from the hospital at Grand Falls early on Friday morning until he was found in the stable at Limestone more than 24 hours afterwards, was what came from some pieces he had torn from his nightgown and wrapped about them.

When Sheriff Foster appeared unexpectedly before him Clark again tried to cheat the gallows by attempting to swallow a bottle of iodine which was being used for treating the frostbites, but the officers knocked the bottle out of his hands before he had been able to swallow a large quantity. Shortly before dusk they had him properly fitted out with clothes and started to drive back to Grand Falls.

Walked All Night Until Exhausted.

According to the stories which Clark told at Limestone he had no assistance in escaping from the hospital at Grand Falls, and the circumstances would seem to bear out this statement as it appears unreasonable to expect that if friends had helped him to get out of the hospital and across the boundary line they would not also have provided him with proper clothing and taken him to his friends. Instead he says that he walked part of the distance on Thursday night, then remained in hiding in the woods during the day and resumed walking again the following night until finally compelled by hunger, exhaustion and lack of clothing to stop where he did and take refuge in the horse stall of the Morrell barn, which he found open. That is the story he told at the Morrell home, according to Mrs. Morrell, who declared to The Gleaner over the long distance telephone last night she did not know what she should have done in the matter, as Mr. Morrell had been away in Caribou, Me.

Lots of people would rather say nothing than speak a kind word.

Boundary Rum Runners Furnished Real Clue

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Grand Falls, N. B., April 5.—The finding of Newman Clark in the Limestone district occasioned no surprise to the officers engaged in the case but it was suspected that he had been driven there.

Two sleighs, one with two horses and the other a single rig, had been reported to have arrived at Grand Falls from the direction of Limestone about 3 a. m. on Friday and to have almost immediately returned.

It is now believed that these teams, which were believed to have come for Clark were really engaged in smuggling liquor from New Brunswick into Maine; however, it was following up that clue which took Sheriff Foster and Deputy McCrea to Limestone and thus brought about the recapture of Clark.

Nurses at Hospital First Witnesses at Investigation Held By Attorney General

Miss Mallin, the Night Nurse, Tells of Being Awakened by Noise on Thursday Night When She Dozed Off to Sleep But Didn't Think It Was from Clark's Room.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Grand Falls, N. B., April 5.—Hon. J. P. Byrne, Attorney General of New Brunswick, had already commenced his investigation into the circumstances surrounding the escape of Newman Clark from Dr. Puddington's private hospital here when he received word late on Sunday afternoon from Sheriff Foster that the murderer had been recaptured at Limestone, Me.

On Saturday evening, within a few hours after his arrival here from Fredericton, the Attorney General examined under oath Miss Wetmore, the matron, and Miss Mallin, the night nurse, at the hospital here. Miss Wetmore's evidence merely had to do with the arrangements at the hospital. She told when Clark was admitted as a patient and described the ward in which he occupied a bed, William Watson, who had been operated upon, being a patient in the same ward. Miss Mallin, the night nurse, had reported Clark's escape to her.

When Miss Mallin was called she said she had last actually seen Clark about 9 o'clock on Thursday night. Between 12 and 1 o'clock that night she had been in the room to give a hypodermic injection of morphine to Watson, who was recovering from an operation, but did not see Clark then as his bed was encircled by screens. However, she was certain the window was not then open and she was quite sure she heard Clark moving about in his bed at that time. The next time she was in the room was 5 a. m., when she again went in to treat Watson; this time she went over to Clark's bed and at first believed it was occupied because of the way the pillows had been fixed. The window was up and this aroused her suspicions, so that she turned down the sheets from the top of the bed and found Clark was gone and pillows had been so placed as to make it appear that somebody was in the bed.

The window, Miss Mallin said, was held up by a foot ruler, but where that ruler came from was not divulged. The window was imediately over the roof of the verandah of the building. During Thursday night, the nurse said, she dozed off to sleep for a few minutes and was awakened by a noise, but she didn't think it was in the ward where Clark was located and therefore did not go in there. Instead, she went into the bathroom but found things all right and thought nothing more of having been awakened by the noise at that time. Miss Mallin was sure that Clark did not escape from the hospital by walking down the main stairs and out the front door, because the main entrance had been locked on the inside on Thursday evening and the lock remained the same way on Friday morning.

The inquiry was then adjourned until this morning.

THE CANADIAN SOLDIER.

The report of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, now issued in blue book form, covers the work of this important branch of the administration from May, 1918, to the close of the last calendar year. It is a report which ought to be given the widest possible distribution so that what is being done for the returned soldier may be more fully known. A knowledge of the facts in this case, as in many others, will go far toward answering uninformed and therefore unintelligent criticism, remarks an exchange. The broad scope of the department's activities is indicated in an introductory letter to the Minister, Sir James Lougheed, in which the assistant deputy minister, Mr. E. H. Scammell, gives some illuminating and impressive figures. The department, at the end of 1919, was maintaining, under its direct operation, 44 hospitals and sanitaria; was partially operating six others, and was maintaining beds in 54 other institutions by arrangement. There were on the strength of the department 6,520 in-patients, 1,634 out-patients, and there was a weekly average of 8,993 outside clinic treatments being given. The Vocational Training Branch was giving instruction to 27,602 men, a considerable number, of whom 20,107 were disabled men and 7,495 were men who had enlisted under the military age of 18 years. These men receive training according to their physical capabilities as well as their mechanical proficiency. At the end of December there were 3,988 men in training in curative workshops; 12,327 in schools, including those operated by the department, and 11,223 were being trained in industries. Not only is this department looking after the welfare of the returned soldier, but it is staffed very largely by returned soldiers, who comprise the great majority of its male personnel. The total staff at the head office and units, including hospital staff, on December 31 last, was 8,121, of which 3,766, or 46.4 per cent., were soldiers who served in France, 467 soldiers who served in England, and 277 who served in Canada. The remainder included men exempted or rejected, boys under military age, a relatively small number of male civilians, and 2,820 women and girls. This proportion of returned men in the administrative organization hardly warrants the familiar claim that the army is not adequately represented in the personnel.

The report of the Director of Medical Services gives some special attention to the treatment of tubercular cases and shows how prominent a place the "white plague" occupies among the afflictions of the returned soldier. It shows also, however, that every effort has been and is being made to check the inroads of the disease, the present extensive system of sanitaria having developed from small beginnings in 1905. Cases of tuberculosis already treated amount approximately to 7,000, while the mortality has been under 5 per cent. In 20 per cent. of cases the disease has been arrested and in 25 per cent. it has become quiescent. There were in January 2,032 consumptive cases under treatment in twenty-six sanitaria, while of those ex-soldiers who had previously received treatment 75 per cent. had been able to resume useful occupations in civil life. This is an encouraging result of the work done in only one of the several branches of civil re-establishment. Space does not permit a review of the very interesting details which are given as to the origin and treatment of the disease.

The same encouraging tone and similarly encouraging results are found in the reports of other branches, each dealing with an important work. The department, however, is not resting upon what it has accomplished, but is aiming at even better things. This promising spirit is found in the following characteristic paragraph among general observations: "The work of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment is still in a transitional stage, and progress must naturally be that of evolution. The conditions and problems which arise from day to day have had no precedent in the history of the world, and must be grappled with one by one as they arise. . . . The medical problems, as well as the other problems connected with the ex-soldier, are being solved as rapidly as is consistent with efficiency and the welfare of the individual." The department aims to improve upon a record which is already creditable, and probably unequalled in any other country.

POLAND.

First among the peoples rescued from the grip of the Central Powers, the Poles are receiving their baptism of fire. For several days their army along the eastern frontier has been subjected to a terrific assault from Trotsky's victorious veterans, with all the paraphernalia of modern war—tanks, airplanes, machine guns, heavy artillery. Although it is too early to predict the outcome, at present the Polish troops seem to have conducted themselves admirably and to have held firm at all points.

The Pole is a brave fighter. The unhappy history of his country, the fact that it fell an easy victim to the greed of its neighbors, its partition into three divisions and its century of subjection, resulted not from lack either of patriotism or of military prowess. Poland fell because of the hopeless weakness of her government, because of her antiquated and unworkable constitution.

Two centuries ago and over, there was no more redoubtable warrior in all the East than John Sobieski, the Polish hero. It was he who defeated the Russian forces of Alexis. It was he who overthrew the Turks at Choczim and Leopol. It was he who saved Christendom by leading his cavalry down the vine covered slopes of Kahlenberg and shattering the Moslem forces that were besieging Vienna. In the days of this hero king, Poland was a Power which had to be reckoned with by every court in Europe.

Today the Polish republic has had assigned to it a place of vital importance in the new world which has emerged from the chaos of the war. Placed as she is between Russia on the one hand and Germany on the other, she must serve not only as a bulwark against the armies of Lenine and Trotsky but as a counterweight to 75,000,000 Teutons of Central Europe.

How well Poland will play her difficult role remains to be seen. Apparently, however, she has made a good start. A stable, democratic government has been set up; a formidable army which is giving a good account of itself against the Bolsheviki has been collected, equipped and trained; progress has been made in the revival of industry. In fact, it seems not improbable that Poland will soon become, what once she was, one of the strongest of European Powers.

ST. STEPHEN MAN CRUSHED TO DEATH

Was Passing Between Two Cars When They Came Together and Caught Him.

St. Stephen, Auril 4.—The many friends of John H. McWha were shocked last night to hear of his accidental death which occurred in the C. P. R. yards here Saturday afternoon about five o'clock. Mr. McWha, who was a valued employee of the St. Croix Soap Manufacturing Co., was having the usual Saturday half holiday, and as is his custom he went across the tracks in front of the soap factory to watch the ice going out of the docks and also to look at his boat which had been hauled up. On returning it is supposed that he saw space enough between two cars to let his body through, and it being departure time for the evening train he no doubt thought that the yard crew would not be shifting, but just as he went to pass through the cars came together, catching him below the stomach.

No one saw the accident as the cars were behind a pile of sleepers, but the train crew, in looking for a car, heard a moan and discovered Mr. McWha pinned between the cars.

He was conscious and talked to the conductor, who held him while the cars were being pushed apart. He was immediately rushed to the hospital, but soon passed away.

Mr. McWha, who was sixty-eight years of age, was a highly respected citizen of this town, and had many friends who will regret to hear of his death.

Besides his wife, he leaves to mourn five sons, Cliff, of the Northwest; Percy, of Vancouver; Harmon, of Winnipeg, and Arthur and Fred at home; also two daughters, Mrs. Bruce Buchanan, of this town, and Mrs. Clifford Morrison, of Calais.

WHAT "BONE-DRY" MEANS IN ALBERTA

Edmonton, Alta., April 4.—Premier Stewart made clear his interpretation of "bone-dry" in the legislature Saturday when proposed amendments to the liquor act, submitted by Dr. Stanley, were being discussed. 'I take it,' said the Premier, "that bone-dry does not mean that the doctors can write prescriptions for liquor as medicine or anything else, so the doctors will be relieved of that if they will assist other citizens in voting on the plebiscite."

The plebiscite referred to is to be taken in this province some time in June to finally determine the question for Alberta of inter-provincial traffic in liquor. The Premier takes the stand that if the vote is overwhelmingly against the importation of liquor the province will go "bone-dry."

FATHER J. J. RYAN TO GO TO ST. JOHN

Former Pastor of St. Anthony's Appointed to Succeed Late Father O'Neill.

St. Stephen, N. B., April 4.—The congregation of the Catholic church at Milltown was rather saddened in attendance at the first Mass this morning, when their pastor, Rev. J. J. Ryan, announced that he had been appointed to succeed the late Rev. Father O'Neill as pastor of the Church of the Assumption in St. John, for his removal at this time had not been anticipated by his congregation. Father Ryan came to Milltown in September last from Woodstock, when Father Meehan was transferred to the Church of St. John the Baptist after a brief pastorate following the death of Father Doyle, who had held the Milltown pastorate during many years. As has been his lot in every parish he has ministered to, Father Ryan had early won the esteem of his parishioners and the people generally, and it is regretted that the pleasant relations established are so soon to be broken. Father Ryan will say farewell to the congregation at Milltown next Sunday. His successor has not yet been announced.

The Stock Market

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York (Wall Street), April 5.—Resumption of trading in the stock market today after the Easter recess was attended by an irregular undertone due in part to latest foreign developments. This was not reflected in foreign exchange, however, the London rate continuing to strengthen. Oils, shippings and motor features the backward issues, losing one to almost two points. The stronger stocks were represented by equipments and specialties, notably food, tobacco, rubber and textile shares, also utilities.

FROM THE PEOPLE

BONUS IS COMPENSATION.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—The Ways and Means Committee at Washington is considering whether or not ex-service men are justified in demanding from the government extra compensation, termed a bonus, for service which generally was compulsory.

The opponents to the proposition of granting a bonus assert that willingness to accept almost anything as long as it appears to be a gift and not necessity is the human trait which really actuates the attitude of most ex-service men.

In this country we have had quite an agitation for bonus to the volunteer and the draftee.

If former soldiers sought to gain something for nothing, the granting of a bonus would indeed be unjustifiable, but if they conscientiously believe that the time and the opportunities which they lost by accepting active service instead of seeking employment in necessary war work at home entitle them to a bonus compensation, I think such a grant would be just and proper. Then it would not be a payment for patriotism; it would be an equitable sharing of war profits.

Under the volunteer form of military service the individual decided whether or not he would enlist; during the recent war, however, some were drafted and some compelled to serve. If they had the necessary physical or mental training or could procure the right influence at "court," a safe civilian berth with the government, paying two or three times their worth, was theirs; otherwise it was, "Where do we go from here, boys?"

Money can never pay for dangers braved or hardships endured. No such payment is sought. But I do think that ex-service men should receive a proportionate adjustment of back pay through a tax levied upon the stay-at-home profiteers; and there are many stay-at-homes who have been great profiteers.

Yours,
A BOY WHO FOUGHT.
Aroostook Falls, N. B., April 1, 1920.

THE DEATH PENALTY.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—The question is often advanced—it has recently been advanced in New York—shall capital punishment be abolished?

An often used argument in the affirmative is that fear of capital punishment does not prevent people from committing murder.

My opinion is that if the nation should abolish capital punishment the number of murders would increase by hundreds.

Yours,
T. H. B.
Presque Isle, Me., April 1, 1920.

WORSE THINGS THAN SMOKE.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I assure you that it is with the sincerest sympathy that I now take my pen to answer and possibly to enlighten your correspondent from Chatham (S. M.), whose complaint regarding smoking appeared in your columns a few days ago. Primarily, I desire to make it clear that I am a busy man, consequently I do not consider myself in a position to delve into research work to aid our friend, but these few remarks are merely little suggestions that occurred to me which I hope may be of value to our friend.

Regarding the matter from a strictly neutral standpoint I might remind S. M. that he is extremely fortunate in that the tobacco in question is not of a species commonly known as "Le Tabac Canadien." This is merely a presumption on my part, for I have myself been subjected to the dreadful aroma of such a weed and I must say that its stench is not unlike the smoldering of decayed cabbage leaves, which at once fills the innocent bystander with horror, turns his head and—but 'nuf sed! My assumption in this case is that no educated family of such a genteel character as my friend's letter indicates would allow the consumption by fire of such a horridly cured tobacco within the precincts of its living room. Again I remind him that he has indeed much to be grateful for.

I note that it has been suggested that our friend might retire to the roof and spend the evening in peace and quietness, but this course I am sure would by no means tend to improve his disposition on the following day. Moreover, I am sure that the chilly breezes of night in such an elevated position would be more unpleasant than the stench of the weed. Again, our friend wishes to enjoy the evening in the bosom of his family in the smoke befouled living room therefore I would avocate the immediate acquirement and use of a gas mask.

At this point a second scheme suggests itself to my mind. S. M. informs us that he is no crank and not quite 20; also his frank letter indicates that he is refined and polished—(brace up, my boy, this is merely a suggestion)—how about the girl question? Surely this would mean a favorable solution, since a peaceful evening, on a cosy corner, unattended by the dreadful joy of nicotine would be bliss indeed to such a martyr. (N. B.—Provided of course you had the right girl).

Now I wish to intimate to our friend a little pet scheme of my own, for I also am the victim of the whims of another. Yes, my dear boy, I must admit it—I'm married. Five long years have I been a slave of the marriage vows! Five years ago I was a strapping young fellow without a care in the world—then I happened! How quickly were my dear old apartments transformed! College cushions, banners, pipes, cigars and cigarettes were in no time transferred to the garbage heap and the first commandment of the house read: "Thou shalt not smoke in the living room, nor in the kitchen, nor in the bedroom, yea, not even within the walls of thine own house." At this time I was forced to admit my membership to the mystic shrine whither I could wend my weary way, enjoy the weed, meet the fellows and spend an evening in peace and comfort and not "smoke up" the "beautiful" curtains of dear wifey. Five long years have I labored and thought over a device to consume the tobacco fumes and enable me to have some of the fellows in for a short session in our living room, while wifey is spending a few weeks with "mother." Thus far I have not succeeded and my pipe and cigars must remain uninitiated to the seclusion of our living room. But I am living in hope. Perhaps our friend's great dislike for these very fumes which I so dearly love would tend to provide me with some fruitful suggestions.

Finally, I note our friend's worried inquiry regarding the ill effects of a second hand smoke, if such I might be allowed to term it. Let me advise him that continued worry over such a matter would in reality prove of a far greater detrimental nature than the immediate effects. Let me also advise him that power of will would undoubtedly remedy any ill effect that might be contracted, for "by believing that one is entirely above the detrimental effects of such a nature there is no power in the universe that can keep him from being so."

Yours to a cinder,
UNCLE DUDLEY.

INSPECTORS SEIZE THREE CASES ALE

17J Cases of Liquor Arrive in St. John Friday Addressed to as Many Individuals.

St. John, April 3.—Three cases of strong ale were seized this morning at the office of the Dominion Express Co. by Inspectors McAnnish and Kerr, on the grounds that they were improperly addressed. That the citizens of St. John are not suffering from the drought which is supposed to accompany prohibition is indicated by the fact that no less than 170 cases of liquor, mostly whiskey, arrived in the city yesterday, addressed to almost as many individuals.

MEDICINE HAT HAS RENTAL TAX

Edmonton, Alta., April 3.—Medicine Hat was given the right to institute a tax on rental value of all properties by the municipal law committee of the Legislature which considered amendments to the Medicine Hat charter. The city was also given the right to institute a poll tax of $10 per person, which, however, is offset against any other taxes paid, so that it will catch only those who pay no other sums.

Tough as a Tire Tread—
This Hose Cover

IN mines, quarries, tunnel work, shipyards and structural steel work, the tough cover on Goodyear Air Drill Hose and Goodyear Pneumatic Tool Hose has resulted in more work and a lowering of hose cost.

The life of hose in this work depends about 75% on the cover. Dragged over rock and ore and steel girders, tramped on and run over, it takes a tough and well-designed hose to give any length of service.

We have records of Goodyear Air Drill Hose in constant service for 18 months to 2 years.

The cover of white rubber is as tough as a tire tread. It is extra thick. It wears long, even under rough handling.

To balance such a good cover is a specially developed, oil-resisting inner tube; and fabric of extra strength.

So good are Goodyear Pneumatic Tool Hose and Goodyear Air Drill Hose that five-ply is found as satisfactory as six or seven-ply of old-style hose.

The thoroughness with which Goodyear Air Drill and Pneumatic Tool Hose has been designed and built, is paralleled in every kind of Goodyear Industrial Hose. The problems of each industry have been studied carefully. The solution to those problems has been worked out in the Goodyear laboratories. The Goodyear Industrial Hose man has a mighty interesting story to tell to industrial executives. No obligation on your part if you have him call. Just phone, wire or write the nearest branch.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 5. — The London Times this morning suggests that the council of the League of Nations, which is to meet in London in a few days to consider the offer of the mandate for Armenia which has been made to it by the supreme council, should "not merely accept or reject the proposals of the supreme council, but, before declaring itself, insist upon receiving a binding declaration of the intentions of the Allied governments and a precise definition of the practical means which those governments and the neutral members of the League are ready to place at its disposal."

"For what is at stake," the newspaper says, "is not only Armenia, but possibly the very existence of the League of Nations itself."

It is reported also that after the passengers left the steamer a box of ammunition was found on the deck. The supposed owner, surprised by the police, dumped it overboard to escape the consequences.

ADVOCATES CASH BONUS TO SOLDIERS

Liberal Candidate in Temiskaming Would Give $1.05 a Day to Overseas Men.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Haileybury, Ont., April 5.—At a meeting here Saturday night in the interests of A. C. Slaght, the Liberal candidate in the Temiskaming Federal bye-election, Mr. Slaght charged Sir James Lougheed, Senator, with inefficiency in the handling of the returned soldiers. Mr. Slaght declared himself as in favor of a cash grant to the returned soldiers.

"I advocate the payment of $1.05 to every man for each day he served in France," said Mr. Slaght, "sixty cents for each day served in England and thirty cents a day for each day in Canada."

This plan, he admitted, would cost the country about $300,000,000, but "it would settle the matter, once for all," in his opinion.

Fred Pardee, M. P. for West Lambton, supported Mr. Slaght. He said that neither he nor Mr. Slaght was a free trader.

"Theoretically we are," he added, "but practically we are not, for the reason that we know that a reasonable measure of protection must be provided for the making of a new and young country."

This carriage shaft broke because it rolled around the joints and bolts. A clear case of loss through lack of surface protection. Exposure would have meant little if the vehicle had been kept well painted and varnished.

Paint applied to your verandah or porch—say once in every two or three years, will prevent decay. Without protection rot is inevitable. Save the Surface.

They Know at Halifax

IN Halifax, you may learn much about ships, but nothing more important than the value of surface protection.

Immense quantities of paint are used on ships—usually three coats all over, amounting to several dozen barrels to a ship. This expenditure for surface protection, however, is not incurred merely to make ships look well, although, naturally that is one result. The main object is to preserve all surfaces against the sea, the storms, and the sun of every climate into which ships sail.

And what is true of ships is true of everything else. If it has a surface it needs surface protection.

If you will keep the surface of your house, your barn, your office-building, protected with Paint and Varnish inside and outside, you will keep it safe against weather and wear, almost for all time—a wonderful result for small expenditure.

Remember that wood, metal, stucco and often concrete, must have surface protection if they are to be preserved in their original strength and beauty..

THIS ANNOUNCEMENT is issued by the Canadian Save the Surface Campaign Committee, for the purpose of educating the public in the Preservative and Protective value of Paint, Varnish and Allied Products for the Conservation of Property, and has received the approval of the Canadian Trade Commission in the following words:

"The realization of the above objects will lead to employment during the Reconstruction Period and bears our entire approval."

MARATHON RACE AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES

Excellent Course Over War-Torn Country Selected for Famous Event.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Antwerp, April 5.—The course for the Olympic Marathon race, the principal individual event of the Olympic Games, has been officially selected and promises an excellent test for the long distance runners of the world.

The start of the race, provisionally set for August 21 or 23, will be made from the Royal Palace at Laeken, just outside of Brussels, and the finish will be made in the Olympic Stadium at Antwerp. The distance will be 26.56 miles, including the final laps over the Stadium track proper.

Leaving Laeken, the runners will follow a little used road from the Palace for a kilometre, making a detour which will bring them to the main highway between Brussels and Antwerp. This road is almost as level as a table and leads through five or six small villages as well as the large city of Malines. There is but one hill of not more than ten per cent. grade, near Malines, and this is the only obstacle which the competitors will have to surmount during the race. All traffic will be stopped during the race and the course will be well guarded.

SYNOTT MAY BE DEBARRED FROM THE OLYMPICS

Chatham Hockey Player Has to Prove He Was Amateur in Native Country.

SLIGHTEST FLAW TO BE ENOUGH TO BAR

Chatham Boy to Show that He Never Played With or Against "Pro."

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 5.—Late reports from Belgium indicate that the Olympic games eligibility rules, always strictly enforced in past Olympiads, will be observed to the letter in the international meet at Antwerp next summer. The slightest flaw in the status of an athlete is sufficient to bar him from the games, according to a statement made by F. W. Rubien, secretary of the Olympic Committee.

The rules are as follows:

"Admission only amateur athletes to be admitted to the Olympic games.

"Necessary conditions required for the representation of any given country—it is necessary to be a native of any given country or a naturalized citizen of same or of the sovereign power to which said nation forms a part.

"Whoever has taken part in the Olympic games as a citizen of any given nation cannot be admitted in any future Olympiads as a candidate for any other nation, even if he has been naturalized in that country, save and excepting cases of conquest or the creation of fresh states, duly ratified by treaty.

"In case of naturalization, the naturalized subject must supply adequate proofs that he was an amateur in his native country up to the time of his change of nationality."

Much interest will doubtless be shown on the part of hockey followers in New Brunswick in the effect which the Olympic rules will have on the personnel of the United States hockey team that is to compete at Antwerp.

Frank ("Red") Synott, one of the forwards of the American team, learned his hockey, before going to Boston a few years ago, at Chatham, N. B., playing with the Chatham team in the New Brunswick league some years ago at a time when amateur regulations were not very seriously considered and when all the players were generally understood to be pulling down some recompense for their efforts. He also played baseball at Chatham in what was generally regarded as semi-professional company.

The steps taken to "supply adequate proofs that he was an amateur in his native country up to the time of his change of nationality" will therefore be watched with interest, and his many friends will hope that "Red" succeeds.—J. D. B.

Scotch Couple, With $40,000,000, Looking for Place to Make New Home.

Edmonton, Alta., April 2.—Trying to find a place in which to establish a home worthy of a fortune of some $40,000,000 is the bothersome task that has kept Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, of Scotland, on the move over since the war ended. They have been spending a few days in Edmonton. But this city offered no attractions for this $40,000,000 couple and they have left for Prince Rupert. Then they jump to California. The tale of the Campbells reads like fiction. Leaving their Scottish homes years ago, they went to Java. Here they acquired large plantations and other holdings. Then during the war opportunity came their way and they sold out all their interests in Java for a sum that was stated to be close to $50,000,000.

FRANCE DEPENDS ON AID OF ALLIES

The Bonds Between the Allies Must Be Strengthened Continually, Says Tardieu.

Brussels, April 3.—The salvation of France lies in maintaining her alliance with the Anglo-Saxon peoples—Great Britain and the United States—Andre Tardieu, former French Commissioner to the United States, declared in a lecture here yesterday on "France and her Allies."

Mr. Tardieu added that France and Belgium had common interests, which rendered a union between the two countries vitally necessary.

After dealing with the crisis confronting France and her Allies as a result of the extraordinary drain upon their resources caused by a war of five years, Mr. Tardieu pointed out that France had retrieved much of her losses by hard work. He gave figures to show that Germany, having resumed work, was in a position to pay the indemnities demanded.

"All our efforts must tend toward execution of the peace treaty," Mr. Tardieu continued. "Let us not forget that peace will be what we make it, and that the bonds between the Allies must be strengthened continually. It must not be supposed that the understanding will be maintained automatically. Our utmost endeavor must be exerted to assure the stability of their union."

True Knights of Faith

'In the chamber above you. May the saints be with us all!" He rose from the couch and left the chamber, while Alleyne could hear his feet sounding upon the winding stair. The young squire walked across to the window and gazed out at the moonlit landscape, his mind absorbed by the thought of the Lady Tiphaine, and of the strange words that she had spoken as to what was going forward at Castle Twynham. Leaning his elbows upon the stonework, he was deeply plunged in reverie, when in a moment his thoughts were brought back to Villefranche and to the scene before him.

The window at which he stood was in the second floor of that portion of the castle which was nearest to the keep. In front lay the broad moat, with the moon lying upon its surface, now clear and round, now drawn lengthwise as the breeze stirred the waters. Beyond, the plain sloped down to a thick wood, while further to the left a second wood shut out the view. Between the two an open glade stretched, silvered in the moonshine, with the river curving across the lower end of it.

As he gazed, he saw of a sudden a man steal forth from the wood into the open clearing. He walked with his head sunk, his shoulders curved, and his knees bent, as one who strives hard to remain unseen. Ten paces from the fringe of trees he glanced around, and waving his hand he crouched down, and was lost to sight among a belt of furze-bushes. After him there came a second man, and after him a third, a fourth, and a fifth, stealing across the narrow open space and darting into the shelter of the brushwood. Nine-and-seventy Alleyne counted of these dark figures flitting across the line of the moonlight. Many bore huge burdens upon their backs, though what it was that they carried he could not tell at the distance. Out of the one wod and into the other they passed, all with the same crouching, furtive gait, until the black bristle of trees had swallowed up the last of them.

For a moment Alleyne stood in the window, still staring down at the silent forest, uncertain as to what he should think of these midnight walkers. Then he bethought him that there was one beside him who was fitter to judge on such a matter. His fingers had scarce rested upon Aylward's shoulder ere the bowman was on his feet, with his hand outstretched to his sword.

"Qui va?" he cried. "Hola! mon petit. By my hilt! I thought there had been a camisade. What then, mon gar.?"

"Come hither by the window, Aylward," said Alleyne. "I have seen four-score men pass from yonder shaw across the glade, and nigh every man of them had a great burden on his back. What think you of it?"

"I think nothing of it, mon camarade! There are as many masterless folk in this country as there are rabbits on Cowdray Down, and there are many who show their faces by night but would dance in a hempen collar if they stirred forth in the day. On all the French marches are droves of outcasts, reivers, spoilers, and rawlatches, of whim I judge that these are some, though I marvel that they should dare to come so nigh to the castle of the seneschal. All seems very quiet now," he added, peering out of the window.

"They are in the further wood," said Alleyne.

"And there they may bide. Back to rest, mon petit; for, by my hilt! each day now will bring its own work. Yet it would be well to shoot the bolt in yonder door when one is in strange quarters. So!" He threw himself down upon his pallet and in an instant was fast asleep.

It might have been about three o'clock in the morning when Alleyne was aroused from a troubled sleep by a low cry or exclamation. He listened, but, as he heard no more, he set it down as the challenge of the guard upon the walls, and dropped off to sleep once more. A few minutes later he was disturbed by a gentle creaking of his own door, as though some one were pushing cautiously against it, and immediately afterwards he heard the soft thud of cautious footsteps upon the stair which led to the room above, followed by a confused noise and a muffled groan. Alleyne sat up on his couch with all his nerves in a tingle, uncertain whether these sounds might come from a simple cause—some sick archer and visiting leech perhaps—or whether they might have a more sinister meaning. But what danger could threaten them here, in this strong castle, under the care of famous warriors, with high walls and a broad moat around them? Who was there that could injure them? He had well nigh persuaded himself that his fears were a foolish fancy, when his eyes fell upon that which sent the blood cold to his heart and left him gasping, with hands clutching at the counterpane.

Right in front of him was the broad window of the chamber, with the moon shining brightly through it. For an instant something had obscured the light, and now a head was bobbing up and down outside, the face looking in at him, and swinging slowly from one side of the window to the other. Even in that dim light there could be no mistaking those features. Drawn, distorted and blood stained, they were still those of the young fellow-squire who had sat so recently upon his own couch. With a cry of horror Alleyne sprang from his bed and rushed to the casement, while the two archers, aroused by the sound, seized their weapons and stared about them in bewilderment. One glance was enough to show Edricson that his fears were but too true. Foully murdered, with a score of wounds upon him and a rope round his neck, his poor friend had been cast from the upper window and swung slowly in the night wind, his body rasping against the wall and his disfigured face upon a level with the casement.

'My God!" cried Alleyne, shaking in every limb. "What has come upon us? What devil's deed is this?"

"Here is flint and steel," said John stolidly. "The lamp, Aylward! This moonshine softens a man's heart. Now we may use the eyes which God hath given us."

"By my hilt!" cried Aylward, as the yellow flame flickered up, "it is indeed young master Ford, and I think that this seneschal is a black villain, who dare not face us in the day but would murther us in our sleep. By the twang of string! if I do not soak a goose's feather with his heart's blood, it will be no fault of Samkin Aylward of the White Company.'

"But, Aylward, think of the men whom I saw yesternight," said Alleyne. "It may not be the seneschal. It may be that others have come into the castle. I must go to Sir Nigel ere it be too late. Let me go, Aylward, for my place is by his side."

"One moment, mon gar. Put that steel head-piece on the end of my yew-stave. So! I will put it first through the door; for it is ill to come out when you can neither see nor guard yourself. Now, camarades, out swords and stand ready! Hola, by my hilt! it is time that we were stirring!"

As he spoke, a sudden shouting broke forth in the castle, with the scream of a woman and the rush of many feet. Then came the sharp clink of clashing steel, and a roar like that of an angry lion—"Notre Dame Du uesclin! St. Ives! St. Ives!" The bow-man pulled back the bolt of the door, and thrust out the head-piece at the end of the bow. A clash, the clatter of the steel-cap upon the ground, and, ere the man who struck could heave up for another blow, the archer had passed his sword through his body. "On, camarades, on!" he cried; and, breaking fiercely past two men who threw themselves in his way, he sped down the broad corridor in the direction of the shouting.

FRASER MEMORIAL HOSPITAL CONTRACT HAS BEEN AWARDED

Announcement Made Work Will Be Started as Soon as Frost Leaves Ground.

COST ESTIMATED FROM $150,000 TO $200,000

Name of Firm Given Contract Will Be Made Public This Week.

The contract for the Fraser Memorial, the gift of the late Donald Fraser, who founded the lumber business now carried on by the Fraser Companies Limited, to the city of Fredericton has been awarded.

The announcement was made here on Saturday evening by Donald Fraser, jr., before he left for his home at Plaster Rock by C. N. R., and he stated that the details of the contract would be given out this week, when the name of the successful tenderers will be made public.

The contract calls for the work to be undertaken as soon as the frost is out of the ground, the new building being erected on a site that has been provided west of the present Victoria Public Hospital buildings. It will be a stone structure, three storeys in height, with all modern equipment and will be built on percentage basis by the contractors. The estimated cost is between $150,000 and $200,000.

The late Donald Fraser provided before his death for the erection of this hospital building as well as the Fraser Memorial Hall as a Sunday School building for St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. The latter was constructed and opened two years ago but previous calls for tenders did not bring satisfactory offers to the late Mr. Fraser's sons, Archibald and Donald Fraser, with the result that the awarding of a contract has been delayed until this time. The new building will provide much needed additional accommodations at Victoria Hospital, where Miss Sansom, the matron, declared this morning an even larger number of patients than last year were now being taken care of and the capacity overtaxed.

Frasers' Tobique Bill Introduced This Week

The Provincial Legislature will resume its session here after the Easter recess and, it is announced, work will be expedited in an effort to reach prorogation as early as possible.

This week, it is now said, the bill to authorize the construction of a dam and the building of pulp and paper mills by the Fraser interests at the Narrows on the Tobique river will be introduced in the House.

Premier Foster has already advised the members to expect a number of late night sessions this week.

BRILLIANT NUPTIAL EVENT IS POSTPONED

Critical Illness of Bride-to-Be Causes the Indefinite Postponement of Wedding.

Announcement was made today that the marriage of Miss Irma Shaw, daughter of Mrs. Howard Shaw, of this city, and John George Breslin, of London, Eng., which was to have taken place at Christchurch Cathedral on April 14th, with a reception at the A. and B. Clubhouse, following the ceremony, has been indefinitely postponed on account of the critical illness of the bride-to-be.

A telegram received last evening from Mrs. Shaw, who with her daughter has been visiting friends in New York, Newport and Boston, announced that Miss Shaw was critically ill in Boston. They had expected to return here tomorrow and Mr. Breslin has already arrived in New York and was expected here in a few days.

No word has been received as to when the wedding, which was to have been one of the most brilliant nuptial events in Fredericton for years, will take place. Further particulars of Miss Shaw's illness are expected today or tomorrow.

LEG CAUGHT IN WHEEL.

Six-Year-Old Boy Got Stocking Caught in Wheel of Carriage and Broke Thigh in Two Places.

John Forrester, a little six-year-old boy residing on Waterloo Row, was the victim of a painful accident late yesterday afternoon when he attempted to steal a ride on a passing carriage.

Mr. and Mrs. McArthur, of Morrison's Mills, were returning from Marysville, where they were attending a funeral yesterday afternoon, and on their way down Waterloo Row heard a child scream in agony at the back of their carriage. They immediately stopped the horse and, on getting out of the carriage were horrified to find a little boy with his leg all tangled up in the wheel. In attempting to get on the carriage his stocking caught in one of the spokes of the wheel and his leg turned with the wheel. He was picked up and carried to his home nearby, and Dr. Irvine, who was called, found he had sustained a compound fracture of the thigh and took him to Victoria Hospital for treatment.

NEW TEXT BOOK TO REPLACE MYERS' GENERAL HISTORY

Committee Meeting Here Today to Select New Text Book for Province.

HISTORY OF BRITISH AUTHORSHIP LIKELY

Samples Will Be Presented to Committee But Prices Are Not Available.

A new text book to replace Myers' General History in the schools of New Brunswick is to be selected at a meeting of the Provincial Text Book Committee, which is being held this afternoon at the Education Department offices.

The committee who are meeting are the History and Literature division of the General Text Book Committee of New Brunswick, but it is expected that others than the members of the sub-committee will be present. Dr. W. S. Carter, chief superintendent of Education, will preside at the meeting and others attending are expected to be Dr. C. C. Jones, chancellor of the University of New Brunswick; Dr. H. S. Bridges, superintendent of schools at St. John; Dr. H. V. B. Bridges, principal of the Normal School; Inspector Hebert, of Bathurst, and Joseph Harrington, principal of St. Peter's School, St. John.

This morning Dr. Carter said there would be a general review of the work of the inter-provincial text book committee, which had met at Halifax and considered text books for the schools of the Maritime Provinces, and he also said the first steps would be taken towards getting a new text book to replace Myers' General History. The Chief Superintendent said he had some samples of general histories of British authorship to present to the committee, but he had been unable to secure quotations as to prices from the publishers because of the uncertainty of costs of paper and production generally.

It was further said today that there were a number of other changes of text books in contemplation but that these would not likely be made until the prices had been adjusted, as the present was not looked upon as a satisfactory time to be making new contracts.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Duffy, of Chipman, were guests over Sunday at the Barker House.

W. S. Emery, of Woodstock, is at the Barker House.

C. N. R. DRIVER MAY ASK TO PLEAD NOT GUILTY NOW

William Grant to Appear in Police Court Tomorrow for Sentence.

MAGISTRATE INTIMATES CHANGE NOT ALLOWED

Result of the Dorcas Trial Makes Change of Plea Seem "Advisable."

William Grant, the C.N.R. engineer who pleaded guilty to receiving liquor he knew to be stolen from a C.N.R. car at Napudogan, will appear before Police Magistrate Limerick tomorrow morning for a hearing.

It was stated today that it was very likely that Grant, as a result of the outcome of the Dorcas trial, would make application to have his plea changed. When asked this morning concerning this, Police Magistrate Limerick stated that no provision was made in his court for such an occurrence. The fact that one man had escaped punishment by pleading not guilty did not show a reason, the Magistrate said, why another guilty man should escape. He further stated that he had had the same thing occur before in his court and had not granted the application; and he saw no reason why he should change in this case.

Judge Limerick said that when Grant had first appeared the charge of stealing liquor was changed to that of receiving stolen liquor, as Grant had stated he would not plead guilty to stealing the liquor. "He is guilty," the Magistrate said, "and should take his punishment."

VLADIVOSTOK TAKEN BY JAPS

City is Captured After Eight Hours Severe Fighting

Whole City is Now in the Hands of the Attacking Force

HAVE DISARMED THE RUSSIANS

Many of the Russians Escaped to Hills During the Attack.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Vladivostok, April 5.—Japanese troops yesterday occupied Vladivostok, after eight hours of severe fighting in all parts of the city.

THE RUSSIAN FORCES TAKEN BY SURPRISE

The Japanese imperial flag is flying in the place of the Russian ensign from all Government buildings.

Some of the offiials of revolutionary contingents already have been arrested and deported. All Russians have been disarmed.

Throughout last night the Japanese fought with rifles, mahine guns, grenades and small artillery in all portions of the city. Their incessant firing met little opposition, as the Russians were taken by surprise, the Japanese move toward occupation having been unexpected by the party in power.

Many Escaped Into Hills.

Many Russians escaped into the hill country behind the city, whence they came two months ago when the all-Russian Government of Admiral Kolchak fell before the attack of a revolutionary party.

Early yesterday the Japanese launched their attack in the Korean quarter, which they occupied. Later they marched Korean and Russian prisoners, tied together with ropes, through many of the streets of the city.

The last of the American Expeditionary Force, under Brig. General William S. Graves, left Vladivostok April 1. A few hours subsequent to their departure a proclamation was posted throughout the city stating Japanese troops would not evacuate Siberia at the present time. The proclamation warned all inhabitants against any unfriendly attitude on the part of the Russian population. The tenseness of the situation had increased hourly since that time until the clash yesterday.

The Ousted Revolutionists.

Russian revolutionary forces took control of Vladivostok early in February after having made a night raid upon the city. The commander of the All-Russian forces in the city, General Rozaznov, escaped and took refuge on a Japanese cruiser in the harbor, later going to Japan.

Subsequent to assuming power in the city, the revolutionary authorities maintained control for the purpose of handing affairs over to the administration of Bolshevik officials, which are now assumed to be on their way to the far east from Moscow.

Recent advices from the far east have indicated the Japanese were concentrating their forces along the Ussuri railroad, north of Vladivostok, and the Chinese eastern railroad, in Manchuria.

AN ITALIAN HONOR.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Nice, France, April 6.—President Deschanel yesterday received the insignia of the Order of the Annunziala from Prince D'Udine, in the name of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy.

Will the Allies Support France?

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 16.—Chief interest in the situation as evinced by newspapers here is whether the Allies will support France, and to what extent. This query was put to Premier Millerand by the Echo de Paris last night, the Premier answering: 'England was victorious, and so was France. I am confident everything will work out perfectly."

Asked who would pay the expense incident to occupation, Millerand replied: "Why, Germany, obviously, since it was she that, by her acts, obliged us to resort to coercion."

Premier Millerand today formally notified Dr. Von Mayer, the German charge d'affaires, of action of French government in ordering the advance and informed him that as soon as there had been complete evacuation of the neutral zone by the German troops the French would evacuate the cities they had been ordered to occupy.

GERMAN CITIES ENTERED TODAY

French Troops Enter Frankfort-on-Main and Darmstadt Without Trouble.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 6.—French soldiers today occupied the German cities of Frankfort-on-Main and Darmstadt, 16 miles south.

Forces commanded by General De Goutte which have been holding the Mayence Bridgehead were ordered forward by Marshal Foch, following the efforts on the part of the French government yesterday to induce the Berlin government to withdraw its forces from the neutral zone along the eastern bank of the Rhine, where they had been ordered to disperse communistic units that for the past fortnight have conducted a revolt in the Ruhr Valley.

It was about 5 o'clock this morning when French tanks entered Frankfort. They were followed by a battalion of sharpshooters and a company of engineers, and these troops occupied strategic points and the railroad station. Half a dozen tanks were posted near the station and the barracks and another force was stationed near police headquarters and the post office.

These troops held important entrances to the city until nine o'clock, when a battalion of Chasseurs detrained at the station.

The French troops also took over the barracks near the depot and occupied the Presidency of Police, the post, telegraph and telephone office, and the principal gates of the town. There was no trouble.

COST OF QUEBEC SCHOOLS.

Quebec, April 6.—The appropriations of the Quebec Catholic School Commission were approved at a meeting of the school board here last night and reached a total of $391,095.17, an increase of $57,681.14 over the year 1919-20, which will necessitate an increase in the school taxes from fifty-five cents to sixty cents per hundred dollars valuation.

Position of American Forces in Germany

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Coblenz, April 6.—The position of the American forces in Germany with reference to the Allied attitude and possible action growing out of the present situation, depends entirely upon direct orders from President Wilson. The American army authorities are keeping in close touch with all developments for information, but their direction is in the hands of Washington.

DISTRICT UNDER STATE OF SIEGE

French General Issues Proclamation to People of Occupied German Towns.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Mayence, April 6.—French troops entered Frankfort by five o'clock this morning, finding only a small German force left there to afford protection for the people. The occupation of the city was a mere military march and was not attended by any fighting.

Darmstadt was entered shortly afterwards by French forces. The German government garrison of that city had left at midnight to avoid contact with the French, and this morning was six miles east of the city.

General De Goutte has issued a proclamation to cities and towns within the area to be occupied, declaring that French troops have crossed the Rhine to compel the Berlin government to respect its agreement with the Allies and asserting there is no hostile intent toward the people of that region. The proclamation says the French troops will withdraw as soon as German government forces have evacuated the neutral zone, and declares no one will be affected by the presence of the French as long as order is maintained. The proclamation makes the following provisions for public order:

Frankfort, Darmstadt, Offenbach, Hochstadt, Koenigstein and Bieburg, as well as all towns and districts within the circles of Gross Gerau, Lang Schwaltbach and Wiesbaden, with the exception of Biebrich, are declared under a state of siege.

German authorities and public services will continue to function under French military officials, and strikes will not be tolerated.

People are temporarily forbidden to circulate in the various communities from nine o'clock at night until five in the morning.

More than five persons must not collect in streets or in private or public meetings without authorization.

Newspapers are temporarily suspended and permission must be given to use the telephone and telegraph. Postal censorship is temporarily established, wireless installations must be dismantled, and the use of carrier pigeons is forbidden.

All arms and grenades must be deposited in city halls within six hours after the posting of the proclamation but regular police will be allowed to retain sabres and revolvers. Safety guards must disarm. Any infraction of these rules will result in court martial.

"The General commanding the army of the Rhine," the proclamation concludes, "counts on the public powers and the population to understand the necessity for the above measures, and hopes repression will not be necessary."

KNIGHTS TO FIGHT FOR LAW AND ORDER

Grand Chancellor and Party to Tour West in Interests of the Order.

Ottawa, April 6.—Absolutely opposed to class government but pledged to support whatever government may have been elected to power by the people, the Knights of Pythias of America, with a membership of 850,000, will always fight for established law and order.

Such was the assurance of Hon. Chas. S. Davis, Supreme Chancellor of America, Denver, Colo., in the course of a stirring address before the members of the local branch, Damon Lodge, last night.

Hon. Mr. Davis is here in company with Alexander F. Carter, grand keeper of the records and seal, and James F. Barnes, past grand chancellor, both of Toronto, and is on his way to the west, where he is to tour the provinces in the interests of his organization.

U. S. MUST BORROW.

Washington, April 6.—The government will be a heavy borrower in April and May, despite the March reduction of $705,660,000 in the public debt, it was asserted last night.

ICE RUNNING IN UPPER RIVER; IS DOING DAMAGE

Two Spans and One Pier of the Hartland Bridge Carried Away at Noon.

ST. JOHN RIVER IS AT FRESHET HEIGHT

Ice Running Freely Today at Woodstock and Jam Forms at Hawkshaw Bridge.

The ice in the upper St. John river has started to run out and, accompanied by an exceptionally high freshet, is causing much damage.

Following an all-night downpour of rain last night, the ice started to run out below Grand Falls, while the water started to rise rapidly at the same time.

At Hartland, Carleton county, the most damage that has occurred so far has been done. Two spans and one pier on the western side of the highway bridge across the St. John river there were carried away at noon, as well as some barns and other buildings located along the river bank in Hartland.

REST OF THE BRIDGE MAY BE CARRIED OUT

The bridge had only been repaired and reinforced at great expense this winter and, aside from the monetary loss, which will probably be over $50,000, it means that Hartland is shut off from the Sumerville district on the western side of the river from which the town derives much of its most profitable trade.

People Forced to Leave Homes.

The freshet forced some of the people living near the river in Hartland to move out of their dwellings early this morning, and a great deal of difficulty was experienced in rescuing live stock in the barns on the river bank, some hens and other stock being carried away by the onrushing waters. This afternoon fear was expressed that the rest of the bridge might be carried away and other bridges along the river were said to be in serious danger.

Ice Jammed at Hawkshaw Bridge.

Measurements taken at the St. John River Log Driving Company's headquarters at North Devon at noon today showed the St. John river was rising here at the rate of an inch an hour, and it was predicted that by tonight it would be 10 feet above summer level. The ice, however, was holding solid here but was running very freely past Woodstock at noon today. Reports from Southampton, however, stated that the ice was jam-

Smuggle Whiskey By Airplane Now

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Washington, April 6.—Prohibition agents have been asked by the Washington officials to keep a sharp lookout for an airplane which flies over the Canadian border every night into Montana and drops a parachute. The information is that the parachute carries a quantity of whiskey, which is disposed of by boot-leggers.

After dropping the parachute the machine goes back into Canada without landing.

BODY OF MISSING GIRL FOUND IN LAKE

Daughter of Wealthy Chicago Packer Grieved Over Smallpox Marks on Face.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Chicago, April 6.—The body of Jeanne Anna Dekay, 20, protege of Miss Jane Adams, whose disappearance from Hull House, on Dec. 30th, was followed by a national search, was found yesterday in Lake Michigan, near the municipal pier.

Miss Dekay was the daughter of John Wesley Dekay, wealthy packer, now residing in Switzerland. She was sent to Chicago by her father soon after her graduation from a London boarding school. She arrived at Hull House last December to assist in work among the poor under Miss Jane Adams' direction.

"She was despondent while with us," Mrs. Britton, of the Hull House, said; "and grieved over the smallpox marks on her face."

Clark Identifies Wood As One of "Kidnappers"

Nothing to Show Why Clark Was Left For a Week After Committing Murder Without Being Placed Under Arrest

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

GRAND FALLS, N. B., April 6.—So far as has been announced there has been nothing develop in the investigation which has been carried on here to show why it was that Newman Clark had not been placed under arrest long before he had time to escape from a local hospital a week after he had shot and killed his girl victim.

In spite of the statement made by Dr. Puddington, in whose hospital he was a patient, that he had never shown any elevation of pulse or temperature and had been "eating like a horse," Clark was left absolutely without a guard or restraint of any kind after having committed one of the most deliberate murders in the annals of crime in New Brunswick. It seems that the officer who had been chiefly identified with the case was a Prohibition Inspector named McLaughlin.

Pair Taken From Grand Falls to County Jail at Andover

NOW SURE CLARK HAD SOME HELP

"Kidnappers" Likely to Have Been Friends Who Abandoned Job.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Grand Falls, N. B., April 6.—Newman Clark, who shot and killed Phoebe Bell, of this town, on March 25th, was taken at noon today to the Victoria county jail at Andover to await his trial on the charge of murder.

On the same train Sheriff Albion Foster and the other officers also took to the jail at Andover Peter Wood, of St. Andre, Madawaska county, near here, who is charged with having assisted Clark to escape from Dr. Puddington's private hospital here last Thursday night, following which he was recaptured on Sunday at Limestone, Me.

WOOD WAS IDENTIFIED BY CLARK AT HOTEL

Late yesterday afternoon at Curless' Hotel Clark formally identified Wood as one of the two men who "kidnapped" him from the hospital here about midnight last Thursday night, and Wood, whose arrest was first announced in a despatch to The Gleaner yesterday, was then taken before Magistrate James Kelly and remanded to the Victoria county jail to await trial. Clark's sensational story that he was kidnapped was published exclusively in The Gleaner yesterday.

"Kidnappers" Must Have Been Friends.

The departure of Attorney General Byrne, Sheriff Foster and the other officers from here on the same train today with the prisoners does not mean that the last has been heard of Clark's escape from the hospital. Clark's kidnapping story is not generally believed in many particulars here and will not be generally accepted unless it can be shown that the "kidnappers" were really agents of his friends. The most logical solution of the story seems to be that Clark was taken from the hospital, placed in a sleigh and driven to the swamp near Good Friday, where he was abandoned by his rescuers, who became afraid that from exhaustion and exposure he would die or that they would be caught with him as daylight was rapidly coming on.

Wood is about 27 years old, unmarried, and his occupation is given as that of a general laborer. It was at the home of one of his relatives in this town that Clark shot and killed Phoebe Bell during a party on the afternoon of Thursday, March 25th. It is an open secret here now that the investigators expect to be able eventually to show that whoever helped Clark make his getaway from Grand Falls acted on behalf of his friends. They have abandoned the theory that he walked unaided to Limestone, Me., as he first alleged, and Clark now admits that story was untrue.

Preliminary Examination of Clark on Murder Charge Set For Next Week at Andover

Believed that He Will Plead Not Guilty and Put Forward Plea of Insanity—Remanded to Victoria County Jail by Grand Falls Magistrate.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Grand Falls, N. B., April 6.—The preliminary examination of Newman Clark on the charge of having murdered Phoebe Bell at the home of Mrs. Herbert Wood here on Thursday, March 25th, is now due to commence at Andover on Thursday, April 13th.

Yesterday afternoon Clark appeared before Magistrate James Kelly here and was remanded to the county jail at Andover until the date mentioned. Charles J. Jones, of Woodstock, N. B., appeared on behalf of Clark, who it is said will plead not guilty and put forward a plea of insanity.

At noon today Clark was taken to the C. P. R. station by Sheriff Albion Foster and other officers, who left with him for Andover, where he was safely lodged this afternoon in a cell in the Victoria County Jail. He is still suffering from badly frost bitten feet, but otherwise seems in good shape considering his experiences.

NEW YORK POLICE RAID VICE RESORT

Found Liquor Was Served Freely and "Shimmy Shake" Danced Openly.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 6.—The police last night raided Peter's restaurant on the upper West Side, arrested the proprietor and three employees and announced they had seized a large quantity of liquor.

The restaurant was one of five places named by Rev. John R. Straton, of Calvary Baptist church, in a sermon Sunday, as a "vice resort" where "liquor was served freely and the 'shimmy shake' was danced openly."

Five hundred patrons of the restaurant were thrown into a panic by the raid and many rushed to waiting taxicabs and hurried away without their hats or coats.

The raid was made over the head of Police Inspector D. Henry, of the "Tenderloin' district, who is under investigation by a vice grand jury on charges preferred by Assistant District Attorney Jas. E. Smith.

Inspector Thomas McDonald, in charge of the police "vice squad," and the four detectives who made the arrests, reported they entered the restaurant and ordered whiskey, which he said they were served at $1.50 a drink.

DREAD INFLUENZA IN SASKATCHEWAN

Startling Story of the Inroads of Disease Among the Indian Population.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Prince Albert, Sask., April 6.—The record of influenza ravages in the area north of this city so far is 26 dead at Stanley and 17 dead at Lac Laronge. In the last few weeks the Indians at these places were without medical aid until last Monday, when Dr. Norquay, of North Battleford, was sent from this city to endeavor to combat the epidemic. A letter to the Bishop of Saskatchewan from the Rev. C. E. Hives tells a startling story of the inroads of the disease among the Indian population.

REFUSED TO MEET PRESIDENT FLYNN

Sir George Foster Gives Reasons for Declining to Receive Head of Veterans.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 6.—The letter sent by Sir George Foster to President J. Harry Flynn, of the United Veterans, was made public last night by the latter. It is as follows:

"Mr. J. Harry Flynn, New Russell Hotel, Ottawa.

"Dear Mr. Flynn,—The reasons why the government felt it was out of place that you should be received, either as a member of or as spokesman of the delegation of returned soldiers which was heard this morning, are probably quite well known to you.

"You have publicly employed such language to characterize your opinion of the government and its members that it did not seem willing to admit you to a conference with them.

"If you really believe what you have repeated so often of them, one can scarcely see why you seek to meet them; and if you did not, there is all the greater reason why the government should decline to meet you.

"Yours very truly,

"GEORGE E. FOSTER."

The Toronto delegates from veteran organizations, who interviewed the government yesterday, left last night for home. They expressed the hope that something would be done during the present session along the lines they urged.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

New York, April 6—In an unsuccessful effort to learn a stowaway's name at Ellis Island yesterday, Russian, Chinese, Arabic, English, Turkish, Italian, French, German and the deaf and dumb alphabet were applied vigorously, but the man did not wince. He was labelled "John Doe," and ordered deported to Italy, whence he came.

The differences had no connection with the switchmen's strike, which officials say has not affected the Rock Island Road.

Several Claimants for Valuable Sites Within the City Limits.

Quebec, April 5.—Following the three Ottawa citizens and the Montreal woman who claim title to the estate of Louis Herbert, first settler of Canada, and whose claims cover part of the upper town of this city, there comes another big claim.

This time the claimants allege relationship to Samuel De Champlain, the founder of Quebec City, and are Mr. Albert Boulet and Mrs. E. Soulard, both of Quebec.

The estate claimed covers part of Place Hill, the present site of the Citadel, of the Federal Observatory, Cove Fields, site of the Ross Rifle factory, the site of the Quebec jail and other smaller places, a total of approximately nine square miles, in the centre of the city. The claimants value the estate at $25,000,000.

OBITUARY.

Ivan Leslie Clewley.

The death of Ivan Leslie Clewley, which occurred at the hospital in this city on Thursday, March 31st, was heard of with regret by many friends. Mr. Clewley was the son of the late Albert H. and Adelia Clewley, of St. Stephen, and was 47 years of age. Death was caused by paralysis. Mr. Clewley was for a number of years a valued employee of the Hartt Boot and Shoe Co., and later had been employed with the John Palmer Co. He was an attendant of the Brunswick street Baptist church and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. He leaves to mourn his widow, formerly Miss Margaret McMorran, of St. Stephen, and three sons and five daughters, his eldest son being with the Royal North West Mounted Police. Much sympathy is expressed for them all in their bereavement. The remains were taken to St. Stephen on Thursday night, and the funeral services were conducted on Friday by the Rev. F. H. Holmes at the home of Mr. W. H. Stevens. The pall bearers were Mr. Joseph McMorran and Mr. Daniel McMorran, brothers-in-law of the deceased, and Mr. George Dinsmore and Mr. Albert Douglas.

Mr. Clewley's two eldest daughters, Misses Mabel and Adella, accompanied by Mr. Allan O'Leary, attended the funeral and were guests of Mr. W. H. Stevens.

Mrs. Mary MacKenzie Nelson.

The death of Mrs. Mary MacKenzie Nelson, wife of Robert Nelson, occurred on Saturday, April 3, at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. C. D. MacFarlane, in Whitehead, Kings county.

Miss Winnie Holland.

On Monday, Miss Winnie Holland, of Acton, died after a long illness, leaving her mother, Mrs. Alice Holland, three brothers and three sisters. Interment at Cork, York county. The deceased was a cousin of Rev. Walter M. Donahue, of Johnville.

MARY MAY STILL BE MRS. OWEN MOORE

Bomb Dropped Into Honeymoon of Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks by Authorities.

Los Angeles, April 5.—A bombshell was hurled into the honeymoon happiness of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks this afternon by the flat announcement from the office of the Attorney General of Nevada that a suit would be filed in the name of the people of Douglas county to set aside the decree of divorce granted Mary Pickford on March 2 from her husband, Owen Moore, at Minden, Nev. Such action, if successful, would render illegal the marriage of Mary Pickford to Douglas Fairbanks last Sunday night.

The probe of the divorce decree granted Miss Pickford was started by a resolution of the Nevada Bar Association, which demanded that the Attorney General make an investigation to ascertain whether or not the decree was obtained by collusion and fraud.

The announement is now made that the investigation has been carried far enough to warrant the statement that such suit would be filed. In order to secure a decree in Nevada a person seeking divorce must swear that he or she intends to make his or her permanent home in the State. Mary Pickford, when she filed suit at Minden against Owen Moore, took such an oath.

The fact that she left the State shortly after the decree was granted and returned to California, where she had lived for years, and within a few days married a man who has his permanent residence here, is regarded, it is said by the Attorney General's office, as proof positive that she did not act in good faith in establishing her residence in Nevada.

The fact also that the husband, Owen Moore, was conveniently located a mile or two away, when it was necessary to serve him with the papers in the case, is looked at with considerable suspicion by the Nevada officials

A Mexican in Arizona drank nearly a quart of wood alcohol and worked ten hours on the railroad the next day.

WOMEN WHO NEED STRENGTH

Should Take Advantage of Their Druggist's Guarantee

That Vinol Will Enrich the Blood, Create Strength, Restore Vitality and the Bloom of Health, or Will Return Your Money

Why will women continue to drag around sickly, ailing, tired all the time, nervous, and no energy or ambition to do anything, when we guarantee our non-secret cod liver and iron tonic, VINOL, to make rich, red blood, quicken the circulation and restore strength, vitality and energy to every organ and muscle of the body and impart the bloom of health to the countenance.

If women would just stop and consider that their weakened, sickly, ailing condition is almost always caused by poor, thin, watery blood and sluggish circulation, and how quickly VINOL enriches the blood, increases red corpuscles and restores old time vim, energy and vitality, we would not be able to get enough to supply the demand.

Druggists know what VINOL contains, and that it is a combination of the most successful tonics known to medicine, Iron, Cod Liver and Beef Peptones and Glycerophosphates. That is why they are so willing to guarantee it to help you or return your money.

GROUP INSURANCE AND LABOR.

Some employers of labor in Fredericton, as in other cities of Canada and the United States, have adopted the plan of insuring their employees under the group insurance system. Group insurance is just what the name implies, the insurance of a group of men upon a general plan. It may be applied so as to cover all the employees of a factory or industry, the insurance being in uniform amounts, or graded according to earning capacity or length of service. It may be what is known as straight life insurance, in which case the amount of the insurance is payable at death, or it may also provide, for payment of the full amount upon proof of total disability.

Under some group plans insurance is provided also against sickness and non-occupational injury. This insurance is taken out by the employer, whether an individual or a corporation, by whom the premiums are paid, and is usually applicable to all employees of more than three months' service; it may be made applicable to all. If the desire is to place all employees upon an equal footing, each is insured for the same amount, say one thousand dollars. If the earning capacity of the employee is made the basis of the insurance, the amount, within minimum and maximum limits, is the amount of his annual wage or salary, so that after his death his wage or salary continues for one year. If length of service is selected as the basis of insurance, the insurance principal increases annually from a fixed minimum to a fixed maximum. The schedules may vary, but the underlying idea is to reward the employee with progressive increases as his service continues. The great advantage of this class of insurance, from the standpoint of the employee, is that he enjoys its benefits without cost to himself. The contract is between the employer and the insurance company and is practically without restrictions as regards the insured. The latter receives his certificate of insurance, and remains insured so long as he continues in the employ of the insuring firm.

This may look like philanthropy; it is not, except in the broadest sense. Its advantages to the employee are obvious and substantial, but it is by no means without compensating advantages to the employer. The employee receives free insurance, without prejudice to his position in regard to wages or wage increases, and without prejudice to any rights or privileges otherwise enjoyed by him as an employee. The benefit to the employer is in the continuous service which group insurance encourages, in a reduction of what is known as the cost of labor turnover, in the promotion of a spirit of mutual confidence and co-operation, the sympathy of the employer, thus substantially manifested, begetting an increased loyalty on the part of the employee. It is a system which works both ways and it is this factor of mutual advantage which is the foundation and guarantee of its success.

So much will do as a rough outline of the scheme itself, enough to show that the employee has much to gain from its operation and nothing to lose. That would seem to be ground enough for the unanimous and even the enthusiastic endorsation of the plan by those who profess to be interested in the welfare of labor. And yet such endorsation has not been forthcoming. Employees who have come under the benefits of the system are, naturally, satisfied with it. But the international labor organizations do not like it, and representations to that effect have been made directly to employers who have adopted the plan in Montreal, says the Montreal Gazette. The reason is not far to seek or difficult to find. The international unions see their influence endangered by any improvement in the relations between employers and employees. The international agitators reason that they cannot hope to retain the same hold upon a contented and loyal employee as they can upon one who has no interest in his work or in the industry of which he is an element, beyond the receipt of his daily or weekly wage. It is not a question of improving the position of the worker, but of preserving the influence and power of international labor organizations. When these two purposes come into conflict, as in this matter of group insurance, it is the influence of the international organization which must survive. The choice is made without hesitation, and active hostility to the movement, which aims at an improved spirit between capital and labor, begins to manifest itself. It has manifested itself in Montreal, as the Gazette points out, and threatens to develop into a serious struggle. Such a situation, arising in such a way, not only warrants but requires some action by the Department of Labor. It is a clear case of direct interference by international organizations to block a movement calculated to advance the cause of better relations in industry. The Minister of Labor either has the facts in his possession or can get them. Having them, it is his duty to act or to justify inaction. Are the interests which he has at heart, and which, as a Minister, he seeks to advance, those of labor, or are they the interests of international unions first and those of labor second? What is he doing to support group insurance, as a practical means of bettering industrial relations and to protect it against interference by organizations which are international in the scope of their activities but foreign in their control? If he is doing nothing, and is prepared to do nothing, he should give his reasons.

IRELAND'S NEW SECRETARY.

In attaining the Chief Secretaryship for Ireland, a post associated with such great names as John Morley and Mr. Balfour, Sir Hamar Greenwood, who, we believe, is the first Colonial—if we may use that outworn term—to hold the position, achieves a high distinction in British politics, but also treads upon ground that has provided a graveyard for many a great reputation. In his "Recollections," Lord Morley amusingly relates how his friends implored him to refuse such a politically suicidal post when it was offered him by Mr. Gladstone; and recent years have offered numerous examples—(Mr. Birrell, Mr. Shortt and Mr. MacPherson are among the latest) of the political perils bestriding the path of the unfortunate administrator for Ireland.

Mr. Greenwood, however, possesses vigor, courage, and enthusiasm, and his insight into Irish problems, fortified with a knowledge of what federalism has achieved for Canada, is hardly inferior to some of his more recent predecessors, remarks an exchange. Like Mr. Shortt and Mr. MacPherson, he has always been a Home Ruler. Indeed, one of the most memorable and effective thrusts ever delivered in the British House against Sir Edward Carson came from Sir Hamar. It was during one of those hectic pre-war debates on the Irish question, when Mr. Dillon taunted the Ulster leader with having at one time been an advocate of Home Rule and a member of the National Liberal Club. Sir Edward arose and declared that the statement was untrue. "It is true," he said, "that at one time I was a Liberal, and that I was a member of the National Club. But just as soon as Mr. Gladstone introduced his Home Rule bill I left the Liberal party and cancelled my membership." The Unionists cheered; but their cheering was short-lived. For up from the back benches rose Mr. Greenwood with a telling counter. "The honorable gentleman," he remarked, in effect, "says that as soon as Mr. Gladstone introduced his Home Rule measure he withdrew from the National Liberal Club. I was sorry to hear him say it, because I hold in my hand a copy of the National Liberal Club records which proves that what he says is not only not true, but that, as a matter of fact, he actually joined the Club two years after Mr. Gladstone's bill was introduced."

It was a crushing rejoinder, and Sir Edward, doughty swordsman that he is, never quite recovered from its effect.

The Assembly of the New York Legislature has voted to expel five Socialist members from New York city—Louis Waldman, August Claessens, Charles Solomon, Samuel A. de Witt and Samuel Orr. The evidence given in connection with the inquiry indicated that the accused members held ideas that, if put into practice, would subvert the existing form of government and substitute for it something that would naturally develop into anarchy. The Legislature will be better without them. Still, it is questionable if expulsion was the proper way to settle their cases. If they should be re-elected and come back, they would be stronger than if they had been left alone. There have been cases in England and Canada to support this opinion.

General Leonard Wood, who is accused of spending much money to advance his presidential boom, charges that there is an intricate system of propaganda to break down the friendship of the United States with the Allies. The General may now expect to be classed with Admiral Sims as pro-British. A political campaign is beginning; and maybe there is a systematized propaganda after all. The faultfinders and agitators, at any rate, are all of friendly lands, so much so that their noise is reminiscent of the old peaceful days before 1914. The world may just be settling down to normal, when friends can safely criticise themselves and each other, especially when votes are in mind.

Mrs. Fred Drysdale and daughter, of Bath, Maine, are visiting Mrs. Chas. Camp, Saunders street.

CIVIC ELECTIONS WARM IN CALAIS

St. Stephen, April 5.—Calais held its election today and it was a red hot one at that. Percy L. Lord, Republican, and Fred V. Pickard, Democrat, tied for mayor in the tabulation of votes this evening, requiring a recount in the morning. The Democrats elected the aldermen in ward three and four, the Republicans carrying wards one, two five and seven. Last year's board was all Republican.

A fierce storm has raged here all evening, the streets being without light for about an hour. The congregation of Christ Church and Trinity Church met for their annual Easter elections, but because of the storm and prevailing darkness, adjourned for one week without transacting business.

MURDERER MUST PAY THE PENALTY

New York, April 5.—Supreme Court Justice Weeks today denied a new trial to Richard Harrison, awaiting electrocution Thursday for the murder of George J. Griffiths, an invalided Canadian soldier. Thereupon counsel for Harrison started out to find Governor Smith with the object of obtaining a reprieve.

Griffiths had an enviable record with a Canadian regiment overseas. He was in the city recuperating from his wounds, when a club at which he was stopping was held up by Harrison and four of his gang. When the police intervened rapid firing began and Griffiths was killed.

POTATO SHIPMENTS.

Large quantities of potatoes are being taken to market in Aroostook county and large shipments have recently been sent to St. John for shipment to Cuba. A car shortage is reported in some districts. In Aroostook county potatoes are worth $6.50 to $7 a barrel at first hands. Up the St. John river snow remains on the roads and the hauling has been fairly good.

The Stock Market

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, (Wall St.) April 6.—A few leaders were slightly lower at the opening of today's stock market, but in general, yesterday's late rally was materially extended. Steels, equipments and motors were the strongest features, Crucible making an early advance of almost six points, while Baldwin Locomotive, Studebaker and International motors were 1 to 3 points higher respectively. Food shares added substantially to recent gains, especially sugars and corn products. Oils lagged at the outset, but improved within the first half hour, on extensive buying of Pan-American Petroleum.

FROM THE PEOPLE

GRAMMAR A SCIENCE.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—With all due respect to the literary worth of Johnson, Bacon and other old time litterateurs, who define grammar as the "art of writing and speaking correctly," I must take issue with your correspondent, for I think that definition is faulty.

Grammar is not an art. That term applies only to phases of activity such as writing, drawing, etc. Grammar is a science, inasmuch as it consists of the laws and principles which govern the arts of writing and speaking.

The purpose of the contribution of your correspondent is creditable, but the reasoning is not fundamental. The classification of grammar as an analysis is faulty in that the analysis of language is not grammar, but is made with the aid of grammar. The laws and principles of grammar determine good or bad usage after the analysis has been made.

I should enjoy an attempt by your correspondent to disprove my definition, which follows: "The science of grammar consists of the laws and principles which, being evolved from the analysis of language in good usage in the past, determine the bounds of present good usage."

Yours,
——.

Woodstock, April 3, 1920.

HOW TO USE THE 'PHONE.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—We are often told "how to call a telephone number" and "how to answer the phone," but how many, I wonder, realize the annoyance they cause in the use of the telephone to those within hearing?

My assistant and I sit opposite at one desk and we are able to call a number, talk and stop without annoyance to one another. But the man at the next desk seems to think that when he phones the whole office must be aroused and interested. To remedy this condition we suggest this sign: "Please telephone so quietly as not to annoy or interrupt anyone in the office. Have consideration for others. It costs money if we all have to stop work to listen to you."

Can any of your readers suggest any notice that would be more concise and effective?

Yours,
ANNOYED.

Fredericton, April 3, 1920.

PLATONIC ROMANCE.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Will no one say a good word for platonic friendships? I write this as a tribute to a girl whose friendship has been an inspiration to me in life for higher things. Her mind, ever alert to catch my mood, brought out all my best powers. Her influence helped me through the hard weeks of military training and helped to fit me for the bigger battles over there.

To her confidence in me, I owe many things. Of course, there is a depth of affection in such a friendship.

A long letter that recently told me of the new thing that has come into her life—love and happiness in her approaching marriage—caused a pang and deep regret that our friendship had been but a transient quest to depart at our bidding.

Why? Because our platonic friendship demanded, each of the other, the best that was in us, and she must feel free to give her all to her husband in the same sense that she shared her mind with me.

Yours,
JOHN.

St. Stephen, April 1, 1920.

A GARDEN, A BABY AND LOVE.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Young Mother wrote a most remarkable letter in your column. Three wonderful phases appear in her description of home life:

"We have a garden and a dear baby."

"We are happy and love each other.

"We both want more children."

How refreshing to find a girl who has chosen the only thing worth while.

We who have wearied of painted faces, short skirts and women seeking "careers" cannot help contrasting the 'new woman" with the 'old fashioned" kind.

Feminists of today tell us it is a mistake to suppose that babies know their mothers, that mothers will find greater satisfaction in going to business and placing their babies in charge of nurses. But in three words, "a dear baby," Young Mother puts them to rout.

Those creatures who, from soap boxes on street corners and in the public press, describe the sufferings of mothers in bringing their children into the world are made ridiculous by Young Mother's wish for a family of five.

When fifteen years have passed over the heads of these career-seeking girls and they find themselves in The Valley of Lost Opportunities they will realize that Young Mother has chosen the only thing worth while, in the "garden' and her 'dear babies." Hats off to Young Mother!

Yours,
CANADIAN.

and other wounds and sores on horses and cattle. It will also cure Eczema, Burns, Bruises, Ring Worm or Run-round, Open Sores, etc. The best results will be obtained if the sore is first washed with NATIONAL DISINFECTANT.

NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE has been used for years by some of the largest Lumbering Concerns, and Railroad Contractors. OUR GUARANTEE: "We will see that your money is refunded if National Liquid Gall Cure does not cure any ailment for which it is recommended as quickly as the purchaser thinks it should." And we have never had to make a refund. Below are two testimonials given us voluntarily:

I have a valuable team horse that had a bad cut on her ankle for about a year. I used all the remedies that I had any faith in, but was not successful in healing the sore. When we worked her in the mud in the woods last fall the ankle got worse and it looked as though we would have to lay her up. Mr. Miller recommended me to use NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE and it effected a complete cure quickly, although we worked her steadily in mud. The first time I saw Mr. Miller after coming out of the woods, I remarked to him, "You cannot recommend NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE too highly."

You are at liberty to use this testimonial which is voluntarily given and without remuneration, in advertising NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE.

(Signed) ASA D. KENNEDY,
March 1, 1916. Hartland, N. B.

I have a valuable driving mare that has been unfit to drive or work much of the time for two or three years with Chronic Scratches. About two months ago I began washing her legs with NATIONAL DISINFECTANT and applying NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE. Within a few days the swelling began to go down and in two weeks her legs were normal in size. The cracks which had been sore and bleeding at times for two years were entirely healed within a month. Several ridges of a substance as hard as horn entirely disappeared, and I consider the cure made by NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE permanent. I had tried every remedy I heard of without effect, till I was advised by Estey & Curtis Co., Ltd., to apply NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE. I would willingly have agreed to give anyone $50.00 who would have guaranteed such a cure as NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE has effected. This is a voluntary testimonial and given with remuneration and Estey & Curtis Co., Ltd., Hartland, N. B., are at liberty to use it in advertising NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE.

Improvements in the City Drainage System Planned

Reports from the City Engineer, the Water and Sewerage Department and the Roads and Streets Department Considered—City to Own Its Working Teams Again.

The reports of the Roads and Streets and the Water and Sewerage Committees were given much consideration last evening at the meeting of the City Council and recommendations offered in both of them were taken up. The surface drains in the rear of the city towards the railway tracks were reported as practically useless by City Engineer McDowell. The matter was discussed at length and he was authorized to make a survey of the system on Northumberland, Westmorland and Smythe streets and report to the Council as soon as possible.

Acting upon the suggestion of City Engineer McDowell, a committee of Ald. Neill, Wilkinson and Camp was appointed to interview the C. N. R. and C. P. R. authorities concerning the matter of the dispoal of the rush of water which every year flooded the railroad yards and backed up on the city streets, causing floods in many of the cellars at the rear of the city.

The report of the Roads and Streets Committee was received by the Council with the following recommendations;

That the City Engineer be instructed to investigate and prepare plans for the construction of a 4 foot surface drain on Northumberland street from the St. John River to the southern side of the Valley Railway with the necessary catchbasins and inlets.

That the City Engineer be instructed to construct a 24 inch surface drain on the right of way from Woodstock Road to the St. John River to replace the old one now in bad condition.

That the City Engineer be instructed to purchase two pairs of heavy truck horses and harness to suit.

City Engineer's Report.

City Engineer McDowell stated that it had become very necessary that the city have new surface pipes in the portion of the city handy to the race track and the Wilmot Park, as every year quantities of water from those sections flooded the streets at the rear of the city and plugged the old drains which in many cases were wooden ones, literally falling to pieces. The system was a bad one and he recommended very strongly that the Council take action in the matter. Ald. Baxter was against the installing of surface drains in Northumberland street as he thought that the condition of affairs in Westmorland street, where every year numerous cellars were flooded, was even worse than that on Northumberland street.

City Engineer McDowell explained that a four foot drain would act as an intersecting sewer on Northumberland street and would take care of all the surplus water from the rear of the city. He advised that the Council have a general survey of the situation on Northumberland, Westmorland and Smythe streets taken, the report to be handed in as early as possible.

On motion of Ald. Camp, seconded by Ald. Barker, the City Engineer was instructed to make a proper survey of the drainage system on the streets named and report back to the Council as early as possible.

The matter of the replacing of the surface drain on the right of way from the Woodstock Road to the St. John River was then considered.

The City Engineer stated that this surface drain was built of wood in the bed of an old brook and that every year it had caused floods in that section. This year the planks had given way causing it to be plugged up and before it was finally cleared out a large amount of water had entered cellars in that section. On motion of Ald. Camp, seconded by Ald. Young, a resolution was passed giving the City Engineer authority to go ahead with the work.

On motion of Ald. Camp, seconded by Ald. Young, the City Engineer was also given authority to purchase the two pairs of heavy truck horses and harness for the permanent street work.

To Replace Water Mains.

The report of the chairman of the Water and Sewerage Committee, was then received with the following recommendations:

That the 3-inch water main on Carleton street between Queen and Brunswick be replaced with 8 inch cast iron pipe, and that the water main on Church street between Charlotte and Queen streets be replaced with the same sized pipe. Mr. McDowell stated that this was necessitated because the proposition of putting permanent paving on Carleton street at the earliest possible date was being considered and the underground work would have to be properly done first.

He was directed to call for tenders for the amount of pipe necessary.

Would Tax Outside Men Heavily.

Ald. Neill, on behalf of the livery stable keepers stated that too much discrimination was being effected by th Council in the cases of livery stable keepers of the city as he said that all were heavy taxpayers and had too many taxes levied upon them for conducting a permanent business. They had to pay tax on their stock as well as coaches, automobiles, horses, etc., and he could quote one instance where the total tax one owner had to pay was over $300 in one year. This they did not object to, he stated, but they did not like the idea of a man from out of the city coming in in the summer months with a jitney after paying a total of $25 and securing of their trade. In the winter time they went behind, and counted upon making up in the summer, only to have their trade taken from them. They did not consider that they were being used fairly as they paid taxes to the city while the outsider got away with practically nothing to pay. He asked if legislation could not be provided to set a special tax upon the non-residents of the city who came here in the summer for two or three months to cut into the trade of local owners of livery stables.

Mayor Reid stated that two years ago the matter had been taken up in the Legislature only to have it turned down by the members from York county who were against it, but he stated that the livery stable owners could be taxed at some figure, for example, at $75, and if their total taxation exceeded that amount, they would have the extra taxation refunded. This would even up the matter, he thought.

Ald. Camp and Ald. Young were heard on the question and their views corresponded with those of the Mayor. The matter was finally left aside until further information had been obtained on the subject by Ald. Neill.

The high-salaried office is kept busy trying to dodge the man.

How Simmons Springs are Built for Sleep

A WOMAN has a very definite idea of the comfort she expects the springs of her beds to give herself and her family.

She knows, too, how seldom her expectations are realized in half a dozen important points.

Now the remarkable thing is that these Simmons Springs actually do what you have the right to expect a spring to do—

And that they cost you little, if any more than the ordinary springs.

You can see these remarkable bed springs in the stores of the merchants who are displaying the charming new Simmons designs in Steel Beds, Brass Beds and Cribs.

LONG ago, Simmons Limited realized that a good spring is quite as essential to sleep as a good bed.

Simmons Springs are built for sleep.

This "Waldorf" Box Spring, for example:

A good spring! Taut but elastic—never slack.

A spring so designed and constructed that it makes a flat, resilient foundation for the mattress.

A spring that gives to the contours of the body—supports the spine and muscles in any sleeping position—invites relaxation and promotes natural, restful sleep.

A spring that fits four-square and firm on the bed—that does not creak, knock or rattle.

Simmons Springs are designed on scientific principles—and built right.

Where your ordinary spring is made of tinned fabric, apt to rust and stain the bedding—Simmons Springs are finished in rustproof qualities.

See a Simmons Spring in with a group of various makes and your eye will pick it out immediately by the sturdy look.

You will note its smooth finish—no corners or loose ends to tear the bedding.

ALL the leading stores in the city carry Simmons' Beds, Springs, Mattresses and Pillows—built for sleep by Simmons Limited.

If you have any trouble finding them, a post card to us will bring you the names of Simmons merchants near you.

STORM AND FRESHET ON THE ST. CROIX

Violent Gale at St. Stephen, With Torrential Rain Making Many of Streets Like Brooks

Planks Torn from the Sidewalk on the International Bridge, Which Had to Be Fenced Off from Traffic—St. Croix Cotton Mill Forced to Shut Down.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

St. Stephen, N. B., April 6.—One of the worst rain storms for some years visited this town last night, with the wind blowing a gale and rain coming down in torrents. The sewers were unable to carry away the water fast enough, and a good many of the streets which are on a lower level were soon covered and made regular brooks.

The wind was so strong that the planks of the sidewalks in the International bridge were torn up and the walk had to be fenced off for traffic. The ice has moved one of the piers at the bridge and cars are not crossing for the present.

The river is very high, but up to the present time no damage has been reported. Today the temperature is much lower, with light flurries of snow. The St. Croix cotton mill was forced to shut down today on account of high water.

The remains of Irving Thomas, the brakeman who was scalded by engine explosion at Greenville, Me., resulting in his death, were brought here yesterday, and he will be buried from his home at Old Ridge tomorrow afternoon.

The funeral of John H. McWha, who was killed in the C. P. R. yard here Saturday afternoon, takes place this afternoon.

Pulp Mills Deal Off?

It is understood that the offer of the Howard Smith Co. for the Dominion Pulp Co's properties has been finally rejected, and that the mill will continue to run under present ownership and management. Mr. McCabe, who had arranged to leave, will remain, it is said, in his present position.—Chatham World.

G.W.V.A. Monthly Meeting.

At the regular monthly meeting of the G.W.V.A. last evening, W. J. Richards, who had been a delegate to the G.W.V.A. convention at Montreal, made his report. Four additional members were taken on the strength of the association.

Met With Accident Today.

Jack Winters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winters, met with an accident this morning while playing basket ball at the Y. M. C. A. In running across the floor of the gymnasium he collided with another boy and received a cut over the right eye which necessitated three stitches being taken.

Collected Over Forty Dollars.

The auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church of South Devon held their regular monthly missionary meeting last evening at the Methodist parsonage and over $44 was received in their offerings. This sum will be used for missions.

At Devon.

Devon is getting a share of new business. Among the concerns recently established there is the Airless Tire Co. This company is putting something new on the market in the way of automobile tires. They have also added a stock of general hardware. Emery D. Patterson is the manager.

Surprised by Friends.

A number of friends of Miss Mary Andrews, who teaches school at Harvey, and is visiting her brother in this city, was given a surprise party last evening by a number of friends who gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Coulthard, Saunders street. Refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening spent.

The many friends of Robin Randolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Fitz-Randolph, will regret to learn that he is confined to his home through illness.

New Business

We desire to announce that in addition to our Airless Tire business, we have added a line of General Hardware.

We also have a complete stock of Massey Harris Farm Machinery, including Repairs.

SETTLE VALLEY RAILWAY CLAIMS

Sub-Contractors Here—The N. S. Construction Co. to Get $110,000.

John Kennedy and D. A. Macdonald, of the contracting firm of Kennedy & Macdonald, of Antigonish, N. S., are here for the purpose of reaching an adjustment of their contracts on the construction of the St. John Valley Railway.

They were sub-contractors under the Nova Scotia Construction Company, which completed the lower end of the railway, and who have been notified by the St. John and Quebec Railway Company—the Provincial Government's representatives—that a final settlement of their contract depends upon their having a clearance from the sub-contractors.

Several conferences between representatives of the St. John and Quebec Railway Company and the Nova Scotia Construction Company have been held and a basis of settlement is said to have been agreed upon. The amount which is to be accepted is said to be $110,000, which is said to be the final adjustment of all the claims of the Nova Scotia Construction Company against the Valley Railway. Thomas Cozzolino, of Sydney, N. S., is the president of the Nova Scotia Construction Company.

HOSPITAL BOARD MONTHLY MEETING

President P. J. Hughes presided at the April meeting of the Trustees of Victoria Public Hospital, held yesterday.

In his report the Treasurer submitted a detailed statement of the expenditures for the month of considerable more than $2,000.

Miss Sansom, the superintendent, reported that the number of medical patients in March exceeded those for surgery for the first time in many months. Eighty-two patients were treated in March, and among those were some cases of typhoid which kept the nursing staff very busy.

The I. O. D. E. Governor Carleton Chapter, have just supplied the Alexandra room with new furnishings.

Miss E. M. Harshaw, who has for some months been assisting the superintendent, is off on a brief vacation. It is understood she will later retire from the institution and remove to the west. Miss Elizabeth Groom has decided to take a long and much needed rest.

H. G. Kitchen, one of the Board of Trustees for several years, has tendered his resignation.

PULP WORKERS DEMAND MORE PAY FOR WORK

Machine Men Who Now Receive 90 Cents an Hour Ask for Increase to 121 Cents

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 6.—The pulp, paper and sulphite workers employed in the J. R. Booth and the Eddy mills, at Chaudiere, are putting up to the companies a wage schedule based on that presented at the recent convention held at New York between officials of the unions and the manufacturers, which is to come into effect on May 1.

This schedule provides in most cases for increases amounting to from twenty to thirty per cent. over present salaries, and was dealt with at a meeting of the employees' union held last night.

Under the new schedule, machine tenders who now receive 90 cents per hour are asking for 121 cents, or an increase of over thirty per cent.

80 Cents an Hour for Painters.

Winnipeg, Man., April 6.—An amicable agreement in regard to wages of painters, decorators and paper hangers has been arrived at between the Master Painters' Association and the officials of the international.

The men receive seventy-five cents an hour from April 1 to May 1, and from then eighty cents an hour, which represents an increase of twenty-five cents an hour since August, 1919.

Toronto Printers Dissatisfied.

Toronto, April 6.—Employees of book and job printing offices in this city want a conference with the employers over the wage question, but so far their request has been denied, as the agreement between the employees and employers does not expire until [illegible].

The present pay is $32 a week, or 66 cents an hour. The printers called attention to the fact that laborers are demanding from 75 cents to 85 cents an hour, and they think, in view of the increase in the cost of living since they made the agreement with the employers, that a conference would result in an advanced scale of wages.

There is a possibility of a strike if their demands are ignored by the employers.

LOSS IN BARRACKS ABOUT $250,000

Up to the Present Irish Revolutionary Leaders Have Outwitted Authorities.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 6.—A despatch to the London Times from Dublin says that two morals are generally drawn from Saturday's incidents in Ireland. First, that the republican movement has become a really serious menace to British authority in Ireland, and second, that the government must devise a better method for combatting the campaign of crime. The despatch says the brains of Dublin Castle are being outwitted at every turn by the brains of the revolutionary movement.

According to the despatch, the damage resulting from the destruction of barracks aggregated a loss of fifty thousand pounds sterling. Some of the barracks contained much personal property belonging to policemen and their families.

A strong force of troops and police in an armored car visited the Nationalist quarter in Belfast Monday and arrested six men, but it is understood prominent Sinn Feiners who were sought escaped.

The despatch asserts that about eighty prisoners, including those convicted under the defence of the realm act and others against whom no charges have yet been made, started a hunger strike Monday, and also that several political prisoners in the prison hospital refused to accept food.

It was set forth that the use of stenographers, clerks and others in the offices of solicitors seeking incorporation of companies as "dummies for the real incorporators should be stopped and that some provision should be made to prevent a company being incorporated to buy out running business and then failing to satisfy the creditors of the business taken over. Board of Commerce Loses Newsprint Case Against the Price Brothers Co. in Court

The Court Rules that Newsprint is Not a Necessity of Life and that Board of Commerce Had No Right to Forbid Shipments of Paper to United States.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 6.—The right of the Board of Commerce to order Price Brothers and Company to ship newsprint in Montreal at a fixed price, which was lower than the price obtainable in the United States, was not upheld by the supreme court in a decision handed down today. The court rules that newsprint is not a necessity of life in the sense that it is necessary to the physical life of the individual.

The supreme court decides that orders in council under the War Measures Act are reviewable by the court, when their validity is called in question.

The judgment is considered here to mean the end of government control of newsprint.

The object of the order of the Board of Commerce of February 6th last, was to compel Price Brothers to ship about fifteen per cent of its newsprint output to Canadian consumers instead of to the United States, where a higher price could be obtained. It was said that the firm had been selling all its newsprint in the United States for some time.

Price Brothers ignored the Board's order for some weeks, but began shipping newsprint at the Canadian price of $80 per ton to Montreal firms, the difference between this price and the United States price, $90 per ton and up, being deposited in a trust fund pending the decision of the supreme court.

SCHANG NOT FUSSY IF HE PLAYS BALL

Boston Catcher Declares He is Ready to Quit and Trade Seems Likely Result.

Philadelphia, April 6.—One of the apparently irreconcilable holdouts of baseball is complacently spending the time in Philadelphia far away from southern training camps. He is Wally Schang, the hard hitting and fast running catcher and all-round man of the Red Sox. For the first time, Schang today explained his status.

"I am a holdout, you might say," he declared, "and I'll not play with the Red Sox or any other club unless my terms are met. The Red Sox never have made me a definite offer for next season. They simply have intimated that they would pay me a little more than last year. I have asked for a substantial raise because I think I am entitled to it.

"Of course, if the Red Sox cannot grant my terms, I will not play. I am president of a commercial airplane company. A week from today we will start carrying passengers on pleasure flights along the northeast boulevard. We have a powerful Curtis plane and I expect that the project will be a big go. So you can see that I am not worrying.

"The next move is up to President Frazee. Two or three days a week I will work out on Stenton Field, so I am in good physical condition and could jump in and catch on a day's notice.

"But if the Red Sox think that they can smoke me out by playing a waiting game, they have made a mistake. I am content to stay right here all summer. The next move is up to Boston."

"Li Hung" Schang joined the Athletics in 1913 and made good from the start. On Dec. 14, 1917, Connie Mack traded Schang, Bush and Strunk to the Red Sox for $60,000 in cash and Pitcher Gregg, Catcher Thomas and Outfielder Kopp.

Schang played 113 games with Boston last season and batted for .306. Schang will be 31 years old Aug. 22. He has been a resident of Philadelphia ever since he joined the Athletics.

The Yankees have offered to trade Ping Bodie, Derrill Pratt and Truck Hannah with the Red Sox for Wally Schang, Oscar Vitt, another holdout, and Mike McNally, or a pitcher. Negotiations are still in progress.

PRINCE OF WALES' HORSES COMING

New York, April 6.—The Times this morning says:

"The horses which the Prince of Wales will race during the coming season on Canadian tracks are now at sea en route to a Canadian port. The greater number of the horses are maidens which will face the barrier for the first time after arriving on this side of the Atlantic. However, a number of the thoroughbreds have raced in England. It is understood that the Prince plans to use some of the stock for breeding purposes, but this will not interfere with his racing plans for the coming summer.

DRIVER W. SHARON WILL TAKE COLBATH STABLE IN MAINE

Will Have Some of the Finest Young Stock in the East at Presque Isle.

BATHURST RACING STABLE IMPORTS GREEN PACER

Jimmie Boutilier Brought the Newcomes In from the South.

William Sharon, who for several years past has been the trainer and driver for local horsemen, is to handle the racing stable of George M. Colbath, of Presque Isle, Me., this season.

The latest word is that Mr. Sharon will soon take up his new duties and start the education of Mr. Colbath's young trotters and pacers, which include some of the finest standard bred prospects in the East. It is said that he will also have Bill Sharon, 2.16¼, the champion four year old trotter of the Maritime Provinces, owned by Sam J. Boyle, of Fredericton, in his stable, and Mr. Colbath, it is said, will have Baby Doll, 2.10¼, and some of his other aged horses now in the stable of William Fleming at Combination Park, Boston, sent to Presque Isle and campaigned by Driver Sharon down the Maritime & Maine Shortship Circuit from July until September.

Mr. Sharon has made his home in Fredericton for some years past and his many fiends here will look forward to his having a most successful season with his new Maine patron.

THE BATHURST STABLE.

Imported Green Pacer Now In Jimmie Boutilier's String With John A. Hal, 2.03¼.

One of the few new horses brought into the Maritime Provinces this year from the United States as a result of the exchange situation is a green mare which Driver Jimmie Boutilier, the successful young driver, went south after and bought for parties who are interested in the Bathurst Racing Stable, which has been formed at Bathurst, N. B., by horsemen of that town who will campaign a string of horses under Driver Boutilier's direction this year.

John A. Hal, 2.03¼, who earned the title of champion pacer of the Maritime Provinces last fall at Chatham, will be the head of the Bathurst stable and in addition to the recent importation, mentioned above, there will also be another green pacer, The Northern Lady; Lillie Be Sure and La-Copia the Great. The members of the stable have all wintered well and Driver Boutilier, who has developed into one of the most successful drivers in the East, writes to say they are all "in the pink," and he hopes to get to the track about May 1st. He will probably complete his training at the Chatham track and plans to make the campaign over the entire route of the Maritime & Maine Shortship Circuit. —J. D. B.

What About that Yankee Hockey Team?

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 6.—The recently announced rules under which athletes can compete in the Olympic games will deprive the United States of a number of good men. Among these are Earl J. Thomson, of Dartmouth; A. Alml, of New York A. C., the jumper; Hannes Kolehmainen, the runner, and Carl Mertens, the walker.

The rules will also strike heavily on the soccer players, the majority of whom are of British birth. They will also slightly affect the fencers, trapshooters and swimmers in this country.

V. A. D'S HONORED DR. CHARLES COPP

Make Presentation in Recognition of Services Rendered Association.

[Toronto Globe, March 31.]

"Casa Loma" is forever opening its hospitable doors for some gathering closely connected with patriotic work, and its walls know the sight of various sorts of uniforms almost better than any building in town except the Armories. Yesterday it was the sober grey of the St. John Ambulance Nursing Division which thronged its halls and rooms, the Divisions having gatered, by the permission of the chief commissioner of the brigade, Sir Henry Pellatt, to do honor to Dr. Charles J. Copp, who has been for so long the medical officer, and has been the man who opened the gate to let the V. A. D. applicants through either to service overseas or to the work at home. Lady Pellatt received in the great library, where many flowers filled the air with beauty and fragrance, and speeches were made by Sir Henry, Mrs. Henderson, of Montreal, who was one of the chief instigators of the movement to give some token of appreciation to Dr. Copp, and by Dr. Carter, of London, Eng. The address of the day was read by Mrs. A. E. Gooderham, district superintendent, uniformed and veiled, as were the other officers and members of the brigade, and at its close Dr. Copp was given a very beautiful gold watch, on a platinum chain, very specially wrought, the watch itself carrying the insignia of the Order of St. John and an inscription. At the same time Mrs. Copp was given a sheaf of pink roses by the Divisions and a large bouquet of pink carnations by Lady Pellatt. The tea-table was laid in the dining-room, Mrs. Hedley Bond and Mrs. Buckley in charge, their assistants being the Misses Close and Miss Rita Rogers. The Divisions all over Canada were represented either in person or by wire, and those present from out of town were: Mrs. Hunter Ogilvie, of Kingston, Miss Colley and Miss Smith, of Montreal, Miss Paton, of Winnipeg, Miss McKillop, of London, Mrs. Todd, of Ottawa, Mrs. McLaren, of Perth, and there were also a few guests from town, besides the V. A. D.'s—Mrs. H. D. Warren, Miss Fleming, Dr. Norton and Dr. Cameron. The affair made a delightful and unexpected reunion for the V. A. D.'s, many of whom met for the first time since they had said good-bye overseas.

Division No. 31, of this city, contributed its share towards the presentation, and Mrs. John Black, the commandant of the Division, sent a telegram of regret at being unable to be present at the presentation and of good wishes for the future welfare of St. John's Ambulance Brigade.

A sharp turning, and then a second one, brought them to the head of a short stair, from which they looked straight down upon the scene of the uproar. A square oak-floored hall lay beneath them, from which opened the doors of the principal guest-chambers. This hall was as light as day, for torches burned in numerous sconces upon the walls, throwing strange shadows from the tusked or antlered heads which ornamented them. At the very foot of the stair, close to the open door of their chamber, lay the seneschal and his wife; she with her head shorn from her shoulders, he thrust through with a sharpened stake which still protruded from either side of his body. Three servants of the castle lay dead beside them, all torn anad draggled, as though a pack of wolves had been upon them. In front of the central guest-chamber stood Du Guesclin and Sir Nigel, half clad and unarmored, with the mad joy of battle gleaming ing in their eyes. Their heads were thrown back, their lips compressed, their blood-stained swords poised over their right shoulders, and their left feet thrown out. Thre dead men lay huddled together in front of them; while a fourth, with the blood squirting from a severed vessel, lay back with updrawn knees, breathing in wheezy gasps. Further back—all panting together, like the wind in a tree—there stood a group of fierce, wild creatures, bare-armed and bare-legged, gaunt, unshaven, with deep set murderous eyes and wild beast faces. With their flashing teeth, their bristling hair, their mad leapings and screamings, they seemed to Alleyne more like fiends from the pit than men of flesh and blood. Even as he looked, they broke into a hoarse yell and dashed once more upon the two knights, hurling themselves madly upon their sword-points, clutching, scrambling, biting, tearing, careless of wounds if they could but drag the two soldiers to earth. Sir Nigel was thrown down by the sheer weight of them, and Sir Bertrand with his thunderous war-cry was swinging round his heavy sword to clear a space for him to rise, when the whistle of two long English arrows, and the rush of the squire and the two English archers down the stairs, turned the tide of the combat. The assailants gave back, the knights rushed forward, and in a very few moments the hall was cleared, and Hordle John had hurled the last of the wild men down the steep steps whih led from the end of it.

"Do not follow them," cried Du Guesclin. "We are lost if we scatter. For myself I care not a denier, though it is a poor thing to meet one's end at the hands of such scum; but I have my dear lady here, who must by no means be risked. We have breathing-space now, and I would ask you, Sir Nigel, what it is that you would counsel."

"By St. Paul!" answered Sir Nigel, "I can by no means understand what hath befallen us, save that I have been woken up by your battle-cry, and, rushing forth, found myself in the midst of this small bickering. Harrow and alas for the lady and the seneschal! What dogs are they who have done this bloody deed?"

"They are the Jacks, the men of the brushwood. They have the castle, though I know not how it hath come to pass. Look from this window into the bailey."

"By heaven!" cried Sir Nigel, "it is as bright as day with the torches. The gates stand open, and there are three thousand of them within the walls. See how they rush and scream and wave! What is it that they thrust out through the postern door? My God! it is a man-at-arms, and they pluck him limb from limb, like hounds on a wolf. Now another, and yet another. They hold the whole castle, for I see their faces at the windows. See, there are some with great bundles on their backs."

"It is dried wood from the forest. They pile them against the walls and set them in a blaze. Who is this who tries to check them? By St. Ives! it is the good priest who spake for them in the hall. He kneels, he prays, he implores! What! villains, would ye raise hands against those who have befriended you? Ah, the butcher has struck him! He is down! They stamp him under their feet! They tear off his gown and wave it in the air! See now, how the flames lick up the walls! Are there none left to rally round us? With a hundred men we might hold our own."

"Oh, for my Company!" cried Sir Nigel. "But where is Ford, Alleyne?"

"He is foully murdered, my fair lord."

"The saints receive him! May he rest in peace! But here come some at last who may give us counsel, for amid these passages it is ill to stir without a guide."

As he spoke, a French squire and the Bohemian knight came rushing down the steps, the latter bleeding from a slash across his forehead.

'All is lost!" he cried. "The castle is taken and on fire, the seneschal is slain, and there is nought left for us.'

"On the contrary," qpoth Sir Nigel, "there is much left to us, for there is a very honorable contention before us, and a fair lady for whom to give our lives. There are many ways in which a man might die, but none better than this."

"You can tell us, Godfrey," said Du Guesclin to the French squire; 'how came these men into the castle, and what succors an we count upon? By St. Ives! if we come not quickly to some counsel we shall be burned like young rooks in a nest."

The squire, a dark, slender stripling, spoke firmly and quickly, as one who was trained to swift action. "There is a passage under the earth into the castle," said he, "and through it some of the Jacks made their way, casting open the gates for the others. They have had help from within the walls, and the men-at-arms were heavy with wine; they must have been slain in their beds, for these devils crept from room to room with soft step and ready knife. Sir Amory the Hospitaller was struck down with an axe as he rushed before us from his sleeping-chamber. Save only ourselves, I do not think that there are any left alive."

"What, then, would you counsel?"

"That we make for the keep. It is unused, save in time of war, and the keys hangs from my poor lord and master's belt."

"There are two keys there."

"It is the larger. Once there, we might hold the narrow stair; and at TWO—STORY ..... least, as the walls are of a greater thickness, it would be longer ere they could burn them. Could we but carry the lady across the bailey, all might be well with us."

"Nay; the lady hath seen something of the work of war," said Tiphaine, coming forth, as white, as grave, and as unmoved as ever. "I would not be a hamper to you, my dear spouse and gallant friend. Rest assured of this, that if all else fail I have always a safeguard here"—drawing a small silver hilted poniard from her bosom—"which sets me beyond the fear of these vile and blood-stained wretches."

WANT TO SECEDE FROM FREDERICTON AND JOIN SUNBURY

Outlying Districts Demand that Their Highways Be Improved.

READY TO LEAVE CITY TO ATTAIN OBJECT

First Petition Presented to the City Council by ex-Ald. Geo. McKnight.

Residents of that district of the city of Fredericton extending from the Wilsey road to the Sunbury county line, including the Dominion Experimental Farm, have demanded that the city of Fredericton either improve the main river road through their district or that the City Council secure legislation to provide for that territory seceding from the city of Fredericton and becoming part of the parish of Lincoln, Sunbury county.

Last night ex-Ald. George McKnight appeared before the City Council on behalf of those interested in the movement and presented a petition to that effect, which he said was signed by every ratepayer of the district affected. He said the petitioners doubted whether the city would consider itself justified in completing the road at an expense estimated at not less than $12,000, particularly as the people at the rear of the city and at Doak were about to petition the council similarly, and it would mean that the main river road, the Wilsey, the Doak Settlement road and the Maryland road to the top of Maryland Hill, practically all the outlying roads of the city, would be included in the section which desired to secede from the city.

In the discussion that followed Ald. Cooper stated that he thought it was too late this year to secure legislation for such a step, if it could be secured at all or was desirous. Mayor Reid thought that the matter ought to be left to the roads and streets and legislative committees to go into, if the people in the district affected really favored these views.

The matter was finally left to a special committee of Mayor Reid, Ald. Cooper and Ald. Cain to take the matter up with the provincial authorities and to interview the Minister of Public Works regarding provincial assistance in improving the roads referred to and get his views on the matter, the committee to report back to the City Council as soon as possible.

CITY EMPLOYEES WANT MORE PAY

Four Men at Street Lighting Plant Ask from $290 to $365 a Month.

A petition of the employees of the electric lighting station for increased wages was considered last evening by the City Council in committee and was finally left over until the regular appointments had been made at the May meeting.

When the matter was brought up Mayor Reid stated that he had heard a good deal of criticism about the number of employees retained at the station, whereas before there had only been two employees. Ald. Baxter stated that at no time in his recollection had there been only two men employed at the station, and stated that there were always three employees, one of them being employed as lineman.

The matter was, on motion of Ald. Young, seconded by Ald. Cain, left over until the regular appointments are made by the council. None of the aldermen objected to the petition for increased wages, but all thought it better to leave the matter over until the electric street lighting question had been decided, and the opinion of the meeting was that the employees would no doubt receive the asked for increase in wages.

Alexander Davidson, superintendent of the station, asked for an increase from $95 to $125 per month; Ludlow Malloy asked for an increase from $70 to $80; Harry Dillon, who has been getting a salary of $50 a month, asked for $70, and Thomas Harvey, the lineman, asked for an increase from $75 to $90 a month.

TENDERS TOO HIGH.

Proposed Renovation of Methodist Church Abandoned for Present on Account of H. C. L.

Tenders for the renovation of the Methodist church closed yesterday, but as the tenders received were far in excess of the amount of money the Methodists intended spending for the purpose no tender was accepted.

The committee, composed of J. M. Lemont, Rev. G. M. Young, Charles K. Palmer, W. J. Osborne and Fred B. Edgecombe, met yesterday and considered the tenders received. No tender for the whole work was received, but several offers were received agreeing to do the work on a percentage basis on account of unsettled labor conditions.

The committee decided that owing to the fact that the only had $16,000 on hand and the work they had planned to cost in the vicinity of $20,000 could not be done less than $40,000, they decided to consider the matter for some time before making any decision.

The improvements at the church are to consist of new heating and lighting systems, the main entrance and stairs to be completely remodelled and many other alterations.

SELECTED HISTORY TO REPLACE MYERS' IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Outlines of World's History by a British Author Has Been Chosen.

RECOMMENDATION TO BOARD OF EDUCATION

Public Indignation Aroused by Recent Exposee Causes Change.

Outlines of the World's History, by Edgar Saunderson, M. A., law scholar of Clare College, Cambridge, and author of A History of the British Empire, has been recommended by the Literature and History sub-committee of the General Text Book Committee of New Brunswick to the Board of Education as a text book in the public schools of the province, replacing Myers' General History.

This decision was reached at the meeting of the committee at the Education Department offices on Monday afternoon; Swinton's History was also considered but because of objections from religious sources was not regarded with favor. Those present at the meeting included Dr. W. S. Carter, Chief Superintendent of Education; Dr. C. C. Jones, Chancellor of the University of New Brunswick; Dr. H. S. Bridges, Superintendent of Schools in St. John; R. D. Hanson, School Inspector, of Fredericton, and W. J. S. Myles, Principal of the St. John High School.

The action comes as a result of the storm of public indignation aroused through the recent expose that a new edition of Myers' General History was in use in the schools of New Brunswick with a chapter on the Great War which gave the credit for winning the war entirely to the Americans, and failed to even mention Canada's part or the feats of the Canadian army and also did not give adequate credit to the British Empire.

LIQUOR INSPECTOR ROUGHLY TREATED AT ENTERTAINMENT

Sub-Inspector Dickson, of Chatham, Severely Kicked While Attempting

TO ARREST TWO MEN AT NASH'S CREEK

Who Started to Do Things Up at a Parish Entertainment.

Liquor Sub-inspector James Dickison, of Chatham, was injured last night while in the discharge of his duty at Nash's Creek, Gloucester county.

The priest of Nash's Creek was holding an Easter entertainmet for his parishioners, and as Nash's Creek is only a short distance from several lumber camps, trouble was anticipated and liquor sub-inspectors Dickison, of Chatham, Cain, of Campbellton, and Gammin, of Bathurst, were on hand in case of a disturbance. The inspectors were having a lunch when two men from the surrounding district started in to make things lively. They had liquor on their persons and were insulting the young ladies present.

Inspector Dickison was the first to reach the room and he clinched with one man, throwing him down. He then made for the second man but was tripped and severely kicked several times. The first man escaped and when the other two inspectors came into the room they seized the other man and arrested him. He was taken to the jail at Dalhousie this morning, where he will appear in the near future.

Don't forget the supper and sale at Brunswick Street Baptist vestry tomorrow evening.

GREAT JAMS ON ST. JOHN RIVER

Ice Is Piling Up At Hawkshaw and At Kingsclear

Valley Railway Tracks Flooded and Carried Away

CANADA EASTERN PARALYZED, TOO

Temporary Relief Was Given By A Sudden Change in Weather.

Great ice jams are piling up in the St. John river today and serious damage is being caused by the water that is being backed up as well as by the running ice.

With an immense jam forming below Crock's Point, nine miles above Fredericton, where it is held by the islands, the St. John river has overflown its banks, part of the St. John Valley Railway tracks have been carried away by the rush and water and ice while the roadbed of the railway is under water for a long distance.

On the Nashwaak river similar conditions prevail at Durham, where the tracks of the Canada Eastern division of the Canadian National Railways are overflown and traffic has been tied up since last evening. Thus two of the principal lines of railway in central New Brunswick have been paralyzed by the freshets caused by ice jams in the spring break-up.

PASSENGERS SPEND NIGHT ON TRAINS

Officials of the Canadian National Railways have large emergency crews at both places and they have been at work since daylight endeavoring to improve conditions. At Durham their efforts were directed principally to attempting to divert the flow of the Nashwaak river away from the railway tracks, and arrangements are also being made for transferring passengers around the flooded districts on both lines so that the operation of trains on either side may be carried on.

May Have Trains Tonight.

The C. N. R. train which left here last night for Newcastle, with a through sleeper to Quebec, was forced to return to Fredericton about midnight, while the train coming here from Newcastle could not get past the freshet and the passengers were forced to spend the night on the train, which this morning was backed up to McGivney Junction. Some doubt was expressed at noon as to whether transfers could be made on the Canada Eastern line by tonight, but it was expected to have passengers transferred around the flooded district at McGinley's on the Valley Railway some time this afternoon.

Temporary Relief.

How long it will be before the operation of through trains can be resumed is a matter of conjecture. Only the sudden change in weather conditions which caused the temperature to drop more than 20 degrees from early yesterday afternoon to last night relieved what was generally regarded as the most serious condition that has existed on the St. John river for many years. The cold weather caused the water which had started rising very rapidly to ease off somewhat, but a warm sun today is causing renewed alarm.

Loud Report When Ice Moved Here

The ice in the St. John river in front of Fredericton moved a short distance between 10 and 11 o'clock last night, making a rumbling noise similar to that of a distant earthquake or immense explosion when it broke away.

This is thought to have been caused by the ice starting to run further up the river, the impact because of the thickness and strength of the ice being very severe. The ice, however, did not move more than 20 yards when it was held up by the piers of the highway bridge, which are all of granite and have withstood all ice floes since one pier and a draw span were carried away seven years ago.

M'GINLEY'S FERRY IS CARRIED AWAY

Cable and Rigging in Big Jam that Has Formed at Sugar Island.

At McGinley's Ferry, or Crock's Point, the run of ice was reported today to have carried away the ferry cable and rigging of the wire ferry owned by Enoch Lunt there, as well as barns and other buildings located on the islands a few miles above Fredericton.

The water here has come up almost two feet since yesterday morning, rising at the rate of about an inch an hour until affected by the big jam that has been formed at the islands below Crock's Point.

The water today was 11 feet above summer level here.

Washout at Stickney, C. P. R. Northern Division

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Woodstock, N. B., April 7.—Trains on the northern division of the C. P. R. were tied up for some time yesterday by a washout near Stickney. This morning the situation has been cleared up and trains are running on schedule again today. There are no other washouts on the northern division.

BRIDGE WRECKAGE IN HAWKSHAW JAM

Two Spans of Hartland Bridge Floated Past Woodstock in Three Sections.

The jam which has formed at the Hawkshaw bridge, forty miles above Fredericton on the St. John river, is still holding, and so far has not damaged the bridge.

The wreckage of the Hartland bridge is now piled up on that jam, the two spans—one broken in two—having floated past Woodstock about 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon with the running ice.

The remaining spans of the Hartland bridge were still standing this morning and it was believed that the worst of the situation was over, as the ice was running freely. However, the flat at the lower part of the town is overflowed and there is scarcely a building in the town which has not got its basement full of water at the present time.

About midnight last night, in the Legislature, Hon. P. J. Veniot, Minister of Public Works, said he wished to make an announcement for the information and satisfaction of people in certain sections of the province. All knew that the province was experiencing a freshet of unusual height and the press contained reports of resulting damage. The Department of Public Works had been informed, he said, during the day that the bridge across the St. John river at Hartland had been partially carried away and that the remainder of the structure was in danger. Reports were current that other bridges on the St. John river were in danger, notably the bridge at Hawkshaw; however, the danger at Hawkshaw seemed to be passed.

Arrangement would be made at once at Hartland for the accommodation of the public and reconstruction of whatever part of the bridge to be rebuilt would be begun as soon as possible. He asked all members to give information to the Department of Public Works concerning any bridges or other structure threatened with damage.

The French Troops Continue Advance to Homburg, Which Was Occupied This Morning

British Press Hopes that the Lesson to the Germans Will Prove Salutory.

FRENCH HAVE HEARTIEST SUPPORT OF BRITISH

French Movement Has Been Carried Out Without Any Significant Incident.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Metz, April 7.—French troops, on the right bank of the Rhine, continuing their advance, occupied Homburg, nine miles north of Frankfort, at 6 o'clock this morning.

French Plan Carried Out.

Frankfort, April 7.—The occupation of Homburg, nine miles north of Frankfort, by French troops, announced today, virtually completes the operations outlined to General De Gouette, in charge of the occupation movement, in his orders from the War Office. The entire plan has been carried out without any significant incident.

Britain to Back France.

London, April 7.—"The French have taken the only right course after such warnings as they had given the Germans," says the London Times today, in discussing the French advance into Germany.

"The sharp surprise," the newspaper continues, "which the step caused among the inhabitants of Berlin is very wholesome. We trust it also will be felt by the German militarists and their accomplices in Wilhelmstrasse."

Hope is expressed by the newspaper that it will not be necessary for others of the Allies to advance into the Ruhr district, "but should the conduct of the German government, or its inability to control general matters, make it necessary, public opinion in England, we are convinced, will insist that our French friends receive the fullest and heartiest of support from their British comrades-in-arms."

The Times says it notices with extreme wonder statements from Washington and Rome that the British, American and Italian governments are standing aside and that they had no objection to the German advance, provided the troops were to be withdrawn when order was restored.

"We do not know what the Italian government may or may not have decided," the Times says, "and we know that unhappily America is reverting more and more to her old attitude of isolation, until, at any rate, the elections are over. But in the enforcement of the treaty there can be no standing aside for England from her French ally."

Protocol Expires April 10.

Paris, April 7.—Herr Goeppert, the president of the German peace delegation, this morning handed Premier Millerand a note relative to the operations in the Ruhr Valley and the French occupation of Frankfort and Darmstadt. The note was addressed to M. Millerand, as president of the peace conference.

The Echo de Paris says:

"In London yesterday the occupation of German cities was widely discussed, and was no doubt approved by both the general public and parliament. The Mueller government will have an early opportunity to establish its good faith. On April 10th the protocol of August 9, 1919, expires by its own terms, and the Germans must withdraw all troops whatsoever from the neutral zone, extending fifty kilometres eastward from the right bank of the Rhine. That is the obligation to which Premier Millerand referred in his letter to Dr. Mayer, German charge d'affaires."

INCREASE PRICE OF CALIFORNIA PAPERS

Los Angeles, Cal., April 7.—Publishers here announced yesterday that the price of morning papers would be advanced on May 1st from 3 to 5 cents and two afternoon papers from two to three cents, while a third afternoon paper, now selling for one cent would advance to two cents.

STEAMER DISABLED.

New York, April 7.—The coal laden Shipping Board steamship Kearney, Newport News for Rotterdam, was disabled yesterday about 950 miles east of Norfolk, according to a wireless message received at the naval communications office here. She had burned out the bearings on two turbines. The steamship Neshaminy, London for New Orleans, went to her assistance.

Germans Denounce The French Advance

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Berlin, April 7.—Occupation of German cities in the neutral zone east of the Rhine by French troops was denounced in an official statement dealing with the incident here today. It is declared the Government did everything to prevent what is described as this "unheard of action, which is neither in accordance with the sense of the peace treaty, nor its scope, and is out of proportion with the insignificance of our measures in the Ruhr region."

GERMANY'S FATE IS EUROPE'S FATE

The German Press Very Bitter Over French Advance and Duplicity at Berlin.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Berlin, April 7. — The newspaper comment on the French advance into the Ruhr district includes a good deal of criticism of the government, especially as the papers say they were officially informed Monday night that the German legation at Paris did not view the situation pessimistically. Opposition papers are bitter, charging the government with incapacity in handling the whole situation.

The Lokal Anzeiger believes the German republic has been endangered and that its inner development will be retarded for months.

George Bernard, the political writer, while condemning the French action, in the Vossische Zeitung, admits a technical breach of the treaty by Germany so far as the number of German army units in the neutral zone are concerned. He says that the government has placed itself in an equivocal position, and concludes:

"Germany's fate lies in France's hands, but Germany's fate is also Europe's fate, and in Europe's ruin France will also find her grave."

German Troops at Essen.

Berlin, April 7.—Advance troops of the Reichswehr and shock troops entered the suburbs of Essen Tuesday afternoon. Another detachment occupied the Essen town hall last evening.

(An Associated Press despatch from Essen, by way of Paris, received Tuesday afternoon, announced the penetration of Essen by Reichswehr forces from two sides of the city.)

Long columns of the Red army, in motor lorries and on foot, passed through Elberfeld on Tuesday. Most of them surrendered their arms at Elberfeld. Others marched into the occupied territory, chiefly to Solingen, where they were disarmed by the British. Other insurgent bands, still armed, are wandering about the mountains.

QUEBEC CITY HAS SOLD GOLD BONDS

Quebec, April 7.—The Quebec City Council last night passed a resolution accepting the offer of Wood, Gundy & Co. and the Dominion Securities Corporation at 98.17 for the purchase of $1,325,000 in city of Quebec ten year, gold bonds bearing six per cent.

Threaten Strike Of all Miners in Minto District

Indications United Mine Workers Will Put Their Entire Resources Behind Minto Workers, and That 400 Men There May Soon be on Strike --- $6,500 Already Given by Organization to Families of Men on Strike There

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Truro, N. S., April 7.—The United Mine Workers' executive in District No. 26 are clearing the decks to have a showdown in the Minto, N. B., district. Last night the executive board met in private session and thoroughly discussed the situation at Minto, where 400 odd miners formerly in the employ of the Minto Coal Co., are on strike.

These miners have been on strike for the past four months, having refused to accept the award of the McKeown conciliation board. When the strike was first declared, 220 miners walked out, but the great majority of these men have found employment with other operators in the Minto district other than the Minto Coal Co.

Now, the situation is this: The miners employed with the smaller operators believe they should not continue work while their brother miners are on strike with the Minto Coal Company. They have urged upon the U. M. W. executive to give greater assistance to the men on strike, and have even requested that another application for a conciliation board be made on the Department of Labor. It is pointed out by the U. M. W. officials that the miners in the Minto district, other than those on strike, were organized during the strike and that upwards of 400 men have joined the U. M. W. in the New Brunswick fields. These men have proved loyal to the Union, according to a statement by President Baxter, "refusing the bribes and offers of larger wage increases from the operators if they form a separate and distinct organization.

The convention yesterday afternoon briefly discussed the Minto situation, and the concensus of opinion was to the effect that the U. M. W. should stand behind the Minto strikers until the Minto Coal Co. was beaten into submission. Delegates even urged that greater financial assistance be given the striking men, when Secretary James B. McLachlan announced that already $6,500 had been sent to aid the families of the Minto men now on strike. Mr. McLachlan further declared that a family of four were receiving $6 per week. This amount was judged too small by the secretary and many of the delegates.

From the present attitude it would seem as though the convention will heartily endorse the Minto strike and put the entire resources of the organization behind the men in that section. It may be that before long 400 Minto miners will be on strike, and if the convention decides to back them up there will be a great financial burden for District 26. This burden may be lessened, however, by an application for financial assistance from the international organization. This, of course, will be a matter of policy, to be decided upon by the executive and later ratified by the convention.

Board Members Hayes and Livingstone, who have at different times been at Minto to assist the miners there in their strike, outlined the work already accomplished by the U.M.W. They declared that the only stand for the convention to take was that of entirely endorsing the action of the miners at Minto and fighting on their behalf until the last ditch. Mr. Livingstone said in the course of his remarks that the miners at Minto were forced to work in the mines under conditions that would not be tolerated by miners in Nova Scotia.

IRREGULARITIES IN SENTENCE CLAIMED

Counsel for Two Convicted Quebec Men Apply for Habeas Corpus for Them.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Montreal, April 7.—Clerical irregularities in the records bearing the conviction and sentence at Sherbrooke in December last of Joseph Labrie and Emile Labrie, the former given a life sentence and the latter 25 years for manslaughter of Charles Case, at Stoke, Eastern Townships, was called to the attention of the Superior Court yesterday, when a writ of habeas corpus was applied for on behalf of both men.

It was stated that conviction and sentence were both irregular and illegal, because no criminal offence was mentioned either on the recorded conviction or on the jail warrant.

Mr. Justice Duclos ordered the writs to issue and the case will be heard Thursday.

FEARED TO SHAME HER SOLDIER SON

Woman Arrested at New York for Shoplifting Refused to Give Her Name.

New York, April 7.—"I had a son who was killed in the war while serving in the Canadian army; in memory of him, I cannot disclose my name."

This was the reply of an elderly grey-haired Toronto woman, arrested by the police and sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse, when Judge James J. McInerney, of the court of special sessions, urged her to tell the court her real name.

Special detectives arrested the woman on March 26 in one of the city's big department stores, charging her with stealing a pair of stockings, two pairs of gloves, a collar, two purses, a book and two clocks, the total value of which was $58. She pleaded guilty to a formal charge of petit larceny.

SIGNED PAY LISTS UNAUTHORIZED

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

St. Catharines, Ont., April 7.—That some unauthorized person had signed his name to a pay list of the 19th Lincoln Regiment while on canal guard was the declaration made by Lieut. Col. W. A. Traill before the re-opened court of enquiry into the financial affairs of the canal guard, held in the armories here yesterday.

Sergeant Arthur Turnbull, who was brought from North Carolina to give evidence as former paymaster sergeant, stated that he would not have attaached the colonel's signature to the pay list, but, under cross-examination, he admitted that, under instructions, he might have done it.

CHARGE BRAKEMAN WITH NEGLIGENCE

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 7.—After deliberating for well over two hours, during which time they heard upwards of a dozen witnesses, a Carleton county grand jury, at the opening of the spring assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario yesterday, returned a true bill against Thomas J. Curley, Canadian Pacific Railway brakeman, who is arraigned to stand trial on two harges of criminal negligence arising out of the Corbiel wreck on the morning of January 25.

MONTREAL SYNOD TO MEET TUESDAY

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Montreal, April 7—The annual meeting of the Synod of the diocese of Montreal, which is to convene here next Tuesday, does not so far promise any topics of outstanding interest. Bishop Farthing regards the question of the change of name of the Church of England in Canada as a hardy annual about which there is apparently no very strong feeling. It was stated by Bishop Farthing that the centenary of the Anglican Church of Rupert's Land will be celebrated in Winnipeg in October.

Man Wearing a Canadian Uniform Arrested at London on the Charge of Bigamously Wedding Widow and Robbing Her of Household Goods.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

London, April 7.—Roland Castleman, or Burrell, a veterinary surgeon, was committed for trial for bigamy and theft. It is alleged that the prisoner, who wore the uniform of a Canadian sergeant, bigamously married a widow and robbed her of a hundred pounds' worth of household goods. It was stated that the prisoner was married in Toronto in 1913.

American Action in Regard To French Advance Awaited

The American Rhineland Commissioner Notifies Washington that the Americans Disassociated Themselves Entirely From the Advance by the French.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Coblenz, April 7.—It was learned yesterday at the office of P. B. Noyes, American Rhineland commissioner and representative of the State Department in the American occupied area, that several days ago Mr. Noyes formally dissociated himself from any action the High Commission might take involving it directly or indirectly in a possible French advance into unoccupied territory. It was also stated at the office that Mr. Noyes had notified Washington of his action.

Some Practical Ideas In Six Budget Debate Speeches In Legislature Yesterday

House Sat Until Midnight Listening to Speeches—New Systems for Stumpage and Motor Vehicle Tax Charges Suggested.

Six more speeches in the debate on the budget were delivered in the Legislature yesterday, the House sitting until but a few minutes before 12 o'clock midnight.

The first speaker of the day was Mr. Dysart, of Kent, who was followed by Mr. Campbell, of St. John, each speaking for about three-quarters of an hour. Then came Hon. J. F. Tweeddale, Minister of Agriculture, who talked for a solid three hours. He was followed by Mr. Hunter, of York, Dr. McGrath, of Northumberland, and Mr. Grimmer, of Charlotte, and then Hon. Dr. E. A. Smith, Minister of Lands and Mines, adjourned the debate until today.

MR. DYSART OF KENT.

An Encouraging Admission from Government Supporter That Deficits Are "Bad."

Mr. Dysart did not inject anything particularly new into the debate except to express regret that the Liberal party in their national convention at Ottawa last year did not incorporate a plank in their platform to "give to the people of the Maritime Provinces their just rights on the part of the Confederation" and to express the opinion that deficits are "bad." It was, as Mr. Campbell afterwards pointed out, refreshing to have a supporter of the Government make such a frank admission as the attitude, following the lead of Premier Foster and Hon. Mr. Veniot had all along been to approach the deficit question in a bravado spirit and blame the people for it all.

Mr. Dysart may find his speech gaining him notoriety from one reference which he made and of which the following is the official synoptic report:

"An hon. member for St. John had said that he had felt like weeping for the hildren who paid the moving picture tax. He (Dysart) wondered if the hon. member wept when he learned that a quarter of a million dollars was extracted from the pockets of the people in connection with the Valley Railway. He wondered if he wept over the $100,000 which went into the pocket of a St. John man, or did he weep when $61,000 was paid to a member of the Legislature.

"Mr. Potts said he would like the name of the hon. member of the House who had been paid $61,000.

"Mr. Dysart said that the money had gone into the pocket of an hon. member, but he had not expressed an opinion as to how long it had remained there.

"Mr. Potts said that the hon. member having made a statement should be prepared to back it up.

"Mr. Dysart said he thought the hon. member need have no difficulty in securing the information from the records."

MR. CAMPBELL, OF ST. JOHN.

Takes Issue With the "Equal Pay for Equal Work" Principle for Male and Female Teachers.

Mr. Campbell, of St. John, lost no time in advising the member for Kent that his remarks would probably not only arouse animosities, which he had professed to fear and regret, but it would also cause trouble no doubt, for he had made very grave charges against an honorable member of the Opposition, who unfortunately was not in his place at the time.

After twitting the Government for its failure to fill the vacancy in the representation of Carleton county, he expressed the opinion that it was getting to be "almost useless" for the members of the Legislature to come to the House for the purpose of considering expenditures and then find that, after they had labored to lop off an odd thousand dollars here and there, the Government went ahead and made huge expenditures amounting to hundreds of thousands of dollars. The people, however, did not want their money squandered and the Government would be confronted by a serious situation when the time came for an election and they were face to face with the proposition of fulfilling the Premier's promise that all the deficits would be made up.

Just where that excellent firm, Price, Waterhouse & Co.—fitted in the scheme of provincial finance he could not say. Last year he (Campbell) had drawn attention to the fact that a statement of audit had not been signed. The Provincial Secretary had said he would see that it was signed. He did not recollect that such had been done, but the Provincial Secretary may be able to give the information. Much was said upon the Government's side with regard to the Audit Act, but that measure was substantially the same as that of the Hazen Government. The Auditor General had come to be termed the Comptroller General, but the terms of the Act, nevertheless, required that that official maintain a continuous audit. Under the circumstances why were two auditors necessary? Why need Price, Waterhouse & Co. appear at all? This firm seemed to be introduced as a solace for the Premier and the Comptroller General, who should be the auditor, was relegated to a subordinate position in the office of the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer.

The Provincial Secretary had referred to a substantial sum paid in bonuses to provincial officials in and about Fredericton. His belief always had been that a bonus was paid out of a surplus but this one had been paid out of a deficit. It seemed as if the larger the deficit, the larger was the bonus.

Teachers' Salaries.

He united with other members in pleasure on account of the fact that school teachers were to be better paid. However, he noticed that the report of the special committee used the words "equal pay for equal work." If that phrase meant equal hours and equal duties he had no quarrel with it. However, there was another element which should enter into consideration and that was equal efficiency. In many classes of service women were more efficient than men, but there were other classes in which men were more efficient than women. He wished to throw out a suggestion in connection with the higher grades of the public schools, particularly the Grammar schools. Was it not generally recognized that in connection with such grades largely attended by boys, virility or management, or masculinity, as one member had said, was required? There were qualities which a woman, no matter how efficient, could not give. "Equal pay for equal work" was likely to produce trouble. Male teachers for higher grades should be obtained. He was informed that of some 2,100 school teachers in New Brunswick, not more than 100 were men. It was an amazing state of affairs. Men must be encouraged to go into the profession and he believed they required more pay than women. Their efficiency in the grades to which he had referred was greater. He trusted that his attitude towards this matter would not be misunderstood, but it was his belief that there were cases in which women could not do the work of men. He considered it unfortunate that something in the line of religious education was not carried out in the province. Conditions were little short of deplorable. He believed that in the question, "How many Commandments are there?" were asked of the boys in the street as many as seven out of ten would not know what was being talked about.

He wished to refer to the Housing Scheme. It must be generally recognized that Housing Boards had failed in a very

Two Kinds of Economy in the Post-War Maxwell

THE Post-War Maxwell inherited from its 300,000 predecessors two traits that captivate the person who likes continuous, uninterrupted, comfortable and low-cost mileage.

One is its freedom from repairs. It runs on and on. Give it gas, oil, grease and water and it will deliver an amazing amount of mileage.

The second is the low price you pay per mile. Its thrifty engine with Hot Spot and Ram's-Horn, makes gas go a long way. Its 2000 pounds of weight assures long tire wear.

Such kinds of economy came from years of study and the experience which 300,000 previous Maxwells have taught.

The notable improvements and refinements to be found in this car have caught the attention of many who figured that high efficiency meant high price.

The public has served notice that it does appreciate value.

That is why 40,000 persons will have to go without a Post-War Maxwell this year though 100,000 are being built.

Budget Debate In Legislature

laudable aim. Why was that? He believed because the Boards had been rather too ambitious. His idea would be to demolish houses in older sections of the city, which had fallen into disrepair, and to erect in their place commodious, small comfortable and suitable houses.

HON. MR. TWEEDDALE.

Minister for Agriculture in Spirited Personal Conflict with Mr. Potts of St. John.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale started speaking shortly after 5 o'clock, continued until the recess at 6 o'clock and resumed again at 8 o'clock and continued until 10 o'clock. He spent most of the afternoon section of his time in reviewing affairs of the past, discussing the history of the St. John Valley, the Grand Falls power project, the production campaign during the war and such subjects, and in the evening he sought by comparing the abnormal period of the war with the years before he assumed office to show that charges of inefficiency in the management of the Agricultural Department, as made by the Opposition, were untrue.

During the afternoon the Minister of Agriculture and Mr. Potts of St. John became involved in a spirited controversy, during the course of which Mr. Sweeney of Westmorland, who was presiding over the House for the Speaker, must have felt the need of preparing for eventualities. Mr. Tweeddale referred to the city of St. John as "sending a representative like that"—with loud emphasis on the "that"—and made a bitter personal attack upon Mr. Potts, winding up by likening his speech in the House to "the talk of a drunken sailor in the old days." The Minister said there was little wonder that the dignity of the House had degenerated.

In the evening Hon. Mr. Tweeddale was heckled a good deal at times by members of the Opposition, who asked for his opinions on various subjects, most of which he gave.

MR. HUNTER, OF YORK.

Makes a Demand for Greater Consideration for the Returned Soldiers, Wants Stumpage Increased and Better Value for Road Expenditures.

Mr. Hunter thought the stumpage question was one deserving of the careful consideration of hon. members. The debt of the province was rolling up year by year, and they had nothing but the lumber lands to fall back upon, and he believed the stumpage rate should be increased. The mover of the Address had expressed a similar opinion, but when the hon. leader of the opposition had moved that the rate be increased to $7, the motion had failed to command his support. The members for Albert had had the courage of their convictions and voted against the amendment, but the mover of the Address had not measured up to that standard. Quite recently he had read a statement by W. B. Snowball, who had declared that $7 per thousand was too much to charge for stumpage. Mr. Snowball had compared the prices of supplies in 1913 with the prices in 1919, and contended that the increase amounted to 100 per cent. That gentleman had failed, however, to tell of the great advance which had been made in the price of lumber during the same period. He (Hunter) was certain that the increase amounted to at least 200 per cent.

During the session of 1919 he had suggested to the Minister of Public Works that if he wished to win York county for the government he would need to spend more money on the roads of that county.

Hon. Mr. Veniot—"I took your advice."

Mr. Hunter, continuing, said that he believed the Minister was after the scalps of the members for York, as he had expended four times as much in that county in 1919 as he had done in 1918. He found no fault with him for that, for the county wanted all the money it could get. The sum of $5,600 had been spent in the Parish of Manners-Sutton and charged up to permanent work. The money had been spent on ordinary roads, and he was sure not one of them would outlive the bonds and they would probably need repairs inside of three years. After a rainstorm it was next to impossible to get over those roads, but he believed if the patrol system were adopted there would be a great saving of money. He was pleased to hear that the bye roads in Restigouche county were receiving attention and regretted he could not say the same about the county of York.

Wants By-roads Improved.

He believed the farmers in back districts were entitled to good roads, and to provide them would be a good way of encouraging greater production. They had a good road leading from Harvey Station to Lake George, which was greatly in need of repairs. The antimony mines at Lake George were soon to be reopened which meant that there would be a very heavy traffic between that point and Harvey Station, which was to be the shipping point. He also hoped that some attention would be given to the road leading from Harvey to Fredericton by way of Hanwell. Then the Tweedside Road on the old St. Andrews route was also in need of repairs. The present system under which statute labor was performed would stand some improvement. The law made it optional with the ratepayer whether he should do statute labor or pay his taxes. In his own parish the matter had been considered at a public meeting and the supervisor had told the ratepayers that if they paid in cash he would engage them to do the work at higher wages. The vote stood 8 to 15 in favor of paying the tax. When the collector started out he was told by a number of the ratepayers that they had decided to do the road workin lieu of paying the taxes. The supervisor was among those who refused to pay. He afterwards had correspondence with the Secretary-Treasurer and also with the Public Works Department in regard to the matter. Some of the ratepayers paid in their money to the collector and others said they had been told by the supervisor not to pay.

Hon. Mr. Veniot—"Would you give me the name of that supervisor?"

Mr. Hunter, continuing, said that it was Frank Coburn. Some of the ratepayers in the district had neither worked on the road nor paid their taxes. Another meeting was to be held in the near future to discuss the question and he hoped the result would be more satisfactory.

He regarded the present system of breaking winter roads as unsatisfactory. In his parish mail routes last winter had not been broken and inconvenience had resulted. The people could assess themselves for the work, but it was difficult to persuade them to do it. Something should be done to insure opening of roads during the winter months. He believed the taxes should be levied on the whole district and the work let out by contract.

Lots of Officials.

The Minister of Agriculture must be a busy man, as he had a large number of officials to look after. To watch so many would be apt to keep any man busy. With so many officials drawing large salaries there was doubt on the part of some people as to the amount of benefit being received. The same thing might be said of the Department of Health. The numerous officials might be giving value for the money, but it was hard to make people believe it. In some districts they were without doctors or nurses, and it was difficult to comply with all the provisions of the Act. In hi sown parish they had experienced great difficulty in procuring the services of a doctor during the absence through illness of the regular practitioner.

One of the seats in Carleton had been vacant for nearly four years, and he was at a loss to understand why it had not been filled, unless it was due to lack of courage on the part of the government.

Hon. members opposite had blamed the old government for holding constituencies open but they were doing the same thing, but on a larger scale. Carleton was entitled to its full representation, and when an election was held he believed the people would give the government their answer.

The year 1919 had witnessed the return of the boys who had served overseas. Relatives had been gladdened by their home-coming, but there were many who were sleeping in Flanders field. He was sure that the heartfelt sympathy of hon. members would go out to the fathers and mothers who had lost sons in the great war. He hoped that the government, when it had positions to fill, would not overlook the claims of the returned men as nothing was too good for them.

DR. McGRATH, OF NORTHUMBERLAND.

Amusing Speech Was Not Altogther Full of Mirth for the Government.

Dr. McGrath, of Northumberland, who followed, gave one of his characteristic speeches that bristled with witty remarks and at times stood forth as much more independent in character than the deliverances of some of the Government's more docile followers.

Like the little straws which won a reputation by telling how the wind blows, so the mere reference by Dr. McGrath to the sessional indemnities may be taken to indicate how the members of the House are thinking on the high cost of living and kindred subjects. "How much will it be," was the cry which came from several parts of the chamber as soon as the doctor mentioned the words sessional indemnities; members on both sides suddenly sat up and paid attention to what was going on.

Dr. McGrath created somewhat of a stir by his declarations that the byeroads needed improvement—although he said much had been done and the Minister of Public Works provided lots of money—and that the Government should be prepared to increase their grant to teachers as much as they were ready to call upon the municipalities, but the real sensation was caused when he declared as "foolish" some of the statements which had been made about the lumbering business and its profits. In this category he mentioned the fact that the value of the crown lands had been placed at as high as $100,000,000.

"Wasn't it the Provincial Secretary who mentioned those figures, inquired Mr. Potts, of St. John.

"All the foolishness in this House usually comes from the Opposition," replied Dr. McGrath, and the members burst into laughter as they realized there had been a "double killing."

MR. GRIMMER, OF CHARLOTTE.

One of the Most Practical Speeches of the Debate, in Which New Systems for Stumpage and Motor Vehicle Collections Were Advocated.

Mr. Grimmer said he had appreciated particularly that portion of the address delivered by the member for Westmorland, in which he had said that owing to the increase cost of administration the stumpage rates should eb increased. He felt that the hon. member had lost a golden opportunity when he had failed to support the amendment offered by the leader of the Opposition. He also had been interested in the remarks made by the member for Kent during the afternoon, when the latter had congratulated the members for Albert on their in-

CANADIAN UNISON.

Leaders at the Great War Veterans' convention at Montreal declared the veterans recognize no racial or religious divisions in Canadian life. No saner conviction could be enunciated. Assimilation of divergent nationalities must be encompassed as well as compromise on differences be effected if nationhood is to be consolidated, solidified, made lasting and durable. In the magnitude of the much Canada has done, her citizens can sink their minor susceptibilities and recognize only the one whole and indivisible. It will have its compartments: it should have them. But they are all in the one hold, says an exchange. This is the belief of organized labor in Canada, too; if the assertions of Mr. Alpheus Mathieu are to be accepted. He speaks as the labor candidate in the Dominion bye-election in Montreal. When he speaks in the clarion tones of unity of all classes, irrespective of trade or creed, of class or sect, he pleads for that unity which must ever be the forward goal of a nation. Of course, you can throw in so much solid the liquid loses its powers of absorption. The Hon. Arthur Meighen does a service to the country in reminding it of this elemental chemical law. Can Canada afford to "throw into" the country more alien population? They are so foreign in their conceptions of Canadianism that their difficulty in absorbing it, and in ascribing to the vogues and laws, to the habits and the customs of the land, is a problem which, if not solved, will mean a fatal acquiescence. Better have those already here become Canadians by instinct as well as by law before their chance to become so is negatived by the onward sweep of the hordes who are most certain to want to come from Europe when once they have shipping facilities and they can quit themselves of their lands of unrest. The United States is faced with the same problem. Its immigration policy is tending more and more to closing its doors to the newcomer of foreign extraction and racial distinction. The country has more thoroughly to digest the millions already in it. To restrict the coming of more should only be an encouragement to vivify those who are here with a satiation of the spirit of and abidance in this new world of hope and expansion. Among those already here there is no more use in putting up a fire wall between east and west than there is sanity in kindling anew racial antagonisms of old. If anything can have been learned from the throes of sorrow and suffering and strife into which the finest nations in the world have been thrust, that lesson is the abysmal futility of force. As force exercised between nations leaves them ultimately worse off, the forced and constant contentions between racial and credal classes within the nation itself only destroys that which the ambition of every citizen is to build up. This is simply obter dicta. It but points to the page in the book of peoples on which may be found the reference. Unless you digest it for yourself you cannot conceive how immeasurably great may be this nation if only it can be cemented; how perishably minute must be its course in history if it allow itself to be swayed in these early centuries by maladdresses which begin with irritation only to descend into the tragedies of pyrrhic victories.

MARRIAGE AND THE HIGHER EDUCATION.

Royal Victoria College, Montreal, is a women's college affiliated with McGill University. Since 1888, when the college opened, there have been 533 graduates. Recently published records of the college show that only 194 of the graduates have married, points out an exchange. A partial explanation of the comparatively small number of marriages of graduates is suggested by the figures for recent years, when either war conditions or the youth of the graduates would militate against marriages. In the five years since 1914 there have been 125 graduates, of whom but nine have married. The war of course took away a great proportion of the younger men of Canada, leaving less chance of marriages, while in any case the recent graduates of Victoria College would mostly be very young girls. But leaving out the last five years altogether, the records of the graduating classes of Royal Victoria College from 1888 to 1914 show but 185 marriages among 408 graduates, which seems a curiously small proportion for college girls in a country where men are in the majority.

What is the matter Are the college girls too particular? Or do they get too busy at something else? Or are the men too scared of the brains of college girl graduates? Or does the high cost of living suggest to girls and boys alike that where a family has to be maintained on a plane suggested by a college education, it is best to go slow and not get married too young? Whatever the explanation may be, it seems a pity that the higher education of women should not be more vigorously assimilated into family life in Canada than the Royal Victoria College records indicate to be the case.

ECONOMY AT OTTAWA.

If the Dominion Government has been pound foolish, it has also been, in some features of administration at least, penny wise. The old blue-book scandal, for example, has ceased, or nearly so. It used to be the custom of Ottawa departments to print and distribute lashings of literature dealing with almost every subject conceivably connected with the business of Government. The publication of blue books reached enormous proportions, and the distribution was practically unrestricted, but yet was not always sufficient to supply an outlet for all the stuff that was printed. The whole system, or lack of system, was wasteful in the extreme, and was known to be so long before any attempt was made to apply a remedy, remarks an exchange. Nevertheless, the remedy has been found, and a cure is being effected. There is an Editorial Committee, under the chairmanship of Mr. Fred Cook, the Assistant King's Printer, which is responsible to an Advisory Committee of Council on Government Publications. The Editorial Committee first attacked the blue-book problem in the fall of 1918, and promptly encountered what it describes, somewhat feelingly, as the "since Confederation" idea. This idea may be set forth briefly as "hang the expense." It gave the committee no end of trouble because of its antiquity, the practice of waste having been sanctified by custom. It was manifested in little things as well as in greater things and was so general that the little things became heavy items of annual expense, much of which was needless. The committee has succeeded in partially, if not wholly, breaking down the "since Confederation" idea and has introduced numerous economies, not only in regard to blue-book publications but in the use of departmental stationery as well. The blue-books have been reduced in size, the issues have been reduced materially, and steps have ben taken to distribute them upon a basis of actual use. Definite results have been obtained, the cost of publications issued in 1918-19 having been a little more than half the cost for 1915-16, and a still further decrease has been promised for the year just closed. This is something accomplished, and though it is relatively small, still it is an economy and as such it is welcome. Also there is a cheering naivette in the last paragraph of the committee's report, which states that hundreds of thousands of volumes have accumulated since Confederation, that storage costs money, and that these surplus books are to be presented to the various libraries of Canada "in the best interests of the country."

OBITUARY.

William Gould.

Dalhousie, April 6.—There was a general feeling of sorrow cast over the town of Dalhousie on Sunday morning when the flag was seen flying at half-mast on the government building, announcing the death of William Gould, who had been the caretaker of the customs and post office ever since its erection.

The Stock Market

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York (Wall Street), April 7.—Motors and steels dominated the active opening of today's stock market, supplementing for the most part yesterday's substantial gains. Studebaker was the outstanding feature as a result of the 33 1-3 per cent. stock dividend declared yesterday. The first transaction in that issue comprised one block of 18,000 shares at 119 down to 117, an extreme overnight rise of eight points. U. S. Steel was again heavily traded in, its initial offering being 10,000 shares at 106, unchanged. Equipments, oils, shippings, coppers, food shares and miscellaneous issued were 1 to 2 points higher.

THE LIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE

Merely a Suggestion.

At an "At Home" given by a country gentleman's wife, the footman had to do duty for the butler.

The said footman was much astonished at the thin bread and butter with which he servd his mistress' guests.

As he was supplying an ancient dowager for the fourth time, he said to her, in a voice which was meant for a whisper, but which was audible to the whole room:

"If you slap three or four slices together, mum, maybe you can get a bite!"

Juvenile Foresight.

"What did you give your mamma for her birthday?" asked one small boy of another.

"A paper knife," was the reply. "What did you give yours?"

"Oh," answered the other, "I read in a book about preparing for war in time of peace, so I just bought her a pair of slippers with knit soles."

Obliging.

"Have you an opening here for me?" asked the assertive young man as he stood at the open door.

"Yes," answered the capitalist. "It's right behind you."

Better.

Maud—No, I cannot marry you.

Percy (savagely)—Oh, well, there are others just as good.

Maud—Better; I accepted one of them yesterday.

Her Experience.

Mrs. Multikids—Well! The children are dressed in less time than ever before. And you said you had had no experience with children.

The New Nursemaid—Yes'm. But for the last two years I was in a show business as dresser for a dog and monkey act.

FROM THE PEOPLE

EMPIRE DAY.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—As the first idea of "Empire Day" originated in Canada, may I be pardoned if I express a hope that Canada will again take the lead and make the coming "Empire Day," May the 24th, worthy of the great ideas which it represents, for let us not forget that this "Empire Day" will be the first which has occurred since peace was signed at Versailles on June 28th of last year.

May the 24th next will therefore be a victory with a peace aniversary, reminding us of the great sacrifices made throughout the Dominions of King George to frustrate the iniquitous attack made by Germany and her Allies on the liberties of the world.

In this world wide struggle Canada bore a prominent and noble part, and to those of her gallant warriors who took part in the great struggle and have survived the terrific conflict, I would especially appeal to throw all their energies into the celebration which I hope will take place throughout the whole of Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

I appeal to all Canadian mayors, as well as local and educational authorities, to organize in time, and not to omit to return general thanks to the Almighty for the wonderful victories vouchsafed to the forces of the British Empire, and especially to those contributed by Canada in the course of a five years' contest the like of which the world never previously witnessed.

Yours faithfully,
MEATH,
Deputy Chairman.

Denison House, Vanxhill Bridge Road, London, March 19, 1920.

THE PULPWOOD EMBARGO.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—All this talk of retaliatory measures on the part of the American Congress, because the Canadian people decline longer to be hewers of wood and traders of their birthright for a mess of pottage by shipping the lifeblood of their own paper mills across the border in the shape of raw material, is pure bunkum.

That the United States would be willing or prepared to engage in a trade war with its second best world's customer is, of course, inconceivable and ridiculous. Canada is nearer self-support than any other country on the globe, through her own and other British resources.

In the first place, Canada has ample coal deposits for the running of all her industries. It is simply a matter of transportation, and with a magnificent water route from Nova Scotia via the Saint Lawrence River and Great Lakes, and with rail freight rates continually advancing while water freights will be declining, it will be cheaper to transport coal by water from Nova Scotia than by rail from Pennsylvania.

Secondly, if there is one thing that Canada really has an inexhaustible supply of, it is water powers. If these were developed, as they should be and will be in the near future, and our railroads and industries electrified, we should require very little coal.

There is a vast difference between the United States selling us coal, for which they are glad to find a market so near at hand, and the shipping of wood from Canada; as coal cannot be manufactured any farther, and a cord of wood instead of bringing $20 to $25 in its raw state will return a hundred dollars or more when turned into paper.

There is, of course, a serious shortage of newsprint paper in the United States, but this also applies in Canada as well, and she is shipping more than 80 per cent. of all her paper to the United States, to the detriment of her own newspapers, some of which have had to suspend publication on this account.

In any event, Canada's mills might just as well be shut down for want of coal as for want of wood; but the fact must not be forgotten that she is supplying the newspapers of the United States with half of their newsprint and the moment her mills are shut down for want of coal or any other reason not only will they not have sufficient paper to print their Congressional Record, which is one of their complaints, but one-half of their newspapers will be forced to suspend publication, as no country outside of Canada can supply this amount of paper.

The American people are not a party to any of this agitation with reference to the Underwood resolution, which is inspired by one or two of the larger paper companies who have suddenly awakened to a realization that they have only a very small wood supply in their own country and who are simply using the American newspapers, and through them Congress, to try to help them out of a bad hole.

Yours,
FRANK J. D. BARNJUM.

Annapolis Royal, N. S., April 4, 1920.

ABOUT A 10-HOUR DAY

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I have enjoyed a discussion in one of the newspapers of our neighbors on a proposition to revise the calendar year into one of thirteen months. Why not divide our twenty-four hour day differently? Make it a day of ten hours, with 100 minutes to the hour, a total of 1,000 minutes a day; it would be so much easier to make out the pay lists at the end of the week, besides other advantages numerous and practical. The day would start at midnight, as at present, and our noon hour would become the new 5 o'clock.

In this way, too, the labor unions would get a "five-hour" day with full pay, and the railroads could save ink in printing time tables, as the full faced type for p. m. would be dropped.

Yours,
ADVANCE.

WANT A SHARE OF PROHIBITION FINES

Proposal From Moncton Placed Before the City Council Last Night.

The monthly meeting of the City Council was held last night. The auditor's report was read as follows:

Water	$1,735.99
Fire	442.52
Contingencies	898.83
Roads and Streets—
Capital	364.20
Ordinary	5,971.83
City Hall	575.87
Street Lighting	600.73
Justice	775.69
Sewerage	56.00
Municipal Home	204.50
	$11,566.46

Ald. Barker, chairman of the Municipal Home Committee, presented the report of that committee, which showed an expenditure of $169.02, an outdoor relief of $93.66, and a balance on hand of $28.46. On motion, a cheque of $400 was ordered issued to the commissioner.

The report of the city tax collections was then read as follows by Ald. Wilkinson:

March, 1919	$1,656.83
March, 1920	$1,236.10

The city assessment for the ensuing year was then fixed at $215,000, and the business transacted at the committee meeting of the Council was confirmed.

On motion of Ald. Wilkinson, seconded by Ald. Baxter, a cheque for the amount of $7,500 was ordered to be issued to the Board of School Trustees to meet their current indebtedness and provide for a sinking fund.

Ald. T. S. Wilkinson read a communication from C. A. Sampson, secretary of the Board of School Trustees, asking that a cheque to cover the grant of $800 for the carrying on of vocational work in this city during 1919 be issued to the Board of Trustees. On motion of Ald. Wilkinson, seconded by Ald. Baxter, this was ordered issued.

Another request from the same source was received, that a n additional grant of $2,500 to carry on the work of the vocational classes during the year 1920 and 1921 be granted. It was stated in the communication that $1,200 would be needed the first part of the year and $1,300 the latter half beginning in January, 1921. It was expected that additional classes in motor mechanics, electrical engineering and plumbing would be carried on.

Mayor Reid stated that he thought the Council ought to inquire as to how the money would be spent, and on motion of Ald. Camp, seconded by Ald. Cain, the matter was left to the Finance Committee to take up with the Board of School Trustees.

A communication from W. A. McWilliam, acting city clerk of Moncton, asking the Fredericton Council to co-operate with them in petitioning the Provincial Government to grant not less than one-third of the fines from prohibition cases in the city court was read.

Mayor Reid said he had written the Moncton city council for a fuller explanation of the matter.

In this connection a resolution was passed leaving the communication to the Administration of Justice Committee to do all in their power to see that Fredericton got a share of the prohibition fines.

Ald. Wilkinson, on behalf of the Finance Committee, reported on the matter of retaining R. B. Hanson, K.C., as city solicitor. Mr. Hanson placed the value of his services at $250 a year, payable quarterly. As part of his work he would give legal advice and draft all ordinary resolutions. Legislation and other special work would carry extra remuneration. On motion of Ald. Wilkinson, seconded by Ald. Barker, Mr. Hanson was retained as city solicitor.

The Council then adjourned.

dependence in voting against the amendment offered by their leader. It must have surprised his hon. friend to find that members of the House could be independent and could exercise their own judgment in matters of public interest.

The Minister for Agriculture had delivered a lengthy address and he did not blame him for taking the opportunity for he believed the people of Victoria were awaiting the opportunity to place him back on the farm where he could put into practice the policies which he advanced. He had heard one farmer of Charlotte county criticize the speech of the Minister at Woodstock because lime had been referred to as fertilizer. The farmer had stated that it was the first time he ever had heard that lime would take the place of fertilizer.

A New Stumpage Plan.

In regard to stumpage he had a suggestion to make to the House. There always should be co-operation between the Government and the lumbermen. The revenue should be kept up. When large excess profits accrued to the operators the Government should share in them, on the other hand when profits decreased the two partners should share similarly. This could not be done under the present system which gave the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council the power to fix the rate of stumpage at any time. He realized that the constant fluctuation in the price of lumber would not make it safe for a lumberman to contract for the sale of his whole output for a period of fifteen years. At present lumber was sold on the open market. The province should do the same. He could see why lumbermen should insist on long term leases and he would not object to them if the province was safeguarded.

He did not believe that the province would get the full amount of stumpage as long as the rate was subject to the dictation of party interest. Under existing circumstances he could understand that an increase in the rate of stumpage could be made only on consultation with the big interests.

The demand for an increased revenue never was so great, particularly in view of the enormous deficit of the preceding year. Some legitimate source of revenue must be secured and the logical one was from the Crown Lands. The Government could not withhold action much longer.

He might be asked what he could suggest which would permit long term leases, abolish fixed stumpage and take away from the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council the right to fix the rate and yet not interfere with an important industry. In reply he would say that he would give a lease as long as the lumber operator wanted it. He would leave the exact mileage price as it was. He would impose a stumpage rate of $1 per thousand, the scale to be ascertained by a Government scaler. He would provide that at the end of each year the operator must pay the difference between $1 per thousand and the stumpage on privately owned lands in the same district. The rate would always vary according to condition of logging, driving, etc. He had been told that there were cases in his own county of Charlotte where the one operator was paying $3.50 stumpage on Crown Lands and $9 on privately owned lands and more where laths were being got out? Why should the province sell its lumber for $3.50 per thousand? The only answer was that the big interests must be favored to keep the Government in power, but even that would not keep this Government in power when the people were given a chance to pronounce upon its record of mismanagement and extravagance.

Highways were a most important feature of the country and with the steady increase in motor traffic must receive increased expenditure. If the moneys voted in good faith by the House had been expended judiciously the roads would be in better condition. If the Crown Lands and the Public Works were taken out of politics people would get more for their money. The Minister of Public Works had taken full responsibility for conditions. That was too much, for no Minister could keep in touch with the work. If the money paid to inefficient overseers and walking bosses and for the maintenance of motors to carry them from place to place, were put upon the roads themselves, there would be a considerable improvement. In regard to the motor vehicle tax he must say that he regretted that no distinction was made in regard to vehicles except in tonnage. The machine of luxury was classed the same as the car of commerce and he believed the former class exceeded the latter in point of numbers. Under this the farmer with the little Ford travelling not more than 500 miles in the season paid the same rate as the owner of the taxi of the same weight which covered 10,000 miles a year. There should be a charge on a mileage basis, with a rate on mileage in excess of a fixed figure. There was no question about motor vehicles wearing out the highways and a man should pay for what he used, particularly for pleasure.

Charlotte County's Port.

He agreed with members for St. John city when they asked the support of the House for St. John as a port. Added facilities were considerably needed there. Lumber shipments had been held up recently. Canada's trade should go through Canadian ports and he was informed that 80 per cent. of the western wheat was being shipped through American ports. But even the utmost development at St. John would not meet all the requirements and he would direct attention to the one great natural harbor on the Atlantic coast, St. Croix harbor. He had no desire to detract from St. John, but to take care of what business St. John could not handle. Provincial assistance was not asked for, but what would benefit Charlotte county would benefit the whole province.

Carleton county was still without representation. The reasons of the Premier for keeping this state of affairs were the same as they had been one year or two years before. He had not the heart to ask what they were. In conclusion the speaker said that he believed all members of the House were actuated by desire to do their utmost to promote the interests of New Brunswick.

Hon. Dr. Smith moved the adjournment of the Debate.

Resigned Her Position.

Miss Lillian Jarvis, who for the past nine years has been a valued member of the mailing room staff of The Gleaner, Limited, has resigned her position. Before leaving she was the recipient of a gift from the office staff, who expressed regret at her departure and good wishes for her future success.

The United Mine Workers Encourage Members at Minto To Strike for Higher Wages

The Organization Promises to Raise $6,000 a Week to Aid Men if They Quit Work—Will Endeavor to Secure Another Conciliation Board to Consider Situation.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Truro, N. S., April 7.—The United Mine Workers of District 26 this morning decided to increase the allowance from the district to the struggling miners at Minto ten per cent. An effort will be made to have a conciliation board appointed to hear the claims of the miners in the employ of the the operators other than the Minto Coal Co.

The Minto miners will also ask for wage increases that are to be determined by the consulting of representatives of every colliery in the district.

In the event of a general strike being carried out in all the mines at Minto, the District No. 6 will send the Minto miners $6,000 per week as a strike fund. To secure the necessary funds a levy of ten cents per week on the miners in District 26 will be made. An effort may be made to have the Department of Labor grant another Conciliation Board in connection with the dispute between the men and the Minto Coal Co. At yesterday's session the McKeown Conciliation Board, of which ex-Mayor R. B. Hanson was the company's representative, was described as a "joke" by several delegates.

The increase applies to all the employees outside of the "Scotia" collieries and will effect about 900 men.

The consensus of opinion among the men is said to favor acceptance of the award.

ASK $5,000,000 FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Appeal Made to British People to Support League With All Their Resources.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 7.—Earl Grey, Premier Lloyd-George, Admiral Beatty, former Premier Asquith, Lord Robert Cecil and John R. Clynes publish an appeal this morning in the London Times for £1,000,000 sterling "to keep fresh in the minds of the people of this country the spirit and ideals which underlie" the covenant of the League of Nations.

The appeal points out what the League of Nations Union already has done in its educational campaign. It says that a million pounds sounds like a large sum, but that if the British people do not support the League of Nations with all their might and resources "the League itself will assuredly wither and die; and if the League should die, God help our children, for no human agency can save them from calamities to which those of the late war will appear as the merest trifle."

SHIPPING ACT UP IN PARLIAMENT

Difference of Opinion as to Strictness of Examination of Ship Masters.

Ottawa, April 7.—In opposing the bill to amend the Canada Shipping Act in the House last night, D. D. McKenzie stated that the Ship Masters' Association in British Columbia and of the Maritime Provinces were protesting against it. It meant, he said, that the profession of ship master would be smashed up and that no qualifications would in future be required for men taking charge of small sailing vessels.

Mr. Ballantyne insisted that none but competent man would be selected. Before being given certificates they must pass examinations in the line of taking observations, etc.

Wm. Duff (Lunenburg) supported the bill. He said that the present examination was too hard for ninety-nine out of a hundred prospective masters of sailing vessels. The examination involved the writing of essays on academic points of navigation measured in hours. The examination must be made easier to permit an adequate number of mariners to qualify for Canadian sailing ships. It was not true that there were already more men qualified under present regulations than there are ships.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said that proper consideration should be given the fact that Halifax harbor masters had claimed plenty of masters were available under present regulations before the regulations were simplified.

Mr. McKenzie objected to the avowed intention of the bill as being "to make it simple and easy to pass examinations." This was a bad principle, he thought.

The bill was finally reported out of committee and now stands for third reading.

FREDERICTON IS REAL SHOW TOWN

Vaudeville Has Best Opening Here Known on Circuit in Maritime Provinces.

Vaudeville had the most successful opening in Fredericton yesterday that has been staged in any city on the circuit in the Maritime Provinces.

At the afternoon and the first of the evening performances at the Opera House many people were turned away, while the third show of the day was played to what was practically a capacity house. Thus almost 2,500 people saw the three performances and left no doubt that Fredericton is "ripe" for a place on the circuit.

Fred G. Spencer, of St. John, who is operating the Opera House, was in town for the day and was much pleased with the opening. There were five vaudeville acts and a moving picture serial of two reels, and the programme came fully up to expectations in spite of the fact that the members of the "star" act on the bill were prevented from coming here and a substitute act had to be provided.

It would seem as if the weekly vaudeville attractions would prove very popular in Fredericton.

Exchange Situation Not So Favorable

Bills on London, which were about $4 early in the week, also declined, demand sterling opening at $3.97¼. Canadian dollars were quoted at 91.75 cents. Marks were 1.55 cents each.

50,000,000 FEET OF LOGS THIS YEAR

Annual Meeting of the St. John River Log Driving Co., Held Today.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

St. John, N. B., April 7.—At the annual meeting of the St. John River Log Driving Co., held this morning, reports for the year were presented and matters pertaining to the work discussed. The old board of directors was re-elected. One of the officers of the company said after the meeting that it was expected that the drive this year would run to fifty million feet of logs. The drive last year had been thirty-two million, but that had been rather a low year. This year's total would be about the normal drive.

The officers who were re-elected are: J. F. Gregory, president; Walter Jackson, Fredericton, secretary, and J. A. Morrison, Donald Fraser, F. C. Beatteay and A. H. Randolph, members of the executive.

The Public Utilities Commission is to take up the N. B. Telephone Company matter this afternoon.

MORE ARRESTS IN GRAND FALLS CASE

Clark at Grand Falls for identification after he had told his sensational "kidnapping" story and the murderer identified Peter Woods, of St. Anne, Madawaska county, a few miles from Grand Falls, as one of the two men who he alleged forcibly took him from the hospital after having gagged him so he could not raise an outcry. Woods, like Clark, is a returned soldier, has a very good reputation in the district, and it is recognized by the authorities that there are slim grounds for detaining him and that he is very likely to be shown to have had nothing whatever to do with Clark's escape.

However, unless the Attorney General's reports are far astray, the complete solution of the case may be looked for within a short time. Meanwhile Clark and Woods were both landed safely in the Victoria county jail at Andover yesterday afternoon and are to appear before a magistrate there next Tuesday.

16 Members Have Talked on Budget and End of the Debate Is Not Yet Even In Sight

Fraser Paper Company's Bill May Be Introduced This Afternoon—Dr. Gerard Seeks Amendment to Dentists' Act.

Sixteen members of the Legislature had spoken in the debate on the Budget up to midnight last night when the House adjourned until this afternoon and the end of the debate is not yet in sight.

Hon. Dr. E. A. Smith, Minister of Lands and Mines, is to be the first speaker this afternoon and his contribution is awaited with interest because of the important place the stumpage rates on lumber cut on the Crown Lands have taken this session. Several other Ministers are to speak in the debate, which will probably drag all this week, at least.

It is expected that Hon. J. F. Tweeddale will this afternoon introduce the bill to incorporate the Fraser Paper Company, Ltd., which gives authority to construct a dam, pulp and paper mills at the Narrows on the Tobique and which is expected to produce the most important industrial development that has taken place in the province for many years.

Yesterday Dr. Crocket of York presented the petition of Dr. W. Gerrard, of Fredericton, for a bill to amend the Act respecting the registration of Dentists. Dr. Gerrard has been prosecuted on several occasions by the New Brunswick Dental Society for practicing his profession and the bill, it is understood, makes it legal for him to practice.

The Corporations Committee.

The Corporations Committee met today with Mr. Burchill in the chair. In connection with the bills relating to the New Brunswick Power Co. Mr. Baxter said that the Premier had requested a hearing for the Citizens' Conciliation Committee before further action could be taken by the Committee. It was decided to hear the Conciliation Committee in private session Friday morning.

Consideration was given a bill to amend the Acts relating to the Tobique River Log Driving Co., the purpose of which is to reduce the number of directors frfom five to three. Mr. Sutton was called upon for explanation and he stated that there were only two operators driving on the Tobique and on that account it was difficult to get a directorate of five members without appointing dummies. Hon. J. F. Tweeddale confirmed that explanation. The bill was reported.

The committee reported a bill relating to the Grand Manan Light and Power Co. with an amendment giving the Minister of Public Works power to regulate the placing of poles along highways, also the bills relating to the Notre Dame Lumber Co., New Brunswick Masonic Hall Co., the Miramichi Light, Heat and Power Co., Centenary Methodist church, St. Andrew's Curling Club, the Church of England Institute in the city and county of St. John, to incorporate the Miramichi Hospital.

The Public Accounts Committee.

The classification of permanent roads occupied the attention of the public accounts committee of the Legislature this morning.

W. A. Loudoun, comptroller general, and B. M. Hill, chief highway engineer, were summoned to give explanations.

Mr. Loudoun said that the total expenditures for permanent roads was $2,200,000.

Mr. Smith stated that at $5,000 a mile this would give 400 miles of permanent roadway in the province and there were not that many miles.

Mr. Logger, of Westmorland, said that that county had one hundred miles of permanent roads.

Mr. Smith took exception to the fact that a road supervisor had supplied cedar posts and protested against the principle involved, stating that it opened the door for dangerous practices.

Mr. Hill replied that it was frequently more economical for supervisors to furnish supplies, and he stated that the matter of classification of roads was a matter of opinion.

Mr. Smith compared a statement of materials obtained from the Concrete Builders, Ltd., of this city, which had been paid $40,000, while other concrete plants had only received orders amounting to $5,000 each.

Mr. Hill stated that the Fredericton company had a better equipped plant and could turn out the needed supplies on a larger scale.

F. D. Swim, of Doaktown, is a guest at the Barker House.

Miss M. J. Doherty returned to St. John last evening to resume her duties on the school staff of that city.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of Robert and Joshua McDonald, whose deaths occurred on the 15th of April and on the 11th of July, 1915.

Oh, we've missed them, yes, we've missed them, and their cheery words and smiles,
And the days have been so lonely, and the years have been so long;
But 'tis sweet to know the latest will be gladdest of the miles.
When we meet them where the roads end and we join their happy throng.

Wanted for Big Positions---Men of Blood and Iron---Men of Force Stamina, Power and Success

The Kind of Men Nuxated Iron Helps to Make

Physician tells How Many Men Fall Just Short of Winning the $10,000 to $100,000 Positions because they Don't Back up Their Brains with the Physical Strength and Energy that Come from Plenty of Iron in the Blood

How Nuxated Iron often Increases the Red Blood, Energy and Endurance of Nervous, Weak and Run-Down Men in Two Weeks' Time.

Like Atlas of Old the successful business man of today is a man of blood and iron, easily able to carry his burden of responsibility.

This Man Gets $100,000 A Year because he backs up his brains with the physical strength and energy that come from plenty of iron in his blood.

Do You Wish You Had a Car Like This? The men with the red blood and strength to get and hold the big positions of life, also get the luxuries of life. To help make men strong and red-blooded there is nothing so effective as Nuxated Iron, physicians say.

It is the men of blood and iron who master the nerve-racking jobs. They have the strength, power and endurance to overcome obstacles and withstand the strain of long hours and hard work. They are the ones who are chosen for the big positions that pay from $10,000 to $100,000 a year and their red-blooded, tireless energy are what enable them to hold these positions and often become leading figures of industry and commercial life.

In his advice to men on how to build up their health and strength and attain greatest success, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Department), New York, and Westchester County Hospital, says: "The big, successful men I have met are almost always strong physically — men with red blood, rich in iron, men of personality, of the virile power which instantly commands respect. Many an ambitious and able man who would normally rise to the top gives all his thought to his mind and none to his body. He falls just short of winning the $10,000 to $100,000 positions because he doesn't back up his mentality with the physical strength and energy which comes from plenty of iron in the blood. Lack of iron in the blood not only makes a man a physical weakling, nervous, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that will power, that stamina and that not have any capital stock or issue any share certificates and the head office is to be at Westfield, Kings county. strength which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. To help make men strong and red-blooded there is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as organic iron—Nuxated Iron. In case after case I have seen Nuxated Iron begin to give a weak, nervous chap entirely new vigor, energy and endurance in only two weeks' time.

"Therefore, I strongly advise those who want to fit themselves to receive all the big positions to get a physician's prescription for organic iron—Nuxated Iron—or if you do not want to go to this trouble then purchase only Nuxated Iron in its original package, see that this particular name (Nuxated Iron) appears on the package. If you have taken other iron products and failed to get results, remember that such preparations are nothing like Nuxated Iron, which is strongly recommended by many physicians and such notable men as former United States Senator, William E. Mason and Ignace Jan Paderewski, master pianist and Ex. Premier of Poland, and widely known women like Miss Mable McKinley, niece of late President McKinley and Mrs. James Longstreet, widow of the Civil War General."

Can you stand as much as you ever could or does extra work or loss of sleep one day wear you out the next? Are you beginning to think of yourself as getting old? Do you have off-days when you cannot think clearly, cannot master the problems and when you feel like throwing up everything and getting away from everybody? Do you feel there is something the matter with you and you do not know what?

Then try taking Nuxated Iron, two five-grain tablets three times a day after meals for two weeks and see how you are getting back your old energy and ambition, how much stronger you feel and how much more you can do. Nuxated Iron is used by over 3,000,000 people annually to build up red blood, strength and endurance.

Manufacturers Note: Nuxated Iron, which is recommended above, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

Pure Air is as Necessary as Pure Food

THE ENTERPRISE BLAZER FURNACE heats your home in Nature's way. It draws in the sweet pure air from the big outdoors, moistens it thoroughly, turns it into heat and comfort and passes it on to every corner of your home.
The best that base burners and radiators can do is to heat the air that is already in the house—that has been breathed again and again. Stoves choke the air with dust and in real cold weather they fall short of their job. Another reason for the is economy. For thirty-five years we have been learning how to take all the heat out of a piece of coal; and then how to make most use of it. The Enterprise Blazer is the result. And it costs a great deal less to install than a hot water boiler, pipes and radiators.

AMERICAN TITLE BOUTS AT BOSTON

Yale's Boxing Leader Beaten and Aspirants for Double Honors Failed.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Boston, Mass., April 7.—A group of fighting champions who are regarded as excellent possibilities for selection as representatives of the United States at the Olympic games, were developed at the National Amateur Boxing Title Tournament, which closed here last night.

Six more new champions were added to the 1920 list, while two of last year's winners, who tried to retain their laurels, were beaten back. Tommy Murphy, of Kansas City, returned to the title list on which he appeared three years ago, and Samuel Lagonia, of New York, repeated his success of last year.

Principal interest in the closing bouts of the tournament centered in the gritty attempt of Edward Eagen, Yale's boxing leader, to retain the heavyweight title, which he won last year, and gain also the 175-pound crown. He went down to defeat in two bouts, each semi-final events, that gave the best exhibition of fighting spirit of the night.

Burke, Eagan's conqueror in the 175-pound class, lost a chance for the double honors which the Yale man sought when he broke his right hand in defeating Rudolph Patterson, of San Francisco, for the title in that class and was forced as a consequence to default in the heavier division.

The final bouts without exception were hard and close. That in the 135-pound class went to Tommy Murphy, of Kansas City, regaining his title through a foul by B. Ponteau, of New York, a negro.

The challenge bowling match of ten strings which was to have taken place last evening at the Palace Alleys between Sandy Staples and Rock Paynter and J. W. Spencer and F. E. It was said this morning that the game will be played tonight.

E. Edney and M. Kierstead, who challenged the winners, will probably play a match with one of the other teams in the near future.

BASKETBALL GAME AT LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

Young Players from Brunswick Street Baptist Church Made Good Showing.

An interesting basketball game was played at the Y. M. C. A. last evening, the Meteors from the Brunswick street Baptist church defeating the Stars, an older group of players from the same church, by a score of 43 to 7.

The game, while one-sided, was a good exhibition of basketball. The younger players were on their mettle when matched with their older opponents and showed their superiority in both team play and goal shooting. Currie at centre for the Meteors starred in shooting field goals, getting five goals out of five chances. Clark of the older team also showed up well in field play, but the older players were rushed off their feet by their younger ones from the start of the game.

The game was a particularly clean one, only a few penalties being inflicted throughout the game by Referee Maurice Williams.

From the two groups of players last evening Physical Director Cochrane stated he would obtain some very promising material for a fast intermediate basketball team.

The teams lined up as follows:

Meteors.		Stars.
Davidson	Forwards	Bradley

"Tiphaine," cried Du Guesclin, "I have always loved you; and now, by Our Lady of Rennes! I love you more than ever. Did I not know that your hand will be as ready as your words, I would turn my last blow upon you, ere you should fall into their hands. Lead on, Godfrey! A new golden pyx will shine in the minister of Dinan if we come safely through with it."

The attention of the insurgents had been drawn away from murder to plunder, and all over the castle might be heard their cries and whoops of delight as they dragged forth the rich tapestries, the silver flagons, and the carved furniture. Down in the courtyard half-clad wretches, their bare limbs, all mottled with blood-stains, strutted about with plumed helmets upon their heads, or with the Lady Rochefort's silken gowns girt round their loins and trailing on the ground behind them. Casks of choice wine had been rolled out from the cellars, and starving peasants squatted, goblet in hand, draining off vintages which De Rochefort had set aside for noble and royal guests. Others, with slabs of bacon and joints of dried meat upon the ends of their pikes, held them up to the blaze or tore at them ravenously with their teeth. Yet all order had not been lost amongst them, for some hundreds of the better armed stood together in a silent group, leaning upon their rude weapons and looking up at the fire, which had spread so rapidly as to involve one whole side of the castle. Already Alleyne could hear the crackling and roaring of the flames, while the air was heavy with heat and full of the pungent whiff of burning wood.

CHAPTER XI.

How Five Men Held the Keep of Villefranche.

Under the guidance of the French squire the party passed down two narrow corridors. The first was empty, but at the head of the second stood a peasant sentry, who started off at the sight of them, yelling loudly to his comrades. "Stop him, or we are undone!" cried Du Guesclin, and had started to run, when Aylward's great war-bow twanged like a harp-string, and the man fell forward upon his face, with twitching limbs and clutching fingers. Within five paces of where he lay a narrow and little-used door led out into the bailey. From beyond it came such a Babel of hooting and screaming, horrible oaths and yet more horrible laughter, that the stoutest heart might have shrunk from casting down the frail barrier which faced them.

"Make straight for the keep!" said Du Guesclin, in a sharp, stern whisper. "The two archers in front, the lady in the centre, a squire on either side, while we three knights shall bide behind and beat back those who press upon us. So! Now open the door, and God have us in his holy keeping!"

For a few moments it seemed that their obect would be attained without danger, so swift and so silent had been their movements. They were half-way across the bailey ere the frantic, howling peasants made a movement to stop them. The few who threw themselves in their way were overpowered or brushed aside, while the pursuers were beaten back by the ready weapons of the three cavaliers. Unscathed they fought their way to the door of the keep, and faced round upon the swarming mob, while the squirt thrust the great key into the lock.

"My God!" he cried, "it is the wrong key."

"The wrong key!"

"Dolt, fool that I am! This is the key of the castle gate; the other opens the keep. I must back for it!" He turned, with some wild intention of retracing his steps, but at the instant a great jagged rock, hurled by a brawny peasant, struck him full upon the ear, and he dropped senseless to the ground.

"This is key enough for me!" quoth Hordle John, picking up the huge stone, and hurling it against the door with all the strength of his enormous body. The lock shivered, the wood smashed, the stone flew into five pieces, but the iron clamps still held the door in its position. Bending down, he thrust his great fingers under it, and with a heave raised the whole mass of wood and iron from its hinges. For a moment it tottered and swayed, and then, falling outward, buried him in its ruin, while his comrades rushed into the dark archway which led to safety.

'Up the steps, Tiphaine!" cried Du Guesclin. "Now round, friends, and beat them back!" The mob of peasants had surged in upon their heels, but the two trustiest blades in Europe gleamed upon that narrow stair, and four of their number dropped upon the threshold. The others gave back, and gathered in a half circle round the open door, gnashing their teeth and shaking their clenched hands at the defenders. The body of the French squire had been dragged out by them and hacked to pieces. Three or four others had pulled John from under the door, when he suddenly bounded to his feet, and clutching one in either hand dashed them together with such force that they fell senseless across each other upon the ground. With a kick and a blow he freed himself from two others who clung to him, and in a moment he was within the portal with his comrades.

Yet their position was a desperate one. The peasants from far and near had been assembled for this deed of vengeance, and not less than six thousand were within or around the walls of the Chateau of Villefranche. Ill armed and half starved, they were still desperate men, to whom danger had lost all fears; for what was death that they should shun it to cling to such a life as theirs? The castle was theirs, and the roaring flames were spurting through the windows and flickering high above the turrets on two sides of the quadrangle. From either side they were sweeping down from room to room; but some of them were men so trained to danger and so wise in war that even now the combat was less unequal than it seemed. Courage and resource were penned in by desperation and numbers, while the great yellow sheets of flame threw their lurid glare over the scene of death.

"There is but space for two upon a step to give free play to our sword-arms," said Du Guesclin. 'Do you stand with me, Nigel, upon the lowest. France and England will fight together this night. Sir Otto, I pray you to stand behind us with this young squire. The archers may go higher yet and shoot over our heads. would that we had our harness, Nigel."

"Often have I heard my dear Sir John Chandos say that a knight should never, even when a guest, be parted from it. Yet it will be more honor to us if we come well out of it. We have a vantage, since we see them against the light and they can scarce see us. It seems to me that they muster for an onslaught."

"If we can but keep them in play," said the Bohemian, "it is likely that these flames may bring us succor if there be any true men in the country."

"Bethink you, my fair lord," said Alleyne to Sir Nigel, "that we have never injured these men, nor have we cause of quarrel against them. Would it not be well, if but for the lady's sake, to speak them fair and see if we may not come to honorable terms with them?"

"Not so, by St. Paul!" cried Sir Nigel. 'It does not accord with mine honor, nor shall it ever be said that I, a knight of England, was ready to hold parley with men who have slain a fair lady and a holy priest!'

ALDERMAN AND HORSE DEALER IN AN ENCOUNTER

Sale and Purchase of Horses for Fire Department the Cause of Trouble.

AMBULANCE ARRIVES JUST AS SCUFFLE ENDS

Ald. Harold Young Comes Out on Top in Lively Mix-Up Today.

Ald. Harold Young, chairman of the Fire Committee, found the job of being an alderman rather strenuous this morning.

Yesterday he and Ald. Camp, who had been appointed as a special committee, sold one of the rejected Fire Department horses to a local dealer. Some vitrolic verbal exchanges occurred during the day between Ald. Young and the horse dealer, who appeared this morning at the Cooper Carriage factory, which Ald. Young recently purchased.

Ald. Young declares he was accused of showing partiality in carrying on the city business because he would not buy the new horse from the dealer to whom he sold the old one. The outcome of it was that they got into a scuffle and, according to the "ringside" reports, the dealer was getting the short end of the encounter, during which a stove was wrecked, when the Victoria Hospital ambulance drove up to the door.

A crowd gathered at once, believing some accident had happened at the factory, but it turned out that the ambulance needed a new wheel. Just as the crowd was gathering the horse dealer emerged from the office. Ald. Young said he did not contemplate taking legal steps.

JURY TO TRY THIS PROHIBITION CASE

Preliminary Examination on April 12th in the Police Court Here.

In the Police Court yesterday afternoon A. W. England, who is charged with forging the name of Dr. George W. Bailey, of Fredericton Junction, to prescriptions for liquor, elected to be tried before a jury.

He was remanded to jail by Police Magistrate Limerick until Monday, April 12th, for a preliminary examination, and if sent up for trial the case will be on the docket of the York King's Bench Division Court, which meets here on Tuesday, May 4th, with Mr. Justice Chandler presiding. Inspector Fraser Saunders laid the information in the case and it is said the prosecution plan to call only two witnesses at the preliminary examination.

Leonard Gallant, who was arrested again soon after giving evidence which resulted in a doctor being fined $1,000 in a "per" scandal, and was charged with forging prescriptions for liquor recently at Bathurst, has been held in bail to the amount of $4,000, which he was unable to furnish and thus had to stay in jail.

He is charged on an indictment carrying three counts of forging the name of Dr. Meahan to three prescriptions which were presented to the vendor in Bathurst. His preliminary examination started this afternoon before Magistrate O'Brien.

SUIT OVER HORSEMEAT.

Local Educationalists Figure in Police Court Case Over Carcass Bought from Jew to Feed Foxes.

Police Magistrate Limerick yesterday reserved judgment in a suit brought by Abe Levine, a local Jew, against W. M. Burns, principal of the Model School, the suit arising out of the fact that the defendant in the case had refused to accept delivery of or pay for the carcass of a horse for which he had contracted with the plaintiff, to be used as fox meat.

The defendant's reason for refusing to pay, he stated, was because of the fact that when the meat arrived it was found that the flesh on the hind quarter had been eaten off by some animals, presumably dogs, while in shipment. The whole amount involved in the case was about $6.20.

One disinterested witness, Charles Quartermain, who was called, stated that he had seen the carcass while it was being shipped and about one pound of meat had been eaten off the hindquarter. Fletcher Peacock, director of Technical Education in New Brunswick, was also called as a witness, and stated he had seen the carcass about one week or more after it was shipped and that about one-third of the whole meat on the hindquarter had been eaten. The judgment in the case was reserved by the Magistrate.

Local People Made Gains.

A number of local people cleaned up a nice little sum on the stock exchange when Studebaker, which opened at 110, sold at 124. A dividend of 33½ per cent. was declared by Studebaker yesterday and this caused the stock to go up.

MORE ARRESTS IN GRAND FALLS CASE EXPECTED SOON

Attorney General Byrne Here After Conducting His Departmental Enquiry.

BELIEVE CLARK WAS HELPED BY FRIENDS

Peter Woods, Returned Soldier Now Under Arrest, May Prove Innocent.

Hon. J. P. Byrne, Attorney General, returned last evening from Grand Falls, N. B., where he had been for several days investigating the escape of Newman Clark, of Four Falls, N. B., who shot and killed Phoebe Bell at Grand Falls on March 25th, and this morning declared that further arrests might be expected within a short time which will entirely clean up the case.

The official solution of Clark's escape is that he climbed out of the window of the ward in the hospital unassisted while the night nurse was asleep in the hall and that friends, or persons engaged by his friends, assisted him from the roof to the ground, where he was placed in a sleigh and hurriedly driven across the international boundary line into Maine and to within a short distance of Limestone, where he was abandoned.

Clark Wore Stolen Coat.

A coat which Clark had used as protection from the cold has been identified, the Attorney General stated, as having been stolen from a clothes line on the route taken by the sleigh in which he was driven into Maine, and it has been established beyond doubt that the prisoner did not walk from Grand Falls to Limestone, as he at first alleged, but that he was aided and assisted in getting across the boundary line into the United States.

In fact, the crown investigators believe that Clark had the location of the electric light in his room shifted in order that he might use it for signalling to his friends when the psychological moment arrived for him to make his getaway. In contravention of the sensational "kidnapping" story which Clark told there is now a statement from William Watson, an operative patient who occupied the same room with the wealthy young farmer, that he saw the prisoner about midnight moving about in his bed and getting to the side of his bed as if preparing to get out. The reason that Watson heard no more seems to be that he went into a sound sleep soon after the nurse gave him a hypodermic injection of morphine about 12 o'clock and did not awake until morning.

GUIDES OBJECT TO CURTAILING THE HUNTING SEASON

Delegation Appeared Before the Provincial Government Last Night.

SUGGEST METHOD TO PRESERVE THE MOOSE

Would Make Bull Moose Without 10 Points on Antlers Immune from Hunters.

The curtailing of the open season for hunting big game in New Brunswick, which is understood to have been under consideration by the Provincial Government, is opposed by the New Brunswick Guides Association.

W. Harry Allen, of Penniac, the president of the Association, was at the head of a delegation which included Arthur Pringle, of Stanley, Bert Moore, and other noted guides, who appeared before the Provincial Government last night and recommended that, instead of delaying the opening of the season from September 15th to October 1st, the best way to preserve the moose would be to make a provision that no bull moose unless having at least ten points on their antlers should be killed. The present regulations make six the minimum number of points to be on the antlers of a moose that can be legally killed.

No official announcement had previously been made as to the Government's intention of adopting recommendations that the open season be curtailed and Premier Foster promised the guides that their representations would be given consideration.

FRANCE BITTER OVER ALLIED ACTION

HUN TROOPS RECROSS THE RIVER RUHR

Withdrawn at Request of Burgomasters of Towns in the Industrial District.

DIMINISHING DISORDERS IN ENTIRE DISTRICT

The Dissolution of the Red Army and a Return to Reasonable Conditions.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Berlin, April 9.—The German troops which had crossed the river Ruhr were withdrawn yesterday to the northern bank of that stream, it is announced here.

The Ruhr passes just to the south of Essen in the northern central part of the industrial district.

The Burgomasters of the cities of Barmen and Elberfeld, it is stated, requested the Minister of Defence not to allow the troops to enter those towns.

Great excitment prevails in Dusseldorf, in view of the threatened entry of the regulars.

The majority socialist newspaper Vorwaerts has advices from Dusseldorf which declare that a general strike is impending in which all the parties will unite. The town council has sent a petition to the Minister of Defence asking that the regular troops be kept out of Dusseldorf. Their entry would be inexpedient, the newspaper declares.

The number of persons who have crossed the line from the Ruhr region into occupied territory is in excess of a thousand, according to the British authorities.

Return to Normal Conditions.

Dusseldorf, April 9.—The diminishing disorders, the progress of the dissolution of the Red army and the fulfilment of other clauses of the peace treaty seemingly indicate that there will be a return to reasonable satisfactory conditions throughout this part of the Ruhr region by Saturday noon, the time set for the return to normal by the authorities. The desire of the executive committee of the workmen, particularly in Dusseldorf, to retain some of the power they have had for four weeks, appears to be the only political difficulty.

ALLOCATION OF GERMAN WARSHIPS

The Baden to Be Retained by Great Britain and Nassau Goes to Japanese.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 9.—The surrender of the remainder of German warships under the terms of the treaty of Versailles started Wednesday, when the battleships Nassau and Ostefriesland arrived at the Firth of Forth in tow of German naval vessels.

The Nassau, which has been allocated to Japan, is one of the dreadnought class, displacing 18,000 tons.

The Ostrefriesland, alocated to the United States, is also of the dreadnought class, displacing 32,800 tons.

The Baden, a new battleship of 28,000 tons, which the Germans tried to scuttle in Scapa Flow, is now in British hands, and has been permanently allocated to Great Britain. The arrival of the Nassau and Ostefriesland marks the first delivery of German naval vessels since the Scapa Flow incident.

The opinion was expressed at the British Admiralty that the delivery of the remainder of the German vessels which are to be surrendered will now proceed speedily, as there is an inclination that Germany intends to carry out this provision of the treaty without further quibbling.

AMERICAN DEAD ARE BROUGHT HOME

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 9.—The transport Dasemond arrived here early yesterday with the bodies of 87 soldiers who died in base hospitals in England during the war.

Relatives and friends of the dead assembled at the dock to receive the flag-draped coffins. It was planned to ship all to their final resting places during the day.

French Cabinet Meeting Today to Consider Crisis Over Decision of Allies

Lloyd-George Attacked as a Demagogue in the French Press

A BITTER PILL FOR THE FRENCH

French Demand on Germany to Disband Her Regular Army.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 9.—A meeting of the French cabinet was held this morning. It was announced that the Ministers would hold another session at 6 o'clock this evening.

Premier Millerand informed the cabinet with regard to the situation in Germany. He likewise made it acquainted with a verbal communication which had been received from Great Britain on the subject of the French occupation of Frankfort, an official notification of the British position not having yet arrived in Paris.

French Bitter at Lloyd-George.

Paris, April 9.—Great Britain's attitude relative to the advance of French troops into German territory, east of the Rhine, as defined in press despatches from London, is viewed by newspapers here as a bitter pill for France, and it is considered the action of Belgium, supporting the policy of France, hardly compensates for it.

"Pertinax," the political editor of the Echo de Paris, writes an unusually savage article, attacking Premier Lloyd-George, whom he calls a "demagogue."

He says in conclusion:

"Mr. Lloyd-George never has forgiven the policy adopted by France since January of being independent within the Entente. He has bided his time, and he thinks it is now come. We count on the clear-sightedness of our friends across the Channel, and the deep friendship we have found with them, to bring the chief of the Downing Street cabinet back to an interpretation of the Anglo-French alliance, from which he should never have departed. Such an evolution was to be expected of him. He has taken up and dropped every doctrine, and could the Entente cordiale escape under this rule? The English people well know how to force him to make an exception in this case."

Blames All the Allies.

St. Brice, of the Journal, with other foreign specialists, is more impartial, and blames all of the Allies of France in more measured tones. He incidentally declares:

"It is shown that false reports were spread by some American newspaper correspondents in Germany, and one of these, the rumor that President Wilson had sent an ultimatum to France, provoked the Frankfort incident."

The demand that Germany disband her army and retain only 200,000 men with the colors, presented at Berlin on Wednesday by General Nollet, president of the inter-allied commission of control, has been sent to the governments of various German states by the Minister of the Interior, says a Berlin despatch.

Entente Envoys in Zone.

The Minister asks the states to give assurance that civil guards are dissolved, adding that the Prussian Minister of War has already decided upon such a step.

The demands are said to have been accompanied by a note from the Minister declaring they contained a passage "implicating untrue supposition on the part of France," but stating the Berlin government did not believe itself obliged to enter into new representations to the French government."

Several of the British newspapers print the report that the American member of the inter-Allied Rhineland commission had informed the president of the commission that he refused to participate in any decisions of the commission favoring the advance of the French into occupied Germany.

French Officer Claims There Was No Intention to Fire Machine Gun Into Crowd in Frankfort Episode

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

FRANKFORT, April 9.—Assertion that there was no intention to fire a machine gun into a crowd here on Wednesday, and that the incident was really a mishap, is made by a French officer who witnessed it. Fear on the part of a French soldier that the crowd intended to rush the patrol in the street led to the tragedy.

This man, it is declared, put a belt of cartridges into the gun for the purpose of firing one shot to disperse the crowd. The explosion of the gun, however, caused the soldier in charge of it to lose his head, and the whole belt was fired.

It was explained by the officer that every care had been taken to prevent a repetition of the accident.

France Affronted by Allies And a Delicate Situation is Thrust Into Allied Council

Great Britain, the U. S., Italy and Belgium Opposed to the French Advance Into Germany and Note Despatched to Paris—London Times Indignant at Action.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 9.—The London Times says that a crisis has arisen in Anglo-French relations and that, contrary to assurances, that the differences of opinion between the Allies regarding the violation of the neutral zone by German troops were about to be composed by a friendly understanding, it appears that the British Government yesterday took steps to emphasize their disagreement with the policy of France.

The Times adds that during the day M. Cambon, the French Ambassador, had a long interview with Earl Curzon.

"Soon afterwards," continues the paper, "one of the Premier's private secretaries, Philip Kerr, of Bullitt fame, invited the representatives of the provincial press to Downing street and informed them of Mr. Lloyd-George's standpoint. Simultaneously a private communication on similar lines was addressed to the London press, and various worded communiques were issued for publication through the news agencies. These statements are understood to have been on the same lines as Earl Curzon's representations to the French Ambassador.

Note Despatched to France.

"In official quarters last evening it was alleged that a note had been despatched to the French Government through the British Ambassador at Paris.

"The substance of the Premier's argument is that by her occupation of German towns in the neutral zone France has acted against his views and the wishes of the other Allied statesmen and without consultation with them.

"Italy, Belgium and the United States are alleged to have been opposed to the French plan. As regards Belgium, the Brussels Telegram shows this statement to be incorerct.

"A discussion had been proceeding for some time in regard to various suggestions for dealing with the situation but no agreement had been reached. One proposal was that German forces should be permitted to occupy the Ruhr area under guarantees, to be defined by Marshal Foch. Another was that Allied officers should accompany the German troops. A third was that matters should be left entirely with the German Government, with the intimation that if the neutral zone was not evacuated as soon as circumstances should permit, the Allies would claim the right to occupy important German centres."

Mistake to Use Black Troops.

The Times adds that in diplomatic circles the view is expressed that the action of France is wrong in form, but right in substance. It is also regarded as a mistake on the part of France not to have employed white troops exclusively in the occupation of German cities.

Independent diplomatic testimony, according to the Times, is to the effect that the German Government is in reality controlled by militarists. It is therefore held that France was justified in acting swiftly, while her Allies were talking.

In parliamentary quarters, says the Times, the action of Mr. Lloyd-George is attributed to his alleged desire to influence opinion in the National Liberal Club, where a struggle for predominance is proceeding between his supporters and those of Mr. Asquith.

Indignant at British Attitude.

The Times has been consistently distrustful of Germany and strongly antagonistic to Premier Lloyd-George. In an editorial this morning the paper expresses extreme indignation at the British Government's attitude with regard to France's occupation of German neutral territory, as set forth in the "authoritative" statement issued last night.

"We seldom have read a more lamentable or more shameful exposition of British policy," says the newspaper. "Is this the return we are to make to France for all that she has done and suffered by our side? We tremble at the results of this scandalous announcement, this explosion of inconceivable folly, upon that union of the British and French peoples, whereon our rulers well know the stability of the peace so dearly bought now chiefly depends."

The Times regrets the French "error in judgment" in sending so many African troops to Frankfort, saying this will give the Germans pretext for indignant protestations; but it thinks that otherwise the French action effected great good and "brought the Germans to heel."

Deplores British Policy.

The newspaper then proceeds again to deplore the British Government's declaration, and says:

"For the sake of the national interest, no European interest, for the sake of nothing less ignoble than small personal vanities, hurt by the independent action of the French, and of supposed personal and party interests, baser still, all that has been accomplished is jeopardized and those Anglo-French relations on which we hoped to rear the fabric of a new world, have received the rudest shock since they were founded by King Edward and M. Delcasse."

The London Daily Mail, in a similar strain, says the British people never will permit British friendship and the alliance with France to be sacrificed to aid Mr. Lloyd-George "in a vote-snatching campaign."

A PROMINENT MEMBER OF BAR IS A SUICIDE

George E. Cousins Came Into Prominence in Celebrated "Ne Temere" Action.

ACTED ON BEHALF OF MRS. EUGENE HEBERT

His Body Found on Banks of a Creek in British Columbia, Where Residing.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Montreal, April 9.—A telegram from Elk Creek, B. C., today announces the death by suicide of George E. Cousins, one of the leading lawyers of Montreal.

The message stated that two weeks ago Mr. Cousins notified friends in British Columbia that he was going to commit suicide by drowning. His body was found on the banks of the creek.

In the pockets of Mr. Cousins' clothes were found documents indicating that he had been in financial difficulties. He was also carrying an insurance policy for sixty thousand dollars made out to his wife.

Mr. Cousins came into great prominence in 1913, when he acted on behalf of Mrs. Eugene Hebert in her attempt to have the superior courts set aside a judgment of the ecclesiastical authorities and the lower courts annulling her marriage because she and her husband, both Roman Catholics, had been married by a Methodist minister. The husband, to secure the annulment of the marriage, had invoked the "ne temere" decree.

FRENCH SOLDIER KILLED HIS NURSE

As a Red Cross Nurse Victim Had Cared for Murderer When Wounded.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Bordeaux, April 9.— Crime, which has been rampant in France since the war, has afforded an instance of peculiar turpitude in the case of Maurice Ducollet, a former soldier.

On March 12 he murdered at Abbeville a woman who, as a Red Cross nurse, had cared for him when wounded. The victim was Madame Bonjonnier, wife of the head of the bar in Abbeville. She was killed by Ducollet and then buried. Ducollet has just been arrested. His home at Talence, a suburb of Bordeaux, was searched, and jewels which belonged to Madame Bonjonnier were found there.

This will include an adjustment of accounts with the British government in respect of ammunition used by the Canadian forces in the field and other expenses.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE FACTION STRUGGLE

Boston, April 9.—A bill was filed in the Massachusetts Supreme Court yesterday by Herbert W. Eustace and other trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society, seeking a temporary injunction to restrain Luther P. Cudworth, of Brookline, and other members of the First Church of Christ Scientist from "taking further action intended to interfere with them in the discharge of their duties or to compel them to resign their offices as trustees."

The Captain Was The Whole Crew

Could Not Get Crew on Account of High Wages Demanded

HE WOULD NOT SHARE PROFITS

When He Felt Sleepy He Anchored Craft and Took a Snooze.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Atlantic City, N. J., April 9.—Distress signals flown by the two-masted schooner Marion Curtiss, of Barnegat, late last night, brought coast guardsmen rushing to her rescue. They were welcomed by Captain Constance Bowen, who was alone on deck.

"Where's your crew?" asked the guardsmen suspecting there had been a muting aboard.

Didn't have any," the skipper replied. "I navigated her myself."

Then the astonished rescuers heard a tale of "profiteering sailors." Captain Bowen explained that when he left Mizpah, Conn, more than three days ago, he was unable to recruit a crew except at wages which would have eaten the profits of his voyage. He had aboard 12,000 seed oysters consigned to Atlantic City shippers.

The skipper declared that when he felt sleepy on his lonely voyage he anchored his craft and took a snooze. When he felt hungry, he said, he hove to and cooked his meals. Just before reaching this port he ran into a gale which crippled his gear and necessitated his calling for outside help.

Ordinarily, navigation of a vessel of the size of the schoner on a trip of this kind requires five men.

American Steamer Drifting Rudderless

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Boston, April 9.—The steamer Osprey, reported in wireless messages received here last night that her rudder was disabled and she was drifting five miles east by north off Minots Ledge, in Massachusetts Bay.

The steamer was not in touch with Minots lightship, nor with the coast guard station at Scituate.

The Osprey registers 1,490 tons and was launched at Seattle, Washington, in July, 1919. Nothing was known here of her destination.

VERY IMPORTANT QUESTION OF LAW

Endeavor to Secure Release of Quebec Prisoners for Irregular Commitment.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Montreal, April 9.—Mr. Justice Duclos will give judgment in the Superior Court on Tuesday next on the writs of habeas corpus on which the court is asked to liberate two brothers, Joseph and Emile Labrie, the first from a life sentence and the second from a term of 25 years, after conviction at Sherbrooke for the manslaughter of Charles E. Chase, at Stoke, in the Eastern Townships.

Arguments on the merit of the writs were heard by the Judge yesterday afternoon. The case raises a very important question of law in relation to irregularities committed by court officials.

C. C. Cabana, K. C., who defended the prisoners at the trial, now demands their liberation because the record of their conviction and the warrant of commitment did not reveal that any offence known to the law had been committed. What these two documents alike stated was this:

"It is considered and adjudged that Joseph Labrie be imprisoned in the penitentiary for life."

Jacob Nicol, K.C., crown prosecutor, of Sherbrooke, admitted that the warrant of commitment was irregular, but argued that, under Article 1,120 of the Criminal Code, the court had a right to amend the commitment and make it read in accordance with the court's own record of the conviction.

COMMIT MURDER IN LUMBER CAMP

Two Rumanians Held for Slaying Comrade in One of Price Bros. Camps.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Quebec, April 9.—His jaw smashed with a hardwood club, and with a bullet in his brain, Toter Kostinien, a laborer in a lumber camp at Kenogami, operated by Price Bros., was found lying dead in a bunkhouse on July 27, 1919, and yesterday Mike Debeka and George Morhari stod before a jury at the criminal assizes charged with the crime of murder.

The trial will be a long one, as all the evidence has to be translated twice, from French into English and then from English into Rumanian, the tongue spoken by the two accused.

HORSE IN AIRPLANE.

Santa Barbara, Calif., April 9.—A horse entered in an exposition here arrived yesterday by airplane from Los Angeles. The trip was delayed a day until officers of the Humane Society had been convinced no cruelty was involved in the trip, which was made in an especially equipped airplane.

AMERICAN SHIP DISABLED IN GULF

The U. S. Government Orders Coast Guard Cutters to Steamer's Assistance.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Boston, April 9.—The coast guard cutters Ossipee, from this district, and the Seminole, on duty off the Newfoundland coast, were ordered last night to the assistance of the steamer Mystic, which was reported disabled in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

The Mystic left Avonmouth for New York on March 21, and in a wireless message, intercepted here yesterday, reported her boilers were disabled, fuel supply low and water gone.

She gave her position as latitude 49.05 north; longitude 64.09 west. The Mystic registers 3,182 tons.

AMERICAN DEPOT AT DALLAS BURNS

The Legislature Considers Bill To Establish A Central Lime Manufacturing Plant

Furtherance of Policy to Assist in Utilization of Limestone as a Substitute for Fertilizer—Elections Act Also Considered.

The Legislature sat until midnight again last night, most of the evening being taken up with a discussion of the bill under which Smith & Merrithew, Ltd., contractors, are being established on the Adams property near St. John to produce manufactured limestone to be used as a fertilizer.

The cost of the property was $10,000 while the plant will cost $30,000 and has been ordered, the latter amount to be repaid to the province by the contractors at the rate of 25 cents per ton. The fact that the official estimate of the time it will take to repay the province is three years gives some idea of the expansion that is anticipated.

The House Routine.

Dr. Crocket introduced a bill relating to the City of Fredericton and the John Palmer Company, Ltd.

Mr. LeBlanc introduced a bill relating to the Town of Dalhousie.

Hon. Dr. Roberts introduced a bill relating to the assessing and levying of taxes in the City of St. John.

Mr. Crocket introduced a bill to amend the Act relating to the Registration and Qualification of Dentists.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale introduced a bill to incorporate the Fraser Paper Company, Ltd.

Hon. Mr. Murray submitted the first annual report of the Vocational Education Board.

Hon. Mr. Byrne moved that the order for third reading of the bill to amend the County Courts Act be discharged in order to permit of amalgamation with another bill.

The House then went into Committee with Mr. Leger (Westmorland) in the chair and agreed to the bill amending the Act to enable soldiers to vote in civic and municipal elections. The Act provides that soldiers may vote on certificate which will be issued to them by the city or municipal clerk on the production of their discharge paper.

A Crown Lands Bill.

Consideration was given to the bill to amend the Act relating to the manufacture of spruce and other pulp wood cut on Crown Lands.

Hon. Mr. Smith explained that the Act provided for a charge of $4 per square mile in the case of a transfer being made in the way of security. It was purposed to increase that rate to $20 per square mile. In the case of transfers in which there was no consideration, no charge had been made. It was the purpose to charge $1 per square mile in such cases.

The bill was agreed to.

The Limestone Proposition.

Consideration was given to a bill entitled an act to provide manufactured limestone to the farmers of New Brunswick to be used as fertilizer.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale said that the Department of Agriculture was beginning a new policy under this Act as part of the efforts following the war. It had been decided to develop the huge limestone deposits of the province.

Mr. Murray (Kings) asked what the cost would be.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale said that he had a contract for delivery of crushed limestone at any point on the C. P. R. and C. N. R. at $5 per ton. Formerly the railways had classified ground limestone the same as commercial fertilizer. This was not fair as its value was not so high. He had investigated and found that in the southern states railways had agreed to transport crushed lime at less than cost on account of increased business in agricultural products.

Mr. Murray (Kings) "Are you intending to enter into the commercial manufacture of lime also?"

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale said that such was not the intention. Agents might take the crushed lime, but they could not charge more than $5 per ton for it. He did not hesitate to forecast that within three years the use of crushed lime for agrcultural purposes would be so stimulated that all the plants in the province would be unable to meet the demand. It had been proposed that there be several small lime crushing plants established at deposits in various parts of the province, but he had opposed that suggestion, believing that one central plant would be better.

Mr. Potts — "What would be the daily capacity of the plant?"

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale said that a machine was being purchased that would have a capacity of 80 tons per day. Already there had been inquiries for 3,000 tons for delivery as soon as possible. The plant would be operated up to requirements. As long as the orders came in the plant would run.

Mr. Dickson asked if the railways gave any difference in rate according to length of haul.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale said they did not, $5 being the flat rate to any station. The Adams deposit was not more than 1,000 feet distant from the main line of the C. N. R. The operators would have to install a spur line at a cost of about $3,500. Gravity would be employed from the first of the operation to the last, taking the limestone from the quarry to the car or bin.

Mr. Tilley asked what the cost of the plant would be.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale said in the neighborhood of $30,000. The contractors agreed to deliver any quantity up to 80 tons per day. A royalty of 25 cents per ton would be paid by the operators to the province until the quarry was paid for. He believed that would take about three years.

Mr. Tilley—"Could you not have taken the two existing plants at Torryburn and Brookville at the same price?"

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale—"No."

Mr. Tilley—"I am so informed.'

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale—"You are wrongly informed. They have not the facilities for producing the quantities wanted. The proposed plant will produce more than twice what they can.

Mr. Baxter asked if the department was to obtain control of the price.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale—"Yes, in perpetuity."

Mr. Tilley—"You could have got it at $1 per ton from existing quarries."

Mr. Dickson said the preceding administration had crushed and distributed limestone to some extent. Had the department of agriculture any statistics to show the results of the application of that lime?

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale said that the lime had left its mark wherever used, but there had not been enough of it applied.

Mr. Smith (Albert) asked when the plant would be ready.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale said that the manufacturers had undertaken to place the grinder within four weeks of receiving the order. The latter had been given on Monday last. Foundations were being erected by the contractors, who already had purchased a crusher in Montreal. There had been applications from people who wished to sell machinery, but the matter was not considered to be one of patronage. The contention that companies already operating near St. John were going concerns and should have a monopoly of the lime grinding business was ridiculous and could not be entertained.

Mr. Campbell said that advices he had received differed considerably from the statements just given the House by the Minister. Enactment of this bill might mean the putting out of existence of two industries in or near the city of St. John. Existing firms could supply all the demand for crushed limestone and it was a serious matter for the government to embark on this scheme. He had been informed that there would be a serious loss upon each ton sold at $5. The firms already engaged in lime crushing had been encouraged to go into that business by the late government, and they should have an opportunity of being heard before some special committee.

Hon. Mr. Foster said the St. John firms were lime burners, and merely used the smaller chips of limestone to produce crushed lime as a by-product.

Mr. Potts—"That by-product can be manufactured by them at half the cost for which the government can grind it."

Hon. Mr. Foster—"Then why do the farmers have to pay $7 per ton for it"

Mr. Young said that as a farmer he had had experience in the use of lime and had found it highly satisfactory. Tobique gypsum, which he had used previously, was not so good. An application to a five-acre field of wheat had produced a beautiful straw and during the year following excellent hay and clover had followed. That had been on intervale land. He also had used it on a high land farm with similar results.

Mr. Potts said there was no reference in the bill to the area of the land which the province was acquiring.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale said it was ten or twelve acres, and that the deed would specify the exact area.

Mr. Murray (Kings) said he approved of the policy of providing limestone for the farmers. The demonstration work had been carried on when he was head of the department, and it had been proved a success.

The bill was agreed to, as was also a bill to amend the Act incorporating cheese and butter manufacturing association.

A bill to amend the Housing Act was agreed to after it had been explained that it merely extended the privileges to incorporated villages.

A bill relating to soldiers' memorials was also agreed to.

Elections Act Amendments.

The committee next took up consideration of the bill to amend the New Brunswick Election Act. It provides that in future copies of voters' lists be forwarded to the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer, whereas under the old Act they are only forwarded to county secretaries.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said that copies of the lists were kept on file at Ottawa and he thought it would be in the public interests to have a copy in the hands of the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer. The question of having the lists printed by the Government had not been considered.

Mr. Baxter said he had his own views in regard to the election law, but they had not prevailed with his colleagues when he occupied a seat on the other side of the House. He had proposd that Revisors be named by candidates of each party and a third by the Governor-in-Council.

Mr. Burchill—How would that work out with four parties?

Mr. Baxter said he thought the difficulty could be got over in some way. He thought it might be a good plan when sending the lists to the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer to also send copies to the candidates who represented each party at the previous election. His idea was that the lists should be available for both parties.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said the bill had not been introduced with the intention of taking a political advantage. It was deemed advisable to have a complete list on file in the office of the Provincial Secretary.

Hon. Mr. Foster thought two copies might be filed so that one could be available for each political party.

Mr. McGrath—What would become of the independent?

Hon. Mr. Byrne said copies of the lists could now be obtained upon application to the County Secretary. Candidates of either party or their

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble. Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

INTERNATIONAL FISHERIES TREATY

Negotiations Now Going On Between Canada and U. S. on the Subject.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, April 9.—Negotiations looking to the execution of a new fisheries treaty between Canada and the United States are now in progress, and according to a statement made to the House by Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Fisheries, are based upon the finding of the International Joint Fisheries Commission.

That commission, which was appointed in 1918 ,investigated the differences existing between the two countries with respect to fishing on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and made a unanimous report, agreements based upon which were put into operation in both countries as a war measure. As a result the fishermen of each country were given special privileges in the harbors of the other. Canadian fishermen were enabled to dispose of their catches, buy supplies, obtain bait and ship crews in the United States. They found a free market for their fish, inasmuch as fresh fish are admitted to the United States free of duty. The same privileges were granted to American fishermen in Canada, with the exception of that regarding duty, but including the bonding privilege. The International Commision which investigated the matter consisted of Chief Justice Hazen, of New Brunswick; G. J. Desbrats, Deputy Minister of Fisheries, and W. A. Found, superintendent of fisheries, acting for Canada, and Messrs. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce; Sweet, Assistant Secretary, and Smith, Commissioner of Fisheries, acting for the United States. The commission's findings had no bearings on fisheries on the Great Lakes.

The arrangements arrived at by the commission was put into force in both countries as a war measure and is still operative. Inasmuch as the war is now over, it is desirable that this arrangement should be embodied in treaty and ratified by both countries. In the United States it is understood action has been delayed by the resignation of Secretary of State Lansing, but with the appointment of Mr. Polk negotiations have again proceeded. Certain minor differences of opinion with response to certain clauses of the proposed treaty have also been delayed somewhat. One question at issue relates to the treatment of fishermen accused of violation of the fishery laws. An American fishermen who has violated the law and has not been punished in his own country may, under the treaty, be tried if he comes to fish in Canada, and if then acquitted in the United States may be called upon again to stand trial in Canada. The matter of the use of trap nets, as well as weekly and annual close seasons for salmon, is dealt with in the treaty. It is hoped that the new treaty may be ratified in time to be applied to this season's fishing.

HOUSE CONSIDERS LIME PLANT BILL

agents could get them on payment of a fee, so the bill offered no political advantage.

Mr. Baxter said that while the lists could be obtained, there was sometimes delay in getting them which might be overcome if an extra copy was in the hands of the Provincial Secretary.

Mr. Michaud thought it might be well to defer action until they found out if provincial lists were to be adopted in the new franchise Act at Ottawa. Under the old Act, printed copies could be obtained from the Federal Government. That privilege might be abolished, in which case it might be advisable for the Provincial Secretary to print the lists and supply them to candidates for a small fee.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said he had no objection to the section standing over for further consideration.

Hon. Mr. Foster said he could assure his hon. friend from St. John county that there was no political advantage to be gained from the bill. It might be arranged to have two copies filed with the Provincial Secretary-Treasurer, so that one would be available for the Opposition party.

Mr. Tilley said that two sessions ago he had submitted to the hon. Premier some proposed amendments to the Election Act, but had since heard nothing from them. One of his suggestions was that the agents of each party should be required to submit a sworn statement showing the amounts expended on an election.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said the Election Act was consolidated by his hon. friend opposite in 1916, and the hon. member should then have brought forward his amendments. He felt that any effort to eliminate bribery and corruption in elections was deserving of encouragement, and he would be glad to receive any suggestions along that line.

Hon. Mr. Foster said he believed that electoral lists should be printed and made available to candidates, but he had hesitated to adopt that plan on account of the great expense it involved.

Progress was reported on the bill.

Hon. Mr. Foster announced that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor would visit the Chamber at 5 o'clock this afternoon and give his assent to a number of bills.

Congressmen Wilson of Pennsylvania, among other requests for garden seeds, has received the following letter: "Dear Friend—You may send me some of your garden seeds, and do you know of some good woman who could come and keep house for me this summer—some woman and child that got no home may come. Will be used right."

FRANCE ACTS ALONE.

One of the immediate effects of the failure of the United States to ratify the Peace Treaty is found in the attitude and action of France. France never greatly believed in the League of Nations. Clemenceau, whose strong will imposed itself, to a great degree, upon the Allies in conference, preferred the old system of political balances, but so strengthened as to give reasonable [illegible] protection against the possible attack by Germany in the future—a disposition which Clemenceau believed would be carried into effect the moment Germany felt she was strong enough. That is why Clemenceau asked for the special treaty with England and the United States, which guaranteed France against this possible danger.

France has always been an idealist, but she does not believe in the millenium on the instant, remarks an exchange. The sublimated faith of President Wilson was splendid; but force was the only thing the Germans understood, and force would be necessary to keep the Germans in order in the future, as, assuredly, that power would seek to be revenged. Therefore, although Clemenceau agreed to the League of Nations, he had no illusions. He did not think greatly of it. He understood the human heart. He dreaded jealousies and self-interest and the failure of all the members of the League to function in a great crisis, such as might at any time disclose itself. Resolutions accomplished nothing of themselves. All the "whereases" in the world could have no efficacy unless the spirit of the League was one and absolutely disinterested.

Seeing, then, that before the League of Nations had begun to function, the United States, which made the proposal itself, refused to continue its interest in world peace, France has begun to take the initiative with respect to matters in which she is peculiarly interested; and in respect of sending German troops to the Ruhr district, acts of her own volition, without consulting the Allies. The French press has been hinting of bad feeling between France and England, but that can be discounted. What is of moment is that the United States, while refusing to share in the active work of the League, would, at the same time, impose her views upon the Allies, in respect of policies for which, nevertheless, she will not accept responsibility.

GOVERNMENT AND THE SOLDIERS

Why the Acting Prime Minister of Canada should object to officially receiving Comrade Flynn, of the Canadian Army, the latter probably finds it difficult to understand, but no one else need do so, remarks the Ottawa Journal. Mr. Flynn has been unstinted in his abuse of the government—one of his descriptions of it was "a bunch of rotten crooks and thieves"—and the only crime of the government has been to do more for our returned soldiers, including Mr. Flynn, than any other country in the world has done for its returned soldiers. Without question of anything further, in the way of gratuity or anything else, the government of Canada has so far spent or pledged itself to spend the equivalent of $600,000,000 or $700,000,000 for the soldiers. It is rather interesting to note, in comparison with this, what may happen in the United States if the appeals of the returned soldiers there should be met in full. The American soldiers, for whom so far very little has been done, are asking for a gratuity which, if granted in the full amount asked, will come to about $1,500,000,000 for four million men. In the same proportion, the half million men who went into the Canadian army, or their surviving relatives, would benefit to the extent of less than $200,000,000. As already said, Canada has already put up, or pledged itself to put up, three times that amount. Comrade Flynn, who is an American, ought to be somewhat impressed by the fact that his adopted country has already done comparatively three times as much for its soldiers as his native country is hoped to do at most by American soldiers; and, at least, Mr. Flynn ought to have been impressed enough by the difference between the two cases not to be inclined to be offensively abusive of the government of the Dominion.

Nor should anybody else feel inclined to be abusive of the government of this country on the subject of bonuses to the returned soldiers. With a national debt of $2,000,000,000, six times as great as it was before the war; with a deficit of two hundred million dollars this year in current expense, an aftermath of the war; with enormous taxation already in force, with a high cost of living which further taxation will aggravate, the government of this country owes a duty to the people as well as to the soldiers, and its difficulties should be given temperate consideration to by every decent Canadian, soldier or otherwise.

THE SAVING OF AUSTRIA.

Not for years have the people of Vienna been so happy as they were last week. It was a time of deep gratitude, surcease of sorrow and general rejoicing. The cause was the issue of an official announcement concerning the wheat credit granted to Austria by the United States, and as the news spread throughout the Austrian republic the manifestations of joy pervaded the country. Austria did not ask the United States for a loan; she asked only for credit until she could in some way repair her shattered finances, set her disorganized industries to work again, and restore her agricultural workers to the land for the production of one good crop this year. Mr. Herbert Hoover advised that the Grain Corporation of the United States had the wheat and could comply with the request as soon as Congress gave authority. There was delay, but at last the requisite authority was given, and now Congress should be "exceeding glad" that it answered the call for help, the need having been so poignant that Vienna was in danger of becoming a city of the dead.

It is calculated that the wheat credit extended by the United States will tide Austria over her food troubles until September. Italy is reported to have advanced 15,000 tons of wheat against the arrival of the first American shipment, and Switzerland has been asked to lend Austria 1,000 tons to meet immediate necessities. At the same time the Allies are bringing pressure to bear on the Serbo-Croat-Slovene government to make it live up to the food agreement in the execution of which it has been lax. So it may be hoped that the worst days of the Austrian republic are over.

It is but a small state, comprising Upper and Lower Austria, Styria, Carinthia, Salzburg and a portion of the Northern Tyrol, with a population of 10,300,000, of whom nine-tenths speak German as their usual language.

York County has lost a prominent citizen in the death of Alexander Gibson. Son of the founder of the town of Marysville and one of the greatest captains of industry in the province, the deceased was intimately connected with many of the enterprises of his father. He also played an important role in the political affairs of the community, representing the County of York in both the Legislature and the House of Commons. His death will be learned of with general regret by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

A CORRESPONDENCE VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

The Vocational Education Board of New Brunswick in their first annual report, which has been tabled in the Legislature, announce that a correspondence school for carrying on vocational education will be established in New Brunswick and that eventually it is the hope to establish a polytechnical institute.

The Board's programme is outlined as follows:

Pre-vocational schools day vocational schools evening vocational schools; itinerant schools; a correspondence school.

The board therefore favors day vocational schools organized on the following basis: That all boys and girls fourteen years of age and capable of profiting by the instruction shall be admitted. That the school shall be six hours in length. That fifty per cent. of the school time shall be devoted to practical work on a productive basis, in the vocation selected; twenty-five per cent. to the technical and scientific phase of said vocation, and the remainder to such citizenship subjects as English, French, history, music, civics, health, and the fundamentals of business.

The report, which is that of Prof. Fletcher Peacock, of this city, the provincial director of vocational education, contains much interesting information as to what has been done on the subject in New Brunswick.

FORM LABOR PARTY IN NOVA SCOTIA

The Convention at Truro Draws Up Platform and Prepares for Action.

Truro, April 9.—The Nova Scotia branch of the Independent Labor party of Canada was organized here yesterday, linking up the various locals already established throughout the province. The organization has avowed its intention of entering politics and endeavoring to fuse with the Farmers' organization for political purposes. A political platform of five planks was drawn up by a committee and accepted unanimously by the convention.

The planks of the platform follow:

Public ownership of all public utilities and natural sources of wealth.

Democratic control of industry organized on a co-operative basis rather than on a competitive basis.

The shifting of taxation from labor and the products of labor to land values.

Adoption of initiative, referendum and recall and proporotianal representation.

Abolition of election deposits and property qualification for voting and the holding of public office.

The following officers were elected: President, R. A. McDonald, Halifax; vice president, I. McPain, Stellarton; secretary, J. S. Wallace, Halifax; treasurer, Wiley Davidson, Wentworth.

A committee was appointed to meet the United Farmers of Nova Scotia when they convene [illegible] Wednesday and negotiate for a fusion in political matters.

The Stock Market

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York (Wall Street), April 9.—An undercurrent of caution pervaded the stock market at the irregular opening of today's session. This was attributed in large part to over night developments, particularly the spread of the railroad strike and latest advices dealing with the Franco German situation. There were indications of considerable short selling, based on these factors. Changes were fractional in the main, although several of the leading steels and equipments gained 1 to 2 points. A firmer tone set in before the end of the first half hour.

FROM THE PEOPLE

DEVON WATER SUPPLY.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I trust you will pardon me for trespassing upon your valuable space in order that I might express publicly my views on the situation now confronting the ratepayers of Devon. It is a matter which should be given most careful and thoughtful consideration by our citizens at this time.

The Town Council is on record as having launched out upon a project for an enlargement of the present water system. They claim that the industrial expansion of the town makes such a move, with its incidentally large expenditure, an absolute necessity. It is claimed that the present source of supply is not adequate for all purposes, and must be augmented from some other source.

The Council called a meeting for February 3rd of the ratepayers of the town, for the purpose of having them vote on the question of extension. The legality of such a proceeding was questioned at the time, and the meeting was adjourned to give the Council an opportunity to seek legal advice. They were told by their adviser that the Council was wholly responsible, and the responsibility of enlarging the water system could not be shifted to the shoulders of the citizens.

They inform us that the augmented supply of water is to come from Heron Lake, and have publicly stated that these waters are pronounced all right by the bacteriologist. The Town Council agreed to publish in both papers the report of the bacteriologist made from his examinations of the Heron Lake waters. They failed to do this. When interrogated on this point at an adjourned meeting of the ratepayers, they said they did not do so because they did not wish to force the hand of the Health Department. This appears like a flimsy excuse, and the only conclusion the ratepayers are left to draw is that the report of the bacteriologist was not satisfactory.

Let us look into the water's purity. Today Devon has the best supply of water, from a health standpoint, to be found in Eastern Canada. It is regarded as perfectly pure. Samples of water taken from the Heron Lake, which our Council regards as healthy waters, show the following tests as given by the Director of the Provincial Laboratories at St. John. Three samples were taken, one at lake outlet, one at centre of lake, and the third at the brook. Results are as follows:

1. Lactose. 1c. c. no gas, 1c. c. no gas, 10 c. c. no gas, bacterial count, 191 at 22°, 34 at 37°.

2. Lactose. 1c. c. no gas, 1c. c. no gas, 10 c. c. gas, bacterial count, 12 at 22°, 161 at 37°.

Endo tube inoculation shows evidence of B Coli.

3. Lactose. 1c. c. no gas, 1c. c. no gas, 10 c. c. gas.

Endo tube inoculation shows evidence of B. Coli. Bacterial count 110 at 22°, 113 at 37°. Diagnosis: 2 and 3 shows evidence of fecal contamination.

That means, Mr. Ratepayer of Devon, that by the proposed extension, our now absolutely pure water is to be contaminated by a supply seething and bubbling with disease germs, as two of the three samples show strong evidence of fecal contamination. Do you want this?

The present supply is sufficient for all purposes for years to come, if properly conserved. If the Council is inisistent upon providing the Concerte Builders, Ltd., with water it would be far more profitable to arrange a supply from the river for their purposes. It has been stated the Concrete Builders are using a quantity equal to that consumed daily by the town for domestic purposes.

In order to go on with their plans, the Council has presented a bill to Parliament requesting authority to proceed with their work of extension. Are the ratepayers to sit quietly by and permit this work to proceed? When the hearing comes up on that bill, it is the duty of every citizen of Devon to be present and be heard. It is a question of public health as well as one of finances, but the former far outweighs the latter in importance.

Is this Council of Devon efficient and capable of carrying on the affairs of the town? Their honesty I do not question. Their ability to carry on is open to discussion. They have been in office two years and have never accounted for a dollar, as the law directs. Section 62 of the Towns Incorporation Act says:

It shall be the duty of the Town Clerk to publish in one or more newspapers published in the town, or by pamphlet or by circular, one month before the election of Mayor and Alderman in each year, for the information of the citizens of said town, a full and detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures of the corporation during the past year; and in every statement the source of revenue, and the amount received from each, the several appropriations made by the Council, the objects for which the same were made, and the amount of money expended under each, the moneys borrowed on the credit of the corporation, the authority under which the loan was made, and the term under which the same was obtained shall be clearly and particularly specified with the amount of the assessments ordered and made, the several purposes of such assessments, the amount actually received under assessments, and a detailed account of the application thereof; and such statements and accounts shall be made up the 31st day of December preceding such publication in each year, signed by the Mayor and the Clerk of the Town

Has the Town Council acted in compliance with that order? I should say not. On March 13, there appeared in The Gleaner a financial statement purporting to represent the financial status of Devon. It is about as illuminating and instructive as a Chinese puzzle. It gives the bare receipts and expenditures, nothing more, nothing less. The detail authorized by law is not there, nor is there anything else to enlighten the public. The statement is neither signed by Mayor or Clerk. This may be accounted for by the apparent fact they are ashamed to attach their signatures to such a statement, and thereby assume responsibility for it.

The ratepayers must face the situation. With all these facts before you, do you think our Council is capable of handling affairs as they should be handled? Are the ratepayers to permit our water supply to be contaminated by the polluted waters of Heron Lake? Is it not time, Mr. Ratepayer, to arouse ourselves to the seriousness of the situation, and voice our disapproval of their acts on the floor of Parliament, if necessary? Shall we allow our town to be made a medium through which the interests of a few political grafters seeking contracts that you and I must pay for, be furthered?

Think it over.

Referring again to the new source of water supply, we should bear in mind that several weeks in the summer and as many weeks in winter, there is no water flowing from Heron Lake. The supply, even if the water were pure, would not be sufficient for the purposes intended. Heron Lake at its average depth is only six feet, and has not the expansion of a stream, but is fed from questionable springs.

Yours,
RATEPAYER.

PERILS OF PLATONIC LOVE.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Others than John of St. Stephen, have written on the subject of platonic love. I want to send a thought to P. A. T., who invites opinions as to the existence of platonic love.

He represents A as asserting that there is no such thing as platonic friendship; that such a friendship is bound to come to an unhappy end because one or the other 'always learns to care too much."

He adds that B contends that such friendships do exist and can exist indefinitely without sentimentality, usually called 'love,' attached to the relationship."

Turning to a dictionary I find this: "Platonic love. A pure, spiritual affection subsisting between the sexes, unmixed with carnal desires."

If A and B should ask me to decide the question, I would do so by amending the opinions of both, as follows:

"Platonic love" may exist between a man and a woman and in some few instances never get beyond the "platonic" stage; but such cases are rare and in the main such friendships sooner or later lose their "platonic" character and their proponents frequently achieve notoriety in the newspapers and courts. A still greater number of these cases result in the wreck of domestic happinesss and homes and the separation of innocent children from thier parents.

Yours,
AS I AM.

Capt. Carson Uncovers Real Political Scandal

Member for St. John County Charges Money Offer Made to Member of Opposition After 1917 Elections to Make Seat for Present Premier---Lively Day in Legislature With Government Party Outmanoeuvred in Debate.

Capt. Thomas Carson, M. L. A. for St. John county, signalized his first speech in a debate on the budget since he became a member of the Legislature in 1912 on Thursday afternoon by making the startling charge on the floors of the House that, following the general election in 1917, when Premier Foster was himself defeated at the polls in St. John county and without a seat in the present House, a member of the Opposition had an offer to be paid for getting out in order to make a seat for the would-be Premier."

"People who live in glass houses should not throw stones," said Mr. Carson in explaining that his bold charge was brought about because he had been amused to hear Hon. P. J. Veniot, Minister of Public Works, when speaking in the debate on the address refer to an effort which he alleged had been made by the old Government, after the election, to secure supporters from the other side in order that it might hold on to office. "Two can play at that game," said Mr. Carson, but he gave no further particulars than already mentioned.

The incident caused much discussion in the lobby afterwards, but it aired should prove a real political scandal. The charge was allowed to pass by unchallenged at the time, but Mr. Carson's speech, although his first one, will not be hurriedly forgotten.

A Second Maiden Speech.

Yesterday proved one of the most interesting since the budget debate commenced in spite of the fact that there were only four speeches made and all were of comparatively short duration. Mr. Allain, of Northumberland, also made his debut as a speaker in the formal debates in the House, it being the first time he had spoken also on either the budget or the address since he was elected in 1917. He did not speak until the evening and earnestly defended the Government of which he is a suporter, but caused some amusement by announcing at the outset that because the other members were getting their names in the press as speaking in the budget debate he thought he would do so too.

The first speaker of the day was the Hon. C. W. Robinson, who had moved the adjournment of the debate on Wednesday, but Mr. Bordage, of Kent. He is a former school teacher and although French is his native tongue his remarks were couched in well chosen language and he spoke with a fluency and clearness of enunciation which made his contribution to the debate a most creditable one. As a former speaker he made a strong plea for better salaries for the school teachers of today in order that the most efficient members of the profession would not be taken away to other provinces which were offering more remuneration, double and in some cases triple the salaries paid in New Brunswick.

Hon. Mr. Dugal Spoke in French.

Then Hon. L. A. Dugal, member of the Government without portfolio, spoke with permisison of Mr. Speaker in his native tongue and the members listened with much interest to his address of about half an hour's duration in French. Hon. Mr. Dugal spoke eloquently and was heartily applauded at times by both sides of the House, and quite some laughter was provoked when Mr. Potts, of St. John, who has on numerous occasions made anti bilingual speeches, after using one of the pages as an interpreter, arose and said he believed the member for Madawaska was referring to him but he was at a disadvantage because he could not understand. The laughter was renewed when Mr. Dugal explained that he had merely suggested that his honorable friend from St. John visit the cities of Quebec and Montreal to change his views and that it would be a cure for his prejudice against the French language.

Hon. Mr. Dugal made a strong plea for the retention of New Brunswick's identity as a province rather than acceptance of the proposal now often heard in favor of Maritime Union. He congratulated the Speaker for the dignified manner in which he presided over the deliberations of the House. He also congratulated the mover and seconder of the Address and said that he had much pleasure in seconding what Mr. Magee had said in favor of the development of the water powers of the province. In connection with this important question of water development, the member for Westmorland (Magee) had made reference to the cost, which might probably be excessive for one province, and suggested that by the union of the Maritime Provinces this important problem would find an easy solution. He (Dugal) admitted that the question of Maritime Union was important from several standpoints, and deserved the consideration of all the public men of the province, but that it should be approached with great care, for there were many viewpoints to be taken into consideration. It might be well to unite with Nova Scotia, but to some people their interest in New Brunswick in a sentimental way had more importance than the material benefit which would be derived from the union. It is true our province is small, but it has produced great men who have taken their place with credit in the public life at home as well as in the other provinces, and more particularly in the West. Our province is about the size of Belgium, which, though small, has proven to be one of the most generous countries of Europe. It might be possible to increase our influence without increasing our boundaries, if we gave more attention to increasing the population by immigration, and also by the development of our natural resources, and more particularly in the development of our most important natural resource, the minds of our coming generation. This could be done by remodelling our educational system from top to bottom.

It was to be regretted that all the members could not understand his language, but he had no apology to offer, as he was keeping pretty good company since His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, when visiting Canada, had freely made use of the French language, and that His Majesty King George, as well as his predecessors, had honored the French language by using it on their coat of arms.

The Government Out-manoeuvred.

The 6 o'clock recess was due just as the member for Madawaska concluded his speech, and when the House resumed at 8 o'clock there was some interesting "jockeying" between the two parties.

Instead of an Opposition member arising to continue the debate, a system of "waiting out" the other fellow—to use a baseball term—was started. Finally this resulted in Mr. Allain arising and going on with the debate for less than half an hour, and when he had finished the "waiting out" tactics were resumed.

This time the Opposition again outmanoeuvred the Government, for by forcing a "show down" they caused Hon. P. J. Veniot, the Minister of Public Works, to get up. Showing unmistakable signs of appreciating the situation as it was, and that it was incumbent upon him to defend his administration of the Public Works Department while the Opposition could close the debate at any time, Mr. Veniot arose and, laughingly remarking that at such a late hour—it was exactly 8.55 o'clock—he didn't wish to go on with the debate, he at once moved the adjournment of the debate.

The Opposition thumped their desks and kicked up a great hullabaloo over what they considered a victory in political tactics.

Speaking of snowdrifts down in Maine, a writer in the Mars Hill News says he took a photograph of a snowdrift next to one of the local potato houses which actually was up to the eaves of the building, about 25 or 30 feet high; also that in front of E. L. Smith's residence on Main street there was a snowdrift through which a tunnel seven feet high had been dug, with three or four feet of snow above that.

Makes Money and Pays $8 Stumpage

CAPT. THOMAS CARSON.

Maiden Speech After 9 Years

Capt. Thomas Carson in his maiden speech after nine years in the Legislature said it might not be out of place for him to make a few remarks.

The crown lands of the province had been pretty well discussed and there was little left for him to say. He believed that the holders of timber lands had been looking for an increase in stumpage, and were surprised that their expectations had not been lived up to by the Government. He had done some lumbering and would say that he had bought stumpage at $8 per M and had been glad to get it at that price. He could assure them that he would not have paid $8 had he not seen an opportunity to make $8 out of it. He considered the stumpage rate to be altogether too low. The lumbermen could well afford to pay double the amount and there would not be the slightest danger of them being put out of business with lumber selling at present prices.

With regard to public works he knew something about the roads of his county. Muck and gravel would not make permanent roads and that was all they were getting. A big expenditure had been made in St. John county, and there had been a great improvement, but they would never get permanent roads from the methods that had been adopted.

There was never an act on the statute books which met with so little favor as the Public Health Act. It might do for New York or some other big city, but New Brunswick was not rich enough. If the hon. Minister of Health wished to get some real information let him go out the Ben Lomond road. Good water, he always understood, was the basis of good health, and the water supply of the city of St. John came from that district. The hon. minister could learn that St. John water was taking the drainage of barns and privies. Last fall the hon. Minister of Public Works had sent a road crew to work on that section. That was all right, but the crew located its lavatory right near the intake of the St. John city water system. He had informed the chairman of the Board of Health of the fact, and that official had said, "My good man, we have had tests of that water made." His reply to him had been, "Well, my good man, that is what happened." If the officials of the department of health wanted to find out what conditions were let them use their eyes and their smellers. Sometimes when an epidemic occurred the people of St. John might wake up to what they are drinking, and when an epidemic does occur it would take the department of health about three months to find out what had hapepned, unless some old farmer would come along and tell them.

MIRAMICHI POWER BILL ON TODAY

New Brunswick Power Co's Bill Enters the Final Stages After Four Years Fight

Bill to Develop Power on the Southwest Miramichi Considered by the Corporations Committee This Morning, Too—Andrew Wheaton Behind that Project.

The fight over the New Brunswick Power Company's bill which has been before the Legislature for the past four years entered its final stages this morning when the so-called reconciliation committee of citizens of St. John who recently made one of the many reports on the question appeared before the corporations committee in private session and gave their reasons why they reached the conclusions announced in their report.

F. R. Taylor, K. C., the solicitor, and H. P. Robinson, a director of the New Brunswick Power Company, were present while Messrs. Wetmore, Barbour and Peters, who were given a hearing at the request of the city of St. John, addressed the corporations committee but were not given an opportunity to address the committee, who immediately went into session behind closed doors, sat until long after 1 o'clock and then adjourned until Tuesday morning to consider their deliberations. Next week ought therefore to see the finish of the long drawn out controversy.

A Miramichi Power Bill.

The corporations committee met at 11.45 with Mr. Burchill in the chair and took up the bill relating to the Miramichi Light, Heat and Power Co.

E. P. Williston was heard in support of the bill. He explained that it was desired to develop water power on the southwest Miramichi, some four miles from Blackville, where there were three rapids called respectively the White, Grey and Black Rapids. Andrew Wheaton, of Halifax, a Westmorland county man, was the man behind the project and had stated his willingness to attend to the financial portion of the undertaking. Mr. Wheaton was well known as a contractor on large construction works. Recently he had been engaged on the construction of the New Ocean terminals at Halifax and later had been engaged in the double tracking of the C.N.R. between Truro and Windsor Junction. The engineer who had investigated the water power in question was Tracy Gould, a perfectly competent man. A three hundred foot dam would develop six thousand horse power, and if sufficient power could not be obtained at the location proposed, Black Rapid could be used in addition. The proposed location was at a point where there was solid rock on both banks. From this location Newcastle was twenty miles distant and Blackville four. An extension of three miles farther than Newcastle would take power to Chatham also.

Mr. Burchill asked if there was any opposition to the bill.

Mr. Williston said the only opposition he had heard of was from some of the lumbermen, who feared that there might be interference with stream driving operations. He could assure the committee that precautions could be taken easily to sheer the logs past the dam. There was talk of government hydro-development in Gloucester county and it was not fair that Northumberland county should be dependent upon that when it possessed water powers of its own. If the government would develop the power mentioned in the bill the promoters would have no objection. He was sure that all the people of Northumberland county were behind the project.

Hon. Mr. Veniot asked what was the meaning of the provision in Section 9 that preliminary engineering work would continue until 1922.

Mr. Willister said that that provision was inserted in the bill to meet the possibility of having to go to the Dominion Government, as the stream might be classed as navigable.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said the river was not navigable at that point and that the fact that canoes could be used did not make it so. If the stream were not navigable the provision in section 9 was merely delaying the development.

Mr. Williston said it was considered possible that there was doubt as to the classification of the stream.

Mr. Burchill asked if it would be agreeable to the promoters that it be laid over until next week for further consideration on condition that sufficient notice be given of the day on which the Committee would resume the consideration.

Mr. Williston said that Mr. Wheaton was willing to appear before the Committee and he hoped that sufficient notice would be given to enable him to be present when the Committee again took up the bill.

Further consideration was postponed until a day to be named.

The Committee then went into private session and took up consideration of the bills relating to the New Brunswick Power Co.

THE AMENDMENTS TO THE INDIAN ACT

Representatives of Tribes Voice Dissatisfaction Over Proposed Changes.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 9.—Continuing their opposition to the proposed amendment to the Indian Act, delegates from British Columbia and the Six Nations Tribes located in eastern Canada, charged before the special committee today that the amendment meant more than compulsory enfranchisement. It would force an Indian from his tribe and his reserve, according to A. E. Omera, representing British Columbia tribes.

At the outset W. A. Boys, chairman, declined to allow Mr. Omera to tell of a conference with Hon. Arthur Meighen, Minister of the Interior, yesterday. Mr. Omero also incurred the chairman's wrath by failure to produce citations in support of contentions.

"We have the welfare of the Indian at heart, and you are not helping them any by fooling with this committee. For the last time I say emphatically we will not waste time parleying with you all morning," said Mr. Boys.

No Decision Re Labor Bureaux.

Although April 30th is the date on which the Labor Department at Ottawa declare they will cease to continue to operate the Employment Bureau in New Brunswick, unless the Provincial Government will accept responsibility for half the expense involved—as all other provinces have already done—the statement was made in the Legislature yesterday by Premier Foster in reply to a question by Mr. Tilley of St. John that an expenditure of $18,000 a year by the province was involved and that no decision had as yet been reached by the Government. It was said today a proposal was being considered to reduce the number of bureaux in the province from six to four, which was the original number. Both labor and business interests from all parts of the province have been exerting every influence to have the bureaux continued.

Tuxis Boys Entertained.

The Tuxis Trail Rangers held a most enjoyable supper in the vestry of the Methodist church last evening. The ladies of the church under Mrs. John Kilburn served the supper and the following toasts were proposed: Our King and Country, proposed by W. Irvine, responded to by the singing of the National Anthem; The Tuxis Boys, by Earl Hickson, responded to by G. R. Fitzpatrick; Our Dads, by W. Robertson, responded to by Dr. Irvine; The Ladies, by Harry Richards, responded to by John J. Weddall. Speeches were made by Ald. Jennings, Ald. Robert Baxter, J. J. Weddall, Rev. G. M. Young, T. A. McDonald and Gerald Fitzpatrick. The gathering dispersed with the singing of "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

"And Mother Says to Send Over Some Pure Gold Jelly Powders"

The kiddies—and grown folks as well, have a great habit of sending their plates back for more whenever these delicacies are served. Give them all they want. They're absolutely pure, and so good for them.

THE GOVERNOR TO VISIT HOUSE TODAY

Municipal Public Officers Association Fail to Get a Hearing.

The Legislature will adjourn this afternoon until Tuesday, it was announced this morning. Before the adjournment Lieutenant-Governor Pugsley will visit the House and assent to a number of bills that have been passed, thus allowing the bill providing for soldiers voting in the civic elections at St. John to be in effect before Monday.

This morning a delegation from the Municipal Public Officers' Assocation, who were in session here all day yesterday until midnight last night, called upon Premier Foster and sought a hearing before the Government. J. King Kelley, K. C., of St. John, said the Premier told the delegation the Government were too busy and could not hear the delegation before next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock when the executive council would meet again. At the Premier's office afterwards it was explained that the delegation's failure to secure a hearing was due to the factthat they had not sought an appointment in advance and the members of the Government were engaged on various committees and other work.

The Committee on Laws met this morning at 10 o'clock and took up consideration of the bill to amend the title of Emile Simard, M. D., to certain lands in the Town of Edmundston, and also a bill to incorporate the New Brunswick Association of Professional Engineers. In support of the latter bill the Commitee heard C. C. Kirby, of St. John, S. B. Wass, of Moncton, and B. M. Hill and G. E. Howie, of Fredericton.

The bills were recommended with amendments.

ASK ASSISTANCE TO FLOUR MILLS

An Abbatoir and Cold Storage Plant Advocated for Province by Expert.

The Committee on Agriculture held their first meeting at the Legislature this morning and elected Mr. Mersereau chairman.

The chairman addressed the Committee, outlining its duties and possible scope for action. He suggested that more assistance be given to flour mills as those now existing did not serve all the farmers conveniently. The matter of supplying high grade fertilizer to the farmers at lower prices than they now paid should be considered. Greater attention should be paid to growing seed and the improvement of stock.

E. P. Bradt, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, addressed the committee. He advocated the establishment of an abbatoir and cold storage plant for the Maritime Provinces and submitted the report of Mr. Johnston, an expert secured from Ottawa who had spent three weeks in the province. He announced that a delegation consisting of Hon. Mr. Tweeddale, A. E. Trites and Mr. Alward would go to Ottawa in an attempt to secure federal aid. He reviewed the results that had been secured by the co-operative marketing of wool, the importation of pure bred sheep, the meeting of the sheep breeders association, the improvement of live stock, recommending the graded system for bonusing bulls, and the work of pig clubs.

Mr. Dickson suggested that the department should undertake the campaign to promote the use of ice cream for food purposes. He said that butter making was not so profitable as supplying cream and that this outlet for their product should be encouraged as the dairying industry in New Brunswick was declining. He suggested that pamphlets should be distributed.

The chairman agreed, saying he kept fifteen cows but made no butter, even for his own use, as it was not profitable.

Mr. Leger said the farmers should cater to this profitable line, and he recommended that the provincial creameries should make efforts to increase the sale of ice cream.

The committee adopted a resolution recommending that the Department of Agriculture should issue a pamphlet setting forth the food values of dairy products, particularly ice cream.

The committee adjourned at 11.45.

A Most Popular Dance.

The growing popularity of the dances being given in the G. W. V. A. Hall by the Ladies' Auxiliary was amply illustrated last evening when more than one hundred couples were present at the Easter dance. Some of the most prominent people in the city attended and were loud in their praise of the splendid manner in which these dances are conducted. A splendid programme of twelve dances and three extras was carried out. Tenant's orchestra of seven pieces furnished the music and the extras were played by Messrs. McGinn and Mayes. Mrs. W. J. Osborne, Mrs. A. R. Slipp and Mrs. H. F. McLeod were the chaperons and an energetic committee of ladies looked after the dancers. A goodly sum was realized last evening, which will go towards the memorial fund.

THE GOVERNMENT MEMBERS IN CAUCUS

The Chief Aim of Discussion Over Proposed Changes in Franchise Bill.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 9.—Government supporters held a caucus this morning in the reading room of the House. It was reported that the chief items up for discussion were certain clauses of the franchise bill now before the Commons, and to which there has been objection by members on both sides of the Chamber. When the bill was before the Commons for first reading, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Solicitor General, stated that the Government had no objection to making some changes requested in regard to disfranchisement, and this morning's caucus is likely to determine what these changes are to be.

When the caucus adjourned at 12.45, Sir George Foster stated that the various phases of the franchise bill had been freely discussed. There had been a general interchange of opinion on the different features of the bill by which the Government would be guided when the measure was again before the House.

"If there is any doubt that my victory over Brousseau was the result of a lucky blow, I am prepared to meet him at any time. We were fighting for the middleweight championship of Canada. I weighed 154 3-4 pounds, four pounds below the required weight. Brousseau is a clever boxer, but I am ready to meet him any time and any place."

BRITISH VENTURE IN COTTON GROWING

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 9.—A large venture in cotton growing, requiring capital of many millions of pounds, shortly is to be put before the Lancashire cotton interests, says a despatch to the London Times from Manchester.

It is being framed as a co-operative enterprise of the whole of the cotton trade, and not as a private undertaking. It will, the newspaper adds, in reality be a public trust, in which every organization in the industry will have an interest. The field for the new trust's activities has not yet been settled, but there is likelihood that it will be in Nigeria.

Mr. Trafton, pastor of the Reformed Baptist church, when the members of the young people's Lend-a-Hand Bible class had a social gathering. ALEXANDER GIBSON DIED THIS MORNING

Former Member for York Was Victim of Second Attack of Pneumonia.

Alexander Gibson, former member for York in the Legislature and the House of Commons, died at his home at Marysville this morning following an illness of double pneumonia.

About a week ago he was seized with an attack of pneumonia, which, following a similar attack a year ago, became so serious yesterday that his recovery was despaired of and he passed away this morning about 10 o'clock surrounded by the members of his family, for whom much sympathy will be felt in their bereavement.

The late Mr. Gibson, who was born on December 15th, 1855, was the son of the late Alexander Gibson, founder of the town of Marysville and one of the great industrial pioneers of Eastern Canada. He attended the Mount Allison educational institutions at Sackville and was engaged in the lumbering business as well as being interested with his father in other enterprises. In 1900 he was elected to the New Brunswick Legislature as a representative of York County and subsequently resigned his seat in the House of Assembly to contest the county in the general Federal elections. He was declared returned by a majority of 78 but the election was protested, subsequently voided by the Court and a bye-election held on December 24th, 1901, when he was re-elected by a majority of 825 over the late Rev. Dr. Joseph McLeod. Mr. Gibson had also served as mayor of Marysville and had taken a prominent part in the affairs of the town.

The late Mr. Gibson had been twice married and besides his widow, who was formerly Miss Charlotte Reid, is survived by one son, Henry A. Gibson, of British Columbia, and one daughter, Miss Mary Gibson, at home. One brother, James Gibson, of Marysville, and three sisters, Mrs. John R. McConnell, of Marysville, Mrs. Charles Hatt, of this city, and Mrs. Frank Merritt, of Moncton, N. B., also survive.

The funeral will not take place before Sunday and particulars will be announced later. It is requested that there be no flowers.

TO INVESTIGATE STROMBERG SALES

New York Stock Exchange Not Satisfied With Recent Trading in the Security.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 9.—The New York stock exchange today started an investigation of this week's trading in Stromberg Carburetor and refused to accept Allan A. Ryan's terms for settlement with other members of the exchange, who were short in Stutz Motor, when trading in the latter was suspended by the exchange. Both Stromberg and Stutz are controlled by Ryan.

The common business condition of of the exchange ordered members to report immediately all their transactions in Stromberg from Monday to Thursday, inclusive, with price and names of customers.

Stutz was quoted at 391 when trading was suspended, having risen from 100. Recently it sold at auction at 701. Stromberg opened at 110 today, half a point off, then declined eight points.

W. Andrews will bring on his question on the effect America's action will have upon the Monroe Doctrine.

Major Andrews put in his question early this week, but it was held over until the return of Hon. N. W. Rowell from the south. Mr. Rowell is expected to make a statement on the floor of the House.

United States Will Continue To Be Observer Rather Than a Participant in Ruhr Problem

The Duplicity of the Germans Responsible for Advance of the French Troops Into Ruhr District and the Occupation of German Towns—General Nollett's Report.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Washington, April 9.—America's attitude toward any adjustment of the situation created by the entry of French troops into the Ruhr district of Germany will continue to be more that of an observer than an interested participant, from what can be learned in official circles here. It is known that the State Department was in communication with London and Italy, as well as France, up to the time the French army moved forward from the Mayence bridgehead, and there has been no indication here of any change in the posotion taken more than a week ago, when the State Department announced this government knew no reason why German troops should not be sent into the troubled district if it were clearly understood they would be withdrawn once order was restored.

Hun Duplicity Responsible.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Berlin, April 9.—A member of the French military control commission in Berlin is quoted by the Zeitung Am Mittag as saying that the French advance is in no wise due to imperialistic or militaristic influences, but brought about mainly through reports of General Nollet, head of the mission, who was able to look behind the scenes.

"What is going on there," this authority declared, "is calculated to inspire the deepest distrust regarding the machinations of the German military leaders, who more than ever feel themselves masters of the situation."

"With growing concern," he said, "we observe a system of deliberate concealment on the part of the German military officials. It is impossible to discover what quantities of arms of all kinds exist. The suspicion grows that the leading German militarists are far from intending to disarm, and, if the scheme of the so-called temporary, but continuous, arming of local guards materializes, we must energetically object for such a system means nothing else than secret militarization of the German nation."

The paper traces this French view to independent socialist sources, and cites a contrasting opinion of a member of the British commission, who is reported to have declared that Germany, from a military point of view, was ":down and out," and that it was a prime necessity to strengthen the democratic ideals of Germany by helping her economically.

AWARD OF BOARD OF CONCILIATION

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 9.—A report of the board of conciliation which investigated the dispute between the Inverness Railway and Coal Company, Inverness, N. S., and its employees, has been received by the Minister of Labor. The Board recommends a new scale of wages for day laborers with varying increases for the different classes of work and also makes a number of recommendations to the employees. No changes in the contract rates paid by the company are recommended. The report is a unanimous one, with the exception that Howard Murray, representative of the company, does not agree to the rate of pay suggested for machinists in the machine shops.

Judge Patterson was chairman of the board and J. C. Watters represented the employees.

SOLDIERS HELD BACK IN CANADA

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 9.—Is a man who tried on several occasions to do his bit in the front trenches during the war, but who was held back by the authorities for special work in Canada, entitled to the same consideration as the man who was able to go overseas at first application, is apparently the question in the mind of P. M. Mowatt, member for Parkdale. He will ask in the House on Monday for a list of the names of men held in Canada as indispensable to the work at home, also "are those who reluctantly, but like good soldiers, cheerfully obeyed orders to carry on in Canada entitled to equal treatment to those whose luck was greater."

TROTTING PARK DIRECTORS MET

Financial Statement Shows 1919 a Good Season but Friction Still Exists.

Some of the directors of the Fredericton Trotting Park Association held a meeting last night at which reports on last year's racing season were submitted.

The reports showed that there had been a considerable financial gain on last year's operations, but it is reported that rumors of the amount cleared on the season were shown to have been somewhat exaggerated. However, if reports are true, there was twice as much money made last year as was necessary to clear up the Association's indebtedness at the opening of the season.

Reporters were referred to President W. E. Farrell this morning by Secretary Hugh O'Neill when seeking an official report of the meeting, but President Farrell said the secretary had the minutes of the meeting and it had been arranged for him to give out a report. The meeting was the first that had been held—except for the conference when the Maritime Circuit executive were meeting here—since the close of last year's business and it is understood that outstanding accounts of the Association will now be paid, including amounts due certain horsemen.

Shareholders to Meet.

So far as could be ascertained today no action was taken at the meeting last night towards having a meeting of the shareholders of the Association and, inasmuch as one of those acting as directors last year was said today not to have been called to the meeting, it is understood prospects for a reconciliation of the disagreeing factions has not been effected. There was no discussion as to this year's racing plans and, naturally therefore, no announcements as to any meetings except those for which dates were allotted by the Maritime & Maine circuit are authorized.

Another meeting, it is said, is planned for next week but meanwhile some action is understood to be in contemplation to have a meeting of the shareholders called, there having been no annual meeting this year of the Association and the time being at hand when a board of directors must be authorized to go on with this year's business.—J. D. B.

Some More Friction.

The St. Croix Courier, in commenting on the racing dates set by the Maritime Circuit committee last week, says: "It will be noticed that Woodstock has decided to again hold its fair on the same dates that St. Stephen has held for twelve years. If Woodstock likes that sort of thing, why, of course, that is just the sort of thing that Woodstock likes, but St. Stephen will hold to its established dates despite such opposition and some influence that the up river management seems able to draw to its side."

BALL PLAYERS TO FORM UNION

Spirit of Unrest Has Been Shown at Various Training Camps.

Columbia, S. C., April 8.—Baseball soon may see the formation of a new union of players, pattered after the old players' fraternity ,but with much more radical tendencies than the organization which formerly was presided over by Dave Fultz, now president of the International League.

There is a spirit of unrest among the players today that is noticeable in almost every camp. The players in many camps are not submitting to discipline the way they used to, and managers are having more trouble this spring in keeping their men on the straight and narrow path than in former years. The same feeling of dissatisfaction that is so much in evidence in the labor world is running rampant in baseball.

Already players of different clubs are in correspondence over the start of a new union. The men have taken cognizance of the rules of prices and the feeling is "next year we'll get ours." Many of the men had signed their contracts when the price boost was announced and others had hold-over contracts.

All through the training season the experienced onlooker has been conscious of this sense of unrest and "don't give a rap" in baseball. The many hold-outs last winter showed how the wind was blowing. Even players with hold-over contracts like Ruth and Weaver refused to report until they were granted more money.

Then the players reported whenever they felt like it, not when they were ordered to report. They kept drifting into the Yankee and Brooklyn camp two weeks after the date for starting to train.

One of the grievances through all the camps is that the players do not get anything out of the spring exhibition jaunts.

The tip has passed around the different camps in the South that next year the players will insist that they be paid for the training season, their salary to start from the time that exhibition games are played.

REBEL OAKES WANTS TO BUY BALL CLUB

Former Outfielder and Ex-Manager of Pittsburg Feds Now a Millionaire.

Pittsburg, April 9.—"Rebel" Oakes, former manager of the Pittsburg Federal leaguers and now a millionaire oil operator, is in this city negotiating for the purchase of a big league ball team. Oakes made this admission here today when he was asked if he had given up thought of purchasing the Pirates, which he tried to do some time ago. "I am negotiating for the purchase of a big league team; that's all I have to say now," was his reply.

EXPECT A TRADE.

Boston Americans Expect to Get Bodie and Pratt from the Yankees.

Burt Whitman, sporting editor of the Boston Herald, who is touring the south with the Red Sox, has wired his paper as follows:

"It now appears that both Ping Bodie and Derrill Pratt will join the Red Sox just before the start of the season. Barrow today received word from Manager Huggins of the Yanks that he will talk business with the Red Sox when the two teams meet in New York late this week or early next week.

"The proposition is for the Sox to give Witt to the Yanks for Ping and Derrill Huggins wants to get Mike McNally and he wants to get Wallie Schang. He has little chance of getting either. Naturally, Hug wants to get a top valuation for Pratt. You may recall that he gave a good ball club to the Browns for Derrill. Right now he could not swap Pratt for Gedeon, even, and Joe Gedeon was one of the five players the Browns got for Pratt a couple of years ago."

Pittsburg Player Hurt.

Shreveport, La., April 8.—Walter Barbare, shortsop of the Pittsburg National League baseball club, was severely injured yesterday when he was struck on the jaw by a pitched ball. The jaw was fractured in two places and several teeth were knocked out. He will be out of the game several weeks, it was said.

BROUSSEAU KNOCKED OUT BY NEW YORKER

Mike McBigue Put Over a Clean Knockout Last Night at Halifax.

Halifax, April 9.—The middleweight championship of Canada changed hands last night when Mike McTigue, of New York, knocked out Eugene Brosseau, of Montreal, in the fifth round.

McTigue won by a clean knockout in the middle of the round after having rushed Brosseau into a corner and then with carefully calculated lefts to the head finished his man with a short right cross that brought Brosseau crashing to the mat.

The Excuse fr Brosseau.

Montreal, April 9.—Wiring to Montreal from Halifax, Billy Moorehouse, manager of Eugene Brosseau, who lost the Canadian middleweight championship last night, says that Brosseau, who was over-confident and held his opponent, Mike McTigue, too cheaply, was knocked out in the fifth round by a lucky punch, but suffered no damage.

Expect Brousseau to Come Back.

Montreal, April 9.—Regarding last night's unexpected defeat of Eugene Brousseau at Halifax, E. W. Ferguson writes in the Herald today:

"Eugene Brousseau's championship star is in the eclipse today, following his knockout at the hands of Mike McTigue, a second-rater at best, in Halifax last night. But an eclipse is not a permanent condition. Stars have been under eclipse before, and have emerged without their lustre having suffered more than passing damage.

"Brousseau has piled up far too fine a record as a professional fighter to be relegated to the discard by one knockout. He is young, strong and game, and there is no reason why he cannot wipe off the black mark set down against him by last night's defeat.

"Brousseau would not be the first to overcome the disadvantage of having a sleep wallop registered against him. Stanley Ketchel was knocked out, but came back, defeated his conqueror, Billy Papke, and won the world's middleweight championship. Jack Dempsey, the present day king of all the fighters, was once knocked out in a round by the ancient Jim Flynn, but didn't let a little thing like that deter him from going on to the title.

"Brousseau's defeat was a hard jolt to his big Montreal following, and the gloom today was thick enough to be cut with a knife."

Directum I., 1.56¾, has been permanently retired from the turf, a half interest in the fastest record horse living having been purchased by Budd Murray, who will place him in the stud at Chester, N. Y.

Lon McDonald gets Winterwood, 2.07¼, the recent purchase of William Connor of Pittsburg. She went through the Chicago sale at $6,000. After racing well over the half-mile tracks last season, she trotted in 2.05½ at Lexington.

Dan McKinney has sold the Bingara trotter Brisac, 2.06¼, to a Morris, Man., breeder.

True Knights of Faith

"Shoot with them, quotha?" cried Aylward in high disdain, for pressing danger is the great leveller of classes. How is a man to take aim with these fool's toys, and how can he hope to do scath with them?"

"I will show you," answered Sir Nigel; "for here is the great box of powder, and if you will raise it for me, John, I will show you how it may be used. Come hither, where the folk are thickest round the fire. Now, Aylward, crane thy neck and see what would have been deemed an old wife's tale when we first turned our faces to the wars. Throw back the lid, John, and drop the box into the fire!"

A deafening roar, a fluff of bluish light, and the great square tower rocked and trembled from its very foundations, swaying this way and that like a reed in the wind. Amazed and dizzy, the defenders, clutching at the cracking parapets for support, saw great stones, burning beams of wood, and mangled bodies hurtling past them throug hthe air. When they staggered to their feet once more, the whole keep had settled down upon one side, so that they could scarce keep their footing upon the sloping platform. Gazing over the edge, they looked down upon the horrible destruction which had been caused by the explosion. For forty yards round the portal the ground was black with writhing screaming figures, who struggled up and hurled themselves down again, tossing this way and that, sightless, scorched, with fire bursting from their tattered clothing. Beyond this circle of death their comrades, bewildered and amazed, cowered away from this black tower and from these invincible men, who were most to be dreaded when houe was further from their hearts.

"A sally, Du Guesclin, a sally!" cried Sir Nigel. "By Saint Paul! they are in two minds, and a bold rush may turn them." He drew his sword as he spoke and darted down the winding stairs, closely followed by his four comrades. Ere he was at the first floor, however, he threw up his arms and stopped. "Mon Dieu!" he said, "we are lost men!"

"What then?" cried those behind him.

"The wall hath fallen in, the stair is blocked, and the fire still rages below. By Saint Paul! friends, we have fought a very honorable fight, and may say in all humbleness that we have done our devoir, but I think that we may now go back to the Lady Tiphaine and say our orisons, for we have played our parts in this world, and it is time that we made ready for another."

The narrow pass was blocked by huge stones littered in wild confusion over each other, with the blue choking smoke reeking up through the crevices. The explosion had blown in the wall and cut off the only path by which they could descend. Pent in, a hundred feet from earth, with a furnace raging under them and a ravening multitude all round who thirsted for their blood, it seemed indeed as though no men had ever come through such peril with their lives. Slowly they made their way back to the summit, but as they came out upon it Lady Tiphaine darted forward and caught her husband by the wrist.

"Bertrand," said she, "hush and listen! I have heard the voices of men all singing together in a strange tongue."

Breathless they stood and silent, but no sound came up to them, save the roar of the flames and the clamor of their enemies.

"It cannot be, lady," said Du Guesclin. "This night hath over wrought you, and your senses play you false. What men are there in this country who would sing in a strange tongue?"

"Hola!" yelled Aylward, leaping suddenly into the air with waving hands and joyous face. "I thought I heard it ere we went down, and now I hear it again. We are saved, comrades! By these ten finger-bones, we are saved! It is the marching song of the White Company. Hush!"

With upraised forefinger and slant ing head, he stood listening. Suddenly there came swelling up a deep-voiced, rollicking chorus from somewhere out of the darkness. Never did choice or dainty ditty of Provence or Languedoc sound more sweetly in the ears than did the roughtoned Saxon to the six who strained their ears from the blazing keep:

We'll drink all together
To the gray goose feather
And the hand where the gray goose flew.

"Ha, by my faith!" shouted Aylward, "it is the dear old bow song of the Company. Here come two hundred as tight lads as ever twirled a shaft over their thumbnails. Hark to the dogs, how lustily they sing!"

Nearer and nearer, swelling up out of the night, came the gay marching lilt:

What of the bow?
The bow was made in England.
Of true wood, of yew wood,
The wood of English bows;
For men who are free
Love the old yew tree
And the land where the yew tree grows.
What of the men?
The men who were bred in England.
The bowmen, the yeomen,
The lads of the dale and fell,
Here's to you and to you,
To the hearts that are true,
And the land where the true hearts dwell.

"They sing very joyfully," said Du Guesclin, "as though they were going to a festival."

"It is their wont when there is work to be done."

"By Saint Paul!" quoth Sir Nigel, "it is my mind that they come too late, for I cannot see how we are to come down from this tower."

"There they come, the hearts of gold!" cried Aylward. "See, they move out from the shadow. Now they cross the meadow. They are on the further side of the moat. Hola, camarades, hola! Johnston, Eccles, Cooke, Harward, Eligh! Would ye see a fair lady and two gallant knights done foully to death?"

"Who is there?" shouted a deep voice from below. "Who is this who speaks with an English tongue?"

"It is I, old lad. It is Sam Aylward of the Company; and here is your captain, Sir Nigel Loring, and four others, all laid out to be grilled like an Easterling's herrings."

"Curse me if I did not think that it was the style of speech of old Sammy Aylward," said the voice, amid a buzz from the ranks. "Wherever there are knocks going there is Sammy in the heart of it. But who are these ill-faced rogues who block the path? To your kennels, canaille! What! you dare look us in the eyes? Our swords, lads, and give them the flat of them! Waste not your shafts upon such runnagate knaves."

There was little fight left in the peasants, however, still dazed by the explosion, amazed at their own losses and disheartened by the arrival of the disciplined archers. In a very few minutes they were in full flight for their brushwood homes, leaving the morning sun to rise upon a blackened and blood-stained ruin, where it had left the night before the magnificent castle of the Seneschal of Auvergne. Already the white lines in the east were deepening into pink as the archers gathered round the keep and took counsel how to rescue the survivors.

"Had we a rope," said Alleyne, "there is one side which is not yet on fire, down which we might slip."

"But how to get a rope?"

DETECTIVE ROBERTS DIED THIS MORNING

For Forty Years Member of Police Department—Active Worker in S. P. C. A.

James Roberts, for about 40 years a member of the police department of this city, died this morning at his home on Brunswick street.

Three months ago Mr. Roberts was stricken with paralysis while on the street and has since been confined to his home. For the past few weeks his condition was serious and since Wednesday morning he had been in an unconscious condition and his death occurred at ten o'clock this morning.

Mr. Roberts was born at Gagetown 69 years ago and when 19 years of age he came to this city and, in the employ of the late Israel Golding, drove one of the old stage coaches between this city and Woodstock. About 40 years ago he became a member of the Fredericton police force along with the late Dow Vandine, Zebedee Wright and Paul Phillips. For 30 years he held the position of City Marshal and had carried out his duties in a faithful manner. He was also bread inspector and took an active interest in the work of the S. P. C. A., being an energetic and capable official.

Mr. Roberts was a man who had many friends, not only in Fredericton, but in many parts of the province who will learn of his death with sincere regret. He is survived by his widow, five sons, Charles, of the Hartt Boot and Shoe Company, LeBaron, George, Wilfrid and John, and three daughters, Mrs. John Connelly, of Campbellton, Misses Evelyn and Bessie at home, two brothers and one sister, John, of St. John, and Thomas, of this city, and Mrs. G. Donovan, of Calais, Me.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

MILK PROFITS GO.

Ill-manner Horse Tried to Encircle Too Many Telephone Poles.

Unles the Farmers' Co-operative Creamery Company can teach their present delivery horse better manners he is likely to eat up a large section of their prospective profits.

This morning the horse, which has run away on previous occasions, strayed away from its driver and, after proceeding through Allen street, commenced much the same as a tipsy man would to attempt to circle trees and telephone poles in the Old Burial Ground.

After getting around a couple of poles successfully it became tangled up at the third, which was located at the crest of the hill. The hub of the rear wheel stuck against the pole and the animal became suspended in mid-air until its struggles finally overturned the cart, smashing bottles and causing milk to flow down the gutter. An ex-soldier dashed madly towards the horse but was too late to avert the smash and shortly afterwards the disappointed driver arrived on the scene.

Buried This Afternoon.

The funeral of the late Miss Edna Holland took place this afternoon from the home of her parents, Very Rev. Dean Neales conducted the service and interment was made at the Rural cemetery.

STILL MOVIES OF GREAT ICE JAM ARE BEING MADE TODAY

But the Moving Picture Men Are Only Ones Impatient for Quick Action.

LACK OF SNOW STOPS MIRAMICHI SURVEY WORK

Forest Service Party Unable to Continue Their Work in Woods.

Moving pictures are being made of the mammoth ice jam which has formed in the St. John river above Fredericton and which is now said to be between 15 and 30 miles in length.

The moving picture operators, who are on the scene, are about the only people who are anxious to see the big jam break just yet, because it is realized the result would be a serious amount of damage with the bridges across the St. John river here as well as much other property likely to be smashed.

Meanwhile weather conditions are favorable to the jam remaining for some time, during which the midday sun and the swift current will take some of the strength out of the piled up ice cakes. There is little or no change in conditions along the river here today, the water remaining at about 13 feet above summer level. Last night the weather was unusually cold and there was a light fall of snow.

Because of the fact that the snow has wasted away on the Southwest Miramichi a Forest Service Survey party under J. M. Gibson of this city came in from the woods recently. They will probably go out again about the last of May. Included in the party were W. McCormack of this city, M. J. Sears, of Barker's Point, and Ray Keene, of Devon.

Conditions on the Nashwaak have improved so much since the jam was dynamited yesterday that the C. N. R. was able to run trains through today. However, at noon, two cars on an extra went off the track at Manzer's, and the passengers on the incoming train had to be transferred around. It was expected the road would be cleared in the course of a few hours.

SALE ANNOUNCED OF DUNBAR BLOCK TO DR. J. SEWELL

Building Suggested for City Club Quarters Bought by Devon Man.

DECLARE COMMITTEE ACTED TOO SLOWLY

But President Smith Says "There Might Be a String to the Sale."

Announcement was made this morning the Dunbar property on Queen street, which had been suggested as quarters for the proposed City Club, had been purchased by Dr. John Sewell, son of Arthur Sewell, of Devon, who will take possession of the property on May 1st.

The price is said to be $8,000, which is the figure at which the Commercial Club committee were said to have secured an option, which was stated yesterday to have been renewed for two days. R. W. McLellan, who was acting for the former owners, said this morning there had been so much delay in taking action on the part of the Commercial Club that he felt compelled to take advantage of the opportunity to complete a sale, particularly when other buildings for club quarters were being considered.

President Harry Smith, of the York Commercial Club, expressed surprise when told that the sale of the property to Dr. Sewell had been announced. He expressed the opinion that those who had been interested in organizing the club and purchasing the property had been too slow, but thought "there might be a string to the sale."

A NEW REVOLT REPORTED IN GERMANY

Franco-British Crisis is Relieved By Statement Of French Authorities

No Conference of Allied Representatives is Expected Today

LLOYD-GEORGE GOES TO ITALY

British Hope to Strengthen Alliance by Insuring Future Solidarity.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 10.—Premier Lloyd-George leaves for the conference of Allied Premiers at San Remo, Italy, this afternoon. He will make the trip by sea, according to a statement issued in Downing street this morning. Announcement was made that no conference of Allied representatives for a discussion of the Franco-German situation was expected here today.

THE HOPE OF THE WORLD CENTERED IN ALLIANCE

London, April 10.—It is announced in authoritative quarters that Thursday's communication, giving the British official view of the French advance into Germany, was made chiefly to prevent any possible damage to the Anglo-Frenh alliance, "on which the hope of the world is centered," and in no wise with the purpose of exciting public opinion here or in any other country. Moreover, it is said that the views expressed were those of the entire British cabinet and not those of any individual member.

The ministers, it is declared, feel that there is nothing to be gained in any alliance by glossing over or ignoring the seriousness of a situation engendered by one ally taking military action on its own initiative against the opinion of other Allies.

Great Britain, it was said, is equally as concerned as any other signatory to secure the execution of the peace treaty, but holds that any violent action taken without unimpeachable reasons would only weaken the authority of the Allies.

Friendliness for French.

The peace treaty, according to the British view, did not contemplate a situation such as now has arisen, which it was stated was one calling for police action against disorder, and not war.

Great Britain is just as ready as France to insist upon the execution of the treaty if the Germans show hesitation in fulfilling their guarantee to evacuate the neutral zone at the appointed time, and is willing to agree to any necessary action in such an event.

French Note Relieves Tension.

London, April 10.—The reply of France to the British note on the action taken by France in occupying additional German territory was received in London today. The note maintains that France gave Great Britain ample warning on April 3 that France considered it necessary to take military steps if Germany failed to withdraw her troops.

The reply mentions the unratified treaty drawn up between France, Great Britain and the United States for the protection of France, presents proofs of Germany's violation of the peace treaty, and concludes with an expression of the wishes of France to act in accordance with the wishes of the Allies, and a hope of further conferences on the subject.

The British Foreign Office has not stated what form the French warning took, but it is assumed that it was presented verbally by the French ambassador.

View Note as Conciliatory.

Notwithstanding the insistence of France that there was no alternative for her in the circumstances except occupation of German territory and her denial of the statements that she had acted without warning, officials here view the note as conciliatory, because of the expressed desire of France for an Allied conference. This view is emphasized by the fact that Premier Lloyd-George left today for San Reno, although it was stated yesterday that he might postpone his departure.

Mr. Lloyd-George did not attend the meeting of the Supreme Council, which was held here this morning. Earl Curzon, the Foreign Secretary, was also not present because of illness. It was stated that the council did not discuss the German situation, but continued to work on the Turkish treaty.

In other official quarters the French note is considered to have relieved the tension of yesterday.

French Minister Had Given Allies The Impression that France Would Not Act Single-Handed in Matter

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

LONDON, April 10.—Declaration that the Allies repeatedly declined to sanction the advance of the French troops east of the Rhine and that statements by Premier Millerand and other French Ministers had given the impression that that country would abstain from single-handed action against Germany, are contained in the note outlining the British attitude sent to Paris, says the London Times.

Emphasis is laid on the fact that grave problems in connection with the execution of the Versailles treaty may arise in the future, it is said, and it is assumed "France will not act again on her own initiative, otherwise the work of the peace conference may become futile."

Reports from Paris that France was told the Earl of Derby would be instructed not to participate in the conference of Ambassadors in Paris until France had given assurances she would in future act in concert with the Allies, are, however, confirmed by the Times.

France Claims Systematic Violations of Treaty by Huns Warranted French Action

Says that the Allies Were Kept Informed as to Probable Advance of French Troops, and Reaffirms the Loyalty of France to the Allied Entente.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 10.—The note sent yesterday by Premier Millerand to the British government, in reply to the British note with regard to the action of France in sending troops into the neutral zone in Germany says:

"The French government affirms first of all that no doubt can be felt of the loyalty of its attitude. The Allies have been constantly informed of its policy. The French government has always opposed the entry of supplementary German troops into the Ruhr district and in the occupation of Frankfort and Darmstadt.

"On April 3 its representatives in all the capitals of the Allies informed the governments to which they were accredited (at the same time a copy being sent to the Allied representatives in Paris) that Marshal Foch's measures could no longer be postponed. Furthermore, the French government recalled that the matter concerned the violation of one of the most solemn clauses of the treaty signed by France and that the German government had formally recognized that formal authorization given in advance, was necessary for such a derogation, and that France had the right to ask for territorial guarantees.

Hun Violations of Treaty.

"How could the government of France have been satisfied with the German promise to withdraw the troops when order had been restored? Neither for reparations nor for the delivery of the war-guilty, nor for coal, have the Allies received the stipulated satisfaction.

"The question could be asked when the British government, which no doubt, has not measured the danger of these systematic violations, would step in the path of concessions. France in any case, was obliged to say: 'That is enough.'"

To Maintain Unity of Allies.

The French government is no less convinced than the English government of the essential necessities of maintaing unity of the Allies for the application of the treaty with Germany. This close concert of France and England appears to France equally indispensable for the equitable solution of the vast problems which are presented at this moment in the world—in Russia, the Baltic, Asia Minor and all the Balkans.

The note closes with assurances that the French government, for the promotion of these ends, declares itself entirely disposed, before acting, to be assured of the consent of the Allies in all inter-Allied questions which the execution of the treaty raises.

French African troops, which originally occupied Frankfort, have been replaced by European forces. It is explained here that the Africans were used only because they were nearest Frankfort and with a view to taking swift action.

Belgium Backs Up France.

Brussels, April 10.—Virtually the entire Belgian press warmly approves the decision of the government to act in union with France regarding German military action in the Ruhr district.

The Libre Belgique says it is able to announce that the Belgian government has every assurance that the cabinet in London, while persisting in the belief that the occupation of new territory is unnecessary, will not manifest any objection to the evidence of solidarity in the friendship Belgium has just given France.

French Finances.

Vienna, April 10.—The financial position of France, as shown by a recent speech by her Minister of Finance, is commented upon by the Abendblatt, which says her plight has grown worse by a new drop in the value of the franc, while the German mark has risen.

Statement in French Assembly.

Paris, April 10.—Conversations between the Allies relative to the French advance east of the Rhine may be completed in time to allow Premier Millerand to make a statement on the situation in the chamber of deputies on Monday, according to the Petit Parisien.

ABOLISH WHIPPING POST.

Budapest, April 10.—The agrarian members of the national assembly have introduced a bill providing for the abolition of the "whipipng post" as the penalty for usury and smuggling.

Winnipeg Street Car Men Asking for Wage Increases

The Motorman and Conductors Are Asking for Eighty to Ninety Cents an Hour—The New Wage Scale Presented to the Company, but No Agreement Reached as Yet.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Winnipeg, April 10.—Winnipeg electric railway company street car men in a schedule presented to the company Thursday, asked for wage increases estimated to amount to $400,000 yearly.

The motormen and conductors are asking for an increase of 25 to 35 cents an hour as a maximum rate, it is claimed. This would mean from eighty cents to ninety cents an hour.

HUN CATTLE SHIPPED INTO FRANCE NOW

Under Peace Treaty Germany is Forced to Hand Over Vast Number of Live Stock.

DISTRIBUTED IN THE DEVASTATED DISTRICTS

30,000 Horses, 90,000 Cows, 100,000 Sheep and 10,000 Goats to Be Sent.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Campiegne, France, April 10.—Shipments of German cattle into France, in accordance with the terms of the Versailles treaty, have begun. The first trainload arrived at Chery-En-Valois, yesterday, and will be distributed among the farmers of that district, while a second shipment, expected today at Longuel, will be turned over to inhabitants of the Canton of Ribecourt.

Under the peace treaty Germany was required to furnish France live stock in equal monthly installments in the three months following the date the treaty went into effect, as follows:

Five hundred stallions, from three to seven years old; 30,000 fillies and mares, of from 18 months to 7 years old, of the Ardennais, Boulonnais, or Belgian type; 2,000 bulls, 18 months to 3 years; 90,000 milch cows, 2 to 6 years; 1,000 rams, 100,000 sheep and 10,000 goats.

To the extent that this cattle cannot be identified as having been taken from the French territory occupied during the war by Germany, its value under the treaty will be credited against Germany's reparation obligations.

AMEND ALBERTA LIQUOR EXPORT ACT

Legislation Designed to Put Liquor Warehouses Out of Existence Quickly.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Boyle, Attorney General, brought forward some additional technical amendments to the liquor export act, which is designed to put liquor warehouses in Alberta out of business within 30 days after its enactment.

The bill requires them to obtain bonded warehouse certificates from the federal Government. The feueral authorities will not issue these certificates without the consent of the Attorney General, and Mr. Boyle has told the House that he will not consent to the issuance of any except perhaps one or two in order to allow the law to be tested in the courts.

Canadian Robbed of $30,000 While Engaged in a Betting Deal With Sharp Americans

Enticed to Room to Put Up Money in $100,000 Pool to Be Bet on Horse Race—The Money Grabbed by Robbers and the Canadian Locked in Room.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Albany, N. Y., April 10.—W. B. Lamy, of Coaticook, Que., reported to the police last night that he had been robbed of $32,000 in currency by three men with whom he was supposed to form a pool in a bet on a horse race. The money, he claimed, was grabbed from him in a room in a local hotel, and the robbers made their escape after locking the door.

According to Lamy's story, he made the acquaintance of the men at Miami, Fla., and on March 29, in Albany, the four were supposed to form a $100,000 pool to bet on a horse race. Lamy secured a Canadian bank draft for $32,000 as his share and went to New York to get it cashed, being vouched for by an acquaintance there.

He said that he returned here yesterday and went to the hotel and when he exhibited the money one of the men grabbed it, and the three men ran out of the room, locking the door. He broke down the door, but the men made their escape.

With only the description of the men, as furnished by Lamy, as a clue, the police began an investigation.

PALESTINE JEWS WERE ATTACKED

170 of Casualties in Rioting at Jerusalem Were Jews—Tourist Traffic Stops.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 10.—Official reports received from Jerusalem regarding the casualties in the recent troubles in Jerusalem state that two persons were killed and 186 wounded, of whom 170 were Jews. The situation is described as being well in hand.

According to the reports, the trouble started April 4, with an anti-Jewish demonstration against religious processions. There was rioting the following day, when the native police joined the Moslems, resulting in their being disarmed by troops and withdrawn. On April 6 there were a few fires and some violence, but no serious disorders. Tourist traffic in Palestine has been stopped.

SOLDIERS OBJECT.

Regina, Sask., April 10.—Returned soldiers of the town of Leader, Saskatchewan, have sent in a protest to the provincial offices of the Great War Veterans' Association against the staging of a play at that town by a dramatic society from Prelate, Sask. The objection to the play is that every word of it is spoken in the German language.

TWO EDINBURGH ELECTIONS HELD

Indications that Both Will Return Supporters of Coalition Government.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

London, April 10.—Polling in both North and South Edinburgh, where vacancies have occurred through Scottish legal charges, took place yesterday, and the result will be declared on the 22nd instant.

In North Edinburgh the coalitionists are confident that Patrick Ford has triumphed over Walter Runciman, shipowner and formerly a member of ex-Premier Asquith's cabinet, although the majority will probably be only narrow.

The election was without incident except during the last days, when personalities between Mr. Runciman and Sir William Sutherland, secretary to Premier Lloyd-George concerning the former's shipping interests, added a little ginger. These aspersions, however, ended in mutual apologies.

The South Edinburgh result, where C. D. Murray seeks re-election, is simple to prophesy. Mr. Murray will lose a good proportion of the ten thousand general election majority. T. D. Holmes, Liberal candidate, is not expected to do more than reduce this.

Mrs. Lloyd-George exhorted the women to support the coalitionists, on the ground that this course would strengthen the League of Nations.

TREE HAD GROWN ABOUT CANNON BALL

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Vancouver, B. C., April 10.—An old fashioned cannon ball, of the 25 lb. variety, used many years ago on this coast by the admiralty ships, caused the False Creek Lumber Company a loss of $250 the other day. It was embedded in the centre of a huge log cut at Duncan Bay. The tree had grown around the ball and concealed it so well that it was not discovered until the saw struck it. The missile must have been discharged many years ago by a passing warship.

EVACUATION OF CRIMEA TO BOLSHEVISTS

Assassination of Gen. Romanovsky, the Principal Lieutenant of Gen. Denekine.

DENEKINE ESCAPES ON BRITISH WARSHIP

Remnants of Volunteer Army Leaving the Country as Fast as They Can.

Constantinople, April 10.—General Denekine, former commander of anti-Bolshevik forces in southern Russia, left here Thursday on a British warship, presumably bound for Malta.

There have been no arrests as yet in connection with the assassination of General Romanovsky, which occurred at the Russian Embassy here on Monday night.

An Affecting Farewell.

Feodosia, Crimea, April 10.—General Denekine's farewell to officers remaining faithful to him was most affecting. Many of the men kissed his hand, and Denekine burst into tears as he turned and waved good-by when boarding a British destroyer, which was to take him and General Romanovsky to Constantinople.

Evacuation of Crimea.

London, April 10. — A Bolshevik wireless communication received from Moscow says:

The evacuation of the Crimea by the troops of General Denekine (the anti-Bolshevik leader in south Russia), is in full swing and the remnants of the volunteer army, perceiving the futility of further resistance, have refused to fight and are leaving the country by steamers.

At Simferopol, war material and merchandise from warehouses belonging to private owners are being placed aboard ships.

BETTER WORKING CONDITIONS NOW

Great Lakes Vessel Owners Agree to Working Schedule for Coming Season.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Detroit, Mich., April 10. — Representatives of Great Lakes passenger vessel owners and the unions of seamen and firemen, in conference here last night, agreed upon a working schedule for the coming season, under which the men are to receive a 25 per cent. increase in wages. The three watch system at sea was adopted and the men are guaranteed eight hours in port at the end of each trip. These three issues were the principal ones involved in negotiations which have been under way for several months.

An agreement on similar demands by the cooks and stewards was expected before the conference adjourned.

THE LONGEST TOW EVER RECORDED

Victoria, B. C., April 10.—Completing the longest tow ever recorded in Pacific marine annals, the powerful tugboat "Hero" is passing up the Gulf to Vancouver with the auxiliary schooner Laura Whalon, tugging behind.

The Laura Whalon had been damaged in a storm and the Hero towed her from Tahiti, where she had been laid up, to Honolulu, and thence to the British Columbia coast.

Austrians Jubilant Over Seeming Allied Dissentions

The Hope Expressed that France Will Be Isolated and Not Allowed to Provoke Further Bloodshed—Expectation that the Allies Will Intervene.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Vienna, April 10.—Satisfaction over despatches telling of dissension between Great Britain and France relative to the action of the latter in sending troops into German cities, east of the Rhine, is not concealed by Vienna newspapers, which expresses the hope that France will be isolated.

France is accused of designs which may provoke further bloodshed by the Neue Freie Presse, which invites the Entente to intervene "more than verbally to prevent fresh hostilities."

Other newspapers speak of France as having received a "diplomatic defeat."

"It's One of Modern Miracles That I Am Alive", Miss Hanson Tells Jury in County Court

"First They Tried to Freeze Me Out, Then They Tried to Smoke Me Out and When the Summer Comes I Suppose They Will Try to Heat Me Out" Declares Plaintiff Who Claims Defendant Did Not Heat Her Flat.

"It is one of the modern miracles that I am alive today," declared Miss Dora Hanson, a local spinster, in the York County Court yesterday afternoon while being cross-examined by C. D. Richards, after having given her evidence in the case she has brought against Mrs. Elizabeth Coburn for $200 damages because, she alleges, the defendant failed to heat a flat which she rented from her for a year at $12 per month, heated.

"First of all they tried to freeze me out, then tried to smoke me out and when the summer comes I suppose they'll try to heat me out," continued Miss Hanson in a dramatic fashion, unperturbed by the attempts of the defendant's solicitor to stop the flow of condemnation of his client. Only because Divine Providence, in whom she said she had never failed to trust, was always on her side was she alive to tell the tale, she said, for she had been ill with bronchitis and not only her "lungs but whole body had been 'cured.'"

In her recital of events she told of the chief of Police, baffled lawyers, the Police Magistrate and various other officials having figured in incidents arising from the differences between herself and Mrs. Coburn, a demure little widow with grey, almost white hair, whose son—a returned soldier—sat immediately behind her in the court. Mrs. Coburn occasionally smiled, particularly when Miss Hanson told of the incident of having been driven from the cellar by the defendant who, she declared, was armed with a slab of wood five feet long and four inches thick. Miss Hanson said Mrs. Coburn wanted to drive her out of the flat so as to have it for her son-in-law but, she declared with much emphasis, "she will not succeed." On one occasion during her cross-examination Miss Hanson broke into tears and the proceedings stopped while she called for her solicitor, Peter J. Hughes, to bring to her a handkerchief she had left on counsel's table; after drying her eyes she proceeded with her evidence.

At one time Miss Hanson said the front door of her flat had become warped by the cold, and about Christmas she said she spent most of one night pacing up and down the hall in her nightdress trying to keep the door locked. As fast as she locked the door, she said, Mrs. Coburn would unlock it. "You must have had a high old time," commented Judge Wilson, who appeared at times much amused.

The Jury Selected.

The court opened at 2.30 o'clock, when the following jurors were sworn in: Barry Dunphy, R. Grover Lee, Walter Graham, Richard Davis and Delbert Pugh. P. J. Hughes, for the plaintiff, then moved for trial and Miss Dora Hanson, the plaintiff, was caled to the stand.

Miss Hanson stated that on July 9th, 1919, she had gone to Mrs. Coburn and asked her if she had rooms to let. Mrs. Coburn had told her she had and had shown her to the rooms on the second story of her home on Aberdeen street. When asked what payment she wanted for the use of them she had stated $10 or $12 a month. Miss Hanson asked her if she could have the rooms for a year at that price with heat supplied. Mrs. Coburn had told her to come back the fololwing Saturday and she would let her know for sure. On returning to the defendant's home on Saturday she contracted for the rent of the flat on the second story for one year with heat at $12 a month. The paintiff stated that while she was inspecting the rooms she had asked if the one furnace pipe would supply plenty of heat, and on being told that it would she thought no more about it. The flat consisted of three rooms, a bathroom, hall and front and rear entry.

Says She "Hugged the Pipe."

When asked if she had been supplied with heat by the defendant she stated that she got more smoke than heat, as the pipe was so congested that no heat was given. Often she had to hug the pipe, she stated, to keep from freezing. When the first fire was started she could hardy see any objects in the room because of the dense smoke and had to keep her windows open to let the smoke out, at the same time walking up and down her room to keep up the circulation of her blood. On many occasions she had complained to Mrs. Coburn but she had "only laughed over it."

On October 20th Mrs. Coburn had left home and locked up her rooms, not leaving the way to the cellar clear so that the plaintiff could proceed there and light a fire in the furnace to keep herself warm. She had consulted Magistrate Limerick and on his taking action in the matter the defendant had returned home. On Sunday, November 20th, the defendant left home again, leaving a note on the stairs asking her to keep the fires going. She had done so and had opened up the doors in the defendant's rooms and let the heat spread through the house, finding she could live very comfortably if the house were heated in the right manner. When the defendant's son returned home that evening he had closed the dors, shutting off the supply of heat. The defendant returned the next morning.

Clash in the Cellar.

Just before Christmas the witness stated the hall door became warped with frost, and when she closed and locked it the defendant unlocked it and as a result the cold air came up through the hall and spread through her rooms. She had to walk the hall for several hours to see that the door was kept locked. Whenever she complained of not getting heat the defendant would "laugh and sing and gloat over the triumphs she was obtaining."

Miss Hanson asked legal advice from F. H. Peters and finally she took matters into her own hands and one day went down and knocked at the defendant's kitchen door and was allowed to make her way to the cellar where she was questioned by the defendant's son as to what she was planning to do. She stated that she was going to light a fire in the furnace, and he shoved her aside roughly, whereupon she had turned upon him, saying, "Don't you dare put your hands on me, low type of manhood and returned soldier that you are." Mrs. Coburn, she stated, had heard the talking and came running down the cellar stairs, stopping to pick up a slab of wood, which she stated was five feet long and four inches wide. With this weapon Mrs. Coburn chased her upstairs to her own rooms.

From this on she stated, her life was a torture, she was subject to one cold after another, and finally to bronchitis, from the atmosphere about her. She was smoked until her lungs and whole body was "cured" as well.

Chief of Poice Called.

One Sunday morning she tapped on the furnace pipe and demanded some heat. While writing letters in her hallway later in the day she received such a bad shock by seeing Chief of Police Finley enter the house that she had to call Dr. Holden to render her medica assistance.

In answer to a question put by Mr. Hughes, she stated she had not the use of the whole flat, as the defendant had put many of her belongings in the back hall, where she had planned to put hers. She stated that while she had rented the rooms she had planned to do knitting to supoprt herself, as she could thus earn about $25 a month in knitting sweaters. She had been unabale to do so, as her room was too cold, and in all the time she occupied the rooms she knitted only eight sweaters.

The Cross-Examination.

C. D. Richards, for the defendant, then cross-examined the plaintiff. He asked her if her former landlady had not tried to get rid of her because she was not desired on the premises, but the witness stated that her landlady had tried to double her rent, but as she had made a contract with her when she took the rooms she had refused either to move out or pay double rent. When cross-examined as to the time when she had sought legal advice from Mr. Peters, she stated that he had written a letter to Mrs. Coburn and the latter had become frightened and offered to square things with her. "She tried to freeze me out, then to smoke me out, and now that the warm weather is near she will try to heat me out," the witness dramatically declared. Mr. Richards stated that she seemed to have weathered it all well and asked her how she accounted for it. She said that the Divine Providence which "watched o'er her had never deserted her" while she had faith. She could not understand how she had been spared otherwise; it was a modern miracle. She said the Coburns had played the game to drive her out as they wanted steady lodgers, and said that the defendant's son had thrown the balls while "she," the defendant, made them. One time she had gone to the defendant's rooms and asked her for the heat she was pay-

Broad-Minded American Advocates St. Lawrence Route From Lakes to Sea

Promote the Interests of U. S. as Well as the Dominion

ONLY SELFISH MEN OPPOSE

The Total Cost of Project Could Be Saved In Two Years.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Washington, April 10.—One of the strongest supporters in Washington of the proposed international water route from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic is A. P. Nelson, representative of the 11th District, Wisconsin, in the House of Congress. Representative Nelson is an outspoken advocate of the co-operation of Canada and the United States in everything which tends to the mutual benefit of the citizens of the two countries, and he sees in the proposed deep water St. Lawrence route a means, not only of promoting the interests of his own country, but a further strengthening of the bonds of friendship which unite the peoples of the Dominion and of the United States. He recently presented a very forceful and lucid argument in favor of the projected route in a speech delivered in Congress.

Representative Nelson believes that if the United States neglects the present opportunity, Canada will ultimately have an all-Canadian route from the lakes to the sea, forcing the United States to find a route of its own. In an interview with the Canadian Press, he said:

"In a broad way, there are three possible routes from the Great Lakes to the sea: one all-American; one all-Canadian; and one joint Canadian-American. From every point of view the joint Canadian-American route, down the St. Lawrence, along the international boundary line, is the only logical, practical, and economical route to construe. It is evident that if you Canadians should build, as I believe you ultimately will do, an all-Canadian route, we Americans would be compelled to do likewise, and the duplication of cost of construction and expense of upkeep of two routes would have to be borne by Canadian and American commerce and paid by the producers and consumers of the two countries.

"The only opposition to the project," Mr. Nelson continued, "has come from Montreal, in Canada, and New York, in the United States. Montreal argues, 'Why should Montreal give up her prestige for the benefit of ports of the United States on the Great Lakes and a few Canadian villages on the north shore?' Meantime New York argues, 'Why should we spend our money to develop a waterway through Canada and promote the commerce of foreign ports and lessen the commerce of the port of New York?' Both are wrong; both are selfish. It is merely a case of selfish monopoly by reason of strategic position on the seaboard against the welfare and happiness of the entire peoples of the two countries.

"Our nation as a whole, and the great Middle West in particular, should not be sacrificed to the selfish and narrow provincialism of any one or two ports or any one province or state, or terminal. I cannot of course speak for Montreal, but as for New York, I believe when she sees this project in its broadest aspect she will enthusiastically support it. The opposition in New York is very limited and the rank and file of the people of the state will overwhelmingly support this project when they realize the tremendous advantage to be derived from it.

Representative Nelson flatly contradicted the argument presented by some of his fellow-countrymen that the proposed route would give Canada too great a military advantage.

"The naval terror can be dismissed as a mere nightmare and bugaboo, which will neither scare nor delude any well-informed American citizen," he said. "Hostilities with Canada, our friend and neighbor, are well-nigh inconceivable. Such a situation would mean that both Christianity and civilization had completely broken down. Over 100 years without a fort or a gun on our 4,000 miles of international boundary assure us that we can build in perfect faith and peace. And closer international business relations will undoubtedly tend to bind us closer as friends and neighbors.

"From a military point of view the joint route is the only correct one for my country, as we would continue to have, as now, absolute joint control of all war vessels entering the lakes from the sea. Independent routes might place either government in a position of military suspense and in an attitude of feeling called upon to provide military fortifications and defences upon the Great Lakes, which I fervently hope may never maintain. I hope that the only line of defence between Canada and the United States may continue to be that imaginary boundary line.

"Sooner or later," continued Mr. Nelson, "the immense power of the St. Lawrence must be developed. So great a natural resource can not much longer be neglected just because it happens to lie on an international boundary. If there are complications, business diplomacy must overcome them. As there is a prospective preponderance of benefits, engineering skill must adjust them. Coal is getting each year more costly to bring to the districts removed from the mines. Hydro-electric power is every year becoming more of an economic necessity. The people of Canada and the United States cannot afford not to use the St. Lawrence.

"If within ten years the major portion of the available horse power could be utilized at the present price of coal, the total cost of the entire project would be saved in two years. Lake access to the sea is not only an expenditure to encourage navigation, but also an investment in hydro-electric power that promises to pay big dividends.

"I sincerely hope that my country will not hesitate to join Canada in the St. Lawrence development, particularly as competent engineers have declared the project is perfectly feasible and that the return on the water power along, leaving out all advantages of transportation, will more than pay for the entire investment.

"Courageous and far-sighted Canada, with a population of less than one-fifth of that of the United States, and with an estimated national wealth of less than one-twentieth of that of the United States, is ready to join hands with the United States on a fifty-fifty contribution basis to develop this marvellous water power and navigation project. The United States must not and will not hesitate."

Did You Say: "Not Just Now"

From Fort William To Liverpool Direct

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

If the projected deep water St. Lawrence route is constructed, an ocean vessel will be able to carry grain from the elevators at Fort William direct to the Old Country. Assuming that a ship has passed through the lakes to Fort William and has loaded a cargo of Western Canadian grain, here are the different stages of her voyage to Liverpool:

Across Lake Superior, open navigation, 240 miles.

St. Mary river, 63 miles long, open navigation except 33 miles, which is improved river channel, and a canal 1.6 miles with one lockage.

Past this restricted channel, the vessel will have 220 miles of free sailing through the deep water of Lake Huron.

It will then pass 27 miles of open navigation and 15 miles of restricted channel in the St. Clair river, 13½ miles of open and 3.5 miles of restricted navigation in Lake St. Clair, and 22 miles of open and nine miles of improved navigation in the Detroit river.

Again it will have free navigation on the great expanse of deep water of Lake Erie for 219 miles.

It passes 25 miles of the Welland Canal, with its seven locks, and then has 160 miles more of deep water and open navigation across Lake Ontario.

It has 182 miles from Lake Ontario to Montreal, but of this distance only about 20 miles are canal navigation. At present there are 46 miles of canals but in the proposed improvement, with slack-water navigation behind the dams, there would be less than twenty miles of restricted channel.

Down the St. Lawrence river to Belle Isle, a distance of 1,003 miles, ships navigate regularly today.

From Belle Isle to Liverpool there is the ocean crossing of 2,186 miles, making a total of 4,386 miles from Fort William to Liverpool.

Less than 74 miles of improved channel and 50.1 miles of canals will interrupt full speed steaming from Canadian lake elevators to British ports.

GIRL BIGAMIST CARRIED TO CELL

Wife of Three Youths Objects to Term in Reformatory for Her Misdeeds.

New York, April 9.—When County Judge Dike in Brooklyn sentenced Margaret Friene, 18 years old, of 563 Baltic street, Brooklyn, to the Bedford Reformatory today, she screamed, fell to the floor and had to be carried to her cell. The girl had pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy. She was married to Edward Friel, 18 years old, of Manhattan, on June 20, 1918, in St. Stephen's Roman Catholic Church, Manhattan. She left him after a week, and on April 5 following was married to Walter Donohue, 20 years old, of 118 Tenth street, Brooklyn, in Holy Family Roman Catholic Church, Brooklyn. She left him after ten days, and on Auril 5 following was married to Charles Huckel, 20 years old, of 510 Dean street, Brooklyn, in the Hanson Place Mthodist Episcopal Church.

In each case, she is alleged to have won the young man's heart by a story of her home conditions, which she represented as terrible, although the police said they were unusually good.

1921 CONVENTION OF WAR VETERANS

The Twin Cities, Fort William and Port Arthur, Will Arrange for Meeting.

Fort William, Ont., April 10.—"The securing of the 1921 convention of the Dominion Great War Veterans for the Canadian head of the lakes was a big win for the twin cities," said President W. C. Miller, of the local branch, on his return from attending the Dominion convention in Montreal. It was distinctly understood that the convention is to be held in both cities, but owing to the fact that a wired invitation was received only from Port Arthur through some oversight, Fort William was not mentioned in the press despatches sent out from Montreal. The arrangements for the convention will be made by the local executives in both cities, continued Mr. Miller. "The convention will likely be held in July."

Legislature's Session May Not Be Over Before May 1st

Little Hope of Finishing Budget Debate Next Week Unless It is by Agreement Between the Parties—Hon. P. J. Veniot is Expected to Speak Next Tuesday.

There is every indication that the session of the Legislature will not be over much before May 1st; in fact, Premier Foster admitted before leaving here last evening for St. John that the Government now fear the session will draw out that long.

It is now considered doubtful whether the Budget debate, which has been dragging along for more than two weeks, will be finished next week at the present rate of progress. Hon. P. J. Veniot did not go on yesterday afternoon, the debate being carried over until Tuesday afternoon, and he will consume probably all that afternoon and most of the evening as well. On Wednesday there will not be much done because that evening the Assembly Chamber will be in use for the ball to be given by the Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. Pugsley, and the decorators will be busy there about all day.

Thus it would not be surprising if it was almost the 20th before the Budget debate ends, unless the House sits through the next week-end, and then it is doubtful if the balance of the session's work could be finished by the end of the month. An effort may therefore be made to arrange to have the Budget debate ended by agreement not later than next Friday. Yesterday's brief session was taken up entirely with routine business, the long drawn paper resembling a roll of music for a player piano.

Yesterday's Proceedings.

The House met at 3 o'clock.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that His Honor the Lieutenant Governor had been informed of the subject matter of the bill relating to the manufacture of limestone for agricultural purposes and had recommended the same for the favorable consideration of the House.

Mr. Burchill presented the report of the Committee on Standing Rules.

Hon. Mr. Byrne presented the first report of the Law Committee.

Mr. Mersereau presented the report of the Committee on Agriculture.

Notices of inquiry were given as follows:

By Mr. Smith (Albert): As to what arrangements were made with land owners for damages to highways in Albert county caused by the breaking of dykes; also as to payments made the contractors for the Salmon River Mouth Bridge, County of Albert; also as to whether the Department intends rebuilding the Bennett Lake bridge.

By Mr. Murray (Kings) as to whether any steps have been taken to salvage lumber destroyed by a "blow down" some months ago near the headwaters of the northwest Miramichi river; also as to the classification and survey of Crown Lands.

Hon. Mr. Roberts introduced a bill to amend the Act relating to the registration of physicians and sugeons. He explained that the bill was being promoted by the N. B. Council of Physicians and Surgeons who were anxious to eliminate cumbersome features of the Act and bring it up to date.

Hon. Mr. Foster moved that consideration of supply be made the order of the day for Tuesday next at 3 o'clock.

The House then went into Committee with Mr. Leger (Westmorland) in the chair and agreed to a bill relating to the Sacred Heart College at Caraquet and to another providing for the incorporation of the Village of St. Leonards and to give authority to acquire a system of water-works.

A bill to authorize and empower the Notre Dame Lumber Co., Ltd., to erect and maintain piers and booms in the St. John River, a bill to amend an Act to vest the property and trust of Masonic Bodies in a corporation and to provide for the dissolution of the New Brunswick Masonic Hall Co., and a bill to amend the Act to incorporate the Miramichi Hospital were also agreed to. A bill to amend the Schools Act, section 109, and a bill to authorize the Board of School Trustees of the Town of Chatham to issue debentures were agreed to with amendments.

The Bills were reported.

Mr. Murray (Kings) in the absence of Mr. Sutton introduced a bill to amend an Act relating to assessment in the Town of Woodstock, also a bill relating to sidewalks in the Town of Woodstock.

At this stage His Hon. the Lieutenant-Governor entered the Chamber and gave his assent to a number of bills.

The House adjourned at 5.08 p. m. until 3 p. m. Tuesday.

Events of a Day In Parliament

Ottawa, April 10.—In the House of Commons:

A goodly number of non-contentious clauses of the franchise bill were put through committee yesterday.

Sir George Foster announced that there would be no federal daylight saving law this year.

Sir George also stated that the government had not changed its opinion that a cash gratuity to ex-service men would be impracticable and unwise.

The Act was given third reading to incorporate the Canada Security Assurance Company.

In the Senate:

A committee was appointed to inquire into the desirability of the development of shale oil.

The bill transferring the powers of Commissioner of Dominion Police to the Commissioner of Royal Canadian Mounted Police was considered in committee.

ing for, but the defendant "looked so fearful" that she had not dared to look at her. She said she had 'not lived during her occupation of the rooms but just existed."

The defendant and her son kept all the heat from the furnace in their rooms and gave her only smoke. She had seen them deliberately letting off the surplus heat from their rooms time after time and had once timed them for twenty minutes while they opened their back door to let the heat out.

She stated she had had trouble with the defendant whom she refused to pay her rent until she was forced to by a bailiff on two occasions.

At the conclusion of her evidence the court was adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock.

WALLACE REID WITH FINE CAST

Lila Lee and Others Appear in "Hawthorne the Adventurer," Coming Here.

It is not often that a motion picture has in its cast two recognized stars. In "Hawthorne the Adventurer," the film attraction at the Gaiety Theatre on Monday and Tuesday of next week the role of the hero is played by Wallace Reid, while Lila Lee appears in the chief feminine part. As if this pair of favorites were not enough, the rest of the company has been selected exclusively from prominent screen players.

Theodore Robefts plays the role of a Senator and Harrison Ford, who has been leading man for Marguerite Clark and other feminine stars, is Wallace Reid's partner in adventure. Such sterling character actors as Tully Marshall, Edwin Stevens, Charles Ogle and Guy Oliver also appear.

The picture was adapted from James B. Fagan's well known stage play of the same name. It concerns the experiences of a pair of improvident law clerks touring Europe in a "jitney" when they break the bank at Monte Carlo and invade an obscure little revolution-torn kingdom.

ALL THE RED SOX HOPED TO BE TRADED

So Says Joe Kelley, Scout for New York Yankees Who Visited Boston Camp.

Chester, S. C., April 9.—When Joe Kelley, the Yankee scout, rejoined the team today he brought back the story of the trade misunderstanding between the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox.

It seems that ten days ago Ed Barrow, manager of the Red Sox, asked the Yanks to help him out with a catcher, infielder and outfielder. The New York management planned to send "Plug" Bodie at once, other players to follow later. But when Fewster was hurt and Baker announced his definite retirement, the situation changed and the Yankees decided they needed all their tradeable players for use in bolstering up their infield.

Barrows was notified, but the plan to send Bodie was not changed. Kelley's visit to the Red Sox camp stirred up the Boston players, however. They [illegible] Ruth to come to New York and this forced Barrow and the declination of the Yanks to adhere to the original agreement ruffled him more.

Then came the statement that the Yanks had offered to trade Hannah, Pratt and Bodie for Schang, McNally and Vitt, with the declaration that Schang wouldn't be traded or sold under any circumstances.

Col. T. L. Huston said tonight that Kelley had made no offer of any trade to the Red Sox. He also indicated that Bodie might be retained for disposal to another club, if a suitable deal could be made.

The feeling here is that the Red Sox gave out the "trade" announcement as an "alibi" to the discontented ball players.

Chippie Gaw for Cubs.

[Boston Globe.]

George Gaw, well known as "Chippie" Gaw, who has been coaching and working out with the Boston University baseball candidates for the past month, is to be given a trial by the Cubs. He leaves for Chicago today to see Pres. Bill Veeck of the Chicago club.

Gaw is a very popular pitcher, and last year was with the Buffalo club of the International League, which was managed by Patsy Donovan. The latter is now scouting for the Cubs.

Donovan has a high regard for Gaw as a pitcher. While he has been well up in the records of the International League he never had advanced to the big stage.

Gaw was formerly a pitcher for Newton High and worked later for Providence, Newark and other International League teams. He is a right-hander, with a side arm motion. He has been allowed to do business with the Chicago club by Owner Lannon of the Bisons.

During the war Gaw was in the navy and was attached to the Boston Section Base nine, for which he pitched with great success.

Intercollegiate Track Meet at Wolfville

At a meeting of the intercollegiate track meet committee, held in St. John during the Easter holidays, it was agreed to hold the meet at Wolfville, N. S., on May 21st.

Paul B. Cross, captain of Acadia team, and Atwood S. Bridges, captain of the U. N. B. team, were the only representatives present, although it was expected that Mount Allison would be represented, too.

Acadia is now in possession of the trophy presented by Senator Dennis, of Halifax, N. S., for competition between Mt. A., Acadia and U. N. B. Five wins by any university are necessary before the cup becomes their permanent possession. The cup was up for competition only twice before the annual track meet was suspended on account of the war, Acadia winning it both years.

WANT TO CLEAR UP AMATEUR SPORTS

Maritime Branch of A. A. U. of Canada Getting Ready for Baseball Season.

"The sport situation in the Maritime Provinces is in a serious condition," declares F. J. Pougnet, secretary of the Maritime Provinces branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, in a circular letter which he has forwarded to athletic organizations in Eastern Canada, a copy of which he has sent from St. John to the Sporting Editor of The Gleaner with an intimation that a vigorous policy is to be initiated at once to "separate the chaff from the wheat," so to speak.

Mr. Pougnet says that "the Association wishes to clear up the unsettled situation existing at the present time so that everything can be on a proper basis when the baseball season starts" and for that reason a meeting is planned for the latter part of April at Sackville, Amherst or Truro. The letter which has been sent out follows:

"As you are aware, the amateur sport in the Maritime Provinces has not been what it should have been during the past winter.

"An effort was made by the Maritime Province branch of the A.A.U. of Canada to handle the situation and to keep sport clean. A number of clubs promised to back the Association at the annual meeting, held last November, but when the hockey season got in full swing they failed to do so.

"The big difficulty, of course, was the playing of some of the old professionals, who, according to the rules of amateur sport, should have been eliminated. The Association cannot live if the clubs which form it will not support it. Something has to be done in the matter, and to arrange this we propose holding a meeting on or about April 27th, at Sackville, Amherst or Truro, at which we want to have a representative from each and every club in the Maritime Provinces. Will you take the matter up with your club and let us know on or before April 15th if your club can send a delegate to this meeting, and also state at which town you would prefer the meeting held. We want to make it as convenient as possible for everybody and the meeting will be held at the town getting the largest number of votes from clubs guaranteeing to send delegates.

"The sport situation in the Maritime Provinces is in a serious condition at the present time and unless all the clubs are willing to work together for the good of amateur sport, we will find ourselves out of all big competitions. We have developed men who have held their own with the best in the country, and can do so again; but the sport must be properly handled or our athletes will not be permitted to take part in big competitions. This must be arranged before the baseball season begins."

Three of the championships go to Chicago and the other to Milwaukee. Indianapolis, Toledo, Cleveland, Detroit, Pittsburg and St. Louis bowlers were also big money winners.

Jimmy Smith, of Milwaukee, winner of the title in the all-evdents, was the only former champion to repeat his former triumph. Champions of 1919, for the most part, even failed to reach the money winning divisions.

FROM THE PEOPLE

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I should like to take advantage of the opportunity offered by the columns of your paper to express a few thoughts upon the much talked of question of teachers' salaries, hoping that some others may also express their views upon that subject.

It is needless to emphasize the importance of a substantial increase in salaries. The main point is, how are they to be increased?

The report of the Committee on Teachers' Salaries indicates that in future no salary is to be under $500. This increase, however, must come from the school districts, although they are to be aided by an increase of 100 per cent. in the county school fund.

Except to female teachers it is evident that there is to be no increase in the government grants. Now, the government grants are the same as they have been for a number of years. Since the present amounts were set the value of the dollar has gone down at least 50 per cent. Hence the government is really paying less money to teachers than they were a few years ago.

It is true that a minimum of $500 will probably be established but this will not aid teachers of town or city schools. Therefore there is need for some action on the part of the government to provide for them.

Why should not the government increase its grants as well as the school districts? Are the funds of the province not sufficient to enable it to do so? If not, why not? They appear to be sufficient to expend huge amounts upon roads, bridges, etc. Surely education is as important as these are. Which is going to make our nation, good roads or good people? Which made our records in Belgium and France? Besides, funds in plenty or not, I quote a recent well known statement, "A deficit is good business."

What do the other N. B. teachers think about this?

Thanking you very much for space in your paper,

Yours,
TEACHER.

Fredericton, April 7, 1920.

RECENT ARREST AT MINTO.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Before I proceed with my letter I want to let you know that I am a German. I left Germany in 1914 when only sixteen years of age, and have worked ever since in the coal mines at Minto. I did not have a chance to go to an English school and I am a very poor writer, but you will understand why I write.

I was surprised yesterday to see in your paper, The Daily Gleaner, that Mr. Saunders had arrested two German whiskey peddlers and that this German booze, as you call it, was the cause of some disturbance here. Now, this is a lie and a big one. There are only five German families here, and I know them very well, and I am sure not one of them carried on this kind of business or would be so dirty as to rob a poor workman of his hard earned dollar with this Rattengift (in English Ratpoison). And I hope, if Mr. Saunders has the luck to arrest some whiskey peddlers again that he will find out what they are before he reports another heroic job and say he imprisoned some bad Germans. This is all I would like to write you.

Yours,
M. WUHR.

CURES

Scratches, Harness Galls, Cuts, Grease Heel and other wounds and sores on horses and cattle. It will also cure Eczema, Burns, Bruises, Ring Worm or Run-round, Open Sores, etc. The best results will be obtained if the sore is first washed with NATIONAL DISINFECTANT.

NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE has been used for years by some of the largest Lumbering Concerns, and Railroad Contractors. OUR GUARANTEE: "We will see that your money is refunded if National Liquid Gall Cure does not cure any ailment for which it is recommended as quickly as the purchaser thinks it should." And we have never had to make a refund. Below are two testimonials given us voluntarily:

I have a valuable team horse that had a bad cut on her ankle for about a year. I used all the remedies that I had any faith in, but was not successful in healing the sore. When we worked her in the mud in the woods last fall the ankle got worse and it looked as though we would have to lay her up. Mr. Miller recommended me to use NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE and it effected a complete cure quickly, although we worked her steadily in mud. The first time I saw Mr. Miller after coming out of the woods, I remarked to him, "You cannot recommend NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE too highly."

You are at liberty to use this testimonial which is voluntarily given and without remuneration, in advertising NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE.

(Signed) ASA D. KENNEDY,
March 1, 1916. Hartland, N. B.

I have a valuable driving mare that has been unfit to drive or work much of the time for two or three years with Chronic Scratches. About two months ago I began washing her legs with NATIONAL DISINFECTANT and applying NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE. Within a few days the swelling began to go down and in two weeks her legs were normal in size. The cracks which had been sore and bleeding at times for two years were entirely healed within a month. Several ridges of a substance as hard as horn entirely disappeared, and I consider the cure made by NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE permanent. I had tried every remedy I heard of without effect, till I was advised by Estey & Curtis Co., Ltd., to apply NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE. I would willingly have agreed to give anyone $50.00 who would have guaranteed such a cure as NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE has effected. This is a voluntary testimonial and given with remuneration and Estey & Curtis Co., Ltd., Hartland, N. B., are at liberty to use it in advertising NATIONAL LIQUID GALL CURE.

New England Lumber Market

Boston, April 7.—The New Haven is now accepting lumber from the Boston & Maine. The spruce manufacturers say, however, that this does not make much difference as they are finding it very hard to get cars.

There have been sales of dimension this week at both $70 and $65 base. It is said that for early delivery the higher prices are the most usual.

That there is a great need of dwelling houses is of course universally admitted. According to statistics gathered by the F. W. Dodge Company and just released by the Masters' Association of Boston the building industry in New England in 1919 was smaller in volume than any period during the last 15 years.

The report shows that the New England building industry would have had to do $262,000,000 worth of business in 1919 to equal the average output from 1904 to 1909, which was then figured at $114,000,000. But in 1919 more than twice as much cost was involved to get the same product, the same employment of labor, the same use of materials and the same use of skill and energy by the builders, the report states.

"The building business in New England," the report continues, "has not recovered. It was better in 1919 than in 1918 because of curtailment in the former year. It was only about four-fifths of the average between 1901 and 1914, and these figures were helped by briskness in one line of building, leaving many builders as unemployed as ever."

Random.

Some sellers speak of the demand this week as rather firmer. Others say that they do not notice any change. The majority speak of the demand as fairly active.

For provincial scantling 8 to 20 feet in length $54 is not today an unusual price. Several firms with extensive connections in New Brunswick cannot shade that price without cutting their commissionns. There are people, however, who can still sell at $53 and make their fair profit. For 2x6 and 2x7 the range is $52 to $54. Now for long Maine lumber $55 and even more is being asked.

For 2x8 there are different prices. It is seldom, however, that less than $56 is accepted and it is not often that more than $57 is successfully asked.

There is not much dealing in 2x10 and 2x12 and there is quite a variation in the price of what little is being sold.

Boards.

The fact that dry boards are very scarce indeed and that even green are far from plentiful is all the time becoming better understod by all interested As a result the immediate outlook is thought to be for even higher prices than those at present prevailing.

For random spruce covering boards 5 inches and up wide 8 feet and up long and planed one side as much as $55 is being obtained so easily by courageous people that it seems probable that the lower prices are destined soon to disappear. The demand is said to be growing appreciably.

For matched spruce boards 5 inches and up and 10, 12, 14 and 16 feet in length $65 is being asked and obtained in some instances, but it appears that there are still opportunities to buy for less. Many observers think that those who know where to purchase for the lower prices had better do so quickly.

Clipped hemlock boards are firm at $55 if 10, 12, 14 and 16 feet long. Twelve foot boards are offered at $52 and random lengths are believed to have been sold quite recently at as little as $49. Some people want more.

Lath.

The lath situation, peculiar for many weeks, is now very complicated. The testimony of manufacturers and merchants as to the current demand, the prospects and the prices at present obtainable differs so widely that it is impossible to write with any degree of certainty. One operator summed up all that he knew about the market by saying that there was a close resemblance just now between selling laths and horse trading.

People who have recently returned from the south say that the sentiment there about the value of lath has undergone a decided change. Authorities in that part of the country, it seems, think that the peak has been reached and that declines of greater or less importanc are soon to be expected. Already they profess to be able to buy for less than two or three weeks ago.

For plump 1½ inch slab laths some manufacturers say they would peremptorily turn down all bids of less than $16 Boston rate. There are wholesale merchants, however, who declare that they are quite prepared to sell such stock at $14 and that they can make their legitimate profit when so doing.

There is a sensational story of retailers in a nearby city having bought more or less extensively recently at $12 but everyone has come to believe that this tale originated in the land of dreams.

Some buyers in the middle west write that they are buying at appreciably less than $15 Boston rate. Perhaps what they really mean is that they bought some time ago at less and that the laths are only now arriving.

A sale of 1½ inch laths was made only a day or two ago in Baltimore at $16.30 there. There is no sort of doubt about this.

The figures given below are believed to be those at which the bulk of current business is being done. In the present confused state of the market it is impossible to do more.

Furring.

The market for furring has looked much finer of late, so much of what is usually turned into furring having been made lath. It is a fact, however, that 1x2 can be bought today for $52 although $54 and $55 are still much more usual prices.

Shingles.

People diligently looking for shingle orders are getting some. This is certainly the time of year when, as a rule, it is worth while to expend a good deal of energy in this way.

Prices for the white cedars remain practically as they were last week. The tone of the market seems steady.

In the price of red cedars there is of course a wide range, but the lowest and highest quotations are practically the same as a week ago.

Clapboards.

The inquiry for spruce clapboards appears to be growing appreciably. It seems to be impossible to find any for early shipment.

Box Boards.

Recent advances in the price for box boards are retained. For good pine box boards inch round edge $35 and $36 Boston rate has been lately obtained. It is hard to say just what it is practicable to get for square edge as the testimony on the subject varies so. We hope next week to be able to furnish something reliable on the subject.

The prices for lumber immediately following are those at which retailers can buy of the wholesale trade. Spruce prices refer to lumber, 8 to 20 feet in length. For every two feet or fraction of 2 feet over, 20 feet $1 is added when the sale is of dimension lumber:

Unauthorized Switchmen's Strike Has Spread Across the Border, It Is Reported Today

The Strikers Claim that 35,000 Men Are Now Idle and that Their Forces Are Being Constantly Augmented—Chicago Supply of Coal Diminishing.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Chicago, April 10.—The big strike of insurgent switchmen and enginemen which has spread rapidly throughout the United States during the past four days, this morning crossed the boundary into Canada. News of the first spread of the strike into the Dominion comes from Buffalo, which reports the day crews of the Grand Trunk at Bridgeburg, which is just across the river from Buffalo, and in addition to the Grand Trunk has Michigan Central, New York Central and Wabash connections, as having quit work.

Despite assertions by railroad brotherhood officials of a break in the ranks of the strikers, presaging a return to normal, the unauthorized railroad strikes throughout the United States assumed serious proportions today, reports indicating nearly 35,000 men were idle.

In the Chicago district, which brotherhood heads regard as the key to the whole situation, improved conditions were reported with some strikers returning to work, but from other sections came reports of new walkouts and a strengthening of the insurgents' force.

Brotherhood officials declared the reports that 35,000 switchmen and enginemen were out were exaggerated but admitted that the seceding workers had gained strength outside Chicago. They asserted the strike soon would be broken in the Chicago district, and said with that accomplished it was simply a case of allowing the "strike fever to burn out" in other sections.

A statement issued by railroad officials declared that all indications were that the crisis in the Chicago yards had passed.

Insurgent leaders, however, claimed the strike was unbroken in Chicago and declared that 95 per cent. of the switchmen in the district were out. They said twenty charters in the "rump" union, with 25,000 actual members, had been issued throughout the United States.

The coal supply in Chicago was reported to be dwindling with less than a week's supply on hand.

At Gary, Ind., 12 blast furnaces had been banked today, throwing 12,000 steel workers out of employment.

Steel mills in the Mahoning Valley were preparing to close down today as the result of a strike at Youngstown and other points, and company officials said 35,000 workers would be idle by nightfall.

Toledo reported all but one of 23 railroads tied up and a food and fuel shortage threatened. Freight movement west from Cleveland had ceased, it was reported, and between 1,500 and 1,800 employees of nine roads there voted to organize a yardmen's union today.

Switchmen and yardmen on the Norfolk & Western and Pennsylvania railroads walked out at Columbus last night and early today and four crews on the B. & O. were reported to have gone on strike.

CHARGED THEFT OF BOSTON AUTO

Toronto Court Orders Extradition of Baungarten, but His Wife Released.

Toronto, April 10.—The charge against Mrs. D. L. Baumgarten was dismissed yesterday, and that against her husband maintained, in the extradition court here.

The couple were arrested seven weeks ago, charged with the theft of an automobile in Boston, after having been allegedly found in this city in possession of the stolen car.

A petition was presented yesterday from the United States State Department asking for the surrender of D. L. Baumgarten on the charge, but as Mrs. Baumgarten was not specified in the petition, above action was taken.

Mr. Baumgarten, who is out on bail and whose bail was continued, announced he would fight to the limit against extradition, and hearing of the case was postponed to next week.

"Little Lambs"

ONCE children were brought up "to be seen and not heard."

NOW the Empire knows that children are its greatest asset, and child-welfare is both common-sense and justice.

YOUR children are well taken care of. But there are many children in the city streets who know not the joys of good homes. They might stay in the gutter but for the Spiritual and Social labors of the Salvation Army.

THEIRS is the blessed task to bring these "little lambs" to the fold—teach them that there is something in life besides the sordid, and that by courage and perseverance, and trust in Jesus they can lift themselves into brighter, better lives.

LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN QUEBEC PROVINCE

Secretary of Anti-Liquor League Says Laxity in Enforcement is Scandalous.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Montreal, April 10.—At the sixth annual meeting of the Anti-Liquor League of the province of Quebec, the report of the secretary made reference to "the scandalous condition of the liquor traffic," which was attributed to laxity in law enforcement.

The fact that not a single member of the provincial legislature, on either side of the House, had made any protest in respect to these conditions could only force upon the electorate the need of a change in the personnel of the legislature without regard to party affiliation, the report stated.

Among resolutions passed unanimously was one that the legislative committee of the league take immediate action to secure the proper enforcement of the Quebec prohibition law.

HANSON-COBURN CASE ABOUT OVER

manded" the defendant to put up a stove. Mrs. Coburn had replied that it was the plaintiff's place to put the stove up if she wished, and the matter rested there.

The first of March, she stated, was when she first heard about the furnace pipe smoking, and she had sent men to the plaintiff's room to clean the pipe. She had refused to admit them, and it was only when the fire inspector was summoned that the pipe could be cleaned.

Mrs. Coburn, when asked about the note left on the stairs for the plaintiff, stated that she left the house with her son on the day mentioned and that her son had gone back to spend the night at the house as a result of a telephone call which she received from one of her neighbors. What the message stated was not told.

Referring to the charge of assault the witness stated that she had gone down cellar after the plaintiff and had heard her say she was going to put on a furnace fire. She, the defendant, had unconsciously picked up a slab of wood as she entered the cellar but "with no intention of using it." Her son had thrown out his arm to keep Miss Hanson away from the furnace and she had "rushed into his arm, striking herself." Mrs. Coburn said she had warned her son not to touch the plaintiff. The plaintiff stated that he had struck her and she left the cellar threatening to summon the police and calling her son a German, applying such names as "red-headed," "hot headed" and "low type of manhood" to him.

On one occasion, when the front door was locked by a spring lock, she said, the plaintiff had refused to come into the house through the back door, which was unlocked, and had "persisted in pounding at the front door until it was opened for her. Miss Hanson had used the grate through the bathroom floor to throw insulting notes down and at times spit through the opening and called the defendant and her son names. When the defendant attempted to board the aperture over the plaintiff had refused to allow them into the bathroom. For three months Miss Hanson had not allowed them the use of the bathroom and had kept the door of it locked whenever she went out.

Frank Coburn, the defendant's son, was then called to the stand. He corroborated the greater part of his mother's evidence. Court was adjourned until this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, when his evidence will be concluded and the case will likely go to jury before evening.

Miss Hanson's sensational evidence will be found on page 3 of The Gleaner today.

The Corporations Committee's next meeting will be on Tuesday morning, a private sesssion.

SUDDEN DEATH OF GEORGE F. GAILEY

Marysville Man Forced to Quit Work Yesterday and Passed Away in Evening.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Marysville, N. B., April 10.—The citizens of Marysville had scarcely recovered from the shock of the news of the death of Alexander Gibson, ex-M. P., when the startling news that George F. Gailey had passed away suddenly, was heard. Mr. Gailey went to his work as usual yesterday morning, but was compelled to return to his home on account of acute illness. Dr. H. H. McNally was immediately summoned and did all possible to relieve his suffering, and he became much easier. Later in the day he was again seized with another attack and Dr. J. A. McIntyre was called in, and he pronounced it acute indigestion. Remedies were again administered and Mr. Gailey became easier, and during the evening he talked to friends and members of his family, while he sat on a couch in the living room of his home. About nine o'clock he was once more stricken with severe pain and Miss Brogan, a nurse, was called. She arrived almost immediately, but found that he had passed away.

The late Mr. Gailey was 59 years of age and was born at Sussex, Kings county. He came to this section of the province when about 18 years of age, and has resided in Marysville the greater portion of the intervening time. He married Miss Nora J. McCormick of Blackville, who died 21 years ago. He is survived by one son, Hugh A. Gailey, of Marysville, and two daughters, Miss Mary A. Gailey, at home, and Miss Bessie A. Gailey, now a nurse at St. Augustine, Florida.

Deceased was a highly respected citizen, honest and trustworthy. For some years he conducted the hotel in connection with the cotton mill, but after the death of his wife he retired from the business and accepted the position of night watch in the mill. This position he filled until a few months ago, when he went on duty by day. He had of late complained of not feeling well, but never thought his condition was serious. He was a prominent members of Marysville Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and was also a member of Court Marysville, C.O.F.

The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon from his late residence, at corner of Bridge and Morrison streets, at 2 o'clock, and will be under the auspices of Marysville Lodge, K. of P. Rev. J. J. Pinkerton will conduct the service and interment will be made in the Methodist cemetery.

The Florence Bird Mission Band of the Methodist church held a very enjoyable concert and social in the church last evening. The programme presented was exceptionally good, showing careful training and the aptitude of those taking part to commit their parts to memory. Refreshments were served at the close of the programme. A substantial Easter offering was taken. Mrs. Pinkerton, under whose supervision the concert was gotten up, is deserving of great credit for her excellent work.

James Stickney, formerly of Marysville but for several years a resident of Milltown, N. B., paid his relatives and friends a visit this week.

Norville Dennison is here from Milltown, N. B., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Dennison.

Mrs. S. L. Manzer is ill at the home of her sister, Mrs. Alex. Gibson, with pneumonia. Her condition is not considered serious.

James Gibson is ill at his home at Penniac with bronchitis.

CLOUDS IN THE SKIES.

Hateful as war must be to citizens, and especially most hateful as it is to veterans and those who have seen some of its sordid tragedy, only the soothsayer would dare positively to declare that another war is not imminent, remarks an exchange. Everywhere you gaze clouds are in the skies. France, happy in her release from war, but unhappy in her insecurity, knows not where she stands. Deprived of defining boundaries which her military geniuses felt would be her surest security against sudden aggression from her bitterest foe, and now bereft of faith in the allegiance of the great power which induced her to concede those territorial safeguards, she is compelled to wage daringly or suffer irretrievably. Germany, one day reported as complying with the peace demands for disarming, the next revealed as having great supplies of cannon and munitions and an unexpectedly formidable army at her command, tells not what she proposes or displays what is the intention of internal movements, which may be staged. Russia, a phantasmagoria. Poland, welded only to be sundered. Turkey, already in arms against conquerors for whom it will not admit victory. Asia, confused, fanatic, goaded by every insidious device of propaganda, only awaits the setting of the match to the magazine of Moslemism to embroil India, and all that lies between it and the minarets of Constantinople. Japan, an ally who is better off than if there had not been waged a conflict in which she could play the part of ally, watchful, waiting, as likely as not ready to pounce where a prey can be picked off. China, incensed, denied tremendous power only through its lack of cohesion. The United States? Who would care to venture to predict where that country would stand in any other war than that waged against herself? Great Britain? Recovering from superhuman performances in the most titanic issue in history, but surely hardly equipped to enter a new arena with the full force of her majestic power. These may be reflective questionings dolefully becoming to a blue Monday's mood; but are they not far more? If you labor under the soporific delusion that they are not, reconsider them, ponder the news of the day, and ask yourself if there be not testimonies which before the Great War would have made war seem very imminent. And, then, today devoutly hope that the governments of these countries will be so guided and so supported by the adhesion of their peoples, that in these early years of peace—uncertain and disturbed peace, but peace—action may be stayed until the clouds roll out of the skies, so that the stench and misery of war may not once again break over a wearily harassed and sorely tried world.

CRIMINAL SENTENCE APPEAL.

A bill to amend the Criminal Code so as to permit the revision of excessive punishments has been introduced in the Senate by Mr. McMeans. It has been charged that the law is defective in that, while permitting free appeals in civil cases where only a man's property is concerned, it refuses to permit a revision of a court decision which deprives him of his liberty. Mr. McMean's bill does not propose to deal with capital cases, though in England the law which established the Court of Criminal Appeal has regard for the cases of convicted murderers among others, points out an exchange. Mr. McMeans desires that when an offender has been convicted of an indictable offence a judge of the Court of Appeal for the province in which the trial took place may direct that application may be made for a revision of the sentence. The tribunal shall then consider the fitness of the condemnation, and may decline to interfere, or, within the limits set by the law, may diminish or increase or modify the punishment imposed. It is evidence of the efficiency of the courts that there is comparatively little criticism heard of the manner in which, after conviction, punishment is meted out. In England, the cases brought before the Court of Criminal Appeal are not numerous, either actually or in comparison with the total of convictions for serious crimes. Neither can it be said that the tendency is to encourage appeals, except when there is real cause for holding that the conviction was in some way wrong or based on a misapplication of the law. Recently the conviction of a murderer was affirmed and judgment did something to establish the principle that a man's drunkenness is not an excuse for his crime. Some of the appeals for revision have been unusual, as when a convict condemned to imprisonment sought to have the alternative of a flogging imposed, and was refused. If the McMeans bill should be accepted by Parliament the probability is that the Canadian experience in this regard will be like the English.

CORNERED STOCKS.

Only now and then in the course of years does a corner occur in one of the securities dealt in upon the Stock Exchange. Such a corner was found to exist the other day in the stock of an American motor company, which had advanced some $300 above prevalent ideas of its value. The governors of the exchange, apparently convinced of the impossibility of inducing holders of the stock bills and bills of sale to offer terms of settlement to the stockless sellers, directed that exchange members suspend trading in this awkward security.

On two previous occasions of note the holders of unfulfillable sellers' obligations granted terms of peace to those who had been caught. Both these occasions belonged to the period of speculation that passed between the final defeat of free silver in 1900 and the crisis of 1903. Powerful interests vying for control of the Northern Pacific, tied up the stock, carried off the entire floating supply and incidentally caught a number of sellers who had expected to owe the stock for a time and purchase it back at a profitable reduction. These persons were allowed to settle up their venture at a figure agreed upon by those entitled to demand the unobtainable stock, and soon the incident ceased to vex the security market. The corner involving certain financiers interested in the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, while largely an affair between two of these men, was arranged in like fashion, very much, it was believed, to the gain of one.

The interests of the exchange in such cases coincide with those of the public, to discountenance extortion practiced upon the victims of an ill-judged readiness to sell that which they do not own. The practice of cornering the short seller, too readily tolerated, would open the way to fantastic boosting of securities by unprincipled parties, a practice the exchange and the public alike wish to prevent.

NO CASH BONUS BY GOVERNMENT

Government Will Not Hesitate to Take Any Step Needed in Re-establishment.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottwa, April 9.—Sir George Foster, at the opening of the House this afternoon announced, that the Government had not changed its mind in regard to the granting of a cash bonus to returned soldiers.

"The Government," he said, "is not of the opinion and has never been of the opinion that the best way to reconstitute and re-establish and readjust the returned soldier is by placing a sum of money in his hands over which there would be no government supervision, and without any reference to the peculiar and different condition of each returned soldier."

"The opinion of the Government," Sir George proceeded, "was fairly expressed at the last session of parliament after a long and very careful examination into the whole subject of re-adjustment, reconstitution and relief, by a committee of this House, and, at the same time it was intimated that the Government was not in favor of a cash payment of bonus or gratuity.

"There are various reasons for this which we must take into account—the financial conditions of the country and all other interests which have accumulated and which press upon the Government and the parliament of the country.

"In that respect, the indeterminate amount running anywhere from $400,000,000 to a billion dollars which would be involved in such payment of cash gratuities for readjustment has to be taken into consideration and forms the most essential part of the conclusion."

"Since the armistice and demobilization," continued Sir George, "the Government has not been remiss in giving its most careful consideration to the re-establishment of the soldier. The result of this consideration had been certain conclusions, the Government had not hesitated to put into forms or relief. It proposed to continue doing this. In the past the government had been given the benefit of advice from a Pensions Committee of the whole House. This committee had again been appointed during the present session and it had been assigned the task of taking up the methods which had already been adopted for relieving the soldier and suggesting what amendments were necessary to these. Insofar as the relief of the wounded or incapacitated soldiers, or of their dependents was concerned the Government would do its utmost to aid them."

Sir George stated that the Government proposed to continue its present forms of relief under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Bill and the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment with its system of vocational training. For these, the Government had the greatest sympathy. The question was such an important one that it seemed impossible to dispose of it at a single session of the House. He intimated that not only the Government, but private business organizations must co-operate in the best way possible to assist the men who had borne the brunt of the great struggle for freedom.

Hon. W. L. McKenzie King said that the subject was one on which he was desirous of making some remarks. He understood it was not permissable to do so on the orders of the day. Would there be an opportunity later on to discuss the statement? The Acting Prime Minister replied there would be. Reply to Mr. Archambault who asked whether the question of a cash bonus had been taken entirely out of the hands of the committee on pensions, Sir George said that the statement he had just made expressed the stand taken by the Government. So far as he knew, the Pensions Committee had never had the question of a cash bonus or gratuity referred to it.

WAR RECORD OF LIBERAL LEADER

Mackenzie King to Make a Statement in the House on Tuesday Next.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, April 10.—In the House on Tuesday next Hon. Mackenzie King will take the opportunity on the motion to go into Supply to make a complete statement on his war record. It was his intention to have brought the matter up yesterday on a question of privilege, but he was advised by the Speaker that a larger opportunity would be presented in the manner above outlined.

He will contend that his work in the United States largely helped to win the war by the increase in the output of munitions, taking the same line of defence followed during his campaign in Prince Edward Island. It is also his intention to make this statement a final one. Hereafter he intends to reply to such statements, if repeated, through the courts.

The incident which has goaded him to this action arose out of an address made before the Progressive Club of Montreal by John McNaughton, barrister, of that city, on "Liberalism in Theory and Practice," in which he made the following statement: "So far as the returned man was concerned, how could he expect to receive any concessions from a Liberal leader who had deserted Canada in her hour of crisis in search of Standard Oil millions?"

On the same occasion, Dr. F. W. Gilday also said: "Mr. King had left Canada at the time of the war crisis, although a bachelor and capable of bearing arms, and only a young man. He preferred to work for Rockefeller, and indications point to the fact that he had returned to Canada still entangled in the octopus of Standard Oil interests and Rockefeller millions."

The Stock Market

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York (Wall Street), April 10.—Stocks were under pressure at the dull opening of today's session, the more serious aspects of the railroad strike and the usual week-end settlement of contracts prompting moderate selling for both accounts. There were several striking exceptions to the reaction, shippings and sugars scoring substantial gains, heaviness was most marked among equipments, steels and the automobile groups, oils also easing.

A permanent roof at a moderate cost

If you are going to erect a home, store, factory, garage or other building with a slanting roof upon which an attractive, permanent covering is desired at a moderate cost you will find that Brantford Crystal Roofing meets your requirements.

This roofing is comprised of felt, asphalt and crushed crystals of quarry slate and weighs 80 to 85 lbs. per square. Its extra weight will give you an idea of its durability and permanency.

Brantford Crystal Roofing is sold in reddish brown and dark green, which are the natural, unfadeable colors of its crushed slate surface. This roofing adds beauty to any roof covered with it. Being in rolls and pliable it is very easily and quickly laid, which is an advantage when the need is urgent, labor so scarce and wages so high.

True Knights of Faith

"It is an old trick," quoth Aylward. "Hola! Johnston, cast me a rope, even as you did at Maupertius in the war time."

The grizzled archer thus addressed took several lengths of rope from his comrades, and knotting them firmly together, he stretched them out in the long shadow which the rising sun threw from the frowning keep. Then he fixe' the yew-stave of his bow upon end and measured the long, thin, black line which it threw upon the turf.

"A six-foot stave throws a twelve-foot shadow," he muttered. "The keep throws a shadow of sixty paces. Thirty paces of rope will be enow and o' spare. Another strand, Watkin! now pull at the end that all may be safe. So! It is ready for them."

"But how are we to reach it?" asked the young archer beside him.

"Watch and see, young fool's-head,' growled the old bowman. 'He took a long string from his pouch and fastened one end to an arrow."

"All ready, Samkin?"

"Ready, camarade.'

"Close to your hand then." With an easy pull he sent the shaft flickering gently up, falling upon the stonework within a foot of where Aylward was standing. The other end was secured to the rope, so that in a minute a good strong cord was dangling from the only sound side of the blazing and shattered tower. The Lady Tiphaine was lowered with a noose drawn fast under the arms, and the other five slid swiftly down, amid the cheers and joyous outcry of their rescuers.

CHAPTER XXXII.

How the Company Took Counsel Round the Fallen Tree.

"Where is Claude Latour?" asked Sir Nigel, as his feet touched ground.

"He is in camp, near Montpezat, two hours' march from here, my fair lord," said Johnston, the grizled bowman who commanded the archers.

"Then we shall march thither, for I would fain have you all back at Dax in time to be in the prince's vanguard."

"My lord," cried Alleyne, joyfully, "here are our chargers in the field, and I see your harness amid the plunder which these rogues have left behind them."

"By Saint Ives! you speak sooth, young squire," said Du Guesclin. "There is my horse and my lady's jennet. The knaves led them from the stables, but fled without them. Now, Nigel, it is great joy to me to have seen one of whom I have often heard. Yet we must leave you now, for I must be with the King of Spain ere your army crosses the mountains."

"I had thought that you were in Spain with the valiant Henry of Trastamare."

"I have been there, but I came to France to raise succor for him. I shall ride back, Nigel, with four thousand of the best lances of France at my back, so that your prince may find he hath a task which is worthy of him. God be with you, my friend, and may we meet again in better times!'

"I do not think," said Sir Nigel, as he stood by Alleyne's side looking after the French knight and his lady, "that in all Christendom you will meet with a more stout-hearted man or a fairer and sweeter dame. But your face is pale and sad, Alleyne! Have you perchance met with some hurt during the ruffle?"

"Nay, my fair lord, I was but thinking of my friend Ford, and how he sat upon my couch no later than yesternight.'

Sir Nigel shook his head sadly. "Two brave squires have I lost," said he. "I know not why the young shoots should be plucked, and an old weed left standing, yet certes there must be some good reason, since God hath so planned it. Did you not note, Alleyne, that the Lady Tiphaine did give us warning last night that danger was coming upon us?"

"She did, my lord."

"By Saint Paul! my mind misgives me as to what she saw at Twynham Castle. And yet I cannot think that any Scottish or French rovers could land in such force as to beleaguer the fortalice. Call the Company together, Aylward; and let us on, for it will be shame to us if we are not at Dax upon the trysting day."

The archers had spread themselves over the ruins, but a blast upon a bugle brought them all back to muster, with such booty as they could bear with them stuged into their pouches or slung over their shoulders. As they formed into ranks, each man dropping silently into his place, Sir Nigel ran a questioning eye over them, and a smile of pleasure played over his face. Tall and sinewy, and brown, clear-eyed, hard-featured, with the stern and prompt bearing of experienced soldiers, it would be hard indeed for a leader to seek for a choicer following. Here and there in the ranks were old soldiers of the French wars, grizzled and lean, with fierce, puckered features and shaggy, bristling brows. The most, however, were young and dandy archers, with fresh English faces, their beards combed out, their hair curling from under their close steel hufkens, with gold-spangled baldrics, their silken belts, and the chains which many of them wore round their thick brown necks, all spoke of the brave times which they had had as free companions. Each had a yew or hazel slung over his shoulder, plain and serviceable with the older men, but gaudily painted and carved at either end with the others. Steel caps, mail brigandines, white surcoats with the red lion of St. George, and sword or battle-axe swinging from their belts, completed this equipment, while in some cases the murderous maule or five-foot mallet was hung across the bow-stave, being fastened to their leathern shoulder-belt by a hook in the centre of the handle. Sir Nigel's heart beat high as he looked upon their free bearing and fearless faces.

For two hours they marched through forest and marshland, along the left bank of the river Ayeyron; Sir Nigel riding behind his Company, with Alleyne at his right, and Johnston, the old master bowman, walking by his left stirrup. Ere they had reached their jorney's end the knight had learned all that he would know of his men, their doings and their intentions. Once, as they marched, they saw upon the further bank of the river a body of French men-at-arms, riding very swiftly in the direction of Villegrance.

"It is the Seneschal of Toulouse, with his following," said Johnston, shading his eyes with his hand. "Had he been on this side of the water he might have attempted something upon us."

"I think that it would be well that we should cross," said Sir Nigel. "It were pity to balk this worthy seneschal, should he desire to try some small feat of arms."

"Nay there is no ford nearer than Tourville," answered the old archer. "He is on his way to Villefranche, and short will be the shrift of any jacks who come into his hands, for he is a man of short speech. It was he and the Seneschal of Beaucair who hung Peter Wilkins, of the Company, last Lamastide; for which, by the black rood of Walcham! they shall hang themselves, if ever they come into our power. But here are our comrades, Sir Nigel, and here is our camp."

HANSON-COBURN CASE LIKELY TO GO TO JURY TODAY

Defendant Places Blame for Squabbles on Plaintiff and Recites Incidents.

NO AGREEMENT TO HEAT FLAT, SHE DECLARED

Says Miss Hanson "Threw Notes, Called Names and Spit" Down Grate.

The case in which Miss Dora Hanson is asking for $200 damages from Mrs. Elizabeth Coburn for failure to heat a flat which she had rented will probably go to the jury in the York County Court this afternoon.

This morning was taken up with hearing the evidence of Mrs. Coburn and her son, Frank, who it was said Miss Hanson had called "a German," "red headed," "hot headed" and a "low type of manhood." He is a popular young man in the city, a returned soldier and now employed as a bank clerk.

Mrs. Coburn's story indicated there had been equally as stormy times in the house as Miss Hanson had alleged, but she placed the blame upon the plaintiff, who, among other things, she said, "threw insulting notes, called names and spit down through a grate in the bathroom," and would not allow workmen to enter the bathroom to close the aperture.

Mrs. Coburn stated that when the plaintiff had rented the flat from her no contract for heat had been made at all. When asked if the matter of heat was mentioned, she said that, after the plaintiff had bargained for the rooms, she inquired how the house was heated, and was told by a wood furnace. No other mention had been made of heating.

The plaintiff had made many suggestions during her occupation of the rooms, but had never "asked" for favors; she had "dictated and com-

ICE MAKES MOVE IN ST. JOHN RIVER BELOW THE CITY

Another Move Expected During Week-End and Much Damage is Feared.

BIG JAM ABOVE HERE NOW 20 MILES LONG

Bridges at Fredericton Are Withstanding Entire Force of Great Jam.

The ice in the St. John river below Fredericton threatens to do some damage when it runs; and, according to all appearances, it is likely to go during the week-end.

Yesterday the ice made its first move below here, when it ran about 20 rods at the head of Oromocto Island, ten miles south of Fredericton, and then jammed. Residents of the district say that, instead of running out along the shores first as it always had done in the past, the ice in the channel moved first this time.

This unusual feature they fear presages a heavy run and consequent damage when the ice makes another move. The river has already overflown its banks through the interval district of the parishes of Maugerville and Sheffield, Sunbury county, in many places and at the Estey bridge at Lower Maugerville is now piled up with ice, which, when another run starts, will probably carry the bridge out.

Big Jam is 20 Miles Long.

The moving out of the ice in the lower river will probably also bring about an earlier run than otherwise of the rest of the ice. Last night the tail of the jam, which is in the vicinity of Bear Island, settled down about a mile and a half and the main jam now starts from Springhill, five miles above Fredericton, and extends for a distance of practically twenty miles. Conditions along the river for a distance of almost forty miles above here are therefore abnormal, the water being over the interval districts, flooding the highways and railroad in places and the ice being piled up high along the jam. On the islands, as well as on the intervals, the ice now encircles many barns and other buildings so that when the jam moves these will doubtless be carried away.

Meanwhile there is little change in the river conditions here. Almost the entire force of the immense jam is being withstood by the highway bridge and the water has dropped off slightly as a result of the exceptionally cold weather. "Unless the main jam holds for at least a fortnight," said a vet-

CHARGED WITH UTTERING A FORGED CHECK FOR $250

Campbellton Men Brought Here by Chief Finley Face Serious Charge.

CHECH CASHED AT BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA HERE

Accused Were Remanded Until Tuesday in Police Court This Morning.

Charged with having uttered a forged cheque knowing it to be forged, Herbert Adams and Eugene Guimond, of Campbellton, were brought here last night by Chief of Police Finley from Campbellton, where they were arrested upon information wired there from here.

Adams and Guimond are said to have succeeded in cashing a forged cheque at the Fredericton branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia recently for $250, the signature of Albert Downs, of Campbellton, on the cheque having been a forgery, it is alleged.

This morning the accused appeared in the Police Court and were remanded by Police Magistrate Walter Limerick until next Tuesday morning for a preliminary examination. At the Bank of Nova Scotia this morning no statement could be obtained as to the circumstances under which the accused are said to have succeeded in getting the cheque cashed, but it is said some novel methods were introduced.

TURKS PURSUE OLD TACTICS IN NORTH SYRIA

Severe Fighting Said to Be Taking Place in Aintab Area With Armenians.

FRENCH CONTINGENT WEAK IN NUMBERS

Relief Expedition Entered Aintab in March but Later Retired.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Constantinople, April 16. — Disconcerting messages have ben received here from the Aintab area, in northern Syria, indicating that the Turks and Armenians are engaged in heavy fighting there, the Armenians occupying the American mission buildings.

The despatches that have come through are fragmentary, belated and frequently garbled. They are said to indicate, however, that a French relief expedition entered Aintab late in March, but left again. Consequently the few remaining French troops are apparently insufficient in numbers, the belief being that only the Senegalese remained in Aintab.

A Salve to Italy.

Paris, April 16.—The Journal Debats says that acording to news from Rome the British government has insisted that France relinquish its concession of the Hercates mines, which it has long held in Turkey, in order that the mining basin might be ceded to Italy, and that an agreement along these general lines has been concluded. The Italian press, according to the newspaper, stated that the question will come up at the San Remo conference.

ONTARIO JUDGE REGRETS LANGUAGE

Criticized a French-Canadian Citizen for His Ignorance of English.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Toronto, April 16.—A morning paper here took the unusual step of interviewing a high court judge, Mr. Justice Lennox, over the incident at Cornwall, in which His Lordship criticized a French-Canadian citizen for his ignorance of the English language.

Mr. Justice Lennox, in the interview, expressed regret that his utterances had wounded the feelings of any of his fellow citizens of French origin. He frankly stated that his use of the word "deport" was unfortunate, and, if taken literally, inappropriate.

To Warn Germany She Must Disarm Without Delay

Entente Nations Determine to Adopt Vigorous Action

MAY CUT OFF FOOD SUPPLIES

In Case of Any Further Revolutionary Movements in Germany.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 16.—The representatives in Berlin of France, Great Britain, Italy and Belgium will join in a warning to Germany that she must execute without delay the disarmament and demobilization clauses of the peace treaty, according to present plans.

It is understood that the charges d'affaires will also say to the government that in case the insurrectionary movements in Germany are not suppressed the Allies may refuse further deliveries of foodstuffs.

Agreement among the Allies for the execution of the Versailles treaty was reported in despatches from Paris on Thursday.

The disarmament clauses of the treaty were particularly mentioned in this connection, and a proposal to cut off food supplies from Germany was forecasted in the event of a refusal on her part to meet the provisions of these clauses.

Protest Annexation.

Liege, April 16.—A report is published here that the workingmen and merchants in the cantons of Eupon and Malmedy have decided upon a general strike in protest against annexation to Belgium.

Look for United Action.

London, April 16. — The London evening newspapers today feature prominently the semi-official statement from Paris that the Allies, on the initiative of Great Britain, are about to take energetic steps to enforce German disarmament, even to the extent of cutting off food supplies, if necessary. Most of the pournals in their editorials welcome the news unqualifiedly.

In official quarters here it is stated that the final decision regarding the situation will be taken at San Remo. Great Britain will strongly advocate the speedy enforcement of the disarmament clauses of the treaty, it is declared, although she intends to abide by the decision of the conference and does not contemplate individual action.

GERMAN TROOPS MASSED IN BERLIN

Rumors of Fresh Revolution Cause Government to Take Precautions.

Berlin, April 16. — Government troops were massed in the centre of Berlin last night, following the return of Herr Severing, Prussian Minister of the Interior, from the Ruhr district, where he was sent to conduct operations. Among the units assembled were fifteen tanks, twenty armored cars and several detachments of machine gunners, and it is presumed this military movement was a result of rumors of a new revolution impending.

Herr Severing has ordered that the public be barred from the quarter of the city containing government buildings, and the Wilhelmstrasse and Unter den Linden were held by fully armed troops all day yesterday.

Conditions in Pomerania, where reactionaries are said to be very active, are reported to be of the utmost gravity.

SONORA TROOPS MARCH ON SIMALOA

Claim that Success There Will Give Them Great Advantage Over Carranza.

Agua Prieta, Sonora, April 16.—Republic of Sonora troops today continued their march toward Culiacan, capital of the adjoining state, Sinaloa, by which move they wrested the aggressive from Carranza troops sent to force Sonora's re-entry into the Mexican federation of states.

Military authorities said a Sonora success in Sinaloa would give the seceding state the military power necessary to overcome any force President Carranza might send against them. Carranza, according to reports received by Sonora officials, press despatches and official Mexican federal reports intends sending at least three arimes against Sonora, one to atack from Sinaloa, another by landing from transports at southern ports and the third from Chihuahua on the east.

Rumors continued to be circulated throughout Sonora of the revolt of other states and federal troops in sympathy with the Sonora movement. Confirmation was lacking, however.

SAY BRITISH NOT WORKING FOR ENTENTE

Paris Paper Criticizes British Policy Regarding Turkey and Constantinople.

OVER-ASSUMPTION OF AUTHORITY CLAIMED

Says Worse Developments May Be Expected as Result of British Dictation.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 16.—The Temps, in an emphatic leader, criticizes what it terms "British over-assumption of authority" at Constantinople.

"Not only does France possess great interest in the Levant," says the paper, "but the solutions of Oriental problems will rest on European equilibrium. In the past the installing of a Prussian general at Constantinople contributed not a little to draw the Russians and English together and put them at odds with Germany.

British predominance at Constantinople and the creation of Anglo-Greek hegemony in the eastern basin of the Mediterranean means the risk of other results which may be independent of our volition, but of which our foresight should take account."

The Temps reviews the results of "British dictation" to the Sultan's government in the alienation of the nationalists' organization and rebellious states, and intimates that worse developments may be expected.

OTTAWA BRANCH UNITED VETERANS

About Fifty Returned Men Enrolled in Flynn Organization Last Evening.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 16.—The first Ottawa branch of the Grand Army of United Veterans was practically formed last night, when about fifty returned men were enrolled as members of the league.

The meeting was held purely for the purpose of preliminary organization and lasted about half an hour. It was addressed for a few minutes by J. Harry Flynn, president of the G. A. U. V., formerly known as the United Veterans' League, and Colonel Stacey, C. M. G., returned chaplain.

There is a strong probability that Ottawa will be made the headquarters of the order for the Dominion of the provincial executive of the G. A. U. W., according to Mr. Flynn, who said after the meetng that it was the intention of the present executive in Toronto to make some move to the capital.

"It is the aim of the league to make the new branch here one of the strongest in the province," he said, "and there is every indicaton that there will be little difficulty in realizing this aim."

"No, I do not think it likely," he stated, "that there will be an amalgamation between the G. W. V. A. and our organization at present. It is hardly possible that there could be until the next annual convention of the G .W. V. A. Our two constitutions do not fit in altogether, and it would be necessary for the bodies to agree on certain changes before there could be a complete amalgamation."

CALLS CONVENTION OF CONSERVATIVES

Hon. Robert Rogers Announces a Dominion-Wide Convention at Toronto May 10.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, April 16.—Hon. Robert Rogers made the interesting announcement last night that a "round table conference" of representatives of the Liberal-Conservative party would be held in Toronto on or about May 10th. The ex-Minister of Public Works, and certain other Conservatives, some of them members of the House of Commons, have for more than a year past been expressing dissatisfaction with the present position of their party in so far as federal affairs are concerned. They have contended that the present fusion of political elements brought about to secure support for war policies, particularly for the policy of compulsory military service, makes for procrastination in administration and tends to compromises involving sacrifices of Conservative principles.

Mr. Rogers himself has not hesitated to state his opinion and to call for a return to party lines and reorganization of the Liberal-Conservative party as an active force in Dominion affairs apart from the Union idea. He and some of his associates have been for some time engaged in endeavoring to sound public opinion on the project by conferences with party leaders in the different provinces and by sending out a questionaire to Conservatives in various parts of the country. The replies received, they say, disclose a sentiment in favor of their plan and of the holding of a party convention. Mr. Rogers was in Montreal for several days this week, came to Ottawa Wednesday and left for Toronto last night.

Whether or not the round table conference is intended to assume the proportions of a national convention of the party is not definitely stated in Mr. Rogers' statement. The ex minister says that the delegates to the meeting will be selected from the duly organized ranks of the Liberal-Conservative party in all the provinces, that the gathering will have the advantage of compactness and may be expected to transact busines with despatch. The question of policy, Mr. Rogers touches only in general terms for the present. He does, however, declare his belief that the old National Policy, "with certain necessary modern improvements, is the policy to preserve our Canadian heritage for the Canadian people."

In the meantime Unionist members of the Commons are hoping that before the present session ends a platform, including a tariff plank, upon which they and the Government can stand and appeal to the country, will be promulgated. Several of the ministers who have spoken on the platform on this question have indicated that for their part they favor a policy of moderate protection. Unionist members also have had several discussions in caucus of the proposals laid before them by Sir Robert Borden last session. Upon these proposals is to be based a programme which, many members hope, will result in the perpetuation of the Unionist party.

Montreal, April 16.—Z. A. Thibodeau, former Secretary of the Montreal Tramway employees mutual benefit association, who pleaded guilty to misappropriating $20,000 from the association funds, was yesterday sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

A BRITISH LOAN TO ARGENTINA

A Triangular Transaction by Which Britain Pays Off Part of Debt.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Buenos Aires, April 16.—The arrangement whereby the British government will loan Argentina $50,000,000 to pay off the six per cent. five-year loan of that amount due to New York bankers on May 15th, is in reality a sort of triangular transaction by which Great Britain pays off part of the $100,000,000 she owes Argentina, it is learned from an authoritative source. The latter debt was contracted by Great Britain with Argentina in 1918, in the form of a credit for the purchase of wheat.

It is understood that in view of Great Britain shipping gold to the United States, Great Britain agreed with the Argentina Minister in London to ship fifty million dollars for the account of Argentina, which will stand as a British loan to this country at five per cent. until January next, when, unless other arrangements are made, it is expected Great Britain will charge the sum to Argentina in paying off the one hundred million dollar debt.

A. had protested that as the government had received these lands back practically for nothing, the lands should have been thrown open under homestead regulations.

DELIVERED ULTIMATUM TO STRIKERS

Outlaw Railwaymen Given Until Saturday Noon to Return to Work.

TO FILL POSITIONS OF THOSE WHO REFUSE

Action of Federal Labor Board Awaited With Interest by Both Sides.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

A declaration by the United States Federal Railway Labor Board of the terms on which it will take up adjustment of striking railroad men's grievances was awaited with keen interest today by strikers and officials of the lines south of the border. Many of the men, confronted with an ultimatum from their employers that they must return to work by Sunday noon, or be dropped permanently, were said to hope that the board would make it possible for them to return to work and still gain a hearing on their grievances.

The employers were confident that [illegible] from the board that it was ready to take up the problem would accentuate the drift back to work which they declare has been going on steadily during the last forty-eight hours.

The ultimatum to the strikers was delivered last night by the General Manager's Association of New York, in a communication to officials of the "Big Four" railroad brotherhoods. The brotherhoods were given until noon Saturday to get their men back to work. The managers then proposed to give any stragglers twenty-four hours' additional time, after which they declared their books will be closed and the positions of all strikers filled.

Optimistic reports were issued by road officials in virtually all parts of the United States this morning. Conditions were reported to be improving rapidly in the central and far west, while slower but steady progress was being made in breaking the tie-up in the east. The most encouraging feature to officials in the east was the decision of striking firemen in Hoboken to ask the Mayor of Jersey City to use his influence with the roads to have all men taken back without prejudice.

Casualties in Pennsylvania.

Connelsville, Pa., April 16.—Two men were shot and killed and three others wounded in the Baltimore & Ohio yard here last night when a number of railroad detectives engaged in a fight with five negroes who some time ago threatened to "get" the detectives.

Ben Kohut, 35 years, of this place, one of the detectives, was killed instantly when a bullet struck him in the chest. James Wright, negro, of Johnstown, Pa., died a few minutes after being wounded. The three wounded were negroes.

CLOSE ALBERTA LIQUOR HOUSES

Export Houses to Go Out of Business on May 10 Under Terms of Act Passed.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Edmonton, Alta., April 16.—Export liquor houses in Alberta will go out of business under the provisions of the act just passed by the legislature on May 10, thirty days after the passage of the act being allowed them before the closure takes place. Sixty-seven export houses now doing business within the province will be affected by the closing order. It is understood that the liquor exporters propose testing out the new legislation and will possibly appeal to the courts. According to the terms of the new act only Dominion bonded warehouses will be permitted in Alberta after May 10. Licenses for such establishments will be issued from Ottawa, after consultation with the Alberta Attorney General, whose sanction it is understood must be secured before licenses are issued. The Attorney General has already intimated that he will not sanction such licenses.

Opposition Party Move to Force Provincial Government To Fill the Vacancy Existing in Carleton Since May 1917 By Issuing the Writ Before the House Goes Into Supply

Dr. Baxter Moves Amendment to That Effect to the Supply Motion at Conclusion of Powerful Speech After Temporarily Taking Over Leadership of Opposition Party as Hon. J. A. Murray Has Been Called to the Pacific Coast on Urgent Business—Liberal Principles Entirely Forgotten by the Present Administration, He Says.

Hon. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, former Attorney General, signallized his temporary acceptance of the duties of leader of the Opposition in the Legislature yesterday afternoon by moving an amendment to the motion that the House go into Supply, to the effect that "consideration and granting of Supply be not considered until after the issue of a writ for filling the vacancy in the representation of the County of Carleton that has existed since the month of May, 1917."

The amendment came at the conclusion of one of the most powerful speeches ever heard in the Legislature, easily the gem of the present session, and it dropped upon an unsuspecting Premier and Government, who, in their bewilderment, saw no other course open to them than to cause the adjournment of the debate to give them a breathing space and some way of endeavoring to extract themselves from the dilemma. Hon. C. W. Robinson, member of the Government without portfolio, moved the adjournment of the debate after a consultation, it being the second occasion that he had come to the rescue of the administration in that capacity.

Dr. Baxter's speech, while couched in moderate language, was one of those logical, effective arguments that only a brilliant and trained legal mind could evolve. He dealt very largely with the lack of consistency on the part of the present administration and its individual members, not only in matters of general policy but in carrying out the specific principles laid down by Liberalism, and in this way led up in a clever and interesting manner to the crowning feature—the vacancy which has been existing since May, 1917, in Carleton county.

HON. J. A. MURRAY GOES TO THE PACIFIC COAST

Members on the Government side as well as the Opposition supporters were not slow to pronounce the contribution of Hon. Dr. Baxter to the debate as the leading speech of the session. He talked for not more than an hour, and every sentence fairly bristled with the eloquence of a trained speaker. His comparisons of the records of the present and other administrations were striking, while his similes were timely and he evoked much applause by the clever manner in which he likened the present Government to the beautiful Marie Antoinette and the bad end of "Madame Deficit."

Hon. J. A. Murray, leader of the Opposition, left yesterday afternoon for the Pacific Coast on urgent private business, and for the balance of the session Hon. Dr. Baxter will lead the Opposition forces.

When the House opened Mr. Murray said that as it had become necessary for him to leave the province on urgent private business he would ask for leave of absence for himself for the remainder of the session. For the information of the House he wished to say that Mr. Baxter would act as Opposition leader during his absence.

Mr. Baxter, on the order of the day being called, rose to continue the debate on the budget. He said it was not his intention to add to the intensity of the debate, although he was bound to say that, excepting the speech of the Minister of Public Works, he had not thus far seen evidence of much intensity. That hon. member in the course of his remarks had indulged in some pleasantries, but his address had been intensified by the outstanding personal pronoun.

Hon. Mr. Veniot—I was taught that by the hon. gentleman.

Mr. Baxter, continuing, said he was reminded of an incident which occurred some years ago when he met in a street car a gentleman from whom he had derived some of his early political ideas. He had remarked that the feet of the master had wandered away to other parts but the pupil had remained steadfast. He thought the reverse of that would apply to the Minister of Public Works. To see how much that hon. gentleman enjoyed himself was a source of enjoyment to those who sat to the left of the Speaker.

NO TANGIBLE RESULTS FROM NEW AUDIT ACT

The budget debate in former times had been limited to a discussion of the finances of the country, but under the present day interpretation a discussion of world events was permitted, and there was no limit as to the scope. The money was voted by the people to the Crown, but the Crown and people are essentially the same. There was almost as much uncertainty as to the meaning of the hieroglyphics on the tombs of Egypt as there was in regard to the meaning of the man who recorded the provincial accounts.

When his hon. friends took office with their mantle of purity, they promised a clean administration and a system of accounts so clear that a man travelling with the swiftness of an airplane could readily see through the darkness which had prevailed under previous governments.

Whatever had been the faults of the old system he could say without respect to party that the accounts of the province had been fairly and honestly kept. There may have been mistakes, but the people were always able to get from them what information they wanted. The new system gave no beter results than the one which preceded it. An element of inefficiency appeared to enter into it and destroy its functions. That could not be the fault of the Provincial Treasurer. That hon. member in statements to the House had given assurance that the accounts were absolutely correct and he had been generous in his praise of the system of bookkeeping. He hoped some day that the House would have a flood of light on the mystery conected with the accounts. Those on his side of the House were sadly upset by columns of figures which could not be made to agree. He had no thought of alleging wrong doing, but he did not feel that the accounts fairly represented the result of the payments. There was no point in saying that there was fraud in connection with the public accounts, but the accounts did not agree and did not give the information which the people were entitled to and which had been promised by the Provincial Secretary.

The new audit act was to remedy all the sins of the preceding Government; his hon. friends had not used the term preceding Governments, as they had been careful in regard to the feelings of an ex-minister who now occupied a seat in the House. They probably had in mind another member of a former administration who occupied an honorable position as a member of the present Government. He (Baxter) did not wish to dwell upon ancient issues, but would say that the accounts under the old system gave satisfaction. He would challenge his hon. friends to show any tangible results that had been derived from the change. The act had required the Provincial Secretary to sign the cheques, but he had not done that and an amendment had relieved him of the duty. There had been one change, however, which would always throw everlasting credit upon the Government. In the past an official had been known by the almost contemptible title of Auditor General, but now he was known by the transcendent title of Comptroller General. That was all that had come out of the new act.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD SET EXAMPLE IN ECONOMY

From the published accounts he learned that the capital liabilities on October 31st, 1917, were $17,827,938. On October 31st, 1919, they were given as $22,241,936.75. That meant an increase in two years under the present administration of $4,413,998. He could almost see the Minister of Public Works bursting with impatience to rise and tell the House that bills had been paid which were contracted by the old Government. He wished to say that that was the fate of every Government, as no administration could go out of office without leaving some public works uncompleted. He would strike out from the total the item of $450,000 expended on the St. John & Quebec Railway, the $600,000 borrowd under the Housing Act and several other items which made up $1,202,486.77. Subtracting that amount from the capital liabilities showed that the present Government had been responsible for an increase in the debt of $3,204,511.50, which was at the rate of $1,600,000 a year.

He was not going to discuss the question as to whether value had been obtained for the money; but, if he could assume that it had been obtained, it was questionable to his mind whether or not the province had been justified in increasing its debt to the extent he had referred to. Every man should try to keep his expenses within his income, and it was just as important for a nation to do that as an individual. The expenditures by the Government had been characterized by a spirit which was today dominating a very large part of the world. The ravages of war had brought about extravagance in peaceful pursuits. The flame seemed to have spread to the body politic and burned out the old humble idea of thrift. People were spending money on all sorts of things they thoght they needed, and as long as they did that the cost of living would not come down. He considered it just as unwise for a Government to expend money unwisely as it was for an individual.

The accounts showed an expenditure of $777,960 on permanent roads and $11,569.89 for smallpox and influenza, which made a total of $789,530.68. He recalled that hon. members oposite during their first session had described as scandalous the action of the former Government in borrowing $61,000 from current revenue and using it to pay current liabilities. They said it was an improper thing to do, yet the Government had followed the same practice last year to extent of $790,000. He charged that the Minister of Public Works had expended the sum of $777,000 without the authority of the Legislature. The chartered accountants had given their "view" that the money had been expended on permanent roads. He (Baxter) felt that if the roads were really permanent there would be less said about them in the House and country. He noticed, however, that the 'permanent" roads had become "durable" roads, and in another year they might not be roads at all. Per-

Daughters of the Empire Suggest New Text Books for Schools in New Brunswick

Recommend Histories to the Board of Education for Adoption for the Schools—Want Hearst Publications Barred—Officers Elected.

The Provincial Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, at the concluding session of their convention here yesterday afternoon, passed a resolution at the suggestion of Passamaquoddy Chapter of St. Andrews protesting against the sale of Hearst publications in Canada and another resolution suggesting changes in the text books in the public schools of New Brunswick.

In connection with the text books a recommendation was made to the Board of Education of consideration of the following books for use in the schools of the province: Warner's Short History of Great Britain, adapted for Canadian schools by C. Fryes, M.A., Ph.D., and The Junior History of Canada by Lillian M. Hendry.

The following resolution was moved by Mrs. M. G. Teed, of St. John, seconded by Mrs. W. I. Fenton, of St. John, and carried:

"Whereas the matter of education of our children is one of the fundamental purposes of our Order;

"And whereas, for such education in the public schools the best text books available should be in use;

"And whereas, by inquiry and comparison, we find the text books in use in our schools are not the best:

"Therefore resolved, that it is advisable for the more efficient work of the teachers and more satisfactory results of the pupils, that a change be made in certain school books used in the public schools of New Brunswick."

It was moved by Mrs. G. C. Van Wart, seconded by Mrs. A. J. Gregory, and carried, that the Provincial Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire send a resolution to the national convention of the appreciation of the work already done by "Echo" and of hope for its continued good in the future.

Prof. Fletcher Peacock gave an interesting address on Vocational work and at its conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Peacock for the excellent address given.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Miss Kathleen Taylor, of This City, Interestingly Reviewed the Work of the Past Year.

Miss Kathleen Taylor, secretary of the Provincial Chapter of the I. O. D. E., read the following report of the work done during the past year:

During the year there have been held two quarterly, ten executive monthly and several special meetings, with a good attendance at each.

Throughout the year the secretary has sent out all notices for meetings, synopsis of those meetings to each chapter, and forwarded all literature from head office to the primary chapters.

An exact memorandum cannot be made of correspondence, owing to the change of secretaries.

The receipts for the year were $5,-$32.89, and the expenditures $5,397.00. Money raised by chapters under the Provincial, $28,734.03.

New Chapters Organized.

I might here mention the great help it has proved having a municipal chapter in St. John, as it has greatly lessened the detailed work for the Provincial secretary. There are twenty-eight primary chapters now in New Brunswick, four more than last year, making the membership approximately eleven hundred and fifty. The order is steadily growing and by the next annual we hope to have many more chapters. The new chapters organized during the year were:

The Lieutenant Colonel Boyd Anderson—Moncton.

The Passamaquoddy—St. Andrews.

Lord Beaverbrook—Newcastle.

The Carleton Soldiers' Memorial—Woodstock.

We shall no doubt hear a more detailed account of these chapters from the organizing secretary's report.

Never before had the provincial chapter been so well represented at the national annual meeting, as it was last May in Montreal. Among those privileged to listen to the splendid speakers, and at first hand hear how work is carried out on a national basis were, Mrs. FitzRandolph, Mrs. VanWart, Mrs. George K. McLeod, Mrs. B. C. Foster, Mrs. A. J. Gregory, Mrs. A. B. Pipes, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Hugh MacKay, the latter having had the honor of being elected standard bearer for the national chapter.

We have six life members of the national chapter, Mrs. VanWart, Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, Mrs. Hugh MacKay, Mrs. J. Boyle Travers, Mrs. John Morrison and Miss Hegan.

The national councillors in New Brunswick are, Mrs. FitzRandolph, ex-officio, Mrs. Hugh MacKay and Mrs. Van Wart.

Work Taken Up During Year.

The New Brunswick chapters have worked for the following during the year:

The War Memorial, upon which many were privileged to hear Mrs. McDougald, of Montreal, and one of the Publicity Committee of that fund, speak very fully, giving her audience a more clear idea for what we are working. She also spoke in Moncton and was to have visted Fredericton, but, to our great disappointment, was obliged to return home.

For the Navy League tag days were held, house-to-house canvasses made in order to secure subscriptions, and a greater part of the primary chapters made donations.

The Victorian Order of Nurses and Child Welfare are closely combined in New Brunswick. For the first time in years the quarterly meeting was held in the eastern part of the province, when it met in Moncton in October. The Westmorland county members extended cordial hospitality and a pleasant and interesting day was spent by the visiting delegates. It was regrettable that more could not have been present to hear Mrs. Hannington, superintendent of the Victorian order, as she gave a most interesting address on Child Welfare. While almost all chapters help with the upkeep of a nurse, The Duke of Rothesay is the only one providing one unaided.

Several chapters organized War Savings Societies during the Thrift Stamp Campaign.

I. O. D. E. Scholarship to U. N. B.

Under the school prizes and libraries comes the I. O. D. E. Scholarship to the University of New Brunswick, a small but valued token of appreciation to the returned boy making the highest average in his senior year. The Sir Howard Douglas chapter had the honor of suggesting this. Then prizes have been offered and won in all grades in the public schools for essays on patriotic subjects, libraries and flag charts were presented to several schools and the Lord Sackville chapter provided a course in sight singing in the public school in Sackville.

The celebration of Peace Day was general among the chapters many taking part in parades, entertainments, etc.

Hospital work covers a large field, and although the war is over, our efforts for the sick soldiers have not slackened during the year. Visits of cheer have been made, entertainments arranged, pianos and libraries presented, subscriptions to magazines renewed, records for victrolas, motor drives, delicacies and comforts provided, and Moncton chapters furnished the recreation room at River Glade sanitarium, and gave an operating table to a hospital.

A start has been made towards Boy Scouts in St. John.

Miss Warner's French Relief has had many subscriptions and several chapters sent bundles of clothing.

The order was honored when Mrs. Atherton Smith and Mrs. Frank S. White had conferred upon them the Distinguished Medal of Queen Elizabeth in recognition of their services in the cause of Belgian relief.

Presented 26th Colors.

St. John was privileged in having the honor of being the landing place for the Prince of Wales when he visited Canada in the fall.

His Royal Highness presented the colors to the 26th Battalion, which were the gift of the Royal Standard chapter, and requested that the regent, Mrs. E. Atherton Smith, be introduced to him.

In February last a provincial chapter was organized in Ontario. Congratulations and good wishes were sent by telegram to Mrs. John Stewart from this, the provincial chapter of New Brunswick.

This message was acknowledged with thanks and appreciation of kind thought.

We are glad to welcome home our trained nurses and V. A. D's from overseas. We indeed, have cause to be proud of them. Several are holding offices in chapters, and their experience while abroad should be of great value to us.

Commemorate Honored Dead.

During the war the St. John chapters set aside a sum to provide a permanent memorial in a consecrated spot, to commemorate the heroism of our Honored Dead. This monument was unveiled with impressive ceremony in the place presented in Fernhill cemetery.

At the January quarterly meeting the resolution re the restoration of Fort Cumberland was passed. The Minister of Militia was petitioned and in due time his answer was received to the effect that the subject should have his every attention.

The executive regret the changes of officers in several chapters, although they are sure the new ones will "carry on," and it must be highly gratifying for the retiring officers to pass their work on to such good and willing hands.

In this brief review of our year's work much has been omitted, but it has been enough to encourage us and make us feel we have gone steadily ahead, and we look confidently forward to a greater usefulness in the future.

With best wishes for an even better coming year,

Very respectfully submitted,

KATHLEEN M. TAYLOR,
Provincial Secretary.

MORALITY'S SINGLE STANDARD.

In a platform which Mr. William Jennings Bryan recently has propounded in Collier's Weekly for the Democratic party in the United States, he has given voice to a demand which is likely to arise from every quarter in the country. Mr. Bryan calls for an amending of his country's constitution to insure that the nation's men and women shall be judged by the single moral standard. Mr. Bryan is first appealing to his own state of Nebraska to initiate the movement, in which he is more than likely to be strongly supported; and it is quite probable that his voice will be heard all over the States between this and the convention in June advocating the one moral standard. He is expected to be the nominator of the Democratic presidential candidate; but while there may be uncertainty as to what that may be, it is very much to be doubted if the convention will refuse to adopt the Bryan appeal for the one standard in morals governing men and women; and it will receive the tremendous support which giving the suffrage to women will accord it. In appealing to his own state Mr. Bryan says: "I would like to see "the state of Nebraska raise here the "banner of the next great moral re-"form by writing into the constitution "the single standard of morality. All "legislation rests upon a theory, and "that theory should be stated in the "constitution. You will necessarily "endorse, by implication at least, the "single standard or the double stand-"ard. I urge the endorsement of the "single standard—no segregation of "sin, no licensing of vice, the penal-"ties for immorality enforced impar-"tially against the two sexes. That is, "in my judgment, to be the next great "moral reform, and I hope to see "Nebraska lead the fight. The women "are here, their consciences will be "with [illegible] influence will help "[illegible] discriminate "against woman and give to the im-"moral man a respectability that we "deny to her? I beg you to consider "whether this is not the time for "Nebraska to endorse the single "standard of morality. Man and "woman will stand side by side before "the judgment bar of God, if they "must stand on an equality there, we "should not give one of them an "advantage over the other in the tri-"bunals which man creates. The "country went more than half way "toward the elimination of the social "evil when it banished the drinking "place. But the advent of woman into "politics makes the present time even "more opportune—in fact, compels "society to give attention to an evil "that brazenly reduces woman to the "basis of the brute and measures her "value in physical terms only. In "speaking to the members of the Ne-"braska Constitutional Convention, I "made, I repeat, only three applica-"tions of the theory upon which I "would have them write the Constit-"ution of my state: First, no segrega-"tion of sin; second, no licensing of "vice; third, the penalties for immor-"ality to be enforced impartially "against the two sexes."

LESSON FOR GERMANY.

France has averted the next great war, or postponed that war for the next fifty years, says the Toronto Telegram.

Germany was steering straight for a position in relation to the Allies that Turkey occupied in relation to the concert of Europe.

Turkey could not be forced to refrain from a continuous massacre of the Armenians without the unanimous consent of all the powers in the concert of Europe. Unanimity of the powers was unattainable and Turkey was never restrained or regulated.

Germany tried to reduce the Peace Treaty to a scrap of paper that could not be enforced unless all the powers were prepared to act together. France has established the Peace Treaty as a covenant that can and will be enforced when Germany's next door neighbors are prepared to act.

Germany imagined that the treaty was in the hands of an international debating society, that was never prepared to do anything but talk. Germany has learned that the treaty is in the hands of at least two nations—Belgium and France—that are always prepared to act.

LLOYD-GEORGE KNOWS HOW TO FIGHT.

Old Country Labor party leaders are busy explaining that their movement is not as black and dangerous as it is painted in the descriptive eloquence of Lloyd-George, remarks an exchange.

Unionist leaders explained that the House of Lords and other representatives of the privileged classes were not truthfully described in the campaign speeches of Lloyd-George.

Old Country electors took Lloyd-George's word for it in regard to the character of the House of Lords. Old Country electors may take Lloyd-George's word for it in regard to the character of the Labor movement. If Lloyd-George is a slanderer, his speeches usually make the slanders stick. The nation never produced a political strategist superior to Lloyd-George in a genius for choosing the right issue to fight on and the right time to fight.

Old Country Labor leaders may escape a fight on terms dictated by Lloyd-George. That party will be the first political organization to escape the wiles of a leader who chooses his own issue and chooses his own time. Lloyd-George always fights on terms that give the maximum of advantage to himself and the maximum of disadvantage to his enemies.

THE CARLETON COUNTY VACANCY.

The amendment to the motion for the Legislature to go into Supply which was moved yesterday afternoon by Dr. Baxter puts the question of adequate representation, one of the most important principles of democratic government, squarely up to the members of the House. Supporters of the present Government have so far done little but gain reputations as docile followers willing to sink the interests of their constituencies and even the very principles for which as Liberals they delight to proclaim they stand, if by so doing political advantage or personal ends can be furthered. Ever since May, 1917, when the death of the late Mr. White occurred, the people of Carleton county have been without their full representation in the Legislature, and the situation has become so scandalous that at least two of the Government's supporters have openly expressed disapproval of the administration's failure to live up to the principles for which it purports to stand. The amendment admittedly came as a surprise to the Government, who were forced to hurriedly adjourn the debate, and developments will be watched with much interest.

What a paradox, says the Manchester Guardian, if Ulster should accept Home Rule, which she has never wanted and vowed she would never take, and if Britain should have to impose it by force on Southern Ireland, which has always virtually asked for it. Sir Edward Carson says Ulster will have her Parliament, and make it a success. The South says it won't have any parliament except the only kind it cannot get, and which could not be a success were it proffered. Sinn Fein advanced to demand a republic, and now Cardinal Logue says he wants Ireland to remain within the British Empire.

Single men receiving present minimum of $939, for over five years, will receive a salary of $1,260, plus a bonus of $162; total $1,422.

TELEPHONE CASE AGAIN POSTPONED

St. John, April 16.—The application of the New Brunswick Telephone Company for permission to increase its service rates and to re-classify exchanges was again before the Public Utilities Commission at an adjourned meeting in the Government rooms yesterday afternoon, but the matter was again postponed until Wednesday, April 28, through the fact that no one has been appointed to succeed G. O. Dickson Otty, whose term of office as chairman of the commission expired a few days ago.

J. M. McIntyre, of Sackville, agreed that it would be best to postpone the hearing until a chairman were appointed. He expressed regret upon the expiration of Mr. Otty's term of office. Mr. Connell also spoke upon the retirement of Mr. Otty, saying it was a loss to the interest of public affairs that would not only be felt by the commission but by the people in general.

GRAND TRUNK BILL BEFORE THE HOUSE

Bill to Ratify and Make Binding the Agreement Made With G. T. R. Company.

[Special Havas despatch by Leased Wire]

Ottawa, April 16.—Voluminous correspondence dealing with doubts expressed as to the legal sufficiency of the methods adopted for summoning the meeting of stockholders of the Grand Trunk Railway Co. to ratify the agreement whereby the Dominion of Canada is to acquire control of the Grand Trunk system was read by Hon. J. D. Reid in the Commons yesterday. It was presented by the Minister of Railways in explanation of a section of his bill to confirm the agreement between the Dominion Government and the Grand Trunk Railway Co. for the acquisition by the former of the capital stock of the corporation. The bill, second reading of which the Minister moved, calls in the first place for correction of one of the schedules of the agreement by inserting the name of a subsidiary company omitted from the original draft and altering the description of another subsidiary company. The second section of the proposed measure, however, enacts: "The said agreement, as corrected as aforesaid, is hereby declared to have been sufficiently ratified by the holders of stocks of Grand Trunk as required by Section 7 of said Act, and to be binding and effective, and is hereby in all respects ratified and confirmed, as the agreement authorized by the said Act and for all the purposes of the same."

It was this section which aroused interest in the House, inasmuch as last session it was held that ratification of the agreement by Parliament, after its execution, would be unnecessary. It was then contended that Parliament, in passing the statute upon which the agreement was based was virtually approving of the agreement itself.

It now appears, from Dr. Reid's statement, that some question has been raised as to whether or not the meeting of Grand Trunk stockholders, held in March last, was properly convened, inasmuch as Canadian stockholders in the Great Western Railway were not asked to attend.

It looks as if the bill would give rise to some debate before it passes the Commons. Mackenzie-King, leader of the Opposition, was not prepared to proceed with the discussion today, and secured an adjournment of the debate to permit himself and his followers to peruse the correspondence.

The Stock Market

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York (Wall Street), April 16.—Stocks were irregular within narrow limits at the opening of today's trading probably as a result of yesterday's flurry in the money market. Several of the steels, equipments, oils and specialties were lower, but these were offset by further confident buying of vanadium and replogle steels and consolidated textile, all at new high records. Motors and their specialties, also shippings and sugar shares made substantial gains, practically all the liberty bonds and victory notes made new low records.

BAD WEATHER FOR SEEDING IN WEST

Winnipeg, April 15.—All reports on seeding activties today indicate that a further setback will result from present weather conditions.

In Manitboa, while the days are warm, this progress is offset by cool nights, and in some localities considerable snow remains.

Calgary reports another fall of snow last night and prospects for seeding in central and northern Alberta are not promising before the end of the month.

In Moose Jaw, the worst blizzard of the season took place last night.

ELEVATOR MEN STRIKE.

New York, April 16.—Seventeen thousand elevator employees operating in nearly all the city's largest skyscrapers, stores and business structures, last night were ordered to go out on strike at nine this morning. A SPRING POEM

"CLEANLINESS IS NEXT TO GODLINESS."
—KORAN.

"Oh, woman, in thine hours of ease
Uncertain, coy and hard to please,
When cleaning house bedew the brow,
Hustling Angel thou."

Oh, man, with boots outside the door,
Beware for tacks bestrew the floor;
Fail not to rise early the carpets to beat,
All must be done before breakfast you eat.

Forget not the musical stovepipes to clean;
Say not you are weary—'tis only your "spleen"—
With soot on your hands and black on your nose
And dust on your everyday second best clothes.

With such visions as these in your practical mind,
Remember 'tis well to appease womankind;
And nothing will please her as well as to say:—
"My Dear, choose your Carpets and Curtains at EDGECOMBE'S today."

To be in proper keeping with the demands of the times, Miss Phyllis Squall had had a patriotic song specially compiled for her.

In due time the night arrived for her to present the new song.

She was just finishing the third and last verse when she decided to call up every possible effort for one final spurt in the last line, which was the title of the song, namely, "I wonder if he'll miss me?"

She rendered this in such a way that it seemed to have a direct appeal to the audience.

"Well, if he does, miss, heought never to be trusted with a gun again!" shouted a gentleman in the gallery.

No Use.

Young Bill wanted ta slip out of barracks—unofficially—to see his girl, says the Minneapolis News, and he went to his friend the sentry and stated the case.

"Well," said the sentry, "I'll be off duty when you come back, so you ought to have the password for tonight. It's 'Idiosyncrasy.'"

"Idio what!"

"Idiosyncrasy."

"I'll stay in barracks," said young Bill.

FROM THE PEOPLE

JUSTICE TO SOLDIERS.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Will you kindly allow me a small space in your newspaper, with reference to the criticism of the returned man, by the so-called Uncle Ruben.

I would like to ask him where he got such good facts from. He stated in the first place that the returned man when receiving the first gratuity squandered it in useless things. Does he mean to say that they all did that? As for my part, I bought furniture for the home to make my wife comfortable, and also clothed myself. These were essentials, I think. He also spoke of pensions, with his son involved. If this son is disabled, he would not have to make applications for pension, as it would go through automatically upon being discharged. So my opinion on that subject is that the wound in the knee did not cause sufficient disability to entitle him to a pension, so he therefore did not sacrifice so much as Uncle tried to make the public believe. I am sure that if he was disabled, like a good lot of us, he would look for fairness by being compensated according to his disability.

Now lots of people are of the opinion that Canada's returned men are being treated more fairly than any other Allies in the war. Where do they get this idea? Mostly from the newspapers, and that's where they make their mistake, like I did once. I picked up the paper and read that all pensions had been raised. The people started to say, "I see the Government is doing well for the returned men, they have raised the pensions again." But what is it that they don't publish? This is it. Just after the pensions were raised we were called to St. John, individually, to what they called a re-examination board. What happened? They cut off the amount that it had been raised, with a few more dollars besides. I failed to see that published the next day. No, everything you read of is in favor of the Government. It's all right for some of these people to talk about their love for the country. I love my country, which is Great Britain, and before I'd see the country under such brutal people as the Germans I'd go to fight again, for my sake and the country's sake as well, but because I want fair justice from the country I fought for that doesn't mean to say I am a traitor.

The war tax on amusements and luxuries could be sacrificed to the returned men, the country wouldn't miss that. What do you think, Uncle?

Yours,
ONE OF THE BOYS.

Fredericton, N. B., April 13, 1920.

A LONELY YOUNG MAN.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I am a young man, 21 years of age, and am wondering if any of your readers know of an organization in which a stranger might find friendship instead of the usual coldness that greets the person who joins a club without being acquainted with someone in that club.

When a child I was delicate in health, did not mingle with friends, and had little desire to do so. Now I find myself eager for companionship but am forced to live a very lonely life, and have led a lonely life for several years. I have no brothers or sisters, and as my folks do not care very much for social life I have practically no opportunity to meet those of my own age. Of course it is very easy to become acquainted with those of bad character of either sex, but I want only the companionship of respectable persons.

The result is that I am a very unhappy young man, and if any reader can tell me of an organization where a young man can meet plain, respectable people who are not as distant and cold as an iceberg, I would much appreciate same.

Yours,
A LONELY YOUNG MAN.

Moncton, N. B., April 15, 1920.

ENTERTAIN THE GIRLS.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Recently I have noticed letters in your "From the People" column from young girls who are lonesome and are compelled to remain home evenings, not knowing people, not belonging to any kind of a club or organization which might help them socially and yet give them the right kind of entertainment.

We read about the dance halls. Where are these people to go? Are these so-called religious and society organizations doing anything to better these conditions? In writing this letter I am not criticizing what is being done to expose these places, but if these places are what they say they are—and I am sure that conditions are such from what I have seen—why don't these people do something to remedy the situation?

Let them form some sort of an organization, where dues will be required, where dancing is allowed, where members will be required to give first class reference in order to belong, where young men and young women of the middle class who want to be decent and yet enjoy the privileges of an evening's entertainment can go. And last, but not least, let this organization be not one of those charity affairs.

Yours,
J. N. L.

Opposition Move to Force Government

sonally he favored good roads and he believed the people demanded them in excess of what the province could afford to give. If the Government spent by borrowing, instead out of current revenue, the time would come when they would be unable to continue borrowing because of the enormous burden of interest. What had happened the roads would be less permanent and tehr would be no money to put them back. He held that it was wrong to put capital into ordinary roads that would not stand the life of the bonds. For doing that the Government might get public commendation for a time, but the day would come when it would be the cause of dissatisfaction.

LIKE "MADAME DEFICIT" WILL MEET A BAD END

The Government was the first to express joy over an infant, usually considered an undesirable member of the family. He never before saw a Government joyous over a deficit. He thought an event relating to the French revolution should be heeded by his hon. friends opposite. It had to do with the beautiful Marie Antoinette, who had become Queen of France. She had been welcomed to the throne just as his hon. friends had been welcomed to the Government benches, but she had step by step imposed heavy burdens on the people and finally her growing unpopularity had found expression. Her portrait was removed from the frame and the words "Madame Deficit" was substituted. What had hapepned afterwards? The people of France arose against that dynasty and "Madame Deficit" went to a bad end.

The current accounts of the province for 1918 had shown a deficit of $134,656.98. In 1919 there was a deficit of $327,686.15, which made a total of $462,343.13 for the two years. He thought that was pretty good, but they should wait and see what would happen next year. In three years the deficits of the Government had totaled over $800,000, which went to show that they had done little better than their predecessors in the deficit business. The time had arrived when either the revenue had to be increased or the expenditure decreased. No matter how many chartered acountants were employed nothing else was possible. The Government had promised to bring about an increase of revenue during the present year from the lumbering industry. They had last year collected from stumpage the sum of $568,383. This year they estimated a revenue from stumpage of $1,200,000, which meant $1 for every two that had been collected last year. They had refused to increase the rate of stumpage to $7, yet it would require a very large increase in order to collect the amount that had been estimated. He believed they would increase the stumpage, but the next year would show that his prediction that $1,200,000 could not b collected was amply justified. He would repeat that the estimate for the stumpage could not be fulfilled and "Madame Deficit" would fit arises the stage one more.

A THEOLOGIAN AS A EXPERT ON TAXATION

He was given to understand that the Government did not propose to depend altogether on the stumpage as a means of increasing the revenue. He believed that the question of imposing the real thing in direct taxation was under consideration. For some time a gentleman with a knowledge of philosophy and theology had been engaged to devise ways and means by which direct taxes could be wrung out of the province. The Government might as well put on the screws of direct taxation as to make the claim that they would get $1,200,000 from stumpage when there was little chance of getting $900,000. They should take the House into their confidence when ways and means were being discussed.

He wished to tell hon. members that he enjoyed good roads as well as the next one and frequently drove over them in the summer months. When a member of the Government he had given some attention to the Marsh road at St. John. He had not asked for a permanent highway, as he felt it would be unfair to other parts of the province to incur such a large expenditure. He may have been wrong in taking the stand he did, but he felt that a good gravel road would serve the purpose. He found by consulting the accounts that the present Government had expended on the roads leading from St. John to Rothesay the sum of $131,351.95, and that in spite of the fact that one mile of it had been completed before they took office.

Hon. Mr. Veniot—We entirely reconstructed that one mile of road.

Mr. Baxter said he would accept the statement; but it only showed the Government had expended money where it was not needed. It would have been better had they made an effort to provide better road accommodation for the people of Chance Harbor and Dipper Harbor.

Hon. Mr. Veniot—You did not do it when you were in power.

Mr. Baxter said he had looked after the roads in those sections but had not gone around with his head in the air and flapping his wings and crowing about it.

SHAKING A STICK AT FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

Mr. Baxter, continuing, said the Provincial Secretary had expressed some dissatisfaction over the treatment the province was receiving from the Federal Government. He did not think the proper spirit was being cultivated in regard to a matter of that kind. It afforded a large field for useful work and should not be approached in a partizan manner. The House was after all only a magnified municipal council, and party lines should not be drawn as was the case in the Federal Parliament. In dealing with the Federal Government it would be better to adopt the plan which had been followed by Mr. Wigmore, M.P., in connection with the port at St. John. That gentleman had invited some western members to visit the port, and he believed action of that kind would have more beneficial results than the display of a feeling of antagonism. He thought it would be a good plan to look into the possibilities of a scheme for Maritime union; it would certainly be better to work on that basis than to be always shaking a stick at the Dominion Government.

LIBERAL PRINCIPLES ENTIRELY FORGOTTEN

He had no fault to find with Liberal principles, but it might be well to see how they fitted hon. members opposite.

Was the Government keeping the expenses of the province within the revenue

Was economy its watchword?

Was it taking more money from the people than was needed to carry on the Government?

The Liberal party always professed to be the party of constitutional rights while the Tories were supposed to be trampling on them. Did the Provincial Secretary know that he was serving in a cabinet that was violating the two first principles of responsible government? Did he know that one member of that Government, who had expended $30,000 last year, had never submitted himself to the people he represented? He must know that the acceptance of office in a government without ratification by the people was a defiance of the principles of Liberalism.

He would give another instance. Taxation without representation from the most ancient of times had been in direct opposition to the principles of Liberalism. Yet the House had preparations for taxation to be imposed upon the people of the province while one seat to which the people were entitled remained vacant. There was also another vacant seat and on account of the reasons given in the press for that vacancy he would ask the Minister of Health to direct his attention to those germs of disease which periodically became active in the County of Restigouche and prompted one of the hon. members from taking his seat. Much had been said at a previous session concerning four hon. members upon the opposition side and hon. members upon the Government side did not hesitate to say that those members should vacate their seats. He failed to see that these disciples of Liberalism had risen to the occasion and purged their own ranks of those against whom wrong-doing had been proven before a Royal Commission appointed by themselves.

CARLETON CO. VACANCY AS STRIKING EXAMPLE

With regard to the vacancy in Carleton county he would confront his hon. friends on the other side with documentary evidence of the fact that there was a wide difference between what they advocated in opposition and what they practiced as a government. The vacancy in Carleton had occurred in May 1917. The war was on and the greater part of the world was devoting its attention to vastly more important things. No one objected to the seat remaining vacant at that time or to lack of action on the part of the Government. But more than one session had gone by since that time and no good cause exfsted for continuation of the vacancy. The statement that a former government was similarly guilty was no excuse for a government which claimed to exemplify the principles of Liberalism and to hold to the line. Nevertheless he would make a comparison between the conduct of the former administration and that of the present. He wished his hon. friends opposite to keep in mind the date, August 17, 1916. The resignation of John Sheridan who had accepted office under the Dominion Govenrment, had been accepted after the session of 1916. Betwen that resignation and August 17, 1916, but one session intervened. Albert H. Stewart resigned after the session of 1915 and but one session passed between the time of his resignation and the date mentioned, with a vacancy in Gloucester. John E. Wilson resigned in St. John city and but one session elapsed between the time of his resignation and that date. C. B. Lockhart resigned in 1916 and there was no session between the date of his resignation and the date of August 17 of that year. The death of Walter B. Dickson occurred before the session of 1916 and but one session elapsed between the date of his death and August 17 following. All these vacancies occurred during the war and there was no such excuse for unfilled vacancies at the present time.

He regretted that the Minister of Lands and Mines and Hon. L. A. Dugal were not in their seats for he had a question to ask of them. He wished to ask them why on August 17, 1916, they, together with J. A. Pelletier, then representing Madawaska county, signed a document which was presented to Hon. D. V. Landry, then Provincial Secretary, demanding as a right that he should issue writs for elections to fill the vacancies named under the New Brunswick Election Act. That Act was still in existence. Would they tell the House what magic existed which, after their transfer to the seats of the Government, enabled them to ignore if not to defy the law? In order that all might have an opportunity to vindicate those Liberal principles to which they so often referred, he would move, seconded by Mr. Sutton, the following amendment:

"In the opinion of this House, having regard to the fact that a vacancy in the representation of the County of Carleton has existed since the month of May, 1917, and that any reasonable excuse for the continuation of such vacancy has ceased, by reason of the Declaration of Peace, and that it is a constitutional right of each constituency to be fully represented in the House especially when supply is being considered, therefore,

"Be it resoved, That the consideration and granting of supply be not considered until after the issue of a writ for filling the said vacancy by the election of a member for the said County of Carleton."

Mr. Baxter, continuing, said that the writ for the election could be issued in a few hours. It could be issued before tomorrow morning. He would ask the Provincial Secretary to uphold the standard of Liberalism by delaying supply until such a writ should be issued or by rejecting the amendment prove that it was the seats of the mighty and not the principles of Liberalism which he and his colleagues found most desirable in public life.

Hon. Mr. Robinson moved the adjournment of the debate.

MANY IMPORTANT BILLS.

House Sat Until Midnight Considering Bills in Committee.

The House then spent the time until midnight considering various bills in committee.

With Mr. Smith (Charlotte) in the chair, consideration was given to a bill to incorporate The Professional Engineers of the Province of New Brunswick.

Mr. Dysart, speaking to a section limiting membership, said that this had caused considerable discussion when it was before the Law Committee. He feared it might work hardship to young men who might not have the opportunity of acting as principal assistants.

Mr. Burchill asked if any class but civil engineers was to be included in the incorporation.

Mr. Baxter said he was favorable to Mr. Dysart's proposition. There were many men who were getting experience as engineers by working at the profession. The door should not be shut in the face of any deserving person. The delegation which appeared in support of the bill had, he thought, been rather captious.

Hon. Mr. Robinson said a communication had been received from the Sanitary and Heating Engineers. Were they included in the incorporation?

Mr. Baxter said that no improper intention could be alleged against the promoters of the bill, but the bill as they had drafted it shut out very many. An amendment would clear the difficult point.

Mr. Campbell said the bill had been promoted by the civil engineers, but they had afterwards broadened its scope to take in other classes of engineers.

Hon. Mr. Veniot approved of the principle of the bill, but he was not altogether in accord with the section which proposed to exact penalties from those not connected with the association.

Mr. Burchill wanted to know if the

TO TAKE GRAND FALLS POWER RIGHTS AWAY FROM HOLDERS

Premier Foster Intimates That Action Will Be Taken Unless the Present Company Will Go Aheaa

Important Developments During Hearing on Fraser Company's Bill--Opposition Leader Wants Action on Sweeping Lines by Same Expropriation Methods as With Our Own Citizens' Properties--Povide Power for Fasers.

The Grand Falls power on the St. John river, the most potential water power in the Maritime Provinces, will be expropriated by the Government of New Brunswick unless the present holders, the International Paper Company interests, are prepared to proceed without any delay with its immediate and complete development.

An intimation to that effect was formally given by Premier Foster this morning and met with the hearty concurrence of Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, the acting leader of the Opposition, at a meeting of the Corporations Committee in the Legislature. Premier Foster said that he made this statement in order that the public might know that he had been unable to get any satisfaction in his efforts to induce the Grand Falls Power Company to make a definite statement of their intention to proceed with the development work.

Frasers Could Use Grand Falls.

The startling intimation by the Premier came when the bill to incorporate the Fraser Paper Company, Limited, and give them authority to build a dam on the Tobique river was under consideration. The fishing interests opposed that bill and the suggestion was made by Dr. Taylor of St. John county that in order to preserve the salmon fishing industry in the St. John river and harbor, it might be possible to bring about the immediate development of Grand Falls and the Frasers get their electric power from there for their pulp and paper mills on the Tobique, thus doing away with the necessity of building dams of sufficient size at the Tobique Narrows to interfere with the free passage of salmon.

R. B. Hanson, K. C., who was appearing for the Fraser interests, said that under his interpretation of the Act, all the Grand Falls Power Company would do if they didn't expend $100,000 in development before January 10th, 1921, would be to forfeit their $50,000 deposit, but they would still be the holders of the power rights.

The Key to the Situation.

That brought Premier Foster to his feet. He said that the interpretation of the Act which had been expressed was that held by the Grand Falls Power Company. He felt the key to the situation was the development of the Grand Falls, as by that time not only the salmon fishing industry but the prestige which came to St. John and the province might thus be saved and the industrial plans of the Fraser interests which would be of such great benefit would be thus insured.

The Premier then said he had taken the matter of the Grand Falls Power Company's plans up with H. A. Powell, K. C., of St. John and they had a conference here. He told him to go to the United States and find out from the present holders of the Grand Falls what they intended to do. All that Mr. Powell had told him was what had appeared in an interview given The Gleaner in which it was said that the required $100,000 would be expended this year so as to hold the rights but the complete development would not be proceeded with now.

Nobody Satisfied.

That, he said, would not and did not satisfy the people of the province, the government nor the members of the Legislature. When Mr. Powell returned from the United States, he had a conference with him at St. John last Saturday but there was still no definite information given. He had then advised Mr Powell to wire his clients stating that they must either state what they were prepared to do or else they would be called upon to hand over the rights at a price which would be fixed and so place it at the disposal of those who were prepared to operate it and bring about something of benefit to the province of New Brunswick. In fixing a price to be paid he did not feel the holders would be entitled to anything more than what they had put there and should not receive anything for the power rights. The Grand Falls power rights, if acquired by the Frasers, would provide everything they required.

Action of Premier Commended.

Dr. Baxter at once commended the action taken by the Premier, said the matter could be dealt with by the united parties of the Legislature for the benefit of the province, and expressed the view that the American citizens holding up these power rights were no better than the citizens of the province, who would be subject to expropriation if their property were required in the public interests under acts of the Legislature. He advocated going ahead on broad, sweeping lines with a special commission named to set the price to be paid to the present holders, and he would even favor having the province finance the development, which would mean so much in an industrial way and was bound to eventually become a paying proposition. Translating the Fraser Company's power location to the Grand Falls from the Tobique he also favored as a means of saving the existing fisheries industry.

Mr. Michaud of Madawaska told of what the Frasers had done for the development of the town of Edmundston and said he was glad the Grand Falls matter was being brought to a "show down."

To Be Settled Immediately.

Mr. Smith of Carleton said he was glad the Fraser proposals had brought about an awakening. "Let us unite and stand shoulder to shoulder and fight this thing to a satisfactory issue for the benefit of the province of New Brunswick," urged Mr. Smith.

In the discussion which followed, Premier Foster said the Government were prepared to take the lead, but it would take a little time. However, he replied, in answer to a suggestion, that he was prepared to keep the Legislature in session long enough to complete the matter, if necessary; but the opinion was expressed that the working out of the details might be left with the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council.

$4,000,000 a Year For N.B.

The Fraser Paper Company's plans for a great new industry on the Tobique as revealed before the Corporations Committee of the Legislature this morning show plans which call for an expenditure of $4,000,000 annually in the province of New Brunswick for labor and raw material by that company.

Of this amount $1,000,000 would be paid in wages at their new pulp and paper plant at the Tobique Narrows and the pulp wood to keep that plant in operation would cost another $1,500,000. The plant at Edmundston when enlarged as proposed would pay out more than $500,000 annually in wages and it would cost $1,000,000 to supply that mill with raw material.

Frasers May Get Grand Falls

The Fraser Paper Company's bill was before the Corporations Committee of the Legislature this morning and during its discussion the immensity of the industrial development which the Messrs Fraser are planning for New Brunswick was revealed.

Annual expenditures of $4,000,000 for wages and raw materials for carrying on their pulp and paper industries at Edmundston and at the Tobique were revealed and R. B. Hanson, K. C., for the promotors of the bill asked the committee to weigh the difference between what that would mean to the province as compared with the suggestion that the salmon fisheries would be injured, although objected to the suggestion that the salmon fisheries would be ruined there was other spawning grounds than the Tobique and fishways and ladders could be installed in the dams to make the passage of fish up the Tobique after the dams were built quite feasible.

Several representatives of the Fisheries Department as well as representatives of the Tobique Salmon Club were present and set forth their objections and there were also a delegation from Perth composed of J. W. Niles, James E. Porter, James Howlett and Dr. R. W. Earle present to favor the passage of the bill so that the Tobique district might have the benefit of the big industrial development planned by the Messrs. Fraser, who were also present.

Industrial Development Best.

Hon. J. F. Tweeddale said that the bill was important not only to the persons directly interested and to the people of Victoria county, but to the province as a whole. As far as objection that a dam would injure the salmon fisheries was concerned, the St. John river contained other spawning grounds. If it were a choice between fishing and a great industry the latter should have the preference.

J. J. F. Winslow appeared for the Tobique Salmon Club and said that the club was not opposing the bill, but desired to have its interests protected as fully as possible. The members of the club did not wish to stand in the way of industrial development, but their fishing lease had two years to run and should be protected. He would suggest delay in the construction of the dam until the pulp mill should be completed.

John F. Calder, inspector of fisheries for district No. 1, St. John and Charlotte counties, appeared on instruction of the Department of Fisheries. He said that the construction of a dam across the Tobique river near its mouth would destroy the salmon fishing of St. John harbor and of the county of St. John.

R. B. Hanson, K. C., appeared for the promoters of the bill. He suggested that details be left to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, to be settled at a hearing of which all interested in the bill would be given due notice. This commiteee should deal with the matter of a choice between a pulp and paper industry and the fisheries.

Mr. Calder said if no obstacles higher than twenty feet were to be erected he felt that the Departmnt of Fisheris would not be inclined to oppose.

Mr. Hanson said that plans were being prepared by the best engineers available and would call for two dams each twenty feet in height.

Dr. R. W. L. Earle, of Perth, presented a petition, signed by some five hundred residents of Victoria county, praying that the bill be passed.

H. E. Harrison, of Fredericton, fisheries inspector for the St. John river district and adjacent country, was also heard.

Hon. Mr. Tweeddale said that the salmon were of very little benefit to the people of the Tobique as a source of food supply and the few thousands of dollars expended by the Tobique Salmon Club did not compare at all with the enormous outlay in expenditure and wages which was contemplated by the Messrs. Fraser.

R. B. Hanson said that the development of five thousand horsepower was intended by the erection of a forty-foot dam.

Thomas F. Allen, superintendent of the Tobique Salmon Club, stated that that organization several times had opposed bills to erect a dam at the mouth of the Tobique.

Details of Enterprise.

Mr. Hanson said that the fishing industry must be weighed against the establishment of an immense pulp and paper plant. He would give some details of what was contemplated by the Messrs. Fraser. Industrial development was needed in New Brunswick and this would be one of the greatest on record. It was the intention of the promoters of the bill to erect first a pulp mill and later a paper mill. The payroll certainly would include one thousand men and later might be enlarged to two thousand. The outlay on construction would be ten million dollars. On a low estimate four thousand dollars a day would be paid out in wages. This was what was in view.

He intimated that the development of the N. B. Railway lands was involved in the proposals and W. E. Golding, managing director of that company, was present and said they were prepared to assist the Frasers in every way.

Offered Grand Falls Power.

Hon. Mr. Foster announced that when this bill came up he as Premier of the Province took it upon himself to see if anything could be done toward developing power at Grand Falls. He consulted with H. A. Powell, K. C., solicitor for the interests at present controlling the Grand Falls franchise. Mr. Powell's reply was to the effect that his clients were willing to expend one hundred thousand dollars to retain the franchise under the terms of the Act, but could do no more in the way of development. His reply to Mr. Powell had been that such an undertaking was unsatisfactory and was not enough. He was prepared to recommend to the legislature that the Province take steps to secure control of the Grand Falls Power rights with the idea that the Falls be developed by the Messrs. Fraser or others and power be available for the proposed pulp industry and for other purposes.

Mr. Baxter, Mr. Michaud and Mr. Smith (Carleton) expressed themselves as strongly in favor of development at Grand Falls.

Mr. Hanson went into consultation with Messrs. Archibald and Donald Fraser, and informed the Committee that they were not in a position to state offhand what they would do, but that they could say that they were prepared to pay a reasonable compensation for existing rights at Grand Falls. In the meanwhile they would ask that the bill before the committee be put through subject to order-in-council. The securing of power from Grand Falls would not do away with the necessity of erecting a dam across the Tobique River, but it would make it possible to decrease the height of the dam, so that no objection could be taken by the fishing interests.

The Committee went into private session on the bill for a short time. Consideration will be continued at the next meeting.

It was reported at noon that the St. John River Log Driving Company's booms a few miles above Fredericton had been carried away with some millions of feet of logs, but this was denied, and Manager Walter Jackson said as far as he knew none of the booms had been damaged. River St. Croix at Record Height and Fears Expressed For the Bridge at Milltown

The Water Now Within a Foot of the Bridge Floor, With a Jam of Logs Against Piers—Cotton Mill Closed Down, With Water Over Machine Shop Floor.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

St. Stephen, N. B., April 16.—Old residents of Milltown claim that never in their time have they seen the waters of the St. Croix so high, and should the water rise much higher it is very likely to do considerable damage.

The cotton mill is closed down on account of the high water and a bulk head which had been built near the machine shop gave away last night, and this morning over a foot and a half of water covered the machine shop floor.

There is a jam of logs above the Milltown bridge, which, should the water keep rising, is very liable to give away, and this will put the Milltown bridge in great danger of going out. At the Union a jam of logs is up against the Union bridge and the water is not more than a foot below the bridge floor.

AMENDMENTS TO THE PENSIONS LAW

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 16.—The Board of Pensions Commissioners has recommended several striking changes in the pensions law. One is that a pensioners' disability would be considered permanent after three years. Another amendment was that pensioners of less than 20 per cent. disability be given the option of accepting a lump sum gratuity in lieu of pension.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Charley White Wins.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 16.—Charley White, Chicago lightweight, defeated Eddie Boehue, of Milwaukee, in four rounds of a scheduled ten round fight here last night. Boehue was virtually put out in the fourth round and the referee stopped the match.

Bob Martin Stops McFadden.

bill would affect the standing of road supervisors.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said road supervisors worked under the direction of a professional engineer. He did not think civil engineers had the right to include all other classes of engineers in the bill.

Mr. Baxter said he had no objection to the principle of the bill, but he wanted to see people protected whom he thought ought not to be hit. He did not think there was any intention of interfering with an ordinary mechanic who made his own plans, and he had no objection to sending the bill back to the Law Committee.

Hon. Mr. Robinson said the petition included the names of several whom he knew to be mechanical engineers.

It was finally agreed to refer the bill back to the Law Committee for further consideration.

Legitimation of Children.

The House went into committee with Mr. Leger (Westmorland), in the chair and considered a bill respecting the legitimation by subsequent marriage.

Hon. Mr. Robinson said he had a letter from a lawyer suggesting provision be made under the bill for legitimation of a child if the mother married a man other than the father.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said that would be going too far.

Mr. Tilley said the Act went far enough as it was.

Hon. Mr. Robinson said that all the suggestion really amounted to was the adoption of the child by the husband of the mother.

Mr. Tilley said that could be obtained through the courts.

Mr. Baxter said that although legitimation by subsequent marriage was a new subject in New Brunswick it was old elsewhere. It had been recognized on the continent of Europe for hundreds of years. Quebec always had had it in its civil law and two western provinces had adopted it. Recently, in consolidating laws relating to marriage, New Brunswick had gone part of the way. The Canadian Bar Association had appointed a commission to consider the matter, and the bill before the committee was the work of that commission, which was presented to all provinces for enactment. Any change would be a departure from the desired uniformity.

The bill was reported.

The Succession Duties.

The committee took up consideration of the bill to amend the Succession Duties Act.

Mr. Peck objected to reducing the valuation for Succession Duties from $50,000 to $25,000. He thought by the time the lawyers and probate fees were paid from the estate there would not be much left for the heirs.

Mr. Pinder regretted that the Government had to resort to such means for raising revenue. They were taxing everything in sight and there was no necessity for it.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said that in some provinces the valuation was as low as $10,000. The rate would remain the same, and at 1¼ per cent. would mean about $300 on a $25,000 estate.

Mr. Campbell was opposed to reducing the amount to $25,000. If it were done there would be no incentive for people to save money.

Mr. Young protested against the proposed reduction. He also objected to the grandchild being eliminated from Class 1.

Mr. LeBlanc said that the hon. members for York were inconsistent. They had been saying that the lumbermen were making money and would die rich. The bill provided a way for getting back at the lumbermen.

Mr. Peck thought it would be better for people to pay the tax while they were living. There was altogether too much expense in winding up an estate.

Hon. Mr. Foster believed there was no fairer or easier method of taxation than by Succession Duties. He did not think a tax of $300 on a grandchild inheriting $25,000 would be excessive. Even when they got into large amounts the rate was so small as to be scarcely noticeable.

Mr. Potts believed it would be a crime to cut down the amount exempted from $50,000 to $25,000. If the Government needed revenue they should tax the living. In the United States they had a tax of one cent. on a glass of soda water and the same plan might be adopted here.

Mr. Baxter said the province needed money and Succession Duties must be levied. He asked the Attorney General to allow Section 2 to stand.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said that Ontario taxed estates for Succession Duties down to $25,000, Quebec to $15,000, Nova Scotia to $25,000, New Brunswick to $50,000, Prince Edward Island to $10,000, Manitoba to $25,000, and British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta all had the amount fixed at $25,000.

Mr. Peck moved, seconded by Mr. Young, that the valuation for Succession Duties be fixed at $50,000 as at present, but the amendment was voted down by the committee.

Hon. Mr. Byrne moved that the subsection referring to double duty when the successor resides out of the province stand.

Progress was reported.

HIGH HEELS CONDEMNED.

Women Losing Vitality, Figure and Personal Magnetism.

Winnipeg, April 15—"No woman who wears the high-heeled shoe that is being foisted upon the female public today can retain her vitality, figure and personal magnetism," declared Miss Edna E. Love, physical culture expert of Chicago, in an address at the closing session of the Manitoba Educational Association today. Her assertion was greeted with prolonged applause by the audience of 800 teachers, mostly women.

Simpler living, "getting back to nature," was advocated by Miss Love as the surest way of counteracting "nerves," from which the present-day world in general, and the teaching profession in particular is suffering in overdoses.

THE VOLLEY BALL TEAMS BROKE EVEN

The Fredericton and St. John Senior and Juniors Played Here.

The Fredericton and St. John Y.M.C.A. teams split even last evening in their volley ball contests at the local Y.M.C.A. gymnasium, each team winning one series of games.

The visit of the St. John volley ball teams was an innovation, as their team has never played outside of St. John before, but when the teams took the floor at 8 o'clock the local Seniors received a considerable shock when they saw that the opposing St. John Senior team was composed largely of young men. However, they stuck to their play, but lost by scores of 21 to 4 and 21 to 6.

The local Junior team won two out of three contests in their series by scores of 21 to 19 and 21 to 13, while the St. John team won one of its contests by a score of 21 to 8.

After the games the visitors were entertained at an oyster supper at Washington's Cafe by the local teams.

The teams were:

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion, and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate, and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

cases ended in death! So a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious diseases — of consumption — of typhoid! They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wire-prick —and where the wound, being thought not serious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood-poisoning and death resulted.

When you or your children sustain any injury, ensure against infection by applying Zam-Buk. This balm soothes the pain, stops bleeding, and by destroying all germs prevents blood-poisoning, etc. Hence no time need be lost from work or pleasure by those who use Zam-Buk. All dealers, 50c. box.

BROKE COWS' TAILS AND BEAT HIS WIFE

Worcester, Mass., April 15.—Breaking the tails of 12 cows, some of them twice, and horsewhipping his wife, were some of the diversions of Sidney Haughn, of Sterling, according to testimony in probate court, where he is being sued for separate support on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment by his wife, Lilla M. Haughn, also of Sterling.

Haughn's mother-in-law testified that she once warned him that if he did not change his attitude his wife would commit suicide. "She might as well," is what she said Haughn replied. A woman for whom Haughn managed a Sterling farm testified that he abused the stock and refused to obey her orders.

OUST PRO-GERMAN FROM BROTHERHOOD

Chicago, April 15. — John Grunau, whose "personal grievances" precipitated the present strike of railroad switchmen, was conductor on a work train operated by the Chicago & Northwestern railroad to carry its employees between Chicago and the yards at Bensonville.

Recently the company added a passenger car to the train, making necessary the replacement of Grunau by a road conductor, officials say. Grunau thereupon organized the yardmen's association among switchmen who formerly were members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and called the local strike.

Grunau was ousted from the brotherhood during the war for alleged pro-German utterances, according to one of the brotherhood officials.

ARE DRIVEN TO CANADA.

Chicago, April 12.—Rents of farm lands throughout the Middle West are soaring. Tenants in Central Illinois are complaining that the landlords are increasing the price to a prohibitive figure and that they must leave this state for the cheaper land of the west and Canada. From $12 to $15 per acre is the common charge now, and, in view of the higher cost of labor, seed, machinery, etc., renters say that it is impossible to make ends meet.

Land-owners cannot figure why they should be exempt from increasing rentals when all owners of city property are active in this direction. They assert that the higher prices obtained by the tenants more than offset the increase.

"You say sooth," said Johnston turning his seamed and grizzled face upon the man-at-arms. "See yonder," he added, pointing to a bombard which lay within the camp; "there is what hath done scath to good bowmanship, with its filthy soot and foolish roaring mouth. I wonder that a true knight, like our prince, should carry such a scurvy thing in his train. Robin, thou red-headed lurden, how oft must I tell thee not to shoot straight with a quarter wind blowing across the mark."

"By these ten finger-bones! there were some fine bowmen at the intaking of Calais,' said Aylward. "I well remember that, on occasion of an outfall, a Genoan raised his arm over his mantlet, and shook it at us, a hundred paces from our line. There were twenty who loosed shafts at him, and when the man was afterwards slain it was found that he had taken eighteen through his forearm."

"And I can call to mind," remarked Johnston, "that when the great cog 'Christopher,' which the French had taken from us, was moored two hundred paces from the shore, two archers, little Robin Withstaff and Elias Baddlesmere, in four shots each cut every strand of her hempen anchor-cord, so that she well-nigh came upon the rocks."

"Good shooting, i' faith rare shooting!" said Black Simon. 'But I have seen you, Johnston, and you, Samkin Aylward', and one or two others who are still with us, shoot as well as the best. Was it not you, Johnston, who took the fat ox at Finsbury butts against the pick of London town?"

A sunburnt and black-eyed Brabanter had stood near the old archers, loaning upon a large crossbow and listening to their talk, which had been carried on in that hybrid camp dialect which both nations could understand. He was a squat, bull-necked man, clad in the iron helmet, mail tunic, and woollen gambesson of his class. A jacket with hanging sleeves, slashed with velvet at the neck and wrists, showed that he was a man of some consideration, an under-officer, or file leader of his company.

"I cannot think," said he, "why you English should be so fond of your six-foot stick. If it amuse you to bend it, well and good; but why should I strain and pull, when my little moulinet will do all for me, and better than I can do it for myself?"

"I have seen good shooting with the prod and with the latch," said Aylward, "but, by my hilt! camarade, with all respect to you and to your bow, I think that is but a woman's weapon, which a woman can point and loose as easily as a man."

"I know not about that," answered the Brabanter, "but this I know, that though I have served for fourteen years, I have never yet seen an Englishman do aught with the long bow which I could not do better with my arbalest. By the three kings! I would even go further, and say that I have done things with my arbalest which no Englishman could do with his long-bow."

'Well said, mon gar.," cried Aylward. "A good cock has ever a brave call. Now, I have shot little of late, but there is Johnston here who will try a round with you for the honor of the Company."

'And I will lay a gallon of Jurancon wine upon the long-bow," said Black 'though I had rather, for my own drinking, that it were a quart of Twynham ale."

"I take both your challenge and your wager," said the man of Brabant, throwing off his jacket and glancing keenly about him with his black, twinkling eyes. "I cannot see any fitting mark, for I care not to waste a bolt upon these shields, which a drunken boor could not miss at a village kermesse."

"This is a perilous man," whispered an English man-at-arms, plucking at Aylward's sleeve. "He is the best marksman of all the crossbow companies and it was he who brought down the Constable de Bourbon at Brignais. I fear that your man will come by little honor with him."

"Yet I have seen Johnston shoot these twenty years, and I will not flinch from it. How say you, old war hound, will you not have a flight shot or two with this springald?"

"Tut, tut, Aylward," said the old bowman. "My day is past, and it is for the younger ones to hold what we have gained. I take it unkindly of thee, Samkin, that thou shouldst call all eyes thus upon a broken bowman who could once shoot a fair shaft. Let me feel that bow, Wilkins! It is a Scotch bow, I see; for the upper nock is without and the lower within, by the black rood! it is a good piece of yew, well nocked, well strung, well waxed, and very joyful to the feel. I think even now that I might hit any large and goodly mark with a bow like this. Turn they quiver to me, Aylward. I love an arrow shafted with cornel-wood for a roving shaft.

"By my hilt! and so do I," cried Aylward. "These three gander-winged shafts are such.'

"So I see, comrade. It has been my wont to choose a saddle-backed father for a dead shaft, and a swine backed for a smooth flier. I will take the two of them. Ah, Samkin, lad, the eye grows dim and the hand less firm as the years pass."

"Come then, are you not ready?" said the Brabanter, who had watched with ill-concealed patience the slow and methodic movements of his antagonist.

"I will venture a rover with you, or try long-buts or hoyles," said old Johnston. "To my mind the long-bow is a better weapon than the arbalest, but it may be ill for me to prove it."

"So I think," quoth the other with a sneer. He drew his moulinet from his girdle, and fixing it to the windlass, he drew back the powerful double cord until it had clicked into the catch. Then from his quiver he drew a short, quick quarrel, which he placed with the utmost care upon the groove. Word had spread of what was going forward, and his rivals were already surrounded, not only by the English archers of the Company, but by hundreds of arbalestiers and men-at-arms from the bands of Ortingo and La Nuit, to the latter of which the Brabanter belonged.

"There is a mark yonder on the hill," said he; "mayhap you can discern it."

"I see something," answered Johnston, shading his eyes with his hand; 'but it is a very long shoot."

"A fair shoot—a fair shoot! Stand aside, Arnaud, lest you find a bolt through your gizzard., Now, comrade, I take no flight shot, and I give you the vantage of watching my shaft."

As he spoke he raised his arbalest to his shoulder and was about to pull the trigger, when a large gray stork flapped heavily into view skimming over the brow of the hill, and then soaring up into the air to pass the valley. Its shrill and piercing cries drew all eyes upon it, and, as it came nearer, a dark spot which circled above it resolved itself into a peregrine falcon, which hovered over its head, poising itself from time to time, and watching its chance of closing with its clumsy quarry. Nearer and nearer came the ewo birds, all absorbed in their own contest, the stork wheeling upwards, the hawk still fluttering above it, until they were not a hundred paces from the camp. The Brabanter raised his weapon to the sky, and there came the short, deep twang of his powerful string. His bolt struck the stork just where its wing meets the body, and the bird whirled aloft in a last convulsive butter before falling wounded and flapping to the earth.

Goody—Chocolate Bars!

NATURE and the doctor agree that the child's system needs a certain amount of sweets, and the wise mother very carefully oversees her children's diet in this particular.

Cowan's Chocolate Bars, in their many variations, are not only the children's favorites, but they constitute a perfect form of food.

The first essentials in their manufacture are quality and purity. Nourishing chocolate, milk, sugar, nuts and fruits skilfully blended, make a delicious and properly balanced confection. This has resulted in a tremendous demand for Cowan's Chocolate Bars from coast to coast.

A few leaders are:

Cowan's Almond Nut Milk Chocolate Bar.
Cowan's Filbert Nut Milk Chocolate Bar.

ICE JAM BREAKS AND WHOLE RIVER IS NOW CLEARED

Ice Run from Jam Above City Started Shortly Before Noon Today.

HARTLAND BRIDGE WRECKAGE GOES BY

Heavy Run of Logs from Jam But the Booms Have Not Given Away.

The balance of the main ice jam on the St. John river above Fredericton broke away shortly before noon today and was immediately followed by a heavy ice run past the city.

More than a million feet of logs, which had been left last fall just below the Grand Falls, floated past Fredericton between 12 and 1 o'clock and shortly after 1 o'clock the wreckage of the Hartland bridge went past in several sections but with much of the spans still intact. This was closely followed by a ferry boat owned by A. C. McNally, and which was carried away from McNally's Ferry, 16 miles above Fredericton, by the early run of ice.

The St. John river is thus clear of

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASS'N BRANCH HERE

Major F. A. Good is Organizer and President of the Local Branch.

As a result of the demonstration with moving pictures and addresses delivered last evening by Col. R. J. Birdwhistle, of Ottawa, and Col. Murray Maclaren, of St. John, a branch of the St. John Ambulance Association will be formed in Fredericton with Major F. A. Good as organizer and president.

At the meeting last evening over two hundred citizens and students were present. Dr. H. V. B. Bridges, principal of the Normal School, presided and introduced both speakers to the audience and first called upon Col. Birdwhistle, who he stated had spent five years in overseas work during the Great War.

Col. Birdwhistle briefly stated the aims, objects and causes of the St. John Ambulance Association dealing with its work during the past five years and briefly outlined its organization in Canada. He referred to its value as an educational, instructive and humanitarian association and stated that it differed in many respects from the Red Cross, which also did a good work. Its instructive lessons, he said, were necessary in every branch of life as no one knew when he would be called to assist in an accident. He referred to the fact that in some of the Western Provinces a first aid course was included in the curriculum of Normal Schools and hoped that the New Brunswick Normal School would soon have classes also.

Col. Murray Maclaren was the next speaker. He referred to the organization of the parent tree of the order which took place in Jerusalem in the year 1029 known then as the Order of St. John of Jerusalem and from that he traced the history of the order to its breaking up into branches. The Canadian branch, he stated, was founded in 1910, although first aid lectures had been given for some twenty five years previous to that date.

Following the addresses moving pictures of various accident scenes, where first aid was necessary, were shown, with the various methods of helping the injured.

After a vote of thanks had been passed to the speakers, Major Good, seconded by E. G. McDiarmid, moved that a branch of the association be formed and that a recommendation be made for a course of the first aid be included in the curriculum of the Normal School. This was passed unanimously by the meeting and, on a suggestion by Col. Maclaren, Major F. A. Good was appointed president and organizer of the local association.

SUCCESSFUL HIGH TEA.

Ladies of Parish Church Gave a Most Enjoyable Tea Yesterday in Aid of Organ Fund.

The ladies of Christchurch Parish Church gave one of the most successful high teas and sales held in this city for some time at the Parish House yesterday afternoon; and if the large crowd present can be taken as an indication of the good will of the people towards the organ fund, it will not be long before the necessary money is in sight for the new organ.

In the supper room Mrs. Bate and Mrs. Scott presided over the tea and coffee cups, while Mrs. F. Barnes, Mrs. H. Lee, Mrs. J. Oldham, Mrs. J. Ferguson, Mrs. C. White, Mrs. F. H. Everett, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Styran, Mrs. Lloyd, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Arthur Pointer, Mrs. Gordon Cummings, the Misses Mary Paynter, Hannah McDonald, Mary Williams, Belle Staples and Miss Murray assisted.

The apron and fancy table was in charge of Mrs. Barton, Mrs. Barker, Mrs. H. McNally, and Mrs. Hamilton.

The grab bag was looked after by Miss May McAdam, while some very weird fortunes were told by Miss Hoben and Miss Kinghorn. Jack Oldham looked after the shooting contest, and Misses Georgie Styran and Dorothy Mills, dressed in Indian garb, disposed of dainty candy. Miss Perley looked after the money at the door and Rev. Mr. Bate was untiring in his efforts to see that everyone was well looked after.

STREAM DRIVING IS NOW WELL UNDERWAY ON SMALL STREAMS

10 Million Feet of the Cut for Victoria Mills Will Be Out Next Week.

FULL SEASON'S SAWING NOW SEEMS ASSURED

Little Yoho Drive is First One Out, Reaching the Oromocto Last Night.

Stream driving is well under way on the small brooks in York and Sunbury counties, in fact, the first drive already has been brought out into safe waters.

The first drive thus to get out is that for the Fraser Companies Ltd., on the Little Yoho, which empties into the Oromocto river. There was about 700,000 feet in the drive and it was all out in the main stream last night, whence it will be brought to the rafting grounds by the contractor.

In all there are twelve small drives in the central part of the province for the Fraser Companies this year, totalling about ten million feet, which with five million feet of bank logs contracted for to be delivered make up the total supply of logs required for the Victoria Mills here this season. All these drives are making good progress and James M. Scott, manager of the Frasers' logging operations in this district, expressed the opinion this morning that all these local drives would be out during next week.

No Start on Big Streams Yet.

Conditions for driving on the small streams have so far been all that the the lumbermen desire but on the Upper Nashwaak river as well as on the Tobique, Upper St. John and other large streams there is still too much ice to commence driving operations. However, the heavy rain which started this morning and is general all over the northern part of New Brunswick, will probably have an appreciable effect in bringing about driving conditions on the streams not yet opened and hurrying operations where drives have been commenced. Conflicting reports have been received as to conditions on the lower St. John river. Yesterday the ice was said to have all run out, but this morning it was said the previous report was a false alarm and that last evening the ice in the Long Reach was still solid.

Professional.

Dr. A. Pierce Crocket, ele, ear, nose and throat specialist, of St. John, will be at the Queen Hotel, Fredericton, Saturday of this week, where he may be consulted professionally.

SEIZED LIQUOR VALUED OVER $5,000 ARRIVES IN CITY

Is Now Stored in Government Warehouse at Departmental Buildings.

WAS SEIZED NEAR THE MAINE STATE BORDER

Fourteen Barrels, Five Boxes and Twenty Cases in the Shipment.

A consignment of liquor valued at between $4,000 and $5,000, including 14 barrels, 5 boxes and 22 cases, seized on the upper St. John river near the Maine border on the New Brunswick side, by Sub-Inspector McLaughlin on Wednesday evening, arrived in this city last evening to be stored in the Government warehouse in the Departmental Buildings.

The seizure was made in the vicinity of St. Leonard's, at the New Brunswick end of the international highway bridge between that city and Van Buren, while on the way to the State of Maine from Montreal. Inspector Wilson stated concerning the region in which the shipment was seized that this district was considered the wet belt of the St. John river district and kept the sub-inspectors busy all the year around.

The seized liquor came by the C. N. R., arriving in this city last evening. It was brought to the warehouse this morning, having been guarded through the night by Liquor Sub-Inspector Fraser Saunders. Chief Inspector W. D. Wilson, who was in St. John yesterday, arrived home this morning in time to take care of the shipment.

FEAR A CIVIL WAR IN CHINA

Rebel Troops Have Captured Town of Anhai

Provinces of Honan and Fukien Reek With Insurrection

THE MUTINEERS GAIN STRENGTH

Christian Churches Are Seized For Use of the Rebellious Soldiers.

Shanghai, April 17.—Serious disturbances have occurred in the province of Honan and civil war is imminent, according to advices received by Chinese officials here. This situation, it is said, is the result of a change of Tuchuns, or military governors, in the province by the Pekin government.

MUTINEERS HAVE CAPTURED ANHAI

Amoy, China, April 17.—The Chinese troops which mutinied at Anhai recently, succeeded in getting possession of that town, to the northwest of Amoy, in Fukien province. Their success was aided by factional forces from Chang Chow, southern Fukien.

Fighting also is reported in other places in the vicinity, with Christian churches being seized for the use of the soldiers.

The forces of Gen. Chen are said to be gaining strength. Troops of the northern army have captured several hundred Cantonese, southern forces, near Amoy.

RUSSIAN SOVIET HEDGES FOR TIME

Refuses to Meet Polish Delegates at Borisov to Discuss Peace Matters.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Warsaw, April 17.—In its latest note to Poland with regard to the proposed peace conference, the Russian soviet government reiterates the advisability of holding the conference in Esthonia. While making certain concessions to Poland, the soviets reject the Polish suggestion for a local armistice around Borisov, northeast of Minsk, which Poland proposed as the place for the peace meeting.

"We cannot understand," says the note, "how Poland suggested such a place as the centre of the fighting front. The idea of a local armistice appears, perhaps, to conceal the strategic designs of the Polish general staff."

CONSERVATIVES OF ONTARIO TO MEET

Toronto, April 17.—A provincial convention of the Conservative party will be held in this city the last week of October. At this convention a permanent leader of the party in Ontario will be appointed, and the party's policy will be laid down. The date of the convention was decided yesterday at a gathering of prominent Conservatives at the Albany Club here, and a committee was named to make complete arrangements for the convention.

Noted Russians Slain on Yacht

Bucharest, April 17.—The discovery on the yacht Ostara, stranded at Sulina, on one of the mouths of the Danube, of the dead bodies of eleven noted Russian men and women, each shot through the head, and not a living soul on board, has presented to the Rumanian authorities one of the most mysterious tragedies of Bolshevism in the Black Sea. The bodies have been identified as those of members of the noted Russian families of Falzefein and Skadowski.

The discovery was made by soldiers who, when they went aboard the helpless yacht, found the cabinet half-filled with water and the eleven bodies floating around. On board the yacht were 14,000,000 rubles in gold and paper and jewels.

The elder Falzefein still grasped a pistol in his hand when his body was found, and whether the party committed suicide or were murdered is a question that remains unanswered.

JAPS ENGAGE IN HEAVY FIGHTING

Hundreds of Russians in Siberia Are Fleeing to Hills for Guerilla Warfare.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Vladivostok, April 10.—(Delayed).—Heavy fighting between Russian and Japanese forces continues at Khabarovsk, on the Amur River, and casualties suffered by each side are heavy, according to reports received here.

Towns along the Ussuri river branch of the Trans-Siberian Railway, north of here, are all in the hands of Japanese, but hundreds of Russians are fleeing to the hills, and have again started guerilla warfare.

Arrests of Russians by Japanese in this city continue, both government buildings are being returned to Russians and the Red flag is reappearing.

MORE ARRESTS IN SECURITIES THEFT

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 17.—Wm. Barraclough and Jos. Elsis, both of this city, were arrested yesterday, the former charged with burglary and the latter with receiving stolen goods in connection with the theft of $95,000 worth of securities from the safe of the law firm of Deering & Deering last February. Nine previous arrests have been made in the case and thus far $36,000 worth of bonds recovered.

DEPORT BOMBERS FROM PORTUGAL

Lisbon, April 17.—Persons found with explosive bombs in their possession and manufacturers of such bombs will be deported to the colonies for periods ranging from 18 months to 10 years, according to a decision reached by the Government yesterday.

Additional penalties to be determined by the magnitude of the offence will also be imposed.

ASSASSINATION ON ULSTER BORDER

Man Shot Down on Dundalk Street and Died Later—Story of the Attack.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Belfast, April 17.—What is believed to be the first political assassination on the Ulster border occurred late last evening when Thomas Mulholland of Dunalk, 45 miles northwest of Dublin, was shot on a street there and died an hour later.

Mulholland made a statement to the stretcher bearers. A man named McKeever, living near the scene of the shooting, said he heard three shots and found Mulholland writhing on the ground. McKeever declared he saw two policemen nearby and called to them, but they proceeded toward the barracks.

MEN RETURNING TO WORK IN MANY PLACES

Those Returning Promised that They Would Be Free From All Discrimination.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 17.—Speedy termination of the transportation tie-up brought by the authorized strikes of railroad workers throughout the United States seemed assured today.

Switchmen, yardmen and other employees of the Pennsylvania, Reading and Baltimore and Ohio lines in the Philadelphia district, one of the eastern strongholds of the strike, were returning to work this morning under orders of their strike leaders.

The work order affects strikers on all lines between Boston and Washington, including those in the New York district, as the Pennsylvania strike committee had been authorized to negotiate for all strikers in the east.

The Philadelphia settlement was affected on the basis of a promise from Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio officials that returning strikers would be permitted to retain their seniority ranking and would be free from all discrimination because of their having gone out.

Strikers at Baltimore, another eastern stronghold, also were returning this morning, having voted last night to end their strike.

In the New York district, railroad officials declared the men were returning rapidly and reports from all sections of the country also indicated that the swing back to work was fast gaining momentum. This was reflected both in the increased amount of traffic handled by the lines and the loss of enthusiasm for the strike apparent in the attitude of many of the strikers.

CASHED CHEQUE FRENCH SOLDIER

Ottawa Man Arrested on Charge of Having Stolen Eight Hundred Dollars.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, Arill 17.—Hector Lacroque was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of having stolen eight hundred dollars from Mr. George F. Beregon back in 1917 by means of a cheque.

Mr. Beregon is an old country Frenchman, and was employed here in the agricultural department. Just prior to the outbreak of the war he had gone to France to visit his relatives, and while there donned the uniform. Here in Ottawa he had left an acount with the Royal Bank, and in order to esure his being able to get funds if he needed some he sent a friend here two blank but signed cheques. One was lost i some way, and the police claim that Lacroque either found or stole it, filled it in for $800 and had it cashed at the bank. This was done in 1917, and it was not until yesterday that it was found that Lacroque was the man who cashed the cheque.

The gift is made in recognition of the services of the university in promoting Canadian literature.

The model represents Evangeline at the moment when she turns back for a last look at the land from which she is being exiled, and bears the inscription, "Pleurant le pays perdu."

It will be shipped to Acadia on Monday.

Canada Permits Export Of 50,000 Tons of Sugar

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

TORONTO, April 17.—An Ottawa special says: On the understanding that American interests will furnish in April two thousand tons of raw sugar to the Atlantic Sugar Refinery, the Dominion Government, through the Canadian Trade Commission, has granted export permits for 50,000 tons of granulated sugar to go to the central and western states, where an acute shortage of sugar has developed.

As the raw sugar would not come to Canada if the export permits were not granted, it is pointed out that the situation in Canada will not be affected as to the amount of sugar available here, and that in any case the price of sugar is not rising here on account of shortage, but because the raw sugar market is now in the hands of speculators.

The Postal War Tax Will be Retained in Canada As Well As the Stamp Tax on Checques

A Revenue of $8,000,000 Received from These Sources Last Year and the Post Office Department Will Need Enhanced Revenues to Make Both Ends Meet.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, April 17.—There is not much likelihood of the postal war tax of one cent being removed this year, although it has been removed in the United States, and we often follow suit in postal action. It provided a revenue of about six million dollars last year, and there was another two million from the war stamp tax on cheques. The heavy increase in the expense of maintaining the postal service makes the removal of the tax impossible in Canada.

Even if the tax is retained the Postmaster General expects a pretty heavy deficit on postal operations next year. Until the year 1902, in which year the tide turned, there was a steady history of deficits in the post office department, and profits have continued ever since, with the exception of the year 1915, when there was a deficit of nearly three million dollars. The Minister now sees a probable deficit for next year of eight or nine million, unless the war tax is retained and some further financial betterments effected.

The department has received notice from the railways that the rate for hauling the mails will be increased greatly. Cars which have cost 17 cents per mile will hereafter cost 37¾ cents, making a total increase in this respect of about four million dollars. Increases in salaries of postal employees will be nearly two millions more. Rural mail carriers have organized and are affiliated with the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress. The increases asked for in this department will amount to nearly two million dollars. The Post Office Department has been notified by the president of the congress that the rates for carrying rural mails, which have been about $30 a mile, will hereafter be standardized and will run into double that sum. A delegation of the rural mail carriers recently visited Ottawa and gave the department just thirty days to meet their demands, as above outlined. Street car companies have notified the department that the rates for carrying postmen will be increased.

In order to raise revenue the department will make a wholesale attack on the franking privilege, cutting off practically every one, with the exception of members of Parliament, but beginning in very high places with the Governor General, who heads the list of three or four pages of frankees in the postal guide. All government departments will be cut off, and although this seems like an attempt to take money out of one pocket and put it in the other, the Post Office Department claims it is being made the goat for the other departments and proposes that hereafter every government tub must stand on its own bottom, so far as it is concerned.

The franking privilege has undoubtedly been abused. It even goes the length of permitting members to have books from the parliamentary library franked to them and returned from all over Canada when the House is not in session. Provincial Legislatures, which have had their mail matter franked in the past, will also be deprived of that privilege hereafter, if the recommendations of the Postmaster General are carried out. It is by this and similar means that the department hopes to cope with a situation which will otherwise mean a heavy deficit in its operations for the coming year.

CANADA SUSPENDS THE DUTY ON HAY

Endeavor Made to Tide Over the Feed Scarcity in Western Provinces.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Calgary, April 17.—Optimism was expressed last evening by Hon. Duncan Marshall, over the feed situation in the province. He stated that the government had bought 3,200 cars of hay in Ontario and Quebec, and that there were 1,000 more of these to come. There was enough feed in in sight now to see the farmers through the seeding season.

The federal authorities yesterday decided to indefinitely suspend the duty on hay owing to the shortage in Manitoba.

VESSELS TIED UP IN AMERICAN HARBORS

Baltimore, Md., April 17. — With thirty two ships already lying idle and several others delayed in sailing, because of the railroad strike, a serious tie-up of shipping is imminent in Baltimore harbor. Vessels sent to load coal cannot get cargoes, others needing bunker coal experience difficulties, and delay in receiving freight at the piers prevents general cargo ships from loading.

LIFE A BURDEN TO MURDERER

Ossining, N. Y., April 17.—A request that Governor Smith expedite his execution because "life is a burden to me," was made yesterday by Walter Levandowski, a death house prisoner, who is a victim of tubercolosis. Sentence of Levandowski convicted of killing a keeper at Dannemore Prison, was confirmed yesterday by the court of appeals, and it is customary to fix sentence six weeks from the date of final decision.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Frankfort, April 17.—General De Metz and the 37th division of the French army of occupation on the right bank of the Rhine will withdraw from Frankfort to Wiesbaden next Sunday, according to an announcement made at the French military headquarters.

The eleventh division, under General Vidalon, and the Belgian troops will remain in the newly occupied territory.

Allies Must March Together.

Marseilles, April 17.—David Lloyd-George arrived here yesterday on board the steamer Naldera. He received representatives of the press, to whom he expresed sentiments of the most sincere affection for France, "who remains the champion of the world's liberty."

"It is thus I have always approached the problem which concerns her," Mr. Lloyd-George continued. "No one knows better than I the terrible sacrifices she has made. It is animated by this appreciation that I know I am going to San Remo. By close union we have won the war. It is only by this same union that we can assure the fruits of victory. We must march on together. The end is not yet. We must remain united.

"The best way to level difficulties is to employ the utmost frankness. The future of civilization depends upon the maintenance of the union between France and Great Britain.

THE BYE ELECTIONS IN GREAT BRITAIN

The Coalition Has Not Been in Such Good Spirits During Present Parliament.

London, April 17.—The London Times, which has long shown pronounced hostility to the present coalition ministry, admits that the return of Charles McCurdy for Northampton is a considerable bye-election success for the government. It says:

"The Premier is getting his promoted ministers back one by one and coalition has not been in such good spirits since the early days of the present Parliament. The three results this week suggest that the government's chief ally in constituencies at the present moment is the fear of more extreme labor demands."

The Manchester Guardian, independent Liberalism's chief exponent, looks with satisfaction on the excellent poll of 13,000 by Margaret Bondfield, the Labor candidate in Northampton.

The Daily Chronicle, coalitionist, recalls Mr. Asquith's declaration at the National Liberal Club earlier in the week that the independent Liberal disasters are due to the split vote between Liberalism and Labor, but the Chronicle asserts that Labor is determined to fight Liberalism everywhere, quoting several Labor leaders in support of them.

The Irish voters in the Sunderland bye-election have resolved to support the Labor candidate against Sir Hamar Greenwood.

Solidarity of Sinn Feiners Menaced by Embargo Edict

The Sinn Fein Farmers Are Dependent on Agricultural Products and Not Willing to Sacrifice Them in the Interests of the Party.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Dublin, April 17.—The embargo on the export of bacon, pigs and butter, announced Thursday, may have serious consequences. Belief is expressed here that it may threaten the solidarity which heretofore has been possible between labor and the Sinn Feiners. As the Sinn Fein farmers and the laborers are dependent on agricultural profits, it is considered unlikely that they will sacrifice them.

LEGISLATORS WANT MORE INDEMNITY

Demand for $800 or $1,000 Made in Committee on Supply.

Members of the Provincial Legislature want their sessional indemnity increased and last night two of their supporters called upon the Government to advance the amount of indemnity from $500 to $1,000 while one Opposition member wanted it made $800. Last year the Contingencies Committee voted the members a bonus of $100 each and it was said at the time there was an understanding that the indemnity would be made $800 this year. No provision was made in the estimates for increased indemnity but Premier Foster said he would place the matter before the Government within a few days. The suggestion was also made that the salaries of the Minister be increased from $2,100 to $3,500 and another suggestion was reducing the number of Mministers to three, there being nine members of the Government now, two of them being without portfolio while the Premier does not administer a department.

Mr. LeBlanc, speaking in Committee on Supply to the item of $4,700 for extra sessional indemnity to the members of $100 each said that last year the House had assurance that something would be done towards increasing the sessional allowance of $500. He was not afraid and not ashamed to put himself on record. In Ontario the allowance was $2,500 and in Quebec $2,000. Nova Scotia paid $1,000. The Government should take this into consideration.

Mr. Michaud said that the sessional indemnity in New Brunswick bore no comparison with that in other provinces, and yet the House passed more bills and received more delegations than in other provinces. His constituents were willing that indemnity be increased and had told him so. The salaries of heads of departments also should be increased. There were instances of their deputies getting more than did the ministers. One feature in New Brunswick which did not hold in other provinces was the work which a member had to do during recess in connection with the highways that was deserving of increased indemnity alone. The revenue could be increased. There were the Crown Lands as well as other resources. Heads of departments should not get less than $3,500 and the leader of Opposition ex-officio should receive more than he did. He would advocate a sessional indemnity of $1,000.

Mr. Tilley said that with nine members in the cabinet the increased salaries would prove expensive. He would suggest amalgamation of the departments. Some ministers earned their salaries, others had their work done by deputies. The man who attended to his job should be paid a reasonably good salary. The ministers were entitled to more than $2,100. He would suggest three ministers. An active man could handle two departments, and could stay in Fredericton all the time. As far as sessional indemnity was concerned he would suggest $800 as not being out of the way. Last year it had been intimated that such would be the amount and this year it was expected.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that many people in the province would agree with him when he said that the indemnity and ministers' salaries were wholly inadequate. He did not know when the indemnity was last increased, but since that time there had been a tremendous increase borne by each member. The suggestion of the hon. member for St. John (Tilley to amalgamate departments was splendid in theory, but difficult to put into practice. It was not so easy as his hon. friend seemed to think. If he should consult with hon. members of the Opposition who had been in former administrations he would find that their opinion was the same. He had given considerable thought to the problem of the reduction of cabinet ministers, but could not yet solve it. In spite of statements which had been made he would say that no Government had ever been in office in New Brunswick which containde the member which devoted more time to the business of the province. By saying that he did not intend to reflect upon previous ministries, but merely to state a fact. Although the population of the province had not increased as rapidly as desired, public business had grown enormously. It was the old story of demands for money in every direction, and it was difficult to comply with such requests. He had every sympathy with the desire of hon. members that the sessional indemnity should be increased, and had given the matter consideration. He would place the matter before the Government within a few days.

WEDDINGS.

Theobald-Libbey.

Quebec, April 16.—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Baptist church, this city, on Thursday evening, April 8th, when Janie Linton Libbey, of Brockway, York Co., N. B., and Percy Frederick Theobald, of this city, formerly of Faversham, Kent, England, were joined in marriage. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fitzwalter A. Wentworth. Mrs. Mary Thorne presided at the organ. The bride wore a travelling suit of navy blue with a corsage bouquet of pink roses. She was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. George T. Boone, of this city, while the groom was supported by his brother, E. G. Theobald. A large number of friends and relatives of the bride witnessed the ceremony. After the wedding service the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. George T. Boone, where they were served with a delightful luncheon. The dining room was decorated in gold and white, with bouquets of golden daffodils, and the place cards were hand painted. The couple will reside in this city.

Miss Ethel Boone, of Milltown, Maine, and Mrs. A. Boone, Mrs. Geo. Guest and Master Ellis Boone, of McAdam, N. B., were among the guests present.

Carleton County is Denied Bye-Election and House Goes Into Supply on 19 to 15 Vote

Mr. Mersereau of Sunbury Says His Opinions Have Not Changed but He Voted the Other Way—Supporters Criticize Government Lack of Assistance to Immigration and Failure to Provide Adequate Salaries for the School Inspectors—Mr. Young Secures Promise of Highway to Napudogan.

By a vote of 19 to 15, one-quarter of the members being absent or paired, the Legislature yesterday afternoon voted down the amendment not to go into Supply until writs had been issued to fill the vacancy existing in Carleton county's representation and then passed the Supply motion by the same vote.

This action followed the longest Budget debate in recent history at least, having lasted for three weeks and two days, and with the House sitting throughout the week-end passing Supply the opinion has been expressed that prorogation will be reached by the end of next week. However, it is believed a more correct view is that the House will have all it can do to finish its business properly by the latter part of the following week.

The voting down of the amendment to the Supply motion was preceded by two amusing incidents in which former Premier Robinson and Mr. Mersereau of Sunbury participated. Hon. Mr. Robinson, who had moved adjournment of the debate for the second time, did not advance any argument why the Carleton county vacancy should not have been filled long ago, and Mr. Mersereau merely told the House that he had not changed his previous opinion—which he has expresed when he condemned the failure of the Government to fill the vacancy in Carleton county as "bad policy and bad politics"—but that he was going to vote against his own opinion as thus explained, which he did.

Mr. Robinson, on the order of the day being called, said that it was not his intention to prolong the Budget debate or to speak at length on the amendment moved by the acting leader of the Opposition. He wished to point out that, in view of the fact that it was the constitutional right of every consituency to have its full representation, Moncton was entitled to two members, whereas it had only one. The two hon. members who sat for Carleton county gave to that proportion of the population a larger representation than the city of Moncton had at the present time, and while he sympathized with the idea that Moncton was entitled to its full quota, he would not go to the extent of holding up Supply in order that it might be accomplished.

Mr. Mersereau said he had previously made a statement in regard to the vacancy in Carleton. He had expressed only his own opinion and he had not changed it. He believed, however, that the Government would in the near future do the right thing by the county of Carleton, and not wishing to have Supply further delayed, he would vote against the amendment.

On the amendment being put by Mr. Speaker, the House divided as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Young, Tilley, Baxter, Smith (Carleton), Taylor, Campbell, Potts, Peck, Crocket, Pinder, Sutton, Grimmer, Smith (Charlotte), Carson, Hunter—15.

Nays—Hon. Messrs. Foster, Smith, Byrne, Veniot, Murray, Dugal, Roberts, Burchill, McGrath, Dysart, LeBlanc, Michaud, Leger (Westmorland) Leger (Gloucester), Robichaud, Bordage, Melanson, Mersereau, King—19.

The original motion that the House resolve itself into a Committee of Supply was carried by the same vote reversed.

Mr. Baxter asked that the names be recorded in the journals of the House.

COMMITTEE ON SUPPLY.

Government Supporters Criticize the Lack of Assistance to Immigration.

The House then went into committee with Mr. Leger (Westmorland) in the chair, and took up consideration of Supply to be granted His Majesty.

Hon. Mr. Byrne, on the appropriation for administration of justice, said he wished to reply to some criticisms which had been directed at his department. The expenditure last year was $23,776 against $23,512 for 1916, the last year of the old administration. The salaries in 1916 amounted to $5,750 against $6,755 for 1919. The increase had been brought about by adding $300 to the salary of Court Stenographer S. D. Simmons, $100 to the salary of Crier Gill and by establishing a salary of $300 for the clerk of the Divorce Court instead of paying him in fees. That accounted for the full increase over the salaries paid in 1915. The department had also increased the salaries of Miss Blanche Whitehead and George B. Leonard, court stenographers, but it had been done on the order of the Chief Justices. The stamp fees now derived from the Divorce Court, which formerly went to the clerk, more than paid his salary. The travelling expenses of stenographers and reporters was greater than in 1916, but the department was not responsible for that. Unfortunately there has been an increase in crime during the year, which was probably in a measure due to the abnormal conditions following the war.

While the Government had abolished the payment of the commission on succession duties the amount saved was not shown in the accounts. They had collected $70,000 in succession duties last year, and under the rate of commission formerly paid there was sufficient saving to pay the salary of the Deputy Attorney General and leave a balance to the credit of the Government.

Mr. LeBlanc Criticizes Government.

Mr. LeBlanc, speaking to the item of colonization of roads, said Restigouche had more colonization than any other county of the province. Each year it was the same, $5,000 appropriated by law and $2,000 voted by the House. There was talk of immigration, but without any effort on the part of the Governent a considerable number of very desirable citizens had come into the province. What had the Government done for them in colonization roads or in any other way? Some forty years ago settlers were brought from the old country and placed upon some seventy lots in Balmoral, Restigouche county. The Government cleared the land and built houses and assisted in every way. Today the descendants of just one of those settlers were there. The majority of the party left in a few years. Their farms had been acquired by native Canadians, who were the only people to send into virgin forests to make homes. Along the International Railway in Restigouche county there were settlements made within a few years which had a population totalling seven or eight thousand. This district had been created a separate parish and sent two councillors to Restigouche County Council. It did not look right to vote the magnificent sum of $7,000 for all the colonization roads in the province. He admitted that the hon. Minister of Public Works had come to the rescue in the parish of Grimmer and had assisted on the highways. The province of Quebec was preparing to spend $5,000,000 in colonization. Why could not the House vote $5,000 instead of $2,000

Mr. Baxter asked if Grimmer or Hazen Settlements could be reached by highway.

Mr. LeBlanc said they could not. The only roads were in the settlements themselves.

A Madawaska Complaint, Too.

Mr. Michaud said he concurred in the remarks of his hon. friend from Restigouche. Madawaska also had its colonization problem. There was a tract there improperly furnished with roads. He would direct the attention of the House to the fact that the encouragement of settlement was one very effective way of readjusting Maritime Province representation at Ottawa. It was highly desirable to encourage those who would stay upon the land. If the members would go to the northern counties they would gain some idea of the hardships which settlers underwent. He noticed that teh department of lands and mines had an estimate of a doubled revenue. A good part of that money should go to colonization roads$ 35,000 would not be too much

Mr. Tilley said he had visited that section of Restigouche under discussion, and he concurred in what had been said about the industry of the people who had made the setlements. It was a part of the country from which money should not be withheld. He agreed that native Canadians made the best settlers.

Mr. Potts said the matter deserved careful consideration. A vote of $2,000 on this item was insufficient. The members who had brought up the matter should not let it drop. If they were sincere in their request for a large vote it was all right. If they were playing politics for the purpose of impressing the people of the new settlements it was all wrong. He wished the people of the district in question to have good roads, in fact engaged to one of the three musketeers

Although she lived in Quebec, Fanchette told Paul Duhamel she was engaged to D'Artagnan, one of "Three Musketeers" fame. ¶Paul was a simple soul. He had never heard of the "Three Musketeers." He believed Fanchette. He loved her and he greatly feared so fine a rival. ¶But when Fanchette tearfully told him the dashing D'Artagnan had basely deserted her for a more beauteous lady, Paul was mighty in his wrath. He would punish this trickster. Paul was brave, you see. Just what Paul did and what happened to the minx, Fanchette, is told in a highly amusing manner by Victor Rousseau in "The Wooing of Fanchette" appearing in the April issue of

Allies Would Have to Keep 300,000 Troops in Turkey to Ensure Execution of Treaty

None of the Entente Powers Disposed to Furnish Large Numbers of Soldiers to Impose Treaty Terms on Turks and Therefore There May Be Easier Terms.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

San Remo, April 17. — The Allied nations would be called upon to maintain a force of 300,000 men in Turkey to insure execution of the terms of the treaty with that country which was framed at London recently, it is understood.

This treaty will be considered by the supreme allied council when it opens its sessions here next Monday, and announcements that Marshal Foch, of France, and Field Marshal Wilson, of Great Britain, would be present at the meeting, is regarded as indicating that military experts will be called upon by the council before it decides finany on the terms to be suomitted to the Sultan. The draft of the treaty which has been prepared, is looked upon as being susceptible to important modifications with a view to removing obstacles to execution.

None of the Entente powers is disposed to furnish large numbers of soldiers to impose the treaty terms on the Turks. Greece, it is understood, is ready to send an army to Asia Minor, but there are serious objections to the presence of Greeks there, as it would probably intensify Turkish resistance. Hence there is a strong undercurrent of opinion in favor of softening the terms and sparing Turkish pride as far as possible, in order that the treaty may be accepted by a Turkish government strong enough to overcome nationalist opposition.

A FORGERY CASE IN COURT TODAY

Three Witnesses in Forgery Case Heard This Morning.

The preliminary hearing of the two prisoners, Herbert Adams of Metapedia and Eugene Guimand of Campbellton, who are charged with having uttered a forged cheque on the Bank of Nova Scotia in this city, was begun this morning before Police Magistrate Limerick in the Police Court. After the evidence of five witnesses was taken, the prisoners were remanded to jail until Monday morning, when their hearing will be concluded.

J. J. McCaffrey, proprietor of the Queen Hotel, when called to the stand this morning, stated the prisoners had registered at the Queen Hotel on Saturday, March 7th. Guimond had asked him to endorse a cheque for a friend of his, a returned soldier named Downs, but the witness had objected, as he did not know Downs. He had consented to endorse the cheque for identification, which he had done. He recognized the cheque produced as evidence.

Albert Downs, of Metapedia, whose name was forged to the cheque, stated that it was not his. It had come to his notice when it was sent from this city to Campbellton, where he had declared it a forgery. He knew Adams, having had him as a visitor to his home on several occasions.

Miss Bessie McGinnis, clerk at the Queen Hotel, was called to identify a page of the Hotel register which was produced as evidence and which bore the names of the two prisoners as well as that of another man named Simon Astles.

William Henderson, accountant at the Bank of Nova Scotia, remembered having refused to initial it until it had been identified.

To Wed This Afternoon.

A quiet but pretty wedding takes place at the Methodist parsonage this afternoon at 4.30 o'clock when Miss Helen L. Clark, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark of this city, and Walter A. Dennison, son of the late G. J. Dennison, of St. John, will be united in marriage by Rev. G. M. Young. The bride will wear a travelling suit of navy blue serge with blue and taupe hat and will be unattended. The groom is a returned soldier, having gone overseas with the 2nd D. A. C. from this city. GERMANY NEAR STATE OF COLLAPSE

Country Will Be on the Rocks Within a Year, if Reforms Not Effected.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Berlin, April 17.—Financial and economic collapse confronts Germany within a year if the people do not realize the situation of the country and reform their methods of living, said Dr. Wierth, Minister of the Treasury, addressing the burget committee of the National Assembly. Despair over the critical period and means of meeting it was indicated by the Minister during his speech. His view of the position of Germany was supported by Gustav Nosse, former Minister of Defence.

"If we cannot bring our financial policy in line with economic principles," he exclaimed, "I confess I cannot see any way out of it. Another increase in wages will soon be demanded, particularly by workers on the state railroads, and I shudder to contemplate the next railway budget. It was hoped the deficit would not exceed 7,00,000,000 marks, but it will not be less than 12,000,000,000, according to estimates."

Herr Noske emphasized the urgency of making the country know the facts, adding:

"The people are living in a state of intoxication, and one feels helpless when he thinks of the position Germany will be in a year hence. A debacle is certain if the people do not live frugally.

The potato merchants were found to have charged $14 in one case and $11.50 in another for 150-pound sacks.

BRINGING UP FATHER.

Crowds Turned Away Last Evening from Fraser Memorial Hall When Comedy Farce "Bringing Up Father" Was Put On.

S. R. O. was the sign hung out last evening at the Fraser Memorial Hall when the Senior Mission Band of St. Paul's Presbyterian church presented their musical farce "Bringing Up Father."

The play was one calculated to cause even the most pessimistic of the audience to wrinkle their faces and laugh at the efforts of the well known Jiggs to escape the tyranny of his well known Maggie It was a screaming hit throughout and the efforts of the players together with those of Glen Mowat, the author and director of the play and who had a large part to do with its success, were well aplauded. The character of Jiggs, Maggie and Dinty Moore with that of their daughter Rosie stood out prominently and from time to time the applause was deafening. Dinty Moore was a tragic looking ruffian who took his part well, as did all the characters of the play. The adorable Maggie proved a laugh producer all throughout the acts, which were three in number.

The characters were taken as follows:

Jiggs (whom we all know).....Maurice (Bob) VanWart
Rosie (Jigg's daughter).....Mildred M. Green
Maid (nowadays a freak).....Hazel Barton
Gerald Metcalfe (Rose's "Jerry").....John Fogg
Nan Smith (friend of Rosie).....Grace Grant
Mrs. Smith (Nan's mother).....Isabel Wiley
Maggie (whom Jiggs knows too well).....Glen Mowat
Duke Trelawney Ressanler De Spoof.....Douglas Downing Eliza Jane (beauty is only skin deep).....Jean Adams
Dinty Moore (friend of Jiggs but not of Wilson).....James B. Adams
Maggie).....John Fogg
Clancey (friend of Jiggs, but not of Mike (Maggie's brother).....Edwin Blackmer
Julie (Rosie's friend)..Claire Fowler
Ida Clare (so do I).....Isabel Scott
Mme. Fifi (who spills the beans).....Myrtle Scott

Tennant's orchestra played between the acts and furnished the accompaniments for the singing.

"Bone Dry" Resolution To Be Introduced in the House Next Week By Mr. Tweeddale

Likely to Be Treated as a Non-Party Question—Influential Members of House Said to Favor Delay Until After Vote on Provincial Prohibition Law.

The Municipalities Committee was the only one to meet in the Legislature this morning and it cleaned up all the bills to come before it, no less than 26 being disposed of by Chairman LeBlanc.

The Legislature is sitting this afternoon, going on with Supply and various private bills, and tonight the Government will hold a meeting, when it is believed Supplementary Estimates, the appointment of a chairman of the Public Utilities Commission and other matters will be taken up.

Premier Foster said at noon today that he did not feel he could now safely forecast the end of the session next week, as there were still many important matters to be disposed of.

"Bone Dry" Resolution Next Week.

The present outlook is that the resolution urged by the New Brunswick Temperance Alliance, whereby the Legislature would ask the Federal Government to bring on without delay the referendum on the question of importations of liquor for personal use, will be introduced early next week.

Hon. J. F. Tweeddale, Minister of Agriculture, will, it is said, move the resolution, and Mr. Peck, of Albert, will second it, the Alliance thus having a member of the Government to move and a member of the Opposition to second the resolution.

There is already much speculation as to what fate the resolution will meet. The present outlook is that there will be no alignment of parties but that the individual members will act independently on the question. There is, however, a growing feeling amongst the members that the referendum on the general question of provincial prohibition, the law having been adopted as a war-time measure in this province, should first be held, and that after that referendum takes place the Federal Government could be asked to act and bring on the plebiscite on the question of importations for personal use, as at present allowed. Such a viewpoint, it was said today, would be taken by some of the most influential men in the House and was sure to have a large measure of support.

Devon and Fredericton Bills.

The municipalities committee met at 10 o'clock. The bill relating to the water supply of the town of Devon, for the purpose of extending the system was considered and reported with slight amendments.

The bill relating to assessment in the town of Woodstock requiring all persons liable to assessment to file sworn statements of property and income and granting exemption on $600 of all incomes was reported.

The bill to establish a Municipal Home in Carleton county was reported.

The bill to amend the city of Fredericton Assessment Act was considered. The first section, providing for the assessment of personal estate wherever situated of deceased residents during the year in which death occurred was struck out and the bill reported as amended.

The bill relating to sidewalks in the town of Woodstock, providing among other sections for assessments of 35 and 15 per cent. on property on respective sides of a street in which a sidewalk is laid on only one side, was reported.

The bills authorizing the Newcastle school trustees to issue debentures to the amount of $35,000 and to authorize the town of Bathurst to issue $10,000 debentures for permanent sidewalks were reported.

Washout on Main Line.

The C. P. R. train which was to have left here this morning at 10.35 for St. John did not leave until 1.15 o'clock this afternoon. A washout on the main line near Danforth, Me., delayed the incoming train and the officials deemed it advisable to hold the train here rather than let the passengers have a long wait at Fredericton Junction.

THE CRISIS ENDED.

The end has come quickly to the differences of opinion between Great Britain and France over the occupation by a French force of certain German Rhine cities, points out an exchange. The Government of France acted in a hurry; perhaps it has not fully recovered its nerves after the war-time excitement. The entry of German troops into the Ruhr region, which is under Allied control, was to suppress a workers' revolt, and appears to have been in the general interest, even if it was not authorized. The French troops advanced into German territory as a warning to the authorities at Berlin that they could not, under any conditions, take a course that threatened to imperil the conditions of peace, without the consent of the Allied Powers. So far as the British Government is concerned, the difference of view with France was less in regard to the propriety of the action, than in France having moved without consultation. An international, not a national force, would have had greater moral force. Such a difference should not have created antagonism between the Allies of the late war, who are equally concerned with the maintenance of the peace treaty. It probably did not even ruffle ministerial tempers. Excited writers for easily excited newspapers probably had most to do with creating any bad feeling that was shown. Their power of mischief is great beyond their sense of responsibility, and their work should be accepted subject to discount.

THE COST OF LIVING.

There may be force in the proposal that because of its failure to reduce the cost of living the Board of Commerce should be abolished, but not more than in the view that because of inability to regulate prices, the Board should never have been constituted. The debate in the Commons this week revealed the difficulties besetting a solution of the question. Urban representatives place the responsibility for high prices on the farmer, while rural representatives complain that factory operatives, in common with other classes of labor, have caused high prices by shortening the hours of work and raising the scale of wages. A better explanation is that high prices are world-wide, and that the people of Canada cannot escape from the influence of universal conditions. A naive remedy is that proposed by the member for Quebec West, Mr. Power, namely, to turn out the Government and put the Liberal party in office; but, as he carefully refrained from disclosing the panacea to be employed by his political friends, his plan need not be taken very seriously.

It is the easy and contemptible way of some politicians to blame the farmers when addressing an urban audience, and the city workers when speaking in rural parts, to damn profiteers, and to lay upon the back of the Government responsibility for conditions passing the limits of legislation; but this sort of froth gets nowhere, remarks the Montreal Gazette. Prices are not higher in Canada than elsewhere, and no country has been able to devise a sovereign remedy by statutory enactments. In Europe there is privation and distress because both of high prices and of scarcity, even those having means to purchase finding the markets bare of many commodities desired. Would the solons in Parliament arbitrarily fix prices? If so, where would they begin. Obviously, prices being based upon supply and demand, and supply being dependent, in large measure, upon cost, the initial proceeding is to reduce cost in order to stimulate production and lower selling price. That means a reduction in wages. Labor must be made cheaper. How would Mr. Verville, M.P., and the trades unions view a law arbitrarily cutting existing wages in half? The consequence of such legislation would be a general strike of workers, a cessation of production and higher prices than ever. Farmers will not submit to price-fixing, as the experience of the Board of Commerce has shown. Nor is a controlled price for domestic consumption and an uncontrolled price for foreign trade practicable. If any one doubts this statement let him consult the United Farmers party.

There is a deal of reckless talk about profiteering and cold storage as the root of high prices, when at most these things touch only the fringe of the case. The fashion has come to be to stigmatize as a profiteer every man who makes success of his business. If relatively large earnings constitute profiteering, then laborers, artisans, mechanics, deserve the stigma, since their wages have mounted in approximate ratio to the price of commodities. The United States Government sought to reduce the cost of living by proceeding against profiteers, and has not made any perceptible dent on prices. A parliamentary committee in Great Britain has been unable to discover any extensive profiteering upon which special taxes can be applied or punishment inflicted. Upon this point the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Chamberlain, recently said: "Even if "they could stop profiteering altogether, they would have dealt with "but a very small section of the "problem of high prices. It must not "be supposed that every increase of "today's prices above pre-war prices "of any article indicated that some-"one or that a number of people were "profiteering to the extent of the "difference between the two. If wages "were only worth half what they "were, then capital was only worth "half what it was, and the same rule "applied to all classes of the commu-"nity." The fact is that so-called profiteering has arisen from the rise in prices, and not the rise from profiteering. The higher cost of living has, of course, hit the manufacturer and merchant equally with the wage earner.

THE FRANCHISE ACT.

We confess to a good deal of sympathy with the plight of the United Farmers in being restrained from making contributions to political funds, remarks an exchange. The joke of the matter is that while the United Farmers have seen in the prohibitory section of the Franchise Bill now before Parliament a cunning scheme to prevent propaganda on their part, and have accordingly roundly denounced the Union Government for attempting assassination of the grangers' movement, the section objected to has been law for twelve years past! The sin of the Government has been no more than to retain the disabilities imposed by the Liberal Parliament in 1908, which goes to show that much spleen and anger have been misdirected by the leaders of the United Farmers. None the less, the contention of the Farmers that they should be permitted as an association to contribute funds for political purposes is not weakened by the existence of a law to the contrary. There is a disposition on the part of some people to take all the joy out of an election, to render it a deadly dull affair, solemn as a funeral, and in devising precautions against the destruction of the State by the bribery of a weak and ignorant voter, legislators seem to have refined too much. It surely is not the contribution to a campaign fund, whether it be a widow's mite, now that we have female suffrage, or the large donation of a plutocrat, that is objectionable per se. Everything depends upon the use to which the money is put. As the late Hon. Mr. Tarte was wont to say, elections are not made with prayers. They are costly things under the most favorable circumstances, as an expenditure of $6,000, legitimately made, to elect the Farmers' candidate in Assiniboia attests, and it is worth consideration whether a liberal expenditure of money in proper ways is not more desirable than reprehensible. Propaganda, for example, has to be paid for. Writer, printer and distributor of political literature cost money, and the money thus spent is well spent even when it fails to elect a particular candidate. No one should object to having the school master abroad in the land; and it passes understanding why the supporters of a party and a cause should be treated as criminals if they contribute money thereto for educational and other proper purposes.

KINGS COLLEGE TO STAY AT WINDSOR

An Alliance With Dalhousie University Not Considered Feasible at This Time.

St. John, April 17.—King's College is to be re built at Windsor on a larger and more ambitious plan and its sphere of usefulness is to be greatly increased. This decision was arrived at at a largely attended and important meeting of the board of governors held in the Church of England Institute yesterday morning and afternoon. Besides transacting other business the board made arrangements for the holding of the Encaenia at Windsor in May. Rev. Canon Allan B. Shatford, of Montreal, who served overseas with distinction, is to be alumnae orator at the Encaenia.

His Lordship Bishop Richardson presided over the greater part of the meeting and when he was obliged to withdraw his place was taken by Archdeacon Forsythe, of Chatham.

STRIKING CHANGES IN PENSIONS LAW

Recommendations of the Board of Pensions Commissioners Quite Drastic.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 16.—Several striking changes in the pensions law were recommended to the special pensions committee of the Commons today, in a statement submitted by the Board of Pensions commissioners. Consideration of the proposed amendments is now under way.

Among the important changes suggested was one whereby a pensioner's disability would be considered permanent after three years had elapsed from the date of the amendments being adopted. The pensions commissioners, in their recommendations, pointed out that many disabilities would increase with the aging of the pensioners, and medical re-examinations, if continued, would continue to increase Canada's pensions bill. They pointed to the experiences of the United States, where the increases in disability after the civil war kept the pensions bill growing, despite the fact that pensioners were being reduced in number by death.

Another important suggested amendment was to the effect that all pensioners of less than twenty per cent. disability be given the option of accepting a lump sum gratuity in lieu of pension. The amount of money involved would be between $8,000,000 and $12,000,000 and some 40,900 men would be affected by this decision. The gratuity would probably be paid off within three to five years, the commissioners advanced, and the administration expenses of the board would be materially reduced by the adoption of such a plan.

In support of this idea the commissioners submitted a table estimating the number of men in each class, probable average gratuity and total sum needed for the purpose as follows:

Disability	Number Pensioners	Average Gratuity	Total Gratuity
5 to 9 p c. ...	8,319	$150	$1,247,850
10 to 14 p. c...	22,055	300	6,616,500
15 to 19 p.c...	10,548	450	4,746,600
	40,922		$12,610,950

The commissioners pointed out that it was impossible to make a very clear estimate of probable cost, but if all men now receiving pensions accepted the gratuity offer there would be an outlay of about $12,500,000 this year, and the annual pension bill would be reduced by something over $3,000,000.

A goodly portion of what the world calls good luck is composed of ninety-nine parts of ambition and one part of talent.

MUCH DAMAGE FROM MAINE FRESHETS

Bangor, Maine, April 16.—The village of Sherman Mills, in Aroostook county, faces serious damage today from a freshet that carried away a dam and flooded Main street to a depth of four feet. Ice in a jam upstream constituted the greatest menace, as there was a prospect that the floes carried by the flood would sweep structures along the entire street.

BANKING ON BRAINS

The record of the men behind any business is the best guarantee of its success. Three members of the firm of Clark Bros., Limited, St. Stephen, N. B., are practical men of proven ability who overcame a heavy handicap and built up a shoe manufacturing business with a national reputation in seven short years. The investor buying the new 8 per cent. preferred issue is protected by insurance on the lives of these men to practically the entire amount of the preferred stock.

A SPRING POEM

"CLEANLINESS IS NEXT TO GODLINESS."
—KORAN.

"Oh, woman, in thine hours of ease
Uncertain, coy and hard to please,
When cleaning house bedew the brow,
Hustling Angel thou."

Oh, man, with boots outside the door,
Beware for tacks bestrew the floor;
Fail not to rise early the carpets to beat,
All must be done before breakfast you eat.

Forget not the musical stovepipes to clean;
Say not you are weary—'tis only your "spleen"—
With soot on your hands and black on your nose
And dust on your everyday second best clothes.

With such visions as these in your practical mind,
Remember 'tis well to appease womankind;
And nothing will please her as well as to say:—
"My Dear, choose your Carpets and Curtains at EDGECOMBE'S today."

The breath of Spring admonishes our Celestial Housekeepers that house cleaning and furnishing should be the "Battle Cry." We have the goods to deliver, all that is necessary is to call and select them.

THE LIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE

Touchy About Sons.

"Do you think, my darling," he gurgled, "that your father will consent to our marriage?"

"Well, Popkins," she replied "of course papa will be sorry to lose me, still—"

"But," interrupted the ardent one, "I will remind him that instead of losing a daughter he will gain a son."

A deadly pallor overspread her damask cheek.

"Clarence," she cried, "if you really want me, I implore you to say nothing so foolish. Papa has three such sons living with him now and he's extremely touchy on the subject."

Love's Infinite Variety.

"Yes," she said, "for a week I was the furniture broker's 'sweet,' then the pastry-baker's 'tart,' the poulterer often called me his 'duck'; the fishman called me his twin 'soul.' I was a jeweller's 'pearl' and the gardener's 'daisy.' Bullock, the butcher, called me his 'lamb.' When the fruiter was in a good mood he called me his 'peach.' But you, dear, she said to the shoemaker, "came 'last,' and you are my 'all'."

"Do you realize that this razor was made in Germany?" asked the judge.

"I reckon is musta been, suh. I procured it off'n a daid German pusson out in Nobody's Land. I knowed he was daid because I had just pulled my bayonet outen him."

"Oh, you fought in France" exclaimed the court.

"Yes, suh, I was a black devil, an I thought this razor might be valuable, suh."

"For shaving?"

"No, suh; for social pu'poses."

FROM THE PEOPLE

JUSTICE FOR SOLDIERS.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Referring to a communication signed by Uncle Ruben, published in your paper of yesterday's date, this man makes a very bold attack on returned soldiers, and if he has a son a returned soldier more shame to him for writing such a statement, untrue in every particular.

In the first place a month or a year is absolutely not enough for a returned man to be re-established in civil life. If Uncle Ruben had lived the life of the average soldier the last four years he would never have written such a statement in your paper.

Concerning Canada's present re-establishment of returned men and the gratuity they have already given, it is no more than Canada should have done, considering the part Canadians played in the Great War.

Because other countries have not done as much as Canada has done for her returned soldiers there is no earthly reason that Canadian soldiers should not have received the gratuity they did. It is up to other countries to give their soldiers just as much as the Canadians got, and as much more as they could give him.

If a man receives money for certain duties, is it anybody's (least of all Uncle Ruben), to say which way he should spend it? That was nobody's business but the returned soldier's himself.

Your contributor also states he has a son a returned soldier, at the same time telling us that he was wounded in the knee. Was every returned soldier damned lucky enough to get hit in the kene? This question answers itself.

If Uncle Ruben's daughter helped him in the fields, it is no earthly reason that she should have done so, for other girls had to do more than that in England for practically nothing.

Re the industrious qualities of the returned soldiers, I think he is proud he has evidently tried his best to get along without bothering anybody.

Referring to his theory "returned soldiers preferred," that is all bull. A returned soldier is preferred for any job the average man will not touch and a good many returned soldiers could supply him with that proof in and around Fredericton.

The trouble is this: The average Canadian, man, woman or child, who never was out of this country while the war was on, never realized what they escaped or what the returned soldiers had done for them. It is a great pity that a Hun airplane could not have dropped a load of bombs on Uncle Ruben's farm. It would have brought home to him the realization that helping the returned soldiers did not mean hurling abuse at them by means of a newspaper.

One last word: If you cannot do any good in the world, don't do any harm. This is for the benefit of Uncle Ruben. I would strictly advise him not to ever publish his name to that communication. Results might prove very unpleasant for him.

Yours,
RETURNED MAN.
Fredericton, N. B., April 15, 1920.

MEANING OF TEMPERANCE.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Recently I read of a deputation preparing to see Premier Foster on "the temperance question." Do these people know what "temperance" means? I don't think they do.

"Temperance" does not mean "total abstinence."

A person who believes in temperance is not a teetotaller, he believes in being temperate in drinking, eating, smoking, etc

Why should the country be run by persons who are so narrow-minded that they think a person who smokes and has a glass of beer, or whisky, as the case may be, is a confirmed drunkard and goes plunk to hell? I presume the inhabitants of Great Britain are all heathen.

If these persons were more temperate in their speaking, the community at large would greatly benefit by it.

Pussyfoot will never make Great Britain dry, because the inhabitants there have enough common sense not to take any notice of such twaddle and are temperate in all things. Since being discharged from the army after five years' service overseas, I come back to find that a part of such freedom (I presume, Mr. Editor, that the Union Jack stands for freedom, etc.), is taken away from us.

As one of the so-called 'Drunken British Soldiers" who helped to defend the Empire in time of need instead of staying at home and making money, I make protest.

Yours,
KHAKI.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

he expected to go there and speak to the people. He would suggest that the item stand for a while.

Hon. Mr. Veniot to the Rescue.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that the Hazen and Grimmer settlements had been opened some ten years ago. He had visited them then when they were a few log cabins, and in 1918 he had gone again and found a population of at least 7,000 people. Roads existed from Kedgwick to St. Quentin, within the settlements. The people wanted highway conection either north to Campbellton or south to St. Leonards or St Annes. It would be 35 miles to St. Leonards and 22 miles to Campbellton. The route had been partially surveyed and a proposition had been placed before the Dominion Government to open a road from St. Quentin to Siegas. If the Dominion could see its way clear to give a 40 per cent. assistance to this, as a principal farm road, the work would go on rapidly. If the province had to act alone it would take longer. The custom had been to spend money for colonization roads on opening the roads. Later the settlers did $30 worth of road work. He did not consider that system a good one.

While this Restigouche colony was the laragest and proabbly the most prosperous one in the province there were others. An attempt was being made to colonize returned soldiers on the Blue Bell Tract in Victoria county, and a bill was before the House to purchase for settlement purposes from the New Brunswick Land and Railway Company a tract of 4,000 acres back of Cemeau Ridge, Madawaska county. After those schemes came others in Northumberland, Gloucester and Kent. There was on foot a scheme to establish soldiers' settlements between Saumarez and Bathurst. The distance between the two places was about 18 miles. Twenty-four miles of highway to Bathurst would cut off a journey of sixty-four miles. The Department of Public Works was debarred from opening new roads; that was under the Department of Lands and Mines. He had a suggestion to make to the minister of that department, either that a larger amount be spent on colonization roads or that the matter be placed entirely under the Department of Public Works. Under the present arrangement the work was merely a subordinate part of a large and important department. Under the arrangement which he had suggested there would be some one who would consider the opening of such roads part of the departmental duty. As far as the suggestion just made by hon. members was concerned, it was going too far to ask for an increase of $30,000. It was not too much for the purpose, but under conditions of the present year would not be warranted. When Grimmer Settlement first was opened such an amount would have produced magnificent results. He suggested that members of the counties concerned meet with the Minister of Lands and Mines and hold a consultation.

To Build Napudogan Road.

Mr. Young said that the county of York contained quite a little town located on the Transcontinental division of the C. N. R., which possessed no means of communication with the outside world except a railway. That was Napudogan, a sub-divisional point with a growing population. There was no highway, but the construction of a stretch of nine miles of road would connect the place with Williamsburg and give easy access to Stanley. The people wanted that. The road could not come under Farm Settlement, however, because the Nashwaak Pulp & Paper Co. owned all the land.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said this would come under the Department of Public Works. He could inform the hon. member and the House that a survey for that road had been ordered and was partly done. The survey would be completed by the late summer or autumn, and it had been decided to construct the road.

Mr. Baxter said he would support the movement for increased money for colonization roads, and he felt that if the members interested requested an increase they would get it. He noticed by the Public Accounts that 12 per cent. of the appropriation last year remained unexpended. Either the Minister of Lands and Mines did not want to spend the money, or the members of the counties concerned did not press him.

Hon. Mr. Smith said that applications for colonization road money usually were three times larger than could be met, and the money had to be distributed throughout the province. An expenditure of $7,000 was authorized last year, but the terms were not met in all cases. This had been on account of the scarcity of labor. There had been $2,000 to be expended in Restigouche county, but it had not all been spent because men could not be secured to do the work. In one year, however, Restigouche overexpended. Money for colonization roads was not for maintenance, but for opening the roads.

Mr. Young asked if there was any statute defining the duties of settlers toward the roads.

Hon. Mr. Smith said there was not. After the road was opened the Department of Public Works assumed control.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that Mr. LeBlanc had made reference to the fact that there had been no increase for some time in the appropriation for colonization roads. The statement was hardly correct. The records showed that the amounts had been as follows: 1912, $300; 1913, $3,600; 1914, $3,500; 1915, $4,800. The appropriation at the present time, $7,000 in all, was considerably greater. Colonization roads money could not be applied to roads already built, and on that account could not be used on existing roads in Hazen and Grimmer settlements. He had visited those settlements himself and had travelled on the real colonization roads away back in the settlements. He fully appreciated the desirability of inducing settlers to come in, particularly those who would aid in working out the problem of increased production. What he deemed the most necessary was roads leading to the railways. The matter could be dealt with under Supplementary Estimates.

It being 6 o'clock, the committee took recess.

Maritime Conference Will Decide About Labor Bureaux

Little Sympathy With Proposal to Keep Them in Operation Shown by Premier Foster but Opposition Members Urge Continuation of Service.

A conference of representatives of the governments of the Maritime Provinces will soon be held to consider the question of continuing the Labor Bureaux, which the Federal Department of Labor have asked the provinces to take over and operate on a basis whereby the provinces and the Dominion will each pay half of the expense. There are six of the bureaux located in New Brunswick, two of which were opened as a temporary measure through representation of the D.S.C.R. on the North Shore.

Mr. Tilley, speaking in Committee on Supply on the item of Labor Bureaux, said he judged from the amount of $1,000 to be voted that it was not the intention of the government to meet the Dominion half way in the proposition of maintaining the Labor Bureau on a basis of equal sharing of the expense. The bureaux were of general benefit to the country, and the offer was a generous one on the part of the Dominion.

Mr. King said he did not recognize any great advantage in the Labor Bureaux. In connection with his coal mining operations at Minto he had had occasion to correspond with the Moncton bureau. Twice in February he had communicated with that bureau in an attempt to get miners and did not even get a reply.

Hon. Mr. Murray said he wanted to know what the Department of Labor at Ottawa was for. The Dominion had made this offer merely for the purpose of getting the provinces to assume the burden. The Federal authorities should not try to shoulder off responsibility.

Hon. Mr. Robinson said he had received requests from the City Council, labor organizations and the Board of Trade at Moncton, to the effect that at least the Moncton bureau be continued. He was sorry to hear the member for Queens (King) say what he had, as the Moncton bureau was generally recognized as having competent officials and being of value. All C. N. R. employees were obtained through that bureau, the patronage system having been dispensed with.

Mr. Smith (Carleton), asked if the hon. member was willing the province should bear half the cost.

Hon. Mr. Robinson said that he was. If the Department of Labor was considered, it must be united with some other department. As in Ontario, Agriculture might be the department. He would like to see another member for Moncton city and that member a Labor man.

Mr. Smith (Albert) endorsed what had been said with regard to the Moncton Bureau. It would be a mistake for the province not to maintain these bureaux. If the hon. member for Moncton (Robinson) were in earnest he should use his influence to preserve the Moncton Bureau.

Hon. Mr. Robinson said that he did not like the sound of one remark made by the hon. member for Albert (Smith) and he wanted him to know that he was in earnest and that he did not put forward ideas of this kind except in earnest. He regretted that his influence was not greater than it was.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that the establishment of these labor bureaus had resulted from a conference of Premiers held in Ottawa some two years before. At that time the Premiers of the three Maritime Provinces had said that they could not guarantee that their province would continue the bureaux. The cost in New Brunswik was $24,000 per year. Half of that amount would be $12,000, which would be a considerable item in provincial finances and not easily provided. The cost would increase, for the municipalities were paying the office rent at present, and the province supplying the furniture. It was probable that the municipalities would refuse to continue, and before long the annual cost would go up to $30,000. The expense was too rich for the blood of this province. He believed that they could be reorganized, but he would not be willing to take them over and assume all responsibility of reorganization and reduction in expenses. If it should be possible to run these bureaux without the lavish expenditure indulged in at present, he would not be unwilling to make the attempt. In that se[illegible] communicated with the Government of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island with a view toward having a Maritime conference held upon this subject.

The committee reported progress.

Carleton County Vacancy

ing after recess, wanted to know why the item of Contingencies to the Public Works Department had increased from $4,000 to $9,000.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said it was made up on the basis of last year's expenses. Postage stamps alone cost over $3,000.

Mr. Smith (Carleton), said that it seemed to be gaining ground. He noticed that 18 stenographers were employed, but not all of them whole time.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that the department was not over-manned, considering the fact that $3,000,000 was expended last year. Stenographers were paid $600 and $700 per year.

Mr. Tilley—"That is not enough."

Hon. Mr. Veniot told Mr. Sutton that the permanent ones were granted a bonus of $100 each last year.

The School Inspectors.

Hon. Mr. Foster, on the item of $4,800 for the travelling expenses of school inspectors, said the salaries paid were originally $1,800, but the Government had increased them to $2,000. Last year it was pointed out to him that the costs of travelling had greatly increased, and an extra allowance was asked for. He had placed in the estimates $300 for each of the inspectors for the year 1919 and a like amount for the year 1920. Next session legislation would be considered for increasing the amount.

Mr. Sutton said the allowance to be voted would give the inspectors a salary of $2,300 each, which was less than brakemen received on the train. He thought the House should vote an extra $500 instead of $300. The inspectors were now poorly paid, and they would be seeking employment elsewhere unless given more generous treatment.

Hon. Mr. Foster said he had promised them $300 extra for the two years, and was hopeful that the amount might be increased next year.

Mr. Sutton urged the committee to add $1,600 to the item and curtail along other lines.

Mr. Hunter thought the school inspectors should have $2,500 a year.

Mr. Crockét hoped the government could adopt the suggestion of the member for Carleton; otherwise some of the inspectors might leave the service.

Hon. Mr. Robinson said the school inspectors' salaries would be $2,300, and there were hundreds of men in Moncton who were receiving more than that and had no travelling to do and not as much responsibility. He thought the House might vote an increase.

Mr. Sutton said that in 1910 Woodstock assessed itself $7,000 for schools while this year the warrant was $20,000. He would stand for direct taxation to the extent of $1,600 if it were given to the inspectors.

Hon. Mr. Foster said the item could pass, and if they decided on an increase it could be provided for in the Supplementary Estimates. The inspectors were entitled to generous treatment, but the increases might be made gradually.

Mr. Sutton said he was willing to compromise and have an increase of $200 for the year 1920 only.

Mr. Sweeney said the inspectors were good men and he believed some of them would be lost to the province unless they were better paid. Their salaries were not as large as he would like to see.

Mr. Baxter, on the item of $100 for the Text Book Committee, said that, in view of the talk that had been heard concerning Myers' History many would like to know who composed that body, and what were their duties.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that some of the members of the committee reside in other provinces. He promised to secure the information and submit it to the House.

For Flat Roofs

FLAT roofs of wooden or concrete construction require special treatment. For such, we advise laying Brantford Rubber Roofing or Brantford Asphalt Roofing according to what we term Brantford Specification.

The 60 lb. roll roofing is used and is laid into our special Branroco Cement. A top coat of superior Roof Coating is then applied. The completed job furnishes an absolutely watertight roof and one that is also unaffected by frost. It is a permanent form of construction the same as the walls of a building.

Brantford Specification Roofs

are suitable for factories, stores, public buildings, apartment houses, warehouses—any class of building with a flat roof. Particulars and estimates of cost will be furnished on application to our local branch.

CHATHAM PLANTS OF GRAY-DORT MOTORS LIMITED—

You Can Buy the Best Gray-Dort Ever Built

THE Gray-Dort which your dealer has to-day is the best Gray-Dort ever built.

More than that. It is the greatest Gray-Dort value.

For $1,365 you get a Gray-Dort with ten major improvements and a dozen refinements.

With a bigger gas tank, placed in the rear, with a new, extra-heavy, extra-safe steering gear. With the emergency brake on a lever—and with Thermoid brake linings.

A more convenient Gray-Dort, the side curtains opening with the doors, with very much more leg-room in the tonneau and with more in the driving compartment because of the shorter and smarter cowl.

A Gray-Dort which has the good-looks of a smarter top, hand-tailored in our own shops, a smarter hood, with many long, narrow louvres.

There are many more refinements which you will find when you drive the new Gray-Dort.

Here you have the same powerful, finely-built motor with its big bore and long stroke. The same heavy crankshaft, many pounds heavier than on other light cars. A rear axle built specially for us right here in Chatham. Long springs, built here, too. Westinghouse starting and lighting. Improved Carter carburetor. Every unit of motor and chassis is bigger and stronger and higher quality than is usually considered for light cars.

Gray-Dort production has been doubled for this year. But our dealers tell us that this will not be sufficient to meet the demand. It would be wise to see the Gray-Dort dealer to-day.

A LOCAL BASEBALL LEAGUE IS PLANNED

Y. M. C. A. Takes Action—May Also Have Provincial "Y" League.

At a meeting of the Atheletic Association of the Y. M. C. A. last evening those present decided to organize a York County Baseball League of as many teams as possible for the coming summer for the promotion of the game.

Two teams will probably appear on the field for the Y. M. C. A. as there seems to be plenty of material on hand for two strong nines. The towns of Devon and Marysville will also be approached in the matter to see if they cannot put teams into the field and other organizations outside the Y. M. C. A. will proabbly do the same thing.

The Athletic Association, from President J. R. Walker down to the youngest member, all seem to be hot baseball fans and are contemplating a revival of former amateur baseball activities in this city during the approaching season. While the Y. M. C. A. has not as many members enrolled yet as it would like there are true baseball spirits among the present members who are willing to do their utmost to help along the promotion of the game.

It is thought that the formation of a Provincial Y. M. C. A. League would be a proper way in which the strength of the competing teams would remind old fans of the way in which baseball used to be played in this city, and the work of getting in touch with the provincial organizations in this connection has been left to the secretary, T. A. McDonald.

A mass meeting will be held toward the latter part of next week at which any local organizations interested in the matter as well as the towns of Devon and Marysville will be asked to send representatives to discuss plans.

A committee composed of Roland Murray, chairman, W. P. Kennan and Burton Davis was appointed by the Association to arrange for an indoor athletic meet as soon as possible. This will include running, jumping, basket ball, volley ball, wrestling matches, boxing matches and other indoor events.—W. R. H.

The colt by Earl Jr., 2.01¼, out of Ella Willis, 2.13¼, that Tommy Berry is training for Ralph Lasbury, of Broad Brook, Conn., does not take to the gait of parents; he is a trotter.

BILL SHARON, 2.16 1-4, FOR GRAND CIRCUIT

Secretary Gocher Wrote for Horsemen Who Wanted Him, but Too Late.

Bill Sharon, 2.16¼, champion four year-old trotter of the Maritime Provinces, would probably have graduated to the Grand Circuit had he not been bought this week by Archie Alcorn, the prosperous young lumberman of Blackville, N. B., who will campaign him on the Maritime and Maine Shortship Circuit.

Yesterday T. V. Monahan, of the Barker House, received a letter from W. H. Gocher, secretary of the National Trotting Association, who wrote from Hartford, Ct., to say that a well known horseman had expressed a desire to secure the trotter which he (Gocher) had seen at the stable of his breeder and then owner, Sam J. Boyle, while in Fredericton. It was intimated that the idea of the prospective buyer was to tune Bill Sharon up for the Grand Circuit, which indicates that he was regarded as much better than a 2.10 trotting prospect on mile tracks.

However, the 4-year-old championship holder was shipped this week to his new owner's stable on the Miramichi and after being used somewhat for stud purposes he will probably go into training at the Chatham track. Meanwhile his original trainer, Wm. Sharon, after whom he was named, has gone to Presque Isle, Me., to take up his duties as trainer for George M. Colbath, the well known Aroostook breeder and patron of harness racing.

Woodstock's Programmes.

The Woodstock Driving Club are first in the field in the Maritime Provinces this year with their racing programme. They will stage a matinee meeting at their parlor track that was opened last year on Victoria Day, May 24th, and on Dominion Day, July 1st, will have four classes, 2.13, 2.19, 2.24 and 2.30 mixed events. Their circuit meeting programme for July is not yet complete, but stakes are offered for the fall fair from Sept. 13 to 17, for 2.18, 2.24 and 3-year-olds mixed, 2.30 pacers and 2.50 trotters. Woodstock horsemen evidently intend to maintain their proud record of last season.—J. D. B.

Red Sox Suspend Schang and Vitt

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

The purchase of Infielder Ben Dyer, of the Boston Americans, by the Toledo American Association club was also announced today.

NO SUBSTITUTION OF TWO SHAMROCKS

Sir Thomas Lipton Challenged With the Shamrock IV., and Will Depend on Her.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, April 17.—Regarding the statements that in the event of the Shamrock III. proving faster than the challenger, Shamrock IV., in the trials, he would ask the New York Yacht Club to be allowed to substitute the older boat in the race for the America's Cup, Sir Thomas Lipton declared to the Associated Press yesterday:

"I have never dreamed of suggesting such a course. I am fully aware that having challenged with the Shamrock IV., I cannot race any other boat against the American defending yacht without issuing another challenge in accordance with the rules covering the contest."

For Trial Races with Shamrock IV.

New York, April 17.—The 223-meter yacht Shamrock III., which Sir Thomas Lipton will use in the trial races against his Shamrock IV., preliminary to the America's Cup races, sailed from Southampton April 8 for New York, Col. Neill, aide of the British sportsman, announced upon his arrival here today on the steamship Atlantic. The small yacht, under jury rig, probably will take a month to make the journey by way of the Azores, he said.

"I expect Sir Thomas will be here in about four weeks, and preparations for the tuning up will soon be on in earnest," Col. Neill added.

The mast, boom, gaff, smaller spars and rigging for the "trial horse," and a gaff for the big racer, were brought over on the Adriatic. When the small yacht arrives here she will be taken to the yards at City Island, where the Shamrock IV. is located, and Colonel Neill will begin immediately to refit her for the speed trials off Sandy Hook.

The Worcester pacer, Baxter Lou, 2.04¼, was not sent to the New York sale.

CURLING TROPHIES ARE DISTRIBUTED

A. S. McFarlane, J. R. Howie and Major Turner Winners in Points Competition.

The management committee of the Fredericton Curling Club have awarded the prizes for the various contests which had been carried on during the past curling season.

The Coleman cup, the prize for the winner of the Management Committee series of games, was awarded to A. S. McFarlane and rink composed of Dr. H. V. B. Bridges, John R. Walker and Harry A. Smith. This rink stood at the head of the series when the ice gave out with a record of thirteen wins and one loss and hold the trophy for one year.

The prizes for the points competition were awarded as follows:

1st prize, for members over three years' standing—A. S. McFarlane.

2nd prize, for members under three years' standing—J. R. Howie.

3rd prize, for members of one year's standing—Major G. R. Turner.

The club reports showed a very successful season in spite of the fact that the McLellan cup was won and lost in a week. The club were the winners in a majority of foreign games played and the local games were of great interest to all concerned while they went on. No plans have been laid so early in the year for next season's curling, but it was stated that a large number of local men have professed their determination to become members of the club before another year is commenced.—W. "Instead of Going to the Hospital"— writes Mr. Lewis MacPherson, from Halifax, N.S., "I sent for a box of Gin Pills—with the result that I am a well man. I recommend Gin Pills to everyone suffering from kidney trouble."

Mr. MacPherson had suffered untold misery, and, after treating with the best medical help available for 10 months he decided to go to Victoria Hospital, Halifax. He had inflammation of the kidneys and bladder. Two days before his intended departure a neighbour called and gave him some Gin Pills. "Six hours after taking the first dose", he writes, "the effects were simply miraculous". Then he sent for a box of Gin Pills and was cured.

This is just one of the many instances which are being brought to our notice continually. People, out of pure joy and gratitude for release from pain, write these letters to us. What Gin Pills have done for them they can do for you.

Gin Pills
FOR THE KIDNEYS

The formula on which Gin Pills are prepared was attained only after long and profound study and experimenting. It is unique. It embraces the beneficent properties of the Juniper in the Gin, but eliminates all the alcohol. Combined with seven other diuretics and antiseptics, it goes right to the seat of the trouble, allaying the congested kidneys, healing inflammation, restoring weak tissues, and enabling these delicate organs to resume their work of purifying the blood. Thus the poisons are soon taken out of the system, the pain is stopped, and the debilitated body becomes strong and healthful.

If you have a backache, gravel or any of the symptoms of kidney trouble, get a box of Gin Pills at once. Your druggist or dealer has them at 50c a box with money-back guarantee. Gin Pills taken now may help you to avoid an operation. Do not delay.

The Old Time Painter says:—

"The Economy of Using

Paint and Varnish

—is in the fact that the chief purpose of all paint and varnish is to protect the surface.

"Some paints and varnishes give this protection more completely than others because of the materials and care used in their make-up.

"The real value of a paint or a varnish is in the amount of preservation and protection it gives.

Maple Leaf Paints and Varnishes
"Make Good Because They're Made Good"

"They possess the maximum of protective value, they are made for that purpose. Years of experience in the selection of raw materials and in compounding them in the most practical scientific proportion makes the preservative value of Maple Leaf Paints and Varnishes complete. The young folk had a thoroughly enjoyable time in playing all sorts of games and other amusements. Prizes were awarded for several of the games which were keenly contested. Supper was served about six o'clock. A pleasing feature of the function was the presentation of a gold ever sharp lead pencil to Master James.

Peace Temple, No. 12, entertained the members of Marysville Lodge, No. 18, K. of P., in Castle Hall last evening. There was a large atendance and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent by all present. The following programme was carried out:

It was a genuine surprise, but he thanked the sisters for their token of appreciation and spoke briefly on the good work which that body were doing, and concluded by wishing them every success in future.

PALE ANAEMIC GIRLS AND BOYS

Need the Tissue Building, Blood Making, Strength-Creating Elements Contained in Vinol

Druggists Guarantee Vinol Will Make Them Strong, Robust and Rosy, or Return Your Money

It is not natural for a child to be pale, sallow, thin, ailing and puny, with no appetite, and with little limbs, thin and scrawney.

What such children need is more iron in the blood and the strengthening, tissue, and body building elements of good old-fashioned cod liver oil, without the oil, such as is contained in VINOL, together with other vitality-making ingredients.

VINOL increases the red corpuscles and enriches the blood, quickens the circulation, increases the appetite, aids digestion; soon the cheeks regain their rosy hue and the little limbs fill out round and plump and instead of being thin, sickly, ailing your child is transformed into a happy, healthy child, strong, robust and rosy.

Mrs. L. Andrews, of Bainbridge, N. Y., says: "My little daughter, 13 years old, overworked and was rundown, tired all the time, nervous, had headaches, couldn't eat and had to stay out of school. VINOL has built her up. She has a good appetite, no more headaches and has returned to school."

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children there is no remedy like VINOL.

True Knights of Faith

A roar of applause burst from the crossbowmen; but at the instant that the bolt struck its mark old Johnston, who had stood listlessly with arrow on string, bent his bow and sped a shaft through the body of the falcon. Whipping the other from his belt, he sent it skimming some few feet from the earth with so true an aim that it struck and transfixed the stork for the second time ere it could reach the ground. A deep-chested shout of delight burst from the archers at the sight of this double feat, and Aylward, dancing with joy, threw his arms round the old marksman and embraced him with such vigor that their mail tunics clanged again.

"Ah! camarade," he cried, "you shall have a stoup with me for this! What then, old dog, woul! not the hawk please thee, but thou must have the stork as well. Oh, to my heart again!"

"It is a pretty piece of yew, and well strung," said Johnston with a twinkle in his deep-set gray eyes. "Even an old broken bowman might find the clout with a bow like this."

"You have done very well," remarked the Brabanter in a surly voice. "But it seems to me that you have not yet shown yourself to be a better marksman than I, for I have struck that at which I aimed, and, by the three kings! no man can do more."

"It would ill beseem me to claim to be a better marksman," answered Johnston, "for I have heard great things of your skill. I did but wish to show that the long-bow could do that which an arbalest could not do, for you could not with your moulinet have your string ready to speed another shaft ere the bird drop to the earth."

"In that you have vantage," said the crossbowman "By Saint James; it is now my turn to show you where my weapon has the better of you. I pray you to draw a flight shaft with all your strength down the valley, that we may see the length of your shot."

"That is a very strong prod of yours," said Johnston, shaking his grizzled head as he glanced at the thick arch and powerful strings of his rival's arbalest. "I have little doubt that you can overshoot me, and yet I have seen bowmen who could send a cloth-yard arrow further than you could speed a quarrel."

"So I have heard," remarked the Brabanter; "and yet it is a strange thing that these wondrous bowmen are never where I chance to be. Pace out the distances with a wand at every five score, and do you, Arnaud, stand at the fifth wand to carry back my bolts to me."

A line was measured down the valley, and Johnston, drawing an arrow to the very head, sent it whistling over the row of wands.

"Bravely drawn! A rare shoot!" shouted the bystanders. "It is well up to the fourth mark."

"By my hilt! it is over it," cried Aylward. "I can see where they have stooped to gather up the shaft."

"We shall hear anon," said Johnston quietly, and presently a young archer came running to say that the arrow had fallen twenty paces beyond the fourth wand.

"Four hundred paces and a score," cried Black Simon. "I' faith, it is a very long flight. Yet wood and steel may do more than flesh and blood.'

The Brabanter stepped forward with a smile of conscious triumph, and loosed the cord of his weapon. A shout burst from his comrades as they watched the swift and lofty flight of the heavy bolt.

"Over the fourth!" growled Aylward. 'By my hilt! I think that it is well up to the fifth."

"It is over the fifth!" cried a Gascon loudly, and a comrade came running with waving arms to say that the bolt had pitched eight paes beyond the mark of the five hundred.

"Which weapon hath the vantage now?" cried the Brabanter, strutting proudly about with shouldered arbalest, amid the applause of his companions.

"You can overshoot me," said Johnston gently.

"Or any other man who ever bent a long-bow," cried his victorious adversary.

"Nay, not so fast," said a huge archer, whose mighty shoulders and red head towered high above the throng of his comrades. "I must have a word with you ere you crow so loudly. 'Where is my little popper? by sainted Dick of Hampole! it will be a strange thing if I cannot outshoot that thing of thine, which to my eyes is more like a rat-trap than a bow. Will you try another flight, or do you stand by your last?"

"Five hundred and eight paces will serve my turn," answered the Brabanter, looking askance at this new opponent.

"Tut, John," whispered Aylward, "you never were a marksman. Why must you thrust your spoon into this dish?"

"Easy and slow, Aylward. There are very many things which I cannot do, but there are also one or two which I have the trick of. It is in my mind that I can beat this shoot, if my bow will but hold together."

"Go on, old babe of the woods!" "Have at it, Hampshire!" cried the archers laughing.

"By my soul! you may grin," cried John. "But I learned how to make the long shoot from old Hob Miller of Milford. He took up a great black bow, as he spoke, and sitting down upon the ground he placed his two feet on either end of the stave. With an arrow fitted, he then pulled the string towards him with both hands until the head of the shaft was level with the wood. The great bow creaked and groaned and the cord vibrated with the tension.

"Who is this fool's-head who stands in the way of my shoot?" said he, craning up his neck from the ground.

"He stands on the further side of my mark," answered the Brabanter, "so he has little to fear from you."

"Well, the saints assoil him!" cried John. "Though I think he is overnear to be scathed." As he spoke he raised his two feet, with the bow-stave upon their soles, and his cord twanged with a deep rich hum which might be heard across the valley. The measurer in the distance fell flat upon his face, and then, jumping up again, he began to run in the opposite direction.

"Well shot, old lad! It is indeed over his head," cried the bowmen.

"Mon Dieu!" exclaimed the Brabanter, "who ever saw such a shot?"

"It is but a trick,' quoth John. "Many a time have I won a gallon of ale by covering a mile in three flights down Wilverley Chase."

"It fell a hundred and thirty paces beyond the fifth mark," shouted an archer in the distance.

"Six hundred and thirty paces! Mon Dieu! but that is a shoot! And yet it says nothing for your weapon, mon gros camarade, for it was by turning yourself into a crossbow that you did it."

"By my hilt! there is truth in that," cried Aylward. "And now, friend, I will myself show you a vantage of the long-bow. I pray you to speed a bolt against yonder shield with all your force. It is an inch of elm with bull's hide over it."

"I scarce shot as many shafts at Brignais," growled the man of Brabant; "though I found a better mark there than a cautle of bull's hide. But what is this, Englishman? The shield hangs not one hundred paces from me, and a blind man could strike it." He screwed up his string to the furthest pitch, and shot his quarrel at the dangling shield. Aylward, who had drawn an arrow from his quiver, carefully greased the head of it, and sped it at the same mark.

FIRST TUG BOATS LEAVING ST. JOHN FOR FREDERICTON

Two Starting This Afternoon and Three More Will Leave Tomorrow.

EVA JOHNSON FIRST BOAT ON THE RIVER

Thrilling Rescue of a Ferry From the Running Ice by Raymond Currie.

The first steamboat is operating on this section of the St. John river today, the tug Eva Johnson having been ordered out this morning for work at the Mitchell booms, below the city, and Oromocto.

Capt Martin Currier, the owner, is in charge of the Eva Johnson, and at the St. John River Log Driving Company's offices this morning it was announced that the tugs Randolph and Helen were leaving St. John for Fredericton this afternoon and would be here some time tomorrow, unless they met with obstacles en route.

Three more tugs will leave St. John on Sunday, the Latona, Daniel and Wasson, which will give Manager Walter Jackson a fleet of six tugs with which to commence the work of hanging the booms. The drift drive, which will salvage the million or more feet of logs which were carried past the booms with the ice run, is about organized and ready to start operations on the lower river early next week.

An Impromptu Thriller.

A thrilling stunt was pulled off yesterday by Raymond Currie, of this city, when he went out among the running ice to rescue the McNally ferry, which was floating past this city at the time. He had heard that a reward of $100 was offered to anyone who would save the ferry, so he got into his canoe and pushed his way out through the ice blocks until he reached the Devon shore, where the ferry was being whirled around by the current. He was thrown a rope from the railway bridge and it was made fast to one of the piers. Mr. Currie then got back in his canoe and landed at the lower end of the city.

The ferry, which is owned by the Government, is valued at between $800 and $900 and was built last year. Between 200 and 300 feet of chain cable, valued at about $300, was on the ferry at the time it was saved.

WITNESS DECLARES ENGLAND GAVE "PER" BUT DIDN'T CHARGE

Judson Hinchey Says Accused Was Supposed to Be a Doctor.

DRUG CLERK THOUGHT PRESCRIPTIONS O. K.

Further Witnesses Will Be Examined When Case Comes Up Tuesday.

The preliminary hearing of Albert W. England, who is charged with forging the name of Dr. G. W. Bailey, of Fredericton Junction, to prescriptions for liquor, was continued in the police court yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Limerick, two witnesses being called. After their evidence was taken the case was adjourned until Tuesday morning, when the evidence of a third witness will be taken.

Judson Hinchey was the first witness called. He stated that he had been told that England was a doctor and had asked him for a "per." Although he did not see the defendant write the "per" he received it from him and gave it to one of the others present, John Urquhart, who took it out and got it filled, coming back with two bottles containing forty-eight ounces of whiskey. England did not ask for any remuneration, and this aroused the suspicions of the witness who remarked he "never did know a doctor who would not take money before for such a service." The witness stated that it was not until later that he knew England was not a doctor.

J. J. Hayes Doone, who appeared for the defence in the absence of R. B. Hanson, K. C., did not cross-examine the witness and P. J. Hughes, for the prosecution, then called the next witness, Jack Belyea, who is employed as a clerk at Charles A. Burchill's drug store. He was shown five prescriptions and stated that they had been filled at that drug store and that he had filled four of them himself. The other he thought had been filled by his employer. The prescriptions bore the name of Dr. G. W. Bailey, and the witness stated that he had taken the signature for the true one when he had filled the "pers." He stated that the signatures of all the local physicians were well known to him but that it was not easy to detect any fault with those of out-of-town physicians, which were not frequently seen.

At the conclusion of his evidence the prisoner was remanded until Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, when the evidence of a third witness will be heard.

WINSLOW THOMAS DROWNED ON THE SOUTH TAY DRIVE

Victim Almost Lost His Life in Similar Way at Same Place Last Year.

Wnslow Thomas, aged 22 years, of McNutt's Mills, was drowned yesterday afternoon while engaged on log driving operations on the South Tay stream, which empties into the Nashwaak river. He was employed on operations for Fraser Companies, Ltd., and his body had not been found at noon today.

Thomas was engaged in picking at the ice under logs on the South Tay within a short distance of the lower dam yesterday when he went through the ice. Jas. McKinnon, who was working within a short distance, stated that he had seen Thomas at work and when he turned around again he was gone. On looking at the lower dam he saw the body being carried through the gates of the dam. Up to noon today no reports had been heard from the remainder of the crew as to whether or not the body had been found.

France Will Maintain Huge Army of 700,000 Until Treaties Executed

French Representatives to Oppose Revision of Versailles Treaty

FORCE HUNS TO DISARM

Important Decisions for Allied Conference at San Remo Today.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

San Remo, April 19.—The inter-Allied supreme council began its formal sessions here today. The meeting was opened punctualy at the hour set 11.00 a. m., in the Villa De Vachau, on the hills to the northwest of the main town.

FRANCE MUST MAINTAIN AN ARMY OF 700,000 MEN

Paris, April 19.—France must maintain an army of 700,000 men until enemy countries "show their good will by executing the terms of their treaties" in the opinion of Government officials, according to newspapers here. Plans under contemplation call for 350,000 conscripts constantly under training, eighteen months' service being reequired of each man.

Wages equal to those paid industrial workers, less the cost of food and lodging provided by the Government, will be paid enlisted men and conscripts who re-enlist. It is expected bills to carry out this programme will be introduced in the chamber some tome in June. Rules relative to the length of hair, moustache and beard, which since early in the war have been very strict, have been relaxed. In future a soldier may cut his beard in any way his fancy may dictate, and he need not have his hair closely cropped. Old regulations permitted beards, but specified they must not be so luxuriant as to hide collar insignia.

Opposes Revision Hun Treaty.

Paris, April 19.—Demands that the Allies, during the San Remo meeting this week, resist all attempts to revise the terms of the Versailles treaty with Germany, are made by Raymond Poincare, former President of the French republic, in an article published by the Matin. France and Belgium have been "deprived of guarantees" by the failure of Great Britain and the United States to put the tri-partite convention into operation, he says, and the League of Nations is as yet without means of action.

"Germanay is violating the Versailles treaty and avoiding all engagements," and that France and Belgium could not have done otherwise than advance east of the Rhine when German regulars invaded the neutral zone in the Ruhr valley.

Informal Meeting of Premiers.

The Petit Parisien says Allied occupation of the Ruhr Basin in western Germany is being considered by the Allied Premiers gathered at San Remo for the meeting of the supreme Allied council. Premiers Lloyd-George, Millerand and Nitti held a brief meeting Sunday night and agreed, in principle, on the necessity of forcing Germany to disarm, the newspaper declares, but were not agreed as to the best means of procedure.

There was a certain coolness between Millerand and Mr. Lloyd-George at the opening of the meeting, but it vanished in a short time and the utmost cordiality prevailed at the close, according to the Matin.

$27,000 WORTH OF CLOTH WAS STOLEN

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Providence, R. I, April 19.—Four men and a woman were arrested yesterday charged with having received 54,000 yards of cloth, valued at $27,000, which was stolen from New Haven freight yards. The police last night had recovered 42,000 yards and expected to find the remainder tomorrow.

French Land Troops in Asia Minor In Face of Strong Opposition From the Turkish Forces Under Mustapha Kemal

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 19.—A French cruiser landed three battalions of infantry, some batteries and cavalry at Mersina, Asia Minor, on April 14, according to an official communication issued by Mustapha Kemal Pasha, leader of the nationalist government.

Armenian volunteers covered the landing but, says the communication, were wiped out, and the [illegible] able to advance further than the protection of their naval guns.

Reports reaching Constantinople says that communications between Mersina and Adana, 36 miles distance, have been discontinued, for several days.

Bolshevik Endeavor to Stir Up Mohammedan World and Start Holy War Everywhere

Leaders in Turkish Nationalist Movement in Conference With Enemies of Allies.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Washington, April 10—Talaat Pasha and Djemal Pasha, co-conspirators with Mustapha Kemal in the Turkish nationalist movement and fugitives for many months, have turned up in Munich, and have been in conference with German communists and emissaries of Lenine, according to official advices received in Washington.

The conference was said to have been for the purpose of organizing concerted revolutionary movements in Turkey, India, Egypt, Persia and elsewhere, and Moslem delegates from India, Persia, Azerbaijan, Afghanistan and Egypt were said also to have participated in a recent conference with Lenine in Moscow.

The Munich conference was interpreted by officials here as having been called to forge further links in the international chain of revolutions, preliminary steps toward which were taken at the Moscow conference. In aid of the movement, representatives of Lenine at Munich are reported to have promised the Turkish and German conspirators 200,000 Russian Bolshevik troops.

BELGIUM MAKING RAPID RECOVERY

Brussels, April 19. — Belgium has made rapid progress toward industrial recovery since the armistire, largely owing to the fact that the country has had no serious strikes, says M. Jaspar, Minister of Economic Affairs. He estimates that the nation's industrial output has now attained perhaps 70 p r cent. of its pre-war record and that its mines are producing as much coal as in the year before the war.

"About 70 per cent. of our material which was taken out by the Germans has been returned to us," added M. Jaspar. "The money taken by the Germans from the Belgium treasury has been returned, but Belgium has thus far received no indemnity from Germany. At the beginning of the armistice 800,000 of our people were without work. Our recovery has been made in spite of the fact that more than one half of the Belgians who had to flee before the Germans are still in France unable to return because they have no homes here."

Belgian villages destroyed in the war are being rebuilt, said M. Jaspar. In the district of Ypres eighteen villages have been restored to such an extent that local administration has been resumed. "If the United States would do for Belgium what she has done for Poland, establish a credit for her, most of our problems would be solved," declared the Minister of Economics.

Violent Struggle on The Polish Frontier

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Warsaw, April 19—Important concentrations of Bolshevik troops at Zhmerinka, Podolio, are reported in a communique issued by the general staff, which says the concentrations were revealed by a reconnaissance of airmen.

"Violent attacks by the enemy, supported by artillery, continue," the communication says. "Our detachments have defeated the 57th Bolshevik regiment on the Slawecznа river, capturing much war material."

LETTS CONFERRING WITH BOLSHEVIK

Little Progress Made in the Negotiations Over Establishment of Frontier.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Moscow, April 19.—The first day's interchanges at the peace conference between representatives of Letvia and Soviet Russia here developed divergencies in views, the adjustment of which may be a matter of many weeks.

Chairman Seeberg, of the Letvian delegation, laid down the fundamentals, which he said Letvia considered should serve as a basis of the negotiations. He mentioned eight points, the first of which was recognition of the complete independence of Letvia and the establishment of a frontier in accordance with neutral boundaries.

For the Russian government, Adolph Joffe, head of the soviet delegation, insisted that ethnographic considerations alone should determine the boundary lines between the two countries and the question of property rights in Russia by Letvians and the repatriation of nationals must be considered in the light of Russian laws.

CALGARY WOMEN IN THRIFT CAMPAIGN

Conference in June, When Women from All Over Canada Expected.

Calgary, Alta., April 19. — Calgary women have organized a thrift campaign which they propose to make Dominion wide. At the instigation of the Business Women's Club, all the women's organizations of the city sent representatives to the meeting where the movement was launched. Mrs. Bertha Stewart is chairman, and in her brief speech of acceptance of office declared that to make the movement effectual it must have all the women of Canada behind it. The work of the board is divided into five sections, national thrift, provincial thrift, community thrift, personal thrift, and the press section. Each of these branches will have a junior branch. The city will hold a thrift week in the near future when all local merchants will be asked to make suitable window displays and as well plans were put forward for the holding of a three days' conference in June, to which it is hoped women from all over the Dominion will be drawn.

Pacific Attitude of French Labor Shown in Manifesto

General Federation of Labor Call for May Day Strike to Demand the Withdrawal of French Troops from Ruhr District and Abandonment of Syrian Expedition.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 19.—Demands for withdrawal of French troops sent into German cities east of the Rhine, abandonment of new colonial expeditions, such as that in Syria, at present, and release of the class of 1918 from the colors, are made in a manifesto issued by the General Federation of Labor in calling upon workmen to join in the May Day strike. These measures should be adopted, it is said, to "show the world that France wishes for peace."

Ontario Boy Makes Financiers Take Notice

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, Ont., April 19.—Horatio Alger's heroes may have to look to their laurels. London possesses one lad, at least, who has writ plain upon his youthful brow "From Call Boy to President." No clock-watcher is this youngster. Saturday he drew a Grand Trunk Railway Co. pay cheque for two weeks' work amounting to $199.35, the result of his overtime efforts as a call boy.

At this rate he is drawing a salary on the basis of $218.70 per month, which is more than the Chief Clerk, his boss, is getting. Several other officials also admit that he is getting more than they, but explain that the scale set in the McAdoo award is responsible for the anomaly.

THREE MYSTERIOUS NEW YORK MURDERS

Victims Found Lying on the Streets, Apparently Shot Down by a Sniper.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 19.—Three mysterious shootings on the East Side during the past 24 hours, all of them apparently the work of an unidentified sniper, are puzzling the police.

Charles Gagino, 26, and Lasilento Orido, 22, were each found in a dying condition early Sunday on the streets of the lower East Side. Gagino was found lying on the sidewalk in Goerck street with a bullet through his head, and Orido was found in a similar condition on St. Mark's Place. Both of them died without regaining consciousness.

Patrick Hayes, 32, was found lying on the street in First avenue, near 79th street. He was taken to a hospital, where his condition is reported as serious.

FORCE LABOR TO KEEP AGREEMENTS

Talk of Canadian Legislation to Place Such Agreements in Class of Legal Contracts

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, April 19. — Legislation to place agreements between Labor organizations and employers in the same class as legal contracts, enforceable by the Courts, is talked of here as a result of certain "outlaw" strikes. Those strikes are in violation of agreements and contrary to the wishes of international executives.

For instance in Montreal certain printers have walked out, although their agreement has some time yet to run, and wages have been supplemented by bonuses, and although their action has been disapproved by the executive officers of their international organization in Chicago. Such difficulties are regarded in some quarters here as menaces to international trade unionism.

There have been suggestions that labor organizations should be incorporated, and thus attain corporate entity, which would permit of their suing or being sued in the courts. The talk here at present, however, is of the possibility of legislation being enacted to give agreements such a legal status that the parties thereto would be individually and collectively responsible for carrying out the obligations they have assumed.

OPPOSITION TO DAYLIGHT SAVING

Massachusetts Court Asked to Issue Injunction Against Its Enforcement.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Springfield, Mass., April 19.—An injunction to restrain the Attorney General of Massachusets from enforcing the daylight saving law next Sunday morning is the purpose sought by a bill in equity filed in the superior court of Hampden county. The complaint alleges that the enforcement of the measure threatens such an alarming restriction in food production as possibly to bring about famine next winter.

CAN OF WHISKEY LOST IN COLLISION

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Trenton, N. J., April 19.—A collision between his automobile and a truck which punctured a five-gallon can of alleged whiskey was responsible for Frank Morrell, an Italian, landing in the county jail charged with violating the Prohibition Act.

LEGAL DECISION HAS A FAR-REACHING EFFECT ON LIQUOR BUSINESS

Ontario Judge Finds that a Man May Act as His Own Common Carrier and is Immune from Interference from the Police While on the Way to His Own Home.

NOTHING TO PREVENT PERSONS DRIVING TO QUEBEC FOR THEIR LIQUOR AND THEN TAKING IT TO RESIDENCES

Individuals Engaged in Rum-Running Industry on the Border Will Now Be Free from Interference Until They Seek to Remove the Liquor From Own Homes.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Toronto, April 19.—Rum running between Montreal and Windsor is now considered a legal industry, according to the following despatch from Windsor, Ont.:

"In the opinion of local authorities the dicision handed down by Mr. Justice Middleton, in Toronto, Friday, by which it was ruled that a man may act as his own common carrier, will exercise a far-reaching effect upon the rum-running industry on this border.

"The decision was made in the case of John Kozak, a foreigner, residing in Marion Avenue here, who brought two suit cases of liquor from Montreal to Windsor, ostensibly for his own use. Kozak was arrested for a violation of the Ontario Temperance Act, his liquor confiscated, and he was fined $500. The higher court now rules that the fine shall be refunded and the liquor returned to Kozak.

"If the ruling be taken as a precedent, and local experts say it will, there appears to be nothing to prevent and number of individuals from driving their automobiles to Montreal, loading them to the guards with 'fruit of the vine' and then driving back to Windsor. They will be immune from police interference on the route and, provided they take the car to their homes, the police at present can discern no loophole by which they have authority to interfere. The only chance the whiskey trafficker takes now is that he might be tempted to divert his load to some place other than his own domicile, in which case he would be amenable to the full force of the law.

"However, as a good many men have been doing this very thing for months and getting away with it, the only difference it may make in their modus operandi is that they can now drive as slowly as they like without looking over their shoulders for the officers of the law."

America Confronted Today With New Strike of Railway Men in the Chicago District

Freight Handlers and Railway Clerks Threaten to Quit Work Tonight.

ANY COMPROMISE IS THOUGHT IMPROBABLE

Switchmen's Strike is Petering Out Both East and West and Conditions Improve.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Chicago, April 19.—Threat of a new strike among railroad employees in the Chicago district today confronted claims of railroad managers and Brotherhood officials that the "insurgent" switchmen's strike had been broken and the situation rapidly was returning to normal.

Eight thousand freight handlers and 30,000 railroad clerks, employed on all lines entering Chicago, will take a strike vote tonight, after a conference today with the railroad heads, George A. Worrell, chairman of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad clerks, announced. He said he had been empowered to speak for all the clerks and freight handlers.

Worrell did not announce demands to be presented, but said there "seemed little chance of compromise," and the men probably would strike Tuesday.

In the switchmen's unauthorized strike, continued improvement in traffic conditions throughout the central and far west was noted.

Eastern Service Improves.

New York, April 19.—Striking railroad employees continued to flock back to work in New York and vicinity today, despite efforts of radicals, and railroad officials asserted conditions were approaching normal.

All railroads in this section commenced to move freight from badly congested terminals today. Passenger traffic improved to such an extent that virtually normal schedules were maintained.

The Hudson Tubes, connecting Manhattan and New Jersey cities, are still tied up, and there are no surface indications of a break in the strikers' ranks. The tubes now have been "dead" for ten days, and the big commuter army has relied on ferry service for transportation to and from the city.

ABANDON BULL FIGHT.

Madrid, April 19.—Bull fights were abandoned Sunday because the bulls which were sent to participate were too small.

Postpone Inquiry Into Outlaw Strike

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 19.—Investigation of alleged radical activities in connection with the railway strike, which was scheduled to begin today, by the Federal grand jury at Newark, was postponed until April 28. United States Attorney Bodine announced that 30 to 35 witnesses will be called.

THE NEW YORK FUR SALES START TODAY

$12,000,000 Worth of Skins Will Be Disposed Of in the Next Eight Days.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 19.—Raw furs valued at $12,000,000, comprising the largest and most valuable collection to be offered in this city, were placed on sale today. The sale will continue for eight days.

In addition to sea otters, Russian sables, silver foxes and other fancy furs, more than 61 tons of Australian and New Zealand rabbit skins were offered for sale.

TO FURTHER TRADE WITH WEST INDIES

Conference to Be Held at Ottawa Soon When West Indies Will Be Represented.

THE STEAMSHIP SERVICE NEEDS TO BE AUGMENTED

Some of Islands Favor Political Union but Matter Not Likely to Be Taken Up.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, April 19.—The date of the conference to take place in Ottawa between Canada, the British West Indies and the British Colonies in South America, has not yet been decided, bit it is hoped it will be before the House adjourns. The conference has been decided on as a result of the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce at Barbadoes in February, when matters affecting the British West Indies, British Guiana and British Honduras were under discussion.

At that meeting resolutions were passed urging that certain matters of mutual interest to Canada and the Southern Colonies be taken up and discussed as soon as possible, and since that time an order-in-council has been passed in Canada recommending the calling of the conference. Among the matters which the meeting at Barbadoes suggested should be discussed at the Ottawa conference was an increased preference. The preference arranged for at the last conference, in 1912, was approved of, and the suggestion made that it should be extended. Another matter which will be taken up will be increased steamship service, which the southerners claim is not now sufficient to handle all the business [illegible] ing. At present the cable from Jamaica to the Leeward Islands, Trinidad and British Guiana is out of commission, having been broken some time ago. The steamship service between Canada and the West Indies is now conducted by the Royal Mail Line, and while they have been given an improved service, it is said that even double the present capacity would not be sufficient to handle the business. In 1912 the ships of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine made twenty three voyages to the West Indies, carrying full cargoes. It is felt that this service trade between the two countries may be very much developed, and part of the duty of the coming conference will be to consider how best to accomplish this end.

It is not likely that the subject of political union will be discussed, although it is known that some of the islands favor it, and at the Barbadoes conference British Guiana declared in favor of commercial union. The Imperial Government will be represented at the coming conference be represented etaoin tpa f.B etaoine and Canada and the West Indies Governments are now conferring with the Mother Country as to the date and other particulars.

THREATS AGAINST WINNIPEG MAYOR

Winnipeg, Man., April 19.—Threats against Mayor Charles F. Gray's life, contained in a letter received from Vancouver, will be investigated by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The letter was signed "Bolshevik, Soviet Committee, and informed the mayor that men without work would kill him when they decided to take united action. The letter reads: "We Bolshevik will all go to jail together, but before we go we will have blood running on the sidewalk and your blood it will be. We will kill your gang by thousands. The workers are geting hungry. No work." Mayor Gray believes the letter was written by a man who was insane.

Overalls Movement Gets It's First Adherent in Montreal

Prominent Business Man Seen on the Streets This Morning Making His Way to Office Clad as a Janitor, and With a Dingy Overcoat to Round Off His Overalls.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Montreal, April 19.—With touch of Spring weather prevailing here today the overall movement secured its first adherent. A prominent business man was seen to walk through the streets to his office clad like a janitor, with a very dingy overcoat and cap to round off his overalls.

The long wearing, water resisting, shape holding, perfect fitting qualities of this footwear make for economy and lasting comfort.

We own exclusively the patents on these boots. They are made from heavy Palmer-McLellan Chromoil tanned leather, shaped on right and left lasts, and fitted with strong counters to support the heels. The soles are nailed on by improved machine method. These boots have all the foot fitting comforts of a real moccasin, but will hold their shape and outwear footwear of much heavier construction, for they are all solid leather.

SAY PLANTS DEPEND CHIEFLY ON LIGHT

Temperature Found to Be Not So Important—May Revolutionize Agriculture.

Washington, April 17.—Government agricultural experts have discovered that plant life seems to depend on light rather than temperature for nourishment and may be controlled by regulating the hours of light and darkness.

The principle is revolutionary; but it rests on actual experiments in which it was demonstrated that plants subjected to alternate periods of light and darkness in carefully determined proportions could be brought to maturity at any time of the year.

"Greenhouse experiments," says an announcement by the Department of Agriculture, "prove that the flowering and fruiting period of practically any plant can be made to take place at any time of year by darkening the greenhouse in the morning and evening if the day is too long, or by lengthening the day by artificial light if the day is too short.

"Spring flowers and spring crops happen to be spring flowers and spring crops because the days at the season of their flowering and fruiting have the proper number of hours of daylight."

The discovery may be of the highest importance in the future planning of cropping systems for different regions. Eventually it was found, according to W. W. Garner and H. A. Allard, scientists in the Bureau of Plant Industry, who conducted exhaustive experiments, that the animal organism also is capable of responding to the stimulus of certain day lengths. They believe that the migration of birds may be an illustration, on the ground that direct response to such a stimulus would be more in line with modern biological teachings than theories which assume that birds "go south" as a matter of instinct.

Experiments were conducted with a large variety of plants. It was shown conclusively that to little "sleep," or in other words, too many hours of daylight, would prevent many plants from ever reaching the flowering and fruiting stage.

Temperature appeared to exert no influence in the tests. A striking illustration of the relative unimportance of temperature was given in the fact that plants kept in the wark for a part of the day underwent in midsummer the changes that in nature come in the fall, and that heretofore have been attributed to lower temperatures. This was true even when the dark houses registered a higher temperature than the outside atmosphere.

Irises kept in artificial light for 18 hours a day bloomed in two months, while others in the same temperature, but without artificial extension of the day, required months longer.

"The length of the day," the department's announcement said, "is proved to be the most potent factor in determining the relative proportions between the vegetative and fruiting parts of many crop plants. Indeed, fruiting may be completely suppressed by a day too long or too short. The new principle undoubtedly explains the erratic behavior which has been observed with many crops when they are shifted to different latitudes."

DEVELOPMENT OF MAINE WATER POWER

Many New Hydro-Electric Plants Being Planned and Erected Across Border.

Lewiston, Me., April 17.—The next year will see a widespread development of hydro-electric power in Maine. Already two extensive developments are in progress and others are being discussed. The two developments now under way will increase available horsepower by nearly 30,000, and will cost more than $1,500,000. One of these is a complete new plant, the other is an addition.

At Deer Rips, on the Androscoggin river here, a new unit is being added to the plant which supplies Lewiston and Auburn with electricity. From 5,000 to 8,000 horsepower will be needed at a cost of $100,000. This unit is expected to be in operation by July.

The largest development now being made is that at Skowhegan, where the power plant now in course of construction will have an initial capacity of 20,000 horsepower. No statement is given as to the cost of this project, but it is understood to be in excess of $1,000,000. When this plant is in operation it will save the company $72,000 annually in its coal bill by eliminating use of steam driven generating machines to meet demands of its customers.

A new development will be made on the Androscoggin river, below this city, and above Lisbon Falls. The [illegible] horsepower is 10,000, which would be an important factor in supplying power needs of this large manufacturing section.

The reason for the sudden activity in hydro-electric development is the coal situation. With soft coal costing $11 a ton and prospects that it will reach $15, steam-generated electricity is very expensive and operation by steam power ceases to be economical.

Within a very few years it is expected that the great pulp and paper mills at Millinocket will be eliminating most of their steam units and depending entirely upon electricity. They have a big electric development at Dolby rips on the west branch of the Penobscot, which now supplies the plants at Millinocket and East Millinocket. There is some question whether it is practical to increase the development there sufficiently to meet all requirements, but engineers agree that it is practicable to install a modern power station at the big Ripogenus dam, and transmit power to the Millinockets, a distance of eighty miles. The amount of power which could be produced there is enormous.

Aroostook county, too, is going to see new hydro-electric developments. At present the county's needs are well cared for by the big power plant at Aroostook Falls.

On April 1st at 3 o'clock an event of much interest took place at the home of Ichabod Norrad, it being the marriage of Johanna Munn and William P. Davis, of Taxis River. The house was decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. The bride was charmingly attired in a tailor made suit of navy blue with hat to match and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur J. Patstone. A reception was held at the home of the groom where a buffet luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Davis left for a trip to St. John.

Word was received here last week of the death of Thomas Stickney, of Hayesville. The late Mr. Stickney was 71 years of age. He was well known here and has a host of friends who will regret to hear of his sudden death.

Aloysius Layton, of Blackville, spent the week-end in Boiestown.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Conroy are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a daughter on Thursday evening, April 8.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. J. A. Webb.

The death occurred at McAdam on Tuesday, April 13th, 1920, of Mrs Webb, widow of the late J. W. Webb of Hoyt Station. The deceased was aged 67 years and had been in failing health for some years, and had been a great sufferer. She leaves to mourn their loss one daughter and two sisters, Mrs. L. Mersereau and Mrs. O. S. Mersereau, of Fredericton Junction, also many other relatives and friends. The funeral took place on Thursday morning from the home of deceased. After a short service by Rev. D. McGuire, pastor of the Union church, the remains were taken to Fredericton Junction, where service was held in the United Baptist church by Rev. Mr. McGuire, assisted by Rev. Mr. Wetmore. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rich, of Chatham, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gussie, to Alexander Hans, of Antigonish, N. S., the wedding to take place in the near future.

BRITISH MONEY STANDARDS.

After a year and a half of inquiry and study a Royal Commission has reported against the adoption of a decimal coinage system for the United Kingdom. The matter has been before the country for many years, points out the Montreal Gazette. Decimalization of the money standard is regarded as the natural accompaniment of the metric system of weights and measures, which, in spite of its scientific simplicity, makes almost no progress in British countries and the United States. The sovereign and the shilling are so fixed as monetary units for the measurement of values in the United Kingdom that it was deemed useless to suggest any change that would affect them directly and so, indirectly, change the apparent values of the thousands of articles that go to make up the volume of daily commerce. The cent of a shilling would be too small a unit for use, while the cent of a sovereign would be too large a value for much retail trade, even in theso days of high prices. The plan that received greatest favor among the advocates of decimalization was that the florin—a two-shilling piece, the tenth of a pound—should be taken as the unit, and divided into a hundred cents, the cent being the mil, or thousandth part of a sovereign. There could under this system be no exact decimal equivalent of a penny, and this appears to have been regarded as a serious matter by the commission. As put in the report, four mils is 4 per cent. less than a penny and five mils is 20 per cent. more. This insignificant fraction, it was explained, meant much in some ways In the case of the postal service a 4-mil coin used instead of a penny would mean a loss of a million and a half pounds a year. The records of the mint indicate that there are 2,200,000,000 pennies and half-pennies in circulation, with a steady demand for more for the use of trade. In spite of much skilful propaganda by decimal and metric associations the commission seems to have found difficulty in obtaining evidence of any general interest in the inquiry. Some four hundred commercial bodies were asked by circular for their views; but less than seventy sent replies. Even trades unions, which are usually ready with opinions on all sorts of subjects, showed reluctance to put themselves on record. The commission interpreted the evidence presented to indicate that the general feeling in the country towards the matter was one of indifference, and while there was some hostility to any change, those who favored a change had not as a rule any clear idea of the objects to be attained nor of the difficulties of effecting it, while among those who do understand the question there is acute difference as to what the change should be. The existing system is declared to be suited to the needs of every-day life. The conclusion of the report is that in any scheme of reducing the existing system to a decimal basis the pound should be retained, and that the pound and mil scheme is the only one strongly supported that complies with this condition; that the advantage to be gained by such a scheme as regards keeping accounts is in no way commensurate with the loss of the convenience of the existing system for other purposes; that grave difficulties will be created by any alteration of the penny; and that the scheme cannot be tried as an experiment or on a voluntary basis. It is likely, therefore, that for some time at least not much will be heard of the decimalization of British money. Long custom and the adaptation of values to the pounds, shillings and pence with which the people are acquainted count for more than theoretical perfection.

SHALL COLLEGES RETRENCH?

Retrenchment for the universities: that is what Henry Smith Pritchett, president of the Carnegie Foundation, virtually proposes in his incisive and unsparing report. He attacks what he regards as the waste of great sums expended annually in conenction with university work on useless semblance of research. He charges likewise that universities in their desire to increase their student enrollment have inflated their curricula so as to include a useless multiplicity of subjects at a needless lengthening of the faculty payroll. He even accuses institutions of learning of carrying a proportion of inferior or incompetent teachers, kept in employment by the too secure tenure of office now grown customary.

These assertions are put out at the very moment when the campaign for funds to defray salary increases to college teachers reaches the highest pitch. The report seizes this moment to urge the universities "to take stock of themselves" before pressing their appeals further. This amounts by implication to calling upon them to correct a material degree of wastefulness in their professorial outlay, and apply the savings to the improvement of the salary scale for the really useful teachers.

Criticism so forcible, from the observer so peculiarly qualified to ascertain and judge of the facts, has quite probably a degree of truth in it. It would help more if it had more of positive and less of prohibitive suggestion about it. Let the Carnegie Foundation tell how to differentiate in advance between useful research and mere academic dwadling. Let it suggest standards whereby to judge what courses, what professors justify their cost. What has the critic in mind? The restriction of each university, outside of the standard courses, to a few specialties? Return from the small-class, personally conducted system of education to the other plan of great lecture rooms and a few superior professors?

The university heads may find Dr. Pritchett embarrassing to their money raising efforts unless they pretty sharply challenge his assertions.

GEN. WOOD'S CAMPAIGN.

General Leonard Wood is at the moment the most outstanding candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States presidency, and he is making a strong bid to secure the honor at the convention in Chicago next June. According to the Review of Reviews, the General's managers claim that when the convention is called to order he will have 300 delegates pledged to him. There will be 984 votes in the convention, 493 being necessary to a choice. The article in the Review of Reviews points out that the history of Republican conventions shows that after one or two ballots, on which delegates cast votes for favorite sons, they swing over to the leading candidate, and, continues the Review, in this case the leader undoubtedly will be General Wood.

The Wood boom had its practical origin at the Plattsburg training camps last year, when the Plattsburg Association, composed of men taking the course at that military centre of New York state, began to consider the General in connection with the presidency. The Rough Riders who served in Cuba with Roosevelt had already declared for a "Wood for President" movement. This spread to the Training Camps Association, the young men of which enthusiastically took up the cause. Their action was voluntary, they are paying the expenses themselves and are freely serving as clerks, stenographers and propagandists generally. They have established the Leonard Wood League, which has assumed the proportions of a national organization. Already there are branches in thirty-five states of the Union, the members of which number tens of thousands of men and women of every degree of fortune. They are missionaries who interview or write to friends urging support of Wood. They are seeking, furthermore, to persuade delegates to the Chicago convention that General Wood is an administrator of remarkable attainments, and in every way qualified to serve as President during the reconstruction period. Col. Wm. Procter, of Ohio, a prominent figure in politics, has become national chairman and active director of the league's activities, and will devote his whole time to the office. It is evident that the Wood barque has been successfully launched and is sailing out of port with every confidence of weathering any gales that may arise between now and convention time. It seems a fairly staunch craft.

MEMORIAL HALL FOR GAGETOWN

Gagetown, April 17.—An enthusiastic and well attended meeting of the citizens was held Wednesday evening in the Temperance Hall to settle important questions in connection with the Memorial Hall which was decided upon at a public meeting last April as the most suitable memorial to the many men from Gagetown and vicinity who offered and gave their lives in the great war. Early in the present year it was planned to get matters under way, but the continued storms made it necessary to wait until better weather; and yesterday's meeting was none the less successful for being several times postponed.

TWO MEN DROWNED.

St. John, April 19.—A high northeasterly wind yesterday morning upset a canoe containing two young men in the Kennebeccasis river, near Lower Norton, and one, Ronald Seely, son of Edgerton H. Seely, of that village was drowned. Ronald and his younger brother, Maurice, went out on the river in the forenoon, and some time after they started Patrick Murphy, a resident of the vicinity, heard cries for assistance. Murphy put off in a boat and found Maurice Seely clinging to the overturned canoe. He was almost exhausted, but soon revived after being taken to Murphy's home.

The new appointment for Mr. Grout is undoubtedly a promotion, and he will leave for Toronto about the middle of the week.

The Stock Market

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York (Wall Street), April 19.—Advances tending from large fractions to almost four points attended the early dealings on the stock exchange today. Traders and speculative interests evidently were encouraged by the further weakening of the railroad strike and last week's favorable bank statements. Steels, equipments and coppers reflected a substantial demand with sugars and utilities, Consolidated Gas adding materially to last Saturday's gain. Investment rails and shippings also gave promise of further improvement.

A SPRING POEM

"CLEANLINESS IS NEXT TO GODLINESS."
—KORAN.

"Oh, woman, in thine hours of ease
Uncertain, coy and hard to please,
When cleaning house bedew the brow,
Hustling Angel thou."

Oh, man, with boots outside the door,
Beware for tacks bestrew the floor;
Fail not to rise early the carpets to beat,
All must be done before breakfast you eat.

Forget not the musical stovepipes to clean;
Say not you are weary—'tis only your "spleen"—
With soot on your hands and black on your nose
And dust on your everyday second best clothes.

With such visions as these in your practical mind,
Remember 'tis well to appease womankind;
And nothing will please her as well as to say:—
"My Dear, choose your Carpets and Curtains at EDGECOMBE'S today."

FROM THE PEOPLE

AND LABORING IN THE FIELDS IS A LOT MORE HEALTHY, TOO.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Will you kindly allow me space in your columns to reply a few words to Uncle Ruben, whose letter appeared under date of April 8.

Now, Uncle Ruben, any man that was overseas did work, and a lot harder, I know, than either you or your daughter did "laboring in the fields," and they did not have a feather bed to lie on, either, if they were lucky enough to have a few minutes to rest.

You say that Canada is more generous than any other counrty toward her soldiers, which goes to show that you do not know anything about the figures which show how other countries have provided for their soldiers.

You also seem very much afraid of the taxes you will have to pay, but if the soldiers while overseas had been paid in accordance with the profits that some of you reaped, your taxes would be considerably higher than a cash bonus would make them. Yes, Uncle Ruben, we bled for our country while profiteers at home bled our wives and mothers with their high prices and, if the boys did take a holiday when they came home and while getting $75 or $100 a month, God knows they earned it a dozen times over.

Now you say all preferences are given to returned soldiers, which I also contradict as I made application to the United Farmers of New Brunswick, for a position which I was fully qualified for and with the best of references. This was nearly four months ago and they have not yet made any reply to my letter and the position has been filled for some time and not by a returned soldier, either.

Thanking you for your valuable space, Mr. Editor,

Yours,
RETURNED MAN.
Fredericton, N. B., April 16, 1920.

GOVERNMENT'S LIMESTONE POLICY DECLARED MOST UNFAIR.

To the Editor of The Gleaner.

Sir,—The Local Government passed their bill to establish a plant at Brookville for the grinding of limestone for fertilizer. This is the first time we have ever known a Government to go in competition with established private industry. It is certainly establishing a very serious precedent which simply means that no private business of the community would be safe.

We feel, in justice to ourselves, that it would not be fair to allow statements made by the Minister of Agriculture in the House to be passed by, particularly in view of the facts and figures given him at a meeting between the private producers and the executive council. The Minister states that private plants have been exploiting the farmers for years, and that the farmers are paying today from $7 to $11 for limestone fertilizer. The figure placed before him at the meeting with the executive council was $4 per ton in bulk f. o. b. at Torryburn, and of which he was fully conversant at the time. To take the average short freight haul, the farmer would be paying in the vicinity of $5 per ton for this fertilizer, and the longer the haul he would pay more. But the average freight for the province is $2.35, which would make the cost to the farmer $6.35, not $7 to $11 as stated by the Minister. The farmer in many cases will not purchase car lots, consequently it is necessary to ship him bags, in which case we only charge for the cost of bags, $1.50 per ton.

In explanation of the Government's activity in this line, the Minister states that the plants now in operation could not meet the present demand. The present demand for limestone is about 3,000 tons per year, including a portion which is shipped to Nova Scotia. The plants now operating at Torryburn, if permitted to run six months of the year would produce 12,000 tons, or four times the present consumption; if permitted to run twelve months, would produce eight times the present consumption, and the Minister knows this.

If these figures are analyzed, it will be seen that the statements made by the Minister are very erratic.

The Minister of Agriculture in his anxiety to secure the support of the farmers for his Government, is either grossly misrepresenting the figures which have been given him or his capacity is such that he should not be permitted to hold office, particularly in a so-called business government.

It might be interesting to the public to know that the installation and cost of this plant to the Government will be in the vicinity of $25,000. Figuring on the basis of consumption today, the gross amount from sales which the contractors—Smith & Merrithew—will receive, after they deduct the average frieght and the royalty of 25c. per ton to the Government, will be less than $8,000 per year. This would not look like a very prosperous investment.

Then, again, the Minister is asking the local farmers who would be within say 50 to 100 miles of the plant, to pay more for their fertilizer in order to help out the more distant farmer. Naturally this is what the Minister would like, so that he could have somebody else shoulder the costs which his constituents would have to bear.

We started this limestone plant at the solicitation of the old Government and made quite a heavy investment. Later on, the Provincial Lime Co. established their plant, and we have both been pushing and extensively advertising this material, but have never been able to create a sufficient demand to lower the cost below the present, and get any return at all. We have been continuing in the hope that the farmer might be persuaded to use this stone more extensively, and eventually with a fair output, get some remuneration for our investment.

The Government has seen fit just at this time to put our plants into junk, creating a loss of perhaps $25,000.

We might also say that the Department of Agriculture when this limestone business was first mentioned, gave our firm very misleading information, apparently to put us off our guard. Then when they came to St. John, had an interview, as we understand it, with every lime property owner in the vicinity with the exception of the two which were producing the stone. This looks decidedly as though the Minister had a scheme all his own and the public can judge for themselves why.

We consider it most unfair treatment and no honorable government would have permitted such procedures as have been carried out here.

We thank you, Mr. Editor, for your space in permitting these facts to be put before the public.

Yours,
C. H. PETERS' SONS, LTD.

Joseph L. Allen and His Wife Both Octogenerians—Two Funerals on Sunday.

Marysville, N. B., April 19.—Joseph L. Allen is today celebrating his 82nd birthday, being born at Penniac April 19, 1838. When a young man he entered the employ of the late Alex. Gibson and later became his head carpenter, which position he filled for many years. When Marysville was incorporated in January, 1887, Mr. Allen was appointed Police Magistrate, and he filled that office in a very satisfactory manner for 21 years, when he tendered his resignation. He has always been a very industrious man, and notwithstanding his advanced years he is still actively engaged at work in the cotton mill here. He has been twice married, his second wife formerly being Mrs. Pond, who recently celebrated her 80th birthday. By his first marriage Mr. Allen had one son and two daughters, Elwood H. Allen, Mrs. J. Olivette Baptist church was filled to capacity Sunday evening by a congregation of all denominations in the town to listen to the temporary farewell words of the pastor, Rev. E. J. Mr. Barass preached at Nashwaak, and baptized three candidates for church membership. The Arion Quartette was present at Olivette, and rendered several fine selections. Two candidates for church membership were baptized at the close of the service, after which Mr. Barass shook hands with every person present, each wishing him a speedy recovery of health. Mr. Barass and family left this morning for Hatfield Point by the Fredericton & Grand Lake Railway.

Supply Items Were About All Finished in the Legislature at Saturday's Sitting

Public Works Estimates of Chief Interest—Hon. B. Frank Smith Gets Promise of Steel Bridge for Hartland—Tourist Association Grants.

Practically all of the Supply items had been passed when the Legislature adjourned at 5.30 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, but some items were allowed to stand over until this afternoon so that members who were absent might have an opportunity of discussing any matters that they might wish before Supply was entirely disposed of.

Chief interest on Saturday was shown in the Public Works Department estimates, during the course of which Hon. B. Frank Smith obtained from the Minister of Public Works assurance that the Hartland bridge will be replaced by a steel structure with concrete piers, as rapidly as found feasible. The spans which were carried away may first of all, however, be replaced by hard pine and the whole structure changed to a steel structure by degrees, as was done with the Fredericton bridge.

Hon. Mr. Murray, on the item of public printing, said there had been some complaints of an increased expenditure for that service. In 1915 the cost of public printing was $16,590.31, while last year it was $18,871.70. Considering the fact that the cost of paper had increased more than 100 per cent. and wages had gone up over 50 per cent., the increased expenditure for printing was not a matter for surprise.

Hon. Mr. Foster, on the item for the Provincial Hospital, said the appropriation was not intended to cover last year's deficit. It had been based on the probable cost of upkeep of the institution for the coming year, as estimated by the Superintendent.

The Health Act in Carleton Co.

Hon. Mr. Roberts, in reply to Mr. Smith (Carleton), said that under the Health Act doctors serving on Medical Boards were not to act as inspectors unless it was impossible to secure others to perform that duty. The scarcity of doctors in rural districts often made it necessary for them to act in a dual capacity.

Mr. Smith (Carleton) said that in the Parish of Wilmot, in his county, Dr. Field served on the Medical Board and was also inspector for the schools. As there were other doctors in the locality not connected with the Board, he thought one of them should be appointed medical inspector.

Hon. Mr. Roberts said the apointment did not lie with the government but with the local Board of Health. He would make inquiries into the case referred to.

Opposition Leader on Hospital Board.

Mr. Tilley, on the item for the Provincial Hospital building, pointed out that the Hospital Commission was now composed solely of members of the Government. He would suggest that the Government consider the question of enlarging the Board and adding to it the leader of the Opposition. He believed the plan of having both sides of the House represented would work well.

Mr. Campbell endorsed the suggestion made by his colleague and hoped it would be carried out.

The Hartland Bridge.

Mr. Smith (Carleton) on the item for ferry maintenance, wanted to know if any provision had been made for a ferry at Stickney. Other ferries along the St. John river received Government grants and he would suggest that $100 be paid to the ferry man at Stickney. He said the Hartland Bridge had gone out, and meant a serious loss, not only to the province but to the people of the district. He thought the Minister of Public Works had done him an injustice by stating that he (Smith) when head of the department had pigeon-holed a report on that bridge. He had requested the chief engineer to submit a report on the Hartland Bridge at the time they were considering the advisability of building concrete piers beneath the bridge at Florenceville. They were just about to let the contract for the Florenceville bridge when the old government went out of office and the new government went on with the work under the plans which had been prepared. It had been the intention of the old government to construct the Hartland bridge in 1918 and the only reason why he had ordered the chief engineer's report on the structure to stand was that it called for a covered supersturcture of wood. As a representative of the county, he did not think a bridge of that character would be in the interests of the locality. It was an important point, the bridge was a long one, and, if covered, he felt it would be considerable of a menace. He would not advise the Minister of Public Works to erect a covered bridge at Hartland.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said the ferry service refrred to was receiving consideration and would be attended to. In regard to the Hartland bridge, he understood that when Mr. Smith was Minister of Public Works the chief engineer had submitted a report in condemnation of the structure. He (Veniot) knew little about conditions at Hartland until he visited the place in 1917. He then found the bridge in an unsafe condition, and on calling up the chief engineer was told he had condemned it in a report. He consulted the people of Hartland and was told it would be a great inconvenience to have the bridge closed for any lengthy period. The people raised an objection to a covered span bridge. In September, 1918, he again visited Hartland and proposed that a ferry be established for eighteen months to provide accommodation while a steel bridge with concrete piers could be erected; but the proposal was not looked upon with favor. Then he had proposed to build spans of hard pine during the winter of 1919 and have the same covered. That met with approval, and the work was undertaken and completed just before the ice run of the present spring. The ice this year did not follow the main channel, but lodged on the opposite shore, and on breaking loose, swung over to the other side and carried away two of the piers. He did not believe that even concrete piers would have withstood the ice run. He would promise that the Hartland bridge would not be left long in its present condition as the district was of too much importance for that. A ferry service would be established as soon as conditions permitted it. The plans would call for the erection of concrete piers and the spans would be of hard pine. He was hopeful that later on they could be utilized elsewhere and replaced by steel.

Mr. Smith (Carleton) said that he was glad to have the statement of the minister and he was hopeful that the two spans which had been lost could be replaced by steel.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that the change might be made by degrees as was done with the Fredericton bridge.

Ferries in York Co.

Hon. Mr. Young wanted to know if any provision had been made for a service at The Barony, York county.

Hon. Mr. Veniot replied that the matter was being looked into.

Mr. Young asked if any arrangements had been made for a ferry at Manzer's Siding.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said he had proposed the establishment of a ferry there, but had been told that it would be seriously interfered with by driving operations. The people of that section wanted a bridge, and he could say that if conditions warranted it, it would be built. The same arrangements for a ferry service for school children as last year would be carried out.

Ordinary Roads and Bridges.

Mr. Baxter, speaking to the item of ordinary roads and bridges, asked the Minister of Public Works if the amount named ought to be exceeded or if the idea was to keep within the estimates.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that as far as possible the intention was to stay within the estimates. The amount looked small and was less than either expenditure or estimate of last year. If the agreement with the Dominion with regard to payment of forty per cent. of the cost of highway construction should be completed, it would leave more from the automobile tax fund for the branch roads.

Mr. Baxter asked if it was the policy of the Government to cease using the automobile tax fund to meet road debentures.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said that was not the policy. The total received from the automobile tax up to the present was required to meet the charges on expenditure for durable roads. The amount was entirely taken up. Any increase in receipts from that tax which would come in the future would be used for new funding, which would be used to do a class of work as good as what had been done in the past. This would not be on trunk roads, however, but on roads of other classification.

Mr. Tilley said that last year $340,000 had been voted for ordinary roads and ordinary bridges. The amount had been exceeded by $268,000. What was the use of voting supply if the amounts were to be exceeded? It was an absolute farce.

Hon. Mr. Veniot—"The hon. gentlemen endured such a farce for eight years."

Mr. Tilley said the total vote this year was $375,000. Was that sufficient? The House should not be put in the position it was in last year.

Hon. Mr. Veniot said a man who claimed that he could set down the amount which would carry the public Works Department through the year has lost his brains."

Mr. Tilley"He might come within $50,000 of it."

Hon. Mr. Veniot said he could not come within $100,000. Prices were increasing all the time, but barring no accidents he believed he had enough. If the public service was to suffer by being down to estimates it was time to stop administering public affairs.

Mr. Young said that he was pleased to hear the minister intimate that work was to be curtailed. He realized the minister's difficult position. Members from all over the province were after him for expenditures. He had been told by a resident of Sunbury county that near Waasis four miles of highway were impassable.

Mr. Mersereau said that the impassable highway was ten miles instead of four miles, but during the winter one thousand yards of gravel had been taken there to be used. Three years ago Sunbury county had one hundred miles of road in much worse condition.

The Tourist Association.

Mr. Tilley said he noticed that the grant to the Fredericton Tourist Association had been increased by $200. The New Brunswick Tourist Association, which covered the whole province, had asked for an increased grant but had not received it. He would like to see the grant to the New Brunswick Association increased to $[illegible],000 in the suplementary estimates.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that the grant to the Fredericton Tourist Association had been increased to meet the expense of an excellent booklet covering various parts of the province which it had issued. The New Brunswick Tourist Association was practically centred in St. John. It had asked for an aditional grant. Upon inquiry he learned that that association raised no revenue among the citizens of St. John as it had a few years previously when he had been connected with it. He decided to act in accordance with the old saying, "The Lord helps them who help themselves." The grant was not increased.

Hon. Mr. Foster explained that the item of $15,000 to provide for the purchase of land for soldiers with physical disabilities was a revote. It had not been expended last year.

Progress was reported.

Schools Books May Go Up In Prices

Mr. Young, of York, asked in Committee on Supply in the Legislature on Saturday why there was an increase in the item for school books.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that the increase had been made on account of the great advance in cost of printing and material. He had made inquiries but had found that it was impossible to reduce the amount. Of the $88,000 there was $16,000 that was being contributed directly by tthe Province to the individual purchasers of books.

"Built to Build Goodwill"

The Tractor Withot Differential Gears

A tractor has no more need for differential gears than it has for a fly-net.

Those gears serve no good purpose in a tractor. And they do cause constant trouble, rob the motor of power, and shorten the life of the tractor.

The Chase Tractor has no differential gears.

The two rear wheels get equal driving power, turn over at equal speed, apply the force of the heavy-duty motor at its full efficiency.

That means that when the Chase gets into a hole, both rear wheels work to pull it through. When obstacles are met the Chase rides over them. In plowing on the level or on sidehills the side-draft does not pull the Chase off its true course.

The Chase, therefore, avoids a very common tractor trouble.

A TROUBLE-MAKER AVOIDED.

Tractors with differential gears can do their best work only on a straightway pull on level land. The moment one wheel meets an obstacle, the differential throws all the power into the other wheel. So quite often you see such a tractor with one rear wheel dead and the other spinning. That happens when the tractor gets one wheel in a mud hole. The very time when extra driving force is needed the differential gears rob the motor of its power to move the tractor. The same thing occurs in a lesser degree in all plowing work. For the side-draft tends to place more load on one wheel than on the other and the differential gears throw the power into the other wheel. The tractor with differential gears is more than half of the time a one-wheel-drive tractor.

The Chase Tractor, having no differential gears, is always pulling evenly on both rear wheels.

For that reason it operates with less power and so saves kerosene.

GEARS WASTE POWER.

But there is another saving of gas from this same feature of Chase construction. Differential gears rob the motor of about 10 per cent. of its power. 10 per cent. that does the tractor owner no good. The Chase saves that 10 per cent. because it has no differential gears.

THE EVEN PULL SAVES MONEY.

Pulling evenly the Chase wears evenly. Lasts longer. Requires less adjustment of bearings. Needs fewer repairs. And, for that reason, stays more steadily "on the job."

As a practical man can see, the whole of the Chase Tractor gives proof of the same sensible, common-sense idea of design in every part of its construction.

Watch it in action and you will see in the smooth-working Chase a quality that you expect only in a high-grade, perfectly adjusted machine.

BUILT TO BUILD GOODWILL.

Canadians build the Chase—in Canada. Canadians build the Chase that is sold in Great Britain and foreign lands—yes, and also in the United States. The Chase institution was created to establish in Canada a world-wide tractor business founded on Canadian principles of doing business. The men behind it, R. J. and W. J. Cluff, are men with high manufacturing ideals. They are exacting in their demands. They want the men who buy Chase Tractors to make money out of them. They are determined that every customer shall receive the service he requires to keep his Chase Tractor always at its best and always "on the job."

INVESTIGATE OUR SERVICE.

You will find it to your advantage to deal with an institution with these ideas of service. You will find that the Chase Tractor is a piece of machinery that will gladden your eye. If you haven't seen it, be sure to do so. Or, write for illustrated literature and detailed information. We will send it promptly and tell you where you can see a Chase Tractor.

"Bone Dry" Referendum Resolution In the House

Hon. J. F. Tweedale, Who Was to Move Resolution, Now Seriously Ill-- Doubtful When it Will Get before House But It Seems Sure of a Stormy Reception--Similar Resolution in Ontario May Be Allowed to Die.

The prohibition situation in New Brunswick promises to occupy the centre of the stage in the Provincial Legislature during at least part of this week.

New Brunswick at the present time has a war-time prohibition law which went into force on May 1st, 1917, and under which liquor is sold by wholesale vendors to retail vendors, who are largely druggists, and by them dispensed to the public on doctors' prescriptions without restrictions as to the quantity that can be prescribed or the number of prescriptions that may be issued.

In that act there is a provision for a referendum on the question of whether the prohibition law shall remain in effect or not upon the return of the soldiers from overseas. Since the war the New Brunswick Temperance Alliance have been asking for that referendum, and there is in the estimates for this year an item of $30,000 for holding such a plebiscite, the particulars of which have not yet been announced although it has been intimated there will be several questions on the ballot, including a provision for the sale of beers and light wines as in Quebec.

Government Wouldn't Father It.

Before the Legislature opened the New Brunswick Temperance Alliance had a delegation before the Government at St. John suggesting that a resolution be introduced in the Legislature by the Government calling upon the Federal Government to have a referendum in this province on the question of whether importations of liquor "for personal use" shall be permitted, as since the ban was lifted by the Federal Government last New Year's Day. The Alliance spokesmen, it is now said, on that occasion suggested that there would be no necessity of a further referendum on the provincial law if the people voted against importations for personal use, but, when a member of the Government asked if a vote in favor of importations should be regarded as meaning the people did not want the provincial prohobition law continued, did not agree with that viewpoint.

The outcome was that the Government declined to father the resolution for the referendum on importations and a delegation from the Temperance Alliance then secured permission to address the members of the Legislature. Premier Foster placed one of the committee rooms in the Parliament Buildings at their disposal and late Wednesday at noon half a dozen speakers, including one laymen, spoke to somewhat more than half the members of the House and urged the passage of the resolution to: a referendum brought on as soon as possible. The lobbyists remained here for a day or two and on Saturday it became known, and was so reported in The Gleaner, that they had arranged for Hon. J. F. Tweeddale, Minister of Agriculture, to move and J. L. Peck, M. L. A. for Albert, a member of the Opposition, to second the resolution. Thus the resolution became a non-party matter.

However, Hon. Mr. Tweeddale has been taken suddenly ill. This morning it was said that his illness was one of such a serious character that his removal to Victoria Hospital from Windsor Hall, where he is a guest, might be necessary while a relative expressed fear that he was suffering from a breakdown due to overwork.

Local Pastors Urge Passage.

There is therefore much doubt as to when the resolution will get before the House, but, with two clear days' notice being necessary, it is evident it will not be before the last of the week and perhaps not then. There are rapidly growing indications, too, that when the resolution does come up it is likely to have a stormy time. In several Fredericton churches last night sermons were preached by the pastors on the temperance situation.

At the George street Baptist church on Sunday, Rev. Z. L. Fash chose as his text, "Loose him and let him go." The saloon, which for years had been the centre of crime, was gone forever in this country, he said, it having killed itself by its own inherent wickedness. The time would come when the saloon would also be banished from the United Kingdom. "The loss of Pussyfoot's eye will make England dry," he declared. The Legislature of the province of New Brunswick had been asked by the Temperance Alliance to pass a resolution asking the Dominion Government to take a plebiscite on the prohibition of the importation of liquor into the province, and it was hoped such a resolution would be passed.

Rev. Geo. M. Young, in the course of a temperance sermon at the Methodist church last evening, referred to the two referendums likely to take place during the coming summer, and emphasized the importance of getting every vote polled in the local and Federal referendums.

The Situation in Ontario.

Meanwhile the members of the Legislature are watching the situation in Ontario very closely. While a resolution similar to that to come before the House here was supposed to be sure of passage there, it now develops that there is much doubt as to what the Ontario House will do about it. Referring to the situation there, the Ontario Telegram says:

"Labor men are determined that they will not stand for 'bone dry' legislation during the present session of the Legislature. They gave the Government fair notice of this at a U.F.O.-Labor caucus at the Parliament buildings this morning. So vigorous was their protest that the McCreary motion calling for a referendum, which met with much opposition in the House yesterday, will be shelved for the time being. In the meantime, an effort is to be made to bring about a compromise, but at the moment no person seems to be able to throw light on how this can be accomplished.

"How will the Liberals stand? They are split at present. 'I am absolutely opposed to a referendum,' said Mr. Pinard, the Ottawa Liberal. 'I will certainly vote for it,' said J. W. Curry, 'and I think we have enough Liberals in favor of it to support the Government in passing it.' The Conservatives will go against the referendum in a body, apparently. The Laborites are in favor of a stronger beer, and they claim that the laboring classes possess that sentiment.

"McCreary's bill is really a camouflaged effort of the Government to get the referendum through without taking the responsibility. One prominent Liberal stated that he thought the McCreary motion merely a 'feeler' thrown into the House, and that the 'pulse' having throbbed so feebly, he thought the government would allow the measure to die in peace."

NOTORIOUS HOELZ AGAIN IN PRISON

Leader of Saxon Outlaws Has Already Escaped Three Times from Confinement

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Prague, April 19.—There is no question in the minds of Czecho-Slovak authorities that the man they succeeded in putting under arrest on Saturday is Max Hoelz, the notorious communist leader.

The capture of Max Hoelz brings to a close, for the time being at least, the career of the picturesque Saxon outlaw. Three times the police have arrested Hoelz and as many times he has escaped from prison through the connivance of friends.

During the recent Kapp rebellion in Germany, Hoelz, whose ostensible job was that of moving picture theatre lecturer, seized the reins of power at Falkenstein, Saxony, fifteen miles from Plauen. After the fall of the Kapp dictatorship, Hoelz and his band made sudden raids on adjacent towns. They even held up the Berlin-Munich express train and forced the passengers to produce their passports.

WILD LANDS TAX TO BE DOUBLED

Residents to Pay 2 Cents Per Acre the Same as the American Owners Do.

In the Legislature on Saturday Hon. Dr. Smith, Minister of Lands and Mines, introduced a bill to amend the General Mining Act, which provides for the drainage of mining lands.

Another bill permits disposing of land from the Blue Bell tract for school and church purposes, while he also introduced a bill to amend the Act respecting the taxation of wild lands and explained that the existing Act imposed a tax of one cent per acre upon wild lands owned by residents and two cents per acre upon wild lands owned by non-residents. Americans had objected against this discrimination, stating that no state of the Union discriminated between residents and non-residents in the matter of taxation. In view of this objection this bill was introduced to make a uniform rate of taxation upon wild lands of two cents per acre.

The revenue from the Wild Lands Tax last year was $53,944.50.

The Minister of Lands and Mines also introduced a bill to amend the Forest Act of 1918. He explained that the purpose of the bill was to increase the amount which might be expended to $150,000.

LAW COMMITTEE IN SESSION TODAY

Fraser Paper Company's Bill on Tomorrow—Utilities Comm'n Chairmanship.

The Law Committee was the only one to meet at the Legislature this morning. They heard a delegation including S. B. Wass, of Moncton, and B. M. Hill, of this city, with P. J. Hughes, of Fredericton, as counsel, regarding the bill to incorporate the Professional Engineers of New Brunswick on phases of the bill, which had been referred back to the committee. The bill consolidating acts respecting Trinity Church, St. John, was agreed to and the bill to increase solicitors' fees was also considered.

Supply and bills which are ready for the committee of the House make up the programme for today, and tomorrow morning the Fraser Paper Company's bill will come before the Corporations Committee. It is understood that the passage of the bill will be pressed, as, irrespective of what is done respecting the Grand Falls power, the Tobique Narrows will be the site of the company's pulp and paper plant; but that, if power is obtained from Grand Falls, smaller dams on the Tobique will be satisfactory. It is claimed that dams twenty feet in height in other places do not prevent the passage of salmon.

There will probably be a slim House today. The Government met during the week-end but no appointment has been made to the chairmanship of the Public Utilities Commission, Premier Foster said today.

DISAPPEARANCE OF 24TH BATTERY MAN

the 8th August, 1918; and it was thought that one of these, who was wounded in the head, might have been Gunner Hamilton. This unidentified man was traced to No. 6 General Hospital, Rouen, France, where he died on the 15th August, 1918, and was buried at St. Sever cemetery, Rouen, on the 17th August, 1918. He was presumed to be a Canadian for the reason that he arrived at the hospital in an ambulance train in which the rest of the wounded were Canadians, although numbers of French, American, British and other Colonial wounded, passed through the main dressing station at that time. The body of this unidentified man was exhumed and examined by Gunner Hamilton's relatives, and they satisfied themselves it was not that of Gunner Hamilton.

Exhaustive searches have been made, both officially and personally in every direction and through every branch of the military service, including French, American, British and Colonial, which might have some information or record regarding the death or burial of Gunner Hamilton, or some unidentified man who might answer his description; but none can be found. The most absolute assurances have been given that it would be impossible for a man to die and be buried in the organized hospital unit, which it is known Gunner Hamilton reached, without a full record of his death and burial being made. The military authorities are not aware of any other case like it, and are at a loss to account for it. His disappearance for the present remains a profound mystery.

THE BODY OF BABY BURIED IN SNOW

Remains of Infant Found at Gravel Pit Near Milltown on Saturday.

(Special Haven despatch by Leased Wire)

St. Stephen, N. B., April 19.—The death of Henry Sullivan, who was kicked by a horse yesterday, occurred at three o'clock this morning. Mr. at three o'clock this morning. Mr. Sullivan was 67 years of age and leaves one sister at home and one half brother, Daniel, postmaster of this town. The funeral will take place Tuesday at 9 a. m.

The river here has dropped several inches since Saturday, but is still very high, but unless another heavy rain follows no damage is liable to be done.

The body of a baby boy, apparently only a week or so old, was found lying at the entrance of the gravel pit near the four corners at Milltown Saturday. The body was without any clothing and had no doubt been left there some time ago, as it had turned quite black from exposure. It is thought that the body had probably been taken out this winter and buried in the snow, the melting of which has brought to light one of the most heathenish crimes ever experienced on the St. Croix. No clue to the guilty parties has been found, but the authorities are working on the case and no stone will be left unturned to bring the guilty parties to justice.

TRAGEDY ENACTED IN ST. JOHN OFFICE

Andrew Ferguson Found Dead, with Indications of Having Been Strangled.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

St. John, April 19.—A shocking tragedy, which savors somewhat of the mysterious, occurred sometime during the night in the local offices of the Marine Navigation Co., Prince William street, as a result of which the body of Andrew Ferguson, chief clerk of the company at this port, lies in the General Public Hospital awaiting an autopsy to ascertain, if possible, the cause of his death.

Mrs. Joseph Lewis, wife of the janitor of the building, found Ferguson's dead body in the office about 7.40 o'clock this morning. She found him beside one of the desks, resting on one bended knee and crouched against the desk, with his head almost touching the floor. Life was extinct and the face was almost black, as though death had been caused by strangulation. Mr. Lewis said about 10.30 or 11 o'clock last night there were several people in the office, and a little later they were heard to go out and everything was quiet, and it was presumed that the office had been vacated and that Mr. Ferguson had closed the street door, as had been his custom when working late. An inquest will be held.

MATCHED RACE FOR $2,000 AT HOULTON

The Problem, 2.04¼ and Zom Q., 2.09¼, to Race for $1,000 a Side.

The Houlton, Me., Fair races the week of August 31st, which were given a place in the Maritime and Maine Shortship Circuit at the last meeting of the executive here, will probably be featured by a matched race for $1,000 a side between The Problem, $2.04¼, and Zom Q., 2.09¼.

The American Horse Breeder says: "A match race for $1,000 a side between The Problem, 2.04½, and Zom Q., 2.09¼, may feature the racing programme at the Houlton, Me., Fair week of August 31. During a recent visit to Houlton on a business trip Ira D Carpenter, Patten, Me., spokesman for The Problem forces, issued a tentative challenge to race the Harry Nevers pacer. Now comes word that Nevers has accepted the challenge, conditioning the acceptance that the race take place at the Houlton Fair."

A SIRE OF SPEED.

Captain Aubrey, 2.07¼, Sire of Bill Sharon, 2.16¼, in Much Demand.

[Halifax Recorder.]

The Nova Scotia Government stallion, Captain Aubrey, 2.07¼, by the world famed Peter the Great, has wintered splendidly at the Government Farm at Truro, and looks better than ever.

Capt. Aubrey was purchased from the Government of P. E. Island, and they have paid him the unique compliment of wanting him back again to the Island this year for a portion of the season. They have communicated with the Nova Scotia Government, expressing their desire, and arrangements have been made for Captain Aubrey to visit the Island for a short time this season.

The P. E. I. people recognize Captain Aubrey as a sire worth while, and on top of the arrangement to visit that province comes the anouncement that his son, Bill Sharon, 2.16¼, the champion four-year-old of the Maritime Provinces, has been sold for $3,500, the largest price ever paid for a trotter foaled in the provinces in recent years.

ST. JOHN Y. M. C. A. DEFEATS MONCTON

[St. John Telegraph]

In what proved to be a very close contest the St. John Y.M.C.A. senior team won out from Moncton, in the return match of the series for the Y.M.C.A. provincial championship by the score of 36 to 32. St. John thus wins the round by 23 points, having won the game in Moncton, 33 to 14.

York County Baseball League Seems Assured

Marysville is ready to place a team in the York County Baseball League, and it seems the success of the proposed organization inaugurated by the athletic committee of the Y. M. C. A. is already practically assured.

On Saturday Mayor Walker, of Marysville, himself a red hot fan, was in Fredericton with Manager Collett, of the Marysville club, and they had a conference with the local promoters of the league and Director Cochrane of the Y. M. C. A. It is expected Devon will also enter a team in the league and there will thus proabbly be four teams, including two from Fredericton.

REFERENDUM PLAN IN ONTARIO HOUSE

Cool Reception in House Due to Labor and Farmers' Differences Over It.

Toronto, Aril 17.—The resolution by which the Legislature will ask the Dominion Government for a referendum on the question of importing liquor, did not receive a very cheerful welcome when it was introduced Thursday. The resolution's reception was due partly to the manner in which it was introduced and partly to the fact that the Labor group is of a different opinion on tempreance matters from the Farmer members.

Bothered by points raised by the Opposition, H. McCreary, North Lanark, who introduced the resolution, apparently got beyond his depth in the matter of procedure. He was left stranded by the Government. Not a member came to his aid, and questions by labor members, who were not particularly friendly at the moment, sent him further into trouble. Eventually, he got his resolution submitted, but had evidently not said all that he wanted to in connectoin with it. Discussion was brief, and G. G. Halcrow, labor member for East Hamilton, moved the adjournment.

Mr. McCreary was reading from a document after reading the motion, when Hon. Thos. Crawford rose to direct the attention of the Speaker to the fact that no member could read his speech. Mr. McCreary said that he was reading from a brief leading to the resolution, which had been prepared.

"By whom?" he was asked.

The only reply was a long silence with Mr. McCreary still standing. 'Did you say a minister?" asked an opposition member.

Mr. Dewart submitted that the House was entitled to know by whom the "brief" was prepared. There was another period of silence, which was broken by members on the opposition side saying: 'Speak up, tell us."

Mr. McCreary attempted to start reading again but was jerked up short by opposition members.

"I understand it was the lawyer who drafts all these amendments," he said.

"That is the second time we have had use for lawyers," said Mr. Ferguson.

"Is it a lawyer who sits on the other side of the House or a lawyer out of the House?" asked Mr. Dewart.

"I understand on the outside of the House."

The motion went to the Speaker then, amid laughter from the House.

Karl Homuth, South Waterloo, inquired whether any time was set for making the referendum.

"I understand the Federal House submits the referendum within three months of the time we apply for it," replied Mr. McCreary. "Is that right?"

Whereat the House smiled audibly.

"I am ashamed of some of our cabinet ministers and the stand they are taking," declared G. G. Halcrow, Labor member for East Hamilton. "When they thought it was up to the province they stood against submitting the question to the people. Now, when they find they can pass it to the Dominion, they are anxious to pass the buck.

"This should have come up as a government measure, and the government should have lived or died on the issue.

On motion of Mr. Halcrow debate on the motion was adjourned.

True Knights of Faith

"Run, Wilkins," quoted he, "and fetch me the shield."

Long were the faces of the Englishmen and broad the laugh of the crossbowmen as the heavy mantlet was carried towards them, for there in the centre was the thick Brabant bolt driven deeply in to the wood, while there was neither sign nor trace of the cloth-yard shaft.

"By the three kings!" cried the Brabanter, "this time at least there is no gainsaying which is the better weapon, or which the truer hand that held it. You have missed the shield, Englishman."

"Tarry a bit! tarry a bit, mon gar!" quoth Aylward, and turning round the shield he showed a round clear hole in the wood at the back of it. "My shaft has passed through it, camarade, and I trow the one which goes through is more to be feared than that which bides on the way."

The Brabanter stamped his foot with mortification, and was about to make some angry reply, when Alleyne crowds of archers.

"Sir Nigel will be here anon," said he, "and it is his wish to speak with the Company."

In an instant order and method took the place of general confusion. Bows, steel caps, and jacks were caught up from the grass. A long cordon cleared the camp of all strangers, while the main body fell into four lines with under-officers and file-leaders in front and on either bank. So they stood, silent and motionless, when their leader came riding towards them, his face shining and his whole small figure swelling with the news which he bore.

"Great honor has been done to us, men," cried he; "for, of all the army, the prince has chosen us out that we should ride onwards into the lands of Spain to spy upon our enemies. Yet, as there are many of us, and as the service may not be to the liking of all, I pray that those will step forward from the ranks who have the will to follow me."

There was a rustle among the bowmen, but when Sir Nigel looked up at them no man stood forward from his fellows, but the four lines of men stretched unbroken as before. Sir Nigel blinked at them in amazement, and a look of the deepest sorrow shadowed his face.

"That I should live to see the day!" he cried. "What! not one—"

"My fair lord," whispered Alleyne, "they have all stepped forward."

"Ah, by Saint Paul! I see how it is with them. I could not think that they would desert me. We start at dawn tomorrow, and ye are to have the horses at Sir Robert Cheney's company. Be ready, I pray ye, at early cock-crow."

A buzz of delight burst from the archers, as they broke their ranks and ran hither and thither, whooping and cheering like boys who have news of a holiday. Sir Nigel gazed after them with a smiling face, when a heavy hand fell upon his shoulder.

"What ho! my knight-errant of Twynham!" said a voice. "You are off to Elbro, I hear; and, by the holy fish of Tobias! you must take me under your banner."

"What! Sir Oliver Buttesworth!" cried Sir Nigel. "I had heard that you were come into camp, and had hoped to see you. Glad and proud shall I be to have you with me."

"I have a most particular and weighty reason for wishing to go," said the sturdy knight.

"I can well believe it," returned Sir Nigel; "I have met no man who is quicker to follow where honor leads."

"Nay, it is not for honor that I go, Nigel."

"For what then?"

"For pullets."

"Pullets."

"Yes, for the rascal vanguard have cleared every hen from the countryside. It was this very morning that Norbury, my squire, lamed his horse in riding round in quest of one, for we have a bag of truffles, and nought to eat with them. Never have I seen such locusts as this vanguard of ours. Not a pullet shall we see until we are in front of them; so I shall leave my Winchester runagates to the care of the provost-marshal, and I shall hie south with you, Nigel with my truffles at my saddle-bow."

"Oliver, Oliver, I know you overwell," said Sir Nigel, shaking his head, and the two old soldiers rode off together to their pavilion.

CHAPTER XXXV.

How Sir Nigel Hawked at an Eagle.

To the south of Pampeluna in the kingdom of Navarre there stretched a high table-land, rising into bare, sterile hills, brown or gray in color, and strewn with huge boulders of granite. On the Gascon side of the great mountains there had been running streams, meadows, forests, and little nestling villages. Here, on the contrary, were nothing but naked rocks, poor pasture, and savage, stone-strewn wastes. Gloomy defiles or barrancas intersected this wild country with mountain torrents dashing and foaming between their rugged sides. The clatter of waters, the scream of the eagle, and the howling of wolves the only sounds which broke upon the silence in that dreary and inhospitable region.

Through this wild country it was that Sir Nigel and his Company pushed their way, riding at times through vast defiles where the brown, gnarled cliffs shot up on either side of them, and the sky was but a long winding blue slit between the clustering lines of box which fringed the lips of the precipices; or again leading their horses along the narrow and rocky paths worn by the muleteers upon the edges of the chasm, where under their very elbows they could see the white streak which marked the gave which foamed a thousand feet below them. So for two days they pushed their way through the wild places of Navarre, past Fuente, over the rapid Ega, through Estella, until upon a winter's evening the mountains fell away from in front of them, and they saw the broad blue Ebro curving betwixt its double line of homsteads and of villages. The fishers of Viana were aroused that night by rough voices speaking in a strange tongue, and ere morning Sir Nigel and his men had ferried the river and were safe upon the land of Spain.

All the next day they lay in a pine wood near to the town of Logrono, resting their horses and taking counsel as to what they should do. Sir Nigel had with him Sir William Felton, Sir Oliver Buttesthorn, stout old Sir Simon Burley, the Scotch knight-errant, the Earl of Angus, and Sir Richard Causton, all accounted among the bravest knights in the army, together with sixty veteran men-at-arms, and three hundred and twenty archers. Spies had been sent out in the morning, and returned after nightfall to say that the King of Spain was encamped some fourteen miles off in the direction of Burgos, having with him twenty thousand horse and forty-five thousand foot. A dry-wood fire had been lit, and round this the leaders crouched, the glare beating upon their rugged faces, while the hardy archers lounged and chatted amid the tethered horses, while they munched their scanty provisios.

FOUR FAMILIES LOST DWELLINGS ON WOODSTOCK ROAD

Angus Campbell, Orlo Brewer, Joseph Gorman and William McDonald Burned Out.

TOTAL LOSS OF $15,000 AND LITTLE INSURANCE

Location is Outside the Fire Limits and Only Motor Truck Was There.

Four single detached dwelling houses on Woodstock road, owned and occupied by Joseph Gorman, William McDonald, Arlo Brewer and Angus Campbell, valued at about $15,000, were burned to the ground this morning by a fire originating from a spark from the chimney of the Campbell house which was fanned into a blaze by the high wind off the river.

At 5.45 a. m. an alarm was telephoned to the fire department that a fire had broken out in the house owned and occupied by Mr. Campbell, but by the time the motor truck arrived the house was found in flames and was so far gone that it was impissible to save it. Only the driver of the truck was on the scene at this time and he received aid from neighbors in the adjoining houses. The furniture in the four houses was removed before the fire had gained much headway in the last three, but much of it was broken in the process of removal. The fire spread from the Campbell house to the Gorman house and from there to the McDonald house, whence it was swept to the Brewer house by the wind. These houses were soon a mass of flames and the fire also spread to the Brewer barn, where it was fought and conquered by the people of the neighborhood. The house occupied by Mrs. Albert Treadwell and owner by William Walker also caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by the aid of chemicals before the blaze had done much damage.

The buildings were covered by insurance to a certain extent, but it was stated this morning that the net loss by the fire would be over $1,000 on the four buildings alone, not counting some machinery in the Brewer barn which was destroyed by the fire.

While the fire was out of the city fire limits much comment has arisen over the fact that although the motor truck was on the scene at 5.45 o'clock no general fire alarm was sent in until 7 o'clock, over an hour later, when the houses were practically in flames. Neighbors of the families burned out state that had a force of firemen been on the scene three of the houses would undoubtedly have been saved from the flames. No one was on hand to take charge and the residents of the vicinity stated that a bucket brigade might have been formed to carry water from the brook to the three houses which had not caught up till 6 o'clock.

The prevailing high wind was a big factor to fight against, as it veered several times, blowing the flames against the fire-fighters and burned their clothing in some instances.

FIRST STEAMER IS COMING TOMORROW

Majestic Going on Fredericton-St. John Route—Tug Boats Arrive Here.

The steamer Majestic, the first river steamer to start out this season, is expected to arrive here tomorrow and will run for a week on the Fredericton-St. John route.

By the time the Majestic goes on the Washdemoak route it is expected the D. J. Purdy will be ready for the Fredericton-St. John route. It is understood there will be only one steamer on the through route this year, which means only an inadequate three-times-a-week service. W. J. Southern will be agent for the steamboat company again this year.

Six tugs with a large crew of men are engaged in swinging the St. John River Log Driving Company's booms today and it was said this morning that by the middle of the week the work would be so far advanced at Lincoln, Sunbury county, where the Mitchell booms are located, that the river would be sealed. The crews will start on the drift drive as soon as the booms are in place. Five of the tugs arrived safely during the week-end from St. John, but reported a good deal of floating ice in the river.

DIED AT HALIFAX.

Miss Frances O'Dell, One of Owners Of Rookwood, Passed Away.

Friends in Fredericton have learned with profound regret of the death at Halifax last week of Miss Frances O'Dell, one of the owners of Rookwood, the beautiful O'Dell estate property in this city, and who for many years had spent the summers here.

The late Miss O'Dell had been in poor health for a month, but it was less than a week before her death, which occurred last Wednesday, that her condition became serious. Miss O'Dell was the second daughter of the late Senator Wm. O'Dell and granddaughter of the late Mr. Justice Bliss.

The Halifax Chronicle, referring to her death, says: "Miss O'Dell was a devoted member of the congregation of St. Luke's and then of All Saints' cathedral and her demise will be mourned by a very wide circle of friends, who will sincerely sympathize with her two sisters, Ella and Mary Kearney. Her brother, Major Henry O'Dell, of the British Army, died in India some years ago. Her mother was a sister of Mrs. Binney, wife of the late Bishop Binney."

Disappearance of a Member Of 24th Battery One of the Mysteries of the Great War

Gunner Robert Hector Hamilton, Who Came Here from Toronto to Train for Overseas, Disappeared After Being Wounded.

Whot is declared to be the most remarkable disappearance of a Canadian soldier in the late war is that of Gunner Robert Hector Hamilton, son of G. F Hamilton, of 40 Wells street, Toronto, who trained in Fredericton, and served in France with the 24th Battery, 8th Brigade, Canadian Field Artillery

His disappearance is inexplicable and relatives have been in communication with the families of New Brunswick men who were in the same unit. Corp. W. H. Morrell, who was one of three brothers from Newcastle and whose widow resides at Springhill, was killed at the same time Gunner Hamilton is known to have been wounded. It is said that a stretcher bearer, whose home is at Nelson, N. B., assisted in carrying out the missing man after he was wounded and every effort is being made to get some trace through that and every other source.

Gunner Hamilton was severely wounded in the forehead by an exploding German shell (which instantly killed five of his comrades, and fatally wounded another), about one o'clock on the morning of the 8th August, 1918, carried to the Regimental Aid Post, where his wound was dressed, and was then delivered ot the Advanced Dressing Station, operated by No. 8 Canadian Field Ambulance, at Domart, France, about two o'clock the same morning. From there he was taken shortly afterwards in an ambulance car to the next advanced dressing station, also operated by No. 8 Canadian Field Ambulance, at Gentelles Wood, where his wound was dressed again; and from there sent in the same ambulance car with another wounded comrade to the main dressing station, operated by No. 1 Canadian Field Ambulance at the "White Chateau," near Boves. His comrade was fully recorded as having been admitted to that main dressing station, and as having died of his wounds there; but, at that point, Gunner Hamilton absolutely disappears, and no trace of him has since been found.

Many Miles Back of the Line.

The mysterious nature of his disappearance will be appreciated when it is realized that he was delivered, in an unconscious condition, to a systematized medical unit of the army, and in that condition placed in charge of its officers; and, reached a point many miles behind the firing line, where there was no disturbance by the enemy. His condition was such that he could not move around himself, and thus escape. To have escaped himself he would first have to regain consciousness, and then elude the vigilance of his custodians; and if, for any reason, others might have taken him away, they would have had to elude such vigilance in a similar manner. If he had died, he must have been buried, and in order to be lost, would have had to escape the observation of the Army Medical Corps, the Chaplain Service and the Burial Officers, who must of absolute necessity, have had knowledge of his death and burial. Some of these things, however, must have happened, if he were lost; and yet, so efficient was the system by which wounded men were cared for, and recorded, when they reached a medical unit, such as Gunner Hamilton did, that the military authorities say it would, after having reached it, be impossible to lose him. If a disappearance under such remarkably peculiar circumstances, should have occurred in civil life, motive or design would at once have been suspected; but nothing of that nature could possibly suggest itself in this case.

Body Was Exhumed.

In the process of the search for Gunner Hamilton it was learned that two unidentified men had passed through the main dressing station of No. 1 Canadian Field Ambulance, throught which Gunner Hamilton should have passed on the morning of

Not Just Good—The Best Roof

The tendency to-day is to use the best roofing material as a covering for all roof surfaces. This is not due to people having more money to spend, but to the realization that the first cost of a good roof is practically its only cost.

NEPONSET PAROID

provides a roof that is serviceable and long-lived. Lay a Paroid Roof today and forget it for the next twenty years or more. Before the roof needs repairs you will have spent far more than its original cost in repairs to other parts of the building. Hundreds of buildings throughout the Dominion of Canada conclusively bear out this statement.

The base of Neponset Paroid is a high-grade rag felt thoroughly impregnated with asphalt, making it positively waterproof, and fire-resisting.

It is further reinforced with a talc surface, grey in color; or with a permanent slate surface, red or green in color.

Roofed with Neponset Paroid you may rest assured that your buildings are perfectly weather-proof and sound.

Easy to lay—With every roll of Neponset Paroid is supplied sufficient nails and cement with full directions.

PRIESTS QUIET LONDONDERRY DISTURBANCE

Arrangements Made Between the Local Authorities and Roman Catholic Priests.

LATTER PERSUADED RIOTERS TO GO HOME

The Priests Took the Place of Officers and Patrolled Streets Through Night.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Londonderry, April 20.—Quiet prevailed here last night despite the expectations that the rioting of Saturday and Sunday evenings would be renewed. The night passed without the semblance of a disturbance.

The prevalence of peaceful conditions was brought about by an arrangement between the authorities and the Roman Catholic priests, by which the police were removed from the neighborhood of the recent rioting, two priests taking the places of the officers and remaining on patrol night, the clergy using their influence with the people and urging them to go home and to bed. The plan worked admirably, the priests having the streets virtually to themselves all night long.

FIFTEEN DEATHS FROM TORNADOES

Whirlwind Swept Through Northwestern Arkansas, Creating Havoc.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Little Rock, Ark., April 20.—Fifteen persons are known to have been killed and a score or more seriously injured by tornadoes which swept over north and western Arkansas late Sunday night, according to reports reaching here yesterday.

Wire communication in the storm district was seriously impaired, and it was believed last night belated advices would increase the number of casualties.

Apparently there were two tornadoes. One twisted through four counties in western Arkansas while another wrought destruction in one of the northernmost counties of the state.

Reports had indicated the tornadoes had cut a path about 100 yards wide through the four western counties.

14,000 Montana Miners Quit Work, 100,000 Railwaymen Call a Strike

I.W.W. Call Out Members From Montana Mines

GAVE NO NOTICE TO OPERATORS

Ask 6 Hour Day and Release of Political Prisoners.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Butte, Mont., April 20.—The streets of the city were thronged yesterday with idle miners, who walked out in response to a call of Industrial Workers of the World, local number 800, or were warned away from the mine by I. W. W. pickets.

Mine officials announced that approximately seventy per cent. of the miners had quit work, while the leaders of the I. W. W. asserted 85 per cent. were out. Between 13,000 and 14,000 men are out at the various mines in the Butte district, mine officials estimated.

Mining officials state that no demands were presented formally by the strikers. Their first intimation of the walk-out was contained, they declared, in handbills announcing "the strike is on."

The bills contained demands for the release of all "industrial and political prisoners", a six hour day, a minimum wage scale of $7 a day for all miners; abolition of the rustling card; abolition of contract, bonus and efficiency system; two men to work on all machines and two men to work together in all workings.

GENERAL STRIKE OF NEW YORK TENANTS

Socialist Agitators Endeavoring to Bring About Great May Day Demonstration.

New York, April 20.—An attempt will be made May 1st, by socialist agitators, to bring about a general strike of tenants in New York and the Brownsville section of Brooklyn as a part of the May Day celebration, it is predicted by Arthur J. W. Hilly, Chairman of the Mayor Hylan's Committee on rent profiteering.

"The plan is a part of the socialists scheme in its propaganda to nationalize property," said Mr. Hilly. "It will be their first effort to socialize the city government and the socialists have planned it to be such."

Winnipeg, Man., April 20.—The Fair Wage Board for the province of Manitoba has completed a schedule for 75 per cent. of the trades connected with the building industry. C. Oxtellon, Deputy Minister of Public Works and Chairman of the board, announced yesterday.

The trades concerned are given an increase of from 20 to 25 per cent. over last year's schedule. Stone masons and bricklayers will receive the highest wage per hour, it being fixed at $1.25. The lowest wage is for laborers and teamsters, fixed at 60 cents an hour.

Prosecute Profiteers In Sugar and Potatoes

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, April 20.—Charged with making an unlawful profit on the re-sale of sugar, E. R. Shurburne, member of a Boston sugar importing firm, was arraigned here yesterday before United States Commissioner Hitchcock.

The complaint, which was made by members of the government's "flying squadron," alleges Shurburne purchased 960,000 pounds of San Domingo sugar from a produce firm at 16½ cents a pound and resold it for 21 3-4 cents a pound. The complaint alleges that Shurburne made $40,000 more than a reasonable profit by the transaction. Shurburne was held in $1,000 bail.

The "flying squadron" also charged John McElroy, a produce merchant, with profiteering in potatoes. Government agents claim McElroy purchased potatoes at $5.35 a hundred pounds and resold them at $8.33 a hundred pounds. He furnished $1,000 bail.

The Canadian Sugar Refining Interest Conferring With the Government Over Control

Some Difference of Opinion as to Whether the Government Should Cease Control of Sugar Exportations—An International Phase of the Situation to Be Considered.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 20.—Representatives of the sugar refining interests in Canada have been here under summons from the Government, to consult as to the advisability of removing control from sugar, the export of which is still under Government regulation as a war measure. There is also involved a situation which may have to be discussed internationally.

It is understod that the Government has been advised by nearly all the refiners that they are not desirous that control should be continued, as it is the home market they are mainly concerned with, but there is one of the refineries in Canada understood to be anxious that control should be maintained.

Mr. Dike, of the Mueller Fox Company, Limited, of Chicago, American sugar importers, is in Ottawa, urging that control should be removed, and claiming that certain Canadian refiners are sheltering themselves behind it in refusing to carry out contracts made for the supply of granulated sugar.

APPEAL AGAINST TELEPHONE RATES

Toronto Claims There Is No Justification for Bell Telephone Co. Increase.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Toronto, April 20.—Toronto's appeal against the increase in rates by the Bell Telephone Company has been prepared. The city points out that the increase in rates amounts to about $900,000 a year, and contends that the company's financial position controverts the company's contention that the increase was needed to meet an emergency. The city's memorandum cites figures to substantiate the contention that no emergency has existed, that the company has made errors in its calculation which vitiate its conclusions, and that the judgment in the company's favor is not founded on the evidence submitted.

BURGLARS OBTAIN $10,000 IN JEWELRY

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, April 20.—Two burglars, attracted by diamonds worn at a Maryland race track last week by Mrs. H. Bohm, followed her and her husband to their home in this city and yesterday held them up at the point of a revolver in their apartment. Washington, April 20.—The migratory bird act of 1918, designed to carry out provisions of a treaty between the United States and Great Britain for the protection of migratory birds, was held constitutional by the Supreme Court. Ontario Women Bootleggers Receive No Mercy in Court

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Windsor, Ont., April 20.—Windsor's first women bootleggers were up before Magistrate Miers yesterday and treated to a touch of the law. Both were young, about 25 years of age, and one of them received the heaviest fine the court could assess.

Delia Rosen, 34 Wyandotte street, was convicted of selling 150 cases of whiskey. She paid her fine of $1,000 in cash, which she drew from the "little national bank."

Amelia Ackure, 286 Marion street, has sold a few bottles. Her fine and costs amounted to $219.

Railwaymen Demand Increase in Wages of One Dollar a Day

UNTIL LABOR BOARD REPORT

Men to Quit on April 28 if Demands Not Met, It Is Stated.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Chicago, April 20.—A request for a temporary increase in wages of one dollar a day, with time and a half for overtime after eight hours, Sundays and holidays, pending the decision of the Railroad Labor Board on original wage demands, was made last night by the General Chairmen's Association of the Northwest District of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers.

One hundred thousand members of the Brotherhood in the district would leave work individually April 28, if the demands were not granted, the Chairmen's Association stated in a telegram to E. F. Grable, of Detroit, President of the Brotherhood, in asking him to present the request to the Labor Board, President Wilson and the General Managers Association. . .

Submit Demands to Labor Board.

Chicago, April 20.—Strike fever among railroad employees suffered a setback today when 30,000 railway clerks and 8,000 freight handlers in the Chicago district announced their decision to permit hearing of their wage demands by the Railroad Labor Board at Washington. An unauthorized strike to attempt to enforce granting of increased wages was voted down last night after an appeal was received from James J. Forrester, head of the Brotherhood and member of the Labor Board.

Freight movement in the Chicago district, hampered by the unauthorized yardmen's and enginemen's strike, continued to increase today and elsewhere in the middle west and far west traffic conditions were returning to normal.

Possibility of another serious blow to the railroads in the Chicago district loomed with a threat that 100,000 members of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way and Railroad Shop Laborers would leave their work on April 28 unless demands for a temporary increase of one dollar a day and time and a half for overtime after eight hours' work granted.

Without Union Sanction.

Detroit, Mich., April 20.—A walkout April 28, on the part of 100,000 members of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railway Shop Laborers in the Chicago district will not receive sanction of the Brotherhood, E. F. Crable, president of the organization, said here today.

France Restricts Import Of All Articles of Luxury

The People of France Asked to Stop Buying in Foreign Markets All Products Excepting Coal, Wood, Cotton and Agricultural Machinery for a Time.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 20.—The law placing restrictions on the importation into France of articles of luxury will become a law today, when it is signed by President Deschanel.

Among the articles the importation of which is forbidden by the law are natural and artificial flowers from England, fruit from Belgium, feathers purchased on the Antwerp market, and jewelry.

Silk stockings from the United States also are to be forbidden.

The Minister of Finance invites the French trade to refrain from buying in foreign markets all products excepting coal, wood, cotton and agricultural machinery.

Allied Powers Give Germany To Understand That Versailles Treaty Must Be Carried Out

Germany to Disband Her Civic Guards

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Berlin, April 20.—Disbandment of German civic guards, demanded in the Allied note of March 12, has been decided upon by the Berlin Government.

In a note to General Nollet, head of the Allied Comission of Control here, the Government states it is taking this step "under pressure exerted by those who ignore actual facts."

Assertion is also made there was no idea of using the civic guards for military purposes.

SOLUTION OF THE TURKISH PROBLEM

The Turk to Remain in Europe Because of the Withdrawal of the United States.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Washington, April 20.—The Allied reply to President Wilson's Turkish note is expected by diplomatic officials here to point out that without the experience by the United States of responsibility for part of the burden of the solution of the Turkish question, the Allies have found it impossible to adopt the President's suggestion that the Turk be driven out of Europe.

The Allies have taken the position, it was said, that the eviction of the Sultan from Constantinople was impossible without the assumption by some power, preferably the United States, of the obligation for the protection of Constantinople and contiguous Turkish territory.

For economic and political reasons, officials said, choice of any other power than the United States was precluded and since the United States has refused the proffered mandate over Turkey, no other solution than to leave the Turk in Constantinople, under inter-Allied control, was possible.

Supervision of the Turk, it is generally believed by officials, will devolve upon the Ottoman debt commission, which before the war, consisted of representatives of Great Britain, France, Italy, Russia, Austria-Hungary and Germany, but which now is limited to the three Allied powers.

The council of the League of Nations has agreed informally, that it cannot assume the mandate for Armenia, as was suggested by the council of Premiers at the recent Paris meeting, according to information reaching Washington. The fact that it does not control military forces and other machinery necessary to the administration of a state is understood to have been the basic reason for the decision of the League. A neutral state may be named as mandatory for Armenia.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

New York, April 20.—The volume of national newspaper advertising last year reached $150,000,000, according to the annual report of the bureau of Advertising American Publishers' Association yesterday.

Disarmament of German Soldiers Must Be Proceeded With Without Delay.

ALL ALLIED POWERS AGREED ON MEASURE

Joint Representations Will Be Made at Berlin by the Representatives of Powers.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 20.—All the Allied powers concerned now have approved the principle of the collective representations to be made to the Berlin government regarding the execution of the treaty of Versailles, and the charge d'affaires of the several Allied nations will probably be instructed to call at once at the Wilhelmstrasse and deliver the declaration. Italy's approval of the representations, which had not been immediately forthcoming, was received today.

The declaration is not regarded as an ultimatum, and probably no time limit will be set for Germany's reply. She will be given to understand, however, that as a disagreeable alternative to compliance with the terms of the treaty regarding disarmament, the Allies will be unable to continue the relations re-established by the peace treaty.

Bavarian Minister Resigns.

Geneva, April 20.—Prof. Forster, the first Bavarian Minister to be accredited to Switzerland under the republican regime, has just resigned his post. He said his reason for resigning was that the present junker spirit in the German universities was against reconciling the people to peace.

FRENCH GENERAL COURT MARTIALLED

Charged With Abandoning Post and Surrendering Maubeuge to the Enemy.

Paris, April 20.—The trial of Brig. General Fournier, commander of the French fortress at Maubeuge, at the beginning of the war, Gen. Ville, Col. Chartier, and several other officers accused of abandoning their posts in the face of the enemy by surrendering Maubeuge to the Germans in September, 1914, began for the second time before a court martial here yesterday. Gen. Maistre, who commanded the French army which conquered the last remaining German positions in the Chemin-des-Dames, presided.

The first trial was commenced in November, 1919, but at the first sitting the government applied for a postponement, which was granted.

"This is a 44; now I will get justice."

Hayes was put under arrest. It is supposed that he is mentally unbalanced.

Premier Foster "Passed the Buck" on Valley Railway

Puts Extension Up to Dominion Government and Discussed Construction of Link from Valley Railway at Meductic Through to International Boundary.

In the Legislature yesterday afternoon Premier Foster read into the records a long statement evidently emanating from the St. John & Quebec Railway Company directors which set forth the position of the railway now from their standpoint and emphasized the necessity of maintaining the board of directors, reviewed the several pending law suits over the railway, indicated the position of settlements with the contractors and sub-contractors and explained several bills which have been before the House.

He submitted the following statement of the revenue which had been obtained by the province from the Canadian National Railways as the 40 per cent. of the gross receipts since operation had begun:

Earnings from 1st April 1915, to Sept., 1917.....	$71,726.44
Earnings from 30th Sept., 1917, to May 5, 1918.....	27,809.45
Earnings from May 31, 1918, to Oct. 31, 1918.....	14,080.68
Earnings from Oct. 31, 1916, to March 31, 1919.....	31,505.08
Earnings from March 31, 1919, to Sept. 30, 1919....	24,873.08
	$ 169,994.53

A Maine Connection.

Referring to the prospects for extension of the railway north from Centreville the Premier said that if it were to be part of a transcontinental system it would be more attractive, but the C. N. R. had arranged to bring its freight from the West down over its own line by McGivney to Fredericton, and they could scarcely expect it to be re-routed over the Valley Railway and pay the province 40 per cent. of the receipts when it had a line of its own to Fredericton.

It was understood that the Dominion Government was considering a proposition to build a railway from Meductic to the international boundary, there to connect with the Maine Central. If that were done the Canadian National Railways would route all the traffic originating in the Maritime Provinces over the Valley road instead of over the Canadian Pacific from St. John or Fredericton to Vanceboro. If such a link were built by the Dominion the Provincial Government would no doubt extend the Valley Railway to Andover and ultimately to Grand Falls, so that freight originating on the C. N. R. in northern New Brunswick and Quebec for New England points might find its way down from Grand Falls to Meductic by the Valley Railway. He had no doubt that if the connecting line was built by the Dominion Government the receipts from the Valley Railway by reason of the enormous traffic that would develop would soon be sufficient to pay the bond interest.

The Railway Finances.

He submitted figures showing the amount of funded debt against the Valley Railway and also the outstanding unfunded debt. The funded debt on October 31st, 1919, was $6,400,000, which amount had been reduced by refunding to the extent of $445,000, leaving the funded debt at $5,955,000. The floating debt on October 31st, 1919, was $966,478.81 from which, deducting the amount of $419,055.15 receivable from the Prudential Trust Company, left $547,433.66. That added to the other amount would make the total debt $6,407,576.34.

There still was in the hands of the Prudential Trust Company something like $240,000, and negotiations have been caried on with a view to having the company resign from the Trust so that a trustee in this province could be appointed. It had been thought that the Provincial Treasurer ex-officio might be appointed trustee. There was another matter besides the $340,000. The trust mortgage provided that beginning with 1921 the railway company must pay in cash each year for the next forty years $43,500 into the Prudential Trust Company as a sinking fund for the redemption of the debenture stock to its reference already had been made. The Government was determined that no money would be paid to this trust company, and if its resignation could not be arranged application would be made to the courts at Montreal to have the company dismissed on account of conduct in connetcion with investments under this trustee.

The continuation of the board of directors in some form was necessary, and the last section of the Act simply provided that the necessary expense be deduced from the receipts, that was the 40 per cent. to be received from the operation of the road.

Suggests Line of Action.

The bill respecting the St. John & Quebec Railway Company was agreed to and the Committee proceeded to the consideration of the bill to grant further aid to the St. John & Quebec Railway Company.

Mr. Baxter said he noticed by the Comptroller-General's report that the Prudential Trust Company had made to the province an assignment of mortgages on bonds totalling the sum of $125,000. He did not know whether the company held property in the province or not but he would say that they had been exceeding careless in making investments. While attorney-general he had, after a desperate effort, succeeded in salvaging for them some $300,000 of funds belonging to the Province. He would suggest that the Premier take steps to confiscate the securities which the Government now held. It had always been a fight to get back from that company the money of the province and they had been met with all kinds of quibbles and technicalities. He would suggest that an amendment be added to the bill empowering the Government to go after the assets of the company.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that he would consider the suggestion and if it was decided to act along the lines suggested an amendment would be introduced.

The Directors' Expenses.

Mr. Smith (Carleton) said that he was opposed to the section of the bill which provided for the continuance of the Board of Directors for an indefinite period. They might have to wait a long time for the completion of the road from Centreville to Andover and he thought care should be exercised. The public accounts showed that for the years 1918-1919 Mr. W. P. Jones had drawn in salary and expenses the sum of $8,224. Mr. E. S. Carter's salary and expenses for the two years amounted to $7,835, while Mr. Foss, the chairman of the Board, had drawn $10,350. That made the total for the three directors $26,469. He believed that the amount was greater by $12,000 than had been paid the six former directors for a like period. He would move that the section be struck from the bill.

Hon. Mr. Foster said he felt sure he could show the Committee that the amounts paid the present directors had not been excessive in comparison with what had been paid the other six. It was not the intention of the Government to have the Board of Directors continue as at present. There would be considerable work to do as accounts must be continued and reports prepared. The work, however, would not be so great as it had been and expenses would be reduced. There would be a new arrangement with directors under nominal fees or something like that. He hoped to close the business up as soon as possible.

Mr. Smith said there was one salary he had omitted and that was half of the salary of B. M. Hill, engineer, $1,500.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that had been cut out.

Mr. Smith said an effort should be made to cut down directors' expenses. Unless some provision was made the directors would be entitled to, even if they did not receive full salaries during the interim. However, on the assurance that it had been given he would be willing to withdraw his objection.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that the deposit in the hands of the Prudential Trust Company might be in use in some other business and he would have to look into that.

The bill was reported.

Where is There An Adam Beck?

The absolute tranquility with which bills of all kinds are going through the Legislature was emphasized last night when with scarcely more than a quorum of members present the bill to provide for the development of the water powers of New Brunswick, now known as An Act for the Generation and Distribution of Electric Power, went through the committee stage with scarcely a ripple.

One or two sections were held over but the principle and main features of the bill were agreed upon with only casual discussion while the principal feature that was undecided was whether or not members of the Government and the Legislature serving on the Water Powers Commission should be paid a salary. Dr. Baxter questioned the wisdom of the departure from the usual conventions of constitutional government but Premier Foster pointed out that the bill followed the lead of Ontario and referred to the position there of Sir Adam Beck as chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario.

However, the section was allowed to stand. Meanwhile the question arises Where is New Brunswick to find a Sir Adam Beck?

FATHER ALBERT'S LETTER IS READ

Translation of Letter in French Weekly Paper Attacking Hon. P. J. Veniot.

Upon the ground that the honor of a Minister of the Crown had been impugned, Hon. B. Frank Smith, ex-Minister of Public Works, arose in the Legislature last evening and read a translation of a letter which had appeared in L'Evangeline, a French paper printed at Moncton, in which Rev. T. Albert, a Roman Catholic priest, under date of Shippegan, 5th April, 1920, attacked Hon. P. J. Veniot, Minister of Public Works, in the controversy which has been going on for some time over the failure to provide operation during the past winter of the Caraquet Railway.

There was only a slim House and the other members interfered but little in the cross-firing that ensued for well on to an hour. Hon. Mr. Veniot attempted to shut off the reading of the letter—the contents of which are not shown in the official report—upon the ground that the member for Carleton did not know whether the translation was a correct one or not; but Mr. Smith succeeded in reading it all, and it wound up thus: "If one asks when the train is going to come, Bathurst answers us, 'Some time next week, if it is fine.' Tracadie has the same luck. It is in your county, Mr. Minister, that all this happens,—the county which has furnished to the Foster-Veniot Government four members, of whom two are Ministers. Your Government is studying a project to prolong the Valley Railway from Centreville to Grand Falls, but the Valley of the St. John has aready two railways very well administered. And your county,—you let it drag itself in the mud. Your locomotive,—let us see it, Mr. Minister. The line is open,—give us a service which is proper to a civilized country or resign your mandate and throw your portfolio to the winds."

Hon. Mr. Veniot confessed he was "hot under the collar" and in his reply declared the translation of the letter which had been read was badly garbled and declared it stated what was untrue when it set forth that he had declared the members of the Union Government were rogues, and the official report quotes him as having said he believed that certain political adversaries in the lower end of Gloucester were using the Caraquet Railway to make political capital against him." Referring to the letter he said that the time would come when Rev. Father Albert, the writer of the article, which he characterized as "scurrillous," would "have to answer for his acts before another tribunal."

The lawn drawn out quarrel evidently got on the nerves of Mr. Speaker, too, for when Mr. Mersereau, of Sunbury, got up, when the Minister of Public Works concluded, to speak to a question of privilege on what appeared in the Chatham World as an official report of his remarks regarding the Carleton county vacancy, he was told to "be brief." He was, and merely told the House he had not used the words attributed to him in The World.

"THE REAL CHOICE OF ARDENT NATURES IS BETWEEN TWO OPPOSITE INTOXICATIONS—DEVILISH OR DIVINE."—THERE IS NO USE IN LEADING A MAN UNLESS OF HIS FREE WILL HE ELECTS TO DRINK IT.

[Dr. W. T. Herridge in Ottawa Journal.]

Every lover of his kind should rejoice that alcohol is losing its hold upon social customs and national life. It is no longer "good form" to finish a dinner by lying under the table. Fifty years ago, our present prohibitory laws would have been impossible of enactment by the people's will. There has been a steady growth of resistance to the menace of the barroom, and even to the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage. The repeated spectacle of lives of brilliant promise, robbed of hope, and hurried, perhaps, to an untimely grave, has broken a long apathy, and made us more regardful also of the man who, though his one talent may always keep him in the background, is still worth saving from the danger of utter ruin.

But even if Canada, throughout its whole length and breadth, should become "bone dry," the greater task still remains—to clothe the bones with strength and loveliness. Reform can never end with negatives. After shutting certain doors that ought to be shut, other doors must be opened wide. Repression is intended to pave the way for expression, and at the same time to make the best forms of expression more welcome to all. There is no use leading a man to water unless, of course, of his own free will, he joyfully elects to drink it.

It is conceivable that we might have been placed in a world where even the most precious things came to us without effort, and life progressed by a kind of automatic necessity involving neither pain nor peril in the working out of it. But such a world would soon strip us of the characteristics which contribute most to the growth of manhood. It is through the friction of adverse circumstance, in the rough hurly-burly on time's thoroughfares that the strength or weakness of human nature asserts itself. If this world were too easy, we might fall into the sloth of the lotus-eaters; if it were too hard, we might be driven to despair. But since a wide range of possibilities is presented before us, the choice among which is determined, to a large extent, by ourselves, there are disciplines for the athlete, and challenges for the adventurous, and to him that overcometh belongs the laurel crown.

Various attempts have been made, from time to time, to escape the full responsibility of living. It is not much to be wondered at that some sensitive natures, beholding the evil around them, and hopeless of its cure, should have withdrawn to a quiet haven where, earth's coarser noises being shut out, they could the better prepare themselves for the pure joy of heaven. There is, at least, something to admire in the ascetic idea with its fastings and igils and renunciations. It has doubtless had its effect in emphasizing the supreme importance of religion, and has been by no means wholly wanting in unselfish service to those less sheltered. Yet, even when practiced with manifest sincerity, it is only the second best solution of the problem of life. That very word, "ascetic," has been narrowed in its true meaning; for literally it suggests the gymnasium in the midst of earth's arena, not the cloister outside of it. It is one thing to triumph over difficulties by getting rid of them and another and much finer thing to triumph over them though they still remain.

This, however, is no argument for the supine acceptance of any conditions, whatever they may be. We are not yet cizilized if we fail to guard the moral sanctities. But while the state should do its utmost to promote the welfare and inspire the loyal service of its citizens, and to remove needless handicaps out of their way, the main issue lies with the individual. Virtue is not manufactured like an industrial commodity which has "cornered" the market. It develops from within. We should be thankful if the setting of our life encourages virtue; for few of us have such superfluous moral strength that we can afford to tease it or brag about it. But no one is good simply because he lacks the opportunities of being bad.

From a prudential point of view, one may go to excess even in the best things. Life has often been shortened by vice; but it has been shortened also by the ardor of research into some hidden truth, by self-forgetting service to others, by devotion to a great cause. If the number of our days on earth were the chief consideration, it would be wise to acquire a timid caution which constantly checked all fine carelessness. Milton puts the emphasis in the right place when he says:

"Nor love thy life, nor hate; but what thou liv'st
Live well; how long or short permit to heaven."

For even though the issue of intemperance looks alike in every case, it makes all the difference between glory and shame what direction the intemperance takes.

In some quarters, enthusiasm is regarded as crude and vulgar. But while it is pathetic to observe how easily some people are stirred, and what a poor thing pleases them, no one who is alive can maintain passivity forever. Some form of self-expression is inevitable; and true human culture aims, not only to develop the power of discriminating between what is of real worth and what is not, but to arouse such an ardor to express the very best that is in us, that its splendid impetus sweeps all petty silliness out of the way.

For this reason, a purely restrictive regimen will always prove inadequate. Too much ethical instruction is confined to telling people what not to do. It bewilders with its bylaws, and bristles with a phalanx of prohibitives. It so cuts down the sphere of thought and action that only a little room is left in which to move about freely. Of course, this kind of teaching has its place. In the preliminary stages of moral education, "thou shalt" may have to wait upon "thou shalt not." That was the form of the Ten Commandments; and the ancient Jews—in this regard, not altogether unlike the modern Gentiles—proved their validity by breaking most of them.

A limp and lackadaisical saint might learn some lessons from an adventurous sinner. For if life is not positive, it is not life at all. Temperance in lower things does its best work when it prepares the way for a fine intemperance in higher things. The problem is, not to narrow the natural scope of personality, but so to ennoble every power belonging to us that we can dare to be ourselves without bane. So far from the "spiritual" being necessarily assured by a gradual evaporation of the material, we are on the road to its enthronement when we learn the noblest truths which the material has to teach us. There are enough ghosts of doubtful character to prove that matter is not the primary seat of evil. In one of his imaginary conversations, Landor makes Bossuet say, 'to love God is to hate ourselves. We must detest our bodies if we would save our souls." Had this celebrated ecclesiastic ever really talked such nonsense, we should feel obliged to think a good deal less of him. Browning puts it differenty:

"Let us not always say
'Spite of this flesh today
I strove, made head, gained ground upon the whole!'
As the bird wings and sings,
Let us cry, 'All good things
Are ours, nor soul helps flesh more, now, than flesh helps soul.'"

The Greek philosopher, Aristotle, defined virtue, as the mean between two extremes. For instance, benevolence, he said, was a mean between the defect of miserliness and the excess of prodigality; courage a mean between the defect of cowardice and the excess of foolhardiness. Paul, the Christian philosopher, on the contrary, said, in effect, that virtue is an extreme, not a condition of careful equipoise; a glowing goal towards which one rushes with the unrestrained fervor of his whole being. He did not think it needful to weight the exact amount of virtue lest it might shade off, on one side or the other, into a vice. He believed that you cannot have too much of a good thing—nor too little of a—bad thing.

There can be no doubt which of these two views has the greater attractiveness for vigorous manhood. Only trim and sluggish souls are content to be bolstered up by a multitude of external prohibitives. Life is colorless without some stimulus strong enough to sway our whole nature. Even abortive attempts to reach a realm of quickened feeling and intenser action and thought more rich and rare prove the ineradicable instinct to escape from the dull, prosaic self with its absence of zest and exhilaration. Of course, it is a pathetic mistake to suppose that one can "see life" by indulging in foolishness. But the fact remains that the real choice of ardent natures is not so much between sobriety and drunkenness as between two opposite intoxicants—devilish or divine.

When Ulysses passed near the island of the Sirens, he had himself bound to the mast of his vessel with strong cords, so that, while he wanted to go to them, he was unable to do so. When Orpheus made the same voyage, he took up his familiar lute, and on it he wove such a tissue of harmony that, by comparison, the song of the Sirens seemed uninviting and commonplace.

The only sure way to destroy base appetites is by the expulsive power of noble ones. As long as we dwell on earth, we shall be liable to encounter moral disease-germs in some form or other; but health throws them off all the time without being painfully aware of it. "Passion" should not be looked at askance as though it had to be coarse and mischievous. It is the one thing needed if we are ever to reach our highest estate, or do our finest work. Neither as individuals nor as a people can we hope to attain true manliness save by a rough testing in the arena of life. Excess of the right sort will usher in the new day, excess which, instead of wasting strength, continually increases it, because it becomes part of those inexhaustible and undismayed forces which uplift the world.

W. T. HERRIDGE.

BRITISH FINANCES FOR THE PAST YEAR

London, April 19.—J. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Excequer, in introducing the budget in the House of Commons today, said the expenditures for 1920 were approximately £144,000,000 in excess of the budget estimate of last year, but £63,000,000 below the revised estimate he made last October.

Regarding revenue, Mr. Chamberlain declared that the result was not only more favorable than had been an original budget estimate of £1,201,100,000. The actual exchequer receipts were nearly £138,500,000 in excess of this. On the present basis of taxation the Chancellor calculated the revenue for next year at £1,341,650,000.

Boston, April 19.—Leading distance runners of America awaited the starter's gun at noon today for the 24th annual American Marathon conducted by the Boston Athletic Association. Seventy-six athletes had prepared to travel the 25 mile course from Ashland to Boston.

He had only one, it is true, but he basely admitted it was one too many. As a Professor of Science, he married in a moment of abstraction and then forgot all about it. But his wife was human. She resented being an experiment. She desired to be loved. Poor Professor! What could he do? What did he do? Did he find matrimony a delightful experiment after all? Or did the experiment of having a wife prove the Professor's undoing? It's well worth while finding out, both about the story and about men who so carelessly forget. Bishop Richardson's Charge to The 51st Diocesan Synod Today

His Lordship's Charge Was Read in Place of Sermon at the Communion Service at Christchurch Cathedral This Morning Which Opened the Synod--Many Important Matters Discussed--More Than $200,000 Required to Rebuilding King's College at Windsor N. S. But the Diocese of Nova Scotia Must Assume the Cheif Responsibility, His Lordship Says.

BISHOP RICHARDSON.

The 51st Synod of the Anglican Diocese of Fredericton opened here this morning with a celebration of the Holy Communion at Christchurch Cathedral.

His Lordship Bishop Richardson acted as the celebrant at the service and was assisted by Very Rev. Dean Neales and the three archdeacons of the Diocese, Archdeacons Forsythe, Newnham and Crowfoot. In addition to the clergy there were many lay delegates in attendance from various parts of the province as well as a large number of church people from this city.

The Bishop's Charge to the Synod was read by His Lordship in place of a sermon at the service and was in part as follows:

My Dear Brethren of the Clergy and Laity:—

It is a great pleasure to welcome you once more as a Synod to the Cathedral City, and to assure you of our earnest desire in Fredericton to make your stay among us as happy and comfortable as we can. Let us pray that the good hand of God may rest upon us in all our deliberations, so that no single step may be taken contrary to His will, but that all we undertake may be for the upbuilding and strengthening of that part of the Church that has been committed to our care. I need hardly remind you that the grave importance of our official duties demands from each of us punctuality and regularity in attendance and an earnest effort to further the business of the Synod to the utmost of his power. We are here, not as private individuals, but as the accredited representatives of our respective parishes. It is our duty, therefore, to give ourselves without stint and without reserve to the business that lies before us.

So far as I have been able to ascertain, the Synod has suffered the loss of one member only by death since last we met,—one who, although he had retired from active work, and suffered to some extent from the infirmities of age, never ceased to take the liveliest interest in the proceedings of Synod, and was assiduous in his attendance. I refer to the Rev. Leopold Augustus Hoyt, Honorary Canon of Christ Church Cathedral. The Chairman of the Committee of Diseased Members has sent me so fitting a record of this good man's life and work that I am taking the liberty of giving it to you as it stands.

Changes in the Staff.

We have suffered once more, I am sorry to say, the loss by removal from the Diocese of a number of valuable missionaries, although not so many as in previous years. Thus the Rev. J. H. Barnes has become Rector of Trinity Church in the City of Quebec; the Rev. R. M. Fenton has taken charge of a parish in Portland, Maine; the Rev. G. E. Tobin has gone to the Diocese of Rhode Island; whilst the Rev. A. S. Hazel has returned to England. All of these clergymen had done splendid work in the Diocese, and it was with much regret that I parted with them.

As against these losses, however, there have been some compensations gained. The Rev. H. F. Rigby, who, after a long and serious illness, has returned to the Diocese as Rector of Woodstock,—Rev. Percy Coulthurst, after serving with distinction as a Chaplain overseas, has become Rector of the Parish of Campobello,—Rev. J. Sidney Harrington has accepted the Parish of Addington,—Rev. S. C. Gray has become Rector of Burton and Maugerville,—Rev. Joseph McAlden has been placed in charge of the Mission of Greenwich,—Rev. G. E. Trueman is in charge of the Mission of Prince William and Dumfries,—Rev. R. H. Bulteel is curate at the Cathedral and missionary in Chipman and Canning,—Rev. Edward P. Wright is curate in the Parish of Portland,—and the Rev. H. Hamilton Brown, who has also returned from service overseas, is serving the Parish of Grand Manan. It is a pleasure to have with us in the Diocese once more the Rev. E. B. Hooper, although still on military duty.

[illegible] are at the present time as follows: New Bandon, Hammond River, St. Martins, Edmundston, Grand Falls, Richmond, Musquash and Lepreaux. I hope, however, to be able to fill two of these fields within the next few weeks. Edmundston is at present being cared for by the Rev. F.W.M. Bacon, whom the Board has temporarily set free for that purpose. It will be seen from the above that, whilst we are in a stronger position than we were a year ago, there is still urgent need of more missionaries. I hope to secure some recruits whilst in England for the Lambeth Conference, but the shortage of men is so great there that I may be disappointed.

Finances.

From the financial standpoint, the past year has been by far the best, I think, in the history of the Diocese, and our funds are in excellent condition. This is particularly true, I am happy to say, of the Diocesan Mission Fund,—the most important fund of all. Starting the year with a credit balance of $4,285.65, the account was closed for 1919 with a balance to the good of $7,764.67, thus marking a clear gain for the twelve months of $3,479.02. In view of the fact that the expenditure upon missionary stipend account was $7,353.54 more than in the previous year, this is a remarkable showing. It is very gratifying, too, to know that the gain has been almost entirely due to a marked increase in missionary offerings all through the diocese. Thus the contributions from the Aided Missions on stipend account amounted to $15,706.28, as against $10,825.51 in the year 1918. The total paid in by way of apportionment for diocesan missions was $15,493.62, as against $11,029.77 in the previous twelve months. The total increase, therefore, in offerings for this purpose was $9,530.20,—a gain of rather more than 43 per cent.

In congratulating the Diocese upon this fine result, I desire to acknowledge very gratefully the effective work done by the special committee of laymen appointed at the last session of Synod. Under the enthusiastic and able leadership of Mr. Horace A. Porter, the influence of the committee was felt in every Parish in the Diocese, and I have no doubt that the happy condition of the fund is in no small degree due to the committee's efforts. The work done was just the kind of work that is most needed,—a campaign of education and appeal. It is a striking illustration of the power of the laymen to deal with the financial problems of the Diocese when they set themselves to do it.

The standing of the Diocese in relation to the M.S.C.C. is better than it has ever been before, I am glad to say. We were asked to give upon general apportionment for outside missionary work $6,400.00, and we sent in $6,256.14. In view of the fact that there was a considerable surplus on the Diocesan Mission Fund, it is a pity that the discrepancy could not have been adjusted by the Treasurer. There is really no good reason why, under similar circumstances in the future, this should not be done. The great majority of parishes, I think, are accustomed to send in their total offerings undesignated, leaving it to the Treasurer, under standing instructions from the Board, to effect a division between the two funds. It would be wise, I think, to authorize the Treasurer—perhaps after consultation with the Bishop—to vary the proportion a little in case of need.

The strong financial position of the Diocesan Mission Fund encourages me to express the earnest hope that the Synod will once more take a step forward in the matter of missionary stipends, and I do so with more confidence as I remember the magnificent response of the Diocese to the recent appeal in connection with the Forward Movement. The members of a Church which subscribed at the rate of $65,000.00 a year for two years in answer to that appeal will not lightly turn away from this that I now make on behalf of their own missionary clergy. I am confident of that. At the last session of the Synod, as you will remember, I dealt with this subject at considerable length, with the happy result that the minimum stipend for priests of five years' experience was raised to $1,200.000 and a house. Ther were those in Synod to whom that proposal was at first sight somewhat of a shock. It was pointed out—and it was a counsel of prudence, and not the expression of any want of sympathy — that such an increase would add very materially to the financial burden, but the Synod rightly ruled that to refuse to do an act of common justice for fear of failure would be utterly wrong. So we went forward in faith, and you have already heard how signally our faith has been rewarded. My fellow-workers, it is more than thirteen years now since I was called to preside over the deliberations of this Synod, and as I look back upon that period, I can see that every time we have gone forward in faith God has given us the answer that He always gives to those who trust Him. It has been so in the past, and I am sure that it will be so in the future.

I come to you once more, then, with an earnest invitation to make a fresh advance in this regard—to take such steps as may be needed to relieve the distress in which so many of the clergy find themselves. You will not need to be reminded that since we made the last advance the cost of living has steadily increased, so that the position of the clergy of today is very much what it was before. There is still the same wearing struggle to make ends met. There is still the same feeling of hopelessness in the task of making bricks without straw. There is still the same financial strain—the same threatened disaster of almost inevitable debt. You will not think that I am stating the case too strongly. There is not a laymon in this assembly who does not know how hardly the present economic conditions are pressing upon the clergy, and particularly upon those who are in receipt of the lowest stipends. And there is not a layman, I am sure, who is not honestly anxious to do all in his power to afford them some measure of relief.

It needs no argument to show that the present standard of stipend is absolutely inadequate and unjust. I do not mince my words. The occasion calls for the plainest kind of speaking. It is simply unjust to ask a clergyman—with all the calls that come to a clergyman—to live upon $1,200.00 and a house. With even the most rigid economy, such a stipend is not large enough to enable him to meet all his just demands. Under such circumstances, no clergyman can afford to buy the books that he ought to buy if he is to keep in touch with modern thought and scholarship. Yet not to do that is an almost fatal handicap in his office as a preacher. Gentlemen of the laity, you expect your clergyman to be cultured and well-informed. Then do not deny him the key without which he cannot unlock the door to the treausre-house of learning. You can do so at the cost to the Church of a weak and ineffective pulpit.

But take the standard of stipend apart from considerations such as these. Look at it in the light of standards that obtain in other callings. Compare it with the wages paid to railway workers, for example, and mechanics. Measure it with the wage demands that are almost everywhere being made today, and in many cases for labor of a common and unskilled character. I can think of one calling only by comparison with which in this regard the ministry does not suffer— the calling of the teacher. Permit me to pass on to you in this connection a story which was told me some time ago. I will not vouch for the accuracy if the facts in question, but they are clearly in keeping with conditions as they are. On one side of a certain road there was a fox-farm and on the other a country school. On the farm there were fifty foxes, and in the school fifty boys and girls. The manager of the farm was paid a salary of $2,000.00 and a house, whilst the teacher received a stipend of $500.00, yet the output of the one establishment was furs and that of the other national charactar. I commend the story to the thoughtful attention of the educational authorities, and, by way of parallel, to the members of this Synod.

But consider again. We speak of a stipend of $1,200.00. But that is after all only nominally the missionary's stipend, for out of it he has to meet all the expenses incidental to the keeping of a horse, and a horse, be it remembered, that the missionary himself has had to purchase, and which in course of time he will have to replace at his own expense. Two years ago I estimated that the cost of keeping a horse was not less than $200.00 annually, but under present prices that estimate requires revision. I have discussed the question with a number of practical farmers, and they give it as their opinion that it would be a very optimistic man who would expect to keep a horse in fit condition to do the arduous work of a country missionary at less than $250.00 a year. If this estimate is accurate—and it cannot be very far astray—more than 20 per cent. of the country clergyman's entire income is absorbed by the expense of keeping a horse in order that he may minister effectively to the people committed to his care. Think of it, you who come from the country parishes! From each dollar of the stipend that is paid your clergyman, at least twenty cents must be deducted for the upkeep of his driving outfit. Is that right? Is it condition with which we ought to be contented? I am sure that not one of you will say so.

I come, then, to this conclusion—the stipend of every clergyman, who, in the interests of his work, is compelled to keep a horse (or in lieu thereof an automobile) ought to be substantially increased. In the case of those parishes which require much railway travelling instead of driving there should be, of course, some proportionate allowance. It is for you to say what ought to be the amount of this increase, but I do not think that it should be less than $200.00 annually.

The adoption of any such policy as I have suggested would necessarily entail a heavy additional expenditure, and it will be asked where the money will be found. Well, there is no doubt in my own mind that we ought to look to the parishes immediately concerned for by far the greater part of it. I am impressed with the fact that, while the whole Province is prosperous beyond all experience, by no class in the community is that prosperity so generally shared as by the farmers. Never has money been so plentiful in the country parishes. Never have the farmers been so well off as they are today. No thoughtful person will grudge them their prosperity. It is easy to look back upon years when agriculture was not a lucrative occupation, when, as the saying used to be, "there was not much money in farming." For the good of the whole Province, the change has not come too soon. Yet the fact remains as I have stated it—the farmers of the Province are enjoying an extraordinary measure of prosperity.

In saying this, I do not forget that the farmers—like other people,—are compelled to pay abnormal prices for every article they have to buy, but,—unlike many other people—the farmers are fortunate in being able to offset in great measure the increased cost of living by the equally abnormal price of everything they have to sell. I hope that I shall not be misunderstood in this. I do not suggest that the farmers are profiteering. Nothing of the kind. The swollen prices of all farm produce simply illustrate the operation of the law of supply and demand, and probably with greater accuracy than do the excessive prices of many other things, for no producer's prices are more intimately and exactly related to the condition of the wholesale market of the world than are those of the farmer. Here and there in local markets there may be seen some disproportion, but, generally speaking, the law is as I have stated it—the prices of farm produce stand in direct relation to the wholesale market of the world. There is, then, no question of profiteering in what I have said. I am merely laying stress upon the indisputable fact that, as producers of food—the basal commodity of all—farmers are in a peculiarly favorable position to escape at least one tremendous economic pres-

A CHALMERS
with a New Beauty of Body

IT is new, will no doubt be widely copied in another year, and expresses the finality of beauty. It is "cut" high in the front at the radiator line, and low from the windshield back.

You sit close to the ground; the side line is considerably lower than in any previous Chalmers.

Seats are lower, tilt more; you sink into the seat cushion, and you have abundance of foot room, front and rear.

In detail this new body possesses a completeness, a finality that seems impossible to improve upon.

Underneath the body is the same unchanged Chalmers chassis that is well nigh faultless.

Hot Spot and Ram's-Horn continue in their original and masterly way to get out all the power that nature put into gas, though the complaints against the present grade of gas increase daily.

There's a limit to the supply of the new Chalmers, but there seems to be no limit to the number of those who insist on one.

As a word of warning—see this new Chalmers immediately.

Will Give Notice Today Of "Bone Dry" Resolution

Hon. J. F. Tweeddale To Take Action In House This Afternoon

AMENDMENT IS NOW TALKED OF Difference of Opinion as to What the Outcome Will Be.

Hon. J. F. Tweeddale, who had been taken suddenly ill during the week end and whose relatives reported yesterday that he was likely to have to go to the hospital, was at his office this morning, although plainly affected by his illness.

It was stated, however, that he would give notice of the resolution to be moved on behalf of the New Brunswick Temperance Alliance calling upon the Federal Government to hold a referendum in New Brunswick on the question of importing liquor for personal use in this province. The resolution would thus come before the House for action probably on Thursday.

Meanwhile, there is said to be some likelihood of an amendment to the resolution being presented also, but just what form it will take has not been defined. It was also said that there was a movement under way to have the resolution treated from a political standpoint, but with thte mover and seconder members of the opposing parties it is not expected that action which would compromise either of them would be attempted.

Some observers declare the resolution will be defeated by a small majority while others believe that when it comes time to stand up and vote the members will be largely found supporting the resolution.

The "Bone Dry" Resolution

The following is the so-called "bone dry" resolution:

"That the following resolutions be passed and sent to the Secretary of State of Canada:

"Resolved, that under the provisions of Part IV. of the Canada Temperance Act as enacted by chapter eight of the statutes passed at the second session of the Parliament of Canada held in 1919, this Legislative Assembly doth request that the votes of the electors in all the electoral districts of this Province may be taken for or against the following prohibition, that is to say:

"That the importation and bringing of intoxicating liquor into this Province for beverage purposes may be forbidden."

Law Committee Declines to Recommend the Bill to Amend New Brunswick Dental Act

Dentists from All Over the Province Flock to Legislature to Oppose Passage of Bill to Permit Dr. Gerrard to Practise

The Law Committee of the Legislature this morning considered a bill to amend the Act for the registration and qualification of dental surgeons in New Brunswick. P. J. Hughes appeared in support of the bill, the aim of which was to permit Dr. William Gerrard, of Fredericton, to be registered as a dental surgeon. A large delegation of registered dentists from all over the province appeared in opposition to the bill. H. O. McInerney, of St. John, appeared on behalf of the Dental Society of New Brunswick, which opposed the bill. Others who were heard in opposition to it were Dr. W. P. Broderick, of St. John, president of the society; Dr. W. H. Steeves, of Fredericton; Dr. O. B. Price, ex-M.P.P., of Moncton; Dr. F. A. Godsoe, of St. John; Dr. Earl Damon, of Woodstock; Dr. F. C. Bonnell, of St. John; Dr. R. M. McGibbon, of Fredericton; Dr. A. J. Cormier, of Moncton, Dr. G. F. Clarke, of Woodstock; Dr. Wm. Gillespie, of Moncton, and Dr. A. R. Currie, of Woodstock.

Mr. Hughes, for the bill, stated that the desire was to allow dentists who had practiced in Great Britain prior to the New Brunswick Act of 1890, to practice dentistry in the province of New Brunswick. He pointed out that by the Act of 1890 all practicing dentists in the province had been registered without qualification being required. The bill asked that a man who had been in the position in Great Britain similar to that in which those dentists registered in 1890 had been in New Brunswick prior to that time, be now registered. This man, said Mr. Hughes, had been induced to come to New Brunswick to settle, and it was unfair that he be not permitted to practice the profession which he had practiced freely in Great Britain. It was ridiculous to suggest that he pass an examination. Any man 30 years after he had begun the practice of a profession would find himself in a position in which it would be impossible for him to pass an examination through forgetting.

Mr. McInerney, in opposition to the bill, outlined the organization of the profession of dentistry in New Brunswick. An organization was formed in 1890 and all practicing dentists were registered. Since that time it had been required that all who were to be registered and qualified as dentists present certificates of qualification at some recognized dental school. At the present time the Dominion Dental Council was asking that the standard of the profession be raised, and the admission of a man who could show no qualification would tend to destroy any such attempt. It would amount to the overriding of recognized law.

The members of the Dental Society who also spoke in opposition to the bill followed a similar line of argument, but went into detail upon some points. The argument was advanced that even in 1890 dentistry in Great Britain was not as far advanced as it was in New Brunswick.

Mr. Hughes and Dr. W. C. Crocket, M.L.A., were heard in reply.

The committee went into private session and considered the bill. After some time being devoted to consideration, it was decided that the committee would not report the bill.

THE BRITISH PRESS ON BUDGET SPEECH

All of One Mind that Extravagance in National Expenditure Must Cease.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

London, April 20.—The press on the Chancellor's budget speech is critical but not generally unfavorable, except as to there being no prospect of reduction in the extraordinary expenditure. The London Times thinks that any skill in framing the budget is neutralized because the Government is evidently unrepentant in its extravagance.

The Daily News regards the expenditure outlook as hopeless.

The Daily Chronicle, on the other hand, regards the policy as wise and courageous and one which should have excellent effect on our economic stability and on foreign exchanges.

The Morning Post hopes that the heavy taxation will enforce attention on its cause, which is extravagance in national expenditure.

Both the London Telegraph and the London Mail express disappointment that there is no promise of reducing the expenditure, the Mail adding that all the taps are still running and even in this emergency the Chancellor had not the courage to turn any of them off.

The Fraser Paper Company Bill Before the Corporations Committee in House Today

Provision Made to Safeguard the Lumber Interest—Teachers Salaries Conference This Afternoon—Hope for Prorogation This Week.

The Corporations Committee spent practically all of this morning in consideration of the bill to incorporate the Fraser Paper Company, Ltd., which was about all passed with some amendments which were agreed upon and there is now every indication that the bill will pass the House.

At the conclusion of the meeting Chairman Burchill announced that tomorrow morning the New Brunswick Power Company's bill would be taken up again in private session. This afternoon the Legislature is going on with routine business largely and at 5 o'clock it is proposed to have a conference of all the members of both sides of the House in the main committee room on the report of the commission which considered the matter of increasing school teachers' salaries. There is some talk of the House completing its work this week and, with the water power development bill having passed through committee so rapidly, there would seem to be some prospect of accomplishing that. However, the Government still have some bills to introduce, one of which is the bill under which the Factory Act will be administered by the Workmen's Compensation Board. This bill was considered at a meeting of manufacturers at the Fredericton Board of Trade rooms this morning and it was said they would submit some amendments.

The Corporations Committee first considered the Miramichi Light, Heat & Power Company bill. An amendment was made providing for the approval of the Lieut.-Governor in Council and other amendments were passed. It was decided to report the bill.

The Fraser Paper Co. Bill.

The bill to incorporate the Fraser Paper Company was then taken up. N. M. Jones, managing director of the Nashwaak Pulp & Paper Company, appeared, and F. C. Beatteay and C. F. Sanford, of St. John, appeared for Stetson, Cutler & Co. Both these companies own blocks of timber lands in the oblique and drive logs on that river. J. J. F. Winslow appeared for both companies. R. B. Hanson, K. C. appeared on behalf of the bill and Donald Fraser also was present.

The bill was taken up section by section, and the chief objection raised against it was in relation to flowage and the driving and sluicing of logs.

Mr. Winslow stated that both the Nashwaak Pulp & Paper Co. and Stetson, Cutler and Co. had some hundreds of miles of timber land above the proposed site of the dam near the mouth of the Tobique. Neither company desired to interfere with the enterprise which thte Messrs. Fraser proposed to establish. They wished to have their interests safeguarded. A forty foot dam would create slack water below it early in the year as well as a deadwater above it. It would be necessary for the promoters of the bill to provide that the logs of other operators be handled through both.

Mr. Hanson said that there was really but one drive on the Tobique. The danger to drives was on the upper waters of the river and not upon the lower. Messrs. Fraser had a dam at Plaster Rock and for years lumber had been handled past that dam with dispatch. The same could be done at the dam contemplated under this bill. If there were any suggestions to be offered the Messrs. Fraser would accept them.

Mr. Winslow said that in short what was wanted by those whom he represented was a guarantee that men could be employed by the promoters of the bill to pass the logs through this dam. They wanted logs sluiced daily and on request, also jams kept clear both above and below the dam and sheer booms provided.

Mr. Beatteay said that what was wanted was adequate protection for the lumbering interests on the Tobique other than those of the Messrs. Fraser.

Mr. Hanson said that an amendment could be made to meet that objection.

There was some discussion upon the question of right to enter upon lands and it was made subject to the approval of the Lieutenant Governor-in-Council.

Mr. Hanson said that the provision offered by the company in regard to paying cost of arbitration was exceedingly fair. He stated that there was objection to a time limit being placed upon a completion of the undertaking. The full time of completion was problematical. On his sugestion the time limit of six years was struck out.

Hon. Mr. Veniot objected to the chief engineer of the Public Works Department being given power to examine accounts. He said that should be the duty of the Comptroller General. An amendment to that effect was made.

After further discussion it was decided that the parties interested confer on the matters of flowage, sluicing and driving and report to the committee what they decide upon.

ALBERT COUNTY CASE APPEAL COURT TODAY

Decision Reserved in Breach of Contract Case in Court Today.

This morning the Supreme Court of Appeal heard argument in Graves, executrix, etc., et al versus Sprague et al, a case tried before Mr. Justice Chandler at the last September Circuit Court in Albert Co. Upon the appeal today J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., and L. Smith appeared for the appellant and the respondents were represented by J. F. L. Teed. The court reserved its decision.

It is probable that the case between the Fredericton Motor Sales and the Earl of Ashburnham may go over till the next sittings of the court.

Two Madawaska Cases.

Two appeals from the Madawaska County Circuit are to be taken up, both having been tried in November last before Judge Chandler, the opposing counsel being J. E. Michaud, M.L.A., and Aaron Lawson. In one of these cases, The Eastern Township Lumber Co. vs. Frank Lynch, the plaintiff company had obtained a deed from the mother of the defendant of two wood lots, for which they paid her $400. The defendant was then in the West. After his return home, upon his learning that the plaintiff company were operating on the land, he notified the agent of the company that the land belonged to him; and he took possession of about 50 cords of pulpwood which the company had cut. The company did not resist his claim; but their agent asked the defendant for the company to be refunded the amount paid to his mother. About six months later the defendant signed a note in favor of the company for the $400 paid over; but upon maturity of this, he refused to pay, on the ground that he had received no consideration. The company brought action on the note, and the trial judge decided there was some consideration and found for the plaintiff company for the full amount of the claim. The defendant is now appealing by his counsel, Mr. Lawson; Mr. Michaud contra.

An Interesting Base Line Land Case.

In the case of Theodule Landry, plaintiff vs. Hilaire Landry, defendant, tried at the same circuit, the latter is appealing from a verdict in favor of the former of $100 for trespass upon his land in the Parish of St. Francis. The contest is over the location of a base line boundary, long established between two tiers of lots. The evidence went to show that the lots of the second and third tiers were surveyed by Deputy Crown Land Surveyor Testu in 1869, but by order of the Crown Land Department had been later resurveyed by A. E. Hanson, C. E. The defendant, Hilaire Landry's lots, Nos. 48 and 49 of the second tier, were granted to him about the year 1887; and the defendant's claim is that the rear of his lots extends to the boundary line placed by Testu, which however the resurveying found to be about 17 chains beyond the 80 chains mentioned in the grant and which line does not correspond with the return made by Testu to the Crown Land Department. The plaintiff's lot, No. 12 (third tier), which abuts upon the rear of the defendant's was granted later, about the year 1893, upon a survey made by A. E. Hanson in 1891, who located the base line at the end of the 80 chains named in the second tier grants. The alleged trespass has taken place between the boundary line placed by Testu and the line run by Hanson. The Hanson line is in accord with the return to the Crown Land Office made by Testu. The defendant claims that the line located by Testu in 1869 must be taken to govern the location of the boundary of his land, while the plaintiff respondent claims that the true line of division is located in accordance with the government grant and resurvey, as well as with the return made by Testu and not Testu's line. The defendant is appealing from Judge Chandler's decision by which the Hanson line was approved.

Overall Fashion Spreads Rapidly

St. John Hardware Clerk to Adopt New Denim Garb—Members of Parliament Declare against the Purchase of New Clothes and Will Wear Overalls or Old Suits.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

St. John, N. B., April 20.—The first sign of the overall movement invading St. John is a declaration from the St. John Hardware Clerks Association that they are getting together on the matter of having their members adopt the overall costume.

Movement at Montreal.

Montreal, April 20.—The civil employees union has organized an overall club. It will also ask the city authorities to instruct the purchasing department of the city to buy these nether garments in large quantities so that the best price can be secured.

M. P.s to Wear Overalls.

Ottawa, April 20.—The "denim overall" movement invaded the Commons today. C. G. MacNeill and David Loughnan, Great War Veterans Association officials, appeared before the pensions committee, clad in khaki denim suits and stated that they were but two of the G. W. V. A. executive, who had joined the movement. All members of the executive have donned working garb, as they take the stand that their first duty is to do what they can to reduce the cost of living. They hope to encourage returned men everywhere to wear overalls until the price of other clothing is reduced.

Members of the House of Commons this morning stated they intended to wear either overalls or old clothes. Many of them claim it would be better to wear out their old suits rather than start a rush on overalls, thus driving up the prices to the detriment of the working man who must wear them at all times.

The American Campaign.

New York, April 20.—The "overall campaign" to reduce the cost of clothing, which has now become international, continues to spread on this side of the line, according to despatches from various points received here this morning.

The movement is being given the sanction of municipal authorities in several cities.

An enterprising firm this morning advertises denim "custom tailored in stylish spring and summer models at $10," and "denim tuxedos for evening wear at $12.50." It also offers "modish evening, wedding and afternoon gowns of calico and gingham at $15."

At Detroit a number of business women's associations have entered the ring against the high price of wearing apparel. One thousand women office workers have pledged themselves not to exceed these maximum prices: Hats and shoes, $10; suits and coats, $50; dresses, $35; hosiery, $2.50, and gloves, $2.

At Los Angeles, Judge Taft, of the superior court, wore overalls on the bench yesterday. He recommended that all court officials adopt the overall garb.

The overall has also been adopted in legal circles in Columbia, S. C., where a rule in effect since January, 1936, requiring lawyers to appear before the supreme court wearing black coats, has been suspended at the request of members of the bar in order that they may wear denim.

GERMAN UNCERTAINTIES.

The poltical uncertainties of the moment in Germany bear a resemblance to those that prevailed in Russia before the overthrow of the Kerensky Government. Ebert replaces Kerensky, Luttewitz plays the part of Kornilloff, South Germany, with its rather half-hearted separatism, seeks apparently to become a new Ukraine.

In Germany the Red element has a more numerous, even if a less gullible worker crowd upon which to try its influence. The balance of forces, as between the constitutional Government and the military reactionaries, produces a deadlock in which the Reds, even as in the similar situation under Kerensky in Rusia, find the chance to grow.

Here exist the elements for a relapse into Red barbarism, provided the public will consent to such a thing. The preference of the German for internal order ought to stand him in good stead in this crisis.

THE SAFETY OF EUROPE.

In a recent interview Mr. Take Jonescu, the Rumanian publicist, averred that the safety of Europe depends upon an alliance between Rumania, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia and Greece. The safety of Europe is surely a big order, involving interests far wider than the pacification of the Balkan States,; yet could such an alliance be engineered it would undoubtedly be a vast improvement upon the melange of amorphous politics in the Near East which have hitherto been a menace not alone to the orderly development of the Balkan peoples themselves, but also within the Chancellaries of the greater European powers.

At first sight it might seem that the opportune moment for such alliance had arrived, remarks an exchange. The chastisement of Turkey at Lule Burgas seven years ago reduced the European possessions of the Sublime Porte to a mere strip of territory. Again the slicing of Austria to one-sixth of her pre-war dimension might be thought to pave the way for a Balkan alliance which, if not the equal of any continental power, would at least be freed from the pernicious aggression and otiose diplomacy of nations preserving a semblance of power only by their capacity of intrigue.

Unfortunately the "Whirlpool of Europe" is not so readily calmed. Differences, racial, political and religious, within the terrain from Poland to Greece, such as made President Wilson's thesis of "self-definition" an absurdity, militate with equal force against a confederation of Slovak-Tracian texture. A region wherein Bosnian hates Montenegrin, Albanian hates Serb, Serb hates Bulgarian, Bulgar hates Greek, and Macedonian hates all round is not a promising field for coalition of interests. Nor is the situation ameliorated by the Rumanian scorn for the folk across the Danube, or the evil genius of the Turk playing off the Balkan peoples one against the other. In point of fact, the Turkish occupation of Constantinople is less due to her statesmen than the mutual antagonisms obtaining in the Balkan provinces. This was shown in the Thracian war of 1912, and there is little or no evidence the situation has sensibly changed.

The tremendous importance of the alliance to which the Rumanian editor alludes can hardly be denied. Long before the recent war it was recognized that a spark in the Balkans might set Europe aflame, and the world knows the outcome of a single shot at Serajevo. The very fact, however, that these lesser states can play so conspicuous a part in European affairs is itself a source of disruption and peril. It has been pointed out that Europeans generally place domestic policies in the forefront, whereas within the Balkan zone the diplomats first discuss the chances of the situation at large. Indeed it may be questioned whether anywhere on the Continent the claims for expansion are more deeply accentuated than among the several nations whose alliance is deemed essential to the safety of Europe.

And so long as these lesser states hold such a coign of vantage in the interplay of European diplomacy; so long as they feel their ability to "pull the strings" and view the situation from an insular standpoint; so long as each state thus plays its own hand, fostering its own designs amid the vaster schemes of European policy, there is slim chance of an alliance that perforce requires moderation of particular counsels to achieve a general wholesome effect. Until there happens a decided change of heart the entente suggested is likely to be over toned by considerations of far narrower scope and the task that has for generations taxed the wits of the ablest European statesmen is—under these circumstances—likely to remain an anxious problem for many days to come.

AN AGE OF PAPER.

Some still regard civilization as in the iron age. Others believe that we have achieved a separate, distinct era under the shaping influence of coal. The present season of shortage raises the question whether we should not do well to look upon ours as the age of paper.

Without paper the ancients did very well, even at a stage when iron had become indispensable to them. With but a small supply of paper made from waste linen and cotton, eked out with parchments from the backs of sheep, men managed until well after the product of the coal mines had set railroads and factories in their way of development. Nowadays we find it hard to understand how the men of even 100 years ago did up parcels and kindled fires, to say nothing of getting the daily news.

Paper has become the common container, whether of goods or of information. The requirement has outrun the supply to such an extent that, according to present report, an Ohio firm has taken to the desperate expedient of manufacturing paper out of domestic refuse. In Esthonia, where doubtless novel and progressive ideas abound, they have resorted to pulping the paper money, Bolshevik and other, which has lately constituted the chief product of Eastern Europe.

Reckless issue of paper money and other forms of sheer waste in the consumption of so deficient and all important a commodity ought to be discouraged. Waste paper ought moreover to be retrieved, so far as possible, for a return to the pulp mill. Until the discovery of an economical process for making paper from the fibre of decidous plants, the decreased supply of pulpwood may otherwise cause the public real and various privations.

THE ANGLICAN SYNOD.

Fredericton again has the pleasure of welcoming the members of the Anglican Synod of New Brunswick. Many matters of grave importance will come before the august church body during the conference here, and the result of its deliberations will be watched with interest. As pointed out in the Bishop's charge, one of the most serious problems is the rehabilitation of King's College at Windsor. As the only Church of England institution of higher learning in the Maritime Provinces, the responsibility for its maintenance and restoration must be shared by these provinces, and the Diocese of Fredericton will be asked to consider the extent of its responsibility.

FRASER PAPER COMPANY'S BILL.

The Corporations Committee of the Legislature practically concluded consideration of the bill to incorporate the Fraser Paper Company, Limited this morning. It is felt that ample precautions are contained in the bill, with the amendments which have been agreed upon by the committee, to safeguard the salmon fishing and the lumbering interests on the Tobique river, and at the same time having regard for the importance of the extensive industry which the Fraser interests are about to establish. There is every reason to believe that the bill will now pass the House and the road will then be clear for the commencement of the development to be undertaken.

The Stock Market

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York (Wall Street), April 20.—Pressure against shares recently in speculative favor was resumed at the opening of today's stock market. Calling seemed largely of professional origin, but was assisted by offerings of long stocks, based on the uncertain money situation. Secondary steels and equipments, also high grade oils, motors, shippings and miscellaneous specialties lost 1 to 4 points in the early dealings. General Motors was again the chief feature of weakness, recording an overnight loss of 11 points.

CANADIAN COST BREAD PRODUCTION

Ottawa, April 19.—Cost to the bakers of production and delivery of bread throughout the Dominion averaged 7,864 cents per pound, according to returns published by the Board of Commerce of Canada for the month of February, 1920. This represents an increase in February of one-third of a cent per pound over January cost. A marked increase in the cost of nearly every ingredient, an increase in the cost of labor and a decrease in consumption of bread of about two per cent. over the month of January this year are noted in the report.

BORINGS AT COAL BRANCH FIND GAS

Moncton, April 19.—The Anglo-Persian Oil Company, who have been boring for oil at Coal Branch, Kent county, for some months, recently struck a moderate flow of gas. The discovery of gas was made after drilling through a thick bed of granite rock and at a depth of about 2,300 feet. Soon after striking gas salt water made its appearance in the well, much to the surprise of the borers. At the present time repairs are being made to the boring machinery and efforts made to shut out the heavy flow of salt water.

FROM THE PEOPLE

THE DIVORCE LAWS.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I saw in your paper an article on reform in Britain of divorce laws as to allow a man or woman to get divorce after three years' separation. Why doesn't Canada adopt a similar law for her young men and women? I know several cases where young married men enlisted in the Canadian army and sent practically all their money home to their wives, but when they got discharged and returned home they found no wife. What are these men to do? There are hundreds in the same ship. They can't remarry, nor will the Parliament grant them a divorce. What is the result? They just pack up and go to the United States and get a divorce. What's going to become of this country if all the young men of Canada do the some?

Yours,
A TRUE CANADIAN.
Woodstock, N. B., April 19, 1920.

THE HOUSING PROBLEM.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—We are facing a serious problem in this city—housing—and from returned boys there is general disapproval of the manner that this difficulty is being combatted.

As a returned boy I think the Government did well on the gratuity question and I don't favor a general $2,000 cash payment, but I do think it a shame that soldiers taking up land can obtain a 2,000 dollar loan (university students are granted loans), but how about Tommy in the city, struggling to buy a home If I have a lot why can't the Government provide the loan for building?

Why not help the man who is willing to help himself?

Yours,
ONE WHO FOUGHT.
Fredericton, N. B., April 19, 1920.

SEES PORTENTS IN THE SKY.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,—

Sir,—A question that I would like to ask, which probably some one of the many readers of your "From the People" column can answer, is this:

I happen to live in a country town away from the glare of electric lights, &c., so in this way have an opportunity to notice more carefully the strange happenings and signals in the firmament each night. I do not recall having ever read an explanation of the rapidity with which the stars and moon can vanish.

For instance, after admiring the splendor of a beautiful full moon in front of our house recently I took a turn around the house and returned to find the heavens wrapped in darkness. And in five minutes time the moon returned in the form of a white light resembling a huge cross disappearing and reappearing alternately.

I notice every night in certain parts of the sky strange flashes of light resembling lightning, while at the same time the stars shine in other parts of the heavens. The remarkable change in temperature and all these things—are they natural as compared with other years? Or are these happenings some signal from another world or the dawning of a new era. Or is the Saviour returning to warn the people or punish them?

By answering these questions some of your readers would greatly enlighten a troubled mind.

Yours,
STAR GAZER.
Stanley, N. B., April 19, 1920.

TEMPERANCE AND HEATHENS.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—With some amusement and a bunch of compassion I read the contribution from "Khaki" in your issue of April 17th.

Amusement at the way the writer elevates himself in posing as "the man who knows what temperance means" and presuming that the inhabitants of Great Britain are all heathens, and compassion for the very incomprehensible letter he wrote.

First he asks "Does the deputation which is to call on Premier Foster on temperance matter know what temperance means" In the next line he answers it himself by saying, I do not think they do, then he bolts forward to tell your readers that temperance does not mean total abstinence.

It amuses me the way he boldly pushes along, and says a person who believes in temperance is not a teetotaller (using his own words), then he says I presume the inhabitants of Great Britain are all heathens.

Now, he says, if those persons were more temperato in their speaking the community at large would greatly benefit by it. In this last sentence I do not know whether he means "the temperance people of Canada" or "the heathens of Great Britain."

After referring to the inhabitants of Great Britain as heathens his ink is not dry till he says they have common sense enough not to notice twaddle and are temperate in all things, but in my estimation heathens are far from being temperate, so Khaki's letter is so mixed I will not attempt to try to make a reply.

I do not know what he is after, but I feel sure he wants a drink of whisky.

Yours,
M. HANNAN.

Bishop's Charge to the Diocesan Synod

sure that is bearing hard upon every other class of worker. The cost of production has, no doubt, enormously increased, but that increase has been more than met by the inflated prices which all farm produce brings. It is with this in mind that I say that, in my opinion, the average country parish is well able to assume more responsibility for the maintenance of the ministry in its midst.

As you will have noticed, I have so far been considering the stipend question mainly from the standpoint of the missionary clergy. It is my duty, however, to remind the Synod that the question has a wider application which ought not to be forgotten. Generally speaking, it is true to say that all clerical stipends are miserably low. I have noticed with much satisfaction the action of certain parishes in increasing the stipend of their respective clergymen at the time of the recent Easter meetings. There are parishes, however, which are asking their clergy to live on an income very little larger than that which was paid ten years ago, and even then the amount was miserably small. There are other parishes in which, while the stipend has been considerably raised, the increase has not been at all commensurate with the increase in the cost of living. These things ought not to be. The attention of Synod is usually concentrated in this connection upon the needs of the missionary clergy, as those who are in receipt of the smallest incomes, but it is well to remember that hardships and deprivations are not necessarily confined to the homes of the country clergy. The matter is not one with which the Synod is competent to deal in an effective manner, but I think it right to take this public opportunity of commending the question to the thoughtful consideration of those parishes to which the reference may apply.

Prayer Book Revision.

The important work of revising the Book of Common Prayer has so far proceeded that we may look forward, I hope, to having the final result of the revision in our hands very soon after the next meeting of the General Synod, which will be in the fall of 1921. In the meantime, the Book in its amended form is being very generally used by the clergy in public worship, and the alterations and additions are becoming familiar to all. I refer to the subject at this time because it is my duty to make known to you a resolution which was passed by the House of Bishops at its last meeting, and is of interest not only to the clergy of the diocese but also to the laity.

Bible in the Public Schools.

I do not propose to discuss with you at any length the question of the Bible in the schools, but, for the sake of publicity, it seems to me wise to include in my Charge a bare statement of what has taken place since last the Synod met. The Committee was continued, and on its behalf I drew up and sent to the authorities of the leading non-Roman Catholic churches in the province the following memorandum:—

"The Committee of the Diocesan Synod of Fredericton on Bible Reading in the Public Schools is deeply impressed with the importance of a concerted movement on the part of the various non-Roman Catholic Communions with a view of obtaining for the reading of the Word of God a more prominent and official place on the curriculum of the Public Schools. The Committee is not unmindful of the fate of the last movement of the kind, and does not underestimate the difficulties that must be met and overcome before success can be attained. The Committee is of opinion, however, that the experience through which the world has lately passed, and is still passing, makes it abundantly clear that to the teaching of ethics there must be added the sanction of the Bible, if Christian civilization is to be saved. The social and industrial unrest with which certain parts of Canada are seething is to some extent, at least, and probably in great part, antagonistic to the Christian Faith, and can only be adequately met by more adequate religious teaching. This religious teaching must, in the judgment of the Committee, be based upon the authoritative sanctions of the Word of God, and hence the vast importance of familiarizing the children of our schools with the text of Holy Scripture. With this end in view, the Committee respectfully suggests that in the autumn of this year there be called a conference of duly accredited representatives of the non-Roman Catholic Churches in the province to consider the question in all its bearings. The Committee desires to add that, in its judgment, and in the light of past experience, any such conference ought to move first of all along the lines of education rather than towards the immediate objective of remedial legislation. Circumstances to which the Committee does not deem it wise to refer at this time seem to suggest very clearly that, until there shall have been formed a more definite and insistent public opinion amongst the Protestant people of the province as to the necessity of giving to the Bible a more prominent place in our system of education, there is little use in approaching the Board of Education in the matter. The Committee believes, therefore, that, as the outcome of a representative conference, there should be a comprehensive and carefully arranged campaign of public education in the entire question considered in this memorandum."

I do not suggest that the Synod take action at this time in connection with this subject. It will be wiser, I think, to await the outcome of any conference that may be called. The matter is one of vast importance, and challenges the earnest attention of every one of us. Divorce education from the sanctions of the supernatural and you rob it of that which alone makes it worth while from the standpoint of human character. Unless education is allied with a belief in God as the ultimate power, it is no real foundation "for the ordered development of the world's life." It is because "faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God" that we plead for the compulsory reading of the Scriptures in the public schools.

In saying this, however, let us not forget the personal implication of it all. For if we thus lay stress upon the importance of religious teaching, if we believe it to be the basis of all true education, if we profess to find in the Bible a supernatural sanction for obedience to moral law, if we insist upon its fuller recognition in the schools, then in common consistency we are committed to two things. First, it is clearly our duty to make the most of the facilities that are ours under existing law. Those facilities, it will be said, are not very great, and that is no doubt true, but much more can be made of them, I am persuaded, than has been the case heretofore. With the unanimous consent of the trustees in any district, for example, the school can be used after school hours by the minister of any recognized religious body for the giving of instruction to the children of his own communion. That is an opportunity not to be despised. I am told that the Roman Catholics,—from whom so much may be learned in the matter of religious education,—make much use of this facility in the districts where they are strong, and we may well try to follow their example. There are difficulties about this, no doubt, but not such as can not at least in part be overcome. In a large parish, the factor of time is an important consideration. It is not easy to do all the work that is clamoring to be done. I know all that; but, after all, is there any work that is more important than this of instructing the children in the faith? It may well be true that if this duty were done more effectively the labors of a clergyman would be less arduous in other respects. I counsel the clergy of the Diocese to give this important question their grave consideration. It is a subject that might well be discussed in the chapter meetings of the Rural Deaneries.

In this connection, too, I would recommend the clergy to make a practice of visiting the schools of their respective parishes with greater regularity. It is true that such visiting does not afford an opportunity of giving religious teaching, but it helps a clergyman to keep in personal touch with the children of his flock, and—always an important thing—creates a bond of sympathy between him and the teacher. And this quite apart from the fact that we owe it to the teacher to take an inteligent and kindly interest in her important work. Cultivate the friendship and confidence of the teachers in your parish, and you will find them always ready to respond. Time so spent is an excellent investment.

The second thing to which we are clearly committed by our insistence upon the inadequacy of the present facilities for teaching religion to the children of the Church is an intelligent and earnest effort to make our Sunday school work as effective as possible in our respective parishes.

Forward Movement.

I am glad to have this early opportunity of speaking at some length about the Forward Movement. So far as this Diocese is concerned, it was initiated just twelve months ago at the last session of the Synod, and now the first stage of the Movement—the financial stage—has been happily concluded. My first words upon the subject must be words of profound thankfulness to God for the wonderful success with which the campaign was carried through, and brought to a successful conclusion—far more successful, indeed, than many of us ever dreamed. When, at the outset, it was announced by the Central Executive Committee that the Diocese was asked to raise $50,000,000, the faith of some of us was staggered. It did not seem possible to raise so large a sum. Yet we not only succeeded in reaching that amount, but actually passed our objective by more than forty thousand dollars. Our lack of faith was happily rebuked, and we have all learned a needed lesson—the lesson of not only trusting God, but of trusting God's people. For I believe that it was from God's people that the money came. In other words, the giving of this vast sum was the expression of a deeper consciousness of God amongst our people generally than we thought was there. Nothing else, to my mind, could account for the outburst of liberality and sacrifice upon the part of the rank and file of the Church's membership. For it was to a great extent from the rank and file that the response came. Here and there rich men gave their great gifts, but it was only here and there, and it was amongst the men and women of ordinary means that the challenge of the Forward Movement found its splendid answer. It is a great lesson to us all. It ought to teach us, as I have said, not only to trust God to hear and answer prayer, but to trust God's people to do their duty, when that duty has been made plain to them. I hope that we shall learn that lesson.

So far, then, the Forward Movement has been a magnificent success, and that, not only in our own Diocese, but in the Church throughout the entire Dominion. Let me remind you as briefly as possible what has been accomplished. As the direct outcome of this effort, we have been able to place upon a firmer and more abiding basis certain very important features of the Church's work. The continuance of our missionary work amongst the Eskimos and Indians of the Far North has been guaranteed. Provision has been made for much needed extension work both at home and in the foreign field. The position of the Woman's Auxiliary has been greatly strengthened. A reasonably large endowment fund has been formed to meet the necessary expenses of the Primacy in the Canadain Church. The cost of carrying on the work of the Executive Council of the General Synod has been provided for. A small endowment fund has been created for the Board of Religious Education, and for the Council of Social Service. Last, though not least, a great step has been taken towards the establishment of a central beneficiary fund for the whole Canadian Church. I need hardly pause to emphasize the importance of this last achievement. It is the plain and imperative duty of the Church to make proper provision for those of its clergy who, by reason of age or infirmity, are incapacitated from active work, and for the widows and orphans whom they may leave behind. That duty has been shamefully neglected in the past. There are dioceses in Canada which are without any provision for that purpose. No pensions have been provided for our foreign missionaries. There is hardly a diocese in which the funds for these purposes are sufficient to meet the need. The time has come when such conditions can be tolerated no longer, and at least a good beginning has been made to get rid of them. The foundation has been laid of a general fund to which all the clergy of the Church will have a right to look for the relief to which they are entitled. It is, of course, only a foundation, but it will serve as a nucleus of the larger fund, which will undoubtedly be established by the General Synod at no distant date. In the meantime, however, the immediate and more pressing needs of the Church will be met from the income of the $750,000.00. In other words, those dioceses in which there are now no beneficiary funds, or in which the present funds are insufficient, will receive first consideration. Ultimately, however, all the clergy of the Church will come under the general fund.

Bishop Richardson's Charge to the 51st Diocesan Synod Today

So much for the financial side of the Forward Movement. Money, however, is not the most important thing about the Forward Movement. Most of all it stands for a deepening of the Church's spiritual life, and in the time that remains to me I turn to that. The Movement has been throughout the expression of our sincere desire to quicken the Church's consciousness of God, and to deepen its religious life. It was intended to be at once a confession of our past failures, and a consecration of ourselves to service. It came as a challenge to the Church to realize and respond to the strong invitation of the Easter festival, the echo of which is still ringing in our ears—"If, then, ye be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead and your life is hid with Christ in God." That is, in its essence, the spirit and purpose of the Forward Movement. Money was asked for, and received only as a necessary means to a great end. The sacrifice involved in the offering of money was to symbolize and express a greater sacrifice—the surrender of ourselves, our souls and bodies, without grudging and without reserve. It follows, then, that the real end of the Forward Movement remains yet to be achieved, its shining goal yet to be attained. Let us remember the Student-at-Arms' arresting saying to the Church in England—"Blessed is he of whom it has been said that he so loved giving that he even gave his own life." In that direction, then, lies our duty. To that great task let us set our hands.

It is well that we should be reminded of these things, for there are not wanting signs, I fear, that they are in some danger of being forgotten. There is a tendency to talk as though, having achieved this great success, nothing more remains. It is not unnatural that it should be so, perhaps, for a sustained effort such as that which the Church has made is not seldom followed by a certain spirit of reaction. During the long period of preparation, and particularly during the weeks of intensive effort that culminated in the actual campaign, there was an unusual incentive to activity, a powerful stimulus to earnestness and prayer. It was an arresting experience that could not fail to have an effect upon any thoughtful person. Men and women who had not given much thought to the claims and questions of religion, were forced to think during the progress of the campaign. They felt the tug of an unseen tide—"too full for sound and foam"—setting towards spirituality and God. It may be that the thought was not very clear and the feeling not very deep, but the thought and feeling were there. The secret of our success was not that of organized enthusiasm and concerted action. One thing only can account for it—the Spirit of God was moving upon the face of the waters, and deep answered unto deep—the deep of the human heart to the deep of God's clear call.

And now the danger is lest we sink back into the slothfulness of sluggish ease, and ever lose, perhaps, that which we have gained. There is no longer before us a great goal that lies open to our gaze—and that can be measured and easily understood. The noisy machinery of the campaign with all its slatter of team-play and competition has been discarded, and the rusty remains are littering up our parochial scrap-heaps. How easy to feel that the Forward Movement is practically over — that our task has been accomplished, and nothing more remains to be done! I seem to see signs of that feeling almost everywhere. As I move through the Diocese, I hear little about the Forward Movement except the echoes of satisfaction over what has been accomplished. It is only seldom mentioned from the pulpit. Even the use of the special prayers would almost seem to have been given up. What does it mean? Does it mean that the Church is slowing up just when the signal ought to be "full speed ahead"? I hope not, but I am afraid of it.

The call comes to all of us, my brothers. To the clergy it comes as an insistent summons to discharge more earnestly the duties of the Christian ministry, to preach with renewed zeal the gospel of life in Jesus Christ, to reach with more faithfulness the doctrines of the Church's creeds, to strive more sincerely to save the souls of those who have been committed to our care, and, more than all perhaps, to so live as to commend our ministry to those amongst whom we labor. The call comes to the laity to receive with more simplicity and less reserve the teaching of the Faith—to value more highly the privilege of public worship — to welcome more eagerly the provision of sacramental grace—and to exercise more earnestly the priesthood of the common Christian life. To all of us, clergy and laity alike, there comes a call to confess the sins and shortcomings of the past, and to consecrate ourselves to God with a more complete surrender of all that we are and have.

King's College.

Upon one more important topic let me touch, and I have done. It is that of King's College, Windsor. In the destruction of the main building by fire there has been removed an ancient landmark of the Church's history, venerable for its rich traditions not less than for its length of years. Its story takes us back almost to the first beginnings of the Church's life in Nova Scotia, and its history has been bound up in the Church's development and growth. If the college has not always fulfilled the high hopes and aspirations of its venerated founders—and of how many such institutions might not as much be said—its history has none the less been rich with a deep religious life, and fruitful in great achievements. Upon its honor roll are inscribed the names of many famous men, and from its cloistered halls there have gone forth in long, unbroken lines those who found happiness and honor in preaching the gospel of good tidings under the commission of the Catholic Chuch. Such has been its story, and now there has come to it this sudden blow by fire. It is a great loss, and there rests upon the Church the grave responsibility of seeing that the college does not die, but continues to do the work for which it was created.

It had been hoped by many, who—with more humility, perhaps, even though with no less truth—think of themselves as the "friends of King's," that the occasion might afford an opportunity of effecting some form of federation with Dalhousie University, whereby all that is most worth while in King's would have been conserved and even strengthened, whilst a much needed impetus would have been given to the cause of higher education in these provinces. That was my own earnest hope, and I do not hesitate to make it known. I have, indeed, only two regrets in this connection—first, that the logic of events would seem to make the realization of that hope impossible, and, second, that there should have been in certain quarters so ungenerous a readiness to impute disloyalty to those who cherished it. Nothing could be more unworthy than that suspicion, and it is difficult to doubt that it has been prejudicial to the true interests of the college. But I do not dwell upon that point. As I have said, for reasons of finance, federation has been found impossible, and the only practicable plan would seem to be to build again at Windsor. Now that the question has been settled, the problem before the college is one of ways and means.

It would be useless to shut our eyes to the fact that the problem is a very serious one. In these days of inflated prices and unstable conditions, it is difficult to form an estimate of the amount required to replace the building, but it is not likely to fall far short of a quarter of million of dollars, whilst to meet that liability there is insurance to the extent of less than fifty thousand dollars and a guaranteed subscription from the town of Windsor of ten thousand dollars. Upon that basis, therefore, at least one hundred and ninety thousand dollars must be raised.

But that estimate has in view a wooden building, and my own opinion is that in planning for the future something more substantial is required. The building ought to be either of brick or stone. In view of the relative costs of these two materials, it will probably be found wise to build of brick, and in that case there must be added to the estimated cost at least twenty-five thousand dollars, making the amount to be provided for building purposes only the sum of two hundred and fifteen thousand dollars. It do not pretend, of course, to have any expert knowledge of such a subject but I think that the above figures are more likely to be under than over the mark.

This is not a complete statement, however, of the case. Additional endowment is urgently required. In the past the college has been cramped in its activities, and hampered in its efforts by a revenue that was altogether inadequate to meet its needs. The result has been an equipment not in keeping with the requirements of a modern university, and the inevitable burden of an ever threatening debt. To remove these disabilities it has been conservatively estimated that not less than an additional endowment of three hundred thousand dollars is required. Thus the financial need of the college at the present time is the sum of at least five hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. The hope has been expressed in certain quarters that some part of this large amount will come to the college from sources outside of the Maritime Provinces, but it will not be wise to count upon anything of the kind. In any case, the financial burden will be a very heavy one.

There is only one way, of course, in which the money can be raised, and that is by an appeal to the constituency which the college serves—the Church in the two dioceses of Nova Scotia and Fredericton. That is the only conclusion to which the Board of Governors could come. We shall be honored, I understand, by the presence at this Synod of a distinguished deputation from the board, who will set before us the plans that are under consideration. I know that I need not bespeak for them an attentive and sympathetic hearing.

A few words in this connection. It is the duty of the Synod to consider very carefuly what part of the financial responsibility ought to be assumed by the Diocese of Fredericton. It goes without saying that part of that responsibility is ours. King's College is the only Church of England institution of higher education in the Maritime Provinces. For many years we have been sending there a large proportion of our candidates for holy orders. This Synod accepted by canon a certain share in the government of the college. These considerations lead to one conclusion—part of the financial responsibility for the maintenanace and restoration of the college belongs to the Diocese of Fredericton.

Having said so much, however, I desire to say that primarily the responsibility in that matter rests upon the Diocese of Nova Scotia. The foundation of the college, its history, its location, its distance from New Brunswick—all point to the fact that it is first of all a Nova Scotia institution, and that fact has never been lost sight of in this diocese. Thus the relationship of the college to the Diocese has been carefully define by canon. It is "recognized as the theological institution of the Diocese,' but that is as far as the reognition has ever gone. It follows, therefore, that—like our relationship—our responsibility is limited, and I think that the fact must be borne in mind in dealing with the problem that is before us in connection with the college. In saying so, I am not expressing my own conviction only, but one which was held as firmly by both my predecessors in the office which I hold. As far back as 1877 the relationship was defined by Bishop Medley, and confirmed by resolution of Synod, and in Bishop Medley's time the resolution was crystallized into a canon of the Diocese. I desire to make this quite plain, so that in the acceptance of this Synod of financial responsibility at this time the basis of that acceptance shall be the principle of due proportion.

In closing let me give you two thoughts that are on my mind. Whatever the future of King's, it ought to be insisted, I think, that there shall be exercised in its administration the most careful economy. Under the most favorabale circumstances the difficulty of "carrying on" will be very great. Let it be laid down, then, as a principle that the anual expenditure shall not exceed the income. If, under the pressure of that principle, it should become for the time being necessary to circumscribe the activities of the college, then that must be done. For years past, in spite of all our efforts to increase the revenue, the college has been rnning into debt. So constantly recurring have been the deficits that nearly fifty thousand dollars of the fruits of the last extension movement have been absorbed by the overdraft. That overdraft has now been paid off, and the sheet is comparatively clear. A recrudescence of the deficit policy, however, would be absolutely fatal. At any cost, therefore, the expenditure must be kept within the income.

The second thought is this—the greatest need of King's College—greater even than the need of a new building and an enlarged endowment—is that of a Church united in its support. You know as well as I know that heretofore there has not been unity of support and sympathy. I need not enter into the reasons for that division. It is enough to know that it is there. What I desire to say to the Synod at this time—and through the Synod to the members of the Church of England in the Maritime Province—is just this: Has not the time come for an earnest effort to get rid of our disunion in this regard? If by mutual concession and common sacrifice that could be accomplished, what an achievement that would be! Is the Church of England not broad enough and big enough to unite in the support of King's College as the Church university of all its members? There are difficulties in the way, but if we face them boldly, and in the spirit of humility and brotherly love, they will disappear, and those who come after us will rise to call us blessed.

And now, dear brethren, I commend you and your work to the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

If You Build Up Your Run-Down Condition

It Attacks People Who Are All Worn Out, Anaemic, Devitalized and Weak

Strong People Never Get Influenza

During every epidemic it is always the weak, run-down, overworked, devitalized men, women and children who so quickly fall a prey to the ravages of disease.

When, therefore, an epidemic is prevalent why not use a little precaution and build up the tired out, run-down over-worked, devitalized members of your family by giving them VINOL.

There is nothing that acts so quickly as a tonic reconstructor. It makes red corpuscles, enriches the blood, quickens the circulation, sharpens the appetite, promotes sound sleep, and imparts strength, vitality and energy to every organ and muscle in the body.

Your physician recommends VINOL and your druggist agrees to return your money if it fails to benefit.

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children there is no remedy like VINOL.

CROWN PRINCE, 2.25.

His Sale at $20,000 and Half of His Winnings Eclipsed That of Bill Sharon, 2.16¼.

Writing in the Halifax Recorder, James W. Powers, the well known Halifax racing authority, has the following:

"The despatch from Fredericton stating that Bill Sharon, 2.16¼, had been sold for $3,500, the largest amount ever paid for a trotter ever foaled in the Maritime Provinces, recalls to old-timers that two score years ago there was a horse sold for a much larger sum. This was the grey gelding Crown Prince, which raced in the Maritime Provinces in the early seventies, and was sold to parties in the United States for double figures in the thousands.

"R. H. Edwards, who was contemporary with racing in the Provinces in those days, says that his recollection is that Crown Prince was sold for $20,000 and half his winnings on the Grand Circuit, which that year amounted to $8,200. Crown Prince was bred in Maine, but he was foaled in New Brunswick in 1862.

"He was sired by Logan's Messenger, by State of Maine, by Tufton's Sampson, by Winthrop Messenger, by imported Messenger, dam Lady Messenger, by Warrior, son of Young Messenger, by Winthrop Messenger. He made his record of 2.25 at New York, Sept. 18, 1873, which was very fast for those days, when only high wheeled sulkies were used. The world's trotting record in 1873 was 2.16¾, held jointly by Goldsmith Maid and Occident.

"The well known New Brunswick stallion, Sir Charles, sire of several speedy New Brunswick fast ones, was out of the dam of Crown Prince.

"There are two men in St. John who can give some interesting information about Crown Prince—C. W. Bell, who drove him in his races, and D. C. Clinch, the veteran turf authority."

Rube Marquard is Sued for Divorce

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Chicago, April 20.—Mrs. Blossom C. Marquard, known in vaudeville as "Blossom Seeley," has filed suit for divorce from Richard (Rube) Marquard, pitcher for the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club. She charged desertion since 1918. They were married in 1913.

CANADIAN HOCKEY TEAM AT ANTWERP

The Canadian Team Favorites in Betting for Honors at Olympic Series.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Antwerp, April 20.—The Canadian hockey team, which arrived last week by way of England, has been practicing daily in preparation for the opening game of the Olympic series, which will take place on Friday night. Practices have been held at the Antwerp Ice Palace, where the contests are to take place. The players declare the ice in excellent shape.

The Canadians were on hand yesterday to welcome the members of the United States team, who arrived in the afternoon, none the worse for a few days of rather rough weather. All of the teams entered for competition are now here, with the exception of the French team, who are only a few hours away, and are training steadily in Paris.

After fraternizing with the American players during the afternoon the Canadians turned out in the evening to watch the first practice of the boys from the south of the line. They expressed the opinion that the "Yankes" are likely to be strong contenders for the hockey title.

The drawing for the first pairings will be held Thursday afternoon. The Canadians are hoping to meet the Americans early in the series. The players from the Dominion have been given a great reception by the British Army contingent stationed here and will have a strong rooters' "choir" to give them encouragement during the games. The Amrican army officers stationed at the Antwerp base will root for the United States team.

Both Canadian and American teams have made arrangements for daily practices until the opening games. The Canadians are favorites in the betting here.

Page to Organize A Baseball League

Some time ago The Gleaner said the formation of a professional baseball league in the Maritime Provinces was in contemplation. The St. John Standard today says that Joe Page, of Montreal, is taking the matter up and says:

"It is reported that Page will endeavor to organize a class D. league which will be a member of the American Association of baseball clubs, the salary limit to be $2,000 per month for each team. According to the report received here Page plans to have St. John, Fredericton, Moncton and Halifax in the league."

PROPOSES NOVEL MODE OF TAXATION

Paris, April 12.—Proposals to initiate a novel scheme of taxation to wipe out the treasury deficit have been brought forward in the chamber of deputies by Paul Abriot, a member of the group of socialists which was read out of the party because it supported war measures during the world conflict. He urges that the total deficit be divided by the number of taxpayers, thus establishing a unit of taxation, and that each unit then be assessed on a sliding scale based upon the taxpayer's income. It is believed improbable that the idea will be adopted by the finance committee.

True Knights of Faith

"I will not leave you, Sir William, returned Sir Simon Burley; "and yet, as an old soldier and one who hath seen much of war, I cannot but think that it is an ill thing for four hundred men to find themselves between an army of sixty thousand on the one side and a broad river on the other."

"Yet," said Sir Richard Causton, "we cannot for the honor of England go back without a blow struck."

"Not for the honor of Scotland either," criel the Earl of Angus. "By Saint Andrew! I wish that I may never set eyes upon the water of Leith again, if I pluck my horse's bridle ere I have seen this camp of theirs."

"By Saint Paul! you have spoken very well," said Sir Nigel, 'and I have always heard that there were very worthy gentlemen among the Scots, and fine skrmishing to be had upon their border. Bethink you, Sir Simon, that we have this news from the lips of common spies who can scarce tell us as much of the enemy and of his forces as the prince would wish to hear."

"You are the leader in this venture, Sir Nigel,' the other answered, "and I do but ride under your banner.'

"Yet I would fain have your rede and counsel, Sir Simon. But, touching what you say of the river, we can take heed that we shall not have it at the back of us, for the prince hath now advanced to Salvatierra, and thence to Vittoria, so that if we come upon their camp from the further side we can make good our retreat."

"What then would you propose?' asked Sir Simon, shaking his grizzled head as one who is but half convinced.

"That we ride forward ere the news reach them that we have crossed the river. In this way we may have sight of their army, and perchance even find occasion for some small deed against them."

"So be it, then," said Sir Simon Burley;; and the rest of the council having approved, a scanty meal was surriedly snatched, and the advance resumed under the cover of the darkness. All night they led their horses, stumbling and groping through wild defiles and rugged valleys, following the guidance of a frightened peasant who was strapped by the wrist to Black Simon's stirrup leather. With the early dawn they found themselves in a black ravine, with others sloping away from it on either side, and the bare brown crags in long bleak terraces all round them.

"If it please you, fair lord," said Black Simon, "this man hath misled us, and since there is no tree upon which we may hang him, it might be well to hurl him over yonder cliff."

The peasant, reading the soldier's meaning in his fierce eyes and harsh accents, dropped upon his knees, screaming loudly for mercy.

"How comes it, dog?" asked Sir William Felton in Spanish. "Where is this camp to which you swore that you would lead us?"

'By the sweet Virgin! By the blessed Mother of God!" cried the trembling peasant, "I swear to you that in the darkness I have myself lost the path.'

"Over the cliff with him!" shouted half a dozen voices; but ere the archers could drag him from the rocks to which he clung Sir Nigel had ridden up and called upon them to stop.

'How is this, sirs?" said he. "As long as the prince doth me the honor to entrust this venture to me, it is for me only to give orders; and, by Saint Paul! I shall be right blithe to go very deeply into the matter with any one to whom my words may give offence. How say you, Sir William? Oh you, my Lord of Angus? Or you, Sir Richard?"

"Nay, nay, Nigel!" cried Sir William. "This base peasant is too small a matter for old comrades to quarrel over. But he hath betrayed us, and certes he hath merited a dog's death.

'Hark ye, fellow," said Sir Nigel. "We give you one more chance to find the path. We are about to gain much honor, Sir William, in this enterprise, and it would be a sorry thing of the first blood shed were that on an unworthy boor. Let us say our morning orisons, and it may chance that ere we finish he may strike upon the track.' '

With bowed heads and steep caps in hand, the archers stood at their horse heads, while Sir Simon Burley repeated the Pater, the Ave, and the Credo. Long did Alleyne bear the scene in mind—the knot of knights in their dull leaden-hued armor, the ruddy visage of Sir Oliver, the craggy features of the Scottish earl, the shining scalp of Sir Nigel, with the dense ring of hard, bearded faces and the long brown heads of the horses, all topped and circled by the beetling cliffs. Scarce had the last deep "amen" broken from the Company, when, in an instant, there rose the scream of a hundred bugles, with the deep rolling of drums and the clashing of cymbals, all sounding together in one deafening uproar. Knights and archers sprang to arms, convinced that some great host was upon them; but the guide dropped upon his knees and thanked Heaven for its mercies.

"We have found them, caballeros!' he cried. 'This is their morning call. If ye will but deign to follow me, I will set them before you ere a man might tell his beads."

As he spoke he scrambled down one of the narrow ravines, and, climbing over a low ridge at the further end, he led them into a short valley with a stream purling down the centre of it and a very thick growth of elder and of box upon either side. Pushing their way through the dense brushwood, they looked out upon a scene which made their hearts beat harder and their breath come faster.

In front of them there lay a broad plain, watered by two winding streams and covered with grass, stretching away to where, in the furthest distance, the towers of Burgos bristled up against the light blue morning sky. Over this vast meadow there lay a great city of tents—thousands upon thousands of them, laid out in streets and in squares like a well-ordered town. High silken pavilions or colored marquees, shooting up from among the crowd of meaner dwellings, marked where the great lords and barons of Leon and Castile displayed their standards, while over the white roofs, as far as eye could reach, the waving of ancients, pavons, pensils, and banderoles, with flash of gold and glow of colors, proclaimed that all the chivalry of Iberia were mustered in the plain beneath them. Far off, in the centre of the camp, a huge palace of red and white silk, with the royal arms of Castile waving from the summit, anounced that the gallant Henry lay there in the midst of his warriors.

As the English adventurers, peeping out from behind their brushwood screen, looked down upon this wondrous sight they could see that the vast army in front of them was already afoot. The first pink light of the rising sun glittered upon the steel caps and breastplates of dense masses of slingers and of crossbowmen, who drilled and marched in the spaces which had eben left for their exercise. A thousand columns of smoke reeked up into the pure morning air where the faggots were piled and the camp-kettles already simmering. In the open plain clouds of light horse galloped and swooped with swaying bodies and waving javelins, after the fashion which the Spanish had adopted from their Moorish enemies. All along by the sedgy banks of the rivers long lines of pages led their masters' chargers down to water, while the knights themselves lounged in gayly-dressed groups about the doors of their pavilions, or rode out, with their falcons upon their wrists and their greyhounds behind them, in quest of quail or of leveret.

The Importance of an Easy-Running Bicycle for the Boy

A "BUNCH" of joyous boys and girls on a bicycle ride! How they do breeze along the smooth, level stretches! What fun! What exhilaration!

But pity that poor boy on the hard-running bike. How he has to pull on the handles and push on the pedals to keep up with those on the easy-running C.C.M. Bicycles. It's no joy ride for him.

And the strain is always there, to some extent, even when he only runs errands on his hard-running bike.

Overtaxing the strength of a growing boy or girl is to be avoided. It might lead to serious consequences.

Be safe. Buy your boy a C. C. M.

C. C. M. Bicycles for boys and girls are built of the same high grade materials and with the same skilled workmanship as the adult models.

They have the same special construction that gives the easy-running direct line drive—

The same case-hardened polished bearings that turn so smoothly.

The same strong, safe "Fish-mouth" reinforced frame.

And, of course, they have the new Hercules Positive Drive Brake—the Coaster Brake without a side arm.

There's a light, strong, easy-running bicycle waiting for your boy or girl at the C. C. M. dealer's right now. He will be glad to show it to you.

Also ask to see the new 18-inch Curved Bar Model—the bicycle the boy won't outgrow.

The Senior Mission Band of the Brunswick street Baptist church met last evening in Mission Hall and a large attendance was present. Last night's meeting marked the close of the band's work for the season, and the reports showed that during the year $665 had been raised by the ladies for mission purposes. A novel feature of the meeting was the handing in of a foot of dimes, amounting to $3.10, by the members. After the transaction of business Mrs. Herbert Estabrooks, the leader of the band, who has been indefatigable in her work in the interest of the board, was called to the front of the hall and presented with a silver and pyrex caserole as a mark of apreciation by her fellow workers. Mrs. G. C. Warren made the presentation and Mrs. Estabrooks, although taken completely by surprise, thanked the donors for their beautiful gift.

BLISS CARMAN IN CALIFORNIA AND IS NOW MUCH BETTER

Distinguished Fredericton Poet is "Markedly Better" It Is Now Said.

EXPECTS TO RETURN TO NEW YORK NEXT MONTH

Reports of His Illness Were "Greatly Exaggerated" Writes Dr. Ganong.

Bliss Carman, Fredericton's distinguished son and noted Canadian poet, is now in southern California, recovering his health and expects to return to New York some time in May.

This pleasing information came in a letter this week to Mrs. John Black, of this city, from Dr. W. F. Ganong, of Smith College, Northampton, Mass., who wrote:

"At the close of your letter I see you mention Bliss Carman's ill-health. The papers, however, have greatly exaggerated it. He was ill and had to leave his work and go to the Adirondacks for the winter. He is now in southern California and writes us that he is markedly better and expects to return to New York some time in May."

Flour Prices Up and Others Expected to Go

During the past week the wholesale price of flour advanced 15 cents a barrel, but retailers have not yet moved their price up, as they claim there is plenty of flour on hand.

One wholesaler stated this morning that he was looking for a brisk advance in sugar within a short time, which would put the retail price of that article up to 25 cents a pound. The prices of biscuits are also expected to advance, sweetened biscuits 2 cents a pound and unsweetened ones 1 cent a pound. Molasses, which is retailing at $1.45 a lon, is expected to jump again shortly, too.

FIRST PARTRIDGE SHOOTING IN 1921

Then It Will Be Only for Two Weeks—Bill Withdrawn in Legislature.

The decision to allow partridge shooting next fall in New Brunswick has been abandoned and in the Legislature last night Hon. Dr. A. Smith, Minister of Lands and Mines, withdrew the bill giving authority upon order in council to terminate the closed season for partridges, if it were shown that they had sufficiently increased in number.

"I don't agree with order-in-council government anyway," said Hon. Dr. Smith in explaining the withdrawal of the bill to reporters, "and reports which have come to me show that the partridge have suffered a great deal from the crust and other conditions in the latter part of the winter. Places where many partridge were reported last fall, now say there are scarcely any. If a partridge season was to be opened this fall by order-in-council it would cost too much to advertise it, so we won't have any."

The Minister intimated that commencing in 1921 there would be an open season of not more than two weeks with the number of partridges to be killed by one person limited, which, he said, was in line with conditions in other provinces.

THROUGH TRAINS TODAY.

Washouts Repaired Near McKinley's Ferry and Trains Run to Centreville.

For the first time since the big ice jam formed at Crock's Point on April 7, when the Valley Railway tracks were overflown and the rails washed out for a considerable distance, trains today were able to go over the line to Centreville without having to transfer passengers, and conditions on that section of the C. N. R. are at normal again.

Yesterday a severe washout at Public Landing tied up traffic on the St. John section of the Valley Railway for several hours, the train which left here in the afternoon for St. John not reaching there until after eleven o'clock last night. Trains are running as usual today over the line.

TEAMSTER WAS BADLY BURNED BY AN EXPLOSION

Chas. Painter, of Devon, Victim of Painful Accident at City Plant.

POURED OIL IN STOVE, EXPLOSION FOLLOWED

Thomas Merryweather, Another City Employee, Saved His Comrade.

Charles Painter, a teamster of Devon, in the employ of the city roads and street department, was badly burned yesterday at noon while he was attempting to start a fire to heat up his lunch in the blacksmith shop at the city yards, off Needham street.

On entering the shop he took a two-gallon tin of oil and commenced sprinkling it over the coal in the stove not knowing that there was any fire on. The coals blazed up, causing the oil in the tin to explode, and the force of the explosion caught Painter in the face, burning his hair and mustache off and burning his clothes. He was badly burned about the face and body, and had it not been for Thomas Merryweather, another city employee, he would probably have been burned to death.

Merryweather heard the explosion, and on rushing into the shop found the place in flames, with Painter's clothing also burning. After considerable trouble he succeeded in extinguishing the flames and rescuing Painter from his dangerous position. Medical assistance was summoned and the injured man removed to his home in Devon. This morning it is reported that he is resting fairly comfortably.

Not Just Good—The Best Roof

The tendency to-day is to use the best roofing material as a covering for all roof surfaces. This is not due to people having more money to spend, but to the realization that the first cost of a good roof is practically its only cost.

NEPONSET PAROID

provides a roof that is serviceable and long-lived. Lay a Paroid Roof today and forget it for the next twenty years or more. Before the roof needs repairs you will have spent far more than its original cost in repairs to other parts of the building. Hundreds of buildings throughout the Dominion of Canada conclusively bear out this statement.

The base of Neponset Paroid is a high-grade rag felt thoroughly impregnated with asphalt, making it positively waterproof, and fire-resisting.

It is further reinforced with a talc surface, grey in color; or with a permanent slate surface, red or green in color.

Roofed with Neponset Paroid you may rest assured that your buildings are perfectly weather-proof and sound.

Easy to lay—With every roll of Neponset Paroid is supplied sufficient nails and cement with full directions.

Most Disastrous Storm in Annals Southern States

Casualties Reach Into the Hundreds in Four States

IMMENSE LOSS TO PROPERTY

Assistance From the Outside World is Urgently Needed.

Birmingham, Ala., April 21.—Assistance from the outside world is urgently needed for the relief of tornado survivors in a dozen counties of Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee, reports today from the storm-swept district said. With a death list of 166 already reported, and a property loss which will run into many millions, the tornado has taken rank as one of the most disastrous as well as most widespread in the annals of the south.

The storm apparently struck in the rich farming belt lying around Bay Spring, Jasper county, Miss., and moved northeast across the remainder of the state, to vent its fury upon the extreme northwestern tier of counties in Alabama before moving into Tennessee.

Levelled Everything in Path.

All reports agree to the extreme velocity of the wind which levelled everything in its path. In and near Meridian, 21 persons lost their lives, while 16 employees at a lumber camp in Neshoba County were killed in the destruction of the camp structures. Mississippi's death roll alone will be more than 100, late advices indicate.

The deaths in Mississippi already reported total 118. Of these Aberdeen and Meridian had 21 each; Rose Hill 6; Bay Springs 7; Glen 10; Igomar 6; Starkville 6; Neshoba County 16; Winston County 5, and others scattered.

Alabama reported 45 dead, of whom twenty were in Marion County, and 15 in Killingworth Cove. The others were scattered. Only three known dead were reported in Tennessee, one in Williamson County and two in Maury County.

Crashed Over Mountain.

Huntsville, Ala., April 21.—The tornado swept into Madison County from the southwest just south of Lilly Flagg and crashed over the mountain into Killingworth Cove, leaving as far as known here, 16 dead and more than a score of injured in its wake. Extensive property damage was reported.

School Dormitory Demolished.

Laurel, Miss., April 21.—15 persons are known to have been killed and property valued at a million dollars destroyed in the tornado which swept through Jasper County, 15 miles north of Laurel yesterday.

The two main buildings and the boys' dormitory of the Jasper County Agricultural School at Bay Springs were demolished, Prof. Bryant, one of the principals, and Miss Moore, music teacher, were killed.

The building and plant of the Bay Spring News were wrecked and a dozen more structures ocupied by leading citizens were swept away.

NEW FRENCH TAX ON PROFITEERS

Government Bill to Collect Profits in Excess of Ten Per Cent During the War.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Paris, April 21.—The French government will sanction a bill in the Chamber instituting a tax, the object of which is to readjust retrospectively transactions in war supplies. The tax is calculated in such a war as to allow a maximum profit of ten per cent. only to the producers, and between two and a half per cent. to the middlemen, according to the importance of the transaction.

A proposed amendment to the taxation bill in the Chamber, which would abolish government securities payable to bearer, was defeated by a vote of 373 to 234.

Washington, April 21.—Mrs. Mary Walsh, of New York, captain of the American women who have been picketing the British Embassy in Washington, yesterday addressed a letter to Sir Auckland Geddes, the newly arrived British Ambassador, indicating that the women intend to continue their demonstrations until certain statements of policy are made by the Ambassador. These concern the British debt to the United States and the Irish question.

Carried Man and Two Children Half a Mile

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Starkville, Miss., April 21.—The tornado demolished the house of William Moy, blowing the man and his two grandchildren half a mile away. All three were killed.

At Cedar Bluff, near here, three persons were killed.

RELIEF WORK FOR DISTRESSED PEOPLE

Governor of Mississippi Says the Storm Was the Worst in History of the State.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Jackson, Miss., April 21. — Acting Governor Castel was in conference with National Guard officials relative to relief work in the storm swept section today. The Governor stated that the state would render every assistance to tornado sufferers.

Advices from Meridian state as additional reports come in the death list and property damage in the tornado which swept eastern Mississippi increase and that the havoc created in the storm area is the worst in the history of the state. Late estimates state that one hundred are dead and several times that number injured between Deemer and Louisville, on the New Orleans, Mobile and Chicago Railroad.

SPANISH TROUBLES ARE MOST ACUTE

Syndicalists Threaten to Burn Socialist Headquarters at Bilboa—Millers Strike.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Madrid, April 21.—Disputes between the extreme elements of the syndicalists and socialists have become so acute at Bilboa that the former threatened today to burn the socialist headquarters. Civil and military authorities were notified by socialist leaders, who demanded protection, and cordons of civil guards and police were formed around the building. They remained there throughout the day, but no attempt to carry out the threat was made.

The police auhorities today took stringent precautions against the possibility of a spread of the strike of the millers and biscuit makers, it having been reported that the bread makers were likely to join in the movement. Civil guards were posted in the vicinity of various establishments for their protection.

Bread already is scarce in several districts of Madrid owing to a shortage of wheat flour, and the poorer people of the capital are suffering as a result

FRENCH TROOPS RELIEVE SITUATION AT AINTAB

The Turks Have Removed Rails from Roads in Citicia and Created Difficulties.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

San Remo, April 21.—British, Italian, French, Japanese and Greek military and naval experts have arrived here to take part in the framing of the military clauses of the Turkish treaty, it was officially announced here last night.

French Relieve Situation.

Constantinople, April 21.—French troops, equipped with heavy artillery, entered Aintab, Asia Minor, on April 14, and have effectively relieved the situation there, according to a statement made public at the French Embassy here. Messages sent from Aintab on April 12, asking for immediate aid for relief workers there were received in this city late last week.

The French position in Citicia is viewed as extremely difficult. Railroad communications between Mersina, where French forces were landed last week, and Adana, further east, were interrupted on April 11, it is stated by travellers arriving here from the southern Asia Minor coast. The railroad traverses level country without important bridges, and the Turks removed rails from the road, thus cutting off the French at Mersina from their chief base of supplies.

Northward, in the interior, the Turks have cut the railway by wrecking cars in an important tunnel between Adana and Ulukishla.

A French troop train was derailed in this region early in April and a detachment of French troops is isolated north of the break in the line. The railway from Adana to Aleppo has also been cut by the Turks.

DECLARE REPORTS ARE EXAGGERATED

Serious Shortage of Feed for Cattle in Alberta but Killing of 7,000 Not Correct.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Calgary, April 21.—The Calgary Board of Trade, in view of the report that seven thousand cattle had been destroyed in Alberta during the winter because of lack of feed, has issued a statement in which it is declared that most reports about losses sustained or gains made in Alberta are exaggerated, or at any rate random estimates, and no doubt the statement about the number of cattle shot is no exception. It must be kept in mind that there has been quite a serious shortage of feed in the province this year, due not only to a backward growing season in 1919, but also to the prolonged snow season, which has exceeded anything experience since settlement was developed here.

THE CARRANZA TROOPS SENT INTO SONORA

The Rebel Forces Guarding the Mountain Passes Against Government Troops.

A DEADLY STRUGGLE SOON IN PROGRESS

Mexican General and Staff Allowed to Pass Through U. S. Territory.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Agua Prieta, Sonora, April 21.—The Carranza forces are in Chihuahua, approaching the mountain passes for an attack upon the state of Sonora, according to information given out at military headquarters here yesterday. Yaqui Indians and other Sonora troops are being sent from here to reinforce the soldiers guarding the passes.

Two aditional trainloads of Sonora soldiers were expected to march here from Naco, the rail head, last night, it was announced by members of the staff of General Pina. The soldiers arrived at Naco from Nogales.

At a meeting at the Longueuil registry office yesterday of the Mayors, aldermen and other representatives of the municipalities concerned in the construction of this road through Chambly County, it was decided that the municipalities concerned would at once pass the necessary by-laws to provide for their part of the work.

The road will cost $25,000 per mile, of which the Federal Government pays 40 per cent. and the municipalities will pay $3,000 per mile and the province of Quebec the balance.

FAILED TO HAVE PASSPORT VISED

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

New York, April 21.—Abraham Ruckenstein, a merchant of Montreal, arrived on the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria Monday afternoon from Liverpool and was taken to Ellis Island yesterday, where he must wait for the Secretary of State at Washington to make valid his unvised passport. His appeal has been sent to Washington.

Mr. Ruckenstein, alleged to be a wealthy Canadian citizen, neglected to have his passport vised by the American consul in Liverpool prior to embarking, a proceedure which is absolutely necessary before imigration officials at Ellis Island permit travellers to the United States to disembark.

French Attitude Toward Germany Not Conciliatory

Oppose Withdrawal of Allied Troops From the Rhineland

ITALY AGREES WITH BRITAIN

Would Oblige Germany to Carry Out Financial Obligations of Treaty.

[Special Havas despatch by Leased Wire]

Paris, April 21.—Withdrawal of Allied troops from parts of the Rhineland, in consideration of immediate execution by Germany of certain financial obligations of the treaty of Versailles, is proposed by Italy and Great Britain at the San Remo conference of the Supreme Allied Council, says a despatch to the Petit Parisien. Premier Millerand has refused to agree to this plan, it is said.

The Anglo-Italian programme would include disarmament of Germany under threat of blockade and the simultaneous inauguration of a policy of reconciliation, says the Matin, and in view of M. Millerand's refusal to join them, Premiers Nitti and Lloyd-George are not likely to persist in carrying out their proposals.

Kapp Looking for Refuge.

Stockholm, April 21.—Wolfgang Kapp, leader of the recent uprising in Germany, has written the Swedish government asking permission to remain in Sweden as a political fugitive. The letter says he desires sending for his wife and daughter and to reside in some small country place and engage in scientific research. Kapp promises to abstain from political activity.

If he is not allowed to remain in Sweden, Kapp requests a passport by way of Holland, Belgium and France to Switzerland. He says he does not wish to take refuge in England or the United States, which countries so recently were warring with his native country.

Meantime the police authorities have asked the government for further instructions with regard to the disposal of Kapp, saying that there is no reason to continue to hold him under arrest, but that if he is to be allowed to remain in Sweden this ought to be done under strict police control, treating him as a political fugitive.

Only Bavaria will maintain a legation separate from the Embassy.

GERMAN BUDGET IS ILLUMINATIVE

Huge Deficit with Government Apparently Unable to Find New Mode Taxation.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Berlin, April 21.—Expenditures of forty million marks, to which may be added the railway and postal deficit of 12,900,000, are provided for in the budget for the fiscal year of 1920, which was laid before the budget committee of the National Assembly by Dr. Wirth, Minister of the Treasury, yesterday. The ordinary budget showed revenues amounting to 25,000,000,000, but expenditures totalled 27,950,000,000, so there is a deficit of 2,950,000,000 marks.

In explaining his figures, Dr. Wirth said 1920 is really a transitional period, and therefore the estimates submitted were only approximate.

The deficit for the state railways will reach a huge total, he said, owing to new demands by the men, which cannot be granted without the assent of the National Assembly and the budget committee.

Renewed demands, he declared, unless accompanied by additional revenues, would mean new issues of paper money. He confessed himself at a loss to provide new sources of revenue by taxation, unless it be by the creation of state monopolies.

Dr. Wirth also foreshadowed the consolidation of Germany's floating debt, which step, he hoped, would be conducive to the granting of credits by foreign nations.

The Minister of Transportation said the present system under which the railroads are being operated could not possibly continue. Herr Hoch, Socialist, said, in his opinion, heavier taxation on large fortunes was imperative. Herr Pachnike, Democrat, asserted the limit of the country's financial capacity had been reached, and lamented there was such a large element of people still unwilling to retrench.

CRITICISM OF THE GOVERNMENT ROAD

Member for Gloucester Contrasts Management Govt. Railways with C. P. R.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 21.—In opposing the proposal for increased rates on the Canadian National Railways, O. Turgeon (Gloucester, N. B.), in the House last night strongly criticized the administration of Canadian National Railways by the board of management.

He contrasted the record of the C. P. R. with that of the Government railways as administered by the board. The former concluded its year with all fixed charges paid and a profit of some millions. The latter, with no fixed charges paid, turned in a deficit of $47,000,000, he said.

The police recovered $218,000 worth of merchandise, which they said was stolen from a freight car in the New York Central yards on the lower West Side last month. Two of the prisoners, Benjamin and Theodore Serlon, are the owners of the road house, according to the police.

Five other men were arrested in Paterson, N. J., in connection with the theft of raw silk in transit. The arrests were made by detectives of the American Express Company. It is claimed that four of the men are officials of silk companies.

First Business Session Of 51st Diocesan Synod

Statistics for 1919 Show Total Church Population of 30,660 in New Brunswick—The Special Synod Service Last Night.

The first business session of the 51st annual Diocesan Synod opened Tuesday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. assembbly room with His Lordship Bishop Richardson in the chair. Most of the time was taken up with the reading and accepting of reports from the various committees appointed at the last Synod.

The session opened at 2.30 o'clock with the roll call by Archdeacon O. S. Newnham, secretary of the Synod, some 100 delegates, clergy and laymen, being present. The first item of business was the appointment of a nominating committee as follows: Archdeacon Forsyth and A. E. Neale, Chatham; Rev. E. Hallstone and W. W. Hubbard, Fredericton; Rev. C. G. Lawrence and H. A. Puddington, Kingston; Rev. G. C. Cotton and W. A. Maxwell, St. Andrews; Rev. J. H. A. Holmes and H. U. Miller, St. John; Rev. L. A. Forster and J. C. L. Ketchum, Woodstock.

Rev. W. B. Williston, of Harmony, who has been a missionary to China for eleven years, was then granted a seat on the floor of the Synod by His Lordship Bishop Richardson.

Order was suspended while Rev. Canon Armstrong introduced a resolution that the nominations for delegates to the General and Provincial Synods, as well as for standing committees and boards, be held open during the noon hour of the second day of the Syondical meetings. After a discussion this resolution was amended, as it was found that over 25 standing committees and boards would have to be appointed which necessitated over 4,000 ballot papers for their nomination. The matter was finally left in the hands of a committee composed of Rev. Canon Armstrong, Rev. C. G. Lawrence, Very Rev. Dean Neales, F. E. Neale and Col. H. Montgomery Campbell to report their finding in the matter to the Synod. The committee reported that they had decided that the nominations should be held on the first day of the Synod and the elections on the second day with printed lists. The report of the committee was adopted.

Reports of Committees.

The report of the Standing Committee of the Diocese was then read by Rev. Canon Smithers and adopted. The report referred to several resolutions which had been passed during the last year by the committee concerning the New Brunswick Lands, the sale of a portion of the Maugerville Glebe, and the disposal of the Perth lands at the upset price of $2,000. Canon Smithers also presented the report of the executive committee which dealt with the work of that committee during the past year. The report showed that the grant to the Widows and Orphans' Fund had been increased by $5,000. The appointment of Miss Adelaide Robinson as Deaconness for a probationary period of three months at a salary of $700 a year and a collection which had been taken up during the Diocese in aid of the stricken Oromocto church also were referred to. The report also showed that a sum of $1,200 a year had been granted to the Bishop of Fredericton for travelling expenses.

The report of the Board of Missions was given by Archdeacon Newnham, of St. Stephen. The report showed that during the past year the stipends for the missionary clergy had been increased by $200, and that a bonus had been granted to the clergy. Special grants totalling $350 had been made by the Board during the year and special loans of $525 had been made by the Board.

The Sunday School Report.

The report of the standing committee on Sunday schools was read by Rev. R. T. McKim and accepted. The report showed that two meetings had been held during the past year and the following recommendations were accepted by the committee: That all expenses incurred by departmental superintendents be paid; that Sunday school conferences in each deanery be urged and that no summer Sunday schools be held in 1920. The report of the superintendent of the Teacher Training Department was given by Rev. J. H. A. Holmes. While discussing this report Rev. R. T. McKim gave a short address on the Canadian standard efficiency tests and asked that the members of Synod obtain literature dealing with this question and introduce the same among the members of their congregations.

Rev. W. J. Wilkinson presented the report of the committee on Theological Study, showing that during the year two reading circles of twelve members each had been formed with some splendid books in circulation.

The report of the committee on Constitutions and Canons was presented by Archdeacon Newnham, of St. Stephen, who reported that a discussion took place among the members concerning the amendment to the Church Act passed at the last session of the Legislature 1919, providing for women to vote at parish meetings. It was felt by the committee that with its present wording the Act would be difficult to put into operation.

The report of the committee on Statistics and the State of the Church was presented by Charles Coster and accepted.

The report of the Social Service Council was received and adopted. It was read by Rev. W. H. Sampson. Members of the Synod thought that insufficient work was being done in various parts of the province and urged that more social work be carried on. The work of Miss Adelaide Robinson, the Deaconness, was considered very thorough. Rev. J. V. Young, of St. John, stated that the Social Service Council did not seem to be doing any work and offered to suggest avenues of work which lay in St. John alone.

The abuse of prohibition and the sale of extracts, Rev. R. T. McKim thought, would be matters for the consideration of the Social Service Council. Bishop Richardson stated that should any member of the Synod consider a weakness existed in the Council, their criticism should be constructive and not destructive.

Very Rev. Dean Neales presented the report of the committee on Bible reading in the public schools, stating that a committee had visited a Baptist conference at Woodstock and had asked them to appoint a committee to confer with other denomiantions with a view to bringing about a system of definite reading and memorizing of the Holy Scripture in the public schools. This would be taken up later, he said.

Increased Stipend for Clergy.

The report of the laymen on increased stipends of the clergy was read by Horace A. Porter, of St. John.

The results for 1919 as compared to 1918 were as follows:

	1919	1918
Aided Mission stipend assessment	$15,706.28	$10,852.51
Diocesan apportionment	15,493.62	11,029.77
M. S. C. C.	6,671.28	5,791.67
	$37,871.18	$27,673.95
An increase of		$10,197.23

On the other hand the amount due from aided missions (unpaid balances) dropped from $2,877.01 in 1918 to $1,907.32 in 1919, a betterment of $969.69.

The net result of the above subscriptions was that the increased stipends were put into effect as of January 1, 1919, and in spite of this increase the balance carried forward at the end of the year was $2,751.81 in excess of the balance at the end of 1918.

The report of the secretary on the affixing the Seal of the Synod and the report of the Diocesan Registrar were read and accepted. The latter showed 2 ordinations by the Bishop, 12 licenses issued, 3 resignations, 4 new members in the diocese, 4 lay readers licensed, and 3 leaves of absence granted during the past year.

The treasurer's report of the Colonial and Continental Church Society showed that a balance on hand remained on December 31st, 1919, of $666.85, the expenditures were $526.65 and the receipts $1,188.50.

Suspension of order was moved while Rev. W. P. Dunham was elected assistant secretary of the Synod.

Rev. W. A. Best presented the report of the Women's Auxiliary to the M.S.C.C. and to the Diocesan Missions, which showed the disbursements as follows:

To Diocesan missions	$ 535.45
To Canadian Missions	844.90
To Foreign missions	821.55
To Endowment fund	3,037.55
	$5,237.55

The committee exceeded the assessment for the Eskimo and Indian endowment fund by $1,381.62, the amount contributed being $3,056.62.

Very Rev. Dean Neales gave the report of the Pickett Memorial Fund, which has reached $12,000. He stated this amount was still far short of what was needed. Grants amounting to $552 were made during the year and six names were added to the roll of honor.

The Special Synod Service.

The special Synod service was held at Christchurch Cathedral last evening at 8 o'clock.

Major (Rev.) E. B. Hooper intoned the entire service. The First Lesson was read by Ven. Archdeacon Forsythe of Chatham, from Isaiah, chapter 35, and the Second Lesson was read by His Lordship Bishop Schofield, of British Columbia, formerly Dean of Fredericton, from Hebrews, chapter 10. Following the Second Lesson the choir rendered an anthem, the soloist being Miss Edna Belyea.

The sermon was delivered by Very Rev. Dean Llwyd, Dean of Nova Scotia. Dealing with the problems of reconstruction, social service and civil improvement, Dean Llwyd offered a plea that the white races would step forward offering the hand of fellowship to the suffering world of today and relieve the agony of afflicted nations.

His Lordship Bishop Richardson pronounced the benediction at the close of the service.

LIBERAL LEADER DEFENDS RECORD

Mackenzie King Gives His Reasons for Not Donning Khaki During the War.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, April 21.—Notwithstanding the French proverb, "Qui sexc use saccuse," and in the face of the general opinion of his followers that the better policy would be to make no reply to "sniping," Hon. Mackenzie-King, leader of the Opposition, made a very lengthy explanation to the House yesterday afternoon of his war record and intimated that any further references such as those delivered in Montreal recently would drive him to the courts for reparation.

Briefly stated, the explanation amounted to this: First, that he had done important work in the United States during the war in the way of helping to allay industrial unrest, and by so doing had contributed to the increase of war supplies. In proof of this he read many testimonials from the heads of some of the largest American employers of labor. Second, he had written a book of 550 pages, embodying the results of the work done in the United States. Third, domestic relations, which he detailed, made it impossible for him to leave his home and go to the front.

It may fairly be said that it was Hon. Mr. King's third reason which most impressed the House and which, had it been given to the country at the time when he first undertook to publicly explain his record in Prince Edward Island during his election campaign last fall, would have had more effect, but all that time his explanation dealt almost entirely with the two first reasons mentioned. His family reasons dealt with the serious illness of his father and brother, so that the support of all fell upon him, and made it impossible for him to go to the front. At the conclusion of his statement the speaker was freely applauded by the members of his own side of the House, in which several members of the Government also joined.

The opinion of the House seemed to be, however, that, while the allegations made by his Montreal critics, the text of which was given in a despatch to The Gleaner last week in which the announcement of today's speech was made, were unfair and unfounded to a large extent, it would have been wiser had he confined himself to a simple denial of the charges there made and left purely personal and family matters, which it must have pained him to mention, severely alone. There are, as a matter of fact, numerous other members of the House who are as vulnerable as the leader of the Opposition, and possibly more so, but who have not felt called upon to explain their records.

Attacks on the leader of the Opposition on his personal military record have always been deprecated by the better thinking members of the Government side who consider that where he laid himself open to criticism was not in that respect but in regard to his opposition to conscription.

The civic elections took place at Edmundston yesterday and Hon. Mr. Dugal and his colleagues from Madawaska in the Legislature, J. E. Events of a Day In Parliament

Ottawa, April 21.—In the House of Commons:

Hon. W. L. MacKenzie-King, leader of the opposition, made a statement on his war record.

The House in committee passed $2,000,000 vote for completion of Parliament buildings.

Further consideration was given in committee to the bill ratifying the agreement between the Government and Grand Trunk Railway Company. Progress was reported.

In the Senate:

Second reading was given to the bill to compel persons selling German made goods to display signs to that effect outside their place of business.

Second reading was given the bill to create uniform laws on divorce throughout the provinces.

NATIONAL DANCE IN ARGENTINA

Buenos Aires, April 20.—The Argentine has retained its affection for its national dance, the tango, despite the introduction of American "jazz" music and syncopated melodies in the programmes of Argentine balls and dances. This was shown during the balls held in a recent carnival, when tango tunes outnumbered the fox trot and one step in a proportion of three to one. Several American waltzes, however, are very popular. The Argentines call the syncopated music "Yanqui" tunes.

Some native musicians have grown rich composing tangoes. One of the most popular here is called "Pan y Agua,' (Bread and Water). The title of another is translated as "Flower of the Mud."

A TROPICAL DRINK.

Panama, April 20.—The Panaman drink called "pipa' which is made of the milk of a young green cocoanut, enlivened with a generous dash of sherry, is finding much favor among people who come here from the states since national prohibition took effect. Owing in part, perhaps, to prohibition, the Isthmus is experiencing the greatest rush of tourists in its history.

IMITATION FOODS.

Vienna, April 20.—People of this city are beginning to find out what they have been eating in various imitation foods. Experts who have investigated the composition of certain foodstuffs, now on sale have reported that egg substitutes are made largely of flour, that "liver sausages," beloved by the Viennese, are based on wheat dissolved and seasoned, and that some cheese is a preparation of potatoes mildewed to get the proper taste. Tinned horsemeat is the latest "delicacy" to appear in the shops.

HOLTVILLE, N. B.

Holtville, N. B., April 16.—The weather for the past few days has been rather damp and the roads are in a very bad condition.

A birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Fowler in honor of their daughter, L. Beatrice, on April 9th. Many useful and beautiful presents were received, which showed the esteem in which the young lady is held. Refreshments were served and the evening spent in various amusements.

A number of our men have already gone to the drive while others are preparing to leave in the near future.

Mrs. Leo A. Carten was calling on Mrs. A. Tennyson Munn recently.

DIVORCE LEGISLATION.

The bill of Mr. Barnard respecting divorce, introduced in the Senate last month, is understood to have been dropped. It followed the lines of the British royal commission report on divorce and of the bill before Parliament of the United Kingdom, and proposed to grant dissolution of the marriage tie for eight different causes, all of which have been recognized as sufficient by the laws of some countries. Perhaps Mr. Barnard's bill went farther than opinion generally in Canada would support, though practically all that it provided for has been accepted by that embodiment of social and religious conservatism, the House of Lords, only to be rejected by the Radical House of Commons.

Mr. W. B. Ross has taken up the issue and has introduced in the Senate two bills, one of which, if adopted, would create a divorce court in each of the provinces, the other contemplating the exclusion of Quebec from the scope of the law. The first is entitled "An Act for the dissolution and annulment of marriage"; the second declares its object to be "to provide in Ontario and Prince Edward Island for the dissolution and the annulment of marriage." The divorce law situation in Canada has had a curious development, remarks an exchange. At the time of Confederation control over marriage and divorce was put under the Parliament of Canada. Except in the case of legalizing the marriage of a man and his deceased wife's sister, the power has not been used. In provinces that had divorce courts or divorce laws at the time of the union divorces continued to be granted. Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and British Columbia come within this category. Then, last year, it was held by the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council that acts of the Parliament of Canada, extending to the province of Manitoba, with stated exceptions, the law of England as it was in 1870, made authority to grant divorces part of the powers of the Manitoba courts. The same laws extended to Alberta and Saskatchewan. This left Quebec and Ontario alone without a divorce law. The number of applications to Parliament from the two provinces for special acts to dissolve marriages has been so numerous, however, that Parliament has shown a strong disposition to rid itself of a responsibility which its committees are not well fitted to discharge. Hence the bills that have attracted attention. That of Mr. Ross, designed to apply to all of Canada, is the one—if any—that should be passed, if it can be made effective over the existing provincial enactments. It recognizes one cause as ground for dissolution of marriage, provides for a delay between the granting of a decree and the giving of effect to it, and would make the law throughout the country uniform. Mr. Ross' other bill, which the Senate has approved, would leave Quebec in a peculiar position, and would not free Parliament of the responsibility of dealing with applications for divorce.

CLASS RULE IS DANGEROUS.

The dangers of class legislation are to be seriously guarded against, says the Financial Post. At the present time there are political movements which are evidently aimed at the betterment of certain defined sections of the community. The Farmers' Party in Federal politics stoutly and consistently denies that it represents a class movement, but it is undoubtedly the self-interest of the agricultural community which has given it impetus and without that impetus it would not have attained its present proportions. The Labor Party is more narrow and more frank in its ambitions. The following pertinent expression—which particularly refers to the labor movement in the United States—by David F. Houston, recently appointed Secretary of the United States Treasury, may well be considered:

Democracy arose on the downfall of a class. Our forefathers did not want class rule. They deposed such autocrats as the Stuarts, the Bourbons, and their adherents who sought to tyrannize over the masses. There is no one class in society that has sense enough to rule all the others. Any one class would make a sad failure of governing this nation or any other. History teaches that lesson very plainly. I am in favor of improving our Government whenever the need for the improvement is demonstrated, but not of upsetting it. There will and must be changes, but these changes must be discussed and made according to the processes of law and of life and institutions, and not according to the whim of some class.

The Farmers' Party and the Labor Party as they have taken their place in Canadian politics have thus far shown a reassuring tendency to check the radicals in regard to tariff abolition on the one hand and in relation to social changes on the other. However, there is a very grave danger that the class appeal may bring a following which will prove very difficult to control. No party should appeal to the support of the electorate without a policy which promises to at least harm no section of the community even though it may not bring benefits to all.

HONOR THE DEAD.

For generations to come France will be the Mecca of desire, for in the sacred soil of France repose the golden youth who were glad to die for human liberty. It is right, too, that facilities should be afforded the relatives of the dead, who, whatever their race or origin, are to sleep the last sleep where they fell, to view the spot of sepulcure; but already the commercial spirit has been invoked; and the solemn privilege threatens to become a money-making business—open and shameless.

There must be accommodation, declares an exchange. Grief, however deep it be, cannot ignore physical needs; but with the opening of the shipping season many thousands will want to visit France; and for the sake of the nobler instincts of humanity it is to be hoped that the most sacred feelings of our common nature shall not be prostituted for gain. There are indications that this may be the case, unless the French Government promptly intervenes. The commercial interests are on the spot; there is an eye for business; the traffic in souvenirs has commenced; and a sacred sentiment is exploited for the dollar bill.

It will be impossible to wholly eliminate the commercial feature of pilgrimages, the largest the world has ever seen; but the French people are susceptible to delicate sentiment; they feel poignantly where others feel indifferently; they have tact and courtesy and an unfailing habitude for the delicacy of human relations. Therefore, they should be expected to eliminate the commercial element as far as possible in connection with the projected pilgrimages gotten up by commercial organizations.

The object lesson which the hundreds of thousands of graves will suggest should be graven on the general heart—the ultimate futility of every form of violence in the conduct of human relations. Over a million Frenchmen lie sleeping in the soil of France, not to speak of hundreds of thousands of their Allies. The spectacle which the serried graves will offer ought to prove the most eloquent argument for world-peace; but, in any case, it will be well if human dignity be not affronted amid the solemn scenes of the public cemeteries, by bizarre accessories intruding upon the sacredness of general grief.

DEATH LIST OF 140 IN WILD TORNADO

A Score of Towns and Villages in Southern States Devastated by Cyclone.

Birmingham, Ala., April 21.—A death list of over 140 and property loss of many millions of dollars was the toll exacted by a tornado which yesterday swept a score of towns, villages and isolated farms in eastern Mississippi, northwestern Alabama and south Tennessee.

THE NEWCASTLE CIVIC ELECTIONS

Newcastle, N. B., April 20.—The civic election here today passed off rather quietly, only about 250 electors going to the polls. The result was: Wm. L. Durick, 221; H. D. Atkinson, 219; A. H. MacKay, 208; Edward Dalton, 199; R. W. Crocker, 175; J. J. Witzell, 168; Perley Russell, 165; Thos. Jeffrey, 156; J. G. Kethro, 152; W. J. White, 83. The first eight were elected.

The plebiscite on the question of a two-year term for aldermen was carried by a vote of 161 to 100; thus the first four elected will serve a two-year term.

Mayor D. P. Doyle was returned by acclamation. Ald. Durick, who led the poll, is a former St. John boy.

ANOTHER SEIZURE AT ST. LEONARDS

Six large cases of whiskey, each containing more than six gallons of the liquid have been rescued by Allan McLaughlin, liquor inspector, from the companionship of eight tons of baled hay and are now safely stored in the chief inspector's strong room at Fredericton. The seizure was made at St. Leonards on Monday night while the hay and the whiskey were en route from Grand Falls to Limestone, Me.

THE GRAND ORANGE LODGE IN SESSION

Reports of Officers Presented and Welcome by the Mayor of Woodstock.

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Woodstock, N. B., April 21.—This morning Mayor Noden and Town Manager Armstrong welcomed the delegates to the Grand Orange Lodge of New Brunswick, in session here. H. C. Hocken, Supreme Grand Master of British America, replied.

The first session of the 77th annual convention opened at the Odd Fellows Hall at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There were over 100 delegates present.

The reports of the following grand officers were read and referred to committees who will report on same this afternoon; Grand Master L. A. Palmer, Bathurst; Grand Secretary Neil J. Morrison, St. John; Grand Treasurer Robert Wells, St. John.

The different county masters then reported.

In the evening the auditors reported on the treasurer's report.

The memorial fund committee then reported.

LABOR OBJECTS TO THE FRANCHISE ACT

Union Officials Say that It Would Prevent Contributions to Campaign Fund.

(By Canadian Associated Press.)

Ottawa, April 20.—A letter protesting against section ten of the new Franchise Bill, and bearing the signature of Tom Moore, President of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, as well as of the representatives of the four great railway brotherhoods has been sent to Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Solicitor General. This letter states that the section named appears to debar labor organizations from contributing direction to election expenses or raising money by individual subscriptions to defray such expenses. It submits that the section is too drastic and will interfere with legitimate interest and activity of citizens who desire to give practical support to the political and economic welfare of the country through the machinery of their unions. The letter also recommends that the bill be so amended as to provide that deposits shall be returned to candidates within ten days after the successful candidate has been declared elected.

It stated that the confiscation of a candidate's deposit is out of date, undemocratic and ought therefore to be discontinued, or, if the deposit is continued it should be merely in the nature of a bond or surety of good faith to be returned to the candidate when its purpose has been served.

Frankness makes people disagreeable, but not all disagreeable people are frank.

The Stock Market

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York (Wall Street), April 21.—Stocks were irregular at the opening of today's trading, reflecting the uncertain conditions of the previous session but advances exceeded declines. Steels, motors, oils and equipments rose ½ to three points within the first few minutes. There was a marked demand for Crucible, Lackawanna and Vanadium Steels, Stuebaker, Royal Dutch, Shell Transport, Mexican Petroleum and Baldwin Locomotive and American Locomotive. Food and textile issues were relatively backward. Short covering imparted further steadiness to the list later. In the bond market, however, still lower records were made by Liberty issues.
