More-than-Average Mileage

Long service and accidents often cause hidden injuries, that develop into premature blowouts if neglected.

Many such injuries are inevitable, but not necessarily permanent. A Goodyear Reliner, applied before the break or injury spreads, will strengthen the tire for 25 per cent. to 50 per cent. extra mileage.

Try this plan and see how effectively it lowers tire bills

Goodyear Reliners can be easily and quickly applied by anyone. Any Goodyear Service Station dealer can supply you. Or, if you prefer, go to your repairman, who will apply the Reliner for a small service charge.

Save Your Potato Crop

BY USING WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID WITH BORDEAUX MIXTURE

WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID has come to be recognized as the most effective insecticide for potatoes. It kills the bugs at all times and under all kinds of conditions and being very adhesive it does not wash off, as many of the other insecticides such as Paris Green, it clings to the foliage and will kill the bugs not only the day it is applied but for many days after.

In Aroostook County, which is one of the largest, if not the largest potato producing section in North America, WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID is used exclusively by the best and largest potato raisers in that famous section. During years past many imitations of this famous poison have been placed on the market, but so far all have failed to come anywhere near the standard of WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID.

BORDEAUX MIXTURE

Copper Sulphate (Blue Vitriol) .....5 Lbs.
Fresh Stone Lime .....5 Lbs.
Water .....50 Gals.
WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID .....1 Lb.

Dissolve the Blue Vitriol by pouring on hot water so that it is just covered. Use an earthern or wooden vessel. Add the lime and enough water to make 50 gallons. It is then ready for immediate use. Watson's Soluble Arsenoid must not be used alone.

BELIEVE PETTIBONE IN LOVE WITH NURSE

Miss Mellow, However, Has Been Fully Cleared of Connection

Bennington, Vt., June 19.—It is impossible to find anyone in Bennington tonight who believes that Byron M. Pettibone, who is in the County Jail charged with the murder of his wife by poisoning, committed the confessed deed, because he was worried over the payments on a house which he and his wife had purchased a few weeks previous.

In spite of the fact that the examination, which consumed the major portion of the night, completely exonerated Miss Helen Mellow from any complicity in the case, there is a persistent belief that the accused man's infatuation for the nurse was the real motive.

Mrs. Pettibone died on the night of April 6, shortly after she had taken a dose of salts prepared by her husband. The husband, when taken before State's Attorney Collins M. Graves last night, at first persistently denied the charge, but under the steady questioning of the prosecuting attorney and detectives from a Boston agency finally made a complete confession.

He said that he prepared the three doses of the saline, one for himself, one for a man roomer at the house and the third for his wife. In 30 minutes after she became ill she was dead.

Since his wife's death Pettibone has been much in the company of Miss Mellow. Two weeks ago he went to Troy, N. Y., and underwent an operation at a hospital in that city for the removal of tonsils. He engaged Miss Mellow as special nurse on the case, and after he was able to leave the hospital he went to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Mellow, in the adjoining town of Shaftsbury, and it was from the Mellow house that he came to Bennington for the examination, making the journey in Miss Mellow's automobile.

The State's attorney had had a suspicion that Miss Mellow might have procured the poison that caused Mrs. Pettibone's death. This suspicion, the officials admit, was wrong.

In his confession, Pettibone said that he procured the strychnine at the D. A. Ward drug store on Main street, a few doors away from the Walbridge undertaking establishment, at which the accused man was employed. He was well acquainted with the proprietor and frequently visited the store, so that it was easy for him to secure the bottle without Mr. Ward's knowledge.

Pettibone is a native of Pownal, Vt. and has been a resident of Bennington for twelve years. Mrs. Pettibone was 49 years old, while the husband was in his 33rd year. Since coming to Bennington, Pettibone had been continuously employed as an undertaker's assistant, first by H. P. Woodman and later by J. D. Walbridge.

Mrs. Pettibone's relatives have persistently refused to believe the rumors that have been in circulation in the village. They strenuously opposed the autopsy, which was performed by Dr. B. N. Stone and Dr. C. F. Whitney of Burlington, four days after Mrs. Pettibone's death.

A Brockton, Mass., real estate man who advertised three cottages for rent and four houses for sale, received 139 inquiries in 24 hours.

Queen Mary of Rumania is A Monarch to be Proud of Famous Beauty Who Has Won the Love and Esteem of the Rumanian People, Who Willingly Follow Her Lead in All Things—Queen Mary Interviewed

Bucharest, June 19.—"How to be a successful Queen?," said Queen Mary of Rumania, repeating the question of the correspondent.

"Why it is something of a trade to be a queen, and the chief implements of the trade are courage and courtesy. Smile when your head is aching, smile when you are ready to drop from fatigue and worry, smile when all is going wrong, smile at good news and at bad news. Always keep yourself interested in others. No matter how great may be the strain on your patience when talking or listening to a bore, make him or her think that you think the conversation is vital. Never think of your personal troubles but those of your country. I don't even own up when I know that I don't know a thing; but I always go out and find out all about this unknown subject."

Ask anybody, peasant or politician, who rules Rumania, and they will look at you with eyes wide open in surprise and say: "Why the Queen of course."

Queen Mary is the scene-shifter, the silken hand, the power behind the throne of King Ferdinand every minute. Since she came out from England, nearly 25 years ago, she has been learning this trade of being Queen, and now she has been at it for more than five years, in place of Carmen Sylvia, and she has made it her business to know her country and her people.

She aspires to be queen in every sense, and she is quite as willing to take the duties of the job as well as its pleasures. As for its pleasures she gets all the fun she can out of it, dresses as well as she can, to enhance her beauty, which is famous. "If a queen goes abroad, shabby and red-nosed, it makes a great deal of difference, I think," she said. "It is not expected of us and so why should I do it? I felt rather mortified when in Paris just after the armistice and I had to attend receptions frequented by all the beauties of the world, and was not able to wear some of my splendid jewels which had been sent to Moscow. Just to think that I had four or five crowns, some of them inherited from my Russian mother, and not a one to wear in Paris."

That the Queen is quite as willing to shoulder the duties of queendom is testified to by thousands of men and women who met her during the German occupation of Rumania. As a Red Cross nurse she was visiting the hospital of the incurables at Jassy. When she and the surgeon reached the door of the hopeless: "there's no need of going in there, it is too dangerous," said the surgeon. "They are dying—it is my duty," answered the Queen. Just after she entered the Queen heard a dying soldier calling for his wife. Without a word, the Queen walked over to the bed of the typhus victim, saying "Here I am," and knelt and embraced the man, who died in her arms, happy.

The Queen is a practical queen. In the same city of Jassy, this fact was discovered and when the mayor wanted to get the snow cleaned off the streets, he timidly applied to the Queen for help. "Why bless you, of course I will help," said the Queen, and she led the gang of snow-shovellers. After this whenever medicines and instruments were needed in the hospitals, or extra nurses, the Queen was called upon.

Once there was a bread famine. The Queen got her own private motor cars touring the country for flour and then she organized the bakeries of the city. She did the same when there was a wood and coal famine. "As a child I was taught to live for others," said the Queen in one part of the conversation with The Associated Press correspondent. "So whatever I do I do naturally, without effort. As a little girl I was told that this was part of the trade."

IN DAYS OF TERROR

Instead of the sweet smile awaiting Maurice, which was to receive him when he would be seen from afar, Genevieve had determined on meeting Maurice with the most distant politeness—a feeble rampart with which to oppose the torrent that threatened to invade her heart. She had retired to her chamber on the first floor, and did not intend coming down till sent for. Alas! she also deceived herself. Dixmer alone was not deceived; he watched for Maurice through a wired lattice, and smiled back ironically. Morand was gravely occupied in dyeing black some tails which are placed on white cat-skin to imitate ermine.

Maurice pushed open the little door of the alley, to enter unceremoniously through the garden, as of old; the door opening produced a peculiar sound, which indicated the arrival of Maurice.

Genevieve, who had stationed herself behind the closed window, started, and let fall the curtain she had drawn on one side.

The first sensation experienced by Maurice on entering his friend's house was disappointment. Not only was Genevieve absent from the window on the ground floor, but on entering the little "salon" where he had uttered his last adieu, he found no one, and was compelled to announce himself, as if an absence of three weeks' duration had transformed him into a stranger. His heart was oppressed.

It was Dixmer whom Maurice first saw. He came forward, and embraced him with exclamations of joy.

Genevieve then came down. She tried in vain to restore some color to her pallid cheek; but before she had proceeded twenty steps the blood receded to her heart. Maurice saw Genevieve appear in the shadow of the door; he advanced towards her smiling, intending to kiss her hand, and then only perceived how sadly she was changed. She on her part noticed with anxiety the attenuated frame of Maurice, and his fevered look of wild excitement.

"You are here, then, monsieur," said she, in a voice of which she could not subdue the emotion.

She had determined to address him with perfect indifference.

"Bonjour, Citizen Maurice, why have your visits been so rare of late?"

This fickleness appeared more strange still to Maurice; and now what a shadow was cast upon all.

Dixmer cut short this examination, and put an end to all reciprocal reproaches by ordering dinner to be served; it was nearly two o'clock. They passed into the salle a manger, where Maurice saw a cover was placed for him. Then the Citizen Morand arrived, dressed in the same chestnut-colored coat and waistcoat—he always wore his green spectacles—and white frilled shirt.

Maurice was so affectionately disposed to all present that while assembled before him he dismissed the suspicions and fears which intruded themselves upon his mind when absent from them. In short, what probability, was there that Genevieve loved this little chemist? He was in love, and in consequence a fool to allow such folly to enter into his head.

Besides, the moment was badly chosen for jealousy. Maurice carried within his waistcoat pocket Genevieve's last letter, and his heart, bounding with joy, beat beneath it. Genevieve had recovered her serenity.

There is this peculiarity in the organization of women, that the present is able to efface all hues of the past, and distances all fears for the future. Genevieve felt happy, having resumed her self-command; that is to say, she became calm and dignified, though still kind—another shade which Maurice had not the requisite skill to comprehend. Louis would have found the explanation in "Parny," in "Berlin," or the 'Gentil Bernard." The conversation turned upon the Goddess Reason. The fall of the Girondins, and the new mode of worship, were the prevailing topics of the day. Dixmer pretended he should not have been sorry to see this unparalleled honor offered to Genevieve. Maurice felt inclined to laugh, but Genevieve concurred in the opinion of her husband, whilst he regarded them both with astonishment, wondering that patriotism could so far mislead a sensible man like Dixmer, and a woman of so poetical and refined a nature as Genevieve. Morand developed the theory of female politicians. He cited "Theognie de Mirecourt," the heroine of the 10th of August, and Madame Roland, the "Soul" of the Girondins. Then, en passant he launched out against the "Tricoteuses." These words made Maurice smile. It was, however, a cruel joke against these female patriots, that they were latterly termed "the female leeches of the guillotine."

"Ah! Citizen Maurice," said Dixmer, "we respect patriotism, even when it is mistaken."

"As for me," said Maurice, "as far as I know of patriotism, I always find the women sufficiently good patriots, if not too high aristocrats."

"You are quite right," said Morand; "and as for myself, I frankly confess I consider a woman very contemptible when she affects the demeanor of a man, and a man a coward, unworthy of the name when he insults a woman even were she his bitterest enemy."

Morand was gradually drawing Maurice on to delicate ground. Maurice, on his side, replied by an affirmative sign. The lists being opened, Dixmer, like the sounding herald, added—

"One moment, one moment, Citizen Morand; you except, I hope, those women who are known enemies of the nation?"

A silence of some moments succeeded this "parry and thrust" to the response of Morand and the sign of Maurice. Maurice first interrupted the silence.

"Let us except no one," said he, sadly; "those females who have been enemies to the nation are now, it appears to me, sufficiently punished."

"You allude to the prisoners of the Temple; to the Austrian, the sister and daughter of apet?" cried Dixmer, with a rapidity which deprived his words of all expression.

Morand changed color while awaiting the reply of the young Republican. It has been said that, could we have seen it, during this suspense, the marks of his nails were visible indented in his breast.

"Just so," said Maurice; "it is of them I am speaking."

"Who?" said Morand. "Is what they say of them true?"

"What do they say?" demanded the young man.

"That the prisoners are cruelly maltreated, sometimes even by those whose duty it is to protect them."

"They are individuals," said Maurice, "who do not deserve the name of men. There are some cowards who, totally deficient in real courage, retain a desire to torture the vanquished, in order to persuade themselves that they are the conquerors."

"You are not one of those men, Maurice, I am quite certain," said Genevieve.

"Madame," replied Maurice, "I who now speak to you, I have mounted guard near the scaffold on which perished the late King. My drawn sabre in my hand, I was prepared to slay any one who attempted to rescue him. Notwithstanding, on his approach I removed my hat, and turning towards my men said—'Citizens, I here warn you that the man who first insults the King receives my sabre through his body.' And I defy any one to assert that a single shout was heard to proceed from my company. From my hand first enunciated those ten thousand placards affixed to the walls of Paris after the King's return from Vincennes: 'Whoever acknowledges the King shall be flogged. Whoever insults the King shall be hung.'

SAVED FLORIDA POTATO CROP

Pittsburg, Pa., June 19.—With the appearance of new potatoes in the market, jobbers and consumers are realizing what would have happened to the supply and to the price quotations if prompt action had not been taken to relieve Florida growers whose early plantings were rotted by rain.

The United States depends, to a large extent, upon Florida for its supply of early potatoes. When the southern crop is short, there are fewer potatoes to go around and the scarcity elevates prices.

During the last six days of January growers in the Hastings district, Florida, faced disaster. A large part of a 20,000 acre planting was already in the ground. On January 26, heavy rains set in and continued until the last of the month.

Rot resulted. It appeared to individual growers that all their investment in seed potatoes, in fertilizer and in labor had been wiped out in six days.

About 3,000 acres of this tract were held in joint contract by American Fruit Growers, Inc. Realizing the shortage and price disturbance that would result if the Hastings crop were not available to the summer market this organization negotiated for the shipment of 50 cars of seed from the state of Maine, from Boston, New York and Cincinnati. On the basis of 1,000 bushels to the car, this action represented an investment of about $200,000. The seed arrived in time to permit replanting the damage acreage, not only that controlled by the company but the lands of all growers whose crops had suffered rot.

Why the New Parliament Building Should make everybody think

HIDDEN away from all contact with the elements, the steel skeleton of the new Parliament Building, Ottawa, is embedded in brick, mortar and concrete. Do the structural engineers take a chance? They do not.

Every inch of surface of the building's steel frame is painted for protection against rust and corrosion. Neither moisture from within the walls or from without can attack it. It is safe because the surface is safe.

You own property. Every consideration of preserving it comes back to the same point—the surface. Always there is the surface—whatever the property is. If protected, the surface is an impassable barrier to rust, rot, friction or disintergration. If unprotected, it is an open door.

Whether it is a yacht or a single oar—an automobile or a wheelbarrow—a factory or a silo—an iron grill or a window screen—if it has a surface it needs protection. Save the surface and you save all.

FOUR GERMAN GUNS HAVE BEEN ALLOTTED TO FREDERICTON

Are Being Distributed as the Property of the People of Canada

WHERE WILL THE WAR TROPHIES BE PLACED?

Deputy Mayor Wilkinson Is Notified of Shipment on the 16th From Ottawa

Four German field guns captured by the British and Canadian forces during the war and turned over to the Canadian Government as war trophies have been allotted to Fredericton.

Ald. T. S. Wilkinson, who is acting as chief magistrate during the absence of Mayor John A. Reid on a trip to the Pacific Coast with the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, has received official notification that the guns were shipped from Ottawa to Fredericton on Wednesday last, and they are expected to arrive here at an early date.

The communication from Lieut. Col. Arthur Dougherty, director of war trophies at Ottawa, says:

"In accordance with the distribution of the war trophies approved by the Government the city of Fredericton has been allotted the following trophies:

"German 150 mm. field gun No. 416.
"German 77 mm. field gun No. 145.
"German 77 mm. field gun No. 605.
"German 105 mm. field gun No. 6567

"These trophies, which have been distributed as the property of the people of Canada, have been sent you with the understanding that the proper care will be taken of them, and in taking over these guns it is understod that you will agree to this condition."

No decision has yet been reached as to where the captured guns will be placed. The Officers' Square, Parliament Square and Smythe street green have all been mentioned.

LIQUOR SHIPMENTS MORE PLENTIFUL

Explanation for Unusual Receipts Is Granting of Delayed Licenses

Liquor shipments, "for private use," which had been considerably curtailed since May 1st because certain of the Montreal wholesale vendors' licenses were not renewed promptly by the Quebec government have been resumed with greater volume than ever.

In fact there has been a larger receipt of liquor recently from Montreal than usual. This is explained by the fact that a number of orders which had been placed with firms whose licenses were held up had been duplicated with other wholesalers because of the delay and now, having been granted their licenses again, the firms whose business had been temporarily held up are shipping out all the orders they have had on hand for the past six or seven weeks.

Some citizens have thus a much larger supply of wet goods in their cellars just now than usual, as a result of the unexpected frequency of the express drivers' visits. It was said today that conditions would soon be back to normal again.

FIGHTING RESUMED AT LONDONDERRY

TO REFER HUN REPARATIONS TO EXPERTS

Conflicting Views Among the Allies Regarding Division of Sums Germany is to Pay

CONFERENCE ADJOURNS TO MEET ON JULY 2

The Allied Powers to Appoint Ambassadors to Represent Them at Berlin

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Boulogne, June 22.—The supreme council of the Allies, after holding a three-hour session today, adjourned to meet in Brussels on July 2, leaving most of the questions on its programme undecided.

The problem of the German reparations was referred to experts, who will meet in Paris and endeavor to conciliate the conflicting viewpoints among the Allies regarding the division of the sums Germany is to pay.

Representatives of the Allied nations conferring here on problems relative to the enforcement of the German treaty, Russian questions and the steps to be taken in combatting Turkish Nationalist forces in Asia Minor, met at 10 o'clock this morning and it was expected the conference would close today.

The packet, Maid of Orleans, on which Premier Lloyd-George of Great Britain arrived here yesterday morning from Folkestone, was ordered to be in readiness to sail at 3 o'clock.

The note to Germany concerning the reduction of German military strength to 100,000 men has been sent to the Berlin government, but the communication regarding disarmament has not as yet been despatched.

To Hold Financial Conference.

Paris, June 22.—Recommendation that an international financial conference be held in Brussels to stabilize German money and issue international loans based on German revenues, has been decided upon at the inter-Allied meeting at Boulogne, according to a special correspondent of Havas.

Another point decided by the Boulogne conferees, the correspondent says, is that the Allied powers shall appoint ambassadors to represent them at Berlin. These ambassadors will be at their posts by July 1st, before the Spa conference, the date for which remains fixed for July 5th.

Discussions at the meeting, it is said, have resulted in a decision that if Germany manifests bad faith concerning the execution of the Versailles treaty, the Allies may employ other means of coercion than those already considered, occupation of parts of Germany being possible.

Says West is Impatient For Union of Churches

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

TORONTO, June 22—Rev. Dr. W. B. Creighton, Editor of The Christian Guardian, who returned yesterday from a tour of the west, in an interview said that among the Methodist churches in the west there was a feeling of impatience and resentment at the Presbyterian General Assembly not having taken action at its recent annual meeting toward the consummation of union this year.

"If there is any delay on the part of the Presbyterian church officially at the next assembly," Dr. Creighton is quoted as saying, "the western churches intend to go ahead with a union of their own, and there will be one church west of the Great Lakes."

ALBANIAN TROOPS FORCED TO RETIRE

Rome, June 22.—Serious fighting between Albanian insurgents and Italian Arditi and Alpini occurred near Drasciovitza, when the Italian troops attempted to make a reconnaisance in force with motor cars, according to an Avlona despatch to the Giornale D'Italian. Unable to stand against the fire of the Italians, the Albanians retired to their own lines.

It is believed that upwards of 4,000 insurgents are encamped around, while fresh contingents are arriving from the north. Italian aviators, who have flown over the Albanian lines, report the Albanians are drilling and appear to be officered by professionals.

Similar action was taken at Gravesend and Tillbury.

THE GROSS PROFITS ON SALES TOO HIGH

The Board to Bring the Matter Before the Attention of Attorney General of Ontario

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Eckhart and Company, of Toronto, are guilty of an offence under section 17 of the Combines and Fair Prices Act, by keeping in stock an unreasonable amount of granulated and yellow sugar beyond which is reasonable for the purpose, and is also selling the sugar at gross profits of aproximately 13.8 per cent. in the case of granulated sugar and 23.6 per cent. on sales of yellow sugar.

The Board has already recorded its opinion that an average of five per cent. over refiners' prices is all the profit that should be taken on sugar sales.

MALEPART CASE BEFORE THE COURT

Counsel for Prison Warden Argues That He Had Not Been Guilty of Contempt

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 22.—Argument on the motion for a rule nisi made by C. C. Cabana, K.C., of Sherbrooke, against Warden Malepart, of the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, and the condemnation of Mr. Malepart by Mr. Justice Duclos to one year in jail for contempt of court in neglecting or refusing to bring before His Lordship last Monday the persons of Joseph and Emile Labrie, was started yesterday before acting Chief Justice Archibald.

N. K. Laflamme, K.C., on behalf of Warden Malepart and upon instructions from the Minister of Justice, argued that Malepart had not been wilfully guilty of contempt of court in refusing to bring before Mr. Justice Duclos the Labrie brothers, as he had not been so ordered by the Minister of Justice, from whom he directly depended. Mr. Laflamme then related the incidents which took place a week ago.

Mr. Cabana's plea was to the effect that since the first writ of habeas corpus, maintaining the Labries petition had never been reversed, the judgment stood and neither the Attorney General of the province nor the Minister of Justice had any right to intervene with the regular process of justice.

INGLEWOOD, 10 MILES SOUTH OF LOS ANGELES HARD HIT BY QUAKE

The Business Portion of the Town Practically Destroyed, While the Light and Gas Services Were Put Out of Action by the Force of the Shock

SEVERAL PERSONS SLIGHTLY INJURED BY FALLING DEBRIS, BUT NO SERIOUS INJURIES WERE REPORTED

Many Plate Glass Windows Were Shattered and Buildings Damaged at Los Angeles, While Many Other Towns in the Vicinity Report Minor Damages

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Calif., June 22—A survey today of the damage done by an earthquake last night indicated that Inglewood, ten miles southwest of here, suffered much more severely than was at first reported.

Twenty-one business buildings in the town were practically destroyed, the town was deprived of light and gas and scores of dwellings were seriously damaged.

Plate Glass Windows Smashed and Buildings Damaged by Force of Shock at Los Angeles

Many plate glass windows in Los Angeles were shattered by the shock, several buildings were otherwise injured and persons were struck by bricks shaken from chimneys. San Pedro, Long Beach, Santa Monica, and Venice also reported minor damage.

The death of Mrs. Wm. Shippy, of Los Angeles, at Venice, a beach resort, was attributed to the earthquake. She jumped from an automobile following the tremor and fell dead from heart disease.

Several Persons More or Less Injured in Town Of Inglewood and Considerable Damage Done

The earthquake area was confined to Los Angeles County, Inglewood bearing the brunt of its severity.

The front walls of the Inglewood Hotel, a theatre, an undertaking establishment, a real estate office, three grocery stores, two meat markets, two garages, a pool room, a drug store, furniture store and other downtown buildings collapsed. The steeple of the Episcopal church toppled into the street, and the buildings occupied by the Citizen' Savings Bank and the First National Bank of Inglewood virtually was destroyed.

Several persons in Inglewood were slightly injured by falling plaster and bricks and broken glass, but no serious injuries were reported.

The Edison Building and the Laughlin Building, formerly separated by a space of a few inches, were found to have become closely joined after the shock. Cracks over the main entrance to the O. T. Johnson Building, on Broadway, showed the effects of the tremor.

SOME KILLED; SCORES HURT YESTERDAY

No Deliveries Today of Bread or Milk in Irish City, Says a Despatch

HEAD OF CONSTABULARY WOUNDED IN MOTOR

No Solution of the Railway Question in Ireland Yet in Sight

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Londonderry, Ireland, June 22.—Firing was reumed in several parts of this city early today after a comparatively quiet night. Several persons were killed in the rioting here yesterday and scores were more or less seriously injured.

Military forces patrolled the streets during the night, and today was guarding the danger points in the centre of the city. Additional troops are being sent here from Belfast.

There were no deliveries of milk or bread in Londonerry this morning.

CONSTABULARY DIRECTOR WAS SEVERELY WOUNDED

Dublin, June 22.—An automobile carrying the Assistant Director General of the Royal Irish Constabulary and four constables were attacked with revolver fire and bombs when en route from the Amiens street section to Dublin Castle today.

Assistant Director General Roberts was severely wounded in the head by a revolver bullet, but is expected to live, and the driver of the car was shot in both legs. No arrests have been made.

The motor was met with a fusilade of bullets when passing under a railway bridge, but the badly wounded constable driver continued at the wheel an uninjured companion returned the fire. After shooting had gone on for some time the assailants threw two bombs.

Nothing is known as to the casualties among those who made the attack.

To Fight Out Railway Issue.

Dublin, June 22.—Premier Lloyd George's demand that Irish railwaymen handle munition trains gives rise to an issue which must be fought out, according to statements made by leaders of railroad workers here. Many declare the Premier's attitude is a "bluff" and that he is "too afraid of English labor to give it effect."

The general body of the Sinn Feiners welcome the situation and are solidly behind the railwaymen. The railroad workers' refusals to run munition trains have been progressive and now extend to the point of declining to carry either soldiers or police and even rifles. There have been cases where soldiers, to secure places in trains, have attempted to prove they did not have ammunition, and others where they have left their rifles behind.

A strike would hurt Irish trade, but as yet no voice has been raised against it, except from the Unionist faction. Military authorities would suffer no inconvenience, because they have ample motor transport facilities. It is pointed out that food difficulties attending the strike would rather affect England, which gets enormous supplies of Irish produce, while Ireland is self-supporting. Stoppage of coal traffic, however, would hamper Irish industries.

Halifax, N. S., June 22—Officials of the Provincial Department of Agriculture state that crop prospects in Nova Scotia at this time are most encouraging. An unusually large crop of roots, grains and potatoes has been seeded, and present indications are that a record harvest as regards these commodities will follow. It is estimated that the apple crop will total one-half of last year's record harvest of 1,500,000 barrels.

A census of the 1920 maple sugar crop up in Vermont makes it appear that 5,824,000 trees were tapped, and the total production of maple products in terms of sugar was 18,104,000 pounds. The production per tree averaged 2.25 pounds, as compared with 1.79 pounds in 1919. The average price reported for syrup was $2.79 a gallon, as compared with $2.23 for 1919. The prices of sugar per pound average 35 cents, as compared with 27 cents in 1919. Prices received for sugar varied from 22 cents to 72 cents a pound and for syrup from $1.74 to $4 a gallon. Altogether, the producers got about $4,000,000 for the crop.

NEW BRUNSWICK BRIDE IN BOSTON

Daughter of Late Rev. J. G. A. Belyea Weds Smith College Professor

(Boston Sunday Globe.)

At the Winter Hill Congregational church last evening Miss Dorothy Drew Belyea and Theodore Harold Post were married in the presence of a large company of their friends by Rev. Dr. Charles L. Noyes, the pastor.

When the bridal party reached the rear of the church, where they held an impromptu reception, they were showered with flower petals by children in the gallery.

The bride is the daughter of the late Rev. J. G. A. Belyea of New Brunswick. Mr. Post is the son of Mrs. Mila F. Post, of Topeka. The bride was attended by Miss Mera Louise Flint as maid of honor, and Miss Hazel Craft and Miss Olive McKiel as bridesmaids, all of Somerville. The best man was Wilfrid G. Bartenfeld of Buffalo.

The organist, James H. Spencer of Malone, N. Y., played the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding music followed by a "Bridal March" composed for the occasion and dedicated to the bride and groom by Elliott Griffis of New Haven, who was head usher. Assisting ushers were Frank F. Siple, Lawrence R. Mathers and Schyler W. Horton, all of Boston.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur B. Flint, 38 Tennyson street, Somerville. This was attended only by relatives and intimate friends, because of the recent death of the bride's father.

The bride is the soprano soloist at the First Church, Congregation, of Newton Centre, and is prominent in Boston Musical circles. The groom is a member of the faculty of Smith College. He attended Washburn College at Topeka, after which he studied music in Boston, and is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music. He was an aviator in the United States Navy during the World War.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Post will make their home in Boston for the summer and at Northampton next fall.

MUCH BUSINESS BEFORE THE HOUSE

Several Contentious Measures to Be Disposed of Before Any Adjournment

Ottawa, June 22.—Members who have been anticipating bidding farewell to the Halls of Parliament on Saturday next, are now beginning to realize that there is very little likelihood of the House adjourning then. The order paper today in itself contained the announcement of enough controversial legislation to last for a week at least. They included a resolution on the bill for the Canadian Wheat Board, the resolution regarding encouragement to ship building, the resolution on state insurance for soldiers and the new pensions proposals.

The resolution continuing the Wheat Board, and the others will be up before the government caucus tomorrow, which promises to be long and interesting, not to say stormy. In addition there will be the new naval proposals and probably the indemnity, so that an exciting morning is looked for. It is understood that there is a very pronounced difference of opinion among the supporters of the government regarding three, at least, of the subjects. It is anticipated that the proposal to continue the Wheat Board will be fought hard, but as the main body which favors it is to be found among those who will not be present at the caucus, United Farmers. There is also apparently very little support, at least very little enthusiasm, for the naval expenditure among many of the government supporters, while the proposal regarding shipbuilding aid is also one to which a very large number of members are indifferent.

Although the indemnity matter seems to have been dropped, it is now evident that the agitation in favor of an increase will be strongly urged at the caucus. The original proposal was for an increase to five thousand dollars, or double what is now being received. The latest proposal is that the increase shall be to four thousand, and there is a feeling among the members that now that something more is proposed for the soldiers, there will be less disposition on the part of the public to regard the increase to the members unfavorably.

It is not anticipated that the matter of party reconstruction will be taken up at the caucus, as there is sufficient other business to occupy it. That will probably come before a separate caucus, if it comes up at all this session.

MAINE PRIMARIES FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Augusta, Me., June 21.—Out of 456 cities and towns heard from in today's primaries to name a candidate for Governor on the Republican ticket, F. H. Parkhurst, Bangor, has 8,744; Gov. Milliken, who seeks a third term, 5,692; John Deering, 6,012, and Mr. Jack, 768. The total vote cast so far, from reports in at midnight, represents about half of the Republican vote in the state.

Indications are that Col. Parkhurst will be the successful candidate by a narrow margin.

Canada's Railways

In a recent Empire number, the London Times gives some interesting details anent the C. P. R. and Grand Trunk Railways, which will be read with interest, in view of the absorption by the Government of the oldest railway in the Dominion and the striking success of the C. P. R., directed by private enterprise, and notably successful on that account.

In 1850 there were only 55 miles of railway track in the whole of Canada. In 1852 the Grand Trunk Railway was incorporated, and the first meeting of the company, the extensive capital of which came from the pockets of English investors, was held in 1853. Four years later arrangements were made with the famous Great Eastern steamship for the conveyance of immigrants to Portland, and year by year fresh miles were added to the railroad from east to west, with numerous extensions north and south towards Hudson Bay and the Great Lakes and across the border into the New England States. The present board of directors took their seats in 1895, and since then every bridge on the system has been rebuilt.

The story of the Grand Trunk Railway and the other companies, more than 120 in number, which have gradually been merged into its system, is a fine record of railway enterprise. At the date of its absorption by the Government the men who have carried on the work of its original founders can look back with justifiable pride on the extremely valuable and important part which it has played in the development and consolidation of the Dominion.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, the solitary Canadian railway corporation which has preserved its independence, is one of the most wonderfu organizations in the world. It has, it is true, received in the past much public assistance, and many valuable concessions, especially in the shape of extensive grants of land. But, as Mr. C. W. Peterson points out in his valuable book, "Wake Up, Canada," there came a time, after this period of subsidies, when Canadian Pacific stock was only saved from collapse by the courage and enterprise of men who believed in its future and were not afraid to back their faith. Before the war, in spite of the fact that the population served by it and the two other transcontinental lines was only the size of that of Greater London, its freight charges were extraordinarily low compared with those of many other railways.

The present president of this gigantic concern, Mr. E. W. Beatty, is a worthy successor of Lord Mount Stephen, Lord Strathcona, Lord Shaughnessy, Sir William Van Horne, and the other great sons of the Empire who have been the principal figures in its history.

Looking back over that history (Mr. Beatty once said) one is amazed at the importance of the part played by men whose enterprise, resourcefulness, and tenacity of purpose could not, I think, have been stimulated and given rein to in any civil service. It has taken more than 30 years to make the C. P. R. as efficient as it is today. It was not easy.

It was, in fact, extreemly difficult. But it was done, in the same spirit as that which in the early days of the colony was the strength and inspiration of the pioneer settlers, in their heroic struggle with rock and forest and fire and frost. The railway from coast to coast was constructed in five years, half of the time estimate of the original contract. Its total mileage is now over 18,00; it has a transatlantic ocean service of its own besides other lake and coastal steamship lines; and it owns some of the biggest grain elevators and finest hotels—such as the Chateau Frontenac at Quebec, the Pallister at Calgary, the Banff Springs Hotel and the Chateau Lake Louise in the Rockies, and the Empress at Victoria—in the whole world.

When the arrangements for the Prince's Canadian visit were being made it was the C. P. R. that was chosen as the system over which he should do the greater part of his travelling. The train which the company placed at his disposal was a marvel of efficiency and organization, a travelling hotel on wheels, Mr. A. B. Calder, the president's representative in control of the train, Mr. R. G. Chamberlain and Major Macleod, the chief of the Canadian and C. P. R. police force, and the other officials and members of the train staff of 60 persons, police, engineers, electricians, telephone and teelgraph experts, baggage master, cooks, waiters, porters, and sweepers—all worked with untiring energy to do the company the utmost possible credit. Besides Lord Shaughnessy, the chairman, and Mr. E. W. Beatty, the president, the other chief officials of the C. P. R. responsible for the success of the tour were the vice-presidents, Mr. Grant Hall, Mr. I. G. Ogden, and Mr. W. R. MacInnes, and Mr. A. D. Mactier and Mr. D. C. Coleman, the vice-presidents of the eastern and western lines. Thanks to the efforts of these gentlemen and the many others working in co-operation with them the tour was conducted from beginning to end with out a single hitch. But not all the organization in the world could have done what was due without the human element of the mutual loyalty which is the predominant feature of the relations between the heads of the concern and the whole of the personnel in the company's employ.

CANADIAN TRADE WITH FAR EAST

The Canadian Government Will Break Into Freight Carrying Trade, It Is Said

Vancouver, B. C., June 21.—Official announcement that the Canadian government will break into the freight-carrying trade between this port, the Far East and India within the next three months, September at the latest, is made by B. CRITICISM OF THE FRANCHISE BILL

Liberal Members Oppose Many of the Features, Especially on Revision

Ottawa, June 21.—Clause 32 of the Franchise Bill, respecting the use of provincial lists as the basis for federal lists, occupied most of the time of the Commons today, and was the subject of many amendments before it finally carried on division. Following the adoption of the clause almost as many changes were made in the schedule before it passed.

Liberal members charged the Government with seeking to provide machinery whereby they could win an election by having an army of partizan officials. D. D. McKenzie (North Cape Breton) declared the proposed Act was, if possible, worse than the War Times Elections Act. The time given in every instance was too short. People might not see the lists until after the voting. Partizan officials would control the making of the lists, and the only consolation Mr. McKenzie could see was that the people would vote against the Government any way in the next election.

The clause respecting advance polls was amended to provide that only railway men, sailors and commercial travellers may vote in the advanced polls.

Another amendment gave the chief returning officer power to dispense with some of the machinery in taking a vote under the Canada Temperance Act. Much of the machinery in taking for a Federal election was unnecessary for a temperance referendum, Hon. Hugh Guthrie explained to the House.

Other amendments provided that provincial lists, not more than two years old instead of one year, might be used as the basis of Federal lists, and for the appointment of one returning officer for every 1,000 of population in an urban centre.

PERMANENT COURT FOR THE LEAGUE

The International Court is to Consist of 15 Judges and Six Substitutes

The Hague, June 21.—A draft for the Permanent Court of International Justice of the League of Nations, as it has been offered to the secretariate of the league in the name of Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland and Holland, has been made public by the Dutch government. It is the result of the conferences held in the peace palace at The Hague in February.

According to the plan, the court would consist of 15 judges and six substitutes, who must all be recognized authorities on international justice. Its members would be chosen by the assembly of the league, the judges to be appointed for nine years, the substitutes for six.

The members would be elected without regard of their nationality, but no more than two judges of the same country could hold office in the court. They would be re-eligible but they would have to resign when 66 years old. They would then have a right to a pension, which, like their salary, would be fixed and paid by the League.

The duties of the court would be to adjudicate differences between nations and it would be competent to act on all cases in which its discretion is asked.

The Permanent Court of International Justice is provided for in Article XIV. of the covenant of the League of Nations. The Council of the League of Nations, at a session in London in February, announced that a committee of twelve distinguished international jurists, including Elihu Root of the United States, had been invited to prepare plans for the constitution of the court. Mr. Root accepted the invitation, as did Lord Phillimore, of England, Baron Descamps, of Belgium, Dr. Loder, of Holland, and M. Vesnitch, of Jugo-Slavia. No plans as formulated by the committee for the organization of the court has yet been announced.

NATIONAL CURSE OF PROFITEERING

Washington, June 21—The profiteer has come in for a great deal of attention from speechmakers here during the past few days. Hardly a day passes but at least one Senator or Congressman cuts loose with a fierce volley of heavy oratory aimed at the men who have boosted the cost of living in the United States. If talk can eliminate profiteering on this side of the line, Washington observers profess to see a speedy slump in prices throughout the country. Here are a few of the hot shots from recent verbal broadsides:

"Compared to the men occupying high positions in churches and communities who pray with their mouths and profiteer with their hands, the hold-up man is entitled to a high seat in the synagogue."

"Jail is too good for the profiteer who is robbing his fellow men, but even jail sentences are novelties."

"Greed is the curse of the American people. Everyone seems to be trying to get while the getting is good."

"The things that the average everyday people have to buy, clothing, shoes, food and other necessities—things that enter into their everyday existence—everything has been the vehicle through which the robber profiteers have been adding to their already swollen incomes."

"If there is not a hell, there ought to be one for the coal profiteers."

CITY HALL SQUARE GARAGE A BUSY PLACE

Phillips and Pringle, Ltd., Have One of the Best Garages in Eastern Canada

The new Ford Garage on Campbell street, of Phillips & Pringle, Ltd., is rapidly rising into prominence as one of the busiest spots in Fredericton at all hours of the day. The garage, which is excellently situated along the bank of the St. John River and faces Phoenix Square, is being well patronized by owners of the famous Ford cars which are daily becoming more numerous through out the province. Its business facilities are enormous and it is one of the best equipped garages in Eastern Canada to look after the needs of owners of cars of all makes.

Besides being constructed with an eye to the convenience of the public its situation is such that there is little possibility of congested traffic both of which advantages are of importance to the public. The two air pumps, gasoline pumps and water supplying arrangements make it possible for two cars to be taken care of for these services at once. The building itself is a splendid one with a very promising appearance with its six plate glass windows and woodwork. Inside it is fitted with electric lights and the most modern of water and heating systems. Telephones occupy a prominent place in the establishment so that the management and the employees are always able to receive messages from the city and outside districts and thus despatch any aid necessary for a breakdown or accident.

In the basement of the building the heavier parts of the cars are stored as well as the Fordson Tractor with ploughs and harrows, which are being used for demonstration purposes. The old and little used cars are stored in the part of the building which is next to Campbell street, while at the opposite end of the basement next to the river is the washstand with its catch basen which facilitates the washing and cleaning of cars. To the right of the storage room the battery work shop is situated, where all necessary repairs to the batteries are completed. The lower floor as well as the remainder of the building is electrically lighted so that the full use of the lights can be obtained without difficulty.

The company have employed a special tractor demonstrator and salesman to work over all their district, which includes the counties of York, Carleton, Sunbury and the eastern portions of Queens and Northumberland, where the Fordson tractor with disc harrows and gang ploughs is at present being demonstrated. The demonstrator has been at work since March and in this time he has staged demonstrations in various parts of the province where the tractors can be seen and valued by farmers. To have these tractors in stock a machine shop is necessitated and part of the storage floor is being used for this purpose.

On the next floor are situated the general private offices, the stock room, the garage and the show room. The general offices are in the western end of the building and opening off these is the private office of the manager of the company, R. L. Phillips. From the offices one enters the stock room, the most complete in Eastern Canada, containing over 700 bins of Ford parts all of which are indexed, priced and numbered and can be found at a moment's notice. The accessories are found upon shelves and racks, each having its own particular section. Taken all in all, the stock room is one of the best equipped and thoroughly complete, even to minor parts, that can be found in the Maritime Provinces.

Passing from the stock room one enters the garage, the entrance to which is from Campbell street, while the exit opens upon Phoenix Square. This is roomy with accommodation for a large number of cars of all sizes. To the right of this garage and facing Campbell street, is the show room with double plate glass windows. The workshop of the garage is to the rear of the building and faces the Devon shore. For the accommodation of the people, who in the busy seasons visit the garage to have repairs made to their cars, the management are contemplating the construction of a verandah at the rear of the building from which the visitors can have the full benefit of the river scenery. The third floor is devoted to the bins for the heavier accessories and parts which are stored here and lowered to the second floor as required.

The commendable enterprise of Phillips & Pringle, Ltd., in providing such a complete and modernly equipped plant is bringing to the firm a rapidly expanding business in Ford cars, Fordson tractors and accessories.

ELLIS ACQUITTED

Summerside, P.E.I., June 21.—The case against Thomas Corbett Ellis, charged with the murder of his wife, was finished today, and tonight the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty." The addresses by counsel and the Chief Justice occupied all day.

A missing suspender button often leaves a man in suspense.

THE STATE AUDIT FOR FRICK ESTATE

Pennsylvania Acts on Rumors That Inventory is $25,000,000 Below Value

Pittsburg, June 21—The State of Pennsylvania will make an independent audit of the Henry Clay Frick estate, because it is said the inventory filed in the Register of Wills Office here, which places the value of the Frick personal estate at $77,500,000, is $25,000,000 short of the actual value.

This was stated here today. When the State's independent audit will commence could not be learned. If, as the State charges, the actual value of the personal estate is $25,000,000 more than given in the inventory now on file here, or approximately $102,000,000, the charitable beneficiaries of the late financier's will receive almost to the penny the amount originally reported as having been given them.

In other words, Princeton University will receive $15,000,000, instead of about one-third that amount, while other colleges and institutions will receive their bequest in proportion.

State Dissatisfied

That the State is entirely dissatisfied with the inventory on file was stated by an official, who declared the commonwealth estimate of the value of the personal estate exceeded $100,000,000. Coincident with the announcement that the independent audit will be made, it was learned that Carl F. Overbolt, one of the beneficiaries in the will and said to be a nephew of Mr. Frick, is one of the auditors who filed the inventory. The other is William H. Morrison. Overbolt, according to the terms of the will, is to receive $50,000 in addition to his share "as a child of my sister."

The value of the Frick real estate has not been made public here, despite the fact that the inventory has been on file a week. It is thought, however, that it will be made public within a short time.

The action of the State in stepping into the controversy over the value of the Frick personal estate was not a surprise here. In financial circles it was anticipated after the inventory showed the personal estate to be much less than originally reported.

The statement of President Hibben of Princeton's gift from the steel master would be much less than reported was also a determining factor in the State's decision. It was declared openly today that the personal estate is worth far more than the value given it by the appraisers and the State, which, like the charitable beneficiaries, will lose heavily if the present valuation is allowed to stand, has determined to make its own inventory for the purpose of taxation.

Estimated Value Excessive

It was also said here today that Mr. Frick's division of his personal estate into equal shares was one of the reasons for much of the confusion regarding his charitable bequests. At the time the will was filed H. C. McEldowney, one of the executors, placed the value of each share at $500,000, but this is now said to have been excessive.

The explanation from some quarters that shrinkage in the value of stocks held by Mr. Frick was responsible for the most part in the low valuation of the personal estate is given little credence, it being pointed out that it was unlikely any stocks held by the steel master would depreciate to an extent such as reported.

TYPHOID FEVER ON NORTH SHORE

St. John, June 22.—The Provincial Department of Health is giving attention to a serious outbreak of typhoid fever in West Bathurst and vicinity. Nearly half a hundred cases of the disease have appeared, and several deaths have occurred, including that of John P. Robichaud, a student at the Eudist Fathers' seminary. He was studying for the priesthood. A young man also died of fever at Petit Rocher. He was Wilfred Doucet.

West Bathurst has many sources of water supply and it has been difficult to tell which sources had become contaminated. Fourteen samples of water have been taken by the provincial health authorities. Not a single case of fever has occurred at houses which use the town water supply. Many old wells have been closed as dangerous. The town water supply, which has been tested, has been found pure.

Three nurses have gone from St. John and the staff of the J. H. Dunn hospital is doing excellent work in caring for the fever patients.

THE LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Wimbledon, Eng., June 22.—All four Americans who played in the opening matches for the British lawn tennis championship defeated their opponents yesterday. In the opening round in the morning J. M. Flavelle, the well known English veteran, was defeated by Wm. M. Johnston, of San Francisco, the United States single champion, R. Norris, Williams, of Boston, United States champion in 1914 and 1916, defeated N. Field, an English provincial player.

O. G. N. Turnbull, of England, opened finely against Garland, of the United States, but the latter finally won, 7-5, 6-8, 6-3, 6-3.

Wm. T. Tilden, of Philadelphia, in the afternoon defeated P. Russell, of England, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

Paris, June 21.—The corseted dog has made his appearance on the fashionable Place Vendome. The owner was a smartly dressed woman living at the Hotel du Rhin. The corsets resemble those worn by women, even to the whalebones and lacing.

UNIONS DIFFER ON RAILROADS

More than one reason made it inevitable that Samuel Gompers should meet with defeat in his effort to dissuade the Federation of Labor from indorsing the proposal of government railway ownership. Everything considered, it betokens praiseworthy soundness of judgment among the unions in a number of the higher trades that they should have stood out against the attractive fallacy as they did.

For one thing the railroad workers' organizations recently admitted to the Federation, themselves voted for government ownership. They voted as a special interest within the special interest of labor, so that their voice could not properly count as bearing on the question of what was best for the unions as a whole.

For another thing, the inside politics of the Federation harbored possibilities of trouble for a course in which Mr. Gompers might offer an opportunity to his rivals. There remains in the Federation the element that arose during the war: an element which chafes at the scruples and caution of the old leader. Some among the foremost men of this element can perhaps climb into supreme position, if they can but start the organization on a course of ruthless audacity, of pressing its luck in the game of hunting higher wages. Naturally all this element would incline to vote for a radical anti-capitalistic proposal which Mr. Gompers opposed.

Most decisive of all, Mr. Gompers, in his speech against government ownership, slighted the great public objections to it and hung his argument to an obviously loose peg. Every one knew that the railroad workers had scored unprecedented wage advances, first through direct action on the government in 1916 and later under government operation, and that these workers yearned for more of the same regime. Yet he tried to tell the convention that government ownership would make slaves of the railroad workers. Naturally his hearers, save possibly those with a faculty for looking more than a year or so ahead, would not take this seriously.

In all probability the 22 per cent of the total vote that was cast against government ownership represented not assent to the Gompers objection, but rather a realization that political railroading would make for ineffectual railroad service and corrupt politics, would harm the people as a whole and would in the end damage the fraction of the people affiliated with the Federation.

THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

The League of Nations is not having a happy time at present. It was presented to the world as a great accomplishment of the new diplomacy, calculated to end war, and the nations, weakened by and sick of war, hailed it gladly. Not many saw all the difficulties in the way of its success or allowed for the time that would be required to put into operation the idea it represented and gain for it the prestige that follows the accomplishment of real tasks for the general good, points out an exchange. Fifteen states, including those under the British sovereign, which participated in the war, have formally joined the organization, thirteen others that were neutral have accepted the invitations to membership extended to them, and others contemplate like action. Such facts mean much as possibilities, though as yet realization has been slow. The reason is plain. Some of the greater powers have held back. The United States ranks first among these, and if its attitude is maintained the League will not be what was hoped when it was announced to the world. Russia has not joined, has not been in a position to join, and through its rulers has not shown any respect for the league ideas. Germany has not been asked to join, and might not accept an invitation, if it was extended. The League of Nations, to the German mind, is probably an alliance of the despoilers of the Fatherland.

The league has not yet the moral force that would come from the cooperation of all the strong nations. So when the Poles make war on Russia, and the Russians made war on Persia, and the Greeks invaded Turkey's territory, and Italian free companions occupied territory claimed for Jugo-Slavia, the Council of the League, without power to call out armed forces, was practically helpless; and in response to Persia's appeal for protection against Russian aggression could only tender its sympathy. This was not a promising attitude, and when the matter came up for discussion in the House of Commons, Mr. Balfour could make but a weak reply to the critics. The justification of the League idea is yet to come. The outlook, though not bright is not altogether hopeless. Mr. Balfour admitted much when he said that if the league fails to promote a diminution in armament much of its value will be gone, and he practically admitted that there was the chance that countries would decide individually that they must have armaments on a big scale. This is the dark time, and the outlook may brighten with the final settlement of the matters that grew immediately out of the war. It may well be hoped that such will be the case.

HIGH PRICES EVERYWHERE.

The Montreal Gazette says with truth that those inclined to blame the Dominion Government for the high cost of living might with profit survey conditions in other countries. Prices are high, perhaps higher over the range of principal commodities than at any period in the last century, but they are not higher in Canada than elsewhere, a fact which explodes the notion that Government action or want of action has been a contributing cause in this country. A few comparisons will elucidate the point. Between July, 1914, and January, 1920, retail prices of food rose 136 per cent. in Great Britain, 190 per cent. in France, 175 per cent. in Italy, 198 per cent. in Sweden, 97 per cent. in the United States, and in Canada 98 per cent. Fiscal systems certainly have not operated to enhance the cost of living in protectionist countries like Canada and the United States over that in relatively free import countries like the United Kingdom. The price of textiles in Great Britain has risen 377 per cent. since the outbreak of war. There is of course a basic cause for the world-wide upward movement, and it is found in lessened production and inflated currencies. A subsidiary influence has been the dislocation of mercantile shipping, but in the large, shortage of supply has been the prime factor in making prices high.

No one has yet devised a new remedy to fit the case. Since time began, prices have been governed by the law of supply and demand. Gold would become dross if gold was as plentiful as the sands of the shore, and commodities will fall in cost when they become again abundant. But legislation, regulation, fiscal adjustments will not make two blades of grain grow where one grew before, and only by gradual restoration of production, by slow recuperation from war's devastation can prices be lowered to approximation with those of six years ago. It is to be borne in mind, moreover, that a fall in prices cannot be confined to those things we eat and wear. The commodity of labor—though the League of Nations insists that labor is no longer to be treated as a commodity—must take its share in the declension, no matter in what occupation labor be employed; and when that inevitable consequence comes it is by no means improbable that labor may sigh for the return of high prices accompanied by the means to purchase. The recent convention in Chicago of the Republican party sought a panacea for the high cost of living, only to discover that there is nothing new under the sun. There is a deal of platitude in the platform declaration of that party that:—

"The prime cause of the 'high cost of living' has been, first and foremost, a 50 per cent. depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar, due to a gross expansion of our currency and credit. Reduced production, burdensome taxation, swollen profits and the increased demand for goods arising from a fictitious but enlarged buying power have been contributing causes in a greater or less degree."

It does not make much practical difference whether two dollars are now required to purchase as much of a commodity as formerly, or whether only half as much of such commodity can now be obtained for a dollar. The shortage of goods rather than depreciation in the value of the currency is the real root of high prices. In a self-contained country not engaged in foreign trade, currency inflation will inevitably produce rising prices, but the condition sought to be cured is universal, as apparent in countries whose currency is convertible into gold as in those with irredeemable currencies. Burdensome taxation is a war legacy, swollen profits a companion of mounting prices, and the Republican platform touches the meat of the matter only in attributing the condition to reduced production. Given an abundance of the things desired by mankind, the currency will take care of itself, and abnormal profits become a fond memory.

The Republicans had the courage to admit that no sovereign remedy for the high cost of living can be found in legislation. "There is no short way out," declares the Platform, "and we decline to deceive the people with vain promises and quack remedies." The practical measures proposed by that party as an accessory to the reduction in prices is avoidance of further inflation in Government borrowing, deflation of over-expanded credits, encouragement of production, restraint of profits, the exercise of public economy, and the practice of private thrift. The measures thus recommended are all laudable, and as desirable in Canada as in the United States. From the injunction to practice thrift Governments cannot be exempted, but rather should they set the pace, as well as in encouragement of production. The cost of living can be cut by no other course.

ROOSEVELT TOOK THE CONSEQUENCES.

Among the anecdotes of Roosevelt that keep turning up, no group is more engaging than that which tells of his delight in children. According to the World's Work, he took up a grandchild in his arms, on impulse, and was rebuked in these words:

"That baby was perfectly happy there, and now some one will have to hold her the rest of the afternoon."

"All right!" cried the Colonel, "I'll hold her." He did, and any statesman that wanted to discuss public affairs that afternoon had to do it across that baby.

Solemn psychological students may consider this incident as an example of a great man's willingness to accept the consequences of his acts, to whatever they might lead. We prefer to tuck away the story among the joyous and irrelevant tales of a very human grandfather.

TRIED OUT MOTOR AGAINST A BIRD

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

New York, June 22.—Automobile racing with a bird cost George Sloan, Glenridge, N. J., $25 yesterday. He was fined that amount by Magistrate Crook, in Stapleton, Staten Island, for speeding at 37 miles an hour yesterday afternoon "while trying to test out the machine against a bird flying above me."

RENT RESTRICTION BILL IN BRITAIN

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

London, June 22.—The House of Commons had a long sitting yesterday to secure both reports and third reading of the new increase of rent restrictions bill, the provisions of which have already been stated. There were ten pages of amendments, chiefly against so large an increase as forty per cent. being allowed. Oothers sought privileges for ex-service men or for agricultural owners to recover possession for the workers. The government's proposals were not materially altered.

DEATH AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, June 22.—Vivian H. Steele, brother of the late Major General Sir Sam Steele, died here last night. He was 74 years of age, and until recently was connected with the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

You might say that the stage prompter's job is a dramatic situation.

The Stock Market

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

New York, (Wall St.) June 22.—The extension of the railroad strike and yesterday's unexpectedly high rates for call money were reflected in the irregular ton of the stock market at the dull opening of today's session. A few of the speculative specialties were the only issues to vary more than a fraction. Otherwise changes were nominal and quite evenly distributed as to advances and declines. Some of the usual leaders, including United States Steele, were unquoted in the early dealings.

The Noon Market.

New York, (Wall St. Noon) June 22.—The further strength of British Exchange, with demand bills rising to $4, the highest quotation in over two months, and an opening rate of 8 per cent. for call money were the only noteworthy features of the morning.

The Montreal Market.

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 22. — The paper stocks opened on the local exchange this morning with a tendency towards higher prices, especially in Wayagamack and Laurentide. These were quite active during the first hour. The former made a good gain of several points, while Laurentide passed the 110 mark. There was considerable trading in these issues which largely held the attention of investors, but the general tone of the market for some time after the opening would indicate that the bull movement gave no evidence of weakening.

"The Investment Marketplace"

The Logic Of Buying Bonds

"The logic that is impelling foresighted investors to place their investment funds in Bonds and Good Preferred Stocks is now quite well known. Briefly the theory—and it has worked out in practice over a number of years—is that when commodity prices and interest rates come down from their present heights the return sought by investors on fixed interest-bearing securities will become less. That means the investor will be willing to pay more for Bonds and Preferred Stocks, and quotations will rise in consequence."—Forbes Magazine, New York.

FROM THE PEOPLE

PERIL TO SMALL BOYS

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—In these days of autos and accidents, let me draw the attention of the public to a most dangerous practice some schoolboys indulge in, namely, running after and hanging on to fast-going motor trucks and pleasure cars. Outside of the worry to the driver, the older boys, say of about thirteen, get away with it pretty well. But I have seen the little brother, little shavers from eight to ten, have such narrow escapes that I have come to believe in an unseen guardian hand.

This dangerous practice should be stopped. Children should be asked to report at school any child so endangering his life, and for this offence any proved guilty should get the strap, or the police should take their names and addresses and see that they get a sound whipping at home or some other place. This method would soon put an end to one of the causes of motor accidents.

Yours,
CITIZEN.

SALVATION ARMY SLOGAN

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Permit me to ask your readers their opinion regarding the slogan of the Salvation Army, "A man may be down, but he is never out." What I would like to know is, do they think this slogan need apply to a man only? May it not apply also to a woman?

I have heard the opinion of so many people regarding this question. Some say it is easier for a man to "come back" than it is for a woman. What is the opinion of your readers?

Yours,
A. B. C.

WANTS A FRIEND WITH INTELLECTUAL ABILITY

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I have been reading letters in the Western papers re the establishing of a club for lonely roomers. It is a great idea.

I am a stenographer, 19 years old, with a good general education. I am carrying on an extensive study campaign, including French and Latin. I should like nothing better than to meet someone who would assist me with these and at the same time be a real friend.

Friendship to my mind, embodies two important qualities—sincerity and mentality. The latter does not necessarily mean knowledge, but the capability of the acquirement of the same. True friends should be able each to offer the other something in the line of mental stimulus.

I make friends very slowly. I have been in Fredericton three years, yet I have not made a single friendship, and I can number even my acquaintances, outside the office, on my ten fingers. This has not been because I could not have friends, but because those I met were not congenial—what appealed to me as recreation looked like hard work in their eyes. Cheap, tawdry amusements entertained them. Those who were mentally able, and whose taste was well cultivated, could not come up to my moral standard, and yet I am not a prig. If there is someone in this city who is as lonely as I, and who would enjoy such a friendship as I have outlined, I should be more than pleased to meet that person, whether man or girl.

Yours,
ADA.

COMPULSORY SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I read with great interest in your column of some days ago an article entitled Compulsory Education. I fully endorse the opinion expressed by A Parent that in some cases it is positively harmful to try to keep children in school till their 14th year, when at 13 and sometimes earlier their mental capacity for improvement by the ordinary school curriculum has been exhausted. From my experience I can confidently say that incalculable harm is done to some boys and girls in trying to compel attendance at school after their 13th birthday has been reached, whereas a great deal of good would result to them were they permitted to go to work. I said in trying to compel attendance at school; for they will not attend school. They may reluctantly or willingly be sent to school by their parents; they may be dragged forcibly into school by others; they may be made to appear before a formidable tribunal; their parents may be haled to court, there to be fined for non-compliance with the compulsory education law; but the children will not attend school to derive any benefit from the instruction therein imparted. Their spasmodic attempts at a show of attendance are a source of constant annoyance to the teacher, who finds herself wasting her time and energy in futile attempts at disciplining these lawless spirits of disorder instead of devoting her conscientious efforts to imparting instruction to the rest of her pupils.

I have known scores of such boys who were forced into school after a period of illegal employment—they were so large that employers did not doubt their statement that they were sixteen years of age. In which place were they more useful? In school? No. They would not learn; in some cases they could not learn—their limited capacity for book lore had been reached.

It is astonishing and refreshing to note the difference in manner, carriage and general appearance which a few months of congenial work in altered surroundings made in all of these boys who would not "take to their books."

A Parent rightly asks, "Is it not possible to so amend the law as to place somewhere a discretionary power to deal with such cases?" It seems to me that this discretionary power should be placed in the hands of one who comes in daily contact with his pupils and their parents, who knows their home conditions and environment, and who could be trusted to make judicious use of such discretionary power—I mean the principal.

Yours,
ONE INTERESTED.

A motion picture that ranks with the most beautifully and extravagantly screened spectacles of all times was shown at the Gaiety Theatre last evening where "Everywoman" opened to packed audiences. No expenditure of artistic effort or money has been spared in making the film version of this famous allegorical play pleasing to the eye and the cast has been selected in thorough accord with the magnificent setting. Violet Heming, the beautiful screen and stage actress, is Everywoman, and the company includes Theodore Roberts, Wanda Hawley, Monte Blue, Raymond Hatton, Bebe Daniels, Mildred Reardon and Margaret Loomis.

The story centers around the quest of Everywoman for love, which she finds and after disastrous encounters with wealth, passion, and flattery. The scenes in the palace of wealth are especially luxurious. The striking character of this unusual story has been well brought out.

One of the big hits of the evening was the prologue to the photo-play, spoken by Mr. W. A. Walsh in the character of "Nobody." This was a decided innovation and made a tremendous hit.

"Everywoman" will be shown again tonight, when undoubtedly packed houses will again be in evidence.

A Downward Price Movement If Gradual and Orderly, Is To Be Welcomed On All Sides

The Recent Declines in the Price of a Few Commodities Are a Part of the General Movement That is Fully Expected to Set In Shortly

Commodities are not to be regarded as isolated instances, but are part of a gradual and general movement that has been under way for a considerable time, the National Bank of Commerce in New York says in a discussion of current business conditions. The statement says:

It has generally been conceded that prices would ultimately seek a lower level than that maintained during the war and immediately thereafter. Such decline has always followed the overstimulation of commerce and industry produced by war. Under these circumstances, a downward price movement, if gradual and orderly, is to be welcomed both as an evidence of the return of more orderly conditions and as a factor in accomplishing that return. Such a movement in the prices of basic commodities is now clearly evident. Sharp recent declines in a few commodities, however, are likely to cause the business public to lose sight of the fact that in a number of other commodities a gradual decline has been under way for a considerable time. The prices of copper and zinc have been at low levels since the armistice. Hogs declined over $9 per hundred, or about 40 per cent. from July to December, 1919. Since that date they have recovered slightly, and have continued fairly steadily near their present level since January, 1920. The price of cattle declined from October, 1919, to May, 1920. The prices of best packer hides and No. 1 city calfskins have declined steadily and fairly regularly since August, 1919. Thus it will be seen that recent declines are not to be viewed as isolated instances, but as a part of a gradual and general movement, the time at which each commodity responds and the degree to which it is affected being determined by conditions in the national and international market for that specific commodity.

Even at this time it is well to emphasize once more that the abnormal price level has been the result first, of actual physical shortage of goods in relation to demand, and second, of expansion in the volume of credit and the various forms of money. It is thus clear that a decline in prices can only be brought about by a falling off of demand, an increase in the physical volume of production, a decrease in the volume of credit and money, or by these and various other causes working together. The armistice automatically destroyed the specialized demand which the war had created, and removed the artificial support which had sustained the buying power of Europe during the conflict. While the stimulated domestic demand in the United States and elsewhere at first appeared to offset this, this influence could not possibly be permanent. In many lines consumption is not immediate, so that the rate of purchase after every abnormal period inevitably declines to a normal level or below it. It is primarily this tendency which has been reflected in the refusal of buyers to accept additional price increases, or indeed, to buy in undiminished volume at the levels which had prevailed for months.

It was not to be expected that the industrial community could maintain the high tension under which it had worked during the war years, and it is very doubtful as to whether the maintenance of this tension would have been desirable. Despite numerous and widespread complaints as to the unsatisfactory condition of production in the United States, the fact remains that since the recovery from the temporary hesitation following the armistice this country has increased production in certain directions. During May, American cotton mills consumed 541,080 running bales of cotton, an amount exceeded for the corresponding month in 1916, 1917 and 1918, but exceeding May consumption from 1913 to 1915, and 1919. Total consumption for the first five months of 1920 was 2,792,942 running bales, or at a rate of 6,700,000 bales per year. Returns for wool consumption are not available later than for April, when 66,900,000 pounds, grease equivalent, were used. It is certain that consumption for May and June will show a heavy decline. At the same time, total consumption for 1919 was 622,218,000 pounds, grease equivalent, and for the first four months of 1920 the total was 272,000,000 pounds. Although exact data are not available prior to the war, annual consumption for the five fiscal years 1910-1914 averaged about 510,000,000 pounds per year, and consumption in 1917, the maximum year for the industry thus far, was 768,000,000 pounds. Bituminous coal production for May was a little over 38,000,000 short tons, and for the first 134 working days of 1920 it was 221,043,000 tons, compared with 184,004,000 tons for the same period in 1919, and 240,973,000 tons in 1918. While it is true that in many lines production in 9119 and thus far into 1920 has been against great odds, and in many cases disappointing, it is nevertheless true that production has been gradually filling up the gap between demand and supply, not only in the United States but in every country in the world except those yet in a state of internal disorder.

In the face of these conditions, discernible to all far-seeing business men, the unwisdom of further credit expansion became apparent some months ago. Efforts to prevent such expansion have resulted in a considerable strain on credit, and this has been much accentuated by retarded transportation and consequent tying up of a large volume of credit. At the same time the fact must not be lost sight of that the credit position of the United States is essentially sound, and that there will be credit for enterprises prepared to co-operate intelligently in the work of bringing manufacturing, commercial and financial operations to a stable and conservative basis.

A factor not to be overlooked at the present time is the increasing unemployment. In some districts large numbers of men are out of work as a result of disorganized transportation. This effect has been especially noteworthy in the coal regions and in the great centers of automobile manufacture. Refusal of the public to accept increased prices or even to maintain a volume of purchase equal to that of recent months at the level of prices then prevailing, has reacted sharply on some sections of the textile industry and on the garment trades. Considerable unemployment in these industries has resulted. If this is of brief duration, it need have no serious effects, but prolonged and widespread unemployment rapidly destroys buying power and produces social unrest, so that a far-seeing policy will indicate its avoidance if this is at all possible.

The agricultural districts continue to suffer from labor shortage, but it is now believed that reasonably adequate help for the harvests will be secured. The agricultural outlook is on the whole quite favorable for the grain crops. However, a large part of the wheat crop is now in its most critical stage, and considerable variation from the present estimate is not unlikely. Corn is late through wide areas, but it is yet too early to draw any conclusions as to the crop. The estimate of condition of cotton is 62.4 per cent. of normal, the lowest on record, is not of so much concern in the South, which is each year less dependent on cotton, as it is to the cotton textile industry of the world.

Method of Orchard Cultivation Given

[Experimental Farms Note.]

The method or system of cultivation to be adopted may be varied to some extent to meet local conditions. In reality, however, all systems should be, and in most cases are, a slight modification of the "clean cultivation and cover crop system."

The clean cultivation method calls for all the ground under and around the trees to be ploughed and harrowed frequently until around July first.

This system has much to recommend it, viz. (1) maximum conservation of soil moisture, (2) excellent conditions for liberation of plant food especially nitrogen, (3) sightliness and cleanliness of the orchard and (4) control of insect pests.

In connection with this, either fall or spring ploughing may be practised, the former, however, only in those localities with a favorable enough winter to so permit. The great secret of success with any system of cultivation designed to conserve moisture and liberate plant food is to get on the land as early in spring as possible, otherwise, if the orchard is not ploughed until late, most of the advantages of cultivation are lost.

Modifications of the above consist of leaving a strip of sod about four feet in width next to the trees. In old orchards where it is difficult to get close to the trees this may be practised successfully, in which case the grass is cut once or twice during the season and allowed to remain as a mulch.

In both these instances, on the cultivated portion a mulch is maintained until about July first, when a cover crop of some sort should be sowed. If the seed is not too expensive, some leguminous crop like red clover or crimson clover at the rate of about 12 pounds per acre for the former and 10 pounds for the latter, or summer vetch at the rate of 50 pounds per acre is advisable, as these will add a considerable quantity of plant food to the soil.

If too costly, rape may be used as a cover crop, at the rate of 30 pounds per acre.

The sod mulch system, if properly handled, may be advisable on moist soils where there is abundance of plant food. This system must not be confused with the sod system, which is not to be recommended. In the former, for the first few years grass or old straw is hauled on to the orchard and placed around the trees to form a mulch. This practice is continued until the cuttings from the sod beneath the trees is sufficient in themselves to form a heavy mulch.

There is one thing to be said in favor of homely girls—they are not always running downtown to get themselves photographed.

Optimistic Crop Reports Received From Nearly Every Section of Wide Dominion

Record Crops of Wheat and Oats Promised From Ontario and the West—Potatoes Doing Well at All Centres—Bumper Fruit Crops

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Toronto, June 22.—Crop prospects in Canada, from coast to coast, in regard to grains, fruits and vegetables, according to reports gathered by the Canadian Press, Ltd., today, give reasonable ground for optimism as to Canada's agricultural and horticultural production for the year 1920.

In thte fruit growing districts of eastern Canada the prospects are for bumper crops and there is already great anxiety as to securing help for the harvesting of them. Strawberries are already coming in and other smaller fruits may be a glut on the market, in some districts. Apple crops promise well.

Western Canadian wheat reports are optimtstic. In some parts of Ontario record crops of wheat and oats are promised, while other grain crops also are doing well.

The same is true, generally speaking, of the reports from Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. Potatoes are doing well in practically all centres, although the area seeded was restricted owing to the high cost of seed.

The various pests are making themselves felt, cut worms and grasshoppers are being fought with every weapon known to agricultural science. There is still danger from frosts and the help problem is ever in sight, but so far as actual growth is concerned Canada's crops, according to the reports received today, are in a femarkably favorable position.

THE MINERS DEMAND ELECTRIC LIGHTING

Sydney, N. S., June 22.—Miners of No. 2 colliery, members of the Phalen local of the United Mine Workers, have formally notified the Dominion Coal Company that unless the work of installing electric lighting equipment in the mine is not proceeded with before June 28th, they will leave their oil burning lamps at the bottom of the pit, and quit work. The agitation for electric lighting equipment was started some time ago at No. 2 and it is understood that it may not spread to other collieries. The men complain that they lose time by being required to relight their present lamps at intervals and are not able to mine the amount of coal possible in an electrically lighted colliery.

Six of them were summoned to the police court yesterday, but their cases were adjourned, as it is understood that they will combine to fight the charges brought against them.

It is anticipated that a legal battle will result.

MUST COMPENSATE VESTED INTERESTS

Bolshevik Delegate to Great Britain Declines to Give Any Assurances

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

London, June 22.—A crisis has arisen in the negotiations going on between Premier Lloyd-George and Gregory Krassin, Russian Bolshevik Minister for Trade and Commerce, which may result in the definite breaking off of conversations and the departure of M. Krassin from London, according to the Herald, organ of labor.

The newspaper adds the crisis was precipitated by the Premier insisting that before negotiations go any further the soviet government must promise compensation to British financiers who have vested interests in Russia. Krassin, it is said, offered to discuss the matter at a peace conference, but was met by what is declared to have been a virtual ultimatum.

Premier Lloyd-George is charged by the Herald as acting "at the dictation of a group of British capitalists."

C. N. R. PLANS MAY BRING EARLY ACTION

The opinion generally expressed at last night's meeting when the subject was under consideration was that the time was at hand when the opinion of the citizens should be obtained and be ready in concrete form to be placed before the railways' managers when they were ready to make decisions and proceed with actual work. The meeting seemed to feel however, that this was not an opportune time for the railways to undertake construction, although development plans for the C. N. R. here may force earlier action than anticipated.

The meeting appointed President H. A. Smith, John D. Palmer and R. W. McLellan as a committee to act with representatives of the City Council and the Board of Trade in formulating a plan of action and suggested that an interview should be arranged by the joint committee with General Superintendent J. M. Woodman of the Atlantic Division of the C. P. R. as well as with representatives of the C. N. R. to place the views of the citizens of Fredericton before them and urge early action.

A committee composed of John D. Palmer, G. W. Brown, J. J. F. Winslow, Joseph Dolphin (Marysville) and A. W. Coombes (Devon) were named to continue action in the matter of the proposed bond issue for the extension of Victoria Public Hospital and to take the matter up with the York County Council at their semi-annual session in July.

TRIED TO DESTROY NOVA SCOTIA DAM

Dynamite Used on Dam Which Prevents Fish Going Up the Musquodoboit River

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Halifax, N. S., June 22.—Resentment over the fact that the dam of a disused lumber mill at Musquodoboit Harbor was preventing salmon and trout from proceeding up the river is believed to have been the motto for an attempt to destroy the structure by dynamite recently. Fortunately the charge of dynamite was poorly placed and the only result of the explosion was the shattering of a number of windows in the village. Officials of the federation Department of Fisheries are now engaged in an effort to restore the river to its former position as one of the finest of salmon waterways in Nova Scotia.

GAVE THE POISON IN DOSE OF SALTS

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Bennington, Vt., June 22.—Byron M. Pettibone, an undertaker's assistant, was held for the grand jury yesterday charged with the murder of his wife, after Chief of Police Brazil had related an alleged confession in which the prisoner was quoted as saying he gave her poison in a dose of salts, kissed her good night and then called a physician when she complained of pains. Pettibone has since repudiated the statements attributed to him.

BIGAMIST WAS ARRESTED AGAIN

was believed by the police to have been sufficient to scare Simonds away from Boston, and he was not afterwards located there. That he and the Whitman now arrested on the grand larceny charge are one and the same person was established by means of finger prints, those made here by Chief of Police Finley having been sent to Ottawa, while those made in Massachusetts were forwarded to Washington, there being a constant exchange of finger prints between the Ottawa and Washington bureaus.

Simonds had a rather interesting career in this city before he was arrested for bigamy. He had been overseas in the C.E.F. and on his return married Miss Grace Armstrong, a daughter of Mrs. Agnes Armstrong, of this city. Later rumors were afloat that he had been married in England while overseas, and on these being traced they were found to be true and a charge of bigamy was preferred by the mother of the girl he married here against Simonds. The case was brought before Magistrate Limerick, who found Simonds guilty and sentenced him to three years in the penitentiary at Dorchester. Sentence was passed Sept. 16th, 1919, and the prisoner escaped from the York County Jail, where he was being held until the proper papers for transferring him to Dorchester had been secured. On the morning of Sept. 22nd he made his escape from his cell by raising the cross bar on the door with the aid of a bent nail on a stick of wood. He smashed one of the front windows of the jail and escaped. It was thought at the time that he made for the Maine border, but all attempts to stop him were unsuccessful and he made a clean getaway.

So far as can be learned today there are no Fredericton people residing in Inglewood, the suburb of Los Angeles, which seems to have borne the brunt of the earthquake shock in California yesterday.

McManus and his family reside at Coronado, more than 100 miles south of Los Angeles. James S. Neill, who spent last winter in California, said today that Inglewood was a prettily located and evidently prosperous town, but so far as he knew no former residents of Fredericton or this vicinity resided there or had interests in that town.

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Ottawa, June 22.—Sir Robert Borden announced at the close of the Government caucus today that two Government proopsals under discussion were: Wheat control and aid to shipbuilding, under authority to the Minister of Finance to endorse promissory notes of purchasers. To both of the proosals, Sir Robert said, the caucus had given its approval.

There was no discussion of the Government's naval estimates nor of the leadership of the party. The caucus, Sir Robert added, had taken no action on the question of increased indemnity for members. The Pound Sterling Highest Since April

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, June 22.—The English pound sterling touched four dollars in the money market here today, the highest quotation for it since April 6, when it touched $4.03. On April 5th it touched $4.07¼, which was the peak of an upward movement from the low of $3.18 on February 4. The strength of British exchange in New York this morning reflected on the discount rate of the Canadian dollar, which was enhanced in value to the extent of one per cent. The quotation at noon was 88.50. Sterling exchange declined at noon, demand being quoted at 3.98¾ and cables $3.99½.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

ADIOO GUY, 2.00 3-4 IS IN CONNECTICUT

Will Hodson Has Him at Avon for First Start—Bay Starters at Woonsocket

Will Hodson is at Avon, Conn., with Adioo Guy, 2.00¾; Will Crofer has been there some time with Direct C. Burnett, 2.01½, and John Page goes this week with Directum J., 2.01¼.

These arrivals would make it appear as if there would be a red hot free for all at the Connecticut town when the the fast pacers clash for the first time this season.

Woonsocket Opening Today.

The Bay State Circuit is at Woonsocket, R. I., this week, the meeting there being due to open today, althought the general rain all over the East yesterday, as shown in the baseball postponements, may interfere with the opening.

Frank Trott discussing the early racing on the Bay State Circuit in the Boston Globe, says

"The circuit campaigners are due to get away tomorrow at Woonsocket, where the entry is much the same as was received at Medford—surprisingly light.

"Track managers are constantly trying to meet the wants of owners and trainers, but somehow their efforts are not often appreciated in the matter of the racing system.

"Medford and Woonsocket both put on the two-in-three plan so that the horses could have the shortest system of racing possible for their first two weeks.

"That it brought a single entry is doubtful. Several trainers will make their first start next week at Cherry Park and others the following week at Windsor, where the regular three-in-five system is used. Apparently neither owners nor trainers following the Short Ship care one way or the other whether the short or lengthy system is used.

"Last fall a Massachusetts stable passed up Brockton, going over into New Jersey, the owner giving as his reason he wanted to race on the three-heat plan. Medford had three-heat racing, but the stable went to about as poor a half-mile track as the horses raced over in 1919 for three-in-five racing. Surely, it is difficult to please."

Looks like the home trainers were waiting for the good old-fashioned three-in-five racing at Cherry Park and Windsor.—Boston Globe.

Len Acker's Good Luck Is Stored up for Race Days

Horsemen have an axiom that they can only have a certain amount of good luck in a season and it looks as if Len R. Acker, the Halifax theatre owner, was storing up his supply for when the real racing starts.

Last evening he arrived from Halifax, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Warner, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and they are at the Barker House. Mr. Acker expected to see his horses that are located at the Fredericton track work today, but the rains made workouts impossible today.

To add to his troubles Mr. Acker got a report from his driver, William Hood, that his handsome new trotter, Bingen Worthy, recently imported from New York at a high figure, had not rounded into shape since his journey here.

Early Campaigners Often The Ones That Last Longest In Harness Racing Season

But the Trainers Still Fight Shy of Too Many Early Starts—The McAlister Stable Will Be Watched Carefully This Year—What About Fern Hal, 2.05¼

The announcement that the opening racing of the season in Fredericton was to be confined to one day—Dominion Day—has been received by the followers of the sport here with regret, but at the same time it seems to be generally recognized that the management have done well under the circumstances to provide such a good programme for even the one day.

Reports coming in from various places indicate that no pains were spared by those who wished to kill the chances for the "curtain raiser" here to attain their ends, and it now looks to be an open question whether or not the National Trotting Association, if not some other even more powerful body, should not be asked to take some action in the attempts made to get the McAlister stable to leave here as well as the more successful efforts to keep some other horses away.

One thing, however, has been demonstrated and that is the futility of attempting to get stables to race over here on Dominion Day and then jump back across the line again for July fourth. It looks as if the trainers considered it a bit too early to make their starts so close together unless there is a shorter shipment than is afforded from Fredericton to the American border towns. This means that except in the cases of Woodstock, St. Stephen and towns situated right at the boundary it is almost futile to put on Dominion Day races and expect the same horses that are billed to race at the Fourth celebrations in the Maine towns to be on hand.

The McAlister Stable.

Come of them will do it and there may be some fine demonstrations of the feasibility of geting in as much early season racing as possible given this year right here. The McAlister stable will make the jump from here to Houlton and so will seeral others that are now located here, and it may be they will provide some surprises for some of the trainers who hesitate about going after the early money, forgetting there are just as many cents to the dollar in July as in September. The records show lots of successful campaigners that have raced through long seasons and then in some cases continued without scarcely a letup in winter as well as summer racing.

Fern Hal, 2.05¼, is one of that kind; in fact this past winter has been the first letup she has had from continuous racing for three solid years—and she is not as young as she used to be. The condition of Fern Hal, by the way, is one of the questions exciting horsemen who have been here this season. She is carrying a lot more weight than she did last year when he was brought down to Moncton to open the season in the Potvin stable, but they may not hurt her. In fact the added weight may give her added strength, although the way she won those two feature events of the "oercoat meeting at Woodstock last October showed she had about all the strength any campaigner needed.

Stories of a New Pacer.

Fred Cameron, the genius of the McAlister stable, was easily the most sensational driver on the Maritime Circuit last season, and if he stays down in this country this year he ought to repeat. If he had accomplished what he did last year—winning something more than $6,000—with an outstanding stable ,it would not have created much of a stir; but when the horsemen remembered that his stable had been made up of the cast off daughter of Gold Hal, the Penn mare that was passed up as hopeless as a racing tool and dear old Victoria, which the wise fellows all said had finished her racing days long years before Cameron ever got her, they commenced to sit up and take notice. The shrewd Prince Edward Islander was proclaimed the king pin reinsman of the East and during the winter was deluged with lucrative offers of positions with stables that were sure to be big money winners this year.

But Fred Cameron is faithful, even if to the detriment of his personal gain, and he will pilot the same old trio of campaigners again this season for the Sussex doctor. Rumor has it that there will be an addition to the McAlister stable; in other words a new pacer eligible to the slow classes and said to be good is now being made ready to join Dr. McAlister's string soon after the season's campaign gets under way. The identity of this newcomer is being kept very much of a secret, that is to say the public are not being told that Dr. McAlister is the owner and will not be until the time comes for Fred Cameron to get up behind the newcomer. One thing certain is that if the new one is any good it will not suffer at the hands of the son of Charlottetown's city marshal—that's Fred's pedigree.—J. D. B.

Tom Murphy shipped 38 head from Poughkeepsie to North Randall on Sunday.

Helen Stiles, 2.06¾, that trotted in 2.11¼ in her race at Rockport, is 15 years of age.

JOHNNY WILSON TO MEET BARTFIELD

New Middleweight Champion's First Bout for Title on July 1 at Newark

Boston, June 22.—It will be July 1 before Johnny Wilson, the middleweight champion, will step into a ring to defend his title. Then it will be at Newark, with Soldier Bartfield, recently returned from Europe, where he had experiences that read like fiction. The soldier was held up for months as a spy, served time in foreign jails and had trouble obtaining passage home.

Bartfield is a tough piece of fighting property and Wilson is picking no soft mark to open up his fighting campaign in defence of his title. The soldier has had a fling with all the topnotchers in and out of his class and few have been able to make much headway at his expense. He fought in Boston once and did not create much of an impression, but apparently has taken on a new lease of life since then, as he has defeated quite a number of good men in this country and abroad.

Bartfield swears by the American Red Cross as the greatest institution in the world. He was arrested as a Bolshevik spy in Warsaw, but the American Red Cross came to his rescue. At Sniatyn he suffered the same experience, but once more the American Red Cross straightened out the tangle. The Bolshevik lines were only 90 kilometres from Sniatyn, and Bartfield says the roar of the guns could be plainly heard.

Bartfield went to Austria for the purpose of looking up his mother and to bring her back to this country. Travelling and other conditions were so bad, however, that he did not dare to attempt to get the old lady, who is 68 years old, out of the country. So he bought her a few more acres of land and another cow and had to leave. His voice shook as he told of it, for he fears he has seen hor for the last time.

Housing conditions are terrible all over Europe. Bartfield sought in vain for hotel accommodations in Berlin. Only a chance meeting with an American, who invited Bartfield to share his room, saved the boxer from a night in the streets. A room or bed in Warsaw could not be had for love or money, and Bartfield "put up" at the garage of the American Red Cross.

AFTER McTIGUE.

New York Boxing Manager Wants Roddie McDonald to Meet Marty Cross at the Same Time He Brings Howard.

[Halifax Chronicle.]

Clarence Gillespie, the well known pugilistic manager, of New York, writes:

"Marty Cross, weighing 145 pounds, would like to box Roddy McDonald. Cross has met them all, including Champion Jack Britton twice, and meets Britton again over the twelve round route June 28 at Jersey City.

Happy Howard, 154 who has four newspaper decisions over Mike McTigue would box the champion of the Maritime Provinces again. In their previous battles every newspaper gave Howard the edge. The latter has also met Harry Greb twice.

Mr. Gillespie, the manager of the two boys named, says he would like to have the local promoter stage the above two battles on the same night.

RATNER BEAT MARTIN

Earl Pitman is to race Northern Direct. 2.07¼.

Fred McLean a Policeman; Won't Go to Cape Breton

Fred McLean, the local baseball player, goes on duty here today as a patrolman of the Fredericton Police Department. He was sworn in yesterday afternoon before Police Magistrate Limerick and has been engaged by Chief Finley to act as relieving officer during summer holidays of the members of the force.

This means that McLean has passed up all intentions of going to Cape Breton to play professional baseball; it is altogether likely he will remain here and try to get back his amateur standing, perhaps getting a permanent appointment on the police force if he makes good during the summer.

Only One Game in Each of Major Leagues Yesterday

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

New York, June 22.—Only one game was played in each of the major leagues yesterday and the same was true of the International League, rain cutting into the schedules in a slashing manner.

In the American League Cleveland retained first place by defeating the Boston Red Sox in another game where the odd run was all that separated the teams, while in the National League the lowly Phillies pounced upon the Cincinnati team, defeating the Reds by a score of 5 to 1. Baltimore gained in the International race by winning from Akron, while the other clubs were idle.

He practically led from the start. The first mile was finished in 4 minutes, 58 2-5 seconds, the second in 10 minutes 37 4-5 seconds, and the full distance in 15 minutes 52 seconds, which is only 11 seconds slower than the track record set by Hans Holmer of 15 minutes 41 seconds. TENNIS PLAYERS GO TO WOODSTOCK

Fredericton Club Will Play First Inter-Club Match Next Saturday

The first inter-club tennis match of the season will be played next Saturday when the Fredericton Tennis Club will go to Woodstock to compete for honors.

It is not known yet just what members will represent the local club at Woodstock, but it is expected that there will be a large gathering of local tennis players at that town on Saturday. The local club which started the season with two courts have succeeded in putting the other two courts in shape so that this evening play will begin on four courts.

The outlook at the start of the season was not very bright for the club but the attendance has rallied and there are now a goodly number of aspirants enrolled in the membership of the club.

35 ENTRIES FOR RACES AT MONCTON

[Moncton Times.]

With the close of the entries for the races at the Moncton Speedway July 1st, 2nd and 3rd, Manager P. A. Belliveau, of the local track, was able to announce that he had received some thirty-five entries and that more were on their way.

A wire was received by Mr. Belliveau on Saturday asking that eight stalls be reserved for the horses of Driver Potvin, of Montreal, who is expected in the city in a few days with a good string of fast ones.

CHANEY DEFEATS MURRAY

Jersey City, N. J., June 22.—Young Chaney, the Baltimore featherweight, outpointed Johnny Murray, of New York, in a 12 round bout last night. Chaney weighed 124 pounds and Murray 125½.

Although Murray scored a clean knockdown in the fifth round with a short right to the jaw, causing Chaney to take a count of five, the men fought an even battle up to the 7th. In the eighth round Chaney took the lead and outfought Murray during the remainder of the contest.

Save Your Potato Crop

BY USING WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID WITH BORDEAUX MIXTURE

WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID has come to be recognized as the most effective insecticide for potatoes. It kills the bugs at all times and under all kinds of conditions and being very adhesive it does not wash off, as many of the other insecticides such as Paris Green. It clings to the foliage and will kill the bugs not only the day it is applied but for many days after.

In Aroostook County, which is one of the largest, if not the largest potato producing section in North America, WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID is used exclusively by the best and largest potato raisers in that famous section. During years past many imitations of this famous poison have been placed on the market, but so far all have failed to come anywhere near the standard of WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID.

BORDEAUX MIXTURE

Copper Sulphate (Blue Vitriol)	5 Lbs.
Fresh Stone Lime	5 Lbs.
Water	50 Gals.
WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID	1 Lb.

Dissolve the Blue Vitriol by pouring on hot water so that it is just covered. Use an earthern or wooden vessel. Add the lime and enough water to make 50 gallons. It is then ready for immediate use. Watson's Soluble Arsenoid must not be used alone.

Try a 2 lb. can of WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE FOR THE FAR EAST

Proposal That China Be Admitted as a Member of Anglo-Japanese Alliance

Pekin, June 21. — China should be admitted as a member of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, thus making it a Triple Alliance for the Far East, according to the conclusions reached by the Pekin and Tien-Tsin Times in a lengthy series of articles dealing with the approaching renewal of the Anglo-Japanese pact. The paper says:

"The treaty should be modified in so far as necessary to make China a party. It is a serious departure from the usual practice in international relations for two Powers to enter into an agreement respecting the interests of a third Power without the latter's assent and one which, in our view, ought not, in this instance, to be perpetuated. The inclusion of China in what would then become a Triple Alliance for the preservation of peace in the Far East and the maintenance of her integrity and independence and of the principle of equal opportunities for the commerce and industry of all nations, would constitute the most effective guarantee that nothing affecting her welfare would be done by either of the other parties without full and frank consultation with her."

Besides the admission of China to the pact, the Times proposes a series of conditions in the renewal of the alliance, by which China shall be safeguarded. One of these would bring about the restoration of China's sovereignty over the Liao Tung peninsula, including Port Arthur, and the reversion of the South Manchuria railroad to Chinese control, at the expiration of a definite period. Other conditions proposed are summarized as follows:

"The independence of China today is violated by the presence upon her soil of foreign garrisons other than the troops provided for under the 1901 protocol and the limited number of railway guards permitted for the guarding of the South Manchuria and Chinese Eastern Railways. Great Britain should insist, therefore, as condition precedent to the renewal of the Alliance upon the withdrawal of all Japanese troops on Chinese soil whose presence is not provided for in treaties or agreements in operation on July 13, 1911.

"Although Tsingtao was forcibly occupied by Germany in 1898, her administration of the port and leased territory aroused no serious opposition until 1914, when Tsingtao became a base for warlike operations against Allied shipping. The German methods of administration were liberal compared with those of the Japanese who are aiming to make it a closed port. The restoration to China of Esingtao under conditions which guarantee equality of treatment to all the Powers should therefore be insisted upon by Great Britain.

"The Shantung Railway, which is at present being used mainly to exploit Japanese interests and as a pretext for the presence of Japanese garrisons in Shantung, should become a Chinese government state railway, operated by a Chino-Japanese administration, on terms similar to the state railways operated under British supervision.

"The practice of treating the nationality of members of the customs service employed in the higher branches of the service at Tsingtao and Dairen as a test of fitness, which in effect places the heads of the customs in these ports under the jurisdiction of an interested power, should be discontinued.

"Britain and Japan should mutually agree to withdraw their post offices from China as soon as France, Italy and the United States are prepared to do likewise."

FLOATING BARROOM FREED BY COURTS

Quincy, June 21—The steamship Miami, which has been at the Fort River yards all winter undergoing alterations, left here this noon for Boston. The Miami was better known as the "floating barroom." Alterations were being made to fit her for the Havana-Florida trade and thousands of dollars were expended in making the boat a thoroughly equipped barroom.

When the boat was ready to leave last winter for Cuba a dispute arose between the Fore River Company and the company which owns the boat over the expenses incurred in remodeling the craft and the United States Court in Boston ordered her to remain at Fore River.

Just how a solution of the financial difficulty was reached is not known here, but it is evident that an arrangement was effected, as the boat steamed away from her wharf today for Boston harbor.

SUED COMPANY FOR LOSS OF TEETH

New York, June 21. — After Miss Bertha Chynsky had bitten on a cake which she purchased in a store near her home here she was shy fourteen teeth. The cake contained a piece of wire, which punctured her gums and caused the loss of her molars. She sued the manufacturers, but the trial court dismissed the suit on the ground that there was no contractural relation existing between Miss Chynsky and the cake makers. The appeal court, however, held the manufacturers responsible.

Use More Beans

[Experimental Farms Note.]

The ripe bean is a form of food very much neglected in Canada. Lack of variety is one of the serious faults in our national diet. Many people seem inclined to use a very limited number of goods and, as far as possible, to make each day's meals resemble those of the day before; while, in other cases, the dull routine of a fixed seven-day cycle prevails. It is well known that a varied diet is more wholesome than a restricted one, and, especially in these times when good food is scarce and high in price, it is realy deplorable to note the neglect of some of the best Canadian-grown food materials, such as beans, peas, Indian corn and barley, while an imported product, rice, remains quite popular in spite of its inferior quality as food and the commercial objection that Canadian money must be sent to some foreign country to pay for it.

Of all the neglected foods, the bean is perhaps the most important. It contains a large percentage of protein (approximately double the amount found in cereals) and protein is the most expensive ingredient in the materials which we consume. The bean may fairly be said to rank first among the common foods of vegetable origin, peas are of almost equal value, but wheat and barley fall below. Oats also are distinctly inferior on the whole, though they contain much more fat than beans. While it is not true, as has sometimes been assumed, that vegetable protein, as found in meats, eggs and milk, nevertheless the vegetable proteins have a high food value and the bean could, in many instances, be advantageously substituted for part of the meat ration. Considerable economy would be attained in this way, as beans are very cheap indeed in comparison with most animal products. It must be noted, however, that beans cannot be eaten freely by everyone. There are a few individuals for whom they seem unsuitable; but the vast majority of people would have better, cheaper and more enjoyable meals if beans were used more often. Matters of diet are so often settled by customs of the country rather than by inteligent thought that it is very hard to bring about changes, however desirable. Yet there seems no good reason why the regular use of beans should be limited almost to Massachusetts and a few other favored localities. In these days when, owing to the high cost of living, many individuals are inclined to break away from some of the older and more expensive customs, the introduction of the bean as a regular article of diet offers an opportunity for the display of a little originality and the exercise of judicious economy at the same time.

ABROGATE ON OLD NEW ENGLAND LAW

Brookhaven, L. I., June 21. — Town Trustee Charles J Odell is taking no chances of the prohibition law being broken or even bent out of shape in Brookhaven. He has been delving in the town by-laws and discovered that on June 2, 1710, this order was adopted:

"If any one of ye trustees after notice given doth not appear at ye time and place appointed, he shall forfeit one pint of rum."

He promptly drew a resolution voiding this old law, fearing the effect of the distribution of free rum upon the board. The other trustees supported him, though several are suspected of having murmured "Them was the days," as they registered their votes.

IN DAYS OF TERROR

"Well," continued Maurice, without noticing the fearful effect his words had produced on his listeners, "well, I have proved to you that I am a rank, good patriot, that I hate all kings and their partisans. Yet I declare, notwithstanding my opinion, which is nothing short of a deep conviction, that, notwithstanding the certainty I feel that the Austrian is in a great measure the cause of the miseries that desolate France, never, never shall any man, let him be who he may, even Santerre himself, insult the ex-queen in my presence."

"Citizen," said Dixmer, shaking his head as if he disapproved of so much hardihood, "are you aware you ought to be very sure of us before you speak of these things in our presence?"

"Before you, and before every one, Dixmer; and I will add, she may perhaps perish on the same scaffold as her husband, but I am not one to inspire a woman with fear, and I respect all those who are weaker than myself."

"And the Queen, Monieur Maurice?" demanded Genevice, timidly; "has she sometimes evinced her sense of this delicacy, to which she is so little accustomed?"

"The prisoner has thanked me several times for my consideration for her ,Madame."

"Then she must witness your turn to guard with pleasure?"

"I believe she does, Madame," replied Maurice.

"Then," said Morand, tremulous as a woman, "since you have confessed to what no one can now doubt—that is to say, a generous heart—you will not persecute the child any more?"

"Me!" said Maurice; 'ask the infamous Simon the weight of the arm of the municipal before whom he had the audacity to beat the little Capet.'

This answer produced a spontaneous movment at Dixmer's table. All the guests rose respectfully; Maurice alone remained seated, and did not imagine he had elicited this mark of admiration.

"What is the matter?" said he, astonished.

"I thought some one called from the manufactory," said Dixmer.

"No," said Genevieve; "at first I thought so, too; but we are mistaken" And every one resumed their seats.

"Ah! it is you, then, Citizen Maurice," said Morand in a tremulous voice, "who are the municipal so much talked about, and who so nobly defended a child."

"Talked about?" said Maurice, with a naivette almost sublime.

"Yours is a noble heart," said Morand, rising from the table. That he might give way to his feelings he retired to the manufactory as if some pressing busines there awaited him.

"Yes, Citizen," replied Dixmer, "they do speak about it and it should be said that all those possessed with generous hearts applaud without knowing you."

"And let him remain unknown," said Genevieve. "The glory he would acquire would be replete with danger."

Thus in the singular conversation, without knowing it, each had contributed his word of heroism, devotion, and sensibility. There had nearly been the word—Love.

CHAPTER XVII.

The Miners.

At the moment they left the table Dixmer was told that his notary awaited him in his study. He excused himself to Maurice, besides, he was accustomed to leave him thus, and proceedeo to attend his man of business. He was negotiating for the purchase of a small house, Rue de la Corderie, facing the garden of the Temple. It was rather, as to the rest, a ruin than a house that Dixmer was purchasing, for the actual basement was in a state of dilapidaton, but it was his intention to rebuild it. The bargain had not been delayed with the proprietor; that same morning the notary had seen him and agreed to pay 19,500 livres. He therefore brought the agreement for signature, and came to receive the requisite money for the purchase, as the proprietor would that day clear out the building, that the workmen might commence operations on the morrow.

The contract signed, Dixmer and Morand accompanied the notary to the Rue de la Corderie, to view the new acquisition, for they had purchased without seeing it. It was a house situated near where No. 20 now stands—three stories in height, and surmounted by a cured roof. The lower part at one time had been let to a wine-merchant, and contained some most excellent cellarage.

The proprietor, above all things, vaunted his cellars; they were the best part of the house. Dixmer and Morand appeared to attach very little interest to these cellars, yet both, as if from mere politeness, descended with the proprietor into what he called his vaults.

An exception to the general rule, he had not exaggerated. The cellars were magnificent, one of them extended under the Rue de la Corderie, and from this cellar they could hear the voitures roll over their heads. Dixmer and Morand did not appear to appreciate this advantage. They even spoke of filling them up, observing that, however convenient they might be to a wine-merchant, they became perfectly useless to honest bourgeoises, who intended to occupy the whole of the house. After the cellars they visited the first, second and third story; from the third they completely overlooked the garden of the Temple. It was, as usual, invaded by the National Guard, who enjoyed this privilege, since the Queen never walked there now. Dixmer and Morand recognized their friend, the Widow Plumeau, with her usual activity, doing the honors of her cantine, but doubtless their anxiety to be in their turn remembered by her was not very great, as they kept themselves concealed behind the proprietor, while he expatiated on the advantages of this view, at once so varied and agreeable. The purchaser then wished to see the roof. The proprietor, doubtless, was unprepared for this emergency, since he had not got the key, but, influenced by the bundle of papers of assignment shown him, he descended to search for it.

"I was not deceived," said Morand, "and this house will answer our purpose exactly."

"And what do you say to the vaults?"

"That it is an interposition of Providence, which will spare us two days' labor at least."

"Do you think it may be in the direction of the cantine?"

"It inclines a little to the left, but that is of no consequence."

"But," said Dimer, "how will you be able to follow your subterranean line with the certainty of its terminating where you wish?"

"Rest assured," said Morand; "that is my affair."

"If we were every day to give a signal from here that we are watching?"

"But from the platform the Queen could not see it, for the curved roofs alone are less in height than the platform, and yet I doubt it."

"Never mind," said Dimer, "either Maury or Toulun may see an opening somewhere, and they will inform the Queen."

And Dixmer tied several knots in a white calico curtain, passing it backwards and forwards before the window as if shaken by the wind.

NO GROUND FOR DIVORCE

Chicago, June 21. — Judge Jessie Holdom handed down the legal declaration that nightmare is not sufficient ground for divorce in refusing the application of Mrs. Ellen Harris, of 837 Drexel Square, for a court decree annulling her marriage. She had alleged that, while having a nightmare, her husband had grabbed her by the throat and almost killed her. He did not wake up until he had choked her for ten minutes.

WINTERGREEN EGGS

Winsted, Conn., June 21.—Eggs with a wintergreen flavor are now produced by Winsted hens, according to a local poultryman. The flock, thirteen in number, has had access to a large bed of wintergreen for the past month and have had many a feast on the bright red berries. The poultryman declares his customers consider the wintergreen flavor a very agreeable change.

Without investing a cent of money, Max Natanson has become the owner of an 18-story office building on the south corner of Broadway and Wall street, New York—one of the most valuable sites in the world—from which he will get an income of $45,000 a year. He had a chance to buy the building for $200,000 in cash above a mortgage of $1,100,000. He found a man who would take a lease of the property for $125,000 a year, and got him to put up $200,000 as security for fulfilment of the terms of the lease. With this $200,000 he bought the building and his return from the privileges in the structure will give him nearly $50,000 a year.

LOCAL NEWS

THE WEATHER.

Toronto, June 22.—Pressure is about normal in Manitoba and the western states, but over the greater portion of the continent it is relatiely low. Rain has fallen from Ontario to the Maritime Provinces and heavily in many localities, while a few scattered showers have occurred in Manitoba.

APPOINTMENT OF COUNTY COURT JUDGE IS EXPECTED SOON

Statutes Provides for Retirement of Judges When They Reach 75 Years

JUDGE WILSON'S 75TH BIRTHDAY THIS MONTH

Several Names Mentioned In Connection With The Appointment

Reports which are generally circulated today in well informed circles indicate that an appointment is soon to be made to the judgeship of the York, Sunbury and Queens county courts.

The statutes provide that, upon reaching the age of 75 years, a judge is automatically retired, and at Ottawa the official records show that Hon. William Wilson, of this city, the present judge of the courts, reached the age of 75 years this month. The Parliamentary Companion of the period when Judge Wilson was a member of the New Brunswick Legislature as a representative of York also shows his birthday this month to be his 75th, but it is understood that some of His Honor's friends have been given to understand that he holds that he will not be 75 years of age until 1921.

It is said, however, that the official records will be the guide, and that an appointment soon made of a successor to Judge Wilson, who, under the present law, will retire on full salary, which is $4,000 a year. Those whose names are mentioned in connection with the appointment include: Col. H. F. McLeod, M. P. for York-Sunbury, A. R. Slipp, K.C., C D. Richards, R. W. McLellan, and H. G. Fenety, all members of the local bar.

The two witnesses called were Herman Munn, brother of the defendant, and Russell McKay, a son of Robert McKay, of Boiestown. Both of these in their evidence stated the defendant had not been in the city of Fredericton during the month of August. Their evidence corroborated that of the other three witnesses.

Allison McKay then summed up for the defence, stating there was lack of corroboration on the part of the witnesses for the prosecution, and he asked the Magistrate to consider this. R. B. Hanson, K.C., for the prosecution, replied and the Police Magistrate then adjourned the case until tomorrow morning, when he will deliver judgment.

BIGAMIST WHO BROKE JAIL HERE ARRESTED AGAIN

William G. Simonds Now Serving Sentence of Five Years In Massachusetts

FINGER PRINTS TAKEN HERE REVEAL IDENTITY

Was Known as Herbert Standish When Arrested for Grand Larceny in States

William G. Simonds, who was sentenced to three years in the Maritime Penitentiary at Dorchester, N.B., by Police Magistrate Walter Limerick in the local police court last September, and then escaped from the York County Jail here before the documents for his commitment to the penitentiary had been completed for his transfer, was arrested recently in Massachusetts on a grand larceny charge and sentenced to five years imprisonment in the State Prison.

Simonds operated in Massachusetts, whence he went after his escape from the local jail, under the name of Harold Whitman, and more than once had not only the state police but also the U. S. Immigration Department officials on his trail. They had him located at a Boston hotel within a month after his hurried departure from here and were ready to deport him, but the day they went around to pick him up they found he had disappeared just as completely as the dew that had been on the grass of Boston Common a little earlier in the morning.

Finger Prints Did It.

In fact a few weeks after he had sentenced Simonds in his court here Judge Limerick met the man face to face in Harvard Square one day, while in Boston on a motor trip, but he really didn't recognize him until the escaped bigamist, who evidently didn't slacken his pace at all, was lost in the crowd. Londonderry Civil War Still Raging, With Fierce Fighting in the Streets

Unionists and Nationalists Erect Barricades at Vantage Points

THE CITIZENS KEEP TO HOMES

Considerable Looting Occurred in the City During the Night.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, June 23.—Civil war continues in Londonderry, there being fierce fighting in the streets over a wide area of the city last night, according to a Central News despatch.

BARRICADES ERECTED AT VANTAGE POINTS

Londonderry, June 23.—Londonderry was again the scene of rioting today.

At nine-thirty o'clock this morning fighting was going on between opposing parties of Unionists and Nationalists, who shot over barricades that had been erected at various vantage points.

The military was active in preventing citizens from venturing into the streets, which were deserted except by the active belligerents.

Dead and Wounded on Streets.

London, June 23.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Londonderry states that many dead and wounded are lying in the streets.

THE BRITISH NAVY MUST BE SUPREME

Australian Premier Declares the League of Nations a Great Disappointment

Wellington, New Zealand, June 23.—Premier William F. Massey declared in a speech at an entertainment given by the Savage Club for the Prince of Wales, that the British Navy "must be supreme at all costs."

"I was one of those who at Paris thought the League of Nations would in a few years be strong enough to exercise a profound influence in preventing war," he continued. "I must admit now that the League of Nations is a great disappointment. We look around and see two great powers, Japan and the United States, building bigger and more powerful ships than ever. Those powers clearly do not believe that the League of Nations can end war.

"It would be calaminous if when war comes other nations should possess more numerous and more powerful ships than Great Britain, whose Empire depends on her sea power."

TO EXTERMINATE THE PRAIRIE DOG

Pierre, S. D., June 23.—A rigid campaign for the extermination of the destructive prairie dog from many western South Dakota counties is being carried on with a view to turning the thousands of acres which in past years has shown little growth of green, into fertile pastures and cultivated land.

Crews of men with regular camping outfits take the field and work half a township thoroughly in search of these rodents. Poisoned bait is spread and after passing on to the other half of the township a rear guard again surveys the ground first covered. If there is need this territory is gone over a second time. Many such crews are now at work.

Vivid Account of Attempt To Assassinate Inspector of Irish Constabulary in Dublin

Assassins Concealed Behind Pillars of Railway Bridge and Opened Fire on Auto As It Passed—Inspector Roberts Hit in First Volley, as Was Chauffeur

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

London, June 23.—Great apprehension has been caused in Dublin by the attack on Assistant Inspector General Roberts yesterday, which recalls the recent attempt to assassinate Field Marshal Viscount French, says a despatch to the London Times.

Describing the incident, the correspondent says Roberts spent the night at his home at Sutton, a few miles out of the city, and returned by train at 10 o'clock in the morning. He was met there by an automobile containing police officers, and when it started for Dublin Castle other policemen fell in behind. As the car neared the railway bridge at Beresford Place a party of men stepped from their place of concealment behind the pillars of the bridge, drew revolvers and opened fire. The occupants of the automobile instantly replied, and the shooting on both sides was almost continuous as long as the car was in sght of the attacking party.

During the height of the firing two bombs were thrown, the explosions being heard over a large part of the city. Apparently neither the attackers or the police officers were injured by the bombs.

Roberts was shot in the head at the first volley and fell against the chauffeur, who, although shot through both legs, never lost his grip on the wheel and drove the car at furious speed out of danger. It is said that beyond doubt Roberts owes his life to the chauffeur's presence of mind. The whole incident lasted only a couple of minutes, but during this time, it is declared, at least fifty shots were fired.

Roberts and the chauffeur, whose name is Pathe, were conveyed to the Military Hospital from the Castle and were doing well last night. No arrests have been made, and it is not known whether any of the assailants of the Assistant Inspector General were wounded.

Roberts was appointed to office a few months ago, in succession to Inspector Redmond, who was killed by unknown assailants January 20 last.

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 23.—About 25,000 children, between the ages of 5 and 18, failed to attend any schools here within the year, is the statement issued yesterday in the report on the school census submitted to the Montreal Catholic School Commission. The total number of children of school age is given at 105,335 and of these 24.00 per cent., representing 25,009 children, do not attend school. After the age of 13, the attendance drops heavily.

The Protestant school commission is also taking a census.

DROP IN SILVER BANKRUPTS CHINA

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Shanghai, June 23—Owing to the drop in silver, Chinese importers are threatened with a loss of sixty million taels during the fiscal year if the current exchange rate continues. This is the estimate of the Importers Association, which is appealing to the British and American Chambers for aid and an extension on pending contracts, the fulfillment of which would mean possible widespread bankruptcy. Foreign importers also are likely to suffer heavy losses.

LOSS OF ALCOHOL MAKES DEFECTIVES

Chicago Report Shows Hospitals Are Filling Up While Jails Are Less Popular

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Chicago, June 23.—While under prohibition the number of jail inmates has decreased twenty-five per cent. and jail costs have been lowered in the country by half a million dollars since July 1, 1919, when prohibition first went into effect, there is a reported increase in the number of defectives, B. G. Lewis, Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies of New Jersey, declared here yesterday.

Mr. Lewis was the chief speaker at a joint meeting of the American Association of Public Officials of Charity and Correction and the National Conference on Education of Backward Children.

Mr. Lewis declared that whereas a short time ago officials of hospitals and similar institutions were faced with empty wards through the decrease in alcoholics, they now were seeking room in which to care for defectives.

Mr. Lewis quoted statements from physicians to the effect that the increase in defectives was due to the decrease in still-born children, and that this decrease was due to shutting off of alcohol.

Similar demonstrations are reported ocurring elsewhere in Wurttemberg, notably at Ravensburg, and in other parts of Germany, including Osnabrueck, in Hanover; Crefeld, in the Rhine Provinces, and Frankfort-on-Main.

Many clashes have occurred between the police and the Reichswehr on the one hand and the demonstrators on the other.

Stormed the Prison.

Berlin, June 23.—Riotous demonstrations against the high prices of food, in which many persons were wounded in clashes with the police, are reported from Osnabrueck, Province of Hanover; from Crefeld, in the Rhine province, and from Frankfort-on-Main.

At Osnabrueck a crowd tried to storm the prison. Shops were plundered and some persons were wounded by shots fired by the police.

Fruit stands at Frankfort were attacked by mobs, the vendors being compelled to reduce their prices.

Socialists Score Victory.

Berlin, June 23.—Independent socialists scored an overwhelming victory in the first election for the municipal council since the inclusion of the outer suburbs in Greater Berlin. Eighty eight out of the 225 seats were won by independent socialists, while the social democrats elected 38 councillors. These two socialist factions, which co-operate in municipal politics, therefore will have a decisive majority.

Issues on which the elections were fought deal mainly with the food question, wages, cheap transportation and others of a public-utility nature.

Greater Berlin's floating debt at the end of April was 1,175,000,000 marks, of which 522,000,000 marks is unsecured. The war made tremendous inroads on the city's revenue.

Important Judgment Issued By the Board of Commerce in Matter of Hamilton Grocers

The Ruling Establishes the Legal Right of the Manufacturers to Adopt a Selling Policy and to Refuse to Deal With Those Who Will Not Adhere to Terms

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, June 23.—The judgment issued by the Board of Commerce in the case of the Hamilton grocers is considered to be one of the most important to the mercantile world ever given by any court in Canada.

It establishes that the manufacturer has the legal right to establish a selling policy and to refuse to deal with those who will not adhere to the terms of that policy. If he decides to deal only with wholesalers he may refuse to sell to others than wholesalers; if he decides to establish a fixed resale price for his goods, and makes it a fair price, he may refuse to deal with those who sell above or below that price.

The decision also establishes that an association of wholesalers, or an individual wholesaler, may request of a manufacturer that he adhere to his own or a suggested selling policy and that, if the manufacturer refuses to do so, the wholesalers, by way of an association or individually, may agree to refuse to trade with that manufacturer, or may actually refuse.

The principle is laid down that traders have the right to associate for the purpose of advancing their mutual interests in any way except by doing something actually forbidden by law. The Combines and Fair Prices Act does not forbid mere agreement, or combining on any matter, unless in the opinion of the Board of Commerce it is likely to operate to the detriment of the public, and whether it does so is a matter of fact which must be proved and established as such in the particular case.

The effect of the board's decision in that it holds that the Attorney General of Ontario completely failed to establish any detriment to the public or against their interests. All that was shown was that private persons seeking their own private interests as against the opposition in concert of the wholesalers' association, and the members thereof, who, although themselves no doubt engaged in advancing their personal interests, had not in the effort asked or secured anything to the detriment of or against the interest of the public.

The board suggests that if its view of the law is considered wrong it will expedite an appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. It will be recalled that the board rendered an interim judgment at the conclusion of the hearing in March last at Hamilton and Toronto, in which it expressed the view that the case had failed to do the thing suggested to the Attorney General of Ontario that if he saw fit the board would grant leave to him to prosecute in the criminal courts. He did not institute a prosecution, but recently issued a writ in the Ontario court at Toronto calling for the dissolution of the Wholesale Grocers' Association of Canada and Ontario, as unlawful trade combinations. Some days ago the secretary of the Wholesale Grocers' Association made the statement that the writ had not been served.

PROHIBITION ISSUE BEFORE DEMOCRATS

Postmaster General Burleson Says Ridiculous Restrictions Should Be Stricken Out

QUESTION OF BONE DRY OR A BEER PLATFORM

A Tempestuous Debate Expected on the Floors of the Hall Next Week

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

San Fransisco, June 23.—Intense interest was aroused today among Democratic leaders here for the national convention, which opens Monday, by reports of a statement made at San Antonio, Texas, by Albert S. Burleson, Postmaster General, on the subject of prohibition enforcement.

Mr. Burleson stated that he would "vote for repeal of the drastic and absurd provisions of the Volstead Act," if he were the rankest prohibitionist in Texas. While he said it would be impossible to repeal the act, "the ridiculous and unnecessary restrictions should be stricken out." Coming from a member of President Wilson's cabinet, the statement was taken here as a possible intimation of the administration's attitude on the prohibition issue before the convention.

Senator Glass, of Virginia, who arrived this morning, is believed to have been entrusted with a formal expression of the President's views as to the platform. In the meantime it is generally believed that on the prohibition plank Mr. Burleson has sounded the keynote. The prohibition plank is looked upon as the chief issue in the Democratic platform fight.

If the Burleson statement can be taken as official, leaders say, it is evident that W. J. Bryan and the administration forces will clash over the prohibition plank. On the League of Nations issue and the Armenian mandate Bryan is also on the opposite side of the fence from the President.

Hope that the gathering storm might spend itself behind the closed doors of the platform committee virtually was abandoned by the leaders and they prepared to face an outbreak of tempestuous debate on the floor of the convention itself.

Closely intertwined with the prohibition question is the problem of selecting a nominee in accord with the platform as finally agreed on, and among many of the practical politicians there is a feeling that the two decisions must be settled virtually at one stroke. So the pleas of candidates' managers are falling on deaf ears for the present, while leaders get their bearings on the more immediate question of a bone dry or a beer platform.

Such talk as there was today regarding candidates seemed to strengthen the prospects of a deadlock for several ballots. Some of those in the inner circle of plans said it was hard to conceive how the two-thirds necessary to nominate could be brought into one column for two or three roll calls at least.

FREDERICTON MAN PASTOR OF CHURCH

Rev. Dr. H. Porter's Congregation to Raise $75,000—To Enlarge Church

[Atlanta, Ga., Constitution.]

The Second Baptist church has been making extensive plans for enlargement and improvement of its building ,to cost $75,000. For more than a year these plans have been under consideration, but activity was delayed because of the Southern Baptist $75,000,000 campaign, in which the Second Baptist church bore a leading part, pledging $222,000.

With the completion of this great work interest in the contemplated improvements was revived, the church feeling that its enlarged programme for Baptist missionary and educational work should be matched by an equally ambitious local programme.

Recently the matter has been agitated by the Men's Club, a virile organization of the church, of which Colonel F. J. Paxon is president. A committee was appointed, of which J. G. Dodson is chairman and Walter R. Brown, who led the church two years ago in paying off a long-standing debt, is vice chairman.

Memebrs of Committee.

Other members of the committee are Robert E. Harvey, who was organizer of the successful 75 million drive; F. S. Etheridge, vice chairman of the board of deacons; E. L. Harling, treasurer of the church; J. S. Spalding, superintendent of the Sunday school; J. S. McCullough, Colonel F. J. Paxon and Dr. Henry Alford Porter. To this committee Mrs. Frances B. Chase, president of the Women's Society, and Mrs. F. J. Paxon, president of the Business Women's League, were added in order that the womanhood of the church might be fully represented.

The committee secured a specialist in church architecture and presented his recommendations to a large gathering of the men of the church and later to the board of deacons and the Women's Society. The recommendations were in the main approved and have been unanimously adopted by the church.

The work will be carried out as rapidly as income funds will permit, and first attention will be given to the needs of the Sunday school. A new Sunday school building was erected about ten years ago, but it is now inadequate for the growing life of the school. A second story will be built over part of the present Sunday school building, and interior changes will be made so as to provide sufficient space for each department to expand to full strength, and give space for a Sunday school of 1,500.

Will Install Galleries.

In addition, a new steam heating plant will be installed, galleries will be run about the church auditorium and seated with opera chairs, increasing the capacity of the building about 500. The plan calls also for a new organ. Provision will be made for a ladies' parlor, with a thoroughly up-to-date kitchen adjoining, and for a gymnasium and social room for the young people.

It is estimated that the whole plan will require an expenditure of $75,000 or more, and it is to be called "The Seventy-five Thousand Dollar Campaign."

Dr. Porter and the entire church are enthusiastic over the new outlook and enlarged opportunity for their work which the execution of the plans will provide. An effort is to be made in the near future to secure subscriptions covering the entire amount.

Rev. Dr. Porter is a son of the late H. A. Porter, of this city, and is a brother of Wayland F. Porter and Arthur Porter of Fredericton, while Major the Rev. Fred Porter, who is now engaged in Bible Society work, is another brother. Before taking up his present important church in Atlanta, Rev. Dr. Porter was for three years at Dallas, Texas, where he had a most successful pastorate.

PLAN FOR A HIGH COURT OF NATIONS

The Phillimore Plan Likely to Be Adopted by International Conference

The Hague, June 22.—The conference of International Jurists appeared to be in a fair way last night to an agreement on the adoption of the Phillimore Plan for a high court of nations. Though all arrangements are still tentative, the plan, which was submitted by Lord Phillimore, representing Great Britain, would give the council of the League of Nations, which is controlled by the big powers, the right to name the panel from which the assembly of the league, in which all nations will be represented, would choose perhaps fifteen Judges.

Lord Phillimore submitted a proposal for the recognition of the fact that in the world there exist several distinct types of law, such as English law, Spanish law and Japanese law.

He suggested that judges be selected representing these types, the selection to rest with the existing court of arbitral justice at The Hague.

PRESENT INDEMNITY WILL NOT BE RAISED

Sir Robert Borden Tells Caucus That Opposition Would Not Support the Measure

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

Ottawa, June 22.—For this session at least the indemnity question is dead. Sir Robert Borden gave the movement its quietus in caucus yesterday when, in very frank language, he told the members just how matters stood as a result of negotiations between the three parties in the House. There have, apparently, been several approaches made to the leaders of both the regular opposition and the Farmers' party, and the result has not been satisfactory. Apparently, at the first and formal presenting of the proposition, both leaders agreed that there should be an increase in the salaries of cabinet ministers and judges of the supreme court, but were non-committal on the matter of sessional indemnities for members of Parliament.

There was another interview, which was of a more casual character, at which both Mr. King and Mr. Crerar expressed themselves. Mr. Crerar said that so far as indemnities were concerned he was absolutely opposed to any increase and would take that stand in the House, and this was the attitude of all his followers, with the exception of Dr. Clarke, who favored the increase. Mr. King said he realized that there were a number of his followers who were in favor of an increase, but so far as he was personally concerned he reserved absolute freedom as to what action he should take on the matter in the House. The caucus was told that under such circumstances it was probable the Opposition leader would make a speech in the House in which he would say the government was discredited and had no mandate, and that it would be an outrageous thing that they should remain in office and grab for themselves increased indemnities. It was put up to the caucus whether it would be wise to invite such criticism by an increase.

The view of the caucus was that it would not be wise, but some of the disappointed ones are proposing to get even by refusing to pass the estimate for the salary of the leader of the opposition. As this is a statutory estimate, any opposition to it will probably accomplish nothing more than to register the views of the members who raise the question.

SUGGEST LEAGUE MEET IN CANADA

Sir Herbert Ames Tells Members of House of Workings of League of Nations

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Ottawa, June 23.—Dealing with the meetings of the council of the League of Nations, Sir Herbert Ames, financial secretary of the league, in the House last night said he had been impressed by the fact that in all six meetings of the council, where important subjects had been dealt with, every decision had been unanimous.

"The will to agree is the spirit of the council of the league," he declared.

The position attained by Canada in the league marked a long step forward in her constitutional development. She met the other nations as an equal She was eligible for a seat on the council and had the right of voting for the election of one half of the council. She further had the right of direct access of any question specially affecting her interests. It was important, therefore, that her deputation should include her foremost statesmen, and that the various parts of the British Empire should get together to study the coming problems.

Sir Herbert asked why the second meeting of the assembly should not be held in Ottawa. All facilities could be provided here, and it was fitting that the second meeting should be on the North American continent.

He suggested that Canada's deputation next November bring this invitation to the league.

Sir Herbert paid tribute to the work of Sir Robert Borden in helping to get an international labor office established and away to a good start.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King thanked Sir Herbert on behalf of the opposition for his "interesting, illuminating and comprehensive address. It outlined the dawn of a finer era and strengthened the hope that co-operation instead of coercion would be the guiding spirit in international affairs in the future.'

He hoped that Sir Herbert before he returned to Europe would try to impress the members of his party with the fact that the League of Nations was an accomplished fact, and that it indicated the necessity for the development of industry in Canada rather than big expenditures on militia and defence.

BEGGAR'S PROPOSAL

Birmingham, Ala., June 22. — Birmingham has just lost an opportunity for securing more revenue. A man, apparently a cripple, hobbled into the City Hall and offered to pay the city $25 a week for the privilege of begging on a certain street corner. DECIDE FUTURE OF UNION GOVERNMENT

Caucus of Party to Be Held Within Few Days and Political Atmosphere Cleared

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, June 23.—What is already being referred to as the big caucus, at which there will be a general airing of opinion as to what shall be the future course of the government on matters of policy, and with regard to an attempt to form some sort of permanent Unionist organization, will be held before the closing of the session.

Sir Robert Borden told the members present at yesterday's caucus that there were matters of grave importance to be discussed, which he did not think it advisable to take up until there was the fullest possible representation of members present. Accordingly steps have been taken to summon the absentees, and the caucus will be held at the earliest possible moment.

The Premier gave no intimation of what would be placed before the gathering when it is summoned, but it is understood that it is his intentionato have a very frank discussion of the whole question, in view of expressions of opinion on the part of some western members who are still giving the government support, but have declared themselves as desiring that there should be a frank discussion of the situation before they finally decide what their future course shall be. It is believed that Sir Robert still entertains some hope of effecting some organization which will retain the support of all members now sitting on the government side, and in any event there are not likely to be many further defections from the government ranks.

While many of Sir Robert Borden's intimates in the cabinet say he has not given them any forecast of his intentions, there is a strong impression prevailing that he will announce his retirement at this caucus, which will probably be held on Friday of this week or Tuesday of next week. As to who shall be his successor there is still the same uncertainty. Hon. Arthur Meighen and Sir Thomas White are the only names now heard mentioned, and Sir Thomas' attitude is still made a mystery of, although he has declared emphatically to former associates in the cabinet that he will not accept the premiership under any consideration.

HOUSE ACCEPTS PENSIONS REPORT

Ottawa, June 22.—Just before rising for dinner recess, the House, after nearly four hours of discussion today, concurred in the report of the Special Committee on Pensions. Hume Cronyn, of London, chairman of the Committee, first outlined the scope of the Committee's recommendations. Increased pensions under the report, he said, would raise the Dominion's annual pension bill from $25,000,000 to $33,000,000. For the benefit of approximately 177,035 pensioners, the committee had found it necessary to recommend an average increase of fifty per cent. over the pension scale adopted a year ago.

THE WHEAT BOARD DISTURBING FACTOR

Government Will Not Call on Board to Function Unless All Other Agencies Fail

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, June 23.—Among the matters discussed in the caucus on Tuesday was that of the wheat board. There has been a very strong lobby maintained here for some time past both for and against the Board, and there has been considerable doubt as to what the attitude of the government would be with regard to it. The first definite intimaion was when a resolution appeared on the order paper on Monday in the name of the Minister of Trade and Commerce providing for the appointment of the Board. It may be noted that the proposed legislation is permissive, it says the government "may" appoint the board, and the explanation of the legislation given to the caucus yesterday morning would seem to indicate that it will not be appointed, or at all events, not be called upon to function, unless all other agencies fail.

There was apparently pretty strong opposition to the legislation manfested in the caucus, but the government seems to have convinced some of those who were most strongly opposed to it that the appointment of the new Board is simply to provide against a contingency. There was a distinct understanding given to the caucus that the Board would not operate unless Great Britain, France, Italy and the United States should begin dealing with wheat in their national capacity. In that event it may become necessary to make use of the Board again. Under the Lever law the United States can reorganize their Board at a moment's notice and if this is done and affects the market Canada will also take steps.

In the meantime, a meeting was held yesterday afternoon between a sub-committee of the cabinet and representatives of the grain trade from all over Canada when the whole matter was gone into very thoroughly. The government made its position impressive, stating that its idea was decentralization, with the termination of control at the earliest moment possible. It urged that the grain exchanges should be opened at the earliest possible moment and that they should again take charge of grain trading. The grain men asked what assurance they would have that the markets would not again be suddenly closed after they should have acquired large quantities of grain, and if that were done, would the grain be taken from them at a lower price than they had paid, as was done when the grain was commandeered before, or would they be secured against loss. The Government did not seem to have fully considered this aspect of the case, and was not prepared to make immediate reply. Further conferences will be held tomorrow, when it is hoped that some definite arrangement will be arrived at.

GOVERNMENT AID FOR SHIPBUILDING

Unionist Members in Caucus Raised No Opposition to the Proposals Made

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

Ottawa, June 22.—Among the three subjects discussed at the Government caucus yesterday, not the least important was that of the Government aid to shipbuilding. The proposal is that the Minister of Finance may be authorized to provide aid by endorsing promissory notes in favor of the shipbuilder for fifty per cent. of the price of ships of not less than three thousand tons, where not less than twenty-five per cent. of the purchase price is paid by the purchaser to the builder, and the payment of a further 25 per cent. is arranged for on a sort of fifty-fifty basis of aid, the vessels to be mortgaged to the Government until the indebtedness is discharged. It is believed that such assistance will be the means of bringing large orders for ships to Canada.

It will be recalled that the Minister of Marine, Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, stated in public a few weeks ago that he had recently had inquiries from France and elsewhere for Canadian built hip, providing some assistance were lent in financing. It is understood that the minister had reference to inquiries from France, and it is said that a large credit association with which Sir Henry Pellat is associated has partly arranged its finances, and with the assitance suggested in this bill arrangements can be made for the orders to be placed in Canada. When the matter was brought up in caucus it was pointed out that there are now thirty thousand skilled shibuilders working in Canadian yards, who would seek other fields of employment abroad, and if Canada undertook to proceed with the shipbuilding industry hereafter this labor would have to be sought for again at great trouble and expense and inconvenience. It would mean the closing of shipyards all over Canada, and private enterprise is willing to put up 25 per cent. before the security suggested from the Government is asked for. There was no opposition whatever to the proposal in caucus.

SAVED FIREMAN'S LIFE

Smith Centre, Kan., June 22. — Not having a match to light a cigar saved the life of a fireman on one of the locomotives attached to a train that had become stalled near here. Leaving the cab of the engine he started back to get a light. He had hardly reached the second car from the engine when the engine's boiler blew up, destroying the locomotive.

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

Press rumors have from time to time announced caucuses of the Government party in Parliament' to receive a statement from Sir Robert Borden as to his intentions; whether to continue as Premier and reorganize the Cabinet, or whether to retire, leaving the formation of a new government to another of the party agreed upon by caucus. But these rumors were not wholly accurate. There have been caucuses, and others are yet to be held within the next several days, not, however, to hear a statement from Sir Robert as to the future, but to get party opinion on some proposed legislation having to do with matters of considerable importance. It is not to be expected that the caucus at which Sr Robert will take his followers into his confidence as to his intentions in regard to the leadership of the party will be held until the closing hours of the present session, if not later. If Sir Robert has decided that his health will not permit him to continue, the change will naturally take place immediately after he has made the fact known. To effect such a change while Parliament is in session would needlessly disturb the business of the House and the business of the country; and naturally things will proceed as they are proceeding until the work of the session is complete, or nearly so.

At present the people of the country are much interested in the business before Parliament. Not for many years (except the war period) has Parliament dealt with so many matters of such grave importance to the country as those through which our much needed increased revenue is to be raised; our returned soldiers re-established and recompensed; our merchant marine provided for and general shipbuilding promoted to, if possible, adequately meet the pressing needs of the country; to encourage development of agriculture and industrial enterprise. The country may not be fully satisfied with all that has been done, and with the way in which it has been done, but to the country the proposals and the principles involved are of vastly greater importance than the mere fact that one or two portfolios are yet unfilled. There are undoubtedly at present several subjects on which the party of power and its followers are divided in opinion; but, as in all other countries, things are gradually getting back to normal, and naturally public business will soon be the better of the return to conditions that are sane.

The indications are a new government within a comparatively few weeks. And it will be well for the people of Canada, it will be well for the business of Canada, and for the general welfare of Canada, if our big men, clean men, men of national reputation, men of character, leaders in the public life of the country, irrespective of party or sections, will unite and devote their energies and abilities to the common good.

THE U. S. AND PULPWOOD.

President Wilson has not signed the Underwood resolution for the appointment of a commission to "negotiate" with this country relative to provincial export embargoes. This precious resolution, it will be remembered, passed both the Senate (which gave it birth) and the House of Representatives. As the Montreal Gazette points out the avowed object of its sponsors was to open Canadian pulpwood resources for exploitation by United States papermakers, the reckless waste of the product having resulted in the partial exhaustion of domestic supplies. The obstacles to be overcome lay in the provincial embargoes upon the exportation of pulpwood cut upon Crown Lands. Although these embargoes are of long standing and are applicable equally to all users, whether Canadian or American, the Underwood group persisted in representing them as discriminatory. This misrepresentation was employed for the purpose of justifying a threat of reprisals, which threat was made openly and repeatedly; if the Canadians would not hand over their pulpwood resources to foreign competitors, they were to be made to do so.

The Underwood resolution was one of the left-overs when Congress adjourned, having been passed but having failed to receive the President's signature. A number of bills were in the same position. Their demise in such circumstances is attributed to what is called the "pocket veto." In the case under consideration, however, there was something more. The United States Attorney General gave it as his opinion that presidential signatures would be valid if affixed within a ten-day period after the adjournment of Congress. Mr. Wilson, accordingly, signed a number of bills which thereby become operative. He had the same opportunity of signing the Underwood resolution and did not sign it. His omission to do so must have been deliberate and may be looked upon as something more than a mere pocket veto. This conclusion is supported by the fact that the resolution was not viewed with favor by the State Department, where it must have been recognized as an unjustifiable attempt to interfere in the domestic affairs of a friendly neighbor, an attempt calculated to prejudice the good relations so long maintained between the two countries. Mr. Underwood may try again, but for the present he has been disarmed.

CANADIAN OFFICER LOST ENGLISH BRIDE

Girl Fell in Love With English Captain While Crossing the Ocean to Wed Canadian

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

New York, June 22.—United States immigration authorities at Ellis Island today face the problem of straightening out a "love triangle," born of moonlit nights on the swelling Atlantic, in which Captain R. Kitchen, of Sydney, C. B., late of the Canadian Field Artillery, is portraying the role of rejected suitor.

Miss A. Butler, of Manchester, England, a young woman of twentytwo summers, begged the Ellis Island authorities to give her freedom at least long enough to marry Captain T. Mellor, of the British army, who made her forget in a three day courtship on the steamship Royal George, bound from Liverpool to Halifax, the Canadian veteran whom she had intended to wed when she sailed ten days ago for Halifax.

The Canadian authorities refuse to permit Miss Butler to land at Halifax for any other purpose than to marry the Canadian who had provided the wherewithal for her to make the trip to Canada and whom she promised to marry when Captain Kitchen was in Manchester last year on leave. The Canadian authorities put her on the steamship Caronia, bound for England via New York. Captain Mellor wireless ed her to stop at New York, whither he was hurrying by train. When she stopped she was taken in charge here by the immigration authorities.

MONTREAL POLE HANGED HIMSELF

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 23.—The body of a Pole, believed to be Fransisck Nourick, fifty years of age, was found lying in a ditch on a private road off Western Avenue, this city, yesterday, and it is believed that the man hanged himself to a branch overhanging the road. The body was in so advanced a stage of decomosition when found that the head rolled off the body and remained in the hat when officers picked up the body to take it away. Identi cation was made by a passport issued to the man in New York on April 27 last, whisc was found in a pocket.

UNIQUE CREW ON A DANISH VESSEL

New York, June 23.—More than 150 Danish bankers, doctors, lawyers, teachers and professional farmers were enrolled among the engine and deck crews of the Scandinavian-American steamship Frederick VIII., which arrived here today from the strike bound port of Copenhagen, the first vessel of the line to reach the United States in three months.

OBITUARY

Leonard B. Williams.

Friends of Leonard B. Williams will regret to hear of his death which occurred at his home, Long Reach, on Sunday, June 20. Mr. Williams was thirty-six years of age and died following an operation for appendicitis. He was a son of the late James T. Williams and is survived by six brothers, Captain E. C. Williams, of Brown's Flats; Hudson T. and G. R. Williams, of Boston; Rev. W. I. Williams, of Keswick, and C. B. and S. A. Williams, both of St. John.

E. J. Sisson.

Andover, June 21—Death came with awful suddenness to our village on Friday, the 18th, claiming one of the well-known residents. Elijah Sisson. Mr. Sisson was hauling a load of pulp wood near his home, when a rein broke and in some way, when he got down to fix it, the loaded wagon ran ahead and passed over him, crushing him so badly that he lived only for two hours afterward A sad coincidence was that his wife died very suddenly just a few weeks before. He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Murray Ryan, Mrs. Whitney Beazley and Miss Violet Sisson, three brothers and two sisters.

Dr. and Mrs. A. F. McIntosh and two children, of Andover, arrived here Saturday night and will spend a fortnight with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wallace, George street.

IMPROVEMENT IN NEW YORK MARKET

Exchange on London Has Eased Slightly From Tuesday's High Quotations

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

New York (Wall Street), June 23.—Steels and equipments displayed further heaviness at the quiet opening of today's stock market, oils and motors also reacting. Harvester fell 1½ points and Vanadium and Sloss Sheffield lost large fractions, with United States Rubber. Crucible made an initial gain of 1¾ points, most of which was soon forfeited, and Industrial Alcohol rose 1 point. Rails were neglected in the early dealings, the few transactions among leaders showing only trifling changes.

The Noon Market.

Moderate improvement was shown by the general list before the end of the first hour, steels and equipments rallying on covering in Crucible, American Car and New York Air Brake. Oils and chemicals strengthened on buying of Mexican Petroleum, Barrett and National Aniline. Corn products also rose a point, but other food specialties, notably sugars, were heavy. In the railroad division Great Northern and Northern Pacific featured a better tone, coalers and eastern lines also making some headway. Exchange on London eased slightly from yesterday's high quotations and call money repeated its recent initial rate of 8 per cent.

PAPER STOCKS ON MONTREAL MARKET

Firmer Tendency Shown Today and Spanish River Touched 148¾

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 23.—With a fairly strong closing of the local market yesterday afternoon it was not surprising that a number of securities should open on the active and upward side this morning.

There is a great deal of talk of tight money, but when the market shows a strengthening tone, sufficient funds for purchasing powers seem to come from nowhere.

Atlantic Sugar was quite a performer, opening at 125 and advancing several points on heavy trading. Quebec Railway was also quite active, but only made a fractional gain in the first hour to 29 7-8. The outlook for this company appears more promising.

The paper stocks, while quiet in the early trading, showed a firmer tendency, Brompton selling at 137, while Spanish River preferred touched 148¾. The others were at yesterday's closing. Shawinigan, on the strength of $4,000,000 sale of gold bonds, showed some strength, selling up to 111. The rest of the market was unchanged.

"The Investment Marketplace"

The Logic Of Buying Bonds

"The logic that is impelling foresighted investors to place their investment funds in Bonds and Good Preferred Stocks is now quite well known. Briefly the theory—and it has worked out in practice over a number of years—is that when commodity prices and interest rates come down from their present heights the return sought by investors on fixed interest-bearing securities will become less. That means the investor will be willing to pay more for Bonds and Preferred Stocks, and quotations will rise in consequence."—Forbes Magazine, New York.

Director—"We have divided up the work so that each of the directors has a fair share to do. Higgins is secretary, I am treaurer, and Spriggs is—"

Griggs—"Why, Spriggs is so deaf that he can't hear thunder. What does he do?"

"Mr. and Mrs. Slocum seems to be an ideal couple. Last night I noticed how their thoughts always coincided."

"Yes," but did you observe also that it was always the lady who thought first?"

Otherwise Idealized.

"Are your portraits good likenesses?"

"Well, yes, of course—if the sitter insists."

FROM THE PEOPLE

SURRENDER IF WRONG

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—"Our country, right or wrong," is not good ethics, or patriotism, in my opinion. Stand for the right as long as you believe you are right; have the courage to surrender when you know you are wrong.

This is the basis of all civilization and Christianity. Yours,

Grand Falls, June 19, 1920.

CHURCH ATTENDANCE

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I wonder why so few people attend church? Why do so many people deny themselves the social and spiritual advantage of attending church? A certain writer, describing a stranger's visit, says: "I took him to a church and showed him the people at prayer and told him what the preacher was saying. He turned to me and said: 'Here there are words of wisdom, but the hearers are few!' I led him next day to the vaudeville and told him what the girls were singing. 'Here,' he remarked, 'are words of folly and wantonness, but the hearers are many!'" Why do people deprive themselves of spiritual counsel when they can get it for the mere asking? Yours,

ARE WE HENPECKED RACE?

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I have lived in great cities of this country during my life and have carefully observed the trend of the national life. Twenty years ago the women did very nicely because they insisted on a certain amount of deference, this being called "chivalry" then. From this the women conceived the idea that the men of the country were afraid of them and, led by a number of women's rights fanatics, started out to obtain their present dominant position.

Nowadays the women demand an equal share in civic and domestic life, and their "equal share" is based on the principle that man and wife are one, and the wife is the one. Women want an equal share on a 90-10 basis, the women getting the 90 end.

Will you ask your readers if it is not about time the men woke up? Must this Canada continue to be known as a henpecked country, ridden and ruled by women?

Yours,

JOHN.

THE TIPPING HABIT

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I have attempted several times to send my contribution to your estimable column, but lack of time prevented. However, I trust you will find room for this letter; it concerns the tipping evil. Some time ago I saw a letter from one reader asking why he, a clerical worker, should be called upon to pay a tip to the barber, whose wages were unquestionably higher than his own. His reasoning is ethical, but I would extend the question so as to include the public in general. I think my experience today would be interesting: I had a shine, which I seldom have nowadays, and in leaving the bootblack I, for curosity, tipped the fellow. He mechanically took the money, turned and never made the slightest attempt to offer a word of gratitude—and the tip was the regulation one.

Next, in one of the well known barber shops down town my bill was 90 cents; even as you and I, I tipped—the tip was 15 cents, which I think anybody will concede was substantial in comparison with the bill. Do you think the barber murmured "Thank you"? No, he did not murmur. He went on with the victim who fell into the chair when I got up.

The reader may ask, "What are you going to do about it?" Personally, I am not going to tip. That may seem easy to say, but it is just as easy to do. Of course my withdrawing my tip will not help at all in abolishing the habit—that can only come through concerted action, such as the refusal of the public to pay the insane prices of necessities—but at present it will help me by relieving me of embarrassment and by keeping tip money in my pocket, where it belongs.

It is argued that certain classes are dependent upon tips. Just you let the public refuse to pay out tips and see how quickly things are adjusted. How welcome the sign would be in any place where waiters, barbers, bootblacks, etc., are employed, "Please Do Not Tip Our Men—They Do Not Expect It." I am of the opinion that with their unions, walking delegates, etc., men in the trades referred to are far more able to get along without tips than are the unorganized public.

Yours,

BRAIN WORKER.

Liverpool, N. S., June 22—In the event of a proposal now before the General Conference of the Methodist church in session here, receiving the support of the various congregations involved, a minimum salary of $1,500 a year with allowances, will be paid to married ministers, and a proportionate minimum established for each of the other classes of the ministry. FAIR ONES IN DANGER

Golden Locks Diminishing and Dark Ones Triumphing.

Paris, June 22.—The future in France at least is for a dark-haired people. An industrious statistician has been proving it, and upsetting all the poets and romantic writers who marry off their fair-haired heroines, scores for every black or brown-haired beauty. The statistician says it is the other way about in life. Out of every hundred dark-haired girls, eighty marry, while of the fair-haired 57 per cent. fail to win husbands.

Whether his figures are entirely accurate is doubted, but the fact that dark-haired girls marry in greater numbers than those with golden locks is not disputed. In that case, the outlook for the future is very dark.

Three hundred years, it is stated, will suffice for the total extinction of fair-haired heroines and the poet who writes of them will be guilty of historical inaccuracy.

SMALL VOTE LOOKED FOR IN NEWCASTLE

Not More Than One-Third of Voters Expected to Go to the Polls

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

Newcastle, June 22.—Very little interest is being taken locally in the coming plebiscite on prohibition, and it is not likely that more than one quarter to one-third of the electors will go to the polls on July 10. Sheriff Cassidy, who is the returning officer for this county, is making the necessary arrangements for the vote taking.

Miss Nellie McEachern, who is to be one of the princials in a very interesting event this week, has returned to Newcastle from Moncton, where she has been employed by the P. McSweeney Co. for the past three years.

W. Earl MacDonald and friend, Mr. Oulton, of Moncton, spent Sunday with Mr. MacDonald's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David MacDonald.

Miss Inez M. Copp was the guest of her friend, Miss Nina McLeod, Chatham, over Sunday.

Lady Ashburnham came over from Fredericton on Saturday by auto to join the Earl of Ashburnham, who is spending a few weeks fishing with John Hare at his camps on the Sevogle.

Mrs. Wm. Ormsbie, of Boston, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lindon.

Miss Clara Russell, student nurse at Dr. King's private hospital, Portland, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Russell.

EQUAL RIGHTS FOR ALL IN PALESTINE

Leading Principle of American Zionists Desire Incorporated in Jewish Homeland

London, June 23.—Pubic ownership of land, a co-operative commonwealth and equal rights for all, were advocated here today as the three leading principles in the social programme American Zionists desire incorporated in the project for a Jewish Homeland in Palestine, by Jacob de Haas, executive secretary of the Zionist Organization of America.

Mr. de Haas arrived in London today, with United States Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis, Honorary President of the Zionist Organization of America; Judge Julian W. Mack, President; Nathan Straus, Mrs. Mary Fels, Professor Felix Frankfurter, Captain Abraham Tulin, David Rosenbloom and Louis Lipsky, organization secretary. These are the advance guard of the 39 delegates of American Zionists to the World Zionist Conference, convening in London July 4.

American Zionists will make a united effort to have the Pittsburg programme which they adopted in 1918 as the guiding social principles for the Jewish Homeland, approved by the World Conference, in the programme it will formulate for the policy to be carried out in Palestine. Mr. deHaas in the statement he gave out on the eve of what is considered the most significant Jewish world conference ever held, stressed the progressive tenets of the Pittsburg programme, declaring:

"The Zionists are not going to be satisfied with a Palestine or land of Israel, which will be a mere duplicate of the numerous small states of Europe or South America. They believe that the 2,000 years of suffering and martyrdom of the wandering Jew has given to our race a wealth of experience which, added to the ancient heritage of the Jew, can be made fruitful in the creation of a model settlement in the land of our forfathers.

"The Pittsburg platform may be summarized as follows: (1) Public Ownership of Land; (2) the Co-operative Commonwealth; (3) Equal Rights. The first is expressed in the phrase that the land of Palestine shall be owned or controlled for the benefit of the people of Palestine as a whole. The Zionists of America have resolved that the benefits which come through increasing land values will not go into the pockets of land speculators, but will always remain 'community values,' which will go into the public treasury.

"The second principle indicates that the Zionists of America are resolved to encourage co-operative enterprise to the largest extent possible, so that a co-operative commonwealth may be gradually evolved, without however, crushing individual initiative. There is no simple formula by which the co-operative commonwealth can be achieved—it must be a development through struggle and experimentation, in any event, we have set the goal!

"The third principle is one with which all Americans are familiar—at least in theory, though we may fail short in actual practice. Whereas, we confine our programme of 'equal rights' to the narrow field of politics, the Zionists of America would apply it to all of Palestinian life—to politics and economics ,to law and industry, to man and woman, to every sect and every creed."

SALVATION ARMY JUBILEE DRIVE

The Salvation Army Jubilee Drive for funds to carry on their great work has come to a close so far as York and Sunbury Counties are concerned. Although the objective of half our last year's contribution has not been quite attained, yet our total is a highly creditable one—$3,127.89, with about $400 yet to come from McAdam. We should have gone over the top very easily had the drive not come at a time when the rural districts were so busy getting in the crop that it was almost impossible to organize them. The City of Fredericton has gone over its particular objective, and this has been due to the excellent work done by the ladies. The active support given the Central Committee by the ladies has been especially appreciated, in view of the fact that the Drive happened to come in the very middle of housecleaning.

So far as the Maritime Provinces are concerned the objective is $50,000. Of this $38,000 is now in sight and Prince Edward Island has yet to be heard from.

During the course of the Drive moneys were received from the various collectors as follows:

The Countess of Ashburnham with Mrs. Daniel Richards, Mrs. T. G. Loggie, Mrs. Harry Chestnut, Mrs. Harold Babbitt and Miss Katherine Stewart collaborating	$770.22

What Is Nuxated Iron?

Physician Explains—Says Public Ought To Know What They Are Taking—Practical Advice on What To Do To Build Up Your Strength, Power and Endurance and Increase the Red Blood Corpuscles.

The fact that Nuxated Iron is today being used by over three million people annually and that so many physicians are prescribing it as a tonic, strength and blood builder in weak, nervous, run-down conditions has led to an investigation of its merits by designated physicians and others whose reports should be of great importance to the public generally. Among these is the statement made by Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and Westchester County Hospital, who says: "When one patient after another began asking my opinion of Nuxated Iron, I resolved to go thoroughly into the subject and find out for myself whether or not it possessed the real value claimed by its manufacturers and attested to by so many prominent people. This is exactly what I believe every honest, conscientious physician should do before prescribing or lending his endorsement to any product whatsoever. If an article is worthless we practitioners ought to be the first to know of it and if it is efficacious we are in duty bound to recommend it for the welfare of our patients. A study of the composition of the Nuxated Iron formula so impressed me with the therapeutic efficacy of the product that I immediately tested it in a number of obstinate cases. So quickly did it increase the strength, energy and endurance of the patients to whom it was administered that I became firmly convinced of its remarkable value as a tonic and blood builder. I have since taken it myself with excellent results. There are thousands of delicate, nervous, run-down folks who need just such a preparation as this but do not know what to take. Therefore I have urgently suggested the widespread publication of the sworn statement of the composition of its formula so that the public may know what they are taking. This complete formula is now to be found in newspapers throughout the country. It is composed principally of organic iron in the form of iron peptonate of a special specific standard and glycerophosphates which is one of the most costly tonic ingredients known. To the credit of the manufacturers it may be said that they use the most expensive form of iron peptonate, whereas by employing other makes they could have put the same quantity of actual iron in the tablets at less than one-fourth the cost and by using metallic iron they could have reduced the cost to less than one-twelfth, but by thus cheapening the product they would undoubtedly have impaired its therapeutic efficacy. In my opinion a careful examination of this formula by any physician or pharmacist should convince him that Nuxated Iron is to be placed among the very highest class and most strictly ethical preparations known to medical science. It excels anything I have ever used for building up the system and increasing the red blood corpuscles thereby enriching and fortifying the blood against the ravages of disease.

Liberals Opposed Plan to Aid Shipbuilding Industry But the Resolution Passed

23,500 Men Employed in the Industry, Many of Them Returned Soldiers, Who Would Be Thrown Out of Work if Government Aid Not Extended

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Ottawa, June 23.—Vigorous opposition to the government's plan of endorsing notes for the purchase of steel ships to be built in Canadian shipyards came from the Liberal and Progressive benches, when the resolution was taken up in committee late last night. Jacques Bureau (Three Rivers), supported the measure.

Other Liberal members characterized the proposals as "vicious" and "silly." Hon. Mr. Crerar charged that it was discrimination in favor of foreign ship buyers, at a time when the government should practice retrenchment.

Hon. Mr. Ballantyne explained that from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 would be necessary for this purpose during the next three years.

Some 23,500 men were employed in steel shipyards in Canada and some 25 per cent. of these were returned soldiers. The government had been approached time and again and urged to assist the yards in order to keep these men in employment. The French government wished to purchase ships in Canada and this measure was needed if the orders were to be secured for Canada.

Maritime Provinces Yards.

Liberals from the Maritime Provinces urged that wooden shipyards were entitled to the same treatment as were the steel yards. William Duff (Lunenburg) demanded that the House be given time to consider the resolution.

P. R. DuTremblay, Laurier-Outremont, was the second Liberal to support the resolution. He declared that all parts of the ships meant work for Canadians. The machinery was or could be all made in Canada, and this measure would keep the shipyards working.

Hon. W. S. Fielding thought the Government should take a few months to consider the hastily devised legislation. He did not like giving aid in the form of guarantees. It was better to lend money outright than mix up in notes. Only steel boats could be built through this bill. Mr. Fielding objected to that. It was a strange kind of a measure.

O. Turgeon (Gloucester) strongly opposed the idea of bonusing, which he contended was embodied in the proposal.

J. H. Sinclair (Antigonish and Guysboro) asked what was suggested as security where vessels were sold to foreigners and could not be mortgaged. He said the Premier had told the House the country could not afford new expenditures, yet here was a new expenditure planned.

Sir Henry admitted there were difficulties in regard to mortgaging vessels, but that the matter was in the hands of the Minister of Justice, who would see security was made perfectly safe.

The shipbuilding resolution was carried on division at 2.40 a. m. and a bill based on it was given first reading.

The House adjourned at 2.45 a. m.

Canadian Officer Not Reconciled to Having Bride Passed Over to English Rival

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Sydney, N.S., June 23.—If Captain T. Mellor, of London, succeeds in convincing the United States immigration authorities at New York that Miss A. Butler, of Manchester, England, should be permitted to land from the Caronia, in order to marry him, he will not do so with the aid of Captain Thomas Kitchen, as intimated in a New York despatch of yesterday.

Captain Kitchen has returned to his home here and states that he has no intention of proceeding to New York. The former Canadian Expeditionary Force Artillery Officer thinks that the combination of illness and loneliness on the voyage out, made the girl an easy victim to the harrowing stories of Canadian life drawn by the "Captain of the Guards," whose real rank he says is that of Second Lieutenant.

Captain Kitchen states that Miss Butler's chief desire now is to return to her home and friends.

"The encounter of Mr. Von Schlegal and myself with Mr. Elwell was wholly accidental," she said. She declared she knew "absolutely nothing that could throw any light" on Elwell's slaying.

TORONTO STREET CARS NOT RUNNING

Railway Company Makes No Attempt to Run Cars on System Today

Toronto, June 23.—Street car service on the lines of the Toronto Railway Company was entirely suspended this morning as the result of the long expected strike of the employees, who demand an increase in wages from 55 to 66 cents an hour.

Except in the outlying districts, on the lines of the civic owned railways, there are no street cars in operation this morning. No attempt will be made by the railway company to run cars on their system. The jitneys are taking care of the downtown traffic fairly well.

ANYTHING BETTER PRESENT SYSTEM

Prohibition Fails—"People Going to Hell As Fast As They Can," Says Magistrate

"Anything better than the present system" seems to be the popular feeling as regards dealing with the liquor issue. It is quite patent to all who look beneath the surface that the New Brunswick Prohibitory Act has failed to remove the alleged evil of intemperance Scarcely a county but what has had its murder tragedies in the last three years; two unsolved murders are on the records of the St. John police; jails have not been emptied and petty crime seems to be on the increase.

On the morning of May 18 last, three years after the Prohibition Law went into effect, Magistrate Richie, in the course of the morning's proceedings, remarked that he had been there thirty-one years, and that every day of this long period had been an object lesson to all, yet in spite of this and although the city was filled with spires pointing towards the heavens, "people were going to hell as fast as they can."

More recently the magistrate had occasion to speak of the parties of men and women who were seen about the streets at night, frequenting restaurants and acting in a disorderly manner.

FREDERICTON MAN BACK FROM IRELAND

Bright Outlook for Canadian Lumber in British Market, Says R. W. McLellan

"There will be no solution of the Irish situation until the British Government takes a firmer hold there," declared R. W. McLellan, who yesterday afternoon returned from an extended trip to Ireland in connection with the business of the Cherry Moore estate, which holds the controlling interest in the extensive Brookfield linen mills at Belfast.

Mr. McLellan said that he preferred not to discuss the Irish political question but said the present outbreak in Londonderry was not surprising as that city was the centre of three counties of the Province of Ulster which are just as strong Sinn Fein as the South of Ireland. He added that in considering Irish affairs it should be borne in mind that there were two factions of the Sinn Fein, the moderates and the others, and said it was generally recognized that the lawless element were being financed from America.

"One thing that struck me most forcibly was the complete change in business and industrial conditions in Great Britain as compared with a year ago," said Mr. McLellan. "The turmoil which marked the whole situation a year ago during the demobilization period and industrial unrest have disappeared and it can be truthfully said that England is already back upon a substantial business basis once more. This is even more true of Ireland, which had been almost untouched by the war, except so far as voluntary enlistment went."

Mr. McLellan expressed the opinion that the outlook for Canadian lumber in the British market was exceptionally bright for profitable business within a comparatively short time. "The lumber business with Great Britain," he said, "is naturally dependent upon two factors, tonnage and freight rates. Tonnage is rapidly becoming available in vastly larger quantities while freight rates have already declined and are rapidly adjusting themselves at something like normal quotations. These factors should therefore prove a great impetus to lumber shipping from Canada and Great Britain wants the lumber as supplies are virtually cleaned out."

Speaking of the movement which has been going on for the reopening of trade relations between Britain and Russia, Mr. McLellan said the outcome of the negotiations was being watched with much interest by the linen industry as seventy-five per cent. of the world's supply of flax came from Russia.

While in London he met a number of New Brunswickers, including Lord Beaverbrook, whose health has greatly improved, and Charles E. Neill, general manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, who is now on an important European mission and who, Mr. McLellan said, is recognized in London as one of the Empire's brightest financial minds.

SAYS LIVE STOCK CAN BE IMPROVED

Editor of Ontario Agricultural Paper Gives His Impressions

W. H. Porter, editor of the Farmers' Advocate, of London, Ontario, is in the city today on a tour of the province of New Brunswick to look into the agricultural resources. He has visited Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island and is looking into the dairying, live stock and field crop production, as well as the marketing of farm produce.

Mr. Porter left the Maritime Provinces ten years ago to take up a position in Ontario and states that since that time he has noticed a marked advancement in agriculture in all the provinces, which he states is due to the application of science and more practical methods. "One noticeable feature in which a great improvement can be wrought," Mr. Porter stated, "is the live stock production. The quality of cattle is especially subject to great improvement; pure bred sires of good breeding and good females for foundation must be acquired for better stock."

Mr. Porter will spend upwards of a week in this province before returning to Ontario. In his visit through Annapolis Valley about a week ago he stated that the apple blossoms promised a bounitful return at that time, but he has since heard it is not expected to amount to over 75 per cent. of last year's crop, which will make this year's crop about one million barrels.

National Council of Women Discuss Important Question Of the Teaching Profession

Urge That British School Teachers Be Allowed to Teach in Canada and Also That Certificates Obtained in One Province Be Accepted In All

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

St. John, N. B., June 23.—Today at the National Council convention's morning session Mrs. Hamilton reported on the question of admitting British teachers to teach in Canada and, seconded by Mrs. Murray, that the National Council of Eduction for Canada be urged to take immediate steps to establish a Dominion certificate which will enable the holder to teach anywhere in Canada, certificates and diplomas already held to be accepted pro tanto, i. e., so far as the training and standard of the examination taken to obtain them are equivalent to the requirements for the Dominion.

It was strongly recommended that this certificate should include a thorough knowledge of all matters pertaining to Canadian education and citizenship. The resolution carried.

Mrs. Hamilton also read the report of the committee on economics. It recommended that the National Council of Women petition the Dominion government for appointment of one commissioner, to co-operate on the matter of prices with the understanding that none of the necessities of life should be exported till the needs of the Canadian people were provided.

Mrs. A. M. Murray said that the resolution proposed a system of boycott and there was a possibility of reprisals, including the export of hard coal from the United States.

The resolution was lost, 37 to 22.

The committee recommended that the school curriculum include home economies rather than domestic science alone as at present taught.

Mrs. Muir Edwards recommended that women be appointed to juries in all cases where women are concerned; that legislation be enacted giving the same rights to homestead to women as to men; that adultery be made a crime; that extension of the indeterminate sentence be made to all convictions for sexual offences under the criminal code; that the age of juvenility be raised to eighteen and that each local council consider a remedy for the evil of men and women living together in irregular union; all these carried.

HELPS DEVON BEAT OLD TIMERS 6 TO 3

Only One Postponed Game Was Played in the York County League Last Night

The Oldtimers went down to defeat before the Devon nine last evening at Nashwaaksis by a score of 6 to 3 in a loosely played six inning York County Baseball League game. Both infields made numerous errors because of their inability to stop snappy drives, but the uneven field may have been a factor, too.

The game was featured by "Dick" Malloy's comeback into the game after an absence of about nine years. Dick had only one fielding chance but he accepted this in a way which showed that he still retained his old-time form. "Tanker" Hughes, the other oldtimer on the Devon team, swatted the ball in good style, getting three long wallops and being credited with a two base hit.

The Devon team had five errors scored against them while Oldtimers had seven to their discredit. Two double plays were pulled off. Chappell at second base for the Oldtimers made one unassisted while Bolster and McDonald were responsible for the other.

New Variety of Races for M.& M.Circuit Campaigners

Intermittent Closing Purses Introduced by the Fredericton Track

EARLY ENTRY COSTS LESS

Seven Old Fashioned Stakes For Fall Have Also Been Opened.

The Maritime & Maine Circuit of 1920 is now slated to produce something entirely new in harness racing in the East.

The innovation comes in the shape of races under new conditions offered by the Fredericton Park Association for their first M. & M. Circuit meeting the last week in July. The events will be known as Intermittent Closing Purses and they are offered in accordance with Section 5 of Rule 2 of the National Trotting Association's regulations.

Under the provisions governing these purses the time-honored saying that the early bird catches the worm is more than borne out, because the early entrant in these races saved a considerable amount of entrance money—which to campaigning horsemen in these days of the high cost of racing means something.

The Official Definition.

An intermittent closing purse is described in the National Trotting Association rules as "a race for a definite amount fixed in the published conditions, and to which entries may be made on two or more fixed dates, and in which different amounts may be received, depending on the date of the entry, in full payment of the entrance fee. Horses must be eligible to the class on the closing date when the entry is made."

The Fredericton Park Association have decided to offer six of the intermitten closing purses, each valued at $400, for their meeting on July 27th, 28th and 29th, and to supplement this offering by an attractive programme of class races, including a free for all pace for a purse of $500, which will close on Thursday, July 15th. The classes for the six intermittent closing purses are: 2.27 trot, 2.27 pace, 2.22 trot, 2.20 mixed, 2.19 trot and a free for all trot.

Two Closing Dates.

Carrying out the principle of the intermittent closing purses two dates for entries to close have been named; the first date is Tuesday, June 29th, when the full entrance fee will be 3 per cent. ($12), and the second date is Thursday, July 15th, when those who enter will pay an additional 2½ per cent. for the privilige of waiting and will find the full entrance fee then is 5 per cent., or $20, and in addition their horse must also be eligible on the date of entering. These races therefore have all the advantages of a stake and at the same time allow a late-comer to "get in" if he is sufficiently anxious to pay the additional amount for the privilege.

Horsemen sometimes don't take kindly to innovations and would rather stick to the old tried and proven conditions, but Intermittent Closing Purses offered the only means by which the new management of the Fredericton Park Association, because of the late date in the season when they took charge, could give the campaigning horsemen the advantages which early closing stakes would have been to them for a midsummer meeting. This explanation, an official of the track explains, is not given as an excuse but merely to indicate that "necessity is the mother of invention" just as much now as it ever was.

Fredericton's Seven Fall Stakes.

In addition to the entrance blanks for the Intermittent Closing Purses J. D. Black, the secretary of the Fredericton Park Association, is also sending out today to horsemen the entry blanks for the seven early closing stakes to be raced at Fredericton's fall meeting on Sept. 21st, 22nd, 23rd and 24th. A programme of $5,000 for twelve purses and stakes for those four days will be offered, the stake events being: 2.27 trot, 2.27 pace, 2.22 trot, 2.20 mixed, 2.19 trot, 2.16 mixed and a free for all trot. Entries for these stakes will close on Tuesday, June 29th, when horses must be eligible and two per cent. is payable. The full entrance fee is three per cent., the additional one per cent. being payable on August 30th, when horses must be named. These are the old-fashioned stakes, such as made the Halifax Exhibition the most popular racing ground in the Maritime Provinces before the war. In all mixed events at the Fredericton track this year trotters are being given four seconds advantage in entering.

The Fredericton Park Association's total offering in purses and stakes this season will be approximately $10,000.

BOSTON'S CRIPPLES

Cleveland, June 23.—The Red Sox will be weakened for ten days or more by the absence of Tim Hendryx. A physician examined Hendryx today and it was found that the outfielder has three vertebrae out of place. Eddie Foster will continue to warm the bench for a few days longer because of a sore arm.

P.H.Reed, of Fort Fairfield, Is Seriously Ill, but Still Alive

Reports which were generally circulated during the week-end to the effect that P. H. Reed, of Fort Fairfield, Me., one of Aroostook's most prosperous business men, and the owner of one of the largest harness racing stables in the East, had died following a paralytic stroke, have proven to be untrue.

On Saturday last Mr. Reed suffered a severe paralytic stroke and that night the report went out that he had died. People from Houlton brought the word here and later confirmation was received over the long distance telephone from one of Mr. Reed's closest friends in Houlton, who said everybody had been shocked by the sudden news.

Last night word reached The Gleaner that Mr. Reed, while seriously ill, was alive and showing more hopeful signs of ultimately recovering. Scores of friends in the Maritime Provinces will hope that Mr. Reed, like Mark Twain and many other well known figures, lives to declare that the reports of his death were "somewhat exaggerated."

Save Your Potato Crop

BY USING WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID WITH BORDEAUX MIXTURE

WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID has come to be recognized as the most effective insecticide for potatoes. It kills the bugs at all times and under all kinds of conditions and being very adhesive it does not wash off, as many of the other insecticides such as Paris Green. It clings to the foliage and will kill the bugs not only the day it is applied but for many days after.

In Aroostook County, which is one of the largest, if not the largest potato producing section in North America, WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID is used exclusively by the best and largest potato raisers in that famous section. During years past many imitations of this famous poison have been placed on the market, but so far all have failed to come anywhere near the standard of WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID.

BORDEAUX MIXTURE

Copper Sulphate (Blue Vitriol)	5 Lbs.
Fresh Stone Lime	5 Lbs.
Water	50 Gals.
WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID	1 Lb.

Dissolve the Blue Vitriol by pouring on hot water so that it is just covered. Use an earthern or wooden vessel. Add the lime and enough water to make 50 gallons. It is then ready for immediate use. Watson's Soluble Arsenoid must not be used alone.

Charges Against Settlement Board Were Fully Answered

Chairman Submits Detailed Explanations to Re-establishment Committee.—Supervisor Who Made Serious Accusations Had Been Discharged for Being Incompetent

Ottawa, June 23.—The G. W. V. A. charges against the Soldier Settlement Board have been answered by Dr. W. J. Black, chairman of the Board, before the committee on re-establishment.

The cases submitted by the G. W. V. A. were specifically dealt with. In the case of Arthur Boucher, it was stated that "although not considered too old to fight, he was considered too old to farm." Dr. Black explained that Boucher was 52 years old and inexperienced in successful farming. Boucher had served in Canada ten months and 26 months in Great Britain. He did not serve in France. The case was one which the board considered would have to be salvaged.

To the charge that William Swann was refused an application to purchase a quarter section adjoining a farm he already operated. Dr. Black answered that he was refused because the settler did not intend to reside on the land; secondly, because if allowed the settler would not agree to his indebtedness to the board being made a charge on the property already owned by him, as stipulated by the act, and, thirdly, because of conflict with the regulations regarding limitation of sales, because the settler already owned land to the value of $5,000.

Losses of Cattle

A letter written by J. H. R. Thomson, of Minitonas, Manitoba, stated that settlers had lost a lot of cattle. The letter continued:

"We want to know what is to be done for the fellows who were pretty nearly cleaned out and who, when they could have sold their cattle at a sacrifice to the more fortunate farmers in the district who had feed, were bound by the regulations of the board and, even though they had not feed, were forced to keep the stock until the animals dropped."

Dr. Black said there were no regulations preventing men in such cases securing permission to sell, with a view to replacement later. None of the settlers specified by Mr. Thomson applied for permission to sell. The Winnipeg office had bought feed on five occasions for two of the men named, and on three occasions for two others. One of the settlers was not a soldier settler. Some of them lost no stock purchased by the board; in other cases they had loans to their credit and did not use them when required, because they could not buy feed at that time.

Lachlin Collie was said to have been approved by the board and then to have taken possession of the land, only to have his loan later cancelled. He had spent $696, for which he asked rebate from the board.

No Right to Rebate.

Dr. Black said the land on first inspection had been reported satisfactory, and Collie was advised that the matter was in the hands of the legal department for preparation of documents of title. The board checked the inspection with "reputable parties," who stated the land was practically worthless. A further inspection showed this land unsuitable, but in the meantime Collie had gone on the farm. The settler, it was claimed, was wrng in going on the land before title was complete and he could therefore not claim any rebate from the board.

In the case of Joseph F. Burgess, the charge was that his family of seven were in need and could not get help. This matter was purely one for the federal emergency fund. The Soldier Settlement Board had advanced this man $6,000 for land, equipment and buildings. He was visited on January 25, February 2 and February 25, and no hardship appeared to exist on these dates. When he was visited on April 22, the supervisor reported that the family seemed very hard up, and recommendation was made that a federal loan be granted. This letter, however, reached Winnipeg on April 26, two days after the fund closed. Mr. Burgess, it appears, received $37 from the Patriotic Fund.

In the case of Mathew B. Fleming who claimed to have ben given a receipt for his deposit, which payment he had not made, an investigation had already begun, and a definite statement could not be made until that investigation was complete. The valuation of Fleming's land was said to be in excess of the real value.

Disgruntled Ex-Employee.

C. W. Marshall, formerly field supervisor of the board at Winnipeg, had charged that A. K. Olive, district agriculturist at Winnipeg, was not competent; that communications months old from settlers received no attention; that land was poor and blemished horses were purchased for settlers; that the field supervisors failed to carry out requests of settlers; that supervisors' reports were not acted upon; that statements in regard to supervisors selling insurance policies should be investigated; that settlers were starving through neglect of the board; that horses and cattle were dying of starvation; that certain settlers were not visited all winter, though they had explained they were in dire distress, and that he (Marshall) was the victim of a conspiracy to cover over matters which the board was unwilling to remedy.

To these charges Dr. Black replied that Marshall had been recommended for appointment by R. B. Maxwell, now Dominion president of the G. W. V. A. On examination he was unable to answer questions but was given a trial. He made charges against a returned soldier supervisor with whom he was working, and the result of investigating these charges was that Marshall was found to be incapable of carrying out the duties of field supervisor. In a letter to the board, the reeve of the municipality of Minitonas, Roy Johnston, had intimated that Marshall "was prepared to engage in dishonest practice," and he was "a regular agitator." Subsequently Marshall's services were dispensed with.

Marshall was later employed in the Winnipeg office, but released from there at his own request. There was not conspiracy such as Marshall claimed, accordnig to a letter from the Winnipeg superintendent, who said: "Marshall's knowledge of land and stock values, and even practical farming conditions in this country, is such as not to warrant his statement being taken seriously."

The charges that settlers had lost cattle and horses during the winter was answered by the reply that owing to the severity of the winter, not only the soldier settlers but also experienced farmers on the prairies had lost their stock.

The committee adjourned until Monday afternoon, when it will hold an executive meeting.

The committee has almost finished its task. At present there remains but one more witness to hear and he is not expected to occupy more than half an hour of the committee's time on Monday. This witness is Naulon Cauchon, of Ottawa, who will present the details of a plan of small holdings for returned soldier settlers on irrigated lands. Mr. Cauchon was before the committee last session with a similar plan. A report from the committee is expected in about two weeks.

During the afternoon a little clash took place between T. M. Tweedie (West Calgary) and G. C. MacNeil. Mr. Tweedie objected to the G. W. V. A. secretary making charges in the press before taking them up with the committee.

Mr. MacNeil replied that he was not making any charges of mal-administration against the Soldier Settlement Board. The committee had asked for specific cases and therefore he had brought forth documents and affidavits to show the complaints which were reaching him. All he sought was an investigation of these complaints. Mr. Tweedie held that Mr. MacNeil should have discussed the matters with Dr. Black before giving the letters to the press. "I had not time to do so," replied Mr. MacNeil. "The letters were sent to the chairman of your committee before they were published."

DEATH BENTON MAN

George M. Mills Dies During Operation at Aroostook County Hospital, Houlton, Me.

Benton, N. B., June 16.—The death of George M. Mills occurred on Saturday morning, June 12th, at the Aroostook County Hospital, Houlton, Me., following an illness of only three days. His remains were brought to his home in Benton, N. B., on Saturday. He was 29 years of age and one of our most energetic young farmers. His death has cast a deep gloom over this place, as he was most highly respected. He was an active member of the United Baptist church, the superintendent of the Sabbath school, and leader of the church choir, and most popular in the local musical circles.

He is survived by his young wife, to whom he was married only sixteen months ago, Miss Eurie Kirkpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Kirkpatrick, of Elmwood, Carleton Co.; his father, Frank B. Mills of the C. O. F.; his mother, Annie A. Mills, of Benton; one brother, Ernest Mills, of Edmundston; four sisters, Mrs. G. W. McElroy of Edmundston, Mrs. Thomas Patrick, of Benton, and Misses Emma and Edith, at home.

The funeral was held at the United Baptist church, Benton, on Monday afternoon, June 14th. Rev. C. N. Barton officiated assisted by Rev. C. S. Young and Rev. Mr. Worden, all United Baptist clergymen; also Rev. E. C. Turner, Methodist; Rev. Mr. Flewellyn, Anglican, and Evangelist Bell.

A very large concourse of people followed his remains to the Benton cemetery, where the beautiful Orange burial ceremony was read by officers of No. 66, L. O. L., of which he was an esteemed brother; he was also a member of the C. O. F., each society being well represented. The funeral was conducted by W. H. Murchie and the pall-bearers were Wm. R. Lewin, John Anderson, Harold Anderon and Sterling McNeilly.

The deceased is a son of Frank Mills, of the C. O. F., well known in this city. He was here about two weeks ago, and on his return home he met his son on a cot at the station, waiting to be taken to Aroostook County Hospital at Houlton, Me., where he was operated upon, dying in the operation.

IN DAYS OF TERROR

Then both, equally impatient to visit the roof, awaited the proprietor's return on the staircase, having first closed the door, not wishing to afford the wortny man a sight of his waving curtain.

The roofs, as Morand had foreseen, did not reach the height of the summit of the Tower.

This was at once an advantage and disadvantage. A difficulty, because they could not communicate by signs with the Queen, and an advantage, because the very impracticability alone disarmed all suspicion.

The highest houses were naturally the objects of the strictest surveillance.

"It is necessary, either by means of Toulun, Maury, or Tison's daughter, to find some way to tell her to keep upon the watch," murmured Dixmer.

"I have thought of that," said Morand.

"It is all right," said Dixmer; "the house suits me, so hand over to the proprietor the sum of 950,000 livres in payment, and let him give a receipt."

The proprietor did so, first scrupulously counting the money.

"You understand, Citizen," said Dixmer, "the principal clause, that the house must be vacated this evening; that, in short, I must put the workmen in tomorrow."

"Well, Citizen, I agree to do so; you can take the keys this evening at eight o'clock; all will be free."

"Pardon me," said Dixmer, "but did you not tell me, Citizen notary, there was a way out leading into the Rue Porte-Foin?"

"Yes, Citizen," said the proprietor; "but I had it closed; for having only one official, the poor devil had too much fatigue, being obliged to watch both doors. But it is so fastened up that any time it can be reopened in two hours at least. Wou d you wish to convince yourselves, citizens?"

"Thanks, it is not necessary," said Dixmer. "I attach no importance to this way out; it is useless to me."

They then both left, having for the third time reminded the landlord of his promise that the apartments should be empty at eight o'clock that evening. At nine o'clock they both returned, followed by five or six men at a distance, of whom, in the confusion then reigning in Paris, no one took any notice. They both entered first. The landlord kept his word; the house was totally empty. They closed the shutters with the greatest care, sounded the brickwork, struck the steel, and lighted some wax candles which Morand carried in his pocket. Then one after another the six men entered. These were the ordinary guests of the master tanner, the same contrabandists who one evening wished to kill Maurice, but had now been converted into his friends. They closed the doors, and ascended into the vaults. This vault, so contemptuously treated during the day, had become this evening the most important part of the house. Having first stopped up every crevice through which a curious eye might penetrate into the interior, Morand placed a cask upright, and began to trace geometrical lines upon a piece of paper laid upon it with a stick of chalk. While he was thus engaged, his companions, conducted by Dixmer, left the house, following the Rue de la Corderie, and at the corner of the Rue de Bennie, stopped before a covered carriage. In this carriage was a man, who silently distributed to each one the instrument of a [illegible]: one a spade, to the other a mattock, to this one a lever, to this a pickaxe; each man concealed his under his riding coat or mantle. The miners retraced the road to the small house, and the carriage disappeared. Morand had finished his calculation. He went stright to an angle of the cave. "There," said he, "dig."

And the work of deliverance immediately commenced.

The situation of the unhapy prisoners in the Temple became daily more serious and hourly more wretched. For an instant Madame Elizabeth and Madame Royal had indulged some hope. The municipals Toulun and Lepetre, touched with compassion for the august prisoners, had evinced some interest in them. At first little habituated to the marks of sympath, the poor women were suspicious, but suspicion ceases to exist with hope. Besides, what now could happen to the Queen, separated from her son by a prison, from her husband by death. To follow him to the scaffold, this idea had possessed her for some time, and she finished by becoming accustomed to it. The first time Toulun and Lepetre returned on guard, the Queen particularly requested, if they really felt any interest in her misfortunes, they would describe to her the last moments of the king. This was putting their sympathy to a sad test. Lepetre had assisted at the execution; he obeyed the order of the Queen. The Queen demanded the journals containing the report of the execution. Lepetre promised to bring them when next on guard; it would be his turn again in three weeks. In the king's time they had at the Temle four municipals; the king dead, they had only three, one to watch during the day, two during the night. Then Toulun and Lapetre invented a stratagem that they might always keep watch together at night. The hours of guard were arranged thus: they wrote one ballot "day," on two others "night." Each drew his ballot from a hat, and chance decided the night watch. Every time that Toulun and Lepetre were on guard they wrote "day" on the ballots, and presented the hat to the municipal they wished to dispossess, and he, thrusting his hand into the improvisatory, unnecessarily drew forth a ballot on which was inscribed "day." They then destroyed the other two, murmuring against the hazard which always decreed them the most wearisome watch of the two, that is to say, the night. When the Queen was sure of her guards she corresponded with the Chevalier de Maison-Rouge. Then an escape was attempted, but the attempt was arrested. The Queen and Madame Elizabeth were to flee disguised as municipal officers, with cards that would be provided for them.

As to the two children—that is to say, Madame Royal and the young Dauphin, they had remarked that the man who came to light the lamps of the Temple was always accompanied by two children, the same age apparently as the Princess Royal and the Dauphin. It was therefore, arranged that Turgy, of whom we have previously spoken, should dress himself as a lamplighter and carry away the prince and princess. We will mention in a few words, who Turgy was. Turgy was an old waiter of the King's, introduced at the Temple with part of the family from the Tuileries, for the King had at first been permitted a well-appointed table. The first month this consideration cost the nation thirty or forty thousand francs. It may easily be understood this prodigality could not last. The commune decreed otherwise. They dismissed the chiefs, the cooks, and scullions, one single man-servant only was retained—that man was Turgy. He was naturally the medium of communication between the prisoners and their partisans, for Turgy was permitted to go out, and consequently was enabled to forward their letters, and introduce the replies. These billets were generally twisted round the stoppers of the carafes, containing the milk of almonds, brought to the Queen and Madame Elizabeth. They were written in lemon-juice, and perfectly illegible, till held near the fire.

SUGAR STOLEN FROM WAREHOUSE DURING NIGHT

Five Bags Valued at Over $100 Taken From A. F. Randolph and Sons Last Night

CARTED IT AWAY IN RUBBER TIRED CARRIAGE

Other Warehouses of Local Wholesale Grocers Have Also Been Entered

Five bags of granulated sugar valued at more than $100 were stolen from one of the local warehouses of A. F. Randolph & Sons last night by thieves who drove up to the building, loaded the booty into a rubber tired carriage and drove away unmolested in what may prove a practical but dangerous method of fighting the High Cost of Living.

The warehouse is located off Charlotte street in the C. N. R. yards, and entry was forced by smashing the padlock on the door with some large instrument, probably a crowbar, and then forcing the door open with the same appliance. A large quantity of sugar was stored in the warehouse and the five bags were evidently all that could be accommodated in the driving carriage which the unwelcome visitors used to cart it away.

The robbery was reported this morning, it being said at first that a much larger quantity of sugar had been taken. At noon Robert Fitz Randolph gave out a statement to the effect that the stock had been checked up and it had been found that only five bags had been stolen. He said the affair had been reported to the police, but the only clue they had been offered consisted of the tracks of the rubber tired wagon, which could only be followed a short distance from the warehouse.

Last week the warehouses of A. F. Randolph & Sons and of G. W. Hodge, on Campbell street, were broken into and the break was laid to juveniles, who smashed open several barrels of vinegar and made away with a small amount of goods.

Courtship by Mail Results In the Wedding of Millville Farmer and Scotch Bride

Elmer Fleming and Miss Mima Watson, Edinburgh, Married at Grand Hotel Yesterday Had Never Seen Each Other Until She Arrived in Canada a Few Days Ago—Courtship by Mail Has a Happy Ending—Soldier Nephew Wrote Groom About Bride Who He Met While in Scotland on Leave.

Elmer Fleming, aged 46, a prosperous farmer, of Millville, York County, and Miss Mima Watson, aged 23, of Edinburgh, Scotland, were married here yesterday afternoon at the Grand Hotel following a courtship by mail, which opened when Mr. Fleming's nephew, while on overseas service with the Canadian Forces, wrote and told his uncle of the young Scotch woman who would make for him a happy bride.

The bride and groom met for the first time at Millville station on the Gibson branch of the C. P. R. about forty miles from Fredericton, when she arrived there on Monday from Scotland, having disembarked from her steamer on Saturday at Quebec. She had previously sent her photograph to her prospective husband, after they had carried on correspondence for a short time. The correspondence opened about a year ago, four months ago Mr. Fleming proposed, she accepted, yesterday they were married and today they are equally as happy as any bride and groom who ever spent their honeymoon in Fredericton.

John Fleming, a nephew of the groom, went overseas with the 104th Battalion, and while on furlough in Edinburgh met Miss Watson. He wrote to his uncle and gave him the young lady's name and told him she would be pleased to correspond with him. Mr. Fleming wrote, the initial letter and regularly each mail carried a letter. It was not very long before he proposed to the young Scotch woman and was accepted.

After spending two days at Millville with relatives of the groom the bride came to this city yesterday afternoon on the Gibson branch train accompanied by the groom and at 3.30 o'clock they were united in marriage by Rev. P. J. Trafton in the parlor of the Grand Hotel. The bride was unattended and wore a tailored suit of navy blue serge with large white hat. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served, a number of relatives and friends of the groom being present.

This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Fleming will leave for their home at Millville.

Miss S. C. Kelly, who was confined to her home two weeks through illness and was out on Friday last, is again confined to her home, she having suffered a relapse.

DEMOCRATIC BATTLE OVER PROHIBITION

Wm. J. Bryan to Submit Plank to National Convention Endorsing Prohibition Law

JAIL SENTENCES FOR PROFITEERS

The Man From Nebraska Said That He Would Not Be the Candidate of Third Party

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Great Falls, Mont., June 24.—William J. Bryan will not be a candidate of a third party for the Presidency, he declared yesterday, in commenting on a despatch from Lincoln, Neb., telling of his endorsement for the Presidency by Nebraska members of the committee of forty-eight.

"I am too busy fixing planks for the Democratic party to think of running for President," he said, "and I am doubtful of third party expediency."

Mr. Bryan reiterated his opposition to any candidate not in sympathy with "strict enforcement" of prohibition statutes, and said he had prepared a plank for submission to the Democratic national convention endorsing prohibition laws and pledging their enforcement, and another providing jail sentences for profiteers.

Wilson and the Convention.

Chicago, June 24.—Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state and delegate to the Democratic national convention, who stopped in Chicago yesterday on his way to San Francisco, denied he was taking any of President Wilson's dictums to the convention.

"President Wilson has too much respect for his party to attempt to intrude his ideas or force his ideas upon the party in an open convention," he said. "I have had many conferences with the President, but we have not discussed a third term for him, nor candidates for the Presidency."

The Fight on Convention Floor.

San Francisco, June 24.—That the question of prohibition enforcement in the United States Would be the only isue to be carried to the floor of the Democratic National Convention, opening here on Monday next, was the view expressed today by Homer S Cummings, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Delegates to the convention represent many schools of thought on the matter, from that of state rights, the stand taken by Governor Edwards of New Jersey, to proposals that congress be urged to lift the ban on beer and light wines.

Today a new attitude was observed in a plank prepared at Washington and believed to be inspired by the admtnistration. This emphasizes the personal liberty equation and advocates in general terms a liberalization of the Volstead Act. The plank was put forward as representing the views of many Senators and Congressmen, and its framers hope to be able to claim for it the backing of President Wilson himself. It makes no specific mention of wine, beer or any other beverage.

579 CONSECUTIVE GAMES FOR SCOTT

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Boston, Mass., June 24.—Everett Scott, shortstop of the Red Sox, today held the record for all time for participation in consecutive baseball games. When he took the field against Cleveland yesterday Scott extended to 579 the number of games in which he has played without interruption.

City Faces Starvation if Street Fighting of Past Week is Allowed to go on

Armored Cars and Machine Guns Awe the Sinn Feiners

THE TROOPS IN RESCUE WORK

Terrified Women and Children Removed to Places of Safety

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Londonderry, June 24.—More British troops have arrived in this city and their greater activity in efforts to protect life and property has had a quieting effect.

Only occasional shots were heard after midnight this morning. Two snipers have been arrested by the soldiers.

ARMORED CARS USED WITH GOOD EFFECT

Besides actually attacking the Sinn Feiners with armored cars and machine guns, the troops have done much rescue work. When it was reported last night that the Sinn Feiners were about to attack a cluster of houses, armored cars were rushed to the scene and the troops removed terrified women and children to another section of the town. The gas works have also been protected by armed men.

The Fiercest Fighting Yet.

Londonderry, June 24.—Terror held sway here yesterday and last night, rifle and machine gun fire sweeping the streets in the fiercest fighting to develop thus far in the civil war which began last Friday between the Unionist and Nationalist forces.

The number of killed and injured during the day had not been determined, as it has been impossible to reach the scene of the veritable pitched battles in Bishop, Cross and Bond streets.

It is believed, however, that there were scores of victims. Hospitals are being taxed to their capacity in caring for those struck down by bullets fired by the opposing factions.

Rumors of the most alarming character are current here. Nationalist forces are said to be gathering to the northwest of the city preparatory to an attack, while Unionist adherents are entering the town and are being collected for a grim defence of the place.

Several companies of British soldiers are on their way here from Belfast, but are making part of the trip on foot, it being feared the trains carrying them would be wrecked by lawless elements. Some troops arrived here yesterday and a British destroyer is lying in Lough Foyle, north of the city.

Many Wounded in Hospitals.

Londonderry, June 24.—Aside from an occasional shot by a sniper there was no firing up to early this afternoon.

The gas supply ceased at five o'clock and the inhabitants in some sections were left in a serious plight, without fuel, light or bread.

A barber named McLaughiln was killed this morning by the bullet of a sniper who was firing at long range. John McKinney, who was wounded yesterday, died today. The body of a commercial traveller which was lying in the street where he was killed on Tuesday, was recovered during the afternoon.

Wire barricades and trees have been thrown across the main road to Londonderry by factionalists, apparently in an effort to hamper the troops. Some of the telegraph and telephone lines leading into the town have been cut.

Cardinal Logue Says His Life Threatened

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Dublin, June 24.—Cardinal Logue, Archbishop of Armagh and Primate of Ireland, declared while speaking at Maynooth College yesterday, that he had "received warning his time was set."

The Cardinal declared he was grateful for this warning because it "gave him time to prepare," adding: "I have always tried to do what I could for my country, and have never consciously said a word to offend anybody, no matter what was his religion or politics. If I come to a sudden end there will be no justification for those responsible."

CITY EMPLOYEES OF DUBLIN STRIKE

Sinn Fein Council Has Taken a Hostile Attitude to Local Government Board

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, June 24.—The Dublin municipal offices, public libraries and technical schools have been closed as a result of a strike of the municipal employees for an increase in salaries, according to a despatch to the London Times from Dublin.

The despatch says the newly elected county councils and boards of guardians in Ireland, which are overwhelmingly Sinn Fein, have now settled down to work and have taken a hostile attitude toward the local government board, which hitherto has supervised the collection and distribution of moneys levied and distributed by these bodies. At the first meeting of the Sligo County Council yesterday prayers were recited for the strike of the Irish Republic.

Chairman Clancy, a Sinn Fein member of the House of Commons, said the work of the council would aim at clearing Great Britain of Ireland. One member of the council suggested that the children of policemen should not be allowed to compete for the council's cholarships. Another member remarked that while all the council condemned crime, they did not object to guerilla warfare against the enemy.

THE ADVANTAGE OF TEACHING FRENCH

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Quebec, June 24—Colonel W. J. Ray, former chairman of the Quebec Protestant School Board, speaking at the closing exercises of the schools, under the jurisdiction of the board yesterday, deplored the fact that French is not taught in the English public schools here as it should be. He pointed out the advantages which Quebec offered for young men and women possessing both languages and held that if French were as well taught as English in the English schools, the exodus of English speaking Quebecers to other provinces would come to an end.

Citizens Fear to Venture Out of Homes to Obtain Food Supplies

SLAIN MEN LIE ON THE STREETS

A Muderous Fire Maintained by Belligerents During Night.

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

It is impossible to deliver supplies to houses and no one dares to venture out of doors to the business section of town.

There is danger, too, of a failure in the gas supply.

Fearing further disorders, hundreds of people have left the city for the south, some being reported to have arrived at St. Rabane.

ONLY A FEW HUNDRED OF ACTUAL FIGHTERS

The men engaged in the actual fighting are the extremists of the contending factions and probably number only a few hundred. They absolutely terrorized the city yesterday, however, as they fired volleys down the streets from barricades they had erected, or, posted on roofs or in windows, shot at almost everyone who dared to appear.

Bishop street, a long thoroughfare running southwesterdly from the Town Hall, has been the principal battleground during the past twenty-four hours.

Slain Men Lying on Streets

Sinn Feiners have concentrated St. Columbkill's College, about three quarters of a mile out this street, while the Unionists have taken up positions near the centre of the town and have erected sand bag breastworks in Barrack street. It was reported early last evening that the bodies of several men killed during the day's fighting were lying in Bishop street and could not be reached because of the murderous fire maintained by the belligerents. Last night the fighting became severe for a time, and a company of soldiers was sent out from the barracks. Bursts of machine gun fire were heard at intervals during this encounter.

Between Bishop street and the river Foyle, to the east, there are a number of narrow crooked streets in which there have been fierce encounters. Soldiers have not as yet been able to intervene effectively in this part of the town and appear to be awaiting reinforcements before attempting a large scale movement to end the fighting between the principal forces of the warring factions.

ASK INTERVENTION BY GOVERNMENT

Londonderry Magistrates Ask for Immediate Action to Allay Panic There

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

London, June 24.—Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, today received another urgent telegram from the Londonderry magistrates expressing their alarm that no action was being taken by the Government in response to the appeal they made early in the fighting in that city between Unionists and Nationalists.

They consider the situation desperate and fear it will become worse. The message adds that food supplies are running out and the gas supply for the city is almost exhausted.

Request was made by the magistrates for some assurance from the Government that immediate action would be taken to allay panic among the citizens of Londonderry.

In replying, Sir Hamar said General Carter Campbell, in command of British troops in the city, would take every possible step, with the Government's approval, to remedy the situation.

Belfast, June 24—Two more deaths have occurred as a result of the fighting at Londonderry, bringing the total number of known dead up to eleven.

A woman named Mills was killed last night while standing in her own door, and William Rankin succumbed to wounds inflicted by Sinn Fein snipers who fired upon him while he was on his way to feed his horses.

Makers May Sell Shoes at The Manufacturers' Prices

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

MONTREAL, June 24—At a dinner last night at the Windsor Hotel here, attended by about 85 members of the Montreal Branch of the National Shoe Retailers' Association, Joseph Daoust, of the Daoust-Lalonde Manufacturing Company, stated that conditions obtaining in the shoe trade would be fully ventilated at the coming convention of shoe men to be held next month.

Unless some change were brought about, he said, in the relations between manufacturers and retailers, the former might open stores here, as has been done in Boston, in which shoes would be sold at manufacturers' prices, this being due to the cancellation of orders leaving the manufacturer with the goods on his hands.

BRITISH DRAPERS VISITING CANADA

Representatives of British Industry Studying Conditions on This Continent

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 24—A party representing 5,000 drapers of England, who are studying trade conditions in Canada and the United States, were received at the railway station here last night by Mayor Martin on behalf of the city. Fred Longley, who spoke for the party, stated that they had found business conditions very good both in Canada and the States, and that he looked for a continuance of high prices in England whatever might happen here.

The party is visiting this continent in a semi-official capacity, representing the Drapers Board of Trade, an organization which is often called in consultation on commercial matters by the British Government.

They have completed a trip through the United States as far as San Francisco and Los Angeles, and through western Canada.

UNIQUE DEMAND ON G. T. P. RAILWAY

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Winnipeg, June 24.—The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway has received an unusual request from a Saskatchewan farmer, who demanded $5,000 from them because of alleged delay of six weeks in securing transportation for his housekeeper, who was coming from Louisiana. A later letter compromised on $1,000. "Please do not make me go to law about this," he urged, "for I know that you have more money than I have. Just send the money along and I will call it square." He has not yet received his thousand, officials stated.

Some 13,000,000 tons of ore are said to be awaiting shipment. The fifteen miles of railway traverse a most difficult country, and cost $1,500,000 to build, without tracklaying. It has been heavy rock work, trestles and bridges all the way.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, June 24.—Alexander Devine, the Montenegrin Minister to Great Britain, in a letter to Earl Curzon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, urges the secretary to obtain from the Serbian government permission for British relief work in Montenegro "among the starving and naked Montenegrins."

The letter charges that the American relief missions in Montenegro have been either bamboozled or have played into the hands of the Serbians, and the American relief that has entered the country has been used for political purposes, and none of it has gone to these Montenegrins who happen to take a different view to the Serbians who have captured their country, and who wish to be independent.

MYSTERIOUS FIND IN TORONTO BARN

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Toronto, June 24.—The badly decomposed body of a man was found today in a hole caused by the absence of two planks in a barn on Darcy street, and at first it was thought that the body might be that of Ambrose Small, the millionaire theatrical man who has been missing since December 2nd last or his private secretary John Doughty, who disappeared on December 28, but detectives exploded this theory. Complete mystery surrounds the identity of the dead body.

THE HARD COAL SHIPMENTS AT A STANDSTILL

Effect of the Railroad Yardmen's Strike Has Reached Pennsylvania Coal Fields

MOVEMENT OF FREIGHT HAS ALMOST STOPPED

Commission Opens Inquiry Into Wage Controversy Between Operators and Workers

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Philadelphia, June 24.—Effects of the railroad yardmen's strike have reached the anthracite coal regions and it was stated today that both production and shipments of hard coal would come at a standstill unless there is a speedy improvement in the situation.

Reports from Pottsville and Reading said large numbers of Reading railway men have joined the walkout. Harrisburg, Tamaqua and other upstate points also reported accessions to the strikers ranks.

Strike leaders here continued today to claim all three lines entering Philadelphia were effectively tied up so far as the movement of freight was concerned. Officials of the Pennsylvania denied this and declared most of the strikers' places had been filled. The Baltimore and Ohio said only sixty men were out in its yards.

Take Up Wage Controversy.

Father Joseph, at the French Canadian Educational Association convention in session here yesterday. Delegates numbered nearly 500. Archbishop Beliveau said the association held only one aim and that was education. He hoped that with proper co-operation it would gain its ends, which were the teaching of French in the schools and the teaching of religion.

U. S. TOURISTS ARE INVADING CANADA

Prospective Tourists Besieging Railways for Information on Canadian Resorts

New York, June 23.—An unprecedented invasion of Canada by American tourists this summer is reported by representatives of Canadian railways here. The records for June show an increase over previous years and the railway men declare that advance bookings indicate that the rush will continue throughout the summer.

The Canadian west appears to be attracting a very large number of wealthy citizens of the United States, including thousands from New York city, and the opening of the eastern tourist schedules this week brought a big exodus to the Ontario and Quebec resorts.

An official in the local office of the Canadian Pacific Railway told the Canadian Press that the office has been beseige for the past six weeks by prospective tourists seeking information regarding Canadian resorts. "I have never seen anything like it in my railway experience," he said. "Every year we have had a great many inquiries regarding Canada and Canadian summer resorts, but this year has surpassed all previous records. This is particularly true of the western resorts. The Canadian Rockies are the objective of thousands of wealthy Americans and a large proportion of the visitors to the far western Canadian resorts will be from this side of the line."

This official stated that a new feature of the tourist traffic this year appears to be a thirst for adventure on the part of many of the travellers. A large number are planning amateur exploration trips through the Crows Nest and Kootenay valleys and pack horses will be in great demand. Following the little known trails of the great Canadian range with pack trains has been indulged in chiefly by American writers and artists in the past. This year the idea has spread in some mysterious way and Americans who have never before done anything more strenuous than cut coupons or play golf are off to British Columbia to rough it in the style of the old-time prospectors.

Inquiries received at the Canadian railway offices here also indicate increased interest in mountain climbing and many New Yorkers are joining the Canadian Alpine Club. Several have announced their intention of trying to reach the top of Mount Assiniboine, the objective of every good Canadian Alpinist, which, however, has been reached by comparatively few.

At the Grand Trunk office here it was stated that the past few days have brought a flood of inquiries regarding the Muskoka Lakes and Algonquin Park. The customary rush of Americans to these summer resorts is being augmented this year by hundreds who, to judge by their inquiries, have never before turned to the Dominion for their summer vacation.

One reason for the big rush is declared to be the fact that steamship accommodation to Europe is booked up for practically the entire summer and many Americans, having "seen America first" during the war, when international travel was difficult, are bent on seeing some other country now and are naturally turning to Canada. Another theory advanced is that many are attracted to Quebec province by the promise of cooling beverages which are now denied them in their own country.

"That is probably helping to make travelling through Canada popular,' said one railway man. "And you can't wonder at it. Whenever I have to make a trip out of New York I always try to arrange it so that I can travel via Montreal myself."

NIGHT OF TERROR AT LONDONDERRY

Fighting on a Heavier Scale Than Formerly—Five Sinn Feiners Killed Last Night

Londonderry, June 24.—Five Sinn Feiners were killed by machine gun fire employed to cover the removal of several Protestants from Barracks street last night, according to a military statement. Fighting in Londonderry was on at eight o'clock last night, but a lull occurred at ten-thirty. Another night of terror was expected.

Sinn Feiners Contemplate Raid.

London, June 24.—Soldiers and Sinn Feiners in Londonderry fought from 11 Wednesday night to midnight, with result yet unknown, according to a despatch from Belfast to the press association. The casualties are believed to have been numerous.

The Belfast correspondent of the London Times says Derry may soon become a mere incident in a much larger setting. Rumor has it that the Sinn Feiners contemplate a raid in force on the city. This would immediately mean civil war.

A despatch to the London Times says troops are pouring into Belfast and some have already started for Londonderry.

CANADIAN AID TO WIRELESS STRIKE

Montreal, June 23.—The Canadian branch of wireless operators will give support to the British operators who are at present on strike for higher wages from the Marconi Company. Canadian wireless operators are unionized under division number 59 of the Commercial Telegraphers of America, and a leading member of the union stated this morning that the Canadian union would oppose the clearance of passenger ships from Montreal which did not carry the legal number of wireless operators.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION

City of Winnipeg's Experiment on June 29th a New Experience

Winnipeg, Man., June 23.—The city of Winnipeg's experiment with "P. R." on June 29 will be, in the words of a newspaper editorial, "the first parliamentary election under propotional representation in the British Empire, outside of two of the Australian states, Tasmania and New South Wales."

Winnipeg's representation in the Manitoba legislature, increased to ten members by recent legislation, is to be elected by the new system of balloting under which, according to its advocates, every party or group receives the exact measure of the representation which the vote warrants. Elsewhere in the province the old style of balloting continues.

There are between thirty and forty candidates seeking election in Winnipeg. The Norris Government and the Conservative Opposition have full tickets of ten each. In addition there are a considerable number of Labor and Socialist candidates and Independents of various degree. Government and Opposition each have a woman in the list of ten. Mrs. R. A. Rogers, well known locally in women's work and organization, seeks the honor as a government supporter of being the first woman to sit in the legislature of the province, an honor which is disputed by Mrs. Lipsett-Skinner, journalist and lawyer, nominated in the formal Opposition ticket. A third woman, Mrs. John Dick, is running as an Independent.

The Government goes to the electors with one portfolio vacant—that of agriculture, caused by the sudden death in the midst of the campaign of Hon. Valentine Winkler. It is interesting to note that Mr. Winkler's son, a practical farmer and overseas veteran, is seeking election as a Liberal in his father's old constituency, Morden-Rhineland, but no suggestion has been heard that he will carry the family name into the cabinet should he be successful.

It is not probable that much official information will be available on election night concerning the voting in Winnipeg. There will be 317 deputy returning officers, and each of them is to count the first choices only for each candidate in his sub-division. These first choices, when assembled and totalled, will give the total vote in the city and the total number of electors who have voted "1" for each candidate on the list. It will be possible to deduce that candidates who have a considerable plurality in first choices are elected, but the official statement of their election only follows after second and third choices in the ballots are allocated carefully according to the will of the voters. A large staff of "P. R." experts will go to work on the compilation as soon as the ballot boxes are returned, but it may be well into the next day before official returns are available.

Mexico City, June 23.—Once again the monotonous but ominous "tom-tom-tom" of the Yaqui Indians is being heard outside the confines of Sonora.

General Plutarco Elias Calles, provisional secretary of war and marine for the new revolution, is taking with him more than a thousand of "Sonora's finest" on his 1,600 mile trip from Agua Prieta to Mexico City to assume the duties of his new office.

The thrumming of the Yaqui drums long has been a cause of uneasiness among many of Mexico's other soldiers. Bearing the reputation of being a fearless and ferocious fighter, the Yaqui has frequently been said to be able to put his enemy to flight by the mere sound of his burroskin "tambor."

There is another and less sinister side, however, to the life of a Yaqui soldier. He carries his home life with him to the battlefield. His wife, his children, his birds, all form part of his impedimenta.

When not in action the Yaqui warriors do not present formidable figures. They may be distinguished from other tribes chiefly by their peculiar copper hue and the band of bright red they wear around their hats. The routine of their camp life is quiet and orderly.

The Yaqui lad is reared in an atmosphere of war. Should his father fall in battle, the boy picks up the ancestral rifle and begins the realization of his martial destiny.

Half a Pineapple For One Dessert

In Jiffy-Jell desserts the fruit flavors are abundant. For instance, half a pineapple is crushed to make the flavor for one pint dessert. This is done in Hawaii from fruit too ripe to ship.

All Jiffy-Jell fruit flavors are made from condensed fruit juice. They come in liquid form—in vials—a bottle in each package. That is true of no other quick gelatine dessert.

A few cents will serve a real-fruit dessert for six people. No artificial flavor, no saccharine. It is the most delicious fruit dessert available, and it comes in ten choice flavors.

Big Majority of Members of House Favor an Increase In Indemnity of Representatives

The Leaders of the Three Parties in the House Opposed to Any Increase This Year, Although Convinced That the Demand of the Rank and File Is a Just One

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

Ottawa, June 23.—Judging from the loud and prolonged applause which followed his statement, Mr. Burnham was not exaggerating when he said in the House last night that nine y five per cent. of the members practically demand an increased indemnity. Mr. Burnham was the man who brought to a head the matter which has been agitating parliament more than any other, bar none, public or private, all this session. It was introduced on the motion to go into supply, and with the exception of one or two of the old heads in the House, who have a proper appreciation of the way in which the matter would strike many elements of the community and more particularly the returned soldiers, party differences were cast aside as members on both sides arose and echoed Mr. Burnham's appeal, while there came loud and prolonged applause from the Farmers' corner.

Mr. Burnham, in the course of his appeal, outbulled Sir Boyle Roach, who once said, "A man can't be in two places at once, barring he is a bird." He declared, amid the laughter of the House, that members have to live in two or three places at once. However, he got to the point when he declared that ninety-five per cent. of the House, including seventy-five per cent. of the Farmers' party, was in favor of an increase, that the increased cost of living had made the indemnity not worth more than twelve hundred a year, which was an insult, not an indemnity, and that it was up to the three leaders in the House to declare themselves.

The Liberal Leader.

The leader of the opposition was the first to avail himself of the opportunity, but he devoted less time to the actual matter of the indemnity than to scoring the leader of the Government for having given to the Government caucus, from which it had got into the public press, what he understood was a confidential conversation, and he left it to the honorable gentlemen opposite to judge whether this communication should have been disclosed when he (Mr. King) was not present. He substantially corroborated the reports already published of Monday's caucus, that he did not feel at liberty to be a party to any secret agreement, but reserved the right to discuss the matter when it came up in parliament. It was a matter of public concern and should be discussed on its merits alone. The Government should have a policy in this matter as well as in any other. He asked the Premier if he had told the caucus what his own opinion was, as he had expressed it to him. "I am ready, "he added, "to discuss this matter on its merits, if dicused in the proper way, but I do not propoe to be 'made the goat' in this matter, or to enter into any secret agreement."

Premier Borden Replies.

Sir Robert Borden was extremely careful in his choice of language in replying to the leader of the Opposition. He refused to affirm or deny any rumor in the press as to what had taken place in caucus, and he took a shot at some of those behind him when he said very significantly that he thought it was understood that what took place in caucus should be confidential. While the indemnity was undoubtedly very low and, in justice to the majority of the members, should be increased, there were grave doubts in his mind as to whether it would be in the public interest and that of Parliament and the members themselves to press for an increase at this session, in view of the extraordinary demands which had been made on the government from the returned men.

Hon. Mr. Fielding was among those who advised against an increase. It was not a matter which should be dealt with by arrangements between the leaders of the parties, but in Parliament. While there were strong, logical grounds for an increase, men could not always afford to be logical. When he went on to add that there should be an increase but it should not take effect until a new parliament had assembled, there was an agonizing cry of, "No, no."

He was absolutely in favor of an increase to the higher court judges and members of the cabinet, but if there was to be any increase for the members now it should be a very moderate one. (Groans).

The Quebec Members.

The Quebec members on the Opposition side all supported an increase very strongly, none more strongly than the Labor member, Mr. Vervlile, who was a plumber when he entered Parliament 12 years ago, now draws a salary of $10,000 a year as one of the commissioners of the city of Montreal and is very rarely in the House. He urged the impossibility of representatives of Labor coming to Parliament for $2,500 a year, ignoring the fact that the average Parliament only sits four months at the longest.

The Farmers who expressed themselves were advised on the matter, although the majority of them were strongly in favor of an increase. It was a rather interesting spectacle to see the members of the three parties in the House fighting together for something to which the three leaders are known to be opposed. Mr. Crerar was not present last night, as he was not aware the matter was coming up, but he has frequently expressed himself privately as being strongly opposed to an increase.

The attitude of the leader of the Opposition on this matter will probably increase the growing coldness towards him among the Quebec members. With the exception of Roch Lanctot (who is so strongly opposed to an increase that he has threatened to join the Farmer party if the Opposition should support increased indemnities), the Quebec members favor an increase almost to a man, and last night spoke not only for themselves but for others of their number who were not present. This may be taken as the last gun to be fired in the indemnity question this session, but there is no doubt that the drive will be renewed as soon as the next Parliament assembles, and probably with success.

DROP IN FLOUR PRICES

Minneapolis, June 23.—A lower wheat market the first few days this week was responsible for a decline of twenty to thirty cents a barrel in the price of flour here today. At the mill, where the quotation for family patents was down twenty cents, flour dropped to $14 a barrel and $14.55 was the price obtained by the mill that sold flour at a thirty cent reduction.

PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY OF N. B.

Stanley M. Wetmore Elected President of Society at a Meeting at St. John

St. John, June 24.—Stanley M. Wetmore, proprietor of the pharmacy at the corner of Queen and Carmarthen streets, St. John, was elected president of the New Brunswick Pharmaceutical Association at the annual meeting held yesterday. The meeting, which convened in the class-rooms of the Natural History Society in the morning, under the chairmanship of retiring president, C. A. Burchill, of Fredericton, discussed only routine matters, among them being the report of Hazen J. Dick, secretary of the financial committee, and J. B. Mahoney, registrar.

After adjourning, a motor trip was taken to Loch Lomond, where an excellent luncheon was served in Johnston's Hotel. In the afternoon, at the hotel, the election of officers for the ensuing year was held, resulting in the election of Mr. Wetmore to the presidency, with the following staff: George O. Spencer, Moncton, vice president; George Coupe, St. John, treasurer; F. W. Munro, St. John, secretary; J. B. Mahoney, registrar. The council is composed of the foregoing and J. D. B. F. MacKenzie, Chatham; C. B. Hickey, Chatham; W. R. Rodd, Moncton; H. H. Woodworth, Sackville; A. W. Coombs, St. Marys; C. A. Burchill, Fredericton, and J. McD. Cook, Moncton. J. D. F. MacKenzie, of Chatham, and E. C. Brown, of St. John, were elected delegates from New Brunswick to the annual convention of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, which will be held in Montreal next August. H. H. Woodworth and F. W. Munro are substitutes.

Practically the only important business disposed of during the afternoon was the decision to continue the cash prizes to the three New Brunswick students making the highest percentages at the Maritime School of Pharmacy, which is connected with Dalhousie University, Halifax.

CHINA AGAIN IN FINANCIAL STRAITS

The Government Treasury Is Going Behind at the Rate of $10,000,000 a Month

Pekin, June 23.—The Chinese Government is running behind financially $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 monthly, according to a statement made by an attache of the cabinet in conversation with newspaper correspondents. The administrative debt of the nation totals $270,000,000, of which $180,000,000 represents loan by Chinese banks.

The monthly budget aggregates $18,000,000, with only $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 available from ordinary sources of revenue. Of this monthly expenditure more than 70 per cent. goes for military upkeep. To meet the monthly deficit drastic retrenchment is said to be contemplated.

Cognizance was taken of this state of affairs by Thomas Lamont, New York financier, on his visit here when he informed the Chinese authorities that loans to China could be undertaken, among other considerations, only after China demonstrated her ability to "balance" her budget for administrative and military expenditures.

"ONE FORM OF INTEMPERANCE FOR ANOTHER"

President of N. B. Medical Society Speaks of Dire Results Under Prohibition

[Daily Telegraph, July, 1919.]

"The fact remains that large quantities of liquor have been brought into this province and disposed of, realizing small fortunes for those engaged in the business. That liquor is sold and delivered in so open a manner that if the officials are not aware of it they must be about the only ones who are not. Bootlegging flourishes and all kinds of alcoholic mixtures are in great demand.

"With what result?

"As I write, the evening paper states that there were sixteen men before the court this morning charged with drunkenness. The hospitals and practitioners are treating many men suffering not from drunkenness but from acute alcoholic poisoning. And drug fiends are, I fear, becoming more numerous.

"Never before have I seen human beings in such abject misery due to the imbibing of rank poison!

"Never before have I seen a man suffer so much agony before death took place from drinking diluted alcohol!

"Never before have I seen men absolutely unconscious of their surroundings. And beyond possibility of arousing for days at a time due to recently acquired drug addiction!

"And I presume that I have seen no more than my share. What is to be the result? If the present state of affairs is allowed to exist. Who can say? May it not substitute one form of intemperance for another?"—From paper read by Dr. J. S. Bentley, President of N. B. Medical Society at last Convention, July 16, 1919.—Advt.

THE STUMPAGE RATE.

The Timber Licenses are renewable on August 1st, when, the Government holds, the rates of stumpage should be fixed for the year. The lumbermen are reported to be bringing influence to bear upon the Government to fix the rate as at present, viz.: three dollars and a half a thousand. They insist, it appears, that conditions of business are far from favorable and that the future suggests a serious reaction. Ocean tonnage is scarce and the United States market is exceptionally inactive; as a result, sales are small and large stocks have accumulated on their hands. If the lumbermen are sincere, they are taking an exceptionally gloomy view of the situation. Ocean tonnage is increasing monthly, and will continue to increase; and with increased and increasing tonnage there will naturally be a lowering of freight rates. It is a matter of record that stocks in British ports are practically depleted; the demand is exceptionally active. Except in the United States, where labor difficulties have brought building operations for the present almost to a standstill, the market value of lumber is almost the same as last year, when the lumbermen are reported to have been particularly fortunate in their profits and cleanups; and it is also noted with some curiosity that the large stocks alleged to be on hand in the Maritime Provinces have not resulted in a lowering of prices in the local market.

It will be well for the Government to resist influences that are seemingly unreasonable and selfish. In this period of restricting credit, at a time when direct taxation to maintain many services and to meet many provincial and national obligations has become a serious burden, we must get greater revenue from the sources which can reasonably provide it. It is idle to say that the returns from stumpage should not be increased by nearly two million dollars a year; and the total on this basis would give a stumpage rate lower than the market value. If the Government is disposed to do its duty, it need have no fear of its standing or strength in the Legislature on this account. It can safely count upon the hearty support of a majority on both sides of the House. The people and their representatives are determined that the policy of Government is not longer to be dictated by any one class of operators.

THE OTTAWA SITUATION.

The parliamentary session draws to a close with the Government still in the saddle, though keeping its seat with diminished strength. The declared intention is to retain office for another two years, unless defeated in the Commons, a plan that may find approval even in the ranks of its opponents, remarks the Montreal Gazette. One consideration of weight counselling this course is the near approach of the census-taking, upon the result of which the distribution of our parliamentary representation for the succeeding ten years will be based. Complaint is sometimes made that the present House is misrepresentative of the country, meaning that it does not mirror the mass of public opinion, but a general election this or next year must still deprive many sections of Canada of adequate voice in legislation according to population. The redistribution of seats following upon the census of 1921 will, it is practically certain, reduce the membership in the Commons from the Maritime Provinces and from Ontario, while increasing substantially that west of Lake Superior, for "westward the star of Empire takes its way"; and unless the western provinces are to be deprived of due influence for several years, an early election would be followed by a second election a few months thereafter.

There is another reason why an appeal to the electorate may without impropriety be delayed, and it is that the Government may bring down a tariff policy. It is true that the Finance Minister has committed himself to the principle of fiscal protection, but it can scarcely be said that all his colleagues have avowed faith in the policy, and we incline to the view that a clearer understanding of the issue can be had after the result of investigation into industrial and trade conditions has been reflected in revised rates of duty. After all, the tariff question remains the dominant issue. For the rest, it is largely a matter of administration, of vigor, unity, prescience, breadth of view on the part of the Ministry. Heavy debt and high taxation have imposed restriction for a few years on schemes involving large expenditures of public money, however much of merit they seem to possess, and however great the glamour cast upon them; and the primary duty laid upon public men is to cut the coat of Canada according to the cloth. There are radical antipathies to be composed. It is not well for the country that all the representatives of the race that founded and has flourished in Canada should be found in one fold. Large questions like naval policy must necessarily remain dormant until public finances are less straitened. The salient issue remains the tariff. Upon it the forces of the Farmers' party are marshalled, and in somewhat near alliance those of the Liberal party. It is a clear and definite enough question upon which to divide opinion, and in respect of which either party may say those who are not with us are against us.

What, then, should be the course of the Government? Leadership should first be determined. In Sir Robert Borden the Unionist party, or by whatever name it may choose to be called, has the most eminent public man in Canada, of proven character and capacity in most arduous and difficult circumstances. Twice has he led his party to victory at the polls, and energetically has he discharged the heavy labors of his office until his health became impaired. Does Sir Robert's strength permit him to longer devote his services to the country? If happily this be so, there will be rejoicing among all his party followers. But, if not? Then the way should be made clear for a successor in preparation for the appeal to the public. In any event, that day is not far distant, and it may come before this Parliament dies a natural death. The Liberal Conservative party and the principles for which it stands are too important to be permitted to expire from inertia in its chiefs. The situation warrants declaration of leadership as well as of principles, demands an end to detachment of the head from the body, and requires virility in exposition of policy. If that historical party is doomed to defeat, it should at least fall with its standard unfurled.

LITTLE TO SHOW FOR IT.

Revelations in the affairs of the late bridge expert, Elwell, furnish an interesting financial oddity which should surprise no one. Known to have enjoyed a handsome income from the proceeds of his card play, reputed moreover a man of as keen a judgment as his ability to measure the monetary value of a no-trump hand would suggest, he left but little wealth. Save for a boxful of unmarketable securities, his reputed financial ventures seem to have yielded him nothing.

It is the rule that those who have made money at gambles in other lines lose it on trying their hand at speculation in securities and realty. The more the risk in the gaining of the money the bigger the risk of its loss when the winner tries to put it into relatively conservative lodgment. Kings of the roulette table, aces of the card pack and racetrack plungers lose their fleeces rather more easily than do speculators in the mercantile line, for example. Of the numerous gamesters by profession who have haunted the environs of New York in these and former days, scarcely one has left his family any considerable sum in investments.

The man accustomed to the risks of a game for stakes seems to lose his sense of the risks of purchase, so that things appear too safe to him. Something no doubt of the more complicated nature of business chances moreover eludes his intelligence, specialized to snap judgments on the turn of a card—a problem in an artificially limited field. Worst of all, he has too good an opinion of his craft.

NO CHANGE IN TIME SUSSEX MILK TRAIN

St. John, June 24.—The Sussex train will not be put back on eastern standard time unless the passengers are willing. Late last night Mayor Schofield received a reply from F. P. Brady, general manager of the C. N. R., maritime district, to a telegram which his worship sent late Tuesday asking if he would be willing to restore the train to the old time if requested by the city council. Mr. Brady replied that he would restore the train if the travelling public were satisfied. This means that the issue is now up to the passengers on the Sussex train and as they have already declared in favor of having the train run on daylight time there is little chance of the train being shifted.

LONG MOTOR TRIP

Montreal, June 24.—Percy Gomery, amateur pathfinder and director of the Vancouver Automobile Club, left here yesterday on a motor drive to Vancouver via North Bay, Soo and Winnipeg, thus inaugurating the initial attempt to establish a northern transcontinental motor route to be known as "The King's International Highway."

Mrs. F. B. Edgecombe and Miss Frederica Edgecombe, of Fredericton, were in the city yesterday.—St. John Telegraph.

SAD DEATH OF A NORMAL GRADUATE

Miss Ethel Clayden Succumbed to Typhoid—Pneumonia at Prince William

Much sympathy is felt by their friends for Mr. and Mrs. John Clayden, of Prince William, in the loss they have sustained by the death of their eldest daughter, Ethel. She was a girl of beautiful promise, of rare gifts and graces and was beloved by all who knew her. From childhood she was associated with the work of the church, a member of the Presbyterian Sunday school and an esteemed member of the choir. During her residence in Fredericton, where she attended Normal School, she took a leading part in the work of Christian Endeavor in connection with St. Paul's. Her desire was to follow the teaching profession, but those competent to judge felt that she had the qualities for an ideal missionary, and the hope was cherished that ultimately she would be led into this sphere of service.

Though not feeling well she sat for her normal examinations and her home coming for vacation was joyfully looked forward to by her parents and friends. But on reaching Prince William by train a week ago last Thursday it became apparent that she was very ill and weak with typhoid. Pneumonia developed, and notwithstanding the skill and efforts of two doctors and all that parental love could devise her life ebbed away at 3 o'clock last Thursday afternoon at the age of 16 years.

The interment took place at Prince William on Friday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Middleton offered prayer at the house and the funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Trueman in the Episcopal church. The floral tributes were as follows: Wreath, Mrs. B. A. Rosborough; pillow, Miss Helen Jones; cross, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hoyt and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nichols; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Fraser; harp, Mrs. Anderson; bouquets, Miss Mary McGirr, Mrs. George Scott, Miss Cora Fraser, Miss Maud Fraser and Miss Ethel Brown.

BIG REDUCTION IN MILITARY STAFFS

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

St. John, June 24.—It is announced at local military headquarters that at the end of this month a considerable reduction in the staffs of this and all other districts in Canada can possibly be made, and will take place. The casualty company in this city will be closed and the work taken over by the district staff. All men carried on different C. E. F. units will be transferred to the general lists, which in this district will be very small.

BALTIMORE HAD $1,000,000 FIRE

Baltimore, Md., June 23.—Starting within several hundred feet of where the great fire of 1904, which wiped out Baltimore's business district, flames early this morning practically wrecked the seven story building at 37 Hopkins Place, and quickly spread to four other structures. The damage, according to insurance men at the scene, will likely reach $1,000,000, and this brings the fire damage for baltimore to $1,500,000 for 12 hours, the first blaze being in the Story-Darby building.

The Stock Market

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

New York (Wall Street), June 24.—Specialties, as featured by Chemical Sugar and Tobacco issues, were firm to strong at the outset of today's stock market session. Shippings and equipments also hardened, but oils were again irregular on further selling of middle states and Royal Dutch. Representative steels and rails manifested no definite tendency, recording only minor gains or losses. Early quotations for exchange on London were easier.

The Noon Market.

The market took a definite upward turn within the first hour, equipments, independent steels and automobile issues leading at gains of 1 to 3 points. Prominent features of these groups included American Car, Pressed Steel Car, Crucible, Vanadium, Sloss-Sheffield, Great Northern Ore, Pierce-Arrow and General Motors. High grade oils also gained 1 to 2½ points and food products, Cuba cane sugar and Industrial Alcohol extended their early gains. There was also a moderate demand for specialties in the leather and textile divisions. Liberty bonds continued to ease, but the new Belgian 7½ per cent. bonds were active and strong. Call money opened at eight per cent.

The Montreal Market.

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 24.—Several of the leaders were in immediate demand at the opening of the local stock exchange this morning. During the first half hour Quebec Railway was bought up readily, gaining fractionally to 30 1-8. For the first few minutes the paper stocks were inclined to show some dullness but within the first 20 minutes Brompton advanced to 139¼. Spanish River common weakened to 101 but gained fractionally later. Abitibi was moving within narrow range around 76, while Lanrentide was quoted at 108. Atlantic Sugar showed a loss from the recent high at 124. The rest of the list was quiet at recent levels.

RAILWAY PLANS AND THE CITY'S WELFARE

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—In a few weeks the Canadian National Railways will have its plans prepared for its approach to the new bridge which it proposes to erect at Fredericton just above the old one; and I am advised that the plans will result in disfiguring and destroying one of the most beautiful spots in the city, if not the most beautiful in the province, and also in changing the alignment of some of our most important streets. Have the city authorities been consulted as to the details? Do they know what the plans involve? Have they any appreciation of what they mean? Private munificence and public moneys have been not lavishly but prudently contributed to make the Cathedral portion of our city a place of rare beauty as well as a place of recreation for the mothers and children of our town. Why should this or any portion of it be destroyed merely because of the fancied difficulties of railwaymen in making their connections? It is the duty of the present Council to interest itself in the citizens' welfare, and not, as in the past, to violate the public trust by serving, under pay or otherwise, the single interests of the railway people. Hitherto vast concessions have been forfetted to the railway without quid pro quo. There is no other city in the world in which the railways have had such free and untrammelled access, all for reasons that are not creditable to our City Councils of the past. Does the Council of the present know "what is in the wind?"

Yours,
FREDERICTONIAN.

Fredericton, June 21, 1920.

"JOHN" IS ATTACKED

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I cannot refrain from replying to the communication in last night's issue signed John, who writes that men are henpecked. If a man is so mean-spirited that he cannot admit it when he knows himself in the wrong, God help the woman tied to him, and the best thing he can do for all concerned is to drop himself off a-wharf when no one is looking. And there are men of just that type. They are the kind that pull a long face and go to church, then come home and make life miserable for every one. I know them from sad experience. If a man will only play fair every time, he will find all goes smoothly.

Yours,
SUFFERER.

Fredericton, June 23, 1920.

SLEEPING SICKNESS

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Sleeping sickness and the constant occurrence of so many mysterious deaths in the great cities of the world impress one who has spent 30 years of his life in central Africa with the possibility that the subtle devices of the African medicine man have found their way into civilized communities. Crooks possessing such a device can utilize it in furtherance of their nefarious designs of robbery and murder.

In 1910 my nephew, travelling in the Pagan district, Nigeria, lay down to rest on his camp bed in a reed hut and was put to sleep for 26 hours. When he recovered he found he had been robbed. It appears that the robbers placed a reed tube through the side of the hut and blew their snuff in. Recently another robbery in which an engine driver was the victim took place.

Years ago I was stopping at a native village and saw a medicine man preparing this snuff. It is so powerful an anæsthetic that a very small quantity sprayed in a room 12 feet square would prostrate every living thing in it. In some parts the natives use it in securing animals. They make it either to kill or to stupefy. The medicine men who make it know also an antidote, and use it while preparing the snuff.

My opinion is that a good deal of the so-called sleeping sickness is caused by this snuff, either on the person or by inoculation through flies. The medicine man told me that he could make the snuff so that it made a man sleep a day, or if stronger would kill him.

Africa offers a great field for medical research and discovery. I have come across some strange things. A couple of young Germans going to collect a debt from a chief had something administered to them that paralyzed their legs. They recovered only after a three weeks' passage on a steamer to Europe.

Yours,
A TRAVELLER.

St. John, June 22, 1920.

DEFENDS CHESS

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Being a faithful reader of your From the People column, I would ask leave to answer a few critics of the game of chess. I agree with your correspondent that chess does develop mentality; does teach one to concentrate and is also a stimulating diversion. For proof one ought to read the long list of kings, princes and statesmen, lawyers, judges, doctors, clergymen, engineers, writers, military and naval celebrities—in fact, all men high up in the professional and business world—who are devoted to the game. Surely men of such talent and brain power cannot be accused of wasting their time on a game of chess.

Of course, the subject could be prolonged indefinitely if we try to split hairs and weigh every word pro and con. But as a blanket rebuttal to all critics and to the fifteenth century Cagliostro I have only to quote an English clergyman of the twentieth century from an English chess magazine as follows:

"Chess as a pastime has attractions bordering on fascination to those who have passed the novitiate degree in mastery of its intricacies; it taxes the mental faculties as perhaps does no other amusement. It is at the same time a mental relaxation, a vigorous mental battle, a most exciting brain stimulant and yet a sedative or even an anodyne. It is these different characteristics that probably help to render the game so universal. As all our sympathies are mental and not physical, those quiet and restful forms of chess, without taxing our mental and nervous energies, captivate our minds and allure from the ills and worries of life to soothe and comfort us."

Yours,
PAUL.

CHARGE MURDER OF SIX FARMERS

Dan Lough Arrested by Provincial Police of Alberta Charged With the Crime

Grande Prairie, Alta., June 23.—Provincial police yesterday arrested Dan Lough in connection with the murder of six farmers in this district on or about June 18, 1918.

About three weeks ago the Attorney General's Department offered a reward of $5,000 to the person or persons who would give information that would lead to the arrest of the perpetrator of the crime. The police, it is said, have been entirely responsible for the arrest, so the reward will remain unclaimed.

All the murdered men were known to have large sums of money on their persons at the time of the murders and were about to leave Grande Prairie for Vermillion, where they were going to take up ranching.

PHELPS

New England Lumber Market

[Commercial Bulletin, Boston.]

There is not enough business to keep all the spruce mills at present in operation well supplied with orders. Several of the larger manufacturers in consequence are believed to be seriously considering a shut down. They think it quite possible perhaps that in the absence of such a step the $65 base price may disappear as suddenly and completely as a beautiful dream. There often has been in dull times talk of a curtailment in production which has ended in smoke, so to speak, but this time the manufacturers are credited with really meaning what they say.

That there are different wholesale houses quoting $60 base there is no sort of doubt. Moreover they are not sharing their commission with their customers as sometimes asserted by people interested in maintaining the higher price. There are today, as there were a week ago, manufacturers who are contenting themselves with sixty dollars base, who are glad, in fact, to get so much. To say that the mills accepting at this price are all backwoods propositions is today absolutely incorrect.

Some manufacturers who last week were holding out valiantly for $65 are now taking less. It is only fair to say, however, that many conservative authorities feel sure that the weakness will be temporary only. They think, in view of the house shortage, that the demand must increase this autumn and that it will be found that there is not more than enough spruce to go around comfortably.

Random.

The situation is not satisfactory. The demand cannot be called encouraging and prices for some thicknesses and widths are rather easier than a week ago.

For narrow random, i. e., 2x3, 2x4, 2x6 and 2x7 the price in almost all transactions is $50. For very nice Maine random it is possible that $51 is successfully insisted upon sometimes, and it may be that for Canadian random with very little long in it $50 is sometimes shaded but the rule is as stated $50. It must be remembered that the production is increasing.

There are different prices for 2x8. Some people are certainly asking as much as $55 but they are not thought often to be getting it. Others are accepting without demur $54 and still others are taking $53. The holiday this week has interfered with business. Perhaps it has increased sellers' urgency and added to buyers' timidity.

Everyone reports the demand for 2x10 and 2x12 slow. About the prices it is still hard to be sure. Those in the table below are believed to be as nearly right as circumstances will at present permit.

For boards the demand continues languid and prices are not firmer than a week ago. The recent declines in roofers are thought to have had a bad effect on business in this department of the market for northern and eastern lumber.

For random spruce covering boards 5 inches and up wide 8 feet up and long and planed one side $52 to $53 continues the range for actual business. Salesmen with really good stock to offer should make a really valiant effort to get the higher figures. These are days when nerve counts for much.

People not in actual need of matched boards cannot be persuaded to buy them even though the price be made to look attractive. Retailers who do want them, however, are willing to pay $60 for clipped 10, 12, 14 and 16 feet long.

Clipped hemlock boards are offered at $50 to $53. The lower price is thought as yet to be unusual. The random boards are offered freely at $48. It would be rash perhaps to say that there are never chances to buy for less.

Laths.

The very spectacular career of laths is rapidly drawing to a close. Prices are still high, it is true, but they are much lower than they were and the excited buying has become a matter of history.

The retailers in and near Boston and indeed in many parts of New England experience no difficulty at all in buying 1½ inch laths at $10. Several of the largest wholesale firms are today glad to take orders at that price. This has been true for some days.

It is not so easy to speak positively about the price of 1 5-8 inch lath. Some people are asking $12 but it is thought that a bid of $11 would not always be peremptorily turned down.

It is a fact that in New York some people are still paying prices that to retailers here seem extraordinarily high. Purchasers there although legitimate trade for wholesalers are not always retailers. They handle lime cement, etc., and do not always keep in close touch with all that is going on in the lumber market.

Furring.

For 2-inch furring some wholesalers are asking and profess to be getting $52. This seems high when compared with the quotations ruling for narrow random. For 3-inch $50 is asked but the writer knows of sales at $49.

Shingles.

There does not seem to be anything new in the shingle market this week. The demand lacks snap and the lower prices given in the table are believed to be those at which the bulk of current business is being done.

For the white cedar extras certainly no close buyer would today pay over $8.50 and for the clears $8 is generally deemed a good price.

Clapboards.

Curiosity about the prices for clapboards so soon as there are any to offer is still unsatisfied.

Box Boards.

It always has been and probably will be unsafe to make very positive statements about the price of box boards for reasons frequently before explained but it seems quite safe to say that the market is at present firm.

The prices for lumber immediately following are those at which retailers can buy of the wholesale trade. Spruce prices refer to lumber 8 to 20 feet in length. For every two feet or fraction of two feet over 20 feet $1 is added when the sale is of dimension lumber.

Persons Contracting Bigamous Marriages Outside Of Canada Cannot Be Punished Here

The National Council of Women Discuss the Laws for the Better Protection of Women and Children—Report of Peace and Arbitration Committee

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

St. John, N. B., June 24—At this morning's session of the convention of the National Council of Women, Mrs. D. McLellan said she had a letter from Mrs. William Dennis at Ottawa saying that her husband, Senator Dennis, was to undergo a serious operation. It was decided to send a telegram of sympathy to her.

Hon. J. G. Forbes invited the delegates to inspect the home of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

On the law re bigamy, Mrs. L. A. Hamilton said that now a person who contracts a bigamous marriage outside of Canada cannot be punished in Canada unless it is established he left this country with the intention of committing the offence. She said that girls who had gone through a form of marriage in England with soldiers who already had wives in this country, on coming to Canada could get no redress. The matter was referred to the committee on laws for the better protection of women and children.

In making the report of the peace and arbitration committee on behalf of the Ontario Women's Citizen's League, Mrs. L. A. Hamilton exhorted all women to make themselves acquainted with the preamble and covenant of the League of Nations.

She suggested that the name of the committee be changed to the "League of Nations" committee. This was seconded by Mrs. Willoughby Cummings, but the matter was deferred.

Mrs. George Watt's report for the committee on soldiers pensions asked for another year to complete their work. The committee was given power to add to its number.

H. A. Powell, of the International Joint Waterways Commission, addressed the Council on the work of the Commission.

A motion to pay the annual fee to the social service council was adopted.

Mrs. Murray gave notice of motion that Ottawa representatives should be asked to attend a conference in Ottawa in July regarding freer trade relations between the West Indies and Canada.

Mrs. Watt presented the budget, which forecasted expenditures of $4,060 and estimates receipts of $535, leaving $3,530 to be assesed for.

Mrs. Willoughby Cummings spoke of the conditions facing home makers on account of the scarcity of help and the cost of everything. She presented a resolution calling for the appointment of committee to gather information on the conservation of home life in other countries. Carried.

Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Farwell, Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Adam Shortt and Mrs. Dewey were appointed.

Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, said that bad housing was at the root of much social evil. She moved that local councils and federated associations be urged to inform themselves regarding modern town-planning and housing.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Watt, retiring as Treasurer after eleven years.

The names of Lady Taylor, Mrs. Fost, Mrs. Torrington, Mrs. Boomer and Miss Derick were ordered placed on the honorary membership list of the council.

The business of the National Council will be concluded this afternoon.

Mrs. George Donahoe and Mrs. C. Donahoe, of South Devon, are visiting friends at Douglas.

MEMBERS STILL HOPE FOR BONUS

Suggest That They Be Given a Bonus of $500 This Year and Increase Next Year

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Ottawa, June 24.—An aftermath of last night's discussion on increased indemnities completely monopolized talk around the parliamentary corridors today. Members on both sides of the House still hope that something will be done before the session closes. One suggestion among government supporters is that a bonus of $500 to $1,000 be asked for this session and that the indemnity e raised to $5,000 next session.

It is argued that many public men throughout Canada, mainly city aldermen, have raised their own stipends without protest at subsequent elections. On the other hand, the Premier's plea that parliamentarians should set an example in the matter of personal economy is believed by many to be an indication that nothing is likely to mature, at least for the present.

ECREMENT CASE IN NEW YORK COURT

Montreal Man Claims to Have Been Swindled Out $125,000—Asks Damages

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

New York, June 24.—Michael Connolly, retired business man of Montreal, started a supreme court action here yesterday to recover $200,000 from Arthur Ecrement. The defendant came here from Chicago a few weeks ago to be examined as a witness in the bankruptcy hearings connected with the Arnstein case. Connolly's attorney filed an attachment against funds which Ecrement is said to have as collateral security with the National Surety Company.

In his complaint Mr. Connolly charged Ecrement with having conspired with Charles Drucker, William Jarvis and James W. Ryan to swindle him by pretending to have authentic advance information upon stock market and racing results. The plaintiff says the defendant assured him he could add considerable to his fortune by entrusting money to him (Ecrement) to use in stock transactions and racing events.

In November, 1918, at Buffalo, the complaint sets forth, Connolly gave Ecrement $50,000 on one occasion and $75,000 on another occasion. The plaintiff seeks to recover this $125,000 plus $75,000 damages for the injuries to his health and happiness caused by the loss of his money.

Fifty Persons Indicted at New York for Using Mails to Defraud Investors

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

New York, June 24.—Four oil companies, ten brokerage houses and about fifty individuals have been indicted by the Federal Grand Judy on a charge of using the mails to defraud investors out of millions of dollars, it was learned today when seals on the indictment were ordered broken.

Federal agents in cities throughout the United States are now engaged in rounding up the men indicted. They are charged with having made gross misrepresentations regarding oil properties and with paying dividends out of money obtained from the sale of stocks.

WORK STARTED ON CANADA EASTERN

twenty four hours after receiving formal notification that the work had been let to him he pulled out of Springhill Junction, N. S., with a special train of 17 cars with his plant and crew of men and the work is already underway.

One steamshovel is now employed on the job and Mr. Stewart said today that just as soon as the first shovel crew was properly organized another steamshovel would be put into operation. The contractor is making his headquarters at Taymouth and prior to coming there was employed on double tracking for the C. N. R. between Springhill Junction and Little Fork, N. S.

Heavy Fine for Violation.

Two local young men were arrested last evening and locked up over night in the police station. This morning they appeared before Police Magistrate Limerick, one of them being charged with drunkenness while the other was charged with the same offence and a violation of the Prohibition Act by having a bottle of intoxicating liquor in his possession. The former was fined $8 and he paid up, while the latter was fined $100 for the violation and $8 for drunkenness or 4 months in jail.

To Attend Graduation Exercises.

Mrs. James Doak and son, William, of Fort William, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Blair, Brunswick street. Mrs. Doak is here to attend the graduation of her daughter from the High School.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McGillicuddy, of Canterbury Station, are guests at the Barker House.

No Developments In Sugar Robbery Yet

"The police could probably put their hand right on the man who is responsible, but the time is not ripe," explained a gentleman this morning, who claimed to have any mystery there may have been connected with the robbery of the warehouse of A. F. Randolph & Sons, from which five 100 pound bags of sugar were stolen on Tuesday night.

The police, however, said there were no new developments in the case and have so far declined to discuss it.

LUMBER PRICES NOT MUCH LOWER

Decline on American Market Would Soon Be Overcome If Cars Available

Sensational reports of a break in prices in the lumber market are not generally credited by local lumber dealers, who declare that the situation would rapidly be overcome and prices restored if shipping conditions were improved.

Reports have come from various points in the United States telling of prices falling off as much as $15 per thousand, but such cases are believed to be isolated or governed by some special circumstances. The actual drop on the Boston market has been about $4 per thousand.

This week's issue of the Commercial Bulletin, published in Boston and featuring market reports, shows quotations of $51 for lumber which had been selling at $55 per thousand and local dealers said today that seemed to be about the correct figure. Laths, of course, have dropped a larger percentage ,but that break has been going on for some time and was never unexpected. Present prices are about $9 as compared with $15 and $16.

"The worst feature of the lumber market today is the car situation," a local dealer told The Gleaner today. "We are terribly handicapped regarding shipping facilities because of the shortage of cars in the United States. This shortage makes it difficult for us to obtain buyers as dealers in American cities will not buy now for deliveries that cannot be definitely insured. Give us cars, however, and the situation would soon right itself."

Any reduction there has been in prices has not affected the local market, inquiries revealed today, and local purchasers are paying the same prices that have been in effect since spring. Close observers of the lumber situation say they see in the sensational stories which have been circulated as to a break in the market a vigorous move on the part of the big holders of Crown Timber Land leases in New Brunswick to promote propaganda in opposition to an advance of stumpage rates promised by the Government during the recent session of the Legislature to be made effective on August 1st next.

THREE FATALITIES IN MILAN CLASH

London, June 24.—Three persons were killed and about fifty wounded at Milan, Italy, late yesterday in a clash between police and participants in a demonstration which followed a meeting of suporters of the railway strike, according to a Reuters despatch from that city. Shop windows were smashed during the fighting and many arrests have been made.

Representatives of the various workmen's organizations have defeated a resolution to declare a general strike. On the contrary, says the report, they urged all strikers to return to work.

PERSONAL.

William Coughlan, of Blackville, is registered at the Queen Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. White, of McAdam, motored here yesterday and on the return today were accompanied by Mrs. F. J. Dow, who will be their guest for some weeks.

Successful Fishing Trip.

The Earl of Ashburnham returned last evening from a ten days' fishing trip on the Sevogle river with John Hare as guide. The earl succeeded in catching seventeen salmon and a grilse, the largest weighing twelve pounds. Of the catch ten were taken on Tuesday and one yesterday. The Countess of Ashburnham and Mrs. W. T. Whitehead motored over on Saturday and joined the earl ,and the party returned yesterday, covering the 122 miles in six hours, notwithstanding the roads were heavy at the recent rains.

Married at Nasonworth.

A very pretty wedding took place at Nasonworth yesterday afternoon when Miss Charlotte Bernice Grier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Grier, became the bride of John Lemuel Sinclair, of Rusulagornis Station. The ceremony was performed on the lawn by Rev. J. S. Sutherland and was witnessed by a large number of invited guests. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Grier, while Barker Sinclair was groomsman. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served.

Taken Suddenly Ill.

J. F. VanBuskirk was suddenly taken ill yesterday on the street and was saved from falling only by the timely assistance of two men who helped him to his home. At first it was reported that he had suffered a paralytic stroke, but this morning he was said to be somewhat better, the attack being put down to heart trouble.

An Epidemic of "Spring Fever" Said To Be Getting a Grip On The Miners of Cape Breton

Many Hundred Miners Quit Work for Whole Day to See Circus, Causing a Loss of Upwards of $10,000 in Wages and Thousands of Tons of Coal

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Halifax, N. S., June 24.—The Halifax Herald today quotes a "Cape Breton business man," at present visiting the city, regarding the present labor situation in Cape Breton, as follows:

"An epidemic of 'spring fever' seems to be getting a grip on some of the mine workers of Cape Breton. Monday, all the New Waterford coal miners stayed home all day to go to a circus, that started its performances at 3 and 7 o'clock. Eighty per cent. of them could be through their work in time to attend the 3 o'clock show and the balance could very nicely see the evening performance.

"But they lost $8,000 in wages and the country 2,500 tons of coal that is sadly needed.

"Tuesday six hundred miners stayed off work in the Glace Bay district to see the circus, a loss of $3,500 in wages and 1,500 tons in coal. And of course they spent thousands of dollars to do the circus. Yet they are looking for a living wage; and blaming the company and governments for high cost of living and whine about not getting a square deal.

"The leaders are playing politics and boosting themselves. There is no discipline. Small groups can agitate strikes, take holidays; and they do so ignoring the executive and laugh at contracts and the country's need of production.

"This condition is deplorable at this juncture when the new British owners are talking greater development. It will thwart new work; and give the industry a black eye, unless some wise, strong leader develops amongst the men to guarantee some kind of stability for some fixed period."

TORONTO DEPENDS ON JITNEY SERVICE

So Far All Efforts to Find Way to End Street Railway Strike Have Failed

Toronto, June 24.—This morning, the second day of Toronto's long expected and more or less annual street railway strike, found the city well organized to meet the lack of street cars on the downtown streets.

Most of the big stores and industries had their transport service well in shape, and there were as many jitney on the streets as could be safely handled by the traffic police.

So far all efforts to find a way to end the strike have had no result, except to demontrate the fact that neither the men or the company will make concessions, nor will the civic authorities, the provincial Government or the Ontario Railway Board make a definite move to force a settlement. The railway company has no intention, it is understood, to attempt to run cars, but the employees have the car sheds well picketed in case such an attempt should be made.

The Tennis Dance

The dance given by the Tennis Club in the Automobile and Boating clubhouse last evening was very well attended. A programme of twelve dances and three extras was carried out, music being furnished by Walter McGinn and Charles Allen, while the extras were played by Miss Lynch. Refreshments were served during the evening and Mrs. H. G. Chestnut, Mrs. H. R. Babbitt and Mrs. H. Deedes were the chaperones.

Prohibition Favors the Rich City Man

Speaking of the "flu" epidemic which visited this province in the fall of 1918, Dr. J. S. Bentley, president of the N. B. Medical Society says:

"I am of the opinion that the results obtained in this province (or at least in this city, St. John,) as evidenced by the comparatively low death rate, and the small percentage of complications were in some measure due to the fairly free exhibition of alcohol."

If this is the case then the New Brunswick Prohibitory Act gives the man of wealth living in larger centres a better chance for life in an epidemic of this kind than the man in poor circumstances and those living in sparsely settled districts. Even for medicinal purposes under this act liquor is so difficult to obtain that persons living in remote districts would find it impossible to meet the conditions and thus be at a disadvantage in the fight for life in the event of another serious epidemic such as visited the province in 1918.

Is this fair?

"HUMP" CAMPBELL WANTED IN WEST

Former U. N. B. Coach Offered $2,500 Position With the Manitoba University

[Sydney Post.]

A. D. "Hump" Campbell, undoubtedly the greatest athletic coach in the Maritime Provinces, has been offered the position of chief athletic instructor at the Manitoba University, in Winnipeg.

Campbell is now engaged as inspector at the steel plant in Sydney, and up to date the genial Cape Breton coach has not decided whether he will hearken to the call from the west or not. For some years he was prominent as an athletic director in Cape Breton and then went to the University of New Brunswick, where he gave that college two high class football teams, finally producing a fifteen in the fall of 1914 that was one of the greatest Rugby machines ever got together in the Maritime Provinces. Last year Campbell was at Dalhousie and his record there was a glorious one.

The position in Manitoba necessitates a man with a college career and carries with it a salary of $2,500 per year.

BAY STATE CIRCUIT HAS FINE OPENING

Two-in-Three Racing Makes Fine Sport at Rhode Island Track

Woonsocket, R. I., June 23.—Trotters and pacers of the Bay State Circuit took the word yesterday afternoon at Woonsocket Trotting Park in one of the finest opening day racing programmes ever seen at the historic course.

It was the first time here of two-in-three racing, and this method of picking the winners undoubtedly was the main factor in producing racing that had the large crown on its feet in every one of the seven heats raced.

Almost every horse that came down the track before Starter Albert Merrill, too, appeared to be in tip-top form.

With the surface just drying out after long continued rains, the 2.12 pacers doubled the track in 2.12½. The two heats in the 2.26 trot were timed in 2.19½ and one mile in the 2.14 trot was recorded in 2.14¼.

Two of the three favorites headed the summary, Margaret Dillon taking the 2.12 pace and Galeton the 2.20 trot. Sister Peter T., picked to win the 2.14 trot, acted badly and her breaks shut her out of what chances she had.

The summary:

MAKE CHANGES IN LIPTON'S SHAMROCK

New York, June 24.—Minor alterations to Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV. and the 23 metre Shamrock have been nearly completed, it was learned today. The alterations included the stepping of a shorter topmast in the cup challenger.

Yachtsmen said the alterations indicated a trial with a diminished sail area, as far as a club top sail is concerned.

THE BROOKLYN HANDICAP TODAY

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

New York, June 24.—The 37th running of the historic Brooklyn handicap on the Aqueduct course today brought out a fast field of seven horses. The race is for one mile and a furlong.

Among the entrants was Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Exterminator, the five year old gelding which won the Kentucky Derby two years ago.

Edward McLean's The Porter will carry top weight. He has been assigned 126 pounds.

SOCCER PLAYER HURT

Guelph, Ont., June 24.—John Burns, one of the best soccer players in this city, while taking part in a game last evening, collided with another player so heavily that one leg was broken above the knee. He was removed to the General Hospital.

Grace Direct has started in this year where she left off last fall.

Watches will be working overtime the next two weeks at North Randall.

Single G., 1.59¾, was a mile in 2.07 Saturday at Indianapolis.

Miriam Guy, 2.09¾, is the only declaration in the $10,000 Charter Oak to date.

The Intermittent Closing Purses Please Horsemen

Campaigning horsemen are evidently well pleased with the Intermittent Closing Purses, the new variety of races offered by the Fredericton Park Association for their midsummer Maritime and Maine Circuit meeting the last week in July.

"I believe this innovation will prove most popular with the horsemen and it should be a good thing from the standpoint of the track management as well," declared Fred Cameron, driver of Fern Hal, 2.05 1-4, and other star circuit performers. "Intermittent closing purses give horsemen about all the advantages of a stake, their entrance money doesn't prove a burden and late comers get a chance to race, even though it does cost a little bit more than if they had been early. The Fredericton Park Association should have a wonderfully large entry for both the circuit meetings here and the track—well, it never was better."

PERTINENT COMMENT on SPORTING TOPICS

No less than four towns in New Brunswick will have racing on Dominion Day. No wonder there is a shortage of horses.

Len Acker got back into racing this season as a recreation to take his mind off his many enterprises. He is finding heaps of troubles in the game, too.

Horsemen all over the East will be glad to learn that the report of P. H. Reed's death was untrue. The Fort Fairfield business man will have the distinction of reading his own obituary notice.

A year ago this week Oro Fino, 2.03¼, May Bird, 2.07½, and The Problem, 2.04¼, which will start in the free for all at Houlton, were all racing on the Bay State Circuit, going faster than 2.10 at Woonsocket.

The Winnipeg Telegram says that harness racing is having the most remarkable revival in the Canadian West this year in the history of all sports in that part of the country. Some of America's greatest racing machines have come out of the Canadian West.

Just to show that relations between the managements of the tracks are not strained: Phil Belliveau will be here with Jennie Hal, the big bay mare formerly in a local livery stable for which he paid $1,000 recently, to race this season. He is to make nominations in the Fall stakes and will probably enter the Intermittent Closing Purses, too.

The surprise of the Moncton entry list is that Budlight, 2.04¼, is missing from the list of free for allers. In some correspondence I had with him recently Driver Potvin gave a list of horses he was bringing from Montreal, and mentioned a free for all pacer but didn't give the name of his fast record pacer. Is he keeping one under cover?

Dick Malloy was a credit to baseball when he was an active player ten or twelve years ago as a sportsman in the game for sport's sake. He was a pitcher and infielder of note and for several seasons was the big noise of the Young Tartars, then one of New Brunswick's leading ball teams. Now he is an alderman of Devon, but he showed the fans this week that he can still play the old game.

The Prince Edward Island stables have pretty nearly made the Moncton meeting. With the Islanders out and the Potvin stable missing there would not be many left. Fredericton counted on assurances that Frank Fox would send his hroses here and that some others would come down from Houlton, but at the last minute they failed the local management. However, one big day is a better proposition than two or even three lean ones.

I received a cordial letter yesterday from Phil Belliveau, the manager of the Moncton track, who denied any intention on his part to do anything not perfectly legitimate in the scramble for horses for the opening meetings. Nobody here blames the shrewd Moncton manager in any respect, as he was perfectly within his rights in going after racing stables no matter where they were located to fill his classes. No, Mr. Belliveau is not the one upon whose shoulders the odium rests —J. D. B.

OLSON INJURED IN WRESTLING MATCH

Vancouver, B. C., June 23—Charles Olson, Chicago, was carried out of the ring here last night in a semi-comatose condition following one of the most unsavory wrestling matches ever staged in Vancouver in which George Walker, Canadian lightweight champion, won in two straight falls. Olson had to be taken to a hospital where an X-Ray will be taken to determine his injuries.

FOUGHT A DRAW

Philadelphia, June 24.—Chas. Ledoux, of France, and Joe Burman, Chicago, fought a fast eight round draw here last night. Burman was the aggressor most of the way, but the Frenchman excelled at long distance fighting and never clinched. Carl Tremaine, Cleveland, defeated Carl Puryear, Baltimore, and Joe Welling, Chicago, won from K. O. George Chaney, Baltimore, in the other eight round bouts.

NEW STYMIE RULES FOR THE GOLFERS

Recommendations of Royal and Ancient Golf Club's Committee Announced

New York, June 24.—The rule which the Royal and Ancient Golf Club committee will recommend on stymies was received here in a cable message from Howard F. Whitney, vice president of the United States Golf Association and member of the committee sent to England to discuss the rule of the game.

The message, received by W. D. Vanderpool, secretary of the Association, follows:

"The Royal and Ancient Committee will recommend sanction of stymie modification for the United States, which is:

"In match play, when both balls are on the putting green, the player whose ball is nearer the hole may play first if he so elects. Failing to play, the player whose ball is farthest from the hole may lift his opponent's ball, thereby conceding his putt."

Save Your Potato Crop
BY USING WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID WITH BORDEAUX MIXTURE

WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID has come to be recognized as the most effective insecticide for potatoes. It kills the bugs at all times and under all kinds of conditions and being very adhesive it does not wash off, as many of the other insecticides such as Paris Green. It clings to the foliage and will kill the bugs not only the day it is applied but for many days after.

In Aroostook County, which is one of the largest, if not the largest potato producing section in North America, WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID is used exclusively by the best and largest potato raisers in that famous section. During years past many imitations of this famous poison have been placed on the market, but so far all have failed to come anywhere near the standard of WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID.

BORDEAUX MIXTURE

Copper Sulphate (Blue Vitriol)	5 Lbs.
Fresh Stone Lime	5 Lbs.
Water	50 Gals.
WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID	1 Lb.

Dissolve the Blue Vitriol by pouring on hot water so that it is just covered. Use an earthern or wooden vessel. Add the lime and enough water to make 50 gallons. It is then ready for immediate use. Watson's Soluble Arsenoid must not be used alone.

Try a 2 lb. can of WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID.

THOSE ONTARIO BRIBERY CHARGES

Attorney General Still Waiting for the Former Members to Explain

Toronto, June 23.—Milton C. Fox, U.F.O. member for South Essex, was the first of the three United Farmers to "explain" to the government the matter of charges made at U.F.O. picnics that attempts at bribery were made in connection with the legislature, Mr. Fox having conferred yesterday with Attorney General Raney and Hon. Mr. Nelson, parliamentary speaker of the house, with reference to the allegations.

Mr. Fox denied that he ever was offered money to stop certain legislation concerning the protection of beaches, and he expressed the opinion that Andrew Hicks, M.P.P. for South Huron, had got mixed up in his understanding of the facts.

Mr. Hicks is expected here today to tell the government whether he really had made charges that bribery had been attempted, or whether there had been a mistaken meaning attached to his words at the picnic where he made a sensational speech.

D. J. Taylor, U.F.O. member for North Grey, who is reported to have said he himself was offered a bribe of $1,000, is also expected to state his case to the government.

COMPENSATION FOR ARMY CONTRACTS

The Cancellation of Canadian Contracts Before the Public Accounts Committee

Ottawa, June 23.—Compensation paid by the Canadian War Purchasing Commission for cancellation of clothing contracts was the main item before the Public Accounts Committee of the Commons yesterday.

When Mr. A. R. McMaster (Brome) called attention to the fact that a firm in Hull supplied army socks at an average price of 45 to 50 cents, and received compensation for cancellation of contract at 50 cents a pair, W.S. Leckie, secretary of the commission, promised to look into it. On the face of it, he agreed that the thing needed explanation, but he was sure there had been some mistake in making out the report.

Dealing with compensation generally, Mr. Leckie stated that it was less than ten per cent. of the contracts involved and much less than the sums allowed by Allied powers in the war. At one point, he stated that prices quoted in Canada for overstocks of army boots were ridiculously low and that the boots were traded to France through the Canadian trade commissioner at a good profit. Valuable rugs or furniture, if any, disposed of from Camp Borden, would be sold through an Imperial Board.

NOT TO ABOLISH JURISTS TRIBUNAL

The Hague, June 23—The discussions of the commission of Jurists yesterday strengthened the theory that the existing Hague Arbitration Tribunal will not be abolished if a high court of nations is formed, but on the contrary, that the tribunal will not only function as formerly, but have a considerable part in the selection of Judges for the high court.

IN DAYS OF TERROR

All was prepared for their escape, when one day Tison lighted his pipe with the paper stopper of the carafe. As the paper burned, the writing became visible. He instantly extinguished the half-burnt paper and carried the remaining fragment to the council of the Temple, when, eing held near the fire, they could only read a few disjointed words, the other part being burnt to ashes. They could merely recognize the handwriting of the Queen. Tison being questioned, mentioned some slight marks of attention and sympathy he fancied he had observed on the part of Lepetre and Toulun. They were immediately denounced to the municipality, and allowed no more to enter the Temple. Turgy remained. But suspicion was now excited to the highest degree. The princesses were never left a moment alone. All communication with the exterior was now utterly impossible. Madame Elizabeth had one day given Turgy a goldhandled knife to clean, which she used for cutting her fruit. Turgy, suspecting something, opened the blade, and in the handle found a letter. This letter contained an alphabet of signs: He returned the knife to Madame Elizabeth; but a municipal then present prevented him, and, in his turn, securing the knife, opened the blade; but fortunately the letter was no longer there. The municipal nevertheless consecated the knife. It was at that time the indefatigable Chevalier de Maison-Rouge dreamed of this second attempt, which they intended to carry into execution by means o the house which Dixmer had purchased. The prisoners, however, by degrees had now lost all hope. That day the Queen, terrified by the noise in the streets, which reached her ears, and learning from these cries they were debating the accusation of the Girondins, the last supporters of moderation, felt dreadfully depressed. The Girondins dead, the royal family lost their only defence against the Convention.

At seven o'clock the supper was served. The municipals examined every plate as usual, unfolded each napkin successively, searched the bread, the one with a fork, the other with his fingers, and concluded by breaking into the maccaroons and walnuts, for fear any letter should reach the prisoners. These precautions being concluded, the royal family were invited to their meal in these simple words—

'Widow of Capet, you may eat.'

The Queen shook her head, signifying she was not hungry. But at this moment Madame Royal advanced, as if to embrace her mother, and whispered,

'Seat yourself at table, Madame.' I fancied Turgy made a sign."

The Queen, tremblingly, raised her head. Turgy was opposite to her. The napkin laid over his left arm, and with his right hand he touched his eye. She immediately rose, without any further objection, and resumed her usual place at table. The two municipals assisted at their meals, being strictly prohibited from leaving the princesses alone for an instant with Turgy. The feet of the Queen and Madame Elizabeth met, and pressed each other under the table. As the Queen was seated oposite Turgy, not one of his gestures escaped her notice; besides, they were all so natural, that they neither could nor did inspire the municipals with any suspicion whatever. At the removal of the supper the same precautions were used as before; the smallest pieces of bread were broken and examined. After which, Turgy went out first, the two municipals following; the woman Tison remained. This woman had become ferocious since her separation from her daughter, of whose fate she was totally ignorant. Every time the Queen lavished a caress on Madame Royal, it threw her into an excess of rage almost bordering on frenzy; so much so, that the queen, who so well understood the griefs of a mother, often denied herself this consolation, now, alas! the only one left her, of pressing her daughter to her heart.

Tison came now to seek for his wife, who at first declared she would not leave till Capet's wife was in bed.

Madame Elizabeth then wished the Queen good night, and entered her chamber. The Queen and princess having also retired, Tison's wife took the candle and went out. The municipals had already thrown themselves upon their beds in the corridor. The moon, pale visitant of the unhappy princesses, glided by the opening of the first house, casting a diagonal ray across the window at the foot of the Queen's bed. For an instant everything remained calm and silent in the chamber, then a door turned softly on its hinges, a shadow passed over the rays of the moon, and approached the Queen it was Madame Elizabeth.

"Did you see it?" said she in a whisper.

"Ye," replied the Queen.

"And you understood it?"

"So well, that I dare not believe it."

"Let us see, repeat the signs."

"First, then, he touched his eyes to indicate he had some news for us; then he passed his napkin from his left to his right, by that he meant to say, they were occupied in our deliverance. Then he put his hand to his face, to signify that the expected aid would reach us from the interior, and not from a stranger; then when you asked him not to forget the milk of almonds tomorrow, he made two knots in his pocket-handkerchief. Thus it is again the Chevalier de Maison-Rouge—noble-hearted man that he is."

"It is he," said Madame Elizabeth.

"Are you asleep, my child?" demanded the Queen.

"No, ma mere," replied Madame Royal.

"Then pray for you know who."

Madame Elizabeth quietly regained her chamber, and for some minutes during the silence of the night, the soft, sweet voice of the youthful princess might be heard addressing her prayer to God. It was at that moment, at a signal from Morand, the first stroke of the pickaxe sounded in the small house at Rue de la Corderie.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Clouds.

Opposed to the intoxication of first appearances, Maurice was certainly much disappointed at the reception of Genevieve, and reckoned upon solitude to regain the road he had lost, or seemed to have lost, on the route to her affection. But Genevieve had wisely arranged her plan, and did not intend to allow him an opportunity for a tete-a-tete, being conscious of their danger even from the happiness they afforded her. Maurice anticipated the morrow. A kinswoman of Genevieve's, no doubt previously invited, came to call upon her, and Genevieve had retained her. This time there was nothing to be said, it could not be the fault of Genevieve. When leaving, Maurice was requested to escort this relation to Rue les Fosses Saint Victor, where she resided. Maurice went away pouting, but Genevieve smiled, and he construed this smile into a promise.

Alas! Maurice deceived himself. The next day, the 2nd of June, that terrible day that witnessed the downfall of the Girondins, Maurice dismissed his friend, Louis, who absolutely wished to carry him off to the Convention, and that he should put everything aside, and accompany him to visit his fair friend. The Goddess of Liberty had a frightful rival in Genevieve. Maurice found Genevieve in her little salon, all grace and amiability, but near her was a young femme-de-chambre with the tri-colored cockade, engaged in marking pocket-handkerchiefs in the angle of the window; she never left her place.

MUST SOLDIERS GO HOME TO VOTE IN PLEBISCITE?

Several Hundred Returned Men in Fredericton Anxious for a Decision

ASKED THE GLEANER TO GET OFFICIAL RULING

Matter Is Now Before Premier and Attorney General Is To Make Ruling

Several hundred returned soldiers, located here while undergoing treatment at the Military Hospital and taking D.S.C.R. courses, are making anxious inquiries as to whether they can vote here or whether they will have to go to the counties in which they reside to cast their ballots in the plebiscite on Prohibition in New Brunswick on July 10th

The matter has been officially brought to the attention of the Provincial Government, and at the suggestion of the returned soldiers' committee Attorney General Byrne has been asked by The Gleaner to make a ruling on the question, and will do so in the near future. Premier Foster is also making inquiries regarding the matter at the suggestion of The Gleaner and declared this morning that every provision that could be legally made would be made for returned soldiers either in hospitals, sanitariums or taking courses to vote in the plebiscite with as little inconvenience as possible.

Under the provincial laws, returned soldiers are qualified to vote at all elections until within one year from the declaration of peace, which will be until next December, as the Declaration of Peace was gazetted under date of Dec. 10th, 1919. It is understood that the Prohibition Committee in Fredericton have already sought advice on the question.

Tractors Can Use Kerosene for Fuel.

The dealers say that it is surprising the interest the farmers and other are showing in tractors. Some tractors do not cost very much more than a good stationary engine and as stationary engines are being looked upon as a part of the equipment of every uptodate farmer, it is natural that they should be willing to buy a tractor at an extra expense of a few hundred dollars, so that they can plow, disc, etc., with the same machine that they thrash, saw their wood and churn with. The Fordson tractor, which is to be demonstrated at the Experimental Farm on Saturday, will do all these things and do them best while burning kerosene, thus keeping operating expenses at a minimum.

Ask Democratic Support for Irish

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

San Francisco, Calif., June 25.—The friends of Irish Freedom, whose representative came to San Francisco to urge a plank in the Democratic platform pertaining to Ireland, announced last night that because of the activities of the Irish sympathizers under the direct guidance of President De Valera, of the Irish insurgent government, they would not propose any declaration to the conventoin resolutions committee.

The announcement generally was regarded as aggravating the possibility of a determined fight over the Irish question.

Privately, officials of the Friends of Irish Freedom had advocated a plank which they said they regarded as less pronounced than the declaration which will be requested by De Valera. He arrives here Sunday to lead the fight for Democratic support for Irish independence.

LAYS IRISH ROW TO DE VALERA

Devoy Says He Alone Can "Call Off Dogs"—Gives Inside of G. O. P. Conference

New York, June 25.—"The terms of peace are easy," says John Devoy, in the latest issue of the Gaelic American, of which he is editor. 'The peace" to which Mr. Devoy refers is a settlement of the differences existing between Eamonn De Valera, "president of the Irish republic," and Justice Daniel F. Cohalan of the supreme court, who, as leader of the national council of the Friends of Irish Freedom, has entered upon a controversy with De Valera that threatens to disrupt the whole Irish movement in America.

The "terms" to which Mr. Devoy, who is looked upon as the official spokesman for Justice Cohalan, refers are that "President" De Valera must first "call off the dogs."

"No Irishman in America wants a fight with him," says Mr. Devoy, meaning by "him" Mr. De Valera, and "there will be no fight if he silences the men who are trying to start it. He can do so by one word.

"But I will stand irrevocably on the right of the American-Irish organizations to govern themselves and to decide on the methods by which the Irish cause is to be advanced in this country. On that basis peace can be established at once. There will be no fight if President De Valera does not want it."

Advices to the legation from the Salvadorean Minister of Foreign Affairs said forty-nine cases had been discovered and of these seventeen had proved fatal. The infected district, the advices added, had been isolated.

TWO FATALITIES IN QUEBEC COLLISION

Grand Trunk Train Collided With I. C. R. Engine at Levis This Morning

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Quebec, June 25.—A collision which resulted in the death of a man and in the fatal injury of another, occurred at one o'clock this morning at Levis. The Grand Trunk train arriving from Sherbrooke collided with an I. C. R. locomotive on its way to Chaudiere Curve. The Grand Trunk engineer, John Lenahan, of Richmond, Que., jumped before the impact and in landing his head struck a rock and death was instantaneous. A man from Chaudiere named Guay, a passenger, happened to be on board the I. C. R. engine and is dying.

Three other passengers were slightly hurt.

BRITISH POLICY ON ANGLO-JAP TREATY

British Premier Tells House There Has Been No Decision as to Renewing Treaty

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

London, June 25.—When Premier Lloyd-George was asked in the House of Commons yesterday whether the government would consider the feeling that the Anglo-Japanese treaty should not be renewed until the British government had time to study the desires of the "new government which will come into power in the United States next March," he said that the British government was aware of that feeling, but could make no statement on the treaty situation at the present time. He said, however, that there had been no decision whatever with respect to renewing or allowing the treaty automatically to remain in force for a year as the document provides.

AN INVESTIGATION OF PENITENTIARIES

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Kingston, Ont., June 25.—That the demand made by Brig. Gen. U. S. WATER WORKS ASSOCIATION MET

A Number of Technical Papers Read and Discussed by the Members

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 25.—At the convention of the American Water Works Association held here yesterday a somewhat spirited discussion, described by one delegate as "the washing of dirty linen," interrupted scheduled proceedings for a time. The discussion was in connection with the change in the constitution affecting the election of Secretary J. H. Diven, New York, and the point at issue was whether he should be elected by the executive, as has already been done, or by vote of the convention, as is done in the case of other officers. The issue promised to disturb the convention, but later in the day blew over without any action being taken.

The chemical and bacteriological section of the association separated a considerable number of delegates from the main convention yesterday afternoon, when a number of technical papers were read.

In the convention proper, an address on "ice formation," illustrated by moving pictures, was the feature of the addresses.

Probable Agreement in Newsprint Difficulty

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

OTTAWA, June 25—There is every prospect today that the difficulty over the supply of newsprint between the Canadian manufacturers and publishers will be fixed up without the need of the legislation now before the House, giving the Government authority to regulate the export not only of newsprint but any other commended domestic requirements. If this arrangement is concluded, the bill now up will be dropped. The newspapers are asking for fifteen per cent. of the output of the mills, allowing eighty five per cent. for export, and no question of fixed price enters into it. There is some disagreement between the parties as to size of newspapers, particularly in the west, but the outlook is hopeful for a settlement.

Members Still Look for Bonus While the Increase for Supreme Court Judges Seems Assured

An Increase in Salaries of Cabinet Ministers is Favored, But Not Likely to Be Adopted This Year—Much Interest in the Supplementary Estimates

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

Ottawa, June 25—Special members of all parties in the House are mutually exchanging grouses today over the indemnity outlook. The prospects are not hopeful. There is just a possibility that Mr. Fielding's faint suggestion that five hundred dollars be voted this session by way of raise or bonu, but that the increase to four thousand be operative only after the next election will be acted on by the Government. Even as to that the chances are not promising.

What seems practically assured is an increase for the judges of supreme or superior courts. The others got a raise before. All the party leaders are a unit in favoring the raise, and it has been pressed upon the Government repeatedly by the bar association. The judges now receive from six thousand to seven thousand from the Dominion. In some provinces the provincial Government add a thousand. The suggested increase is two thousand per year, though it is not certain just how much will be granted. It is sure, however, that something will be done.

Increase in the salaries of cabinet ministers is also favored by both opposition leaders, but there are doubts as to whether their acquiescence will lead the Government into action. There will be a certain modesty about proposing a raise for themselves if the members are not included, though the feeling on all sides is that the ministers are underpaid. The salary of the Premier, exclusive of indemnity, is ten thousand, while the ministers receive seven thousand. In some cases it is less than their deputies are paid. Advocates of the indemnity raise declare today that the last has not been heard of the matter, and that it will be discussed when the judges' question comes up.

The supplementary estimates are looked for today and with as much interest as was the main appropriations. The latter provided mainly for carrying on. The supplementaries possibly may furnish money for some new works, though the Minister of Finance is understood to be sitting pretty tight on the lid. Very urgent representation have been made for various appropriation and the insistance has been particularly strong since the new budget was adopted with the prospect of a great increase in the revenue.

APPEAL OF RURAL MAIL CONTRACTORS

Contractors Ask for Straight Yearly Salary of $60 Per Mile a Year

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

Ottawa, June 25.—The rural mail contractors of Canada are organizing to secure from the Government an improvement in the conditions of their employment, and today the first move in this direction was made when Garfield McKinnon, of Guelph, representing fifteen hundred rural mail contractors of Ontario, appeared before members of the cabinet and made a strong plea for that body.

The Ontario mail contractors are asking that all rural mail contractors employed by the government be placed on a straight yearly salary basis at the rate of sixty dollars per mile per year, to date from January, 1917, that they be allowed all the statutory holidays with full pay and that they be paid at the end of every thirty days. Mr McKinnon pointed out that in the United tSates the rural mail contractors receive seventy-five dollars per mile per year, with three weeks holidays each year with full pay.

Ith was also alleged that the statement made in the House by the Hon. Mr. Rowell was not correct. He stated that contractors could be relieved of their contracts by notifying the Postmaster General. The contractors allege that when new tenders are called for, unless those received are about the same price as the old, the contractor is advised that the new tenders are too high and that he must carry out his contract. A change of contracts also involves a heavy loss in equipment to the old contractor.

The government promised to take the representations made into consideration.

TRIAL FOR MURDER QUEBEC SOLDIER

Witnesses Give Evidence in Charge Preferred Against Joseph Remillard

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Quebec, June 25.—The case of the King vs. Jos. Remillard, of Levis, charged with the murder of Lieut. L. Morrissette, on the night of January 27, commenced here yesterday.

Five witnesses were heard and of these three gave the same testimony as at the trial of Remillard's son, Romeo, who was tried and found guilty of manslaughter in May.

M. Guimont, a train despatcher, of Levis, gave evidence that he and another man were with Morrissette on the night of his death.

The latter, he stated, had gone to a house and was in conversation with a woman, Mrs. Remillard, who appeared nervous and excited. He heard a man's voice say: 'Kill him, kill him," and he had run away. Then he heard two shots.

Corroborative evidence was given by Alphonse B. Belanger and Angus Baker, the latter living near the Remillards. The latter added that he had seen a boy firing a rifle and later had witnessed the boy and a man both dragging a corpse into the house.

COAL WORKERS WILL NOT STAND FOR POLICEMEN

Threaten to Strike if Dominion Coal Co. Does Not Disband Its Police Force

THE FORCE EMPLOYED TO PREVENT THIEVERY

The Policemen Appointed Are All Members of the United Mine Workers

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Sydney, N. S., June 25.—A decision to quit work unless the Dominion Coal Company immediately disbands its newly reorganized police force, was reached by the turbulent Phalen local of the United Mine Workers at a meeting in Glace Bay last night.

The police question has suddenly overshadowed the lamp controversy with the Phalen people, although the lamp trouble is so serious that the local has given the company only until the fifth of July to install electric cap and belt lights if it wishes to avoid a strike.

For many years the company maintained a numerous police force, which came to be hated by the miners through its activities during strikes in 1914. At the earnest and strong solicitation of the United Mine Workers this force was disbanded and a system of colliery watchmen substituted.

Can't Cope with Thievery.

H. J. McCann, the new manager, has reorganized the police force, stating that the watchmen are no longer able to cope with the growing thievery about the collieries.

Although all of the newly appointed policemen are members of the United Mine Workers in good standing, the union has taken serious objection to the reorganization of the force, which culminated in last night's meeting.

A resolution was unanimously passed that the Phalen local walk out unless the company disbands the force. Also that the United Mine Workers' men joining the force be ostracized and their names and pictures be sent to every union in Canada, with a view to securing general support in the event of the trouble leading to a clash with the coal company.

A mass meeting will be held Sunday to place a time limit on the ultimatum to the company. The men immediately affected number 900, and they operate Dominion No. 2, the largest colliery in the country.

HURL BOMB INTO SLEEPING ROOM

Family Had Refused to Join in Local Strike at Waterbury, Conn.

Waterbury, Conn., June 25.—Five workers who had persistently refused to join the local strike, a woman and three small children escaped death miraculously at 2.30 o'clock this morning when a bomb was hurled through the window of one of the sleeping rooms in the dwelling at 23½ Railroad Hill street, blowing out all the windows in the house and demolishing one side of the structure.

"Human Fly" Fell 40 Feet While Climbing Up a Wall

Charles Thompson Severely Injured When He Lost His Hold on the Side of the Welland Hotel at St. Catharines, Ont., and Fell to the Balcony

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

St. Catharines, Ont., June 25—Charles Thompson, the "Dare-devil," in attempting to perform the "human fly" act by climbing the wall of the Welland House last evening, fell forty feet to the balcony, breaking his nose, right elbow, right wrist and right ankle, and sustaining possibly other injuries not yet determined.

He was still unconscious at a late hour last night.

A cry of "fake" from several voices in the large crowd, while Thompson was making ready for his climb, is believed to have made him nervous.

Prorogation of House Now Expected by Dominion Day

Every Prospect That the Unionist Caucus, at Which the Future Policy of the Government Will Be Outlined, Will Be Held on Tuesday Next

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, June 25—No date is announced for the Unionist caucus, but at the rate of progress in the House it cannot be later than Tuesday, for there is a strong prospect now that prorogation will be possible by Dominion Day.

The method pursued of sitting twelve hours a day is causing a lot of business to be put through. Some members who went home are back, or on the way, but a few who have urgent business to look after won't be able to remain over and are leaving.

Though no one appears to have any positive proof on the questin the impression is that Sir Robert Borden will stay. He appears to be completely restored to health and is standing up well under the strenuous work.

WHO IS HE?

To the Editor,

Sir,—I read the following in a prohibition advertisement in the St. John Standard yesterday:

"One of St. John's most prominent business men, whose name is a household word, expressed himself as follows this week: 'Although I have always taken a drink and can find some fault with the present prohibitory law and its enforcement, I could not vote against Prohibition July 10th, and then go home and meet my wife and children--I would feel like a murderer with blood on my hands.'"

I would like to ask, who is this habitual, hypocritical prohibitionist boozer who confesses to his prohibition friends and admirers that he "has always taken a drink," but proposes to deceive his wife and children on July 10th by telling them that he voted for prohibition, and thus avoid for that day the feeling that he is "a murderer with blood on his hands."

The Prohibition Advertising Bureau tells us that he is "one of St. John's most prominent business men, whose name is a household word."

A fine example this, and a pretty specimen for prohibitionists to quote as advising honest men and women to vote for prohibition.

This is exactly the kind of thing that such a fanatical Act as the N. B. Prohibition Act makes for—hypocrisy and deception.

And yet our women are asked to believe that it is going to give us happy homes and make us all Christian saints. Yours,

WHAT D'YOU THINK.

St. John, June 22, 1920—adv.

Closing Exercises Today in Fredericton Public Schools

Interesting Exercises Carried Out This Morning in the Various Schools in the City—The Scholars Who Participated As Well As Those With Perfect Attendance

The closing exercises of the public schools took place this morning and were attended by an unusually large number of interested parents and friends of the scholars.

The High School entrance examinations have for the first time in some years interfered with the exercises as the Grade 8 scholars writing the examinations were unable to be in attendance until the latter part of the morning. The Teachers' Institute meetings, which begin on Monday, have brought the closing on several days earlier this year, so that the date is about three school days ahead of the date usually set for the closing.

The majority of the school programmes were of an elaborate nature and proved very interesting.

The Model School.

The Model School held a united programme in the assembly hall of the Normal School building as follows:—

Chorus—Hail This Happy Day.
A Garden Party—Making the Flowers.
Song—The Cuckoo.
Recitation—Raining.
Chorus—My Native Land.
Exercise from Hiawatha—Building of the Canoe.
Gypsy Song and Dance, My Caravan—Beryl Colquhoun.
Recitation—Jack Vaughan.
Solo and Chorus, Bluebird—Soloist, Frances Black.
Recitation—Josephine Burtt.
Song—May Day.
Play—Empire Pageant.

In Grades 7 and 8, Mr. Burns' room, those students with perfect attendance were: Jean Saunders, Nellie Winters, Earl McQuarrie, Douglas Duncan and Gretchen Laurie. The blackboards were prettily decorated with drawings and symbols of the closing.

In Grades 5 and 6, Miss Gallagher's department, the students with perfect attendance were Royden Chase, Jane Clayton, George Clynick, Margaret Miles, Doris Saunders, Edwin Miles, Margaret Irvine, Marjorie Macreadie, Harold Jamieson, Gretchen Foster, Margaret Phillips and Margaret Smith. The blackboards in this room were also decorated with several excellent drawings by the various students.

In Miss Harvey's Department, Grades 3 and 4, the pupils with perfect attendance were Paul Currie, John Fleming, Helen Jamieson, Althea Niles, Marion Nye, Arthur Rosborough, Lloyd Upton, Mona Morris, Marvin Vaughan, Teddie Duncan, Pauline Lindsay, Vera Maxon, Lee Miles, Osborne Rainsford, Allister Young and Norma Young. The blackboards were decorated with drawings which were a great credit to the kiddies in this department.

In Miss Caswell's Department, Grades 1 and 2, the pupils with perfect attendance were Robin Bailey, Victor Currie, Sterling Lint, Spencer Clynick, Muriel Foster, Beatrice Mills, Augusta Niles, Everett Patterson, Donald Rowan, Sanford Smith and Sunshine Young. The blackboards were decorated with drawings of birds and animals by the kiddies, which attested to the skill of the teacher.

York Street School.

The two departments of the York Street School under Miss Alice Hoben and Miss Everett united with the Charlotte Street School in their closing exercises, which took place in the assembly hall of the High School.

The pupils in Grades 5 and 7, Miss Hoben's department, who had perfect attendance were Edward Allen, Eric Fowler, Thomas Bird, Jack Fowler, Carrie Sutherland, Vera True and Archibald Vivyan. The drawings in this department, as well as in that of Miss Everett, were excellent.

In Miss Everett's department the pupils with perfect attendance were Helen McCordick, Mansford Lewis and Vincent Hudson.

The drawings on the blackboards, symbolic of the June closing, were excellently drawn by the pupils of the department.

In Miss Chase's department, Miss Crisse, who is supplying for Miss Jewett in Grades 5 and 6 had the following pupils with perfect attendance: Beatrice Ferguson, Irene Fitzpatrick, Mabel Bonnar and Letha Hersey. The blackboards in this department as well as the various other departments were suitably decorated with drawings and with the names of those with perfect attendance.

In Miss Strong's department, Grade 1, the pupils never absent were Margaret Brown, Margaret Smith, Hazel DeLong, Lawney Williams and Celia Blair.

Regent Street School.

At the Regent street school reviews of the regular work of the term occupied the attention of the teachers and pupils of the five departments. Blackboard drawings were given a prominent position in all departments and attracted attention from the numerous visitors who attended the exercises. In the lower grades exercise books and other products of the school work of the year were on exhibition. The blackboard drawings of the little tots of the primary department attracted much attention.

The record of attendance, as in the other schools, was reduced, particularly in the lower grades, by the heavy storms of the winter, but nevertheless the record of all departments was good under the circumstances.

Those given a record of perfect attendance were as follows:

Principal Hughes' department, Grades 6 and 7, Alice Boole, Katheine Cox, Louis Gagnon, David Lifford, Mary McCarthy, Thomas Duffy, John O'Connor, Frank O'Donnell, Gordon Powers.

Sister Clarice's department, Grades 5 and 6, Kathleen Ivory, Esther Cremin, Mary McGinnis, Elizabeth Cotter, Josephine Crowley, Mary Lifford, Nora McGrath, Isabel Jennings, Roy Ward, Earl Rowan, Eldon Ward.

In Grade 1 of this school a programme was followed by the pupils, the exercises proving very enjoyable. In Miss Davies' department there also were special exercises. Sister M. Adrienne occupied the session with lessons in arithmetic, spelling and composition in addition to having songs and dialogues by the children. In the other departments of Principal Hughes and Sister Clarice the regular work was reviewed.

Charlotte Street School.

The Charlotte Street school, of which Miss Sarah Thompson is principal, held its closing exercises in the Assembly Hall of the High School, its own assembly hall having been cut in two at the Christmas vacation to accommodate an additional department. The two departments of the York Street school united with the Charlotte Street school in these exercises which were much more elaborate than those usually attempted by the graded schools. The programme was largely musical, Prof. F. W. Harrison having trained the pupils.

THE HOLIDAYS.

Today marks the closing of another school year, and hundreds of young people will lay aside their books for a time, while they devote their energies to physical exercises instead of the mental exercises which have occupied them for the greater part of the last few months. They will no doubt all agree on the truth of the maxim, "Mens sana in corpore sano," and it is possible that in the opinion of many the "corpore sano" is the more important of the two. At any rate, it probably goes without saying that the process of developing the "corpore sano" appeals more strongly to the tastes and inclinations of the great majority of school boys and girls than does the development of the other quantity.

In some few instances today is the ending of the school career, and to those scholars, particularly the boys, who now set out to face the battle of life, the time is one fraught with the gravest responsibilities. There is a strong tendency on the part of boys to wish their school days over; they are anxious to go out in the world when they will be free from the "tiresome schoolbooks" and the restraint of school life. The future is all before them, bright with ideals and possibilities; but in after years there are few but who look back upon their school days as the happiest and best time of their lives.

To those who are today finishing their school days we would remind them that the future for them is largely what each one chooses to make it.

THE PEACE OF THE WORLD.

That was a dramatic moment when Delegate McCullough, at the recent Labor Convention in Montreal, pointed to the intertwined flags of Britain, France and the United States and said that they stood, not only for the peace of the world, but human liberty. Nor was this a hyperbolism, for it is recognized today that the nations symbolized by the flags in question constitute the hope of the world, points out an exchange.

The aftermath of every war upsets the normal aspects of life; but the late great war was so widespread in its menace, so prodigious in the sacrifices it demanded, so overturning in the wreck of empires and the toppling of thrones, that the world still staggers from the shock and enormity of it all. In this period of storm and stress, which menaces civilization itself, the world turns to the three great nations mentioned as constituting the moral idea in the comity of nations.

For the nonce the United States has retired from world affairs, obsessed as it is with domestic politics; but the interrelations of that great country are too large and urgent, the needs of the world are too imperative, the sympathies of the nation are too large and warm and human, to permit that retirement to be permanent. A wicked propaganda has sought to suggest great militaristic designs to Britain and France, while even the greatest democracy in the world is represented as preparing the youth of the country for future wars.

It was significant, for that reason, that when Delegate McCullough pointed to the flags of Britain, France and the United States, the convention burst into loud applause. Politics may be unscrupulous, and invent lies and blacken character; but, fundamentally, the general belief and conviction is that the three countries named stand for those qualities and principles which give life its supreme value—liberty, order, peace and prosperity.

When Britain drew the sword, her children, from far spaces, rallied to her side, which was the splendid answer to those who predicted that her dependencies would stab her in the back in her hour of trial. France, the home of intellectual liberty, gave her all for human freedom, while the United States, the hope of the democracies, flung down her gage to Imperialistic tyranny. France, which suffered the most, is recovering marvellously; Britain is reconquering her old commercial and industrial supremacy; the United States, which suffered least, is strong and powerful.

But above all other considerations is the thought that the three nations stand for the spiritual idea in the national life. Working together, refusing to be disunited by any consideration, the three nations stand for recovered values, for the restored and functioning sanctions of orderly life.

Failing the realization of these high purposes, nothing but utter ruin awaits western civilization. The east stirs; the sleepy millions become conscious. Villainy would put arms in their hands, to menace all that is fair and alluring in human effort. The enlightened nations must lie on their arms; but mutual accord is the thing to be sought for and won at all costs, for the existence of Europe depends upon it in a very literal degree.

"MODIFICATION."

Public speakers and writers have long been warned to avoid "long winded words in -osity and -ation." Yet in matters demanding some orotundity of form and a little discretion held in solution by careful selection of words, those objectionable terminating syllables find themselves in pretty constant use.

For instance, serious thinkers in Newfoundland have been giving some study to the problem which burns in many a rebellious if law-abiding heart—the problem of total prohibition of a substance against which no case has ever more than half been made out, and by prejudiced pleaders. They are a sober minded, clear-headed, intelligent and self-respecting lot, the inhabitants of Newfoundland; nobody has ever seen or known them without conceiving genuine respect for the sturdiness of their character, collective and individual.

And now this happens: Newfoundland's Premier has announced in the Assembly the Government's intention to appoint a commission to consider the question of modification of the prohibition law. This action follows some months of agitation. It is hard to find any valid objection to such action. It is intrinsically moderate, as opposed to the intrinsic immoderation of absolute prohibition. Everybody will wish the Newfoundlanders well. They may become a shining example.

THE BOARD OF COMMERCE.

The resignation of Commissioner Murdock of the Board of Commerce should bring the Board to an end. The Board was apparently not appointed in the belief that it would serve a useful purpose, but to meet or satisfy in a measure a sentiment which appeared to assert itself in the earlier period of high prices and general unrest. Commissioner Murdock seems to feel that the Board could have performed much good service if it had been given wider powers; if it had enjoyed the sympathy and support of the members of the Government; and also, if his colleagues on the Board had been active, sympathetic and earnest in the work. But Mr. Murdock was unreasonable in his expectations and overzealous; and the court's decisions against the Board's action and rulings justified the other two Commissioners in their apparent apathy. It is not fitting that the Government, or any power other than the natural agency, should undertake to regulate and control the price of commodities. Combines and "corners" can be dissolved and suppressed by another authority, and through that authority the people can be assured of reasonable protection.

Montreal Gazette: "The moving pictures in their attempt to thrill the "public are frequently charged with "exaggeration, but surely no animated views thrown on the screen "are half as exciting as the actual "happenings today in Ireland. Hundreds of men attacking police barracks and being met with rifle-ball "and hand grenade, cattle driving on "an extensive scale, the blocking of "roads with forest trees, and the "daily shooting from ambush—all "outdo the scenario writer and the "photographer at their wildest. Fact "is stranger than the artificial in "entertainment."

And now a coal miners' union of Cape Breton threatens to strike or has ordered a strike, or something of that kind, unless the coal company disband its police force, maintained to protect the company's property against theft and such like; and yet unions and men who act in that way actually look for public sympathy and support! It is unfortunate for the cause of labor in this country that some of its leaders, and many of its leaders' followers, cannot or will not understand that their demands, to be respected, must have as a basis common sense, a sense of propriety and justice to all.

The United States Federal Reserve Board predicts a coal shortage next winter which may curtail production of iron and steel and seriously affect many industries. The prediction in its way is a confession of weakness. The country has the coal mines and the men to work in them. Why cannot the home fuel requirements be met in these days of peace?

WHOLESALE GROCERS TO BE REORGANIZED

New Brunswick Society at Annual Meeting Decide to Join New Association

St. John, June 25.—The annual meeting of the Wholesale Grocers' Guild of New Brunswick was held yesterday afternoon at Johnston's Hotel, Loch Lomond. About twenty-five members of the guild left the city about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon by motor and upon their arrival at Loch Lomond they constituted themselves into two baseball teams and enjoyed an exciting game of ball. After the game they settled down to the business of the trip and held their annual meeting. The chair was occupied by the president, J. F. Edgett, of Moncton. Other outside members present were R. F. Randolph and Mr. Kitchen, of Fredericton.

The most important business that was transacted was the decision to dissolve organization, owing to the fact that the Dominion Guild of Wholesale Grocers, with which the provincial guild is affiliated, had ceased to exist and the place of the guild had been taken by the Canadian Wholesale Grocers' Association, acting under a dominion charter. It was decided to form a branch of this latter organization in New Brunswick, and until further plans have been completed the officers and executive of the guild were authorized to constitute themselves a committee to carry on in the meantime and to effect arrangements for the new association.

After the business meeting the members sat down to an excellent dinner, the menu for which had been provided by the entertainment committee. The members after their game of ball—which made evident the fact that many of the grocers were old players of no mean ability—all had good appetites and the dinner was much enjoyed. Later in the evening they returned to the city by motor cars.

UNVEIL TABLET AT ST. JOHN SCHOOL

St. John, N. B., June 25—In connection with the school closings releasing some 8,000 pupils for the summer vacation, a special incident was the unveiling of a tablet yesterday in Albert School, West St. John, in memory of the late Lieut. Colonel A. E. McKenzie, D. S. O., who gave his life in France in the war when commanding officer of the 26th Battalion. Colonel McKenzie had been the principal of that school for some time. The tablet was the gift of Hon. J. B. M. Baxter. The unveiling ceremony was performed by Lieut. Colonel Alex. McMillan, D. S. O., who succeeded Col. McKenzie in command of the 26th.

The Stock Market

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

New York (Wall Street), June 25.—The usual irregular price changes were recorded by leading issues at the outset of today's stock market session. Gains outnumbered recessions, however, short covering being again induced by more circumstantial rumors of gold imports. Crucible Steele and Mexican Petroleum opened at advances of a point, with fractional gains for several of the food, chemical and motor specialties. Hide and leather preferred lost one point and Transcontinental Rails, Pullman, Royal Dutch and Middle States Oil reflected pressure.

FROM THE PEOPLE

THE GROWTH OF HAIR

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—A few days ago I saw in one of the newspapers an article stating that Dr. Raymond Passot, of the Pasteur Institute, Paris, France, has made a statement that by a slight operation he could grow on any bald head within three months a thick, luxuriant growth of hair.

I am rather surprised that no one has made any comments in regard to this. What have any of our up-to-date doctors to say in regard to same?

He further stated that the operation was only a very slight one and that it was so simple that any regular doctor could do it. Surely there should be sufficient field for remuneration and benefit to all concerned to interest every doctor. Why cannot some of the doctors of prominence let your readers know their opinions? I am quite sure it would be of interest to a great many men here.

Yours,
BALD HEAD.

LABOR LAWS SINCE SINAI

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—It is a long way from Sinai to Montreal, a long time from Moses to Gompers and a great difference between the law on the Tablets of Stone and the platform of the American Federation of Labor.

Then—"Six days thou shalt labor and do all they work" and rest on the seventh day.

Now—"Six hours thou shalt work and eighteen hours shalt thou rest."

Then—"In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread."

Now—"Thou shalt work in a silk shirt with a cigarette and by an electric fan and eat they bread by the sweat of another man."

"Labor omnia vincit."

Yours,
A PATRIARCH.

Woodstock, June 22, 1920.

HYPNAGOGIC VISIONS

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—The faces which appear to your correspondent in her semi-waking condition whenever she lies down are doubtless hypnagogic visions, popularly known as faces in the dark. Before going to sleep we pass through a state called the hypnagogic state, from the Greek words meaning that which leads to sleep. This state lasts but a few moments and is generally unnoticed by normal persons, but in case of the old and insomniacs it may be prolonged for as long as fifteen minutes.

There are many interesting features connected with the hypnagogic state. For instance, one may seem to be falling down an incline, due to the relaxation of the muscles when sleep is about to actually occur. Its visions have received considerable attention from scientists. They are common in children and in nervous persons, and in those who have eyestrain or headache they are often very pronounced.

Usually the visions are made up of images which are in constant motion, and which disappear when the attention becomes focused on them. Very often they seem to be dancing on the curtains of the eyelids, though not strictly they may be projected several feet; they may last some time after the eyes are opened, leading some persons to believe that the images are actually present.

Yours,
H. F. H.

WHERE ARE CLAIRVOYANTS?

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—The public even of these parts are still mystified as to the manner in which Joseph B. Elwell, of New York, came to his death, and as to the identity of his murderer. And yet that great city of New York is filled with soothsayers, mediums, fortune tellers and spiritualists who pretend to a knowledge of things hidden and mysterious.

Does not their silence at this time, as in other times when big rewards have been offered, as no doubt there will be in this case for the discovery of the murderer or murderers of this man Elwell, stamp the whole brood of them as arrant frauds and imposters? There is not a medium, clairvoyant, fortune teller or card sharp in the whole of that big city who can shed any light on this crime. What does their inability to do this make them?

Yours,
NOT A CLAIRVOYANT.

SEVENTEEN DEAD AT LONDONDERRY

No Fighting Reported on the Streets Since Midday of Yesterday

Londonderry, June 25.—A total of seventeen persons have been killed and twenty-nine wounded during the fighting in this city, according to an official statement issued by the police last night.

Firing between Nationalists and Unionists virtually ceased since midday yesterday.

Dublin Castle issued last night detailed contradiction of Arthur Griffith's charge that Londonderry riots had been planned in collusion with the government.

Offer of Ulster Soldiers.

London, June 24.—A possibly new policy of dealing with the Irish question is foreshadowed by the Attorney General for Ireland telling the House that the government had received an offer of services of 5,000 officers and men from the Ulster Ex-Service Men's Association and was carefully considering the offer. English Liberal newspapers fear acceptance may precipitate civil war.

Reports to the Irish Office show that the Irish railway deadlock is spreading. No trains are leaving Limerick and a large section of southwest Ireland is isolated.

Prohibition has developed an apparatus known as the ebulliscope, which shows accurately the boiling points of liquids and which brewers find useful for making offhand determinations of the alcoholic strength of the brew while the product is still in the plant. Another instrument, known as the cryoscope, which works on exactly the opposite principle, showing the varying densities of liquids at the freezing point, is used for ascertaining the quality of milk.

Total Amount to be Loaned Under the Shipbuilding Act To be Limited to $20,000,000

The Amendment That the Act Be Extended to Take in Wooden Ships Voted Down 42 to 18—No Market Now for Wooden Ships

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Ottawa, June 25.—In committee on the bill to promote shipbuilding, Sir Henry Drayton in the House last night explained that the total amount which would be loaned under the measure was limited to twenty million dollars.

A. R. McMaster (Brome), and William Duff (Luenburg), urged that the aid be extended to all classes of shipyards and to all sizes of vessels and not restricted to yards building steel ships over 3,000 tons.

Hon. Mr. Ballantyne said foreign buyers did not want wooden ships nor did they want steel ships less than 3,000 tons.

Sir Henry Drayton moved an amendment to provide that 25 per cent. of the purchase price must be paid in cash before any notes were endorsed. The government would also see that the balance of thep urchase price was arranged for.

The amendment was carried.

Ask Aid for Wooden Ships.

Wm. Duff moved to amend clause one to provide for aid both steel and wooden vessels and to strike out the tonnage minimum of 3,000 tons.

Sir Henry Drayton asserted that the Liberals were now asking for something they had opposed for two days. Hon. Mr. Ballantyne declared the amendment could not be accepted. England, France and the United States had more wooden ships now than they wanted. They would not place orders for small vessels.

The Duff amendment was defeated on a standing vote, 42 to 18, a Government majority of 24. The progressives voted with the opposition.

Mr. Duff then submitted another amendment to keep the vessel on which loan was made under Canadian register until the debt was discharged.

This was also defeated on division and the clause carried.

Some Amendments.

J. H. Sinclair (Antigonish and Guysboro) moved to add a clause providing that a statement of all loans be laid before parliament within fifteen days of the opening of the next session. This was accepted by the Government and carried.

The preamble setting forth the objects of the bill came under fire as "poor advertising," because as proposed by Sir Henry Drayton it stated that there was no demand from Canadian buyers for ships.

It was amended to read "no adequate demand," and the title was changed to read "an act respecting the shipbuilding industry."

The bill was reported at 1.10 a. m. and stands for third reading at the next sitting of the House.

Before the House adjourned early this morning Hon. Mr. Doherty introduced his resolution to request amendment of the B. N. A. Act in regard to giving Canada's parliament the right to pass extra territorial legislation. Mr. Doherty said Canada would be in a difficult position if her aircraft legislation could not be enforced when such Canadian aircraft passed beyond Canada's borders.

Mr. Doherty said if a Canadian airman broke a Canadian ruling or law while outside of Canadian territory this proposed legislation would give the Government power to deal with him on his return.

The resolution carried.

WESTERN STATES EXPECT BIG CROP

mill is operated all the year with the eight hour day system, and this year's out will be over twenty-five million feet.

When asked concerning conditions in Montana ,he stated that crop conditions this year were splendid and very promising. For three years the crops, especially grain, had been practically burned up because of the lengthy droughts, but this year conditions were such that a crop large enough to make up for the failures of the past years was expected. Prices, he stated ,were still high in Montana though not much higher and in some cases lower than those i this province. Hay sold in Montana for $31 to $35 a ton, potatoes were scarce and the last of the old potatoes of last year had sold for $12, but the new potatoes were now coming. Oats, he stated were selling there for $1.25 a bushel, which is below the price here.

Mr. Baird and family are leaving today for Chipman, where they will visit his brother, Isaac Baird, who they have not seen for over twelve years. They will return to this city and will stay in the East for upwards of a month.

M'ADOO BOOM IS STILL IN EVIDENCE

Opinion that Exigencies of Politics Dictate Selection of Wilson's Son-in-Law

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

San Francisco, June 25.—Although the McAdoo boom was publicly executed by himself recently, delegates to the Democratic national convention, which is to open here on Monday, refuse to let it die. Everywhere yesterday were rumors of the possible candidacy of President Wilson's son-in-law for the presidential nomination.

Friends of the former cabinet minister declare that the business of the convention is to nominate a man who can be elected, and express the belief that the exigencies of politics will dictate the selection of McAdoo.

FIRE INSURANCE MEN AT ST. JOHN

WEDDINGS

Gallagher-Lawrence.

A very pretty wedding took place at Zealand June 23rd at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George Lawrence, when their daughter, Miss Lillian Lawrence, was united in marriage to Milford Gallagher, of Doyne Ridge, York Co., N. B. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. E. Cooke in the presence of a large number of invited guests. In the open, amid the surrounding green fields and profusion of flowers, the happy couple were made one. Many expressions of good will and wishes were extended. Winslow Lawrence waited upon the groom and Mrs. Winslow Lawrence attended the bride.

G. W. V. A. Dance.

The Poverty Dance at the G. W. V. A. rooms last evening was well attended, some dire specimens of poverty being on the floor. A programme of fifteen dances and three extras was carried out, the music, which was excellent, being furnished by the City Orchestra, while Miss Georgie Styran played the extras in a very pleasing manner. The prizes were awarded to Miss Florence Goodine, as "Tatters," and John Fogg, as "Hobo." An unexpected pleasure at last evening's dance was the appearance of Miss Evans, of London, Ont., who only arrived in the city last evening from Halifax, and hearing that the Veterans were having a dance, went to the rooms and volunteered to sing. She possesses a magnificent voice, and as she waltzed around the room, accompanied by the full orchestra, singing "In the Heart of a Rose," she was applauded loud and long. Later in the evening she and Miss Maud Camp sang a duet, "'Till We Meet Again," which was encored repeatedly. Miss Evans makes it a practice whenever she is in a city where the "Veterans" are putting on some attraction to offer her services free and last night's performance was thoroughly enjoyed. An efficient committee were in charge last evening to look after the many young people present.

Maritime Representative Here.

Samuel Moore, of Truro, Maritime representative of the Dominion Seed Branch, is in the city today conferring with officials of the Department of Agriculture concerning the arrangements for the seed fairs and field crop competitions later in the season.

Entertained at Dance.

An enjoyable dance was given last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D.Robichaud, Brunswick street. At midnight dainty refreshments were served.

OUTRAGES AGAINST THE SINN FEINERS

One Man Shot Dead in Bed and Houses of Others Broken Into

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Bantry, County Cork, Ireland, June 25.—What was apparently a concerted series of outrages against Sinn Feiners occurred here last night, one death and the burning of several homes and shops resulting.

Cornelius Crowley, 20 years old, was shot dead in bed by a group of masked men, who later set fire to the shop and dwelling of a loctl merchant. Both Crowley and the merchant in question were reputed to be prominent in Sinn Fein circles.

Three other houses were broken into and threats of shooting made against the occupants. One of these houses was destroyed and the two others were damaged by fire.

An attempt was made to burn stores on the quay where the employees are all Sinn Feiners.

The residence of the recently elected chairman of the guardians of the Sinn Fein also was destroyed by fire.

JUDGE ROBSON ANSWERS CHARGES

Declares Murdock Is Animated Only by Fierce Personal Malignity

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Winnipeg, June 25.—"Mr. Murdock is actuated by fierce personal malignity, and his inferences are most extravagant, and groundless," asserted Judge Robson last night when informed of Mr. Murdock's resignation and statements.

"I may shortly follow the matter up further," he added.

Asked about the letter in connection with the Crescent Creamery, referred to by Mr. Murdock, Judge Robson made the following statement:

"I had heard of the matter, but had absolutely forbidden the showing of the factum to me and its receipt was entirely unlooked for. Against my wishes the letter was sent and reached my office when I was away from Montreal. It was opened in my absence by a clerk, I assume, and was left lying exposed in my personal room, where it was found by Mr. Murdock when searching my desk. I did not know that the letter had been sent till I returned to Montreal, and the fact that it was in my office was a great surprise to me as it was to Mr. Murdock, as I had absolutely prohibited anything of this sort long before."

Judge Robson added:

"As far as the statements relating to the cabinet ministers are concerned, they are, from my experience, equally absurd. I don't know of any facts whatver from which he could infer that the cabinet or any of the ministers were insincere about the board."

THE POPLAR TREES ARE DEFOLIATED

counties state that the hay and pastures have been more or less at a stand-still, owing to the cool weather. The spring grain crops are not growing rapidly for the same reason. Potatoes are coming along fairly well, with the bugs showing up in large numbers.

The cows in this district are not giving as much milk as during the same period last year, due to lack of pasture and the thin condition in which they came through the winter; this same condition is reported from practically all the counties.

"Carleton ad Victoria counties report grain crops as suffering from the dry, cool weather. The potato crop is doing better than the grain and hay, but it is too early to make any estimate as yet. Farm labor scarce; wages varying from $60 to as high as $100 per month.

Westmorland, Albert and Kent reports are very much the same. Little growth has been made by either hay or grain crops. Frost last week did some damage to tender garden plants in all the counties mentioned.

"Forest Tent Caterpillars have been bad in the eastern counties. They have been working on apple trees to some extent. The poplar trees in the forests have been completely defoliated in some districts.

"Recent rains followed by warm weather will stimulate crop growth and do much to improve conditions throughout the province."

A CHANGE IS MADE IN BASEBALL RULES

Batted Ball is Fair or Foul According to Where it Disappears

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Chicago, June 25.—A change in the baseball rules governing balls hit out of the playing fields goes into effect today, it is announced by American League headquarters. The rule in question is covered by paragraph 48 of the rule book and at preent provides that a ball shall be judged fair or foul "according to where it passes over the boundary line of the actual playing field."

The new wording will be the same as in 1919, which says that when a "batted ball passes outside ground or into the stands the umpire shall judge it fair or foul, according to where it disappears from the umpire's view."

The latter interpretation of the rule would have robbed "Babe" Ruth of at least two home runs this year, baseball officials said, because there are two instances of record where he hit balls into the stands which landed on foul territory but were called fair because they passed over the fence fair and curved into foul ground.

Under the new ruling, if an umpire sees a ball land foul it must be called foul regardless of whether it passed over the boundary fence fair.

The change applies to both major leagues.

Denies Cobb Permanently Out?

Detroit, Mich., June 25.—Published reports that Ty Cobb may be permanently out of baseball as a result of a recent injury to his knee, were refuted here by Dr. Wm. E. Keane, club physician of the Detroit Americans.

An X-ray taken immediately after the injury, according to Dr. Keane, revealed the knee had been severely wrenched but that no ligaments were torn. His reports, the physician added, showed that Cobb was progressing satisfactorily at his home in Georgia, gut would not return to the game until he had completely recovered.

TWO-IN-THREE PLAN PUTS PEP IN RACES

Maella, Electric McKerron and Allea Dean the Winners at Woonsocket

Woonsocket, June 25.—The 2.17 trot developed the best racing of the Bay State Short Ship Circuit campaigners here yesterday, although the two other classes in the programme were interesting. The crowd was much larger than the opening day.

It was evident that the two-in-three-heat plan had put a lot of "pep" into the game. No attempt at laying up heats appeared and the drivers certainly let out their horses to the limit. This was apparent in the 2.18 pace, where the heats were decided in 2.17½ and 2.16¼, and again in the 2.24 trot, when the miles were trotted in 2.19¼ and 2.17¼. In the 2.17 trot the time was also right up to the class of the event.

Electric McKerron, a Boston-owned horse, was favorite and won the 2.17 trot. Nickerson had no cinch in bringing the McKerron horse under the wire ahead of Benzol in the second mile. Dr. McGrath made the big bay horse travel every step of the way. Dave Warman looked to have a classy racer in Binod of the Blue Hill stables of Readville, but Dave started for the front three times and the horse refused to keep to a trot.

Maella, owned by N. P. Wheeler, of White River Junction, Vt., fulfilled expectations in the 2.18 pace, in straight heats. Henry Ford, a Pennsylvania horse, made the Vermonter step lively in the second heat. Reiff, the owner, in the second heat gave way to Kline, who made Maella make a mark of 2.16½.

The Taunton horse, Alea Dean, raced so finely that Peter Sunshine and St. Frusquin, Boston entries who were even choices with the talent, had no chance in the 2.24 trot.

The summary:

TOUZ IS WINNER AT MOOSEPATH

King Wilkes Paced First in 2.22 in Free-for-All at St. John Matinee

[St. John Telegraph.]

A beautiful day and large crowd greeted the first matinee meet of the season at Moosepath, which took place yesterday.

The track was in the best condition it had been for several years and looked as if considerable work had been done on it. King Wilkes made the best time of the day when he took the first heat of the free-for-all in 2.22 flat. This is very fast for this season of the year on this track. Singer was game but unsteady.

Touz, who took the second and third heats and the race, is a high-class mare, and will probably give a good account of herself later in the season. The races caused plenty of excitement and brought the crowd to its feet several times. In the Class D event Ike Parker showed considerable speed, remarkable steadiness and seemed to be going well within himself. The Class C trot was taken by Chinchilla in strait heats. In the colts' race Una D. seemed to win the race well within herself.

St. Stephen Holiday Entries.

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

St. Stephen, N. B., June 25.—Dominion Day will be observed in St. Stephen with horse racing. The 2.15 class will have Saskia, Little Gillig, Lucky Strike, Evelyn B., Fillmore Dillon, Charlie Again and probably others. The 2.25 class has Mary Heir, Maine Todd, Moke Grattan, Consequence, Kate, Harvesta and Aristo. The named race consists of the three colts—Seldom C., Queenie Patchen and College Fleety—and this promises to be one of the most interesting events of the day, as there has been much rivalry between these horses.

A ball game probably between St. Stephen and Woodland, leaders of the N. B. and Maine League, will be played.

Bert Merrill will give the word at Woonsocket.

P. E. I. TROTTER BEAT THE PACERS

J. Forbes Wins Fast Class at Charlottetown Driving Club's "Tuning Up"

Charlottetown, P. E. I., June 24.—Beautiful weather brought a large gathering to the annual spring races of the Charlottetown Driving Club. Out of town visitors were present in good numbers. The track was in perfect order and very fast as was evidenced by the good time made in the various races. The band music by the 4th Regiment Band was a pleasing feature.

The races were three in number and were run on the three heat plan, every heat a contest but the winner of two heats would win the race. A splendid array of horses all owned in Charlottetown or vicinity and all driven by members of the Charlottetown Driving Club evidence the speed which this city possesses.

Save Your Potato Crop

BY USING WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID WITH BORDEAUX MIXTURE

WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID has come to be recognized as the most effective insecticide for potatoes. It kills the bugs at all times and under all kinds of conditions and being very adhesive it does not wash off, as many of the other insecticides such as Paris Green. It clings to the foliage and will kill the bugs not only the day it is applied but for many days after.

In Aroostook County, which is one of the largest, if not the largest potato producing section in North America, WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID is used exclusively by the best and largest potato raisers in that famous section. During years past many imitations of this famous poison have been placed on the market, but so far all have failed to come anywhere near the standard of WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID.

BORDEAUX MIXTURE

Copper Sulphate (Blue Vitriol)	5 Lbs.
Fresh Stone Lime	5 Lbs.
Water	50 Gals.
WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID	1 Lb.

Dissolve the Blue Vitriol by pouring on hot water so that it is just covered. Use an earthern or wooden vessel. Add the lime and enough water to make 50 gallons. It is then ready for immediate use. Watson's Soluble Arsenoid must not be used alone.

Try a 2 lb. can of WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID.

GERMAN POLITICAL CRISIS NOT LIFTED

Social Democrats and Democrats Hold Meetings But Reach No Decision Yet

London, June 24.—Up to a late hour last night, says the Berlin correspondent of the London Times, no solution of the Government crisis had been reached. Both social democrats and democrats adjourned their meetings without coming to any decision. The standing committee of the regulation of parliamentary business will meet today, and it is considered probable in view of the situation that it will commend postponement of the meeting of the Reichstag.

Konstantin Fehrenbach has not presented his resignation from the chancellorship and is said to be strongly supported by President Ebert in his efforts to secure a compromise permitting the formation of a ministry.

According to Tageblatt, however, there is a prospect of the two socialist parties uniting to form a Leftist Government.

The trade union leaders are actively advocating this solution.

IN DAYS OF TERROR

Maurice knitted his brows, and Genevieve perceiving he was not in the best temper possible, redoubled her assiduities; but since her amiability was not carried so far as to dismiss the young official, he impatiently left an hour earlier than usual. This might have happened by chance, perhaps. Maurice grew impatient. The evening, besides, from other causes, was so fearful, that long as it was since he had interested himself in politics, the report reached even him. It required nothing less than the downfall of a party who had reigned in France for ten months to withdraw his attention from his all engrossing passion for Genevieve. The next day witnessed the same management on the part of Genevieve, and Maurice having foreseen this, had arranged his plan. So ten minutes after his arrival, seeing that the young woman, having finished marking a dozen pocket handkerchiefs, commenced six dozen of table napkins, Maurice, we say, drew out his watch, rose, bowed to Genevieve, and went out without saying one word. Still more, as he left, he did not even once look back. Genevieve, who had risen to watch him cross the garden, remained an instant speechless, pale and trembling, then dropped into her chair, thunderstruck at the effect of her diplomacy. At this moment Dixmer entered.

"Maurice gone?" said he, with astonishment.

"Yes," stammered Genevieve.

"But he had only just arrived."

"He was here a quarter of an hour, or nearly so.

"Then he will return."

"I much doubt it."

"Leave us, Magnet," said Dixmer The femme-de-chambre had assumed the name from hatred to that of Maria, from its unfortunately being the same as that of the Austrian. She rose at the command of her master, and quitted the room.

"Well, dear Genevieve," said Dixmer, "is peace restored between you and Maurice?".

"On the contrary, mon ami, I think we are cooler than ever."

"And this time, who is to blame?" said Dixmer.

"Maurice, without the slightest doubt."

"Permit me to judge."

"You cannot guess," said Genevieve, blushing.

"Why he is angry? No."

"It seems to me, it is some whim about Magnet."

"Bah! truly; then you must send the girl away. I will not deprive mself of a friend like Maurice for the sake of a femme-de chambre."

"Oh!" said Genevieve, "he is not, I think, so angry as to require to be sent away, it will suffice to—"

"What?"

"To exile her from my chamber."

"And Maurice is right," said Dixmer; 'it is you he comes to visit, and not Magnet; it is therefore quite unnecessary that she should be present."

"But, my dear Dixmer," replied she, regarding her husband with astonishment.

"Genevieve," replied Dixmer, 'I hoped to have found in you an ally who would render more easy the task imposed upon me, and find, on the contrary, that your fears redouble our danger and difficulde. Four days since, I thought all was arranged between us, and now all must commence again: Have I not told you that I confide in you, in your honor? have I not told you that it is positively necessary that Maurice should become our friend, more intimately than before, but less suspicious than ever. Oh; mon Dieu! these women are an everlasting obstacle to our projects."

"But, mon Dieu! is there no other way? I have told you before, that for our sakes it would be better if Monsieur Maurice returned here no more.'

"Yes, for our sakes, perhaps, but for the sake of those far above us, those for whom we have promised to sacrifice our lives, fortune, and happiness, it is necessary that this young man should return. Are you aware they begin to suspect Turgy, and talk of placing another servant near the queen?"

"Well, I will send away Magnet."

"Mon Dieu! Genevieve," said Dixmer, with a movement of impatience, very unusual with him, "why do you speak to me thus? why stifle the ardor of my ideas by your own? why strive to create difficulties where too many already exist? Genevieve, act like an honorable, devoted woman, act as you feel you ought to act. I tell you, tomorrow I go out—tomorrow I take Morand's place as engineer. I shall not dine with you, but he will, he has something to ask Maurice, and will explain to you what it is. What he has to request you may imagine, Genevieve, is a thing of vital import; it is not only the goal to which we march, but the way leading to it. It is the last hope of that devoted, noble minded man, our protector, to whom we are bound to dedicate our lives."

"And for whom I will freely give mine," cried Genevieve, with enthusiasm.

"Well, this man, Genevieve, I cannot tell why, as you must have seen, is not loved by Maurice, by whom, above all things, it is necessary he should be respected. In short, from the bad temper in which you have put Maurice today, he may perhaps refuse Morand that which it is so imperative we should obtain at any price. Will you, now that I have told you, Genevieve ,assist Morand with all your tact and delicacy of sentiment?"

'Oh! monsieur," cried Genevieve, clasping her hands and turning pale, "let us speak no more on this subject."

"Then," said Dixmer, pressing his lips on his wife's forehead, 'reflect upon it ,and form your resolution." And he went out.

'Oh! mon Dieu! mon Dieu!" murmured Genevieve, with anguish, "they compel me to accept this love by violence, towards which my whole soul inclines!"

The next day, as we have already said, was Sunday. It was customary in the family of Dixmer, as in all the bourgeoise families at that period, that the dinner should be longer and more ceremonious on that day than on any other. Since their intimacy, Maurice having received a general invitation, never omitted to dine with them on that day. Although they did not dine till two o'clock, Maurice had not arrived at noon. From the manner of their parting, Genevieve had almost despaired of seeing him. In short, twelve o'clock struck, then half-past, then one. It would be impossible to describe during this period what passed in the heart of Genevieve. She was at first dressed with the greatest simplicity; then, seeing that he delayed his coming, she, with a feeling of coquetry natural to the heart of woman, had placed a flower at her side, a flower in her hair, and still listened, her heart each moment more and more compressed. The dinner-hour had almost arrived, and Maurice had not appeared. About ten minutes to two, Genevieve heard the sound of horse's steps, that sound she knew so well."

"Oh!" cried she, "his pride could not wrestle against his love. He loves me! he loves me!"

DR. C. C. JONES IS GIVEN AN HONORARY DEGREE AT BATES

Chancellor of University of New Brunswick Honored by Maine College

GOVERNOR COOLIDGE WAS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Republican Candidate for Vice-President Praises Great Britain and Canada

Dr. C. C. Jones, Chancellor of the University of New Brunswick, returned yesterday from Lewiston, Me., where he attended the commencement exercises at Bates College and also the inauguration of the new president, Dr. C. D. Gray.

On Tuesday night Dr. Jones attended a dinner in connection with the inauguration of Dr. Gray, and conveyed the good wishes of the University of New Brunswick and reciprocated the friendly spirit which prompted Bates College in asking him to be present at the Commencement on Wednesday morning.

At the Commencement exercises the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon Dr. Jones, and among other recipients of the degree was Governor Coolidge, of Massachusetts, Republican nominee for Vice-President of the United States. The following citation accompanied the degree:

"Cecil Charles Jones, LL. D., writer of notable articles in the field of education and mathematics; for fourteen years signatious and scholarly Chancellor of the University of New Brunswick; public spirited citizen of a nation whose unguarded boundary is not only evidence of the friendship that exists between the United States and the British commonwealth, but also a recognition of the underlying unity of the English speaking world."

Governor Coolidge was the principal speaker at Bates and during the course of his remarks made glowing reference to Great Britain, her army and navy and of the wonderful part taken by them in the world war.

He also spoke of the unity that prevailed among the people of New Brunswick and Maine and of the unguarded boundary line between the two great countries.

Dr. Jones was also invited to be one of the speakers at the Commencement exercises at Bowdoin College, but had to decline as he wished to be at home today, his daughter being one of those who will graduate from the Fredericton High School.

DANGEROUS BRIDGE WILL BE REPLACED

New Bridge in Petersville Where Hon. P. J. Veniot Had an Accident

Hon. P. J. Veniot, Minister of Public Works, last evening awarded the contract for the rebuilding of the Little Nerepis bridge in the Parish of Petersville, Queens county, to H. O. Staples, of North Devon, his tender being in the vicinity of $9,000.

The Minister himself participated without warning and at the risk of his life in a practical demonstration just about a year ago of the necessity of making changes at this bridge, when a car driven by the Chief Highway Engineer and with the Minister himself as one of the passengers could not make the dangerous turn and plunged over the side of the bridge into the ravine below.

The contract which has now been awarded calls for the construction of a reinforced concrete bridge on a new site with new approaches extending 700 feet on either side of the structure. The bridge is located on the short trunk highway between Fredericton and St. John.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Peter's church, Springhill, yesterday afternoon, when Arthur M. Bagley and Miss Laura N. Ferris, of Troy, Me., were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. J. W. Willinson, rector of St. Peter's.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, W. B. Ferris, was gowned in white georgette silk with bridal veil and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was attended by Miss Josephine Murray, who wore a gown of blue silk and white hat and carried a bouquet of roses. The groom was supported by Murray Estey, while Major Frank Clements acted as usher.

During the ceremony, which was witnessed by a large congregation, the choir sang The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden and O Perfect Love. At the conclusion of the ceremony a wedding reception, followed by a supper, was held at the home of Charles Murray. The bride and groom, who are both residents of Troy, Me., came to Springhill to be married at the bride's old home.

BRITISH WARSHIPS BOMBARD TURKS

Heavy Losses by Turks Include 1,000 Killed---Town Shelled By Nationalists

Violent Fighting Now Continuing at Ismid Says Despatch

GREEK FORCES ARE ADVANCING

Four Towns Captured, Many Prisoners and Much Booty Taken.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, June 26.—British warships at anchor before the town of Ismid, Asia Minor, hav. violently bombarded the Turkish line stertched around that place, and have inflicted heavy losses, it being estimated that 1,000 Turks have been killed, according to an Exchange Telegraph Company despatch from Athens.

Reports from Ismid, the message states, indicate that violent fighting continues there. Three shells from artillery fired by the Turkish Nationalists, under the command of Mustapha Kemal Pasha, have fallen in the town, and have caused damage.

GREEK FORCES ADVANCE FOUR SEPARATE POINTS

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

London, June 26.—Greek forces stationed in the Smyrna district are advancing in four directions into Asia Minor, according to a statement made public here today by the Greek legation, quoting an official communique given out in Athens Thursday.

The towns of Soma, Perativi, Mondelhora and Chauush-Datkiosk have been captured, and many prisoners, cannon and machine guns have been taken by the Greeks.

The Greek losses, it is announced, were 21 dead and 100 wounded.

Soma is a town northeast of Smyrna, approximately 60 miles, and Mendelhora is about 70 miles straight east of Smyrna. The other two places taken by the Greeks are not shown on available maps.

The Greek Abdication.

Paris, June 26.—The Greek legation yesterday denied reports in circulation that it was the intention of King Alexander to abdicate. The reports were characterized as "entirely without foundation."

WORK OUT FUTURE FOR MESOPOTAMIA

British to Set Up Some Form of Government Acceptable to the People

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

London, June 26.—The House of Lords yesterday held a special sitting to discuss the Mesopotamia question, particularly in regard to future administration of the country.

The discussion arose on a series of questions, the government's replies to which stated that there had been in the five years since 1915 a surplus of receipts over expenditure for Mesopotamia, or nearly one million pounds sterling.

The form of the future administration was, it was stated, still under consideration, but it was intended to set up some form of government with British assistance that would be acceptable to the people.

There are 13,000 British and 66,000 Indian troops in Mesopotamia.

Mussulmans of India Would Coerce Britain

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

BOMBAY, India, June 26—Gandhi, leader of the Indian Nationalists, has written a letter to the Viceroy of India in which he threatens to advise Mussulmans and Hindus to withdraw all their support from the Government unless the Turkish peace terms are revised "in accordance with the solemn pledges of the British ministers.

Germany Told Plainly by Allied Council That She Can Not Evade Terms of Treaty

The German Army Must Be Reduced to 100,000 Men and the Security Police Must Be Disbanded Within Three Months—Aeronautical Material

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Berlin, June 26.—Three notes dealing principally with the question of German disarmament have been received by the President of the German peace delegation. The first outlines many infringements of the military clauses of the peace treaty, saying the Allies have determined Germany shall carry out the terms and that their decision to reduce the German army to 100,000 men still stands. The security police, this note adds, must be disbanded within three months, but gives permission for the disciplinary force to be increased to 150,000.

Demand is made that the German constitution be made to conform with these military stipulations, so that conscription may be abolished by law. In conclusion the note asks that legal measures be taken against the export of war materials.

Details for the substitution of 150,000 disciplinary police for the security police are supplied in the second note.

In view of the incomplete delivery of aeronautical material, the third note says, the construction of such material which was to be resumed in Germany on July 10 may not be resumed until three months after the surrender to the Allies of the aeronautical material called for is completely carried out.

A Canadian Organization With Special Qualification Secured to Do the Work

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Ottawa, June 26.—The firm of Griffenhagen and Associates, Ltd. is a Canadian organization, made up of Canadians, carrying on work for Canadians, and is composed of men who have special qualifications for carrying out such work as is involved in the reorganization of the Canadian civil service, according to E. Griffenhagen, who, on his return to Ottawa after some days' absence, replied to some of the criticisms which have been made regarding the retention of his company by the committee of the cabinet for the work of reorganization.

No contract has been entered into, according to Mr. Griffenhagen, although the word was used in the order-in-council. He said his firm was retained on a professional basis and that it could not be foretold how long the work would take. Already preliminary conferences are taking place between Griffenhagen and Associates, Ltd. and officials of the Post Office Department.

ARRESTED MAN IS NOT DOUGHTY

Man Held at Sarnia, Ont., Is Not Absconding Secretary of Missing Millionaire

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Sarnia, Ont., June 26.—According to the police last night, it is fairly well established that a man giving his name as F. H. Anderson, who is in custody here and who was suspected of being John Doughty, absconding secretary of A. J. Small, Toronto theatrical magnate, is not Doughty. The statement is made by John Myers, manager of the Imperial Theatre, who states that he knows Doughty personally and that the man under arrest is not Doughty.

"Anderson," who still stoutly maintains that he is from Schenectady, N. Y., and that he is an electrician who come here on the understanding that plans were being made for the wiring of St. Clair tunnel, has no address, according to the authorities, who have word from Schenectady saying that the address he gave there is fictitious.

In some way the gun was discharged and Clough was fatally wounded.

He was a war veteran, and 28 years of age.

SERIOUS COAL SITUATIION IN NEW ENGLAND

Not Enough Bituminous in New England to Meet the Daily Needs

RAILROADS CONFISCATE COMMERCIAL COAL

Plenty of Anthracite Coal to Keep Things Going for the Present At Least

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Boston, Mass., June 26.—The statement that the bituminous coal situation in New England was rapidly growing worse was made by James J. Storrow, State Fuel Administrator, last night.

"There is not coal enough in New England now," he said, "to meet the daily needs. The coal that has arrived on the railroads of New Eglland is not anywhere near sufficient for their own daily consumption, and about the only way some of them are keeping trains moving at all is by confiscating what they call commercial coal right and left.

"The situation today is far more serious than it was during the summer we entered the war. We are going backwards fast. It is about the most serious coal situation we have ever faced."

Mr. Storrow said so far as anthracite coal for use in the homes was concerned, there was nothing at present to alarm householders.

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Paris, June 26.—Germany has filed with the reparations commission a claim that 215,000,000 marks should be deducted from the 7,000,000,000 gold marks due France as her share of the indemnity fixed by the Versailles treaty, says the Petit Parisien.

This sum, it is asserted, is the value of improvements made on French roads by German prisoners of war.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY TO BE ALLOWED TO PASS WITHOUT ARRESTS?

Ivan Little, Whose Life Was at One Time Despaired of, is Now Reported to Be Doing Well and Will Soon Be Able to Leave the Hospital

HIS WIFE, WHOM HE SHOT, WAS NOT SERIOUSLY WOUNDED AND HAS NOW PRACTICALLY RECOVERED

It Is Said That There Will Be No Charge Laid Against Little for the Shooting, as Affairs of That Kind Are Treated Lightly by the Locality

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

St. Stephen, June 26—Nothing has been done as yet regarding the shooting affair which took place at Honeydale on June 16th, when Ivan Little shot his wife and then turned the revolver on himself.

Little's wife was not very seriously wounded, although she was brought to Chipman Hospital, where the bullet was removed and she has practically recovered, although still in hospital. Little himself is also in the hospital here, and there is no question now about his recovery, as he is reported to be doing fine and it will only be a short time before he is able to be up.

Up to the present time no charge has been laid against him and as affairs of the kind in that vicinity are treated lightly, the separation of the couple may be the only result of what might have been a serious affair.

END DANGER OF RAILROAD STRIKE IN U.S.

Railway Board Has Arrived at Agreement With Men Over the Wage Problem

DECISION OF BOARD BEFORE 20TH OF JULY

The Railroad Men Were to Have Gone on Strike Tonight if No Settlement

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Chicago, June 26.—A decision on the demands of railroad employees for wage increases will be made on or before July 20th by the Railway Labor Board, Judge Barton, chairman, said in a statement yesterday.

The award would be retroactive to May 1, the statement said.

According to W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and spokesman for union leaders who gathered here yesterday, the Board's declaration would end all danger of a general railroad strike.

Mr. Lee said that secret plans had been made by a disaffected union element to spread the strike throughout the country, because of the continued delay in announcing the wage ruling.

"The men would have quit at midnight tonight," Mr. Lee said. "It was impossible to hold them longer. Men of my organization have been waiting patiently for nearly a year."

The Railway Board's statement declared that an agreement on a method of working out the wage problems had been arrived at, and that no time would be lost in reaching a conclusion.

REPLACE POTATO AS OIL STOPPER

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

A local grocer introduced the gum drop as a stopper here recently when he prevented a customer from helping himself to a potato for that purpose. The candy was much cheaper, he said.

As to the position of the sixty teachers of the Montreal Catholic school commission, who were dismissed and re-engaged this year, His Grace expressed the view that they should not form unions, as they were not employed by private individuals, but by the commission, which represented the public. Teachers who felt they were not being properly treated should submit their case to the Bishops of their respective dioceses.

Forty Girls Graduate and Receive Certificates in the Home Making and Stenography Classes—The Presentation of Prizes

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Woodstock, June 26.—The closing exercises of the Home Making and Stenography classes at the Vocational School took place in the school building on Wednesday evening, when 40 girls graduated and received certificates. ENGLAND SETTING EXAMPLE TO WORLD

The British Workers Producing Enough Goods for Export to Overcome Balance Trade

Canadians are justly proud of their membership in the British Empire and it is their aim always to follow British principles and adopt British customs and institutions as their own. Prohibition, however, is anything but a British product and, in the Mother Country, careful, intelligent investigation has shown that a prohibitory law would be at once harmful and impracticable.

Lord D'Abernon, chairman of the central control board (Liquor Traffic) reported after eighteen months surely that a "system of reasonable and scientific control" was to be preferred to total prohibition and the results of the present industrial revival certainly do not indicate any loss in production through intemperance of workers. Without reducing imports the United Kingdom is rapidly correcting the adverse trade balance simply by a greater volume of export trade, setting an example to the world in this regard.

"The World's Markets," published by R. G. Dun & Co., has the following: "The fact that England is contriving, and thus far with conspicuous success, to correct its heavy adverse trade balance without reducing its imports is coming to be looked upon in this country (United States) as a particularly satisfactory revelation of British recuperative powers."

And all this without Prohibition.—Advt.

The address to the graduating class of thirty-six members was delivered by Rev. Z. L. Fash, while the valedictory was delivered by Leslie Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Booth.

Dr. G. C. VanWart, chairman of the Board of School Trustees, presided and seated upon the platform were Dr. C. C. Jones, Dr. H. V. B. Bridges, Deputy Mayor Wilkinson, J. J. Weddall, Dr. Philip Cox, J. W. Spurden, A. S. McFarlane, Chas. Everett, Nelson W. Brown and Rev. Z. L. Fash.

Mrs. Havelock Coy on behalf of the Victor Hatheway Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, presented a picture of the Sailing of the First Contingent to the High School, and told of the work of the Victor Hatheway Chapter.

Address to Graduating Class.

Rev. Z. L. Fash delivered the address to the graduating class and began by congratulating the principal and teachers of the Fredericton High School upon the success of the year. He also congratulated the graduating class on the splendid showing they had made. The year had been a most strenuous one, the pathway to the goal steep and scraggy, but they had accomplished it. It was "no picnic" to graduate from the Fredericton High School and he wanted to emphasize the fact that young men or women starting out today without a good education were at an awful disadvantage, while those with a good education have a good start in life.

"The world rings out a sharp urging challenge," declared Rev. Mr. Fash. "The world today is upside down and it will remain so until it is set aright and that is the job of the girls and boys of today and that means you, you are the ones to beat the tyrants down, you the ones to do your bit. Go about your business and make the world a better place to live in. Have courage to meet the call to play your part, as men and women. The call today is as much to the women as to the men.

"Education without character is in vain," he continued, "it must be more than a veneer, more than an outside polish; education without character may be a curse instead of a blessing. Character to be of the highest value must be Christian, and without Christianity education cannot reach its aim."

THE VALEDICTORY

In his valedictory Leslie Booth said:

At last, after three years of High School life, has come the night for which we have been working and waiting, the time of our graduation. Tonight, still another class must be added to the list of those who have gone forth from Fredericton High; tonight we, the class of 1920, must bid farewell to our Alma Mater.

Three years ago we looked forward

PRESENTED WITH RING

Little Miss Edith McLeod, Who Is Leaving Devon, Remembered by Classmates.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Smith, South Devon, was the scene of a very enjoyable little gathering yesterday afternoon and evening, when the members of Mrs. Arthur Bailey's Sunday School class gathered with their teacher and gave a farewell party to little Miss Edith MacLeod, who is leaving in a few days with her parents, Rev. A. D. and Mrs. MacLeod, for their new home at Oak Bay. A good time was spent and supper served on the lawn, during which Miss Edith Smith read the following address and Master Fred Smith, on behalf of the members, presented Miss MacLeod with a birthstone ring:

Edith,—We have gathered here on this occasion to bid you farewell. We are sorry and our hearts are heavy when we think that we are about to part with you. During these four short years you have been in our midst we have learned to love you, your sunny smile has been as a sunbeam wherever cast, your cheerful manner has made it possible for us to know that you were always our friend.

We are glad you have been with us this short time, but now we must part. We shall be separated, but still be bound together by the cords of love, and though miles of land divide us we shall not forget you. And after the holiday season is over and we again take our places at school, we shall miss you; and each Sunday as we gather in our Sunday school class your chair will be vacant, your presence missed.

And now, on behalf of those gathered here, the members of the Sunday School class, teacher and others, we ask you to accept this small gift, also our best wishes, and trust that in your new home and new surroundings you will not forget us. And as you gaze on this ring may we each one have a small corner in your memory box.

INTERIM REPORT BOARD OF COMMERCE

The Board Finds Much Irregularity in Investigation Into Textile Industry

Ottawa, June 26.—An interim decision of Board of Commerce was published yesterday and expressed the view that investigation into textile manufacturing concerns should be carried through to completion in interests of public. The Board has found much that is irregular and susceptible to inquiry, but with retirement of commissioners, the Board finds it necessary to issue incomplete report.

Absolute denial of charges brought against him by Dr. Murdock wired to Premier Borden by Judge Robson from Winnipeg yesterday. He invites the fullest scrutiny.

The Toronto Star publishes a letter from Mr. Murdock in which he describes what he terms "the inside history that smashed the Board of Commerce." This was the letter addressed to the Dominion cabinet at the time of Judge Robson's retirement which the government refused to lay on the table when Liberal members called for its publication.

SAY BORDEN TO RETIRE AT ONCE

Ottawa Rumor Today Names Hon. Arthur Meighen As His Successor

Ottawa, June 25—A rumor is current in political circles that Sir Robert Borden will resign the premiership immediately after the prorogation of parliament. The rumor lacks confirmation by any responsible parties. It takes the form of a belief that Sir Robert will submit his resignation to a caucus of Unionists which will be held early next week. It is impossible to get a representative idea of the manner in which the resignation will be received by his party. As a successor, Hon. Arthur Meighen is named in the same rumor.

WOOLEN MILL AT WOODSTOCK BURNS

Fisher and Hammond Industry in Old Drysdale Factory Is Badly Damaged

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

Woodstock, N. B., June 25.—The old Drysdale factory, on River street, was partly destroyed by fire at 11 o'clock this morning.

It was occupied the last few months by Fisher & Hammond as a carding and woollen mill. The machinery was badly damaged, while very little goods or wool was removed from the building. The front part of the factory was saved, in which the carding department can be conducted in a short time. The loss is estimated at $5,000, with $2,500 insurance.

THROW COURTESY PHRASE IN DISCARD

Portsmouth, Eng., June 25—The use of the words "ladies" and "gentlemen" is to be discontinued in the parish so far as he is concerned, says Rev. Bruce Cornford, in his parish magazine.

"The words have now absolutely no meaning," he writes. "Foolish class distinctions should have no place in the church. Even the Master called His mother 'woman,' while no one would insult St. Peter by calling him gentleman. The parochial council consists of men and women."

FIJIAN GIFTS TO PRINCE OF WALES

Sydney, Aus., June 25—When the Prince of Wales was in the Fiji Islands, en route from Honolulu to New Zealand and Australia upon the warship Renown, the Fijians presented to him many whales' teeth. These are so valuable, according to native standards, as practically to be the gold reserve of the islands. The Prince also received as gifts many handsome native mats.

ANDOVER, N. B.

Andover, N. B., June 21.—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wright and son were guests in town on Sunday, coming from their home in Gillespie by auto, and returning in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Pearce, of Fort Fairfield with their family, were visiting at H. E. Smith's in Perth yesterday.

J. W. Beasley, of Montreal, came on Saturday to visit his family and be present at the funeral of Mrs. Beasley's father.

C. P. Wright, of Philadelphia, arrived on Saturday to spend his vacation with his mother at his home here.

Mrs. George Brown, of Portland, Oregon, who has been spending the last year with her many friends and relatives in this vicinity is making farewell calls, expecting to start for her distant home in a few days.

The Women's Institute held their annual meeting at the home of the retiring president, Mrs. J. W. Jamer, on Tuesday last. The new officers elected were, Mrs. W. A. Gillett, president; Mrs. W. H. Everett and Mrs. W. B. Ervin, vice presidents; Mrs. C. H. Spike, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. L. S. Wright, Cor. secretary. The next meeting will be a picnic held at Aroostook.

The whole community was terribly shocked on Friday last when it became known that E. H. Sisson had been so badly injured by a runaway accident with his horses which he was driving that he passed away in a few hours. Very deep sympathy is expressed for his family who have been doubly bereaved, the mother having passed away suddenly with heart failure only eight weeks ago. Mr. Sisson was a man very widely known and much respected by all classes. The funeral on Sunday called out the largest congregation seen in Andover for a long time. Another sad feature was the absence of his eldest daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Ryan, who has been in hospital in St. John for treatment and not sufficiently recovered to be able to come home.

NO REVOLT IN MEXICO

Mexico City, June 13.—Reports of revolts in various parts of the country were officially denied in a statement issued at the Foreign Office Information Bureau last night, which said that, with the exception of the Villa movement in Chihuahua, the country was peaceful.

Some of the Provisions of the New Brunswick Prohibition Act Which the People Should Know Before Voting for Its Retention

1. It gives to the Rev. W. D. Wilson, himself an appointee and servant of the Government of New Brunswick, the personal power to appoint local inspectors and constables in every part of the Province with all the powers, rights, privileges and immunities of constables, and to dismiss them at his pleasure. Sections 89 and 169.

2. No wholesale or retail license to sell liquor for medicinal mechanical or sacramental purposes can be grantpd by the Governmtnt of this Province without the approval of the Chief Inspector. Sections 79 and 82. The Act has thus made the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council subservient to his will.

3. The Act gives the Chief Inspector the power to issue all beer licenses in his own name, which he does by a proclamation with all the formality of an order-in-council of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. Section 180 and Form 37.

4. It gives the Chief Inspector and all his sub-inspectors and constables the right to summon any citizen before a Police or Justice's Court without a sworn information. Section 120.

No citizen can be summoned before a Police or Justice's Court for any other offence triable under the Provincial Summary Convictions Act or for any indictable offence without a sworn information.

VIOLATES ALL PRIVATE AND PERSONAL RIGHTS

5. It gives the Chief Inspector and all or any of his sub-inspectors or constables the right to enter at pleasure without a warrant at any hour of the day or night any house or building, the rooms or compartments of which are leased to different persons, or any house or building in which meals are provided for money or in which more than three lodgers are kept other than the occupant's own family, and to search in every part thereof. Sections 2 and 153.

6. It gives the Chief Inspector and all or any o fhis sub-inspectors or constables the right to search at pleasure at any hour of the night without a warrant the sleeping berth of any passenger—male or female—on any train passing through New Brunswick. Section 153.

7. It gives the Chief Inspector and all or any of his sub-inspectors or constables the right to enter at pleasure at any hour of the night any bedroom, whether occupied by a male or a female, in any hotel or apartment house and search "in every part thereof." Section 153.

Only two or three weeks ago the Daily Telegraph reported a Saturday night raid on a number of hotels in St. John and that many of the guests were routed out of their beds in the middle of the night and their bedrooms searched by the Chief Inspector's appointees.

8. It gives the Chief Inspector and all or any of his sub-inspectors or constables the right to stop and search without a warrant the person of any man or woman, whom they may suspect of carrying liquor, and the right also to search any vehicle of any kind in which they may suspect that liquor is being carried. Section 162.

9. It gives the Chief Inspector and all or any of his sub-inspectors or constables the right to examine and open without a warrant any package which they have reasonable grounds to suspect of having been shipped or offered for carriage in violation of any of the provisions of the Act. Section 160.

OUTRAGES BRITISH LAW

10. It reverses the long cherished principle of British law that a man is presumed to be innocent until he is proved to be guilty, and requires the accused to prove that he is innocent. Section 130, which provides that "proof of consumption or INTENDED OR ATTEMPTED CONSUMPTION of liquor," on the premises of any club, etc., "shall be conclusive proof of the sale of such liquor." Section 138, which provides that the burden of proving the right to have or keep or sell or give liquor shall be on the person accused. Section 140, which provides that in any prosecution under the Act whenever it appears that the defendant has done any act or been guilty of any omission in respect of which, were he not duly licensed he would be liable to some penalty, it shall be incumbent on the defendant to prove that he did the said act lawfully. Section 141, by which it is provided that if in the prosecution of any person charged with committing an offence against any of the provisions of the Act, prima facie proof is given that such person had in his possession, charge or control any liquor in respect of which he is being prosecuted, "SUCH PERSON SHALL BE OBLIGED TO PROVE THAT HE DID NOT COMMIT THE OFFENCE WITH WHICH HE IS SO CHARGED."

11. It gives the Chief Inspector and all or any of his sub-inspectors or constables the right of appeal, first to a Judge of the King's Bench Division and secondly to the Court of Appeal, if he or they should be dissatisfied with the decision of any Magistrate in dismissing any of their unsworn informations or complaints, and deprives the defendant, if he should be wrongly convicted, of any right of appeal or redress whatever, if he happens to be any other person than one whom the Chief Inspector has appointed a wholesale or a retail vendor or a beer licensee, in the case of all first offences. Sections 176 and 177.

12. It gives the Chief Inspector and all or any of his sub-inspectors or constables the right, if they see any person in a state of intoxication or apparently under the influence of liquor, or with liquor in his possession not labelled under the provisions of Section 30, to at once take such person before a Magistrate and compel him, while in a state of intoxication or apparently under the influence of liquor, if he admits that he has drunk liquor on that day, to disclose on oath or solemn affirmation all the facts and circumstances connected with the procuring of the liquor, under pain of 24 hours imprisonment. Sections 170 and 171.

OPPRESSES THE SICK AND POOR

13. It provides that even for purely bona fide medicinal purposes no more than one sale shall be made on any one day to any one person. Section 12.

It is thus made impossible, no matter how extreme the emergency, for one lawfully to obtain on any one day alcohol for external use and any medicinal stimulant, containing more than 2 p. c. by weight of proof spirits, for internal medication. A pneumonia, influenza, or fever patient, who requires both, as so frequently happens, must await await relief in patience or have her husband or her son, or father as the case may be, as well as her physician and her druggist break this insane law and become liable, on top of all the additional expense which the Act has entailed upon those whose families are overtaken by sickness, to the heavy and cruel penalties, which the Act provides for such "crimes."

14. It imposes the most severe penalty prescribed by the Act for a first offence—$50 to $200 or 3 to 6 months in jail,—upon a man or woman who may carry from his or her home a vial of brandy for the relief of the victim of an accident or sudden illness. Sections 7 and 92. And a smaller penalty—just one-half that penalty—$25 to $100 or two to four months jail for a man who deliberately uses premises rented by him "for the illegal sale, keeping for sale or other unlawful disposal of liquors." Sections 14 and 93.

15. It imposes the maximum penalty prescribed by the Act upon a person, who consumes or drinks any liquor prescribed by a physician for any other person. Sections 21 and 92.

Under this section if a father has had any liquor lawfully prescribed for his own bona fide medicinal use in any sudden or other illness and has not used all of it, his wife or daughter becomes a criminal if any portion of what remains is administered to her in case she should afterwards be taken ill and require it, and is liable to the most severe penalties prescribed by the Act. Another prescription and another bottle must be paid for to avoid these penalties.

HOUNDS ITS VICTIMS

16. Although the Act was avowedly passed for the benefit of the poor victim of the drink habit, who has no power of self-control, it imposes upon these poor fellows the same severe penalties which it imposes upon the conscienceless bootlegger—$50 to $200 or 3 to 6 months in jail for a first offence, jail imprisonment without the option of a fine for not less than six nor more than twelve months for a second offence, and, for any one, who, having been three times convicted, and who shall thereafter directly or indirectly violate any one of the fifty odd prohibitive sections of the Act, he must be imprisoned at hard labor for one year. Sections 92 and 97.

17. The Magistrates are given no discretion. There can be no remission of sins under this law. Section 110 provides that "no judge, magistrate, justice or municipal council shall have any power or authority to remit, suspend or compromise any penalty or punishment inflicted under this Act."

INSULTS INTELLIGENCE

Yet the Prohibition Advertisers tell us that the Act has failed because it is too weak and are actually appealing to supposedly intelligent electors to vote approval of an Act, which has admittedly proved a failure, in order that they may have a chance to make it more drastic.

In Heaven's name what else do they propose to write into it?

Remember that the issue is not between the Prohibition Act and the Open Bar.

Premier Foster has settled that by his emphatic declaration that if the people vote for the repeal of the Act there will be no return to the Open Bar, but that the Government will enact legislation providing for the strict control of the distribution of all liquors through Government Agencies, so that only those who require it for bona fide medicinal purposes and those who can safely and honorably use it will be enabled to procure it, and then at fair and conscionable prices.

The issue is between this Act with all its revolutionary and intolerable provisions and a sane temperance law which all intelligent men and women can respect. —(Advt.)

New Clues Discovered in the Police Hunt For Murderer of Whist Expert, Joseph Elwell

The Movements of a Close Friend of the Slain Sportsman on the Night of the Tragedy Being Inquired Into—Three Sets of Keys to Apartments

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, June 26.—The hunt for the murderer of Joseph B. Elwell, whist expert, who was shot to death in his home here two weeks ago today, centers around one man, whose movements are under close police scrutiny.

It was reported at the District Attorney's office that an arrest was "not very far off." No official confirmation of this, however, was forthcoming.

According to the authorities, the suspected slayer was a friend of the dead sportsman. He had been questioned previously about his movements the night preceding the murder and concerning his relations with Elwell. At that time, it was said, his explanations were satisfactory. Information obtained later, however, resulted in a close watch being kept on him, until he is either arrested or the police become convinced he is not the murderer.

The new turn in the mystery, it became known today, followed the disclosure by Mrs. Marie Larsen, Elwell's housekeeper, under severe cross-examination of Assistant District Attorney Dooling, that there were three sets of keys to the turfman's home. One set, Mrs. Larsen told Mr. Dooling, she kept, Elwell had another and the third set, she said, was found on the mantel in Elwell's bedroom the morning of his death.

The District Attorney is investigating the possibility that the keys found on the mantel may have been used by the murderer to enter Elwell's home.

DEMONSTRATION ROAD WORK BY TRACTOR

A very successful demonstration of the Chase Tractor for road work was held on Thursday morning, on the highway road just below the Experimental Farm, and was witnessed by a great many road experts.

This machine was put through several very hard and complicated tests by the contractors themselves and came through without the least trouble.

The machine was mired in a ditch on purpose in mud and water above the axles and very easily pulled itself out and back on to the highway. It was also driven off the road into the under-brush through trees standing 15 and 20 feet high, made a very short turn getting back to the highway without any mishap.

This demonstration was pronounced by all the road men that were present as one of the best exhibitions of tractor work ever seen in this part of the province, and the Chase was pronounced by them as being a leader in the tractor field.

The Fredericton Motor Sales, Ltd., who are the retail distributors for the Chase Tractors have already received several orders for this model tractor for road building.

Enforcing Fisheries Act

Fisheries Inspector H. E. Harrison returned yesterday from a nine days' trip along the St. John river and its tributaries where he had been looking for violaters of the Fisheries Act. Although he seized no nets he will lay information in seven cases of fisheries violations. He covered his territory by motor boat, visiting the mills along the various streams and lakes and will also lay information in six cases of water pollution by sawdust. He made his first stop at Gagetown and here he found one case of water pollution and one of illegal shad fishing. From Gagetown he proceeded to Grand Lake and visited King's County by car and will bring five cases of water pollution before the Magistrate at Hampton in the near future. Mr. Harrison also stated that he had just received a report from the fisheries overseer at Woodstock that he had seized a salmon net there.

New Ruling on the Canadian Sales Tax

(Canadian Press by Leased Wire.)

Montreal, June 26.—The secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here yesterday received a new ruling in regard to the application of the sales tax, as follows:

"Sales tax of two per cent. is applicable on sales by manufacturers to railways, power companies, municipalities, public utilities and steamship lines. Sales tax of 1 per cent. is applicable on sales by wholesalers to such corporations. The sales tax is not applicable as regards material for the construction of ships licensed to engage in the Canadian coasting trade."

Meetings of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association are to be held to consider the new ruling.

MILK QUESTION UP FOR DISCUSSION

Board of Health to Take Action if the Analysis is Not Better

Some action is to be taken in the matter of the city's milk supply by the Fredericton Sub-district Board of Health, if the milk analysis reported on monthly does not show signs of improvement.

On Thursday evening H. H. Hagerman gave the report of the milk analysis to the Board and this showed the condition of the various samples which he had analyzed to be but fair. After some discussion, in which the names of several who supply milk to customers in this city were mentioned the Board decided to take no further action in the matter until the next milk analysis was made, and then, if the milk continued to be poor, the licenses of the offending milk dealers would be cancelled.

Sanitary Inspector A. C. Fleming reported that he had inspected about three-fourths of the city and that conditions were very favorable. Several cases of typhoid fever from outside the city were reported to be at the Victoria Hospital.

The bread question came up for discussion, several of the hotels and restaurants claiming bread became mildewed upon being placed in wrappers while it was still hot. The board decided the wrappers should still be used and discarded when the bread was received by customers, to keep it from mildewing.

RAILWAY MATTERS AIRED IN HOUSE

Criticism of $47,000,000 Deficit in Operations—Better Equipment Needed

Ottawa, June 25.—That the deficit of $47,000,000 on last year's operation of the Canadian National Railways was the result of some fault in the management was the contention of O. Turgeon (Gloucester) during the debate on railways and canals estimates in the Commons tonight. Mr. Turgeon urged that no increases should be made in either freight or passenger rates without serious consideration. If passenger rates must be increased then the burden should be borne by those who travelled first class instead of second class passengers.

Hon. J. D. Reid said the Canadian National was hampered by lack of rolling stock. If he had the cars he would have them busy hauling coal from Nova Scotia and from the Western Provinces to avert a fuel shortage in Ontario and Quebec. The C. N. R. management was made up of efficient railway managers, he asserted, and the system would eventually be recognized as Canada's greatest asset, he believed.

A. B. Copp, (Westmorland) in his criticism of the operations of government railways, complained that old employees of the I. C. R. were being given twenty dollars per month pension, and next took up the cause of a man named George Carvell, who, after eighteen years service on the I. C. R., was summarily dismissed for carelessness. This dismissal occurred after a theft.

Replying to this, Hon. Mr. J. D. Reid stated that Carvell's reputation for honesty was untarnished. He was dismissed for general incompetency and not in any way for being suspected of theft.

SALARIES OF JUDGES WILL BE INCREASED

The Supreme Court Judges Get Raise of $2,000, While the County Judges Get $1,000

Ottawa, June 25.—In the House last night Sir Robert Borden announced that the Government had decided to increase the salaries of Judges and Cabinet Ministers and others and the sessional indemnity to members of Parliament.

The Prime Minister's statement is in part as follows:

The Government recognizes that one of its first obligations to maintain the honest and impartial administration of justice and that to insure this the judges should be paid such remuneration as will command the services of the best men and free them from undue anxiety as to their means of support.

The Government has decided, therefore, to recommend to Parliament the following increases in judicial salaries:

Supreme Court of Canada—Chief Justice from $10,000 to $15,000.

Puisne Judges — From $9,000 to $12,000.

Superior Courts of the Provinces—Chief Justice from $8,000 to $10,000; Puisne Judges from $7,000 to $9,000.

County Courts—Judges of County Courts in counties in which there is a city with a population of 40,000 or over—an increase of $1,000; that is, from $4,000 to $5,000 per annum.

At the present time judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts undertaking other duties, such as acting commissioners, etc., at the request of either the Federal or Provincial Governments, are paid fees for such services. The Government has reached the conclusion that this is not in the public interest and that the salary should be adequate to cover all services. The proposed legislation will require that the judges of Supreme and Superior Courts undertaking special duties at the request of either the Federal or Provincial Governments shall not be paid any additional compensation for such services, but that the salaries voted shall cover all services rendered.

PATRIOTIC FUND WORK NEARING END

to continue their work in this city but without remuneration for the services of any officials, no provision being made for any expense whatever. The committee are to hold an indignation meeting on Monday evening, when they will discuss the suggested unpopular change.

Last October the same change was proposed, but it was voted down by the committee, who did not think the plan was feasible. The reasons given by the central executive for the change are that it will give uniformity of administration of the fund and decrease the expense.

R. H. Simonds, who has been secretary of the committee in this city since April, 1916, stated today that during the time the committee have been at work in this city over $210,000 has been paid in this district helping those who applied for aid.

The following statement shows payments under the fund as follows:

THE PENSIONS.

Only anybody blindly prejudiced to all the facts of the case will deny that the Government has made a pronounced and mainly satisfactory improvement in the rates of pensions payable to the wounded returned men and the dependents of those who will never come back. Closer examination of the details may disclose particulars which need further adjustment. But taking the recommendations of the committee of Parliament which has just reported upon the matter, in its entirety the improved conditions provided will meet with the approval of the very great majority of returned men. For our own part, we have freely stated in these columns that the question of pensions was one which demanded the most rigid investigation, and without a shadow of contradiction required to be increased without delay.

Much commendation must be paid the G.W.V.A. for its attitude in this connection, remarks an exchange. Not for supporting the contention that the pensions should be increased, which appeared self-evident; but for the fair and businesslike manner in which the executive of the returned men had the facts submitted to the Parliamentary committee. That committee could not have felt in a position to recommend any further demands upon the national public purse if it had not had convincing evidence submitted for its determination. The G.W.V.A. procured such evidence. It is more than gratifying to perceive that with one possible and only personal exception there has been no friction arise over the discussion of the question. It would seem that efforts have not been missing in the past to strive to build up animus between the present Parliament and the returned men. We have not yet been convinced of due cause for it. Much discontent has been fomented over the question of another cash gratuity. This does seem to be a matter which is debatable even in the G.W.V.A. itself. Many returned men produce seemingly quite strong arguments why the country should pay the added cash gratuity; but it is noteworthy that a great many men do not think the appeal is based on sound principle. That all men would be glad to accept it, should it be offered, is possible; it would be probable. But that does not answer the question whether the country really can stand the strain of adding the tremendous burden to its liabilities. However, this is not the place to discuss it, other than that as it has been rejected as a feasible project by the Parliamentary committee the subject may again arise. It might be well in the meantime for the G.W.V.A. to institute a personal canvass of the views held by all returned men. By doing so, if it were thought desirable again to submit the question to Parliament it would have some such conclusive, and perhaps convincing evidence, like it has been able to submit with such very good results in connection with pensions; or else, on the other hand, it might become evident that the great majority of returned men are themselves averse to making this added cash demand on the country's resources.

MILDER REPARATION TERMS.

Despatches from Boulogne would indicate that the Entente Council have at last made some start toward mending the reparation arrangements made in the treaty with Germany. They have agreed among themselves, it seems, upon a minimum annual instalment to be required of the German government. Report sets the figure at three billions of marks in gold or acceptable equivalent.

The total sum to be made up by these instalments will, it is said, approach one hundred and twenty billion gold marks. To pay all this at the minimum instalment rate would require some forty years. The interest upon the one hundred billions of German bonds provided for in the treaty would bring the total amount payable by Germany considerably above the one hundred and twenty billions now provided for. Germany therefore gains in this respect. She also gains apparently in that the total of reparation now set constitutes a limit to the amount to be required of her. The treaty arrangement was that if Germany could later pay more she should do so. It put a premium on stagnation in Germany and tended thus to make it more difficult for the country even to pay the amounts stipulated.

In one way and another, then, the new agreement makes substantial modifications in the Germans' favor. In return for concessions the French, the nation chiefly interested in reparation, hope no doubt to get actual yearly remittances from Germany of helpful amount, and to gain British aid in marketing German reparation bonds.

GYPSY TRAILS.

British vacationists, it is said, have taken since the war to gypsying more than ever. They drive over the country roads, particularly the unimproved lanes and byways, with covered wagons drawn at a foot pace, each by a sedate horse. They prepare their meals by the roadside with gasoline or alcohol stovelets. At night they tether Dobbin and bunk within the equipage.

It sounds strangely foreign. Here we either shoulder pack and tramp it, camping out, or else jump into the automobile and make the contemplated trip in that, hotelling at the wayside stopping places or sometimes in a tent fetched along. We have plenty of fuel wood littering up the floor of our woodland—a plenty unknown in England—and need no stoves. We have lots of gasoline, comparatively speaking, and need no horses. In most of our Eastern countryside discreet trespassing is tolerated, so we need no wagon to sleep in. And since summer rain over here is less serious than in the great isle, a flimsy tent or even none at all will do us very well.

Yet the English caravan vacationist gains something by his very restrictions: something we miss. He comes to know and love his land—most of it, odd to remark, lies out in the country. He sees it as the whizzing automobilist could not in a hundred years' trip at fifty miles an hour twenty-four hours a day. He studies it, not from the exterior of the hard road, but from within, from the little road that is a part of the neighborhood itself.

Some day a Canadian will try the merits of such a trip in our own old-road regions. He will return feeling as much a discoverer as if he had been abroad, and at the same time a closer friend of his homeland.

STRENGTH IN MOVIE SILENCE.

The French inventor who expects now to make practical a mechanical projection of the voice in exact time with moving picture travels on the trail of a coveted prize of science. Yet has it occurred to him and his kind that one of the very advantages of the movie is its wordlessness?

Doing without spoken dialogue gives the screen a larger audience. Because of this welcome lack it has become the favorite spectacle of the hard of hearing. In themselves they form a material part of the public. A still greater proportion is that of those unable to follow ordinary discourse, because of incomplete education or an immature mind.

Above all such advantages of a domestic sort, the movie excels as an international influence. Wordless, it transcends the limits of any one tongue. As independent of race or clime as music or the still picture, it exceeds these in universal, spontaneous appeal. It may in the end even serve as a means of spreading one or another nation's speech. But to start with, its force lies in silence.

Some nation will lead the world in supplying movies to all its many lands. For that leadership there will be a keen and ceaseless contest, we think, since national ideas, sympathies and precepts will follow the film. It seems likely that in this contest the wordless movie may prevail, and spoken accompaniment be found needless in the main.

CHARLES RAY IN "ALARM CLOCK ANDY"

As Bashful Youth He Turns the Tables on a Bluffer in a New Picture

Charles Ray is again the bashful youth who develops into a world-beater in his new screen comedy, "Alarm Clock Andy," which is coming to the Gaiety Theatre for two days commencing Monday next, June 28th. This time the star is Andy Gray, shy, stuttering salesman for an auto truck concern. Anxious to forge ahead in business, he strives to overcome his shortcomings by patterning after the firm's star salesman, Blinker, who is really a fourflusher. Andy comes in contact by chance with Dodge, a big buyer of trucks. The latter is impressed with the boy's determination.

A lucky accident puts Andy "in soft" with his boss's pretty daughter and he follows her on his vacation to a summer resort. All the time he is masquerading under the name of Blinker, and when he again encounters Dodge and closes a big order with him, complications result thick and fast. Needless to say they are straightened out happily and Blinker meets his due reward. So does Andy.

MEMBERS RECEIVE $4,000 INDEMNITY

Cabinet Ministers Also Receive Increase Which Will Bring Total to $14,000

Ottawa, June 25.—Today's indemnity caucus developments may be summed up briefly as follows:

(1) Sir Robert Borden sternly lectured members and senators for divulging caucus secrets, declaring that this constituted a grave breach of confidence, and adding that those found guilty of such misdemeanor in the future would be duly punished.

(2) The Prime Minister proceeded to heal the wound thus made by announcing the following generous increase in indemnities:

(a) Members and senators to have their indemnities advanced from $2,500 to $4,000 a session.

(b) Cabinet ministers to have their salaries increased from $7,000 to $10,000 a year, plus their indemnity, making a yearly total of $14,000.

(c) The leader of the opposition is to be given the same salary as a cabinet minister, to wit, $14,000 a year.

(d) The salary of the Prime Minister to be increased from $10,000 to $15,000 a year, plus the indemnity, making a total of $19,000.

(e) The salary of the Solicitor General to be increased from $5,000 to $7,000, plus the indemnity, or a total of $11,000.

(f) The salaries of judges to be substantially increased.

The foregoing represents a net total increase of more than half a million dollars—$554,000—and brings the total cost of a session in indemnities alone to $1,320,000.

LIGHTNING STRUCK MONCTON HOUSE

Moncton, June 25.—A Roy Spence received a telephone message from Port Elgin this afternoon informing him that lightning struck the home of his father, William Spence, at Port Elgin shortly before noon, destroying the house, barn, shed and outbuildings, including a garage and motor. Mr. Spence said that they had been able to save only a few valuable papers. It is understood that no other buildings were destroyed. Mr. Spence has a store at Port Elgin, but as it is a considerable distance from the house it was not affected.

FROM THE PEOPLE

CARE FOR CITY'S VALUABLE PROPERTY

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I was very glad to read Fredericton's letter in your People's column. It has appeared to me for some time that our City Council (not our citizens) are too indifferent to the city's great natural beauties; and I may say also, too indifferent to the city's material welfare. I am not one who would throw any stumbling block in the way of the Canadian National Railways officials in their efforts to provide facilities for the business of the road. I am prepared to sacrifice anything within reason to promote railway transportation and to make Fredericton an important railway centre. But I am stoutly opposed to the needless mutilation of our beauty spots with their highly prized elms and maples. Engineering difficulties are not always as serious as they appear to some engineers, and many places have been mutilated and destroyed through inability to take the broader view of the requirements and also through the city's failure to provide a qualified engineer to uphold the city's interests.

The Union Station will, in all probability, be located on or near the Cadwallader property at University avenue, and in that vicinity and on adjoining properties there is ample room to provide all the facilities that may be necessary for years of the future to economically handle the passenger and freight business of any two or three lines of railway. Trains will arrive at, and start from, that station; and the connections from there to the bridge do not call for any very great additions, although in years to come there may be needed, not more than double tracking. Build the new bridge on the site of the present one as the railway bridge at the East of Montreal was built by the C.P.R. (and built without interruption to traffic—this is practical—and it will not be necessary to mutilate and tear up our greens and avenues and property, in which we naturally take much pride, in the vicinity of the Cathedral and along the river bank. There is no substantial reason, nothing suggested by economy or common sense, for building the new bridge sixty-five feet below the site of the present structure; and with ample property available a few hundrew yards further west, there can be no pressing need to disturb the lines to the river bank. The City Council, uninfluenced by others, should secure the services of an experienced and competent engineer, upon whose advice the Council would be warranted in acting.

Yours,
ANOTHER FREDERICTONIAN.
Fredericton, June 24, 1920.

DO JUSTICE

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I have read with a great deal of interest the statement made by Gen. Sir Sam Hughes in the House of Commons with reference to Gen. Currie.

It has occurred to me that the man who suffered a great injustice in the friction between Sir Sam Hughes and Gen. Currie is Col. "Jack" Currie, who had nothing to do with the "dugout" incident at all. Every soldier who fought in the battle of St. Julien knows that Col. J. A. Currie was for three days and nights in continuous action in the defence of gruesome Gravenstafel Ridge, six miles east of the city of Ypres. He is one of the heroes of that great fight that made Canada's name immortal in the war. Now that he has been exonerated by the ex-Minister of Militia, it is not too much to suppose that the Government will do him the justice that they have so long denied him.

He has been robbed of all honors and rewards in connection with the war, through petty jealousies and errors of superior officers, while the names of Sir Sam Hughes and Gen. Sir Arthur Currie have been loaded down with honors. There is no reason why, even at this late date, he should not receive fair play. A word from the Government could very easily secure for him the decorations of which he was so unjustly deprived.

Yours,
A FRANCO-CANADIAN SOLDIER.
Fredericton, June 23, 1920.

"JOHN" IS SCORED

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I noticed in your People's Column a letter signed John, in which he states that he has had a very serious dispute with his wife, and although he feels sure she is in the right, he will not admit that he is in the wrong for fear she will acquire "a swelled head." Now it seems to me that he must be a very small minded person if he cannot admit a mistake, and if that has been his attitude toward his wife in the past it is small wonder to me if she would rub it in a bit when she really finds him in the wrong.

I should not be so anxious about my duty to friend wife in keeping her from having a "swelled head," as he puts it, but would suggest that he investigate more carefully and see if possibly he hasn't that ailment himself.

It strikes me that a person must be pretty puffed up with the sense of his own importance if he cannot honestly admit a wrong occasionally. My sincerest sympathy to friend wife.

Yours,
E. F. B.
Woodstock, June 24, 1920.

WOMAN, TOO, HAS FOIBLES

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—In the People's column a member of the fair sex comes forth and tells us what she thinks of the male smoker. She goes on to say that tobacco deadens the sensibilities for the rights of others. How does she get that way? I've been smoking for a good many years, but whenever I am in the presence of ladies and care to light a cigar or cigarette I always ask permission to do so from the ladies, and invariably get it. And I have found that to be the case with all my men friends.

This objector to smoking, who signs herself Fresh Air (she ought to have omitted the word "Air), takes the authority to state that men would smoke in the subways if it weren't against the law. And I might say that a vast majority of females would smoke in public if it were respectable. She calls us "fanatics," "tyrants," "selfish pigs," etc., and all because we smoke. Perhaps if we men gave up smoking and wore bright red ties and ribbons on our hats and painted our faces like the women do we would please Fresh Air. But I guess the privilege of smoking will be allowed us for some time and Miss (I'm not sure it's Miss) Fresh Air will be disturbed in smelling "the nice odor of the trees, of the grass and the flowering shrubs."

Just one word more. Last night as I was leaving my office and stepped into the hallway in which were a number of people, one female took out a powder puff and proceeded to powder her face, the powder flying all over every one around her. When I left the building my shoulder was white with powder and I suppose if I had spoken to the "lady" about it she would have told me to mind my own business.

I've heard cranks on drink, on dancing, on extravagance, on smoking—but the little complaint of Fresh Air wins the Brown Derby.

Yours,
CANDOR.

CONDITIONS IN SOUTH AFRICA

Mining Engineer of Johannesburg in City Tells of Conditions There

After a trip of two and a half months through England and France Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Webb and family of Johannesburg, South Africa, are here this week on a visit and are guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. B. M. Mullin, of North Devon.

Mrs. Webb, who was formerly Miss Helen Mullin, daughter of the late Professor Eldon Mullin, at one time principal of the Provincial Normal School in this city, is being welcomed by many of her old friends in this city. Mr. Webb is a mining engineer in the city of Johannesburg, and in discussing the conditions prevailing in that city at the present time he stated that although the war had left its effect on the South African people they were recovering rapidly but the conditions in that country were yet far from normal. Prices were still high and in some instances he stated the present prices were far in advance of the pre-war prices, showing an increase of over 150 per cent. Still he stated that the majority of the prices of the country were not as high in proportion to those of some of the other cuntries he had passed through. The country he said had a great future before it and numerous new industries were taking root and soon would be reckoned a large factor in South African developments.

In discussing his voyage he said his party had left South Africa the last of March and their first stop was in England. From what he had seen of the English nation they were rapidly recovering from the effects of the war and were quickly adjusting themselves to conditions. In France he and his family visited several of the battle fields on which the South African soldiers had bled for the mother land and he stated that in the battle-scarred sections of the country the people were working hard reconstructing their houses and repairing the damage caused by the war. Building was being carried on extensively all over France, the people working with a will to wipe out all traces of ruin and devastation.

After visiting France the party returned to England where they set sail for New York. From New York they travelled to this city by train. Mr. Webb admired greatly the scenery along the St. John river stating that the Province of New Brunswick could boast of a very beautiful river.

Wilson Followers Will Endeavor To Have the Platform Built Along Lines Suggested by President—Prohibition and Labor Planks Contentions.

San Francisco, Calif., June 26.—After the events of the Republican National Convention at Chicago earlier this month, prophets are chary about predicting the probable outcome of the Democratic National Convention which is to open here on Monday to select a candidate who will oppose Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio in the race for the presidency of the United States. Prior to the balloting it is difficult to guess which of the big guns, favorite sons and dark horses will secure a majority of votes.

At the Chicago convention, which had been advertised far and wide as an "unbossed" affair, the Big Three, Wood, Lowden and Johnson, went down to defeat after a deadlock, and Senator Harding, a dark horse, won the nomination. Admittedly, however, he was the choice of the bosses in that unbossed convention, and was shoved to victory when it became plain that the first choice of the old line Republican leaders, Gov. Lowden of Illinois, could not achieve a majority. A clique of Republican senators headed by Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, decided the issue at Chicago.

The situation at the Democratic convention is very different, although it is considered quite possible that the result may be somewhat similar. There are few instructed delegates at San Francisco, but opponents of the present administration at Washington declare that the delegates are of the "hand-picked" variety, and may be depended upon as a whole to do what they are told. There has been no attempt to conceal the fact that President Wilson has assumed control of the Democratic party, and that his will will be felt to a very large extent at the convention.

The convention will begin with the question of a winning candidate left ostensibly wide open. At the primaries in the various states expressions of preference for special candidates were avoided, except in a few instances. The leading candidates for the nomination have begged to have their names withdrawn from consideration in the states which have primary laws. Most of them urged the selection of unpledged delegates. This, say opponents of President Wilson, means that the Democratic National Committee and the White House have sought to send to San Francisco men who prefer instructions from the party leaders to instructions from the voters, and that a presidential candidate is to be imposed on the party "from the top."

The Wilson Platform.

So that, whatever the result in fact may be, the convention opens with the appearance of being fully in control. It is widely believed that President Wilson will demand a referendum on his own record and policy, and that he will seek to have the convention adopt a platform based on the Wilson policies.

If Mr. Wilson desires to become a candidate, which is not regarded as likely, he will be able to secure easy nomination, say political observers. What is regarded as more probable is that he will seek the nomination for his son-in-law and former Cabinet minister, William G. McAdoo, of New York, who is widely and humorously known as the "Crown Prince," as Mr. Taft was named the "Crown Prince" when Roosevelt was ready to lay aside the presidential mantle. Mr. McAdoo is universally regarded as the Wilson candidate for the presidency, but there are many others in the field as well. In fact, the aspirants are at least as numerous as at the Republican convention in Chicago.

Undoubtedly William Jennings Bryan will be a prominent figure in the convention here, to which he comes as one of the home state of Nebraska. He will be here in the interests of Prohibition and W. J. Bryan. Little has been said as to the possibility of his presenting himself as a candidate for the nomination, but in former instances Mr. Bryan has frequently been able to do the presenting himself.

The early birds on the ground in San Francisco were Senator Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma, and Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, who were the first of the presidential possibilities on the Democratic side to open headquarters in this city. Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, was a close second in the race to open headquarters. Mr. Palmer has been allowed to appear as an active administration candidate, and is regarded in some quarters as a "second string" to Mr. McAdoo in the estimation of the President.

Those political observers who are partial to thrills have been painting a lurid picture of the situation that would arise should Governor Cox of Ohio win the Democratic nomination and take the field in the presidential campaign against Senator Harding of his own state. The men have been bitter political opponents in Ohio for many years, and it is declared that, should the presidential struggle narrow down to the Ohio sector, there will be "wigs on the green" in earnest.

McAdoo the Favorite.

A useful sidelight on the Democratic situation was presented by the Literary Digest recently, which held a poll on the various candidates prominently mentioned. The choice of those voting was in this order: Wm. G. McAdoo, President Wilson, Gov. Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey, Wm. J. Bryan, and Gov. Cox. According to the Digest figures, McAdoo led Mr. Wilson by 35,131 votes, Edwards by 41,326, Bryan by 56,271 and Cox by 70,376. The "dope" just at present is that the contest will be between McAdoo and Cox. Governor Edwards is out on a "personal liberty" platform, which is generally regarded as the same as a "wet" programme, and so he may be expected to receive a certain proportion of the Republican vote in any such poll.

The results of the primaries, as already noted, do not help greatly in reaching an estimate, inasmuch as most of the delegates are uninstructed. To be exact, 739 delegates have come to San Francisco without instruction as to supporting any particular man. McAdoo has 84 votes pledged to him, Cox 74, Palmer 76, Edwards 28, Owen 20, Hitchcock 16, and Bryan and James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany, ten each. Among the favorite sons are Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, and Senator Glass, of Virginia. John W. Davis, Ambassador to Great Britain, is also being boomed as a candidate by certain elements, and looks like a likely dark horse, should the convention reach the dark horse stage. Even Herbert Hoover is mentioned as a Democratic possibility, and received a few votes in the primaries.

Marshall Mentioned.

The name of VicePresident Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, has been mentioned very often, but the vice-president has declared that he has no ambition for presidential honors. Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, is in the running, as is Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio. Champ Clark, of Missouri, is named as a possible dark horse. He came very close to being the choice of the Democratic national convention at St. Louis in 1912, when Woodrow Wilson beat him out on the forty-sixth ballot.

The keynote speech will be made by Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and temporary chairman of the convention.

As was the case at Chicago the League of Nations is expected to play an important part in connection with the Democratic platform. The President, it is said, will insist on a plank demanding the adoption of the league covenant as it stands, or with very minor reservations. On this point there is likely to be a fair-sized fight, as there are many Democrats who are inclined to look with disfavor on the treaty as it stands. One of these is Senator Frank Walsh, of Massachusetts, who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the much-mooted "third party" including followers of Senator LaFollette and Senator Johnson.

Another issue that threatens to cause a division in the Democratic ranks is that of prohibition. At least one aspirant for the nomination, Governor Edwards of New Jersey, has come to San Francisco on a professedly anti-prohibition programme. Against him is Bryan, while the majority of the candidates for the nomination have expressed themselves in some such terms as the following, quoted from Senator Owen of Oklahoma:

"No wet plank should be permitted to divide the Democratic vote. The democracy will assuredly support the strict enforcement of the constitution and the law. Those who wish to change it have their remedy under methods provided by the constitution."

The Labor Plank.

The labor plank is another that offers tremenodus possibilities. With the heads of organized labor in the United States gnashing their teeth at the attitude assumed by the Republicans at Chicago, they will look to the Democrats to adopt a platform more in keeping with the present aspirations of the labor organizations. What will be finally adopted is, of course, problematical, but in the meantime various aspirants to the nomination are using the following language very freely:

"Labor is entitled to the most generous consideration."

On the whole the method of procedure in the Democratic convention is the same as that followed by the Republicans. There is, however, one fundamental difference. At the Republican National Convention a bare majority of delegates is sufficient to make a nomination. At the Democratic convention there can be no nomination until one or other of the candidates receives a two-thirds vote of the delegates.

Prophecy is idle, but the two conventions will probably be alike in this respect, that if there is no nomination on the early ballots, anything is likely to happen, and the dark horse will have as good an opportunity in the battle as the "Crown Prince" himself.

Those who have been in the habit of attending Democratic conventions in the past, find novelty this year in the fact that the assembly is being held at the Golden Gate. The Democratic National Convention of 1920 is the "farthest west" in history. This is the first occasion on which the delegates have been asked to cross the Rocky Mountains to attend the gathering. St. Louis in former years was considered to be pretty well West, but this time the committe has gone the western limit.

Incidentally, it has been reported that a very large proportion of the eastern delegates made their way to San Francisco via Canada, with special reference to the city of Montreal. There is another rumor current to the effect that they did not waste their time while in the province of Quebec, and that Mr. Bryan may smell something stronger than grapejuice on the breaths of not a few of his colleagues—if he gets close enough to them.

Genoa, June 24.—The commission of the International Seamen's Conference which has been examining into the question of an eight hour day and a 48 hour week on shipboard, yesterday voted 17 to 13 in favor of the proposition. Those opposed to the measure were government delegates form Great Britain, India, Norway and Sweden, and nine delegates representing the shipowners. Those in favor of the proposal were the government delegates from France, Germany, Holland, Japan, Italy, Spain, a French shipowner's delegate, and ten seamen's delegates.

High School Closing

with unmingled joy to this night, then seeming so far from our reach; but now that it is come, we feel a touch of sadness at the thought of parting from the old school, which has been and will be in future our great and lasting friend. During the years of our attendance here the scenes, as they became familiar, also became endeared to us, and although the past is beyond recall, although we know not what the future holds in store for us, these scenes will always be indelibly stamped upon our memories. Hereafter, each year at this time, when closing exercises are taking place, our thoughts will turn to the Fredericton High School and we will live over again and again the many happy days we have spent within its walls.

The Class History.

At our parting, we feel that a short account of the years spent so happily here would not be inappropriate.

When, in the autumn of 1917, we heard the ringing of the bell, a call to arms, so to speak, and found ourselves enrolled as students of the Fredericton High School, we both looked and felt strange and possibly a little out of place. Excepting those coming from the same schools, we were strangers to each other and were, as all freshmen classes are, a little confused. I believe that I express the opinion of all the boys, moreover, when I say that our confusion was added to considerably by the rigorous initiation ceremonies ably conducted by the higher classes at recess. As all classes do, however, we soon settled down in our new condition and to our work; for if anyone started the year with the idea that it was to be one of amusement entirely, he was quickly disillusioned. We saw that work was essential to success, and we tried to succeed. But our first year did not lack amusement by any means. We had our cornroasts, sleigh-drives and other social functions for our own class, and discovered in a very short time that life at High School, on the whole, would probably prove most enjoyable. We wrote our first Christmas examinations, and after vacation came back more determined than ever to make a success of our course.

The winter was soon over. Spring came, then summer, the "C" Class proceeding on the even tenor of its way, and with startling suddenness we found ourselves at the end of our freshman year, and witnessed our first High School closing as students.

Vacation Passed Quickly.

Vacation seemed to pass as quickly as our first year had passed, and we were soon installed in the "B" Class, although somewhat reduced in numbers. Some of our classmates had gone to other institutions of learning, others had left for various other reasons, but we who remained tried to be literally "Busy B's". We knew that this year had the reputation of being the most difficult of the course and we determined, by hard work, to make an outstanding success of it. The closing of school because of the influenza epidemic was a great hindrance to us in our determination. We had social events in this year also at one time or another, and the many exciting and amusing experiences will always serve as pleasant reminders of our "B" Class days. This year seemed to drop behind more quickly than our first one had done, and in an incredibly short time, so it seemed, we found it our duty to prepare for closing time. We were given charge of preparations for closing night, as far as decorating and preparing for the reception were concerned, and we maintain that we carried them through with a fair amount of success. With the graduation of the Class of '19 we were forcibly reminded that our turn would soon be at hand and that but one year remained to us in the school which by now had become in truth our Alma Mater.

Class Grew Smaller.

After vacation we returned much reduced in numbers by more losses in membership to the old school and became "grave and reverend seniors"—grave in name alone, for surely no one would ever accuse the Class of 1920 of being grave. We found now that much was expected of us, that we could not be as carefree as formerly, that the teachers expected us to set the other classes a good example. Before us lay the golden opportunity of successfully completing our course. It behooved us to make good. We realized by now how quickly the years are gone beyond recall and saw in the near future our parting from F.H.S. After Christmas examinations we entered upon the last lap of the race and worked more zealously than ever toward our goal. Spring came and we were soon enjoying the few days of relaxation which Easter brought forth. Upon our return we were surprised and deeply regretful when we were informed that our English teacher, Miss Thorne, would be unable to return to us, having met with an accident. The task which was Miss Thorne's, and which she had ably begun, that of instilling into the minds of us all the intricacies of English grammar and literature, was capably undertaken by Miss Clark.

With the change in the staff we continued our work. We saw one need of our class—organization. We realized that perhaps our greatest mistake was our failure to organize before this time. We also saw, however, that it might not be too late to mend. Accordingly a president and secretary were elected and during the remainder of the year they faithfully fulfilled their separate duties. To them we owe our thanks for we know that at all times they did their best for the benefit of the class. At the time of organization we started a campaign of class actitvities. We undertook a banquet for the boys, a class picture party and so forth and in spite of our appellation of "grave and reverend seniors," we obtained no small amount of enjoyment out of our last term. And now we were on the home stretch, as we considered it, and final examinations and graduation were almost the sole topics of conversation in the class room. With the first of these safely over and our course at Fredericton High completed, the class of 1920, as pupils, are gathered together for the last time and in the near future will be scattered, some to go out into the world, others to continue their education at the University, Normal School or Business College. But no matter how far we are scattered, we shall endeavor from time to time to reunite and thus serve to bring back freshly to our minds the days spent so happily in the school of the Yellow and Black.

Athletics in the School.

Athletics have ever been given an important place at Fredericton High, though possibly not such an important position as they deserve, on account of there being no gymnasium in connection with the school. As far as our sports have gone we have done our best to uphold the reputation which the school has made for itself in that direction. When in our freshman year we were for the most part too light and too unfamiliar with the game to make a valuable addition to the football team, we gave our school team the best support we were able. It was in this year that as a result of an accident at Rothesay during a game, the school lost one of the best fellows it has ever known. I refer to George M. Walker. Many of us knew George, and we knew him to be true blue, a friend worth having! He played the game for the honor of the school; he played it for all there was in it; he always played to win, but, most important of all, he played fair, and that is a reputation of which anyone might be proud! Fredericton High will never forget him, and the boys who will compose teams in the years to come cannot do better than play the game as he did. After George's death the school seemed entirely changed. We missed him more than words can tell and our sports seemed lacking in something vitally important to their welfare. But the games were played as we knew he would have us play them and in our second year we threw ourselves into them more wholeheartedly because we saw that Fredericton High sorely needed players who might fill his place. But our sports in this year were cut short as a result of the influenza epidemic and the consequent closing of school. But in our last year we played all our games, and we are proud of the fact that we have always tried to do our best for the school whether in football, hockey or baseball. We have not always won, neither, on the other hand, have we always lost. And our defeats, we feel sure, have not been due to lack of trying. On our trips we have always had a good time, but we have always played the games away from home as hard as, if not harder than, those played in the city. And sink or swim, win or lose, we have always tried to uphold Fredericton High's reputation for fair play.

Thanks to Staff.

Members of the Staff: It is almost impossible for us to give adequate expression to our gratitude toward you for the personal interest which you have always taken in us, our studies and our sports. Even now it is difficult for us to realize how much you have accomplished for us, but at least we know that we go forth from these halls a thousand times better able to cope with the difficulties of life than formerly, as a result of the influence which you have exerted upon our lives. Always have you stood ready to assist us, always have you been ready to cooperate with us in whatever we have undertaken, to an extent which places us more deeply in your debt than can ever be repaid. It is our earnest wish that whatever institution of learning we may hereafter attend we may have the good fortune to meet with as kind treatment and as much patience as we have received at your hands.

The Future of F. H. S.

Fellow Students: With you whom we leave behind and with those entering next fall rests the future of the F. H. S. It is your duty to endeavor to make these coming years the best in the history of the school. Profit by the mistakes we have made. Where we have failed you succeed; where we have done well, you do better. Remember that "Lives are in the making here,

Hearts are in the waking here,
Mighty undertakings here,
Up—and on!

"Up, boys, truest fame
Lies in high endeavor;
Play the game! Keep the flame
Burning brightly ever!

"Fair before you lies the way;
Time for work and time for play.
Fill the measure while you may;
Up—and on!

"Foes in plenty you will meet;
Hearts courageous scorn defeat;
And so, press with eager feet
Up—and on!

"Ever onward to the fight!
Ever upward to the light!
Ever true to God and Right!
Up—and on!"

When the new class comes in next fall, get them together; set them a better example than we did you; instil into them the motto, "Palma non sine Pulvere," and teach them to put their school far befor etheir own ends. Thus will a true school spirit be fostered and each and every pupil will be working for tha good of the school; and if these things are so the successful future of the Fredericton High School is assured. Remember that we who are going out expect to hear great things of you. When you work, work hard; when you play, play fair. In short each one try to be typical of the students of the F. H. S.

Farewell Classmates.

Classmates: We close tonight three of the happiest years we have ever seen. Let us never forget the training we have received in these years and the good times we have enjoyed. And also let us conceal as much as possible our regrets at parting. There is a great future before us, a future made possible by the F. H. S. We owe the world gladness. Let us carry the spirit of gladness with us and go forth determined to do honor to our Alma Mater. Today we may feel a touch of sadness. The sea may be gray today and gray the sky,

"—but on that far rim gray and cold,
Tomorrow beckons gloriously once more
Along a sudden, widening path of gold!"

Friends, the class of 1920 bids you all—Farewell!

Three Destroyed
One Roof Escaped

The picture tells the story.
Mr. Offer's letter confirms the fire-resistant qualities of

Brantford Asphalt Slates

He says:

"I covered the roof of 201 Marlborough Ave., Toronto, with your Asphalt Slates some time ago. This house is one of a row of four, the remaining three were covered with Cedar shingles.

"These houses were close to a railway track and on the night of August 15th, 1918, these roofs caught fire from a spark from a passing train.

"As you can see in the picture, the roofs on three houses were completely burned through, including the sheeting boards and rafters. The boards and rafters on 201 were also burned through, so that the fire passed over and under your slates without harming them in any way.

"I have rebuilt the roofs and covered them with your Asphalt Slates since I have had such good proof that if the four roofs had been covered with your slates no fire would have occurred."

And here is another letter, from G. F. Wingrove of Walsingham, Ont., dated December 2nd, 1918.

Mr. Wingrove says:

"The house I live in is a large frame with dry pine rafters and sheathing. I covered same with Brantford Roofing last May.

"On November 24th, at eight in the morning, we discovered that it was all aflame inside of roof of one part, 18 x 30, with a fine breeze fanning it. But by the use of the telephone and the splendid fire-proof qualities of your roofing, we got the fire out and found spaces where the rafters and lumber were burnt out from in under the roofing and the roofing still doing its duty of resisting fire. Also remember this is out in the country where it took the best part of half an hour for help to arrive."

The Inspector of the Waterloo Mutual Fire Insurance Company, has this to say about Mr. Wingrove's fire:—

"I inspected this risk after the fire. It was particularly evident that the fact that the roof was covered with Brantford Roofing kept the fire confined below the roof. If it had been possible for the fire to break through I do not see how they could have saved the building. As it was the loss was comparatively trifling."

When roofing a building, it pays to put on a fire-resistant roof as well as a beautiful one. Brantford Asphalt Slates (individual size shingles) and Brantford Asphalt Slab Slates (four shingles in one) are fire-resistant, durable, economical and beautiful.

PHELPS POWER LIGHT

A CATECHISM ON PROHIBITION

Q. Does a victory for Prohibition on July 10 prevent the sending of large sums out of the Province in payment for liquor purchased in Montreal?

A. No, a victory for Prohibition would have no effect on Inter-Provincial trade in liquors.

Q. Can a vote be Recorded in favor of Prohibition and at the same time declare for the legalizing of the sale of light wines and beer under Government control?

A. Certainly, a voter can favor Prohibition as it applies to hard liquors and yet vote for the dispensing of wine and beer as was done in Quebec.

Q. Does a vote against Prohibition mean a vote for return to the old system of the licensed bar?

A. No, Premier Foster has distinctly stated that whatever happens "There shall be no return to the open bar," but that if Prohibition is defeated a new system of distribution of liquor through "Government agencies" will be introduced.

Q. Is Prohibition a British-made movement?

A. Decidedly not. Prohibition as we have it in New Brunswick violates the great British principle of Liberty of the Subject and of the time-honored maxim of British law—"Every man's house is his castle." The man or woman who cannot afford to do so, and must live in a house or building, the rooms or compartments of which are leased to different persons, is deprived of those rights and that protection with which British law has, from time immemorial, surrounded the homes of British subjects. The New Brunswick Prohibition Act treats such a person as having no home or dwelling. The same is true of the lodging house keeper.

Q. Does Prohibition strengthen the moral fibre of nations enforcing it?

A. Quite the contrary, Russia and the United States were held up as the great examples of the advance of Prohibition and yet one collapsed utterly in the great world war and the other has failed to take her place in the making of a new world.

Q. Are the men who brought honor to Canada's name on the European battlefield and have returned, actively supporting Prohibition?

A. Their names do not appear on the Prohibition executive.

ORDINATION OF BAPTIST MINISTER

Licentiate David Jones Publicly Ordained to Work of the Gospel

The United Baptist church at Macnaquac was the scene of an interesting event Thursday night when the pastor, Lic. David Jones, was publicly ordained to the work of the gospel ministry. The church was crowded to capacity. Rev. G. C. Warren, of Fredericton, chairman of the Third District, presided. The ordination sermon was delivered by Rev. David Price, of Chipman. He chose as his text Isa. 6:1, and preached an able and appropriate sermon.

The following programme was carried out:

Hymn

Scripture—Rev. A. W. Williams, Keswick.

Prayer—Rev. Z. L. Fash, Fredericton.

Hymn

Sermon—Rev. David Price.

Presentation of Candidate—Rev. T. D. Bell, Pinder.

Welcome to Ministry—Rev. J. B. Daggett, Marysville.

Charge to Church—Rev. Dr. Keirstead, Fredericton.

Hymn

Benediction—Rev. David Jones.

The examination of Mr. Jones was conducted by the permanent ordaining council of the Third District which convened last Tuesday afternoon in the Brunswick Street Baptist church, Rev. G. C. Warren presided at the council and Rev. C. T. Clark acted as clerk. Rev. Z. L. Fash was appointed chief questioner. The candidate gave a satisfactory account of his Christian experience and call to the ministry, and read a carefully prepared statement of his doctrinal beliefs. The council then voted unanimously to advise the Macnaquac church to proceed with the ordination of their pastor.

Mr. Jones settled with the Macnaquac and Lower Kingsclear churches last fall. He has already carved out for himself a large place in the esteem and confidence of his parishioners, and is proving an acceptable preacher, a faithful and popular pastor.

$11,000 REWARD FOR KIDNAPPED CHILD

Norristown, Pa., June 22.—An additional reward of $5,000 was offered today by friends of the parents of Blakely Coughlin, who was stolen from his crib, for information regarding his whereabouts. Rewards for the return of the baby now total $11,000, while $1,500 is offered by County Commissioners for the arrest and conviction of the kidnappers.

The case apparently is as deep a mystery as ever. Although scores of possible clues have been run down, none of them have shed any light on the child's whereabouts, or on the identity of his abductors. Local authorities and post office inspectors also are endeavoring to locate the man who swindled George H. Coughlin, the boy's father, out of $12,000 on a promise to restore the little fellow to his parents, but they say little headway has been made.

Occasionally a man discovers he has a friend who is a friend.

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.'

'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

TWO OF FAVORITES AT WOONSOCKET WIN

Minor Hal's Last Half in 1.03¾ Too Much for Ben Earl in 2.09 Pace

Woonsocket, R. I., June 26.—Two favorites headed summaries at the closing races here yesterday, Minor Hal coming through in the 2.09 pace and Little Frank B. in the 2.21 pace. General Todd alone was the disappointment to the wise regulars. He fell down badly in the going in the 2.15 pace and just pulled in for fourth money.

The feature, the 2.09 pace, furnished one mile of thrilling racing. Only three horses answered the bell. Harry Brusie had the race from the start, but Coakley gave him a ride in the second lap of the first heat. Brusie sent Minor Hal over the last half mile in 1.03¼, winning in 2.16¾. Brusie speeded up in the second mile from the start and, though never in danger, had to go in 2.12¾.

Betty M. and Oma Bingen made hard fights to keep Bill Gentry from getting first money in the 2.15 pace, but Lester Dore had the Boston stepper working at his best. Little Frank B. was never extended by Kingsley in the 2.21 pace.

Madlia, winner of the 2.18 pace Wednesday, was sold today by N. F. Wheeler, of White River Junction, Vt. to Herman Ott, of Philadelphia.

BALTIMORE CLUB IS FINED $1,000

Three Heat Plan Racing Causes Conflict Amongst Owners of Fast Horses

The Exposer Will Race Fern Hal and Roy Volo Only "3-in-5" Plan

EXPLANATIONS BY W. H. GOCHER

How the Money is to be Divided in Three Heat Plan Races July 1

"Three-heat-plan" racing for purses will be tried out for the first time in the Maritime Provinces at the opening of the harness racing season this year. It will be the system in vogue at the meetings opening on Dominion Day at Fredericton and Moncton and it will also be in use at the first meeting of the Maritime & Maine Circuit at Houlton, Me., the following week.

The "three-heat-plan" has many advocates in the United States and it was suggested as the proper antidote for the various objections trainers have voiced ever since the sport commenced against early racing for their stables. Except under unusual circumstances three is the utmost number of heats to be raced under this plan, as the name implies, and in practice this was declared to be an advantage for early season racing as, it was argued, it would do away with the possibility of getting into a long drawn-out six or perhaps a seven heat race at the outset which would take the "zip" out of the best trotter or pacer in the country for the best part of, if not all season.

Explanations by Mr. Gocher.

Some interesting correspondence from W. H. Gocher, secretary of the National Trotting Association, with the Fredericton Park Association has given some concrete illustrations of just how the three-heat plan works out, how the money is divided, what happens about the winnings of horses that are distanced, and other rulings that will be carefully scanned by followers of racing. Section 3 of Rule 5 of the National Trotting Association's regulations says: "A three heat plan race is an event limited to three heats, with the money divided as in the published conditions, less 10 per cent. of the purse which shall be awarded to the horse standing best in the summary, except in the event of three horses each winning a heat. In that event they shall go a fourth heat to determine the winner. Should one horse only win one heat and make a dead heat, he shall be declared the winner. If two horses each win a heat and make a dead heat they shall go a fourth heat to determine the winner."

This rule explains itself pretty well, but Mr. Gocher has sent along instructions as to the division of the moneys. "In three-heat plan races," he writes, "if a horse standing for money is distanced the amount that would have been awarded him in the heat in which he was distanced goes to the winner, less whatever deductions are made under the published conditions." Thus it is shown that every heat is a race in itself—except that heat records are not winrace records unless the horse eventually tops the summary at the end of the race and thus gets the race winner's 10 per cent. bonus, or whatever you wish to call it. In a three heat plan race for $300 purse, therefore, there is $90 raced for in each heat, and it is divided in accordance with the conditions—at the M. & M. Circuit tracks it is 50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent.—and the balance, $30, goes to the winner of the race, there being no deduction made from the amount.

Starts Controversy in Fast Class.

It is a very doubtful question whether the introduction of the three heat plan has drawn any extra entries for the opening meetings of the race season; at any rate, there is no evidence that it has, and there already has been some evidence of the unpopularity of the new system. One of these objections reached a crisis when a readjustment of the programme of the Fredericton Park Association's opening meeting brought The Exposer, 2.06, the champion trotting stallion of all Canada as a result of his 2.10 winrace record on the Chatham track last July, in conflict with Roy Volo, 2.13¼, one of the most consistent performers on the Eastern tracks in recent years, and Fern Hal, 2.05¼, one of the racing marvels of the sport and double winner at Woodstock's "overcoatless meeting" during a balmy week last October.

"The Exposer can beat either one of that pair single handed," declared H. C. Jewett, the owner of the trotter, "but he would not have an equal chance under this three heat plan, because a couple of pacers are bound to help one another in making quick getaways from the wire a foregone conclusion and it doesn't give a trotter a chance. I will race on the three-in-five plan—the good old-fashioned style—to a finish, and take my chances." Naturally the owners of the two pacers, Dr. D. H. McAlister, of Sussex, and Bert Lint, of this city, could do nothing but accept the revised terms, for it is really a matched race and one that will be contested every inch of the distance every time they turn for the word. The understanding therefore is that the free-for-all at the Fredericton opening will be raced on the "three-in-five" plan and the other two events—the 2.17 trot and the 2.15 pace—will be on the new "three heat" plan.

The Exposer, as a matter of fact, has been working faster this spring than ever under the direction of "Mac" Steele, brother of Danny Steele, the Prince Edward Islander who so successfully campaigned Peter Farren, 2.07, last season, and there is already much speculation as to whether he won't be able to surprise the followers of the fast record pacers he meets in his first race of the season.—J.D.B.

St. John Horses Arrive

St. John horses which will start at the opening of the harness racing on July 1st arrived here on Friday evening by the steamer D. J. Purdy, to complete their preparation for the season.

Included in the lot were King Wilkes, 2.09 1-4, a bay gelding by King Red, owned by L. T. Dryden, and Singer, 2.15 1-2, a bay gelding by Anglin Wilkes, owned by E. Burke, which will be starters in the 2.15 class here on Dominion Day with Jennie Penn, 2.14 1-4, owned by Dr. D. H. McAlister, of Sussex, and Jennie Frisco, 2.14 1-2, entered by William Hood, the well known Cape Breton driver.

It is expected that the appearance here of the St. John horses on Dominion Day will attract many St. John people here for the holiday.

PLAYERS LET OUT BY BOSTON SOX

Detroit, June 26.—Manager Ed Barrow last night announced the release of Catcher Joe (Mickey) Devine to the Toronto club of the International League, and of Outfielder Bob Hunter to Indianapolis.

The Red Sox have signed Paul Krichell, a former International and Eastern player, to act as practice catcher and battery coach. He managed Bridgeport in 1917 and played for Barrow when the latter was an International League manager.

Devine asked for his release, stating that he wanted to be where he could play every day. He and Hunter have a string attached, Barrow says.

HARVARD WINS VARSITY RACE

New London, Conn., June 26—Harvard sprung a surprise yesterday when they defeated Yale by six lengths in the four mile Varsity boat race.

Readville trainers were content with comparatively slow miles last week. Trips around 2.14 were all that were asked of the topnotchers of the famous course.

Chauncey Sear's trotter, Charley Rex, 2.05¾, has worked in 2.10 for Tommy Murphy.

87 GAMES LEFT AND RUTH HAS 22 HOMERS

Only Eight More Runs Are Needed to Shatter His Record of 1919

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Chicago, June 26.—"Babe" Ruth, the New York slugger, today has eighty-seven games in which to wallop out eight home runs to shatter the record of twenty-nine established by himself last season when a member of the Boston Americans.

In his remarkaable drive toward a new world's record, Ruth crashed out his 20th homer Wednesday, driving a ball off Pitcher Shocker, in St. Louis, into the right field bleachers, and yesterday added two more in the game with Boston, giving him a total of twenty-two. He is sixth in batting with an average of .355, according to averages, including games of Wednesday, released today.

Rice, of Washington, is running away with honors in base stealing. He has stolen twenty-five, while Bobby Roth, his team mate, is next in line with nineteen. Sisler is third with fifteen.

St. Louis, which has been clamoring for baseball distinction for years, is finding solace in the batting performances of Sisler and Hornsby. Hornsby is in no immediate danger of being ousted from the batting leadership of the National League.

Save Your Potato Crop

BY USING WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID WITH BORDEAUX MIXTURE

WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID has come to be recognized as the most effective insecticide for potatoes. It kills the bugs at all times and under all kinds of conditions and being very adhesive it does not wash off, as many of the other insecticides such as Paris Green, it clings to the foliage and will kill the bugs not only the day it is applied but for many days after.

In Aroostook County, which is one of the largest, if not the largest potato producing section in North America, WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID is used exclusively by the best and largest potato raisers in that famous section. During years past many imitations of this famous poison have been placed on the market, but so far all have failed to come anywhere near the standard of WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID.

BORDEAUX MIXTURE

Copper Sulphate (Blue Vitriol) .....5 Lbs.
Fresh Stone Lime .....5 Lbs.
Water .....50 Gals.
WATSON'S SOLUBLE ARSENOID .....1 Lb.

Dissolve the Blue Vitriol by pouring on hot water so that it is just covered. Use an earthern or wooden vessel. Add the lime and enough water to make 50 gallons. It is then ready for immediate use. Watson's Soluble Arsenoid must not be used alone.

A New Character

When, four years ago, KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE TEA first appeared, something more than a new tea had been produced—a new character in tea had been created. Only after most searching experiments in flavor-blending were we at last able to develop that peculiarly mellow richness of flavor so delightful to the taste, which has won for KING-COLE ORANGE PEKOE the high place it holds. The total annual sale of KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE has doubled twice in the last two years.

We are confident that you will say that it is different to any tea you ever tasted.

Herbert B. Itchings Files Petition in Bankruptcy—Liabilities $275,930

Bangor, Me., June 25.—Petitions in bankruptcy have been filed in the United States district court in Bangor as follows:

Herbert B. Hitchings of Caribou, listed as a farmer. Secured claims, none. The unsecured claims are listed at $275,930.09.

The schedule shows that many accounts were contracted by Hitchings in association with George W. Moore, of Bowden, Oregon, and Fred T. Moore, of Port Huron, Mich. The list of creditors makes the longest document of its kind filed in the district court in years, covering many long typewritten sheets and containing the names of nearly 600 creditors, most of whom reside in Capac, Mich. The largest creditor is listed at $6,447, and there are others listed at several thousand dollars.

The items, ranging from a few cents each to thousands of dollars are listed as "bank deposits," and are supposed to represent sums due to depositors in an institution conducted at one time by Hitchings, George W. Moore, and Fred T. Moore, in Capac, Mich., from which place Hitchings recently moved to Caribou.

The bankrupt petitioner has no real estate, no cash on hand, no stock in trade, no stocks, bonds, notes or debts due on open account, as shown in the schedule filed.

The case will be heard by Edwin L. Vail, of Caribou, referee in bankruptcy for Aroostook county.

IN DAYS OF TERROR

Maurice dismounted, and gave his horse to the gardener, desiring him to remain where he was. Genevieve saw with anxiety that the gardener did not lead the horse to the stables. Maurice on this day looked superlatively handsome. A splendid black coat, a white waistcoat, breeches of chamois leather, designed for limbs after the model of Apollo, a white cambric stock, and his waving hair, displaying a fresh, a beaming face, formed altogether a type of manly beauty. He entered. As we have already said, his presence dilated the heart of Genevieve, who received him joyfully. "Ah!" said she, holding out her hand, "you are come to dine with us, are you not?"

"On the contrary, citoyenne," said Maurice, coldly, "I came to ask your permission to absent myself."

"To absent yourself?"

"Yes, the sectional affairs claim my attention. I feared you might wait, and would accuse me of being wanting in politeness, therefore came to make my excuses in person."

Genevieve again felt her heart sink within her.

"Ah! mon Dieu," cried she, "and Dixmer, who does not dine at home, counted upon finding you here on his return, and desired me to detain you."

"Ah! then, madame, I comprehend your insistance, it is a command of your husband's; and I not to guess all this. I shall never cure myself of conceit."

"Maurice!"

"Maurice," said Genevieve, tenderly, "understand my situation, consider my anguish, and do not enact the tyrant over me any longer."

And the young woman regarded him mournfully.

Maurice remained silent.

"What do you require, then?" continued she.

"I require your love, Genevieve, since I now feel I cannot live without that love."

"Maurice! have pity on me."

"Then, madame, you leave me to die."

"To die?"

"Yes, to die; or to forget."

"You could, then, forget?" said Genevieve, the tears rushing from her heart to her eyes.

"Ah! no, no," said Mourice, falling on his knees before her; "no Genevieve, I may die, perhaps, but forget you, never, never."

"And yet," replied Genevieve, with firmness, "that would be the best, Maurice, for this love is criminal."

"Have you said this to Monsieur Morand?" said Maurice, suddenly resuming his frigility of manner.

"Monsieur Morand is not a madman like yourself, and has never yet compelled me to indicate to him how he should conduct himself in the house of a friend."

"We wager," said Maurice, smiling ironically, 'that if Dixmer dines out Morand is not absent. Ah! I see, this is necessary to deter me, for while Morand is there, Genevieve, for ever at your side, not quitting you even for a single moment," continued he, contemptuously, "I should not love you, or rather I should not declare that I loved you."

"And I," cried Genevieve, driven to extremity by this eternal suspicion, and seizing the young man's arm with a species of frenzy, "I swear solemnly, Maurice, and let it be once for all, that whether you ever return here again or not, Morand has never breathed a word of love, that he neither loves me or ever will love me. I swear this on my honor—I swear this by the soul of my mother."

"Alas! alas!" said Maurice, "I wish I could believe you."

"Oh, believe me, poor fool," said she, with a smile (which, although anything but jealous, might have been a charming confession), "believe me. Besides, if you wish to know more, Morand loves a woman in whose presence all others sink into insignificance, as the flowers of the field fade before the stars of heaven."

"And who is this woman, able to eclipse all other women?" demanded Maurice, "when among the number we find Genevieve."

"Do we not always," said Genevieve, smiling, "consider the one we love as the chef d'oeuvre of the creation?"

"Then," said Maurice, "if you do not love me, Genevieve—" The young woman waited with anxiety the end of the sentence. "If you do not love me," continued Maurice, "will you swear never to love another?"

"Ah! that Maurice, I will swear with all my heart," cried the young woman, delighted that he had thus compromised with her conscience.

"And now," said he, "I will be kind, indulgent, and confiding. I will even be generous. I wish to see you smile, and myself to be happy."

"And you will ask me nothing more?"

"I will endeavor."

"And now," said Genevieve, "I think it will be useless to hold the horse any longer. The Section will wait."

"Oh, Genevieve! the whole world might wait, if I could only stay with you!"

Steps were heard in the court-yard.

"They come to tell us that dinner is ready," said Genevieve. They silently pressed each other's hands.

It was Morand who came to tell them they only awaited their presence at table. He, also, was in full dress for the Sunday's dinner.

CHAPTER XIX.

The Request.

In the meantime Morand did not a little excite the curiosity of Maurice. The most refined of fops could not discover a fault in the tie of his cravat, the folds of his boots, or the texture of his linen; but it must be allowed his hair and spectacles were always the same. It then appeared to Maurice, so much was he reassured by the oath of Genevieve, that he now, for the first time, viewed these locks and spectacles in a proper light.

"The devil," said Maurice to himself; "the devil take me if I am now ever again jealous of this worthy citizen Morand. Put on every day, if you choose, your full dress coat, or even make yourself one of cloth of gold, since from this time I promise to see nothing but your wig and spectacles, and above all, never again to accuse you of loving Genevieve."

We can easily understand the shake of the hand bestowed upon the Citizen Morand at the conclusion of this soliloquy was more frank and cordial than usual. Contrary to custom, the party was small, covers being placed for only three on a narow table. Genevieve was seated nearly opposite Maurice, between himself and the light, which reflected on her luxuriant black curls, tinged them with the blue hue of the raven's wing, enhancing the brilliancy of her eyes and complexion. Beyond his pigeoncolored suit, Morand appeared to have dismissed all recollection of the day from his mind—that brilliant mind, which Maurice had sometimes heard burst fresh from the lips of this singular man, which would no doubt have been accompanied by the flashes from his eyes, had they not been totally obscured by the green spectacles. He uttered a thousand witticisms, but never himself smiled; indeed, what added piquancy to his witticisms, and a strange charm to his sallies, was his own impenetrable gravity. This merchant, who had made numerous voyages, and visited various countries, trading in every sort of skin, from the skin of the panther to that of the rabbit; this chemist, with arms dyed with his own chemical preparations, was as conversant with Egypt as Herodotus, Africa as Lavaillant, and the opera and the boudoir as any fop.

"But the devil take me, Monsieur Morand," said Maurice, "you are not only a clever man, but a scholar also."

DEMOCRATS DRAW LINES FOR BATTLE

San Francisco, June 25.—First guns of the Democratic National Convention were to be fired today when the National Committee met to draw up the temporary rolls of delegates. Three contests had been called to the committee's attention.

Overnight developments showed two matters that have been in a nebulous state since the first Democratic leaders arrived here to be approaching more definite shape. These were the mysterious and persistent boom for nomination of William G. McAdoo, even against his flat declaration that he was not a candidate, and the conflict as to a prohibition enforcement plank in the platform.

NEWFOUNDLAND BYE ELECTION

HOUSING BOARD TENDERS ALL ABOVE MAXIMUMS SET

Applicants Must Put Up Cash for Difference as Well as Usual Deposit

$1,300 CASH IS NEEDED FOR SEVEN ROOM HOUSE

Nothing Done as Yet Regarding Any Kind of Construction Other Than Wood

Tenders which were opened last night by the Housing Commission for the construction of houses under approved plans secured from the Moncton Board were all higher than the maximum set for assistance under the Housing Act.

The maximums are $3,500 for a six room house and $4,000 for a seven room house and William T. Chestnut, chairman of the Commission, has declined to make public at the present time the actual amount of the tenders submitted by the two local contractors, Ald. Judson Barker and John C. Smith.

It is understood, however, that the tenders are about the same as those recently received at Moncton, where seven room houses are being built at $4,700, which, with an average of about $500 for a lot would bring the total up to about $5,200. The Commission have decided to allow applicants desiring to proceed with the construction of houses under the tenders to do so upon their making up the difference between the maximum loan allowed and the contract price by a cash payment, as has been done at Moncton. This means an applicant must have about $1,300 cash in order to proceed.

So far only three applicants have shown their intention to proceed under the plans thus far outlined by the Commission and high costs make it evident that there will not be very much building at present. The Commission, however, have not as yet called for tenders other than of wood and have evidently not considered approval of plans of ready-made houses, as in Ontario.

PROHIBITION CASE - JUDGMENT GIVEN

Mr. Justice Crocket Quashed Conviction Because Information Unsworn

In chambers yesterday Mr. Justice Crocket gave a decision in the case of ex parte Gorayeb, an appeal from a prohibition case in Restigouche county, finding for the defendant and giving an order that the conviction be quashed.

The case is one in which the defendant was arrested on a warrant issued by a justice of the peace in which the information had not been sworn to as required by the Summary Convictions Act. Judge Crocket granted a certiorari and an order nisi to quash the conviction.

P. J. Hughes, appearing for the informant to showing, had contended that under section 120 of the Prohibition Act a warrant for the arrest could be issued without the oath being taken before the magistrate as to the truth of the information. Alison McKay, for the defendant, contra.

In giving judgment Mr. Justice Crocket stated that under the provisions of the Summary Convictions Act section 120 did not give the right to issue a warrant in the first instance without the oath required, and he ordered that the conviction be quashed.

UNION STATION QUESTION MAY BE SETTLED SOON

General Superintendent Woodman of C. P. R. Coming to Look Over the Situation

NEW C. P. R. STATION MAY BE THE OUTCOME

University Avenue Probable Site of Union Station If There Is to Be One

General Superintendent J. M. Woodman of the C. P. R. is expected in Fredericton soon to look over the situation here respecting station accommodations.

While no important construction work is being carried in the East by the C. P. R. at the present time, with the exception of what is urgent, it is understood that the C. P. R. are about ready to reach a definite decision as to their future arrangements for Fredericton, having due regard for the increasing importance of this city as a railway centre.

As between entering into a Union Station arrangement and erecting a new C. P. R. station here Mr. Woodman naturally will make no recommendations until he has carefully inspected the whole layout, been advised of the C. N. R. plans and looked over possible sites personally. Stranger things have happened than for the C. P. R. to erect a new station of their own here and this they will proceed to do, no doubt, unless suggestions in connection with a union station construction and operation prove satisfactory.

Meanwhile all likelihood of Scully's Grove or any other Regent street property being the site of a union station has disappeared and it is believed the probable location is on University avenue and is said to include the property of Mrs. E. Francis, south of the avenue.

Horse-timers can be purchased at Mavor Brothers for $15.00.

Two Thousand Bolshevik Killed in Fierce Fighting Along the Pripet River

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Warsaw, June 28.—Fierce fighting is proceeding along the entire Polish front and increasing in intensity, according to the Polish official communication issued yesterday. The communication asserts that the Bolsheviki, profiting by numerical superiority and great masses of cavalry, are seeking decisive results at all costs. The heavy fighting for several days in the region of Lake Messuszol ended with the defeat of the Bolshevik, who were dislodged from their positions.

According to the communication the enemy's resistance has been broken all along the line between Pripet and the Ryzeraye-Kelenkowicz railroad, where the Bolshevik lost two thousand men killed.

The Poles captured quantities of important war materials. The Bolshevik General Budenny's army has been prevented from developing its success in occupying Jemilczyn.

The wounded include Hiram Mullins, Mayor of Cadwell, and C. C. Cadwell, a farmer, neither of whom are expected to live, and John Quilling and John Bedingfield.

Residents of the town said the controversy started some years ago over the location of the railroad station, Bedingfield and Mullin heading one faction and Cadwell and Quilling the other.

More recent issues between the two parties served to widen the breach, it was said, and resulted finally in the clash last night, in which every participant is said to have suffered injury.

IMPORTANCE OF GOVERNMENT PARTY CAUCUS

Sir Robert Borden Expected to Take Party Into His Confidence This Week

LEADERSHIP QUESTION MUST BE SETTLED

If Sir Robert Cannot Remain at Head, the Party Must Rally Under New Leader

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 28.—The Gazette this morning says:

"The general expectation is that Sir Robert Borden will this week make known his intentions whether his health and inclination will permit longer service in what must have become an almost intolerable position, and, if not, invite his supporters to choose a successor."

The Gazette continues: "If Sir Robert has the inclination, the will and the strength to again assume the task of leadership, if he will promulgate principles of policy and with his colleagues and supporters preach these the country over, there will come new vigor in the party. And if this happy consummation cannot be reached, then the party should rally under a new leader."

The Indemnity Increase.

Commenting on the increased sessional indemnity, the Gazette says editorially that making the increases dependent on the length of the session puts a premium on delay and dilatoriness in the despatch of public business, because there will always be the inducement to spin out the session until the full indemnity can be obtained.

The Gazette concludes that "it will be an advantage and may at the same time mean the saving of much money to fix the indemnity irrespective of the length of the session."

Strong for Reconstruction.

Montreal, June 28.—A clear and complete review of what the Unionist party has done and what it intends to do was set forth by Dr. M. R. Blake, M.P. for Winnipeg North, who addressed the Progressive Club at its weekly luncheon here on Saturday. He also gave it as his opinion that there would be no federal elections before 1922, when the 1920 census would permit a better redistribution of seats and increase considerably the representation from Manitoba.

He spoke very strongly of reconstruction and claimed that it was being given a fair solution in the hands of the Unionist government.

He added that in Manitoba only 15 per cent. of the wheat land was under cultivation and that the remaining 85 per cent. of very fertile land was taken up. Winnipeg, now the fourth manufacturing city of Canada, would be the world's greatest grain exchange.

MUCH DISORDER IN ITALIAN HOUSE

Government Criticized Over the Ancona Incident and Policy Regarding Albania

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Rome, June 28.—The Chamber of Deputes was twce suspended Saturday during the discussion of the Ancona situation and the government's policy with regard to Albania.

Signor Bonomi, Minister of War, assured the House that a mutiny of the Bersaglieri at Ancona had terminated and that the officers had resumed command of the troops.

He added, however, that certain anarchist elements had taken advantage of the situation to perform acts of violence. When the socialists insisted that Signor Bonomi tell the Chamber where the troops are being sent from Ancona, there was great tumult in the chamber and the President suspended the sitting.

When the sitting was resumed Premier Giolitti was challenged on the subject of Avlona. To the challenge he replied that the Italian troops in the Albanian town were attacked by the enemy and had to defend themselves. This provoked another uproar and again the sitting was suspended.

Barracks Attacked With Hand Grenades by the Anarchists

THE RAILWAYS UNDER FIRE

A Deep Laid Scheme to Overturn the Social Order in Italy.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Rome, June 28.—Disturbances in and around Ancona are reported in despatches from that city today.

Anarchists are concentrating around the labor bureau in Ancona and despatches indicate they have a machine gun. Three have been killed in encounters with policemen.

An attack was made upon carabineers' barracks and a number of hand grenades were thrown, but the anarchists were unable to enter. Reinforcements rushed to the scene were met with shots from neighboring houses, and it is said women participated in the fighting.

UNEMPLOYMENT ALLEGED REASON FOR THE RIOTS

Two trains were attacked near Borgaccio. On one train eight passengers were wounded and five of them subsequently died. The other train was carrying police, of whom four were wounded and one killed. A destroyer has arrived at Ancona with reinforcements for the troops there.

The impression prevails here that these disorders are part of a deep scheme to overturn the social order throughout the entire country. Unemployment is the alleged reason for the strikes now in progress and for rioting.

Roads Blocked With Trees.

At Cadoro, Venetia, red flags have been hoisted above the municipal buildings. Telegraph lines have been cut and roads blocked with trees at Lozzo, Callazo and Domegge.

Discontent which has long been held under restraint at Piombina has burst out violently, and soldiers and police are protecting shops in that city. They have been atacked with revolvers and hand grenades, and have replied with machine gun fire. Many on each side have been killed and pounded.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION ASSEMBLED

The Preliminary Work of the Convention and the Task of Writing the Platform

BIG FIGHT EXPECTED OVER PROHIBITION

The Speech of the Temporary Chairman to Strike Keynote of the Convention Today

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

San Francisco, Cal., June 28.—Delegates and leaders were prepared for a fight over both platform and candidates as the Democratic National Convention assembled today for its opening session.

The actual convention work itself was only preliminary and perfunctory, but the arrival of convention day served to bring further into the open the questions which had been dividing delegates and perplexing the elder politicians in their pre-convention conferences.

The keynote speech of Homer S. Cummings as temporary chairman, was the principal feature of the day's programme. Later in the day the newly selected convention committee were to furnish the first real developments as they began their task of writing the platform, hearing appeals from contests over delegate seats, and making up the convention rules and a slate of permanent convention officers.

Impending Prohibition Fight.

The livest subject in minds of the delegates manifestly was the impending prohibition fight, but talk of candidates was gaining more and more attention as the rival managers got down to cases with the big body of uninstructed and unpledged delegates.

An innovation planned for this convention was the silencing of the great gathering by a bugle call instead of the usual pounding with the gavel. As the bugler's notes came to an end and the buzz of conversation on the floor ceased, a detachment of marines standing in front of the platform were to raise the national colors and present arms while the band, high up behind the chairman, played the Star Spangled Banner.

The formal call to order by Vice Chairman J. Bruce Kremer was to follow.

The arrangement was made by Secretary of Navy Daniels, at the suggestion of First Sergeant H. Hornbostel, who is chief of the Secretary's personal escort during his visit to San Francisco.

Today's Programme.

Following was today's programme for the convention opening:

Bugle call by a detachment of marines at noon.

Singing of the Star Spangled Banner.

Call to order by Vice Chairman Kremer, Montana.

Invocation by Monsignor Ryan, Vicar General of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco.

Reading of the call for the convention by Secretary E. G. Hoffmann.

Address by Vice Chairman Kremer, announcing temporary organization and presenting National Chairman Homer S. Cummings as temporary presiding officer.

Keynote speech by Chairman Cummings.

Announcement of committees.

Adjournment.

To Prevent Profiteering.

San Francisco, Cal., June 28.—State Commissions, similar to the United States Federal Trade Commission, to prevent profiteering are a feature of a plank on profiteering proposed by Wm. J. Bryan.

It reads in part:

The Democratic party pledges the nation to rid it of the profiteer and to close the door against the return. It will endeavor to eliminate all unnecessary middlemen by the encouragement of organizations among producers that will bring those who sell and those who use nearer together.

Another plank dealing with the treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations is to be made public tomorrow by Mr. Bryan.

It was decided to adopt the American Legion "four way" plan of rewarding veterans of the late war, by extending paid up insurance, rural or urban home aid, vocational education or flat cash compensation.

Favors Increased Revenues For United States' Railroads

The Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities Says That Without Adequate Income Railways Cannot Provide Facilities to Ensure Safety of Public

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Boston, June 28—The Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities, in a letter to the Interstate Commerce Commission, made public last night, favors increased revenue for the railroads and expresses the opinion that "unless adequate income is allowed the railroads the public will not only be deprived of the proper facilities, but will actually run serious risks of life and limb while travelling."

The letter is in reply to the commission's request for the views of the Board upon the petition now before it of railroads for increases in freight rates of approximately twenty five per cent.

SUGAR SMUGGLING ACROSS THE BORDER

Customs House Officer at Milltown Bridge Run Down and Injured by Truck

St. Stephen, N. B., June 27.—The traffic in sugar continues, but in diminishing volume due to increased vigilance on the part of Government officials. Following instructions from Ottawa, orders have been issued that no sugar is to be transporter in town between six p. m. and six a. m. under any pretext, and that all sugar in transit during these hours shall be confiscated, together with the carrying vehicles, but there are still some venturesome operators willing to take a chance. There is still a large stock of sugar stored in barns about town which the profiteers are feverishly anxious to get transferred to the United States side of the river before the anticipated declined in the price of the stuff.

A high handed piece of work in the sugar traffic occurred at the Milltown bridge early Saturday morning of which more is quite likely to be heard. At two o'clock, and after the street lights were shut off, an auto truck was seen crossing the Calais side, and Patrick Caughlin, a crippled customs officer, and the only one then on duty, stepped into the street, and waved for the driver to stop. The order was disregarded and the trucks of the car, discernable next morning, showed that the car had been so swerved as to catch the officer. Mr. Caughlin was dragged some distance before the car was stopped and, subsequently medical examination showed that the aged officer had sustained numerous cuts and bruises. The car might have kept right on and the old gentleman allowed to suffer any fate, had not his son, Harry Caughlin, who was a voluntary guardian of the safety of his father, mounted to the rear of the car and engaged the driver in a fight that terminated in the driver, a St. Stephen man, since being confined to his bed with a severe scalp wound said to have been inflicted with a monkey wrench.

Vote FOR Prohibition

Saturday, July 10th

ELECTION INFORMATION

The Act in Brief

The present Prohibition Act legislates against the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, and only allows it for manufacturing, Sacramental and medicinal purposes.

The Act also provides for enforcement of the law and penalties for violation.

This Act was a war-time measure and the Government now wish to know from the electors whether they want Prohibition continued or not.

We Know Its Faults

The Act is weak in that it allows too much latitude in the case of doctors, druggists and vendors who have practically the dispensing of liquors within their own hands.

Further Legislation Depends on You

Application has already been made by the Temperance people to have the Act amended in regard to recognized weaknesses and the Government is sympathetic—BUT NOTE THIS—the Government put off the granting of these improvements to make the Act more effective, until the result of this election PROVES that the people want Prohibition, and by the majority of the vote the Government will know just how badly the electors do want it.

Your Vote

at this Election may have very important influence on the future action of the Government.

Are You Aware of This?

In 1919 an Act Passed the House, providing that the Government shall take over the entire liquor business within the Province, for the three purposes contained in the Act, and also giving them more stringent control over the sale of extracts, essences and tinctures—But Hark You, the Government has refused to take action on this amendment, until the voice of the people has been heard at the coming election.

Stop Importation Our Next Move

Authority to Prevent the Importation of Liquor into the Province does not rest with the Provincial, but with our Dominion Government, which has already stated that a vote may be taken on the question in New Brunswick, on the recommendation of the Legislature. If the result at the coming election satisfies them that the people actually want Prohibition—we are sure to get it.

WHAT YOUR BALLOT CAN DO JULY 10th

FIRST—Provide the way for necessary Amendments to the Act that will make it really effective.

SECOND—Show the Government that the people demand Prohibition, and want the laws enforced.

THIRD—Hasten the election that can shut out the importation of liquor into the Province.

REMEMBER You are Voting for Prohibition as Against a Return to the Bars

LIBERALS OPPOSE NAVAL ESTIMATES

Would Turn Back to Britain the Gift of Warships Intended for Use Here

Ottawa, Ont., June 27.—An introduction by the Minister of Marine of supplementary estimates of $1,700,000 for naval expenditure during the coming year precipitated a spirited debate which lasted four hours in the House of Commons last night without a vote being reached. William Duff (Lunenburg) was the principal opponent. There were three good reasons, he said, why the estimate should not pass. First, Canada could not afford to spend money on a navy; secondly, what they proposed to do would be insufficient for defensive purposes; and, thirdly, public opinion was solidly against the idea. He suggested that England's gift of war craft be declined on the ground that Canada could not afford an ambitious navy policy. He proposed that naval dockyards and establishments at Halifax and Esquimalt be turned over to Great Britain.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, J. J. Dennis and Ernest Lapointe opposed the appropriation, their objections coinciding with those of the leader of the Opposition, who moved that the entire new vote be rejected, the House only adopting the original naval estimates of $300,000, which was being asked for along with this one. Hon. T. A. Crerar spoke briefly in support of Mr. Mackenzie King's amendment.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne said he hoped that Canada would adopt a navy policy more consistent with her dignity after the Imperial Conference of 1921. Meanwhile Canada was committed by the Laurier Naval Bill of 1910 to the defence of her own shore and the interim policy of the Government, based on the acceptance of a gift of war craft from Great Britain, required the appropriation of the sum now submitted to the House.

J. E. Armstrong (Lambton), supported the Government.

The debate continued vigorously until midnight, when Fernand Rinfret was about to speak in support of the Opposition amendment, when Hon. W. S. Fielding remarked it was Sunday morning, and the debate was adjourned.

THE PROLONGATION OF NAVAL DEBATE

Will Likely Prevent Adjournment of Parliament Until Wednesday

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

Ottawa, June 28.—Until Saturday night's naval debate had developed to such an extent that the estimates had not passed when midnight arrived, it was the expectation that adjournment would take place probably on Tuesday, and not later than Wednesday. In fact an agreement to that extent seems to have been come to between the leaders. But the prolongation of the naval debate may mean that arrangements will again have to be revised, although an effort will be made to get away before Dominion Day if possible.

There is not much more business to be disposed of, the principal items now remaining being the naval estimates, the wheat board and the correspondence in connection with the resignation of Commissioner Murdock and Chairman Rooson from the Board of Commerce.

One matter disposed of it that of restrictions on exports. An amicable settlement has apparently been arrived at between the paper manufacturers and the publishers, so that nothing further will be done with the proposed legislation at present. There is a feeling among some members of the cabinet that this should have been gone on with in any event so that the legislation should have been available in case the paper men might experience a change of heart again after parliament prorogues.

Although the opposition noted with satisfaction that the Minister of Naval Affairs had reduced his estimates a half million dollars, they were still unsatisfied and demanded a further cut of one million seven hundred thousand, bringing the amount back to the three hundred thousand contained in the main estimates when introduced in the House in March.

The impression seems to be growing that Sir Robert Borden will announce his retirement very shortly. There is to be a big caucus held immediately on the close of the session, at which he has announced he will have something very important to disclose, and the general belief is that it will be his resignation. Although Sir Robert looks and apparently feels better, the verdict of his medical advisers that he must abandon political life or collapse has not been revised, and during the past weeks he has had several things to worry him which would not tend to improve his condition. His change on the indemnity question is also taken to indicate that he made it in view of an early retirement. However, members of the Cabinet declare they have no more definite idea regarding the Premier's intentions than anyone else.

The impression is growing that his successor for the remainder of the term of parliament will be Sir George Foster. Sir Thomas White is assumed to be in earnest in his repeated declarations that he is not a candidate for the succession.

TRACTOR DEMONSTRATION

A very successful demonstration of the Chase 12-25 Tractor was held at the Dominion Experimental Farm on Wednesday afternoon, and was witnessed by about three hundred farmers from different sections of the province.

This Chase Tractor handled a Three-furrow Gang Plough through very stony ground and made an exceptionally wonderful showing. It also gave a demonstration of its wonderful flexibility by going over some of the roughest, rockiest land on the farm.

The Chase Tractor is one of the most simple and sturdy machines on the market today. It has fewer parts than other tractors, and is a tractor that can be handled very easily by any farmer, either in the field or for belt power, and because of its simple construction and accessibility of its parts it can be properly attended to with the least trouble and loss of time.

It is a very low-riding tractor that gets under trees in orchard work, and has sure footing on side hills and it is practically impossible to upset it. It has no differential gears—both rear drive wheels get equal power, and as a result avoids the waste of power. The Chase will turn in a twelve-foot circle by throwing either wheel out of gear. It is equipped with a Buda L Head Tight Motor and will burn kerosene equally as well as gasoline.

The Chase 12-25 Tractor and the Beeman Hand Tractor are being distributed for this province by the Eastern Motors, Ltd., and the Fredericton Motor Sales, Ltd. These enterprising firms have always made it a point to get the very best agencies on the market, and with the addition of this line to their already large line of automobiles, it places them in the front rank of distribution for automotive equipment in the Maritime Provinces.

INCREASE POWER AT AROOSTOOK FALLS

Electric Energy at This Famous Plant Increased by Many New Additions

Aroostook Jct., N. B., June 26.—The question of increasing electric power in New Brunswick is one of the most absorbing topics in the province, and the matter of harnessing the Falls at Grand Falls is receiving the special attention of the Provincial Government. It will therefore be of interest to note the great increase of power at Aroostook Falls, situated about three miles above Aroostook Junction on the Presque Isle branch of the C.P.R., which is owned by the Maine & New Brunswick Power Co.

This important extension of the power plant consists of the installation of one more complete unit, consisting of headworks, and a concrete lined tunnel, water wheel generator, and housing over same, increasing the capacity of electric plant approximately 2,400 horse power.

The work was commenced in July, 1919, and is now virtually completed. During the summer of 1919 a crew of 35 men were employed who worked in day and night shifts, the principal work being the construction of a concrete lined tunnel from the canal to the turbine. This tunnel, which was 10' finished diameter and 120' in length, was driven through solid rock and was rather unusual in design, in that it was driven at an angle of 30 degrees from the horizontal, having two vertical bends and one horizontal bend, finally connecting to its specially designed headworks, which in turn connects with the main power canal. No delays to operating plant occurred owing to blasting operations; the foundations were put down at 20 feet below the floor level and were blasted out of solid rock. A change from previous installations was made in connection with the penstocks which carry the water.

The principal hindrance to carrying on operations was on account of the unprecedented weather conditions during last winter, there being 6 feet of snow and a temperature varying from 20 to 47 below zero. During operations the crew of 35 men were housed and fed at the falls.

At the time the generator was unloaded from its railway truck it took two days' work to clear the snow and unload.

The engineer in charge of the installation was Mr. R. Allingham, of the Foundation Co. Ltd., Bank of Ottawa building, Montreal. Mr. Allingham is a Woodstock boy and was educated at McGill College, Montreal.

LIGHT WINES AND BEERS

To Vote for These on July 10 Would Help to Defeat Prohibition—H. A. Powell's Unique Experience.

H. A. Powell, K. C., who has returned recently from an eight thousand mile trip in the United States and part of Ontario, made the interesting statement that during all that time he had never seen an intoxicated person, and while in association with his brother members of the Waterways Commission he had been entertained extensively he never in a single instance had the lightest indication of liquor come under his notice. Instead, Mr. Powell came in contact with the deep rooted impression that prohibition is the greatest uplifting movement of the century.

By gradual process Mr. Powell expects to see similar Canadian conditions, and, in commenting upon local criticisms, the eminent lawyer referred to the fact that laws against thieving and murder had been on the statutes in England for over a thousand years, and, while crime still exised, its extent would be unthinkable without the law. Mr. Powell believes the prohibitory law is a parallel instance, and that even if deserving of criticism such facts should not discredit the law.

Voters should remember that a vote for light wines and beers will help to kill prohibition; also that victory July 10 means that we will ultimately have real prohibition similar to that now enjoyed in the United States.—Advt.

TEARING UP THE TREATY.

The consummation of the reparations due the Allies under the Peace Treaty is dependent upon the solvency of the German Reich. It had been hoped that a great step forward would have been taken in the "economic collaboration" to which it was hoped to lend inauguration by the conference at Spa; but this gathering has been delayed, it appears, for another two weeks. The clear intention of the French, Italian and British premiers has been to give fixity to the amount of reparation for which Germany must be held liable.

The impression is undeniable, remarks an exchange, that at the time Peace was being framed at Paris, the French were led away with the belief, or the hope, that their own indemnification from the defeated enemy would be so hugely tremendous that it would recoup France and permit it to continue under its helpful state of non-imposed war taxes. Every Ally had heavy demands to make upon the enemy's resources. Perhaps on this account, but certainly not solely, the Peace Treaty very clearly stipulated for the erection of a Reparations Commission, the duty of which would be, of course, first to determine to what extent Germany could pay, and then to assess the amounts accruing to the Allied nations.

Until very recently the president of this commission was former President Poincare of France; but he resigned when it was ascertained that Premiers Millerand and Lloyd-George had, subject to their economic advisers, arrived at least at a modus operandi for giving fixity to the amount due in reparations from the enemy. This is in conformity with the treaty stipulations, and is endeavoring to bring about the mutual "economic collaboration" through the agency of the treaty, the terms of which must be carried out by Germany. The guarantee of their being so must rest upon the German Reich. Therefore, its national solvency is the first consideration in the final fulfilment of its treaty economic obligations.

It now appears, however, that means are being taken to subvert the exactions of the treaty to economic and financial transactions of a national character but not emanating directly and purely from the Reich. The view always has been held by those who must be judged to be in a position to state a sound opinion, that Germany would do everything in its power to escape any or every of the treaty terms. It has shown this disposition in respect to every item that has so far been submitted. But it was never foreseen by the nations generally anyhow, that some of the Allied countries would individually aid Germany in escaping her treaty obligations, and especially in escaping her major reparation of repairing the economic disaster she has laid upon France and Belgium, to specify only two of her victims.

In this connection it is well to quote that very well informed and unusually astute political writer, Pertinax, in the Echo de Paris. The main defect of the Treaty of Versailles, he says, is that it fails to ensure Allied solidarity in the military and economic field in regard to Germany. If things are allowed to take their course, the Reich will soon be confronted with two well-defined groups of Powers: those bent on enforcing respect of the clauses of June 28, and the others equally determined to establish the former commercial relations with Germany. "The following information," says Pertinax, "will reveal the "whole peril of the situation. However embarrassed it may be for the "present, the Berlin ministry is striving at this moment to conclude economic agreements with the United "States and various neutral countries "without taking any account whatsoever of the Peace Treaty. In "November, 1919, it secured in America a first credit of twenty-five million dollars to be repaid in three "six, nine months; it has now succeeded in reimbursing up to six "million dollars, which, it is believed, "will encourage the money-lenders, "the great exporters, to renew their "advances. Almost simultaneously "the German government has secured "other credits in neutral countries, "where, in some cases, the United "States acted as intermediary."

THE IRISH SITUATION.

The disturbances in Londonderry, after continuing for a week, appear to have been checked by use of military force. It is possible that age-old hatreds had as much or more to do with the origin of the business as did present conditions, says an exchange. The little city has been the scene of sharp election contests during recent years, in which the Unionist cause suffered. This created soreness, and a state of affairs that made an outbreak a natural result of the excited political situation. Most of the shooting appears to have been between the rival factions, at least in the earlier stages. It is possible that, like many a preceding disturbance of similar origin, it will in a short time become a memory. Bad as it was, it was not the most serious of the incidents that characterize the situation in Ireland. The late parliamentary election, and later municipal contests, indicate that, throughout the greater part of the country, the people are in revolt against the Government in London. The majority of the Irish members of Parliament do not attend at Westminster, but have constituted themselves into the Daile Eiran and pose as an Irish legislature, which sanctions the issue of loans, supports "President" de Valera of the Irish republic, and despatches missions to foreign countries. The established courts cannot effectively punish crime. Sinn Fein tribunals arrest, try and sentence offenders, sometimes to banishment, sometimes, there is reason to think, to death—and that the sentences are often executed there is terrible evidence. Meantime Irish, and some English prisons, contain numbers of prominent Irish public men, held under doubtful commitment, and not brought to trial as the spirit of the law requires. There have been in the past history of Ireland periods of severe disturbance and paralyzed law courts; but none showed more serious features than those noted recently, of which the Londonderry rioting was but an incident. The suppression of the violent disturbers will only be the beginning of the great task that must be accomplished to give permanent peace.

IN ASIA MINOR.

The Greeks have begun actual warfare against the Turkish Nationalists under Mustapha Kemal. The hope is that the conflict will be localized and that it will soon be ended. This latest outbreak means that Turkey has been more or less at war since the autumn of 1912, when she was attacked by the states of the Balkan League after her short struggle with Italy. The league comprised Bulgaria, Montenegro, Servia, as it was then called, and Greece. A second Balkan war resulted from this conflict, Servia and Greece, aided by Rumania, being ranged against Bulgaria. Turkey took advantage of this bloodshed between armed brothers to recover some lost ground. Then came the great war which engulfed the nations, large and small, in a general welter. Peace finally was declared after some millions of young men had been slain and all the world was made to suffer. Still there is fighting. Can nothing bring actual peace to the Balkan neighborhood?

TYPHOID FEVER AT ST. STEPHEN

St. Stephen, N. B., June 27.—Two prominent citizens, Wm. Carson, manager of the St. Croix soap factory, and Ira Brown, proprietor of a garage on King street, are patients in Chipman Memorial Hospital for observation with what is feared to be typhoid fever. It is some years since there has been a case of typhoid having its origin in St. Stephen, and it is surmised that, if these cases prove to be typhoid, they have had their origin in the use of ice for drinking purposes. The drinking water of the town is taken from sparkling springs, and it is known to be without contamination, but the supply of ice for this season was taken from the river, whose waters were long since condemned for household purposes.

THE NOVA SCOTIA ELECTIONS JULY 27

"A proclamation will be issued today dissolving the House of Assembly and calling a general election for the province. Nomination day will be July 20, and polling July 27.

"A special edition of the Royal Gazette containing the election proclamation will be issu today and the writs for the election will be sent out forthwith."

The Stock Market

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

New York (Wall Street), June 28.—Dvelopments of the week-end, especially the poor showing of the Federal Reserve Banks and the railroad labor situation, invited renewed selling of leading issues at the opening of today's stock market. Several of the prominent industrials, rails and specialties reacted 1 to 1½ points. Distinct pressure was shown by Crucible and Sloss Sheffield Steels., Baldwin Locomotive, Illinois Central and Barrett Company. Further ease was manifested by preliminary quotations for foreign exchange. Early dealings both in stocks and bonds, were extremely light and professional.

Montreal Market.

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 28.—The stock market this morning for the first hour was exceptionally quiet. The few sales that did take place were steady around the week-end close. Wayagamack was fairly strong around 130, while Asbestos was quoted at 85. Steel preferred was a little erratic on the few sales made, moving from one to two points up and down. Spanish River preferred was at 145¼, while it would appear that Quebec Street Railway has started its downward movement again. Abitibi at 75¼ was unchanged.

THE LIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE

Almost a Crime.

"You shouldn't say, this young couple 'committed matrimony.'"
"Why not?"
"It isn't good taste. You talk as if they had done something wrong."
"They have. When a young man who isn't earning over $25 a week marries a girl who can't boil water and thinks that when she charges a hat to father it never has to be paid for, in my opinion they have committed matrimony."

Quite Easy.

As the war millionaire and his beautiful daughter strolled along Regent street, London, the latter stopped to gaze into the window of a jeweller's shop. Suddenly she pointed to a diamond tiara built like a coronet, strawberry leaves and all.
"Pa, buy me that!" she said.
"Buy you that!" her father chuckled. "Why, girlie, you've got to be a duchess to wear that."
The girl tossed her head.
"You buy it," she said. "I'll find the duke."

A Kitchen Oversight.

"This portion is very small," the diner grumbled. "As a regular customer here I generally have two pieces of beef, but tonight you have brought me only one."
"Gee, mister, you're right!" exclaimed the waiter. "The cook forgot to cut it in two."

The Only Dessert of This Kind

There are numerous forms of quick gelatine desserts. But Jiffy-Jell is the only one with the real-fruit flavors sealed in glass.
They crush the fruit, condense the juice and seal it. A bottle of the liquid fruit essence comes in each package of Jiffy-Jell. In a moment's time you can prepare a delicious fruit dessert.
Sugar is used in Jiffy-Jell—not saccharine. And real-fruit flavors in place of artificial. It will give you a new conception of these delightful dainties.
Jiffy-Jell is often used in place of jam, marmalade, etc. Additional sugar may be used to suit the taste.

FROM THE PEOPLE

WORRY OF JEALOUSY

To the Editor of The Gleaner,
Sir,—Can any of your readers give me a cure for jealousy? I have been happily married for fifteen years and had always thought I was not jealous. The truth is I had never been put to the test. For the last four months, however, I have been away from home and the reports my wife has given me of good times she has had have disturbed me. In my heart I know it is wrong of me to be peeved simply because she refused to sit around and mope during my absence. Furthermore, the good times she had were with friends of mine and all married people. Notwithstanding the fact that she did absolutely nothing that was not all perfectly right and proper, the green monster keeps bobbing up and makes mountains out of mole hills and makes me altogether miserable. The result is, we have had more or less wrangling. Perhaps some of your readers have gone through a similar experience and can suggest a cure. I never knew how miserable and unreasonable jealousy can make a person.
Yours,
WORRIED.
Milltown, N. B., June 26, 1920.

SPEAK THE TRUTH

To the Editor of The Gleaner,
Sir,—Let me ask the readers of our ever dear and valuable People's column the following: "Should the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth,' be spoken on every occasion and at all times, let the cost be what it may be to the individual?" Please, dear readers and friends of our so splendid column, let me quickly hear your opinions on this strong fact, as great and very grave issues are at stake.
Yours,
BIG SISTER.
McAdam, N. B., June 25, 1920.

CHESS HUNGER

To the Editor of The Gleaner,
Sir,—I have read with much interest the letters which have appeared in your valuable column regarding the noble game of chess, and I wish also to put myself on record. It seems that the chess enthusiasts have won and that we may take it for granted that a little chess is highly beneficial. I thoroughly agree with this, as I am myself very fond of the game.
However, I find it very difficult to play a game occasionally because few of my friends play it. There are no chess clubs here to join, and I think a chess club is not the kind of place where a mediocre player would be able to enjoy a game. Now, could any readers suggest where a young fellow could drop in any evening in which he felt lonely and would like to forget himself for a few hours in a game of chess? If there are any such places I would like very much to learn of them.
Yours,
STALEMATED.
Newcastle, June 25, 1920.

A RICH MARKET

To the Editor of The Gleaner,
Sir,—Africa offers over 10,000 miles of coast line, 250 trading ports; twenty-eight of these have now awaiting shipment over 900,000 tons of general produce.
There is a trading area of over five million square miles, linked up with rivers, railroad tracks, motor roads, bush paths and caravan routes, peopled with over 100,000,000 white, black and chocolate colored races, waiting to purchase automobiles, trolleys, canned provisions and every kind of merchandise and machinery. The war has enlightened and enriched the natives. As an example, in the town of Lagos over 5,000 licenses have been issued for automobiles and motorcycles. One motor road here is over 900 miles in length.
In Sierra Leone over 500 automobiles and cycles have been sold in a year.
Africa is partitioned off in blocks. The French have six, the British five, the Portuguese six, the Belgians two, the Spanish two, the Union of South Africa four, Abyssinians, Nubians and Liberians one each.
It is up to Canadians to get their share of shipping and trade.
Yours,
CANADA.
Quebec, June 22, 1920.

Two Million Dollars Will be Spent to Decide Who Holds The Blue Ribbon of the Seas

One of the Most Important Events in the Sporting World Will Be the International Yacht Race for the America's Cup, Challenged by Lipton

New York, June 26.—It is an undisputed fact that one of the most important events in the world of sports is an international yacht race for the America's cup. There may be world series in baseball, international polo matches, tennis contests for the Davis cup and other forms of sports, but few of these events create more interest than is centered in a race for the "blue ribbon of the seas." What creates the enthusiasm on the part of millions of people who do not know a boom from a gaff is now one of the wonders of the sporting world. Still it is the case and must therefore be accepted without comment.

The only solution to the mystery lies in the fact that the lay mind is astonished by the tremendous sums that have been spent in races for the America's cup. That men are willing to spend a million dollars to defend a battered piece of silver that originally was worth only 100 guineas appeals to the popular fancy. To make the situation even more unique, the money is gone forever. Not one penny comes back in the way of "gate receipts." Again, once the series is ended, the yachts that raced are only worth what they will bring in junk. Nothing is more useless than an America's cup boat when the series is ended.

When Commodore Stevens and his associates originally gave the "100 guineas cup" to the New York Yacht Club to be a perpetual trophy for international racing, they never dreamed that a race for the bit of silver would cost a fortune. The ever increasing cost is just the result of circumstances. That a cup race was too much for one man to finance first became apparent after Canada had tried unsuccessfully to capture the cup with the sloop Atalanta.

Cost of Defending Trophy.

It was in the fall of 1881, after that unsuccessful attempt, that the officials of the New York Yacht Club first began to take account of the cost of defending the trophy. It was the first time that a yacht had been built for the especial purpose of defending the cup, although the new craft, Pocahontas proved to be a failure and was not used for the purpose. The boat was built by the flag officers of the club, and the cost of construction, added to the cost of running her during the trial period and with the incidental expenses to the club of managing the contest, made a total of $20,000.

This, in the eyes of the racing officials, was rather a large sum to pay for the purpose, and they concluded that something would have to be done to reduce the cost of the cup races. Something was done, in the way of amending the deed of gift in such a manner as to prevent small Canadian boats from challenging thereafter.

At present the cost of defending the cup in one contet is considerable more than twenty times the $20,000 of a generation ago and more than 100 times the cost of earlier races. When James Ashbury come over in 1870 with his schooner Cambria he merely varied his summer programme of cruising and incurred a comparatively small outlay for some extra fittings and a slightly enlarged crew. If he had not come to America to race for the cup, Mr. Ashbury probably would have taken a cruise in European waters of about the same duration.

Mr. Ashbury built the schooner Livonia, with which he challenged in 1872. Possibly he might not have built a new boat that year, if he had not contemplated challenging, but undoubtedly he would have built one within a year or two in any event, as it was generally known that he wanted something a little better than Cambria.

Major Gifford, in whose behalf the Royal Canadian Yacht Club issued a challenge in 1876, was the first to build a boat especially to race for the cup. She was the schooner Countess of Dufferin. She cost probably not less than $25,000 and not more than $35,000 to build and race. It was the beginning of the building of specially designed craft for America's Cup races.

Both the Genesta and the Galatea were built especially to race for the cup. The former came in 1885, and in that year, the heavy expense of defense began, although the beginning was a matter of small importance compared with the expense of today. The cost of the building of Puritan in 1895 added to the cost of her management for the season figured up to about $35,000. It cost almost as much for the building and operating of Priscilla, Puritan's unsuccessful rival.

Mayflower cost about $42,000 to race in 1886. The club's expense and the management of the race was about $2,000 more. There was a second boat built in 1886 by a syndicate of members of the Atlantic Yacht Club at the probable cost of not less than $30,000. This boat was called the Atlantic and subsequently was sold to a yachtsman for a considerable portion of her cost. Still it was "found money" for her original owners.

Thistle, the Scotch challenger and the American defender Volunteer "set back" their respective owners about $50,000 each, when they raced in 1887. The New York Yacht Club had an expense of nearly $3,000 in the management of that series of races.

The Dunraven Challenge.

The real heavy expense of defending the cup began in 1898, the year Lord Dunraven issued his first challenge. In that year, four candidates for the honor of defending the trophy were built. Vigilant cost something like $150,000 to build and race. This sum was reduced to possibly $100,000 through the sale of the yacht, after the races, to George and Howard Gould. Colonia, Jubilee and Pilgrim, the other three American boats, cost about $250,000, making an overhead cost of at least $350,000 for the defense of the cup that year.

In 1895 the New York Yacht Club spent $200,000 to build and race Defender. As there was only one boat built in 1895, this series was not as costly as the previous contest, still Defender was the first cup boat for which there was practically no use after the series. These astounding sums, however, are insignificant when compared with the amounts that have been spent since Sir Thomas Lipton entered the international yacht racing game.

According to reliable information, Sir Thomas spent $900,000 in his first attempt to capture the America's Cup. That was in 1899.

That sum included $400,000 that Sir Thomas spent in the purchasing of a steam yacht that he renamed the Erin, and another $100,000 to refit the boat. This boat the Irish Baronet used until the World War started when he gave it to the British Government and she was torpedoed in the Mediterranean. Deducting the sum that Sir Thomas spent for the Erin, the cost of the 1899 race left the Irishman out of pocket $400,000 after his first attempt to lift the cup.

In that year, Columbia cost the New York Yacht Club $260,000 to build and race. Defender was used as a trial horse that year at a cost of about $60,000. The series cost the club at least $15,000, of which at least $2,000 a day was spent for tugboats and other vessels. In the rough, it cost the organization $335,000 to defend the cup. Both sides probably expended $800,000 for the cup series of 1899.

Cost of Shamrock II.

Shamrock II. cost Sir Thomas $450,000. Constitution was built that year at the cost of $250,000 to defend the trophy. Commodore Morgan, who was then the sole owner of the Columbia, put her into commission as a trial boat. She finally was selected to defend that trophy. For that honor Commodore Morgan paid close to $100,000. The club spent a good $20,000 on the series, making a grand total of more than $400,000 for the race. By that time, the contest had become a million dollar affair.

In 1903, Sir Thomas built the third Shamrock. He also brought the first Shamrock over as a trial boat. That year the Irish baronet had his first big armada anchored in American waters. Besides the racing yachts, he had a steamship, tugboats, steam launches and a steam yacht. When he went back home his bank account was shy $600,000. The cost of the defense that year was equally as much. The Reliance was the defender and was built and raced at a cost of $455,000. Both the Columbia and the Constitution were put into commission as trial yachts. To maintain these another $100,000 was spent. The race itself cost the club $25,000. The total outlay for the defense therefore figured up to $560,000. That race saw the million dollar mark passed by a good margin.

At the end of the 1903 series, all hands agreed that an America's Cup race was too costly. Even Sir Thomas found that he could not afford it and there was no challenge for several years. Finally, the Irish yachtsman got the "bee" again and after sending several impossible challenges, a race was arranged during the winter of 1913. Remembering the cost of the 1903 race, both Sir Thomas and the New York Yacht Club were willing to race with smaller boats than the big 90 footers, with which the Irishman formerly sailed for the cup.

It was decided that the yachts had to be limited to 75 feet on the waterline. All believed that the move would bring down the cost of the race. Unfortunately, the best laid plans of mice and men often go astray. The race, that promised to be less expensive than those of former years, has already cost more than any other contest and it has not as yet been sailed. The delay, caused by the war, of course, is the principal reason why the fourth attempt of Sir Thomas has proved to be so expensive.

Expensive Proposition.

Regardless of the size of the yachts, the race would have been a fairly expensive proposition had it been held when originally scheduled in 1914. First, three yachts were built in the United States for the honor of defending the trophy. Resolute originally cost $120,000. Another $100,000 has been spent on the craft since she was first launched. Defiance and Vanitie, the other yachts built in 1914, did not cost so much. Possibly each was built for $100,000. Defiance was withdrawn after a few races, a failure. Vanitie still is in the game and since she first was built, it is safe to say that almost another $100,000 has been spent on the craft.

The figures do not include the sums that have been spent to race these yachts in 1914-15 and so far this season. Also when one adds on the storage bills that have been paid to keep the craft since 1914, to say nothing of the expense that the New York Yacht Club will have to meet to hold the race in July with ocean-going tugs worth $500 ad $600 a day, against $75 and $100 a few years ago, it is evident that more than $1,000,000 will be spent by American yachtsmen in the present defense of the trophy.

Sir Thomas Lipton also will spend close to $1,000,000 in his present effort to lift the cup. First, there was the original cost of the Shamrock IV., which can be put down as $100,000. Then came the trip across the Atlantic under convoy by the Erin. When she reached this country, the yacht was stored away in Brooklyn. This also cost a tidy sum. Then came the rebuilding of the craft, a matter that probably set the Irishman back another $50,000.

Now comes the 23-meter Shamrock to race against the other yacht. In round figures, it costs at least $3,000 a day to keep the two yachts in commission. In addition, Sir Thomas has a houseboat, a steam yacht, a tug, and a motorboat all under charter

SOME RAILROAD MEN NOT SATISFIED

Philadelphia, June 26—Despite the labor board's announcement of an early adjustment of the railway employees' grievances and that the decision would be retroactive to May 1, Pennsylvania Railroad shopmen in this city were reported early today to have voted to join the walkout of the yardmen. The company employs about 1,200 men at its local shops and strike leaders announced that virtually all of them attended the meeting and that the vote to strike was nearly unanimous.

ERECT HOUSES OF CLAY AND STRAW

Regina, Sask., June 24.—A dent will be put in the high cost of building on the prairies if a project undertaken by members of a local architect's firm carries out successfully. The project consists in the erection of dwellings out of clay and straw in blocks. With a view to demonstrating the feasibility of the scheme construction of a dwelling out of this macerial has been commenced.

Motor drivers have paid $777,276 in fines in the four years of the New York Traffic Court's existence.

If it will not cost close to a million dollars for Sir Thomas to have another try for the cup, then some of the best judges of yachting are wrong.

It is safe to say that before the races are decided, $2,000,000 will be spent by the challenger and the defender of the America's cup.

MURDOCK DEFIES ROBSON TO SUE

Toronto, June 26.—In an interview here last evening, James Murdock, who has resigned from the Board of Commerce, said with reference to a veiled threat from Judge Robson, former chairman of the Board, that he would "follow the matter up further" as to Mr. Murdock's charges against the Judge, declaring:

"Let him go as far as he likes. He dare not follow it any further, if following it any further means suing for libel."

Minister of Labor Has a Proposal for Settlement of Cape Breton Mining Troubles

Suggests to the Miners That They Consent to Have the Colliery Difficulties Handled by a Purely Government Commission and Avert a Crisis

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Halifax, N. S., June 28.—The Halifax Herald today publishes the following despatch under date of June 27 from its Sydney correspondent:

"A new proposal by the Minister of Labor for the settlement of the labor difficulties in the Nova Scotia coal fields has averted the threatened crisis until next Wednesday at least. That the Minister had brought forward a new proposal was made known by J. B. McLachlan when he rose to address a mass meeting of miners at Glace Bay today. The Minister, in a message to the secretary, declared the Royal Commission demanded by the miners had been found impracticable, because some of the operators refused to agree to it. He suggested therefore that the miners consent to have the Nova Scotia colliery difficulties handled by a purely government commission. McLachlan strongly advised the men to accept this offer, not because he considered it particularly desirable, but because he thought it the best they could get at the present time, and to refuse it would be a "tictical error."

Strike Postponed.

Toronto, June 28.—An indefinite postponement of threatened strike of the local union of railroad teamsters and stablemen was agreed upon here yesterday afternoon, on the advice of International Organizer Ashton and E. N. Compton, Dominion fair wage officer, in order that negotiations may be entered into with the Dominion Transport Company to persuade the company to accept the award made by a Board of Conciliation recently. The award gave the men an advance of $12 a month in their wages.

Settle Wage Dispute.

Winnipeg, June 28.—The board of arbitration in the matter of the Canadian National Express Company and their employees has finally settled the wage dispute. The agreement signed on Saturday provides increases ranging from $10 to $35 per month or an average of 25 per cent., it is estimated.

The yearly increase to the express company's wage bill will be over $200,000. There are over 600 employees involved at various points from Quebec to Vancouver.

Hod Carriers Strike.

London, Ont., June 28.—The local hod carriers and building laborers went on strike yesterday to enforce their demands for 70 cents an hour.

Railway Commissioners to Have Full Power to With Any Threatened Coal Shortage

Premier Borden Gives Notice of Resolution to That Effect in House—The House of Commons Act to Be Amended as Regards Premiership and Portfolios

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

Ottawa, June 28.—Some comment has been raised by the new provision which it is proposed to put in the House of Commons Act, by which the Premier is added to the list of ministers who having a seat in the cabinet may take another department without the necessity of an election. The effect of this provision is stated by Mr. F. H. Gisborne, parliamentary counsel, to be, that the premiership is placed in the rank of a distinct and separate department, rather than that the occupant of the office should be obliged to administer the affairs of a Government department as well. Sir Robert Borden is now Minister of External Affairs as well as Premier. By the new amendment he or any other occupant of the Premiership may drop his department and still remain Premier. It is considered that the position of Premier is onerous enough in itself without adding the cares and labor of a department. Any cabinet minister could always be made Premier without going back for re-election, and the new provision involves no change in that respect, but simply eparates the Premiership from departmental administration.

Power to Deal With Coal Shortage.

Ottawa, June 28.—Sir Robert Borden has given notice that he will move a resolution in the Commons, the purpose of which is to give the board of railway commissioners power to deal with any threatened coal or fuel shortage.

The text of the resolution reads:

That it is expedient to bring in a measure amending the railway act, 1919, by adding thereto provisions conferring upon the board of railway commissioners of Canada power to do and authorize all such acts and things and to make from time to time all such orders and regulations as the board may deem necessary or advisable by reason of real or apprehended scarcity of coal or other fuel supplies in Canada.

Control Exports of Foodstuffs.

Ottawa, June 28.—It is understood that an agreement is likely to be reached which may have the effect of bringing about the withdrawal of the Government resolution giving the Governor-in-council power to control exports of foodstuffs or necessaries from Canada. The measure was referred to a special committee of the House and an announcement to the above effect is expected to be made before the session ends.

PENNANT RACES IN MAJOR LEAGUES

Virtually a Tie Today in Both National and American and Triple in International

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

New York, June 28.—A virtual tie for the National League leadership between Cincinnati and St. Louis was brought about yesterday when the Cardinals scored their third consecutive victory over the Reds. The American League race is almost equally as close, only a half game separating Cleveland, in first place, with New York.

St. Louis, which is the only first division outfit in the National League proceeding at a profitable pace, began its climb early in the month from fifth place, winning series from Pittsburg, Chicago, Brooklyn and New York and losing to Philadelphia and Boston.

The Boston and New York Nationals and the Chicago and Washington Americans are going at a winning pace. The Braves and Giants both have now a combination of steady pitching and good batting that may advance them a few steps up the league ladder. The White Sox received their first setback yesterday in seven starts while the Senators increased their record to seven consecutive victories.

In the National League, Cincinnati is in the midst of a batting slump and the pitching staffs of Brooklyn and Chicago are faltering. Pittsburg and Philadelphia are showing occasional flashes of winning form.

Neither of the two American League leaders, Cleveland and New York, appears capable of uncovering a winning spurt. The two teams are just ambling along and only hold first and second places, respectively, by virtue of good work early in the month.

The pitchers of the Indians, who batted at the spectacular rate of .352 last week, failed to do their share. The New York moundsmen are effective, but up to Saturday's contest the batting fell off. Boston is fast losing ground through unsteady pitching. St. Louis slumped badly after its spurt of the previous week. Detroit's batting is below par.

Philadelphia yesterday lost its 18th consecutive game, two less than the American League record.

FREDERICTON GOLF CLUB COMPETITIONS

Mrs. A. J. Thompson and R. S. Fitz Randolph Winners of the First Matches

The first competitions of the Fredericton Golf Club's season took place on Friday and Saturday and drew a good field of competitors. The ladies of the club held their competition on Friday last for a prize of half a dozen golf balls presented by Vice-President G. A. Taylor. The items of the competition were long driving (3 balls) and approaching and putting (3 balls). In the driving competition, a high standard of excellence was shown, Mrs. A. J. Thompson and Miss Hilda Gregory tying for first place with 8 points each. On playing off the tie, Mrs. A. J. Thompson won. As an indication of the high standard of the driving, Mrs. A. J. Thompson had drives of 160 yards, 146 yards, 156 yards, being a total length of 460 yards for the three drives.

Miss Kathleen Taylor led the field in the approaching and putting with a score of 10 points for three balls. Mrs. W. S. Thomas was runner-up with 11 points.

The men of the club held the first monthly competition on Saturday for prizes presented by the president of the club, R. FitzRandolph. The form of the competition was handicap match play against bogey. It was thought beforehand that the bogey score of 39 strokes for the nine holes would be hard to beat, and the scores returned bore this out, most of the competitors finding Colonel Bogey a very hard customer to beat. R. S. FitzRandolph (handicap 7), playing a sterling game, was 1 hole up on bogey at the end of 9 holes, having accomplished the first round in 41 strokes, which is a record for the course. His figures for the record round were 4, 4, 4, 3, 4, 8, 6, 3, 5. In the second round against the formidable opponent he was 4 holes down to the Colonel with a score of 47 strokes for the 9 holes, thus being 3 holes down to bogey on the 18 holes. This performance easily won the first prize. The second prize of two golf balls went to A. Cameron (handicap 5), while FitzRandolph (handicap 7), secured the third prize.

LEVINSKY WON

JACK JOHNSON MATCHED

Fresno, Cal., June 27.—A. B. Montgomery, Fresno, has matched Jack Johnson to box 20 rounds at Tia Juana, Lower California, on the afternoon of July 4, with Al Norton.

Dopesters' Odd Guesses Trying to Pick Winners

Some odd guesses are being made by dopesters endeavoring to pick the trio of trotters and pacers to win the three races on the Fredericton Park Association's opening races on Dominion Day and thus win the three season tickets for the first Martime & Maine Circuit meeting here the last week in July.

The first of the guesses were mailed to the Secrtary on Saturday within a few hours after The Gleaner was published with the announcement of the terms of the contest. Since then the replies which have come have shown a wide variation of opinions. It might not be divulging a secret to say that at least one opinion has been hazarded that the McAllister stable from Sussex will make a complete cleanup on the holiday.

Will Fast Record Trotters Race Against Exposer, 2.06, In Free for All This Year?

Question Will Be Settled by Entries for Fredericton Park Association's Intermittent Closing Purses to Be Raced for in July and Stakes for September Are Sent In

Will the fast record trotters of the season race against The Exposer, 2.06, the handsome stallion owned by ex-Ald. Harry C. Jewett, of this city, this year?

That is the question which only the owners of the trotters themselves have been in a position to answer so far, but during the next few days the public must be let in on the secret. The "dope" on the problem is bound to trickle out now.

The Exposer was imported a year ago last winter by Mr. Jewett, who has been a well known figure in harness racing as well as in the show ring at the Exhibitions for a good many years past. He bid in the son of The Exponent at the Chicago sale and paid $2,075 for him there, which made him one of the most expensive trotters ever brought into this country.

In his first race since coming east the handsome big trotter showed a wonderful burst of speed against a field of pacers at Fredericton on July 1, 1919, but was beaten because he didn't seem to be quite up to such a hard race. The next week, however, at Chatham, The Exposer stepped away from all the pacers in his class and trotted one heat in 2.10 flat, the fastest mile ever trotted in the Maritime Provinces by several seconds and the fastest ever shown by a stallion trotter on a half-mile track in the Dominion of Canada.

Lots of Fast Record Trotters.

However, that was The Exposer's best performance of the year; he failed to race as consistently later as in his first two starts, although he did show well at times afterwards. When he was beaten it was the boast of those attached to the winners that the Frederctor trotter was just as easy as the rest of them to beat—and it looked as if he was at times, too. But this year a different tale has emanated from some of the training camps and it is openly declared that the other horses will not be raced against The Exposer; in other words, they will not enter in free-for-all trots.

Headed by Clay Watts, 2.14¼, in the Potvin stable from Montreal; Brage, 2.15¼, the top notch trotter in Frank Boutilier's stable from Halifax, and J. Forbes, 2.13¼, the Prince Edward Island trotting star, to say nothing of Alfred King, 2.13¼, in the stable Frank P. Fox has brought down from Boston, there are a formidable lot of trotters in sight for the fast trots on the Maritime and Maine Circuit. Many of them have beaten The Exposer before, and probably the owners of the majority of those named think they can do it again. Why, then, is not a free for all trot a logical offering for the programme of a track which tries to keep the trotters separated from the pacers as much as possible and makes no bones about doing it?

There are a great bunch of other trotters that look so good they may turn up in a free for all trot this year, the list including: Bravas, 2.15¼, for several seasons a consistent performer in the Reed stable of Fort Fairfield, Me.; Bill Sharon, 2.16¼, champion four-year old of the Maritime Provinces and sought by two Connecticut parties for the Grand Circuit immediately after he had been bought for $2,500 by Archie Alcorn, the successful young lumberman of Blackville, N.B.; Roy Miller, 2.11¼, former member of the champion pole team of the world and a wonderfully hard trotter to beat last year; Colorado L., 2.16¼, the Prince Edward Island trotter that was thought good enough to plunge on around the New England States late last fall; Gay Molo, 2.16¼, owned by Frank Reddin, the Cape Breton horseman, and a few more fast birds.

Will Be 2.17 Trot, Too.

Many of these are eligible to a 2.17 trot, which should be one of the most popular classes this season; in fact, it is likely that the Fredericton track's programme of four days' racing in September will have a 2.17 trot as one of the class events, which, with free for all, 2.19, 2.22 and 2.27 trot stakes should pretty well take care of the trotters. It is likely that a good many of the now 2.17 trotters will by that time be only eligible for a free for all trot, and if they have not staked that event they will be left on the voluntarily idle list for the week unless they want to go into the mixed classes with four seconds advantage and battle the pacers.

But, as suggested at the outset, this whole problem will soon be settled. Entries for the Fredericton intermittent closing purses for the last week in July and the early closing events, to be raced in September, close on Tuesday, June 29 (tomorrow) and each programme includes a free for all trot. The mails that reach the secretary of the Fredericton Park Association on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week will therefore pretty nearly settle the question of whether The Exposer is to be the trotting king of the Maritime Provinces by acclamation for 1920 or whether that title is to be contested. It's up to the horsemen.—J.D.B.

Under the terms of the agreement Fulton is to receive $25,000 and Wills $10,000 without any percentage or bonus arrangement. While no definite date has been announced, it is understood the contest will be held about the middle of July.

It is intimated that the winner will be given an opportunity to face Jack Dempsey, later in the year.

MARYSVILLE WON FROM IMPERIALS

Loosely Played Game at College Field on Saturday With Plenty of Hitting

The Marysville team, leaders in the York County Baseball League, won from the Imperials at College Field on Saturday afternoon in a loosely played game by a score of 14 to 10.

Pat Clark started in the box for the Imperials but he was wild and ineffective and was replaced after the second inning by Fred McLean, who was hit rather freely but suffered through errors of omission about as much as from the seven bluders of commission that were made behind him.

McLean's fourteen strikeouts indicate his effectiveness and it was no fault of his that the Imperials lost. As a matter of fact, the Marysville team were so much threatened in the final stages of the game that Anderson replaced E. McPherson on the mound in the final frame. The game was marked by frequent interruptions, many of which were caused by disputes over the decisions of W. Kenney, who was umpiring at the plate and whose definitions of balls and strikes didn't make much of hit. Balls were knocked over the fence many times, the enclosure being unsuitable for baseball.

THE LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Result of Play in the British Tournament at Wimbleton Yesterday

Drew, an English player, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1. R. Norris Williams, Boston, defeated J. Brugnon, the young French player, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-2, 6-2.

In the second round of the mixed doubles championship, Gerald L. Patterson, Australia, the present holder of the British singles title, and Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, France, winner of the British Woman's championship last year, defeated C. S. Garland and Mrs. Franklin Mallory, United States, 6-0, 6-3.

IN DAYS OF TERROR

"Ah! I have both seen and read much," said Morand; "and then it is necessary I should prepare myself in some degree for the life of pleasure I intend to lead, when I retire on my fortune. It is time, Citizen Maurice, it is time."

"Bah!" said Maurice; "you talk like an old man. What age, then, are you?"

Morand turned round, startled by this question, natural as it certainly was.

"I am thirtyeight," said he. Ah! I see what it is to be a scholar, as you term it. It makes one old."

Genevieve began to laugh, and Maurice joined in; but Morand never smiled.

"You have, then, made several voyages?" demanded Maurice, pressing Genevieve's foot between his own.

"Part of my youth," replied Morand, "was passed among foreigners."

"And you have seen much? Pardon me, I ought to say, have observed much; for a man like yourself cannot see without observing," replied Maurice.

"Everything, citizen," replied Maurice, laughing, "that is saying a great deal. If you were to search—"

"Ah! yes, you are right; there are two things I have never seen. It is true, in our days, these two things have become rare."

"What are they, then?" demanded Maurice.

"The first," said Morand, "is a god."

"Ah!" said Maurice, "but in lieu of a god, I shall be able to show you a goddess, Citizen Morand."

"How so?" interrupted Genevieve.

"Pea, a goddess of modern creation—the Goddess Reason. I have a friend, of whom you have sometimes heard me speak—my dear and brave Louis, with a heart of gold, whose only fault is that of making verses and vile puns."

"Well?"

"Well, he selected for Paris a Goddess Reason, of good repute, and in whom they can discover nothing at all objectionable. It is the Citizen Arthemise, ex-dancer to the Opera, and at present parfumeuse, Rue Martin. As soon as she is definitely received as goddess, I will show her to you."

"The other," said he, gravely, "is a king."

"Ah! that is more difficult," said Genevieve; "there are no more of them," she added, forcing a smile.

"You should have seen the last," said Maurice; "it would have been prudent to have done so."

"The result is," said Morand, "I have not the least idea of a crowned head; it must be very sad?"

"Very sad, indeed," said Maurice; "I respond to you. I who see one nearly every month."

"A crowned head?" demanded Genevieve.

"At least," said Maurice, "one that has borne the weight and miserable burden of a crown."

"Ah! yes, the queen," said Morand; "truly, Monsieur Maurice, it must be a melancholy sight—"

"Is she as proud and beautiful as they say?" demanded Genevieve.

"Have you never seen her, then, madame?" demanded Maurice, surprised in his turn.

"I? never!" replied the young woman.

"Indeed?" said Maurice, "that is strange."

"And why strange?" said Genevieve. "We lived in the province till '91; since '91 we have resided in the old Rue St. Jacques, which must resemble the province, only there they have neither light or air, and still less flowers. You are acquainted with my life, Monsieur Maurice? It has always been the same. How do you suppose I could have been the Queen, when I have had no opportunity whatever of so doing?"

"And I do not think you will avail yourself of that which, unfortunately, perhaps, may present itself," said Maurice.

"What do yu mean to say?" demanded Genevieve.

"To what?" demanded Genevieve.

"To the probable condemnation of Marie Antoinette, and to her death upon the same scaffold where her husband died. The citizen said, in short, that you would not avail yourself of the opportunity offered you of seeing her the day when she will quit the Temple for La Place de la Revolution."

"Oh, ceraintly not!" cried Genevieve, as Morand pronounced these words with the greatest sang-froid.

"Then you can only lament," said the impassible chemist; "for the Austrian is well guarded, and the Republic a fairy that renders invisible what seems best to her."

"I acknowledge, however," said Genevieve, "I have been very much wishing to see this poor woman."

"Let us see," said Maurice, anxious to gratify all the wishes of Genevieve; "have you really such an inclination? Then only say the word. I agree with the Citizen Morand, the Republic is a fairy; but I in quality of municipal, am somewhat of a wizar!'

Could you allow me a sight of the Queen, you, monsieur?" cried Genevieve.

"Certainly, I can."

"And how?" exclaimed Morand, exchanging a rapid glance with Genevieve, which escaped the notice of the young man.

"Nothing more simple," said Maurice. "There are certainly some municipals of whom they are mistrustful; but as for me, I have given sufficient evidence of my devotion to the cause of liberty to render me above all suspicion. Besides, admittance to the Temple depends conjointly on the municipals and the chiefs of the post. Now, the chief of the post is, just at this moment, my friend Louis, who appears to me to be called indubitably to replace General Santerre, seeing that, in three months, he has risen from the rank of corporal to that of adjutant-major. Well, come to me the day I shall be on guard, that is to say, next Thursday, at the Temple."

"Well," said Morand, "I hope now your wishes may be gratified. Take care that you find him."

"Oh! no, no," said Genevieve, "indeed, I cannot."

"And wherefore not?" said Maurice, who only anticipated in this visit to the Temple an opportunity of seeing Genevieve on a day when he could enjoy this happiness alone without the presence of others.

"Because it might, perhaps, dear Maurice, expose you to some unpleasant dispute; and if anything were to happen to you through gratifying a whim of mine, I should never, while I lived, forgive myself."

"You have spoken wisely, Genevieve," said Morand. "Suspicion is very great, the best patriots are now even suspected. Renounce this project, which, as you say, is, after all, a mere caprice of curiosity."

"They will say that you are envious, Morand, and that, not having yourself seen either King or Queen, you do not wish others to do so. Come, to end all discussion, join the party."

"Me! ma foi! No.

"It is then no longer the chouyenne Dixmer who wishes to visit the Temple; it is I who entreat you to come there, to divert a poor prisoner. For the great door, once closed upon me, I remain for twenty-four hours as much a prisoner as the king would be, or a prince of the blood." And pressing between his own the foot of Genevieve—"Come, then," said he, "I entreat you!"

CLOSING EXERCISES AT MARYSVILLE

Large Number of Visitors at School Closing Friday Afternoon

Marysville, N. B., June 26—The closing exercises of the public schools took place yesterday afternoon, and were attended by an unusually large number of parents, relatives and friends of the scholars.

In all of the seven rooms, grades 1 to 8, exceptionally fine work was demonstrated and pleasing programmes carried out. The progress made by the scholars during the past term speaks volumes of praise for the staff of teachers.

Merit certificates were presented to the scholars making the highest marks by W. T. Day and S. J. Hallett, two of the trustee board. J. S. Inch, the other member of the board, was prevented from attending on account of illness. In presenting the certificates to the pupils words of commendation and encouragement were tendered by the trustees.

Rev. J. J. Pinkerton was also present and addressed the scholars.

In each room a musical programme was carried out under the supervision of Miss Alice M. Harrison. The musical numbers were delightfully rendered and received warm applause.

In Mrs. Cochrane's room, Milton Daley won the prize for the greatest progress during the term, a beautiful book presented by Rev. J. J. Pinkerton.

The freehand drawing by Francis Matthews, a little fellow in Grade 1 of Miss Logan's room, attracted much attention. That the little fellow has a rare gift in that line is undeniable, and with proper training he will develop into a great artist.

The following are the certificate winners:

Miss Z. V. Hallett's room—Grade VII: Christine Stafford, Eva Pickard and Lois Stephenson. Grade VIII: Miriam Osborne, Daisy Boyce, Lena Gilmore and Gertrude Finnamore. Never absent: Gordon Pinkerton, Miriam Osborne and Gertrude Finnamore.

Miss Akerley's room—Grade V: Vaccena Beattie, Willie Miller and Esther Pond. Grade VI: Constance Murphy, Eva Stewart and Harry Pickard. Never absent: Fred Capen.

Mrs. Cochrane's room—Grades IV. and V.: Jean D. Taylor, Garnet Doherty and Stanley H. Pinkerton; Grade V.: Helen H. Lester, Olive M. Dayton and May Thornton. Never absent, Milton Daley and Stanley H. Pinkerton.

Miss MacLeod's room—Grades III. and IV.: Ralph McDowell, Dudley Kingsley and Grace Osborne; Grade IV.: Effie McInnis, Elizabeth Bamford and Ralph Long. Never absent, Effie McInnis, Ralph McDowell and Richard Finnamore.

Miss Titus' room—Grade I.: Douglas Long, George Johnstone and Kathleen Inch; Grade IV.: Norman Morehouse, May Wade and Hilda Peterson.

Miss Logan's room—Grade I.: Neill Cameron, Annie Estey, Carson Hodges and Olga Watts.

Miss Munroe's room—Grade II.: Grace Sacre, Hazel Stafford and Stella Blair; Grade III.: Fred Sleat, Helen Macpherson and Oscar Hughes.

Miss Nellie MacLeod and Miss Rea Munroe have resigned from the teaching staff, while Miss Mabel Logan has been granted six months' leave of absence. Their places will be filled when school reopens by Miss Fanny Young, Miss Mary Pickard and Miss Law.

The teachers and scholars of Miss MacLeod's room presented her with a beautiful gold brooch, Miss Effie McInnis making the presentation in an address conveying the regret of the school at Miss MacLeod's departure, and wishing her every success in future.

The assault case against four young men from Devon, charged with assaulting a local young man, was heard by Police Magistrate Clayton yesterday. Two of the boys pleaded guilty and were fined $10 and costs each. The charge against the other two was withdrawn. J. J. F. Winslow appeared for the complainant and Gregory T. Feeney for the accused. In passing judgment Magistrate Clayton administered some sound advice to the young men and warned them not to appear before him again.

A fire alarm was sounded from the cotton mill about 6 o'clock last evening for a burning chimney in the residence of Melvin Hodgson. Little damage was done.

TORONTO TENNIS PLAYERS WINNERS

Toronto, June 26.—R. L. James, of Saratoga, N. Y., lost his game in the semi-finals of the Men's Open Singles event of the Eastern Canada Lawn Tennis tournament yesterday in a hard fought three set match. The score was 5-7, 6-1, 10-8. In the final set James had the odd game to his credit until the score reached eight all, when Baird, of Toronto, broke through his opponent's service and also won his own.

Baird and Rennie, both of Toronto, meet in the finals today.

Miss Bancroft of Boston, went down before Mrs. Bickle, of Toronto, Ladies Open champion of Canada, and Miss Bancroft, and Miss Sigourney, also of Boston, were defeated in the finals of the Ladies Open Doubles by Miss Best and Miss MacDonald, of the Toronto club, 6-4, 6-2.

Miss Sigourney of Mr. James are still in the finals of the mixed doubles.

The Stolen Pig Located

On Saturday morning about eleven o'clock, a live pig was stolen from a crate in the city market and all efforts to find it were unavailable. This morning the pig was found in the basement of the City Hall, it having been apparently placed there by the party who stole it, who thought it better to return the pig than be arrested.

FOUR GERMAN GUNS STILL CAMOUFLAGED HAVE ARRIVED HERE

Came Here Yesterday by C. N. R., from Ottawa, and Will Be Taken to City Hall

IN SAME CONDITION AS TAKEN FROM THE HUNS

Spokes of Wheel of One Shot Away and Portions of Others Missing

The four German field guns which were allotted to the City of Fredericton by the Director of War Trophies arrived here yesterday afternoon by C. N. R. from Ottawa. When they are unloaded they will probably be taken to the basement of the City Hall where they will rest until it is decided by the City Council where they shall be placed.

The guns are in the same condition as when they left the battlefield, the camouflage still being in evidence. Two of them are minus the breeches and the other parts while one is badly shot up having several spokes of the wheels shot away and, the armor plates pierced in several places. They are on exhibit in the C. N. R. yards and yesterday afternoon and today they were inspected by a large number of returned men as well as citizens who were desirous of learning the kind of guns used against our own boys.

The guns are
150 mm. field gun No. 416.
77 mm. field gun No. 145.
77 mm. field gun No. 605.
150 mm. field gun No. 6567.

The suggestion has been made that two of the guns be placed in front of the Customs House and two at the Officers Square, where they will be in charge of the caretakers of the public buildings.

Police Participate in Four Liquor Raids

Several liquor raids were conducted over the week end by Sub-Inspector Fraser D. Saunders and the local police, who went over the places of business of several citizens in their hunt for the booze.

This morning when questioned concerning the matter Chief of Police Finley refused to make any statement except that the raiders had got nothing. There were four raids in all, three on the upper end of Queen street and one on the upper end of King street.

Some months ago the police Commission issued instructions that the local police were to leave the enforcement of the Prohibition Act to the inspectors who are appointed for that purpose.

3,900 NAMES ON CITY VOTERS LISTS

Equally As Many Women As Men Can Vote in This City In Plebiscite

There will be about 3,900 names on the voters lists for the City of Fredericton in the plebiscite on Prohibition on July 10th.

Chairman A. J. Wheeler had his final lot of additions to the lists under the amendments to the N. B. Elections Act completed this morning, and they number 354.

Before today's lot of names were added there were 3,743 names on the city lists, including 1,300 names which were added during the original period for women to register. When the added lists were compared today with the lists as they then stood completed it was found, however, that although the usual affidavits had been presented that these names were not on the voters lists a good many were already there. Mr. Wheeler estimated that probably 20 per cent. of the final list were duplicates, which would make the total number on the lists, after they have been finally sorted out, about 3,900.

There will evidently be equally as many women as men eligible to vote in Fredericton, if the women voters are not actually in the majority.

MORMONS FAIL TO DRAW

But Reporter and Person In Charge of Hall Are Assured High Cost of Living Didn't Cause Dropping of Plurality of Wives.

Two representatives of the Mormons, who have been introducing themselves at the doors of residences in the city while distributing literature as "advance agents of Jesus Christ," had meetings scheduled for Sunday in the G. W. V. A. Hall on behalf of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

For the evening meeting the only persons who turned up in addition to Brothers Smith and Hanson were the official in charge of the hall and a reporter and at the afternoon meeting the reporter was not present. For the benefit of their hearers the Brothers gave an exhaustive discussion on the beliefs of the Mormon faith. They declared that for the past thirty years the plurality of wives had been abandoned by Mormonism and resented suggestions that the "high cost of living" has been responsible for such action. Adultery, they said, was placed as the second worst crime on the slate of Mormonism.

An Emissary of Organized Labor Arrives to Urge N. B Teachers Ass'n to Affiliate

Charles B. Stillman, of Chicago, Wants N. B. Teachers Association to Become Affiliated With American Federation of Labor Through the American Federation of Teachers—Executive Meeting This Morning Marked Opening of Biennial Convention of the Educational Institute of New Brunswick.

Charles B. Stillman, of Chicago, president of the American Federation of Teachers, arrived here from Montreal this morning to address the session of the New Brunswick Educational Institute this evening given over to the New Brunswick Teachers' Association, and admitted in an interview with The Gleaner this morning that he was here to urge the teachers to have the provincial organization affiliate with the American Federation of Labor through the American Federation of Teachers.

Mr. Stillman is the secretary of the committee on education of the American Federation of Labor, and as such has been in attendance at the convention of the Federation which recently closed in Montreal. At the Queen Hotel, where he is a guest, he admitted to The Gleaner that he was here as the emissary of organized labor and said he would place before the New Brunswick Teachers' Association this evening the accomplishments of the American Federation of Teachers, which consists of 175 local associations in all parts of the United States. The American Federation of Teachers, he stated, was comparatively young, being only four years old, but they showed an increase of over 500 per cent. in membership during the last year and a half. They found, he said, that organized labor was intensely interested in increasing the efficiency of the public school and found, by their affiliation with organized labor, that with the political influence in the community they had been able to rouse the public to the condition of the schools and secure fresh interest.

The object of the American Federation of Teachers, he stated, was to bring associations of teachers into relations of mutual assistance and cooperation; to obtain for them the rights and benefits to which they are entitled; to raise the standard of the teaching profession by securing the conditions essential to the best professional service and to promote such a democratization of the schools as will enable them to better equip their pupils to take their place in the industrial, social and political life of the community.

He stated the Teachers' Federation had absolute control over its own

Administration In Full Control At Convention

Friends of the President Head All Principal Committees

REED DENIED SEAT ON FLOOR

Credential Committee Ratify Palmer Delegates From Georgia.

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, June 29.—Administration forces went into the second day of the Democratic National Convention apparently in full control of the situation.

Senator Glass, of Virginia, as Chairman of the Resolutions Committee; Wm. J. Bryan excluded from the subcommittee of nine chosen actually to draft the platform, while Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State, sits as the representative of President Wilson; Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, another staunch administration supporter, chosen for permanent chairman of the convention, and administration men at the head of other committees, was the line-up brought out of what had promised to be a contest.

The credentials committee late last night ratified the action of the National committee in seating the Palmer delegates from Georgia and in denying Senator James A. Reed a seat in the convention as a delegate from the fifth district. The Palmer men from Georgia were seated by a vote of 43 to 4, and Senator Reed's claim to a seat was denied by a vote of 37 to 9.

The action of the credentials committee is another victory for the administration forces, as the defeated Georgia group is said to contain elements that were at variance with the Wilson administration, while Senator Reed is a bitter critic of the League of Nations as advocated by the President, and is an opponent of other administrative measures.

Final argument both for and against Reed was bitter, and personal attacks on various supporters of either side marked its progress.

Strong Grip on Machinery.

From the dramatic moment yesterday when a portrait of President Wilson was unveiled in the great convention auditorium to let loose a storm of tribute and approbation from the President's admirers on the floor there seemed little chance for those who had set themselves in opposition.

This burst of feeling did not die with adjournment. Long after there was still a hint of it in the voices of the delegates. Senator Robinson's election for permanent chairman was more of a foregone conclusion. No opposing candidate had been selected. The administration forces now have a strong grip on the machinery which will write the confession of faith for the party's 1920 campaign.

The session left behind it echoes of "gag rule" charges and assertions that if a floor battle were insisted upon by the New Yorkers, the party's chances at the polls would be ruined.

Events so far have shown no marked reaction overnight on discussion of nomination booms. There seemed to be a general feeling that the prospect of Mr. McAdoo's selection had increased, but there was no definite development upon which it could be based by those who took this view.

With a member of the President's cabinet in the race in the person of Attorney General Palmer and a former cabinet member, Mr. McAdoo, being urged just as vigorously, no candidate has yet been formally characterized as the choice of the President.

Administration forces, machine-like, in their unanimity of action on other matters, are at odds on candidates, each group supporting its own man. The reflex of their joint victories is therefore not easy to trace in the nomination fight.

Candidates Can Be Placed in Nomination

San Francisco, June 29.—By unanimous action the committee formulating the rules for the convention decided that the various candidates may be placed in nomination while the platform deliberations are going on, but no balloting for a nominee may be conducted until after the platform has been brought in, perfected and adopted. This action will simplify and hasten the work of the convention very much.

UNIQUE EXCUSE OF AN AUTO SPEEDER

Did Not Make Allowance for His Abnormally Large Feet on Accelerator

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Vancouver, B. C., June 29.—In the police court recently the unique plea of "abnormally large feet" failed to save the defendant, charged with speeding past a standing street car in his flivver, from a fifty dollar fine. The autoist explained that he had just bought the car and through an oversight had neglected to make allowance for his over-generous pedal extremities. In good faith, he said, he had placed his foot firmly on the brake pedal, but the accelerator also came within the zone of occupation and the car leaped forward with a bound.

COURT DISMISSED SEPARATION SUIT

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 29.—The petition of Mary A. M. Stevenson, asking for a judicial separation from her husband, Maurice Daly Baldwin, formerly rector of All Saints' Anglican church, this city, and son of the late Bishop Baldwin, of the Huron Diocese, Ontario, was dismissed by judgment of the superior court rendered by Mr. Justice Howard yesterday afternoon. The court's judgment was that the grounds of complaint in the action had been considered one by one and had been found in each case insufficient to sustain the action.

MANY CRUSHED IN COLLAPSE OF LODGING HOUSE

Brick Walls of Buffalo Building Crumbled and Piled Down Into the Interior

MANY PERSONS IN BUILDING AT TIME

The Rescuers Succeed in Extricating Two Dead Persons and Fifteen Injured

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Buffalo, N. Y., June 29.—A lodging house at Main and Scott streets collapsed at 9.30 o'clock this morning. Ten injured men were removed from the debris by firemen and policemen a short time after the accident.

Rescuers reported hearing cries of others. The owner of the place said eighty men occupied the rooms last night, but he did not know how many were in the building when it fell.

The lodging house was a four story brick building, extending from No. 64 Main street through the block to Hanover street. The rear of the building went down first. All four floors collapsed and the brick side of walls crumpled and piled on top of the broken timbers of the interior.

At 10 o'clock the police figures showed two known dead and 15 injured.

CHIEF CONSTABLES MEET AT MONCTON

Mayor Chapman Welcomed Visitors, to Which President Bruton Replied

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Moncton, N. B., June 29.—The 16th annual convention of the Chief Constables Association of Canada opened this morning in Moncton City Hall and will continue until Thursday evening, when a civic complimentary banquet will be tendered the visitors.

This morning's session began with the President, Chief Bruton, of Regina, presiding.

Rev. Dr. Bowley Green, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Rev. Father Hector Belliveau, curate of L'Assomption church, Moncton, offered prayer.

Mayor A. C. Chapman was then introduced to the convention by George R. Rideout, chief of Moncton police force.

Mayor Chapman welcomed the members of the association in a brief speech. His Worship referred to his attending the convention of the Chief Constables' Association in Calgary last August and paid a tribute to Chief Rideout, who was so instrumental in having the convention meet in Moncton this year. In conclusion, His Worship expressed the hope that all the visitors would enjoy themselves and extended to them the freedom of the city.

President Bruton responded, thanking His Worship for the kind welcome and expressed his belief that the convention in Moncton would be successful. He hoped the deliberations of the convention would be profitable to the public as well as to the members of the association.

Secretary Charles Slemin, of Brantford, Ont., read a list of applications for membership, including Chief John J. Smith, of St. John; H. G. Page, Montreal, Chief Officer of the C. N. R., and Chief Inspector LeNauze, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Halifax. All applications for membership were accepted.

Mayor Dr. Sormany, of Shediac, extended an invitation to the association members to visit Shediac on Wednesday afternoon.

The visitors left Moncton about 11.30 o'clock for Dorchester, to visit the penitentiary, where they are being tendered a luncheon by prison officials.

This afternoon the members will return to the city, reconvening in city hall at 4 o'clock.

Chief Bruton will address the convention at this afternoon's session and Secretary Treasurer Chief Charles Slemin, of Brantford, will submit his annual report.

This evening at six o'clock a luncheon will be tendered the visitors at the Hotel Brunswick by the provincial government. It is expected some of the members of the provincial legislature will be present and address the gathering.

This evening at 8 o'clock a lecture will be delivered in city hall by Colonel Ogilvie, of Ottawa, on "the explosives act."

Liberals Oppose Acceptance Of Gift of British Warships As Nucleus of Canadian Navy

Premier Borden Declares That Naval Defence Is As Essential to Canada as to Any Other Portion of the Empire—The Naval Estimates Discussed

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Ottawa, June 29.—The House early this morning took up in committee of supply the naval service estimates, totalling two million dollars.

Dr. Michael Clark said that the government had been shortsighted in accepting England's gift of ships, in consideration of the financial condition of the fiancial condition of the country and the fact that the naval policy remains to be discussed at an imperial conference in 1921. England had "put one over" on the Canadian government.

Dr. Clark expressed belief in the influence for peace which the League of Nations would exercise in world politics and deplored the waste of money on armaments in Canada. It would be better spent on the education and domestic welfare of the Canadian people. The war of armaments would lead logically to actual war.

Sir Robert Borden said that the national policy could be better decided on results than on conjecture as to how the next war would be fought. Naval defence was as essential to Canada as to any other portion of the Empire. Safety zones on high seas in time of war were important to Canada. Force was not an argument not to be denied in world aairs, and on more than one occasion the weight of the British navy had averted war. Canada must prepare for defence like everybody else.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said that his creed on naval matters was unchanged since 1909, when his government had resolved that Canada should cooperate with Great Britain in naval defence. That policy had never been carried out until now this government proposed belatedly to carry out that policy. While he did not suppose that war was at an end forever, it could be said with safety that war was not imminent. The navy was needed in 1909 and there was money to pay for it. If, on the other hand, money could not be found for needed domestic development, how could the government justify the introduction at the end of the session for an increased estimate of $1,700,000 for naval expenditures. The government should decline England's gift of ships, for the time at least.

Hon. Mr. Ballantyne asked if Mr. Fielding would be willing to carry on with the Niobe and the Rain bow.

Mr. Fielding said that they were good enough to do service during the war, and would have done better if the government had not tied them up in Halifax and kept them out of useful service.

The government should tell England that we must have a breathing spell in which to think it over.

NO BEER SALES AT MONTREAL CLUBS

Ruling That Clubs Are In Same Class as Licensed Premises As to Hours

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 29.—A ruling was handed down yesterday by Judge Choquet which declares that clubs are in the same class as licensed premises in regard to the sale of beer and wine. They must close at 9 p. m. This was the Laurier political club test case, and the ruling means that the night life of Montreal will be greatly curtailed, if not entirely eliminated.

It is probable that the judgment will be attacked by means of a writ of certiorari directed against Judge Choquet. The cases against thirteen licensed liquor vendors were held over until next Monday, when they will be heard on their merits.

QUEBEC MOTORISTS ASK BETTER ROADS

Appreciate What Government Has Already Done to Better Conditions in Province

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Quebec, June 29.—The annual meeting of the Quebec Provincial Motor League was held here yesterday. Resolutions were passed that the League join the Canadian Auto Association as a body; that whilst appreciating the good roads policy of the provincial government, the League was of the opinion, without wishing to complain, that in view of the fact that the average motor license in the province of Quebec cost $26, as compared with $11 in Ontario and $12 in New York State, which netted the Quebec government over a million dollars revenue, the government should give greater attention to the maintenance of good roads already built in the province.

The delegates to the meeting included A. L. Caron, President; W. S. Bullock, M. L. A., A. C. Smith, A. Girard and A. Barin, of Granby; Hon. Frank Carrel and L. C. Beaupre, Quebec.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President—A. L. Caron, Montreal.

First Vice-President—Hon. Frank Carrel, Quebec.

Second Vice-President—C. E. Soles, Sherbrooke.

MANITOBA ELECTIONS HELD TODAY

208,316 Registered Electors Entitled to Exercise Their Right at Ballot Boxes

FIFTY-ONE MEMBERS ARE TO BE ELECTED

Forty-One Candidates in City of Winnipeg for the Ten Seats There

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Winnipeg, Man., June 29.—Manitoba today is electing a new legislature, and 208,316 registered electors are entitled to go to the polls and register their sovereign wills. Elections are deferred in The Pas and Rupert's Land, and the voters in those constituencies are not included in the above total.

Fifty-one members are being elected today, and these, with the two deferred elections and two members elected by acclamation, make up the mombersihp of 55 in the next legislature.

More men than women are entitled to vote. The last voters' list showed 107,455 males and 97,861 female electors. The new list shows 124,943 men and 83,246 women. The city of Winnipeg had 62,255 voters, nearly thirty per cent. of the provincial total.

One hundred and forty-four candidates are in the field and 93 of them are bound to be defeated. Winnipeg has a field of 41 starters, and only ten can win. Winnipeg votes under proportional representation, and Ronald Hooper, secretary of the P. R. Society of Canada, states that the election in this city will be the severest test which has been faced by the "single transferable proportional representation elective system."

Four women are running in Winnipeg, but no other constituency has a chance of female representation.

Names of the 41 Winnipeg candidates appear on a long ballot in alphabetical order, and no provision was made in the election act for designating their party affiliations. To assist the elector who desires to vote a straight ticket it has been arranged that the names of Government candidates will be printed in red on the balolt, Conservatives in blue, Labor and Socialist in pea green and Independents in black.

Not Known Until Thursday.

It will be late on Thursday before the identity of all of Winnipeg's ten members in the next legislature of Manitoba is known, according to the belief of Ronald Hooper, of Ottawa, honorary secretary of the proportional representation society of Canada, who is here to lend his expert assistance in the compiling of the vote which is being cast in Winnipeg today. This city is giving "P. R." its first test in Canada in a parliamentary election, and the presence in the field of 41 candidates makes the test one of great severity.

Italian Forces at Zara Are In Need of Reinforcements

Admiral Millo Has Asked the Italian Government to Send More Troops to Dalmatia—Report That D'Annuncio Has Sent a Battalion There

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

London, June 29—A despatch to the London Times from Rome dated Monday says a serious state of affairs is reported from Zara, a seaport in Dalmatia. It is said that the Italian Admiral Millo appealed to the Italian Government to send reinforcements to him, but that he was unable to obtain them. The despatch adds that it is reported that Gabriele D'Annunzio has sent a battalion to Zara.

Big Deal In Inverness County Colliery Properties Pending

Well Authenticated Report That Big Capitalists Are Negotiating for the Nova Scotia Mining Property at Inverness As Well As at Other Centres

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Halifax, N. S., June 29—The Herald today carries the following item:

"Advices to the Herald from Sydney last night quoted what is stated to be a well authenicated report that a big deal in Inverness County colliery properties is pending. According to this report, strong capitalists are negotiating for the acquisition of the Inverness mine, the railway connected therewith, and the pier of the Inverness Railway and Coal Company at Port Hastings. Also that negotiations are in progress looking to the acquisition of the Port Hood and the Mabou properties. The general opinion in Cape Breton seems to be that this is something pretty extensive and that an amalgamation of these properties is in project."

CANADIAN FUEL SITUATION ACUTE

Sir Robert Borden Explains the Situation in House in Asking for Legislation

[Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.]

Ottawa, June 29.—Very wide powers are granted to the Board of Railway Commissioners in dealing with the fuel situation, which has assumed a somewhat alarming attitude within the past week, under a bill introduced by the Prime Minister in the House yesterday and given its third reading. Under the bill, authority is granted the Commission to regulate importation, exportation, production and manufacture of coal, or other fuel supplies. Regulations made under the legislation are to be considered as law without being passed by the Governor General in Council, a power which the Board also has in regard to transportation matters.

In the House last week, Hon. Mr. Lemieux called attention to the seriousness of the situation, but the government stated that it was not particularly alarming. A sub-committee of the Cabinet, composed of Dr. Reid and Senator Robertson, was appointed to look into the matter, and their report was delivered on Saturday. It showed that the position was quite as grave as Mr. Lemieux had suggested, and the present legislation is the result.

The report shows that while more anthracite and bituminous coal had been imported between Jan. 1 and June 1 of the present year, the coal reserves in Canada were less than a year ago. The situation in the United States is grave, chiefly because of transportation strikes. Industries there have been obliged to close down. The Interstate Commerce Commission has placed an embargo on coal exports from the United States, and imposed other restrictions. From Jan. 1 to June 1 there had been exported from Nova Scotia mines one hundred and sixty thousand tons of coal for Europe. Prior to the war about two million tons came up the St. Lawrence from the Maritime Provinces, but that supply had almost stopped.

The Premier said: "In view of the United States having embargoed the export of coal to foreign countries because of the serious shortage at home, it will be difficult for Canada to contend for an increased supply from the United States, unless an embargo is also placed upon the exportation of Canadian coal overseas."

The Premier said he did not want it to be thought that this was the only action the government had under consideration. It is perfectly obvious, he said, that some efforts must be made, if possible, to insure greater supplies from the sources within our own country being secured. When the United States exercises control and establishes priorities in their country, it is absolutely futile for us to expect that they will send coal to this country, unless we adopt in Canada some authority with powers corresponding to these exercised in the United States by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Something must be done, said Sir Robert, in conclusion. Wide powers must be conferred on some authority to deal with the matter while Parliament is not in session. There were two courses which the government could adopt. Either to take control, as it did under the War Measure Act, or invest it in some other authority. As the Railway Commissioners are not worked, the problem has been handed to them to deal with.

UNSELFISHNESS WILL WIN JULY 10

The Votes of Men Who Are Willing to Sacrifice Their Own Preferences That the Province May Be a Better Place in Which to Live Will Ensure Victory for Prohibition.

A large number of the voters of this province will have an opportunity on July 10 to display their patriotism and their unselfishness. Many men who are not averse to beer and liquor will vote for prohibition and against the sale of wine and beer, because they know that total prohibition will make this province a better place in which to live. They are willing to forget their own preference for the sake of the general good. They know that social and economic conditions are improved by the absence of liquor. They know that prohibition is good for every business but the liquor business. They know that a dry province is the best in which to bring up a family. They know that prohibition lessens crime and reduces taxes. These are only a few of the reasons which will influence many men who have been accustomed to take a drink in the past to vote for more stringent prohibition, rather than for a backward step. Sound common sense and practical business reasons are responsible for a great part of the modern trend towards prohibition, and the voters of New Brunswick are not behind other thinking people in their recognition of the value of prohibition. Every vote will count; every thinking man and woman should vote for prohibition. Think it over.—Advt.

TAX LIMIT ON ALL TAILORED SUITS

No Tax on Suit or Overcoat Sold at a Lower Price Than $60

Ottawa, June 28.—Men's clothing made to measure is not taxable at a lower price than $60 for suit or overcoat, under a new ruling of the Minister of Inland Revenue today. This tax is retroactive to June 17, on clothing delivered since that date and not paid for. Clothes that have been paid for are not subject to a refund of any taxation paid.

Consideration was given the fact that tailors cannot make up men's clothing at the same prices charged for ready to wear factory goods. The absence of a distinction between the two on taxable price therefore worked a hardship on tailors, and the government accordingly made a new basis of taxation for tailored clothes.

The tax on ready to wear men's clothing is 15 per cent. of the purchase price in excess of $45. On made to measure suits or overcoats the tax will be 15 per cent. on the purchase price in excess of $60.

Vote FOR Prohibition

Saturday, July 10th

ELECTION INFORMATION

The Act in Brief

The present Prohibition Act legislates against the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, and only allows it for manufacturing, Sacramental and medicinal purposes.

The Act also provides for enforcement of the law and penalties for violation.

This Act was a war-time measure and the Government now wish to know from the electors whether they want Prohibition continued or not.

We Know Its Faults

The Act is weak in that it allows too much latitude in the case of doctors, druggists and vendors who have practically the dispensing of liquors within their own hands.

Further Legislation Depends on You

Application has already been made by the Temperance people to have the Act amended in regard to recognized weaknesses and the Government is sympathetic—BUT NOTE THIS—the Government put off the granting of these improvements to make the Act more effective, until the result of this election PROVES that the people want Prohibition, and by the majority of the vote the Government will know just how badly the electors do want it.

Your Vote

at this Election may have very important influence on the future action of the Government.

Are You Aware of This?

In 1919 an Act Passed the House, providing that the Government shall take over the entire liquor business within the Province, for the three purposes contained in the Act, and also giving them more stringent control over the sale of extracts, essences and tinctures—But Hark You, the Government has refused to take action on this amendment, until the voice of the people has been heard at the coming election.

Stop Importation Our Next Move

Authority to Prevent the Importation of Liquor into the Province does not rest with the Provincial, but with our Dominion Government, which has already stated that a vote may be taken on the question in New Brunswick, on the recommendation of the Legislature. If the result at the coming election satisfies them that the people actually want Prohibition—we are sure to get it.

WHAT YOUR BALLOT CAN DO JULY 10th

FIRST—Provide the way for necessary Amendments to the Act that will make it really effective.

SECOND—Show the Government that the people demand Prohibition, and want the laws enforced.

THIRD—Hasten the election that can shut out the importation of liquor into the Province.

REMEMBER You are Voting for Prohibition as Against a Return to the Bars

DON'T FAIL TO DO A MAN OR WOMAN'S PART JULY 10th

New Brunswick Teachers Association Opens Its Membership to All Holders of Teachers Licenses in New Brunswick

Will Give the Teachers One Big Organization to Enforce Their Salary and Other Demands—Dr. B. C. Foster, the President, Reviews Growth of Association and What It Has Accomplished—A. S. McFarlane Praised for His Energetic Work as Secretary—Reports of Progress in Various Districts—Charles B. Stillman, President of the American Federation of Teachers, Advocates Affiliation With Organized Labor.

The New Brunswick Teachers' Association at their meeting here last night in connection with the biennial session of the Educational Institute of New Brunswick decided to open the membership to all teachers holding licenses.

Membership had previously been restricted to the holders of the higher classes of licenses, and practically every teacher in the province eligible has held membership in the association, which has been active in bringing about an increase in the salaries of teachers.

No action was taken on the proposal to have the organization become associated with the American Federation of Teachers, whose president, Charles B. Stillman, of Chicago, was present and advocated such action, which would mean affiliation with the American Federation of Labor.

The Chairman's Address.

Dr. B. C. Foster presided and in his opening address traced the growth of the association from the time when there were but 50 teachers enrolled until the present day, when it includes practically all the higher class teachers of the province. The organization had been well received by the public and press and had been recognized by the Board of Education and trustees throughout the province.

The speaker stated that the report read in the legislature was well received by the members and now an association was well under way without friction. Two meetings of the executive had been held, and at these the schedule of salaries for the teachers had been drawn up and sent to trustees, teachers and the press throughout the province. While all praise was due the association in connection with the increases it was not claimed that the organization had done all the work. Continuing, Dr. Foster stated that it would be well for all teachers to communicate in future with the various secretaries in order that better regulated schedules might be drafted.

Success so far had been due to (1) the organization, (2) the zeal and activity of the members supplemented by the hearty co-operation of the teachers, (3) the untiring efforts of the secretary-treasurer, A. S. McFarlane, of Fredericton. Dr. Foster stated that the association had so far justified its existence and that its objects were: To act in harmony with the educational authorities of the province to bring about better conditions, to try by all legitimate means to raise the standard of the salaries, to unite the teachers more in spirit, to seek to obtain an adequate pension scheme in order to give more permanence to the profession. Regarding pensions the committee which was appointed to interview the Government was sympathetically received and the only reason no action was taken was because of the nearness to the time of proroguing.

Reports from Various Districts.

Concluding, Dr. Foster suggested that the meeting hear from the various chairmen with regard to the salaries. In this city the Board of Trustees had been told by the teachers that they would press for minimum salaries as laid down in the schedule. Many had received substantial advances and others had received the highest amounts mentioned. It was decided that so far that was satisfactory and nothing further would be asked at present. In Marysville the amounts asked were given and a $100 bonus besides. In Devon the teachers had received satisfactory increases in salaries.

G. A. Harrison, M. A., of Chatham, reported very fair progress in his district. In every instance with which he was acquainted the boards had given substantial increases, and in some cases more than was asked. Dr. George J. Oulton, of Westmorland county, stated that in his county the scheme was doing well and good advances had been made throughout the district. In Moncton the minimum had been placed at $800 and the school board had made it $1,000. The matter of salaries, he said, did not mean mere living expenses but a reward for services.

W. J. S. Myles, of St. John, said that things in that city were practically the same as in the capital. The teachers were looking forward to the full demands at the opening of the coming year. Full credit was given the association for the work.

Miss Jackson, of Queens county, stated that in her county things were very satisfactory.

D. W. Wallace, of Woodstock, said that the work of the association had been fairly satisfactory. Salaries in Woodstock had ben raised appreciably, but not up to the minimum. Other districts had been given increases and great satisfaction was expressed.

A. S. McFarlane then presented his report, showing that in 1918-1919 887 teachers joined, paying the membership fee of $1. At the close of the school year 64 new students joined. The total number was thus 549 paying members and 35 or 40 others who will not be expected to pay for one year. The financial statement showed a balance on hand at the present time of $316.30.

A sum of $200 was moved by Mr. Miles to be given to the secretary for his splendid services, and the vote was carried unanimously. Mr. McFarlane extended his thanks for the splendid feeling of the association.

W. McL. Barker then took the floor on the work of the legislature committee appointed last year. He said that the attitude of the members was most studious and attentive and on no occasion was there shown by the members of the committee any obstacle other than the finding of money. Discussions had shown that the general feeling was in favor of increased pensions. He stated that what was sought was the backing of the organization in the pension scheme.

It was moved and seconded that the matter of pensions be left over to an adjourned meeting.

Miss Patchet, a former student of the Normal School, gave an address dealing with the present movements in education. She prophesied that during the next ten years the province of New Brunswick would see great changes. She asked for the support of the association in the work of the Educational Review.

TEACHERS' FEDERATION.

Chas. B. Stillman, of Chicago, Speaks on Behalf of Affiliation with Organized Labor.

Charles B. Stillman, president of the American Federation of Teachers, outlined the origin of the Federation, stating that the city of Chicago had been the pioneer city of the group in the movement. One of the first objects aimed at by the association was the obtaining of higher wages in place of the miserable salaries granted. The Federation found that with low salaries the schools themselves were in danger of collapse. Thousands of schools were closed because the pitiful salaries offered were no inducement to anyone to take up the teaching profession.

The teachers were leaving the profession by tens of thousands, throwing off the shackles, and others were refusing to prepare themselves for a profession which did not supply a living.

He stated that the present Normal School, he had heard, had a class far from the maximum during the past year, and other Normal Schools in Canada as well as the United States had fallen off in attendance alarmingly. The public were being awakened to the danger slowly it was true.

He described conditions in the various parts of the United States and stated that zoological keepers were paid to take care of animals a higher wage than the school teachers were paid to take care of the youth of the nation.

The condition of the teacher was a difficult one, as their contract rested upon the whim and caprice of school authorities who could not value good work under adverse conditions. Sometimes efficiency in the minds of some of the school authorities meant belonging to the right church or some such foolishness.

The lack of democracy in the school system was another factor in the case. The democracy in the school often gave way to a true Prussianism. Unless teachers were associated in some way with democracy they would never know what democracy in the school room meant.

The class room teacher makes or breaks the efficiency of the school room in the last analysis. Equipment was nothing but mere junk without efficiency.

Inadequate school funds was another matter which must be brought home. The public in this respect was a humbug. There was no public that could be appealed to but the organized groups.

The licensing of provincial teachers was a matter in which many parents showed no interest other than agreeing to it. Would they license a provisional surgeon?

The Demand for Organization.

Many teachers had admitted that they needed a better type of organization to get along with, and teachers thought it about time to found an organization with teeth in it and a power to stand alone. The American teachers believed that the should ally with some body which could help them once started. After some consideration the American Federation of Labor was decided upon, as this was the one organized body which had come to the aid of the teachers and had worked for tax supporting schools. The organization of labor had found that they were totally dependent upon the public school for the education of their children.

Mr. Stillman dealt with the earlier struggles of the association and concluded with the situation after it had been once started, stating that after a lengthy debate the Chicago teachers united with the Chicago Federation of Labor.

Several years ago 68 Chicago teachers were dismissed and at once various other organizations had some 6,000 applications ready for the teachers' jobs in that city alone. The professional standard of the Chicago schools was high, and it took the best experience and knowledge to fill them, and when organizations had attempted to lower the standard it was only through the aid of organized labor that the Teachers' Federation had survived.

He outlined and summarized the objects of the Federation, stating that their problems were community problems and consequently the local group were the most satisfactory in handling them.

The idea of the Federation being affiliated with the American Federation of Labor was looked upon unfavorably with many people who were totally at sea in this respect. Too often the press and the public through ignorance had campaigned against the Federation because of that fact. No group could call the teachers out on strike or even suggest it. Unaffiliated teachers had struck but no others had done so. Many had gone on strike for only ten dollars a month, a fact which proved conclusively that they were unaffiliated with organized labor.

One statement made against the Federation was that it was unprofessionel. This was not true, as teaching should be one of the loftiest professions of the times. Many people thought that it was undignified to affiliate with organized labor, the speaker stated, but this he ridiculed, showing how many great men had joined the Federation.

Another statement often brought against the Federation was that they protected incompetency. This was not true, as every teacher had a right to a hearing.

The Federation, he stated, believed in a minimum salary of $2,000 for every teacher, but they thought that a teacher for each child was worth that much.

The influence of the teacher should be felt on current affairs as well as ancient history, as too many of the teachers were confined to their class rooms. The public school system was as yet far from perfect but would be gradually improved.

The object of the Federation was not more money but more influence.

George A. Oulton, of Moncton, moved an amendment to the organization clause of the N. B. Teachers' Association that second class teachers be allied with the association. An amendment was moved that all persons holding licenses from the educational department be allowed into the association. This amendment was carried unanimously.

A motion was made that school inspectors be made ex-officio members of the executive, but objection was taken to this, as it was thought that the executive was large enough. One member of the association objected because he did not believe in having the executive controlled by Government appointees.

ENGINEER KILLED AT EDMUNDSTON

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Edmundston, N. B., June 29.—There occurred yesterday, in the C. P. R. yards here, an accident in which Bert Gardiner, a locomotive engineer, lost his life. According to the most reliable account, while the Edmundston Aroostook freight was being made up, Mr. Gardiner left the locomotive in charge of a substitute while he went for a supply of tobacco. While on a rear flat car, he thought that part of the train was moving too fast, and ran to apply the brake to prevent too strong a collision with another string of cars. He was too late, however, and the jar threw him down between two cars, which continued to move a short distance, passing over the engineer's body. Although not immediately fatal, the injuries received proved so in the end. Mr. Gardiner, who resided at Woodstock, is survived by a wife and three children.

Poets are born and sometimes they are paid.

THE GOVERNMENT AT OTTAWA.

The St. John Standard is no doubt quite accurate in saying that, "In referring to New Brunswick's lack of "representation in the Federal Cabi"net, The Standard had no intention "of endeavoring to promote the in"terests of any individual"; and we fail to see why our contemporary has reason to think that others, possibly, do not understand its position. Looking to the formation of a new Federal Cabinet, in which New Brunswick will probably have representation, it is desirable, it is urgent, that the big men of Canada, clean men, men of national reputation, men of character, leaders in the public life of the country, irrespective of party or sections, unite and devote their energies and abilities to the common good. That is a suggestion by The Gleaner to which exception cannot be reasonably taken. We speak broadly when we say that the situation demands progressive and consistently honorable government.

The Standard also complains that the interests of the province are suffering while New Brunswick is not represented in the Federal Government. We are to have either a new government or a reorganization within the next few weeks. It is unreasonable therefore to insist that an exception be made of New Brunswick and a portfolio provided instantly. The demand that such an exception be made is not general.

Our contemporary sees many good and able men in New Brunswick well fitted for the public life and capable of doing good service in government. It saw good and able men also in 1917. When Mr. Carvell was called to Union Government, and accepted instantly the call was made, The Standard saw in him not only our greatest New Brunswicker but also one of our greatest Canadians; a perfect man—almost a saviour. Is it only since Mr. Carvell resigned to accept a more lucrative position that this province has suffered loss of prestige and loss of influence? Then why remonstrate? It is but a comparatively short time since he gave up. The recent election by acclamation of Dr. Roberts of St. John, through the process of a deal, may also serve to confirm our contemporary's notion that big men and brave men—big and broad politicians and brave politicians, and even statesmen—are to be found in large numbers in New Brunswick, more particularly in St. John.

The Standard should not be impatient.

HAVE NOT FORGOTTEN.

British seamen have won a victory at the Genoa conference, quite apart from the purpose for which the conference was called. When the German submarine campaign was in progress, and British seamen were being murdered daily, often in circumstances of fiendish brutality, the men of the mercantile marine announced their determination never to associate in peace with German sailors so long as these wrongs remained unrecognized. The men of the merchant service had faced all risks that the armies and the civil populations in the Allied countries overseas might be fed. The record which they made was one of heroism and sacrifice unsurpassed in any service. The dangers that they faced daily and hourly were those of unlawful warfare, murderous in conception and frightful in execution. It is small wonder that, while others have been forgetting in the period of physical safety since the close of the war, these men have not forgotten nor forgiven, remarks an exchange.

The Genoa conference, called in connection with the labor provisions of the Treaty of Peace, found both British and German seamen in attendance. The Germans had signed a manifesto expressing approval of the submarine campaign, and against the presence of these men at the conference the British seamen protested, being supported in their attitude by seamen from other Allied countries and by those of neutral nations as well for the result has been that the Germans, with the authority of their Government, have given a declaration deploring the submarine campaign and asserting the intention of the German government to provide compensation for the victims of the campaign, as required by the Treaty, and to extend the scope of such compensation to include the nationals of neutral countries. The declaration is described as being clearly stated, an acknowledgment of wrong done and of a national obligation to make good the losses sustained through it. This is a notable triumph. Whether or not it denotes a change of heart on the part of the Germans, it is at any rate a practical victory, won by the sailors themselves by reason of the determined stand which they have taken. In this connection it is interesting to note that British and French engineers are discussing plans for raising the wreck of the Lusitania, which lies in 250 feet of water off the Old Head of Kinsdale. It is proposed to build a huge floating chamber, to be attached to the wreck by steel cables at low tide. The rise of the water will lift the ship, which will then be towed into shallow water. The scheme is said to be feasible and worth while from a financial point of view, besides the importance of recovering the eleven hundred bodies thought to be entombed in the ship.

NO LUXURY TAX STAMPS AUGUST 1

Punches for Cancellation to Be Provided at Cost to the Merchants

Ottawa, June 28.—Final decision has been made by the inland revenue department not to begin the collection of the new taxes by means of revenue stamps until August 1. In the meantime retailers will have to make remittances to the nearest inland revenue office according to the instructions already issued. The revenue stamps for denominations from one cent to ten cents, for thirteen, fifteen, twenty, twenty-five and thirty cents and every multiple of ten cents up to one dollar, and for one, two, three, four, five and ten dollars are already printed, but it is felt that to get them in sufficient quantities for distribution throughout the length and breadth of Canada, so that they would be available for every business man and in his hands would require until August 1. The stamps are of different colors so that clerks can easily distinguish them quickly, and there are so many denominations to make it possible to affix the exact amount of the tax in the majority of cases with either one or two stamps. There are a few exceptional cases where three stamps would be needed, but not often. The stamps of higher value would be useful in the case of stock transfers, and the selling of expensive articles, such as a seal skin coat for $1,000; the tax would be $20 in that case, and two stamps of $10 each would have to be affixed to the invoice. The stamps are uniform in design, bearing the bust of His Majesty with the words "inland revenue" inserted above the head, and the words "excise tax" down below, while the denomination of the stamp would be shown on either side.

After considering all methods of cancellation, including various kinds of indelible pencils, it has been decided that the only satisfactory method will be by means of a punch. This will be supplied by the department at cost to all merchants, and every stamp will have to be cancelled by means of it, after being affixed to an invoice or sales receipt. The exact type of punch has not yet been determined, your correspondent was informed by George W. Taylor, assistant deputy minister of customs and inland revenue, tonight, in answer to a query.

Asked as to what rate would apply on pipes when sold by a jeweler, Mr. Taylor replied that the jeweler would have to collect fifteen per cent on the excess in spite of his turnover tax of ten per cent. On fountain pens, worth more than five dollars, the fifteen per cent. rate is collected in all stores, except a jewelry store, where the ten per cent. turnover rate would apply.

FINE WHOLESALERS FOR SELLING LEMON

Nine Leading St. John Business Firms Fined $200 Each by Police Magistrate

St John, June 29.—The case against the wholesale grocers who were charged with having lemon extract for sale in their respective places of business, was continued in the police court yesterday afternoon and nine wholesale grocery companies and firms were each fined $200 or in default of payment the heads of the concerns were sentenced to six months in jail. Two additional companies besides those charged when the case was up before, were added to the list, namely, Hall & Fairweather, Ltd., and H. W. Cole, Ltd. The Brayley Drug Co., one of the defendants, had no representative in court, there being some misunderstanding as to the time the case was to be taken up. This really is a test case, as it is the first time wholesale firms have been convicted on a lemon charge under the Liquor Act, although there have been many convictions of retail merchants who were charged with selling the extracts as beverages. The merchants may appeal the case although no information on this point could be ascertained yesterday.

WEDDINGS

Sansom-Pringle.

St. Peter's church, Stanley, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Thursday, June 24, when Miss Agnes Thorburn Pringle, daughter of Gilbert Pringle, of Peterboro, Ont., became the bride of Wm. J. Sansom, of Stanley.

The bride, who is one of Stanley's most charming young ladies, was becomingly gowned in a travelling suit of taupe serge with a smart hat of the same shade; with this a marbou and ostrich cape was worn, and a huge bouquet of white carnations and sweet peas. She was given in marriage by her grandfather, Joseph Thorburn. The groom, who is a returned soldier, is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Edwin Sansom of Stanley.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion by the girl friends of the bride. During the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. M. J. MacPherson, appropriate music was rendered by Miss Della Henderson. After the ceremony the bridal party motored to Golden Grove Farm, the beautiful home of the bride's grandfather, where a delicious buffet lunch was served.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Sansom motored to Fredericton and left on the evening train for St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, where the honeymoon will be spent. On their return they will reside at Napudogan, where the groom holds a responsible position with the C. N. R.

Many beautiful gifts, including several cheques, attested to the popularity of the young couple.

The Stock Market

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

New York (Wall Street), June 29.—Trading at the outset of today's stock market indicated a continuance of recent excessively dull and featureless sessions. With the exception of Consolidated Gas, which gained one and a quarter points on a favorable legal decision and the further decline of 1½ points in Barrett, advances and declines, the latter predominating, were limited to fractions. Heavy withdrawals of funds from local banks today and tomorrow to meet federal payments is expected to find reflection in the firmer money tendencies.

The Noon Market.

New York (Wall Street, Noon), June 29.—In almost every essential the market followed its monotonous course of the previous day. Special issues, particularly oils, chemicals and equipments, were again subjected to pressure with motors and shippings. Mexican Petroleum, Middle States Oil, National Aniline, American Can, International Paper and United Fruit lost 1 to 2 points. Delaware & Hudson was conspicuous among rails for a further decline of almost four points. The only stocks to show even a degree of firmness were Vanadium Steel and Famous Players. Call money opened at 9 per cent. and rates on London were virtually unchanged.

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Montreal, June 29.—Breweries was the big factor for the first hour on the local stock exchange this morning, selling at a new high on the present movement. Insiders cannot account for the strength but the street seems to think that the new stock has promising future. The paper stocks were quiet but inclined to be firmer while in the industrial list there was a tendency to stick at recent levels.

Patriotism in the Schools Subject for Discussion at The Educational Institute

Interesting Address by Dr. H. V. Bridges, Principal of the Normal School, This Morning—Urges Recognition of Canadians' Heroic Work in Great War

Patriotism in Lessons from the Great War was the subject of an impressive address by Dr. H. V. B. Bridges, principal of the Provincial Normal School, before the Educational Institute of New Brunswick this morning, in which he advocated greater recognition of the heroic deeds of Canadian soldiers in the public schools, including suitable commemoration of the anniversaries of the great battles.

A paper on How to Make the Best Use of School Libraries, by Miss Estelle Vaughan, of St. John, followed, and was quite generally discussed. This afternoon L. W. Simms, of St. John, is to discuss The Relation of Vocational Schools to Our Common and High Schools, and Mrs. R. A. Jamieson, of St. John, will take up The Proper Relation Between the School and the Home from the Parents' Point of View. This evening there will be a public meeting, at which the principal speakers will be Prof. Sinclair Laird, dean of the School for Teachers, McDonald College, Montreal, and Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, Minister of Health. There will also be a musical programme.

Dr. Bridges' Address.

At the opening of this morning's session of the Educational Institute Miss Black was elected assistant secretary of the organization.

Dr. H.V.B. Bridges, principal of the Normal School, was the first speaker of the morning and took as his topic Patriotism as Taught by the Great War. He spoke of the inspiration of the flag in the public school.

One of the first lessons the great war taught us, he said, was that the Germans were the biggest gang of human devils that ever trod the earth and no punishment that could be meted out to them would be severe enough. He took his hearers right down through the days of the awful war and told of how the navy had saved the day on more than one occasion. He quoted a historian who said he did not believe England ever would become a fighting nation again; but the war came, and England showed, although unprepared, what she could do. He also spoke of the crowning humiliation of the Germans in the capture of their fleet, which had been kept bottled up in the Kiel canal for four years. How the British navy stayed and watched for four years until they captured the enemy fleet.

Continuing, Dr. Bridges told of 9,000 Englishmen going home from Argentine to fight for the mother land. Early in the war the Germans said the British mercantile marine would be afraid to carry on; but what did the war show? Month by month, year by year, they carried on and transported out troops overseas.

He spoke of the new text books which would have stories of the part our soldiers played in the war. There was not a village or town in Canada that could not be brought down to the attention of the school children for the noble part some young man played. He spoke of Ralph Gregg, a farmer, Kings county, student teacher, winning the Victoria Cross, and of Herman Good, of Bathurst, winning the same decoration, and said he thought the glorious lesson of patriotism to be learned from the heroic deeds of our boys should be instilled into the minds of the young. He suggested that as each anniversary of some great battle came around the teachers could do no greater thing than to tell of the noble deeds done by our boys and to show that they had not died in vain. "Bring home to the youth of today the debt they owe to Canada, and if the youngest infant of today lives to be 90 years of age they will not see the debt paid," declared Dr. Bridges.

The next peaker at the morning session was Miss Estelel Vaughan, of St. John, who spoke on school libraries and how to make the best use of them from a librarian's point of view.

The paper read proved exceedingly interesting and showed the relation of the library to the home and school. The books a school library should contain, how they should be listed. The firts book read by a boy or girl often leaves a lasting impression. The boy who first read a dime novel may be today an inmate of an industrial school or a penitentiary, while those who read a good book in their first childhood days are today the men of the world, and the same is true of the first impression on a girl's mind.

Dr. Carter spoke on school libraries. The province does make grants to school libraries, but in many cases he regarded this grant as waste. The first teacher makes the library, the next one may spoil it. In driving through the country districts recently in many cases he found only a few of the school libraries left. People who read a great deal judge the books by the author, and in making appeal for grants for libraries name the authors. Above all things take care of the library and do not allow the work one teacher has begun to be destroyed. The old royal readers have never been surpassed.

COMPENSATION SUIT

St. John, June 29.—In circuit court today, the case of Bishop vs. Sayre and Holly Lumber Co. is being held. It is a claimed for $20,000 for compensation for Harry Bishop, aged 13, who had his arm hurt in the defendant's mill at Chipman last October, amputation being necessary. It is said the boy's father found he could at most receive $500 under the compensation act and so brought the action.

Two representatives of old St. Croix families were united in marriage at Emmanuel church (Episcopal) Boston, on Saturday when Rev. P. G. Kammerer officiated at the wedding of Major Guy Murchie, formerly of Calais, and Mrs. Jane V. Cotton, of 21 Commonwealth avenue, formerly Miss Jane V. Eaton, daughter of B. L. Eaton, of New York, formerly of Calais. Walter B. Eaton, of New York, brother of the bride, gave the latter away and the groomsmen were Guy and Donald, young sons of the bridegroom. Two young daughters of Mr. Murchie were attendants of the bride.

She is being warmly welcomed home by her friends.

Fined and Suspended.

New York, June 28.—John A. Heydler, president of the National League, announced today that he had fined Umpire Klem and Pitcher Luque, of the Cincinnati club, $100 each and suspended, indefinitely, Catcher Wingo for an altercation which arose during the game with St. Louis at Cincinnati last Saturday.

Heydler said that he had not waited for charges to be preferred against Klem, as the latter admitted that he had used offensive language in speaking to Luque. The pitcher's offense was striking Klem while Wingo was involved in the same controversy.

CONCRETE

makes the "Permanent" Culvert—also best for Sewer Pipe.

The increasing preferance for Concrete, as the material for Culvert and Sewer Pipe construction is due to the fact that Concrete has many superior advantages over other material that might be used for the purpose.

Where permanence is a necessity, Concrete is unequalled. Well-made concrete Pipe is proof against destruction by frost, rot or rust, and a Concrete Culvert is proof against floods.

A peculiar advantage of Concrete Pipe is the fact that it grows stronger with age. Maintenance need not be considered when our Concrete Pipe is used.

Concrete Builders Limited Concrete Pipe is made in steel moulds, by power tampers, and cured in steam. Made in a wide range of sizes and weights—and every piece reinforced with galvanized steel wire. An estimate will place you under no obligation.

POLICE HAVE CLUE TO ELWELL MURDER

Slain Turfman Believed to Have Been Mixed Up In Liquor Transaction

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

New York, June 29.—Information that Jos. B. Elwell, turfman and whist expert, was shot to death in his home here June 11, was slain by a man who believed he had been double-crossed in a $12,700 liquor transaction, was laid before District Attorney Swann today.

Elwell, according to the information, purchased the liquor during the week before his death. Several other persons whose names, it was stated, were furnished the District Attorney, were involved. The turfman, it was said, did not have the cash with which to pay for the liquor and gave a check, with the stipulation that it be held until he raised funds with which to meet it. The liquor, Mr. Swann was informed, was delivered to a point not disclosed.

Previous evidence showed, it was said, that a few days before his death Elwell sold a racehorse for $5,500, and the officials say that altogether he raised a total of more than $9,200 which, they believe, was to pay for the liquor. His failure to obtain the amount of the check, they believe, resulted in a visit from one of the men involved in the scheme and the shooting followed.

Explorer Says It Is Deplorable What Children Are Taught About the Northland

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Winnipeg, Man., June 29.—"It is deplorable and rediculous what the schools of Canada teach Canadian children about the northlands of the Dominion," declared Vilhjalmuh Stefansson, a recent visitor here. "It amounts to most defamatory propaganda," added the noted explorer.

People generally display a lamentable ignorance concerning this country, and it is simply due to the fact that they are wrongly instructed when they are children, according to Mr. Stefansson, who declared that the country north of the Arctic circle is very different to what people believe.

There are 640 different species of flowering plants, and roughly three times as many species of flowering plants as non-flowering plants in the Arctic country, Mr. Stefansson said, and he described some of the conditions responsible for what to the people of Canada, seems anomalous, because of the climatic conditions there.

In the north, he explained, there are two seasons similar to the seasons of the settled part of Canada.

Just in the same way as grass cannot grow here in the winter time, the grass cannot grow in the country around the north of the Artic circle in the winter. But in the summer time, one can find Kentucky blue grass, which is the most prevalent among the vegetation up there, golden rod, poppies, blue bells, dandelions, timothy and watercress, "and these plants grow as far north as any land that has been discovered," added Mr. Stefansson.

Speaking of the development of the nothland, Mr. Stefansson predicted that it would be developed in the same way as other countries. He explained that there are rich resources up there and when asked if climate would act as a deterrent, replied, "A land is measured by its productivity and not by its climate, and if a land is productive, it will be developed irrespective of its climate."

WOMEN'S DEAREST RIGHT VIOLATED

Intolerance Reaches Greatest Height in Law Advocated in New Brunswick

If the women of New Brunswick were sufficiently acquainted with the provisions of the Prohibition Act they would vote in a body against it for this drastic piece of legislation violates the dearest rights of women. This Act does not mean temperance, it stands rather for Intolerance and Revolution, as under the Bolshevistic treatment of women in Russia.

Among other things this act:

1.—Gives the Chief Inspector and all or any of his sub-inspectors or constables the right to search at pleasure at any hour of the night without a warrant the sleeping berth of any passenger—male or female on any train passing through New Brunswick. Section 153.

2—Gives the Chief Inspector and all on any of his sub-inspectors or constables the right to enter at pleasure at any hour of the night any bedroom, whether occupied by a male or a female, in any hotel or apartment house and search "in every part thereof." Section 153.

(Only two or three weeks ago the Daily Telegraph reported a Saturday night raid on a number of hotels in St. John and that many of the guests were routed out of their beds in the middle of the night and their bedrooms searched by the Chief Inspector's appointees.)

3.—Gives the Chief Inspector and all of any of his sub-inspectors or constables the right to stop and search without a warrant the person of any man or woman, whom they may suspect of carrying liquor, and the right also to search any vehicle of any kind in which they may suspect that liquor is being carried. Section 162.

4.—Gives the Chief Inspector and all or any of his sub-inspectors or constables the right to enter at pleasure without a warrant at any hour of the day or night any house or building, the rooms or compartments of which are leased to different persons, or any house or building in which meals are provided for money or in which more than three lodgers are kept other than the occupant's own family, and to search in every part thereof. Section 2 and 153.

(This means surely that any lodging-house keeper is in danger anytime of prosecution and fine if one border brings liquor for any purpose whatever in her house and that all occupants of the house are subjected to the indignity of having their rooms searched at any hour of the day or night.

Members Working Long Hours In An Endeavor To Hasten the Prorogation of the House

Every Indication That the Close Will Come Some Time Tomorrow—The Naval Estimates Adopted by a Vote of 55 to 31—Government Caucus

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, June 29.—Parliament is as is usual towards the end of the session sitting about twelve hours a day trying to make up for the sins of the past. It was nearly four o'clock this morning when the light on top of the buildings flickered out. The House will renew again at two this afternoon. Prorogation is hoped for tomorrow afternoon or evening, and on Thursday will come the big caucus.

The Board of Commerce matter will come up this afternoon and Judge Robson is hurrying here from the west to make his plea of justification to the ministry and to the public. The indemnity matter is also up this afternoon, and Mr. Rock Lanctot, the Quebec farmer who thinks he is getting enough indemnity now, will divide the House on the question, so that the attitude of the members may be on record. It is generally believed that the Hon. Mackenzie King will favor an increase being deferred until a new Parliament, and Mr. Crerar will certainly oppose an increase at present. It will go through, nevertheless. Whether the members gauge public sentiment correctly or not they propose to believe that the people are in favor of an increase.

Prorogation Tomorrow

Ottawa, June 29.—Prorogation has been tentatively fixed for tomorrow afternoon. Preparations to this end have been made, although there is considerable doubt if the House will be able to conclude its business today, even with an all night sitting.

Discussion of the Board of Commerce resignations has still to come, the increase in members indemnities has yet to be voted and much supply remains. Estimates of the labor department, for instance, have not been passed. But there is a general desire to terminate session early as possible and an effort will be made to conclude business today.

Following prorogation Sir Robert Borden will probably take a rest of ten days or so.

Naval Estimates Passed

Ottawa, June 29—In the House early this morning during the debate on the naval estimates, Hon. Mr. Rowell said that he believed the nations would come to see that international disputes were decided by the reign of law, but that time had not come.

Hon. Arthur Meighen said that the argument that there was no immediate menace and therefore no need of a policy of defence was not supported by facts. The British Empire was still compelled to provide against possible foes at huge expense. Canada's share in naval obligations far exceeded the figure expressed in this vote of two million dollars.

The debate ended in a discussion between Mr. Ballantyne and Mr. Mackenzie-King on the reason for the additional vote.

Vote was then taken on the main estimate of $300,000, which was adopted without division. Then the house divided on the supplementary vote of $1,700,000, which was adopted on a standing vote, 55 in favor of an adoption and 31 against.

Some of the Crimes —Of the— New Brunswick Prohibition Act

Under the provisions of the New Brunswick Prohibition Act YOU become a Law-Breaker and a Criminal, and are liable to a penalty for the first offence of not less than $50 nor more than $200 or to imprisonment for not less than three months nor more than six months.

1. If YOU carry with you on a train, steamboat or other conveyance a vial of brandy or other medicinal stimulant containing more than 2 p. c. by weight of proof spirits for use in the emergency of accident or sudden illness.

2. If YOU carry to any place outside your own front or back door a vial of brandy or other medicinal stimulant containing more than 2 p. c. by weight of proof spirits for the revival or relief of the victim of an accident or sudden illness.

3. If in your own home in the event of a chill, illness or other emergency YOU take or have administered to YOU a drink of brandy or other medicinal stimulant containing more than 2 p. c. by weight of proof spirits, which has been lawfully purchased and prescribed for any other member of your household.

4. If outside of your own home YOU have in your possession any spirituous or malt liquor of any kind containing more than 2 p. c. by weight of proof spirits under any circumstances whatever, unless such liquor has been prescribed for you by a physician who has "professionally visited" you as a "sick person."

5. If in your own home—unless you are fortunate enough to possess or occupy a separate house or building within the meaning of the expression "private dwelling" as defined by the Act, or unless YOU are fortunate enough not to be under the necessity of keeping lodgers or boarders—YOU have in your possession any brandy or other medicinal stimulant containing more than 2 p. c. by weight of proof spirits, for purely bona fide use in the emergency of accident or sudden illness.

6. If YOU have in your possession outside the "Private Dwelling" in which YOU reside a shaving lotion containing more than 2 p. c. by weight of proof spirits, which has not been prescribed for YOU by a physician who has "professionally visited" YOU as a "sick person."

Under this Act YOU cannot lawfully purchase within the Province a bottle of brandy or an ounce of alcohol and keep it even in your "Private Dwelling" for use in the emergency of accident or sudden illness.

YOU cannot lawfully purchase within the Province a bottle of wine or a bottle of brandy for cooking purposes.

YOU cannot lawfully purchase within the Province alcohol or other "drinkable liquid" containing more than 2 p. c. by weight of proof spirits for the care or treatment of your live-stock.

The Act not only prohibits the sale of liquor except for mechanical, scientific, medicinal and sacramental purposes, but prohibits its sale even for bona fide medicinal purposes except by a licensed vendor upon a signed precription of a registered physician, who has "professionally visited" the "sick person" for whom it is prescribed.

What do the free and intelligent men and women of New Brunswick thing of such an Act?

Do they think that in the name of temperance it should be continued on our statute books as the permanent law of this Province, when Premier Foster has pledged his word that if the people vote for the repeal of this Act, his Government will substitute for it a sane Temperance Act, which, while effectually prohibiting the Open Bar and the Saloon, will respect the rights and legitimate needs of the people.

Do not be deceived as to what the issue is. It is not between Prohibition and the Open Bar or Saloon.

It is between the present New Brunswick Prohibition Act, which was put over on our Legislature as a war measure, and which outrages every principle of British Justice and British Law and Freedom, and a Sane and Just Temperance Act, which all thoughtful men and women can respect.

Ready to Race The Problem, 2.04 1-4, Against Zom Q., 2.09 1-4, Says Bud Tingley, His Owner

Houlton Man Declares That Ira Carpenter Does Not Own The Problem

"The Problem, 2.04¼, is ready to he raced for $2,000 a side or any other amount against Zom Q., 2.09¼, any time," declared "Bud" Tingley, the well known Houlton, Me., horseman, over the long distance telephone to The Gleaner yesterday afternoon.

It appears that an item which appeared in The Gleaner over the sale of an interest in Zom Q. to Fred Bishop, a wealthy potato grower residing near Houlton, has stirred up a regular hornet's nest in Aroostook. It was intimated in that article that Ira Carpenter, of Patten, Me., still owns an interest in The Problem, but Mr. Tingley asserted this was untrue and that he (Tingley) was the sole proprietor.

"Mr. Bishop is a particular friend of mine and assures me that he is not acquiring an interest in Zom Q. in order to go after The Problem," said Mr. Tingley, "but if the person who gave The Gleaner its information, or anybody else, wants to match Zom Q. against my horse for $2,000 a side, I shall gladly cover their deposit."

The controversy has stirred up quite an interest in the first appearance of the two Houlton free for allers.—J. D. B.

"Bob" McKee to be Starter

R. J. ("Bob") McKee, of Fort Fairfield, Me., the well known Aroostook official, will be the starter at the Fredericton Park Association's races on Dominion Day.

Arrangements were completed this morning for Mr. McKee to officiate and he will arrive here tomorrow evening. From Fredericton he will go to Danforth, Me., for Saturday, July 3rd, thus starting off what promises to be a busy season for this popular official who has previously officiated at a good many tracks in New Brunswick.

First Entries Received For Circuit Races Here

But It Will Be Last of Week Before Entries for $5,300 Worth of Intermittent Closing Purses and Early Stakes are Listed—Adioo Guy, 2.00¾, Races Today

The first entry for the Fredericton Park Association's Maritime and Maine Circuit races was received last night and some more came in this morning.

As a matter of fact the entries do not close until midnight tonight, and under the rules all those bearing postmarks until noon tomorrow are eligible, so that it will be the last days of the week before a comprehensive list can be prepared.

The first entry to come in was for the early closing stakes to be raced in September, and came from Aroostook county. It was significant that the same stables did not send an entry for the midsummer meeting, which may mean the horsemen of northern Maine are going to do their racing in the Potato Belt very largely until they start their fall excursions away from home.

Have Value of $5,300.

Intermitten closing purses for the midsummer meeting and early closing stakes for fall, which close today, have a total value of $5,300. There are six intermittent closing purses to be raced in July, each for $400, viz: Free for all, 2.19, 2.22 and 2.27 trots, 2.20 trot and pace and 2.27 pace. Of the seven early closing events to be raced in September the free for all trot is $500 and the other six each valued at $400 are: 2.16 mixed, 2.20 mixed and 2.27 pace, 2.19 trot, 2.22 trot and 2.27 trot.

There seems to be a general impression that the Maritime and Maine circuit campaigners will be just about keyed up to their highest pitch by the time they strike Fredericton the last week in July, and that the racing here should be about the best that will be seen on the circuit. The fall meeting will follow immediately after the Woodstock and St. Stephen Fairs and will, it is believed, attract about all the horses racing at those two big meetings, as well as a good many that will be at Lewiston, Me., Fair the previous week.

Adioo Guy Starts Today.

Horsemen will be much interested in the racing today at Avon, Conn., where Adioo Guy, 2.00¾, makes his first start of the season at the Bay State Circiut meeting in a free for all that promises to be a cornerracker.

The Boston Globe, referring to the Avon meeting, says:

"Owners and trainers have been waiting for the Connecticut meetings, with their three-in-five racing. Last week Woonsocket was short of horses the fields averaging very small, while at Cherry Park, Avon, this week there are so many horses on the grounds that the meet, which opens tomorrow, has been extended to four days.

"There are twenty horses ready to start in the 2.14 pacing race, the class that all last winter opponents of the time allowance rule claimed would be killed by the presence of R. H. Brett.

"The Portsmouth, N. H., giant handled the 2.10 pacers all last fall easily, but he has not driven anyone away from the Short Ship yet with his liberal time allowance. He may start in where he left off last year and continue to tramp his fields down all season, but he will have a lot of horses to beat every week just the same.

"There will be a record crowd at the little racing plant outside of Hartford tomorrow, as Adioo Guy, 2.00¾; Direct C. Burnett, 2.01¼, and Directum J., 2.01¼, have their first clash over a half-mile ring in the $1,000 free for all.

"The three flyers have trained nicely and are as ready as possible. All three have had considerable experience on a double O, Burnett and Directum before going to the Grand Circuit.

"Adioo Guy's turf career has been mostly over the two laps, and for this reason he is likely to go to the post favorite.

"Will Hodson, who had Adioo after he became the property of the Ideal Stables, Endicott, N. Y., in midseason a year ago, will be behind him tomorrow; Will Crozier has Direct C. Burnett and Johnny Page Directum I.

"New Englanders saw the Providence horse last fall at Windsor, where he won with Murphy driving, just before George Whitney sold him to John W. Coggeshall.

"The other events tomorrow are the 2-year-old and 2.18 trots. In the aged class it looks like too large a field to handle. If all declare in that the trainers say will, Manager Brazill will make two races of it.

"On Wednesday the 2.15 trotters, 2.20 pacers and 3-year-old trotters parade, and on Thursday the 2.12 trotters, 2.12 pacers and 2.24 trotters. On Friday there will be two divisions of the 2.14 pacing class and a 2.16 pace, entries for which do not close until Wednesday night."

Excessive politeness seldom has anything in common with the truth.

Bancroft Made Six Hits In Six Times at Bat

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Philadelphia, June 29.—The feat of making six base hits in six times at bat in one game, performed here yesterday by Shortstop David Bancroft of the New York Nationals, has been equalled in the major leagues only once since 1902.

In 1915 George Cutshaw, of the Brooklyn Nationals, succeeded in hitting the ball safely in six attempts. Three players equalled the mark in 1902 and nearly a score previous to that time.

The best batting record is seven hits in seven tries, made in 1892 by Wilbert Robinson, of the Baltimore Nationals, now manager of the Brooklyn Nationals.

The Big Leagues

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

New York, June 29.—In the American League yesterday Philadelphia ended its losing streak of eighteen straight games by defeating Washington.

Cleveland hit Sothoron almost at will and, aided by local errors, defeated St. Louis.

Meadows of Philadelphia was batted from the box for the first time this year by New York, who won easily.

The champion Cincinnati team broke their losing streak by pounding St. Louis pitchers hard.

Chicago won both games of a double-header from Pittsburg.

THE LOCAL BASEBALL FANS GET SURPRISE

Marysville Team Beaten Last Evening by Devon—Imps. Defeat Old Timers

The Y. M. C. A. team jumped into the lead in the York County Baseball League last night when the Devon team won another game from Marysville at the Devon grounds.

DEVON WINS

The Devon team slipped another surprise over on the Marysville nine last evening when they put them behind another game by a score of 3 to 1 in a well played six inning game.

Both pitchers hurled good ball but K. Staples for the Devon team had a shade the better of the pitching, getting six strike-outs and allowing no bases on balls. The Devon infield played errorless ball while Drillen at shortstop starred, stopping some particularly hard ones and nailing his man at the bag every time on throws. Burke for the Marysville team at second base had five putouts, making all three outs in the second inning on infield flies.

The results of Tanker Hughes' work behind the bat showed all through the game in the Devon team's play and Tanker also had a nice clean single to his credit out of three times at bat. Devon put the game on ice in the first frame.

IMPERIALS WON

Old Timers Were Shut Out By the Imps in Quckly Played Game With Too Much Scrapping.

The Imperials last night shut out the West End team 4 to 0. Seven innings were played and if it had not been for a row among spectators and some other wrangling a game of full nine innings might have been played. "Red" Foster was used in the box by the Old Timers and looked good. He held the Imperials to four hits. Three of these came in the first inning and with one error, the only one of the Fredericton City team, netted two runs. This lead the Imperials bettered in the fourth inning when Boyne drove out a two-bagger, Johnson drew a pass and both Wandless and Lifford sent line drives at W. Kenney which he knocked down but could not handle in time to save runs.

In the field both teams were snappy, there being but one error apiece. The Imperials had the better of the batting argument, the Old Timers getting only two safe ones off "Pat" Clark. The latter struck out five and Foster fanned nine of the Imps.

The losing team twice got men on third but they failed to score. Reckless base-running was the reason of that. Kenney was caught at the plate trying to score from third when he could have waited. Later he was caught at third. Foster made a two base hit only to be caught at third by Clark. Better coaching would have meant runs for the City team.

Too much ill feeling between West End and East End was shown between players and also between spectators, which produced two clashes.

THE LIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE

A Double Surprise.

The young man with the uncut hair and hungry look had submitted a poem for editorial consideration.

"Well," said the man behind the blue pencil, after a hurried glance at it, "how does thirty shillings strike you?"

"Why—er—really," stammered the rhymster, "that is more than I—or—"

"Well, that's the best I can do," interrupted the busy editor. "I couldn't think of printing a poem like that for less!"

Nothing Like That.

"Did those two men have an epistolary dispute?"

"No pistols in the dispute at all. They took it out in letter-writing."

You Know What You Think of Them.

The worst extravagance, from your neighbors' point of view, is buying what the neighbors think you can't afford.—Boston Globe.

And the chances are at least even that the neighbors have the right view of the matter.

The Secret Out.

"Don't you think Mildred has perfectly wonderful teeth."

"Yes. But they are false."

"How do you know that, my dear?"

"Why, she told me she inherited them from her mother."

"Got any mail for Mike Howe?" asked the stranger at the small town post office window.

FROM THE PEOPLE

WHY MILK GOES UP

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—June, not July, is the "milk month." The flow of milk starts to decrease in July. It continues to decrease gradually until the last of the year. It begins to increase in January, and continues to increase until the peak is reached in June.

There will be no overproduction of milk this summer. Instead there is every likelihood of a shortage, not serious perhaps, but still a shortage. The farmer was compelled to take a comparatively low price during the winter and spring because the markets were not favorable for the sale of his milk. At the same time he was obliged to pay abnormally high prices for his feedstuffs. Cows not in good condition physically when they were turned out to grass in the spring indicated that some farmers had cut down on feeding. Other farmers were compelled to reduce the number of their cows, and many, very many, went out of business altogether. In view of all that has happened, it is easy to understand why there will be a summer milk shortage.

It is one of the curious manifestations of the made-to-order milk question that although the retail price of milk has increased in a smaller ratio than the prices of almost every other food commodity, people always get provoked at an advance in milk prices and cuss out the farmer and the dealer. When the price of milk goes down, as it does to the farmer for about six months in the year, it attracts absolutely no attention.

If the cities are to have milk enough to go around—and they must have it—there must be cows. If the farmer is going to keep cows he must get enough for his milk to make milk production possible.

It may interest you to know that on June 1, 1920, gluten feed was quoted at $81.20 a ton in carload lots for cash, f.o.b. any station. Just a year ago the quotation was $62.20 a ton. All other feedstuffs have increased in the same proportion. The great shortage of farm labor gives the dairy farmer more anxiety even than feedstuffs.

Yours,
FARMER.

PUBLIC HOLIDAYS

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Do you think that your readers would be interested in having holidays that fall on days during the week other than Saturday or Monday celebrated on either Saturday or Monday of that week? Holidays that fall in the middle of the week cause quite a lot of inconvenience in keeping business appointments and other usual business routine.

If all holidays were celebrated on either Saturday or Monday it would give all working people the opportunity of enjoying a real week-end vacation. Would not your readers like to see this change made for the benefit of every one?

Yours,
JONES.

CHURCH VS. VAUDEVILLE

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir, In your interesting People's Column a correspondent asks why the vaudevilles are well attended and the churches poorly attended. I will not set forth any theory of my own whatsoever, but I am pleased to write a few words from the Holy Scripture for your correspondent to think over. II. Timothy iii. 1 to 5 is the explanation:

"This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come.

"For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy.

"Without natural affection, truce-breakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good.

"Traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God."

Yours,
H. C. G.

"STALEMATED" ADVISED

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—May I request sufficient space in your paper to answer Stalemated? If he will drop into the Y. M. C. A. he will find no difficulty, I'm sure, in finding a playmate or get the address of a playmate to satisfy his desire for chess. There are always some players who I know would be more than pleased to enter into a game with him, and there may also be some few fellows who have banded together in the formation of a chess club to which there is no charge or, if any, only a very small one. It is not necessary to be a member of the "Y" to drop in and play. I feel sure that he will be more than pleased.

Yours,
CHESS-TER.

The Opening Session of the N. B. Educational Institute

Committees on Nominations and Resolutions Appointed—Address by Dr. W. S. Carter, Chief Superintendent of Education, Deals With Shortage Teachers

Monday afternoon's session of the New Brunswick Educational Institute was well attended, between three and four hundred teachers being present. The features of the afternoon were the appointment of a nominating committee, a resolutions committee and an address by Dr. W. S. Carter, the chief superintendent of education.

The membership fee for the coming year was fixed at $1 and following this the election of secretaries was held by Dr. George A. Inch being elected secretary and Miss I. Peabody assistant secretary. The report of the Executive Committee was presented by Dr. Inch, showing a balance on hand of about $600.

Committees were appointed as follows:

Nominations—A. S. McFarlane, city; C. T. Wetmore, Rothesay Superior School; Wesley Miles, St. John; Miss Louise Scott, Fredericton Jct. School; George Oulton, Moncton; D. W. Wallace, Woodstock, and G. H. Harrison, of Chatham.

Resolutions—Dr. H. S. Bridges, of St John; Miss Fraser, of Grand Falls, and H. H. Hagerman, of this city.

DR. W. S. CARTER

Chief Superintendent Quotes from American Reports on Shortage of Teachers.

Dr. W. S. Carter, Chief Superintendent of Education, in his address to the Institute, said:

"As it has been some time, owing to combined institutes and other causes, since I have had opportunity for an intimate talk with our own teachers, I shall take this occasion to refer to some of the things accomplished during the last ten years, touching upon a few of them as time permits, and directing your attention to a few of the things that deserve our attention in the future.

"I think it is well to take stock occasionally to mark progress or note failure.

"I do not propose to dilate upon the late war. We were unprepared for it as we are unprepared for some of the effects caused by the war. We smugly insisted in the earlier stages upon "business as usual," but we find that no business is done as usual, and instead of a return to normal conditions, everything is abnormal. I hope we shall profit by the experiences of the past, but we are prone to be forgetful.

"In a contest in which all excelled, those connected with the school and colleges have every reason to be proud of their record. If any arguments are needed for a liberal education, the response of teachers and students to the cause of duty is a convincing one.

"Many of our plans for education have been entirely dislocated at a time when the loads of public debt are staggering. In the most critical period of the struggle Mr. Fisher, Minister of Education for England, said he wanted several million pounds for education, and obtained them. The country which shirks its educational responsibility at present will fare badly in the future, and its sons and daughters will be handicapped in competition with those of more foresight."

Things Accomplished and Needing Attention.

He referred to the following as some of the things accomplished in the last ten years, affecting education in the province:

1909-10—

Two weeks' extension of summer vacations in country districts.

Change in date of annual school meeting to 2nd Monday in July.

Evening school meetings permitted.

Breaches of faith on part of teachers.

Introduction of physical training and cadet instruction.

Pension Act.

Regulations re school flags—salutation.

1912—

Grant to evening industrial school in St. John.

Permissive medical inspection.

Trustees' conventions authorized and payment of delegates' expenses, elected to same, may be provided for.

Plans of school buildings must be approved by inspector.

Allowance to school districts supporting departments for retarded pupils, also to teachers who may take special training for that work.

School districts authorized to provide prescribed texts and school materials at cost, reduced prices or free to all pupils of their schools.

Residents of the district shall be assessed on personal property and income in such district. In respect to real property they shall be assessed in the district in which it lies.

A sum of money has been set aside to provide school privileges for isolated pupils living in unorganized school districts, to be used in paying board of such pupils or providing conveyance to districts maintaining schools.

The provision of minimum salaries for teachers by doubling the county funds; by equal government grants to male and female teachers.

Increased grants to aid in the education of deaf and blind pupils.

The building of an Annex to the Provincial Normal School to provide increased accommodation for modern education, drill hall, labratories, reading room, etc.

The extension of the work of elementary agricultural education and household science to the Normal School and to outside schools by means of travelling instructors.

The Vocation Education Act, and summer schools in connection with it, and elementary agricultural education.

The Health Act, introducing medical and sanitary inspection of schools.

Preliminary examinations of student teachers entering the Normal School in French Department.

School fairs and clubs.

Reciprocity with Nova Scotia in normal trained teachers.

Provision that it shall be no part of the duty of teacher or pupil to sweep or clean the school room.

The bonding of teachers to give three years' service to the province.

More than $1,000 contributed by teachers to purchase a machine gun for use in the late war.

Nearly $85,000 raised by teachers for Belgian relief.

There was contributed last year by the province the sum of $18,000 towards the cost of text books used by the pupils.

The provision of grants to enable Normal School instructors and inspectors to take summer courses at approved institutions.

Power given to teachers to suspend pupils for gross disobedience.

The use of school rooms for any proper purpose outside school hours, with the unanimous consent of School Board.

Provision to enable Normal School instructors to visit schools with inspectors to note the effect of training given at the Normal School.

Provision made by this Institute for the preservation and handing in the education office of the enlarged photos of past chief superintendents of education.

Shall we do this according to the present light-four plan or according to the more modern six-six plan, providing for junior high schools and earlier training in vocational brinches?

Shall we have a four years' high school course as is nearly the universal practice at present?

A revised pension plan, if possible providing a disability clause.

A better Compulsory Act.

Free text books.

A tax on all property wherever situated in aid of schools.

Authorizing districts to provide teacherages.

More extended provision for the training and segregation of defectives and the feeble-minded.

More school consolidation.

Trustees' coventions.

Educational Progress Elsewhere.

The Chief Superintendent, continuing, said he thought it wise to keep in touch with educational progress elsewhere and gave a few outstanding features of the last meeting of the Superintendents of National Education Association, held in Cleveland, O., during the winter, as follows:

A definite attempt to outline programme of practice instead of merely discussing educational theory; a definite recognition of the community and nation-wide need to increase teachers' salaries; the need for a federal department of education; the definite recognition of the need for programme of physical and health education; immediate need for greater democracy in school management, for wise teacher participation in school government; a very definite recognition of out-of-school organizations, such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, etc.; a recognition of educational value of all forms of visual education; a need to refine greatly our present available tests in subject matter and in intelligence, and the growing recognition of the necessity for nation-wide organization of teachers.

More Money Required.

The nation will have to spend twice as much money as it now pays for education, new sources of revenue and new taxing devices will have to be discovered, and immediate emergency measures taken, including the probable adoption of paying the living expense of students while in teacher training institutions, were some of the conclusions reached by the National Citizens' Conference in Washington in May last.

80,000 Teachers Short.

The United States this year faces a shortage of about 80,000 teachers, and there is only a prospect of 30,000 trained teachers.

Reports just received from the high schools indicate a more serious situation than in the elementary schools. One-third of the 84,000 teachers now in the high schools propose leaving the teaching profession to enter other professions next year.

This shortage comes at a time when the nation can least afford to neglect education. New conditions require that schools be more effective, but the present danger of shortage makes the conditions look for lesser effectiveness.

Serious indeed is the rapidly growing number of sub-standard teachers. More than half the teachers of the nation, 350,000, are not prepared on any reasonable basis for the work of teaching.

A conservative estimate of the new teachers needed this fall is 110,000 and the number may reach 150,000. The graduates of normal schools this year will be 25 per cent. fewer than in 1916, and will total about 16,000.

The Educational Emergency.

The following suggestions at the Superintendents' Section, National Conference on Education, May 19, 1920, as to means of recruiting teachers were offered for consideration by the institute:

"Salaries must be raised to a reasonable living wage.

"Qualifications raised and salaries graded on training and experience.

"Better housing conditions for teachers and social recognition of the service.

"Make profession attractive for more men teachers.

"Furnish employment for 12 months in the year.

"Certificates based on training and experience to be issued by the State.

"Security of tenure.

"Graded salaries increasing with successful experience.

"Pension system financed by the State.

"Equalized support assuring specific amount for each pupil.

"Provision for training of teachers in service.

"Subsidy for teachers taking normal training.

"Teachers' participation in school administration.

"Enforcement of compulsory educational laws.

"Widespread publicity for need of trained teachers."

To Meet the Emergency.

As to means of raising school revenues to meet the emergency the following suggestions were made:

"Give 50 per cent. of all fines and forfeitures to support of schools.

"Poll tax to be levied or increased.

"Collect royalities on natural resources and public utilities.

"Tax on banks and corporations.

"Inheritance tax.

"Proceeds of sale of school lands.

"Fifty per cent. of income tax and excess profit tax to support of schools.

"State to guarantee fixed sum per child to be educated.

"Distribute school money on basis of ability and effort.

"Federal aid for State school systems.

"State to furnish 50 per cent. of school revenues.

Recent changes in British Education were outlined as follows:

"To extend thte age of compulsory attendance without exemption to 14, or to 15 or 16 by local by-law.

"To provide medical inspection and treatment and physical welfare before, through, and after school to the age of 18.

"To establish nursery schools for children between two and five and six.

"To establish a system of compulsory continuation (part time) school attendance ultimately to 18.

"To arrange for the promotion of poor but able pupils by a system of scholarships and maintenance grants past the higher rungs of the educational ladder in the hope that in the future the nation may have the best mental capacity of all its sons and daughters to draw on for its service instead of having to content itself with such brains as a comparatively limited class happen to produce."

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTE OF NEW BRUNSWICK

A public meeting will be held in the Assembly Hall of the Normal School on Tuesday evening next, June 29th, at 8 o'clock, in connection with the Educational Institute. The meeting will be addressed by the Mayor of Fredericton, by Prof. Sinclair Laird, Dean of the School for Teachers, McDonald College; also by Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, on "The Public Schools in Relation to the Public Health."

Music will be provided.

NEW SYSTEM FOR GERMAN SCHOOLS

Movement to Change Form of Religious Instruction Watched With Interest

Berlin, June 28.—Catholic newspapers are watching with growing concern a movement to introduce a new system of religious instruction in German schools. Heretofore such instruction has been based on the Old and New Testaments.

The new plan, which was evolved by teachers of Meiningen and recently endorsed by the teachers' association of Thuringia, where Protestants are in the majority, would do away with Bible study. Instead, children during their first four years in school would be instructed in German fairy tales and myths, Robinson Crusoe and the history of the child Jesus. In the last four years the instruction would have to do with the worship of God by ancient peoples, the life and teachings of Jesus, and the worship of God in Germany. More and more, the Thuringia teachers agreed, German myths and poetry should replace in the schools the Old Testament.

"By no stretch of the imagination," comments Germania, the organ of the Centre (Catholic) party, "can this be called religious instruction. It is thoroughly in accord with the well-known tendencies of radical teachers. Catholics must follow this movement with close attention, for it threatens to invade their own schools."

MISSIONARY FROM CANADA KILLED

Murdered While Defending the Lady Workers at Mission From Chinese Marauders

Vancouver, B.C., June 28.—The first detailed account has just reached the city of the heroic death of Rev. James R. Menzies, M. D., D. D., the well-known Chinese missionary, who has relatives in Vancouver at Pitt Meadows, and on Vancouver Island. He was in his fifty-fourth year, and leaves a family living in Toronto. The description of his murder, while defending two lady workers, Miss Lethbridge and Miss Brydon, at Hwaiking, is contained in the Honan Messenger, of Weihwei, which he was editing at the time of his death.

It appears that Dr. Menzies, although unarmed, without hesitation attacked the band of robbers which was ravaging the ladies' quarters. He knew the strength of the marauding party, but this did not prevent him from making his single-handed assault on the robbers, who numbered between fifteen and twenty.

"On Wednesday night about ten o'clock a band of robbers attacked the ladies' house. After gaining entrance to the compound they proceeded to the house, broke the glass in the front door and entered. One of the ladies escaped to the upper verandah, where she succeeded in concealing herself, the other was ordered to show the robbers where the money was kept.

"Dr. Menzies, whose house was some slight distance off, heard calls for help and at once ran out. The lady on the upper verandah caught sight of him as he crossed the road by a newly whitewashed bridge, and succeeded in acquainting him with the state of affairs. Replying, 'I am not armed,' he passed down from the bridge to approach the house. The robbers had left a man on guard at the gate, just below the bridge steps. When he heard Dr. Menzies' voice he raised an alarm, and called to the robbers indoors to hurry out. Dr. Menzies and this man coming together in the dark, grappled. In the midst of their struggle the rest of the robbers ran out and surrounded them. Flashes from a revolver followed.

"The whole band made their escape. One of their number was found next morning some distance from the premises killed by a shot apparently intended for Dr. Menzies.

"In the judgment of the doctor who examined the wounds, one bullet had pierced Dr. Menzies' body and entered that of the robber with whom he was struggling.

"By the time Mr. Slimmon, whose house was the farthest away, reached the scene all was over. He found the doctor lying on the ground, fully conscious that his end was near. He died within half an hour."

Mrs. Gertrude Miller, of Cushing, Me., bought 250 incubator chickens for $45, and has lost all but 25.

HUGE DECLINE IN HUN PRODUCTION

Far Too Many People Engaged in Non-Productive Work

Berlin, June 28.—"Germany's greatest trouble at present time is her decline in production," said Carl Friedrich von Siemens at the annual shareholders' meeting of the Siemens & Halske electrical concern today. "Nowhere in Germany is the imperative need for increasing productive labor sufficiently appraised," he continued. "Far too many people are engaged in non-productive work; the number of officials in state and private enterprises is excessive. All statistics based on the mark standard show large increases, but that standard is a false one. Expressed in tons, production has declined largely."

Herr von Siemens said that the recent improvement in the German exchange, however gratifying in itself, had had the effect of restricting exports. In many ranges of articles manufactured by the company, the domestic prices had already exceeded the world market prices. Even countries with a bad exchange like Germany were already almost completely barred to them.

There was a world-wide demand for all classes of goods, said Her von Siemens, but the high cost of production was killing business, and to a great extent these high prices were caused by under-production.

WOOD ALCOHOL VICTIMS

Hartford, Conn., June 28.—Four deaths in this city from wood alcohol poisoning were reported to the city police. The source of the poisoned liquor has not been ascertained.

Probably there is nothing quite so unsatisfactory as the good judgment a man might have used but didn't.

Don't work yourself to death in order to make a living.

CRIME AGAINST CIVILIZATION

Democratic Chairman Denounces Action of Senate on the Peace Treaty

San Francisco, Calif., June 28.—The League of Nations covenant was championed as the "Monroe Doctrine of the world" by Homer Cummings, temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention, in his keynote address at the opening session today.

Of the peace treaty's defeat in the United State Senate, he said:

'No blacker crime against civilization has ever soiled the pages of our history."

He declared for endorsement of the peace treaty and the League of Nations by the United States without reservation of any nature.

Incidentally he supported Canada's right to a vote in the league assembly.

Dealing with this phase of the subject, he said:

"There is a great pretense of alarm because the United States has but one vote in the international assembly against the six votes of Great Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India. This popular argument against the League of Nations is as insincere as it is superficial. It ignores the fact that the executive council, and not the assembly, is the governing body of the league, and that our country is one of the five countries having permanent membership in the council. The colonial votes exist only in the assembly.

'Nor should we forget that France has but one vote; Italy has but one vote, and Japan has but one vote. If there were any injustice in the arrangement surely these nations would have sensed it and objected to it.

A man thinks that he has forgotten his troubles when he is having a good time.

When a woman forgets an injury she keeps forgetting that she has forgotten it.

IN DAYS OF TERROR

"Voyons! Morand," said Genevieve, "come with me."

"It will be losing a day,' said Morand, "and will prevent my going where I ought on business."

"Then I shall not go," said Genevieve.

"But why?" demanded Morand.

"Because I cannot depend upon my husband to escort me; and if you will not accompany me—you, a respectable man, thirty-eight years of age—I have not the hardihood to encounter alone all the chasseurs, cannoniers, and grenadiers, requesting to speak to one of the municipals only three or four years older than myself."

"Then," said Morand, "since you deem my presence indispensable, citoyenne—"

"Allons! allons! learned citizen, be as gallant as if you were a kind-hearted, ordinary man, and sacrifice half a day to the wife of your friend," said Maurice.

"Well, let it be so," said Morand.

"Now," said Maurice, "I only require one thing from you, that is discretion. Any one visiting the Temple is considered a suspicious proceeding, and consequently, should any accident occur afterwards, we should all be guillotined. The Jacobins do not jest. Peste! you see how they have treated the Girondins."

"Diable!" said Morand, "this observation of the citizen Maurice requires consideration. It would be a sort of retiring from business if I could not go out at all."

"Have you not heard," said Genevieve, smiling, "that the citizen Maurice said all?"

"Eh, bien! all?"

"All."

"Yes, without doubt," said Morand, "your company is very agreeable, but I much prefer, belle sentimentale, to live in your society than to die in it."

"What the devil was I thinking of?" said Maurice to himself, "when I imagined this man loved Genevieve?"

"Then it is all settled," said Genevieve. "I address myself to you, Morand, thoughtful, asent man that you are; remember it is on Thursday next; so do not on the Wednesday evening commence some chemical experiment that will occupy your time and attention for the next twenty-four hours, as it very frequently happens."

"You may be perfectly easy on that point," said Morand. "Besides, you can remind me."

Genevieve then rose from table, and Maurice followed her example. Morand was about to leave also, and perhaps to follow them, when one of the workmen brought the chemist a small vial containing some liquid which instantly engrossed all his atention."

"Let us make haste," said Maurice, drawing away Genevieve.

"Oh! be assured," said she, "he will remain there for an hour at the very least."

And the young woman allowed him to take her hand, which he tenderly pressed between his own. She felt remorse for her treachery, and compensated for it by her kindness.

"Do you see," said she to Maurice, crossing the garden, and showing him the carnations, which had been removed into the air, with the hope of reviving them, "do you see my flowers are all dead."

"What killed them?" said Maurice; "your neglect? Poor carnations!"

"It was not my neglect, but your desertion, mon ami."

"They required, my little Genevieve, some water; that was all; besides my absence should have left you plenty of time."

"Ah!" said Genevieve, "but if the flowers were watered with tears, the poor carnations, as you call them, would they not then die?"

Maurice threw his arms round Genevieve, and, drawing her to him, before she had time to prevent him, pressed his lips upon the half-smiling, half-languishing eye, now fixed upon the drooping, dying flowers. Genevieve felt so much of reproach, it made her lenient to others.

Dinner returned home late, and on his return found Morand, Maurice, and Genevieve botanising in the garden.

CHAPTER XX.
The Flower Girl.

At length the anticipated Thursday, the day of Maurice's guard, arrived. It was now the month of June. The sky was of a deep and cloudles blue, and against this sheet of blue rose the heavy white mass of nine houses. The coming of that dreadful day was already foreseen, represented by the ancients as thirsting with an unquenchable thirst, and which to borrow the phraseology of the plebeian Parisians, licked the pavement very dry. Paris was as clean as a carpet, and perfumes filled the air, mounting to the trees, emanating from the flowers, circulating and intoxicating with joy, as if to render the inhabitants of the capital forgetful for a few moments of that vapor of blood which rose without intermission from the pavement of these places.

It was Maurice's duty to enter the Temple at nine o'clock; his two colleagues were Meruvault and Agricola. At eight o'clock he was in the Rue Vieille Saint Jacques, in grand costume as citizen municipal, that is to say, with a tri-colored scarf tightly fastened around his tall and elegant frame. He as usual rode there on horseback, and on his route had an opportunity of receiving the sincere approbation, admiration, and eloges of the worthy patriots who saw him pass. Genevieve was already prepared; she wore a simple muslin dress, a species of light taffeta mantle, and a small bonnet, ornamented with a tri-colored cockade. Thus attired, she appeared of dazzling beauty. Morand, who as we have seen, had been earnestly solicited to accompany them, had, no doubt for fear of being mistaken for an aristocrat, attired himself in his usual costume—half-bourgeois, half-artisan. He entered alone, and his countenance betrayed great fatigue; he pretended to have been at work all night, in order to complete some urgent business.

Dixmer had gone out immediately after the return of his friend Morand.

"Well," demanded Genevieve, "what have you decided on, Maurice; and how are we to see the Queen?"

"Listen," said Maurice. 'I have arranged everything. I shall arrive at the Temple with you, and then introduce you to my friend Louis, who commands the guards; I then take my post, and at a favorable moment I will come to seek you."

"But," demanded Morand, "when are we to see the prisoners, and how are we to see them?"

"At either their breakfast or their dinner, if that will suit you, through the glazed partition of the municipal."

"Perfectly," said Morand.

Maurice then saw Morand approach a sideboard at the further end of the salle-a-manger, and drink hastily a glass of pure wine, which rather surprised him, Morand being usually very abstemious, and indulging only in wine and water.

Genevieve saw that he regarded him with astonishment.

"Can you not fancy," said she, "he must be half dead with fatigue; he has taken nothing since yesterday morning."

"Did he not dine here?" asked Maurice.

"No, he wa trying some experiments in the city."

Genevieve took a useless precaution with respect to Maurice, since lover-like he was an egotist, and had merely bestowed upon the action of Morand that superficial attention which an amorous man might accord to any one, except the woman he loves. To his glass of wine Morand added a crust of bread, which he hastily swallowed.

"And now," said he, "dear Citizen Maurice, I am quite ready; when you choose we will depart."

IRISH-AMERICANS UPHOLD DE VALERA

New York, June 28—It was reported this morning that no less than five hundred pro-De Valera meetings were held in different parts of New York and New Jersey last night.

At all of these meetings the Cohalan-Devoy group was denounced without mentioning names, and resolutions upholding the "President of the Irish Republic" were adopted.

At one of the principal meetings a protest was raised against the recent riots in the north of Ireland, which, it was claimed, "were instigated by the British government."

Dr. McCartan, "envoy" to the United States, said this new activity could be traced to the "moneyed interests in America as well as Great Britain."

HORSE AND BUGGY STOLEN MONTH AGO ARE BROUGHT BACK

Sheriff Hawthorn Recovered Stolen Property Near Harvey Station

A YOUNG ENGLISHMAN SOLD OUTFIT THERE

Later Is Said to Have Tried to Put Over Deal With a Bad Cheque at St. Stephen

A horse which had been hired from a local livery stable just about a month ago and was later stolen from a nearby resort was returned yesterday to its owner, having been recovered by Sheriff John B. Hawthorn, who located it between Harvey Station and McAdam Junction.

From what can be learned the horse and buggy was stolen by a young Englishman who has resided intermittently in the parish of Prince William for some years; at any rate he sold the animal and rig there and later went on to St. Stephen where it is said he had about completed the purchase of several horses for delivery in Calais, Me., when it was suddenly discovered that the check he had tendered was phoney and the deal was naturally off.

It is understood that in addition to the costs of its recovery the young man who had hired the horse is now confronted with paying a bill for its use for the month the animal has been away from the local stable.

Strawberries Drop to 20 Cents by the Crate

Prices of cultivated strawberries have shown a big decline on the local market. A few days ago they were selling at 50 cents and even more a box, and today the stores are offering them at 25 cents while farmers are selling them at the doors at 22 cents a box and 20 cents a box by the crate. High prices for sugar are expected to affect the demand for strawberries here as in Ontario, where there is little demand for fruits for preserving.

APPEAL FILED IN EFFORT TO OBTAIN ENGLAND'S RELEASE

Attorney General Is Served With Notice In Liquor Prescriptions Case

APPEAL CANNOT BE HEARD BEFORE FALL

Grounds for Move Hinge Upon Alleged Misdirection of the Jury

The Attorney General has been served with a notice of appeal in the case of Albert W. England, who was found guilty of uttering two forged prescriptions for liquor and sentenced to two year terms in the penitentiary at Dorchester by Justice Chandler at the June sitting of the Supreme Court.

The appeal was lodged by C. D. Richards, counsel for England, and it is based upon the grounds that there was improper admission of evidence and that there was misdirection with respect to the right of the jury to find the defendant guilty irrespective of the date.

The second ground for the appeal hinges upon the question asked Mr. Justice Chandler by S. L. Morrison, foreman of the trial jury, as to whether the jury would be justified in finding the prisoner guilty of forgery if they were to find him guilty of forgery on March 19th, instead of March 18th, which was the date named in the indictment. When asked the question Justice Chandler answered that the jury would be justified in doing so. The first ground for the appeal is that the admission into evidence of the testimony of Elbridge Hunter and Judson Hinchey relative to their obtaining prescriptions from McKay was improper.

Mr. Richards stated this morning that the appeal would be heard at the September sitting of the Appeal Court.

Charles Robinson, of St. John, is a guest at the Barker House.

RIOTS START IN BELFAST TODAY

Head Constable Severely Injured During Fighting

Many Grocery Stores Were Attacked by the Riotous Crowd

DAMAGE DONE NOT SERIOUS

The Drivers of Railway Trains Refuse to Carry Soldiers.

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

London, June 30.—Rioting has occurred in Belfast, according to the Daily Sketch. Thirteen grocery stores were attacked by the rioters. The police prevented serious damage to property, but in the fighting the head constable was struck by a stone and severely injured.

Several other policemen were slightly hurt.

The exact time of the disturbance was not given by the newspaper.

REFUSED TO CARRY SOLDIERS ON TRAIN

Dublin, June 30.—New Bridge, County Kildare, is the great military centre serving Curragh, the Aldershot of Ireland. Yesterday for the first time it was sought to despatch soldiers thence by a train passing from Kilkenny to Dublin. The driver refused to carry them, and the soldiers remained on the train, blocking up the line.

Subsequently trains from Athlone and Thurles for Dublin were similarly boarded by soldiers and blocked. The stranded passengers drove to Kildare to catch through trains, not stopping at New Bridge. The soldiers have orders to board any train available, so the situation cannot be relieved by the despatch of trains from Dublin.

The government has had offers of assistance of men from Belfast to operate the trains, but has not accepted them. The situation is declared to be not bad enough as yet to justify the government taking over the trains and entering upon a general conflict.

MANY ARRESTS IN THE BERLIN RIOTS

Women March to Chancellory and Protest Against High Cost of Food

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Berlin, June 30.—Food disturbances occurred in the central markets here yesterday and several arrests were made. At noon a large body of women marched to the chancellor and vainly sought an interview with Chancellor Fehrenbach to protest against the high cost of food.

At Frankfort there were additional disorders, and the windows of the cafes were broken. The police dispersed the rioters by firing in the air.

Five persons were killed in the recent riots at Hamburg, according to an official report. During disturbances at Wurzburg yesterday the troops fired, wounding several persons.

Murder During King's Meeting

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Toledo, O., June 30.—Albert Sherman, living near Portsburg, Mich., was arrested yesterday charged with the killing of Walter Gilday, Erie, Mich., Sunday night, during a riot at North Whiteford, Mich. He is alleged to have fired the shot which killed Gilday, following an all night meeting addressed by Louis J. King, who claims to be a former priest and devotes his time to speeches against the Catholic church.

Sherman, who was acting as a temporary officer to guard King, against whom there was high feeling, says he shot in self-defense.

Louis J. King, mentioned in the Toledo despatch, is believed to be a New Brunswick man who conducted anti-Catholic meetings here some fifteen or more years ago. Such feeling was aroused at the time that there were some serious disturbances in various parts of the province.

WRANGEL'S SUCCESS AGAINST THE REDS

Anti-Bolshevik Leader Said to Be Advancing With Little Opposition

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Washington, June 30.—Gen. Wrangel's anti-Bolshevik troops in southern Russia now control approximately 22,000 square miles of rich agricultural land, with heavy stores of grain, according to reports to the State Department.

The fighting between Gen. Wrangel's forces and the Bolsheviki is reported as severe at times, with the former showing considerable spirit and confidence.

The troops of Gen. Wrangel, commander of anti-Bolshevik forces in the Crimea, are reported to be advancing against slight opposition.

Berdiansk, on the northern shore of the Sea of Azov, was captured by his forces on June 25.

MANY WOUNDED IN CLASH OF STRIKERS

Rome, June 30.—A general strike was proclaimed Monday night, effective yesterday except in the case of the railways. The tram service suspended and many of the factories and workshops were closed. This, however, was largely due to the celebration of the Feast of St. Peter.

A despatch from Terni, in the province of Perugia, says a clash with the workers there after a meeting of labor unionists resulted in several persons being severely wounded.

FAILED TO FIND THE MISSING MAN

Quebec, June 30.—The relatives and friends of George Rood, a Quebec shoemaker, who was lost in the woods north of Valcartier last Saturday, when he left a fishing party to walk to a neighboring farm, have practically abandoned hopes of finding him alive. Search parties have hunted through the woods, but have failed to find any trace of him.

Avlona Captured By Albanian Forces

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

Belgrade, June 29.—A report that the Albanian city of Avlona has been captured from the Italians by Albanian insurgents has been received by the newspaper Preva in a despatch from Uskub, southern Serbia, the report adding that the entire Italian garrison was taken with the town.

The Albanians carried Avlona by storm, after desperate fighting with the Italians, the message declares.

GROUP SYSTEM FOR MANITOBA

The Norris Government Will Not Have a Majority of Candidates Returned

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Winnipeg, Man., June 30.—Electors of Manitoba seemingly have adopted the group system of government. Yesterday they defeated the Norris government in the same sense that Norris candidates could not today command a majority over all other groups in the legislature, but the followers of the Premier will number twenty or a little more and will constitute the largest single group in the House.

Labor will have a group of ten or twelve members, and predictions are heard today that F. J. Dixon, who received a tremendous vote in Winnipeg, will be the leader of the provincial labor party, this being based on the fact that he has had experience in the legislature and on his outstanding achievement at the polls yesterday.

Winnipeg's ten members for the most part still are unknown. It is conceded that Dixon and Hon. T. H. Johnson, Attorney General, are elected, since they lead the other 39 candidates by a big margin, even though Dixon leads Johnson by probably six thousand. It is claimed that the remaining eight seats will go about three to labor, perhaps three to the government, and two to conservatives.

Mrs. Arthur Rogers, government candidate, is among the leaders and the final count under proportional representation might send her to the legislature. At least half of the Winnipeg candidates are believed to have lost their deposits.

Allowing one seat to the government and one to labor in Winnipeg, the standing at eight o'clock this morning is approximately as follows:

Government—18.
Conservatives—6.
Farmers—8.
Labor—8.
Independents—5
Deferred—2.
Total—47.

With eight other Winnipeg seats, this makes up the legislature of 55 members.

ANARCHISTS MAKE TROUBLE IN ITALY

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

Rome, June 30.—The anarchists who fled from Ancona are trying to stir up trouble in other parts of the province. There have been disturbances at Pesaro, Jesi, Poorto Fabriano and Civita Nova.

In Romagna there have been attempts to start strikes at various towns.

Despatches from Terni, province of Perugia, say that four persons were killed and nineteen wounded in disturbances there.

MOROCCO BANDIT DEFIES SPANISH

[Associated Press by Leased Wire.]

London, June 30.—The bandit chief Raisuli, according to a Tangier despatch to the London Times, has rejected the overtures of the Spanish authorities and has sent letters to all the mountain tribes as far as Roni Meara, in the Wazan district of Morocco, demanding that the tribal contingents oppose the Spanish advance.

Kingston, Ont., June 30.—The Kingston branch of the Army and Navy Veterans Association has passed a resolution protesting against the increased indemnity voted by the members of the Dominion parliament to themselves as an "unwarranted application of public funds to private use."

Buffalo Convention Refuse to Censure Minister for Marrying the Movie Stars

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Ottawa, June 30.—The hundredth divorce bill of the present session of parliament was formally put through by the private bills committee yesterday. It was also the final plea for dissolution to come before the committee and formal adjournment for the session was made.

Before the close Dr. Michael Steele, chairman, remarked that next year the committee would be more strict in regard to the two hundred dollar fine which is imposed when petitions are not placed before the House within the prescribed six weeks from the opening of the session.

The total number of applications this year was 123 and the majority of these, it is stated, came from Toronto. Returned soldiers were affected in almost fifty per cent. of the applications.

Discuss Douglas and Mary.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 30.—The thirteenth northern Baptist convention closed yesterday with the election of officers and adoption of resolution covering a wide range of subjects.

By a vote of 690 to 422 the delegates refused to censure the Rev. J. W. Brougher, of Los Angeles, for marrying Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, by dropping him as a member of the executive committee, but adopted a resolution urging more uniform divorce laws to do away with "the scandal of easy divorce states."

The resolution also urged that Baptist ministers "to hold rigidly to the scriptural standards regarding divorce and that they carefully avoid any action that would weaken the influence of minister and church in regard to this menace to all the church seeks to promote."

ONTARIO TO TAKE OVER ELECTRICS

Dominion Government Accepts Offer of Hydro-Power Commission for Three Roads

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Toronto, June 30.—Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission at a meeting of the commission yesterday afternoon stated he hoped to be in a position to announce to the Ontario government at a meeting of the cabinet today that the Dominion Government had accepted his offer to take over the three electric railways in this province owned by the Canadian National Railways.

Following are the terms on which Sir Adam Beck recommends the taking over of the railways in question:

Toronto and Eastern Railway—Price $706,000, payable by Hydro Power Commission 4½ per cent. fifty year bonds, guaranteed by the province of Ontario.

Toronto Suburban Railway—On this railway there are $2,628,000 of outstanding 4½ per cent. bonds due 1961. This is to be taken over by the Hydro Power Commission, and the Hydro Power Commission to assume the bonds.

The Niagara, St. Catharines & Toronto Railway—Price for this railway to be $3,544,374.10. On this road there are $1,098,000 five per cent. bonds due 1929. The Hydro Power Commission will assume these bonds and give Hydro Power Commission bonds, guaranteed by the province of Ontario 4½ per cent. fifty year bonds for the difference between $1,098,000 and $3,544,374.10.

The Murdock Allegations Not Against Government

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

OTTAWA, June 30—That there was nothing in the Murdock allegations against the Government of sufficiently tangible form for the basis of an investigation was the Government's reply to demands of Liberal members for an investigation into the Murdock charges.

The long-heralded debate on the Murdock charges lasted from 11 o'clock last night until 2.30 this morning.

Hon. Arthur Meighen said he saw no reason for referring to the charges as "a scandal." The only reason the Government had for not publishing the Robson letters was Judge Robson's personal protest against publication. That did not reflect on the Government. The Government would welcome an investigation based on facts instead of on "diminutive fictions."

A suggestion to proceed with estimates was objected to on account of the lateness of the hour, and a suggestion that the House meet at 11 o'clock this morning met with objections also. This latter course had been suggested to permit of business of the session being finished today.

The House adjourned at 2.30 a. m. until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Democrats Will Nominate Presidential Candidates at National Convention Today

McAdoo, Palmer and Cox Expected to Have Largest Vote on First Ballots

A DARK HORSE MAY GET THE PREFERENCE

McAdoo Supporters Estimate That He Will Receive 300 Votes on First Ballot

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Calif., June 30.—Stripped for action, the Democratic national convention today swung into the business of selecting a presidential nominee.

With all nominating addresses restricted to twenty minutes and seconding speeches to five and limited to not more than three in number to a candidate, each of the possibilities had no more than thirty-five minutes for full description of his merits and capacity for the highest office in the United States.

Speeches were on the programme nominating Wm. G. McAdoo, Attorney General Palmer, Governor Cox of Ohio, Chairman Homer S. Cummings of the Democratic national committee, Governor Edwards of New Jersey, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, Jas. W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, Senator Owen of Oklahoma, John W. Davis, United States ambassador to Great Britain.

McAdoo a Candidate.

At the eleventh hour friends of Wm. G. McAdoo abandoned efforts to prevent his being placed in formal nomination. Dr. Burris Jenkins, of Kansas City, will deliver the nominating speech.

The total McAdoo strength on the first ballot, according to the latest estimates of McAdoo supporters, will approximate three hundred votes. Some say it will not be more than 250, while others insist it will run over 300.

Thus far, the McAdoo men said, they have suffered only one defection. The Maryland delegation, which had been counted in their column, will cast its first vote for John W. Davis, according to information given out early today. The McAdoo supporters said they expect Maryland's votes to return to them after a few ballots.

Both the Cox and Palmer forces viewed with evident satisfaction the scrimmage within the McAdoo forces, which was threatening to bring McAdoo to the front at once and make the nomination a three cornered contest from the beginning.

The Palmer Forces.

Palmer headquarters, in a formal statement that the Attorney General's position was stronger than it ever has been before, announced that his forces were intact and claimed votes in the convention which would not be shown on the first ballot because they would be cast for favorite sons and come to the Palmer column later.

Cox forces, professedly undisturbed by the wet and dry argument which has ranged around its candidates and the outside issues which have been injected into his campaign, were tightening up their lines and were ready to start the balloting.

Despite the promise that the convention would have a big three at the outset, dark horse talk was never more persistent than it is at the moment the candidates are about to be placed in nomination.

The names of Vice-President Marshall, John W. Davis and Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the Democratic national committee, were always heard when dark horses were being discussed, and delegates were taking into consideration that each of the big three could prevent the others from getting a two-third vote.

BOY DROWNED

Meriden, Conn., June 30—Louis Cantor, aged 13 years, was drowned yesterday afternoon while bathing in a pond here with his younger brother and a companion. None of the boys could swim. A pair of water wings belonging to young Cantor were blown into the water and he, not realizing the depth, jumped in after the wings.

The Committee Votes Against Wet Plank

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

San Francisco, Calif., June 30.—Early this morning the sub-committee of nine still was in session debating the various administration planks which had been brought from Washington. The prospects were that they would continue until early morning and then break up without having made a real start on the finished platform draft.

The sub-committee rejected last night a proposal to include a wet plank. The deliberations and vote were in secret, but it is understood that the vote against the wet plank was at a ratio of two to one.

CONTINUE SUGAR CONTROL IN BRITAIN

Government Decides There Will Be No Free Letter Post for Members of the House

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

London, June 30—In answer to questions in the House of Commons last night, Mr. Bonar Law, Government leader, indicated the continuance of the sugar control and no free letter post for members of parliament.

The bill for continuing the food controllership was introduced and the Overseas Trade Credits bill was read a second time, after some opposition in the House of Lords.

Lord Curzon said the provisions for establishing civil administration in Palestine would be submitted to the League of Nations. The mass of immigration would not be allowed mandatory power, and it would not be the Jewish minority that would exercise government control.

THE CZECHO-SLOVAK TROOPS REVIEWED

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Quebec, June 30—The city of Quebec yesterday extended a hearty welcome to 3,000 Czecho-Slovak troops who are now quartered at Valcartier.

They were reviewed by Brig. General Landry and were also welcomed on behalf of the city.

A big programme had been mapped out for the afternoon and evening, but owing to a heavy downpour of rain the arrangements had to be altered. In spite of the adverse weather the Czechs were the guests of the exhibition commission last evening and were given the freedom of the grounds.

They entrained later to return to Valcartier.

SAYS HE PAID $1,000 TO GET TIMBER LIMIT

Witness at Inquiry Makes a Serious Charge Against Former Member of House

THE MONEY PAID TO LIEUT. COL. MACKIN

Witness Says He Also Paid Money to Mackin to Secure Liquor Licenses for Him

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Toronto, June 30—Chas. H. Greer, timber contractor, of Port Arthur, Ontario, in giving evidence at Osgoode Hall here, yesterday, before Justices Riddell and Latchford, in an investigation into timber limits, admitted that he had paid Lieut. Colonel Machin, former M. P. P. for Kenora, and former President of the Citizen's Liberty League, one thousand dollars to make sure of obtaining a timber berth in Northern Ontario.

The witness (Greer) stated that on September 14, 1912, he met Colonel Machin and Sir William Hearst, former Premier of Ontario, but at that time Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, in Colonel Machin's office. He said he told Hon. Mr. Hearst that he wanted two timber berths, and he thought he should be given a perefer ence over anyone else tendering at nearly an equal price, as he had a mill. Mr. Hearst replied that he would consider the matter the witness said.

Subsequently Machin intimated to Greer, according to the witness' testimony, that if he, Machin, had $1,000 he could make sure of the berth going to Greer. The money was paid to Machin, the witness stated, and G. E. Farlinger, who was supposed to be tendering in opposition to Greer, but was not, paid half of the $1,000.

The witness said this was all the money he had given to Machin for timber berths, but he had given Machin $1,000 "three or four times," for using his influence in procuring liquor licenses wanted by Greer.

He also stated that he had paid License Commissioner Little $500 as "commission" on a deal for a transfer of the license from the Kimberley House, Port Arthur.

The investigation was adjourned indefinitely.

Sir William Hearst last night declared that he had no knowledge of any bribe in connection with timber berths, or anything else in connection with the Government, while he was a Minister of the Crown.

Sixty Patients Taking Glover Treatment at Hospital at Toronto

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Toronto, June 30—With sixty cases of advanced cancer treated so far by Dr. Thomas G. Glover, Toronto physician, who is experimenting with a serum he has developed, the majority of the cases of aged men and women on the point of death, the first mortality occurred yesterday. The patient was a middle aged woman, suffering with cancer of the brain, and had had two treatments, according to Dr. J. R. Clancey, physician at St. Michael's Hospital, where the woman was a patient. She had other serious complications besides cancer, and at the time of her first treatment had been given only 24 hours to live.

Dr. Glover remarked that he was satisfied that the woman's life had been prolonged.

The Educational Institute Held a Public Meeting

Addresses by Dr. Laird, Dean of the School for Teachers at MacDonald College, Quebec, and Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, Minister of Health

Last evening's session of the Educational Institute of New Brunswick took the form of a public meeting, which was held at the Normal School building and was largely attended, being featured by addresses by Dr. Laird, dean of the School for Teachers at MacDonald College, Quebec, and Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, Minister of Health.

Deputy Mayor T. S. Wilkinson extended to the Association the heartiest of welcomes on behalf of the City of Fredericton, stating that he hoped the stay of the members in the city would be a pleasant one, to which Dr. W. S. Carter, on behalf of the Association, replied briefly.

Prof. Sinclair Laird, Dean of the MacDonald College School for Teachers, was then introduced. He stated that it was necessary in the interests of democracy that all the public be well educated.

The speaker gave Huxley's definition of a liberal education: "That man has received a liberal education who is so trained in his youth that his body is a servant to his will." "One must learn to love all beauty whether of Nature or of God." Milton said that he called a complete education that which fitted a man for public as well as private duties.

The individual differences of pupils the speaker stated, was great as there were not two ways of teaching two pupils alike. Many a good farmer was spoiled by being kept at school too long, and the same was true of many clergymen, who would have made better farmers. One youth could have many personalities and many individual differences and all youths could not be treated alike and properly educated at the same time. Human handling of children and less instruction would help them more than more instruction and less handling. To standardize curriculum would not be a very beneficial diet for the child and more education as distinct from instruction was required. Many parents complained because manners, courtesy and politeness were not taught at school. These should be done at home. The tendency was increasing more and more every day for parents to shirk their duties and lay them at the door of the teacher.

Many children, he stated, had not chances to develop their interests or their inclinations because of the confinement of their homes. These played a large part in the education of the youth according to the environment; bright homes would produce bright scholars, and vice versa. Social education and a little less attention to some line of work in which a youth was deply interested was the best for education.

The good home served to promote cleanliness, and cleanliness helped in education. Teachers should not judge hastily but should give thought to home conditions before any punishment was inflicted for any offense in connection with uncleanliness.

Pupils often followed the examples set them by their parents and in some cases turned out slothful students. The mother's example and advice was always followed and her influence on the pupil was above that of the father.

"If the spirit of taking advantage of all the school education possible were taken up better citizenship would result," the speaker stated. Parents were often asking that pupils be changed from one room of a school to another so they could get along better with fellow students. Some parents thought too much of their own children and refused to compare them with others.

When parental influence was on the side of the school very little trouble was ever brought about with the children. Many people were often jealous of the influence of the teacher on the pupil but in most cases this was easily gotten over.

Personality of the teacher and personal and individual relationship was one of the greatset factors in teaching. The speaker referred to his own college days, giving an illustration of the personal relationship between the teacher and the students.

The personal relationship of the teacher and pupil often promoted a feeling of deep affection between the two and that teacher who could refer back over the years to his pupils was always a success. Kindness for others weaker than themselves often helped in making a successful teacher.

Prof. Laird was full of inspiration to the teacher, and time after time quoted illustratjons of wit and pathos suitable to his different examples.

The Devon quartette was called upon for a selection, which was excellently rendered and encored.

Minister of Health.

Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, Minister of Public Health of the province of New Brunswick succeeded Prof. Laird as a speaker. The importance of the health question in connecting with the teaching profession could not be exaggerated too much, he stated. Everyone knew that out of the ranks of the teachers themselves during the past 40 years the best class of citizenship had arisen. The relation of public health and the public school was close and important. The teachers constituted the sole hope of the other four-fifths of the nation, and it was the duty of the public health department to protect them for future service.

The partnership tended to become greater every day. The fancy that the sound body impeded the sound mind, as held by learned men during past centuries, was now ridiculed, and it was found to be just the opposite.

It involved us to see that the teachers survived, and survived so that they would be capable of further work.

In education there are two partners, the school and the public health authority, whose influence never waned. In passing, the parent, he stated, did not come within the scope as much as the child. The father and mother had in the child the only hope of a future happiness, and with the proper medical inspection were assured of this.

The speaker dealt with the duties as laid out in the medical inspection of schools and stated that close confinement in schools tended to injure the well being of the child and should be well looked into. No other state or political unit in Canada has inaugurated a movement such as the one begun by the Health Department of New Brunswick during the past twelve months. In dispensing such a service as medical inspection of schools, large areas were necessary to be covered, but, the speaker stated, the medical inspection had been used in every school district in New Brunswick. Much better results would be obtained at a later date than the results of today. Good health was the best thing one could give a child, for it supplied the way to happiness and content.

The relationship between school and public health took a large part in other activities of living besides the teaching profession. After teachers were imbued with proper medical care for the students, the proper living was found. The lack of good nourishment and suitable clothing had played a large part in the death rate of the province, but this was now decreasing.

"We have resolved to face forward and repudiate many evils with which our forefathers were inflicted," the speaker stated, "and we ask for the co-operation of the Teachers' Association in doing so."

Vote FOR Prohibition

Saturday, July 10th

ELECTION INFORMATION

The Act in Brief

The present Prohibition Act legislates against the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes, and only allows it for manufacturing, Sacramental and medicinal purposes.

The Act also provides for enforcement of the law and penalties for violation.

This Act was a war-time measure and the Government now wish to know from the electors whether they want Prohibition continued or not.

We Know Its Faults

The Act is weak in that it allows too much latitude in the case of doctors, druggists and vendors who have practically the dispensing of liquors within their own hands.

Further Legislation Depends on You

Application has already been made by the Temperance people to have the Act amended in regard to recognized weaknesses and the Government is sympathetic—BUT NOTE THIS—the Government put off the granting of these improvements to make the Act more effective, until the result of this election PROVES that the people want Prohibition, and by the majority of the vote the Government will know just how badly the electors do want it.

Your Vote

at this Election may have very important influence on the future action of the Government.

Are You Aware of This?

In 1919 an Act Passed the House, providing that the Government shall take over the entire liquor business within the Province, for the three purposes contained in the Act, and also giving them more stringent control over the sale of extracts, essences and tinctures—But Hark You, the Government has refused to take action on this amendment, until the voice of the people has been heard at the coming election.

Stop Importation Our Next Move

Authority to Prevent the Importation of Liquor into the Province does not rest with the Provincial, but with our Dominion Government, which has already stated that a vote may be taken on the question in New Brunswick, on the recommendation of the Legislature. If the result at the coming election satisfies them that the people actually want Prohibition—we are sure to get it.

Liver, Gall and Kidneys.

The liver is the largest organ of the body. It takes all the blood in the body and purifies it, taking out the poisons and passing them on to the gall and from there they go to the intestines and act as oil does on machinery. Alcohol impairs the function of the liver and the poisons stay in the blood. It also hardens the kidneys or they might do some of the work the liver failed to do.—advt.

Events of a Day In Parliament

Ottawa, June 30.—Yesterday in Parliament:—

Sir Robert Borden, on question by Hon. Mackenzie King, said the correspondence between the Government and the British government on ships to be given Canada would be tabled, unless of a confidential character.

The increased indemnities proposal was discussed in the House.

Additional supplementary estimates were tabled.

In the Senate:

Amendments to bill amending the criminal code were concurred in without opposition.

The Government accepted an amendment to the pensions bill deducting from the pension the amount of salary earned by the pensioner if he accepted a position under the Crown.

B. C. PREMIER IN A LIBEL ACTION

Victoria, B. C., June 29.—The $50,000 libel action which Premier Oliver brought against R. T. Elliott, K. C., went to trial here yesterday, with the hearing of witnesses for the plaintiff.

The alleged libel was contained in a telegram sent to a member of the Legislature and read in the chamber while the members were discussing the Dolly Varden mine litigation on the last day of the session on April 17th last.

Charles John White, a Vancouver solicitor, testified that the Premier, after vainly offering to buy a certain section of northern land for $5 an acre, had said that if the owners would not be reasonable they would be likely to find themselves more heavily taxed than they had been.

PRICE OF FLOUR DECLINES IN U. S.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 29.—The Northwestern Miller's Weekly review of the flour trade says flour prices have continued to decline, following the weakness of wheat, and patents are now twenty to forty-five cents per barrel lower than a week ago. Buyers are not much interested and mills are not pressing sales, as everyone is waiting to see what will happen when new crop wheat arrives in large volume.

He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Grant. One brother and three sisters are left to mourn the loss of a loving brother. These are Mitchell Grant, West Bathurst; Mrs. Joseph Henderson and Miss Nellie Grant, of the same place, and Mrs. J. Murchie, of Vancouver, B. C.

NEW PUBLIC HALL FOR MAPLE GROVE

Fine Building Erected at Prosperous Settlement in Parish of Stanley

Stanley, N. B., June 29.—Sunday last was a red letter day in the history of Maple Grove, parish of Stanley. The new hall was used for the first time, when Church of England service was held by Rev. R. A. Robinson, the rector. Although for many years there had been talk of putting up some such building, it had not been accomplished, the only public building of any sort being the school house. The hall was advocated by Mr. Robinson some time ago. The idea was taken up by the community and with this gratifying result. The building is twenty feet by thirty, which is ample for meetings and services in the settlement. There has been very harmonious co-operation among the people and a step forward is thus taken. A Sunday school is being started at once with good prospects. A sewing circle has been in operation for the past year with fifteen or twenty members, while the men have done good work upon the building and in the hauling of materials. The land was a gift from James G. Douglass, of Stanley. Others of Stanley and Cross Creek have given some kind assistance, but the independent people of Maple Grove have done the greater part themselves. The finishing and furnishing are not quite completed, but a short time will acomplish what remains, for which nearly if not quite sufficient, funds are in sight.

ONTARIO PROBATE LAURIER ESTATE

Ottawa, June 29.—Application has been made for an Ontario probate of the will of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Superior Courts of Quebec have already granted the necessary probate there, but, on account of a small estate in this province, a second probate is necessary. A total estate of $163,682.17 was left by the former Prime Minister. Of this amount only $15,700.27 was in the Province of Ontario. The beautiful home on Laurier avenue East, in which he lived for so many years, is not held in his name. The entire estate, without the slightest reservation, goes to his wife.

HONOR COL. POWELL

St. John, N. B., June 29.—Lieut. Col. A. H. H. Powell, assistant agent general of the military district, is to leave today for Valcartier, there to be decorated by Colonel Vuehterle, commander of the Czecho-Slovak troops encamped there. Colonel Powell served in Siberia and the decoration probably has to do with that.

JUST WHO ARE THE TEETOTALLERS

Prof. Stephen Leacock Writes That He Hasn't Found Them Among Men Whose Brain-Power Has Won for Them Positions of Prominence.

Prof. Stephen Leacock, of McGill, the well known student and author, has some very trenchant things to say of the prohibition movement. He wrote not long ago:

"The university where I have worked for nearly twenty years contains in its faculties a great number of scholarly, industrious men whose life work cannot be derided or despised even by the salaried agitator of a prohibitionist society. Yet the great majority of them 'drink.' I use that awful word in the full gloomy sense given to it by the teetotaller. I mean that if you ask these men to dinner and offer them a glass of wine, they will take it. Some will take two. I have seen them take Scotch and soda. During these same years I have been privileged to know a great many of the leading lawyers of Montreal, whose brains and energy and service to the community I cannot too much admire. If there are any of them who do not 'drink,' I can only say I have not seen them.

"I can bear the same dreadful testimony on behalf of my friends who are doctors; and the same, and even more emphatic, on behalf of all the painters, artists and literary men with whom I have had the good fortune to be very closely associated. Of the clergy, I cannot speak. But in day more cheerful than the present gloomy times, there were at least those of them who thought a glass of port no very dreadful sin.

"What about the ordinary working man? Here, it seems to me, is where the strongest argument against prohibition comes in. We live in a world of appalling inequality, which as yet neither philanthropy nor legislation has been abale to remove. The lot of the working man who begins day labor at the age of sixteen and ends it at the age of seventy, who starts work every morning while the rest of us are still in bed, who has no sleep after his lunch and no vacation trip to Florida, is inconceivably hard. It is a sober fact that if those of us who are doctors, lawyers, professors and merchants were suddenly transferred by some evil magician to the rank of a working man, we should feel much as if we had been sent to the penitentiary. And it is equally a fact that we should realize just how much a glass of ale and a pipe of tobacco means to a sober industrious working man—not the picture book drunkard—after his hours of work."—Advt.

DOMINION DAY.

The natal day of the Dominion is given over to mirth and recreation, as befits the season, and it is well that a happy people should make the holiday one of carefree pleasure, since serious subjects crowd fast enough on one another in this workaday world. Yet it would be patriotically profitable to recall on the occasion how Confederation came about and how completely the visions of its authors have been realized. It is now several years since Canada shed the swaddling clothes and strode forth a lusty youth, a youth since grown to the stature of a man, and bearing proudly the name of nation. In the fifty-three years of her age, the Dominion has kept pace with the most progressive countries in commerce, in material development, in social improvement; and while her population is still relatively small, her energy, enterprise, and latent resources challenge the admiration of the world. Her war achievements have writ large the name of Canada in history. In means of transportation by rail and water she stands the peer of any; her white coal supply, as rushing streams are called, is unrivalled; her natural wealth is boundless; and from Canada, with its illimitable lands and forests, and mines, the poet might have drawn his prophetic vision:—

"I hear the tread of pioneers
Of a nation yet to be,
The first low wash of feet where soon
Shall roll a human sea."

The Dominion was born out of a desire of the four older provinces of Upper Canada, Lower Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick to be federally united under the Crown of Great Britain and Ireland, with a constitution similar in principle to that of the United Kingdom, because of the conviction that such a Union would conduce to the welfare of the provinces, and promote the interests of the British Empire. That was the foundation laid. Note well that the stately structure reared rests upon the British constitution and the integrity of the British Empire. Within the short space of four years, Prince Edward Island, British Columbia and the vast Northwest territories had been incorporated in the Confederation, creating the Canada as we have it today. There have been, as was inevitable, periods of doubt as to the stability of the structure in its early days, difficulties to be overcome, provincial jealousies to be removed, costly enterprises to be undertaken by a numerously few people in a vast territory, enterprises that would daunt a fearsome race lacking the courage and virility of the sons of the pioneers who formed their farms out of the hewed forests. But no obstacle could overcome the resolute purpose to perpetuate British power on the northern half of the American continent; and so from clouds into sunshine has emerged the Dominion. Our troubles are not all of the past. Each new day in the life of a nation brings new trials and difficulties, but the sober sense of the people may be trusted to surmount them all. Never was the duty to think nationally more strongly laid upon public men, and the leaders in the various walks of life. Canada is a goodly country; let us see to it that we keep it so.

THE SESSION OF PARLIAMENT.

Parliament may prorogue this evening. The session has, perhaps, been unnecessarily protracted, but it was not wholly without interest, for legislation of considerable importance has been placed upon the statute book. The Dominion's international and inter-imperial status was reaffirmed and emphasized; problems of shipping, railways, trade and finance were dealt with, and methods of taxation introduced which practically marked a revolution in the country's fiscal policy. In the closing days, a measure for the encouragement of shipbuilding; another for the extension of wheat control; the provision of substantial increases in indemnities of members, senators and cabinet ministers; more than $60,000,000 of supplementary estimates, and the adoption of important increases in soldiers' pensions.

The measure of aid to shipbuilding provides that the Government under-

Annual Forest Growth

FRANK J. D. BARNJUM, WELL KNOWN AS AN AUTHORITY ON THE SUBJECT, DRAWS ATTENTION TO THE RAPIDLY DIMINISHING SUPPLY OF TIMBER IN CANADA—ANY CLAIM MADE AS TO A NET ANNUAL GROWTH IS SIMPLY A DELUSION, HE SAYS.

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I notice that the rate of annual growth in our forests must be increasing quite rapidly, as in the issue of the Pulp & Paper Magazine of May 13th, the vice president of the International Paper Co. claimed a 4 per cent. growth, while in the issue of May 27th he claims it to be 11 3-7 per cent., and that there may be no misunderstanding in connection with these figures I will quote his statement verbatim:

"As to the 'four per cent. increment,' I desire to quote from the ninth annual report of the Commission of Conservation of Ottawa and from Professor C. D. Howe of the Faculty of Forestry, University of Toronto, in his monograph entitled 'Forest Regeneration on Certain Cut-over Pulpwood Lands in Quebec.' In this brochure on page ten he states as his conclusion from exhaustive studies made in the St. Maurice Valley, it would take 70 years for a spruce tree, 4 inches in diameter, to attain a diameter of 12 inches.

"Let us see exactly what this means in growth percentage. A block of spruce 1 foot long and 4 inches in diameter contains 150.8 cubic inches. Therefore, in 70 years a foot section of a 4 inch spruce tree would gain 1206.4 cubic inches in attaining a diameter of 12 inches.

"This is an increase in the 70 years of 800 per cent., or an annual average increase of 11 3-7 per cent. per annum. And in considering this astoundingly large percentage of annual growth, it must be remembered that this is simply circumferential growth, and takes no account whatsover of altitudinous increment."

The International Paper Company must be very short of wood when it becomes necessary to grow trees at such a rapid rate.

It is much to be regretted that pulp cannot be manufactured from fine theories. If it could be, there would certainly be no shortage of paper today, but we are faced with a condition and not a theory. The figures quoted by this official of the International Paper Company are the very best evidence that there is positively no net annual growth in our much abused forests as they exist today, for if there were an 11 per cent. growth, a 4 per cent., or even a 1 per cent. net growth, there would be more standing wood on the Quebec leased lands today than there ever was, as the annual cut on these lands is only 2,000,000 cords, or less than 1 per cent. of the stand of 224,000,000 cords, as quoted by this official.

I am not vouching for any of the above figures, except the annual cut, which is correct. I am merely using his own figures to show that his contention that there is a net annual growth is ridiculous. When the cut only amounts to less than 1 per cent. of the stand of timber and still our supply is diminishing, so very much more than this amount every year, how can there be any net growth?

The fallacy of the contention that there is any such amount of growth lies in a fact that should be perfectly plain to any school boy. We might just as well contend that each child that is born lives to the age of three score years and ten, in which case the world would be as densely populated with human beings as the vice president of the International Paper Company would have it covered with trees.

If any one questions the rapidity with which our supply of timber is diminishing, I would ask why it is that some of the larger operators are now cutting in such remote sections that it takes two years to drive their logs to the mills, and why it is that limits have advanced in price from, say, $100 per square mile to $3,500 per square mile? Why pulpwood has advanced from $3 per cord to $30 and more f. o. b.? Why fee land has advanced from $1 per acre to $10, $15, or $30 and over? Also why the size of logs has dropped from six or seven down to sixty or seventy to the thousand feet, and why they are shipping wood out of the country by rail that runs in size from four or five inches down to 1½ inches in diameter, mere poles that have only just begun to grow? Also why are all the larger paper companies in Canada planting seedlings in a large way as fast as they possibly can?

With the above cold facts staring us in the face it must, of course, be perfectly apparent to any man of ordinary intelligence that any claim made as to a net annual growth is simply a 'delusion," and the greatest satisfaction we have in this connection is in the knowledge that all of the people cannot be fooled all of the time.

Yours,
FRANK J. D. BARNJUM,
Annapolis Royal, N. S., June 25, 1920.

takes to endorse the notes of purchasers of vessels from Canadian yards to the extent of fifty per cent. of the cost, the Dominion taking a mortgage on the vessel, which must remain under Canadian register until the notes endorsed are paid. In the case of orders on foreign account, or for a foreign nation, similar aid will be granted upon the production of substantial security; and it is understood that France contemplates taking advantage of this offer to place large orders for mercantile ships. As an exchange says, the Government's proposals mean a great deal to the shipbuilding industry as a whole, sustaining it over a lean period and protecting a great amount of capital as well as the livelihood of thousands of Canadians.

The supplementary estimates show that despite exhortations for economy practically all of the expenditure taps are still running freely. The estimates call for an extra outlay of $62,000,000, the amount being made up by increased pensions, naval and air service and military outlays and $25,000,000 for the Grand Trunk. This means that the total expenditure of the Dominion this year will be upwards of $600,000,000—three times the total expenditures before the war—and that even the new direct taxes will hardly be sufficient to make both ends meet.

A caucus of the Government Parliamentary party may be held tomorrow, when it is expected that Sir Robert Borden will announce his decision as to the future; whether he will continue as Premier and reorganize the Cabinet, or resign and recommend to His Excellency that the choice of the Parliamentary party be called to form a new Government. The people of Canada, who have been almost unanimous for several months in the opinion that a reorganized and materially strengthened Cabinet, or a new Government, is now an essential, will be much interested in the decision of Sir Robert and in the decision of the caucus.

COLLAPSE OF CAPITALISM.

A capacious phrase, like "the collapse of capitalism," of which much current use is made, will gather together many dissimilar or even contradictory ideas under the guise of one. Those who prophesy that capitalism will presently collapse do not all by any means mean the same thing. Separated from the discrepancies, the remainder, that which they mean in common, will not perhaps appear so alarming as the unanalyzed whole.

Some expect an industrial reorganization in the direction of what has been styled industrial democracy. Under this phrase are grouped many conceptions of systems for a partial cession of control, in industrial enterprises, to the organized wage-earners. It may be noted that any such change stops short altogether of capital in the strict sense. Capital in its pure form has to do only with passive investment; management, enterprise belong to the province of the middleman between capital and labor, whom the economists often call the entrepreneur. Industrial democracy appears less a drive at capital than a combination of capital and labor to share up the functions of this now antiquated captain of operations.

To others the collapse of capital signifies the success of Bolshevism. The Bolsheviki have indeed caused the collapse of such capital as lay in Russian railroads, factories and Government bonds. But in a country almost totally agricultural, they have avoided antagonizing the greatest aggregate capitalist of all, the small peasant landowner. Nor have their practices taken root in any country where capital carries the usual connotation of man-made improvements over and above the bare furnishing of Nature.

A third chief group apprehend a collapse of capital from a downfall of the credit of the leading governments, and therewith of the whole sense of trust in the debtor's power and will to repay, upon which the institution of capital rests. Such an event would conceivably extinguish those portions of capital which lay invested in national and corporate debts, or held the more fluid form of banking credit. But it is evident that a downfall of this character, though it would afflict and decimate more or less capital, would not sweep away capitalism as a system; that on the contrary, providing nothing in capital's place, havoc would increase the existing capital demand; and eventually would result not in a collapse, but in a sounder growth of capital than ever.

The residue of various such ideas is no more, perhaps, than that capital is having a bad time of it for various reasons, that matters are in flux and that many placements of productive wealth will continue for a while uncertain.

The Stock Market

(Associated Press by Leased Wire.)

New York, June 30 (Wall Street, 10.30).—Aside from its steadier tone there was no signs at the opening of today's trading that the stock market would throw off its protracted torpor. A few important issues in the oil, shipping and steel groups recorded advances, ranging from liberal fractions to a point, but many former leaders in the industrial and railroad divisions were unquoted in the first fifteen minutes trading. Foreign exchange was easy in the preliminary quotations, but firmer tendencies were looked for in call and time money rates.

"No."

SMOKERS VS. NON-SMOKERS

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Quite recently I read in your paper a letter on the selfishness of smokers; it was signed Fresh Air, I think. I endorse every word of it, but thought one important point had been overlooked, and that is the universal habit of smoking in hotels, restaurants and public buildings. While waiting to move into a home of my own I have been living in a small hotel, where there is one room set aside for eating; in consequence I've been obliged to eat three meals a day garnished with a variety of tobacco, for it seems quite as usual to see smokers at breakfast as at dinner. To me the combination of tobacco smoke and food is especially disgusting, but there seems nothing to do but "grin and bear it. I would like very much to know the opinions of the readers of your People's column.

Yours,
OLD-FASHIONED LADY.

THE WHOLE TRUTH

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Concerning Big Sister's query as to whether a person should speak "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth" at all times, the answer is, "No, a thousand times no!" Nothing could be more absurd than the proposition itself.

Yours,
COMMON SENSE.

St. Andrews, June 26, 1920.

SALVATION ARMY SLOGAN

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Being better acquainted with the ideals and service of the Salvation Army to humanity than the majority of people, I can say that the slogan, "A man may be down, but he's never out," is applied by them not only to men but to women also; in fact, I think the greater stress is laid on lifting up fallen women.

In the Salvation Army rescue homes misguided and unfortunate women are nursed and cared for by tender, loving and compassionate hands, and through the Salvation Army lassies' gentle and sympathetic understanding, soothing ministrations and wide tolerance distorted views are corrected and wholesome-minded women are sent out to prove a blessing instead of a burden, and sometimes worse, to the world. They have tasted the bitter dregs and everything is as ashes to their lips, but lifted and encouraged by wise preceptors, whose example in admiration they strive to emulate, they return sane minded, all the cobwebs and murkiness in their minds having been swept away by the fresh, clean teachings of the "Sallies."

The Salvation Army does not countenance sin in its ranks; but if there is true repentance every effort is made to aid the sinner to "come back." There are many instances where the woman who has sunk to the very depths—no ray of light filtering through the stygian darkness of despair—has been lifted by these ministering angels to find that the sun still shone, God's in His heaven, all's right with the world.

Yours,
F. T.

THE POOR BOOTBLACK

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—I cannot refrain from offering a few comments in answer to the contribution to your People's Column by a correspondent on he question of "shines."

For the past year or two, as everyone in the country is aware, there has been a general increase in the cost of living, the reasons for which are so numerous and so varied that I will not dwell upon that side of the question. Whether it is a cause or a result, the fact remains that wages have been pretty generally increased to enable the average person to meet the increase in the cost of living, so that I feel safe in saying most of the people who are working for a weekly wage or are on a salary have felt no great deprivation. But the poor bootblack who has to depend upon the whims and fancies of the public is, in my opinion, one of those who must be having a rather hard time of it to make both ends meet. I am not very much up on his line of goods, but, judging from present conditions, I am willing to wager that the cost of his material has about doubled over that of a year or two ago. No doubt the rent of his home, where he probably has ten or twelve children—maybe the making of our best Canadians—has more than doubled, not to speak of the cost of food, clothing, etc. He has to have food, clothing, heat and shelter just the same as the rest of us, strange as it may seem, and what is more, he has to buy it in the same country and pay the same price for it.

Your correspondent is probably a would-be sport who has a can of shoe polish on a shelf in his room and gets a real shine once a year! Surely, if he were a real man he'd never be "startled" by 15 cents.

Yours,
W. V. K.

Vocational Education Was Discussed by the Institute

L. W. Sims, of St. John, Deals With Relationship of Vocational Schools to our Common and High Schools—Lively Discussion on the Subject Followed

Dr. W. S. Carter, chief superintendent of education, presided at yesterday afternoon's session of the Educational Institute of New Brunswick.

L. W. Simms, of St. John, addressed the meeting on the Relation of the Vocational Schools to our Common and High Schools.

Mr. Simms stated that attempts had been made in the schools to tack on a species of manual training and call it vocational training. Cohesion, not adhesion, was wanted. Things were not taken as good simply because of long standing or custom, but were being given a careful try-out. The time was when directors thought the main object was dollars and cents, but the training to read the situation rightly and appreciate the vast importance of tangible things was the true perspective.

Industry was the laboratory in which the product of the teachers was tested out. In many cases adequate equipment counted heavily and the high calling of the teacher was often pulled down to a commercial appearance.

Joy in work was unattainable without the aid of vocational work. The average graduates of the High School had not in many cases equipped themselves for any special work, and thus upon leaving school they wandered, seeking jobs. Schools were asked that students be trained in vocational pursuits to familiarize them with the outside world of industry. Five new employees were often employed to get one worth while.

The speaker stated that allowances must be made for the peculiar state of society at the present time. The turnover of labor was an immense loss, not only to the school, but to the community; and the speaker stated that all pupils should be given a definite insruction as to some special work. There was reason in industry's request that every boy or girl be fitted for a future work.

Class conscousness was one of the greatest threats against industry. He thought vocational work would soon be universal, making the world of industry safe for democracy, and vice versa. Three classes of pupils were among those to be considered: (1) those well supplied with knowledge; (2) pupils who have good memories, and (3) those who were bright in one special subject.

In professional life it has been considered that any who passed through the pioneer stages were safely launched into professional life. Very few people had senses well trained in drawing conclusions and in proper use. The time to train them was in the youth of the child, when all his senses could be gotten to work together. The practical question of equipping the children for a successful battle against life should take up the important place in the parents' minds.

For each one interested in his profession it was not a work but a pleasure, a recreation and a satisfaction. Real beauty had a psychological and moral nature, refining all the senses. Beauty in work brought pleasure; and the foundation of beauty was the work of a splendid craftsman Just as in art, the finest and best in education is the best results of the craftsman, the teacher.

People dared not stand still when the question of training their children cropped up. They must move and influence the youthful minds in vocational work. Every boy and girl, man and woman, should be given a specific training, whether or not he or she needs it, in order that they could return to society what it had done for them. Enemies of peace, health, social order, progress, self-reliance and self request were vanquished at the end of the present war. Education must prepare for a campaign against divorce, trade hates, etc., and be one of the chief instruments in training for true citizenship. The teacher must be a genuine fact in the uplifting of the world and bring industry and education into closer harmony.

The Discussion.

Dr. G. A. Oulton stated he would like to know where the vocational work came in touch with and influenced the public schools.

Inspector Brooks, of Kings county, stated he failed to see the need for vocational education in the province. The young men were to be encouraged to stay at home, and he thought if there was a necessity, courses suitable to the back-country districts should be applied there. He had been overseas four years and probably did not understand conditions as he should.

Mr. Peacock answered Mr. Brooks, stating that if Kings county were an agricultural county it was also a centre of home-making. To Dr. Oulton he said it was for him to open his eyes and look around him. When vocational education had been properly introduced the country would be transformed.

The connection between vocational schools and the public schools was a good one. The money of the department was limited, the country was new to it, and a machine should not be built supplying men and women who could not be used. What proportion of engineering graduates were assimilated in the province of New Brunswick today? In the city the vocational courses should be based upon its needs, and similarly throughout the province. Every boy and girl should be given something of value out of the courses. Vocational schools were needed in all counties and would be supplied if the leaders would go ahead in the matter. Vocational, or trade schools, should be adopted in the cities where the population warranted such.

Dr. Carter said the trouble in all vocations was that there were too many cooks, and these spoiled the soup.

The School and the Home.

Dr. H. S. Bridges, of St. John, then read Mrs. R. A. Jamieson's paper on the Proper Relation Between the School and the Home, from the Parents' Point of View.

The subject, she stated, was a very important one, as the school, the home and the church were the three most important places on the earth.

The home was a place of rest and security, and the determining factor in the growth of the boy into the man. The relationship of the school and the home was therefore very influential.

Builders must work together in harmony. Obedience to recognized authority was the first lesson the child should be taught. If parents taught that lesson first, many obstacles in the teacher's path would be removed.

Some homes were devoid of ideals when parental authority was absent. A child should be taught by the teacher to honor his parents. Nothing should tempt teachers to make criticisms against parents before children, as this practice destroyed respect and discipline.

Indolent modes of procedure adopted by some parents were relics of the dark ages, and development of the children's personalities should be free and untrammelled. Many mothers bring their pupils up by love alone and love makes a hash of it. A little corporal punishment administered not in anger but as a nauseous medicine, was a good thing.

The case of a child was a duty which taxed the mind of a Solomon because of its difficulties. Let a child learn that retribution followed swift upon his track and he would benefit by experience.

The speaker emphasized the habit of intelligent observation, self-reference and self-control, as well as a sympathetic understanding concerning the work of the mother and the pupil.

"I ended corns forever in this scientific way"

Millions have said that about Blue-jay.

Others tried it and told others the same story. So the use has spread, until corn troubles have largely disappeared.

If you have a corn you can settle it tonight. And find the way to end every corn.

Apply liquid Blue-jay or a Blue-jay plaster. The pain will stop.

Soon the whole corn will loosen and come out.

Think what folly it is to keep corns, to pare or pad them, or to use the old harsh treatments.

Here is the new-day way, gentle, sure and scientific. It was created by a noted chemist in this world-famed laboratory.

It is ending millions of corns by a touch. The relief is quick, and it ends them completely.

Try it tonight. Corns are utterly needless, and this is the time to prove it.

Sir Robert Borden Almost Certain to Offer Resignation To Party Caucus Tomorrow

While Resigning the Premiership, Sir Robert is Likely to Retain His Seat in the House—Hon. Mr. Meighen the Most Prominent Name Mentioned as Successor

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, June 30.—It is practically certain that Sir Robert Borden will take advantage of the caucus meeting tomorrow to resign as Premier and leader of the Conservative party. It is understood that he desires to make the announcement on Dominion Day; to take formal leave of the Premiership, although he will not likely resign his seat in the House at present.

This will involve the choice of a successor. It cannot be said that the emergency has been sprung on the party, but there is not a ready leader in sight, and a selection from among the different names will be a matter of some deliberation. It is probable that the caucus to be held this week will be a two day affair, and although the final selection of a leader will hardly be made at present, the situation will be canvassed. Sir Thomas White's name may be dropped as a candidate. His continued protests that he does not desire and will not accept the position have at last been accepted as definite. The latest boom being propagated is for Sir Henry Drayton, whom it is said that Montreal and Toronto financial circles are now uniting on, while the rank and file of the party are strong for Hon. Mr. Meighen. The Ottawa Journal will come out tomorrow strongly in favor of him.

The Toronto Globe publishes an Ottawa story to the effect that Sir Lomer Gouin and Hon. Mr. Lemieux will enter the government in the process of the coming reconstruction. No credence whatever is given to this story by Quebec members here, who state that while Sir Lomer Gouin is undoubtedly going to retire, it will be to accept either the Presidency of the new steel corporation organized by Grant Morden, or to become Vice President of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The rumor that Sir Lomer would enter the Union Government has been frequently mentioned and some time ago may not have been wholly without foundation.

Prorogation Tonight.

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Ottawa, June 30.—Parliament will prorogue at 10 p. m. today, and an important caucus of Unionist members will be held at 10.30 a. m. tomorrow.

In political circles the rumor is current that the retirement of Sir Robert Borden will be accompanied by that of Sir George Foster. In this event, Sir George may take the Canadian High Commissionership in London.

The general caucus of government supporters will, it is understood, be preceded by separate caucuses of Liberal Unionists and Conservative Unionists for discussion of the situation.

A reorganization of the government following a change in leadership would, it is expected, be followed by a general election in the fall.

INDEMNITY PASSED BY PARLIAMENT

Only Twelve Dissenting Voices When Third Reading Came Up

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

Ottawa, June 30.—After several hours' discussion, in which the members of the House of Commons attempted to justify from every possible angle the increase in indemnity, the government's proposal passed through committee with only twelve dissenting voices. All those who would have voted in favor of the proposal to defer action on the increases to members of the Cabinet and of Parliament were not in the House when the informal vote was taken and some have since stated that they would have voted against an increase, but the following are those who went on record against it:

King, Crerar, Kennedy (Glengarry), McGaster, Sinclair (Guysboro), Sinclair (P. E. Island), D'Anjou, Deschene, Lanctot, Proulx, Fielding. The only member of the Government side to speak against the proposal was Mackay, of North Renfrew, who denounced it in no uncertain terms, and would no doubt have voted against it.

While King and Crerar both registered their opposition to the increase during the present parliament, neither moved a formal amendment, which would have had the effect of securing a full expression of opinion.

THEY CONFESS THEIR WEAKNESS

Opponents of Prohibition Have No Reasonable Arguments to Offer.—Driven to Wild and Intemperate Statements.

No stronger argument for prohibition could be found than the advertisement issued by its opponents. There are only two real reasons for opposition to prohibition; one is the desire to make money in the traffic and the other is the desire for self-indulgence. These reasons are not advanced by the "wet" forces; they are kept in the background, while wild and intemperate statements are made in an effort to discredit the prohibition act and to claim for liquor values and benefits which it does not possess.

The evidence of scientists is so conclusive that no one nowadays makes any serious claim that the use of alcohol in any form is beneficial to a healthy person, and medicine has provided other remedies for the ill. Business men and manufacturers are opposed to the use of alcohol because it destroys efficiency; the railroads will not tolerate it. Lives ruined by drink are its chief product. No thinking man or woman wants a return to conditions as they were before prohibition was introduced, and every parent realizes that the future welfare of his or her children would be imperriled by a backward step.

The present act may have its defects, but it is an honest effort to overcome such greater evils and it can and will be strengthened and improved if the people of the province show by their votes on July 10 that this is their desire. Every citizen who faces the issue honestly and conscientiously must vote for prohibition and against the sale of beer and wines. —Advt.

Dr. McAlister, of Sussex, is at the Barker House.

Rev. E. B. Hooper On Prohibition

To the Editor of The Gleaner,

Sir,—Permit me space for a few words 'in re' the Plebiscite on the Prohibition question on July 10th.

1. Let me confess that I myself misunderstood the affect of voting for the "Prohibition Act."

As this act prohibits the sale of light wines and beer, I thought, with many others, that those who voted for it would not vote yea or nay on the question of light wines and beer. To my great astonishment I find that one can vote for "Prohibition" and also for the "light wines and beer", and that, if both carry by a majority, then the present act will be amended, so as to permit the sale of light wines and beer. I hope that this will be universally known throughout the province before July 10th. It will have an enormous influence upon the vote polled.

2. My second point is this. All right-minded citizens will desire the promotion of Temperance in our beloved and beautiful Province. Why cannot we give to each other—those in favor of the Prohibition Act, and those who are opposed to it, and those also who would like to see tried the sale of light wines and beer, the credit for being honest in the desire to promote temperance. We have the highest assurance that whatever may be the result of the Plebiscite we shall never return to the open "Bar."

We are all agreed as to the fearful evils of intemperance. We all desire to lessen the evil and to promote true temperance.

We are not agreed as to the best means. Why are we told that if we are "patriotic," "unselfish," "sane," and "rightminded" we will go to the polls on July 10th and vote for the continuance of the present Prohibition Act? If that is so, then the opposite must also be true. We who vote against the act will be showing ourselves to be unpatriotic, selfish, insane and evil-minded.

I affirm that this spirit is all wrong. Do let us all grant sincerity and truth and honesty of purpose to those who do not agree with us, and let all men and women go to the polls and record their judgment fearlessly and in all charity.

3. I feel that I must state my own position on the question, as that of one whose character for patriotism, etc., is not likely to be in question. During the war my work was entirely with soldiers. For the last year it has been entirely with ex-soldiers. My appreciation and affection for them is just about the biggest thing in life to me. With my whole heart and soul I have endeavored to "lead them straight," and in the social evils of impurity and intemperance I have tried by word and example to inculcate strength of character. Not only for their own sakes and their families, but for their province and for the good name and fame of the glorious Canadian Expeditionary Force, I have urged purity, temperance, etc., upon all returned men. I have been a most ardent worker in the cause of temperance, realizing that while legislation can go some way in the matter, real temperance, like all other graces, must come chiefly through education.

Well, to make a long story short, I have found by experience that the present Prohibition Act, as administered, for the purpose of promoting temperance, has been tried for two years and has proved a failure. I have seen more intemperance than ever before. I have seen men resorting to lemon extract and other things—yes, even to shoe polish—in order to get something with a "kick" in it. My own judgment is that this act has failed in its purpose. I am D. V., going to vote against it and for "light wines and beer." If this latter should be tried, and it too fail after fair trial, then by all means throw it out.

I am led to make this statement of my own views because I want to make it clear that such views may be held by one who at least may claim to be regarded as a decent man.

4. Notwithstanding these views of mine, I admit that the Prohibition Act may possibly carry on July 10th, because of the commendable earnestness and organization of those who are in favor of it. The women have been canvassed far more than the men. I reverence womanhood. I take off my hat to women for all that they have done and are doing. A considerable number will vote for the Prohibition Act, for I know how the question has been put to them.

But then, alas! Side by side with these good women, voting for the Prohibition Act, there will be ranged a large army of the scoundrels known as "bootleggers." Bootleggers and others who have been amassing wealth under the present Prohibition Act, will most assuredly vote for the continuance of the Act. My chief hope is that there may at least be a majority in favor of light wines and beer.

Thanking you for space, Mr. Editor, I am,

Yours faithfully,
E. BERTRAM HOOPER.

Provincial Convention of School Trustees Is Likely to Be Held In the Near Future

Intimation Given by the Chief Superintendent at the Educational Institute This Morning—Miss Sadie Thompson Elected to the U. N. B. Senate

Announcement was made at this morning's session of the Educational Institute of New Brunswick that a convention of school trustees would be held in the province at an early date.

The first matter to come before this morning's session of the Educational Institute was the election of the Executive Committee. Of the twenty-four nominated the ten elected were: Dr. H. S. Bridges, St. John; A. S. McFarlane, Dr. B. C. Foster, G. J. Oulton, Moncton; F. A. Dixon, Sussex; D. W. Wallace, Woodstock, G. H. Harrison, Chatham; W. J. S. Miles, St. John; Miss Bessie M. Fraser, of Grand Falls, and Louise M. Scott, of Fredericton Junction.

The text book committee was elected as follows: Dr. H. S. Bridges, St. John; C. J. Oulton, Moncton; W. J. S. Miles, St. John; H. H. Hagerman, J. F. Owens, A. S. McFarlane and Miss Caldwell.

Miss Sadie Thompson was elected representative of the Institute on the Senate of the University of New Brunswick.

Dr. W. S. Carter stated that he had the authority of the Board of Education to call a Trustees Convention and he asked that trustees be notified to have sufficient delegates elected in order that the convention might be held as soon as possible.

He explained that probably library regulations and the library grant would be changed, but he could not state this with authority and he asked that as far as possible all teachers unite in the matter of libraries with the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire.

Among those who were leaving the Institute were Prof. Belliveau, Inspector McLean, Lt. Col. Mersereau and R. P. Steeves, all of whom had seen fifty years in the public school services. He referred to their long and faithful service, expressing the thanks of the Institute for this.

He also stated that this year the annual school meeting fell on July 12th, but if this date was not suitable any district could get over the date by simply forgetting it and asking their inspector to set a date favorable by all.

Dr. William Milner, of Halifax, was then introduced and gave an illuminating address on Preservation of Local Traditions. The speaker said he had studied history for years and was glad of the chance to deal with this subject in connection with education. In local research work and in recording by monuments past achievements the speaker stated New Brunswick was behind her neighbors. Records of schools as far back as 1858 are filed in the Chief Superintendent's office; but where are the older ones?

Major Frank A. Good, of the Provincial Normal School, also spoke on the subject and regretted the utter lack of old records, referring to the early history of the province.

Dr. Melvin, chief medical health officer, addressed the institute on the inspection of schools by medical officers and found that about forty-five schools had not been visited during the year.

Lieut. Col. A. B. Snow, inspector of New Brunswick Cadet Corps, addressed the institute on cadet training camps.

The cadets' camp will be held at Sussex from July 30th and the teachers' camp will open at St. John on July 19th, officers' pay of $3 per day and allowances as for the militia being available for those attending the teachers' camp.

Before adjournment the resolutions committee reported.

[Canadian Press by Leased Wire.]

Beaconsfield, Que., June 30—The battle of the golf giants began this morning, when players entered the third round of the Canadian Amateur championships. The situation which brings together George S. Lyon, of Lambton, many times champion, and aged sixty-two, and J. H. McCulloch, of Beaconsfield, aged eighteen, naturally drew plenty of attention to this match.

Followers of the form of the players with an eye open for indications that will give a line on the next champion also gave close attention to the games of Marcus Greer, of Gran Mere, who yesterday put in a card of 68, the best of the championships and for the course. T. G. Hoblitzel, Sarnia, who came near Mr. Greer's score with a 73, W. J. and Frank Thompson, of Mississauga, and the western survivers, T. Gillespie and C. W. Hague, Calgary, and J. T. Harness Racing Season To Be Opened Tomorrow

FOUR RACES ON THE LOCAL CARD

The Quartette of Locally Owned Horses in the Sweepstakes Race.

The curtain on the harness racing season in New Brunswick will be rung up tomorrow when Dominion Day will be marked by racing in no less than seven cities and towns.

Fredericton, Moncton, St. Stephen and Woodsctock will have races at which the Maritime & Maine Circuit stables will make their first appearances while matinee races are scheduled for Chatham, Campbellton and St. John. The rival Fredericton and Moncton meetings are naturally attracting the most attention because of the scramble these two tracks engaged in in trying to secure horses.

At Moncton three races are on the programme, the list being a free for all trot, a 2.19 trot and a 2.20 pace. Indications are there will be three starters in the free for all trot, the trio being Brage, J. Forbes and Clay Watts. The 2.19 trot will have Roy Miller, Bevious, Mayor Todd and Budmore and from the 2.20 mixed list four starters will doubtless be chosen.

Four Races Here.

Fredericton's programme was augmented this morning by a four cornered sweepstakes in which the starters will be four local horses, the owners of which have deposited forfeits of $25 each. The quartette are: Linda Bingen, owned by E. O. McDonald; P. S., owned by P. S. Watson; Star Todd, owned by Roy W. Smith, and Idle Moments, owned by Ald. Harold M. Young.

In addtion there will also be the three races on the original programme which are expected to produce some of the best racing ever seen at the local track. In the free for all the starters will be: Fern Hal, 2.05¼, The Exposer, 2.06, and Roy Volo, 2.13¼; the 2.17 trot will have Gay Moko, 2.16¼, Border Prince, 2.18¼, Harvest Hope, 2.21¼, and Victoria, 2.15½, and the starters in the 2.15 pace will be Jennie Frisco, 2.14¼; Jennie Penn, 2.14¼, and the two St. John pacers, King Wilkes, 2.09¼, and Singer, 2.15¼.

There are three races on the programme for St. Stephen and four at Woodstock, Frank P. Fox, the Boston trainer, having one entry at the latter meeting.

Ball Game and Band Concert.

While the heavy rain today will doubtless make all the tracks more or less heavy tomorrow, the local management said today they expected the local track would dry out rapidly tomorrow morning if the weather should turn fine in the meantime. The racing is scheduled to start at 2 p. m., and the Fredericton Brass Band will march to the track at 1.15 p. m. from the corner of Queen and Regent streets. R. J. ("Bob") McKee, of Fort Fairfield, Me., will act as starter and during the afternoon there will be a baseball game between Marysville and Y. M. C. A. teams, leaders in the York County Baseball League, as an additional attraction. The new management plans to keep things going at a lively pace and with four races, a baseball game and a band concert have an overflowing programme. The free for all race will be on the "three-in-five" plan, the 2.15 pace and the 2.17 trot will both be raced on the "three heats" plan and it has not yet been decided how the sweepstakes matched race will be contested.

Some out-of-town horsemen are already here, the rivalry between the St. John entries in the 2.15 class—King Wilkes and Singer—having attracted a number of St. John horsemen. Both St. John pacers have been working well since arriving here and there is considerable feeling between their backers.

The competition was held on June 5th and 12th and all teams fired the Ross Rifle with the exception of Didsbury High School, which used the Lee-Enfield.

Lining Up the Campaigners

There is every indication of a satisfactory entry for the Fredericton Park Association's intermittent closing purses to be raced the last week in July and the early closing events to be raced in September, which closed last night, but lists will not be compiled for several days.

Entries for Woodstock's Maritime and Maine Circuit races on July 12th and 13th close today and it is expected there will be a large entry for that meeting. The next few days will therefore give the first accurate line on the stables which will make the Maritime and Maine Circuit campaign.

PETER FARREN'S FIRST START HERE

The St. John Free For Aller's Initial Appearance of Season in Fredericton

(Special despatch to The Daily Gleaner.)

St. John, N. B., June 29.—Peter Farren, local pacer, is in training at Moosepath and is beginning to round into form. His owner, David O'Keefe, says he will not start him in a race before July 27, when he expects to have him in good condition.

Asked regarding his opinion of the three or five heat racing, he said he strongly favored the latter, as did the majority of local horsemen.

They say Northern Direct has worked the Goshen twice around in 2.06½. He parades in the 2.12 pace at Cherry Park this week. If the report is true it is certain that it was before he joined Earl Pitman's stable.

Eleanor Arworthy, 2.17¼, a winner out in Ohio, has Sara Ann Patch, 2.06½, for a dam.

IN DAYS OF TERROR

(Contued)

Maurice, who was stripping the decayed petals from one of the dead carnations he had plucked in passing, now offered his arm to Genevieve, saying—"Let us set out."

"They went, in short, Maurice so happy he could scarcely contain himself; he would have uttered cries of joy had he not restrained his emotion. What could he desire more? Not only had he acquired the certainty that she did not love Morand; but also the hope that he possessed her affection. The glorious sun shone upon the world, the arm of Genevieve was reposing within his own, whilst the public criers, shouting at the top of their voices the triumph of the Jacobins and the defeat of Bressot and his companions, announced that the country was saved.

There are truly moments of life when the heart of man seems too small to contain the joy or grief concentred there.

"Oh! what a lovely day," exclaimed Morand.

Maurice turned round in surprise. This was the first burst of feeling he had ever heard issue from the lips of this singularly reserved and absent man.

"Oh! yes, it is indeed lovely," said Genevieve, pressing closer the arm of Maurice, "if it would only continue till evening, pure and cloudless as it is now!"

Maurice applied this word, and his happiness redoubled each moment. Morand at the same time regarded Genevieve through his green spectacles with a peculiar expression. Perhaps he also applied her expressions. They thus crossed Le Petit-Pont, La Rue de la Janerie, and the bridge Notre Dame; they then proceeded to La Place de l'Hotel de Ville, La Rue Bur-du-Bec and La Rue Sainte-Avoye. As they progressed, Maurice's step became more and more elastic, while on the contrary, those of his male and female companions waxed slower and slower. They had reached the corner of La Rues des Vieilles Audriettes, when all at once a flower-girl impeded their passage, by offering them her basket filled with flowers.

"Oh! what magnificent carnations!" cried Maurice.

"Oh! yes, very beautiful," said Genevieve, "it seems the cultivator of these had no other pre-occupation, for they are not withered and dead."

This speech sank deep into the heart of the young man.

"Ah! my brave municipal," said the flower-girl, "purchase a bouquet for the pretty citoyenne. She is dressed in white; look at these superb crimson carnations; white and purple look well together; she will place the bouquet upon her heart, and as her heart is near to your blue coat, there you have the national colors. The flower-girl was young and pretty, her compliment was well-turned and well chosen, for it had been made expressly for that occasion, it could not have better have applied to the circumstances. Besides the flowers were almost symbolical; they were similar to those now dead.

"I will purchase one," said Maurice, "since they are carnations; all other flowers I detest."

"Ah! Maurice," said Genevieve, "it is useless, we have so many of them in the garden."

But although her lips uttered the refusal, her eyes expressed a longing desire to possess them.

Maurice selected the most beautiful of the bouquets. It was the one the pretty flower-girl had presented to him. It consisted of twenty deep red carnations, emitting an odor at once sweet and pungent; in the centre, towering above the rest, rose a magnificent carnation.

"Here," said Maurice to the marchand, throwing on her basket an assignat of five livres, "that is for you."

"Thanks, my brave municipal," said the flower-girl, "a thousand thanks."

And she went towards another couple, trusting the day commenced thus auspiciously would so continue till its close. During this apparently simple scene, which had only occupied a few seconds at most, Morand seemed scarcely able to support himself, and wiped the perspiration from his pallid brow, while Genevieve also turned pale and trembled.

She received the nosegay which Maurice presented to her, and clasping it in her lovely hand, held it to her face, less to inhale the odor than to conceal her emotion. The remainder of the journey was pleasant, at least as far as concerned Maurice. As for Genevieve, his gaiety was a constraint upon her, and Morand passed his day in a fashion peculiar to himself, that is to say, in smothered sighs or startling bursts of laughter, and occasionally uttering some formidable wittiicism, which fell upon the passers-by like sparks of fire.

At nine o'clock they reached the Temple.

Santerre called over the municipals.

"I am here," said Maurice, leaving Genevieve under the care of Morand.

"Welcome," said Santerre, holding out his hand to the young man.

Maurice took care not to refuse the hand thus offered to him. The friendship of Santerre was certainly most valuable at this epoch. At sight of this man who had comanded the famous rolling of drums, Genevieve shuddered, and Morand turned pale.

"Who is this handsome citoyenne?" demanded Santerre of Maurice, "and what does she do here?"

"She is the wife of the brave Citizen Dixmer; you have heard this excelent patriot spoken of, Citizen General?"

"Yes, yes," replied Santerre, "the chief of a tannery, captain of chasseurs of the legion Victor.

"The same."

"Bon! bon! Ma foi, she is pretty. And this ugly fellow who has given her his arm?"

"That is the Citizen Morand, her husband's partner, and chasseur in Dixmer's company."

Santerre approaching Genevieve.

"Bonjour, citoyenne," said he.

Genevieve made an effort.

"Bonjour, Citizen General," replied she, smiling.

Santere felt flattered by both title and smile.

"The citoyenne," replied Maurice, "has never seen the Widow Capet, and she wishes to see her."

"Yes," said Santerre, "before—," and he made an atrocious geesture.

"Precisely," replied Maurice, coldly.

"Very well," said Santerre, "only mind they are not seen entering the keep; it would be a bad example, besides, I confide all to you."

Santerre again shook hands with Maurice, made an inclination of his head to Genevieve in a friendly and protecting manner, and quitted them to attend to his other various engagements.

After a great many evolutions of gendarmes and chasseurs, after some manoeuvring with cannon, the dull re-e sounding of which, it was considered, carried to the environs a salutary lesson or admonition, Maurice took Genevieve's arm, and followed closely by Morand, advanced towards the post, at the door of which Louis was vociferating loudly, commanding the manoeuvres of his battalion.

"Bon!" cried he, "why there is Maurice; peste! with a female, too, who appears to me rather agreeable. Does the stupid fellow wish to compare her with my Goddess Reason? If it were so, poor Arthemise!"

"Well! Citizen Adjutant," said the captain.

The guns rolled, the company dispersed to their reespective places, and when each was at his post, Louis hastened away to exchange compliments with his friend Maurice presented Louis to Genevieve and Morand. Then an explanation commenced as to the purport of their visit.
