LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY,
No. 1, Princes Street, Bank, London.

CAPITAL—ONE MILLION STERLING.

Empowered by Special Act of Parliament, 4 Vict., Chap. 5.

REDUCED RATES OF PREMIUM—HALF CREDIT RATES OF PREMIUM.

THE great and decided success which has attended this Institution, has induced the Directors to REDUCE the RATES originally required in British North America, to the ordinary European Rates. The result of such Reduction is to enable parties to avail themselves of the important benefits to Life Assurance at much lower Rates of Premium than those of any other Assurance Company transacting business in Canada.

The Directors have also resolved to extend to British North America the advantages afforded by the HALF CREDIT RATES of PREMIUM which have been so highly approved, and are so generally adopted by Policy Holders in the United Kingdom. The most liberal conditions are likewise offered to the Assured in the limits to which they may proceed by sea or land, to other parts of North America without affecting their Interest in their respective Policies.

Large Bonuses on Policies effected on the high Scale.
Prompt settlement of Losses.
The full value given for Policies when discontinued.
On Insurances for the Whole of Life: one-half of the Premiums, if desired, permitted to remain unpaid for the first seven years, as a Loan at interest, and then to be paid, or to remain as a permanent Loan, at the option of the Insurer.
Loans upon Policies for the Whole of Life, after payment of three Premiums, in proportion to the value of same.
The acceptance of Naval, Military, Climate, and Special Risks of all kinds, on payment of a commensurate Premium. Age admitted on the Policy when issued, if desired, on proof of date of birth.

FAMILY TEA, COFFEE AND SUGAR WAREHOUSE,
No. 109, Notre Dame Street.

SAMUEL COCHRAN invites the attention of Customers to his stock of TEAS and COFFEES, which have been selected with the greatest care, and on such terms as allow him to offer them at unusually low prices.

The MACHINERY on the Premises, worked by a Four Horse Power Steam Engine, for Roasting and Grinding Coffee, is on the most approved plan, the Coffee being closely confined in polished metal spheres, which are constantly revolving and oscillating in heated air chambers, is prevented imbibing taint from Smoke, danger of partial carbonization of the Bean and loss of Aroma, so important to Connoisseurs, which is further ensured by attention to Grinding at the shortest time prior to Sale. To this elaborate process SAMUEL COCHRAN owes the high reputation his Coffee has obtained through a large portion of the Provinces.

CRYSTALIZED SUGAR (much admired for Coffee); REFINED SUGAR in small loaves, and WEST INDIA SUGARS, of the best qualities, always on hand.

A few of the choicest selections of TEAS may be had at the CANTON HOUSE, in Native Catty Packages, unrivalled in flavor and perfume, at moderate terms.

Families residing distant from Montreal will have their orders scrupulously attended to, and forwarded with immediate despatch.

Caledonia Springs, 2nd June, 1851.

[Extract of a letter from P. J. Larocque, Esq., of Montreal.]

I beg to state that in July, 1850, I went to the Springs for the purpose of testing their efficacy in a case of the most violent Rheumatism, under which I had been suffering for several years previous. After remaining at the Springs for about three weeks, and making free use of the Waters, my limbs were entirely relieved from all pain, and my health perfectly restored. Several of my friends, to whom I have recommended the Springs, assure me that they have experienced immediate relief from their use. I consider the Waters of the Caledonia Springs to be most efficacious in cases of Rheumatism.

To the proprietor of the Caledonia Springs.

MONTREAL, 4th June, 1851.

DEAR SIR,—In compliance with your request, I have much pleasure in giving you my opinion of the extraordinary efficacy of the Waters of the Caledonia Springs, as long and highly appreciated by the Public, based upon the observations of some twenty-five years' experience, and tested as they have been by a great many patients of mine and others, labouring under Rheumatic affections and the different forms of disease to which the human frame is liable. I consider them invaluable. Few persons, except those who have suffered from this dreadful malady, can justly appreciate their wonderful salutary effects. I have often seen persons martyrs to this disease, (myself for one during ten years,) which baffled all medical skill, in England and on the Continent, resort to the Caledonia Springs walking on crutches, and others that could not walk at all, worn out by protracted sufferings, and their general health disordered and broken down by confinement and want of exercise, return to their homes free from pain, leaving behind (with unspeakable joy) their crutches, and with health, strength, appetite, and activity perfectly restored. Striking as such results are, the curative action of these Waters, the Intermittent and Sulphur Springs in particular, have been almost as of Dyspeptic Complaints, Chronic Affections of the Liver and Kidneys; and I am sure that a great number of those cases that leave the Springs greatly benefitted, but not completely restored, would have been cured by a more extended use of the spa. That these Waters have acted in many diseases as a specific, seems to be generally admitted, and so much respectable testimony to this effect has already been laid before the Public, that to say more would be superfluous.

H. Mount,
Member of Royal College of Surgeons, London.

To John L. Wilkinson, Esq.,
Proprietor of the Caledonia Springs.

MONTREAL, 13th December, 1848.

DEAR SIR,—I have to state that I consider the use of the Caledonia Waters a very valuable curative agent in the treatment of many forms of disease. Circumstances enable me to grant you a favorable Certificate with more than usual propriety, many of my own Patients tested the efficacy, and derived great benefit from the use, of the Waters. Of all diseases that have come under my notice, in which a perseverting use of the Baths and Waters promises the most beneficial results, Chronic Rheumatism ranks the first. Many of the cures in this disease have been truly astonishing. I met with a case that somewhat, where the individual, a delicate female, had been suffering severely for more than nine months; she had completely lost the use of her hands, and could only walk a few steps with great pain and difficulty. After a residence of six weeks at the springs, she returned free from pain, and strong enough to walk a considerable distance without fatigue. I have also found the Waters useful in Dyspeptic and Urinary Complaints, in Chlorosis, Secondary Syphilis, and some of the forms of Cutaneous Disease.

In conclusion, allow me to add, from a personal visit to your Establishment, that (independently of the acknowledged virtues of the Waters) the great outay you have expended in the improvement of the place, and the attention and attention which you bestow to the comfort and convenience of your Boarders, justly entitled you to a large share of public patronage and support.

I remain, dear Sir, yours very truly,
George W. Campbell, A.M., M.D.,
Lecturer on Surgery, Montreal College.

THE COURIER.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1851.

We copy the following from an exchange:—

"Why Not?—A French paper concludes a most amusing article on the recent meeting of Vegetarians in London, with the following pithy sentence:—'After having seen it proved that it is forbidden to men to eat animals, we do not despair of seeing it proved that it is not permitted to animals to eat men.'"

We also say—Why not? Jonathan says, and we believe him, that when a man meets a bear face to face in the woods, he must either kill the bear or the bear will kill him. In either of these two cases, the one not only kills, but eats the other. A bear ham no man will sneeze at when presented to him at breakfast, and no bear that we ever heard of will make any bones of eating a man either at breakfast or supper. Brain, indeed, has no conventional breakfast, dinner, or supper hour; he, like a sensible beast, eats only when he is hungry, and should he miss a meal from necessity, he eats two at a time on the very first opportunity, and to him a little child is as good a dessert as an apple would be to a biped with a silver knife. The French writer need not go any farther for a proof of his proposition than to the sanctum of the Montreal Courier, because we can easily undertake to prove that, on the principles of the Pythagorean philosophy, men should live on vegetables, like sheep; but if, like tigers and hyænas, they must eat flesh, it is only a matter of righteous retaliation that these same tigers and hyænas should eat them when they can get hold of them.

We are sorry for the honour of we bipeds that the parallel does not hold good in drinking as well as eating. Irrational existences, who are so senseless as to prefer walking upon four legs, drink nothing but water, and even that only when they are thirsty; but proud man, who will not condescend to put more than his hind legs to the ground, and even then sometimes walks as if this round world, which the Great Creator has consecrated by his presence from surface to centre, was not good enough for him, imbibes a drink, and swills it even when he is not thirsty, until he makes his appearance in the very streets without any legs at all, or at least without any that are worthy of being called legs.

Conclusion of the Hays' House Promenades.—The more respectable and dignified portion of the young gentlemen of Montreal have been, during the Summer, much gratified, and their more elderly friends and relations greatly obliged, by Mr. Pope's opening the above-mentioned house for these promenades, as it gave an opportunity for the youth of both sexes to enjoy much innocent, and, in many respects, rational amusement, without the danger, or even the imputation, of dissipation. We are also authorized to say, that the liberality of Mr. Pope was not extended only to the young gentlemen of Montreal, and the adjoining cities in Lower and Upper Canada, but in consequence of these pleasant re-unions, many of our American neighbors, who visited them and enjoyed them, have returned home with a high idea of Canadian courtesy and hospitality, which but for Mr. Pope they would have had no opportunity of learning.

The closing scene, which was to celebrate the success of the Hays' House, was numerously attended and brilliantly kept up. It was the closing of the promenades, and all present seemed highly delighted with their in-door Summer evening's amusement, and expressed their anxious wish that Mr. Pope would next season afford them a similar opportunity of gratifying themselves and their friends. This feeling was so strong among those gentlemen present, that it was unanimously motioned, that a fortnightly, or at least monthly assembly, should be originated on this same principle throughout the Winter, and we have no doubt that Mr. Pope will willingly comply with the request.

"The people of London annually drink about 9,000 tons of chalk—those of Chicago about 90 tons."

So says the Chicago Daily Advertiser. We do not know the geological difference between the chalk formations of the subsoil of London and Chicago; but if so many tons of calcined flint are absorbed into the fluids, not to speak of the solids, of the inhabitants of these unfortunate and doomed cities, they are certainly in a fair way of standing suddenly still some day, petrified into wakeless insensibility by the enormous absorption of chalk, which they admit into their systems. What a subject of speculation it would be for an Antiquarian to light suddenly upon such a city two thousand years hence, which had all that time been swallowed up in an interminable forest, and like another Don Quixote, be let into the secrets which the petrifying moment had impressed upon every countenance. We would advise all Editors of newspapers to abstain from chalk; should any of them, or certain of them, be thus chalkified, and resuscitated in after ages, they would form but very indifferent specimens of the humanity of the nineteenth century.

Important (not if—but) and true.—A certain Host in the City of Montreal—now let us indulge our propensities for etymological learning in a parenthetical sort of a way: the word Host then, comes from hostler, and honest John Hudson, the hostler of the Castle Inn, at York, England, told us when we sojourned there for a few days in our youth's prime, that hostler was derived from Oatesteler—well whether that may be a correct derivation or not, we are not prepared to say—it is not very classical at least, but this same Montreal Host, with a presumption and impertinence not very common among hosts in general, addressed a gentleman the other day, who is a member of the corps dramatique, in the following terms:—

"Well Sir ———, I hear that you have spent a great deal of money in your day, though you are but young."

"Yes, Mr. ———, I have spent a great deal of money, which was all my own though, but I hear that you have spent a great deal of money which was never your own, and which you are constitutionally unwilling and certainly never will be able to repay!"

We understand that within these last few days three seizures have been made by the newly appointed appraiser, (Mr. Thomas Bell,) of goods entered by false invoices. As it is not more than a fortnight since the entry on goods from the United States has been made in Montreal instead of St. Johns as formerly, we think some credit is due to this officer for his vigilance. This is certainly one of the most responsible offices in the Customs, but one of the worst paid, since the Customs department has passed into the hands of the Provincial Government.

A Tammany Scene.—At a meeting of the Democratic party of New York at Tammany Hall, on Monday night, the following little speechification is reported to have taken place,

Capt. Rynders rose, and was glad to see that extremes had met at last; they had come together on principle, on the old-fashioned principles of the Democratic party. He was happy to know that the State ticket had been approved to-night; it would not please everybody; no ticket could; but it was a good ticket.

Voice with a thick brogue—Is that spache yer spakin' the truth, Captin.

Capt. Rynders.—My friend, if you have been an attentive reader of the Scriptures, you must have learned that the truth is not to be spoken at all times. I speak as much truth as I find convenient; sometimes more, sometimes less, sometimes none at all, and sometimes the whole truth, and more too.

The Boston Morning Journal gives us the above morceau. We suppose it is spoken in jest, but many a word spoken at random, contains a truth as pregnant as any that ever were uttered at the most serious moment. Capt. Rynders is a true son of the stars and stripes, and we have no doubt reflects honour upon them. Why do not the Tammany Hall authorities vote for a new star and a new stripe in honour of Capt. Rynders? Capt. Rynders—to what arm or rather horn of the service does he belong?—deserves to be considered as an embodiment of a whole state in his own person.

The Heron Family and Sir William Don.—This talented Company arrived yesterday morning, and will perform this evening in the Concert Hall, St. Gabriel Street. Their success in Quebec, as in every place they have visited, has been most triumphant. We feel certain that we but anticipate the wishes of their friends, when we announce their return to this city, and promise them every success during their stay. The pieces selected for this evening's entertainment are "The Serious Family," and the Farce, "Done on both sides." In the former, Sir Wm. Don personates his favorite character of Aminadab Sleek, and in the Farce, Mr. Pygmalion. Miss Heron takes the character of Captain Murphy Maguire in the "Serious Family." In the Musical Olio which intervenes between the two plays, Miss Fanny will sing "Neapolitaine, I am dreaming of thee," of which her execution is spoken highly in the Quebec papers. From this programme, our play-going readers will see what a treat is in store for them. The following extract, from one of our influential cotemporaries in Quebec, will show the feeling entertained for them in that city:—

The Misses Heron took their farewell benefit last night. Their Irish delineations were, if possible, more characteristic and amusing than ever, and a closely crowded house testified its approbation in long and reiterated bursts of applause. This gifted family, and their accomplished associate, Sir Wm. Don, took the hearts of the people of this good city by storm. This was just what we anticipated. Our reminiscences of poor "Hawkins' Street," and the little "Queens" of Captain Smith, Alfred Howard, and the "Garrison Theatricals," were too vivid to doubt the result of their sojourn amongst us. They leave today for Montreal. If their talents be as fully appreciated there, as in Quebec, they will indeed have but little cause of complaint.—Times.

Coroner's Inquest.—On Tuesday, an inquest was held at St. Hilaire, upon the body of Maurice Beauli, a native of St. Denis, an old man of 96 years of age, who, on the day previous, met with his death in the following manner. About noon on Monday, the old man was crossing the St. Hilaire and Belœil Bridge on the St. Lawrence and Atlantic line of Railroad, when he was overtaken by a long train of sand cars, impelled by an engine in their rear. On discovering him, the engineer immediately separated the engine from the cars, blew the whistle and made every exertion to warn the old man, but in vain—the impetus with which the cars were being propelled made it impossible to stop them, and the old man being deaf, the engineer's signals were unheard. He was killed on the spot. The Jury gave a verdict of accidental death, exonerating the engineer and breakman from all blame in the premises.

My Grandmother's Review or, Byron—Greeley or, Carpet Bag.

For "The Montreal Courier."

Mr. Editor,—You will recollect, and so will doubtless many of your readers, the trap which Lord Byron set for the Editor of the British Review, and how completely the game was caught. Lord Byron had ever a hatred of Reviewers and Critics, after being handled so severely by Jeffries of the Edinburgh Review, on the publication of a collection of his poems when only 19 years of age. The criticism was bitter and severe, and while it stirred up the fountain of hate in Byron's breast, to its lowest depths, and prompted him to write that satirical poem, "the English Bards and Scotch Reviewers," it also goaded him on in the high way of poesy to the production of many of the finest pieces in the English language, and it is the opinion of many distinguished writers, that had it not been for that criticism, Byron would now be unknown to the world as a poet.

In the last two lines of the 209th and the whole of the 210th stanza of the 1st Canto of Don Juan, Byron says:—

"For fear some prudish readers may grow skittish,
I've bribed My Grandmother's Review—the British.

I sent it in a letter to the Editor,
Who thanked me duly by return of post—
I'm for a handsome article his creditor;
Yet if my gentle muse he chooses to roast,
And break a promise after having made it her,
Denying the receipt of what it cost,
And smear his page with gall instead of honey,
All I can say is—that he had the money."

In answer to this charge of bribery, Roberts, the Editor, while reviewing the poem, in a labored and indignant manner denied all knowledge of the transaction! He says:—"No misdemeanor—not even that of sending into the world obscene and blasphemous poetry, the product of studious lewdness and labored impiety—appears to us in so detestable a light as the acceptance of a present by the Editor of a Review, as the condition of praising an author. * * * * If somebody personating the Editor of the British Review has received money from Lord Byron, or from any other person, by way of bribe, to praise his compositions, the fraud might be traced by the production of the letter which the author states himself to have received in return. Surely, then, if the author of this poem has any such letter, he will produce it for this purpose. But lest it should be said that we have not in positive terms denied the charge, we do utterly deny that there is one word of truth, or the semblance of truth, as far as regards this Review or its Editor, in the story as above referred to. We really feel a sense of degradation, as the idea of this odious imputation passes through our mind." This is decidedly rich, and must have furnished grand sport at the time for the keen and knowing ones. In reply to this denial, Lord Byron wrote, under a feigned name, a letter of condolence, addressed "To the Editor of my Grandmother's Review," replete with the most stinging satire and sarcastic wit. It is in my opinion the best prose production of Byron's extant. Those of your readers who have not read this letter, and who wish to enjoy a rich treat, I recommend at once to find and peruse it.

A similar ludicrous occurrence has just transpired in the States, and I mention this of Roberts' to show how exactly similar is Greeley's. In the Carpet Bag, a witty and satirical paper published in Boston, there occasionally appears letters purporting to be written by Prince Albert, and signed "Albert S. Coburg." In a late number Prince Albert is made to talk thus, concerning Horace Greeley, Editor of the New York Tribune. He went over to the continent in a little time, and when he returned there was a marked change in his appearance. His coat was a real "Albert," and fitted pretty well, unexceptionable pants, embroidered buff vest, patent leather boots, and a late Parisian tile—thus his costume; while he suffered a moustache to creep around his mouth, and a delicate whisker to adorn his cheek—he has considerable cheek you know—and he presented a wide contrast to his former self.

* * * He offered me a cigar, and while we were taking a few whiffs together, I asked him how he liked the continent * * * * "But look here," said he, taking off his hat and holding it towards me, at the same time winking mysteriously, "this hat was sent in!" and he chuckled and puffed at his cigar, as if he fancied himself already puffing the hatter. It is here where an equality exists between editors and princes. I frequently have things "sent in," and my endorsement of a fashion "establishes it at once." Now this is more palpably a joke than that perpetrated by Byron, and could hardly be mistaken for anything else even by a fool. But it seems some of the papers have been circulating it—at first, undoubtedly, for the wit of the thing. Some thick-skulled Editors of 7 to 9 papers, however, got hold of it in their turn, and not having wit enough themselves to discover the wit intended, have gravely inserted it as a fact. This was improving the joke, decidedly. But Greeley, being as decidedly anti-tobacco in his views as he is anti-whiskey, feared his reputation for consistency might suffer, and he at once chargers his forty-two pounder, and with dire indignation written on his brow—fires it at—a lie! Like Roberts, he undoubtedly "felt a sense of degradation, as the idea of this odious imputation passed through his mind!" This is certainly one of the spiciest jokes of the season. Greeley's grave denial comes to me second-handed, in the columns of the Albany Argus, and is after this wise. "Important if true!—The Editor of the Tribune contradicts the paragraph, which, he says, is going about among the country papers, to the effect that he has taken up tobacco as his king! It is entirely untrue (he says;) he has not yet seen anything to make the use of tobacco in any form seem other than filthy, nauseous, and disgusting!"

Friend Greeley, although a brother New Yorker, I must tell you emphatically that you're sold, and if the writer in the Carpet Bag don't address you a letter similar to the one "grandmother" Roberts got, you can just read that one over for consolation, in this, the hour of your affliction.

Plattsburgh and Montreal Railroad.—The Plattsburgh Republican makes encouraging notice of the progress the contractors are making on this road. We quote:

A large force of men and horses have been constantly engaged on all of the sections since the commencement of operations, and the result has been that the grading and masonry of about eight miles, or over one-third of the entire Road from Plattsburgh to the Canadian line, in detached portions, has already been completed; and should the present month prove equally favorable for work, we are informed that, with the present force engaged, it is confidently anticipated that three-fourths of the entire grading and masonry will be completed by the first of the ensuing month.

Junius says—"After long experience of the world, I affirm before God, I never knew a rogue who was not unhappy."

Found Drowned.—A dead body, apparently some ten days in the water, floated ashore near Dr. Barker's residence in Pittsburgh, on Friday morning last. An inquest was held in the afternoon, and the body was partially recognized as that of a man named Burns, but no evidence could be elicited as to the cause or nature of his death, the Inquest was adjourned until this afternoon, at Barrisfield. The number of deaths by drowing of late days is becoming frightful.—Kingston Whig.

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

COURT OF QUARTER SESSIONS.

Tuesday, October 7.

Present:—Janvier D. Croke and Jos. A. Gugnon, Esqrs., Justice of the Peace.

The Jury committed the case of Michel Gervais, for larceny, were brought in Court, and rendered a verdict of not guilty.

Mr. Justice Lacroix on left the Bench, in consequence of the then serious illness of his son, who, we regret to acquaint a short time afterwards—and his place is supplied by Pierre E. Leclerc, Esq., J. P., ex. Hyacinthe, who kindly consented to sit in the absence of any other Justice in the city, who could be found to do so. With the aid of Mr. Leclerc however, the business was resumed for a short tim.

Eulalie Monsseau, penny. Pleaded guilty. Judgment—one month's house of Correction.

The Grand Jury retned "true bills" against Joseph Jordan, larceny on three indictments, and John Kelly, William Stile, and Joseph Redmond, larceny. Kelly plead guilty, and was sentenced to three months hase of Correction, to be reckoned after the expiration of his former sentence.

At about one o'clock P. M., Mr. Leclerc's business having called him away, the Court adjourned until half-past three o'clock in the afternoon—when His Honor Mr Justice McLord, who had been engaged all days civil business, kindly assumed his seat on the bench, and thus enabled the Court to receive a number of bills which the Grand Jury had expelted. The Grand Jury accordingly returned "true bills" against Julie Bilodeau, larceny; Daniel McNamara, larceny, (after a previous conviction of larceny); James Landrigan, assaulting a constable in the execution of his duty; Robert Cutler, larceny, on two indictments; John Brown aggravated assault and battery; and Nicholas Louin dit Dufresne and seven others for a forcible entry and detainer—and no bills against Michel Murray, larceny; Henry O'Connor, assault with intent to commit felony; and James Maher, for a substantive felony.—Herald.

Honor to whom Honor.—A correspondent informs us that, on Thursday last, a poor emigrant fell into the canal, and would inevitably have been drowned, but for the promptitude and humanity of Joseph Boyle, a sailor, who was passing by at the time, and who jumped in and rescued the drowning man.—Herald.

We learn from the New York papers that Catherine Hayes has arranged with Mr. J. H. Wardell to give a grand concert for the benefit of her celebrated countryman, Father Mathew. This is a good beginning of the "Swan." We are much mistaken if this gifted and amiable Irish girl will not, by acts like this, and other "winning ways," find a shelter cut to the hearts of the American people (ian any public character that has yet come amongst them.

Poor Thomas Moore, the Poet, is fast descending into helpless imbecility. "The light of other days" has faded, if it be not indeed extinguished. It is singular that just as the author of those heart-stirring melodies should disappear from amongst us, an artiste should arise to embody the glowing sentiments of his muse, as they never were embodied before. Wherever Catherine Hayes appears, the memory of Moore's genius can never rest unhonored.—Quebec Times.

The funeral of the late lamented Reverend P. McMahon, pastor of St. Patrick's church, took place yesterday, amidst the greatest concourse of people ever witnessed in Quebec on a similar occasion. About half-past 10 o'clock the solemn but melancholy procession left the residence of the lamented deceased in the following order: First came the children of the Christian Brothers' School, under the direction of their respected teachers, then the clergy, among whom we noticed most of the parish priests of the neighbouring parishes. Next followed the bier carried by young men, members of St. Patrick's church, the pall being borne by the Curé of Quebec, the Superior of the seminary, the chaplain of the General Hospital, and the Rev. Messrs. Nelligan, O'Grady and Kerrigan—the two former some years since assistants at St. Patrick's, and the latter, Mr. McMahon's attached and faithful friend and coadjutor the last four years, and his constant attendant at his death bed. This solemn portion of the cortege was preceded by the undertakers and the attendant physicians—Doctors Pelletier, Morrin and Nault. The relatives, then the members of management, the Marguilliers of Notre Dame de Quebec, the corporation, the magistrates, the heads of the military departments, the lawyers, doctors, notaries, and the St. Vincent of Paul Society, followed in order. Then marched the tro pe belonging to the congregation, the police and the citizens right abreast. They proceeded up St. Stanislaus street, through St. Ann street, down Fabrique street to Buade street, then into Fabrique and St. John street to Palace street round St. Helen street into St. Patrick's church.

The church was hung in black from the altar to the organ—no ornament could be seen save the sable trappings of death. At about eleven o'clock, the mournful Mass of the dead was intoned, and shortly afterwards His Lordship Monseigneur de Tloa, entered from the Sacristy, with his attendants, and proceeded to celebrate, pontifically, the melancholy but awfully grand service for the dead. The Rev. Mr. Kerrigan preached the funeral oration. From the short time allowed him for preparation, it is surprising that he could have done so much justice to the important part allotted him. The Rev. gentleman gave a short, but most comprehensive and eloquent biographical sketch of the illustrious deceased, and in some parts of his discourse, when he recalled to memory the many and so well-known virtues of the late departed, whose remains lay contained in the bier before them, the congregation burst into paroxysms of weeping, impossible to describe, but which may easily be imagined by those acquainted with the affection wherewith the late pastor was so justly beloved by his flock. His remains were deposited in the church, almost immediately under the pulpit. All the shops in the streets through which the funeral passed were closed, much to the credit of the proprietors, as it was done without previous notice, and may be considered as a spontaneous mark of respect from the citizens of Quebec to the Irish portion of the population, so justly mourning the loss of their departed friend and pastor.

Much credit is also due to the committee of management, under whose direction the arrangements were made, for the regularity and order which prevailed throughout.—Quebec Mercury.

Hitherto complaints have been frequent concerning the unreasonable price of bread, considering the very reasonable price of flour. Now our readers, one and all, complain of its quality. It is dark coloured, bad tasted, and in every way most inferior to the bread of other places. It is, indeed, of a quality so indifferent, that a subscriber has suggested the propriety of a reward being offered for a baker, who can make a loaf wait that he has not used unsound flour in the preparation of it, depend only for a month. There is not one of the fraternity better than another. One gentleman assures us that he has tried three bakers in succession without being served by the last better than he was by the first. Surely our bakers can make good bread if they will. If they cannot, we must endeavour to fall upon a plan of importing hot rolls.

The late trip to Boston has given many of our people an idea of what good bread is, and there is a determination no longer to eat mere rubbish made into loaves and pay a good price for it too. Who can make good bread? Let any baker who can show us even half a good loaf and we shall publish the wonderful fact of his having done so gratis. A loaf! a loaf! anything for a loaf of good, sound, unadulterated flour.—Quebec Chronicle.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steam-propeller Western Miller arrived here on Sunday evening, from Toronto, full of baggage and documents belonging to Government Officers.

Captain Richards, of the bark Marquis of Bute, at this port, reports that on Wednesday last he picked up a boat, in which there was a box containing articles of clothing and papers, among the latter he found a bill drawn on Mr. LeMesurier, of Gaspe, for £19 3s. 4½d., to order of Antoine Laflamme, dated 18th October, Quebec, year not stated, and two letters dated Cape St. Ignace, and addressed to Mons. A. Laflamme and Antoine Laflamme, Monts Louis, Gaspe. Capt. R. thinks that these papers could have been but a short time in the water, as some of them were perfectly dry.

Analysis of the Water of the Georgian Spring.

I have made a careful quantitative analysis of a quantity of this Water sent me by the Proprietor of the Spring, Captain Kaine. It is a Saline Water, containing earthy Chlorids, with portions of Bromide and Iodide, thus recembling the Plantagenet Water, from which it differs chiefly in the presence of a portion of Sulphates, which are not often met with in Waters of this class in the Province. It has a specific gravity of 1008.75, and contains in one pound avoirdupois, the subjoined quantities of the following substances:—

	Grains.
Chlorid of Sodium	66.22000
Chlorid of Potassium	.72000
Chlorid of Calcium	.31008
Chlorid of Magnesium	6.45082
Bromid of Magnesium	.02016
Iodid of Magnesium	.01904
Sulphate of Lime	1.25044
Carbonate of Lime	2.02000
Carbonate of Magnesia	2.54016
Carbonate of Iron	Trace
Silica	.14560
	76.57015

T. S. HUNT,
Chemist to the Geological Commission.
Office of the Geological Survey,
Montreal, May 26, 1851.

Having compared T. S. Hunt's, Esq., analysis of the Mineral Water of the Georgian Spring with the analysis made by him of the Plantagenet Spring Water, I may state that the Water of the Georgian Spring contains all the ingredients found in the Plantagenet, with the addition of Sulphate of Lime, differing however in some respects as to quantity.
I have great pleasure in giving my opinion of the efficacy of the Georgian Water, in order that an opportunity might be afforded me of speaking more confidently of the advantages to be derived from its use, which I have witnessed in several cases, cases from no only of an apoplectic, nervous and chronic, and also in alleging the distinctly generic effects of this Water, which I have found to be very marked. I have no doubt but the Georgian Spring Water will be found equally beneficial in the cure of Rheumatism, Scrofula, and Dyspepsia, as any other Mineral Water met with in the vicinity of this city.

But a short time has elapsed since these great and great Pills were first made known to the public, yet numerous have already experienced that great effects. Invalids given over by their Physicians as incurable have found relief, and have restored to sound and vigorous health from their use.

TO FATHERS OF FAMILIES.

Site we not that state of the stomach betokens more sickness and misery to family than all other disorders of sickness put together? In the latter part of Summer and Autumn, when the atmosphere everywhere is so charged with Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, and other dangerous diseases, all proceeding from a bilious and foul state of the stomach. No parent can be so careless as not to know the great danger arising from a disordered stomach, and no family of consequence should be without a box of these Pills.

DIRECTS FOR MAKING OUR OWN CHILDREN!!!

Yet thousands of children are made to suffer every year through neglect of parents to attend to the slight symptoms of a bad state of the stomach.

Constipation of the bowels always be known by some of the following symptoms: Loss of appetite, bitter taste in the mouth, coated tongue, pain in the stomach, nausea, sick stomach, headache, loss of appetite, bitter taste in the mouth, yellow tint of the skin, languidness, weariness, or other symptoms of a similar nature. Almost every person at the season of the year is subject to some of these symptoms, and it is wise to bring on a dangerous disorder, frequently terminating in fever, the highest of which is sure to bring on a dangerous disorder, frequently terminating in fever. A single dose of Halsey's Gum-Coated Forest Pills are sufficient to bring a healthy tone bilious attack, and sickness from six months to a year. A single dose, from 1 to 3, of these Pills is an excellent Pills for a child, from 3 to 4 for an adult, and from 5 to 6 for a grown person, carry off all bilious and morbid matter, and restore the stomach and bowels, curing and preventing all manner of bilious attacks and many other disorders.

SALTS AND CASTOR OIL!

No reliance can be placed on Salts and Castor Oil, Senna, as well as all other purgatives, pass off without touching the bile, leaving the bowels costive, and in no bad condition as before. Dr. Halsey's Forest Pills act on the gall ducts, and carry all morbid bilious matter from the stomach and bowels, leaving the system strong and buoyant, mind clear, producing permanent good health.

Dr. Halsey's Forest Pills are within all others. They act directly on those stomachic organs, the ducts, Liver, Kidneys, Bowels, and Skin, cleansing the ducts of the gall, and carrying the impurities from the system. They purge all bilious and morbid matter from the stomach and bowels, and thus cleanse and renew the blood, thereby destroy the seeds of disease. The Forest Pills do not weaken, but give strength and extension to both body and mind. The Forest Pills are within all others. They are the patient's best friend, and are attended to the patient's best interest, and are the best of all pills
