HARK!

A truant child o'ertaken by the dark,
In sad bewilderment, where two ways meet;
White robes of morning draggled; and her feet
Beclogged with mire; and many a bleeding mark
Of awkward reach through briers, bristling stark,
For flowers, or berries which she dares not eat.
But clutches still; scared at her own heart's beat,
And crying to the lonesome sky. When, hark!
A voice! And from that frightened heart a voice
Responsive, thrilling up through cloud and night!
"My child!" "O, father take me to the light!"
Her apron emptied now from the blessed choice!
Such, Lord, was I, when, through the dark, Thy call
Made empty all my heart for Thee, my All.

October Scribner's.

NOTES AND NEWS.

UNITED STATES.

A woman at West Bend, Wis., was lately attacked and severely bitten by a rabid cat, and the local paper says she is raving mad. We should think she would be. It is enough to make anybody mad.

The state of some portions of Louisiana is deplorable in the extreme. They are afflicted at once by yellow fever, horse thieves and vigilance committees—a complication of disorders which calls for a very thorough purgation of the body politic.

The only inhabitants of some of the Western States to whom water is absolutely indispensable, appear to be the frogs and turtles. A large procession of them was lately noticed in Indiana marching from a dry and thirsty land toward a small lake some miles distant.

There is the worst behaved ghost we ever heard of out in Dame County, Wis. It has taken possession of one particular room in a house, and cuts up in that room in a most inconsiderate fashion—that is, it cuts up any valuable thing that may be left lying about. It even cut the hair off a girl's head and chopped up a Bible which a devout person had thought would certainly check its destructive spirit. We don't see where this fellow has been all this while, to learn such execrable manners.

Now New Hampshire is offering prizes for first-class babies to be exhibited at the State fair in Manchester. New Hampshire has more reason for encouraging this department of production than most of the States, as her population has been falling off of late, but we trust that the effect of offering prizes generally will be to improve the quality rather than increase the number of babies. Something certainly should be done to improve the stock.

A girl at Kent, Conn., lately attempted to commit suicide because her sister had better clothes than hers. It is hard to blame the poor creature for laying violent hands upon her own life when borne down by the weight of such a wrong. There are some things which human nature can not bear.

The light to be derived from the administration of justice in these days is that the greater the theft one commits the better are his chances of escaping punishment. In New Haven lately a boy who had stolen a watermelon worth twelve cents was sent to jail for three months; the treasurer of an insurance company who stole $18,000 has not been sent anywhere.

Boston has become the proud possessor of Bunker Hill Monument, and will carry her head higher than ever. As one of her papers grandly says: "It is no mean argument in favor of the annexation of Charlestown that she includes within her limited but historic ground the heights of Bunker Hill, and that imperishable obelisk which immortalizes her memorable battle field."

It is a pity that in proportion as a man is wise he is forced to distrust his fellow-beings, but so it is. If he has confidence in them he is pretty sure to be "sold." A man living in the outskirts of Portland had a fine garden of fruit and likewise a large and resolute dog. He received a polite note from a neighbor lately requesting to have the dog shut up at night as he was a great annoyance. The trusting man complied with the request and the same night his fruit trees were stripped.

"The whirligig of time brings about his revenges." As," for instance, out in Barnesville, O., many years ago a widow adopted an orphan boy and when he was eighteen and she was fifty she married him. Ten years ago they adopted an orphan girl, and this summer the old lady died at the age of ninety-six. In nine weeks thereafter the old man, now sixty-eight years old, married the girl, who was eighteen. Thus is the average struck and the eternal principle of compensation vindicated.

Grey hairs do not seem to be properly respected in Chicago. A man whose "hair is grey, but not with years," writes a pathetic note to one of the papers, because he can get no employment, everybody saying he is too old. He protests that he is not old; he has experience and a thorough business education, and is in the vigor of early manhood, and yet, because his hair is white he gets no consideration. His only resource, we should say, like that of a lovely woman, after having stooped to folly, is to dye.

In the Swedish colony, in Aroostook County, Maine, there are practical exemplifications of the privilege of women to do any work that they are able to do. A Swedish woman, whose husband was sick, cut down a tree, sawed and split it up, made it into shingles, and carried them on her back three miles and a half to purchase flour and other necessaries. Any woman is at liberty to do the same thing whenever she pleases, and yet they cry out that the avenues of occupation are closed against them.

We were at a Sunday school concert the other evening and enjoyed the following: Little fellow reciting his verse—I am the Bread of Life. Superintendent, questioning him as to his knowledge of the Bible—Who said I am the bread of life? Little fellow, in surprise—I said it.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Mr. John Bright will address his constituents on the 22nd instant.

Mr. Henry James, the newly-appointed Solicitor-General has been returned to Parliament from Taunton by a majority of 87 votes.

Edwin James, in a speech to the electors of Marylebone, advocated woman suffrage, and at the close of the meeting received from his hearers a vote of thanks.

The first time that Hartley Coleridge was taken to London and saw the long rows of street lamps twinkling in the distance, he said, as he was carried along in arms: "Now, I know what the stars are. They are lamps that have been good upon earth and have gone up to heaven."

FASHION.

Worth's latest Dolmans are of soft fine cloth, neatly covered with braiding, trimmed with ostrich feathers, and lined with silk plush.

Young ladies who sigh after high-backed silver combs need only to hunt among their grandmothers' relics to find "just the thing."

Cut steel has superseded oxidized silver for belt-buckles, chatelaines, and the like. Small jewelry of this material is also coming into fashion again.

The most gaudy garments will be worn in the house this winter, such as sleeveless jackets of scarlet cloth, embroidered in Nile-green, gray and violet.

Necklaces will be much more worn this winter. A new style is of square blocks of gold, enamelled with Pompeilan designs on the six sides and joined by six light chains.

The styles in ladies' dress have now got back as far as the days of Catherine de Medicis. At this rate we shall soon have reached the styles prevalent in the garden of Eden.

The new color predicted to sweep everything before it this winter is as yet unnamed. It is described as looking like spoiled preserves, and will be worn in polonaises over black silk.

The newest thing in dresses is the "suit of armour," made of steel-grey silk, black velvet, and steel ornaments. The jacket of black velvet is perfectly covered with finely cut steel stars, the overskirt has a heavy fringe of steel pendants and a tablier of steel ornaments runs down the front. The hat is a small Turkish turban with a steel aigrette.

The most stylish dresses this season will be as plain as possible. Black silk will be the favorite material for street wear.

Pretty and coquettish breakfast caps are much worn both by married and unmarried young ladies.

A new French furniture chintz is ornamented with scenes from "La Fille de Madame Angot."

The "Persian" colors are very much in vogue just now; they are very rich and very expensive.

Bows of China crape in pale colors, ornamented with Valenciennes medallions, are much worn in the hair.

A Labor Experiment—An Unexpected Failure.

Among all the remedies that have been suggested for putting an end to the periodical conflicts between labor and capital in England the most promising was the proposal of Mr. Brand, Speaker of the House of Commons, to give his farm laborers an interest in the profits of their work—to take them into partnership with himself.

Now is the kingdom comin',
And the year of jubilo!

was the song that was sung on every hand. In England and America the friends of the workingmen looked for the most favorable results of the experiment, and people said that ere long every mine and workshop and farm in the Three Kingdoms would be worked on the same plan. They saw in imagination the sobriety, dignity, industry and thrift that would characterize the laborer when he became a partner in the business he was engaged in. Mr. Brand's farm was paying ten per cent. on the capital employed, and he offered to share the profits with every man who would put his savings into the business. As an extra inducement he offered to guarantee 2½ per cent. (a fair interest in England) whether the business paid or not. How could so liberal an offer be refused? It was refused though. The farm laborers have worked along as before, grumbling at the gains of their employer and refusing to share them. Not one man, although many of the men are known to have saved money, has accepted the offer. This is rather discouraging to other benevolent landlords who are anxious to elevate their workmen. The owner of a coal mine offered recently to lease the mine to a body of his workmen whom he could not agree with on the question of wages, they refusing to work for what he said he could afford to pay, but they would not take it on their own account, dividing all the profits among themselves. In the light of facts like these we must blame labor more than capital for the difficulties that are gradually undermining the grand fabric of British industrial supremacy.

The explanation of the failure of these schemes for making the interests of capital and labor identical, for interesting every thrifty workman in the success of the business he is engaged at making each man a partner of his employer, can only be found in the malign influence brought to bear in opposition by the trade-unions and land agitators. These trade-unions are vigorously instilling into the minds of laborers that there is an irrepressible conflict between them and capitalists—that capitalists are their natural enemies and oppressors. They resist any attempt to teach the laborer that this is not so. They instil into the minds of laborers the communistic doctrine that the land should be equally divided among them—that the profits of their labor should be divided evenly without regard to the claims of the capital invested. The great trouble is that the leading spirits of these trade-unions are clever fellows who get good salaries from the deluded members of the unions, and they see that the success of schemes like Mr. Brand's would destroy their strife-stirring occupation and force them to return to honest work or resort to dangerous swindling for their daily bread. So they poison the mind of the laborer against every attempt to get him to cooperate for the curing of the chronic ills that afflict British industry.

Surely these birds of evil omen will not for ever retain the workman's ear, and keep him in his present obstructive mood and degraded state. Some such plan as that proposed by Mr. Brand must, sooner or later, unite capital and the more respectable and industrious laborers, so that strikes and labor riots will be impossible. The hostility of capital and labor is unnatural and destructive to prosperity. There is no need for any hostility. The respective interests, like those of producers and consumers, should find a common plane. The markets of the world are open alike to capital, labor, grain and potatoes, and these in need of any of these things have the world to choose from. No combination can put up or down prices so as to permanently disturb the balance. A universal rise in wages means a universal rise in the prices of everything produced by labor.

Monday morning, at the county clerk's office in Paterson, N. J., a young man about 20 years old, named Edward English, while sitting chatting with some of the clerks in the office, suddenly drew out a pistol, held it up to the side of his head, blew his brains out and fell a lifeless corpse upon the floor. In his pocket was found this note: "Etta Ford knows all. May God love and protect her. Send my body to Alexandria, Virginia." The parents of the deceased live in Alexandria, where his father has held several important offices as treasurer, mayor, &c. The young man had been employed in Levy's shirt store. For the past year he had been paying attentions to Miss Marietta Ford, a very pretty young lady, daughter of Mr. Edward Ford, of Clarks street, but he becoming very much dissipated it is understood that lately there has been a rupture between them. The fatal act was doubtless committed when English was in a state of delirium induced by disappointed love and dissipation. Deceased was a young man of exceedingly respectable appearance and good address, and was a universal favorite among his associates.

Volunteer Inspection.

The 62nd regiment of volunteers having concluded their annual drill were this morning inspected. They met at 9 o'clock at their drill room in the Customs Building, and marched to the Barrack Square, where they were inspected in the presence of Col. G. J. Maunsell, Dep. Adgt. Gen.; Brigade Major Col. A. C. Otty; Col. D. R. Jago, and other officers of Militia. The men looked well and were exercised by Col. MacShane in company and battalion drill for about three hours. They displayed an excellent knowledge of their drill, which is both creditable to officers and men, considering the few occasions on which they are drilled together.

Marriage of Gilbert R. Pugsley, Esq.

St. John's Church was filled with a large and fashionable audience this morning, all anxious to witness the marriage of Gilbert R. Pugsley, Esq., of the law firm of Pugsley, Crawford & Pugsley, to Miss Armstrong, daughter of John Armstrong, Esq., merchant, of this city. Before the hour announced many people, young and old, of both sexes, were wending their way to the church and securing seats before the arrival of the bridal party. There was a flutter of excitement as the bride entered, leaning on her father's arm, and accompanied by four bridesmaids, and the people forgot that the seats were made to sit on, but jumped up and stood on them, some standing on the cushions others mounting and balancing themselves on the rails. All were determined to see, and all appeared satisfied when the ceremony was over. The bride was dressed in a heavy white corded silk, with train, and wore a long tulle veil. Her head was decked with orange blossoms, without which it is said to be impossible to get married. Her four bridesmaids were also dressed in white, with different colored sashes, flowers and ribbons. Miss Fiske, the first, wore crimson; Miss Robinson, blue; Miss Armstrong (the bride's sister), green; and Miss Hastings, pink. Mr. Pugsley was attended by Hon. Mr. Crawford, M. E. C., and Dr. James Christie. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon Harrison, of St. Luke's Church. There were many invited guests present, who occupied the front seats in the church, and who were afterwards entertained at lunch.

The Moosepath Races—Swell Attendance—Gamblers Without the Gates—The Gammon about Purses.

Yesterday afternoon the weather was fine, though a cold wind was blowing. There were nearly a thousand people in the park, the majority of whom drove out in carriages. The number that went by train was not large, but the crowd was perhaps the most orderly ever seen on a race course. There was very little drunkenness to be seen. The men with the "wheels of fortune" were at the course in force; no less than three were in full blast outside the grounds. They went as near the gate as they could get, as they were not allowed inside, and did a thriving business. One very enterprising owner of a wheel is the seller of the celebrated needle threader. When the crowd would get small round his wheel he would commence to sell his threaders, which would collect a crowd, when "a chance for five dollars" would be proposed, and again the wheel would move. The ladies at the course seemed to enjoy the races immensely. They sat in their carriages and, during the long waits between the races, talked and laughed gally. The scene on the park was an animated and pleasing one. The races were called on about an hour after they were announced, and the free and easy way in which they were managed was very noticeable to all. The horse Hopeful trotted three heats against time, making 2.45½, 2.35¼ and 2.32½, falling short of the standard by two and a half minutes. His owner appeared to care little whether he made the time or not. The exhibition of trotting was, however, good, as trotting in 2.32½ is not often seen in St. John.

The running race in which Ginger, Factory Girl, and Jennie entered, was the best race of the day, though it did not amount to anything. Ginger won it in two straight heats in 2.01 and 1.57. There was no trouble in getting off together, no jockeying, in fact everything went so beautifully and smoothly that people were willing to give the managers of the race every praise. The races were not managed by the Directors of the Park, but by the owners of the horses, who had control for the day, and the announcement of big prizes was all gammon. It was evident to all that the horses were running for the same amount—that they simply divided the entrance money between them, and it did not make any difference with them who won. This had one favorable result, there was an entire absence of foul play of any kind and the judges and all were on the best terms. It was a fair running contest, but not such a one as there would have been if the horses were running for the stakes announced. In the 2.40 race, Gipsy Queen, owned by McLeod, and Queen, owned by Golding, were the only horses entered. The purse was $250, so the bills said, but Gipsy Queen won in three straight heat, best time 2.48, although Queen made 2.42 the other day in Fredericton. A running race between Sussex Lass, and an Island horse called Sir Roger caused a great deal of fun. The first heat was won by Sir Roger, the rider of Sussex Lass having considerable trouble in keeping his horse back. Time 2.40. The next two heats were easily won by Sussex Lass in 2.09 (only 31 seconds faster!) and 2.27¼. This closed the afternoon's sport and all seemed quite as satisfied as if there had been the usual trouble with scoring, excited talk, and disputes between drivers. Races of this kind are not calculated, however, to elevate the character of the Park, and the directors would do well to have all races under their own control. The horse owners probably got for their afternoon's work about $75 each, which will pay them very well. The train arrived in St. John about 6.30, no accident of any kind having occurred.

Shipping Notes.

The brig Lulu, of this port, Givan, master, made the passage from Whitehaven, Eng., to Sidney, C. B., in 14 days and 21 hours, which is one of the fastest passages on record. She arrived at Sydney on Thursday, 9th inst. The Lulu left New York on the 5th of August, and after discharging at Whitehaven, was coppered, so the round voyage has been performed in 65 days, delays included.

The Great Storm of August 24.—An account of the great storm of August 24, 1873, prepared at the signal office, shows that 1,032 vessels, (of which 435 were small fishing schooners) are known to have been destroyed during the 24th and 25th, in the neighborhood of the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Atlantic shores of Nova Scotia, Cape Breton Island and Newfoundland. In addition, over 90 vessels were destroyed by the same storm in its course before reaching Nova Scotia, making at least 1,122 vessels destroyed within a few days; 228 lives are definitely reported as lost; and the most moderate estimate of the numerous cases in which whole crews are stated to have been lost, swells this number to nearly 500; adding the loss of life on land and in the earlier history of the cyclone, the grand total amounts to at least 600 lives. About 900 buildings were injured or totally destroyed on the same dates by this storm.

Schr. E. M. Sawyer, (of Jonesport, Me.,) Captain Kelley, now at Providence, has been chartered through J. R. Higgins & Co., of Providence, to load timber at Charleston for St. John, N. B., at $14.40 per M., gold.

Sale of a Stranded Ship at Shediac.—The stranded ship Bjorn Farmande was sold as she lay on Milnes Point, Shediac, yesterday, 15th inst. Bidding began at $500 and, being very lively, soon reached the thousands. When it reached $3,600 a ring was formed, but two or three held aloof, and not till the figures reached $4,050, did they give up. The ship was knocked down at the last mentioned figure to Hon. A. J. Smith, E. J. Smith, T. McCarthy, Hugh Davidson and others. The same company bought the anchors, rigging, sails, boats, etc., for about $1800.

Pete Lee in Court.

Mr. Lee has run his Opera House since May last and provided amusement during that time for the City. He has, however, never been looked upon as a citizen, but rather as an interloper—a Yankee—coming down to make money out of the credulous people of St. John. Now he must claim the rights of citizenship as he has been known as a party in a civic court of justice. His first appearance in any court occurred this morning in the city, commonly called the "nigger," Court. Not had that the champion darkey of the stage should appear in a Court so called. The case in which he was interested came on this morning before Mr. Fairweather, the Deputy Common Clerk, and was a rather peculiar one. Mr. Lee was sued by one of his artists, whose name is Rupert, for three weeks, salary. The plaintiff in the suit came on to St. John and represented himself to be a star actor, but one of his performances was sufficient to convince Mr. Lee that he was not what he represented himself to be. On being taken to task about it, Mr. Rupert flared up and words ensued, which resulted in his leaving the Opera House. The plaintiff first gave his testimony, and swore that he had been engaged for a certain number of nights, and claimed salary though he had only played three nights. John Kerr, Esq., who appeared for Mr. Lee subjected him to a searching cross-examination, during which he acknowledged himself to be a swindler, and that he had been arrested for a serious crime; and if he was as bad as his own oath proved him, he was a bad case indeed. Mr. Lee was called for the defence and made his statement on oath. After his testimony Mr. Fairweather gave judgment for the defendant.

City Police Court.

The lower streets of the city were last night very noisy, and more drunken men were seen rolling round than for some time. One of the policemen said if a cart had been at their service they could easily have filled it. St. James, Brittain and Carmarthen streets sent representatives. All arrested last night were treated the same, no excuse being received. Each prisoner for drunkenness was fined $6 or in default 2 months in the Penitentiary. Two months for a simple drunk is pretty severe punishment, but the Gaol is filled, and those who don't pay their fines must work for the Dominion. The majority of the prisoners were foreigners and principally sailors. The names of those fined are, George Smith, James Crowley, Andrew Hansen, Frank Kegan, Thomas Thompson, John Barbour, Jas. White, Thomas Gunnison.

Robert Callon was arrested drunk in Brittain street. He was also charged with flourishing a sheath knife. He was excused for the drunkenness but fined $10 for having the sheath knife on his person. If the money is not paid he will spend two months in the Penitentiary. The knife was destroyed before his eyes to more thoroughly impress the enormity of the offence upon him.

Francis D. Jenks and William Hicks, two articled seamen of the ship Blackwell were charged with desertion. They were taken away by crimps as usual and the men have to suffer for it, while those thieves escape. The men were sentenced to gaol for four weeks, or until the ship is ready for sea. The Magistrate remarked the necessity for a river police, in order to secure these crimps when they attempt to board a ship.

Four sailors of the ship Amandale were present to apply for their discharge. They had shipped for the run, but the ship had to put back to port, on account of springing a leak. The men, therefore, thought they were entitled to be paid off. The Magistrate told them they must stay by the ship, until she was ready for sea, when if they thought her unseaworthy they could call a survey and prevent her from going out of port. The Captain was in Court and declined discharging the men though he paid off monthly hands when the ship arrived.

Dr. S. Jacobs, on Aphonia, or Loss of Voice.

Orange Street, St. John, N. B., 1869.

MR. FELLOWS—Sir: I am bound to award the palm of merit to the preparation of Hypophosphites discovered by you. I had occasion to use it myself in a case of Aphonia, which would not yield to regular treatment, and am happy to say it proved to be all that you claimed for it, having acted with expedition and entire satisfaction.

I feel called upon to publish the fact, that the profession may avail themselves of a remedy in your "Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites."

Yours, very truly, S. JACOBS.

Portland Police Court.

There were five cases before the court this morning.

Thomas Spelman was first. He was accused of using abusive and insulting language to Patrick Martin. The charge was withdrawn on payment of costs.

Mary Ann Doherty was charged with selling liquor without a license. The charge was proved and Miss Doherty was fined $20.

John Seward and Catherine Sullivan were the two simple drunks who were fined $4 each.

Joseph Cook was an Indian who arrived from Nova Scotia last evening, and was given in charge for making a disturbance in a horse car. He said he was drunk, that a lot of gentleman treated him when he was on board the boat, that made him drunk, and he wanted to get off to find his son. The magistrate allowed him to go on promising to leave the Town at once.

They were traced as far as Middle River on Saturday, but not found.

Lee's Opera House.

The opening comedy "Romeo Jaffier Jenkins,"—an old play under a new name—was well put on last evening. Mr. Warner in the title role made an excellent impression, and the support rendered him by Niles, Miss Dinsmore, Evans and Miss Lascelles was excellent. Miss Sprague as the precise old aunt was good in make up and acted her part well. The rest of the programme was equally good and the audience was large.

A Disappointed Old Maid.

To the Editor of the Tribune.

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly allow me a small space in your valuable and widely circulated paper, to express my righteous indignation against one of our manufacturers. Would you believe it, Sir, our employer wouldn't allow my chum Malinda Jane and me to go and see the great marriage ceremony. Now I say it ain't fair, just think of it. I know we wasn't asked. No more was all them ere old maids we saw flying by with their panniers and feather-topped bonnets flying in the air. I declare, Mr. Editor, I'll leave the nasty man's employment, and run a Sewing Machine by the piece I will.

Yours, obliged,
JERUSHA ANN.

The Bay Verte Canal.

Little information on this subject has been given to the press of late. Rumor has it that a line of levels has been recently found between Cumberland Bay and Bay Verte, the summit of which,—and that only for about half a mile,—is only twelve feet above the Cumberland marshes. A line of levels four feet lower than this would have allowed the great Saxby tide to have mingled its waters with those of Bay Verte.—Moncton Times.

A $300,000 Defalcation in the New York State Treasury.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 15.

Charles H. Phelps, cashier in the Treasury Department of the State, was arrested in Jersey City yesterday and brought here last night, charged with robbery of the State Treasury of money supposed to reach $300,000. Under an arrangement made by the Comptroller and the Treasurer, the State deposits were divided between five or six banks of this city. A few days ago the State Treasurer discovered that the cashier was making larger deposits in one of the banks than it was entitled to, and he at once instituted an examination of his accounts, but without suspecting that any of the funds of the State had been embezzled, the most entire confidence being placed in the cashier by every one, and the system of checks in the Comptroller's office being deemed as security against fraud. For years it has been the custom for banks to send to the Comptroller's office a duplicate of the Treasurer's bank book upon the first day of each month. These books passed through the hands of the General book-keeper, Geo. Seeley. The banks complaining of the labor involved, and Phelps giving assurance that it was entirely unnecessary, Seeley dropped the duplicate set without the knowledge of the comptroller or treasurer. The next step was to induce the general book-keeper to accept in some instances the statement of the cashier of the balance in some one of the banks without producing bank books. This was successfully accomplished during the month and thus Phelps escaped.

In Chicago they send poor girls who are guilty of being alone and unprotected, to jail unless they can pay a fine of $100, which they never can, of course. Two girls whose home was made wretched by a second-hand parent in the shape of a step-mother, were lately lured away by a strange woman who promised them a comfortable home and good wages, but took them to Chicago and abandoned them in the streets. An officer finding them in this hapless condition, showed his humanity by arresting them and having them sent to jail in default of the fine aforesaid.

At Nashville, Tenn., on Monday, R. M. Richards, proprietor of the Academy of Music, a disreputable place of amusement, was shot and instantly killed upon the street near the door of his establishment, by James Hogan. Richards (it is alleged) had seduced Hogan's sister and refused to marry her. Hogan, after shooting, stood over Richards, and watched to see that he was dead, then walked across the street and surrendered himself.

A promissory note is a bad thing to have in the family, and is very likely to cause trouble. A divorce suit has grown out of one in San Francisco. Mr. Stubbe held a note against Mrs. Stubbe's brother for $500, and Mrs. S. said that if he didn't give it up she would leave him. He held on to the note and she left him, hence a suit for permanent and complete separation, which has been granted, and the note given to the woman as her portion of the common property. Moral: Don't marry a woman against whose brother you hold a note for $500.

The honest farmers of Rhode Island are, no doubt, a God-fearing folk, but they are gradually acquiring modern ideas of "business." An enterprising rustic near Providence had a cow to sell lately, and a purchaser made an appointment to come and see her. The farmer arranged that his man should be milking the cow when the purchaser arrived, and had three pails on hand, each half filled with water. The man milked vigorously and filled the three pails one after anoter, to the astonishment of the purchaser, who at once closed the bargain at a very high figure.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 13.—Near Boydsville, Weakly county, Tenn., last week, eight or ten armed men went to a citizen's house and took a negro girl out into the woods, and each in turn outraged her person. They did not attempt to disguise themselves, and carried their victim but a short distance from the house. The couple with whom the girl lived were powerless to prevent the outrage, and were compelled to listen to her shrieks. Her dead body was found soon after the beasts had left, most horribly mangled. It is stated the facts were never reported to the authorities, and the body was buried without any legal examination. Efforts were made to hush up the matter because of the alleged respectability of some of the participants in the outrage.

Another Government Triumph — A Grit County Endorses Sir John—Weeping and Wailing among the Letter Thieves.

OTTAWA, Oct. 16.

An election in South Huron to fill a vacancy in the Ontario Legislature took place yesterday, resulting in the return of a supporter of Sir John by a majority of 34. This is a Grit county, represented in the Commons by M. C. Cameron, a rabid Grit. The Pacific Railway Scandal was made almost the sole test question, and the contest turned on confidence or non-confidence in the Dominion Government. At the last local election this county was carried by the Grits by a majority of nearly 300. There is weeping and wailing among the Grits here to-day.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD, nothing has ever been offered which can compare with this EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It is found a great promoter of health, when taken in the spring, to expel the humors that rankle in the system at this season of the year. Many complaints have their origin in the spring, and in the causes above mentioned, for which no better remedy has ever been devised. By its use multitudes can spare themselves from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores, through which the system strives to rid itself of corruption, if not assisted to do this through the natural channels of the body by an alterative medicine. Cleanse out the vitiated blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in pimples, eruptions, or sores; cleanse it when you find it is obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it whenever it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is felt, people enjoy better health, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. Keep the blood healthy, and all is well; but with this pabulum of life disordered, there can be no lasting health. Prepared by Stealing the Sacred Vessels.

Baltimore is profoundly shocked over the profane and daring exploits of some thieves who recently entered two of the most wealthy and elegant of the Episcopal Churches in that city and despoiled them of all their sacred vessels and other holy belongings. To begin with, the thieves effected an entrance into the churches by shattering in pieces the stained glass windows of each. The windows were very beautiful works of art, each consisting of two panels, one having a representation of the Saviour and the other of the Blessed Virgin. On gaining the sacristy the thieves descended to the basement, and here with an axe and a chisel the ordinary iron door which guarded the entrance to the small vault was broken through, and all the costly eucharistic vessels were exposed to their rapacious grasp. Among the sacred vessels was a very elegant and costly golden chalice set around the cup and base, as well as the knob, with precious stones. This very beautiful vessel, which represented the pious offerings of many of the communicants of the church, some of whom have now gone to their rest, was cherished far beyond its intrinsic value, and its spoliation is therefore very keenly felt. The thieves wrenched off the cup and the base, which were of gold, containing settings of carbuncles, rubies and other precious stones, including a number of extremely valuable diamonds. Strange to say, the thieves merely contented themselves with taking the precious stones from this portion of the vessel, and left the metal behind. They carried off, however, as already stated the bowl and the base of the vessel. Their next efforts were directed to the silver ewer, from which they broke the handle, possibly to determine the character of the metal. The broken flagon and the other silver was found scattered over the floor of the sacristy, and gave the first indications of the robbery to the astonished sexton, when he came, as usual, to his morning duties. The same articles were stolen from each church, and their disappearance will involve no inconsiderable loss. Such despicable and wanton desecration is fortunately of rare occurrence among civilized people.

The Tichborne Trial—The Coming of Arthur.

[From the Boston Post.]

If "the person who claims to be Arthur Orton," and who is described as having just arrived in London, should really happen to make good his claim, the denouement will certainly be one of the strangest in all judicial history. For it must not be forgotten that the prosecutors of the Tichborne Claimant have rested the main force of their case upon the proof that the Claimant is the only Arthur Orton, and that in pursuance of this allegation, the prosecution brought upwards of thirty witnesses from Wapping, including Mary Ann Loder, Orton's former betrothed, all of whom positively swore that the defendant was their old Wapping crony. The appearance of another real Arthur Orton in court would certainly be the most romantic of all the stirring scenes which Westminster Hall has ever witnessed; the acquittal of the Claimant on the charge of perjury would scarcely fail to follow as a matter of course; nor would the public be far from the conviction that he is the real Sir Roger Tichborne after all. It is true that were the Claimant acquitted on the present trial, he would have to raise funds to pay the enormous costs of his former suit against the estates before he could again advance his claim in court; but should he be acquitted by the production of Arthur Orton, the Tichborne bonds would receive a powerful impetus, subscriptions and loans would pour in from all hands, and it would not, in all probability, be long before the costs would be liquidated and a new ejection suit entered. Already strong evidence has accumulated in his favor, and has reduced many again to hopeless perplexity who, when the case for the Government closed, were firmly persuaded that he was Orton; and the entrance of another Orton upon the stage would with little doubt serve to enlist a large majority of Englishmen in sympathy with him.

An old farmer, dictating his will to a lawyer, says: "I give and bequeath to my wife the sum of £100 a year. Is that writ down, master?" "Yes," said the lawyer; "but she is not so old but that she may marry again. Won't you make any change in that case? Most people do." "Ah, do they? Well, write again, and say if my wife marry again. I give and bequeath to her the sum of £200 a year. That'll do, won't it?" "Why, that's just double the sum that she would have had if she had remained unmarried," said the lawyer, "it is generally the other way." "Aye," said the farmer, "but him that takes her will deserve it."

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE — FREE FROM ALCOHOL — PURELY — DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA — VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.
