MY LESSON STORY THIS WEEK.

CARRIE was the name of a little girl whose parents were rich, and lived in a nice large house. Minnie's parents were poor and lived in an attic of a little house. "Minnie," said Carrie, "to-morrow is Christmas, and I am going to get a lot of beautiful presents. What are you going to get?" "I am afraid I am not going to get anything," said Minnie, sadly, "my father is poor and has been out of work for some time." Minnie looked very sad as she spoke. Carrie felt sorry for her, for she was an unselfish girl, and said to herself, "I know what I will do!" When Christmas Eve came Carrie got all the nice things she expected, and she was very happy. What do you suppose made her so happy, was it having the nice presents all for herself? No! for then she would have been selfish, and no one who is selfish is really happy. Carrie thought about making somebody else happy. She did not forget about Minnie who had no presents given to her, and she picked out some of her nice things that she thought Minnie would like and asked her mother if she would allow her to take them to Minnie. Her mother was very much pleased to see that her little daughter was so thoughtful and unselfish, and gladly let her do as she wished. So Minnie put all the things in a basket, and with some candies and apples from mother on the top, started off and took them to Minnie's home. You ought to have seen Minnie! She was so happy. But Carrie went home with the happiest heart. It was the nicest Christmas Eve she ever had!

MY QUESTIONS THIS WEEK.
