which will tend to with respect to the preparation and duced into the Legislature by Premier Drury recently. The measure together with three others before the House, is to be dealt with by a committee.

According to the Premier's explanation, the Bill is intended to set out in one act the law with respect to the preparation and revision of voters' lists. It now stands, both for municipalities and territory municipal organization, so the Bill is passed it may concerned in the making of the lists.

Changes, said the Premier, entirely in the interest of simplicity and saving of

THREE CASES TRIED

Last Thursday Magistrate McNab held his first court in Chesley. Two home-brew booze cases and one criminal charge came before him. Mr.
C. J. Mickle was the prosecuting attorney in all three cases.

The first case to be heard by his Worship was one against Geo. Keyes of Amabel Township for keeping liquor on his premises, contrary to law. It will be remembered by our readers that it was at Keyes' home that Irwin Kidd died on the night of March 11th as the result of drinking swamp whiskey. The daughter of Keyes, a modest-looking young woman of about 18, told a straight story of how she had come down from her room upstairs after midnight and put her father to bed and left some clothing over Kidd who had collapsed and was lying on the floor, two whiskey bottles on the table bearing testimony to the cause of the two men's drunken stupor.
When Keyes was put in the box he denied having made the swamp whiskey that caused Kidd's death or of selling it to him, though his place had at one time been searched for moonshine. Keyes did not need to admit that he had been a heavy drinker at one time for his face bears all the evidence of his having often held carnival with King Bacchus. However, he is a mild-mannered man and does not look like one who would pick a quarrel whether drunk or sober. We don't know what the magistrate thinks of his evidence but we concluded Keyes was telling the truth when he stated that Kidd had brought the bottles from Wiarton with him. A decision in this as well as the Wilson case will be made to-day.

The second case was against Mrs.
John Wilson of lot 7, Con. 12, free-nock, of keeping the swamp variety of booze for sale. One bottle nearly full was found in Mrs. Wilson's coat pocket over a chair in her parlor and another with only the smell left on the chair over which her husband was hung. The cellar of the house was littered with empties till it resembled a room in a bottle factory. Mrs. Wilson declared she had got the spirits from her daughter who has since gone to the spirit land and had used a little of it with hot water to make a toddy. As the husband had been dead for having a still on his premises and the son for selling the real stingo, it looked to us as though this was the old woman's turn, but she may escape through not being the head of the household. It was the first time a woman old enough to be a grandmother was ever seen in a whiskey case in a Chesley court-room and we hope it will be the last. We can't imagine any of the law-abiding grandmothers in this locality becoming involved in a swamp whiskey case. During her evidence it came out that when the Wilson house was being searched for booties when her son was convicted that Mrs. Wilson threw a jug of the home-brew out of the window but when it was picked up the contents were there as evidence against her son, the jug having fallen on a soft spot.

The third case was a criminal charge against Neil McKay of the 12th Con. Elderslie for aggravated assault on Oakley, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bell of the 15th side-road, 13th Con. Elderslie, on March 23rd. It will be remembered that Harry, son of Neil McKay, ran into John W. Bell with his driver on the 15th sideroad in the month of February and since then there has been trouble brewing between the two families culminating in a criminal charge. The evidence of Oakley Bell, Dan Connors and two of his sons who were eye-witnesses of the alleged assault is that McKay struck at Oakley with an axe he was carrying when the two met on the 15th sideroad, Bell only avoiding being struck by jumping to one side.
Magistrate McNab said no course was open to him other than to commit McKay for trial and his case will likely come up at the June sessions of the County Court. Mc-Kay elected to be tried by jury.
Bail was fixed at $4,000, half by the defendant, $1,000 by his son, Harry, and $1,000 by Jas. Thomson.

PLANT A TREE

For many years at the approach of spring it has been our custom to recommend the planting of trees for shade and ornamental purposes. We must admit the response has not been as generous as we would have liked. Nothing daunted, however, we know the advice was good and the town is not only poorer, but much less beautiful, because of neglect or indifference on the part of many citizens.

No one will dispute that trees have a real monetary value, and all will admit a well-developed and well-formed tree adds beauty to a street.
Let those who have neglected tree-planting in the past make a start this spring, and in a few years they'll enjoy the result of their labors, and regret they hadn't started sooner.

For ornamental purposes we know of no tree superior to our native Canadian maple. Elms, to make good shade and ornamental trees, and with proper care for the first couple of seasons are sure growers. It is not advisable, however, that varieties be mixed on any of the streets.
One street might be planted with elms, another with maples. Ash is also good, but we think the maples have no superiors.

For quick results there is no tree we know better of than the Manitoba maple. If planted alternately with the better varieties they would serve a good purpose for a time, and after the others got a good start they might be cut down.

Recently three thoroughbred sheep belonging to Jas. Cameron, and the same number belonging to Chris.
Ernest, both of con. 10, Elderslie, were worried to death by dogs.

Spring is surely here, as the following shovels in our letter box by a citizen would indicate: The neighbor's hens held their first lawn social in our flower bed. A change of seasons was demonstrated in every act. The festivities ended suddenly when a stick of kindling dropped in on the visitors, reminding them of home and mother.

FAMINE IN RUSSIA A STERN REALITY

It is difficult for well-fed Canadians to realize that in Russia, which eight years ago was one of the great "barons" of the world, over 30,000,000 people are threatened by the dread spectre of starvation that several millions have already died, and that as many more must die unless prompt relief is given.

In this land of well-fed and cared for little children, it is quite as di-ficult to realize that in Russia children by the thousands have already died from starvation, and that, unless prompt measures are taken, thousands more must meet a like death.

There is no denying these facts.
Conditions are too well known; those who have witnessed them, and have brought back terrible tales from that unfortunate country are too reliable that their story should be gainsaid as being undependable.
Besides, both the British and the American Governments have confirmed these reports in almost every particular. Lord George has described this famine as one of the most terrible events in history.

The Canadian Committee of the Save the Children Fund is conducting a campaign for funds to feed as many of these starving children as possible. The money it receives will be spent in Canada on food and supplies for the Russian children.
So it will not only help to feed them but by creating a demand at home will also improve business.

Send your subscriptions to Sir George Burn, Treasurer of the Canadian Committee of the Save the Children Fund, Elgin Building, Ottawa, or send it through your church, bank or other local organization.

A NEW TREATMENT.

A doctor brought a dyspeptic farmer a big brown pill.
"I want you to try this pill at bed-time," he said. "It's a new treatment, and if you retain it on your stomach it ought to cure you." The next day the doctor called again. "Did you manage to retain the pill on your stomach?" he asked cagerly.

"Well, the pill was all right so long as I kept awake," said the farmer, "but every time I fell asleep it rolled off."

This old reliable farm Company insures farm buildings, churches, schools and dwelling houses in cities, towns and villages at a low premium note rate on the instalment plan and collects lower first, second and third instalments than other mutual Companies and allows a preferred rate on buildings well equipped with lightning rods and is capable of carrying any such risks.

The Company has a record for prompt inspection and payment of losses without quibbling or fear nor favor so that the assured doesn't need to worry if he sustains a loss because payments are made very prompt after proof of loss is considered by the Directors.

The Board of Directors meets every last Thursday of every month
