

SATURDAY'S "WORLD'S FAIR" WAS BIGGER AND BETTER THAN BEFORE

Enormous Crowd at Shannonville on Saturday to View the Sights at Tyendinaga's Annual Exposition—Fine Showing in all Departments.

Saturday was the day of the "World's Fair" at Shannonville and this notable annual event was the occasion of a great pilgrimage to Tyendinaga's metropolis. Last year the exposition was attended by the greatest crowd in the history of the fair, but it was confidently predicted that this year's attendance would be still larger.

Many prominent citizens from Belleville took an afternoon off and went down by train or motor-car, but the whole district was largely represented. Tread, Desrochers, Napane, Trenton, Frankford, Stirling, Foxboro, Madoc and dozens of their communities contributed quotas of visitors. The net result was a "gate" such as does the heart of any disreputable good and makes it possible for them to carry out wider schemes of usefulness.

For many years Shannonville fair was pitted against an annual freshet of rain that would have drowned out the courage of any executive board less capable and enterprising than those associated with the World's Fair. They struggled on, paid their prize money and carried out all their promises, all the time buoyed up by the hope that some day the golden lining of the clouds would be revealed. The better day has dawned. A year ago the weather manufacturer was on his best behavior and gave the officials a chance to gather in the rupees from the crowds who come. This year again the brand of weather could be labelled "perfect" and the crowd was greater yet. Bigger prizes will naturally follow and bigger prizes will mean more and better exhibits just as certainly as effect follows cause.

All departments of the fair were filled out with excellent exhibits. The live stock was particularly good in every class. Horses were shown in large numbers and especially in the carriage classes there was keen competition.

The speeding on the half-mile track was a feature of interest for the lovers of the "sport of kings" and the king of sports. Some remarkably well contested races were seen during the afternoon. The track has been greatly improved by filling in and grading down the inequalities of the old track.

The principal exhibitors of heavy-draught horses were Jos. Buckley, of Read; Jas. McEvoy, Melrose, J. H. Toppings, Marysville, W. C. Ketcheson and Sons, Halloway, W. Maracle, Shannonville, R. H. McGinnis, Napane, S. G. Hogie, Napane, J. W. Walker, Napane, Josiah Brant, Shannonville, and Eliezer Williams, Shannonville.

For heavy draught teams the competition was very keen, the final award being:

1st—W. McGinnis
2nd—W. C. Ketcheson and Sons
3rd—Eliezer Williams

Some very stylish pairs of carriage horses were shown by Fred Deryes, Belleville, Jno. Bush, Belleville, R. H. McGinnis, Napane and Murney Coulter and J. E. Bateman, Thomasburg.

Other exhibitors in the carriage classes were G. A. Rose, Frankford, W. C. Ketcheson and Sons, L. Ketcheson.

Thomashurst, G. W. Collins, of Plainfield, W. Ketcheson, of Trenton, G. W. Taylor, Melrose and J. E. Bateman, Thomasburg.

The exhibit of cattle was very strong in the dairy breeds, the Holstein predominating by a great majority. In this class we noticed some very choice animals shown by R. M. Mitchell, Shannonville, Wm. Ogilvie, of Thurlow, and R. G. Martin and J. M. Briskley, Marysville.

The Ayrshire exhibit was also high in quality and was mainly shown by three exhibitors, W. C. Ketcheson and Sons, Wm. Ogilvie, and D. Hinchey of Shannonville. A very fine herd of Jerseys was shown by Geo. Collins of Plainfield. There were no entries in the beef breeds.

The sheep pens were well filled with as choice a lot of registered stock as one would anywhere wish to see. The long wool varieties were mainly shown by R. J. Garbutt of Thurlow, while the Oxford and other short-wool varieties were mostly shown by W. A. Martin and Son, Corbyville, S. G. Hogie, Napane, W. Lawrence, Napane, and W. Robinson, of Northport.

The showing of swine was not so extensive as at some of the other fairs we have visited but was quite as high in class. Leading exhibitors were R. J. Garbutt, W. A. Martin and Son, J. W. Walker and S. G. Hogie, Napane and E. D. Carter, Thomasburg.

The poultry crates were filled with as fine a lot of fowls as one would expect to see at much larger exhibitions. All the more prominent breeds were well represented. Among those showing were E. S. Waite, Belleville, W. A. Martin and Sons, and H. S. Morgan and J. W. Walker, Napane. In the main building the display of fancy work as well as of fruit, grain, vegetables and dairy products was very greatly increased over preceding years, showing the effect of a more liberal prize list.

Garden and field vegetables and roots were of enormous size and showed wonderful development. Apples, melons and other fruits were very large and of fine quality. The Dairy exhibit was not very large in extent but was pronounced by the judges to be excellent in quality.

There was an extraordinarily bewitching array of fancy and ornamental work which was the center of much admiring attention. In this class the more prominent exhibitors were Mrs. S. A. Lockwood, Belleville, Mrs. Thos. Coulter, Latta, Miss N. Anderson, Frankford, Mrs. Sharpe, Walbridge, Mrs. Morgan, Napane, Mrs. McGinnis, Napane, and Miss Sero, of Shannonville.

The following expert judges awarded the prizes in the live-stock departments—C. W. Neville, Sheep and Swine; H. K. Denyes, Cattle; Wm. Powell, Napane, Horses.

The day's events closed with a grand concert in the evening at which there was a bumper attendance.

The Food of the Ancients

Until quite recently in the world's history the human race lived on coarse foods. About seventy-five years ago it became customary to grind the cereal grains fine and remove from them the coarsest parts. At present, therefore, our foods contain practically no waste products. The result is the bowel is deprived of the material for and by which it was developed to function and constipation with its attendant ills is the outcome.

Dr. Jackson, a specialist in diseases of the stomach and bowel, who was for years connected with one of the largest stomach and bowel hospitals on the continent, realizing the almost criminal foolishness of this so-called refinement of foods, after extensive laboratory experiments, evolved a formula for a food which while highly nutritious, at the same time preserves the waste, thus supplying the bowel with the material upon which to function, thereby improving digestion and relieving constipation. This food is now sold under the name Roman Meal. It is being demonstrated all this week in the store of A. J. McCordan, Belleville.

Boy Suffered Injuries

A boy named Carnahan driving a milk wagon for Mr. Thresher of Midway suffered serious injuries when his legs were run over by a wagon on Saturday when the horse attached to it started off.

Police Arrest Clothes Thief

The police have located the person who has been guilty of at least some of the thefts of clothes from lines in back yards of the city. He is Wm. I. English of Tyendinaga, who has been working in Sidney.

A pile of clothes was brought to the police station in a trunk this morning. The goods were all ladies' wearing apparel.

This morning English pleaded guilty to three charges preferred, and was remanded. The police cannot distinguish the clothes. Accordingly all who have lost clothes are being asked to go as soon as possible to the police station and identify any garments that may be theirs, otherwise the police will have no alternative except to dispose of any unclaimed robes.

$23 Missed

At a card game on Saturday evening at his home, South Front Street, E. Barrone, an Italian missed a large amount of money made up of two ten dollar bills, two twos and one one. The police searched the place and the occupants of the house but found no traces. The man claimed they were not playing for money.

Market Report

Potatoes were the surprise of the market today. Very few were to be bought. Even grocers had to pay 75c per bag and some were selling at 1lb and 20c per peck. The whole cause was the rot.

"The farmer will have to buy potatoes themselves," said one farmer, who declared that he had none himself.

How the rot is affecting potatoes was explained by a buyer this morning. An agriculturist who won a prize at Belleville fair with his potatoes was going to take them to Frankford expecting to win a prize, but he was disappointed to find that half of them were rotten. That was in less than a week's time. Naturally, wholesalers will be very cautious in buying, when possibly they may lose one third or one half.

Potatoes were in plenty at 40c per bushel. The market seemed deluged with the red fruit.

Apples are quoted at 50c per bush and crab apples at 15c per bush or 50c per bush.

Grapes are growing plentiful at 10c per quart. Cucumbers brought 30c per peck and large peppers 15c per dozen. Small peppers brought 50c per doz.

Onions, cabbages, beets and similar lines of vegetables are unchanged in price.

Some were selling wheat at 95c per bushel. Melons were a much-sought fruit. The water melon went at 10c to 20c and the musk melon at 5c to 10c. Several large loads were disposed of. Puff ball cuta were selling at 5c and 10c each.

Plums were one of the most plentiful lines of offerings. Blue plums brought 30c per peck. Red plums per peck was asked for Lombards. Large smoling pumpkins sold at 15c each.

Corn was bought at three dozen ears for 25c. Ten cents per quart was asked for strawberries.

Bartlett pears brought 50c per peck, others at 20c and 25c or 75c bus. Mutton is quoted at 13c as is lamb. Lamb is so low in price that farmers will not sell, and butchers cannot afford to buy. As a result, there was scarcely any lamb to be bought in Belleville today.

Hogs remain unchanged at $9.25 live and 12.50 dressed.

The grain market is weaker, wheat being worth wholesale about 80c; barley 55c, and oats 35c to 38c. Butter was 35c, eggs 22c.

Hides are gradually weaker. They are quoted at 13c to 14c; lamb pelts are worth 75c to 85c; veals 13c to 14c and horsehides $3.

FOXBORO.

Captain H. I. Matthews Dead

Former Lake Mariner, Director of Canadian Cannery.

Colborne, Sept. 20.—Capt. Henry I. Matthews died at his home at Lakeport this morning after an illness of several weeks. He was born at Lakeport, August 23, 1846. In his younger days he was a lake mariner and held a captain's certificate. About thirty years ago he started the Lakeport Cannery, and had been a director of the Canadian Cannery, Limited. He was a Presbyterian and a member of the A.U.U.W. He leaves a wife (formerly Miss Jennie Cowie) and two sons and two daughters: William H. and Gordon C. Matthews, Trenton; and Mrs. W. Norman McDougall, Lakeport, and Mrs. Walter S. R. Wilson, Edmonton, Alta.

Rawdon Rural School Fair

The second Rural School Fair for the township of Rawdon was held at Wellman's Wednesday, and was very successful in every respect. There was an attendance of about 850. There were a splendid lot of exhibits, and a keen interest was shown in the work of the pupils of the various schools. Mr. C. F. Bailey, Assistant Dep. Minister of Agriculture, was present and assisted in the judging. Mr. Baptie, of the Dominion Poultry Board, judged poultry.

The storm which came up in the afternoon caused an early dispersion of the crowd.

New Engine Did Good Work

Colborne's new gasoline fire engine was responsible for saving a portion of the town's business section from being destroyed by fire last week. The fire broke out at midnight in Todd & Simmon's feed store, and when discovered the interior of the store was all ablaze. The engine worked smoothly and the fire was soon gotten under control.

The Oil for the Athlete.—In rubbing down, the athlete can find nothing finer than Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It renders the muscles and sinews pliable, takes the soreness out of strains that may be put upon them. It stands pre-eminent for this purpose, and athletes who for years have been using it can testify to its value as a lubricant.

Former Prince Edward Woman Murdered in Buffalo

Buffalo papers contain columns concerning a mysterious murder which took place in that city last week, the victim being Mrs. Donald Campbell, 214 Division street. Mrs. Campbell was formerly Emma Copping, and she was born and spent her girlhood days at Fish Lake. Her aged mother is now living in Buffalo. Relatives still living here are C. E. Shortt, Anson Shortt, Walter Shortt, Mrs. Finley Lazier, of Picton, and Harry Shortt of Toronto, who are nephews.

At the conclusion of almost twelve hours work on the mystery a score of detectives confessed they were no nearer the solution of the case than they were when the body was first discovered.

When the police arrived on the scene the body was tied hand and foot, the features terribly distorted by the force of the knots that bound her. Her ankles were bound with a torn piece of linen, the end of which was fastened to the foot of the bed. The rag which was the direct cause of death was stuffed half way down the woman's throat and a rope tied around it to keep it in place.

The woman was married to Donald Campbell, engineer of the steamer Underwood in October, 1913. Campbell has sailed the lakes for many years. His boat was located at Mackinac Straits and he was advised of the murder. The couple have no children. Mrs. Campbell was married twice, her first husband, Michael Brennan, died about twenty years ago. The woman owned the house she lived in and had conducted a rooming house there for 18 months. She had about seven roomers, the capacity of the house.

Her two sisters, Mrs. Dithy Foster and Mrs. Charlotte Ann Matthews, live on the same street only a few doors away. They were attracted by the gathering of the crowd and walked down. When they saw the crowd stop in front of their sister's home they went in and saw the terrible sight. Neither sister had seen Mrs. Campbell since the previous Monday.

A loaded revolver was found under some clothes in the alcove. It was apparent the woman had tried to get it to defend herself. She was unsuccessful as the weapon was undiscovered.

The police discovered that $80 was missing from the dead woman's trunk and it is thought that robbery was the motive.

This Gypsy Made True Forecast

Yesterday afternoon a Times reporter had the pleasure of a chat with Mrs. Georgina Gage, of Mark street, east city.

That lady, recalling bygone days, said that forty-six years ago, shortly after her marriage, she was talking on the veranda, in Lindsay, with the Rev. Mr. Vickers, Anglican rector of that town. A gypsy woman happened along selling lace. The gypsy said, "Lady I want to tell your fortunes. The gentleman," pointing at the parson, "is a widower. There is a young lady sailing to Canada that the parson has never seen, but whom he will marry within a month." Two weeks later Rev. Mr. Vickers happened to call on the late Rural Dean Allen, of Millbrook. Mr. Vickers met a young lady who had just arrived from England, and he married her. Six children were born to the couple, Mr. Vickers died some years ago.—Port Hope Times.

Destroyed by Fire

Coal Sheds Also Burned.—J. E. Roxburgh Meets With Heavy Loss.

On Saturday night shortly after midnight, the citizens of the village were summoned from their slumbers by the unwelcome clang of the fire-bell. A blaze of considerable height had been seen at the rear of Mr. J. E. Roxburgh's coal sheds and big grain elevator, situated close to the C.P.R. tracks, west of the station. A large number of citizens quickly responded to the alarm. Those first on the scene found the west end of the coal sheds enveloped in flames and as there was no water nearby it was found that nothing could be done. The flames readily spread across the sheds and attacked the wooden structure of the elevator, shooting up its sides and entering the interior. The lofty building was soon a spectacular mountain of fire, lighting up the whole town. The huge bins, which were built of planks laid flatwise, made an abundance of fuel and some idea of the terrific heat sent out is evidenced in the large steel rails on the nearest track, which were badly bent up. Two box cars on the track were also burned. Seven or eight other cars in the yard were in danger but a gang of men managed to push some of them far enough away to save them, although one or two of these were damaged. A hurry-up call was sent to Havelock for an engine, which arrived in a few minutes and added to the excitement by dashing up the track and withdrawing the cars to a safe distance. The Montreal midnight express which came in during the fire, was ordered to take the siding and thus avoid any danger by going over the main track, which was the second one from the burning buildings.

The C. P. R. yards were filled with timber, and several piles were burned, but as there was no wind the fire was prevented from spreading.

Mr. Roxburgh's office building was also burned. There was sufficient time, however, to save the contents including the books, safe, etc. Mr. Wm. Portway's big ash house, across the tracks from the elevator, appeared to be in danger at first, but withstood the heat without gaining.
