Caught Eight-Pounder The Canadian Northern Railway this summer instituted an angling shield to be competed for annually by non-residents, for the largest speckled trout caught on a fly in Nipigon waters. In this connection John McKirdy has wired the Canadian Northern that "Joe Bouchard, a local Nipigon man, caught a speckled trout eight pounds one ounce on a fly paramachene, bell size four hook; record the largest known trout caught on the Nipigon River on fly." Mr. Bouchard, however, being a resident of Nipigon, cannot be considered as an eligible contestant for the trophy.

Talked With Crown Prince

KAISER'S SON CURIOUS Wanted to Know Reception He Would Get if He Visited Canada—Capt. Hunter's Experiences

Toronto, Sept. 24.—To have fought the crack German airman, Richtofen, to be downed in a terrific air battle in which six British planes encountered eleven German machines, and to have tasted the bitterness of prison life in Germany are some of the experiences of Capt. Gordon D. Hunter, who is at present A.D.C. to General Lee of the British Aviation Mission— at Washington. Captain Hunter is in Toronto on a visit to his father-in-law, Mr. J. Montgomery Lowndes, 144 Front street west.

Capt. Hunter described the visit of the German Crown Prince to the internment camp at Aachen, near Aix-la-Chapelle.

Chats With Crown Prince "The Crown Prince chatted affably enough with a number of British officers who had been captured," said Capt. Hunter. "The first man whose hand he shook was a South African, of whom he asked, 'Why are you in the war?' The officer replied, 'Oh, everyone was coming over to fight for Great Britain and her allies, and as it was my duty I thought I might as well come too.' The Crown Prince then said, 'I would have been very much better for you had you stayed at home, minding your own business, and had you done so you would not have lost a leg.'"

Took No Chances "I noticed that all the time he was speaking to me and to the other officers he held us firmly by the hand. This did not indicate any particular friendship or regard for us. It was a precautionary measure in case any of us might be tempted to let drive at him. His left hand he kept in his pocket, and we could plainly see the form of a revolver with which he kept covered the person he was addressing."

Downed by Richtofen "The Crown Prince came to the camp for the purpose of inspecting the prisoners and seeing the conditions that existed there. He seemed rather glad when I told him that I had been brought down by Richtofen, who has since been killed; in fact he rather gloried that the crack German airman had been the cause of sending me to earth, severely wounded in several places."

Inquires About Canada "He asked me what I was going to do when I left Germany, and I told him I was going back to England and then to Canada. He said he hoped to go to Canada some time and said he hoped the people there would not throw stones at him. 'I said, 'The Canadians are good sports, sir,' and he said, 'Well, you have good winter sports and shooting in Canada.' I agreed that we had, and we kept on chatting on different topics for a few minutes."

What the Prince is Like "What is the Crown Prince really like? Does he really resemble the caricatures published of him?" was asked. "No," said Capt. Hunter. "On the contrary he is a very solidly looking fellow, and not at all what I expected to see him. Without any partiality whatever I would describe him as a real soldier, at least so far as appearance goes."

Handed Out Cigarettes "When we were taking dinner, his aide brought us a box of fifty cigarettes with the Crown Prince's crest on them, and these were divided equally among the officers. We raffled the box in which they were contained and Flight Commander Mack won it. I kept the cigarettes I got as souvenirs of the occasion."

Employed at Washington "Capt. Hunter, whose home is at St. Mary's, prior to going overseas was employed with the Toronto General Trusts. He left Toronto with the 124th Battalion under the command of Lt.-Col. Vaux Chadwick in August, 1918, and transferred to the Royal Flying Corps, with which he went to France in April, 1917.

He was wounded when in May, 1917, he went up with four other aviators to protect a sixth machine in which was an officer engaged in taking photographs of the German lines. They were attacked on both sides by eleven German machines. One machine dived into the tail of Capt. Hunter's machine and he had to glide to earth. He came down behind the German lines and was sent

Will Leave His Pastorate

Rev. A. M. Hubby Will Soon Leave to Reside in Toronto

After almost fourteen years in the rectorship of Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal church, Victoria Avenue, the Rev. A. M. Hubby is giving up the charge and will close his pastorate on Sunday Oct. 6th. He will attend the Synod and then visit the Eastern provinces for two months, returning to Belleville for the Bible Society meeting on December 4th. He will then go to Toronto to reside with his son-in-law, the Rev. Bishop Hunter and will do Christian work as opportunity affords—preaching and writing but will take no new pastorate.

The Rev. Mr. Hubby has been forty years in the Christian ministry. He was previously in Christian work and was secretary of the Y.M.C.A. at Moncton N.B. After a time engaged in pastoral work in Moncton he took the rectorship of St. John's Church, Sussex Cove, Sussex N.B., and so efficient was his pastorate there that he remained in the parish for twenty years. Thirteen years ago last February he assumed the rectorship at Belleville, succeeding the Rev. W. J. Gilliland.

His work in his parish is a memorable one. The congregation has prospered under his rectorship financially and spiritually and his place will be difficult to fill. In the larger local field his influence has also been felt. He was president of the Children's Aid Society for two years and has been a most active officer since its inception. He is now vice-president. He has been active in the Canadian Club and was on the 1917 executive. Indeed every branch of Christian work has always found him lending a ready hand.

Mr. Hubby has been president of the Provincial S. S. Association and represented the Dominion at the World's Convention at London in 1908.

In 1899 he was invited to be the guest of the people of Chicago to attend the laying of the corner stone of the United States Government Building in that city.

As a writer of English the Rev. Mr. Hubby has had considerable success. His writings display a peculiar musical excellence and his choice of language reaches the highest standard.

At Easter the Rev. Mr. Hubby first suggested his resignation of the charge but his people have been loath to accept.

There have been many changes during his pastorate. Not long ago his companion in his labors, Mrs. Hubby passed away. His labors here will leave however an abiding impression upon the life of Belleville.

EARLY PLOWING BRINGS BIGGER WHEAT YIELDS

Early plowing is one of the essential factors in growing high yields of wheat as shown by results at the Ohio Experiment Station, where from 3 to 8 bushels, more per acre have been secured by observing early plowing dates.

Agronomists point out that early plowing makes it possible to prepare a firm, fine and moist seedbed, which is regarded as essential in successful wheat growing.

Frequently a pest of the wheat can be controlled by early plowing, particularly the wheat midge this season.

The Bowels Must Act Healthily. In most ailments the first care of the medical man is to see that the bowels are open and fully performing their functions. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so compounded that certain ingredients in them act on the bowels solely and they are the very best medicine available to produce healthy action of the bowels. Indeed, there is no other specific so serviceable in keeping the digestive organs in healthful action.

DISPOSE OF OLD HENS AND BREEDING STOCK EARLY

In an experiment carried on at the Experimental Farm in the spring of 1917, with Leghorn chickens, the sale of the cockerels paid all expenses for incubation, brooding and feed for themselves and pullets up until the first of September. When the pullets went into winter quarters on November 1st, they had cost over and above what had been paid by the sale of the cockerels just 3.9 cents each. This experiment showed not only that it paid to sell the cockerels early, but it also demonstrated that pullets could be raised much cheaper than they could be bought in the fall.

An Easy Pill to Take—Some persons have repugnance to pills because of their nauseating taste. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are so prepared as to make them agreeable to the most fastidious. The most delicate can take them without feeling the revulsion that follows the taking of ordinary pills. This is one reason for the popularity of these celebrated pills, but the main reason is their high tonical quality as a medicine for the stomach.

Prohibition Problem Acute

Country Must be Kept Dry After War Closes—Dominion Alliance Officer Here.

"The measure of prohibition now in effect in Canada can be withdrawn by order-in-council," was the statement of Mr. Frank W. Duggan of the Dominion Temperance Alliance in John St. Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Mr. Duggan forcibly impressed upon his hearers the necessity to work and pray that the liquor traffic be abolished after the war. It is merely a war measure, he said, as it is now. "Think," he said, "of what is behind the recent riots in Toronto. Unrest and unsettlement will surely follow when peace is declared and conditions must not be made harder for our boys than necessary. England, after the South African war, suffered severely owing to the drink traffic and is now turning her attention to conditions which experience has taught her, must surely follow the declaration of peace and demobilization of her forces. The 'jads' who have suffered so for our sakes and for the liberty and honor of our beloved country deserve at least a clean Canada to which they can return."

German Atrocities. Mr. Duggan said he had refused to believe the stories of German cruelties until a splendid returned hero who had and will suffer intensely for his country's sake and in some miraculous way escaped death, entered upon the work of the Dominion Temperance Alliance. The speaker expressed his doubt and sought the opinion of his fellow worker. "Do you think I can doubt it when with my own two hands I helped to remove the body of a crucified Canadian soldier from the barn door to which he had been nailed by his Hunns in their retreat," and his expression accompanying his words convinced Mr. Duggan of the truth of Hun devilishness.

Inconsistency of Preaching and Voting. The alliance was very circumscribed in its work as only from the pulpit they reach the people while organized effort and the vote enabled the saloon keepers to do a flourishing business. There are now seventeen million gallons of liquor in Ontario under government bond which would be released immediately the war is over if prohibition were not permanently enforced.

Women's Vote One of the difficulties of the alliance is the reluctance of the women to go to the polls and for this the speaker blamed the men. Women can do so much to end the curse by using the blessed privilege granted them but many good conscientious women, through false modesty, refused to cast their vote for one of the best causes in the interest of humanity. Every woman who cradles a son has a right to demand that the country in which he is raised be such to enable him to be a clean and honorable citizen.

LIME AND FERTILIZERS. Question—Will the continued using of fertilizers make the soil sour? Answer—The continued use of fertilizers means the continued increase in crop yields. This in turn means the depletion of the lime of the soil. Larger Crops, whether produced by better seed, better tillage methods or more fertilizers, tend towards the depletion of the lime of the soil which in turn means the souring of the soil. It is perfectly natural for the soils under cultivation to become sour. It should be equally as natural to add lime to the soil once in four or five years.

Question—Do I need to use fertilizers if I rotate my crops and apply lime? Answer—By rotating crops you are simply distributing your draft upon the resources of the soil. You can no more maintain the fertility of the soil by rotating your crops than you can maintain your bank account by passing your check book around the members of your family. Lime is not a plant food, but a soil corrector. It keeps the soil sweet and to a small extent lets loose some potash. It, then, for best results you should rotate your crops and apply lime sufficiently often to keep the soil sweet. In addition you should use all the stock manure obtainable and sufficient fertilizers to meet the needs of the growing crops and make up for the characteristic weakness of the soil.

Letter From Crown Prince Willie to His "Father"

Dear Papa, I am writing on the run, as the brave and glorious soldiers under my command have not seen the Rhine for so long that they have started back that way, and, of course, I am going mid them. Oh, papa, there has been some awful things happened here in France. First, I started in my big offensive which was to crush the fool Americans, but they know so little about military tactics that they will not be crushed by like I want dem. I sent my men in der fight in big waves and when they got to the Americans they all said "Boo" as loud as they could holler. Well, according to what you had always told me, the Americans should have turned and run like blazes. But vat you tink? Dem fool Americans don't know anything about war, and instead of running de odder way, dey came right toward us. Some of dem was singing something about "Ve won't come back till it's over, over there" or some other foolish song, and some of dem laffin like fools. Dey are so ignorant. But dey are offer reckless mit dere guns and ven dey come toward us it was den dot my men took a notion dey wanted to go back to der dear old Rhine. Ve don't like de little old dirty Marne river anyhow. And, oh, papa, dem Americans use such offer language. Dey know nothing of kultur and say such offer dings right before us. And dey talk blasphemy too. Vat you tink dey said right in front of my face? One big husky from a place dey call Kansas, he said—oh, papa, I hate to tell you vat an offer ding he said—but I can't help it. He said, "To hell mit der Kaiser!" Did you ever hear any body say such a offer ting? It made me so mad, I wouldn't stand and hear such a offer ting so I turned and run mid der other boys. Yas I right? Vat? And oh, papa, you know dem breast plates vat you sent us—can you send some to put on our backs? You know we are going der odder way now and breast plates are no good, for der cowardly Americans are shooting us right in der back. Some of our boys took off der breast plates and put 'em behind but der fool-Americans are playing "Der Star Spangled Banner" mit machine guns on dem plates. Can't you help us? You remember in your speech you said nothing could stand before der brave German soldiers? Oh, papa, I don't believe dese ignorant Americans ever read your speech for dey run after us just like ve was a lot of rabbits. Vat you tink of dot? Can't you send dem some of your speeches right away? Dey don't know how terrible ve are. Can't you move my army back to Belgium vere ve won all our glory? My men can vip all de vimmen and children vot dem Belgians can bring up. But dese Americans are so rough and ignorant. Ve can't make 'em understand dot ve are der greatest soldiers on earth, and ven ve try to sing "Deutschland Uher Alles," dey laff like a lot of monkeys. But we are getting the best of der Americans. Ve can outrun dem. Papa, if we are not the best fighters on earth ve sure are de best runners. Nobody can't keep up mit us ven we tink of der dear old Rhine, and my army never did tink so much of dot dear old river. Let me know right away vat te go by return postoffice. —Crown Prince Willie.

Landed a Block Away Toronto, Sept. 24.—A 50-pound piece of steel driven by the force of a dynamite explosion in the Alloy Steel Works, Ltd., here, whizzed through the air and alighted in the parlor of a house a long block away from the works. It was occupied by Samuel Nightingale, a piano stool, a sewing machine and other things were wrecked, but fortunately no one was injured although there were people in the house. The explosion took place at the corner of Front and Cherry streets, where H. J. Armstrong was blasting a "steel base." A large piece of steel became dislodged from the rest of the mass and went flying through the air.
