

HARD TO BELIEVE SHE'S SAME WOMAN

Mrs. McClanahan Brinful of New Life and Energy Since Taking Tanlac

"I have not only gotten rid of a severe stomach trouble of nine years standing since I started taking Tanlac, but have gained ten pounds in weight and am still gaining," said Mrs. D. McClanahan, Green Bay, B. C., recently.

"Before I started taking Tanlac," Mrs. McClanahan continued, "I was so weak I could hardly get about and my appetite was so poor I had no relish for any kind of food and just had to force down every mouthful. When I did manage to eat a little something it began to ferment almost at once, I would have intense cramping pains in the pit of my stomach and gas would form and press against my heart until it palpitated dreadfully. I suffered with such severe headaches nearly all the time they almost made me desperate, and at times I became so dizzy it was all I could do to stand on my feet. Then too, I was extremely nervous so that the least little noise would completely upset me. Why, I could not even stand the rustling of a newspaper and it was just impossible for me to get a good night's sleep, as I would toss about all night long and I always felt worse on getting up than when I went to bed. I was also troubled a great deal with constipation and had to always be taking some sort of laxative.

"But things are altogether different now, for since taking Tanlac I am completely rid of all my troubles. My appetite is simply wonderful and I can hardly eat enough to satisfy myself. I eat just anything I want without suffering any bad after effects whatever. I am never troubled with pains, gas or palpitation of the heart and have not had a headache or dizzy spell since I began taking Tanlac. My nerves are in such good condition I can sleep all night long as peacefully as a child and always get up feeling greatly refreshed. I am not troubled with constipation any more and have regained my strength to such an extent, and feel so good and am so full of life that I can hardly realize I am the same woman. My husband, whose stomach was in every bit as bad condition as mine was, has gotten the same results from Tanlac that I have, and we both recommend it every chance we have."

Tanlac is sold in Hartland by Estey & Curtis Company, and E. L. Field, Bloomfield, and by the leading druggists in every town.

Finding Out

By MELVILLE TRAFTON

"It's young Ned who is troubling my mind," spoke Abner Mills, with something of an anxious sigh.

"Oh, Ned?" rejoined Moses Parr, crony and familiar of half a century's standing. "What's he up to, Abner?"

"He's in love," enlightened the other. "You know what marriage means—misery, if there's a misstatement."

"Why should there be that?" propounded Moses. "You and I have each a son and our lives have just about centered about them since we became lonely old widowers. Well, when my lad got moonstruck two years ago I just let him have his swing. But I watched and looked up the girl—oh, you bet I did! I hired an investigator and he made me a report. All through one month, there wasn't much that I didn't know about Miss Blake and her forbears. Bless her dear heart! It was almost cruel to think of looking her up, as if she was some common criminal, but I wanted to be sure everything was all right."

"H'm! you give me an idea," muttered old Abner, "only I'll be my own detective. Here's the facts: Ned was away for two months with a chum who lives down country. While there it seems he met a Miss Eva Dodson vacationing with an old aunt. From what I gather the girl is poor, modest, respectable. Ned hasn't said a word about it, but I ran across a letter he had written and it revealed the whole layout. I see what's coming—engagement, marriage. I can't try to hinder it, if they are likely to be happy, but I'm bound to be dead certain about just that."

So, unconscious of the fact that the cherished secret of his soul had been discovered, Ned Mills went on loving Eva Dodson and writing to her. She was surely his ideal! She wore no engagement ring, for she had insisted that Ned inform his family of his decision and try the test of a two months' separation. But Ned had procrastinated the making of a confidant of his father, for he knew his ways, and that his approval of the prospective match might be a slow-moving operation.

"I am going to spend a few days on business in the city, Ned," spoke his father one day. "You look after things around the store till I come back, will you?"

"Sure enough and glad enough," acquiesced Ned in his usual hearty, accommodating way, and Mr. Mills departed, proceeded, indeed, to the city, but began a mysterious series of actions which, and the same been followed by a stranger, would have puzzled and startled him. Always precise and careful as to his attire, Mr. Mills spent an hour in the shop of a second-hand clothing man. When he emerged there was little left of the prosperous, well-dressed merchant. A faultless suit had been exchanged for one coarse of fabric, shabby and threadbare.

It was to Peradale that Mr. Mills proceeded, and that was the place he had learned Miss Dodson was living temporarily. When he located the home of her aunt, old Abner approached it in a labored, limping way that at once excited the sympathy of the loveliest young lady that he had ever met. She came to the kitchen door attired in a neat enveloping apron, befringed to the elbows, as dainty and fresh looking as the pies and cookies she had just made.

The sad tale of the aged arch-schemer, posing as an indigent wanderer, won him a meal, then work, which he did manfully. All he was after was to have an opportunity to study a possible prospective daughter-in-law. Fortune favored him. He was in a room over the kitchen, he was engaged to do odd jobs about the place. He found Eva the idol of all the house ones in the neighborhood, and dutiful to her aged aunt, in fact a model girl in every way. He wrote in his memorandum book the sentiment one day: "Eva Dodson is poor and humble, but she is well worthy my son, and I shall tell Ned so!"

That memorandum book the old man lost one day, and it was returned to him by Eva. Then upon another day he was confronted by a starter. He was just outside the kitchen when the aunt entered bearing a small metal box.

"Eva," she spoke, "how careless you are, leaving all this money and honor on your person. Is the $10,000 the lawyer brought you?"

"Yes, aunt," responded Eva, "I suppose I had better send them to the bank for safe keeping," and Abner Mills picked up his ears mightily at this extraordinary revelation. The following morning he announced to his kind-hearted hostess that he must be on his way. Eva accompanied him to the gate.

"Good-by, Mr. Mills," she spoke, a gleam of mingled merriment and mischief in her eyes.

"H'm, how's that?" exclaimed the astonished Abner. "You knew all along?"

"No, Mr. Mills, not until the day you lost your memorandum book, and I ask forgiveness for my stray glance at it, and will you please tell Ned that his humble country girl has become a real heiress?"

"You have turned the tables on me pretty cleverly," admitted Abner Mills, "and if you are willing to take an old tramp for a father-in-law, I am most agreeable to the relationship."

Encouragement From Arrostook

The Presque Isle Star Herald says: "The Carleton Observer, one of the best of our Provincial exchanges, has just given new evidence of its enterprise by installing a linotype. Bro. Stevens in referring to it, says: 'Viewing all the marvelous complexities of the invention, he is uncertain whether his troubles have ended or just be, a.' For our brother's encouragement we will say that all the linotype asks for is thoroughly good care. The introduction of the linotype was the best step in improvement the Star-Herald ever took, and for years it has been doing the most for the business with the least hitches and annoyances of any piece of mechanical equipment we have ever installed."

SUFFERING OF YOUNG WOMEN

This Letter Tells How It May be Overcome—All Mothers Interested.

Toronto, Ont.—"I have suffered since I was a school girl with pain in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I am a children's nurse, and I was so bad at times that I was unfit for work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines, but was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to perform an operation, but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how thankful I am that I tried it. I am relieved from pain and cramps, and feel as if it has saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women, as I am only too glad to recommend the medicine."

"JEAN KENT, 42 Blamford Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Girls who are troubled as Miss Kent was should immediately seek restoration to health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Those who need special advice may write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. These letters will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence."

Why Canadians Should Insure in a Canadian Company

- BECAUSE—Experience covering a period of forty-six years has proven that the death rate of insured lives is about 15 per cent greater in the United States than in Canada.
- BECAUSE—A Canadian does not need to assist in paying for this extra heavy death rate in a foreign country.
- BECAUSE—A Canadian insuring in a foreign Company is sending his money out of Canada. If retained in Canada he and Canadians generally will benefit by its circulation and investment.
- BECAUSE—In The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) he can secure his insurance at lower rates and on easier terms than in any other Company.
- BECAUSE—The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) was organized for the express purpose of eliminating all objectionable features in Life Insurance.
- BECAUSE—In The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) the Policyholder votes and participates in the management on equal terms with the Stockholders.
- BECAUSE—By its Act of Incorporation provision is made for the Policyholder voting at his own home if convenient to attend the general meetings.
- BECAUSE—By its Act of Incorporation the dividend to its Stockholders is limited and all profits above this limited dividend belong to the Policyholder.
- BECAUSE—By its Act of Incorporation no timeline, so called "Gold Bond" policies or anything of a false nature can be issued.
- BECAUSE—In Policy-Holders participate in the annual distribution of profits after the third of the life of each policy.
- BECAUSE—The low rates and annual distribution of profits leave the money in the Policyholder's pockets or return it to him each year instead of its being retained for speculative purposes as has been charged against some Companies.
- BECAUSE—Premiums may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually as best suits the convenience of the insured.
- BECAUSE—In the Policy-Holders Mutual Life (of Canada) he will be insured in a Canadian Company incorporated by special Act, especially safe-guarding his interests, thoroughly democratic in its principles and management, with every safe-guard and security to which the strongest Stock Company can lay claim or which government deposit reserve and inspection can secure.
