Battle Salvage.

A good deal has been said about the recovery of used metals from the battlefields of France and their reuse; but it is doubtful that the magnitude of this business has been realized. It is actually carried out on such a large scale that there is not room for time or labor enough for it in France, and much of the salvaged stuff has to be shipped to England for re-working.

The headquarters for this work are in Swansea, Wales. There are located here two large firms which have always carried on a notable business in the salvage of warships and cargo-carrying vessels. Within the last six months their activities have been extended, under governmental auspices, to the battle waste received from the continent. Formerly, under an agreement between the two governments, the French engineering service undertook the heavy task of collecting the saleable scrap from the battlefields of the western front and working it over into iron and steel bars. But, as suggested, the accumulation of material was so heavy as to necessitate the transfer of much of this work to Britain.

One reason for selecting Swansea as the base for this service is that within twenty miles of the city are found 80 per cent. of the tin and tennant mills of the United Kingdom.

The entire industry is under Government control. Although half the tin-plate mills in the district have been closed on account of Government restrictions, a certain amount of tin plate is required by the Ministry of Munitions; so licenses are granted to manufacturers of this article for the purchase of raw materials and especially scrap iron. The reclaimed steel bars not thus used in the making of tin plate are shipped to other parts of the country, where they are rolled into sheet form for use in the manufacture of trench shelters.—Scientific American.

The Late Mr. Edwin Aitkin.

The unexpected death yesterday afternoon, from pneumonia, of Mr. Edwin Aitkin, of the firm of Messrs. Carvell Brothers, of this city, is chronicled with the deepest regret. He was a son of our much esteemed citizen, Mr. W. H. Aitkin. The late Mr. Aitkin was only thirty-six years of age and by his untimely death the career of one of the most promising of the younger business men of this community and province has been cut short. He had been ill for only nine days and he made a brave and determined effort to conquer the dread disease which is passing over our city. Mr. Aitkin was one of the leaders of the commercial life of Charlottetown and was noted for his unvarying courtesy and sterling ability as well as for his uprightness and integrity as a business man. As has been well said: "The fact that he was a member of that long-established and influential firm of Carvell Brothers is abundant evidence of his business ability and sound judgment."

He served as President of the Charlottetown Board of Trade a few years ago, with honour and dignity. He was a devoted member and staunch supporter of St. Paul's Church and was for many years a valued member of the vestry. He was formerly a member of the Charlottetown Board of School Trustees and belonged to the Rotary Club here. In all these different positions as well as in the social life of the community, Mr. Aitkin enjoyed the highest respect of all with whom he came into contact. Although somewhat reserved in manner, he was friendly with all, and the whole city has been shocked by the sad news.

Some eight years ago he married Gladys Adele Peake, daughter of the late Mr. George Peake, who with two children, are left to mourn. To these the heartfelt sympathy of all will be extended; also to his bereaved parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Aitkin, his sister, Miss Elaine, and one brother, Mr. Reginald Aitkin.

We can only draw the veil of sympathy over the grief in the home. In doing so we can assure these grief-stricken families that all sincerely regret the great loss which they and our city have sustained by the death of Mr. Aitkin.—The Island Patriot, Charlottetown, P.E.I., Oct. 15.

To a Herrin'.

Oh, herrin', fish that I like best
You're welcome far above the rest?
By many a workin' man you're blest—
Oh, herrin', take herrin'!

When I come home I get my tea,
Your kindly form I'm grieved to see;
On my table you're fit to be seen—
Oh, herrin', savvy herrin'!

Whether you're roastin', billed, or fried,
You're the very best I ever tried!
An' when a hairn, for you I cried—
Oh, herrin', bonnie herrin'!

The fishes hunt you o'er the deep,
Rich harvests o' the sea they reap
When in the nets in shoals you leap—
Oh, herrin', silvery herrin'!

Lang may your offspring swim the seas,
At times the fisher's heart he pleases,
An' he'll be glad to see you in case—
Oh, herrin', welcome herrin'!

"Syrup of Figs" for Constipated Child.

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs" that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out, leaving the child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of cheap imitations sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

Discrimination.

At St. John's there are doctors and nurses in galore, druggists and hospitals, and yet we note that further hospital accommodation and nursing facilities are being provided, while for the so-called "outports" little or no consideration is being manifested. In St. John's a doctor can board his motor car and drive from one end of the district to the other. Here in Bay of Islands we have no roads and very few and poor cattle paths. To visit the people one has to go by boat or wade knee deep through mud and water and climb over a precipice. Under these circumstances it has been impossible for our local doctor to give the needed attention to the outlying places and at the same time properly look after his patients along the banks of the Humber.

Then there is the operation of the present prohibition regulations. In St. John's or vicinity if spirits are required the same may be obtained in a very short time, but not so in places where there is no medical officer. The regulations require one to be sick before a doctor can give a prescription, then there is all the time required before prescription can reach the Controller at St. John's and a reply received. There should be some simple way of overcoming this difficulty and the people of the remotest parts of the Dominion placed upon the same footing as those residing in the capital. It is the people of the "outports" who are the real producers in the country. They catch the cod and herring, they mine the mineral, they till the soil and gather the harvest. But for them St. John's to-day would be but a village of huts, and yet when it comes to public facilities and improvements they are shamefully neglected.—Western Star.

Ethie Reports Herring.

The S. S. Ethie, Capt. E. English, returned from the Straits of Bellefleur on Friday. She brought a large number of passengers and a full freight. Her after hold was loaded with freight for Curling, including some 300 barrels of herring. The codfishery on the Labrador side of the Straits is now over, and most of the fishermen have left for their homes. Herring, too, have slackened off. There's considerable fish yet on the coast for removal. Herring have made their appearance on Newfoundland side of Straits, and there is a good sign at Port au Choix and Brig Bay. At the latter place O'Brien's in the fish. Ethie have secured over 200 barrels, having used all their salt and wire for more.—Western Star.

New Store Opened.

The Telegram reporter had the pleasure of being shown throughout the new store opened by the American Boot and Shoe House yesterday. The firm already has a store in the old stand formerly occupied by Noyes's hardware, but the new store is to be the headquarters, being much more up-to-date and roomy. It is constructed after the latest American style, containing no counter. Instead a wide seat runs around all sides, while chairs are placed in the centre of the floor, which is of hardwood and polished. The inside is artistically painted and decorated, contains fancy electric bulbs, and altogether presents a most brilliant and pleasing sight. The very latest American style boots and shoes are kept in stock, the upper appointments being for storage purposes. The display window is very nicely gotten up. Immediately the store opened crowds filled it, and a very brisk business was done. This stand is the one recently occupied by Z. Cox, and is situated in one of the best business centres of the town. There is always room for progressiveness and energy, and we feel sure that the new store will secure a good share of the boot and shoe trade of the city.
