Reports Current That Canadian Corporations are in League With Certain Political Elements in Newfoundland --- Industrial Development Threatened.

Special to the Evening Telegram

PORT AUX BASQUES, To-day. Passengers arriving by steamers from Sydney state that there are reports current on that side to the effect that the big Steel and Coal corporations are behind certain political elements in Newfoundland, and are supplying them with unlimited funds for the conduct of the coming election campaign. It is further stated that the agreement between the parties is that all development of Newfoundland's natural resources is to be stopped. This would apply particularly to the St. George's Coal Fields Ltd., in which company there are many local shareholders. Because of the persistence with which these reports are being circulated, there is a strong suspicion created here that this is an attempt to strangle the possibilities of coal production in the interests of these big corporations. Such being the case, and daily it is being spoken of, the shareholders in St. George's Coal Fields should exercise due caution in casting their votes. A vote against Liberal Progressive candidates means a vote for the big interests in Canada, and the placing of a period to all chance of getting any adequate returns from money invested in local coal. Should any other reports of this nature be heard, your correspondent will keep you advised. Even as it is, electors must be on their guard.

Rev. Dr. Hall at Kirk.

The Rev. Alfred Hall, D.D., Senior Chaplain of Naval Institutes for Canada, was at St. Andrew's Church on Sunday morning, and was heartily welcomed by his friends, who also had the privilege of hearing him when he preached in the Kirk on the occasion of his visit eight years ago. As Dr. Hall has a great interest in the children and has already spoken in a good many of the city schools, it was very fitting that his introductory talk should be to the children, of whom a large number were present. He spoke to them of the jewels of wisdom and character, illustrating his points from his experiences in South Africa. Dr. Hall's sermon was on the text, "Thy way, O Lord, is on the waters," and he showed how much we owe to the sea. It is the connecting link of our Maritime Empire. We are no longer oppressed by the mystery of the sea, but regard it as a medium of transportation, one of the great foundations of our modern civilization. Dr. Hall also emphasized our dependence upon the men of the sea. In the language of Lord Fisher, "The British Navy bears the British Army on its back." We owe our very life to the same Navy to-day, for it is generally understood that the Battle of Jutland was the turning point of the war, and the decisive part in that battle was naturally the British Fleet. Surely the men of the sea are worthy of our best sympathy. And our strong determination should be that they or those depending on them should never want if we can prevent it. At the close of the service there was a procession of boys bearing the flags of the Allied nations, standing in line before the pulpit, while Dr. Hall offered a prayer of Thanksgiving for the protection afforded by the Allied fleets during the period of war. The service closed with the National Anthem and Benediction.

The Fighting Tro's big meeting to-night at the Casino Theatre!!!

Higgins! Vinnicombe! Fox!

"The Two Thousand Majority" team.

The East End to-night will show Squires that they have no intention of letting Coaker's grass grow under their feet.

Squires is shouting for Reform! It's Chloroform! he'll need after November 3rd.

The military regulations prevent a soldier wearing his uniform after being demobbed. Is this why Carter is in mufti?

He is some hero all right, but not a "returned" one. Ask Harbour Main.

"Who is Dan" out rivals Coaker for popularity in St. John's East.

Poor Harry! Shockin' drag?

The man that everybody likes generally likes everybody. Eh, Nix?

Some people grow under responsibility (like Higgins); others merely swell (like Squires); or groan (like Coaker).

The worthy scion of a noble family—Cyril Fox!

Haint hit hawful to 'arass 'Arris?

Ferryland is justly proud of the high position which Sir Michael Cashin has attained and will honor him again by electing himself and colleague, Mr. Moore, with another big majority.

The candidates who have been induced by Coaker and Squires to go to their political doom are already repenting of the rash steps which they took and will face nomination day with funeral faces.

Cashin Will Come Back.

Triumphal Progress.

The following message was received yesterday by the family of Capt. A. Kean, Liberal Progressive Candidate for St. Barbe, having been sent from Fort Saunders: "Instead of a frost as the Advocate predicted, I am meeting perpetual sunshine. Crowds flock to my meetings, and clergy and people alike denounce the abuse of me in the Advocate. My exposition of abuse in opposition papers cheered to the echo."

Cashin Will Come Back.
