 MR. ROSS' TWENTY-FIRST SPEECH This was Mr. Ross' twenty-first

 WCOL MARKET.

speech, in addition to half a dozen brief addresses at stations in New Ontario, but he draws near the end with an excellent voice, with increasing skill in the presentation of his case, and with an eloquence that appeals to everyone from its broadminded Canadianism. In addition to dealing with many of the provincial questions, Mr. Ross referred briefly to the more recent phase of the Bole charges, and, as had been done previously, completely punctured the house of cards that had been worked up with a skill worthy of Sherlock Holmes. Mr. W. S. Calvent, M.P., the popular Dominion member for West Middlesex, was present tonight and delivered a bright address.

A HEARTY WELCOME.

On his arrival at 3:25 this afternoon Premier Ross was met at the station by the Watford Brass Band and a crowd of several hundred persons, who cheered their popular standard-bearer as he stepped to the platform. A procession was formed, and while Mr. Ross was driven to the McKellar House by Mr. M. Tait, chairman of the local committee, a large number followed on foot.

This evening the premier was escorted to the opera house by the Watford band and a large crowd of citizens. The streets bore evidence of the popular feeling in such mottoes as "Welcome," "Middlesex Is Satisfied," and "Stand By the Prosperity Government.' The opera hall was crowded to the doors, the stage and aisles being filled, while many were turned away. The walls bore a number of mottoes, including, "Ross for New and Old Ontario," "Welcome to Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Our Standard-Bearer," and "Canada Thrives Under Liberal Rule for Thirty Years.'

The chairman was Mr. John Elliott, With him on the platform were Hon. George W. Ross, Mr. W. S. Calvert, M. P., Mr. John Watterworth, ex-M. P. P., and many ladies.

Chairman Elliott.

The chairman, in opening, expressed pride at the presence of the two distinguished representatives of West Middlesex. One of the most important offices in the Dominion has been attained by their popular members, Mr. W. S. Calvert-(cheers)-while the leg-islature of this, the first province of the land, had in its wisdom seen fit to bestow the highest office in its gift upon their brilliant and devoted representative, Hon. George W. Ross. Ontario was about to render a decision, and that decision would be that after the long line of excellent premiers, the best one she had was the one she got from West Middlesex. (Cheers.) Nocircuitous way of finding it out. Then The Mail prints it in its most glaring most ardent Conservative believed the lines on the front page, and calls you premier would be defeated. (Cheers.) to witness the terrible offense. (Laugh-He doubted if there was a constitu-ency in the Dominion that could boast ter and cheers.) Then Mr. McPherson tried to conof two representatives equaling in ability those of West Middlesex. (Hear, hear.) He thought it required nect us with the West Elgin frauds He said that a loan company in London would not agree to the transfer a good deal of cheek to go up and ask of a saloon, because the loan company for the support of Northern Ontario was interested, and did so at the dic after they had done their best to keep tation of the government, whereas] am advised today by telephone that the loan company board has passed a resolution that it had nothing to do Mr. W. S. Calvert, M.P., was greeted with the transaction. (Hear, hear.) with loud cheers and presented with So you may go up and down the whole a bouquet by Miss Jean McFarlane. He remarked that the Conservatives category of corruption charges by the Conservative party, and they will end had charged the Liberals unjustly with just as these two have ended, and as stealing their policy, but they had stol-en the Liberal cry of "time for a all their accusations have ended.
