WEEKLY COLONIST AND CHRONICLE.

AND CHRONICLE.

Tuesday, January 2 1867.

laws, their efforts will be put forth in vain and their good intentions go for naught, if they have not the cordial co-operation of the gentlemen who

Maguire, Professor Estry and the Japanese acrobats, have been on the charge of having violated the Law, in giving a Japanese acrobatic ance, at the Academy of Music, last evening.

Pacific Distillery at Black Point was ly destroyed by fire this morning. It wned by Schultz & Verman, and was es W Nye was re-elected U S Senator Nevada Legislature, receiving 32 while his competitor, C. E. Delaney, d but 25. Great enthusiasm is mani-Carson City at the result.

Nevada.

San Francisco Markets.

-The Montana, from Portland this brings the bulk of 200 barrels. still considerable inquiry for export: e, half sacks, per 196 lbs, $5 50(a) gr sks, $5 75@6 00; extra, half sks, 6 25 ; qr sks, $6 25@6 50. t-600 sks ; medium, $1 65 ; 500 sks 75; 1000 sks, $1 70 per 100 lbs. -Sales of 500 sks feed at 871/2; is quoted at 75@791/2 per 100 lbs. -Light to fair $1 20@1 35 per 100

HAVEN, Jan. 8,-The Connecticut atic Convention adopted resolutions orth that Congress has violated the ion, and has struck a fatal blow at ncial and commerical interests of the in excluding the Southern States. es a National Convention, to be held lork on the 4th of March next, to he great questions of the day, and gainst the revolutionary acts of the of Congress, and announces to con-Union men the determination to every constitutional power the dision and destruction of States. They President for repeated exercises of powers in behalf on the Constid pledge him a continuance of their

Brooks, of New York, delivered a peech in the House, in which he ongress with endeavoring to re-President and change the comf the Supreme Court. He said the not entitled to and could not be with the governing power. Simithes were made by Eaton and Sey-They claimed that Congress has not entation able enough to attempt iment. They charge the Congress with ng to subvert the Government, to itself all national power.

World says regarding the impeach-the President : Contrary to former ons, we are inclined to think the are in dead earnest, and that the will be impeached and put on trial. he will be convicted is a point on be no sumcient grounds on till the temper of the Senate is ly disclosed. imes says the impeachment, let us at rest for this session. The propohich was to accomplish such wonders presented and di-posed of, causing ent and hardly a flurry ; Its being to the Judiciary Committee stript it all its danger. Partizanship and are not permitted to precipitate the The President nent into confusion. be removed on an ex parte allegafor acts of which every predecessor, kson downward, has been equally Che Werkly British Cumingt, blacks are to be mere tools in the Going Ur-The Enterprise will leave this had not a possession that was not in common. der inte a circular mirror held by a bearded hands of unprincipled demagogues, to morning, at eight o'clock, for the capital, be thrown aside when they shall have taking up Hon. Colonial Secretary Young served the rascally purpose of and Solicitor General Wood, the members elect for the city and districts. and the true as the sun in the heavens, setting aside the written Constinominee members of the Island and main-At no period in the brief history of tution of a country professedly the land now residing in this city, together with liam Price, and the eldest of a family of seven; the British Possessions on the Pacific freest on the face of the earth. our special reporter and many others. has a legislative body been con- It is in support of this Constitution vened for the despatch of public that Mr Johnson stands forward.

THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECE-As considerable business with so weighty a trust Were he less bold in support of the on its shoulders as that which will instrument by virtue of which he at the opening of the new Legislature, we have made arrangements to have the same organize to morrow at the temporary holds his office, he would be a traitor capital of the United Colony. Too to his country and a weak and coward hope to place it before our readers on Saturmorrow will meet in one hall the ly man. Telegrams say that remonday morning.

representatives of two sections here- strances are pouring in upon Congress, tofore divided in sentiment and rivals imploring it to suspend action in Walk has, we learn, been closed, and the either of us that his jacket was out at elbows, Land Office will remain open, but Governe tles, screened each other's faults, fished, nut-

THE ROBBERY CASE.-The evidence of Delanger, the prosecutor, and of Johnson, proprietor of the Lager Beer Cellar, was taken yesterday in the Police Court, and the more and do better than himself. The forge prisoners Morgan and Kelly were again re- was not good enough, the little world of Onau-leigh not wide enough, for me. Thus it hapmanded for three days, to enable the police pened that I was still swinging the satchel member of the Council who is plans for a successful resistance to to obtain further evidence.

> VIOLENT CONDUCT .- John Grand was shaped out, we separated, as it then seemed to charged yesterday with assaulting John us, for life. For, blacksmith's son as I was. Mechaud and using threatening language. whereby the complainant was in bodily tear. The case was remanded for one week.

sacrifice of personal interests and con- is a possibility that the country will THE "NEW WORLD."-This fine steamer siderations. But strive as the elected find that in their President they have will take the place of the Josie McNear on representatives may to bring about the same sort of stuff that carried to a the Puget Sound trade, under the command Black country. retrenchment and reform, to equalize successful issue the famous coup d'etat of Captain Winsor. The latter steamer goes on the Columbia river.

PUGET SOUND SHIPPING-The bark Brontes cleared on the 15th inst.; the bark Buena Vista on the 17th, and the bark Ocean on the the 21st.

Olympia. line in this place.

THE STEAMER JOSIE MCNEAR arrived last are indebted to Captain Winsor for files of firm contracted to supply six first-class loco-Oregon papers to Saturday last.

SUITS FOR TITLE-We understand that purchasers of lots sold by Government for arrears of taxes intend taking legal proceedings to obtain their titles.

men. The Marsh and Pixley families conemplate visiting the "metropolis" for a

H. M. S. MALACCA proceeded yesterday morning to Fraser river. The Forward came round to this port.

CHAUDIERE MINES .- The Inspector for this division reports, officially on the 3rd inst, that during September, owing to the heavy rain, but little'alluvial mining was carried on. I was not a little proud, you may be sure, if it's Mai During October more mining was done then I found my appointed about 50 men were at work on lots 16, 17, 18 the transport of the engines. Being allowed a and 19 in the river Gilbert and a considerable amount of gold was taken out. Holders discontinued their mining during the latter ogether the first great holiday of our lives. month, owing to the excessive flow of water It was a wonderful change for two Birmingin the pits and shafts from the provious wet ham operatives fresh from the Black Country. weather, and perferred waiting for the com-The fairy city, with its crescent background of pletion when it is supposed that from 2000 to Alps; the port crowded with strange shipping; the marvellous blue sky and bluer sea; the 3000 miners will be at work. In the meanpainted houses on the quays; the quaint time a newly patented steam pump is about cathedral, faced with black and white marble being but in operation. The interval of the street of jewelers, like an Arabian Nights' temporary cessation has been turned to bazaar; the street of palaces, with its Moorish account by the miners erecting log houses courtiyards, its fountains and orange-trees; over the shafts. Portions of the DeLery the women veiled like brides : the galley-slaves company's crushing machine have arrived, chained two and two: the processions of priests and friars; the everlasting clangor of bells; the babble of a strange tongue, the sintion. Out of the Seigniory of Rigaud Vaugular lightness and br ghtness of the climate_ dreuil, nothing beyond prospecting for quartz made, altogether such a combination of wonders that we wandered about, the first day, in a kind of bewildered dream, like children at a We shall be glad to know by their flexible voice, and bearing with her high that the whole of the mail above referred to fair. Before that week was ended, being was expected to be up last week ; that the tempted by the beauty of the place and the liberality of the pay, we had agreed to take ears will listen with equal pleasure to the roads good - Quebec Mercury. service with the Turin and Genoa Railway some you both are !' Company, and to turn our backs upon Birming-THE WHITE HOUSE .- Last year the gas nam forever. for the President's house and the Capitol Then began a new life-a life so active and ealthy, so steeped in fresh air and sunshine, cost $98,000. The fuel for the President's house cost $12,000 ; painting of it $8,000 ; that we sometimes marvelled how we could have endured the gloom of the Black Country. the repairing of the conservatory $10,000; We were constantly up and down the lineand the refurnishing of the house $66,000now at Genoa, now at Turin, taking trial trips with the locomotives, and placing our old exive idea of the size and appointments of the periences at the service of our new employers. establishment for which so many candidates In the meantime we made Genoa our headare in training. quarters, and hired a couple of rooms over a small shop in a by street sloping down to the A SECRET WORTH KNOWING .- An able quays. Such a busy little street-so steep writer gives utterance to the following valuwinding that no vehicles could pass and throuh it, and so narrow that the sky looke is one that commands the sympathy interest. The brig Ann, in tow of the ment don't pay. For what I know of it, I like a mere strip of deep-blue ribbon overhead of all unprejudiced persons. At the steamer Isabel, arrived on Thursday. The or bottle up moonshine for cloudy nights. the goods encroached on the footway, or were would as soon chase butterflies for a living, Every house in it, however, was a shop, where piled about the door, or hung like tapestry dawn to dusk, an incessant stream of passers by poured up and down between the port and Mat and myself that it seemed as if an open

We would have stood by each other, fearlessly, man in the background. In this man, as I to the death. It was such a friendship as one then understood, the artist had painted his reads about sometimes in books-fast and firm own portrait-in her, the portrait of the as the great Tors upon our native moorlands, woman he loved! 'No picture that I ever saw was half so beautiful, and yet it was not The name of our village was Chadleigh. worthy to be named in the same breath with

Mat was the son of a small farmer, named Wil-Gianetta Coneglia. You may be certain the widow's shop did I was the only child of Ephraim Hardy, the not want for customers. All Genoa knew how Chadleigh blacksmith-a well-known man in fair a face was to be seen behind that dingy those parts; whose memory is not forgotten to little counter; and Gianetta, flirt as she was, interest will be felt in the vice-regal speech this day. Just so far as a farmer is supposed had more lovers than she cared to remember to be bigger than a blacksmith, Mat's father even by name. Gentle and simple, rich and might be said to have a better standing than poor, from the redcapped sailor buying his mine ; but William Price, with his small holdearrings or his amulet, to the nobleman caretelegraphed to this office in detail, and ing and his seven boys, was, in fact, as poor as lessly purchasing half the filagrees in the winmany a day-laborer; whilst the blacksmith, dow, she treated them all alike-encouraged well-to-do, bustling, popular, and openthem, laughed at them, led them on and turned handed, was a person of some importance in them off at her pleasure. She had no more CLOSED.—The 'big' building on Bird Cage the place. All this, however, nad nothing to neart that a most to be by and by, to our bitter cost. the place. All this, however, had nothing to heart than a marble statue, as Mat and 1 dis-

I cannot tell to this day how it came about. officials, with the Government archives, will or that our mutual funds came altogether from or what first led me to suspect how things sail to day for their temporary abiding place my pocket. It was enough for us that we sat were going with us both; but long before the at New Westminster. The Treasury and on the same school-bench, conned our tasks waning of that autumn a coldness had sprung from the same primer, fought each other's bat-up between my friend and myself. It was nothing that could have been put into words. ment bills will be paid at New Westminster. ted, played truant, robbed orchards and birds' It was nothing that either of us could have exnests together, and spent every half-hour, authorized or stolen, in each other's society. plained or justified, to save his life. We lodged together, ate together, worked together, It was a happy time; but it could not go on exactly as before ; we even took our long even ing's walk together, when the day's labor was ended; and except, perhaps, that we were more silent than of old, no mere looker-on when Mat was whistling at the plough, and that at last, when my future course was gentle-hearted to have willingly brought about furnace and forge, in some form or other, mine. It was all hers-hers from first to last pleased me best, and I chose to be a working engineer. So my father by and by apprenticed me to a Birmingham iron-master; and, having bidden farewell to Mat and Chadleigh, and the gray old Tors in the shadow of which I had spent all the days of my life, I turned my face northward, and went over into 'the

I am not going to dwell on this part of my one sou for either. She never meant to choose story. How I worked out the term of my ap, between us. It gratified her vanity to divide prenticeship ; how, when I had served my full us ; it amused her to play with us. It would time and become a skilled workman, I took pass my power to tell how, by a thousand Mat from the plough and brought him over to imperceptible shades of coquetry-by the linthe Black country, sharing with him lodging, gering of a glance, the substitution of a word, 21st for San Francisco. The brig Crimea wages, experience—all, in short, that I had the fitting of a smile—she contrived to turn to give; how he, naturally quick to learn and our heads, and torture our hearts, and lead entered on the 18th, and the ship Dublin on brimful of quiet energy, worked his way up a us on to love her. She deceived us both, step at a time, and came by and by to be a She buoyed us both up with hope; she mady first hand' in his own department; how, dur- dened us with jealousy; she crushed us with DEAD-Mr Waterman, late Indian Agent ing all these years of change, and trial, and dsspair. For my part, when I seemed to wake of Washington Territory, died on board the effort, the old boyish affection never wavered to a sudden sense of the ruin that was about steamer Josie McNear, on Friday last, while or weakened, but went on, growing with our our path, and I saw how the truest friendship growth and strengthening with our strength- that ever bound two lives together was driftgoing from one of the ports on the Sound to are facts which I need do no more than outs ing on to wreck and ruin, I asked myself About this time—it will be remembered that what Mat had been to me and I to him. But I speak of the days when Mat and I were on this was not often. I was readier to shut my evening from ports on Puget Sound. We the bright side of thirty-it happened that our eyes upon the truth than to face it; and so motives to run on the new line, then in pro-

Italy, The connection, therefore, was new and could have detected a shadow of change. Yet there it was, silent and subtle, widening the gulf between us every day. It was not his fault. He was too true and such a state of things between us. Neither do I believe-fiery as my nature is-that it was -the sin, and the shame, and the sorrow If she had shown a fair and open preference for either of us, no real harm could have come of it. I would have put any constraint upon myself, and, Heaven knows! have borne any suffering, to see Mat really happy. I know that he would have done the same, and more lived on, wilfully, in a dream. Thus the autumn passed away, and winter cess of construction, between Turin and came-the strange, treacherous Genoese win-

3

Genoa. It was the first Italian order we had ter, green with olive and ilex, brilliant with taken. We had had dealings with France, sunshine, and bitter with storm. Still, rivals Holland, Belgium, Germany; but never with at heart and friends on the surface, Mat and I lingered on in our lodging in the Vicolo Balba: valuable- all the more valuable because our Still Gianetta held us with her fatal wiles and Transalpine neighbors had but lately begun to her still more fatal beauty. At length there lay down the iron roads, and would be safe to came a day when I felt I could bear the horneed more of our good English work as they rible misery and suspicion of it no longer. went on. So the Birmingham firm set them The sun, I vowed, should not go down before I selves to the contract with a will, lengthened knew my sentence. She must choose between our working hours, increased our wages, took us. She must either take me or let me go. 1 on fresh hands, and determined, if energy and was reckless. I was desperate. I was deters promptitude could do it, to place themselves mined to know the worst, or the best. If the at the head of the Italian labor market and worst, I would at once turn my back upon stay there. They deserved and achieved suc- Genoa, upon her, upon all the pursuits and cess. The six locomotives were not only purposes of my past life, and begin the world turned out to time, but were shipped, de- anew. This I told her, passionately and spatched, and delivered with a promptitude sternly, standing before her in the little parlor that fairly amazed our Piedmontese consignee. at the back of the shop, one bleak December perience of British Colonies. We need is howling about him, and while but allude to the responsibility that others tremble with fear as to the reattaches to the body. We believe sult, sits firm and undaunted in the that there is scarcely an elected White House, quietly perfecting his not impressed with a sense of the schemes of the most unprincipled

the deep importance of the trust pack of demagogues who have yet that he holds, or who is not pos- cursed the national Capital with their sessed of a determination to do his presence. This body may succeed in duty by the whole Colony at the overturning the Government; but there will represent in the Council the Ex-Council met at 7:20 p. m.; Present, His ecutive. All power is centered in the Worship the Mayor, and a full board. Government. Without the co-oper-A communication from Mr Seeley of the Australian House complaining of nuisances ation of the official members nothing deposited by the Chain Gang near his premcan be done towards improving the ises, was referred to the street committee. country. So long as the representa-A communication was received from the tion continues as at present, the re-forming the Fire Wardens of the result of Secretary of the Tiger Engine Company, inpresentatives of the people will be the last election of officers. powerless against the votes of Gova

MONDAY, January 21st.

A communication from the Hon. A. N. Birch to the Mayor, deferring an official reply ernment members, unless the latter are to the application for a temporary loan of suffered to express their free and un- $1000, until His Excellency could confer trammelled opinion upon every public with the Council and learn its position, was read and filed.

question. The all-absorbing question The committee of Fire Wardens appointed put by citizens to each other is, will to confer with the agents of the Fire Insurthe Governor allow a free expression ance Companys on the subject of affording pecuniary aid to the Fire Department, reof opinion by his officers? Should he do so, we feel satisfied that justice and the Agents had withdrawn from the proposition they were considered to have made brief professional stay. will be done to the Island that has to contribute $1500 and suggested a public sub sacrificed so much for Union; that good and wholesome laws will be passed; and that the demands of the people will receive a respectful atten-tion, if not a ready acquiescence. Engineer of the Fire Department of the re-sult of the interview with the Agents of the Insurance Companies, and the Governor's

Governor Seymour has promised that answer to the Council's application, adding he will endeavor to rule in accordance that the Council would do its utmost to pro-

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE. Municipal Council.

in every interest save that conferred the matter of impeachment; but that by a common nationality and tongue, body, wilfully blind to the conseprepared to legislate for the common quences, is pushing forward the ingood of a people who have passed quiry, and boasts that already it through a senson of adversity and de- has evidence sufficient to unseat the pression almost unparalelled in the ex- President, who, amid the storm that lerald reasons as follows : There is ability that charges of high crimes emeanors against Johnson sufficient his removal can be established im. What advantage can accrue ess or the Republidan party from position ? We apprehend that withpensatory good results the conseof this procedure, if pursued to triale Serate, will be mischievous if not is to Congress, the Republican par-reasury, and the financial interests antry, from the violent clashing and of parties, factious and sections inevitably attend a prosecution of achment, or the atttempt to suspend autive from his functions with his ent as a prisoner.

, of Ohio, went before the Judiciary e to-day in regard to the changes in his impeachment resolution. mittee have decided to proceed investigation in regular order, and nber is sworn to secresy. The first ch will probably be inquired into he conduct of the President in using ice with the Governors of the rebel defeat the Constitutional Admendy imes Washington special says that Frant in conversation to-day in rehis approval of the President's we-District Suffrage Bill, said he was y invitation, and took no part in the When all were through the Presidy his views on the subject. He riefly that the objection urged by ber that the bill was unconstitution. e it disfranchised rebels without in his opinion, the best part of the th reference to conferring suffrage lored people of the District, he aght it inconsistent on the part of dicals to force this right while they grant it to the same class in their The arrangements and princiin the message, he expressed no pon whatever. nnsylvania Legislature has appoint-

Committee to examine into charges various times, of improper la-d corruption, used to secure the f various persons to the United and by what right or in we

(Continued on Page 7.)

cure the assistance with the well understood wishes of dium of the Municipal By-law. the people. The representatives of the people are now prepared to state what those wishes are, and to put that promise to the test. The Council then went into committee of the whole on the by-law for raising a Muni-

They are prepared to meet His Excel- cipal Revenue, which was finally passed and lency half-way upon every measure adopted, and the Council adjourned until of public utility that may be introduced. All they ask is, that the oft CONCERT TO-NIGHT-Mr George F. Wilrepeated pledges of Governor Sey- son has succeeded in 'placing before his mour shall be fulfilled. We have said musical friends and patrons a highly attraccourse in the Council that that feeling certificates of merit, will delight the lovers of is shared by the official members.

The Impeachment.

tinue to wear a most threatening and at the piano) will be the strongest and most alarming aspect, and it requires no who possess a soul for music and desire to President be pushed to the wall by For the convenience of the public, the box, his enemies, he will use the military and naval forces at his command to FROM NANAIMO-By the schr Black Diapunish them as they deserve. The mond we have the Nanaimo Tribune of lege of citizenship. In all his official the wayfarers to the classic region of Mcacts he has leaned to the side of mercy and moderation, while Congress has LICENSED VICTUALLERS .- At the meeting. attempted to override every considera-tion of justice and humanity in its treatment of the South Saiting upon R. Thomas and J. G. McKay were appointed that we believe nearly every elective tive programme, and we hope that his efforts and the remainder being expected shortly, representative is impressed with a will meet with a liberal response. The tastes the mill will be adjusted and put into operadeep sense of the responsibility that of all are well studied. Madame d'Ormy, a had been done. From private information rests upon him in the present crisis finished artiste, possessing a powerful and since received from the Inspector, it appears operatic music, while those of less cultivated weather was splendid for mining and the more simple and unpretending warblings of amateurs. The beneficiary himself will ex-Politics in the United States con- and the orchestra (Mr D. Palmer presiding soothsayer to predict that, should the pass an agreeable evening not fail to attend. all of which is calculated to give an impressoffice will be open to-day from 12 to 3.

position in which Mr Johnson stands Saturday, but it contains no local news of able secret: This looking forward to enjoyof all unprejudiced persons. At the risk of losing his popularity, he has return to tow the brig down. The antiquated drops of happiness as God gives them to us opposed the efforts of the Radi-cal Congress to denationalize their Southern fellow-countrymen, and endow uneducated blacks with the privi- utility to the carriers of the limpid fluid, or miss his enjoyment when he gains what he

> [From Dickens' Christmas Story entitled "Mugby Junction."

The Engineer's Story.

Our landlady was the widow of a silverworker, and lived by the sale of filigree orna-ments, cheap jewelry, combs, fans, and toys in ivory and jet. She had an only daughter, named Gianetta, who served in the shop, and was simply the most beautiful woman I ever was simply the moss beautiful notion to the index weary ning between us day by day, another month chasm of years, and bringing her image be-fore me (as I can and do) with all the vivid- and, with February, the Carnival. They said tion of justice and humanity in its treatment of the South. Seizing upon the uneducated blacks, Congress has attempted to convert them into a powerful political weapon, with which to overthrow its opponents and per-petuate the rule of its party. The best of its party its of

'tell me so 'in one word, and I will never couple of assistants, I contrived that Mat trouble you again. He is better worth your should be one of them; and thus we enjoyed love. I am jealous and exacting; he is as trusting and and unselfish as a woman. Speak, Gianetta; am I to bid you good bye for ever and ever, or am I to write home to my mother in England, bidding her pray to God to bless the woman who has promised to be my wife ?'

' You plead your friend's cause well,' she rea plied, haughtily. 'Matteo ought to be grate. tul. This is more than he ever did for you.' 'Give me my answer, for pity's sake,' I exlaimed, 'and let me go !'

'You are free to go or stay, Signor Inglese,' ne replied. 'I am not your jailor.' 'Do you bid me leave you ?'

Beata Madre ! not T

Will you marry me if I stay ?'

She laughed aloud -such a merry, mocking, nusical laugh, like a chime of silver bells!

You ask too much.' she said. Only what you have led me to hope these five or six months past !' 'That is just what Matteo says. How tire-

Gianetta,' I said, passionately, 'be serious for one moment | I am a rough fellow, it is true-not half good enough for you; but I love you with my whole heart, and an Emt peror could do no more." "I am glad of it, " she replied ; 'I do not want you to love me less." 'Then you cannot wish to make me wretcha

ed! Will you promise me ?'

"I promise nothing,' said she, with another burst of laughter, 'except that I will not marry Matteo

Except that she would not marry Matteol Only. that. Not a word of hope for myself. Nothing but my friend's condemnation, 1 might get comfort, and selfish triumph, and some sort of base assurance out of that, if I could. And so, to my shame, I did. 1 grasped at the vain encouragement, and, fool that I was ! let her put me off again unanswered. From that day, I from the balconies; and all day long, from gave up all effort at self-control, and let mys self drift blindly on-to destruction;

rupture must be at hand. We avoided each other, scarcely exchanged a dozen sentences in a day, and fell sway from old familiar habits. At this time-l shudder to remember it !-- there were moments when I felt that I hated him. Thus, with the trouble deepening and wide-