ford station to meet about 50 women coming to Mr. Wilson's for a pic-nic. They came from London. Some went in the carriages, and some walked, and I shewed them the shortest way through the fields They did not have their dinner till 4 o'clock. I helped at the dinner. After they had their dinner, Mr. Wilson made a speech to them. At 6 o'clock, the band played, and some of the -old women got up and danced. They all seemed very pleased to get into the country. I went part of the way to shew them the way to the Station.

Aug 14th -In the morning I did some sums which Mr. Wilson gave me to do. After dinner I went to Rainham by walking, and Mr. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson, Miss Wilson, and Winnie all drove in the carriage. It was about six miles. We got on a train for about 10 minutes ride to a place callen Purfleet. We got off the train, and went to vards he River, and we saw a ship where the boys are taught to be sailors. And there was a gentleman standing at a gate. Mr. Wilson asked him if visitors might go in the Ship and see it, and he said yes. He called some of the boys to come to the shore with a boat, and immediately seven or eight boys came to fetch us. of the officers took us around to see it, and also to the very bottom of the Ship where it is very dark, and he took two lanterns. We then came up and saw the Captain's daughter. She took us into their rooms; they had a tame pigeon and a dog. They asked us if we would like to have each a cup of tea, and we were very glad to have it, and the Captain's wife gave me a little book called "Little Dot." When John.

we came back to the shore, Mr. Wilson got an order for to go in a place called "the Wilderness." It was hilly, and we saw a place where Queen Elizabeth sat when she said "my poor fleet!" and so the place is called Purfleet.

Aug. 25th.—Mr. Wilson came to the Office and he said to me Mr. Talfourd wanted to see me before I go home, who has been once Indian Agent at Sarnia. I started at 4.30 to the Waterloo station, only about quarter of an hour's ride on the train and I found his house by enquiring. He was not at home. They said he shall be home in half an hour, so I waited till he came, and he was very pleased to see me. We had a nice conversa-He said he knew good many of the Indians in Walpole Island, and he gave me his likeness and his wife also, to shew them to the Indians. He also gave me half a crown for going to see him.

Aug. 26th.—We started on a train to Liverpool at 12 o'clock. We reached Liverpool a little after five. Mrs. Wilson went to her brother's house and I went to the hotel at Lord Nelson Street. This is the end of my visit to England.
