The subscriptions at Liverpool, for the relatives of those unfortunate persons who were on board the President, do not appear to flow in very rapidly.

Moore, the Chartist preacher, died a short time back in Tewkesbury work house. Previous to his death he feelingly repented his having joined the Chartist Association, having awfully prostituted the word of God by getting people together on the Sabbath, and preaching sermons three parts politics and the rest a little better than scepticism.

On Tuesday, the Collingwood, an eighty-gun ship, built on the modern plan, with only two decks, and each of her guns being thirty-two pounders, was launched at Pembroke.

A distance of 57 miles has been travelled on the common road, in a Bath chair, by electro-magnetic power, in one hour and a half.

Abridged from the Kingston Chronicle, Sept. 25.

FUNERAL OF LORD SYDENHAM.

The rites of sepulture were yesterday performed over the remains of the late Governor General. Upon this melancholy occasion, crowds of persons flocked into Kingston from the neighbouring country, and with the town population lined the road in dense masses from Alwington House to St. George's Church, the numbers collected amounting, at a low calculation, to between six and seven thousand.

At eleven o'clock, the procession left Alwington House in the following order:—

- The Chief Justice.
The Members of the Executive Council, and Speaker of the Legislative Council.
THE BODY, upon a frame erected on a gun carriage drawn by six horses, with Artillery Drivers.
The Administrator of Government and Mr. Baring.
The Staff of the late Governor General.
The Medical Gentlemen who attended the late Governor General.
Members of the Legislative Council.
The Judges—Fyke, Hargreaves, and McLean.
Members of the House of Assembly.
The General commanding the District, and Staff.
The Mayor of Kingston and Common Council.
Officers of the Army.
The Clergy.
The Mayor and Sheriff of Toronto.
Officers of the Militia.
The Mechanics' Institution.
Deputations from other Societies.
Gentlemen.
Inhabitants of Kingston, &c. &c. &c.

The procession, on entering the town, was headed by the band of the 14th Regt., who added much to the solemnity of the occasion, by performing Handel's sublime requiem.

The Bells of the different churches tolled from an early hour in the morning, and minute guns were fired by the Royal Artillery stationed on the common until after the interment.

The Gallery of St. George's Church having been reserved for the ladies, was filled at an early hour; the body of the Church was left for those forming the procession.

The Funeral Service of the Church of England, at all times sublime, this melancholy occasion rendered peculiarly solemn, eliciting the strongest emotions from all present, was read by the Archdeacon assisted by the Rev. R. D. Cartwright and the Rev. W. A. Adamson, Chaplain to the Legislative Council, and Domestic Chaplain to His late Excellency the Governor General.

The military, composed of the Royal Artillery, Magrath's troop of Dragoons, the Dragoon Guards, the 14th and 43rd Regiments of Infantry, in chain order lined the road from the Common to St. George's Church. On the approach of the corpse each soldier rested on his arms reversed, presenting an effect worthy of the occasion.

the day, and every countenance wore an expression of sadness—and although thousands came to pay their last tribute to the illustrious dead, all passed off without accident, and in the most perfect order.

THE TOMB.

The vault is built under the floor of the middle aisle, not far from the altar, and near the pulpit and reading-desk. The body was inclosed in three coffins—the inner one of walnut, the next of lead, and the outer one of mahogany, covered with black silk-velvet. There was no ornament upon the coffin, except a silver plate with the inscription, surmounted by the coronet of the deceased.—Montreal Gazette.

Friday, Sep. 21, immediately after the funeral, His Excellency Lieut. Gen. Poetry.

THE WEeping WILLOW.

From the Wesleyan Methodist Magazine.

I gaze upon thy drooping boughs, When sunset rays are beaming, And the woodland fount beneath thy shade In golden light is gleaming; For pensive thoughts are waked by thee, And the heart in sorrow strung Can trace a silent sympathy, A sadness round thee hung. Perhaps 'tis fancy links thee thus With brooding thoughts of sadness, For sure thy weathing sprays might win The sorrowful to gladness; But waving oft where sleep the loved, The beautiful, the gay,— Oh, memories fond are stirr'd by thee, That long had pass'd away! Meet emblem of affection true, In sorrow bending low, Where darkly rest departed ones, Escaped from earthly woe; Thy weeping boughs the tomb o'er shade, As mourning for the dead, Their pale leaves spreading as a pall Across the greenward bed. Then dear to me thy silvery sprays, Since hallow'd thoughts are shrouded Within their pensile foliage, Of gentle forms and kind. Oh! be there ever round thee cast Such spell as this, to move The heart, whence kindred ones have fled, To seek its home above. ADELINE.

POSTSCRIPT.

By the late English mail, a letter has been received from the Rev. M. Richey, A. M., giving full information of the decisions of the Conference on Canadian affairs. The proceedings of the Committee, appointed last year, with full powers, are approved; and the general principles which it then laid down are fully sanctioned. The Dissolution of the Union is expressly confirmed, while "a tedious and useless controversy" is declined. The events of the past year are adverted to in strong and appropriate terms, as fully justifying the position of the Conference. The members and adherents of the societies, in Western Canada, in connexion with the British Conference, need feel no uneasiness whatever: the idle rumours, which had been industriously circulated District by the British Conference, are now proved to be wholly unfounded. Genuine Wesleyan Methodism, the Methodism of the venerable Parent Connexion and of the British empire, the Methodism planted and watered by the hand of WESLEY himself, imbued with his spirit, and established and extended in conformity with his well-known principles, has taken deep root in Canadian soil, and will flourish and spread, under the blessing and protection of its Divine and gracious Author.

We beg to apologize for the non-insertion of the notice of Mr. J. F. Elliott's death, in our first number. It was, so far as we can recollect, either entirely an oversight or occasioned by the hope of speedily receiving "further particulars." The notice will be found in this day's paper, and we hope to be able to insert a fuller account of Mr. Elliott soon.
