

artists that will interpret and create our new cultural expression. Their artistic expression will have multiplied by the use of these new technological forms but access to these technologies will in part be determined by the commercial interests of corporate enterprise.