

The Celebrated Marseillaise Hymn.

French Revolutionary Hymn, formerly forbidden, but recently adopted by the Emperor as the National War Song.

Arranged for one or four voices by DR. HOLLOWAY.

Composed by ROUGET DE LISLE.

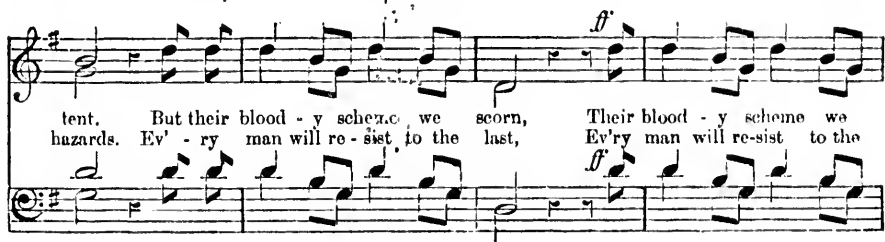

Alla Marcia.

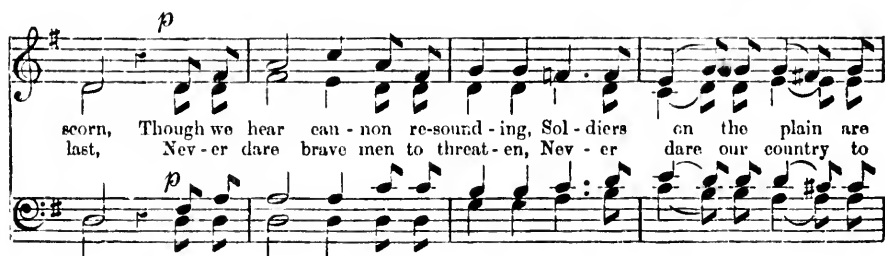

A - rise! A - rise! ye faith - ful sons of France, At last the glo - rious dread - ful Oh, trem - ble, ty - rant and op - pres - sors, Oh, trea - ble all in - va - ders dawn; Foes are marching o'er our fair land, They ap - proach with dire in - now; Swords are leap - ing in their scab - bards, Frenchmen now will count no tent. But their blood - y scheme we scorn, Their blood - y scheme we hazards. Ev' - ry man will re - sist to the last, Ev'ry man will re - sist to the scorn, Though we hear can - non re - sound - ing, Sol - diers on the plain are last, Nev - er dare brave men to threat - en, Nev - er dare our country to set, They come, they come with dire in - tent, To des - troy our homes and take our seize, Nor come, nor come with dire in - tent, To des - troy, &c.
