COMMISSION.

Many Cars Already Have Been Sold But Storm Has Delayed Several Shipments.

Fully 3000 motor car lovers attended the show in the armories last night. Even more interesting features than on the opening night were displayed. Realizing the attention that would be attracted by simple demonstrations of engines in motion, a number of exhibitors put motors in operation on cut-out chassis. Over 50 horsepower of electricity was utilized in these mechanically operated exhibits. Much interest was evinced among spectators.
It is estimated that fully 50 cars have been sold already, realizing about $100,-The Symphony Orchestra furnishes grand opera selections in the afternoon, the public attention has been fixed very largely on the meaning and effect of the ne temere decree, this is by no other camps, and it was for this genemeans the most important point dealt with by Mr. Justice Charbonneau in his judgment on the Hebert marriage nullity suit. That the ne temere de-nullity suit. That the ne temere decree had no force against the civil law has been generally admitted, even by Roman Catholic authorities. But the really material question, decided not expressly, but by implication from Justice Charbonneau's decision, is that the provisions in the Quebec statutes, embodying the rules of the Roman Catholic church, are of no effect against the common law of England, the supremeright of the crown to regulate marriage.

Triumph for Civil Law,

Notwithstanding the Roman requirement, repeated and re-enforced in the ne temere decree, Justice Charbonneau has upheld the validity of a marriage between two members of the Roman church celebrated by a Protestant minister under authority of a crown itcense. The civil law is therefore recognized as supreme.
