PRESIDENT SAYS CASHIER TEMPTED HIM TO HIS DOOM

Never Intended to Steal, But Yielded to Suggestion and Couldn't Recover.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—A cable despatch from Tangier says: Paul Stensland's confession, made to Assistant States Attorney Olsen, cleared up much of the mystery surrounding the events leading up to the crash which involved the ruin of the Milwaukee-avenue Bank. He took much of the blame upon himself, but declared that Hering got most of the money. He denied that he had ever spent any money on women, and declared that he never spent more than $2000 a year on himself. All the money he stole he put into real estate or investments in the hope of "making good."

Stensland said he was glad he was no longer a wanderer on the face of the earth.

"I did not know it would be so hard to be a fugitive," he said. Stensland made no attempt to deny his guilt, and only tried to minimize it. He said: "I cannot understand how the shortage can be $2,000,000. To my certain knowledge, my liability to the bank does not exceed $600,000. Anything over that must have been stolen by Hering.

Dr. Hering Across the Trail. "My indebtedness began a long while ago. In 1896 it was a small affair, a small amount, and I never intended to steal. I was in a tight hole, and needed money. I put my own note, genuine, not a forgery, in the box. Then it was suggested to me that the bank examiner would stand for it, and he did."

"Who suggested it?" "Hering. It was the beginning. He pointed out, in a roundabout way, at first, that it was easy to obtain money that way. Then when my own notes became too numerous, he suggested forgeries. Ever afterwards I was in his power. He owned me, body and soul."

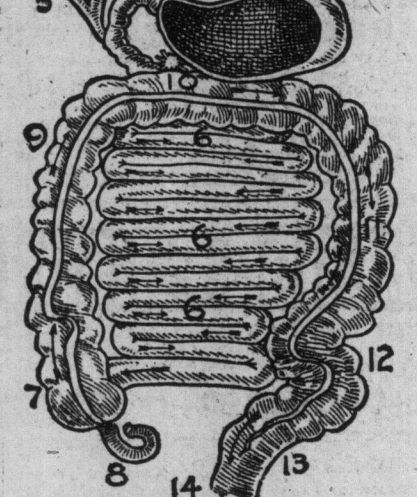

"How many of the forgeries did you do yourself?" "Hering. I think, did all."

"Not one," Hering denies. Cashier Henry W. Hering of the Milwaukee-avenue State Bank denied to day Stensland's charges, called from Tangier, that Hering was the author of the ruin of the bank. He declared that Stensland led him into the trouble.

Assistant States Attorney Barbour, today took steps to request the United States Government for a warrant, in which to bring Stensland back. Mr. Barbour urged the seeming peril of bringing Stensland across foreign countries, where he might suddenly bail.

To Ottawa Fair. From Sept. 7 to 15 rate of $7.35 round trip, and on Sept. 11, 12 and 14 $5.50. All tickets valid returning until Sept. 17. Secure tickets at Grand Trunk city office, northwest corner King and Yonge-streets.

Your Thirty Feet of Bowels

Is simply Weakness, or Laziness of the Bowel-Muscles. Want of Exercise, Indoor Employment, weakens these Bowel-Muscles, just as it weakens Arm and Leg Muscles. Castor Oil, or Glycerine, will grease the passages for one load of Food at a time, but these lubricants can't help the Cause of Delay.

"Physic" like Salts, Calomel, Jalap, Phosphate of Soda, Mineral Waters, simply flush-out the Bowels for the one occasion only.

They do not remove the Cause of Constipation. Moreover, they waste so much of the precious Digestive Fluids, in the flushing process, that it takes a longer time every succeeding time to move the Bowel load.

But it is different with Cascarets. Cascarets act on the Muscles of the Bowels and Intestines. They act just as Cold Water, or Exercise act on a Lazy man.

They act like exercise. A Cascaret produces the same sort of Natural result that a Six Mile walk in the country would produce.

The Vest Pocket Box is sold by all Druggists, at Ten Cents. It should be carried constantly, because a Cascaret should be eaten when you first suspect you need one.

Be very careful to get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Co., and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

A sample and the famous booklet "Curse of Constipation" Free for the asking. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

MODEL TOBACCO FARM.

A New Feature at This Year's National Exhibition.

A pleasing innovation at the National Exhibition in Toronto this year is the Model Tobacco Farm. It is on a large enough scale to give an accurate idea of the methods whereby the grower of tobacco can get the best value out of his crop.

The tobacco is first shown in full growth, planted in rows at certain intervals. Next the harvesting of the crop is shown. The process of drying is also demonstrated, the tobacco being hung from hooks in the roof of a dry-house. The next stage is the curing of the tobacco, and from this the spectator passes on to the packing of the seasoned crop.

The study and improvement of tobacco growing and curing is of vital interest to the Ontario farmer, for it is in this province that the best results in tobacco culture have been achieved. The counties of Essex and Kent have become famous for the excellence of their tobacco leaf, and it is stated that farmers there are raising crops which bring in from five to ten thousand dollars annually.

The general public is also interested in knowing something about the nature of the tobacco which they smoke or chew, and the different processes to which it is subjected. In quality and quantity, tobacco culture has during the last few years, made great strides in the Province of Ontario. Progress in this direction has been so remarkable as in any other line of Canada's agricultural and industrial development.

To patriotic Canadians it is worthy of note that the manufacturers of "Pay Roll" plug chewing tobacco are large users of Canadian leaf. It is in the educational campaign carried on by this firm. They are the exhibitors of the Model Tobacco Farm. This is in itself, an excellent idea, and is not only an object lesson to the farmer, but also an illustration of the value of the "Pay Roll" plug chewing tobacco so popular.

VIGOROUS AT 81. Squire Nott of Port Perry feels Only Half His Age.

Squire Nott of Port Perry was in the city yesterday and called on The World. He is the most vigorous man of 81 The World ever saw. He looks, moves and talks like a man of 40, and a mighty brisk man at that. He glories in the fact that he is the oldest ex. an. ex. am. of a justice of the peace appointed by a Liberal government, and released by Premier Whitney. His release, The World is informed by the squire, was due rather to the fact that the reorganization of the Ontario County magistrates was a movement that he had incurred the animosity of the stalwarts of the party. The World understands that there is a movement on foot to make Squire Nott the honorary magistrate of all justices of the peace in Ontario, and The World hopes the rumor is founded on fact, for Squire Nott is a merry gentleman.

Our Friend From Cannington Interviews a Merchant Prince

Mr. Philip Jamieson is always glad to meet a newspaper man. Meeting him, you think he is always glad to meet anyone. You would like to spend an evening with him and know you would enjoy yourself. You enjoy yourself even in a few minutes' conversation.

But it surprises you rather when he tells you he is Scotch and German. The accent of the voice seems to belong to that nationality. About the race, except that it is fair, there is a foreign cast. The head is bullet-like, very broad at the top, on a line with the cheek-bones. The ears lie so close you scarcely notice them. The mouth purses rather toward the nose, which droops to meet it. And a red mustache, twisted up at the ends in a cavalier manner, hides an upper lip that looks like the good things of life. The bulging blue eyes also accentuate the same meaning.

If Philip Jamieson had lived in mediaeval times you could imagine a roving, ripling soldier, who would just as soon sack a city as a sword thru you for the fun of it as kiss a woman. He would have drunk the best wine and bluffed life till it hadn't a leg to stand on. But he has none of these things. He would have none himself. He would have bawled a chanson to the merriest dare-devil that ever laughed in the face of Paris.

He would have loved many and regretted none. Yet when some master of fence had at last run a sword thru him they would remember him long as the gallant, debonair comrade of much heart and principle beneath a reckless exterior. He would drift back to them sometimes in the reminiscence of camp fires, and like the sparks, his name would be remembered as a flash of a song. And that would have been memory and tombstone for Philip Jamieson.

He would have craved no more. He would always have been a materialist, not sensitive, but with the strong appetite to catch the reddest gleams of emotional life. Above all else, the joy of having, the joy of being, would have appealed to him. Tuned to that key, his life would have run like the call on a bugle of much variety, but strong, masculine and fundamentally essential.

It is because of his joy of having, his materialistic instinct, that Philip Jamieson has adapted himself so successfully to this age—that he is a merchant prince owning the best corner on Yonge-street, and pays more taxes than any other single man in Toronto. This is the age when what men want most is wealth, commercial success; consequently Philip Jamieson wanted it and has it. Indeed, it is almost impossible to conceive him not having anything he did want. He would get it some good way, and his shingle is always out to a friend. You would judge that his life is a free one. At any rate there would be no kid-gloves or afterthought to his giving. And he would never do it as a duty, but because his heart was touched, and that is the truer charity. With him it is not, who you are, but whether he likes you, and it is quite possible for him to like a hobo, or a rake. He might even have a special leaning toward them, because they were good fellows and couldn't save a dollar in the world. The dollar would be forthcoming from Philip Jamieson, and others after it. And he wears several diamond rings on one hand the world would never know it—which is true charity again.

Planted in his red-bloodedness, he has some fine instincts, too. He likes Bobb Burns, and he likes Scott. A picture of Burns—with other old prints, which give the place a Bohemian den-like tone—hangs in his office, and he knows the man's history all thru. He also knows that of Sandy McLaughlin, another Scotch poet, not so well-known as he should be, and he has some poems of his, of which he promised me to reproduce—not the one written to himself. That, however, might be best of all, for Philip Jamieson is not a bad subject for poetry any more than he is for life.

Like most rich men, he believes in honesty, but, unlike them, you think he knows what it is. But he prefers a huge lot of much variety, but rather than seek them. It is his philosophy of life that the present is not bad. Leaving him in that snug little nest, right in the heart of the great store, yet where, with its half-eastern luxury, you feel you could write no end of Bohemianism. I find that old vases somehow sinister in my brain.

Old books to read. Old vases to drink. Old hopes that plead. Old thoughts to think. Billie Glynn.

CONCERNING THE BEAUTIFUL

The Aim of the Toronto Exhibition is a Very High One.

The appreciation of beautiful things is one of the strongest of human passions. Too often, however, beauty is sought in wrong directions. It is the duty of the artist whose taste is high to set before the people examples of true art, and thus to develop the public appreciation until it approximates to the truly artistic. That this has been the aim of the Toronto Exhibition no one can deny. The procuring of pictures by great painters, and the importation of high-class bands from England are examples. Moreover, this spirit seems to have extended in great measure to some of the exhibitors. For instance, the firm of the J. H. Eaton Co. are showing in the manufacturers' building, a model home, which is especially noteworthy.

A bedroom, a drawing-room, a dining-room, a hall and a kitchen. Naturally, the drawing-room attracts the most attention. It is decorated in the Marie Antoinette design, with rose pink as the color scheme, and the furnishings are magnificent. The piano of honor naturally goes to the beautiful Marie Antoinette Goulay piano, which stands in the corner. The instrument was built in Toronto, and it is a splendid example of the height to which Canadian artistry has attained. Its curves are very graceful, the inlaying on the case delicate, and the rich painting on the music desk exceptionally beautiful.

Best of all, the tone of the instrument is fully as rich and beautiful as is the case. It was the happiest of happy thoughts to place a Goulay piano in the corner of the model drawing-room. This Marie Antoinette piano was selected yesterday, along with other styles of Goulay's, by Mr. J. H. Eaton of the McDonald Music Co., Halifax, for exhibit at the coming Halifax Fair.

Side Tips for Visitors. As it is only a few hours' ride from Toronto to the beautiful Highlands of Ontario, do not fail to make a trip before returning home. September is one of the best months of the season in Muskoka. Tourist rates are in effect daily, and are on sale at Grand Trunk city office, northwest corner King and Yonge-streets.

Only $9 to New York and Return. Via Lehigh Valley Railway from St. Lawrence Bridge. Tickets good going Sept. 9 and 10. For tickets call at L.V.R. office, 10 East King-street.

D'FOWLER'S EXT-OF WILD STRAWBERRY

There was a petition against leasing any land fronting on Lake Simcoe to the council has already decided to lease the land for cottage lots, and the assessment commission will act under the by-law. Restrictions will be imposed, and the value of the cottages must not be less than $200 each. A number of leases for other parts of the island were ratified.

Mayor Coatsworth's suggestion of the appointment of an expert engineer to report upon the problems that affect the city and railways along the Esplanade, will be taken up with the city engineer by the board of control. The estimated cost of the necessary report is about $400 or $500.

A frontage of 206 feet on Tyndall-avenue will be purchased by the city from Messrs. Briggs & Sutherland for $2000, to round off the additions to Exhibition Park.

Sallybury-avenue will have a 21-foot asphalt pavement in the middle of the road, instead of to one side, the position occupied by the former pavement. Sam T. Harris wants permission to erect a boarding stable in the rear of 149 Robert-street. The property commissioner has reported against it.

Bad Lighting in the Park. Complaints as to unsatisfactory lighting at Centre Island were heard by the island committee yesterday. Suggestions from President McDonald, that the lighting be done by gas, were referred to Park Commissioner Chaviers and Secretary McEwen, of the fire and light committee for a report. There are already gas mains on that part of the island.

Chief Cressett did not think the police protection at Hanlan's Point needed strengthening, and he so reported to the committee.

A FRIEND'S ADVICE

SAVED SUFFERING AND BROUGHT BACK HEALTH—DR. AGNEW'S GREAT HEART CURE AND CATARRHAL POWDER DEFY DISEASE AND NEVER FAIL IN THEIR MISSION OF HEALING

"I feel so thankful at the restored health of my daughter that if any use can be made of this I shall be pleased." This is what Mr. George Weels, of Elora, Ont., says in giving his testimony to the wonderful curative qualities of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. Mr. Weels' daughter was a great sufferer from heart disease and nervousness. She was unable to lie on her left side. She ran down in health and her recovery was a source of anxiety. Induced by friends, who had proved its worth, she obtained Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart and before one bottle had been taken was able to lie in any position she desired, and when two bottles had been taken, an absolute cure was pronounced. Yes, this great remedy is a cure for all ailments of the heart, stomach and nerves, and the instantaneous relief given by it has matched thousands from death's jaws. Don't trifle a minute if you have the slightest evidence of heart disorders, such as palpitation, fluttering or uneasiness. This remedy will relieve such troubles immediately and will cure the stomach and nerves.

"When I know a thing is worthy of a recommendation I consider it my duty to tell of it." The Rev. James Murdoch, of Harrisburg, Pa., says this after having been cured of a very malignant form of catarrh by Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powders. What he can say of its healing powers thousands of others have said and can say of it. Don't neglect "only a little cold" in the head. It may lead to chronic catarrh. Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder relieves in 10 minutes and is easily applied. Keep it near you if you are a "cold in the head" subject.
