Live hogs fell to $15.50 per cwt. on the local market this morning. Dressed hogs went at $22 per cwt. The demand for both is limited. In many cases Thursday, the farmers took whatever they were offered by the buyers. It is expected that these prices will be the ruling ones for the remainder of the week.

Fifteen loads of hay sold on Thursday eased the demand, but no changes in prices were recorded.

Potatoes were slightly easier on the retail quotations when prices were from $2.10 to $2.25 per bag. The wholesale quotation now is $2 per bag. Many farmers are of the opinion that they will be dearer before the end of the winter. Buyers and market officials claim that they cannot be because the yield this year has been large, and they expect them to be lower.

The fowl market is experiencing a decided scarcity at present. So far this week there have not been any, and officials are of the opinion that the supply is not as large as was anticipated. One buyer claimed that the farmers would keep them till around Christmas and New Years. Dressed chickens add Creamery butter per pound retailed from 62c to 64c, retail, and 59c to 61c, wholesale. Crock butter brought 62c, retail and 58c, wholesale. The demand is active.

The market was very small because of the cold weather.

During the early hours of the morning, in cold, grey, foggy weather, so many workers on their vay to their tasks were anxious to pay tribute before beginning their day's toil that the police had to marshal them four abreast past the memorial.

By eight o'clock many men and women, both young and old, principally of the poorer working population were depositing their bunches of flowers and weaths at the monument, while other toliers proceeding to work and passing by on the sidewalk reverently removed their hats.

The crowd increased as the day progressed, necessitating the continuance of the closling of Whitehall to vehicular traffic.

HAITIEN PRESIDENT DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF CRIMES CHARGED

Testifies Before U. S. Naval Board of Inquiry.

Port Au Prince, Haiti, Nov. 12. -Sudre Dartiguenave, president of the republic of Haiti, testifying before the naval board of inquiry, declared he had no official knowledge of the charge of indiscriminate killing of natives by United States marines. Speaking through an interpreter, the president New York, Nov. 12.—Sterling exchange was firmer today, and advanced slightly for demand bills to $3.36%; cables, said he was without means of proving the existence of cases of homicide or violence that may have been committed by the marines, adding "they have been accused by public clamor."

M. Dartiguenave was the only witness testifying and after he had left the chair, Judge Advocate Dyer announced he had no further witnesses or evidence. The court then adjourned or evidence. The court then adjourned to reassemble upon call by Admiral Henry T. Mayo, president of the board of inquiry, and it is not probable another session will be held before next or evidence. The Haitien president, with democratic simplicity, walked from the palace to the court room, climbing the two flights of stairs. He expressed his pleasure in informing the United States Government what he knew. Answering a direct question if he had knowledge regarding alleged indiscriminate killings, he said: "Officially, no. Nations' Parliament To Consider Possible International Financial Move.

BLOCKADE COMMISSION

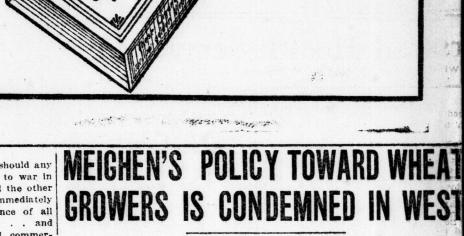

Question To Come Before Assembly On Recommendation of Council.

New York, Nov. 11.—One of the important questions to be considered by the Assembly of the League of Nations at its first meeting, beginning November 15, at Geneva, will be the preparations required to enable the league to use, if necessity arises, the weapon of international economic and financial blockade contemplated in Article XVI of the coverant blockade contemplated in Article XVI of the covenant.

A memorandum by Sir Eric Drummond, the secretary-general, now being distributed to the members of the league, and received here by the league to enforce peace shows that this question will come before the assembly on the recommendation of the league council in the form of a proposal to appoint a body to be known as the international blockade commission. The secretary-general suggests that this commission consist of representatives nominated by the countries entitled to permanent membership in the council, with the addition of representatives of nominated by the countries entitled to permanent membership in the council, with the addition of representatives of four other members of the league selected by the assembly, for the purpose of studying the problem and settling the general plan of action, the organization of the more permanent machinery required and the principles on which it should work.

This question is of peculiar interest to the United States, because one of the first problems such a commission would consider promises to be the method of rendering a blockade effective against states which are not members of the league. In a report adopted by the council of the league at the San Sebastian meeting in August, M. Tittoni, the Italian representative, stated: "It should be clear that the states members of the League of Nations who declare the blockade have the right to render it effective against all states, including those who are not members of the league, but they have not the right to force the states who do not form part of the league to declare
