

leaving it to them with their accustomed liberality and kindness rather to increase their donations to the support of the Lying-in Department, the benefits conferred by which, under the admirable management of the Ladies Directresses, as shown by their Report also hereunto appended, claims for it the warmest sympathy.

Among the arrangements contemplated, in order to extend the usefulness of the Lying-in Hospital, it is purposed to fit up a ward with a limited number of beds, for the reception of so many patients laboring under diseases specially affecting the female sex, and for whose reception into the Institution, as well as in the case of those desiring admittance into the proper Lying-in Department, the sole requisite in future will be a recommendatory note from any of the Subscribers, or one of the Medical officers,
