NEWS FROM NORTH END

The River. The ice moved out of the Long Beach yesterday, and the river is now open for navigation.

The tug W. H. Murray, which left Saturday morning, reached Gagetown early yesterday morning.

The tug W. H. Murray went up to Randolph and Baker's mill at Nerepis, Saturday and brought down a large raft.

The tug W. H. Murray will return to the city this afternoon. Tapley Bros' Sea King left Saturday night for Wilmot's Bluff, where she will get a boom to bring to the city.

The Elaine left at one o'clock today for Fredericton. She had a fair freight on board.

The Majestic will leave for Fredericton tomorrow, and the Clonmel on Wednesday. Messrs. Glazier's fleet of tug boats left for up river on Saturday night.

All through this week business will be brisk at Indiantown. The merchants are getting ready to supply the wants of the farmers, who will soon be coming down to buy seeds and other articles necessary for raising crops.

Roy Wetters, formerly mate of the tug Captain, has been promoted to master of Messrs. Tapley Brothers' new tug Daniel.

Ralph Coleman, the popular Star Line agent at Indiantown, will again be in charge of the company's freight this summer.

A team loaded with wooden boxes, belonging to Murray and Gregory, stalled in a car track on Main St., this morning, causing the boxes to fall out into the street, blocking traffic for about fifteen minutes.

Arthur Gannon, formerly steward of the Victoria, will be on the Majestic, until the Victoria comes into commission, on April 22nd.

On Thursday last, James Holly entertained a number of gentlemen from the Bavianian, on his pretty tug, the Berman. The party went as far as Grand Bay.

James F. Colman, who was arrested Friday on a charge of stealing from the schooner "Lagan May," was again in court this morning.

Boarding Master James Richards was in court this morning, and arrangements will probably be made to place Colman on board an ocean liner as crewman.

The magistrate strongly urged Colman to make a clean breast of the matter and tell the whole truth; but Colman stoutly declared he was innocent. He had sold his boots for $1.25 and had some other change besides.

His honor informed the prisoner that he should never have allowed himself to get into such a straitened circumstance. It was bad management, and besides, it looked badly for a man to be obliged to sell his implements; and in the majority of cases there was a "sew loose somewhere."

Colman was sent back to jail until a position could be found for him on board one of the Atlantic liners. He was warned that if, on returning to the city, he figured in court he would be obliged to serve out his sentence, which would range from one day in jail to two years in the penitentiary.

The late T. P. PUGLEY. Impressive Services and a Large Funeral Procession --- Floral Tributes.

The funeral of Thos. P. Pugley was held this afternoon from his late residence, Chipman Hill, at 2.30 o'clock, and was very largely attended.

The service was conducted at the house by Rev. D. Lang of St. Andrew's church, and was very solemn and impressive. A quartette composed of Mrs. F. C. MacNeill, Miss Olga Smith, Walter H. Reiding and F. O. MacNeill, sang two hymns, with great feeling. They were "Just as I am," and "Now the laborer's task is o'er."

The pall-bearers were Alex. McMillan, Edmund S. Ritchie, Jas. Thomson, Chas. McI. Troop, Percy W. Thomson and Dr. Stanley B. Smith. The funeral cortege was headed by the Masonic and Orange orders in plain clothes, and the very large number of citizens who followed the hearse testified to the great regard in which the deceased was held. The interment was in Fernhill.

Very many floral tributes were sent, among them being a large wreath of roses, carnations, swastika and lily of the valley, from the boys of the Western Telegraph company, with whom Mr. Pugley was popular. Floral pieces were also sent by J. J. McCaffery, (Fredericton), Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Whittaker, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McIvor, A. I. Treisman, Mrs. D. A. Pugley, Mrs. Wetmore Merritt, Edwin Peters, Dr. J. M. Smith, Mrs. Barnhill, H. G. J. H. Parks and Thos. Bell.

Attention --- "Twas it---cavats me all of $10,000 a year to---a---live, don't know---" My goodness! What an awful waste of good money!

HOT TIME ON A CAR. Prince William Street Trolley Car the Scene of an Interesting Scrap.

A lively wrestling match took place on a Prince William street car yesterday afternoon. As the car was moving from Reed's Point, it was signalled and stopped.

Three men stepped aboard and one of the trio, asked the conductor of the whereabouts of another conductor of the road, the passenger asserted that he would get even with the object of his inquiry if he ever got hold of him, saying that the official had given him the "go by."

Little else was said upon the subject until the car stopped at the railway's general offices and two of the trio stepped aboard, one of whom happened to be the man for whom the passenger was inquiring. The words passed between them, and it was but a few seconds before they were clinched. They rolled, and fro as the car was running down Mill street, and for a time, it looked as if a window would be broken. As quickly as possible they were parted, the car was brought to a standstill, and the angry passenger was pending to get off. The bout created quite a sensation among the passengers.

AT YORK THEATRE. The Shaeley-Yeung's Stock Company will present "Ten Nights in a Barroom."

BAKERS AT WAR. There is said to be war among the bakers. It seems that a north end baker started a branch store on Brussel street some time ago, and a Brussel street baker has retaliated by opening a branch of Main street.

It is also announced that two new bakeries are to be started in the south end by men who were connected with one of the large city establishments of that class. Still another bakery has decided to place a special delivery team on the streets. Consumers should therefore have no difficulty in securing an ample supply of bread.

Seymour Gourley, ex-M. P. for Colchester, is very ill with a complication of diseases, and there are no hopes that he can live more than a month or so. He began to fail before the general election, but he took seriously ill about three weeks ago.

The many friends in St. John of Chas. F. Robinson will regret to hear that he is dangerously ill at Regins, where he went from here last fall, to take charge of the Massey, Harris office. In a letter received from a friend in Regins today under date of April 11th it states that on Sunday previous he went to church and was taken with a hemorrhage, and had to be conveyed to the pastor's house where he has been ever since. At the time of writing he had seven hemorrhages and the two doctors in attendance held out little hope of his recovery. Mr. Robinson was very popular in the M. H. office here and his friends will be very sorry to hear of his illness.

POLICE COURT. Four Prisoners Dealt With by the Magistrate This Morning.

There were four prisoners at the police court this morning. John Quigley, arrested on a warrant for using profane language, was fined 10c and was 30 or 30 days, with hard labor. His honor observed that any person using profane or obscene language in the street, whether it was addressed to another or not, was liable to a fine or term of imprisonment.

John Gallinan, drunk on Sheffield street, forfeited $5. As Gallinan's name was called, the magistrate remarked, "I would like to see John, but as he is not here he will forfeit his fine."

Peter Kerr, charged with wandering about Saturday night, and being unable to give a satisfactory account of himself, was at fault. His honor remarked that Kerr must have been in very seductive company. Kerr informed the court that he was a native of Liverpool, England, and a member of the crew of S. S. "Sallasia." He had not been ashore for some days, and did not know anything about the ferry timetable.

Judge Ritchie informed him that he must give an account of himself to the police if required to do so after nine o'clock at night. Kerr stated that in Liverpool the limit was placed at midnight. He was allowed to proceed to his vessel.

Wm. Robson, drunk on Nelson street, was fined $8 or thirty days, answer to a question from the magistrate, Robson said he had had liquor after seven o'clock Saturday night.

His honor remarked that he could name a number of men who rushed for a last drink before the bars closed on Saturday, as it were, the last they would ever get.

One professional was allowed to
