THE SHOES I CAN'T WEAR

All Because of a "Touchy" CORN

BUT you can wear them, Madam—and now.
Simply place on that corn a little Blue-Jay Plaster, and never again will you feel it. In two days there will be no corn. It will disappear for good. Millions of women know that. They don't pare corns. They don't use old-time methods. And they don't suffer. When a corn appears they end it. We are urging you to join them.
Corns are needless since Blue-Jay was invented.
So they are absurd. You can prove in one minute that Blue-Jay stops corns. You can prove in two days
that it ends them forever.

WHERE IT'S MIGHTY HARD TO GET A DRINK

It is difficult to get a drink in the desert places of Egypt where British troops are fighting the Turks. Picture shows three yeomen filling their water-bottles at a well after a long ride.

WHAT THE RUSSIANS ARE UP AGAINST

Hidden pits with spikes were used by the Austrians, but they could only hamper and not arrest the advance of the Russian whirlwind campaign.

British Crusade Against Alcohol

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

An impressive array of signatures, such as has rarely come together on such a document has been attached in the last few days to the memorial to the British government now being promoted by the Strength of Britain movement. The memorial, which was inaugurated at a meeting of business men at the Hotel Cecil a few weeks ago, is a notable demand for the suspension of the liquor traffic during the war on the grounds of national duty to our allies, to the army, and the fleet, and of conserving the full strength of the nation for present dangers and future needs. Among those who signed in the first few days are representatives of the Order of Merit, the privy council, parliament, the army and navy, nearly all the universities, the Royal Society, the board of control; many great shipping and shipbuilding companies, munition workers and great business firms, about forty headmasters of public schools (including Eton, Mill Hill, Haileybury, Tonbridge), and fifty medical officers; a striking list of names of eminence in letters, science, art, and medicine; rector, judges, magistrates, barristers, engineers, diplomats, and a large number of leading citizens in all parts of the kingdom.

The Effects of the Deamon Rum

The following are the main points of the memorial: "We, the citizens of the United Kingdom, appeal to the government to put the nation on its full strength. Now that the nation has followed the example of our allies in enrolling its full manhood, we appeal that we may range ourselves with our greatest allies and put on the whole armor of Britain. The power exerted by alcohol cuts through the efficiency of the nation; it weakens our fighting forces and must lengthen the war. These facts stand out concerning this powerful trade. "It hinders the army; it is the cause of grave delay with munitions; it keeps thousands of men from war work every day, and makes good, sober workmen second-rate. "It hampers the navy; it delays transports, places them at the mercy of submarines, slows down repairs and congests the docks. "It threatens our mercantile marine; it has absorbed during the war between 60 and 70 million cubic feet of space, and it retards the building of ships to replace our losses. "It destroys our food supplies; in 20 months of war it consumed over 2,500,000 tons of food, with sugar enough to last the nation 30 days. It uses up more sugar than the army. "It wastes our financial strength; in the first 20 months of war our people spent on alcohol 280,000,000. "It diverts the nation's strength; it uses up 500,000 workers, 1,000,000 acres of land, and 12,000,000 tons of coal a year; and in 20 months of war it has involved the lifting and handling on road and rail of a weight equal to 50,000,000 tons. "It shatters our moral strength; its temptations to women involve grave danger to children and anxiety to thousands of soldiers."

Results of Prohibition

As it is impossible to estimate the disastrous naval, military, social and economic consequences of alcohol in this crisis, so it is impossible to exaggerate the good results of its removal, according to the petition. In towns under the control board, chiefs of police are glowing in their praise of peaceful towns and quiet streets at night; the London Sessions, following the adoption of the order, were the shortest ever known, and several prisons have been closed since we have begun its work. Yet, though the general drinking hours have been suddenly cut down to two short intervals a day, there has been no serious complaint, and we commend this to the government as proof of the readiness of the people to accept war restrictions, and to share in a common sacrifice. "If it is said we need the revenue the state derives from alcohol, the answer lies in these things. No nation can make a profit from such a trade as this. But the fear for the revenue is shattered by the noble action of our allies and dominions; of Russia, which has prohibited vodka; and of France, which has prohibited absinthe and the sale of spirits to women, soldiers, and young people. Canada, wanting strength and money, has found both in prohibition. The saving power of her people has risen from shillings in the millions. The banks that received £180,000 in January before the war, received in January, 1915, £2,600,000, and in January, 1916, £12,000,000. The industrial efficiency of Russia has increased by 80 per cent, and an increase of 10 per cent. in our efficiency would replace our revenue from drink. 'I deem it my duty to declare in the most emphatic manner,' says the Car's finance minister, 'that there cannot be any return to the past.'

No Temperance Reformers

"No source of weakness under our control is so widespread; none is more vital to the safety of the state in war and its welfare in peace. But the dangers of alcohol are tenfold now. The presence of general disease among one-tenth of our urban population, its special danger to child-life, and the anxiety with which we must contemplate its wide extension as one of the terrible gifts of peace, impose upon us an increasing responsibility. In 1912 over 270,000 working days were lost in the navy from this cause, and 216,000 days in the army; and the Royal Commission has urged that a decrease of drinking would be an important factor in the decrease of this far-reaching cause of national delay. It is not to be questioned that in all these causes for apprehension alcohol is the greatest single factor that can be controlled. It is not to be questioned that the nation has readily approved the half-way step to prohibition that has already been taken. It is our profound conviction that the next step must be taken before the strength of Britain can be thrown effectively into the arena on which our liberties depend. No nation can be at full strength with such a factor in its midst. We are no temperance reformers as such. We stand for the great desire of all good people to strike the mightiest blow for freedom of which Britain is capable."
