(San Francisco Post) Probably the meanest piece of coldblooded deception ever practiced on a woman occurred out in Western Addition the other day. It seems that the belle of that important suburb of our municipality is a Miss Susan Smiffey, and whem a vigorous rumor, kept in circulation by her less favored sisterhood, credited with being a desperate little flirt—in fact, what Billy Rice, the minstrel, used to call a 'falsehearted cookay.' At all events her affections were of sufficiently indefinite a quality to cause her two most favored suitors to look upon each other with the most vindictive feelings common to hated rivals. These ings common to hated rivals. These gentlemen-who were respectively a city hall clerk, with eye-glasses and freckles, named Pliff, and a dry goods manipulator called Diggs-occupied the sponse to a business-like ring of the doorbell, admitted a middle-aged party with a black beard, and wearing blue goggles and a long-tailed ulster. 'I am taking the sensus, mum,' he said, proceeding to open a flat book on the piano and getting out some blanks. 'Just look sharp, please, and answer the necessary questions.'

Miss Smiffey trembled a little, as women always do for some reason when talking to a Government official, and said she'd try.

'Lem'me see-your name's Smiffey, I believe—first name?'

" Middle name ?"

'Haven't got any, sir.' 'Come now, young woman, no prevarication. Are you sure you haven't got a middle name somewhere, and are trying to conceal it?' 'No, sir; indeed I haven't,' said the young lady, turning very pale. 'I wouldn't deceive you.' 'You'd better not, mum. The penalty is twenty-five years hard labor.'

'Gracious me !' 'Fact, mum. Now, then, let's see what's next. Ah, yes-how often mar-

Government will pay the Cauada Pacific Railway Company £5,000,000, in bonds, assigning to them at the same time a fixed amount of land—extending to many millions of acres—in alternate blocks along the line. The Government manipulator called Diggs—occupied the intervals devoted to gloomily sitting each other out three evenings a week, to fruitless attempts to discover which of the two was really the coming man in the matrimonial race, so to speak. The precise meaning of your correspondent's second question is not quite clear. Until the actual text of the guarantee referred to, is made public, it is idle to speculate upon the measure of either the possible profit or loss which may result from its operation. The terms offered by the Canadian Government offered by the Canadian Government for the construction of the line are certainly such as to induce capitalists to embark in it, as many will when all the facts are freely made known.

The reliance to be placed on the preliminary and succeeding surveys, which have from time to time been which have from time to time been made and are yet going on, can be best determined by the reputation for efficiency and honesty which those making them are known to sustain, and by a thorough and careful examination of their reports to their employers, the Dominion Government.

No guarantee has yet been given, nor has any undertaking thus far been en-tered into by the promoters, looking either to the immediate construction or the ultimate equipment and working of the line. Probably nothing less than the aggregate ultimate cost of the road in a workable condition is contemplated by the Canadian Government in the present negotiations, but until the 'papers are signed' it is impossible to say more.

The Times of September 15, in its city article, gives a letter signed "An Old Trapper," in reply to "Senex," 'That'll do; we'll call it mixed. published by us in the Telegraph, a day or two ago; he also replies to "Anglo Canadian" above referred to.
