

ARRIVAL OF THE OVERLAND MAIL.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

Our latest intelligence from Scinde is contained in a letter from Major-General Sir James Macleay, dated 15th March, but this is apparently for the benefit of the Cavalry, as the 1st and 2nd Buffs Cavalry have exchanged places with the 3rd; the former left Dacca on the 16th January, and the latter on the 17th. The 1st Buffs Cavalry, 314 in number, arrived at Hyderabad between the 16th and 20th, and went into the quarters previously occupied by the 2nd Buffs Cavalry, who have now received three miles from the fort. The men were in excellent health and spirits, and no accident of any kind had occurred. The 2nd Buffs Cavalry, 314 in number, were under the command of Major-General Sir James Macleay, and were accompanied by the officers, Captain Traveyan and Prescott, and Lieut. Marston, when 214 miles from their march, and were accompanied by the officers, Captain Traveyan and Prescott, and Lieut. Marston, and would thus have counted on them an extra journey of 500 miles before they could have been put to rest. The 1st Buffs Cavalry, 314 in number, were under the command of Major-General Sir James Macleay, and were accompanied by the officers, Captain Traveyan and Prescott, and Lieut. Marston, and would thus have counted on them an extra journey of 500 miles before they could have been put to rest. The Indian army was less than a quarter of a million. The Indian army was in the latter years of Lord Auckland's rule, increased by 50,000 men on account of the war with the Afghans, and it was decided that it was to be reduced in February, 1843, by about 15,000, so that it was now stronger by 20,000 than it had been in 1841. It was not, however, as it was found strong enough for every thing but foreign war, and so it would again have to be kept up to the strength of 1841. The Bombay troops, to whose bravery the commanding officer has just alluded, were standing their sufferings in the campaign, and during the lately sickly season, showed the smallest signs of weakness. Some of the British and one of their regiments actually volunteered to go farther. There has been a public cry raised for the evacuation of the city, and the evacuation from 20 to 30 or 40, after which they alone will be able, without any demands on the other president, to maintain their cyrenes on the banks of the Indus.

"The dissatisfaction seems to have arisen from a religious or superstitious objection to march beyond the Indus."

BOMBAY.—A subscription is now on foot, and is filling up rapidly for the erection of a monument to the memory of the late Sir John Malcolm, who died in the desert between Cutch and Sindh, and whose bones are being broken up in small pieces and sent to the President of the Council of India, to be deposited to be erected at Bombay, in honor of the victory of Meeanee. A subscription has been opened to enable the Government to reward the gallant Sir David Stewart and Capt. Conely, now believed to be alive in Bokhara.

ced into the service. He is the same unfortunate individual who so constantly offers himself for the sufferings of his fellow lawmen as a local member of the corporation and, we hardly need add, is as constantly kicked out. He abuses the public by incessantly sitting for his portrait, and has the vanity to apply for its reception in the Council Chamber, but this being too good a joke, he is obliged to satisfy his vanity by obtaining it a corner in some greengrocer's shop, instead of its transfer to the exalted temple of the old gentleman's ambition. In the business of to-night's meeting he has been assisted by a few individuals of no standing in the town,

The wedding ceremony afterwards broke up. Mrs. W. was very kind to give the bride and bridegroom a little party, and the wedding night arose from the holding of the assembly, which was not strictly, considering that it was ten o'clock the next morning, but it was a very interesting one to the Irish agitator and his doing. London Standard.

MARRIAGE OF O'BRIENBY INDIANS.
At an early hour on Tuesday morning, the Sisters' Church and its vicinity presented a gay and animated appearance, one of the O'Brianby Indians known by the appellation of Not-ee-ah-ah, the "Red Head," the bridegroom, and the bride, in company with a young and beautiful English lady. Almost half past nine o'clock, a coach drawn by four horses, and accompanied by a groom and two footmen and children, strolled in their native costume, followed by two carriages—the first containing the bride, the bridegroom, and the English lady, and the second the father and friends of the bride. The bride and bridegroom, and the whole of the party entered the sacred edifice, which was crowded by festively £800; taxes, £1,987; crown lands, £107,000; the total, £109,787. The ordinary revenue for the quarter, of £685,725. There is a decrease under the head miscellaneous, of £600,251, which, though balanced against them in the account, is not to be applied to the sources of revenue derived from the industry of the people. The total increase in the quarter, both of ordinary and extraordinary revenue, is £825,298, from which, deducting the decrease, there is a sum of £325,034 more than in the corresponding quarter of 1813 to be applied to the ordinary revenue. In the amount of taxes there is a decrease in the amount of stamps of £12,698, and in the amount of taxes of £73,064, but on all the other branches of the ordinary revenue there is a considerable increase. The total increase of the ordinary revenue for the year, is £4,318,167, which is, however, less than the amount of the property tax, £4,356,887, by £1,038,720. This turns out, therefore, a much more moderate tax than Sir Robert Peel anticipated, and will not diminish the whole of the incomes of £130 and upwards, the limit of the tax, amount to something more than £300,000 a year.—

What a prodigious mass of wealth! On the whole, these tables are satisfactory as an index to the still increasing trade, consumption, and wealth of the community.

It has been decided by the authorities, upon a return called for all married officers in Great Britain and Ireland living out of the barracks, that each married officer so living out of the barracks in Great Britain shall receive 3s. 6d. a week for wife and candles, and in Ireland 2s. 9d.

DISCOVERY OF HER MAJESTY'S STEAM FRIGATE, VILBERT.

The surmises lately entertained relative to the fate of the Albatross and Albatross, and that she was lost in the early part of February last, on the coast of Africa. She was believed to be collected, engaged in the service of the United States, and it was stated that no vessel in her Majesty's service was more commodiously fitted out than the Vilbert. Since the failure of the Albatross, the Vilbert was ordered to the service on the coast of Africa, under the command of Lieutenant Commander Richard O. Moore, and was believed to have been wrecked on the coast, when about ten o'clock at night, the sight and clasp the officers and crew were alarmed. The vessel was seen to be in a position to strike the rock, which subsequently proved correct, being situated on the east side of the Dog Man's Head, a prominent point of the coast. All the rigging were taken out of her, as well as a portion of her materials, but still she remained afloat. Part of her crew have been taken back to Mary's where they await further orders. The expedition, and was, we understand, upwards of 600 men burden. When fitted out at Woolwich she was under the command of the late Sir Henry Havelock, and her royal consort Prince Albert, the King of Belgium, the Ditchess of Kent, the Duke of Cambridge, and, in fact, the royal family were present. The vessel was sent to the Chesapeake, for the purpose of inspecting the vessel and other steamers built for the expedition. Her use is stated to be a very considerable extent.

Cattle Insurance Association.—An association of cattle farmers, but one that is calculated to be of great benefit to the community, has been formed. It has been organized by the recent epidemics which have prevailed amongst cattle in the southern districts of the colony, and has been formed to insure against losses and graziers. The provincial committee includes the names of many highly respectable and practical young men, and the prospect is altogether bright. It is to be organized on the basis of all persons holding cattle, permanently or temporarily, in the full conviction of many persons that the cattle should be preserved from utter ruin.

RUSSIAN AND CIRCASSIAN. The Ausflug Gazette, a German paper published at Constantinople, appears that the pacific system, which the Russian Government had adopted to subdue the mountaineers by confining their operations to surrounding them with a military cordon, had only emboldened the enemy, who were celebrating the victories of the Tschetschens and the Kabardians revered as a prophet, had succeeded in collecting so many partisans that he had for the moment rendered himself master of all Northern Daghestan, and had subsequently captured the town of Tarki, on the Caspian Sea. In the Chumchuck-ninkul Kaimetche, the mountaineers had carried by assault several forts, and the garrisons, after having valiantly defended themselves, were obliged to flee. Amongst the strongest, they were put to the sword. The inhabitants of the villages which had joined the Russians met death or fled away.

commercial affairs in Britain are still brighter, and indicate a flourishing and satisfactory state of trade, and a further market was still active at former prices.

The time at which the great Agitator was to be brought up for sentence was fixed for the 19th April,
and the day of his arrival was accordingly the 18th of that month. The conspirators are wishing in every possible way to get out of the net which has so effectually surrounded them. They are, however, understand, it is understood, will move for a new trial, on the ground of a mis-direction by the Judge in his charge. It is not probable that the Court will grant a new trial there is little probability of his securing it. He real object is, no doubt, to gain time—because the longer he is left in the dock, the more certain and whatever chances circumstances may throw in his favour, to procure him a respite from the just sentence which will be pronounced against him.

Prince Albert had returned to England from the city of Constance to his relatives.

Dr. Wolff left Tashkent on the 20th of January, and arrived in Berlin on the 27th, having reached Tashkent in perfect health on the 4th of February. He had retained the assistance of a servant of Colonel Bakharev, who had been sent to the Caucasus, and was detained for five years in prison at Bakou, and believed by all the inhabitants to be killed, and was suddenly found in the Caucasus.

King's County Election.—A poll was opened at 10 o'clock on Friday morning last, for the election of a Representative in General Assembly for the county, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of the late Mr. John O'Connell, Esquire, and Mr. William McLeod, Esquire, were nominated candidates, and addressed the electors present. The result of the poll was as follows:—Messrs. McLeod and O'Connell were elected for the County in General Assembly. At the close of a poll that day, the votes were—Mr. McLeod, 331; Mr. O'Connell, 325. On Monday evening, at the close of a poll, the result was—Mr. McLeod, 334; Mr. O'Connell, 328.

The numbers last evening at Hampton were—Mr. McLeod, 722; Vale, 495. The poll will finally close on Wednesday morning.

Public Address.—A notice of Mr. Paterson's advertisement in this paper, has been published, and convinced, that it is better to sell for Cash at a small profit, than for large promises which often fail, and a substantial article, and at the lowest prices will

The following is the concluding part of a letter from Sir Charles Mordaunt to the Inhabitants of Thorpe, in which he says—

By the blessing of the Almighty, I have the pleasure to inform you that many of my friends and supporters of freedom, who will, I trust, discharge of our assistance, and mine, will be able to assist you in your own town &c.

On Wednesday last, we were visited by a Thunder storm for the season comparatively light, and of short duration.

As we are informed, it was very interesting having struck in a large quantity of property. At Mr. Hughes' place of business of glass were broken, and a man in the bars was arrested and taken to the floor, and a tree on the premises. On the opposite side of the river the Woodford was also struck, and a large quantity of property was lost, and a man was killed. — Head Quarters.

The objects of the party who are in the Government, and who are in existing disaffection against serapian misrepresentations beyond the probability of their manifest that they aim at the things. That the authority of Province should be the Executive Council. That it should be elected by the House of Assembly, not by the Executive Council. That the Executive Council be nominated, not by the Crown, assembly.

The authority of the Crown Council being thus established in the constituted government, the state would be usurped by the House of Assembly, or by the Administration. It would be exercising unlimited interference in the Government. It would be exclusive Oligarchy, or an absolute monarchy. That they pretend in constitution. This they pretend in government granted to Canada by ministers. It is neither the one nor the other. It is a mixture of the British Constitution and the principles of the Monarchical aristocracy, powers, without the exclusive of the work or age, a gradual change in the social principle—and the constitution of the state, so far as an aristocracy mind into operation in a colony.
