Every Woman Likes One Dress to Wear on Special Occasions

"Simple but elegant" is an expression often used in describing women's clothes. It exactly suits the full-length model pictured here.

Every woman and girl likes to have one really nice dress in a season which she feels she can wear at any special affair and look well.

It may be made, like the illustration, with low neck, short sleeves, and semi-train. Or it may be easily converted into a high neck, long-sleeved costume by the use of a separate gimp with sleeves attached. The foundation of the dress is apricot-silk satin with a tunic of green chiffon.

MISS ALICE LLOYD SCORES GREAT HIT AT THE OPERA HOUSE

Starring in Little Miss Fix-It She Gives Local Theatre-Goers a Hearty Laugh—Great Success

If the management of the Opera House keep up the record of the past few weeks there will be no reason why St. John people should go to New York to see good shows. Little Miss Fix-It, with Miss Alice Lloyd as the star, is the latest addition to the series of successes of the present season.

Miss Lloyd has sung and danced her way into the affections of St. John theatre goers and aroused more genuine merriment than the majority of audiences permit themselves to display. There is absolutely nothing in the way of a story to the piece, it has the most perfect imitation of a framework on which are hung a great many bright songs, real jokes and bits of clever dialogue. The troubles of married and unmarried couples are complicated by the efforts of Little Miss Fix-It to unravel the tangles but nobody cares much how the tale progresses.

What the audience is interested in is the sequence of songs, and Miss Lloyd deserves all the praise that has been given her as a singing comedienne. Bright as a button, vivacious, graceful, always smiling and with innumerable lighter-compelling mannerisms, she scored one success after another and sent her hearers away with catchy airs humming through their heads.

Capable Players. There is one other very capable player in the company, in the person of Lionel Walsh, who as Mr. Percy Page—"with the G soft as in porridge"—of the Lancers, gave a splendid performance of the stage Englishman, Miss Brown and Miss DeLorne were also among the favorites with the audience.

Several of the musical and character numbers were irresistibly funny, notably the bagpipe selection, while among the more sedate—if any ranked in this class—"If You'll be My Eve" promises to be whistled about the streets for many a day.

The entertainment is all that was anticipated. It should draw full houses at the two performances today.

At every first-class Bar and Hotel in St. John you will find that FINE MELLOW Scotch,

SHE FAINTED WITH THE AGONY

"Fruit-3-Lives" Cured Her Kidneys

MISS MAGGIE JANNACK.

Mountain, Ont., Dec. 4th, 1910. "I desire to let the world know the great debt I owe 'Fruit-3-Lives,' which saved my life when I had given up hope of ever being well again.

For six years, I suffered from dreadful Kidney Disease. My legs and lower part of my body were fearfully swollen. The pain in my side and legs would be so bad that I would faint with the agony.

Five different doctors attended me, and all said it was Kidney Disease and gave me no hope of getting well. A kind neighbor visited me and mentioned the case of Mrs. Fenwick who had been cured of a sickness like mine. I took 'Fruit-3-Lives' and in a short time I began to feel better—the swelling went down—the pain was easier—and soon I was well.

I have gained over 30 pounds since taking 'Fruit-3-Lives' and my friends look upon my recovery as a miracle. (Miss) MAGGIE JANNACK.

'Fruit-3-Lives' are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50. Retail size, 25c.—or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-3-Lives Limited, Ottawa.

PERMANENT ROOMS FOR BORDEN CLUB

Matter of Securing Quarters That Can be Kept Constantly Open was Considered Last Night.

A meeting of the executive of the R. L. Borden Club was held last evening and arrangements made for calling a general meeting of the members of the club on the 12th inst. Plans for the winter will be considered and several proposed changes in the constitution will be discussed.

Among the propositions which will come before the club is that of securing rooms to be kept open for the members every day and evening. The idea of the executive is to secure a number of rooms in a central part of the city, where the members of the club may congregate and pass a pleasant evening when they have nothing else to do. It is the intention to have a pool table in the club rooms, and facilities for other games, as well as books, papers and magazines which would be read.

A movement is on foot to have the age limit for members restricted to 36 years, thus keeping the organization a young men's club.

Local Labor Conditions. At the last meeting of the Trades and Labor Council a communication was received from Mr. Crothers, Minister of Labor in the Borden government, asking for information regarding wages and conditions of labor in the trades interested in government contracts in this vicinity, and the information asked for has been collected and placed in the hands of the local correspondent of the Labor Gazette for transmission to the Department of Labor. One of the delegates called attention to the fact that the council had endorsed the early closing idea and suggested that the trade unionists make arrangements to vote for the early closing by-law next Tuesday. A good deal of routine business was dealt with.

CAPTAIN'S DEATH RECALLS MYSTERY OF THE HIGH SEAS

(Digby Courier.)

Capt. Oliver E. Deveaux died at his home in Brighton on Tuesday, the 10th inst., aged 76 years. The deceased was born at Cape St. Mary's, moving to Brighton when he was a young man. He was an old time sailor, a thorough officer and a man capable of sailing a ship to any part of the world. His last voyage was to Cuba some four or five years ago, when he was obliged to leave his ship owing to illness and return home. He is survived by a widow, one son, James Deveaux, who holds a responsible position with the telephone company in Springfield, Mass., and two daughters, Mrs. Jessie Melanson, of Plymouth, Mass., and Miss Addie A., at home. The funeral was held from his late home on Friday with interment at the St. Croix cemetery at Plymp-ton.

The death of Capt. Deveaux recalls to memory the mystery of the brig Mary Celeste, which has called forth many columns of newspaper stories, magazine articles and even dime novels. The facts of the strange affair are as follows:

On Nov. 15th, 1872, Capt. Oliver E. Deveaux sailed from New York for Gibraltar, chief officer of the brig, Del Gratia. After a rough passage of 26 days they reached the Western Isles, after which the weather became very moderate. On Dec. 4th, in latitude 38.20 N., and longitude 17.15 W., they fell in with another brigantine which was under moderate sail and appeared to be steering a very peculiar course. They bore down on her and found the strange vessel to be the brig, Mary Celeste, of New York, abandoned. She was boarded and Capt. Deveaux was placed in charge. The captain of the Del Gratia furnished him with two men, which he styled as captain and cook. These three, working night and day, took the strange vessel to port, reaching Gibraltar, Dec. 13th, making the run of 650 miles in 9 days in heavy weather, working their 200 ton craft successfully but under great difficulties. She was bound for Genoa, Italy, with $80,000 worth of alcohol.

The captain of the strange vessel had his wife and children on board besides his crew of eight men. The vessel's boat had been recently used. The captain's clothing and watch were hanging up in his stateroom. The vessel's boat and papers were gone. The entire crew appeared to have left in great haste taking practically nothing with them. Marine men from all parts of the world put forth different ideas as to why the vessel was abandoned, but Captain Deveaux could always explain by referring to some circumstances in connection with the way the vessel was found that they were wrong. Captain Deveaux himself could not account for their strange disappearance, nor could anyone else from that day until the present time, and we very much doubt if the mystery will ever be solved.
