ried at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning with a large number of his friends. The funeral was held at the Church of the Assumption, by Rev. J. J. Ryan. The bride was attended by Miss Louise Kean, sister of the groom, while John J. Kean supported his brother. The happy couple left by morning train on a honeymoon to St. Stephen and Chula. They will reside at 3401 S. 10th St. The groom is a farmer at the Provincial Hospital and the bride was a nurse in the institution.

It's Nerve Force from Nuxated Iron that helps make STRONG, MAGNETIC, FORCEFUL MEN, who make their every mastering presence felt the moment they enter a room.

NUXATED IRON

contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most easily reaches the brain and nerve cells of man. It also contains organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Organic iron enriches the blood and plenty of rich red blood means more nerve force, so that Nuxated Iron not only feeds what might be termed artificial nerve force to the nerve cells, but it stimulates the blood to manufacture a greatly increased supply of new nerve force. If you are weak, nervous or run-down, get a bottle of Nuxated Iron today, and if within two weeks' time you do not feel that it has increased your nerve force and made you feel better and stronger in every way, your money will be refunded, sold by all druggists.

Joe Wood May Replace Speaker

Cleveland, Nov. 23.—As O'Neil Man Rumor has W-and O'Neil Man Rumor is sometimes right—Tris Speaker, president of the Cleveland Indians, will not pilot the club in 1924. He is considering resigning immediately.

It may be the case, the new pilot would be another of the tribe—Joe Wood, outfielder. Joe is an old friend of Tris. They played together on the Boston Red Sox before coming to Cleveland.

When Speaker will resign is a matter of time, as he and Jim Thome, owner of the Indians, are planning to go into business together.

The public and players would like to see Tris put the team through another winning season, and for this reason the Tribe's manager is still swinging on the fence.

City Basketball League Opening

Y.M.C.A. Intermediates Defeated St. David's; Y.M.C.A. Seniors Defeated Y.M.C.I.

Y.M.C.A. BASKETBALLS—8PT.—A large number of fans turned out last evening to witness the opening games of the city basketball league which were played in the Y.M.C.A. gym last night. The first game of the evening was between the Y.M.C.A. intermediates and St. David's. The second game was between the Y.M.C.A. seniors and the Y.M.C.I. seniors.

The intermediates game, not with standing the score, was a hard fought one, and while the Y.M.C.A. players proved superior, the St. David's boys put up a game defense. The individual players followed: Y.M.C.A. 18, St. David's 8.

Seniors—Y.M.C.A. 18, Y.M.C.I. 8.

Intermediates—Y.M.C.A. 18, St. David's 8.

The girls' game was somewhat one-sided, but both teams showed signs of the training they have received from their coach Ray Pennington, and will doubtless improve in the weeks to come. The line-up and score follows:

Seniors—Y.M.C.A. 18, Y.M.C.I. 8.

Intermediates—Y.M.C.A. 18, St. David's 8.

Owner Gets Damages For Loss of Horses

A decision by the Federal Court at Nashville, Tenn., awarded to W. W. Fadden, turkman of that city, $95.00 damages in a suit against the American Express Company for the value of six horses killed near Cincinnati when two horse cars on the Pennsylvania Railroad were derailed on July 7, 1918. The damages for the trial alleged that the accident was due to a windstorm, and this being an act of nature, relieving the express company of the railroad could be held responsible for it.

HORSES COME AND GO, BUT NOW EXTERMINATOR GOES ON FOREVER

(By G. J. Fitzgerald.)

New York—Thoroughbred come and go, like Tennessee's brook, but Exterminator, the wonderful gelding by Modus, out of Fair Express, by Jim Dore, goes on his winning way season after season, displaying those splendid qualities which command the admiration of lovers of the thoroughbred. The fact that he is the biggest money-winning gelding in the world, with $171,381 to his credit as the result of five years of strenuous campaigning, and that most of his victories have been gained over long distances with big weights up, makes his performance all the more remarkable.

Exterminator was bred by P. B. Knight, in Kentucky, and was sold at the Saratoga yearling sales, in 1915, to J. C. Miller for $1,000. That owner, however, who trained Miss Joy and other good ones the past season, won two races out of four starts with him as a two-year-old, and gave him a preparation for the Kentucky Derby and his other engagements as a three-year-old. The gelding was at Louisville when Sam Brar came to Church Hill Downs for the big race when the French-bred colt went lame a few days before the race. Mr. Kilmier, in looking around for something to beat in the race, had his attention attracted to Exterminator. He wanted something that would be able to work with Sam Brar, too, and acquired Exterminator for $10,000.

How Exterminator won the Derby and beat Bobcat, War Cloud and others in the mud is history, and how he has gone on winning ever since is a story that is told in the record books. He ran 15 times as a three-year-old and won seven races, while he took part in 31 races in 1919 as a four-year-old, and was successful in nine. In 1920, as a five-year-old, he started 17 times and won 10 races, while to date this season he has taken part in 16 races, of which he has won eight. His total number of races when he was a three-year-old was 15, and he won 7 of them. In 1920, as a five-year-old, he started 17 times and won 10 races, while to date this season he has taken part in 16 races, of which he has won eight.

While he would not be classed as a standard horse, Exterminator has distinctive qualifications which are immediately apparent to all who know the points of a thoroughbred. His back is long and symmetrical, and his head is well set on his neck. He is a powerful, well-proportioned animal, and his shoulder is sloping and powerful, with the withers running well into the back. His hips are a trifle rough giving him a somewhat larger appearance, which is accentuated by his height of legs. He tows out with one front foot a trifle, but in action he is the poetry of motion. He is a long strider, and a mud runner as few if any equals. His courage is of that defiant variety which refuses to accept defeat, as was shown in the case of his battle with the other game colt, Boniface, for the Pimlico cup recently.

Here is what Henry McDaniel remarked the day he secured his connection with the Kilmier stable which at that time contained the phenomenally fast horse, Sam Brar:

McDaniel loved Exterminator.

"I never had a horse in my charge that I was so fond of as Exterminator."

Italian Press Criticizes Hughes' Naval Proposals

Rome, Nov. 23.—A wave of criticism has followed the expressions of approval with which the press first received Secretary Hughes' proposal for disarmament. The plan is attacked on one hand by experts from a technical standpoint, and on the other by nationalists who fear that it means Anglo-Saxon domination of the world, and the Latin nations reduced to second-rate powers.

Typical of the former is General Valsacchi, former chief of naval engineering, who has built many of the most important Italian battleships. In an interview today he declares that any signing specified tonnage to each power is not "a sincere or a technically just basis for the establishment of limitation of armaments founded on a proportional equilibrium in strength."

General Valsacchi argues other elements such as speed, and armament of warships is so important that navy of 100,000 tons might be easily superior to one of double that tonnage. Regarding the question of Italy, he says that a great blockade could soon ruin the nation, and concludes "if peace in the Mediterranean is to be really assured Italy must have a navy not inferior to that of any other nation which has political, commercial or economic interests in the Mediterranean. As our modern warships compared with those of other powers are already antiquated, to base our naval strength on tonnage would be disastrous for us. If the Washington conference, truly wisdom to further the ends of peace by a just limitation of armaments, the importance of this argument which is capital to us, cannot be ignored."

The Italian navy according to General Valsacchi should not include super-dreadnaughts but should consist of smaller and faster ships. He urges the conference to forbid submarines capable of being used for offensive purposes calling it "an inhuman weapon."

As for the extreme nationalists that are so concerned with Italy's position, they are not different from ex-President Wilson upon whom many Italians place the blame for most of the trouble that Italy has had since the uttermost aim covered by idealism, is to establish Anglo-Saxon hegemony interference.

Ross Horses Lead In Money Earned

Waterloo Farm Second on the List—Increased Distribution of Prizes is Shown.

As a field of racing Canada produced only $49,930 more for owners in 1921 than it did in 1920, it is a fact that it has been the racing organizations of British Columbia resumed operations there would have been a decided falling off. A somewhat hostile administration in Ontario, and new regulations concerning the percentages derived from the results, rendered the controllers of some of the big courses of Eastern Canada thoroughbred expenditures in stake races and big purses, the consequence being smaller gross out-lets in the previous year.

Exceptions were furnished by the ever-progressive and liberal Ontario Jockey Club by the Western Racing Association, both of which increased their offerings considerably. The O. J. C. distributed the magnificent sum of more than $240,000 to owners of horses which raced at its course. The Western Racing Association showed the greatest decline in output, but it is to be taken into consideration that its 1920 showing was abnormal, swollen by the $75,000 it gave for the special race between Man of War and Sir Barton, so on the whole, and in view of the disturbed financial conditions of the time, it can rightfully be said that the Canadian turf year was all that, and perhaps more than could reasonably have been expected.

Ross Horses Extra $106,000

It was given out early that the powerful J. K. Ross stable would devote the main part of its racing in 1921 to the Canadian courses. The determination of the rich Canadian owner was carried out. It gave the Canadian courses all the attraction naturally attendant on the presence and participation of horses which had won great fame on courses of the United States. At the same time this quite patriotic measure was not without its due recompense. The Ross stable led all others by a wide difference in the sum total of its earnings. The closest to its $106,922 was the Segram stable's $40,810. The earnings of the Ross stable made a new record in respect to money won in a year in Canadian racing. The success of the Segram stable in leading second in respect to the attendance of delegates who cannot attend on Saturday evening.

Rookie Catcher Taught Alexander

Some years ago, when the Phillies were ball players and not coaches, the catching staff was wrecked. Charley Doan, the manager, broke his leg in St. Louis, and a week later Pat Moran threw out his arm trying to catch a double-header in Cincinnati. The telegraph wires carried peak loads of messages to all parts of the nation containing prayers for catchers. One youth, brought hastily from a minor league club, reported the next morning in Chicago and was asked to catch Alexander the Great in the afternoon.
