The lash of the waves and the rustle of the leaves have awakened the poetic instinct in many souls in the maritime provinces, and there is not a bit of land equal on the continent, of similar size and conditions, which has sent forth to the world so many poets, essayists, writers of fiction and men of science as the provinces by the sea. Sea Murmurs and Woodland Songs, by S. E. S. Faulkner, of Hammond Vale (N. B.), is a volume of poetry which strikes a note of sympathy with nature, patriotism and noble living. There are tender verses, visions of other days and yearnings after the heights of beauty and sweetness in these lifts of the heart. You can hear the ripple of the brooklet and the crash of thunder in "Sea Murmurs," the wail of a broken heart is pathetic in "Redwind the Boston, Dec. 2—Jennie Jones, mother of May Simmons, the "Barefoot" girl, who caused the police all sorts of trouble a short time ago with her mysterious wan-derings, was in Judge Wentworth's court today for drunkenness, and was given a boarding house at the end of the South wharf, St. John, and later conducted an establishment at the corner of Duke and Prince William streets.

commercial way. These pirates do great destruction to the work of the fishermen, yet it doesn't pay the men to give up their time to killing dogfish. There has been proposed by American capitalists the establishing in Digby county of works for getting machine oil, glue and fertilizer from the dogfish, and they are ready, under certain conditions, to invest $100,000 in this enterprise. But there's difficulty getting the dogfish, and the capitalists are now asking the Ottawa authorities what the government will do to induce the fishermen to go after the dogfish. A bounty of $3.50 a ton to the proposed works is talked of. While this would be paid to the proprietors, Mr. Copp points out, it really would go to the fishermen, because without it the works could not pay the fishermen enough to make it worth while to campaign against the dogfish while, having the bounty, they could pay the fishermen two cents for every dogfish brought in, and this price would be setifactory to the fishermen. In connection with the proposed works would be several steamers for use collecting the captured dogfish.

Appeal to History.

There is a very general feeling among the people of this province that New Brunswick should have two representatives in the cabinet, as it had from the time of confederation to quite a recent period. We don't presume to say who is to blame for the fact that New Brunswick has had only one representative in the cabinet since 1896. When the Hon. Mr. Emmerson resigned his position as premier three years ago and entered the dominion and important as a representative of the parliament as a representative of the country of Westmorland it was generally understood that he had done so under a promise that he would be made a cabinet minister. This promise, if made, was never kept, and Mr. Emmerson still re mains a private member, although it is reported that he is to be made minister of railways and canals. We are of the opinion that the interests of New Bruns wick have been neglected in consequence of our lack of representation in the cab of our lack of representation in inet and that this province should have

In Digby today Mr. Copp expects to meet Professor Prince, also John Cowie, of Scotland, an authority on fishing on the Scotch coast. Mr. Cowie was invited here by the dominion government to look over the ground, with the idea of improving our fishermen in methods of curing and packing. It is said that while the Scotch herring are inferior in every way to those of the Bay of Fundy, they, bring from fifty to 100 per cent. higher price, from fifty to 100 per cent. higher price, because of better curing and packing.

Mr. Cowie will visit the Charlotte county fishery grounds shortly.
