GOLDEN JUBILEE CELEBRATED

Impressive Services at Guthrie Presbyterian Church, Melbourne

Melbourne, Sept. 6.—One of the most outstanding events in the history of the village took place on Sunday and Monday, when the members of Guthrie Presbyterian church celebrated their golden jubilee. The Sunday services, which were held at 3 and 7.30 o'clock, were conducted by Rev. Robert Stuart, of Dutton, a former pastor of the church, who delivered excellent sermons. He reminded the people that it is a grand thing to be able to say, "I know there is a Saviour." But it is a very different thing to be able to say, "He is my Saviour." The music was furnished by Miss Frances Norworthy and Andrew McLaughlin, of London. Both are former Melbourne residents and it is always a great pleasure to have them return and give vocal and violin contributions.

Monday evening supper was served in the Sunday school hall. A splendid program was given by local talent. The program committee is to be commended for the excellent numbers, as it was one of the best entertainments ever held here. Rev. Mr. McKay, moderator of the London Presbytery, occupied the chair, and conveyed the greetings of the Presbytery to the congregation. Referring to the importance of the occasion he reminded the people that fifty years had passed, many hardships had been overcome, for which there was every reason to be thankful for God's many gifts. No one can measure the influence of the last fifty years—it has been felt far and wide and in the next fifty years it was hoped it would be further distributed. Rev. W. W. Shoup, pastor of the Methodist church here, presented the greetings of the Methodist church and the Methodist people. He referred to the good-will which exists between the congregations and expressed his pleasure that union services had been held, as he considered it a step in the right direction.

Andrew McLaughlin delighted the gathering with his violin selections. Miss Margaret Stevenson and Miss Florence Bees convinced the people that in the very near future there would be two young ladies of whom Melbourne will be very proud. Margaret's Scotch songs are always a treat, while Florence is proving herself to be a born reader. Charles Auld, one of Melbourne's noted singers, also gave a number of selections. The South Canadac Male Quartette was present and gave a number of harmonious pieces. C. Watson sang a number of his comic songs, which caused much merriment. Reference was made to the two ministers, Rev. Wm. Cooper, Presbyterian minister at Beamsville, and Rev. Peter Sinclair, of Toronto, who were Melbourne boys, and members of Guthrie church.

Although all did their part in making this jubilee a success, much credit is due to the pastor, Rev. G. W. Oliver, who has become one of the most popular ministers in the history of the church. He has won by his strong Christian character, both in the pulpit and out of it, the love and esteem of not only the members of his own congregation but the entire community. In the small booklet which has been arranged, giving a history of the church, his photograph appears on the front page. Photos of the following ministers, who have been pastors of Guthrie church, are also printed therein:—Rev. John Stewart, Rev. Malcolm McKenzie, Rev. J. S. Henderson, Rev. Alexander Frazer, Rev. Robt. Stewart, Rev. F. C. Simpson, Rev. T. R. Shearer, Rev. D. C. Stephens and Rev. John Elder.

The proceeds from the jubilee services, amounting to nearly $200, will be used towards paying the cost of redecorating the Sunday school hall and manse, which was done last spring.

HONOUR DEPARTING CITIZENS

A number of their friends met at the town hall on Monday evening to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thompson, who are leaving Glencoe to reside in Toronto. During the evening Mr. Thompson was called forward while Alex. McAlpine read an address expressing the community's regret in losing such a conscientious worker and valued citizen. R. Dunlop made the presentation of the address and a purse of money as an appreciation of the splendid services rendered by Mr. Thompson in his capacity as a municipal officer. Vocal solos by Misses Ethel George and Elma King and Mrs. Hill were enjoyed. George F. Munroe made a capable chairman, and addresses were given by Ex-rev. W. D. Moss, J. N. Currie and A. J. Wright. At the close all joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne" and "They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

DEATH OF MRS. W. G. ROGERS

Word was received in St. Thomas on Monday of the death at Cleveland of Mrs. Helena Kerr Rogers, wife of William G. Rogers, president of the Erie Iron Works. Mrs. Rogers' death comes as a distinct shock to her many friends, as she was apparently on the road to recovery from a lingering illness, extending over nearly a year, when she suddenly suffered a relapse which necessitated her removal to Cleveland for an operation. Mrs. Rogers had resided in St. Thomas for eighteen years, and prior to that at Glencoe where she was a teacher in the public school before her marriage. She was 57 years of age.

Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, three sisters and three brothers. Her husband was in the hardware business in Glencoe for a number of years.

FORMER GLENCOE MAN DIES

John W. McMillan passed away in Leamington on Thursday evening, August 30, after an illness of one week, following an operation for acute appendicitis. Mr. McMillan was in his 52nd year and most of his life he spent in Glencoe. He was married in 1901 to Miss Beulah Fulmer, of Leamington. Besides his wife, four children survive: Flossie, at home; Elizabeth, of London; Arnold and Roy, at home. One son, Archie, predeceased him by five years. Also surviving are one brother, Archie McMillan, of Strathroy, and one sister, Elizabeth McMillan, of London. The funeral service was conducted at his late home on the 6th concession of Gosfield North, Essex county, on Saturday afternoon, September 1st. Interment followed at Lakeview cemetery, Leamington. Friends and relatives attended the funeral from Rodney, West Lorne, Strathroy, Chatham, London, Somers, Ridgeway, Muirkirk, Detroit and other places.

For several years Mr. McMillan conducted a lively business in Glencoe.

DOLLAR—CAMPBELL

A pretty September wedding was solemnized, in the presence of about forty guests, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Campbell, Graham road, north of West Lorne, on Wednesday, September 5, when their eldest daughter, Margaret L., was united in marriage to Dr. George L. Dollar, of Horne Payne. The ceremony was performed at 3 p.m. by Rev. A. L. Carr, the bride being given away by her father and the wedding march being played by Miss Joan Campbell. Miss Eva Belle Campbell, sister, assisted the bride, and Gordon Dollar, brother of the groom, acted as groomsmen. Miss Helen Lyle acted as ring-bearer. The house was nicely decorated, and a dainty buffet lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Dollar left on a trip to Seattle and on their return will take up their residence at Horne Payne.

WEBBER—WEHLANN

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Fenwick parsonage on Monday, August 27, when Miss Vada Muriel Wehlann, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wehlann, of Welland, formerly of Glencoe, was united in marriage to Wm. Webber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webber, of Pelham. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Welletta M. Wehlann, and her brother, Lynn, of Buffalo, acted as best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Webber have taken up their residence on the groom's farm at Pelham.

Everyone knows that a cold chisel and a hammer are the tools for cutting vitrified tile, but not everyone knows how it simplifies the work to fill the pipe with sand.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE

Affiliated Couple Meet After Forty Years and Are Married

Benjamin Scott, the most promising young carpenter in Dresden, quarrelled with Mary Mills (later Mrs. Hans Johnson, of Zone township and of Thamesville), the belle of the little town, one summer night in 1883 and walked away from her father's white swinging picketgate, his chin held high, leaving her alone under the woodbine in the moonlight. Crickets without ceasing all night long chimed hauntingly the rhythm of his footsteps going away up the old board sidewalk.

"Shall I send him a note? Shall I walk past his house tomorrow?" Mary Mills asked herself that night. From the tops of the maple trees outside her bedroom came: "Katy-did! Katy-did!"

"Shall I wait for him to say he is sorry? Shall I let him come to me?" "Katy-did! Katy-did!" came the answer.

The night voices gave her no help. So she obeyed the little voice within herself—the voice of pride. She went away the following morning to the home of her aunt in Essex. And Mary Mills and Benjamin Scott never met again until just before they went together to Mrs. Mary E. Porterham, assistant city clerk at Windsor, to ask for a marriage license. That happened Tuesday, 40 years later.

At the marriage license counter he gave his age as 62 years and she gave her age as 65.

She took her pride to Essex with her in 1883 and the same year was married to Hans Johnson, of Essex. They went to live in Zone township and later lived in Thamesville.

The news of the wedding went back to Dresden as Miss Mills knew it would. It sent Scott gathering up his carpenter's tools and clothing. He was one of the young men who went west. He wandered, working at his trade. For a while he was a sailor on the Great Lakes.

Occasionally, after years had passed, he received a letter from Mrs. Hans Johnson. He never married and they never met.

A few years ago Scott tired of wandering, being nearly 60 years old. He went to Newbury to live the last years of his life. He had not been there a day before friends told him Hans Johnson had died. Mrs. Johnson was living alone in Thamesville, the friends told him.

In another day Mrs. Johnson, of Thamesville, had opened the front door of her home to Scott. They had 40 years to talk about. By the time she moved to Essex from Thamesville, a few weeks ago, they had brought the conversation up to date. Tuesday he made the proposal of marriage which he would have made over the white swinging picketgate in Dresden 40 years before, but for the unfortunate word which started the quarrel. Both now have forgotten what the word was.

In a few minutes after he made the proposal neighbors saw them go down the street to take the interurban car to Windsor.

Neither could tell which was to blame for the quarrel. Each took the blame.

"It was my fault," Scott said. "No," she insisted; "I was too proud."

And they would not say where they would go on their honeymoon.

NEWBURY POST OFFICE ROBBED

Newbury, Sept. 11.—On Saturday evening while the streets were thronged with people a daring robbery of the post office was committed here. Not being locked for the night the thieves found an easy entrance via a rear door, and by aid of a flash light located some $50 in the cash box which had not yet been placed within the safe.

At present no arrests have been made, although conclusive evidence points to a couple of local young men upon whom has been found most of the missing money.
