

The Song of the Camp.

"Give us a song!" the soldiers cried, The outer tenting sounding.

The dark Redan, in silent awe, Lay, grim and crestfallen, and...

There was a pause. A guardman said: "We storm the forts to-morrow!

They lay along the battery's side, Below the smoking cannon;

They sang of love, and not of fame; Forget was Britain's glory;

Each breast recalled a different name, But all sang "Annie Laurie."

Voices after voices caught up the song, Until the tenting sounded...

Beyond the darkening ocean burned The bloody sunset embers,

And once again a fire of hell Rained on the Russian quarters.

And Irish Nora's eyes are dim For a singer dumb and gory;

Sleep, soldiers! still in honored rest Your truth and valor wearing;

Do You Have the Blues? No one with half an eye in his head can fail to see in the average man...

With the ushering in of a new season, it is important that people should know just what Paine's Celery Compound can do for them in Spring Time.

Young King of Spain. The little king of Spain has vanished; it is the young king of Spain now, and to-morrow it may be the married king of Spain, so quickly do the years pass.

Suddenly there breaks in upon such people a breezy half-out-of-breath neighbor. "Oh, Mary!" "Oh, John!" he exclaims, "we must have you at the club to-night."

At 18 Alfonso XIII. takes the reins of government in his own hands. After that—well, a wife will be picked out for him, and then his troubles will begin in earnest.

Newspaper Borrowing.

Here is the latest story of the man who is too stingy to take his own paper: "A man who was too economical to take this paper sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor.

In his haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of beer, and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His cries reached his father, who came to his assistance, and falling to notice a barbed wire fence, ran into that, breaking it down, cutting a half pair of pants, and ruining a $4 pair of pants.

The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence, and got into the cornfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, the wife ran out, upsetting a 4 gallon churn full of rich cream into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole lot in the hurry, she dropped a $7 set of false teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the spilled milk and into the parlor, ruining a brand new $20 carpet. During the excitement the eldest daughter ran away with the hired man; the dog broke up eleven setting hens, and the calves got out and chewed the tails off of four fine shirts."

"I heard the following conundrum," said R. A. Fallow, "which struck me as distinctly clever. 'What character is there in the Bible who possesses no name who suffered death in different forms from any inflicted torture or sin? It is, a portion of a wheel around it is in every household, and the cause of whose death has been made famous by a modern author?'"

"Given up, eh? Well, the answer is, 'Lettice.' She possesses no name; as one due met death through being turned into a pillar of salt; it is in every household, and Esau's brother wrote 'Looking Backward'; so there you are."
