

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

Introductory.

CHAPTER II.

The Development of Writing in the Race.

CHAPTER III.

The Fundamental Bases for the Development of Writing in the Individual.

CHAPTER IV.

The Handwriting Movement and Related Questions.

Sec. i.—The Analysis of the Handwriting Movement.

Sec. ii.—The Discussion of the various writing movements in general use.

Sec. iii.—Questions related to the movements used.

Sec. iv.—Influence of slant upon eye-movements and posture.

CHAPTER V.

The Writing Habit.

CHAPTER VI.

The Physiology and Hygiene of Writing.

CHAPTER VII.

Group and Individual Differences in Writing.

Sec. i.—Pressure.

Sec. ii.—Sex Differences in Writing.

Sec. iii.—Natural and Artificial Writing.

Sec. iv.—Uniformity as an Aim in the Teaching of Writing.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Measurement of Handwriting.

CHAPTER IX.

Some Relationships in Writing.

Sec. i.—The Relations between Legibility, Form and Speed.

Sec. ii.—The Relation of Ability in Writing to General Intelligence.

Sec. iii.—The Relation of Writing to other School Subjects.

CHAPTER X.

Three Scales for the Measurement of Quality of Children's Writing in the Schools of Ontario.

Bibliography.