THE GIRL HE LEFT

(By J. S. Fletcher.)

and it was quite ten o'clock when he lighted a twopenny cigar and strolled out to the front of the Brown Cow in order to make his first cheer. Mr. Sanderson's own dozen or two the pen in his ear worshipped him. legs wide apart, and smoked his cigar men o' yours." in great peace and contentment.

he drew from his fob.

"That's the 10.5 from York," said sees the faces of old friends. he; "and eyther she's a minute late "It's one-and-thirty years since I the previous thirty years, was as the hope it's half of it true," she contheer's onny passengers this morn- Holliday.

permit this question to answer itself. o' years has this house." innocent of life, Mr. Sanderson form- this time?" ed the opinion that there had once more been reasons for animadverting upon the folly of railway directors and. "James Holliday, said Mr. occasions like them theer. It reminds me o' t' Scriptur' sayin' Miss Jemima glanced sister. She began to the said Mr. occasions like them theer. It reminds me o' t' Scriptur' sayin' Miss Jemima glanced sister. She began to the said Mr. occasions like them theer. It reminds me o' to Scriptur' sayin' Miss Jemima glanced sister. She began to the said Mr. occasions like them theer. It reminds me o' to Scriptur' sayin' Miss Jemima glanced sister. She began to the said Mr. occasions like them theer. It reminds me o' to Scriptur' sayin' Miss Jemima glanced sister. would be quite sufficient.

the station-approach and advanced in- th' owd place agean. It looks just to the highroad. First of all came t' same as it allus did," cried the re- one o' your owd flames' sake," said back to you, Lucy Peckett!" one side of him, and an armful of stan'still time i' Ashby Green, I t' lasses i' t' owd days!" wraps, rugs, walking-sticks, and um- think, John." Alongside it, resting a hand upon the fen your feet at t' owd place." topmost portmanteau, as if to es- Mr. Holliday wagged his head. He "An' Susan Doughty? She were a there, and Mr. Sanderson could hear fortune to make.'

"Come on a sudden-like, and to hear on't. nobody to meet him. But what's the Mr. Holliday smiled in a self-satisfiwhole lot o' th' station folks turned ed fashion.

Hall, but the Brown Cow. The Head I say, I've naught to complain about. with!" the landlord and the open door; the means." rest of it came on with a resistless "That's right!" said Mr. Sanderson. impulse. And the gentleman who "Hear, hear!" front and held out a gloved hand to master. Mr. Sanderson.

"Well, if that isn't John Sanderson "And wheer might ye ha' been, "You'd be wrong is you did," re-himself, and not a bit changed!" he Jaames, and what doin', like, all this marked Mr. Holliday. "I'm young exclaimed, shaking the landlord's sur- time?" inquired Mr. Sanderson. cendered hand with great cordiality. Mr. Holliday shot his cuffs and all. 'You don't look a year older, John squared himself.

-not a single year! round sort of man, inclining to men. paunchiness. He wore a well-made "Dear me!" said the stationmaster. suit of grey tweed, a Panama hat, and brown boots. There was something Holliday?" about him that suggested the wellto-do city man out for a holiday.

Mr. Sanderson noted the massive gold chain which adorned the stranger's white waistcoat. He also noticed the bundle of fishing-rods which reposed on top of the portmanteaux; this was some enthusiastic angler who had stayed at the Brown Cow in not mind telling you, gentlemen, as bygone years, and whom he was unfortunate enough not to remember.

to me, sir, but the name seems to ha' slipped my memory, like, just at present. I think I've had the pleasure of entertaining you before,

The stranger and the stationmaster

"Nay, come!" exclaimed the former, suddenly developing a deep acquaintance with Mr. Sanderson's own dialect, "thou shouldst know an old friend a bit better nor that, John, my lad! Surely thou remembers Jim Holiday?" Mr. Sanderson uttered a sharp exclamation, and retreated a step into the sanded hall of the Brown Cow. "Naay, for sure!" he said. "Well, 1 niver! Jaames Holliday! Yes, and it is an all. Well, well, well! Why, it must be five-an'-twenty years sin' I set eyes on thee, James.

modation for a gentleman in the hear on't! Brown Cow, John?" "An' me

Mr. Sanderson had breakfasted ra- fessional duties. "Bring the luggage that!" ther later than usual that morning; inside, mi lads. Come this way, sir "Money," remarked Mr. Holliday deary me to-day, to think 'at it state upon the bit of pond in the day, "give these lads whatever they take your best rooms, John, at your "Nonsense! It's over thirty years centre. For anything that the land-like to drink and let 'cm have a own price, for as long as my affairs since he left these parts." lord of the Brown Cow could see to handful o' cigars to smoke. Which 'll permit. And now we'll have an- "I don't care," the contrary, the world was wagging is the best parlour-this here? Come other glass-help yourselves, gentle- Lucy. "He's back again, Jemin pretty much the usual way; and he in, Mr. Lindsay, come in, sir, and men-do'-and I'll hear the news of ime, and they say he's a milaccordingly placed his hands under John'll join us for a friendly glass the old place. the tails of his coat, set his gaitered as soon as he's attended to these. In spite of a

The strident note of a railway- bar a moment to warn his staff not lage; and he made strict and particu- what else. Quite the gentleman, he engine, shricking at some little disto stay too long at the Brown Cow, lar inquiry as to the fortunes of is. He's taken all the best rooms at tance, was the first thing that rous- lest something unusual should occur each. Some were dead; some had the Brown Cow; and they say he had ed Mr. Sanderson out of his medita- at the station. Then he followed married. One or two had left the champagne wine to his dinner last cions. He frowned, and consulted the Mr. Holliday into the best parlor, district. This man had been unfor- night. gial of a large silver watch which and found him gazing around him tunate, and "broken"; that had pros- "Umph!" said Miss Jemima. She with the delighted air of one who pered, and retired on a competency. resumed her needles and began to knit or t'owd friend is. I wonder if was in this here room," said Mr. history of all similar places-a cer- tinued, after a ruminative pause. walls 'at I can remember as well as tain amount of unchangeableness.

The knowledge that whatever the if I'd seen 'em yesterday. That there sampler, now, in the black buryin's, and chris'nin's, and t'like," ried?" remarked Miss Jemima. shape of passengers must necessarily frame; it were worked by old Missus said the stationmaster, in whom ''No-o; he hasn't," answered Miss who ran six trains a day where two ough for me, John. Not but what "How ha' ye come on about t' I could put summat in the way of a marryin' state, Jaames?" inquired such a fool as to believe that a man "Theer's noabody come bi that title before it if it seemed good to Mr. Sanderson. train, at onny rate!" exclaimed Mr. me, you understand. But that's ney-Holliday, or noa?" Sanderson, when several minutes had ther here nor there, just now. Bring "No," replied Mr. Holliday, shak-"Chance who may ha' gone in a decanter o' the best whiskey you ing his head. "I never married, have got, John, and some soda-water, John. I've been a deal too busy wi At that moment, however, the first and we'll just take a friendly glass the active affairs o' life to think o' stage of what appeared to be nothing together, you and me and Mr. Lind- such things. No, gentlemen. I'm less than a procession came out of say. Dang me, but I'm glad to see still a bachelor.

gested to Mr. Sanderson the idea of produced the desired refreshment from ness for femin the station possessed; it was encum-bered by portmanteaux of a character Jaames. But wheer ha' ye been, days. Where's Bella Simpson got to, strong," said Miss Jemima acidly. and pretensions that were evident at like, all this time? I niver hed I wonder?" the distance of two hundred yards. word on yer sin ye shook t' dust of- "Married t' miller at Norton," an- that, sister," said Miss Lucy, bridtablish a claim upon it or its owner, smiled a little in a knowing fashion, fine maid, were Susan!" walked the ticket-clerk, a young gen- and maintained a provoking silence "Married tleman of uncertain age, whose chief until he and Mr. Sanderson and the side of York. avocation was to stroll about the stationmaster had all pledged each "An' Polly Stubbs? Eh, the fun false 'un! Maids, indeed! I'll lay health and apostolic blessing. It is society and of extending it throughstation with a pen in his ear. And other and lighted cigars; and when he I've had wi' Polly!" behind the barrow, at a proper in- spoke he seemed to swell out and to 'Shoo's wed an' all, is Polly, though a china orange 'at James Holliday's that we have learned what you have terval, came two persons, one of them assume a dignity that made his com- I can't lay mi tongue to th' name o' forgotten all about you long since!" made known to us concerning the soeasily recognizable as the station- panions think of the magnates who th' chap 'at got her," said the land- In this slight particular, however, ciety which you have founded, its wishes to be successful in any under-the stranger talked and walked as the the world since I left this here vil- sigh. Lords of the Earth use to do- he lage one-and-thirty year since- a would be." swung a stick and glanced here and young man of five-and-twenty with his his voice, loud, confident, self-assured. "Here's hopin' it's made, Jaames," Mestur Holliday, and long life, sir."

"A big dam across the River Nile," responded Mr. Holliday solemnly. "Yes, I've done some biggish jobs. But there comes a time, you know, John, when the busiest of us needs a bit of a change; and I had a sort he came to the conclusion that of feeling that a sight of the old place and old faces' ud be welcome. I do between old friends, 'at I've come back a warm man-a very warm "How do you do, sir?" said Mr. man," repeated Mr. Holliday with "Your face is familiar many nods and winks. "A hundred keep these lads standing there all day with wide-spreading mouth and eyes. Miss Lucy gasped, wriggled, and finwith them trunks. Is there accom- "Dang my buttons, but I's glad to ally giggled.

Cow in order to make his first obser- of satisfaction, took off his Panama baronite, if I so wished. I'm very snapped Miss Jemima.

Stone-paved han, heaved a great sign baronite, if I so wished. I'm very snapped Miss Jemima.

Stone-paved han, heaved a great sign baronite, if I so wished. I'm very snapped Miss Jemima.

"You'd never guess, sister, if I was vation of sky and earth. As he hat, and mopped his forehead with a well aware that it's been talked of viewed them—a good digestion wait- silk handkerchief of very strong co- in high quarters. But I don't know! to let you try till next week," said ing on a healthy appetite in his lors, and seemed to intimate that he I'm all for a bit o' peace and quiet- Miss Lucy. "So I'll tell you. James case-earth and sky were alike in was pleased to find himself once more ness-at present, anyway. 'A breath Holliday's come back. good condition; there was a pleasant, beneath the roof of the Brown Cow. of the old air,' I says to myself, 'and Miss Jemima dropped her knitting springlike feeling in the air, the pro- He superintended the removal of his a sight of the old place, and a crack and her needles into her lap. Her of a fine day in the heavens, impedimenta from the barrow to the with old friends, I says, 'll do me face, sharp, gaunt, and resentful of a and a smell of newly-turned soil from hall, and was very lavish with a more good just now than Aches-le- world which in her opinion was no the ten-acre across the green. On the handful of silver, which he withdrew Bang or the Ryveerer, or anywhere better than it should be, assumed a green itself there were the wood- from the pocket of his trousers. The 'at I've been used to going of late fierce aspect-she looked like a hawk man's donkey, a herd of geese, and two porters and the young man with years.' And so I packed a trap or who sees its quarry within striking two together, not forgetting a fish- distance. of ducks, some of them sailing in high "Now, then, John," said Mr. Holli- ing-rod, and come North. And I'll "James Holliday!" she exclaimed.

> The stationmaster lingered in the of his former associates in the vil-titles offered him, and I don't know "There's things on the tain amount of slow change, a cer- "Oh, I don't think there's any doubt shape of passengers must necessarily frame, it were worked by old missus said the pass his own door on its way to the Sanderson, John's grandmother. It's three glasses of whiskey-and-soda, and Lucy, with a faint heightening of copass his own door on its way to the Sanderson family a sight the comfortable knowledge that there lor. "No; he told John Sanderson was nothing to do at the station that he was still a bachelor." He waited with one eye on the corner of the lane which led to the railagean, Jaames!" exclaimes Mr. Sanclination to talk, "there's not much made a fool of since he made one of way-station, and the other on the derson, who entered at that moment, to chronicle i' th' history of a rewral you?" said Miss Jemima. "You'd woodman's donkey, until such times and insisted on going through the commewnity, as you might term it. ha' married Edward Summers if it as something should heave in sight. handshaking process again. "Naay, Marryin' and givin' i' marriage, dyin' hadn't been for Jim Holliday. Soft Occasionally the train drew up at ye're sich a fine nabob-looking sort and bein' committed to th' tomb, pre-enough you were, too, to wait with Ashby Green without discharging 'at I doan't rightly know how to sentin' children at the baptismal all them years for a chap 'at never passengers; and as several minutes call yer, like. Mun it be 'sir,' or fount—that's about all 'at theer is to came back, and never wrote a line!" passed away, and left the highroad 'mestur,' or happen it's 'mi lord' bi set down i' the rewral chronicles, if "But, you see, he has come back, we except gi'in' up farms and rare Jemima," replied Miss Lucy.

"Is theer a Missis

one of the two porters employed at turned traveller, rubbing his hands. Mr. Sanderson, with a sly laugh, said. the station; he carried a handbag on "T' last thirty years mun ha' been a "Ye wor a bit of a rover among the al'ays said he would!" mur-brellas on the other; and there was "Naay, thur' been a few o' chan- to his partiality for the fair sex time we ever walked out together; social evils too radical. something in his manner which sug- ges," observed Mr. Sanderson, as he pleased him. "I always had a weak- and when he was working at York At a meeting of the society, held at nine beauty. John. possible festivity and rejoicing. Be- a private cupboard. "Theer's one or said. "If I'd been a less busy man write every week, and say that he'd days ago, Archbishop Farley read the hind him came the other porter, two deed, and theer's two or three I might ha' been a Luthario. Dear, never wed any maid but me." wheeling the only hand-barrow which been wed, and we've hed a chris- dear! I can remember some very swered Mr. Sanderson.

sweet on Lewcy Peckitt, Jaames."

well pleased with himself, made for come back empty-handed; not by no "lovemakkin" and them sort o' gam's tage now. Eh, dear! I remember is all very well when you're young the old farm very well indeed! It and lusty, but quite a different mat- seems a long time since I used to go tian marriage against the disgrace- ly in white, on a blue ground; or in ter when one begins to descend into there." swung his stick and talked in such a "Theer's a bit o' pleasure in hearloud voice came from the back to the in' news like that," said the stationnot 'at I'm implyin' 'at you're an ima grimly. "Thirty years." "Here's my best respects, old man, Mestur Holiday. No, cer- "Thirty-one years," corrected Mr. t'ny not, sir!"

"You'd be wrong is you did," re- place in thirty-one years."

-not a single year!"

"Now I'll tell you," he said. "I've next few days by renewing his acJemima as a fine strapping young the work you have inaugurated, not without divine inspiration and guidwere in the Dalny theatre,—never stared at the stranger with an honest about what I did at first. Small Green in his own fashion. He held a determined mouth, who would have endeavor to recognize him. He saw beginnings, John, small beginnings, continual reception at the Brown thrashed any man that offended her; with the approbation of the head of dare to strike the first blow. an individual of about his own age, who, like himself, bore the weight who, like himself, bore the weight in' and moilin' at first. But in the pick a bit of breakfast, to take a pussy-cat sort of lass, who liked to the man that offended het, bore the weight in' and moilin' at first. But in the pick a bit of breakfast, to take a pussy-cat sort of lass, who liked to the man that offended het, bore the weight in' and moilin' at first. But in the pick a bit of breakfast, to take a pussy-cat sort of lass, who liked to the man that offended het. of fifty years uncommonly well, and end I went in for contract work; my snack of lunch, or to join Mr. Holi- be petted and fondled, and kissed in ardor, while relying on the support towel is a comic study of the faces wore an eminently prosperous, satis-fied look. He was a somewhat short, job; out in Egypt that was, gentle-of the Russians, delightedly watching wondered what it was that had trans-Mr. Sanderson was also busily employed in the bar and the taproom. Within forty-eight hours of Mr. Holiwithin forty-eight hours of Mr. Holiinto a silly, simpering old maid, day's return to his pative place every day's return to his native place every with the added foolishness of affected man in the village had drunk his manners. He himself was not conhealth-most of them several times. scious of any great change. He had It was agreed that Jaames was gen- grown stout, and his hair had fallen, what he meant to do for the parish young enough. A wave of pity for flew about like sparks from an anvil. the two old maids came welling up He was going to give a thousand in his heart.

pounds to the church restoration fund; "I shall be up your way to-morhe had declared his intention of re- row," he said. "I'll call in and take lovingly impart to you, beloved prodigious magnifying-glass, the building the school; he was think- a cup of tea, if I may make so bold. ing of establishing almshouses for It'll be like old times. old men and women. One thing was | Miss Jemima said he would be welabsolutely certain; he was going to come, and they parted; Miss Lucy entertain everybody, high and low, was in a state of pleasing confusion. rich and poor, old and young, at a "I'm sure James hasn't forgotten 22, 1904, feast of St. Cecilia, virgin grand series of festivities which were me, sister," she said timidly. "He and martyr. In the second year of to be held in the clubroom at the squeezed my hand in just the old our pontificate.

sounded in the ears of the Misses Jemima. "He was thinking what a Peckitt on the second day of his couple of old frumps we'd turned out. coming. They lived a little way out You're that soft after the men 'at of the village, in a small house, to you think a man's in love wi' you which they had retired when their if he looks your way. I ha' no pafather gave up his farm; and as they tience wi' such fondness! You owt were home-keeping in their habits, news came to them somewhat tardily. In this instance it reached Miss Lucy first. She heard it at notions. Men! I'd like to ha', notions. a neighbor's fireside; and, as soon as the sortin' o' some on 'em!" she could get away conveniently, she hurried home, dropped into an easy-and even cordial, to Mr. Holliday

'Oh, Jemima!" she said at last. "An' me!" said the stationmaster. "Oh, Jemima! Though, of course, "Ay, for sure," answered Mr. San- "My best respects again, Mestur Hol- one never can tell what will happen derson, suddenly remembering his pro- liday! It's a sight o' money, is next, and they al'ays say 'at it's th' unexpected that does happen; but answered Miss

lionaire. He's a great contractor In spite of a prolonged absence. Mr. - makes railways and suchlike - and Holliday had not forgotten the names he.s been all over the world, and had

The history of Ashby Green, during at a quicker rate than usual. "Let's Miss Jemima glanced sharply at her sister. She began to wonder if a woman of fifty-one could really be ter an absence of thirty years. Somethat her sister was not too old to be and contempt.

"I do believe 'at you're fond enough she

Mr. Holliday laughed-the allusion mised me true and faithful the last they thought the society's views on that winter before he left he used to

> "I'm sure I'm not so old as all ling. "You're a good ten years older nor me.'

"Ye gre't soft thing!" exclaimed

"Married a chap through t'other Miss Jemima. "Ye're nearly fiftyevery penny I have i' this world to with a feeling of sweet consolation out the country. master, the other a stranger. The sit on the bench at petty-sessions.

stationmaster was walking and talking with deference writ all over him; his head again, "I've seen a deal of marked Mr. Holliday, with a gentle to walk into the village together, and when we see most worthy ladies, in the proprietors of Parmelee's Veget-"Of course, they naturally they encountered Mr. Holliday near powerful influence in society, uniting able Pills to know that their efforts course "I believe I was sweet on a good "I've been looking up all old which, breathing only the love of many on 'em!" sighed Mr. Holliday. friends," he said, wuping out his pleasure and sensuality, weakens and out t' that way for? They'd ha' sent 'I've naught to complain of, John," "Eh, dear, there were summat very Panama hat with the strong-colored enervates the minds of men and, even down thro' t' Hall for his luggage." he said. "The world's used me very pleasing about those days, John, handkerchief, and allowing the two in the conscience of Catholics them-It appeared, however, that the well-very well indeed. I've worked very pleasing indeed. But they're ladies to become aware that he was selves, effaces the sense of the most Mecca of this pilgrimage was not the hard, gentlemen, very hard; but, as over and done with now-quite done exceedingly bald, "and I'm gradu- sacred obligations. ally finding all of 'em. They told of the procession, looking mightily I'm a warm man, gentlemen; I've not "Ay," sighed the stationmaster, me you were living at Rosedale Cot-

> "Deal of change takes Holliday.

He looked at the two ladies furtiveenough, and energetic enough, an ly, and wondered how it was that versations and gatherings, and the malignant. It will be remembered women grow old and faded so much He proved his energy during the sooner than men. He remembered erous with his money; reports of but he was active enough, and felt

The news of Mr. Holliday's arrival "Stuff an' nonsense!" snapped Miss chair, and gave Miss Jemina a distinct notion that a fainting-fit was about to disturb the usually serene atmosphere of Rosedale Cottage.

and even cordial. It of Mr. Frombar denominations whose lives are open to the following afternoon. The best scandals.

when he dropped in for a cup of tea denominations whose lives are open on the following afternoon. The best scandals.

Continued on page 7.)

See Tropped and even cordial. It of Mr. Frombar denominations whose lives are open on the following afternoon. The best scandals.

Continued on page 7.)

"Ay, an' five more to that," responded Mr. Holliday, with great cheeriness. "But come, we can't "Naay!" exclaimed Mr. Sanderson, on earth's ailing you?"

"Mercy upon us, Lucy Peckitt!" exclaimed Miss Jemima sharply. "What on earth's ailing you?" March THIRD MONTH 31 DAYS DAY OF WEEK ₩ 1905 ₩ DAY Of the Feria. S. Simplicius, Pope. T. F. Of the Feria. S. Lucius, Pope. S. Quinquagesima Sunday Quinquagesima Sunday. Of the Feria. Su. M. T. S. Thomas Aquinas. Ash Wednesday. S. Frances of Rome. Crown of Thorns of Our Lord. Of the Feria. First Sunday of Lent First Sunday of Lent. S. Gregory the Great. Of the Feria. Ember Day. S. Zachary, Pope. W. Of the Feria. Ember Day. S. Patrick. Ember Day. S. Gabriel, Archangel. Second Sunday of Lent S. Joseph. S. Cyril of Jerusalem. M. 8. Benedict. S. Catharine of Genoa. w. Lance and Nails of Our Lord. Most Holy Shroud of Our Lord. Annunciation of B. V. Mary. Third Sunday of Lent 26 Su. Third Sunday of Lent. S. John Damascene. S. Sixtus III., Pope. W. S. John Capistran. Of the Feria

Five Wounds of Jesus.

* Complete courses in Mechanical Drawing and Machine Design, Freehand Drawing, etc., with practical work, materials, etc., supplied. Draftsman Canadian Correspondence College, Limited

TORONTO, CAN.

Sanctions Filiae Fidei

By the receipt of a personal letter would come back to look for her af- of approbation from Pius X. commending her for the work which thing in Miss Lucy's face informed her she has done in organizing the "Daughters of the Faith." feminine, and she sniffed with surprise Eliza O'Brien Lummis, of No. 35 East Thirteenth street, has received such encouragement that she will to believe 'at James Holliday's come now continue the work of organization and extension which was for a time abandoned after several members -women prominent in New York's fashionable set-had resigned because > the Archiepiscopal residence he had translated from the Latin:

THE POPE'S LETTER.

the S. Filiae Fidei:

PIUS P. P. X. particular those whose position, two, and every tooth in your head's wealth or name gives them a most would be." the green. The situation seemed full for the purpose of reviving, particuto compound a medicine which would "Naay," said Mr. Sanderson; "them of romance, of embarrassment, of larly among those of their own prove a blessing to mankind have two Peckitt lasses is still unwed - strange emotions to Miss Lucy; to rank, the perfection of Christian mor- been successful beyond their expec-Jemima and Lewcy. At least, they Miss Jemima it was productive of a ality, and by striving, according to tations. The endorsation of these 'It must be a gentleman for th' said Mr. Sanderson, raising his glass. are noan lasses now, for they're fifty certain grim joy; Mr. Holliday, quite resources at their command, against Pills by the public is a guarantee Hall," said Mr. Sanderson wonder- "Nowt 'ud gi' me more pleasure nor if they're a day. Ye used to be a bit at ease, took it as a matter of naturalism, which is the ever increas- that a pill has been produced which increase the produced which is the ever increase that a pill has been produced which increase the produced which is the ever increase that a pill has been produced which it is a pill has been produced which it is a pill has been produce ing evil of the present day, and will fulfil everything claimed for it.

URGES GREATER ARDOR.

ful stain of divorce, of providing for black, on a white ground. proper education within the domestic | Besides towels decorated with be led to join your organization, and when they find, on returning to the other dioceses also and that it may ishows a procession of fish in front of induce even Catholic men to bind a surgeon's office-waiting their turns themselves by a similar compact and to be relieved of sundry bayonets, to tend to a similar purpose. In the swords, revolvers, and repeating rifles meantime, as an augury and assur- which have stuck in their throats. ance of divine blessing and a token A third towel picture represents a of our paternal benevolence, we very Russian diver examining, with a daughter in Christ, and to your whole holes made by torpedoes in the hull society and to all those who in any of a sunken cruiser. Comic verses way forward the same, our Apostolic or legends, in cursive text, are print-Benediction.

"Given from St. Peter's. November Hearn, in The Atlantic.

RESIGNATIONS THREATENED

While in the manual of the society, which was formed a year ago, it is specifcally stated that the object of the organization is the strengthening of the bond of union between Catholic women, it is added that it will not advertise social sins by denunciation, but will quietly make them unpopular, and that the Catholic divorcee who remarries will be socially ignored and also divorcees of other

Rice Lewis & Son FIREPLAGE GOODS

FENDERS GAS LOGS COAL YASES FIRE IRONS SCREENS

STATE

following letter from the Pope, which Holy Father, on which occasion she presented to him a manual of the society which by letter he has approv-To our beloved daughter in Christ, so been received by her from Arch-Letters of approbation have al-Eliza O'Brien Lummis, Moderator of bishop Farley, Mgr. Falconio and Cardinal Gibbons. With the commendation of the head of the Church, for "To our beloved daughter in Christ, which she has been waiting, Miss Lummis will now begin active work in carrying out the principles of the

Cor. KING & VICTORIA ST., TORONTA

A Successful Medicine.-Everyone

Japanese War Toweling

As might have been expected, military and naval subjects occupy a large place among the year's designs for toweling. The towel designs cele-"Among these duties we mention brating naval victories have been particularly that of protecting Chris- practically successful; they are most-walls, as well as in the schools, of tistic sketches of this sort, there checking those pests of human so- have been placed upon the market ciety, namely, the shameless license many kinds of towels bearing comic of spectacular representations and immoral books, of idle and wanton con- which are amusing without being shameful extravagance of dress, that at the time of the first attack Therefore, beloved daughter in Christ, made upon the Port Arthur squaed beside these pictures.-Lafcadio

> If we have faith, let us believe that there is a death, a judgment, ac eternity; and let us endeavor, during the days that yet remain to us, to live only for God. All things upon earth have to leave us, or we have to leave them and had a private audience with the JOHN A. SMITH, 676 Gloris Elde, Milwsukee, Wis. O

IF YOU HAVE