"There is a moral obligation on both parties to submit their points of difference to arbitration."

"A better way always would be for both parties to come together and make concessions and reach a decision fair to both."

WHAT SHALL I DO WITH THE MONEY?

Many a holder of the Canadian Government bonds maturing December 1, 1922, has been asking this question.

"Present industrial and economic conditions necessitate corresponding changes in Departmental Regulations."

"With these objects in view, and having in mind the benefits to be derived from a full and frank exchange of views, the Postmaster General desires that a Conference be held in Ottawa, beginning on Monday, October 2nd, and you are invited to attend this meeting, if satisfactory arrangements can be made for the proper continuance of Post Office work during your absence."

WHEN ARBITRATION IS THE ONLY COURSE

Right Rev. M. J. Hoban, Bishop of Scranton, who has himself acted as mediator in many industrial disputes, in a statement issued August 29, expressed the following views on the coal strike.

"The miners are entitled to the highest pay that they can get. The work is of a dangerous character and requires great skill. I believe that dangers and skill should always be taken into consideration when a man's pay is being fixed."

"I do not think it was right to let the strike go on as long as it has. It was simply allowed to drift, and apparently no thought was given to bringing about negotiations."

"Now as to this question of arbitration which seems to be the stumbling block to peace, there are two parties come in conflict and one side is opposed to arbitration, of course those men have the right to their convictions."

"But when a third party is affected, not one figuring actively in the dispute, and when that party is the public, then, in my judgment, the disputants should recognize the public rights. If the public calls for arbitration, then there should be arbitration. In this case it is especially important that the public rights should be recognized and conserved, for unless coal is mined, men, women, and children may freeze to death and many thousands of others may be thrown out of work."

Discretion is the Better Part of Investment

This is also a good time to sell certain bonds. For instance, if you have bonds maturing soon you would be well advised to sell them and re-invest the money in bonds of longer maturities so that you may ensure to yourself the current high interest rates for many years to come.
