tions concluded the work of the convention:—

"That we should have medical inspection in all rural schools."

"That (1) venereal diseases be made reportable; (a) adequate penalties be provided as in other communicable diseases; (b) patients be required to continue under treatment, inspection and direction of competent medical practitioner for two years in case of syphilis and one year in cases of gonorrhea; (c) transmission of venereal diseases be made an indictable offense. (2) Free tests be provided through an adequate health department. (3) Rescue homes be provided in rural districts where agriculture may be used for cure and self-support. (4) Health certificates be required from both parties before issuing a marriage certificate."

"That the Alberta Women's Institutes ask the government to provide free scholarships in the provincial agricultural schools for the use of the rural and consolidated schools of the province, these scholarships to be awarded by the provincial board of education for term work and standing in examinations."

"That the Women's Institutes of Alberta again petition the Federal government to make homesteads as easily available for women as for men."

"That the Alberta Women's Institutes respectfully suggest the calling of a conference of the similar organizations which exist in each province for the purpose of consummation of a federation, Dominion wide, not later than May."

"That we endorse the Canada food control board in whatsoever measures it sees fit to adopt."

"That we give mothers' pensions their hearty endorsement."

"That we adopt for our slogan for 1918 'Save the Babies' and that each branch take up baby welfare as the special work of the year."

"That we endorse the resolution being passed by various women's organizations throughout the province asking for equal parental rights."

"That in view of the urgent necessity for conserving food and manpower in Canada we express to the federal government our hearty appreciation of the laws prohibiting the manufacturing and importation of intoxicating liquors in Canada and hereby pledge our support to the full endorsement of the same and in order that this infringement may more easily be effected do further respectfully urge the enactment of laws prohibiting the transportation of liquor from one province to another."

"That this convention express its belief in order to prevent waste of food stuffs received by Britain from Canada in the manufacture of spirituous liquors

MISS NOBLE'S ADDRESS

The following are extracts from the presidential address of Miss Isabel Noble, at the Alberta Women's Institutes' convention at Edmonton:

"I visited many clubs—art clubs, domestic science clubs, musical clubs, literary clubs, psychology clubs—clubs of all sorts, and found that while they are trying to retain interest in their special works, for they feel they will later on need the diversion, still they realize the war work is their first and greatest need, and in the cities every club is an auxiliary to the Red Cross."

Officers for 1918.

President, Miss Isabel Noble, Daysland; vice-president, Mrs. A. A. Fleming, Sedgwick; secretary, Mrs. A. H. Rogers, Fort Saskatchewan. Directors: Northern district No. 1, Mrs. F. Grisdale, Vermillion; District No. 2, Mrs. James Boyd, Fairview; Central District, Mrs. Ella Towns, Coronation; Southern District, Mrs. Hummon, Carmangay.

We here have been doing Red Cross work for over three years, but to help win the war we will have to, if possible, speed up. Our institutes have from the first done their part along this line and all are anxious to be home soldiers, doing our duty in every way. In Canada we have grown to realize that the place for most of us women is at home—while in the States quite a few have the same restless feeling a number of our women had when our boys first went overseas—that is, they want to go to France, thinking they may be of greater service there and nearer their dear ones. You may know hundreds of trained nurses are yet to be sent over and that makes other women wonder why they cannot also be used. Dr. Shaw wrote an open letter to the women of the United States, in which she said: 'Women's place, unless she can give expert assistance abroad as a nurse or doctor, is at home.' Children are not so well cared for as they should be, the increase of juvenile delinquency proves that girls need more protection, factories and stores want workers, so do farmers. Some women can save food. Others who cannot go to work outside the home, may be able to offer a place to live, room or board to those who can work and so help in the best manner to win this war. Our country needs the patriotic American woman who can do things, and she has only to look from her front door to see the necessary work which is going undone.

"I discovered the women of the States are as enthusiastic over gardening and are pushing gardening and canning to the utmost. In fact it is considered not quite patriotic not to have a garden and can the staple vegetables. The civic clubs are offering large prizes to further best gardens. The mothers' garden clubs have also stimulated the work. A mother from each club is appointed to visit a certain number of boys' and girls' gardens, report on the three best and encourage the children to raise more. Canning, of course, is not neglected and I saw some exhibits, the work of the boys and girls, that were truly wonderful. It made me feel more and more that our institutions should offer three scholarships for our girls. It could be easily managed, for our government is willing to send judges to inspect the gardens and canning.

"The best canned goods from vegetables preserved from home gardens should be exhibited from the south in Calgary, from the north in Edmonton, and after the final judging the three girls scoring highest in our province should be given scholarships and one sent for a term to Claresholm, one to Olds and one to Vermillion. I certainly feel we will be letting an opportunity slip from us if we are unable to see our way to carry out this idea."
