Kitchener and Botha Have Met and Talked Surrender.

MESSAGE INTERCEPTED BY GENSOR

Kitchener Not in Position to Conclude Terms,

BOERS OCCUPY MARAISBURG

Botha Granted Seven Days Armistice The Eureka Stampede the Worst to Confer With Other Generals Regarding Giving Up.

From Wednesday's Daily London, March 8, via Skagway, March 13.-A dispatch from Pretoria dated Tuesday, Marcy 5th, and evidently held up by the censor has just met Botha and other Boer leaders on February 27th at Middleberg when the question of the possibilities of a cessation of hostilities was discussed at was not made known.

Another dispatch from Pretoria dated earlier than in town. March 6th was also received today and it says that the meeting of Kitchener and there are favorable expectations regarding the probable outcome.

That Ever Happened.

"The Stampede to Eureka was one of the worst that ever happened," said an old timer this morning to a Nugget representative. "I heard of the order Sunday night and in company with a couple of other men who had also been informed,' we secured one of the best dog teams in town and got started reached here. It says that Kitchener about 9 o'clock Sunday night. We made on an average about six miles an bour and reached Eureka at 7 o'clock Monday morning. There we found the roadhouse full to overflowing with men from Gold Run and other points length but the result of the conference along the creek, the information evidently having been circulated there

"The roadhouse at the mouth of Calder had been out of provisions some time before we arrived there and the and Botha has awakened deep interest bost they could do for us was to give us some tea and a few hard biscuits and impart the cheerful information that the nearest roadhouse was 25 miles distant and that perhaps we could get something to eat there but it was not

> 'There was a scene of excitement on Eureka with the early dawn and 15 minutes after we arrived Cleveland's roadhouse which had been crowded all night was deserted, the men scattering to all parts of the country. Some men had staked at 12 o'clock and stayed by their stakes until 10 o'clock Monday morning when they restaked and then rushed to town to record. There were men all along the route who had given up, the pace being too rapid for them. The way of the stampeder is hard."

Narrow Escape for His Whiskers. William B. Ellis, while engaged in taking out pay dirt from a 'fraction adjoining No. 16 Eldorado Thursday afternoon, encountered an unheard of quantity of black damp. Mr. Ellis had just sent up a bucket of pay dirt when to his horror he became blind and dizzy, and his one ambition naturally was to get to the top of the 30foot ladder which was close by. Mr. Ellis being a man of extraordinary endurance and athletic abilities, made good time on the ladder, but unfortunately collapsed and fell from the last round of the ladder, lighting on a waste pile at the bottom of the drift, already having gone through what would have killed an ordinary man. Mr. Ellis again staggered to the ladder,
