DEFECTIVE ROAD BED.

To the Editor of The Planet: Dear Sir,—Knowing that The Planet always takes an interest in the condition of the city streets and sidewalks, I would like to call attention to the dangerous holes in the Patterson avenue road bed. Unless they are attended to very shortly, horses are almost sure to be injured. I would like to know who is responsible for this state of affairs. Is there no one to look after the streets? Who will have to pay for any injuries received on this defective road bed?

THE REAL WIDOW BROWN.

We all have a certain weakness for widows, especially when they are as captivating as "The Real Widow Brown," which visits the Brisco Opera House on Saturday of this week, championed by the able manager, A. Q. Scammon. This amusing play is the latest bid for popular attraction from the American public, and there is no doubt that its great Berlin and London success will be duplicated here. It is a farce comedy of the most amusing type, replete with bright songs and clever dances, interpreted by some of the best artists in the theatrical world. It possesses a decidedly amusing plot, full of absurd complications and yet without clean and pure. If you see "The Real Widow Brown," you are bound to laugh. If you don't laugh you've made a mistake, and as a panacea for the blues you should have sought a druggist's prescription and not an orchestra chair. Bargain prices will prevail, namely, 15c, 25c, 35c and 60c, no higher.
