If you wanted a Suit or an Overcoat would you go to see a Doctor, or a Shoemaker? Not at all. You would go to see a First Class Tailor.

WELL, there's where we shine!!! We study the business. We know what suits a young man we know what suits a middle-aged man, and we know what suits the old gentleman—both in goods and in style. It does not make any difference whether you want your clothes Ready-to-Wear, or Made-to-Order. We are equally in a position to suit you. We do not let a suit or overcoat leave our establishment until it suits and fits the man who is buying. Our prices are always right when you take the quality into consideration.

Do not forget that we are sole agents for the famous W. H. Leishman & Co., Wholesale Custom Tailors. We have an elegant stock of Overcoats to show you at the present time.

Secret of Foch's Success

In an article in the "Atlantic Monthly," Mr. Charles Dawborn has given a glimpse of General Foch's character. We are told that he is a devout man, the son of devout parents, that his life has ever been free from intrigue and broad and lofty in his outlook. The secret of his success rests on his faith in God and his consolation as a good Christian. Faith in life eternal, in a God of goodness and compassion, the general has said, "has sustained me in the most trying hours. Prayer has enlightened my way." Religious sentiments these, arising from the depth of a thoroughly religious soul, notes a writer. When the history of the world war comes to be written, its closing sentence—let others like it or not—must in honesty be: The world was saved by Foch, the Catholic Foch and Prayer.

In the course of a sermon preached at Farm Street, London on Thanksgiving Sunday, Father Hampton, S. J., told the following edifying fact of Marshal Foch:

On the eve of the great offensive—the incident was related to me at first hand by a chaplain who was on the spot at the time—on the eve of July 18—Marshal Foch called together his generals and commanders of divisions for the last time and told them of his plans for the morrow and assigned to each of them his part in carrying them out, and in conclusion he said: "Now gentlemen, I have done all I can, I must leave the rest to you, and now may I beg to be left undisturbed, if possible, for the next hour or so," and he withdrew. A short time afterwards there came an urgent message from the front addressed to the Commander-in-Chief. Marshal Foch was no longer to be found. But the chaplain was in the secret, and he led the messenger to a lonely little chapel where, alone and unattended, the Marshal of France was on his knees in prayer, before the Blessed Sacrament. That prayer which the Commander-in-Chief, fine soldier and fine Catholic, offered in that Divine Presence, and to that Divine Victim never abiding upon the altar, was answered by the splendid triumph of the days which followed.

Father Bernard Vaughan, S. J., also recounted the following additional edifying facts: "One day when warning to talk with his Jesuit brother he is reported to have said: 'I know something about preparation for war, about formation and concentration, and I can follow up an advantage; but victory does not depend on me.' Then drawing from his tunic a little crucifix hanging from a twist of twine the Marshal continued: 'There, nailed to the Cross, is the Giver of Victory. Our triumph must come if we trust in Him.' After the victory of the Marne the Bishop thanked Foch. 'Monseigneur,' replied the General, 'thank not me, but Him Who made use of me.'"

A Modern Apostle

It has been announced from Rome that the cause of Beatification and Canonization of the Servant of God, Father James Desires Laval, Apostle of Mauritius, has been introduced in the Congregation of Rites. The decree, dated June 25, is printed in a recent number of the "Acta Apostolicae Sedis," official publication of the Holy Father and of the Roman Congregations.

Father Laval (1803-1864) is one of the great missionaries of the Holy Ghost order. Born in Normandy, from his childhood he gave proof of solid piety, filial obedience and gentle charity. His studies at Evreux and Paris were crowned with the degree of Doctor of Medicine. For five years he gave himself up to the practice of his chosen profession, winning esteem and confidence of all classes, by his medical skill and endearing himself to every

THE McISAACS

The McIsaacs are found recorded in the old charters relating to Lorne and Mid Argyle. Sir Thomas McIsaac of Largie (The district immediately south of Lorne). Married Matilda a daughter of King Robert the Bruce. There were seven Malcolm McIsaacs of that ilk in succession, with the result that the surname ultimately adopted became McCallin, now the Malcolms of Poltalloch.

1418—Gilbert McIsaac was one of the 26 kings of Mann; 1422 Hawley McIsaac was arranged for heading the instruction as to the Earl of Derby in Mann.

1511—The McIsaac family still retain a considerable tract of territory in the Isle of Mann. The surname is supposed to have originated from Saint Kiscock, one of the St. Columba Saints.

In their early history one of the name founded the Lereditary hundred years of the McDonalds of Clan Ranald. It was this latter branch that became numerous throughout the Clan Ranald territory. They are still fairly numerous in Arisaig, Moidart and the Isles. I believe the Nova Scotia McIsaac emigrants would be from these. They had no Tartan of their own, but would be entitled to wear the Clan Ranald Tartan.

(1) The Macdonalds of Sleat is a Tartan personal only to the Lord of the Isles.

(2) The General Macdonald Tartan belongs to all the Macdonalds.

The Jlongarry Macdonald is a Tartan with a white stripe through the middle of the green.

(3) The Clan Ranald Macdonald is a Tartan with two white stripes, one inside both edges of the green both ways. Thus forming a square.

The Present

Many a person looks out with unseeing eyes upon a landscape through which he is passing; even though the country be a strange one. So strong is his mental vision of scenes just left, or of those he is to meet, that for the moment the present is completely obliterated.

It were decidedly more sensible to leave the memory of the past and the pleasurable anticipations of greetings that await us at the culmination of the journey, and enjoy to its full the present view, of delightful hills and vales that are so fleeting. We may not pass this way again.

The delights of a journey do not consist alone in the welcome awaiting us, but in the scenes and incidents by the way as well.

Thus we picture and dream of the joys of the great tomorrow of heaven, and fail to extract the heaven-sent joys of the present.

Memory stretches across such voids of time. Faith reaches to the farthest limits of eternity. The present contains the essence of the two.

We heap up so much on the altar of remembrance that we allow the fires to die upon the present, thereby missing the joy and peace which it might minister unto us.

We are dead and blind to the impalpable influence of the things about us. We have not learned to see or listen. In vain Nature signs her songs in the sunshine, the flowers the babbling brooks, while our thoughts are dwelling upon joys that await in the tomorrow which may never be ours.

"You've heard of Cleopatra, ain't ye, Jack?" queried the "old salt."

Jack (referring to a ship of that name)—"Yes, I was out in China with 'er in '96."

The dooce yer was! Then she ain't been dead so long as I thought."

Palpitation of the heart is very often accompanied by weak, faint and dizzy spells, and is generally caused by some sudden fright, or associated with conditions of nervous breakdown, but whatever the cause, it is of considerable importance that the heart should be strengthened, and brought back to its regular beat.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy to do this for you.

Mr. Henry Everett, Killam's Mills, N. B., writes: "I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for heart trouble. I was very weak and run down, my heart would palpitate, I would take faint and dizzy spells, and sometimes I would fall down in a faint. I started to take your pills and I must say they have done wonders for me. I will always speak a good word for your Heart and Nerve Pills."
