

VINE

COMING HARVEST

WINE, GRAPE, N JUTE. Early Purchasers.

usual, is com- re, as you like it.

N & Co.

!

ds!

all Stock, announced

AC.

COMFORTING.

COCOA.

FAST.

A knowledge of the natural operations of digestion... A GOOD PRESENT... BIRTHS... DEATHS... TOWN TOPICS... BRIEFLETS... SPAVIN CURE... POWDERS!

McGuire's Kidney Cure... SPAVIN CURE... POWDERS!

POWDERS! EFFICIENT ODORS. A - CREAM AND FRECKLES. STILLA LAPPED HANDS. I F O A M - THE TEETH. 'S OATMEAL THE TOILET. 'S PERFUME, EFFICIENT ODORS. 'S AND FINE GOODS. 'S SION Drug Store.

THE SIGNAL AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE

GODERICH, ONT., FRIDAY, SEPT. 6, 1889. D. MCGILLICUDDY PUBLISHER. $1.50 A YEAR IN ADVANCE.

TO ADVERTISERS.

Notice of changes must be left at this office not later than Monday noon... Casual advertisements accepted up to noon Thursday of each week.

Local Notices.

All advance notices in the local columns of THE SIGNAL of meetings or entertainments at which an admission fee is charged... inserted a brief local will be given free.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Ante-Fred. E. Young... Servant Wanted-Mrs. Kidd... Cow Down Prices-Wm. Burrows... Servant Wanted-Mrs. M. McLeod... Garney Furnaces-Saunders & Son.

BORN.

GODARTS-At Leam, on the 29th of Aug. 1889, the wife of B. Godarts, of... ELLENAS-At Amherst, on Monday...

DIED.

FRY-In Goderich, on Monday, Sept. 2nd, 1889, the wife of J. Perry, of a son...

TOWN TOPICS.

A child's name, 'ye takin' notes... A GOOD PRESENT... BIRTHS... DEATHS... TOWN TOPICS... BRIEFLETS... SPAVIN CURE... POWDERS!

BRIEFLETS.

Mrs. M. J. Robinson, of Dubuque, Iowa... On the Wing... Miss Margaret Sloan... C. R. Vanstone and bride... Miss Lizzie Foley... Mr. Ben Thomas... Wingham Advance... Dr. M. Nicholson... The North-at S. S. Band of Hope... AN IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENT...

We are sorry to learn that Miss Mamie Black is seriously ill.

The regular meeting of the town council will be held this (Friday) evening.

Mrs. Alexander (nee Williams) of Niagara, is visiting at the parental residence.

Mr. Charles Crabb, of the Polson iron works, Toronto, is spending a two weeks' holiday at the old homestead.

Mr. Gregory Tom, the new assistant principal in the Central School, assumed charge of his class on Monday.

Miss Cooke, who has recently been appointed organist in St. George's church, took charge of the organ on Sunday last.

Mr. P. W. Currie, of Strathroy, on Monday took charge of the class in the High School recently taught by Mr. Kaiser.

A baseball match was played in Seaford last Saturday between the Seaford and Goderich clubs. The Goderich team won by a score of 27 to 7.

Mr. Angus McKay, of Chicago, is visiting in town, and is the guest of his brother, Mr. D. C. McKay. Mr. McKay had not been in Goderich for nearly thirty years.

Lieut. Dudley Holmes returned on Saturday from the Military School, where he had been attending the special course. Lieut. Holmes was successful in his studies and obtained a second class certificate.

Persons wishing to improve their memories or strengthen their power of attention should send to Prof. Loisset, 237 Fifth Ave., N. Y., for his prospectus post free, as advertised in another column.

The annual meeting for the election of officers of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held in the Temperance Hall on Tuesday Sept. 10th, at 3 o'clock. Prayer-meeting as usual at 2:30. All members are earnestly requested to attend.

We have received a poster announcing the 4th annual exhibition of the Central Saskatchewan Agricultural Society, to be held at Saskatoon, on October 2nd. A long list of prizes is offered. Mr. Jno. F. Clarke, of Clark's Crossing, son-in-law of Mr. Wm. Ashton, of Howick, is president.

EXHIBITION NOTES.—One of the evening attractions at the N. W. Exhibition will be the pyrotechnic fountain display, which will be under the direction of Mr. R. S. Saloway, who will also give an exhibition with his dissolving lanterns, which will be supplied with two of the large electric lamps. Further particulars of this display will be given next week.

The lawn tennis club held a tournament on Saturday afternoon, and made up our mind that F. & A. Fridman's representation, like their prices for foreign-made goods, was a large attendance, Clinton, Seaford and other neighboring towns contributing to players and audience. There were several well contested games, and the whole series was of such a nature as to prove exceedingly interesting to onlookers.

DON'T DELAY!—Fully twenty thousand people are expected at the Great North Western Exhibition, which will commence in about ten days; and merchants and others who intend making a display will consult their best interests by leaving orders for circulars, folders, cards, dogers, posters, streamers, cards, board strips, &c., at the SIGNAL, as soon as possible, and avoid delay by a rush during the fair.

ON THE WING.—Mr. D. E. McConnell, the foreign correspondent of THE SIGNAL, whose letters from Australia, India and the Holy Land have proved so interesting to our readers, was in town on Tuesday, having run up to Huron to visit relatives and friends. For the past year he has been living in London, Eng., but has again decided to go on his travels, his objective point this time being South America. We have made arrangements with Mr. McConnell to continue the series of interesting letters from foreign parts, and we know that our action in this connection will be duly appreciated by our readers. He is a racy writer, a keen observer, and intrepid traveller, and everything from his pen is worthy of perusal.

GODERICH DISTRICT MEETING.—The annual autumn meeting of the Goderich District met in North-st. Methodist Church on Tuesday. Most of the ministers of the district and a good number of lay representatives were present. The principal business of the meeting was to make arrangements for holding the district to be raised for the superannuation fund. This having been done, arrangements were made for holding a District Sunday School Convention, and after considerable discussion it was resolved that it shall be held at Holmesville, and a committee was appointed to fix the time and make the programme. It was also intimated that a similar convention will be held some time during the year for class leaders, and local preachers. A committee was also appointed as a district temperance committee, to take what steps may be deemed necessary to advance the cause of temperance. A very animated and profitable conversation then took place upon the best method of holding revival services, in which most of the brethren took part. The Rev. G. Richardson acted as chairman, and Rev. W. F. Campbell as secretary. And this very interesting meeting closed with the benediction at 3:45 p. m.

Mr. Will Roberts, of Toronto, was visiting his family in town last week.

Miss Hodgson, of Brampton, is visiting at the residence of Mr. W. R. Robertson.

The Model students commenced their studies on Monday, under the charge of Principal Park.

Mrs. Roberts, of Seaford, was the guest of Mr. Alex. Chrystal for a few days this week.

Mrs. Humber and Master Charles are spending a pleasant time at Thousand Island Park, U.S.

Miss Way and Master Waller have returned to their home in Toronto after a visit to Goderich at the residence of Mr. C. A. Humber.

Messrs. Alex. Saunders and Wm. McCreath visited Curt Maple Leaf, Canadian Order of Foresters, Clinton, last week. A number of initiations were on the cards.

Owing to the making of improvements recently in Mr. Geo. Stewart's photograph studio, his work has been thrown behind a week or so; and Mr. Stewart would respectfully request customers to kindly wait for a few days, to allow him time to finish their work.

The Harvest Festival under the auspices of the Woman's Guild of St. George's church will be held on Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 25th and 26th. A service will be held in the church on Wednesday evening and a Rainbow Tea in the roller rink on the evening of Thursday.

LOOK OUT FOR CROOKS.—Mayor Butler has been notified that a large number of confidence men, burglars and other crooks are following in the train of Barmum's circus, and commit depredations not only in the towns and cities, but also in the open country, and also run out to places adjoining and ply their nefarious trade. During the next few days our residents would do well to be on guard against suspicious looking strangers. A word to the wise is sufficient.

THE BEST YET.—A few thousand improved note and receipt forms have just been printed and manufactured into books at THE SIGNAL, which are ahead of anything of the kind we have yet offered for sale, being bound in heavy pressboard covers, with cloth backs and steel stitched, and of a size that may be carried in any ordinary coat pocket. For store, shop and office use we are making a large quantity up into pads of 100 receipts each. The prices are very reasonable. Call and see them at THE SIGNAL.

COMPLEMENTARY CONVERT TO MISS COOKE.—Let every denomination be thoroughly represented at the complimentary concert to Miss Cooke, to-night, and show their appreciation in a tangible manner of the many services rendered by her in musical entertainments, which have as readily and freely been given to one as to another. Tickets have been put out at the reasonable price of 25c, to all parts of the house, with the privilege of having reserved seats marked at Fraser & Porter's to those wishing to go for them. The following is the program:

Table listing musical programs with names and titles such as 'The Girl Who Sings', 'A Song Without Words', 'True as the Stars', 'The Lute Song', etc.

SOCIETIES PICNIC.—The picnic at the Point Farm under the auspices of the A. O. U. W. and Foresters of Goderich and vicinity, on Friday last, was largely attended, and a most enjoyable time was spent. Suitable games were provided and many availed themselves of the opportunity to bathe in the lake down by the sandy beach. An outdoor spread was had, and through the forethought of the ladies there was enough and to spare of good things for the inner man. One of the features of the day was the retaking of the bowling championship from the renewed Joe Morris by his venerable father, Patriarch John Morris. Not satisfied with recovering the championship, Father Morris threw down a challenge to THE SIGNAL representative, and came out victorious, of course. But we all had a good time, all the same. In the evening short addresses were given by Rev. Messrs Henderson and Hutton, and Messrs McGillicuddy, Hetherington and the general proprietor of Point Farm, Mr. J. Wright. After votes of thanks had been tendered to the proprietor of the grounds and the ladies who provided the refreshment, many of the picnickers returned home, but a considerable number adjourned to the spacious parlors of the hotel, where, with music and singing, a prolongation of the enjoyment was secured. On the whole, the joint picnic was a decided success, and the event bids fair to become annual.

Miss Helen A. Reid left Monday, on a visit to her sister at Grand Rapids, Michigan.

COMING BACK TO THE OLD TOWN.—We learn that Mrs. Copeland, of Chicago, formerly of Goderich, has purchased the store on East-st., previously owned by Mr. C. E. Strabel, and intends to open a new millinery store in Goderich next spring. Mrs. Copeland for years occupied a leading place amongst Goderich milliners, and during her absence from the town has been engaged in some of the principal millinery establishments of Chicago, and she proposes with ripened experience and increased capital once more to take a front rank in the millinery line in Goderich.

The regular meeting of the Public School Board was held on Monday evening. Present—Messrs. S. Malcolmson, chairman, Acheson, Ball, Crabb, Morton, Nicholson and Swanson. Minutes of former meeting were read and confirmed.

The principal's report, showing an average attendance of 578-294 boys and 284 girls—was received and filed. Printed forms for the Model class and one obtained of former committee. The principal reported that blinds were needed in St. David's school, and that some rooms in the Central required different seating accommodation. On motion these matters were referred to a committee. An account from F. Smeeth, for seating the principal's room, was referred to Messrs Morton, Acheson, Crabb and Nicholson, with power to pay if according to sample. The board then adjourned.

"EQUAL RIGHTS" MEETING.

What the Exponents of the Cause had to say on the subject.

An "Equal Rights" meeting was held in Victoria hall Thursday evening last, and was fairly attended. The speakers were Rev. Messrs Young and Mordy, of the Niagara district.

The meeting was opened by the singing of the "Doxology" and prayer by Rev. Mr. Mordy, after which, on motion, Mr. C. Crabb was called to the chair.

Mr. Young was the first speaker, and began by asking the question, "who are the Jesuits?" which he answered by quoting from Principal Austin's pamphlet on the subject. Their aims, said the speaker, were not to educate the people, and not to advance the interests of mankind, but to propagate Romanism and to exterminate Protestantism. To attain that end they were allowed to adopt any means, no matter how questionable, how illegal, or how wrongful. The Jesuit code laid down that to combat and to destroy the interests of mankind, it was right to rejoice in the death of a relative if he differed in faith; to kill one who disagreed with or defamed the faith; and to commit perjury so that Protestantism would be checked. The Jesuits on account of their actions had been expelled from sixty countries; and no one was to be incorporated in any country but Canada. They were disallowed in Canada by a statute passed in 1775, but provision was made for the maintenance of the existing members at that time until the last one would die. The last of the order, embodied in this provision died in 1801, and as no one was to be incorporated in any country but Canada, that was the end of them in accordance with the statute of 1775. They remained unrecognized by law until the year before last, when they were incorporated in Quebec by Mr. Mercier, and now make claims to the assistance of the olden Jesuits, which had been eschewed. They had no moral claim to them, said the speaker, and the question of disallowance should be fought to the bitter end. The Dominion and Provincial Governments all pandered to Romanism, and in the securing of Dominion appointments the Catholics were particularly favored. He stated that in the Senate there were 21 Catholic employees, and only 12 Protestants; in the Commons there were 3 Romanists, 2 Presbyterians and 31 Methodists; and in the agricultural department 24 Romanists, 1 Presbyterian, and no Methodists. The Catholics also had separate schools in Ontario, but were not satisfied with that and raised an agitation that was successful in driving the Bible out of the schools, and substituting a text-book which was approved by Archbishop Lynch. Down in his own district, Niagara, a special outrage had been perpetrated. Between Queenston and Chippewa ran a magnificent public highway, known as the old Portage Road, which was one of the finest drives in Canada, giving a magnificent view of the river. A Catholic convent was built in the vicinity, and so that privacy was made a governor. If, on the other hand, hierarchy used its influence with the Government to close up that highway.

Mr. John Wynn.—That is not so; the Canada Southern Railway had the change effected, when constructing the road.

This seemed to stagger the speaker for the time being, but recovering he said, "I live down there, and know what I'm speaking about." He then dropped the Portage Road, and stated that in 1885 the Local Government dispensed $70,000 in public charities and gave $40,000 of that amount to the Roman Catholics. In conclusion he called upon the electors to join the Equal Rights movement and to test the candidates for office before voting for them.

Mr. Mordy next took the platform and stated that the two great evils of the present day were partyism and Romanism. In politics the two parties were like the two dogs fighting for a piece of meat, and while they fought the cunning fox—the Church of Rome—secured the meat. This should not be, said the speaker, for a Reform Government cannot hurt Conservatives without injuring themselves, and a Conservative Government could not injure Reformers without suffering in a similar proportion. He then gave instances to show that party politics caused otherwise good men to act inconsistently, and there was no difference between the purely party candidate of either stripe. The devil sets up two candidates, and his man is elected no matter which wins. The Church of Rome always gets its share of what goes and the two parties were like two cows, in that each was well milked by it. In Quebec there were millions of dollars worth of Catholic church property exempt from taxation. It was quite true that Protestant churches were also exempt, but the speaker was opposed to all exemptions on church property. If a preacher is poor he won't have much taxes to pay, and if he has a fat living he ought to be able and willing to pay. He himself had not been assessed, but he had gone to the authorities and insisted upon paying the same as his neighbors. The Jesuits' Estates bill was the last straw that broke the camel's back. It was wrong for Mr. Mercier to incorporate the Jesuits, and the question of disallowance should be allowed to go to the Privy Council. Down at the Niagara frontier they had a customs collector to detect smugglers. When an honest man was asked by the collector to open his valise, he never hesitated to do so, but the man who was trying to defraud always objected to have what he carried see the light of day, and invariably threw every obstacle in the way. And so it was with regard to the Government. It was wrong for the case went to the Privy Council the Protestants would get their own. The speaker then went on to interpret the reading of the Jesuits' Estates Act to mean that the Jesuits would surely get the amount set down to them, but that there was a possibility of the Protestants not getting the $100,000 awarded to them, and after ingeniously twisting the verbiage of the act, finally stated that even if it was given he hated the Protestants would not take it. The separate schools were next taken up and the idea of teaching the catechism to the scholars was audaciously preached. "Why," said the speaker, "do you know what that catechism teaches? If you don't, I can tell you. It says that 'Protestants will be damned to hell!' (Sensation.) There was too much trucking to Rome on account of the powers that be. 70,000 persons had petitioned the Governor-General for disallowance, and after that functionary had closed the mouth of the delegation he snubbed them by delivering them a lecture on the question which he had said was not debatable. We pay this man well, said the speaker, and the least he might do in return was to try and be civil. There were two views advanced in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve in connection with the Governor-General's reception of the delegation—one that he spoke his own sentiments, and the other that he voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, the Minister of Justice. If he spoke for himself he should have acted like a man, for God made him a man before he made a governor. If, on the other hand, Lord Stanley only voiced the opinion of Sir John Thompson, he is only a parrot, and $50,000 is too much to pay for such a bird, in addition to the amount that it takes annually to provide him with a cage. (Sensation.) If he can't do better than to resolve