LORD'S DAY ACT
WELL OBSERVED

That the Lord's Day Observance act is being generally well observed in the province of Alberta is the opinion of Rev. W. M. Rochester, western secretary of the alliance, who is at present in the city on a tour of the western provinces. To the Bulletin Mr. Rochester stated that there had been a good deal of construction work but this had been brought to the attention of the attorney general's department with the result that there have been no further complaints.

Closing of Post Offices.
"The closing of the post offices on Sunday is probably no longer a live issue," said the secretary, when asked with reference to that phase of the work of the alliance.

"There have been many expressions of gratification at this action," he continued, "from clerks and stenographers. It is not generally known that Sunday closing of the post office was originated with the alliance. We drew the attention of the department to the fact that much Sunday labor in business offices was resulting from mail being given out on Sundays. The department sent out a representative who heard arguments pro and con, and it was on his recommendation that the closing was ordered.

Sunday Excursions.
Sunday excursions in Winnipeg have been discontinued as a result of the alliance's efforts and conditions at Banff have been greatly improved.

"As a result of a conference with the Dominion Steel company at Sydney, N.S., there has been a large reduction in Sunday work affecting thousands of employees.

"Sunday concerts in certain parts of Saskatchewan have also been stopped."
Some Smaller Matters.
Speaking of some of the smaller matters that were now engaging the attention of the alliance, Rev. Mr.
Rochester said: "The Sunday business of an illegal character carried on in restaurants, confectionery stores, drug stores, hotel stands, etc., is now being considered. There is no ground for complaints as to certain aspects of their business carried on upon the Lord's day, such as the giving of meals, the selling of medicines, etc. The objection arises in connection with the sale of goods to be taken off the premises, and other unnecessary sales, in the case of hotels and restaurants, and the selling by drug stores of goods other than medicines.

"Difficulty is found in dealing with the matter because of the superficial consideration given it by many. They say, 'What is the harm in selling a little fruit or some candy on Sunday?' They forget that law demands respect in little things as well as in great; that there is a principle at stake; they do not realize that the liberty taken by some may well be demanded by all and we should have as a logical issue every place of business open on the Lord's day. If a hotel or drug store sells tobacco on Sunday why should not the tobacconist keep open shop; if a hotel sells papers on the Lord's day, why should not the newsboy or the book store do likewise; and if a restaurant does a Sunday business in fruit why shouldn't the grocer enjoy the same liberty?"

Situation Complicated.
"Certain magisterial deliveries have complicated the situation. One of these is to the effect that 'ice cream is a food,' another is that the hotels have the right to sell cigars so other places ought. Answer may be made to the one that the question at issue is not what is food, but what is necessary to sell; and to the other that it is an assumption to say that hotels have the right to sell cigars and tobacco.

"In the case of the drug stores the Lord's Day act is specific. The sale of drugs and surgical appliances necessary for the relief of suffering is permitted. In the case of hotels and restaurants the alliance has emphasized the fact of the dual character of the business carried on in these places, namely, that of the hotel or restaurant proper supplying accommodation and giving meals, and that of the merchant selling to be taken off the premises, and has stated the principle that they should do their distinctive and necessary work as hotels and restaurants, but on the Lord's day, should not do the business of a merchant. Justice Clute, of Ontario, has emphasized this distinction, and a recent case in Hamilton, Ont., called forth from the presiding judge a clear statement of the principles involved in this Sunday trade.

"A restaurant keeper fined $20 by the police magistrate for selling candy on Sunday, appealed to the county court. Judge Snider, senior judge of the county of Wentworth, sustained the decision of the magistrate. In doing so he pointed out that the Lord's Day act does not take cognizance of the selling of food on Sunday, but only necessary business and labor. That candy is a food does not affect the legal aspect.
If it did, he might as well have sold cabbage and because the appellant carried on the business of a merchant on Sunday he violated the law.

"The assertion and application of such principles will appeal to all thoughtful people. In all parts of the west the alliance is endeavoring to have the Lord's Day act recognized in its application to this class of business."

Boat Race in Rhodesia.

Canadian Associated Press.
Livingstone, Rhodesia, Aug. 17.— Betting in connection with the Arnet-Barry boat race for the championship of the world, which takes place tomorrow on the Zambezi course, is 6 to 4 on Arnet, the present champion.

FAIR GROUNDS TO BE A BLAZE OF LIGHT

The finishing touches are now being put on the new exhibition grounds and all will be in readiness for the opening of the biggest fair in Edmonton's history on Tuesday afternoon next. The great advance which has been made in the last few days was noted this morning by a Bulletin representative, who visited the grounds in company with Manager Harrison. The grand stand upon which a double shift of men has been working for the last week will be completed without difficulty by Monday night. The greater part of the roof is now in place and the seats are already being built into the stand. A corps of carpenters are engaged in putting up the attraction platform in front of the stand.

Gravel walks, green lawns, groves of trees and pretty flower beds will greet the eye of the visitor to the fair on entering by the main gate at the southwest corner of the grounds. The roads and driveways which have been well graded, lead from the gate at Willow avenue to the east side of the grounds. All carriages and vehicles will enter by this gateway.

A Fine Entrance.
The main entrance is through handsome concrete block gateway of the lodge type. Here there will be four turnstiles, two on either side of a large central exit. Tickets will be sold from four booths, built into the gateway on each side of the turnstiles. To this entrance a sidewalk has been built, the entire length of the grounds from the present terminus of the street railway system on Alberta avenue at the north.

With nearly two score large buildings already completed and twenty more being erected by concession-aires, the fair grounds have assumed the appearance of a small city. All the buildings will be connected with the fire station on the grounds by an alarm system. At night they will be brilliantly lighted. The fronts of all buildings are being outlined with incandescent bulbs. As the buildings are symmetrically arranged and face on the central square at the south of which the grand stand is located, the effect of this electric illumination will be very striking. The large pond at the north of the grounds will be filled with water until it assumes the appearance of a miniature lake, bordered by the walks and driveways. Workmen are now engaged in the installation of three fountains in this area. The illumination of this lake at night by artificial light and fireworks is being considered by the directors of the pyrotechnic display.
It is in full view of the grand stand.
Samples of Grain.
A novel feature of the fair will be the exhibition in two plots of ground surrounded by a rustic fence, of grain grown in the Edmonton district. Each plot is a quarter of an acre in area and the grain will be set out in stock just as it has been taken from the binder. This exhibition will be made in addition to one of assorted samples, which will be on display in one of the buildings.

All privilege spaces available in the grounds have now been let and booths of all kinds are being erected. There will be many lunch counters for the convenience of visitors, besides the main dining hall of the association to the east of the grand stand. In this hall there will be accommodation for the serving of two hundred people at one time. Beneath the grand stand, facing the south, there are a dozen large spaces which have been let to exhibitors. This avenue in the rear of the stand will be lined with booths of various kinds and will lead to the big Midway, which is to be located in the open space to the east of the half-mile track.

Many Horses Here.
A score of race horses are already in the box stalls provided for them in the fine stable to the north of the track. They are worked out on the track each day by owners and jockeys.
The track is in splendid condition for fast going.

In the construction of the cattle and horse stables, entrance by steps at one end has been provided for spectators, and all cattle and horses will be taken in and out of the opposite end over a sloping approach.

The exhibit of farm machinery will be made in the open to the south of the cattle sheds by the east fence of the grounds.

"We have outgrown our space this year," said Manager Harrison to the Bulletin, "and next year must go outside of the grounds and take in twenty acres for the exhibition of agricultural implements."

Flag poles have been erected on every building and when the fair opens, six days hence, half a hundred flags will be flying, in addition to two big streamers, which will float from two poles as large as shipmasts at the entrance to the grounds.

MEDICINE HAT'S BIG FAIR.

Opens Under Favorable Auspices—Racing Result.

Medicine Hat, Alta., Aug. 17.—Medicine Hat's big fair opened under the most favorable auspices today. The crowd was large and the weather perfect. Buildings to the value of ten thousand dollars have been erected this year and the exhibitors fully appreciated the extra advantages offered.
The racing resulted as follows:
Green trot or pace, half mile—1, Nudger K. Alberta Stables, 2, 1, 1; 2, Lady Mac, J. Smith, 1, 2, 2, 3; Beauty, J. L. Cox, 3, 3, 3. Time 1:19, 1:18 1/4, 1:21.

Three Rivers, Que., Aug. 16.—Mrs.
Napoleon Bureau, mother of Hon.
Jacques Bureau, solicitor general for Canada, died today at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. L. Girard, at the age of 75 years. The funeral will take place on Saturday morning from the cathedral here.

LEAPED FROM THE
STEAMER'S DECK

Montreal, Aug. 17.—A blinding mist and heavy rain aided two young stowaways aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Monmouth to make their escape from the ship in which they had crossed the Atlantic. The Monmouth arrived in port yesterday afternoon.

When but a few hours out from port, bound for Montreal, the officers of the Monmouth discovered there were two stowaways on the ship, who, under cover of the confusion of the last few moments in port, had come aboard and by some means managed to remain unnoticed until the lines had been cast off and the ship was under way.

To turn back was out of the question, to punish the men in any manner other than by keeping them in confinement was not wise, after looking them up until the ship was past the last part of Great Britain the boys, for they were but about twenty years of age, were taken out and made to work, and work hard about the ship.

Until the Gulf of St. Lawrence was reached all went well. Then the spirit of liberty rose in the boys' hearts and a desire to see this great new country for which they had risked so much began to get a stronger hold upon them.

Jumped Overboard.
On Thursday morning, while the rain came down in torrents and the fog lay about so thick that the bow of the ship could not be seen from the stern, and while the crew and officers were all at breakfast, these daring fellows lifted a gang plank, raised it to the side and trusting to the noise of the rain falling on the steel ship, let the gangway go and immediately followed it overboard.

For a while, it looked as though they would escape into the dense fog, but soon the eye of the pilot on the bridge noticed the floating object and making out its lines, alarmed the ship and in a few minutes, as promptly as a well trained crew could accomplish it, a boat was over the side and three stout British sailors were pulling toward the fast disappearing float.

In the meantime, the gangway, borne down by the outgoing tide, aided slightly by the paddling of the two stowaways who had secured bits of board as paddles, was fast being separated from the big ship.

Were Drifting to Gulf.
When the boys were overtaken they were devoutly thankful that instead of being allowed to drift out into the trackless Gulf on a float, one corner of which persisted in going under water, they were about to be taken back, drenched and cold, to where they would get at least some little attention.

"They never knew the peril of that trip," one of the officers of the Monmouth said when telling the story today. "It would only have been one chance in a thousand that they would ever have got from the ship course to land down there. They would probably have run foul of some passing ship, or if they did not they were miles away from land. They did not know what a fog on the water means.

They had heard that they were in the river and they thought it was like an English river. They are bad young beggars," he added, "but they're the sort who keep the British Bull Dog on his legs."

Broke from Manacles.

But the adventures of these two men, who gave their names as Ramsen and Wilson, did not terminate when they were put back aboard the Monmouth. They were taken to a cabin and securely locked in it. At the same time their feet were fettered with the ship's irons. No one dreamed of escape, but when the watch made his first regular visit to the prisoners, to his astonishment the men were walking about. They were again locked up and on the arrival of the ship at Montreal yesterday they were turned over to the immigration authorities to await the return sailing of the Monmouth.

FOUND WITH THROAT CUT.

Private Detective in Search of Mur-derer Meets Unlucky Fate.

Quincy, Mass., August 16.—
"Griffin was found this morning; his throat cut," was the text of a message received today by Chief Police Burrill, of Quincy, from Chief McEachern, of Sydney, N.S. Griffin, who is supposed to belong to Lynn, conducted on his own account a search for Louis Restelli, the Cal-ish stone worker, who killed two persons and wounded three others in this city nearly three weeks ago.

Sydney, N.S., August 16.—Griffin, ostensibly a detective from Quincy, Mass., was in this section of the country to follow up Restelli, the Quincy double murderer, was found with his throat cut nearly from ear to ear in an alleyway here this morning. He had been dead for some hours. At midnight he had been engaged in conversing with Chief McEachern.

His talk at the time was of an article taken from the Quincy papers.
Griffin has been in this vicinity for two weeks. He has been little in communication with the local police and he had told many people with whom he had been in conversation that he was a Quincy detective engaged upon the Restelli case. When found, the man lay on his face about the middle of the alleyway. He was discovered by workmen, who had to pass through the alley.

Opium as Chinese Chestnuts.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 17.—A shipment of five thousand dollars' worth of opium, consigned to some Vancouver firm at present unknown, was seized today. The shipment was sent from Hong Kong as Chinese chestnuts.

400 AMERICANS ON WAY TO EDMONTON

That four hundred Americans, on a very conservative estimate, will locate in the Edmonton district this fall was a statement made at the immigration halls Wednesday morning by newly-arrived settlers, who are now in the city.

These Americans will come to Canada as the result of the reports of agents and forerunners who have been sent out by them to look over the country and select suitable districts for location.

Spied Out the Land.

H. H. Wade, of Oregon, who was sent out this spring by a large party of American farmers, expects to bring back a very considerable number of settlers with him.

In Mr. Wade's opinion there is plenty of good land within a radius of a hundred and thirty miles of Edmonton open for homesteading, and is in every way suitable for wheat growing and mixed farming.

Arkansas Men Impressed.

R. C. Phillips and Norman Carter, two farmers from Arkansas, who had their fare to Canada paid by farmers in their district, wishing to get a reliable report on the conditions of Canadian homestead lands in regard to soil, market facilities, climate, etc., have returned to Arkansas much impressed with the brilliant possibilities for farming in the Edmonton district.

Their report will do much towards inducing immigration from that district.

U.S. TROOPS IN CANADA.

Their Expedition Against Common Enemy, the Fire Fiend.

Portland, August 16.—The U.S. troops have invaded Canada but their expedition was against a common foe.
Forest fires soldiers have been de-patched from the American lake manoeuvres to Washington, and following the roundabout railway route passed through Canada. Their destination was the Colville reserve, where a line of fire fighters fifteen miles long is being maintained. The soldiers are expected to be on the field in the Colville reserve today. The fire situation has not been improved by the light rain which fell in some sections.

Were Aided from Outside.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 16.—The authorities announce that an investigation at the Hamilton asylum has proved without doubt that Molr and Taggart, the escaped prisoners, were aided from without. No trace of the fugitives has been found.

West Indies Commission Finished.

London, Aug. 17.—The Royal Commission which has been sitting for the purpose of considering trade relations between Canada and the West Indies has concluded its report, which will be presented to the home government immediately.
