PROVOKES OPPOSITION.

Melbourne, October 4.—A great fight is expected in Parliament over the decision of the Hon. Mr. Fisher, Premier, to construct the Government railroad from Port Augusta to Kalgoorlie to the standard gauge. The states through which the line will pass, and whose railroads are of broad gauge, are strenuously objecting, and the plan of the Premier will be vigorously opposed.

Tim Shannahan on the Fall Trade

And now the busy season is arrived once more and the inviting gansey hangs outside the drapery door, swayed by the cold northeaster. The sound of the nail drawer is in the air, and half damp carters grumble as they often grumbled before; express drivers and errand boys trip over obstacles in the dark while they search for the schooner that has just hauled out in the stream, and skippers of schooners grumble about their cull.
The vendor of partridge berries and tried caplin are on their rounds, while the "priser" goes from store to store and jades the assistants seeking quotations. The man who did well on the Labrador swaggers along with a half stogged pipe, and looks as if all the world stood back and wondered, and the keen-eyed shop-man shakes his hand and asks the old-time question of "How are you home?" From the south side of Water Street comes an occasional tune on an accordion, tunes we knew so well, as the "Irish Washerwoman" or "She was Lovely and Fair as the Roses in Summer." In fine the Fall trade has opened. But there are many old scenes that we miss, such as the auctioneer perched on a counter waving a pair of blankets, or tenderly plucking on a piece of fancy moleskin.
The outthorbar man of to-day is not the outthorbar man of days gone by.
Noisy preachers have preached the doctrine that the St. John's dealer is out to do him every time, and consequently he has grown suspicious.
Before now the outthorbar man didn't lose days and nights travelling the town in search of the right place to buy. He had confidence in the salesmen and he saved time and trouble.
To-day salesmen and shopkeepers are just as upright and honest as then.
Competition is greater and keener and therefore all this anxiety about prices is absolutely unnecessary. Ask any man who travels this town looking for prices if there is any great difference in any of the stores, and he will tell you that there is not. He will tell you that hunting this town is a waste of patience and energy. But the man who is ready to die for the outthorbar man is abroad, and he never dies. On the contrary he grows fat and profits by making a soft living by pretending to lose sleep in making the outthorbar man wise.
This kind of work is a downright insult to the intelligence of the fishermen and it is high time that they be told to take a dive for themselves off some good long wharf and forget to come up.
Surely the fisherman's life is hard enough without compelling him to turn himself into a Pinkerton detective before he sets out to buy his goods for the winter.
TIM SHANNAHAN.

Collegians Won Yesterday's Football

The inter-collegiate match between the Methodists and St. Bon's yesterday afternoon was won by the former by one goal to nil. The players on the winning side were: Ross, T.
Lynch, B. Lynch, Crumby, Burt, Hays-tow, Gear, Stevenson, Hayward, Parsons and Tucker. St. Bon's team were: Lundrigan, Knight, Murphy, Hogan, Bailey, Rawlins, Hagan, Smith, Keegan, Crawford and Duchemin. Winning the toss the Methodists took the eastern goal in order to get the benefit of the wind. After nine minutes of lively play, Parsons of the Methodists sent in the goal of the evening, the one and only. On changing sides St. Bon's played a harder game than ever, but the defence was too strong on the part of their opponents. The rain hampered the play a good deal towards the close. The Methodists and St. Bon's will play on Saturday.

Mr. McNeily's Funeral.

All that was mortal of the late Mr.
A. J. W. McNeily was committed to mother earth yesterday afternoon at the General Protestant Cemetery. The coffin was preceded by brethren of the Masonic lodges and of the Orange Association, and on it rested the regalia of these orders. Following the coffin came the chief mourners, the eldest son of the deceased, Mr. J. A.
W. McNeily, and his nephew, Mr. W.
McNeily, and Mr. W. P. Rogerson and Hon. J. B. Ayre, brother-in-law. Then followed the members of the Law Society, and after them the general public. Among those present we noticed His Honor the Administrator, Sir William Horwood; the Rt. Hon.
Sir Robert Bond, Mr. Justice Johnson, Hon. J. S. Pitts and Canon Bolt.
The service at the side of the grave was conducted by Rev. Dr. Cowperthwaite and Rev. J. W. Bartlett. Rev.
Dr. Rogers and Rev. F. R. Matthews were also in attendance.
After the religious service, the Masonic grand honours were given to their late District Grand Registrar by the Masons, and the Orange grand honours were also given as a tribute to the late Past Master.

Erik at Domino.

The S. S. Erik, employed by the Canadian Government all summer in Hudson Bay, arrived at Domino yesterday on the way south. Messrs. Job Bros. & Co., her owners, having received a marconigram to that effect.
She will go to Sydney from Domino through the Straits of Belle Isle and will probably take a load of coal there for some of the Canadian light houses in the Straits and on the Newfoundland Coast. Her charter was not out till November. Capt. J. S.
Blandford is in command of the Erik.
