Tessier, Miss V. Tessier, Miss J. Dickinson, Miss V. Windeler, H. Jahes and 20 second class.

Big Munition Works.

Where Millions of Shells are Made. As Minister of Munitions, Mr. Lloyd George is the greatest employer of labor in the world. He controls 1,679 munition factories, employing a million work people.

The whole kingdom is mapped out in eleven munition areas, seven in England and Wales, two in Scotland, and two in Ireland. The areas are subdivided into a varying number of districts, and each district has a local board of management, acting under the Ministry of Munitions.

The boards of management have drastic powers for taking the lathes, engineering equipment, and factories in their areas. At the Ministry of Munitions is an official for each local area.

At one factory in Birmingham 7,000,000 rifle cartridges are turned out every week. Of the 7,000 employees at the factory, over 4,000 are women, each earning from 30s. to £3, and more, a week.

In the Leeds area there was not a single munition factory at the beginning of the war. Now there are 500. The National Shell Factory at Keighley turns out thousands of shells a week.

So keen is the competition between the munition factories in Yorkshire to break records in output that they have a challenge shield for the best shifts, the competition being a weekly one.

In Scotland it is to be found the largest munition factory in the kingdom. In size it is second only to Krupp's. It is at present directly employing about 60,000 persons, including 6,000 women.

Some idea of the varied requirements of modern warfare may be gained from the fact that at this Scottish factory seventy-seven different varieties of shells are made.

The champion of the factory is a girl who is machining the copper bands on shells. Her record is 1,014 in a ten hour shift, or, say, 101 an hour. She earns £5 a week.

The munition factories in Scotland have been given names that have become famous in the war, such as 'Ypres, Albert, Liege, Marne, Anzac, Mons, etc.

The patriotic enthusiasm of the Scottish munition workers may be gathered from the fact that a new factory covering 200 acres is nearing completion, although it was begun less than two months ago.

The secret of this lightning speed is perhaps the best thing of all. The contractor is doing the work for nothing, and the men, inspired by his lead, are playing an equally patriotic part.

At one small Scottish factory there are 320 girls, with only eight skilled men to look after them. They are making high explosive shells and they turn out many thousands a week. Most of the girl munition workers wear khaki overalls and caps, while each bench or lathe "sports" its national flag.

Leeds was the first in the field in Great Britain, and now has a munition factory in which 1,200 men are employed.

Christianity and War.

Father Vaughan on "Why God Does Not Stop The Conflict."

London, December 14.—"Why does not God stop this war? If He were almighty and all loving He would have done so long ago," was a remark quoted by the Rev. Father Bernard Vaughan, on Sunday, in opening his sermon before a large congregation. He added that this was a sample of the blasphemous sent to him by post. His answer was that God did not stop the war because, being almighty He could draw good out of it, and, being all loving, He did so.

"Personally," said Father Vaughan, "I feel that it would take eternity to thank God for not having stopped this war, as He might have done. If it had been deferred ten years my beloved country would have been a Mongolian desert. Talk of Belgium, speak of Poland, of the Serbians, and the Armenians—that is child's play to what would have become of hated England. Our dear island home, with its cathedrals, ministers and abbeys, would have been utterly destroyed. We should have nothing left to us but our eyes to weep with. But God, being almighty and wise, and loving, spared us.

"I have been asked this question: 'Can you deny that Christianity has been proven by this war to be a ghastly failure?' I answer in the Socratic method by putting another question: 'What is Christianity? It is a body of doctrine and code of morality making for the salvation of peoples embracing it. Christianity has not failed because it has not been used.'"

It was fashionable to-day with those who kept borrowing their philosophy, theology and methods of mentality from Prussia, he said, to say there was no such thing as sin, but in these matters England had been tyrannized over by Germany, and he thanked God that this war had come about, because He had made England turn from Odin back to Christ.

YOUR BOYS AND GIRLS

Soft finished nainsook or fine French nainsook is the best material for the first infant dresses, slips, petticoats blibs and caps. The wrappers, kimona and under petticoats should be of fine French flannel, though some mothers prefer silk and wool flannel or a soft cashmere, as they shrink less in washing. Batiste and fine handkerchief linen are often liked for the best dresses, though the linen crumples easily and is not so soft as the nainsook, and the batiste gets slinky.

One should allow from two to two and a quarter yards each of thirty six inch material for the dresses, slip, wrapper, nightdresses, and long kimona, a yard and five eights for the petticoat and seven eights of a yard for the short kimona. For the coat needs from three to three and five eights yards of thirty-six inch goods, according to the length of the cape. The blis and caps may be one from the corners.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it."
"That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured. You can get Zylex at your druggists."
