"Beaumont Hamel."

OR A LESSON FROM THE SHRINE
ERECTED IN BANNERMAN PARK.

(By Julia Salter Earle.)
July 1st, 1916 is generally termed "A Tragic Day," but would it not be better for all of us left behind to term that day—"A day fenced around with lessons taught us to take through life, gained by the blood of our Newfoundland Hero Boys." If they could come back, think you, they would say:—"Hang the wreaths on the shrine in the Park only." Ah, no; methinks I can hear them speaking to us now, and saying—do not wait until we are gone to hang the wreath, for it is useless then. Gather the flowers and form the wreath for us while we are with you. Every kind word you speak may be a forget-me-not for that wreath; every dollar given to the needy, may form a lily-of-the-valley for the wreath, the poor fund raised for the aged, may complete the wreath. Remember the boys' that we have sent back to you. Remember their widowed mothers and wives and children. Form the wreath for them now. Had they died with us—I seem to hear our noble dead say—you would have hung the wreath on the shrine in the Park, better still, you have the boys' with you. You can never repay all they have suffered for you, although too manly to tell you. Respect them, even the ones with failures, if there are any, in respect for us.

"Beaumont Hamel"—How sacred these two words have become to us, haven't they? What lies underneath these words—blood, unselfishness, anguish. Can a wooden cross or shrine only repay the dead? Again I repeat, only with unselfishness and forgetfulness of ourselves can we ever feel we have done something in return for those boys' so much loved and revered. If we do our duty as they did theirs, and learn a lesson from the boys' have taught us a lesson, and have not died in vain, and can truly say, with them

"Oh! death, where is thy sting,
"Oh! grave, where is thy victory?"
They have died to make our Island Home a different place. Let us all then learn a lesson from the shrine in the Park.—By thinking of the boys' who have returned; of their mothers and wives and children; of the Poor Fund for the aged; and not alone need we stop there, for there are many sick and hungry and lonely in our midst, with whom we might spend more time and give assistance; many sick ones who would enjoy a motor ride occasionally; by doing these things a wreath may be formed which will do credit to our dead.

"Tread, Tread, Tread,
In the watches of the night;
To herald the form that must seek
The dead."
Ere the glad morning light.
Tread, Tread, Tread,
Lo! how the echoes awake!
Honor and love are adorning their head.

MRS. J. M. CRAIG, of Los Angeles, Calif., who says no one can feel more grateful for what Tanlac has done than she does. Declares she has gained twelve pounds and her health is now better than in years.

"Of all the people who have taken Tanlac, I don't believe there is any one who feels any more grateful to it than I do," was the statement made recently by Mrs. J. M. Craig, of 6743 East Fortieth Street, Los Angeles.

"Like so many other families during the influenza epidemic last year we all had it, and my own illness, together with the worry over the rest of our family, brought on a case of genuine nervous prostration."

"I was so weak I couldn't even sweep the floor, and during the day I would have to lie down four or five times. I tried to walk but found out half a block was all I could stand before I gave out. Nervous spells came on me often."

"Every medicine I tried failed to reach my case until finally my husband urged me to try Tanlac, and I am indeed thankful that he did, for it proved to be just what I needed."

"The first two bottles didn't seem to help me. I guess that was because I was so extremely bad off, but on the third bottle I could tell I was improving and that gave me more hopes than ever of getting well."

"My improvement from then on was rapid and by the time I had taken five bottles of Tanlac I was better and stronger than I had been in years. I was sleeping soundly at night and had gained twelve pounds in weight."

"That was several months ago and from then until now I have been in as good health as I ever was in my life and have been doing all the housework by myself."

"It is simply remarkable how Tanlac has built me up and I have told everyone of my friends and relatives what a wonderful medicine it is."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by J. Connors; by Reg. Sullivan, Pough Cove; Sound Island Store, Sound Island; Dennis Flynn, Avondale; J. J. O'Brien, Cape Broyle; J. W. Smith, Baine Harbor; W. A. Burdock, Belloram; John Morey, Fermeuse; Mrs. Jos. Quinn, Renevas.—adv.

As they follow the steps the Master led,
To die for another's sake.

Tread, Tread, Tread,
England your triumph is high,
Terra Nova's boys the way to victory led,
Mid the German guns and the Germans' tread,
The boys' not afraid to die.

Tread, Tread, Tread,
When the future years shall tell;
The deeds that are done, the words that are said,
No names shall be cherished alive or dead,
Like our noble Newfoundland boys."
