Free Railway Traveling.
The relief authorities say there are many people now who are out of existence by traveling from one place to another. They arrive in a city or town, tell a pitiful story, express a desire to reach some friend or relative at a distance, and are given railway tickets. A day or two ago a professional blind man named Collins, who said he had come from Wisconsin, was given a pass from this city to Hamilton, where he claimed to have a brother. At Hamilton he spun a similar yarn and got free ride to St. Thomas. He obtained some money from charitable people there, and was again furnished the means by the city to travel to Fort Erie.
Largest Heartiness Exemplified.
—"Observer" writes: "While attending the flower show yesterday afternoon a little 8-year-old girl from Askin street school found a lady's purse, which, on being opened, proved to be well filled with money and silver. The child at once took it to her teacher, who by investigation discovered the owner and pointed her out to the pupil. The little girl at once went to the teacher and handed over the purse, and the lady remarking that she was 'glad' she had found it again, but failed to reward the finder in any shape. Truly this is one way of encouraging honesty in such cases among young children. A 10-cent reward would have made that child happier than all the thanks that could be uttered."
C. E. Delegates Report.
The body of St. James' Presbyterian Church, which held its annual conference with young people. The purpose of the meeting was to hear reports on the recent Y. P. S. C. E. convention at Peterboro from the lips of the local delegates. A. J. Clark, president of the local union, was in the chair, and Rev. M. P. Talling, Rev. G. B. Sage and Canon Richardson were on the platform with him. The president, after speaking of the Y. P. S. C. E. convention, reported that the convention, ten minutes being the individual time limit. Chatty and comprehensive reports were delivered, and their brevity gave an interest to the affair by leaving a variety. All were enthusiastic over their treatment in Peterboro and their success in procuring the convention for London in 1892. After the meeting the delegates of the London Union discussed the propriety of holding a county convention. The idea was favorably entertained, but consideration postponed until after Christmas.
Their Guide Writing.
—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hocking, of 428 Horton street, have journeyed through life together as husband and wife for 50 years and Tuesday night celebrated their golden wedding. All their children and grandchildren took part excepting two who were unavoidably absent, and a large and jolly company they made. Many and hearty were the congratulations showered on the honored host and hostess upon the attainment of half a century of wedded bliss. The feelings of the guests found expression in a charming array of beautiful presents from individual members of the family, while the collective whole through the eldest son, Mr. N. Hocking, Port Hope, made the happy couple recipients of a gold clock with an onyx stand. It was a magnificent and costly gift, of rare finish and design, the product of the most artistic French workmanship. The revered head of the family gave voice to his gratitude in fitting terms. Among the guests were Mr. Thomas R. Parker, C. P. R. ticket agent, city, and son-in-law of Mr. Hocking. He was specially welcomed, as he had arrived home from his stay in Europe in time to participate in the event. That Mr. Hocking has been commemorated many more recurrences of their marriage anniversary is the heart's wish of their relatives and friends.
Youthful Prisoners.
—A week ago Sunday Herbert Emery was attacked at the corner of Hill and Maitland streets, and during the scuffle was struck in the eye with a stone, which has had the effect of impairing his eyesight. Tuesday Detective Harry Plugh arrested three young men—George Walton, a clerk in Anderson's book store; John Atchison, in the McClary

Works, and Wm. Murray, employed in Kingmill's drygoods store. He had a summons for George Woolcut, who works in Millery's, but the latter disappeared when he heard that the detective was looking for him there. They are all apparently respectable lads. The three under arrest do not deny that they had a scuffle with the complainant, but deny throwing any stones.
Adams vs. Semerville.
This suit, an action to obtain an injunction restraining the defendant, C. R. Semerville, of this city, from manufacturing Mexican Fruit Chewing Gum, was heard at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, Tuesday before Judge Robertson. DuVernet & Featherstonhaugh, of Toronto, for plaintiffs, T. H. Purdon for the defendant. The judge decided in favor of the defendants with full costs, and in doing so he very severely reprimanded the plaintiffs, the Adams & Sons Company, of Brooklyn, New York, for the manner in which they brought the action and then attempt to obtain by misleading statements the benefit of the defendant's trade in Canada. He said the plaintiffs had been found guilty of the same offense in the United States, where they had been fined for the same offense. He said the plaintiffs had been found guilty of the same offense in the United States, where they had been fined for the same offense. He said the plaintiffs had been found guilty of the same offense in the United States, where they had been fined for the same offense.

Director General Davis has ordered the World's Fair agents out of China. The order was inspired as much by a fear that it would be impolitic to press the subject of a World's Fair appropriation while the anti-sentiments against Americans was running high.

THE VOTERS' LISTS.
At 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, Nov. 10, the court for the revision of the city voters' lists, as provided by the Dominion Franchise Act, will open at the City Hall before Revising Officer James H. Fraser, Q. C.
To facilitate the transaction of this business and to render it more convenient for those whose presence will be required, it has been decided to deal with the names on the list for each ward on separate days. No. 1 ward will be revised on Tuesday; No. 2 ward on Wednesday; No. 3 ward on Friday (Thursday being Thanksgiving Day), and No. 4 ward on Saturday.
Mr. C. S. Hyman, M.P., and others are at the Young Men's Liberal rooms, Old-fellows' block, every night, assisting in looking after the lists. Call up any time during the evening and assist in the work of revising the lists.
Business is the rub of life, perverts our aims, casts off the bias, and leaves us wide and short of the intended mark. —[Congreve].
Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto, sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop's Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

CHILDREN AND FLOWERS.
The First Day of the Chrysanthemum Show a Decided Success.
Tuesday was children's day at the flower show, and seldom has the City Hall contained such a throng of bright-eyed youngsters as were present during the afternoon. They kept themselves very busy with the various beautiful exhibits. In the evening a large number of grown folks visited the exhibition, and many complimentary remarks were heard as to the excellence of the display. The new chrysanthemums from J. C. Vaughan, of Chicago, and the southern evergreens from Caldwell, the Woodsmen, of Evergreen, Ala., are decided novelties and are greatly admired. The energetic committee of arrangements, headed by President J. W. Rennie, the clever landscapist at the asylum, and Secretary Wm. Gammage, have exerted their best efforts to make their annual show attractive, and are deserving of great credit for holding so pleasing a number to the entertainments of citizens. Following are the chief prizes awarded:
In the amateur class J. H. Taggie got first prize for best six chrysanthemums, John Cook second; best single plant, Mrs. J. Inell.
The fine silver cup for best plants of 25 varieties was awarded Fred. Dicks, J. Gammage & Sons second. Twenty-five cutflowers, W. S. & G. M. Greenway 1; E. J. Brown, Hamilton, 2; Holznagle 1; Noll, Detroit, 3. Twelve cut, E. J. Brown 1, Greenway 2, Holznagle & Noll 3. Best vase, Mrs. Greenway 1, J. Dilloway 2, G. W. Rennie 3.
J. Gammage & Sons are well known leaders in carnations and their fine collection of 50 took first, J. Dilloway second, F. Dicks third. Best 12 carnations in pots, J. Gammage & Sons. G. W. Rennie's fine basket of "mums" got first; J. Gammage & Sons, second.

The dinner table decorations were very tasty; J. Dilloway, first prize; J. Gammage & Sons, second. The Mamel roses on the latter table were remarkably fine.
