never thought he would get angry like that? I didn't, indeed. And I thought it such a good opportunity, and I do so hate chops and—
 "Oh, don't, that will do," says Vera, growingly impatient, putting up one hand as if to command silence.
 "But I must explain to you," persists Griseida, really unhappy; "I am so afraid you think that I was—"
 "You were vulgar," says Vera icily, moving away to a distant window.
 "Oh, darling, what a horrid thing to say. Don't talk to me like that. Was it vulgar not to pretend to be lunched?"
 "Or darling, what have you said anything about the chops at all? Vera, you know I'd cut my tongue out before— Why, you're crying. Why, Vera? Oh, are you afraid he will speak to his father and make things even more uncomfortable? You needn't; I am sure he won't."
 "Oh, darling, what a horrid thing to say that in his eye. Nothing will prevent that. But I am not frightened."
 "I shall wait until my interview is at an end, and then I shall go to Uncle Gregory, and ask him as a favor not to alter anything where we are concerned."
 "Then it will be mutton to the end of our days," says Griseida with a sigh, and she looks at Vera with a delighted to fall in with your wishes, on this subject, at all events."

DUKE OF ORLEANS SEEKS DIVORCE
Wants to Marry Austrian Noblewoman, But is Opposed by the Royal House.

London, Jan. 22.—The story current with regard to the alleged engagement of Prince Victor of Italy, Count of Turin, with Princess Louise of Orleans, should be received with a good deal of caution. For, although the princess is an exceedingly attractive girl, beautiful, accomplished and fascinating, yet she is handicapped by the universal unpopularity of her elder brother, the Duke of Orleans. Indeed, the Duke of Austria, who is the Count of Turin's older brother, has already had so much trouble, not merely in connection with his brother-in-law, the Duke of Orleans, but also with his own wife, Princess Helene of Orleans, who has on two separate occasions separated from him in anger, that any new matrimonial alliance between the house of Orleans and the reigning family of Italy would not be welcomed by the latter. Indeed, it could not fail to excite the jealousy of the archduchess, who has her own relations between Paris and Rome.

TONIGHT'S MATCH.
 The Aberdeen senior W. O. H. A. aggregation will play tonight's match with a stronger team than ever. Smith, the big point of last year's Scottish Regiment team, will play goal for the Aberdeens, and with Joe Lawler at cover and Pete Leddy in goal, the Aberdeens have a very strong defense. Tommy Lawlor, West, Dominie and Montgomery will play on the forward line. Godechick has got together one of the heaviest and fastest hockey teams of the north, and the game tonight promises to be one of the best exhibitions seen in London for some time. The Aberdeens certainly deserve liberal patronage. The Goderich team will come on an early train, so that the game will be sure to start at 8:15.

SINGLE MEN WON.
 The married men and the single men of the Bamber Club played a hot game of hockey at the Jubilee rink Wednesday night. The score at the finish was 5 to 4 in favor of the bachelors, but the boys have challenged for another game. The line-up was as follows:

THE MITTS IN BOSTON.
 Boston, Mass., Jan. 21.—The carrying out of the plan of the Boston No. 1 Board to stop all boxing exhibitions and alleged prize fighting in this city was a high subject in Cleveland, in grand jury in 1900 ball of Joe Choyndyck and Kid Carter, who were found probably guilty of assault, Choyndyck and Carter were arrested last night at the Criterion A. C. after the former had been knocked out by Carter in the first round.

A STORM OF PROTESTS.
 A writer in a Chicago daily pays some attention to the recent decision to disallow Lou Dillon's mile, made by a high authority in this city, and says the action has been received by the harness world with a storm of indignation, and a fire of sarcasm and criticism which is practically without precedent. He goes on to say that with the sole exception of a fiery interjection in the harness world, the condemnation has been universal. The decision is regarded as a pen wielded in defense of the board's authority. The question is being widely asked, "Why should the board have the answer if it may be said that they are unwielded?"

MAKES WOOD FIREPROOF.
 A Remarkable Discovery by a Philadelphia Engineer.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Joseph L. Ferrell, of Philadelphia, has thrown handfuls of exiles on a hot gas fire in the rooms of the Western Society of Engineers. It smoked, but it did not burn. The fire was started by a pipe on top of the exiles, pine splinters on top of them and piled pine shingles and slabs of pine and the supposedly fireproof material was not touched. It should have had a good-sized bonfire started. There were no flames, however, except the blue ones from the gas.

HE WORE HER BIG HAT.
 Unpleasant Experience of a Czar's Widow at Monaco.

London, Jan. 22.—Princess Youriewskia, morganatic widow of Emperor Alexander II. of Russia, who since the murder of her illustrious husband, has lived entirely abroad in the enjoyment of the colossal fortune which he settled upon her children and herself, has just been subject to a very unpleasant experience at the opera at Monte Carlo. For, in ignorance of the rule which has recently been inaugurated by the management against the wearing of hats by women at the opera, she took her seat in the box which she had purchased, her once magnificent tresses surmounted by a large black hat. She was called to account for this none too politely by the officials of the opera, and was given the alternative of either removing her hat or of leaving the house. She chose the latter in the event of her declining to take off her hat or to leave she would be forcibly removed.

WANTED—SAFE LAMP TABLE.
 Half the world has been searched in quest of a cheap "safe" lamp table for general household use, but without success. The offer of the London Grosvenor Electric Lamp Co. is the one the inventor who could devise a lamp that would meet their specifications has been increased in value to $600 in the hope of bringing forth a more satisfactory lamp than any entered in their recent contest. A large number of lamps were produced from Germany, Austria, France and one or two British colonies, but when put to the test they were all found ineffective for the purpose required. It is pointed out that the prize money is a mere bagatelle to the reward an inventor would reap from the production of a lamp that is simple, cheap and safe when returned. In London alone between 300 and 500 fires a year are ascribed to the use of insecure petroleum lamps.

 True Facts of a Sensational Intrigue and Murder at the Yildiz Kiosk.

London, Jan. 22.—Turkey's Sultan has lost a most important friend and champion in the late Lord Stanley of Alderley, who was never tired of speaking in the House of Lords and of writing to the London Times in behalf of the pasha. For instance, he always took the ground that Sultan Abdul Hamid, the ex-grand vizier and Premier of Turkey, had been justly punished by the present Sultan, and in view of the eccentric old peer's recent death and of the book just brought out by the pasha's son, charging the Sultan with his father's murder, it may be useful to briefly recall Lord Stanley's contention.
